BATTLE OF THE BALLOTS

Thanksgiving Over, State Canvassers Back at Work

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A boxful of ballots from the general election almost wound up on the ash heap at St. James, Minn., according to Democratic-Farmer-Labor spokesmen.

They called the incident "shocking and appalling," adding that the ballots "appear to have been tampered with," and threatened to ask the State Canvassing Board to toss out all votes for governor in Watonwan County.

But the sheriff and courthouse custodian denied there were any irregularities in handling the ballots other than to shift them about while the jail cell where they were stored was being cleaned.

The charge and denial made on Thanksgiving Day kept the controversial Minnesota governorship race as warm as a turkey fresh out of the oven. With the holiday over, the canvassing board was to meet again today.

However, it was not expected to certify results in the governor race, in which latest Associated Press tabulations show Republican incumbent Gov. Elmer L. Andersen with a 42-vote lead over DFL candidate, Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag. The State Supreme Court is due to hear the dispute first over DFL charges that some counties illegally canvassed their results.

Andersen has a margin of some 1,500 votes over his rival in Watonwan County returns.

Two aides of Rolvaag said the alleged irregularity at St. James might impel them to ask the state board to toss out all votes for governor in Watonwan, totalling some 5,000 ballots.

Court Won't Act Until Board Reports

BULLETIN

ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Supreme Court today agreed unanimously that it will take no action on disputed ballots in the governor's race until the state canvassing board acts.

The court agreed a half hour before the canvassing board meeting this afternoon that it would be "premature" to decide either way on amended returns from 10 counties which have given Gov. Elmer L. Andersen a narrow lead over Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag.

son and courthouse custodian Chester Nelson averred that the ballots in question were not out of a storage area in a jail cell for more than five minutes, and probably no more than a minute or two.

Attorney-aides of Rolvaag, Irving Nemerov and Paul Skjervold, said at a Minneapolis press conference Thursday morning they had learned all the ballots in Watonwan County were thrown onto a trash heap last week. The ballots were then nearly hauled away to a dump, they added.

Nemerov and Skjervold called the incident "shocking and appalling," and added that the ballots "appear to have been tampered with."

Matson explained the ballots were sealed in a paper box last week and locked in a jail cell used for storage. The sheriff said a few days later he decided to clean the cell in accordance with a directive from the fire marshal.

It was then, said Matson, that a 16-year-old boy helping a trash man pick up the ballot box and put it outside the courthouse on a platform. Custodian Nelson, who was helping in the cleaning, broke the seal and looked inside. When he saw the contents were election ballots, he returned the box to the cell. It was locked up there, when the cleaning job was done.

Meanwhile, Republican state Chairman Robert A. Forsythe called the DFL charge in Watonwan "another DFL technique of working through the press when no wrong doing has been proved."

In another development of the election aftermath, Republicans complained about what they termed unfair treatment at Chisholm in picking election judges.

13 Killed in Maryland Plane Crash

ELLCOTT CITY, Md. (AP) — A United Air Lines plane crashed and burned today in a wooded area at Homestead, Md., about 10 miles west of Baltimore.

State Police said there were 9 passengers and four crewmen aboard the plane and reports from the scene indicated there were no survivors.

The plane was a four-engine Viscount turbo-prop en route from Newark, N.J., to Atlanta, Ga., with a stop in Washington, D.C. It was United flight No. 297.

The plane came down about 12:30 p.m.

"It was awful," said Mrs. Clark Gaither, who lives nearby. "The plane crashed at the edge of the woods and the flames shot higher than the trees."

"We heard a sound like a tractor motor choking. Then there were three thunderous explosions and all we could see was smoke and flames."

Rochester Woman Dead in Farm Mishap

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — Mrs. Lester Koenig, 43, Route 4, Rochester, died Thursday night in a hospital here of a ruptured pulmonary artery suffered in a farm accident.

She was helping her husband operate a corn elevator Tuesday when her clothing became caught in machinery and she was jerked against the elevator. At first it was believed her injuries were confined to broken ribs, but her condition became critical Thursday night.

Soviet Plane In Paris Crash

PARIS (AP) — A Soviet plane of the Hungarian Malev airline from Budapest crashed just north of Le Bourget Airfield today, carrying all occupants to a fiery death.

The company's offices said the plane carried 17 passengers and a crew of 7 or 8. Police reports from the scene said there were no survivors.

The plane was coming in for a landing on a flight from Budapest via Frankfurt, West Germany.

Heart Attack Kills Rapid City Hunter

HILL CITY, S.D. (AP) — Knut Knutson, about 65, Rapid City, died Thursday, apparently of a heart attack, while hunting six miles northwest of here.

His body was found by Junior Getty, Rapid City, another hunter.

Portuguese Plane Crashes, 18 Dead

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — A Portuguese military plane crashed after taking off from the island of Saint Thomas in the Atlantic early today. Unconfirmed reports said at least 18 of its 32 occupants were killed.

The aircraft, a four-engined C54 transport, was en route to Lisbon with military personnel and their dependents.

Saint Thomas is off Guinea in the South Atlantic and is a stopping place for Portuguese military transports flying between Angola and Portugal.

Both Sides Holding Fire Along Front

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Indian army rushed fresh troops to the Himalayas today as the nation waited out the tense nine-day period of a cease-fire before Red China begins its promised military pullback.

The Chinese too were believed consolidating and reinforcing the startling gains they made in the rugged mountain border areas in 32 days of undeclared war before they proclaimed and put into effect a cease-fire at midnight Wednesday.

Tactically accepting the cease-fire, Indian troops were reported under secret orders to hold their fire unless fired upon. But Prime Minister Nehru refrained from taking a stand on Peking's proposals for ending the conflict.

He told Parliament today "The Chinese cease-fire has continued on their side and so far as I know there has been no firing on either side," Nehru said.

Red China said she would begin pulling her troops back on Dec. 1. But what would happen then was far from clear. Peking's proposal was widely regarded as an ultimatum which would force India to yield the high Ladakh Plateau on the western end of her border in return for regaining most of the lost border areas in the northeast.

Adopting a wait-and-see attitude, the Indian government went ahead in the lull with emergency measures to put its forces into a better military position after suffering smashing blows.

There were sounds coming from Peking, however, that indicated the Red Chinese may accept no stalling on their terms.

A spokesman of the Red Chinese defense ministry was quoted in a Peking broadcast as saying he expected "the Indian government, after full consideration, will make a positive response" to the peace overtures.

Nehru still talked of a long hard war. In his first public speech since the cease-fire he took no notice of Peking's declarations.

"Be prepared for a long drawn out war with China and be determined to face any crisis to drive out the Chinese from Indian soil," he said at a rally of young Red Cross workers.

He called on Indians for a sense of sacrifice to make the country great and to defend hard-won freedom.

Word here that the Chinese may be consolidating their positions awaiting the outcome of the cease-fire may have been based on aerial reconnaissance.

So far there has been no aerial fighting, bombing or strafing by either side.

But a Red Chinese broadcast charged two Indian planes made provocative intrusions over Chinese positions along the border in the Lake Spanggwa sector of Ladakh.

In line with the cease-fire, Peking said Chinese troops did not open fire on the planes.

The Chinese said the cease-fire would be followed by withdrawal to approximately the line that India says is the border in the northeast and to what China says has been its control line in the northwest.

High officials here, as well as loudly outspoken members of Parliament, were determined not to accept this as a permanent arrangement because it would leave to China 12,000 square miles of Ladakh in the northwest.

Since the border dispute became public in 1959, India has repeatedly refused to accept a deal that meant the loss of eastern Ladakh.

Therefore observers here said India may take what benefits it can from the Chinese plan but eventually will have to fight again.

Renewed fighting would begin with stronger foreign support than has come so far.

When the Chinese attacked on Oct. 20, India turned primarily to Britain and the United States to provide rapidly needed to match the Chinese firepower.

Some $5 million worth of U.S. arms and more than $500,000 of British weapons were flown to India. More were shipped by sea.

Now the airlift has begun again. British weapons are being flown to India from the United Kingdom and from Singapore.

A squadron of 12 U.S. C130 turboprop transports began arriving to carry Indian troops and equipment within the country.

The American planes will be flown by U.S. Air Force crews—the first use of foreign military personnel in India's fight, though they are of noncombatant type.

Russ Propose U.S. Discuss Guantanamo

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A joint U.S.-Soviet declaration proposed by the Soviets to put a conclusion to the Cuban crisis, is under discussion with the United States, well-informed sources reported today.

The United States delegates were reported balking at some points in the proposed document, particularly the point that the United States would agree to discuss with Cuba a withdrawal from Guantanamo naval base.

United States negotiators, it was said by the informants, view this item as a reflection of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro's five points for a guarantee against overthrow of his regime, and the United States is unwilling to discuss any of them.

The Soviet proposal would deal with U.N. verification of the withdrawal of Soviet offensive weapons from Cuba by having U.N. acting Secretary-General U Thant hold talks about it with the Americans, Soviets and Cubans.

Other items in the Soviet proposal were understood to duplicate those put forth in letters between President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev on Oct. 27 and 28 in which Khrushchev agreed to withdraw offensive weapons from Cuba under U.N. verification, and Kennedy agreed to lift the U.S. arms blockade of Cuba and promise not to invade Cuba.

Starts Work on Budget

Kennedy Turns Back To Crisis in Cuba

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — President Kennedy swung his attention back to the abating Cuban crisis today after taking a holiday respite around a dinner table laden with a 32-pound turkey.

Kennedy also was getting down to dollars-and-dimes concentration on the budget he will be sending to Congress early next year.

The President asked Budget Director David Bell to fly up from Washington for a conference.

And he asked the executive committee of the National Security Council to fly up for a session to review the Cuban situation.

The committee includes Secretary of State Dean Rusk and "Indiscretary" George Ball; Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Deputy Secretary Roswell L. Gilpatric; Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations; Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; John J. McCloy, chairman of the U.S. Cuban Crisis Coordinating Committee at the U.N.; and McGeorge Bundy, presidential assistant for national security affairs.

Kennedy was able to report to the American people at a news conference Tuesday that grave problems still remained but the dangers imbedded in the Cuban crisis had diminished and there was much to be thankful for at this Thanksgiving season.

As they do every year, lots of Kennedy adults and kids descended on the family compound for Thanksgiving Day.

The youngsters were fed early at the home of Atty. Gen. and Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy. And then Thursday night sons and daughters and in-laws, the President and First Lady among them, sat down to a turkey dinner at the large, gabled, white-frame home of the President's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy.

The elder Mr. Kennedy suffered a severe stroke nearly a year ago. And the family could be thankful that at least he was able to be out on the front porch in a wheelchair to welcome the President on his arrival from Washington Wednesday night.

In addition to that 32-pound bird the Kennedys reportedly had cranberry sauce, butternut squash, sweet potatoes, creamed peas, chocolate souffle and mince and squash pie.

Thanksgiving Day was dark and rainy on the Cape. Even the hardy Kennedys considered it a little too dreary to try touch football or skating at the ice rink. These have been family sports on previous holidays here.

It wasn't a day of complete relaxation for the President. He got in some paper work and gave assorted other people something to be thankful for.

Matthew J. Connelly, appointments secretary to former President Harry S. Truman, received a full pardon. He was convicted and imprisoned on charges of conspiring to defraud the government, to commit bribery and perjury and to violate the internal revenue laws. The pardon came two years after Connelly was paroled after serving six months of a two-year sentence.

In New York, Connelly happily received the news.

"In our history, there have been many injustices imposed on people of good will," he said. "I am happy today that one of them has been brought into true perspective."

Connelly is now in the public relations business in New York.

Connelly was sentenced along with T. Lamar Caudle, former head of the Justice Department's tax division, on charges of trying to block the income tax prosecution of Irving Scahs, a St. Louis, Mo., manufacturer.

FEAR DEFORMED BABIES

Sale of Preludin Banned in Italy

By MILTON MARMOR

LONDON (AP) — Italy has banned the sale of Preludin and other drugs suspected of causing deformities in unborn babies in the wake of a British investigation into birth-deforming pills.

The current issue of the British

Medical Journal reported two women who had taken Preludin gave birth to deformed babies. Doctors said it could have been coincidence.

A spokesman for the British College of General Practitioners said Thursday drugs besides thalidomide are suspected of causing baby deformities.

He said drug manufacturers were notified about the college's suspicions. He declined to identify the drugs, pending additional evidence.

Preludin, mentioned in the medical journal, is a German drug introduced nine years ago as a pep pill for slimming down pregnant women.

There was pressure in Canada for a freeze on Preludin.

The American Medical Association reiterated advice to expectant mothers to take only essential, prescribed drugs during the first three months of pregnancy.

An estimated 500,000 American women have taken Preludin since it was introduced in the United States in 1956, Dr. Frank Lyman, assistant to the director of Geigy Pharmaceuticals, said in New York.

Lyman said there was no evidence that Preludin was responsible for any birth malformations. The drug, marketed by Geigy, is "taken orally to suppress the appetite," Lyman said.

The Italian Health Ministry imposed the ban Thursday and seized drugs containing phenylmethyl-4-ethoxy-2-oxazoline. Preludin was the only product mentioned by name.

Walker Held Competent to Stand Trial

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — A federal judge has ruled that Edwin A. Walker is mentally competent to stand trial on federal charges of seditious conspiracy and inciting an insurrection.

U.S. Dist. Judge Claude F. Clayton handed down the ruling Wednesday after a two-day hearing. He based his findings on a Dallas, Tex., mental test given the controversial former major general and his own observation of Walker's behavior in court.

But Clayton ruled first that the court order for a mental test was justified and should remain in the case record.

No trial date has been set for Walker. He was arrested and charged Oct. 1 for alleged actions during rioting at the University of Mississippi the night of Sept. 30, after Negro James H. Meredith arrived on the campus.

DEAR ABBY:

She Is Fair Weather Friend

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of an arrangement like this? I am in my seventies and I have a lady friend who is in her fifties. She agreed to marry me if I signed over my insurance policies to her. But she will live with her married daughter and I will live with my married son. What do you think?

UNSETTLED

DEAR UNSETTLED: I think your "lady friend" is fishing for security with some pretty old bait. I don't advise teenagers to "go steady," but in your case I recommend it.

DEAR ABBY: I am an 11-year-old girl. My mother is very good to me and I love her very much. But there's one problem. She likes to sleep late on Saturday mornings. Whenever one of my friends calls me on the phone before 9:00 A.M. my mother has to get up. She yells at me to tell my friends not to call so early. Recently my best friend called at 8:30 and woke my mother up. She really got mad and told me if that girl ever called up that early again I could have nothing to do with her. I never told my friend that because I don't want rumors going around that my mother is mean. But I am afraid my friend will call early again. Then what will I do?

NEEDS HELP

DEAR NEEDS: Tell your friend not to call you — that you will call her. But be sure HER mother doesn't like to sleep late on Saturday mornings or you'll both be cooked.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow (40) and I go with a very respectable man (44). We are in love and have been for three years. His wife has been in an institution for nearly ten years. She is incurable. He can get a divorce but he isn't sure it would be right. There are no children involved in his marriage (they approve of me) and I have none. Neither of us is pushing, for we both understand the situation. What should we do?

PATIENCE

DEAR PATIENCE: I happen to believe that marriage is forever. He took his wife in sickness and in health. This is sickness, and what is "incurable" today may be "curable" tomorrow. This is a decision YOU will have to make yourselves.

CONFIDENTIAL TO Clem Skibinski, Tom Greiner and J. C. Seeshimer: The message you wrote to me, placed in a bottle and thrown over the side of the "J. J. H. BROWN" into Lake Huron, reached me on October 24th. What a thrill! When did you throw it?

ABBY

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Houston County Historical Unit Names Officers

CALEDONIA, Minn. — New officers were elected at the annual meeting of the Houston County Historical Society at the municipal auditorium here.

The history of four pioneer families was given and the past year's work was reviewed at the Sunday meeting.

New officers are: Wesley Hoppel, Houston, chairman; Thomas Flynn, Houston, vice chairman; Mrs. William A. Johnson, Houston, secretary; and William L. Murphy, Caledonia, treasurer.

DIRECTORS ELECTED: Arthur Renner, Hokah; Clifford Orr, I. G. Iverson and Mrs. John C. Refsland, Houston; Mrs. Robert Sprague and Lyle Lapham, Caledonia; William Lockhart, Brownsville; and Olaf Kjome, Spring Grove.

The Robert Lewis family which came to Caledonia in 1854 from Hertfordshire, England, was reviewed by Miss Laurel Kerrigan, great-granddaughter of Mr. Lewis. Miss Evelyn Bobquet, granddaughter of Jacob Bobquet who came here from Soas, Belgium, in 1862, told her family history.

Mrs. John Roling, granddaughter of Jedediah Pope who arrived in Caledonia from Oxfordshire, England, in 1854, reviewed the family history; and William E. Flynn told the story of his father, A. J. Flynn and family, who came to the Caledonia area in 1850 from Waterford, Ireland.

The review of the past year included the Hokah meeting commemorating Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Langen who founded Hokah Museum; the history of Portland Prairie and Eitzen given by descendants of pioneer families in the area at the Eitzen meeting in May; a joint tour and meeting with the Winona County chapter in August, and the principal project, publication and sales of a book of poetry, "Lines From a Quaker Section" by Edith Thompson. Mrs. John Refsland presented this and a report on the district meeting at Albert Lea last month.

ARTICLES USED by early settlers were displayed by several descendants of Houston County pioneer families. Mayor Dean Dennison, who extended the welcome, told of the cooperation extended by the village in providing space in the auditorium for a county museum.

Murphy presided at the program. Miss Kathryn Colvett, vocal director at the school, presented a trio which sang two folk songs.

Eagle Scout Badge Given at Rushford

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special) — An Eagle Scout badge was presented to Herbert Moor, son of Dr. and Mrs. John Moor, at a court of honor at Rushford High School Sunday afternoon.

Herbert earned the badge in six years. He joined the Cub Scout troop here in 1956. He advanced to the Webelos badge, tenderfoot and second class Scout by 1959; first class, 1960; star Scout, 1961, and Life Scout last March. He received the Order of the Arrow in 1960 and brotherhood membership in 1961.

HE HAS attended fall and spring camp and Hok-Si-La each year since 1959 and this year was a counselor in training two weeks at Lake City. This year he earned the one-mile swim, 50-mile canoe trails and senior patrol leader award for Troop 53 at Whitewater spring camporee.

At present he is working on his "For God and country" award. His parents this year moved to Harmony, where Dr. Moor has a veterinary practice.

Two other local Eagle Scouts attended the court of honor, Edwin Luetchenberg who received his in 1926 and Steven Woxland in 1961.

RUSHFORD has had four other Eagle award winners. The Rev. John John Frimling, resident of the priory at Nassau, Bahamas, Island, and Peter Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Miller, received the award in 1952. Peter and Vernon Blanchfield, who attained the Eagle rank in 1927, have died. Robert Johnson, killed in the Battle of the Bulge in World War II, also received the Eagle in 1927.

Moor was presented the award by Kermit Holger, Scoutmaster. Earl Bunke recited his Scouting record to an audience of over 100 scouts, parents and friends. Richard Loerch was bugler.

Gene Dunn, Harmony Scoutmaster, was in the audience. Pastor M. Eugene Poehringer gave the invocation. His pastorate, Rushford Lutheran Church, sponsors the Scouting program. The troop conducted opening ceremonies.

Speaker was Roy Butler, Gamehaven Scout executive. He discussed ideals and responsibilities of Scouts as "trustees of the future."

AWARDS presented: Tenderfoot — Gerald Bunke, Daniel Dubbs, Dennis Evenson, Mark Peterson and Craig Woxland. Second class — Gerald Bunke, Jeff

Road Worker Badly Burned At Centerville

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special)—A Trempealeau County highway department employee received second degree burns over 50 percent of his body Wednesday morning when a hose between a kerosene drum and a tar cooker apparently broke, spraying fuel over him.

Maynard Back, 33, was patching cracks in blacktop highway about six miles north of Centerville on Highway 93.

According to Russell Paulson, acting county highway commissioner, the tar cooker probably caught fire. Back tried to remove the 15-gallon tank of kerosene which keeps the burner going for heating the tar. The hose between the fuel tank and tar cooker apparently broke and the fuel sprayed.

Back's clothes were completely burned from his body before the fire was put out by Maynard Robinson, Trempealeau, who was working with him. All that remained were 8-10 inches of his belt and his shoes.

His plastic-rimmed glasses were burned from his face. His hair was singed off. Before Robinson could come to his rescue Back had crawled into the truck cab, setting fire to the cushions. Robinson used his overcoat to put out the flames.

Robinson and Royce Church, Galesville, who had been looking over other sections of the highway, summoned help from Arcadia and Galesville. A Galesville physician gave Back first aid before having him removed to St. Francis Hospital, La Crosse.

Galesville people who called on him Thanksgiving Day said his face wasn't bandaged but he was covered with bandages elsewhere. His wife said Thursday he may have to be hospitalized five weeks. The accident happened at 11:30 a.m.

With Thanksgiving out of the way, seasonal weather burst on Southeastern Minnesota and Western Wisconsin today when a light morning snowfall blanketed the area. What remains should melt Saturday.

An accumulation of one to three inches was expected in some parts of the area before the snowfall ends late this afternoon.

MOTORISTS in the 100-mile-wide snow belt were urged to use extreme caution due to slippery spots on the highways.

The small storm was moving rapidly eastward along the Iowa-Minnesota border and was passing into Western Wisconsin. A special cautionary warning was issued for the southern Minnesota, northern Iowa and Western Wisconsin region.

At 9 a.m. an inch of snow was reported in the Osseo, Wis., area and other parts of northern Trempealeau County. The snow there started falling about 6 a.m. Russell Paulson, Eleva, acting Trempealeau County highway commissioner, said all Trempealeau County roads were slippery from the snow.

SNOW TOTALING up to seven inches at Willmar, in west central Minnesota fell overnight.

Milaca reported four inches. The Twin Cities had no snowfall worthy of the name until about 5 a.m. today, but in three hours it had totaled 3 1/2 inches. Two inches of snow fell early at Marshall, Madison, Montevideo, Granite Falls and Windom, Minn., while little Falls had three-quarters of an inch and Brainerd, Glenwood, St. Cloud, Mankato, Rochester and Owatonna had one-half inch from overnight. Red Wing, Minn., had about 3 1/2 inches of wet snow up until 10 a.m. There were numerous auto smash-ups in the city and sheriffs officers struggled to clear bad traffic jams on two hills on Highway 61, northwest of the city.

BECOMING mostly fair tonight and Saturday is the official weather forecast for Winona and vicinity. It will be colder tonight after the snow, said the weatherman, but mild Saturday. A low of 20-25 is predicted for tonight and a high of 45 Saturday.

Mild with no precipitation of any consequence is the outlook for Sunday.

The extended forecast for this area predicted temperatures Saturday through Wednesday will average 5 to 10 degrees above normal with only minor day-to-day variations. Nighttime lows of 16-20 are expected and daytime highs of 32-37. Little or no precipitation is expected.

The area had a clear Thanksgiving holiday with near perfect driving conditions. The thermometer rose to 50 Wednesday afternoon and 55 Thursday. The low Thursday morning was 23 and this morning was 33. Snowfall to noon when the temperature was 33 was light.

A YEAR AGO today conditions were similar with a high of 39 and a low of 28. Two inches of snow lay on the ground at that time.

The all-time high for Nov. 23 was 61 in 1931 and the low for the day — 4 in 1950. The mean for the past 24 hours was 29. Normal for this day is 30.

Snow was reported at many Minnesota communities in the southern section of the state, including Rochester, where the morning temperature was 21.

La Crosse had a reading of 24. Lowest morning figure in the state was 12 at International Falls.

Winter weather swung a surprise punch at WISCONSIN today. Heavy snow was reported at mid-morning in the Eau Claire area and light snow fell at La Crosse, Rhinelander, Ashland and Hurley.

The rapidly developing storm resulted in a special weather bulletin for Wisconsin, warning of possible heavy accumulations in the central part of the state. In most northern areas the accumulation was expected to be one to three inches.

Drivers were warned of possibly hazardous conditions on highways in northern and central areas.

Light rain mixed with snow was due to fall in the extreme southern part of the state.

Temperatures at mid-morning ranged from 27 at Wausau and Rhinelander to 34 at La Crosse.

DURING THE night, the coldest spot was Madison with 16.

Generally clear, sunny, windy and cold weather prevailed on Thanksgiving Day. Cloudiness moved in from the west Thursday night.

Lone Rock topped the state Thursday with 38 degrees and Park Falls was the coldest spot with 23. Miami Beach, Fla., set the national high of 85 Thursday.

Thanksgiving Highway Toll Ahead of '61

HOLIDAY DEATHS
Traffic	192
Fires	16
Miscellaneous	19
Total	227

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The tally of Thanksgiving holiday deaths moved steadily higher today, paced by a rash of multiple fatalities in traffic accidents.

Highway deaths since the count began at 6 p.m. (local time) Wednesday totaled 192 compared to 168 for a comparable period last year. Fires killed 16 persons and miscellaneous accidents, 19.

There were numerous reports of accidents in which three, four and five persons were killed. In Texas, there were two separate accidents in which five persons were fatally injured in each mishap. A two-car crash in Illinois took the lives of four persons and four University of Omaha students were killed when their car smashed into a Union Pacific freight train at a crossing in the outskirts of Omaha.

The National Safety Council did not make an estimate of the traffic death toll for Thanksgiving or for the extended holiday period from 6 p.m. Wednesday until midnight Sunday. It said the traffic on the holiday is not heavy as on other major holidays.

However, the council said that deaths on the highway for the Thursday through Sunday period at this time of year number about 480. An Associated Press survey of accidental deaths for the 102-hour period from 6 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 7 to midnight Sunday, Nov. 11, showed 459 highway fatalities. The survey also showed 30 killed in fires and 113 deaths in miscellaneous accidents, an overall total of 602.

In last year's four-day Thanksgiving holiday period, there were 457 traffic deaths, 40 persons killed in fires and 105 deaths in miscellaneous accidents, a total of 602.

Drunken Driver Starts Jail Term

Lloyd R. Howe, 52, Stockton Rt. 1, Minn., pleaded guilty in municipal court today to a charge of drunken driving.

Judge S. D. J. Bruski sentenced him to pay a fine of $100 or to serve 60 days in the county jail. Howe was arrested by police at 5th and High Forest streets at 11:30 p.m. Wednesday. He will serve the jail sentence.

John W. Sherman, 18, 1113 W. Howard St., forfeited $25 bail on each of two charges in court today. He was charged with having an open bottle in his car and with being a minor in possession of beer.

He was arrested by police at Sanborn and Lafayette streets at 9:27 p.m. Wednesday.

Sheriff Arrests Youth and 'Wife'

Sheriff George Fort Wednesday arrested Ray Sackett, 19, Rhinelander, Wis., and a 15-year-old girl who Sackett reportedly abducted from an orphanage near Rhinelander.

Fort made the arrest at 5 p.m. Wednesday on a farm in the western part of Winona County. Fort said that the two had hired out as workers on the farm and that they had told the farmer that they were married. The two had lived on the farm about one month, Fort said.

He said that Sackett probably would waive extradition in municipal court Saturday or in a special session today. The Oneida County sheriff is expected to arrive here this afternoon, said Fort. Fort also said that juvenile authorities are coming to get the girl.

The sheriff said that he received word about the two staying on the farm from an undisclosed source and that he went to the farm Wednesday and brought the two in for questioning. He said that he later found out their identity.

Winona County authorities will not press charges against Sackett, said Fort.

Twin Cities Group To Attend NOMA Meeting Monday

Some 20-25 members of the inter-chapters relations committee of the Minneapolis-St. Paul chapter of the National Office Management Association will attend the meeting of the La Crosse-Winona Chapter here Monday.

The dinner meeting will be at the Williams Hotel at 6:30 p.m. The Twin Cities group will travel by bus. A representative of the Southern Minnesota Chapter also will attend.

Speaker will be Charles J. Olson, director of personnel, Farmers Union Central Exchange, Inc., South St. Paul. He will discuss "One Word for Management Is Results."

Reads Landing Crash Driver Faces Charge

WABASHA, Minn. (Special)—A charge of careless driving has been brought against a Washington, Ill., man who sideswiped another car on Highway 61 at Reads Landing Sunday morning.

Robert V. Ernst, 33, posted $30 bail for hitting the car of Miss Mary Pat Learschen, 33, St. Cloud, Minn., as both were proceeding south. Ernst was driving a 1962 convertible and Miss Learschen a 1954 four-door.

Leif Harbo Named

Leif Harbo, former superintendent of public schools here, is the chairman of the newly organized educational policies commission of the Minnesota Education Association, Minn., who resigned as superintendent here in 1949 to accept a similar position at Austin, Minn., was appointed president of Augsburg College and Seminary, Minneapolis, after retiring as superintendent at Austin.

Lake City Church Sets Anniversary Program for June

LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special)—June 9, 1963, has been set as the 75th anniversary Sunday of St. John's Lutheran Church.

The celebration will be conducted the entire month of June. The president of the Minnesota District of the Wisconsin Synod, the Rev. M. J. Lenz, Delano, will be the speaker June 9.

This Sunday the men of the congregation will be commissioned during the service. They will make calls to the families of the congregation in preparation for the anniversary.

Members of the main committee are Allan Hein, Hollace Abraham, Norman Holst, Lowell Ter-Borch and Gale Brandercker. Recruiting visitors committee are Ter-Borch, Vernon Haglund and Arnold Tomford.

LAKE CITIAN PRESIDENT

LAKE CITY, Minn.—Miss Edwina Schlueter, a member of the Lake City public schools faculty, is one of seven division presidents of the Minnesota Education Association's Department of Classroom Teachers. Miss Schlueter heads the southeast division organization of the DCT whose statewide membership committee, a substantial majority of the MEA's more than 30,000 members.

Cancer Society Gives Hospital Another Grant

Community Memorial Hospital has received a $1,000 grant from the Minnesota Division, American Cancer Society, to help the hospital continue a hospital-wide tumor registry.

The registry, started a year ago by a previous grant from the society, is needed for American College of Surgeons approval of the hospital's cancer program.

The society's check was presented to hospital administrator E. W. Hagberg by Mrs. Donald Schaefer, representing the society's Winona County Chapter.

A tumor registry is a file of abstracts of medical records on the diagnosis, treatment and follow-up of all hospital patients with malignant tumors. Thus, in one place, the hospital has a record of known or suspected cancer patients. The tumor registry permits the hospital to compare tumor treatment with treatment in other institutions. The registry helps doctors provide regular follow-up of tumor cases.

Chairman of the hospital's tumor committee is Dr. Paul Heise, pathologist. Other members are Dr. James V. Testor, radiologist; Dr. William O. Finkelburg, surgeon, and Dr. Arnold W. Fenske, internist.

The registry is supervised by Miss Effie M. Barnholdt, administrative assistant, who is a registered medical records librarian. She was supervisor-secretary 12 years of the tumor clinic and registry at St. Francis Hospital, Evanston, Ill., and was business administrator of the Chicago Tumor Institute. The local tumor registry was inspected recently by Dr. Harold R. Hennessy, Chicago, American College of Surgeons.

District Fair Group Elects

PRESTON, Minn.—Members of the 1st District Federation of Fairs elected Chester Holton, Albert Lea, president at their annual meeting at the town hall here Monday.

Ernest Wubbels, Preston, was elected vice president and Roger Gustafson, secretary.

The federation passed a resolution that the state should distribute the full amount of premium funds that are set aside for the county fairs. The resolution said that about 91 percent of the state allocation is distributed to the county fairs at present.

Oliver Strand, Winona County agent; Harry J. Frost, Minnesota State Fair board, and Ty Sincok, Owatonna, comprised the four-man panel which discussed the problems of producing a fair.

St. Charles will host the 1963 meeting Nov. 18.

PEIRCE TO CONVENTION

Harry Peirce Jr. will attend the National Vocational Agriculture Teachers convention in Milwaukee Dec. 1-7 in conjunction with the 56th annual convention of the American Vocational Association. Peirce is the Winona Senior High School agriculture instructor and is the vice president of the Minnesota Vocational Agriculture Instructors Association.

River Zone Deer Season Ending; Jackson Continues

The Wisconsin deer season on spike horn bucks in the river zone counties comes to a close this evening at sundown.

In the northern zone, which includes Jackson County, the open season continues through Sunday.

Ratio of success has run high in the river zone despite lack of snow. Final total take figures will not be available for about another week.

Trempealeau Co. 'Ham' Operators To Meet Tonight

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Radio communications personnel will hold a second meeting tonight to establish organized radio nets for civil defense communication, according to Howard Mohnk, Trempealeau County CD director.

The first was held at the courthouse here last Thursday.

The present existence of an organized citizen band net in the southern part of the county will do much in establishing a basis to incorporate existing units in other parts of the county, Mohnk said.

T. V. JOHNSON, Galesville, and a large number of radio co-workers in this and La Crosse counties already have a radio net in operation for emergency and special services. Citizen band communications offer much in providing two-way radio communications with a relatively small investment and limited requirements for eligibility, Mohnk said.

The radio amateur communication emergency service net known as RACES is an organization of ham operators functioning within regulations and assigned frequencies established for each community by the government. Capabilities of the RACES net are far reaching, only hindered by number of available operators, Mohnk said.

Radio communication with state and area headquarters must be handled through ham operators and their facilities, supplemented by special equipment for that purpose.

The three Trempealeau County areas—northern, central and southern—each has a director of citizen band and RACES net to coordinate its communication with each community and yet be flexible enough to tie in county-wide activities.

IRVIN OTTESTAD, Osseo, will coordinate activities in the northern area; Arnold Thorpe, Blair, central, and Dale Johnson, Elrick, ham activities in the southern area and T. V. Johnson, Galesville, citizen band.

Lee Johnson, deputy in the sheriff's office, is in charge of all communications within the county.

Thanksgiving Talk

Look around you and you will find many things to be thankful for, the Rev. Harold Rekdast, of First Congregational Church, told a joint meeting of the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs at a luncheon at Hotel Winona Wednesday. Our culture, our health, our contented spirit and our concern for others were cited as principal items to recall.

2 Men, Girl Killed in State Road Mishaps

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two men and a girl were killed in separate traffic accidents, marring Minnesota's Thanksgiving Day.

The deaths raised the state toll for the year to 604 compared with 671 through this date one year ago. Another person died Wednesday evening after the holiday accident count began at 6 p.m.

Latest victims were:

Oscar Anderson, 69, Route 3, Brainerd.

Floyd Gerling, 53, Clarissa.

Karla Torgeson, 5, rural Kensington.

The Highway Patrol said Anderson died early Thursday evening, some two hours after the car he was driving and another collided on Minnesota 210, one mile west of Brainerd.

The other car was driven by Bernard J. Hendricks, 23, Moleky. He and a passenger, Donna Hendricks, suffered cuts and bruises.

Gerling was driving on Minnesota 100 in Robbinsdale, a Minneapolis suburb, when his car swerved into the path of another auto, according to police. Driver of the second vehicle was John Wikowski Jr., 29, Minneapolis. He and his mother riding with him, Rita Wikowski, 60, were treated for injuries at a hospital and released.

The Torgeson girl was riding in a car with several other passengers and driven by her mother, when the vehicle went off of Minnesota 27 near Wheaton and overturned in a ditch. Karla suffered a skull fracture.

2 Highway Deaths In Wisconsin

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wisconsin has counted two highway deaths so far in the Thanksgiving Day weekend which began Wednesday evening.

The fatalities brought the state's 1962 toll to 843, compared with 808 on this date one year ago.

Thomas Kirsch, 9, Racine, was killed Thursday when struck by a car near his home.

Sever Darling, 56, Portage, died Wednesday night when struck by a car on Highway 51 in Portage.

State Official Cites St. Charles Advantages

ST. CHARLES, Minn. (Special)—"If you don't believe St. Charles is the best town in this best state in the best nation, you should move," J. W. Clark, president of Community Counseling Service, St. Paul, told the Chamber of Commerce here Tuesday.

His report of a two-day survey of the city and announcement of working committees by Perry Jenks, chairman, comprised the program at the dinner meeting attended by 32 of the chamber's 54 members.

CLARK, introduced by Harold Hayes, secretary, answered the question, "How does St. Charles look to prospective businessmen?" He said Main Street needs some face-lifting. Small improvements make a great deal of difference, he commented.

St. Charles, he said, is a city where natural beauty and business meet. He found the population had gained 26 percent since 1940. It's now 1,882.

He enumerated the city's advantages: Two railroads; two through highways; natural gas; a sewer system adequate for care of industries; good fire and police protection; good water; an excellent school system; library; theater; bowling alley; more churches than the average town; two motels; outstanding playgrounds and athletic field; 32 organizations, and its location as gateway to White-water State Park.

COMMITTEES announced by Jenks (the chairman and co-chairman named first): Finance and budget; John Kling, Walter Lange, Dr. J. C. Harguth, Orrin Zimmerman, Curt Randall, Del Rubberg, Don Campbell, George Gordon, Jack Laudon and Ben Fazendin.

Industrial expansion and housing—Russell Rentrow, Fay McCarthy, Wally Ask, Robert Currie, Carl Fischer, Howard Williams, Darwin Todd, James Bishop, Arthur Hoyt, Marvin Kleffer, Mrs. Vance LaFrenz and Dr. Sam McIntosh.

Merchandising — Mel Brownell, Harold Wire, James Potter, Bob Waldee, Norbert Schomer, Ralph Hughes, Carl Olson, Carl Gedde, Ronny Schuber, William Holland, Clayton Miller, Frank Koch and Francis Kramer.

'Unpreparing' School Child

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

Responsibility for education in the United States is vested in local school boards, who largely set their own rules. On the whole, this is a good thing. But it can cause confusion, as this letter shows:

Dear Dr. Nason:

Our daughter attended one year of kindergarten in another state. But our new school board will not honor the transfer and allow her admittance into the first grade because of her age.

How do you explain to a bright youngster that she can no longer attend school?

Mrs. S.U.
The problem is not as serious as it seems. Little girls usually are quite happy to be like all the other little girls.

Invite one or two children the same age as your daughter to spend an afternoon with her. Perhaps then she will understand that in her new community no girls of her age go to school.

Dear Dr. Nason:

My daughter is asked to do library research for themes. It seems to me that all she does is look for ideas that she can copy into her themes. Is this preparation for college work?

H. F., Long Beach, Calif.
This is a procedure used by many students. When it is carried over into college work it produces very mediocre themes—usually a "C" grade or below.

Encourage your daughter to research for a picture of the whole situation rather than search for ideas to be used. She should be able to write a brief first draft of her theme without referring to her reference notes from the library.

Dear Dr. Nason:

What are your thoughts regarding the use of intelligence and/or achievement of the children as a basis for merit pay of teachers?

Mrs. G. B., Greenlake, Wis.
Certainly the intelligence test scores of children are not the responsibility of the teacher. And the results of achievement test while important, are only one measure of good teaching.

Many things need to be considered.

Does this teacher help the child retain or regain the joy of learning?

Does he, by precept and example, instill patriotism?

Does he, through his efforts and cooperation, improve the school program?

Does he have an understanding feeling for individual children?

Dear Dr. Nason:

How can my sixth grade daughter make better grades on spelling tests? When I read the words slowly she can spell them correctly. She says the teacher says each word too fast.

Mrs. J. C., Paterson, N. J.
Spelling tests are dictated. If her teacher speaks rapidly, your daughter must be able to bring the correct spelling to her mind quickly by the sound of the word.

Have her practice saying the words aloud and actually think how each is spelled as she hears the word. Have her practice the last thing before going to bed at night. Help her review the first thing in the morning. Speak the words as rapidly as the teacher does.

Harmony Acquires Site for Hospital

HARMONY, Minn. (Special) — Harmony Village Board has purchased a site, 365 by 300 feet, for its new hospital, for which voters last May 17 approved a bond issue not exceeding $350,000.

The land is south of the Manville Bates residence on Main Avenue S. and was purchased from Oscar Hegg.

Patch & Erickson, Minneapolis architects, are working on final plans for the proposed 16-bed unit. They'll be ready the latter part of January or early February for construction bids.

Harmony voted 439-73 in favor of the project, but the council promised to wait with definite plans until a doctor had been secured. The village was without one for more than a year.

Dr. Melvin Stahl began practicing Oct. 1 in the medical clinic that was built here in 1953 with local contributions.

The new hospital will replace the present 14-bed unit that's been in operation since 1949 in a converted residence.

VFW Objectives Cited at Rushford

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special) — Searching for source material for a talk on the origins of the Veterans of Foreign Wars gave him new insights, a speaker told the VFW post here at a Saturday evening banquet.

Theodore Robertson, who spoke on "A Member Takes a Look at the VFW," is a longtime member of Joseph M. Johnson Post, Rushford. He was introduced by Mayor Arthur Miller.

Robertson said he discovered he actually knew very little about the VFW when he started looking for information. He traced the beginnings of the organization back to 1899 at Columbus, Ohio, and Denver, Colo.

The VFW serves in many areas, he said, such as Americanism, citizenship studies, the fight against communism, community service, the National Home at Eaton Rapids, Mich., promotion of loyalty and flag etiquette, rehabilitation and youth activities.

Robertson described in detail the National Home where 250 homeless children are now enrolled. He also discussed the VFW 10-point program against ZUMBROTA, Minn.—A Kellogg, Minn., man, William Arens, has been re-elected president of the Southeastern Minnesota Beekeepers Association.

Other officers elected Saturday were: Harold Frutiger, Rochester, vice president; Fred Doerr, Winona, secretary-treasurer; Henry Nepper, Minneka; Curtis Olson, Zumbrota, and Leo Kiefer, St. Charles, directors.

Janet Courson, 16, West Concord, was the first to enter the Beekeepers Queen contest. The winner of the contest will compete at the national convention in 1964.

communism and for flag etiquette, suggesting a demonstration on flag etiquette be arranged at the local school on Pearl Harbor Day, Dec. 7. More publicity about activities should result in greater membership, he said.

Joseph M. Johnson, for whom the post is named, was killed in the attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941.

In charge of the program was Basil Brotzman, post commander, and Wendell Nordby led the group in prayer before dinner. An evening of dancing followed the program.

Ready for the opening? (Just call for demonstration.)

Okay, which door do you want to open first? You have your choice of seven.
Two front doors.
A wide rear door that swings up and out of the way. Comes in mighty handy when someone's parked close behind you.
A pair of side doors that open almost four feet wide for really big, bulky stuff. They open on the side-walk side of the truck.
You can get an extra pair of doors for the driver's side for just $80* more.
Open any door and see how much room you get. Compared with the longer, heavier, costlier standard half-ton, the Volkswagen gives you much more inside space: 170 cu. ft. versus 150.

It holds a much heavier load, too: 1,830 lbs. versus the half-ton's 1,000 lbs.
And it gets 20 to 30 miles on a gallon.
Regular gas.
Never needs water or anti-freeze: it's the famous air-cooled VW motor. Nothing to boil over or freeze up.
Gives you extra traction on slick, slippery roads because its weight is over the rear wheels.
Where you need it.
Might it open the door to new profits for you? Open it and see.

Thoughts at Random— From Editor's Notebook

THE ATROCIOUS situation that has developed in Minnesota as the result of tabulations by election judges and canvassing boards of the votes for governor, is bringing nothing but derisive remarks from most of the citizens of this state.

It may be another month—it might be longer—before the results in this important contest are known and now the DFL Party, which was meek and calm when Karl Rolvaag held a slim lead, has started legal proceedings which could even hold up a recount. Rolvaag, incidentally, lost his home county, Olmsted, by 5,516 votes.

What is surprising to many persons is the shifting of totals in various counties and precincts as a result of canvassing board rechecks. The questions that arise, naturally, are: What's wrong with the election judges? Are they careless? How do they count the ballots anyway? and, What can be done to remedy this abominable situation?

Harold Schoelkopf, editor of the St. Cloud Times, says it brings into the spotlight the fact that while we have progressed so considerably in so many fields of activity, we are still conducting our elections much the same as we did 100 years ago. With the exception of communities which have installed voting machines, the same ponderous, time-consuming practices are still in effect in at least 90 percent of the state's precincts.

Voting machines are expensive, although they are said to pay for themselves in 10 years or less, and might be a solution for the larger communities such as Winona, but would be impractical for the smaller precincts.

We agree with Schoelkopf when he says, "in this age of automatic computers and electronics and all the other time-saving and labor-saving gadgets, it would seem that some study might be given to streamlining our election procedures."

OUR CONGRATULATIONS to Rep. Lloyd Duxbury of Caledonia for his selection as speaker by the conservative majority in the state House of Representatives for the upcoming 1963 session of the Legislature. Lloyd has been a leader in the House even when it was controlled by the so-called liberals and his experience will be invaluable now that his party is in power. With the Senate also in control of the conservatives, as it has been, this session of the Legislature could be one of the most important in many years and the nauseating bickering and stalling so noticeable in the last few sessions will, we hope, be a thing of the past.

The results of the caucus among the House majority members seems to indicate that the conservative faction is moving away from the extreme right wing and there are prospects of more unity in 1963 than has been evident for ten years.

If the recount shows that Elmer L. Andersen has been re-elected governor, a real program for the benefit of everyone in Minnesota is in the offing. If, however, Rolvaag wins, the storm signals should go up for we would be facing four years—four critical years for Minnesota—of stalemate. That's a grim outlook.

THE COST OF automobile licenses in Minnesota is a matter the 1963 Legislature should look into. Not only are our licenses much higher than the average throughout the rest of the country, but the practice of greatly reducing the cost of the plates as the car becomes older would seem to encourage the purchase of jalopies—always hazards on the highways—by teenagers and young adults. If anything, the cost of operating such vehicles should be higher in an effort to keep them off the roads. Look at the schedule of costs which came with the notification that your license is due and you'll see what we mean.

ROY L. BANGSBURG, editor of the La Crosse Tribune for 32 years and an employee of our downriver neighbor for 42, is going to retire come Jan. 1. We have worked with Roy on a number of intercity and newspaper projects for many years and while we are happy to note he plans a relaxed life, we are sorry to see him leave the active field of journalism.

He started with The Tribune in August 1920 as sports editor, became city editor March 26, 1926 and managing editor March 17, 1930—about the same time we became city editor of this newspaper.

There's more than a fraternal connection between Roy and this newspaper—there is a definite connection with Winona for his wife is the former Marie Wein of Winona, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Wein. Rev. Wein was pastor of Central Lutheran Church here for many years.

The Bangsbergs have two sons, Dr. Harry F., assistant director of Wisconsin State College, Madison, and Dr. David R., a dentist in Portland, Ore.

Roy is to be succeeded by Sanford Galtz, 49, editor of the editorial page of the Wisconsin State Journal at Madison. That newspaper, like the La Crosse Tribune, is a member of the Lee newspaper group.

There were a lot of mighty close election races—but this won't prevent the winners from acting as though they had a big popular mandate for their views.

A Georgia high football star is expelled because he married, and grid fans are irked. Without football, how can the lad build his character?

U-2 Plane Vindicated

By SEN. BARRY GOLDWATER

One of the things the Cuban situation achieved was the complete and total vindication of the U-2 reconnaissance plane.

I doubt if there were any thoughtful Americans who were anything but prayerfully grateful for the services of that remarkable plane when the Soviet missile build-up was disclosed.

Actually, if it hadn't been for the so-called "hard" evidence produced by U-2 photographs of Cuba, nothing would have been done to reduce the tremendous offensive capability of the Russians in the Caribbean. The U-2 planes obtained the visual proof that none of the President's advisors could contest.

And it should be recalled that this is the same plane that many Americans almost bowed their heads in shame about back in May of 1960, when the Soviets shot one down over their territory and then used the incident to wreck the Paris summit conference.

I suggest that every single person who questioned the wisdom of using U-2 planes for reconnaissance purposes two years ago should ask himself now just what we would have done without them in the Cuban situation. For the plain fact is that if it hadn't been for the U-2 planes' performance in October of 1962, the entire balance of power in the Western Hemisphere would have been drastically altered in favor of the Communists.

IT IS PERHAPS significant that the shame evidenced over the U-2 incident when Francis Gary Powers was brought down in Russian territory came entirely from civilian sources. I don't know of a single military man who wasn't proud of the fact that the United States had developed a reconnaissance plane which was capable of conducting effective surveillance of the Soviet Union. And I don't know of a single military commander who didn't see the vast advantage this plane gave us in the development of a defense system adequate to solve the problems that now beset the world.

What we Americans should have done in that earlier incident was to defend the U-2 and tell the entire world that surveillance of the Soviet Union was absolutely essential to protect the free world from a surprise attack. We should have insisted that the U-2 was our insurance against another Pearl Harbor and reserved the right to use it at will.

THE NOW-ESTABLISHED worth of the U-2 plane in the defense of the Western Hemisphere and of our own shores brings up the question of whether this reconnaissance plane ever would have been built if the present group of Defense Department civilians had been in control during the early stages of its development.

Judging from the refusal of this group to see the urgent need for the speedy expansion of the RS-70 (formerly the B-70) program, one is led to wonder. We can only hope that the renewed emphasis which the Cuban situation has placed on combat readiness will prod the Pentagon and the White House into a new appreciation of the reconnaissance and information-gathering capabilities of the RS-70 as well as its strike potential.

I suggest that we Americans have in the past shown too much reluctance to develop new weapons to increase our strength. For example, if we had listened to one group of "guilt-ridden" scientists some years ago, we never would have developed the H-bomb. Just think of where we would be today if President Truman hadn't insisted that we push ahead with the nuclear program. The Russians would be holding the 100-megaton bomb over our heads and dictating the terms of our surrender.

No U.S. Administration To Enforce New Drug Bill

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The Kennedy Administration, after focusing much attention on deformed-baby drugs, has been dragging its feet regarding the appointment of a doctor who would prevent similar drugs from reaching the market.

The doctor needed is to direct the Bureau of Medicine in the Food and Drug Administration with the job of preventing eager - beaver drug companies from pushing drugs out to doctors until they are sufficiently tested. It was in this agency that Dr. Frances Kelsey fought against the use of thalidomide, a sleeping pill which has caused thousands of deformed babies.

On Aug. 6, Dr. William Kessenich, director of the Bureau of Medicine, resigned. Ever since last year, when he gave notice of his intended resignation, the Food and Drug Administration has been on notice to get a new man, and in March, Director George Larrick recommended Dr. Charles May, professor of pediatrics at New York University Medical Center and a member of the AMA's council on drugs.

Dr. May was editor of the medical journal "Pediatrics" until he testified before the Kefauver committee and wrote an illuminating article on "Selling Drugs by Educating Physicians" which referred to the practice of some drug companies of giving drugs to doctors and asking them to experiment on their patients.

Since then Dr. May has not exactly been the darling of the drug industry. But in no sense has this impaired his qualifications to be a policeman for the public. However, seven months have dragged by and there has been no action on Commissioner Larrick's recommendation.

THE KENNEDY Administration has blown hot and cold on the question of safe drugs. When Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., was trying to pass a drug bill with teeth in it, the White House sent a message to Congress which helped cut the heart out of his bill. In fact, the bill would have died had it not been for the publicity focused on thalidomide by Dr. Frances Kelsey, plus the dramatic flight of TV Commentator Sherri Finkbine to Sweden for a "legal" abortion.

After this, the Kennedy administration reversed itself, gave an award to Dr. Kelsey, and got behind the Kefauver drug bill. It did not, however, back one of the bill's most important provisions—strictly fought by the drug industry—the release of patents to other drug firms at a nominal royalty after a certain period of exclusive use.

All-in-all, however, the Kefauver drug bill is the strongest ever passed by Congress. The chief thing now needed is a director of the Bureau of Medicine to help administer it.

THE OTHER day I went up to Media, Pa., near which in my youth I used to trap skunks, and listened to the dedication ceremony of the new post office by Tyler Abell, special assistant to the postmaster-general. Here are some things I never knew before about the post office: Up until July 1, 1947, there were no postage stamps. Mail was sent C.O.D.—except for franked mail—Benjamin Franklin who served as postmaster general for the colonies under King George III used to sign franked mail "Free—B. Franklin." Later as the revolt against George III warmed, the postmaster general changed his signature to "B. Free Franklin." King George couldn't stomach this and fired him. But after independence, Franklin became the first post-

Strange Case Of Cuban Hate

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The worst example of cruelty to human beings since the torture chambers of yesteryears was reported Sunday night.

Twelve Canadian seamen and their captain struggled for life in the midst of a violent storm on the Atlantic as their ship wallowed helplessly because Cubans had deliberately filled the vessel's tanks at Havana with a small amount of oil and a large amount of water.

Five times other ships passed by, either without seeing the Canadian ship's flag of distress or because, in the heavy seas, they were unable to come in close to the small ship.

For nine days the battle for life went on. Then came the tanker San Gaspar, which had to leave the Canadian vessel behind but took the grateful seamen into Hamilton Harbor, Bermuda.

Certainly this looks like a piece of human interest news, but it got scant attention from the news broadcasters on Sunday night, though it has a far-reaching significance.

Here is the dispatch which came over the wires of the United Press International at 6 o'clock Sunday evening—in ample time for news broadcasts during Sunday night.

"Hamilton, Bermuda — The captain of a Canadian freighter said on his arrival here today that his ship had to be abandoned in a fierce Atlantic storm because Cubans filled most of his fuel tanks with water when he left Havana.

"Capt. Edward Clark, 61, arrived here aboard the tanker San Gaspar which picked him and 12 crewmen up from the East Star.

"The East Star, a 155-foot long Canadian freighter, had been drifting fuelless for nine days until its flares were sighted last night by a plane looking for bodies of crewmen from a Greek freighter, Clark said.

"Capt. Clark, of St. Josephs, Newfoundland, said his small ship was full of water in the No. 1 hold, was listing 25 degrees, and waves were breaking over it when help finally came.

"Describing the ordeal as 'the worst experience of my life,' the captain said it all started when the East Star took on what he thought was a full load of fuel for the return trip from Havana.

"We took on 18 tons and 88 gallons of fuel in Havana," he said, "and it was 15 tons water."

"Trembling with emotion, the white-haired captain — a ship's master for 34 years — told how he tried to keep the ship's lights going with what little fuel he had left and how finally radio communications from the East Star failed.

"We cut our engines and drifted with the wind nine days," he said. "This was the night of Nov. 7. We raised the 'LV' (distress flag) in plain sight of five ships but they went right on."

Asked the next day whether he thought the Cubans had deliberately filled his ship's tanks with water, Capt. Clark said: "Well, in my 34 years as a ship's master, I've never seen anything like it."

Who did it? Was it done by the Cuban government or by Cubans who happen to be bitter against foreigners? Canada in recent months sent supplies to Cuba despite protests from people in this country. Lately, the Canadian government has lined up with the United States against Castro. The act of sabotage could have been a reprisal against the Canadian government by members of the Castro regime in Havana.

Although the story broke Sunday evening, no comment was forthcoming from Ottawa as to what the Canadian government intends to do about the sabotage. The item should be of interest also to the United States government, which has been trying to "quarantine" Cuba and to persuade other countries to join in what amounts to an economic blockade of the island.

Officially a distinction has been made between the ship-

Hormones May Be Needed

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Twelve years ago (when I was 43) I had a hysterectomy. I am still getting hormone shots regularly, but they don't seem to do much good. What is your opinion?—D. S.

The usefulness of hormone medication, or the need for it, varies widely from one woman to another. Most don't require any. Others may find it very useful for a limited period, from six to 12 months. The need for hormones is greatest in a woman who has had "surgical menopause," that is, a hysterectomy including removal of the ovaries.

In ordinary menopause, the ovaries gradually decrease the secretion of hormones. The body gradually adjusts to a different hormonal balance.

But when the ovaries are removed, the cessation of hormone production is abrupt. The adjustment cannot be made gradually by the system. That is why hormones are so useful in carrying the patient through the readjusting time. But the body does readjust, just as it does after normal menopause.

NOW SOME women continue the use of hormones for much longer periods on the supposition that their troubles are a continuation of menopause.

But keep this in mind: Menopause and its symptoms do not continue indefinitely. It is a period of transition.

Thus when the symptoms keep on and on, the actual cause may be entirely apart from menopause. Sometimes it is neurosis, sometimes thyroid trouble (the thyroid secretes hormones, too, but of a different type), sometimes hypoglycemia, or low blood sugar, possibly high blood pressure. The list is long.

Hence when hormone shots "don't seem to do much good" any longer, it is quite probable that they have outlived their usefulness. There should be careful study to see whether some other disturbance isn't what really needs correction.

ment of military weapons or equipment and food and non-military supplies. But if the Cubans are sabotaging foreign ships in the harbors of Cuba, many of the seamen of the world will not wish to risk voyages to that country. The seamen's unions in this country have refused to handle cargoes of ships which engage in Cuban trade, but the seamen of other countries have continued to man European ships bound for Cuba. By so doing, they have left the merchant ships of the Soviet Union and the Communist bloc countries free to carry missiles and military equipment, while the ships of other countries transport food and non-military items to help meet the serious shortages which the Castro regime is experiencing.

How to Improve World Toastmistress Club Topic

"If it were in your power, what would you do to improve the world situation as it is today?" was the topic assigned by Miss Katherine Wasmata at the meeting of Winona Toastmistress Club Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. at Hotel Winona. Each member responded with a one-minute extemporaneous speech.

Featured speaker for the evening was Mrs. F. A. Lipinski who talked on the use of humor in speech. "Story telling is an art," she said. "A well-told anecdote used in the right place certainly sets you out as an experienced speaker. . . . An anecdote used skillfully can make a fairly dull speech seem interesting and worthwhile—it can serve to re-emphasize the message you are trying to get across . . . it can dispell tensions."

DO'S AND DON'T'S emphasized by the speaker included: "Do realize that you must tell your anecdote. You can read some perfectly hilarious story but unless you see it in print, the point is lost. . . . When you are searching for an anecdote, realize that you must tell it. Some stories depend upon the printed word in order to be put across. . . . Rewrite it, plan how to dramatize it. . . . practice the telling of the anecdote until you feel very much at home with it, until it is a part of you and seems to come from you with no trouble and no danger of losing the point."

Mrs. Lipinski continued "Your anecdote must be learned but not memorized. Know it so well that if you have forgotten the word you planned to use you can substitute

Betty Sebo, Dakota, Weds Richard Dennis

Brown and white chrysanthemums were used to decorate the altar of St. Stanislaus Church Nov. 3 for the marriage of Miss Betty Ann Sebo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garvin N. Sebo, Dakota, Minn., and Richard Paul Dennis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth M. Dennis Sr., 467 E. 2nd St.

The Rev. John Wera, officiated at the double-ring ceremony and Sister M. Edward, organist, played traditional wedding music and accompanied the children's choir.

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of bouquet taffeta and Chantilly lace, fashioned with a basque bodice, long sleeves and saorina neckline trimmed with appliques of hand-clipped lace and embroidered with seed pearls and sequins. The bouffant skirt with over skirt edged with lace had a lowered back bow. She wore a tiered silk illusion veil held by a crown of pearls and carried a bouquet of white and red roses.

Mrs. Charles Dennis, Winona, was matron of honor; Miss Lois J. Sebo, sister of the bride, and Miss Jean Dennis, were bridesmaids. They wore street-length sheath frocks of champagne color satin styled with bateau neckline, elbow-length sleeves and bell shaped skirts. Their matching pillbox hats held face veils and they carried colonial bouquets of white and brown chrysanthemums.

CHARLES DENNIS was his brother's best man; Edward Cada and Harlan Sebo, brother of the bride, were groomsmen and Norman Sebo, a brother of the bride, and Ellsworth Dennis Jr., were ushers.

A wedding breakfast was served at the Steak Shop and a reception and dinner for 350 guests at the Winona Athletic Club. The Misses Janet Aylsworth, Marilyn Johnson, Diane Dunning, Donna Sebo, JoAnn Johnson, Ruth Fiers, Cheryl Papenfuss, Cheryl Allen and the Misses Roger Siuda, Chicago, sister of the bride, James Papenfuss, Harvey Allen, Edward Strupp, John Libsch and Elva Erdman assisted at the reception.

The bride, a graduate of Winona Senior High School, is employed at Nash's, Inc. The bridegroom attended Cotter High School and is employed by Thern Machine Co. The couple is at home at 1054 1/2 W. Broadway.

JOINT MEETING — RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special) — The American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary will meet Monday at 8 p.m. Hostesses will be Mrs. Darrell Erickson, Mrs. Adeline Engrav and Mrs. Bud Nesheim.

Articles for Vets Hospital Put on Display

LA CRESCENT, Minn. (Special)—Citizens Leidel Unit 585, American Legion, Auxiliary, saw a display of articles to be sent to the Veterans Hospital gift shop, Minneapolis, at their Tuesday meeting. The gifts were valued at $50 and a cash donation of $30 will also be sent.

Donations were sent to the following: Dollar Bill Shower, $10; Department Presidents project, $5; Sauk Center School for Girls, $5; Retarded Childrens Fund, $25; Little Red Stocking Drive, $5; Christmas Seals, $3.

IT WAS decided to purchase 50-star American Flags and standards for the five Girl Scout Troops that do not have one. Registration fees for the Troop Leaders and the committee members will be paid by the unit. A request from Mrs. Chester Lachecki that the Auxiliary take part in the girl Scout bake sale to raise money for the annual drive was approved. Unit President Mrs. Charles Gavin said that each member would be contacted for a donation of baked goods. The sale will be held Dec. 1 in the village hall from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., according to Mrs. Bruce Nelson, chairman. Working with her on the committee will be Mrs. Lachecki, Mrs. Roland Fitzpatrick.

It was decided to again contribute clothes to the Indian Missions in Minnesota. Anyone wishing to contribute good clean used clothing is asked to drop them off at the home of Mrs. Edward Wierner-slager or at the Legion clubrooms.

MEMBERS TO bake cookies or candy for the "Cookie Barrel" at the Rochester State Hospital are the Mmes. Chester Lachecki, Roman Panek, Lewis Underhill, Robert Heth, Winston Reider, Joseph Jiraska, Myron Waldow, H. L. Mc Laird, and Mrs. Robert Kies. The cookies are to be wrapped Dec. 12 in the clubrooms.

The annual Christmas party will be held at the December meeting. Members are asked to bring a 50-cent gift for exchange and a 25-cent item to be sent to the Veterans Hospital to be used for tray favors.

Lanesboro Area Services Slated

LANESBORO, Minn. (Special)—North Prairie and Arendahl Lutheran churches, rural Lanesboro and Peterson, have planned a series of four mid-week Advent services which will serve the congregations as Christmas preparation, according to Rev. Percy L. Larson, North Prairie church.

Services will be held the four Wednesday evenings before Christmas, dealing with the general theme, "The Messianic Message." The pastors of the two churches, the Rev. J. W. Asp and Larson, will deliver messages in which they will deal with the background of the meaning of Christ's coming to this world.

Wednesday Rev. Larson will speak on the "Preparation" at Arendahl church. At North Prairie Rev. Asp, Dec. 5, will speak on "Time." Theme for Dec. 12 at Arendahl is "Manner of His Coming," and on Dec. 19 at North Prairie, "Meaning of His Coming."

Each service will begin at 8 p.m. There will be special music at each service and singing of Christmas carols at each service. The public is invited.

Japanese Student To Speak Here

Thomas Tanemori, a Japanese who was living in Hiroshima when the atomic bomb destroyed his home, parents and grandparents, will be speaker at the area Evangelical Free Church youth rally banquet at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Hotel Winona. Tanemori is attending Pillsbury College, Owatonna.

Charles Rozendal, La Crosse, president of the Hiawatha Valley Free Church Youth Fellowship, will be the master of ceremonies. The Groves sisters from Winona Lakeside Church will sing. They will be accompanied by young people from the area's Evangelical Free Churches.

Iowa district president. Women of the church will serve a potluck dinner.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Time was when it took a month for a letter to get from one city to another, and such things as radio and television were unheard of.

Now we don't think in terms of miles — we think in terms of the time it takes to span them, and it doesn't take long to get around the world.

As for communications — well, they're instantaneous, these days.

But for all of that, we seem to find it just as hard to understand one another as we ever did.

Only one form of communication hasn't changed... God's method of communication. He speaks to you through His Church, and through a Bible that has survived the centuries. Go to church this Sunday, every Sunday, and hear His message for yourself.

Blair Area Parsonages Reflect Church History

By MRS. OSCAR HAUGEN
Daily News Correspondent

BLAIR, Wis. (Special) — This area is noted for the number of parsonages, including three within a half-mile of each other, that now are farm residences.

The house now occupied by the Arnold Anderson family, the original Trempealeau parsonage, has seen pastors come and go. It is in Town of Springfield near the Trempealeau-Jackson County line, about four miles east of Blair.

On the spacious lawn there is a large pine tree which is said to have been planted by a former pastor at Trempealeau Valley Church. It is a famous landmark and the present owners have been requested not to cut it down. The church is less than half a mile from the farm. The residence, well preserved, has 10 rooms, six of which are bedrooms.

NORWEGIAN Lutherans came to Trempealeau Valley in 1854. Pious folk, each one was in possession of a Bible when he embarked for America. Laymen conducted devotions on the sailing vessel if there was no pastor on board.

During the summer of 1856, services were conducted in homes. The Rev. H. A. Stub, La Crosse, was the first Lutheran pastor to visit the settlers. In 1857 Trempealeau Valley congregation was organized as part of a parish including also Pigeon Creek, Black River Falls, French Creek, Tamarack, North and South Beaver Creek. When the Rev. Ole Waldebrand became first resident pastor, Beaver Creek and Trempealeau Valley became a separate parish. Trempealeau Valley Church was built in 1858 and is the mother church of all Lutheran congregations in the area.

BEFORE THE church was built, services were held in a barn built by Syver Johnson, located about three miles east of Blair on Highway 95.

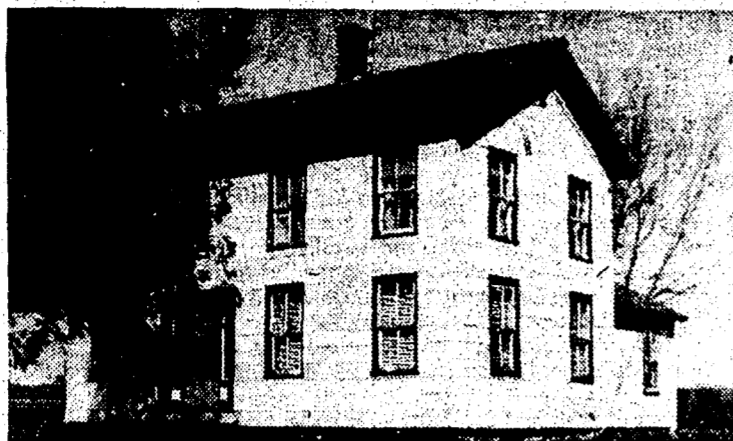

The congregation was known as the Norwegian Evangelical Synod. Blair people belonged to Trempealeau Valley from 1857 to 1879; then they organized a congregation of their own. The same pastor served the two churches until 1889 when there was a split in the general synod of the Norwegian Lutheran Church.

Of the two subsequent groups, the United Lutherans continued to worship in the Trempealeau Valley building as the majority favored this organization. Rev. Ole Waldebrand continued as pastor.

The other group, known as the Synod Lutherans, was denied temporarily the use of the church and parsonage. Pastor B. Noyde conducted services in homes and schools until permission was granted to use the church.

PASTOR HOVDE purchased what is now the Slette Poultry Farm, owned by Oswald Slette. Blair. He lived on the farm until 1893.

The Rev. and Mrs. S. S. Urberg, parents of the Rev. K. M. Urberg, pastor of First Lutheran Blair, came to the area in 1893 and lived on the parsonage farm several years.

FORMER PARSONAGE . . . This is the original Trempealeau Valley Lutheran parsonage, near Blair, now occupied by the Arnold Anderson family. (Mrs. Haugen photo)

When moving to Blair the family first occupied the present John Ellison residence which was moved to its present location to make way for the present First Lutheran parsonage.

The late Dr. Sofus Urberg and Mrs. Chester (Agnes Urberg) Anderson, Belgrade, Minn., were born on the Slette farm. The Rev. S. S. Urberg died in 1930. His son succeeded him.

IN 1917 THE Synod and United Lutheran churches reunited. The two Blair congregations which had been organized, though again belonging to the same group, continued to worship as separate congregations, each with its own pastor. The names were changed to First Lutheran and Zion Lutheran churches.

One group that withdrew from Trempealeau Valley in 1870, organized what was called the Conference and existed until 1890 when it joined the Anti-Missourians to form the Norwegian Evangelical congregation of Blair, later known as Zion Lutheran Church. The Rev. E. E. Olson, pastor since 1954, recently resigned to accept a pastorate elsewhere.

Serving Trempealeau Valley church is the Rev. W. H. Winkler. Other congregations in the parish are Taylor, where the parsonage has been located many years and Upper Beaver Creek. Rev. Winkler is the 23rd pastor to serve the Trempealeau Valley area.

ANOTHER farm which has served as a home for another pastor and his family is that of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnson. The Rev. and Mrs. D. T. Borgen were owners of the farm while Pastor Borgen served a branch of area Lutherans known as the Haugeans, organized in 1869.

The Rev. Luther Borgen, who served Zion Lutheran parish several years, was a son of the Rev. D. L. Borgens.

FRENCH CREEK SPEAKER
ETTRICK, Wis. (Special) — The Rev. J. N. Lund, La Crosse, will be guest speaker at French Creek Lutheran Church Sunday at a mission service. Dinner will be served at noon.

Scout Charters Given at Rushford Church Program

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special) — Charters for Boy Scout, Cub and Explorer units sponsored by the Rushford Lutheran Men's Club were received at a charter night program Monday at Rushford Lutheran Church.

Lloyd Knutson, Rochester, assistant executive of the Gamehaven Boy Scout Council, presented the charters to James Engrav, men's club institutional representative.

DURING the business meeting held in conjunction with the Charter Night program Herbert Thompson was elected club president for 1963. He and other officers will be installed during the Christmas party Dec. 17.

Other officers for 1963 are: Edgar Johnson, vice president; Henry Vitte, secretary; Edward Volkman, treasurer; and D. T. Rolfe, son and Stanley Veir, members of the LEAF committee.

Special commendation was made for club's sponsorship of a troop for 25 consecutive years and banners were presented units for prompt registration and a perfect record of Boys Life subscriptions.

Registration cards were presented to Cubmaster Clayton Roelofs and the pack committee. Stanley Jorde is chairman, assisted by James Anderson, Herbert Thompson, Wallace Himle and Wilton Peterson. Mrs. Earl Johnson, Mrs. Winton Christianson, Mrs. Clinton Hall and Mrs. Robert Hanson are den mothers.

KERMIT HOLGER is serving as Scoutmaster for the second year and is assisted by Carrol Evenson. Registration cards were received by Earl Bunke, chairman of the troop committee, and his assistants, Clarence Senst, Gordon Hatfield, Norman Ebner, Al Froiland Jr., Dr. Harvey Post and George Fegre.

James Suchmel is adviser to the Explorer post and is assisted by David Julrud, Donald Woxland, chairman, and Otto Julrud, Eddie Luetchenber and Conrad Holthe are on the committee.

Other adult leaders are Earl Johnson, neighborhood commissioner, and Rocky Carlson and Nels Jacobson, assistant district commissioners.

Men's Club President Earl Johnson presided at Monday's meeting. Knutson, who told of his experiences as Scout camp director, was speaker.

DR. H. R. SCHMIDT reported for the fish supper committee. George Highum announced that the club would sponsor the Jan. 10 visit of the Red Cross bloodmobile in Rushford.

Members of the program committee were Raye Aakre, chairman, Earl Johnson, Elvin Humble, Stanley Veir, Cyrus Larson, George Highum, Conrad Holthe and Basil Brotzman.

NEW GOWNS AT BLAIR
BLAIR, Wis. (Special) — The new gowns of the Zion Lutheran Church's junior choir were worn for the first time Sunday when the choir sang under the direction of Mrs. E. E. Olson. The new gowns were purchased by gifts and memorials from individuals.

COLLECTION AT RUSHFORD
RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special) — Rushford Lutheran congregation members were urged to have clothing for the Lutheran World Relief Drive at the church parlor by tonight. Good, used, clean clothing, in cardboard boxes, is needed. Shoes should be tied together.

Library Reports At Lanesboro

LANESBORO, Minn. (Special) — Circulation at Lanesboro Public Library dropped 72 this year from last, according to a report at the annual meeting of the library association Monday afternoon.

A total of 2,850 books was loaned, which included 1,507 from the juvenile section.

During the year, the library board purchased 143 books and six subscriptions. Nine books were donated.

Purchases totaled $593.25, which included $133 for an encyclopedia. Members of the library board purchased a bulletin board for the reading room as their memorial gift for the late Miss Minnie Quarrud, who was librarian many years.

All officers were re-elected, including Mrs. Paul Gardner, chairman; Miss Frieda Schluter, first vice chairman; Mrs. C. W. Hanson, second vice chairman, and Mrs. Maynard Ask, secretary-treasurer. Other members are Meses. Karl Doffing, John Westrup, A. W. Highum, Walter Ode and Theodore Bell Jr., and Miss Frances Williams.

Resignations were accepted from Meses. John Clay and Mabel Gulbrandsen, leaving two vacancies which have not been filled. Mrs. Edward Walsh is librarian.

Building Opens At University

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — More of the University of Minnesota will expand to the west bank of the Mississippi River Tuesday, when the first of 170 faculty members take office space in the 14-story social sciences tower.

Nine departments of the social sciences will be transferred from Ford Hall on the main campus to the new quarters, which make up one of three new structures authorized in a $6.5 million appropriation by the 1959 legislature. In September, a four-story classroom building opened. A 12-story school of Business Administration tower is scheduled to open next year.

OFFICERS ELECTED

BLAIR, Wis. (Special) — Officers have been elected by the Trempealeau Valley Church Women. They are Mrs. Leland Hedberg, president; Mrs. Arnold Anderson, vice president; Mrs. Irvin Galsdal, secretary; Mrs. Tilman Johnson, treasurer; Mrs. Richard Christinger, secretary of stewardship and Mrs. Clarence Elland, secretary of education. They will be installed at the December meeting.

Judge Grants Two Divorces

Two divorces were granted by Judge Leo F. Murphy in District Court here Wednesday.

The actions were brought by Mrs. Susan G. Wick, 20, Lamolite, against Emmett O. Wick, 25, and by Mrs. Lucille M. Ehmcke, 37, 227 E. 4th St., against G. O. Ehmcke, 41, both on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment.

P. S. Johnson represented both plaintiffs and each case went by default when there was no appearance by the defendant.

The Wicks were married at Dakota July 2, 1960, and have no children. Mrs. Wick and her mother, Mrs. Phyllis Beach, Lamolite, were witnesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Ehmcke were married Sept. 4, 1947, and have two children. Mrs. Ehmcke, who was granted custody of the children, and her father, Mike Feehan, 451 E. King St., testified.

Two Injured in Crash at Dover

DOVER, Minn. — A two-car accident on CSAH 9 and 10 three miles north of Dover at 10 a.m. Wednesday resulted in injuries to two persons.

Miss Lila Syverson, Rochester, who received a head injury and cuts, and Edward Law, 37, Kellogg, a bump on the head, were reported in fair condition at St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester, after the intersection collision. It was expected Law would be released soon.

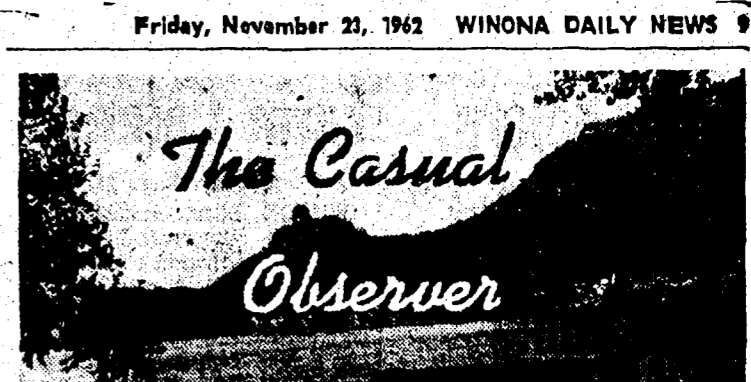

According to the Olmsted County sheriff, Miss Syverson was driving east on No. 9 and Law was going south on No. 10.

Incumbents File in Stockton Election

STOCKTON, Minn. (Special) — Only incumbents filed for the Dec. 4 election here.

They are: Allen Mueller, trustee for three years, and Arthur Ziebell, assessor; Mrs. Ray (Ann) Lafky, justice, and Alvin Burfield, clerk, all for two years. Anthony Lchell is constable.

Voting will be from 1:30 to 8, with the annual meeting following. At a recent meeting, the board voted to bring up the matter of installing a newer type of street lights at the annual meeting.

By GRETCHEN L. LAMBERTON

NEW YORK, N. Y. — In addition to my favorite Museum of Modern Art I've been to the famed Frank Lloyd Wright-designed Guggenheim Museum with its fine loan exhibit of sculpture and to several smaller art galleries.

The Knoedler Gallery, always outstanding, had an exhibit of modern painters including some weird ones by Salvador Dali. I confess the only names I recognized were Bellows, Hassam and Kunyoshi, who was a teacher of our Winona art instructor Ed Korpela.

This week the Robert Lehmans are opening up their great house and for the first time are showing their fabulous private collection of medieval and Renaissance paintings, some Rembrandts, Rubens, Velasquez, Gauguins, etc. The paintings are shown only from 9 to midnight, and it will cost $50 to enter. The proceeds go to the Institute of Fine Arts.

Last week the Parke-Bernet Galleries held an auction of the incredible jewels of the late Mrs. Bonifils Stanton. The biggest diamond pendant "The Idols Eye," with one 70.2 carat diamond and a number of 12-carat diamonds was expected to go for well over $500,000. However, a Chicago gem dealer, through a bit of smart dealing (which I'll write about some time) got it for $350,000. The entire jewel sale brought in almost 2 million dollars.

While we're on the subject of fabulous luxuries, the other day a college friend and I went up to the second floor of Tiffany's to visit with a young nephew of hers who is taking a course of apprenticeship there to prepare him for running his own recently inherited fine jewelry store. He showed us a solid gold jewel-handled putter, the twin of the one that was presented to Dwight Eisenhower. No one has yet tried to buy this one but if they do it will set them back some $2,000. The young man also showed us many solid gold table ornaments like small gold frogs ($700) and woven gold wire hot-roll baskets ($1,000). He told us how one noon when he was out to lunch he missed a $20,000 sale of gold plate — an entire gold dinner set. He felt pretty sad about it until Tiffany's discovered that the woman who ordered it was the wife of the Wall Street financier who had just fled to Brazil with his company's assets, and they canceled the order.

A few notes: For several years Times Square has had a colossal sign of a man smoking and blowing out real smoke rings. It was a real traffic-stopper. Now they have another huge and intriguing sign showing a steam iron. When a giant hand starts to use the iron it hisses loudly and gives out great clouds of steam.

A friend of mine went to the memorial service for Mrs. Roosevelt up at the vast Cathedral of St. John the Divine. Knowing there would be a crowd she went three hours early only to find the church packed and crowds in the street. She heard Adlai Stevenson's superb short eulogy over radio. Mrs. Roosevelt was probably the most deeply loved person that ever lived in New York.

The New York theatrical season is supposed to be mediocre but I saw two quite extraordinary ones. "The Affair," with almost no action in it, is an absorbing unravelling of how British justice was achieved for a very disagreeable character. "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" was a remarkable play, shocking, unpleasant, hilariously funny and very sad. Very disturbing, and with a superb performance by actress Uta Hagen.

Hog Cholera Unusual, But Devastating

LEWISTON, Minn.—“Hog cholera isn't the most pressing disease problem in Minnesota, but it's still a potential danger. When it does hit, it's devastating and it can put a producer out of business in two weeks,” says Winona County Agent Oliver Strand.

“Here's the extent of cholera in the state now: Between January and October of this year 189 cases were reported and studied in some detail,” he continued.

“IN THESE 189 cases some 18,000 pigs were involved and more than 4,500 died. Total estimated loss, based on replacement cost was about $115,000.

“In relation to the state's overall hog industry, these losses may seem small, but as pointed out by Raymond B. Solac, extension veterinarian at the University of Minnesota, it's clear that cholera is still with us. The reported cases were distributed through the hog growing regions, and weren't concentrated in any one area.

“Another point is that mere existence of hog cholera in the U.S. may be one reason why our pork is kept out of the European Common Market. Hog cholera is most commonly an acute virus disease. Hogs die 10 to 20 days after exposure,” said Strand.

“NOT ALL hogs become sick when cholera first enters a herd. At first, only a few refuse to feed with the herd; sick pigs stay in the nest. When driven out, they may arch their backs, appear cold and shiver. As the disease progresses sick hogs become drawn or tucked up in the flank and have a weak, staggering gait, most noticeable in the hind legs.

“Hogs may cough, particularly when disturbed. Eyes may be inflamed and lids may stick together. Other symptoms include constipation in early stages followed by diarrhea. Red or purplish blotches may appear on ears, belly and inner surface of the legs when the disease reaches a peak.

“Veterinarians don't see all sick hogs and not all cases are reported. So better call a veterinarian whenever hogs are sick and seem weak and depressed. You can avoid heavy losses only by prompt immunization when the disease is caught in early stages.

“IN ADDITION to a complete history and study of symptoms, a veterinarian may use post-mortem findings and laboratory findings to diagnose the disease. Laboratory tests are especially helpful with chronic or less severe types of cholera, which are more difficult to diagnose.

“Minnesota regulations require that veterinarians who diagnose hog cholera report such cases immediately to the state Live Stock Sanitary Board. They must indicate the owner's name and address, the number of hogs affected, and how many died.”

Holstein in Herd At Cochrane Farm Exceeds 150,000

COCHRANE, Wis. — Rosenholm Burke Model 297584 (GP) owned by J. J. Rosenholm, Cochrane, is one of the three registered Holstein cows in Wisconsin that recently topped 150,000 pounds of milk in career production.

She has produced 151,052 pounds of milk and 5,668 pounds of butterfat. Her production to date averages out at more than 36 pounds of milk for every day since she reached two years of age. This also includes days dry.

To date more than 1,700 officially tested registered Holsteins have topped the 150,000-pound mark, which is approximately six times the lifetime output of the average dairy cow. The official testing program was by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, Brattleboro, Vt.

New official production records by another of Rosenholm's cows and one owned by Lloyd A. Haigh, ALMA, also were released by the Holstein organization.

Elmoka Topsy Dictator 2914371, Rosenholm's 13-year-old, produced 19,175 pounds of milk and 681 pounds of butterfat in 365 days. Honeyvale Buttons Homestead 4494488, a 3-year-old owned by Haigh, produced 14,801 pounds of milk and 613 pounds of butterfat in 365 days.

Buffalo Homemakers To Hold Holiday Fair
MONDOVI, Wis. (Special) — The Buffalo County Homemakers will sponsor a holiday fair Dec. 1 at the K of P Hall here.

Demonstrations and interesting displays will be featured along with the sale of fancy work, candy, miscellaneous items and food. Cookies and coffee will be served. Selling starts at 1 p.m. and the proceeds of the fair are to be used for scholarship purposes. The public is invited.

Sausage Feed Set By Houston NFO
CALEDONIA, Minn. — Houston County NFO members are sponsoring a sausage feed at St. Mary's Auditorium here at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Sausage, pancakes, syrup, butter and applesauce will be served. Erhard Pfingsten, national head of the meat grangers board, will be speaker. Pfingsten is a diversified farmer from Seargent Bluff Iowa, and is acclaimed as one of the best NFO speakers, according to Leander Loeffler, Houston County president.

Musical entertainment and the giving of cash prizes are also planned. All farmers, businessmen and friends are invited.

Furniture Meetings Set Dec. 3 and 4 at Whitehall, Centerville
WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Trempealeau County homemakers are reminded by Mrs. Eileen Layton, county home agent, that meetings on refinishing furniture will be held at the courthouse here Dec. 3 and at Centerville Town Hall Dec. 4 both to begin at 1:15 p.m. Those attending are asked to bring sanded furniture and the material to use for the refinishing.

Busy Week For 4-H'ers In Chicago

By WILLIAM SHAFFER

CHICAGO (AP) — Every year 1,500 smart, dedicated, clean-cut 4-H'ers come to Chicago for the 4-H Congress.

Each is the best in his state in his particular specialty.

The young boys and girls, members of 4-H clubs throughout the nation and Puerto Rico, start a whirlwind of activities Sunday and continue the fast pace until next Friday.

They attend four breakfasts, six general and 23 special dinner or supper sessions, one tea, one party, one church service, one concert, a dress review, a dance, a box supper, a horse show, a banquet, 32 press conferences, three tours. They hear five addresses. The 300 leaders who accompany them hear five more speeches on leadership and club procedures.

“They don't stand around and gawk at tall buildings and brush hayseed from their hair,” a national 4-H service committee spokesman said. “More and more rural young Americans are as cosmopolitan as their city and suburban cousins. In fact, more than 20 percent of the delegates are city and suburban kids.”

To keep the 1,500 delegates busy the week following Thanksgiving every year takes much preparation. That's the national committee's job.

Most of the visiting club members are guests of industry. Trips to the congress for state winners are sponsored in most categories — an equipment manufacturer sponsors dairy winners; a dress pattern firm, dress making; a container company, canning; a tire company, auto care and safety, and so on.

The same firms also donate college scholarships to national winners.

The national committee has to supervise the judging of all the competition. It does so via close liaison with state committees.

The 41-year-old 4-H committee is backed by the cooperative extension service of the land-grant colleges and universities and by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Some 2.3 million American youngsters aged 10 to 21 belong to 95,000 clubs. They are guided by almost a half million volunteer adult and junior leaders.

The 50-man National 4-H Service Committee coordinates the year-round club activities. It is a non-profit corporation which subscribes private funds in behalf of the 4-H program.

The full-time staff works for committee director Norman Minard. Funds for the $1.5 million annual budget he spends come from donations, sales of 4-H supplies and revenues from the 4-H magazine.

The big push in the downtown Chicago offices of the committee is the post-Thanksgiving congress, running in conjunction with the international livestock exhibition.

State winners submit elaborate reports on themselves and their projects. A panel of extension agents names the national winners, the scholarship recipients.

The four H's stand for head, heart, hands and health. A fifth H stands for hard work, a cliché goes.

To win a trip to the congress or a scholarship as a national winner takes spirit, know-how and a modicum of luck. But mostly it takes effort.

Four 4-H Clubs In Play Contest In Wabasha Co.

LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special) — The Mt. Pleasant Pheasants 4-H Club, Hilltop Hotshots 4-H Club, Hide Park Hi-Lites 4-H Club and Pepin Hill 4-H Club will have semi-finals in the Wabasha County 4-H one-act play contest Saturday at Lake City High School at 8 p.m. Tickets are available from 4-H club members and also at the door.

Breeders Meeting Thursday Night at Ridgeway Church

Dairy farmers and their wives from Winona County will meet at Ridgeway Methodist Church Thursday at 8 p.m. for the annual county meeting of Tri-State Breeders Co-operative, according to Leon Henderson delegate to the cooperative.

A report on the frozen semen program to be started will be made. Members also will hear a report on the past year's business and from the sire procurement department.

Members will elect a director and eight delegates from Winona County. The program will start with a movie. Free lunch will be served.

Around the Pitchfork

Simple two-variety crosses and blends of alfalfa are no better than the parent varieties, according to the University of Wisconsin.

Trials of 15 crosses and 11 mixtures of alfalfa failed to show any yield advantage for the two-variety crosses or blends over the best variety involved in each cross or blend.

Blends were merely mixtures of seed of two varieties — Vernal seed mixed 50-50 with Ranger seed, for example. Thus, a blended stand in this trial consisted of plants of the two varieties — no crossing was involved.

Nine varieties were involved in the test in various crosses and mixtures. They were Culver, Vernal, Rambler, Ranger, Narragansett, Williamsburg, Buffalo, Atlantic and Lahontan.

While Minnesota soybeans so far haven't devastated by any single disease, they do suffer from a multitude of chronic disorders that hurt yield and quality.

The answer to these diseases so far lies in research and development of resistant varieties, according to B. W. Kennedy, University of Minnesota plant pathologist.

Soybean production in Minnesota has multiplied 85 times since 1942 and with this increase the diseases have increased too, he said.

Two of the worst problems — soybean cyst nematodes and phytophthora root rot — have so far failed to invade Minnesota. Phytophthora was seen for the first time in Iowa this year, but fortunately, soy bean varieties resistant to that disease are available and can be incorporated into Minnesota varieties.

A group of molds were causing stalk and ear rot in corn this fall. The molds are called gibberella.

These molds tend to be reddish colored and can be found on infected corn grains or on infected silage, especially near the top or leaks in the sides of a silo.

University of Wisconsin veterinary scientist, Roy Nichols, warns that if this infected corn is fed to gilts, some or even all of them could develop troubles that could interrupt an otherwise good breeding program. He recommends not feeding the infected corn. If it is fed, it should be diluted with non-infected corn.

Fillmore Winner Does More Work On Terracing

PRESTON, Minn. — Orrin Moran, who was 1962 winner of the conservation award in Fillmore Soil & Water Conservation District, has completed construction of nearly five miles of field terraces this fall.

Most of these are of parallel construction and Moran invites neighbors and anyone interested to inspect this work, according to Arnold G. Askre, SCS work unit conservator.

The field is located along the blacktop road between Highland state and Bratsberg and is convenient for anyone to look over the layout.

Moran also has another terraced field that was cropped this year and 150 acres of contour strip cropping.

Other construction jobs completed this fall are on farms owned by: Theron Glenna, Norway Township, and Arndt Hegland, Holt Township, stock watering ponds; Ernest Austin, Preston Township, wildlife development pond; Art & James Simonson, Preston Township, detention dam; Glenn Brink, Amherst Township, 25 acres terracing, and Fred Dennstedt, Harmony Township, gully control block and concrete structure.

ACP program cost shared 70 percent on terracing, 50 percent on wildlife pond and 80 percent on other structures.

Houston Co. 4-H Radio Contest Set

CALEDONIA, Minn. — “How should 4-H Prepare Me for Responsible Citizenship” is the topic for the 1962-63 4-H radio speaking contest.

Four-H members in Houston County are encouraged to start preparing their 5 to 7-minute radio talks which will be presented Jan. 26 at Caledonia City Hall.

Four-H'ers, 14 years or older, are eligible to compete. These talks will be given as if they were given on radio, not before an audience, as such.

Contest pamphlets and materials concerning the contest will be made available to each 4-H club in Houston County.

Caledonia Man Named By New SCS District

CALEDONIA, Minn. — David Pederson, employed by the Soil Conservation Service here, begins his duties at Glencoe Sunday.

After being here three years, he has been selected to serve the McLeod County soil conservation district, recently organized. Pederson will be its first SCS employee.

Dairy Feeding Clinic Slated For Lewiston

LEWISTON, Minn. — All Winona County dairymen interested in learning more about profitable dairy feeding practices should attend a dairy feeding clinic at 1 p.m. Wednesday at the Lewiston village hall, according to County Agent Oliver Strand.

Ralph Wayne, extension dairy specialist from University of Minnesota farm will lead a discussion on determining dairy rations, costs and returns of different dairy feeding programs and use of the DHIA record to help in dairy feeding.

Ten different samples of hay and silage that have been tested for protein and total digestible nutrients will be used. Farmers and DHIA testers will have an opportunity to evaluate the hay and silage and compare their “guess” on protein and total nutrient value with the actual test results.

“Proper attention to dairy feeding is of the utmost importance if a dairyman is to stay in business with a profit. Many dairymen are upgrading their milk production potential through improved breeding practices and then failing to feed for high production, he said.

“Old feeding standards which feed according to production rather than for production tend to overfeed the low producers and underfeed the high producers.”

Lunch will be served by the Lewiston Businessmen Association.

Prizes Awarded At Forage Show; Ration Discussed

Alton Loppnow, St. Charles, won the first prize for the closest estimate of protein in three displayed samples at the annual Winona Vo-ag Forage Show.

Approximately 25 persons attended the forage show at Lincoln School gymnasium Tuesday night.

Eight samples of hay and 35 samples of silage were displayed with protein, moisture, fiber and vitamin A analysis results shown. The quality range was quite significant with crude protein variations from 9.5 to 18.9 percent in the eight hay samples tested, said John Januschka, adult vo-ag instructor.

Loppnow's estimate was followed, in order, by estimates of Michael Thill, Gary Speltz, Henry Lacher and Norman Luehmann. Prizes were $5, $4, $3, $2, and $1 respectively. The Chamber of Commerce Agricultural Committee furnished the prize money and the lunch which followed the meeting.

Januschka explained the value of forage testing and the interpretation of the results in ration balancing. He said that testing is the only real method that a farmer has to determine the quality of his roughage and feed.

Gordon Ferguson, area vo-ag coordinator, showed that a ration of high quality hay silage and corn and cob meal would sufficiently meet the requirements of a 1,200-pound cow producing 10 pounds of 3.1 percent butterfat. Using the same quantity of poorer quality hay, he explained, the farmer would have to supplement the ration with two pounds of a commercial protein concentrate.

Harry Pearce, high school agriculture instructor, explained the importance of early cutting for quality forage production.

Houston Herd Leads County DHIA Reports

CALEDONIA, Minn. — Lester Beckman, Houston, Unit 1, topped the October DHIA reports for Houston County. His 24 head of registered Holstein dairy cows averaged 48.9 pounds of butterfat.

Roland Bolduan, Caledonia, Unit 2, had the top cow in the county. His grade Holstein, "19," produced 98 pounds of butterfat during the month. His herd of 19 grade Holsteins was high in Unit 2. They averaged 43.1 pounds of butterfat.

Breeders Meeting Set Thursday at Ridgeway Church

RIDGEWAY, Minn. — Winona County members and their wives will meet at the Methodist Church here Thursday at 8 p.m. for the annual county meeting of Tri-State Breeders Cooperative, according to County Agent Oliver Strand.

In the business session members will elect a director and eight delegates from the county and will transact the year's business.

Co. Homemakers To Make Holiday Gifts at Workshop

LEWISTON, Minn. — Making holiday gifts for giving or just for fun.

That's what the Winona County homemakers will be doing Monday, Tuesday and Thursday at Lake Park Lodge, Winona, and at St. Charles and Lewiston city halls. All meetings are at 1:30 p.m. The Home Council has chosen three craft ideas which will be economical and easy to make. Homemakers may use the patterns as a basis for their own originality, according to Mrs. Virginia Hohmann, home agent.

ness of the cooperative. The program will open with a movie and will be followed by a free lunch. Door prizes will be drawn. All farmers interested in artificial breeding were invited to attend the meeting.

Let's Get Growing

By A. F. SHIRA

Value of Compost

In our previous article we mentioned the fact that compost was the best source of humus available to the gardener for the improvement of soils. Let us talk about this further.

Soil is generally classed as an inert mixture of sand, stones, clay, silt and organic matter in various stages of decay. However, it should be thought of as more than this, since good garden soil may be considered to be living as well. In addition to the inert elements, the soil, also, contains fungi, bacteria and microscopic animals. Many of these are beneficial, but some may be harmful to growing plants. Therefore, many physical chemical and biological changes are taking place continually in the soil unattended by the gardener.

Without ample supplies of organic matter in the soil beneficial bacteria and fungi cannot continue to thrive and their presence in large numbers is necessary. Compost is ideal for supplying this need.

Now, what is compost? In short it is the end product, or humus, that results from the action of bacteria and chemicals on the dead remains of plants and animals. When these materials are brought together with soil in considerable bulk, it is called a compost "heap," or "pile."

The transformation of the raw organic remains into rich humus by the bacteria, fungi and other soil organisms is a biological process. These organisms are not able to manufacture their own energy foods such as starches and sugars and draw on the raw organic matter for them. In doing this they use up large quantities of nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium as well as other elements. In order to supply this need, it is desirable to add an occasional application of a complete fertilizer to the compost pile for best results.

The soil organisms are not active at low temperatures and do their best work at temperatures above 65 degrees. They start work at first on the starches and sugars which are required for energy and later attack the proteins of the organic remains which they need for cell growth.

When properly seasoned, compost is a rich, loose, friable substance that supplies both humus and food that is readily available to plants. When mixed with soil the porosity of the latter is increased, thus permitting the free passage of water and air through it. Well-rotted manure is a good source of humus, but it is not always available.

Compost not only adds to the fertility of the soil, but as mentioned above, it greatly improves the texture. It will serve to increase the water holding properties of sandy soils and will lighten those composed of heavy clay.

ONE OF THE chief advantages of compost is that it supplies the gardener with a cheap and convenient organic plant food made right in the back yard. It, also, makes a wonderful ingredient for potting soils.

While the making and operation of a compost pile requires some extra work, one of the worthwhile objectives attained is the economical utilization of refuse and waste materials from the kitchen, yard and garden. All organic wastes are grist to its mill such as weeds, leaves, corn stalks, vegetable refuse and garbage.

Not all gardeners operate compost piles, but those who do consider the homemade humus one of the most valuable adjuncts of gardening. However, the number of gardeners who compost waste materials is increasing as the value of the finished product is becoming more evident.

Suggestions on the building of a compost pile will be taken up in a later article.

Other meetings in the series will be held Dec. 5, Dec. 12, Jan. 23, Jan. 30 and Feb. 6. A workshop in the agriculture shop will be held Dec. 27 and 28.

A general discussion of the management of the farm will be featured at the first meeting. Among the questions to be discussed will be: How can you tell which enterprise is making money and which is not? How does your business compare with others similar to yours? What is the Minnesota Farm Management Association? How can I use better farm management to increase my farm earnings?

"One of the good features of these classes is that it gives you a chance to discuss your problems with other farmers who have the same problems. Get a carload together from your area and plan to attend all of the meetings," said James Schroeder, agriculture instructor, who is in charge of the meetings.

Parallel Terraces Gain Favor

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Soil conservation is taking on a new look in some of the corn-grain areas of Minnesota.

Gaining in popularity are parallel terraces, which require less land in hay than contour strips while still saving the soil. They also avoid the annoying "point rows" that often result with standard terraces, and can be custom made for four-row equipment.

Contour strip cropping requires half the strips in hay or pasture, but profitable crops for dairymen, and is a common practice in dairy areas. But where hay is less important, contour strips are not always appropriate.

Parallel terraces are discussed in the current issue of Minnesota Farm and Home Science, an agricultural experiment station publication, by C. L. Larson and R. E. Machmeier, agricultural engineers at the University of Minnesota.

How are parallel terraces different? Unlike standard terraces, they are the same distance apart at all or nearly all points. That feature reduces or nearly eliminates the point rows that often result with variable spacing between adjacent standard terraces.

A parallel terrace system uses a V-shaped cross section, except for a rounded channel bottom and a rounded ridge, both about three feet wide. Channel and ridge slopes are built to match the width of four-row equipment.

Standard terraces have a flat bottom, six feet wide, with a ridge height of seven-tenths to 1.2 feet, depending on terrace length and spacing.

Ridge height for parallel terraces must be a few inches greater than a standard terrace of the same length, since the V-shaped channel for parallel terracing has a narrower bottom width. However, parallel terraces are usually shorter and ridges are seldom over a foot high.

Since a terrace system is a permanent improvement, cost can be amortized over a period of years, the engineers point out. Therefore, annual cost is only a few dollars per acre. Engineering and design is provided by the Soil Conservation Service through the local Soil Conservation District. Terracing also qualifies for cost sharing under the Agricultural Conservation program.

LIVESTOCK LEADERS' SCHOOL

MADISON, Wis. — Sixty local leaders of 4-H clubs throughout the state will meet at the University of Wisconsin Dec. 12-14 for a livestock leaders' school, according to Quin Kolb, livestock specialist at the university.

Lower Credit Costs Predicted

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — American farmers, dogged for several years now by a price-cost squeeze, got some good news here Tuesday. Their credit costs are not likely to go up and may even come down.

This view was expressed by Don H. Bushnell, deputy governor and director of Land Bank Service for the Farm Credit Administration, who was here to address the annual stockholders' meeting of the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis.

Bushnell said: "Barring any unforeseen turn in general economic conditions, interest costs—particularly on long-term money—will not go up in the next five years and might even be less than they are today. This is in contrast to the trend of other farm expenses which is expected to continue upward."

Bushnell heads that part of Farm Credit Administration which supervises nationally 12 farmer-owned federal land banks and their affiliated 773 local associations, through which over 361,000 farmers have over $3 billion in long-term mortgage loans outstanding.

The credit official tied his prediction to general economic conditions because loan funds for the federal land banks are obtained through the sale of their bonds to the investing public. "We feel," Bushnell said, "that the climate for the sale of these bonds will be even more favorable in the years ahead. Traditionally, the land banks reduce interest rates even on outstanding loans when the rates they have to pay on their bonds permit that to be done."

Because farmers are using more credit each year, credit costs are becoming more of a factor and Bushnell believes, regardless of the future direction of interest rates, farmers generally can trim some of these costs by maintaining a balance between their long-term and short-term debts.

He said: "Farmers stand to save on yearly debt charges by keeping their capital debts (as opposed to debt for operating expenses) on a lower-cost, long-term basis."

Teresan Student Places Second In Wool Contest

Miss Jeanne Dotterwick, Winona junior and home economics major at the College of Saint Teresa, placed second in a "Make It With Wool" contest at Northfield, Minn., this week. Miss Dotterwick's entry was a wool suit made in the advanced clothing class.

Miss Jeanne Grieb, freshman from Cleveland, Minn., placed first in the wool dress entries. Miss Grieb is a home economics major.

Overall alternate place was taken by Teresan junior, Miss Kathleen Sheedy, Austin, Minn. Miss Sheedy entered a wool suit which she also made in the advanced clothing class.

Miss Sheedy's award was three lengths of all wool material. Sewing equipment was awarded to Miss Dotterwick and Miss Grieb.

The Teresans are students of Sister M. Michaela, OSF, home economics department. Miss Dotterwick is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dotterwick, 1466 Park Lane, Winona.

Fillmore Co. 4-H Federation Names New Officers

PRESTON, Minn. — Jeanne Buross, Norway Go Getters, was elected president of the Fillmore County 4-H Federation.

The annual federation meeting was held at Preston town hall Nov. 15. Other officers: Roger Schrock, Bristol Builders, vice president; Charlotte McMahon, Root River Rabbits, secretary; Bradley Larson, Newburg Do Belters, treasurer; Marcia King, Summer Sunbeams, reporter, and Mrs. Loren Graskamp, Mrs. Lester Larson, Paul Abrahamson and Robert Miller, adult members.

Lamb Marketing Records Needed

CALEDONIA, Minn. — Wool growers who marketed lambs this fall should keep adequate records of their sales so that they will be able to make proper applications for payment under the wool incentive program, according to William Leary, chairman of the Houston County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

The sales record for lambs sold must include the name of the buyer, his signature, and the number of liveweight lambs sold, plus the description "unshorn." Lamb payments are made only on lambs that have never been shorn to encourage the customary practice of selling lambs with the wool on.

The chairman emphasized that growers should get all their fall sales records together and either keep them in a safe place at home or file them at the ASCS county office. The final date to apply for payments on 1962-63 marketings is next April 30, but an application may be submitted anytime between now and then. The applications cover wool and lamb marketings from April 1, 1962, through March 31, 1963.

Leary said that lamb feeders particularly should keep accurate records which will establish the length of time they have owned lambs on which they apply for payment. Lamb payments are made only on lambs which a producer has owned for 30 days or more, and the amount of payment is based on weight gain of the lambs during the seller's ownership.

Tri-State Breeders To Hold Buffalo Co. Meeting on Tuesday

WAUMANDEE, Wis. — The Buffalo County Tri-State Breeders Cooperative annual meeting will be Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Waumandee-Montana School, two miles north of Waumandee.

Reports on the frozen semen program that will be started soon will be of special interest to members. They will also hear a report on the past year's business, plus information from the sire procurement department.

Members will elect a director and 17 delegates from the county. They also will transact the year's business for the cooperative.

Management Workshops Set In Fillmore

PRESTON, Minn. — How can you change your farm business to meet the challenges of the future?

Does it pay to expand the hog enterprise? Or dairying? And how about part-time farming? What effect will changes in capital, labor and livestock have on your gross and net income?

A series of five Fillmore County farm and home management workshops planned for the near future will help local farm couples answer such questions. The sessions are intended for couples who plan to continue farming and are considering changes.

The theme of the workshops is "Managing Your Future." "The course isn't intended to answer all questions. It will, however, provide some farm and home planning techniques and suggest some decision-making tools that can lead to greater family satisfaction," said County Agent Milton Hoberg.

The result can be an improved standard of living for your family and fulfillment of more of your needs and wants.

An example farm, designed for this area, with a complete set of problems, will be used to illustrate procedures of management decision making.

These farm and home management workshops are being conducted for farm families in 64 Minnesota counties by agricultural extension agents, in cooperation with farm and home management specialists at the University of Minnesota.

Workshops will be held on the area basis.

For further information, or to enroll, stop in or call the extension office.

Blacktopping Work Being Completed on Plainview Streets

PLAINVIEW, Minn. (Special) — Blacktopping of Plainview streets is being completed.

Mabel to Begin Evening Classes

MABEL, Minn. — The first of the annual series of farmers evening classes sponsored by the Mabel Public Schools will be at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the agriculture room.

Other meetings in the series will be held Dec. 5, Dec. 12, Jan. 23, Jan. 30 and Feb. 6. A workshop in the agriculture shop will be held Dec. 27 and 28.

A general discussion of the management of the farm will be featured at the first meeting. Among the questions to be discussed will be: How can you tell which enterprise is making money and which is not? How does your business compare with others similar to yours? What is the Minnesota Farm Management Association? How can I use better farm management to increase my farm earnings?

Minnetonka Club Destroyed by Fire

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—Damage estimated between $150,000 and $200,000 resulted from a fire which destroyed about three-quarters of the Minnetonka Country Club in suburban Excelsior early Thursday.

Cause of the blaze, which broke out in the east wing of the club, has not been determined.

High winds and heavy smoke hampered firemen, who battled the flames nearly two hours after discovery of the blaze by a passerby about 3:15 a.m.

Destroyed was the caddy shop, locker room and a dining area. There were no injuries.

Gilmanton Rites Held for Man Killed in Beating

GILMANTON, Wis. (Special)—Graveside rites for Carl O. Burns, 82, who died after being robbed and then beaten in his Minneapolis apartment, were conducted at Gilmanton Cemetery Monday afternoon.

The Rev. Marcus Graval, Grace Lutheran Church, Eau Claire, read the committal service following funeral services at Smith Funeral Chapel, Eau Claire.

Mr. Burns was found by a son, Vernon, caretaker of the Antlers Hotel, 10 blocks from the Minneapolis loop. His room had been ransacked. The beating occurred Thursday. Mr. Burns died Friday.

Minneapolis police have no suspects in the beating, but they believe robbery was the motive.

Mr. Burns was born in 1880 in nearby Davis Valley, Town of Dover. He was a farmer there until moving to Eau Claire about 1915. He left Eau Claire a year ago to live with his son in Minneapolis.

Survivors include: Two daughters, Mrs. August Kaiser, Eau Claire, and Mrs. Jack Peterson, Rice Lake; two sons, Vernon, Minneapolis, and Teddy, California; one sister, Mrs. Millie Knecht, St. Paul; 20 grandchildren, and 24 great-grandchildren.

Soil, Water Unit Hears Plan for Larger Program
ROCHESTER, Minn.—Soil and water conservationists from Area 8 held their annual meeting at Izaak Walton League cabin here Wednesday.

Arnold Onstad, Spring Grove, president of the Minnesota Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts, told the 50 attending that the SCS had made great steps forward during the past 25 years. He said that basic land and watershed projects have been expanded, but that now was the time to seek a broader goal. That goal, he said, should be a long-range program for total rural development.

Everett Freiheit, Zumbro Falls, was elected area chairman. Others elected were Harold Searles, Byron, vice chairman, and Carlyle Gossard, West Concord, secretary-treasurer.

Onstad announced that the association's national meeting would be at Denver, Colo., Feb. 3-7. A chartered bus will be available for the convention trip.

Ike Leaves Gettysburg For Augusta Visit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is leaving his Gettysburg, Pa., home for a three-week visit to Augusta, Ga. Except for brief trips to New York and Washington, D.C., Eisenhower is expected to spend the entire three weeks in the Augusta area. He will be in Washington Nov. 29 for the National Culture Center dinner for which his wife, Mamie, and the nation's present First Lady, Mrs. John F. Kennedy, are co-chairwomen.

ALMA, Wis.—William Oesau, Town of Nelson farmer whose son, Ronald, 7, was fatally shot while in the woods with his father Oct. 20, said today that Donald Neis, Racine, Wis., is not a friend of the William Oesau family, as reported previously.

Oesau said Neis, formerly of Mondovi, had come to the area with his brother, Edwin Oesau. Oesau says shots were not simultaneous at the time the bullet from the Neis gun entered the child's heart. Oesau said he had shot a squirrel before the incident, and Ronald was spotting more squirrels when he was hit.

The coroner's jury has decided the Neis bullet hit the child accidentally.

Former Vice President John Nance Garner claimed he had more to be thankful for on Thanksgiving Day than almost anyone as he celebrated his 94th birthday on the holiday at Uvalde, Tex. Only one small cloud hung over his celebration. He may be forced to give up cigars.

Warmath: 'We Feel We Will Be Facing No. 1 Team in Nation'

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Two teams with plenty of respect for each other—Minnesota and Wisconsin—clash at Camp Randall Stadium Saturday for one of college football's biggest prizes: The Big Ten Conference championship.

Wisconsin Coach Milt Bruhn, whose Badgers are virtually assured a trip to the Rose Bowl, says the title game "will be the roughest one of the season for us." And Murray Warmath, coach of the Gophers, said: "We'll go to Wisconsin feeling that we face the No. 1 team in the nation."

Wisconsin is ranked third and Minnesota fifth in this week's Associated Press poll of top teams in the nation.

"Past performances and statistics go out the window in this kind of rivalry," said Bruhn. "Anything can happen, no matter what kind of record either team has. This game always boils down to a good neighborhood fight."

Bruhn noted that Minnesota has the nation's best defense against rushing. "Whether it remains the best Saturday remains to be seen."

There was every indication that the Badgers were preparing to take to the air against Minnesota. In the last workout before Thanksgiving, quarterback Ron VanderKelen, who has thrown 145 passes for the Badgers, tossed almost as many in practice session.

In conference play, VanderKelen has made good on 67 of 123 passes for 873 yards. He has added 206 yards in 43 rushes.

Another senior quarterback, Minnesota's Duane Blacka, has completed 57 of 128 passes for 732 yards and seven touchdowns. He has gained 94 yards in 36 carries and scored two touchdowns.

Bruhn says his Badgers will be in their best shape since mid-October if fullback Jim Funnell and guard Jim Schenk are ready. Both are among the team's top defensive players.

Warmath says his team will be in good physical shape "and we'll play the very best game we can."

He said Wisconsin might have an added incentive in being top choice for the Rose Bowl, but Bruhn brushed this aside.

"That works both ways," he said. "He can drum away at that idea as long as they can't go. They can get a lot of extra satisfaction out of beating the team that does."

He added that he couldn't recall going against a team that has scored five shutouts in eight games.

"I'm really glad we have such a balanced attack," he said. "If we can't go by them one way, we may another."

Both teams go into the game with 5-1 conference records.

All the seats for Camp Randall Stadium's listed capacity of 63,435 have been sold out.

The Badgers went through a 30 minute drill Thursday and are scheduled for another brief session today. Minnesota is due to work out after their arrival today.

Reserve guard John Hohman is the only Wisconsin player who will not suit up for the game.

Hawks Triumph; At Harmony Next

Winona High's Winhawks, fresh from a come-from-behind triumph at Kasson-Mantorville, try to make it two straight Saturday night when they invade Harmony for their second game of the infant basketball season.

The Hawks shook off their first-game jitters in time to pull out a 52-43 decision at Kasson-Mantorville.

Winona was behind 19-4 at one point in the second quarter.

said John Kenney, Winhawk coach. "It took us awhile to get on track and after that it was a lot different."

The Hawks were down 6-0 at the outset, trailed 19-7 at the quarter turn and 21-16 at the intermission. They finally passed the Komets at 25-24 and by the third quarter turn were in front 33-27.

Though they led by as many as nine points in the early fourth quarter, the Winhawks had to stave off a late threat to save it. Lee Lampland of K-M, held to seven points in the first three periods, scored 12 in the final eight minutes.

WITH 58 seconds left and Winona ahead by four points, Steve Keller stuffed in a basket and Wulf Krause a field goal and free throw to put the game away.

Krause and Keller wound up as the leading pointmakers. Krause hit for 19, 14 of those in the second half. Keller had 13, 12 in the second half.

The Winhawks were limited to four first half baskets as they missed 15 of 19 attempts from the field while the Komets dropped in 8 of 30.

Kenney attributed a full press defense by K-M to the early game difficulties. "It was the same thing that killed us in the district meet last year," he explained.

WINONA in the second half, rammed in 16 of 30 field goal tries and limited K-M to a pair of baskets in the middle two quarters.

Kenney was pleased with the performances on the boards by his crew. Krause hauled in 18 rebounds, Jim Kasten 6 and John Prigge 7. Kasten's play was promising, he felt, and he contributed eight points.

Pat Boland and Dick Kalbrenner both saw considerable service in relief of Marty Farrell, bothered by a bad ankle, and Keller, as Kenney kept in as much speed as possible.

"I WOULD say the boys played about as I expected, and not really much better than I figured," said Kenney, who isn't making any hotel reservations for March as yet.

The Hawk mentor said he will stick with his starting five Saturday against Harmony where the Winhawks will encounter more height, but probably not as much speed.

MUST KEEP UP WITH ANGELS

Senator Manager Faces Rebuilding

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Selkirk doesn't have to worry about keeping up with the Yankees. As new general manager of the Washington Senators baseball team his biggest problem is keeping up with the Angels—the Los Angeles variety.

Both Los Angeles and Washington started from scratch two years ago when the American League expanded. Los Angeles climbed to third place this past season while the Senators finished last for the second straight year.

It was this comparison more than any other factor that caused the firing of Ed Doherty as general manager.

After signing a flock of young players in 1961, Washington signed only a few this year, almost none in the bonus category. Only two first year players are on the Senator roster to protect them against "the major league draft next week."

Selkirk scheduled a meeting today with Manager Mickey Vernon, Business Manager Joe Burke who was acting general manager after Doherty's departure, and chief scout Jack Sheehan.

Their mission is to determine "what we need most," Selkirk said, and how to go about getting the necessary players.

Warriors Open Cage Play Here Saturday

By AUGIE KARCHER
Daily News Sports Editor

Four lettermen and a transfer student, Mark Dilley, this morning were named to start for Winona State College when the Warriors open their 1962-63 basketball season against Stout State at Memorial Hall.

MAURY WILLS
N.L. 'Most Valuable'

Game time is 8 p.m.

DR. ROBERT Campbell, starting his second year as head coach, nominated Co-captain Arlen Klinger and Dilley for starting guard berths, Dick Papenfuss, his other co-captain, and Bob James at forwards and Lyle Papenfuss at center.

In Campbell's revolving type offense, Lyle Papenfuss, James and Dick Papenfuss all will be moving into the post position.

Those five will average under 6 feet, 2 inches, in height.

Lyle, affectionately known as "Slats", is the tallest at 6-4. James goes 6-3 and Dick Papenfuss and Klinger are 6-2. Dilley's 5-8 brings the average down, but, according to Campbell, brings the "hustle" up.

DILLEY, who hails from Soldiers Grove, Wis., transferred from the University of Wisconsin last season in time to make a big name for himself in baseball. Campbell labels him as the "sparkplug" he needs to make things go.

"Dilley can get the pass and make the pass," he says. "Of course, his size is against him and right now he is not hitting too well."

The Papenfuss brothers need no introduction to Warrior fans. Lyle, now a junior, should provide most of the up-front scoring punch, as well as helping keep the boards clear. They hail from La Crescent, Minn.

Klinger, from Morrisville, Minn., and James, from Trempealeau, Wis., both are capable performers.

ALL 15 not joy in Warriorville on the eve of the opener. Charley Weisbrod, Elgin product, is limping from an infected toe, and freshman Gary Petersen, Kasson-Mantorville, suffered a sprained ankle Wednesday.

"I won't know until late today, how effective either will be," said Campbell. Petersen had been figured on as some guard duty along with Bob Lieberman and Mike Leahy.

James Vinar, Brownston, Minn., a 6-5 center, and Weisbrod, 6-4, are figured for service up front.

"We're in pretty good shape otherwise," said Campbell. "We'll substitute frequently for this game and conditioning will probably tell the story."

The Warriors defeated Stout 84-83 last year in their only meeting.

STOUT, PILOTTED by new coach Duane Mintz, whose Bethany Lutheran JC team finished second in the nation in 1959, has three returning lettermen. Heading the list is 6-5 center Fred Sogelink, who averaged 21.1 points last year. He is the lone returning starter.

Newcomer Glenn Bates, 6-3 transfer, and freshman guards Tom Farbotko 6-0 and 5-10 Bob Fraught will probably start. The other forward spot will be a toss-up between 6-4 Bob Hayhurst, another frosh, and Dick Paske.

Stout compiled a 7-14 record last year, Winona 11-11.

WINS AWARD BY 7 POINTS

Wills Edges Mays for National League's Most Valuable Player

NEW YORK (AP) — Maury Wills, Mercury-footed shortstop of the Los Angeles Dodgers and the first major leaguer in modern baseball to steal 100 bases in a season, was named the National League's Most Valuable Player of 1962 today.

Wills, 30, son of a Baptist minister won in a close race with Willie Mays, the brilliant center fielder of the champion San Francisco Giants. Wills drew 209 points to 202 for Mays in the annual poll of 20-man committee of the Baseball Writers' Association of America. Results were announced in Boston through J. Hurlwitz, secretary of the BWAA.

"I'm delighted," Wills said at his Spokane, Wash. home, when informed of his honor by The Associated Press.

"It feels great. This is the best award a ball player can get."

Wills said he felt he owned the honor and his all-time base stealing record more to hard work than special abilities.

It was the fourth time in the last five years that the award went to a shortstop. Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs won in both 1956 and 1959 and Dick Groat of Pittsburgh (now with St. Louis) in 1960. Prior to 1956, only one shortstop, Marjory Marion of St. Louis in 1944, had been honored since the MVP was created in 1931.

Dodger outfielder-third baseman Tommy Davis, the league's batting and runs-batted-in champion, finished third with 175 points. Fourth with 164 was Frank Robinson, slugging Cincinnati outfielder and last year's winner.

A third Dodger, pitcher Don Drysdale, finished fifth with 85 votes. The 23-game winning right-hander was recently voted the Cy Young Award as baseball's outstanding pitcher for 1962.

Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, just made the top ten. Musial, 42, drew 19 points for tenth place after hitting .330.

Henry Aaron, Milwaukee's brilliant outfielder, finished sixth, followed by pitcher Jack Sanford, Giants; pitcher Bob Purkey, Reds; and outfielder Frank Howard, Dodgers. Thus the Dodgers, who were beaten for the pennant in a playoff with the Giants, landed four players among the top ten.

The American League's most valuable player award, announced last Wednesday, went to Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees for the third time.

Wills flashed to 104 stolen bases, played in all 165 of his team's games, including the three-game playoff, collected 208 hits, batted .299, and fielded more than adequately. He drew eight first place votes to seven for Mays, and that proved decisive since first place counts 14 points, second place, 9, third place 8 and so on down to one for 10th in the annual balloting.

Green Bay, the Lions turned the nationally televised game into a rout early in the second period before a roaring capacity crowd of 56,558.

GREEN BAY GETS 73 YARDS ON GROUND

Lion Defense Thwarts Packers

DETROIT (AP) — Now the Green Bay Packers know how the other team feels after a defeat.

The defending National Football League champions were man-handled 26-14 Thursday by the Detroit Lions.

Thirsty to avenge a 9-7 loss at the Lions and each club has three games remaining.

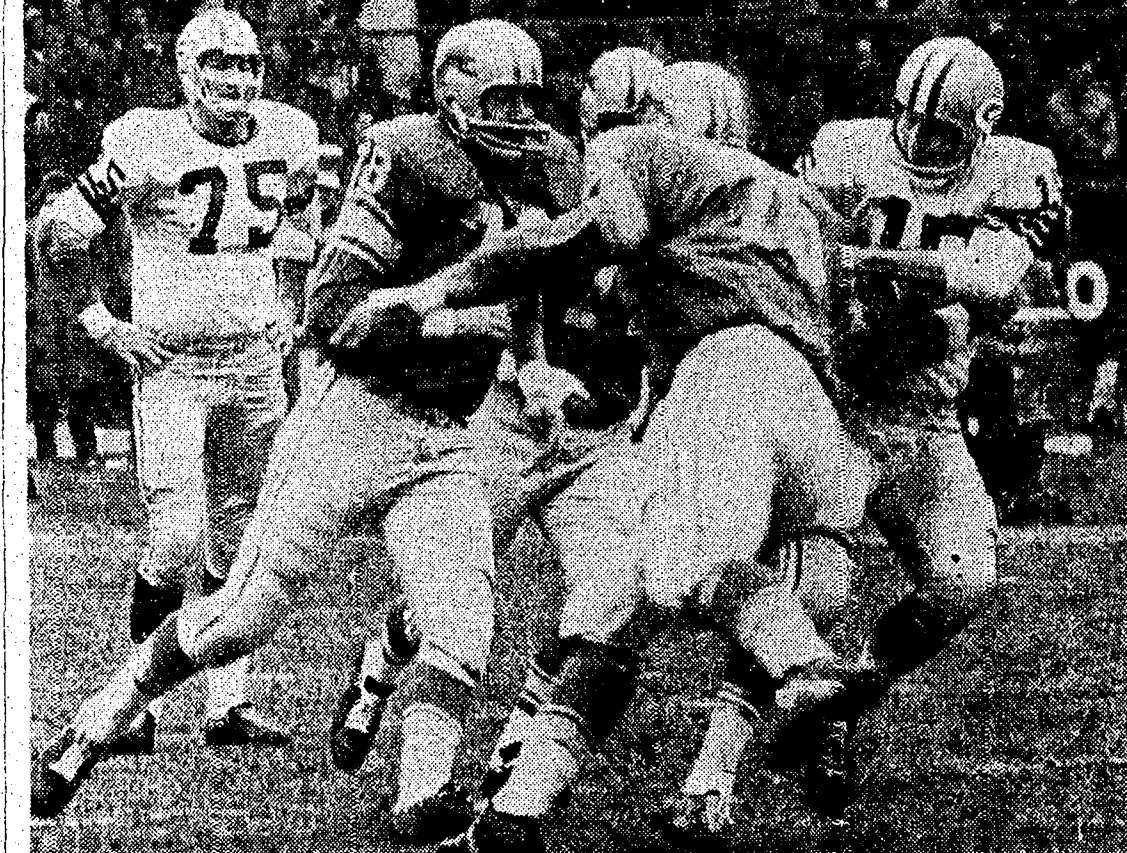

The passing combination of Milt Plum to Gail Cogdill accounted for two touchdowns, started Green Bay off to its first loss in 31 games this season and ruined the Packers' chances of becoming the first team in 20 years to complete a league schedule with a perfect record.

The Packers were stunned by an awesome display of offensive and defensive power, collecting only 59 yards through passing and 73 yards on the ground.

Plum uncorked touchdown passes of 33 and 37 yards to Cogdill, Sam Williams gathered a fumble and ran six yards for another score and Roger Brown tackled Green Bay's Bart Starr in the end zone for a safety to give Detroit a 23-0 cushion at the half as Wayne Walker kicked three extra points. Plum wound up the Detroit scoring with a 47-yard field goal in the third period.

Jim Taylor, Green Bay fullback and the league's leading ground gainer, was held to 47 yards and Starr was thrown for a loss of 110 yards while trying to pass under a constant blitz.

The Packer defense helped them to all their points, scored in the final period. Bill Quinland intercepted a pass on the 4 and fumbled but Willie Davis fell on the ball in the end zone. Another Da-

Starr is shown cornered by several of the big linemen including Darris McCord (78) and Roger Brown (76). Not close enough to help Starr is tackle Forrest Gree (75). (AP Photofax)

PRESSURE OFF, SAYS LOMBARDI

DETROIT (AP) — Coach Vince Lombardi seemed relieved Thursday after his Green Bay Packers were beaten by the Detroit Lions 16-14 and the National Football League champions ended a 10-game winning streak.

"No more pressure," he said, smiling as he rarely does in victory. "This loss will make a better team out of us. Look out for us now."

"It's funny," he said. "We were overpowered, the winning streak is broken and we're not invincible, but we're still in first place and that's what counts."

Weaver Sets Orlando Mark; Leads Field

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Bert Weaver teed off today in the second round of the $35,000 Orlando Open with a hot putter in his golf bag, the course record in his pocket and a 2-stroke lead over the field.

Not far behind the 30-year-old positive thinker from Edgewater Beach, Miss., was Billy Farrell of Springfield, N.J., playing as if he didn't know he had a handicap. This was the do-or-die round for the 149 professionals swinging for a top prize of $5,300 and 39 smaller purses. At day's end, the field was to be sliced to the top 80 scores, then pared down again Saturday to the leading 60 for Sunday's final round.

Weaver played the first round on the 6,789-yard Rio Pinar course Thursday as though he designed it, setting a course record with a 65. He had seven birdies and only one bogey. He had 8 one-putt greens and holed out the rest with two putts.

Farrell, who had five stitches taken in a finger 16 days ago when he cut it while hunting, also shot a beautiful round. The highlight came on the 13th when he sank a 30-foot putt for an eagle 3.

KEGLERS LANES: Merchants—Robert Klagge chalked up 212-540 for Poot's Tavern. His mates posted 839-2,738.

ST. MARTIN'S: Wednesday—Jerry Timm paced top-seated Western Kol Kid's 886-2,515 with a 184-507 set.

Texas' 13-3 Win Earns Cotton Berth

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Two major bowl berths have been secured, two others lack only official ratification, and at least another should be nailed down by nightfall Saturday in college football.

Texas' 13-3 triumph over old foe Texas A&M in the top college game on the Thanksgiving Day program put the Longhorns in the Cotton Bowl and indirectly put Arkansas in the Sugar Bowl. Only minutes after Texas closed its season against the Aggies, Arkansas accepted a bid to play in New Orleans on New Year's Day.

Those two are secure, Wisconsin, which goes against Minnesota for the Big Ten title Saturday, needs only official conference sanction for a trip to the Rose Bowl. The same is true for Southern California, headed for the host spot in the Rose festival.

Louisiana State can all but secure a berth in the Cotton Bowl in its season finale Saturday. A victory over Nebraska would all but clinch a spot for Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl.

The probable line-up for the major year-end bowls now looks like this:

Rose Bowl—Southern California vs. Wisconsin.

Cotton Bowl—Texas vs. Louisiana State.

Sugar Bowl—Mississippi vs. Arkansas.

Orange Bowl—Oklahoma vs. Alabama.

Gator Bowl—Penn State vs. Miami (Fla.).

Miami (6-2) could take a long step toward the Gator Bowl berth tonight against rugged Northwestern, once ranked the nation's best but loser of its last two.

Texas, ranked fourth nationally, trailed for three periods before nailing down the Southwest Conference title in its victory over Texas A&M. The Longhorns closed the regular season with a 9-0-1 record, their first undefeated season in 39 years.

Arkansas (8-1) had an outside chance at the title and the spot in the Cotton Bowl until Texas won it, but immediately announced its acceptance of the Sugar Bowl bid. The Razorbacks, ranked seventh nationally, closed their regular season against Texas Tech Saturday.

Their likely Sugar Bowl opponent, unbeaten Mississippi, is idle until Dec. 1, as is Alabama, almost certain to get a bid for the Orange Bowl. Mississippi closes against Mississippi State, Alabama against Auburn.

Southern California, the nation's top ranked team with a 9-0 record, already has clinched the Big Six title. USC goes against UCLA (4-3) Saturday. Washington (6-1-2) goes against Washington State.

Louisiana State (7-1-1), considered a top candidate for the visiting role in the Cotton Bowl, is a tight dual meet at the WHS gymnasium.

To make it a sweep, the Hawk "B" team under Coach Gene Nardini, won 39-11, winning three matches on forfeits.

"We showed our inexperience, but we also showed we can be scrappy," said Board, who coached last year at Minneapolis Vocational.

Chuck Bambenek and Dick Glauert, newly elected mat captains, turned in excellent performances, according to their coach.

Bambenek defeated Glen Harcey 13-0 and Glauert outpointed Jim Nienu 8-4. Glauert's victory decided the team result as the two schools were tied at 21-21 going into the heavy-weight finale.

Glauert had lost to the St. Charles heavyweight in a meet last year.

The Winhawks Glauert had to forfeit the 103-pound event when Ron Fuglestad, who was leading at the time, tore muscles in his shoulder when felled by his opponent. He will be out for two weeks.

The Hawks compete Saturday in a day-long invitational at Rochester and then are home to Rochester next Friday for A and B squad matches.

15-Bob Brewer (W) and Tom Frisby (SC) drew 2-2.

103-Lyle Yeoman (SC) won forfeit from Ron Fuglestad (W) 2-0.

112-Jim Dotzler (SC) defeated Don Small (SC) 4-0.

126-Jeff Harty (SC) defeated Lenny Diener (W) 3-1.

127-Bob Frisby (SC) pinned Gary Matka (W) 2-0.

133-Mike Zivich (W) pinned Ron Williams (SC) 1-0.

138-Bill Roth (W) pinned Phil Nietz (SC) 2-0.

145-Curt Murray (SC) defeated Jim Pollock (W) 3-0.

154-Chuck Bambenek (W) defeated Glen Harcey (SC) 13-0.

168-Chuck Deedrick (W) defeated Jim Decker (SC) 2-0.

175-Ron Prigge (SC) defeated Paul Halse (W) 7-3.
