Secret French Army Seizes Oran Paper, Prints Extra

Most Daring Propaganda Coup of War

By RODNEY ANGRÖVE
ORAN, Algeria (AP)—The European Army answered President Charles de Gaulle's promise of an Algerian peace agreement with the daring seizure today of an Oran newspaper. Secret Army commandos blanketed the city with a pirate edition asserting the French settlers will win their battle to block Algerian independence.

The publication and distribution of thousands of copies of the contraband newspaper in Algeria's second city was probably the most daring propaganda coup yet pulled by ex-Gen. Raoul Salan's rightist underground.

It followed only by hours De Gaulle's address to France in which he scorned the Secret Army as "subversive and criminal" and vowed that nothing would stand in the way of his plans for Algerian peace and independence.

De Gaulle's speech buoyed Algeria's Moslems with new hope and optimism. Although he did not say agreement had been reached with the rebel provisional government, many saw an end of the 7½-year-old rebellion near at hand. "This time peace is really around the corner," said one.

The speech aroused new bitterness and hatred among the North African territory's Europeans. The Secret Army wasted no time in demonstrating anew its defiance of De Gaulle.

A commando group of about 30 armed men, their faces masked with scarves, invaded the newspaper Echo d'Oran at 2 a.m. as the printers were about to start the night's run.

Herding aside workers in the composing room, the raiders in 30 minutes recast the newspaper's back page devoted to North African news.

The new page showed: A banner headline saying "Special Edition of the OAS" (Organisation de L'Armee Secrete).

A two-column block of white letters on a black background declaring, "The OAS will win."

The text of a speech delivered by ex-Gen. Edmond Jouhaud in a pirate broadcast over Radio Oran Monday night. The Secret Army kept De Gaulle off Oran's TV screens by kidnapping seven radio technicians and broadcasting a speech by Jouhaud in which he declared: "We will fight to the death, victory is ours." In their haste, the raiders printed this speech upside down.

A portrait of Jouhaud working at his desk in a secret headquarters somewhere in Algeria.

A picture of Salan across the whole upper part of the page. Under the raiders' guns, about 20,000 copies of the new edition were run off. Beginning at 7 a.m., runners spread through the streets of Oran distributing copies eagerly snatched up by Europeans.

Authorities immediately ordered a general police alert, but by then the Secret Army men were back in hiding.

Brook said he drove the squad car, with the 17-year-old youth following in Brook's car, to a quarry about 20 miles away near Racine. Brook said they planned to dump the car and the officer's body into the 100-foot deep water.

Brook said that when the police car failed to crash through a gate and became tangled in the wire mesh, he abandoned it with the motor still running.

The squad car was discovered by a passing motorist at 5 a.m. Burlington police had been searching for Eilers since 3 a.m. and had called out auxiliary police at 4 a.m.

Realizing that the officer would find the loot in a box, Brook said he got out and began to argue. A light followed, Peyton said, and Brook told how the sergeant lost his 38 caliber revolver in a snowbank in attempting to draw it from under his overcoat.

Peyton quoted Brook as saying he picked up the pistol and emptied it in the direction of the officer. Eilers was hit by five of the six slugs in the gun.

After the shooting, Brook told the officers, he was unable to turn off the light which was on the dashboard of the squad car. He said he put in on the floor of the car, and in stomping on it, stepped on the accelerator. The squad car

BIG WELCOME . . . U. S. Attorney General Robert Kennedy is surrounded by a sea of faces as he entered Waseda University in Tokyo, Japan. The students swarmed about Kennedy's automobile and the crush of the crowd literally car-

Leftists Break Up Bob Kennedy Talk in Tokyo

TOKYO (AP)—Thousands of students at Tokyo's Waseda University gave Robert F. Kennedy a roaring, cheering welcome today, but shouting, jeering leftists broke up a speech by the U.S. attorney general. It was the first hostility Kennedy has met on his visit to Japan.

It was estimated the hecklers totaled fewer than 100. U.S. Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer said they were "a small group of hard-core Communists and I don't believe they were from Waseda."

Kennedy and his wife, Ethel, stood calmly on the university stage despite the pandemonium, then left the auditorium building through a rear door. Mrs. Kennedy was hit in the stomach by a gesticulating cheerleader trying to drown out the hecklers, but she quickly recovered her composure.

"I think the vast majority of the students were friendly," the President's brother said later. "I'm just sorry we didn't get more of a chance to exchange ideas. I'd like to go back."

Thousands of students swarmed about Kennedy's car as he drove into the university grounds to cheers of "Kennedy! Kennedy!" and cries of "Shake my hand."

The American visitor was literally carried up the steps of the building. Police and university security officials finally managed to get the disheveled Kennedy inside, but he turned and waved out the door, shouting "Thank you!" A thunderous cheer went up from the students.

The auditorium was packed with about 6,000 students. As Kennedy waited to begin his speech, a disturbance broke out in the front rows and several youths tried to climb on the stage. Small knots of strategically located young people set up cries of "Kennedy go home, Kennedy off the platform, Cuba, Okinawa."

Some Reservists Being Released

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army reported today it is releasing an undisclosed number of reservists it acknowledged shouldn't have been called to active duty during the Berlin crisis mobilization.

It said it "has instructed the field to advise those individuals erroneously called up they are eligible for release from the service."

Involved are men who, due to misinterpretation of policy, were kept in the ready Reserve when they should have been transferred to the inactive Reserve.

The Army said it does not have any figures on the number affected. Generally, they are among the more than 14,000 Army reservists ordered to duty specifically to fill up ranks of understrength Reserve and National Guard units mustered into active service last fall.

During the mobilization, some protested they were called up unjustly. The Army in effect admitted this today, saying "during the build-up certain personnel were called to active duty erroneously."

It noted that men entering the Army before enactment of the 1955 Reserve forces law incurred an eight-year ready Reserve obligation.

"When they completed five years of combined active duty and a ready Reserve service they were eligible for transfer to the standby Reserve," the Army said.

"Some Army installations misinterpreted Army policy and carried the men in the ready Reserve for the entire eight years and did not transfer them to the standby Reserve," the Army said.

"Consequently they were retained in the ready Reserve and ordered to active duty."

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told a news conference Monday he couldn't say when the 156,000 Army, Navy and Air Force reservists called up last fall can plan to go home. "At this time, in a period of tension and crisis, we cannot give any specific date," McNamara said.

Church, Private Institutions Not Included

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy told Congress today a crisis in American schooling makes it imperative that a five-year $5.7 billion aid to education program be enacted this year. He asked no help for church and private elementary and high schools.

It was this exclusion of parochial schools that stalled the aid for classroom construction and teachers' salaries program last year in a congressional row over help for church schools.

But Kennedy, a Roman Catholic, said again today in a special message that his program offers "the maximum scope permitted by our Constitution." He contends federal outlays for church schools would violate the constitutional concept of separation of church and state.

Kennedy's program of federal loans, grants and scholarships at every level of learning would cost $1.5 billion in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

He said the outlay would be "the most profitable investment society can make."

As if to refute reports that his administration would be willing to forego funds for aiding public school construction and higher teachers' pay, the President put that contested measure at the top of his list.

Next came aid for college construction and scholarships, which are given a better chance of becoming law. Third was an array of "special" education and training programs with emphasis on more support for science and engineering, medical and dental training, and a broad attack on adult illiteracy.

Whether today's urgent plea would give the stalled teacher salary and construction bill a fresh start was doubtful.

Few give the bill much chance, even if revived. But Kennedy spoke out strongly for vigorous government help. In the past year "our crucial needs have intensified and our deficiencies have grown more critical," he said. "It is imperative that such a proposal carrying out these objectives be enacted this session."

The country must provide facilities for 14 million more elementary, secondary and college students by 1970, the message said, or an increase of 30 per cent. College enrollments alone will nearly double.

The message gave few figures. Those were outlined in Kennedy's budget message. It showed that the requested three-year program of classroom construction and grants to increase teachers' salaries would cost $2.1 billion overall.

The program for aiding higher education would require $332 million annually over five years—for loans to build academic facilities and for scholarships of up to $1,000 a year for "talented and needy" students.

The House has approved only the construction portion. The President therefore aimed at the Senate his appeal that scholarships be restored to the bill.

Two administration bills embodying segments of Kennedy's program are new this year. They were scheduled to go to Congress after the message.

An appendage of the general public school aid bill would provide $747 million over five years to give elementary and high school teachers up to 2,500 scholarships a year for full-time study at colleges. It also would assist the establishment of institutes for teachers at colleges.

The scholarships would go to teachers in private and parochial as well as public schools. The first year cost would be $120 million.

The second measure embodies Kennedy's announced "massive attack on adult illiteracy."

More than two million adult Americans can neither read nor write, Kennedy said, and the result "is often chronic unemployment, dependency or delinquency."

The proposed plan to help universities and state agencies tackle the problem would cost $50 million in five years, but only $3 million would be spent in the first year.

The other presidential recommendations included:

A 10-year program of matching grants for the building of 20 new medical schools and 20 new dental schools, in addition to the offering of four-year scholarships for one-fourth of the entering students in each medical and dental school in the country. In the first five years the cost would be $500 million; in fiscal 1963, $9 million.

Racine Youth Admits Killing of Policeman

RACINE, Wis. (AP)—The fears of a bushy-haired young ex-convict prompted the slaying of Burlington Police Sgt. Anthony Eilers with the officer's own gun, authorities said Monday night.

The admitted killer's frenzy after the shooting led to his arrest. A dangling license plate on the front of his car ignited the violence, police quoted him as saying. The rear plate led officers to his home.

The slaying of the 39-year-old police officer was admitted by Wilson Lee Brook, 21, of Racine, who was paroled from the State Reformatory near Green Bay on Nov. 30 after serving two years on a burglary charge.

Brook was arraigned Monday night before Racine County Court Commissioner Oscar M. Edwards on first degree murder charges. Brook was ordered held in the County Jail without bond pending a preliminary hearing Feb. 12. He did not enter a plea. Police said he showed no emotion during the hours of questioning.

Authorities also were holding Brook's 17-year-old brother, Max, Dist. Atty. John Peyton said he planned to ask juvenile authorities today to waive jurisdiction and authorize prosecution of the youth as an adult.

Peyton said he and Sheriff Rudy Spicker obtained Brook's admission after he and the youth had been questioned separately.

In their statements, the officers said, the two related they were returning home from Janesville, where they had burglarized the senior high school and obtained $1,000 and other loot, when they were stopped by Sgt. Eilers just outside of Burlington on Highway 11 at about 2 a.m. Monday.

Peyton said Brook related that the sergeant told him the front license plate was hanging from the car, and then asked to inspect the interior of the vehicle.

Realizing that the officer would find the loot in a box, Brook said he got out and began to argue. A light followed, Peyton said, and Brook told how the sergeant lost his 38 caliber revolver in a snowbank in attempting to draw it from under his overcoat.

After the shooting, Brook told the officers, he was unable to turn off the light which was on the dashboard of the squad car. He said he put in on the floor of the car, and in stomping on it, stepped on the accelerator. The squad car shot ahead, ramming the rear of Brook's car.

The impact apparently tore off the rear license plate on Brook's car and it fell on the shoulder of the road, to be discovered later by investigating officers. The plate was registered in the name of another member of the Brook family. After failing to find Brook at his home, officers arrested him on his job at nearby Shurtzart.

Brook said he drove the squad car, with the 17-year-old youth following in Brook's car, to a quarry about 20 miles away near Racine. Brook said they planned to dump the car and the officer's body into the 100-foot deep water.

Tiros Weather Satellite Shot Delayed a Day

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Technical troubles with the booster rocket forced postponement today of an attempt to launch an improved Tiros weather satellite into orbit.

Scientists had only a 47-minute period ending at 7:50 a.m. in which to launch the rocket to put the Tiros IV payload on the proper course. When it became apparent that the problem could not be corrected in this time, the shot was called off for the day.

No new launching date was set. If the trouble is minor, another effort may be made Wednesday.

Tiros IV is the fourth in a series of satellites aimed at developing a worldwide network of space stations to forecast weather by photographing earth cloud cover.

You Are Richer Than You Think

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Here's one comforting thought today in a world beset by problems: You are richer than you think!

The thought is put forth by a Chicago banker who is president of the Trust Division of the American Bankers Association, now holding its annual midwinter trust conference here. He is Thomas H. Beacom, a senior vice president of the First National Bank of Chicago.

He doubts if you really know how much you're worth alive—or how much you'd be worth dead. As a banker he, naturally, thinks you should find out right away.

"Most people are so close to what they own they fail to realize how well off they are," Beacom holds. "Many even are inclined to think their bank books are all there is to their estates."

He cites as an example a man who may have $3,000 in savings at the local bank or in U.S. Savings Bonds, and feel he's worth very little indeed. But the man owns his own home, probably worth $15,000, life insurance valued at $20,000, a car that may bring $1,000 if sold.

That adds up to $39,000 right there. But Beacom says that isn't all. Furniture, household appliances, jewelry, objects d'art and even personal clothing should be included—things that most people somehow rarely consider part of their wealth.

The moral? Because too few realize how much they're worth, too many die without leaving a will. Beacom adds that, worse yet, three out of ten wills in existence are outmoded or were drawn up without benefit of estate planning.

Without a will, the state steps in to dispose of your property, perhaps in a way you wouldn't approve, and certainly with legal fees and papers that eat into the total.

So check up now and see how much you're really worth, Beacom advises. He says estates of $50,000 and more have increased in number 300 per cent since 1944. And estates of that size are large enough to put you into the arms of the inheritance tax collector.

So here's what the Chicago banker thinks you ought to do: First, make a household inventory, room by room. Services of

Jap Crown Prince Getting Over Cold

TOKYO (AP) — The imperial household announced today that Crown Prince Akihito is recovering satisfactorily from the cold that forced curtailment of his foreign tour and that his temperature has dropped to normal.

The prince became ill in Bali, where he and Crown Princess Michiko were on the final leg of an Indonesian visit. The royal couple cancelled a visit to the Philip-a professional appraiser may be a worthwhile investment. Such a list helps not only in making a will, but also in estimating how much life and casualty insurance you should own or in offering quick evidence in case of loss, or fire.

Second, find out your net worth by measuring your assets against your liabilities. Assets include everything you own, including the cash value of your life insurance. Liabilities include the home mortgage or other real estate mortgages or liens, car loan, money due on furniture and appliances, personal loan balances and loans against life insurance, open accounts and current bills unpaid. Subtract the liabilities from your total assets. The result is your net worth, alive.

Next, figure your worth dead. Subtract the cash value of your life insurance from your net worth and then add the face value of your policies.

Beacom suggests you then talk to your local banker if you want help in planning an estate, or perhaps in setting up a trust fund to be managed for you or your heirs by a professional.

Finally, make a will and keep it up to date. Go to a qualified lawyer, if you want to be sure of avoiding any technical error that could lead a court to invalidate or misinterpret a will you might try to write yourself.

Remember: you're worth more than you may think, so be careful.

Operating Loans To Farmers Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said Monday the Budget Bureau has approved transfer of $50 million from contingency funds to the Farmers Home Administration for use as operating loans to farmers.

Regular FHA loan funds are virtually exhausted and in 18 states the FHA has stopped accepting applications from farmers.

FHA operating loans are available to farmers who cannot obtain credit through ordinary local sources.

Humphrey's office said Minnesota is expected to receive between $1.5 to $2 million for loans from the new funds.

Mrs. Plumb was charged with refusing to relinquish her rural property line to Mrs. Ora Smith who was attempting to summon aid for her baby, whom she believed critically ill.

The defense contended that no real emergency existed since the baby was dead at the time of Mrs. Smith's attempted call. The prosecution held Mrs. Plumb should be judged guilty of an attempt to commit the crime.

Judge William Dozier set sentencing for Feb. 20.

On Indiana Test Road...

in both first cost and total upkeep concrete provides big savings over asphalt

Official test road completes 8 years under traffic. Reports show concrete outperforming asphalt by a wide margin.

The Indiana Test Road was ordered by the General Assembly to "provide adequate and conclusive tests" of both concrete and asphalt pavements under exacting conditions. Connecting stretches of highway were paved with concrete (6,7013 mi.) and asphalt (7,1417 mi.).

Official results, published by the Indiana State Highway Commission, show savings in initial expense for concrete. The construction cost for concrete was $2,873.73 per mile less than for asphalt. Maintenance figures for the first 8 years show the total for the concrete has been only 10.7% that of the asphalt. Concrete: $38.74 per mile. Asphalt: $360.67 per mile. In addition, after only 8 years, the asphalt section was completely resurfaced. The cost: $37,708.32—or $5,280.09 per mile. Thus, grand total savings with concrete so far run $8,475.76 per mile.

Impressive economies like these are why concrete is first choice for Interstate routes.

New Plumbing At High School To Cost $80,000

Bids totaling almost $80,000 were accepted by the Board of Education Monday night for the construction of new toilet facilities at the Winona Senior High School.

Directors decided against awarding contracts, however, for a second project—the remodeling of high school corridors—after it was found that cost of the two jobs would necessitate a temporary transfer of more than $40,000 from the school general fund to the school building sinking fund if both were to be undertaken this year.

Scheduled for completion prior to the opening of the 1962 fall term, the toilet project will involve construction of an addition to the high school in the core area adjacent to the passageway connecting the main building with the auditorium-gymnasium.

Toilets flanking the corridor will be installed at both the first and second floor levels replacing those now in the basement and on the second floor.

THE GENERAL CONTRACT was awarded Nels Johnson Construction Co., Winona, on its low bid of $49,700.

Best Electric, Winona, received the electrical contract on its proposal of $7,550 and the plumbing, heating and ventilating work will be done by Winona Plumbing Co., whose bid of $23,650 was second low among four received.

Previously the board had received plans and specifications from the architectural firm of Flad-Smith & Associates for both the toilet construction and extensive remodeling of high school corridors. The latter included installation of new flooring, lowering and acoustical treatment of the ceilings, installation of recessed lockers and associated work.

Base bids had been asked for each project in all three categories.

DIRECTORS found last night, however, that low bids for the combined jobs came to $151,140, some $21,000 over the original estimates.

Since the balance in the school building sinking fund—from which funds for this work would be drawn—is expected to amount to between $108,000 and $109,000 during the construction period it would mean that additional funds would have to be made available in the amount of some $43,000.

Directors noted that anticipated cash balances in the school general fund might permit a "borrowing" of this amount for financing the sinking fund. Repayment, however, when additional sinking fund revenues become available with the next tax levy would again deplete this fund to the extent that several contemplated projects could not be accommodated.

The question last night resolved itself, then, to the matter of how necessary is the corridor remodeling at this time.

AFTER AN extended discussion it was the consensus that the corridor remodeling might be delayed a year or two and the board went ahead only with the toilet phase of the project.

Outside construction on the addition to house the toilets probably will begin this winter and, when this work is substantially finished the existing toilets will be removed.

Removal of the present toilets will allow for the development of new classroom areas in the high school building and moving of the electronics laboratories now in the Central Junior High School building to the Senior High.

As far as the bidding was concerned there was a spread of $6,855 between high and low quotations on general construction, $285 separated the two bids for electrical work and there was a difference of $5,242 between the high and low bids for plumbing, heating and ventilating.

IN THE latter category, American Plumbing Co. was low with a bid of $19,800. Directors, however, were concerned with the necessity for completing the project prior to the opening of school next fall and an early start of construction.

Board President Lawrence Santelman, who emphasized that he had no question as to the quality of work done by the low bidder, moved that the contract be awarded to Winona Plumbing and the motion carried unanimously.

A summary of the bids received on the toilet rooms project follows:

General: WMC, Inc., $49,800; P. Earl Schwab, $49,800; Keller Construction Co., $52,000; Ralph Scharrer, $55,555; and Nels Johnson Construction Co., $52,500.
Electrical: Bauer Electric Shop, $7,775; and Best Electric, $7,550.
Plumbing, heating and ventilating: Sanitary Plumbing & Heating Co., $25,230; Kramer & Toye, $24,952; Winona Plumbing, $23,650; and American Plumbing, $19,800.

CONRAD FIELD PLANS CHANGED

May Extend N.W. End of Runway

Because a southeast extension would be more expensive than anticipated, the city and state now are investigating the possibility of adding the 1,000-foot extension to the northwest end of the long runway at Max Conrad Field.

Based on preliminary investigation, City Engineer James Baird had estimated the cost of the fill for the southeast extension at $105,000; now that soundings have been made this winter the estimate is up to $177,000.

As a result M. C. Solberg, chief engineer of the Minnesota Department of Aeronautics, has asked the Federal Aviation Agency for approval of the change.

The city and the state, Solberg noted are working against a quick deadline, since they have until April 30 to submit a formal application for federal funds recently allocated.

Total cost of the southeast extension had been estimated at $128,000. That includes engineering and other costs, including the dredging of the fill. Of that sum the federal government would have provided $64,000, the state $42,000 and the city $22,000.

Sauer Appointed Assessor, Succeeds E. J. Marxhausen

David V. Sauer

Edward J. Marxhausen, Winona County supervisor of assessments, has retired effective March 31, and will be succeeded by his deputy, David V. Sauer.

Marxhausen sent a letter to the County Board of Commissioners who accepted his resignation Monday afternoon and appointed Sauer to the post effective April 1, subject to approval of State Tax Commissioner Roland F. Hatfield.

Sauer, whose annual salary as deputy was $4,800, will get the same salary as Marxhausen—$6,600.

When the board was considering Marxhausen's letter of resignation Sauer appeared to apply for the post. He was then appointed to fill Marxhausen's unexpired four-year term which ends Dec. 31, 1964.

SAUER, 44, a native Winonan, is the son of the late Rev. and Mrs. Alfred W. Sauer. Rev. Sauer had been pastor of St. Martin's Lutheran Church 49 years.

The assessment official served 50 months with the Coast Guard during World War II including 2½ years aboard a destroyer escort in the Atlantic. He was a lieutenant junior grade when discharged.

He is a member of Leon J. Wetzel Post 9 of the American Legion, is the post's Legionville chairman and was past district Americanism chairman. He is also past post adjutant. Sauer is chairman of the St. Martin's Lutheran Church Council.

He was named deputy Winona city assessor in April 1947 and was appointed Marxhausen's deputy June 1, 1949.

Sauer is married, lives at 363 E. Broadway, and has three sons—Stephen 11; Douglas, 9, and Richard, 8.

Marxhausen, 67, was appointed to the position of county supervisor of assessments Oct. 1, 1947 under a new state law requiring counties to appoint either a county supervisor of assessments or county auditor. The $6,600 salary for the position is the minimum that the county board can pay under state law.

The retiring official was born and raised on his family's home farm in Norton Township. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Marxhausen. His father is deceased and his mother, Mrs. Emma Marxhausen, 93, lives with the assessment official and his wife in Lewiston. Marxhausen operated the home farm for some years. The farm, which is five miles north of Lewiston, is now operated by his son Lenhard.

From 1923 until Jan. 1, 1947 Marxhausen was Norton Township assessor. Then he worked at the Peterson Hardware Store, Lewiston, until his county appointment. During 1940 he did reassessment work for the state in Houston County. He has lived in Lewiston since 1946. The Marxhausens also have a son, Harvey, and a daughter, Mrs. Verne Link, both of Minneapolis.

Marxhausen is chairman of the schedule committee of the Minnesota Assessing Officers Association. He is a member of the association's southeastern regional group and attended the regional meeting Monday at Owatonna at which the forthcoming May 1 assessment was discussed.

ENGINEER BAIRD estimates that the northwesterly extension could be made for considerable less cost. Instead of needing 354,000 cubic yards of fill, as on the southeast end, only 147,000 yards would be needed on the north-west, and it could be moved with earthmoving equipment rather than by dredging. Estimated cost: $55,000.

In both cases the city has sufficient land for the actual extension although flyover rights would have to be acquired.

In asking the change for a northwesterly extension, the city and state face a big hurdle: Approval from an aviation standpoint.

As Engineer Baird pointed out in a recent letter to Solberg, the runway is being extended to permit North Central Airlines to use bigger airplanes. In the past, he noted, the westward extension "has been ruled impossible because of the requirements of a certain 'glide angle' for commercial aircraft."

"If the FAA finds that a westerly extension will not adversely affect operations of North Central Airlines in the use of Convoirs or equivalent, the cheaper course should be followed. But if a westerly extension will not increase the utility of the airport for the airline, then there is little monetary advantage in going westerly. A saving effected by going westerly will be in effect a loss if the airline's future operation is prejudiced. North Central Airlines has said they will need an extension of the runway but to the east not to the west."

IN OTHER airport business William A. Galewski, assistant airport manager, secured approval of leasing of a portion of the big hangar to Trane Co. La Crosse, which is buying a DC-3 airplane for its executives. It will pay the city $200 a month for five months, beginning Feb. 15, to store the plane here. Trane also said in a letter that it would feel here whenever possible.

Half of the big hangar previously had been leased to Badger Division, Warner & Swasey Co., for storage of manufactured equipment. In cooperation with the city it now will reduce its space for the period of the Trane lease. Its rental will be reduced from $200 to $125.

The Council is leasing its small hangar to Winona Marine, Inc., for winter storage of boats. Monthly rate is $75.

Permission was given Winona Aviation Foundation, Inc.—Ralph Rydman, secretary—to use the second floor of the Administration Building at Max Conrad Field for its meetings the first Wednesday of each month.

This nonprofit group was organized last month to accept donations, in tribute to Max Conrad, for establishment of a youth aviation program.

Commercial Area Shelter Survey Begins Wednesday

Having completed their examination of Winona schools and colleges as possible fallout shelter sites, two Minneapolis engineers will begin their survey of Winona business and industry buildings Wednesday.

The engineers, Charles Anderson and Donald Suppes, employees of Interstate Engineering Co., Minneapolis, which is conducting the survey in this area for the U. S. Corps of Engineers, will carry proper identification and ask permission of building owners or managers before entering.

THE SHELTER SURVEY, paid for by federal funds, is seeking to locate buildings suitable for providing adequate fallout protection for 50 people for a two-week period without outside contact.

The survey team, which has been in Winona since Jan. 16, asks building owners to furnish their names and addresses. If construction plans of the buildings are available, their loan would be appreciated, George McGuire, Winona Civil Defense director, said.

PERMITTING the engineers to conduct this preliminary survey does not obligate the owner to allow his building to be used for a public shelter, McGuire said. The preliminary survey, merely to find suitable buildings, is scheduled to be completed March 31.

A second survey to decide what modifications, if any, would be needed to provide adequate protection from nuclear fallout in the suitable buildings is expected to be completed June 30. It will then be up to local governments to carry on the program after the federal government makes the results of the survey known.

Hospitalized Peterson Woman Gets Birthday Card From President

Among the well-wishers on the 94th birthday of Mrs. Ellen S. Evenson of Peterson, Minn., was President Kennedy.

She received a card from the White House congratulating her on her birth anniversary which was Sunday.

Mrs. Evenson has been a patient at Winona General Hospital since early January.

Low -13 Here, 26th Below Zero Day of Winter

The sixth major cold wave and the 26th below zero day of the winter carried the Winona temperature down to -13 this morning and the Weather Bureau prediction for the area said the low tonight will be -15.

To the same date last winter only 19 below zero days were counted.

And Wednesday, the weatherman said, will be continued cold, although he saw a diminishing in the piercing northwest wind which has lashed the area for the last two days. The high will be 10 above. Thursday, too, will be cold.

Even the Old Farmer's Almanac got into the weather act today with the prediction of "Toes will be Froze" and for Wednesday predicted "Milder and Wilder."

The first below zero blast of the winter came Dec. 11-16 when the thermometer dropped as low as -15. The second cold wave was on Dec. 28-30 when the readings got down to -10. The third subzero spell came Jan. 8-12 with a low of -13 and the fourth, Jan. 16-24 was the coldest of all. Then the thermometer plunged to -18.

On Feb. 1-2 the low was -3 and then last night came the sixth subzero wave of the winter. All told Winona had 15 below zero days in January and 8 in December. So far three subzero readings have been recorded in February.

THE HIGH for the past 24 hours was 12 above Monday afternoon but before dusk the thermometer began dropping and by 7 a.m. today the reading was -13. At noon it still was -7.

The North Central Airlines weather station at Max Conrad Field reported a low of -13 at 6 a.m. Warmest at the airport in the past 24 hours was 9 above at noon Monday. The barometer was fairly high, 30.39, and steady. Humidity at noon was 53 percent.

Today's Winona readings were a far cry from those of a year ago when the high was 34 and the low 8. The all-time high for Feb. 6 was 59 in 1878 and the low for the day -20 in 1936. The mean for the 24 hours was -1. Normal for this day is 17 above.

COLD WEATHER blanketed all the Northwest with International Falls, sometimes termed Minnesota's icebox reporting a morning reading of -31. This was the low for the nation. It was -30 at Bemidji and -22 at Duluth. Other State lows were St. Cloud -21, Alexandria -22, and Redwood Falls -11.

The Twin Cities had a low of -17. Rochester said the morning low was -15 after a Monday high of 9 above and La Crosse posted figures of -10 and 18 for the same times.

Regina, Canada, had snow and a low of -27 this morning. Eau Claire had a minimum of -18, Wausau 14, Park Falls -13, Lone Rock -8, Madison and Beloit -7, Racine -6 and Milwaukee -5.

FRIGID AIR from Canada, powered by stiff northerly winds, enveloped broad areas of the nation's midsection today and the sting of the icy air was felt all the way in sections of the Gulf Coast.

Most of the eastern half of the nation was in the path of the arctic blasts, which ended a brief spell of mild weather.

Coldest weather appeared confined to Minnesota.

Below zero readings also were reported in parts of Michigan, Wisconsin, the Dakotas, Iowa, Nebraska and northern Illinois. It was -1 in Chicago, which had a spring-like reading of 50 Sunday.

Cold wave or freeze warnings were in effect as far south as the Gulf Coast states from southern Texas, east, northeastward through the lower and middle Mississippi Valley, the Ohio Valley, most of the Great Lakes region and sections of the Northeast.

"HOW COLD DID YA SAY IT WAS?" ... Even dogs are beginning to check on the cold, cold weather that continues to plague residents of the Northwest. Like their suffering masters, dogs have had just about enough of it. Mrs. Bud Ehlers, 164 Hanover St., holds up a thermometer for her dog, Sally, to prove her point. It actually did reach an official 13-below last night—and no relief in sight. (Daily News Photo)

BOY SCOUT WEEK ... Mayor R. K. Ellings receives a Scout Leader's lapel pin from members of the three Scouting programs in Winona after proclaiming Boy Scout Week. The week, which starts Wednesday, observes the 52nd anniversary of Boy Scouts of America. Mayor Ellings hailed the Scout program because "the first line of our nation's defenses lies in the character of its people and that of the oncoming generation."

Scouts are, left front, Cub Douglas McVey, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald McVey, 660 Winona St., charter member of Cub Pack 7, sponsored by Lincoln School PTA; Scout George Jensen, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Jensen, 513 Wilson St., Troop 5, Madison PTA, and right, Explorer James Keiper, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Keiper, 656 Winona St., Post 2, Central Lutheran Brotherhood. Main Street Site For Steamboat Carnival Opposed

Most of the merchants along Main Street where the Steamboat Days carnival is proposed, are opposed to that location this year.

They filed a protest with the City Council Monday evening at City Hall. The area involved extends from the foot of Main Street to the post office alley, about two blocks.

Annually during the July Steamboat Days the City Council has given the celebration permission to operate a carnival there providing a petition was presented showing that all abutting merchants had no objection. No Main Street traffic is permitted in the area for the three days.

R. J. Solover of Stirneman-Solover Co. filed the protest on behalf of Haddad Cleaners, C. Paul Venables, Valley Distributing Co., William Hall, Rackow's Barber Shop, Hainer's Jewelry Store, Buck's Camera Shop, Winona Furniture Co., Dr. Vince Wadden, Togs 'N Toys and Stirneman-Solover Co.

Solover said that other streets are suitable for the carnival and the protesting merchants aren't "opposed to taking our turn every three or four years, if necessary, but not every year." He also suggested using Levee Park or if nothing else that "the carnival be eliminated as part of the celebration. We hope, however, that that will not be necessary."

Mayor R. K. Ellings, who said he was speaking as a member of the steering committee for the celebration, commented that Main Street "is about the only street" for the carnival. He said that without the rides and shows Steamboat Days would be a considerable burden on the sponsoring businessmen. He said that the carnival nets about $4,000 toward the $10,000 celebration budget. "It is necessary for a successful Steamboat Days celebration," said Ellings.

He said that he and another member of the steering committee would visit the merchants who are protesting.

The Council last month issued a carnival license subject to the usual petition from the merchants on the street.

Third Ward Ald. Clarence Tribell recalled that last year the Council denied a carnival license to the American Legion for a carnival on Market Street, in connection with its district convention, because one or two merchants on that street had objected.

Blacktop Gets OK Over Concrete

Four aldermen apparently wanted to take bids on a concrete surface for the new Broadway widening but the City Council decided Monday night to receive bids only on blacktop.

That's the material used in the 11-block widening two years ago from Liberty to Huff streets.

So if there's no additional change in the decision, the Council will open bids for widening of Broadway to Mankato and from Huff to Sioux, using asphaltic concrete, on March 19.

The Council came very near to taking comparative bids, between concrete and bituminous. When City Engineer James Baird first presented the plans and specifications, using bituminous, the aldermen voted 6-2 against advertising for bids.

Only 2nd Ward Ald. Henry Parks and 4th Ward Ald. Daniel Bambenek wanted to accept the plans and bid opening of the city engineer. The other aldermen wanted the engineer to prepare separate plans and specifications for concrete along the 15-block project and then take alternate bids.

AFTER A LENGTHY discussion, in which Baird presented his reasons for proceeding, the Council voted 5-3 to reconsider its earlier action. Voting for that motion were Ald. James Stoltman, Mary Masysa, Lloyd Deike, Parks and Bambenek.

Street Widening Will Reduce Broadway Curve

That mean curve between Olmstead and McBride streets will be reduced slightly in the Broadway widening project.

Actual measurements will vary along the curve, but here's a comparison at the apex of the curve:

In the Broadway widening, grass boulevards are reduced from about 26½ feet to 12 feet.

At the apex of the curve there's about 26 feet of grass on the north side now, 23 on the south. After the widening there'll be about 16 feet on the north, 8 on the south.

These figures do not include sidewalks.

City Engineer James Baird told the City Council Monday evening that the curve will appear to be more improved than the engineering plans show, because of the widened street.

Ald. Henry Parks, chairman of the street committee, wanted to be assured that there'd be sufficient boulevard for plowed-up snow.

Forty-seven trees will be removed in the 15 blocks, where the present 35-foot traveled surface will be widened to 64. Most of the trees are in the two-block area from Hamilton to Laird; 15 from Hamilton to Vine and 11 from Vine to Laird.

Here's the rundown: Mankato to Huff Forest to St. Charles, none; St. Charles to Zumbro, 8; Zumbro to Carmona, none; Carmona to Hamilton, 3; Hamilton to Vine, 15; Vine to Laird, 11; Laird to Chestnut, 2; Huff to Harriet, 2; Harriet to Wilson, 1; Wilson to Grand, 2; Grand to Olmstead, 1; Olmstead to McBride, none, and McBride to Sioux, 2.

No Fire: 'Smoke' Is Just Vapor

Frigid weather caused an inadvertent false alarm Monday at 12:22 p.m. when firemen went to 1007 Gilmore Ave. to extinguish a fire in a car owned by Miss Amanda Aarstad of that address.

There was no fire. The smoke was just vapor rising from the car's radiator.

Detailed records kept on some northern Wisconsin lakes show that about 15 percent of the 15th women catch the fish. About 30 percent of the anglers catch nothing.

Varied Program To Note Scouts 52nd Birthday

The 52nd anniversary of the establishment of the Boy Scouts of America will be observed here Wednesday through next Tuesday, Ron Kruse, Scout executive, announced today.

Members of the 43 Scouting units in the Sugar Loaf District of Gamehaven Council have planned a full program of activities involving their parents, community leaders and heads of local organizations that sponsor the groups.

Theme of the observance is: "Strengthen America... Character Counts." There will be a special emphasis of Scouting's new program of national purpose through which 3,235,000 boys and adult leaders pledge, "I will do my best to build, to serve and to achieve."

"This year Boy Scout Week will focus on the Boy Scout family," Foris Booth, Winona, chairman of Sugar Loaf District, said.

"Each of our units will recognize the part that American families play in furthering the work of Scouting," said Booth. "We feel strongly that Scouting contributes to American family life, and in turn, strong families are, indeed, a tremendously important facet of America's strength."

Booth pointed out that when a boy in Scouting attains a higher rank his mother wins the privilege of wearing a miniature pin of that rank.

Parents of Scouts will be guests at Boy Scout Week meetings of their son's units, taking part in courts of honor or in potluck dinners.

One of the principal council activities will be an annual Eagle Scout Recognition dinner at Rochester Thursday evening at Kahler Hotel. Honored guests will be 41 young men in the council who have attained Eagle rank in 1961.

Scouts in uniform will attend Boy Scout Sunday services with their families, on Sunday while the Boy Scout Sabbath Friday and Saturday. Some Scouts will receive religious awards for giving personal service in special projects assigned by ministers, priests and rabbis.

Other anniversary activities include unit reunions, Scout handicraft exhibits and window displays, school assembly observances, courts of honor where Scouts will be honored for their achievements, and visits by Scouts to industrial plants, businesses and military installations.

Merchants Plan Upcoming Sales

Plans for forthcoming promotions were made by the Winona Chamber of Commerce Merchants Bureau at a meeting this morning at the chamber.

Final plans were made for February Dollar Day. Merchants agreed to start the pre-Easter promotion with advertising in the Winona Sunday News March 25. Easter will be April 22. A post-Easter promotion was tentatively planned for the first week in May. Dates will be set at the merchants' March 6 meeting.

A decision was deferred on the date for the third annual Krazy Daze promotion in July. Presiding was Francis Whalen, bureau chairman.

Alert Patrolmen Nab Driver of Stolen Auto

Police are holding a St. Paul youth on an open charge of auto theft today after an alert patrol unit spotted him driving the car and gave chase.

The youth, who police said identified himself as David Allen Clemens, 21, St. Paul, was apprehended only 36 minutes after police received the first call on the case.

Peter Wolfe, 4228 9th St., Goodview, reported to police at 5:55 p.m. Monday that someone had stolen a 1960 car from the C. Paul Venables Inc. car lot, 2nd and Main streets.

The patrol unit saw the car at Pelzer Street and Kraemer Drive and started to pursue it. The driver turned north on Pelzer, then east on Wabasha Street. He was stopped at Wabasha and Drury Court and taken into custody at 6:31 p.m.

Police were continuing their investigation today.

Stock Market Manipulation Moves Studied

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is investigating the possible manipulation of stock market prices through publicity campaigns financed by publicly owned corporations.

This is one of two new areas being studied by the Securities and Exchange Commission in its extensive inquiry into the securities industry.

It was learned today that SEC staff members also have been interviewing industry leaders in New York about the operations of money lenders who finance stock transactions. This was believed to be the prelude to a more intensive study of lenders who are exempt from the stock market credit restrictions imposed by the Federal Reserve Board.

The manipulation through publicity phase of the inquiry is focusing on the activities of a small group of financial public relations firms, most of them located in New York.

The SEC wants to find out whether any of these firms, in their effort to promote the corporations that hire them, have circulated press releases aimed at affecting stock prices.

From what is known of the investigation, it seems apparent that the SEC is checking newspaper usage of certain releases and subsequent changes in stock prices.

An area of special concern is the possibility that publicity campaigns have helped generate public enthusiasm for certain recent "hot issues"—new stock issues which have shown sharp price advances immediately or soon after reaching the market.

The SEC never has tried to use its anti-fraud powers against public relations organizations. However, officials said the powers could be used if a firm conspired to jiggle market prices by distributing inaccurate or misleading press releases.

Unregulated money lenders also have been a source of concern to the SEC for some time. The commission has never before investigated their activities directly because of their exemption from the market credit restrictions.

The credit curbs apply only to banks and brokerage houses. Privately, some members of the commission have expressed dismay that the Federal Reserve

The World Today

Kennedy Makes Use of Family

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has picked up what President Eisenhower started—the informal, personal, and even family touch in foreign affairs—and added some touches of his own.

His most glittering addition has been the decision to let his wife, Jacqueline Kennedy, make a goodwill trip to India and Pakistan next month.

Even Premier Khrushchev seems taken by the idea of making use of somebody besides ambassadors in foreign dealings.

He sent his son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubei, editor of Izvestia, over here last November to interview Kennedy. Last week Adzhubei came back for a three-hour luncheon at the White House.

President Truman, except at the beginning of his presidency, stayed pretty much to home, as did most of his predecessors except for the trips of Presidents Roosevelt and Wilson as a result of war.

Eisenhower, in his first year traveled to Canada, Mexico and Bermuda on official business.

Kennedy traveled even more in his first 12 months: to Canada, Bermuda, England, France, Austria (to see Khrushchev), Colombia, and Venezuela.

Eisenhower did much more traveling later in his presidency. Kennedy is a cinch to do more too.

In his first year Eisenhower used his family in foreign affairs, sending his brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, to Latin America on a fact-finding mission.

Also, in 1953 he sent Vice President Richard M. Nixon on a goodwill visit to Asia.

Kennedy in his first year sent Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson on a goodwill journey to Asia. Now the president's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, is making a 26-day goodwill trip through Asia and Europe.

This month the President's youngest brother, Edward M. Kennedy, is to go to Poland. But this has been described as a private trip with no arrangements for meeting the Communist leaders there.

Earlier last year the President sent both brothers, Edward and Robert, to Africa on separate missions. His brother-in-law, Sargent Shriver, visited South America in behalf of the Peace Corps he heads.

Sisters Jean Smith and Eunice Shriver took a vacation behind the Iron Curtain but managed to have tea with the wife of Yugoslavia's President Tito.

The Kennedy family is a big one and before the President's term is up the various members of it ought to cover a lot of international real estate.

Compared with today's jet-traveling world leaders, Stalin was a stay-at-home except for his wartime conferences with Roosevelt. It was the extroverted Khrushchev who put the personal touch by personal visit into Soviet foreign affairs.

Maybe he got the traveling idea from Eisenhower. Perhaps he thought of it himself. But he became quite a traveler, although he didn't start moving around until 1955. Then he made up for lost time.

Kennedy and Khrushchev have used their press relations men to work out some pretty important arrangements.

Last June 24 Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's press secretary, appeared on a TV debate in New York with Adzhubei and Mikhail Kharlamov, press officer of the Soviet Foreign Ministry, discussing the role of the press.

All three then came to Washington and for a couple of days talked about ways to improve communications between the United States and Russia.

Out of this discussion, which was right after Khrushchev had given interviews to three American newsmen in Russia, came the idea for Adzhubei's interview with Kennedy in November, the text of which was printed in Russia.

All this, of course, had Khrushchev's approval. There can hardly be any doubt he picked his son-in-law, who is also a member of the Soviet Communist party's Central Committee, to do the interviewing.

Last week, while Adzhubei was here to lunch with Kennedy, it was announced that Salinger has been invited to visit Russia later this year. He'll go, with Kennedy's full approval.

Story of Plot To Assassinate Nikita Denied

By PRESTON GROVER
MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Foreign Office press spokesman today branded as a "provocative rumor without any foundation at all," a story current in Moscow that an attempt had been made to assassinate Premier Khrushchev.

"It is an invention and completely false," the spokesman added.

The rumors had been investigated by correspondents and diplomats for several days. No one could find any substance to them.

The first report was that Khrushchev had been shot in the lung during a public meeting in Minsk, in White Russia, in mid-January. But on Jan. 26, some days after the rumored attack, Khrushchev spent three hours with a Burmese trade and diplomatic delegation in Kiev, in the Ukraine.

One of the Burmese said the premier was clearly in good health and good spirits.

On Jan. 30 Mrs. Khrushchev told guests at a meeting commemorating the birthday of Franklin D. Roosevelt that her husband was in Gagra, in the Caucasus.

A rumor then sprang up over the weekend that he had been stabbed Saturday in Gagra. The foreign office said this morning this was false.

The spokesman declined to say where Khrushchev is now. Diplomats expressed belief that he is in Gagra working on the agricultural report he will give to the Communist party central committee meeting in Moscow March 5.

Men, 19-22, Called To E. German Army

BERLIN (AP)—Communist East Germany Monday issued its first draft call to all men between the ages of 19 and 22.

Under the draft law proclaimed Jan. 24 the men were ordered to report in February and March. East Germany's statistical year book says there are 543,000 men in the four age classes. Many are already under arms.

Western sources estimate East Germany, with a population of about 17 million, has 300,000 men in its police and army.

The notice was distributed by the official East German news agency ADN.

It came two days after the American, British and French commandants in West Berlin announced that they "would view with grave concern" any attempt to draft East Berliners. The west considers that East Berlin is still occupied territory and troops may not be raised there.

Farm Association Delegates Confused

ROANOKE, Va. (AP)—You couldn't blame delegates to the Virginia Farm Equipment Association convention if they left Monday's session a bit confused.

One speaker issued a call for "new dedication to old-fashioned thinking and salesmanship."

The very next speaker advised the delegates not to use "the same methods of selling as in the day of the one-room schoolhouse."

The next speaker's topic was "Today's Problems."

Fee System in County Offices Being Studied

ST. PAUL (AP)—A study of the abolition of the "fee system" of paying some elected county officials was voted Monday by the Legislative Research Committee (LRC).

The study will be undertaken with the view that a salary schedule be enacted covering all elected county officials.

Some counties now have fee systems, some have salary plans and others have both, said Rep. Karl Gritner, St. Paul, LRC chairman.

Rep. H. J. Henning, Pelican Rapids, suggested the study.

In other actions, the LRC: Approved a proposal by Rep. Loren S. Rutter, Kinney, that a study be made of the operations and charges of private employment agencies. Rutter said these agencies have become "a very lucrative racket."

Adopted a recommendation by Rep. E. J. Chigren, Littlefork, that a proposed study of duplications of functions in the Conservation Department be enlarged to include a study of state leases of summer homesites and hunting camp leases, state parks and recreational facilities.

Adopted a proposal by Sen. Donald Sinclair, Stephen, to consider enabling legislation to permit counties joining together to build and maintain detention facilities for local prisoners.

Planning to invest? How to choose a stock broker

Once you plan to invest in American business, the next step is to choose a stock broker. An important step? Very important, because you will discuss your finances with him.

So it pays to be careful—as in selecting a doctor or lawyer. One good way to make a selection is to telephone or go into the office of a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. It's convenient, of course, to visit your nearest broker. (You might want to visit several firms, to make a comparison.) You can get the advice of a trusted friend. Your lawyer or banker might recommend a broker to you.

Member Firms are listed in the Yellow Pages of the telephone directory. Look in the Stock Broker section under "New York Stock Exchange."

Then sit down with a Partner or Registered Representative and get acquainted. He can't guarantee his judgment, of course, but you can be assured that he has met the Exchange's requirements for knowledge of the securities business.

Determine with his help how much you can invest after providing for bills and emergencies. Then, explore your goals. If you hope for added income during the year, investigate the records of stocks which have paid dividends with consistency. If you seek increased investment value through the years, you might want to consider companies which appear to have growth possibilities. Talk about bonds if safety of income and principal is your aim.

Remember that securities go down in price just as they go up; that companies may not continue to pay dividends or interest. Ask the Registered Representative about the great companies listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Then it's up to you.

Our free booklet, "DIVIDENDS OVER THE YEARS," records some 600 stocks that have paid a cash dividend every year for 25 years or more. It explains the Monthly Investment Plan, which lets you invest with as little as $40 every three months. To get your copy, just mail the coupon.

Sweden Cuts Income Taxes

SWEDEN is a country with a Social Democratic government and is generally considered to be an advanced form of the welfare state. It is interesting, therefore, to contrast its tax system with that of the free-enterprise United States.

Under the budget for fiscal 1963 presented by President Kennedy, the U. S. Government will draw about 80 percent of its revenues from income taxes, individual and corporate. In Sweden on the other hand, a new law went into effect on Jan. 1 under which the percentage of the Government's revenue coming from direct taxes on incomes will drop from an estimated 45 percent to 42 percent in the next fiscal year. Indirect levies, such as sales and excise taxes and customs duties, will go up from about 42 percent to 48 percent, thus replacing the income tax as the major source of revenue.

ACCORDING to press despatches from Stockholm, the new law raising the sales tax on food, clothing and a wide variety of items from 4.2 to 6.4 percent went into effect without any public outcry. The income tax rates were lowered a bit and the proportion of income exempt from taxation was increased. The Government has made known its intention of proceeding further in this direction.

The New York Times reports that when the Swedish Parliament opened its first public debate of the new session last week "opposition leaders noted—and government officials cheerfully acknowledged—that Socialist-ruled Sweden had taken a step in a conservative direction." Krister Wickman, permanent secretary of the Finance Ministry, said, according to the Times report, "that the reduction of direct income taxes will continue."

"HE CALLED sales and other indirect taxes a more efficient way of collecting revenue," the Times despatch continued. "Workers now get such high pay, he said, that the old Socialist philosophy of using income taxes as a means of redistributing wealth is out of date."

"Mr. Wickman said part of the reason for income tax reform was a desire to increase the incentive to do extra work. It is hoped that the tax cuts will induce many to take on extra jobs and thus help alleviate the shortage of workers prevailing in Sweden."

THE UNITED STATES is not Sweden, of course, and circumstances may differ. Our problem here is not so much to induce people to take extra jobs, but to free the economy from the strait jacket of onerous and repressive taxation so that more capital can be accumulated and invested to create jobs for our growing population. The Herlong-Baker bills now before Congress provide a sound and logical approach to this objective. The sooner free-enterprise America takes a tip from Socialist Sweden and adopts this approach the faster we will move forward.

Roles of Farm Agents Changing

THE TRADITIONAL roles of the county agricultural agent and home demonstration agent are changing and will change more. At the recent University of Wisconsin farm and home week various views were expressed as to what these extension workers could or should be doing.

One suggestion was that the home demonstration agent could do some welfare work with rural families. Certainly these women, in teaching farm wives how to be better homemakers and mothers, have also been giving common sense personal advice where that was indicated, but social work is another field.

One county home demonstration agent is showing resort operators and cooks how to offer more tempting, tasty menus. The number of farm families in that county has dwindled so much that serving them would hardly keep her busy.

SOME COUNTIES are so urbanized that there are practically no farmers left—only some city people who may do gardening or small scale farming on the side, perhaps keep a few chickens or a cow. Much of the county agents' time may be spent on answering calls about things like planting petunias and in making talks and attending meetings.

Nobody is apt to be so bold as to urge that the extension workers be abolished. There are still too many farm folks who need the sort of technical help that extension workers were specially trained to give.

THE TIME has come, however, critically to re-examine and perhaps revise their roles. Perhaps Wisconsin doesn't need as many agricultural extension workers as it once did. Groups of two and three counties are now getting along with one county school superintendent and staff. Similarly merging some county extension services should be feasible.—Milwaukee Journal.

Government statisticians show concern over the fact that 25 percent of American families live beyond their incomes. Look who's talking!

Crooked politicians may pull the wool over the public's eyes, but they can't entirely destroy its sense of smell.

Be of good courage, and he shall strengthen your heart, all ye that hope in the Lord. Psalm 31:24.

Washington Calling

Automation Alarming

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON.—As the shadow of the machine—automation, the great electronic computers—looms larger over every aspect of contemporary life, a discussion is going forward on a policy-making level here about the role of machines in controlling the course of a future war.

Certain of President Kennedy's advisers have been impressed by an article in the current Foreign Affairs magazine by Sir Solly Zuckerman, scientific adviser to Britain's Minister of Defense and chairman of the Defense Research Policy Committee in London. The article is based on Zuckerman's contribution to a symposium on "Science and Warfare in the 1970s" held at NATO's Paris headquarters under the auspices of General Lauris Norstad, supreme commander in Europe.

Zuckerman rejects the concept that has gained increasing credence of a war automated by giant mathematical computers feeding out commands to the complex machines of modern war. This is an oversimplification of an involved argument, but his viewpoint is summed up in his conclusion in which he warns against creating "in a mathematical vacuum situations which are based neither on past experience of affairs nor on any conception of the innumerable variables and factors that determine social decision either today or tomorrow."

"THE HUMAN brain, human values, human judgments, are still superior to the mechanics and processes of electronic computers or guidance systems," Zuckerman writes. "The day this ceases to be true there will probably be no human brains. But until then let us use true scientific method as an aid to human judgment—and not as a hindrance. Science is human experience; it is not an alternative to judgment and it is certainly not something that can operate outside human experience."

The Zuckerman argument is also aimed at the "game theory" of war which is based on "the mathematizing of thought processes." The "game theory" has had some highly articulate and influential spokesmen in this country.

One is Herman Kahn, whose book "On Thermonuclear War" touched off a hot controversy. Not long ago in a discussion with a middle-level group in the Pentagon Kahn compared the present world situation, with both East and West taking refuge behind a nuclear arsenal of annihilation, to the "game of chicken" played in souped-up cars by reckless adolescents.

"WITH ALL its defects the analogy between the degenerate's game of chicken and some kinds of international negotiations seems to be more apt than misleading," Kahn said, "even though the international game is admittedly more complicated and complex. However, as a concession to my colleagues I will usually refer to it as an escalation ladder rather than as a game of chicken."

An incident that occurred here recently serves to point up the question of men versus machines, raising some troubling doubts about human conduct and the role of the individual in a mechanized society. When war is conducted by a few technicians operating mechanical brains what is the place of courage, of individual bravery, dash and daring?

The Marine Corps more perhaps than any other service has had a tradition of personal courage and derring-do. It has had, too, to fight for its existence against the efforts of the other forces to absorb it in the interest, as alleged, of economy and efficiency. In writing the history of the Corps, Colonel R. D. Heinl Jr. included a chapter called "The Right to Fight."

THIS TELLS, from the Marine Corps point of view, the struggle under President Truman and his Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson to prevent the Corps from being cut back to a kind of sea police force.

Admirals Censor Criticism Of Big Carrier Spending

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON.—Civilians aren't the only ones guilty of military muzzling. A sensational article by a young naval officer has recently been killed by the admirals because it calls attention to our woefully inadequate defenses against enemy submarines.

The warning was written by a far-sighted young lieutenant, M. A. R. Arnhelter, in the office of the chief of naval operations, and contained a foreword by Vice Adm. T. G. W. Settle, retired.

However, it made the mistake of criticizing the current naval policy of spending huge sums on big airplane carriers while neglecting destroyers and anti-submarine type vessels.

So the article was killed—not by civilian censors, but by the Navy. Last year, a similar article slipped by the naval security review officer. He was transferred.

However, this column is in possession of some of the facts which Lieut. Arnhelter tried to publish. None of them is classified, and the public should know the score.

One important fact is that Russia today has more than 600 modern submarines, many of them equipped with underwater missiles. It is possible for them to lie off the Florida keys and hit industrial cities like Birmingham, Ala., or off New York and hit Cleveland and Detroit.

In contrast, the United States has fewer than 150 modern submarines; and only the new Polaris subs are equipped with underwater missiles.

"THE USA has twice missed defeat by a 'dragon's breath' at the hands of the relatively puny German submarine forces," Adm. Settle wrote in his unpublished foreword, "and the present massive Soviet submarine fleet—massive in number and seakeeping and offensive capability—is overwhelmingly superior to the American anti-submarine forces."

Lieut. Arnhelter pointed out in his suppressed article that our anti-submarine warfare forces are woefully, disastrously inadequate to safeguard and maintain our vital tanker and other seaborne traffic in wartime.

"We are relatively worse off now than in 1917 and 1941," Adm. Settle also warned. "The drone anti-submarine warfare helicopter, 'Dash,' designed to spot subs over the water, is not yet operational. The Wagmitch, a vertical take-off and landing plane, 'has apparently been aborted by the Navy.'"

"LIEUT. ARNHELTER'S article," according to Admiral Settle, "gives unclassified facts with clearcut emphasis in this matter of prime national importance. The dismal alternative to prompt remedial measures to redress our anti-submarine warfare nakedness will inevitably be that we will be caught 'flat-footed' in World War III; that we will again suffer enormous losses at sea; that we will again be starved for our 'black blood' possibly decisively this time."

This was the warning killed, not by civilian censors, but by the Navy.

The visit of Premier Adoula of the Congo to Washington this week is a victory for a man who was content to take a minor job in Washington and who worked at it.

He is G. Mennen Williams, better known as "Soapy," the ex-governor of Michigan, once discussed as a probable member of the Kennedy cabinet. As a Democratic governor of Michigan longer than any other man—either Republican or Democrat—in history, and as a one-time candidate for President, Soapy was expected to get a top spot in the new frontier.

However, he took an un-glamorous assistant secretaryship of state, largely because it was one of the most challenging jobs in the administration—that of winning democracy for the new independent states of Africa.

SOAPY HAS not only worked at the job, but has stood up under some grueling criticism, especially that against U. N. policy in the Congo. President Kennedy has stood 100 percent behind him, with the result that a precarious peace is gradually emerging in the Congo.

And his pro-West premier has now come to the United States to demonstrate that fact. Putting the delightful Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri in charge of a Senate investigation of stockpiling is like putting your wife in charge of investigating her overdrawn bank account. Stuart was the original stockpiler under Truman. He has been nervous as a cat on the Senate floor lately, keeps interrupting senatorial debate. Frank Ellis, who retired from strategic stockpiling to become a federal judge in Louisiana, was not involved in accumulating the oversized stock piles. The heads of the brotherhood of Electrical Workers have a retirement fund now totaling $3,120,822. In addition IBEW local No. 3 in New York has two separate funds for annuities, pensions, medical aid, etc., totaling together $62,023,306. This is the local that struck for and got a five-hour day with a total take-home pay of $198 a week.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Living Theater, off-Broadway avant garde repertory group, is getting ready for its second European tour.

A campaign is under way to raise $75,000 so that the company can accept invitations for an itinerary including Edinburgh, Dublin, Geneva, Zurich, Brussels, Rotterdam, Antwerp and Rome.

On its first expedition last summer the Living Theater captured three awards in the Paris International Drama Festival.

The plays to be given include Bertolt Brecht's "In the Jungle of Cities" and two by Jack Gelber, "The Connection" and "The Apple."

CHAYEFSKY EXPLORING

NEW YORK (AP)—Paddy Chayefsky is exploring the story of the Russian revolution for possible play material.

"History, it seems to me, moves endlessly in the same pattern," the dramatist notes. "It's the morality that involves us."

Chayefsky, who first won national attention with "Marty," a TV play about a lonely bachelor, is now represented on Broadway with "Gideon," a drama about the biblical warrior.

LAWYER'S LIFE

NEW YORK (AP)—"My Life in Court," the autobiography of Louis Nizer, a prominent lawyer, is supplying the material for a play for Broadway exhibit next season.

The dramatization is to be by Henry Denker, who has yet to decide on what episode will provide the central theme.

TODAY IN WORLD AFFAIRS

Stockpiling Quiz Hailed

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON.—President Kennedy's instinctive passion for publicity and headlines got the better of him at his press conference this week as he chose the wrong method to achieve a rightful objective.

Instead of presenting to Congress in a comprehensive message the full details of the "stockpiling" program with specific recommendations to curtail excessive purchasing, Mr. Kennedy made a vague statement and left the inference of scandal as he referred to "unconscionable profits." It so happens that, at the "unconscionable" tax rates of today, the federal government gets back 52 percent of all corporate profits and from 75 to 90 percent of the income of any individual (profiteers).

Congress is primarily responsible for this program of spending, and the Democratic party has been in control of both houses for seven out of the last nine years. Mr. Kennedy himself was a member of the Senate during six of the last nine years. Again and again Senators Willis Robertson and Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, Democrats, have called attention in formal reports to the large expenditures in recent years for stockpiling of both metals and agricultural products, but to no avail.

Sen. Robertson, in a public statement just issued, points out that his committee had been trying for the past five years to get this stockpile cut down but that "Congress up to now has declined to follow the committee's advice." He adds:

"On the contrary, it has never amended the original legislation which prevents the President from disposing of stockpiled materials, surplus to the nation's needs, without specific legislative approval."

Mr. Robertson is chairman of a Joint Committee on Defense production, and Mr. Byrd is chairman of a Joint Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures. Both committees were bypassed by the President as he asked Sen. Stuart Symington, chairman of the Stockpiling Subcommittee of the Armed Services Committee, to undertake the investigation. Mr. Symington was invited to the White House to discuss the problem and subsequently told reporters that he knows of "no wrongdoing by anyone."

There's more than meets the eye in the President's call for an investigation. For what the federal government has been doing in the purchase of metals and other commodities has served to bolster the prices of those same articles, and this, in turn, has meant profits for the sellers. This also has been true, of course, in the agricultural domain.

As a matter of fact, it looks very much as if the President is trying to build up an alibi for the excessive stockpiling of farm products. For he made his charges about the supplies in metals on the very same day that he asked Congress in a special message for power to deal with the farm program by price supports.

Actually, the United States has stockpiled about $7.7 billion in war materials, but its agricultural stockpile is at about the same figure, though the President says it is lower. For he did not take into account the exchange of farm products for metals, which is one of the jobs the defense production agency carries on. This amounts to a sizable figure.

Back of the big sums involved in stockpiling is a market factor. Through the buying of these war materials, the surpluses are taken off the market, and this sends the prices up to artificial levels. Naturally, the sellers make large profits, and that's what happens to those who deal in farm products, too. The whole idea is to bolster prices.

So, if there is anything "unconscionable," it is in the way the Congress has held prices of farm products, as well as metals, above what the law of supply and demand would normally make them.

Mr. Kennedy's statement to his press conference could adversely affect metal markets. His statement of reassurance may be discounted, he said.

"I am very much aware of the intricate and interrelated problems involved in this area, including the difficulties experienced by certain domestic mineral industries, the impact on world markets and the heavy reliance of certain countries on producing one or more of these minerals. And I can say that we will take no action which will disrupt commodity prices."

The whole stockpiling program has been based on the concept of a three to five-year war. The process of accumulating scarce materials was stepped up in the Korean war, which lasted three years. In any economic struggle, the Soviet Union can do heavy damage by getting control of certain strategic areas in the world especially those in Africa where scarce metals are found.

Teenagers Prefer Discomfort

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any harm in going without a head covering in a temperature of 40 degrees?"

"I told my son who is almost 14 that if it is cold enough to wear a heavy coat, it is cold enough for a hat."

"The other boys don't wear hats and naturally he doesn't want to be different.—Mrs. E. P."

None of 'em do at that age! I've seen 'em going to school—hands stuffed in their pockets, shoulders hunched in their jackets, obviously uncomfortable, but preferring discomfort to being "different."

That's the teens for you. Sort of silly, isn't it? (And aren't teenagers, silly or not, fun to have around us?)

As to health, I don't think they harm themselves. When it really gets cold enough to matter, they'll wear ear muffs or put scarves over their heads or something.

The immediate danger is frostbite—freezing of the ears or nose. However, this doesn't happen at 40 degrees.

Teenagers should keep their bodies warm. A sweater under a jacket, and a pair of gloves or mittens help avoid over-all chilling. Circulation of the blood will prevent damage to the exposed face and head.

If the temperature goes down to the point at which frostbite is possible, the discomfort is enough to impel youngsters to keep their ears warm.

NATURALLY I don't like to disrupt the arguments of loving mothers, but just the same I don't feel that any physical harm comes to a teenager from going bareheaded. Besides, nothing I write is going to persuade one kid to wear headgear if the others don't. Teenagers may not use their ears to listen to you or me, but they do use their ears to know when they start to hurt, and it's time to get them covered up.

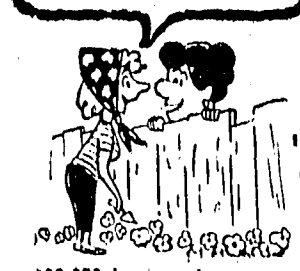

"Dear Dr. Molner: My two-year-old daughter has a sort of depression in the center of her chest. She also seems to have trouble breathing at night—snores so she can be heard all over. Could this chest depression be the cause?"—Mrs. W. K."

It depends on the depth of the depression. If it is extensive, it can be repaired surgically, before puberty. (There's time, in other words, to have the condition studied carefully.) If the depression is small, I doubt that it has anything to do with the breathing problem.

have built up too big a surplus may have been wrong, but until the President defines the kind of war the Department of defense is planning for—a short or a long war, a nuclear or a limited war—it will not be possible to make a sound judgment as to how big the stockpile really should be.

The President owes it to the country to take the innuendo out of the controversy and to explain the true situation fully to Congress and the country so that, if there has been any improper lobbying in and around both houses in the last 16 years, since World War II ended, the country will get the facts irrespective of which political party may be damaged by the exposure. For it is obvious that the stockpiling and financing have been very largely on the authorization of Congress. The investigation is long overdue.

Commissioners Act Quickly on Choice of Brick

Winona County commissioners demonstrated startling ability to make a fast decision Monday afternoon, especially when the mercury cringed at 8 degrees above zero.

The county fathers spent only four minutes selecting brick samples from several dozen displayed outside the courthouse in frigid weather by salesmen seeking to supply bricks for the county's highway department building to be constructed in Goodview.

After each salesman lugged a few of the selected samples of brick into the commissioners' room, the board deliberated in more leisurely fashion and accepted a bid of $65 per 1,000 bricks from the Twin City Brick Co., St. Paul, represented by Fred Gerlach.

Bidding was informal. Under the $146,800 general construction contract previously awarded to WMC, Inc., to erect the highway building near Trunk Highway 61 in Goodview, the board had budgeted $5,120 or $80 per 1,000 for a total of 64,000 bricks for brick facing on all sides of the building. The brick selected from Twin City Brick will cost a total of $4,160, meaning the board will get a $960 refund from WMC.

When the commissioners trooped outside to view the brick samples in daylight, Commissioner Raymond C. Kohner, Winona, 2nd District, disdained an overcoat and stood on the frozen courthouse lawn with his suit jacket unbuttoned, a sharp wind whistling through his sleeves.

"IT'S COLD," Kohner said.

W. Wayne Smith of Flad-Smith & Associates, architects, turned down the earlaps on his sealskin hat and indicated the brick samples displayed on easels on the West 4th street and Washington street lawns. The commissioners, huddled near a courthouse wall to escape the wind, quickly pointed numb fingers at samples to make a preliminary choice and hastened back to the steamheated courthouse. W. W. Ward of Flad-Smith also attended the board meeting.

Twin City also submitted the lowest bid — $55 per 1,000 — on another type of brick. Other bidders follow: J. L. Hughes Co., St. Paul, represented by C. A. Schmitz, $56; Sioux City Brick & Tile Co., Sioux City, Iowa, Merle D. Arfman, $62, $64.00 and $64.80; Mason City Brick & Tile Co., Mason City, Iowa, Claude Ackerman, $55.40, $58.40 and $60.40; Corning-Domohue, Inc., St. Paul, John C. Rupert, $63, $70 and $70; Johnston Clay Works, Inc., Jerry F. Warner, Waterloo, Iowa, $63.40. Prices cover delivery to Winona by rail.

The board transferred $962.62 from the revenue fund to the road and bridge fund for routine maintenance done last year at the courthouse and jail. The board also transferred $1,735.46 from the road and bridge fund to the incidental fund.

SHERIFF GEORGE L. Fort received permission to order a new uniform type of traffic citation ticket when he uses up his present supply of the old type.

Ray H. Johns, Hart Township farmer, was appointed county civil defense director, succeeding Harold Pfeil, St. Charles, who resigned because of ill health. Pfeil had served without salary.

Johns agreed with the commissioners Monday that he would serve at a salary to be determined after he has been on the job one month and knows how much time he will devote to the work. He will report at the board's March meeting to discuss salary. His expenses will be paid. The state has urged the county board to hire a salaried civil defense director to spur county civil defense activities.

John Barrymore, Jr. Denied Divorce Rumor

ROME (AP)—Actor John Barrymore Jr. flew back from America Monday night to a hug-and-kiss reunion with his Italian wife, and denied reports that he planned to divorce her.

"I cannot deny we had a quarrel," he told reporters as he and his wife Gabriella walked arm-in-arm from the airport. "But quarrels often cement love even more firmly."

Duxbury Named Legal Council At La Crescent

LA CRESCENT, Minn. (Special)—Mayor William Mishler announced the appointment of Lloyd L. Duxbury Jr., as legal council for the village during the coming two years at the regular meeting of the Village Council Monday. The following appointments were announced: Board of health, Donald Schlicht; recreation, Martin Miller; park, Virgil Miller, and weed commissioner, Russell Senn.

The loud speaker and tape recorder system installed for council meetings were on trial and explained by a representative from La Crescent Electronics.

Robert Kies reported wages of maintenance department employees as follows: Harold Vietsch, $425 a month, of which $25 is for supervisory work; Milo Shephardson, $390, and Nathan Randall, $350.

The clerk's salary was raised from $100 to $125 a month. There was discussion on the legality of raising the clerk in the middle of his term, but Duxbury said a recent amendment by the Legislature permits it.

Village employees with one year of service will receive a one-week vacation and employees with more than five years will receive a two-week vacation with pay. Maintenance men's salaries are based on 40 hours a week. If in any week they work over the 40 hours, they are to receive time off.

FRANK POWLAK, Rochester, assistant district engineer, construction, Minnesota Department of Highways, showed the plans for the new construction and four laning of Highway 61 in the vicinity of the north village limits. He explained the two resolutions of the council for plan approval and prohibition of encroachments. Councilman Martin Miller brought up the matter of delinquent water bills and asked what was being done about it. Mishler said he obtained a list of all delinquent accounts up to Jan. 1962 and that all accounts delinquent after the passing of Ordinance 53 in August, 1961 will be taken care of as stated in the ordinance.

According to the ordinance, the village clerk may have water service cut off if the delinquent account is not taken care of after a ten-day written notice. Service will be continued when the account is paid. Mishler said that all broken water meters will be repaired.

At village expense surety bonds of $1,000 each will be provided for the constables, James Farrell and Earl Vossart. The constables in an agreement with the may will furnish a report to the council each month of every incident, by name, date and time involved. Previous to this arrangement the constables presented only an unitemized bill.

ALSO AT THE expense of the council a two-inch water meter will be installed at La Crescent Concrete Co.

La Crescent Pharmacy is to be supplied with a contract and bond for the collection of water bills in 1962. Frank Wolff was appointed dog catcher for the coming year.

Mrs. Lavern Sheehan requested a building permit to move the existing building on Elm Street back and construct an addition and basement to convert the building into a dwelling. At the request of the council she is to present a sketch of the lot and placement of the dwelling to the council before action can be taken on the permit.

Mishler announced that the La Crescent Chamber of Commerce is striving to obtain direct telephone service to La Crescent. He said that a survey will be made in the village to attain popularity of such a toll-free installation.

The council decided to extend the time in which to petition for blacktop street, curb and gutter installation, water or other improvements until the March 5 meeting. At that time all petitions will be grouped and a date for a public hearing will be set for all 1962 improvements.

Mishler announced that the L. D. Shadock zoning expert, has informed the council he will be available for a zoning hearing the latter part of February or the first part of March.

WHITEHALL, Wis. — David Warner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Warner, is now spending a 15-day leave at home. He next will be assigned to the Navy's submarine, USS Grayback, recently voted Pacific Submarine Force ship of the year.

The Grayback completed 21 weeks at sea with only one short period for repairs and replenishment of supplies while maintaining continuous coverage of important military target areas of potential enemies. The submarine is armed with 30-foot Regulus missiles, a weapon that has been fired over a thousand times, with a range of 500 miles and a speed of

Freeman Warns Farmers May Lose Program

Secretary Orville Freeman said Monday if the country doesn't get a new farm program it may end up without any at all.

There is an increasing disenchantment, particularly among urban area congressmen, with costly farm programs that do not halt the buildup of surpluses, he said.

"If we drift along the way we have been, we will end up with a revolt in Congress and have no farm program at all," Freeman declared.

Freeman returned to Washington for congressional hearings beginning today on the administration's new farm program.

The secretary said what the country needs is a program linking "decent supports" with supply management — acreage allotments and quotas. Otherwise, he said, "we will break the bank because we can produce so much."

Production is growing so rapidly it is outdistancing population growth, and by 1980, 50 million fewer acres will be needed for growing crops, he said.

Freeman spoke to some 600 persons, most of them the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) representatives from 10 states, at a meeting to kick off the drive for the feed grain program sign-up.

The two-year program includes barley, corn and grain sorghum, providing government payments for land taken out of production of these crops.

After this year, unless there is new legislation, an earlier farm program will go back into effect. Freeman described the old program as one of low support payments without supply management. He called it a failure.

Jews Ask N.Y. Schools To Stop Bible Reading

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Jewish Congress called on the New York City Board of Education Monday to discontinue Bible-reading in public schools, a practice it said was widespread in the city school system.

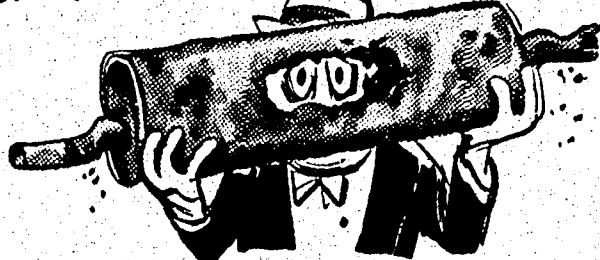

In a letter to the board president, Max J. Rubin, the AJC called attention to the unanimous ruling of U.S. District Court in Philadelphia last Thursday holding that daily reading of the Bible in public schools is unconstitutional.

The AJC opposes Bible-reading in the schools as a breach of the separation of church and state.

MR. AND MRS. Ronald E. Welty are pictured after their marriage Jan. 27 at Mt. Olivet Lutheran Church, Minneapolis. The bride is the former Miss Terri Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terence R. Johnson, Minneapolis, and Mr. Welty is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earle H. Welty, 765 W. King St. The couple is at home at 1216 Aster St., Baton Rouge, La.

Ronald Welty Takes Bride In Minneapolis

Altar bouquets of white gladioli and white carnations and lighted candles in candelabra made a background for the wedding of Miss Terri Louise Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terence R. Johnson, Minneapolis, and Ronald E. Welty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earle H. Welty, 765 W. King St. Jan. 27 at 4 p.m. in Mt. Olivet Lutheran Church, Minneapolis. Dr. Ruben K. Youngdahl, minister of the church performed the ceremony.

Silk faille and alencon lace fashioned the bride's gown with a fitted waist and floor-length skirt which flared into a chapel train. Her veil of illusion net was gathered on a wreath of faille and crushed net. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses.

THE BRIDE was attended by her sister, Miss Bonnie Johnson as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were another sister, Miss Lois Johnson, Mrs. William R. Hilgedick, Two Harbors, Minn., sister of the bridegroom, and a cousin of the bride, Miss Rhoda Anderson, Clinton, Iowa. Their dresses were of butternut silk velvet and matching velvet hats held their cap veils. They carried colonial bouquets of tallman tea roses.

James T. Welty, Brooklyn Center, Minneapolis, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Groomsmen were Dr. William R. Hilgedick, Two Harbors, Minn., and Robert Lindgren, St. Paul. George Brown, Minneapolis; Scott Tolleson, Winona, and Gordon Thompson, Omaha, Neb., were ushers.

A reception following the ceremony was held in the club parlors. The bride's dinner was given by the bridegroom-elect's parents following the rehearsal Jan. 26 in Minneapolis. Mr. and Mrs. James T. Welty, Brooklyn Center, entertained at a buffet supper at their home for out-of-town guests following the wedding reception.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Minnesota where she was a member of Kappa Kappa Lambda sorority. She is on the faculty of Northport School Robinsondale, Mr. Welty is a graduate of Winona State College, and received his master's degree from the University of Minnesota where he has been a graduate school research assistant in the department of plant pathology. He is a member of Gamma Sigma Delta fraternity. He is on leave from the

Waseca Dealer Guilty of Selling Obscene Literature

WASECA, Minn. (AP)—A Waseca news dealer today pondered a possible appeal after his conviction Monday, under a law no longer on the statute books, on a charge of selling obscene literature.

Arvind Oman was found guilty by District Judge John Cahill after the defendant had waived a jury trial. The case has been in the courts on various legal technicalities since Oman's arrest in April 1960.

Judge Cahill fined Oman $300, gave him an alternative of 30 days in jail and then stayed the sentence 30 days to allow for the possible appeal.

Upon Oman's arraignment shortly after his arrest, attorneys argued that the law under which he was charged was unconstitutional.

Judge Cahill then remanded the case to the Minnesota Supreme Court which held the law was constitutional. But in the meantime, the 1961 Legislature enacted a new obscene literature statute and repealed the one affecting Oman.

The high court, however, sent the Oman case back to Judge Cahill for trial on its merits under the old law. The jurist heard both testimony and arguments Monday before handing down his decision.

The case had its inception when a Waseca County deputy sheriff bought six alleged obscene magazines at Oman's place of business.

Bird Club Plans Bluebird Program

A "do-it-yourself" project will constitute the program of the March meeting of the Hiawatha Valley Bird Club of Winona Wednesday night at Lake Park Lodge. Main order of business will be the constructing of dozens of bluebird houses for the first major undertaking in the young club's short history and the laying out of bluebird "trails" in an effort to encourage the propagation of a species until recently a commonly seen resident of an extensive segment of the Mississippi Valley including Winona and La Crosse.

"The bluebird, one of the most colorful and cheerful members of the thrush family, suffered a series of catastrophes a few years ago," according to Gerald F. Daley, president. "There used to be many in this area, but last year only a few scattered pairs were seen. The purpose of our project will be to encourage those who pass through to stop and make their homes with us."

"Also included in the project," Daley added, "will be a study by club members of the bluebirds' nesting, breeding and feeding habits, and this will entail regular inspection of the houses in the trails and weekly reports to headquarters. We feel that the club can make an important contribution to the store of knowledge needed to rehabilitate the bluebird before it becomes an extinct species."

The trails, which consist of a series of up to a dozen houses each, located strategically at intervals of about 200 yards, will be established in spots the bluebird has been known to frequent in recent years. Consideration is being given to areas in both East and West Burns Valley, Pleasant Valley, Stockton and the Trempealeau refuge. The Upper Mississippi Wild Life and Fish Refuge, through Don Gray, superintendent, is cooperating in the program.

Result of the findings will be submitted to the Minnesota Ornithologists Union, the Wisconsin Society of Ornithology and the National Audubon Society, all concerned with the preservation of the species.

New Microwave Service Wins School Approval

Its intent to contract with a new firm which plans to establish a microwave relay transmission service to provide better television reception in Winona on certain channels was expressed Monday by the Board of Education.

Recently organized, Mississippi Valley Microwave Corp., now is in the process of seeking Federal Communications Commission permission to establish the relay system that would bring a better signal from Channel 2 and others in the Twin Cities for users of Winona TV Signal Co. service.

THE PUBLIC schools here now use Channel 2 programs for Spanish instruction in the elementary schools. Superintendent of Schools A. L. Nelson explained that reception has been fairly good in the morning, not quite so good in the afternoon and, at times, is of such poor quality that it can't be used. Microwave relay transmission would substantially improve the quality of the signal, Nelson said he had been informed by the microwave service.

If Mississippi Valley Microwave obtains permission to establish the system the distribution of the program for the schools through TV Signal Co., would be made available at no additional charge. The present charge is $90 for nine months service; the new contract would provide for 12-month service at the same charge.

THE SUPERINTENDENT was authorized to write to Edward M. Allen, vice president of Mississippi Valley Microwave (also vice president and general manager of Winona TV Signal), informing him that if FCC authorization for establishment of the carrier system is received the schools would contract for the service.

In other business last night the board received nominations of W. D. Jones, manager of the Winona plant of Swift & Co., and Robert Jacobs, a Stockton Valley farmer, for appointment as members of the Agriculture Advisory Committee to fill two vacancies.

A request from the Winona Shrine Club for use of Jefferson Field June 21 and 22 (tentative dates) for the Shrine Circus was held over for action at next Monday's meeting.

NSP reduces prices for natural gas in Winona Area

Effective on bills after February 1, 1962, you will pay less for natural gas.

Northern States Power Company has received a reduction in the wholesale price it pays for natural gas and a substantial refund, both of which are applicable only to general gas service, as a result of an order by the Federal Power Commission settling a Northern Natural Gas Company* rate case.

Northern States Power Company is passing on this reduction in the wholesale cost of gas in the form of a year-around decrease of 2.3¢ per thousand cubic feet in the price for general gas service in the Winona area.

In addition, the portion of the refund applicable to this area is being passed on to the general service customers by means of a reduction of 10.6¢ per thousand cubic feet in the charge for general gas service, which reduction will continue until the refundable amount is exhausted, approximately five months.

This means that the 2.3¢ reduction will continue indefinitely but that for about five months the price of natural gas to our general service customers will be reduced by 12.9¢ per thousand cubic feet.

This is the second reduction that NSP has made in its charges for general gas service in the past eight months.

NSP will continue its efforts to keep the cost of gas low in order to bring the benefits of clean, quiet, dependable gas to more people at the lowest possible cost.

*Northern Natural Gas Company is a wholesale supplier of natural gas to Northern States Power Company and has no corporate connection with NSP.

GOP Caucuses Name Delegates To Convention

Arthur Swan, Rochester, 1st District Republican chairman, told delegates attending the precinct caucuses at the YMCA Monday: "Our United States will never fall unless good people become apathetic. The precinct caucus is the place where you can talk about your ideas and beliefs and hear those of others."

Swan spoke on the importance of the caucuses, stressing the fact that everyone has an opportunity to debate and talk about issues and candidates.

"Each precinct may draw up resolutions which will be passed to the county, district and state conventions," he said.

Two groups from Winona schools were in attendance. A modern problems class from the senior high school sat in on the meeting along with a group of student observers from the College of Saint Teresa and St. Mary's.

Welfare Clients Put On Jobs

Winona's own WPA of the 1960s is expanding.

At the instigation of the City Council, five able-bodied men who are welfare department clients and who don't mind working, are busy painting tables and other things for the park-recreation department.

They went to work Monday at the paper rate of $1 an hour.

In the spring the park-recreation department expects to have other welfare department clients on the payroll.

What they do is "work out" their welfare payment. They won't receive any cash.

This is a continuation of a plan started with the health department a few years ago when it assigned a client to help supervise the dump. He ended up completely off the welfare rolls, but the city kept him on the job.

Mrs. Katherine Lambert, welfare commissioner, said today that many welfare clients can't work. They're not physically able. Others can. If they're offered jobs and won't take them, the department subtracts the anticipated pay from the month's budget. For instance, if a man were offered 10 hours work at $1 an hour, and the client refused, he'd have $10 taken off his budget, in addition to losing the $10 pay.

In effect, said the commissioner, the department will increase a budget if an able-bodied man is willing to work.

City, Transit Firm Discuss Garage Site

The City Council is trying to arrange a joint meeting with the Winona County Board of Commissioners and Winona Transit Co. to discuss whether the county garage and storage yard land at Winona and West 3rd streets would be available for a bus garage or a site for one.

The county is expected to dispose of the garage and land north across 3rd Street after its new garage in Goodview is completed late this year.

Winona Transit contends that it can't pay more than the $350 a month it's paying now for a leased garage which will be unavailable after July 1.

RAY M. FEY Sr., managing partner in Winona Transit, has written the City Council that the floor space at the county garage exceeds the firm's needs and that remodeling costs "would greatly exceed any savings that might accrue by the city's being able to secure the property at a comparatively low figure. We also feel that the heating cost of this structure would be prohibitive."

However, Fey likes the idea of acquiring the land across the street as a site for a garage to be erected at city expense.

"We are still of the opinion," Fey wrote, "that if the city can find ways and means of providing the necessary building to house our operations at a rental we feel we can afford to pay, it would be self-liquidating, and solve a problem that would be mutually beneficial to all concerned, our City Council, our company, our riders and the entire population of Winona, as a whole."

FEY ALSO reported on a proposal from a local contractor, W.M.C. Inc., that it could build and lease a garage for a monthly rental of $497 without real estate taxes over a 20-year period. If the firm built its own partitions and installed its own plumbing, lights, etc., the rental would be $357. Another $24 a month could be saved if crushed rock were used for parts of the floor.

Fey commented, "As you can see, the total yearly rental would far exceed our ability to carry the load."

It was noted last night at the City Council meeting that even if the city would build a garage and lease it to Winona Transit, it would have to pay taxes on it, in effect to the county and state. Taxes are paid on the Latsch buildings.

Typo Union Elects Rogers President

Percy Rogers, Leicht Press operator, was elected president of Winona Local 246, Typographical Union, at the annual meeting at the Labor Temple Monday evening.

He succeeds James Kubicek, Daily News machinist, who had held the presidency two years.

Re-elected were: Harold Huntley, vice president; Kenneth McCready, secretary-treasurer; Robert Ozmun, recording secretary, and Richard Mueller, sergeant-at-arms.

Also named: Executive board, Thomas DeGroot, Ray Streuber, Lester Cada, and Kubicek, auditors; Vincent Suchomel, Mark Koller and Stanley Anderson; electors; Vincent Miller, Charles Hagdorn and William Baye, and delegates to the central body, Donald Schaefer, Joseph Wick and McCready.

DEAR ABBY:

Possible, But Not Probable

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I'm a college graduate — my fiancée isn't. I like the theater — she falls asleep at plays. Art interests me — it seems ridiculous to her. Certain films move me — she yawns. Literature fascinates me — she wouldn't reach for a book if it was about to fall on her head. Yet, darn it, she's a very human type with sound ideas about raising a family — the kind I'd like. When I get all set to tell her the wedding is off, I take one look and zowie — I'm hooked again. Could I swallow some of my interests, marry her, and be happy?

DEAR FRED: You could "swallow" some of your interests, but hardly this long list. You are trying to say that this girl would make a wonderful mother but you are intellectually mismatched. Unless you can educate her to your tastes, don't say "I do" — because chances are you won't.

DEAR ABBY: I live in a project and the young woman who lives one apartment over from me is my problem. When my clothesline is not in use, she always asks me if she can use it. I am not a selfish person but I hate to let her use my lines because her clothes never look clean and I don't want people to think they are mine. What should I do?

DEAR NEIGHBOR: Be a really good neighbor and give the young woman some helpful tips on how to get her clothes as clean-looking as yours. (What a spot for a commercial!) This is even more generous than just giving her the same old line.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this with the hope of seeing it in print as a warning to other well-meaning mothers. We have a beautiful, 17-year-old daughter. We tried to raise her right and thought we were doing a fine job, as she was an obedient child, an honor student and a leader in church activities. We failed somewhere because she brought us the news that she was in trouble with a high school boy. In my grief, I confided our problem to two friends, begging them not to repeat it. I told them because I needed their prayers. Abby, these two friends told their daughters, who spread it all over school. Soon the whole town knew it. Our telephone started ringing and our daughter was like a hunted animal. On the verge of a nervous breakdown, we sent her to a Home for Unwed Mothers. She can never come back to this town. I blame no one but myself. Please tell other mothers to do their praying alone.

Asian Flu Hits Tokyo

TOKYO (AP) — Asian flu has hit Tokyo again, and some 250 schools have been closed. Officials say it is a milder version than the virus which killed 683 persons here in 1956. No fatalities from the disease have been reported thus far.

Man Finds Live Grenade in Closet

NEW YORK (AP)—Joseph Martin found a potentially explosive situation in his home Monday night.

Martin, who had just moved into his Bronx apartment, was plastering a closet when he came across a live hand grenade and a live bazooka shell. Police deactivated the devices.

Ramblers Healthy, But Coach Ailing

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Writer

Reports from Cotter High School this morning revealed a healthy Rambler basketball team and one ailing coach by the name of John Nett.

Tonight the Ramblers journey to Oconomowoc for a Ravoux Conference clash with Marian at 8 o'clock. Cotter stands 3-2 in the loop, Marian 1-4.

"As far as I know now everyone is in school," Nett said this morning. "I hope they feel better than I do though."

NETT SPENT Monday home in bed trying to shake the effects of the flu. He said he hasn't felt well for three or four days but expected to be okay thanks to the day at home.

The Ramblers worked out under assistant coach Jon Kosidowski Monday. Only Rich Welch missed the practice session, but he was in school today and Nett expects him to make the trip way over here and back.

In an earlier meeting of the two teams, Cotter was a 52-41 victor. Nett, however, feels that on its home floor Marian could be trouble.

"ELEVEN POINTS isn't much when you consider that they had to make the trip way over here and back that they were playing on our floor," the coach commented.

"Things could reverse themselves over there although I think if we work hard we can win it."

In the first game Marian employed a zone defense that gave Cotter trouble for one quarter and then with Bob Judge, Sam Czaplewski and Larry Modjeski leading the way the Ramblers got the show on the road.

All three will be starting tonight along with Rick Starzecki and Gene Schultz at guards. Rebounding was a problem for Cotter in the first contest until Nett sent his team into a zone in the second half and the issue was never in doubt again.

"I'M NOT SAYING we'll use a zone tonight," Nett said. "If the rebounds give us trouble we definitely will play them that way though. They probably will be looking for us to go with a zone."

Following tonight's game it will be another league contest for Cotter. The Ramblers play host to Rochester Lourdes Friday night.

After the Lourdes clash Cotter winds up Ravoux play at Waseca Sacred Heart Feb. 13.

GOPHERS FALL 89-80

Buckeyes Crush Hawkeyes 89-63

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The party ended abruptly and unexpectedly for Wisconsin's Badgers and once again mighty Ohio State has unchallenged possession of first place in what is generally referred to as the Big Ten basketball race.

Since the outset of the season Ohio State, seeking a third straight conference championship, had trouble shaking off dogged Wisconsin.

But the proud Buckeyes, getting an assist from lowly Michigan, took charge with an 89-63 triumph over Iowa while Wisconsin fell before Michigan 81-74. Illinois defeated Minnesota, 89-80, in the only other conference game Monday night.

Ohio State, rolling to its 22nd successive Big Ten triumph — one short of the all-time loop record, had trouble holding down the score against Iowa. At one stage it was 41-11 and at halftime the Buckeyes led, 52-26. Coach Fred Taylor rolled in the reserves in the second half in which each team scored 37 points.

Jerry Lucas led Ohio State with 24 points but honors went to Iowa's Don Nelson who netted 29 — nearly half his team's entire total.

Ohio State is at home against Minnesota Saturday and should have no trouble tying the record of 23 straight conference victories.

Dave Downey and Bill Small led a blistering second half attack in which Illinois wiped out a 43-36 Minnesota halftime lead to gain its fourth triumph in six games.

Illinois trailed through most of the game but finally went ahead to stay, 77-66, on a basket by Downey. The Illini made it 81-76 and then capitalized on free throws to run out the clock.

Downey poured in 28 points for Illinois and Small added 22. Ray Cronk scored 23 for Minnesota, with teammate Eric Magdanz adding 21.

The Big Ten has a full conference schedule Saturday with Illinois at Iowa, Indiana at Purdue, Michigan State at Wisconsin, Minnesota at Ohio State and Michigan at Northwestern in a regionally televised game.

STAGG HOSPITALIZED With Ailing Knee

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — Amos Alonzo Stagg, 99, the grand old man of the American sports world, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Dameron Hospital.

The great football coach, a legend in his own lifetime, is in the hospital because of a knee ailment.

His physician stressed that Stagg was not in serious condition but said any ailment could be serious at his age. Stagg will be 100 years old Aug. 16.

Stagg's son, Dr. Paul Stagg, is chairman of the Department of Physical Education and Athletics at University of the Pacific here.

"His knee is quite inflamed," said Dr. Stagg. He said it was a recurrence of knee trouble that began last week.

The old coach and his wife, Stella, celebrated their 67th wedding anniversary last year.

LOWLY MICHIGAN STUNS BADGERS

Erickson: 'We Deserved to Get Beat'

MADISON (AP) — The odds finally caught up with Wisconsin.

After surprising Big Ten basketball rivals in five straight victories, the Badgers were upset 81-74 Monday night by lowly Michigan.

The Wolverines, who had managed only one triumph in four previous conference outings, caught the Badgers on an off-night and stunned a partisan crowd of 7,990 at the UW field-house.

"We played poorly and deserved to get beaten," Wisconsin Coach John Erickson said.

"Michigan played hard and that was it."

Michigan Coach Dave Strack agreed with Erickson, crediting the Wolverines with their "best game of the season."

"We caught the Badgers on a cold night, while we had a hot night," Strack said.

The Badgers, noted for their come-from-behind ability in winning 12 of 15 season games, trailed by as much as 12 points against Michigan and then staged a stirring rally. They pulled to within two points 72-70 with 5:17 remaining, but could do no better.

Michigan's Tom Cole promptly scored two field goals to move the Wolverines out of danger and shatter the Badgers' Cinderella hopes in the Big Ten race. Ken Siebel made a couple of quick baskets to narrow the spread to 76-74 with 3:32 left, but it was Wisconsin's dying gasp as Michigan was in command the rest of the way.

Cole captured individual scoring honors with 23 points, including 11 of 12 from the free throw line, as Michigan boosted its overall season record to 4-11. Jon Hall and John Oosterbaan added 16 and 13.

Wisconsin managed to hold an 18-17 lead after 10 minutes of play, before Doug Herter hit on a jump shot for a 19-18 advantage for Michigan. The Wolverines went on to a 43-38 halftime lead and never were headed despite the Badgers' closing rush.

Siebel topped Wisconsin scorers with 16 points. Mike O'Melia added 14 and Tom Hughes 13.

There were no tears or excuses, however, in the Wisconsin dressing room.

"One loss isn't a season, just like that loss at Marquette didn't end things for us," Erickson said in recalling a 92-75 trouncing early in the campaign.

Hustling Warriors Trim Stout 84-83

MENOMONIE, Wis. (Special) — "I feel a lot better now," Coach Bob Campbell commented after his Winona State Warriors had tipped Stout 84-83 here Monday night.

"We finally got the hustle we need to be a winning team. I think we are getting the points across."

Over the past four games, which the Warriors lost, Campbell had been dissatisfied with team hustle. That wasn't the case Monday as Campbell felt his team played one of its better games of the season.

"THERE WERE THE individual standouts, but you'd definitely have to class this one as a team victory," the coach said.

The individual stars Campbell was speaking of were many.

Bob James was the player for whom the coach had the most praise. James turned in his finest game of the season in leading the offensive and rebounding attacks to go with 13 points.

Arlen Kiender was another major reason for victory No. 8. He rattled the zone defense the Blue Devils used in the first half for 21 points to keep the Statesmen in the lead for most of the game.

GERRY GOETZ, although he is still hobbled by an ankle sprain,

THE HALFTIME score favored Winona 46-44. It stayed close throughout the second 20 minutes.

Bob Lietzau entered the contest just in time to drop in two free throws with seven seconds left to make the score 84-81. As the second throw went through Campbell called his players off the floor and Stout had time for one uncontested field goal before the gun.

Barney McCall and Fred Seggelink provided the Blue Devils with a two-pronged attack as they scored 24 and 23 points.

Next action for the Warriors comes at the hands of Bemidji at Memorial Hall Saturday night.

Two Mat Meets Cancelled at 'U' Due to Impetigo

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The University of Minnesota cancelled two wrestling meets Monday when five members of the wrestling squad were found to have impetigo, a highly infectious skin disease.

Minnesota was to have entered a quadrangular meet at Madison, Wis., Saturday against Wisconsin, Purdue and Wheaton College. Also cancelled was a junior varsity meet here Friday against North Dakota.

Athletic officials said the five are under treatment and equipment used by the team is being disinfected. Practice was cancelled for at least three days.

Minnesota participated in a meet at Lafayette, Ind., last Saturday against Purdue, Indiana and Ohio State.

The wrestlers affected are George Christ of Mankato, Jim Buffington of Minneapolis, Jim Reifsteck of Blue Earth, Lonnie Rubis of Coon Rapids and Terry Maus of Austin.

The Cincinnati Reds, champions of the National League, will open the 1962 baseball season at home against Philadelphia on April 9.

ARCADIA HIGH HONORS ATHLETES

Bruton: Only Color Is That in Uniform

By AUGIE KARCHER
Daily News Sports Editor

ARCADIA, Wis. — Bill Bruton is quite happy to be playing with the Detroit Tigers, but he still has a soft spot in his heart for the state of Wisconsin.

Bruton was in Arcadia Monday night to speak to the Lions Club athletic banquet honoring athletes in all sports at Arcadia High School. And he made as big a hit as he did the many years in a Milwaukee Brave uniform.

"I like playing with Detroit very much," said Bruton, between bites of delicious Arcadia

BANQUET CIRCUIT . . . Bill Bruton, (right), star Milwaukee outfielder now with the Detroit Tigers, stops to chat with Coach Bill Cashen and star athlete Chuck Killian (left) at the Lions

Fryers. "Their front office organization is perhaps a little better to work with."

Bruton was traded by the Braves in December of 1960 and played a full season with the Tigers last year. He hit .257 but is still the great defensive star he was as a Brave. And he still resides in Milwaukee.

"No, I wasn't surprised when I was traded," he said.

Does a ball club hurt itself when it deals off a popular star? "Not if you get a star in return," says Bruton, who at 165 pounds looks like he could begin chasing line drives tomorrow without the need of spring training which starts Feb. 28 at Lakeland, Fla.

But Bruton wonders if a trade is wise when a club weakens itself.

"I didn't have the best year last year," he commented. "Yet the Tigers gave me the same contract with a small raise. I was more than satisfied."

"Now we can afford two cars," he grinned. "I need the second car because of all the speaking I have been doing."

By speaking, he was referring to appearances such as he made here Monday night. The mild-mannered and extremely likeable Bruton obviously enjoys his off-season work. He wants to help young people.

"The way to work with youth is to get to know youth," he told the audience. The longest career in baseball at his best is a short one and this type of work is something I want to spend time in after my baseball days are over."

Bruton touched on the problems confronting the Negro players in baseball.

"Our creed in baseball should be that the only rule that matters is the rule book, the only color is the color of the uniform, the only race is the race to the bag," he declared.

"All we ask is that we be given the same privileges as anyone else on the ball club."

Bruton was introduced by W. B. Gutsch, supervising principal of Arcadia High School. The audience was welcomed by Jerry Myers, Lions Club vice president, and invocation was by Rev. Joseph Andrzejewski.

Mississippi Valley All-Conference certificates presented by the Winona Daily News were awarded last night and eight senior athletes received Arcadia athletic medals presented by Principal Gutsch.

The latter recipients were Chuck Killian, Bob Pyka, John Patzner, Dennis Gamoke, Daniel Jaszewski, Vernon Fernholz, Linus Kujak and Dennis Jensen.

Before the night was over, Bruton also went on record as follows:

- The day won't come when football replaces baseball as the national pastime.
- Baseball is not losing in popularity. Minor leagues are dying because television has shifted interest and created new interest in the big leagues.
- The Tigers have good pitching and will be a pennant contender. "We won 101 of 162 games last year. The Yanks can't be as lucky next year as they were in 1961."
- "My only remaining ambitions are to play in an All-Star game and to play on a winning World Series team."
- "If I had my life to live over, I would go to college first, and then play my baseball."
- "I realize how fortunate I have been to be a part of baseball."

World Hockey Meet to Go On Anyway

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — World ice hockey officials said today the final, official schedule of events for the world tournament in Colorado will be released by the first of next week.

"The tournament will go as scheduled," said Robert Lebel of Montreal, president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, and Thayer Tutt of Colorado Springs, chairman of the organizing committee.

Others conferring here are Walter Brown, vice president of the North American Council, and Tom Lockhart, president of the American Hockey Association.

Lebel said he would like the East German team to compete, "but if they can't, we will go along with the tournament as planned."

The tournament is set for Colorado Springs and Denver March 7-18.

The East German team has been denied a travel permit from the Allied Travel Agency in West Berlin.

Lebel said he anticipated little change in schedule and not too much opposition from Iron Curtain countries.

Redmen Win 86-65 Over Lowly Loras

DUBUQUE, Iowa (Special) — St. Mary's College snapped its seven-game losing streak and handed Loras College its 11th straight loss here Monday night 86-65.

It was a pleasant respite for Coach Ken Willgen.

"I was afraid to close my eyes after I looked at the scoreboard and saw us ahead by 32 points at one time," said Willgen.

THE REDMEN, however, won't have much time to rest on their laurels because Wednesday night they invade St. Paul and take on Hamline's Pipers in a Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference game.

St. Mary's, now 6-12 for the season, never trailed Loras after Al Williams' opening basket and after Marty Lillig's two-pointer broke a 4-4 deadlock.

"We played up to our potential. It was an all-around good game and was a long time in coming," said Willgen.

The St. Mary's mentor started four sophomores — Tom Hall, Denny Burghman, Tom Stallings and Williams — with senior Lillig.

STALLINGS, however, was injured midway in the first half when he caught an elbow flush in the face. He sat out the rest of the game.

Lillig scored 12 of his 16 points in the first half and Hall had 10 of his 22 in that span to pull St. Mary's in front 36-27 at the intermission.

In the first five minutes of the second half, Hall scored eight more points and St. Mary's outscored Loras 17-4 for a 53-31 margin.

With 8:25 to play, the score mounted to 69-37.

ST. MARY'S shot at a 46 percent clip, hitting 35 of 76 shots, including 19 of 35 in the last half. Loras averaged 35 percent on 23 of 66.

Only Mike McGrath and Dick Marshall of Loras could dent double digits, each getting 10.

Burghman had 14 and Loras 11 for St. Mary's.

OVERTIME CONTEST

Duluth Nips
Gusties 76-75

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Minnesota Duluth came within a whisker of suffering its first league defeat and Hamline kept on the heels of the leaders in Minnesota Intercollegiate Conference feature games Monday night.

Gustavus Adolphus did its best to win the first MIAC defeat of the season on Duluth, but the Bulldogs pulled out a 76-75 overtime decision at St. Peter, their 11th loop win in a row.

Hamline also had a scare before clipping Concordia, 77-71, also in overtime, at Moorhead.

Augsburg kept its hopes faintly alive with a 68-66 win over Macalester in still another overtime battle at St. Paul.

In non-conference action, St. Mary's hosted Lorain 86-55, Winona ripped Stout, Wis., 84-53, and St. Cloud downed River Falls 69-55.

Monday's three MIAC games couldn't have been much closer—with overtime needed to decide all of them.

Duluth trailed 67-65 with eight seconds left when Roger Hanson sank two free throws to tie the count and the Bulldogs then held the upper hand throughout the overtime period. George Hamilton got 22 points for Duluth and Ken Abram and Dean Anderson each got 18 for Gustavus.

Hamline (8-2) and Concordia were tied 63-63 at the end of regulation before the Pipers broke it open in the extra period. Fred Schmiesing had 23 points for Hamline and Gary Larson got 26 for the Cobbers.

Augsburg (4-4) was behind nine points at halftime, but rallied to tie the count at 61-61, forcing it into overtime. Augsburg won it on a basket and free throw by Steve Strommen. Lloyd Raymond of Augsburg topped all scorers with 17 points and Dan Anderson had 15 for Macalester.

State colleges have no games scheduled tonight, but St. Mary's visits Hamline and St. Thomas goes to St. John's Wednesday.

LA CROSSE, Wis. (Special)—A brilliant defensive effort by Gary Adolis of the La Crosse Logan Junior Varsity did the most damage as the Winona Winhawk JV dropped a 60-57 decision here Monday afternoon.

Logan built a 20-13 first period advantage before the Little Hawks closed the gap to 33-31 at halftime. The Logan Rangers opened a 51-43 gap heading into the final frame when a Winona rally was cut short.

Marty Farrell flipped in 15 points and Wulf Krause 13 for the Hawks. Paul Sheldon got 14, Adolis 11 and Ralph Tolken 10 for Logan.

Three Pound
600s; Speed
Belts 1,071

Bowlers at Hal-Rod Lanes chalked off three 600s Monday night as Babe Kurth of Linaham's in the City League toppled 611 to nudge out Bill Hohmeister of Wason's VFW League team who fired 610.

Karroll Jaastad tumbled an even 600.

Speed Wash took team highs in the City League with 1,071-2,959 while John Drazkowski knocked down 245 for Lindsay. Ray Barmenak had an errorless 574 series.

The 1,071 is tied at ninth high in the city.

Rich Dean, Hammes Beer, and Jim Dorn, of Bubs which registered 978-2,798, tied for game honors with 224.

WESTGATE BOWL: Alley Gators — Margie McGuire's 518 for Valentine Milk led a surge of 500 scores. Teammate Betty McDonald hit 159 and the team 965. Taverna fired 2,697. Other 500s came from Olive Reicks, Taverna, and Shirley Quicks, Curley's, with 517.

Long Strange hit 510 for Taverna and Virginia Schumneck 507 for Curley's.

PIN TOPPLERS — Leona Lubinski, Lincoln Insurance, topped 221-542 while Main Tavern remained in first place. Main Tavern shot 926 and Winona Paint and Glass 2,628. Isabelle Rozek hit 541, Marge Morave 537 and Esther Pozanc 525.

Junior — Dick Hengel, Strike-outs, tipped 192-374 while Play Boys knocked down 676-1,255.

Community — Arlo Stueve's 234 led Coca-Cola to 928. Lyle Jacobson knocked down 588 for Schlitz while Sunbeam Bread was tipping 2,702.

Ladies — Beatrice Moham fired 190-520 for Knitting Mills. Matzke Concrete registered 885 and Grulkowski Beauty 2,440.

ST. MARTIN'S: Ladies—Eleanor Loshak and Winona Typewriter took all honors in this league. Loshak tumbled 193-526 and the team 885-2,532.

In games rolled last week in Hal-Rod's Pin Dusters League Lucille Weaver hit 224-572 for Winona Rug Cleaning. St. Clairs fired 927 and Mura Bar and Lunch 2,575.

In Westgate's Guys and Dolls League Carroll Colbenson toppled 210-510 for Kings and Queens and tied with Dan Przybylski of Four-some for game honors. Jack and Jills banged out 2,114 and Four-some 773.

TONIGHT'S action will be marked by the appearance of the entire six-team Classic League from the Athletic Club, one of the city's top circuits. They go on at 6:45 p.m. Second shift is at 9 p.m.

Low payoff with 48 of the 186 teams already having bowled 2,806.

St. Louis Loses Lovellette for Rest of Season

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Even when they have a day off, the hapless St. Louis Hawks lose.

The five-time champs of the Western Division of the National Basketball Association, now dragging their sneakers in fourth place, have lost hulking Clyde Lovellette for the rest of the season with an injured achilles tendon in his left leg. Rookie backcourt man Cleo Hill is out for a week or 10 days after breaking a small bone in his right foot.

Lovellette suffered the injury against Los Angeles Saturday night.

Two games were played Monday night and St. Louis, successor as champion in the West, the Los Angeles Lakers, and the Hawks' perennial title playoff opponents, the Boston Celtics, fattened their division leads.

The Lakers, with Jerry West treating the old home folks at Morganstown, W.Va., to 46 points, whipped Cincinnati 134-128—opening an 11-game lead over the Royals in the Western Division. The Celtics thumped the Chicago Packers 127-111 in Chicago and moved eight games up on the runner-up team in the East, the Philadelphia Warriors.

There were more than 50 trout caught during the afternoon and Aug Bugler, the 32-inch, 9-pound trout, which ranged in size from 1 pound to 12 ounces, went as follows:

A 12 gauge shotgun to Leonard Rautech, Independence; a 12 gauge shot to Larry Drehn, Augusta, a 22 rifle to John Stendahl, Independence.

Two hundred pound hogs and 20-pound turkeys were the next seven prizes and were won by Mary Ann Harris, Black River Falls; Harold Harris, Altona; Joe Badger, Pepin; Dan Albert, Eau Claire and Arnold Busch, Menominee.

Everett Slaby, Arcadia, won the eighth and tenth prizes with a 12½ and a 12-ounce trout. Dominic J. Sura, Independence, Floren Blue, Blair, and Robert Zanol, Milwaukee, won the attendance prizes which included a 14-foot boat, a 3 horsepower motor and a 200-pound hog.

Mrs. Timan Haug, Whitehall, won the "For Women Only" attendance prize, a portable electric sewing machine.

Schaffers Bomb Lewiston 125-84

LEWISTON, Minn. — Schaffers City League team of Winona bombed Lewiston 125-84 behind 35 points from Bob Larson here Monday night. The win was the third straight for Schaffers as they bounced Lewiston Saturday and then beat Watkins, Inc. Sunday.

The winners never trailed as they led 35-13, 63-32 and 60-50 at the quarter turns.

Schaffers only had five players available for the game as Gene Garrison was out with a pulled muscle. All five scored in double figures as Bob Cyert hit 26, Joe Kaczorowski and Ted Czaplowski 24 each and Mike Voelker 16. Pete Polus led Lewiston with 25. Dale Erdmann got 23, Ron Erdmann and Sandy Henry 12 each.
