Canada Conservatives Win But Miss Majority

TORONTO (AP)—Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's Conservatives emerged today from Canada's national election still the biggest party in the House of Commons but without a majority after a stunning setback.

Diefenbaker apparently will try to form a minority government, as he did in 1957. But as he did then, he is expected to call a new election within a year after a period of routine administration in which no controversial legislation can be adopted.

"We are still the government of Canada," the 67-year-old Conservative leader told supporters in Prince Albert, Sask., his home town. However, his party's holding had been slashed from a record 203 seats in the 265-member House of Commons.

With three seats still undecided, the Conservatives held 117 and had a chance to pick up one more. The Liberals won 96 and were leading for another. The Social Credit party had won 30 and the New Democratic party had 19.

One Ontario seat will be filled in July because a candidate died during the campaign.

The Conservatives appeared to be at least 15 seats short of the 133 required for an absolute majority in the 265-member House. The final standing could be further changed by recounts that are expected in a number of close races and the absentee military vote, which won't be in until the weekend.

The Liberals, who held only 51 seats in the last Parliament, made telling inroads into the huge blocs the Conservatives had in populous Quebec and Ontario provinces.

The biggest surprise in the Conservative setback was the strength of the minor New Democratic and Social Credit parties. The Social Credit party didn't have a single seat in the last Parliament. The New Democratic party previously had eight seats.

The swing away from the Conservatives was even more marked in the popular vote. Out of almost 7 million votes counted early today, the Liberals received 38 per cent and the Conservatives 37 per cent.

The prime minister won reelection easily to the House from Prince Albert, which he has represented since 1953. Four members of his Cabinet fell—Minister Jacques Flynn, Postmaster General William Hamilton, Secretary of State Noel Dorion and Works Minister David J. Walker.

How long a new Conservative government will be able to carry on depends largely on whether they can get the cooperation of either the Social Credit party or the New Democrats.

Social Credit leader, Robert Thompson, made clear his party would cooperate only with a house-keeping administration to set the stage for a new election. The party's deputy leader, Real Caouette, said there was no question of forming a coalition with another party.

The socialistic New Democratic party for the moment could say nothing. Its leader, T. C. Douglas, had lost his bid for a Commons seat from Regina and the party was leaderless. Douglas refused to indicate whether Diefenbaker will get New Democratic support.

Party Leaders Agree U.S. Uneasy, Uncertain

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Opposing party leaders agreed today that the present mood of the country is one of uneasiness and uncertainty. They disagreed on the cause and cure of the malaise.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said Congress must act quickly on President Kennedy's legislative program to "dispel some of the uncertainty which has been accumulating in recent months throughout the nation."

"The people wonder why we aren't doing anything in Congress," Mansfield said. "It is time we got down to hard work to reach some final decisions on the President's proposals."

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said in a separate interview that "it isn't what Congress is not doing but what it might do that is causing uneasiness in the country."

"There is uneasiness in some quarters about the administration's proposal to withhold taxes on interest and dividends," he said. "The people wonder why the debt limit keeps going up and up and they are worried by the fact that we have to pay $10 billion in interest yearly on what we owe."

"There are fears and doubts about the President's trade program. There is a great deal of opposition to his proposal to finance health care for the elderly by increasing Social Security taxes."

"Nobody knows what the House is going to do about the farm bill. All of these add up to a general mood of uncertainty and uneasiness."

Mansfield told senators Monday they can look forward to 9 or 10-hour work days, beginning on Wednesday, about double the average of five-hour sessions thus far this year. He said the Senate will meet on Saturdays and have only a one-day holiday July 4.

No 'Deadline' on Berlin, Russ Say

By RICHARD O'REGAN
BUCHAREST, Romania (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev told Romanian workers today that the Soviet Union sees no reason to go to war over Berlin and "we do not give any deadline" on settling the Berlin issue.

"The United States threatened us with war over Berlin, but I don't see any reason to go to war," he said.

"Those who talk about war had better remember that if they pushed the button it would boomerang against them."

"We do not give any deadline, but as soon as the matter is ripe we will solve the problem," he said.

Khrushchev spoke to a crowd of railway workers in the rolling-stock repair yards on the outskirts of Bucharest. He arrived in Romania Monday for a week's visit.

Khrushchev told the workers: "I am convinced that tomorrow the Red flag will fly over the United States. But we will not fly the flag, it will be the American people themselves."

Discussing Berlin, Khrushchev said: "We want an agreement with the Americans to change the occupation status of West Berlin and convert it into a free city. But if there is no understanding on this matter with the United States, we will sign a peace treaty with the German Democratic Republic, ending the occupation status of West Berlin."

Khrushchev attacked the United States for failing to reach an agreement on disarmament and a halt to nuclear testing.

Two students waited at the western end of the tunnel to help haul the escapees through on a metal stretcher pulled by ropes. The third went 200 yards into Communist territory to guide the first group of escapees—two women, 26 and 22, and two boys, 11 and 5.

The Communist action thwarted the flight of nine other East Germans, and at least five of them were taken into custody.

The West Berlin students had dug the tunnel from the American sector of West Berlin to a house on the Communist side. The students said the work took a month, and that they arranged to use the tunnel for the first time Monday to bring out 13 East Germans, mostly women and children.

"We didn't know when we broke through whether the Vopos (East German police) would be waiting for us with Tommy guns at the ready or bash in our skulls with their jackboots," one student said.

Badgers Begin Special Session

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—State lawmakers, many freely voicing their disapproval of being called back to Madison, opened a special session today on the highly controversial subject of redrafting Wisconsin's political districts.

The grumbling knew no party label, but the expressed complaints were strongest from the Republican side which controls both the Assembly and Senate.

Portland Prairie, Eitzen Early History Reviewed

EITZEN, Minn. (Special)—Over 200 people gathered at Eitzen Community Hall recently when the people of this and Portland communities were hosts to the Houston County Historical Society.

The program was presented in honor of the pioneer forefathers by members of the second, third, fourth and fifth generation. Five members of the second generation of the Fruechte family were present. They ranged in age from 78 to 94.

IN 1850 in the southeastern corner of Minnesota Territory lay a prairie covered with wild prairie grass a foot high. Roses bloomed here and there were borders of plum and crabapple blossoms, but only the birds and possibly a passing band of Indians knew they were there.

Freeman Graves, native of Vermont, who had emigrated to Wisconsin a few years earlier, the Everett brothers, and a widow, Mrs. James Robinson and her four sons moved here in 1851.

The Everett brothers originally came from New Portland, Maine, so possibly they gave Portland Prairie its name.

Some Rhode Island people located on Portland Prairie in 1854, coming by train as far as Rockford, Ill., then by stage to Galena, Ill., and thence by boat to Lansing, Iowa, and on foot. Lansing, only 20 miles from the prairie, was their trading post and post office several years.

The first settlers of German descent came in 1855, and in 1857 some Norwegian families located on the north end of the prairie.

EITZEN received its name from some of its first settlers who came from Eitzen, Germany. A blacksmith shop was opened here in 1862 by Thomas Biggs.

Other names familiar to pioneer days were Coil, Carver, Paine, Shumway, Albee, McNelly, Deters, Gerling, Cass, Metcalf, Lapham, Monk, Arnold, Thies, Bunge, Lauler and Weibke.

An exhibit of articles of pioneer days was arranged in the basement of the hall.

Eau Claire Man To Emcee Events At Alma Festival

ALMA, Wis.—The Alma Rod and Gun Club, which has been developing Rieck's Lake park, Alma's new picnic and tourist area, will hold a two-day festival here Saturday and Sunday.

Arthur Hansstrom, Eau Claire assistant executive secretary of the Indian Head Association, will emcee the event, which is to be an annual affair.

The new city park is on Highway 35, the "Great River Road," 2½ miles north of Alma, on the shore of scenic Rieck's Lake.

As a public service, members of the club have cleared the area, and with the help of donations of equipment and labor made of it an attractive spot. A shelter house has just been completed.

The club will use festival profits to buy more equipment for the park.

Saturday's program opens with music by the Alma High School band. Features will be queen judging and Indian ceremonial dances by Alma Boy Scouts, coronation dance and crowning of the queen in the evening.

Torn Pattison, Durand, state director of Farmers Home Administration will speak Sunday afternoon, and there will be canoe tilting contests featuring teams from the eight rod and gun clubs in the county, dunking games and other entertainment.

Both days there will be music by the Alma Fun Band, carnival rides, attendance prizes and serving of barbecued chicken.

A fireworks display Sunday night will climax the festival.

Girl, 3, Dies After Beating

SEDALIA, Mo. (AP)—Dana Henderson died Monday night, 10 days shy of her fourth birthday. Sheriff Emmitt said Billie Joe Moore, her 27-year-old mother, signed a statement in which she said she had repeatedly hit Dana with the buckle end of a belt after the girl misbehaved.

"I am going to make a lady of her," the sheriff quoted Mrs. Moore as saying.

Mrs. Moore was arrested a few hours before Dana's death on a warrant charging mistreatment of a child. She was released on $2,500 bond.

Prosecuting attorney Bob Fritz said he had prepared another warrant charging second-degree murder.

Jury Hearing $25,000 Suit In Road Death

Trial began in District Court here this morning of a $25,000 damage suit brought by the widow of a Bethany, Minn., man killed last July in the collision of two trucks near Bethany. The case is being heard by a jury.

The accident happened shortly before noon July 28 and involved a pickup truck driven north on the Bethany road by Walter Benck, whose farm was about three-quarters of a mile east of the accident scene, and a panel truck, traveling west on County State Aid Highway 27, driven by Reginald G. Nelson, 1606 Kraemer Dr., an employee of Winona Cleaning Works then owned by Robert N. Beadles, Winona.

The vehicles collided at the junction of the two roads and Benck died a short time later at Winona General Hospital.

Mrs. Benck, represented by Roger Brosnahan, Winona, has been appointed trustee for her husband's heirs and brought suit against Nelson and Beadles who are represented by Joseph Moonan, Waseca.

Judge Arnold Hatfield, Rochester, is presiding at this week's jury trials.

City Proposing Split with County On Meters in Lot

The go-ahead for parking meters in the courthouse parking lot was given by the City Council Monday night along lines suggested by Ald. James Stoltman, chairman of the parking and safety committee.

The Council agreed to submit an offer to the county commissioners to put in the meters, then split proceeds with the county after the meters have paid for themselves. After the revenues have paid the first costs, the city would take 60 percent of the parking money and the county would get 40 percent. The city would maintain the lot.

Ald. Stoltman said commissioners also would like parking spaces reserved for them when they attend meetings. Ald. Clarence Tribell then offered a friendly health hint to the county board on the benefits of exercise:

"We don't have meter privileges at our meetings," he said. "Why not let them park two or three blocks away. It would do them good to walk two or three blocks to their meetings."

Mrs. Muriel Ollom wanted to know why meters were necessary. President Harold Briesath said many people park there all day, claiming to be hotel guests, or courthouse personnel and it should be controlled.

Ald. Henry Parks said there was no other place in the downtown area where a car could be parked 24 hours and called it a problem of enforcement.

Ald. Stoltman recommended acceptance of the proposal he had worked out with the commissioners because they might close the lot completely, he said. Mayor R. E. Ellings said the city now maintains the lot and gets no revenue, so the only question is whether to put in meters, let them pay for themselves, then take 60 percent of the funds thereafter.

The motion was adopted with an opposition vote recorded by Ald. Lloyd Deike.

Buffalo Co. Residents Can Give Blood at Out-of-County Sites

ALMA, Wis.—The Red Cross bloodmobile from the St. Paul regional center is scheduled for Buffalo County in December.

This means that Buffalo County residents who want to give blood before they may donate when the bloodmobile visits adjacent counties, according to John S. Burg, Alma, county Red Cross chairman. They can do this until early October and still donate again in December. Many persons were unable to give blood at the last bloodmobile operation in February.

This week Wisconsinans may donate blood at the Red Cross bloodmobile at Winona and have their donation credited toward their one, two- or three-gallon pints. The age limit is 60.

Residents of Bluff Siding and Fountain City areas are most interested in the opportunity to go to Winona because so many of their number have received blood transfusions there.

Aldermen Hear Ringing in Ears

Councilmen complained Monday night of ringing noises in their ears, caused by telephone bells.

The calls were coming from residents of the area at the south end of Sugar Loaf Road, said Ald. James Stoltman, and callers want to know when their street will be surfaced.

Ald. Henry Parks put the question to City Engineer James Baird and asked him to take it up with the Carl W. Frank contracting firm which installed sanitary sewers there late last fall.

Baird said the street probably would be resurfaced by mid-July. It has been a poor year for bituminous surfacing everywhere, Baird said, and similar projects everywhere have been delayed. However, when equipment for the Broadway widening project is ready for the bituminous work, the Sugar Loaf job will be included, Baird said.

Among reasons for the long wait, Baird cited the fact that after the sewer was installed, eight new water leads went in, further cutting up the street. Some were winter installations, Baird said, and proper compaction was not obtained contributing to the existing rough condition of the street. He also quoted excerpts from Council proceedings which recorded delays occasioned by Council actions in handling the project.

Council President Harold Briesath asked Baird to contact Frank and request completion of the street covering work as soon as possible.

Two minor accidents Monday afternoon and evening resulted in about $250 damage. There were no injuries.

Police said that cars driven by William E. Wolfe, 647 Gilmore Ave., and Mrs. William Christensen, Winona Rt. 3, collided at Bellevue and Sioux streets at 3:40 p.m.

Damage to each car was estimated by police at more than $50. Neither driver was charged.

At 7:35 p.m., cars driven by William Walther, Willmar, Minn., and Mrs. Orlin Halverson, Peterson, Minn., collided at Highway 14 and 61.

Police said both cars were driving west on Highway 61. The Halverson car was attempting to turn left on Highway 14, while Walther was attempting to turn left on Highway 61 Service Road.

Damage to Walther's car was estimated by police at more than $100, to Halverson's car, more than $50. Neither driver was charged.

Red Cross Solicitor Fraudulent, Police Told by Secretary

A fraudulent attempt to solicit funds for Red Cross was reported today by police.

Mrs. E. S. Kjos, executive secretary of Winona County Red Cross Chapter, told police a woman about 50 came to the door of a Winona woman and asked for a special donation. The woman, who had with her a little gray poodle in a "dark" car, did not carry credentials and was evasive when questioned.

The woman claimed that a special fund-raising drive was needed since Red Cross has been active in many recent disasters.

Only one complaint has been made to date, Mrs. Kjos said.

Four Lewiston Area Schools Consolidated

Four districts around Lewiston voted 58-34 Monday to consolidate with the Independent District 857, adding $463,792 valuation to the district.

With the consolidation of the Altura district, also effective July 1, the Lewiston district will have a valuation of $2,150,225 to finance a building program either within the district alone or as part of an area setup.

AND TWO OTHER Lewiston area districts soon may be voting on whether to consolidate with the Lewiston district. Two separate plans, one involving North Warren (2573) and Wyattville (2547), have been submitted by the county superintendent of schools to the state Department of Education. If they are approved and the required number of signatures are secured on petitions for elections, they would be held separately in the two common school districts.

If Wyattville approved, it would add a valuation of $98,252, if North Warren approved it would add $94,195, for a grand total of $2,342,672.

Both schools are open, each with eight elementary students. North Warren sends 10 secondary students to Lewiston and Wyattville seven.

OF THE FOUR districts which voted Monday as one unit, 2560 (old 19) and 2564 (Bethany) have closed schools. The former sends one elementary and four high school students to Lewiston. Bethany sends 14 elementary schools to Altura and 10 secondary students to Lewiston.

The other two district schools are open: 2592 (Jackson) has 15 enrolled and sends three to Lewiston High and 2515 (Fremont) has 23 and sends six to Lewiston High.

A member of the Lewiston school board said today that the board has discussed Jackson and Fremont schools and it appears that at least one of them, possibly two, may be open next year.

A decision is expected at the July 9 reorganization meeting of the board.

The breakdown of the vote in the districts, with only Fremont opposed:

	For	Against
2560	18	4
2564	15	1
2592	12	11
2515	13	18
	58	34

County Superintendent of Schools Jesse Jettus issued the order of consolidation today.

It is expected that the Lewiston board will appoint a director to succeed Webster Fischer, a director and clerk for eight years, whose current term has one year to run. He is vice president and cashier of Security State Bank at Lewiston.

State law provides that where a district includes more than one bank, a director associated with one of the banks cannot serve on the board if the district does any banking with the bank. Inclusions of the Altura district July 1 will add a second bank to the district.

19 Spanish-War Vets Elect St. Paul Man As State Commander

Scott Gipple, St. Paul, cousin of Bert Gipple, Galesville, was elected commander of the United Spanish War Veterans of Minnesota at the group's convention in Albert Lea last weekend. Peter Longhrey, 415 W. Sanborn St., was toastmaster at the convention.

There were about 19 USWV delegates and about 60 Auxiliary members attending.

93 Pints Blood Donated Here

Ninety-three pints of blood were given by Winona County donors Monday on the first day of a five-day collection by the Red Cross bloodmobile.

Monday's contributions fell short of the quota of 125 pints a day set for the period the mobile blood unit will be at Lucas Lodge.

MRS. CARL BREITLOW, blood program chairman of the Winona County chapter, said that she had been advised that the St. Paul blood bank supply of blood is short at the present time and an appeal was made for increased participation by Winona County donors.

Mrs. Breitlow also said that a special need exists for O-type blood.

The bloodmobile will be at Lucas Lodge, West 5th and Huff streets, through Friday.

Through Thursday hours are 1 to 7 p.m. and on Friday, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Appointments may be made by calling Lucas Lodge. Donors may give blood without prior appointment.

Three Winonans who gave blood Monday became four-gallon donors. They are Mrs. Harold O'Dea, Paul A. Blicher and Harry Rader.

Others who have given on four or more occasions are:

Three-gallon donors — Lewis R. Burt and William D. Schwanke.

Council Answers Question About 'Where Shall We Go?'

It'll still be convenient to obtain a drink in Winona following observance of annual "license night" by the City Council Monday evening.

The number of taverns may be down by one, but the lineup of various types of outlets is approximately as follows:

FOR LIQUOR: 27 places, including 15 bars they get what is known as on-sale license—drinking on premises, 11 clubs, and one cabaret, plus another eight places where you can buy it but not drink it (they have off-sale licenses). In Minnesota liquor places have either off-or on-sale licenses, never both, although sometimes licenses are in adjoining buildings under same management.

The liquor licenses include strong beer—more than 3.2 percent alcohol.

FOR BEER: About 25 so-called taverns. They get off-and on-sale malt beverage (beer) licenses; you can drink and buy it there, or you can buy and carry it away.

Last night the Council went along with the police chief's recommendation to not issue a license to one applicant and to at least delay issuing a license to another applicant.

In addition to the 25-odd tavern licenses, the aldermen approved two on-sale only beer licenses, one for a bowling alley and one for a club. Of the city's 11 clubs, nine others got off- and on-sale beer licenses and of the 15 on-sale liquor license holders, 12 also got off- and on-sale beer licenses.

Then there are another 11 places where you can only buy 3.2 beer and carry it away. They have off-sale beer licenses; most of these are held by grocery stores.

Altogether there are about 76 places licensed to sell beer (3.2) and about 35 places licensed to sell liquor and strong beer, but the actual totals are less because of duplications aforementioned.

WITH ONE dissenting vote the Council supported Chief of Police George Savord in his recommendation to not issue an off-and on-sale beer license to Mrs. Roger (Hazel) Prondzinski at 900 E. Sanborn St. The tavern has been closed a year; for five years previous she did have a license after her husband had lost the license because of a beer sale to a minor.

Fourth Ward Ald. Daniel Barnbenek voted against the motion to reject the application.

After the action Mrs. Prondzinski told the aldermen that there had been some police calls to the address, but they were because of domestic trouble and had nothing to do with the tavern operation. She said she had operated a "clean tavern," and added that she had three children to support and her husband was not working. There's a debt on the building, she added.

ON THE BASIS of her appeal aldermen asked Chief Savord to provide an explanation for the refusal to recommend a license.

Second Ward Ald. Lloyd Deike noted that no human being is infallible and "it behooves the Council to make a further investigation." Such a decision, he added, shouldn't be "arbitrary and capricious."

Savord said that the pertinent portion of the city code is Section 4-88—"No license to sell malt beverages shall be issued to any person who is not a citizen of the United States and a resident of the city or who is under the age of 21 years or who, in the opinion and discretion of the City Council, is not a fit and proper person to engage in such business, or who has not the necessary and proper location and equipment for the sale of malt beverages."

The chief noted that since Mrs. Prondzinski is a citizen, 21 and a resident of the city, it is obvious that the decision not to recommend a license was made for other reasons.

However, he said he was not trying to be a "one-man judge" and that the decision to disapprove a license is "not taken lightly."

WHEN HE WAS asked to reveal the contents of the police file which he had with him, President Briesath asked that it be off-the-record. When the representative of the Daily News said that this could not be granted in advance, the chief said he would not reveal the contents publicly. He said, however, that he would show the file to representatives of the Council privately.

The chief indicated that the file included a number of reports of illegal activities, but no convictions.

Of his tavern and bar enforcement program the chief said that the city has had "cleaner bars these past few years: A lot less bootlegging, a lot less petty gambling, fewer tavern brawls."

After meeting with the chief the Council informally decided not to change its action denying a license to Mrs. Prondzinski.

ON RECOMMENDATION of the chief these off- and on-sale beer licenses were issued because the applicants in his opinion meet the requirements of the city code:

Mrs. John (Delores) Beck, 117 Main St., where the license has been held by her father-in-law, Charles Beck.

Mrs. Russell (Elizabeth) Hoffman, 500 W. 5th St., where the license has been held by Max Peplinski.

Gabriel E. Meier, 74 E. 2nd St., where the license has been held by George Serwa.

Donald Troke, 528 Center St., where the license has been held by Clarence V. Troke.

ON RECOMMENDATION of the chief the Council did not issue an off-and on-sale beer license to Selmer Julson at 315 Steuben St. The chief wrote: "It is respectfully requested that the license to sell 3.2 malt beverages not be reissued to the above named applicant at this time. This department is currently investigating certain allegations affecting this tavern operation which are of concern to the community."

The health department had put its stamp of approval on all licenses from the health standpoint as a result of an inspection of all of them. Dr. W. W. Haesky reported: "It was found that all health department regulations and specifications are well adhered to."

The Council passed an ordinance amending the trash haulers fee from $5 per hauler to $5 per unit, effective immediately.

Other licenses issued:

McLeod Files For Legislature

Donald McLeod, 49, Lewiston, filed Monday afternoon with County Auditor Richard Schoonover for re-election as Winona County rural representative in the state Legislature. He will be seeking his fifth two-year term.

First elected in 1954, he has been re-elected in succeeding biennial elections.

A minority member of the House, McLeod served as a member of five committees during the last session: Appropriations, which he has been a member three terms, drainage and soil conservation, towns and cities, insurance and motor vehicles.

He is the first to file for the post of county representative. The district embraces all areas of the county outside the city of Winona.

A lifelong area resident, he has farmed in Fremont Township many years and now owns a 280-acre farm in Saratoga Township.

Council to Check On Clark's Lane Drainage Problem

Runoff waters of Sunday evening's brief but torrential rain brought the question of flood control at Clark's Lane bobbing to the surface again at Monday night's City Council meeting.

City Engineer James Baird told the Council he and street department personnel had been on hand Sunday evening to keep the catch basin open at the upper end of Clark's Lane. A three-quarter-inch rainfall within 15 minutes had brought surface water pouring down the valley but the clearing job enabled the catch basin to handle the flood, Baird said.

ALD. Clarence Tribell told the Council he strongly favored a group inspection by aldermen and department heads as soon as possible. Aldermen later approved Tribell's motion setting next Monday at 7 p.m. as the date for the trip.

Mrs. Muriel Ollom, 1st Ward alderman, concurred. The issue has been put off long enough, she said, and the upshot might well be that "we will lose Johnstone Addition." The constant fear of flooding would discourage people from living there, she said.

Baird suggested his department make a topographic survey to determine how high a dam would have to be to impound flood waters over a given area. Such a dam might be built for less than $10,000, he said, or it could cost more, with the profile of the area a vital determining factor.

ADDED Impetus toward early action was provided by a reminder from City Attorney George Robertson that $12,000 in claims were filed against the city last October by three residents in the Clark's Lane area for flood damage.

A similar problem on a smaller scale, that of drainage and siting on Terry Lane, to the west of the A. M. Kramer development, also drew some pointed comments. Mrs. Ollom said runoff waters in that area leave deposits of mud and Council President Harold Briesath said responsibility for much of the problem belongs to the area developer because of excavations on the hillside. Ald. Lloyd Deike said the Council should sit down with Kramer and work out the problem to the mutual satisfaction of all, but no resolution was moved to formalize the council's intent.

Engineers Say Again No Aid For Levee Wall

The Corps of Engineers, once again, has told the city of Winona that no federal funds are available for repair of the levee wall here.

Ald. Lloyd E. Deike had asked Cong. Albert H. Quie to investigate the oft-investigated possibility of getting federal funds.

The Engineers wrote Cong. Quie: Investigations made found that restoration of the wall at Winona would not result in sufficient benefits to either flood control or navigation to warrant accomplishment at federal expense.

"Your letter raises the question whether the locally desired work might be eligible for accomplishment either as a small flood control project under special authority or as a small navigation project. The legislation requires that project benefits must exceed project costs."

In view of this requirement, it must be concluded that the desired repair of the Winona wall would not be eligible for accomplishment under either special authority.

Cong. Quie wrote: "I regret that the decision was not favorable, and in view of the previous unfavorable reports of the Corps of Engineers, there does not appear to be any possibility to obtain any federal assistance at this time for repair or rehabilitation of the levee wall."

Rushford Nominates Officials at Caucus

Boat Found, Then Stolen

Two thefts, one involving a 16-foot runabout boat, were reported to police.

Robert A. Meier, 409 W. Broadway, told police Sunday he had found a boat floating in the Mississippi River following the storm Sunday evening. He said he tied up the boat to a boom on Latsch Island near the interstate bridge.

Later, at about 4 p.m. Monday Lewis Woychek, 1022 W. 2nd St., told police that his boat, a 16-foot Arkansas Traveler runabout, was stolen. The description matched that of one of Meiers. The boat, however, was missing from the boom where Meier reportedly had tied it. Also missing was a 30-horsepower Evinrude motor.

The boat is red and white. Its license number is MN 6185 AG.

John Schneider, 506 E. Broadway, reported to police that fishing equipment valued at about $40 was stolen from his garage at home sometime between Wednesday and Sunday. Equipment includes a rod and reel, plugs and miscellaneous fishing equipment.

Lolita Learns of Birds -- And N.Y.

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "Lolita" stayed up till 2 o'clock the other morning learning about the birds and the bees—and the hustling of motion pictures.

Blonde, outspoken Sue Lyon, who'll be 15 for another three weeks, went to Greenwich Village coffeehouse in the beatnik area during the movie premiere she was too young to attend. Then in a party dress she scintillated at a great soiree high up in the Tower Suite. She shook about 500 hands, thanked movie stars who said she was magnificent. Older men restrained their whistles. Sue then sat quietly with her mother and tutor who said playing a nymphlet will never stully their very poised little girl.

I said Sue was outspoken—for I asked her in her St. Regis suite where she'd been hiding for about a week, whether she'd tried to do "Lolita" as she was in the novel. "I never read the whole book," Sue confessed, while pacing. "I thought some of it was ridiculous. I got a little bored with it. . . . "Do you have any boyfriends?" I asked.

"Many," she answered. "I tried to get a date with one boy for a couple of years. When he'd call up my brother, I'd go hot and cold."

"HE CALLED up after I got the movie—we had a date—and a terrible time. We had nothing to say to each other. He thought I wasn't sophisticated enough—and him all of 17?"

I tore up his picture after that. I hope he reads this and recognizes himself.

She added, though, "I have about four I go out with regularly. One is 17, one is 20. I've met some 25-year-olds who act like 12-year-olds!"

SUE'S MOTHER, Sue Karr Lyon, a widow, remarked while smoking a cigarette that she'd consulted her minister about Sue playing "an unsavory role" and that the minister had said: "Sue can keep her life apart from the parts she plays."

He had approved, so had Sue's Sunday School teacher. "As Sue said, 'Look! Hundreds of girls were begging to do it!'"

"But I've been bewildered running into some criticism where I least expected it," her mother said.

"Have you lost any friends?" I asked.

Sue's answer shot across the room. "NONE!" she said. "If a friend is a friend, nothing is going to break it up."

Sue—5 feet 3—34-22-35 ("I sound beautiful, don't I?" she laughed)—was a little vague about her first two hometowns, Davenport, Iowa, and Dallas, but specific that Director Stanley Kubrick had cured her of nail-biting and that Producer James Harris, her escort, has her under contract and must be talked to about deals.

"DID YOU think 'Lolita' has caused friendships between young girls and older men? I seem to see a lot of them," I said.

"Did you ever think they might be their fathers or fathers?" Sue said. "I go to the movies with my older brother—and you should see the dirty looks WE get."

EARL'S PEARLS: Nowadays you'll find almost everything in the average American home except the family.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Leon Abramson recalls the waiter in a midwest restaurant who said he served blended coffee. "It's blended — yesterday's and today's."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: An actor explaining why his marriage broke up: "She didn't love me as much as I did."

"Father's Day is always a tense occasion for me," notes Dick Gregory. "I keep thinking: What if my wife gives me something I can't afford? . . . That's earl, brother."

Tourism is the most important industry on the Isle of Man, in the middle of the Irish Sea. Manxmen call the tourists "come-overs."

VOICE OF THE OUTDOORS

ST. PAUL (AP) — The St. Paul City Bureau of Health today reported that fluoridation of municipal water supplies over the past five years has cut tooth decay of children in the 5-15 brackets more than 35 per cent.

Results of a survey of more than 20,000 elementary and junior high school pupils were disclosed at a meeting of the participating groups.

These included the bureau, the St. Paul Area Health Council, Department of Education, Bureau of Education of the St. Paul Catholic Archdiocese, the Minnesota Department of Health, and the St. Paul District Dental Society.

The study included examination of the teeth of 13,402 children by 165 dentist volunteers who visited 30 schools last Feb. 7 and a comparison with a similar city-wide survey conducted on 8,352 pupils in February 1953.

Findings reported included: a 35 per cent reduction in decay of permanent teeth; dental decay of deciduous, or baby teeth, declined 27 per cent; the number of children with decay-free permanent teeth jumped 50 per cent; and there was a 71 per cent drop in the number of permanent teeth missing.

The city started adding fluoride to its water in October 1952 but the campaign was carried on only sporadically until 1957 when uninterrupted fluoridation was begun.

The report said figures indicated that the younger the child, the greater the benefit. The most dramatic cut in decay was noted in the 3-6 age bracket, with 1,103 decayed teeth per child against national figures from non-fluoride areas of more than three decayed teeth each.

Dr. William Jordan, state dental health chief, said he knows of no other major city where fluoridation was installed with less controversy.

Lucius Clay Gets Brotherhood Award

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Conference of Christians and Jews has presented its brotherhood award to Gen. Lucius D. Clay "for distinguished service in the field of human relations."

Clay, who recently served as President Kennedy's personal representative in Berlin, was honored Monday night at a $100-a-plate dinner in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was among the industrial, professional and civic leaders attending the dinner. In 1943, Clay served under Eisenhower, then supreme Allied commander in Europe, as deputy military governor of the U.S. zone in Germany.

The armadillo has dim sight and poor hearing.

There are 1,252 symphony orchestras in the United States.

The principle of merit pay was incorporated in a proposal which calls for salary increases raising the minimum salary for a teacher from $3,760 (for teaching assistants) to $4,500 and the high (for full professors) from $10,400 to $13,000.

Dr. Neumaier, asked what he thought of the merit increase recommended by one of the board members, said:

"We will have an exodus of instructors from state colleges if we don't improve the conditions under which they work by providing merit increases."

With largemouth, we are finding more mosquito-proofed fishermen, knee deep in the backwaters, casting poppers out ahead in the upper ends of sloughs. Here again, a battle breaks the second the plug is hit. You've got to be fast to hook them.

Night fishing for bass has shown an increased popularity the last couple of weeks. It will probably get better as the water declines and "dog days" become a part of each evening on the insect-infested backwaters. It is good fishing if one can take it.

The Whitewater was fishable Monday. The South Branch was slightly cloudy but otherwise the runoff was not sufficient to dirty the creeks. The Middle and North branches were being fished Monday.

Flood Control

Flood control is important, to this sector of the Mississippi River. In fact, the next couple of years could produce a flood that will again give Winona a scare. According to engineering data, we are entering a wet cycle.

Thus the 17th annual Midwestern States Flood Control and Water Resources Conference in St. Paul June 26-27 has more than passing interest. Tho

PORTLAND, Maine (AP)—A self-tagged moderate liberal congressman has won Republican renomination in Maine over a staunch conservative.

Rep. Stanley R. Tupper whipped Rep. Peter A. Garland in the 1st District which is being expanded to take in part of Tupper's present 2nd District in a reapportionment by which the state loses one of three House seats in January.

Tupper's margin was roughly 5 to 3 in Monday's biennial primaries.

He will compete in November against former State Rep. Thomas L. Maynard who beat school principal Clyde Bartlett 7 to 5 for the Democratic nomination.

In the only other major contest Maynard C. Dolloff won the Democratic nomination for governor with a razor-edge decision over National Committeeman Richard J. Duhold.

Power Engineers Invited to City

A bid to host the 55th annual convention of the Minnesota Association of Power Engineers in 1964 was submitted by Winona Chapter 4 at final sessions of this year's state convention that ended Saturday at Rochester.

C. A. Hedlund, Winona Rt. 1, retiring state president, was elected to the association's board of trustees and was presented a special gavel from the membership and a blanket from the state officers in recognition of his service during the past year.

William Hunt, Northfield, was elected state president succeeding Hedlund and St. Paul was selected as the 1963 convention city.

Resolutions adopted by delegates call for promotion of education of the engineer both in his profession and civic responsibilities in the community and the advancement of the engineering profession as a whole.

Reports of the 90 delegates representing 16 chapters indicated increased interest in the state vocational education program.

Representing the Winona chapter were Hedlund; James Merrill, chapter president; Stanley Hansen, conductor, and Lester Vorbeck, secretary.

WEAVER WSCS (Special)—The Women's Society of Christian Service of Weaver Methodist Church will meet Thursday at 2 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Mae Kranz, Snake Creek. Mrs. Herbert Lahn and Mrs. Donald Peters and Mrs. Kranz are hostesses. Friends are welcome. If there is rain they will meet at the church hall.

Armed Forces

The Navy recruiting office in Winona announced that according to the present policy there are only a few days left for enlistment under its three-year program.

Under the present policy men between the ages of 17 and 27 may enlist in the Navy for three years. On July 1 the Navy goes back to the regular four-year enlistment.

Budget-Balancing Debate Raging

(Editor's Note: Are U.S. fiscal policies out of step with the times? In this, the first of four self-contained articles, Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, discusses the impact of government spending, in and out of the budget, on business and jobs.)

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Balancing a budget is a neat trick if you can do it—as many a family man knows.

On a national scale the attempt has, more often than not, frustrated presidents for decades.

And now the balancing trick is complicated still more by a big debate just starting.

Is balancing the federal budget really the virtue it's cracked up to be? Should we abandon the type of budget we've used for decades in favor of one of several other devices in vogue in Washington?

Or maybe, should we adopt the kind of deficit-ignoring bookkeeping they've used in Europe with seemingly marked success since the war?

The debate should be bitter. It will challenge some strongly held beliefs. President Kennedy has termed some of these conceptions myths.

You probably will choose sides.

Will Area Communities Meet Their Responsibility?

AT THE HEIGHT of the Berlin crisis last summer, two National Guard divisions and associated Army Reserve units were activated, among them Co. C, 1st Battle Group, 128th Infantry of Arcadia, Wis., and the 544th Ordnance Company of Wabasha, Minn.

By going on active duty, the men of these units not only freed Regular Army troops for possible rapid deployment overseas, but they enabled the Army to train many thousands of additional soldiers.

As a result, when these men come home in August, they will be leaving behind them 16 fully armed, combat-ready divisions, compared with the 11 divisions we had available a year ago.

MEMBERS OF THE Arcadia and Wabasha units reside not only in those communities but others throughout Southeastern Minnesota and Western Wisconsin.

The time has come for these communities to begin to plan to welcome these men home. Many of them suffered considerable personal hardship at the time of the call-up. Most of them face a number of problems on their return.

For example, many of them had to sell their homes, livestock, machinery. They had to leave jobs, school, their communities. And now they must pick up the pieces of their private lives. Until that is done, these men will be unable to readjust to civilian life.

ALL OF US have a continuing responsibility to these men who provided, at considerable personal hardship, the strength in reserve which our country needed—when it was needed. A proper community attitude will ease the transition for them back into the mainstream of community life.

Part of the responsibility of each community toward these men is the setting up of machinery to assist them to secure housing and loans, to obtain leniency from credit firms so that financial obligations can be met, to inform them of their re-employment rights, and to help them resume their studies.

WILL ARCADIA and Wabasha and all the other communities involved meet this responsibility? We feel certain they will.

Faster Action Needed On Highway 61

"MAYBE WE SHOULD revive the old Highway 61 Association," somebody said at lunch the other day. And the tourist-oriented crowd attending the Great River Road meeting here seemed more interested than anything else in pressing the State Highway Department official present for faster action on improving this important Minnesota tourist trail that follows the Mississippi from La Crescent to St. Paul.

U. S. 61 will soon be a handsome four-lane divided thoroughfare from Minneapolis to the La Crosse-La Crosse bridge. But from Minneapolis to Wabasha it's particularly narrow. That section is bad enough to scare tourist traffic off the whole highway, but—as one highway department critic put it—"at the rate they're going it will be 15 years before it's completed."

BORN BACK when old State Highway 3 was renamed U. S. 61, the Highway 61 Association performed yeoman service in pressing for improvements. Stretches of gravel surface gradually gave way to concrete pavement, and the highway was widened.

The association has been inactive lately, but it could well come to life because there's an urgent, important job to do. The only suggestion we would make is that a reactivated Highway 61 Association ought to be realistic enough to help the highway department with its financial problems along with insisting on faster U. S. 61 rebuilding. Highway boosters should be working for a higher Minnesota gas tax and bonding authority for the state highway department when the Legislature convenes again next January.

MINNESOTA PRESENTLY—despite a relatively small population and a relatively large area—taxes gasoline at one of the nation's lowest rates. Minnesota highway authorities have just as hard a time as the ordinary householder making one dollar do the work of two.—Red Wing Republican Eagle.

To him therefore that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not to him it is sin. James 4:17.

Washington Calling

Kennedy Side Of the Story

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—One day last week Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy had at lunch in his office 16 representatives from New York of the top echelon of the management of finance and industry. These were spokesmen for the business community which now confronts the administration across a wide gulf of suspicion and hostility.

The invitation had been extended at the request of one of the 16 who felt it was important to hear the "Kennedy side" of the story. The attorney general devoted much of his talk to citing the proof that his brother, the President, far from being anti-business is in fact a true friend of private enterprise.

In conclusion he uttered a mild warning. He said in effect, and he quoted a newspaper columnist to buttress his remarks, that if business leaders went on saying the President was anti-business he might well become so. At the end Bobby Kennedy was convinced he had persuaded the group of the President's favorable attitude. He added grimly afterward, however, that if each individual businessman has to be persuaded personally then it would be some time after the year 2000 before a truce could be arranged.

There can be little doubt that the attitude in the lofty upper reaches of Wall Street is one of unrelenting hostility. That attitude is summed up by the comment of some of the richest men in America on the stock market slide: Now we've got him where we want him.

IN SHORT, the President must come to terms if business is to renew its confidence in the economy and launch a program of reinvestment that relieves doubts about the state of business. This means, above all, far more favorable terms of depreciation for the writeoff of one plant. The business community is simply not interested in the investment credit proposed in the administration tax bill which is one reason it is unlikely to pass.

What the President is experiencing, as a man of action, a self-confident pragmatist who has been so much a part of a winning system, is profoundly frustrating. This frustration is reflected in his speech at the Yale commencement. You could not, he said, blame every unfavorable turn of the speculative wheel on "lack of confidence in the national administration." He was saying that the stock market fall was a natural and even an inevitable phenomenon, correcting a long imbalance between earnings and stock prices, and therefore to blame him for it was wholly irrational.

BUT THAT is what a large part of the business community is doing. He held out the olive branch at Yale—the administration will not give way to general hostility merely because there has been a single temporary disagreement with an industry. Whether it will be grasped and what its acceptance can mean for the economy is part of this moment of doubt. The President is pausing uncertainly on the bank of a broad and swiftly flowing Rubicon.

Some of the men around the President, taking a philosophic view of what is happening, believe that it was bound to come. Every active President from Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson through Franklin Roosevelt—going back, for that matter, to Andrew Jackson—taking a view of the need for government intervention comes up against the financial-business interest.

They cite particularly the parallel of FDR in 1934 when, with the worst of the depression raged, the business community rounded on Roosevelt through the medium of the Liberty League. The parallel is, however, superficial. FDR in the spring of '34 had much more political latitude, as the election that fall and in 1936 proved, than the present occupant of the White House seems to have.

BUSINESS HAS its great and good friend, Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, as chairman of the Senate Finance Committee sitting at the toll gate. Byrd is the principal apostle of what the President at Yale called the false dialogue opposing "a balanced budget" against "reckless spending." He intends to thwart the President and it may very well be that he has the power to prevent passage of the tax bill that has been before Congress for more than a year. He will almost certainly resist a tax cut and it is possible that here, too, he may frustrate the Kennedy plan for next year.

At this moment the President cannot afford a philosophic or an academic view of the situation. Despite all the reassurances that have come from the administration since the market slide, the economy is not moving up with anything like the momentum essential to take up the long persistent slack in manpower and idle machinery. Steel production for the year is not expected to go over 65 percent, unemployment is only slightly below 5.5 percent, and there is much additional hidden unemployment reflecting the failure to absorb a million and a half new workers each year.

These facts press hard on the President. They are a challenge that cannot be evaded.

Problems for Symington In Stock Pile Probing

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The Senate Subcommittee probing stockpile scandals has now subpoenaed private documents from the files of Freeport Sulphur which put John Hay Whitney, chief owner of Freeport and publisher of the New York Herald Tribune, on the spot.

They also pose a problem for sincere Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, chairman of the investigating committee, who is related to Whitney, and to the editor of the Herald Tribune.

One confidential document shows that when Whitney and Freeport Sulphur were trying to get a government contract to mine nickel in Cuba they held a meeting in the New York office of James Brownlee, who was both Whitney's brokerage partner and a member of the office of Defense Mobilization Borrowing Authority Review Board.

At this meeting Brownlee told Whitney and Langbourne Williams, president of Freeport, that though they had been turned down for a new nickel plant he would introduce them to Harold Vance, chairman of Studebaker, then acting as chairman of the ODM review board.

The review board was an internal ODM unit with no opportunity for outsiders to appear before it. Its minutes were classified and its operations highly secret. Yet Brownlee arranged for his partner to get a favorable hearing. One general services administration official at the time described Brownlee's activities as so energetic in favor of Freeport that he appeared to be working for them.

Pearson

THE General Services Administration staff which passed on government stockpile contracts, was dead opposed to a new contract for Freeport. They agreed with Howard Young, Defense Mobilization plants deputy administrator, that more nickel production was unnecessary.

However, they were overruled. On Oct. 18, 1954, contract number DMP 105 was given Whitney's Freeport Sulphur to build a pilot plant in Louisiana, to develop nickel from Moa Bay, Cuba, under a new sulphur leaching process. Cost to the government was $5,000,000.

On the same date, contract number DMP 106 was signed with Freeport by which the government purchased 75,000,000 pounds of nickel at market price plus 15 cents a pound for the first 15,000,000 pounds.

This was considered a highly favorable contract considering the fact that the Korean War was now over and the need for government nickel had diminished, and considering the further fact that many members of General Services and ODM were opposed.

HOWEVER, ALMOST simultaneous with Whitney's call at the White House early in 1955 and his talks with Brownlee, his good friend Harry Luce of Time, Life and Fortune had published an explosive article in Fortune highly critical of Jess Larson, Truman's General Services administrator who had favored National Lead, not Freeport.

The files which have been subpoenaed by the Senate committee show that Freeport had free access to much of ODM's classified information during this period, and that it had special privileges which no other nickel company got.

Despite this favorable position, Freeport wasn't satisfied. It wanted to change the terms of its contract, and demanded new negotiations first to increase the price, second to sell more nickel.

The Defense Department was opposed to buying more nickel and so was the Interior Department. They argued that the Korean War was long over. (It had ended in early 1953 and it was now 1955.)

General Services was also opposed to increasing the price or the amount of nickel.

However, in the year 1956 Eisenhower was running for re-election and in that year Whitney contributed a cool $52,000 to his campaign.

THE FILES show that Arthur Fleming, then Office of Defense Mobilization, gave specific orders to change the nickel requirements. And after the election, following several months of negotiations, a new contract, DMP 134, was signed which increased the government purchase of nickel from Freeport from 75,000,000 pounds to 271,000,000 pounds. It also increased the price to a flat 74 cents a pound. There was a side contract for 23,825,000 pounds of cobalt at $2 a pound.

Altogether, $206,790,000 was to be paid. Jack Whitney's firm despite the fact that the Defense and Interior departments were against the whole thing. A significant statement by Attorney General William Rogers, trusted member of the Eisenhower cabinet, tried to minimize the loss.

"Ultimate net loss to the government," he said, "is not expected to exceed much more than $6,000,000."

Whitney had been appointed ambassador to London a few weeks before the contract was signed, and severed all relations with Freeport. But after he went to London, the records show that he had some correspondence with Williams, president of Freeport, giving him a report on the deal.

That's part of the story which the White House is watching to see if it ever gets out of Senate committee files.

Keep Eyes on Supreme Court

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers and city dwellers alike should keep their eyes on a case the Supreme Court has just decided to review. The outcome is likely to be of enormous political importance.

It may give a tip-off on just how much political power the man-with-the-hoe or in modern parlance the man driving the tractor combine must surrender to his city and suburban cousins.

Strain of Childbirth Repaired

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Just what is meant by a "vaginal repair"? Is it a serious operation?—J. F. M.

The strain of childbirth sometimes stretches supporting tissues of the vaginal tract so that the nearby bladder may sag out of its normal position (this is called cystocele) or the rectal area may be displaced (this is called rectocele).

The results can be difficult in urination or in bowel action. In the former, chronic inflammation of the bladder (or cystitis) may develop.

Through-out history, up to the last few decades, childbirth has been a dangerous experience. Today, with modern drugs and modern surgery, not to mention germ-free operating rooms and sterile instruments, mortality from childbirth has been reduced to a small fraction of one percent.

We are prone to recall that years ago women often toiled in the fields until a short time before giving birth, and perhaps were back at work not very long afterwards.

These were the young, rugged, fortunate mothers. When we discuss them, we tend to forget how many others died; how many women, old before they should have been, left orphaned children for others to raise.

CHILDBIRTH REMAINS a substantial risk in some parts of the world today. Only where good medical care and nursing are available has the danger become small. So—and this is a necessary warning, I'm afraid—we still must use these advantages if we want the benefits. Medical supervision should begin as soon as a pregnancy is known. Don't wait until it's time for the baby to be born, if you want a full measure of safety.

However, I get back to vaginal repair. These stretching injuries are minor compared to the infection dangers that have been so well conquered. But they are nuisances, and they are an impairment of health, and they should be corrected.

IN A VERY real sense, the repair is a form of internal "plastic surgery." I don't, of course, mean that a plastic surgeon, in the cosmetic sense, is required. General surgeons and gynecologists perform these operations.

Since any surgery involves some risk, however small, I perpetually urge that we never relax vigilance, and never resort to surgery for trivial purposes. I wouldn't have a tooth pulled without a good reason for doing so, but I'd never hesitate a moment, once I had a valid reason.

Vaginal repair is being done every day. It contributes mightily to health and comfort. It is not "serious" in the ordinary sense—it doesn't jeopardize life, and doesn't involve unpleasant complications. There is no reason to fear this kind of routine, helpful surgery.

Dear Dr. Molner: My son, 17, has tried all different brands of deodorants but still perspires so much. What can we do?—M. W.

Most deodorants reduce odor but will not necessarily decrease perspiration. A more astringent application, such as 10 to 15 percent aluminum chloride dabbed on the perspiring areas, may reduce the amount of sweating. As it declines, your son's nerves may well relax, and that in itself helps a great deal.

Dear Dr. Molner: My mother is 91 and has trouble in eating. She coughs,

The Supreme Court has already ruled that courts have jurisdiction to handle complaints of metropolitan residents that state voting systems are "invidiously" unbalanced.

In more than 30 states, there is ferment. City and suburban citizens have started lawsuits, forced special sessions of state legislatures—or threatened to, launched movements for state constitutional amendments or taken other steps. Their aim: To get more representation in state legislatures, in keeping with their vastly increased numbers.

One big trouble is that, so far, there are no sure guidelines on what constitutes invidious, unconstitutional discrimination.

Must state voting systems give each man's vote the same weight as every other man's, or nearly so? Can one house of a state legislature be apportioned on a population basis, like the U. S. House of Representatives and the other according to geography like the U. S. Senate? Nobody knows for certain.

On April 28, a three-judge federal court threw out a century-old county unit system in Georgia, even though it had been slightly modified. This system was used in Democratic primaries for governor and other offices. Under the old system a rural resident's vote could be worth 99 city votes.

The Democratic party of Georgia appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court. The tribunal agreed Monday to hear the case, but not until the term starting next October. This apparently means that, with the county unit system out the window at least temporarily, Georgia will select its governor Sept. 12 on a basis of popular votes.

The three-judge lower court suggested that a unit system would not be invidious if the difference in the weight of individual votes in various counties were no greater than in the U. S. Electoral College.

This would allow much leeway. The greatest disproportion in the Electoral College is between Alaska, which has three electoral votes, and New York, which has 45. This amounts to one electoral vote for 76,000 citizens of Alaska and one for 375,000 citizens of New York.

Will the Supreme Court go for this standard of ableness? The decision next term may tell.

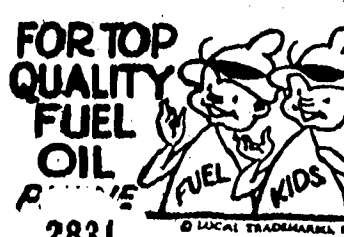

chokes and gulps. The doctor said he has had a slight stroke, but she is still very active.—L. T.

It's entirely possible for a stroke to involve the brain centers which control the muscles used in swallowing, yet not limit general physical activity otherwise.

Dear Dr. Molner: Would two bottles of beer per week damage an enlarged liver? Does an enlarged liver become cirrhosis?—C. K.

Enlargement may indicate cirrhosis, but whatever the cause of enlargement, alcohol in any form or quantity is not advisable. I say no to the two beers.

Airport Service Plan Reviewed

Whether to reopen negotiations with a group of businessmen who propose to operate a flying service at Max Conrad Field got an airing Monday night at the City Council meeting.

Mrs. Mary Masysa, alderman-at-large, expressed what turned out to be a minority viewpoint in asking whether the rentals to be paid the city should be raised. In view of the city's offer to waive rent on the hangar for a year, pay part of the heat costs and insurance premiums, she said, may be the corporation's commitment ought to be re-examined and increased.

The corporation agreed to pay the city $100 per month, or 20 percent of profits before taxes, after the first year. Agreement was reached, Council President Harold Briesath said, at a meeting attended by seven councilmen although it has yet to be formally ratified.

Mayor R. E. Ellings said the group had agreed to put up $42,000 in capital and if the enterprise failed, the city would end up paying the whole cost and would be faced with the running of the airport as well.

Briesath said the group wants to get started by September, that they are "solid citizens," and they want a definite commitment from the Council.

Concluding the heated discussion, Mayor Ellings said if the council now decided to reverse itself, the whole project could just as well be thrown out. It should be decided now, he said.

The matter was not put to a formal vote.

DEAR ABBY:

Husband Could Help Others

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband is kind and considerate, but in the 20 years we have been married he has never been able to part with a single piece of clothing. He built a locker in the basement of our home and it is stuffed from one end to the other with out-dated suits, shoes, shirts and underwear. Now he wants to build another locker, although there is scarcely room to turn around down there. Am I wrong in expecting him to give away some of these clothes? He tells me they belong to him and to mind my own business.

HOARDER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: You say your husband is "kind and considerate." His behavior indicates otherwise. To keep clothing stored away for years, when others could make good use of it, is selfish. Explain this to your husband.

DEAR ABBY: What would you say to a friend who made you a cake for your birthday, knowing you had diabetes and cannot eat anything made with sugar? Don't say she probably doesn't know it as she goes with me when I visit my doctor.

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Just say "thank you" and appreciate her thoughtfulness. You can have your cake without eating it, too.

DEAR ABBY: How should I sign my name? I have been a widow for five years. Am I still Mrs. Herbert L. Starr? Or am I now Mrs. Amelia Jones Starr?

BEWILDERED

DEAR BEWILDERED: Socially you may use either Mrs. Herbert L. Starr, or Mrs. Amelia Jones Starr. But, legally, you are Mrs. Amelia Jones Starr.

DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor who has money for everything else, but when it comes to a telephone she uses mine. I don't mind letting her use my phone, or even calling her when someone rings her up here, but get this: Our only telephone is in the kitchen, and whenever this neighbor uses it she turns to me, smiles and says, "Excuse me, Dearie." (This is my cue to get out of my kitchen!) What do you think of a neighbor who has the nerve to chase a woman out of her own kitchen?

BURNING

DEAR BURNING: She has gall she hasn't used yet. But if you are willing to put up with it, you deserve it.

Accident Victim Still Unconscious

David Rother, 18, Gilmore Valley, was still unconscious this morning. His condition remains serious, hospital officials reported.

Rother was injured Saturday night when the car in which he was riding, driven by Ronald Konter, 19, left the road on a curve four miles south of Garvin Heights on County Road 107.

Rother suffered severe scalp lacerations and body cuts and bruises. No skull fractures were found in X-rays examinations but brain injuries were indicated, attending physician reported.

Since many diseases can live in seed, it is unwise for the home own garden unless he knows the seed to be free from disease.

Twins Rip KC, Chicago Next

CHICAGO (AP) — Minnesota's Twins stormed into Chicago today, showing healthy signs of snapping a mild slump which dropped them from a virtual tie for the American League lead into second place.

The Twins unleashed one of their heaviest hitting attacks of the year Monday night, pounding out 17 hits good for a 9-4 victory over Kansas City. The Athletics had won the previous three contests.

Now a game and a half behind leading Cleveland, the Twins hope to continue where they left off against the White Sox in the Twin Cities. Minnesota captured three games in a row after losing the opener to the White Sox.

The White Sox are having their troubles, dropping into a seventh place tie with Kansas City.

Left-hander Jim Kaat is slated to take the mound for the Twins tonight, while southpaw Juan Pizarro will get the call for Chicago.

Rich Rollins, the league's leading hitter, continued his torrid hitting, rapping three singles. Vic Power also banged out three hits, while Bob Allison and Zoilo Versalles each drove in three runs for the Twins.

Camilo Pascual came back from an opening game loss to struggle to his ninth victory against four losses. The Cuban curveballer was rapped for seven hits, including home runs by Dick Howser and Gino Cimoli.

Minnesota wasted no time in getting to starter and loser Ed Rakow, who was lifted in the Twins' four-run fifth inning. At that point, the Twins held a 6-1 lead and appeared headed for an easy victory.

However, the Athletics bounced back with a run in the seventh and a pair in the eighth before Pascual settled down.

The Minnesota victory also snapped a six-game Kansas City winning streak, the longest for the club since 1959. It was also Pascual's first victory over Kansas City after three straight losses.

In silencing the Athletics booming bats, Pascual was also able to hold Kansas City's big guns in the previous games to a total of three hits between them.

All the Twins except Lenzie Green and Pascual broke into the hit column at least twice.

In the dressing room, it was a happy ball club that dressed to head for Chicago, with comments of "great game," "nice hitting," "That's the way to go." It sounded more like the Twins had swept the series, not broke a three game losing streak.

Manager Sam Mele said, "The boys haven't quit. We really bounced back."

"Pascual threw a great game and we were hitting for a change. Maybe this is what we needed."

Rollins' three hits in five times at bat boosted his league leading average to .360.

Rollins has now hit safely in six straight games and 14 of the last 15.

Legion Notches Third Victory

Hassinger Tops Grovers

Russ Hassinger turned in his second consecutive low-hit hitting performance and Winona owns a 3-0 mark in the Minnesota Wisconsin Legion League, today.

Winona topped Spring Grove 10-1 at Gabrych Park Monday night as Hassinger threw a two-hitter. The squad was scheduled to move into Eau Claire for a double-header this afternoon.

WINONA GOT only six hits Monday night but put them to good use, getting them in the clutch.

Bob Grausnick got Winona off to a fast start as he lined a shot over the left field screen with

MINNESOTA-WISCONSIN	W	L

La Crosse	1	0
Spring Grove	1	1

Don Walz, who singled, aboard in the first inning.

Winona scored once each in the third and fourth innings before rallying for four tallies in the fifth.

FOSTER SINGLED to start the fifth and Grausnick tripled for his third RBI. After Larry Modjeski grounded out, Marty Farrell and Cliff Warnken walked to fill the bases.

A wild pitch brought in a run and two more walks made the total for the inning four.

An error, a base hit and Warnken's triple finished the scoring in the sixth.

Spring Grove got its only run as Silling doubled, went to third on a ground out and scored on a fielder's choice.

"We need to start hitting the ball better," Coach Jon Kosidowski commented. "I won't complain as long as we keep getting the hits when we have the men on base."

ONCE AGAIN Hassinger, who has allowed but three hits in the two games he has pitched, had trouble with his curve ball in the early innings but came on like a wildcat.

"Russ has to learn to throw his fast ball a little more in the first part of the game and then come along with the curve," Kosidowski said. "He has looked better than any pitcher we have. He's a hard worker."

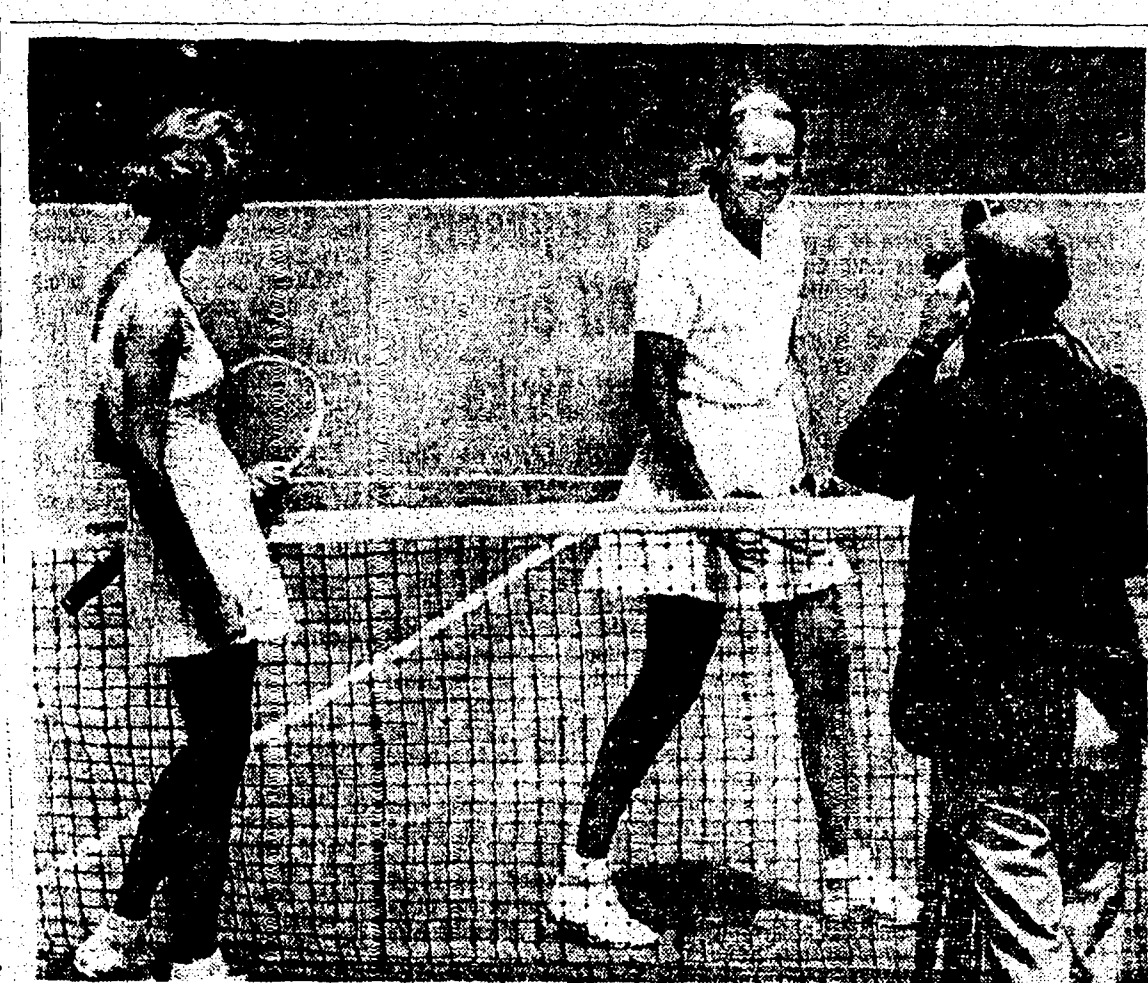

Kosidowski figures his team has everything to gain and nothing to lose against Eau Claire this afternoon. Memorial High School won the Wisconsin State Tournament for the second consecutive year and the Legion squad is loaded with the same talent.

GREEN BAY (AP)—Fullback Jim Taylor, who led the National Football League in touchdown production last season, has agreed to terms for 1962, Green Bay Packers Coach and General Manager Vince Lombardi said today.

Taylor, of Baton Rouge, La., scored 16 touchdowns, 15 of them running, as the Packers took the NFL championship last year. He tied with Steve Myer of the Baltimore Colts for third place in individual scoring with 96 points.

Taylor was the league's second leading ground gainer with 1,307 yards on 243 carries, for an average gain of 5.4 yards. He also caught 25 passes for 175 yards and one touchdown.

OWE MUCH TO WAGNER

NEW YORK (AP)—The Los Angeles Angels are making surprisingly rapid progress in the American League pennant race and they owe much of the headway to twice-bustin' Leon Wagner.

The acquisition of Wagner from Toronto of the International League just before the start of the 1961 campaign has turned out to be quite a bonanza.

Last season, Wagner hit 28 homers for the Angels. This year, he's hitting em at an even faster clip. He walked three in last week's games to take over the American League lead with 18.

Wagner also drove in four runs and is deadlocked for second place in RBI with Kansas City's Norm Siebern. Each has 48, one less than Floyd Robinson of the Chicago White Sox.

Willie Mays of San Francisco continues to top the National League in home runs with 21 while Tommy Davis of the Los Angeles Dodgers has the most runs batted in, 68.

Rich Rollins of Minnesota and Felipe Alou of San Francisco dominated their batting leads; Rollins lost one point and heads the American League with 355.

Shaw Bags 9th as Braves Triumph 7-1

NEW YORK (AP)—Milwaukee's Hank Aaron slugged his second grand slam home in four days Monday night and added a pair of singles as he drove in five runs in leading the Braves to a 7-1 victory over the New York Mets.

Aaron's homer was a tape-measure shot into the Polo Grounds' left centerfield bleachers, 400 feet away. The Milwaukee slugger became the second National Leaguer to pound a ball into the distant seats.

The home run was the 14th of the season for Aaron and the sixth grand slam of his career.

His last grand slam was last Friday night in Pittsburgh, but it wasn't enough as the Pirates came from behind to take a 9-8 victory.

Aaron's clout Monday night made Bob Shaw's ninth victory in 11 decisions as easy triumph. The big right-hander scattered 11 hits as the Mets suffered their seventh straight loss and 20th in 32 decisions. The Mets didn't crack Shaw's shutout bid until the ninth.

Shaw fanned three, walked two and hit one batter.

The Braves scored once in the second and, as it turned out, the

Orioles Hope To Keep Yanks Skidding Down

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles will have three goals in mind when they take on the New York Yankees in a two-game series opening here tonight:

1. Continue their own winning streak of four, which has enabled the Orioles to climb into fifth place, 5 1/2 games behind league-leading Cleveland.
2. Put additional pressure on the skidding Yanks, who have dropped seven of their last eight while tumbling into third place, three games out of first.
3. Cut deeply into an attendance deficit which is 68,000 behind last year's pace.

With a break from the weather man, the No. 3 objective will be the easiest to achieve. The Orioles' front office expects a crowd of 40,000 or more for each game.

Pitcher Chuck Estrada, who will oppose Ralph Terry (7-6) tonight, has the worst record (3-8) on the Baltimore staff. He is due for better luck. The last four times Estrada has started, the Orioles have been shut out.

The recent rise of the Orioles and the downfall of the Yanks all stems from a doubleheader victory Baltimore scored over New York June 10 in Yankee Stadium.

The Yanks won the first two games of the series. The Orioles came back to take the next three.

Manager Billy Hitchcock says, "It's a combination of things. Our hitting suddenly has improved. We're getting timely hits. Our pitching has been good during this period. We've played better defensive ball and gotten some good breaks."

The Orioles have played eight straight games without an error—a short of the American League record.

Mathews walked to fill the bases ahead of Aaron's homer.

Mathews' hunt single and Aaron's second single completed the Milwaukee scoring in the seventh.

Sammy Taylor's single, a walk and Joe Christopher's single pushed over the New York run in the ninth.

The Braves and Mets were matched again today with Ron Piche (13-2) or Bob Hendley (3-6) facing Roger Craig (3-9) in the second of four games in the series.

Two no-hit, no-run games, one a perfect job, were recorded Monday in Park-Recreation youth baseball leagues.

Steve Strelow of Winona Milk spun the perfect job as his mates blanked Graham & McGuire 5-0 for its third straight win in the Pee Wee American League. Strelow struck out the first 14 batters he faced and got the last man to ground out.

In the Pee Wee National League, Bob Pomeroy of 40 & 8 set down Ted Maier Drugs on no hits in a 14-0 romp.

In other Pee Wee American games, St. Clair's rapped Police 8-1. UCT topped NSP 9-6 for its third in a row and St. Stan's shut out Hot Fish Shop 5-0.

TAPE-MEASURE HOMER

Aaron Parks One With Sacks Full

NEW YORK (AP)—Hank Aaron couldn't hold back a big grin, alone as having reached the distant stands. But because the Milwaukee outfielder said today, "but never further."

He was talking about his tape-measure grand slam homer in the third inning of the Braves' 7-1 victory over the New York Mets Monday night.

Aaron is in the midst of a streak. It wasn't long ago that he was hovering around the 200 mark. Now he is hitting 325 and has had two grand slammers in four days. Since May 30, he has had 32 hits in 80 times at bat for an even 400 average.

"I haven't been doing anything different," Aaron said. "I just had to get going sometimes. I couldn't stay around that 200 forever."

Aaron's blast was only the second ever to reach the left-center field bleachers in the Polo Grounds. Joe Adcock, also of the Braves, hit one there in 1953, before Aaron came up. Rookie Lou Brock of the Chicago Cubs hit one into the right centerfield bleachers Sunday. It was the first time a ball ever has been hit there.

Did Adcock say anything to Aaron after the homer?

"Yes," said Hank. "He said 'Aimee went a little further.'"

Actually, Adcock, who outweighs Aaron by about 40 pounds, was one of the first to rush out to congratulate Hank.

Were it not for the league ex-

Nichols Fires Record 68 in PGA Tune-up

NEWTOWN SQUARE, Pa. (AP)—Bobby Nichols, the "Louisville Slugger," fired a record breaking 35-33-68 Monday at the scene of next month's PGA championship, and then ventured the opinion the course was ready-made for U.S. Open king Jack Nicklaus.

Nichols, 26-year-old Texan now playing out of Louisville, was one of a host of golf's touring pros who played the 7,045-yard Aronimink Country Club course in a pro-amateur tournament. He barely missed a 25-foot putt on the 18th green, which would have given him a 67.

Earlier on the hot, sunny day, Marty Furgol, 44-year-old veteran of professional golf, also scored a 35-33-68, one stroke under the 69 shot by Ted Turner in the 1936 Philadelphia Open. Turner now teaches at Winona Golf Club, Cape Cod, Mass.

Nichols, who finished tied for third place with Phil Rodgers in last week's U.S. Open at Oakmont, near Pittsburgh, with a 72-hole total of 283, said he felt Aronimink, about 25 miles west of Philadelphia, would be just as tough in the July 9-22 PGA as was Oakmont.

Nichols said he favored Nicklaus because the course played longer than Oakmont and thus suited to the long-ball hitting Open champion from Columbus, Ohio.

The long curving putt he hit on the 18th was his best of the day, Nichols said, although it missed by an eyelash of dropping in for a new record. He said he knew Furgol had a 68, but wasn't aware of the course record possibilities until he heard a spectator comment on it just before he putted. There was a difference of opinion among the pros as to whether Aronimink would be as tough as Oakmont. The only thing all agreed on was that the long ball hitter had a definite advantage on the par 35-35-70 course.

Olson Shelden Winner Again

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP)—Dayton Olson fired a four-under-par 67 Sunday to storm from five strokes down at the halfway mark and successfully defend his Shelden Memorial golf tournament title.

Olson, Minneapolis amateur, just edged fellow Minneapolitan Gene Hansen by one stroke as both golfers put on a final round flurry. Olson and Hansen both shot 74s in Saturday's opening round, with Olson coming up with a final 36-hole total of 141 and Hansen 142.

Saturday's leaders, Claude Glatzmaier of Rochester and Neil Cronquist of Minneapolis, dropped to third and fifth respectively. Glatzmaier tied with professional Ed Langert of St. Paul with 144s and Cronquist followed. Langert held the lead going into the final nine holes today, but he went five strokes over par on the final four holes to fall off the pace.

Darkness Halts NCAA Golf Meet; Zarley Leading

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—The NCAA Golf Tournament today was burdened with the double assignment of cleaning up its darkness-halted first round of qualifying play and running off a second 18 holes for the field of 215 players.

After 13 hours of play Monday, darkness finally forced a halt at 8 p.m. (EST) with 46 players still on the 6,828-yard par 71 Duke University course.

Kermit Zarley, University of Houston junior, seemed on the way to taking the 18-hole lead in the 36-hole qualifying play when darkness interrupted him after 17 holes. He was 3-under-par.

Sharing the lead among players who finished their rounds were Bill Tomplin of Purdue and Ken Folkes of Wake Forest at 71. Match play starts Wednesday with the 64 low scorers after 36 holes playing two matches. Two more will be played Thursday with Friday's semifinals and Saturday's finals set for 36 holes.

Engineer Slated To Get Role in All State Aid Jobs

Responding to a state Highway Department suggestion, the City Council Monday night moved to designate the city engineer as overall supervisor of street maintenance and construction where state aids are involved.

Because the action appeared to disturb present division of functions between the engineer and the street commissioner, some objections were raised. At present, construction is the job of the engineering department and maintenance in the bailiwick of the street commissioner.

ALD. James Stoltman protested the move, saying City Engineer James Baird has enough work to do, and that the present arrangement works well. Council President Harold Briesach, however, said he felt Baird would be paid if the city did not go along with the Highway Department's request. The state also provides construction aids.

Baird replied that state laws require any state aid project—construction or maintenance—to be supervised by a registered engineer. President Briesach asked if this would give Baird veto power over any state aid project in the city, since an engineer's certification is required to qualify for the aids. Baird said it would, in effect.

Mayor R. K. Ellings asked if the recently authorized West 5th Street surfacing, regarded as a maintenance project, had met state standards and whether the engineer had approved it. Baird recalled that he had recommended a better job, including curb and gutter, but he had approved it nevertheless on instructions of the Council. He said that the state officials were aware of the deficiencies of the project.

It was suggested that the question might be resolved, as the state suggested, by putting all state aid money into the construction fund, now already supervised by the engineer.

Several aldermen were reluctant to do this.

Lake City Hospital Starting Routine X-rays of Patient

LAKE CITY, Minn. — The board and medical staff of Lake City Municipal Hospital have decided to give routine chest X-rays on admission of patients.

The procedure is diagnostic and a preventive procedure providing better patient care to people of this area.

All patients will have a chest X-ray on admission, and emergency and maternity patients will be X-rayed sometime during their hospital stay. This will be followed routinely unless countermanded by the attending doctor, according to Robert L. Polk, administrator.

The decision was made following a recent report from the state Department of Health, division of hospital services, revealing that 89 percent of patients admitted to general hospitals in Minnesota during 1961 had routine X-rays on admission. This included 515,495 patients in 142 general hospitals. Each year the number of hospitals participating in the program has increased.

EX-GOLF LEADER DEAD
ATLANTA (AP)—George Sargent, a native Englishman who became U.S. Open Golf champion and president of the National Professional Golf Association, is dead at 79.

The household troops of France's King Louis XIV (1638-1715) are believed to have worn the first truly military uniform, designed to make them as a unit. It was a single-breasted truck coat with turned-up cuffs.

4 Jailed in Riot at Sports Car Races

ELKHART LAKE, Wis. (AP)—A weekend of sports car racing brought another Saturday Night of disturbances by an estimated 2,000 youthful fans who crowded in to the village square and chanted insults at police.

A reinforced police unit made 16 arrests on various charges, including inciting to riot and assault. Twelve were released after posting bond Saturday and the remaining four spent a second night in jail.

There was some property damage.

Crew Blamed For Air Crash Over New York

WASHINGTON (AP)—Most of blame for history's worst air disaster—the collision of two airliners over New York City which took 134 lives 18 months ago—was placed today on the crew of one of the planes. A government report said the crew made a distance-judging error.

The Civil Aeronautics Board said in an accident report that the probable cause of the fiery collision was that the United Airlines DC8 flew beyond the area for which it had been cleared, a holding pattern over Preston, N.J.

Contributing factors, the CAB said, was the plane's high rate of speed and a new routing issued just before the accident by the New York air route traffic control center.

A United spokesman said the report had just been received, and there would be no comment until executives have studied it.

On the morning of Dec. 16, 1960, the United jet, inbound from Chicago with 77 passengers and a crew of seven, collided in snow-choked, gray skies over Staten Island with a Trans World Airlines Lockheed Super Constellation, en route from Dayton and Columbus, Ohio, with 39 passengers and five crew members.

The jet was on an instrument approach to Idlewild International Airport, the propeller-driven craft under radar guidance to La Guardia Airport.

On blazing impact, the United liner plunged into a crowded Brooklyn neighborhood and six persons on the ground perished. The TWA plane came down in flames in an open field on Staten Island. Of the 128 persons aboard the two planes the sole survivor was a boy, but he died later of injuries.

After a lengthy investigation the CAB today issued its report, tracing the flight patterns of the two planes and attempting to assess the causes of the disaster. It found that when the DC8 crew informed the Idlewild approach control station that it was coming on the Preston intersection the plane actually was some nine miles beyond the point, to the northeast.

This and other factors, the CAB said, "all tend to support the conclusion that the crew believed they had not yet reached the Preston station when the collision occurred."

At Preston, the DC8 was to have circled, if necessary, while awaiting further landing instructions.

Also, the CAB said, the United plane was at an altitude of about 3,200 feet on collision and that a flight recorder indicated that in the plane's last minute the airliner had slowed from 409 to 316 miles an hour.

At the time Federal Aviation Agency regulations set a maximum speed of 207 miles an hour for planes when entering holding patterns under 15,000 feet. Since then the FAA has imposed a speed limit of about 238 miles an hour for civilian aircraft below 10,000 feet and within 30 miles of an airport.

The CAB said the TWA plane was under radar guidance all the way to the approach of La Guardia, and was operating in conformance with instructions from the ground.

Franklin Roosevelt III, Miss Goodyear Mary

DARFEN, Conn. (AP)—A grandson of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt was married Monday to a Connecticut socialite in a brief ceremony at St. Luke's Episcopal church.

The bridegroom was Franklin D. Roosevelt III, a Navy ensign on leave from assignment in the Far East, who was wed to Miss Grace Ramsey Goodyear of New Canaan, a sophomore at Smith College.

Eleanor Roosevelt, the bridegroom's grandmother, and Norman Thomas, former Socialist party candidate for president, were among the 275 guests.

The Indonesian island of Celebes was first visited by Portuguese in 1512. The Dutch began trading there in the 17th Century. In World War II Celebes was occupied by the Japanese, bombed by the Americans and surrendered to the Australians.

Chrysanthemums are available most of the year as potted plants.

age and the streets of the resort community, 40 miles north of Milwaukee, were littered with broken beer bottles and twisted beer cans. No injuries were reported.

Some 150 officers, including regular and volunteer policemen from Elkhart Lake, Sheboygan and Plymouth, Sheboygan County deputies and state traffic patrolmen, concentrated on controlling the demonstration.

The augmented force was organized because of rioting that broke out a year ago and resulted in injuries to several officers. Police estimated that 6,000 youths were involved in last year's outbreak.

The latest Saturday night demonstration came after the opening program of the two-day June Sprints at the Road America sports car course. It lasted about four hours, reaching its peak about midnight.

The demonstrators spent a good share of the time taunting the police with insulting chants as the crowd marched up and down the three-block route from the square to the community beach. During the march, beer cans and bottles were tossed, firecrackers exploded, parked cars shoved into the streets, windows broken and telephone booths pushed over.

At one time about 200 demonstrators squatted in the street.

Quie Predicts Changes in Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House probably will revamp the administration's farm bill sufficiently to pick up the support needed for its passage, Rep. Albert H. Quie, R-Minn., predicted today.

The bill, which cleared the Senate by a narrow vote, would put tight new controls on the production of wheat and feed grains in an effort to cut huge surpluses of these commodities.

Quie, a member of the House Agriculture Committee, has opposed the bill, but believes it will pass when amendments are accepted on the floor in an effort to get needed support from the South and elsewhere.

The controversial measure is due to come up in the House today, with final action slated for Wednesday.

Rep. Don Short, R-N.D., a member of the House Agriculture Committee, voted against the bill when it was approved by the committee by an 18-17 vote. He said the vote in the House will be close.

The bill would give the secretary of agriculture power to set mandatory controls over production of wheat as well as feed grains.

Wheat farmers this year were required to cut acreage by a minimum of 10 per cent, but feed grain farmers are operating on a voluntary basis.

If the bill is passed, it is expected that Secretary Orville L. Freeman will cut wheat acreage further and require even sharper cuts in feed grain production.

Railroads Begin Layoffs to Offset Increase in Wages

CHICAGO (AP)—Several railroads have begun laying off non-operating employees to compensate for a 10.2 cents an hour wage boost negotiated by 11 unions representing 450,000 off-train workers.

The Illinois Central Railroad said Monday it had furloughed 650 employees. Wayne Johnson, president of the line, said it would lay off enough workers to make up the $3.8 million annual cost of the wage increases.

Several railroads said they plan to begin furloughing workers. Others said they will study the effect of the wage hike before deciding whether to make work force cut-backs.

The one-year agreement which was reached June 5 followed recommendations of an emergency board appointed by President Kennedy. James E. Wolfe, spokesman for the nation's railroads, estimated the settlement would cost the lines $165 million a year.

A third Chicago-based railroad, the Milwaukee Road, also has begun layoffs. A company spokesman said the line expects to drop 300 or more to make up an estimated $2.5 million in additional wages.

The Chicago & North Western said no layoffs have been started yet, but a plan is under discussion. A company official said the wage settlement will cost the firm $2 million or more annually.

The Burlington Road reported the layoff problem is being designed as an incentive to business to modernize its plant and interest.

A withholding plan on dividends and interest.

Increased taxes on foreign subsidiaries of U.S. companies.

Gold Mining Stocks Advance, Trade Moderate

NEW YORK (AP)—Gold mining stocks once more advanced while the over-all stock market sank in moderate trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.00 at 212.20 with industrials off 1.80, rails off .20 and utilities off .40.

Losses of key stocks were from fractions to around a point. Scatter issues held their own. Some tobacco stocks moved up moderately.

A drop of about 2 points in General Motors was linked to news that a committee of Du Pont stockholders plans to sell up to 2.8 million shares of GM. Much of the stock must be sold under federal court order.

Among the gold mining issues Homestake spurred about 3 points, Dome Mines about 2. Campbell Red Lake gained about a point.

Ford dipped about a point, Chrysler and Studebaker-Packard fractions. American Motors was about unchanged.

Leading steels were mostly off by minor fractions.

Du Pont declined more than a point. Most other chemicals sagged slightly.

Among the more volatile issues, Xerox and Polaroid advanced about a point. IBM was steady.

Lorillard slipped close to a point while Liggett & Myers and American Tobacco posted fractional gains.

Sears, Roebuck showed a small plus sign. Montgomery Ward was steady.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 3.22 at 570.99. Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mostly lower in slack trading.

Corporate bonds were irregularly higher. U.S. government bonds declined.

Eyota, Chaffield Farmers Clear Storm's Debris

Farmers in the path of the heavy storm which hit the Chaffield and Eyota areas last Sunday afternoon are busy clearing debris from wrecked barns and other buildings.

A twister detected by the U. S. Weather Bureau at 5 p.m. five miles west of Racine, traveling in a northeasterly direction, is reported to have touched down twice.

Winds were measured at 63 m. p. h. with gusts up to 86 m. p. h. Probably the heaviest damage was on the LaVaine Pries farm west of Eyota where the barn collapsed on 22 head of milk cows.

Pries had just got the cattle into the barn for evening milking when the storm struck. Reportedly several cows were killed and others had broken legs.

About 50 persons, including Olmsted County sheriff's deputies, were at the scene several hours with wreckers, tractors and power saws to free the animals.

Five barns were blown down in a mile square area north of Chaffield. Fifteen head of cattle were trapped at the Marvin Rabe farm and all but one were saved by firemen and neighbors.

John Jackson lost his barn, and windows were blown out of the house. Earl Gardner, Engelbrot Neppel and Lowell Junghe lost barns, and the house on the Junghe farm was moved on its foundation and the chimney blown over. Heavy damage was reported to a machine shed at Arthur Bickness's.

and to apple and pine trees on the Donald Manahan farm.

Power service was interrupted several hours, making milking a big chore, and long distance lines were out for some time between Preston, Chaffield and Rochester.

Administration Rejects Tax Bill Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration has rejected a proposed compromise on its embattled tax revision bill, senators said today. The decision left the measure's future highly uncertain.

About the only certainty was that the bill faced still further delay because the Finance Committee is going to put it a side again Wednesday.

The measure has been passed by the House but has been held up in the Senate since April.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., senior Republican on the Finance Committee, told a newsmen the administration was advised it could have the less controversial parts of the bill.

Such a plan would have meant dropping what the administration considers the three key elements of the revision measure:

A $1.35-billion investment credit designed as an incentive to business to modernize its plant and interest.

A withholding plan on dividends and interest.

Increased taxes on foreign subsidiaries of U.S. companies.

Flight Engineers Hold Off on Airlines Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Flight engineers temporarily postponed a scheduled strike on Trans World Airlines today, pending consideration of settlement recommendations made by the government.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg said the Flight Engineers International Association had agreed to hold off its walkout "from moment to moment" while the recommendations were under study by negotiators for the union and the carrier.

Goldberg's announcement was timed exactly at the 2 p.m. strike deadline, but in the minutes before it was distributed two flight engineers already had begun picketing at New York's Idlewild Airport.

Pickets had been scheduled to parade in front of the TWA terminal at Idlewild and at similar TWA facilities across the country.
