MOVES INTO CANADA

Storm Leaves 15 Dead in Wisconsin

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The center of the first major storm of the new year moved out of the United States and into Canada today, leaving in its wake a great mass of snow that caused many deaths and widespread destruction.

Temperatures moderated from the sub-zero and zero readings early in the weekend to the teens and 20s. In Minnesota temperatures still hovered around zero in a new snowfall.

Of the dead attributed to the weather, Wisconsin had 15 of which 12 died because of over-exertion. New England had six dead.

The storm struck the Milwaukee area at 12:05 a.m. Saturday and blew itself out at 3:05 p.m. Sunday. The heavy snow was south of a line from Green Bay to the southwest corner of the state, with the deepest accumulations in the southeast corner.

Racine and Kenosha were hit by between 16 and 18 inches of new snow. The fall in Milwaukee was fixed at 14.1 inches. Thirteen inches fell in 24 hours, the heaviest fall in two years and the second heaviest for a 24-hour period in 25 years.

The State Traffic Patrol said that primary roads were icy in spots while drifts piled by 25 miles an hour northwest winds continued to make some secondary roads hazardous.

Twelve of the dead were victims of overexertion. Three died in auto crashes on icy roads.

Among those who died after shoveling were William Wright, 41, of Beloit, and Bernard Brady, 58, of Chicago, who were visiting in Milwaukee.

Another of the victims was Stephen J. Jelinek, 44, a copy editor for the Milwaukee Journal who collapsed outside his home. Herbert Miller, 69, a school principal, collapsed after entering his home.

The death toll compares with 16 counted in unofficial tabulations in storms in December, 1959 and March, 1961. There was no breakdown on causes.

The snow tapered off north of Milwaukee, with Mequon, only a few miles away, measuring 10 inches. Between 1 and 3 inches were recorded at Wausau and Park Falls and three inches at Green Bay. La Crosse and Eau Claire registered only flurries.

Colder weather moved into the state in the wake of the storm which left southern sections with more snow cover than the northern areas. Wausau and Superior reported only 11 inches on the ground Sunday.

An enviable contrast to the winter over most of the country was Southern California's heat wave. Thousands swarmed to resorts and beaches as temperatures soared. In the South Bay area of Los Angeles, 15 swimmers were rescued by lifeguards.

The unofficial reading Sunday at Palm Springs and Oasis was 93. In the San Fernando Valley it was 96.

Los Angeles had a record 86 degrees—the warmest Jan. 7 in 59 years.

Warm weather and rain sent rivers over their banks in western Washington state. Heavy, wet snow fell over northeastern Washington, causing some damage to property and utility lines.

Between 2 and 6 inches of new snow fell over parts of Montana, Wyoming and Colorado, but temperatures ranged mostly in the 20s. Snowslides caused some trouble in the Colorado mountains and in Utah.

Icy roads remained a problem in Indiana, Illinois and Iowa. The three states lay in the path of a weekend storm that dumped up to 14 inches of snow. Some sections had drifts up to three feet. In the east, tornado-like winds, heavy rain and sleet caused wide damage and several deaths. Power failures and telephone service cuts were reported in several areas in New York state.

Many Others Among 500 Aboard Hurt

WOERDEN, Netherlands (AP) — Two passenger trains collided in dense fog near here today and Netherlands Railways announced that 79 persons were killed. It was the worst train disaster in this country's history.

The Dutch news agency reported earlier that 50 persons had been injured. A farmer's wife living near the disaster scene said ambulances had streamed away carrying at least 200 injured to nearby hospitals.

Priests, nuns, firemen, police, soldiers and uninjured passengers helped in rescue work. Metal workers used acetylene torches to cut into the tangled masses of coaches, which were reported to have carried about 500 passengers.

Fifty doctors toiled over the casualties. Watch dogs were used to guard piles of luggage.

One of the trains was an express en route from the northern Dutch town of Leeuwarden to Rotterdam. The other was a commuter train headed in the opposite direction from Rotterdam to Amsterdam.

The express was due to reach a switching point at 9:19 a.m. and the commuter train at 9:21. It was in this three-minute interval that they hit. Visibility was about 20 yards.

Most of the victims were reported in the crowded train from Leeuwarden. The express is usually crowded on Monday mornings by people returning to work in the metropolitan area from weekends in the northern residential provinces.

It was unlikely that many foreigners were involved.

The Dutch radio canceled all light programs and it played serious music, interrupted at times by news bulletins on the crash.

Nine coaches were derailed—six from the express and three from the commuter train. One moved down a train station as it rolled down an embankment.

The fog was so heavy that persons living near the scene were puzzled when they heard the collision.

"We could see nothing in the dense fog," said the farmer's wife, Mrs. Van Oosterom. "We thought at first a plane had crashed, but later we heard iron grating and realized that two trains had crashed. Almost immediately afterward, crying people came stumbling toward our farm."

South Dakota Cattle Drive On Last Lap

WINNER, S.D. (AP)—A swirling snowstorm that brewed a temporary feed crisis for Don Hight's cattle drive turned out to have its helpful side.

"It'll cover all the winter wheat we have to travel across," Hight said as he headed his 1,800 Herefords for the final 17 miles of a 65-mile walk to a cattle auction house at Winner.

Hight's trucks from his West-over ranch got stalled in the snow for a time but he was able to buy hay from a rancher and the trucks pulled in Sunday with a concentrated protein feed for the animals.

Much of the remaining distance is in more settled country than the cattle range where the animals grazed before heading to market.

They are hoofing across numerous farms and Hight had to agree to keep them along fence lines to avoid plowing through more wheat than is necessary.

Publicity about Hight's unusual enterprise in modern-day cattle operations created a circus atmosphere Sunday. Hundreds of motorists drove out to watch the herd cross U.S. Highway 183 northwest of Winner.

At times, the herd has stretched out a mile and a half. The 40-year-old rancher lets the cows set their own pace.

Hight expects to have the cattle in pens at the sales ring Tuesday night. He'll separate the cows and steers, the steers to go by the pound and the cows by the head when the auctioneer's cry rings out Thursday.

His main worry now, Hight says, is shrinkage. He expects to save $2,000 by trail-driving the beef as against the normal method of trucking them, and expects to pocket around $360,000 at the sale.

Sparta Jail Break Foiled

SPARTA, Wis. (AP)—Three Monroe County Jail prisoners, one of them a short-order cook accused of first degree murder in the death of his woman employer, failed in an attempt to saw their way out of the lockup, Sheriff Dewey Reinstra said Sunday.

Reinstra said that during a routine check Saturday night he noticed a fire escape door had been tampered with. A search disclosed three hacksaw blades and a chisel hidden in an air vent.

The sheriff said the tools apparently had been handed in several weeks ago through a rear window by two former inmates, one of whom was arrested Sunday night in South Milwaukee. The other is confined in the State Reformatory.

Reinstra said there would be "no visitors" at the jail until the case was completed.

Ther sheriff identified the three prisoners involved as Thomas Greer, 23, of Tomah, held on the murder charge; Vernon Marx of Sparta, being held for return to the State Reformatory near Green Bay, and James Rosenstreich, 36, of Tomah, a parole violator awaiting trial on charges of obtaining beer for minors.

Greer, a former cook in a Tomah restaurant, is charged with the murder of Mrs. Delores Parkinson, 36, his former employer. She was found shot to death in a wooded area near Tomah last Oct. 30.

Reinstra said Greer was the "ringleader of the plot," and had admitted participating in the plan. The sheriff said the trio had sawed moving parts off the door leading from their second-floor cell block and rejoining the parts with chewing gum to escape detection.

Greer declared he intended to leave the jail for only a few hours and then return, the sheriff said. Reinstra added that Marx denied any part in the break but was implicated by the other two.

Reinstra said the two also implicated Robert Heide, 19, now held in the reformatory, and John Novak, 19, of South Milwaukee, who was released from the jail Dec. 20 after serving 150 days for traffic violations.

Reinstra said the money to buy the tools was given to Novak by Greer.

South Milwaukee police said Novak declined to make any statement.

Reinstra said he would ask attempted jail-break warrants against the three.

Twin Cities Has 2 Fires Over Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Weekend fires in Minnesota resulted in the destruction of a 42-apartment building in St. Paul and destroyed a large Minneapolis building which contained baled paper and corrugated paper boxes.

No one was injured in the blaze at the four-story St. Paul apartment building Sunday. Flames were confined mostly to the second floor apartment of George Hakola, where the blaze began, and to the apartment one floor above.

The two-story Minneapolis warehouse and office quarters in a one-story section were a total loss after the Saturday fire. The building was sold to the state of Minnesota last summer to make way for freeway construction.

Firemen said David Rohde, a workman, told them the blaze started when a spark from an acetylene torch set off baled paper owned by Consolidated Paper Co. The workmen were moving machinery and paper to a new location of the company.

Damage was estimated at upwards of $75,000.

Kennedy, Clay In Agreement On Berlin Crisis

By BARRY SCHWEIB

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy says he and Gen. Lucius D. Clay are in full agreement on how to handle effectively any possible future crisis in Berlin.

The President's statement was issued Sunday after he and Clay, who is Kennedy's personal representative in West Berlin, had talked for an hour at the White House.

Clay came to Washington for talks with the President and Secretary of State Dean Rusk amid reports he believed the U.S. commander in West Berlin, Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II, should have greater authority to handle unexpected emergencies.

Clay met with Rusk Saturday. Both men denied any policy differences between them over Berlin.

The statement read to reporters by White House press secretary Pierre Salinger after Sunday's Kennedy-Clay meeting apparently sought to dispel any idea of a deep rift within the administration over the handling of any future emergencies in Berlin.

The statement by the chief executive said:

"General Clay and I have had a most useful and satisfactory review of the current situation in Berlin and Germany. I have been very glad to get his report of the continuing staunchness of the people of West Berlin and we have talked at length about the ways and means of sustaining and strengthening the life of their great city in the future as in the past."

"We have also reviewed the general problem of effective handling of possible crisis situations and we have reached full agreement on the policy to be followed during these months."

"This meeting is one more way in which Mr. Rusk, General Clay and I can keep in the closest touch and we continue to be fortunate in having him as the senior American in Berlin."

Salinger was asked if the statement meant Clay was fully satisfied with the situation regarding authority for the U.S. military commander. Salinger replied that Clay had read the President's statement and approved it.

Later, Kennedy and John A. McCone, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, conferred for an hour and a half. No statement was issued.

Bomb Kills Three

Sukarno Escapes in Indonesia Explosion

By PETER ARNETT

MAKASSAR, Indonesia (AP)—President Sukarno escaped unharmed from a bomb explosion Sunday night while winding up a four-day barnstorming tour to whip up support in the Celebes for his plans to seize West New Guinea from the Dutch.

The bomb killed three persons and injured 25 others in a crowd watching the president arrive for a speech. It exploded a few hundred yards behind his motorcade. Visibly shaken, he addressed a student rally shortly afterward. This morning he inspected a military base outside this South Celebes city.

There were no indications of any arrests but military precautions and security were strengthened in Makassar, the probable jumping-off point for any invasion of Dutch New Guinea.

Until recently, the Makassar area also was a center of rebels opposing Sukarno's government.

The president attacked Dutch Foreign Minister J. M. A. H. Luns for his statement in a magazine interview recently that West New Guinea's Papuan population should not come under Indonesian domination because they are racially different from the Indonesians.

"Luna is always full of lies. He knows nothing about nations or scientific theories about nations," said Sukarno, who was trained as an architect.

"The Papuan people of West Irian (West New Guinea) are part of the Indonesian race. A desire by people to live together creates a nation. Indonesia is of many peoples and the West Irian people are part of it," Sukarno said.

Sukarno attacked Luns' statements that the Papuans are so uncivilized they need Dutch support and training, and that the Netherlands had put more into its colonies than it had taken from them.

"What have the Dutch done in New Guinea and what have the Dutch given us?" he demanded. "Our progress is not because of their doing. The Dutch were here 350 years and left virtually nothing here."

Reinforcements poured into the South Celebes as Sukarno toured the area. A source close to the president said guerrilla "volunteers" are expected to begin hit-and-run attacks soon in West New Guinea, which Indonesia has claimed ever since the nation gained independence from the Netherlands in 1949.

In a speech at the fishing village of Bonthian, Sukarno told a crowd Indonesia will invade the territory unless the Dutch hand it over and "we don't care about world opinion."

However, he said his policy has the support of the Communist, Asian and African world. "Two billion people support us," he said. "How many people support Holland?"

At one point, Sukarno said he had learned the Dutch plan to send the 15,892-ton aircraft carrier Karel Doorman to New Guinea waters. She can handle 33 war planes.

Nine foreign ambassadors, including U.S. Ambassador Howard P. Jones, were in Sukarno's party. The president turned to them and said: "I want you to tell your governments we are not afraid of the Karel Doorman. What can she do to stop us? If, during one dark night, thousands of tiny fishing craft full of Indonesian fighters creep across the waters to West Irian (West New Guinea), what can the Karel Doorman do to stop them?"

At the Hague, the Dutch navy said the carrier and two destroyers will leave Friday for a show-the-flag trip in the Netherlands West Indies, Caribbean and South American waters. There was no mention of any trip to New Guinea.

Mail Train Derailed, 2 Clerks Hurt

CHICAGO (AP)—Two mail clerks remained hospitalized today, suffering from injuries sustained Saturday night when a mail train derailed on Chicago's Northwest Side. Thirteen other mail clerks were treated for shock or for minor injuries and released.

Authorities said Harry Hammerling, 40, of Milwaukee, and Joseph Bozich, 46, of Greendale, Wis., were in good condition.

A five-car section of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad train derailed and rolled into a shallow ditch when a wheel broke on a Railway Express car, officials said. The train was en route from Chicago to St. Paul.

Thirteen other mail clerks were treated for shock and minor injuries and released. Among them were Seth Tetra, 34, Portage; Kenneth Kraemer, 41, Kenosha; Rolf Helgeson, 31, La Crosse, and Clifford Hannuh, 44, Sparta.

New Test in Berlin

Bus Load of Soviet Army Officers Held at Border

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD

BERLIN (AP)—American military policemen held up a busload of Soviet army officers for 75 minutes Sunday at the West Berlin border in a tense test of screening.

Clearance for the bus was given only after the Russians gave assurances that the Soviet commander and his top political adviser, who are taboo in the U.S. sector, were not aboard.

Col. Andrei Solov'yev, the Soviet commander, and his chief aide, Lt. Col. Georgi Alekseev, are banned in retaliation for allowing the East Germans to harass U.S. officials crossing into East Berlin.

Halting of the bus, carrying 18 officers, marked the third time in a week that Soviet military personnel have run into U.S. roadblocks.

The bus remained in West Berlin less than half an hour and then went back east with no indication of the purpose of the trip.

The unusually large number of officers aboard led to speculation the Russians might have been seeking only to confuse or embarrass the Americans at Checkpoint Charlie on Friedrichstrasse.

A U. S. combat company stationed in Berlin returned across the East German autobahn without hindrance after several days of training in West Germany.

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt contended in a radio broadcast that the wall dividing Berlin "is beginning to work against those who built it" because of the adverse impression it makes on foreign visitors.

Neues Deutschland, the East German Communist party organ, in an editorial today advised Gen. Lucius Clay, President Kennedy's personal representative in Berlin, to go back to private business.

The paper accused Clay of inciting the U.S. commander in West Berlin, Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II, "to commit stupidities again and again" in the past few months.

It remained to be seen, the paper said, whether Clay returned "cooled down" from his talks in Washington with the President and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Man Crushed to Death by Own Car

FARIBAULT, Minn. (AP)—A former Rice County commissioner Irvin Ackman was crushed to death by his car as he changed license plates Saturday.

Sheriff Charles A. Carver said Ackman had left the car in "drive" gear with its engine running as he installed plates. The machine apparently lunged forward and Ackman was crushed between the front bumper and a garage wall.

Molotov Back at Old Post

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP) — Ex-Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, denounced as a Stalinist by the latest Communist party congress, is returning to his atom for peace post in Vienna, the Foreign Office announced today.

The announcement startled the diplomatic colony in the Soviet capital and led to speculation that Stalin's old lieutenant may have won his battle against expulsion from the party.

A Foreign Office spokesman said he knew nothing of the status of the party trial.

"Molotov has never been removed from his post on the atomic energy agency and has now returned to it," he said.

Belgian Jet Forced Down By Russians

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — A Belgian Sabena jet airliner, carrying 27 persons from Tehran to Istanbul, landed at a Soviet airfield today after radioing "We are being pursued by Russian planes."

Sabena authorities in Istanbul and in Brussels, the line's headquarters, said the plane was forced by Soviet jets to put down at the city of Yerevan, near the Soviet-Turkish frontier.

By Devros' account, the Soviet craft merely escorted the liner to Yerevan. He said plans are for it to proceed to Istanbul, 850 miles west of Yerevan, as soon as repairs are completed.

However, the line's manager in Tehran, Walter Devros, said a radio compass had failed and the pilot, Cmdr. Freddy Moureaux, requested permission to make the landing.

The plane carried 19 passengers and eight crew members. Devros said all were reported safe.

Among the passengers was one American, identified only as a Mr. Bowen, flying to Europe from the Far East.

Sabena authorities in Brussels said the Russians had buzzed the airliner and that at least two fighters were involved.

THE WORLD TODAY

Middle-of-Road Program Likely

By JAMES HARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Kennedy must be the same as last year's winner of the race—a reasonable, moderate, and a man who is not a radical.

When Kennedy leaves the State of the Union message Thursday to Congress, he will open a new chapter in his political career. He has already given promises of his program and what he will do about them.

The program will be a middle-of-the-road program, Kennedy said. He is not going to get fighting mad, but he is not going to be a moderate either. He is going to be a man who is not a radical, but he is not a moderate either. He is going to be a man who is not a radical, but he is not a moderate either.

Last year he asked for a broad aid to education, including school construction. The opportunity seemed to take the steam out of him on this one. This year he will pay for aid to higher education.

He may try harder for a program of medical care for the aged. How much harder remains to be seen. Last year this one ended in the trap.

Last year he failed to completely make good on his campaign pledge of 1960—a year for new civil rights legislation that he didn't even offer any. He'll probably skip it this year, too.

There will be a real contest on his forthcoming request for more freedom in cutting tariffs so this country can deal better with Western Europe's Common Market.

On this one he has the support of some of the country's top Republicans.

There are two good tests of how hard a president is willing to push on any given issue.

1. His willingness to make some members of Congress so angry that, in retaliation, they may gang up on him to slaughter some other program. So far Kennedy's policy has been to keep peace in the family.

2. Appealing directly to the people to put pressure on Congress. Last year Kennedy did little of this. There is no sign he'll do differently this year.

Kennedy has used two other methods: talking directly with key members and having his aides buttonhole them steadily in the Capitol.

If some of the issues mentioned above don't get through this year—medical care, aid to education, civil rights—they'll be issues in the 1962 congressional elections.

How failure to pass them could help Kennedy is hard to see. The Republicans can argue that the Democrats, who have huge majorities in both houses of Congress, must take responsibility for the failures.

State Pupil Costs Above Average, Salaries Lower

WASHINGTON (AP)—Money spent on each pupil in daily attendance in the public schools of Minnesota is somewhat higher than average but teacher's salaries in the state are below the national average.

Figures released Saturday by the National Education Association (NEA) showed that Minnesota and Wisconsin also are above average in money spent per pupil, but Iowa, North Dakota and South Dakota are below the national level of $444 per pupil.

All six states show average teacher's wages beneath the $5,527 national mark.

Minnesota spends $442 per pupil, while Montana spends $445, Wisconsin $450, Iowa $465, North Dakota $360 and South Dakota $330.

Teacher's salaries average $5,450 a year in Minnesota, $5,400 in Wisconsin, $4,922 in Iowa, $4,700 in Montana, $4,150 in North Dakota and $3,825 in South Dakota.

The NEA reports that $18.1 billion will be spent on public education from kindergarten through 12th grade this year, an all-time record.

Tax Booklets For Wisconsin Being Prepared

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—John Gronoski, chief of the State Department of Taxation, said today that booklets explaining the sales and use tax and withholding taxes of the state's new tax law will be mailed to residents and employers this week.

Gronoski also explained the steps being taken of a number of efforts to set up the machinery for administering the law which takes effect Feb. 1. And he repeated that 1961 individual income tax return forms will not be available until next month.

About 25 of the department's principal supervisors and department heads were called to Madison for a briefing on the new law today and Sunday. Next week some 75 field auditors from 24 communities will attend information sessions in Madison.

For the past several days seasons of income taxes from the Appleton, Eau Claire and Milwaukee offices have been in Madison preparing the income tax return forms for printing.

The 16-page "Employers' Withholding Tax Guide" will be mailed starting Wednesday, Gronoski said. The booklet includes a registration form for employers.

Mailing of the booklet explaining the selective sales and use tax laws is scheduled to begin Jan. 13. Retailers also will receive an application form to be used in obtaining the 42 "seller's permits" required by the law.

The first 42 check for one of the permits was received by the department from the Allen Typewriter Service Co. of Prairie du Sac. The check was returned with a request that the company withhold paying until it had received and completed an application form.

SAC FLIGHT PATH . . . The free world's first supersonic bomber, the B-58 Hustler, soon will begin flying training missions over towns and cities within a 40-mile corridor from Minneapolis to Milwaukee, passing portions of this area. Their approximate path is shown by the black line on the map.

The flights will be made by crews of the Strategic Air Command's 43rd Bomb Wing at Carswell, AFB, Tex., and 305th Bomb Wing at Bunker Hill AFB, Ind. The missions will provide operation training under all-weather conditions. They may be made at any time during the day or night.

No weapons are carried by the SAC bombers during these training missions. The bomber will surpass the speed of sound, possibly causing sonic booms at altitudes between 35,000 and 50,000 feet. Flights at lower altitudes will be flown at subsonic speeds.

31 Cases Listed For District Court Juries

Designation of cases to be heard by a jury during the January term of District Court here was at a call of the court calendar marking the opening of the winter term today.

Judge Leo F. Murphy, Winona, presided at this morning's session at which 31 cases were listed for jury trial.

Members of the jury panel will report for duty next Monday when the first of the cases to be heard by Judge Murphy will be called for trial.

Two cases were stricken from the calendar this morning and there were indications that at least two others may be continued over the term.

Those stricken were actions brought by Mrs. Vivian Schafer against Norman C. Schafer—a suit for divorce—and an appeal in highway land condemnation proceedings involving property owned by Margaret Leach in the Dresbach area.

Clerk of Court Joseph C. Page said that there would be no criminal matters for hearing this afternoon. Arraignments previously had been scheduled for today.

Judge Murphy will hear motions and preside at pre-trial conferences during the remainder of the week.

Wabasha Jury Returns Tuesday

WABASHA, Minn. (Special)—Wabasha County District Court will reconvene here Tuesday at 10 a.m. to hear a jury case.

Previous to drawing a jury, Steven B. Gray, 22, Rochester, will be arraigned on a second-degree larceny charge.

The boat was abandoned the same day at Boyd's Resort a half-mile from Ryan's Bay.

Big Job for Jaycees

For once Winona firemen George Hoepfner and Mal Becker were able Sunday night to enjoy watching a fire like everyone else.

The occasion was the Jaycees' annual Christmas tree collection and bonfire east of the junction of Trunk Highways 61 and 43. A record 2,000 trees were burned after being doused with diesel oil. The trees were piled about 35 feet high and the flames leaped 75 feet high.

The two firemen and their tank truck were available in case the flames got out of control, which didn't happen.

Bernard E. Wagnild, Christmas tree collection chairman, said 20 Jaycees worked the longest hours in such a collection.

They worked from 1-6 p.m., using 8 trucks donated by local firms. Each truck made about two runs. Contributions were made by some residents whose trees were made by some residents whose trees were collected from boulevards.

The only accident at the bonfire site occurred before the fire while Charles G. Brown Jr., 1350 W. 5th St., was unloading trees.

Arcadia Woman Sues for Taxes

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—A case has been filed in Circuit Court here by Miss Kate Zeller, Arcadia, asking judgment against the city of Arcadia for alleged overpayment of 1960 taxes.

Miss Zeller by her attorneys, Fugina, Kostner & Ward, Arcadia, is asking $832.95 which she alleges is overpayment, plus interest at 5 percent from Jan. 9, 1961, plus costs and disbursements of the action.

The 1960 assessment on Lot 1 was $31,000, and Miss Zeller alleges the market value is $25,000. The 1960 assessment of Lots 5 and 6 was $51,330, and she alleges the market value is not more than $30,000. These lots are in Block 11 of the original plat and include the building known as the Old Army.

On Jan. 9, 1961, Miss Zeller paid $2,339.90 in taxes on these lots and the mercantile properties, but paid them in protest, claiming they were unjust and discriminatory. On Jan. 17, 1961, by her attorneys, she filed a claim for the amount for which she is now suing.

The complaint says the City Council discussed her claim at meetings last February and March 9 but filed it without taking action.

Miss Zeller is retired and a resident of St. Joseph's Hospital. The case is scheduled for the spring term of Circuit Court opening the first Monday in March.

Man, 76, Freezes To Death at Canton

CANTON, Minn.—Olaf Lysgaard, 76, Amherst, died of exposure this morning after being found unconscious on Fillmore County Road 23 about three miles north of here.

A motorist, Wesley Stark, rural Canton, saw him lying on the side of the road about 7:30 a.m. and notified Fillmore County Sheriff Neil S. Haugerud. Haugerud immediately dispatched an ambulance to the scene but Lysgaard died shortly after being placed in the vehicle.

DR. J. P. Nehring, Fillmore County coroner, said death was caused by exposure.

Lysgaard was last seen at 12:30 a.m. in Canton. Authorities surmise that soon afterward he attempted to walk the 10 miles to his daughter's home in Amherst and became exhausted in the bitter cold. He was wearing winter clothing.

He was born in Norway, Feb. 21, 1885, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Lysgaard. He married Clara Peterson, March 25, 1909, and they farmed in the rural Lanesboro area approximately 50 years. She died in 1947 and he had since been living at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Giffon Haugenson, Amherst.

BESIDES Mrs. Haugenson, he is survived by three other daughters: Mrs. Alfred Bakkum, Houston; Mrs. Arden (Irene) Vigeland, Mabel; and Mrs. George (Dorothy) Inglett, Spring Grove; one brother, Hans, Spring Grove, 16 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Mabel Trinity-Garness Lutheran Church, the Rev. C. James Narveson officiating. Burial will be in the church cemetery. Friends may call at the Mengis Funeral Home, Mabel, from Tuesday until time of service.

Dropping 400s Would Save Road $1 Million, Claim

ST. PAUL (AP)—The Chicago and North Western Railway would save more than a million dollars annually if the road's "400" trains from Minnesota to Chicago were eliminated a company official testified today at an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing.

The hearing is the first in a series of four on the road's application to abandon four streamliners—the 400 and 401 between the Twin Cities and Chicago and Nos. 518 and 519 between Mankato and Chicago.

The road in its application for discontinuance claims the trains are operating at a loss of more than $6,400 a day.

Larry S. Provo, vice president and comptroller, presented North Western schedules regarding losses. The railroad maintains that the net loss per day in operation of the Twin Cities 400 before interest and return on investment had grown from $2,314 in 1959 to $3,009 in 1960, and $3,339 per day during the first five months of 1961.

Average daily loss on the Rochester 400, the road contends, increased from $2,435 in 1959 to $3,037 in 1960 and $3,127 in the first five months of 1961, with the first loss amounting to $1,111.452.

Provo said no dividends on common stock were paid by the railway in a 10-year period between 1951 and 1960 and that in only three years—1952, 1953 and 1954—were dividends paid on preferred stock.

Elimination of the four trains daily would give the company a net minimum annual savings of $1,137,718, he said, adding that if only the Twin Cities to Chicago trains were abandoned, the net minimum annual savings would be $575,205.

The hearing, being conducted before John Bradford, Washington, ICC Examiner, is expected to continue through Tuesday. Other hearings will be held at Eau Claire, Wednesday; Rochester, Friday; and Madison, Wis., Monday.

160 New Brides Return With GI Husbands

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (AP)—A spokesman for Wisconsin's 32nd Division says there is no "critical" housing shortage, even though the Badger State colony was swelled by almost 1,400 persons after the end of holiday leaves.

Nearly 8,000 men of the division went home during the holidays, and brought 1,400 dependents—about 160 of them brides—when they returned to duty Thursday.

A spokesman for the division said the men were instructed not to bring dependents unless they had located housing. Many did not follow the warning and had to place their families in motels while looking for other quarters.

Austin Boys Admit 18 Acts Of Vandalism

AUSTIN, Minn. (AP)—Three boys, who earlier admitted 10 thefts, have told authorities their 10-month crime spree included 5 larcenies, 18 acts of vandalism, 9 more thefts and 4 burglaries.

The boys—two 14 and the other 11—were petitioned to juvenile court when their cases first came to the attention of police three weeks ago. Their latest admissions are expected to bring them into juvenile court again.

The extent of their spree became known when one of the 14-year-olds voluntarily appeared at the police station last week.

Badger Legislature Back in Session

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Wisconsin's 1961 Legislature convened today for what lawmakers hope will be the end of a marathon session that began Jan. 11, 1961.

Leaders expect that disposition of left-over business can be accomplished in about two weeks.

Democratic Gov. Gaylord Nelson is expected to address the session of the Republican controlled Senate and Assembly this week and outline measures he considers to be of prime importance.

There are 163 holdover bills and resolutions but most of these are expected to be defeated with little or no consideration.

The time consuming session reached its high point shortly before Christmas when a tax revision bill finally was passed. Errors have since been discovered in the far-reaching law and these will have to be corrected, particularly in providing the $55 million pledged for real property tax relief.

So far, the tedious session has run for 268 days and is expected to go down as the longest in the state's history. The record for the longest session—276 days—was set by the 1939 Legislature.

It Happened Last Night Earl Henpecked? His Wife Objects

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — One of my contemporaries, Hy Gardner, recently referred to me as "henpecked Earl Wilson."

Well did that raise plenty here at Hillbilly Hall! I didn't want to mention it straight out to the barefoot baroness, my B. W., but I slipped the clipping in my apron pocket. And when I was serving her breakfast in bed, I slid the clipping on the tray.

"What does he mean by this?" the B. W. roared. "You demand a retraction and punch him in the nose if he doesn't give you one!"

"S-sure," I trembled. "He ought to watch his language."

"Yes!" thundered the B. W. "Who's he calling 'hen'?" He might have said "chickenpecked." And that reminds me, you seem to be back on that kick of writing about young dames in their 20s. How about some older girls like Joan Crawford and Bette Davis?"

"Y-y-es, darling," I murmured. "And don't you worry about all the buttons being off my jacket and overcoat. I'll get one of the hatcheck girls..."

(You see, these one-button jackets are nothing new to me; I've been wearing one button for YEARS!)

"Where's that sewing kit I gave you, so you can take care of it yourself when you lose your buttons?" demanded the B. W.

"I'm a-a-fraid I was in for a lot of trouble when my Gorgeous Mother-in-Law appeared."

"YOU NEED a new tuxedo so I ordered you one," she announced. "What do you do with your handkerchiefs—throw them away? It's strange how all your suits look alike. Hugh O'Brian's suits don't all look alike. Here, drink your orange juice while it's cold and your coffee while it's hot!"

Trundling off to my office, I encountered my secretary, Mary Dickson, who was busy changing what I call my decor.

"By the way, Mary," I said, "you know you moved the furniture around in here and I don't want to be nosey, but where the h— is my desk?"

"Why?" she was terribly surprised—"I moved you in this inner office because you are The Boss!"

"Who? Me?" I exclaimed. "Little me is the boss?"

OH, WELL, I think most men are henpecked and I suspect they like it. The biggest ones I know, Toots Shor included, get bossed around by their wives something scandalously, and so far it's only made them successful... and, naturally, not too egotistical.

Congressmen At White House For Briefing

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic and Republican congressional leaders went to the White House today for a briefing by President Kennedy on his 1962 legislative proposals.

The usual bipartisan meeting, the first in a busy week of affairs marking the opening of the second session of the 86th Congress, is to be followed Tuesday by a get-together of the President with his own party's leaders.

Kennedy was expected to bear down heavily today on his plans for a balanced budget, increased defense spending and his recommendations for a broad new foreign trade program.

The all-Democratic meeting Tuesday is likely to be devoted to the more controversial items which the administration hopes to develop as major political issues in this congressional election year.

These include the bitterly disputed health care program financed under the Social Security System, and a variety of education measures left over from the 1961 legislative year.

Democratic congressional leaders have made it clear they expect a big furor over the reciprocal trade bill. They predict a satisfactory measure will be passed.

They are scratching their heads over what they expect to be the biggest problems of the 1962 session—the health care bill and the grade and high school grant measure.

A check indicates the votes are not available to get the health care legislation out of the House Ways and Means Committee, its first congressional hurdle.

The President's $2.55 billion public school grant bill passed the Senate last year but stumbled badly in the House and finally was buried there.

Congress will convene at noon Wednesday, but no floor action of any kind will come before next week. Kennedy plans to deliver his State of the Union message in person to a joint session on Thursday.

The Senate already has half a dozen major bills on its calendar, ready for floor debate when scheduled by the majority leader.

These include the $2.67-billion college aid bill with funds for classroom loans, student scholarships and junior colleges; a pension-welfare fund regulatory bill; a bill to broaden the National Defense Education Act loan funds for church school construction; legislation to set up a department of urban affairs; a measure to establish a 150,000-member youth conservation corps; and an aid bill for cold war veterans.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said the college grant bill and the department of urban affairs legislation were likely to be among the first scheduled for floor debate.

The House must choose a new speaker and majority leader. Reps. John W. McCormack, D-Mass., and Carl Albert, D-Okla., appeared to have these sewed up.

Job Absenteeism Flayed in Cuba

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Cuba's economic chief Ernesto Guevara says job absenteeism must be wiped out and production increased in every industry.

Guevara warned workers they will have to have an eight-hour day to stay away from their jobs. His speech, broadcast from Havana, was monitored at Key West.

DEAR ABBY:

Time to Develop Sense of Humor

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: The woman who signed herself "Very Very Hurt" because her husband sent her a birthday card with the message, "Happy Birthday to a Swell Fella on HIS Birthday," shouldn't have felt hurt. My most cherished possession as a birthday card I received from my 8-year-old son. He erased his own name from a birthday card he had received months before, and he wrote my name on it. Then he wrapped up his "life savings" (two dimes and a nickel) and gave it to me with a note, "From your children," meaning himself, his 3-year-old brother and an 8-month-old sister. I could never spend that 25 cents.

DEAR ABBY: Tell "VERY, VERY HURT" to develop a sense of humor. It's no crime to grab the wrong card when you are in a hurry. On my wedding anniversary I received a card which said, "There never was a better brother. Get well fast." My husband and I still laugh over it.

DEAR ABBY: I know that it is possible to send the wrong card on an occasion that requires a greeting. When our first baby was born I received a lovely baby gift, and with it was one of those printed store-bought cards with the following message: "Sorry to hear about your ACCIDENT!"

DEAR ABBY: The woman who signed herself "VERY VERY HURT" because her husband sent her a birthday card which read: "Happy Birthday to a Swell Fella on HIS Birthday" should not take it so seriously. On Mother's Day I received a card from my daughter. It said, "For One Who Has Been LIKE a Mother to Me." We all got a big kick out of it and I wasn't even slightly hurt.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LOST IN TEXAS": Do not confide in family or friends. See a physician!

California Engineer Killed in Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Clyde F. Summers, an engineer from El Monte, Calif., working here on a U.S. aid project, died Sunday of bullet wounds received in a Communist rebel ambush 12 miles northeast of Saigon. He was the second American killed by the rebels in two weeks.

Summers, 45, a native of Abilene, Tex., was construction superintendent with a U.S. company building a new runway at a Saigon airport. His Vietnamese widow is expecting a baby.

4-Day Strike Closes Israeli Post Office

JERUSALEM (AP)—All Israeli post offices closed today for a four-hour warning strike today in support of a demand for a salary increase.

The engineer's union also decided to call a general strike of all engineers in public services beginning Thursday. The engineers are demanding increases similar to those awarded state-employed physicians last year.

The council of secondary school teachers is to meet Wednesday to consider a proposal to strike.

New School Named For Robert Frost

LAWRENCE, Mass. (AP) — A new $800,000 elementary school bears the name of Robert Frost and the unofficial poet laureate of the United States says the naming is "one of the greatest honors of my life."

Frost, 88, joined Sunday in dedicatory exercises in the city where he spent much of his youth and where he later taught school. He was valedictorian of the Lawrence High School graduating class of 1892.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time in years has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one after case while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Hilo-Dynex)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation 110. At all drug counters.

Underground Army Calls Algiers Strike

ALGIERS (AP) — A show-of-strength strike called by the rightist underground army of French settlers fighting Algerian independence crippled Algiers and Oran today.

Crowds streamed into the streets of Algeria's two largest cities in response to a call from the Secret Army for a two-hour general strike.

The Secret Army pegged the call for the strike to support a protest by hospital personnel who object to increased police control over their activities. French officials have charged some hospital staffs with being accomplices of the underground. A number of right-wing extremists taken to hospitals for treatment after being arrested have escaped.

Rebel government leaders met in neighboring Morocco for talks on the prospects for making peace with French President Charles de Gaulle.

Members of the exile government indicated they have gone as far as they will toward a compromise. One leader told newsmen: "Our aims have not changed. We are not waiting for a messenger from France, we are waiting for concrete moves."

High nationalist sources said earlier there are "definite chances of peace" but one minister cautioned reporters not to expect a cease-fire soon.

Leaders of the seven-year rebellion gathered in the palm-shaded Miramar Hotel 12 miles north of Casablanca under a heavy guard of friendly Moroccan troops.

Concern was evident among the rebel chiefs over the fresh wave of bloody terrorism sweeping their homeland. They blamed it on diehard European settlers opposed to France making any peace that would give Algeria independence.

Referring to the European Secret Army's campaign to sabotage French President Charles de Gaulle's negotiations with the nationalists, rebel Foreign Minister Saad Dahlab told newsmen: "The others are preparing war, we are preparing peace."

Fighting between French troops and Algerian rebel military units has tapered off. Murders, hit-and-run clashes between Europeans and Moslems continued.

Four persons were killed Sunday as the killing set off by de Gaulle's year-end announcement that he was speeding up moves to end the revolt went into the second week.

Authorities reported 111 persons were slain last week—71 Moslems and 40 Europeans — and 240 wounded—170 Moslems and 70 Europeans.

Fugitive French Gen. Raoul Salan is leading the European revolt in the troubled French North African territory against both de Gaulle and the Algerians.

Raiders — presumably from the Secret Army—over the weekend stole a score of machineguns and sub-machineguns from a French military depot near Versailles.

About 200 pounds of plastic explosives were stolen from an American army base in eastern France recently.

An explosive blasted the regional headquarters of the Communist party in Marseilles Sunday. Another plastic bomb shattered the Paris apartment of left-wing writer Jean-Paul Sartre.

Cargill died Saturday in a Minneapolis hospital. He was a brother of the late Robert G. Cargill, former president of the Minneapolis Grain Exchange and head of the Victoria Elevator Co.

Sylvester Cargill was secretary of the Victoria firm.

NASON ON EDUCATION

How to Unearth Best Scholars

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.

Professor of Education, University of Southern California

Can testing alone determine who is to be the scholar?

They think so in Europe, where government-sponsored tests decide the type and amount of education to be given each child.

Fortunately, Americans don't think so.

We have the Education Act, passed by Congress in 1958, which authorizes testing and guidance counseling in secondary schools. This system aims at salvaging the good and rejecting the bad in some European systems.

THE EUROPEAN program tends to get the best students into colleges and universities. But it keeps some good students out.

The tests don't measure goal-mindedness, ambition to succeed, willingness to work, study habits or parental support. All are important to a student's success.

The education act was not intended to limit the education of any group of students.

The testing part of the program was designed to identify students with outstanding abilities and aptitudes. Guidance was meant to encourage them to complete their secondary education and prepare for college.

But for those less likely to succeed in college, the program also provides guidance in choosing courses best suited to their abilities.

AS MILLIONS of academic aptitude tests and achievement tests are given each year, the wisdom of the guidance programs becomes increasingly obvious.

The aptitude tests used are group tests. They have been checked by the test makers, item by item, so that a high score usually indicates academic ability. Groups who score high do better in college than groups who score low.

But, when considered individually, group test scores are a different matter. Applied to an individual case the test result has a fair chance of being wrong.

Example: A ninth grade boy from an average home scored low on a similar test some years ago. However, it didn't take into account his tremendous drive for education and ability to make the best of every opportunity. He graduated from one of America's finest colleges as president of his class.

Find out whether your child's school has an adequate program. And, if not, how come?

Interesting Senate Duel Looming Up

AN INTERESTING race for a senatorship from Massachusetts is shaping up. One of the most interesting aspects of it is that a Lodge will run for the Republican nomination. Not Henry Cabot Lodge, the former senator and 1960 vice presidential candidate, but his son George Cabot Lodge.

Interest is heightened by the fact that among Democrats suggested to make this race are Edward Kennedy, the President's brother, and Edward McCormack, nephew of the next speaker of the House. There has been rivalry between these two families.

George Cabot Lodge may be hoping, all other considerations aside, that if he is nominated his opponent will be young Kennedy. In 1952 the elder Lodge's career was crippled when John F. Kennedy defeated him for the Senate. Lodge's son would naturally like to avenge that defeat by vanquishing another Kennedy.

If he were nominated and elected, George would be the third Lodge to go to the Senate from Massachusetts. Some years before his father's senatorial service, his grandfather, the elder Henry Cabot Lodge, served for 31 years. He is best remembered for his success in keeping the United States out of the League of Nations.

THE BATTLE lines are not yet clearly drawn. But in Massachusetts in 1962 the prospect is for a senatorial duel between representatives of noted clans.

Water Situation Must Be Remedied

DOWN IN THE southwestern corner of Arizona the mighty Colorado River crosses the international line into Mexico. Before that, the great bulk of its water has been diverted to irrigate Arizona and California farmlands. But under treaty guarantee Mexico's farmlands must get 1.5 million acre-feet a year.

For some time now, however, the water reaching Mexico has been becoming saltier and saltier, polluted by the Gila River. The reason the Gila pollutes the Colorado is a long story. It involves falling water tables and deep irrigation wells from which huge pumps lift brackish water which eventually gets into the river.

THE MEXICAN reaction is not a long story. It is brief, harsh and to the point. Mexicans demand that Uncle Sam cut it out before any more Mexican farm land is ruined. There have been demonstrations. One in Mexicali the other day was participated in by 8,000 shouting, gesticulating Mexicans, threatening among other things to boycott all goods purchased from American cities.

The explosive situation is causing headaches at the State Department. There have been charges on our side of the border that the demonstrations in the Baja California town are Communist-inspired. The Mexicans are declaring that the situation makes a mockery of our Alliance for Progress.

ALTHOUGH THE Mexicans are entitled to receive a flow of reasonably pure water, the rights of farmers north of the border must also be given full consideration. But some equitable arrangement, one perhaps involving a partial desalinization project, ought to be worked out. Communist-led or not, Mexican demonstrations against the United States are bad advertising for our program to help Latin Americans. The best way to halt the demonstrations is to end the situation that caused them.

Married Student Housing a Problem

STATE COLLEGE BOARD action extending use of present facilities for married student housing until 1964 relieved temporarily a serious problem—but "temporarily" must be emphasized.

There are more than 500 married students currently enrolled at Mankato State, and there are no prospects the number will decline. Both men and women are marrying now at a younger age than ever before, and in some instances both of them continue attending college.

The present housing in the Hilltop area consists of barracks-type buildings, which have brought objections from nearby residents because their appearance harms the attractiveness of the area and, probably, also depresses home values. The objections are understandable, but the fact remains that housing for married students at a price they can afford to pay is essential.

A PLAN was offered by a commercial builder last spring to construct attractive apartment buildings which would rent at a reasonable rate. But the contractor explained that it would be necessary for the college, or the state, to take over the buildings to bring the rent within reach of the average married student. The reduction could be accomplished only if there were no real estate taxes. No way was found to make the apartments tax-free.

The extension of use of the Hilltop barracks means there will be about 2½ years in which to find a solution to the problem. If it is to be found, the time to start is already at hand.—Mankato Free Press.

Have not I commanded thee? Be strong and of a good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed; for the Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest. Jos. 1:9.

How Do You Stand, Sir?

False Doctrine Often Repeated

By SEN. BARRY GOLDWATER

LOS ANGELES—The only time I become genuinely discouraged with my fellow man is when I encounter some intelligent, well-informed individual who insists on cherishing and repeating what he must in his secret heart know to be a false definition.

1. "Conservatives are recognized by their stubborn refusal to spend money no matter how worthy the need."

2. "Conservatives would immediately abolish Social Security and believe only in the survival of the fittest."

3. "Conservatives despise all government and would, if they could, give the several states power superior to the national government."

4. "Conservatives are all super-isolationists and would like to build a Chinese wall and withdraw from the world in fortress America."

5. "Conservatives, being themselves non-intellectual, have no respect for intellectual attainment."

This list could become an extensive one. You can make your own additions or variations. It is my purpose in this space to consider here the first widely supported misapprehension regarding the conservative's attitude toward money.

If we were approaching this from the other way, from the standpoint of the most important tenet of the conservative faith, money and economic attitudes would be far down the list. The first and major concern of the true conservative is the perpetuation and safeguarding of freedom.

HOW GOES THE logic of the violent anti-conservative?

The liberals, and I use this term hesitantly and only because they themselves have claimed a position diametrically opposed to conservatism, raise their voices in union demanding federal aid to education. The conservatives oppose federal aid to education; ergo, the conservatives just don't want to spend any money for anything and don't believe in education.

The United States of America in its short history has spent more on universal public education than any other government in history, and until the early 1930s, the U. S. government was always overwhelmingly conservative.

THE GOVERNMENT of the United States, through its land-grant program and public school lands in western states, has given great incentive to higher education, and the men who established these policies were predominantly conservative in their viewpoint.

No nation on earth has a greater system of private universities supported by endowment funds contributed by private individuals. A majority of the donors of these endowments would classify themselves, and would be classified by the liberals, as conservatives.

The conservatives' dominant characteristic is not his refusal to spend money or his opposition to education. How do you stand, sir?

EVERY YEAR IT GETS MORE "SUPER"

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

McCormick Puts Kennedy In an Awkward Position

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — With the election of John McCormack as speaker of the House of Representatives—now a certainty—three branches of the federal government will be in the position which President Kennedy wanted to avoid when he promised Protestant clergymen at Houston there would be complete separation of church and state.

A Catholic, JFK, will head the executive branch of government, a Catholic, Mike Mansfield of Montana, will head the Democratic Party in the Senate; and another Catholic, John McCormack, will be speaker of the House of Representatives.

What the public doesn't entirely realize, of course, is that President Kennedy has nothing to do with selecting McCormack as speaker. McCormack does not go along with him personally, and would much rather have someone else as speaker.

Furthermore, it was the Dixiecrat bloc, led by Rep. Howard Smith of Virginia, which made the deal to support McCormack, even though they were vigorous in opposing a Catholic President.

DESPITE THIS, the President is bound to get part of the credit for having members of one church at the head of three powerful branches of government.

Therefore, he could clarify his position and further fulfill his pledge to Protestant churchmen made at Houston by doing two things:

1. Asking Cong. McCormack to make a public statement, before he assumes the potent office of speaker, that he will carry out the president's pledge of separation of church and state by supporting the Kennedy bill for aid to public schools.

2. By making it clear himself that he, JFK, is still against aid to church schools and colleges and will push the aid to education bill which McCormack was so instrumental in blocking last year.

The latter statement would help allay a lot of doubting Thomases who figure the President is not going to push federal aid for education this year. Their skepticism has been increased by recent press reports that Secretary of HEW Abe Ribicoff doesn't figure the school bill has a chance and will promote college aid to both state, private, and church colleges instead.

A STATEMENT from Cong. McCormack would be even more important. He has been so close to the hierarchy in Boston that Kennedy has jokingly referred to him as "The Archbishop of Boston." It was McCormack who was in constant touch with two key Catholic members of the House Rules Committee, Jim Delaney of New York and Tip O'Neill of Cambridge, Mass., to get them to block aid to education.

The gaunt, gray beetle-browed McCormack knows how to crack the whip over the House of Representatives more effectively than any other solon. He is loved by some, feared by others. But whatever their view, McCormack gets what he wants.

So in fairness to the President and the American people who under the constitution are supposedly "represented" by the House of Representatives, the new speaker should state for the record his determination to carry out the pledge of separation of church and state.

Ex-President Eisenhower has decided to speak out more often to keep the leadership of the Republican Party from being dominated by the right wing. The general is alarmed at the growing influence of the John Birchites.

AFTER TALKING this over with his former secretary of state, Chris Herter, he decided the only way to stop the rush to the right is to speak up in opposition. That is precisely what Eisenhower plans to do. President Kennedy is delighted at Eisenhower's decision to fight the lunatic fringe, and believes his influence will be decisive in preserving a bipartisan foreign policy.

In order to keep Ike fully informed, the President sent Under Secretary of State George McGhee to brief Mr. Eisenhower on the Congo. The visit paid off. A few days later, Eisenhower issued a statement backing the Kennedy policy of opposing a separate Katanga.

American Telephone & Telegraph sent lobbyists around to see nearly every member of Congress even before Congress opened, to pressure them to turn commercial space communications over to AT&T.

The United States is launching a satellite which will send television programs to any part of the world and American Tel & Tel wants to control it—even though it already has the biggest communications monopoly in the U.S.A.

AT&T WAS smart in selecting telephone managers and local people with political influence to do its lobbying. They urged congressmen to approve AT&T's plan for a network of 50 low-orbiting satellites to handle telephone traffic between Europe and America, thereby giving AT&T a tighter monopoly on future communications.

President Kennedy has given quiet orders to Fowler Hamilton, new head of AID, to make sure that Latin-American countries adopt effective financial, tax, and land reforms before they get American aid. They've got to tax themselves as we do. The President said he had picked Hamilton for this job because of his reputation for driving a tough bargain. . . U. S. Ambassador Howard Jones in Indonesia has delivered another letter from President Kennedy, urging sub-rattling President Sukarno not to go to war over New Guinea. It was American pressure that persuaded the Dutch to make the first concession for a peaceful settlement, and now Kennedy asks that Sukarno show good faith by making concessions too.

To Your Good Health

Bouncy Behavior Normal

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Can parents do anything to stop their children from rocking on their hands and knees in bed?"

"We have four children. Our eldest daughter, now six, finally stopped bumping in bed when she was five. The next one, a four-year-old boy, is still going strong, as is our three-year-old daughter. And now the baby, a boy, just eight months old, recently got up on his knees and started rocking."

"When the last one started, I could have cried to think of going through another four or five years of crib rocking. And the ah-ah sound they make.—Mrs. R.H."

Most young children have one sort of trick or another. In this instance it's an odd-on chance that each child has learned it from another. Well, when you have four little ones, there isn't much chance of keeping them all in separate rooms, is there?

Babies (in case you, after having four, don't know it!) have ways of making it known if they are unhappy. They cry, whimper, sometimes moan, or lie in silent, obvious pain.

They don't bounce in bed and cheerily chirp if they are sick.

Your little ones are not unhappy or unhealthy. They are having fun with a trick they happened to acquire.

So here are my suggestions: 1—Don't let their bouncy fun worry you. It's perfectly normal behavior.

2—Maybe your husband can find some way to fasten their cribs down tight, so you don't hear them squeak, rattle or bump.

3—Do you shut the door to the children's room? If not, try it. Maybe you are trying too hard to be good parents, and think you have to hear every little exuberant sound they make.

4—Be glad you have such healthy, energetic kids.

"Dear Sir: My brother works as an embalmer in a funeral home. His hands are in terrible condition. He was told it was 'embalmer's itch.' He gave up his work because of this trouble, and his hands healed. He was unable to find work that he liked and would pay as well, so he went back to embalming. His hands are now very bad again. He cannot wear rubber gloves.—Mrs. B.W."

He is lucky in this sense: By staying away from that work and seeing his hands heal up, he has identified the "contact dermatitis" that happens to bother him. Others have no trouble from the same work. The chemicals he uses bother him, but may not bother others.

My suggestions, if he can't find suitable work elsewhere: One, try using a silicone cream or lotion on his hands; two, wear plastic gloves.

"Dear Mr. Molner: The veins under my tongue are very large. They look like the veins women get on their legs. They are deep blue but do not ache or pain or bother me. It is just that they are not very pretty to look at. I am 62.—Mrs. M. D."

Well, don't look at them. Blood vessels under the tongue are very close to the surface. They may, therefore, become more prominent when one curls the tongue upward.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Will peanut butter and jam hurt anyone with hepatitis and cholesterol in the blood? I could just live off that alone, and bread.—C. M."

It's hard to say off hand. Not getting fruit, fresh green and yellow vegetables, milk and protein foods like lean meat, fish, eggs and cheese will harm you. Peanut butter from freshly ground peanuts may be better under this circumstance than the "processed" product. Think more in terms of a better balanced diet than catering to the whims of your appetite.

"Dear Dr. Molner: What causes my ring and watch to tarnish when I wear them?—H. D."

Certain chemicals in the perspiration react with the metal. Sulfur is one. There isn't much you can do to change your system. Possibly you could apply a thin coat of lacquer to the parts that touch the skin.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I am 47 and stopped menstruating two years ago. Is it possible for me to become pregnant? I have noticed an increase in size of the abdomen and my clothes are beginning to tighten. Am I just imagining?—Mrs. A.F."

Pregnancy a year or more after menstruation has ceased is unlikely although it apparently does occur, albeit very rarely. Have your doctor do a pregnancy test.

Letters to The Editor

Says Winona County
Is Unprogressive

To the Editor:

According to official reports, 56 counties in the state of Minnesota are now operating and participating in community mental health services, and more are in the planning stage. Professional services are now available to 63 percent of the state's population—none from Winona.

The policy here seems to be one of stagnation rather than progress, while other counties throughout the state are going forward. Our taxes here are climbing nevertheless.

Considering the fact that 56 other Minnesota counties can afford to establish mental health clinics for their people, then Winona citizens and taxpayers are certainly entitled to these services also.

Locations of these mental health centers are: Albert Lea, Austin, Bemidji, Crookston, Duluth, Fergus Falls, Grand Rapids, Little Falls, Luverne, Marshall, Minneapolis, Owatonna, Rochester, St. Cloud, Virginia and Willmar. Henry J. Mikrut, 1015 E. Sanborn St.

Supports Freeman's
Agricultural Policies

To the Editor:

The editorial column of the Daily News for Jan. 3 contained a reprint from the Chicago Tribune of an editorial ridiculing Secretary Freeman's effort to give the American farmer some favorable publicity. Now the reactionary views of the Chicago Tribune are so well known as to require no comment, but by reprinting the article in your own column it would seem that you give your endorsement to an article so bitter and biased as to appear ludicrous.

Mr. Freeman's effort is, at least a refreshing change from those of his immediate predecessors, which seemed to consist of trying to convince the rest of the country that farmers had been unduly favored over the rest of the population, and that for them (the farmers) to aspire to parity of income with other components of the economy was unjustifiable.

The Tribune asserts that there is hidden cost of foods in the subsidies paid to farmers. No mention is made of the fact that government subsidies are paid to the publishers of newspapers and magazines, in below cost postal rates; that airlines, shipping lines and many other segments of the economy receive subsidies in direct and indirect form. If the farm subsidy is a waste, so are the others.

As to Mr. Freeman's qualifications as a farm expert, he was governor of the great agricultural state of Minnesota for a number of years, which should at least put him a few points up on newspaper editors. Furthermore, the farm problem is not an agricultural one, it is an economic problem. Our agricultural problems seem to have been solved too well and too fast.

The "reluctance" of farmers to accept Mr. Freeman's type of farm program was shown by the way they flocked to sign up for the feed grain plan and the wheat plan. There is no doubt that we are still a long way from a solution for the farm problem, but we appear much closer to it than we were a few years back.

Designers Set Patterns With Eye on Men

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Men like

This is what more than 200 fashion writers concluded Sunday after the New York Couture Group intensely probed the subject, "What do men like?"

The lesson was presented in the form of the international silk show with some shapely, sleeved teachers modeling silky women's apparel with man appeal.

The study was thorough. It began with wild, woolly and sleek linen-looking coats and suits. It continued with costumes for sports, beach, daytime, cocktail, evening and, indeed, through the night. All was spun courtesy of the silkworm.

"Men like ruffles and full skirts," the commentator announced. Girls flounced onto the runway in crinkly silk crepes that rustled and rippled.

"Men like sheer dresses with long, tight sleeves," the voice declared authoritatively. Exotic, black-eyed ladies appeared in nude black chiffon that covered up everything, and yet didn't.

"Men like ladies to be provocative." As if they didn't already know this, fashion writers dutifully scribbled the idea, also taking note of a slinky, black silk shanting at-home costume, very bare at the top.

They also made note of a thought-provoking three-piece pool-sifter suit by Mr. Gee. The hooded green and white silk print jacket covered the little girl all the way to her brief, flared skirt. When it slipped off, it left her barely covered at all.

"Men love the childish touch," To illustrate this, models too shapely to be children minced forth in dainty silk print dresses with smocked yokes and self belts.

"Men are attracted to long, sleeky black. They can't resist the exotic look, either," said the lady. She pointed out that this effect was best achieved with lightly fitted Oriental or Indian printed silk sheaths.

"Men are enchanted by one-shoulder dresses, happily created from clouds of chiffon with giant flowers on it. They are doubly so with dresses lacking shoulders altogether."

But do men, especially the short ones, like those tall, tall, silk turbans that wrap up to at least a foot and a half high? Nobody asked or answered this question, but these in brilliant hues topped the models' daytime costumes.

But men do like curves. No students in the classroom argued this point. Men will get plenty of these along with all the other things he likes about women's dress for spring.

Egyptian Girl Finds Old Gold Coins in Ditch

CAIRO (AP) — A schoolgirl playing in a ditch found a jar containing 288 gold coins dating back 10 centuries, and archeologists speculated it may be part of the treasure of a caliph who ruled Egypt in the 10th century A.D.

The girl, Alda Mohammed, 9, said she found the gold while playing hide and seek with her 7-year-old brother.

The director of the Islamic Excavations Department, Dr. Gamal Uddin Mehrez, ordered the site guarded. He said there was a possibility the treasure of Caliph Al Moezz, who conquered Egypt 10 centuries ago, might be discovered.

Alert Out for Bad Check Passer
SPRINGFIELD, Minn. (AP)—A statewide alert was out Saturday for a bad check passer, operating in this southern Minnesota area since early December.

Louis Adams, Brown County sheriff, said the checks in all cases have been made out to a Larry Christianson, purporting to live in rural Gibbon, and are represented as payments for farm labor.

Sheriff Adams said investigation showed there is no such man living in the Gibbon territory. The checks, usually drawn for $35 or $40, have been signed by Earl W. Nelson, also established as spurious, the sheriff said.

Since Dec. 2, reports of such checks being cashed have come from Faribault, Madelia, St. James, New Ulm, Jackson, Le Sueur, Mankato, Lamberton and Springfield. They were usually passed at liquor stores, Adams said.

Chief's trick: After taking baked potatoes from the oven, roll them gently to loosen the skin from the pulp. Be sure to protect your hand with a kitchen "mitt."

Red poinsettias decorated the church for the ceremony performed by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Harold J. Dittman. Mrs. Joseph Orlovski was organist and Charles Von Wald, Eyota, Minn., uncle of the bride, sang "O Holy Night," "Dear Lord Accept Our Hearts This Day" and "Ave Maria," the latter while the bride placed a bouquet of roses at the Blessed Virgin's altar.

CHANTILLY lace covered the upper bodice of the bride's princess style long sleeved gown and formed a scalloped neckline. Her bridal train consisted of two long panels of lace which extended from the dropped-back neckline.

Her veil was held by a rhinestone tiara edged in lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses centered with a white orchid.

Miss Ramona Johnson, Hastings, Minn., was maid of honor and Miss Connie Hagen, cousin of the bride, Manhattan Beach, Calif., was bridesmaid. Best man was William Thomas, Valley City, N. D., and groomsmen were Ben M. McGee, Torrance, brother of the bridegroom, Hib Hill, Monticello, Minn., and Richard Von Wald Jr., Chatfield, Minn., uncle of the bride, ushered.

PAULA VON WALD, cousin of the bride and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Von Wald, Eyota, Minn., was flower girl and Jay Boyd, cousin of the bride and son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Boyd, Redfield, S. D., was ring bearer.

The maid of honor and bridesmaid wore street-length sheaths of holiday red velvet with red and silver net overskirts. Their matching hats were of red and silver net held by a red velvet bow.

The flower girl's dress was fashioned similar to those of the bridesmaids. Her headdress was made of a circle of red and silver net falling to her shoulders and held by a red bow. The attendants carried red and white carnations and the flower girl carried a basket of red and white rose petals.

THE BRIDE'S mother wore a sea green velvet dress with matching accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a rose colored silk crepe dress with navy accessories.

A dinner in the Cathedral 7th Street club room followed the ceremony. Inez McCabe Designs Gown For Wedding

Miss Inez Veronika McCabe fashioned the Chantilly lace and bridal gown she wore for her marriage to Dan L. McGee, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. McGee, Torrance, Calif., Dec. 27 at the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James William McCabe, 518 Kansas St.

Red poinsettias decorated the church for the ceremony performed by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Harold J. Dittman. Mrs. Joseph Orlovski was organist and Charles Von Wald, Eyota, Minn., uncle of the bride, sang "O Holy Night," "Dear Lord Accept Our Hearts This Day" and "Ave Maria," the latter while the bride placed a bouquet of roses at the Blessed Virgin's altar.

CHANTILLY lace covered the upper bodice of the bride's princess style long sleeved gown and formed a scalloped neckline. Her bridal train consisted of two long panels of lace which extended from the dropped-back neckline.

Her veil was held by a rhinestone tiara edged in lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses centered with a white orchid.

Miss Ramona Johnson, Hastings, Minn., was maid of honor and Miss Connie Hagen, cousin of the bride, Manhattan Beach, Calif., was bridesmaid. Best man was William Thomas, Valley City, N. D., and groomsmen were Ben M. McGee, Torrance, brother of the bridegroom, Hib Hill, Monticello, Minn., and Richard Von Wald Jr., Chatfield, Minn., uncle of the bride, ushered.

PAULA VON WALD, cousin of the bride and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Von Wald, Eyota, Minn., was flower girl and Jay Boyd, cousin of the bride and son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Boyd, Redfield, S. D., was ring bearer.

The maid of honor and bridesmaid wore street-length sheaths of holiday red velvet with red and silver net overskirts. Their matching hats were of red and silver net held by a red velvet bow.

The flower girl's dress was fashioned similar to those of the bridesmaids. Her headdress was made of a circle of red and silver net falling to her shoulders and held by a red bow. The attendants carried red and white carnations and the flower girl carried a basket of red and white rose petals.

THE BRIDE'S mother wore a sea green velvet dress with matching accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a rose colored silk crepe dress with navy accessories.

Let's Get Growing

Holiday Plants

This is the time of the year when the beautiful flowering plants that were so gay and colorful during the Christmas season begin to lose their freshness and will soon assume a faded appearance. Consequently, as in previous years some inquiries have been received asking how they can be handled so they will bloom again.

There is no reason why beautiful holiday plants should be discarded as soon as their blooming has ended, especially, if they were received as gifts with sentimental ties attached to them. Many can be carried over to bloom again in another season, if a little time and trouble is taken to give them the necessary care to prolong their life.

First, let us take up the poinsettia, the traditional Christmas plant and perhaps the most popular of all. If given the proper care, the colorful bracts may last until the end of January, or longer. They do best in warm temperatures under moist conditions and will even endure considerable sunlight.

AFTER FLOWERING, the plant should be dried off gradually and rested in a warm place such as a somewhat darkened corner of a basement, with a light occasional watering until spring. On the arrival of warm weather the pot can be buried to the rim in a sheltered place in the garden, in the border, or among the shrubs. At this time the stem of the plant can be cut back to about six inches. It should make new growth during the summer, if given some fertilization and kept moist. Before frost occurs in the fall, it can be taken indoors where it should bloom again, if given suitable care.

The azalea requires an acid soil and the amount present when the plant was received will tend to disappear. This can be replaced by giving it an application of a teaspoonful of aluminum sulphate. Also, a feeding of a liquid plant food will be beneficial.

When the plant has completed its flowering, keep it in a warm lighted place and well-watered while new growth is forming. After the weather has become warm and settled in the spring, the pot can be buried to the rim outdoors as indicated above for the poinsettia, and handled the same way in the fall.

THE CYCLAMEN is, perhaps, the hardest of the holiday plants to keep growing in the home, but one of the most beautiful. Its blooming can be prolonged by keeping it in a cool, well-lighted room during the day, but not in direct sunlight, and in a cool room, or the basement, at night. After blooming has ended, the watering can be reduced gradually, as this plant is one that should go through a rest period. A light watering every two weeks is sufficient.

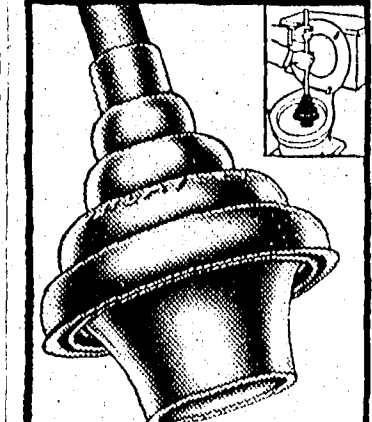

It can be kept in a cool dry basement until spring when it can be handled as outlined above. When taken into the house in the late summer, the cyclamen can be repotted in fresh soil. In doing this, the crown of the tuber should be above the level of the soil in the pot.

AND NOW, we come to the beautiful gloxinia. While in bloom it should be kept in a light place, but not in direct sunlight. The soil should be kept moist, but over-watering should be avoided.

When through blooming, the watering can be discontinued and the pot placed in the basement for about two months to rest the plant. As soon as the new growth starts, it should be repotted. The same pot, or one slightly larger, can be used, but new soil should be used. An application of a liquid plant food at this time will be beneficial. Then the pot can be placed in a warm bright room and, if conditions have been suitable, it should continue to grow and flower.

Are You Handy? No? Some Tips

By AP NEWSFEATURES

Home handymen like to pass along bits of information they have picked up over the years, and which might be helpful to others.

Here are some tips that may be of assistance to you around the house and in the workshop:
When trying to hammer a small nail or brad in a corner where space is at a premium, hold the nail or brad with a pair of ordinary tweezers.
When using pliers or a wrench on a surface which might be damaged by the metal, wrap adhesive tape around the jaws of the tool.
When you have to scrape off old, dry glue that threatens to be stubborn, soak the old glue with household vinegar to soften it.
When you want to identify a brush used for a particular type

So You Got Pipe Trouble? Read a Book

Did you know that just by flushing hot water down your kitchen and bathroom drains each day you can usually prevent clogging?

There are many simple steps a person can take to avoid plumbing trouble throughout the house. Barring age, a good plumbing system installed by a competent plumber contractor will give trouble only when the householder forgets, or is unaware, that the system should get the same consideration and simple maintenance he gives his automobile.

An authoritative booklet titled "Plumbing Care and Repair" is available for 10 cents. Write to the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, 35 E. Wacker Dr., Chicago 1.

The booklet covers 20 categories—everything from drains, fittings and water closets to thawing and preventing frozen pipes, noises in the plumbing system and draining the plumbing in a vacant house.

A few suggestions included:

• Use a "plumber's friend," a plunger, to clear simple clogged drain lines. And periodically check the U-trap below sinks and lavatories for any potentially clogging materials.

• If the water closet tank fills too much or not enough, try bending the rod attached to the metal tank float upward or downward.

• An uneven shower spray can probably be remedied by removing the face of the shower head, cleaning its back surface and freeing the holes with a coarse needle.

• The best way to thaw frozen pipes is to wrap heavy cloths soaked in hot water around the pipes.

In 1890 a St. Louis doctor concocted a food for invalids and infants. It was peanut butter.

Design Solves Corner Lot Problem

By JULES LOH

About a year ago architect Lester Cohen designed a house specifically for a narrow lot, solving the problem of many House of the Week readers who were literally being squeezed out of most of today's home designs.

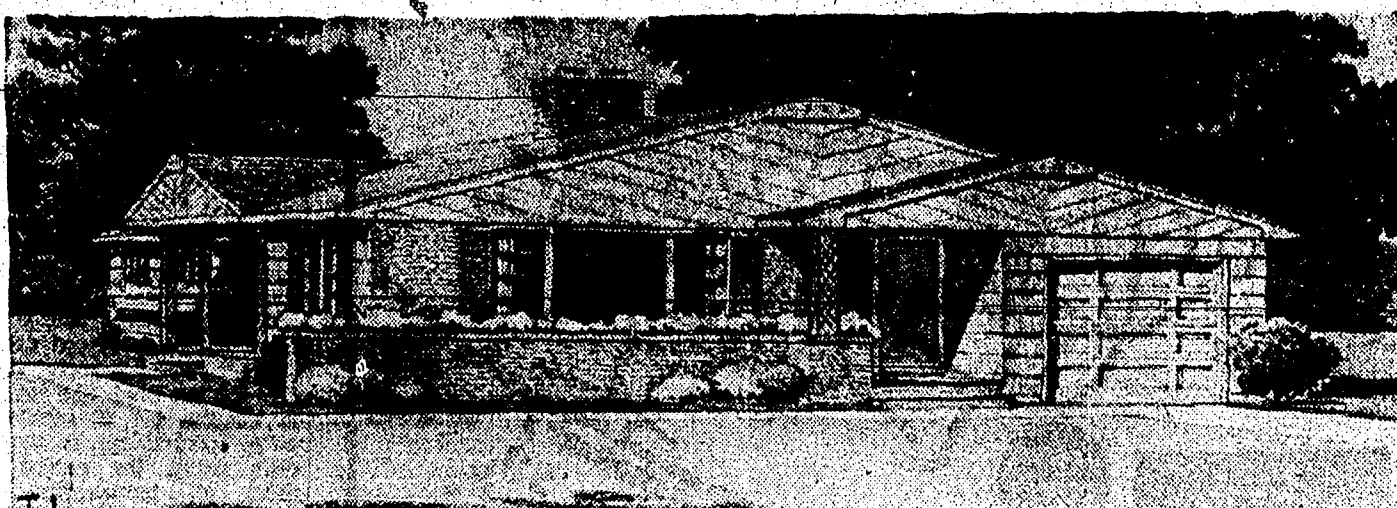

"Since then," said Cohen, "I've been getting requests from persons who own corner lots, especially narrow corner lots. Their problem is more complicated — but not insoluble."

COHEN'S NEWEST design, House of the Week J-1, solves it effectively, attractively and economically. It is a three (or four) bedroom ranch with some optional features so the owner can accommodate it to his own needs. The house is only 37 feet wide including the garage, which means it could fit on a 50-foot lot in many areas. Its depth is 63 feet, and it contains a modest 1,522 square feet of living space not counting the basement or garage.

On a corner lot, both exposed sides present an equally pleasing appearance, so that actually the front door could be placed on either side.

ON THE other hand, if the house were placed on a mid-block narrow lot it retains an area for outdoor living—a feature often sacrificed in "elongated" houses. All this merely accommodates the house to the problem lot; there's plenty to recommend this house, moreover, no matter what lot it's built on.

Its floor plan is exceptionally well ordered for a medium-sized house, with the sleeping area

DOUBLY ATTRACTIVE . . . Designed especially for a corner lot, this house presents a pleasing view from both exposed sides. The house is only 37 feet wide and is equally suited for a narrow placed well away from the house-keeping and entertaining areas, convenient bathroom facilities, direct entry from the garage to the kitchen, efficient use of floor space, plus a number of luxury touches seldom found in homes this size.

IF THE main entry were placed on the narrow side of this house, next to the garage, the room adjoining the dining room could be used as a den or, in a pinch, a fourth bedroom.

An optional door between it and bedroom No. 3 also would convert it into a two-room apartment for in-laws. As a den, library, music room or other relaxing spot, however, it is ideal.

A door leads to the flagstone porch, and windows on both sides provide plenty of sunlight.

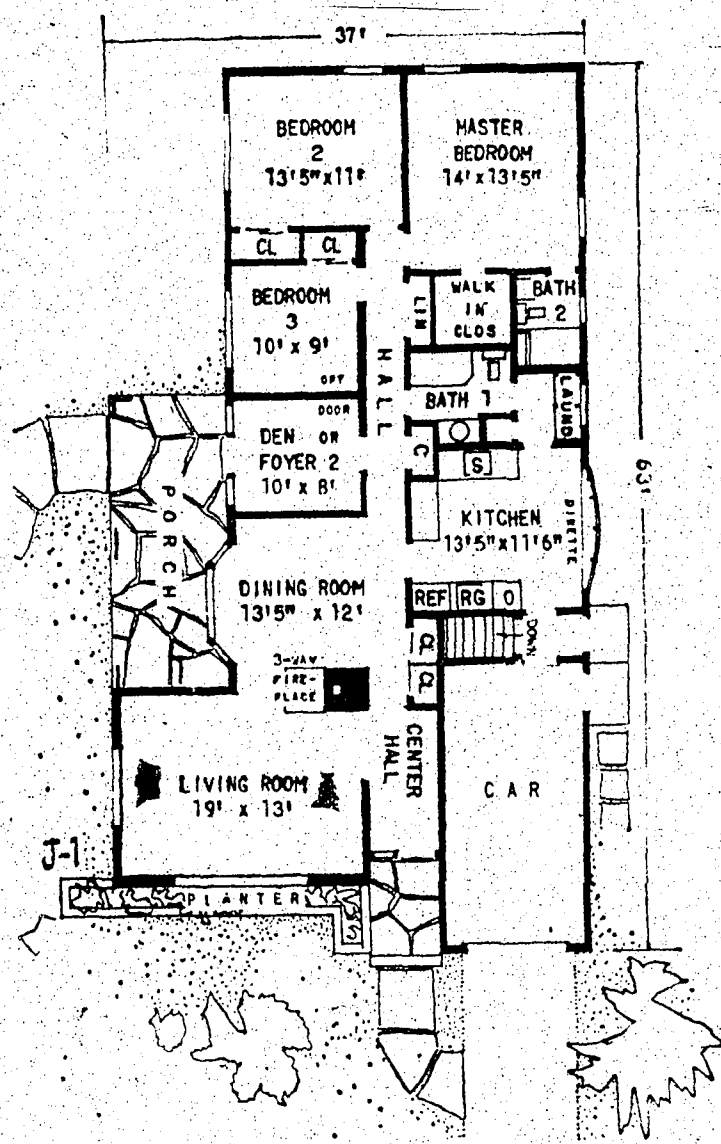

If the main entry were placed on the long side, this den would become the main foyer—and a spacious one, at 10 feet by 8 feet.

AN EYE-CATCHING three-way fireplace divides the living and dining rooms, complementing the broad window overlooking the planter on the front wall of the living room. The dining room also has a dramatic bay window, looking out over the porch and side yard.

A pleasant bow window also enhances the kitchen and provides an obvious spot for the breakfast table, out of the way of the work area.

There is abundant counter space in the kitchen, and no less than 32 linear feet of hanging and counter cabinets. Laundry facilities are located unobtrusively near the kitchen and adjacent to the bedroom wing and the main bathroom; and the supply cabinet is extra large.

A SECOND entrance to the main bathroom makes it do the work of two, serving both the kitchen and the bedrooms. The master bedroom, of course, has its own bath with stall shower.

Note that every bit of the plumbing in this house—kitchen, laundry and both bathrooms—is grouped in this location, a real money-saving feature.

Large and well-placed closets are another feature of this house. There are two closets near the center hall, another opposite the den, a linen closet convenient to all the bedrooms and a large walk-in closet in the master bedroom.

Frogs, toads, newts and salamanders are the most common amphibians. They represent an intermediate stage of development between fishes and reptiles.

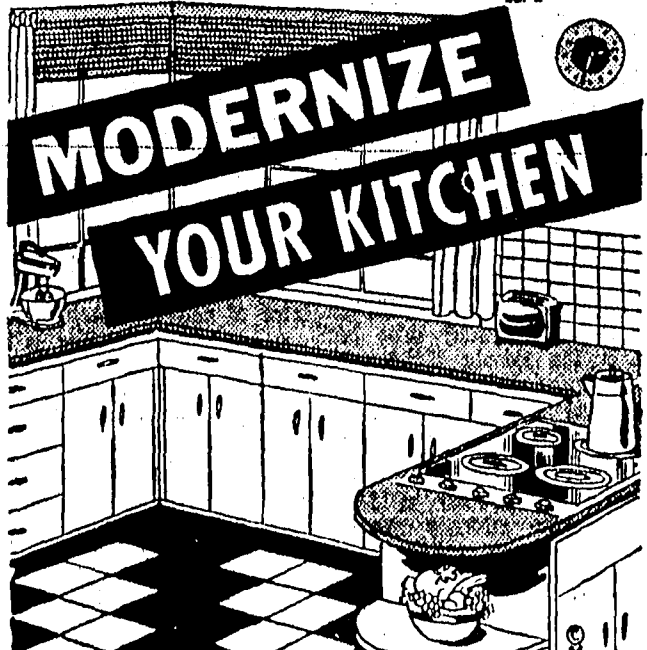

J-1 Statistics

A three bedroom ranch with den which could serve as fourth bedroom. Plan provides for optional location of main entrance since house was designed for corner lot.

Dimensions are 37 feet wide by 63 feet deep containing 1,522 square feet of living area not counting garage, porch or basement.

Winona Metal Building; Job Costs $39,000

Winona Metal Products Co. has begun construction of a new office and storage building adjacent to its plant at 1000 W. 5th St.

A construction permit for the 51-by-101-foot building estimated to cost $39,404 was issued by the city engineer's office last week and pouring of footings began Friday.

Leon Inman is the contractor.

THE BUILDING will be erected north of the present plant and extend east and west on the plant site. Offices now in the existing plant building will be moved to the new structure to afford more office and storage space.

It will be of concrete block construction and one story.

This permit was one of four building permits with a total valuation of $96,666 drawn during the first week of the new year.

The largest was one for a $55,262 remodeling and renovation project at Winona State College.

Last week's permits pushed the city a month ahead of last year's building pace. In 1961 no permits were issued until the second week in January.

WEIS BUILDERS, Inc., Rochester, was awarded the contract for the Winona State job.

Exterior masonry repairs will be done at Somsen Hall, the student center — the Snog — will be renovated, a new front entrance stairway will be constructed at the old Phelps School building and exterior woodwork painted and caulking done at Phelps.

H. M. Brenden, 229 W. Broadway, was issued a permit for new siding for his house. The contractor is Jim Mohan. Cost was estimated at $1,200.

Eugene Meyer, 176 Mechanic St., received a permit for interior remodeling costing $800.

much weight.

When the shelves may be adjusted at some later date, there are a number of installations that can be used. Some persons prefer these methods even for permanent use.

One procedure is to insert short dowels into drilled holes in the uprights and place the shelves on the dowels. Another is to use special metal pins in drilled holes.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

QUESTION: I will be building a series of shelves soon. This is my first do-it-yourself project. I note that shelves are held up in different ways. Which way should I use?

ANSWER: The purpose of the shelves and the amount of work you want to put into the job determines how the shelves should be supported.

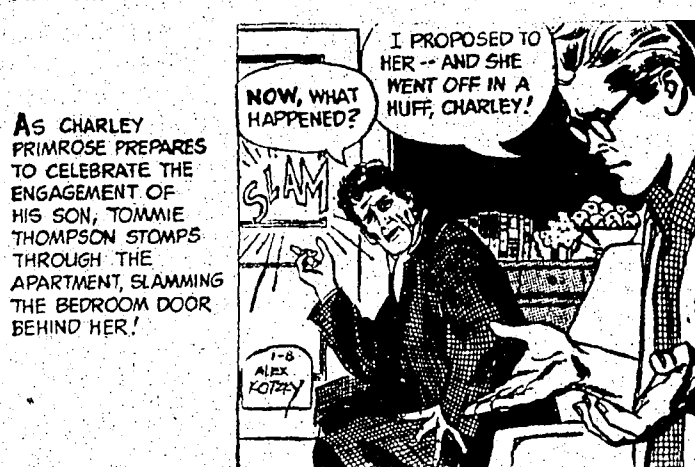

For a permanent installation, where the shelves always will stay in the same place, you can merely butt the joints and join them with nails or screws plus wood glue.

Or you can place the shelves on cleats or blocks of wood.

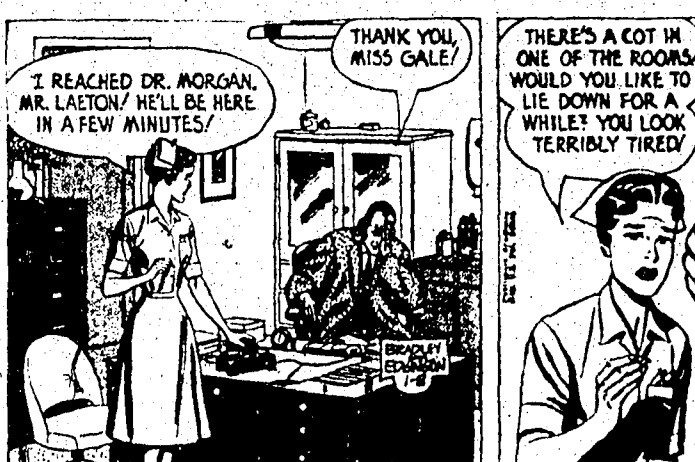

Or you can cut grooves or dadoes in the uprights and insert the ends of the shelves into them, reinforcing with screws or nails and glue if desired.

The first method, butting, is recommended only where the shelves will not be asked to carry too

Consumer Credit Hike Encouraging

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—First they gave all the credit to Santa Claus. Now the nation's merchants are hopeful—even confident—that the big jump in retail sales of late means that the consumers have had another change of heart, a change toward spending instead of saving.

Bearing this out, they say, is a large hike in outstanding consumer credit. They expect the new consumer psychology to carry on-time buying still higher this year.

Sen. Bridges' Wife to Enter Senate Race

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cheered on by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., Doloris Bridges is preparing to bid in New Hampshire to become the third woman member of the Senate.

The widow of Sen. Styles Bridges, chairman of the Republican Policy Committee and long a power in the Senate, has indicated to friends she will get into a topsy-turvy contest for the GOP nomination to fill out the four remaining years of his term.

This seems likely to pit the attractive Mrs. Bridges against Sen. Maurice J. Murphy Jr., appointed by GOP Gov. Wesley Powell to fill the vacancy until the November election. Several other Republicans might enter the race.

If Mrs. Bridges should win the nomination and election in a state that ordinarily has Republican majorities, she would take her place in the Senate along with Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, and Sen. Maurice Neuberger, D-Ore., who won election to succeed her late husband.

Powell's appointment of Murphy, 34, state attorney general and the governor's political foe, provoked a protest from Goldwater, a spokesman for Republican conservatives and chairman of the party's senatorial campaign committee, criticized Powell's action in a letter to Manchester, N.H., publisher William Loeb.

The Arizona senator said he had no question that Murphy was capable and of the highest character "but certainly we expected, as a matter of loyalty and respect, that Doloris Bridges would receive this appointment."

Powerful Radar Set Interrupts South Pole Hi-Fi

By FRANK CAREY

Associated Press Science Writer

SOUTH POLE STATION (AP)—The hi-fi record player stopped dead in the midst of a brilliant passage of Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana."

"What's wrong—tube trouble?" asked a newly arrived newsman. "No," replied a young scientist, "the C3 just fired. She fires every 15 minutes for 15 seconds, and we've fixed things so that when she's firing, the record player shuts off temporarily—so we won't hear the state."

The C3 turns out to be a powerful radar set which silently shoots pulses of invisible light 250 miles high into the frigid atmosphere enveloping this lonely station at the bottom of the world.

It turns out, too, that C3 is playing a key role in a worldwide network designed to forecast and circumvent atmospheric conditions that can interrupt commercial and military radio communications.

The "round the clock" firing of the C3 is only one example of the potentially important scientific work going on in a small, shack-like, orange-colored building buried under eight feet of snow atop the antarctic icecap.

Importance of the pole station as a scientific outpost is that it and other antarctic stations offer 50-yard-line seats for monitoring certain of nature's antics.

Researchers working at instruments and charts may help fill in gaps in man's knowledge of the weather, climate, earthquakes, radio communications, survival in polar areas—and even the hazards of space travel.

Meteorologists like chief scientist Ben Harlin of Louisville, Ky., and Edward Flowers of Washington, D.C., check four times a day on a complex of instruments spread on the snow cover atop the station. They work in temperatures which ranged down to 102 degrees below zero during the recent polar winter and even now, in early summer, stand at about minus 47.

René O. Ramsauer and Edward J. Oliver, both of the Army's Cold Regions Research Laboratory at Hanover, N.H., spend hours each day in a 90-foot deep snow mine, gathering data that could lead to "snow mine" living in polar regions—and possibly even food storage caches for civil defense purposes.

The work with the C3 radar is directed by James Burnham of the National Bureau of Standards' Boulder, Colo. laboratories.

The job of this big instrument is to measure the height and density of the ionosphere, the capricious blanket of electrified air that encircles the planet at heights between 60 and 375 miles.

Normally, the ionosphere serves as a reflector of radio waves broadcast from the earth—thus allowing long distance communications. It is subject to changes in height and other characteristics which often bedevil communications, sometimes causing complete blackouts.

By computing the time for a roundtrip of certain waves, scientists can compute the height of the invisible halo. By using pulses of varying frequency they can tell which frequencies are best to use for communications purposes under current density conditions of the ionosphere.

The C3 is only one of 100 such radar sky-probes in use around the world—contributing to a system that makes possible the prediction of radio communications conditions as much as three months in advance.

Redmen, Cobblers To Tangle Tonight

The big question at St. Mary's College this morning was whether Tom Hall's performance Saturday night earned him a starting position for tonight's MIAC game against Concordia at Moorhead.

After the Redmen had fallen behind Gustavus Adolphus at Terrace Heights Saturday, Hall almost single-handedly pulled the game out of the fire. He scored 14 points in the second half alone, 10 coming in a span of nine minutes to tie the count 66-66.

EVERY BASKET came on a left-handed driving shot that sometimes made him look more like a member of a gymnastics team than a basketball player.

In losses thus far this season some of the blame could be attributed to lack of scoring from one forward spot.

With Hall in the lineup this seems to be remedied, although Denny Burgman has turned in top jobs as a rebounder.

As Macalester, however, Burgman didn't score a point as he fouled out of the contest early and in the Gustavus clash he could count just four.

The question of a switch in the starting lineup now is left to Coach

Ken Willgen and he hasn't been prone to make a change based on one game.

ONE THING is certain, no matter whom he starts, he is going to have good depth. Marty Lillig, since he was benched in favor of Al Williams, has been able to provide a scoring punch when inserted into the lineup.

Saturday Lillig tallied nine points in the 12 minutes he played and his long jump shot with less than a minute to play put the game on ice for the Redmen.

The starting lineup tonight will have Mike Stallings and either Hall or Burgman at the forwards, Tom Ruddy at center and Williams and Bob Jansen at guards.

CONCORDIA has been slumping of late. After getting off to a winning start the quint from Moorhead has lost its last three conference starts for a MIAC record of 2-3.

In its last outing Concordia dropped an 80-65 decision to Augsburg, previously beaten by St. Mary's 60-54.

St. Mary's stands 2-2 in the league race.

After tonight's game the Redmen come home to take on St. Thomas at Terrace Heights Saturday night.

Barnett Hits 37 As Cleveland Nears ABL Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's pretty obvious now why the Cleveland Pipers of the American Basketball League wanted Dick Barnett badly enough to go to court and risk expensive legal fees to keep his services.

Since Barnett was allowed to remain the property of the Pipers by the Syracuse team of the National Basketball Association, for whom he played the last two years, Cleveland has come on to nudge within a half game of the league's Eastern Division lead.

Barnett scored 37 points Sunday as the Pipers defeated San Francisco 140-107. They trail the division-leading Pittsburgh Rens by a half game.

In the other league contest Sunday Kansas City defeated the New York Tapers 100-90. Larry Staverman, with 23 points, and Bill Bridges, with 22, paced Kansas City, which extended its lead in the Western Division to 4 1/2 games over second place Los Angeles.

BOWLING ENTRY DEADLINE SUNDAY

Entries for the Winona Women's City Bowling Tournament are coming in at a good pace, Marge Pablocki, secretary of the Winona Women's Bowling Association, reported Monday.

Deadline for entries is Sunday, Jan. 14.

The handicap tournament, which includes team, doubles and singles competition, opens Jan. 27 at Hal-Rod Lanes.

Handicaps are based on averages as of Jan. 1.

PURDUE WIN FLUKE?

Gophers vs. Hoosiers Tonight Tells Story

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota's basketball Gophers find out tonight — maybe — whether they're that good, whether Purdue was that bad or whether the Boilermakers just went into a state of shock when they failed to hit a field goal for six minutes.

The Gophers take on the Indiana Hoosiers, a team that seems to know only one plan—run and shoot.

Minnesota goes into the game still basking in the glare of the first stunning upset of the fresh Big Ten season, an 81-67 rout of Purdue and their vaunted Terry Dischinger.

Minnesota hopped off to leads of 5-0, 11-1 and 18-2 before Purdue hit its first field goal after 6:10 had elapsed. The Boilermakers made overtures at times after that, but superior Minnesota muscle under the boards made it pretty much no contest on the scoreboard.

Eric Magdanz hit a personal scoring high with 27 points. Dischinger had 31 for Purdue.

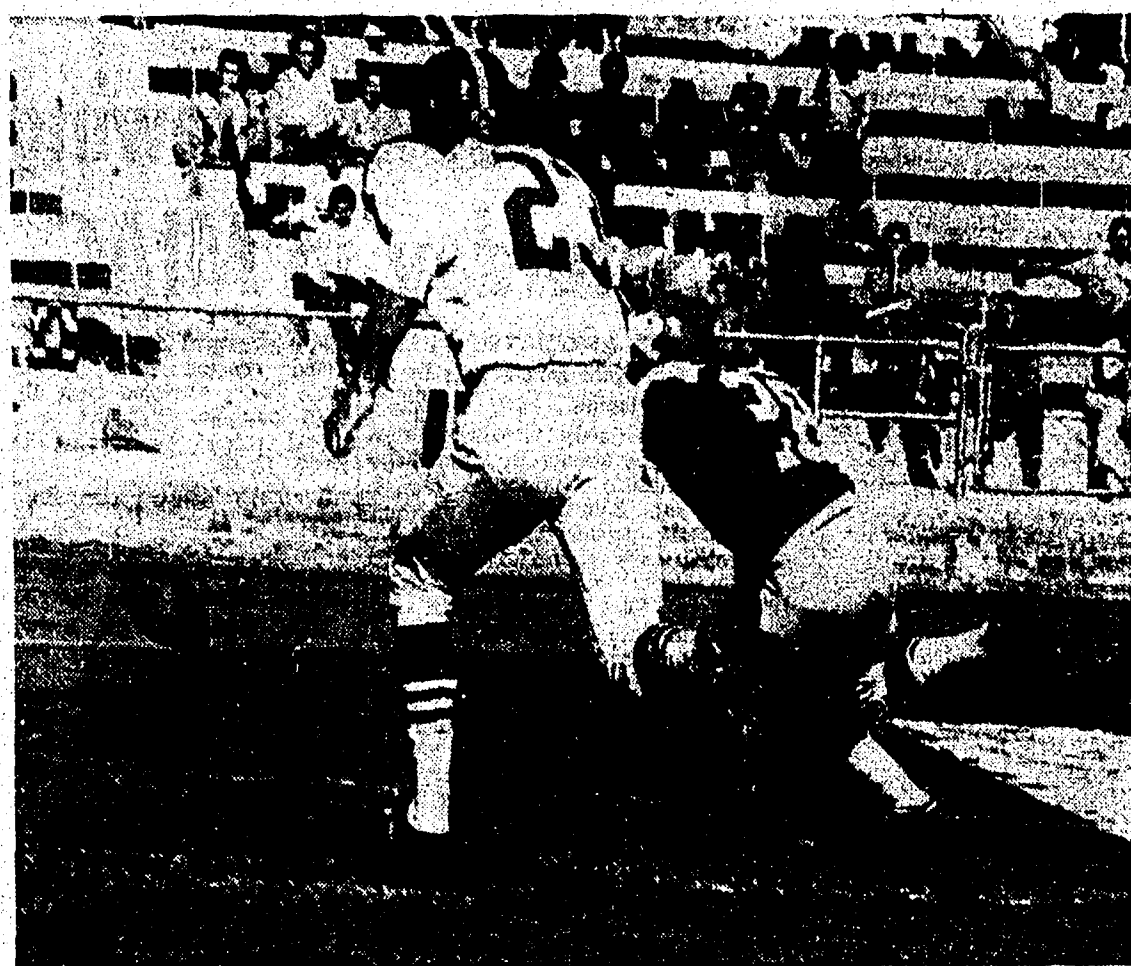

Indiana, 76-71 victor over Michigan State in the Hoosiers' first outing, brings a 6-4 overall record into the game. Its hotshot is guard Jimmy Ray who is averaging 25 points a game, triggering them from any range.

Guard Bob Bateman furnished 15 points and center Tom McGrann 14 in the victory over Purdue. Bateman's production is particularly pleasing to the Gophers.

Coach John Kundla said he would employ the same lineup—Bateman and Don Linehan at guards, McGrann, Magdanz and Ray Cronk on the front line.

In other Big Ten games tonight, Illinois is at Purdue, Northwestern at Iowa and Wisconsin at Michigan State.

In other games Saturday, Ohio State breezed to an 85-62 victory over Northwestern, Illinois dumped Michigan 91-71 and Wisconsin stunned Iowa, 91-70.

Penn State's Hall Pitches West to 33-19 Bowl Victory

By JACK CLARY

Associated Press Sports Writer

It's not very often that the professional football scouts miss a good prospect, but maybe they would do well today to re-examine the case of Galen Hall.

Hall, a balding senior at Penn State, stands only 5-feet-9 and weighs 180. Standing behind a mountainous pro line, or facing incoming pro linemen poses a problem for a man of his dimension, so no one in either the American or National Football League drafted him.

Size meant nothing Sunday when Hall passed for three touchdowns in leading a group of the NFL's Western Conference draftees to a 33-19 victory over some chosen by the Eastern Conference. He did so, as sort of an invited guest, having been chosen on the basis of his outstanding play at Penn State and his ability to mangle successfully with players of pro caliber.

The pros made no mistakes in picking Kansas' John Hadl or Ohio State's All-America fullback Bob Ferguson. Hadl passed for his team's only touchdown as a group of West All-Stars played a team of East All-Stars to a 7-7 tie in Honolulu. Ferguson's spectacular 72-yard run got the East's only score.

The AFL's Western Division stars won that loop's first Pro Bowl, trouncing the Eastern Division 47-27 behind the passing of quarterback Cotton Davidson of the Dallas Cowboys, and the running of Abner Haynes, his Texan teammate.

Hall, who led Penn State to a Gator Bowl victory over Georgia Tech, passed 44 yards to Bobby Lee Thompson of Arizona, 16 to Steve Stonebraker of Detroit and 4 to Boston U's Karl Kaimler. He completed 28 of 49 passes for 338 yards, more than the East was able to gain over-all.

SHOWDOWN STAGE

Hawkins, Rodgers Tied in LA Lead

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The 36th chapter of the Los Angeles Open reached the showdown stage today with a wide open struggle in prospect for the winning share of the $45,000 purse.

Three previously unheralded professional golfers dominated the picture for the final 18 holes and the $7,500 top money.

They were Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., and cocky young Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif. — deadlocked for the lead with 54-hole scores of 206 — and hefty Lionel Hebert, former national PGA champion and brother of Jay, another ex-PGA king. Lionel was one stroke back of the co-leaders.

Alone at 208 was formidable Bob Goaly, winner of the 1961 Los Angeles Open and the leader this year through the first two rounds.

Further back and virtually out of the winner's circle were such name players as U.S. Open champion Gene Littler (212), and the big money winners in golf last year, Arnold Palmer (214) and Gary Player (217).

Still finding the professional tournament jungle a rough place was 21-year-old Jack Nicklaus, who relinquished his national amateur crown for a crack at the play-for-money ranks.

Nicklaus, while not discouraged, made the final 18 holes with scores of 74-70-72-216. It took 218 to qualify for today's final round.

Tournament officials announced there would be a sudden death playoff in the event of a tie.

The deadlock at the top today came as no great surprise.

Goaly led by only one stroke setting forth Sunday over the sun-baked, 7,000-yard, par 36-35-71 Rancho Municipal Golf Club course.

Hawkins, Rodgers and Hebert each shot 68s while Goaly fell back with a 73.

Hawkins is 38, well seasoned. Rodgers is 23, a rookie in the pro brigade.

Two records fell. The crowd, estimated at 22,050, was the largest in the history of the tournament. The weather—86 degrees—was officially the hottest Jan. 7 in Los Angeles' annals.

Mill City Jumper Wins Veterans Class

SLINGER, Wis. (AP)—Sig Malvig of the Chicago Norge team jumped 140 feet to take Class A honors Sunday in the Switzerland Ski Club's first tournament. Malvig was adjudged most graceful rider.

Ed Brisson of Minneapolis topped the veterans' class and Thorleif Sundt also of Chicago Norge, took the Class B laurels.

HORNING SPEAKER

ALL WAUKEE (AP)—Paul Horning of the Green Bay Packers, named most valuable player in the National Football League, is scheduled to address the Wisconsin Catholic Action convention here Feb. 2-4.

on quarterback Roman Gabriel of the East.

Hadl's TD pass came off a fake field goal by UCLA's Bobby Smith, and three plays later Ferguson ran for the East's score. Lance Alworth, like Hadl heading for San Diego of the AFL, was chosen the game's most valuable back.

Davidson came off the bench and threw three touchdown passes for coach Sid Gillman's All-Stars, and Haynes ran for two more, one for 66 yards. George Blanda threw a pair of TD passes for the East stars, and New York's Al Dorow added another.

Lance Carroll registered the first "hat-trick" of his hockey career and a 16-year-old goalie, Gary Kuncie, turned in an outstanding performance to lead the Winona Hornets to victory Sunday.

The Winona team turned back North Mankato 8-4 at Athletic Park, the Hornets second victory in the Southern Minnesota Hockey League.

Austin registered its first triumph, 5-4 over Owatonna.

Carroll, who had never made the three-goal "trick" in high school, did it yesterday in the first two periods.

Kuncie, a "graduate" of the Park Rec Midget League, was moved into the nets when regular shot-stopper Billy Bambenek was unable to get away from his work shift.

Kuncie was credited with 20 stops for the game, nine in the first period when the Hornets held a slim 2-1 lead. He added five in the second and six in the third.

THE GAME was marked by only four penalties but two skaters, Winona's Bob Gerth and N. Mankato's Dick Therens were ejected for fighting in the last period. They earlier had drawn five-minute penalties for the same infraction.

Carroll got both of Winona's first goals, solving with the game only 42 second old.

Jerry Paulson of 'Kato tied the game at 2:2 at 2:25 of the second period but Tom Moody and Carroll shoved in three goals in succession in less than nine minutes. Moody scored from Jerry Bambenek at 10:35 and from Gary Morken at 17:34. Roger Neitzke assisted Carroll at 19:28.

NEITZKE, Wayne Noske and Roger Munson all scored in the third period. Munson for the day also had three assists.

The Hornets are idle Wednesday and invade Owatonna next Sunday. They have one make-up game with Albert Lea to play.

Mill City Jumpers Dominate At Rushford Ski Tournament

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special) — Minneapolis jumpers won three of four championships here Sunday in the Hillcrest-Lions Club ski jumping tournament.

The sanctioned CUSSA tourney was watched by more than 1,000 fans who braved 10-degree weather.

A stiff wind hampered the jumpers, too.

LONGEST LEAP of the day was 112 feet by Dag Helgestad and Mike Hartig registered in the competition following the regular meet. Helgestad won the award on a flip of the coin. Both are from Minneapolis.

Lloyd Severud of Eau Claire, with leaps of 102 feet on both tries, swept the Veterans class. He amassed 140.9 points and was "most graceful" jumper in his class.

Former Olympic skier Sverre Fredheim, jumping unattached, was second.

Junior title went to Mike Hartig, Minneapolis Ski Club, who soared 108 and 110 feet and was also judged most graceful.

CAL BRAGER, Minneapolis, took B Class with two 105-foot jumps. He also won "most graceful." Tom Meis, Eau Claire, was second.

In A Class, Helgestad went 105 feet both times for another victory and "most graceful" honors.

Trophies were presented at ceremonies following the meet.

George Bracker, representing the Central United States Ski Association, praised the Rushford Club for "helping to get skiing reborn in the Association."

DULUTH VS. PIPERS

Showdown Brewing Saturday in MIAC

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Minnesota Duluth gets by St. John's tonight, as expected, there's a dandy showdown brewing in the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference basketball race Saturday night.

UMD, pacing the field at 5-0, could take a perfect mark to Hamline's fieldhouse Saturday where the Bulldogs meet the second-place Pipers (4-1). UMD is going after its second straight MIAC cage crown.

Duluth rallied in the second half Saturday night for a 72-63 victory over St. Thomas to preserve its unbeaten status. With the 'Tommys' trailing only 42-39, Tom Adams hit a jump shot, a drive-in and a free throw without a return to put UMD safely out in front.

Hamline stayed at Duluth's heels with a 67-46 shellacking of winless St. John's (0-4). Bill Nelson hit 22 and Bryan Jensen 21 as the hot Pipers meshed 53 per cent from the field.

Augsburg, tied with St. Thomas and St. Mary's in the third MIAC spot, stopped slumping Concordia 80-65. Lloyd Raymond of the Augies poured in 26 points and stopped the Cobbers' Arlo-Bannings with only three field goals.

In other Saturday action, Belmont swamped Bethel 81-54. St. Cloud coasted over Moorhead State 76-49. Carleton beat Ripon 66-56 and St. Olaf set a new school record by topping Lawrence 101-69.

Tonight's MIAC schedule: St. John's at Duluth, St. Mary's at Concordia, Macalester at Gustavus. In the Northern State Conference, Bemidji is at Moorhead.

Stephens Sees Little Action In Hula Bowl

HONOLULU (AP)—All America quarterback Sandy Stephens of Minnesota said he was disappointed he didn't see more action in Sunday's east-west Hula Bowl football game which ended in a 7-7 tie.

Stephens played only briefly in the third quarter at the quarterback position. He went in once in the fourth period to punt.

"I just didn't have a chance to play," said Stephens, who was coached by Joe Kuharich of Notre Dame. "It was a tight ball game all the way."

"I expected to play more after flying all the way to Hawaii," Stephens said. He allowed, however, he understood why Kuharich, who coached Stephens at North Carolina State last season, had kept him out of the game. Stephens said he was disappointed to miss the game.

Stephens arrived in Honolulu late Wednesday after leading Minnesota to a Rose Bowl victory two days earlier. Stephens and Miller flew here a week ago after the East-West Shrine game in San Francisco.

"They were more familiar with the plays after playing with Kuharich at San Francisco," Stephens said. "So it is understandable they played more than I did."

Stephens said he will "not even think about" signing any professional football contracts until he returns to Minneapolis today. He has received offers from the National and American Football Leagues and the Canadian league.

Stephens said, "All their offers are about the same."

Celtics Down Lakers 118-95; St. Louis Wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

How much of a difference does Elgin Baylor make to the Los Angeles Lakers now that he is on duty with the U.S. Army?

A lot more than does the absence of Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics. This was proven Sunday when Russell, having scored only three points, fouled out midway in the third period of a game between the two National Basketball Association clubs and still the Celtics won easily, 118-95.

Boston was ahead of the Baylor-less Lakers 73-59 at the time, but Los Angeles never got closer than 10 points.

Elsewhere, veteran Larry Foust helped the St. Louis Hawks to a 137-112 victory over Philadelphia, the Cincinnati Royals won over Chicago 123-113 at Louisville and the Syracuse Nats beat New York 123-116.

Wilt Chamberlain scored 55 points for the Warriors but Foust, replacing injured Clyde Lovellette, scored 28 points for St. Louis.

The Royals, nine games behind Los Angeles in the Western Division, had to stave off a last minute bid by Chicago, whose Walt Bellamy led all scorers with 44 points.

Syracuse, red hot despite the loss of scoring leader Dolph Schayes, won its fifth game in the last six. The Nats outscored the Knicks 31-23 in the final period for the victory.

Spartans Down Gopher Icemen In Two Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Coach Johnny Mariucci of Minnesota's hockey Gophers may have the idea today they were laying a trap for him up at East Lansing, Mich.

Michigan State, idling along at a 1-1 clip in the Western Collegiate Hockey association, ambushed the Gophers twice over the weekend, 5-3 and 5-2.

It had been Mariucci's plan (the word "hope" also may be used) to come home 4-0 from the series and get ready for a Friday-Saturday series against Michigan Tech (7-3), the third place team in the WCHA.

"That's the best Michigan State team, and the largest, most spirited and partisan crowd I've ever

$6 Billion Currency Pool Announced

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 10-power agreement to bolster the stability of the dollar and other monies of non-Communist nations through a $6-billion currency pool was announced today by the International Monetary Fund.

Subject to ratification by Congress and the other parliaments, the pool will give the IMF a huge reserve from which any of the 10 nations may draw to meet temporary and unusual drains on their gold and foreign exchange reserves.

The United States was the foremost sponsor of the plan and would be a major beneficiary if the dollar should again come under such speculative attack as took place in 1960.

The agreement calls on the 10 participating nations to pledge to the IMF—but not to put up in cash until and unless some of the funds are needed—these amounts in dollars:

United States, two billion; Britain, one billion; Germany, one billion; France, 550 million; Italy, 550 million; Japan, 250 million; Canada, 200 million; Netherlands, 200 million; Belgium, 150 million; Sweden, 100 million.

The agreement represents the third and next to the last step in a plan to provide, through the IMF, international borrowing arrangements which—in IMF's words—"should make it possible to mobilize quickly large additional resources in defense of the international monetary system."

Stock Market Continues Dip, Trading Heavy

NEW YORK (AP) — The market continued to decline early this afternoon as blue chips took some sharp losses. Trading was heavy.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at end of 1.00 off at 256.50 with industrials down 1.60, rails up .10 and utilities down .70. Although most changes among key stocks were small, an assortment of high quality issues were down badly and depressed the averages.

Losses of about 6 points by DuPont and 5 by Pacific Gas & Electric were damaging to market averages. Also sharing in responsibility for weakness in the indicators were losses of about 4 by Sears Roebuck, about 2 by Union Carbide and General Electric and well over a point by Texaco.

Fractional gains were made by Southern Pacific, New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad while some other carriers were easy or unchanged. Brunswick and American Machine & Foundry posted small advances.

Corporate bond yields were higher. U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged.

Your home comes first

Of all of man's possessions the most important is his home. Here it is that he leaves for work, comes home from work, enjoys his family and plans for important events in his life. Of all the possessions a man's home is his office, home and planning center all in one.

Plan now to make it better . . .

ADD-A-FAMILY ROOM

The cost is less than you think to add a room!

If the design of the new addition includes only minor changes in the original house, construction is made more economical. Adding a room not only provides more space for living, but greatly increases the value of your home.
