Primary Clears Slate In Nixon-Brown Race

By MORRIE LANDSBERG
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—California's primary cleared the political arena today for a bruising November battle between Republican Richard M. Nixon and Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown. Republicans rejected Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell's militant campaign and chose Nixon as their nominee for governor by a margin of about 7 to 3.

ON COMEBACK TRAIL . . . Former Vice President Richard Nixon is surrounded by supporters as he arrived at his campaign headquarters in Los Angeles Tuesday night after winning the Republican nomination for governor of California. He will oppose the state's Democratic governor, Edmund G. Brown, who is seeking re-election. (AP Photofax)

Korean Students Protest Beating

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—A thousand students defied a martial law ban on demonstrations today and marched on the U. S. Embassy to protest the beating of a Korean by two American Army officers. A triple row of police jeeps barricaded the front entrance to the embassy, and the students withdrew after an appeal by Maj. Gen. Kim Chin-wi, commander of the Seoul garrison. Then they split into small groups and tried to reach the embassy through alleys and side streets.

Again they were met by police, who arrested more than 100 of the demonstrators. There was no violence.

It was the first student demonstration since the May 1961 coup put South Korea under military rule. The march coincided with the Memorial Day holiday honoring the 140,000 South Koreans who died in the Korean War.

The students demanded speedy conclusion of a status of forces agreement giving South Korea jurisdiction over U. S. military personnel who commit offenses while off duty.

The U. S. Army has charged two lieutenants — Davis W. Swanson, 25, of Galesburg, Ill., and Thomas M. Wilde, 25, of Wadsworth, Ill., with severely beating a South Korean cadet stealing at a front line base late last month.

Seoul newspapers have reported two other recent incidents of Koreans being beaten by American servicemen.

Conrad Delivers Plane at Cannes

CANNES, France (AP)—Flying grandfather Max Conrad of Winona, Minn., is a cinch to win the Light Aviation Salon's cup for flying the longest distance — he flew all the way from Old Town, Maine, in a single-engine plane.

But for Conrad it was far from a record. The flight took only 32 hours and besides, he stopped in Shannon, Ireland.

Agreement On Railroad Wage Hike

CHICAGO (AP)—Some 450,000 non-operating workers of the nation's railroads will receive a wage increase of 10.28 cents an hour under an agreement which follows recommendations of a presidential fact-finding board.

The one-year wage agreement was announced Tuesday night by negotiators for the 11 unions representing non-operating workers and the carriers. It provides 4 cents an hour retroactive to last Feb. 1 and 6.28 cents retroactive to May 1.

George E. Leighty, chairman of the committee representing the unions, said of the agreement, "I think the carriers feel that it's too much and we feel that it's too little but we have reached an agreement and that's it."

The unions at the start of negotiations last Sept. 1 asked for an increase of 25 cents an hour in wages which averaged $2.42 an hour. The railroads demanded reductions in some pay classifications and no change in others.

D-Day Survivor Remembers Men Who Didn't Come Back

By REMER TYSON
Valdosta Times Staff Writer
VALDOSTA, Ga. (AP)—It was no day for a picnic. And there wasn't one.

The water of the English Channel bubbled and spat as if angry that the warriors were upon it. The gate to the landing craft infantry flopped into the salty water 250 yards from France. The man with the guideline started out through the opening left by the falling gate. A bullet in the forehead stopped his first step.

George Abood, a young medic from Valdosta, lifted up the guideline man's head. The man was beyond help.

Laden with a stretcher and medical supplies, Abood jumped into the icy water and struggled to Omaha Beach.

The Gettysburg of World War II had begun — D-Day, June 6, 1944.

As German bullets picked up more fire in the channel, Abood and his companions headed toward Easy Red — their destination tabbed with a military name filled with irony.

There was nothing easy about getting onto and holding that center strip of Omaha Beach, but it ran red that day with human blood.

Abood, now a salesman in a Valdosta clothing store, was a member of the 480-man 6th Naval Beach Battalion, a vanguard unit whose job was to clear the way for waves of foot soldiers.

For 41 per cent of the unit, D-Day was death day.

The battalion somehow made its way onto Easy Red between 6:15 and 7 a.m., then machine-gun fire and shells from the feared German 88s pinned it between two small hills.

For six long hours the unit was shown — of the enemy. The tide and other factors had delayed the infantry.

Water was at their backs and a well-trained, disciplined foe was aimed in their faces.

"You could see the enemy in the hills. They were dotted all across there," said Abood.

"We had casualties lined up along the beach. We couldn't go forward or backward. We couldn't do anything. It got rough."

Abood caught a piece of shrapnel in his body. Although he got a medical discharge later because of the wound, he was not permitted to leave Easy Red that day.

"The situation on the beach was so bad that unless a medic was hit hard, he had to stay," he said.

Abood was near a gasoline tank punctured by an 88 shell. Exploding fuel killed men all around him and set casualties on fire.

"I think the Lord put a shield around me," Abood said.

Abood, a petty officer, was in charge of eight men. Three of them died that day.

The Allied Air Force began dropping deadly loads of explosives behind the German lines, and the infantry came about noon.

Compared to the fury of the day, Easy Red was quiet that night. The Navy medic spent a sleepless night in a foxhole.

"The next day I was all shook up," he said. "I learned that one of my best friends had been killed. Abood went to a hospital in France and in February of 1945 received a medical discharge.

Later he was awarded France's Croix de Guerre.

June 6 is etched in Abood's memory.

"That day of every year I say a prayer for those who didn't come back," he said. "I think everybody should."

Kennedy Speaks At West Point Graduation

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—President Kennedy told West Point's newly commissioned officers today they must be qualified not only to fight and win wars but also to deter conflict.

Kennedy said at the U.S. Military Academy commencement that "basic problems facing the world are not susceptible of a military solution."

In remarks prepared for the graduation of 601 cadets, the President said U.S. forces must perform more than military roles in their future assignments.

He described these "as a complement to our diplomacy—as a deterrent to our adversaries—as a symbol to our Allies—as ambassadors of good will and good works around the globe."

Kennedy flew to West Point from Washington to address the academy's graduation exercises, thereby equalizing his attention to the nation's older service academies. He spoke last year to the Navy graduates in Annapolis.

The chief executive offered this counsel to the cadets:

"You will need to understand the importance of military power and also the limits of military power—to decide when arms should be used to fight and when they should be used to prevent a fight—to determine what represents our vital interests and what is only marginal. Above all, you will have a responsibility to deter wars as well as to fight and win them."

Kennedy said the wide range of military responsibilities now required capacity for a wholly different kind of force, leadership and training. It is misleading, he declared, to call this "the nuclear age" or to contend that national security rests only on a capacity for "massive retaliation."

Since World War II, Kennedy recalled, men have fought and died in Korea, Malaya, Greece, the Philippines, Algeria, Cuba, Cyprus, and the Indo-Chinese peninsula.

In all those places, he said, they have waged war without massive weapons—war in which major forces were guerrillas, subversives, insurgents and assassins.

These have been battles in which victory was bought by "eroding and exhausting the enemy instead of engaging him," the President said.

Kennedy called this unconventional type of warfare unenviably adapted "to what are strangely called 'wars of liberation,'" the terms used by Soviet Premier Khrushchev to justify Russian interference in the internal affairs of other nations.

Without mentioning Khrushchev or the Russians, Kennedy said the superior motive behind this eroding and exhausting form of warfare was to undermine efforts of newly emerging nations to achieve progress and freedom.

Beyond acquiring the ability to engage in the new aspects of combat, Kennedy said the freshly commissioned lieutenants must face equally pressing challenges in the field of diplomacy and economics.

"Whatever your position," Kennedy said, "the scope of your decisions will not be confined to the traditional tenets of military training and competence."

"There is no single slogan to guide the military," the President said. He recalled that Ernie Pyle, the World War II columnist, searched in vain for a quick phrase to describe what U.S. soldiers were fighting for. Finally, Kennedy said Pyle concluded they at least were "fighting for each other."

DEAR ABBY:

Wife Not Always Last One to Know

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend named Dora. Her husband is a "wife-chaser." Red doesn't care what he chases as long as she's married. He says it is dangerous for a married man to run around with single girls. One of them might take him seriously. When a married woman takes up with a married man, she knows it's all in fun.

Dora is a very quiet, religious type and has never caught onto Red's chasing. Should we tell her? Or should we let her find out for herself? The wife is always the last to know. She might be able to straighten him out before some woman's husband shoots him. He is now chasing me.

DORA'S FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: I don't believe that when a man "chases" his wife is always the last to know. (She may be the last to admit it.) Since Red is chasing YOU, why don't you straighten him out before your husband sees Red?

DEAR ABBY: Our son is 14 and very big for his age. We aren't the kind of people who talk openly about every subject in the world, if you know what I mean. Lately our son has been asking me a lot of questions about life and so forth. I tell him to ask his father, but his father tells him to ask me. Whose job do you think this is?

MRS. J.

Abby

DEAR MRS. J.: It's Father's job. But one of you had better hurry up and tell the boy what he wants to know or it will be like giving a fish a bath.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please settle an argument on a point of etiquette? I once read that it was acceptable for a woman to sit and embroider or knit while with friends. Recently I wanted to take my knitting along when we went to call on some friends and my husband told me to leave it home as it might be considered rude. I've seen women knitting and embroidering at all kinds of social gatherings and I never gave it a second thought. I'd like your opinion.

LIKES TO KNIT

DEAR LIKES: There is nothing "rude" about knitting or embroidering while conversing with friends. (If there is any "needing" done, at least it's done in the open.)

Common Market To Raise Duties On U.S. Goods

By ALFRED CHEVAL

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—The European Common Market will increase duties as much as 100 per cent on five classes of American products July 17 in retaliation for similar U.S. tariff boosts on carpets and sheet glass.

The six-nation Common Market's Council of Ministers approved the unprecedented tariff boosts Monday at the request of Belgium, which charged that the U.S. duty increases threaten industries in Belgium that involve 6,000 workers and $28 million a year.

The Common Market action will double to about 40 per cent of their value the duties on American-produced polyester, polyethylene, artificial and synthetic textiles and raise from 16 to 19 per cent the duties on American varnishes and water colors.

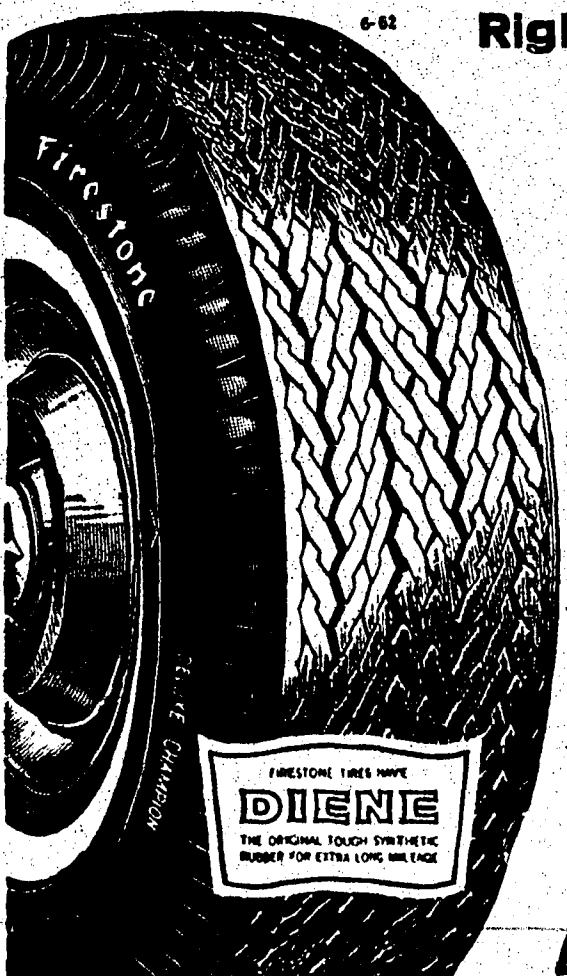

Officials said U.S. exports of these products to Common Market nations—France, Belgium, West Germany, Luxembourg, The Netherlands and Italy—total $27 million yearly. They said the difference in duty would total $5 million a year.

Under the rules of the General Agreement on Tariff and Trade, the Common Market duties go into effect a month after the new U.S. tariff increases become effective June 17.

Farmers Told How It's Done in India

Farming practices which have been followed for thousands of years are giving way slowly to modern methods. But during the transition nothing is wasted — not even bones from dead animals.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Eichmann, Wilson Township, and Roger Hackbarth, Ridgeway, received soil conservation awards.

India, a land of contrasts, is one in which nothing is wasted, Milton Maxwell told about 150 at the annual Burns-Homer-Pleasant Valley Soil & Water Conservation District annual meeting at the Oaks Tuesday evening.

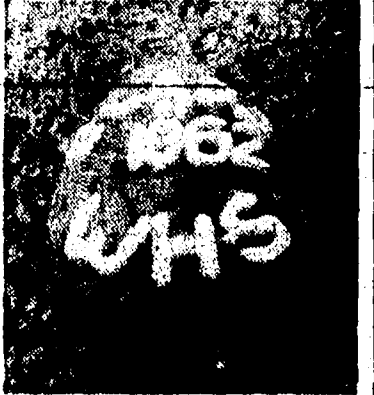

Maxwell, of Le Sueur, past president of Minnesota Association Soil Conservation districts and member of Minnesota ASCS committee, said that Indian leaders are placing an increasing amount of their resources into agriculture.

Senior Class Will Live on - On Turtle

It may take time, but the Winona High School class of 1962 numerals will get around. Just where they will be displayed and who will read them are moot points for they are inscribed on the shell of a good-sized snapping turtle.

Caught near the Goodview water tower Tuesday, the snapper was dabbed with the legend "Class of 1962, WHS" by John Van Winkle, Stockton, and Strand Wedul and Djamal Aminodin of Winona, seniors.

At regular turtle-pace, the message may be a long time getting to a mass audience. On the other hand, the extended life span of the terrapin seems to assure a degree of permanence for the inscription.

Points also may be given for originality in selection of the display site which is admittedly a departure from the more prosaic backgrounds such as water towers.

bridges, sidewalks and board fences. None of these latter eyesores have appeared locally, according to sheriff's officers, and the turtle-borne caption is not expected to create objections among the finny residents of the river bottoms.

Witnesses report the sloganeering tortoise attended the senior banquet Wednesday evening at the Masonic Temple. Not as an ingredient of the soup, they explained, but as an item of display following the proceedings.

Banquet theme was "From Here — Tomorrow."

President Tom Edstrom presided at a program. Charles Stephens, head of the high school English department, spoke for the faculty.

Judge Collects $9,200 In Fines For One Day

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — District Judge Choe Mun-haeng set a record for Korean courts Tuesday. Between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. he tried 5,196 persons accused of petty crimes, convicted 4,534 and collected 12 million hwan — $9,200 — in fines.

Crash Kills Man In Stolen Pickup

Referring to conservation practices in forestry, he said that every tree is marked for cut. It would be a federal offense, he said, for an individual to cut down any tree which had not been selectively marked.

Indians know about many of the modern soil conservation practices and they have put them to use, he said. Land that once was eroded or laid waste by goats and other animals has been reclaimed and now is producing good crops.

He said Indian leaders are spending vast sums of their money in experimental work in agriculture. While their efforts are beginning to show results, there still are gigantic obstacles.

India's life blood lies in its irrigation system, Maxwell said. They already have 65 million acres of land under irrigation and are putting more in each year. One dam alone supplies water for a million acres in addition to generating a million kilowatt hours annually.

A pathetic fact about India is that it believes killing animals is evil, he declared. Rodents and animals there eat as much food annually as India imports, Maxwell indicated. That an education of two generations would be needed before this religious prejudice could be overcome.

The size of a man's farm in India is limited to about 50 acres, he said. Most farmers have considerably less. The annual income of an average farmer is $62.50.

WILLIAM SILLMAN, Winona County SCS work unit conservationist, explained briefly how his department works with farmers in laying out basic plans that determine how to proceed on a certain conservation project. He said that more possibilities are open to farmers today (more techniques are available) than ever in the past.

Oliver Strand, Winona County agent, told the group that his agency is primarily designed to inform the public on the various soil conservation needs and practices. He referred to county extension as the "education arm" of USDA.

The function of the ASCS in relation to soil conservation work was explained in detail by Clinton Dabelstein, member of Burns-Homer-Pleasant Valley district. He pointed out how a project can be paid for with government assistance once a basic plan had been worked out.

THE FUNCTION of the area forester was explained by Cy Crawford, lastmaster. A forester's responsibility, Crawford said, in addition to guarding against loss of timber by fire, is to help farmers select timber to be cut. Foresters also give assistance in helping farmers decide which type of tree to plant in a particular area.

The R. Rev. Msgr. D. D. Tierney, chaplain at St. Anne Hospice, gave the invocation.

Entertainment was provided by Penny Engrav, a winner of this year's Winona County 4-H talent contest.

Banker Appointed By Foundation

S. J. Kryzsko, president of the Winona National & Savings Bank, has been appointed vice chairman — membership of the Foundation for Commercial Banks. It was announced at Philadelphia following the annual membership meeting there.

The foundation, representing nearly 6,000 banks throughout the United States, conducts an industry-wide national advertising program in order to educate the public about the advantages of doing business with full-service commercial banks.

Kryzsko, who had been a sponsor and Minnesota state chairman for the foundation since its inception in 1958, was elected in 1961 to a three-year term as trustee representing Federal Reserve District 9.

Wabasha Co. Board OKs Road Contracts

WABASHA, Minn. (Special) — Wabasha County Board of Commissioners Tuesday awarded contracts on five projects.

Four projects are for crushed rock surfacing. There were four bidders on crushed rock surfacing on the county road 9 miles east of Plainview. Patterson Quarries, St. Charles, bid $15,425; N. A. Roverud, Winona, $15,500; Quarve & Anderson Construction Co., Rochester, $15,875, and Roverud Construction Co., Spring Grove, $16,450. Low bidder, Patterson Quarries, was awarded the bid.

Four companies bid on 20 miles of crushed rock resurfacing between Lake City and Theilman; Patterson Quarries, $20,100; N. A. Roverud, $20,400; Quarve & Anderson, $20,600, and Roverud, Spring Grove, $21,500. The bid was awarded to Patterson Quarries.

ON CRUSHED rock surfacing on 16 miles between Lake City and Zumbro Falls, Patterson Quarries bid $19,645; N. A. Roverud, $19,950; Quarve & Anderson, $19,900; Roverud, Spring Grove, $19,900, and Mann Construction Co., Red Wing, $18,440. Again, the bid was awarded to Patterson Quarries.

Commissioners also voted to accept low bidder, Quarve & Anderson, for crushed rock surfacing on 14 miles of road in the Millville vicinity. Quarve & Anderson bid, $17,420; Patterson Quarries, $18,400; N. A. Roverud, $17,840, and Roverud, Spring Grove, $18,900.

Bids were also opened for a county-wide seal-coating project on 35 miles of bituminous highway. Highway Surfacing Co., Minnetonka, bid $22,910; Surma Bros. Construction Co., Bowls, Minn., $24,360, and Roverud Construction Co., Spring Grove, $23,055. Highway Surfacing got the contract.

APPROXIMATELY 10 delegates from Greenfield Township asked the county to sponsor a federal project which would repair, like damage on their property along the Zumbro River caused by floods this spring. Robert Dunlap, Plainview, state senator, spoke for the group. The commissioners took no action.

A contract for Franklin County, Ill., coal to supply the courthouse, jail, nursing home and county garage was awarded Riverside Elevator Co., Wabasha, which bid $13.55 per ton. Kellogg Feed Store bid $13.80 per ton.

Commissioners also authorized the issuance of 23 3.2 beer licenses to taverns, restaurants and clubs.

Last month they called for bids on a county project on 610 of a mile on County State Aid Road 11 in the Jarrett area. Opening of bids was set for June 11, but commissioners Tuesday canceled the call for bids. They authorized Wilbur Koednick, county auditor, to advertise for bids on the hourly rate for rental of earth moving equipment. Bids will be opened July 9 at 10 a.m.

REMOVING ARROW HEADS
You may want to remove heads off field or hunting arrows for one reason or another. But find they won't come off. Here's how to persuade them: Heat the head until the wood shaft within starts to char. Robbed of its holding power, the shaft slips out easily.

And just for good measure the weatherman threw in a prediction of scattered showers tonight and Thursday, mostly in late afternoon or evening.

A LOW OF 52-58 is forecast for tonight and a high of 70-75 for Thursday. Temperatures are expected to be near normal Friday with scattered afternoon or evening thunderstorms.

The oppressive humidity, in the 70-90 percent range most of the day and a high temperature of 81 made Tuesday uncomfortable in the city. During the night the temperature dropped to 62 but was up to 64 at noon following a forenoon drizzle.

For the next five days temperatures are expected to remain close to normal with precipitation totaling up to an inch with occasional periods of rain throughout the period.

Fog and cloudy weather prevailed over the state with temperatures generally in the 50-75 bracket. Lowest reading in the state was 49 at Duluth and Winona's 81 was the highest.

4-District Vote On Joining Lewiston Set

Four Winona County common school districts will vote from 8-9 p.m. June 18 on whether to consolidate with Lewiston Independent District 857, Jesse B. Justus, county superintendent of schools, announced.

Galesville TV Tower Opposed At Hearing

MADISON, Wis. — Erection of a 1,626-foot television tower 14 miles west of Galesville by a La Crosse station was strongly opposed in a hearing held Tuesday. Opponents included Fritz Wolf, a consultant of the Wisconsin Aeronautics Commission, who described the proposed tower as a "definite hazard."

OBJECTIONS registered during the 12-hour hearing included one from the city of Winona. George M. Robertson Jr., city attorney, sent a telegram to the commission saying the tower "constituted a threat to general aviation in the area."

The commission expects to deliver its findings in about a month. The Federal Aviation Agency said last January the tower would not endanger air navigation in the area.

Wolf was one of more than half a dozen opposition witnesses heard during the afternoon. He said the tower would be on a visual flight route between Chicago, Milwaukee and Minneapolis-St. Paul.

The 1,626-foot structure would be the tallest in Wisconsin and one of the tallest in the world. The highest tower now in use in the nation is a 1,676-foot spire at Cape Girardeau, Mo. Eight other towers in Wisconsin are over 1,000 feet, the highest being 1,160 feet tall.

ALSO opposing the tower were spokesmen for the Wisconsin Pilots' Association, the National Pilots' Association and three witnesses holding private pilot licenses. Commission Chairman Gerald Leonard of Milwaukee said he had received about 20 written communications opposing the tower.

Kingsley Meisel of the Milwaukee suburb of Shorewood, secretary treasurer of the Wisconsin Pilots' Association, opposed the tower because of its height and nearness to flight routes.

Under cross-examination he said the tower could serve as a good marker to check locations by pilots "because they could see it."

Earlier spokesmen for WKBT Television Inc., owner of the station, said the tower is needed for competitive reasons and said it would not be an obstacle for aviation.

LOWELL R. Wright of Washington, D. C., who said he had spent 25 years with federal aviation agencies, said the tower would have no bearing in plane accidents.

"This tower would be 8 1/2 miles from the center of the Mississippi River flight route and would be no danger to air traffic patterns," Wright said.

Flannery expects his wife, Ethel, to join him sometime this month. A son, James G., 21, lives in St. Paul.

County Slated To Accept Boat At July Meeting

A citizens committee is expected to buy soon an 18-foot sheriff's river patrol boat to be donated to Winona County.

The boat proposal is to be made at the July meeting of the County Board of Commissioners starting July 9 and the commissioners are expected to accept the boat.

THIS WAS reported today by Leonard J. Merchlewitz, Winona, a member of the citizen's committee and a commissioner representing the 1st District.

Merchlewitz said cost of the boat the committee has in mind, equipped with a 75-horsepower outboard motor, two-way radio and combination public address system and siren, should not exceed the $3,429 in private funds raised by the Winona Daily News and KWN. Thus county tax money would not be needed to buy the boat.

Operation of the patrol, including salary of a deputy to operate the boat during the summer, would be paid entirely out of the boat and water safety enforcement fund. This money, which the county has received from the state, totals $2,847.82.

April 3 the county board rejected, by a vote of 3-2, a proposal to buy an 18-foot jet-propelled boat for the sheriff with most, but not all of the cost, borne by the private boat fund.

THE COMMISSIONERS did not act on the boat proposal at their June meeting which ended Tuesday afternoon, although they did hear proposals for the two-way radio and public address system from Fred G. Picha, Winona, proprietor of Communication Service which maintains the county radio network.

Picha, who handles Motorola equipment, said orders for the radio and PA-siren should be placed promptly since it takes six weeks for delivery. This may even be longer because of factory workers' vacations.

The two-way Motorola radio would tie in with the existing sheriff-police radio network. The radio would cost $439 plus about $25 for installation. The transistorized PA-siren is a Federal brand. Picha said the radio would have enough power for use in the main Mississippi River channel along the county's entire river border.

Commissioners previously bought a 14-foot boat with a 12-horsepower outboard motor for the sheriff, together with trailer. The sheriff has not used this equipment which is stored in the county's 3rd Street garage.

The commissioners did not decide what to do with the 14-foot boat at their June meeting.

AT TUESDAY'S meeting the commissioners passed a resolution saying they will buy and maintain a car for the sheriff's use effective Jan. 1, 1963. Although the resolution did not say specifically what purpose the sheriff would use the car for, the commissioners said at the meeting the car would be for patrolling. None of the sheriff's cars are owned by the county now. Provision of a county-owned car would eliminate payment of mileage for use of that car.

The commissioners acted under a state law permitting them to buy a sheriff's car starting with the new four-year term for that office. The term starts Jan. 7, 1963.

Merchants Bank Boosts Surplus

Merchants National Bank directors increased the bank's surplus by $100,000 Tuesday night to a new total of $700,000.

This gives the bank a combined capital and surplus of $1,300,000. The directors held their monthly meeting at the bank.

President G. M. Grabow said the bank has the highest such combined total of any independent bank in Minnesota outside the Twin Cities and Duluth area.

The board made a 50-cent increase in the semi-annual dividend, bringing the dividend up to $3 a share. About 100 stockholders own 12,000 shares of the bank's common stock.

Grabow said the increased surplus would give added protection to depositors and would, under federal regulations, permit the bank to make larger individual business loans.

Altura Asking Better Road; No More Train

ALTURA, Minn. — Winona County officials took under advisement Tuesday night a request by Altura residents that the county reconstruct County State Aid Highway 33 into an all-weather road because of discontinuation of that afternoon Chicago & Great Western Railway freight service.

The branch freight line had operated between Altura and Ulica, including a stop at Bethany. The service was on a trip basis—that is, an irregular schedule depending on when carload shipments were ready.

ALTURA RESIDENTS were concerned about area road improvements because all their freight must now be handled by truck.

CSAH 33 runs about six miles from Altura to the junction with Trunk Highway 14 at the east limits of Ulica. The road has a five-ton limit now. Altura residents asked at Tuesday's meeting in the Gaynor Ballroom basement if CSAH 33 could be reconstructed to a nine-ton limit.

Representing the county at the meeting were County Engineer Gordon M. Fay and Commissioners Paul Baer, Leonard J. Merch

Change in Trial Motions Denied In Kenny Dispute

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Motions by five of seven defendants in the Sister Kenny Foundation case to move their trials out of Minnesota were denied Tuesday by Federal Judge Edward J. Devitt.

The seven were indicted in February, each on 15 counts of mail fraud and one charging conspiracy. Each is free on $2,500 bail.

Judge Devitt indicated in his order that if at trial it is impossible to select a fair and impartial jury in Minnesota, the defendants may renew their motions.

UNDER indictment are Abraham Koolish, 77, and his son, David, 42; John B. Carnell, 50, and Philip G. Rettig, 51, all of the Chicago area; Marvin Kline, former foundation director; Fred Fadell, its public relations director; and J. George Zimmerman, whose firm audited the Kenny Foundation account. The last three are from the Twin Cities.

All except Zimmerman and Fadell joined in the motion to have the trial elsewhere.

Kline is free on bond after appealing his conviction and 10-year sentence in Hennepin County District Court for raising his own salary without authority from $25,000 to $48,000 a year.

Kline and Fadell are accused of awarding contracts to Chicago mail solicitation firms allegedly owned by the Koolishes. Carnell and Rettig are alleged former presidents of some of those firms.

The five men filed their motions last month claiming that because of prejudice against them in Minnesota they cannot get a fair trial here.

Orphaned Fawn

Francis Teske, Winona game warden, did something that people should never do the other morning. He ran down a four-day-old fawn, picked it up, and took it home and gave it to his daughter to raise.

outboard motors were not exempt from taxes. The exemption is limited to watercraft belonging to Wisconsin residents and used by members of a family exclusively for recreational purposes.

Early Monday, a railroad crew reported that there was a dead deer lying beside the tracks. Milwaukee tracks a couple miles north of Minnesota City. Warden Teske, prepared to bury the dead animal, went to the scene.

A full-grown adult deer was found dead beside the tracks. When the warden moved into the grass beside the tracks to dig a grave, an animal not any bigger than a jackrabbit sprang up and started running. It was a fawn. It's mother had been killed by the train.

"I had a hard time running it down. It was surprising how fast that little creature could go. Finally I cornered it. There was only one thing to do, take it home," he said.

Teske, like all game wardens, had issued a warning this spring not to touch any fawns that might be stumbled upon in a field or woods. These hard-to-see tiny deer are not lost or deserted. Their mother doe is probably watching from nearby cover. In fact, there are laws against taking and keeping wildlife of any kind—especially fawns.

Judy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Teske, has, of course, inherited the task of all game wardens' children, taking care of the animal babies Dad brings home. That's Judy in the picture above, with the latest Teske orphan.

After passing from the bottle feeding stage, the fawn will probably join others picked up by wardens and game managers under similar circumstances and placed in the animal orphanage maintained on the Whitewater Wildlife Refuge.

Boat Tax

An important ruling affecting Wisconsin boat owners along the Mississippi River was announced by Department of Taxation, Madison, this week. Wisconsin residents no longer will have to pay personal property taxes on outboard motors or pleasure boats.

This ruling differs from an earlier informal opinion in which the department held that

Blair Man Gets Trees From His Native Land

BLAIR, Wis. (Special) — Aslak Kvaalseth is watching with unusual interest a pine tree and a Norwegian spruce which he planted in his yard last week.

The trees, measuring 6 to 8 inches, were shipped from Telmarken, Norway, by a nephew, bearing his own name. They arrived in Blair in good shape. The little seedlings were on the way more than two weeks. Kvaalseth left his native land 50 years ago.

The Brazilian seaport of Manaus is situated a thousand miles from the ocean up the Amazon River.

Boating Explosion Poses New Hazard

THE SUDDEN "boating explosion" these last few years is now posing a serious threat to the nation's recreational water facilities. Hazardous enough of itself, the situation is acting in concert with increasing water demands of society and industry and resulting in pollution.

From an average of about 125,000 boats sold in 1940, the figure zoomed to 400,000 in 1945, and to nearly 550,000 for the year 1960. It was only natural that boat ownership tended to concentrate in the choicest recreational areas such as the Upper Mississippi River, noted for good water, good swimming, good fishing.

This has resulted in pollution, similar to the situation industry and metropolitan life have brought about in the country's rivers.

One of the first to sense the implications of the new sport was Seth G. Hess of the Interstate Sanitation Commission, (N. Y., N. J., and Conn.). Interested in cutting down pollution from all sources, he came to the conclusion that some method had to be developed to deal with the discharge of human waste from pleasure boats.

FROM A SERIES of research projects emerged the idea of grinding up the waste solids and treating them with sodium hypochlorite, (liquid chlorine), to reduce coli bacteria. A tank on the head of the boat would hold the waste for an onshore treatment plant.

However, the idea was abandoned in favor of a compact chlorine treatment and grinding device suitable for installation on the boat itself, but results were inconclusive.

At this point, Edward B. Thornton, chairman of the New Hampshire Water Pollution Commission lead an offensive that culminated in that state passing its "Marine Toilet Law." New Hampshire became the first state to pass legislation dealing with pollution from pleasure boats.

The precedent led to Minnesota, Nevada, Nebraska, and South Dakota passing similar laws relating to the discharge of raw waste from boats. Legislation is pending in a number of additional states.

SOME CONSERVATION officials believe that manufacturers should install a treatment device in each new boat. They state that without such devices local ordinances will have a negative effect on the future of the industry. Their beliefs are debatable.

Another opinion exists that builders should only provide adequate space for a treatment device, making such installation optional for the owner who may operate his boat in areas lacking a pollution problem. Should he relocate his craft to waters that require sanitary measures, then he can add the necessary equipment.

LOOKING AHEAD, it is more than likely that treatment devices will become standard equipment for boats with marine toilets, just as shatterproof glass is required equipment for automobiles.

Simple New Technique To Tell Directions

A 16-YEAR-OLD boy, Robert Owendoff of Washington, D. C., has discovered a remarkably simple and accurate new way of telling which direction is north. The Army has paid $500 for the idea, and is incorporating it in its new field manual on survival in the wilderness.

The curious thing about this is that, though down through the centuries men have had a need to know which way was north, this method had apparently never before been thought of. The method involves two steps. Having thrust a stick into the ground and noted where the shadow falls, one waits a few minutes and marks the new shadow and then draws a line between the two marks. That line runs east and west. Another line drawn from the stick to the midpoint of the first line points north. As easy as that. And, according to a computer check, more accurate than a compass.

THIS SIMPLE new technique will undoubtedly be a boon to the military and to others lost in the woods. But the really interesting thing about this discovery is its reminder that even the oldest problems can sometimes be solved in new ways. "It can't be done" is often overridden by "Here's how to do it."

This is the time of year when sports shops are catching fishermen with bright new lures, and the fishing is good. Whether the fishermen later catch fish with those same lures remains to be seen.

But if there be no resurrection of the dead, then Christ is not risen. 1 Cor. 15:12.

How Do You Stand, Sir?

Public Works Plan Studied

By SEN. BARRY GOLDWATER

An enormous extension of executive power for the President is wrapped up in the administration's public works program. If adopted, it would hand the President more spending power than Congress has ever before delegated to a Chief Executive for such purposes.

In a nutshell, the program authorizes an immediate public works program of $600 million and would grant standby authority for an additional $2 billion for public works projects if the economic conditions of the country should deteriorate beyond a certain point.

The $600-million program would require appropriations from Congress in the accepted constitutional procedure for handling federal spending projects. But the $2-billion standby program would not require congressional approval through appropriation. It would merely turn over to the President and his advisors the purse-string power now held by the Congress and enable them to spend money transferred from other funds.

Under the standby program, the President would not be permitted to exercise this enormous $2-billion power until the national unemployment rate increased by 1 percent within a three-to-nine-month period.

BUT ONCE THAT standard is reached, tremendous government expenditures would automatically become permissible. There would be no possible recall by Congress, regardless of what circumstances might develop. The purse strings would not reside in their customary place, with the people's representatives in the Congress, but in the White House.

Aside from the fact that public works are not the answer to national unemployment and related problems, the radical financing authority proposed in the administration's bill represents one of the most astounding power grabs ever attempted by the Executive Branch. Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, has termed this feature of the program "incredible." And with this I fully agree.

THE WHOLE thing, I suggest, becomes even more incredible when you examine the special funds from which the President would like to draw the money for his grandiose "make-work" program.

They include funds for the World Bank, Housing and Home Finance Agency, Federal Home Loan Bank, Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp. and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

Republican members of the Senate Public Works Committee, in a minority report on the administration's bill, had this to say about it: "Apart from any opinions about the need or desirability of federal financing to provide employment, the Congress should be on notice that what is proposed here is a transfer of the power of the purse from the Legislative Branch of government to the Executive."

"Funds available for building homes in towns and cities under situations previously judged by Congress to be worthy could be transferred to sewage disposal projects, rural drainage or flood control projects, etc. Apparently even a borrowing authority of $3 billion to underwrite the guarantees of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. and $750 million to secure insured savings in the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp. could be drawn on to fund this program."

IN ALL, the Republicans pointed out, almost $16 billion worth of specific funding could be raided by selection of the President for spending on projects not specifically otherwise authorized.

But it doesn't seem to bother the President and his advisors that the funds they want to use for a $2-billion public works program were never intended for such use. Nor do they see any apparent necessity for reserving to the people's representatives in Congress the right to appropriate funds for public works if they decide the need exists.

It never seems to occur to the administration that the American people might not want the money earmarked for certain purposes, such as the guaranteeing of bank deposits up to $10,000, raided to provide new sidewalks in a depressed area.

How do you stand, sir?

'There Must Be Something Wrong With Your Farm Program!'

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

How Billie Sol Estes Wooded Minnesota Solon

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Of all the politicians shown up by the Billie Sol Estes scandal, the one most neglected by the newspapers is Minnesota's Cong. H. Carl Andersen, long a Republican power in the House.

Because Andersen is a power, he got his assistant, William B. Morris, appointed to the Agriculture Department. This supposedly helped the secretary of agriculture with Republicans on the House Agriculture Committee.

But Morris also helped himself and his former boss, Rep. Andersen, with Billie Sol Estes. This startling letter about Andersen turned up in Billie Sol's files:

"Dear Billie," wrote Morris. "You recall we have discussed the wisdom of a 'good' Republican contact in Congress. We considered H. Carl Andersen of Minnesota a good choice. Talking to him yesterday, he made a suggestion I commend to you."

Andersen's suggestion: That Billie Sol buy stock from him in a family-owned coal mine. Pointing out that Andersen "is really in a bind right now" and "this could be a good investment," the letter also reported that the congressman expected to come into a windfall.

"His brother died a few months ago and left an estate of about $100,000 mostly in government bonds," wrote Morris. "He will have his share in a few months."

THIS COLUMN, digging behind the Morris letter, has learned that Billie Sol not only purchased $40,000 worth of stock in Andersen's coal mine without receiving a single stock certificate to show for it, but also lobbied behind the scenes to protect Andersen's stake in his brother's estate.

The brother, Walter G. Andersen, suffered from shell shock during World War I and became a hopeless mental case. He was hospitalized at the St. Cloud, Minn., Veterans' Hospital as a total dependent of the taxpayers.

Yet he continued to collect his veteran's pension even though incapable of spending the money. It simply accumulated in a fund that was administered by his congressman-brother.

He explained that the mine was suddenly threatened. Legislation was introduced restricting the rights of relatives to inherit pension money from "incompetent" veterans. This would have curtailed the pension the congressman's brother was accumulating.

So the congressman from Minnesota carried on a vigorous but vain campaign in the Capitol cloakrooms to block the bill. This was acknowledged by his former legislative assistant, Mrs. Peg Murray, who refused, however to discuss the details.

"CONG. ANDERSEN is my friend!" he finally blurted, and slammed down the phone. Though interested in his brother's pension, the records at the St. Cloud hospital show that Cong. Andersen seldom visited the brother. He sent his campaign manager, Arthur T. Johnson, instead.

The pathetic Walter Andersen finally died of a heart attack last year as he stood holding a plate in a lunch line. He left $33,552 in accumulated pension money, a farm valued at $21,000, and an undisclosed investment in government bonds. The congressman has now collected his windfall.

As for the mysterious coal mine, it was developed by another brother, James A. Andersen, in Nevada. Wash. Over 90 percent of the stock is held by the family, the rest by a few friends.

The congressman sold 15 shares for a total of $4,000. He forwarded the money to his brother James, in exchange for the 49 shares of stock. But he asked that the certificates be made out in his name, not Billie Sol's.

"WE NEVER heard of Billie Sol Estes until his name began appearing in the headlines," the congressman's nephew, James A. Andersen, Jr., told this column. The nephew is attorney for Coal, Inc., the corporation which operates the mine.

He explained that the mine not only is producing but uses a revolutionary new method of cutting coal out of the mine shaft with a tiny jet stream of water.

When the Billie Sol Estes scandals began popping, Cong. Andersen still hadn't delivered the $4,000 worth of stock to Estes.

Note—In the past, Andersen had a habit of putting relatives on the public payroll, including an invalid sister, Mrs. Julie Hoppenstand. He once explained to curious reporters that he sent some of his mail to her apartment for her to answer. Since Billie Sol got into the headlines, Andersen has been the most elusive congressman on Capitol Hill. The closest this column could get to locating him was a statement from his office that he was traveling throughout his congressional district on "spontaneously arranged" speaking engagements.

Profit-Squeeze Panic Started

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — What's Been Happening in the stock market probably can be described as the "profit-squeeze panic."

For the key to an understanding of the decline, as well as a clue to possible recovery, can be found in the operations of the age-old law of profit or loss in a free-enterprise system.

The investor in stocks has not been attracted by dividend rates as such in the last year or so, for he really could get a better income on his money simply buying bonds. What the investor has been betting on is a steady increase in the profits of the companies themselves. This would mean a capital gain for him, because securities go up as profits rise. They are usually valued on the ratio of a certain number of times their earnings.

Thus, in early 1958, in computing value, the ratio was about 15 times earnings. The hope that dividends would grow as profits grew caused the ratio to rise recently to an average of 23 times earnings. This was at the end of 1961. The prices paid for stocks, therefore, reflected a high appraisal of future earnings.

It was the expectation of a recovery from the recession of 1960 and the good reports coming from several lines of business that caused the stock market to attain its peak of prices on December 13, 1961, when the Dow-Jones averages on all stocks reached 735.

Thereafter, as it became apparent that the labor unions were going to insist on higher and higher wage demands, the financial community began to hear reports of a "profit squeeze." The increased volume of business transactions didn't mean an increase in the rate of profit on sales for the corporations. The market consequently drifted downward from 735 to about 700 on April 6, 1962. This wasn't a severe drop, relatively speaking, as the figure of 688 had been recorded in January 1960. So a change of 35 points was not enough in itself to cause a loss of confidence in the future.

THEN came President Kennedy's dramatic intervention in the process of price-making in the national economy. His press conference of April 11 shocked the business world. He threatened reprisals. He implied that the U. S. Steel Corporation had done something illegal, and FBI agents were ordered into the act. The net result was a feeling that the administration would use any means, legal or otherwise, to halt any price increases but that it would not restrain the increases in wage costs which the unions were demanding.

Everything the President said in speeches of reassurance to businessmen was compared with the pronouncements of labor leaders who began urging the 35-hour week at the same pay as that received for 40 hours of work. Despite a few gentle words of disagreement from the White House—which the labor leaders ignored—the whole system of price-making in large industries had become demoralized. A "profit squeeze" was clearly indicated as the inevitable trend perhaps for the next few years.

WHEN WAGE costs go up while price increases are tabooed, there can be only one consequence—a narrowing of the profit margin. When that happens, the dividend rate cannot be increased. In fact, even continuance of the same dividend rate as before sometimes becomes imperiled.

Many investors thereupon took a realistic view of what was happening and determined to sell their stocks. From April 11, when the President declared war on the steel companies, through Monday, May 28, inclusive, the stock-market averages fell from 685 to 577. This was a drop of 118 points in 47 days, or more than three times the decline in the 119 days prior to the steel episode. Indeed, the drop in values before the steel controversy was about $24.4 billion, whereas after the President's announcement of his price policy it fell by another $33.3 billion, for a total of $117.7 billion since the preceding December.

AT THE end of the trading on Thursday, May 31, the market had recovered somewhat, but the total loss since last December still remained between $90 and $95 billion. Stock-market fluctuations may continue with wide swings in either direction, just as happened in 1930 and 1931 after the sensational break of October 1927.

But the important factor, which in the long-range situation will be definitive, is the measurement of profits. If business is to be held down on prices, if labor unions are to go on forcing an increase in wage costs, and if the administration continues to explain that it is helpless to do anything about labor's behavior, then the jig is up. The profit squeeze will continue and investors will see little hope for stocks to rise in value or to pay good dividends.

If the President now would ask Congress to give "equal protection of the law" to companies in business, and if something were done by law to rid the country of conspiracies practiced by nationwide labor unions which "restrain trade" constantly and impair interstate commerce—as the principle is set forth in the antitrust laws—that opportunity for better profit making would arise overnight. The whole economy would then be healthier. Expansion could be planned on the basis of reasonable expectations. More jobs would be created. Unemployment would be substantially reduced, if not eliminated, as a factor. The road to prosperity would then be clearly marked for all to see.

To Your Good Health

Pineapple Doesn't Fit Into Picture

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am so troubled with acid stomach that I almost literally have to go around with a can of baking soda in one hand and a pineapple in the other. I would like to get a list of foods that are less acid-forming. — SAM N.

I'm at a loss, sir, to see how pineapple fits into the problem.

But as far as that's concerned, I think I can show you that the baking soda doesn't make any real sense, either.

Yes, I know baking soda is an old favorite but it doesn't deserve its popularity. It doesn't do any permanent good.

In fact, soda carries what is known as a "rebound effect." It temporarily counteracts such acid as it finds in the stomach. Then the body reacts by producing even more acid. That's why so many habitual soda-swallowers get into such a circle of soda-relief-more-acid that their poor stomachs don't know what to do.

In a word, there are much better antacid preparations available, if you really need them. But remember that the stomach is supposed to have acid in it to help digest food. As to "less acid forming," the fact is that foods themselves don't produce the acid. Your body does that.

IF YOU HAVE excess acid, then frequent feedings of protein foods, such as milk, egg, cheese, custard, meat, etc., will combine with the acid, bringing a natural reduction in the amount.

Your best bet by far, however, is to find out what is really ailing your poor stomach. Is it nerves? Ulcers? Gall bladder or liver trouble? Too much smoking, coffee or alcohol?

I STRONGLY doubt that you will get anywhere until you take some serious steps to find out—and the best starting point is a trip to your doctor, instead of going at it blind, gobbling soda and hoping to stumble onto some sort of food that will solve your problem. You can see where this has got you so far; why keep on in the same direction? Try a different approach.

ber 1927. But the important factor, which in the long-range situation will be definitive, is the measurement of profits. If business is to be held down on prices, if labor unions are to go on forcing an increase in wage costs, and if the administration continues to explain that it is helpless to do anything about labor's behavior, then the jig is up. The profit squeeze will continue and investors will see little hope for stocks to rise in value or to pay good dividends.

1912 Class Back At Lake City High

LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special)—Fourteen members of the 33 members of the senior class of 1912 were present for commencement exercises for the class of 1962 at Lincoln High School here Monday evening.

They occupied special chairs at the ceremony, held for the first time in the gymnasium, which was filled nearly to capacity.

A feature of the program was presentation of an organ, provided by donated funds and started with a memorial to the mother of Superintendent Donald D. Karow. Sam Elison of Rochester played a short presentation program.

In presenting the class of 76 seniors, Principal Robert H. Smith said that students are becoming more responsible and in the schools and community adults are giving them more responsibility. Every Zillgitt, school board president, presented diplomas; Mayor Alex Smekta of Rochester spoke, and the class president, Thomas Schreck, spoke for the class. Dennis Brown directed the madrigal singers, Walter Gludt the orchestra and the Rev. Eugene K. Meyers gave the prayers.

Legal Separation Trial Adjourned

Adjournment to an as yet undetermined date has been called in the trial of a suit for legal separation brought by Mrs. Charlotte Harkenrider, 63 W. Broadway, against her husband, R. J. Harkenrider, 113 E. Broadway. District Judge Arnold Hatfield, Rochester, called the adjournment in mid-afternoon Tuesday after testimony had been heard from Mrs. Harkenrider. On order of Judge Hatfield the issue is being tried at a closed hearing. The order was made early in the afternoon session while Mrs. Harkenrider was testifying. His attorney, M. A. Goldberg, approached the bench and moved that the proceedings be closed to the public.

Judge Hatfield commented, "In view of the fact that this is an action for separation and there always is a possibility of reconciliation in such matters, it would perhaps be in the best interest of all concerned that testimony presented here not be of a public nature."

The court then granted the motion and requested that those other than attorneys, parties to the action and witnesses leave the courtroom. Mrs. Harkenrider is represented by F. J. O'Brien, Rochester.

Three-Fourths of Winona's Income From Property Taxes

By ALBERT MARSHALL
(Second of a Series)

Winona taxpayers have just finished paying the first installment on their 1962 taxes. Part of the tax bill goes to pay the cost of operating the city — an ever-increasing cost in most Minnesota communities.

The city's share of the tax take this year comes to $1,270,248. It is by far the largest single item of revenue that city officials receive.

The state public examiner makes a comprehensive breakdown of municipal fiscal operations every year. Unfortunately, this takes a lot of time and the 1959 report was just published a few weeks ago.

A study of this 1959 report and the 1958 examiner's report for Winona shows that over three-quarters of the money received by the city comes from the property taxes that citizens paid recently.

Besides money from taxes, Winona takes in almost seven percent of its revenue on licenses, permits, fees, and forfeits, about ten percent in aids from federal, state, and county governments and private donations, a bit less than three percent on special assessments, and just less than four percent from departmental fees from users of public facilities.

THE FUNDS received from taxes and the other sources mentioned above were spent in two areas: First, for the ordinary operating expenses of the city, and secondly, in capital outlays and improvements of which new street and sewer line construction is always a major item.

Here is how funds were expended in the eight major cities of Southern Minnesota during the two years 1958 and 1959.

In Albert Lea total expenditures came to $2,613,295. Capital outlays represented over 40 percent of the total, or $1,049,493; the balance, $1,563,802, going for current operating expenses.

In Austin, the total expenditures amounted to $4,018,375, with over 43 percent ($2,018,532) spent on capital improvements, and $2,025,813 for current operating costs.

IN FARIBAULT, total spending came to $1,686,016. Capital outlays absorbed over 24 percent of this amount ($412,918) and current operations, $1,273,098.

Mankato's total was $4,013,165. Just over half of this sum, or $2,029,613 went for outlays, and $1,983,552 for operations.

The Owatonna report showed total spending of $1,676,748, with approximately 41 percent, or $685,104 for capital outlays, and $991,644 for municipal operating costs.

Rochester's capital improvements absorbed over 51 percent of the total disbursements of $9,945,694. Outlays totaled $5,114,187, and operations, $4,831,507.

Total expenditures in Red Wing added up to $1,312,275, with about 30 percent invested in outlays ($393,495). The balance went to provide city services, or $1,007,780.

IN WINONA, between 1958 and 1959, the total, $2,913,566, went for capital improvements. Outlays added up to $389,340; and operating expenses to $2,524,226.

Based on estimated populations of the cities during the 1958-59 years, the per capita municipal operating expenses of the eight cities were as follows: Albert Lea, $46.92; Austin, $48.08; Faribault, $37.86; Mankato, $42.80; Owatonna, $38.10; Red Wing, $47.80; Rochester, $61.45; and Winona, $50.67.

And the 1958-59 per capita expenses involved in providing municipal services represented the following increases over the 1948-49 per capita expenditures as follows: Albert Lea, 100.5 percent; Austin, 64.2 percent; Faribault, 97.2 percent; Mankato, 78.8 pct; Owatonna, 44.9 pct; Red Wing, 56 pct; Rochester, 11.3 pct; and Winona, 85.6 percent.

THE COST OF municipal operations included interest on borrowed money, and the following six fields, classified as follows: General government (including salaries of administrative officials, city hall, and election expenses, etc.), public safety (police and fire departments), streets (including road maintenance, lighting, and snow removal), recreation and parks (including costs of band concerts, swimming pools, playgrounds, and in some cases golf courses), sanitation (including sewer maintenance and garbage removal), and public libraries.

During the 1958-59 biennium, Rochester spent the most money for general government, but the per capita annual cost of this department was highest at Albert Lea. Net expenditures for this department — total and per capita (in parentheses) for the cities were as follows: Albert Lea, $239,310, ($7.18); Austin, $227,599 ($4.17); Faribault, $166,405 ($4.95); Mankato, $265,650 ($5.73); Owatonna, $96,542 ($3.71); Red Wing, $137,499 ($6.52); Rochester, $448,511 ($5.75); and Winona, $295,288 ($5.93).

Police and fire total and per capita costs were highest in Rochester. During the two year period, public safety costs came to $1,565,361 or $19.90 for each resident per year.

FIGURES FOR the other cities: Albert Lea, $403,186 ($12.10); Austin, $905,350 ($16.58); Faribault, $351,739 ($10.46); Mankato, $399,719 ($12.95); Owatonna, $199,002 ($7.65); Red Wing, $292,549 ($13.88); and Winona, $788,757 ($15.83).

Street expenses were highest in Rochester. Total costs and annual per capita were as follows: Albert Lea, $257,403 ($7.72); Austin, $488,988 ($8.95); Faribault, $206,964 ($6.15); Mankato, $348,789 ($7.53); Owatonna, $278,245 ($10.70); Red Wing, $209,096 ($9.92); Rochester, $933,953 ($11.88); and Winona, $441,702 ($8.87).

Recreation and park expenses absorbed the following sums of money and annual per capita costs: Albert Lea, $141,439 ($4.24); Austin, $233,324 ($4.27); Faribault, $92,345 ($2.75); Mankato, $140,366 ($3.03); Owatonna, $86,614 ($3.33); Red Wing, $54,138 ($2.56); Rochester, $238,512 ($3.04); and top-spender, Winona, $279,909 ($5.62).

Net costs of operating public libraries were as follows: Albert Lea, $34,541 ($1.04); Austin, $63,780, ($1.17); Faribault, $68,816 ($2.05); Mankato, $41,850 (.90 cents); Owatonna, $80,988 ($3.11); Red Wing, $50,809 ($2.41); Rochester, $123,856 ($1.58); and Winona, $107,372 ($2.16).

SINCE SOME of the eight cities charge individual property owners for garbage removal while others included this cost item in the tax bill, the gross costs of sanitation services (sewer maintenance and waste removal) are more comparative.

For the 1958-59 years total expenditures for these services were as follows: Albert Lea, $150,619; Austin, $389,372; Faribault, $207,896; Mankato, $246,817; Owatonna, $107,092; Red Wing, $114,425; Rochester, $459,990; and Winona, $144,617.

The per capita annual costs were: Albert Lea, $4.52; Austin, $7.13; Faribault, $6.18; Mankato, $5.33; Owatonna, $4.12; Red Wing, $5.43; Rochester, $5.85; and Winona, $2.90.

In comparing expenditures for the eight cities for the years 1958-59, with the years 1948-49, it was found that departmental net costs had increased as follows during the ten year interval: General government, 109 percent; police and fire, 157 percent; streets, 74 percent; recreation, 79 percent; libraries, 92 percent. Gross costs of sewers and garbage removal were up by 191 percent.

The problem of present and future municipal officers involves holding expenses for these services in line with the taxpayer's ability to pay for his apparently ever-increasing demands.

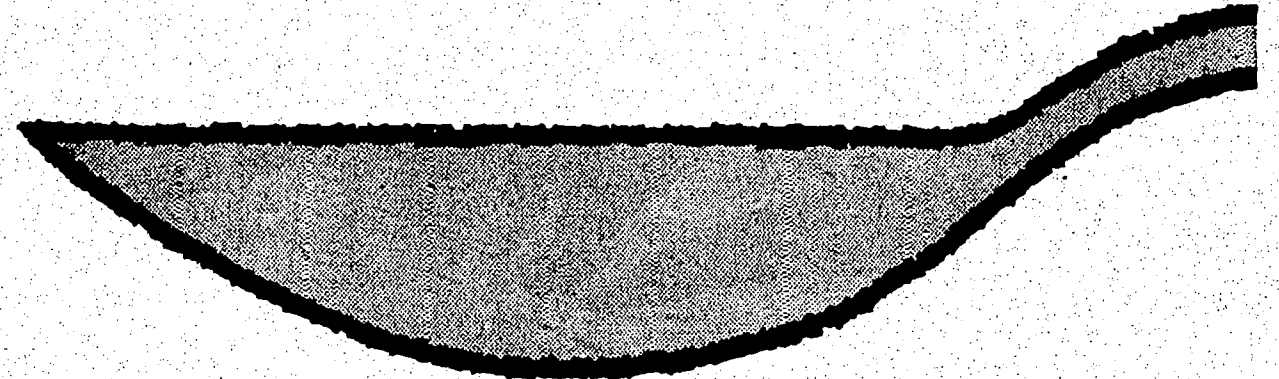

Byblos, in Lebanon, which gave its name to the Bible, is now a fishing village of about 1,000 population.

Chatfield Pickup Driver Injured

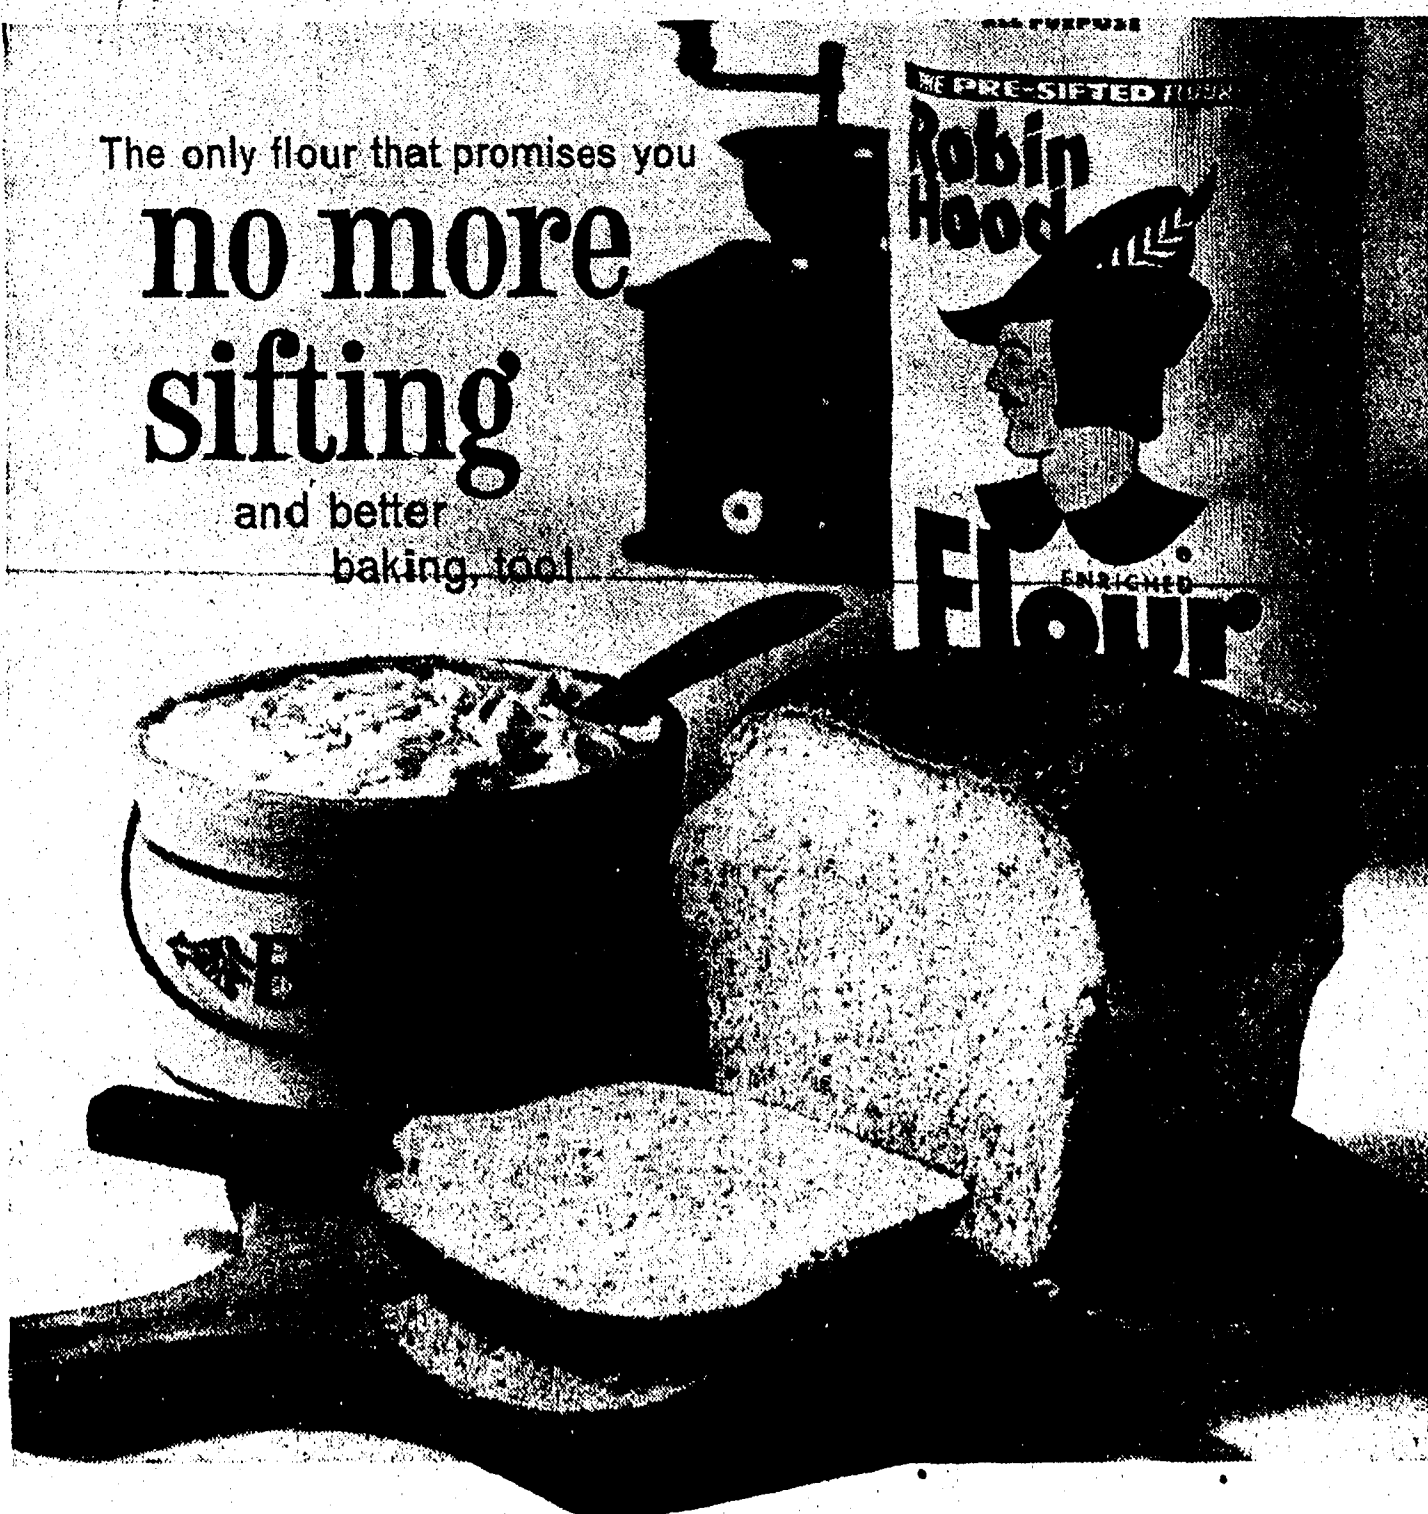

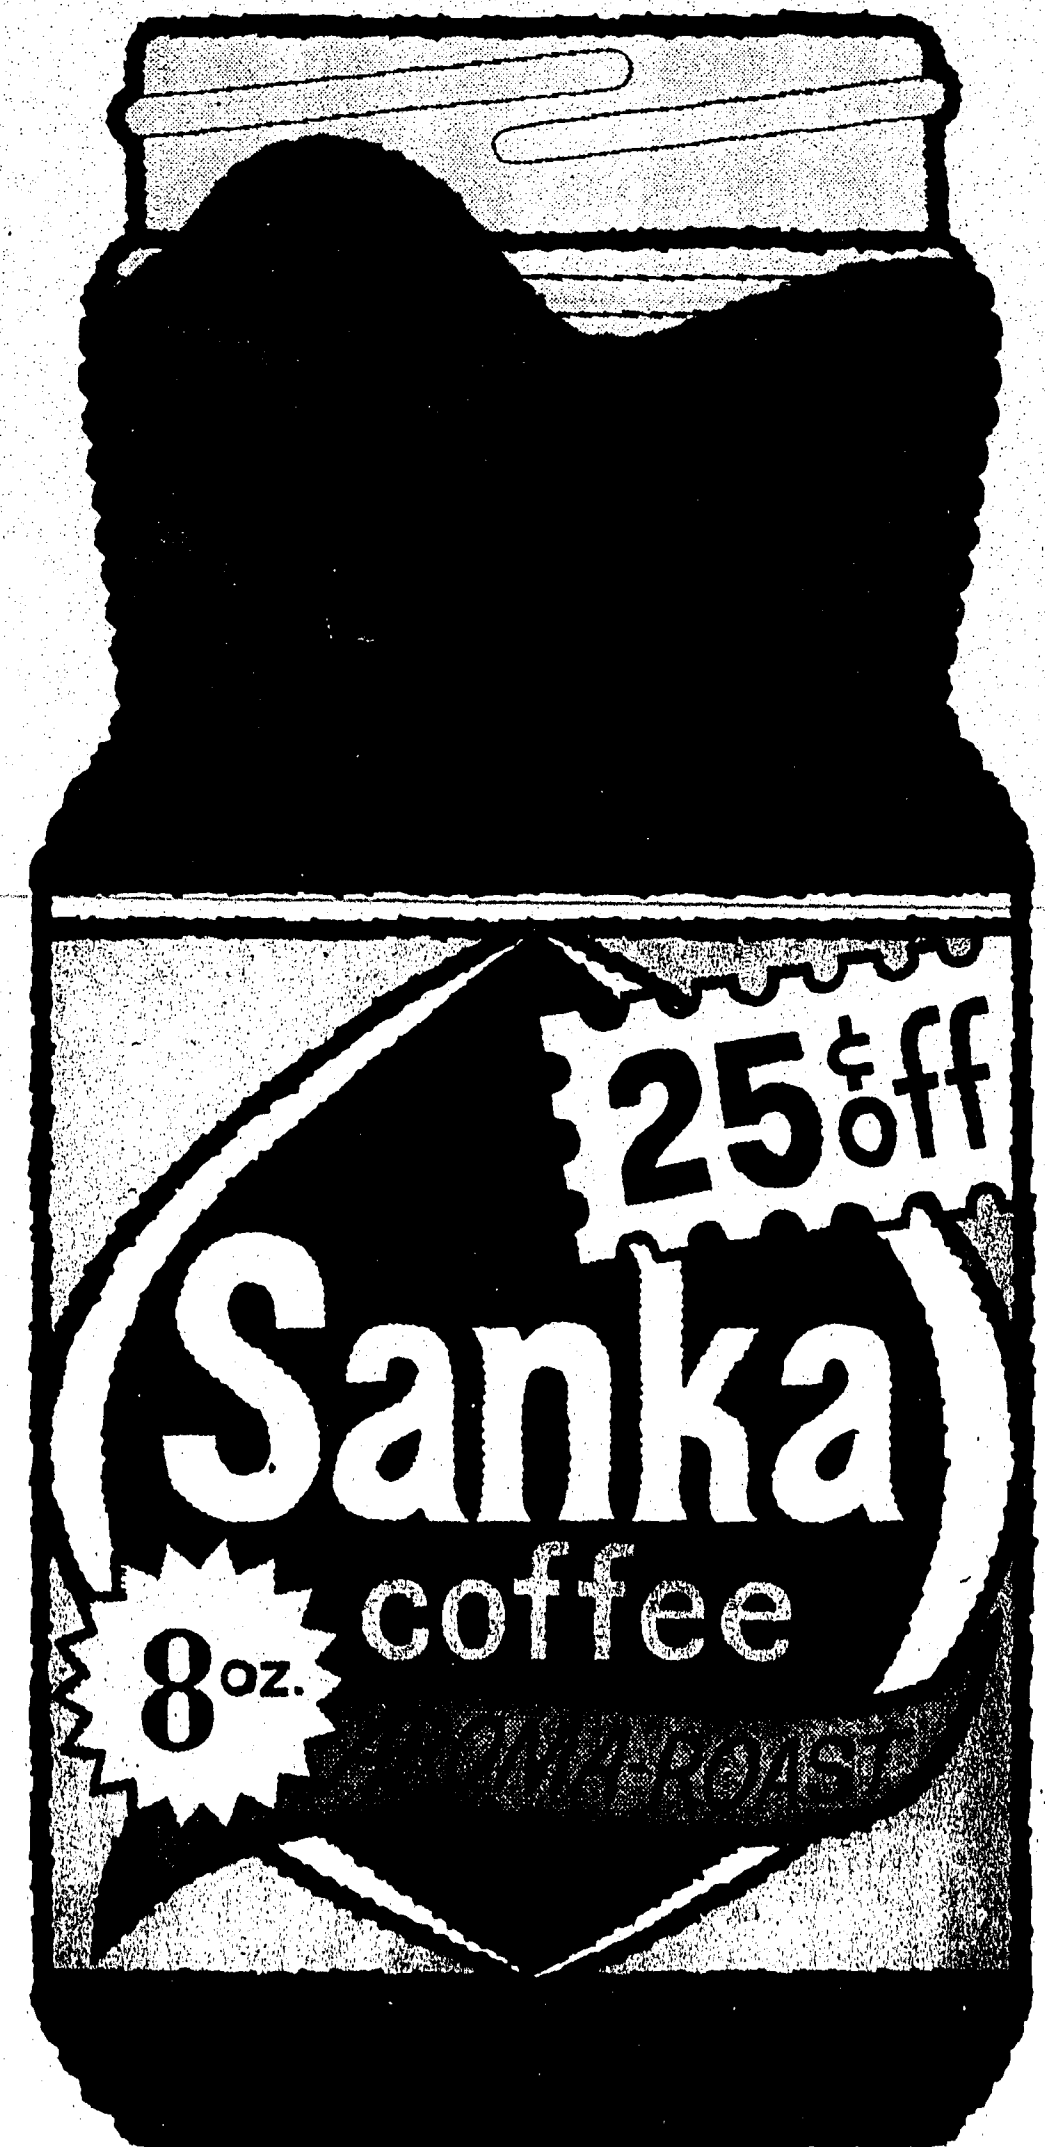

CHATFIELD, Minn. — A rural Chatfield man was taken to St. Marys Hospital, Rochester about 1 p.m. Monday after the pickup truck he was driving crashed into a bridge abutment and somersaulted into a creek on Chatfield's western outskirts.

Hospitalized was Rodney Herrick, about 23.

According to the Highway Patrol, Herrick was driving east into Chatfield on Highway 74 when his pickup crossed to the west-bound lane, struck the abutment of a bridge over Mill Creek and somersaulted into the creek. The vehicle landed on its wheels.

Driver Changes Plea to Guilty In City Court

Donald N. Frisch, 20, Minneapolis, Minn., changed his plea to guilty during a trial today before Municipal Judge S. D. J. Bruski to charges of careless driving and failing to yield for an emergency vehicle.

Frisch previously had pleaded guilty to six charges when he appeared in municipal court May 24.

HE HAD BEEN arrested at 1:27 a.m. May 24 after police had chased him at high speeds from 3th and Main streets to an area near 4060 6th St.

During the chase Frisch admitted to driving through a flashing red light at 3th and Main streets and stop signs at Broadway and Washington and at the Ewing, Hillbert and Orrin street intersections with 5th Street.

Frisch immediately pleaded guilty to careless driving at his trial. He denied failing to yield for an emergency vehicle.

Patrolmen Paul G. Michalowski and Bruce A. Stanton testified that they had seen Frisch's car run the red flashing light at 3th and Main. They said they were parked on the east side of the intersection facing west. Frisch went past them traveling west.

THEY GAVE chase and turned on the patrol car's red warning light at 3th and Johnson. Frisch turned left on Washington then right again on Broadway. The patrolmen were turned on 5th Street between Washington and Johnson.

Both patrolmen testified that they followed Frisch down Broadway using both the red warning light and the siren. They said Frisch's car was about one block ahead of them during this time.

When Frisch turned right on Ewing they closed the gap between the two vehicles to about a half block, they said.

Frisch turned left on 5th Street and drove toward Goodview. The patrolmen told the court that they had momentary trouble with their motor soon after they had turned the corner at Broadway and Ewing. They said Frisch gained on them after he reached 5th Street, but they never lost sight of him.

Frisch testified that he did not know he had to pull over for an emergency vehicle. He also said that the patrolmen had abused him somewhat during the arrest—both physically and verbally.

Judge Bruski asked Frisch whether he did not realize he had to stop for all emergency vehicles. Frisch said no.

When it became apparent to Frisch that he was in violation by not stopping, he changed his plea to guilty.

Judge Bruski sentenced Frisch to pay a $50 fine or 16 days in city jail on the charge of reckless driving, a $35 fine or 12 days in city jail on the charge of speeding 75 miles an hour in a 30-zone, a $15 fine or five days in city jail on the charge of failing to yield for an emergency vehicle and a $10 fine or three days in city jail on each of four stop sign charges and on the charge of driving through a flashing red light.

Frisch paid the total fines of $150.

Roger P. Brosnahan, assistant city attorney, had recommended stiffer penalties, including a straight jail sentence on the charge of failing to yield for an emergency vehicle.

Municipal Court

Gene R. Prenot, 21, 452 E. Broadway, $25 on a charge of driving 45 miles an hour in a 30-zone. He was arrested by police at 8:20 p.m. Sunday at 5th and Grand streets.

Roman J. Kulas, 376 W. Sanborn, $25 on a charge of driving 42 miles an hour in a 30-zone. He was arrested by police at 5:28 a.m. Monday at East Sanborn and 25th streets.

George H. Drazkowski, 613½ E. 2nd St., $10 on a charge of driving through a stoplight. He was arrested by police at 2:25 a.m. Monday at 5th and Main streets.

Mrs. Ruth M. Nankivil, 66 W. 2nd St., $5 on a parking meter violation. She was arrested by police on a warrant at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday at police headquarters.

Alan E. Richardson, 21, Rochester, Minn., $10 on a charge of driving through a stoplight at 4th and Main streets. He was arrested by police at 11:01 p.m. Tuesday at 4th and Winona streets.

Frank Raines, Winona Rt. 3, $5 on a parking meter violation. He was arrested by police on a warrant at 12:05 p.m. Tuesday at police headquarters.

Fish and porcupine are among the favorite foods of the fisher. Legend says his name comes from stealing fish used to bait marten traps.

It's Deafening At Deer Park

The patter of little feet is becoming deafening at the Izak Walton League's deer park on Latch Prairie Island.

Becky, one of the doe-eyed females in the compound, is expected to be a mother any day now, following the birth of three fawns last week.

The last of the three fawns was born Saturday afternoon to Blanche, and the twins to Sandra.

The Sunday News editor, who carried the report that Sandra had triplets, has passed the buck to the Daily News deer editor for correction. Sandra can be credited with only two fawns.

The present census of the deer park is 14—three fawns and 11 adult deer. The adults consist of three bucks, only one of which is full grown, and eight does.

Karl P. Grabner, chairman of the deer park for the Iles' Will Dill Chapter, said the group will obtain within a week an adult doe from a private deer park near Rochester, increasing the census to 15.

Jews, Fascists Riot in Rome

ROME (AP)—Extra police patrolled Rome's Jewish quarter after two nights of street fighting between Jews and Fascists.

Six civilians and several policemen were hurt in the skirmishes Monday night. Two more youths and five policemen were injured Tuesday night when authorities used tear gas to break up the scuffles.

The fighting broke out as Rome was in the heat of a municipal election campaign prior to voting Sunday.

ON MONDAY night two cars of campaigners of the Italian Social Movement, Italy's postwar Fascist party, drove through the streets of Rome's former ghetto between the ruins of the Roman Forum and the Tiber River. The area still has many Jewish residents.

DFL Candidate For Congress Confident of Win

ST. CHARLES, Minn. — Winona County DFL party workers met here Tuesday night at the Legion Club and heard David Graven, Albert Lea, 1st District candidate for Congress, assail the voting record of Cong. Albert H. Quie.

Duane Peterson, county DFL chairman presided at the meeting which also heard from George Farr, state chairman, and Ron Stinnett, campaign chairman for the liberal faction in the Minnesota Legislature. About 50 people were present, county officers said.

Graven described himself as a "working liberal." He said he was confident he could win Quie's seat in Congress because 1st District DFL organizations are in good shape. The administration's proposal for medical care for the aged through social security will work, Graven said, and is the best way to finance such medical needs.

The Albert Lea attorney said Quie does not represent farmers or laborers and is vulnerable because "he has been in long enough to have a voting record, and it is very tricky. It shows he slashes farm and labor bills in committees, then he votes for the weakest legislation when it limps to the House floor."

Stinnett reported his findings in a precinct-by-precinct study of Winona County voting records from 1952-1960.

Farr said Winona County is a "must" area and pivotal in the success of DFL liberal candidates.

Without DFL control, Farr said, a sales tax will be enacted and the liberal legislative program will be destroyed.

Winonan Facing Multiple Charges

ALMA, Wis. (Special) — A Winona man, David F. Meyer, 22, 1652 W. 5th St., will be arraigned July 11 before Judge Gary B. Schlosstein on multiple charges.

He was arrested last week by Traffic Officer Henry Zeichert and taken before Judge Schlosstein Friday, charged with a wide range of offenses.

At his Friday appearance in court, Meyer was charged with operating a motor vehicle after revocation of driver's license, escaping from the Buffalo County jail and resisting an officer. District Attorney Pat Molley was prosecutor.

Meyer escaped from the Buffalo County jail May 14 and returned to Minnesota. Returning here last week, he was apprehended by Officer Zeichert after a struggle which brought the charge of resisting arrest. He was jailed until the Friday hearing. An adjournment was ordered until July 11 and bond was set at $750. Meyer posted bond Saturday and was released, after retaining an Arcadia law firm as his attorneys.

Authorities said Meyer's record shows 17 arrests in Minnesota and a string of charges in Wisconsin including a break-in at the Fountain City brewery, housebreaking, furnishing malt beverages to minors and drinking from an open bottle.

Success of DFL liberal candidates. Without DFL control, Farr said, a sales tax will be enacted and the liberal legislative program will be destroyed.

Eight Blair High Graduates Gather After 50 Years

BLAIR, Wis. (Special)—Eight of the 36 graduates of Blair High School class of 1912 celebrated their golden anniversary reunion May 29.

A coffee hour at the home of Miss Tillie Sylvest opened the reunion.

A tour of the school was conducted by Miss Amelia Sylvest, bookkeeper at Blair Public School.

After dinner at Club Midway, Independence, Myron Herreid, town master, called on the graduates to tell of happenings since they left school. A class poem written by the late Miss Gena Scott and a telegram from Miss Ruth Overby were read.

Minneapolis Pair To Hang in July

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Charles Noel Brown, 29-year-old convicted murderer, Tuesday was ordered hanged July 24 by Gov. Norman Erbe.

Brown, of Minneapolis, was convicted of first-degree murder in the shooting of Alvin Koehrsen at Council Bluffs Feb. 22, 1961.

He had been sentenced to hang on June 22 but appealed to the Iowa Supreme Court. The appeal was rejected but it nullified the date of execution and the governor then was required to set a new one.

Brown's companion, Charles L. Kelly, 21, of Minneapolis, has been sentenced to hang July 18 for the same slaying.

Plainview Group Wins Oakland Trip

PLAINVIEW, Minn.—The outstanding community development award won by the Plainview Jaycees, announced last week, includes an expense-paid trip to Oakland, Calif., to the community development seminar there in July.

The entry included the street improvement project, brochure, Charley Park improvement, road sign and efforts to secure a physician, according to Donald L. Haines, president.

Judge Excuses Ex-GI On Nuclear Secrets

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—A federal judge ruled Tuesday that ex-soldier George John Gessner is mentally ill and cannot stand trial now on a charge of giving nuclear secrets to the Russians.

Judge Arthur J. Stanley Jr. sent Gessner, 25, back to the U.S. Medical Center at Springfield, Mo., for treatment.

Gessner, formerly of Homestead, Pa., is accused of telling officials of the Soviet Embassy in Mexico City about the firing systems of two gun-type nuclear weapons.

Gessner went to Mexico City after deserting Dec. 7, 1960 from Ft. Bliss, Tex., where he was a nuclear weapons maintenance specialist. He served a term at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., for desertion.

NEW — NEW — Only at BROWN DRUG — the newest in Suntan Lotions — from LANVIN — SUN 'N FUN — a new lotion that will give you a jell-fast tan. Extras — a mirror in the top of the cap, plus a jumbo-sized pomade stick which is set in the wide top. Flick this pomade over your lips and eyelids — keeps the lotion from smearing the eyes, and doesn't smear your mascara — Take the sun gradually — Never look directly into the sun — Wear good sun glasses, such as the fine RAY-BANS found at Browns — and do not lie motionless on the beach — Run, jump or play — but if you do stretch out on the beach or patio, be sure to change your position often — Play it safe — use a GOOD suntan lotion — Have fun!

Some of you girls are still having a lot of trouble getting color removed from your hair to the right stage of lightness — remember this — There are really SEVEN stages of bleaching from black to white — let me show you the chart explaining these stages — you can NOT put on one bleach pack and always get the desired stage of lightness — be patient — follow the RIGHT directions and you can be just the shade of blonde you want — also remember it is possible to drab with ermine or starlight — let me help you!

Next week I'll tell you more about the new CLAIROL product — CONDITION — the first really good preparation to care for damaged hair, due to over-bleaching — too much permanent — or just plain tired hair! — Can you imagine anything so simple that you do not need to use any hot towels? — Can be applied to portions of the hair, when you are doing a touch-up job on the roots of the hair — more about CONDITION another time.

Girls, are you having trouble wearing some of your summer dresses because you do not have an even tan over the shoulder area? Come on into BROWN DRUG and we can give you some suggestions about using make-up on this area, applying it so that it will not rub off.

Remember BROWN DRUG for the finest in Cosmetics. Watch for this column every Wednesday.

One Bad Play Beats Twins; Drop to Fourth

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — One poor play proved costly to the Minnesota Twins Tuesday night as they muffed an opportunity to slip into a virtual tie for the American League lead and at the same time dropped to fourth place.

"One bad play beat us, what else can you say," manager Sam Mele offered after his club had dropped a 4-3 decision to Kansas City.

That play came in the fifth inning when ace pitcher Camilo Pascual forgot to cover home plate as catcher Earl Battey was throwing a runner out at first and the Athletics scored the winning run. Bobby Del Greco had doubled off the left field fence with one, when Pascual committed his mental lapse. Norm Siebern dribbled a grounder in front of the plate and Battey pounced on it. Battey threw Siebern out at first, but Del Greco rounded third and sped home as he saw the plate unprotected. By the time Pascual broke to cover after watching Battey make the play it was too late.

That made it 4-1. The A's had counted one run in the first on back-to-back doubles by Siebern and Manny Jimenez and two in the third on Siebern's seventh home run of the year into the rightfield bleachers. With the walking Del Greco aboard, Jimenez also singled to raise his league-leading batting average to .366. The Twins, who had picked up a run in the third as Orlando Martinez walked and came home on an error, pulled within 4-3 with a pair in the last of the fifth. Rich Rollins doubled to right center to plate Lenny Green who had walked and Vic Power who had singled to left.

Rollins' blow was Minnesota's fourth and last hit off Kansas City starter and winner John Wyatt, (4-3) and relievers Diego Segui and Gordon Jones.

Pascual (7-3) took the loss, permitting six hits before tiring in the seventh and being relieved by Dick Stigman and Ray Moore. Pascual struck out six before going out to run his whiff total to 69, best in the AL.

The defeat gave Minnesota an 11-14 home record, against a remarkable 18-9 reading on the road.

None of the Twins' official family has any explanation for the club's poor showing at home. But farm director Sherry Robertson discounts that it is any cause for alarm.

"These are all major league players, capable of beating any team on any field any day," Robertson said. "There's no law that says you're supposed to win so many games at home and lose so many on the road."

The two teams meet here again tonight with Jim Kaat (3-4) the scheduled Twins' pitcher and Jerry Walker (6-2) due to hurl for the A's. The series concludes Thursday afternoon with the opposing pitchers Joe Bonkowski (4-4) and Dave Wickersham (6-1).

GORDY FAKLER, 23-year-old Winona bowler, pocketed $84.81 in prize money in the 1962 American Bowling Congress tournament at Des Moines, Iowa.

Prize list for the 59th annual ABC went out to team captains Monday.

Fakler, rolling with the Hot Fish Shop which failed to dent the prize money in the five-man event, collected $52.73 for his 648 in singles, $25.58 for his 1,812 all-events score and teamed with Jerry Dureske for 1,117 in doubles which earned them $13.

Jim Yahnke and Clarence Rivers won $12 for their 1,112 in doubles. Rivers added $9 for his 579 in singles and Yahnke $7 for his 573.

GALE SPRUTE, Winona State linebacker and NAIA Little All-American, is listed in Pro Football Illustrated as being among 13 collegians signed by the Detroit Lions.

Sprute was picked on the 12th round by the Lions in the NFL player draft.

A SPECIALLY rigged boat, representing an investment of several thousand dollars, will serve as the official tow boat for the Winona Open water ski tournament June 22-24 on Lake Winona.

The boat will be supplied by the Scott Division of McCulloch Corp. for use of the Sugar Loaf Water Ski Club, sponsors of the first annual tournament.

The boat, an 18-foot fiberglass hull, will be powered by two 75.2 horsepower generator equipped electric starting motors. It is jam-packed with equipment for convenience and accuracy of the two judges who will be aboard.

Besides two indicating-type tachometers and two tournament-type speedometers, the boat contains a two-way radio receiver and transmitter and a slalom buoy accurate memory counting toggle board that makes a recording of a skier skimming around a buoy.

DR. L. A. McCOWN, Winona State baseball coach, has nothing but praise for Missouri Valley College and Marshall, Mo., which was host to the regional NAIA playoff last week.

"Marshall is a town of only 10,000," said McCown, "and though the college was not in session, the towns people really turned out for the two games." (There was an admission charge.)

"Marshall had a municipal swimming pool right adjacent to the ball park, and the pool was out of this world," he enthused. "I've never seen anything like it. It was really big and had a wading area for kids that seemed 100 feet long."

At St. Joseph, Mo., where State is in the National, the Warriors and the other seven teams are guests of the city of St. Joseph which foots the bill for housing and meals.

Transportation costs for each team are paid by a national soft drink company as part of its advertising and public relations program. The Warriors made the 900-mile trip in passenger cars.

OFF THE CUSHION: The Minnesota Twins, with farm clubs in six leagues, surveyed their talent and found three batting leaders, one home run leader, a strikeout leader and one earned run averages leader among their farmhands.

The Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League have rejected an offer to hold their summer training camp at Austin, Minn. The Cowboys last year trained at St. Olaf College. Lack of dormitory facilities was the drawback at Austin. The Cowboys pay between $7 and $8 per man per day for housing and meals. John Hogden of Gale-Edrick with 76-74-150 was third best shooter in the Wisconsin state prep golf meet.

MUSIAL BELTS NO. 450

Keane Fines Sadecki $250

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Stan (The Man) Musial hit his 450th home run to put St. Louis back in the victory column. But Cardinal pitcher Ray Sadecki wound up on the losing side.

Minutes after Musial tagged No. 450 Tuesday night to give the Cards a 10-9, 11-inning triumph over Cincinnati that snapped an eight-game losing streak, fuming St. Louis Manager Johnny Keane announced he was fining Sadecki $250 because "he goofed off."

The incensed Cardinal field boss said he leveled the heavy fine on Sadecki "for the poorest exhibition of effort I have ever seen on a major league diamond. Every one out there was trying to win and he goofed off."

Keane was shaken by the incidents that occurred in the fifth inning when Sadecki faced five men, committed two errors, gave up two homers, allowed five runs and failed to retire a batter as the Reds pulled out to a 9-1 lead. The 21-year-old left-hander's first pitch was hit for a home by opposing hurler Bob Purkey. After a single by Ed Kasko, Sadecki misread Marty Keough's attempted sacrifice for an error. Then Don Zimmer tapped one back to the mound and Sadecki fired the ball into center field. Frank Robinson's three-run homer topped it off.

League-leading San Francisco blasted Chicago's Cubs 11-4 and maintained a two-game edge over runner-up Los Angeles. The Dodgers won the opener of their two-night doubleheader with Pittsburgh 3-2 and led 7-3 after eight innings when the nightcap was suspended by curfew. It'll be resumed tonight.

Houston belted Milwaukee 7-1 in the only other game played. The New York-Philadelphia game was rained out.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox defeated the Los Angeles Angels 9-5, Kansas City edged Minnesota 4-3 and Baltimore nipped Washington 6-5 in the first game of a scheduled two-nighter. The second game was rained out as was the rest of the AL program.

Musial, who went 3-for-4 in pacing the Cardinal comeback and hiked his average to .326, also cut down Cookie Rojas at the plate with a perfect peg in the fourth inning.

Checked on three hits for five innings by Bob Purkey, the Cards finally pulled even in the seventh when Bill White hit a three-run homer and Ken Boyer smashed a two-run shot. It stayed knotted until Musial won it for reliever Lindy McDaniel (2-3) with his homer off Dave Sisler (2-2).

A five-run eighth inning uprising triggered by Felipe Alou's homer and an error by Cubs shortstop Andre Rodgers gave the Giants their fifth triumph in a row and 12th in 13 games. After Alou homered and the next two batters walked, Rodgers dropped a line shot by Jose Pagan that could have been a triple play. Doubles by Harvey Kuenn and Willie Mays plus Chuck Hiller's single followed. Billy O'Dell (7-3) won with a five-hitter. Bob Bull (3-4) was the loser.

Willie Davis drove in two runs for the Dodgers in the opener against the Pirates with a homer and double and scored the clincher in the sixth on a single by Tommy Davis. Stan Williams (6-1) got the victory with 2-3 innings of no-hit relief by Larry Sherry. Earl Francis (2-3) lost it.

The seven-hit pitching of Bob Bruce (3-1) and a 13-hit attack won for the Colts. Al Spangler's lead-off homer in the first inning set the pattern and charged Milwaukee starter Ron Piche with his first loss after three victories.

Other firsts were by Chatham in the 100 with a 10-second flat showing; Mike Chadwick of Minneapolis Central in the shot put (56-0); Jeff Swanson, Alexander Ramsey, in the 800 in 1:58.5; Williams in the 220 with 22.4; Gale Gillingham, Little Falls, in the discus (132-4 1/2) and John Skamp, Roosevelt, in the high jump (6-2 1/2).

Team scoring behind the leaders included St. Paul Mechanical Arts 7, Hermanstown 6, Minneapolis South 5, Little Falls 5, Minnesota 4, Atwater 4, St. Paul Hornets 4, Minneapolis South 3, Stewart 3, Fairview 3, Robinson 3, White Bear 3, Red Wing 3, Worthington 2, Hamline 2, Golden Valley 2, Breckenridge 2, and Hedgesville 2. Duluth Central, Moorhead, Hutchinson, Grand Rapids, Wells, St. Paul Central, St. Cloud Tech, Hibbing and Benson, one each.

Dietzel Hears Piracy Cries After Recruiting

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—New Army coach Paul Dietzel has lured two of South Carolina's top prep football prospects to West Point and cries of piracy promptly rang through the South Carolina hinterlands.

Both boys—Curtiss Linder of Lower Richland High, a fullback, and Wayne Page of Lake View, a halfback—already had signed college grants-in-aid. Linder at South Carolina and Page at Clemson.

"It is a down right outrage," said coach Frank Howard, who for more than 20 years has considered South Carolina hallowed domain from which to draw the bulk of his Clemson players.

South Carolina coach Marvin Bass was less vehement, saying "you can't blame the boy for going to West Point. You have to blame the people who are trying to take him away."

Dietzel, who left a highly successful tenure at Louisiana State to take the Army head coaching job last fall, said at West Point he didn't know South Carolina was restricted recruiting territory.

As to Howard's charge that tax funds might be involved, Dietzel said "any money spent in recruiting comes from the Army Athletic Association, which is not from football gate receipts. No funds of any kind are appropriated for football."

Karnath Captures 3rd in Pole Vault

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Rich Karnath of Winona captured third place in the pole vault Tuesday with a new Winona school record as St. Louis Park swept to the Minnesota-High School track and field championship.

Karnath cleared 12 feet, 2 inches, bettering the mark of 12-1 1/2 he set in winning the vault at the Carleton Invitational earlier this season.

Jim Bambenek, Winona's other qualifier in the state meet, was seventh in the shot and discus. He heaved the shot 51 feet even and the discus 112 feet.

Park, state basketball champion, piled up 31 points to 18 each for runners-up Minneapolis Central and Minneapolis Roosevelt. Then came International Falls 14 1/2, Northfield 13, Duluth East and Thief River Falls 11 each and

Karnath Bambenek

Austin and St. Paul Alexander Ramsey 10 apiece.

Four records fell. Minneapolis Central's 800-yard relay team of Blaine Chatham, Thornton Jones, Lawrence Butler and Ed Wilbers turned in a 1:30.5 clocking to erase the old record of 1:31.2 by Central in 1960.

Mike Gilman, St. Louis Park, churned the 440 in 49.1 seconds to wipe out the 49.2 mark set by John Larson, Minneapolis Marshall, in 1961.

Tony Lynch, International Falls, had a 19.7 time in the 180 low hurdles for another standard. He held the old mark of 19.9 set last year.

John Dyjack, Minneapolis Roosevelt, led 13-2 in the pole vault to crack the old record of 13-0 1/2 by Bob Olsen, St. Paul Wilson, last year.

Lynch was the meet's only double winner. He finished in a dead heat for first with John Kopari of Duluth East in the 120-yard high hurdles. Officials believe it was the first time in tournament history that there has ever been a dead heat in any running event.

In addition to Gilman's first, St. Louis Park had triumphs in the mile run, which Bruce Mortensen captured in 4:22.2, and the mile relay, which Tom Langen, Chris Morris, Gary Smith and Mortensen stepped in 3:25.8.

Other firsts were by Chatham in the 100 with a 10-second flat showing; Mike Chadwick of Minneapolis Central in the shot put (56-0); Jeff Swanson, Alexander Ramsey, in the 800 in 1:58.5; Williams in the 220 with 22.4; Gale Gillingham, Little Falls, in the discus (132-4 1/2) and John Skamp, Roosevelt, in the high jump (6-2 1/2).

Team scoring behind the leaders included St. Paul Mechanical Arts 7, Hermanstown 6, Minneapolis South 5, Little Falls 5, Minnesota 4, Atwater 4, St. Paul Hornets 4, Minneapolis South 3, Stewart 3, Fairview 3, Robinson 3, White Bear 3, Red Wing 3, Worthington 2, Hamline 2, Golden Valley 2, Breckenridge 2, and Hedgesville 2. Duluth Central, Moorhead, Hutchinson, Grand Rapids, Wells, St. Paul Central, St. Cloud Tech, Hibbing and Benson, one each.

Meet Georgia Team Tonight

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (Special) — A record shattering pitching performance by Winona State's Mark Dilley spearheaded Winona State to a 6-4, 13-inning win over California State of Pennsylvania in the first round of the NAIA Tournament here Tuesday night.

Dilley, invincible except for teammates' miscues in the sixth inning, struck out 20 batters in the 10 innings he worked to establish a new tournament mark.

HIS 19TH strikeout in the ninth inning enabled him to tie the mark set last year and his 20th in the 10th set the new record.

The 20 strikeouts also helped catcher Dick Gunderson set a new record for putouts.

Today it's a weary, but happy band of Warriors. State's two winning runs were pushed across in the 13th inning. The time was exactly 2 a.m.

Tonight Winona will oppose Georgia Southern, 8-3 winner over Mississippi State Tuesday, at 9:30 p.m. (Winona time). In the first contest tonight Portland State of Oregon will tangle with Sam Houston State of Texas.

Sam Houston defeated Lewis 4-1 and Portland State beat Florida A&M 2-1 Tuesday.

Dick Papenfuss, who relieved Dilley in the 11th, got credit for the victory. He worked three innings, gave up only one hit and no runs.

THE WARRIORS pushed over the winning runs without the benefit of a base hit. Lance Johnson was safe on an error to start the inning and Ron Ekker was got aboard on a miscue.

Lyle Papenfuss walked to load the bases before Gary Grob struck out for the second out. The next two men, Arlen Klinger and Dick Gunderson, walked to force in the runs.

A great fielding play by Lyle Papenfuss saved the Warriors in the last of the 13th. With one man out and runners on second and third, Dave Coleman smashed a liner down the first base line for what looked like a sure hit.

PAPENFUSS made a diving catch and tagged the bag to complete an unassisted double play and end the game.

The Warriors jumped to a 3-0 lead at the end of two innings. Walks to Johnson and Jon Kosidowski and hits by Klinger and Gunderson drove across two tallies in the first.

After Chuck Zane walked in the second, Dilley sacrificed him to second. A single by Ekker plated the third run.

California State took a 4-3 lead in the sixth as three walks, a two-base error by Grob and a squeeze bunt brought in the runs.

STATE TIED it in its half of the seventh as Klinger walked and Lietzau was safe on an error. Klinger scored from second on the error.

Dilley gave up just four hits in the 10 innings he worked. Two of the four runs were unearned. He walked four.

The victory gives Papenfuss a 2-0 record on the season. Chuck Weisbrod (6-1) gets the nod for the Statesmen in the semifinal contest tonight.

Caledonia Whips Faribault; Austin Shells Rockets 11-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Perennial high school baseball power Austin moved back into the Minnesota High School tournament picture again this year by eliminating defending Region One champion Rochester 11-1 as three regions completed semi-final play Tuesday.

Austin was joined in the region finals by Little Caledonia which stopped Faribault 6-1.

Winning Region Two semi-final contests were Worthington, 1-0 over Windom, and St. James, 5-0 over Fairmont. In Region Five, Richfield toppled Holdingford 10-1 and Willmar blanked Minneapolis South 4-0.

Finals in Regions One and Two will be Friday, while Richfield and Willmar clash for the Region Five crown tonight at Maple Lake. Austin is seeking its 13th trip to the prep tourney after Rochester last year became only the third team to represent the region since the inception of the meet in 1947. Home runs by Tim Schmitt and Dave Hartman sparked the victory.

Caledonia tallied four unearned runs in the fifth inning to break a 1-1 tie. Big blows for the winners in that inning was Mike Percuccio's two-run triple. Lyle Besse struck out 10 and scattered five hits for the victory.

Bob Truman pitched and batted St. James to its triumph. He carried his season record to 10-1 with a five-hitter and also contributed two doubles and a triple in three trips to the plate.

Sophomore Wayne Marcell tossed a four-hitter in Worthington's thin triumph.

$100,000 Pot Lures Pros to Classic Meet

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP)—Most golf tournaments played just before the National Open or other major national events suffer from sparse entry lists. But nobody is skipping the $100,000 Classic Tournament at the Upper Montclair Country Club starting Thursday just to practice for next week's Open at Oakmont, Pa.

The money looks too good to the big name pros.

By putting up the $100,000 jackpot—second only to the $109,000 plus in prize money given out at the Masters this year—and a top prize of $25,000, the Classic sponsors attracted virtually every prominent pro who is eligible.

Among them are Arnold Palmer, who has a chance here to break his own record for the largest amount of money won by a golfer in one season; Sam Snead, the greatest all-time money winner, and South Africa's Gary Player, who beat out Palmer for top money a year ago.

In 1960 Palmer won $75,262.85. So far this year, with six tournament victories, he is just below the $60,000 mark.

The Classic field is limited to 120 players, including a few hand-picked amateurs and about 20 non-touring pros from the New York metropolitan area who made it through special qualifying tests.

For most of them it figures to be a solid tune-up for the U.S. Open that follows. The two nines of the Upper Montclair course that are being used stretch out 7,055 yards with a par of 72.

It was redesigned a few years ago by architect Robert Trent Jones, whose specialty is toughening courses for tournaments. The rough has grown up to form narrow hour glass-shaped fairways.

The long hitters will have to keep their drives straight and several holes look easier than they really are.

Practice time is limited for a number of the tourists, who had to devote Tuesday to sectional qualifying for the U.S. Open. A $5,000 pro-celebrity preliminary was scheduled today.

Private AWOL? He is Qualifying For Golf's Open

FORT HOOD, Tex. (AP)—An Army private who qualified Monday in Dallas for the National Open Golf Championship was absent without leave when he did it, his company commander said.

Col. O. R. Berger, commander of the 143rd medical detachment said former Fort Worth City champ Jerry Edwards was AWOL when he shot his 140 to grab one of five slots in next week's tournament.

And Col. Berger indicated that Edwards would not be allowed to play in the Open because of the AWOL charge.

He said that Edwards has used up all leave time he has coming to him and if he were to play in the Open he would have to get advance leave.

Houston Belts Braves 7-1; Burdette Next

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Milwaukee nominated standby right-hander Lew Burdette for duty tonight in a bid to get the Braves pitching and drive for the first division back on the track at the same time.

The Braves used four pitchers Tuesday night, but they weren't enough as the Houston Colts pounded out a 13-hit attack for a 7-1 victory to snap a three-game Milwaukee winning streak.

The Braves hurlers also contributed six walks, a hit batter and a pair of wild pitches to their downfall.

Ron Piche started the game undefeated but left after an inning and a third with his first defeat against three victories. Piche was banged for four hits and four runs before Tony Cloninger came along.

Cloninger uncorked a wild pitch and gave up a pair of walks, forcing in one run before Jack Curtis was summoned. Curtis went five and two-thirds innings, allowing nine hits, three runs and two walks. Don Nottebart worked the eighth inning and retired the side in order.

Bob Bruce started for the Colts and went all the way for the first time in two years and in six starts this season, finishing with his third victory in four decisions. Bruce gave up seven hits but struck out 10 Braves, matching the total he reached in a relief appearance in Milwaukee last month.

Burdette, 24, will be opposed to-night by Jim Golden, 32.
