Dawn Brings Crack In Heavy London Fog

By EDDY GILMORE
LONDON (AP)—Smog deaths rose to 66 in London today, and police predicted a final toll for Britain of hundreds of dead from the polluted fog.

Weathermen said the thick blanket, now in its third day, was thinning in many places. But they warned it would probably clamp down in London again after dusk.

"This looks like another 1952 disaster," said Cmdr. John Langworthy, chief of London's emergency bed hospital service.

He still has the job and is believed one of the oldest persons in that capacity in the Scouting movement. He goes camping "with the kids" in the Summer but not in the Winter "because it's too cold." (AP Photofax)

The nine-day smog in 1952 killed at least 4,000 persons. Adding to the discomfort were electric power failures that hit large sections near the capital. Thousands of suburban homes were without lights.

Clammy cold weather accompanied the fog. Port officials said 101 ships were tied up in the London area.

The dawn also brought an improvement in the fog across the country. Traffic still was idled along the east coast and in the northern county of Yorkshire, but many other areas had cleared.

London airport was closed for the third day. More than 60 sudden deaths Tuesday and Wednesday were attributed to smog. The victims were mostly people with heart or chest complaints whose condition was aggravated by the sulphurous pall.

With smoke and sulphur dioxide in the air amounting to 10 and 14 times the normal content, the Weather Bureau said Wednesday things were as bad as in 1952, when a killer smog caused at least 4,000 deaths.

The forecasters had predicted no letup, and 200 hospitals were alerted for a major disaster. Nearly 400 beds were taken Wednesday night by emergency cases.

Lawyers Claim Hoffa Can't Get Fair Trial

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Air pistol pellets fired at James R. Hoffa in court by an ex-mental patient have injected a new and unexpected element into the labor leader's conspiracy trial.

His attorneys quickly claimed the attack—in which the pellets bounced harmlessly off his body—proved the teamsters union president couldn't get a fair trial.

The shots were fired at Hoffa Wednesday by a man identified as Warren Swanson, 28, of Washington, D.C. Hoffa ducked, then lunged at the man, knocking him to the floor.

Swanson required 14 stitches to repair head wounds. A deputy U.S. marshal struck him on the back of the head with a pistol and a Hoffa bodyguard got in a few kicks before the bleeding man was led from court in handcuffs.

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—U.N. delegates took heart today from two U.S.-Soviet agreements on scientific cooperation in a series of space experiments and on the general economic benefits of disarmament.

Delegates expressed guarded hope that the two agreements, together with the easing of the Cuban crisis, signaled a period of comparative harmony in East-West relations.

At Geneva, however, disarmament negotiators were deadlocked as tight as ever on the key issue of controls.

In short, the Soviets and the West were agreed on the great benefits disarmament would bring, but they were no nearer agreement on disarmament itself.

Adlai E. Stevenson, chief U.S. delegate at the United Nations, hailed the limited agreement on cooperation in space as a "practical demonstration that our nations can, despite political differences, cooperate in a highly important field of human endeavor."

The fruit of a broad agreement between President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev early in the year, it provides for scientists of the two nations to work together in the use of earth satellites in communications, weather forecasting and mapping of the earth's magnetic field.

Havana Press Charges U.S. Behind Attack

By GEORGE ARFELD
HAVANA (AP)—Armed counter-revolutionaries struck twice this week in central Cuba and the Havana press charged the United States was behind both attacks—one a seaborne raid, the other an ambush.

A militiaman was reported killed and a minor political official riding with him in a jeep was wounded in an attack close to Jaguey Grande in Matanzas Province, less than 90 miles southeast of Havana. No date was given.

The seaborne raiders shot up a group of fishermen near Caibarien in Las Villas Province Tuesday night. No casualties were reported.

Havana radio said the attack was at San Francisco Beach, 18 miles from Caibarien. It described the attackers as pirates and said they had a refuge in the United States.

Cuba formally denounced the Las Villas raid in a note to the United Nations and declared it provided further proof Prime Minister Fidel Castro's proposed five points were necessary as the only means of settling the Caribbean crisis.

Castro's five demands call for guarantees from the United States that counterrevolutionaries based overseas would be checked in their attempts to overthrow his regime. Other demands include the removal of the U.S. Guantanamo naval base, an end to all reconnaissance flights over Cuba, and resumption of normal trade relations with Cuba.

The government paper Revolution reported the Las Villas raiders fled after pumping shots at a group of fishermen at 9:30 Tuesday night.

The reports said they "violated our sovereignty in partnership with North American imperialists."

Revolution also blamed "a group of bandits 'at the service of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency for the fatal shooting of Lazaro Gonzalez, 26, a militiaman, in the Jaguey Grande ambush. A political official traveling with him in the jeep was wounded. Two companions escaped unhurt."

Jaguey Grande is a sugar-growing area a few miles north of the head of the Bay of Pigs.

Speaking at Gonzalez' funeral, the political chief of Matanzas Province said: "The crime will not remain unpunished because we'll capture its authors, to whom we will not be able to show clemency."

12 Firemen Hurt In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—The brick walls of a fire-ravaged three-story warehouse collapsed early Thursday, injuring at least a dozen firemen.

The firemen were standing on a second story balcony of the large produce warehouse on the New Orleans waterfront.

Fire department officials said some men might be buried under the rubble.

Other firefighters on the street below were injured by flying bricks.

Extent of the injuries was not known immediately.

Kennedy Set
For Tour
To Far West

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will view a nuclear-fissioned hole in the ground in Nevada on his weekend tour of military and scientific centers in the Midwest and Far West.

The White House, in announcing Kennedy's schedule, said he will fly over the U.S. nuclear weapons test ground in southern Nevada on Saturday. Among other things he will see the crater — 1,200 feet across and several hundred feet deep — that was dug by a nuclear detonation equivalent to 100,000 tons of TNT in a test explosion last July.

Kennedy leaves Washington Friday morning, landing first at Offutt Air Force Base in Omaha, Neb., for a tour of the Strategic Air Command underground headquarters and a secret briefing.

He goes from there to Santa Fe, N.M., arriving early in the afternoon, for a tour of the Los Alamos scientific laboratory where he'll get a briefing on the Rover nuclear-powered rocket project.

By helicopter he travels to Kirtland Air Force Base, near Albuquerque, N.M., for another tour and more briefing, this time at the nearby Sandia Corp. plant where many of the items used in nuclear bombs and warheads are made.

He will stay overnight at Albuquerque, attending Mass at the base chapel Saturday morning.

AMOR SPELLED BACKWARDS

Winter From Rockies Into Ohio Valley

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Wintry weather, with strong winds, snow and cold rain, spread across wide areas from the Rockies into the Ohio Valley today.

Cold air and light snow extended southward into Tennessee and northern Georgia.

The cold air mass had not reached the Atlantic seaboard but rain or showers dampened Florida and most coastal areas from South Carolina to Maine. The Atlantic storm moved northeastward and caused rough seas along the New England coast. Rain fell inland across New England.

Cold northwesterly winds carried snow from the Upper Mississippi Valley and Great Lakes across the Ohio Valley to the mountains of North Carolina and the Virginia highlands. Snow flurries peppered Atlanta, where the mercury dropped to 30 degrees.

Six inches of snow was on the ground in Akron, Ohio, with five inches during a six-hour period Wednesday night. Three inches fell in Youngstown, Ohio. Highways were snow packed in northeast Missouri between St. Louis and Hannibal. Bowling Green, Mo., reported nearly two inches of snow with similar amounts in parts of northern Indiana.

Fog was reported in the Middle and North Atlantic Coast states, the Lower Great Lakes region and in the North Central Pacific Coast states.

Reflects contributions from 6,890 persons and firms, 500 more than participated in the 1961 campaign.

Nevertheless, there are still some 700 pledge cards still not returned and Booth emphasized that the eventual success of this year's drive will depend to a large extent on the returns from these as yet unreported donors.

He also observed that "with the goal now so near, it may be that some contributors may wish to review their original pledges and revise them upward in an effort to insure that this year's goal will be realized."

Solicitors were urged to contact all prospective donors whose cards they still hold so that a complete tabulation can be made after the next report meeting.

Anyone wishing to increase his original pledge may contact the Community Chest office in the Exchange Building.

Fight Over S.D. Records Continues

MOUND CITY, S. D. (AP)—This prairie county seal awaited the next federal move today after rejecting a set of government peace terms that included an order that no crowd meets U. S. marshals if and when they move in to relocate a batch of agriculture department records.

Mound City residents are fighting to save the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service office for the community. It already has been relocated in neighboring Herreid, 8 miles away, but some of the records are still in Mound City and the community refuses to give them up.

Morris Myers, Aberdeen, S. D., attorney representing the Mound City group, said residents were indignant over the proposals presented by Travis Lewin, assistant U. S. district attorney.

Reports are that a force of U. S. marshals is ready to move in to seize the Mound City records and move them to Herreid if peaceful avenues fail.

Herreid, says the Blair (Wis.) Press, was named after a relative of three Blair residents. The little hamlet of 623 persons was named either by or for the late Charles Herreid, one-time governor of South Dakota, and uncle of Mrs. Selmer Halverson and Chester and Glen Odegard.

Full Support For Stevenson

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy hopes his public declaration of "fullest confidence" in Adlai Stevenson will put an end to speculation that the U.N. ambassador may be on his way out.

A "Dear Adlai" letter from Kennedy to Stevenson was made public by the White House Wednesday night. Officials said the decision to give it out was prompted by the President's determination to try to remove any uncertainty about Stevenson's future.

The speculation stemmed from publication of a Saturday Evening Post article written by two Washington reporters, Stewart Alsop and Charles Bartlett, a close friend of the President.

The article quoted anonymous officials as saying that at the outset of the Cuban crisis, Stevenson dissented from Kennedy's decision to throw a naval blockade around Cuba and advocated a softer approach.

Denials by the White House and by Stevenson, coupled with statements that Stevenson had in fact supported the blockade decision, failed to quiet the speculation. Officials decided the tempest could be stilled only by personal action by Kennedy.

The letter, read to newsmen by White House press secretary Pierre Salinger, made two major points:

1. That Kennedy has the "fullest confidence" in Stevenson and has valued his advice "very highly."

2. That Stevenson will continue as ambassador at the United Nations.

The letter also showed that Kennedy is satisfied the Soviet Union's withdrawing of missiles and bombers from Cuba has effectively ended the nuclear threat to U.S. security. The President said without qualification, "We have eliminated the nuclear menace from Cuba."

He cited that point in his letter to Stevenson as evidence of "the prudence of our policy and its execution, in which you played such an active part."

The White House said Kennedy's letter reached Stevenson at the United Nations about noon Wednesday. But there were indications Stevenson had been satisfied after a Monday conference with Kennedy that he had the President's backing in spite of the implication in the article that someone in the administration might be trying to put an end to his U.N. career.

Associates said Tuesday that if Stevenson had not been satisfied about the President's position he would have resigned already.

Americans to Try Climbing Mt. Everest

By FRANK CAREY
WASHINGTON (AP)—The leader of 19 Americans preparing for the first U.S. assault on the "roof of the world"—towering Mt. Everest and two sister peaks—figures the climb will be "95 per cent sheer hell, 5 per cent beauty."

"But in such things, we remember only the 5 per cent of beauty when it's over," remarked Norman G. Dyhrenfurth, the expedition's 44-year-old chief.

He and some of his companions outlined their plans Wednesday at a news conference staged by the National Geographic Society, a sponsor of the $325,000 venture scheduled for this spring.

Six of the Americans will climb Mt. Everest, at 29,028 feet the world's highest mountain. Two other teams of two men each will have a go at Everest's sister peaks in the Himalayas—Lhotse, 27,923 feet, and Mt. Nupise, 25,726 feet.

It will be, they said, the first time a single expedition has attempted to scale the three peaks in a single season, although each has been conquered by climbers.

Dyhrenfurth, of Santa Monica Canyon, Calif., said if the Americans reach the top of Everest, they will be the third expedition to pull off the trick.

The British, who were first, and the Swiss have done it. The Red Chinese claim they climbed Everest in 1960 and left as proof a bust of Mao Tse-tung.

Their claim has been challenged.

Hope that new pledges and contributions to this year's Winona Community Chest fund drive filed at next Wednesday's report meeting will send the campaign over the top was expressed today by a member of the Chest's board of directors.

its goal, an increase of 3 percent from Monday's tabulation. Both noted that today's total

Kennedy in Demand For News Reports

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the last of a series of three analyses on government information policies.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — News from President Kennedy's administration isn't always handled in a goldfish bowl.

Kennedy himself is probably more accessible to reporters who want to see him than any president. The resulting stories, as this writer sees them, are not always happy, however, because of the rules covering such meetings.

By not revealing their jobs, obtained in an interview and by not even indicating the President did the talking, they sometimes serve as simple publicity pipelines for Kennedy's views without his having to be responsible for them.

The practice is not new. Other presidents have done the same, in one way or another. Off-the-record dinners or lunches with government officials are a kind of Washington folk custom.

Kennedy's press secretary, Pierre Salinger, more and more has developed the habit of talking to reporters for background only—meaning what he says can't be attributed to him directly.

At the same time, other sources in the White House, within the bounds of any highly sensitive situation, have been accessible to reporters and occasionally very helpful.

Tuesday night in Pittsburgh, Salinger said, "Information has never been more accessible in Washington than it is today." He took newspapers to task for what he called their failure to deal effectively with "irresponsibility" within their own ranks.

But there is also within the Kennedy administration the kind of story that is fed or leaked to reporters and damages key people around Kennedy. Two examples: The cases of Chester Bowles and Adlai E. Stevenson.

Back in 1961 Charles L. Bartlett, close personal friend of Kennedy and Washington correspondent of The Chattanooga Times, wrote that Bowles, then under secretary of state but not for long, had created a sense of disorder in the State Department and would continue to do so while he kept his job.

Bowles wasn't dropped immediately. But from then until he was removed, and given a job as special adviser to Kennedy, rumors persisted he was on his way out.

Now in this week's Saturday Evening Post, Bartlett, but this time along with Stewart Alsop, who is said to have fine contacts within the administration, reported on the "harried, secret" October days when Kennedy and his advisers decided on a showdown with Russia over its missiles in Cuba.

Secret though all this was supposed to be, Bartlett and Alsop report on who said what to Kennedy. But when they get to the part played by Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, they quote a "nonadmirable" official as saying Stevenson "wanted a Munich" by making concessions to Russia.

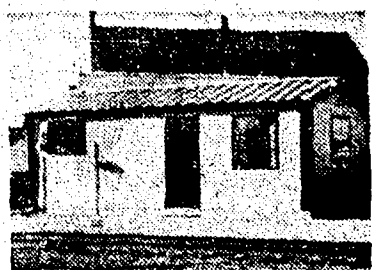

A new storm broke: Was the administration getting ready to bounce Stevenson, as it bounced Bowles? Unless Kennedy now publicly backs Stevenson his value at the United Nations seems badly damaged.

Nothing here is intended to suggest Kennedy himself did the feeding or leaking about Bowles or Stevenson. But somebody around him did, and perhaps the somebody didn't like either man to begin with.

The administration has been criticized by the press for the way it clamped down on news during the Cuban crisis. But Salinger said Tuesday night that, while the administration did put the lid on information affecting national security, it withheld no legitimate information.

But 18 months ago The Associated Press reported, when there was no crisis, that "access to news sources" under the Kennedy administration is "managed" because Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara attempts to "define who and under what circumstances newsmen interview or contact officials."

McNamara tightened up almost from the time he took office in 1961. So it was only a reminder of a standing order when, during the Cuban crisis, Arthur Sylves-

NEW ARCADIA STATION
(Mrs. Solberg photo)

Arcadia Railway Station Replaced

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special) — A new station has been constructed here by the Green Bay Western Railroad.

The 12-by-28-foot metal building is located on Main Street south from the old station and is between the tracks and Rehn's service station.

Marvin (Sonny) Wolfe, agent, has moved into the new structure, which has enough storage space for present use. Only about a tenth of the space in the old station had been used for some time. The former waiting room was rented to Killian furniture store.

Eugene and John Killian have purchased the old building and will move it from the railroad right-of-way. Approximately 25 by 60 feet, it was constructed in 1874 soon after the railroad came through Arcadia. In 1941 it was remodeled and set back from the street, about 30 feet from its original location.

Railroad crews are wrecking the old concrete platform, which is over a foot thick and well reinforced.

Feder Mettlich, Arcadia, was foreman of construction on the new building.

ter, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, instructed all Pentagon officials to report to him the substance of all interviews with newsmen. That order still stands.

The State Department issued similar instructions to its officials during the Cuban affair, but later withdrew them. This writer has been pretty reliably informed that an order similar to Sylvester's was given to all division chiefs in the Department of Justice, not in writing but verbally.

That department is headed by Kennedy's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. The public affairs chief there is Edwin Guthman. When this writer sought to reach them Tuesday, for confirmation or denial, the answer was that both were out of town.

Winona Co. Fair Files Grievance Against Carnival

ST. CHARLES, Minn.—The Winona County Fair board filed a formal grievance against Shorter Shows at a meeting here Tuesday night.

Board President Warren C. Magnuson said the grievance was filed because the carnival did not provide the rides and shows stated in the contract.

THE GRIEVANCE will be discussed at the statewide county fair board convention in Minneapolis Jan. 7-8-9. Eight members of the Winona County board will attend the session. The fair boards also will have the opportunity of viewing entertainment possibilities at the convention.

Winona County's Fair Board went on record:

• To require attendance of every board member at the meetings. Attendance has been very poor, Magnuson said.

• Collect rent past due for the use of fair buildings used as storage facilities and commercial uses during the off-season. Magnuson said the bills would be turned over to the county attorney or a small claims court for collection.

• To repair the grandstand fence. Magnuson said a count taken during a grandstand program last season showed that $350 had been lost to the fair by people viewing the show through the fence from the midway.

THE BOARD also discussed the possibility of obtaining stock car racing, thrill shows, a rodeo, a headliner variety show or an ice show for next year.

Other projects discussed by the board for the 1963 fair included the advance sale of grandstand tickets, a free gate (no charge for individuals, but a charge for auto parking), and the publishing of the premium list in the Winona Daily News.

The fair board instructed Secretary Roger Gustafson to contact racing associations and carnival companies in regard to the 1963 fair. Magnuson said if a tentative fair program is set up before the January convention, the county has a chance of obtaining better acts.

Magnuson said the dates for the 1963 fair have not been set but that it would be held sometime in August.

Cloudy tonight and Friday is the forecast with scattered light snow. A low of 18-25 is predicted for tonight and a high of 25-30 for Friday.

Saturday's outlook is for a few snow flurries and colder.

THE WINONA temperature rose to 25 Wednesday afternoon, dropped to a chilly 15 overnight and was 21 at noon today. Snow which fell over the area Tuesday evening and Wednesday morning continued to the extent of half an inch on the ground today.

This morning's low of 15 was the coldest weather since a reading of 14 on April 2, the previous low this fall was 18 degrees on Oct. 25.

A year ago today the high for Winona was 42 and the low 19. All-time high for Dec. 6 was 55 in 1939 and the low -9 for 1982. Mean for the past 24 hours was 20. Normal for this day is 24.

First below zero reading last fall came on Dec. 11 when the thermometer dipped to -3. Coldest of the month was -15 on Dec. 13.

BEMIDJI dropped into the below zero class this morning with a low of -1. This was the lowest in the nation. Fargo, N. D., and Winnipeg, Canada, had lows of 4 but in Minnesota the next low was 8 at St. Cloud. Rochester posted a morning figure of 11 after a high of 29 Wednesday. La Crosse had a low of 17 and a high of 31 for the same time.

It was snowing in International Falls and Duluth and cloudy at most other northern Minnesota points. It was generally clear in southern Minnesota.

Some 300 children at Amboy, Minn., had a school holiday today because of boiler trouble. Principal Sylvester Gaw said the janitor at the school, which has elementary and secondary classes, would probably have the trouble fixed by Friday.

The five-state weather picture featured a high pressure system with mostly fair skies. The region is embraced by two low pressure systems, and a warming and clouding trend from the west was beginning to move eastward.

WISCONSIN'S blustery weather continued today with cloudy skies prevailing over the state and temperatures dropping to near seasonal normals.

While most sections in Wisconsin reported only intermittent snow flurries the Woodruff-Rhineland area had approximately 2 inches of snow on the ground.

For the second consecutive day Green Bay reported the state's high temperature, but Wednesday's 39-degree reading was far below the 61 degrees on Tuesday. Racine hit a high of 36 Wednesday. Milwaukee checked in with 36 while Madison and Beloit had 35.

THE THERMOMETER dropped to 12 degrees at Park Falls early today for the state low overnight. Eau Claire reported 17, Lone Rock and Madison, 19, Wausau, 20, Green Bay and Beloit, 23, and Racine 24.

The nation's high of 85 was reached at Thermal, Calif., Wednesday.

Hardwood Forest Gets 40 Acres In Wabasha Co.

WABASHA, Minn. (Special)—A 40-acre tract in Oakwood Township, Wabasha County, scheduled for sale as forfeited land, was released Tuesday by Wabasha County Commissioners to the state for $240.

The release was granted in answer to a request by Clarence Froust, state conservation commissioner. The plot will become part of the state hardwood forest preserve.

Other forfeited lands to be sold Monday at 2 p.m. are located in Greenfield, Elgin, Mazepa and West Albany Townships and the village of Zumbro Falls.

Commissioners authorized County Auditor Wilbur Koelme to advertise for bids for official county newspaper for the coming year. Bids will be opened Jan. 8 at 11 a.m.

Appropriations from the municipal fund for maintenance of streets which are part of the county road system were voted as follows: Elgin, $700; Hammond, $400; Mazepa, $850; Millville, $350; Plainview, $1,150; Lake City, $2,250; and Wabasha, $2,850.

Commissioners instructed the auditor to advertise for bids for five two-ton trucks, one three-ton truck and one three-quarter-ton pickup. Bids will be opened Jan. 8 at 10:30 a.m.

STILL BUSY—NEW YORK (AP)—Bobbie and Karen Lynn Reed, two of Broadway's youngest players, are in separate musicals this year.

The boy, who is 9, and his sister, 12, performed together last season in "Sail Away." Bobbie is appearing now in "Oliver!" and Karen Lynn in "Stop the World—I Want to Get Off."

Wales' annual six-day Royal National Eisteddfod is a mixture of music festival, literary competition, mystic ritual, patriotic rally and family reunion.

Governor Asking Top Priority for State Building Bill

Members of the state Legislature are being urged by Gov. Elmer L. Andersen to make reauthorization of the 1961 state building bill the first order of business when they convene Jan. 8.

Calling for a total of $29 million in building projects at state institutions, the bill had been held in suspension by a Supreme Court decision to enforce the old constitutional state debt limit to $250,000. Passage of Amendment No. 2 in the Nov. 6 election removed the ceiling but bond attorneys now question the constitutionality of the appropriations which were voted before actual approval of the amendment.

APPROPRIATIONS totaling $1,291,000 for building and land development at Winona State College are part of the bill. They include:

- $577,000 for a new art and industrial arts building adjacent to and southwest of Pasteur Hall.
- $15,000 for clearing and grading of land to be acquired in the future.
- $619,000 for a new building to house psychology, education and guidance departments.
- $80,000 for a maintenance and service building near the present heating plant.

Dr. Nels Minne, WSC president, said the bill incorporates an additional $250,000 for future land acquisition for the college.

In his letter to legislators, Gov. Andersen said the simplest procedure would be to vote a suspension of the rules to place the issue at the top of the agenda, thus avoiding lost time. Gov. Andersen said the bill was passed in 1961 with no dissenting votes.

MRS. Virginia Torgerson, Winona representative-elect, said a two-thirds majority of the membership of the House of Representatives is needed to invoke the desired suspension. If the bill is not reauthorized in its present form, she said, it will have to be enacted all over again, item by item, at considerable expenditure of time.

Gov. Andersen's letter said preparations are going ahead for sale of certificates of indebtedness and calls for bids on the projects immediately following legislators' approval of the appropriations.

Skeleton Found In Forest Area Near Rhinelander

RHINELANDER, Wis. (AP)—The discovery of a human skeleton and torn clothing in a forest area Tuesday has been linked to the disappearance of a 23-year-old Rhinelander woman six months ago.

A pair of high-heeled shoes, a torn blue dress and a human skull were found by Mr. and Mrs. James R. Roesler of rural Rhinelander as they searched for fishing worms about 50 feet from a town road some seven miles west of Rhinelander.

The search was expanded by Oneida County Deputy Sheriff John Vanney, and turned up other parts of the skeleton, the remainder of the dress and a light-colored coat similar to one worn by Miss Edna Mae Mount who was last seen June 2 when she left her home to keep a date with an unidentified man.

15 More Planes Leaving Cuba on Russian Ships

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Russian ship carrying about 15 IL-28 bombers has been sighted outward bound from Cuba, it was learned today.

This brings to at least 18 the number of the nuclear-capable bombers the Russians have withdrawn from Cuba on the demand of the United States.

Last Monday, the Defense Department announced that the Soviet ship Okhotsk had been photographed with three IL-28 fuselages on the deck. The Pentagon released pictures showing the three plane bodies. The pictures were taken by U.S. naval patrol bombers assigned to watching for the withdrawal of the nuclear-capable bombers.

Russian diplomatic authorities were understood to have notified the United States that a total of more than 40 of the 750-mile range bombers would be coming out.

And informed sources said the removal is at a pace that could have all the bombers off the island within a few days.

At the White House, the general situation was under review at a meeting this morning of the executive committee of the National Security Council.

U.N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson and John J. McCloy, Cuban policy coordinator, came to Washington for the meeting.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy had decided to call the meeting Wednesday night, but insisted it was not prompted by any specific development.

Salinger said the subject up for discussion was the continuing talks with Soviet representatives in New York on the Cuban situation.

HIGH PRIESTLY OUTPUT—KYOTO, Japan (AP)—Recent statistics on the Catholic population of Japan reveal that for every 828 Japanese Catholics, there is one seminarian studying for the priesthood, the highest ratio of producing priests in the world, reports Maryknoll Father William J. Eggleston.

BOARD CHAIRMAN Paul Baer, Fremont, 4th District, told Ham today one of four candidates who attended the special meeting this morning—that Ham's work had been satisfactory but that a younger successor was being sought on recommendation of a state official.

The official is E. J. Storch, Kenyon, district state weed and seed supervisor. Storch had interviewed some of the candidates. Smith was one of the candidates Storch had recommended.

The inspector retired from the Navy last September and returned to Winona in October. He is a native Winona, a graduate of Colfax High School and is married. He has taken horticulture courses offered by the University of Minnesota and the University of Pennsylvania.

He formerly worked for nurseries in Missouri and New Jersey and is familiar with spraying equipment and mechanical methods of weed control.

Smith will attend a four-day course for weed inspectors next month at the University of Minnesota.

OTHER candidates in addition to Smith and Ham follow: William J. Michaels, Norton Township; Leon Peterson, Williams; and Albert H. Ziemer, Lewiston; John Bain and

State School Unit Against Lewiston Plat

The state education commissioner had taken no official action today on a recommendation of an advisory commission that he reject a proposed plat for a Lewiston-Utica school consolidation.

Mrs. C. A. Rohrer, Winona, chairman of the State Advisory Commission on School District Reorganization, said that the commission recommended to the commissioners, and "really to the people involved":

- THAT THE plat submitted by the county superintendent of schools on the request of the Lewiston board be rejected.
- That a central high school, located in a recent election in St. Charles, Utica and Lewiston and other districts, be considered again.
- That the people "consider the value to be gained from an overall impersonal study conducted by a county survey committee."

Mrs. Rohrer emphasized that the commission, which has a member from each of the congressional districts, is advisory only and that ordinarily its recommendations to the commissioner are not made public prior to the decision of the commissioner.

She said that the commission members, at a hearing in St. Paul Tuesday, expressed the feeling that the Lewiston-Utica-St. Charles area could establish "one of the best rural high schools in Minnesota."

She said that the commission asked the people to think about it again.

AS FOR the survey committee, she recalled that the Legislature authorized such county groups in 1947 and that Winona County has rejected it several times. The commission, on which she has served continuously since its creation in 1947, was formed in conjunction with that school district reorganization law.

Such a committee is a fact-finding committee only, said Mrs. Rohrer, "and the final decisions are in the hands of the people involved."

Prior to the hearing Tuesday County Superintendent of Schools Jesse Jesus had rejected a proposed plat from the St. Charles board, asking a vote on a district involving St. Charles and 11 other districts, including Utica.

TOASTMASTERS award 'Spark Plug' to Meyers

George Meyers received the "Spark Plug" award as the speaker contributing most to the welfare of the meeting of the Hiawatha Toastmasters at Hotel Winona Wednesday night.

Meyers gave an extemporaneous speech on "Meeting Danger in the Night." Four guests were present.

Toastmaster of the evening was Kenneth Burneister. Dr. Cleve Gruel was tablespicmaster. Dr. Gruel asked members to participate in the reading of the Toastmasters history beginning at Santa Ana, Calif., in 1924.

Formal speakers were Henry Aune and Arsenio Sandoval. Aune presented a formula for safety, "Accident Prevention," and Sandoval's topic was "Facing the Elephant of Life."

Commissioner Baer Gets Appointment To National Group

Commissioner Paul Baer, Fremont, 4th District, retiring chairman of the Winona County Board of Commissioners, was recently appointed to the county planning committee of the National Association of Counties.

However, Baer had to resign the 1963 appointment because his board term is expiring.

LEVIN ELECTED AGAIN—NEW YORK (AP)—Herman Levin, the producer of "My Fair Lady," is back in office as president of the League of New York Theater, the trade organization of Broadway show impresarios.

Levin headed the group prior to staging the musical which recently closed after a 6½-year run. He succeeds Robert Whitehead.

WHEN HAM appeared, Chairman Baer and Commissioner Raymond G. Kohner, Winona, 2nd District, told Ham his age rather than the quality of his work made it necessary to find a replacement.

Ham, white-haired and puffing thoughtfully on a cigar, said he was 69 and added:

"A lot of older fellows than that are on the job."

He said he was a member of the Public Employees Retirement Association and hoped to put in a few more years on the job to qualify for higher pension benefits. With his present service he'll get 10 percent of a full pension.

In past appearances before the county board, Ham had recounted in vivid detail his battles with a personal enemy—weeds—and his handling of spraying equipment on rough terrain. Only his age was discussed this morning.

As Ham rose to leave he flicked the ashes from his cigar and said:

"I ain't as old as I look."

CITIZENS SPEAK UP: What Should Legislature Do?

By FRANK UHLIG
Daily News Staff Writer
Where will they raise the money?

This, as Winonans see it, will be the biggest problem facing the state legislature when it convenes in St. Paul next month. An informal sampling of opinion taken last week provides the basis for these conclusions.

Of 10 persons interviewed, four would like above all else to see the legislature give aggressive encouragement to industries wishing to expand or locate in Minnesota. They would generally approve a retail sales tax if it replaced the personal property tax or held income taxes down. But they are not inclined to favor it on top of other taxes.

They tend to place the burden of highway costs on users, divide evenly on whether the issue of taconite taxes should be submitted to the people and are disposed to view Sunday closing laws as an invasion of civil liberties.

Daylight saving time, in the opinion of some, should be abolished altogether. Others think conformity with Wisconsin is preferable to the Memorial Day-Labor Day period now observed in the state.

Nine out of 10 favor legalizing sale of colored oleomargarine, several noting that large amounts are purchased in neighboring states by Minnesotans.

Questions asked were:

1. What do you regard as the most serious problem facing the legislature?

Six persons answered "taxes and revenue," one person each listed the taconite-taxing question, an impending deficit in school aid trust funds, the sales tax question and action to cut unemployment. Two respondents linked taxes and the "depression on the Iron Range" as a common problem.

2. What single job would you most like to see the legislature accomplish?

Here again were a variety of answers, with four people putting the encouragement of industrial expansion at the head of the list.

Dr. George Joyce, dentist, thinks the state should do more than merely advertise its natural attractions, because after the talking is over, "the unfavorable tax program still stands. We should create instead some definite advantages for industry here over those of other states."

Reduction of unemployment through stepped-up programs of highway and public building construction should be the number one legislative objective, says Russell D. Bundy, business agent for Teamsters Union Local 799.

Mrs. Harold Flatla, a working wife, feels there is "an obvious need for election law reforms."

Completion of highway construction should be speeded, says James F. Hogue, supermarket manager, who says, "Some roads have been torn up for a long time but they don't seem to get much done."

3. Would you favor a general sales tax (1) to replace some other tax? (2) to raise needed additional revenue?

(1) Yes 7; no 3. (2) Yes 5; no 5. Mrs. T. H. Underdahl, 302 W. Wabasha St., would favor it as a substitute tax, and comments: "Some of the extra taxes we have now are actually sales taxes." A re-evaluation of the entire tax setup is needed, she says, but a sales tax would raise revenue from the state's tourist trade.

"Everywhere else you go, you pay sales taxes and they're not too painful. It could be worked out," she concluded.

Don Rakli, clothing company employee, said it would have been more acceptable if the state had not imposed withholding last year. Mrs. Flatla referred to it simply as "a nuisance." Mullen said he doesn't oppose a sales tax that would exclude basic food and clothing items.

Severt Tindal, branch manager for a wholesale food distributor, is resigned to what he calls "a necessary evil that all branches of government find a need for more money." Revenue demands will probably bring a sales tax, he feels.

4. Would you favor an increase in the state gasoline tax to raise more money for highways?

Yes 5; no 4; no opinion 1. If more money is needed, the majority said, users should provide most of it through higher gasoline levies.

Firmly opposed to higher gas taxes is Harold E. Wilcox, manager of a downtown retail store. He says:

"I think it's high enough; there must be other ways to raise the money. I've found that states with lower gas taxes often have better roads. Missouri, for instance, has terrific roads and only a 2-cent gas tax."

5. Do you think the legislature should give the people a chance to vote on the taconite amendment?

Yes 5; no 5. Those opposed to a referendum think legislators are generally better qualified to vote intelligently than the people.

6. Should Minnesota have a statewide Sunday closing law?

Yes 4; no 6. Donald W. Bauer, wholesale grocery company employee, considers such a law an infringement on civil rights. Mullen said it smacks to him of blue laws, which he opposes, and added that attempts to legislate morality are often ill-fated.

Rakli sees a definite need for Sunday closing laws to check what he calls a nationwide trend:

"There should be one day of rest. If someone doesn't put the clamps on soon, this is going to be a 7-day-a-week, 52-week-a-year country. It's getting out of hand," Rakli said.

7. Should Minnesota's Memorial Day-to-Labor Day daylight saving period be lengthened?

Yes 5; no 5. Five supported lengthening daylight saving a month at each end to conform with Wisconsin hours. Of the five who opposed extension, two persons said daylight saving time should be discontinued altogether.

8. Do you favor legalized sale of colored oleomargarine in Minnesota?

Yes 9; no 1. Nine of the group declared themselves in favor, noting that a large amount of the product now is imported from neighboring states by Minnesotans.

Bundy said the state should "continue to protect its dairy farmers by refusing to permit sale of colored oleomargarine."

Bowhunter Success

Winona Bowhunters bagged five deer on the opening day of the late season in Minnesota and Wisconsin. Stature Knapp, Gilmore Avenue, pictured above, got the 137-pound dressed doe on his 18th birthday while hunting at Camp Ripley. It was his first deer. He has bowhunted for two seasons.

Four of the party of 18 from the Winona Bowhunter's group that went to Needah, Wis., came home Sunday with deer. They found hunting conditions favorable but dry and noisy. The deer were moving fast and most shots were running ones. Those bagging a deer were Perry Modjeski, Robert Grochowski, Edward Jerowski and Elmer Schulz. Hunting pressure was heavy. A lot of deer were taken.

At Camp Ripley on Saturday, 900 hunters who checked into the military reservation got 39 deer. Here pressure was down. There was no snow and the deer were moving slowly. Standing shots were common.

In both areas, according to the Winona hunters, there were plenty of deer, most of the opening day hunters got at least one shot and all of them saw deer. It was satisfying hunting, under favorable weather conditions, more like the opening of the early season rather than the late one.

No deer were brought in for checking during the December season in Buffalo County, according to Stanley Apel, Buffalo County warden. There were quite a few bowhunters out over the weekend.

Boating Tax

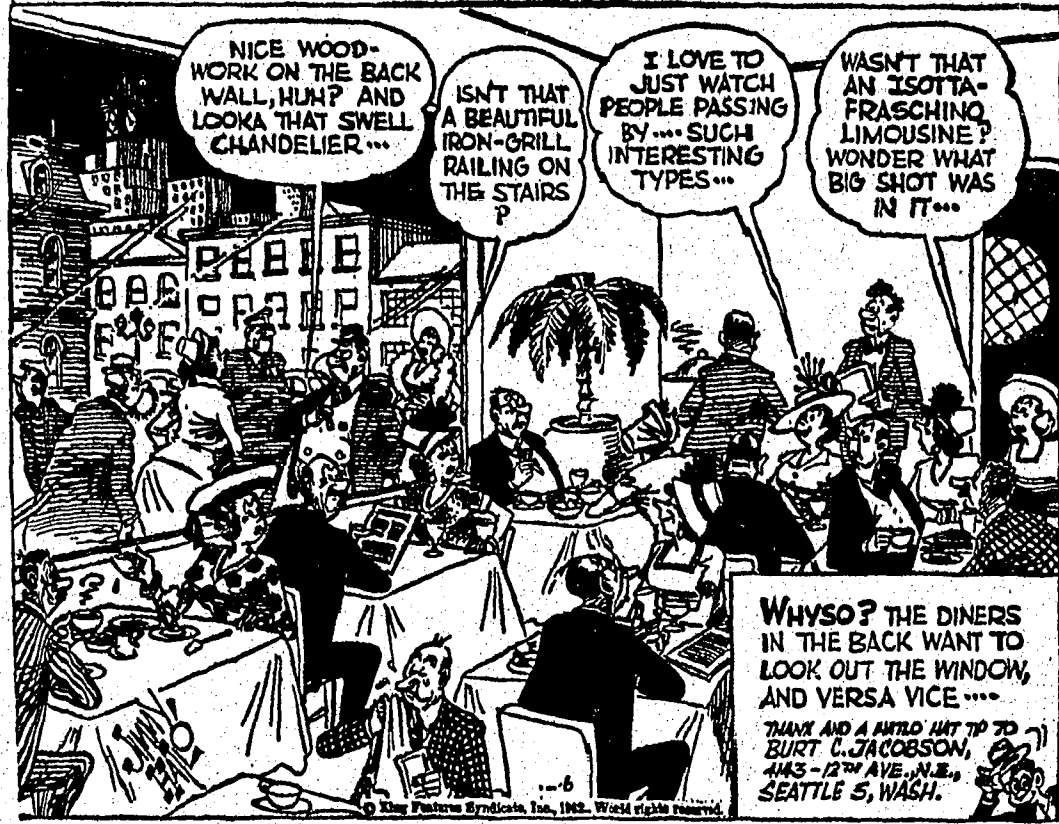

Reports from Washington indicate that the $5 tax on motorboats over 14 feet again will be on the calendar of Congress introduced as an administrative measure. It was defeated at the last session.

A favorable political gimmick, the return to the states of part of the take for the development of waterside facilities, has been added this time. It would be earmarked for use in building boat ramps, river or lakeside parks and other boat users facilities badly needed in most states. Minnesota and Wisconsin could use such a fund to build access roads to lakes.

Retriever Club

Election of officers will take place at the regular meeting of the Tri-State Hunting Dog Association which will be held at Leon Inman's home, 1808 W. 4th St., at 8 p.m. Thursday. There will be a game lunch and movies. Wives are invited.

Kissin' With Steve Proves to Be Fun

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "Girl-Next-Door" Doris Day's new heart interest isn't a baseball player, but her handsome, somewhat younger leading man in "Jumbo," Stephen Boyd... so we hear now from our Hollywood espionage bureau. It started when Doris — seldom interested in love scenes — enjoyed rehearsing the kissing clinches with Steve, then insisted on more and MORE rehearsals. Significantly, Boyd has just now been trying to stall a trip to Europe. Husband Marty Melcher — who took up Christian Science for Doris — is expected to continue as her manager.

I checked the love scene rumor with Producer Joe Pasternak who said, "Yes, when the director said 'Cut' during a kiss, they didn't cut!"

Bill Dana (Jose Jimenez) says a Russian Astronaut told him they called their first rocket "Sputnik," the one with a dog aboard "a Mutnik," and will name one carrying a man and woman together "a Picnic."

After all the effort to ballyhoo beautiful Ludmila Tcherina as "the Lady in White" for the Dec. 14 premiere of "The Lovers of Teruel" at the Coronet (she carries white luggage, wears white turbans, rides in white Cadillac, etc.), she was at the Voisin dining in a black mink coat, black dress—nothing white except the pearl dangling in the middle of her forehead.

EDDIE FISHER canceled a Puerto Rico holiday—visits his (& Debbie's) children in Hollywood instead. Then early in '63 in Nevada, he'll divorce Liz, Dick Adler, who must be JFK's favorite producer, and wife Sally Ann Howes found their E. 88th St. apt. burgled of all Sally's jewelry. Dick produces an Inaugural Anniversary show for JFK Jan. 18 at the Wash'n. Nat'l. Armory... Martha Raye & Jimmy Dean teamed for a TV pilot. Family Milestone: "Little" Slugger turned 20. N.Y.'S A SMALL town: After flying back from doing a Joey Bishop TV show in Hollywood, Stage Delicatessen Prop. Max Asnas dropped into the State Barbershop to tell about it. Max'd just done a Jackie Gleason TV show. His place is seen in the Frank Sinatra movie, "Come Blow Your Horn." Comedian Gene Bayliss popped into the barbershop, saw Asnas, and growled: "To get work as an actor, I've got to open a delicatessen."

Crackdown on Expense Tabs

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Expense account living is proving to be a very lively corpse.

It was pronounced dead when the Internal Revenue Service announced tight new rules for deducting a lot of such items from income tax returns.

The business lunch and the night out at the girls shows were called doomed. But like a lot of other aspects of the American way of life that have been counted down and out, this form of free enterprise seems likely to be around for awhile. A bit tamer, maybe, but as a way of doing business still right in there.

The IRS crackdown, along lines decreed by Congress, brought more cries of pain and alarm than even the much lamented profit squeeze. Both get business right where it hurts.

And now the IRS is relaxing some of its rules and assuring businessmen they still can eat while talking business, even take likely customers to a show, providing all concerned realize that it is financial type business that is the order of the evening.

The business lunch is subject for debate in corporate as well as tax collecting circles. Some company treasurers think executives eat awfully well while mulling over problems with their colleagues, competitors, customers, suppliers, or branch office counterparts.

But the business lunch apologists have some answers ready. For one thing, the phone doesn't ring while they're talking—unless they're impressing their guest by having a phone brought to the table at a swanky beaery.

And a tough customer gets more genial after a cocktail or two and a gourmet lunch. Also, say the business lunch enthusiasts, often that's the only time they can talk to their man, protected as he is the rest of the day by secretaries, colleagues sticking their heads in the door, and by a waiting room full of potential competitors. Finally, there's the matter of good will. This is the hardest to explain to the tax collector. But if the business lunch guest goes home filled with kind thoughts for his host as well as with good food, days or weeks or even months later he may come forth with a highly desired order. Or he may give his erstwhile host a tip that can be translated into dollars and cents.

Right or wrong, taxable or not, it's a way of doing business. And large segments of American business—from a small town store's dress buyer to the president of a billion-dollar corporation—use it.

Mondovi Youth Center Ready

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special) — Never destroy anything old or out-dated — the day may come when you find use for it.

A group of hard-working and interested citizens heeded this good counsel and, as a result, will have the grand opening of the Mondovi Youth Center Saturday night. Admittance will be free to a dance at the center and to the many facilities in it.

MONDOVI'S oldest school building, Lincoln School, now owned by the city, hasn't been used for classes many years. It has stood vacant except for the few times it has been leased by the city for storage space.

The need for a youth center here had been apparent many years.

Last April the Rev. Roger Brooks, pastor of Congregational Church, appeared before the City Council, explained the aspirations of the Mondovi Youth Group he was encouraging and asked permission to convert the old school to a youth center. Permission was granted.

Plans progressed. Later Rev. Brooks outlined to the Council progress on the youth center. He presented a set of by-laws the youth committee had set up for operating it and presented a list of citizens the young people had nominated. From it the Council was asked to select five members as an adult advisory board.

Attorney Dane Moren, Norbert Weiss, Mrs. Vernon Schroeder, Rev. Brooks and Gordon Retzlaff were selected.

LAST SUMMER about 15 young people from town and area cleaned and painted the building.

Donations of equipment included: Two table tennis tables, pop cooler, TV set, sofa, easy chair, three straight back chairs and some old bus seats. An ice cream cabinet soon will be available.

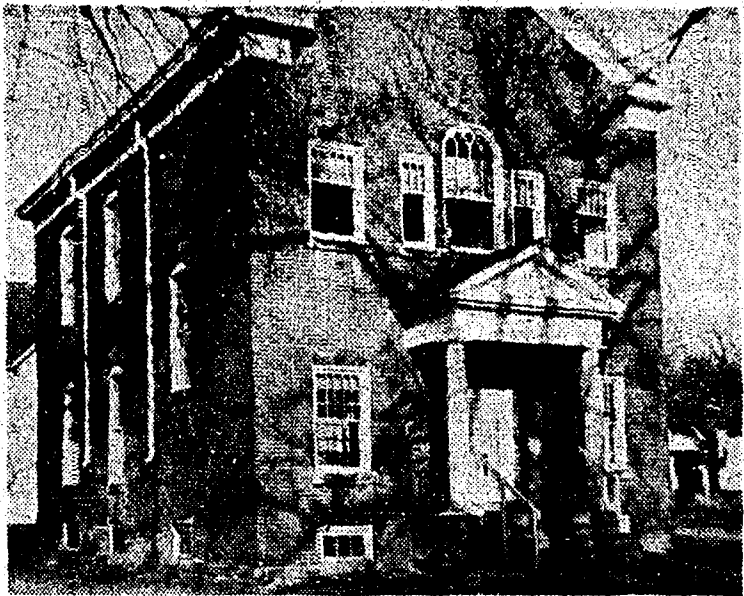

Two pool tables and a snack bar have been purchased. A game equipment dealer has put in a juke box on a commission basis.

Some money has been given. The young people are grateful to the city for heating, lighting and paying for improvements in addition to providing the building.

John Cook has been hired as recreation director, his salary to be paid from a $3,000 government grant.

MEMBERSHIPS will be sold at the grand opening. They will entitle the bearers not only to use the center but will signify they belong to the Mondovi Youth Club, which has as its purpose, "service to the community."

Young people of junior and senior high school age may belong. The center will be open from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, Saturday afternoon and Mondday, Friday and Saturday evenings during the school year.

In addition to providing purposeful leisure time activities, the youth club has these civic aims: A continuous improvement in development of youth as American citizens; closer understanding between adults and youth, and proper respect for home, school and community.

Mondovi Youth Club is administered by young people with assistance from their adult advisers.

PRESENT officers are: William Hart, president; Jeanine Cook, vice president; Jane Rutschow, secretary, and Sidney Sharp, treasurer. Many other young people have been instrumental in the earlier stages of planning, including Gary Meistad, the past president, Barbara Berger, Liz Scharf, Dennis Wulfi, Sue Bloes and Chris Hanson.

Mondovi youth will appreciate their youth center, because they helped organize it, spokesmen say. Perhaps other areas will make similar use of many closed school buildings. You'd be surprised what some paint and a brush will do, the Mondovi teenagers say.

$25 Fine Paid On Check Charge

Marjorie E. Hanson, 19, 405 E. 5th St., was sentenced in municipal court today to pay a fine of $25 or to serve eight days after she pleaded guilty to a charge of fraud by check.

The charge is a misdemeanor. An earlier charge of larceny by check, a gross misdemeanor, was dismissed because of mistaken identity.

Miss Hanson was arrested at police headquarters at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday. She had cashed a check at Neumann's Bargain Store, 121 E. 2nd St., Nov. 19 without sufficient funds in Merchants Bank to cover it.

She has paid the fine.

Blair Water Test Planned

BLAIR, Wis. (Special) — A pilot plant for demonstration of techniques of removal of iron content from the city's water supply will be set up at the pumping station here Friday.

Arrangements for the tests to determine whether iron can be removed from the water and if the treated water will be acceptable to the public were made at Monday's meeting of the Blair Common Council.

REPRESENTATIVES of Layne-Northwest Co., Minneapolis, will install the pilot plant at 11 a.m. and it will operate until 4 p.m. The public is invited to visit the pumping station Friday, witness the removal process and sample treated water.

Tests will be made to determine which method of iron removal would be most satisfactory in solving Blair's water problems. Representatives of Layne-Northwest and two other firms who met with the Council agreed that trouble with Blair's water stems from the high iron content of water taken from the city's well. They said that iron removal procedures and filtering may solve the problem.

The Council also authorized Assessor Ray Skorstad to attend an institute for assessors at Milwaukee Dec. 17.

Bids will be asked for the city's 1953 fuel oil and coal supply. A proposal for establishment of a municipal skating rink was referred to the park committee for action. To meet current obligations, $20,000 was borrowed from the Union Bank of Blair.

At a previous meeting the Council extended the tax payment deadline from Jan. 31 to Feb. 28 and granted a request by Erickson Lumber Co. for a permit to erect a lumber storage shed.

Pearl Harbor-Day America Woke Up

AMERICAN ISOLATION ended Dec. 7, 1941. Some historians may put the date back further, to 1898 or 1917. But anyone who recalls the state of American thought before Pearl Harbor—in September Congress almost dropped the draft—is likely to feel the decisive jolt came then.

What happened in one day changed mental attitudes so profoundly that an awakened people could not afterward understand the dream that permitted it. In that state radar and other warnings were futile. People who heard about the Japanese attack on the radio thought it was another hoax like Orson Welles' Martian invasion. That it could happen seemed so incredible beforehand that afterward the lack of preparation seemed incredible to many—except as a treasonable plot.

STRENUOUS EFFORTS have been made to explain Pearl Harbor. Books have been written trying to prove that President Roosevelt conspired to provoke the attack and knew it was coming. Those who wish to believe this must also rate dozens of top military and civilian officials as dupes or traitors. They must also disregard the report of an exhaustive bipartisan inquiry from which only two members dissented.

A better explanation lies in the fact that the attack was a stupendous mistake—the kind of suicidal folly nuclear war would be today—and a treachery outside the ken of men who followed the rules of declared war. That it succeeded temporarily does not alter the fact that it was a mistake. Samuel Eliot Morison, one of the most respected authorities in the field, says: "The strategy which dictated it was so bad as to be considered, after the event, almost imbecile."

HE POINTS OUT that the commander of the Pacific Fleet stated five days before Pearl Harbor that his forces were so ill-equipped they could not reach the Philippines inside six months. That was the direction in which the Japanese were expected to strike. For Southeast Asia was plainly the main target of the fanatics in Tokyo. But for their immediate purposes even an attack on the Philippines was unnecessary. Washington, primarily concerned with Hitler, was not seeking trouble in the Pacific.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT was concerned about Japan's militarists and their aggressions. But he felt the American people, striving to keep out of Hitler's war, were even less likely to support war in the Pacific—unless attacked. If he had wished to provoke an attack it could have been done by risking no more than a destroyer or bomber in the Philippines.

Speaking of the Philippines reminds us that they had a second "Pearl Harbor" 10 hours after Oahu was hit. Was General MacArthur part of a plot to obtain a Japanese surprise? Japanese raids caught his planes on the ground and wiped out American air power in that area. We don't believe there was treason. But that surprise—after nine hours of warning—is even harder to explain than Hawaii's.

THE GIST OF OUR view today is that Pearl Harbor was a stupid, calamitous success for Japan. It precipitated a German declaration of war on the United States. Without it America might have "kept out of war" in Europe for months, in the Pacific even longer. It was one of those corners history turns and we see that, "The world can never be the same again." The ships that sank at Pearl Harbor took down with them the dream that America could live unto itself.

One Solitary Life Has Affected All

(Editor's Note: Mrs. Thomas F. Westcott, 105 E. King St., submits the following with the suggestion that perhaps our readers would enjoy it, particularly at this time of the year.)

THERE IS A MAN who was born in an obscure village, the child of a woman who, to her peasant neighbors, was just one of them and one with them. He grew up in another village. He worked in a carpenter shop until he was 30, and then, for 3 years, he was an itinerant preacher. He never wrote a book. He never held an office. He never owned a home. He never had a family. He never traveled 200 miles from the place he was born. He never did one of the things that usually accompany greatness. He had no credentials but himself.

While still a young man, the tide of private opinion turned against him. His friends ran away. One of them denied him. He was turned over to his enemies. He went through the mockery of a trial. He was nailed to a cross between two thieves.

As he was dying, his executioners gambled for the only piece of property he had on earth, and that was his coat. When he was dead, he was taken down and laid in a borrowed grave through the pity of a friend.

Nineteen wide centuries have come and gone and today, He is the centerpiece of the human race and the leader of the column of progress.

All the armies that ever marched, and all the navies that were ever built, and all the parliaments that ever sat, and all the kings that ever reigned, put together have not affected the life of man on this earth as has that One Solitary Life!

For I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day. (1 Tim. 1:12)

Washington Calling

India Lesson For the West

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — The relentless march of events in India revealing the weakness of the Indian armed forces has been taken by many in this country as an opportunity to jump on the prostrate form of Prime Minister Nehru. In some of the comment there has been an almost-gloating satisfaction over the fate of the man who had set himself up as the self-righteous arbiter of the morals of everybody everywhere. Understandable as this reaction may be, since human nature always relishes a fall from the pedestal of righteousness, the tragedy is greater than the lot of any individual. For what we are seeing could prove to be the end of the experiment in Asian democracy of which Nehru was the symbol and chief exponent.

It is also a personal tragedy, as Nehru himself revealed when he talked of the illusions under which India had been living prior to Red China's massive invasion. Those illusions were part of Nehru's background as his own complex personality has been shaped between the powerful attractions of both East and West.

This reporter has talked with Nehru a half-dozen times in New Delhi and in other capitals where he has visited. The last time was in London in September where he had come for the meeting of the Prime Ministers of the Commonwealth countries. Whereas before he had always seemed articulate and confident, ranging in his talk over the problems of India and the world, he was on this occasion in the residence of the Indian High Commissioner to London like a man withdrawn.

HE SEEMED to be shut away in some brooding inner preoccupation as though he sensed the catastrophe about to befall him and his country. When he spoke, it was with bitterness over the European Common Market and the determination of Prime Minister Macmillan to take Britain into the market regardless, as it seemed to Nehru, of the consequences to the Commonwealth countries. Polo sticks and cricket bats, these are all they will buy from us when the European tariff wall goes up, he said.

On each occasion in New Delhi, when he talked with the charm and the fluency that go with his great gift of personality, you came away with a sense of the enormity of his task and the odds against his being able to succeed in it. He was struggling to impose on the vast confusion of India—a confusion of languages, castes, customs—the parliamentary democracy which he had come to know in his education at Harrow and Cambridge in England.

IF HE HAD followed the Communist way he would have struck down this confusion by the use of force. The example of Red China, where the most brutal and pervasive authoritarian apparatus holds the populace in line despite widespread hunger, has been for Asia the other pole of development. China's major aim in the border war has been to deal India a blow so crippling as to end any hope of peaceful progress under democracy.

It had been Nehru's goal to stand apart from the struggle between East and West. He believed that only by avoiding participation in the cold war could India succeed in industrializing and in increasing agricultural production to feed a rapidly expanding population. Considerable aid has come from the Soviet Union and large amounts from the United States.

This neutralism in the cold war—the illusion, as it has now proved, that India could coexist with Communist China—is the chief cause for the denunciation heaped on Nehru.

Kennedy Urges Stevenson To Remain in U.N. Post

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Inside fact about relations between President Kennedy and Adlai Stevenson is that JFK has blown hot and cold about the man who did not come out for him at the Los Angeles convention until it was very, very late. On the whole, however, despite the fireworks kicked up by Kennedy's close friend Charley Bartlett in the Saturday Evening Post, Kennedy wants Stevenson to remain in the administration.

He considers him an efficient, tight-working administrator who has accomplished some amazing achievements in the U. N. At one time, when Stevenson seriously considered running for the Senate from Illinois, Kennedy invited Adlai to Sunday lunch at Glen Ora, and spent two hours urging him to remain at the U. N.

One argument was that if elected to the Senate, Adlai would become just another senator. "I was in the Senate when Alben Barkley returned after serving as vice president," Kennedy recalled. "Every one hailed him as the conquering hero. But that lasted about two days. After that he was just another senator."

"That's what you would be. I know the Senate. You would be just one man among one hundred. Sure, you could vote for aid to education, but it would be only one vote. You could have a good time lambasting Eisenhower. You could even have a good time criticizing me. But it wouldn't be anywhere near as important or interesting as what you are doing now."

Real fact about the inner council debate which preceded the Cuban decision was that Secretary of State Dean Rusk differed more over the quarantine ultimatum than did Stevenson.

STEVENS did propose the idea of negotiating for the removal of both Russian missiles in Cuba and American missiles from Italy, Turkey and England, especially since the United States had been on the verge of removing its missiles from these countries anyway.

But after the decision was finally made, both he and Rusk closed ranks and stood squarely behind the President.

Rusk is a very quiet talker, doesn't pound the table or get excited. But with his slight Georgia drawl he argued, during the inner debate, for the then current State Department policy of isolating Castro, showing him up to other Pan Americans for what he is—an egocentric swashbuckler, and eventually letting the Cuban situation work itself out.

Rusk was most adamant against some of the hothouse advisers who wanted to invade Cuba. On this he stood like a rock of Gibraltar. At first, he was also opposed to the quarantine.

RUSK ARGUED that the intermediate range missiles on Cuba were not nearly as important as the thorny ring of missile-submarines which had formed an underwater fortress around the United States for the past 10 years. They had been outside the 3-mile limit pointing at the Eisenhower administration all during its two terms in office, yet no one got excited about them. These, it was argued, were a much greater threat against the United States than the IRBMs on Cuba. And since we couldn't do anything about the submarines as long as they kept beyond the 3-mile limit, there was no use risking war over the much less dangerous Russian missiles on Cuba.

Pinched Nerves 'Pain in Neck'

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Frequently my husband suffers severe pain in the back of the neck. It has been diagnosed as a pinched nerve. An acquaintance of his, a dermatologist, said he has the same thing. He spent a great deal of money to cure it and still has pain. He advised my husband to save his money and bear it out. This doesn't satisfy me in view of the achievements of modern medicine. Can't something be done? Mrs. E. B.

I wouldn't settle for that giving-up advice without having a more careful analysis. Pinched nerves are just what they feel like: A pain in the neck. They shouldn't be tolerated if there is a way to get rid of them.

Sometimes there is; sometimes there isn't. This sort of distress comes from different causes. Thickening of vertebrae in the neck (osteoarthritis) puts pressure on a nerve. A disc disorder ("slipped" or "ruptured") disc between the vertebrae does the same thing. Some anomaly of bone development, such as a "cervical" or extra rib causes it. This can be corrected by surgery. An operation can also remove the pressure caused by a disc fault, by fusing together two vertebrae.

SUCH CORRECTION must be decided upon only after careful study of X-rays, to determine in advance whether it can be expected to succeed. If your husband hasn't consulted an orthopedist (bone specialist), he should.

However, there are several less drastic methods which help if the patient understands what to do and why he is doing it. Since the trouble is pressure on a nerve, usually at the point at which it emerges from the spine, anything which removes the pressure relieves the pain.

CORRECT POSTURE, which sounds so simple, is all that is needed for some victims. While awake, don't slouch. While asleep, use of a higher or lower pillow sometimes does the trick. Learning to stretch out full length when going to bed ("to draw the spine out so no 'kinks' or bends exert unwanted pressure between the bones") can be helpful.

Finally, a simple neck-traction device, for the same purpose — to draw the vertebrae apart and relax the neck muscles — can be used at home after instruction by a doctor. These simple measures have helped so many people that it is a shame to let anyone suffer from neck pains without knowing about and trying these remedies.

Dear Dr. Molner: My son, 10, is anxious to gain weight. He is the typical "string bean" type and full of nervous energy — eats three decent meals a day plus an egg nog each night. Have you any suggestions? — Mrs. E.

Yes: Wait. These string beans grow that way. They have spurts of growing up, and then spurts of growing out, and they usually have periods (whether they do or don't tell us) of wanting to grow faster than they are growing in one direction or another. If he just can't wait, give him some more between-meal feedings of high-calorie foods (milk, sandwiches, and such) which may add a little weight, and make him think he's "doing something" about it. Be careful that these are not timed so as to interfere with his appetite at regular meals. That's about all you can do. Nature, you and I know, will solve things anyway.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any danger from radiation while watching a 23-inch TV from a distance of eight feet or so, for 10 or 12 hours daily? I'm 58 and wear glasses.—Mrs. M. R.

No danger, but don't you get tired of it?

Dear Dr. Molner: Have you written about "cervical right rib" or an extra rib arising from a cervical neck vertebra? Can this rib be removed to relieve pain and pressure from the back of the neck, shoulder and eye and temple?—MRS. F. C.

Yes, I've mentioned this as a cause of pain (or sometimes merely a tingling sensation) in the arm, shoulder or neck. It isn't a true rib in the ordinary sense—just a prominence, or nubbin usually, arising from the side of a vertebra.

If large, it exerts pressure on nerves and/or arteries in the neck, producing various symptoms on the order of those you listed. X-rays will confirm whether this is the trouble. Yes, such a "rib" can be removed if necessary.

Dr. Molner: Short of cutting off my head, isn't there anything I can do about the awful facial whiskers I'm sprouting? Wouldn't female hormones help?—Jane.

No, m'am, I don't think they would help, and definitely do not recommend them (except, of course, in cases in which some deep-seated hormonal imbalance is found).

Even more do I discourage cutting off your head!

Shaving the "awful facial whiskers" is entirely feasible but, of course, a nuisance. Depilatory creams may solve the problem for you. Or for permanent removal, have the roots destroyed by electric needle. This last is a tedious task, I admit, but effective.

BOYLE'S COLUMN

Hubby Serves Breakfast to Wife in Bed

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—A man's word is his bond.

For a long, long time I had been promising my wife, Frances, that on our silver wedding anniversary I would bring her breakfast in bed.

So when the great day finally came, I leaned over her by the dawn's early light, and tenderly asked: "What'll you have dear?"

"Just orange juice, toast, scrambled eggs and bacon and tea," she murmured sleepily.

"Well, then, get up and fix it!" I told her.

"But all these years you promised you'd serve me breakfast in bed on our 25th anniversary," protested Frances. "Some years that prospect is about all that kept me going."

"I do intend to serve you breakfast in bed. But first you have to get up and cook it, don't you?"

But she padded out to the kitchen, fixed breakfast, then climbed back into bed, and I served it to her—according to plan.

Then, as married people do on such occasions, we fell to reminiscing about the past.

Frances remembered everything about our wedding at the "Little Church Around the Corner" here in 1937—who was there, what she wore, what I wore, who said what to whom.

All I could recall about the ceremony was that—my bride brought me only a dowry of $100—we either had to forego having the candles at the altar lit, $2, or the organ music—was it $5 or $10?

"Our wedding dinner was spaghetti, meat sauce and a bottle of wine," said Frances. "It cost $2. I remember I had to lend you the money."

"And the bedstead in that quaint little hovel in Greenwich Village you brought me home to didn't even have legs. It was supported by four stacks of bricks."

Discussing our quarter century of marital experience, I asked my wife:

"What do you think now are the hardest years of marriage?"

"The first 25," she replied promptly, then added fervently, "I hope!"

Actually, the wear and tear of the years shows more on me than on her. I have grown fat and partly bald from weathering a depression, two wars and recessions.

But my wife, who had a streak of premature gray in her hair at marriage, now shows no sign of silver threads among the gold. Some years back her hair sudden-

Badger Assembly Selects Speaker

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Robert Haase, 39-year-old Marinette attorney, has been named speaker of the Wisconsin Assembly for the 1963 legislative session.

Chosen Republican floorleader at a caucus of the majority party assembly on Friday was Paul Alfonsi, 54, a veteran lawmaker who first was elected to the Assembly as a Progressive in 1932.

Haase must go through the formality of being elected when the 1963 Legislature convenes but the Republicans control the Assembly and election is assured.

Thomas Barland of Eau Claire was chosen caucus chairman and Curtis McKay of Mequon was named assistant GOP floorleader. Barland is 32 and McKay 35. Both were freshmen last session.

Harold Clemens, 44, Oconomowoc, was named Assembly Speaker pro tem.

The Republicans also decided to reconvene the 1961 legislative session Dec. 27. This motion must be approved by Senate members.

Plan Could Speed Aid to Alcoholics

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Alcoholism, "a disease as respectable as cancer or tuberculosis."

And, "It is no more painful for the alcoholic to stop drinking, through the aid of modern drugs, than it is for a woman to have a baby."

Public realization of these two facts could speed the recovery of thousands of alcoholics, declares R. Brinkley Smithers, president of the National Council on Alcoholism, Inc.

"The sooner alcoholism is treated, the better the chances for a good recovery," Smithers said in an interview during Alcoholism Information Week, sponsored by the council.

One severe roadblock is the stigma attached to alcoholism as the drinker's own fault, and a sign of moral or character weakness, he said. A second is the pain when the alcoholic tries to quit without medical aid.

"The public must come really to feel that it is no disgrace to become an alcoholic," Smithers says. "If a doctor or other knowledgeable person tells someone that he is suffering from alcoholism, the person must recognize he has a legitimate illness. He should react in a manner similar to a person who is told that the lump on his body is cancer."

"In other words, the patient's reaction must be, 'What can I do, doctor, to get well?'"

Drinking is socially acceptable, legal and even a sign of prestige among some groups, Smithers points out.

But about 1 of 15 drinkers becomes an alcoholic, unable to control his drinking. This means five million Americans are alcoholics.

"Why should we look down on the one who gets sick?" asks Smithers. "Of course, once the alcoholic has been informed of the nature of his disease, he must realize he cannot drink with impunity. He must be helped in every way, and if he continues to drink, he is either sicker than the ones who recover, or has other problems as well."

Smithers terms the alcoholic, "the world's sickest man if he has been drinking a long time. He's trapped in a squirrel cage—he lives to drink, and he drinks to live."

The first 24 hours of non-drinking are the worst, he adds, and the alcoholic who tries to go it alone suffers terrible agonies, feeling as though "he's flying apart in all directions."

But if he goes to a hospital or a doctor, newer drugs can relieve many of these symptoms, and "in most cases, quitting drink is less painful than childbirth."

In about five days the alcoholic loses his compulsion but not his desire to drink, Smithers explains. From then on, he must resist the temptation to take a first drink, for that could trigger another episode of completely uncontrolled drinking.

Alcoholics Anonymous or psychotherapy, or both, can help him resist, and time is on his side, and "it becomes easier."

Some 500,000 American men and women are recovered alcoholics, living useful, normal and even highly successful lives. That's only 10 per cent of the total victims, and far from enough, Smithers adds.

Interviews Taped For Toastmistress Club Analysis

Tape recordings of extemporaneous interviews were made for all members and guests at the meeting of the Winona Toastmistress Club held Tuesday evening at Hotel Winona.

Interviewers chose their topics and asked questions in imaginary situations. Among these were the following: Country versus city living, the employment interview, How do you feel about your son's joining the Navy at 17? and Why were you interested in attending our Toastmistress meeting?

Each recording was played back and evaluated by Mrs. Irvin Teasdale and Mrs. Robert Ramonda. The tape recorder was furnished through the courtesy of Jerry Rolbiecki who operated the machine throughout the program.

Topicmistress, Miss Sadie Marsh, chose word associations for one-minute impromptu talks. Members and guests drew folded slips of paper which they opened only after rising to speak. Each read the word assigned, described its association and explained the reason.

Mrs. Addison Glubka served as toastmistress for this preliminary radio workshop meeting. She introduced all participants including Mrs. John Rolbiecki who presented a vocabulary feature, Mrs. Lambert Hamerski who gave the thought for the day and Mrs. John Somers who related a humorous story. Others who had assignments were: Mrs. Henry Langowski, invocation, Miss Marsh, pledge to the flag.

Guests at the dinner meeting were: Mrs. Beatrice Florin, Mrs. William Miller, Miss Margaret McCready and Mrs. Ellen Starbuck.

Dunn Urges State to Pay For Recount

ST. PAUL (AP)—Rep. Roy Dunn of Pelican Rapids, veteran conservative leader in the Minnesota House of Representatives, urged here that the legislature take charge of the recount in the governorship race and arrange to pay for it.

"I am not at all satisfied with the way this recount is being juggled around," said the former majority leader in a statement. "If we don't do it differently we are going to become the laughing stock of the nation."

"I note that a labor union has offered to put up the recount bond for Lt. Gov. Rolyvaag and apparently has offered to pay the expense of the recount."

"I don't think that would do at all. The legislature should take over and conduct the recount at state expense so no governor would be under obligation to any group."

A liberal leader, Rep. D. D. Wozniak of St. Paul, called on Gov. Andersen and the Republi-

New Regulations For Church Parley

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John XXIII today authorized new regulations designed to speed the work of the Roman Catholic Eccumenical Council by using its nine-month recess to redraft almost all proposals before it.

The rules for the procedure during the recess—starting Saturday and ending Sept. 8—were announced to the 2,200 council fathers at their session in St. Peter's.

Many council fathers have said the council, at its current pace, could go on for years. Preparatory commissions wrote more than 70 projects, or theses, for examination as possible council decrees or constitutions.

Pope John's rules, issued today, said the council's commissions would meet during the recess to redraft the schemes, condensing them into 20 projects.

The Pope also authorized creation of a special commission headed by Vatican Secretary of State Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, to coordinate and direct the work of the drafting commissions during the recess.

30 Buffalo Co. Residents Take Explosives Course

MONDOVI, Wis.—Mondovi was host to a group of recruits taking a course on explosive ordnance reconnaissance conducted by U.S. Army personnel last week. Van Swanson was in charge.

Instructions included information in public safety from the presence of an unexploded ordnance and demonstrated methods of fire control of a vehicle transporting such explosive ordnance.

A motion picture illustrating the impossibility of the explosion of a nuclear weapon through an accident was of particular interest, said Howard Mohnk, Cochrane, Buffalo County civil defense director.

Thirty members of county fire and police departments have completed the course. All members will receive identification from the Army listing them as agents of the explosive ordnance corps.

Eagles Auxiliary Raises Funds for Vocational Center

The local Fraternal Order of Eagles Auxiliary has joined with its sister auxiliaries across the country in pledging to raise money for the order's 10th overseas youth vocational training center. The Eagle House will be located in Chone, province of Manabi, Ecuador, according to Mrs. Bernard Smith, 294 Orrin St., president, of the local group. The project will be named in honor of the group's first Grand Master, President, the late Kay Guy, Irwin, Pa.

Co-sponsored with CARE, the Eagle workshop will provide carpenter training for boys in a four year course. Proficiency in a trade is the only hope for improvement of poor living standards. The lack of competent tradesmen is one of the chief factors hampering progress in this area, according to CARE officials.

The workshop itself will be a wing of an existing school, the Colegio Normal de Chone, administered by the Ministry of Education with 300 male students between the ages of 12 and 20.

Eagle Aeries are concurrently sponsoring a similar youth training center in Turkey. Other Eagle Houses, sponsored by both groups, are located in West Berlin; Naples, Italy; Catania, Sicily; Manila, P.I.; Temuco, Chile; Mexico City, Pyrgos Vassilis, Greece; Abadan, Iran.

Eggs, Cheese Housewife's Food Treat

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Eggs, cheese and chicken offer housewives an answer to their protein problem in these days when they're trying to stretch the food budget to make up for holiday feast deficits.

Egg prices are generally low over the nation and there are a variety of cheese and dairy features at reasonable prices.

Broiler-fryers are widely highlighted among poultry items. Turkey prices are also down, having hit levels some places as low as have been reached since the war.

Pork is the star among red meats in many places. Beef bargains this weekend include, in many stores over the nation, short ribs, round steaks, stew beef, ground beef and blade-cut chuck roasts.

Among vegetables, dry beans are in good supply as a good nutrition budget stretcher. Texas cabbage is flowing into marketplaces. Florida radishes are in good supply.

Vegetables highlighted regionally include squash, green peppers, eggplant, green beans, celery, cauliflower, rutabagas, turnips, onions, parsnips, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, collards, potatoes and sweet potatoes.

Fruit attractions include apples, cranberries, oranges, grapefruit, grapes, pears and tangerines.

Avoid Noon Rush Postmaster Says

Postmaster John W. Dugan urged Winonans to bring Christmas parcels to postal windows before 10 a.m. or between 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. to avoid the noon hour rush.

"It looks like the Christmas mail this year will set an all-time record, far exceeding the 1,217,713 pieces of mail that were dispatched and delivered in the pre-holiday season of 1961," Dugan said.

Out of town parcels should be mailed this week and out of town cards by next week.

$443,000 Note Issue Approved

Temporary notes for a total face value of $443,000 will be issued Tuesday by the Winona Housing and Redevelopment Authority, according to Arthur A. Gallien, executive director.

Maturity date on the notes is Dec. 13, 1963, and they will replace $430,000 in short-term notes issued June 15. The money was to cover construction costs of $368,772 for the new Schaffner Homes project for elderly persons as well as operating and equipment expenses for the balance of 1963.

Successful bidders for the notes were the First National Banks of St. Paul and Minneapolis which jointly offered the financing for 1.64 percent interest.

Three other bids were received: Bank of America, California, 1.65 percent; Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., New York, N.Y., 1.68 percent; and Chemical Bank New York Trust Co., New York, 1.84 percent.

Three of the notes were for $100,000 each, two for $25,000, seven for $10,000 and three for $1,000, Gallien said.

WHRA commissioners met Monday to review findings of an engineering survey by the Public Housing Administration which was made Sept. 20-21. The maintenance engineer making the study reported the Arthur C. Thurley homes project as well maintained and managed.

DEAR ABBY:

It's Certainly Not Too Late

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Is it too late to change my will? I had one made out years ago with the help of my lawyer. I left everything to my nieces and nephews (I have no living sisters or brothers) and I have had some second thoughts. My nieces and nephews have shown no interest in me. I would like to change my will and leave everything I have to one charity and a family of friends who have been very kind to me. How can I do this? I am miles from my lawyer.

GROWING OLDER

DEAR GROWING: Either telephone or write your lawyer and he will handle the matter for you. It certainly is NOT too late.

Abby

DEAR ABBY: I like a guy very much but I don't like the way he kisses. I don't want to hurt his feelings by telling him. What should I do?

UGH

DEAR UGH: If you don't know this "guy" well enough to give him the word about his kisses, you shouldn't be kissing him.

DEAR ABBY: Perhaps I am being small but we have neighbors who think they are being "neighborly" by getting our mail out of our box and delivering it to us across the street. I think our mail is our own business and no one has the right to do the mailman's job. In the past, if we were not at home, our mailman would leave our packages with these neighbors, but when I told him to stop it, he did, so we don't have that trouble any more. How can I tell our neighbors to leave our mail alone without getting on the outs with them?

WANTS PRIVACY

DEAR WANTS: Simply TELL your neighbors (in a very "neighborly" way) that you prefer to get your own mail. And, by the way, there is a law against tampering with someone else's mail.

DEAR ABBY: When a man takes a girl to a night club or restaurant and the headwaiter says, "Follow me," does the man or the girl follow the headwaiter first? Hurry your answer because I have a $5 bet on and I could use the money.

BENNY

DEAR BENNY: If you bet that the GIRL follows the headwaiter first, you have just won $5.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Rushford Farmer, Wiped Out by Fire, Aided by Neighbors

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special) — Since Arne Agrimson lost his barn and 150 tons of hay and straw by fire Aug. 19, there has been an almost continual flow of people helping him get on his feet again. Agrimson lost everything but his livestock. That was rescued from the burning structure.

The day after the fire, 25 neighbors, friends and relatives put up 4,000 bales of hay. Many bales of straw were given to Arne. Women brought in food.

When Henry Wenzel, Rushford contractor, was building a new barn, some of the neighbors helped lay the foundation and put up the rafters. Returning again Dec. 3, five neighbors plowed all afternoon. They were Harold Paulson, Paul Agrimson, Glenn Maland, Allen Aarsvold and Sam Garness.

The same day, Peter and Alfred Agrimson were putting finishing touches on the new barn, and Alfred Peterson and Wilfred Turnbloch painted it.

The new barn has a capacity of 40 milk cows. Arne is milking 32 now. He had housed his cattle on an adjacent farm meanwhile. Agrimson rents the farm from his father, Alfred Agrimson.

Adult fireflies live only a few days or at most a few weeks, their sole function being to propagate. The adults of most species may eat no food at all.

100 Attend DFL Party at Rushford

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special) — One hundred DFL'ers attended the work appreciation party at Golfview Supper Club Saturday evening.

David Graven and his wife, Arlene, were special guests. Graven of Albert Lea, was the DFL candidate for Congress from the 1st District.

After a dinner of turkey, ham and the trimmings in the basement dining room of the new supper club, Leon Rosvold, Rushford, furnished music for dancing and singing.

Bell, Richter Selected on 1962 All-America Team

NEW YORK (AP)—Fabulous Terry Baker, Jerry Stovall, George Mira and George Saines — responsible for a combined total offense of over 5,000 yards this season — comprise the backfield of the 1962 Associated Press All-America Football team announced today.

Baker, an honor student in mechanical engineering at Oregon State, was named Heisman Trophy winner as the outstanding player of the year and was the top National Football League draft pick.

In all, six members of the All-America were first round NFL selections, including the versatile Stovall from Louisiana State, ends Pat Richter of Wisconsin and Dave Robinson of Penn State, ends Pat Richter of Wisconsin and Dave Robinson of Penn State, center Lee Roy Jordan of Alabama and Purdue tackle Don Brumm.

Mira, the pass master of Miami, Fla., and fullback Saines from Michigan State are joined by Damon Bame, fierce guard and linebacker from Southern California's national champions, tackle Bobby Bell of Minnesota and guard Johnny Treadwell, heart of unbeaten Texas defense.

Bame and Mira are juniors, the rest seniors.

An unusual feature of the line which averaged 212 pounds per man — 20 pounds less than last year's All-America forward wall — is that the most weight is packed into the end position. Richter is a 230-pounder who guarded a flank for the nation's No. 2 power. Robinson goes 222.

The fast, hard-hitting aggregation was picked on recommendations of eight regional boards composed of sports writers and broadcasters who took into account all games through Dec. 1.

Only one man in collegiate history ever cranked out more career total offense yardage than the left-handed passing Baker, whose 2,276 output this fall gave him 4,980 for his three varsity seasons. Johnny Bright of Drake set the mark of 5,903 a dozen years ago.

Baker was a Portland, Ore., high school teammate of halfback Mel Renfro, the brilliant University of Oregon star who landed a second team All-America berth. Mississippi's Glynn Griffing, Billy Moore of Arkansas and spectacular Eldon Portie of Brigham Young were other second team backs.

The line has ends Hugh Campbell of Washington State and Tom Hutchinson of Kentucky, tackles Art Gregory of Duke and Ray Schoenke of Southern Methodist, Georgia Tech's Rufus Guthrie and Oklahoma's Leon Cross at guards, with Don McKinnon of Dartmouth at center.

Though a southpaw passer, Baker kicks and pitches a football from the right side. His coach, Tommy Prothro, says: "I think Baker more than deserves all the honors bestowed upon him."

An uncanny passer and deceptively fast ball carrier, Baker is a quarterback but has proved himself equally proficient as a single wing tailback.

Facing previously unbeaten West Virginia, Baker passed for 200 yards and three touchdowns before halftime. Shell-shocked Mountaineer coach Gene Corum said afterward: "Baker is the best T-quarterback I've ever seen in college."

So rounded is Stovall the pros aren't sure how they'll use him. They know he'll make the grade somewhere.

This 195-pounder and Heisman runner-up has been a three-year starter, stepping into the position vacated by the graduation of Billy Cannon.

The pre-dental student has been the Tiger big gun in rushing, pass receiving and punting, and exhibited his skill in kick returns when he took one 93 yards for a touchdown which helped subdue Georgia Tech 10-7. His defensive skills rate five stars.

With a season yet to go, Mira has shattered 12 Miami marks — four each in single game, season and career categories.

Mira connected on 122 passes for 1,572 yards and 10 touchdowns this fall, all school records.

Saines finished as the second leading ball carrier in the Big Ten and its finest all-around back. He played almost 60 minutes a game in this era of unit substitution, was a devastating tackler in the role of rover on defense, and made the Spartans go with his blocking when he wasn't hauling the ball.

Saines turned in three touchdown efforts against both Notre Dame and Indiana.

Hall hit a free throw, but Bates knotted the score on a jumper with 1:05 in the half. It required a two-point from 10 feet out by Denny Burman to give St. Mary's a 31-29 intermission lead.

Seggelink was the biggest thorn in the second half. At one point he reeled off 10 straight points, finishing with 23 for high honors. Bates collected 20.

A PAIR OF free throws by Tom Farbotko in the final 29 seconds wrapped up the victory for the Blue Devils who are now 2-3 for the season. Stout had lost earlier this year to Winona State 82-63.

"We went out and got good leads, and then forgot how we did it," said Redmen Coach Ken Wilgen.

The Redmen spurred to a 15-5 margin in the first nine minutes of the game and had a 43-34 bulge in the first six minutes of the second half.

Stout, playing exceptional basketball under the offensive boards, got all but two of its 12 second half field goals on tip-ins and rebound shots.

St. Mary's shot 36 percent for the game, hitting 12 of 24 in the first half and 24 for 65 for the night. Stout hit 24 percent on 25 for 72.

Hawks, Red Wing Foes Here Friday

Winona High and Red Wing, a pair of losers in last week's first round of action in the Big Nine Conference, tangle here Friday night.

The Hawks are 1-2 over-all and Red Wing 0-2 and it goes without saying, a Big Nine victory would be the biggest morale builder either quintet could have at this stage in the season.

JOHN Kenney, Winhawk coach, saw the Wingers lose Saturday night to Minneapolis West 56-46. Pete Petrich, Winger coach, saw the Hawks lose Friday night at Rochester 51-41.

So it's a good bet there will be strategy employed when the two clubs take the court at 8 o'clock.

"We'll start the same five as usual," said Kenney, "but may make some switches after that."

That will mean John Prigge and Wulf Krause at forwards, Jim Kasten at center and Capt. Marty Farrell and Steve Keller in the backcourt.

Pat Boland and John D. Uel undoubtedly figure in any switches Kenney may make. The Hawk coach has not been too pleased with the fact his center, Jim Kasten, has been getting out-battled.

Bearcats Finally Reach No. 1 Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It took two long years and a couple of national titles to do it, but the Cincinnati Bearcats finally reached the No. 1 spot in The Associated Press regular season weekly basketball poll.

The Veteran Bearcats were an overwhelming choice for the top spot in the first weekly poll Wednesday, gaining 38 first place votes on the 44 ballots cast and outdistancing the second team by more than 100 points.

Strangely, it was the first time in three years Cincinnati had topped the poll, though the school won the NCAA title the last two seasons. Ohio State led each week for the last two seasons, only to fall before the Bearcats twice in the NCAA finals.

of a string of upsets handed the ranked teams in the opening weekend of play. St. Bonaventure, however, was the only team in the pre-season poll to fall from the top ten, losing to Southern Illinois in its opener.

The Top Ten, based on total points allotted 10 points for a first place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third down to 1 for a tenth place vote. (First place votes in parentheses.)

Only three other teams received first place votes. Duke got three, West Virginia two and Texas one. The Duke Blue Devils edged West Virginia for second place, 307 points to 281.

High-scoring Loyola of Chicago, which scored more than 100 points in each of its first two triumphs, took fourth, followed by Mississippi State, Wisconsin, Oregon State, Indiana, Kentucky and Wichita, in that order.

Kentucky, ranked third in the pre-season poll behind Cincinnati and Duke fell to ninth after suffering an upset at the hands of ambitious Virginia Tech, 80-77, in its opening game.

The Kentucky loss was only one

Each school had 18 boys swim a 100-yard freestyle and total team time was computed.

SIX GOPHERS ON HONOR LIST

They are ends John Campbell and Bob Frawdzki, quarterback Duane Blaska and halfback Bill Munsey, tackle Carl Eller and guard Julian Hook.

Crusher, Evans Tangle Tonight

Brutal as the operator of a French Guillotine, strong as a grizzly with the temper of a polar bear — that is how promoters describe the Crusher, a 253-pound one-man war of Milwaukee who will appear in the wrestling ring at 8:30 p.m. tonight at the Catholic Recreation Center.

Crusher will face 350-pound Moose Evans of Albany, N.Y., in the main event. The two wrestlers have met before. They were scheduled to meet here several weeks ago but a last-minute replacement had to be found for Evans who had suffered a deep cut on his forehead.

The semi-final bout finds Doug Gilbert, 222 pounds, South Bend, Indiana, battling Rocky Hamilton, a 245 pounder from St. Joseph, Mo., in a two-out-of-three falls match, 45 minute time limit.

Dick Steinborn, 228 pounder, Orlando, Fla., will take Jack Allen, a 225 pounder, Chicago, in a one fall, 30-minute time limit special bout.

Evans is one of the biggest men in the wrestling ring today, but the Crusher shows utter disregard for his foes, promoters and fans. His barbarous attitude in the ring is one of the reasons he is barred in nine states and two provinces in Canada. He's not wanted in Japan, London, or even his native Poland.

The main event will be a two-out-of-three falls match with a one hour time limit.

Howard's father dies HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—John F. Howard, 72, father of Los Angeles Dodger outfielder Frank Howard of Green Bay, Wis., died Wednesday at the Chesapeake and Ohio Hospital.

Frank Clarke of the Dallas Cowboys led National Football League scorers with 66 points after six games. Green Bay's Paul Hornung was second with 62.

Ohio State Cagers Not Following Role

By BOB GREEN Associated Press Sports Writer

It wasn't supposed to be like this at all.

This was supposed to be the year that Ohio State was from nowhere and — at last — Cincinnati moved out of the Buckeye shadow and into its rightful spot in the college basketball picture.

But, like an aging star who is loathe to leave, the Buckeyes just won't give up the ghost.

They took their third straight Wednesday night, beating Virginia 70-66 and keeping place with top-ranked Cincinnati, which rolled over Miami of Ohio 58-36, the Bearcats' third of the season and 21st victory in a row.

The Bearcats were the only member of the Top Ten in action Wednesday. In some of the other major results, Texas put on its best defensive showing in more than 10 years in subduing East Texas State 71-38 and Nick Werkman, the nation's third leading scorer last season, scored 37 points in leading Seton Hall to a 90-70 conquest of St. Anselm's of New Hampshire.

California beat St. Mary's of California 77-63. Tennessee won from Xavier of Ohio 63-40. Oklahoma State crushed Montana 65-47 and North Carolina used a huge edge in rebounding to beat Clemson 64-48.

The Cavaliers stayed close in the early going but Ohio State had been picked as the nation's best, and led every weekly poll until the NCAA title game. Twice they lost the national title to Cincinnati.

This then, said the critics, should be the year Ohio State falls from favor and Cincinnati takes over. It looked that way in the early voting this season, too, with Cincinnati ranked No. 1 and Ohio State out of the Top Ten.

Just how right that forecast may be could be settled Saturday when Ohio State enters the Mountaineers of West Virginia, winners of their only outing this season and ranked third in the nation.

Unbeaten Eagles Face Cotter Friday Night

Undeclared Rochester Lourdes swings into Winona Friday night in an attempt to make the Cotter Ramblers their fourth consecutive victim.

The 8 p.m. contest will be played at St. Stan's gymnasium.

IT IS COTTER'S first game in seven days and Coach John Nett has tried to make the most of the rest — to avoid any recurrence of the fourth-quarter fade-out his Ramblers did a week ago in losing to Eau Claire Regis.

"I don't ever recall losing a game like that one," said the Cotter coach, who has more than 15 years behind him. The Ramblers led Regis by nine points with six minutes to play and blew the game 48-46.

"We have the potential," said Nett. "If we can get our bigger boys to move better, we can still be pretty tough by the last half of the season."

Joe Theobald, 5-10 senior guard, and Joe Brown, 6-1 senior forward, have carried the brunt of the Eagle attack. Defensively, Theobald and guard Doug Olson have given opponents fits up front.

With Cotter not meeting either Owatonna Marian or Waseca Sacred Heart, not by choice, the Ramblers technically are not members of the Ravoux Conference. Thus Lourdes, with wins over Marian and Pacelli, is now an odds-on favorite to take the championship won by Cotter last year.

GEOFFRION SUFFERS FRACTURED WRIST

TORONTO (AP)—Bernie Geoffrion, Montreal Canadiens' star right winger, suffered a fractured right wrist in a collision with Toronto Maple Leaf goalie Johnny Bower Wednesday night.

The injury came in the third period of Montreal's National Hockey League 2-1 loss to Toronto. Geoffrion scored Montreal's only goal on the play but hit his wrist on Bower's chin.

BIG MARGINS FADE AWAY

Stout Rally Tips Redmen

MENOMONIE, Wis. (Special) — St. Mary's Redmen found prosperity hard to enjoy here Wednesday night.

The Redmen started each half in firewagon fashion to build comfortable leads and then wilted in the face of Stout rallies to lose 60-57 in their third basketball game of the season.

Hall hit a free throw, but Bates knotted the score on a jumper with 1:05 in the half. It required a two-point from 10 feet out by Denny Burman to give St. Mary's a 31-29 intermission lead.

Seggelink was the biggest thorn in the second half. At one point he reeled off 10 straight points, finishing with 23 for high honors. Bates collected 20.

A PAIR OF free throws by Tom Farbotko in the final 29 seconds wrapped up the victory for the Blue Devils who are now 2-3 for the season. Stout had lost earlier this year to Winona State 82-63.

"We went out and got good leads, and then forgot how we did it," said Redmen Coach Ken Wilgen.

The Redmen spurred to a 15-5 margin in the first nine minutes of the game and had a 43-34 bulge in the first six minutes of the second half.

Stout, playing exceptional basketball under the offensive boards, got all but two of its 12 second half field goals on tip-ins and rebound shots.

St. Mary's shot 36 percent for the game, hitting 12 of 24 in the first half and 24 for 65 for the night. Stout hit 24 percent on 25 for 72.

STOUT FELL in arrears 46-37 with 12 minutes to play but came back behind Seggelink to go ahead 51-50 at the 5:55 mark, the Blue Devils' first lead since a 3-1 advantage in the opening minutes.

Burman put the Redmen in front with a basket, but Bates and Seggelink made it 54-52 with four minutes left. At the 2:17 mark it was 58-54 after Burman and Bob Hayhurst traded baskets. Hall hit a free throw, St. Mary's second charity shot of the half, and Williams scored with 57 seconds left to make it 58-57.

At that point, trying to get the ball, Williams fouled Farbotko and he sank both shots on the 1-and-1 situation.

St. Mary's, now 2-1 for the year, travels to Sheboygan, Wis., Saturday night to meet Lakeand College.

A 152-average bowler, Mrs. Dalleska said: "I never thought I was that close. All along I've been wishing for a good 500, and then was only 11 pins short of a 600."

She was almost more tickled over the four split conversions she made. They were the 2-7, 5-10, 5-8 and 4-5.

Arizona State Stingiest Grid Team in Nation

NEW YORK (AP)—Arizona State University wound up the college football season as the biggest offensive threat in the country and Mississippi proved the stingiest team on the gridiron, according to NCAA final statistics released today.

The Sun Devils, who completed a 7-2 campaign, averaged 384.4 yards a game, almost 10 more than runner-up Oregon State, which had a 375.2 mark.

The Rebels, who take their 9-0 record into the Jan. 1 Sugar Bowl, allowed only 142.2 yards a game edging Memphis State, with a 147.1 average.

Ohio State was tops in rushing offense, Tulsa the leader in passing, Minnesota No. 1 in rushing defense and New Mexico first in passing defense.

The Buckeyes rolled up an average 278.9 yards a game, winning that title by a large margin over resurgent Oklahoma, which had a 265.9 mark. The Sooners also were third in total offense as they finished an 8-2 season.

Tulsa won in the aerial race with 199.3 yards a game to 193.3 for No. 2 Northwestern.

Minnesota allowed only 52.2 yards a game on the ground to take the rushing defense championship and New Mexico permitted 58.8 yards a game in the air to win the forward pass defense crown.

Hornets Will Play Again In S-M Loop

Winona's Hornets will compete again this season in the six-team Southern Minnesota Hockey League which will start league play Dec. 18.

League representatives held an organizational meeting Monday night and will meet again Dec. 18 at Owatonna.

Comprising the league will be Rochester's Colts, North Mankato, Albert Lea, Austin, Owatonna and Winona.

Changes in league rules include a $10 forfeit charge if a visiting team fails to show up for a game; switch to International Hockey League playing rules which permits body checking all over the ice, and use of two officials to be provided by the home team at each game.

An all-star game at the close of the season also is being planned. Officers re-elected include President Ray Schaefer of Austin and secretary-treasurer Joe Suchmel of Rochester.

Players interested in the Hornet organization will meet at 7 p.m. Saturday at which time officers will be elected for the local club. Hockey clinics for boys, Park-Rec League operation and a fund drive also will be discussed.
