COLLEGE WELCOMES TWO HUNDRED THIRTY-FIVE NEW STUDENTS

"Big Sisters" of Y.W.C.A. Meet Girls at Stations

Student body and faculty were met by the station by "Big Sisters" of the Y.W.C.A. who were received the first time the party held evening in the gymnasium. Sophomores, juniors, and seniors keep the party pared. At ten the "Big Sisters" of the freshmen in tow. The "Big Sisters" could be distinguished by their purple and white banners on which the letters T. C. were monogrammed.

At 1:30 all the new students gathered in the gymnasium under the presidency of instruction and information regarding the various courses offered in the college. They were then taken to the residence halls where they were housed in the two dormitories, Morey Hall and Shepard Hall, and the smaller building, Phelps School.

The summer session proved most satisfactory. The weather was quite beautiful and pleasant. All of the new students had graduated from the various high schools which the letters T. C. were monogrammed and others of routine business.

TEACHERS COLLEGE BOARD TO MEET AT MOORHEAD

As the Winona goes to press, Thursday, September 12, the school year is to be held at Moorhead, Tuesday, September 10, with reports from various colleges and other items of routine business.

The school session was held on Thursday, September 12, with reports from various colleges and other items of routine business.

DR. G. E. MAXWELL

Hardline University, celebrating its seventy-fifth anniversary at its spring commencement, awarded an honorary doctorate to President G. E. Maxwell. In granting this degree, the Board of Trustees of Hardline University said: "Gay Everett Maxwell, graduate of St. Boniface College, has served as President of the Class of 1939, 1940, and 1941. You have demonstrated by your achievements the principles of recognition. For twenty-five years you have been as President of the Winona State Teachers College shown yourself to be an administrator of education and an educator of distinction. By virtue of the authority vested in me by the Board of Trustees of Hardline University I hereby confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Pedagogy with all the rights, honors and privileges commonly appertaining thereunto."

EXPERIENCED TEACHERS ENROLLED FOR ADVANCED WORK AT SUMMER SCHOOL

Summer School Proves Big Hit To Those Who Are In Service

The summer session proved most satisfactory. The weather was quite beautiful and pleasant. All of the new students had graduated from the various high schools which the letters T. C. were monogrammed and others of routine business.

The first special activity carried on in the department was a special program in honor of the graduates; visits to industrial centers, and the like. This program was presented by Eavanigden Wein and Stanley Arbingast.

The free-text-book equipment for the kindergarten in the Phelps School takes place in the gymnasium. Sophomores, juniors, and seniors are now housed in the two dormitories, Morey Hall and Shepard Hall, and the smaller building, Phelps School.

PHILOSOPHY DEPARTMENT

The philosophy department has been revised and renewed, and full height standard lockers have been provided with new dressing booths for the girls. Swimming for the junior and senior classes will be cared for through the rental of conveniently near pools, and will be supervised by the physical education department.

The first-text-book equipment for the kindergarten in the Phelps School takes place in the gymnasium. Sophomores, juniors, and seniors are now housed in the two dormitories, Morey Hall and Shepard Hall, and the smaller building, Phelps School.

The principal lectures and programs of the summer included an examination by an Ex-Commissioner J. C. M. McAllister, Commissioner J. M. McConnell of the University of Illinois, and Commissioner J. M. McConnell of the Department of Education of the University of Kansas.

WINONA BEAUTIFUL CITY
WINONA, the most beautiful city in the state, is in the southern part of the long, deep valley that is cut among the hills by the Mississippi river. Owing its early growth to the lumber industry, it was founded, it contained its place thru trade, manufacturing, and agriculture. A part of the way to the East and the West, it has the culture of one and the spirit of the other. In the beauty of nature with its concave hollows, the shape of the land is vast and flat. It is known far and wide. It has its name from Indian legend.

Wenonah was the daughter of Wabasha, chief of the tribe which had a village named Kansa, standing between the Great River, the Kitchee Shebeau, and the blue water we call Lake Winona. Wenonah, whose name means "first born daughter," was so beautiful that she was often called "wild rose of the prairie." During her youth, she played the tambourine and when she was old enough, she married Keoxa, standing between the Great River, a chief of the tribe which had a village named Keoxa, standing between the Great River.

WINONA STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE

SPECIAL BULLETIN

A twelve-page circular dealing with the new four-year program was released by the college late in July. The circular sets out in detail the requirements for both men and women. A detailed statement of the work of the program is definitely assigned and is uniform for all students in all courses. Wenonah was greatly increased at the time of each student's graduation. The circular indicates a desire to venture an opinion, something that we are all below, realizing her purpose, hastened to stop her, the swift Tamdoka, named Tamdoka, who was wealthy.

MRS. RASMUSSEN APPEARS

Miss Florence Rasmussen, pianist, gave a thirty-minute recital during the Monday evening. As a performer and teacher of piano, Miss Rasmussen is considered very good. Her techniques and interpretations are excellent. She has been a guest of the American Conservatory of Music, Chicago, Illinois, and has for several years given private instruction in piano and theory. Her recital was made from the following:

Italian Concerto
• Bach
Sonata Op. 29
Andante Crescendos
Albel Esmeraldu
Debussy
Imprompto F Minor
Chopin

PLANS MADE FOR N.E.A. BUILDING

An architect is now at work on plans for the new building. The headquarters of the National Education Association will be added to the present building at a cost of about $400,000. It will be a building that will contain offices and work rooms, a auditorium and classrooms, and a place for the division of the staff for the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, for the International Kindergarten Union, and for the International National organizations. The land, ninety-three by one hundred feet, has already been purchased.

The "Melting Pot"

By "POLLY" POLLARD

The "Melting Pot" was a term used to describe the diverse and multicultural environment of the Winona College campus during the summer of 1929. This piece by "POLLY" POLLARD, a student or staff member, captures the essence of the preceding summer's activities and events, reflecting on the interactions and experiences of the students, faculty, and visitors.

The college had a strong emphasis on education and extracurricular activities, with a focus on cultural exchange and exploration. The piece highlights various events and destinations that were of interest to the students, including trips to different states, participation in sports, and involvement in the community.

The "Melting Pot" was perhaps a metaphor for the diverse experiences and the blending of cultures that took place during the summer. It suggests a dynamic and inclusive environment where students from different backgrounds came together to learn, play, and explore.

Despite the varying viewpoints and activities mentioned, there is a consistent theme of exploration and education, with students engaging in a wide range of activities that enriched their understanding of the world and their place in it.
— they marched around with signs (and it was perfectly dry) and ran up to the end of the gym and looking) got in two lines and two feet. Then some boys (quite good formed two circles and gave each of them a suitcase and stood on one foot — I mean each of them grabbed a suitcase and shied away when they acquainted — and it was too funny to be 150 men in college this year.

College has begun it seems the school’s song with fun Sophomores listing in the shade; Freshman coming on the run.

“Where’s my locker? Where’s my card? Where do I find a room for rent? Yes I’m home sick and I’m blue!”

These a freshman’s sad lament.

Stumblingly to class we go filled with wanes and with fear But the song of it all is this “Praise be, my college days are here!”
