Algiers Near Anarchy

Secret French Army Steps Up Terrorism

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

ALGIERS (AP)—Algeria's largest city moved nearer to anarchy today as the right-wing Secret Army Organization stepped up its campaign of terror and intimidation.

Defying French security forces, European terrorists blew up a special police hideout in Algiers Monday, knocked out power and electricity in the tightly guarded administrative compound of Rocher Noir, 30 miles east of the city, and launched a radio appeal to the French army to revolt. Late Monday night police sources reported several thefts of arms in the Algiers area. One was a holdup of a truck loaded with submachine-guns, carried out by three men dressed in riot police uniforms.

Harassed officials, sheltered behind barbed wire and armored cars in Rocher Noir, said they were fighting against heavy odds because the terrorist underground had accomplices on virtually all levels of the administration. "The Secret Army could take over Algiers in half a day if it wanted to," one official said. It appeared, however, that a takeover of the city was not an immediate aim of the terrorist group fighting to maintain French rule in Algeria. Apparently it hoped to obstruct any independence agreement between France and the Algerian rebels by demonstrating through its campaign of terror that President Charles de Gaulle's government could not enforce such an agreement.

In one of its most spectacular acts, the terrorist group smashed a palm-shaded villa overlooking Algiers with a bomb smuggled into the building in a typewriter case. Buried under the debris were some 20 members of a special commando set-up to seek out members of the Secret Army. Three men survived, two Vietnamese and a Moslem. Ambulance workers said they carried 20 bodies from the wreckage.

The explosion shook the American consulate general 400 yards away. While frantic telephone calls reported the incident to the top government representative in Algeria, Jean Morin, a plastic bomb knocked out power in Morin's barricaded compound 30 miles east of the city.

Earlier, a nearly legendary hero of the French army, Col. Pierre Chateau-Jobert, beamed the Secret Army's appeal for revolt over a clandestine transmitter. "I have chosen the road of honor," he said.

Chateau-Jobert fled his unit in France to join the Secret Army. Known among officers as "the first paratrooper of France," he reportedly commands a Secret Army training base.

Schools closed throughout Algiers today in a strike of protest against terrorism and insecurity. The teachers went on a 24-hour strike despite an appeal from Algiers Academy rector Gilbert Mayer.

Spacemen Worry Over Weather

By JOHN BARBOUR

Associated Press Science Writer
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The specter of bad weather posed the possibility today that astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.'s date with the stars Thursday may run into a new delay.

But Project Mercury officials pushed ahead anyway on the basis that it is too early to tell for sure. A weather advisory, released by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said there were two areas of concern for Thursday's weather picture.

First there was the possibility of cloudiness over the Cape Canaveral launching site—depending on the movement offshore of a high-pressure system to the north.

Second is the possibility of rough seas Thursday in the Atlantic east of Bermuda. Seas are expected to subside by Thursday, but may not be quiet enough to insure safe recovery of Glenn's spacecraft, if it is forced to land after only one orbit.

NASA spokesmen said it was still too early to pinpoint the course of the major weather systems influencing the areas in question.

In summary the weather picture was this: Mostly cloudy skies over the launch area, although this is uncertain, moderate winds and seas. An attempt to launch Glenn last Saturday was delayed until Thursday at the earliest because of clouds above the Cape.

From Bermuda to the mid-Atlantic—the area where the space capsule would land after a single orbit—was expected to have mostly cloudy skies, fresh winds and moderately rough seas.

Elsewhere, normal showers over equatorial Africa; stormy weather over Australia, south and east of Hawaii, and in a few areas of the eastern Pacific.

With the countdown for a Thursday date passing—the T-minus-48 hours mark, officials could only keep an eye on the weather systems and keep working on the basis of a Thursday shot.

Pilot Glenn, spacecraft and rocket are all reported checking out in good order for the flight three times around the world.

Glenn climbed into the "Friendship 7" spacecraft Monday and checked the life environment system which had been refitted with full oxygen supply and carbon dioxide filter.

Earlier he went through some sessions in the space trainer, practicing launch operations and the critical moments when he triggers his braking rockets to slow the rocket and bring it back to earth.

Glenn, a Marine lieutenant colonel and his backup pilot, M. Scott Carpenter, a Navy lieutenant commander, did some star gazing Monday night to check star patterns that would be seen from the spacecraft.

Morale of Red China's Army Slipping, Belief

By RONNIE WEI

HONG KONG (AP)—The morale of Red China's powerful 2½-million-man army is slipping, a Chinese Communist bank official in Hong Kong reported today.

The official, who recently completed a four-month tour of Communist China, said: "Food shortages and living conditions in China have disillusioned most of the Chinese soldiers."

He described the "people's liberation army" as "a group of frustrated men, constantly worrying about their families and their own future."

The official, who was sent to Hong Kong by the Chinese Communists in 1951, asked not to be identified. He made a similar tour of Red China four years ago.

Kennedy Asks Urban Affairs Cabinet Post

Federal Grand Jury Indicts Kline, Fadell

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Seven persons formerly associated with Sister Elizabeth Kenny Foundation including one-time executive director Marvin L. Kline, were indicted by a federal grand jury today on charges of mail fraud and conspiracy.

The grand jury, concluding 16 months of investigation of the Minneapolis based polio foundation's financial affairs, accused the seven in 16 separate counts, including alleged kickbacks of nearly $360,000.

Kline already is under a 10-year prison sentence for larceny for illegally gaining a $23,000 yearly salary increase in 1957, but is free on bond pending appeal.

Named with Kline in the indictment are Fred Fadell, 53, formerly foundation publicity agent, and J. George Zimmerman, 50, St. Paul, former Kenny accountant. Kline was Minneapolis mayor in 1941-45.

The other four defendants have been connected as owners or officers of several Chicago direct-mail corporations which raised approximately $20 million for the foundation between 1952 and 1960.

Kline and Fadell are accused of awarding foundation contracts for the preparation of fund-raising mailing pieces, letters and promotional material to the Chicago firms without competitive bids.

Part of the scheme to defraud, the indictment charges, involved the defendants' use of false names and addresses.

The other four indicted are: Abraham L. Koolish, 77, and his son David P. Koolish, 42, who control the Chicago direct-mail firms—Empire Associates, Empire Industries Inc., LeMarge Mailing Service Co. Inc., and the New Century Corp.

John B. Carnell, 50, and Philip G. Rettig, also of Chicago, both of whom had served as presidents of New Century.

The indictment charges that the defendants "devised a scheme and artifice to defraud and obtain money and property by false and fraudulent pretenses, representations and promises from the foundation and its donors and contributors."

MRS. MARVIN WENDT Tells Police About Slaying

Mankato Man Admits Killing His Neighbor

MANKATO, Minn. (AP)—A first degree murder charge was filed today against the neighbor and co-worker of Marvin Wendt, found shot to death in his modest home early Monday.

Charged was Joseph Patrick Black, 31, who lived in a trailer near the Wendt home.

He was returned to the city jail when he said he could not afford to hire counsel. It was indicated a lawyer would be named to defend Black later today.

A grand jury will be called to consider an indictment against Black.

Police Chief Stanley Christ said Black admitted shooting a charge from a .410 shotgun through a bedroom window of the house, then hiding the weapon in a snow-covered rock pile about a block and going on home.

Christ said a motive for the killing had been established but he declined to divulge it.

Christ gave these details of Black's statement: Black had gone to work Sunday night at the soybean plant of the Honeybread Products Co., where the 36-year-old Wendt also had been employed.

Not feeling well, Black left his job at 4:30 a.m. Monday, went home in a taxi and lay down. He began "thinking about things pertaining to the Wendts" and suddenly got up, grabbed the combination shotgun-rifle and left his trailer.

Standing outside the bedroom window, where the shade had been pulled, Black said he aimed in the general direction of the bed, pulled the trigger.

He found an empty shell in the barrel, inserted a good one and fired through the window. The coroner said the charge struck the victim in the head.

Mrs. Wendt, sleeping with her husband, told police she was awakened by the shattering glass and had called for help. Christ said she then became semi-hysterical. The Wendts have three daughters.

The chief said all evidence in the case was being turned over to Charles E. Johnson, Blue Earth County attorney.

Bowling Alley At LeRoy Burns

LEROY, Minn. (AP)—Fire leveled a two-story building housing a bowling alley and lodge quarters early today, causing damage estimated at $50,000 to $55,000.

Adjacent businesses suffered smoke and water damage and flames damaged communication lines, disrupting telephone service to most of the business area and a residential section.

Firemen who made the damage estimate said the fire apparently started in the rear of the building where the heating plant was located. The building, formerly a theater, housed the LeRoy Bowl and Masonic lodge.

The LeRoy Independent, weekly newspaper, a shoe shop and a cleaning shop nearby suffered heat, water or smoke damage. Plate glass windows of a tire shop across the street cracked under intense heat.

LeRoy is on the Minnesota-Iowa border, about 35 miles southeast of Austin.

Fiery Show by 'Aurora Titanalis'

ATLANTA (AP)—The aurora borealis or "northern lights" sometimes puts on a fiery show of heavenly beauty that can be seen deep in the heart of Dixie.

Now comes the "aurora titanalis," fathered by a mighty Titan rocket fired from Cape Canaveral, Fla., and named by a Weather Bureau meteorologist weary from answering calls about strange, brilliant lights in the sky Monday night.

The pyrotechnics kicked off by the intercontinental range missile were spotted along the Atlantic Coast from Miami, Fla., to Virginia.

As the huge rocket blazed into the cold air of the upper atmosphere at dusk, it created a brilliant vapor trail illuminated spectacularly by rays of the setting sun, below the horizon.

The firing closed out the Titan I test program that began at Cape Canaveral four years ago. The Air Force said the missile achieved all test objectives in streaking 5,000 miles to a target area near Ascension Island in the South Atlantic.

A major goal was to test an advanced inertial guidance system for the Titan II, the most powerful military missile currently planned by the United States. Titan II tests will begin at the Cape in March.

Titan I's final set telephone switchboards buzzing at newspapers, police stations and weather bureaus along the lower East Coast.

The sight was described by some as a "big, filmy balloon, hundreds of miles across," by others as a "terrible flash of light—like an umbrella cloud with a rocket ball of fire going from it."

A telephone caller told the U.S. Weather Bureau in Charlotte, N.C., that he saw a brilliant ball rising from the horizon, with a vapor trail below.

"That didn't worry me so much," he said, "but down below the fireball, I saw a cloud that looked like it had the reflection of the earth in it. It looked like the moon was turned over backwards."

Residents of Raleigh, N.C., saw it as a blimp, or a moon of lights, or a fish with lights at both ends. At Asheville, N.C., it was described by some as a jellyfish with lights.

Farm Message On Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will send to Congress Wednesday a message outlining his new farm program, House Speaker John McCormack said today.

McCormack also told reporters after a White House meeting of Democratic congressional leaders that a presidential message dealing with the welfare program will be sent to Capitol Hill on Thursday.

Since the United Nations was founded, the United States has contributed about $12 billion of the $27 billion spent.

Plan Becomes Law Unless Overruled

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy sent to Congress today a reorganization plan to create a new Cabinet-rank department of urban affairs and housing.

The fate of the plan is uncertain. It becomes law in 60 days unless either House of Congress vetoes it, but the measure has become embroiled in racial and partisan controversy.

Senate rejection of the plan is considered unlikely but the prospects in the House are uncertain.

In a special message to Congress accompanying the plan, Kennedy said: "The times we live in urgently call for this action. We will neglect our cities at our peril, for in neglecting them we neglect the nation."

The 11th Cabinet department would contain the several agencies now embraced in the Housing and Home Finance Agency, and Kennedy has announced that HHA's administrator, Robert C. Weaver, would become secretary of the new department—the first Negro Cabinet officer in history.

Kennedy announced the plan to name Weaver for the new job at a news conference last week and a few hours after the House Rules Committee had rejected by a 9-6 vote a bill to create the department by regular legislative means.

Kennedy scolded Republicans for their solid committee opposition to the bill. The five GOP members were joined by four Southern Democrats.

"I am convinced that economy and efficiency will be importantly enhanced by the improved coordination which this reorganization plan will make possible," Kennedy said.

In a press release accompanying the plan and message, the White House said Kennedy decided to use his power under the reorganization law only after the attempt to create the department by legislation failed.

The Senate Republican leader, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, moved Monday to block the reorganization plan by announcing he will sponsor a resolution to create a commission to study the departmental proposal.

As if in reply to that, Kennedy said in his message that "the time is short." The nation already has passed to an urban way of life, he said, and with coming population growth must have adequate machinery to solve the problems of transportation, public utilities, slums and housing decay.

"Our cities and the people who live in and near them need and deserve an adequate voice in the highest councils of government," the President said.

Smaller towns and cities have as vital a stake in the proposal as metropolitan centers, Kennedy said, because more than two-thirds of all Americans live in cities and the figure is multiplying.

The Federal Housing Administration and the Federal National Mortgage Association would be shifted bodily into the new department and function as self-contained entities within it, Kennedy said.

The functions of the Public Housing Administration and the Urban Renewal Administration and the Community Facilities Administration also would be shifted into the department.

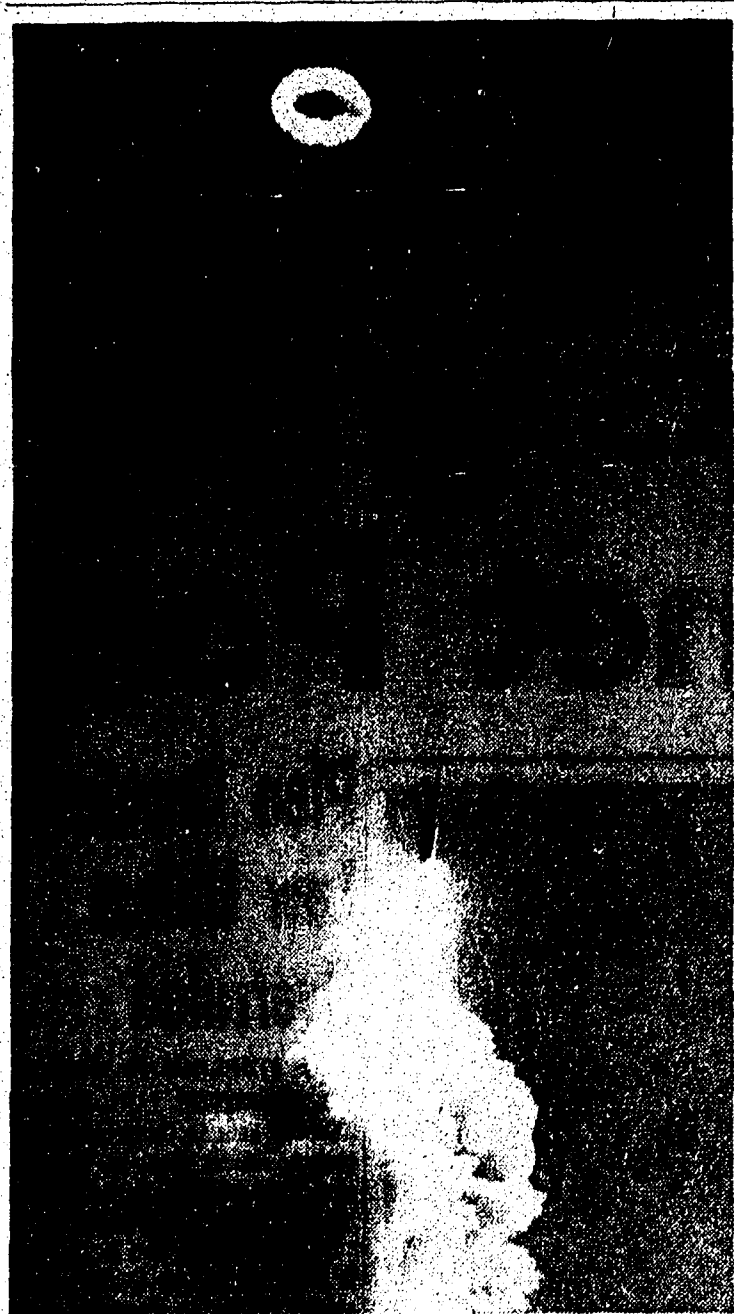

The FHA and PHA commissioners would continue to be appointees of the President, with the consent of the Senate, Kennedy said.

The tone of his message was conciliatory, by contrast with his vigorous attack on Republican foes of the reorganization last week.

The President based his message on arguments of efficiency and economy. The grants, loans, loan guarantees and mortgage insurance functions to be concentrated in the department involve government investments of billions of dollars, Kennedy said, and bear heavily on the vitality of the whole economy.

"Their management in the most effective and coordinated way possible, therefore, will yield economies in the broad sense far outweighing the amount involved

The World Today

World Seems Topsy-Turvy

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dizzy days, these. Things get mixed up, turned around. What wasn't supposed to happen happens. What wasn't in the cards occurs. All in a few weeks or a few months.

In this congressional election year President Kennedy wasn't expected to bluff the Republicans yet, but he's bluffing. He wasn't expected to push for civil rights in 1962, but he's pushing.

Communism, between screams about Western imperialism, invites the President's brother to Moscow. Kennedy, while building the armed forces against communism, has Premier Khrushchev's daughter and son-in-law to lunch.

Khrushchev set a Dec. 31 deadline for settling Berlin but let it slide. Although he's one of the most talkative men of modern times, he has been practically speechless for months.

Prime Minister Nehru, that self-righteous apostle of sweet reasonableness who deplored violence, invaded tiny Portuguese Goa, just before Indian election time.

The Communist world, which posed as one big happy band of brothers, is split and fighting under its breath like a family that pulled down the shades to keep the neighbors from seeing the dishes flying.

The United States, two years behind the Soviets in putting a rocket on the moon, tried and missed by 25,000 miles. The man who was to be the first American orbited around the earth is still earthbound.

The Communists who got hysterics when the American U2 spy plane was downed over Russia, sent their own U2 over Italy. It, too, came down.

Britain, which thought it smart to stay out of the European economic community, now thinks it's smarter to get in.

The big wahoo over Pentagon censoring of speeches by the military brass revealed that most of the time subordinates have been censoring speeches written by subordinates for brass which did not see them first.

President Charles de Gaulle, backed by the French army in Algeria, came to power four years ago in high hopes he could stop the Algerian slaughter. He hasn't. Now a secret Algerian army is working against him.

Some of Kennedy's biggest frustrations in his Democratic-run Congress comes from Democrats. Republicans, after a January stock-taking, are still trying to figure where they stand and what for.

Competition, that symbol of rugged individualism in the American free enterprise system, keeps getting squeezed out of shape as more businesses merge to avoid it.

The Red Chinese, those tireless talkers about the great leap forward, leaped forward on their face by pushing communism too fast. It's a mess inside China now.

This country's Alliance for Progress with Latin America did not progress far enough for the foreign ministers of the alliance; meeting in Uruguay, to give Fidel Castro a full rebuttal.

Cigar-chomping Castro, for some reason still a mystery, chomped some more and admitted he bamboozled his own Cubans by making them think he wasn't a Marxist when, he says, he was.

Khrushchev, acting for years like a man with everything under control, has been having trouble with old Stalin types like bulldogish V. M. Molotov.

Communist Albania, smallest of all the Red satrapies, like a pussy cat against a bear is hissing at the Soviets. The United Arab Republic got awfully disoriented when Syria cut loose from Egypt.

Voters Decide On Successor For Rayburn

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP)—Voters decide today which of two Democrats, both pledged to back the Kennedy administration, will succeed the late Sam Rayburn as congressman from Texas' 4th District.

The contestants are attorney R. C. (Bob) Slagle Jr., whose platform is liberal, and state Sen. Ray Roberts, whose viewpoint is a shade more conservative.

They entered today's special election runoff by leading a Dec. 23 preliminary election. Roberts had 8,154 votes to Slagle's 5,945. Four other candidates, including a Republican, received 8,023 votes.

Both candidates stressed their close ties to Democrat Rayburn, a member of the House 48 years and its speaker for 19 years.

With the candidates' viewpoints so close, few national issues have arisen.

Slagle is supported by most leaders of organized labor, who represent about 4,800 potential voters in the district.

Roberts stressed that his influence in the state Senate may prevent the lawmakers from restricting the district—now the sixth least populous in the nation with 216,371 residents and the least populous in this state.

The winner must run again in this year's primaries and general election to hold his seat.

Showdown Fight Building Up on Farm Aid Plan

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm leaders and farm groups are getting set for what might become a last-ditch fight over the role of government in agriculture.

These groups and Congress have been battling since the early 1930s over this issue. That's when the New Deal stepped in to use powers of the government to help improve farm prices and incomes.

A new battle will be triggered by the farm message President Kennedy is scheduled to send to Congress Tuesday.

It is generally agreed there are three courses open to government in dealing with the problem of farm prices, incomes and surpluses. They are:

1. Elimination of all government price support, production control and subsidy payments.

2. Continuing present programs of this nature.

3. Broadening control programs to bring stability to all farm commodities not now subject to them or which might later get into surplus trouble.

Kennedy will espouse the third course. He advanced it during the 1960 presidential campaign and recommended it to Congress a year ago. But he did not get all the authority he felt the government needed.

But there are groups which believe the first course, that of eventual government withdrawal from agriculture, is the one that should be taken. These include the American Farm Bureau Federation and a number of individual farm commodity organizations. It also was the course recommended by the Eisenhower administration.

But the administration will get strong backing from the national Farmers Union and the National Grange, as well as from some farm commodity groups.

The administration is expected to make this pitch during congressional consideration of its program: if stronger controls are not applied to over-productive agriculture, government will be forced to retreat completely because taxpayers will not stand indefinitely for costs of a farm program that allows accumulation of vast surpluses.

But the administration will get strong backing from the national Farmers Union and the National Grange, as well as from some farm commodity groups.

Virus Kills Four Nashville Children

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Four children under 6 have died in Davidson County in the past week from a virus which the medical examiner, Dr. W. J. Core, says is baffling doctors.

Core described the virus as a type of pneumonia which develops almost instantly from what appears to be a mere cold. He said in each case the ailing child appeared in good health, then died in less than six hours.

"Doctors are just beginning to recognize it," Core said, "because it is a relatively new strain."

It May Be 40 Today, But Not Around Here

Chilled by a mass of Arctic air it didn't expect, Winona awoke today to near zero temperatures and was cautioned to look forward to more of the same tonight.

The Weather Bureau said the unexpected cold front invasion happened when a low pressure system holding it back at the Canadian border suddenly moved eastward. That permitted cold air to sweep southeastward into the Upper Plains.

However, western South Dakota and Iowa did not feel the onslaught at once. It was 30 above at Rapid City at 8 a.m.

MOSTLY CLOUDY and continued cold is the forecast for tonight with scattered light snow. A low of near zero tonight and a high of 5-20 Wednesday.

Monday afternoon the temperature rose to 39, near what the weatherman had expected for today, and during the night dropped to 2. At noon it was only 7 above.

A year ago today the high was 17 and the low for this day -8. Alltime high for Jan. 30 was 48 in 1890 and 1931 and the low for the day was -37 in 1951. Mean for the past 24 hours was 20. Normal for this day is 17.

THE SUDDEN cold clamped a firm hand on the Northwest, sending the mercury down to -31 at International Falls, low for U.S., and -14 at Bemidji and Duluth. Rochester had zero after a Monday high of 36 and La Crosse posted figures of 3 above and 38 for the same times.

Good winter driving conditions were reported on Minnesota and Wisconsin highways today but the strong northwest wind caused some drifting in places.

In Minneapolis-St. Paul, it went from a balmy 34 above at 7 p.m. Monday night to -2 at 5 a.m.

The cold wave also knifed its way across WISCONSIN early today bringing another round of sub-zero temperatures to the state.

The mercury slid from 36 at 1 a.m. in Milwaukee to 7 above zero at 7 a.m. Madison had 36 at midnight and 3 above at 8 a.m. Temperatures in the northern part of the state were well below zero. Superior had 18 below at 8 a.m. Park Falls reported 8 below, Eau Claire 6 below, Rhinelander 5 below, Wausau 4 below, Hurley 3 below and Stevens Point 1 below.

Light snow fell in the northern part of the state Monday. Park Falls received about one inch and lesser amounts fell at other places.

ANOTHER DEATH attributed to snow shoveling occurred Monday. William A. Kuchel, 74, of Clintonville, collapsed and died while shoveling at his home.

Miramar, Calif., topped the nation Monday with 84 degrees.

A man and his wife were shaken up but apparently not otherwise injured Monday afternoon in a collision at the intersection of Highways 43 and 61.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baker, Minneapolis, both complained of pain after the accident.

Police said Baker and Donald Osterman, Le Sueur, Minn., both were driving east on 61 when Baker stopped for a red light at 9:45 p.m. and Osterman hit him from behind.

There was $200 damage to the left rear of Baker's car and $100 damage to the right front end of Osterman's vehicle.

Two cars involved in an intersection collision Monday at 10:12 a.m. received damage totaling $200.

David Fakler, 68, 289 E. 4th St., was driving west on 4th Street and William Milton, 83, Minnesota City, was going south on Market when they collided.

Damage to the left front end of Milton's car was $125, to the left rear fender of Fakler's car, $75.

Eyota Farmer Asks Trial on Starving Cows

EYOTA, Minn. (Special) — A rural Eyota tenant farmer, William H. Heath, pleaded not guilty in Rochester municipal court Monday to starving a herd of 25 purchased Holstein cattle and calves.

He was released on $200 bail. Trial was set for 11 a.m. Feb. 27.

The cattle had received little food or water for 60 days, Rochester officers estimated, and were described as "skeletons."

The cows were tied in stanchions, which were filled with manure, officers said. Two calves were dead and a cow had to be destroyed, they added.

The farm in Eyota Township where the cattle had been kept belongs to the Graham estate and Heath had been hired to care for the herd. Olmsted County Sheriff Gerald Cunningham investigated at the request of Richard Radway, agricultural agent, who had received a tip from a neighbor.

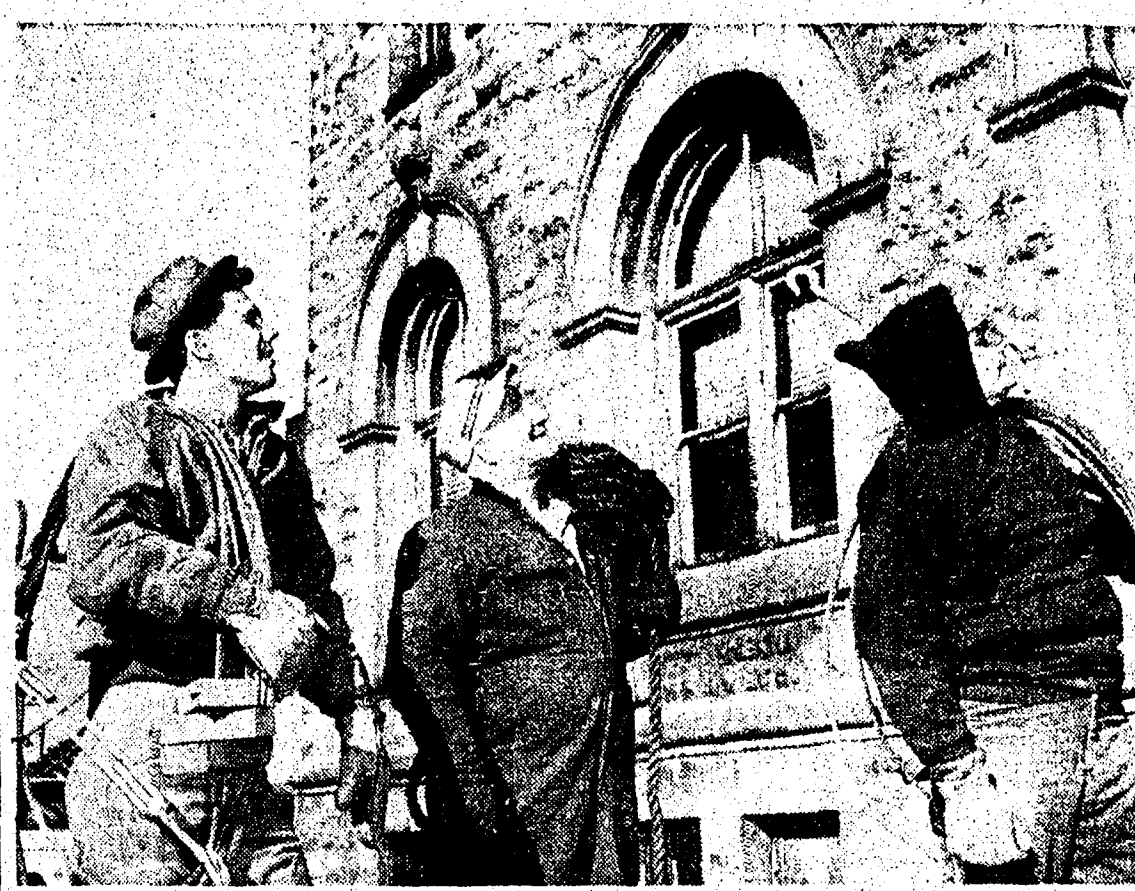

Heath is the father of nine children. A manure spreader and tractor had broken down in a field on the farm in November and were abandoned, neighbors said.

Galesville Theft Check Continues; Door Was Hooked

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special) — Investigation of the theft of about $800 from the safe in the office at Galesville Elementary School is continuing, Sheriff Eugene B. Bold said this morning.

He said a thief or thieves entered the building sometime last Wednesday night through a window in the kitchen in the basement on the north side of the 3-story building, located on Galesville's upper table. The window had been jimmied open, the sheriff said. A door into the kitchen also had been jimmied, but was hooked from the inside.

The money was taken from a safe in the office on the top floor. The door to the safe was wide open when Al Schipper, elementary principal, arrived Thursday morning, the sheriff said. Authorities don't know whether the safe had been left open the day before or the thief knew the combination. There were no marks on it to indicate forced entry.

Christian Emphasis On Unity Asked by Newman Club Chaplain

Christians should emphasize their points of unity rather than their points of difference, the national chaplain of the Catholic Newman Club told an audience of about 150 Monday night at Winona State College as Religious Emphasis Week opened.

Most of the 350 denominations of the Christian church in the United States do believe in essentially the same things, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Alexander Sigur, Louisiana State University, said.

His audience was composed of Protestant and Catholic college students, faculty members and Winona pastors.

"WE DO believe, most of us, in God and in the Trinity composed of three equal Persons," Msgr. Sigur said. "We believe in the creation of the world by an omnipotent God, either instantaneously or by evolution; we believe in the fall of man from his original excellence to a state of sin; we believe in the prophetic destiny of the Jewish people; we believe in the Son of God as Divine; we accept Christ as the Messiah and as the son of God in a human nature; we accept the necessity of a church; we believe in the mediation of Christ; we have a great and deepening love of the sacred Scriptures; and we accept the destiny of man as being, in some supernatural way, union with God."

The ecumenical, or world-wide, movement for unity among Christians was exemplified in the recent World Council of Churches conference held at New Delhi, India. For the first time, Catholics as well as Protestants took part in the conference.

MSGR. SIGUR outlined several reasons why the movement for unity among Christians is gaining strength:

"We are Christians and we can't really divide; the historic effects of the Reformation are behind us, and its time for a reassessment and an end to 4 1/2 centuries of name-calling and bickering, and we are being rallied partly by a scourge which may be held in the hand of God"—a reference to a lack of brotherly love.

Msgr. Sigur said it is "a mistake to allow good fellowship to substitute for theological unity," however.

HE ALSO pointed out some of the differences separating various Christian denominations, such as the interpretation and credibility of the Scriptures and the fundamental difference of whether salvation can be obtained "by faith alone as the gift of God exclusively or whether man can prepare himself to receive salvation."

Dr. Nels Minne, college president, said, "As a public college it is right and proper for us to give honest and wholehearted support to religious emphasis, especially on the college level. The State College Board has said properly that courses in religion cannot be given for credit but it has invited religious groups to work on the college campuses."

A FORMER Catholic, now an ordained Lutheran pastor, Dr. Mario Colacci, Augsburg College and Theological Seminary, Minneapolis, will speak at 7 p.m. today in Room 327, Somsen Hall, on "The Hope of the Roman Catholic-Protestant Dialogue."

Miss Anita Peterson, Trimont, Minn., chairman of the four-day program, announced an interdenominational student panel discussion for Wednesday at 7 p.m. in Room 327 on "Religion Around the World—1902."

Panel members consist of Calvin Ellstad, Spring Grove; Duane Gebhard, Winona; Ralph Bick, Arcadia, Wis.; James Laake, Winona; and Marilyn Balzum, Stewartville, Minn., moderator, with Joseph Emanuel, WSC faculty member, as adviser.

The Rev. Joseph LaPlante, Winona Newman Club adviser, introduced Msgr. Sigur.

Report Deadline Wednesday for Farmhand Wages

"All of us need protection against the loss of earnings that comes with disability or death," Albert J. D'Amour, district manager of the Winona social security office, said concerning coverage of farm workers.

"The farm employee gets this protection because his farm employer reports his earnings once a year and pays the social security taxes on his cash wages. Only through correct and regular reporting can the farm worker obtain this protection."

Actually, failure by a farm employer to make a yearly report is a violation of the law and can result in penalties and interest charges on unpaid social security taxes, D'Amour said.

"Farm employers or owners who have paid as much as $150 in cash wages to any farm worker in their employ during 1961 must file an employer's tax and information return for such farm employees," D'Amour said. "They must also report each farm employee who worked for them on 20 or more days during 1961, regardless of the amount of wages paid if the wages were figured on a time rather than a piece-rate basis."

George Erickson, local U. S. Internal Revenue agent, said that for 1961, the social security tax rate is 6 percent (3 percent each for employer and employee). This tax applies to cash wages paid to a farm worker up to a total of $4,000 in the year. The tax amount must be entered on Form 943, "Employer's Annual Tax Return (For Agricultural Employees)" together with the total amount of cash wages paid to the farm worker.

This form must be filed with the District Director of Internal Revenue at St. Paul, on or before Wednesday.

WHAT ABOUT INSPECTION?

School Bus Safety Drive Launched

A near-tragic accident last fall north of St. Paul in which an old, unsafe, worn-out school bus loaded with children plunged off the highway into a shallow lake has prompted a state program to seek ways to improve school bus safety.

No one was seriously hurt in that accident, Stanley Clasen, St. Paul, chairman of the governor's youth safety council and member of his advisory council, told a group of Winonans concerned with school bus safety Monday afternoon at Lincoln School.

HOWEVER, the thought of what might have happened has led to an increased interest in what present school bus safety requirements are, how well they are enforced and how they can be made more stringent.

Clasen outlined the survey's goals to Peter Loughrey, who has been actively engaged in safety work many years and who organized the meeting Monday; Jesse Justus, county superintendent of schools; A. L. Nelson, city superintendent of schools; Floyd Broker, principal, St. Martin's School; Capt. John H. Scherer, Winona police department; Vera Smelser, park-recreation department; and Dr. Harry T. Jackson, Winona State College faculty member and vice president, local chapter, Automobile Association of America.

WINONA was chosen to inaugurate the program because it combines rural and urban school districts unlike the Twin Cities area, Clasen said. Justus said there are about 40 school buses bringing school children into Winona.

Gov. Andersen's citizens' traffic safety conference will be held Saturday on the University of Minnesota's St. Paul campus, Clasen said. He asked the local group to send a representative to the meeting. They also should start gathering information for reporting to a state traffic safety man who plans to come to Winona in about 10 days to see what progress has been made.

"We have the machinery for inspection of buses set up now," Nelson said. "We used to have a bus clinic for buses and bus drivers in the past, five or six years ago. But the program died when the state stopped making a $200 a year appropriation."

"NOW," NELSON continued, "there are no present requirements being enforced about the buses or the drivers. All someone has to do is buy a bus, get a license and he's in business."

"Most of our bus operators are good drivers," Justus said. "They would welcome such a program."

But at the moment, Justus and Nelson agreed, if a bus driver or his bus prove unsatisfactory, he cannot be fired by the city or county as long as his contract runs. They both felt this lack of enforcement ability is wrong and should be corrected by legislation.

Loughrey is a member of the governor's safety advisory council.

The case was an appeal from an award by commissioners for property taken from John N. Seales, Mazepa, for construction of the new highway at Whitman Dam.

When announcement of the settlement was made, jurors were drawn for the Mlyneczek case. Selection of the jury was completed shortly before 5:30 p.m.

It Had Railroad Boom

Hokah Recalls How Village Was Settled

HOKAH, Minn. (Special)—Descendants of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Langen, early settlers of Hokah, discussed the history of the village at the quarterly meeting of Houston County Historical City attended by 200 here Sunday afternoon. The program was dedicated to the couple.

Joseph Thicke, a grandson of the Langens, and Mrs. John Engstler, their daughter, were the principal speakers.

THICKE SAID that Edward Thompson, a personal friend of his grandfather, had come to Hokah, an Indian village, in 1850 while on a scouting trip for water power facilities and timber. Born in Canada in 1827, he journeyed to Illinois in 1842 before coming up the Mississippi River and then up Root River as far as Cushing Peak west of Houston. Returning to Hokah and seeing abundant waterpower available from two creeks, he spotted a claim, returned to Illinois for his wife, and in April 1851, built a cabin where St. Peter's Convent is now located.

Indians visited their home every day, Mrs. Thompson gave them food, but they were mainly attracted to the Thompsons' golden haired daughter. One day they managed to pick her up and carried her off, making tracks through the woods. Mrs. Thompson gave the alarm by pounding tin pans together. The men came from work in the mills, followed the Indians, and soon returned with the little girl.

THOMPSON erected a sawmill in 1852 and a flour mill in 1853, the first in Minnesota and west of the Mississippi River.

The first school at Hokah was organized in 1855. The first village meeting was held in 1850, and in 1871 the village was incorporated. By 1859 La Crosse had its first bank, and that year it arranged for a bathhouse. It was used by ladies in the morning and men in the afternoon. Its location has never been learned.

A dam sufficient to provide waterpower for the three flour mills there, then, the saw mills and cooper shop, was built in 1866. This spurt in business induced the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad to extend the Southern Minnesota branch here. A roundhouse and shops were built and Edward Thompson became the master mechanic.

THE POPULATION grew almost overnight from 100 to 1,500 population, but after the shops were moved to Austin in 1880, the population dwindled. Now it has some 600 people.

In 1909 the dam was washed out by floodwaters from Thompson and Union creeks.

Thompson, who invented a grain drier and a device for unloading grain from railroad cars, left Hokah in 1886, spent some time in California, and returned to Minneapolis, where he lived until he died in 1929. He was buried in Mount Hope Cemetery, Hokah.

Thompson presided over the first Republican convention in the Northwest.

MRS. LANGEN, Mrs. Engstler said, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Van Arx, who immigrated to Bush Valley near here from Switzerland. Mr. Langen, born in La Crescent Township where the Miller farm now is located, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Langen, who came to this area from Germany.

After their marriage they lived on a farm in Peffer Valley, named for his grandparents. After their retirement their son Rude took over the operation of their farm and still is living there. The place has been in the family over 100 years.

The Langens' collection of antiques and relics started in 1891 when Mr. Langen found a perfect arrowhead while plowing. He was always under the impression that the farm at one time was an Indian battleground.

THEIR collection grew to the point where they built a log cabin museum in Hokah with living quarters at the rear. It is now operated by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Thicke.

The Langens were music lovers and played many instruments. The story is told that Mr. Langen courted his wife by playing the zither, and she accompanied him on the guitar.

Their nine children have followed in their footsteps. All play, some with the well-known Jolly Swiss Boys.

Mrs. Engstler said her father was a premature baby. There were no incubators then. He was wrapped in blankets and laid on a pillow on a chair in front of the open door on the kitchen range. His first pair of shoes, so tiny they fit none of the other children nor their children, are being preserved in the match box where Langen stored his first arrowhead.

MUSIC AND SONGS by the family completed the program Sunday. Lady Langen sang "The Midnight Waltz" in German in their honor.

William Murphy extended the welcome at the meeting for the president, Mason Witt, who was ill. Miss Gladys Lapham, chairman, paid tribute to the Langens, whom she remembers as leaders of the Champion Workers 4-H Club some 30 years ago.

Mrs. John Refsdal, Houston, closed the meeting with a quotation from Joel 13: "Tell ye your children of it, and your children tell their children, and their children another generation."

Six Eastman Cases Settled At Rochester

ROCHESTER, Minn. — Six suits for damages totaling $150,000, arising from an accident in which a Lewiston minister and his six children were killed, were settled Monday afternoon shortly after trial of the actions had begun in Olmsted County District Court here.

No announcement was made of terms of the settlement of the suits filed by the trustee for the next of kin (Mrs. Eastman) of the six children of the late Rev. John T. Eastman and Mrs. Eastman.

THE MINISTER and the children, ranging in age from 8 months to 7 years, were killed 14 months ago when their car crashed into a concrete bridge railing near Dover in Olmsted County. Mrs. Eastman was attending a school play at Lewiston when the accident happened.

Each of the six suits were for $25,000 damages and in each the defendant was Harold A. Selvig, Lewiston, as administrator of the minister's estate.

Judge Arnold Hatfield was presiding when the cases were called for trial, a jury was selected and testimony of two witnesses had been heard when announcement of a settlement was made.

YESTERDAY'S witnesses were Merle Comingo, Dover, the first to arrive at the accident scene, and a Mr. Hand, a representative of the Olmsted County Bank and Trust Co., Rochester, the trustee.

Frank G. Newhouse and Richard Plunkett, Rochester, represented the plaintiff and the defendant was represented by William and Robert Hull, Winona.

Thompson to Seek Attorney General Nomination Again

LA CROSSE—Former La Crosse County Dist. Atty. George Thompson announced Monday that he will again seek the Republican nomination for attorney general.

Thompson, 44, a La Crosse attorney since 1917, was district attorney from 1935 to 1938.

In his first bid for state office, Thompson was defeated in the 1939 attorney general race by Democrat John W. Reynolds.

Thompson said he would seek the Republican state convention endorsement. He did not indicate whether he would be a candidate in the primary if he does not receive endorsement.

A native of Ellsworth, Thompson is a veteran of World War II service in Europe and a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. He is a past vice president of the Wisconsin District Attorneys Assn.

Meat Truck Tips Near Lake City

LAKE CITY, Minn.—An unidentified Ajax truck driver transporting 20,000 pounds of meat from the Twin Cities to Winona for Armour & Co. escaped serious injury when his vehicle was forced from Highway 61 two miles north of Lake City at 3:45 a.m. Monday by an approaching car which did not dim its lights.

According to Lake City police, the driver said he blinked his lights at the second vehicle, but instead of dimming, the driver of the approaching car made a dive for him.

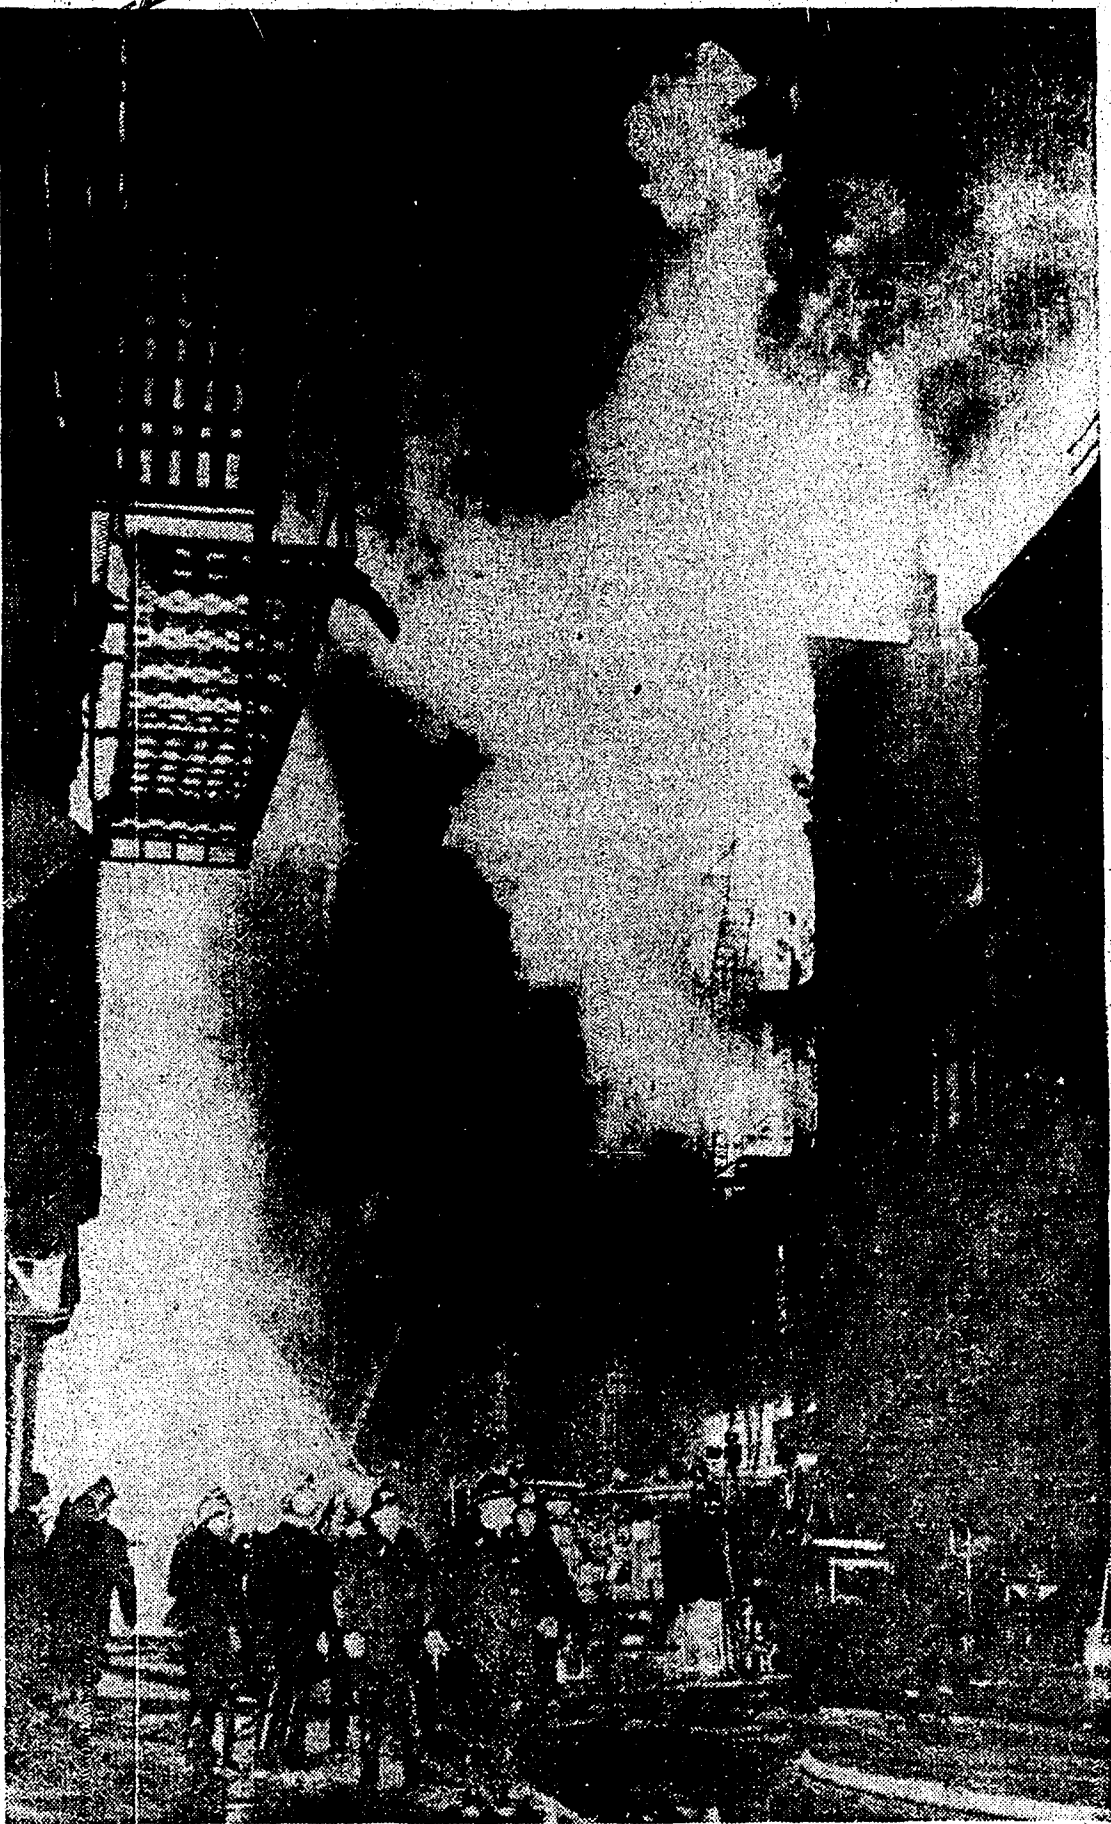

Turning onto the snow-crusted shoulder, the truck was pulled higher onto the bank and after the right wheel had crossed a small curbing there, the truck capsized and rolled over on its side, partially blocking the highway.

Three smaller Armour trucks from Winona picked up the meat and the semi was pulled into Lake City.

The truck driver was reported to have only slight injuries and was not taken to the hospital. Driver of the second vehicle has not been identified. Police and highway officials are investigating.

West Trying To Postpone Katanga Issue

By TOM HOGE
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Western Allies were expected to try to postpone Security Council debate today on Soviet charges that colonial powers are trying to block U.N. efforts to return Katanga Province to the control of the central Congo government.

The council was summoned into urgent session at the Soviet Union's request, but informants said the United States and other Western Allies would seek to adjourn debate at least until Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula arrives in New York later this week.

Informants predicted that Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin would try during the preliminary discussion to air his charges that Katanga President Moise Tshombe is ignoring council demands that he rid his army of mercenaries and end secession of his province. Zorin has accused colonial powers of abetting Tshombe in such action.

A U.S. spokesman said the United States feels council debate unnecessary at this time. He charged Zorin had demanded the meeting to confuse the situation.

Adoula has notified Council President Sir Patrick Dean of Britain that he opposes a meeting now on grounds "it can only create confusion and damage the interests of the Congolese people." Adoula criticized Zorin for seeking the meeting and expressed re-

The announcement said the First Lady will christen the 11th Polaris missile-firing submarine, to be known as the Lafayette. Launching is scheduled May 8 at Groton, Conn.

A 20-nation conference of African nations meeting in Lagos, Nigeria, also urged the council to avoid any action "likely to jeopardize the present good prospects for a solution to the Congo problem."

House Gets College Aid Measure Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to provide $300 million a year in federal funds to help the nation's colleges build classrooms, libraries and laboratories comes up in the House today.

Missing from the measure is a section that would provide for 40,000 federal scholarships. Democratic sponsors of the measure abandoned the provision in order to smooth passage for the construction program.

The White House reportedly has gone along with the strategy although President Kennedy made both scholarships and construction key parts of his higher education program.

Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., is the author of the House bill, which would offer $180 million a year in grants and $120 million yearly in loans for five years—a total outlay of $1.5 billion.

The grant program would be administered by a state agency representing all higher educational institutions, both public and private. In some states such an agency would have to be created. Each state would get an allotment and the state agency would determine the specific grants.

Under the loan program colleges would apply directly to the U.S. Office of Education for 50-year loans at low interest rates. The Senate is also scheduled to begin consideration of a college aid bill this week, but with a scholarship program included.

Former Justice At Balsam Lake Is Found Guilty

BALSAM LAKE, Wis. (AP)—Former Justice of the Peace Eugene H. Fish, of Balsam Lake, was convicted Monday at the end of a week-long trial on seven counts of embezzlement growing out of shortages of more than $2,000 in his fine accounts.

Fish was brought to trial on 10 embezzlement counts charging him with withholding some $13,000 in traffic and hunting and fishing fines during the three years he served as a justice. Three of the counts were dismissed.

The shortages were disclosed in a state audit in October, 1960. Fish resigned two months later.

Circuit Court Judge Norris E. Maloney of Madison, who presided at the trial, ordered Fish held in the Polk County Jail under $3,750 cash bond pending a presentence investigation.

Herter Denies He'll Run for Congress
WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Secretary of State Christian A. Herter Sr. has labeled "pure and utter speculation" reports that he will run for Congress in Massachusetts this year.

Herter told newsmen Monday "there is nothing in" a report that he will head a slate of Republican candidates in an at-large race for 12 House seats if Massachusetts is redistricted to eliminate two seats.

Western Indians believed the grizzly bear had supernatural powers because of its unusual ability to recover from wounds.

Truman Upholds Muzzling of U.S. Generals

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman said Monday "most military men do not have the competence to interpret foreign policy."

Truman was questioned on his arrival at Pennsylvania Station about the current dispute over censoring of speeches by military officers.

"The things they are saying deserve muzzling," Truman told 14 newsmen. "You remember I muzzled one and brought him back."

The reference was to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who was relieved of his commands in 1951 after differences with Truman over strategy for fighting the Korean War.

"It's not a case of muzzling, it's a question of interfering with the president's policies," said Truman. "Every president has had that trouble. I did and fired one."

The former president went on to say that when a man chooses a military career, he must follow the orders of his commander in chief.

Student Union Accounts Short

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Shortages totaling more than $4,000 in the accounts of the student union of Stevens Point State College were discovered in a routine audit, State Auditor J. Jay Keliher said Monday.

Keliher said the shortage of $3,692 covered a period from July, 1960, to June 31, 1961 and resulted from failure to account for collections from the sale of student meal tickets.

The installation of a machine bookkeeping system and conference between the state college regents and the attorney general on the shortages were recommended by Keliher.

John R. Amacker, union director, explained that $2,012 had been used for restaurant equipment payments, Keliher's report said. Copies of the report were sent to the State Department of Administration, State Board of College Regents and the Legislative Reference Library.

Mother Kills 3 Children, Hangs Self in Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A youthful husband arrived home from work last evening to discover tragedy—his distraught wife and three small children dead in what police said was murder and suicide.

The body of Mrs. Shirley Parnisari, 31, was hanging in the basement of the family's neat, brick ranch-style home. The bodies of her children, Mark, 5; Susan, 3; and Lisa, 4 months, were in their bedrooms.

Eugene P. Parnisari, 34, a labor relations supervisor at an industrial plant, told officers his wife suffered a nervous breakdown after the birth of Susan and has been nervous since Lisa was born.

The husband said because of his wife's difficulties, he had consulted the family physician, who arranged for Mrs. Parnisari to have a hospital checkup later this week.

"We are sure the mother took her own life," said Capt. Matthew Deehr of the Detective Bureau, "but we are not sure of the way she killed the children."

Medical Examiner Dr. L. J. Van Hecke said after an autopsy that the children died by strangulation, but the means could not be determined. An investigator in his office said there were marks on their necks.

You are inside Shell's new all-weather laboratory at Wood River, Illinois. Here, Shell scientists test Super Shell for top performance in bitter cold.

Tests in Shell's new "40 below" lab prove that Super Shell 9-ingredient blend can give top performance all winter

SUPER SHELL's winter blend includes Butane for quick starts. Pentane mix for fast warm-ups. And an anti-icer to help fight stalling. Here's how they work—and how Shell engineers test them for top performance.

1. How Super Shell helps you get fast starts

Butane is the quick-firing ingredient in today's Super Shell. It can boil and turn to vapor even on ice. Butane's ability to vaporize when cold helps Super Shell start your car promptly all winter.

The starting test: A car, filled with Super Shell, soaks up zero-degree cold for 12 hours. It must then start promptly. Shell engineers run cold-starting tests on a variety of cars. They insist that Super Shell help them all start promptly.

2. How Super Shell speeds warm-ups
Pentane mix is Super Shell's fast warm-up ingredient. It ignites easily, helps speed the warm-up process.

The warm-up test: A car, filled with Super Shell, stays in the lab overnight. Temperature: zero. Next morning, the car is started and eased up to cruising speed. Suddenly, the accelerator is pushed halfway to the floor.

The car must respond smoothly, without sputtering.

3. How Super Shell fights carburetor icing

The anti-icer in Super Shell coats vital carburetor parts with a protective film. This film helps guard the parts against critical ice buildup, helps prevent icing stalls when they are most likely to occur.

The icing test: Lab temperature is raised to 40 degrees and air moisture increased. These conditions encourage carburetor icing.

REASON: Fuel evaporation lowers the temperature inside your carburetor, freezing the airborne moisture. That's how ice can build up and stall your engine—and when Super Shell's anti-icer must do its job.

Super Shell winter blend at all Shell stations today

You now know how three of Super Shell's nine ingredients work. The other six are for power, extra mileage, a quiet engine, top performance.

Thoughts at Random— From Editor's Notebook

IT'S GOOD to be back on the job after eight days in the hospital and this pet ulcer of mine seems to be on the mend. It's a peculiar thing about these diets, however. For 22 months while I was in Europe during World War II, I didn't have an egg and I would have paid $10 for one. Now that I can't have much of anything else for a few weeks, I hate the sight of one. You just can't win!

WE NOTE THAT Winona County is soon to have a new $200,000 building for its highway equipment and offices—but that precious records are still being kept in vaults in our antiquated courthouse that would go up in flames in a jiffy if fire ever hit that old firetrap. Which recalls an item in "The Man Next Door" column in the January issue of Better Homes & Gardens. The following is applicable to many buildings in our downtown business district:

"A few of us decided in a spontaneous meeting the other morning that our old monstrosity of a City Hall had better be torn down and replaced right now. In a few years it will be historic, and we will be stuck with it for all time."

OUR PLUG the other day for a School of Nursing at Winona General Hospital, in conjunction with Winona State College, received the plaudits of members of the hospital's Board of Trustees. Such a school, like two at Rochester, would turn out registered nurses after a three-year course.

We should point out, however, that the Winona hospital does have, and has had for ten years, a one-year course for practical nurses which is a valuable adjunct to such an institution.

REPUBLICANS in Congress are assailing the new budget as "wholly unrealistic" and "absolutely ridiculous."

The Democrats say it is "a sound formula for maintaining both fiscal responsibility and the forward momentum of the nation's economy."

So you pay your money and you take your choice.

To those who value a dollar, the following facts may be of interest.

When Herbert Hoover was President the federal budget reached $4.6 billion.

Prior to World War II, Franklin D. Roosevelt's budget was something above $9 billion.

During the war, spending reached $98 billion.

Following the war, and under President Truman, federal expenditures prior to Korea totaled $39.5 billion.

In Dwight D. Eisenhower's time, spending soared to $80 billion.

Now President Kennedy is asking for $92.5 billion and $100 billion budgets are foreseeable.

Meanwhile, the public debt has jumped from $17 billion in Hoover's day to just under $300 billion and the debt limit is again about to be increased.

IF 1962 GOT off to an unsatisfactory start for you, take a page from the Chinese calendar and start over on Monday, Feb. 5.

For Americans of Chinese descent—in fact, for Chinese everywhere—this is the first day of the Chinese New Year, a day of joy and the most important holiday of the year. Not only is it New Year's Day, but, by Chinese custom, it is everybody's birthday, too.

This time, the Chinese New Year really will come roaring in. It's the Year of the Tiger. Chinese years are named after animals: The Dragon, the Lamb, the Monkey, the Boar, the Serpent, the Dog, the Tiger, the Rat, the Horse, the Rooster, the Rabbit and the Ox (last year).

China officially changed to the Gregorian calendar many years ago and time is recorded from the founding of the Chinese republic in 1912. However, the popular celebration is based on the old calendar which dictates that New Year's Day falls on the 23rd day of the 12th moon. This is reckoned by the lunar calendar, which had 12 months of 29 or 30 days. Since each year was short about 10 days, an intercalary month is added every 30 months.

FOR THE 77TH consecutive year the World Almanac and Book of Facts, a copy of which reached our desk today, presents its annual compilation of important events and produces an orderly and compact report on the baffling confusion of world affairs. Human energy, constructive and destructive, attained such tremendous scope that the editors had to compress countless actions on land and sea and in the air into this 1962 issue.

What the World Almanac packs into its 896 pages puts into proper perspective the threats and catastrophes that made headlines in 1961. Here, in chronological order, are matters that affect the security of nations and the survival of civilization.

Khrushchev says it is time to ease tensions. Well, ease away, Nikita!

Washington Calling

Kennedy Nears N-Test Decision

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—Each day that passes sees President Kennedy near to the decision that overshadows all others—whether or not to resume nuclear testing in the atmosphere.

With a realization of what this can mean in another round of the nuclear arms race, public interest has been increasing. The most potent pressure on the President to start a new test series comes from Capitol Hill and members of House and Senate who feel that this is the only way to insure that the United States will keep ahead of the Soviet Union.

The argument is a familiar one and it has its base in past controversy and, in particular, the dispute that was finally resolved with President Truman's decision to proceed with the hydrogen bomb. But it also reflects a vested interest in the vast scientific-military-industrial apparatus committed to nuclear weaponry. Jobs and payrolls are involved in an economy that over-all owes a lot to the $50 billion and up spent on armaments.

THE OPPOSITION has its base in the organized peace movement. That movement has been broadened recently with affiliated groups including several large trade unions. The objective is to lay down a barrage of telegrams on the White House and on the Joint Congressional Atomic Committee where much of the active pressure for more tests originates.

But because this is obviously an organized effort, it tends to be discounted. Charged with a deep emotionalism, as President Kennedy noted in his comment on the women picketers for peace, the movement is a reflection of a widespread fear of nuclear war. Yet, to those confronted with the far-reaching significance of the decision it must at times seem irrelevant to the facts of nuclear armament on both sides of the East-West divide.

APPEARING ON the television program, Issues and Answers, Under Secretary of Defense Roswell Gilpatrick put the situation in sharper perspective than any administration spokesman thus far. He stressed the need to achieve a stronger position in non-nuclear forces. On the nuclear deterrent he said that the objective was to try to "reach a stage of some stability where neither our adversaries feel they are to be overwhelmed nor do we feel we are exposed to any great risk from them."

To some observers he seemed to be saying that the hope was to stop short of the seesaw race in which first one side and then the other side is ahead. Gilpatrick added:

"WE WANT to get away from the conception of a race, a competition, a struggle always to be ahead. We are not trying to put ourselves in an aggressive posture. Ours is entirely a deterrent posture. But if they feel they are so outnumbered, that they have such an inferiority, it might provoke them to adventurous opportunistic moves that in a more stable situation they would not feel it necessary to take."

Those within the administration, and numerically they are in a minority, arguing for a delay in the decision feel that the President is looking for an opening justifying a postponement. This could take several forms. One would be an agreement by the Soviet Union to ban atmospheric testing. With the present highly effective monitoring system any violation would be immediately detected.

But the President would continue to be subjected to the same kind of pressures that were used against his predecessor during the previous moratorium. Something more tangible, such as a willingness to resolve the Berlin crisis on a reasonable basis, would be more likely to convince the President that he could take the risk—an actual risk in terms of the arms race, although a small one in the view of knowledgeable experts, and a risk in public opinion.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Lady in Rocky's Life Cruises With Husband

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The lady for whom Gov. Nelson Rockefeller was willing to divorce his wife and relinquish his chance to be President of the United States now seems to have gone back to her husband and is living very happily with him.

The lady, wife of a doctor who is employed with the Rockefeller Institute, was reached last week at her New York City home. She had just come back from a cruise to Bermuda with her husband and their children. Her husband was living in the house with her and came to the telephone. There appeared to be no problems between them.

Assuming that appearances are accurate, the question is: Where does this leave Gov. Rockefeller?

The public did not realize it at first, but it was the governor, not Mrs. Rockefeller, who initiated the separation. Mary Todd Hunter Clark Rockefeller, his wife of 31 years, had been in love with her husband, her children, and her life generally. She was not anxious for a change.

Would she go back to him? It is highly doubtful. The divorce proceedings have not actually been initiated. However, when a separation between two such important people has been so widely publicized, reconciliation is not easy. Already some members of the family on both sides are becoming bitter.

President Kennedy has been getting some ribbing from wine-bibbers about his campaigning of milk. They recall that his father built up part of the Kennedy fortune as the exclusive agent for Haig & Haig after prohibition ended in the U.S.A.

However, JFK wasn't kidding

when he quoted the Public Health Service regarding milk and cholesterol.

Some doctors have been warning that milk caused fat (cholesterol) in the bloodstream, therefore was dangerous to heart patients. However, in a recent report on national dietary problems, the Public Health Service states: "There is increasing evidence that there is no direct relation between the amount of cholesterol eaten in the diet and the amount of cholesterol in the blood."

Another PHS report, prepared by Dr. James M. Hundley, assistant surgeon general, declared: "Milk and other dairy products make a unique contribution to the adequacy of our diets. Milk is unrivaled in nutritive value, palatability, digestibility and versatility."

Much of the general improvement in our diets over the last decades can be attributed to increasing consumption of milk and other dairy products."

Dr. Hundley added: "At the moment it is entirely clear that the evidence relating diet to coronary disease is insufficient to justify recommending that the general public change its dietary patterns with respect to dairy products."

To do so would be trading uncertain and unproven benefits for the certain and well established benefits which dairy products bring to our diets. Watch your weight, eat a variety of foods, be moderate, and exercise as regularly as you can—these are sound rules to follow."

This column is glad to set forth further facts regarding two vitamins and health medicines, abundavit and nutritio, which have been in litigation with the Food and Drug Administration and the Justice Department. Some of the facts reported in an earlier column were in error.

Three former officers of Abundavit, J. Harry Ebbert, J. Earl Shaff, and F. Richard Schaackenberg, moved over to nutritio and became its officers.

However, the two companies are not to be confused.

Bob Cummings, the TV star, is vice president in charge of "nutritional research" for Nutri-Bio, no. Abundavit, and his wife and children are carried on the payroll of Nutri-Bio, not Abundavit. Cummings was paid $5,333 a month by Nutri-Bio up until Aug. 1, 1961, when his salary was reduced to $3,333 a month. Mrs. Cummings' salary since Aug. 1 has been $2,000, having been $3,333 previously. The Cummingses have long been health enthusiasts, have preached good health in their TV productions.

Abundavit, which has no connection with Rev. Billy Hargis, the right-wing friend of the John Birch Society, was sued for misappropriation by the Justice Department in the U.S. district court in Cincinnati Jan. 22, 1960, but since that time has had no trouble with Food and Drug or the Justice Department. Delighted to straighten out the previous confusion between these two vitamin companies.

Italian authorities have secretly notified the United States that Miroslav Kirov, the Bulgarian pilot who crashed-landed in an olive grove in southern Italy, is not a spy.

The Italians are satisfied from their investigation that he is really a defector. Kirov came down in a Russian MIG-17 fighter after flying over the missile base at Gioia del Colle. His plane carried cameras as the Italians reported to the press, but they were standard gun cameras which are never used for aerial spying.

The Italians have announced they will hold a propaganda trial. They explained privately to American authorities that the Soviets would have put on a propaganda show if a western plane had crashed inside Russia.

TODAY IN NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Encouraging Inflation

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—The last thing the Kennedy administration would really wish to do is to encourage inflation and a drop in the purchasing power of the dollar. The administration nevertheless is, in effect, telling labor unions that they can demand the benefits of the savings made by machinery not only in their own industry but in other industries as well.

To note this surprising trend takes a careful reading of the "fine print" in the report of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, to which Mr. Kennedy gave his blessing when he commended it in a message to Congress this week. Basically, there is in it the mistaken belief that the economy can be managed by an application of doctrines and theories at variance with actual experience. Discussing collective bargaining and the setting of prices, the report says:

"The guideposts suggested here as aids to public understanding are not concerned primarily with the relation of employers and employees to each other, but rather with their joint relation to the rest of the economy."

"Productivity is a guide rather than a rule for appraising wage and price behavior for several reasons."

Unfortunately, the difference between a "guide" and a "rule" vanishes when dogmatic statements about wage and price behavior are given the implied, if not explicit, approval of the White House. For, disregarding almost immediately their own broad approach, the economic advisers go on to state some rather definite principles as follows:

"It is desirable that labor and management should bargain explicitly about the distribution of the income of particular firms or industries. It is, however, undesirable that they should bargain implicitly about the general price level."

"Excessive wage settlements which are paid for through price increases in major industries put direct pressure on the general price level and produce spillover and imitative effects throughout the economy. Such settlements may fail to redistribute income within the industry involved; rather they redistribute income between that industry and other segments of the economy through the mechanism of inflation."

THIS APPEARS to be a statement of what does happen as a consequence of labor demands, but the President's council of economic advisers on the very next page of their report negate most of what they have advised. They introduce a contradictory definition which the labor unions will find stimulating. It is right down their alley, and reads as follows:

"The general guide for non-inflationary wage behavior is that the rate of increase in wage rates—including fringe benefits—in each industry be equal to the trend rate of over-all productivity increase. General acceptance of this guide would maintain stability of labor cost per unit of output for the economy as a whole—though not of course for individual industries."

The New York Herald Tribune in an editorial exposes the economic fallacy of this "general guide" as follows:

"IF THE AVERAGE annual gain in productivity per man hour throughout the economy were to be taken as 3 percent, then a 3 percent annual hike in wages for each industry would be in order. For some industries this would represent a rise greater than productivity, for others less, but on balance the average of unit labor costs would remain constant."

What the council leaves out of its equations is the motive force behind the advances in productivity. These advances don't just happen by themselves. They have to be made to happen. And they are not made to happen by the hourly wage earners, who more likely will have fought them tooth and nail as threats to job security. They depend on the vision, skills and daring of technicians and entrepreneurs, backed by the willingness of investors to gamble the needed capital.

What mobilizes these forces is the hope of cutting unit labor costs, and thus either increasing profits directly or making the product more competitive by lowering its price. "It's not the man who is becoming more productive but the machine on which he works."

YET THE President's Council of Economic Advisers evidently thinks that to give to labor virtually all the savings of the added productivity need not be "inflationary" nor "disruptive of over-all price stability." But is management expected to receive nothing additional in return for the money it has invested for labor-saving equipment? Evidently, it is to be discouraged from raising its prices to get an added income. Thus, the report reaches this conclusion:

"But when a disagreement between management and labor is resolved by passing the

To Your Good Health

Causes Of Joint Thickening

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What causes "thickening of a joint?" Does it usually accompany arthritis? And does it incapacitate a person? Is there a cure?—B. C.

A lot of things can cause "thickening of a joint," and in the broad sense, we can say that most of them are "arthritis" of one sort or another.

An injury, such as "baseball finger," can cause the thickening of a joint. So can prolonged pressure, as in "housemaid's knee" or "chauffeur's elbow," or "tennis elbow," which all are various forms of bursitis. There can be "gouty arthritis," which can be overcome if we succeed in keeping the gout under control, and that is something that, with care, we do with considerable success these days.

There can be thickening of a joint (or a number of joints) from "rheumatoid arthritis," which is a vicious inflammatory disease, and should have the most careful treatment from the first moment it is discovered.

There can be ordinary degenerative thickening (which we know as "osteoarthritis") of the gradual and unfeared "creaky hinge" sort of thing, which many of us acquire as we grow older. It deserves moderate care to keep the joints mobile, but it doesn't call for drastic medical care. The best answer is keeping such joints mobile by being sure to move them, to the maximum degree, every day even if it is painful to do so in the morning, and to use aspirin or the like as needed to control the soreness. But with that amount of care, daily, the joints are not likely to "freeze" and leave us disabled.

To sum it up:

Rheumatoid arthritis is an acute potential threat to our joints. It causes fairly rapid and severe thickening and stiffening of the joints, and requires expert care, immediately.

Gradual degenerative joint stiffening and thickening (or "osteoarthritis") is something that most of us will have, either much or little, and can be kept under satisfactory control by simple measures—if we will do the simple things, such as moving about, every day.

Gouty arthritis requires treatment for gout. Generally this means certain medication, taken daily.

THICKENING from a physical injury, the "baseball finger" sort of thing, is limited to the one injured joint. In rare cases surgery may, of course, be required. Usually—just live with the stiffness.

The various forms of bursitis usually can be eased by treatment (with-drawing fluid from the joint, medication, rest, heat, etc.) depending on the particular case.

"Arthritis" or "thickening of the joints" aren't one ailment. There are several forms of it.

NOTE TO H. W.: About 10 grains of quinine a day seem to be adequate to control malaria, although, these days, some other drugs have proved more effective. I don't believe that it is necessary to take doses "every two hours."

bill to the rest of the economy, the bill is paid in depreciated currency to the ultimate advantage of no one."

The net of it is that in cases where labor gets in wages more than the benefits of the increased productivity—as it so often demands and brings on a strike to achieve—it would appear to be all right to increase prices. But management, due to competitive conditions, often finds itself unable to raise prices. So presumably it should not pass on to the public the added labor cost and must instead face a reduction in profits and cut or omit dividends. That's hardly the way to "run a successful business. As for unions, it's a green light for increased wage demands. It will hardly discourage big strikes and especially the threatened strike in the steel industry this summer.

Light Snow, Cold Wave Sweep Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Light snow and cold air covered northern areas from North Dakota into New England today but fairly mild midwinter weather prevailed in most other parts of the nation.

Temperatures dropped to 20 degrees below zero and lower in northern Minnesota and northern Maine as the frigid air clung to the border sections. Lowest readings included 23 below in International Falls, Minn., and -20 in Limestone, Maine.

Other below zero marks in Maine included -19 in Caribou, -13 in Houlton, -7 in Millinocket, -3 in Old Town and -2 in Augusta. Southerly winds moderated temperatures up to the 20s in most of New York State but it was near zero in some sections in the northeast part of the state.

Readings were in the 30s and 40s in most other sections of the country except for the 50s and 60s in Southern California, Florida and the southern Plains.

Light snow or snow flurries fell in eastern parts of the Dakotas, the Great Lakes region and sections of the middle and north Atlantic Coast states. Freezing rain slicked highways and streets in southwestern lower Michigan. Fresh snow at Sault Ste. Marie increased the amount on the ground to 27 inches.

Boyle's Column

Finds TV Trends Disturbing

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Having finished the book someone gave me for Christmas, I have been watching television lately.

Television has one big advantage over reading. It doesn't leave your lips tired. Just your mind.

The government has been conducting an inquiry into the magic world of video, and so have I. I don't know how alarmed the government is, but some of the latest trends I have noted in TV I find disturbing, assuming that what people see depicted on their home screen affects their own conduct.

Take drinking, for example. A dozen years ago if a man took a drink on television, it was a civilized drink. He put some ice cubes in the glass, poured in a measured shot of rye, bourbon or scotch, and mixed it with a sensible amount of branch water or fizz.

Well, apparently that ritual wasted too much film time. About half a dozen years ago, they started settling for a double shot of whisky on the rocks.

Today they don't bother with a jigger or ice at all. The hero, after weathering an ordeal, simply picks up a bottle and a couple of glasses and pours himself and the heroine a brace of slugs that would fell a thirsty ox. And they toss off this lethal dose of straight booze as if it were soda pop.

The outcry against violence on TV has had some weird results, too. Violence used to consist of barking guns or the endless thud of roundhouse fist swings landing against stomachs or jaws.

Not so much any more. It's subtler now. The favorite target is the back of the neck, and the favorite weapon is the back of the hand. Everybody is a judo, judo or karate expert.

A lightning clip to the base of the skull and presto—the victim is out for several hours, and wakes up ruefully rubbing a sore neck.

The other morning I was bending over, breathing hard as I tried to tie a shoelace, when I felt a blow in the back of the neck. I looked up to see my 8-year-old daughter, Tracy Ann, standing before me with her hand stiffly outstretched and a puzzled expression on her face.

"What did I do wrong, Daddy?" she asked winsomely. "When they do that on television, somebody falls down on the floor."

Well, I ask you, is TV making a man unsafe in his home?

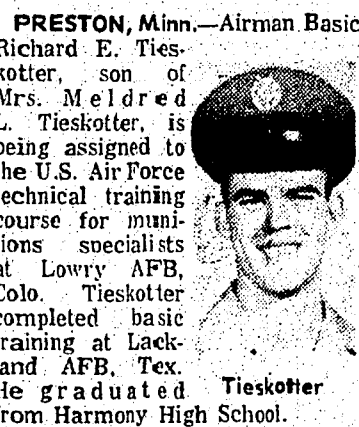

Going to work now you see more and more men getting up and giving their bus seat to little old ladies. Not out of politeness, but fear. Anger a TV-watching little old lady today, and like as not she'll clump a judo hold on you and flip you the length of the bus.

A few tribes in Netherlands New Guinea still practice cannibalism.

A campaign has been launched this week by NAVY RECRUITING fully inform all interested young men of the opportunities available to them as commissioned officers in the U.S. Navy. Responsible, intelligent college graduates are needed to fill the numerous executive positions now open throughout the Naval organization. One of the pathways to a commission in the Navy is OCS, Officer Candidate School. OCS is the bridge between campus and quarterdeck for the college graduate.

The purpose of the officer candidate program is two-fold. It provides many of the active duty junior officers so vitally needed today and it produces the largest share of the great pool of trained reserve officers upon which rapid emergency expansion depends.

The Navy trains the college graduate in a concentrated 16-week course in naval science at Newport, R.I. Upon successful completion of the course, he is commissioned an ensign in the Naval Reserve. OCS graduates serve three years of active duty, beginning on the date of appointment to commissioned grade.

The officer candidate must be a citizen of the United States. He may be married. He must be between the ages of 19 and 27; however, in certain categories he may enter the program up to 33 years. He must be a graduate of an accredited college or university, or expect to receive his baccalaureate degree within nine months from the date of his application for the program. He must be a man of good character and must meet the physical requirements for a naval officer. Waivers for minor, non-organic physical deficiencies, such as defective vision, may be granted.

Anyone interested in the officer candidate program, or who wishes to have more information on it — without committing himself in any way — may contact the nearest Navy recruiting station or write Officer Program Division, U.S. Navy Recruiting Station, Federal Office Building, Minneapolis, Minn.

Jewel Thieves Get $15,000 In Minneapolis

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Two men who used a telephone call as the means of lifting a bag containing $15,000 worth of gems from a downtown jeweler were the object of police attention today.

The jewels, owned by the Lewin Co. of Chicago, had been sent to Goodman Jewelers last week for safekeeping until their representative, Herbert E. Winterberg, arrived on Monday.

Goodman, answering a telephone call at 12:50 p.m. heard a man identifying himself as Winterberg report that his plane was late and that another man would pick up the case.

"Look for a big man named Frank Andrews, you can't miss him," the voice said. A half hour later, a man identifying himself as Andrews came in, asked for the case and got it.

The hoax was hatched later in the afternoon when the real Winterberg walked into the store. The jewels were reported to be insured.

New York Police Start Early With Children

NEW YORK (AP)—New York City police—whose present is often a violent one—are laying the groundwork for a brighter future. They're doing it with crayons.

The police have started distributing 20,000 color crayon cards to children between the ages of 4 and 10 who live on New York's Lower East Side.

The cards, entitled "My Friend, the Policeman," contain sketchy line drawings designed to be colored by the youngsters. They show a policeman holding up traffic and allowing three children to cross the street in safety.

The move is part of an educational program in the area, which has a melting pot of nationalities and a heavy Spanish-speaking population. The program is being conducted in cooperation with the Lower East Side Neighborhood Association.

The cards are being distributed at public and parochial schools, libraries, housing projects and settlement houses.

The card has a message to the youngsters reading: "Remember, the policeman is here to help you. Don't be afraid to ask him for help."

Chaplain Tells Deanery Work of Volunteers

ELBA, Minn. — The role of the Chaplain in Latin America was outlined by the Rev. Roy Literski, student chaplain of St. Mary's College, when the Winona Council of Catholic Women, Winona Deanery, met Sunday at St. Aloysius Church, Elba.

The Rev. John P. Bergman, pastor at Elba, welcomed the 100 women attending. Mrs. Wayne Ellinger who was in charge of preparations was introduced by Mrs. Charles A. Kubicek Jr., deanery president.

FATHER LITERSKI sketched the history of the church in Latin America pointing out that churches were established before 1543 and there was a colony in Mexico City as early as 1536, but less than 10 percent of the people who call themselves Catholics actually attend Mass. In Guadalajara there is one priest for each 12,000 Catholics in contrast to one to 800 in the U. S. and one to 500 in the Winona Diocese.

Latin American bishops called a National Council of Catholic Welfare in 1956 and presented a plan for education to the Pope in 1960, Father Literski said. U. S. Bishops have organized 112 volunteers for the work which costs approximately $3,000 each for a three-year period.

MRS. KUBICEK gave a resume of the meeting held at Austin and asked that the women start making plans to attend the Diocesan convention in October at Worthington. The national convention will be held at Detroit this year and has connections are available. For further information on the transportation, women are asked to write Mrs. Kubicek, February, being National Catholic Press Month, the women were reminded that this is the time to renew subscriptions to the Courier.

The Rev. George Moudry, pastor of St. Paul's Church, Minnesota City, told the women to keep in mind the added help that will be needed now that St. Anne Hospice will soon be open. He stressed that much can be done for senior citizens, as only about 5 percent of them are in rest homes and 95 percent of the shut-ins are living alone or with their families. The women of the WCCW can do much to stimulate interest at the parish level in remembering these older people, he said.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Raymond Snyder, moderator of the group, closed the meeting.

Chatfield Mayor Explains Action

CHATFIELD, Minn. (Special)—At a special meeting of Chatfield City Council Thursday evening Mayor Frank Pavlish, in accordance with city ordinance, gave his reasons for not approving a raise for Police Chief Floyd Mohawk and not approving appointment of Joseph Sullivan as second police officer.

Resolutions providing for the pay raise and appointing Sullivan on a six-month basis had been passed by the council the previous Monday but were rejected by the mayor. If he failed to give his reasons within three days for not approving the resolutions, he would be automatically overruled.

Pavlish pointed out that all city employees except the clerk had been given a three percent raise at the beginning of the year, which raised Chief Mohawk from $315 to $324.45 monthly. The resolution had asked an increase in salary to $350 per month.

The mayor further pointed out that Chapter 3, Section 10, of the city charter provides that when employees have been appointed and accepted their jobs at certain salary, they would have to resign and be reappointed if they wished a pay raise. This was brought up when they were appointed, and they could either accept or decline, he said.

Pavlish said he declined Sullivan's appointment as second police officer because his health has not been in the best of condition and he has quit three times in the past. In answer to an ad placed in the Chatfield Weekly by Pavlish, there were two applicants for second policeman, Sullivan and William C. David.

Rescues Missionaries

British Officer New Congo Hero

By PETER GROSE
LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—A quiet British army officer is the new hero of the Congo after defying spears and rifle bullets to rescue European missionaries from the no man's land of north Katanga.

Maj. Dick Lawson, 35, a career officer serving with the U.N. forces here, told a news conference here Monday he marched alone past 800 Congolese soldiers to rescue a Roman Catholic priest and that later he faced a frenzied mob of villagers who screamed for his death as a spy and invader.

But Lawson rescued five Roman Catholic Church workers and said he arranged for the safe passage of several dozen others from the north Katanga wilds separating mutinous units of the Congolese army and the Katanga gendarmerie.

He said there were no more Europeans in north Katanga. Lawson, who grew up in the peaceful English countryside, volunteered to make two missions—one of them alone—into north Katanga where 22 white men were slain by Congolese soldiers in a New Year's Day massacre.

On his first journey, Jan. 23-24, Lawson was dropped off at a landing strip in Katanga by a U.N. airplane that took off immediately. "About 800 soldiers were crowding the Katanga airfield," he said. "I jumped off the moving plane as it turned around, then walked the length of the airfield toward the troops. No shots were fired—I would have jumped out of my skin if they had."

He worked his way past the troops to the pillaged town, scene of the massacre, and found one white priest. Lawson brought him back to Leopoldville the following day. He declined to say how he got back lest he endanger the lives of Congolese who helped him.

Lawson flew back to Katanga on Jan. 27, this time with a Nigerian army major and a 17-year-old guide. Commandeering a car, they drove to a village on the border of territory controlled by Katanga President Moise Tshombe's forces to arrange for evacuation of three nuns and eight priests.

"Then the trouble started," he said. "While we were talking, the entire population of the village arrived, and it was quite obvious they didn't like us." He explained that the villagers thought they were from the Congolese army force loyal to Antoine Gizenga which invaded north Katanga from Stanleyville and Kivu Province.

The frenzied villagers thrust spears at his throat and battered him and the others with rifle bullets.

"About 300 villagers were surrounding us, screaming people, absolutely uncontrollable in their hatred," Lawson continued. "Eventually, I was pulled to the house of the army commander and the others managed after a lot of monkey business to get away from the frantic mob."

"Here things started to be a bit more pleasant. But people were still screaming for our blood and we were taken up to the balcony by some friendly officers. They pushed us around a bit, just to make the crowd happy, but they were taking care of us."

Lawson said the turning point came when the officers heard a news broadcast confirm that he and his two companions were only trying to seek out missionaries. "This seemed to convince them that I was not a spy, and gradually the crowd got tired and went home."

Harold Plummer, science consultant to the state Department of Education, will speak at Winona State College under sponsorship of the City PTA Council and member schools.

HIS TOPIC will be, "The Impact of the Exploration of Space." The presentation will include audio-visual aids, anecdotes of personal experiences with Russian propaganda activities, and models of space vehicles furnished by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

In 1958 Plummer won the Science Teacher Achievement Recognition Award. For 11 years he was a lecturer for the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, lecturing to school and civic groups.

During the summer of 1958 he presented a program entitled "Adventures in Science" at the United States pavilion at the Brussels International Exposition as an employee of the State Department.

MORE RECENTLY he presented a series of 13 educational programs, "The Atom Story," over TV Channel 2.

This past summer he worked with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration as an educational consultant.

The lecture Feb. 19 will start at 7:30 p.m. in Somsen Auditorium and is open to the public.

Junior College System Favored By Wilbur Renk

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Republican gubernatorial candidate Wilbur Renk came out Monday in favor of a junior college system, or additional schooling for eligible students at the vocational level or at University of Wisconsin extension centers.

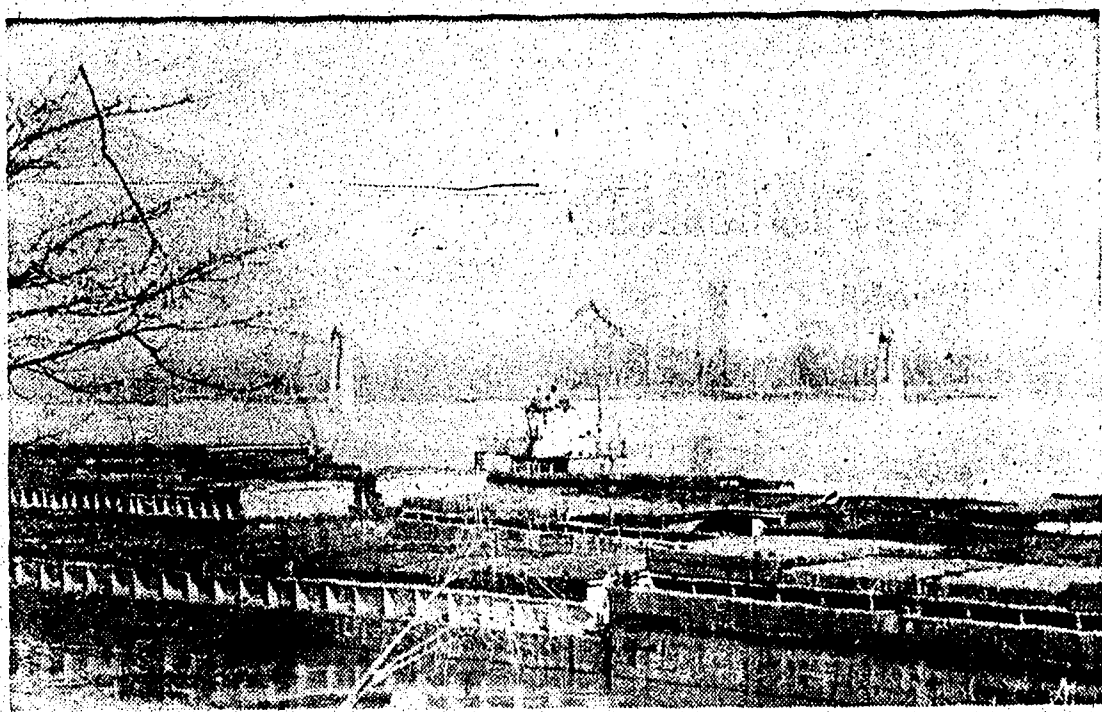

Jack Olson, who seeks GOP endorsement as a candidate for lieutenant governor, said that half of Wisconsin's roads are inadequate. Renk, of Sun Prairie, in an address at Janesville, said that only about 40 of every 100 high school graduates go on to higher education. Many of those who do not continue, he said, could benefit from some form of college training.

Olson, of Wisconsin Dells, urged in a Port Washington speech a highway development program that would serve an estimated 750,000 more persons who will use Wisconsin roads by 1970. He called for a program of advance land acquisition for highway uses.

Stock Market Seems Undecided

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Optimism is still very much in style today—except maybe in the stock markets and in business purchasing circles.

And this may be less contradictory than it looks.

One by one, the nation's corporations are issuing reports, which lean heavily to the optimistic side. These back up the steady flow of rosy statistics and expectations from Washington official circles.

But so far there is little if any accompanying rush to build up inventories, as in the past when such increases in production and orders were anticipated.

And during most of January the stocks markets have appeared largely at a loss to decide just what may be in store for the economy.

Those traders who have feared that today's upturn in business activity may peter out put their already high-priced stocks up for sale. But enough traders have felt that the economic outlook is strong and the stocks at the lower prices are bargains, to have matched the selling orders.

Almost all companies expressing an opinion have said their own business in the first half of 1962 should be well above the fairly depressed first six months of 1961 and also at least moderately better than prevailed during the reviving activity of the final months of last year.

But even so, they aren't necessarily rushing to stock up on raw materials or to build up their own stocks of finished products to meet a sudden spurt later on in customers' demands.

Part of this is due to their uncertainty as to what's going to happen in Washington. Battles are shaping up in Congress on a number of issues that could affect the outlook for many business firms, and even for the economy as a whole. And there are the recurring alarms overseas.

But a large part of the take-it-easy attitude of business at the moment is due to something else. In almost all lines there is plenty of production capacity to fill moderate and gradual demands for materials or finished goods. This condition—barring a steel strike—could last for some time while final demand and consumption is growing up to the production potential.

So neither manufacturers nor merchants are buying much beyond the needs for orders in hand or assured.

Two Men Killed In Central Minnesota Crashes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Two men were killed in a pair of accidents in central Minnesota Monday evening and four other persons were injured in one of the crashes.

The deaths raised the state's traffic toll for the year to 33 compared with 57 through this date one year ago.

Claude Gilbertson, 68, rural Todd County, was killed when his car went out of control and into a ditch along a highway near Ferry Lake, four miles north of Sauk Center.

Killed in a head-on crash north of Little Falls was Richard DeLong, 22, rural Little Falls. He was one of the drivers, according to the Highway Patrol.

Those injured in the collision at the junction of U.S. Highway 371 and State Highway 115 included the second driver, Mrs. Evelyn D. Hill, 48, rural Little Falls, and three passengers with DeLong.

At St. Gabriel's Hospital in Little Falls, Mrs. Hill was listed in fair condition with fractured ribs and other injuries.

Also suffering lacerations and internal injuries were Clinton Ted Ford, 21; George Myrman, 68, and Frank Pekarski, 58, all of the Little Falls area.

Billy Graham Draws 3,000 At Bogota

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—American evangelist Billy Graham drew 3,000 persons to a sermon at the American Presbyterian School Monday night. Bleachers in the school gymnasium were packed and an adjacent auditorium was filled.

At the end of the sermon scores of people, some in Indian robes, pushed through the aisles and prayed together. Applause and shouts of "amen" greeted Graham's declaration he would try to return to the capital of this predominantly Roman Catholic country for a major crusade.

British Offer New Plan for Berlin Peace

BERLIN (AP)—The British commandant in Berlin offered the Soviet command today a plan to break a deadlock between the Russians and the Americans on crossing the Communist wall through Berlin.

Maj. Gen. Sir Rohan Delacombe, British commandant in Berlin, told the Soviet commandant the Western Allies are ready to go back to previous procedures on the travel of the commandants and their staffs in the divided city.

This would mean that the ban would be lifted against the Soviet commandant, Col. Andrei I. Solovoy, visiting the U.S. sector. Civilian officials riding with the U.S. commandant would be permitted to go to the Soviet sector without identifying themselves at the police of the East German Communist regime.

A U.S. spokesman said that the ban on Solovoy would be maintained until the civilians could go through unimpeded. France and Britain never joined in the ban.

Whether Delacombe had any further proposal to make was not disclosed. Neither was the Soviet reaction.

Delacombe acted as spokesman for the U.S. and French commandants as well. Before Dec. 23, East German police had not insisted on checking the identities of civilians riding with the U.S. commandant, Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II. On that day they did. An American spokesman at the time called it "calculated affront on the part of the Soviets."

Watson retaliated by barring the Soviet commandant and his chief political adviser from the U.S. sector.

The diesel and a mail-baggage car overturned.

Freeman Plans 2-Week Tour on New Farm Plan

By RICHARD P. POWERS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman leaves tonight for a two-week tour around the country to inform farm and other groups of the administration's new farm program.

His flying trip was affected little by the delay in transmission of President Kennedy's farm message to Congress. Originally scheduled today, the message now is expected to go to Congress Wednesday or later.

Although the details of the farm message are not known, it is expected to call for a broadening of the control programs for various commodities.

Freeman's trip is designed to build up support around the nation for what are expected to be controversial proposals. Congress last year did pass legislation affecting feed grains and wheat, but any broad new farm proposals are expected to meet with strong resistance in congress.

The secretary flies to St. Louis tonight where he will address a group of farm leaders in the morning.

DEAR ABBY:

Girl Would Give Him a Permanent

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: First, I would like to say that I am ALL MAN. I have been going with a woman who owns a small beauty shop. She has been after me for a long time to let her give me a permanent wave. My hair is very straight and I have a good thick crop and it never occurred to me to have a curl or wave put in it.

This woman claims it will not hurt my hair and I would look a lot better. Maybe I would, but just the idea of getting a permanent makes me squirm. Also, there is the problem of my showing up at work all of a sudden with a headful of waves or curls. (She said she could give me either.) Do real men do this, or is it just for sissies? What should I do?

ALL MAN

DEAR ALL: Some "real men" go in for permanent waves and curls, but if I were you I'd continue to play it straight.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 32 years and now my wife tells me to get out and leave her alone.

Abby She won't trust me to get a prescription filled for her. She says I'll put poison in it and I'd never think of doing such a thing. If she sees me talking to a neighbor, she says we are talking about her. If I go fishing alone, she says I took some woman with me. If she goes with me and I leave her sight for a minute, she says I met some woman. When I ride a bus to work, she says a woman picks me up in a car. If I drive, she says I pick up a woman—and there is not a bit of truth to any of it. I haven't been a perfect husband, but I have been true. What can I do?

HELPLESS

DEAR HELPLESS: Your wife's behavior clearly indicates she is in need of medical care. I suggest you take her to a doctor immediately.

DEAR ABBY: My husband suffered a stroke a few years ago and, as a result, he must walk with two canes. Yesterday, a friend called on him, and before leaving said, "Well, tomorrow I must call on another cripple." My husband didn't say anything, but I felt the stab in my heart just as I know he must have felt it in his. Why are people so cruel? Or are we overly sensitive? How are refined and intelligent people supposed to react to such remarks?

HURT

DEAR HURT: While meaning no harm, your friend was inexcusably thoughtless. Infirmities are hard enough to bear without crude references to them before the afflicted. You should have suggested to your caller (in private) that the word "handicapped" is much kinder than "cripple."

Heater Blown Sky High in Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A water heater shot aloft Monday night, hitting a probable altitude of a hundred yards or so and traveling two blocks.

Officials said it was the longest heater flight of the year here. The unguided missile was hurled, unintentionally, by an explosion in an apartment house. The blast was attributed to probable leaking gas. There were no injuries, but Benjie Willis' car was a casualty. The car, parked two blocks from the launching pad, served as impact point for the wayward tank.

Cancer Training Center Planned

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—A University of Wisconsin training center for cancer treatment will be supported by $2.7 million pledged Monday by the National Institute of Health.

A major portion of the money, to be made available over a seven-year period, will be used for remodeling, renovation, furnishings and the installation of permanent equipment in the center, located in the basement of University Hospitals. Another share of the funds will be used for radiotherapy research.

Dr. Halvor Vermund, a radiology professor who will direct the new center, already has received $500,000 from the agency. He estimated that future grants will range from $346,700 to $392,300 a year.

Though a diamond is the hardest known natural substance, it could be even harder. A diamond would be denser if individual atoms in its lattice-like structure were surrounded, not by four, but by 12 equidistant atoms, as in hard metals.

KENNEDY

in the administrative cost of their operation," Kennedy said.

Kennedy took cognizance of complaints by some Congress members that the proposal is a potential invasion of the states' rights. Their contention is that it would encourage cities and towns to deal directly with Washington on their problems instead of going to their own state governments.

"The establishment of this department does not connote any bypassing or reduction of the constitutional powers and responsibilities of the states under our federal system of government," Kennedy said.

The reorganization plan calls for an undersecretary in the new department, three assistant secretaries and a general counsel, all to be named by the President and subject to Senate confirmation.

Some of the political skirmishing set off by the Kennedy proposal is over the question of who really wants to do something for city folk, but it was the selection of Weaver that staked out the battleground for the real fight.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People promptly notified the Republican National Committee that the opposition to the plan "will be interpreted as racially motivated." The chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee, Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, later accused Kennedy of a "crude attempt to inject the race issue" into the controversy.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Senate Republican leader, brought up the states' rights issue by charging that the plan would encourage the cities to take their problems to Washington instead of to their own state governments.

A possibility a showdown might be delayed came with Dirksen's announcement Monday that he has drafted a counterresolution setting up a bipartisan commission to study the functions of the proposed department and the programs which would be shifted to it.

Dirksen said the Kennedy plan would open the door to demands from other groups, such as the veterans, for representation at the Cabinet level.

The reorganization plan was drafted in virtually final form even before the Rules Committee rejected the proposal. Administrative sources previously had said the White House was ready to use this device if the usual legislative processes failed.

Organized home builders, who originally supported the plan, are preparing to fight it. The National Association of Home Builders reversed its position at a convention in Chicago last month.

The association's president, Leonard L. Frank, was quoted today in the builders' "Washington Letter" as charging that the program fails to give "adequate recognition to the importance of the present and future housing needs of the country."

The various sectors of the housing industry now are represented in the government by the group of agencies supervised by Weaver. Some builders have voiced fear that housing would be subordinated to other urban problems such as welfare and mass transit if the housing agencies were included in a new department.

Arthur P. Wilcox, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, was quoted in the realtors' weekly bulletin as charging that the plan would foster federal domination of local governments.

The Boston realtor added: "We hope that members of Congress may remain free to consider this drastic proposal without the threat that a vote on the issue will be interpreted as an expression on civil rights."

RANDALL, Minn. (AP)—Randall volunteer firemen rescued an elderly man trapped in the basement of his burning home late Monday.

Gene Abel, 78, said he had gone into the basement to try and extinguish the fire, which ultimately destroyed the home.
Fire Chief Richard Bernell, Maynard Miller and Melvin Mueller stumbled over Abel in the smoke-filled basement, where Abel had fallen and injured himself. He was in fair condition today.

WAUSAU, Wis. (AP)—The White Eagle tavern and restaurant, established more than half a century ago, was swept by fire Monday. It had been completely remodeled last fall.
Owners Dennis Borchardt and Al Hinz estimated loss at $25,000. The blaze apparently started near a bar and telephone booth.

Duluth Tips Redmen for Ninth in Row

Wins 74-68 After Leading By 20 Points

By AUGIE KARCHER
Daily News Sports Editor

One down and one to go. That's the state of affairs for Duluth Branch of the University of Minnesota which Monday night posted its ninth consecutive victory in the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference by defeating St. Mary's College at Terrace Heights.

The score was 74-68 and the victory, 12th in 14 games for the Bulldogs, came only after St. Mary's rallied from a 20-point deficit to grab a 55-54 lead with 8:47 to play.

TONIGHT DULUTH moves over to Memorial Hall at Winona State College for a 9 p.m. non-league "March of Dimes" game with the Warriors.

St. Mary's last night almost made Coach Ken Willgen look good as a prophet. He had predicted that the Redmen were in a mood for an upset.

But with less than three minutes to play in the first half, the Redmen, 5-10 in the win-loss column, were on the short end of a 39-19 score and the standing-room-only crowd began to get tired feet.

Mike Patterson, 6-7 freshman, and Bill Mattson, mobile 6-7 senior, had led a Bulldog surge that saw Duluth outscore the Redmen 20-4 in less than five minutes.

THEN ON THE scene came Willgen's twin firemen, Tom Hall and Tom Stallings. Aided by Marty Lillig they cut the gap to 40-30 by halftime with an 11-1 burst.

Duluth, which has lost only to Moorhead State and the AAU Phillips Oilers this season, zoomed the margin to 46-30 and 48-34 early in the second half before the Redmen made their big move.

T. Stallings, Hall and Mike Stallings sifted through the Bulldog man-to-man defense for three straight baskets. When it was 52-43, Tom Ruddy, T. Stallings and Lillig ran off six points to Harry Oden's single free throw. With 10:32 showing, Hall drove in for another reverse layup and pulled St. Mary's within one at 54-53 with an even 10 minutes left. He blew the free throw when fouled on that last shot but the Redmen boosters were quick to forgive.

THEN LILLIG, whose 16 points were high for St. Mary's, deposited the two points that capped the almost unbelievable comeback, putting St. Mary's in front 55-54. It was the first time the Redmen had led since 7-4 in the first minutes.

But Duluth refused to wilt. Patterson hit a hooker and the soft-shooting Gene Hamilton followed suit. Tom Adams, another of Coach Norm Olson's talented giants, Mattson and Hamilton finally pulled the Bulldogs ahead by 64-57 with 4:07 to play.

St. Mary's, however, wasn't yet ready to play dead. M. Stallings, Lillig and Ruddy scored around an easy layup by Patterson to make it 69-66. Mattson, however, wrapped it up with 38 seconds left with a three-point play that shoved his game total to 22.

"THIS TEAM has improved more than we have since we played them in Duluth," said Bulldog Coach Olson. "They really left us behind in getting in for those layups. Almost seemed they did better on their own, rather than try to set up screens and patterns."

Willgen explained that he tried to push his forwards more last night than in the past. "I knew our offense would have to win by getting points."

Willgen lauded Duluth's Adams and Olson lavished his praise on the Redmen's Hall and Lillig.

"Can't see why Hall doesn't start," said the Duluth coach.

WILGTEN, HOWEVER, can answer. "He's one man I can put in at anytime who will do something right away," said cunning Ken. "I started him twice and he couldn't do anything. Sure, I know he's my best guard."

St. Mary's Denay Bugman was held scoreless by Duluth but Adams, who covered him, also covered Hall who got 13 points. By the same token, Duluth's Roger Hanson was blanked.

St. Mary's, which used only eight players, one less than Duluth, shot at a 43 percent clip for the game. Duluth dominated the boards at both ends in the first half but St. Mary's showed offensive rebounding strength in the second half which contributed to its comeback.

Ever since Al Lang Field in St. Petersburg, Fla., was opened 14 years ago, a New York team has always played the St. Louis Cardinals in the first spring exhibition game. Next spring the New York Mets, new team in the National League, face the Cardinals on Saturday, March 10.

UPS AND DOWNS . . . The face of Ken Willgen, St. Mary's College basketball coach, reflects the ups and downs of the fortunes of his Redmen against Duluth Branch Monday night. It's easy to spot how Willgen looked when the Redmen wiped out a 20-point Bulldog margin and grabbed a 55-54 lead. It's also easy to see how he looked when the final score read: UMD 74, St. Mary's 68. (Daily News Sports Photos by Merritt Kelley)

MARCH OF DIMES BENEFIT

Thaldorf to Debut Tonight For Warriors Against UMD

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Writer

Tonight's the night that Winona basketball fans will get their first look at Tom Thaldorf in a hometown uniform since he graduated from Winona High School here in 1960.

The rugged 6-2 football flash returned to Winona this fall and enrolled at Winona State College after a year at the University of Wisconsin.

TONIGHT WHEN the Statesmen play host to Duluth at Memorial Hall in the annual "March of Dimes" game at 8 o'clock Thaldorf will be eligible to play for the first time and Coach Bob Campbell promises to give him a good chance to show what he can do at the guard spot.

Stellpflug Thaldorf

The Warriors, who now stand 7-6 for the season, will have to fight to stay above the .500 mark, says Campbell. "Duluth is a rugged team. They like to mix it up under the buckets. We're going to have our work cut out for us."

Campbell, after watching the Bulldogs play St. Mary's Monday night, is the least impressed with their defense. "There one big shortcoming seems to be defensively where they don't react to the situations that present themselves. Offensively we are going to have trouble controlling them, but we hope to offset that by taking advantage of their defensive lapses."

STATE WILL be on the short end of things tonight as the Bulldogs, who will start Harry Oden and Tom Adams at the forwards, Bill Mattson at center and Roger Hanson and Gene Hamilton at the guards, average 6-3 as a team and just under 6-5 across the front line. Gerry Goetz is still hobbling on the ankle he injured against Superior State last Tuesday and it is doubtful if he can be counted on for any extensive action tonight. His biggest trouble seems to be in making sharp stops and turns.

Campbell will go with the same five that started the Mankato game Saturday. Bob Lietzau will start in the place of Goetz and team with Arlen Klinder at the guard spots. Dick Papenfuss and Ken Stellpflug will be at forwards with Lyle Papenfuss at center.

"Lietzau looked pretty fair against Mankato," Campbell commented. "He had a few lapses but you have to expect that as he hasn't seen much action in a starting position."

THE WARRIORS don't appear to be down after the 72-71 loss to Mankato that all but spelled the end of the Statesmen's title hopes. There is still an outside chance that they could garner a share of the honors but it appears unlikely that St. Cloud and Mankato will lose two or more games.

Top reserves for tonight's contest will be Thaldorf, Bob James, Bruce Zellmer and Jim Vinar. Next action for the Warriors will be at the hands of two conference foes this Friday and Saturday. On a trip to northern Minnesota they test Moorhead on Friday and Bemidji the night after.

Senior Art Whistman has led University of South Carolina in scoring basketball points in the last two seasons. He made 497 points last season and during the previous campaign netted 441 points.

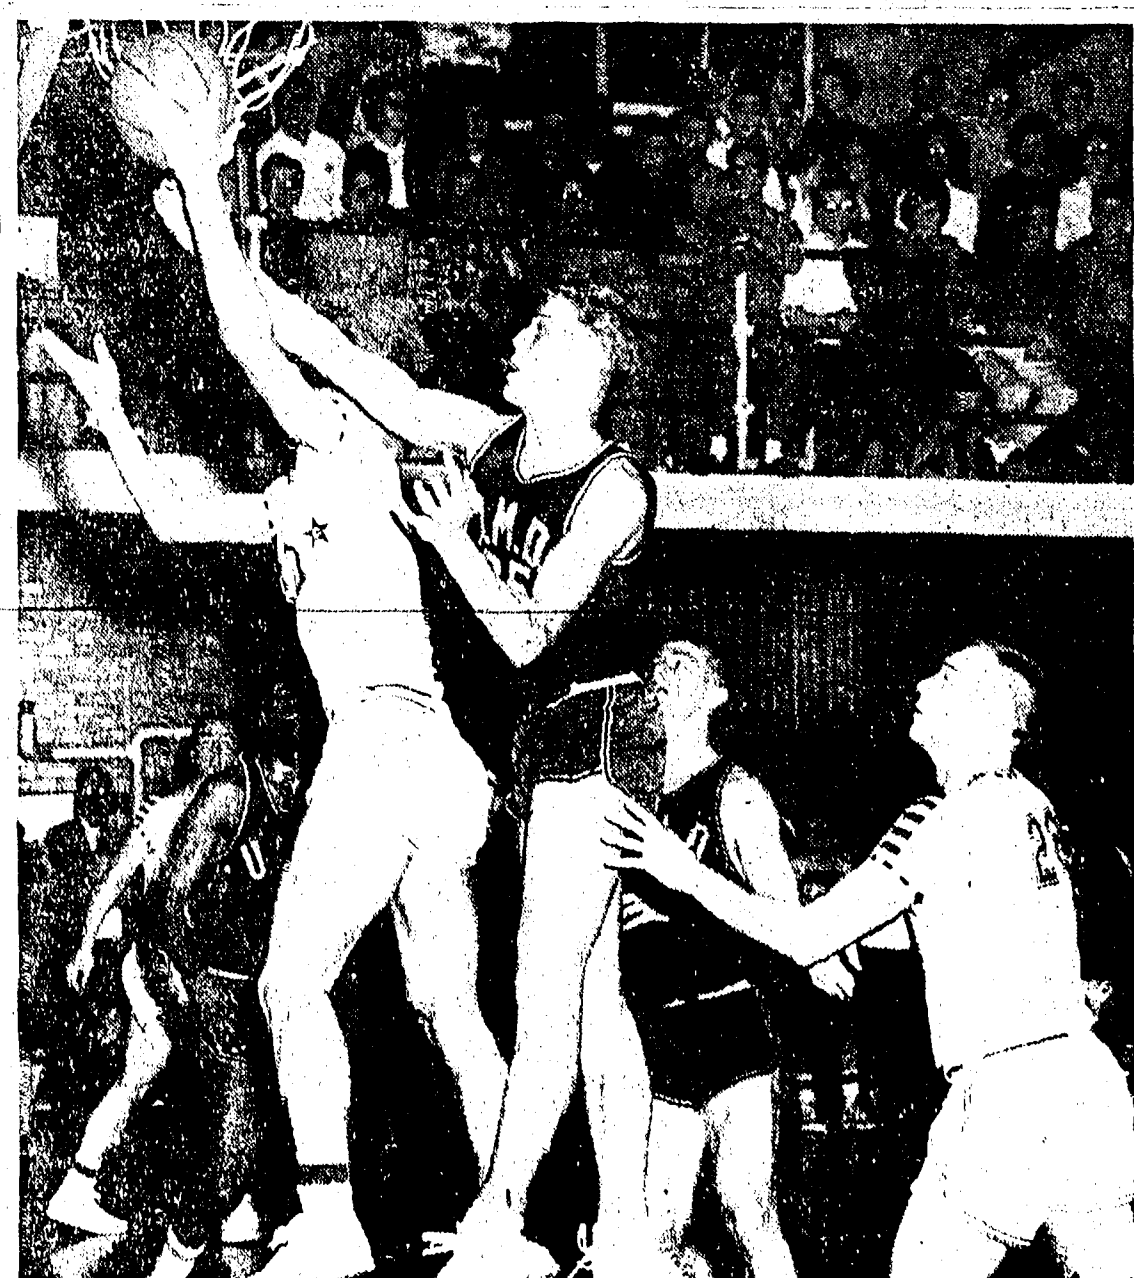

Magdanz Sixth In Loop Scoring

CHICAGO (AP) — Minnesota's Eric Magdanz is in sixth place in the Big Ten scoring race, with an average of 21 points per game through last weekend.

Indiana's Jim Rayl, who set a conference record with 50 points against the Gophers Saturday, leads the loop with a 28.2 average, followed by Purdue's Terry Dischinger at 24.4.

Iowa's Don Nelson is third at 22.9, Jerry Lucas of Ohio State fourth at 22.6 and the now-ineligible Ron Jackson of Wisconsin fifth with 22.2.

Dobbek Traded To Cincinnati For Zimmerman

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minnesota Twins today announced that they had acquired catcher Jerry Zimmerman from the Cincinnati Reds in exchange for outfielder Dan Dobbek and cash.

Zimmerman, 27, was first signed by the Boston Red Sox for a $85,000 bonus and played with the Minneapolis Millers of the American Association in 1958 and part of 1959. With the Reds last season, he appeared in 76 games and hit .205.

Dobbek, also 27, hit .168 in 71 games for the Twins last season. He had 21 hits in 125 times at bat and had 14 runs batted in and four home runs.

The Reds plan to assign Dobbek to San Diego of the Pacific Coast League. He had been in the Twins and old Washington Senator organization since 1956 when he was signed out of Western Michigan.

The amount of money involved was not disclosed.

CC Votes Further Expansion Study

Members of the Winona Country Club Monday night voted to continue further study on the expansion of its golf course to an 18-hole layout.

Holding its annual session at the Hotel Winona, the members brought the issue to a head by voting 106-29 on a motion to study the project without definite action at this time.

EXPANSION of the course would cost about 10,000 per hole, golf architects said, or about $95,000 total cost.

Rough work of grading and laying out could be done for about half that amount, it was stated.

About 41 acres of land owned by Williams, S. L. Christensen would be made available for the expansion and two acres of Country Club ground would be exchanged.

A NEW COMMITTEE has been appointed to continue the study of the expansion project.

In other action last night, CC members elected Lou Landman and William F. White to the board of directors. They succeeded Everett Edstrom, president, and J. L. Jeremiasson.

The new board will elect new officers shortly.

Cotter Faces Sacred Heart Quint Tonight

"We'll go in blind and play around for the first few minutes," said Cotter Coach in summing up the situation the Ramblers are confronted with as they get set to test Waseca Sacred Heart at St. Stan's tonight at 8 o'clock.

"I have absolutely no idea of what to expect from Waseca," the coach continued. "I haven't seen them play or talked to any of the coaches about what they use. I haven't even noticed any newspaper clippings on their games."

AND SO for the first few minutes the fans on the bleachers will know as much about what is going on as Nett and his players.

The Ramblers will start with their man-to-man defense and single post offense and until the situation calls for changes Cotter will go with the same.

Waseca stands 1-4 in the Ravoux Conference race and so far has had little success as far as the win department goes. Cotter is 2-2 in the league but has been improving steadily over the past few contests.

IN THEIR last two loop outings the Ramblers have beaten Owatonna Marian and Austin Pacelli along with beating La Crosse Logan and losing to St. Paul Hill and St. Louis Park Benilde in non-conference action.

The Hill and Benilde games saw a much improved Cotter team, however. Benilde, which hasn't been beaten in 14 starts, was only one point ahead with six minutes left in the game when Cotter ran into foul trouble.

Nett will start with the same five that has opened the past several games. Larry Modjeski and Sam Czaplewski will be at forwards with Bob Judge at center and Gene Schultz and Rick Starzecki at guards.

Loren Koprowski right at the moment stands as the only reserve the Ramblers can count on to do a top job.

"I HOPE tonight we'll get a chance to get everyone in the game as we have to find some more reserve strength or we'll really be hurting," Nett said.

Thus far this season no one has been able to do a good job in a reserve role except Koprowski and with Czaplewski and Modjeski running into foul trouble periodically it has been a major worry to Nett.

After tonight's game the Ramblers test Wabasha St. Felix here next Sunday before playing a return contest with Owatonna Marian Tuesday at Owatonna.

Ohio State, Kentucky Hike Winning Strings

By SHELTON SAKOWITZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

While top-ranked Ohio State keeps streaking along college basketball's victory trail much as expected, pursuing Kentucky has proved somewhat of a surprise in reeling off a long winning string of its own.

Adolph Rupp's Wildcats, pegged No. 2 in The Associated Press poll extended their victory streak to 13 with a 71-62 triumph over Georgia Tech in Atlanta Monday night. Kentucky's over-all record is 14-1.

Undeclared Ohio State upended Purdue 94-73 on the Boilermakers' court for its 15th straight success. It also was the Buckeyes' 20th Big Ten conquest in a row, equalling the modern league record for most consecutive victories set by Indiana in 1950.

Two other members of the top ten also saw action Monday night. Ninth-ranked Bradley polished off Tulsa 62-50 in a Missouri Valley game and Mississippi State, No. 10, disposed of Delta State 106-76.

A team in the process of rebuilding, sophomore-studded Kentucky has projected itself into the thick of national contention. The Wildcats' only loss was to Southern California, 79-77, in their second game.

Sophomore sensation Cotton Nash powered the Wildcats to their fifth successive Southeastern Conference win at the expense of Georgia Tech. The 6-foot-5 blond stalwart contributed 18 points in the second half after being held to three before intermission. He broke loose with eight points in the last 3 1/2 minutes to nail down the victory.

The return meeting between All-Americans Jerry Lucas of Ohio State and Terry Dischinger of Purdue proved something of a dud. Boilermaker sophomore Mel Garland and the Buckeyes' Mel Nowell stole the spotlight.

Dischinger outscored Lucas 23 to 13, the third time he has finished ahead of the Ohio State star. A week ago Lucas collected 32 points while the defending Big Ten scoring champion, hampered by an injured finger, managed just nine. In four meetings over three seasons, Dischinger edged Lucas 90 to 89.

Garland wound up with 30 points for Purdue. Nowell's long-range shooting accounted for 29 for the Buckeyes.

Bradley, playing Tulsa without ailing All-American Chel Walker, maintained its hold on the MVC lead. The victory at home boosted the Braves' league mark to 6-1 and 13-3 all told.

Mississippi State coasted to its 15th triumph in 16 outings at the expense of outclassed Delta State. Delta's Grandle Barron topped the scorers with 25 points.

LeRoy Ellis' 31 points triggered touring St. John's (N.Y.) to a 78-72 double overtime win over Notre Dame. Jimmy Ray scored 17 of his 24 points in the second half as Indiana rallied to nip Northwestern 72-71 and Wisconsin posted its fourth straight Big Ten victory in turning back Illinois 85-81.

Virginia Tech handed West Virginia its first Southern Conference setback in 11 games 83-82 behind a 28-point barrage by Bucky Keller. Vinnie Ernst tallied 31 points and Jim Hadnot chipped in with 28 as Providence whipped Niagara 77-67. Clemson trimmed Furman 97-88 despite a 28-point harvest by the losers' Jerry Smith.

Xavier of Ohio downed Detroit 89-82 with Joe Geiger topping the winners with 26 points.

Alabama defeated Chattanooga 73-56. Mississippi thumped Florence (Ala.) State 80-70. Connecticut tripped New Orleans Loyola 84-74. Delaware edged Virginia 89-88. Arizona State University walloped Los Angeles State 114-66 and Idaho State squeezed past Eastern Montana 24-23.

German Bobsled Four-Man Champ

GARMISCH - PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany (AP) — Germany's Franz Schelle today won the four-man world bobsled championships with an aggregate time of 2:33.66 minutes for two runs down the mile-long Olympic track.

Schelle finished the first heat in 1:16.99 only two hundredths of a second behind Sergio Zardini of Italy. He scored an impressive second heat time of 1:16.67 to clinch the title.

The races had been postponed three days running because of mild weather. The temperatures dropped well below freezing Monday.

Austria's No. 1 sled, with Franz Isser at the wheel came in third, Canada 2, with Lemont Gordon placing fourth.

The lone U.S. entry, piloted by 1953 world champion Lloyd Johnson, an American businessman from Madison, Wis., living in Germany, finished 14th and last with a time of 2:41.57.

Freese To Pilot St. Cloud Rox

ST. CLOUD, Minn. (AP) — George Freese Monday was named manager of the St. Cloud Rox of the Northern League for 1962 by the parent Chicago Cubs.

Freese, 35, a brother of Cincinnati third baseman Gene Freese, will be undertaking his first managerial assignment. He spent last season with Houston of the American Association and the Cubs. He was also with the Cubs in 1955 and for six years played with Los Angeles and Portland in the Pacific Coast League.

The Cubs said it hasn't been decided if Freese will also play for the Rox.

MAY CANCEL MEET

VIENNA (AP) — Austrian skiing officials said privately today the world championships at Chamonix, France, Feb. 10, probably will be canceled if the East German skiers are refused entry.

HONORED BY PHILLY WRITERS

Cite Stokes, Twyman for Courage

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Courage asserts itself in many ways. For former Cincinnati Royals basketball star Maurice Stokes it showed in his daily fight with paralysis which left him unable to walk or talk after he suffered a brain injury when he fell during a National Basketball Association game nearly four years ago.

For his teammate and friend, Jack Twyman, it reflected itself in the spirit and boundless energy with which he helped Stokes by handling his financial and personal affairs and offering encouragement.

Monday night the Philadelphia Sports Writers Association, diverting from its usual policy of naming one courageous athlete of the year, cited Stokes and Twyman as the most courageous athletes of 1961. Twyman was presented with a $500 check to help defray the cost of Stokes' rehabilitation when he leaves Christ Hospital in Cincinnati.

"Stokes has improved 1,000 percent," Twyman said, "because of that intangible thing called courage or guts. He's determined to come hell or high water to lick this thing."

Stokes, former St. Francis, Pa., star, of course couldn't be at the banquet.

But Twyman, who had talked to him Sunday, relayed his feelings. "He's very excited about receiving the award," said Twyman. "Very appreciative. He damn near cried when I told him about it."

Twyman said Stokes wanted to get across to the public that his plight may be able to help others by showing that things are not always as bad as they seem and where there is a will there is a way.

Leaders Safe; Three Teams Dent Top Ten

Only three teams were able to dent the top 10 places Monday night as the Winona Women's City Bowling Tournament continued its third day of Hal-Rod Lanes.

Sammy's Pizza, an H-R entry, moved into eighth place in Class A with 2,318 pins and Merchant's Bank of the Red Men Club powered to fifth in Class B with 2,446.

WATKINS PRODUCTS of H-R grabbed ninth position in Class B with 2,432.

Four bowlers, all from Hal-Rod, cracked 500 in Class A, but their teams were all short of the leaders.

Best total was a 564 by Helen Nelson of Pool's Tavern, Class A, from Hal-Rod. She smashed 182-188-194.

Elsie Dorsch, defending singles champion, warmed up for defense of her title with a 531 for Haddad's. She rapped 169-203-159.

TEAMSTERS couldn't crack the top 10 despite a 529 by Irene Merchlewitz and 501 by Marge Poblack. Mrs. Merchlewitz shot 173-193-163.

Best Class B effort was Carol Myczek's 485 for Jerry's Plumbers of the Athletic Club. Sally Wagner of Wheatlands of Westgate had a 206 game.

9 Winona Glovers In Sectional Meet

Winona's Golden Glove boxing team, fighting under the Country Kitchen banner, makes its appearance at the sectional tournament in Rochester tonight with three of its nine members seeded in the first round.

Ron Putterbaugh, Mike Kittleson and Gerry Putterbaugh thus won't see action until Feb. 7. Putterbaugh is a heavyweight, defending sectional champion and is favored to win the title again this year. Kittleson is another sectional champion in the middleweight division while Gerry is a promising light-heavyweight contender.

The squad that Coach Chuck Putterbaugh is taking to the tournament this year is the largest ever to come out of Winona. He feels that if several of his boys can come through in the boys' weight divisions the team stands an outside chance of taking the trophy.

Other entries are: Dave Kleinschmidt, 17, a light-heavyweight appearing in his second tournament; Al Stork, 16, a middleweight making his first sectional appearance; Duane Huwald, 17, and Stan Losinski, 18, both welterweights, and Tom Van Hoof, 16, and Gary Knauft, 17, lightweight.

The tournament winds up Feb. 7 and will be held at the Mayo Auditorium.

After the sectional, Putterbaugh plans to have two or three fight cards in Winona featuring the champions and runners-up from the tournament.

Hamline Spurts To Down Macs; St. Cloud Wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Although hard pressed in the final minutes, Minnesota Duluth moved its unbeaten mark atop the Minnesota Intercollegiate Conference with a 74-68 defeat of St. Mary's at Winona Monday night.

Runerup Hamline also had to come from behind before downing Macalester 61-52 in loop play.

In other non-conference affairs, St. Cloud State turned back River Falls, Wis., 87-68 while two other Minnesota schools were breaking even in contests with Dakota opponents.

Concordia bested North Dakota State 66-57 but Gustavus Adolphus fell before South Dakota State at Brookings by a close 64-60.

Duluth held a 40-30 margin at the half but a St. Mary's rally pared that to a 55-54 deficit with nine minutes to go. The Bulldogs, sparked by Bill Mattson's 22 points, turned on the team to regain the lead and hold on. James Hamilton and Tom Adams added 14 apiece to the winners' total while Marty Lillig had 16 and Mike Stallings 15 for the Minnons.

Hamline was down 35-31 at intermission but caught up at 37-37 to take over the rest of the way. Bill Nelson bucketed 22 points and Fred Schmiesing 17 for the Pipers, who connected on 45 per cent of their field goal attempts and hit 19 of 21 free throws.

John Blomlie with 33 points and Jerry Roepke at 28 were keystones of St. Cloud's 10th victory in a row, its 17th in 18 seasons starts.

No Surprise; Bucks Lead In Cage Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio State's Buckeyes, head and shoulders above their fellow Big Ten Conference basketball teams and with nothing but a Big Ten schedule for the rest of the year, continued their absolute monopoly among the nation's college fives today.

The Buckeyes once again were a unanimous first-place choice in The Associated Press weekly college poll, and only an upset of titanic proportions is ever going to dislodge them from that spot.

Monday night's 94-73 victory over Purdue was their 15th in a row. The Buckeyes have a Saturday game against Northwestern in their only other activity this week. The latest poll includes games through last Saturday night. Ohio State, with a great effort from all-America Jerry Lucas and John Havlicek, beat the Boilermakers in its only game last week.

Kentucky, with a 13-1 record, paced the other teams, all of them holdovers from last week, though Duke and Duke exchanged places. The Blue Devils moved to sixth place and Duke dropped to seventh.

The Wildcats keep up their chase for the top spot Tuesday night against Georgia and play Florida on Friday. Cincinnati, (14-2), the busiest of the top ten this week, meets Drake tonight, Houston on Thursday and North Texas on Saturday.

The top ten teams, with first place votes in parentheses, are:

1. Ohio State (41)
2. Kentucky (31)
3. Duke (21)
4. Cincinnati (11)
5. Kansas State (7)
6. California (6)

500 to Play In Tourney at Palm Springs

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Golf's touring professionals team up with a small army of amateurs Wednesday in the third annual $50,000 Palm Springs Classic, a marathon, five-day, 90-hole tournament.

More than 500 golfers—128 professionals and 394 amateurs—tee off over four courses in this desert resort country. When the pros finish the final 18-hole round Sunday, over a fifth course—Berruda Dunes Country Club—they will have completed their rich 1962 California winter swing—five tournaments for $220,000 in prize money.

There is no qualifying round. The pros for the most part get into the tournament off past performances and some purely by invitation of the wealthy amateur members of the host clubs.

Heading the array of talent are the past two winners, Arnold Palmer in 1960 and Billy Maxwell last year.

Sam Snead accepted a bid to make one of his now rare visits to California in the winter.

Playing sites for the first four rounds are Indian Wells, Tamarisk and El Dorado, all par 36-36, and Thunderbird Country Club, with par 36-35-71. Berruda Dunes, the host club this year, is also 36-36-72.

Other highly ranked players competing are U.S. Open champion Gene Littler, winner of the $50,000 San Francisco Open Sunday; Doug Ford, the $50,000 Bing Crosby winner; Tommy Jacobs, the $25,000 San Diego Open champ; and Phil Rodgers, who hauled the current tour with his victory in the $45,000 Los Angeles Open.

Each gunboat will be 101 feet long, 21 feet wide and have a displacement of 143 tons. They will be powered by two 950-horsepower diesel engines.

In the other game John Sagan and Rich Peplinski hit 15 and 11 points respectively to power the Hawks to a 31-22 decision over the Celtics, which were paced by Rick Storey with 12 counters.

The Lakers "won" though the Jets beat them 29-19 behind 13 points by Peter Schroeck.

After the results were tabulated the Jets were found to have used an ineligible player and the game was forfeited to the Lakers.

Patterson Top Pee Wee Scorer

Mark Patterson, Winona Hotels, leads the Park Recreation Pee Wee League scorers with 82 points in eight games for a 10.2 average. Pat Witten, American Legion, is in second just a step behind with 81 points in nine games for a nine point average. Bob Kiestler, assistant football coach, is temporarily handling the Winona State wrestling squad, Dr. Luther McCown, WSC athletic director, said Tuesday morning.

Bob Jones, varsity wrestling coach, is still hospitalized following an altercation at his homeing house last week. The case is presently under investigation.

Jones' classroom duties are presently being absorbed by graduate students and other members of the athletic staff.

Wisconsin Firm To Build Gunboats

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Marinette, Wis., shipbuilding firm has received one of two Navy orders for 10 speedy gunboats that may be turned over to South Viet Nam for use against Communist vessels carrying men and supplies from North Viet Nam.

When announcing the contract Monday, the Navy said they are for "eventual transfer to another nation under the military assistance program." The Navy refused to name the country.

Last month, it was learned the United States planned to furnish the South Vietnamese with fast, armed patrol craft.

The contract for five boats has been awarded to the Marinette Corporation of Marinette, Wis. The contract, calling for the vessels to be finished by next January, totals $1,227,480.

Each gunboat will be 101 feet long, 21 feet wide and have a displacement of 143 tons. They will be powered by two 950-horsepower diesel engines.

The other contract, also for five boats, went to the J. M. Maritime Shipbuilding Corp., Tacoma, Wash. The contract totals $1,184,460.

Debate Rages On Method of Censuring Cuba

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP)—The United States and its 13 Latin-American supporters backed away today from a demand for an immediate vote by the hemispheric foreign ministers conference to exclude Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime from the Organization of American States.

The majority group eased its stand in an effort to break a deadlock over how and when the suspension should take effect.

The conference, which was supposed to end Monday, continued to drag on after hours of fruitless bargaining. As hopes faded for an early adjournment, United States prestige appeared to suffer a blow.

The 14-nation group met for two hours and named a three-nation committee to draft a compromise amendment to be offered to the six nations holding out for a velvet glove approach.

The United States and 13 Latin-American nations backing a tough line against Fidel Castro's government had just the necessary two-thirds majority to carry a formal resolution to oust the Havana government from the OAS councils.

They scheduled another bargaining session today in an effort to win over six Latin American's biggest and most influential nations demanding a delay in the formal ouster of Cuba. The six were Brazil, Mexico, Argentina, Chile, Bolivia and Ecuador.

Both sides emerged from a closed-door, eight-hour bargaining session early today asserting some progress had been made on the issue threatening a deep split in inter-American relations.

The foreign ministers went without dinner Monday night in an effort to break the impasse. After the session there were hints of compromise in the works.

Asked if the meeting produced any progress, U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said, "I think so."

One conference informant said the United States appeared to be leaning toward what he called the Argentine view that it would be better to have all 20 nations censure Cuba than a majority outlaw it.

An Argentine spokesman said Rusk "with infinite patience" seemed to have brought the opposing sides toward a solution whereby each OAS body would decide on excluding Cuba in line with the proposed conference declaration that the Castro regime is incompatible with the inter-American system.

The Brazilian-led bloc has agreed with the others on such censure of the Castro regime but contented the present OAS charter does not provide for Cuba's suspension. They want another for foreign ministers' meeting convened on the issue after a proper legal foundation has been laid.

The United States and the Central American nations consider this legalistic approach unnecessary delay which possibly would run into years and which would endanger the Alliance for Progress program.

Foreign Minister Francisco S. Thiago Dantas of Brazil, leader of the go-slow bloc, also declared "we are making progress" but indicated he felt it was toward the Brazilian view.

On the other end of the pole Guatemala and Colombia, exponents of the sternest measures against the Castro regime, were reported unyielding to arguments for compromise.

The impasse threatened to postpone once again a final declaration by the foreign ministers on Cuba's communism. Final action on the declaration incorporating the proposed resolutions originally was scheduled for Monday. It may not now come until late in the week.
