37 Entombed in Pennsylvania Mine Blast

President Visits SAC Headquarters

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—President Kennedy came to the headquarters of the Strategic Air Command on this Pearl Harbor anniversary to get a personal look at the war rooms from which nuclear retaliation against any future attacker would be launched. Kennedy's blue, white and silver jet transport emerged from leaden skies and landed in a light snow flurry at SAC's Offutt Air Force Base. The flight from Washington took 2 1/2 hours.

After the usual ceremonial welcome from Air Force brass, Kennedy climbed into an open convertible for the short drive to SAC's subterranean command post. He was bareheaded, though the thermometer registered only one degree above freezing.

The motorcade had barely begun when the President reverted to his campaign-trail ways. His car stopped and he clambered out to personally greet a crowd of several hundred Air Force wives and youngsters lined up behind a restraining rope.

Snowstorm Hits Northeast Ohio

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The worst snowstorm in a dozen years crippled northeastern Ohio today. Up to a foot and a half of snow was on the ground in one area and the U. S. Weather Bureau said no relief was expected before late tonight.

The heavy snow delayed trains and buses, grounded planes, shut down at least 50 factories and closed virtually all schools in a wide area and caused hundreds of accidents.

The storm, moving into northern Ohio late Wednesday afternoon from the south, was powered this morning by winds of 30 to 35 miles an hour, with gusts up to 50 miles an hour. Temperature hovered near the freezing point.

The depth was not as great as in other snowstorms but the strong, biting winds piled drifts as high as five feet.

Hundreds of cars and trucks stalled, blocking practically all secondary roads. Bottlenecks at some Ohio Turnpike exits backed up traffic for six miles. Speed on the 241-mile toll road was about 20 miles an hour. One lane was open in each direction.

Underground Forts Reported Built in Cuba

NEW YORK (AP)—Soviet troops in Cuba are reported engaged in the construction of underground fortifications and additional airfields throughout the island, the New York Times said today.

A Washington dispatch by Tad Sulez said "A detailed report on these activities, dated Nov. 23, was received from Havana through anti-Castro intelligence channels," adding: "The report stressed that while some Soviet military camps had been closed, all indications were that many Soviet units and advisers remained in Cuba."

Noting that President Kennedy said he had been informed by Moscow that Soviet combat troops in Cuba also would be removed, the Times said "The number of such troops is now believed to be between 5,000 and 10,000 men."

The report suggested, the story said, that the Russians are concentrating on aiding Cuban forces "to redeploy and improve their defenses along the lines of conventional armaments."

The newspaper said the report quotes "high officers" of the Cuban army as having said that "the majority of Soviet military technicians will not leave Cuba."

Death Toll Up to 106 in London Smog

By HAL R. COOPER

LONDON (AP)—The worst smog in a decade loosened its lethal four-day grip on London today, leaving 106 known dead and more than 1,000 in hospitals.

Dense patches persisted in parts of the British capital, but in most places the sun finally seeped wanly through a thin blue haze in mid-morning.

"London is like an oasis, completely ringed by a slowly clearing fog belt," said a spokesman for the British Automobile Association.

Visibility rose to 150 yards at London Airport, and weathermen said it should increase to an operational 2,000 yards later. At midday, not one civil aircraft had been able to get in or out of the airport in 88 hours.

Still fogbound in the Thames Estuary, downriver from London, were more than 170 ships, many carrying Christmas foodstuffs badly needed in the nation's shops.

Commuter trains into London were up to 20 minutes late during the early morning rush hour. Main line trains on longer hauls ran up to 3 1/2 hours behind schedule.

Heavy fog still was reported in the eastern counties of Norfolk and Suffolk, with visibility on the roads averaging 25 yards. Ice on highways in many areas also made driving hazardous.

Hazy sunshine was forecast in most parts of the British Isles until tonight. The prediction was that frost and fog would return during the night in patches in the southeastern part of the country.

Mild, cloudy weather, with some rain or drizzle, is expected to set in Saturday.

The smog settled in Monday night and eased once for a few hours Thursday. But Thursday night London groaned to a standstill again as the black pall descended.

Except for a few stragglers, all the city's buses returned to their depots by 10:30 p.m., two hours before normal quitting time. Train schedules remained in chaos.

Even in the brightly lit West End, people groped their way through the shrouded shopping streets.

At the height of it all, Sir Winston Churchill went out to dine. The 88-year-old war leader spent 2 1/2 hours at the Savoy Hotel with friends of the Other Club, an exclusive dining group he helped found 51 years ago. He came out in the dark with a smile and a "V" sign.

U.S. Expects Russian Troops to Leave Cuba

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. authorities expect the Soviet Union to withdraw thousands of troops from Cuba now that red bombers and missiles have been pulled from the island.

American intelligence sources estimate there are 9,000 to 15,000 Soviet troops in Cuba. Many were assigned to install and man the offensive weapons.

The Pentagon said Thursday Navy patrol planes had counted 42 bombers aboard Soviet ships outbound from Cuba. This is the number of bombers the Soviets told U. S. officials they had in Cuba — somewhat more than American experts had estimated.

This apparently completes the removal of Soviet offensive weapons from Cuba.

Nearly a month ago, the U.S. Navy counted 42 Soviet missiles on their way out. U. S. authorities said they know of none remaining in Cuba.

They said U.S. negotiators will press in discussions with Soviet representatives in New York for removal of the Soviet troops. The Soviet Union, the authorities said, is expected to pull the men out.

Some of the Soviet troops were said to have been used to protect the missile site positions and to man the estimated two dozen anti-aircraft missile installations that U.S. experts believe the Soviets set up to defend their offensive weapons complex.

The anti-aircraft installations feature 20 to 25-mile range surface-to-air missiles. Washington wants these dismantled, too, through there is no current report the Soviets are doing so.

So far, officials said, several hundred Soviet soldiers have been seen aboard ships leaving Cuba. A large-scale troop withdrawal, U.S. strategists believe, would not only weaken the Kremlin hold on Cuba, but lessen the chance of a U.S.-Soviet clash should the United States decide to move against Cuba in the future.

Gen. John K. Gerhart, commander of the North American Air Defense Command (NORAD), said reports of Soviet planes over the United States during the Cuban crisis apparently traced to flights by American planes were temporarily unidentified.

Rescue Teams Seek to Reach Trapped Men

By BEN DEFOREST

CARMICHAELS, Pa. (AP)—Rescue workers plodded to within some 4,000 feet today of 37 men trapped deep underground by a tremendous coal mine explosion.

U. S. Steel Corp., which operates the Robena No. 3 mine, said a recheck of its records showed a 37th man missing. A total of 36 men were believed trapped at first.

The men have not been heard from since the explosion at 1:15 p.m. Thursday.

Rescue crews had gone slightly more than halfway into the two-mile tunnel from the mine shaft after more than 22 hours of digging.

Lewis Evans, Pennsylvania secretary of mines, described the situation as "desperate," but held out hope the miners may be alive. "We hope the men built barricades to stop the flow of gas," he said.

Forty-four others working in another section of the pit walked out unhurt. Some returned to search for their colleagues who are 650 feet underground.

Slowed by deadly gas and tons of rubble that left shorings hanging like burnt matches, the rescue crews proceeded cautiously in the tunnel—its concrete walls buckled by the blast.

"Those men are looking into the barrel of a shotgun," said one union official. "With those fires smoldering down there, it could cause another explosion."

But the search goes on. So do the hopes and prayers of wives, brothers, sisters and relatives keeping a vigil in a corrugated metal building adjacent to the mine shaft. Ministers tried to comfort the grieving families.

The blast was the second in the 16-year-history of the Robena mine.

Evans, who is directing the operations, blamed it on a combination of gas and coal dust. He described the blast as one of tremendous nature.

The mine, one of the world's largest soft coal operations, is about 50 miles southwest of Pittsburgh. It produces coal for U. S. Steel's Clairton (Pa.) Works.

The mine shaft drops straight down 525 feet to the surface. At that point there is a sloping tunnel without branches extending two miles to the working face. The tunnel drops gradually from 525 feet to 650 feet. That's the point where the men are trapped. There is only one exit to the surface.

Mine officials said air coming up from the mine shaft contains large amounts of carbon dioxide, indicating there is fire in the blast area.

The first indication of anything wrong was the reported failure of an electric exhaust fan. It blew out, but was repaired in 10 minutes. Five minutes later it conked out again.

James Girod, an assistant mine superintendent, said the first crews down the shaft detected dust coming from all directions, indicating an explosion or fire.

'DAY OF INFAMY'

No Official Recognition Of Pearl Harbor Day

By ROBERT MYERS

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP)—The "Day of Infamy" was marked quietly and without ceremony today while the Navy, at Pearl Harbor turned its attention to sports.

On Ford Island, less than a mile from the black-scarred coast where the Japanese attack of Dec. 7, 1941, was centered, a nine-hole golf course was dedicated. A boxing program at Bloch Gymnasium, across the water from the sunken hulk of the USS Arizona, featured five amateur Japanese fighters.

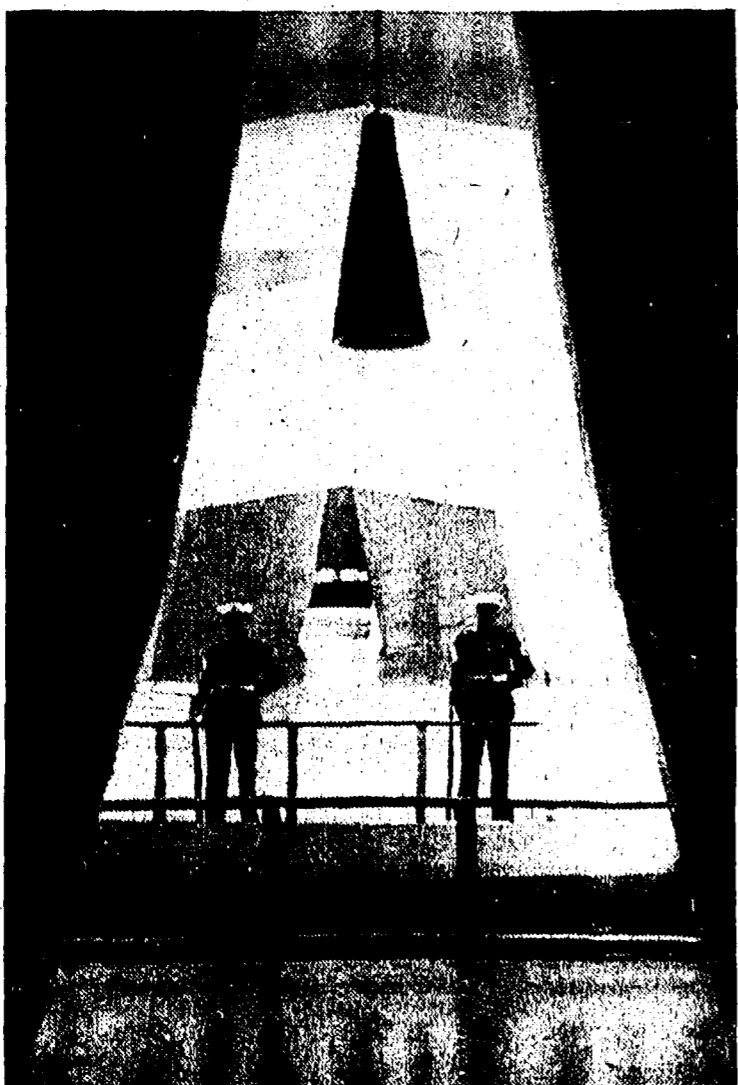

There was no official recognition of the 21st anniversary of the darkest moment in U.S. naval history.

A small boat shuttled between the shore and the memorial, as it has done daily since last Memorial Day when the shrine was completed. A Navy official said larger-than-usual crowds were expected to make the trip. Otherwise activity in the busy harbor was normal.

Veterans groups, other patriotic organizations and individuals planned to take flowers to honor the 1,102 men entombed in the Arizona.

Although it has done so in other years, the Navy scheduled no speeches or ceremonies above the battleship. A new policy of the Navy department specifies that tributes to the dead of battle may be held only on Memorial Day.

The American flag was raised over the Arizona at dawn—a daily ritual. The Arizona is considered still in commission by the Navy because her crew is aboard. Giant aircraft carriers, nuclear submarines and other modern warships pipe a salute as they move by her "berth."

Mixed-Up Life for Fat Man

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Now is the fat man's finest hour.

A fat man leads a mixed-up life in our calorie-conscious civilization.

For five weeks a year he is a hero—the king of the hill. The rest of the year he is a dumpy clown, a figure—an over-sized figure—of ridicule to his skinny inferiors.

This is the season—between Thanksgiving Day and New Year—that separates the fat men from the lean boys.

This is the brief season when everybody truly loves a fat man because he looks like those two symbols of harvest and human kindness—the pumpkin and Santa Claus.

It makes everybody happy even to see a fat man come over their horizon like a waddling cloud. He is in the flesh so perfect an im- age of the joyous spirit of the time.

Even strangers come up to the fat man and poke a playful finger in his chubby stomach and say things like:

"There's a lot of good living in there, eh?"

"Better than money in the bank, isn't it?"

"Well, you're at least one fellow who can take it with him, aren't you?"

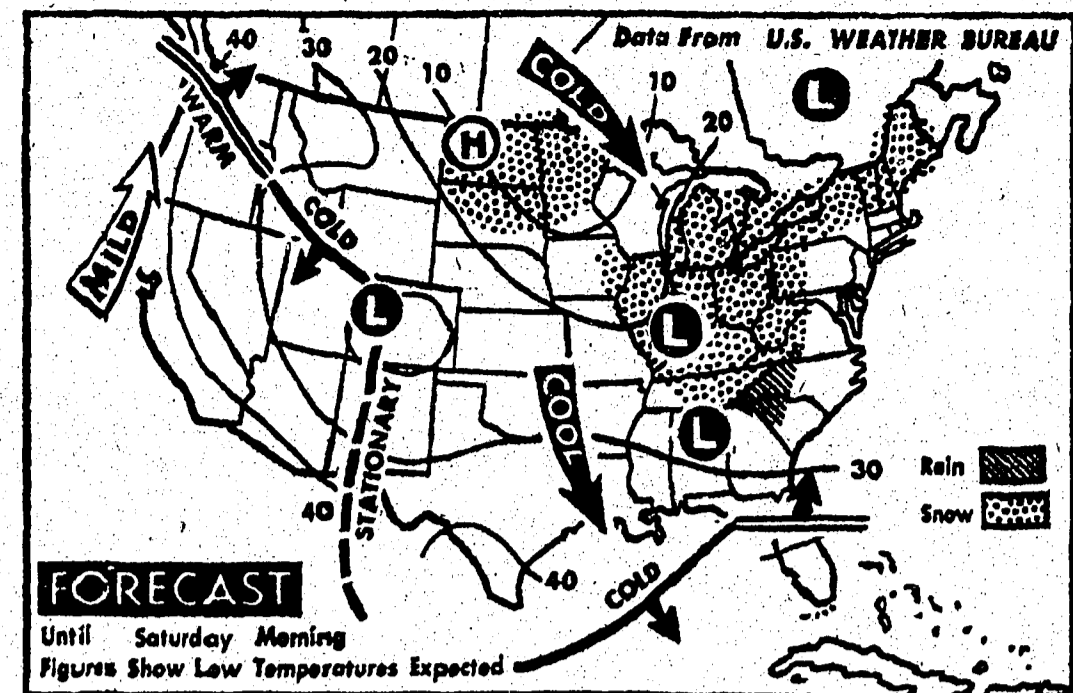

The fat man is inundated with invitations to seasonal festivities of every kind. He becomes the life of every party. For what kind of a party is it around Christmas that doesn't have a jolly fat man there, booming with laughter?

It makes other people feel good just to see the fat man eat and drink—living life up the way mankind feels it ought to all year round in a feast of endless plenty.

Unused to appreciation, the fat man falls for this accolade like a hungry kid turned loose in a store full of all-day suckers.

He bellies up to the wassail (bow) and drinks mightily. He spills more calories on his necktie at lunch than the average man consumes in a day. He buffers the buffet for a third huge helping as the other guests gaily urge him on with remarks like, "Come on, have another piece of mince pie."

"My, doesn't it do your soul good to see someone get such real measure out of living?"

WEATHER FORECAST . . . Scattered snow flurries are expected tonight from the north Atlantic coastal region westward through the Lakes and into the Ohio and Tennessee valleys, with flurries also in the northern Plains. It will be clear to partly cloudy elsewhere. It will be cooler in the northern and central Plains and the South- west and western Gulf region, and warmer in the Southeast and eastern Gulf area. # ABC Jumps Gun On Crash Details

NEW YORK — I was tuned to some deathless epic on the TV last Friday when the DC-7B crashed at Idlewild, and the first bulletin interruptions by the American Broadcasting Co. were ultra-frequent and ultra-sketchy. The hot flashes ranged from "believed to have crashed," with no knowledge as to whether there was anybody aboard, to the final gruesome details.

Decidedly, ABC is out to make a mark in the news end of its programming, but I think that, on the whole, jumping the gun on crash accidents is very bad business indeed. On the first bulletins, for instance, there was no indication of whether the plane was arriving or leaving, and its port of depart- ure was not known.

That in itself is worrisome enough for someone who has a friend or relative leaving town—in my case, I did I

Ruark and certainly incomplete as to name.

This eagerness to retail disaster before the fires are quenched is perhaps commendable in the en- terprise department, but is sick- eningly ghoulish in terms of hu- manity. Surely some of the view- ers and listeners, once the flight was identified, went ashen with fear. Some quite possibly started for the airport, adding to panic and congestion.

PEOPLE WERE warned on the air NOT to come to the airport, because of traffic and weather conditions, and because conges- tion would operate against relief measures—ambulances and such. The warning was just—a few years back, when the word was broadcast that a jetliner couldn't get its wheels down, thousands of horror-mongers rushed to the air- port in hopes of seeing a crash landing, thereby creating enor- mous confusion.

This aspect does not comprise the main point of my complaint, which is that no good—only harm—is done by premature, piecemeal bulletin announcements of a catas- trophe in which the extent of tra- gic damage is as yet unknown.

Thousands of people, apart from the friends and relatives aboard Eastern's Friday night casualty, were leaving or entering Idlewild and LaGuardia—and first reports did not specify which airport, but mentioned both. Until details of the crash were known, thousands of people in the New York area alone must have been terrified.

THEN, PIECEMEAL listing of survivors must have added to the horrified reaction of stay-at-homes if they knew or suspected that a relative or friend was booked for the flight. And, when the beyond- casting company got a man on the scene with the correct communi- cations hookup, the broadcast was lurid in the extreme, with every cliché note of horror being played with all stops out.

I cannot see that this sort of hurried coverage of disaster achieves much of a coup in the news-beat business. It is perhaps too much to ask to leave it all to the airlines, in a military sense. The military generally announces casualties only to the next-of-kin before the news is made publicly available.

But certainly it is not too much to ask that the frightening bulle- tins be kept off the air until the flight number and flight destina- tion or arrival are known, and a reasonably accurate count has been made of dead, wounded and unharmed, with a positive iden- tification of survivors. You can at least identify most survivors, and roughly reckon the number of dead before the bulletins start to fly.

A BIG FIRE, a big murder, a big airplane crash—all make news. Industry in getting in print or on the air first with the details is the life of the news business. But certainly, of all catastrophes, a major air accident touches the lives of more people than any other man-engineered accident save a war.

Thousands on thousands of people may be in the air, leaving, or arriving in the broad time-area surrounding the announcement of a major plane crash. Hundreds of thousands of near and dear ones are aware of this fact. These hun- dreds of thousands of anxious

Teenagers Seeking Jobs Puzzle U.S.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Uncle Sam also is puzzled by teen-agers just as their parents sometimes are. Specifically the puzzle is why so many youngsters suddenly went job hunting.

This pushed the unemployment rate up in November to equal its old 1962 high of 5.8 percent of the labor force. About the same num- ber of men and women were out of work as the month before, but the number of teen-age males looking in vain for jobs rose by 100,000 or more. Of the total of that age group now in the labor force, 15.2 per cent are on the out- side looking in.

One explanation could be that the number of dropouts from school increased by that amount. Government officials, educators, and business executives have joined parents in warning young- sters that the changing U.S. econ- omy makes it steadily harder for the unskilled to find work.

The number of jobs open to those without a high school diplo- ma is dropping. In this technical age, the percentage of jobs open to those without a college degree is smaller than it used to be in the Horatio Alger era. And more and more a masters degree is be- coming an asset for landing the more desirable positions.

Drives to keep teen-agers in school are being redoubled, and the latest experience of the 100,000 who couldn't find work may add point to it.

But the monthly employment figures themselves increasingly puzzle the experts. Like many sta- tistics, the figures at best are ed- ucated guesses. They are approx- imations, based on samplings tak- en at various points of a limited number of households. The sampl- ings, like most polls, are expanded to approximate the population figures, and are adjusted to allow for the usual seasonal variations.

Even so, they frequently come up with surprises. Late last sum- mer the jobless rate jumped when the expectation had been it would drop. Officials then said the trou- ble was women. A lot of them re- ported they wanted to work but didn't have a job.

Officials said this was tem- porary. In a month or so, they said, most of these women would be happily, or unhappily, em- ployed in the nation's classrooms. And perhaps that's what came to pass.

The unemployment figures are closely watched at all times. This year they have commanded special attention because all efforts to drop the percentage of unem- ployment have been blunted by the steady rise in the labor force. And that's where the large num- ber of teen-agers come in—and will continue to come in—in the years just ahead.

St. Lawrence Seaway Closes for Season

MONTREAL (AP) — The St. Lawrence Seaway closed its fourth and busiest season early today when the last two ocean- going ships left the inland waterway.

Shipping sources here estimated complete figures for the season would show more than 26 million tons of bulk and package freight were carried through the system this year — the greatest amount of marine cargo ever carried be- tween here and the Great Lakes.

Gunshot Victim's Death Found to Be Accidental

Stanley J. Losinski, 48, 662 E. 4th St., died at 1:05 a.m. today at County Memorial Hospital of a gunshot wound suffered Thursday afternoon.

Losinski, who suffered the head wound about 12 hours earlier, was awaiting arraignment in District Court here on a charge of second degree grand larceny.

Authorities who investigated the death have ruled it accidental.

Sheriff George Fort said that the death can only be considered accidental under the circumstances.

CORONER R. H. Tweedy said this morning that it was not his duty to rule on the accident. He said that he knew nothing about it and would not make a ruling.

Fort said that from the way the accident scene, one-quarter mile south of St. Mary's Cemetery, looked, an accident appeared the only possibility.

The victim was found at 1:50 p.m. Thursday by Irving Paseth, Witoka, north of County State Aid Highway 17. Paseth had to stop for Losinski's car parked on the side of the highway and then saw Losinski sprawled over the barbed wire fence 12 feet north of there.

Paseth stopped his truck and walked over to Losinski. He talked to the victim for a short time, then picked him up and carried him to Losinski's car. He placed him in the car.

PASETH SAID that Losinski thanked him when he helped to get Losinski untangled from the fence. Paseth said that Losinski walked most of the way to the car.

Paseth helped him into his car and then hitched ride into Winona to call Sheriff Fort and the ambulance. He left his truck parked near Losinski's car.

Sheriff Fort said that Losinski must have been shooting at two oil cans which he had placed 30 feet from the fence. One of the cans had two holes shot through it. Footprints in the snow at that point showed that he had walked out and placed the cans there and had them walked back, said Fort.

"It appears that he took two or more shots at the cans, then started through the fence. As he went through the fence his pants caught on the barbed wire and he fell. He probably had the barrel of the gun in his right hand.

"THE GUN EITHER discharged by itself or got caught in the fence. He then fell over the wire and his leg was entangled in the wire when Paseth found him," said Fort. The gun that Losinski had was a bolt action .22-caliber rifle.

The bullet entered his right temple.

The ambulance arrived at about 2 p.m. and took Losinski to the hospital, where he died this morning. Losinski was unconscious at that time and never regained consciousness.

Sheriff Fort and a deputy, Helmer Weimann, were at the scene shortly before the ambulance arrived. Weimann was sent out by the sheriff earlier and the sheriff went out a few minutes later.

Losinski had been out of jail since Nov. 26 on a $1,000 bail. He had been charged with second degree grand larceny and would have appeared in District Court. He had been bound over to that court following a preliminary hearing in municipal court Wednesday.

He was charged with taking a large quantity of items from Watkins Products, Inc., 150 Liberty St. Losinski had been employed there for a number of years.

County Attorney S. A. Sawyer said that the amount of merchandise taken from Watkins was more than $3,000. Losinski was charged specifically with taking one carton of mints valued at $750 Oct. 26.

Friends said that Losinski rarely if ever went hunting.

Losinski was born here Feb. 16, 1914, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Losinski. He lived in the area his entire life. He was a member of St. Stanislaus Catholic Church and had been a fireman for the Burlington Road before being employed by Watkins in 1933. He was also a member of the Winona Athletic Club and the Holy Name Society of St. Stanislaus Church.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Veronica Losinski, Winona; one son, Stanley Jr., Winona; two brothers, Joseph, Wabasha, and Lambert, Winona, and one sister, Mrs. John (Florence) Verdict, Winona.

Funeral services will be held at 8:30 a.m. Monday at Watkowski Funeral Home and at 9 a.m. at St. Stanislaus Church, the Rt. Rev. N. F. Grukowski officiating. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 2 p.m. Sunday. The Rosary will be recited by the Rt. Rev. Grukowski and the Holy Name Society at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. Members of the Winona Athletic Club will call at the funeral home at 7 p.m. Sunday.

Valve Opened; Water in Plant Of Warner-Swasey

A valve on a water main being installed near the new plant of the Badger Division, Warner & Swasey Co., was opened overnight causing water to seep into the plant and cover part of the concrete floor. The water has been swept out. There was no apparent damage.

The plant is under construction at a site near Max Conrad Field. City Water Commissioner Gerald O. Harvey said his department had shut the valve at 5:30 a.m. today. Why or when the valve was opened was not immediately determined.

The opened valve is in a manhole about 80 feet from the office section of the new building. Water flooded a ditch near the manhole and ran over the ground in the immediate area. The opened valve is on a four-inch service line. Untouched was a valve on a fire service line, also in the manhole.

The 11,500-foot water main is being installed for the city by Winona Plumbing Co. The project is almost completed.

Frigid Wave Skirts City; Snow Tonight

Although Minnesota recorded the coldest weather of the nation this morning with four-below at Bemidji, the Winona area escaped the brunt of the cold wave.

The thermometer here dropped to 14 during the night after a high of 24 Thursday afternoon. The noon reading today was 24.

Variable cloudiness is the forecast for tonight with a low of 10-20. Saturday will be partly cloudy with an afternoon high of 24-32. There is, says the weatherman, a chance of some scattered snow flurries tonight.

LITTLE CHANGE in temperature and no precipitation of any consequence is the outlook for Sunday.

For the next five days temperatures in the area are slated to average 4 to 8 degrees below normal with little day-to-day change and little or no precipitation.

Daytime highs are slated to be in the 25 to 31 range and nighttime lows in the 8 to 14 bracket.

A YEAR AGO today Winona had a high of 37 and a low of 17 with a trace of snow. The all-time high for Dec. 7 was 57 in 1916 and the low for the day -20 in 1882. The mean for the past 24 hours was 19. Normal for this day is 24.

The pocket of frigid air centered over Minnesota with the Dakotas and Wisconsin having overnight lows in the teens and 20s and 30s.

A low pressure system was moving eastward from the Dakotas bringing partly cloudy skies to much of the five-state region. The weatherman said there would be scattered snow flurries through Saturday.

Early morning low temperatures: Minneapolis-St. Paul 7, Rochester 9, St. Cloud 7, International Falls 6, Fargo 21, Minot 31, Aberdeen 25, Mason City 10 and La Crosse 16.

The outer edge of the big snow storm that hit the eastern part of the nation dropped only a few snow flurries on Wisconsin. It was cold and windy, however, throughout the state.

Blair Student Picked For Washington Trip

BLAIR, Wis. (Special)—A Blair High School senior is among 96 high school students who will participate in the first U.S. Senate youth program, it was announced in Washington, D.C., Thursday.

Richard J. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson, rural Blair, will be among 102 students from all states and the District of Columbia who will converge on the national capital Jan. 28 for a week of observing government operations.

THE PROGRAM is financed through a $70,000 grant from the William Randolph Hearst Foundation, assisted by the American Political Science Association. An advisory committee includes Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn.

Richard wrote a test Oct. 25 which won him the trip. Prepared by the state Department of Public Instruction, it was on government, politics, and operation of the Senate.

The young Blair student has won other awards. He was runner-up in the National Council of Teachers of English award this year. This test involved an extemporaneous essay—he chose as his subject, "On the Meaning of Courage." He also submitted a 500-word story, "The Lions Paw," and gave a biographical sketch of himself. Judging was on excellence of command of the English language.

Richard scored in the top 10 percent in the Mathematics Association of American testing, was semifinalist in the National Merit Scholarship competition, and this fall was elected district president of the Luther League of The American Lutheran Church. The district comprises northern Wisconsin and Upper Michigan.

Richard is planning to enter St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn., next fall. At this time he plans to major in science and mathematics.

Mankato Dike Street Lighting Plan Approved

A string of new lights which will flash a brilliant after-dark welcome to the city's eastern entrance was approved Thursday afternoon at a special meeting of the City Council and Northern States Power Co. officials.

Aldermen gave the go-ahead for an NSP proposal to replace six existing street lights on Mankato Avenue between Sarnia Street and Highway 61 with 27 new and brighter lamps. Power company representatives estimated the installation should be completed "well before April 1."

Spaced an average of 120 feet apart, the new lights will have a 20,000-lumen output each, compared to the 4,000 lumens furnished by the six lights now in service. They will be installed concurrent ly with construction of a new pole line designed to carry heavier-capacity service to meet increased power requirements south and east of the city, NSP said.

ILLUMINATION at the Sarnia-Mankato Avenue intersection will be increased several times under the new plan. Three present lights will be replaced by seven of the new higher-output fixtures.

The 38-foot wooden poles will carry the line of lights along the west side of Mankato Avenue from Sarnia Street to the Hot Fish Shop, where it will cross the street and continue on the east side to Highway 61. Six of the new lights will be installed on the east side of the avenue between the Hot Fish Shop and the intersection with Highway 61.

Annual cost to the city for operation and maintenance of the new segment will be $69.50 per lamp. NSP will construct and own the equipment. Present cost to the city for lighting in the area is $30 per light, or $180. Total yearly fee paid by the city will be $1,875 for 27 new lights.

ALDERMEN ALSO approved some further experimentation in downtown street lighting. At the suggestion of power company officials, the city will street-test four 52,000-lumen mercury vapor lamps mounted five feet higher than the present level of lights. Purpose of the test is to discover if more evenly distributed illumination can be provided in this way.

Four such lights are now in use on a test basis on 3rd Street between Center and Lafayette streets but they are suspended at the same height as the rest of the street's 20,000-lumen fixtures.

If the city would pay hook-up costs, Harry Hanson, NSP sales manager said, the luminaires and suspension arms could be made available for a trial period without expense.

Ald. Lloyd Deike suggested a trial installation of fluorescent fixtures on four existing poles somewhere in the downtown area. Council President Harold Briesath said he doubted such a test was practical. Effective fluorescent lighting could be had, he said, only if there were six poles to a block instead of four as at present.

Ald. Deike said the cost for fluorescent installation on 3rd Street between Washington and Liberty streets would be $42,000. Since this light is non-directional, he said, it illuminates buildings as well as streets. President Briesath said he thought downtown businessmen liked the present mercury vapor lamps, especially the higher power type now being tested.

Mobile Unit Here Monday

The Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health Association's newly acquired mobile X-ray unit will be in Winona Monday.

The tuberculosis detection unit will be at the College of Saint Teresa from 10 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3 p.m., primarily for X-rays in conjunction with the college's health program.

The unit will be back in the city in February to X-ray selective groups, according to William Busse, Rochester, regional director for the Christmas seal association.

The unit went into operation only this week as part of the state's new plan for control and treatment of tuberculosis. Some years ago the state Department of Health operated mobile X-ray units, but these were discontinued when a federal grant was withdrawn.

It is expected that the unit will be in each of the regions of the state twice a year when a permanent schedule is adopted after the first of the year.

It is possible that the Christmas seal association might acquire a second unit.

SCOUTERS MEETING

WHITEHALL, Wis.—The annual business meeting of the Buffalo-Decorah Boy Scout district will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Our Saviour's Lutheran Church here. Goals for 1953 will be set and officers will be elected.

DRIVER CHARGED

Arno P. Wittich, 37, Rochester, Minn., will appear in Justice Lewis Albert's court, Goodview, today facing two charges, driving after revocation of his driver's license and careless driving. Wittich was arrested by Sheriff George Fort on Trunk Highway 240 at Hollingsdale at 7:50 p.m. Thursday.

Legion Post Votes Christmas Donations

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special)—At the November meeting of Murphy Johnson Post 94 of the American Legion members voted to give $15 to the youth at the Red Wing Training School for Christmas and $5 each to the Christmas Seal Fund and Legion's Hospitalized Veterans's Fund. They also voted to participate in the Christmas program for area children to be held Dec. 15.

A poultry party will be held Dec. 21. Marvin Manion is chairman of the committee. Co-workers are Marynard Dubbs, Olden Jacobson, Wallace Himmle and Robert Ingram. Elmer Rislove was elected service officer for the remainder of the term to replace Arthur Scott, who resigned. Those wishing to use the Legion hospital equipment should contact Rislove. The Legion has two hospital beds, three wheel chairs and several pairs of crutches which are available to anyone in the community who has need of them.

Harmony Man Hurt In Tractor Accident

HARMONY, Minn. (Special)—Harvey Fishbaugh, rural Harmony, is a patient at Lutheran Hospital, La Crosse, following a truck-tractor accident Saturday evening. Fishbaugh was driving his pickup truck over the knoll of a hill and struck the rear of a tractor driven by Wally Storhoff. Harmony Storhoff was not injured. Fishbaugh received broken ribs, a fractured nose, and bruises.

Wabasha Legion Hears About European Defense

WABASHA, Minn.—The Wabasha American Legion Post and its 235 members are in a unique position in that "you are about to produce a national commander, the first in the history of Minnesota," Gordon R. Clossway, executive editor of the Winona Daily News, told 50 members of Post 50 here Thursday night.

He was referring to Dan Foley, who, it is conceded, will be the top candidate for the Legion's highest position when the organization holds its national convention at New Orleans next fall. Foley, a Wabasha lawyer, and his supporters have been carrying on an intense campaign for his election for the last three years.

The Winona newspaperman complimented the Wabasha Post for its activities, on its remodeled club and said if Foley is elected, it will be an honor to all posts in the state and the Upper Midwest.

Foley, scheduled to be at Thursday night's meeting, telephoned from Cleveland, where he had been attending a Legion function, that his plane was grounded by fog.

Clossway discussed his recent trip to Europe with a group of Air Force Reserve officers to inspect USAF and NATO bases and visit the Berlin Wall. He showed colored slides of the Wall and of some of our military installations in France, Germany and Great Britain and said he was impressed with the dedication, intelligence and quiet confidence of the men who man the weapons of the Air Force on the European Continent.

He described briefings at high level command headquarters and visits to tactical, strike and defense units, SAC reflex bases and missile, transport and support elements.

He was introduced by Post Adjutant Nick Renitz, Col. Don Wilhelm, USAF retired, now a resident of Wabasha, was introduced as a new member. Lunch was served following the meeting.

Osseo Farmer Hurt When Tractor Upsets

OSSEO, Wis.—A 39-year-old rural Osseo man is a patient at Sacred Heart Hospital, Eau Claire, with a broken ankle, injured left arm. Incinerations and bruises received when the tractor he was operating overturned.

Arthur Ruppelt and his son Mike were using tractors to pull logs from the woods. Ruppelt had hooked to a large log when he struck a dirt furrow and hit the bottom activating the hydraulic lift. This caused the tractor to topple over backwards from excessive weight.

He was taken home on the other tractor by his son and then to the hospital.

Kappel, 60, chosen Thursday at the close of a two-day council meeting here, succeeds Roger M. Blough, board chairman of U.S. Steel Corp.

The council includes the heads of many of the country's biggest corporations. Formerly known as the Business Advisory Council for the Commerce Department, it ended its government affiliation in July 1961.

President Kennedy was host on Wednesday night at an off-the-record dinner for council members.

License Charge Filed After Traffic Mishap

Mrs. George F. Mathis, Winona Rt. 1, was charged with driving without a driver's license in her possession following a two-car accident at Highway 61 and Pelzer Street at 4:20 p.m. Thursday.

She forfeited $10 bail in municipal court today. Her car and one driven by Curtis A. Rohrer, 24, 700 Washington St., were involved in the accident.

Mrs. Mathis was driving south on Pelzer Street, stopped for stop sign at Highway 61 and proceeded across the highway. She did not see Rohrer's car which was going east on Highway 61, according to police. His car hit the right side of her car.

Damage was more than $100 to each car. No one was injured.

Adenauer Will Retire Next Fall, Report

By JOHN O. KOEHLER

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer will retire from office next fall, the parliamentary floor leader of his Christian Democratic party announced today.

Heinrich von Brentano said the chancellor, who will be 87 in January, made the announcement at a meeting of party executives Thursday night.

Brentano also told a meeting of the party's members in parliament the party executives had rejected a coalition government with the opposition Socialists. A new coalition with the Conservative Free Democrats, who quit the government over the Spiegel affair several weeks ago, was practically assured.

Adenauer's impending retirement did not particularly surprise West German politicians. He has been under pressure for some time from his own party to resign. The government reins to a younger man. He has been chancellor for 13 years, since the West German Republic was inaugurated.

Last year, after his party lost its parliamentary majority and had to form a coalition with the Free Democrats, Adenauer said he would retire in sufficient time before the 1955 general election to give his successor a chance to get used to his office. However, Adenauer refused to set a date for his retirement.

Authoritative Christian Democratic sources say his successor probably will be the vice chancellor and economics minister, Ludwig Erhard, known as the father of West Germany's "miracle" postwar recovery.

Tito, Khrushchev Discuss Their Troubled Relations

By GEORGE SYVERTSEN

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Yugoslav President Tito met again today amid indications they discussed the officially ruptured relations between the two Communist parties.

The list of officials present at their meeting in the Kremlin led to the surmise that party affairs were under consideration.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, gave the party titles of the participants in addition to their government positions.

Yuri Andropov, the Communist party Central Committee's secretary in charge of relations with Communist and workers' parties of Socialist countries, was among those present.

Tito was accompanied by Vice President Alexander Rankovic, Serbian party leader Jovan Veselinov and Macedonian party chief Lubco Arsov.

Discussion of party affairs would tend to confirm the general belief that Tito's visit to Khrushchev—officially called a vacation—also is connected with the growing split between themselves and the leaders of Red China and Albania.

Way Cleared For Church To Rebuild

Ruling that a property owner has the privilege of determining the location of the front of a corner lot, the Board of Zoning Appeals authorized issuance of a building permit Thursday night for reconstruction of Central Methodist Church.

Issuance of the permit had been held up by the question of whether the church lot fronts on Main Street or Broadway. Since the church's entrance will be to the south on Broadway, the city building inspector held that to be the front. A zoning provision requiring 45 feet of rear yard would thus be violated since the north side of the lot has only 15 feet of open space.

Church officials, represented by Attorney Harold Streeter, said a previous policy had been to allow owners to specify fronts. Taking the east, or Main street side as the front, they contended, the zoning ordinance requirement of 12 feet for side yard was met in full by the 16-foot setback on the north portion of the tract.

Also present representing the congregation were the Rev. E. Clayton Burgess, pastor, and Royall Thern, building committee chairman. E. O. Eckert, representing the architectural firm of Eckert & Carlson, who also is a member of the zoning appeals board, disqualified himself and abstained from voting.

No one appeared in opposition to the petition.

No Reservist To Be Left Without Unit

MINNEAPOLIS — What happens to personnel in Army reserve units affected by the recent reorganization of the 103rd Infantry Division and a number of non-divisional units?

They all will be afforded an opportunity to volunteer to become members of other reserve units or to be retained in their present reorganized unit, XIV United States Army Corps said today.

NO RESERVIST will be left without a unit unless he wants to get out of the program or unless he has less than a year to go on his obligation or has to be retrained in a job which will require more time than he has left to serve.

Personnel from the 66 inactivated XIV Corps units in Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin and South Dakota will be assigned to another reserve unit either in their home town or in a nearby city.

Those reservists with less than a year remaining on their obligation will be transferred to the Ready Reserve Mobilization Reinforcement Pool.

UNITS WHICH were reorganized, retained or newly created will, in necessary cases, be authorized overstrength in order to accommodate the reservists left without a unit. The overstrength will continue until normal attrition brings the unit down to its maximum strength authorization.

The reassignment of personnel to different units applies both to obligated and non-obligated reservists.

Three Fingers Lost in Corn Picker Mishap

WHITEHALL, Wis.—A Whitehall area farmer is a patient at Tri-County Community Hospital here with three fingers on his right hand lost as the result of a corn picker accident.

Carsten Linnerud was operating the picker on his farm four miles north of Whitehall. When it became jammed he tried to pull corn from the mechanism. His fingers became caught in a chain that operates a pulley. His jacket became caught, which stopped the machine, but he was unable to release himself.

Alfred Narveson, a neighbor, heard his cries for help and with another neighbor, Edward Anderson, freed him and brought him to the hospital here.

The fingers were injured to the extent they had to be amputated Tuesday.

Neighbors and townspeople have been assisting with the farm work during his hospitalization.

Colonel Gets Five Years for Killing Wife

By CHARLES GREEN
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Col. John A. Herrington, sentenced to five years at hard labor and dismissal from the Air Force for killing his wife and wounding a son, started a long but hopeful wait today for a review of his case.

Herrington, 46, a career officer once high in U.S. nuclear planning circles, shot his wife to death and wounded a son, Joseph, 19, on Aug. 9.

A military court at Kelly Air Force Base found him guilty Thursday of voluntary manslaughter and attempted manslaughter and set the sentence. The defense had argued that Herrington was temporarily insane at the time of the shooting.

His case goes to Maj. Gen. W. T. Hudnell, commander of the San Antonio Air Materiel Area and Herrington's superior, for review.

Hudnell can reduce the sentence or dismiss it. He cannot increase the sentence.

A combat veteran who flew more than 40 missions in World War II and 30 in the Korean War, Herrington heard the conviction without any display of emotion. An hour and a half later he appeared stunned as the sentence was read.

Herrington now faces trial in a civilian court Feb. 25. His civilian lawyer, James Gardner, said a trial in a state court for the same offenses would not violate legal provisions against double jeopardy—being tried twice for the same crime.

A number of psychiatrists testified Herrington was sane at the time of the shooting. Others said he broke temporarily, that he suffered from paranoia, and was enraged beyond endurance by the taunts of his wife because of impotence brought on by tensions in his job.

Long Trial Seen For James Hoffa

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A lawyer for James R. Hoffa predicts the Teamsters president's million-dollar conspiracy trial will run into early January.

William Bufalino's forecast followed U.S. Dist. Judge William E. Miller's unexpected decision Thursday to recess the trial until Monday.

Miller gave no explanation for either the weekend adjournment or his decision, announced simultaneously, to lock up the jury for the remainder of the trial, now through its seventh week.

Both announcements followed a secret, three-hour court session to which all spectators and newsmen were barred by armed marshals. Glass panels on the courtroom doors were covered.

No inkling as to what took place leaked out.

NASON ON EDUCATION

Practice Helps Slow Worker

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

A slow worker in school is not necessarily a backward child. Sometimes speed is a matter of habit. That's the problem that confronts this mother, who writes:

Dear Dr. Nason:
I have a fourth grade daughter whose written work is never completed in class because of slow coordination in writing. The written work she does complete is usually correct but her marks are held down because she seldom completes anything.

The school psychologist says she is a 9-year-old with the intelligence of a 9½-year-old. But her coordination is very slow in all respects. When asked a verbal question, she hesitates for quite awhile but usually answers correctly. Can you offer a suggestion to help her?

Mrs. H. B., San Jose, Calif.
Have your daughter practice speeding up her handwriting through the following steps:

Have her write a short sentence. After rewriting the sentence three times, have her concentrate on improving her handwriting and holding the pencil correctly.

About the 10th line down, have her increase her speed at the same time maintain the quality. Ten minutes of practice per day will soon speed up her classwork.

Dear Dr. Nason:
Our daughter is a bright fourth-grader who does beautifully in her school work.

Two years ago, as a second-grader, she was in a second-third combination class. Last year she was a straight third grade. This year, she has been placed in a third-fourth combination. This seems to me like an unnecessarily large dose of third grade. To top it off, her third-grade sister, two years younger, is in the same third-fourth combination. What is your opinion?

Mrs. C. W., Virginia
Exposure to third grade material for three successive years must seem like punishment to your daughter. Either this or the presence of her younger sister in the same class justifies a request to the school administration for an immediate re-assignment.

Dear Dr. Nason:
Our 4-year-old son has been reading since just past his second birthday. Except for the first steps, such as the alphabet and numbers, he is completely self-taught and by now has a very large reading vocabulary. In other ways also I believe him to be above average.

What type of schooling would you suggest for him? Would he be bored in a public school? I am not anxious to push him past his social age group.

I. F., Levittown, Pa.
Your decision not to push him past his social age group at this time is wise. There are so many activities in a good public school kindergarten that your son should not be bored.

Children who are self-taught in reading have enough initiative to maintain their interest in school situations even though reading is not a part of the program.

Continue to furnish him with books and materials at home so that he can continue to develop his interest beyond those of the average group.

Freeman Boosts For Domestic Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proposals for creation of a domestic peace corps got a boost Thursday from Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman.

He said such an organization "can be a healthy and dynamic influence in the rural areas development program."

Freeman, in a speech prepared for a meeting of the National Advisory Committee on Rural Areas Development said the department has assigned one man to a special group being formed by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to evaluate the idea. He told the advisory committee he would welcome its ideas.

Freeman said more than 15 million Americans in rural areas live in dire poverty. He said Congress and the administration have taken a number of steps since January 1961 to meet the nation's responsibility to under-developed areas on the domestic scene, but that further steps are needed.

U.S. Voter Considers More Than Party

CLOSE ANALYSIS of the 1962 elections suggest that some of the time-honored traditions of American politics may be on their way out as an increasingly independent American electorate sets new patterns for the next decades.

The 1962 elections, for instance, showed:

- In Senate and governor races, a sharp acceleration of support of Democrats in Northern New England and Republicans in the South, upsetting traditional party ties and causing split tickets in state after state. Young, attractive personalities tended to carry the day.

- In Congressional district races, on the other hand, a remarkable and growing stability. The turnover of House members was at an unusually low level, despite reapportionment and redistricting. There was a drop in the number of districts decided by close margins.

Combined with results of the 1960 elections, these developments vary greatly from the traditional party-oriented pattern in U. S. politics. Under the "rules" of that pattern, a party winning the presidency would sweep into office numerous governors, senators and representatives of like political persuasion. Between 1890 and 1948, for instance, the party winning the presidency picked up an average of 32 seats in the House, largely on the presidential candidate's "coattails."

In the "normal" midterm election, according to the old rules, a reaction would take place, giving the opposition party an important boost. Between 1890 and 1946 this mid-term shift to the opposition averaged 47 House seats.

IN 1960, HOWEVER, the party winning the presidency actually lost two Senate and 20 House seats. And in 1962 the same party actually gained four Senate seats and suffered a nominal loss of only four House seats—a complete reversal of the familiar pattern.

The changing patterns of the past few years might be attributed to the unusual personalities of Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy or to the absence of strong issues dividing the parties on questions of prosperity and depression, war or peace. But while these factors may have been important, the changes appear to have deeper roots which suggest that the old patterns will never be fully restored.

The old pattern of U. S. voting was uniquely party-oriented. Voters tended to cast straight tickets, supporting candidates of the same party for every office from president down. Thus, as sentiment shifted on the national level, vast numbers of politicians at lower levels were likewise affected.

THE NEW pattern, however, is far less party-oriented. Its hallmark is a sharply increased degree of discernment among voters. A better educated electorate, more literate, more careful in its newspaper reading and now given the opportunity of viewing candidates for high office first hand through television, tends to vote for a candidate on the basis of his impression as a "whole man"—not his party alone.

This has become especially apparent in presidential elections, as evidenced by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's sweeping victories in 1952 and 1956 while the vote for other Republican candidates trailed far behind, and in the key role television debates played in the 1960 presidential election.

Especially in 1960 and 1962, the same tendency was apparent in elections for governors and senators. Like presidential candidates, their personalities and stands on issues are becoming increasingly well known to the voters. And the voters are picking and choosing—with less and less reference to party label.

Both in 1960 and 1962, for instance, observers noted careful voter selection of candidates with strong personalities, young in years, able to expound their views (whether liberal or conservative) with unusual clarity. Voters seemed to demand that candidates show a keen awareness of the complex national and international issues of the day.

TO A LESSER extent, the tendency toward voting for the man, not the party, appears to be sifting down to the House level. True, voters still appear to pick their congressmen—who cannot hope to compete with presidential and statewide candidates for personality exposure to the voters—largely on the basis of party. Since a substantial majority of the American people consider themselves Democrats, that party has maintained almost unbroken control of the House, even when Republicans were making strong runs for the presidency.

In every Presidential election from 1904 through 1944, for instance, the winning presidential candidate ran just a few percentage points ahead of the aggregate vote of House candidates of his party. In 1948, however, the pattern was broken when Democratic House candidates ran ahead of President Truman. Again in 1960, Democratic House candidates proved themselves stronger than their party's presidential nominee. And in the two Eisenhower years—1952 and 1956—an unusually great gap occurred between the vote for like and vote for GOP House candidates.

One reason for the lower turnover in the House is the apparently increasing margin by which the average congressman wins his home district. The average number of "marginal" districts—those won by less than 55 percent of the vote—was 91 between 1952 and 1960. But in 1962 only 73 House victories were marginal. If it had not been for the recent reapportionment, the actual 1962 figure might have been only 55.

A POSSIBLE REASON for increasing stability of House membership is that incumbents are becoming better known in their home districts. When they have made a generally good impression, they tend to be re-elected—regardless of the national trend.

But the new pattern also indicates that when congressmen become too old in office or become involved in scandal, that their constituents will throw them out. The 1962 elections found congressmen linked with indicted Texas financier Billie Sol Estes, or connected with the scandal-ridden Maryland savings and loan associations, or cited for public drunkenness—all went down to defeat, often by such substantial votes that the districts are not listed as statistically marginal.

Most analyses suggest that a majority of American voters still cast their ballots on the basis of party loyalty alone. This gives the Democratic party an inherent advantage, based on the widespread acceptance that party won in New Deal days.

BUT AS THE segment of independent and swing voters increases, opportunities for each party in every race and every state should become more and more equal. Both parties will be increasingly hard pressed to improve the caliber of the men they offer for Congress, governorships and the presidency, simply because a significant portion of the voters will not accept mediocre personalities on the basis of party alone.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A lass from County Cork emigrated to Boston and married a man who was a longtime fugitive from Alcoholics Anonymous. She wrote home to tell about her husband's drinking habits but her parents would make neither head nor tail of the American slang she had picked up.

The next spring her brother came over to New York and ran into an Army parade on his way from the docks. He pointed to a huge, lumbering armored vehicle, and said, "What's that?" His guide said proudly, "That's one of our new super-tanks." "Glory be," gasped the Irishman. "Me sister's married to one of them!"

A big corporation discovered that his head accountant had been robbing the firm consistently for years. The shortage was in the neighborhood of a million dollars. Eager to avoid scandal, the president told the crook, "All we ask you to do is get lost." "Going to earn me, eh?" asked the culprit. "Isn't that rather short-sighted? By now, I have a town house, a place in Florida, a yacht—every luxury a man could want. Why hire a new man who'll have to start from scratch?"

A wise word of caution from Vince Rivers: "That argument you won from your wife isn't over yet!"

Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ. (Romans 5:1)

Rheumatoid Arthritis Explained

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been an arthritic and a wheelchair invalid for 15 years but am only 50. Two doctors say I had rheumatoid arthritis but some 10 others say it is osteoarthritis. The V.A. says it is osteo. Why is it we hear that they have found help for rheumatoid but not for osteo?—V. J. W.

By and large, rheumatoid arthritis is by far the worse, but not nearly as prevalent. Here is the difference. Rheumatoid arthritis is an acute, severe, inflammatory disease.

Osteoarthritis, on the other hand, is a condition rather than an active disease. It is the term we use to describe joints that have become worn or damaged. Or, more likely, both. It is the result of wear and tear.

It is true that we can do something for rheumatoid arthritis. We can, by proper care, limit somewhat the amount of damage it does while it is in its active phase. Candidly and sadly I admit that we do not know very much, but it is not for want of effort and study. It is a savage disease, difficult to control and to understand.

"Remember that rheumatoid arthritis can strike at any age. It is not a disease of old people. Osteoarthritis, on the other hand, for the most part develops late in life."

When an acute attack of rheumatoid arthritis has run its course, and the inflammatory period has ended, what is the result? It is deformity in the joints that have been attacked. Deformities of a different nature occur with osteoarthritis. The two conditions can exist as a mixed form of joint disease in the same patient.

HENCE WE do all we can to reduce the immediate danger from rheumatoid arthritis, for there isn't much we can do after the damage has occurred. Not much—but something. Aspirin, or its equivalent, remains as effective as anything we know, both in combating inflammation and easing pain.

Heat helps the afflicted joints. Movement, even at the expense of pain, keeps the joints from gradually stiffening. And, for most people, once the pain of the first movements in the morning is past, it lessens.

In many cases, too, the discomfort waxes and wanes. Trying to keep your mind on something else may sound like thin advice, and I guess it is, but it works just the same.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please give me the names of the drugs you mentioned concerning epileptic seizures?—J. M. D.

I don't know what good it will do, because all of them are prescription drugs—dillantin, milantin, tridione, phenurone, mesantoin, mebarex, meprobamate, mysoline, and quite a few others under various chemical, generic or trade names.

Anti-convulsants, sedatives,

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

What a Report Ellender Makes to U.S. Senators

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The State Department gave as an excuse for not commenting on the African troubles of Sen. Allen Ellender that it had received no official report of what the junketing Democratic soloist from Louisiana had said.

Of this, however, the State Department may be sure: 1.

Ellender will make a report; 2. It will not be very helpful regarding the vital problems of the United States in Africa or elsewhere.

After junket taken by Ellender—and he takes one every year—he submits a report to the Appropriations Committee, of which he is the No. 1 economist. These are long and voluminous tomes, duly printed at the taxpayers' expense.

So far, no senator other than Ellender has ever been found who has read one of these thick volumes. But I can recommend parts of them as interesting reading. They do not contain vital information, but they do give a certain insight into the viewpoint of the author and what he considers significant in this rapidly changing world.

Here, for instance, is a sample of Sen. Ellender's report to the Senate from his 1961 trip to Hong Kong:

"I VISITED the tailor shop of my old friend, William McGee. He was previously in Okinawa, where he opened a new tailor shop to accommodate our people on that island. He seems to have a thriving business here."

"I attended a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Fung Ping Fou, at No. 14 South Bay Road, in Hong Kong. She is very popular. Everyone calls her Ivy."

"Her husband, who is a very prosperous banker, was in Japan at the time. They have four sons and one daughter. All the boys are graduates of Harvard College. The daughter is in the states at present, attending Smith College in Massachusetts. The dinner was quite elaborate. There were three large round tables, each seating about 12 guests. In the center of each table was a revolving plateglass centerpiece about 4 feet in diameter. The food, by the way, was placed on the revolving glass plate and each guest served himself, using chopsticks. Quite a few Chinese dishes were served and I enjoyed it very much."

"I SAT next to Mrs. Fou, and she is quite a U.S. fan. She is lively and energetic, and one would never guess that she is the mother of five grown children."

"Mrs. Ping is an accomplished artist, and many of the scrolls and paintings were her own work. The house is quite large, and it is built into the edge of a cliff. The dinner was given on the third floor of the house, I believe, and from that floor there is an abrupt drop to the sea far below. We could hear the waves pounding the rocky shore below as we ate dinner. I thoroughly enjoyed the evening. Mrs. Ping bubbled with enthusiasm. I understand she gave the party just prior to her departure for Canada and the States."

If you don't believe this is the report by a U.S. senator printed at the taxpayers' expense, then write the government printing office for a copy of Sen. Ellender's report—87 Congress, Document 73.

Today In World Affairs

What Did U.S. Give to Castro?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — U. Thant, secretary general of the United Nations, has just made a remarkable speech full of news that has heretofore been withheld from the world, including the American people.

The secretary general announced that the Cuban situation was recently the subject of a "compromise," and he defined this as the type of negotiation which is characterized by "the principle of give and take." But what did America give and what did it take? What did the Soviet Union give and what did it take? The answers have not yet been officially revealed.

The American people will be surprised at U. Thant's statement. They have hitherto been led to believe that President Kennedy won a big victory and that Premier Khrushchev suffered a severe defeat. What does the secretary general know that has not been disclosed by the White House or the Department of State? In these days of "manipulated" news—when the idea of deliberately misleading the people is defended as part of the "arsenal of weaponry"—it will take a congressional investigation to find out what really happened.

It may be that Congress will muzzle itself, too. Already there are rumors that the Democrats, who were so quick to start an inquiry by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to find out about the U-2 incident in 1960 during the Eisenhower administration, now are unwilling to find out why it is necessary for the U-2's to continue flying over Cuba and what the administration may have given away.

The present status of the Cuban affair is not clear. President Kennedy in his statement to the American people on Nov. 20 said that the missile bases were being dismantled and that the Soviet government had stated that "no offensive weapons will be re-introduced." The President added:

"NEVERTHELESS, important parts of the understanding of Oct. 27 and 28 remain to be carried out. The Cuban government has not yet permitted the United Nations to verify whether all offensive weapons have been removed, and no lasting safeguards have been established against the future introduction of offensive weapons back into Cuba."

Meanwhile, the United States has demobilized its military forces which were assembled in the southeastern part of the United States, and the "quarantine" or blockade has been abandoned. It is not known exactly what else the United States has promised to do. There was an intimation that this country would not engage in any "invasion" of Cuba. Whether the non-invasion offer now is in effect or whether it can be regarded as, having been negated by the failure to obtain verification by the U.N. of the dismantling of the missile sites in Cuba has not been clarified as yet. Certainly in the Nov. 20 statement Mr. Kennedy said flatly that the United States wouldn't "abandon the political, economic and other efforts of this hemisphere to halt subversion from Cuba," but he added that "these policies are very different from any intent to launch a military invasion of the island."

ANASTAS MIKOYAN, first deputy premier of the Soviet Union, recently went to Cuba presumably to argue for international inspection and verification, but he claims he was unsuccessful. So he turns the task over to the delegations from the United States and the Soviet Union who are stationed in New York City at the United Nations. The United Press International in a dispatch on Monday of this week said:

"UNITED NATIONS — U.S. and Soviet diplomats discussed the Cuban situation for almost six hours today but there was no change in their positions."

But what is there to discuss and agree upon if the situation has already been settled by a "compromise"? Is Mr. Kennedy's pledge of "no invasion" in effect today? Is Russia afraid to let Cuba approve on-site inspection because it may have a bearing on the same principle now being debated with respect to future disarmament agreements? The Soviets, of course, don't like inspection.

Meanwhile, another UPI dispatch on Monday may be revealing. It said:

"WARSAW — Polish Communist Leader Wladyslaw Gomułka tonight called on the United States to confirm its non-aggression pledge to Cuba before the United Nations. In a 65-minute speech . . . Gomułka said the Soviet Union had acted 'exclusively' in the interests of peace both when installing missiles and in removing them from Cuba."

The Casual Observer

By GRETCHEN L. LAMBERTON

AFTER several weeks in New York, my son and daughter-in-law put me on a train that rolled through Indiana and I stopped off to visit my Indiana farm son and daughter-in-law. It was a busy time on the farm, for November had been mostly rain so that the corn-picking was held up. But those last few days of November were sunny and warm, and my son had the corn picker in the field all day while the new young hired man hauled the corn off to a drying plant and storage bin as fast as it was picked. The biggest corn field below the house had been planted in corn for the past one hundred years, for the soil seems to be particularly well suited to corn; it's black as coal dust and is almost pure peat, and anyone working the field comes home looking like a coal miner.

One night about 6:30 my son walked into the kitchen, black from head to foot, but beaming. "Well, it's finished. The corn's in for the year!" he said jubilantly.

I suppose every farmer's wife feels, as my daughter-in-law does, a great sense of relief when the corn is in, for it marks the end of the harvest season and also it means that her husband is through for the year with the corn picker, that most dangerous of all farm machinery.

The next morning my son and his wife and the hired man left very early in the morning for the big pasture on top of the hill, for it was time to drive the Angus cattle down to the lowland pasture that is accessible in winter; it was also time to separate the still-nursing spring calves from their mothers. It was also the morning when the veterinarian was coming to give the 85 cows their TB and Bangs tests.

This meant driving batches of cattle through a gate and a chute and getting a blood sample from each one, and also putting a tattoo on each cow's ear. Since range-raised Angus are pretty wild this was quite a job. But finally it was done and the cattle were driven into a lush lower pasture with a spring, and the gate into the adjoining clean-picked corn field was opened so that they could forage.

Ten sleek black calves were taken from their mothers and put in a barnyard across the road from the cattle pasture. They immediately set up a heartbroken bawling while the 10 mothers stayed at the fence bawling back to their babies. I've never heard such a chorus of loud bereavement. The calves refused to eat the tempting ground-up feed put out for them and bawled all day and all night, while their mothers never left the fence and kept trying to jump it — several finally did jump over, and an extra strand of barbed wire had to be strung over the top. This went on for two days and nights, then suddenly the calves stopped the racket and began to eat grain, the mothers wandered off with the rest of the herd and all was well.

Trampas, the handsome old Golden retriever, had gotten very white around the muzzle since last spring and he mimed around stiffly on his small aristocratic feet. How one hates to see a fine dog get old and decrepit! There were two new dogs to keep old Trampas company — one named Winnebago is a beautiful young female Golden, a granddaughter of my own Shoshoni; the other is a pretty and very gay little half-collie puppy that some nasty soul had dumped out of his car one night.

The children took him in and now he's an adored member of the family. He is particularly clever at catching moles which are digging up the lawn, and he is extremely pleased with himself when he brings a mole to the door and presents it to the family. It is always entertaining to see Della, the big fluffy black cat with the green eyes, trot over to the dogs as they lie in the yard and settle down luxuriously on the back of one or the other. She seems to like old Trampas best, probably because his fur is the thickest and he doesn't wiggle as much as the younger dogs do.

Expenses of Republicans, DFL Reported

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Volunteer groups backing Republican Gov. Elmer L. Andersen in the recent campaign spent only about a third as much as those backing Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag, his DFL opponent.

That was revealed Thursday by figures filed in the Hennepin County auditor's office which explained that volunteer reports fall far short of indicating full and true campaign costs.

The Rolvaag group reported receipts of $74,135 with expenditures of $70,446. The comparable Andersen listings were $22,000 and $21,510.

An even greater spread came in the lieutenant governor vote drive. There A.M. Keith's DFL volunteers reported spending $10,802 of their $11,140 receipts while those working for the GOP's C. Donald Peterson said they spent all of the $1,541 taken in.

In the 5th District congressional race, Democrat Donald Fraser, the winner, showed income of $37,801 against $28,891 for volunteer disbursements. GOP groups for incumbent Walter Judd, the loser, took in $72,425, put out $56,546.

Morocco, Burma Buy U.N. Bonds

Arcadia Couple Makes Home At La Crosse

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special) — White, gold and bronze pompons and lighted candles in candelabra were used to decorate the altar of St. Stanislaus Catholic Church for the marriage of Miss Rosemarie Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Thomas, and Anthony Fernholz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Fernholz.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Very Rev. Joseph J. Andrzejewski Nov. 24 at 10 a.m.

TRADITIONAL music was played by the church organist, Sister Mary Aquila who accompanied the children's choir as they sang the nuptial high Mass. A hymn to the Blessed Virgin was sung as the bride placed a spray of long-stemmed American Beauty red roses at the altar. During the offertory of the Mass "On This Day O Beautiful Mother" was sung by Gerald Pehler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Pehler, Arcadia.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white, floor-length gown of floral brocade. The long-sleeved basque bodice had a modified sweetheart neckline. The full skirt fell into wide scissors pleats at the front with a chapel sweep train. A matching brocade pillbox headpiece held her silk illusion veil. She carried a white prayer book with a cluster of garnet roses. Her silver earrings were a gift of the bridegroom.

The bride selected as her only attendant, her sister, Miss Rosemarie Thomas, Melrose, Wis. Miss Thomas' street-length frock of royal blue brocade was styled with a fitted bodice, scoop neckline and three quarter-length sleeves. Slightly above the wide hemline was a rose pout of brocade on the pleated front and back of the skirt. Her headpiece was a matching rose pout. She carried a bouquet of yellow and white carnations, and wore crystal earrings, a gift of the bride.

Dennis Anness, Madison, Wis., was best man. Richard Thomas, Arcadia, brother of the bride, and James Kosner, Arcadia, cousin of the bridegroom, ushered.

Mrs. Thomas, mother of the bride, wore a beige brocade dress with beige and gold hat and brown accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses and white carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a light blue dress with pink hat and black accessories and a corsage of the bride.

Season's First Major Snowstorm Blankets East

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The season's first major snowstorm left a blanket more than a foot deep across broad areas from the Great Lakes into New York and southward into Tennessee today.

Cold weather added to the wintry picture. Temperatures tumbled sharply as gusty winds fanned the snow and cold air in a wide sweep across the Ohio Valley to the Southern Appalachians and Mid-Atlantic Coast. Freezing weather chilled northern Florida.

The late autumn storm was blamed for at least 14 deaths, most of them in traffic accidents on snow-covered highways. Five persons died while shoveling snow three in Michigan and two in the Cleveland area.

The storm forced the closing of schools in Cleveland and several other northeastern Ohio counties. Cleveland's Hopkins airport was closed Friday night.

The heavy snow belt extended over Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York state, West Virginia and Maryland, with smaller amounts in Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee. Hazardous driving conditions were reported in many parts of the snow belt.

The storm dumped 14 inches of snow in Olean, in western New York, where falls ranged from about a foot to five inches.

In Ohio, the heaviest fall also was 14 inches, in Geauga County. Amounts ranged from 5 to 12 inches in Youngstown. About 1,600 homes in Cleveland were without power for a time as snow toppled feeder lines.

Highway crews worked through the night to clear snow-clogged roads.

In Tennessee, snow measured 10 inches at Newfound Gap in the Smokies and was 4 to 5 inches deep in other mountain areas. Elkins, W. Va., reported 13 inches on the ground. Falls ranged up to eight inches in Michigan and Indiana.

Now there's a little man who knows what he wants! He wants the pretty funny papers. You might say, "He has a mind of his own..." That's correct, of course. Every child is endowed by his creator with a will and a mind; not developed, but it's there. Yet, how that child is trained from his earliest years, will mold his character, develop his mind and strengthen his will.

Children should have good example, then. And the best example that parents can give is to go to church. The Church is for you and your family. It is the hope of your children. It is the means of bringing God's bountiful blessings to all.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

What Do You Believe?

"Faith Lutheran Church, 701 W. Howard St., is a member of the Lutheran Church in America formed June 28, 1962, by the merger of the Suomi Lutheran Church, the American Evangelical Lutheran Church, the Augustana Lutheran Church and the United Lutheran Church in America," said the pastor, the Rev. Robert L. Nelson.

"This union, constituting a body of more than 3 million baptized members, elected Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, former president of the United Lutheran Church, president, Dr. Raymond W. Wargelin, Suomi Lutheran Church, assistant to the president, and Dr. Malvin H. Lundeen, Augustana Lutheran Church, secretary," Pastor Nelson said.

"THE MOMENT of the union was climaxed when four quarters of a massive white candle, each with a separate wick, were lighted and moved together to form a single light symbolizing the union of four churches into one body. When the wicks joined it signified the Union of Swedish, German, Danish, Finnish and all national backgrounds of tradition, customs, languages united under one church."

"In 1957 a concentrated study of Sunday schools was undertaken by the four churches," Pastor Nelson added. "Experts in the field of education, theology, psychology and sociology took part in producing a closely graded course which will now be used by the Lutheran Church in America."

"It includes classes for all ages from beginners through confirmation. The material is now at several churches (pilot stations) where it is being tested. It will be issued to the 6,000 congregations in Sept. 1964."

"THE HOLY Scripture is the only source and standard of faith. God was in Christ reconciling the world unto himself. We feel that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord."

"We also emphasize that one is to be faithful in the means of grace which are the word and the sacraments. Salvation is a gift of God by his grace and we are justified by faith in Christ."

"JESUS CHRIST, true God begotten of the Father from eternity and also true man born of the Virgin Mary, is our Lord who has redeemed us."

"We believe the good news is Christ's coming to earth to man, and not man's upward climb to God. We are justified by faith in Christ who comes down and does everything that needs to be done. He has, too, because we are helpless, because the very effort to save ourselves by our own 'good works' is blasphemous, idolatry, arrogance, presumption and the very essence of sin."

"It is sin that keeps men from God. Sin is so serious that God had to come to earth to deal with it. Born in a stable, he bore the reproach of the 'righteous,' and let himself be nailed to a slab of wood and hanged upon a pole to die."

"We believe that Christ, the second part of the triune God, living and the King of universe, came that we may have life more abundantly both on earth and hereafter."

FAITH LUTHERAN was organized in 1917 by the Rev. Luther Deck who was its first minister. It was the first Lutheran church in Winona to use only the English language in its services.

The church, sponsored under the English Evangelical Synod of the Northwest, was affiliated with the General Synod.

The Rev. Edward R. Wicklund was the first resident pastor. Rev. Nelson came to Faith Lutheran from the Liberty parish of the Illinois Synod in March 1957. The church celebrated its 45th anniversary in June 1962.

These clinics have been made possible through the cooperation of local physicians, Minnesota Department of Health, Fillmore County Public Health Nursing Service and officials of the Health Protection against smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus will be available at 50 cents per immunization. Fees will be collected at the time immunizations are given. In cases of financial hardship, assistance will be provided by the American Red Cross.

Pupils have been given request for immunization forms to be completed and signed by parents before they are returned to the school. Parents of pre-school children may register at the clinic. All clinics are scheduled for 9 a.m.

LEWISTON, Minn. (Special)—A lucky child will receive a pony Dec. 24 donated by Lewiston businessmen. The pony is one of the attractions to encourage Christmas shopping in the community.

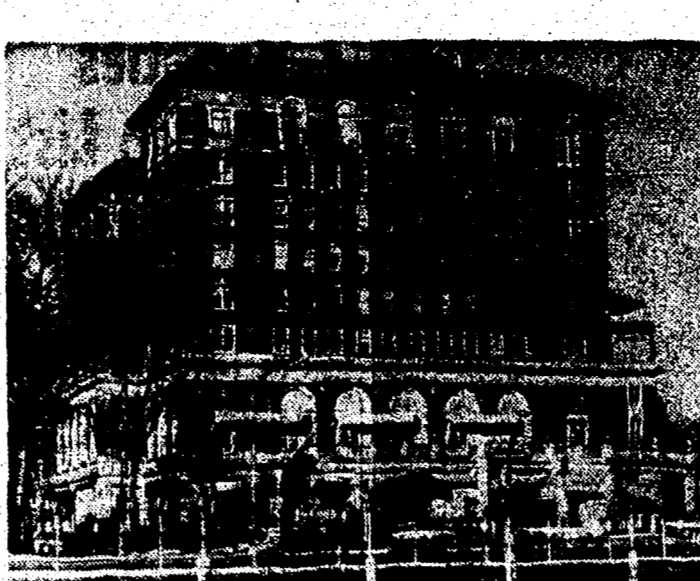

The Lewiston schools will hold their annual Christmas program Dec. 19 at Fremont School and Dec. 20 at Alta School. St. Paul's Church guild will present, "A Trip to Holy Land," at 8 p.m. Thursday.

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special)—The American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary are again collecting new or used toys to be distributed to the less fortunate in the area. Anyone wishing to donate may contact Mrs. Way Hart or Mrs. Oliver Noll before Monday.

ROGER BURGESS, national leader of Methodism's division of temperance and general welfare, said that the 1962 theme stresses not only individual answers but also understanding the answers of other people. To bolster Methodism's traditional concern for social action, the division will award five $750 research grants for the 1963-64 academic year for the best projects dealing with alcohol problems.

MOFFETT FIELD, CALIF. (AP)—Pilots are practicing at Moffett Field for lunar landings, using the jet-powered X14A, designed for vertical take-off and landing. It is the only flying vehicle in this country that can approximate power and control requirements to simulate lunar landings, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said today.

Since there is no atmosphere on the moon, wing and tail surface controls are useless. The X14A uses wing and tail for conventional flight but has jet nozzles to control roll, pitch and yaw at low- or no-forward speed.

CHURCH HOMES . . . The nine-story Calhoun Beach Hotel in Minneapolis has been purchased by Congregational Homes, Inc., a non-profit, Protestant organization.

The 34-year-old south Minneapolis landmark will be operated as a residence center for active senior citizens, according to Kenneth A. Whitehead, president of CHI. Purchase price was not disclosed although official records show the value of the building and grounds at around $2,000,000.

The building was originally designed as a private club and construction started in 1929 but was suspended during the depression years. It was not occupied until 1939 when most of the construction had been completed. In 1949, the reorganized club sold the building to a hotel corporation. The name of the building will be changed to Calhoun Beach Manor, Whitehead said.

Pilots Practice Lunar Landings in California

MOFFETT FIELD, CALIF. (AP)—Pilots are practicing at Moffett Field for lunar landings, using the jet-powered X14A, designed for vertical take-off and landing. It is the only flying vehicle in this country that can approximate power and control requirements to simulate lunar landings, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said today.

Since there is no atmosphere on the moon, wing and tail surface controls are useless. The X14A uses wing and tail for conventional flight but has jet nozzles to control roll, pitch and yaw at low- or no-forward speed.

New Residential Development Set Near Rochester

ROCHESTER, Minn. — Development plans for a 475-acre tract in southeast Rochester, comprised mainly of the old airport property, has been unveiled by the Mayo Assn., owner of the land.

The development, known as Meadow Park Addition, will be largely residential, but also will include two school sites, a commercial area and park land. The school sites are for the proposed new senior high school and a future elementary school.

It will be one of the largest new housing developments in Rochester's history when completed, although spokesmen emphasize that construction will proceed only on a market demand basis.

Kruse Co., the developer, and other local contractors plan to begin construction of 75 houses in an area south of 13th St. SE as soon as lots are available next spring. According to a Kruse Co. spokesman, the homes will be in the low to medium price bracket will be ready for viewing in the spring.

Boundaries of the whole addition are roughly 13th St. and the Highway 14-52 Beltline on the north, 3rd Ave. SE and the Chicago Great Western Railway tracks on the west, 20th St. on the south, and Bear Creek on the east. A portion of the east boundary, however, is beyond the creek.

Storage Loan Plan Changed

LEWISTON, Minn.—Some modifications have been made in provisions of the farm facility loan program to assure that the program meets present-day farm storage needs more effectively. Marvin Wiskow, chairman of the Winona County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee has announced.

Under the program, farmers may borrow funds from the government to purchase or build storage.

The maximum amount to be loaned on new facilities has been changed to an amount up to 85 percent of the out-of-pocket cost of a facility but not more than 50 cents per bushel of storage capacity.

A new provision, Wiskow pointed out, is that to be eligible the farmer must be eligible for price support for the current year on all price-supported commodities produced on his farm. All loans under the program will be made by the Commodity Credit Corporation.

The farmer's need will be based on the capacity to store two years' production—based on normal yields on allotted or permitted acreage—or commodities under acreage or production limitations, and on the capacity to store one year's production for other price-supported commodities.

As formerly, loans run for more than five years, and they may be repaid in not more than four annual installments. Interest rate is 4 percent.

Let's Get Growing

By A. F. SHIRA

Phosphorous in the Soil

Next to nitrogen as a food for plants, phosphorous ranks second in importance.

While phosphorous does not move about in the soil like nitrogen and is not so easily washed out, it is sometimes quite difficult to keep it in the soil in such form as to be available to the plants. This is due to the fact that it readily reacts with other chemicals and as a result may become locked up in that plants cannot use it. This is especially true, if the soil is strongly acid, or alkaline.

Some soil specialists even go so far as to state that plants are able to use less than one percent of the total phosphorous content of a given soil. We might state here that one of the most important functions of phosphorous is to stimulate root growth. It also hastens the maturity of plants and encourages flower and seed, or fruit production.

PHOSPHOROUS is usually more available to plants when the soil is well supplied with organic matter, or humus, which helps to hold the moisture. In moist soil the phosphorous crystals are smaller and go into solution more readily. Also, organic matter in itself usually contains a good amount of phosphorous depending, of course, upon its make-up. When the bacteria and fungi that are instrumental in decomposing organic matter die, the phosphorous they contain is released in the soil for use by plants. Sometimes under very favorable conditions these beneficial soil organisms may become so numerous that there is a deficiency of nutrients in the soil until they die.

Formerly, it was thought that plants made the most use of phosphorous in their later stages of growth as the flowers and fruits reached maturity. However, it is now known that this element is very essential in the early growth of plants, as well.

SOME PLANT physiologists state that phosphorous is so important in the early stages of growth that, if the supply is not sufficient for the needs of the entire plant, it may be withdrawn from the older foliage and transferred to the younger parts of the plant that are in more active growth. From this, the importance of phosphorous can be readily understood. Yet, plants take only a small amount of it from the soil as compared to the quantities that may have been applied to the soil to supply it. As an example of this, it has been stated that a good crop of corn may take up only about 25 pounds of phosphorous from an acre of land, even though much more than that had been applied.

As stated above, phosphorous is very prone to be locked up in the soil due to its readiness to react with other chemicals, especially in strongly acid, or alkaline, soils. However, it may become available to the plants later through the activities of beneficial bacteria in the soil. Therefore, it might be stated that phosphorous is always present in the soil in sufficient quantities for plants, if conditions become such as to make it available for their use.

IN THE vegetable garden phosphorous is especially important for root crops such as potatoes, beets and carrots. Also, tomatoes, beans and melons do best, if there is a good supply of it in available form. Of course, nitrogen and potash must be present in sufficient supply for a balanced growth.

Since phosphorous does not move about readily in the soil, it should be dug in when applied just like any other fertilizer. For general use, a fertilizer with formula of 5-10-5 will supply the necessary phosphorous requirements of the average soil.

In another article we will discuss potash and some of the trace minerals.

Retired Land Use Regulations Cited

LEWISTON, Minn.—Land retired from production under the Conservation Reserve program now may be used for certain purposes without violation of the contract, said Marvin Wiskow, chairman of the Winona County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

He explained that, even though the contract signers charge fees for the use of the Conservation Reserve acreage, the following uses of the land will be permitted without constituting a contract violation:

Fishing and hunting enterprises, except the production of fish and game for commercial marketing; a m p i n g, excluding permanent trailer courts; picnicking; boating; riding; hiking, and swimming.

The following additional uses will be permitted provided the contract signers do not charge or receive compensation for such uses:

Community sports and athletic activities; carnivals and fairs; meeting sites for religious, cultural, and educational groups; landing areas for use by civil air patrol or noncommercial flying; parades, and military maneuvers.

The chairman pointed out that, if the permitted uses or activities (listed above) result in the area's becoming subject to wind and water erosion, adequate protective measures must be taken at no cost to the Conservation Reserve program. If permanent-type structures or facilities are erected on the Conservation Reserve in connection with the permitted uses or activities, then the area occupied by such structures or facilities shall be removed from contract.

According to Wiskow, this change in program regulations is in line with current agricultural policy, which is to convert land into other uses rather than to idle it.

Farmers who are interested in such uses of Conservation Reserve land are urged to discuss the matter with the ASC county committee.

New Root River Terraces Total 40 Miles in '62

CALEDONIA, Minn. — Forty miles of terraces were built in the Root River Soil and Water Conservation District during the past year, according to Kenneth Olson, district chairman.

"Terraces are one of the best means of protecting level cropland from erosion. Technical assistance was provided to each farmer that requested it," said Harold Dineen, work unit conservationist.

"MORE THAN 1,700 acres of contour strips were laid out on about 55 farms. Contour striping is the easiest way to get started in conservation farming. With an increase in cost sharing effective next year there should be many more acres in contour strips," continued Dineen.

Ten miles of diversions were constructed on 50 farms in the district and a total of 27 structures were also built. Included were six farm ponds, nine stabilizing structures, six detention and five wildlife ponds.

"Anyone interested in any of the above types of structures and wishing to construct them during 1963 should contact the SCS office soon. The Houston County ASC office cost-shared with most farmers on the above practices," said Dineen.

LAST WEEK Victor Schroeder, Mayville Township, built 250 feet of diversion terraces and McCormick Bros., Mayville Township, added 2,950 feet of parallel terraces and 2,000 feet of graded terraces.

Roland Bolduan, Union Township, added 300 feet of graded terraces and diversion terraces totaling 1,230 feet were constructed on Leonard Gengler's farm, Mayville Township.

7 Varieties Added to List At University

ST. PAUL, Minn. — The University of Minnesota has added seven crop varieties and removed three from its recommended list for 1963.

The decision was made at a recent conference of representatives of the University's Agricultural Experiment Station and Agricultural Extension Service, and the Minnesota Crop Improvement Association.

Varieties added to the recommended list were Larker and Trophy barley, Portage oats, Climax timothy and Turghal, Empire and White Wonder millet.

Removed from the recommended list were Lee wheat, Minton oats and Marine flax.

Evaluation of crop varieties is based on at least three years of tests involving maturity, yield, disease resistance, standability, plant height, winter hardiness, and feeding and market qualities. As new and better varieties are developed, old ones are removed from the recommended list.

Complete information will be contained in an Agricultural Extension Service publication, "Varietal Trials of Farm Crops" now being revised for distribution through county agents.

Regional ADA Meeting Set

ROCHESTER, Minn. — The annual American Dairy Association Region 10 business meeting will begin at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the 4-H building on the Olmsted County Fairgrounds here.

The session is open to all dairy farmers, dairy plant managers and personnel, and others interested in the dairy industry of Wisconsin, Houston, Fillmore, Wabasha, Dodge, Goodhue, Mower and Olmsted counties that comprise Region 10.

American Dairy Association programs of advertising, merchandising, research and public relations for 1963 will be outlined by Manager L. H. Conlon of the Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee, state unit of ADA.

Representatives of both the state and national staffs of the dairy farmer-financed ADA will be on hand to aid in the presentations and answer questions.

"The presentations will be a real pleasure this year since there is more modern hard-selling materials than I've seen in my 17 years with the organization," Conlon said.

He noted particularly that ADA research recently has produced some "startling and meaningful results" that have been the basis for expansion of some aspects of the ADA programs, particularly in the public relations area.

"The whole ADA program has been stepped up to a faster pace that is required by today's economy and competition if the industry expects to hold and expand markets for milk and milk products," Conlon said.

New Feed Grain Program Outlined

LEWISTON, Minn.—The 1963 voluntary feed grain program generally will follow program provisions for 1961 and 1962 crops by giving feed grain producers an opportunity to participate in the program by reducing acreage and to receive payments, Marvin Wiskow, chairman of the Winona County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, has announced.

As in 1962, the program will apply to corn, grain sorghum and barley.

FARMERS WILL receive diversion payments for shifting acreage from production to a conservation use and in addition they will receive price-support payments on the normal production of the 1963 feed grain acreage. They also will be eligible to obtain price-support loans and purchase agreements for the actual 1963 feed grain production.

Rates for diversion payments are somewhat smaller than in previous years, but this decrease will be more than offset for most farmers by the price-support payments.

A major change from previous programs, Wiskow emphasized, is that to be eligible for any payments or price support on any of the three feed grains included in the program, the farmer must divert the total acreage for which he signs up.

THE CHAIRMAN explained that farmers may take part in the program by reducing the total of their 1963 feed grain acreage—corn, grain sorghum, and barley—by at least 20 percent. The maximum diversion is the higher of 40 percent of the base acreage or 25 acres, provided this is not more than the base acreage.

The acreage of the three crops—1960-61 average acreage, as adjusted—will be combined into one total feed grain base for each farm, and the farmer may choose to divert one or more of the feed grains, with the diversion payment being made at the per-acre rate applicable to the particular grain or grains diverted.

Farmers who have planted their 1963 barley crop this fall will be able to take part in the 1963 program by reducing their total feed grain acreage by at least 20 percent.

PRICE SUPPORT will be available partly through loans and purchase agreements and partly through the price-support payments.

Loans and purchase agreements will reflect a national average price of $1.02 per bushel on corn, $1.82 per hundredweight on grain sorghum and 79 cents per bushel on barley.

In addition, price-support payments will be made on the normal production of the 1963 feed grain acreage at the rate of 18 cents per bushel on corn, 29 cents per hundredweight (16 cents per bushel) on grain sorghum and 14 cents per bushel on barley.

Oats and rye are not included in the 1963 feed grain program, thus no payment is provided and no reduction in acreage is required for price-support eligibility. As in 1962, the national average supports for these two crops for 1963 will be 62 cents per bushel for oats and $1.02 per bushel for rye.

PARTICIPATING farmers will be able to put all of their 1963 crop corn, grain sorghum and barley under price-support loans and purchase agreements. This is a change from earlier programs, which limited support to the normal production of the 1962 crop.

Under the 1963 program, acres taken out of feed grains may be planted to guar, sesame, safflower, sunflower and castor beans, but at a lower diversion rate—with no payment on acres planted to safflower. Making barley in 1963 will be treated like all other barley.

Farmers may receive part of their acreage diversion payment at the time they sign up to participate in the program. The sign-up period for the 1963 feed grain program will be early next year and it will be announced later, Wiskow said.

four years ago. Gail Sickler, soil conservationist, assisted Frank in laying out 105 acres of strip cropping.

The farm, situated 300 feet above the level of the Gilbert Valley road, is plagued with a serious gully erosion problem. About 2,000 feet of diversions were established earlier this year to capture, slow and control water and top soil.

Other practices will be established later with Sickler's assistance. A 20-acre wildlife area has been left under cover in the overall conservation plan. This area will serve as a haven for deer, raccoon, rabbits and squirrels.

Frank runs a four-year rotation on his farm with one year grain, one year corn and two years of hay. Cattle are kept out of his 38-acre woodlot so that better timber can develop.

On his farm he has 65 head of cattle, 25 of those being dairy cows and he also has 100 hogs. He rents 15 acres of his land.

Frank will receive a plaque from the newspaper for the conservation honor.

Conservation Award Goes to Area Farmer

LAKE CITY, Minn. — Glenn Frank of the Gilbert Valley area has been selected as 1962's outstanding farmer conservationist in the Wabasha County Soil and Water Conservation District.

He was chosen county winner in the annual contest sponsored by a Minneapolis newspaper. He was selected for his efforts in conserving land on a 275-acre farm and for making it produce the best crops possible.

The selection was made by the District Conservation Board after a review of a number of farms. Arnold Brunkhorst is chairman, Everett Freilicht, treasurer, Stuart Atkinson, secretary and Henry Dose and Kermit Zickrick, members.

Frank applied for conservation assistance shortly after purchasing the former Conrad Schad farm

Garden Valley Co-op Reports

WAUMANDEE, Wis. — The financial report of the Garden Valley Cooperative Creamery showed current assets at $143,466 compared with current liabilities of $37,885.

The financial report was given at the creamery's annual meeting Saturday at Zellers Hall here. Albert Benning and Elmer Schaefer were elected to three-year terms as directors. They replace Elden Schmidtkecht and Lloyd Haight, whose terms had expired.

A free noon dinner was served by women of St. Boniface Church and 187 persons attended the meeting. Entertainment was furnished by Charles Ripley and Tony Pronchinski.

Total revenue in the creamery department was $764,761 and expenses including the purchase price of milk were $719,622. This left a net margin transferred to the equity reserve of $45,039.

In the feed department sales were listed at $255,104 compared with expenses, including the cost of feed, of $233,275, leaving a net margin of $21,829.

The by-laws of the cooperative were amended to conform to the new tax regulations.

4-H LESSON AT CALEDONIA — "Lighting and Lamp Selection" is the topic of the project lesson for 4-H girls in junior and advanced home improvement-family living. The lesson will be given at the Caledonia State Bank basement at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

Weed Chemical Report Made By University

ST. PAUL, Minn.—How weed chemicals fared in some 130 on-the-farm demonstrations around Minnesota last summer was reported Monday at the North Central Weed Control Conference here.

Harley Otto, extension agronomist at the University of Minnesota, said the weather had a lot to do with 1962 results.

IN CORN, Randox and Randox-T both gave poorer results than in previous years, partly because of heavy rainfall which washed these particular chemicals below the weed seeds.

But while weather hindered some chemicals, it helped others. Atrazine gave better results than usual; this particular chemical, Otto said, needs plenty of water to carry it to top soil layers where weed seeds germinate. Soil particles hold it in place and keep it from washing down. As a result of heavy 1962 moisture, lower rates of atrazine did well.

All these chemicals were used at recommended rates after corn was planted but either before it came up or shortly afterwards.

Also compared, Otto said, were granular and wettable powder forms of chemicals, the latter being mixed in sprays. Granular atrazine didn't perform as well as the spray form when equal application rates were compared.

With Randox and Randox-T, however, results were somewhat better from granules.

Atrazine apparently can remain in the soil and damage certain crops planted the following year, such as small-seeded grains, soybeans and legumes. However, damage can be minimized, Otto said, by using wettable powders instead of granules, a band application instead of overall spray, the lowest rate which will give weed control, and by tilling the soil thoroughly before planting a susceptible crop.

ONE CHEMICAL, linuron, tried for the first time in these demonstrations last summer, gave fairly good weed control in corn. However, it was inferior to atrazine and also produced some corn damage.

Demonstrations in soybeans, Otto reported, showed Randox to be effective on grasses for a short period only, again because of high rainfall. A chemical called amiben did well on both grasses and broad-leaved weeds in soybeans. Granular form of amiben was about equal to liquid.

Sodium PCP, another chemical,

Lice problems can crop up in even well managed dairy herds. Cows, heifers and calves, in loose or stable housing, are subjected to lice infestations.

University of Wisconsin dairy herdman Ernie Zehner says there are two kinds of cattle lice: biting lice and sucking lice. Biting lice can be very irritating to the cattle. And a heavy infestation of sucking lice can cause anemia.

Controlling these pests is important for maintaining cow comfort, neat appearance and for preventing a loss of milk production.

Dairymen should inspect suspected animals by pulling some hair out and looking for lice and eggs at the base of the hair. Control of lice can be accomplished by using 1½ percent rotenone dust or a rotenone spray.

Treatment must be made twice, about 10 to 14 days apart, this is to kill lice that hatch after the first treatment.

If fattening lambs are fed barley, it apparently makes little difference whether the barley is steam rolled, cold rolled or fed whole, a University of Minnesota livestock scientist said.

Just how barley should be prepared for sheep has been an important question in recent years. In terms of feed preparation costs, steam rolling is most expensive, while feeding it whole is more economical, said R. M. Jordan.

Shelled corn gives the best results—about 20 percent greater gains with about 12 percent less feed per pound of gain than any of the different types of barley.

Although how barley was prepared didn't affect weight gains, lambs fed either steam rolled or cold rolled barley consumed less total feed than did lambs on shelled corn or whole barley, Jordan said.

Separate gifts from older sows during the gestation period. This recommendation comes from Fred Giesler, livestock specialist at the University of Wisconsin.

Giesler says gilts need to gain a full pound a day during the time when they're carrying a litter, whereas older sows need to gain only three-quarters of a pound. He explains that the gilt has to continue growing as well as providing feed for the litter she's carrying.

The specialist points out that hog farmers want to sell as many pigs as possible from a single sow. A good swine management program is essential for large healthy litters.

did a rather poor job on soybeans and gave the most soybean injury of all treatments.

This was the fifth year of these demonstrations which were conducted by county agricultural agents on land of cooperating farmers. There were 77 demonstrations in corn and 53 in soybeans.

Pepin Breeders Elect Pittman Director — DURAND, Wis.—Pepin County Tri-State Breeders Cooperative members elected Claire Pittman, Arkansaw, as director for one year. He succeeds Francis Sam, who had been director for seven years.

This was the cooperative's annual county meeting. It was held at the courthouse here Nov. 28. Armin Freuchte, sire analyst, presented a discussion on methods of sire selection.

Neilus Larson, general manager, presented a financial report of the operation which showed 442,000 cows bred with a volume of business in excess of $2 million. He also discussed the frozen semen program which the co-

RIDGEWAY, Minn. — Lindley Smith, Dakota, was elected new director of the Winona County Tri-State Breeders Cooperative at their annual meeting last week.

About 65 members attended the meeting at the Ridgeway Methodist Church Nov. 23. Armin Freuchte, sire analyst, presented a slide discussion of the methods used by the sire committees in selecting bulls to be used in the stud.

Wiltgen Tries to Refuel Redmen

Still smarting from a heart-breaking 60-57 upset at the hands of Stout State Wednesday night in Menomonie, Wis., St. Mary's College will attempt to get back on the winning trail Saturday night in Sheboygan, Wis., against Lakeland College.

After two successive victories at home, the Redmen found the "strange court" jinx, so prevalent in recent seasons, still a factor and squandered a pair of nine-point leads in losing to the Blue Devils.

Lakeland fared even worse than the Redmen in their season inaugural in enemy territory. The Muskies were routed by Aurora, Ill., College 89-59 a week ago. Saturday's performance at 8 p.m. in the Sheboygan Falls auditorium will be the home debut for Lakeland. Wednesday's loss to Stout prompted Redmen Coach Ken Wiltgen to revise his strategy for the Lakeland tilt. It was apparent at Menomonie that the Redmen, used to the cramped quarters at Terrace Heights, ran out of gas on the big floor.

"We can't go the route and keep up the pressure," Wiltgen said. He pointed out that the Redmen jumped out to big leads in the opening minutes of both halves against Stout, only to have the Blue Devils come back.

To offset this, Wiltgen hopes to "try to work in two units" against the Muskies. The probable Redmen starting lineup will be the same as against Stout, with the exception of Denny Burman, who will move back to forward in place of Dan McKian.

Burman (6-5) will team with Tom Hall (6-2) at the forwards, while Jim Rockers (6-7) will handle the pivot. Al Williams (6-2) and Jim Clarkin (6-0) are slated for guard duty.

Ready for frequent substitution will be the Redmen bench strength. McKian (6-5) and Roger Pytlewski (6-6) provide reliable forward substitutes, while George Valaika (6-5) can spell Rockers at center.

Mike Maloney (6-3) and Frank Meekins (5-11) will see action at the guard posts, and Dave Peely (5-9) is also available for backcourt duty.

If the new system works, each Redman cager will be rested midway through the half to prevent any slowdown in the offensive machine and to keep the defense fresh and alert.

The Lakeland tilt will make another first for St. Mary's—the first time this season the Redmen won't enjoy an advantage in the height department.

The Muskies boast a forward line averaging 6-7, anchored by West Seyler, a 6-11 pivotman. Dennis Holbert (6-7) is at one forward, with "little" Charley Davidson (6-3), team captain, at the other. Guards for the Lakeland crew will probably be either Sam Graber (5-10), Doug Istas (6-1), or Tom Speich (6-1).

Coach Bob Griggs, former Minnesota star, also has good bench strength in Gary Horvey (6-1), George Greeley (6-9), Charles Petit (6-0), Jim Sharpe (5-8), and Bill Wood (6-2).

Hawks, Cotter Home Tonight

Ramblers Will Play in Loop

BY AUGIE KARCHER
Daily News Sports Editor

Winona High will make its 1962-63 home debut tonight and Cotter's Ramblers, it was learned this morning, will be competing in the Ravoux Conference basketball race after all.

The Ramblers meet Rochester Lourdes at 8 p.m. at St. Stan's and the Winhawks go against Red Wing the same hour at Winona High.

THE REV. Robert Stamschror, Cotter athletic director, revealed that though Cotter meets only two of the other four members of the Ravoux Conference, its games will count in the standings.

"Of course, it means to win the championship, we would have to go undefeated," said Stamschror. "The standings will be figured on a percentage basis."

Cotter meets Lourdes twice and Austin Pacelli twice. Those schools play each other twice and have double-dates with Owatonna Marian and Waseca Sacred Heart. The Ramblers' defending champions of last year's full round of play, thus will have only four games; all other schools have eight.

LOURDES comes in tonight with a 3-0 season's record and 2-0 start in the conference. The Ramblers are 1-2.

Winona High, also 1-2, has been on the road for its three games and draws a Winger team which has yet to win in a pair of contests.

Hawk Coach John Kenney doesn't plan any changes in his starting lineup. Winger Coach Pete Petrich, who feels Winona's gym "is a little below Big Ten standards" which is in Winona's favor, has indicated he will start Neut Stramemo in place of Wayne Haugen.

"We want to win this one and feel that we showed a great deal of improvement in the West game," said Petrich.

IN THE individual scoring department among the city's two high school teams, Wulf Krause of the Winhawks tops his team with a 18.6 average in three games and Sam Czaplowski is pacing Cotter with a 14.6 clin.

Bob Judge follows Czaplowski with 12.3, but the Hawks' next best scorer drops down to 8.6.

Defense vs. Offense In All Sports Bowl

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—East Central State of Ada, Okla., matches its potent football offense against the University of Omaha's massive defensive line here Saturday in the second annual All Sports Bowl.

East Central averaged 390 yards per game on the ground while posting a 9-2 record this season.

But the Tigers never met anything like the Omaha defensive forwards, who average 252 pounds. Smallest member of the 6-man defensive unit is Tom Luby who weighs 235. At the other end of the scale is 290-pound Jack Petersen. Twins Brian and Kevin Kadow weigh in at 253 and 249 respectively and guard Paul Limas comes in at 253.

The Indians had a 7-1-1 record in regular season play.

GOOD LUCK CHARM? . . . Wulf Krause (left) and John Prigge, forwards on the Winona High basketball team, get an introduction to the new WHS "mascot." # Kelley Captures Lead In His First PGA Meet

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP)—

"I just stayed relaxed and hit the ball."

That's the way Al Kelley, playing his first PGA tournament, said he took the first round lead over 148 more seasoned pros and 10 amateurs in the 72-hole, $20,000 Coral Gables Open Golf Tournament.

The 27-year-old pro of seven weeks standing collected a 6-under-par 65.

Going into today's second round, Kelley, born in Akron, Ohio, and playing out of Coral Gables, held a one-stroke lead over Dave Ragan, with whom he grew up in Orlando, Fla.

"As an amateur, I'd been trying to hit the ball too hard," Kelley commented. "Too many went astray."

Going into the tournament, the former Air Force flier discarded a new putter and went back to one he had used since 1959.

The 6 foot, 160-pound two-time Florida amateur champion scored seven birdies in his 32-33 effort. He bogeyed the 15th, when he bucked wind gusts.

Thirty-three pros outdid par 71 on the 6,563-yard Billmore layout.

Coming in at 67, one stroke off the 32-33 carded by Ragan, winner of last week's Palm Beach Open, were Rex Baxter of Amarillo, Tex., and Bill Collins, Miami.

Tied at 68 were Ed Furgol, Export, Pa., and Gay Brewer Jr., Crystal River, Fla.

Crusher Lisowski defeated Moose Evans Thursday night in their headline match on a professional wrestling card at the Catholic Recreation Center before a near-capacity crowd.

Lisowski won the third and deciding fall by jumping off the ropes on to Evans after Moose had virtually pinned his man.

Evans, who lost to Vern Gagne in Minneapolis Tuesday night, had Crusher on the mat, but Referee Joe Snyder was underneath both of them and was unable to see the pin. So Evans elected to relinquish his hold and go after Crusher in another fashion. That was when Lisowski reversed the situation. Snyder was lying groggy on the mat at the time.

Earlier, Evans had thrown Crusher out of the ring and dropped him on his back on the floor of the gym.

In defeated bouts, Rocky Hamilton decried Doug Gilbert two falls out of three and Dick Steinborn pinned Jack Allen in the one-fall opener.

Wally Post was a terrific pinch hitter for Cincinnati this year. With nine hits in 27 at bats he hit .333 and drove home 12 runs. He hit three pinch home runs.

Seventy-four of 134 minor league baseball teams reported increased attendance in 1962.

Huskies vs. Mankato Saturday

St. Cloud's Huskies open defense of their Northern State College Conference basketball championship Saturday at Mankato in one of three league openers this weekend.

Michigan Tech plays twice at home—meeting Bemidji Friday and Moorhead Saturday. The Moorhead game, scheduled for 2 p.m., is one of the features of the 10th annual Sports Roundup.

Winona will not enter league action until Dec. 14 when the Warriors travel to St. Cloud. St. Cloud enters league action with a 4-1 record, including wins over Valley City, Aberdeen, Huron, and Eau Claire and a loss to South Dakota State. Coach Red Severson's team is averaging 83 points per game while holding the opposition to 68 per game.

The Huskies will be seeking to drive to their sixth league title in the last seven years. They won the crown outright three times and split honors with Mankato twice and Bemidji once during the stretch.

Coach Zeke Hogeland will be making his debut for the Bemidji Beavers who have a 1-1 non-league record. The Beavers will play Northland at Ashland, Wis., Saturday to complete the weekend trip.

Mankato, aiming to regain its stature as a title contender following a fifth-place finish last season, beat Huron in its only non-league test.

Larry MacLeod, returning to the helm at Moorhead, has one of the school's youngest and smallest squads. The Dragons and Bemidji shared runnerup honors last season.

League teams won nine of their first 16 non-league starts.

Tresh Voted Top Rookie

BOSTON (AP)—Switchhitter Tom Tresh of the New York Yankees walked right past his father's major league footsteps into the American League Rookie of the Year award today.

A picture of versatility in all he undertook, Tresh drew the votes of 13 of the 20 members of the Baseball Writers Association of America who were on the selection committee.

Los Angeles Angels' catcher

Bob Rodgers was named on four ballots while one vote apiece was given to Minnesota second baseman Bernie Allen, Los Angeles pitcher Dean Chance and fireballing relief hurler Dick Radatz of Boston.

Tresh was a vital cog in another march to supremacy, playing 111 games at shortstop, the moving to left field for 43 after Tony Kubek returned from service. With three additional games in a pinch-hit role, Tresh batted .286, scored 94 runs, drove in 93, hit 26 doubles, five triples and 20 homers.

Born in Detroit 24 years ago, Tresh is the son of former Chicago White Sox and Cleveland Indians catcher Mike Tresh, 1938-49.

The latter was known as a fine, iron-man receiver who caught every game in one season. His best batting season was 1940 when he hit .281.

Mike Tresh was in the stands when Tom won the fifth world series game 5-2 over San Francisco by hitting a three-run, eighth-inning homer.

The younger Tresh is a 6-foot, 180-pounder who says he prefers the outfield to shortstop. He currently is in his sixth semester at Central Michigan University at Mt. Pleasant, Mich., where he is majoring in physical education.

Rookie of the Year in the International League a year ago, Tresh was second on the Yankees in hits with 178 and RBI with 93 and was third behind Roger Maris and Bobby Richardson in total bases.
