Tornadoes Rip Along Minnesota-Iowa Border

Damage High At Faribault And Ellendale

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A series of tornadoes striking from a towering mass of thunderheads ripped paths of destruction across Minnesota late Tuesday and Tuesday night, wreaking heaviest havoc in the lush farming area along the Iowa border.

Early reports from the widespread blow showed only a few minor injuries, even though the Weather Bureau confirmed that at least five separate twisters hit over the state. An advance warning of heavy weather sent out by the bureau in the afternoon was credited with having helped to keep casualties down.

Barns and outbuildings were whirled into kindling on scores of farms.

Falling trees knocked out telephone and power lines over wide areas and crushed many cars and much farm machinery as they toppled.

Hundreds of head of livestock were reported destroyed, trapped in wrecked barns and sheds.

Scores of business buildings and homes were partially or completely unroofed and uncounted windows smashed by the twister's violent suction.

Many miles of highway were littered with windborne debris, making it difficult for officers to check for casualties or damage in areas where communications were knocked out.

RAIN PUSHING along with the giant storm front dropped as much as two inches in some spots in a half hour, creating flash floods in many sections.

Power of one tornado in the Faribault area flattened the huge screen of a drive-in theater and lifted a railroad freight off its tracks.

The Ellendale area, about midway between Owatonna and Albert Lea appeared to be among those hardest hit, with a score of farms chalking up heavy losses.

Every building but the house at Ted Nelson's place, three miles northwest of Ellendale, was either leveled or damaged almost beyond repair, he said. Adolph Olson in the same area saw the roof of his large barn ripped off, a side of the structure caved in. One large tree smashed down on his new tractor, a second crashed into the side of the house.

Outbuildings were destroyed on seven farms around the little Leno community, nine miles northwest of Ellendale.

Herbert Johnson, doing chores at his father's farm just south of Owatonna, escaped injury although the twister ripped off the roof, caved in two sides of the structure and flattened an adjoining corncrib.

Emmon Thomas, farming six miles northwest of Lake Crystal, lost his barn, the chimney and part of the roof of his home. He estimated loss would be in excess of $15,000.

Some livestock were killed when the barn blew down on the Jack Rilling farm, seven miles north of Mankato.

At Grand Meadow, east of Austin, spectators at a high school baseball game sighted a twister nearing, fled for safety. When it had passed, only the batting cage had been tipped but the ensuing downpour forced cancellation of the contest.

At Faribault, the storm spread havoc at summer homes and docks at Cedar and French lakes, with many boats torn from their moorings. More animals were destroyed as the wind shredded a barn near Roberts Lake in the same county.

Rice County deputies said special crews had to be summoned to clear debris, including large trees, from Highways 60 and 21. Many trees also were toppled at Northfield and St. Peter, with radio station KRBI knocked off the air in the latter city when the power failed.

The cloud mass apparently started its destructive spree near Barnesville, where large hail broke holes in roofs, smashed windows and chipped paint off buildings early Tuesday afternoon.

MOVING ON A south-southeast course, the bruising cloud dropped a torrent at Ortonville to leave a retaining wall at the Big Stone County courthouse and heavily

Four Emmies For 'Defender'

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The law, as practiced on television, won out over medicine Tuesday night in the 14th annual Emmy Awards show.

"The Defenders," CBS-TV's longest courtroom series, won four Emmys to emerge as champ of the television awards.

The win, reflecting solid voting from New York members of the Television Academy, was an upset, "Ben Casey," television's sullen medic, was a favorite with eight nominations, but when the operation was over, Casey had "struck out."

"The Defenders," won Emmys for outstanding drama; for best actor for star E. G. Marshall; best director for Franklin Schaffner; and for best writing for Reginald Rose, its creator.

Even Queen Victoria did better than "Ben Casey." The Hallmark production of "Victoria Regina" won best actress award for Julie Harris; best supporting actress for Pamela Brown, and the show was adjudged best program of the year.

The best actor award went to Peter Falk, who was nominated for his role of a truck driver in "The Price of Tomatoes" on the Dick Powell Show.

Falk, who had been nominated for nearly every movie and television performance he has made since gaining prominence in the last two years, forgot his speech. Shirley Booth, winner of a movie Oscar and numerous stage awards, won an Emmy for best actress in a series.

"This is a doozy, ain't it," she said, repeating an expression from her "Hazel" characterization. Don Knotts, the deputy on the Andy Griffith show, won his second supporting actor Emmy in a row.

Leonard Bernstein won two Emmys. One was for the outstanding children's program for his young people's concert with the New York Philharmonic; the other was for his Philharmonic tour of Japan.

The Gary Moore Show, was named best variety show, and its comedienne, Carol Burnett, was named best variety artist.

Special trustee awards were given to CBS news for its tour of the White House and to Jacques-Louis Kennedy, the tour's pretty conductor.

Mrs. Ladybird Johnson, wife of the vice president, accepted the award for the First Lady.

"If all history lessons could be presented against such a background—and with such a teacher—I'm sure we'd all like to go back to school," Mrs. Johnson said.

Heads of the news departments of ABC, CBS and NBC also got trustees awards for coverage of the year's most exciting television program — astronaut John F. Glenn Jr.'s orbits around the earth.

Another trustee award went to Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff, chairman of the board of the Radio Corporation of America.

Following a pattern of recent years, at least one star found himself with an Emmy—and no show. Comic Bob Newhart, whose show has not been renewed, won the award for best comedy show.

Girl, 3, Crushed to Death in Elevator

NEW YORK (AP)—A 3-year-old girl who took an elevator ride alone was crushed to death between the wall and the moving elevator.

Police said the victim, Laura Jones, somehow managed to get the inner door open and took hold of the fourth-floor outer door as the self-service elevator descended in a Brooklyn apartment house.

No Medicare Votes Changed In Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—The exchange of salvos by President Kennedy and the American Medical Association on health care for the aged has changed no votes where at the moment they count most—in the House Ways and Means Committee.

This was the consensus today of committee members on both sides of the dispute over providing hospital and nursing benefits for persons retired under Social Security.

The key vote by the committee on Kennedy's bill, which would provide such benefits and increase payroll taxes to pay for them, probably will come during the second week of June. The committee has had the measure under consideration for a year.

Thirteen of the committee's 25 votes would give the measure a favorable report and a fair chance of passage this year. Without favorable committee action passage is still possible, but extremely doubtful.

While most members of the committee are not saying publicly where they stand, opponents appear to have an edge which could be overcome if as many as four uncommitted members decided to go along with the administration. "I think we'll make it," one supporter said today. "But this will be decided by a one-vote margin."

More flatly, an opponent said, "It won't come out."

THE HOUSE Republican whip, Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois, said in an interview he wonders whether Kennedy wants "a law or an issue this year." Arends is not a member of the Ways and Means Committee, but he said he does not think the widely publicized pro and con rallies and programs of the past few days have had any effect on committeemen.

All sides agreed the health legislation will be an issue in the November elections when all seats in the House and one-third of those in the Senate are up for competition.

Estes Invokes 5th Amendment In Federal Court

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Billie Sol Estes invoked the Fifth Amendment six times today when called to testify in federal court with a meeting of his creditors.

Both Estes and his lawyers promised to provide detailed schedules of their assets by June 15.

Estes was on the stand only briefly. He gave his name and address. When asked his occupation, he invoked the Fifth Amendment after his lawyer interrupted the questioning.

Estes also refused to testify on the grounds it might incriminate him when asked the location of his offices, if he had turned over all books and accounts to the receiver, if he had assets that he received did not know about, when asked specifically about his list of assets and when asked about his interest in Agriculture, Inc.

Allan Poage, counsel for the receiver, argued that for Estes to proceed under Section 11 of the Federal Bankruptcy Act it would be necessary for him to testify as to his assets.

Judge R. E. Thomason said, "It is difficult to see how the questions would incriminate you. But we still have a constitution."

Humphrey Expects Senate to Adopt Mandatory Clause

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said today he is confident the Senate will insert the administration's mandatory wheat and feed grain control proposals in its pending farm bill.

After hours of jockeying and two days of intermittent debate, the Senate agreed Tuesday to quit talking and begin voting Thursday. "It looks fairly good," Humphrey, assistant Senate Democratic leader, told a reporter.

And Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who has opposed the administration grain proposals in behalf of dairy and farm interest of his home state, agreed.

Proxmire joined with solid state Republicans on the Senate Agriculture Committee to produce 9-8 votes against the more drastic grain controls asked by the administration.

Space Count Starts For Carpenter Shot

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Project Mercury experts today successfully completed the first section of a countdown pointed toward launching astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter into triple orbit of the earth Thursday.

All systems in the Atlas rocket and Aurora 7 capsule were declared in "go" condition. The only cause for possible alarm was a haze of acrid smoke spreading from forest fires about 20 miles west of here and big swamp fires in the Everglades 200 miles south.

Officials were hopeful, however, that this would not be dense enough to prevent Carpenter from taking off on the path first broken for the United States by John H. Glenn Jr. last Feb. 20.

There was a possibility that even if this smoke did not prevent the blast-off, it might cut the number of orbits by delaying the launch. The sky must be relatively clear in the launch area so cameras can trace the rocket.

An announcement from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said: "It is expected that visibility may be improved sufficiently by midmorning that limited camera capability can be attained."

If the launch is delayed much past 9:30 a.m. EST, the number of orbits would have to be cut from three to two, in order to give recovery teams sufficient daylight to spot the capsule in the ocean. Officials insist on three hours of daylight for this task.

Autopsy Hints Man Murdered

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Official investigative sources said today that evidence in the Billie Sol Estes case points toward persons "pretty darn high up" in Washington under both the Kennedy and Eisenhower administrations.

The informants, who declined to be identified or to elaborate, told in separate interviews that information has been uncovered indicating bigger names may be involved than any reported so far in the investigation of the indicted financier's alleged influence deals with government officials.

A grimmer probe into a mysterious death a year ago struck sparks in Franklin, Tex., Tuesday.

After a partial autopsy, a medical examiner indicated he believes Henry Marshall, an Agriculture Department agent who investigated Estes' farm operations, was murdered.

The Harris County medical examiner, Dr. Joseph Jachimczyk, said he felt "strongly at this time that this is not a suicide."

The complete autopsy report, he said, will be available later this week after laboratory tests.

Marshall, 52, was found dead June 3, 1961, shot five times with a bolt-action 22 rifle. He was buried without an autopsy, his death officially sealed as a suicide.

When the Estes case flared into national prominence authorities turned again to Marshall's death.

Marshall, as chief of production adjustment for the Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office, had been investigating Estes' collecting of cotton allotments—an operation the Agriculture Department now says was illegal.

Marshall's body was taken from its grave for an autopsy by what was described as a "whole team of experts."

After the autopsy, Dist. Atty. Bryan Russ said it indicated Marshall was shot in the back. "A tentative change of the verdict from suicide to murder would be suggested," Russ said.

Estes himself, the wheeler and dealer who built a business empire on cotton, storage of government grain and fertilizer, is expected to face a host of his creditors in El Paso today. Authorities doubt he will have much to say, figuring he will invoke the Fifth Amendment's provisions against possible self-incrimination.

Two congressional subcommittees in Washington and four grand juries in Texas are exploring the cloud of scandals and rumors surrounding the debris of Estes' operations.

He is awaiting trial on federal fraud charges and a Texas indictment accusing him of theft. He has declared himself bankrupt.

The Agriculture Department announced Tuesday it will pull some 42 million bushels of government grain out of storage in elevators and warehouses owned by or connected with Estes.

The government has paid about $4 million a year to store the grain.

The order was a blow to creditors who had hoped the government payments would pay off their claims against Estes.

Just how it would affect the Commercial Solvents Corp. of New York, whose financial relations with Estes are under scrutiny, remains to be seen. George A. Barnes, an assistant to Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, said the storage fees did not go directly to Estes, because he has assigned them to Commercial Solvents. Estes bought his liquid fertilizer from Commercial Solvents.

Barnes said the department has held up all payments "since Estes got into this trouble in March."

The Agriculture Department has reported variously that payments on the Estes storage contracts totaled between $7 million and $3 million since 1959. The multiple investigations now seek to discover just how he got the contracts.

Minor Flooding Predicted From Heavy Rainfall

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The U.S. Weather Bureau said today that almost continuous rains of the past eight or nine days may cause minor flooding in the Upper Mississippi and Minnesota River valleys.

Joe Strub, state climatologist here for the Weather Bureau, said the "crowning blow" was two to three inches of rain in the Ft. Ripley-Brainerd area on the Upper Mississippi during the night.

The river rise may top flood stage slightly at Ft. Ripley, but otherwise should stay within its banks as the rain runoff pours in.

On the Minnesota, heavy rains will force some flood crests over flood stage downstream from Mankato by the weekend. This rise on the lower Minnesota will be about four feet lower than the crests in early April, Strub said.

Here are his predictions for various river sites:

Mississippi
Atkin—Flood stage 12 feet, crest near 11 feet Sunday, today 8 feet.
Ft. Ripley—flood stage 10 feet, crest 11 feet Saturday, today 7.7 feet.
Minneapolis—flood stage 16 feet, crest 12 feet Monday, today 8 feet.

St. Paul—flood stage 14 feet, crest 10-11 feet Tuesday, today 6.2 feet.

Minnesota
Mankato—flood stage 19 feet, crest 16 feet Thursday morning, today 11.5 after 3.5-foot rise from Tuesday.

Carver—flood stage 18 feet, crest 20 feet Saturday night.

Chaska—flood stage 18 feet, crest 19 feet late Sunday.

Savage—flood stage 698 feet above sea level, crest 702.5 Tuesday.

Mendota—flood stage 699 feet, crest 698 Tuesday.

St. Croix
Stillwater—flood stage 87 feet, crest 83.5 Monday.

UNIONVILLE, Mo. (AP)—A $5-million Continental Airlines jet, possibly torn apart by a violent storm, fell to the ground in sections Tuesday night, killing all 45 persons aboard.

The only known survivor, rescued from an intact section of the fuselage after an all-night search, died in a hospital 90 minutes after rescue.

He was Takehiko Nakano, 27, an engineer who carried business cards listing addresses in Oak Park, Ill., and Los Angeles.

He was removed from the middle section of the fuselage, which, shorn of its wings and tail section, plunged into a shallow gully about 20 miles from where debris first started spewing from the doomed plane.

Others aboard the plane included three officials of the Chrysler Dodge Division. They were:

Fred P. Herman, 46, of Dearborn, Mich., a Dodge finance executive.

Virgil W. Mourning, 45, of Franklin, Mich., Dodge dealer finance manager.

Roger Welch, 45, of Grosse Pointe, Mich., assistant general sales manager of Dodge's car and truck division.

Among others reported aboard the craft were:

Philip E. Giberson Sr., of Jackson, Mich., president of the Guyabon Sand Co. in Jackson.

Jack Alexander, vice president of Futursonic Productions, Inc., a Dallas concern which makes radio broadcast commercials.

William C. Chapin, president and treasurer of Vanilla Laboratories, Inc., of Rochester, N.Y., and a longtime member of the executive committee of the United States Golf Association.

The plane left Chicago's O'Hare Airport at 9:25 p.m. Central Daylight Time and was due in Kansas City at 9:35 p.m. Central Standard Time.

The inside of the fuselage was a jumble of bodies, seats, luggage and clothing.

Nakano was found half way down on the right side of the intact section, lying with his back against three seats.

When told help had reached him, he was able to respond only feebly. He died in St. Joseph's hospital in Centerville.

The craft, a Boeing 707 piloted by veteran Capt. Fred Gray of Pacific Palisades, Calif., made its last report at 9:15 p.m. from a position 35 miles northeast of Kirksville, Mo.

This was about 120 air miles northwest of Kansas City where it (Continued on page 17 Column 4)

NSP Building Tall New Line 2.1 Miles Long

Construction began this week of a 2.1-mile new electric transmission line from East Sanborn Street south on Chestnut Street to East Mark Street, and west on Mark to Gould Street, S. J. Petersen, Winona Division manager, Northern States Power Co., announced.

This is the first phase of a construction project that will be undertaken during the next several years at a total cost of $910,000. This year's cost will be $87,400.

THE WORK is being done to keep up with increasing demand for power.

Petersen said the line now being constructed is part of a program to provide an additional source of power at the Winona steam plant and adequate distribution facilities in the area west of Winona.

The line is being built as a 69,000-volt circuit but initially it will be operated at 12,500 volts. Other steps in the program will provide additional 69,000-volt transformer capacity at the plant, extension of the line north on Chestnut Street to the plant, building a new line from the west end of Winona to Altura, and the installation of a 69,000-volt substation in Goodview.

This year's work will involve installation of 53 poles from 65 feet to 95 feet in height to clear trees. Highest previous height was 75. NSP has contracted with Donovan Construction Co., St. Paul, to do the work and the contractor had 10 men on the job this week.

WHEN THE entire program is finished, power will be available from the Dairyland Power Cooperative lines near Altura to supplement the power supply for the Winona area which is now served from the Winona steam plant and from the Wisconsin transmission system of NSP (Wisconsin).

A connection near Altura was established in 1961 and a limited number of customers in the Altura-Rollingstone area has been served from this source. NSP and Dairyland Power Cooperative have numerous connections such as the one near Altura. Each power supplier uses the transmission facilities of the other for the transmission of power to customers where practical. This eliminates the construction of duplicate facilities.

New Ambulance Service Starts Operations Here

The new ambulance service has made its changeover with no major difficulties.

John L. Miller, 28, formerly of Frazee, Minn., is pleased with progress he has made until now in establishing his new service. He began operation Monday.

He said that there will be some one on call 24 hours a day. At least five part-time workers will assist him in maintaining service. Miller, 507 E. Sanborn St., will work nights and weekends. Others will fill in when needed.

Miller stressed that each of his ambulances will have a resuscitator and two-way radio in addition to standard emergency equipment. Miller has three ambulances, one of which is a 1962 Buick.

Miller's experience dates back 12 years. At that time he worked around ambulances and helped maintain them. He was graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1954 with a major in mortuary science.

His wife, Patricia, and two children, Sandra, 2, and Steven, 1, still live in Frazee. They will move here as soon as arrangements can be made, possibly in June.

The new ambulance service will cost taxpayers less money than in the past. His accepted bid of $475 a month for furnishing two ambulances in the city and $140 for one in the county is $35 a month less than the previous contract with Winona Ambulance Service.

Civil Air Patrol To Conduct Fund Raising Project

The Winona squadron of the Civil Air Patrol will conduct a fund-raising drive to finance training of boys and girls as CAP cadets, the squadron announced today following a meeting Tuesday night in the administration building of Max Conrad Field.

Businessmen and members of civic groups will be asked to become honorary associate members of the squadron. Cadets get four years of training from ages 14-18. Senior members of the squadron direct the program without pay. Pamphlets about the CAP are being distributed to prospective donors.

James W. Frankanard, 635 45th Ave., Goodview, discussed his experience as an Air Force pilot during his service from 1950-61.

A new cadet class will be started here in September. Four cadets will take part in an encampment at an Air Force base in June. The squadron now has 13 senior members and 22 cadets. Lt. Donald Bauer is commanding officer.

Thurley Homes Makes Annual 'Tax' Payment

A check for $6,628.10 will be paid to the county treasurer this month by the Arthur C. Thurley Homes, according to Arthur A. Gallien, executive director of the city Housing and Redevelopment Authority.

This amount, paid in lieu of real estate taxes by the city low-income rental project, is considerably more than would have been paid in taxes on the original 12 1/2 acres of unimproved land, Gallien said. The figure represents 10 percent of net rentals, amounting to $66,280.98, collected from tenants in the fiscal year ending March 31, 1962, Gallien said.

The information is contained in the annual report of the Housing Authority filed with the Public Housing Administration, Washington, D. C. Copies of the report also are made available to the state commissioner of administration, the state public examiner and the City Council, Gallien said.

THE PRESENT total of these payments in lieu of taxes is $41,064.93, according to Housing Authority figures. As in the case of taxes, payments are made each May for the previous year. The following table shows the yearly payments to the county treasurer.

1955	$ 2,515.45
1956	4,150.86
1957	4,823.97
1958	4,988.13
1959	5,613.63
1960	6,065.60
1961	6,279.19
1962	6,628.10

Assessor's records show the original tract of land carried an assessed valuation in 1954 of $2,450, with taxes of $172.85 paid in 1955. Had the land not been developed, taxes payable this year would have been $231.73, based on the previous valuation. The tract was diverted to the housing development in 1954.

The Housing Authority's 1961 report places a theoretical present valuation on the property of $206,860. At that rate, the tax payment would have been $48,914.12 this year, the report shows. If the property were privately owned and developed, these figures would apply, Gallien said.

TOTAL OPERATING income received last year was $89,029.80, the report showed, while operating expenses, both routine and non-budgeted, amounted to $86,845.77. Unforeseen replacements of defective equipment and attendant costs are classified as non-routine. Deducting $4,057.82 of expense incurred in this category, the net routine operating expense was $62,787.95.

Since the conversion to natural gas heating which was completed March 30, rentals have jumped about $1,768 per month, Gallien said. This is because tenants now rent the units with heat furnished, where formerly each unit was heated by fuel oil and individuals paid heating bills separately. Unit rentals, with gas heat furnished, have been raised by the following amounts: one bedroom unit, $8 per month; two bedroom, $10; three bedroom, $12; and four bedroom, $14.

Each unit is now furnished with a gas furnace, gas water heater and gas kitchen range.

REVIEWING THE report, Gallien said:

"There is great value to the community in these low-income rental homes. Our vacancy rate is always less than 5 percent and can be called negligible. We do have a turnover each year of about 30 percent. Many families move here, then go out later to purchase homes of their own. Some move to other sections of the city and higher rental brackets, and some move out of town.

"We feel this annual payment made in lieu of taxes is significant to the community. Had this property not been developed, the tax revenue would have undoubtedly remained exceptionally small."

Midwest Lags Economically, Rotary Told

"Facts show that the Upper Midwest lags behind some sections of the country in economic growth," Jerry R. Pratt, director of community relations, Upper Midwest Research and Development Council, Minneapolis, told the Winona Rotary Club this afternoon.

Pratt, who spoke at a luncheon at Hotel Winona, represents a nonprofit corporation seeking to stimulate the economy of six states in the 9th Federal Reserve District.

"WE HAVE NEVER lost ground as some sections have but we are not making the most of our potential," Pratt said. "The council's purpose is to assemble and analyze the facts, all of them, good and bad, and when we have them to make an intelligent appraisal of what needs to be done."

Research for the project, now under way, covers all parts of the economy. The council will first study the past and present. Later studies will predict what is likely to happen by 1975 and what should be done.

Pratt said the council will suggest what is likely to happen by 1975, not what will happen. "What will happen, what our economic growth will be, is largely up to you and me," he said. "The Upper Midwest has everything it takes—the resources and the resourcefulness—to make the future as bright as we choose to make it."

AS TO WHAT citizens can do to help, he said:

"Economic growth, after all, for a state, region or nation, is the sum total of the progress of each of its communities. It begins with you—your income, the increase in the value of your property holdings, the improvement in your standard of living.

"Your community's progress is relatively easy to measure by such indices as employment stability, income levels, property values, and community services. Schools, churches, recreational facilities all enter in, as do such intangibles as community pride and spirit.

"If, on any score, your community does not 'measure up,' you have a civic obligation to develop an interest in and a knowledge of the particular problem—and to speak up and do something about it."

THE TWO PHASES of the council's program are an Upper Midwest economic study co-sponsored

Real Estate Tax Deadline May 31

May 31 is the deadline for payment of the first half of real estate taxes, Mrs. Teresa M. Curbow, Winona County treasurer, announced.

Case Stricken In Wabasha Co.

WABASHA, Minn. (Special) — The jury case which was to have opened in District Court here this morning—Vernon H. Wiebusch against Howard B. Darling—was stricken for settlement, according to Judge Arnold Hatfield, and court was adjourned to Monday.

Scheduled for trial Monday is a consolidation of two cases brought by Universal Audit Adjustment Co. against Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Meurer. This will be followed by the case brought by James B. and Sharon Giesler against Quinn Distributing Co.

The case of Gust Nibbe, Lake City, against Frank Blatterner, scheduled for the jury, was stricken for settlement.

By stipulation of the attorneys Pioneer Realty Co. against Elmer D. Klindworth was moved from the jury to the court calendar.

The jury trial of Cleo and Alona Bluhm, Zumbro Falls, against Lawrence Harkins of Harkins Plumbing & Heating was passed because Robert W. Dunlap, a defense attorney, is trying a case at Red Wing.

Wind and Rain Causes Slight Damage in Area

Although lashed by winds, which reached 47 miles per hour in gusts, and thundershowers which dumped a little more than half an inch of rain on the city, apparently no serious damage resulted here from Tuesday evening's severe storm.

Trees were blown down and branches ripped off at several places in the city and some trouble was experienced in telephone calls to the Witoka area.

Some distortion to TV signals was reported during the height of the storm about 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

ALTHOUGH THE rain in Winona amounted to .58, some other communities received larger amounts. The Weather Bureau listed a 24-hour downpour of 3.04 inches at Bemidji as the heaviest rainfall for the period in the nation, at official reporting stations.

The Twin Cities, with additional rain Tuesday night, now has received 6.44 inches during May, 4.32 inches more than normal for the month.

Strong winds Tuesday caused considerable damage in Mason City, Iowa City and Waterloo, Iowa.

DAMAGE WAS reported in a dozen communities around Thorp, in Western Wisconsin.

As much as 2.27 inches of rain was reported at St. Cloud overnight.

The heaviest violence of the storm apparently beat against the Fairbault-Owatonna area before moving into Southeastern Minnesota and Western Wisconsin.

Heaviest rain in the immediate area was .99 of an inch at Durand. Red Wing had .87, Lake City .87 and elsewhere along the river the amount was around half an inch.

Northern States Power reported a few scattered outages during Tuesday's storm with some in the Minnesota City area, others at Dakota and Dresbach and in the Glen View subdivision of Winona. All trouble was cleared by 2:30 a.m. today.

WINONA'S temperature rose to 82 Tuesday afternoon and dropped to 58 after the storm. The 7 a.m. reading was 60 and by noon it was 62.

Rochester reported a temperature range from 82 to 54 with .56 of an inch of rain and La Crosse had 82 and 59 with rain amounting to .36 of an inch.

A year ago today Winona had a high of 70 and a low of 40. All-time high for the day was 88 in 1955 and the low 31 in 1931. Mean temperature for the past 24 hours was 72. Normal for this day is 62.

SEVERAL farms in the Oak Park area, 20 miles northeast of St. Cloud, were damaged by heavy winds Tuesday night. Some observers called it a tornado.

Mrs. C. T. Holroyd was hurt in a fall as she rushed to the basement of her farm home. Outbuildings on the farm were damaged, as were others on the John Elwell farm and at the John Lashinski farm.

The Sauk River west of St. Cloud was overflowing into farm lands and a small bridge near St. John's University was washed out. Farmers west of St. Cloud reported four to five inches of rain.

Three Zoning Appeals OKed; One Rejected

Three petitions for variances in the city zoning ordinance were approved, one was rejected and a fifth held over for further study by the Board of Zoning Appeals at its meeting Tuesday night.

The one denied had been made by Cliff Vierus, 1009 Gilmore Ave., who wanted to sell a portion of his lot as a 45- by 150-foot building site.

The board noted that a minimum lot area of 8,000 square feet and a minimum frontage of 65 feet is required in an R-1 residential district. Since the lot Vierus proposed to sell did not meet these requirements the application was denied. One person, Ben Sheridan, 979 Gilmore Ave., appeared in opposition to granting of the petition.

The application of Winona Dray Line for relaxation of zoning requirements to permit construction of a new building on its property at 55 Zumbro St., closer to the property line than is necessary under the ordinance was held over to next Tuesday's meeting when no one representing the petitioner appeared before the board.

Applications approved unanimously were from John Hendrickson, 1336 W. Broadway, who wants to build an addition to his house in violation of the side lot restriction; Harold Wobig, who asked permission to construct an addition to a blacksmith shop at 214 E. 3rd St., up to the front property line and John O. Rheinhard, who was granted permission to construct a second one-family dwelling on a corner lot at 475 Carmona St.

Philip A. Baumann, board vice president, presided in the absence of President E. J. Sievers. Others attending were Edwin O. Eckert, Hollis Larsen, M. A. Goldberg, William P. Theurer and City Engineer James Baird, secretary.

New Tour Service Offered Into City

"This area has so much to offer—we haven't even scratched the surface," enthused Ray Meyer, Winona hotelman, talking about a new two-day tour of the Hiawatha Valley now being set up by travel agents and the Milwaukee Railroad.

Groups from the Twin Cities, Milwaukee, Madison and Chicago are being offered the opportunity to enjoy the scenic panoramas of the Hiawatha Valley via a packaged rail and water excursion announced this week. Group tours originating in these cities will arrive in Winona by train for a completely planned visit to points of interest in the bluff and valley country from here to La Crosse.

DESIGNED jointly by the Winona Travel Agency and the Goli Travel Service of La Crosse, the trips will be conducted under the name "Evergreen Vacations." The complete trip, with meals and overnight lodging, is being offered on a reservation basis by travel agents in cooperation with the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad.

Charles Green, Winona Travel

Agency manager, says negotiations also are under way to organize a similar package tour employing facilities of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad lines. Green, one of the plan's originators, sees great possibilities for tourism in the Hiawatha Valley. He has done travel planning for people going from the Winona area, he remarked, but this will provide a long-awaited chance to bring tourists into the Valley.

A TYPICAL tour group arriving on the Hiawatha from the Twin Cities would be met at the Milwaukee depot by buses of the Winona Transit Co. at 2:26 p.m. First stop would be at the Riverboat Museum on the Steamer Julius C. Wilkie at Levee Park. Said to be the envy of Washington, D. C.'s Smithsonian Institute, the local museum has original letters written by Robert Fulton, inventor of the steamboat. Guides will be furnished by the Winona County Historical Society.

At 3 p.m. the group boards the Hiawatha Belle, skippered by Captain Ray Meyer, for a leisurely trip up the river. The Belle, entering its third full season, was designed and built especially for sightseeing and entertainment purposes. It has a five-compartment, heavy steel hull built to Coast Guard specifications, is 55 feet long and will accommodate 70 people.

The 10-mile round trip will take tourists upstream, through the lock at Dam 5A and back. Passengers can usually count on seeing at least one barge tow en route, Meyer says, as well as getting a close look at the lock and gates of the dam.

WILDLIFE in its natural state along the river baysous should provide some exciting viewing for tourists. Amateur ornithologists—bird watchers—should be especially pleased, Meyer says, for the area abounds in blue heron, white heron and other waterfowl. Passengers may even be treated to the sight of an eagle, a few of which inhabit the high bluffs along the river, using the bottomlands and waters as a lush hunting ground.

Here, too, travelers first encounter another of the trip's highlights, a carefully-planned cuisine. Supervised by Meyer's catering personnel, a sandbar picnic will be served while the Hiawatha Belle is drawn up on the beach of one of the river islands. The menu will be simple and sumptuous: Charcoal-broiled tenderloin steak to individual order and suitable trimmings.

Returning to Levee Park landing about 5 p.m., the group will board buses for a trip to La Crosse. Routed over the "Ridge Road" on top of the bluffs through the apple country around La Crescent, the ride will allow passengers to see the spectacular scenery along Winona County roads between Dakota and La Crescent before descending to cross the Mississippi River at La Crosse.

BUSES WILL arrive at dusk at the new Holiday Inn, La Crosse, where passengers will stay overnight. Lunch the following day at the Maple Grove Country Club, West Salem, Wis., will follow a free morning. An afternoon excursion will take them to Granddaddy's Bluff, east of La Crosse, for a panoramic view of portions of three states, with the Mississippi winding between bluffs below.

Following a brief stop at the Alpine Inn, the tourists will board the Milwaukee's Hiawatha at La Crosse at 3:40 p.m. for the return trip to Minneapolis-St. Paul. Local promoters are confident the new tour idea will bring many more tourists to the Hiawatha Valley and are making plans to distribute literature to clubs and groups of all kinds in metropolitan areas. It is hoped eventually that the Milwaukee system will make the tours available from points as far west as Montana, Green said.

It Happened Last Night Cannes Festival Has Carnival Air

By EARL WILSON

CANNES, France — "I am going to the Cannes Film Festival," I remarked casually to my mother, who lives peacefully in Fort Wayne, Ind.

"Son . . ." my mother replied.

"Yes . . ." said I.

"What is the Cannes Film Festival . . .?"

A brave question! We are deep in the sunshine of the French Riviera — it rained cats and dogs for a couple of days and got to be a couple of inches deep but we won't mention that, shall we? Everywhere the young starlets are posing in their stunts for the photographers. This year the young starlets may be seen in those "St. Tropez" pantaloons which are really "naked navel" outfits — pants, bare midriff, and a sort of top with a fluttery fringe down from the bodice.

"This place is another Coney Island," you are supposed to remark the first day you get here. "It is another Atlantic City, Miami Beach, Asbury Park, Grossingers, Long Beach (either Long Island or California) or Mercey Park, Ohio." It is all those—with palm trees and champagne—and a French accent.

To do you a favor, a guy sends you a bottle of champagne in an ice bucket for breakfast. It is not such a favor at that, when you look at his tab for it.

THEIR ARE cocktail parties—and movies—every few minutes, and these parties are insufferable, because there is a constant buzz-buzz-buzz and since it's in French, you can't understand one word of the terrible gossip they're probably spreading about some of the stars . . . maybe even you!

An American comes up to you (thank goodness, somebody here has heard of you!) and he asks you about the Gorgeous Mother-in-Law, and Sluggo and where is the B.W.?

"Still sleeping," you mutter bitterly.

"You know," he says, "that"

Russians Halt Berlin Convoy

BERLIN (AP)—The Russians halted an outbound U.S. Army convoy today, then allowed it to proceed after a vigorous American protest charging the action was illegal.

The convoy—four trucks, two trailers and 26 soldiers—was delayed almost six hours, the U.S. Army said. The Soviets complained that no advance notice had been given. The convoy commander said notice was unnecessary.

The U.S. protest was sent to Maj. Gen. Andrei I. Solov'yev, Soviet commander in Berlin.

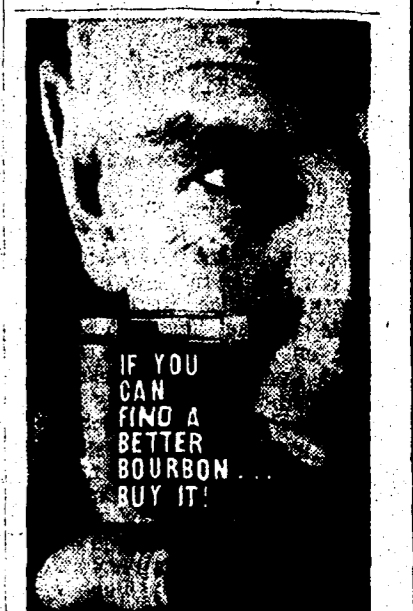

The convoy belonged to Co. F, of the U.S. 40th Armor. It was on its way to Grafenwoehr, in West Germany, for a tank firing exercise.

The last time there was trouble about a U.S. convoy on the autobahn was Dec. 1. The Soviets held it up 75 minutes, saying that its papers were not in order. After a change in the written orders, the convoy was allowed to go on.

Recreational Problems

The public demand for more recreational areas on property under control of the Army is creating new problems for the land divisions of the Corps of Engineers, according to John W. Whitver, chief of management and disposal branch of the North Central Division of the Corps who is now touring Army installations and holdings on the upper Mississippi River.

Similar action to that concluded recently with Buffalo City, Wis., under which the government-owned riverfrontage is leased by the engineers to the community for maintenance and development, is a part of the expanded recreational program for use of government-owned land. The government retains fee simple in the land, but the community is given a long time lease. All fees collected by the community from waterfront leases must be put back in waterfront improvements.

Winona does not qualify for such a program, since all of the waterfront property is now city-owned. The Army Engineers control no frontage below the Winona dam. Land adjoining the Winona dam dike is Corps controlled. The property is assigned to the Wild Life refuge for management. Minnesota City Boat Club leases its harbor site from the Army Corps Engineers, with approval of the refuge management.

However, over the nation, Whitver stated, most Army-owned land, which in the past has been closed to public use and often fenced out, is being opened to public use under the present liberalized policy of the administration. This applies to many of the reservoirs established for flood control and irrigation.

"In the last five years the nation has become recreation-minded," Whitver said. "In the past ten years, the number of pleasure boats locked through the Upper River dams has increased tenfold. Traffic jams at the locks are not unusual."

To his knowledge, he added, no move or study has been made recently to complete the second lock at each of the dams. When the dams were constructed, provision was made in the structures for a secondary or auxiliary lock. Part of this lock is completed.

Jap Pilot Who Bombed Oregon in '42 on Tour

TOKYO (AP)—A former Japanese navy pilot who raided Oregon with fire bombs 20 years ago left today for Oregon once again, this time to promote good will.

Nobuo Fujita, 51, was accompanied by his wife, Ayako, 47, and son, Yasuyoshi, 25. They were invited by the Brookings, Ore., Junior Chamber of Commerce. Fujita and his plane were launched twice in September 1942 from a Japanese submarine off the Oregon coast and fire bombed the forests near Brookings. Most Americans at the time attributed the fires to Japanese incendiary balloons sent across the Pacific.

TV Repairman Awarded $75 For Chickenpox

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Television repairman T. R. McDonald was awarded $75 Tuesday for chickenpox picked up on the job.

McDonald took the matter to court, charging Albert Morgan refused to pay him $165 he claimed due him for medical expenses and lost time after he caught chickenpox from 4-year-old Lavonna Morgan.

Morgan argued that he had warned McDonald the child had chickenpox and that he could enter the home to fix the Morgan television set at his own risk. Judge R. S. Ronchi ruled in McDonald's favor, but reduced the payment to $75.

Refugee Problem Troubling Reds

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Communist East Germany and Communist China both have refugee problems. The former acted. The latter hasn't. The failure of the Red Chinese to act is a puzzle.

One thing is obviously certain although it may not be the reason why so far the government of Communist China has taken no visible drastic steps to halt the refugee flight.

It can better afford to lose manpower than the Communists of East Germany. East Germany has only about 17.5 million people. In Red China there are about 670 million.

One of the worst advertisements for communism in East Germany—just across a frontier from amazingly prosperous West Germany—was that about 200,000 East Germans were fleeing westward yearly.

As the Berlin crisis increased last summer the flow of East German refugees was about 30,000 in July, or almost double the previous monthly rate.

In August, before the wall went up, the rate was doubling the July figure. About 2,000 a day were getting out.

Since the Red Chinese took over the mainland of China in 1949 about 115,000 Chinese refugees a year poured into the British colony of Hong Kong.

In recent months—a reflection of belt-tightening times in Red

China—the number of refugees shot up. The British, unable to accommodate this river of people, have been sending them back.

Only last April the Red Chinese leadership openly admitted that its "great leap forward" had landed in the mud, that the government had suffered natural calamities and a hanged-up economy.

The China mainland had severe food shortages in recent years and had to import wheat. Family life was demoralized through the communes. Life for the Chinese peasantry was even harsher than in the past.

Several questions arise from the flight of the refugees to Hong Kong: was the Red Chinese government encouraging such flights because they meant fewer mouths to feed? There's no evidence so far to show this.

An optimistic Westerner might like to conclude that the flights somehow indicated some dilapidation and loss of control in the Red Chinese government. There's nothing to indicate this, either.

At the very moment last April that the regime was admitting failures, there was no sign of cracks or weakness but only a determination to plunge ahead to make the system work, even if it meant more work from the people.

At the moment—despite the bad publicity it gets from the refugee dash out of Red China to Hong Kong—it would seem reasonable

Divorce Granted In Trempealeau

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Trempealeau County Court Judge A. L. Twesme Monday granted Jean Byom a divorce from Ronald Byom on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment.

Plaintiff was given custody of their three minor children. The Byoms are of Gale Town.

John J. Schneider, Independence, pleaded guilty to drunken driving and driving without a license. He was sentenced to a $200 fine plus $3 costs or 45 days in county jail on the first charge and 20 days in jail on the second count.

Who's On First? First Bass Player Natch

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—So who do you think will play first base when the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra relaxes in a softball game Friday?

The first bass, natch. That's Edward Arian.

Violinists will fiddle around in the outfield when the musicians meet a team of Seattle University students.

The "Phillies" will play (music) Thursday night in the Opera House at the World's Fair. Friday afternoon they'll tune up with the softball game.

The backsliders have appeared on diamonds in Michigan, Illinois, Kansas and Colorado. Their worst record was lost in shipment.

Jim Bradley, student body president, heads the university team. The dean of men, the Rev. Robert Rehn, is coach.

To guess that government's attitude is that it has a lot of problems and a few thousand Chinese, more or less, won't make much difference.

Judge Twesme Merits Governor's Consideration

THERE IS A vacancy on the Wisconsin Supreme Court because of the untimely death of Chief Justice Grover L. Broadfoot of Mondovi whose funeral was Tuesday.

Gov. Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin already has appointed a member of the Court to succeed him as chief justice. He is Justice Timothy Brown, who was in line because of his seniority on the bench.

In seeking a well qualified candidate to fill the vacancy, however, Gov. Nelson need go no farther than Galesville, Wis. In Trempealeau County Judge A. L. Twesme he has the man who has the record, who has all the qualifications.

THE WISCONSIN governor could not make a better selection.

Americans Blase Group of People

AMERICANS, or perhaps we had best define them as citizens of the United States, are a blase group of people.

We base this statement on the fact that Lt. Comdr. Scott Carpenter is scheduled for the second orbital flight of an American astronaut Thursday. He was originally scheduled to take off last week but mechanical difficulties forced a postponement.

Yet where is the sense of high excitement which preceded the first venture of this kind by Lt. Col. John Glenn on Feb. 20—a little more than 12 weeks ago?

ALTHOUGH the element of danger lessens a little, we presume, with each manned takeoff into space, the most amazing feats, when repeated, apparently are soon taken for granted.

What was learned from the experience of Col. Glenn has been applied to preparations for the trip by Comdr. Carpenter.

American space scientists also may have gathered some information from the two Russian journeys into space. Those, however, were launched secretly, by contrast with the full view offered the world at Cape Canaveral.

COMDR. CARPENTER will try to measure the density of space at a height of some 100 miles. He also will attempt to find out how accurately man can judge distances in space—something scientists need to know in planning the way pilots will steer spacecraft to a rendezvous and docking maneuver with an orbiting power plant. This is the method chosen for sending a manned capsule to the moon. The piloted craft will join itself to the propulsion unit in space, then continue moonward.

To get these data, Carpenter's craft will carry a multi-colored plastic balloon. As the sphere is loosed from his capsule, multi-colored particles like confetti will float out from the folds of the balloon.

The quarter-inch disks of confetti will provide visual reference points in space. They also may help solve the mystery of the luminous particles which Glenn saw.

PLANS FOR THESE experiments make the second American's voyage through space seem less breath-taking than the first. It has been said that the risk taken by the astronauts is about the same as that of a pilot flying a new jet plane for the first time. Yet risk is inherent in the work of test pilots, in space or in air.

We certainly hope interest in Comdr. Carpenter's trip will increase as the moment for blast-off draws nearer.

Wisconsin Loses Fine Public Servant

WISCONSIN HAS lost a fine public servant and an outstanding citizen in the death of Grover L. Broadfoot at 89.

He was devoted, conscientious, thorough. From city attorney and mayor of his beloved Mondovi to chief justice of the Wisconsin Supreme Court, Grover Broadfoot carried the same zeal for facts, a continuing insistence on truth and fair play.

In an age when humility is sometime bandied about as something that television figures ought to have for audience appeal, Grover Broadfoot practiced it because that is the way he was made.

THERE WAS NO mock modesty in the man, only genuine doubt that he was ready for the next task his colleagues and fellow citizens had for him. And then he'd pitch in to do the sort of job they knew he would.

Grover Broadfoot is not remembered as a man for headlines or snap judgments in the Legislature, the attorney general's office, or the state's highest court. But legislation he backed and decisions he helped to shape had the ring of conviction and solid research.

WISCONSIN over the years was good to Grover Broadfoot and he repaid her trust in full measure—Wisconsin State Journal, Madison.

Pacifists Would Disarm America

By SEN. BARRY GOLDWATER

American pacifists, who have been demonstrating against the resumption of United States nuclear tests in the atmosphere, seem to be telling us that if we go in for unilateral disarmament we can live in peace and happiness forever after.

Their argument, reduced to its essence, is this: Nuclear weapons are evil. We must stop testing them or we, also, will be evil.

Another way of saying it is that, because modern-day weapons are so terrible, we must give those annoying Communists what they want; we must lead the way to "peace" by sacrificing our implements of defense; it is better to be Red than dead.

This is a ridiculous point of view which has a fascinating appeal for those who want to be relieved of the necessity of opposing communism in a time of tough, ideological conflict. It rests completely on the hope that, if we adopt a calculated policy of appeasement, the Communists will be shamed by our high and idealistic approach into dropping their plans for world domination.

Now, let me list some fundamental objections to this line of reasoning:

FIRST, IT is not possible to continue to live in comfort and security by sacrificing our nuclear capacity and giving those annoying Communists what they want. One might just as well have advised the Jews of Europe to give that bothersome Hitler what he wanted. For the Communists are not seeking to reduce world tensions, and they are not after comfort or security. They are after absolute power. They are not humanitarian pacifists, no matter how much our wishful thinkers might want to believe they are.

Second, if the Communists come to believe that pacifism and appeasement are the dominant attitudes in America, they will push rapidly toward their anticipated total conquest on all fronts.

THEY WILL miscalculate the temper of the American people just as Hitler miscalculated the temper of the British people in World War II. And, of course, because we are not decadent, the Communists would get the shock of their lives.

In short, to convince the Communists that we don't intend to fight under any circumstances is to persuade the Communists that they can master us easily.

This is the way to provoke war. Thus, the advocates of appeasement, concession, disarmament and peace-at-any-price may bring on the very catastrophe which they dread. After having informed the world that nothing is worth dying for, the pacifists will have to die after all.

I SUGGEST that these pacifists overlook two highly important facts: Americans are not cowards. Americans understand life under Communist domination would not be worth the price of survival.

If the grim test ever comes, the American people will fight to the end in the cause of freedom regardless of whether the pacifists and the apostles of appeasement approve of the fighting.

I do not believe these Americans can be persuaded to turn decadent and forget the true, spiritual aims of life.

— BUT, OH THAT FERTILIZER SMELL —

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

No Time to Pull Punches In Estes Investigation

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The healthiest service Sen. John McClellan of Arkansas can render the American public is a complete, no-holds-barred investigation of the entire crop storage scandal with all its ramifications.

This should include not merely the Billie Sol Estes case but the manner in which the big grain lobby pulled wires to permit more rat urine and rat dung in wheat, how wheat cargoes have been "slugged" at night with hog feed and wheat unfit for human consumption; also how a whole slew of criminal convictions against warehousemen who stole government wheat was discouraged.

The public hasn't realized it, but surplus crops and their storage have recently become big business. Vast fortunes have been made overnight by smart operators, who have also purchased the acreage allotments of little more and far more than 100 family farms are sold out.

For instance, one Kansas wheat farmer, Willard W. Garvey, with his subsidiary company has collected $94,992.474 from the Agriculture Department in five years for storing wheat.

On top of this, the Garvey Farms at Colby, Kans., received $278,187 from the soil bank in 1957 alone.

This has made the Agriculture Department, with its rich storage contracts, and its acreage allotments to fix, more important than the post office as a political power.

All this, however, began long before a young Minnesotan named Orville Freeman came to Washington. It began under Truman, and really reached its peak during the Eisenhower administration.

Sen. McClellan has been very forthright against Jimmy Hoffa and missile profits, but pulled his punches when it came to probing the brazen natural gas lobby which tried to bribe Sen. Francis Case of South Dakota.

IF HE WANTS the whole picture of surplus crop finagling, Sen. McClellan could well begin by taking a look at what happened to the big wheat, bean and cotton men convicted of stealing government grain during the Truman administration. In Texas, Billie Sol Estes' home state, Secretary of Agriculture Charlie Brannan had run up the following box score on those charged with stealing government grain, cotton and beans: C. M. Handerson, Farwell, Tex.—Four years in jail and $1,000 fine, plus $1,085,000 to be refunded to the federal government.

Herman Dawson, Fort Worth—Six years in prison and $15,000 fine, with $454,000 to be repaid the federal government.

O. L. Shannon, Sudan, Tex.—Five years in jail, $15,000 fine, and $1,043,000 to be repaid the federal government.

There were other convictions, ranging from Iowa to Colorado, most of them brought under the direction of William F. Farrell, U.S. agriculture solicitor in Dallas.

BUT IN 1953, something strange happened. On March 30, 1953, two months after the new administration took over, Solicitor Farrell got instructions from the Agriculture Department in Washington: "You should not take any affirmative steps toward the institution of new suits against third party purchasers or the making of additional demands upon them until further advice is received from this office."

A total of $5,000,000 was to have been collected from the warehouse men jailed by Secretary Brannan for purchasing illegal grain. But all this stopped. Solicitor Farrell was given notice of transfer to Little Rock, and Sen. Hugh Butler (R., Neb.) introduced a bill to prevent collecting of money from those who illegally purchased government surplus crops.

The power surplus crop lobby had spoken.

At about the same time, the warehousemen showed their political power on another front—rat and insect filth in grain.

The Truman administration had adopted regulations banning wheat in which was found more than one rat pellet per pint, and more than 1 percent of weevil-damaged kernels. But when the Food and Drug Administration seized four carloads of wheat in September, 1952, as rat-and-weevil-infested, there was a howl of protest and the grain inspection order was suspended.

THIS WAS in March, 1953. A Texan, Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of health, education, and welfare, joined Ezra Taft Benson in suspending it.

It was not until two years later, that a new secretary of HEW, Frank Folsom, ruled that the health of the American people was more important than the political influence of the grain lobby. He ruled that wheat with two rat pellets per pint, not one, could get by; and that the insect infestation could be 2 per cent, instead of 1. This was twice as generous as the allowance under Truman, but a lot better than freedom from inspection which the grain lobby had put across from 1953 to 1955.

These are just a few illustrations of how the big warehousemen, the big farmers, the big commodity speculators, have been playing politics with the nation's crops up to and including the current case of Billie Sol Estes.

SMOKING MORE

CHICAGO (AP)—Measured by federal excise tax collections, smoking, drinking, travel and entertainment all increased among Americans last year.

The Commerce Clearing House reports there was a distinct drop in revenues from taxes on new cars, television sets, air conditioners, furs and other durable goods.

Collections from alcohol taxes jumped $106 million, while tobacco taxes were up $63 million. There also were gains in retailers' taxes on jewelry and cosmetics.

COLLECTOR'S ITEM

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. George Gandier had reason enough for her search, but for her helpers it was labor above and beyond the call of duty.

Mrs. Gandier missed her diamond wristwatch, a gift from her husband, shortly after the garbage was picked up at her home. She guessed the worst. She called T. A. Redding, the garbage collector contractor, and he chased down the truck which had stopped at the Gandier home. The truck was driven to an isolated spot where Mrs. Gandier, the truck driver and his helpers began the almost endless task of sifting through its contents—10 tons of garbage.

But they found the watch. "I just sat down and cried, I was so happy," said Mrs. Gandier. "Those men were wonder-

Why Not Send Troops to Cuba?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — It's a little hard to understand why the United States is sending 5,000 troops into Thailand — nearly eight thousand miles away — to help keep the Communists from extending into that country the hold they already have next door in Laos, while nothing is being done about rescuing Cuba, only 90 miles away from our shores.

President Kennedy says the American troops were sent into Thailand "to put us in a position to fulfill our obligations" under the treaty of the Southeast Asia Treaty organization, often referred to as "SEATO," and that other member countries will send troops, too. But if a regional association like this can take action so far away from the United States, it may be asked: Why isn't the organization of American States being persuaded to send troops into Cuba to rid the island of the Communist dynasty that rules there?

Surely, eliminating the menace of communism in Cuba would seem to be all-important to the security of the United States and of the nations to the south of us. It appears to be generally agreed that Fidel Castro really doesn't control Cuba but that alongside of him are a set of aides and advisers trained in Moscow who continually carry on hostile activities toward other Latin-American countries.

In the last meeting of the organization of American states, the United States government had a hard time getting acquiescence to a plan for economic sanctions against the Communist regime in Cuba. Little has been heard since as to what the Washington government is doing to mobilize Latin-American governments behind a plan to drive the Communists out of Cuba.

THIS COUNTRY has a very extensive aid program, known as the "Alliance for Progress," which is to cost the taxpayers of the United States many billions of dollars in the next few years. It doesn't seem sensible to be giving money to any Latin-American government which is so short-sighted as to fail to see the danger involved in letting the Communists operate from Cuba as a base.

Unquestionably the Kennedy administration can, if it likes, put pressure on the Latin-American governments to get some kind of sanction from the Organization of American States for military steps in Cuba.

AS A MATTER of fact, the United States need not wait for the consent of the other states any more than it did in Thailand. The Southeast Asia treaty, for instance, unlike the NATO pact, provides that when there is danger of aggression in the area, each member shall be governed by its own "constitutional processes." This is but another way of saying that each country shall make its own decision.

The United States is in a similar position as a member of the Organization of American States. It may ask for the cooperation of the other members, but it can make its own decision to protect any Latin-American country that has been invaded by a foreign power or where there has been evidence of subversive activities which threaten the political independence of the people. There is abundant evidence in connection with the Communist operations in Latin America that the Moscow government has infiltrated many parts of the hemisphere and exercises direct control of the government and the national economy of Cuba. Hence, the right under an existing international agreement to take action in Cuba is clear.

IT WILL BE contended, of course, that American troops have been landed in Thailand with the permission of the government of that country and that the purpose is to defend it alone, but everyone realizes that across the Laotian border is the real source of the trouble and that there are in Laos American military units which theoretically are only "advisory" to the anti-Communist forces but which have orders to shoot if attacked.

So there no longer is any doubt but that the United States is using military force to check Communist-inspired operations in Southeast Asia and that other members of SEATO have formally recognized America's action and may send their own troops as well. The other members of SEATO, besides Thailand and the United States, are Australia, France, New Zealand, Pakistan, the Philippines and Great Britain. Some of these countries will not send any troops.

Likewise, if there is any entry into Cuba by military forces of the United States under the sanctions derived from the treaty of the Organization of American States, it would not mean that all member countries would necessarily participate. The SEATO precedent, how-

Says AMA MAY Need Psychiatrist

To the Editor:

Arguments over "medicare" in the current Kerr-Mills program and the Anderson-King bill come from editorial writers and the medical profession who have convinced themselves that it is hard to make a firm choice.

The American Medical Association must be suffering from split personality and may need a psychiatrist. Right now the AMA is spending a multimillion to block "medicare" for the elderly under social security. But at the same time willingly cooperates in the governments "medicare" program for civilian dependents of servicemen.

According to the Army the program since in effect has cost the government $333 million. Some doctors near military bases collect as much as $10,000 a year.

The Anderson-King measure would provide up to 90 days of hospitalization and 180 days of nursing home care for retired people over 65 years, covered by Social Security or railroad retirement benefits, but would not pay any doctor bills. Every patient will choose his own doctor and hospital. This they call "socialized medicare."

People over 65 have medical costs higher than those of younger people, yet their annual income on the average is only half as large.

But how to pay high cost of illness in old age is not a problem that faces just the very poor. The cost of hospitalization for prolonged illness can wipe out the life savings of an aged couple of moderate means and can often also result in a major financial drain on their children.

Many of the insurance policies offered to older people provide only small benefits under limited conditions at a high cost, and many elderly persons with chronic conditions find that they cannot buy hospitalization insurance at all, because they are considered bad risks.

Only 78,400 persons over 65 out of nearly 17 million in the nation received payments under Kerr-Mills during the latest month for which figures are available.

SIX FOR PRICE OF FOUR

COLLEGE STATION, TEX. (AP)—To persons who like fried frogs legs, it appears that Richard J. Baldauf has hit the jackpot.

For the wildlife management professor at Texas A & M College recently found a pond wiggling with six-legged critters. Baldauf estimates that 5 percent of the pond's frog population has six legs.

His co-workers are urging him to put the oddball frogs into mass production for sale to restaurants. But the professor doesn't see much future in that, because, he points out, nature eliminates the abnormal.

And just in case you're wondering: Baldauf says a six-legged frog can't jump any farther than a four-legged frog.

ever, gives support now to a similar movement of American troops into Cuba or surrounding areas. The purpose would be to cut off all operations by Communist-led forces based in Cuba and aimed at any other country of this hemisphere. Sending American troops to Thailand certainly opens up the question of why the same kind of action in respect to Cuba isn't also justified.

Mental Health, Family Service Goals Discussed

Possible relationships between Family Service of Margaret Simpson Home and the proposed area mental health center were discussed at the annual Family Service meeting at the YMCA Tuesday evening.
Speaker and discussion leader was Dr. M. L. DeBolt, immediate past president of the Winona County Mental Health Association.
The possibility was suggested that there was a considerable area for cooperative work because of related objectives and activities.

IN DISCUSSING the need for a mental health center, Dr. DeBolt said that the mentally ill "tend to disturb or offend other people. People generally treat them as disturbers and offenders, as if they were responsible for their behavior."

"People do feel sorry for the mentally ill. However they do not feel as sorry as they do relieved to have them out of the way. Patients come to be viewed as 'impossible people' sent to institutions when their families and communities 'no longer can stand them.'"

Objectives of the mental health center, among other things, include education of society about the mental illness, readily available professional help at a moderate cost, arresting of mental illness at early stages to prevent institutionalization and post-institutional treatment.

Dr. DeBolt said that the Winona County Medical Society has endorsed the idea of the proposed center.

The state would pay half the operating costs. There are 16 mental health centers in Minnesota, with county taxes customarily providing half of the community's share.

AT THE ANNUAL meeting of Family Service all officers were re-elected: George M. Robertson Jr., president; Mrs. M. A. Goldberg, vice president, who presided; Verdi F. Ellies, secretary; and John L. Carroll, treasurer. New board members, succeeding Ralph Bolt and Mrs. E. R. Street, are Dr. George Christensen, 307 W. Sanborn St., and Frank J. Theis, 517 E. Wabasha St.

Re-elected to the board were Lloyd Osborn, Robertson, the Rev. Harold Rektstad, Mrs. R. M. Thomson and Mrs. Goldberg. Holdover board members are Adolph Bremer, Ray Hublitz, Carroll, Ellies, Mrs. Harvey Hogan, Dr. Sidney O. Hughes, Mrs. James Jerecek, Miss Josephine Kukowska, Harold Libera, J. Russell Smith and Mrs. C. D. Tearse.

Hublitz gave the nominating committee report.

Mrs. Tearse and Mrs. Jerecek were in charge of arrangements for the dinner meeting.

A budget of $14,230 was approved for submission to the Community Chest. This is $180 above the current year's. The chest contribution would be up $75.

IN HIS ANNUAL report Ben Hayenga, the executive director, reported that during 1961 73 families and 335 persons were served. Total problem count was 166.

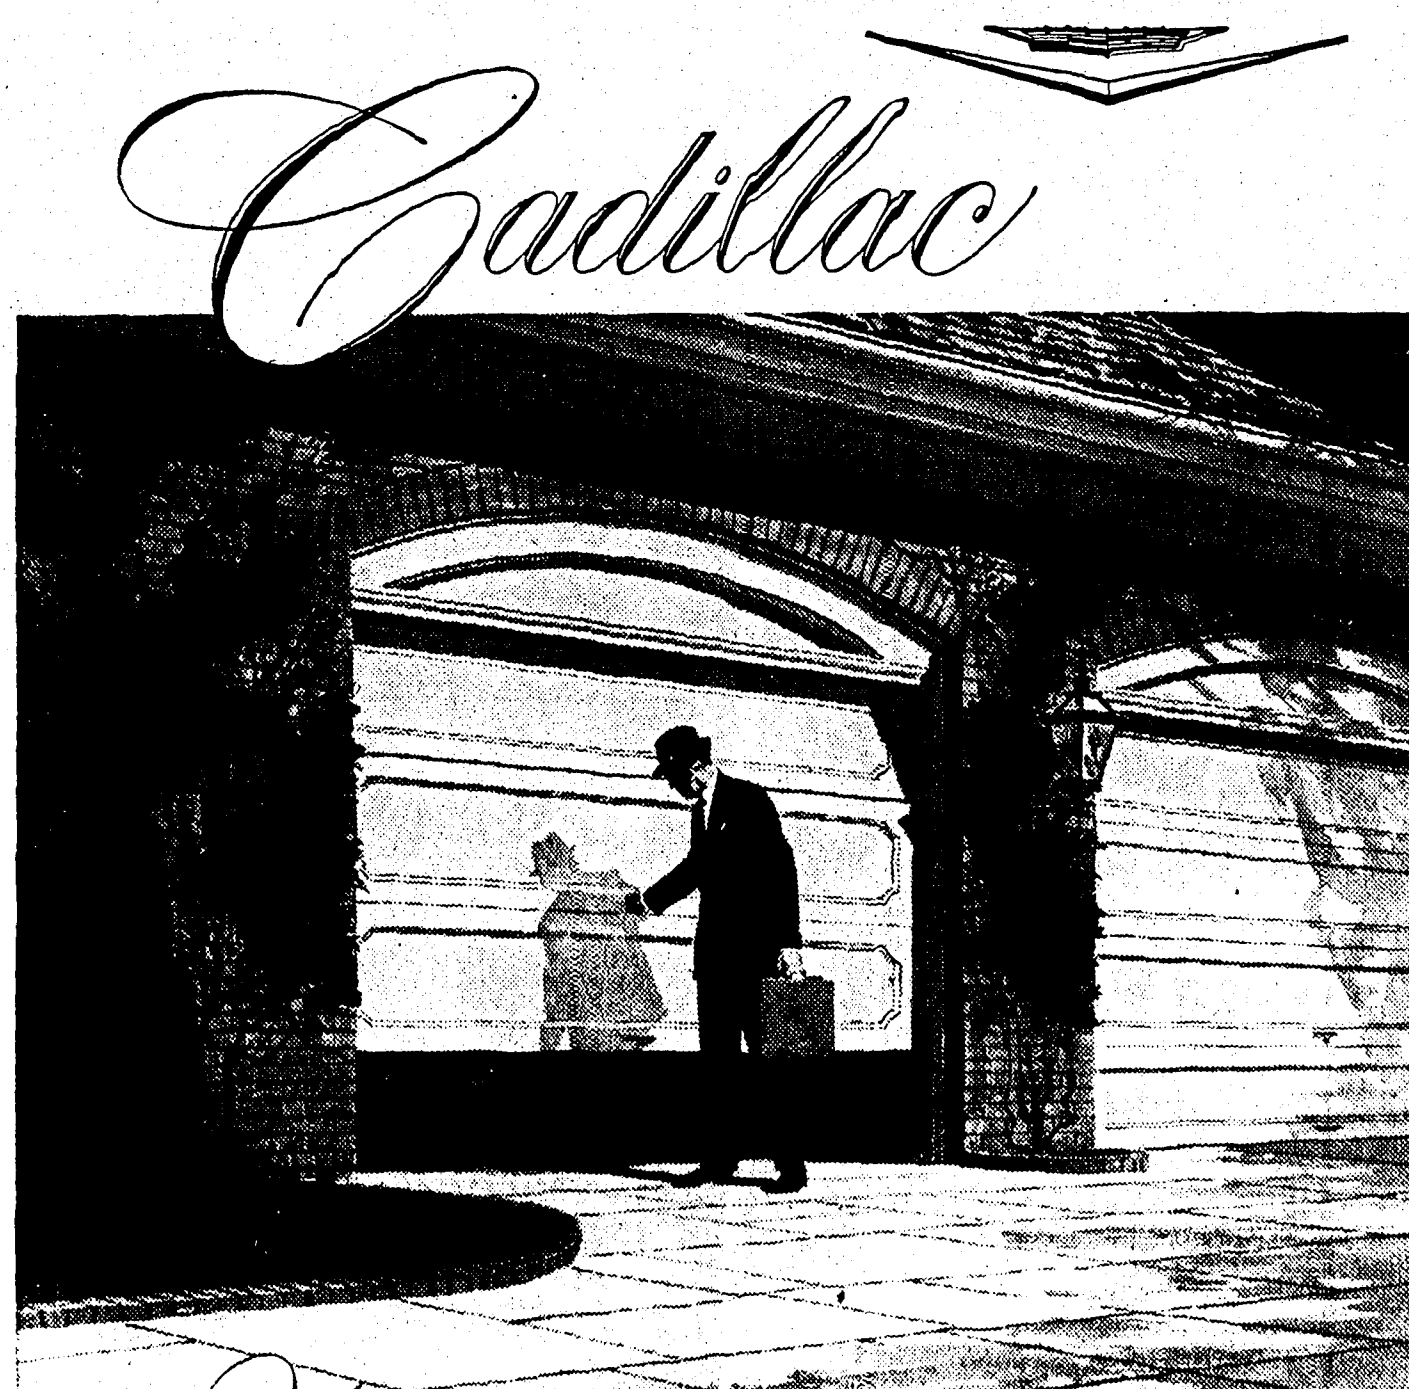

He noted, "It is not uncommon to discover within a single family unit not only marital problems, but other conditions such as personality adjustment and economic and financial pressures which arise out of poor vocational planning or poor job adjustment."

There were 243 interviews. Family groups served: 61 married couples, 3 separated, 2 single women, 3 widows, 2 divorced, one single man and one unmarried mother.

Most came self-referred. Others: Physicians, 9; schools, 3; attorneys, 16; welfare department, 7; clergymen, one, and others, 9. Hayenga became the executive director Dec. 1.

DEAR ABBY:

Forget It -- And Then

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Two weeks ago I invited five girls, with whom I work, to my home for a barbecue supper. They all accepted, and arrived at 6:30 on the dot. I worked hard to prepare everything in advance — with all the trimmings. My house was spotless, and I was looking forward to a lovely evening. One girl bolted her supper, and left at 7, saying she had to play softball with her daughter. Another left at 7:30 to go bowling. The third left at 7:45 because she had a date with her fiancé. The other two seemed embarrassed. Knowing they liked to sing, I opened the piano and tried to rescue the evening by playing while they sang. Very red-faced, one said her husband asked her not to stay late, so she left at 8:05, and the other one had to drive her home. My husband said not to let it bother me. Am I overly sensitive?

HURT

DEAR HURT: I have heard of one lemon in an office, but you must work in a grove. Your husband is right. Don't let it bother you. And don't bother to invite them again, either.

DEAR ABBY: I have a five-year-old mule named Bertha. She is a devoted animal and very affectionate. She follows me everywhere, nudges and pushes with her head and slobbers on my clothing. This makes my wife very angry. She says that either Bertha goes, or she does. Bertha is my best mule and brings in $835 a year. What should I do?

DEAR MONTANA: Get rid of Bertha. One mule in the family is enough.

DEAR ABBY: I have looked in every cook book I could lay my hands on and I cannot find a recipe for plain old-fashioned butterscotch pudding. Doesn't a recipe exist? Don't tell me to make vanilla pudding and substitute brown sugar for white, because I've tried it and it doesn't work. And don't recommend that packaged powder stuff you add milk to. I want the kind my mother used to make from scratch. Can you help me?

CRAVES BUTTERSCOTCH PUDDING

DEAR CRAVES: You need an old-fashioned cook book and I don't have one. If any of my readers has a recipe for butterscotch pudding (made from scratch) please send it to me as I am itching to help my reader. (And I'd like to try it myself.)

DEAR ABBY: What have you got against the cigarette industry anyway?

C. W.

DEAR C. W.: I have nothing against the cigarette industry. But I have plenty against the big-name athletes who tell our young people how "mild," "satisfying" and "refreshing" a cigarette is. I think we should take up a collection for athletic stars who are so hungry for money that, for a few extra bucks, they will encourage young people to smoke, knowing that it undermines their health.

BUSINESS MIRROR

Oil Industry Gets Healthier

EDITOR'S NOTE—In spite of all those oil millionaires you hear about, the industry has been having its troubles. And some close to it think the federal government has ideas that could add to their worries. In this, second of three articles on the Texas situation, Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, looks at their complaints and at some encouraging signs, too.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The oil business is getting healthier—so say bankers looking at their loan portfolios.

The industry is being crippled by federal trade policies, with a threat to national security as a possible consequence—so say many oilmen with holdings in Texas and neighboring states.

International oil companies and their supplies will be hurt by federal tax proposals—so say some of them.

And in and out of the oil business, there are some who say the real trouble—quite aside from any current administration policy toward business—goes back to over-enthusiasm during the Suez Canal crisis.

When Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser cut off Europe's supplies from the Middle East a few years back, the oil business here boomed to make up the deficit.

"We overdrilled, overbuilt both refineries and pipelines," says one Dallas business leader. "Now we are paying for it in idle facilities and a drop of orders for new equipment."

Dallas bankers say loans to the oil industry reached a peak right after the Suez crisis, dipped slightly when the canal reopened, but now are coming back in percentage of total loans — meaning more normal times in the oil fields and refineries.

Oilmen without wells in foreign lands think today's troubles could be solved if the federal government would cut oil imports further to encourage more drilling and production at home. They stress that if war should cut off foreign sources, we'd need our local capacity badly.

A tax proposal before the Congress also worries Texans. This calls for taxation of total income of subsidiaries abroad. At present only that part of earnings that returns to these shores as profits or dividends is taxed.

"Taxing all income of our overseas subsidiary could cut back our exports," says H. Neil Mallon, chairman of the executive committee of Dresser Industries, maker and exporter of oil field supplies. "This would kill the very thing President Kennedy is working for in his trade bill—increased U.S. exports."

Mallon reasons that if Dresser's Swiss-based foreign sales subsidiary is taxed on all its earnings, rather than on what it returns to the parent company in dividends, it would be hard put to compete with manufacturers in other lands where tax laws are more favorable.

The U.S. Treasury argument is that the proposed tax law would catch any tax dodgers who may be setting up sham subsidiaries abroad. Mallon says his company's overseas operations and those of most other U.S. companies aren't in that class.

Guerrilla Training Stepped Up in Central Thailand

KHORAT, Thailand (AP)—U.S. infantrymen are stepping up their antiguerrilla warfare training in the heavily forested countryside of central Thailand.

They are also being taught what the Communist foes they may have to face look like.

The 27th Infantry Wolfhounds of Korean War fame are camped in the foothills near the big Thai military staging center of Khorat, 135 miles northeast of Bangkok.

The 1,000 Wolfhounds came to Thailand six weeks ago to take part in a series of jungle exercises with the Thai army and other units of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. They were kept here when the United States decided last week to station forces in Thailand to guard against Communist military thrusts from neighboring Laos.

Another 1,000 men and vehicles and heavy support equipment, are arriving by air and sea from the Wolfhounds' base in Hawaii.

Capt. Charles T. Keaton of Morganton, N.C., the training officer, says emphasis is on such tactics as ambushing and infiltration, along with defenses against them. He said the men are also getting familiarization courses in the uniforms worn by the Communist-led Pathet Lao forces in Laos and the North Vietnamese.

No Thai soldiers are mixed with the Wolfhounds in their present camp site, however.

Col. William A. McKean, the 27th's tough commander, says his men will remain at their camp near Khorat until all support elements—including tanks and two batteries of howitzers—have arrived.

Nobody will say where they will go then.

NASON ON EDUCATION

Retarded Child Can Be Helped

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

We spend more money per child on the education of mentally or academically retarded children than on any other group in elementary school.

Is it worth it? A current study by Dr. Burton Blatt, chairman of the Special Education Department at Boston University, indicates that — in some cases, at least — it is well worth it.

DR. BLATT'S RESEARCH, conducted under a grant from the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, is establishing that certain types of mentally retarded children can be made to feel successful in school.

And the feeling of success is an important step toward increasing knowledge and skills.

Many school systems provide special classrooms or children who progress unusually slowly in school.

In terms of present spending, the programs are expensive since the number of pupils per teacher is cut in half and the budget for materials is increased appreciably.

Unfortunately, some of these special classrooms are wasted effort and money down the drain.

Many are directed by teachers who have no training in the tedious process of teaching a slow learner. Some do not have the sympathetic personality needed to get the best results from the child.

WORSE THAN THAT, many school administrators regard these special classrooms as a dumping ground for children who are not retarded but who have serious behavior problems.

But under ideal conditions—the right teacher, the right student's plus full support of the parents and the community—excellent results often are obtained.

If this special education is to do its job and improve its techniques, we need more research of the type being done by Dr. Blatt and his colleagues.

AND WE NEED the kind of teachers who are trained to take advantage of every bit of knowledge turned up by researchers in the field.

In that way, special classes for retarded children will pay for themselves by reducing the number of unemployable adults in future years.

Posse Slays Gunman Who Killed Three

WINONA, Ala. (AP) — A posse killed a would-be bank robber during a gun battle after he had slain two bank employees and a policeman and wounded two other men.

Dr. Eugene Simpson Gault, 43, a chiropractor, was shot to death Tuesday as he crouched between two tombstones in a rural church graveyard about 30 miles from this southeast Alabama town where he had tried to rob the Commercial Bank.

Officers said Gault killed Fred Flowers, 55, a bank vice president, and David Jackson, 33, a teller, during the abortive hold-up, then killed J. H. Youngblood, police officer of Troy, Ala., during a frantic flight. He wounded another policeman during his escape attempt and a civilian during the gunfight at the cemetery.

A highway patrolman, armed with a carbine, circled around behind Gault and killed him. They found $19 in his wallet.

Dr. Henry Scott of Birmingham, secretary-treasurer of the Alabama State Chiropractic Association, said Gault had been dropped from the association rolls in June 1960 for non-payment of dues.

Those aboard included 22 Navy men and 4 Army specialists.

Tense Nerves Block Bowels

New tonic-tablet laxative acts on colonic muscles... de-constipates overnight.

The muscular wall of your colon contains nerves known to medicine as Auerbach's Plexus. In regular people, these nerves tell the colon muscles to propel and expel waste from the body. But tense nerves or emotional upset can block your normal bowel habits. Your colon muscle impulses are no longer strong enough to eliminate waste—which dries and shrinks, further aggravating the condition. Relief, doctors say, lies in the non-irritating, de-constipating principle of a new tonic-tablet called Colonaid. Of all leading laxatives, only Colonaid

Durand Catholic Parish Closing Two-Year High

DURAND, Wis. — The two-year high school of St. Mary's Catholic parish will not reopen next fall. A critical shortage of qualified nuns to teach contributed to the closing. Enrollment presently is 40, with five teachers. Crowding of the remaining eight grades also will be relieved. Children will transfer to Durand Unified School or Sacred Heart of Lima School. St. Mary's parish now will adjust its building program to eight grades. If contributions warrant, a new school could be started next year. Catholic education began at Durand in 1886. The high school department, opened in 1931, is closing on order of Bishop John B. Treacy, La Crosse.

Russ Cosmonaut Draws Large Crowd in Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Soviet cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin delivered an uneventful hour-long address today at Waseda University, where leftist students badgered U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy last February. Conservatives Out to Beat Rockefeller

By JAMES DEVLIN
NEW YORK (AP) — A newly formed Conservative party is stepping up efforts to unseat Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., this fall.

It says it intends to run "Taft-type" candidates against them on the ground that they are too liberal politically to represent traditional Republicanism.

The registered Republicans who head the new party are pushing their campaign by mail and organization tours through the state.

Rockefeller, a potential contender for the 1964 presidential nomination, was elected governor by a margin of 573,000 votes in 1958.

With the election six months away, there was no accurate forecast of what impact the new party might have. It faces technical problems first in getting on the ballot. But it claims the initial response to the movement has been electrifying.

Leaders of the movement concede that if they cut heavily into the Republican ticket's vote, the Democrats might gain control of the state.

But they hold that this would be a temporary loss and that the Republicans would turn to Conservative candidates to win the next state elections.

The Conservatives expect to name their candidates by late June.

Rockefeller is an announced candidate for re-election. Javits is expected to seek a second term. The Democrats have not settled on their candidates.

Kieran O'Doherty, Conservative party chairman, likens the political thinking of Rockefeller to the New Deal, and that of Javits to the Americans for Democratic Action.

O'Doherty says his group endorses the principles of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, known as "Mr. Republican."

"We stand for the old virtues of self-reliance in the Republican tradition of the last 100 years," he adds.

Rockefeller has not commented on the state's new movement but has spoken out against what he calls "arm band" labels, such as conservative or liberal.

Law on Voters Moving Changed

Winona County Auditor Richard Schoonover announced these changes in election regulations: Change of residence within a municipality—If you move from one precinct to another within 30 days of the election you can vote only in your former precinct.

Change of residence from one municipality to another within the state—If this occurs within 30 days of election, you may apply for a certificate of eligibility to vote in your new precinct. You cannot vote in your old precinct. Apply for the certificate to the municipal clerk in your former community. In communities where there is permanent registration (Winona city), the clerk, on issuing the certificate, removes the voter's registration from the files if the voter has registered. In places without permanent registration, the clerk notifies election judges in the voter's former community that the voter has moved and that a certificate has been issued.

A person qualified to vote in an election who has not lived in his new precinct 30 days preceding the election, may qualify to vote in the new precinct by obtaining a certificate of eligibility from the municipal clerk in the voter's former community. The voter should give this certificate to election judges in the new precinct. The voter cannot get this certificate from the clerk on election day or the day preceding.

Twins Near Top; Boston Next

BOSTON (AP) — The Minnesota Twins were in Bean Town today with good chances of knocking off the Boston Red Sox and capturing their third road trip series.

After making it a two-game sweep against Washington Tuesday night, 6-5, Minnesota was virtually tied with the New York Yankees for first place in the American League. New York was 13 percentage points ahead.

On their current eastern swing, the Twins have swept two-game series from Detroit and the Senators and broke even in four games against the Yankees.

Now, it's the once-feared Red Sox, who repose in ninth place, 8½ games back of the leaders.

In the first encounter, Twins Manager Sam Mele plans to send Joe Bonkowski (3-2) against the Red Sox' Earl Wilson (0-1).

Ray Moore starred in relief for the Twins Tuesday night, entering the game with two on and one out in the eighth. The hard-pumping veteran forced the next two batters to pop up. In the ninth, Jim Piersall led off with a single but never got farther than first base.

Moore got credit for the victory, his third compared with one defeat.

Lennie Green led the 12-hit Twins attack with three blows including his fifth homer of the year.

Gerry Zimmerman held up his end of things as replacement for ailing catcher Earl Battey. Zimmerman was two-for-three, scored twice and knocked in a run, as the Twins bunched all their runs in the second and third innings.

FOUR-MAN 1-HITTER

Yanks Triumph 2-1 in 12th

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Even for the New York Yankees, who have scored victories of all kinds in their long parade of success, a 12-inning, four-man one-hitter is a new way to win.

The Yankees staged that dramatic little gem Tuesday night, edging the Los Angeles Angels 2-1 and recapturing a slender lead in the American League race.

Whitey Ford, the stylish left-hander, played the lead pitching role with seven hitless innings before he was forced to retire with a strained back muscle. Jim Coates kept it going until one was out in the ninth when Bob Rodgers singled for the lone Angel hit, then Bud Daley went two and Bob Thurley bled the 12th.

The Yanks got eight hits and 10 walks—seven of them intentional—all off four Los Angeles pitchers but had to squeeze out their runs, both of which scored on sacrifice flies by Elston Howard. Rookie Joe Pepitone had three of the New York hits and set up both runs while Roger Maris, the Yankees' walking man in the absence of the ailing Mickey Mantle, drew five passes—four of them intentional—for a one-game major league record.

By winning the Yanks took over first by 13 percentage points over the Minnesota Twins, who outlasted Washington 6-5. Baltimore, with pitcher Milt Pappas and slugger Jim Gentile supplying the power, beat Cleveland 4-1 and dropped the Indians from first to third, ½ game off the pace. Kansas City pinned the eighth straight loss on Boston, 5-1 in the only other AL game scheduled.

The Angels jumped ahead of Ford and the Yankees in the first when Albie Pearson walked, stole second, took third on a ground out and scored on Steve Biko's fly. Dean Chance blanked the Yankees until the sixth, then Tom Tresh walked and came around on a single by Pepitone, an intentional walk to Maris and Howard's first scoring fly.

Turned back by relievers Ryne Duren, Jack Spring and Tom Morgan through the 11th, the Yankees finally broke it open in the 12th with Pepitone again the key. The reserve outfielder tripled with one out and after intentional walks to Maris and Hector Lopez, Howard led a fly to right. Lee Thomas made the catch near the foul line, wheeled and made a good peg home—but too late to head off Pepitone.

Pappas, now 5-2, provided all the margin the Orioles needed when he homered with one aboard in the fifth inning against Cleveland starter Jim Perry and Gentile connected for a pair, giving him 12 for the year and a tie for the major league lead. Pappas has three hits this season—all homers.

After surviving several jams, the youthful right-hander gave way to Hoyt Wilhelm in the seventh following a double by Bubba Phillips. The knuckleballer never uncorked a wild pitch and was tagged for Jerry Kindall's scoring double, but held the Indians hitless thereafter.

Cleveland went without a homer for the first time in 10 games, managing only five hits.

Dave Wickham was the winner over the Red Sox in his first big league start with able support from Kansas City rookies Diego Segui, Manny Jimenez, George Alusik and Jose Azcue. Wickham, a relief specialist up to now, gave up five hits and no walks in eight innings, then Segui retired Boston in order in the ninth.

Hitting flash Jimenez swatted a two-run homer off Galen Cisco in the first, later added a single for a 2-for-2 day that increased his average to .383. Alusik had a triple and double, and Azcue a run-scoring double.

WINONA MILK LEAGUE CHAMP

Winona Milk captured a roll-off for the Monday Night League bowling title at the Winona Athletic Club Monday by eight pins over Ed Buck's Camera. Winona Milk shot 2,819, Buck 2,811.

Ray Pozane blasted 611 for the losers. Lorn Kriehar had a 232 single for Winona Milk.

Riley, Creed Lead Southern

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A talkative Texan and a taciturn Louisiana were casting ominous shadows over the field today as the Southern Women's Amateur Golf Tournament entered the quarter-final round.

Perky Poley of Fort Worth and quiet Clifford Ann Creed of Alexandria, La., will be hard to stop short of Saturday's finals.

The handwringing started going up on the wall in Tuesday's first round, when both Miss Riley and Miss Creed won with ease. It wasn't their mastery of their opponents that started people shaking their heads. It was their mastery of the tough James River course.

For the 11 holes she played in an 8 and 7 blitz of Mrs. Harry Webb of Huntsville, Ala., Miss Creed was even with par. For the 13 she went in a 7 and 5 route of Mrs. Donald Holman of Metairie, La., Miss Riley, the defending champion was just one stroke over regulation.

Miss Riley's toe in the quarter-finals was Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore. Miss Creed met 21-year-old Marica MacLachlan of St. Petersburg, Fla.

The tournament medalist, Mrs. W. K. Stripling Jr. of Fort Worth, was paired with Mary Patton Janssen, Virginia women's champion from Charlottesville.

Pipers Tip Redmen 6-5 to Tie for Title

Score Six In Second

By AUGIE KARCHER
Daily News Sports Editor

A six-run second inning which started with back-to-back triples and was marked by a three-base error with the bases loaded propelled Hamline of St. Paul to a 6-5 victory over St. Mary's at Terrace Heights Tuesday.

So the Pipers wind up with a 5-3 record in the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference and a tie for first place with Concordia.

ST. MARY'S had the same goal—a tie title, but stingy pitching by starter George Wilkie and reliever Rog Hagstrom limited the Redmen to four hits. They turned one of them, two errors and two walks into a four-run third inning but could never get the tying run as Hagstrom hurled one-hit ball after taking over in the fifth inning.

The Piper burst came at the expense of Jim Harens. He was charged with all six runs, only three of them earned, and six hits in the 1½ innings he worked. Tom Von Holtum, who won Saturday with a five-hitter, came on with two out in the second, retired the side and allowed only four singles thereafter.

"I thought we could win this game," said Redmen Coach Max Molock. "But you have to hit the ball to win and we didn't. Our seniors didn't come through for us today."

Hamline, now 7-3 for the year overall, opened the second with Don Holji tripling to right center. Bob Groth brought him home with a three-bagger to left center and then scored on a left pitch by Harens.

Three straight singles by Dave Cartwright, Don MacKenzie and Karl Preuss produced a third run. Scalise getting Preuss on a run-down in the second and first for the second out. But two straight walks loaded the sacks and all three scored when Bill Nelson's deep fly to left field was dropped by John Chmelik.

MOLOCK BROUGHT in Von Holtum and he got Holji, 10th batter of the inning, on a pop-up to third. Von Holtum gave up a single in the third, another in the fourth and retired nine straight men before issuing two walks in the seventh and two hits in the eighth. Each time he pitched his way free.

St. Mary's opened his big inning with Wilkie walking Von Holtum, one of seven bases on balls by Hamline pitchers. He took third when Al Wilkie booted Scalise's bounder to second. Allaire grounded to short and Nelson turned into a double play. Von Holtum scoring, Chmelik kept the rally alive by sending another ground er through Wilkie for Al's second error of the inning.

Harens worked his way to a pass and Chmelik stole third on his own. A wild pitch brought Chmelik home.

JUSTIN Zalecki, Redmen third sacker, caught off a Wilkie fast ball and lofted it on the wind far over right fielder Holji's head for a two-run homer. Wilkie fanned Jim Clarkin to end the inning, the only strikeout of the game by St. Mary's men.

Mike Mills doubled in the fourth frame and Von Holtum walked. Scalise sent a ground to the mound, but Wilkie, trying for the force at second, pulled Nelson off the bag and the bases were loaded with one out. Mills scored on Allaire's sacrifice to center but that was all the damage the Redmen could do.

Bambenek 2nd In Shot, 4th In Discus Throw

AUSTIN, Minn. (Special) — Jim Bambenek captured second place in the shot put and fourth place in the discus throw Tuesday as the Big Nine Conference was able to complete only three events in its annual track and field meet here.

Heavy rains, which measured 1.88 inches, washed out the finals and forced re-scheduling of the remaining events for 8 p.m. Monday. The track was under several inches of water and resembled lanes of a swimming pool, observers said.

Bambenek tossed the shot 50 feet, 4 inches, losing to Red Wing's Kalmor Grönval who whipped it out 53 feet, 3 inches.

Jeff Brooke of Albert Lea won the discus throw with a toss of 151 feet. Bambenek's official best toss was not known.

Albert Lea also took the broad jump which Lowell Syverson won with a mark of 20 feet, 11 inches. No Winona placed.

Eight boys are still in the running in the half-completed high jump and pole vault. Winhawks Jerry Foster and Merlyn Brekke are still in the high jump, now at 5-4, and Rich Karnath and Gary Nisslake in the pole vault at 9-6.

Chuck Deedrich qualified in the high hurdles, but the Hawks were blanked the lows, the 100- and 220-yard dash preliminaries.

Winhawk Bees Bow to Rockets
Rochester's "B" squad handed the Little Winhawks a 2-0 defeat here Tuesday.

One bright spot of the day for the Hawks was the two double plays they pulled off. Ken Aune had two hits for Winona including a double. He was the only player in the game with two hits or one of the extra base variety.

Strand Gets Only Safety

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Writer

If Tuesday could be used as a measuring stick for the future, Winona High School's baseball team could be in for trouble.

The Winhawks bowed to Rochester, which kept its Big Nine title hopes alive, 3-0 and the pitching of Ron Bowman and Bill West, both sophomores, was something to see.

BOWMAN WORKED the first four innings and pitched perfect baseball. Only 12 Hawk batters faced him and six of them went down via the strikeout route.

West was nearly as good. After coming on in the fifth he preserved the perfect game for two outs. Pat Boland finally broke the spell as he drew a walk.

In the sixth inning Leo Strand, who has had his trouble with the bat all season, fouled off several pitches before looping the ball into right field for Winona's only hit of the day. Strand Wedul hit into a force play to end the inning.

Jim Gunn, touched for six hits in going the distance, was nearly as good for Winona. Rochester scored twice in the third inning on what could have been an out.

KEN QUANDT led off the inning with a single for the Rockets, Gunn got Mike Shay to fly out to center field. Tom Bishop, after taking two pitches, banged a sharp liner to center. Bob Grausnick had trouble finding the ball and it went over his head for a home run and Rochester had two runs.

The weather was anything but ideal for baseball. It was a dark day and dust was blowing off the field making the ball nearly invisible to the outfielders.

Rochester added another run in the sixth as West led off with a walk and went to second on a wild pitch. He scored on Quandt's single up the middle.

"There was nothing wrong with this ball game that a few hits wouldn't have helped," Winona Coach Ed Spencer, who was satisfied with his team's play in the field, commented. "We just haven't got the hitters this year."

ROCHESTER NOW can win the league crown, or at least tie, by beating Austin at Austin Friday. The Rockets could have a clear shot at the title if Owatonna can beat the Packers.

Those two pitchers looked real good today," smiled Rochester Coach Cliff Monsrud. "Bowman has had a little psychological trouble this season, but maybe he is over it now. I just brought West up from the 'B' squad for this game."

Davis Paces Dodger Win Over Giants

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tommy Davis can't break the habit. But then nobody's sending him for a cure.

The 23-year-old Los Angeles outfielder, who has gotten into the habit of gorging himself on San Francisco pitching, belted a decisive two-run homer against the Giants for the second game in succession as the third-place Dodgers knocked off the National League leaders 5-1 Tuesday night.

Davis hit a two-run shot for a 3-0 lead Monday night, driving in the runs that proved to be all the Dodgers needed in an 8-1 triumph. Tuesday night he tagged a two-run blast in the fourth inning that snapped a 1-1 tie and sent the Dodgers out front to stay.

Davis now has eight hits in 16 at-bats against San Francisco this year—a neat .500 average—and 11 runs batted in for the four games with the Giants.

The defeat, fifth in seven games for the Giants, cut their edge over the Dodgers and second place St. Louis to 2½ games. The Cardinals remained percentage points ahead of Los Angeles, extending their winning streak to six games by whipping Philadelphia 6-2 behind Bob Gibson's four-hitter.

Fourth-place Cincinnati nipped Milwaukee 3-2 in 11 innings. Chicago's Cubs defeated Pittsburgh 3-1 and Houston beat the New York Mets 3-2 in other games.

Jim Giffman's single following a sacrifice, scored the Dodgers first run in the third, but the Giants tied it in the sixth on a double by Willie Mays and Chuck Hiller's single. In the Dodger sixth Willie Davis singled with one out and Tommy Davis tagged his 10th homer off Jack Sanford.

Stan Williams (3-1), who allowed only three hits for eight innings, got credit for the victory with relief help from Larry Sherry after the first two Giants singled in the ninth.

Gibson (6-2) had a two-hitter going until the ninth when Tony Taylor singled and Johnny Callison homered, snapping a string of 21 scoreless innings by the Cardinals' right-hander. Three errors by the Phils contributed to their fourth straight loss as Bob Wine had throw and a dropped fly by Billy Klaus with the bases loaded gave St. Louis three runs. Paul Brown (0-1) took the tough loss.

Don Cardwell (1-4) took care of the pitching for the Cubs with an eight-hitter while George Altman drove in all the runs with a two-run homer in the fourth and a run-producing single in the fifth. Cardwell didn't walk a man, retiring 13 Pirates in order at one stretch before Pittsburgh scored its lone run in the eighth on singles by Bill Mazeroski, Dick Groat and Bob Skinner. Bob Friend (4-3) lost his fourth in a row.

Roman Mejias got the Colts their first run in the fourth with a homer and Norm Larker accounted for the decisive runs with a two-run triple in the eighth. That gave the victory to Dick Farrell (4-3). Farrell scattered 10 hits, working out of a ninth inning jam by getting Elie Chacon to ground out after singles by Charlie Neal, Felix Mantilla and Richie Ashburn scored one run. The loser was Jay Hook (3-3), who also went the route.

Appendicitis Strikes Hornung

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Paul Hornung, the Green Bay Packers football star, is in a Kansas City hospital with an apparent attack of appendicitis.

Dr. D. M. Nigro reported Hornung is undergoing a test series to determine the exact trouble. He is in fair condition.

Hornung, an Army corporal stationed at Ft. Riley, Kan., was in Columbus, Ohio, over the weekend to serve as best man at the wedding of Ralph Guglielmi, New York Giants quarterback. He became ill Monday night after he checked in at a Kansas City hotel on the return trip.

Lake City Tips Hawk Golf Team

LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special)—Lake City defeated Winona High by six strokes Tuesday in a dual golf meet, the final two-way meet of the season for Coach John Pendleton's Winona team.

Medalist was Jim Huettele of Lake City who shot a 36. Greg Hilde of Winona was low with a 40. Winona's Fred Benning parred four of the five holes but put a ball into the crotch of a tree on the third hole, lost one to a moving lawn mower on No. 4, hit a tree and bounced out of bounds on No. 5 and had a near impossible lie in bushes on No. 8.

Winona competes Saturday in the Big Nine golf meet.

NO TAX RECORDS

Air of Mystery In Paret Probe

NEW YORK (AP)—An air of mystery hung over the committee room today as the joint legislative probe into the death of Benny (Kid) Paret entered its third and final session.

Two questions are foremost in the minds of the investigators:

1. Where are the income tax records of Paret's manager, Manuel Alfaro?

2. What happened to $35,000 Paret was alleged to have been carrying when he left Las Vegas last year after a fight with Gene Fullmer?

"We must have those tax records to show us whether Alfaro is indeed the benevolent patron of fighters who claims he never made any money out of boxers until Paret became champion," said committee chairman Hayward Plumadore.

Observed Joseph F. Saviero, committee counsel:

"We want to know what happened to the $280,000 Paret earned between 1958 and 1962."

Alfaro testified Tuesday that he understood Paret carried $35,000 in cash when he headed for Miami after the Fullmer fight.

"Benny didn't want to put the money in the bank and so I told him to hide it behind the end of a drawer in his wardrobe," Alfaro testified. "Whether he did or not, I don't know."

Paret died on April 2 of injuries he sustained in a middleweight championship bout with Emile Griffith in Madison Square Garden. The committee is holding the hearings to determine if boxing as a sport should be outlawed in New York State.

Alfaro had been asked to bring his tax records with him. When he appeared empty-handed, he was ordered to produce the records at an executive committee meeting on June 13.

He said he had phoned his accountant numerous times and left messages but that he hadn't heard from him.

Griffith Signs Against Dupas For Crown

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—"Now I'll prove I'm the best," Ralph Dupas said as he signed for a July 13 bout in Las Vegas with welterweight champion Emile Griffith.

"It's just great," Dupas told Times-Picayune sports writer Ed Devenport in a telephone interview from Miami, Fla., Tuesday.

It's Dupas' first crack at the welter crown, although he has been one of the top contenders in the division for several years.

The bout will also be the first for Griffith since the ill-fated match in which he knocked out Benny (Kid) Paret March 24 in New York. Paret died 10 days later.

Dupas doesn't think the Paret tragedy will affect either Griffith or himself.

"It's a funny thing about a fighter. You sort of forget everything once the bell rings. All those kind of things must be running through your mind before the fight, even when you're sitting in the corner. But once you hear the bell...well you just don't have time to think then."

The 26-year-old New Orleans native earlier this year threatened to hang up his gloves if he didn't get a crack at the welterweight title by the end of 1962.

Eau Claire Tops Lowly Minot 8-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Grand Forks Chiefs swept a doubleheader from the Aberdeen Pheasants Tuesday night to regain the top rung of the Northern League from idle Winnipeg.

Eau Claire took an 8-0 shutout from tailender Minot in a game shortened to five innings by rain. Heavy weather also forced postponement of St. Cloud at Winnipeg and Bismarck-Mandan at Duluth-Superior.

The Chiefs put 13 hits together with a dozen bases on balls to swamp Aberdeen 18-9 in their opener, then came back for a 6-4 victory in the nightcap, shortened to five innings by the league curfew.

Dave Eilers, making his first start, gave up only a bunt single in hurling the six-inning shutout for Eau Claire.

Higginbottom MV Badger Cinderman

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Wisconsin's standout sophomore quartermiler, Elzie Higginbottom, was named Tuesday night as the Badgers' most valuable track man during the 1962 season, which saw Wisconsin take the indoor title and finish second outdoors.

Tom Creagan of Rockford, Ill., a middle distance runner, was picked as captain for the 1963 season.

KAGE Kats Clip Slick Chicks 17-0

Winona's KAGE Kats pounded out 20 hits in bombing the Slick Chicks 17-0 in a final-inning women's softball action at Athletic Park Tuesday night.

Betty Voss allowed just two hits in gaining the win. Janet Wiczoruk took the loss.

Jan Lubinski belted four hits for the winners and Gretchen Kohler, Sharon Keller and Yvonne Carpenter all had three safeties.

Next action for the Kats comes against Rollingstone at 5:30 p.m. Friday at Athletic Park.

was due to land about 25 minutes later.

The plane then disappeared from the FAA surveillance radar at Kansas City.

About that time, too, Mrs. Carl Jones, wife of the postmaster at Cincinnati, Iowa, saw a bright blue flash in the sky. Others saw it, too.

Residents of this farm country disagreed about the sound that followed. Some described it as a popping sound, others as a loud explosion.

Mrs. Junior Rollins, 35, a farm wife from just north of here, said she heard a large clap, like thunder, just after a storm had passed over the area.

She looked out the door and stars were shining from a clear sky, she said.

The Weather Bureau said squall lines packing winds up to 80 miles an hour were pounding through the Kirksville area about the time the plane was lost on the radar screen.

Two Centerville men, Jack Morris and Leo Craver, found the first piece of wreckage on Highway 60 about five miles south of Centerville. It was a curved piece of metal.

They brought it to the police station. Officers phoned the highway patrol and were told a Continental plane was missing.

Search parties set out and found a trail of bits and pieces of debris. The trail led in a southeasterly direction over the Iowa line and into Missouri.

Here and there the searchers found reminders of what they knew must be ahead—a door bearing a picture of an eagle, Continental's emblem, sandwiches and an inner door, probably the emergency exit, with the legend: "To be opened on takeoff and landing."

The trail covered a distance of about 20 miles.

It ended in a pasture where Lester Cook and his son, Ronnie, 17, saw the fuselage in the first light of dawn.

The crash was the first involving fatalities on a Continental Airlines plane in the company's 28 years of operation.

It was the second involving a 707 jet since the first of the year. An American Airlines 707 crashed in Jamaica Bay, N.Y., last March 1, taking the lives of 95 persons.

Temporary morgues were set up in a garage in Janesville, a small community just south of the Iowa line.

The plane was Continental's Flight 11 en route from Chicago to Kansas City and Los Angeles with 37 passengers and a crew of 8.

It apparently broke up over Centerville, Iowa, about 20 miles north of here.

The fuselage lay undiscovered in a clover field on a farm, operated by Perry Bonnell, from about 9:40 p.m. (CST) when it vanished from a radar surveillance screen until after dawn.

Dewey E. Ballard, air carrier operations inspector for the Federal Aviation Agency at Kansas City, viewed the fuselage this morning and said it appeared to have been broken up "by some tremendous force."

"This tremendous force," said Ballard, "might have been a tornado or extremely heavy turbulence."

damage 10 cars as oozy mud engulfed them on a parking lot. Orunville had about three inches of rain in less than 24 hours.

St. Cloud, 60 miles north of the Twin Cities, had 2½ inches of rain in about three hours, with most streets running curbside at height of the storm. The flash flood poured water more than six feet deep into an underpass on Highway 23 in the city and firemen had to use boats to rescue some stalled motorists.

Winds up to 55 miles per hour fanned the cloud mass into the Twin Cities, bringing torrential rain and dropping the temperature 12 degrees, in one hour.

Police and firemen in both Minneapolis and St. Paul, as well as most of the suburbs, were swamped with emergency calls as trees were flattened and flash floods built up on many low streets and boulevards.

Power and telephone lines were cut in several sections and some squads had to stand guard over live wires until repair crews arrived. Sharp lightning also started several house fires.

Clarence P. Gagne, his wife and 10 children, fled to the safety of their basement before losing the roof of their new home in New Brighton. At Farmington, the 4-H Club building was blown down and the St. Paul Rod & Gun Club in Dakota County lost its roof.

KTCA, educational television station operating on Channel 2, was forced off the air for four hours because of a power failure due to the storm.

Violent Winds Lash Wisconsin

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Violent winds ripped at northwestern Wisconsin with tornado fury Tuesday night, damaging several homes, flattening a number of barns and sheds and causing injury to at least one person.

Hardest hit of the dozen or so communities hit by the storm was the area around Thorp in Clark County, east of Chippewa Falls. Some residents there called it a tornado although weather observers had no reports of a funnel cloud. But five tornadoes were reported in neighboring Minnesota.

The Clark County sheriff's office said there were indications that 12 or 13 barns and sheds were demolished.

One man, as yet unidentified, was taken to a hospital at Stanley.

The brunt of the storm hit three miles south of Thorp about 11 p.m. The savage wind was accompanied by rain and lightning.

At Sparta in Monroe County, the wind ripped down many trees and utility poles, disrupting telephone service.

Falling trees smashed through the roofs of the Earl Nelson and Gilm Gustad homes at Sparta but not one was reported injured.

The storm apparently sped eastward across Wisconsin as a series of line squalls, raging one behind the other, hit the western edge of Wisconsin about 9 p.m. The first of the squall lines extended from Superior on the north all the way to the extreme southwest corner of the state.

Trees and branches were knocked down at La Crosse during a storm in which about a third of an inch of rain fell. A television station was put off the air several times as winds screamed at more than 50 miles per hour and gusted at 62 miles per hour.

Portions of the western part of the state had been under tornado warnings from about 3 p.m. but the alert was lifted at midnight when the line squall began to weaken.

The weather bureau blamed storms on a cold front that entered the state from the west during the night. All of Wisconsin except the southeastern area had some thunderstorm activity.

Superior, with 1.69 inches, reported the most rain. Park Falls had .96, Eau Claire .71, Wausau .44, Lone Rock .12 and Madison .06.

Beloit hit a peak reading of 90 degrees Tuesday compared with the high of 59 at Superior. Lone Rock had 84 and La Crosse 82. Milwaukee's top reading was 68.
