Two Boys Drown in Lake at Strum

Free Nations Offered U.S. Atomic Reactors

Ike Promises American Money And Know-How

Renews Appeal To Russians to Join Peace Plan

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (P)—President Eisenhower, outlining two new atoms-for-peace programs proposed today the United States provide money and "know how" to help other free nations obtain atomic research and power reactors.

The President suggested this country pay half the cost of the research reactors, and he called the twin programs "the gateway to a broad avenue of world progress in the peaceful uses of atomic energy."

In a major address prepared for delivery at Pennsylvania State University's centennial commencement exercises, he added:

"Our purpose is to spark the creative and inventive skills latent in the free world, to pool them and put them to work for the betterment of conditions under which men must live."

Eisenhower appealed anew to Russia to join in his 1953 atoms-for-peace program—and seemed to be making the appeal to the Russian people rather than what he called "their Communist overlords."

The President announced he will submit his two new programs to Congress for approval "in the conviction they reflect the spirit and intent of law and of the American people." He outlined the plans this way:

"First: We propose to offer research reactors to the people of the free nations who can use them effectively for the acquisition of skills and understanding essential to peaceful atomic progress."

"The United States, in the spirit of the partnership that moves us, will contribute half the cost. He will also furnish the acquiring nation the nuclear material needed to fuel the reactor."

"Second: Within prudent security considerations, we propose to make available to the peoples of such friendly nations as are prepared to invest their own funds in power reactors, access to and training in the technological processes of construction and operation for peaceful purposes."

The President gave no estimate of the cost of the program, but he said it will be "small indeed when measured against the certain returns, tangible and intangible."

In advance of his address, which was carried nationwide on radio (NBC, ABC), Eisenhower inspected Penn State's new $312,000 atomic reactor plant expected to be in operation by the end of the year. He also received an honorary doctor of laws degree, presented to him by his youngest brother, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of the university.

In his address the President recalled that on Dec. 8, 1953 he proposed to the U.N. the creation of an international atomic energy pool for peaceful purposes. Eisenhower noted that the U.N. a year later endorsed the plan, but he said Soviet Russia still has "indicated no willingness to share any part of its nuclear stockpile" with such an international agency.

"Our offer still stands," the President said. "But we cannot wait on Soviet decisions."

Without waiting, Eisenhower said, the United States, already has entered into atoms-for-peace agreements with Turkey, Lebanon, Israel, Italy, Spain, Switzerland, Denmark, Colombia, Brazil and Argentina—and is negotiating additional pacts.

2-Year-Old Drowns In Fall Off Pier

WAUKESHA, Wis. (P)—Two-year-old Barbara Ann Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Williams, drowned Friday when she fell from a pier into three feet of water near her Okauke Lake home.

Japan Rushing Use Of Atomic Fuels

SAN FRANCISCO (P)—Japan is rushing to utilize atomic fuels because its orthodox fuel supplies are disappearing, Ichiro Ishikawa, only civilian member of Japan's Atomic Energy Council, said today. He is en route to Washington.

11th Hour GM Offer Awaited; Deadline Near

Union Chiefs Seem Unconcerned Over Delay

DETROIT (P)—The auto labor situation developed into a Grade A mystery story today as General Motors Corp. delayed making its bid for a contract settlement before a fast-approaching tomorrow midnight strike deadline.

GM's game apparently was to wait almost to the 11th hour, fling an offer at Walter Reuther, president of the CIO United Auto Workers Union, and give the union little time to argue, only to make a yes or no answer.

Lack of any protest over the delay from Reuther or UAW Vice President John Livingston, head of the union's GM department, led to belief they had some assurance from GM negotiators that the eventual offer would contain the basic principle of the guaranteed wage.

Reuther already has won a modified guaranteed wage plan from the Ford Motor Co., providing for a system of company-financed payments for laid-off workers supplementing state unemployment compensation payments, plus pay boosts and pension, holiday and vacation improvements.

Advance Assurance

If GM negotiators Harry W. Anderson and Louis G. Seaton have given Reuther advance assurance they will make a guaranteed wage offer patterned after the Ford plan there was guessing GM might do so in a manner that would embarrass Reuther and even endanger his guaranteed wage idea completely.

It was speculated that GM might make two offers, one like the Ford plan and another proposing much larger cash pay boosts for GM workers, with the suggestion the UAW let the workers choose between the two plans.

In the Ford negotiations Reuther had proposed just such a popular vote among the workers. He called for a worker choice between a Ford plan to let workers buy company stock at half price and the UAW's guaranteed wage plan. Ford never took up the vote offer, but instead ultimately negotiated a guaranteed wage.

Pressure on Reuther

Any GM offer providing for a fat pay raise, either alone or as an alternative to the guaranteed wage, might put Reuther on the spot.

Since the Ford guaranteed wage plan was announced Monday, there have been a number of Ford stoppages and worker protests that Reuther bought the guaranteed wage principle at a price of foregoing healthy wage increases from the profit-swollen auto industry.

This could mean that workers, faced with a choice between the guaranteed wage and steep wage increases, might vote against Reuther and take the latter. If GM could engineer this, it would be a severe personal blow to Reuther and might even endanger his keeping the guaranteed wage plan won at Ford, which has not as yet been ratified by Ford union members. It would put GM in the role of saving business generally from the guaranteed wage.

Determined Gunmen Take $12,000 From Chicago Store Safe

CHICAGO (P)—Three determined gunmen took $12,000 from a department store safe after tying up a watchman, braving a flood of tear gas and drilling off the safe door.

Joseph Nohejl, 60, the watchman, said the three intruders accosted him about 9:15 Friday night in the 18th street Leader Department Store, forced him to lie on a mattress and then worked three hours to get into the safe.

He said the robbers tossed several jugs of water into the safe in an attempt to halt the tear gas that poured out when they knocked off its combination dial.

They also forced the watchman, at gunpoint, to make his scheduled rounds at 10:15 and 11:15 p.m.

Controversy Continued on Polio Vaccine

WASHINGTON (P)—The Public Health Service was under fire from two quarters today as Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele declared "We can go forward," now that the safety of antipolio vaccine production has been assured by stiffer standards.

Scheele's confident statement came at a news conference yesterday after publication of a lengthy "white paper"—a detailed review by the Health Service of the brief but troubled history of the Salk vaccine program.

The surgeon general conceded that the program "might have come close to the line of safety" in the past. But he said he had no doubts about safety now.

In New York, Basil O'Connor, executive vice president of Wyeth Inc., took strong exception to a statement by Dr. James A. Shannon, an associate director of the Health Service's National Institutes of Health. Shannon said yesterday one batch of vaccine made by Wyeth is being subjected to searching laboratory analysis, although he said there was not enough evidence to label that lot suspect. In his white paper, the Health Service said the circumstances of three polio cases had raised some question about the vaccine used.

Blades termed it "most unfortunate, misleading and not in the public interest" that "suspicion should be cast on Wyeth vaccine and its routine retesting program and inference be given that Wyeth vaccine is 'suspect.'"

Meanwhile the summer's peak polio season drew closer with many localities still awaiting fresh supplies of vaccine with which to inject first and second graders.

2 Children Die, 21 Hurt as Dutch Bus Burns, Explodes

OSNABRUECK, Germany (P)—A sightseeing bus packed with 43 Dutch children caught fire and exploded today, killing 2 of the passengers and injuring 21 others.

Police Chief Paul Curtze said an earlier report of four deaths was erroneous, caused by a double count of the fatalities.

All the children were members of a youth choir from the Netherlands. The condition of five of the injured was described as critical.

A police report said the fire was caused presumably by gasoline leaking from two spare cans stored behind the bus driver's seat. The driver escaped unhurt but collapsed afterward.

Free Military Aid Unlikely for Austria

WASHINGTON (P)—Sen. George (D-Ga.) said today the United States is not likely to give any free military aid to help Austria construct a defense force.

George, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said that is his interpretation of Secretary of State Dulles' testimony yesterday.

Dulles told the committee that if aid is asked by Austria, "and we think it probably will be," we will give some assistance to Austria in equipping the forces allowed by the treaty, "renewing that country's sovereignty. He said nothing about repayment."

The senator said the United States would want "repayment," either for military goods shipped to Austria or for cash loans Austria might request. No formal request for aid has been made publicly yet but Dulles said he anticipates it.

Dulles appeared before the committee to ask prompt approval of the treaty signed in Vienna May 15. George predicted the Senate will act next week.

George also said in an interview he does not think the Austrian treaty will make much difference in the disposition of Russian troops in Eastern European satellite nations.

The Soviet Union will certainly "find one excuse or another" to keep troops in Eastern European satellite nations in the foreseeable future.

George noted that Russia's recent military alliance with its satellites in East Europe presumably offers one such excuse. But if it weren't that, he said, there would be other reasons for continuation of Russian troops there.

George said final ratification of the Austrian treaty might conceivably result in the withdrawal of "some" Soviet troops from nations like Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria.

One Falters In Attempting To Rescue Pal

Bodies Recovered From 5 Feet of Water By Rescue Squad

STRUM, Wis. (Special)—An act of youthful courage ended in death for a 9-year-old Strum boy Friday afternoon as he and a companion drowned in Strum Lake on the north edge of town.

Victims of the double tragedy are: Timothy Nelson, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Nelson, who live in town, and Allen Gullicksrud, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerhard Gullicksrud, who farm a mile from here.

They, together with Ronald Holte, about the same age, were playing at the annual outing sponsored by the Strum Lutheran Church when the accident occurred about 1:20 p.m. The trio found a boat moored on the beach about 700 feet south of Trempealeau County Trunk H and apparently panicked as it began to drift into the water.

Holte Wades Ashore

Holte told Trempealeau County authorities that he left the boat in about a foot of water and waded ashore. As the boat drifted further into the lake—which is formed by a dam in the Beef River here—both Tim and Allen jumped in an attempt to swim ashore. The lake is about 5 feet deep where they left the boat, which was about 30 feet out.

Nelson made the swim to shore, but returned to assist his pal, Allen, who was having trouble. They both had clothes on and the water was cold.

Holte said that Tim was the first to go down and Allen followed. Their bodies were recovered from about 5 feet of water near where they went down by the Eau Claire rescue squad led by James Barney and Laverne Haugen. Attempts to revive them failed.

Allen's body was found at 2:40 p.m. and Nelson was pulled from the water at 3:15 p.m.

Boys Observed

Ignatz Rumbolski, who was fishing across the lake, told Sheriff Ernest Anness that he saw the boys playing with the boat but thought nothing of it until other youths on the beach set up a commotion.

Mei T. Olson, Strum fire chief, was notified of the drownings by Holte and other children including Virgil Hammerstad. The local fire department was summoned and the Eau Claire rescue squad called. Eau Claire is about 20 miles north of here.

They were the first to drown in the lake since it was formed by a Works Project Administration (WPA) dam in 1935.

Olson told authorities that the boys found the boat tied on shore and had untied it to play. There were no oars in it, so as it drifted away from the beach, the boys became panic stricken.

Timothy Nelson was born July 13, 1945, in Strum, the son of Cyrus and Eunice Gunderson Nelson. He is survived by his parents, a sister, Patricia; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jules Gunderson, Strum, and paternal grandfather, Irvin Nelson, Gilmanston. Funeral arrangements are being made today by the Strand Funeral Home here.

Allen Gullicksrud was born Jan. 25, 1945, in Strum, the son of Gerhard and Verne Christianson Gullicksrud. He is survived by his parents; a brother, Donald, and paternal grandmother, Mrs. Anton Gullicksrud, Strum. Funeral arrangements are being made by Strand.

Aiding Anness with the investigation was Martin Weimer, Independence, county coroner. Donald's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Holte.

30 Reported Dead As Racing Car Hits Spectators

LE MANS, France (P)—Police said between 30 and 40 persons were killed here today when two sports cars in a 24-hour race collided and one bounced into a crowd of spectators.

An Associated Press reporter at the scene counted 17 bodies, including that of a 5-year-old child.

One of the dead was Pierre Levegh of France whose Mercedes-Benz collided just in front of the grandstand with an Austin-Healey believed driven by Lance Macklin.

Macklin's injuries were believed to be slight.

Police said nearly 100 persons were seriously injured.

Senate Moves To Wind Up Hat Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Investigations subcommittee sought to wind up its investigation of bribe accusations against Chicago hatmaker Harry Lev, who has denied them.

The voluble Lev had some tempestuous exchanges with subcommittee members yesterday about his relations with government people with whom he negotiated profitable contracts.

He insisted he had "never paid a bribe" and told the subcommittee "I could absolutely swear that I never got inside information whatsoever" about the contracts for which he bid successfully.

He says he has made a million dollars or more making caps for the armed forces.

The subcommittee is exploring for evidence of possible graft in connection with contract let to Lev and others for the manufacture of military and naval uniform items.

Navy Inspector Henry B. Vining, of San Francisco, P. R., acknowledged yesterday that some shipments of white sailor caps from Lev's Puerto Rico factory apparently "slipped past" him last year after he had accepted favors from Lev's partner Maurice Aides.

But Vining swore there was no relationship between the slippage and the reduced hotel rates he said Aides arranged for him in Puerto Rico while he was inspecting production at the Spencer Manufacturing Co. plant.

U.S. Urged to Free Jap War Criminals

TOKYO (AP)—Former Adm. Kichisaburo Nomura, Pearl Harbor ambassador at Washington, today urged the U.S. government to free all Japanese still serving prison terms as war criminals under U.S. military court sentences.

Tokyo's Sugamo Prison now holds 220 U.S.-convicted war criminals, most accused of mistreatment of American prisoners of war during World War II. Also in the prison are eight major war criminals convicted by the International Military Tribunal and 371 minor criminals convicted by United Kingdom, Dutch and Australian courts.

Several thousand others are believed detained in Russian and Red Chinese prisons and labor camps. Nationalist Chinese, Philippines and French military courts have pardoned or paroled all Japanese they sentenced.

BLAIR MASON'S PLAN

garment knowingly slip past," he said.

He said he reimbursed Aides, who paid his hotel bills from "approximately May to November 1954," but got no receipts. Jack Balaban, a government accountant, said Spencer's records reflect no payments from Vining.

The Navy is seeking to recover $70,418.90 from Lev on grounds that his company had "indiscriminately salted" five big shipments of sailor caps with defective ones rejected in prior inspections.

BY CATHARINE PLETKE

THIS year of 1955 seems to be a period of centennial celebrations in many phases of progress related to our area. We have mentioned the century and a half anniversary of the coming of Col. Zebulon Pike to this headwaters country of the Mississippi. We know that our Daily News is compiling centennial material telling the story of Winona during the last 100 years. Recently we found the story of a century celebration in another field, but of prime concern to the growth of Minnesota.

This month the Soo marks its 100th year as the funnel of Lake Superior shipping to the rest of the Great Lakes. This stretch of locked canals, small lakes and rapids at the eastern end of Lake Superior controls the boats and flow of water from our Minnesota boundary to the Atlantic Ocean, 2,000 miles eastward.

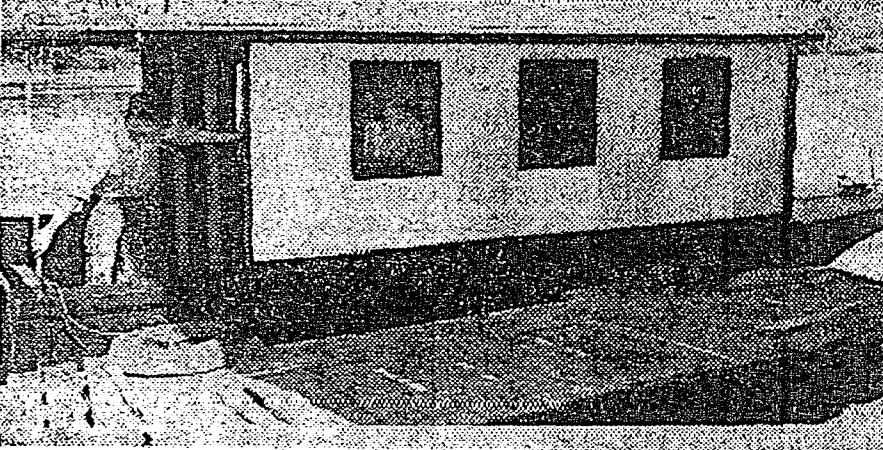

Rich in history, the Soo continues to be of major importance to America. Through its locks have gone more than 4,000,000,000 tons of traffic in its century of operation. The last ten years has carried about one fourth of this entire amount. In eight months of a good year these locks of the Soo will see as much traffic as is passed in the combined traffic of the Panama and Suez canals. Soo traffic is primarily downbound traffic from Lake Superior to lower lake ports. The rich iron ore of Northern Minnesota en route to cities along the Great Lakes is the major load and provides better than 80 per cent of the American steel output.

A report of the American Waterway Operators, Inc., lists 262 ports, including sea, Great Lakes, and inland waterways, as handling waterborne commerce. Of these, 135 handle more than a million tons of freight each. Duluth, Minn., had an official U. S. Corps of Engineers total of 77,243,545 tons of water traffic in 1953. During the same year Two Harbors, Minn., had 23,627,485 tons. St. Paul, near the end of upper river navigation handled 1,403,599 tons according to this same official tabulation.

BOYS BUILD OWN HOUSEBOAT

From great harbors with vast industry and commerce to our Winona river short is a short move when the Mississippi is at your door. This is true for two Winona boys who have just launched their own flatbottom houseboat, for pleasure only.

Barry Nelson Jr., 17, and Jerry Nelson, 14, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Barry Nelson Sr., 677 E. Mark St. began their boat building about three months ago in the family garage. With no special plans, but with lots of energy and with the help of their father, they have their boat in shape for lots of summer fun.

The 23x9-foot plywood hull of the houseboat has been covered with fiberglass and prior to the building of the cabin was tried out in Lake Winona. Power for the trial was supplied by a 7 1/2 h.p. outboard motor which made it manageable in the "still" lake water. For river operations, a 33 h.p. outboard motor will be used. After the return of the hull to land, the cabin building progressed afterwards, evenings and holidays in the driveway adjacent to the Nelson home. Daily visitors and interested viewers were on hand with suggestions as well as admiration. To date the boat, including the motor has cost about $450.

Tom Sawyer of Hannibal, Mo., tried out a home built craft on the Mississippi to explore the river; Barry and Jerry Nelson in their home built craft of 1955 with power, shelter and ingenuity will explore Winona's Mississippi anew.

Harvey Hogan launched his houseboat last weekend following an overhauling and paint job to put it in shape for the 1955 season of pleasure boating. Hogan's boat and the P. A. Mattisons' retain a "Steamboat Days" flavor with their paddle wheels.

Last Saturday afternoon the Paul Venables took possession of the former William Markle 30-foot Chris Craft cruiser. This boat, which sleeps four, has a good-sized afterdeck, lounge, galley, head and forward bunks.

Air Force May Test New Jet Fighter-Trainer

MITCHELL AIR FORCE BASE, N. Y. (AP)—The Air Force may send aloft today its experimental jet fighter-trainer made of solid magnesium.

The single-jet Lockheed plane was unveiled here yesterday, but a test flight was canceled because of generator trouble. Pure magnesium, obtained from sea water and thus virtually in inexhaustible supply, weighs only two thirds as much as aluminum and is more rigid.

The new plane needs fewer stiffening members and has 1,100 fewer parts than one constructed of aluminum.

The American Bible Society has marked its 120th year in its work for the blind.

'Little Mo' Trades Tennis Crown for Housewife's Role

By NORMAN BELL

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The world's abdicated tennis queen becomes a bride today at the age of 20.

Maureen Connolly, wearing a bridal costume from London, marries Norman Brinker, 24, at 2 p.m. in St. Patrick's Catholic Church.

The Most Rev. Charles F. Buddy, bishop of San Diego, officiates. Miss Connolly, a Catholic, and Brinker, a Methodist, take their vows under conditions required by the church for such mixed marriages.

The newlyweds will have a short California honeymoon before leaving for a European trip June 15. They will visit England, Italy, Switzerland and France.

Miss Connolly, who is women's sports editor for the San Diego Union, will cover the all-England tournament at Wimbledon for that paper and the London Daily Mail.

She will see the crown, unofficially recognized as symbolic of the world's women's championship, pass to a successor. She has held it for three years, since she was 17.

Other championships she is giving up, under her announced intention to forswear tennis hereafter, except as a pastime, are those of France, Italy, Germany and Ireland.

Brinker, former U.S. Olympics equestrian team member has been attending San Diego State College since finishing a Navy enlistment in January.

Matusow to Wed Milwaukee Girl

NEW YORK (AP)—Harvey Matusow, onetime FBI informer and turn-about witness in Communist cases, obtained a marriage license yesterday to marry Ellen Ruskin, an artist.

Matusow listed his occupation as writer-actor. He was married twice previously, each time to Arvilla P. Bentley. They were divorced twice in 1953, both times in Reno.

Miss Ruskin, 27, who lives in New York City, was born in Milwaukee, Wis., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sol Raskin. She was divorced in Juarez, Mexico, in 1953 from Alfred Kouzel.

First District Legion Parade Set for Sunday

SPRING VALLEY, Minn. —An address by Associate Justice Martin A. Nelson, formerly of Austin, at the banquet tonight and a 150-unit parade at 2 p.m. Sunday will highlight the 1st District American Legion convention here during the last two days of the three-day convention.

Today and Sunday morning delegates from the 58 posts are holding business sessions under the leadership of Harold C. Littlefield, Austin, district commander. Auxiliary units are meeting simultaneously with Mrs. Lud Gartner, Preston, district president, presiding.

Legion delegates today were considering several revisions in the by-laws including one to increase the per capita district dues by 10 cents and to add a fourth district vice commander.

Ethan Allen Favored
In pre-election activity, support was gained for the election of Ethan Allen, New Redland, Waseca County veterans service officer, as district commander. Both the Legion and auxiliary will elect Sunday morning. Mrs. Oscar Berge, Adams, now is first vice president of the auxiliary.

Odell Lee, Mabel, is nominating committee chairman for the Legion.

At 11 a.m. Sunday at the high school auditorium a joint memorial service will be held. Speaker will be the Rev. Webster Barnett, 2nd District Legion chaplain who is the son of the former Wabasha Episcopal rector who was once national Legion chaplain.

The program also will include a song by the St. Charles auxiliary quartet consisting of Mrs. Henry Papenfuss, Mrs. Jack Patterson, Mrs. Robert Wolter and Mrs. Frank Koch, and a tribute to Gold Star Mothers by Mrs. Adolph Bremer, Winona.

Writers of Gregg, any of the Pitman systems, or of Thomas shorthand may enroll for the course.

The college faculty committees have planned extensive programs of social activities, recreation, concerts, lectures and dance recitals for the entire summer.

John Kollas, left, inspects police files in an effort to effect possible identification of a gunman who held up the Hanson's Direct Gas station on East Sarnia street early today and escaped with nearly $150. Kollas was working at the station when the holdup was staged. Pressing the investigation are Chief of Police A. J. Bingold, center, and Detective George R. Meyers. (Daily News photo)

Holdup Man Gets $150 At Hanson's Gas Station

A tall, unkempt gunman walked into the Hanson's Direct Gas station, 700 E. Sarnia St., early today, held the station attendant and a customer at gunpoint and fled with nearly $150.

So effective were the gunman's admonitions to the station attendant and the customer "to just act natural" that another motorist drove up to the station, had his car serviced and bought a box of aspirin without realizing that a holdup was in progress.

Chief of Police A. J. Bingold said that the holdup was staged at about 3 a.m. while John Kollas, 20, 570 Sioux St., was on duty at the 24-hour station.

Kollas told Chief Bingold and Detective George Meyers that he and a Minneapolis man, Richard Jackson, who had stopped at the station to have a tire changed, were in the office when the holdup man entered through the door facing East Sarnia street.

"I looked up and he was just standing there," Kollas told Chief Bingold and Meyers, "and I asked him what I could help him with."

Describing the 6 foot 3 stranger as appearing "kind of timid or maybe sort of desperate," Kollas said that the man at first said something that he couldn't understand.

"He just stood there and mumbled something," Kollas related, and then he shoved this gun at me and said, 'This is a stickup.'"

The station attendant said that the gunman pointed a long-barreled revolver at him and Jackson—who was standing only a few feet away—and demanded the money from the station.

Kollas said that he asked the holdup man where he wanted the money, and the latter pointed to the desk so the stickup victim opened the cash register, removed the box in which currency and change was kept and placed it on the desk.

Another Car Comes
It was at about this time that another car in which five persons were riding drove up to the station.

"This guy with the gun told us both just to act natural," Kollas said, "and he put his gun in his pocket."

Kollas was instructed to walk out to the car and take the customer's order and as he left, with Jackson remaining in the station, the holdup man began to remove the money from the cash box.

The station attendant filled the customer's car with 10 gallons of gasoline and wiped the windshield. While Kollas was servicing the car the holdup man walked out of the office and stood near the gasoline pumps while the car's gasoline tank was being filled.

After he had finished wiping the windshield, Kollas was asked by the customer whether there were any aspirin for sale at the station.

The motorist, the attendant and the holdup man returned to the station where Kollas gave the customer a box of aspirin and the latter left.

Requests Sack
The holdup man had taken all of the folding money and stuffed it in his pocket," Kollas explained, "and then he asked me for a sack to put the change in."

"I didn't have a sack but I gave him a little box and he scooped all of the coins into that."

A few moments earlier, Kollas said, the gunman turned the revolver on Jackson and demanded any money that he had.

Jackson removed his billfold and emptied it of about $25.

It has been estimated that approximately $122 was taken from the service station.

"After he'd gotten all of the money I told him, 'Well, there it is. Now get moving,'" Kollas related.

"After I said that he turned around, started kind of running or trotting and then slowed down to a walk," the attendant said.

West on Highway
The holdup man went west along the highway until he was lost from Kollas' and Jackson's sight.

"There wasn't any money left in the station so that I could use the telephone," Kollas told Chief Bingold, "so I ran next door to Ed's house (the home of Ed Bunke, the operator of the station who lives just west of the station) and woke him and told him about it."

Bunke told the employee to return to the station and he called police who received the call at 3:14 a.m. Chief Bingold said today that police are anxious to interview the occupants of the car which was stopped at the station while the holdup was in progress.

Kollas described the automobile as a 1953 or 1954 green Dodge and said that there were three persons riding in front and two in the back seat.

Chief Bingold and Meyers said that the occupants of the car undoubtedly noticed the holdup man when he walked out to the gasoline pumps and they might be able to furnish additional information as to his description.

Kollas said that the holdup man was about 6 feet 3, weighed approximately 160 pounds, had a rather light complexion and his hair, seen under his hat, appeared to be blonde. He was said to be unshaven, was wearing a rumpled brown pin-striped suit and a battered brown or tan hat. Kollas said that the man, who walked with a slight stoop, appeared to be about 25.

He was wearing a yellow sport shirt, the bottom of which was outside his pants and his collar was open.

Little Conversation
Kollas said that the man refused to engage in any conversation during the 10 minutes or so that he was in the station and spoke only when he was giving directions to the attendant and the customer.

Kollas said that when he was returning to the station after awakening Bunke he looked down the highway toward the west but saw no pedestrians at that time.

Chief Bingold said that he thought that it was probable that the holdup man might have parked his car on a side street near the station and drove away after running from the station.

Youth Charged With Breakin' At Arcadia

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—A 17-year-old Arcadian is being held in county jail here today under $1,000 bond after admitting a burglary at an Arcadia filling station early Friday morning.

Eugene Weaver pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering before Justice P. M. Paulson here today and waived preliminary hearing. He was bound over to county court for trial at a date to be set.

Picked Up Friday
The boy was picked up Friday afternoon after a cash register missing from the service station had been recovered from the Trempealeau River at Three Mile bridge north of Arcadia by Sheriff Ernest Axness, Traffic Officer Maurice Scow and Edward Kaiser, owner of the service station. About half of the money taken from the cash register, in the neighborhood of $50, according to Axness, was found with the boy.

The youth confessed late Friday. Axness said, and was arranged before Paulson at 10 a.m. today.

Axness said today that Weaver admitted breaking into the Kaiser Standard Service Station at the intersections of Highways 95 and 93 in Arcadia about 2 a.m. Friday.

He pried loose a locking bar in a garage door, and took the cash register off a glass display counter. Kaiser believes there was about $100 in it at the time.

Some of this money was recovered with the machine. The register, valued at about $400 according to Kaiser, is badly damaged by the water, sand and prying of the boy burglar.

Foot Tracks Followed
Foot tracks left near the garage led Scow to investigate the river's edge near the bridge between Arcadia and Independence. He found similar marks there and with the station operator and sheriff found the machine in about 4 feet of water.

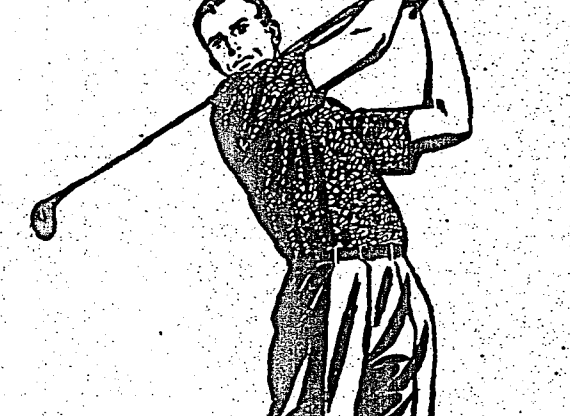

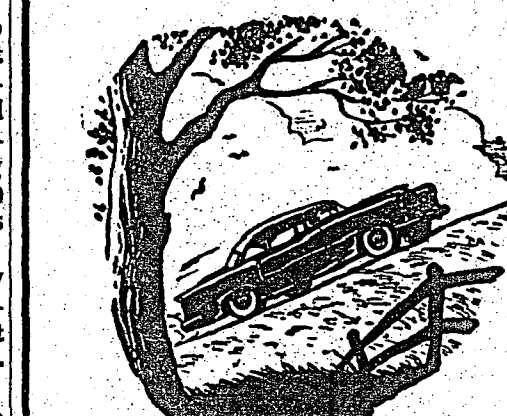

Kaiser attended a National Guard meeting in Arcadia Thursday night and left the station in the care of a youth from Arcadia. The assistant closed the building at 10 p.m. and the burglary was discovered by Kaiser at 7:30 a.m. Friday when he opened for business. A lock in a door separating the garage and office was broken, Kaiser said.

There is no connection between the boy who attended the station for Kaiser and Weaver, Axness said today.

Ford Chairman Calls Pact Good 'For Everyone'

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Ernest R. Breech, board chairman of Ford Motor Co., today described the Ford-union contract agreement "good for the workers, good for the company, good for the whole country."

Breech said in an address prepared for the Harvard Business School's 25th annual national business conference the agreement with the CIO United Auto Workers "solves a knotty problem which concerns not only American industry but the general public as well."

The three-year agreement reached last Monday provides a "guaranteed semiannual wage" and other benefits. Under the agreement, a $5-million-dollar company fund will be established to pay benefits ranging up to $25 a week to laid-off employees. The payments would supplement state unemployment benefits.

Breech said that Ford long has been "completely sympathetic toward the desire of our employees to lessen the risks of unemployment resulting from seasonal factors in the auto industry."

"We have sought consistently to stabilize our production and employment to minimize layoffs due to model changes by better planning, to use a variety of pay, wherever possible, to meet production peaks rather than hire temporary workers," Breech said.

Breech said the future market "promises to be unlike anything we have known before" and predicted it will be "hotly competitive."

"We see no ceilings to that market except the ones imposed by our own shortsighted vision," the Ford board chairman said.

Shivers Makes Speech Despite Student Protests

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas appeared on the University of Southern California campus today despite student protests, and in a commencement address merely hinted at the controversy his visit aroused.

In opening his speech to the 3,116 member graduating class, the Texas said: "It is a rare privilege for me, as a Southern Texan, to address you, the 1955 graduates of Southern California."

"There has been, I understand, some division of opinion as to the appropriateness of this particular occasion. That I can fully appreciate. I have long held to the school of thought that the moment of graduation is an inappropriate time for speech-making."

Before the Texas governor arrived in response to an invitation to be the principal commencement speaker, there had been conflict of opinion between the USC administration on one hand and the Student Senate and some faculty members on the other. The Student Senate unanimously passed a resolution asking that Gov. Shivers be replaced as commencement speaker. Student leaders said the action stemmed from Shivers' views on segregation.

In his speech Shivers said the South has made progress in the matter of bigotry and prejudice. "We are moving, inevitably and visibly, toward the standard of one nation, united—with one set of national ideals, one sense of national values, with common attitudes and common interests," said Shivers. "Technology, transportation, communication, information are bringing America closer together, breaking down the walls of regionalism, making sectionalism obsolete. This change is profound."

He went on: "If we demand tolerance from others as a mark of our freedom—we should not be intolerant of their views. If we demand the right to speak freely, meet freely, worship freely—we have a responsibility to accord the same privilege to others."

An honorary degree of doctor of laws was conferred on Gov. Shivers.

The ceremonies marked the 75th anniversary of the university's founding.

The rivers flowing into the Black Sea provide a surface layer of fresh water, but the lower depth are unusually salt.

Panty Bandit Loose In N.Y. Theater

NEW YORK—Figuring you'd all enjoy the cultured dressing room dialog of two top Broadway stars, I dropped in on Burl Ives and Barbara Bel Geddes.

I found them talking about pants—Burl's. "There's a low-down panty bandit loose around the Morosco Theater!" growled the plump, bearded Middle Western-folk singer who plays "Big Daddy" in the Tennessee Williams hit.

"Did you lose some more?" Miss Bel Geddes, a pretty blonde in a pale blue dressing gown, sat on the edge of the wash basin, sipped her midnight after-the-show drink, and laughed.

"He got me for about four more pair," scowled Burl. "I've lost about 12 of my—" he puffed a long cigar as he groped for the proper word.

"Of my gentleman's girdles," she said. "One of these nights I'm gonna catch the son of a so-and-so!" "But who could wear them?" Miss Bel Geddes asked, then realized maybe she shouldn't have, as this could only be interpreted as a reflection on the amplex of Mr. Ives' stomach.

"I think two people might be wearing them," he grumbled. "Probably, though, this lounge has them on his wall as an exhibit. People collect strange things."

So that was the end of my culture hunt. Ives portrays Miss Bel Geddes' Southern plantation-owner step-daddy in "Cat." They sure get along nicely, with no feud stuff. They only disagreed on where people should live.

"We have a home in the country—Putnam Valley—and I love to get up in the morning," Miss Bel Geddes said.

"I think 5 o'clock in the afternoon is a very good time to get up," snorted Ives. "I've had the country. I don't want any birds bothering me, either, with their silly singing."

Like most guys born in the country, Ives is a lover of the city. He put-puts up and down my street, West End Ave., on a motor scooter—wearing kilts.

"Doesn't your boy wake you up, though?" asked Miss Bel Geddes. She and her husband Windsor Lewis have two children.

"You bet your life he don't!" said Ives, starting on another cigar. "I've trained him better than that."

Ives, "a product of the road," has become night owl who prowls the city till dawn trying to make himself sleepy. When Miss Bel Geddes is being wakened by the birds, Ives may just be leaving a 3d Ave. hangout. He doesn't drink, though; he's dieting.

"If you lived in the country," said Miss Bel Geddes, "you could get up in the morning..."

"Yeah, I could get up in the morning and milk those cold cows. I've had that," replied the balladeer.

"Outside your door," he added, "now that's the place to get milk."

THE WEEK-END WINDUP
"DON'T PRINT THAT!"

Released Bishop Denies China Has Religious Freedom

Religious Freedom

HONG KONG (AP)—An American Roman Catholic bishop who spent five years in detention in Red China today contradicted Peiping claims that religious freedom exists under its rule.

Bishop Frederick Donaghy, of New Bedford, Mass., told newsmen that Red China's Premier Chou En-lai's statement at the recent Asian-African conference at Bandung, Indonesia, voicing this claim was "completely false."

The bishop, who crossed the border into Hong Kong yesterday after being expelled from China, also declared that recent Peiping peace gestures are not genuine.

The prelate, who spent 26 years in China, was named bishop of Wuchow in 1938. He was arrested in 1950 and jailed on charges of possessing a revolver and a package of opium. After five months imprisonment, he was placed under house detention until his trial earlier this week when he was ordered expelled.

The silver-haired bishop appeared thin and drawn as he spoke to reporters at a news conference. He now weighs 142 pounds, 23 pounds under his usual weight of about 165.

He estimated church attendance in Red China has dropped about 40 per cent since the Communist takeover.

"If the same situation continues," he said, "the Catholicism along with other religions, will soon be wiped out of China."

He said seven missions of the Wuchow diocese had been taken over by the Red government as grain storage warehouses. Two others were being used as public meeting halls.

"In two districts," he declared, "Chinese were forbidden by the authorities to attend church under threats of arrest."

The bishop was the last foreigner in Kwangsi Province. His return leaves only one American bishop in Red China. He is the Most Rev. James Edward Walsh, of Cumberland, Md., who is in Shanghai.

Bishop Donaghy said that despite their recent peace overtures, he saw no real change in the Communists' hostile attitude towards Americans.

In speaking of his arrest, the bishop said, "The Reds charged they found a revolver and opium in my room, which I denied. I suffered no torture during imprisonment, but I was questioned constantly."

He said he refused to admit that items found in the house belonged to him and Communist authorities finally allowed him to return to the compound under house arrest.

He said he was called to police headquarters last Monday and charged with "exceeding my authority on church matters." Two days later he was put in a jeep with an escort, bound for Canton and the Hong Kong border.

Lag in Air Progress Corrected

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON—In the language of the psychiatrists, the Eisenhower administration is now suffering from a severe "lag" syndrome. The worst sufferer seems to be the President himself. The resulting loss of contact with democratic reality is only too easy to prove.

Not long ago, for instance, the President complained long and loudly at a National Security Council meeting because the Defense Department had published pictures of launching sites of the Nike guided missile. Yet any kid with a Brownie camera can go out to Arlington and take the same pictures.

Again, the President has told the able assistant secretary of air force, Trevor Gardner, to go and stand in a corner because of a speech about the Air Force's Falcon missile. Yet the speech contained no fact that had not been previously published, and it had even been given the most elaborate clearance by the new American chief censor, Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson.

Or again, the Civil Defense agency was shockingly obstructed and the American people were kept in dangerous ignorance for over a year by Adm. Lewis E. Strauss' suppression of the facts concerning radioactive fallout from the H-bomb. Yet all these facts were fully known to the Soviets even before they were learned by Admiral Strauss.

People in the Dark

In a remarkable piece for the New York Herald Tribune, Walter Kerr has tried hard to explain this seemingly inexplicable urge to keep from the American people even those facts that the enemy surely knows.

Explanations were sought from Defense Department information chief Harsanyi Schooley, from U. S. Information Service chief Theodore Streibert, and from R. C. Honaman, the new assistant secretary of defense who has the special task of hiding the life-and-death facts of their national situation from the American people.

The official rationalization of the President's desire to keep the people in the dark was summarized as follows by Kerr:

"The President recognizes (that) many items of military information become known to the military tacticians of other countries—of Russia for example. He believes, however, that these technicians are unable to influence their country's top officials. (Their information) is buried in a report and forgotten."

"Then, the reasoning goes, the same information... is released to the American press. It is widely published. It is commented on at length... soon the item which was originally technical is no longer technical. It has political significance. It comes to the attention of political leaders. Then, and perhaps only then, the Soviet leader... translates into action a technical proposal that had been safely buried."

Ike's Viewpoint

According to those who have worked intimately with the President on the censorship problem, these interesting statements genuinely represent the Eisenhower viewpoint. As a description of Soviet planning methods, they are of course inaccurate to the point of being downright alarming.

They are directly refuted, in fact, by the whole history of Soviet military technology from the T-34 tank to the new heavy bomber.

In the last twenty years, all-out development of all the brilliantly successful Soviet new weapons produced in this period was quite certainly started before the readers of the American press or any

Hunt on for Seal Who Jumped Ship

WILDWOOD, N. J. (AP)—There's a big reward in store for anyone who can bring back alive a hefty character who jumped ship off the New Jersey coast.

He was supposed to take up life as an entertainer but he didn't take kindly to the idea and dropped off the schooner Atlantic after coming from Catalina Island, Calif.

The fellow has been swimming for two days, eluding dozens of small boats, and eating eels. Such a fare would be odd, except that they're looking for a 300-pound wild seal who was slated to be part of a sea zoo exhibit.

Mabel Farmer Knocked Down by Cow, Trampled

other press had heard about such weapons. The fact is proved by the development times, unless you prefer to assume that Soviet engineers are ten times quicker than American engineers.

On the other hand, the President's theory of Soviet behavior is highly applicable to the behavior of his own administration. As so often happens when syndromes are serious, there has been a transference of symptoms. The Eisenhower administration, not the Soviet government, has the habit of ignoring technicians' warnings until they cease to be technical and become political because of publicity.

Warning Issued

That was most recently proven by the true story of the Moscow overflights, previously told in this space. Long before the overflights, the technicians had been warning that we were lagging behind the Soviets in air development. But the warnings were ignored until the overflights occurred, the attempted censorship failed, and the facts became known. After that, our lag in air development was a political issue, and corrective action was taken.

Such incidents in turn reveal the roots of the censorship syndrome. It is rooted, obviously, in the administration's eagerness to cut taxes, balance the budget and do other popular things. The people are not to be told the life-and-death facts because the facts would stir up the people to demand necessary Defense Department spending, which would in turn make the Treasury Department program harder to carry out.

Unfortunately, however, the diagnosis does not make the symptoms more attractive or the disease less dangerous.

E. German Pastor Continues Attacks On Red Ideology

BERLIN — Almost every Thursday, a courageous clergyman parts the Iron Curtain and emerges in West Berlin for a weekly church meeting. He remains a few hours, and then goes back to his flock and family in Communist East Germany.

For the Rev. Guenther Jacob this has become routine—but there is always the feeling it may be the last time.

The 49-year-old pastor never knows when his earthly masters—the Communists—will call him to account for a "sin" he committed at Evanston, Ill., last August. There he spoke to the World Council of Churches about Christianity and Communism. His words were harsh, and with reason. As a general district superintendent for the United Evangelical Lutheran Church in East Germany, he had firsthand knowledge of the Reds.

He had seen pulpits after pulpits become empty as pastors fled or retired. There weren't enough young ministers to fill the vacancies. He had seen the Communists discourage young people from coming to church.

He had seen the Communists slowly reduce the traditional state subsidies which have helped keep the church going ever since Martin Luther founded it.

It was understandable that he spoke with feeling to his Evanston audience. He declared that Communism aimed at the destruction of Christianity. The struggle between the two was an "either-or proposition," he said, adding:

"There can be no synthesis between the Communist ideology that has developed into a fanatical religion, and our Christian faith."

Last winter, at a meeting of Evangelical pastors in West Germany, Pastor Jacob accused the Communists of trying to destroy marriage and the family. He reported that almost one-third of all pulpits in East Germany have become vacant. He pleaded for young pastors to leave West Germany and go to the East "so that our parishes will not become 'orphaned.'"

Despite his outspoken speeches, Pastor Jacob has not been arrested. There has been no public warning from the Communists.

But he lives a cautious life. When he comes to West Berlin, he shuns anything that might throw the glare of publicity on him. He prefers to choose his own time and place for an anti-Communist attack.

Newspapers Try to Follow A Consistent Policy

Do newspapers try to follow a consistent policy of principle in the publication of news, more particularly of court news and similar material, or are editors governed by whim and happenstance in such matters? The other day we came across an editorial that appeared recently in the Red Oak (Iowa) Express, titled "The Thing That The Editor Hates Worst About His Job," and we are quoting from it here because it provides an answer to this question:

"One of the most unpleasant tasks that comes to the newspaper editor is to tell someone that the paper cannot 'kill' a certain story which that person, subscriber or not, does not wish to have published.

"This news is not the property of any individual. It is the property of all. A paper that would let others dictate what could be printed would soon find itself in an editorial 'strait-jacket.' In every issue there are things which some people would rather not see printed. But the paper that gives in to one person, will find itself in an embarrassing position the next time. And the news belongs to the people who paid for their paper!

"Usually in such cases we are told that we kept out something for someone else. We are accused of being unfair. The stock answer is—name one story we have kept out, if it was legitimate news? Seldom if ever can it be done. Perhaps the paper may have missed the story . . . but keeping it out of the columns is another matter.

"We don't like to be arbitrary but every newspaper has to have a definite policy. The person who did succeed in having a story killed would be the first one to tell someone else: 'Humph, I got them to keep my story out of the paper; tell the editor off and he'll keep yours out too.' And there you are! First thing you know these same people will complain that 'there's nothing in the paper.' And they might be right.

"Newspapers don't enjoy printing certain kinds of stories; we would like to print only the good news, but it takes all kinds of people to make a world and all kinds of news to make a newspaper.

"In the past we have had one policy at variance with these statements. We have kept out the names of juveniles for the first offense, except when county authorities requested the publication. We are not even sure we are right in this. Parents have the right to know what children are bad company for their own offspring. And sometimes the fear of publicity is a great deterrent. We have often thought of revising this policy. Some experts on juvenile problems favor the light of day and full publicity at all times, regardless of the age of the child. We confess we don't know.

"But with this minor exception, the policy of this paper, and of most all good papers, is to print the news. That seems to be what the people want."

Winonans Will Be Singing Davy Crockett With Feeling

Some 25 Winonans will probably be singing "Davy, Davy Crockett" with feeling. For the king of the wild frontier who killed a bear at the age of three, is providing them with jobs.

The Boland Manufacturing Co., because of the early spring dry season, was having a disappointing season in sale of plastic rain-wear.

Then came Davy Crockett. The Winona firm will soon be turning out 24,000 Davy Crockett frontier jackets per day, and is returning from 20 to 25 workers to their jobs.

Also at Winona, the Indian Novelties plant has stepped up employment from one to three, in trying to keep up with orders for Davy Crockett powder horns.

This, of course, is the Crockett impact only on one town. You can multiply that by hundreds of other communities with plants manufacturing Davy Crockett novelties.

If 1955 does turn out to be this nation's most prosperous year in history, as is now being anticipated, Democrats will probably insist that President Eisenhower share some of the credit with Davy. — The Austin, Minn., Daily Herald.

New Plan to Hurt Small Auto Firms

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK — To many, it is significant that the Ford-Reuther agreement was reached without a widespread strike. It is regarded as a sign of management-labor statesmanship. If the avoidance of strikes is the major objective of policy, as well it may be, then this settlement is a mark of statesmanship.

The terms of the agreement are unrelated to a guaranteed annual wage which never was proposed by anybody except in the form of a slogan. What was proposed and has been accepted is a method of company addition to state compensation in the event of a layoff. Should business be good and cars be made in vast profusion and no layoffs occur, this agreement does not alter present conditions.

So far as the enormous companies are concerned, the additional cost of this plan will be absorbed in the price of the car and by economies of production, involving increasing automation which may result in decreasing new hiring. So far as smaller companies are concerned, they may have to go out of business if they cannot set up the reserves. On the other hand, a large number of smaller companies have become relegated to the position of suppliers to the large companies upon whom they have become financially dependent. In effect, they are sub-contractors and must follow the leadership of the larger companies as to policy. This is strictly a cartel operation, no matter what the lawyers call it, and reduces competition which is the heart of the capitalist system.

WHEN THERE ARE ONLY three producing companies in the automobile industry, as well may happen now, the element of competition is lessened because competition is only real when small companies are crowding the heels of the large companies. Its object is to keep prices down.

The automobile industry has thus far not discovered the law of diminishing returns and therefore can afford to be venturesome on the assumption that the American customer can absorb its share of new production. On the other hand, it is evident now that the used-car market is doing very badly. The used-car market is an important element in the price of cars because of the exchange of one-year and two-year-old cars for new cars plus additional payment, it is impossible to sell large numbers of new cars at reasonable prices. When dealers, however, cannot dispose of used cars, they dislike taking in the old cars and find a sales resistance on account of price.

It used to be that large numbers of used cars were shipped out of the United States. Such American cars are now meeting competition from British and German cars some of which are really American-owned. Vauxhall and Ford in England and Opel in Germany are principally American-owned companies making good cars at lower prices than American cars. They are often smaller and less expensive to operate. This competition will increase. The Rootes group in England manufactures cars which are increasingly popular in the United States.

IN THIS COUNTRY, the weakness of the used-car market has produced a curious phenomenon in some areas, namely, that new cars are sold as used cars. This is a form of bootlegging to give the customer a discount without violating a sales franchise. The companies fight this trend hard wherever it appears. Nevertheless, it represents a response to sales resistance which may be accelerated if prices are raised as a result of the Ford-UAW agreement.

An American car is good for many more years than two and the public learned that during the war. The manufacturers responded to this knowledge by radical styling, thus making old cars appear older than they really are. The public has responded positively to this change in taste and business has been good. But automobile prices are high, even for an inflationary period, and the question that arises is how much higher can they go. How much more can be put on the car to meet the cost of Reuther's victory? If it is little, the public will not mind and will say that it does not hurt and that it is less costly than prolonged unemployment. If it comes high, sales resistance is bound to rear its dreaded head. This then remains a question of price.

Nixon Has Ike's Backing In Knowland Controversy

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—It is now well known that the feud between the gentlemen from California, Sen. Knowland and Vice President Nixon, is one of the most vitriolic in the capital. However, it is not generally known that Nixon has been making it clear with Capitol Hill colleagues that as far as Eisenhower is concerned, he is winning the feud.

At a recent off-the-record luncheon with other members of Congress, the Vice President not only needed his fellow Republican from California, but posed as the spokesman for Ike, and gave advice that Knowland would have to pipe down on his criticism.

He stated that whether Ike ran again would depend not only on his desire to lead a more tranquil home life but on whether or not high Republicans kept on sniping at him.

"The President wonders when his own party leaders keep opposing his major policies in international affairs," said Nixon, obviously referring to his colleague from California, "whether he is not in an anomalous position, and whether he is not divorced from at least an important sector of his party. In any event, he feels this kind of criticism very deeply—it hurts."

A congressman wanted to know whether it also hurt the President to hear Sen. McCarthy sounding off with one of his diatribes against Ike.

"Anything McCarthy says doesn't bother the President at all," replied Nixon. "But with a top man like Knowland—that's different."

Note—Nixon has pretty well won Eisenhower over to his side in the Knowland controversy. Ike has even agreed to some Nixon political strategy, to build him up as possible successor.

Rayburn on Highways
You can jot it down that Congress will pass some kind of a super highway bill during this session. In talks with GOP congressional leaders, President Eisenhower has put the highway program at the top of his list of "must" bills. The other day Ike received some unexpected aid from speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas.

At a closed-door huddle with Democratic members of the House Public Works Committee, Rayburn was plainly nettled by the committee's delay in reporting a highway bill.

"If the House doesn't enact a bill, we will be playing into the hands of the Republicans," warned the Texan. "They will be in a position to say that we Democrats used our majority in the House to prevent action on highway legislation. I know you fellows have a lot of things to do, but please make this the first order of business. Time's running out."

Rayburn didn't blueprint the line he expected the House bill to follow. In fact, he and others at the meeting voiced general approval of the over-all objectives of the 10-year, $27,000,000,000 program of super roads proposed by the Eisenhower administration.

However, the speaker strongly objected to the administration's formula for financing highway construction—namely, by the establishment of a corporation which would sell bonds to pay for the federal share of the program.

"I can't understand that kind of bookkeeping," exploded the Texan. "The American taxpayers are the ones who will eventually have to pay for this road-building, whether or not the administration tries to hide the fact by the establishment of a corporation or some other device."

"It will still be a federal obligation and it's sheer dishonesty, if you ask me, to indicate otherwise by setting up some kind of a corporation. I'm for direct appropriations to defray the federal share

Advice on Health

Remedies To Relieve Coughing

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Few things tear down your resistance to disease-producing germs faster than a constant hacking cough. While coughing is helpful in many cases, in others it only does harm and should be suppressed.

Frequent coughing cuts down on your rest, irritates the tissue of your respiratory tract and affects your larynx or voice box. Eventually your muscles will tire and the coughing become painful.

In some cases coughing can cause hemorrhoids and involuntary urination. Whooping cough occasionally causes cerebral hemorrhage or a hemorrhage into the eyes.

It is up to your doctor, of course, to decide whether your cough should be encouraged or stopped. Generally, coughs should be eliminated if they develop because the air is too dry, because of some allergic disturbance or because the air passages contain dry, thick secretions.

Usually it is fairly easy to halt a coughing spell. Codeine, for example, is an effective medicine. Then, too, there are various mixtures you can inhale.

Place a few drops of tincture of benzoin in some boiling water and inhale the vapors. Or mix from one-half to one grain of menthol in a pint of hot water and inhale the steam. A mixture of menthol and compound tincture of benzoin in boiling water is good, too.

Another tip is to breathe in a vapor from a bottle of 70 per cent ethyl alcohol. At the first sign of a tickle in your chest, pour two teaspoonfuls of the alcohol onto a small gauze sponge, while you exhale slowly over the piece of gauze.

Then, place the sponge near your opened mouth and breathe in. You will immediately notice a sensation of moisture in your chest. Continue breathing through the sponge a little more rapidly for a few moments. In a very short time your cough should be gone.

Remember, though, these measures are only for temporary relief.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

N.A.: I am extremely afraid and worried over everyday happenings. Is this an indication of nervousness?

Answer: Worry and fear are not indications of nervousness, but rather of an emotional disturbance. It would be advisable for you to consult a specialist in psychiatry concerning your difficulty and how to overcome it.

Alderson's face was scratched.

It looks as though the retail sales employee has been left holding the bag again.

The Chamber of Commerce Merchants Bureau has just rejected a proposal to close retail stores on four Saturday afternoons during the summer season. It is common knowledge that many retail employees work a 50-hour week with quite a few extra hours put in during the Christmas season. He doesn't know what the 40-hour week is and from all indications never will. It is my opinion and the opinion of many other retail sales employees that we should be asking for every Saturday afternoon off for the complete year.

Lets look at their reason for rejecting the proposal—they say competitive reasons.

Our businessmen might take a tip from the large manufacturer who is producing more goods at a better profit yearly. Their increased business is achieved by long hours and low salaries. It was won by more efficient operation, better advertising, and most important, dressed-up merchandise.

We all can recognize how nice merchandise is wrapped or packaged today. It really tempts us to buy things we know we could do very well without but its very pleasing display has caught our eye and we buy it whether it be a needed item or not.

It seems to me that if their decision was based on competitive reasons they might well look at their store fronts and merchandise display areas and might not have to look too far. I think a little more interest in the modernization of retail stores in the downtown district would be the best step in combating competitive business.

S.D. Woman Killed

By Jealous Husband

RAPID CITY, S.D. (AP)—A 23-year-old Rapid City woman was fatally shot and her husband is in a local hospital suffering gunshot wounds in what authorities term a murder and attempted suicide prompted by jealousy.

Christena M. Mason, formerly of Kennebec, died instantly about 11:30 p.m. Thursday of a shotgun wound in the back. Her husband, A.I.C. Urban C. Mason, an Ellsworth Air Force Base airman and a native of Clearfield, S.D., is in fair condition in a hospital.

The shooting took place in the presence of Mrs. Mason's mother, Mrs. Agnes E. Manger, Kennebec, and cousin, Mrs. Gladys Rada, Rapid City.

Sheriff Glenn Best and County Coroner Bill Campbell gave this account of the shooting:

Mrs. Mason spent the evening at the home of Mrs. Rada. When the two women returned to the trailer home, about 10:45 p.m. Mason and Mrs. Manger were there.

Mason invited the three women to have coffee.

Mrs. Rada said Mason accused his wife of "stepping out" while he was on temporary duty on Guam. Mason returned to Rapid City Monday.

Mason then left the kitchen of the two-bedroom trailer, walked through a passageway to a closet and returned with a 12-gauge shotgun.

He fired the weapon at Mrs. Mason, then walked back through the passageway and turned the gun on himself. His lower jaw was torn off by the blast.

not "Rodgers" Shultz was quick to point that out to State Engineer L. N. Rens and Rens was quick to have new signs put up.

Yesterday, Rens had the misspelled signs, neatly gift wrapped, given to Shultz in a legislative chamber presentation.

Lutheran Rites At Farmers Park on Sunday

Annual Lutheran outdoor services will be held Sunday at Farmers Community Park — one at 10:30 a.m., the other at 2 p.m. — with family-style picnics in the park on noon.

Speakers will be the Rev. Walter Wegner, Columbus, Wis., at the morning worship and Prof. Henry Eggold Jr., Springfield, Ill. in the afternoon.

In case of inclement weather, the services will be held at St. Martin's Lutheran Church, Winona. An announcement will be made over Station KWNO Sunday morning if necessary.

Offerings at the two meetings will be given to the Bethesda Lutheran Home, Watertown, Wis., and the Lutheran Chapel of the Air. Expenses of the services will be deducted first.

Assisting with the services are: Morning — The Rev. Harold Braun, Silo Lutheran Church, liturgist; Erwin A. Wilde, Lewiston, organist, and a massed senior choir directed by Zane Van Aken, St. Matthew's Lutheran Church.

Afternoon — The Rev. Frederic H. Nitz, Cochrane, Wis., liturgist; Mrs. Emil Florin, Cochrane, organist and a children's choir directed by Gordon Synhorst, St. Matthew's parochial school teacher.

Lunch will be served by the Fountain City Ladies Aid for those who do not bring picnic lunches. Lunch will be served at the St. Martin's School auditorium in case of bad weather.

The Bethesda Lutheran Home is on the outskirts of Watertown, Wis. It is maintained by members of Lutheran churches within the Synodical Conference and is named after the ancient pool in Jerusalem, "Bethesda," where the sick, blind and lame gathered in order to be healed.

Several hundred patients who are feeble-minded, epileptic and otherwise helpless, little children and old people are given care. The Lutheran Chapel of the Air is a radio program suggested at a councilmen's conference last October. Area churches sponsor broadcasts nine months of the year with pastors of sponsoring churches speaking.

First Baptist Church Pastor, Wife Arrive

A "double-barreled" couple, to use a description used by one of them, has arrived in Winona to serve the congregation of First Baptist Church.

They are the Rev. and Mrs. Gerard Phillips, May graduates of the Berkeley Baptist Divinity School, Berkeley, Calif. While Students there, they were married. Yesterday, their first day in Winona, they celebrated their 11-month anniversary.

In describing them as "double-barreled," the Rev. Mr. Phillips referred to his preaching education and to Mrs. Phillips' Christian education and music training.

Both will go to work in the First Baptist daily vacation Bible school starting Monday morning, but first, the young pastor will give his inaugural sermon here Sunday morning.

"Beautiful" was their joint description of Winona and the Hiawatha Valley after spending 24 hours here. They motored here from California, a 2,000-mile trip. The Rev. Mr. Phillips replaces the Rev. Joseph Carlson, who retired from the Baptist ministry last fall and now resides in Nebraska. Several interim pastors, mostly from the Twin Cities, have held the pulpit at First Baptist since.

Actually, this is the new pastor's second charge as he served the Baywood Baptist Church, Hayward, Calif., during his final year in the seminary.

"It helped put the school in bold relief," he said last night. "After preaching at Hayward on Sunday I came back to school knowing where I needed help."

He is a native of Minneapolis and did undergraduate work at Macalester College, St. Paul. The pastor's father is still a deacon at the Ford Parkway Baptist Church, St. Paul.

Mrs. Phillips is a native of California, recently residing with her parents in Berkeley. She majored in music at the University of Redlands and in Christian education at the Berkeley Baptist Divinity School.

Installation services for the new pastor are scheduled for June 19. Participating will be Dr. Joseph Chapman, executive secretary of the Twin City Baptist Union and the board of promotion of the Minnesota Convention of American Baptist Churches, who was instrumental in securing the Rev. Mr. Phillips for the Winona congregation.

Trinity congregation has about 180 communicant members.

ST. PAUL (AP) — A fight over a $200,000 estate left by an Iowa woman was revealed Friday in a decision handed down by the Minnesota Supreme Court.

The estate was left by Miss LuRene L. Lamm, who died in Rochester, Minn., 16 months ago. The estate consists of real estate located in North Dakota, Nebraska and Iowa, and securities and cash in a Rochester bank.

Two sisters of Miss Lamm instituted suit to recover an undivided two-thirds of the estate. They are Mrs. Rosalia L. McAndrews and Mrs. Anna L. Haagen, of Winneshiek County, Iowa. Defendants include Armetie L. Krause, a third sister, of Canton, Minn.; Maxwell Krause, Rushmore, Minn., a nephew; his wife, Lorraine Krause, and Julian Moe, of Iowa. Krause and Moe are co-executors appointed by the district court in Iowa.

Associate Justice Theodore Christensen wrote the unanimous decision, which affirms in part and reverses in part the decision of Judge Karl Finkelsburg of Winona who sat on the case in the Olmsted County District Court. The two Iowa sisters appealed.

In effect, the Supreme Court held that the two sisters have a right to try to recover in the Minnesota courts their alleged share of cash and securities totaling $106,239 now in possession of the Olmsted County Bank and Trust Company, Rochester, Minn.

However, the decision holds that the district court in Minnesota has no jurisdiction over the real estate located in the other three states.

Although Armetie Krause is a defendant, she also cross-claimed. In so doing, she admitted substantially the allegations of the complaint, but alleged the properties were to be held in trust by LuRene Lamm not only for her two sisters, but also for her. Thus, she claims the assets should be divided into four parts rather than three.

The gist of events leading up to institution of the action by the sisters is this:

Miss Lamm failed to comply with an agreement allegedly made between herself and her mother, Anna Marguerite Lamm, who predeceased her. The mother executed deeds to real estate to LuRene Lamm on condition she hold in trust for her sisters an undivided two-thirds interest in the lands and accumulations therefrom.

It also was agreed that should LuRene Lamm fail to make such transfers during her lifetime, she would do so in her will. She failed to do either, although she started in 1949 to make a partial distribution. This amounted to $10,775.

Following LuRene Lamm's death, Maxwell Krause, who was named executor, filed a copy of the will in North Dakota, Nebraska and Iowa. The Iowa court appointed Julian Moe as co-executor.

The two Iowa sisters are presently contesting the will in Iowa and have appealed from a North Dakota probate order allowing the will in that state. The Nebraska court has stayed all proceedings pending a determination of the contest in Iowa.

Accumulations from various properties were invested in securities by LuRene Lamm starting in 1949. As a result, the net income from the lands, together with interest and dividends, totaled $106,239.55 at the time of her death. These funds are in the Rochester bank, which has been appointed special administrator of the estate. The bank was not made a party to the suit.

County Welfare Taking Charge Of Blind Program

After July 1, the Winona County Welfare Board will administer the aid to the blind program in the county and share in the payments with state and federal governments.

During the monthly meeting Thursday, the board approved transfer of $5,000 from the poor fund as the county's share in the aid to the blind fund covering the last six months of this year.

Action was necessitated by legislation passed by the 1955 Minnesota Legislature, which changed both control and payment procedures of the program.

In the past, the program had been state-administered with county supervision. After July 1, the county will administer the program with the state in a supervisory capacity. The program has been financed by state and federal aids, but now the county will take on a share of the responsibility. Under the new arrangement, the program is similar to other welfare categories.

Chairman Harry Libera presided at the session at the Winona County courthouse with members of the Board of Commissioners (who are members of the board) and Executive Secretary William P. Werner also attending.

The board approved establishment of a schedule of rent standards placing maximum rental allowances that will be used to determine the amount of grants in all aid categories. In the past, there has been no fixed schedule for the rent limits which are not covered by state law. Mechanics of the system will be worked out by the county welfare department. It is hoped that, despite the variety of conditions in the county, the scale can be arranged to provide reasonable payments for all recipients.

In other business, action on three petitions for compromise old-age assistance lien settlements was deferred. The board did approve an adoptive homesteading and findings will be forwarded to the Minnesota Department of Welfare.

Vacation plans involving four children in various state institutions were approved and the board also approved a report by Werner covering June 1 payments in four aid categories.

They are: Aid to the disabled, nine cases, $464.25; old-age assistance, 533 cases, $35,294.62; aid to dependent children, 77 cases including 219 children, $9,501.94, and aid to the blind, 17 cases, $1,393.95.

Wisconsin Senate Approves $500,000 For Public Parks

MADISON (AP) — The state's senators, meeting Friday in only an informal session, have approved spending $500,000 to improve public parks.

The proposal was advanced Thursday on a 24-3 vote. The Assembly will consider it next. The bill provides for a dam and artificial lake at Cox Hollow State Park in Iowa county and for shelters, and water and sewer improvements at a cost of $136,000. The Legislative Council sponsored the plan.

The senators also voted to increase its two-year assistance fund to county supervising teachers by $115,000 to a total of $1,060,000. The plan was introduced by Padruft (R-Chippewa Falls). It also raises the salary scale from $3,000-$4,000 to $3,800-$8,000.

Sen. Gehrman (R-Mellen) introduced a bill that won unanimous support. It provides $20,000 for the State Historical Society for material demonstrating the contributions to Wisconsin culture by persons of foreign birth. The Assembly will see the bill next.

The Senate approved Assembly passed bills adding 65 miles of roadway to the state trunk system.

Two other Assembly bills were also passed. They provide that slow moving vehicles must give the right of way to following traffic when possible.

Conservation wardens would have police powers to make arrests involving firearms or operating boats if offenders are drunk under another Assembly bill that was passed.

For Best Pictures Submitted

This year marks the 100th Anniversary of The Daily News. In November you'll see what we believe will be one of the best anniversary editions ever published by an American newspaper. To make it "one of the best," we're staging a Centennial Edition Picture Contest in hopes that you will look into your attic and dig up those old pictures that might be of interest to everyone in the Winona area.

We assure you that we will take the best possible care of your pictures while they are in our possession. Every picture will be encased in a special envelope properly filed with your name and address. At the end of the contest, we'll return your pictures to you by mail.

A guide to the kind of pictures we want and DON'T want is shown below.

WHAT WE WANT!

- Pictures relating to outstanding early local news events such as floods, fires, railroad and steamboat wrecks.
- Pictures of early Winona city and farm life, showing street scenes, early automobiles, horse cars, important buildings, etc.
- Pictures of individuals who were important in the pioneering and later development of the community.
- Pictures showing the wearing apparel worn by local men, women and children through the years.

WHAT WE DON'T WANT!

- Pictures of large groups of people such as graduating classes, etc., unless they are of outstanding historical value.
- Pictures found in old newspaper clippings. (While many of these might be interesting, it is virtually impossible to reproduce them for printing today.)

- Pictures printed in books, unless you are willing to clip them from the book. Some of these are printable and some are not. We suggest you show them to us before you clip them.

Praise for Giel

A clipping from the New York Daily News, dated June 1, was sent our way by former Winonan Arthur R. Maze who is now in Washington, D. C.

A story on the sports page was headlined, "Giants Need Help—Giel's Ready to Give It to 'Em." Written before Giel's sparkling five-inning relief chore against the Milwaukee Braves recently, the story follows:

The Giants, who will go to any lengths for the assistance they need so much—went as far as Minneapolis for Ramon Montañez on the holiday—are liable to find some help sitting in their own bullpen.

Paul Giel has developed so fast this spring that he will warrant more work from now on as middle-inning pitcher.

In their time of need, the Giants can bring in Joe Margoneri or Jim Constable from the Millers and Pete Burnside, another likely looking pitching prospect, from Dallas. But no matter how many are brought in, they must keep Giel because of his bonus status. And until recently, he wasn't earning his keep.

The former Minnesota All-American, who won't be 23 until September has not been scored on in four appearances. He has pitched but six innings, allowing two hits.

Giel's performances against the Brooks on Sunday and against the Phils in the second holiday game were a pleasant reminder that he is still available.

He gave up only one harmless single to Jackie Robinson in one inning and then hurled three perfect frames against the Phils, in which nary a ball was hit out of the infield.

"Giel has gained finesse and he has better control," pitching coach Frank Shellenback explained yesterday. "He doesn't have any new pitches and he doesn't need any. He is still working on the basic fundamentals of a fast ball, curve and change-of-pace."

Al Corbin had the equipment to be a major league pitcher. Yet he was sent out to make a place for Montañez because Al respected the batter too much. He seldom let loose and threw his good stuff.

Such is not the case with Giel, whose temperament and confidence is that of a fine athlete.

"Giel is not afraid to do anything," Shellenback pointed out. "He knows what he has, and he'll throw it as best he can. Every pitch is a confident one."

"It's too bad he can't have had more experience," the coach added. "Bonus players can't get it. They have to get what experience they can, watching others, learning and working hard all the time."

"I've never seen a harder worker than Giel. He is a wonderful boy who wants to work and wants to win."

"The way he is steadily improving, by his own hard work, it looks like he'll be getting more to do in the games from now on."

Sounds good, doesn't it? Giel has certainly earned his keep lately with the Giants and now it looks like we can expect more good things from him the rest of the way. Giel's case is a great example of how far one can go with a certain amount of ability and a tremendous amount of desire. He'll probably continue to be a fine inspiration for the kids in Winona's youth leagues for years to come.

Rounding the Bend

Jerry Briesath and Denny Syverson beat Ed Furgol at Westfield recently. The occasion was National Golf Day when linksters all over the U.S. took their handicap scores and matched them with Furgol's gross. Furgol, defending National Open champion, fired 72. Jerry had 67 net and Denny a 69 handicap score.

Charlie Wiser, St. Mary's College student who is at home now, has football on his mind. He writes:

"St. Stan's Junior High is looking for a few more football games for next fall. Anyone who may be interested in scheduling a game may do so by writing Charles Wiser, 7810 So. Luna, Oak Lawn, Illinois."

TIME FOR A BLUSH OR TWO... The boys around the family gazette have been giving the Sidelighter a rough time. Story in the paper about Jerry Kindall said he made a beautiful play "in the hole behind first base."

We wanted to get across the point that the lad covers territory. However, he didn't go quite that far.

The play in question occurred in the hole between shortstop and third. Speaking of Kindall, Dave Pennington at Rochester stated in his Southern Minny story after the game that Waseca-Owatonna got around Kindall by putting most of their hits beyond his reach—over the fence.

Also, Mrs. Curt Zeissler, a great Chiefs' fan, says our statement that the 969 crowd here recently was the lowest in three years was in error and she's right. Last August 19 only 834 turned out for a Winona-Rochester game.

Graham-McGuire, Turner's Score Softball Wins

CITY LEAGUE

Watkins	3	0	1.000

Turner's	3	3	.500
Graham-McGuire	2	3	.400
Haddad's	2	4	.333
Duke's	1	4	.200

RESULTS THURSDAY NIGHT

Turner's 13, Cozy Corner 6.

Watkins 10, Haddad's 2.

Graham-McGuire 17, Duke's 10.

First-place Watkins and two teams from the second division won games in the City League Thursday night to provide a shuffling in the standings of the softball circuit.

Turner's Market went from fourth to a tie for second by beating Cozy Corner 13-6. Graham-McGuire vacated the cellar and took over fourth on a 17-10 victory over Duke's.

Watkins won its sixth straight game, 10-2 over Haddad's, on the four-hit pitching of Earl Kreuzer as Pobjocki and Stever supported him with home runs.

A flood of extra-base hits were belted in the Turner's-Cozy Corner game, but Turner's held an advantage in that department. Cierzan and Drazkowski doubled; Cierzan and Schwane both had triples and Swanson got two triples for Turner's. Eskra had a double and homer for the losers.

Jim Buswell of Graham-McGuire and Ted Czaplewski of Duke's got homers in the final game of the night. Czaplewski added a triple and two singles in six trips, while Odegaard had four-for-six for Graham-McGuire.

Rain Halts Braves Friday; Conley Seeks No. 8 Today

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Rain, which seems to be following the Milwaukee Braves around, washed out the game with the Pirates Friday night—the second straight time showers got in the way of baseballs.

The Bucs and the Braves were set for an afternoon meeting today with Gene Conley still the Milwaukee mound choice and Bob Friend the Pirates' nomination. Conley is 7-2 for the season. Friend is 3-1. Conley was also the Milwaukee choice Thursday in the game with the New York Giants rained out at the Polo Grounds.

The young Pirates are not in the best graces of the Braves after they laced Milwaukee three straight in a series here earlier in the season and then split 1 and 1 in Milwaukee County Stadium.

Early Friday afternoon Pittsburgh Manager Fred Haney, about to start for the ball park, said, "We've been waiting for this series for a long time." The Pirates have fallen on evil days since their early uprisings and maybe look on the Braves as their cousins.

A double header Sunday will close the stand here. Milwaukee Manager Charlie Grimm will send Bob Fuhl or Lew Burdette to the mound in one game and Warren Spahn will work the other.

Spahn will take his turn with the new knowledge that he is now an oil well owner. He's also a rancher, in Oklahoma, and a restaurant owner, in Boston. All this in addition to being one of baseball's great lefthanded pitchers.

The news about the oil well broke Friday a few hours after the well gushed in Oklahoma City. Spahn and three others own the property and the well is expected to deliver about 450 barrels a day. And while Spahn is on the way to making a little more money the word here is that the Pirates could be persuaded to part with a couple of their better players—if the price is right.

Frank Thomas, long ball hitting outfielder, and Bob Friend, are said to be on the block. And the Pirates would be some money—probably a pretty good sized bundle—and players. They'd like players with promise, not necessarily reputations.

Thomas and Friend are said to be on general manager Branch Rickey's unfavored list. Thomas because he held out for more money this spring. There was no reason given why the 24-year-old Friend was on the do-house.

The Pirates had money early in the year after selling their New Orleans farm club but attendance is below last year's pace and 1954 was the worst in 10 years with less than 500,000 paid.

Milwaukee may be interested in a deal, where Thomas is concerned, but there can be no guarantee that the Braves' front office will flicker. Fact is, Rickey was not due in town until sometime today and Milwaukee officials were noted by their absence.

But Thomas is in good health, hits well and apparently outside the privy circle.

Frank admitted he heard earlier in the year he was headed for Milwaukee but by this week his destination had changed to Chicago. He says "I don't care where I play. Wherever I go I'll give it all I've got."

Minoso Not Worried Over Batting Slump

By JOE MOOSHIL
CHICAGO (AP)—Minnie Minoso hasn't had a hit since he was the victim of a bean ball last month and the Chicago White Sox are worried about their prize outfielder.

But the colorful Cuban laughs it off and says, "When I come out of it, I tear 'em apart."

Minoso, who hasn't had a hit in 15 trips to the plate since he was hit by a pitched ball thrown by Bob Grim of the New York Yankees, May 18, shakes off all possibilities the slump can be attributed to the accident.

"I get hit in the head eight times in baseball and knocked out three," said Minoso who was hit by pitched balls 16 times last year and has led the American League in that department for four years.

"They no scare me. They got to kill me before I move back," Minoso answered angrily when asked if the beanball had anything to do with the slump.

"I love baseball. It my bread and butter and if they kill me when I up at bat, I be buried in my baseball suit. I no back off for no one."

Minoso admitted it is the worst slump of his career but vowed he'll be out of it soon.

Minoso led the White Sox at bat last season with a .320 average. He had 19 home runs, 18 triples, drove in 116 runs, stole 18 bases and led the league with 304 total bases.

Currently he is batting .244, 65 points below his .309 lifetime average, and has a mere 38 total bases.

Sox Manager Marty Marion feels Minoso is the reason the Sox are 5½ games behind the Yankees.

Yanks Live on Relief But Travel First Class

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Ol' Casey Stengel is really traveling first class these days for a guy living on relief.

His New York Yankees rammed home another nail in Cleveland's coffin last night 3-2 to move 6½ games ahead of the tottering Tribe. But they had to call on Tom Morgan, and of course Jim Konstanty, to get the job done.

Morgan came on in relief of Tommy Byrne after the Yanks had taken a 3-1 lead in the seventh. And when Morgan faltered in the ninth, Konstanty stroled in to retire the last two batters with the tying and winning runs on base.

It was the 10th straight game in which Stengel has had to go to the bullpen and his firemen have won or saved six of them.

In their last 17 games, the Yankees have had only four complete games from their pitching staff. Yet they've won 12 of the contests to add three games to their American league lead—which at present is a 5½-game spread over the Chicago White Sox, who were ridged by rain yesterday.

The Yank bullpen, with rookie Frank Sturdivant joining Konstanty and Morgan, has given up just one run in 26 innings during that span. Konstanty's been the big guy, appearing in eight of the last 10 games to save four and win one.

Last night's performance may have been the biggest help, for it sent the Yanks winging in the opening game of a big four-game series at Cleveland and dumped the Indians to their seventh defeat in eight games.

Boston, with two home runs by Ted Williams, beat Detroit 5-2 and Baltimore defeated Kansas City 3-0 in the other A.L. games.

In the National, Brooklyn and Carl Erskine slammed the runner up Chicago Cubs 7-0 as the Brooks took a 9½-game lead. And New York beat St. Louis 2-1.

The Milwaukee-Pittsburgh game was rained out. Philadelphia and Cincinnati weren't scheduled.

Singles by Gil McDougald, Andy Carey and Mickey Mantle broke up a 1-1 tie in the seventh at Cleveland and got Byrne started toward his third victory. Morgan's contribution was a strike out of Al Smith and a force out grounder by Bobby Avila after Byrne had loaded the sacks in the bottom half of the inning with one out.

Mike Garcia was the loser, dropping his seventh game. At Brooklyn, Erskine won his eighth on a four-hitter and belted his first major league home run. Pee Wee Reese and Roy Campanella added two more homers among the Dodgers' five hits off loser Sam Jones, and relievers Dave Hillman and John Andre, it was No. 18 for Campy, who now leads the majors in home runs.

Rookie Gail Harris hit his second big league homer in the eighth to win for the Giants as Jim Hearn won No. 7. Rookie lefty Luis Arroyo lost his second after winning six straight. Twenty-three runners were stranded in the game—12 by the Cards, who slumped to seventh behind the Phils.

Umpire Al Barlick warned both managers after Hearn sent Rip Repulski ducking and Arroyo hit Hearn.

Williams teed off at Detroit on his first two trips to the plate as Willard Nixon won his fifth victory on the seventh try. Boston now has won five straight.

Jim Wilson and Ray Moore scattered eight Kansas City hits as Baltimore won its third in a row after losing seven.

Basilio Plans Fish Trip After Reling in Crown

By MURRAY ROSE

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Battle-scarred Carmen Basilio looked forward to a fishing trip today while his manager started work on reeling in some more greenbacks for the newly crowned welterweight champion.

The 28-year-old ex-Marine from nearby Canastota, N. Y., earned his vacation last night by stopping valiant Tony DeMarco in 1:52 of the 12th round of a thrilling and bloody title fight in the War Memorial Auditorium.

Although Basilio said he was willing to defend his crown to "against anyone I'm called on to meet," his manager had other plans for the immediate future.

"We'd like one or two non-title fights for Carmen to bring in some cash," said Johnny De John. "I think we might take on Art Aragon (of Los Angeles) in an over-weight fight on the coast in a couple of months that should do plenty there. Then one more and we'll be ready for anyone Jim Norris (President of the International Boxing Club) says. We're not committed to fight anyone for the title, no matter what you hear."

It had been reported that the take on ex-champion Johnny Saxton, who lost his title to DeMarco via 14th round technical knockout April 1.

Basilio earned approximately $30,000 as well as the title. DeMarco, who held the diadem only 70 days in becoming the 11th modern welterweight ruler to lose his crown in the first defense, collected a hefty $60,000.

A capacity crowd of 9,170 paid $119,794 and the coast to coast radio broadcast and telecast added another $50,000. Some 1,830 fans paid another $6,400 for the closed circuit telecast into the State Fair Grounds Coliseum. Syracuse, and three upstate cities were blacked out of the telecast.

DeMarco, 23-year-old Bostonian was very much in the running until he got nailed on the chin by a power-packed right in the 10th. Two more rights to the chin sent DeMarco to the canvas for seven. He came and ran into a left hook to the jaw that sent him on his back. He got up at seven again and somehow managed to survive the round.

DeMarco, bleeding from cuts over both eyes, the mouth and nose, wasn't through trying. Ev-winner of the Friday fracas would anyone in the place but Tony knew he was done. He shifted to a lefty stance in the 11th and 12th in the hopes of pulling off a lucky punch.

Basilio pinpointed his blows to head and body until referee Harry Kessler of St. Louis and New York stopped the fight.

Kessler had it 8-2-1 for Basilio. Two New York judges, Frank Forbes 8-3 and Bert Grant 7-4 also had Basilio in front. The AP card agreed with Grant's.

Despite the cards, DeMarco had given the favored Basilio a whale of a battle until the knockdowns.

Several times, notably in the first and third rounds, DeMarco rocked the challenger with hooks to the chin.

"The body punching took the toll," said Basilio. "I could feel him slowing down every round."

"I have no excuses," DeMarco said. "He threw some good punches and I went to pieces and that was it. I'd like to fight him again. I might fight him differently."

Basilio weighed 145½, his lightest in nearly three years. DeMarco weighed 144½.

This fight-mad town whooped it up until an early hour to celebrate the onetime farmer's son's victory as well as to relish the gory details of the stirring set-to.

Despite the cards, DeMarco had given the favored Basilio (17 to 10) a whale of a battle until the knockdowns. This corner had it 5-4 for Basilio for nine.

Carmen required four stitches to patch up a cut over his right eye and four more to close a vertical cut on his lip.

DeMarco, his face chopped up as if he had gone through an auto windshield, flew to Boston immediately after the grueling scrap to have his own doctor take care of him.

The defeat snapped DeMarco's 17-bout unbeaten string and was his third knockout loss. Basilio ran his own undefeated streak to 12 since he dropped a split decision to Kid Gavilan, then the champion, in his first crack at the title, 21 months ago.

Ettrick at Arcadia

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special)—Ettrick will play Arcadia here Sunday afternoon, 2:15 p.m., in a Trempealeau County League game.

Lewiston Tips Rollingstone

Lewiston pulled within a game of league-leading Rollingstone in Hiawatha Valley play by scoring a 5-2 makeup game victory over the Merchants Friday night at Gabrych Park.

Pete Polus held Rollingstone to three hits—doubles by Norm Snyder and Roger Laufenberger and a two-run single by Don Fells. Lewiston got seven hits of Dick Rader including a double and a single by Roger Laufenberger and two hits by Harlan Kirkeby.

Three Rollingstone errors in the sixth inning helped Lewiston take a 3-2 lead which it insured with singletons in the eighth and ninth. The victory was Lewiston's fourth against two defeats and reduced Rollingstone to a 5-1 league record.

Lewiston 000 003 011—5 7 2
Rollingstone 000 200 000—3 2 0

Mel Brown May Quit Fight Game

BIRMINGHAM, England (P)—Mel Brown, a light heavyweight from Paterson, N. J., and St. Paul, split a blood vessel behind his left eye in his Thursday bout with Ron Barton here and may quit the fight game.

The fight was stopped in the sixth with Brown's face splattered with blood. He was rushed to a hospital, but physicians said they will have to wait for the swelling to go down before making a detailed examination.

Rudser Awarded $5,000 by Jury

A federal court jury Friday afternoon awarded a Minnesota state bridge inspector, Greeley Rudser, $5,000 damages in his personal injury against Bridge Builders, Inc., Superior, Wis.

A former Winona man residing in Rochester, Rudser brought the action against the construction firm as a result of an accident in which he was injured while inspecting a bridge being built by the company near Morrisville, Minn., Sept. 16, 1952.

The trial of the case began Thursday morning and the jury retired at 2:25 p.m. It returned its verdict at 4:55 p.m.

Rudser was represented by J. O'Brien, Rochester, and Thomas Scallen, Minneapolis, and the defendant was represented by Richard Leonard, St. Paul.

GEORGE SMITH
Baltimore Beckons

of Michigan State. An Associated Press story Wednesday stated in part:

"Two Michigan State students, first baseman Chuck Matthews and second baseman George Smith, brother of Oriole catcher Hal, also are buzzing around the Oriole money."

Smith called Scheid Friday night and told him he had signed with the Orioles, although not for a large enough sum to qualify as a "bonus baby." He will be assigned to an Oriole farm team this summer.

That leaves Scheid in the market for a pivot-man on the double play combination, but he's got a month to find one. Scheid said that Don Miller won't have to go into the service until July 21.

Scheid summed up the situation philosophically. "If you get young players with a future, that's the chances you take. It does give an indication of the potential Smith has."

Gleason was originally due to join the Chiefs for their scheduled game at Rochester tonight, but he won't be in the lineup until Sunday. He called Scheid and said a wedding of a relative would delay his arrival.

Therefore, if rain doesn't postpone tonight's game at Rochester, Scheid will go with the same lineup as in the past two games. When Gleason comes Sunday, however, he may switch heavily.

He called Billy Leach to third base to take the advantage of his .414 batting average.

Scheid plans to start Jim Lawler tonight at Rochester and come back here Sunday night with Whitey Felker. Lefty Joe Shrike is Scheid's No. 1 "fireman" choice for the two week-end games.

The Chiefs will be meeting the best team in the league this weekend on the basis of records to date.

The Royals are atop the heap with a 7-1 record and boast a pitching staff that has a combined 3-2 earned run average.

Rochester, besides its two games with the Chiefs, has scheduled a makeup game at Rochester Sunday afternoon against Fairmont.

Rochester Manager Ben Sternberg plans to use John Anderson on the mound against the Chiefs tonight. Ted Edmunds Sunday afternoon against Fairmont and Lyman Linde Sunday night at Winona.

John Anderson has a 2-0 record and a 2.52 earned run average through 24 1/3 innings. Linde has a 2-16 ERA with a 1-0 record, and Edmunds, 2-0, has a 5.40 earned run mark.

Qualifying Rounds Open Golf Tourney

Qualifying rounds began this morning at the Winona Country Club for the Amateur Invitational and a pair of golfers to watch were Ace Gilbertson of Minneapolis and Fred Fasnacht, Niles, Ill.

Gilbertson toured the nine-hole layout in a one-over-par 72 Friday, while Fasnacht was one under with a 70.

Another good practice round was turned in by Jack Adams, Edina, who scored in the low 70s Friday. A year ago Adams was medalist with a 69 for qualifying.

By 11 a.m. today, 30 golfers were engaged in qualifying with the heavy flood of activity expected for 1 p.m. Twenty-five golfers came in early Friday and toured the course in practice.

After today's 18 holes of qualifying, the golfers will be entered in various flights. Twenty-seven holes will follow Sunday for members of the championship flight and 18 holes for members of succeeding flights.

Senior flight competition for seniors over 50 has been scheduled this year for the first time.

Members of the committee planning the Winona Country Club Invitational emphasized that the public is invited to watch the tourney. Facilities at the Country Club are open to the public today and Sunday.

A wide-open race for honors is anticipated this week-end, largely since Neil Cronquist, winner of the tournament five of the past six years, withdrew in order to participate in the Trans-Mississippi at Des Moines.

Cronquist won

"YOU WANNA KNOW SOMETHIN'? YOU CAN'T SWIM IN MUD!"

LAFF-A-DAY

"I don't know how they stand it. Their life is just one continuous bath."

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

1. ARE WOMEN WHO ARE PROMISCUOUS REALLY STRONGLY SEXED? YOUR OPINION

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Psychiatrists and social workers agree they are nearly all unhappy girls—usually from unhappy homes—who feel unloved, lost, and inferior. Many of them have a half-unconscious grudge against men and are surprised and worried at their own lack of normal passions. Investigators conclude that promiscuity among women is like excessive drinking—a way of drowning their unhappiness and solving their conflicting emotions.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Yes. "Medical Advance" gives these rules: 1. Your job comes first, all else secondary. 2. Go to the office evenings, Sundays, holidays. 3. Take work home at night. 4. Say yes to all requests. 5. Accept all invitations to meetings, committees, etc. 6. Always plan a conference during mealtime. 7. Consider any recreation wasted time. 8. Don't take all the vacation allowed. 9. Never delegate responsibility—do it all yourself. 10. If you must travel, work all day and drive all night. It was nice knowing you.

Why don't you let go? Are you tense — edgy — losing sleep? How to Relax booklet will give you a new lease on life. Send 15c (coin only) and self-addressed, stamped envelope (name city and state) to Dr. A. E. Wiggam, in care of The Winona Daily News.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. No. If parents use their brains, it doesn't improve their children's brains. Up to a few thousand years ago, men put their large brains to little use except in fishing and hunting. As they began to grow their own food instead of hunting it, they began to invent things chiefly out of necessity. Man had great brains long before he learned to use them, but using them has not increased their original powers.

Argentine Officials Watch Catholics' Parade Planning

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina. — Authorities watched Roman Catholic preparations for today's Corpus Christi procession inside the Metropolitan Cathedral. Trouble could erupt if the crowd spills out in the square in front of the church.

Although the square — the historic Plaza de Mayo — is the traditional scene of the annual ceremony honoring the Eucharist, police have forbidden it to the marchers this year.

Some church sources said the procession may attract one of the largest Catholic crowds in recent months in this country, where the church and President Juan Peron's government have been feuding since last November.

By switching the procession inside the cathedral, church authori-

Actress Gets Money Impounded by Court

LOS ANGELES — Red-haired actress Piper Laurie is $7,850 richer today.

She went down to the Hall of Records and picked up U.S. bonds which superior court had ordered her to buy between 1950, when she landed her first movie contract, and Jan. 22, 1953, when she turned 21. Piper is 23 now and has appeared in 14 films.

A 1950 court order impounded part of her earnings as a minor. She got the bonds yesterday.

ties complied at least technically with the police order. But sources quoted Catholic leaders who informed government officials of the change as saying we wash our hands of what the people may do.

Corpus Christi day actually was last Thursday. But the Peron government has abolished most religious holidays, including Corpus Christi. Church officials decided to hold the procession today so that more working people could attend.
