2 PRECINCTS UNREPORTED

Await Official Count Nov. 20 on State Race

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A change of 127 votes in Ramsey County in favor of Gov. Elmer L. Andersen today boosted the Republican governor's unofficial lead over Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag, DFL, to 171.

The change, an unofficial one, was reported by the auditor after an audit of two suburban precincts.

It left Andersen with an unofficial total of 619,942 and Rolvaag with 619,771, with two Lake of the Woods precincts still not reported from the auditor.

Earlier, an Aitkin change of 44 votes for Andersen — also not canvassed — had shifted Andersen back into the lead in the AP tabulation.

Further changes in the unprecedented battle seemed inevitable as counties continued canvasses which altered, in many cases, previously uncanvassed county totals on which the AP tabulation is mainly based. The Aitkin change is still uncanvassed.

Rumors of other changes some favoring one candidate, some another, continued to fly today as besieged auditors remained at work with canvassing boards. Some 35 counties had reported canvassed results to AP for its unofficial tabulation this morning. Many, however, do not meet until next week.

A change in the Ottertail canvass Thursday night added 70 to Andersen's total.

But the race was far from decided and there were no statements from either party. Observers said no official statewide fig-

Missing Precincts Won't Alter Count

BAUDETTE, Minn. (AP)—The two missing precincts tucked away in the northern Minnesota wilderness won't alter the picture much in the state's amazingly close gubernatorial race.

The Lake of the Woods County Auditor, F.G. Haag, today estimated the vote will total only about 30. If the 1960 race is an indication, Republican Gov. Elmer L. Andersen will get the majority of those in his battle with Democratic — Farmer — Labor candidate Karl Rolvaag.

Two years ago, said Haag, the precincts favored the Republicans

19-8. Andersen was then running against incumbent Gov. Orville L. Freeman, now U. S. secretary of agriculture.

Results from the missing precincts among Minnesota's total of 1,786 aren't expected to be available at the auditor's office here until late today.

Here's why the delay, as explained by Haag and Warroad postmaster Richard Nelson:

The precincts are located on Oak Island and adjacent North-west Angle, at Angle Inlet. The angle is a remote chunk of wilderness jutting from Canada into Lake of the Woods. It's accessible from Minnesota only by water or air, and a few hardy outdoors people go for that far-out life.

Their nearest contact to the state is at Warroad, some 40 miles south. A private plane, contracted to haul the mail to and from the distant settlers left this morning for its stops in the northern part of the lake.

The plane is expected back shortly after noon. Mail will be processed and the ballots sent along to Baudette by truck, 38 miles away. They're due to reach Haag's office by late this afternoon.

Nelson explained the winter schedule went into effect this week. The plane makes trips on Tuesday and Friday, using pontoons if the lake is clear, and skis when there's snow.

During summer, a boat makes the run up three times a week, usually returning the following day.

Northwestern Minnesota got snow on election day followed by windy weather that made a lake landing hazardous for planes. But today skies were clear, the wind subdued and temperatures headed for the 30s.

Nike Zeus Successful

PT. MUGU, Calif. (AP)—The U.S. Army said its Nike Zeus anti-missile missile successfully intercepted an electronically-simulated intercontinental ballistic missile in a test Thursday night at the Pacific Missile Range Headquarters.

No actual ICBM was involved. It was the second successful Nike Zeus shot for the Army in one day. The first came Thursday morning at White Sands, N.M.

Draw for Victory

MANKATO, Minn. (AP)—A drawing from a felt hat today made incumbent Rep. Donald P. Swenson the winner over C. A. (Gus) Johnson Sr. in the 11th District legislative race. Swenson and Johnson had wound up in a 3,598 to 3,598 tie vote in Tuesday's election.

ures would be available until the Nov. 20 meeting of the state canvassing board.

Even then, the possibility of a recount was in the offing on the basis of a predictable continued narrow margin for the winner.

Just over a third of county canvassers had completed their chores Thursday night. Some of those remaining had set sessions for as late as Monday.

One error discovered early Thursday gave Andersen a whisper of a lead most of the day. But that was wiped out when the Swift County canvassing board found that the Republican candidate had been credited with 598 too many ballots.

It was about that time that a scheduled Andersen news conference was called off.

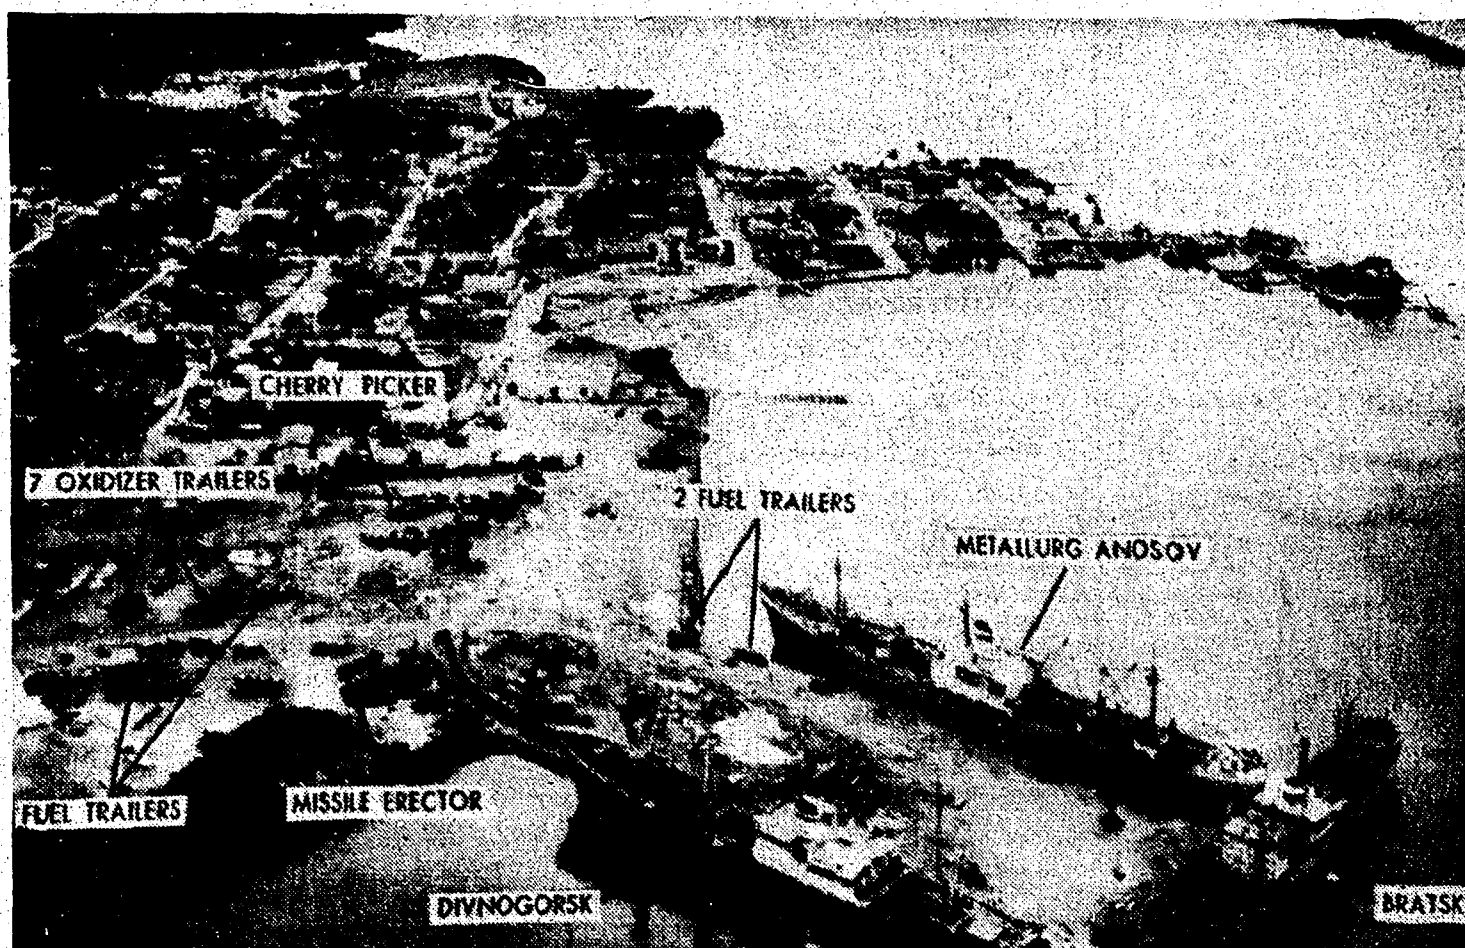

A.M. "Sandy" Keith, Rochester, holding a lead of about 5,000 in the unofficial returns for lieutenant governor, thanked those who worked and voted for him, adding: "I am looking forward to serving the people and will help in every way possible to bring such initiative as I can to bear on the challenges and opportunities facing Minnesota."

Soviets Delay U.S. Convoy

BERLIN (AP)—The Soviets delayed a U.S. Army supply convoy on its way from West Germany to Berlin for 1½ hours today, a U.S. Army spokesman reported.

The convoy of seven vehicles and 14 men was held up at Marienborn, the checkpoint at the western end of the 110-mile Berlin autobahn. The spokesman said the delay occurred when the Soviet checkpoint officer raised a procedural issue.

It was understood the Soviets complained that no advance notice had been given by the U.S. Army.

Russ Balk at Moving Bombers Out of Cuba

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union is reported balking at removing Soviet bombers and at on-site inspection in Cuba and pressing for Fidel Castro's five-point demands for ending the Caribbean crisis.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson told newsmen Thursday night these were among the several outstanding issues being argued in his meetings with Kremlin negotiators.

The Cuban delegate Carlos Lechuga, reportedly told other Latin Americans delegates told Castro considers his own government owns the bombers, which the Soviet Union sent secretly to him along with missiles, and intends to keep the jets.

On orders of Premier Khrushchev, the missiles are being carted away on ships reportedly over the objections of Castro. But the Soviets have sidestepped saying anything about the bombers.

And the Soviet troubleshooters sent by Khrushchev from Moscow are standing by Castro in his demands, which include the United States giving up its big Guantanamo naval base.

Stevenson conferred for 3½ hours Thursday night with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov.

He emerged from the meeting to tell newsmen: "We had another long talk about the unresolved issues. There are several outstanding issues."

South Viet Nam Breaks With Laos

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—South Viet Nam's government announced today it has broken relations with Laos because the Laotian government accepted the credentials of an ambassador from North Viet Nam.

President Ngo Dinh Diem's government said it considered its embassy in Vientiane closed as of Thursday, when King Savang Vathana accepted the credentials of the North Vietnamese ambassador.

South Viet Nam had recalled its ambassador from Laos in September when the new coalition government of Laos established relations with North Viet Nam in accordance with its neutralist policy.

Diem's government at the time warned the Laotian government of Prince Souvanna Phouma that it would break relations if Vientiane exchanged ambassadors with the Communist government in Hanoi. U.S. diplomats in Indochina had worked to prevent the formal break between Saigon and Vientiane, contending that diplomatic contact between the two governments offered one hope for a reduction of Communist infiltration through Laos into South Viet Nam.

The Americans also felt that further division between the non-Communist governments of the Indochina Peninsula could only aid the Communists.

C&NW Freight Derailed at Eau Claire

EAU CLAIRE, Wis. (AP)—Twenty-three cars of a Chicago and North Western Railway fast freight were derailed on the western edge of Eau Claire early today.

Most of the cars were empty flat cars, but four piggy back truck cars and several gondolas were among those derailed. None was loaded.

Crews totaling almost 60 men were working today to clear the track, which railroad officials said they hoped to have open by 5 p.m. The single track is the main line through this area and the one used by the North Western's 400 passenger train.

Cause of the derailment was not determined immediately.

U.S. Missile Strength Far Above Soviet's

LONDON (AP)—America's long-range missile strength far exceeds that of the Soviet Union, according to an intelligence report issued today by the British Institute for Strategic Studies.

The report claims the United States has between 450 and 500 intercontinental ballistic missiles compared with 75 in the Soviet arsenal.

But the institute says existing Soviet rockets of this type have powerful boosters and can carry larger nuclear warheads than such American equivalents, as the Titan.

Theoretically, said the report, the Communists could launch 50 megaton warheads into a ballistic trajectory.

They also have been developing for two years a more advanced ICBM which likely will be smaller, easier to conceal and more accurate. It can be expected to be deployed sometime next year, said the institute.

Soviet strategists apparently have concentrated on shorter range rockets—medium-range ballistic missiles in the 600 to 2,000 mile range such as were erected in Cuba, the report said.

The institute said the Soviets are believed to have about 700 of these compared with the West's 250.

Soviet medium-range rockets are "deployed in sufficient numbers to deal with strategic and semi-tactical targets — such as fighter airfields in Western Europe, including Britain, and in the Far East," the institute reported.

The institute is a privately financed organization with access to much confidential information, as defensive.

Technicians In Cuba Seen Ready to Leave

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. Navy warships have intercepted five Russian vessels off Cuba. Missiles and missile equipment have been seen on the decks of at least three of them, the Defense Department announced today.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. government has received indications that several thousand Soviet technicians in Cuba, presumed here to be military missile experts, are preparing to leave the island, officials reported today.

The evidence of large-scale withdrawal of Soviet military personnel, authorities hinted, comes at least in part from aerial photographs showing movements of large numbers of men from the area of the dismantled missile bases to ports on Cuba's north coast.

The migration has been in progress for several days, officials said.

Reports of the personnel withdrawal coincided with the shipment back to Russia of the missiles under a U.S.-Soviet agreement for an American naval check of the Soviet ships on the high seas as they traveled eastward from the Caribbean island.

Officials said that the signs that Soviet missilemen are being withdrawn provide one more piece of evidence that Premier Khrushchev is making good on his main commitment to President Kennedy to remove nuclear missiles from Cuba.

At the same time, they said there is still no indication that Khrushchev also is prepared to make good on removal of two dozen or more IL-28 jet bombers capable of attacking targets in the United States with nuclear bombs.

Khrushchev sent a secret letter to President Kennedy in midweek dealing with the Cuban crisis. Administration officials confirmed receipt of the message, which they said was a brief note that dealt with a technical matter. They would not disclose the subject.

There was speculation here that, apart from moving missile technicians, including other weapons experts in training missions, serving the government of Premier Fidel Castro.

Today, Havana said there would be firing practice by Cuban coastal forces, providing another kind of explanation for loud explosions.

Withdrawal of missile personnel, U.S. officials said, would still leave many thousands of Soviet technicians, including other weapons experts in training missions, serving the government of Premier Fidel Castro.

So far as is known here, there has been no effort by the Russians to dismantle weapons installations, which the United States in the past has considered as defensive.

Total Cost of Project Will Be Near $750,000

First National Bank of Winona will build a new bank building at an estimated total cost of $600,000-$750,000 if the federal government approves the bank's plan to buy the site of the old Winona post office at 4th and Main streets.

This was announced today by Arnold E. Stoa, bank president. He said word was expected by Tuesday from the U. S. General Services Administration on whether the bank's $151,500 high bid was acceptable for purchase of the old post office building and its 140-by-180-foot plot.

The Kansas City regional office of the GSA opened four bids Wednesday afternoon for purchase of the old post office property. Construction of a new post office is under way in Central Park and should be completed by March 1.

IF THE GOVERNMENT accepts the bank's bid, the bank will be able to take possession of the old post office between March 1 and April 1, depending on when the new post office is occupied.

Stoa said of the proposed new bank: "I feel the construction of such a new building downtown will be of considerable importance to Winona's role as a key shopping area in Southeastern Minnesota. It should greatly enhance the appearance of our downtown business district."

Stoa emphasized that an architect had not been engaged and that specific features of the new building could not therefore be reported now. However, he estimated that the construction cost of the new building would be about $500,000. The rest of the estimated $600,000-$750,000 total cost would involve furnishings, land acquisition, demolition of the old post office, and fees.

IT IS ESTIMATED demolition will cost $20,000-$25,000.

"We want to buy a site for a new banking home," Stoa said of the project. "This is an expression of confidence that the board of directors of the bank has in the economy of Winona. It's an expression of faith in the future of Winona and its surrounding area."

"This is an effort on the part of management and the board of directors of the bank to provide the most modern and efficient service to our present and future customers. We're always looking for ways to improve services to the public."

(Construction of new First National Bank—a move the bank's directors have been considering for years—will considerably bolster the already up-to-date character of Winona banking facilities. The other two local banks—Merchants National Bank and the Winona National & Saving Bank—have undertaken extensive renovation and expansion to modernize their buildings.)

If the government accepts First National's bid, the bank would soon engage a contractor to demolish the old post office shortly after the building is vacated. An architect also would be engaged soon. Construction contracts would be awarded in the spring.

STOA SAID a key reason for the new bank project was the popularity of drive-in banking.

"We now have two drive-in windows and parking for about eight customers' cars," Stoa said. "In the new bank we would have three drive-in windows and parking for from 20-30 cars. Everybody is using the automobile so much and people are coming to the bank from a farther distance all the time."

Because private parking is limited at the bank's present site, customers occasionally have to dash out of the bank in the middle of a transaction to drop another coin in a parking meter. Stoa said this annoyance would be eliminated by expanded parking facilities at the new bank.

The number of stories in the new bank has not definitely been determined. However, it's expected the new bank will be two stories plus a basement. Stoa said his bank wanted to be sure that the new building's height would be attractive by conforming generally with the height of other downtown business buildings. Therefore he felt a one-story building would not be appropriate.

ALL THREE levels of the proposed two-story building and basement would be used for banking services, greatly expanding the bank's floor space. The present bank building consists of one main level where all services are performed. The basement is used for storage. An upper floor contains (Continued on Page 13, Column 5)

Train Slices Through Gas Truck, 2 Die

ANNISTON, Ala. (AP)—Two trainmen met fiery deaths when a passenger train sliced through a heavily-loaded gasoline truck, then sped nearly a mile with the engine engulfed in flames and smoke.

The Southern Railway train, en route from Atlanta, Ga., to New Orleans, La., struck the gas truck Thursday at crossing in the small town of Estaboga, 12 miles west of Anniston.

Investigators said fireman Harold L. Bolden, 42, of Birmingham, Ala., apparently leaped from the flaming engine. His body was found 200 yards from the impact site.

The body of engineer J. S. McWhorter of Birmingham was found in the burned cab.

The truck driver, Roy McCurry, 27, of Birmingham, was reported in fair condition in an Anniston hospital.

Passengers aboard the train, called "The Southerner," were reported uninjured.

Truman Recalls Mrs. Roosevelt's Concern for Him

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry Truman, arriving here to attend the funeral of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, recalled today the concern she felt for him when he suddenly found himself president on the death of her husband in 1945.

Truman said he was summoned to the White House but "what for I did not know."

When he arrived, he said, Mrs. Roosevelt and her daughter, Anna, were there. Truman said Mrs. Roosevelt "put her hand on my arm and said, 'Harry, the President is dead.'"

Truman said he replied: "That's terrible. What can I do?" He said Mrs. Roosevelt answered: "You are the one who is in trouble now and will need assistance."

Truman and his wife arrived by train from their home in Independence, Mo. "We're as sorry as we can be about the death of Mrs. Roosevelt," he said.

President Kennedy was making plans to fly to the funeral Saturday at Hyde Park, N.Y.

City, Schools Water Billing Held Invalid

The Board of Municipal Works Thursday discarded its plans for direct billing of the Winona public schools and municipal departments for water they use after determining that there apparently is no provision in state law authorizing such procedure.

The water board earlier this year had ordered that these non-revenue producing consumers have meters installed and this fall notice was sent out that charges for water would be made effective Sept. 1 with the first bills to be received Dec. 1.

City Attorney George M. Robertson Jr., met with commissioners at Thursday's monthly session however, and said that his study of the legislative act under which the water board was established indicates that direct charging would be contrary to the intent of the law.

REVENUE CAN be obtained from municipal departments and schools, Robertson explained, at such times when receipts from regular users don't cover the expenses of operation. But this must be done in accordance with a procedure specifically spelled out in the act.

A statement of anticipated expenditures and receipts for the next fiscal year must be filed by the board with the City Council by the second Monday in August each year. When the estimates show an anticipated deficit, the Council then is authorized to levy funds to put the water department on a break-even operation, charging each of the various departments on a proportionate usage basis.

"It would seem to me that the problem of deficits in water department operations was anticipated when this law was written," Robertson said. "A procedure was established and I think that you are obligated to follow it."

The board this fall had prepared a financial statement indicating an anticipated deficit of about $6,000 this fiscal year. Commissioner N. J. Fischer questioned whether depreciation could be included in the financial statement as an operational expense.

ROBERTSON AGREED with him that the law makes no provision for inclusion of a depreciation item in the statement to be filed with the Council and that only current operating expenses, interest on outstanding waterworks bonds, costs of waterworks extensions and improvements and bond payments are specifically stated in the listing.

In ordering meters to be installed at public schools and by municipal departments the water board furnished the meters—buying $13,000 worth of them—and the users were responsible for the cost of installation.

Commissioners instructed Board Secretary G. O. Harvey to have regular readings made on all these meters and data obtained will be used in determining sources of present water losses. Approximately 32 percent of all water pumped is now unaccounted for in regular meter readings.

Attending the meeting were Board President C. J. Borzyskowski, C. S. Lukaszewski, William M. Hardt, Fischer, Roy Burmeister and Ted Mahlike.

Elgin Farmer Loses Hand In Corn Picker

ELGIN, Minn. (Special)—Albert Schroeder, 29, who farms four miles southwest of here, lost his left hand in the rollers of a corn picker Thursday morning.

Schroeder's hand became entangled while cleaning excess materials clogging the rollers. He was alone in a field on the farm of his brother, Darwin Schroeder, which he operated in addition to his own neighboring farm.

His shouts for help were heard by his mother, Mrs. Carl Schroeder, at her home a quarter-mile from the accident scene. She called Schroeder's wife who rushed to the spot and shut off the tractor and picker.

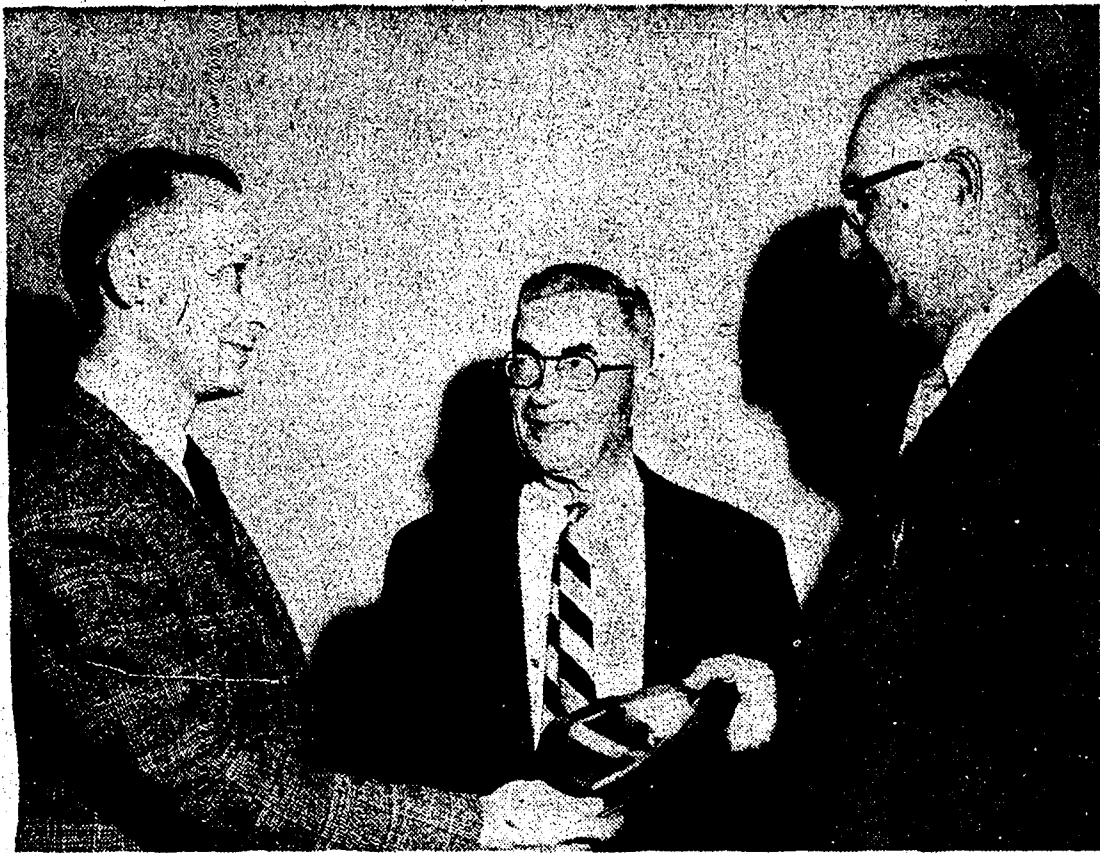

A Plainview physician, called to the scene at 10:45 a.m., was forced to sever remaining tendons of the hand which he said had been badly chewed up and nearly cut off by the machine. Schroeder also suffered compound fractures of the left forearm.

The injured man was taken by ambulance to St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester, where his condition was described today as satisfactory.

Schroeder's injury came almost a year after his brother-in-law, Fred Shiek, Elgin, lost an arm in a similar accident.

NEW POST

MABEL, Minn. (Special)—George Westby, a native of this area, has assumed his new position as executive secretary of social ministry of the Lutheran Church of America, at the church's headquarters in New York City. Since 1956, Westby had been director of public relations for Illinois Lutheran Welfare. The board of social ministry provides consultation services and standards for the social work and social action program for this newly organized church body which includes 31 synods among more than 6,000 congregations in the United States, Canada, Puerto Rico and Virgin Islands.

Officers Re-Elected

Civic Association Gives Award; Reviews History

By GORDON R. CLOSWAY
Daily News Executive Editor

Dr. A. H. Maze received a plaque from the Winona Civic Association at the group's 25th anniversary meeting Thursday night at the Winona Athletic Club for having performed a tracheotomy that saved the life of a fellow member John Heftman.

The presentation was made by association President James C. Mauszyski. Last July 1 at the group's annual picnic at the Jack Zwicki cottage near Lamolle, Heftman choked on a piece of steak. The dentist borrowed a pen knife and performed the tracheotomy. Heftman was present at the Thursday night ceremonies. The Navy is considering a similar award.

ALL OFFICERS and seven directors were re-elected unanimously to respective one-year and two-year terms.

Officers are: President, James C. Mauszyski; vice president, Stanley Wiczorek; secretary, Clarence Bell; and treasurer, Hubert Joswick. Directors are Dr. A. H. Maze, Romuald Galewski, James Voelker, Clement Goswami, Julius Gernes, Robert Prondzinski and John Bambenek. Guests included city and civic officials. Henry Muras was chairman of the nominating committee. Seventy-five were served a fried chicken supper at 10:30 p.m.

President Mauszyski introduced Galewski, first president of the association; Henry H. Kowalewski, first secretary, and Pete Edel, first treasurer who held this post 20 years. Mauszyski read the names of deceased officers including Al Grabowski who was vice president when the group was founded Oct. 25, 1937.

Persons unable to attend who sent greetings included Max Cieminski, California, an early officer; Harold B. Edstrom, president of the Winona Chamber of Commerce, and District Judge Leo F. Murphy.

REMINISCING on the association's first 25 years, Galewski said, "We were organized way back there in 1937 because we wanted to help Winona. We didn't have an axe to grind but we wanted to help get new industry. We had problems in our early days but we have made strides and I feel certain we have helped unify the community for civic betterment."

He recalled how the group, despite the fact that annual dues are only $3, raised $500 among its members to help launch the Winona Chiefs baseball club, took the initiative to get a new interstate bridge, backed a stepped-up recreation program and many other projects; was active in the fight to stop the drawdown of the nine-foot channel pools and supported tourist promotional activities. He said the association had received "wonderful cooperation" from the City Council and the city's various boards and pointed out that help from the late Cong. August H. Andresen helped put the bridge project five years ahead.

The Civic Association, he continued, has cooperated with the Chamber of Commerce and other groups and will continue to do so with the aim of making Winona a better and more prosperous community.

W. E. MORSE, executive director of the Winona Industrial Development Association, outlined its objectives and described the facilities usually required by a new industry. He has great hopes for the city's proposed industrial park and said he hoped his board would hire planners at its Nov. 19 meeting.

"Just recently," he said, "I have had two calls for industrial floor space—one for 10,000 square feet, another for 20,000. At present we simply haven't got it but with our new industrial park, I hope this type of site will be available by spring. We will not build fast—but we'll build sound."

Industrial payrolls in the city of Winona, he said, total between 17 and 19 million dollars annually. Brief talks were made by Kowalewski, whose theme was "That Old Gang of Mine," and former mayor Loyde E. Pfeiffer who congratulated the association on its record of accomplishment during the last 25 years.

LA CRESCENT Man Injured in Fall At Bar Dies

LA CRESCENT, Minn. (Special)—The 47-year-old La Crescent man who has remained unconscious in St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester, since suffering a skull fracture in a fall against the bar or a bar stool at Commodore Supper Club here Oct. 27, died today at 6 a.m.

A. R. Hanson fell after being struck on the chin by Frederick Long, 41, Chicago, who is out on bail after being arraigned on a second degree assault charge. Reportedly, Long had been talking to Hanson's wife when Hanson approached him, and Long allegedly struck him.

Catch Window-Soaper; Will Clean Up Mess

DAKOTA, Minn. — A 15-year-old Dakota boy was arrested Thursday afternoon by a sheriff's deputy and a Dakota constable. The boy had soaped windows of the school here Wednesday night.

He had also soaped the windows Saturday night. The deputy said that the windows were so soaped over that no one could see through them. The 15-year-old will clean the windows starting this afternoon, according to Sheriff George Fort.

3-Way Races Shape Up In Goodview

Three-way races for trustee and clerk will be on the Goodview Village ballot in the Dec. 4 election, Dr. E. G. Callahan, clerk, announced today.

Candidates for trustee are incumbent Robert Bundy, Anthony Bambenek and Mrs. Ray Wendlund. The post has a three-year term. All other posts have two-year terms.

Filing for clerk were the incumbent, Dr. Callahan, Norman Nelson and Alex Carpenter.

Assessor Reuben Kaste filed for re-election. Nobody filed against him.

Nobody filed for constable—now held by Iver Odegard Jr.—or justice of the peace—now held by Mark Schneider who was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Joanne O'Reilly who resigned.

Filing closed at midnight Tuesday. The election will be held from 7:30 a.m.-8 p.m.

Dr. Callahan also announced the village's new waterworks will go into operation soon. The State Department of Health has been asked to make a routine check of the water.

Station Wagon Purchased for Water Department

A station wagon for use by the Winona water department was purchased Thursday by the Board of Municipal Works.

The only bidder on the vehicle was Quality Chevrolet Co., which offered a standard model at a net price (including deductions for federal excise tax and trade-in allowance on a 1955-model sedan) of $2,322.81 and a compact model for $2,088.16.

Commissioners decided to buy the standard model on which an allowance of $618.18 was given for the used car. On the compact the trade-in would have been $430.

Board Secretary G. O. Harvey reported that receipts from assessments for the Wincrest Addition water extension project now amount to approximately $40,000.

After amounts due the water board for expenditures it has made have been deducted remaining receipts will be forwarded to the City Council which underwrote the project.

Commissioners were told by City Attorney George M. Robertson that easements have been obtained for the extension of water service to the new Warner & Swasey Co. plant adjacent to Max Conrad Field and to the airport administration building.

An agreement with the village of Goodview, Robertson noted, calls for a tap to serve the Goodview village sewer plant for which the village will be billed for water consumption at the board's regular rate.

A letter was received from a member of the water department's pumping station staff asking if the effective date of his retirement could be extended to allow for him to obtain additional benefits under the Public Employees Retirement Association program.

Arnold Arnsen, who's 71, was scheduled for retirement at the end of the current year and as a replacement has been hired. Commissioners agree that they should adhere to the original action for retirement at the end of this year. In the water department employees may continue on the job at the discretion of the board after they reach 65.

Pepin Village Board Votes $10,000 Levy

PEPIN, Wis. (Special)—A tax levy of $10,000 was voted by the Pepin Village Board Monday night. Placed in the budget were $1,800 for hydrant rental; $2,200, sewer utility; $1,632, fire fighting equipment fund, and $4,368 for general expenses.

The board voted to purchase a comprehensive general and fleet liability insurance policy.

Claims allowed were: $6,180.56, general fund; $409.89, water fund, and $870.64, sewer fund.

In Governor Race Canvassing Board Confirms Totals

The Winona County Canvassing Board, which is checking returns from Tuesday's election, has confirmed the previously announced unofficial county totals in the races for governor and lieutenant governor.

This was announced this morning by County Auditor Richard Schoonover.

There is keen interest statewide in these two races because of the closeness of the totals of the DFL and Republican candidates.

The official Winona County votes for these two races follow:

Governor—Incumbent Elmer L. Andersen, Republican, 8,272; Karl Rolvaag, DFL, 6,701.

Lieutenant governor—C. Donald Peterson, Republican, 6,040; A. M. Kelth, DFL, 6,958.

The canvassing board, which started its meeting Thursday morning, did not complete work at noon today and may not finish until Saturday.

Contract Binds

Play to Be Staged Despite Reviews

Sponsorship by the American Legion Post here of a Passion Play tonight and Saturday night will not be withdrawn despite the barrage of derogatory reviews received by the show in the past few days.

A binding contract with the "New York troupe of professional actors" has tied their hands, Legion officers here said. They are liable to suits for lost revenues and damages if they discourage attendance or fail to honor the contract, according to advice given by the post legal officer.

POST OFFICERS HELD A special meeting Thursday night to discuss the situation after receiving reports of the poor quality of the performance. Some of them had attended a Legion-sponsored performance in Rochester Wednesday in which audiences had walked out long before the end of the hour and a half show.

Sponsored in Faribault by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the show stopped at the midway point and was not resumed on one occasion. Two other performances, however, managed to make it through to the end.

Poor reviews had prompted the Minnesota State Junior Chamber of Commerce to issue a blanket warning to all chapters. It did not come in time to help the Faribault Jaycees, however, nor did it reach the Legion posts at Hastings, Rochester, La Crosse and Winona which already had contracted with Variety Illustrated Programs, Inc., for the production.

Legion officials here said they had signed contracts only after checking references with which the advance agent had been plentifully supplied. Telephone calls to some other Legion posts had brought the information that performances had been satisfactory, although in all cases the presentations had occurred several months ago.

ADVANCE TICKETS for the performance have been sold to local merchants for the performance which they in turn will give to customers. No legal recourse apparently is available either to them or to the post if the troupe—or what is left of it—shows up and upholds its part of the contract, namely a "live performance."

Before the Rochester performance a representative of the play put in a request at the local state employment office for two young men to work as stagehands and for two young women. Five young men and two women were sent to the auditorium.

The two women refused the jobs but the young men accepted. One of the men said he thought he was hired as a stagehand but found the company wanted him to play the part of a priest in the play dealing with the topics of the Crucifixion, Lazarus and the Rich Man and End of Life's Journey.

A HURRIED CALL ALSO was placed to a local junior high school teacher to sing between acts because "our regular singer and our organist haven't shown up." The teacher sang one song, then refused to go on again.

Auditorium guards reported children in the audience becoming restive and unruly.

Legion officials in Rochester issued a public statement on the affair. They said the advance man had told them a certain clergyman had endorsed the play. A later checkup with the clergyman himself revealed that he actually was very much opposed to it, the statement said.

'Hard Hunting' Seen for Area Deer Season

By H. G. "LEFTY" HYMES
Daily News Outdoor Writer

An estimated 10,000 red clad hunters will seek deer in the shotgun zones of Southeastern Minnesota this weekend, according to estimates of sale of deer hunting licenses and warden's guesses of the extent of hunter movement into the two limited zones.

Weather forecasts today were not favorable for good hunting. The outdoors is dry and noisy. Snow would be welcomed by the deer hunters.

"It is going to be hard hunting," Francis Teska, local game warden, told the Izak Walton League meeting Thursday evening in a talk on deer conditions in Southeastern Minnesota. "A deer will be able to hear a hunter walking half a mile away."

AS TO DEER population, he estimated it as high as that of 1953 when a heavy deer harvest took place. Recently, while hiding in an alfalfa field watching for hunters, he counted 15 deer bedded down for the night within range of his flashlight.

Whitewater refuge, he pointed out will get the bulk of the out of the area hunters. Deer are quite plentiful in the refuge.

However, there will be good hunting in other parts of the county. Teska mentioned Wiscoy and Cedar valleys.

THE HARVEST will be down in the Whitewater area generally, according to George Meyer, refuge superintendent. He estimates 300 deer will be taken from the refuge area. This is approximately 100 more than last year. The take in 1953 of the refuge was 440.

"We expect twice as many hunters as last year," Meyer said, "because of the closing of most of Southern Minnesota this season."

"Unharvested cornfields will be a factor," a poll of warden opinion revealed. Willis Kruger, Wabasha County, and Phil Ham, Houston County, reported a lot of standing cornfields, and preparations for a large inroad of outside hunters.

Dale Peterson, district game warden, Owatonna, has transferred to the river counties additional game wardens to assist in law enforcement.

There are two zones in the river counties. Most of Winona County, and all of the other counties north of Highway 30 and 43 are in Zone 6, a two day shotgun zone with a single slug load. South of these highways is Zone 7, or "the orchard country," where there will be a three-day open season, Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Many camping parties from the central and western part of Southern Minnesota are expected in this area. Beaver State park, closed to hunting, will be the main camping grounds.

UNDER Minnesota law, a hunter may take one deer of either sex. The main rifle zone of the state is in the northeastern corner. Here there is a nine day season. Reports state there is at present snow covering in most of this zone.

Wardens urge residents in the river counties zones, if they are moving about in deer area, to wear red clothing. Many farmers keep their livestock around farm buildings on Saturday. The pressure will be lighter on Sunday and drop to a low level Monday in Zone 7.

Because of the heavy cover wardens stress the need for caution: "Be sure it's a deer before you fire."

There are closed areas in the Whitewater refuge, all clearly posted as such. All parks are closed to deer hunting, including the big Whitewater State park. The "closed" areas of the Upper Mississippi River Wildlife and Fish refuge are open, since the duck season has closed. It is, of course, unlawful to discharge firearms in any village or city in the state, or near any farm building or residence.

It Happened Last Night TV Show Won't Mean an Ulcer

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "So now YOU'RE going to get an ulcer?" I said to Danny Kaye.

"Bet you $25 I won't have the approximation of an ulcer!" he fired back across his teacup in his hotel suite.

"You were so happy doing one TV show a year. Why next year every week?"

"I wasn't active enough for myself. I'm a performer, I should perform. And I can get to more of the public through TV which has replaced movies as THE medium."

Oh, I have my flying machine . . . I do things for the U. N. . . and movies . . . and Las Vegas, but . . .

"Every week, though!" I said.

"Listen, I used to do seven shows a day!"

"What's Danny Kaye really like now?"

"I fly my beautiful Beachcraft Queen up where Frank Sinatra and I have radio stations . . . Spokane, Portland, Seattle. There's a separateness to flying. Michael Kidd got me into it."

"He used to be a menace driving a car. I heard he was a pilot. I said 'What is this nonsense?'"

"All you do," he told me, "is pass a simple little exam."

"To pass the 'simple little exam,' I went to school for months. But I was ready. And what an idiot! Fourteen people in the country took lessons in twin-motors instead of single. I was one!"

"Same with golf," Danny said. "Abe Lastfogel asked if I played. I said, 'Get away, that's an old man's game.' Picking up a club, I hit a ball 200 yards."

"MONTHS LATER, he asked me again. I picked up a club. I hit the first ball 6 feet, the second straight up in the air."

"I got a golf instructor. I was on the practice tee five weeks before I played. My first game I broke 100, my first year 80, my second year 80."

"That's how he plans to prepare his weekly TV series . . . fact is, he's been planning it for years, letting the other comics burn themselves out. This time it'll be without his wife Sylvia Fine helping."

"A GIFTED, talented girl but she's committed to do a Broadway musical," he said. "Writing for me tends to confine her sphere of creativity. Of course she is associate producer of this Sunday's TV special."

"What about that?"

"Just that it was with Lucille Ball and she was."

"I left without making the bet about the ulcer. What'm I gonna do with $25?"

Voting Machines Must Be Checked

ST. PAUL (AP) — An individual check of each voting machine must be made by county canvassing boards, Atty. Gen. Walter F. Mondale ruled Thursday.

In an opinion to Hennepin County Attorney George Scott, Mondale said in counties where machines are used in the general election, canvassing boards must inspect the counter or recording device totals with the figures prepared by the election officers.

"It is not sufficient for the canvassing board to merely check the figures reported by the election officers," Mondale said. "The law requires that the board also inspect the machines themselves and determine that the number of votes on each machine has been correctly reported."

Voice of the Outdoors

Where to Aim
Each year after the hunting season, a fair percentage of deer are found dead of wounds in the woods or other cover. In most cases, these animals are crippled, that the hunter was unable to track after he shot it. The deer got up and beat it. The hunter probably did not give up until he had spent hours trying to find his deer. It bled only slightly or not sufficient so it could easily be followed.

The above drawing prepared by the Wisconsin Conservation Department is aimed to reduce this annual waste by calling the red-clad hunters' attention to where to hit a deer to have it drop almost instantly. By taking such care in firing a hunter is not only practicing conservation but gun safety. Be sure it's a deer, then aim to kill.

Prospects of rain or snow feature the weather forecast for Saturday. It is going to get cold. It looks like it is going to get wet. This can help or hurt hunting. It is apt to keep the deer bedded down until hunters get too close. However, once aroused, the deer normally stay on their feet under such weather conditions. Where hunting is heavy, they will be on the move.

Locally there appears to be sufficient animals so the average hunter in deer territory should get a shot regardless of weather conditions. Hunting pressure is apt to be heavier than the last two years. There will be a migration of hunters from over Southern Minnesota to the river counties. All the rest of the lower half of the state is closed.

This shot gun river zone has an appeal to hunters who do not own deer rifles. Normally, there is a heavy movement of hunters from Mankato, Waseca, Albert Lea and other south-central cities into the Whitewater and Houston County areas. The pressure in these districts probably will be heaviest. Most of these hunters are one day hunters but there will be enough weekend hunters to tax available sleeping facilities. Camper-hunters will be common in the parks and probably here in Winona on Prairie Island.

Seasons in seven zones open at sunrise Saturday with hunting time ranging from one day to nine days in the various areas. Firearms in some zones are restricted to shot-gun with single slug. Bow and arrow hunting is permitted in all zones.

As in past seasons, any deer is legal—fawn, doe or buck—and game experts expect hunter luck to equal that of last year when an estimated 108,763 deer were bagged for 250,031 licenses issued, for a 43 percent success ratio.

Ruffed grouse hunting also opens at sunrise Saturday after a five-day recess to keep poachers and sooners out of deer areas. The grouse season continues through Nov. 30.

Car Kill
Eight deer were killed by automobiles in Winona County within the past week, according to Francis Teske, local game warden. The kill was mainly on county roads. The main highway kill is definitely down. There have been very few deer killed on Highway 61 south of Winona this fall. Cedar Valley has been one of the heaviest areas.

Because of the heavy hunting pressure expected Saturday, Dale Peterson, district game warden, Owatonna, is transferring a number of game wardens from Southern Minnesota's closed area counties into the river zone for the opening. They will assist local wardens in Winona, Wabasha, Fillmore and Houston counties.

Krishna Menon May Continue To Aid Nehru

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Top Indian political and official circles believe that V. K. Krishna Menon will continue to be Prime Minister Nehru's chief adviser on foreign policy despite his fall from the cabinet and the debacle of his defense policy.

And there is no indication, these same sources say, that Menon won't continue to be Nehru's favorite spokesman at the United Nations when the prime minister feels Menon's special talents are needed there.

Nehru's reluctance in dropping Menon from his cabinet was plain. "I have decided with great regret to accept Menon's resignation," he told leaders of the Congress party. Nehru said he was accepting the resignation because the unending and mounting controversy around his closest associate would inevitably impede the defense effort.

But Menon continues to live across the street from Nehru's official residence, within easy reach of the prime minister whenever Nehru wants to consult him. And after years of paying close heed to Menon's counsel, it is highly unlikely that Nehru is now going to ignore it.

Menon no longer will exercise direct and constant influence on day-to-day policies, as he has for the past six years as a senior

The Root River District has been appointed in charge of the game room, the Sugar Loaf District is in charge of refreshments.

514 Die in Java From Smallpox

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The Pia news agency reported today that 514 people have died in densely populated West Java Province in a month-long smallpox epidemic.

The agency quoted R. E. Dachjar, a member of the West Java Administration, as saying that more than 8,000 people have contracted the disease.

cabinet member, one of Nehru's aides said.

"But there is nothing to prevent him from continuing as Nehru's top foreign affairs confidant, which he always has been even without being in the cabinet," the aide added.

One top official commented wryly:

"If tomorrow we need a man to talk with Chou En-lai, who else is there except Menon?"

By GRETCHEN L. LAMBERTON

NEW YORK CITY — Made it, by golly! Just one year ago this week I was all packed to go to New York when boom, a truck hit the rear of my car and did something weird to my neck; then I fell and broke a wrist twelve hours before takeoff time, and the trip was off. So, this year for ten days before the takeoff I walked slowly, climbed hills cautiously, shunned peanuts, drafts, revolving doors and especially carefree drivers — and I made it!

It was a lovely flight in the plane of some friends. We arrived in New York just at sunset, and it was a breath-taking sight to see the giant skyscrapers of lower New York silhouetted against a brilliant orange sky misted over with the gray chiffon smoke of a big city. As we came in toward La Guardia field we could see New York harbor with a coppery setting sun reflected in it and the Statue of Liberty touched with rosy light.

For these first few days I am staying at the Vassar Club which takes up the 23rd floor of the midtown Lexington Hotel. It's a fine place to stay, for it's centrally located and a good place to meet old friends. It has an attractive big living or reception room done in Chinese style, and every day a 99-cent salad and sandwich lunch is served here. Members can also have tea or cocktails later in the day.

When I came in Sunday night the hotel lobby was full of fresh-faced attractive college girls, most of them in beautiful sweaters and flannel skirts, and their college boy dates. At the side entrance was a chartered bus to take the girls back to Vassar. Each weekend the college charters buses for the trip to New York, and it's very popular.

I've run into several old college friends here. Late one afternoon the reception room was filled with men and women, many of them in the most interesting and unfamiliar garb. A woman in beautiful rose and gold draperies seemed to be the hostess. Some of the men wore Arabic or African-looking burnouses. Some spoke French, some English, some Spanish, and some a language I didn't recognize. Later I found out that the stately hostess was Mme. Ealyun Deraniyagala, delegate of Ceylon to the United Nations General Assembly and president of the International Alliance of Women (the first Asian woman to hold this position). Most of her guests were United Nations delegates or ambassadors from Asian and African countries. She is staying at this club which is quite near the United Nations.

Monday I walked over to the United Nations building and sat in on a session of the Nuclear Disarmament Committee. The Security Council (the most exciting to attend) is not going to meet until the Cuban disarmament inspection is completed. It was a thrilling sight to see delegates from most countries in the world sitting together — brown-skinned, white, yellow and black, and speaking their various languages. Each seat has a head phone which you attach and hear the English translation as the delegate speaks.

They were considering the adoption of the resolution to outlaw all nuclear testing after Jan. 1, 1963. While most delegates wanted it passed in its entirety Soviet Delegate Zorin insisted it be taken up article by article and amendment by amendment. He explained that he would have to vote against it because it did not ban underground tests. Said he, "It bans tests in the air and under water but as long as there is a loophole left for underground tests Russia must vote against it."

Arthur Dean, U. S. ambassador to the U. N., argued with him, but when the voice-vote was cast Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Mongolia and Cuba voted against it. But it was carried by a great majority.

Winonan Buys Harmony Service

Kenneth W. Abraham, 521 Chestnut St., associated with Fawcett-Abraham Funeral Service here 14 years, has purchased Peterson Funeral Home, Harmony, and will operate it as Peterson-Abraham Funeral Service beginning Nov. 15.

A native of Winona, Abraham is a licensed embalmer and funeral director, attended Winona State College and in 1948 was graduated from the University of Minnesota school of mortuary science.

He and his wife and two children, Susan, 11, and Mark, 9, will sell their home here and move to Harmony.

G. W. Peterson, who has operated Peterson Funeral Home, will continue for a time to be associated with the business.

In Winona Abraham has been a member of St. Martin's Lutheran Church, the American Legion and Lions Club.

Mood in Berlin Termed 'Brittle'

IN CENTER-of-the-tornado calm, Berlin sits and listens to the circling winds from Moscow to Washington, and watches and waits for the moves and counter-moves which will decide its fate.

The mood in Berlin as one top Western diplomat senses it is "brittle." Everything is watched closely and something can snap. A shooting at The Wall, another tunnel uncovered, a slowdown on the autobahn, buzzings in the air corridors—anything can set off a chain reaction and a crisis.

While nobody in Berlin has more than a "best guess" as to what move the Russians may make next against the West, this much is certain from an Allied standpoint: The West is at the end of the salami, there can be no more unchallenged slicing, and whatever happens now will have to be met with firm, clear Western responses.

THE "BEST GUESSING" as to Russian moves at this point centers on two possibilities: A further curtailment of traffic into East Berlin, or the imposing by the East Germans of visa requirements for all German travelers on the autobahns and railroads in and out of the city.

The cards which the West has to play in return are very few but they are still sufficient to take a trick. If East Berlin were to be closed to traffic, then all Russian access into West Berlin will certainly be stopped, too.

If the East Germans try to impose visa requirements, then the main weapon with which to hit back would be a trade cutoff by West Germany and other NATO countries, which would seriously hurt the Eastern economy at a time when it is already having a flock of food and production problems.

YET MOVES AGAINST the city now must inevitably be taken as something more than just another squeeze. They must mean that the Soviet Union has decided to go to the brink of war—and that presumably is why the warnings have again been flying from Washington. The word in Berlin is that Soviet Premier Khrushchev has recently been telling visitors and diplomats again in Moscow that the West won't fight for Berlin—the line he was peddling to everybody last year. Now that we have "won" the Cuban crisis, he should know better.

The difficulty for the West is to insure that there is a flexibility of choice left for Khrushchev when the crunch comes—that it is not just a "go to war" issue and that he does not find himself tipping the world over the brink.

THAT IS WHY fast and solid reactions to every Russian move in this brittle situation become so vital. If reactions are not fast in Berlin, and the danger signals of war hoisted at every opportunity, then one thing or another may slip by and suddenly there are no choices left. That is why a helicopter flight over East Berlin, for example, becomes of vital importance in this game of squeeze and maneuver.

In the meantime the city is opulent, vigorous and healthy as it has never been before. Hotels are jammed, fashion buyers and their models from all over Germany have converged on the city—which is the biggest ready-made dressmaking center in Europe — for spring styles. The annual Berlin Festival is on, the city is alive and humming—most of all with the deep realization of how much there is to lose.

IN BERLIN the people have their faces to the wall—not their backs.

Perfectly Legal to Find Loophole

EVERY YEAR about this time there is a spate of more or less expert advice on how to get by with paying the least possible federal income tax. Though some of the advisers occasionally sail rather close to the wind, in general they concentrate on entirely legal ways to reduce one's tax.

There is nothing wrong about either giving or taking such advice. Taxes are high enough so that most of us feel justified—and are justified—in taking advantage of any legitimate means to cut down on what we pay Uncle Sam.

There is, however, a matter of attitude involved. There is something not very pleasing about the spectacle of a man zealously seeking loopholes, exaggerating his expenses a bit here and there, juggling his income to squeeze every last advantage out of the law.

UNPOPULAR THOUGH it may be to mention it, the truth is that taxes must be high to pay for the security and services we buy for ourselves through government. Paying only what is justly due the government is fair enough. Sweating to find ways of evading taxes is not particularly admirable.

How Do You Stand, Sir?

GOP Far Ahead On Cuba Stand

By SEN. BARRY GOLDWATER

How long have Republicans been urging a blockade of Cuba?

Considerable attention has been paid to this question in recent days, because of the obvious fact that Republicans generally were far ahead of the government in appraising the menace of Castroism and the Soviet build-up 90 miles off the coast of Florida.

As a matter of curiosity, I had my staff search our Washington files for a copy of the first speech I made proposing a blockade of Cuba. The date was Nov. 14, 1960, and the occasion was an appearance before the Air War College at Maxwell Air Force Base, Montgomery, Ala.

In that speech, I emphasized the fact that Castro and his Communists were dangerous enemies of the United States and proposed a course of action in these words:

"We should make it clear in the most explicit terms that Communist governments cannot be tolerated in this hemisphere and that the Castro regime, being such a government, will be eliminated."

"Since it is better to act in concert with our fellow American republics, we should try to secure their support by whatever discreet reminders are necessary of America's importance to their economic and political well-being. We should then proceed with the relevant economic embargo against Cuba, supported if necessary by a naval blockade."

"WE SHOULD anticipate riots in the streets of Rio, Caracas and Mexico City, which we should ignore. And, while showing our hand as little as possible, we should groom and openly assist a successor government which we would confidently expect to see in power in six months."

In that same speech, I attempted to point out the fallacies of a cold-war policy based primarily on foreign aid and an exaggerated deference to something called "world opinion." My view hasn't changed in the two years since these words were spoken, and I believe the recent Cuban crisis more than supports it.

My argument to the Air War College on this point went as follows:

"The affairs of nations are not determined by goodwill tours, arms giving, gestures of self-denial, rehabilitation projects and discussion programs. The affairs of nations are determined—by good or evil—by power."

"THE SOVIET Union has not gotten where it is today through the attractiveness of its doctrines and practices. It has set its sights on distinct, concrete targets—on geographical areas or power centers which it means to infiltrate and eventually conquer—and then it has turned the full weight of its national power, plus the power of the international apparatus it controls, to these particular targets. The United States has never viewed the world struggle in quite this way—as, in effect, a military campaign where one isolates his objective, marshals his forces and takes it."

"Rather, we have proceeded on the tacit assumption that virtue has its own reward and that our only real problem is to make sure that the world perceives our virtue."

"I AM, OF course, oversimplifying the case, but not I think exaggerating it. Call into question any aspect of American policy and the argument you will hear after all the others have been laid to rest is some variation of the world-opinion theme. Foreign aid, deference to the United Nations, cultural exchange programs, exchange visits of American-Soviet leaders, nuclear test bans, advocacy of general disarmament, anti-colonialism, refusal to intervene in Cuba... all these programs and postures and attitudes have a single common denominator: As I pointed out, these views were expressed in November, 1960."

How do you stand, sir?

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Oil Men Stuck for Taxes On Big Eisenhower Estate

By JACK ANDERSON

(Editor's Note: In Drew Pearson's absence his column is written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — More than $500,000, which three oilmen have shelled out to pay ex-President Eisenhower's farm bills, is now regarded by internal revenue as a gift, not a business expense.

This is the official finding of the tax agents and auditors who have investigated the returns of the three oil millionaires—Texas Tycoon B. G. "Billy" Byars, Runnymede George Allen, and the late W. Alton Jones of Cities Service—who subsidized Ike's Gettysburg farm during his eight years in the White House.

They contended that they were running the farm for Eisenhower as a business venture. Ike himself explained to a farm group in 1955: "Any interest in the income and debts of my farm, that is something that properly belongs to the fellows leasing it."

Yet the oilmen made no serious effort to make money off the farm. Instead, they turned it into a luxurious retreat for Ike and concentrated on raising pure-blooded Angus show cattle.

They also paid for such permanent improvements as a show barn, $30,000; three smaller barns, $22,000; remodeling Ike's house, $110,000; remodeling a schoolhouse as a home for John Eisenhower, $10,000; landscaping 10 acres around the Eisenhower home, $6,000.

The checks for these improvements were drawn on the Gettysburg National Bank and signed jointly by Allen and Byars. Jones was a silent partner who was dunned privately for his share. This column has copies of his correspondence, addressed to "Dear George and Billy," about the farm's finances.

THE ORIGINAL arrangements were made by Allen, Ike's bridge, golfing, and story-telling crony, Allen was also a business associate of the late Texas oil baron, Sid Richardson, whom Allen took to Paris in 1951 to help persuade Eisenhower to run for president.

Significantly, the only public commitment Ike gave before his nomination was a telegram siding with the oil interests on the tidelands oil question.

As president, he brought a group of oilmen into the White House to write an oil and gas bill, which he sent to Congress without changing a comma. It was killed only after a public scandal over an attempt by oil lobbyists to bribe the late Sen. Francis Case, South Dakota Republican, with a $25,000 campaign contribution.

Finally, one of Ike's last official orders, issued three days before he left the White House, was a change in the residual fuel oil quotas. A big beneficiary was Cities Service, whose chief was helping to pay Eisenhower's farm bills.

THE RULING that the oilmen can't write off their farm payments as a business loss but must count the money as a gift to Ike, raises another interesting question: Who paid the taxes on the other fabulous gifts Ike has accepted?

These include an entire electric kitchen, $3,000; putting green, orchid-filled greenhouse, 20-foot flagpole, white marble fireplace, farm machinery including a $4,000 black hawk tractor with pushbutton gadgets, television sets, golf carts, hand-tooled saddles, paintings, furniture, and bicycles and ponies for his grandchildren.

In the aftermath of the Cuban affair, it is now evident that a savage struggle is raging for control of the worldwide Communist movement.

The alternately pugnacious and pxyish Nikita Khrushchev, still in command of the Kremlin, is defending his policy of conquering the West by the "soft sell."

THE DECEPTIVELY gentle Mao Tse-tung, ruler of Red China, appears determined to bring the Western world down in the flames of a nuclear conflagration.

Upon the outcome of their life-fighting may depend the peace and safety of the world.

No one in the West understands clearly how the struggle is going, but here is the best available intelligence:

Actually, Mao began his latest pressure play against Khrushchev 10 days before the Cuban crisis. Not that Mao had anticipated Khrushchev's humiliation; he probably had been left out of the Cuban plot entirely.

More likely, Mao's moves were timed to tarnish Khrushchev on the eve of the Nov. 7 Bolshevik anniversary, also to make it hot for him at the subsequent meeting of the Communist Central Committee.

Three days before the showdown in the Caribbean, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov entertained Chinese Communist Ambassador Liu Shao at a Moscow luncheon. The ambassador immediately hurried off to Peking, reportedly with a warning from Khrushchev that the Chinese had better not start a war in the high Himalayas.

In what must have been Khrushchev's worst week, President Kennedy called his bluff in Cuba, and Mao did the same in the Himalayas.

MAO'S DEFINANCE put the Soviet premier in an awkward spot. The Chinese ruler had been telling Communist revolutionaries around the world that Khrushchev is soft and that they should look to Peking for leadership.

Now Mao was provoking war in the Himalayas while Khrushchev was running from one in the Caribbean. The Cuban events played into Mao's hands by making Khrushchev appear to be cringing before the American "imperialists."

Under the circumstances, Nikita could hardly side with India in the Himalayan dispute without appearing "chicken" to the Communist firebrand.

This may explain why the harassed Khrushchev backed out of his deal to supply jet fighters to the Indians and called upon Prime Minister Nehru to negotiate on Chinese Communist terms.

Meanwhile, Mao is furiously fanning the fire he has built under Khrushchev and picturing him to the Communist world as an international coward.

For his part, Khrushchev is summoning the satellite leaders to Moscow presumably to remind them who is boss.

How long he will remain boss, however, may be another question.

What About Cuban Buildup?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Now that the election campaign is over, the American people are entitled to know the truth about the missile buildup in Cuba — how closely they came to being victims of a nuclear attack and another "Pearl Harbor." Is it possible that the United States didn't have reliable intelligence and had to wait for aerial photography, which can often be frustrated by weather conditions?

All the facts have not as yet been disclosed, but the facts that are available put the administration in a position of having taken grave chances with the security of the United States. A case of sheer negligence, it not incompetence, can be made out, and that's why, in fairness to the administration, any facts available that can convincingly rebut such inferences should be revealed.

The American people are partly responsible for the dilemma. They countenance changes in key personnel at the top in national defense and security when there is a political change of administration. Continuity in certain posts is imperative in an era of crisis, especially in a nuclear age.

A factual analysis of what happened could show that the United States government really had the facts, but that President Kennedy and his group of advisers did not evaluate them correctly. It is doubtful whether any military man in the group failed to size up accurately what was happening. The lesson—unwittingly revealed before NBC's TV panel, "Meet the Press," last Sunday—was expressed by T. C. Sorensen, one of the small group that sits in with the President in many a confidential discussion of public policy. Mr. Sorensen said:

"I THINK the experience of the last two or three weeks has taught us a great deal about operations inside the government—individuals, their way of thinking, institutions and departments, their way of operation."

This is a costly way of teaching government to an inexperienced administration.

The New York Times last Saturday published two full pages of detail about the missile buildup in Cuba as gathered by nine reporters and researchers. Even this narrative, which is unofficial, is surprising in what it discloses. It says in part:

"THE SOVIET military buildup in Cuba started in the second half of July. At that time American intelligence sources reported suspicious movements of Soviet ships apparently laden with war material destined for Cuba."

"All through August, according to intelligence reports, the build-up continued. More than 30 ships unloaded 2,000 Soviet technicians and instructors and such war material as surface-to-air missiles, patrol boats with missiles and MIG-21 fighters."

It was on Sept. 4 when President Kennedy said publicly that, as far as was known, the Soviet arms in Cuba were "defensive." The Times story continues:

"Within the administration the possibility that some of the build-up was offensive was not being overlooked. The intelligence community — the Central Intelligence Agency, military intelligence and others — specifically raised the question whether there might be surface-to-surface missiles in Cuba with nuclear warheads."

"AS A RESULT of the persistent reports and intelligence concern, President Kennedy approved an order — apparently at the beginning of September — that the entire island of Cuba be photographed."

Did the government of the United States really have to wait for aerial photographs before ordering a blockade and taking defensive measures against possible nuclear attack from a base only 90 miles away?

The only conclusion that can be drawn is that the administration took a chance and preferred to wait for the aerial photographs. Bad weather did interfere, and not until the night of Oct. 15 was the photographic confirmation in hand. It was given to the President the first thing the following morning. Sen. Kenneth Keating of New York, Republican, said in the Senate on Oct. 10 that he had confirmed reports about the intermediate-range missile bases under construction in Cuba. These are plainly offensive in character.

BUT DURING the seven days from Tuesday, Oct. 16, through Monday, Oct. 22, the United States government did not take any action against Cuban bases, as any military man would have advised. The President refrained also from making any protest to the Soviet government. In those seven days, the Soviets could have attacked many American cities from Cuba.

Thanks to Khrushchev, the episode has thus far turned

To Your Good Health

Trench Mouth Germs Spread Quite Easily

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What causes "trench mouth"? What is the condition of the mouth and tongue in this disease?—R.G.

Trench mouth, or Vincent's angina, is an infection of the mucous membranes, mainly of the mouth, caused by two varieties of germs, and I won't bore you with the laboratory details. One's a crooked little bug, the other a fat little one. But you can't see either except with a microscope.

The germs spread very easily. Through kissing, for one thing, or from common drinking cups, etc. (Just to ward off criticism, I will say now that I do not object to kissing; all I say is, don't go around kissing people who have trench mouth. Does that let me off the hook from critical readers? I remember when I made mention of that infectious mononucleosis also was known as "kissing disease." I had a small barrage of letters from readers who accused me of being "opposed to romance.")

ANYWAY, I didn't invent kissing, or Vincent's angina or mononucleosis. All I do is report the facts.

But if you drink out of the wrong cup someday, and pick up the bugs, the result will be red, inflamed, sore gums, and very likely there will be some gray spots, and there will be can be peeling of gum and mouth tissues on general. Besides, there will be an offensive smell to the breath. The diseased gums, if not treated, can result in time in loosening and loss of teeth.

In past years some rather strong chemicals were used: sodium perborate and chromic acid. Today we know that penicillin works excellently.

Dear Dr. Molner: Other women say menstral difficulties diminish with age. I find mine increasing, especially the pre-menstrual sort. I am 34 and in fine health.

I had no trouble as a girl. There is no single time it can point to and say, "This is when it started," but gradually there have come depression, bad temper, headache, swelling, insomnia, nausea — you name it. Have you any suggestions? I'm tired of being considered a grouch and feeling like a goof-off.—V.B.

You have a lot more companions in misery than you know, and a lot of them suffer in unhappy silence because they don't realize that a great deal can be done to help them.

out all right, but do not the hazards encountered teach a lesson?

The Senate foreign relations committee investigated the flight of a U-2 plane over Russia in May 1960, and blamed President Eisenhower for telling the truth about it and particularly for using the planes at that time. Maybe, as a consequence, the theory has been accepted that the truth must not be revealed to the American people.

What really happened between mid-July and Oct. 22, and who was to blame for the risk taken? Why were U-2 flights over Cuba suspended for a long time? Why was the naval blockade held up for a month while the Russians were unloading their missiles and planes? Congress alone can bring out the truth.

Rushford Lion Gets Pin Lost For Two Years

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special)—Ben Niggle received a surprise at the recent meeting of the Rushford Lion's Club when a distinguished service pin he had lost two years ago was returned to him.

International Counsellor Walter Ender of West Salem, Wis., found the service pin near West Salem. After checking through the International Office at Chicago, it was finally learned that Niggle had been awarded the pin 12 years ago for his efforts in reviving the Lions Club in Rushford.

The Rushford club has 38 members and has been active in promoting community activities. It also supports the Minnesota Eye Bank.

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special)—The Mondovi Rifle Club will sponsor a deer rifle clinic at the rifle range located at Don's Country Club Lanes on Sunday at 2 p.m. Members of the rifle club will be present to assist anyone in sighting in their deer rifle.

Mondovi Set for Education Week

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special)—"Education Meets the Challenge of Change" has been selected to serve as general theme for the 42nd Annual American Education Week to be observed in Mondovi Nov. 11-17.

Among the projects planned are: Open House at high school from 7 to 9 p.m. Nov. 12; open house in the junior high; Parent-Teacher conferences at the elementary level, and window displays at local places of business.

Sacred Heart School will observe the week by having open house each day from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Parents and friends are invited to visit the various classes, classrooms and teachers.

Observance of National Book Week, Nov. 11-17, under the motto: I Like Books, will also be incorporated in the classroom activities.

COTTER HOME SCHOOL

Cotter Home School Association will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. Guest speaker will be Brother Julius, dean of St. Mary's College. His topic will be "What is expected of high school students who plan to attend college?" Report cards will be distributed to parents after the meeting. St. John's and St. Casimir's mothers will be hostesses.

Rushford Girl in Luther College Fete

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special)—Penny Engrav, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Engrav, played in the Luther College Dorian Key-board Festival at Decorah Saturday. About 150 students of high school age and piano students of the 7th and 8th grade who were considered outstanding participated. Penny played for the guest critic Mrs. Irma Schenut Hall in the morning and was one of 15 picked to play in the Junior Young Artists Recital in the afternoon.

Parent-Teacher Conferences Set

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special)—Parent-Teacher conferences are planned for the elementary schools in the Mondovi system Nov. 12. Participating schools are City Elementary, Anthony, Canton, Modena, Naples. There will be no school for the grade pupils on this day. High School classes will be in session as usual. Open house is scheduled for Monday from 7 to 9 p.m. for the parents of high school students.

All parents are urged to attend. Lunch will be served in the hot lunch room during the evening by the home economics department.

SENIOR RECITAL

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special)—Richard Putzier, Mondovi, will present the first of two senior recitals on oboe and saxophone, Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. at Wisconsin State College, Eau Claire, Wis. The second recital is scheduled for February on piano. His instructors during the last four years have been Dr. Leo Christy, Eau Claire, and Rhadames Angelucci, first oboist of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra. George Cherry, his piano professor, will be accompanist. The program is open to the public.

The KEYS are on the TABLE

It's strange how a man's mind works . . .
My wife had said, "The keys are on the table," and we both were thinking of the car keys. I have that abominable habit of laying them down wherever I put my gloves — and I'm always losing my gloves.
But when I saw the keys, I saw the Bible, too. We always keep it there even though we seldom read it.
"The keys are on the table." I am just enough of a philosopher to see the chance implication of those words. The keys to a great many things must lie within the covers of that Book. Perhaps the keys to all of the really important things for you, and for me, and for everyone else.

We've been searching far and wide for the keys to peace, and security, and fairness, and brotherhood.

I wonder if the keys are on the table!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

NASON ON EDUCATION

Reality Must Be Item for Success

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

One of the most common complaints of parents is that their children exhibit more interest in things outside of school than they do in the classroom. That's the problem that confronts the writer of this letter.

Dear Dr. Nason:
Our son is a senior in high school. He has never shown much interest in school, nor has he made good grades.

He had a job this summer and saved enough money to buy a second-hand car. He now spends all of his spare time and money tinkering with the car.

We are afraid his grades may be even worse than before. How can we help him to get interested in school?

A. N., Long Beach, Calif.

Answer:
Prohibiting his spending time on his car will not increase his interest in school.

But a high school senior is old enough to take considerable responsibility for his future.

I suggest you cut off his allowance if his grades are low. Or perhaps he should be paying board and room at home.

The sooner he faces reality, the more successful he will be, now and in the future.

Dear Dr. Nason:
Our son was a good student through the 10th grade, but he is falling down in his work this fall. He is a junior in high school.

He has quit studying and spends all of his time working on an old car. We don't know what to do.

B. R., Redmond, Wash.

Answer:
When a boy turns his attention almost entirely to fixing a car it is an escape to avoid thinking about school. There is something about schoolwork that he doesn't know how to do.

Someone, probably not a member of the family, should analyze his study techniques with him in an attempt to locate his shortcomings.

When a program is established that he feels capable of doing successfully, he will again turn his attention to school.

Dear Dr. Nason:

I was told at school that our son's reading comprehension is below normal. He admits that even though he reads an assignment three times he can recall very little of what he has read. Give us a suggestion, please.

C. L., Takoma Park, Md.

Answer:
It may take consultation with a reading expert to solve your son's problem. However, have him try this procedure:

First, decide what he is supposed to find out through his reading. Second, have him read rapidly while attempting to discover what the writer is trying to convey.

Third, have him recite to himself at the end of each section the ideas he has managed to discover.

Dear Dr. Nason:

How can we help a girl 11 years old to work more rapidly? She sometimes spends several hours on homework covering less than 10 pages.

A. N., Belle Glade, Fla.

Answer:
The rate at which people work is a matter of habit. Speeding up will involve a change in her study procedures.

Encourage her to try the following steps:
First, have her get the assignment clearly in mind; know just what she is supposed to do.

Second, have her start working at once after the work has been planned.

Third, get her to TRY to work rapidly.

Central Lutheran To Present Film About Jerusalem

The story of ancient Jerusalem, will be told through the film entitled, "Jerusalem," shown in the Central Lutheran Church Fellowship Hall at 7 p.m. Sunday. Narration is by evangelist Billy Graham.

The introduction to the film will be given by George Swanson, Minneapolis, representative of World Wide Pictures.

The city of Jerusalem, for 4,000 years the focal point of human history and divine intervention, has been totally destroyed on at least two occasions; has been captured by conquering armies more than thirty times; but has rebuilt from the rubble of its own ruins to outlive all conquerors, clinging tenaciously to its rocky foundations as if determined to await a future day of glory.

The feature length motion picture was filmed in color by World Wide Pictures whose film document of the Graham team's 1960 African itinerary, "Africa on the Bridge," won the American Film Festival's Golden Reel Award in the "Church at Work" category.

Applearrows Win Badgerland Award

LA CRESCENT, Minn. (Special) — The La Crescent Applearrows, junior drum and bugle corps sponsored by Giltens-Leidel post of the American Legion, added more laurels to its bulging trophy case this week at the Badgerland competitions in Eau Claire where 25 corps units from Wisconsin, Minnesota, Illinois and Iowa competed.

Top award won by the corps was a tenor bugle solo first earned by Roger Gran, whose 81.6 score shaded Terry Rath of the St. Paul Indianhead Scouts by a fraction. In corps competition the Applearrows placed fourth, and their color guard rated fifth.

The La Crescent group appeared at Eau Claire under the direction of Max Kottner of La Crosse in the absence of William Dumond, regular director.

With the acquisition of new instruments and gear, a substantial increase in personnel is being planned with a "Rookie Day" enrollment rally set for Nov. 17, at the village hall, beginning at 10 a.m.

Young people interested in corps are urged to attend the rally.

Saturday and Sunday morning this week from 4 to 10 a.m., the Applearrows will serve their annual Hunters' breakfast at the Legion hall in La Crosse. A corps "military ball" is being planned for Jan. 18.

Deer Hunters Masses Scheduled Sunday

Three deer hunters' Masses have been scheduled by Catholic churches in the area.

A 5 a.m. Mass will be held Sunday at St. Aloysius Catholic Church, Elba; St. Paul's Catholic, Minnesota City, and at St. Mary's Catholic, Lake City. St. Paul's will hold a breakfast immediately after the service.

FILM ON JERUSALEM

15 years ago, this car was nothing to brag about.

The early VW had its problems. It was noisy. Shifting was tough. And it wasn't exactly a powerhouse.

But, its shape was functional. The rear engine made for outstanding traction. It was air-cooled. (No boiling over or freezing.)

That old VW may have made a racket, but it also made every new idea work.

And so, the VW people invested 15 years of time and effort into perfecting the one basic model. Result: Engine noise is practically gone. The VW gearshift is one of the smoothest in the world. And you can even accelerate uphill.

Over 3,000 changes have been made on the VW so far. (28 this year alone.)

And all to make it work better. The VW may still not be perfect.

But it's a good 15 years better than the first one.

USDA, Sheep Council Sign New Agreement

LEWISTON, Minn.—A new four-year agreement between the American Sheep Producers Council and the Department of Agriculture has been signed, according to word received at the Winona County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office.

The agreement follows final tabulation of the recent referendum in which producers approved continuation of deductions from wool incentive payments for use in promoting wool and lamb.

Narvin Wiskow, chairman of the ASC county committee, said that final results in the September referendum differed little from the preliminary results announced in October. The final tabulation showed that the agreement was favored by producers owning 17,516,075 sheep (91 percent), and by 86,829 (87.6 percent) of the producers voting.

For approval, it was required that producers who owned at least two-thirds of the sheep represented in the referendum cast a favorable vote, with consideration to be given also to the individual vote of producers.

Under terms of the agreement, deductions will be made from payments next summer for the 1962 marketing year (April 1, 1962, through March 31, 1963) at the rate of 1 cent per pound of shorn wool marketed and 5 cents per hundred pounds of live weight of unshorn lambs marketed. Deductions for the following three years may not exceed the rates provided for in the 1962 marketing year.

Fillmore ASC Practices Set

PRESTON, Minn.—The 1963 Agricultural Conservation Program opened Monday, according to Ray Johnson, chairman of the Fillmore County ASC Committee.

Initial requests for cost-sharing will be limited to tree planting practices. Through the ACP, the federal government provides cost-sharing of up to 80 percent of the average cost of planting approved species of trees to farm owners and operators who request assistance.

The Division of Forestry of the Minnesota Conservation Department and the Soil Conservation Service through cooperative agreements with county committees will provide technical assistance to each approved applicant.

This service will include advice to the farmer on what species of trees to plant, the proper time to plant, what site preparation is necessary to insure a good stand of trees and wherever necessary will provide proper designs for windbreaks and shelterbelts.

Johnson urged each farmer who intends to request cost-sharing for tree planting under the 1963 ACP to do so as promptly as possible. He said that requests filed now will receive prompt consideration. Requests for cost-sharing should be made to ASC offices.

Tri-State Sets County Meetings

Dairy farmers and their wives from Houston and Fillmore counties will meet Nov. 19 for their annual county Tri-State Breeders Cooperative meetings.

The HOUSTON COUNTY meeting will be at the Caledonia State Bank, Caledonia, at 10:30 a.m., and the FILLMORE COUNTY meeting at the Community Building, Lanesboro, at 8 p.m., according to Neilus Larson, manager of the cooperative.

Of special interest will be a report on the frozen semen program to be started soon. Members also will hear a report on the past year's business, plus information for the sire procurement department.

In the business session members will elect a director and 15 delegates from Houston County and a director and eight delegates from Fillmore County.

The programs will start with a movie and free lunch will be served following the meetings. Door prizes will be given. All farmers interested in artificial breeding are invited to attend these meetings.

Houston County 4-H Adds 64 New Members

CALEDONIA, Minn.—Enrollment in Houston County 4-H clubs increased during October with 65 new 4-H'ers joining, according to Francis J. Januschka, county agent.

"Participation in 4-H work assists young people with their development through a variety of projects and special activities. Members put their slogan 'Learning by Doing' into practice as they organize, plan and run their own programs in their local 4-H club," he said.

Two Houston Co. Youths Win Prizes

CALEDONIA, Minn.—Allen Peterson, Newhouse Norsmen 4-H Club, has won the Minnesota Weed Essay Contest, according to Francis J. Januschka, Houston County agent.

He will now be in competition in the North Central States area contest. His essay "How We Control Weeds on Our Farm," won him $25 first prize.

Theodore Klug, Caledonia Champion Racers 4-H Club, was selected as the top Brown Swiss dairy member in Canton One. He will receive a Swiss Bell for his outstanding work, according to Januschka.

Resolutions Approved by Houston FB

CALEDONIA, Minn. (Special)—"We favor better enforcement of existing laws regulating the sale of cigarettes and alcoholic beverages."

That was one of the resolutions passed by the Houston County Farm Bureau at their annual meeting at the city hall here late last month. The meeting followed a pot-luck supper.

P. D. Hempstead was re-elected president. Wesley Kappel, vice president, Glenn Kinnear, secretary-treasurer, Elmer Bunge, voting delegate, Linus P. Ernster, public relations director. New directors elected were John Ideker Sr., Clarence Eikens and Clarence Jetson.

These other resolutions were also passed:

"We recommend that postage rates be increased on third class mail instead of first and second class."

"We believe many movies are unwholesome and degrading, and urge the viewing public to express their objection to both the producers and the theater management."

"We recommend that safety belts be made standard equipment in all new cars, and urge car owners to install them in their present car."

"We recommend that people give more generously to Community Chest, and do not support other drives."

"We recommend that the speed limit laws be enforced, and ask the traveling public to observe these laws."

"We are opposed to daylight saving time. However, if it is unavoidable, we recommend it be limited to a three month period from Memorial Day to Labor Day."

"We favor a sales tax as a replacement for the personal property tax, with a constitutional amendment prohibiting the reinstatement of the personal property tax as long as the sales tax remains in effect."

"We recommend that the State Legislature adopt the Kerr-Mills plan."

"Whereas Congress has enacted the Hog Cholera Bill promoted by Farm Bureau for several years, and whereas this bill provides for a cooperative program between the federal government and the states which must be initiated by state action, now, therefore, be it resolved that the Houston County Farm Bureau urge that the necessary administrative and legislative action be taken in the State of Minnesota to start this new program in the state as soon as possible."

"We believe that the present voluntary commodity program should be continued on a voluntary basis as in the past."

"Be it resolved that we solve our problems such as Medicare, and education on a local level rather than through federal government action because we believe that these problems can be solved more economically and efficiently on the local level."

"We recommend that the Houston County Welfare Board investigate other types of relief programs, such as the relief program of Newburg, N.Y., and adopt any of the features of such programs which would improve the administration of the system of relief in this county."

"We recommend a voluntary land retirement program, adequate to bring supply in line with demand and allowing farmers to retire all or part of their farms on a bid basis."

"We recommend that Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation be in favor of the major medical income disability insurance."

"We oppose socialized medicine."

4-H Home, Family Living Meetings Set In Houston County

CALEDONIA, Minn.—Four-H home improvement-family living project meetings will be held Saturday at Caledonia State Bank basement here and Nov. 23 at Houston. Both will begin at 1:30 p.m.

The meetings are for all those enrolled in the project, those interested in enrolling, parents and adult leaders, according to Naomi Radman, Houston County home agent.

Around the Pitchfork

A hundred Minnesota dairy farmers became their own time and motion study experts in a search for work shortcuts in loose housing operations.

For half a year, these farmers kept track of time for milking, feeding and other chores. The results were analyzed by E. T. Fuller and H. R. Jensen, agricultural economists at the University of Minnesota.

All farmers in the study used loose housing. That means that cattle stay in sheds or barns without stanchions, with freedom to move into open areas as they wish.

Here are some of the specific results of the study:

Summer hay feeding—differences in total feeding time between pasturing, green chopping, and storage feeding systems were not important. Nor was there much difference between young stock and milk cows, or according to how hay was stored.

Winter hay feeding—Feeding time differed little between overhead and ground level feeding from nearby storage. For small herds, feeding baled hay twice daily from nearby storage took less time than once-a-day feeding. One possible reason is that small herd owners who fed twice a day may have had better facilities. Also, farmers who hauled hay to feed once a day took no more time than did those who stored hay near by.

Winter silage feeding—Silage unloaders didn't save much time, since most farmers watch the unloader run as part of the work procedure. Also, unloaders were no more efficient in average feeding time per cow for large herds than for smaller ones. It may be that farmers with larger herds and an unloader feed more silage and must therefore give the task more attention.

Feeding green-chopped forage—Results suggest that most dairymen need to feed at least 30 head to justify the time needed for this chore. Time for this task can be reduced with cattle guards for getting in and out of the barnyard, using a fence line bunk for a side-unloading wagon or using a temporary feeding lane made from electric fencing. An automatic snap coupler wagon hitch or variable length wagon tongue speeds up hitching.

Pasturing and herding—Time required didn't change much with herd size. More important were quality of pasture, shade and water locations, and quality of the cow dog.

Milking—Pipeline milkers, overhead grain feeders, follower gates in holding areas and similar devices may save time only in parlors with enough stalls and units to force the operator to work quickly. Smaller operations usually didn't use such equipment nor was there much indication they would benefit from it if they did. Cost and return comparisons are important. However, time for adjusting, checking and removing milking units helps decide how good a job of milking you do. Having two men in the parlor usually reduces milking time, but will increase total labor time required, unless the men have separate work areas.

Miscellaneous chores—Time required for caring for fresh cows and calves, breeding chores, grain grinding, fence repair, buying and selling and other tasks was not closely linked to herd size.

A general finding was that keeping more cows doesn't always make for less work per animal. Labor economy depends partly on "fixed" time in comparison to "variable" time. Total amount of the first doesn't change as herd size increases, but the second does.

However, considering all tasks in a chore system, the economists say, there are high fixed time requirements. Consequently, spreading this time over more cows makes for less time per head.

Fuller and Jensen conclude that some basic principles can help dairymen with loose housing save time. First, consider handling or processing forage, grain, milk and manure. Don't move it unless you have to. And if you do, move it a short distance. Move a large quantity at once, if possible and make materials flow if possible.

Second, eliminate unnecessary work and simplify the hand and body motions used. Work out better arrangements to make full use of men and machines.

Work on a dairy farm is complicated. Many small details require attention. Some may not be worth the trouble needed to figure more efficient ways of doing them. But improving other details pays off, making work easier and faster.

The abundance of dry vegetation at this time of year makes the fire hazard rate high. Persons burning grass, leaves or rubbish should use caution in the location of the fire.

The following precautions should be observed while burning: Never leave a fire unattended; all inflammable material should be removed around the burning area; keep a rake or shovel and a pail of water handy to quickly put out the fire if it should start to spread; do not burn on a dry, windy day, and the best time for burning is before 8 a.m. or after 5 p.m. according to Edwin Godel, forester, Alma, Wis.

Several townships have a closed fire season. This requires anyone wishing to burn to obtain a burning permit. The town chairman is the official fire warden and will issue the permit. If you have any questions on the fire regulations in your township, contact the town chairman or the Conservation Department forester for the county.

Persons burning in a closed fire area without a permit will be subject to arrest. Anyone who sets a fire and allows it to get out of control is liable for all suppression costs and damages.

Wabasha 4-H Banquet Dec. 19

LAKE CITY, Minn.—The annual Wabasha County achievement banquet will be at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 19 at the VFW Hall here.

Dr. Keith McFarland, dean of students, St. Paul campus, University of Minnesota, will be the featured speaker.

The 4-H key award, junior and senior honor roll record awards, general livestock achievement trophy, junior and senior bread winner awards and top dairy exhibitor award will be presented at the banquet.

Each member completing his first year of 4-H club work will receive a 4-H member pin. This is the first year that these pins will be awarded and they will be given to adult leaders for presentation at club meetings later.

Adult leaders will be presented with 1-, 5- and 10-year pins. Some 4-H'ers will be graduating and they will receive their certificates at the banquet. Many other awards will be given.

CALEDONIA, Minn.—The final date to request cost-sharing for practice A-2(b), Re-establishment of Permanent Pasture, has been set at Nov. 30, according to William Leary, chairman of the Houston County ASC County Committee.

The cost-share rate is $4 per acre for seedbed preparation, seed and seeding, and 4 cents per pound for the application of not less than 45 nor more than 120 pounds of available plant food per acre as approved by the county committee. Nitrogen alone will not qualify for cost-sharing.

The preparation of the seedbed, either by plowing or surface tillage, must be started the fall preceding the year in which the seeding is to be made. This land must remain in vegetative cover for at least four years after the year of seeding.

More information may be obtained at the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county office here.

Root River Soil Work Advances

CALEDONIA, Minn.—Cooperators of the Root River Soil and Water Conservation District are applying conservation practices to their land. In some cases the soil is a little wet, but is drying with the good weather, according to Harold Dineen, work unit conservator.

Matthew Palen, Caledonia Township, has added 1,700 feet of terraces on his farm. On the steeper slopes 1,350 feet of diversions were constructed to reduce the length of slope.

CLARENCE WITT, Mound Prairie Township, has stopped an advancing gully by constructing a 700-foot diversion around it and carrying the water away from the gully. Clarence also put in a livestock pond. In addition to supplying water for livestock, the pond also will help control a gully.

Myrel Schiltz, Caledonia Township, had another terrace of 650 feet constructed. Martin and Donald Schroeder, Sheldon Township, have completed the layout of terraces on their farm. The last terrace built was a 3,200-foot system. The farm now is completely covered with terraces and some contour strips.

Ralph Fitting, Money Creek Township, has added 35 acres to the contour strip system on his farm. James Loken, Yucatan Township, has laid out another 20 acres of contour strips. Contour strips are an effective means of erosion control, said Dineen.

Alden Holte, Spring Grove Township, has constructed a large terrace system of 14,050 feet of terraces. This system of nearly all parallel terraces will greatly improve the operations of the farm.

George Gevings, Black Hammer Township, has 25 acres of contour strips laid out. This nearly completes the conservation work on his farm. Julius Dierston, Jefferson Township, put in 18 acres of contour strips. With a higher payment next year there may be a large increase in contour stripping.

GERALD HOUSKER, Spring Grove Township, laid out another 36 acres of contour strips. This makes about half of his cropland a contour strip arrangement.

Lloyd Schaubel, Union Township, started terracing his farm. Lloyd's system of terraces amounted to 7,200 feet. The reason Lloyd went from contour strips to terraces on his more level land was so he would have a better pasture set-up.

Frank Vix, Mound Prairie, completed a gully structure on his farm. As well as protecting his cropland from a gully the structure will also give a great deal of protection to a township road.

Most of the above practices have been or will be cost-shared under the ACP program through the Houston County ASCS office.

Wabasha Home Meet

LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special)—Twelve members and a visitor attended a Wabasha County home project group meeting Monday at the Ronald Klindworth home, rural Mazeppa.

Mrs. Lydia Tomtohrde and Mrs. Lawrence Darcy were leaders in the lesson "New Ways with Salads." Mrs. Gerald Tomtohrde reported on arrangements of a tour of the Twin Cities Dec. 4. The trip, which will be sponsored by the Chester project group, will be by bus. Mrs. Ed Corleus is counselor and Mrs. LaVern Damm, vice counselor. Another group will be asked to accompany the Chester group on the tour.

Make your own feed...fast!

YOU make the feed YOU want, the amount YOU want when YOU want it with a minimum of time, effort and cost. Rugged Feedmaster grinds and mixes any feed, grain, or or shelled corn, baled hay mixes, concentrates. Handles two ton loads in minutes.

When you're done grinding, you're done mixing and ready to deliver feed you know is high quality to your self-feeders, bunks or bins.

CHECK THESE FEATURES, THEN COMPARE!

- Full 16" hammermill with low power requirement takes whole bale silage and can be slowed down to crack corn.
- Material is augered (not blown) into 95 bu. mixer for dust-free feed; precision mixed by 12" vertical auger with thrower and agitator paddles.
- Swinging sugar drop feeder has constant rate of feed and operates through a 90° arc in any of three speeds.

Let's Get Growing

By A. F. SHIRA
Marigolds

We sometimes wonder if our readers become somewhat bored, at times, at being reminded of the seasonal tasks that must be done about the yard and garden for best results. We, sometimes, feel rebellious, too, as we become conscious of being prodded on to do certain necessary chores when there is an inclination to postpone them for more pleasurable activities. And it must be confessed that we do that very thing at times, just the same as many other gardeners.

Now, that the demanding fall activities have been largely completed, let us look at some other aspects of gardening and consider some of the flowers that brighten up our lives. In several past articles we have taken up the histories of certain flowers and this may be a good time to talk about the marigolds.

In the opinions of most gardeners the marigold is considered to be one of the three most popular annuals, only the petunia and zinnia ranking ahead of it. For years it has been popular in home gardens, but in recent times it has become a great favorite due largely to the many improvements that have been made in these colorful annuals.

THROUGH THE diligent work of the hybridizers, there are varieties that range in height from six inches up to four feet. The blooms are proportionate in sizes and may measure up to four inches, or more, across. The color range has been greatly increased, as well, until now it includes tones and tints of yellow and orange, along with a large number of reds in many combinations.

The type of flower head has been greatly altered and today there are double blooms of densely packed petals resembling chrysanthemums and carnations. The modern varieties do not have the strong disagreeable odor that was so objectionable with the old kinds.

Marigolds prefer full sun and the soil does not have to be rich, just moderately good soil is satisfactory. Like zinnias they are quite resistant to dry weather and do not require the watering that is so necessary for the well being of some other plants. Marigolds are among the easiest to grow of all annuals.

NOW, LET us take a little look into the history of the marigold. Like many other flowers, the modern types have been developed from several original species that were grown in Old-World gardens as far back as four hundred years ago, having been introduced there from Mexico and South America. They were then brought to the United States by the early settlers.

The hybridizers developed our present varieties from what were known as the French and African species, and these names are often given to certain types as listed in various catalogs. However, it must not be forgotten that the marigold is truly American, since it is a native plant found from New Mexico to Argentina.

THE "YELLOW flower" that is mentioned in the ancient writings and in later herbals has been considered by some researchers to have referred to the "calendula," although at that time it was known as the "marigold." Like some other flowers mentioned in early writings, the marigold played an important part in kitchen uses as an ingredient in soups, puddings and in medicinal concoctions. More romantically, the marigold had an essential role in the mixing of various love potions. These were often supposed to be taken to the accompaniment of suitable rhymes or verses.

While it was formerly considered to be a plebeian flower, the new hybrids have taken on a semblance

City 4-H Clubs Supported by Assistant Agent

LEWISTON, Minn.—"Boys and girls living in towns, cities and suburban areas as well as in the country are eligible to join 4-H clubs," says Dennis E. Kluever, assistant Winona County agent.

At present about one-fourth of all 4-H members are from urban and rural nonfarm homes, according to the State 4-H Club office at the University of Minnesota. During the first 25 years of 4-H work in Minnesota nearly all 4-H'ers lived on farms.

The shift in membership to most urban and rural nonfarm members has come about partly because business and community leaders have urged that 4-H club work be extended beyond rural areas.

MINNESOTA counties drawing 100 percent of their 4-H membership from rural nonfarm and urban homes include Ramsey, Cook and Lake. More than 65 percent of the 4-H members come from urban and nonfarm homes in these counties; Hennepin, North St. Louis, South St. Louis, Anoka and Crow Wing.

As club membership has broadened more projects have been added and many old projects have been adapted to appeal to urban and nonfarm boys and girls. Among the newer projects are: Town and country business, a study of marketing, automotive care and safety which involves learning about cars and safe operation of cars and costs involved, photography, and entomology, an opportunity to identify and study insects and their relationships to plants and animals.

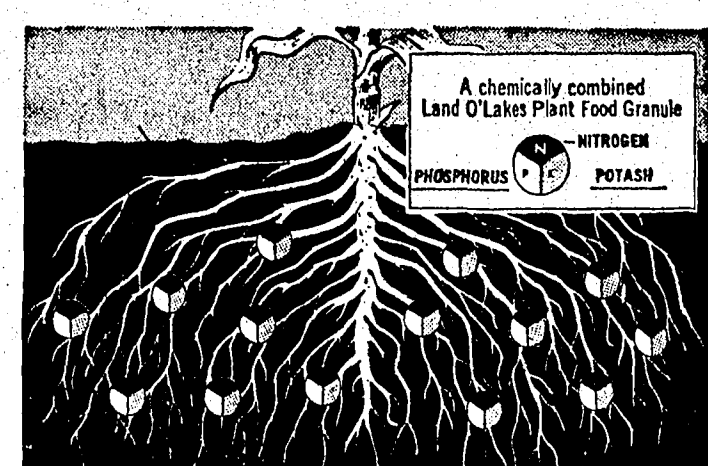

"Many other projects are suitable for young people living in cities and towns," Kluever said. "Girls can choose any of the four homemaking projects including foods, food preservation, clothing and family living. Boys may be interested in shop and electric projects. Gardening, home yard improvement, conservation, safety, health and junior leadership have attraction for both boys and girls."

"THOUGH 4-H'ERS work at their projects, they also have fun. Recreation is a part of every club meeting. Talent shows, picnics, club tours, county camps and sports days are among ways 4-H'ers make friends.

"Anyone between the ages of 9 and 21 is eligible to join a 4-H club. If you live in town and would like to belong, contact the county extension office for help in forming a club if there is none in your community."

Winona ASC Sets One Feed Grain Signup

LEWISTON, Minn.—Feed grain producers in Winona County will be notified this fall about general provisions of the 1963 feed grain program, according to Marvin Wiskow, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county committee.

Unlike the 1962 program, only one signup will be held for the 1963 program, and that will be early next year. Additional information, including the base acreages, yields and payment rates established for farms, will be mailed to growers prior to the signup period.

The chairman explained that the 1963 program will be a voluntary program, under which a farmer may divert an acreage of barley, corn or grain sorghums to a conservation use and receive a diversion payment and a price-support payment. He will also qualify for a price-support loan on his crop.

Base acreages for each of the three grains will be combined into a total feed grain base for the farm and the farmer may divert from one or more of the feed grains represented in his total base. The minimum diversion will be 20 percent of the farm's total feed grain base and the maximum will be 25 percent or up to a total of 25 acres, whichever is higher, but not in excess of the total base for the farm.

As under the 1963 wheat stabilization program, a farmer will have to comply with the intentions shown on his agreement. If he does not comply fully with provisions of the program, he will not be eligible for any payments or price support on any of the three feed

Mondovi Herd Leads Buffalo County DHIA

ALMA, Wis.—Earl Heck, Mondovi, leads the Buffalo County DHIA report for October. His 34 head of mixed dairy cows averaged 54 pounds of butterfat.

George Waste, Mondovi, had the top cow in the county. His grade Jersey, "Blacky," produced 102 pounds of butterfat during the month.

The Buffalo County report:

TOP FIVE HERDS

Owner	Breed	No. Cows	Avg. Lbs. BF
Earl Heck, Mondovi	Jersey	34	54
Henry O. Hanson, Alma	Jersey	41	53
Emmons & Lee, Acosta, Mondovi	Jersey	47	52
George Waste, Mondovi	Jersey	20	51
Anton Wolfe & Sons, Cochrane	Jersey	52	50

TOP FIVE COWS

Cow's Name	Breed	No. Lbs. BF
George Waste, Mondovi	Jersey	1,254
Henry O. Hanson, Alma	Jersey	1,234
Anton Wolfe & Sons, Cochrane	Jersey	1,165
Emmons & Lee, Acosta, Mondovi	Jersey	1,145

UNIT REPORT: 1,219 cows on test; averages: 527 pounds of milk; 3.89 percent test; 32.3 pounds of butterfat.

grains. Also, to be eligible for a diversion payment and price support on one farm, a grower taking part in the 1963 feed grain program must not exceed the total feed grain base acreage on any other farm in which he has an interest.

Advance payments again will be available at the time of signup. Final payments will be made after compliance has been determined.

Winona County Home Council Meets Tuesday

LEWISTON, Minn.—November and December lessons will be discussed and selected for Winona County homemaker groups at the home council meeting Tuesday at the Henry Heublein home here. Knitting, Christmas crafts and "On Your Own" lessons will be discussed. Mmes. Verena Mabbitt and Leo Reisdorf, St. Charles, will be the hostesses.

Trempealeau Supervisors In Session

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—The annual meeting of the Trempealeau County Board of Supervisors is now in session here with Chairman Joseph Roskos, Independence, presiding.

Dr. J. A. Van Susteren, district health officer, and Miss Frances Bacchus, district advisory nurse, both of La Crosse, and county nurse Mrs. Mabel Skroch, appeared to explain a program of home nursing care which would require the hiring of a registered nurse to assist Mrs. Skroch. It would provide home nursing care for the aged and the chronically ill, and would make it possible for more of the elderly people who require some nursing to remain in their own homes, rather than being placed in nursing homes or county hospitals.

MRS. SKROCH said this generalized nursing service would provide more adequate treatment, not only for the aged and chronically ill, but also for the school children.

A resolution from the health committee asking that a course of home nursing care in the county be established was adopted, as was a resolution asking that $4,800 be placed in the proposed budget for the hiring of a second nurse to assist Mrs. Skroch, plus $700 for travel and clerical expense.

Also adopted were resolutions from the salary committee allowing $900 for the county treasurer's office for the deputy county treasurer and extra clerical help, and for the highway department office. Wages of Abner Lee, payroll clerk would be raised from $325 to $350 per month, and Mrs. Stella Erickson, part time clerk from $1.25 to $1.35 per hour, effective Jan. 1.

Wayne Allenang, Whitehall, a parent and teacher delegation with County Superintendent Mrs. Lily Reich, thanked the board for the work it has done and the funds allotted for the special education rooms in the county, and asked that the board members consider a room for the approximate 15 county children who are considered uneducatable but trainable.

The proposed budget for 1963 was reviewed Thursday. The highway committee's report was adopted.

Henry Paulson, chairman of the county hospital board of trustees, Pigeon Falls, William H. Melby, board member, Blair, and Carl Nordhagen, hospital superintendent, presented the preliminary annual report of the county hospital. This report was adopted.

Blair FFA Chapter To Give Awards

BLAIR, Wis. (Special)—The Blair FFA chapter banquet will be 8 p.m. Thursday in the school lunchroom. Recognition will be given to outstanding members of the chapter.

William Pickering, vocational agriculture instructor, urges all FFA members and parents to attend this annual event. C. H. Bonack, executive secretary of the Wisconsin FFA Association, will be the featured speaker.

Planned to acquaint parents with the activities of agriculture and the FFA, the banquet will give recognition to members, to an outstanding farmer in the area and to an individual who has given outstanding service to agriculture and FFA.

Tickets may be purchased from any chapter member. The meal will be served by FFA girls under the supervision of Mrs. Walter Kling, adviser.

Jackson Older Youth Elect New Officers

TAYLOR, Wis. (Special)—Alice Schlegel, Melrose, has been elected president of the Jackson County Older Youth 4-H Association.

John Davis, Black River Falls, was elected vice president, and Marian Kopp, Taylor, secretary-treasurer. Area representatives are Jean Bopp, Alma Center; Kathy Olson, Black River Falls, and Ronald Seefelt, Melrose.

A hayride and a lunch followed at the school building. Marian Kopp was the chairman and Victor Christianson and Donald Beaman furnished the wagons and tractors.

St. Charles Youth Fined $110 after Car Goes off Road

ST. CHARLES, Minn.—A St. Charles youth whose car was wrecked when it ran off Highway 74 near here Wednesday night paid fines totaling $110 on two charges in justice court in Goodview.

Gene H. Molde, 18, was arrested by the Minnesota Highway Patrol after his car went out of control on a curve two miles south of here at about 10:15 p.m., skidded into a ditch and rolled over at least three times.

Highway Patrolman Mike Eckhart said that Molde was driving south on Highway 74 as he approached a broad, sweeping curve. The car traveled across the road into the northbound lane of traffic, veered into the ditch while skidding sideways approximately 300 feet and then began to roll.

The accident was discovered by another motorist who drove Molde to St. Charles where Eckhart was contacted. The patrolman took the youth to a physician and, after it had been determined he suffered only minor injuries, Molde was taken to jail in Winona.

Charged with intoxication and drunken driving, Molde pleaded guilty to both counts before Goodview Justice Lewis Albert and paid a $10 fine on the first and $100 on the second.

Arcadia Firefighters Change Meeting Night

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special)—The November meeting of the Arcadia Volunteer Firemen has been changed from Monday to Tuesday evening because of Veterans' Day observance. The meeting will be held in the second floor meeting room of the city hall 7 p.m.

A demonstration of artificial respiration and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation will be given by Earl Ehlers of the safety division of the REA. All firemen are asked to attend this meeting. The demonstration will also be of special value to the city police department, school administrators and civil defense personnel.

Badgers Rated 'Even' Against 'Cats

MADISON (AP) — Northwestern, the nation's No. 1 football power with six straight victories, and eighth-ranked Wisconsin match explosive offenses triggered by overhead marksmanship Saturday in a Big Ten showdown with a possible Rose Bowl berth at stake.

The undefeated Wildcats, sparked by slick-passing sophomore Tom Myers, and the one-headed Badgers, directed by senior quarterback Ron VanderKelen, are expected to unleash an aerial bombardment in the 50th meeting of a rivalry begun in 1890.

Both Northwestern and Wisconsin admitted are "rosy-eyed." The Wildcats' chances for the conference title and a trip to the Rose Bowl would be damaged severely by a loss, while Wisconsin would be eliminated by a defeat.

Rated little more than dark-horses in pre-season forecasts, the Wildcats and the Badgers have developed awesome attacks with "finds" in the 19-year-old Myers and VanderKelen, who had played only 90 seconds of varsity ball until winning the starting job this fall.

Northwestern tops the nation in total offense with an average of 415.2 yards in six games and is No. 1 in passing with 223.3 yard average. Wisconsin is fifth in total offense with a mark of 365 yards per game and eighth in passing with a 165.2 yard average. The Badgers have a 5-1 record, losing only a 14-7 decision to Ohio State.

Rival coaches Ara Parseghian of Northwestern and Milt Bruhn of Wisconsin have spent most of the week attempting to figure out ways to stop the other's quarter-back—and such tremendous pass receivers as Wildcat flanker Paul Flatley and Badger end Pat Richter.

Myers, who leads the nation's passers with a marksmanship of 65.7 percent, has completed 88 of 134 tosses against four Big Ten opponents. His favorite target, Flatley, has grabbed 22 passes for 299 yards and 17 touchdowns in conference play.

VanderKelen heads the Big Ten in total offense with 741 yards in 14 plays in four games to 707 in 100 plays by Myers. Unlike his Northwestern counterpart, who has lost 72 yards on the ground, VanderKelen is a big threat on the option.

Richter, a 6-6 All-America candidate, has been Vandy's pet target, hauling down 26 passes for 364 yards and five touchdowns. The Wisconsin co-captain, he is expected to give Northwestern's relatively short defensive backs a rugged workout.

Wisconsin is reported in its best physical shape in weeks, with only reserve tackle Al Piraino, a sophomore, sidelined. Northwestern is bolstered by the return of halfback Larry Benz, but first string guards Jack Cvercko and Burt Petkus are hobbled by knee injuries.

A sellout crowd of 63,435 is assured for the Wisconsin Homecoming game, which the odds-maker consider a "pick 'em" affair.

SLAMMIN' SAM GAINS NEW NICKNAME

Palmer, Snead Pace U.S. To International Lead

SAN ISIDRO, Argentina (AP)—The Ol' Hullybilly from West Virginia, had a new nickname today as the 10th annual Canada Cup and International Trophy Golf Tournament moved into the second round with the United States in front, as expected.

The man from the hills, Sam Snead, and mighty Arnold Palmer each fired a 2-under-par 68 on opening day Thursday, but before Snead had enough putting troubles for the Argentine gallery to tab him the "Pisco Sour"—the local version of Sour-puss.

Snead, who said before the tournament started that the wash-basin greens on the short but tricky Jockey Club course could make even two-foot putts missable, played like a prophet on the first nine holes—three-putting on three greens. That left him grumpy and nettled under the 90-degree Argentine sun and also earned him his new nickname.

But three birdies and a resounding eagle on the back nine earned him much more, a 36-32-68 round that coupled with Palmer's 35-33-68 sent the favored U.S. team off to a three-stroke lead with their 136 total.

The 68s were the second best of the day on the 6,746-yard, par 34-36 course in the suburbs of Buenos Aires, leaving the two Americans only a stroke behind the leader in the individual race that runs concurrently with the team competition. Bob Charles, the lanky New Zealand left-hander, held that distinction with a 67.

After the first tour of the Jockey Club course, the U.S. held a three-stroke lead over the Argentine pair of Fidel de Luca and Roberto de Vicenzo, with England, New Zealand and Wales at 141, South Africa and Australia at 142 and Japan at 143.

256, 254 GAMES RECORDED

Seven Bowlers Hit 600 Counts

Seven 600 totals, six in one league, were posted by Winona bowlers Thursday night.

Biggest onslaught was in the Classic League at Westgate Bowl where Dick Niemeyer of third-place Ruppert's Grocery tagged 235-647.

Bud Steinhoff shot 235-601 and Fred Huff 608 to spark Westgate Drug to 2,920.

Ray Pozanc of Pozanc Trucking racked 638, an errorless effort, and Bob Stein shot 604 as Superior Heaters cracked 1,028. Harry (Bud) Johnson finished off with a 608 for Watkins Products. George Pozanc bagged a 235 game.

Meanwhile, at Hal-Rod Lanes, Mary Schultz of Winona Insurance hammered out a 256 game, tying as 10th best in the city this season. Mal Becker shot 254 in a 619 series to lead TV Signal to 1,034-2,753.

WESTGATE BOWL: Bay State—Mel Peilmeier rolled 212 for Boxers as Leo Goss clipped 576 for Big Yields. Top Score's posted 1,030-2,784.

Pin Drops — Polly Jung cracked 192 for Pappy's as Betty McJannet socked 483. K.W.N.O. tipped 918-2,588.

Keglerette Ladies — Palma Stanislawski paced Lawrence Furniture with 194-518. Her mates tipped 887. League leading Winona Plumberettes posted 2,745.

KEGLER LANS: Knights of Columbus — Carl Fischer clipped 230 for Winona National as Ralph Cieminski socked 590 for Hamm's.

NCAA-AAU TO AIR FEUD MONDAY

NEW YORK (AP)—A government-proposed truce is under consideration by the two powerful groups battling over control of U.S. amateur athletics and will be discussed further at a meeting here next Monday.

Officials of both the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Amateur Athletic Union had confirmed today that the principles for a possible agreement were outlined at a meeting in Washington late last month.

The Washington meeting, it has been persistently reported, was arranged at the urging of Attorney Gen. Robert F. Kennedy in the interest of avoiding a continued conflict that could weaken U.S. teams for the 1964 Pan American games and the 1964 Olympics at Tokyo.

Hornung Ready To See Action

GREEN BAY (AP)—Green Bay halfback Paul Hornung, sidelined with a twisted knee since Oct. 14, was pronounced fit Thursday for the Packers' National Football League game with the Eagles at Philadelphia Sunday.

Hornung, the NFL scoring king the past three years, piled up 60 points before being injured in the first period of Green Bay's game at Minnesota. He trails the NFL leader, Frank Clarke of Dallas, by 12 points.

With Hornung back, flanker Boyd Dowler is the Packers' lone doubtful starter against the Eagles. Dowler twisted his knee in practice last week and his duty against the Chicago Bears on Sunday was restricted to punting.

Brewer Equals Oakbourne Mark

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Gay Brewer Jr., brandishing a red-hot putter that helped him equal the course record with a 64, takes a four-stroke lead into today's second round of the $17,500 Cajun Classic Invitation Golf Tournament.

The Crystal City, Fla., swinger chalked up nine one-putt greens and left a couple on the rim, at that — as he blazed rounds of 34-30 over the 6,750-yard Oakbourne Country Club links. Par is 36-36-72.

1ST NATIONAL

only a board of directors' room. The plot of the present bank building is 140-by-150 feet, smaller than the post office site which is 140-by-180.

Bank facilities are crowded now. Desks should be added in certain areas but this can't be done because of lack of space, Stos said. Remodeling was considered but was dropped in favor of the new building plan because it would be difficult to carry on bank services during the year or year and a half that remodeling would take.

The present bank building would be sold when the new one is built. To prepare for the project, Stos and other bank officers visited many new bank buildings and studied modern features. The new building, like the present one, will be fully air conditioned. Stos said there will be a number of conveniences for the bank's 45 employees in the new building including improved lighting, heating, ventilation and lounges.

"THIS NEW BUILDING is another example of banks' theory of moving ahead and progressing. There's a need to do these things with the ever-increasing keen competition in the banking field. This new building will help us to provide leadership in the banking business."

First National has occupied its present building on the northwest corner of Center and 4th streets since 1909 when the building was opened.

Pepin to Construct Addition to School

PEPIN, Wis. (Special)—At a special meeting Monday evening of Joint Dist. 1 Village of Pepin, the people voted 110-7 in favor of building a new addition to the new grade school building. The $235,000 addition will be erected west of the present building and will extend onto the baseball diamond. Plans include a band and chorus room addition directly west on the stage in the gym plus an 11-room, two-story addition. The money needed is to be raised by a bond issue, repaid over a 20-year period.

The district voted to purchase 11 lots north of the ball diamond from Gerald Kircher at a cost of $2,000 to be used as a new baseball diamond.
