CAULDRON OF CRITICISM

Decision Against Prayer In Public Schools Flayed

By HARRY KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — A Supreme Court ruling striking down the saying of official prayers in public schools has stirred a cauldron of criticism from churchmen and members of Congress.

Many of them asked, "How far does it go?"

"The next thing you know, they'll be telling us we can't open our daily House sessions with prayer," said Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., a Jewish leader, who hailed the decision, felt it made clear that federal funds could not be used to aid parochial schools.

Specifically the court ruled Monday that it is a violation of the Constitution for New York State to authorize the saying of the following prayer in public schools:

"Almighty God, we acknowledge our dependence upon Thee, and we beg Thy blessings upon us, our parents, our teachers and our country."

IN A 6-1 decision the court said the First Amendment's ban against establishment of a religion means that "it is no part of the business of government to compose official prayers for any group of American people to recite as part of a religious program carried on by government."

The decision—written by Justice Hugo L. Black—likely will have broad impact.

Some states require public schools to begin each day with the Lord's Prayer. The wording of Black's opinion indicated these state laws also violate the First Amendment.

Write Black: "It is neither sacred nor antireligious to say that each separate government in this country should stay out of the business of writing or sanctioning official prayers and leave that purely religious function to the people themselves and those the people choose to look to for religious guidance."

The only dissenter in the decision was Justice Potter Stewart who noted that the Supreme Court's own sessions are opened with the words "God save the United States and this honorable court," and that the House and Senate begin the day with prayers.

He also observed that the "Star-Spangled Banner" invokes God's help.

In the majority decision, Black noted parenthetically that there is nothing in the ruling "inconsistent with the fact that school children

Treated Skin Resists Bugs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army medical scientists are on the track of chemicals which may convert a soldier's skin into armor against disease-bearing insects and sunburn.

The research is especially important to military operations in Southeast Asia and other tropical areas where Western troops are vulnerable to certain types of fevers and strong sunlight.

The work is being done under a broad program aimed at giving each soldier entering a combat zone his own built-in shield against diseases, climate, and various kinds of stresses.

Dr. Marion B. Sulzberger of the Army's Medical Research and Development Command said a big effort is being made to discover special substances which would enter the skin after being swallowed or applied on the outside.

These substances, he said in a paper, would make the skin's surface and its secretions repellent to insects, flies, mosquitoes and ticks, which carry most of the important diseases affecting military operations.

"We know the exact chemical nature of a few of the most strongly attracting substance," Sulzberger said, "and we have hopes, therefore, of finding some which will act as repellents and which the soldier can then produce in himself and on the skin's surface when given the adequate stimulus."

A major avenue of approach, the Army dermatologist said, is intensive study of the differences between skin of people who naturally attract insects and others whose body chemistry repels them.

$90,000 Special Fund Granted State Colleges

ST. PAUL (AP) — The Legislative Advisory Committee late Monday approved a $90,000 contingency fund for use of the State College Board.

Dr. Roy Prentiss, executive director for the board, said the funds were necessary because of larger than expected enrollments at the colleges, at Mankato, Moorhead, Bemidji, St. Cloud and Winona.

Gov. Andersen Cites Cut in Traffic Deaths

AUSTIN, Minn. (AP) — Minnesota sheriffs and police can take bows for their parts in helping cut Minnesota highway deaths this year, says Gov. Elmer L. Andersen.

The governor, addressing the annual meeting of the Minnesota Peace and Police Officers Association, said their attention to strict law enforcement had played a major role in making roads safer.

As he spoke, the toll stood at 250, 46 below the number of deaths that had been recorded a year ago.

Amendment to Be Requested

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. Glenn Beall, R-Md., said today he will propose a constitutional amendment to permit prayer in the public schools.

"I was shocked by yesterday's decision of the Supreme Court," Beall said, "and I feel that legislation should be introduced immediately to reaffirm the nation's faith and trust in the Supreme Being."

Living Costs Steady in May

WASHINGTON (AP)—Living costs were unchanged in May at the record level set in April.

Lower prices for food and gasoline balanced out higher housing and medical care costs to leave the government index at 103.2 percent of the 1957-59 base period. This means it costs about a nickel more now to buy the same goods that could be obtained for a dollar in the prior period.

Man Held in Cyclist's Death

SUPERIOR, Wis. (AP) — A DuLuth, Minn., man is being held in Douglas County jail here today in connection with the hit-run death Sunday of a Superior bicyclist rider.

Gust C. Teschner, 32, arraigned in district court Monday demanded preliminary hearing on the hit-run charge. He is also charged with negligent homicide in the death of Arthur J. Verville, 17, Superior.

The boy's body was found in a water-filled ditch Sunday.

Union Claim Assailed in Airlines Row

WASHINGTON (AP)—A principal union claim in the present airline labor controversy — that a flight engineer must be a qualified mechanic in order to operate jet planes safely — has been termed pure bunk by the government's top civil aviation official.

Najeeb A. Halaby, Federal Aviation administrator, says such a claim as advanced by the Flight Engineers International Association is "a base lie."

Any spokesman for the Flight Engineers Association who claims that air safety is involved, or compromised," Halaby said, "is just irresponsible and distorting the situation for his own end. There is no safety compromise, and there won't be any."

Government officials made public here portions of a news conference Halaby held on the matter Monday at the Investment Banking Association convention at Santa Barbara, Calif.

It was believed to be the first time a top government official has said a jet plane can be operated just as safely whether the flight engineer is a skilled mechanic or not.

In a refinement of the term featherbedding, as indicative of the function of useless employees, Halaby also said that the practice of some airlines in using four-man crews to operate jets is mere "featherbedding." He plainly saw the three-man crews operating for some airlines as sufficient.

The engineers' union has grounded Eastern Air Lines and is threatening a walkout later today on Pan American. The central issue in both cases was whether engineers should be required to continue to hold mechanics' licenses when crews are cut to a three-man basis.

Halaby said the government examinations for flight engineers relate merely to engineering training and not mechanical skills.

Police Rouse 12 In Burning House

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Two Milwaukee policemen entered a burning house early today and roused the 12 occupants — four adults and eight children — then had to be rescued themselves when flames blocked their exit.

The officers, Robert Luczak and Robert Drakos, spotted the fire in a two-family dwelling at the outskirts of Milwaukee and the suburban community of Greenfield at about 3:30 a.m.

They entered the residence and awakened Mr. and Mrs. Allen Buchman and their three children, living in a second floor apartment. But the officers and the Buchmans found their path to the first floor blocked by flames.

Man of Many Ideas Rostow Termed 'Soft on Reds'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Foreign Relations committee member Rostow was termed a man of many ideas even if they don't learn just what is in his master strategy document.

Rostow, scheduled for a committee quizzing behind closed doors late today, is a sort of professional idea man. That is much of his job now as State Department counselor and chairman of the department's policy planning staff.

The mild-mannered 45-year-old former professor, economist, historian, author and intelligence officer seems not in the least runchy about talking to the senators about his personal views.

Whether Rostow and the secret document linked with his name are soft on communism has popped up as something of an issue this congressional year. Critics hint this allegation while defenders deny it. Partly on trial, at least, is the foreign policy of the Kennedy administration.

Rostow, an adviser to President Kennedy during the 1960 campaign, came to Washington last year from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology to become a deputy special assistant at the White House for national security affairs. Last December he switched to the State Department post which carries the rank of assistant secretary.

HIS STATE Department duties have included compiling a document which, department officials say, gathers together various Washington ideas on foreign and defense policy including some which have not been put into effect and many which have publicly been espoused by administration authorities.

The thick volume is now at the White House for review. Then it is supposed to go into the National Security Council archives. The administration has shown no intent ever to make it public.

The Senate hearing was sought by Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois against a background of charges by some Republicans that the administration has a "no-win" foreign policy.

Some associates regard Rostow actually as a proponent of a rather tough line against the Communists. Rostow himself has this to say about the "no-win" allegations, "We stand ready to fight to the limit to defend the vital interests of the free world. But we are not looking for a military climax to this historic struggle."

Turkey Vote Results To Be Announced Later

WASHINGTON (AP) — Results of a referendum on a nationwide marketing control program for turkeys held last week are expected to be announced in two or three weeks.

If approved by two-thirds of the nation's turkey producers the program would be the first such commodity marketing order for any commodity.

ing built at La Macaza, Que. Canada and the United States are sharing the cost.

"In building this combat center we are pioneering in the field of protective construction," said Air Commodore R. B. Whiting, chief of construction engineering for the Canadian air force.

More than 750 tons of explosive carved out cathedral-sized caverns and subterranean passageways. The finished SAGE project will have a three-story underground building. It also will have diesel generators capable of providing enough electricity to light a town of 3,000 people and to pump in tens of thousands of cubic feet of fresh air every hour. Another chamber is a reservoir, holding five million gallons of water, for cooling the installation.

See Attempt To Quash Chiang Threat

LONDON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home reportedly believe Red China's military buildup in Fukien Province does not foreshadow an attempt on the Nationalist-held offshore islands. They think it may be meant to silence Chiang Kai-shek's threats to invade the mainland.

Spokesmen said Rusk and Home reached this conclusion Monday in wide-ranging talks that paid much attention to the Communist buildup opposite the Nationalist islands of Quemoy and Matsu, just off the Communist mainland.

In Peking, Red China's Foreign Minister Chen Yi charged that the Nationalists are preparing with U.S. help for a large-scale invasion of the Southeast China coast. The Communists continued to shell Quemoy and Matsu Monday night, lobbing 132 shells on Quemoy and 45 on Matsu.

The talks aligning British-American views on Communist threats and inter-Allied problems followed Rusk's meetings with President Charles de Gaulle in Paris and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in Bonn. Rusk's aides expressed belief his trip has helped clarify some misconceptions among chief allies of America over aspects of U.S. policy.

Rusk's round of talks heralded the start of a period of intensive maneuvering between the Communists and the Western powers.

The three Western Allies sent notes to Moscow Monday calling on the Soviet Union to join four-power talks in Berlin to end violence along the Berlin wall and try to bring peace to the divided city.

Rusk and Home agreed to attend the signing next month of a 14-power pact being written at Geneva to guarantee the neutrality of Laos. If Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko also attends, it would provide an opportunity to confer anew on Berlin, disarmament, nuclear tests and other East-West problems.

Summing up the results of Rusk's trip so far, his aides said he had not come over to break up what has been called the Paris-Bonn axis because that would be against America's own interests.

He had not brought along any plan to help France's nuclear weapons program, but he gave assurances that America stands ready to help build up a multilateral European nuclear force dovetailed with America's own interests.

Rusk told Home that De Gaulle had assured him that Britain's bid for entry into the flourishing Common Market would not be vetoed for political reasons. American diplomats feel that Britain's entry into the European Economic Community could provide the basis for setting up an American-backed nuclear strike force within the framework of the Atlantic alliance.

Steel Concerns Asked to Report Spending to U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department has demanded expense account and many other information from steel company executives in continuing probe into April's on-and-off steel price raise. Informed sources said Monday subpoenas for information from some executives went out about three weeks ago in connection with department efforts to determine whether the price boost involved collusion.

The U.S. Steel Corp. said in New York that the government had subpoenaed telephone numbers and expense account information of some executives.

The Dow Jones business news service reported from Pittsburgh that similar records were subpoenaed from Bethlehem Steel Corp. and Wheeling Steel Corp. and that Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. was understood to have been served.

Vietnamese Soldiers Kill 8 Guerrillas

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Vietnamese soldiers and marines killed eight Communist guerrillas and captured 20 other guerrillas in the opening of a sweeping amphibious operation in the Mekong River delta, American military sources said today.

One government marine was reported to have been drowned and another wounded.

'Eternal Vigilance' Price of Liberty

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY
WASHINGTON (AP) — What price liberty?

"Eternal vigilance" is the classic answer. But there are other answers, and one of the most important may be this: If you expect to preserve your freedom of action, be careful how you exercise it. Be statesmanlike about it; don't rock the boat.

Rushford Man Officer of Postal Union Convention

ROCHESTER, Minn. — Daniel Cuthane, Rushford, is vice president of Minnesota Postal Union and Auxiliary which held a convention at the Elks Club here over the weekend.

Highlight was a dinner Friday night with Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag, DFL candidate for governor, as principal speaker. Other speakers were State Sen. A. M. Keith, Rochester, DFL candidate for lieutenant governor; David Graven, Albert Lea, DFL candidate for Congress, and Walter Noreen, vice president of the National Postal Union.

Tours of the Mayo Clinic were conducted for the women.

The flight engineers' strike against Eastern Air Lines may be a case in point. Nobody thus far has denied that the engineers had a right to strike Eastern, though a federal judge did restrain them at least temporarily from striking Pan American.

The procedures provided by law had all been run through during two years of negotiations. The flight engineers felt perfectly free to strike.

But what a dubious time to take what President Kennedy denounced as irresponsible action! Kennedy's crackdown on U.S. Steel and other steel companies, after which they rescinded a price increase, was still reverberating. Angry businessmen, and many others were watching to see what Kennedy would do if and when a labor union stuck its neck out. Would he hold the scales of justice evenly? Would he be as rough with labor as with management?

Thus the engineers, by exercising their right to strike, tended to put Kennedy on a hot spot; and this is a risky thing to do to a man as powerful as a president of the United States.

Regardless of the merits of labor-management disputes, if rights are insisted upon to the hilt, those rights may suffer erosion. Take freedom of speech, for illustration. The First Amendment says Congress shall make no law "abridging the freedom of speech." This is a seemingly flat prohibition, with no ifs, ands, or buts.

The doctrine is that freedom of speech may be limited if the general good demands. Nobody, according to a famous aphorism, has the right to shout "fire" in a crowded theater.

No one would argue, of course, that a comparatively minor strike such as the flight engineers' carries anything like the menace of hollering fire in a theater. But in a complex industrial society the right to strike and the right to raise prices may hurt a lot of innocent bystanders.

It could be that one day—if labor and management are judicious enough—Congress might see fit to pass new laws designed to protect the bystanders.

As for Kennedy, it is difficult to see how he can win if the flight engineers' strike is prolonged. If he went to Congress for new legislation to end it, he would be accused of currying American freedoms; if he let the engineers get away with it, he would be charged with favoritism to labor.

Manufacturing District Asked On West 3rd

A hearing on an application for rezoning the north half of the two blocks on West 3rd Street from Washington Street west to Huff Street from one-to-four family and multi-family dwelling districts to light manufacturing has been called by the Winona Planning Commission for July 9 at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall.

The petition is being made by the Board of County Commissioners and Western Motor Sales, property owners in the area, in anticipation of the vacating of the county garage. When the garage is moved to its new quarters in Goodview the building will be up for sale. The application for rezoning now is being made so the zoning classification would be suitable for prospective buyers of the property.

However, the petition also includes a multi-residential area at Huff and West 3rd streets, in the same block with the garage, and the block to the east, which includes the Western Motor Sales garage and the county jail.

The same night the Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a hearing on an application by Jack Walz for construction of a 29-foot billboard at the rear of Walz Buick-Olds-GMC, 225 W. 3rd St. The zoning ordinance limits height of a ground sign to 15 feet.

A Few Clouds To Appear; Rain Thursday

A fly appeared in the "perfect weather" spell cast over Winona this week with a prediction of partly cloudy and increased humidity for Wednesday.

And by Thursday, the weatherman expects scattered thunder showers and rather warm weather. Tonight will be mostly fair, as it has been since Sunday, with the thermometer falling to 55-62. The high Wednesday will be in the high 80s.

The temperature in Winona rose to 84 Monday afternoon and dropped to 57 during the night. The noon reading today was 76.

A YEAR AGO today Winona had a high of 79 and a low of 48. All-time high for June 26 was 100 in 1931 and the low 46 in 1911. The mean for the past 24 hours was 71. Normal for this day is 72.

Generally the fair weather prevailed across the Northwest today with the temperature dropping to a chilly 42 at Duluth this morning. A low of 51 was registered at Bemidji and International Falls.

High for Monday afternoon in the state was 85 at Redwood Falls. The stage of the Mississippi at Winona, 6.1 today, was slated to drop to 5.8 by Friday. With the exception of adjustments at dams 3 and 6, declines were registered at all stations in the district.

A budding heat wave was clipped Monday by a mass of cool air that brought crisp, clear weather to all of Wisconsin today.

The cool front reached the extreme southeastern part of the state by early evening Monday after temperatures had gone as high as 88 in the Milwaukee area. Temperatures during the night ranged from 42 at Superior to 62 at La Crosse.

The cool weather brought some showers to the state but amounts of rain were light. The largest amount was one-third of an inch in area of Milwaukee's west side. The mercury hit a high of 115 Monday at Gila Bend, Ariz., and slipped to a low of 37 at Reno, Nev., early today.

All Pepin County To Be in High School Districts

DURAND, Wis. — By the statewide deadline of July 1, all Pepin County area will be in high school districts. J. Maxwell Weiss, Menomonie, superintendent of Pepin, Dunn and Pierce county schools, said this morning.

Although there are two small areas in the county still not attached to high schools, petitions have been filed and hearings set, and the effective date of their attachment will be July 1 although the hearings are scheduled later in the month.

A hearing will be held July 12 at 8:30 p.m. at Arkansas Union Free High School on attachment of an area in Town of Frankfort to Arkansas High School. This area is in Arkansas Grade School, Towns of Waterville and Frankfort.

A petition also has been filed for attachment of a small area of developers may hereafter be subject to more careful regulation in such matters.

A short visit to the site of the See-Sawer Homes for elderly people wound up the tour. Arthur A. Gallien, executive director of the Housing and Redevelopment Authority, said the homes are scheduled for completion about Sept. 5. A new street along the north side of the project site was inspected and Gallien recommended a turn-around area at the east end of the dead end street. Curb and sidewalk already is in place on the south side of the new street.

All areas in his three counties will be in high school districts by July 1, Weiss said.

Should the school board of Arkansas Union Free High School wish to convert to a common school district, as members have indicated, it may petition the state Department of Public Instruction for such conversion of July 1, Weiss said.

Goodview OKs Assessments For Water

An assessment roll for the village of Goodview's new waterworks system was approved Monday night by the village council.

Assessments against some 300 benefiting property owners will be made over a 20-year period in financing the $320,000 project.

Approximately $180,000 is assessable against benefiting property owners.

The council last night also awarded a contract to Neptune Meter Co., Elk Grove Village, Ill., for supplying 100 water meters at a unit price of $31.80.

This was lowest of three bids received. Others were from Hersey-Sparling Co., Dedham, Mass., $31.90, and Badger Meter Co., Milwaukee, $31.84.

The village has the option of buying additional meters at the same price.

Dr. E. G. Callahan, village clerk, reported that consideration of the purchase of fire hose and accessories was held over to the next regular meeting to allow further study by the fire department.

'Hams' Make 608 Contacts

Winona communicated with every state in the union, the Canal Zone and Virgin Islands last weekend.

Eleven men and boys, all amateur radio operators, were testing Winona's emergency communications equipment. No existing power lines — only a generator — were used in the 24-hour vigil beginning at 4 p.m. Saturday on the Paul Brown lawn at 3741 6th St., Goodview. Brom is Winona County's Civil Defense communications officer and Goodview's CD director.

These ham operators made 608 contacts and were competing in an annual contest sponsored by the American Radio Relay League. Last year Winona's Amateur Radio Club placed 10th in this national contest by establishing 624 contacts. Most of last weekend's messages were made in code rather than phone and these contacts were reported on a master log.

Fountain Woman Wins Fillmore Cake Competition

PRESTON, Minn. — Mrs. Ralph Simonson, member of Fountain Fillmore County on Nutrition Day Sept. 12 at Camp Koronis, Paynesville, Minn.

Judges at the contest were Mrs. Donald Duxbury, Preston; Mrs. Rita Kramer, Fountain; and Mrs. Carl Anderson, Chaffield. All are former county home agents.

Entertainment included a vocal solo by Linda Barnes, a song by the Barnes Trio, a guitar solo by Steve Heusinkveld, a piano solo by Cindy Turner and tap dancing numbers by Tommy and Donna Rickhoff. About 40 attended.

Legion's Picnic On 4th of July

The 13th annual family picnic of the Winona American Legion again will be held at Latsch Prairie Island Park.

This year it will be held not on a Sunday, but on the Fourth of July. Hours will be 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Entertainment will include games, races, fish pond and free prizes, for both young and old. Races are scheduled for children, teenagers and perhaps adults. The Sons of the American Legion Big Band will perform. Freddie Hieser and his trio will offer music throughout the day. All forms of refreshments will be available and free coffee will be served.

"We feel it especially appropriate and a very fitting tribute that the American Legion is holding its family picnic on the 4th of July this year. We hope to create a colorful atmosphere with a display of American flags," said picnic chairman Terence Wilson.

Committees and those serving in other capacities include: W. L. Helzer, attendance prizes; A. L. Osborne Jr., Brigadiers; Harold Mogren, ice cream and pop; Donald Gray, Jack Prosser and auxiliary tickets; Harold Thieves, Eddie Palst, flags; John Curtis, games; Joseph Pohlack, candy, cigarettes, etc.; and Ray Dorn, coffee.

Others include Bernard F. Boland, Edward Lynch, James Englerth, Philip Kaczorowski, Roger Senstad and Burr Mann. John Schneider will be deputy sheriff. Legionnaires were urged to either present their cut-out registration form from the Legion publication or show their Legion membership card at the entrance for attendance prizes.

WSC Gets Grant From Foundation

An institutional grant of $4,950 for general scientific purposes has been received by Winona State College from the National Science Foundation.

Dr. Nels Minne, WSC president, received notice today of the approval of the college's application for funds made available by the foundation for development of well-rounded programs of research and education in science.

Dr. Minne said that the grant could be used for purchase of scientific apparatus, supplies, equipment, books or other material.

Motions Denied In Houston Co. Fatality Suit

CALEDONIA, Minn. (Special)—Judge Leo F. Murphy, presiding at the general term of Houston County Court, this morning denied two motions of O'Brien, Ehrlich & Wolf, Rochester, defending Herbert B. Schafer, Spring Valley, in two actions against him for $25,000 each brought by Leonard D. Skalen as trustee of the five children of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Overhaug.

Mr. and Mrs. Overhaug died last December as a result of the collision of their station wagon with Schafer's truck.

JUDGE MURPHY granted motions to consolidate the two cases and amend the answer in the Mrs. Overhaug action to include the statement that she assumed risk by riding in the vehicle driven by her husband.

The court denied a motion by defense attorneys to join with the actions a third case brought by Schafer against Skalen as administrator of the estate of Overhaug, driver of the station wagon, and denied a motion for further time for answering the complaints.

A jury was scheduled to be drawn at 1:30 p.m. today to hear the combined cases. L. L. Roerkohl of Roerkohl, Rippe & Lee, Calmar, is attorney for the trustee, Mr. Overhaug. Spring Grove, died in the collision near Caledonia Dec. 4 and his wife, Palma, died Dec. 18 as a result of the accident.

The trial is expected to run about five days.

Plainview Frolic Starts on Friday

PLAINVIEW, Minn.—Town and Country Frolic time is here again. Plainview's second annual celebration is scheduled Friday and Saturday.

Sponsored by the national prize-winning Junior Chamber of Commerce and Plainview Commercial Club, the frolic will get under way Friday at 1 p.m. with kiddie rides and O'Neill's carnival on the midway.

There will be a dance Friday from 8-12 p.m. at the American Legion community building, with music by Johnny and the Galaxies. Saturday will be the big day, beginning with a kiddie parade at 1 p.m. an closing at midnight following a fireworks display after dark.

At 2:10 and 7 p.m. "The Drifters" will stage free acts. Announcement of parade winners at 3 p.m. will be followed by competitive games.

Tickets and Town and Country buttons are on sale. A $50 savings bond or Shelland pony will be awarded at 9 p.m.

Plainview business places are participating by presenting gifts at 7, 8 and 9 p.m. Friday and on every hour starting at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Root River Group To Study Doctrine

PRESTON, Minn.—Nine members of Root River Conference of the American Lutheran Church will be studying church doctrine at Northfield Wednesday through Friday.

This delegation is attending a session to train church teachers. These religious discussions will be continued later in local parishes, and the same course will be used in September at the church workers institute at Greenfield Lutheran Church, Harmony, the Rev. Martin Ford as dean.

Those attending: Mrs. Royal Biel, Granger; Mrs. Robert Taylor, Big Springs; Mrs. G. I. Halverson, Chaffield; Mrs. Merlin Sraebek, Harmony; Eldred Rockvam, Chaffield; Mrs. Martin Ford, Harmony; Mrs. Andy Christensen, Preston; the Rev. Luther Peterson, St. Charles, and the Rev. Obed Nesheim.

COUNCIL DECIDES:

Home Developments Need More Scrutiny

Future developments of home-site areas will have the blessing and support of the City Council but there also will be much closer scrutiny of such expansions in time to come.

This was the opinion which crystallized during Monday night's informal tour by aldermen of city housing developments which have been the source of much discussion in recent months.

ACCOMPANYING the Council on the tour were James Baird, city engineer; Gerald O. Harvey, secretary of the Board of Municipal Works; Arthur Brom, street commissioner, and George M. Robertson Jr., city attorney.

Ald. Clarence Tribell, at whose suggestion the inspection trip was organized, said: "It's time we get out and take a good look at some of these areas again. We should start boosting these things more and cut down on the criticism from now on."

At Wincrest, the aldermen heard City Engineer Baird explain the storm sewer system. Water runoff areas now bare of vegetation remains to complete the system, and wrinkled by erosion were examined in the search for some solution to the vexing problem of heavy silting in the Clark's Lane vicinity below.

ALMOST ABOVE and beyond the call of duty was the yard-by-yard inspection of the watershed by Council President Harold Briesath and Ald. Mrs. Muriel Ollom and Mrs. Mary Masysa. They arrived at Conrad Drive for the meeting following a 40-minute climb up the steep valley from the Clark's Lane catch basin.

Sodding of the bare ground, started in several places, has had to be discontinued for lack of water, the council learned. James Kleinschmidt, consulting engineer for Residence Unlimited, Inc., Wincrest developers, said water from the new well should be in the mains before the end of the week.

Harvey said the Wincrest well has now been completed and tested. Installation of one section of six-inch pipe linking the pump with the new water tank is all that

THE NEW WINCREST well is 1,074 feet deep. Harvey told the aldermen, and its water source is on a level with that of wells at Westfield golf course and Levee Park. The head of the well is 1,201 feet above sea level and the new 100,000-gallon tank rises 165 feet above that point.

With water supplies forthcoming, aldermen were assured by Kleinschmidt that sodding and miscellaneous seeding of bare slopes would again go forward to aid in the badly needed erosion control.

Looking over the downhill portion of the watershed just above Clark's Lane, the Council inspected improvised check dams built by the street department to help slow the rapid flow of water runoff. A topographical survey now being made by the city engineer will show what sort of dam would be required to impound flood waters for later gradual release. Council members agreed informally that the survey will receive close attention when it is completed.

HEAVY SILTING of residential driveways and gutters along Terry Lane was another item of study by the junketing aldermen. Excavation for loading of dirt fill at the head of the street on the A. M. Kramer real estate development create heavy mud conditions following every rain, said Street Commissioner Brom.

Brom said street crews clean the area after each rainstorm and that dust also is a problem in dry weather. Councilmen agreed corrective action is indicated and that developers may hereafter be subject to more careful regulation in such matters.

A short visit to the site of the See-Sawer Homes for elderly people wound up the tour. Arthur A. Gallien, executive director of the Housing and Redevelopment Authority, said the homes are scheduled for completion about Sept. 5. A new street along the north side of the project site was inspected and Gallien recommended a turn-around area at the east end of the dead end street. Curb and sidewalk already is in place on the south side of the new street.

Lake Park Set For More Lights

Bids will be opened by the Park Recreation Board at its July meeting for the purchase of 10 more new street lights for Lake Park.

Members of the board moved at the Monday afternoon meeting to advertise for bids on the decorative light standards.

The new lights will be placed at the eastern triangle of Lake Park Drive. Five will be on the north side, the other five on the south. Park Superintendent Bruce Reed showed the board a map of the triangle area with locations of the new lights indicated.

Appointed secretary pro tem at the meeting was John Carter. He will serve until Board Secretary M. J. Bamberg returns from his current stay in a Rochester hospital for medical treatment.

Bills totaling $2,328.53 were allowed by the board.

Average milk production per cow in Minnesota in 1961 was 8,130 pounds, 100 pounds more than the previous year.

John Tlougan

New Lions Club Heads Installed

John Tlougan becomes Lions Club president Sunday.

Other Lion officers and its board of directors were installed June 11 in a ceremony conducted by Paul Venable.

Tlougan succeeds Stanley Spooner who is currently in Nice, France, attending the international Lions Club convention. After a tour of Europe Spooner and his wife will return about July 5.

Tlougan has been a Lion six years and has been third, second, first vice presidents, and on the board of directors.

Other Lions Club officers: Dr. Warren W. Haresly, first vice president; Norman Schellhas, second vice president; Victor Bohnen, third vice president; Ray Dorn, secretary; Al Krieger, treasurer; Zane VanAuken, Lion tinner, and George Cutler, tail twister. Cutler has been re-elected to this office for 20 years.

Two new members were elected to the board of directors. They are: Oscar Swenson and Clarence Totman. A. E. Brandt and Robert Dwyer also are board members. They will complete their second year of a two-year term.

C. Paul Venables installed officer June 11.

Lutheran Group Approves Tithing

DETROIT (AP) — Delegates of the United Lutheran Church in America approved tithing for the church's 2.5 million members in a close voice vote Monday following a heated debate.

The conference adopted a statement by its stewardship committee that urges the denomination to encourage members to give 10 per cent of their income to the church.

It Happened Last Night Vallee Blasting 'Talent Scouts'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Feudin' and fussin' Rudy Vallee's blasting "Talent Scouts" Producer Irving Mansfield for hiring Jim Backus as summertime m.c.

"I like Jim — but what talent did HE ever discover... as for Arthur Godfrey, what talent did HE ever discover?" roared Rudy at Trader Vic's anniversary party the other A.M.

"But if you said, 'What talent did Rudy Vallee ever discover?' you could name countless... 'Maybe,' I said, 'you wanted to do the show.'"

Spoke up Johnny Carson: "That Rudy's such a master of innuendo."

No Ducks
This picture of a lone hunter and his son on the opening day of the 1961 waterfowl season forecasts the possible future of duck hunting in this area and the entire Mississippi River flyway. Two words "No ducks," disappointment on two faces, and not a sign of a single duck or hunter on the water.

It may not be so bad, but if there is to be duck hunting for next year and in the years to follow, something must be done this fall to preserve the present brood stock. That seems to be the only reasonable conclusion that can be reached after the disappointing report that was released in Washington Monday.

Each year, for the past score or more, the Fish and Wildlife Service has sent into Canada teams of trained waterfowl biologists, equipped to make aerial surveys of the same designated areas each year. Most of the biologists have made the survey several springs. Here is the report on what they found this year, as reported from Washington by the Associated Press:

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interior Department said the outlook is still precarious for wild duck production this year.

This bad news for hunters was based on reports that the duck breeding population in the nesting grounds in the northern United States and Canada is smaller than in any year since the summer waterfowl surveys began in 1951.

With aerial survey flights completed in the important seven portions of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, the data indicated a 37 percent decrease in the breeding population in those areas when compared with last year. Mallard ducks are about 12 percent in number below the 1951 count and the number of Pintails was down 28 percent.

One bright spot is the improvement of water and habitat in the Dakotas and Minnesota. However, increase production from this U. S. area is not expected by the service to compensate for the lack of production indicated in the southern portions of the Canadian prairie provinces.

The duck situation has become increasingly serious during the past several years because of severe drought in the continent's primary duck factory, the prairie pothole region of the Dakotas and Minnesota and the provinces of Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Alberta in Canada.

Man Killed in Plane Crash at Minneapolis

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Richard R. Tripp, 41, Lompoc, Calif., died Monday night of injuries suffered several hours earlier when his light plane lost a propeller during takeoff and crashed near the Minneapolis-St. Paul airport. Tripp pancaked the Beechcraft Bonanza into a wooded area east of the airport, missing several nearby homes.

Ellsworth Plans Centennial Events

ELLSWORTH, Wis. — Ellsworth, Pierce County seat, will observe its centennial July 1-4, sponsored by the American Legion Post and fire department.

Events Sunday, designated as Centennial Whisker Day, will be signaled by a 100-gun salute. Area pioneers will be recognized at an afternoon program, and there will be a beard and bustle parade in the evening followed by whisker judging.

Monday is Kiddle and Belle Day with a parade, a costume promenade and grand march will open the centennial grand ball that evening at the fair grounds pavilion. Climaxing the ball will be crowning of the centennial belle.

July 3 will be centennial dairy and ladies' day, featuring a dairy-men's banquet with century farm recognition for 12 people. Other events will be a butter churning contest and a bustle style revue.

Final events will be the grand parade will be July 4, the whisker shaving contest at 8:30 p.m., and a stage show.

Science Is Easing Work In Home

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Science is working overtime to make the housewife's life easier. Latest possibility: Cooking by remote control. By means of a transmitter in her car, a woman soon may be able to regulate her oven at home—many miles away.

Our crowded world: For the first time in history, the earth's human population has passed the 3 billion mark.

Do big feet run in your family? The biggest feet in the U.S. Army belong to Leverage (Butch) Kuhl. He wears size 17-D shoes, and they cost Uncle Sam $100 a pair.

Hollywood please note: Statistics show that a girl who has been twice divorced has a 50-50 chance of striking out again if she marries for a third time.

History lesson: The presidential 21-gun salute reportedly commemorates the year of American freedom—1776. Add one, seven, seven, and six.

Our quotable notables: "A youth with his first cigar makes himself sick; a youth with his first girl makes other people sick."—Mary Wilson Little.

Tip to fishermen: When the trout start running, if you should run out of bait, a strip of white cloth on the end of your line often will work just as well.

We and they: One of four U.S. youngsters is receiving a higher education. In the U.S.S.R. the ratio is one out of eight.

Prosperity note: The average American family now has 13 electrical appliances.

Safety sign at Meramec Caverns on Highway 66: "A tight driver is much more dangerous than a loose wheel."

No wonder some people say foods don't taste as good as they used to. In your youth you have 9,000 taste buds, but at age 65 they have dwindled to about 3,000.

A drop of water is a small universe. If it were enlarged to the size of the earth, each molecule in it would be only the size of a plum.

Warm remembering: "The most under-developed territory in the U.S.A. is under men's hats."—Elmer Letterman.

Bad news for bossy: More people in the world use the milk and other products of dairy goats than of dairy cows.

Women and elephants are commonly credited with having fabulous memories, but researchers have found that men over 80 keep sharper minds and are less subject to senile forgetfulness than women that age.

Know your language: The word alimony comes from a Latin term "aliment" meaning "food or nourishment." So alimony actually is "eating money."

Big gulp: Have you ever wondered how much sword a circus sword swallower can swallow? An expert, after a heavy meal, has been known to swallow 26 inches.

(There's one more worry off your mind!)

It was Samuel Johnson who observed, "Nothing flatters a man as much as the happiness of his wife; he is always proud of himself as the source of it."

Water Bills Run High, He Filled Public Swim Pool

PENRITH, England (AP) — Farmer William Young has finally found why his water bills are so high. For six years he has been supplying the town's public swimming pool.

"I did not quibble at first because the bills were the same every year and I have a lot of animals drinking water," said Young.

"But now council workmen digging up an old water system in the neighborhood have discovered the supply for the swimming pool has been passing through my meter—thousands of gallons of it."

The council said there was no way of telling how much of the water went into the pool and how much into Young's livestock. They are refunding all he's paid since 1957.

Recognized as Real Sickness

(Editor's Note: Millions of Americans use alcohol safely, finding relaxing conviviality in friendly drink. But for some alcohol cannot remain a pleasure — it becomes a painful, self-perpetuating passion. The problem is old, but many elements in the Campaign against the nation's fourth greatest health hazard are new. The challenge and the modern response are outlined in this first of a series of five articles.)

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

The blight of a tragic sickness touches perhaps a majority of families across this broad land.

The sickness — alcoholism, the uncontrolled and seemingly uncontrollable drinking by nearly five million Americans.

It robs human brains, destroys homes, marriages, careers. It is the nation's fourth greatest health problem. There is no miracle pill to ease its miseries. It is estimated one in every 15 teen-agers is likely to become an alcoholic.

Were this disease caused by a bug or virus — as polio is — tremendous public interest and effort might be mobilized to halt its devastating human, social and economic losses.

But its root is alcohol, the same alcohol that millions use safely.

Doctors long have recognized alcoholism as a real sickness. The alcoholic simply cannot drink normally. He, or she, falls into the grip of alcoholic drink for complex emotional and physical reasons. Once there, he's enslaved by alcohol, unless he abandons it completely.

Unsuspected alcohol in a cough medicine triggered one middle-aged man — dry for many years — into an unwanted alcoholic binge. Another was seized by his old uncontrollable urge to drink when he breathed fumes on a warm day from alcoholic antifreeze in an automobile radiator.

Mankind has found comfort, conviviality, relief of tensions — and sometimes oblivion — in alcohol since he first learned some foodstuffs could be fermented or distilled into intoxicating beverages.

Down through history, a percentage of men, women and even youngsters have fallen victims to alcoholism.

Society's historic reactions toward control have been jail, ostracism, scorn, nagging, the accusation it's all due to moral weakness.

Prohibition has been tried, and missed the mark.

Now there are encouraging signs of real progress.

1. Alcoholics Anonymous has helped thousands stop their drinking, completely.

2. Allied groups, Al-Anon and Alateen, are helping wives, husbands, children, and friends understand the complexities of alcoholism and to render effective help. It inevitably becomes a family problem, says Mrs. Marty Mann, executive director of the National Council of Alcoholism. She believes it involves a majority of families, if one includes cousins, in-laws, the "entire constellation" of a family.

3. Alcoholics now are seeking treatment at an earlier age, many in their late 20s or 30s, compared with an average age in the 40s and 50s a few years back. Earlier treatment improves chances of success.

4. Physicians have a few more helpful techniques of treatment, and more understanding, too. States have established 158 clinics to treat alcoholism.

5. Hidden alcoholics, especially women, are coming forward, recognizing their sickness, seeking help.

6. Industry and unions are increasingly and successfully dealing with alcoholism as a sickness, not moral degeneracy.

7. National population is increasing, but the number of alcoholics per 100,000 population possibly is not increasing.

Experts say alcoholism has complex psychological, physiological and social causes. The alcoholic becomes dependent on alcohol as a way of life, even though he frequently succeeds in going on the wagon for periods of time.

Fundamentally, only the alcohol-

Estes Granted Immediate Trial On Fraud Count

PECOS, Tex. (AP)—In a move that surprised fellow townsmen and state officials, Billie Sol Estes won immediate trial Monday on charges he defrauded another farmer of $162,144.

One of Estes's lawyers, Hume Cofer, said the defense would show the complainant was fully aware of the fertilizer tanks contract involved and there was no fraud on the part of the 37-year-old promoter.

Twenty prospective jurors had been examined when Dist. Judge J. H. Starley recessed court shortly before 10 p.m. Fourteen others were to report today.

The 34 veniremen represent a cross-section of this small, West Texas city whose development in recent years had been closely linked with Estes's enterprises. Three of the 34 are women.

During most of the long afternoon and night sessions, Estes in court with his head turned away from the prospective jurors. Occasionally he turned to observe proceedings. A few times he smiled slightly.

Estes was indicted April 26 by the Reeves County grand jury on eight counts of felony theft in the sale of anhydrous ammonia fertilizer tanks to six farmers. The six claimed they were bilked of $228,576 in the transactions.

The current trial involves only one count, which accuses Estes of defrauding Thomas A. Bell of $162,144.

If convicted, Estes could be sentenced to state prison for three to 10 years.

Conflicting Advice On U.S. Economy

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Cut taxes to pep up the economy but raise interest rates to keep the gold at home. That's the advice Uncle Sam is getting today from some of his friends.

But like much neighborly advice this runs counter to ideas widely held here on how best to solve the United States' domestic problems.

Plans to cut taxes Jan. 1 are aimed hopefully at getting consumers to buy more and getting business to spend more. This would increase business activity, and if extensive enough, would create jobs and raise personal income.

But U.S. money managers also hold that raising interest rates, whatever its effect in curbing the troublesome outflow of gold, could discourage consumers from borrowing to buy, and businessmen from borrowing to expand.

Thus one remedy for Uncle Sam's ills might erase the benefits of the other, at least on the home front, where the piling economic growth rate is the most publicized frustration of the moment.

The advice to raise interest rates came first from the Bank for International Settlements, Basle, Switzerland. It was echoed by European delegates at a meeting in Paris of the organization for Economic Cooperation and Development, to which the United States belongs.

Higher interest rates in the United States, in the European view, would keep investment funds from leaving the United States for their shores, where yields are more inviting. This, in turn, would hold down the volume of excess dollars which Europeans, through their central banks, might turn in for gold from the United States Treasury at $35 an ounce.

Their surplus dollars come from many other sources—among them U.S. foreign aid, overseas military outlays and tourist spending. In the last four years foreigners have used $4 billion of this surplus to cut the U.S. gold supply to its present $16.4 billion.

Foreigners still hold huge amounts of dollars or investments they could turn into dollars—some $20 billion worth. Offsetting this threat is the stake U.S. private investors have abroad, totaling $50 billion.

It's most unlikely foreigners will ever seek to cash in their dollar holdings in one big rush. And it's just as unlikely, if in the realm of possibility, that the U.S. government would have to combat this onslaught by nationalizing American private holdings overseas.

Higher interest rates here would discourage outflow of investment money. It might attract an inflow of foreign money.

It also could cripple efforts to ward off an incipient recession, or to get the economy moving at high enough speed to take up the employment slack.

So Uncle Sam will just have to mull over the advice of his friends—and make his own decision as to which goal he puts first.

Notables Running In Congressional Elections

SO FAR THIS year, Herbert Hoover has run for the Senate from two different states; Robert Taft is running for the House against a Kennedy; one John Kennedy is a candidate for the House in Illinois and another was just defeated for the House from North Carolina.

These famous names gracing the 1962 congressional and gubernatorial ballots do not indicate, however, that former President Hoover has ended his retirement to enter active politics again at 87, or that President Kennedy has stepped down to seek another office, or that the late Sen. Taft has returned.

The Herbert Hoovers running this year are both young men whose combined ages fall 15 years short of the former President's. Herbert J. Hoover (D), a 34-year-old engineer, ran unsuccessfully for the Democratic Senate nomination in Maryland. In Iowa, another Hoover — Herbert F., 38 — is an underdog candidate for the Republican Senate nomination. He attracted considerable notice recently when opponents questioned his right to be a senator because he had served eight months in a federal correctional institution in 1943 for refusing to register for the draft. A Quaker, he was then a conscientious objector.

THE TAFT comeback bid is being made by the late Senator's son, Ohio House Majority Leader Robert Taft Jr. (R), 44. He won the Republican nomination for Ohio's new at-large congressional seat.

Taft's candidacy set the stage for the nation's first Kennedy-Taft contest. Nominated for the at-large slot on the Democratic ticket was Richard D. Kennedy (D), no relation of the famous Kennedy family of Massachusetts and elsewhere. Running as a virtual unknown without significant political backing, he apparently won the nomination primarily by virtue of his familiar name.

Two other Kennedys also launched bids for the House in 1962. In the Republican Illinois 13th District (North Chicago Suburbs), businessman John A. Kennedy (D) was nominated as his party's candidate. In the North Carolina 8th District (South Piedmont, Charlotte) State Rep. John P. Kennedy Jr. (D) fell 2,000 votes short of defeating an incumbent in the primary. No Republican Kennedys have yet emerged as 1962 candidates.

THE MASSACHUSETTS Senate race appears to have attracted the greatest collection of candidates who may benefit from famous family names. Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy (D), 30, brother of the President, is opposed for the Democratic nomination by Attorney General Edward J. McCormack Jr. (D), 39, nephew of House Speaker John W. McCormack.

On the Republican side in the Massachusetts Senate race is George Cabot Lodge (R), 35, son of former U. S. Senator, UN Ambassador and 1960 Republican Vice Presidential candidate Henry Cabot Lodge (R). Running as an independent for the same seat is Harvard professor H. Stuart Hughes, 46, grandson of the late Chief Justice and 1916 Republican presidential candidate, Charles Evan Hughes.

Other famous-name relatives seeking political office this year include: Lowell Thomas Jr., son of the radio commentator, who is running as a Republican for the U. S. House of Representatives in Alaska; John D. Alsop, brother of writers Stewart and Joseph Alsop, is a candidate for the Connecticut gubernatorial nomination;

Newton I. Steers, 44, the Republican candidate for Maryland's new at-large U. S. House seat, is Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy's brother-in-law;

Rogers C. B. Morton, 47, brother of Sen. Thurston B. Morton (R-Ky.), is the Republican candidate for the House in Maryland's 1st Congressional District;

Mrs. Dolores Bridges, 46, is the Republican candidate for the New Hampshire Senate seat held by her late husband, Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N. H.);

Glenn W. Long, 39, a member of the politically potent Long family of Louisiana, who has challenged two-term Rep. Harold B. McSwain (D) for the Democratic nomination in Louisiana's 8th Congressional District.

AMONG CANDIDATES running in 1962 are three top Kennedy Administration officials:

Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Abraham A. Ribicoff, 52, is an unannounced but sure Democratic candidate for the Senate from Connecticut;

Former Navy Secretary John Connally, 45, is favored to become the next governor of Texas;

Former Food for Peace Director George S. McGovern, 40, is the Democratic candidate for the Senate from South Dakota;

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, 49, who is running for governor of California, and former Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton, 52, a Republican candidate for Governor of Nebraska, are the two Eisenhower Administration officers running in 1962.

Two U. S. Ambassadors during the Eisenhower administration are also seeking political office this year:

John D. Lodge, 58, former Ambassador to Spain (and brother of Henry Cabot Lodge) is running for the Senate from Connecticut, where he served as the state's last Republican Governor from 1951 to 1955.

Orden R. Reid, 36, former Ambassador to Israel and former President of the New York Herald Tribune, is opposing U. S. Rep. Edwin B. Dooley (R) for the Republican Congressional nomination in New York's 26th District (Westchester).

AT LEAST FOUR writers are seeking office in 1962:

James A. Michener, 55, author of such best-selling works as "South Pacific" and "Hawaii," is the Democratic candidate for Congress in Pennsylvania's 8th District (East-Bucks County) against incumbent Rep. William S. Curtin (R);

G. Pappy Boyington, World War II Marine flyer and winner of the Congressional Medal of Honor who wrote a book entitled "Baa, Baa, Black Sheep," describing his experiences, is running for Congress in California's 30th Congressional District (Los Angeles) as a conservative Democrat.

W. D. Workman Jr., 47, a newspaperman whose book, "The Case for the South," has become a best-seller throughout the southern states, is the Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate from South Carolina.

THE TOP CONTENDER for the Arizona Republican Senatorial nomination is Stephen C. Shadegg, 52, former campaign manager for Sen. Barry Goldwater (R) and author of a biography of the Senator entitled "Barry Goldwater: Freedom Is His Flight Plan." Shadegg reportedly had a hand in the writing of Goldwater's best-seller, "Conscience of a Conservative."

A champion heavyweight wrestler went with a pal to a lively fair in a country town. After a dozen rounds of exhilarating liquids they started for home, forgetting that in one field on their route a vicious bull was loose.

The bull snorted and charged. The wrestler, undaunted, grabbed its horns and twisted them till the bull bellowed for help and fled across the field. "Too bad I took those last six drinks," sighed the wrestler to his friend when they got home, "or I sure would have gotten that fresh palooka off his bicycle."

Mrs. Dooley made him sell the penthouse within a fortnight, however. "I couldn't stand it," she explained to her oldest caddy, "not knowing what was going on in every room."

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Drug Industry Attorney Talks for Illinois Senator

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The senator who torpedoes the drug reforms wasn't Mississippi's slow-drawing James Eastland, as the press reported, but Illinois' mellifluous Everett Dirksen.

In fact, Dirksen was so brazen about it that he sent two of the drug industry's attorneys, Lloyd Cutler and Marshall Hornblower, to negotiate for him at a secret Senate meeting.

The two industry men, acting right at home as if they represented the taxpayers instead of the drug companies, offered 12 amendments, which would cut the reforms Tennessee Sen. Estes Kefauver has been laboring for 30 months to produce.

THE INDUSTRY has been doing its best to stop Kefauver from tightening the laws and giving men, women and children the same protection against worthless drugs that Congress enacted in 1913 for hogs, sheep and cattle.

Under the present laws, the Food and Drug Administration can't crack down on unfit drugs until they have reached the consumers. Then it may be too late to save their health.

The grim truth is that unscrupulous manufacturers, free from federal inspection, have been producing their pills and powders in filthy back rooms and cockroach-infested basements.

Even one respectable producer became so lax, after manufacturing a synthetic sex hormone called diethylstilbestrol, that he failed to clean his equipment properly. Result: The next product to go through the machinery, a dietary calcium wafer, picked up some of the potent sex drug.

Men who ate the wafers to trim down their waistlines started developing enlarged breasts instead. The company hastily withdrew the contaminated wafers, but repeated the same negligence two months ago.

THIS TIME a drug for babies, called isonicotinic acid hydramide, became contaminated with sex hormones and caused sudden breast development in baby boys and a public hair in baby girls at San Francisco city hospital.

Federal agents checked the firm's other products and discovered similar sex hormones in some soda mint tablets and nasal decongestants. This is only too typical of what goes on in the nation's unspiced drug plants. Some contaminated drugs, like a bad batch of sulfathiazole which hit the market recently, have even endangered the customers' lives.

Kefauver's reforms not only will bring drug plants under federal supervision but will force down the price of drugs by requiring the manufacturers to label them by their generic names. This simple regulation, market experts estimate, will reduce drug prices by 20 percent.

President Kennedy accepted most of the Kefauver reforms and sent Congress a strong letter urging their adoption. The legislation was turned over to the Senate Judiciary Committee whose chairman, the aforementioned Eastland, gave the White House his word that he would try to get a drug bill passed.

HE FAILED to reckon, however, with the powerful drug lobby which spends heavily to elect its friends and defeat its enemies. To lead the opposition to the drug reforms the industry chose Dirksen, who, as Senate Republican leader, carries a lot of political weight.

One of Dirksen's constituents and contributors happens to be Spencer Olin of the Olin-Mathieson combine, which owns one of the nation's biggest drug firms, E. I. Squibb & Sons.

Senate investigators, checking on the political contributions of business tycoons in 1956, traced $100,750 from Olin-Mathieson executives to the GOP campaign chest.

The biggest contributor of them all was Spencer Olin who coughed up $34,600. His brother John, with his wife, donated another $14,950.

This may help explain why Dirksen's ear is so keenly tuned to the arguments of the drug companies. He has permitted their lobbyists to use his office, write his speeches, and prepare his legislation.

But his colleagues never dreamed he would go so far as to let the drug industry's attorneys represent him in actual Senate negotiations. The secret negotiating session was called by Eastland who realized he didn't have enough votes to push the drug reforms out of his committee. So he called Dirksen and offered to compromise.

"Don't think you're going to a tea party," Eastland warned Dirksen, adding that he must expect to give ground at the meeting.

Eastland invited Jerome S. Sosky, a legislative expert from the Health, Education, and Welfare Department, to fight for the reforms; Dirksen sent Cutler and Hornblower, attorneys for the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association.

HORNBLOWER, who answers to the nickname "Whistle," did most of the hornblowing for the industry. His amendments had the support not only of Dirksen but of Sen. Roman Hruska, Nebraska Republican.

Incredibly, Eastland didn't bother to invite Sen. Kefauver, the moving spirit behind the drug reforms, to attend the secret negotiating session.

Out of the session came a compromise bill, which was the best Sosky apparently could get but which he carefully refrained from endorsing. Eastland warned privately that a stronger bill would never get past his committee and that the result would be to bottle up all drug reforms.

But Kefauver, appalled over the way the drug attorneys had emasculated his bill, told White House aide Mike Feldman bluntly that he would rather have no bill at all and take the issue to the American people.

Meanwhile, even slaughterhouses continue to get more thorough inspections than do the plants which manufacture the ingredients found in our medicine bottles.

10,000 FEWER OHIO FARMS COLUMBUS, Ohio — The number of farms in Ohio is estimated to have dropped about 10,000 in the period from 1959 to 1961, say Ohio State University economists. They believe this took about 400,000 acres in farmland out of production.

TODAY IN WORLD AFFAIRS

Khrushchev Has Troubles of Own

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Nikita Khrushchev, politician, is constantly running for office. Even in an autocracy this happens, because a dictator lives in constant fear of a revolution that could overthrow him. Stalin once said to Harry Hopkins, a special American envoy to Moscow: "Remember that we, too, have to keep in mind our public opinion."

Mr. Khrushchev's words in every public speech he makes are today more significant than any of the diplomatic notes on artificially contrived issues or propaganda blasts that come daily over the radio from behind the Iron Curtain. His informal talks give an insight into his reasoning, his reactions, his fears and his motives. They are uncensored.

In a trip to Rumania this week, the Soviet premier announced that the Soviet Union sees no reason to go to war with the West over Berlin. This has been becoming obvious lately, but Mr. Khrushchev now makes it official. He declares flatly, too, that Russia has no intention of muddying the waters by means of a separate peace treaty with Communist East Germany. His words were these:

"We are not setting a new deadline for signing a treaty with the German Democratic Republic. If the time is right, however, we shall solve the problem. We want an understanding with the Americans over the German question and to settle the West Berlin problem in order to end the occupation regime in this city and turn it into a free town."

This has been stated in broad terms before, but it is significant that it is repeated now as Mr. Khrushchev makes a tour of the Communist bloc countries and tries to reassure nervous peoples in those areas that war is not in prospect.

EVERYTHING the Soviet premier says on a speaking trip is reproduced in full in all the newspapers inside the Soviet Union. Here is a passage that shows the premier is on the defensive and that he is doing everything he can to place on the West the blame for the economic plight of his own people. He says:

"We now have the problem of meat prices in the Soviet Union. We bought meat from the collective farms for less than it actually cost them to produce. We had to give the farmers more for their meat, but from where should we have got the money? From the armaments? Would it have been responsible to take the money from our army? We talked to the workers and they agreed that we should increase the price of meat."

"We could not take the money from the army because we want to prevent U. S. bombs falling on our heads. American and German generals tell us that they are so strong now that they can destroy our country."

THIS IS really an alibi for the economic distress inside the Soviet Union. It is a convenient excuse that the Soviet premier uses in order to justify the policies of his regime and his failure to use public funds to alleviate the lot of the Soviet citizen. So it's important for Mr. Khrushchev to give the impression that the United States is an aggressor. Here's another abstract from the latest Khrushchev speech which illustrates that point:

"President Kennedy once remarked it could be possible that the United States has to take the initiative and start a war . . ."

The imperialists prepare a war against us. If the imperialists would attack us, it would result in a suicide. I can assure you that in such a case not one stone would remain on the other. The time has passed when the United States participated in a war only with their capital. In the last war, they lost 400,000 people. We lost 20,000,000. War now would not be restricted to Europe and we would not have to send our troops to the United States. We could send our rockets. However, we do not want war with the United States and to drop our bombs over America."

THE FOREGOING is one of the most revealing passages of the international debate. It shows that the Soviet premier knows a nuclear war means mutual suicide and that he is not hesitating to say so. It shows also that he wants his own people to believe that the United States has aggressive instead of defensive intentions. The Com-

Playpens Fine Up to Certain Age

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I enjoy your column regularly, but recently I had to disagree with your views. You wrote against the use of playpens for the toddler.

I wish you would qualify your statements because I really think you are wrong. I consider the playpen one of the biggest boons to mothers, next to the folding gate.

I have four pre-schoolers, and have kept them in playpens until they climbed out by themselves, usually around 15-20 months. —MRS. S. T.

Every so often I feel that I have to defend myself — just as, in fact, every doctor has to defend himself occasionally against people who decide to overinterpret what he says.

Today's letter (I omitted the last three pages) is most intelligent, except for one thing: Wishing that I "qualify" statements even though I did so.

I'm not against playpens.

The letter in the first playpen article asked whether I approved of "keeping a 20-month-old, perfectly normal baby in a playpen all day. He is wild when he gets out."

And I said no. I still mean no. If a baby is "wild" when let out after being in jail—I mean the pen—it means he's been kept in too much. My answer included this, as the third sentence: "Mind you, I have nothing against a playpen. It is a useful invention, properly used. For the very little fellows, it's a means of giving them a safe place to begin creeping, learning to haul themselves up on their feet, and so on."

MRS. S. T., by her own letter, conceded that her vigorous youngsters climbed out at 15 to 20 months. Some can, some can't. Some can—but aren't allowed to. Some, developing more slowly (yet perfectly normally) may not be ready for more freedom until later.

Mrs. S. T., I'm afraid, has gone a bit astray, something like the patient who, told to "go easy on fats," has a tizzy if there's a trace of butter on a sandwich "because my doctor told me absolutely no fat." He didn't; he said go easy.

Communist regime is thus trying desperately to justify the low standard of living inside the Soviet Union.

Now, President Kennedy has never made an such statement as Mr. Khrushchev attributes to him. He never said that America would start a war but only that nuclear weapons might have to be used to defend Europe if attacked by conventional forces.

Heloise Household Hints Saves Steps and Tempers

SNAGGING YOU?

DEAR HELOISE:

Nothing makes me as angry as snagging a good pair of nylons with a clothespin.

I cut off the fingertips of some old cotton gloves and slipped them over the tips of the clothespins. The result was wonderful! Those are snagless clothespins.

I now use them for all my fragile garments. It also prevents rust marks and soil from the pins themselves.

—Ida Loring

DEAR HELOISE:

For those who are always losing their sewing needles, push a wad of cotton into the little hole in the spool. Stick the mending needle there.

Next time a button comes off, there will be no looking for a needle in that sewing box.

—Practically Blind

HANG 'EM ALL

DEAR HELOISE:

Here's a cookie for you. To make wooden coat hangers hold low-cut dresses and "spaghetti" straps . . . just wrap some rubber bands around each end where the shoulders go. This will keep the straps from falling off the hanger.

June Garcia

These are just a few of the many suggestions from Heloise which make your day a little brighter around your home. Read them all in July 1st issue of the color comic section of Sunday News.

Missouri Synod Opposes Federal Aid for Schools

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Lutheran Church - Missouri synod again has gone on record as saying it does not want any federal aid for the direct support of educational facilities, of which it has many.

The 2½-million member denomination's convention adopted a resolution Monday which reaffirmed its earlier stand on the issue. The resolution says state or federal aid to any educational institution must be accompanied by some control.

DR. OSWALD C. J. Hoffman of New York, church statesman and head of its public relations department, commented:

"Acceptance of even one percent of federal aid for the support of the church's educational system necessarily opens the door to the state to exercise possible control over the other 99 percent of the church's dollar" spent for extension of its educational system.

"Self-support is the high price the church must pay in dollars and cents if she is to remain free from domination by the state," Dr. Hoffman added.

"I will carry on in the tradition of The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, which has been grounded in the Bible and the Lutheran Confessions."

This was the statement made by the Rev. Dr. Oliver R. Harms of St. Louis, following his election as president of the 2,500,000-member church body on the fourth ballot. He is the seventh president in 115 years to serve the Missouri Synod. Having been responsible for many of the administrative duties since 1959 as first vice president, he pleaded for the support of all synodical boards and agencies so that the synod may achieve its goals, including the establishment of approximately 135 congregations per year.

Dr. Harms, 60, succeeds the Rev. Dr. John W. Behnken of St. Louis who was first elected president of the synod here in 1935.

Paths in Muir Woods, near San Francisco, had to be paved because the pressure of feet was wearing away the roots.

29 Teachers, Students At Prosper Reunion

CANTON, Minn. (Special) — Twenty-nine former teachers and students of the Prosper school met June 24 at the Mabel Park for a noon picnic dinner. Following dinner and the social hour they went to the Prosper school where president Lloyd Knowlton rang the school bell.

Ruby Rollins, a former teacher, led the flag salute. Willie Nelson, Lanesboro, Minn., was elected president and Mrs. Claude Williams, Helen Stensgaard, La Crosse, secretary.

The program consisted of relating school anecdotes; a song by Debra Martin accompanied by Marilee Martin; a reading by Mrs. Bill Lewis; and the annual spell down. The reunion is held each year on the last Sunday of June. Twelve states have been represented, including Florida, California, Washington and Alaska.

Raging Oil Fires Set By Secret Army In Algeria

ORAN, Algeria (AP) — Raging fuel oil fires touched off by Secret Army Organization terrorists in Oran harbor still sent huge clouds of black smoke billowing over this western Algerian seaport today.

Terrorists blew up three British Petroleum Co. tanks late Monday, and the burning oil quickly ignited seven other tanks in the dock area. Fed by an estimated 2.6 million gallons of gasoline, flames continued to shoot skyward today, but a threat to other dock front oil tanks and a military depot appeared over.

Overworked firemen poured tons of water on the undamaged oil tanks to keep the fire from spreading. Harbor traffic was paralyzed.

Thousands of Europeans turned out after daylight to witness the latest secret army effort to turn Oran into scorched earth before Moslems take over an independent Algeria.

Huge traffic jams formed on the waterfront boulevard 200 feet above the waterline. Many Europeans honked car horns in the five-beat French settler slogan "Al-gerie Fran-cause" (Algeria is French).

No one was reported injured in the fires.

Kraft Family Dispute Ends In Compromise

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — The family dispute of the William F. Kraft family, Menomonie, has ended in probate court at Menomonie, Trempealeau County Judge A. L. Twesme presiding. Settlement was in the form of a compromise agreement in which Mrs. Aurora Sipple, a daughter of the deceased, and her husband, George Emory Sipple, a Menomonie insurance agent, are to be paid $225,000 in full payment of all rights to the estate.

THE COMPROMISE, achieved Thursday, also provides for cancellation of a promissory note of the Sipples, held by the estate, and stipulates that the Sipples turn over to the estate the 150 shares of Kraft State Bank common stock which they hold. This settlement approximates the share Aurora Sipple would have received had her father died without leaving a will.

The will, admitted to probate in 1937, named William R. Kraft, son of the deceased, as executor of an estate of about $1,500,000, to be held in trust for 15 years, with the earnings to be shared by the three surviving children and their mother, Lena Kraft. At the end of the trust period the assets were to be distributed equally among the heirs, with the share of any deceased heirs to be distributed among their children.

Aurora Sipple had charged that her brother was mishandling the estate. She also challenged the validity of her father's will and involved her sister, Mrs. Vera Joyce, in a legal dispute over some holdings in Minnesota.

DURING THE dispute, William R. Kraft resigned the presidency of the Kraft State Bank, reportedly because his position as executor of the estate was not compatible with the office in the bank. There was a question of whether the bank or the estate owned certain funds deposited under various names, but it was later established, with aid of a handwriting expert, that a number of "alias accounts" had been held in the bank by the deceased banker.

Also, during the family dispute, Sipple was removed as chairman of the bank's board, causing another court action. Aurora Sipple charged that her brother had wielded the votes of the estate's stock, contrary to a court order.

Judge Twesme, who has been presiding in the dispute over a year, ruled last October that the will was valid. An appeal from that decision was pending in the state Supreme Court. Judge Twesme also turned to the Supreme Court when he was met with one of a series of affidavits of prejudice which had shunted several previous lawsuits out of the case. His qualifications to hear the matter were upheld.

WHEN THE final hearing began Wednesday, Judge Twesme stated, "I am going to stay until this thing is concluded or settled. I'm staying here if it takes all summer. When complimenting the parties involved and the attorneys on the compromise agreement which required his approval Thursday, the judge stated, "I am of the firm belief that it is not only fair and reasonable, but in the best interests of all parties concerned. I hope the wounds will be healed by time."

All actions pending in relation to the estate were dismissed. The regular probate proceedings will now be carried on in Dunn County before Judge William Bundy.

All charges against William R. Kraft as executor were dismissed "on the merits, with prejudice," meaning they cannot again be brought into court.

THE $225,000 paid to the Sipples by the estate is to be a net sum with inheritance taxes paid. The sum is to be paid within 60 days without interest, it was agreed.

Consent of the grandchildren was also required. They included Mary Sipple Hill, Ruth Sipple Karns, Robert Sipple, William Sipple, Jack Joyce Jr. and Roger Kraft. None are minors.

ple, Jack Joyce Jr. and Roger Kraft. None are minors.

After payment to the Sipples, the balance of the estate is to be administered under the terms of the trust for the benefit of William R. Kraft, Vera Joyce and the widow, Lena Kraft.

Attorneys involved at the conclusion were Robert Musa, Menomonie, and LuVerne Kostner, Arcadia, representing the Sipples; Victor T. Wahl, Eau Claire, Clarence E. Smith, Menomonie, and Charles Prieve, Milwaukee, representing William Kraft; C. M. Meisner, Menomonie, representing Lena Kraft, and Howard Thedinga, Menomonie, representing interests of Kraft State Bank.

Laurence Curtis Will Oppose Lodge

BOSTON (AP) — Rep. Laurence Curtis at 68 has decided to huck a Massachusetts Republican tradition. He will run in the September primary against George Cabot Lodge for the party's U.S. Senate nomination.

DEAR ABBY:

You Can't Win Always

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Since the track opened up I am without a boyfriend. To tell you the truth I have been stood up by a horse. He spends all his time doting the races and then he stays around the track every day the horses are running. You know you can't get hold of a man when he's at the track all the time. When the track is closed he is wonderful. Should I date the nice non-betting man who lives in my apartment? My boyfriend tells me he can't help it if he has horses' blood in his veins.

STOOD UP BY A HORSE

Abby

Somebody told me it means that the guests are expected to give money to both the bride and groom. I can't believe it! Begging, that's what it is. Heaven help us!

DEAR STOOD: Date the nice non-betting man in your building. He might not win, but I'll bet he can place and show. And when your horse lover calls you after the racing season, tell him YOU'VE got horse blood in your veins, too — and say NAY.

DEAR ABBY: I wish you, or one of your readers, would explain to me what a "double greenback" shower is. I received an invitation to one last week and haven't recovered yet. It is being sponsored by the GROOM'S parents. I think that means that the guests are expected to give money to both the bride and groom. I can't believe it! Begging, that's what it is. Heaven help us!

DEAR PROUD: Yes, a "double greenback" shower is indeed an invitation to give money to both bride and groom. And you don't have to accept every invitation you get.

DEAR ABBY: I've noticed that when you get advice comments on your opinions, you are fair enough to print them. Well, recently, you ran a letter from a man whose wife spent hours reading the Bible and copying verses from it. He complained, "She tries to convert all our friends who are already non-drinking, church-going people." And you advised him to take her to a doctor.

I infer that you are also one of those "non-drinking, church-going people" who feels that religion consists of just that. You do not realize that there can be a life lived in vital contact with God. It makes one a different person. No doubt this woman has had that experience, and is eager to share it with others. I've had it, too. And it wouldn't bother me one bit if you printed my name.

MRS. DAYTON YOUNG, Fort Smith, Ark.

DEAR ABBY: I am sitting here with the tears running down my face. I raised two sons and a daughter. I worked my fingers to the bone for them. I wore torn shoes so they could dress nicely. I scrimped and saved to make payments on cars for them. And do you know that on Mother's Day not ONE of them even sent me a card or called me up?

HEARTBROKEN

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: Wipe the tears off your face. Mother, all most mothers get for their sacrifice is the JOY of sacrificing. You will find APPRECIATION in the dictionary.

4,007 Attend Playgrounds In First Week

Cool weather and shady skies contributed to a record attendance of 4,007 the opening week of the city's 10 supervised playgrounds. The playgrounds opened last Monday.

Playground supervisors spent the week registering children and getting acquainted. The youngsters followed a program which included organized games, daily story hour and crafts, such as gimp braiding and decorating tin cans with macaroni. Smaller children worked at paper crafts and coloring.

Softball teams for both girls and boys are being organized and will compete on an inter-playground schedule.

Best Guernseys Shown

superintendent of Minnesota Northeast Experiment Station at Duluth; Elmer Wirt, Russell Wirt and Orvis Paulson, Houston, who assisted the Wirts in showing their three cows.

Wirts Dominate Parish Show Near Lewiston

By Daily News Staff Writer

LEWISTON, Minn. — Elmer J. Wirt & Son, Lewiston, dominated nearly all events at the Southeastern Minnesota Guernsey Parish Show Farmers Community Park Monday.

Wirt's Maple Leaf Lisa, which competed in the 4-year and older class, won the senior champion female award and also was grand champion female. Their Maple Leaf Peg was named junior champion female.

Also receiving top recognition were Olaf J. Kjome, Spring Grove, and John Nahrang & Son, Lewiston.

HOUSTON COUNTY took the silver cream pitcher — a traveling trophy — award from Winona County when its judging team compiled 417 points. Winona's team had 400.

Jon Wangen, Blair, Wis., won the junior boys open judging contest with 146 points.

Mrs. Russell Wirt, Lewiston, was high among adult open judges with 148.

In bull calf competition, Maple Leaf Lad, owned by the Wirts, won first place, followed by Wachholz Bros., Hildale Vicking Banner and Home & Odean Goss, Pine Knoll Dama Boy, Wachholz is of Stockton, Goss of Lewiston.

Kjome's Valleyland Norseman was winner of the senior yearling bull division. With no other competition, this animal also was declared junior champion bull.

THE WIRT'S Maple Leaf P. Peg won first place in the heifer calf division. Second and third place winners were Wachholz Hildale Model Emma and Kjome's Valleyland Muriel.

Wirt's Maple Leaf P. Phoebe and Maple Leaf P. Golden took first and second place in the junior yearling heifer division. There was no other competition.

In senior yearling competition, Wirt's Maple Leaf P. Patti took first. Runners-up were Nahrang's Pine Grove A. Dinah and Kjome's Valleyland Gracie.

In the heifer 2 years and under class, Kjome's Valleyland Karen took top honors. Wirt's Maple Leaf L. Bernie took second and Nahrang's Pine Grove Annabelle placed third.

Wirt's Maple Leaf R. Liz was named winner of the cow 3 and under 4 class. There was no other competition.

In the cow (4 year and over) class, Wirt's Maple Leaf A. (grand champion female) won first place, followed by Wirt's Maple Leaf K. Giner and Kjome's Valleyland Gloryetta.

Wirt and Nahrang also placed first and second in produce of dam competition.

TO TOP OFF a successful day, the Wirts took top award for showing the three best females. Kjome placed second.

In addition to Wangen, two runners-up in the junior open judging division were Dennis Paulson, Houston, with 145 points, and Steve Nahrang, Lewiston, 143 points.

Second and third place winners in adult open judging were Gordon Paulson, Houston, with 141 and Orvi Paulson, Houston, and M. J. Wangen, Blair, Wis., who were tied with 146 points.

A SPECIAL picture trophy award was presented to the Wirts by Tri-State Breeders, Westby, Wis.

Ralph Grant, superintendent of the University of Minnesota Northeast Experiment Station at Duluth, was judge.

A potluck dinner was served by the women of the organization. Free milk, ice cream, cake and coffee were served after the show.

Behind the Eight-Ball

By
AUGIE KARCHER
Sports Editor

THE FIRST ATTEMPT of the Sugar Loaf Ski Squad in staging a bon fide competition has drawn plaudits all around. The Saturday-Sunday open water ski event, held under the most perfect conditions and in the breath-taking setting of Lake Winona and the bluffs, was a huge success.

Time and time again, you heard it said, especially by the contestants themselves: "What a beautiful place to hold a tournament like this!"

The east end of the lake formed a natural amphitheater for the meet. Its shores provided unlimited seating for spectators. The weatherman cooperated as he never has before, though there were some pink backs and noses and ears here and there in the crowd. While the Ski Squadders had some anxious moments in organization, due to the heavy load of unexpected entries, they came through with flying colors.

Dollars and cents wise, the meet apparently will not show a profit, more likely a good-sized loss. It goes without saying, the Sugar Loaf club will need some help in underwriting future events but a national tournament here in Winona is not too far in the distant future.

LARRY GUNTHER, former Winona State griddler, will be getting his second trial with the Minnesota Vikings when drills open July 13 at Bemidji.

A defensive end, Gunther was in camp a year ago. However he injured an elbow early in practice and saw no action after that. Coach Norm Van Brocklin feels the 250-pounder, who stands 6-3, is deserving of a full opportunity to show what he can do.

TWELVE OF THE 19 seniors off Jim Elliott's 1961 Winona high football team have indicated they plan to play college football this fall.

To date, according to the Winhawk coach, five are set on scholarships.

Morrie Miller, Bob Grausnick and Mike Gerlach all have been offered the full ticket at the University of Minnesota. Jim Bambenek was a two-third grant. Dave Hazelton will go to the University of Tulsa under a full grant.

Incidentally, one of Elliott's returning lettermen, Dan Scharrer, is still a question mark as far as this fall is concerned.

Scharrer suffered a complex leg fracture in a "B" squad basketball game last winter, and he does not as yet have full clearance to play.

WINONA HIGH finished seventh in an interesting Big Nine compilation made by Scott Nelson, Mankato Free Press Sports editor.

Taking all seven sports in which Big Nine championships are awarded, Nelson came up with Austin as the kingpin of the conference by winning titles in football, baseball and track; second in basketball, tied for third in tennis, tied for fifth in wrestling, and sixth in golf.

That gave the Packers 50 points on a 9, 8, 7, etc., basis. Rochester followed with 42. Then came Albert Lea 41 1/2, Owatonna 36, Red Wing 33, Northfield 31 1/2, Winona 29, Faribault 27, and Mankato 26.

Winona shared second in football and finished in other sports like this: Tennis 4th, baseball 5th, wrestling 7th, basketball 6th, track 7th and golf 9th. No title was awarded in swimming since only three schools have teams.

Other champions were: Basketball, Albert Lea; wrestling, Owatonna; tennis, Rochester, and golf, Red Wing.

Burdette Will Start Tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Henry Aaron slugged the Braves to another victory Monday night, belting a two-run homer and singling in the deciding run in the seventh as Milwaukee came from behind to defeat the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-4.

While the Braves aren't going anywhere in the National League race right now, they are helping to draw it tighter. Monday night's defeat was the fourth in five games for the Dodgers, who now lead the second-place San Francisco Giants by only half a game. The Braves remain in the second division, sixth and 11 1/2 games behind Los Angeles.

THE DODGERS got off to a quick start, belting Milwaukee starter Bob Hendley for three runs in the third, Frank Howard driving in a pair of the runs with a double. They added another in the fifth, a double by Tommy Davis doing the damage.

While the Dodgers were abusing Hendley, Los Angeles starter Joe Moeller shut out the Braves on three hits in the first five innings. He started the sixth by walking Eddie Mathews and the Braves were on the way.

Aaron, now the National League's third ranking batter with a .331 average, then lined his 17th homer of the season into the left-field bullpen.

Moeller stayed around to start the sixth, which began with a single to left by Frank Bolling. Howie Bedell then took a pinch-hitting turn and drew two balls before Ron Perranoski took the hill for Los Angeles. Perranoski finished walking Bedell and then gave up a single to Roy McMillan, the hit scoring Bolling. Bedell reached third as Mack Jones forced McMillan at second.

MATHEWS SLAPPED a single up the middle, scoring Bedell to tie the score. Jones going to third. Larry Sherry took over the pitching for the Dodgers and Aaron singled to center, Jones going home with the deciding run. Lee Maye socked a single to left, but it was turned into an out when Mathews was caught in a rundown between third and home. Joe Adcock went down swinging with Aaron on third and Maye on second.

The Braves added an insurance run in the ninth on a double by Jones and a single by Mathews. The defeat was charged to Perranoski, the third of five Dodger hurlers. Carl Willey, who shut out the Dodgers for one and two-thirds innings in relief, got the victory, his first against three defeats. Perranoski is 3-2.

The Braves used four pitchers. Ron Piche and Jack Curtis following Willey to the mound. It was Curtis who pulled the Braves out of a big jam in the eighth, coming on with only one out and the bases loaded. He ended the inning by getting a pair of pinch-batters, Duke Snider and Lee Walls, to ground into force plays.

Lee Burdette, 5-4, and Don Drysdale, 10-3, will be on the mound tonight in the middle game of the three-game series.

Six to Start At Suffolk Downs

BOSTON (AP)—A heel bruise has narrowed the field to six for Wednesday's running of the $50,000 Massachusetts Handicap at Suffolk Downs.

Elcee-E Stable's Your Alibhai suffered a heel bone bruise in a Sunday morning workout and was withdrawn from New England's richest race Monday.

The field now includes Robert Lehman's Ambrosio, Harbor View Stable's Garwol, Greentree Stable's Tulankhamen, Mrs. Q. A. S. McKenna's Polyad, the 1961 winner, and the Peter Fuller pair of Hillsborough and Half Breed.

Cards Best Cubs; Yanks Win

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
Lindy McDaniel, a workhorse right-hander rapidly reconfirming his position as one of the acknowledged leaders of baseball's relief pitchers union, may be just about ready to hoist his placard and campaign for a shorter work week.

Continuing his comeback, the St. Louis Cardinals' relief ace trudged out of the bullpen Monday for his third appearance in four days, blanked Chicago on two singles for the final 3-2-3 innings and preserved a 6-4 victory over the Cubs.

The "Fireman of the Year" in 1960 with a 12-4 record and a 2.09 earned run average in 65 games, the 26-year-old McDaniel slipped to 10-6 last year as his ERA ballooned to 4.88. He got off to a slow start this season, but in his last 10 outings has been virtually untouchable.

During that stretch, McDaniel has allowed only nine hits and has not yielded a walk, keeping the opposition from scoring for 23 1-3 innings and lowering his ERA to an outstanding 2.37.

The triumph was the fifth in seven games for the fourth-place
