Two Men Follow Woman to Death In Gas Chamber

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (U)—Barbara Graham met death with outward calm and dignity yesterday in San Quentin's gas chamber. Two harrowing court stays delayed her execution an hour and a half and impelled her to protest.

"Why do they torture me?" Two professional killers—her partners in a murder that was plotted for money but didn't pay a penny—followed her in death three hours later. She was the third woman legally executed in California.

Convicted of six slayings, Jack Santo and Emmett Perkins died as easily as they had killed, joking and grinning together in the bare gas chamber where Mrs. Graham died quietly and alone.

Mrs. Graham, 32 and in trouble with the law since she was 13, and the two murderers were executed for the torture slaying of Mrs. Mabel Monahan at Burbank in 1933. They thought Mrs. Monahan, a Las Vegas gambler's widow, could tell them where $100,000 was hidden.

Mrs. Monahan didn't talk, and the three found no money. Santo, 54, husky mob leader, and Perkins, 47, also were under death sentence for the brutal slaying in 1952 of Guard Young, a Chester grocer, and three small children.

At 11:34 a.m. Mrs. Graham stepped into the death chamber. Her face was pale. Her lipstick looked too red. She wore a smooth fitting tan suit and rhinestone earrings.

Wearing the blindfold mask and strapped in the chair, she moved her lips in a silent prayer. When the cyanide pellets dropped in the acid crock, she firmly held her breath for a long last second of life.

Finally she was forced into a gulping swallow. She was pronounced dead at 11:42 a.m. When the chamber was blown clear of the gas that killed Mrs. Graham, Santo and Perkins were led inside at 2:32 p.m. and strapped in the two chairs.

As the door closed, Santo called smilingly to Warden Harley O. Teets the trite farewell challenge: "Don't you fellows do anything I wouldn't do."

Without blindfolds, the white-shirted Santo and Perkins grinned and chatted together until the poison pellets dropped at 2:34 p.m. Perkins was pronounced dead at 2:40 p.m. Santo one minute later. Mrs. Graham's fourth husband claimed her body. No one claimed the bodies of Santo and Perkins.

Truck Driver Who Gambled Away His Cargo Sentenced

HOUSTON (U)—Robert Wesley Brewer, 28, who gambled away his employer's $10,000 truck load of frozen shrimp, has been sentenced to 15 months in federal prison.

The St. Augustine, Fla., man pleaded guilty last week. Federal Judge Allen B. Hanyan pronounced sentence yesterday.

Brewer claimed the poker game in which he lost the shrimp to five Houston gamblers was rigged. Federal agents recovered $4,900 in cash from the gamblers, who had sold the shrimp.

Brewer was charged with theft from interstate shipment. He was supposed to have delivered the shrimp to Detroit from Brownsville.

Baby Found Alive In Mortuary Dies

HOUSTON (U)—Life finally flickered out last night for little "Miracle Ann" Dupree, a premature baby girl pronounced dead after birth but found alive on an embalming slab. She died at 11:30 p.m.

Dr. M. Desmond, a woman physician in charge of the premature nursery at City-County Hospital, reported the infant's death early today.

"Miracle Ann" weighed 30 3/4 ounces.

Thousands of Britons Jobless In Rail Strike

LONDON (U)—Thousands of Britons went jobless today as the seven-day-old rail strike crippled the nation's booming industry.

Efforts to reach a settlement in the strike involving 80 per cent of Britain's locomotive crewmen bogged down despite a barrage of peace appeals by the government and trade union leaders.

The Federation of British Industries warned that the crisis point in unemployment would come in a few days unless trains get rolling.

Mass layoffs began throughout the country yesterday.

One big steel firm in Scotland told its 17,000 workers, "There may be no jobs for you until the strike is over."

Six Welsh steel plants have let their barking ovens die out and other manufacturing centers reported dozens of firms going over to three or four-day work weeks with skilled workers transferred to maintenance jobs.

Prime Minister Eden's crisis committee of government ministers set in motion a big "save industry" drive to cope with the biggest setback to Britain's thriving economy since the end of World War II.

Eden himself arranged to go on the air tomorrow to make his second broadcast in a week. Aides said he planned to issue a blunt warning to the strikers to end their walkout before he is forced to give full run to the emergency powers granted him by Queen Elizabeth.

Under these powers the government could take over all forms of transport, restrict movement and use troops to ferry vital supplies across the nation.

No fresh moves to solve the strike have been made in the past 24 hours.

No-Man's Land In Korea Now Wilderness

SEOUL (U)—Nearly two years of armistice has opened a 3-mile strip stretching 150 miles across the Korean Peninsula—the demilitarized zone—to an unexpected invasion.

"Tigers, foxes, wolves, mountain cats and all kinds of birds and beasts are swarming into the area," the Seoul Daily News complained.

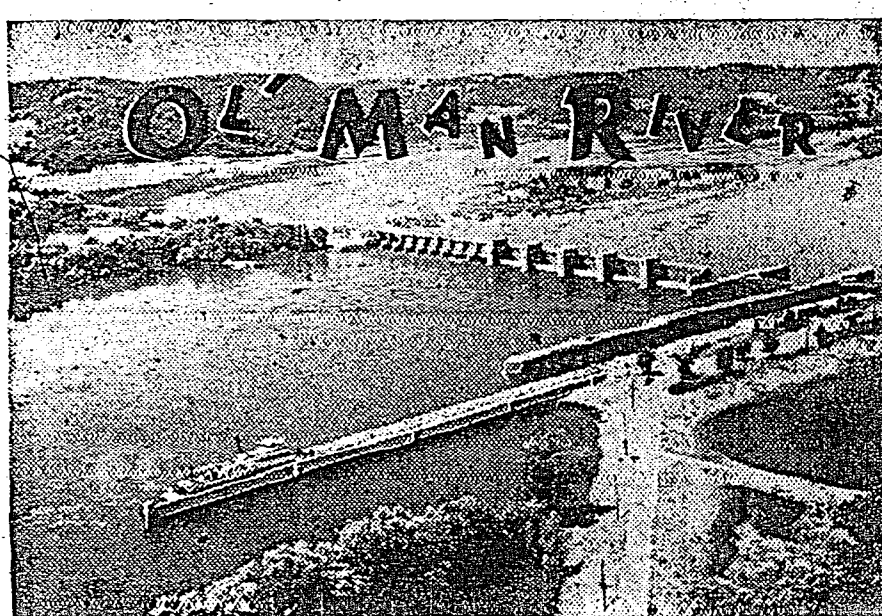

Tigers of the fierce Siberian species have mauled at least six Allied soldiers, it said. A South Korean soldier recently captured three tiger cubs.

The truce zone is closed to civilians. A few Allied and Communist soldiers patrol it. Soldiers fought bitterly for dozens of hills in the area in the closing days of the war. Crashing barrages drove animals to the quiet mountain fastnesses of the north.

EVERYONE who calls a river-shore city "home" should have at least one day on the water to let him see how much the water is used. We talk of tonnage and tons, of sun and sandbars, yet, when the actual sights and activity are in the range of vision the words have meaning and become reality. Any Sunday, and most especially any holiday, brings out the river craft. Last weekend was no exception with large and small in and outboard motor boats, man-powered boats and 10 tow boats passing through Lock & Dam 5A in the Saturday through Monday holiday weekend. These 10 up and downbound towboats carried 12 barges upstream and brought 27 downbound through the Winona lock.

The big Steamer Gona of the Mississippi Valley Barge Lines arrived in Winona Thursday with a first-of-the-season load for Mississippi Valley Public Service Co. The Gona, one of three steamers owned and operated by Mississippi Valley Barge had Capt. J. C. Heule, master, and Capt. Robert Richtman of Fountain City, pilot, this trip. The huge coal pile used through the season by MVPS Co. will be added to throughout the navigation season with coal brought upriver from the Alton, Ill., coal docks.

Capt. Ralph Richtman of Trempealeau, Wis., a brother of Capt. Robert Richtman, recently was interviewed over an Iowa radio station on his success in raising chickens which is now his work. From chicken yard to river is a short distance as Capt. Richtman's farm overlooks the main channel of the Mississippi above Lock & Dam 6. For many years "Rickle" piloted the Mississippi and Tennessee rivers on Central Barge Lines boats. Following the merger of Central Barge Co. with Mississippi Valley Barge Lines in 1952 he was a relief pilot on the Alexander Mackenzie, one of the last of the coal burning stern-wheel towboats. The Mackenzie, now, too, is shore-bound as a wharftow for MVB Lines in Joliet, Ill.

CHIPPEWA LEAVES TOW HERE

The Chippewa of the Lake Tankers Corp. arrived in Winona Wednesday with three barges of oil for Shell Oil Co. The Chippewa with Capt. Norman Bell, master, tied up overnight here while the barges of gasoline, furnace and fuel oil were pumped out at the Shell dock. She left Thursday to return downbound with the empties in tow.

The Milwaukee Railroad bridge across the river near La Crescent is under repair at the present time. Repairs were begun during May and are expected to take about two and a half months before completion.

Dredging operations above Lock & Dam 5A have been in progress this week by the U. S. Engineers Dredge William A. Thompson. The Thompson which began work about two weeks ago with opening the channel near Reads Landing moved down to the Winona area on Friday to work until Wednesday. This big work boat with her equipment moved downbound on Wednesday afternoon to the channel above Dresbach where they were pumping this week.

The new Missouri River towboat, Lachlan Macleay reached Omaha on her maiden trip up the Missouri on May 21. On her way upstream she was delayed when two of her barges broke from their moorings at Kansas City and drifted downbound to lodge on a sandbar. The Macleay which went in pursuit of the barges made her appearance in Omaha May 21 with many river dignitaries as well as press and television coverage of her arrival. She was downbound to St. Louis May 25 and will leave from there with 13 barges for Kansas City on her next and second trip up the Missouri.

MINNESOTA BOY CONTEST WINNER

A Minnesota boy, Michael Edward Murphy, was one of 15 boys and seven high school girls to be chosen a winner from 12,000 entrants in the Harold Harding Memorial essay contest sponsored by the Propeller Club of the United States. "American Ships for Trade, Travel and Defense" was the subject of the contest, for which entries were received from 34 local Propeller Club ports. Michael's entry which was sent through the Twin Cities Propeller Club Port will receive a round trip from St. Paul to St. Louis given by Lake Tankers Corp.

The famed passenger boat, Delta Queen, has already made several cruises this season. June 3 she left her home port of Cincinnati for a 10-day trip to Muscle Shoals, Ala. Starting June 25 through Aug. 27 the Delta Queen will leave Cincinnati on her weekly summer schedule to Kentucky Lake on the Tennessee River. After the Labor Day cruise the Delta Queen will leave Sept. 10 to sail for St. Paul, returning to her home port on Sept. 29. The trip from St. Louis to St. Paul will be a first trip to the upper river for the Delta Queen and one that most river followers are looking forward to. Last year engine trouble kept the Delta Queen from getting to this part of the river and disappointed several passengers who had planned to board her at upper river ports.

Winona Steamboat Days are taking shape for 1955 with K. L. Gunderson, chairman, and Irving Gerner, co-chairman. A. J. Anderson, Winona Chamber of Commerce secretary with the chairman of many committees, is at work planning to make this annual event the "best ever." July 8, 9, 10 are dates for Steamboat Days which this year will have a feature change in the presentation of a complete change of vaudeville shows each day at the Levee Park stage. Acceptances to participate in the parade, which promises to be the most colorful and tuneful in Steamboat Days history, have already been received from many area bands.

that of Norvell Emerson, 40, was recovered from rubble yesterday 24 hours after officials said they believed nobody else was in the wreckage. An old three-story building being torn down collapsed Wednesday night on a smaller building housing a music store, food shop and tavern. Three bodies were recovered shortly afterward. Eight other persons were hurt.

Youthful Horror Story Fan Faces Murder Charge

PORTLAND, Maine (U)—A scowling 15-year-old youth, who police said was addicted to reading "horror, crime and war" stories, faces arraignment on a murder charge today in the sex slaying of an 8-year-old girl.

Police said Gerald Paul Troiano admitted orally that he bludgeoned Margaret Gormley to death yesterday with part of a dismantled washing machine when she resisted his advances.

Families of the victim and her alleged killer share a two family dwelling and are close friends.

The girl's body, fully clothed, was found by her father, Manus, in a pool of blood in the cellar. A blood-stained agitator from a washing machine that Gormley was repairing was found in a coal bin.

Det. Capt. Edward M. Kochian said Troiano, swarthy and good-looking, briefly denied any connection with the slaying, then broke down and told this story:

He saw Margaret return from church after attending an early morning Mass and taking Holy Communion. The girl went up stairs to prepare for school and he waited 15 to 20 minutes until she reappeared.

He grabbed her by the shoulders, planning to attack her sexually. The girl struggled and screamed. Troiano wrestled her to a cellar door and threw her down the stairs head first.

He grabbed the heavy agitator from the washing machine and struck her with it "maybe 10 times."

George Gobel Brews Temperance Trouble

HOUSTON (U)—George Gobel is in hot water with the Texas Methodist Conference.

Some 1,000 delegates to the conference's 116th annual meeting unanimously approved yesterday a board of temperance report which criticized the TV star for allegedly saying last Saturday night: "You've heard that you can't buy happiness. You can. Go out and buy a fifth."

The temperance report asked the 185,000 conference members to wire or write protests to Gobel and his sponsors, the Pet Milk Co. and Armour & Co.

Play Audience, Cast Really See Things

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (U)—The audience at the Hollywood Repertory Theater's production of "Finian's Rainbow" did a double take last night. So did most of the cast.

And unpredictable Marlon Brando was the cause.

Near the close of the first act curtain, Finian's daughter, played by Marilyn O'Connor, spoke her line according to script: "Father, am I seeing things?"

As she finished, she did a double take too, for Brando walked onstage in a 30 second walk-on bit.

Brando later explained he did the walk-on strictly as a favor to his friend, actor Dan O'Herlihy. O'Herlihy, the screen's "Robin-Son Crusoe," became friendly with Brando when both were nominated for Academy awards. O'Herlihy, who also runs an acting school, is producer of "Finian's Rainbow." The cast is about evenly divided between professional actors and students.

Peron Lawmakers Told They Face Ex-Communication

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (U)—Fighting back against anti-church measures by the Peron government, a group of Roman Catholic priests has warned Argentines that those who help to pass laws restricting the church's rights fall under "the terrible penalty of ex-communication."

The declaration was contained in a statement prepared by the priests to be read in their pulpits tomorrow. Although not an official stand by the Argentine church hierarchy, it was made public yesterday by a high church source.

The statement made no direct reference to Argentine congressmen who recently approved a series of laws aimed at the church, or to President Juan Peron. But it was issued shortly after a Vatican City source said Peron was only a very short step from ex-communication if not already so punished by the church.

Fanatic Who Killed 4 at Random to Be Buried Today

DAYTON, Ohio (U)—A 47-year-old bowling pinsetter who fatally shot four persons in an apparent fit of religious fanaticism will be buried today in a solitary county grave, his body unclaimed.

Richard Meyers, pinsetter and sometime porter, will be laid to rest even as funeral services are being conducted for one of his victims.

She is Mrs. Freda Cramer, 35-year-old secretary in one of the two banks which Meyers shot up in random fashion last Tuesday. Besides the four dead, Meyers shot and wounded three other persons in two banks.

Latest to die was Wilfred C. Sherman, 51 vice president of the Third National Bank and Trust. He died yesterday of chest wounds in Miami Valley Hospital. Two others who fell when Meyers walked into the Third National and opened fire with a foreign-made pistol, already have been buried. They were Joseph J. Gavin, former University of Dayton football coach and a public relations and advertising man for Dayton radio-TV station, WHIO, and WHIO-TV, and George Sawaya, a Dayton grocer.

Naval ROTC Bldg. Police said he fired one shot from a .45 caliber service automatic into his mouth. Pope was a native of Pauls Valley, Okla. Survivors include his wife and two daughters.

Mabel Marvin Estate Valued At $175,000

Five Organizations Share in Major Portion of Assets

Five fraternal and service organizations are listed as the principal beneficiaries in the proposed will of Miss Mabel L. Marvin, a long-time member of the staff of the Winona State Teachers College, who died here Tuesday.

They are the YMCA, YWCA, the Winona General Hospital, the Masonic Home near Minneapolis and the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, each of which would receive one-fifth of the residue of the estate after a number of individual bequests — most of them of personal effects — are satisfied.

The proposed will, drafted in 1949, will be presented at a hearing in the probate court later this month to determine whether it will be admitted to probate.

A preliminary estimate places the value of the personal property in the estate at $175,000.

Miss Marvin, who retired from the Winona State Teachers College staff in 1944 after 33 years service, long had been active in the Winona County Historical Society and the Old Settlers Association.

Books and Antiques

In the proposed will she asks that a number of books and antiques be presented to the Minnesota Historical Society and to the Winona State Teachers College library.

Other bequests of personal effects are made to 10 friends and acquaintances.

She bequeaths her home at 712 Washington St. and $1,000 to Arthur Tarras, Winona, who assisted her in business affairs.

The proposed will provides that furniture—some of it made in 1850—old coins, a stamp album and "all National Geographic magazines which are too useful to be burned" be sold.

There are no limitations on the bequests to the YMCA and YWCA and the Masonic Home.

For Aged Women

Miss Marvin specified, however, that the hospital establish with its bequest a Marvin Fund to be used by the hospital management for the care of aged women who are financially unable to pay for hospital services. This is to be done in memory of Miss Marvin's mother, Mrs. Angie A. Marvin.

She also specifies that the bequest to the DAR be placed in a scholarship fund.

The proposed will notes that the Shriners' Crippled Children's Hospital has been named as beneficiary of a life insurance policy and in one annuity so no additional provision for that organization is made in the will.

Handmade Trousseau

Among the articles in the historical society bequest are an 1868 handmade trousseau, "four spoons used with green string, viz: One mustard spoon in the family since 1820, one spoon marked C.M. in the family since 1832, one larger spoon with rat-tail and one teaspoon marked S.I.F. brought from England in 1837 and said to be an heirloom then."

In the case of many articles named in the various bequests, Miss Marvin explains where each is kept in the house.

Among the articles bequeathed to personal friends and acquaintances are two small African ivory boxes, "the dogs and cat orchestra in the cabinet" vases, rings, travel scrapbooks, linens, china and silver.

The Merchants National Bank of Winona was named as the executor of the estate.

The hearing on the admission of the proposed will to probate will be held before Probate Judge Leo F. Murphy June 29 in the county courthouse.

2 Plead Guilty To Drunk Driving

Pleas of guilty to charges of drunken driving were entered by two defendants in municipal court this morning.

Ordered to pay $100 fines and costs of $2 or serve 60 days in the county jail were Gene Barum, 26, 1710 W. Wabasha St., and Joseph Trzebiatowski, 47, 401 Mankato Ave.

Barum was arrested by police near the airport at 10:15 a.m. Thursday and Friday pleaded not guilty to the charge. Today, however, he said that he wished to reverse his earlier plea.

Trzebiatowski was arrested by police on High Forest street at 1:05 a.m. today.

Edwin Torgeson, 37, Harmony, pleaded guilty to charges of careless driving and driving without a license.

He was arrested by the Minnesota Highway Patrol on Highway 61 at 5:45 p.m. Friday and paid a $25 fine on the careless driving charge and $10 on the license count.

Electrostatic Charge Blamed For Truck Fire

Witness in Owatonna Gas Station Case Expresses Opinions

An opinion that a fire at a service station in Owatonna last December was caused by an electrostatic spark igniting gasoline spilled from a pump hose was expressed in U. S. District Court here Friday afternoon by a consulting chemical engineer.

Jose B. Calva, Minneapolis, testified that he believed that the fire which destroyed a truck loaded with explosives and extensive damage to the Welker Pure Oil Station at Owatonna was touched off when a quantity of gasoline spilled from the hose nozzle as an attendant prepared to fill a fuel tank of the truck.

Calva was one of the last witnesses called by John Mordant, Minneapolis, attorney for the Watson Transportation Co., Omaha, Neb., which is bringing the suit to recover $21,700 damages for losses it claims were sustained in the Dec. 4 fire.

The defendants, Welker, the Pure Oil Co., and an attendant at the station, Otto Wodrich, have entered a counterclaim for damages to station property.

Judge Edward J. Devitt called a weekend recess at 4:10 p. m. Friday and the trial will resume at 10 a. m. Tuesday. Judge Devitt told jurors that it was likely that the trial — which opened last Wednesday morning — will continue through next Wednesday.

Spark Drawn, He Says
In his testimony Friday Calva said that he believed that a spark was drawn when the nozzle of the gasoline hose was placed near the frame of the truck in which an electrostatic charge had been built up on the drive to the service station.

Calva said that it was his opinion that gasoline spilled from the nozzle of the hose and was ignited by the spark.

There had been testimony earlier in the trial that when the Watson truck was driven into the station the night attendant, Wodrich, was passing the hose between the cab and trailer of the truck to gain access to the left gasoline tank of the truck when the fire broke out.

Mordant asked whether the spark referred to by Calva could have been a metallic spark caused by the nozzle of the hose striking steel on the truck.

Calva said that would be impossible since such nozzles are made of a non-sparking material.

Spark Prevention Discussed

The witness was asked whether there was any way of preventing a truck from becoming electrostatically charged while it was being driven on the highways and Calva replied that there was none. He recalled that in the past truck operators had resorted to dragging chains and efforts were made to develop a conducting rubber for tires.

He said, however, that research had revealed that the resistance of the highways proved to be so high that the effect was only as a plate of a condenser.

The engineer said that in his opinion the fire could have been prevented if no gasoline had been released from the pump hose.

Mordant told the witness that there had been suggestions during the trial that perhaps the gasoline that ignited in the fire had leaked from a fuel line of the truck.

Calva said that he did not believe this to be plausible for several reasons.

Cites Reasons
In the first place, the witness stated, if there had been a leak in the fuel line a trail of gasoline would have been left on the pavement leading to the station and when the fire broke out it would have been seen to follow this line back from the truck.

He said, moreover, that only about three or four gallons of gasoline would have been left in the fuel line when the engine of (Continued on Page 15, Column 5.)

Industrial Development Association Sees Cycle Completed; Foundry Sold

By ROBERT EGLESON
Daily News Staff Writer

An association of Winona businessmen, formed five years ago to foster industrial development and expansion in Winona, has seen its first major project complete, a cycle resulting in increased industrial employment and brightening Winona's industrial picture.

The Winona Industrial Development Association has announced that the Badger Foundry Co., 62 Washington St., has exercised its option and purchased the 27,000 square foot building it leased from the association when it came to Winona from Racine, Wis., five years ago. This was the first major project of WIDA.

Operations of WIDA have been financed by pledges totaling $95,273.74 received from approximately 100 Winona firms and individuals. Pledges ranged in amounts from $50 to $7,500.

It is estimated that through the efforts of the association, a million dollars has been added to the city's industrial payroll, and that during peak employment seasons, projects of the WIDA have boosted employment between 400 and 600.

Highway 76 Bid Opening Set for June 24 by State

Project Involves Area From Witoka To County Line

Bids will be opened late this month for grading of 7.5 miles of Highway 76 between Witoka and the south Winona County line, according to the Minnesota Department of Highways.

It marks another phase in the extensive improvement program on the highway between Witoka and the Iowa state line.

The advertisement for bids calls for 828,185 cubic yards of class A (mixed rock and dirt) excavation and 264,412 cubic yards of class B (rock) excavation and 10,677 cubic yards of crushed rock wearing course. In addition, two concrete box culverts will be required, one at the foot of the Money Creek Hill, about three miles south of Witoka and another to replace a bridge further south, about 1.5 miles from the foot of the hill.

June 24 Opening
Bids will be opened June 24 in St. Paul.

During construction of the new roadway, which is expected to require most of the summer construction season, traffic will be detoured over a county road from a point a quarter of a mile north of the south Winona County line to Hart and then on Highway 43 to Wilson.

The detour is about 1.5 miles longer than the present county line-to-Witoka road. Highway department officials said the detour through to Wilson was determined because of the difficulty in obtaining suitable roads to return traffic to the highway at Witoka. Farmers along the route of Highway 76 will retain access via the highway, the officials said.

The department's district office said that as of Friday, no work had been done on the bridge over MONEY CREEK 9.1 miles north of Houston in Winona County. Contract for the bridge, on the portion of road involved in the latest advertisement, was let in January to the Brogan Construction Co., Des Moines, Iowa, for $55,901. The bridge will be 30 feet wide and 135 feet long, consisting of three 45-foot spans. The existing bridge is considerably smaller.

Another Project
Work is progressing on the portion of the highway adjoining the Iowa state line. A detour runs from a point two miles north of Eitzen to a point three miles west of the regular junction with Highway 44 south of Caledonia, covering roughly 11 miles. The roadway is being repaired and partially re-routed over a distance of about eight miles.

Cost of the project is $522,822 and involves two box concrete culverts and a bridge over a dry run about four miles south of Caledonia.

Car, Truck in 5th Street Crash

A car and a truck were damaged in a collision at West 5th and Ewing streets at 6:15 p.m. Friday.

Involved were the car driven by Kenneth Erickson, 1441 Gilmore Ave., traveling west on 5th street, and turning left on Ewing street, and an eastbound truck driven by Kenneth Nowlan, 30 Lenox St.

Nowlan reported $50 damage to the truck but no estimate of damage to the car has been filed at police headquarters.

At 3:05 p.m. Friday a station wagon driven by William Ridler, Minneapolis, and a truck driven by Bruce Carpenter, Lamotte, collided on Johnson street, near West 2nd street.

Carpenter, who estimated damage to the truck at $60, was arrested by police on a charge of failing to signal for a left turn. He forfeited a $2 deposit in municipal court this morning.

Damage to the station wagon was estimated at $75.

County Highway Building to Hit New Record in '55

By TOM BERGHS
Daily News Staff Writer

The most expensive four months in Winona County road building history will get under way Monday morning.

County Engineer Gordon Fay—who's been on the job just under one year—told The Daily News this week that he's already scheduled a little over $240,000 worth of work, most of it to be done by contract. He added, however, that the engineering department still has to advertise for bids on an additional 20,000 cubic yards of crushed rock at a cost of about $40,000.

That'll bring the summer's total figure to more than $280,000.

$270,000 Last Year
The highest previous year in the county was in 1954, when Engineer Edward P. Effertz lined up about $270,000 worth of work just before he retired. When Fay picked up the reins last July he carried out Effertz' program.

Regarding this year's whopping total, Fay hinted that he might add still more construction by the middle of the summer. That will depend, he explained, on the road and bridge fund's bank balance at that time.

In conjunction with his road-building report, Fay also took a verbal swing at the manner in which Minnesota's federal aid funds for secondary road construction are allocated.

"Winona County just doesn't get enough federal aid funds—which come entirely from gasoline tax revenues—to meet the demand here," said Fay.

He sharply criticized the "formula" by which such funds are allocated in Minnesota, saying, "The bigger counties in the northern part of the state have a distinct advantage, with two-thirds of the formula in their favor."

Parts of Formula
It works this way:

Each county in Minnesota receives its share of federal aid funds on the basis of three considerations—

1. The total area of the county as compared with the total area of the state.
2. The total amount of rural and star route miles of road within the county.
3. The rural population of the county.

"You can see immediately," said Fay, "that the first two qualifications are all in favor of the larger counties."

He complained that "the state refuses to take into consideration the type of terrain and the higher cost-per-mile of construction in some counties." Here in Winona County, Fay explained, "as well as in Fillmore, Houston and Wabasha counties, our rugged terrain makes the cost per mile of road construction go jumping up."

It is Fay's belief that the huge northern counties could do a project identical with one here for far less money. "But we sure get a whole lot less funds than they do," he said, adding that "it's neither logical nor fair."

Funds Used Through '56
Explaining the result of Winona County's disadvantage, Fay pointed out that "in order to do the work on our roads this summer which absolutely has to be done immediately, we have exhausted—and get this—all of the federal aid funds available to this county through 1956. Not 1955, but 1956," he said.

"Not only that," he continued, "but we're even going to have to ask for an advance on part of our 1957 aid."

That particular project is on State Aid Road 26, from Ridgeway to its junction with County Aid Road 122 south. It's an $18,700 job that'll be let July 12.

In programming any federal and secondary project, the county must match from its own revenues any amount asked of the state.

In other words, on the SAR 26 job, Winona County could ask for a maximum of $9,350 worth of help from federal aid funds. The county board of commissioners will ask for a $5,500 advance during its June meeting next week.

Special Aid Denied

This action is necessary because a request for "special aid" on this year's gas tax funds was denied by Commissioner of Highways M. J. Hoffman in April.

Hoffman returned county commissioner's request for special aid on SAR 26 with this note: "We have deemed that unused federal funds from 1954 are more critically needed at this time by the trunk highway fund."

In order to get the money for 26—which Fay says must be repaired this summer—commissioners will have to ask for an advance on 1957 monies.

Construction this summer will be carried out on about 134 of the county's 360 miles of county aid and state aid roads.

Of the $240,000 already scheduled or let to contract, only $49,000 worth of it will be done by force.

The biggest single project this summer will be a bituminous surfacing and sealing job, that'll cost just over $44,000. It's a countywide program slated to put a slick finish on about 30 miles of road—there'll be some in each of the county's 20 townships.

Sealing, Crushed Rock

On the sealing project, H. J. Dunn Black Top Surfacing Co., Winona, will furnish and apply the bituminous surfacing for $33,488, and Roverud Construction Co., Spring Grove, will furnish the limestone chip rock aggregate for $10,752.

Another job that'll cost less but cover 90 miles of road is a crushed rock surfacing project that'll be carried out throughout the county.

The $38,520 contract involved here has been split up among Roverud, Fritz Fakler, Winona, and Patterson Quarries, St. Charles.

Both the 30-mile sealing project and the 90-mile surfacing job will get under way next week.

Contracts Let

Contracts on the following secondary road jobs, using matched federal aid funds, have already been let.

• SAR 1—beginning two miles east of Ridgeway and continuing for 1.1 miles, will receive grading, shale and crushed rock. Contract was awarded to William Ramlo & Sons, Canton, Minn., for $18,541, with work to begin June 15.

• SAR 11—from the corporate limits of Lewistown to three miles south, will receive grading, crushed rock and bituminous surfacing. Successful bidder was H. J. Dunn Black Top Surfacing Co., with a $35,639 proposal. Work starts next Wednesday.

• SAR 18—south and east of St. Charles, three miles of grading and crushed rock awarded to Wil-

Bids, Hearings On Agenda for County Board

Beer Licenses Also Up for Consideration On Monday Afternoon

Winona County's commissioners, convening Monday at 1:30 p.m. for their June session, will find school hearings, bid openings and beer licenses on the agenda.

Slated for 2 p.m. hearings Monday are:

• A petition from the school board in District 68, Fremont Township, asking that the district be dissolved and attached to consolidated District 22 at Lewiston.

• Wayne F. Evans, Alice L. Lochner and Mildred A. Gieschmann, who ask that their land in District 82, Wabasha County, be set off and attached to the independent consolidated district at Plainview.

• Robert C. Foster, who asks that his land in District 82, Wabasha County, be set off and attached to the Plainview district.

Bids to be received Tuesday at 10 a.m. include: Purchase of four 30-ton loads of calcium chloride for use by the county highway department; purchase of 425 tons of stoker coal for use in the courthouse, county jail and county highway shop; purchase of two new 2-ton trucks with dump boxes, for use by the county highway department, and sale of 16 pieces of old highway department equipment.

Commissioners will be asked Tuesday to approve the contracts and bonds on bids accepted during the May meeting.

Beer licenses—their approval, issuance or revocation—will be up for commissioners' consideration this month.

In order that they may legally qualify for the coming year, tavern owners must apply to the county board for reissuance before July 1.

Alan Young Quitting TV For Movies

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Alan Young is reversing the usual trend—he's quitting TV for the movies.

The Canadian comic has had a checkered career in TV. Five years ago, he debuted with "The Alan Young Show" and it was a smash hit with critics and audiences alike. But after a season or two, the variety format began to pale. "You just can't sustain a vaudeville show every week," he explained.

He experimented with other formats and was pushed into the rut of playing the little fellow who is kicked around by life. That didn't wear well, either.

Young is now finishing up another contract and he said he is winding up his TV career for now. He has had other opportunities, notably an offer to star in James Thurber stories based on a Walter Mitty type of character.

"But I don't think you can sustain that kind of idea week after week," he said. "I'm going to lay off TV."

"It seems to me the industry is entering a period of transition. I don't know exactly where it is going. It might be that pay-as-you-see TV is coming in. Possibly the spectaculars will take over. I don't want merely a five-year career. So I'm going to sit back and wait."

Young figures to occupy his time with writing scripts and acting in films. He is hopeful about his movie career after making "Gentlemen Marry Brunettes" in Europe with Jane Russell and Jeanne Crain.

"I think it's the only good picture I've had besides 'Marge,' he said. "If I could do just two pictures a year, that would be enough to keep me going."

We Missed the Kiss In Moore Interview

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—I tried to do a different kind of interview with Cleo Moore. When we got together, I didn't try to break the long-kiss record.

Miss Moore seemed to appreciate this. "When I'm an old grandmother, I'll still be known as the 'long-kiss girl,'" she supposed, sitting on the floor in her suite at the Plaza, doing push-ups with a couple of phone books to keep in shape.

"Every newspaperman," she said, "thinks he has got to break the record. And it's not much fun kissing, standing up, and with somebody holding a stopwatch."

"There's always a stopwatch," I asked.

"Oh, that's standard equipment for interviews with me now. It replaced the tape measure."

Miss Moore long-kissed Jackie Eigen on a Chicago radio station Feb. 16, 1954. Subsequently—for the benefit of photographers—she kissed George Jessel, Bob Hope, Ezio Pinza and scores of reporters whom she probably wouldn't have kissed otherwise. On a 60-city tour she's just finished for a picture called "Women's Prison," she found out that nobody seems to think she can do anything else but kiss.

"In Houston," she said, "the red-blooded Texans almost tore my clothes off."

"There were about a dozen boys 16 or 17. All of a sudden they wanted their kiss and they pulled a ruffle off my blouse as a souvenir."

"My worst experience was at the opening of a picture here at the Holiday Theater when the ads said, 'Get a Kiss from Cleo Moore in Person.'"

"Actually I was giving out candy kisses. One man grabbed me around the throat and said, 'I won't settle for that—I want the real thing.'"

"We got rid of him," she said. "Down in Alabama, Cleo met up with somebody also famous for kisses—Gov. 'Kissin' Jim' Folsom."

"Did you kiss him?" I asked eagerly.

"I thought I shouldn't," Cleo said. "His wife was so nice—she sat in the lobby of the theater with me while I signed autographs."

Cleo, who was once married to Palmer Long, baby son of Huey Long, now gives most of her kisses, long and short, to Tony Travis, a singer who's also in the building business, and to Charles Simonelli, a New York movie publicist.

"I have a building business, myself," Cleo mentioned.

"My Dad and I build houses. I design them; Dad does the labor."

"That's around Van Nuys. When I got to California, I had $5,000. I bought 7 lots, and ran that $5,000 into a $100,000 house I now have. Which isn't bad for a little girl."

"You're not little!" I retorted.

"It's funny about that," Cleo said. "I'm 25, and I haven't changed a quarter of an inch since I was 14. I have a sister 11 years older and she's my size—all over."

Of course, with all this because I lift these little weights and phone books and things, every day, so that nothing shifts. I stay just the same."

Miss Moore got back down on the floor and began lifting the phone books.

"Nobody'll believe me," she said, "when they hear my blood pressure's down to 90 and that I've got shots all over my body given to me by a doctor. They all say I look so healthy."

She certainly does that.

More Showers In Prospect for Central U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The central part of the country got more thundershowers and there was a little rain in parts of the West but generally fair and mild weather prevailed in other areas today.

The thundershowers activity extended from northern Texas to the Dakotas and the upper Mississippi valley. Heaviest falls during the night were at Mineral Wells, Tex., which reported 1.63 inches. The rain in the West was confined to the Northern Rockies.

The Weather Bureau reported funnel clouds yesterday in south central Kansas and extreme southwestern Oklahoma but no injuries were reported.

Early morning temperatures ranged from a mild 82 degrees at Thermal, Calif., to 37 at Phillipsburg in central Pennsylvania and 36 at Butte, Mont. Readings were in the 70s over most of the Gulf region and extended northward through Arkansas and Missouri to the southern Great Lakes region.

Temperatures were in the 50s in the Northeast States, Northern Plains and the Pacific Northwest. It was a little cooler over the Rockies and parts of the Western Plateau.

No Verification On Release of 11 American Fliers

HONG KONG (A)—Red China border sources said today there were no reports from inside the Communist country "which would indicate the release of more American fliers."

These sources, who correctly forecast the release of four U.S. jet fliers set free by Peiping last Tuesday, were commenting on Manila reports quoting an Indian editor as saying last night that Red China would free 11 more American airmen within 24 hours.

The U.S. Air Force office in Hong Kong said it had no word on any fliers being released and Hong Kong officials said they had heard nothing.

Indian government officials in New Delhi also expressed surprise over the report.

The 11 Americans were crewmen of a B29 bomber shot down Jan. 12, 1953, during the Korean War.

South African Cave Yields Primitive Tools

NEW YORK (A)—A South African cave discovery has yielded fossil evidence that man's ancestors first learned to use tools and perhaps fire more than 100,000 years ago.

VOICE of the OUTDOORS

'Please, Don't Touch 'Em'

Thoughtlessness on the part of a mother and daughter out in Pickwick Valley has made orphans of the two less-than-a-week-old fawns that Mrs. Ronald Shager, wife of the Winona County game warden, is feeding in the above picture. The two fawns must battle for survival without a mother.

The story is one that nearly every game warden in this area hears each season about this time. Someone sees or discovers a fawn hidden in the grass, thinks it is deserted by its mother, and picks it up and carries it home. When they get home, they learn it is a violation of the law to possess a fawn, that they are subject to arrest, and the poor little fellow must be fed regularly out of a bottle. So they get frightened and take their fawns to the nearest game warden.

Then, Mrs. Shager will tell you, it becomes the duty of the game warden's wife to teach the little fawns to drink milk out of a baby bottle. In fact, the first night these two were delivered to the Shager home, Mrs. Shager had to stay up all night caring for them.

As soon as they learn to drink out of a bottle and eat they will be taken to the Whitewater Wildlife Refuge farm where an attempt will be made to rear them. If they grow up, they are bound to be pests around the farm for at least a year.

"They are not lost—please do not touch fawns"—that is the appeal of every game warden and game biologist. When you run onto one in the wild the mother doe is watching you or at least is not far away.

There is an old outdoor saying, "Never touch a fawn. The human smell retained by the fawn drives its mother away—the fawn will die of starvation—leave them alone—their mother will care for these little fellows—that's the Law of Nature."

A-Bomb Test No Hazard to Health, Claim

CHICAGO (A)—The atomic bomb tests, says a member of the Atomic Energy Commission, "do not constitute any real hazard to immediate health."

Speaking to the June reunion of University of Chicago alumni last night, Dr. Willard F. Libby said that radioactive dosages due to fallout expose Americans to about one-twentieth of the rate of the natural radioactivity they receive from their own bodies over the period of a year.

He said that AEC studies showed that as of last Jan. 1 "the average contamination of the United States corresponded to a dosage rate of one one-thousandth of a roentgen per year."

A roentgen is a unit for measuring radioactivity, and a fatal single dose for humans is usually estimated at upward of 400 roentgens.

Dr. Libby said that if all the dosage from all the atomic tests to date be added together, "the average is considerably less than one-tenth roentgen, and is, itself, one six-thousandth of a lethal dose."

He added that as far as immediate danger to health is concerned, "the fall-out as of Jan. 1 this year could be increased 15,000 times without hazard. The tests, therefore, do not constitute any real hazard to immediate health."

Mayo Doctor Sees Drive for Political Control of Medicine

NEW YORK (A)—A Minnesota doctor charged today that a long, stubborn effort has been made to bring about the destruction of the present system of American medical care.

Dr. Louis A. Buie of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., chairman of the judicial council of the American Medical Assn., said:

"For over 20 years, there has been carried on in this country a persistent campaign aimed at the establishment of political control of medicine."

He told an American Proctologic Society meeting that the objective of the campaign was the gradual destruction of a medical system "which has given this nation the highest level of health the world has ever known."

He added that "it is imperative that the medical profession unite with all good Americans in order to prevent the destruction of a system which is efficiently protecting their health."

Whitehall's School Plant might look like this someday if a proposed $250,000 bond issue is approved by the district Tuesday. Immediate construction would include the gym-auditorium, center, and the one-story lobby section to the right of it and adjacent to the present three-story classroom building, far right.

Extensive remodeling of the present building also is planned. This sketch was prepared by Schubert, Sorenson & Associates, Winona architects.

Whitehall School District To Vote on $250,000 Plan

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Joint School District 5 of the city of Whitehall and the towns of Lincoln, Preston, and Arcadia will vote Tuesday on a $250,000 bond issue for building a school addition and remodeling the present building.

The election will be held at the Whitehall City Hall; polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. All legal voters who are members of the school district may cast their ballot.

In pointing out why the additional room is necessary, the school board states, "In recent years our school enrollment has increased immensely, and actual census figures indicate even greater annual increases within the next 10 years. Conditions in the Whitehall school are presently overcrowded."

Additional classroom space is needed for both grades and high school in order to meet state requirements as to the number of pupils per teacher, the board said.

Board Cites Examples

As examples of crowded conditions, the board revealed that:

Sixty students, plus instruments, are now crowded into one small bandroom; in the chorus room, 85 members are housed in a room 29 by 21 feet, and as this room is used for other academic subjects, chairs must be moved and set up every day; the original home economics room in the present building, which was erected in 1922, has been divided into a kindergarten room and a hot lunch kitchen. This left both the kindergarten and home economics rooms much too small for the increased enrollment.

The hot lunch kitchen was set up to provide lunches for 75 to 100 students. During the past year, 220 students were served daily from this tiny area, as the school has no dining area, the children have been seating themselves around the balcony in the gymnasium, with their plates held on their laps; a new gymnasium-auditorium with stage is needed. At the present time the assembly room is too small to serve as an auditorium and the gymnasium is not built to serve the dual purpose.

Plans call for converting the present gymnasium into classroom space and a hot lunch area by dividing it at the first floor level. Visual aids are recognized, as a vital part of the new curriculum, creating a need for a projection room from which films can be shown without disturbing other classes. At the present time the grade hall is used for showing films.

Proposed Addition

The proposed addition would lie to the southeast of the present building and would contain a gymnasium-auditorium 85 by 96 feet. The basketball playing floor would be 50 by 80 feet, with bleachers on each end to accommodate 936 people. Maximum capacity would be approximately 1,200 people. At one end of the auditorium would be a stage 24 by 48 feet, with chair storage beneath the stage.

Below the stage and on the same level as the existing gymnasium would be new locker room facilities, to be used for dressing rooms during theater productions.

To the west of the gym and behind the stage the plans, drawn by Schubert, Sorenson & Associates, Winona architects, place two elementary classrooms. One of them is designed for the use of the kindergarten and is 44 by 24 feet.

To the north of the proposed gymnasium, which is fronted by a lobby, are rooms designed for band and chorus, placing them well apart from the rest of the school so that their practicing will not disturb classes.

Plans call for converting the upper level of the present gym into a new home economics room and agriculture classroom, with the basement becoming a cafeteria and kitchen. The present home economics room will be remodeled into an elementary classroom.

Financial Condition

The school district is in excellent financial condition, the board says, and the cost of the project has been planned so that it will not be a burden to the taxpayers. If the bond issue is approved, the loan will be repaid in annual installments, together with interest, over a period of about 20 years. The board estimates that a tax levy averaging approximately $16,000 a year will take care of payment of both principal and interest, such a levy to be spread

Liquor License Fees Compared In State Cities

Only two cities in Minnesota above the population of 5,000 charge less for on-sale liquor licenses than Winona, according to a League of Minnesota Municipalities compilation which has been presented to the City Council.

Aldermen recently discussed the present on-sale liquor license fee of $945—as well as the off-sale beer fee of $5 and the on-sale beer fee of $250—but any action was deferred to Monday night. Fees are set by ordinance, so that no action would be required to continue them as is, but sufficient sentiment for a change was expressed during the recent informal discussion to indicate that a motion for an increase or increases will be made.

Only two cities with fees lower than Winona's are: Virginia, $800, and Eveleth, $750.

By contrast, within the same group of 36 cities, Winona's on-sale beer license fee of $250 is third highest in the state: Albert Lea charges $300 and Crystal Bay (Hennepin County), $400. Golden Valley, same area, also charges $250.

Present licenses expire June 30. On-sale fees are entirely within the discretion of the Council; the Minnesota Legislature at its 1955 session authorized municipalities to boost the off-sale beer fee from $5 to $15.

Freeman Lauds 3 Firms for Atom Research Plans

ST. PAUL, Minn. (Special)—Gov. Freeman commended three industrial leaders of Minnesota whose companies recently formed Minnesota Nuclear Operations.

The governor wrote letters to Presidents Allen S. King of Northern States Power Co., Robert B. Wishart of Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co., and C. H. Bell of General Mills.

"This extensive research to determine objectives and activities in the atomic energy field will be beneficial to Minnesota," Freeman wrote. "I would like to commend you for the wisdom and foresight which has resulted in your giving leadership in this tremendously important area."

The potential of atomic energy and what it can mean to the people of Minnesota is yet little understood.

"It is most commendable that the resources of three of our greatest industrial organizations should be pooled and directed to an examination of this potential in terms of the best interests of the people of our state."

"Your decision in this matter reflects again the alert and dynamic leadership so necessary if we in Minnesota are to continue to progress and to take advantage of the seemingly limitless possibilities which science and technology open to us almost daily."

The governor pledged the cooperation of state government and asked to be advised from time to time of the progress of the new project.

Commencement Not Graduate's Day Alone

The graduate walks forward to receive his diploma or his degree.

For him it is a day of achievement and satisfaction. But it is not his day alone nor is the achievement solely his.

His parents played a part through the years, feeding and clothing him, encouraging and often insisting that he study when it would have been easy to let him go off to seek a job or waste his time in idle pleasures. Graduation day is a day of achievement for the teachers, for the discipline and the learning and the inspiration they provided.

Finally, the community and the nation share in the graduate's triumph. For ours is a nation of schools, dedicated to the idea that children have a right to an education. The best insurance of the continuity of our democracy lies in an educated, enlightened citizenry.

The graduates have a right to be proud. They must also assume the responsibility of using wisely the precious gift that they have received. The faith and hope of their parents and their country rests with them.

Anytime Is the Time to Clean-Up, Paint-Up

A clean, neat town is bound to be a more pleasant and prosperous one than a dirty, messy one. It's pleasanter to live in, too.

We cannot all live in expensive houses and decorate our lawns with costly trees and shrubs. But most of us can do a great deal to make our community more attractive. The job calls for personal and civic pride and a measure of energy.

Most cities, including Winona, set aside a special week for a "clean-up, paint-up" campaign. This is a good idea but it is not necessary for people to wait for official encouragement. A group of neighbors can start the ball rolling. An individual who goes to work on his own house and yard can inspire his neighbors to do the same.

A neighborhood is no more attractive than the houses of the people who live in it. A town is no more attractive than the neighborhoods which make it up.

New Highway 35 May Be Open by Mid-summer

We on the Minnesota side of the Mississippi can only admire the prompt and efficient way in which Wisconsin goes about building new highways. The trip from Red Wing to Ellsworth is a comfortable and relaxing drive these days, and now comes new Highway 35 from Hager City down past the Pepin County line.

This Highway 35 job is only just beginning down below the Rush River bridge, but east of there the motorist can already see a beautiful highway even though the asphalt surface has yet to come. Particularly beautiful is the view eastward from the top of the hill where the Tabor Lutheran Church and old Oak Ridge School stand. Rolling hills, many of them in contoured strips, stretch out before the eyes. Then your car heads downward through a wooded valley and around a sweeping curve built almost over Lake Pepin. A good many trees have been cut away here so there's a spectacular view down toward Lake City in one direction and back toward Barn Bluff in the other. A parking space is to be provided here, we understand, for those who want to stop and drink in Lake Pepin's majesty.

Present prospects are that this new Highway 35 down to the Rush River bridge will be finished and open by mid-summer. We don't know whether Bay City is planning a civic celebration and ceremony to mark the opening, but we think such might be in order. Pierce County is contributing much to motorizing pleasure.—Red Wing Republican Eagle.

Harriman Wants 1956 Nomination

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK — The 1956 presidential election is now at the stage when candidates, in the opposition party, are becoming more numerous and more ardent. Already the appearance is that Adlai Stevenson has an inside track, but he cannot count on New York State whose candidate will be Averell Harriman despite denials of interest. And that will make an enormous difference to Stevenson's chance of nomination.

Should Pres. Eisenhower want to be renominated, he will be, and the probability is that he will be re-elected. In the event that Eisenhower is nominated, the Democratic candidate will have to be one who, for one reason or another, is willing to risk running to lose. There is no logical reason why Stevenson should do that again, although his 1952 experience was not so unfortunate. Comparatively unknown outside Illinois and limited circles in Washington, he then became a national figure. In fact, his speeches were of a quality not heard in recent presidential campaigns and gave him the reputation of being a superior mind.

ON THE OTHER HAND, Averell Harriman is intent upon running, no matter what may be said to the contrary. Carmine Desapio, who manages Democratic affairs in New York, is insistent upon Harriman making a real effort. Desapio now controls his party in both New York City and New York State. If Harriman should be nominated and elected, Desapio would be the leader of the Democratic party in the nation.

There is this to say about Desapio: He is different from any previous leader of Tammany Hall. His view of public affairs is broad and liberal. No matter how he reached the top, he tolerates none of the gangster characteristics which have made Tammany a by-word since the days of Aaron Burr. I think it was Herbert Bayard Swope who, pointing to Desapio in profile, called attention to his resemblance to an ascetic cardinal. There is a compulsion to power but it seems to have a good purpose. At any rate, while Carmine Desapio is not a candidate, he is likely to be the central figure in the 1956 Democratic convention.

Despite the fact that Pres. Eisenhower sits in the White House as a Republican, the majority party of the United States is the Democratic party. It gained in 1954 over 1952 and there is little hope in the Republican party that that gain will be upset in 1956. It is not likely to be upset in the Senate because of the particular vacancies available in that body.

THE FOUR-POWER CONFERENCE can help Eisenhower but a strike such as that which Walter Reuther is calling in the Ford Company can hurt him. The four-power conference can benefit Eisenhower but not particularly the Republican party which is not responsible for it and the leadership of which is antagonistic to it. On the other hand, strikes always influence the vote for senators and representatives and therefore a major automobile or steel strike can lessen the chances of the Republicans in marginal states, such as Michigan and Ohio. It is close enough to the 1956 campaign for strikes which may occur between now and then to influence votes.

In the British campaign, prosperity and peace were the two principal issues and they won the day for the Tories. These issues are inadequate for the 1956 campaign in the United States because many local issues arise here which can seem at the moment equally or more important. One of those issues will be the tariff, which, while it is nationally not a vital one, is on a local level of tremendous importance to those who find employment reduced because of imports of particular commodities. A senator or a representative can lose the election over the tariff, whereas it would not affect the presidential candidate at all, not even in that state.

The Democratic prospect of defeating Eisenhower depends on how unpleasant the Democrats can make it for him, particularly if bad and dramatic cases of corruption can be turned up by congressional committees. The Democrats are likely to be active in that direction with increasing zest as the campaign approaches. The Democrats who have given Pres. Eisenhower the impression that they are supporting him must either seek to destroy him politically or invite defeat. They will do the best they can to avoid defeat if they find a target. As they are in control of congressional committees, they are doing the best they can.

Secretary Wilson's Son May Work Profitable Deal

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—A unique situation whereby the son of Sec. of Defense Charles E. Wilson would take over an educational TV license for Michigan State College is churning up political circles in Michigan.

John Hannah, who once worked for Wilson as Assistant Sec. of Defense in Washington, made the deal with Edward E. Wilson, son of the secretary of defense. Young Wilson is a General Motors distributor, being president of the Wilson Downtown Cadillac Co. and the Wilson GMC Co., which sells trucks, and co-owner of Windrow Farms, a 1,000-acre estate owned also by his father.

He is likewise a director of the Nelson Manufacturing Co., which sells parts to General Motors.

At the age of 34, Wilson lists himself in his TV application before the Federal Communications Commission as having "marketable securities in excess of $1,000,000."

However, if his deal with Michigan State College to operate a highly valuable TV channel goes through, Wilson could be worth a lot more.

For, by the deal, the college uses the much less valuable daylight time, while Wilson would use the highly valuable night and evening time. The college would get 20 per cent of the profit, but with no right to audit the books, and no right to say what salaries are to be paid. In other words, the profits could be eaten up by high salaries.

Some Michigan senators, debating the question in the Michigan legislature, claimed that the valuable high-frequency TV license could make around $800,000 for the son of the secretary of defense, with $200,000 going to Michigan State. They finally OK'd the deal after complaining that they were pressured by General Motors lobbyists.

It will be interesting to see what the FCC in Washington now does about this political hot potato.

FDR's Old Sloop

Sec. of the Navy Charles Thomas has completely reversed himself regarding the old sailing sloop of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

When Cong. Jimmy Roosevelt, son of the late President, offered FDR's sloop to the Navy for the use of midshipmen at Annapolis, Sec. Thomas had it examined and then told Roosevelt the Navy couldn't afford the $700 necessary to put the sloop in condition.

Whereupon people all over the country began writing in to the Navy sending $10, $5 and $1 bills to pay for overhauling and painting the sloop.

The deluge of money was such that the Secretary of the Navy found himself in the position of having to accept FDR's sloop regardless. So he has shifted his position.

He is now having his office write back to people sending him money: "There are now at the academy over 150 training craft, and the superintendent further reported that the Roosevelt sloop must be approaching the end of its life and would be of no use to elementary sailing drills."

"These factors and the advice of the superintendent of the naval academy were the reasons that we felt we must decline the offer of the boat."

This was completely the opposite of what Sec. Thomas originally told Cong. Roosevelt.

Note — It's the policy of the present administration to ignore the name of the late President in every way possible.

Feeling Sorry For Yourself Wastes Time

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — The Oddity Almanac:

Feel sorry for yourself?
Here's some advice from Helen Keller, who will be 75 this month.

"I often feel deeply grieved for those who suffer from self-sympathy. They allow themselves to be tied in a knot instead of looking around for new things to keep them busy. I find life an exciting business — and most exciting when it is lived for others."

Miss Keller, who lost the powers of sight, speech and hearing in infancy, became one of the most inspiring examples of victory over personal handicaps in human history. A famous author, teacher, and speaker, she mastered seven languages, found her own road to happiness.

At 74 she made a 40,000-mile tour in behalf of the world's 14 million blind people. Still busy with new projects to aid the handicapped, she says:

"When people say I ought to retire, it makes me mad."

Diary Folks Boredom
Still feel sorry for yourself?

Passing the time can get to be quite a problem with a modern company executive, who may spend up to six months or a year on the road.

To foil boredom, Harry Rolnick, a hat firm president from Garland, Tex., kept a diary of his activities in five years of train travel. The diary shows (he says) that in those five years he opened a train window unaided 88 times; read 113 books; counted 9,516 telephone poles; completed 83 crossword puzzles; and left 184 unfinished; wrote 11 poems, 7 of which he tore up because he didn't like the rhymes; played 318 games of solitaire (he lost 290 times, cheated 8 times); and ate 804 sandwiches.

Can't Be Trusted?
An even more interesting diversion is to look out the train window and yell "beaver" every time you see a red-haired girl. The type of fellow who does this, however, rarely trusts himself to keep a diary.

Almanac Editorial: A Senate subcommittee recently announced it would launch an inquiry to find out why so many poor people remain poor.

A member of this Almanac's staff, seeking a quick answer to this problem, interviewed a number of poor people hanging out in a nearby pool room, and came up with this report:

"Four out of five said they remained poor because, unlike Congress, they lacked the power to vote themselves a 50 per cent increase in salary whenever funds sank low in their piggy banks."

Perhaps Congress in the course of its inquiry can also investigate another matter: Why some poor legislators remain poor — instead of getting better.

Nation Neglecting to Discipline Emotions

By PAUL HARVEY
NEW YORK—All right, next generation, here is your world! Take it!

It's not perfect. We haven't even been able yet to give you a faucet that won't drip. But here it is. Our generation was able to help you to frozen french fries. We developed radar. Wonder drugs at aspirin prices. Shaving cream in a pressurized can.

But still, much remains unfinished. We pioneered the stratosphere. To you we leave the conquest of space.

Maybe we've spent so much effort cultivating our intellects that we neglected to discipline our emotions. So lust and lawlessness have increased faster than they should. Maybe that's your challenge. That . . . and space . . . and the faucet.

There are clouds on the international horizon which we did not dispel. But they have been there to test the character of each generation.

You see . . . This earthly while . . . is a shakedown cruise. An eternity is being prepared somewhere. And we have to prove here . . . that we deserve to be there.

That's why it never has been all fun for anyone. This is where we separate the men from the boys. Each individual . . . being tested . . . to determine whether he deserves to populate some more perfect place.

If there were perpetual sunshine there would be no victory. If my generation conceivably could have rolled out for you a bright plush carpet on which you might walk off into a problem-free future, it would not have been to your best interests for us to do so.

You deserve a chance at this test, too. So don't be taken in by the recent fad-drug called "security." We have never been promised, here or hereafter, a life of all ease.

The good Lord said even in His kingdom we shall "build houses and inhabit them, plant vineyards and eat the fruit thereof."

Don't listen to the siren song of those who bait you with promises of idleness. That's not heaven they're talking about; that's the other place.

No, it's not going to be all fun. The mortgaged freedom which you will have to hang onto with both hands.

But if it's worth fighting for, it's worth working at. And if you will, with all that is in you, preserve this last great, green and precious place on earth.

Conceivably you might, collectively, provide the example for which peoples all over the world are watching.

Another star . . . to steer by. And, at the same time, you, individually, will have proved yourself worthy of a greater custody.

So, you see . . . It's to your eternal advantage that the task is not finished. Besides, it wouldn't be any fun. Be glad so much is left undone. Don't fret because we haven't a dripless faucet yet.

Basic Postal Pay Scale Explained

WASHINGTON — The basic postal pay scale, which would be boosted under the pending pay bill, ranges from $326.40 to $13,770 a year.

The lower pay goes to postmasters in the smallest of fourth class post offices and the bigger salary to postmasters of the largest first class post offices.

Most pay envelopes in the service were tied to the class of post office in which the worker is employed. First class offices are those handling $40,000 or more receipts annually; second class between $8,000 and $40,000 a year; third class between $1,500 and $8,000; and fourth class below $1,500.

The projected hike approved by the Senate and now pending in the House would apply to all of the approximately 500,000 persons in the postal field force. As now drawn, everyone in the field would receive a 6 per cent increase over present pay. Six months after this has been made effective, the department will carry out a job-classification program. Under this, some would receive no further hike; others would get varying increases—depending on their duties—averaging an additional 2 per cent.

The basic annual pay scales at present are: Postmasters first class offices $5,370 to $13,770; second class $4,770 to $5,070; third class $2,883 to $4,298; fourth class $326.40 to $2,611.20.

City carriers, clerks and truck drivers—in first and second class offices $3,270 to $4,070; third class offices $2,770 to $3,070; fourth class, no workers of these types employed.

Railway postal clerks—$3,270 to $4,270. Rural carriers, whose pay is based on mileage covered—$3,398 to $4,070 for a 42-mile route, the average for this service.

Mechanics—$3,670 to $4,170. Mail handlers—$3,170 to $3,470. Special delivery messengers—$3,170 to $3,770.

Advice on Health

Comfortable Baby Is Also Good Baby

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Your baby's skin is much more sensitive than yours, so naturally, it is more likely to become chafed from simple irritations. Chubby babies, as a rule, suffer from chafed skins more often than thin infants. If your baby is heavy, you've got to be especially watchful.

Failure to change wet diapers quickly enough probably is the most common cause for chafed buttocks. Leaving rubber diapers on your tot for a long time also might make his skin red and sore. Diapers can cause chafing, too, if they are not washed properly, or if the soap has not been thoroughly rinsed from them.

The most important thing to remember is that clean clothing and clean skin are the best means of preventing chafed skin. The next thing is to treat the condition as soon as it occurs.

You probably can continue to bathe your baby with warm water, even if he has chafed skin. Some doctors, however, will advise you to clean him with oil instead of water until his skin has cleared. If you do use water, be careful not to rub the chafed sections; don't use soap on them, either. Pay special attention to the folds and creases of his skin. Then, pat him dry with a soft, clean towel.

Use Talc
You can use talc or dusting powder to help soothe the irritated areas. Sprinkle the powder lightly on a piece of cotton and smooth it onto his skin. Do the same for his groin, buttocks, under his arms and around his neck to help prevent chafing. Cod-liver oil ointment or zinc oxide ointment might be used on the chafed area.

If the weather is suitable, expose his chafed skin to the sunlight for several hours each day. But above all, keep his clothes clean. Change his diapers frequently. If his skin irritates your baby, your baby is going to irritate you.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
B.S.T.: What would cause a four-year-old child to drink water in large quantities all day long?

Answer: This condition may be due to diabetes of the ordinary type or to a condition known as diabetes insipidus. It also may be due to habit. In any event, there is need for immediate study so that proper treatment may be instituted.

Indian Whose Nose Is On Nickel in Trouble
SYRACUSE, N.Y. — John Big Tree, the Onondaga Indian chief whose nose adorns the nickel, is in trouble with the law.

Chief Big Tree was charged yesterday with driving while intoxicated. Police said it was the first time the 79-year-old chief had been arrested.

The Indian head on the nickel is a composite, patterned after models chosen from various tribes throughout the nation. Big Tree also has modeled for the head that appears on Pontiac automobiles and has appeared in the movies.

He was held in lieu of $250 cash or $500 property bail for arraignment today in Syracuse Traffic Court.

New York City to Boost Teacher Wages
NEW YORK — New York City's 40,000 public school teachers will get a $300 pay increase for the next academic year and an additional $150 in 1956-57.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner announced the pay boost yesterday, saying it will cost the city $23½ million dollars over the two-year period.

TODAY

Plea Made For Young Chinese

By JOSEPH ALSOP

WASHINGTON — Dear General Joseph M. Swing: As Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization you are of course a very important person nowadays — no less, in fact, than the keeper of the keys of the gates of the United States, with some help, naturally, from that fine, vigilant, active man, Mr. Scott McLeod, over at the State Department.

Nonetheless, I dare to address you on behalf of a Chinese friend, Mr. Lung Shun-wen, because I think just possibly you did not really understand his case when you ordered him deported from this country. The reason you gave for not letting Mr. Lung stay in America was the position now held by his father, old Governor Lung Yun, as a vice chairman of the National Military Council of the Chinese Communist government.

Mr. Lung's father's position sounds bad, of course, but somehow it still seems wrong to me to put automatic labels on human beings and decide their fate by the punch card system. So let me tell you a little bit about Governor Lung and the Lung clan. I used to know them rather well when I was working for General Chennault in the Fourteenth Air Force. In those days, old Governor Lung was the last astonishing survivor of the true race of Chinese warriors.

The first thing you have to grasp about Governor Lung, if you really want to understand him, is that he was basically a primitive. I must admit that he had every modern gadget like vast fortune could buy in his big palace in Kunming. And he had bought modern weapons, too, for his private army of 70,000 men.

Primitive at heart

Yet his gadgets didn't make him any less primitive at heart. He always used to deny having tribal blood, because that is a disgrace in China. But I rather think there was truth in the Kunming gossip that Governor Lung was part Lolo. As late as the middle 1930s, the Lolo chieftains were really independent rulers in their mountain fortresses in Southwest China, and the lesser hill tribes were their slaves. The Lolos were particularly strong in Yunnan, and I suspect his Lolo connections helped Lung Yun to rise to the Yunnan warlordship.

Anyway, when I knew Governor Lung he was one of the last truly feudal rulers in the modern world. He let Mr. Y. T. Miao, a brilliant, Western educated banker, handle problems that needed Western education. But he ran the province, with his cousin, General Lu Han, as his deputy. He was really absolute, except that General Lu Han's mother, Madame Lu, who must have been about eighty, exercised something of the authority of a family elder. When she stamped her bound feet, even Governor Lung used to jump.

Naturally, as warlord of Yunnan, Governor Lung made a lot of money. In his best days, he must have owned a substantial percentage of the good farm land in the province. And in 1945, when Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek finally sent his troops in to break Governor Lung's power, one of the things they found was a sort of private Fort Knox, a whole cave out in the Western hills heaped to the ceiling with stacks of gold bricks.

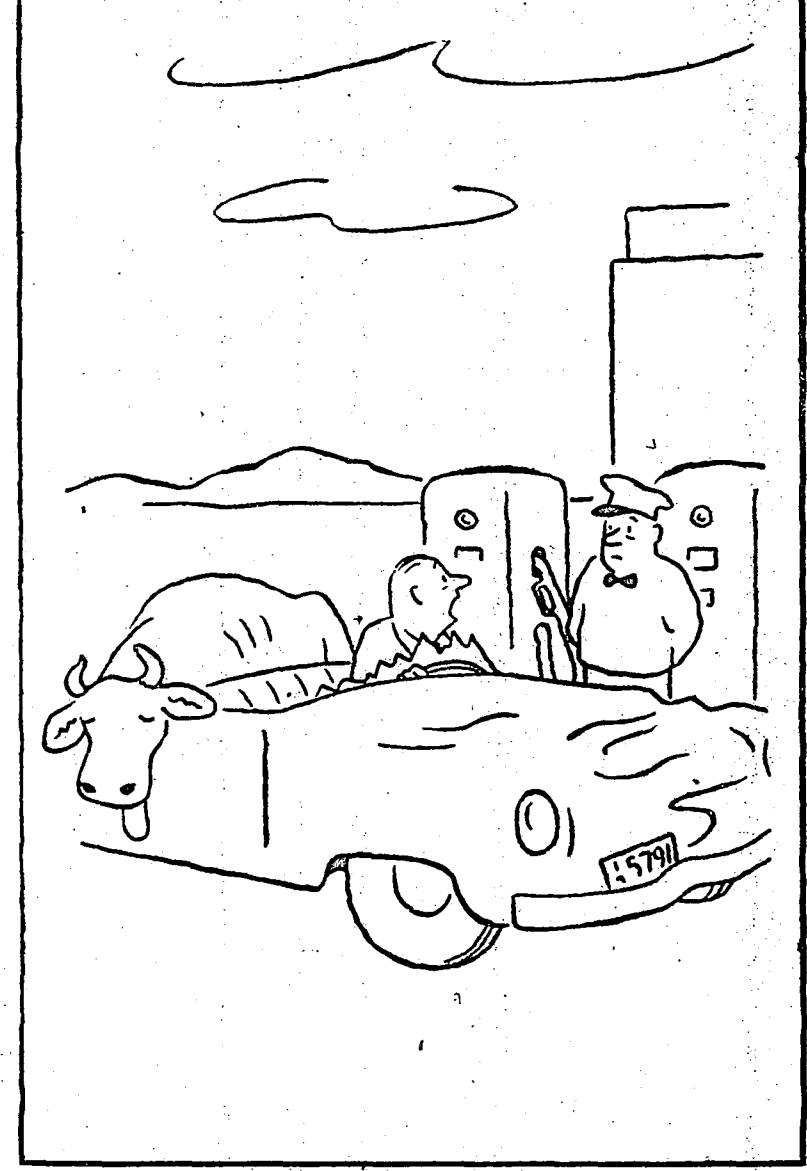

Of course, that was really the end of Governor Lung's life, when his hold on Yunnan was broken. The generalissimo put him under house arrest in Nanking. Then he escaped to Hong Kong on one of General Chennault's airplanes — he got caught when the plane was shot down, and he was taken to the mainland, and made Lung Yun a lot of promises, and so he went back to China to become one of their puppets.

Younger Generation Different

The trouble was, all the time, that he was a primitive with his roots in Yunnan. He didn't understand the Chinese Communists any better than your friend Mr. Scott McLeod does, although of course

BEDTIME STORIES

By HOWARD GARIS

When Uncle Wiggily, in the woods looking for Decoration, or Memorial Day flowers, suddenly shouted, everyone stood still.

"What did you say?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"I said," answered Mr. Longears, "I said that everyone should look at that big bunch." He pointed toward a clump of trees.

"A big bunch of what?" Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy wanted to know.

"A big bunch of roses," answered Uncle Wiggily. "See all those roses growing back of that big stump. What a big bunch!"

"I don't believe those roses are growing there," said Mumbo, the elephant from the circus who had come to bring Frisky, another elephant, back to the three rings.

"Why aren't those roses growing there?" asked Uncle Wiggily as he twinkled his pink nose. "Can't I see them?"

"Yes, you see a big bunch of roses all right," trumpeted Mumbo. "But they are not growing near the big stump."

"Then how did they get there?" asked Mr. Longears.

"I think," answered Mumbo, "that Frisky has found a rose bush. He has picked a big bunch of the flowers and he is standing with them held in his trunk."

"Are you sure you will find Frisky with a big bunch of roses back of that stump?"

"I'll go look!" offered Buster the Rabbit Scout. He hopped away fast and soon came hopping back.

"That's right!" said Buster. "It is Frisky back of the stump and he is holding a big bunch of roses."

"Why didn't he come back with you?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I don't know," Buster answered. "I forgot to ask him. I'll go back and ask him now."

"Never mind, Buster!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "Here comes Frisky now, and he is bringing with him the big bunch of roses!"

A moment later Frisky was shuffling toward his friends, his trunk curled around a large bouquet of beautiful roses.

"I wonder if the thorns don't prick him," said Jingle, who was thinking of her pin.

"We elephants have trunks that are not easily pricked," said Mumbo. Then he called to his chum: "Frisky, what are you going to do with those roses?"

"I am going to give them to Uncle Wiggily to decorate Mrs. Moo Cow, Grandpa Whackum, the beaver, and Mr. Butter, the goat grocer," answered the runaway circus elephant.

"Thank you very much!" exclaimed Mr. Longears. "Where did you get those lovely roses, Frisky?"

"Oh, I found a bush of roses a little way from the big stump," was the reply.

"See! I told you we should look for Frisky near roses," said Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"You are right," chimed in Uncle Wiggily. "Well, thank you very much, Frisky. We now have enough flowers to do all the decorating we wish to. In fact we have so many flowers that I am going to give you some of the roses you picked, Frisky."

"Thank you," answered the runaway circus elephant. "But what would I do with roses?"

"Take them back to the circus, of course," trumpeted Mumbo. "Give some roses to the circus manager, Frisky, and I am sure he will excuse you for running away. Come on, now! Back to the circus we must go! And you take some roses for the manager."

Giving Uncle Wiggily most of the roses that he had picked, Frisky kept enough for the circus manager. He and Mumbo were soon shuffling their way back to the three-ring show. Uncle Wiggily and the animal children took the flowers to the hollow stump bungalow. They left some for Mrs. Moo Cow, some for Grandpa Whackum, and then Uncle Wiggily said:

"Now I must go! Where was Uncle Wiggily going? To find out please read Monday's story if the loaf of bread doesn't spread chocolate all over its crust so the egg beater thinks it is a birthday cake for the pussy cat."

his mistakes about them were of a quite different kind. The Communists just gave a tempting tug on his roots in Yunnan, and back Lung Yun went, full of foolish hope; and now he is under house arrest again in Peiping, with an empty title that is meant to encourage turncoats on Formosa. So you see, you really don't need to worry because my friend Lung Shun-wen is the old governor's son.

You ought to remember, too, that the younger generation of Lung behaved very differently from the old man. One of my friends' brothers, Lung Shun-teng, was the anti-Communist guerrilla leader in Southwest China until the Peiping government caught and shot him. All the other brothers are refugees — the eldest escaped from the mainland only the other day, and Generalissimo Chiang gave him a big welcome.

As for my friend, Lung Shun-wen, very few young men surely could make the transition that he has made, from being a twenty-year-old lieutenant colonel and the son of one of the richest men in the world, to getting their living in a strange land. Lung Shun-wen finished college here, although his allowance from his father stopped in 1949. He has managed very well ever since, and now he is doing nicely with a Chinese restaurant here in Washington. I would think that a fellow who can get out and scratch like that would be the best kind of citizenship material.

So I hope you will put away your punch cards for once, and re-examine his case as a human problem. Even when you achieve 200 per cent Americanism, like Mr. Scott McLeod, it is very unwise to forget that human problems really matter a lot.

Sincerely,
J. Alsop

Gov. Lausche Of Ohio Praises Harry Truman

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ohio's Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche, often cool to Harry Truman in the past, last night called him "one of the great presidents of our country."

Lausche, at odds with national Democratic leaders recently over his refusal to attend a political conclave of Democratic governors in Washington, heaped praise on Truman in a welcoming speech at a $100-a-plate dinner for the Truman library fund.

"The goodness of his deeds and the soundness of his policies will be judged as time goes on," Lausche said. He said that although Truman's policies were criticized "there has been no effort made to change them."

That, Lausche said, attested to the goodness of the policies.

Harry Truman, the five-term governor, concluded, "will go down in history as one of the great presidents of our country."

Truman, 71 years old but in jaunty good health, whipped through a long day of activities in Cleveland.

He told the capacity crowd of 600 at the dinner that he might disagree with some of Eisenhower's policies, but he thought every American should support the President on foreign policy.

Dairy Day Parade Plans Completed By Plainview Unit

PLAINVIEW, Minn. (Special)—Lester Christison, chairman of the Dairy Day parade, and his committee, have made final plans for assembly and route of the parade which will start at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The parking area of the Lake-side Packing Co. will be the assembly point for all floats and vehicles. Bands and marching units will assemble near the St. Joachim Church. Units must be at the assembly area not later than 11:30 a.m., Christison, said.

Line of March

U.S. Agrees to Geneva as Site Of Big 4 Meet

WASHINGTON — The United States has notified Britain and France it is willing to hold the proposed top level Big Four meeting at Geneva, Switzerland, beginning July 18, officials said today.

Previously, President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles had insisted on holding the meeting at Lausanne in Switzerland or, alternatively, they would have accepted Stockholm as a neutral meeting ground. The Russians did not favor Lausanne and had insisted on Vienna.

Diplomats here thought for several weeks that Geneva was a generally acceptable place if Eisenhower and Dulles were prepared to meet there. But they had objected because of its association with last year's Indochina peace settlement which the United States disapproved.

The three Western powers will send a note to Moscow in the next few days setting forth as a proposal the time and place which they have agreed on. It will then be up to the Soviets to say whether the terms suggested are agreeable to them.

Wisconsin School Aids Get Approval

DURAND, Wis. (Special)—According to Wilbur M. Gibson, Pepin County superintendent of schools, state aids payable for the current school year (1954-55) have been certified for payment by the state treasurer.

The State Department of Public Instruction has made the certification. The state aids are certified alphabetically by counties, so approximately two weeks will be required to go through the entire list of school districts. All payments should be completed by June 15, according to Gibson.

The balance of the aids due school districts for 1953-54 also will be paid at this time. The aids for that school year were prorated and the recent Legislature now has passed the deficiency appropriation.

State aids payable to Pepin County school districts amount to $63,668.14. County aids of $14,850 were paid recently. Total equalized valuation of the county schools is $17,947,700 and the total operating cost, $308,271.33. No aids, under law, were apportioned to the suspended school districts of Burke, Lima and Woods Corner.

Annual school report forms are in the process of being apportioned to the county school district clerks. These will be mailed out before June 30, 1955.

Canadian Indians Asking for Key to Their War Chest

SARNIA, Ont. —Canada's Indians are asking the federal government to turn the key to their war chest so they can finance a court battle against paying income tax.

Micmacs from the Maritimes, Capilanos from the Pacific Coast and tribesmen from the forests of the farmlands in between vote this week to ask the government to allow tribal councils to dip into tribal funds for the fight. The funds are earned by rental of tribal lands and similar means.

The action was taken at the annual convention of the North American Indian Brotherhood, which speaks for many of Canada's 151,000 Indians. Indians are not taxed on reservation income but argue the exemption should be extended to off-reservation earnings.

The government holds the purse strings on tribal funds, so permission is necessary.

Actor Faces Jail If He Comes Home

SANTA MONICA, Calif. — Actor Bruce Cabot, described by his estranged wife as the father of an illegitimate child in Italy, faces a five-day jail term if he should return to California.

Francesca de Scaffa, Venezuelan beauty and still technically Cabot's wife, testified about the child in Italy when she appeared in Superior Court Friday seeking back support payments for her own child, Alphonsine Cabot, 2.

Judge Stanley Mosk found Cabot in contempt of court for nonpayment of $4,950 in child support, issued a bench warrant for his arrest and ordered the five-day jail term.

Miss de Scaffa, 23, a former actress, obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce from Cabot, 49, in 1952 but has not obtained a final decree.

2 Senators to Inspect Foreign Aid Program

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two members of the Senate Appropriations Committee will tour the Far East for an on-the-spot inspection of the foreign aid program.

The report to be brought back in a month by Sens. Clements (D-Ky.) and Dirksen (R-Ill.), is certain to influence the committee's consideration of President Eisenhower's $3 1/2 billion aid program for the year starting July 1.

They will leave tomorrow for visits to Japan, Korea, Formosa, the Philippines and Indochina. Dirksen also will visit Europe.

Dirksen said in an interview the Appropriations Committee would make "the closest examination" of the new aid program, authorized in full by the Senate Thursday.

A study of half a dozen votes taken in the Senate on proposals to cut or otherwise limit the authorization measure, all of which failed, indicated vigorous dissatisfaction by many members of the Appropriations Committee over various portions of the bill.

For example, amendments by Sens. Knowland (R-Calif.) and Potter (R-Mich.), both committee members, which would have required that a large part of economic aid be disbursed as loans rather than gifts attracted the votes of 12 members of the appropriations group, one more than half the committee.

Eight of the 27 senators who voted "yes" on an amendment by Sen. Long (D-La.) to strike $18 million dollars from the bill are members of the appropriations group.

Those and other votes offered an indication of possible major reductions in the $3 1/2 billion aid measure by the committee when it recommends actual funds to carry out the program.

Clements said in a brief statement:

"The Western Pacific and Southeast Asia areas are in the tinder box of the world today. This trip will make possible a first-hand, on-the-scene report to the Senate Appropriations Committee."

Roger Grunlein, Hixton Native, a polio respiratory victim, is seeing his world from different angles. His rocking bed, sent to Black River Falls by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, helps the youth to breathe and combats a respiratory infection he has been unable to shake off. The rocking bed may be adjusted to any position as is a regular hospital bed while it moves back and forth. Roger still depends upon the assistance of the iron lung (at right) at night. March of Dimes' collections of $4,613.11 in Jackson County this year topped all previous receipts, according to Clifford Nelson, chairman. Receipts included $1,742.59 by mothers, $514.75 by school children and $2,007.68 by coin mailers and clubs. For the second year, the Lutz Store at Melrose won a trophy for the highest coin bank total. (Betty Epstein photo)

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special)—Main event during the centennial celebration here June 22 to June 26, will be the nightly performance of "Mondovi's Turn of a Century" at the fairgrounds.

It will be a huge stage spectacle with a cast of around 300 people under the supervision of The John B. Rogers Producing Co., largest producers of outdoor entertainment in the country.

The pageant will portray the history of Mondovi and Buffalo County from the early Indian days to the present. It will be presented on a 300-foot stage. The cast will wear colorful and authentic costumes, there will be special scenery and lighting to create a background for the historical episodes. Theme music will be provided by a centennial chorus and instrumental group.

groups. The queen will be crowned by Gov. Walter Kohler Jr., the evening of June 23.
As the finale the entire cast will form two huge "Wheels of Life," the wheels revolving, summarizing the march of Mondovi's history through the decades.

Treasure Trove Of 14th Century Art Discovered

By FRED ZUSY

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—A treasure trove of Byzantine art is emerging through restoration work in a little 14th century monastery church near ruins of the great wall that once guarded this 2,600-year-old city.

The church is Kahriye Djami, also known as the Church of Christ-in-the-Fields. Connoisseurs say it contains the world's finest collection of Byzantine art.

Restoration work, financed by American donations, has uncovered an unparalleled array of rare mosaics and frescoes long concealed behind plaster and whitewash.

Prof. Paul A. Underwood of Washington, D.C., heads the American restoration mission from the Byzantine Institute and the Harvard University-Dumbarton Oaks Research Library in Georgetown.

Underwood's team, working with tiny brushes, scalpels and moistened bits of cotton, has more than a year's labor in front of it.

So much has been uncovered and restored, however, that Underwood says there is no doubt the little church will be recognized as "the jewel of Byzantine art."

The church, gathering here Sept. 16 for world Byzantine congress, will get a preview of the Kahriye Djami masterpieces. The church eventually will become a Turkish museum.

One of the prize exhibits will be a large diptych—a formal, monumental panel showing the Virgin Mary pleading before Christ.

The church also has an extensive mosaic series of the life of the Virgin Mary. Eighteen of the original 20 scenes survive and have now been cleaned and made solidly. The colors of the thousands of bits of glass and stone have remained brilliant.

When the Turks conquered Constantinople known as Istanbul only the last 30 years, in 1452, they covered the religious works with paint, whitewash and plaster. Islam, the religion of the Turks, frowns on portrayal of the human figure.

Restoration of 800 to 1,400-year-old mosaics in St. Sophia, the Byzantine great church of the Byzantine emperors, is now practically completed.

The late Prof. Thomas Whittemore of Harvard began restoration efforts here with the approval of Mustafa Kemal Ataturk, first president of republican Turkey. The Turks, after conquering the city, made St. Sophia a mosque. Ataturk made it a museum.

N.J. Woman Who Stole to Play Horses 'Sleepless'

NEW YORK (AP)—A plump New Jersey woman accused of stealing thousands of dollars over a 10-year period from cash registers of stores and hospitals to bet on the horses has this advice for others: "Don't do it. It doesn't pay."

Speaking was Mrs. Mary Pado, 46, who gave her address as Hoboken, N.J. She was arrested by detectives yesterday as she was released from a women's prison in Clinton, N.J.

Police said she is wanted in Pennsylvania, Detroit, and Washington State. They estimated the alleged thefts amounted to $100,000.

St. Paul Lawyer Found Guilty of Theft Disbarred

ST. PAUL (AP) — John J. Strapp, 44-year-old St. Paul lawyer, Friday was disbarred by the Minnesota Supreme Court.

Strapp, a former assistant vice president of the American National Bank in St. Paul, pleaded guilty in federal court in November to misappropriating $600 of bank funds last summer. Strapp was given a suspended sentence and placed on probation for five years.

The court said in its disbarment order that the fact the sentence was suspended and Strapp placed on probation "has no effect since the statute requires only that the attorney be convicted of a felony or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude."

Few Worrying About Increase In Debt Rate

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—People are getting deeper into debt. It's a side line of the general prosperity. And, in fact, increasing debt helps many industries to look as prosperous as they do.

So long as incomes keep on rising a little, or at least hold as high as they are, there are few to worry much about the present debt load.

The auto boom is riding a crest of on-the-cuff car buying. Americans owe 11½ billion dollars on their cars. The Federal Reserve Board reports auto installment debt rose 429 million dollars during April.

Total installment credit went up 539 million dollars in April to a new high of 23½ billion. In April a year ago the climb was 45 million.

Businessmen are borrowing more this year, too. The Federal Reserve reports bank loans to business are now 781 million dollars higher than this time last year and now total 23½ billion. So far this year loans have gone up 212 million dollars, in contrast to a drop of 1½ billion dollars during the similar period a year ago.

The boom in housing brings with it a rising load of mortgage debt. The almost insatiable demands of the mortgage market is tending to tighten the supply of money in general, the First National City Bank of New York reports in its June monthly letter.

The cost of borrowing money is tending to rise. The bank notes that "borrowers are finding lenders less eager to increase their loans and inclined to be more selective and to tighten up on terms extended." The bank calls this a "natural and wholesome development."

The mortgage demand isn't the only thing that is tightening the money supply. Business borrowing has the same effect. And corporations are seeking more funds to enlarge their plants and buy equipment and to meet increased needs for working capital.

All this borrowing tends to keep business booming. At the consumer level it means higher retail sales totals. At the corporate level it means expansion.

At the turn of the century there were less than 150,000 miles of hard surfaced road in the United States compared to more than two million miles today.

For Best Pictures Submitted

This year marks the 100th Anniversary of The Daily News. In November you'll see what we believe will be one of the best anniversary editions ever published by an American newspaper. To make it "one of the best," we're staging a Centennial Edition Picture Contest in hopes that you will look into your attic and dig up those old pictures that might be of interest to everyone in the Winona area.

We assure you that we will take the best possible care of your pictures while they are in our possession. Every picture will be encased in a special envelope properly filed with your name and address. At the end of the contest, we'll return your pictures to you by mail.

A guide to the kind of pictures we want and DON'T want is shown below.

WHAT WE WANT!

- Pictures relating to outstanding early local news events such as floods, fires, railroad and steamboat wrecks.
- Pictures of early Winona city and farm life, showing street scenes, early automobiles, horse cars, important buildings, etc.
- Pictures of individuals who were important in the pioneering and later development of the community.
- Pictures showing the wearing apparel worn by local men, women and children through the years.
- Pictures of Winonans who held important offices at the state and national levels.
- Pictures of Winonans who held important local offices—mayors, police chiefs, educators, etc.

WHAT WE DON'T WANT!

- Pictures of large groups of people such as graduating classes, etc., unless they are of outstanding historical value.
- Pictures found in old newspaper clippings. (While many of these might be interesting, it is virtually impossible to reproduce them for printing today.)
- Faded snapshots. In general snapshots must show the subject in clear detail to be printable.
- Pictures printed in books, unless you are willing to clip them from the book. Some of these are printable and some are not. We suggest you show them to us before you clip them.
- Pictures in frames. It is impossible for us to reproduce pictures for printing unless they are removed from frames.

SPECIAL $25 AWARD

To first person who submits a reproducible picture of Captain Sam Whiting, first editor of The Republican!

CONTEST RULES

1. Send all pictures to CENTENNIAL PICTURE CONTEST, Winona Daily News. To assure proper care in the mail, guard your pictures with pieces of cardboard and mark DO NOT BEND on the outside of your envelope before mailing.
2. Using scotch tape, attach a slip of paper to the bottom of each picture you send and print the following information on it legibly:
 - a. Your name and address.
 - b. A brief description of the subject matter of the picture, identifying persons, places or events.
3. You may enter as many pictures as you wish.
4. The Daily News reserves the right to publish any pictures entered in the contest.
5. The deadline for entry in the contest is July 1, after which your pictures will be returned to you. The deadline is necessary since the various sections of the edition must be prepared in advance.
6. Contest winners will be announced in the Centennial Edition of The Daily News, to be distributed November 19.
7. Some pictures already have been received from persons and organizations. These will be automatically entered in the contest.

Two new programs started on KWNO last week. STRANGE, a new series of supernatural stories and strange human experiences will be heard every Monday through Friday from now on at 7 p.m. SAGA, another program, will feature adventure stories at 7:15 p.m. each Monday through Friday.

The American Broadcasting Network keeps getting bigger, so apparently radio isn't as dead as many people think! Station WISN of Milwaukee has joined the network as the most recent addition. It's a 5,000 watt station.

Don McNeill is an Indian, too. He's Zon-Sah-Kah-Hah, a brave in the tribe of the proud Osage. The heap big toastmaster of the famed ABC BREAKFAST CLUB was made an official member of the tribe in a surprise ceremony last week in Tulsa, Okla. McNeill, who is vacationing in the Southwest, was dining at the home of a friend when he was ushered into a room where 50 Osage and their chief were gathered for the surprise induction of the radio personality into the tribe. The braves outfitted him in the garb of an Osage, complete from feathered headdress to beaded moccasins, and dubbed him Zon-Sah-Kah-Hah. The name means "deer at the edge of the forest." BREAKFAST CLUBber Don is only the third "paleface" to be honored by the Osage with invited membership to their clan.

A key address by Pres. Dwight D. Eisenhower at the commencement exercises of Penn State University, State College, Pa., will be broadcast "live" over KWNO next Saturday at 9:30 a.m. The President's talk, considered of major importance, will be on atomic energy problems.

As you probably know, the Tri-State Hunting Dog Association is host to national retriever handlers for an AKC licensed trial this weekend at Prairie Island. Whether you get out to the trial grounds or not to see 80 of the best retrievers in the nation work, be sure to tune to KWNO tomorrow evening at 5:30 for a special program about the trials. The J. R. Watkins Co. will sponsor the program. If you like dogs, don't miss the chance to see and hear these top handlers and their dogs.

"Asia and the West—Gateway to Understanding" is the subject to be discussed on AMERICA'S TOWN MEETING OF THE AIR Sunday over KWNO from 7 to 8 p.m. Sir Leslie Knox Munro, Ambassador from New Zealand to the United States; Sujono Surjotjondro, Counselor of the Indonesian Embassy, Washington, D.C., and Paul G. Hoffman, Chairman of the Board of the Studebaker-Packard Corporation and former administrator of the Economic Cooperation Administration, will be the guests. Dr. Orville Hitchcock, Professor of Speech, State University of Iowa, will be the moderator. The program will originate from the Rotary International's golden anniversary convention in Chicago.

Have a nice weekend!

Millers Lose 6-5 After 14 Innings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Minneapolis Millers, who have dominated the American Association for weeks were defeated 6-5 by Indianapolis Friday night on a 14th inning bases loaded Texas leaguer by Stan Pawloski that brought in the winning run. But the other first division teams were unable to take advantage of the loss to the league leaders. Third place Omaha, which was rained out at Charleston, moved up only a half game to 7½ behind while second place Toledo was swamped 5-0 by Denver and fourth place Louisville lost 3-0 to St. Paul. Toledo trails the Millers by 4½ games.

Until the 14th frame, all the Indianapolis Millers runs had been off homers. The final tally came after Rudy Regalado singled followed by two walks to load the sacks.

Bob Lennon's homer for the Millers was his 18th of the season and gave him the loop leadership in that column.

Denver retained its one percentage point hold on fifth place by blasting the Sox. The Bears broke a 1-1 tie in the fifth with three runs on three singles and Whitey Herzog's two-run triple. Don Larson held the Sox to only four hits in breaking Toledo's 7-game win streak.

Catcher Charley Thompson drove in all three St. Paul runs in his perfect 4-for-4 appearance. The Senators got 11 men on base off five hits and six walks, but were unable to bring them home as Saint hurler Ron Negray tightened up.

Two Badgers All-Big Ten

CHICAGO (AP)—Two University of Wisconsin players have been named to the All-Big Ten baseball team by conference coaches.

Jim Schultz, shortstop and Carley Wagner, a catcher were named Friday night to the Big Ten first team.

Jack Nowka, Badger right fielder, was named to the second team and another Badger right fielder, Bill Rubin, was picked for the third team.

Chiefs Attempt Weekend Sweep

The Winona Chiefs, losers of their batting eye and their last three ball games, will be bidding for a sweep of two games this weekend to get back to the .500 bracket in wins and losses.

Manager Emil Scheid's crew plays a makeup game tonight at Fairmont and returns to Gabrych Park Sunday night, 8 p.m., for a duel against the Twins of Waseca-Owatonna.

Scheid plans to start Jim Lawler on the mound tonight against Fairmont and Whitey Felker here Sunday night against Waseca-Owatonna.

The Chiefs currently are batting .228 as a team with 44 hits in 193 times at bat. Among the regulars, only Bill Leach, Al Radsavage and Bert Tracy are batting over .300.

Leach is hitting .389, Radsavage .348 and Tracy .333. Next best is Don Miller's .238 mark. The Chiefs have been shut out the last two ball games, have gone 21 scoreless innings and have only two runs to show for their last 27 innings.

The three starting pitchers thus far—Jim Lawler, Carl DeRose and Whitey Felker—haven't been impressive either. Felker had a 6.43 earned run average, Lawler is 7.97 and DeRose 8.66 in ERA.

The five hurlers currently on Winona's roster—Joe Shrike, Bob Umfleet and the three starters—have a combined record of 48½ innings pitched, 68 hits given up and 37 earned runs. Shrike, however, has pitched only two-thirds of an inning and Umfleet 5½ innings.

"Some of these days it's going to change," Scheid said.

Yanks' Honeymoon Over As Chisox Cop 3-2 Victory

By ORLO ROBERTSON

The Associated Press

Casey Stengel, known far and wide for his baseball wisdom even though it is difficult at times to fathom the meaning of his double talk, knew of what he spoke when he said the honeymoon was over for his New York Yankees.

The Yankee skipper made the remark in a few thousand words after the American League leaders had left the friendly confines of Kansas City's Municipal Stadium and headed for Comiskey Park, home of the Chicago White Sox.

The Yankees were riding high on a record of 19 victories in their last 22 games, including 14 out of 16 against their favorite sparring partners—Washington, Baltimore and Kansas City. And their record since leaving home stood at 7-1.

But last night they arrived at Comiskey Park, where Stengel predicted the trouble would start. It did with the White Sox winning 3-2 behind hitting and pitching Jack Harshman. Since the Cleveland Indians were unable to take advantage of the Yanks' setback, losing 3-1 to Washington on Mickey McDermott's 3-hitter, the top of the standings tightened.

Three games still separated the Yankees and the Indians but the Pale Hose found themselves only a half-game out of second place today. In other American League games the Detroit Tigers defeated the Orioles 7-2 as Ned Garver won his first game in more than three weeks and the Athletics edged the Boston Red Sox 4-3 on Wilmer Shantz's two-run homer.

The National League leaders both came through with triumphs. The Brooklyn Dodgers continued to slug the ball to all corners of the lot, thumping St. Louis 12-5, while the second place Chicago Cubs turned back the slipping New York Giants 4-1 on homers by Gene Banks, Eddie Miksis and Bob Speake.

Bill Bruton's 10th inning homer gave the Milwaukee Braves a 4-3 decision over Philadelphia and Pittsburgh nosed out Cincinnati 7-6 with rookie catcher Harding Peters hitting a bases-loaded single with one out in the ninth.

The White Sox-Yankee game, witnessed by 40,020, lived up to its advance notices. Harshman set down the New Yorkers on nine well spaced hits and drove in two runs and set up the other. The league leaders had the lanky southpaw on the ropes several times but couldn't cash in except in the fourth when Bill Skowron hit his sixth homer and in the sixth when Mickey Mantle connected with his 12th. The victory was Harshman's first over the Yankees after losing four to them last year. McDermott, who shut out the Indians 3-0 in his last clash with the American League champions, fanned six and walked five in recording his fourth win. Mickey Vernon and Roy Sievers hit homers to provide McDermott with all the runs he needed. Bob Lemon was the loser.

Garver's 3-hitter against the Orioles brought joy to the Tigers. The 29-year-old right-hander, whose last victory was May 11, also delivered a single and a double. Cal Abrams collected three, of Baltimore's hits—a single, double and a home run—to drive in all the runs. Harvey Kuenn was in the Detroit lineup for the first time since May 22 and drove in the Tigers' first run with a single.

The Cardinals used eight pitchers, tying the National League record, in an attempt to stop the Dodgers. The league leaders belted starter Tom Poholsky for four runs in the first inning as Duke Snider got his 15th homer and Roy Campanella contributed a double and two singles and drove in five runs.

Stan Musial hit his 300th homer with two mates aboard in the fifth. The circuit bout placed Musial in a select group of 13 major leaguers who hit 300 or more homers.

Bob Rush's string of scoreless frames against the Giants was broken after 26 1-3 innings when Don Mueller hit an inside the park homer in the first. Thereafter the veteran right-hander allowed only five hits and didn't walk a man.

Bruton got the chance to deliver his game-winning homer for the Braves because Roy Smalley connected with a three-run homer for the Phils in the fourth to tie the score.

Watkins captured his fourth straight in City League.

Watkins, brushed aside a threat from Cozy Corner Thursday night in the City Softball League to win its fourth game without defeat, 7-3.

Cozy Corner, second-place team, scored three runs in the first inning but Watkins overcame the deficit by scoring twice in each of the first three frames and once in the fourth.

Joe Lilla helped Watkins along with a home run, while pitcher Earl Kreuzer limited Cozy Corner to four hits and struck out 11.

Turner's beat Graham-McGuire 10-2 and Duke's won by forfeit over Hadd

Croonquist Enters 1955 Country Club Invitational

Many of the top amateur golfers in Minnesota will tee off next week-end for the 11th annual Winona Country Club Invitational golf tournament and if past accomplishments mean anything, the 1955 tournament may be another case of Neil Croonquist against the field.

Croonquist, popular Minneapolis golfer, won the tournament in 1949-50-51-52-53. He retired the Koch Chemical trophy after his victory in 1952 and has two-thirds ownership on the current championship trophy, the Choate award. His entry for the 1955 tournament has already been received.

Eighteen holes of qualifying will be fired Saturday and for members of the championship flight, there will be 27 holes Sunday. All other flights will be 18 holes Sunday.

A medal play tournament, some of the outstanding golfers who competed last year besides Croonquist were Ade Simonson, Bill Cording, Len Bjorklund, Kenny Young, Henry Ernst and Bill Warran.

In 1954, 100 golfers competed in the 18-hole qualifying round. Winona Country Club officials this year decided to limit the field to 75 to avoid congestion on the nine-hole Pleasant Valley layout.

Another new feature of the tournament this year will be the addition of a senior flight for golfers over 50 years of age.

The golfers who tee off in the Invitational will find the course in excellent shape again this season and a tough test of golfing ability.

The Country Club course isn't heavily trapped, but sidehill lies and natural hazards in the rolling layout make it a tough test. A creek running through the course presents a water hazard on five of the nine holes.

Ashenfelter Sets U.S. 2-Mile Mark

By BILL BECKER

COMPTON, Calif. (AP)—Horace Ashenfelter, the flying FBI man from the New York Athletic Club, possesses a new American two-mile mark of 8:49.6 today.

But Wes Santee, the perennial pursuer, has yet to unravel the secret of the 4-minute mile.

Santee ran a sparkling 4:01.2 in last night's Compton Invitational Mile, pushed by Bob Seaman of UCLA and Fred Dwyer, the ex-Villanova star. Seaman was clocked in 4:01.4, Dwyer 4:01.9, to make it the first time two Americans ever bettered 4:02 in one race.

For Ashenfelter, it was just a matter of pacing himself. He defeated Fernando Ledesma of the University of Southern California by nearly 30 yards and cracked Gunder Hagg's 12-year old American record of 8:51.3. Belgian Gaston Reiff holds the world mark of 8:40.4.

Ashenfelter was named outstanding athlete of the race.

The running of J. W. Masbourn and Mal Whitfield also thrilled the crowd of 7,500. Masbourn won the 440 in 46.5, fastest quarter mile of the year, and Whitfield took the 880 in 1:48.9. The two hooked up in a great duel in the mile relay, with Masbourn's 46-second anchor lap giving his Oklahoma A&M team an eyelash victory over Whitfield of the Los Angeles AC, clocked in 45.9.

Texas sprinter Dean Smith clicked off wins in the 100 and 220, timed in 9.5 and 20.9.

Arcadia Golf Committees Set

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special)—The Arcadia golfing season was officially opened Tuesday evening when men golfers held their first get-together at the clubhouse.

After golfing, the annual meeting was held and the following officers were elected for the 1955 season:

Sossalla; entertainment committee, Lyman Maloney, chairman, Gilbert Benusa and Joseph Gamoke; membership committee, Robert Gamoke, chairman, John English and Joseph Maule.

Ignatius Sossalla and Jerome Pierzynski were appointed to call a meeting of the caddies in order to give them instructions and directions. All golfers are asked to turn in all scores at the club house so a course handicap can be set up.

On Wednesday, June 8, a Scotch tournament will be held and all golfers are invited to participate. A potluck supper will be served by the ladies.

Gale-Ettrick Trophy Case Memorial to Former Athlete

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special)—Prized as a fine possession and as a memorial to a former athlete is the new trophy case in the corridor of the new Gale-Ettrick High School. It is a memorial to the late John Oedsma, who died last November. Parents of Oedsma and the Lettermen's Club secured the memorial.

Made of native birch, the case is 4 by 8 feet in size and some 16 inches deep, large enough to house the school's athletic trophies. Its finish matches the birch woodwork of the new building.

Oedsma was outstanding in basketball, football and track in the school here, graduating in 1950. He entered River Falls Teachers College and was captain of the college football team, an all-conference tackle. Shortly after his graduation and marriage, Oedsma lost his life in a training accident in Texas while in military service.

Hawks Lose 3-2 In District Meet

LEWISTON, Minn. — The Rochester High School baseball team knocked the Winona High Hawks out of a chance for the District Three baseball title here Friday afternoon as the Rockets took a close 2-1 decision in a semifinal game of the tourney. Rochester advanced to the finals against Stewartville, victors over Lake City in another semifinal game.

The victory marked the second one-run decision the Rockets have scored over the Winhawks this season. Rochester ruined the Winhawks' undefeated standing earlier in the year with a 3-2 victory.

In Friday's contest, the Rockets took advantage of three Winona errors in the second inning to score two runs and take the lead they never relinquished. The Winhawks retaliated in the fourth inning with one run, but the rally fizzled out.

Free Golf Planned At Westfield for Youths Under 15

The Park-Recreation Board in cooperation with the Westfield Golf Club will again promote free golf for boys and girls 15 years and under, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings until noon.

All boys and girls must register at the Park-Recreation Board office in the City Building and get a free golf playing membership card. The department has ten sets of golf clubs that it rents at a low fee of 25 cents. Some of the sets were given to the department by Winona citizens, who are interested in promoting golf for boys and girls.

A tournament for boys and girls will be run in July with trophies given as awards. All boys and girls interested in free instruction in the fundamentals of golf, should register now. If enough interest is shown, a class will be organized and an instructor provided.

Giel Pitches Against Chicago

Paul Giel's earned run average is below one today after hurling 3 1/2 innings of Friday's Chicago New York game at the Polo Grounds.

Giel entered the game in the second inning in relief of Giants' starter Ramon Montano who was tagged with the loss in the 4-1 Chicago victory. Giel gave up two hits, one a home run by Gene Baker and walked one.

The record for Giel, former Winona star, in National League play this season is 9-4 in 10 games pitched, four hits allowed, two walks, three strikeouts and one earned run.

Giel's performance against Chicago marked the third time in less than a week that Giants' manager Leo Durocher has used him as a reliever. He pitched in games both last Sunday and Monday against the Brooklyn Dodgers and Philadelphia Phillies.

Texas Golfer Wins in England

ST. ANNES, England (AP)—Joe Conrad of San Antonio, Tex., survived a spectacular "sinking" spell after lunch today but defeated Alan Slater of London, 3 and 2, to win the British Amateur Golf championship. The 36-hole final round was played under adverse weather conditions that held the gallery to less than 1,000.

Conrad, on leave from the U.S. Air Force, had built a 4 up margin during the morning 18-hole round and extended that to 5 up after 20 holes. Then Slater steadied and as they made the turn for home after 27 holes the American led by a single hole.

The duel started in rain and wind. As they approached the 28th tee, thunder and lightning, hail and stinging rain scattered the tiny gallery.

The two were among 240 golfers who began the nerve jangling search for the title last Monday on the par-71, 6,657-yard Royal Lytham and St. Annes course.

The University of North Carolina track team went through its dual meet season without a loss, defeating seven foes. Five triumphs were by more than 30 points.

Caledonian Released From Hospital After Treatment for Injuries

Leonard Wohlers, 44, Caledonia, was released from the Winona General Hospital today after receiving treatment for injuries suffered in a fall from a truck in East Burns Valley last Sunday.

According to the report filed today with Sheriff George Fort, Wohlers was riding in the box of the pickup truck at noon trials in the valley when the truck rounded a sharp curve and he was thrown out.

Taken by ambulance to the hospital he was found to have suffered rib fractures, head cuts and back injuries.

FEDERAL COURT

the truck was turned off. He said that the fact that the driver was unable to put out the fire during its initial phases with a hand fire extinguisher indicated that the fire was fed by a gallon or more of gasoline.

Also significant, Calva said, was testimony from the driver that when he first noticed the blaze there was fire only on the cover of the battery case between the cab and trailer and on the truck cab. Calva said that that would indicate that the gasoline came from above.

The witness also said that he did not believe the spark could have been caused by an exposed battery pole.

Cross-Examination

After Mordant completed his direct examination, Joseph Moonan, witness with H. M. Lamberton Jr., Winona, attorney for Welker and Wodrich and William O'Brien, St. Paul, began cross-examination of the witness.

Moonan asked whether Calva based his opinions on the fire cause on an electrostatic charge built up in the truck during the trip from St. Paul to Owatonna and the witness said that he had.

The attorney then recalled earlier testimony by the driver who said that about one-half mile from the station he had stopped his truck and tested the wheel lugs without wrench.

Discharge of Charge

Moonan asked whether the electrostatic charge built up in the truck would have been discharged when the driver tested the lugs and Calva said that it would have been.

He later testified that another charge could have been built up on the drive to the station.

Moonan then asked whether the charge would have been grounded again if the driver had gotten out of the truck at the service station and Calva replied that it probably would have.

Earlier in the trial the driver had said that he remained in the truck while the attendant prepared to fill the tank.

Cross-Examination

In his cross-examination O'Brien made Calva agree as to the amount of gasoline vapor that he derived from a small amount of gasoline.

Calva agreed that a spark would ignite the highly inflammable vapor but said that if there was a sufficient mixture of air there would be only a flash and no sustained flame.

Moonan asked whether the attendant's opening the door of the cab when the truck reached the station would not ground out the electrostatic charge carried by the truck.

"I wish he hadn't worn over-shoes," Calva replied.

He said, in reply to another question by Moonan that if Wodrich touched the frame of the truck while he held the nozzle of the hose in his hands the electrostatic charge would have been grounded.

Mordant rested his case at 3:50 p.m., after stipulations had been read regarding the value of the truck and cargo immediately before the fire.

Witnesses of Fire

O'Brien called two witnesses before adjournment was called.

Both were Owatonna men—Robert Weller and Charles Turner—who said that they witnessed the fire.

Weller testified that he was in a hamburger shop across the street from the station when he looked out the window and saw flames in the vicinity of the truck.

Weller said that when he first noticed the fire the flames were in near the cab and there were none on the pavement. Weller said that he went to the fire station to notify firemen but when he reached the station the department already had received the call.

Turner said that he lived in an upstairs apartment across the street from the station and his son awakened him to notify him of the fire.

Turner said that when he looked out the flames were shooting high in the air and seemed to be spreading back toward the rear of the truck. He said he saw no flames on the pavement.

In cross-examination Mordant asked whether Turner had made a statement on June 7 that the flames seemed to start on the ground and go straight up and the witness said that he could not remember any such statement.

1. TEENAGERS WANT TO READ ABOUT ORDINARY KIDS.

Answer to Question No. 1
I. Rosamond du Jardin, author of teen-age novels, says (paraphrasing): "Kids don't want to read about juvenile crime, glamorous or unglamorous, very wealthy or very poor people. They want to read about ordinary kids like themselves, with the same problems they have—dating, sports, parents, school, etc." From thousands of letters we've received, we know they also want to read our booklet, "What Teenagers Should Know About Life and Love," by a noted counselor. Nonprofit, 15c (coin only) and self-addressed, stamped envelope. Send to Dr. A. E. Wiggum, in care of The Winona Daily News.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Mighty large numbers of us are. One psychologist distributed a list of 50 book titles to groups and asks them to check those they have read. Fifteen are made-up titles—the books don't exist; yet over half will check some of them. With apologies to Hamlet: "Thus lack of conscience does make liars of us all, and the native hue of honesty is sicklied over with the pale cast of prevarication!" The desire to be important is as old as time and as permanent as eternity.

Answer to Question No. 3
3. Yes, it looks so fine and easy. If it doesn't look easy, it's a poor speech. The speaker who appears to be working makes his audience nervous and sorry for him. But a good speaker makes you feel he isn't working—that he has great power in reserve. A speaker who laughs at his own jokes makes you weep; one who laughs at his own pathos makes you laugh. Great emotion under control is what conquers an audience.

'Atomic Age' Bank Bandit Gets $1,550

CHICAGO (AP)—A well-dressed robber walked into a Loop bank yesterday, handed a teller a threatening note that referred to the atomic age and waited while she read it.

Then he took the $1,550 the teller handed him and without a word walked out and escaped in the crowded business district.

Miss Laverne Lucht, 25, the teller at the Michigan Avenue National Bank near Michigan Ave. and Madison St., told police the robber did not display a gun.

No Big Change Seen In Defense Spending
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Deputy Defense Secretary Robert Anderson says defense spending will not be cut or increased drastically.

He said in an interview yesterday current policy calls for avoiding "the costly peaks and valleys" that go with building up and cutting back forces to meet the ups and downs of world tension.

Anderson, whose home is Vernon, Tex., is here to receive a
