Wisconsin Falls in Step On Sales Tax Thursday

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Wisconsin, a state that gave the income tax its start 50 years ago, will fall in step Thursday with 23 others and the federal government in adopting a withholding system of collections.

Linked with the swing to a payroll deduction plan is the start of a three percent sales tax on items in nine broad areas of consumer goods and such business expenses as office equipment, company autos and trucks, construction machinery and telephone and telegraph services.

The new taxation results from a revenue revision bill passed by the 1961 Legislature and signed into law Dec. 28 by Gov. Gaylord Nelson.

The take-home pay of almost everyone working in Wisconsin will be trimmed by the switch to withholding. Farmers and the self-employed are the major exceptions.

And in the initial year, the paycheck bite will be specially hefty since it will reflect an increase in income tax rates and Tax Department efforts to collect a full year's levy in the remaining 11 months of 1962.

One break is in store for taxpayers, however. On April 15, when income taxes on 1961 earnings are due, the state will forgive 65 per cent of each wage earner's liability and collect only the remaining 35 per cent. The forgiveness feature does not extend to capital gains from real estate or securities transactions. Income in this category will be taxed in full.

The change to withholding will not excuse taxpayers from filing returns by the April 15th deadline in future years. But unless gross earnings include sums not subject to withholding, the spring accountings should show a near balance between taxes owed and taxes already withheld. In cases where a taxpayer chooses not to claim all exemptions due him, a refund will be in order.

To put self-employed persons on something of a current payment basis, the Tax Department will add a declaration of estimated income form to the regular return blanks it mails this year. The form will have to be filed and state income taxes paid quarterly thereafter. The same procedure will apply to persons who have substantial income not subject to withholding.

Non-residents who work in Wisconsin will have income taxes withheld at the same rate as citizens of the state. On the other hand, Wisconsin residents who work in bordering states will be subject to withholding unless payroll deductions are being made by the state where they are employed. In such cases, income taxes paid to other states will be deductible from the amount due Wisconsin on April 15.

Every employer is required to withhold state income taxes from his worker each pay period. He will not be allowed to keep the money, but must forward it by March 20 to a bank the state will designate to hold such deposits. After March 20, employers must make withholding deposits monthly.

The new income tax schedule boosts rates one per cent in every bracket of earnings from $1,000 to $15,000 a year. The increase is fixed at 1.5 per cent on all earnings over $15,000.

The hike gives Wisconsin a rate range of two per cent on the first $1,000 to 10 per cent on earnings over $15,000. An individual attempting to gauge the dollar amount of his increase must keep in mind that the tax taken from his first $1,000 has been doubled and raised sharply on succeeding $1,000 amounts.

Court Names Attorney for Mankato Slayer

MANKATO, Minn. (AP) — Joseph Black, accused of slaying his neighbor, is expected back in municipal court again this week as a result of court appointment today of a defense attorney.

Black, 31, is charged in a police complaint with first degree murder in the Monday shotgun slaying of Marvin Wendt, 31.

Black told the court Tuesday he was without funds. He said he was paying $100 monthly to his estranged wife and four children who live in Mankato.

Wendt, employed in the same soybean plant with Black, was killed as he slept early Monday. A .410 shotgun charge fired through a bedroom window struck Wendt in the heart.

Black lived in a trailer near the Wendt home. Black signed a statement admitting the slaying, Police said, but officers withheld a motive. It was hinted, however, that a love triangle may be the basis for the shooting. Police said Black had been eating his meals at the Wendt residence and Mrs. Wendt has been doing his wash for him.

Mrs. Wendt, sleeping beside her husband, was not struck by the shotgun pellets. The Wendts' three small children also were asleep.

Black was moved today to the Blue Earth County jail to a cell in the same block where Charles Ingham, 28, Mankato, is held on a murder charge in the Oct. 10 slaying of Daniel C. Stoll, 24, Rochester salesman. Stoll was killed after being lured from his motel room. No motive has been given.

A district court ruling is expected this week on Ingham's competency to stand trial. Ingham, under grand jury indictment charging first degree murder, underwent psychiatric tests.

U.N. General Assembly Slaps Portugal Again

By TOM HOGE
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly slapped Portugal again Tuesday night with landslide approval of an Asian-African demand for an end to repression in Angola and an immediate start toward independence for that West African colony.

The assembly approved the resolution by a 99-2 vote with one abstention. The stinging rebuke to Portugal aroused speculation if dictator Antonio Salazar would fulfill his threat to quit the world body Portugal joined six years ago.

Only Spain and South Africa voted against the Asian-African resolution, which was approved after more than two weeks of debate marked by heated denunciations of Portugal's policies. France was the sole abstainer.

The only consolation for Portugal was the defeat of a much tougher Communist proposal to condemn Salazar's colonial policy and call on the Security Council for punitive action. This resolution was defeated 26-43 with 32 abstentions.

The Security Council scheduled debate Thursday afternoon on the dispute between India and Pakistan over Kashmir. The council may agree to hear a speech by Sir Zafulla Khan, Pakistan's chief delegate, but it then is expected to adjourn the debate until after the Indian elections in February so India's usual spokesman, Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon, can be present.

Active Volcano On Kiska Island

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — An active volcano was reported twice the past week on Kiska Island, 125 miles southwest of here, near the end of the Aleutian Islands chain.

Both reports came from fliers. One said the eruption apparently was near sea level at Sirius Point, with flames spouting 300 feet into the air and lava running into the sea.

A Northwest Airlines plane flew over the area on its Tokyo-Anchorage route early Tuesday but its crew reported nothing unusual. It was dark at the time.

2 Aerialists Killed in Fall At Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Two members of the famed Wallendas family aerial troupe were killed and a third critically injured Tuesday night when they fell 36 feet while executing a dizzying pyramid act on a circus high wire.

A crowd of 7,000 children and adults looked on in horror as three members of the troupe plunged to the concrete floor of the State Fairgrounds Coliseum during an evening performance of the Shrine circus.

Four other members of the troupe battled to hang on the swaying high wire and did not fall.

Dieter Schepp, 23, making his first appearance with the famed aerial act, and Richard Paughnan, 29, another American member of the German troupe, were killed in the fall.

Mario Wallenda, 22, suffered critical injuries in the fall. He was taken to Highland Park General Hospital where his condition was said to be "poor." Also injured was Karl Wallenda, 57, who managed to stay on the wire but suffered internal injuries.

Schepp, lead-man in the seven-member pyramid was a refugee from East Germany. He had been in the United States only four months.

Schepp's sister, Jana, 17, only woman member of the pyramid, with the six men, also was injured when she jumped into a makeshift safety net and was thrown out onto the concrete floor.

Jana was saved from possible death when she was caught by fellow performers as she fell past the wire.

Herman Wallenda, 60, Karl Wallenda, 57, and Gunther Wallenda, 42, the other members of the pyramid, managed to grab the wire when the pyramid broke apart.

New Orbital Flight Set For Feb. 13

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — John H. Glenn Jr. may must wait at least 13 more days for his historic date with the heavens because of troubles with the Atlas rocket which is to loft him into orbit around the earth.

The problem turned up Tuesday during a fueling test of the Atlas, and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced the off-postponed launching was off until Tuesday, Feb. 13 at the earliest.

High-powered kerosene was being poured into the rocket as preparations were under way to start the final two-day countdown aimed at a Thursday morning launching. A leak developed in the "fueling system" and the kerosene spilled over onto vital parts of the missile.

Glenn, according to a NASA spokesman, accepted the sixth postponement of the launching with a shrug.

Glenn was quoted as saying, "Sure, I'm disappointed, but this is a complicated business. I don't think we should fly until all elements of the mission are ready. When we have completed all our tests satisfactorily then we'll go."

The 40-year-old Marine lieutenant colonel planned to take a few days off to visit his wife Annie and two teen-age children in Arlington, Va.

The Atlas trouble is believed to be the same which caused a four-day postponement last week of the Ranger 3 moon shot.

A giant fleet of 21 Navy ships was recalled from recovery operations. They were spread across the Atlantic Ocean, ready to retrieve Glenn and his capsule.

Wants to Cut $5 Billion Off Costs by 1966

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy sent a tough new farm program to Congress today which would give the nation's farmers this choice: accept much tighter production controls on surplus products or face a cut-off of most federal price supports and other aid.

Kennedy said in a special message that his proposals are designed to slice an estimated $5 billion off farm programs over the next four years. The programs otherwise would cost more than $12 billion during that period.

Additional aims are to boost farm income and reduce costly farm surpluses now in government hands, he said.

Farmers growing wheat, corn, oats, barley and sorghum grains would lose all price supports if they did not go along with acreage allotments and marketing quotas set under the new program. In addition, the government would reserve the right to dump huge amounts of these surplus grains on the markets. Under most conditions this would depress prices.

Marketing quotas would be set on all dairymen for the first time if the program is approved. The new Kennedy program is the toughest proposed by a president since federal controls were introduced into agriculture in the 1930s.

In the past farmers were asked to cut production of surplus items or perhaps lose some of their price supports. Now it's a case of cut surplus production or get practically no aid.

The more rigid controls highlighted what Kennedy described as his "A B C D" farm program for the 1960s — abundance, balance, conservation and development.

He said the program is built around maximum use of the nation's food abundance while balancing future production with needs, conserving farm resources and developing low-income rural areas.

The higher controls would be applied, in the beginning, to the three big surplus products—wheat, feed grains and dairy products. They would require approval by at least two-thirds of the producers voting in three separate referendums.

Briefly, here are the programs proposed for these products:

Flu General Over State, Schools Close

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Flu is pretty general over the state but the outbreak currently is striking hardest at the younger generation.

This is reflected in high absenteeism from schools; in some cases resulting in complete shutdown of classes.

Dr. D. S. Fleming of the Minnesota Health Department said Tuesday night that the incidence of the disease is above average for this time of year.

He explained that the virus type hadn't been established as yet but was believed to be a recurring Type B. The fact that adults are not succumbing to it in numbers stems from their having built up an immunity to it, Dr. Fleming said.

"What to do if you do come down with the flu?"

"Take your time getting back to school or work," advised the health chief. "It's easy to develop other types of infection if you try to rush things."

His comments came after Superintendent C. E. Bertram reported that school was being closed at Ashby because 90 of the 290 pupils had been stricken with the flu.

France Set to Grant Freedom to Algeria

By JOSEPH E. DYMAN

PARIS (AP)—France's capital buzzed today with reports that President Charles de Gaulle's government and the Algerian rebels are near agreement—or have reached one—on a cease-fire and independence in the war-torn North African territory.

The Geneva correspondent of the Belgian radio, quoting an authoritative North African source, said complete agreement on an Algerian settlement had been reached at a secret meeting in Vevey, Switzerland.

Paris newspapers Tuesday night carried prominent stories that an agreement was near, and various sources in Paris had the impression crucial developments on Algeria would come this week.

There was no official confirmation of the various peace agreement reports, and none was expected from French officials before Monday night. If agreement had been reached, President de Gaulle presumably will announce it in a radio-TV speech scheduled then.

Several developments gave substance to the reports of an impending climax in the Algerian drama.

The French army rolled strong detachments of troops and armored cars into the center of Algiers Tuesday night "for any eventuality," army sources said. The troop reinforcements were withdrawn this morning, but the show of strength obviously was aimed at the right-wing European settlers in the city and their extremist Secret Army Organization waging a campaign of terrorism to keep Algeria French. Announcement of an accord with the rebel National Liberation Front (FLN) is certain to infuriate Algeria's European population, and a general uprising is a possibility.

To guard against any attempt at a putsch in Paris itself the government announced 30 squadrons of mobile gendarmes totaling more than 4,000 men, had been placed in a police "strategic reserve" in the Paris region.

On the rebel side, Foreign Minister Sand Dathab left Morocco four days ago and has not yet been reported in Tunis. This could mean that Dathab, one of the FLN negotiators, had stopped in Switzerland for a decisive meeting with French representatives.

The Paris newspapers Le Monde, Paris-Press and France-Soir published what they said were details of the French-Algerian negotiations. Paris-Press said only one major point remained—the nationality status of Europeans in Algeria after independence. The stories all appeared to have come from the same source, apparently French official circles.

Boy Stowaway On Jet Liner

CHICAGO (AP)—Rickie Oprondek, 10, a model airplane builder and an altar boy, left home Sunday morning carrying $4 and a prayer book to attend Mass.

He got home from Mass, by way of San Francisco and a round-trip jet flight on Tuesday night.

While police and his distraught parents sought the missing boy, he was found in San Francisco.

He got to the Golden Gate city, he said, by sneaking aboard an American Airlines jet passenger plane Sunday night.

"I didn't want to go nowhere," he said. "I wanted to see how it

(the jet plane) looked. And it started. I didn't know the plane was going to take off."

Rickie said after the plane took off he wanted to tell the stewardess he was a stowaway. "But I was too scared," he explained.

He spent two days in San Francisco, most of the time wandering around International Airport, looking at airplanes and asking airline personnel questions about flights.

Airport employees noticed the boy was alone and alerted police. Police established his identity by the name in the prayer book he had, in his coat. Then they got in touch with his parents through American Airlines officials.

They quickly put him aboard a jet and sent him back to Chicago. The boy was greeted at O'Hare International Airport by his father, John, 54, a machinist, and his mother, Mary, 52.

Detectives from the youth detail also were at the airport to question the boy. They said he told them he had slept on couches in the San Francisco Airport, he had spent all his money, buying food, toy airplanes and comic books and was broke.

Police held the boy in the juvenile home pending appearance in Family Court on a charge of running away from home.

National Debt Over $298 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The national debt has risen above $298 billion for the first time.

The Treasury said today that the debt as of last Friday, amounted to $298,949,359,274. The temporary debt limit of $298 billion was not violated, however, because some $438 million of the debt is not subject to the ceiling.

A year ago, the debt stood at $291 billion.

President Kennedy has proposed lifting the temporary debt limit to $303 billion.

Nelson Stresses State Program Of Older People

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Gov. Gaylord Nelson, noting that Wisconsin population of persons 65 and over is 10 percent above the national average, says that much needs to be done for elderly citizens.

For one thing, the governor said Tuesday he favors extension of the Social Security system to include medical insurance for the elderly. Other areas that need attention, he said, are housing, income, recreation, rehabilitation, counseling and institutional care.

"I think that the economic hardships of our senior citizens have reached chronic proportions," Nelson said in a talk before the newly established State Commission on Aging.

On the controversial issue of medical care hinged to Social Security, Nelson said:

"Such an extension would reflect the principle of contribution, during the working years, of funds identified to provide such health service as possible in old age. It is independent of the financial capacities of the individual states and avoids the application of the means test."

Nelson said he was aware there would be disagreement among commission members over his position.

"If this occurs," he said, "you

Negro Becomes V.P. of Big New York Firm

By JOHN T. CUNIFF
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Harvey Russell, a Negro, occupied today an office that few of his race have attained: vice president of an internationally known corporation.

"This is the most popular election of a vice president we've had in recent years," said an associate of his at the Pepsi-Cola Co.

Herbert Barnett, president, said Pepsi's board voted to make Russell vice president, special markets, strictly on merit. "It was in recognition of the great job Harvey has done," he said. Russell's salary is in the neighborhood of $20,000.

Russell, physically trim at 43, commented: "The problem, my race faces is in getting to a spot in which to prove ability. Once in a position where ability counts there are very few problems."

Russell said that "until the war there wasn't much opportunity in business for the Negro. Any Negro looking for advancement had to do it in the field of education."

After the war, Russell related, things began to change. "I personally have run into no major problems as an executive," he said. "I've had some, of course, but by and large I've found that among executives there is much more acceptance on the basis of ability than on any other basis."

Russell's first job paid him no salary for the first six months. His rise at Pepsi was not meteoric. But for 12 years he has been handling some of its toughest problems.

Russell, a native of Louisville, considered a teaching career. His father was president of West Kentucky State College, his mother was a Louisville schoolteacher. His four brothers and sisters all were college graduates.

"I was going to study for a doctor's degree in sociology," he said. "Then I saw my chance to branch out after the war. Truthfully, I wanted to make some money."

His first job was with an advertising agency in New York. His second was with a cosmetics firm as a traveling representative. His third was with Pepsi. Pepsi places emphasis on the specialized consumer market, including the Negro and African markets. Russell's job puts him in charge of all these specialized markets.

Socially, said Russell, his color has presented few problems. "Oh, I'd like to live in another neighborhood—sure—a higher income neighborhood—but I can't afford it," he said with a laugh.

His present home is a one-family house in Yonkers, N.Y., where he lives with his wife, the former Jacqueline Demison of Chicago, and two adopted sons.

Unemployment Rate Declines

WASHINGTON (AP)—The unemployment rate fell to 5.8 per cent of the work force in January the first time in 16 months it has dropped below 6 per cent.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg announced that employment dropped by 14 million to 65,058,000 in January while unemployment increased by 572,000 to 4,663,000.

However both these changes were less than seasonally expected.

Employment usually declines in January due to post-Christmas lags, while unemployment increases because of the winter weather.

Actually the January employment total, while a drop from December, was at a record for the month. The January idle total was 700,000 below the unemployment figure recorded in January 1961.

U. N. Committee On Outer Space To Meet March 5

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The 24-nation U.N. committee on the peaceful uses of outer space seems likely to convene March 5 to tackle its two-year-old backlog of work.

Diplomatic sources said nearly all committee members had agreed to a meeting that day, but that Soviet delegate Valerian A.

Zorin was still waiting to hear if his government would agree.

The committee, set up by the 1959 General Assembly, has done little to carry out the work of promoting international cooperation in space research that was given to it by 1959 and 1961 assembly resolutions. It was hampered by a Communist boycott that ended only last November.

Zorin was still waiting to hear if his government would agree.

The committee, set up by the 1959 General Assembly, has done little to carry out the work of promoting international cooperation in space research that was given to it by 1959 and 1961 assembly resolutions. It was hampered by a Communist boycott that ended only last November.

Houston County FB Banquet Attracts 520

CALEDONIA, Minn. (Special)—A total of 520 attended the fourth annual Houston County Farm Bureau banquet here Monday evening.

The crowd heard P. D. Hempstead, Houston, county FB president, who vowed that we may be losing our freedoms, and Dr. and Mrs. Gunnar Gundersen, La Crosse, who gave illustrated report on a trip to South America.

Hempstead reviewed some of our freedoms, including the right to own property privately, to earn money, to strive for a personal goal to worship God.

He also discussed specific farm problems.

Mrs. Gundersen wore a handmade Peruvian festival costume. Women there still weave, spin and knit, she said.

The Inca Indians of Peru, although civilization is highly developed, have no written language and therefore have no records as we think of them, Mrs. Gundersen said.

Toastmaster at the banquet at St. Mary's School Auditorium was Russell Roth. Mrs. Elmer Bunge, chairman of the women's committee, gave the welcome, John Brietbach introduced visitors, County Agent Francis Januschka spoke briefly, and Roy Ask led in singing of the "American Farm Bureau Spirit." Music was provided by William, Michael and Robert Baurman, and by Mrs. Arthur Sundet and Mrs. Sylling. The Rev. Rolf Hanson, Spring Grove, gave the invocation.

Orval Omdot and Mrs. Wilfred Pohlman were banquet chairman, assisted by Mrs. Susan Lovett, Mrs. Paul Plitzewitz, Mrs. Herman Forsyth and Henry Haugland. Women of St. John's and St. Peter's parishes served.

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special)—Burglars broke into the C. A. Brye store and the James Wall tavern here sometime Tuesday night.

Mlynczak Case Goes to Jury

The case against Joseph Mlynczak, Frog Island, charging attempted indecent assault involving a 13-year-old boy went to the District Court jury today at 11:54 a.m.

The boy on whom Mlynczak is charged with attempting to commit the act said on the witness stand Tuesday afternoon that he lied earlier when he told police Mlynczak committed the act.

The boy said Tuesday his mother had urged him to make the charges.

BECAUSE OF THE unusual nature of the disclosure by the boy, called as a witness for the state by County Attorney S. A. Sawyer, District Judge Leo F. Murphy allowed Sawyer to cross-examine his own witness.

The boy admitted making statements to Sawyer and to Winona Police Captain Donald Berg that the defendant had attempted the assault. The boy said he was lying then. However, he admitted being in the defendant's shack on Frog Island, where the alleged assault occurred Sept. 2.

His statement to police was admitted as evidence.

The boy's mother testified the boy had been reluctant to tell her what allegedly happened. She felt it was her duty to have the boy testify, however.

The boy's father said his wife had been under a doctor's care after suffering a nervous breakdown in 1959.

CAPT. BERG testified he had talked to the boy at the time the complaint was sworn out and he believed the boy was telling the truth at that time.

The case was originally scheduled to begin Thursday, but the boy could not be located, Berg said. Police learned the boy had been taken to relatives at Le Center, Minn. With the mother, police went to fetch the boy back and serve him with a subpoena ordering him to testify. The boy indicated he did not want to testify.

The father testified he had taken his son away because his son had told him "Nothing happened."

Another 13-year-old boy testified Mlynczak had committed the same act with him.

ORVAL C. RHOADES, Prairie Island, supervisor at Chicago & North Western Railway, said that he had gone with Sawyer to learn why the father had taken his son away.

The father and Rhoades were the only witnesses called by the court-appointed defense attorney, P. S. Johnson.

Wabasha County Hears Report on Fallout Shelters

WABASHA, Minn. (Special)—Richard Anglim, Rochester, commander of Mobile Area 1, Civil Defense, spoke to 33 Wabasha County officials, city officials, CD directors, clergymen and others at a 2 1/2-hour session on public fallout shelters here Tuesday evening.

Representatives were present from Mazepa, Lake City, Plainville, Zumbro Falls, Millville and Kellogg besides Wabasha.

Introduced by James L. Rafter, Wabasha County CD director, Anglim explained the duties of the general public and local governments in organizing fallout shelters and showed slides of public shelters and food storerooms.

Wabasha County will be surveyed for public fallout shelters the coming spring after a survey has been completed in Goodhue County. Another meeting of the group is planned for late February or March prior to the survey.

Within a month the first 10 percent of the foods which the federal government will supply for the shelters will arrive, Anglim said, for which there are no shelters or storage as yet. Localities are expected to provide the shelters.

Rafter said there was no question that Wabasha County would be able to handle the daylight load of persons needing shelter in publicly provided areas.

Wabasha city suggested the basements of the Super-Vals store, courthouse and jail. This would be provided for working people and school children who would not be able to reach home after an alarm sounded.

People were urged to provide their own shelters in their homes.

Questions were directed to Anglim by W. A. Palmer, manager of International Milling Co. here, the H. Rev. Msgr. John Mich, St. Felix School, and D. D. Karow, superintendent of Lake City schools.

Cold and Snow To Continue; 15 Thursday

A light snow accompanied by slightly moderating temperatures moved into the Winona area today. Occasional light snow is forecast for tonight accompanied by a rise in temperatures. Tonight's low will be around 5-10 above, contrasting with 1 above this morning.

THE PREDICTION for Thursday is for partly cloudy weather and temperatures reaching a high of 10-15 above. Colder but no snow of any consequence is the outlook for Friday.

For the next five days temperatures are expected to average near normal with a slight warmup early in the period and frequent changes thereafter. Precipitation will average about one-tenth inch melted as occasional light snow during the period.

The high Tuesday was 41 and early last night the reading dropped to —2 with a slight warmup as snow cover moved into the area during the night. At noon the temperature was 9. Total snowfall at noon amounted to about an inch.

TODAY'S temperature range was similar to a year ago today when the high for this day was 19 and the low 3. On that day two inches of snow lay on the ground. Alltime high for Jan. 31 was 49 in 1892 and the low —23 in 1918. Mean for the past 24 hours was 6. Normal for this day is 17.

With snowfall general in much of Minnesota and the northern and western half of Wisconsin, highway authorities reported main roads slippery in many spots. Heavy snow was reported along the Eau Claire to Hudson leg of the interstate highway but was blowing off the road as quickly as it fell.

Lowest reading in Minnesota today was —18 at International Falls, the U.S. low. Bemidji was closest to —15 and Duluth had a high there of 25. At La Crosse the low was —4 and the Tuesday high 28.

Winter was in no mood to relinquish its grip on WISCONSIN. A steady snowfall covered all of the state today while temperatures hovered just above and below the zero mark.

The snow began falling in the extreme western part of the state early today. By mid-morning it had spread throughout Wisconsin.

Sub-zero readings were reported at all the Weather Bureau's reporting stations during the night. Eau Claire and Superior had a low of 14 below, Park Falls 13 below, Lone Rock 7 below, Beloit and Madison 6 below and Milwaukee and Racine 5 below.

In Tuesday's clear and cold weather, Beloit was the warmest spot with 14 above. Other maximums ranged down to Superior's 4 below zero. The country's high was 83 Tuesday at Las Alamos, Calif.

AS THE COLD air moved southward, light snow fell in most of Kentucky, in West Virginia and coastal sections of Virginia and North Carolina.

Christian Unity May Be Possible, Protestant Says

Unity among Christians may result from a Roman Catholic-Protestant dialogue, a former Catholic who is now an ordained Lutheran minister told an audience of about 70 Tuesday night at Winona State College's Religious Emphasis Week.

"In our times as probably in no other time," said Dr. Mario Colacci, a native of Italy, now of Augsburg College and Theological Seminary, Minneapolis, and Luther Theological Seminary, St. Paul, "it is becoming more clear that a divided Christianity cannot be in harmony with God's will and purpose for his church."

"THE LACK OF solidarity and fellowship among Christians of various denominations is a drawback, not an asset, to the spreading of Christianity," he said.

3 File for Pepin Judge

DURAND, Wis. (Special)—Only one circuit judge election and one county judge election will be held in this Western Wisconsin area April 3.

Robert Varmum, Hudson, serving the 8th judicial circuit consisting of Buffalo, Dunn, Pepin, Pierce and St. Croix counties, has filed with Secretary of State Robert C. Zimmerman, Madison, for reelection. He is opposed by Willis E. Donley, Menomonie.

Three candidates have filed for Pepin County judge—the present judge, Ryan G. Laue, the former judge, Joseph H. Richter, and a former district attorney, John G. Bartholomew.

Richter was county judge 17 years until succeeded the first of this year by Judge Laue, who was appointed by Gov. Gaylord Nelson to fill the vacancy caused by the death of judge-elect Earl E. McMahon, who had been elected to the bench last spring but died in November.

Bartholomew was district attorney prior to McMahon, who held this office at the time of his death.

Independence to Get New Mayor

INDEPENDENCE, Wis. (Special)—Independence will have a new mayor this year.

Ralph Strick did not file for reelection by the deadline Tuesday. Wilfred Smieja filed for the office.

Three incumbent aldermen will have opposition. Refresher Course For Registered Nurses to Begin

Dr. Lewis I. Younger will lecture on blood pressure at the first of a series of refresher courses for registered nurses at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Lucas Lodge, the Red Cross chapter house.

All practicing and non-practicing nurses in the community have been urged to attend.

Registration is under way for classes in home care of the sick and injured. The 14-hour course will be given in seven two-hour sessions for seven weeks at Lucas Lodge.

Mrs. W. C. Ozenberger will teach a morning class beginning Feb. 7 from 9:15-11:15. The afternoon class will start the same day from 1:30-3:30 taught by Mrs. R. E. McCormick. Certificates will be issued to persons completing the free course.

The Biblical and Reformation period scholar is professor of New Testament-Greek, Latin and Biblical Hebrew at Augsburg.

"Is there any hope of a time when all followers of Christ will be united?" Dr. Colacci asked. "This question stems from the assumption that the Christian Church is divided."

"No matter how divided the Christian church may appear to you and me, the truth remains that the Christian church is the mystical body of Christ. Christ cannot be divided. He cannot exist without being one. It's blasphemy even to think Christ might be divided. The church was always meant to be one—one Lord, one faith, one baptism."

DR. COLACCI said there are two kinds of faith, subjective and objective. Subjective faith, he said, is a gift of God, the act whereby man believes. Objective faith is doctrine, that which is believed. Various interpretations of doctrine, not subjective faith, have kept many Christians divided.

Rome's traditional attitude to possible unity with non-Catholics, Dr. Colacci said, has always been intolerance, demanding absolute submission to dogmas. Now, he added, high Vatican sources are encouraging the move toward unity with their "separated brethren."

He said it is "unlikely" non-Catholics will ever accept the dogma of infallibility of the Pope. "But if we are really Christians and we really believe in God, we must realize that what seems humanly impossible in the way of compromise may be possible for God."

THE REV. Thomas Herbranson, assistant pastor at Central Lutheran Church and college Lutheran Students Association adviser, acted as moderator for a question and answer period. Miss Anita Peterson, Trimont, Minn., general chairman for Religious Emphasis Week, introduced Dr. Colacci.

An interdenominational panel discussion conducted by students on world religion will be held today at 7 p.m. in Room 327, Somers Hall.

Mrs. Eastman Has Another Claim Pending

ROCHESTER, Minn.—Mrs. John T. Eastman, who received a "substantial" out of court settlement in the death of her six children here Monday, also has a claim pending with the Minnesota Industrial Commission.

Mrs. Eastman is contending that her husband was in pursuit of his occupation as pastor of the Presbyterian church here when the car crashed into a bridge abutment near Dover Nov. 18, 1960, killing all occupants of the car.

The hearing on that claim is set for Feb. 27 at Rochester.

THE OLMSTED County District Court settlement ended six suits totaling $150,000. Maximum limit in wrongful deaths is $25,000 each. The suits were brought by the trustee for Mrs. Eastman against her husband's estate, but actually against the insurance firm which provided liability coverage on the family car.

When the trial opened it was revealed how Rev. Eastman had altered his plans, at the last minute, to visit a fellow minister in Plainville, Ill. and the children died en route.

Originally both Rev. and Mrs. Eastman had intended to attend a class play at Lewiston High School on the night of Nov. 18. But at supper time, Rev. Eastman told his wife that it would be necessary for him to see a minister in Plainville on some church matters that night.

He agreed to take the children along so Mrs. Eastman could attend the play. A babysitter was discussed, but Rev. Eastman had taken the children along on previous occasions and felt it would be no trouble.

The two ministers were to discuss a "town and country institute" for pastors and a new minister for the congregation at Rushford.

It Happened Last Night Drive Slower Every Year

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Daredevil motorcyclist Kennan Wynn just gave some advice to would-be daredevils: "Be an 'Oh-Oh' rider and driver," he says. "When the speedometer climbs around 100, say 'Oh-Oh!'"

"I recently won my first motorcycle trophy since 1959 — but I won't drive sports cars," he said. "Each year I ride a little slower and a little slower. I've had my accident."

Wynn believes that Ernie Kovacs would only have been injured if he'd been driving the Rolls-Royce instead of his light car. "The Rolls would have knocked the pole down instead of the pole knocking the car down," he said.

Thirty-one years of motorcycling have sharpened his reflexes. "For example," he said, "if somebody spills a glass of booze at a table where I'm sitting — I never get wet!"

Protection of Food in Atomic Age Reviewed

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department today reviewed what its scientists have done to help protect agriculture and the nation's food supply in the atomic age.

The review said that in recent years the department has been preparing agriculture for a possible emergency by developing ways of dealing with fallout from nuclear blasts and providing information of value to farmers and food processors.

Some of the department's accomplishments in this field were listed as follows:

1. Conducted experiments which showed fallout can be completely removed by scraping off a few inches of top soil. Soils that have been heavily limed transit less strontium 90 to crops than those low in calcium of lime.

2. Tested a commercially suitable method for removing strontium 90 from milk.

3. Trained 5,000 radiological monitors and 400 radiological instructors, and cooperated with other government agencies in starting a nationwide network for monitoring fallout.

4. Compiled information on how to protect food, livestock, and farm families from fallout and advised the public on stockpiling supplies in fallout shelters.

5. Developed an emergency wheat ration for shelter stockpiles.

Little Basically New in Plan

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sizzling bowl of soup President Kennedy has just dumped in Congress' lap is made up of politics, race, slums, cities, expanding population, efficiency and status.

Yet, there is nothing basically new in his message Tuesday telling Congress that, unless it disapproves in 60 days, he will create a new government department, the 11th, called urban affairs and housing.

He himself pointed out the idea has been kicking around 20 years. The present and future problems of housing and city planning are now handled by a group of government agencies huddled under the tent of one main unit, the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

The head of it, an administrator, Robert C. Weaver, has nothing like the prestige or influence of the head of a department, a secretary, who sits in the President's Cabinet. Kennedy proposes to keep the same subordinate agencies but shove them under a new tent with the title of department, headed by a secretary. He said he would make Weaver, a Negro, the secretary.

This, Kennedy figures, would not only give the problems and planning better coordination and efficiency but a new influence through Cabinet status.

In short, Kennedy is saying the problems of cities, housing and city populations are now so big they require handling by a department.

Ten years ago a national housing conference proposed this kind of idea. There have been bills in Congress calling for it every year since at least 1956.

Last year Kennedy first suggested it in a special message to Congress on housing. Last year both the Senate and House Committees on Government Operations approved bills to create the new department.

All that was lacking was a vote on the House or Senate floor. But the bills didn't get there before Congress quit for 1961. So they were still lying around when Congress returned in 1962.

Kennedy gave Congress another nudge on this subject in his State of the Union message on Jan. 1. But in the House, before a bill can get to the floor, the very powerful Rules Committee has to give a green light.

This committee, made up of 10 Democrats and five Republicans, blocked it instead by a vote of 9 to 6. All five Republicans and four Southern Democrats ganged up to block it. That was Jan. 24. Kennedy held a news conference that same day and started it off by neatly trying to put the Republicans on the defensive.

Skipping over the unpleasant fact that the five outnumbered Republicans could not have throttled the bill if four of Kennedy's Democrats hadn't joined them, the President said the Republicans astonished him.

This was good politics since this is a congressional election year and the Republicans will need the votes of a lot of city people.

Then he said he would bypass the committee procedure altogether and send his proposal to Congress in the form of a reorganization plan.

That simply means that unless a majority in the House or Senate votes against it within 60 days, he'll create the new department. This is how President Eisenhower in 1953 created the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

But any vote on the floor of House or Senate is likely to be by roll call, which means Democrats and Republicans would have to vote by name and thus reveal to the folks back home where they stood.

It was at that same news conference that Kennedy—in answer to a direct question—said he would make Weaver secretary of the new department.

This was bound to cost him votes among Southern Democrats, many of whom reportedly were against his plan just because they had thought he might appoint Weaver.

The big, broad band of conservative Republicans in Congress is likely to vote no. Some of them

New Divisions To Be Activated During February

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two regular Army divisions will be organized earlier than planned, but it does not necessarily mean that the date will be moved up for releasing two National Guard divisions, one of them the 32nd from Wisconsin.

An Army announcement Tuesday said that the 1st Armored Division will be activated at Ft. Hood, Tex., on Feb. 3 and the 5th Mechanized Infantry Division at Ft. Carson, Colo., on Feb. 19. This will raise the number of regular Army divisions from 14 to 16.

Officials said the somewhat earlier than expected activation of both divisions does not necessarily mean that the date for releasing the two National Guard divisions called to active duty last October will be moved up.

It was estimated that it would take about eight months of intensive training to get the new units ready to fight.

The 32nd and the 49th Armored of Texas are expected to be demobilized before next October, possibly this summer.

Cigaret Sponsor Bans Cigars on His TV Shows

WASHINGTON (AP)—A television network official says advertisers have been allowed to control the content of entertainment programs because they pay for them. But the practice is on the decline, he added.

The testimony came Tuesday from Mort Werner, National Broadcasting Co. vice president in charge of network television programming, as the Federal Communications Commission continued its study of network program policies.

The hearings were recessed today while the FCC held its regular monthly meeting, but will resume Thursday with further questioning of NBC executives.

Werner said that sponsor taboos have been accepted by the networks on the theory "that the man who pays the bills has a right to some voice in shaping the product."

Werner said most sponsors reserve "a measure of control in terms of 'corporate policy' or 'business policy.' For the most part changes suggested or insisted upon because of this reservation are not significant insofar as basic program content is concerned.

"A cigarette sponsor bans cigar smoking; an automobile manufacturer doesn't want an auto accident in the story. These requirements do not really interfere with the entertainment objective of the programs or with their creative integrity."

Retirement Begins Busy Life for Him

Willard Fox

ELEVA, Wis. (Special)—When Willard Fox retired from the grocery business last April, he figured he'd have a great deal of time on his hands.

But right after his retirement he was elected village president, and he's been plenty busy.

MUNICIPAL business involved three large projects. Last year, two-thirds of the village streets were paved with hot mix and curbing was laid.

Then the board made plans for a new ridge and furrow sewage disposal plant for treating waste from Eleve's industry. Wisconsin Produce, for which bids will be opened Feb. 15.

Work on the estimated $43,000 project will start when weather permits. The project will be completed at no extra tax cost, Fox says. Federal aid of about 11,000 was being promised.

The Village Council also secured an office for its meeting by purchasing a building originally built as a restaurant. A new heating system was installed. The library is housed here.

THEN THERE are building permits. The village issued one for an addition to Wisconsin Produce and for four new houses and garages. A Commercial Club house, Donald Erickson's, Duane Semingson's and the Alton Hagones residence. Other permits were for a new post office and a 36-by-60-foot garage and warehouse built by Olson Transport, Inc.

Eleve village tax rate is 15.76 mills this year, based on an assessment of 47.54 percent of true value. If it were figured on full value, the rate would be 7.49 mills, Fox said.

Fox said several lots on Highway 10 in the village are available to home builders for the cost of the abstract. The new home built by the Commercial Club is located in this group of lots which can be obtained free from the village.

THE VILLAGE president, of course, takes a keen interest in the overall welfare of the town. This includes Wisconsin Produce, the poultry processing division of Doughboy Industries. Output of the plant, where about 100 people are employed, is 3,000 chickens per hour. Products processed are sold both fresh and frozen. They are government inspected.

The recent addition to the plant is a new freezer-cooler unit which includes a blast freezer, a freezer or holding room, and a cooler for ice-packing products, enabling the processing plant to fresh-freeze cut-up and tray-pack fryers, capons, roasters and turkeys.

Processed birds are first put in the blast freezer which has a temperature of 50 degrees below zero, and then moved into the holding room which is 10 degrees below.

Non-Scheduled Airlines Likely to Survive

WHEN SOME of the fly-boys came home from World War II, they and their brothers from the old Army Air Force organized non-scheduled airlines—small outfits, mostly in perpetual financial trouble, getting along by flying chartered flights with second-hand planes. Unless Congress acts by March 14, this colorful section of the airlines industry faces extinction.

Non-scheduled airlines mean many things to many people.

To the Civil Aeronautics Board, they are a useful, even necessary, part of aviation that should be licensed on a permanent basis.

To the Senate aviation subcommittee, they are a lonely outpost of small business in a field that is becoming increasingly less competitive.

To the nation's 30 scheduled domestic airlines, reeling under an estimated $30 million loss in 1961, the 31 non-scheduled airlines are competition that should be restricted for the good of the entire industry.

And to some Congressmen, they are an unsafe menace.

The CAB decided in 1955 that non-scheduled were here to stay and put them on a permanent basis with a system of "supplemental certificates of convenience and necessity," every airline requires such a CAB certificate to operate.

THE SCHEDULED airlines objected to a CAB decision to allow the supplementals, as they were now called, up to 10 flights a month from one city to another in which tickets could be sold to individual passengers, just as on a scheduled airline flight.

The U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia ruled April 7, 1960 (in United Air Lines et al vs. Civil Aeronautics Board) that Congress had never given the CAB authority to grant blanket authorization to any airline; that definite routes between specific cities had to be designated in the certificate.

Congress decided it was an appropriate time to clarify federal policy toward non-scheduled. On July 14, 1960, it passed a 20-month stopgap measure temporarily authorizing the CAB to license supplementals. It is this law that expires March 14.

Both chambers of Congress passed bills by voice vote in 1961 to give the CAB permanent authority to license supplementals but, because of differences in the two versions, no law was enacted. The major difference was whether to allow individually ticketed flights on supplemental airlines; the Senate said "yes," the House said "no."

CONGRESS ADJOURNED last Sept. 27 without resolving the differences. On Nov. 8, an Imperial Airlines plane crashed near Richmond, Va., killing 74 recruits and 3 crew members.

In January, a special House subcommittee heard governmental officials discuss charges made after the crash concerning the supplementals' financial and safety records.

Federal Aviation Administrator N. E. Halaby who is responsible for airline safety regulations, said the same rules were applied to scheduled and supplemental lines, and that there was no marked difference in their safety record down through the years. Supplementals had perfect safety records in 1956-58, but had been involved in four bad crashes that took 262 lives between September 1960 and November 1961.

CAB Chairman Alan S. Boyd admitted there had been financial abuses in the supplementals' efforts to compete with the scheduled airlines and that many of the supplementals were in financial difficulties.

HE SAID, however, that the legislation now pending would give the CAB authority to invoke fines and temporary suspensions against airlines that defy the CAB in financial and managerial matters.

As for the supplementals' financial condition, Boyd said that many of them were frequently in debt because of the day-to-day nature of their operations, but that the CAB would certify all lines that showed they were capable of maintaining operations.

Rep. Francis E. Walter (D Pa.), who conducted his own probe of the Richmond crash because 29 of the victims came from his District, said that six of the supplementals were "reportedly bankrupt" and 14 others were in shaky financial condition. Proponents of the pending legislation said that the supplementals' only chance at financial stability was to be given permanent authorization by Congress and the CAB.

THE OUTLOOK is for passage of such permanent legislation by March 14.

A judge rules that an outsider has no right to prevent a man's beating his wife. This may be the only exercise the man gets, but the ruling does seem to carry the fitness campaign too far.

Buying on time is one of the most popular sports among Americans. They find paying on time not quite as much sport.

Dismayed at Feed Backs

By SEN. BARRY GOLDWATER

I am constantly dismayed at the feed backs. When the tape recorders of public information repeat my own words to me, I sometimes find difficulty in relating myself to the image portrayed by these respected gentlemen of the press, radio and television.

A long, long time ago I said that, in my opinion, it was necessary for the people of the United States of America to determine this until I find it difficult to recognize my own voice. "Goldwater wants war," they say. "Punch Khrushchev in the nose," they say. "Dare the Communists to knock the chip off our shoulder," they say. "Let's drop the big one," they say.

Nationalism gone rampant? Reckless disregard for human life? Perhaps I lack the clarity and skill with words of these professional reporters who have, I'm sure, quite sincerely attempted to reflect what they heard me say.

I do think we must determine to win the cold war. I do not think we should punch Mr. Khrushchev in the nose or get ready to launch a nuclear war or belligerently thrust out our chin and dare those who disagree with us to knock the chip off our shoulder.

I'M TRULY sad that millions of people in this world live under the tyranny of communism—a society which, in my opinion, precludes the possibility of constructive relationship between men. I deplore and condemn the brutality employed by the Communist masters to maintain control of their unfortunate subjects. But I do not advocate a nuclear war now or ever unless it becomes necessary in order to prevent the Communist tyranny from exerting its domination over the people of the United States on the North American continent.

My intention in suggesting that we should determine to win the cold war consists immediately of two things: (1) that we recognize the threat of world communism, and (2) that we reply with dignified firmness. "You shall not conquer us by threats, subversion or military tactics."

THE COMMUNISTS are willing to fight and die to establish what they believe is the proper political and social order. I am suggesting that we Americans must be equally ready to fight and die for what we believe is the proper political and social order.

The people of the United States have a precious heritage. We are free because our understanding of the spiritual origin of man requires that political states refrain from impinging on that freedom. We are now engaged in a dozen arenas throughout the world to determine whether or not that concept of man is valid.

DEFENSE OF freedom commences with a personal commitment of faith and a personal declaration of determination to defend freedom. Because I happen to believe this concept of man is more viable, more logical and more appealing than the materialist doctrine of the Communist, I believe that once we make that declaration—a "no nonsense," without equivocation, complete commitment—we will have moved a great distance up the road toward victory.

'OUCH! STOP! PLEASE STOP! YOU'RE BREAKING MY HEART!'

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Senators Urged Ike To Explain Censorship

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Inside fact about Eisenhower's recent statement on military censorship is that Sens. John Stennis of Mississippi and Everett S. Long of Louisiana asked him for it. One a Democrat, the other a Republican, they got so worried about rightwing sentiment in favor of the military that they got together in a bi-partisan request of the ex-President that he make a statement.

His statement, though moderate, was generally interpreted as siding with the brass hats against censorship by their civilian bosses.

What most people overlooked, however, is that Kennedy and Secretary McNamara are following the exact rules laid down by Eisenhower earlier for censoring military speeches.

This fact was brought out by the Moss committee on Nov. 15, 1956, when it called in Joseph Edgerton, director of security review for the Defense Department. Crusty old Clara Hoffman, Michigan Republican, asked him:

"If the secretary (of the Army) Brucker, or General (Maxwell) Taylor wrote a speech and were not proposing to speak for the department, would you have anything to do with it?"

Hoffman explained that he meant "if he were just going to speak to the Lions Club or the Exchange Club."

"I do not think he can divorce himself from his status as secretary of the Army—I think it should be cleared," replied Edgerton.

"ASSUMING Secretary Brucker went out talking about the Army and said, 'I go along with Ike,'" continued Cong. Hoffman. "I think we should have a larger—or a smaller Army. Would that come to your office or to any other department of the government for censorship?"

Edgerton—"Yes, it would come to us."

Hoffman—"And would you tell him what he should say?"

Edgerton—"We would pass that to Mr. Ross's office"—referring to the then assistant secretary of defense.

Hoffman—"Could Mr. Ross tell Mr. Brucker he could not say that?"

Edgerton—"He might do it on his authority, or the authority of the secretary of defense."

Edgerton told the subcommittee that a White House directive required to be enforced under the Eisenhower administration obliged all government departments to clear with military affairs, speeches and otherwise.

This was Nov. 15, 1956.

FOUR YEARS later, just before Kennedy was inaugurated, Adm. Harry Felt stirred up a hornet's nest in Australia by lecturing Australians on their duties. Later, Adm. Samuel B. Frankel went over the heads of his civilian chiefs with a speech criticizing the administration policy of negotiating with our European allies regarding Russia.

Both speeches clearly barged into the civilian field. So President Kennedy applied the system previously set up by Eisenhower.

Quite a few Washington bigwigs are going to have red faces if the Dominican Republic continues its policy of recalling decorations and honorary degrees handed out by the Trujillo dictatorship.

The new Democratic Dominican government set the precedent by recalling the honorary degree given by the University of Santo Domingo to Sen. George Smathers of Florida, onetime golfing partner of President Kennedy. Smathers' law firm has represented the Dominican government steamship line, and the senator himself had made several trips to the beleaguered island for conferences with dictator Trujillo.

The senator's office, when questioned about the honorary degree, said that Smathers hadn't wanted the degree in the first place. "Sour grapes," say the Dominicans. "He was a great friend of Trujillo."

THE HANDSOME senator from Florida is not the only recipient of honors from the old Dominican dictatorship. Another was Speaker John McCormack of Massachusetts. Another was Cong. Gardner Withrow (the Wisconsin Republican who made a speech in the U. S. Congress praising Dominican democracy as greater than ours). Another was Donald Jackson, California Republican, who had expected to go to the Dominican Republic and live in retirement.

The only man who challenged these decorations was Cong. Charley Porter of Oregon, who suggested that his congressional colleagues return their medals. This made John McCormack so furious that when Porter, a Democrat, came up for a job appointment by the Kennedy administration, McCormack sent word that Porter would get a job only over his dead body. That ended that, and Porter is now back in Oregon running for Congress.

The American Jewish Congress has successfully sued the Arabian-American Oil Company, in which Central Intelligence Chief John McCone has an interest, for job discrimination. The Congress claimed that Aramco refused to give jobs to members of the Jewish faith not merely in Saudi Arabia but in its New York office—which, it claimed, was in violation of New York state anti-discrimination laws. After considerable litigation and an appeal to the higher courts, the Congress won the battle as it applies to employment in Aramco's offices in the United States. Aramco, however, has not yet adhered to the ruling. . . . McCone is one of the biggest stockholders in Standard Oil of California, which founded Aramco and exercises considerable influence over it. . . . President Kennedy doesn't forget his friends. The morning after the big Democratic dinner in Washington, he phoned Jane Freeman, beautiful wife of Secretary of Agriculture Freeman, also Carroll Rosenbloom, co-chairman of the dinner, to thank them for their fine job.

Kennedy Fails To Speak Out

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy is relying on the power of public opinion, rather than the restrictive powers of government itself, to bring about "statecraft" in the field of labor-management relations. But somehow he fails to speak out forcefully against labor unions before they strike for unwarranted increases in wages, while he issues sharp warnings to management to forego price increases based on rising labor costs.

A good example of this omission is the case of the Electrical Construction Workers' union in New York City which has just extorted an agreement for a 25-hour week at higher wage rates, with overtime pay for at least an additional five hours per week. This means the electricians now will get approximately the same pay for 30 hours as they previously were getting for 35 hours, plus higher overtime pay for the additional hours they expect to work in view of the shortage of union electricians in the area.

Labor-union circles hailed this agreement as a "historic breakthrough," and the New York Central Labor Council urged all affiliated unions to press for the shorter work week. At the same time, the Building Trades Employers Association was being told by construction cost analysts that, if all the industry's craftsmen in the city won the shorter week, the cost of commercial construction by 7 percent.

President Kennedy knew all about the electrical workers' demands and their strike, which caused the shutdown of practically all construction in New York City for a time. The mayor of New York, a political ally of the president, was in the midst of it and took no action to denounce the labor union for its exorbitant demands. Public opinion apparently was not mobilized by the White House.

Yet, when the steel industry was reported last autumn ready to increase its price because of wage increases won by the steel union after a costly strike, the President sent letters to the principal steel companies and put on a publicity barrage that placed them before the public as unkindly of the public interest. Actually, they didn't increase prices and the reason, it is believed, had to do with competitive conditions. Next summer, however, when another steel strike is threatened, the steel companies may have to go up in their prices if the unions succeed in demands for wage increases.

A BELATED step has just been taken by the President with respect to the electrical union's agreement for a 25-hour week. Although the strike ended Jan. 19 after a week of disruption of the construction industry in the largest city in the country, and although an agreement was signed almost a week ago, the White House said nothing before or immediately afterward. The issue was really untouched until editorial comment generally criticized the administration for its obvious onesidedness. Then came the following exchange at the President's press conference on Wednesday of this week:

"Q. Mr. President, in the face of your economic message urging both management and labor to moderate their policy regarding price and wage increases, would you tell us how you feel about the electricians' union's contracts in New York which call for a 25-hour week?"

"A. I have stated before—I think at the steelworkers convention before I was elected—and I've stated since then, that I thought that the 40-hour week—in view of the many obligations that we had upon us both at home and abroad—represented the national goal at this time.

IN ADDITION, I thought that labor-management contracts should be settled within the realm of productivity increases, so that there would be a beneficial effect in price stability. Now, this contract does not meet either one of those two standards, and therefore I regret it."

But where is the remedy? The contract now has been made. The construction companies have surrendered. The costs undoubtedly will be passed on to the public in higher rents. The right of a union to bargain for an entire industry in the largest city in the country has been acquiesced in. But if the employers in that same city were to agree to fix prices to absorb the added wage costs, they would be promptly prosecuted by the U. S. attorney general.

When is the President going to put the labor unions on the same footing as management? If a wage formula that provides for uniform payments by employers affects the price, the labor unions escape any penalty.

THE ADMINISTRATION answers that it is going to depend on public opinion. It has been known for several days that officials here were un-

Letters to The Editor

"Now the Time
To Watch Wisconsin"

To the Editor:

Now is the time for those who may have been thinking of a sales tax as a possible solution, to watch the handwriting on the wall, in our neighbor state Wisconsin.

The usual pattern being consistent, within a year you will see a statement from the Wisconsin Department of Taxation to the effect that the taxes collected are far below the estimates.

This, like "Pandora's Box," opens all sorts of possibilities which will force them to add more items to the tax list and within two years will include just about everything.

We are given the pitch that the tourists will help us pay our tax. But a recent survey of prospective tourists the most asked question was: Does the state have a Sales Tax? And those that had, were being avoided.

Some interests in our state have been working hard for the sales tax. It might be well to see how the tourist trade in Wisconsin is affected this summer.

The cost of government is increasing. A sales tax is supposed to provide relief for business, but with business getting an "Annie Oakley," who does that leave to pick up the tab?

Thanks All Who Helped With Drive

To the Editor:

I personally wish to thank all the town and township chairmen, their helpers and also all contributors for so willingly helping me with the Friendship Drive for Retarded Children.

One area, Reads Landing, I did not think to appoint a chairman. Mrs. Norbert Marx, chairman for Pepin township, noticing this, contacted our publicity chairman and suggested that Mrs. Helen Biever might cover this area. Mrs. Biever graciously accepted this task.

It is persons like these two ladies and all who helped who will some day make it possible for us to have classes, workshops and day care centers in Wabasha County. Parents will then no longer feel lost and helpless when they realize that one or more of their children are retarded.

Mrs. A. R. Schleicher,
Wabasha County Chairman,
Millville, Minn.

happy about what the electrical union was doing, but not a word of reproval came from the White House or the Department of Labor. No letters were written in advance to the heads of the electrical union to endeavor to persuade them to modify their demands. After it is all over, there is only an expression of "regret"—hidden away in a press conference transcript of many thousands of words.

Plainly, the irresponsibility of labor union leaders in certain industries is growing into a serious threat to the economic welfare of the country. The President still is reported as being perplexed over why so many businessmen consider the administration hostile to business.

Sauer Auxiliary Votes Third Pledge Payment

The Women's Auxiliary to the A. W. Sauer Memorial Home held its annual meeting Monday evening at the YMCA preceded by a potluck supper. Mrs. Ralph Herzberg presided at the business meeting.

The president thanked those who had served as chairmen during the year. The auxiliary voted to pay the third installment of its pledge to the building fund of the home.

Members will entertain in their homes between now and the quarterly April meeting. They will entertain at card parties, brunches or luncheons to which members from outside the auxiliary will be invited. This project is designed to acquaint more women with the work of the auxiliary and serve as a fund raising project.

A slate of officers for the year was presented by the nominating committee as follows: President, Mrs. Herzberg; vice president, Mrs. Harry Bublitz; secretary, Mrs. Emil Geistfeld; treasurer, Mrs. David Sauer; and board member, Mrs. Donald Schaefer, to fill the expired term of Mrs. Carl Peterson. Mrs. Elmer Benz and Mrs. Arnold Schreiber are hold-over members of the board.

A birthday cake commemorating the third birthday of the auxiliary was won by Mrs. William Haack and shared by members at a social hour that followed.

New Hospital Needs Expanded Auxiliary Services: E. J. Sievers

By CATHARINE PLETKE
Daily News Women's Writer

Expanded needs of the services of the Winona General Hospital Women's Auxiliary in the new Community Memorial Hospital were discussed by E. J. Sievers, president of the hospital board, at the annual meeting of the auxiliary at the YMCA Tuesday afternoon.

March 15 is the target date set for completion of the second floor of the Community Hospital, he said. This will be a patients' room floor and is of particular interest to auxiliary workers.

Mrs. Robert Selover, president introduced Mr. Sievers following her welcome to guests.

THE REMEMBRANCE fund book and historians' notebook were displayed and enjoyed by those whose interest as well as desire for further knowledge of auxiliary work is active. Mrs. Selover called attention to the years of service as well as multitude of services that are recorded in these permanent display books.

A slate of directors was presented by Mrs. L. R. Woodworth, nominating committee chairman, in accordance with the by-laws which state that directors will elect the officers following their election. The slate was unanimously accepted. Mrs. James Kahl, Mrs. Floyd Simon, Mrs. R. W. Miller and Mrs. Ward Lucas also served on the nominating committee.

DIRECTORS who will serve for the year and the office or chairmanship they will hold are as follows:

lows: Mrs. J. L. Jeremiasson, president; Mrs. D. B. Robinson, first vice president; Mrs. L. A. Slagge, second vice president; Mr. Stanley Hardt, recording secretary; Mrs. Ray Fisher, corresponding secretary; Mrs. N. J. Fischer, treasurer; Mrs. Lucas, nominating; Mrs. Frank Kinzie Jr., public relations; Mrs. Woodworth, volunteer service; Mrs. R. W. Miller, fund raising; Mrs. Milton Dahm, social service;

Mrs. William Walter, hospital; Mrs. Selover, finance; Mrs. Simon, gift shop; Mrs. A. M. Goergen and Mrs. L. C. La France, membership; Mrs. C. D. Tease, historian; Mrs. Carl Bratlow, sewing; Mrs. G. L. Loomis, house; Mrs. John David, remembrance fund; Mrs. Fred Fakler, coffee shop; Mrs. M. L. Goldberg and Mrs. T. H. Underdahl, tours and by-laws; Mrs. R. F. Stover, flower cart; Mrs. Duane Peterson, hostess desk; Mrs. L. J. Wilson, scholarship; Mrs. John Dalleska, bulletin; Mrs. S. J. Pettersen, Catharine Allison Library; Mrs. Harold Doerer, typing, and Mrs. Slagge, Choate fund.

Mrs. Jeremiasson presented Mrs. Selover, outgoing president, and Mrs. Woodworth, 1960 president, with past presidents pins honoring their service.

MR. LAFRANCE, Public relations representative and member from the hospital board of directors, was introduced by Mrs. Ray of the need for all auxiliary members to be bearers of good public relations for the hospital.

He said that 10 years ago it was felt that a better understanding of the needs and services of the hospital must be given to the public. At that time a public relations firm was called in to recommend the necessary steps to be taken to improve public relations of the hospital.

One of the major needs was found to be an expanded auxiliary that would assist the actual work of the hospital as well as aid in fund raising and morale building of patients and public. The present auxiliary is an outgrowth of that recommendation and one that is recognized and appreciated by the board of directors of the hospital, the staff, and those who benefit in many ways from the unselfish dedication of auxiliary members, he continued.

In addition to the work of members of the boards, staffs and volunteers. Mr. La France gave credit to news reporting and the hospital paper, "What Goes Here," with its news of staff and patients.

THE SOCIAL contacts developed by auxiliary efforts, gifts of money for equipment raised by projects of the auxiliary and the ready willingness to serve were commended by Mr. LaFrance.

A film strip, "Many Hands and Many Skills," was shown by Earl Hagberg, hospital administrator who narrated the slides as they pictured the needs, types and aids given through the United States by hospitals. He also showed slides taken at many stages in the building of Community Memorial Hospital and explained some of the construction.

At the close of the meeting a social hour and tea were held with Mrs. W. S. L. Christensen, chairman, and members of the hospital auxiliary committee as hostesses. Pink and white centerpiece and pink tablecloths to accent the "Pink Lady" national affiliation of women of the auxiliary were used on the tea tables at which the Mmes. D. B. Robinson, Tease, Selover and Jeremiasson presided.

much as 20 per cent in the years immediately ahead in acreage allotments and marketing quotas from the 1961 level. Growers will get a somewhat higher price support for grain used for food in the domestic market and a lower one for wheat sold for export. All wheat now is under the same support level.

Should the program be rejected, the government would withdraw all supports and reserve the right to dump up to 200 million bushels of its surplus grain on markets. The government could, if it saw fit, make payments on land diverted from wheat. The present program provides for supports, but at a reduced level, if controls are turned down.

Feed grains — Acreage allotments and marketing quotas would be set for the four major feed grains—corn, oats, barley, and sorghum grain corn has been grown under allotments and none of the four grains has ever been subjected to marketing quotas. Payments could be made on land diverted from these grains, as is being done now. But all supports would be withdrawn and the government would reserve the right to sell up to about 350 million bushels a year of its surpluses if controls were voted down.

Dairy products for the first time, marketing allotments would be set on all dairymen. The government would attempt to support prices up to 90 per cent of the parity price, but not in excess of $300 million a year for supports, or about half this year's expected cost.

Should allotments be rejected, supports would be lowered and no matter how large surplus supplies became, the government would spend no more than $300 million a year on them.

The President also proposed production allotments for turkeys and turkey hatching eggs, but did not spell out details. He said a new cotton program will be proposed later. It would be designed to reduce cost of government subsidies required to make cotton competitive in lower-priced foreign markets.

In proposing the tighter controls Kennedy said: "Our two goals—improving income and reducing costs—can both be achieved only if farm output can be reduced below needs for several years and then be allowed to increase at a rate equal to the growth in demand."

The gap between production and needs during the adjustment period would be supplied from existing surpluses.

Kennedy told Congress his total farm program envisioned making maximum use of the nation's food abundance through such plans as the school lunch program, direct distribution of food to the needy, an expanded food stamp plan, the foreign food-for-peace program, including U.S. participation in a world food bank.

Under the conservation phase of his program, Kennedy proposed steps be taken to shift 50 million acres of cropland to other income-earning uses such as recreation, wildlife promotion, woodlots, forests and grazing. Federal financial aid would be offered. The government would look into the possibility of setting up greenbelts 10 miles or so in width around urban areas for recreational use.

Good Teachers Born to Role

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

"A born teacher?"
Sometimes—nearly often enough—we hear those words.

Most of us can look back, with gratitude and affection, to an inspired teacher who taught us a subject capably and imbued us with a lifelong thirst for knowledge.

One such teacher in a lifetime probably is par for the course.
Any adult who remembers two is fortunate indeed.

Are such teachers born? And how early can good teachers be discovered?

Probably the gift for teaching is born in one, the same as one for art, for music, or for literature.

The gift of teaching, in any appreciable degree, can be discovered when the potential teacher still is in grade school. She pushes away her dolls to help a school-mate or a younger brother or sister with his A, B, C's. Or a potentially fine man teacher puts down his hat or boxing gloves to help a pal conjugate verbs or learn his story dates.

If the young learner says, "Oh,
I understand! I see it when you explain it to me!" you have before you a boy or girl who someday is going to make a crackjack teacher.

These potentially good teachers should be nurtured. The educational world needs them.

Selected programs give young people a chance to find out early whether they enjoy working with children, or if children get on their nerves; whether they can impart knowledge, or if their instruction falls on deaf ears.

These programs are a major source of happy, well-trained teachers. Young people who successfully do volunteer work on summer playgrounds, in summer camps, in swimming pools or with groups are likely to become the kind of teachers we are talking about.

If they do not enjoy working with children, it is well for them and for children they might have taught to find it out early.

Too often these students enter their final phase of training, student teaching, only to realize too late that they do not enjoy working with groups of children. But in many cases they feel that they must continue teaching since their investment is great. Both they and the students suffer.

In the days of the "little red schoolhouse," a teacher unable to manage upwards to 50 pupils in all grades delegated the class in-charge to promising students.
Youngsters with teaching talent went ahead and became teachers.

Help Her Now, Mother Is Told

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I feel that I'm a complete failure as a mother. We have a beautiful, vivacious, intelligent, 16-year-old daughter. We did all we could to guide her mentally, socially and morally. She developed physically much earlier than most girls. From the time she was in 7th grade her teachers have written or called me concerning her conduct with boys. I refused to believe the things they told me because our daughter denied them and I wanted so much to believe her. Suddenly the truth was brought home to us. Our daughter had been lying to us and, without going into detail, we were completely fooled. She is not "in trouble," but she could have been. She is popular and goes with "nice" boys, but even nice boys slip occasionally. We live in fear of what could happen. What do you advise?

EXTREMELY WORRIED
DEAR WORRIED: Every teenager should have someone with whom she can talk frankly, without fear of censure or punishment. That person ideally is her mother. If you cannot cultivate that relationship between you, send her to a psychiatrist, clergyman or guidance counselor. Your daughter needs desperately to learn much concerning sex, emotions and the maturing process.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a woman who keeps annoying a fellow who plainly does not want her? She has been after me for 12 years and she has the idea that one day I will break down and marry her. I have never been in her company except for occasions when we have been "paired" off by mutual friends. She is not "in trouble," but she keeps calling me and has even come to my apartment uninvited.

DEAR HOUNDED: Why don't you put it to her just that way? If you did, I'm sure you'd have no more trouble with her.

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a man who has many good qualities, but he has one stubborn streak in him that drives me crazy. He refuses to let me drive the car while he is in it. He says a man looks like a pipsqueak sitting beside a woman who she drives the car. I have seen other men sit while their wives drove, and they looked happy enough to me. I can drive every bit as well as he can, but of course he would never admit it. I would like your opinion on this subject.

DEAR HURT: Let your husband drive or he'll drive you crazy.

Business Mirror Time for Steel To Take Spotlight

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — This is steel's time in the spotlight. Steelmen are happy over the climbing production and the better earnings now being reported. But many are a bit fidgety about the amount of public attention their industry is getting.

It's nice to be a basic industry—some even call it THE basic industry—and know you're that important. It's a bit troubling to be made the example of what should be done and can be done about the wage-price spiral and even the trend of the economy in general.

Many are casting steel in that role this year. "The main reason is that the Kennedy administration puts prime significance on the terms which steel workers and management will negotiate in the upcoming wage talks—and on how soon the talks can be concluded. Washington wants no rise in steel prices and cautions labor against demands that might cause such a rise."

Other reasons are that climbing steel production now can be interpreted two ways. It means that the economy is starting a healthy growth trend from the level set when the recovery wiped out the last recession.

If the increased production is largely due to stockpiling against the chance of a strike, the over-production now, followed by underproduction while buyers live off their inventories later, could upset the general economy.

Some steel mills say their customers aren't building up stocks as much as was expected. Most mills say orders are still coming in very good volume.

The orders are high enough to assure most steel users all they'll need for the first half of the year at least, according to the metalworking weekly, The Iron Age.

It adds that steel capacity seems adequate to take care of any more orders likely from those wishing to make sure of a supply during the summer. The steel wage contracts expire June 30, so that any work stoppage would come after the summer.

Whatever the reasons for the upsurge in orders and in production, the figures themselves gladden the hearts of the steel mill managers.

In the last nine weeks steel output has advanced steadily, with the single exception of Christmas week when holidays were in order.

Spacemen Could Be Protected Against Radiation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The odds of death by solar storm for space travelers, new space eyes planned for world weathermen, and frustrations in a cat's life are subjects for science at work.

Every so often flares erupt randomly on the surface of the sun and unleash a storm of radiation into space. On earth we're protected from most of it by the shielding of the earth's atmosphere. In space there is no protection.

For space travelers, this could be a hazard. But now Boeing Aircraft scientists, after a long study of solar storms, figure the odds against a death-dealing dose of this radiation in the course of a week-long space mission would be 120-1.

This is without shielding. The hazard of death would be even lower if spaceships were designed to use the equipment and fuel tanks as protection against the solar radiation.

The Tiro satellites already are sharpening the foresight of weathermen for large areas of the earth.

With their television cameras trained on the clouds that scud over the earth, the satellites have spotted hurricanes forming, cloud weathermen in Australia to the end of a long heat wave, and helped pinpoint violent tropical storms.

One storm was spotted so accurately that weathermen who had tried to locate the storm's center by conventional methods found they were 300 miles in error.

Four more Tiro satellites will be launched, and in 1962 the first Nimbus satellite will be sent into orbit over the North and South poles. With this orbit, the Nimbus will be able to see clouds at every point on earth as the globe rotates slowly under it.

Finally, two Nimbus satellites may patrol at once, providing worldwide data every six hours.

Having trouble adjusting? Do things change too rapidly for you? Don't feel bad—your pet cat may have the same trouble.

Veterinarians investigating the mental health of pets find that cats do indeed become frustrated, largely from having to live in city environments or otherwise conform to human standards.

One of a cat's prime requirements is affection from its master, they say. Women, for instance, often get cats to eat better because they take time to pet the felines while they are feeding them. Veterinarians estimate that there are some 23 million cats living in American homes.

Ex-Wabasha Resident Nominated to Take Air Force Examination

WABASHA, Minn.—Among 11 Minnesotans nominated by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey today to take a competitive examination for an appointment to the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado is James Dennis Foley, 19, Wichita, Kan. James is the son of Lt. Col. Robert Foley, stationed at Wichita. He is planning on retiring soon. The family resided in Wabasha for a time. Col. Foley is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John R. Foley, Wabasha, and a brother of Dan Foley here.

The examination, to be conducted in March, will determine selection of one applicant for appointment to the academy.

Contest Trout

Two hundred pounds of trout including two jumbo's were planted today in Bugle Lake, Independence, Wis., for the Elk Rod and Gun Club's fourth annual trout fishing contest Sunday. The trout came from the Peterson Trout Farm, trout wholesalers, and were transported to Independence by Ed Brink, manager of the farm, in the oxygen-supplied tank truck pictured above.

How can Independence sportsmen run a trout fishing contest when the trout season is closed in Wisconsin and in Minnesota? We have been asked this question a dozen or more times in the last weeks by contest promoters and fishermen.

The big reason the Elk Rod and Gun Club can stage such a contest is that the Wisconsin Conservation Department has the authority to establish special seasons and set all seasons. In Minnesota, fishing seasons are set by legislative action.

Bugle Lake is an enlargement of the Trempealeau River. The Trempealeau River is a warm stream and has no trout population. Trout could not live in it in the summer time because of the high water temperature.

So, since it is none-trout waters, the department is justified in establishing a special trout season on Bugle Lake. The sportsmen's group has to provide the trout if there is to be trout fishing. It is open the year around for crappies, sunfish and rough fish.

To get trout, the club purchases them at $1.35 a pound from the Peterson farm, which delivers the fish to the lake for planting. The fish are good-sized rainbows and brooks and of course will survive in winter when the temperature of the water is cold.

Perhaps, we should not let this out of the bag, but the old bugler is one of the two jumbo trout contained in the consignment. If he weighs ten pounds as the bill advertising the contest states, the cost to the club was $13.50.

Most residents of this area look upon the Peterson Trout Farm as a series of ponds where paid fishing for trout is done. One takes the kids and pays $1.35 a pound for all the fish they catch. It can be expensive.

However, this is secondary business. The big project of the farm is to supply trout to sportsmen's clubs for planting, to state game departments for stocking, and to other "pay" fish ponds to resell to the public. Even the Michigan Conservation Department purchases trout regularly from the farm. Most sportsmen's shows get consignments of trout there for the fish ponds operated in connection with the shows.

At the present time, outside of the two hatcheries operated by the firm where there are half a million or more trout eggs hatching, there are 400,000 brook and rainbow trout in the ponds. They range from yearlings to older stock of the brook stock type. Most of the eggs are sold. Some stripping is done in the fall.

The whole project, ponds and hatchery, is built around two springs which have a combined flow of about 4,000 gallons an hour of suitable temperature water to support healthy trout. The farm is owned by Morse Brothers of Rochester. Brink is resident fish culturist and manager.

Fishing parties that come to the farm to fish, Brink tells us, catch between 15,000 and 18,000 pounds of trout a year. Some families spend more than $100 for fish in a single afternoon, while about 50 percent of the visitors to the place come to watch and not to fish.

'Cream Can' Gangster Held In Burglary

AITKIN, Minn. (AP)—One of Minnesota's oldtime "cream can" burglars, and another man involved in the 1949 burglary killing of a Richfield, Minn. policeman, are being held by Aitkin County authorities in a burglary investigation.

Held without charge are John Collingswood Howard, 71, who served an 11-year federal prison term in connection with "cream can gang" bank burglaries, and Allan C. Hartman, 32, St. Paul who was involved in the slaying of Richfield policeman Fred A. Babcock Jr.

Howard and Hartman and a third man, Dick W. C. Anderson, 34, Minneapolis, were nabbed in a police roadblock at Aitkin early Sunday. They were seized as a night marshal pursued a car following a burglary at Palisade, 20 miles northeast of Aitkin.

Sheriff Hjalmar Hulin said none of the three have made statements. Hartman served six years of a 10-year federal sentence for kidnapping a Mandan, N.D. policeman during a flight from the Richfield slaying. Babcock was killed June 4, 1949 while investigating a store burglary.

Hartman also served a 7 to 10-year Minnesota prison sentence after pleading guilty in the Babcock slaying. He was released last spring.

The "cream can gang" acquired its name through its method of operations in raiding Minnesota banks in the late 1930s. The burglars hauled in cream cans and filled them with water which was poured into the safe to protect currency from the heat of acetylene torches.

Lutherans Elect Minneapolis Man

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Dr. Raymond M. Olson of Minneapolis was elected to a one-year term as president of the National Lutheran Council Tuesday.

Dr. Olson, stewardship director of the American Lutheran Church, succeeds Dr. Norman A. Menter of Berkley, Mich.

Other new officers of the council, which represents six Lutheran bodies with a membership of 5,567,000, are Dr. George F. Har-kins, New York City, secretary of the United Lutheran Church in America, vice president, and Cyrus Rachie, a Minneapolis attorney, secretary.

Existing breaches in the wall of church-state separation complicate the question of federal aid to private schools, the executive director of the National Lutheran Council told the meeting.

Dr. Paul C. Empe said organized religion already is supported in some ways by the government. He mentioned tax exemptions on church property and the paying of salaries to chaplains in the armed forces as examples.

"The question has been and will continue to be: at what point is it desirable and safe from the standpoint of the nation's health to breach the wall further and to what extent?" he said.

Underground Atomic Test in Nevada

WASHINGTON (AP)—An underground nuclear test—the eleventh to be announced by the Atomic Energy Commission—was set off Tuesday at the AEC's Nevada test site.

The commission gave no details beyond saying it was of low yield. That normally means an explosive power less than that of 2 tons of TNT.

Whitehall to Get 1 New Alderman

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Only one new official is indicated in the City of Whitehall as a result of filing of nomination papers with the clerk by the deadline Tuesday.

Charles Johnson is a new candidate for 3rd Ward alderman. Arne Torud, incumbent also had filed, but withdrew. H. D. Briggs filed to succeed himself as 3rd Ward supervisor.

All other candidates filed to succeed themselves and are unopposed. They are: Lester Brennom, mayor; Wayne Luke, assessor; Selmer Galstad and J. O. Gilbertson, 1st Ward alderman and supervisor respectively, and D. L. Rice and Burr Tarrant, 2nd Ward alderman and supervisor, respectively.

Holdover aldermen are Martin Holzman, 1st Ward; Norman Friske, 2nd, and Eyvind Peterson, 3rd. Clerk-treasurer A. E. Berg is appointed. There won't be a justice of the peace election this year. Most of this work has been incorporated in the county court under the new judicial system which went into effect this year.

Ray Roberts Wins Rayburn's Seat in House

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP)—Ray Roberts, a merchant and president pro tem of the Texas Senate, has won the U.S. House seat of his political mentor, the late Sam Rayburn.

The 48-year-old Democrat, jubilant almost to the point of tears, said he was succeeding "the greatest man who ever lived." He promptly telephoned Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, long a political associate, and arranged a victory meeting in Washington Monday.

Roberts defeated Robert C. (Bob) Slagle in Tuesday's runoff election in Texas' 4th congressional district, represented by Rayburn for 48 years.

When the vote count ended Tuesday night Roberts held an insurmountable lead of 16,047 to 13,302 and Slagle had conceded.

Both Roberts and Slagle were proteges of Rayburn and both described themselves as supporters of the Kennedy administration, although Roberts was regarded as more conservative. Roberts has expressed opposition to federal aid to education and to U.S. aid to any Communist country. But, he says, "I'm a lifelong Democrat without adjectives or apologies." The new congressman worked for Johnson when the vice president was state director of the National Youth Administration of the House.

HAS INSIDE TRACK AT 2ND BASE

Kindall: 'Trade to Cleveland Big Break for Me!'

By GARY EVANS

Daily News Sports Writer

"I can't help but feel this is a big break for me," said Jerry Kindall Tuesday night, speaking of the recent trade which sent him to the Cleveland Indians.

Kindall, former University of Minnesota star and one-time player with the Winona Chiefs, was here to speak at a Father and Son banquet at Central Lutheran church.

This was a different Kindall than the one who appeared three months ago at the YMCA. He then was a rather discontened member of the Chicago Cubs. As an Indian, and in the American League, Kindall has assurances from Manager Mel McGaha and Gabe Paul, general manager, that he has the inside job on the second base spot with Cleveland.

How does Kindall feel about the situation?

"When I was at Chicago I was always playing behind Ernie Banks and you don't start when you have a ballplayer of Ernie's caliber on the team," said Jerry.

"I was at Cleveland last week and Gabe Paul and the entire front office made me feel more welcome than I ever had before," the tall, thin ex-Winona Chief continued. "I'm, of course, new to the American League, but I feel that Woody Held and Vic Power (the Indians' shortstop and first baseman, respectively) will give me the extra help I'll need in learning how to play the hitters." "Please, don't get the idea that I'm disgusted with the Cubs. I'm still a loyal Chicago booster, that's Chicago's National League team though," Kindall said.

What about the new bonus rule, Jerry, especially since the Indians just paid $40,000 for an untried schoolboy infielder Tuesday?

"I suppose I could get myself in trouble by making too much of a statement on the subject. But it seems to me that a ball club is robbing itself of much needed bench strength in keeping an untried player or players on its roster when it might need some experienced reserve for a drive to the pennant. It's just going to make everyone's job a lot tougher if he wants to stick with a club," Kindall said.

"Naturally it's a big break. Cleveland definitely needs help at the second base position and I can help solve it. It gives you a lot more incentive when you know that playing your heart out could bring a pennant with it," the former University of Minnesota All-American stated.

"I'll promise you that I'll be doing everything I can to make the team. Spring training is just around the corner, you know, and I'll know more then."

Behind the Eight-Ball

By AUGIE KARCHER
Sports Editor

"TWAS A PLEASANT Sunday afternoon when my phone rang and the voice on the other end asked: 'How did the Globetrotters do when they played the Minneapolis Lakers?'"

Obviously the caller was doing the same thing I was — watching the Trotters on television. It was a good show, as it always is when Abe Saperstein puts his basketball magicians on the floor.

Yes, the Trotters did play the Lakers. Six games it was. That was back in the early George Mikan days.

The Trotters won the first two by not too big a margin and managed to clown a bit in the process. But the Lakers won the next four in convincing fashion and Saperstein figured he had nothing more to gain by letting his club take lickings from the pros.

The fans clamored for more games — and the Lakers were willing. But not Abe.

What a Laker team today, or the Celts, or the Warriors would do against the Trotters, will go unanswered.

The Trotters play in La Crosse Feb. 23.

IF YOU SAW the Duluth-St. Mary's game Monday night, you might have marveled as I did over the deft-fingered shooting of Harry Oden and Gene Hamilton of Duluth from outside.

Seldom has a coach ever assembled such talent in one set of uniforms.

Ken Wilgen drooled particularly over Tom Adams. Others were impressed by center Bill Mattson. Those two comprise a real "beef trust" and two of the most agile big men ever seen.

Coach Norm Olson has only one player less than 6-1 in height and only three seniors among his first 12.

WINONA STATE'S swimmers will be strengthened by the addition of Gordon Lanning from Clinton, Iowa.

He is a transfer student from Iowa State University, Ames, and became eligible this week.

Coach Jim Voorhees rates him as a "pretty good all-around swimmer" and adds, "We'll use him wherever we can to increase our team depth."

Incidentally, many of the Warrior clockings Saturday were better than some times State posted in losing to North Central Saturday.

REPORTS ON the status of Dan Shirk, Austin's talented center, are still vague.

He was injured against Mankato when someone stepped on his foot at the same time he was trying to jump up for a rebound.

Shirk saw no service in Friday's win over Faribault but Coach Ove Beren isn't saying that he will be out for the season.

MIKE GOSTOMSKI argues that no basketball game can be started over, such as was done at St. Charles Friday when Zumbrota scored the opening two-point but in the wrong basket, not the one at which they warmed up.

It was all because the opposing centers reversed the correct positions on the opening jump ball.

I can't find a rule covering the situation, and apparently the officials didn't either since they decided that the more fair way was to discount the basket entirely and start all over since only seconds had elapsed.

Gostomski may know his rules. I don't in this case. But I suspect the poor tooters at St. Charles made the wisest decision under the circumstances.

OFF THE CUSHION... Herb Klein, genial Winona bowler, is convalescing at a Rochester hospital after surgery... Bob Sinclair, Bemidji State goalie, has allowed only five goals in four games while being credited with 67 stops. The Beavers play St. Mary's here Monday afternoon... Although they haven't even advertised season ticket sales for next fall, the Minnesota Vikings have received nearly 50 orders for season tickets... Reports are that Gale Sprute, Winona State linebacker, has signed with the Detroit Lions but everyone is still mum on the deal, which is supposed to be released from Detroit.

'No Alibis,' Says Campbell

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Writer

"They really came to play ball," Coach Bob Campbell said after Duluth Branch of the University had overpowered his Warriors 92-67 before 2,000 fans that turned out for the annual "March of Dimes" game at Memorial Hall Tuesday night.

The Bulldogs weren't playing around Tuesday as they demonstrated early in the game how they had won 13 of 15 games.

"THERE'S NO alibis when you play a team that is as good as Duluth is," Campbell commented. "They beat you at every phase of the game. I don't think anyone is going to beat them until they get to the NAIA Tournament."

In the visitor's dressing room after the game Duluth Coach Norm Olson took much the same stand although he added some humor to his comments. "We've got the horses all right. Now if we can get the coaching we should go the rest of the way."

Fans, however, spoiled the game in the second half when they began to boo the Bulldogs' Gene Hamilton who was playing a whale of a game. The Warrior cheerleaders subdued the competition, but not before Olson was forced to bring Hamilton to the bench to save him further embarrassment.

"IT'S KIND OF hard on the kid," Olson said after the game, "but we seem to run into it wherever we go."

Hamilton made his mark in the department where it counts most. He fired in a series of long jump shots to finish with 24 points to lead the Bulldogs although he sat out much of the final half.

Duluth jumped to a 17-7 advantage with 14 minutes to play in the first half behind Hamilton who hit three field goals and Tom Adams who added two layups.

With half of the first 20 minutes elapsed the Warriors started back behind Ken Stellflug who hit three driving shots in succession to bring the score to 24-19.

LATE IN THE first half it was Stellflug again spearheading the attack with two layups and three free throws to bring State within 41-38 at halftime.

With the start of the second half the Warriors fell apart. Rog Hankins hit a long jumper, Hamilton added a layup and Bill Mattson, who scored 16 points, cashed a short hook to run the count to 47-38 and Duluth was well on its way to victory No. 14.

With 14 minutes to play in the game the already ice cold Statesmen really ran into trouble. They went for six minutes without putting a point on the scoreboard while Duluth was calmly building a 74-49 advantage behind a series of free throws and Hamilton's floating jump shots.

THE FINAL 10 minutes was a mere formality as Duluth completely outclassed the Warriors, which by this time was playing its second five.

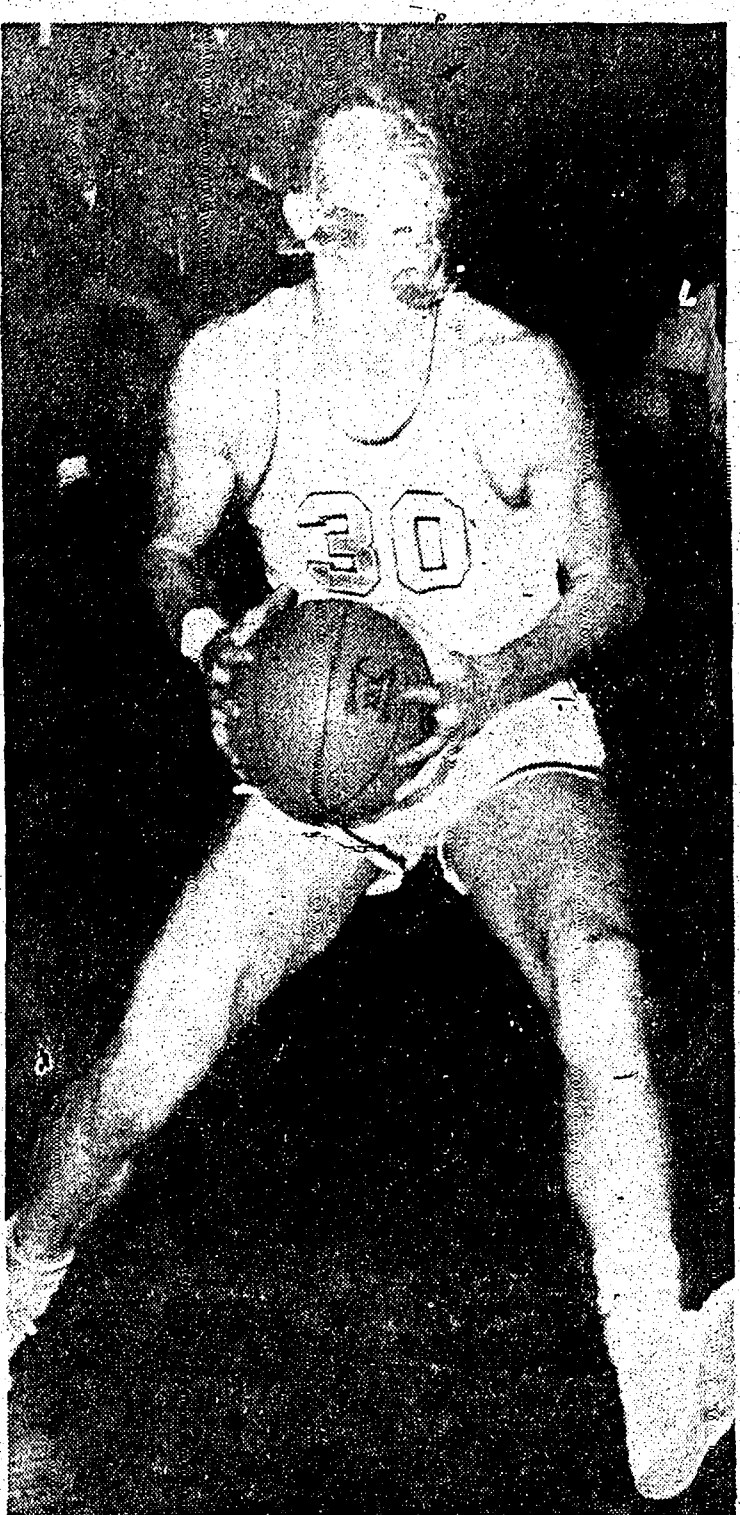

The statistics tell the story. State was outshot 43 to 34 percent. The rebounding department was even worse as the taller Bulldogs held a 54-31 edge. And to top that off the Warriors made 24 mechanical errors.

Stellflug netted 18 points for State. Arlen Klinder 12 and Jim Vinar 11.

Adams added 13 to the Duluth total and Mike Patterson 11. State gets back to NSCC competition this Friday when they play at Moorhead and Saturday they test Bemidji in the second game of the roadtrip.

Berrigan Paces 8-1 Redmen Win

Don Berrigan converted the "hat trick" and led St. Mary's College hockey team to an 8-1 victory over Concordia of Moorhead Tuesday afternoon at Terrace Heights.

The win, the Redmen's seventh in eight starts and second in MIAC play, was accomplished without injury to Berrigan who is nursing an injured shoulder.

BEAULIEU suffered the injury in the final minute of a practice session Monday night when he tripped over goalie Dick Caldwell and landed on the point of his shoulder.

Redmen Coach Max Molock this morning said X-rays revealed no fracture, but Beaulieu will see limited action at St. Thomas Thursday, if he plays at all.

Berrigan, the other half of Molock's Canadian tandem, helped St. Mary's to a 4-0 first period lead and then scored twice in the last period unassisted.

Ed Tierney got two of the first period goals and Jim Anderson the other.

DICK MCCORMICK also scored twice and added two assists as St. Mary's averaged a 7-1 loss to the Cobbers last year and handed the visitors their sixth loss in seven games and fifth in six MIAC starts.

The game was marked by four penalties in the second period that resulted in each team having only three men on the ice for one span of play extending into the third period.

Caldwell had seven stops before he yielded in favor of Fritz Kokesh.

Modjeski's 20 Sparks Third

By AUGIE KARCHER
Daily News Sports Writer

Cotter's Ramblers zoomed to a 22-5 lead in the first eight minutes at St. Stan's Tuesday night and except for fighting the foul bug had no difficulty in posting their third Ravoux Conference victory of the season.

The victim was Sacred Heart of Waseca 71-58.

IT WAS THE most points Cotter has scored in a single game this season and yet Larry Modjeski was the only regular to see action in the final period, then for only the opening two minutes.

Sacred Heart, which came in with an 8-8 overall record and 1-4 Ravoux Conference mark, could match the Ramblers only on the boards. Cotter had unusual difficulty getting the rebounds, even when Coach John Nett switched to a zone defense in the third quarter.

"I had a plan before this game started, but those fouls took care of that," said Nett, seeking to give his bench the work it needs. Both Sam Czaplowski and Gene Schultz, carried four misdemeanors before the first half ended with Cotter ahead 37-27.

THE RAMBLERS were assessed 30 fouls and Sacred Heart 20. The Waseca team muffed 26 free throw chances which didn't make Coach Pat Sullivan any happier than the technical foul he drew for over-emphasizing his feelings about the officiating.

Modjeski, Czaplowski and Schultz provided the impetus for Cotter's fast start which got them in front 9-0 before Dick Thiessen scored Waseca's first basket with 5:10 to play in the quarter. With 2:11 left Cotter led 19-3.

Waseca, clearing the boards well in the second quarter, outscored Cotter 14-2 to climb back 24-19. When Modjeski, Schultz and Bob Judge socked in nine points against Waseca's single free throw for a 33-20 edge, Sacred Heart came back again.

LINDEN Kratochwill, Jim Fitzsimmons, and Dan Kelly twice brought the visitors within eight points. Early in the second half it was still an unsafe 39-31 margin with two minutes gone.

Modjeski, however, took hold of the situation, and the Ramblers, running whenever possible, outscored Waseca 14-3 in a four-minute burst that made it 53-34. The difference got as wide as 52 points with more than a quarter to play so Nett corralled his horses. Cotter shot at a more than Luke-warm 43 percent for the night after a 16-40 first half performance. Waseca hit only 29 percent.

"We only made two mechanical errors in the first half," Nett beamed.

THE COTTER coach could also smile over the poise of his sophomore center Bob Judge, who didn't shoot too often, but fed off for several assists. And Loran Kopravski showed considerable talent as he got in plenty of playing time for a change. As a matter of fact, his seven points tied him with Judge as third top Rambler scorer.

Waseca's 14-3 second quarter lead and took advantage of a cold second quarter by Alma to up it to 39-15 at halftime.

Larry McFarlin fired in 17 points for the Pirates. Dave Schmidt-knecht 14 and John Wolfe 10. Mike Ebersold led Alma with 21 and Jim Hartman got 11. Alma won the preliminary.

PEPIN was never headed after a 10-2 deficit early in the game as it led 24-13, 40-30 and 58-39 at the quarter turns.

Eugene Beck hit 16 of his 20 points in the first half. Larry Fink got 19 and Dan Kircher and Jim Westberg 10 each for the Lakers.

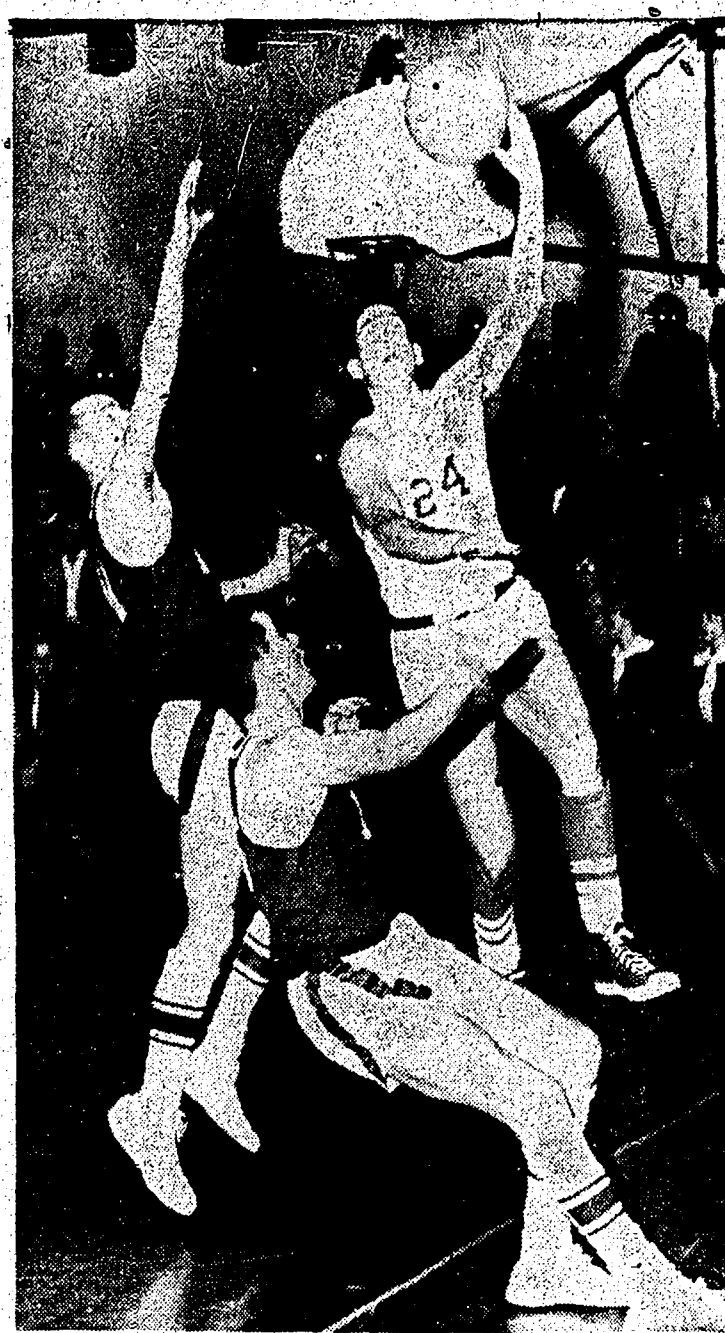

Jon Gilmore flipped 25 points through the nets for Wabasha and Leroy Eckstrand 11 for Wabasha.

CALEDONIA BUILT a 15-10

quarter lead and then fell behind 24-22 at halftime before climbing back on top to stay 41-34 at the end of three periods.

Vernon Heimz netted 20 points, Bob Bubbers 13 and Richard Haugstad 12 for the Warriors and Don Halverson 18 and Cleon Wilbur 10 for Canton.

Lynn Dale Turner played a good defensive and rebounding game for Canton which lost the preliminary 35-28.

ARMY SPECIAL SERVICES offer professional and challenging jobs in far away places to college graduates who have demonstrated recreation leadership and managerial ability.

Service Club staff members plan the social recreation life in a military community. Positions in the world's largest library program are open to young people with a degree in library science and proven supervisory ability. Crafts director positions are available at the beginning level for those with a degree in art education, fine arts or related areas.

Entertainment director positions are limited and open only to those having a degree in drama or music besides extensive experience in teaching or directing such activities.

In Europe, basic requirements for Special Services positions include: United States citizenship; college degree; leadership ability; a trim, well-groomed appearance, and excellent physical and mental health. Single women only, minimum age 21, are considered for positions in Service Clubs. Librarian, entertainment director and crafts director are positions open to men and single women.

Important benefits of these civilian positions in Europe are in-service training, vacation and sick leave, good salaries and, for the women, a smartly designed French blue duty uniform. Housing or a rental allowance is provided and transportation is furnished to the duty station and return at the completion of the two-year employment agreement.

Special Services positions in the Far East, the Caribbean, Hawaii, Alaska and the other 48 states are generally in the federal Civil Service. Federal examinations for librarians and recreation specialists will be announced and conducted through the United States Civil Service Commission. Those who do not have the degree but do have applicable experience must pass a written test.

Personal interviews for Special Services positions will be conducted in Minneapolis Monday and Tuesday at the Minnesota State Employment Service, 309 2nd Ave. S. For an appointment call Miss Lucille Beaver, Special Services representative.

FREE PAINT OFFER

Mary Carter Paint Co., one of the country's fastest growing paint manufacturers, offers these franchises with a sensational sales background. Over 700 retail franchises in 30 states are now in operation. Demands for these franchises throughout the country are due largely to exceptional dealer benefits, such as: CASH AND CARRY RETAIL BUSINESS — STOCK TURN-OVER IN EXCESS OF 10 TIMES PER YEAR — FREE DELIVERY SERVICE — EXCLUSIVE FRANCHISE GRANT — INVESTMENT REFUNDABLE — ORGANIZED SALES AND SERVICE PROGRAM — SPECIAL ADVERTISING AND MERCHANDISING PROGRAM THAT CREATES IMMEDIATE HEAVY CUSTOMER TRAFFIC — NO FRANCHISE FEE OR ROYALTY ON SALES — COMPLETE TRAINING PROGRAM ON THE SELLING OF MARY CARTER PRODUCTS. These dealer benefits help to guarantee your success and is one of the main reasons why Mary Carter franchises are under constant demand.
