Vietnamese, Reds Back Away After Fierce 20-Hour Battle

By PETER ARNETT
TAN HIEP, South Viet Nam (AP)—After 20 hours of battle, Vietnamese and Americans picked up their dead and wounded from this Mekong River delta area today. The Vietnamese forces showed little interest in chasing the Communist guerrillas who had trapped them with blistering gunfire.

Across the rice paddies, evidence of Wednesday's battle was grim. Five American helicopters lay crashed in the mud. Bodies of two Americans killed in the fighting were recovered. The third American died after he was evacuated.

One U.S. helicopter bore 21 bullet holes. On its deck lay the open bodies of one of the dead Americans, a 21-year-old gunner. There was a picture of his wife and child.

By early afternoon, more than 100 government dead and wounded had been picked up from thatched-roof huts, dikes and fields.

Newsman who flew in late this morning saw smoke rolling out of the devastated hamlet of An Bac, where Communist guerrillas—entrenched in deep fortifications, had hit the government forces with automatic weapons fire.

Gen. Paul D. Harkins, commander of the U.S. forces in South Viet Nam, told newsmen in Saigon after a visit here he believed the government forces had encircled the Communist Viet Cong and stood a chance of crushing them. But there were no signs of any new drive against the Reds immediately.

The battle was one of the bloodiest and costliest to U.S. support forces—so far in the war. Two more American injured were reported, bringing American casualties in the past 24 hours to three killed and 10 wounded.

A U.S. Army captain and two helicopter crewmen were killed and six helicopter crewmen were wounded in the opening phase of the battle near Tan Hiep. A U.S. Army captain and a sergeant, both paratroopers, were wounded Wednesday night when they jumped into the battle area with a group of Vietnamese reinforcements.

Two other U.S. Army men were wounded in operations elsewhere in the country.

Officials said the three American dead brought to 26 the number of Americans killed in action in the Viet Nam civil war. The Pentagon put the figure at 24 killed in action and said there had been 31 deaths from other causes.

Viet Cong casualties were unknown. But there were reports of sampans loaded with dead or wounded guerrillas moving along canals leading out of the area.

The Viet Cong force that attacked from ambush Wednesday was estimated at two regular battalions reinforced by a heavy weapons company—a total of about 600 men. U.S. advisers and Vietnamese officers said they could not estimate how many remained in the area. The government poured in about 800 paratroopers.

The battle began as a routine "search and clear" operation not far from the banks of the Mekong. Ten U.S. H21 troop-carrying helicopters and five armed HU-1A escort helicopters participated. Initially there was no other air cover, apparently, because available aircraft were being used in an operation near the Cambodian border.

The objective was a rice paddy area within an angle formed by the intersection of a canal and a line of trees.

There was no fire as the first two waves of troops landed. But with the third wave the entrenched Communists opened fire from the tree line.

In a short period, 14 of the 13 helicopters had been hit. Five were downed. Authorities said today one helicopter was destroyed, but the crews hoped to be able to repair the other four and fly them out.

WASHINGTON (AP)—America's next man in space — scheduled to be astronaut Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr. — may try to orbit the earth for 34 hours. A decision on whether to try for 22 instead of 16 orbits probably will be announced next week.

MILWAUKEE (AP)—U. S. District Judge Kenneth P. Grubb approved Wednesday one of the largest tax settlements in Milwaukee federal court history — nearly one half million dollars.

The judgment of $498,955 was against Andrew R. Meyers, 63, president and general manager of the General Hardware Co., and his wife, Irene. It covered federal income taxes, penalties and interest from 1942 through 1949 and for 1953.

The government agreed to accept payment over an eight-year period. Meyers must pay the government $156,730 in four years and then pay a percentage of his income through 1971.

HAVANA (AP)—WESTERN DIPLOMATS SEARCHED IN VAIN TODAY FOR ANYTHING IN PRIME MINISTER FIDEL CASTRO'S ANNIVERSARY SPEECH THAT THEY COULD INTERPRET AS A PROMISE OF ANY BASIC CHANGE IN U. S. CUBAN RELATIONS. MOST OF THE 90-MINUTE SPEECH WEDNESDAY, FOLLOWING A MILITARY PARADE THAT DISPLAYED FOR THE FIRST TIME IN CUBA GROUND-TO-AIR AND COASTAL DEFENSE MISSILES, WAS A SCORCHING ATTACK ON THE UNITED STATES AND PRESIDENT KENNEDY.

OTTAWA (AP)—The Canadian Immigration Department said Wednesday that any Amish people admitted to Canada as immigrants from Iowa must give assurance that they will comply with provincial education laws.

The department official said the Amish families have applied for permission to enter Ontario, where children must attend school until they are 16 years old.

CHICAGO (AP)—More than 1,000 persons were killed in traffic accidents during the long New Year's and Christmas holiday periods. The over-all total of accidental deaths was more than 1,400.

The nation's traffic death toll for the four-day New Year's holiday was 382 compared to the record low of 375 for a similar holiday period in 1951-52. The record high since World War II is 409 set in 1956-57.

Teams Cutting Number of Disputed Ballots

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Attorneys of screening teams representing both parties reported success Wednesday night in paring down disputed ballots from four smaller counties in the Minnesota governor recount.

Their summary came as a check records in both headquarters showed DFL Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag maintaining a varying lead over Republican incumbent Gov. Elmer L. Andersen.

Considering 332 disputed Andersen ballots from Aitkin, Lake, Killeen and Pope counties, the screeners cut that figure to 82, or 78 per cent. In the same territory, 425 challenged Rolvaag votes were pared 72 per cent, to 117.

The GOP tabulators, reporting 3,356 of the state's 3,785 precincts recounted, showed Rolvaag ahead by 174 votes. At DFL headquarters, where 3,171 districts were in, Rolvaag's margin was listed as 186.

But here again the figures were tempered by the growing stack of challenged ballots, conceded by all to carry the key to the final election result.

The GOP center had 77,593 disputed ballots listed, 41,691 of them marked for Andersen but called into question by DFL field inspectors.

The DFL showed 73,702 challenges, 41,691 of them originally credited to Andersen.

It was expected that, with exception of Hennepin and St. Louis, the field recount could be completed in the state's 87 counties by the last of this week.

Should the screening committee be able to maintain its initial ratio, it would mean that the three-member panel of district judges probably would be called upon to decide only 10,000 or 15,000 disputed ballots, along with the county recount totals.

But there was no indication of how long the screening operation might last, considering that the ultimate total of challenges is expected to well exceed 80,000.

Gain for Rolvaag in Watonwan County

ST. JAMES, Minn. (AP)—Recount of votes in Watonwan County resulted in a net gain of nine votes for Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag, the DFL candidate for governor, the auditor's office said today.

The recount gave Rolvaag 1,963 undisputed and 190 challenged votes, Gov. Elmer L. Andersen, GOP, 3,014 undisputed and 272 disputed.

The original count was Andersen 3,288, Rolvaag 3,286.

Watonwan County was involved in a post-election rihbarb when its ballots were inadvertently tossed out and then rescued.

Cass County Lead Shifts

WALKER, Minn. (AP)—The recount of votes in Cass County shifted the lead from Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag, DFL, to Gov. Elmer L. Andersen, GOP.

The recount gave Andersen a lead of 18, whereas Rolvaag was ahead by three votes after the original count.

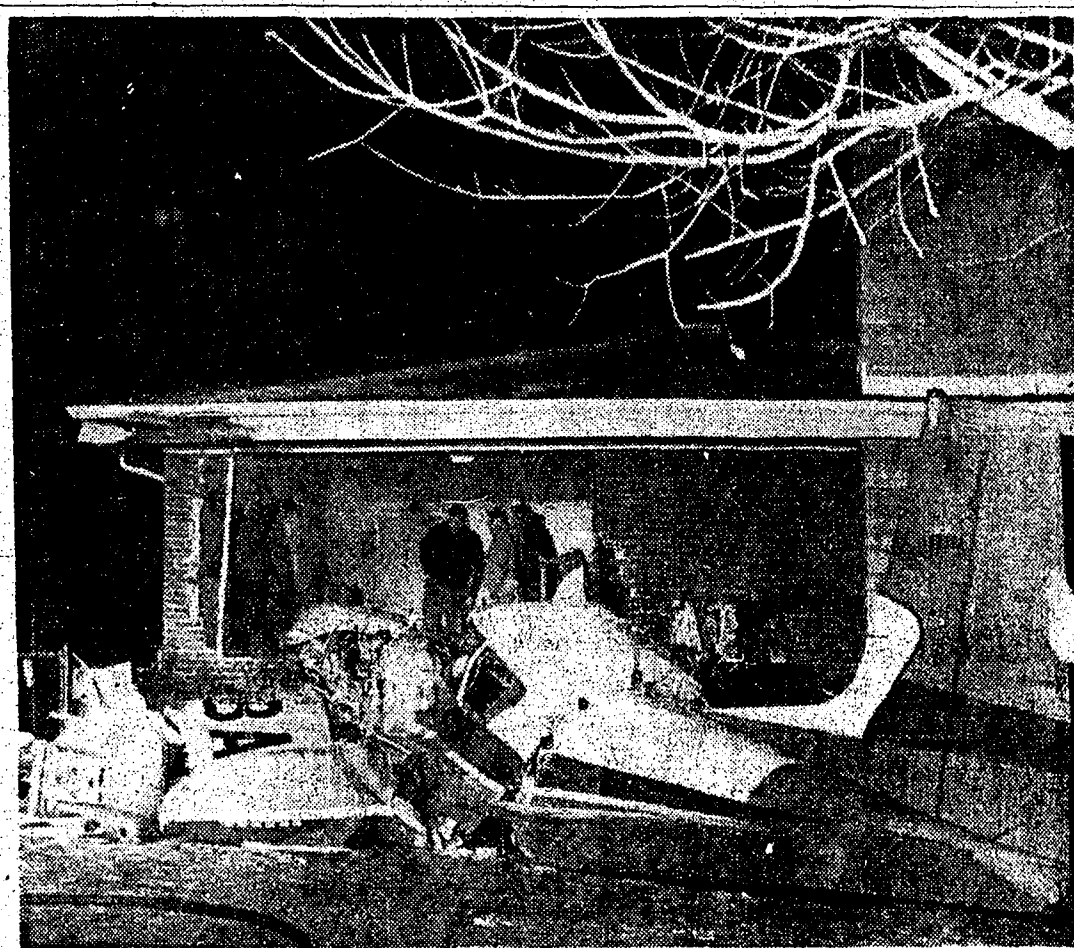

Recount totals were Andersen 3,537, with 958 challenged, and Rolvaag 3,519, with 681 challenged.

Red China Lodges Protest Against India

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China has lodged a protest with the Indian government against what it called "unwarranted harassment" suffered by Chinese diplomats in Calcutta and Bombay, the New China News Agency said Thursday.

The agency said the Chinese foreign ministry charged that the two Chinese consulates-general in India met with "unwarranted harassment of various kinds" in the course of winding up their affairs and withdrawing their staff members.

Plane Rams Chicago House, Three Killed

By HOWARD F. KAPSO
CHICAGO (AP)—Federal agents today probed the crash of a private plane, which swooped into a physician's home, killing three plane passengers.

The wrecked aircraft, a twin-engine Cessna 310, was taken to O'Hare International Airport to be reconstructed in an effort to establish the cause of the crash in darkness late Wednesday.

The aircraft plunged into the home of Dr. James V. Manella, striking an unoccupied bedroom in the front of the home, Federal Aviation Agency investigators concentrated on the plane in an effort to determine the crash cause.

The dead were identified as three members of a suburban Skokie executive's family: Mrs. Ginette Somlo, 30; her mother, Mrs. Elsa Vidal, 64, of Paris, France; and Mrs. Somlo's daughter, Susan, 8.

The three injured were identified as Thomas G. Somlo, 35, the pilot; his daughter, Terry, 4, and the family maid, Juana Hidalgo Kubias, 23, of San Salvador, El Salvador. All were in critical condition at Northwest Hospital.

Police said the six persons were returning to Chicago after a New Year holiday visit in Naples, Fla. Somlo is president of the Progress Vending Co., Chicago, a vending machine firm.

A gaping hole was punched into the bedroom by an engine which was torn from its mountings.

The aircraft itself did not penetrate the home.

Manella, 55, who was at home with his wife, sister and sister-in-law when the crash occurred, said: "I had just gotten up from a nap in the bedroom. The four of us were in the television room when we heard a terrific noise. I thought my furnace had blown up."

"I checked the furnace and came upstairs and found the bedroom filled with dust. I thought an auto had run into the house."

"Then I heard a woman scream and she said, 'Get me out of here.' I went outside and there was an airplane that had fallen

Better Reception Than Last Year Expected for Bill

ST. PAUL (AP)—Three statewide organizations are backing a proposed bill for a sales tax in the Minnesota Legislature, meeting next week.

Designed as a replacement for the personal property tax, the new levy would cover goods sold at retail, spokesmen for the trio of sponsoring groups told a news conference late Wednesday.

United in the drive to put the program across are the Minnesota Taxpayers Association, the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation and the Job Climate Committee of Minnesota Chamber of Commerce executives.

A similar bill died two years ago in the then liberal controlled House Tax Committee. With conservatives now ruling the lower House as well as the Senate, sponsors said they expected a better reception.

Charles P. Stone, general counsel for the taxpayers group, said a sales tax, if passed at this session, would be a true replacement levy. But, if laid over to 1965, the need for more money then might make it just another tax.

The proposal calls for a 3 per cent general sales tax, which sponsors estimate will bring in $157.5 million a year. It would apply generally to goods sold at retail.

Instead of exempting some goods from the tax, as some states do, the proposal would grant each family a credit of $10 per year against income tax. For example, a family of five would receive a credit of $50. In any case where the credit exceeded the income tax due, there would be a cash refund.

The amount left after providing this credit would be $123.5 million.

Of this, $75.5 million would be used to replace personal property taxes on farm and business inventories and productive machinery — a tax Stone called the "sores spot" in our tax structure.

Sponsors said they believe elimination of this tax would lead to expansion of industry now in the state and encourage new businesses to locate in Minnesota, thus creating more job opportunities.

Another $13 million would be used to pay principal and interest on state building fund certificates, which are now paid off through real estate taxes. An additional $10 million would be used to replace present revenue from the 5 per cent surtax on individual income taxes and the 10 per cent surtax on corporation income taxes.

This would leave about $25 million a year to help meet rising costs and to pay off deficits which may occur.

Harold T. Miller, Taxpayers Association research director, called "over-optimistic" a prediction by Gov. Elmer L. Andersen that state operations during the next two years could be financed by existing taxes.

Shoup's reference to the force was the first disclosure of how many Marines were poised aboard ships of the fleet and on shore bases before the Soviet Union agreed to withdraw its missiles and bombers from the island.

The Pentagon disclosed previously that more than 100,000 infantry, paratroops and other forces were ready for possible action in Cuba.

"Only by the grace of God and an aerial photo is it possible to make these remarks to many of you in person rather than to your spirits. For this I am truly grateful," Shoup told the staff.

In his talk, the blunt-spoken Shoup also let it be known that the Marines would not surrender to the onslaughts of automation.

"I refuse to deliver our Marines and all their personal problems to the spinning tapes and the flashing lights of a computer," he declared.

Jack Carson Dead at 52 From Cancer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor Jack Carson, who gained comic fame playing loudmouths in the movies, died Wednesday of cancer of the liver.

Although Carson, 52, had been ill for six months, and knew two months ago that his case was terminal, his death caught most of Hollywood by surprise. "That was because Carson told no one—not even his wife or his closest friends—how sick he was until two weeks ago."

On New Year's Day, he watched the Rose Bowl game and was thrilled with his beloved Wisconsin's amazing fourth quarter surge. Then Wednesday he was walking around normally and talking to his wife.

She left the room for a few minutes and when she returned, Carson was dead.

Frank Stempel, Carson's partner and close friend for 28 years, said "Amazingly, Jack didn't lose a pound of weight during his illness."

In recent years, Carson had been touring the country in stock shows.

"I'm best at making people laugh, at entertainment. They don't want me for the morbid overexposed stuff Hollywood is turning out nowadays," he said a few months ago during a round of golf with a reporter friend.

He collapsed last Aug. 26 on an airplane, en route to a stage during a dress rehearsal of "Critic's Choice." Doctors called his ailment a stomach disorder then.

But he later found out it was cancer. No one knew it but Carson and his doctor.

Carson's funeral will be conducted Friday at Forest Lawn.

Fireman Killed In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"It was like lighting a firecracker in a matchbox," observed one witness after a gas explosion tore apart a house and rained debris on a nearby fire crew, killing a battalion chief and injuring nine other firemen.

Two of the firemen were in critical condition from the Wednesday afternoon blast, which tied up rush-hour traffic and forced temporary evacuation of 1,000 residents from a five-block area.

A 16-year-old boy suffered minor injuries, and Fire Chief William Murray estimated damage at $35,000.

Firemen responded to a gas leak alarm and found a roaring, dust-spewing leak in a 26-inch gas main, one of the city's three largest.

Wednesday night with June Allyson holding his hand.

The 58-year-old movie and television veteran had been in a coma two days.

His death climaxed a sad day for Hollywood, following by only five hours the death—also of cancer—of Jack Carson.

For the first time in recent memory, two funerals for major Hollywood personalities will be held on the same day—Friday.

Powell was the fourth Hollywood giant felled by the disease in 18 days. Charles Laughton, who died Dec. 15, and Thomas Mitchell, who died two days later, were the others.

Miss Allyson, Powell's actress-wife, had sat holding his hand most of the evening. It was she who discovered that he had breathed his last.

She "calmly announced to the other members of the family: 'I think Richard has died. Someone had better call the doctor.'"

She never called him Dick—although every one else did. Powell's personal physician was there in minutes and pronounced the actor dead.

Miss Allyson, who had lived for months in dread of the final moment, was given a sedative by the doctor.

Others at the bedside were Powell's two brothers, Howard, William, III, a vice president of the Illinois Central Railroad, and Luther, retired vice president of the South American Division of International Harvester Co.; Powell's two children from his previous marriage to actress Joan Blondell and Pamela, an adopted daughter.

Richard Keith, his 12-year-old son, was at the home of Justin Powell.

Dranow Will Go on Trial On Jan. 28

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Benjamin Dranow will go to trial Jan. 28 on a charge of having jumped $55,000 in bonds for failing to appear in court last Oct. 16 on a federal wire fraud charge.

Judge Gunmar H. Nordbye set the date late Wednesday after hearing arguments from Hyman E. Cohen, St. Paul, counsel for the former Minneapolis department store operator, and Miles Lord, federal district attorney.

Cohen also injected a new note in the proceedings when he said he didn't know whether he could continue to represent Dranow because, after a month's work on the case, he hasn't been paid anything.

Judge Nordbye ordered Cohen to report back in a week on whether he had received any money by that time.

Cohen then argued that Dranow, 54, should first be tried on the wire fraud charge. But Lord insisted that the bond jumping indictment was the more important because "it strikes directly at the integrity and workability of the entire judicial system."

Lord indicated that, once the bond hearing is out of the way, he might call for dismissal of the wire fraud charge, which grows out of alleged financial manipulations Dranow engaged in while he headed the John W. Thomas store here several years ago.

Dranow currently is serving two consecutive seven-year terms for mail and bankruptcy fraud. Lord said evidence backing the wire fraud count largely would duplicate that which led to those earlier convictions.

When Dranow complained in court that he wasn't allowed to see his girl friend or other visitors while being held as a federal prisoner in the Hennepin County jail, Lord pointed out that the defendant is in effect, in federal prison. And the rules there, being obeyed here, are that inmates can receive only their wives or other close relatives.

Houston County Gets Federal Court Furniture

Release of a number of items of furniture in the federal courtroom here was received by Winona Postmaster John W. Dugan from Frank Massey, clerk of U. S. Court for Minnesota, who said that the furnishings were taken by Houston County at any time. The post office will be vacated in the spring when a new building is completed on a site in Central Park.

Notice of the release of tables, chairs and benches in the federal courtroom here was received by Winona Postmaster John W. Dugan from Frank Massey, clerk of U. S. Court for Minnesota, who said that the furnishings were taken by Houston County at any time. The post office will be vacated in the spring when a new building is completed on a site in Central Park.

ACQUISITION of the furnishings was realized through the joint efforts of the Houston County Board of Commissioners, Houston County Bar Association, District Judge Leo F. Murphy, Houston County officials and Dugan.

Last year the Houston County board awarded contracts for remodeling and improvement of the courtroom and judges' chambers, a project that included a lowering of the ceiling in the courtroom and its acoustical treatment and a reduction in the size of the courtroom to provide space for three county offices.

The U.S. General Services Administration, meanwhile, was in the process of disposing of the Winona post office building in anticipation of its vacation with the construction of the new post office.

JUDGE MURPHY met with the Houston board and later contacted Judge Edward J. Devitt, chief U.S. District judge in Minnesota, concerning the use that the furnishings could be put to in the newly remodeled Caledonia courtroom.

The moveable furnishings in the courtroom are the property of the U.S. District Court, while all permanent furnishings were owned by the General Services Administration.

Judge Murphy's correspondence with Judge Devitt and the U.S. Court was turned over to Miss Dolores Hauge, Houston County auditor, and Houston County officials, including Claude H. Kramer, clerk of court, inspected the furnishings in the courtroom.

Miss Hauge initiated correspondence requesting permission to acquire furnishings that might be available after the post office was vacated, noting their historical value and the fact that the equipment would be useful in the remodeled courtroom.

ORIGINALLY, the county sought the judge's bench, clerk's desk and platform for both, jury seats and platform, attorneys' tables and chairs, the railing in front of the gallery, furnishings in chambers, spectators' benches and miscellaneous items. The letter announcing that release of certain furnishings has been approved specifically mentioned several tables, jurors' swivel chairs, several other chairs and the spectators' benches.

It's presumed that the judge's bench and platform, clerk's desk and platform and other furnishings not listed in the letter are considered permanent fixtures and included in the property obtained by First National Bank of Winona when it bought the post office property on bid last fall.

After hearing of the release, Judge Murphy said he was pleased that the transfer had been authorized, saying, "The furnishings are old but they're in very good condition, have historic value and will be a fine addition to the Caledonia courtroom. Houston County should be complimented, too, on the fine work they've done in improving their courtroom facilities."

KRAMER SAID, "We are especially grateful to Judge Murphy for his efforts to obtain the furniture. Their historical value will be preserved intact and the taxpayers will be saved the expense of refurbishing our newly remodeled courtroom."

The remodeling project, for the most part, was finished in October with only that work involved in refurbishing—such as installation of floor covering—remaining to be done.

Filings Open For Blair Posts

BLAIR, Wis. (Special)—Five of the city's offices will be held at the spring election April 2.

To have their names appear on the official ballot, candidates must file nomination papers by Jan. 29.

Officers whose terms expire this year are: William H. Melby, mayor; Lloyd Skogstad, 1st Ward alderman; Jerome Mattson, 2nd Ward alderman; George Winick, supervisor, 2nd Ward; and Melvin Hjerleld, 3rd Ward alderman.

Holdover officers include Julius Erickson, alderman, 1st Ward; James Erickson, alderman, 2nd Ward; H. R. Noren, supervisor, 3rd Ward; and Carl J. Saxe, supervisor, 2nd Ward. Other positions in the city—assessor and clerk-treasurer—are appointive, all terms for two years.

Melby is the only mayor the city has ever had. He was serving as village president when Blair became a city more than 10 years ago. He has been re-elected to that post every two years.

Tree Collection Slated Sunday

The Winona Junior Chamber of Commerce will conduct the annual Christmas tree lift from noon-5 p.m. Sunday. David Peplinski, tree lift chairman, and Bernie Wagnild, general chairman for Jaycee Christmas activities, announced.

The project helps prevent home fires caused by dry trees.

To have your tree picked up, leave it on the boulevard in front of your home. There is no charge.

However, a donation may be left in an envelope on the tree or you may leave a note asking the Jaycees to come to your door for the donation. Donations finance Jaycee community projects including Kiddieland in Lake Park.

Trees will be burned at 7:30 p.m. Sunday near the junction of Trunk Highways 43 and 61 under Sugar Loaf. Burning will be supervised by the Winona fire department. The public is invited.

Death Toll in Blast Up to 16

By JAMES R. POLK

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP)—Crews with cranes dug into the rubble of a meat packing plant today in search of the bodies of four missing workers believed to have died with 12 others in a scalding explosion.

Fifty-five other workers were injured in the explosion that shot through the Home Packing Co. plant here Wednesday. Six were listed in critical condition.

"I had my left hand free," worker Gerald Fagg, 20, West

Terre Haute, related afterward. "I kept digging, digging, and digging. There was a body right under me. I could feel the flesh move. Finally I dug a hole and saw a guy above me. I pinched him on his leg and wouldn't let him go."

"I smelled something, a rotten smell, an awful, rotting smell," said Donald Melcho, 23, Terre Haute. "That was about 10 to 17. A little after that it exploded."

"All of once the building started shaking," said Henry Akers, 23, West Terre Haute, who was on the top floor of the two-story brick building. "A big noise, the lights went out, and I started rising in the air."

"It was a long time," he added. "I know it was. I said, 'Oh, God, let me live through this,' four or five times. Then I landed. I could see a little light. I started climbing down the side of the building."

Authorities today remained uncertain of the cause of the blast. Investigators were checking the possibility of a gas explosion.

Fire Chief Norman Fesler said, "The probable cause is uncertain and it'll probably stay that way."

More than 200 workers were inside the meat packing plant when the force ripped through the 55-year-old building, designated last month as a civil defense fallout shelter.

The crumbling rubble burst ammonia lines in the refrigerator unit in the basement and spread a stifling blanket over the area. Sister Justine at St. Anthony Hospital said, "We were call crying and coughing" from the ammonia coming from the lungs of the injured men rushed to the emergency ward.

Nurses donned respirator masks and oxygen equipment in order to treat the patients.

Attorney General Says Eyota Doesn't Need Pay Ordinance

EYOTA, Minn.—No ordinance will be required to raise salaries of the village council and mayor to minimum levels specified under a 1959 law.

Passage of a resolution authorizing the raises is all that is necessary, according to an opinion by Walter F. Mondale, Minnesota attorney general. Minimum salaries for villages of Eyota's population and assessed valuation class are now $100 a month for aldermen, $15 for the mayor, the attorney general said. Salaries can be paid either monthly or annually.

The attorney general's opinion was given in response to a request by the village attorney, Arthur R. Swan. Since 1958 the mayor's salary has been $100 per year and aldermen have received $75 per year.

Deposit Forfeited

The driver of the car which struck a parked car owned by Arthur R. Knapp, 513 1/2 E. 3rd St., forfeited $30 bail in municipal court today. Herbert J. Wenzel, 69, Rushford, Minn., was charged with leaving the scene of an accident. His car struck Knapp's car on 3rd Street about 125 feet east of Vine Street at 8:40 p.m. New Year's Day.

New Year's Baby Satisfactory Now

Physicians today described the condition of Douglas Craven, prematurely-born son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Craven Jr., Stockton, as satisfactory.

The baby, who weighed three pounds when he was born Tuesday at 5:50 a.m., is in an incubator at Community Memorial Hospital. Physicians said he was being fed through a tube to conserve his strength.

A twin brother, Dale, born 20 minutes earlier, died Tuesday at 12:30 p.m.

Classes Scheduled For Food Handlers

The occasional stomach upsets which people dismiss as "something going around" are more likely to be mild cases of food poisoning.

This is one of the public health topics to be discussed at food sanitation classes to be held here Jan. 15 by the Minnesota Department of Health. Directed by Robert E. Hunt, chief of the department's hotel, restaurant and resort section, two classes will be held at the YMCA, beginning at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m.

FOOD HANDLING personnel from religious and fraternal organizations, commercial dispensers and public institutions, as well as the general public, are invited to attend, Hunt said.

Hunt will be assisted by Charles B. Schneider, sanitarian with the department's division of environmental sanitation. Dr. W. W. Huesly, city health officer, and Willard A. Swanson.

"It will be the first such conference held here since May 17, 1950," Swanson said.

Classes are held periodically around the state as part of the Health Department campaign to control the spread of disease through food service. Food poisoning outbreaks occur 30 times more often than contaminated water outbreaks and 20 times more often than milk-borne outbreaks, studies have shown.

PHYSICIANS and public health officials say much of the illness which passes for summer flu, stomach flu or intestinal flu is really brought on by food infected through improper handling.

Only a fraction of such cases ever come to the attention of physicians or public health personnel, the health department says, and therefore are not diagnosed correctly.

Food infections and poisonings can be prevented by modern handling techniques, the department says. Many outbreaks occur after large gatherings, picnics, banquets and other social functions, department figures show.

THE IMPORTANCE of food, beverage and lodging establishments to the state's economy is shown by yearly gross business figures. In 1961, eating and drinking establishments had a total business of $201,000,000, while hotels, motels and resorts grossed $78,427,000.

Health Department inspectors completed a thorough examination of all food, drink and lodging establishments here in October.

Youth to Face Charges for Yearend Party

A Twin Cities youth may be charged with five counts of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, according to Sheriff George Fort.

Ronald Berg, 22, who has been working in the St. Charles area, was arrested by the sheriff Tuesday and is being held in the county jail. He is being charged in connection with a New Year's Eve party for which he had reportedly purchased beer for five youths ages 14 to 17.

The party was held in rural St. Charles while the parents of one of the youths were away. The parents reported the incident to the sheriff's office after finding that the party had occurred.

Sheriff Fort said that the complaints against Berg have not been made as yet, but that they would be shortly. Berg will be before Goodview Justice Lewis Albert.

Arcadia Auto Thefts Bring Police Warning

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special)—A series of car thefts in the city of Arcadia has brought this warning to motorists from Chief of Police Edward Kaiser:

Make sure the ignition is locked and keys are removed from your car when it is parked. It is a violation of a city ordinance to leave the keys in most cases, he added, automobile insurance will not cover damage to a stolen vehicle.

Thefts are believed to be the work of juveniles. Kaiser urged parents of teenagers to know the whereabouts of their children when they are out. Passengers in a stolen car are as guilty as the thief and will be prosecuted as such, he said.

IN THE PAST six weeks, six cars belonging to Arcadia residents have been stolen in the city.

A 1955 Ford belonging to Delbert Klink was stolen about six weeks ago from its parking place in front of the Sobotta's Grocery. It was taken about 11:30 p.m. A week later a car owned by Connie Rohn was stolen while it was left to warm up on Main Street. A few days later a car owned by Alex Klaus was stolen from its parking place at the county shops during the afternoon.

Three thefts occurred within the last two weeks.

On Dec. 21 a car belonging to Andrew Polowski was stolen from a downtown parking lot. A 1962 Chevrolet belonging to Richard Bremer was stolen from this house between 12:30 a.m. and 5 a.m. Dec. 24, and the vehicle of Joseph Kokott Jr. was stolen Dec. 27 from the Massure parking lot.

All the cars were recovered. Each had been driven between 100 and 200 miles, Kaiser said. The Klaus car was found with a burned out motor. The Bremer car was located between Independence and Arcadia on the airport road.

THE MISSING Kokott vehicle was spotted in Whitehall about 8:30 p.m. last Thursday. As the night policeman gave chase, the stolen vehicle went out of control and as it slowed speed in slipping around, the driver jumped out. He was not apprehended. It is known that two persons are involved in the theft.

Three rural Arcadia juveniles were apprehended in the Klaus theft and turned over to juvenile authorities of Buffalo and Trempealeau counties. The youths also were involved in shoplifting in the city. Arrests will be made shortly in the other cases, Kaiser said.

Craft Sessions To Resume Soon

Second sessions of crafts for all ages resume next week at both the East and West Recreation centers.

For adults there are leathercraft and textile painting classes beginning Tuesday. A class in ceramics starts next Friday.

All classes will meet weekly on these evenings for 10 weeks. A small registration fee is required. Interested persons may call the park-recreation office in City Hall or inquire at either center.

Children's arts and crafts are scheduled at the West Recreation Center Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. They will meet at the East Center Monday through Thursday afternoons.

All children's classes are from 3:30 to 5 p.m. with no registration fee required. Children may drop in on any session, the park-recreation office said.

Republicans Getting Invitations for $100 Dinner on January 26

Some 10,000 Republicans this week are receiving invitations to the $100 dinner Jan. 26 at the Minneapolis Auditorium, William P. Theurer, Winona County GOP chairman, said today.

The dinner will honor Dr. Walter H. Judd, retiring 5th District congressman, Dr. Judd, Gov. Elmer L. Andersen and other Republican leaders will speak. Recognition will be given new conservative legislators elected in November.

Little Cooler Tonight; Mercury to 25 Friday

A little colder weather but no serious dip is the forecast for Winona and vicinity tonight and Friday.

Occasional cloudiness will prevail with the thermometer dropping to between 12 and 20 tonight and rising to around 15-20 Friday afternoon. Saturday, says the weatherman, will be a little cooler with little or no precipitation.

MIST and ground fog produced some slippery highways in Southeastern Minnesota and Western Wisconsin overnight and highway authorities of both states urged motorists to drive with care where highways were not dry.

A mixture of mist and some light snow was reported from nearby rural areas, while precipitation in the city was in the form of mist.

The thermometer rose to 33 Wednesday afternoon and dropped to 23 during the night. At noon today the reading was 29 with a heavy overcast persisting all forenoon.

High for this day last year was 36 and the low 18. Six inches of snow lay on the ground then. All-time high for Jan. 3 was 57 in 1874 and the low -23 in 1919. Mean for the past 24 hours was 28. Normal for this day is 16.

Below freezing, but not below zero, temperatures were general in the state this morning with the lowest reading recorded at Bemidji where it was 20. International Falls had 24, although Minot, N.D., reported a low of 14 and snow.

Freezing drizzle and heavily overcast skies gave much of Wisconsin a gloomy January weather today.

Light freezing drizzle fell during the night in Milwaukee, Wausau and Stevens Point. More drizzle came down this morning at Rhinelander, Ashland, Janesville, Beloit and Superior. A light little snow also was reported Wednesday night in the extreme north.

Temperatures held comparatively steady. Overnight minimums Wednesday ranged from 26 at Wausau and Superior to 32 at Racine.

MORE DRIZZLE was predicted for the south today and the north tonight.

Brownsville, Tex., topped the country Wednesday with a temperature of 76 degrees and Lovelock, Nev., set the low of 2 above early today.

Independent Bankers Ask State Probe

ST. PAUL (AP)—The Independent Bankers Association of Minnesota called on the Minnesota legislature today to make a full investigation of banking conditions in the state.

John D. Chisholm, president of the association, urged the investigation "in view of disclosures by Rep. Wright Patman in Washington of a banking network which would kill competition among banks, circumvent state laws against branch banking and affect interest rates."

The report released by the chairman of the House Banking Committee listed two Minneapolis banks, Northwestern National and First National, as among those "tied in" with other banks through bank stock loans.

The report said each bank made more than 100 loans secured by stock in more than 90 other banks, but officials of the two Minneapolis financial institutions have denied that these loans in any way gave them control over the borrowers.

Chisholm, from Rochester, sent copies of his letter to majority and minority leaders of the Minnesota House and Senate.

In his letter, he said "control by loan is obviously a means of circumventing the present branch bank law since it gives these giant banks virtual control over scores of small satellite banks."

Curb on U.S. Spending Could Help Tax Cut

By EDMOND LEBRETON
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy could ease the way for tax reduction by announcing a moratorium on all new federal spending programs "not designed to deal with actual emergencies," an influential House Republican said today.

The suggestion came from Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, senior Republican member of the House Ways and Means Committee. By giving this sort of assurance, Byrnes indicated in an interview, Kennedy might find room in the divided Congress for agreement on a substantial tax revision program within a reasonable time.

Kennedy's tax reform and reduction proposals will meet their first tests in the Ways and Means Committee. As senior GOP member of this group and as chairman of the Republican Conference, Byrnes is a principal spokesman for his party on revenue matters.

"I don't take the position that you have to make up the lost revenue of a tax cut, dollar for dollar, with spending reductions and loophole closings," Byrnes said.

He said he expects the Republicans to take a party position on the tax issue and to emphasize the need to control spending as part of any revision plan. But, in advance of specific details of

Atlanta Has Its Own 'Berlin Wall'

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—The separation of white and Negro residential sections by barriers called Atlanta's "Berlin wall" by some Negroes faced a test in Municipal Court today.

A complaint seeks to have the city-built barricades torn down as a public nuisance.

Sections of Peyton and Harlan roads in Atlanta's West End were closed by wooden barriers on Dec. 18 under an ordinance adopted by the Board of Aldermen as an emergency move to stabilize the racial situation.

Negro leaders and organizations protested, and two court suits were filed.

Several white residents are among the complainants in one suit. Another suit, attacking the legality of the street-closing ordinance, was filed in Superior Court and no hearing date has been set.

Negroes picketed the barricades for several days carrying placards.

Mayor Ivan Allen sought racial negotiations but they fell through. The Negro community's numerous organizations said they wouldn't talk about compromising until the "wall" came down.

Miles Smith, chairman of the All-Citizens Committee, Negro, said the Negro community had to expand and would do so.

The committee distributed pamphlets that ask Negroes "not to shop in West End businesses until the city of Atlanta realizes this is everyone's city and that we have a right to live where we choose."

Virgil Copeland, president of the White Southwest Citizens Association, which takes credit for the luffer plan, said white residents became panicky and feared mass selouts at drastic prices.

A spokesman for the mayor said the trouble started when "an unscrupulous property owner" tried to force sales by threatening to sell to a Negro.

The administration proposal, he declined to guess how the Republicans might spell out their attitude.

Commenting on Kennedy's statement that he expects to hold government expenditures—except those for space, defense and fixed charges—at the present levels, Byrnes said:

"The trouble is that defense and national security have become very broad terms and you don't know what spending programs would be exempted under those heads. I would be more confident if he would simply declare a moratorium on all new programs that are not designed to deal with actual emergencies."

Instead of this, Byrnes said, the administration apparently intends to renew its efforts for such things as a large-scale aid to education program. Sources close to Kennedy have indicated, however, that he is not overly optimistic about chances for passage of an education program.

Siberian Peasants Seek Refuge in U.S. Embassy

By GEORGE SYVERTSEN

MOSCOW (AP)—A determined little band of Siberian peasants forced their way into the U.S. Embassy today, seeking refuge from alleged religious persecution by Soviet officials.

Nearly four hours later, the group of about 32 men, women and children was taken from the embassy grounds in a Soviet bus, still protesting loudly.

Soviet officials said they would be taken to a hotel.

It was the first such protest by Western observers in Moscow could remember.

The shabby dressed peasants said they had come from Chernogorsk, a Siberian town about 2,100 miles east of Moscow.

They said they were fleeing from persecution by local officials who threatened to jail them and take their children away from them.

they were Evangelical Christians, a Protestant sect, bitterly protested.

"We don't want to go anywhere," they said. "They will shoot us. Let us be sent to any country. It doesn't matter. There is no place for us here—no place to go."

Finally they struggled into the bus, apparently resigned to staying in the Soviet Union. They had told embassy officials they wanted to go to Israel.

An embassy official said later the group had heard somewhere about the right of asylum. They said they thought they could seek asylum in foreign embassies in Moscow.

They set out four days ago by train, arriving here early this morning.

At about 9:30 a.m. they pushed their way past Soviet policemen who guarded the entrances to the embassy day and night.

Inside the embassy compound nonplussed American officials invested them to take shelter in the embassy luncheon from the bitter Moscow weather.

The lunchroom staff served hot coffee and snacks to the hungry visitors while they told Russian-speaking embassy officers their story. Meanwhile embassy officials called the Soviet foreign ministry and asked them to make provision for the group.

The group consisted of 16 men, 12 women and 14 children. Some of the children appeared to be quite ill.

At 11:30 a.m., an hour and a half after the peasants arrived, embassy political counselor Richard T. Davies walked into the embassy compound with two unidentified Soviets. Presumably they were foreign ministry officials, and Davies pointed out to them the luncheon where the protesting group was being kept.

At 11:40 a.m. a blue and white Soviet bus pulled into the embassy compound, to take the group of protesters away.

Filing Creates City Primary

David J. Kouba

The campaign for alderman at large turned into a three-cornered race Wednesday afternoon with the filing of David J. Kouba as a candidate for the position. It also created a citywide primary.

Kouba joins Mrs. Mary Masysa, incumbent, and Jim D. Mohan in the competition for the two-year term.

The city primary election will be Feb. 4 and the runoff election April 1.

KOUBA, 23, is a native of Winona and lives with his family in the home they own at 824 E. Bellevue St. His wife is the former Donna Buege, also a native of the city, and they are parents of an 18-month-old son.

Kouba attended St. John's grade school, Winona Senior High School and was graduated from high school at Bellevue, Neb. He is a veteran of four years of domestic and overseas service with the U.S. Air Force.

Following his discharge he returned to Winona and operated a grocery store at 513 Mankato Ave. for a year. In 1961 he joined the J. C. Penney Co. where he now is employed.

He is a member of St. John's Church and the Winona Athletic Club.

Kouba issued the following statement:

"FIRST, I would like to say that this is not an easy thing for me to do. But after much thought, and at the constant urging of friends, I have decided to file for alderman at large.

"I believe it is every citizen's duty, regardless of age, race or creed, to take some part in government and to keep our democracy alive.

"The main questions in this coming election are:

"Whether Winona has had fair representation as alderman at large for the past few years;

"Whether city employees' wages are what they should be, and in some cases I don't think they are;

"Whether some city spending in the past has been justified or proven beneficial to the people of Winona;

"Whether Winona will continue to move forward by providing more jobs and a fair tax base."

"I promise nothing, for I cannot deliver anything without the help of the people of Winona. I only resolve, if elected, to fight for fair taxes, fair wages and to fight for the future progress of Winona and its people."

Ten Senators Listed for Chairmanships

ST. PAUL (AP)—Ten Minnesota state senators will have committee chairmanships for the first time in the history of the legislature opening next week, it was reported today.

The ten, all of whom took office in 1955, are Sens. P. J. Holand of Austin, Rudolph Hanson of Albert Lea, E. J. Anderson of Frost, Walter Franz of Mountain Lake, Joseph Josephson of Minnesota, Franklin Knecher of Henderson, Harold Nelson of Owatonna, Stanley Holmquist of Gray City, Henry Harren of Albany and John McKee of Bemidji.

Sen. Leslie E. Westin of St. Paul, who also took office in 1955, headed the committee on cities of the first class last session.

Retirements, deaths and death created vacancies in seven committee chairmanships—commerce, elections, general legislation, judiciary, labor, local government and welfare.

To make places for all those who took office in 1955, it was reported, three more standing committees have been created by splitting existing committees.

Senate committee assignments are scheduled for announcement when the Senate convenes at noon Tuesday.

Light Bulb in Lung Diagnosed as Flu

MODENA, Italy (AP)—The doctors said a severe case of influenza was making 4-year-old Maria Cristina Berloni feel bad. Her parents insisted on an X-ray.

One look at the X-ray plates and Maria Cristina was rushed to the local hospital Wednesday. A surgeon removed a small electric light bulb from one lung and said afterward she was getting along fine.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS

Ike Recommends More Editorials

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says newspapers and radio stations should carry more editorials.

Speaking at Gettysburg, Pa., at the 19th annual dinner of the Gettysburg Times & News Publishing Co., Eisenhower said: "Editorials give the reader or listener a chance to argue a given point in their own minds."

President and Mrs. Kennedy plan to attend a dinner party Jan. 8 in Washington in connection with the opening ceremonies for the exhibition of the Mona Lisa painting in the capital.

The vacation White House in Palm Beach, Fla., said the President plans to end his vacation and fly back to Washington in time for the dinner party at the French Embassy.

The loan of the famous Leonardo da Vinci painting and its exhibition in the United States were arranged by the French government.

Former actress Lita Grey, 54, and her husband, banker Pat Pizzolongo, 38, were granted permission in Superior Court in Los Angeles to change their name to Longo.

The former actress became Charlie Chaplin's second wife when she was 16. The couple, divorced in 1927, had two sons, Charles Chaplin Jr. and Sydney Chaplin.

Whitehall Group Plans Two Events

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — The Whitehall Chamber of Commerce has set the dates for annual Beef and Dairy Days and made plans for the Alice in Dairyland regional contest here May 14.

Robert Guinn and Don Pearson are on a committee to secure a carnival for Beef and Dairy Days Aug. 22-25.

The chamber discussed applying to the City Council for permission to have the taverns open on the last day of the celebration, a Sunday. Taverns are closed here Sundays.

The chamber, meeting at City Cafe Wednesday evening, planned a noon luncheon for May 14 for the state judges and the Alice in Dairyland contestants. Some 23-30 contestants are expected. The luncheon will be held at the golf clubhouse.

The evening banquet will be held in the dining room of the new elementary school, Trempealeau County Agent Peter Bieri will have charge of the program, assisted by 4-H and FFA and FFA groups in the county. Members of the Women's Study Club, V.F.W.

Padded Brassieres Called Fire Hazard

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — Fire Chief Jack Comstock warns there is a hidden danger in padded brassieres. He says they can cause fires.

Comstock said Wednesday that an increasing number of fires in homes and commercial dryers are being caused by bras.

The foam rubber padding breaks down in about six months, Comstock said, and the garment develops a very low ignition temperature.

To be safe, Comstock added, such brassieres should be laundered separately and dried the old-fashioned way.

North Central Asks For New Route

WASHINGTON (AP) — North Central Airlines, Minneapolis, asked the Civil Aeronautics Board Wednesday for a route between Denver, Colo., and the co-terminals of Sioux City, Iowa, and Norfolk, Neb.

hall, will be the reception committee.

All girls chosen queens at local celebrations in the regional area last year are eligible to enter the Alice contest. Dr. R. L. MacCormack Sr. is chairman of the afternoon parade.

Dr. Carl Webster, secretary, was the only new officer beginning his duties Wednesday. He succeeds Richard Mattison. Kell Blank, president, Kenneth Swenson, vice president, and Quinn Risberg, treasurer, were re-elected.

Thanks were extended to the committee for its successful Christmas party for children. The president announced the same committees as last year will serve for Beef and Dairy Days.

Spear Northern

This 30-pound 8-ounce northern was speared from a darkhouse on Potato Lake near Park Rapids, Minn., by Eugene Dennis, a native of that area, Sunday. It is the largest northern taken out of that area in years, wardens state.

This fish, worth a "million dollars" in tourist promotion publicity if taken in the summer season, is wasted now because Minnesota still permits spearing in its "fish shortage" in spite of the "fish shortage" that tourists complain about all summer. Perhaps the coming legislature session will be tourist minded, especially if a sale tax is passed.

Duck Futures

Two projects that will be important factors in determining what kind of a waterfowl season the Fish and Wildlife Service will give duck hunters in 1963 are scheduled for early in January. One already has been launched and the other is scheduled for the week starting Jan. 7.

Bill Green, regional waterfowl biologist with headquarters in the Wildlife refuge, heads up one of the projects in the region. It is the study of duck wings that determines the nature of the harvest last fall.

Hunters, it will be recalled, were asked to remove wings from the ducks they shot last fall, put them in bags provided by the states and wildlife service, and mail the bags to central points or to the states. They could also give them to rangers or biologists along the refuge.

For this section of the Mississippi River flyway the wings were gathered at the Wisconsin Game Farm at Poynette, where Green assembled a task force of state and federal biologists for the study. The wings were separated as to species, sex and age—adults and juveniles. The result is a cross-section of the harvest and answers whether we are harvesting mainly more brood stock (adults) than young (juveniles). The method of identification and aging by wings of waterfowl has been developed in the last five years with Green an important contributor to the work.

This week, another task force which Green will direct, is being assembled at Puxico, Mo., depot for the processing of wings taken in the middle sector of the flyway. Later, there will be a similar processing session for southern killed waterfowl. When it is all completed, the data will be processed and a picture of what happened during the past waterfowl season on the Mississippi flyway can be evaluated. Similar programs, of course, are under way on the three flyways.

Annual Waterfowl Census
The other project is the annual continental or North American waterfowl count in which the resources of the Wildlife Service, Air Force and Navy are used in cooperation with the game and fish divisions of all 50 states to estimate the waterfowl population of the continent. It all has to be done in the week starting Jan. 7, but preferably in the first two days so that any movement of birds can be pinned down.

On the Upper Mississippi River Wildlife and Fish Refuge, Don Gray's crew of rangers and biologists will cover their allotted areas checking for ducks. The number is usually quite low in the upper pool areas. Farther south, it increases. State wardens like Willis Kruger, Wabasha, will check Lake Pepin. George Meyer and his crew will check the Dorset pools and the big goose flock at Rochester. Francis Teske will be responsible for other miscellaneous areas in Winona County. Wisconsin wardens have similar assignments.

Green, with his pilot, probably will fly the length of the refuge to get a general overall picture. In addition to waterfowl, eagles, both golden and bald, will be checked again this year. The Wildlife Refuge and the Lake Pepin areas are important wintering areas for these species.

Last year's count, the first general one made of eagles, showed that this national emblem bird, the bald eagle, have dropped sharply in numbers in recent years. Fear of its extinction was expressed and a vigorous campaign waged to give the bird greater protection.

In the north and Alaska the bald eagle has been branded a symbol of thievery because of its raids on trappers' lines for an easily available food supply. So in the past, and probably today, it is shot on sight by men that gather furs for a living.

POWELL

Dart, a close friend of Powell. Death came in a plush penthouse apartment into which the Powells had moved only a few days earlier.

Powell disclosed last Sept. 27 that he had cancer of the lymph glands. With characteristic optimism, he announced that he would lick it.

He continued as president of the highly successful Four Star Television, Inc. and kept filming his appearances as host of the top-rated Dick Powell Show, a drama anthology series.

But in October he announced he was stepping down as president of the highly-successful TV studio and would become chairman of the board.

He still was optimistic about his health. His doctor announced co-balt treatments had cleared up the malignancies in the glands.

Then came hospitalization for what at first appeared to be a muscle spasm. Sadly, it turned out to be cancer of the lower back.

It was that last growth that killed him.

Powell was born Nov. 14, 1904, in Mountain View, Ark. He did his first singing in church choirs while attending Little Rock College. Then he became a crooner with bands in Louisville and Indianapolis and attracted attention as a theater master of ceremonies at the Stanley Theatre in Pittsburgh.

"The very first girl performer I ever introduced from a stage was a pretty but scrawny red-haired Charleston dancer named Ginger Rogers," he once recalled. "Soon came the talkies and Warners brought him to Hollywood as a crooner in early musicals.

His first picture was "Blessed Event," then came such early classics as "42nd Street," "Gold Diggers of 1933" (also 1935 and 1937) and others.

"When I look at those old movies today on television, I shudder," he said recently. "They had me made up to look like a sissy. The only good thing about them was Ruby Keeler's dancing."

Powell quit musicals by his own request and turned to his private eye roles in such movies as "Murder, My Sweet," "Cornered" and "Johnny O'Clock." It was a new and tougher Dick Powell.

Then he turned to directing and producing. By 1952, when television had become a potent entertainment force, Powell formed Four Star with David Niven and Charles Boyer. Ida Lupino was the original fourth star in the group but her role was mostly that of a performer.

"At our first meeting," said Niven, "Dick showed up wearing a homburg and carrying a brief case. He looked every inch the executive and we elected him president on the spot. I have never known anyone so happy at being a tycoon. It was the perfect type casting. The success of Four Star proves that."

Powell married three times, first to Mildred Maund in his pre-Hollywood days. Second was Miss Blondell. They married in 1936 and divorced in 1944.

The next year he married Miss Allyson, 19, years younger than he.

"I had to keep explaining to people that I wasn't her father," he once quipped.

They divorced in 1961 but reconciled before the divorce became final.

Powell's fortune was immense but he soft-pedaled his wealth. Some sources call him one of Hollywood's wealthiest. He was almost as successful in real estate as he was in show business.

He bought Southern California land when it was cheap and sold it when values zoomed.

Once asked to describe himself professionally, the handsome six-footer said: "Businessman, I guess."

Funeral services will be conducted Friday morning at All Saints Episcopal Church in Beverly Hills. Cremation will follow at Forest Lawn.

TOO-DRY AIR

problem?

... solve it with an

RP Aprilaire HUMIDIFIER

The very minute your furnace started this Fall, the artificially heated air began to "steal" valuable moisture from your home and everything in it. That's why a humidifier should be started as soon as the furnace goes to work—to add, at once, the required moisture to prevent a complete drying out of the life-giving moisture stored up during the spring and summer throughout your home and its furnishings.

Now, with an Aprilaire Humidifier/Air Cleaner, you can live better, all winter, with properly humidified air that eliminates the many damaging effects of dry, stale, artificial heating. Also, you can live better, all summer, with cleaner air, less dust, pollen, bacteria and odors. And, do it with one combination unit—the Aprilaire Portable Humidifier/Air Cleaner. Easy changeover...high capacity...and quality-built for long, trouble-free service. Thousands now in service in this area. See it today.

and it's so quiet!

A Cause From Which We Cannot Flinch

"I CAN ASSURE you that this flag will be returned to this brigade in a free Havana," vowed President Kennedy at Miami, Fla., the other day as he accepted custody of the banner borne by the Bay of Pigs invaders.

He went on to put his shoulder beside, and indeed behind, this cadre of Cuban liberation: "All men who fight for freedom are our brothers, and shall be until your country and others are free."

Taken literally and within the context of the hour, these are strong words—words of commitment spoken openly. Given also the ringing sincerity of Kennedy and the winsome straightforwardness of the First Lady, it must be clear that our policy on Cuba (as they say in football) has turned the corner and is outside, with clear running room ahead.

THE PRESIDENT, we believe, has wound the United States in honor to help wrest Cuba from the foul tyranny which infests it.

Now there can be no more confusion of interest and befuddlement of strategy.

Now there can be no more vacillation and no more turning back.

Now there is positiveness.

KENNEDY has brought to an act of compassion the steady promise of American leadership in a cause from which we cannot flinch.

Ten Rules for Becoming a Millionaire

IT'S "EASY" to make a million dollars, says Birmingham, Ala., self-made millionaire A. G. Gaston in the January issue of Ebony—offering ten rules for doing just that.

Writing on "How to Make a Million," Gaston says, "Making money is simple. Anybody can do it. It's a rule—just like a rule of nature. You do certain things and get certain results. Accumulating money is so easy. I'm surprised that more people aren't rich."

A Negro, Gaston says it's just as easy for Negroes to make money as for anybody else. "If you have character and integrity and can produce, you can be green and still make money."

GASTON, himself, started with $35—saved from a laborer's job paying 31 cents an hour—in 1923, and began founding businesses to fill needs. A small burial society grew into a large insurance company—now celebrating its 40th anniversary— which in turn became the hub of a network of businesses which are worth more than $2 million more than the insurance company's assets.

Gaston's ten rules for making money, are:

1—Pay yourself first. Take yours off the top. Pay yourself a salary. Set aside a specific amount of each paycheck as your money. Take that money out first and bank it. You'll be surprised how fast the money builds up. If you have two or three thousand dollars in the bank, sooner or later somebody will come along and show you how to double it. Money doesn't spoil. It keeps.

2—Establish a reputation at a bank or savings and loan association. Save at an established institution and borrow there. Stay away from loan sharks.

3—Take no chances with your money. Play the safe number, the good one. Take your time. A man who can't afford to lose has no business gambling. When you can afford to lose, you seldom do.

4—Never borrow anything that, if forced to it, you can't pay.

5—Don't get bigheaded. Never forget the "little fellows." That's where the money is. If you stick with the "little fellows," if you give them your devotion, they'll make you big.

6—Don't have so much pride. Wear the same suit for a year or two. It doesn't make any difference what kind of suit the pocket is in, if there is money in the pocket.

7—Find a need and fulfill it. Successful businesses are founded on the needs of the people. Once in business, keep good books. Everything that goes in the cash register doesn't belong to you. Also hire the best people you can find. Try to find a person who is worth more than you can afford to pay and then pay him.

8—Stay in your own class. Never run around with people you can't afford to compete with.

9—Once you get money or a reputation for having money, which is the same thing, people will give you money.

10—Once you reach a certain bracket, it is very difficult not to make money.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A fond father was hurrying up the pathway to greet his 4-year-old daughter, busy playing at watering the lawn. Without warning, she turned the hose on him, drenching him thoroughly. Her alibi was inspired. "Oh, Daddikins," she dimpled. "I thought you were a flower!"

Who findeth a wife findeth a good thing, and obtaineth favor of the Lord. Prov. 18:22.

ROBERT C. RUARK

Strange Beliefs Of Kenya Cited

The natives of Kenya largely believe that the wrath of God manifests itself in a physical manner, even though the motivation may be mystic. God's displeasure with His people is generally called, in Swahili, "Shauri ya Mungu"—rough translation, "God's business."

Shauri ya Mungu occurs, the natives believe, as an object lesson, when God's children have been acting up—violating the tenets of good faith, worshipping false gods, or failing to cleave to the old good habits.

In the olden days, the good and true God, Ngai, sent floods and droughts and pestilences to the land—locusts so thick they once stopped a train in Kenya; visitations of smallpox and concentrations of Army worms—as a personal sign of disapproval. In very recent years, a three-year dry followed by a calamitous flood almost removed Kenya's visible wealth—cattle and agriculture—from the greedy hands of mere mortals.

I have spent a great deal of time with savages, and so perhaps I often think like one. I was thinking specifically the other day, when the killer fog enveloped London, and a less lethal fog blanketed our own precincts, that maybe our Ngai, our Mungu, was giving us a little foretaste of tomorrow. Perhaps our God is more than a touch annoyed at the stupidity of his peoples, in their mad rush to remove themselves from this best-of-all-possible worlds.

THE LONDON fog immediately killed less than 150 people, although possibly thousands more will die indirectly from its effects. One hundred fifty people is nothing, a trivial statistic. But the hue and cry was horrendous, as if a plague had stricken the land.

Here at home we are increasingly conscious of pollution—pollution of the air by smog induced by the mechanization of our society; pollution caused indirectly by insecticides, pollution by detergents. We fret about the so-far-insoluble new diseases, such as hepatitis in its two mysterious forms; mononucleosis in its equally baffling shapes.

These things are but small samples of what could happen if we are stupid enough to crowd the nuclear bomb too far. Then the air will be mortally poisoned by hundreds of millions instead of paltry hundreds; then the mysterious disease will pass among the survivors to cripple unborn generations—if, indeed, anybody at all is left alive to carry on the old-fashioned business of breeding.

SIMILARLY, TO the pox of pollution, we have recently observed an alarming number of floods, droughts, landslides and earthquakes—in such dissimilar places as South America, North Africa, East Africa, India and China. These have killed hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions, of people—but, once again, a drop in the bucket to the potential of some rabid wolves like the Cuban madmen running amok in the world with atomic destruction in their fangs.

As I said, I have lived much among savage peoples, and am inclined to a simple faith in the wrath of God. Perhaps we have been served a warning, recently, that God Himself is capable of apportioning His wrath without too much help from His puny creations.

God's business is His own. He has more than sufficiently controlled His populations with His own catastrophes. It seems to me presumptuous to usurp His prerogatives. It says plainly in The Book that our God may be a God of wrath, as well as a jealous God, who wants no false gods above Him.

IN YEARS GONE BY

Ten Years Ago . . . 1953

Of the many thousands of parcels at the Winona post office during the holiday season, only one remains undelivered, it was announced by Postmaster Leon L. Brunk.

The best walleye reported for the holidays was caught below the Trempealeau Dam by Dave Egan, Lamolite.

Twenty-Five Years Ago . . . 1928

Dr. Robert B. Tweedy was elected president of the Winona County Medical Society at its annual meeting.

O. C. Tillman was elected chairman at the annual meeting of the congregation of Lakeside Congregational church.

Fifty Years Ago . . . 1913

The new parcel post became operative Jan. 1 and is attracting a great deal of attention all over the country.

Although the roads have been in excellent condition during the past several weeks, grain in general has been moving very slowly in this section, and the farmer still holds the greater part of the fall harvest in his granaries.

Seventy-Five Years Ago . . . 1888

The dry goods and clothing houses of the city will during the coming year close at 6:30 o'clock, instead of keeping open each night during the week.

Three hundred dollars was taken in the first day for the payment of taxes.

One Hundred Years Ago . . . 1863

The dedication of the first schoolhouse ever built in Winona took place and a large number of citizens were present. It is a two-story building built by James S. Campbell and cost $1,600.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Air Force Approved Ads Touting Junked Skybolt

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—When the American public read double-truck ads promoting the Skybolt missile in Time, Newsweek, and Fortune magazines in mid-December, it had no idea of some of the inside Pentagon byplay behind these ads. Here are the things the public did not know:

1. That it was paying for the cost of the ads, Douglas Aircraft, manufacturer of the Skybolt, merely adds the cost of the advertising to the bill to be paid by the Air Force.

2. That the ad had been OK'd by the Air Force.

3. That the ad had been OK'd even though in direct contradiction to the public policy expressed by the commander-in-chief in the White House and by the civilian chief of the Pentagon, Secretary of Defense McNamara.

What the Skybolt ad said, with color and illustrations, was:

"Air Force Skybolt is expected to be one of America's most powerful deterrent weapons. This air-launched ballistic missile will save billions in taxes by extending the useful life of our B-52 and British Vulcan II bombers."

"To date several successful tests have been made and the aircraft-to-missile compatibility has been demonstrated. With modifications, Skybolt can also be used with super-sonic aircraft of the future."

Yet President Kennedy had said just the opposite—that he was canceling the Skybolt in order to save money.

This illustrates the warning President Eisenhower gave the American people in his last message before leaving the White House to beware of the new Alliance between big defense industry and the armed services.

"THE conjunction of an immense military establishment and a large arms industry," said Ike on Jan. 17, 1961, "is new in the American experience. We must not fail to comprehend its grave complications. We must guard against the acquisition of unwarranted influence . . . by the military-industrial complex."

Note—One Democratic senator who isn't worried about Ike's warning is Stuart Symington, D-Mo., who immediately jumped in against his own Democratic President and behind the Air Force which he used to head. On domestic matters, Symington is an A-1 senator. But he has a blind spot where air is concerned. As a member of the Armed Services Committee, he knew that Douglas, manufacturer of the Skybolt, had chalked up exorbitant, unconscionable profits on its last defense contract for launcher loaders and sold the blueprints of the DC-4 to Japan before Pearl Harbor for $700,000. Yet he went to bat for Douglas anyway.

ONE SIGNIFICANT aspect of the battle over placing a sodium-cooled nuclear reactor near densely populated Detroit is that no matter what happens, the electricity consumers of southern Michigan will have to pay proportionately higher light bills.

For, if the nuclear reactor is allowed to operate at Laguna Beach, south of Detroit, the consumers will have to take over part of the $95,000,000 cost and pay it out gradually in higher rates.

Or, if the Atomic Energy Commission decides that the reactor is too dangerous and could be a duplication of the British reactor which leaked radioactivity so badly it was abandoned, the consumers will also have to pay part of the bill in higher rates.

Supposedly, this should not influence the decision of the AEC in granting an operating permit. The question should be decided solely on the basis of public safety. But sometimes, when a lot of money is invested, the capital involved influences public safety.

Up until June 30, 1962, the Detroit Edison and affiliated companies had spent $87,653,176 on the Laguna Beach reactor, with the estimated total cost being $95,281,846.

THE MICHIGAN Public Service Commission has already started studying the amount to be applied to electricity bills, and though this hasn't been decided yet, it has found that Detroit Edison's share of the total is $33,064,614.

The most important maneuver by the White House palace guard is to put Douglas Dillon, now secretary of the Treasury, into the job as secretary of state.

Then, McGeorge Bundy, White House adviser on security matters, would be moved up to become under secretary.

Dillon was former head of the giant Dillon Read Wall Street investment firm, contributed heavily to the Eisenhower campaign and was made ambassador to France where he did a good job. He then got promoted to be under secretary of state. Kennedy, looking around for a Republican to satisfy GOP sentiment after his close squeak in the 1960 November elections, picked Dillon to be secretary of the Treasury, where he has done an efficient, though unspectacular job.

IN THAT position, Dillon has sat in on high-level foreign and security conferences and was one of those consulted regarding the abortive Bay of Pigs invasion. White House intimates say that the President tends to lean on Dillon because he is more vigorous in expressing himself than the sometimes enigmatic Dean Rusk.

If the President goes for the ideas of the police guard and makes the transfer, it would put two Republicans—Dillon and Bundy, the latter a speechwriter for Tom Dewey—at the helm of the State Department.

THE President fumbled the "Bay of Pigs" invasion in April 1961 by vacillating in an emergency. He let civilians run a military operation. He listened again in September 1962 to civilian advice and ignored military considerations as the Soviets built up an offensive base under the very eyes of Central Intelligence Agency informants.

The 1,200 prisoners who heard the President's speech at Miami were pleased with the President's words of cheer last Saturday, but will they again read into his words a promise such as they thought they had in April 1961? For they risked their lives then believing they had air cover promised by United States officials, only to have it withdrawn when the Cuban brigade had actually landed and was moving toward victory.

The truth about that episode has never been officially revealed. This is largely because the Democratic party in Congress has helped the administration to cover it up. Manipulated news and suppression of the truth are bound to lead to a nationwide distrust of official statements and speeches.

The Democratic leaders in Congress didn't hesitate to investigate as delicate an affair as the U-2 flights over Russia during the Eisenhower administration. But they have shown no inclination to reveal the true story of how the Bay of Pigs expedition was bungled in bad judgment, bad management and bad direction in Washington, especially when our own military chiefs were not permitted to manage a military operation which was needed to protect the United States against the Communists.

THE SITUATION is much worse in this respect now because, influenced by the bargaining attitude of civilian advisers, the President gave a "no-invasion" pledge. This means that, under existing neutrality laws, the Department of Justice must order the arrest of any Cuban in exile who, while in this country, takes any step leading to the organization of a military expedition against the Castro government. This policy is defended as a means of building good will in this hemisphere among those countries which do not like to see the United States allowing the use of its territory to form expeditions to help overthrow governments in Latin America.

But this same attitude misses the whole point on which the policy of the United States toward an unrecognized and hostile government in Cuba has flourished. It is that the defense of the American people has been and is at stake. As long as the Castro government is in military alliance with the Soviet Union and potential missile bases and Russian military advisers are present to threaten the security of this country, the obligation to rid Cuba of that menace by whatever means will be effective remains a primary duty of the commander-in-chief of the armed forces of the

U.S. Consigns Cuba to Reds

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy has consigned Cuba to the fate of Hungary and the other Communist-bloc nations in Europe. The head of the United States government said to the liberated prisoners in Miami on Saturday:

"I can assure you that if it is the strongest wish of the people of this country, as well as the people of this hemisphere, that Cuba shall one day be free again."

But there's a difference between wishing and taking effective action. In commenting on the President's speech, the Tampa Tribune captioned its lead editorial on Sunday as follows: "Wishing Won't Free Cuba—A Positive Program Will." It then proceeded to recommend three steps:

1. A tightening of the economic blockade by barring American ports and American cargoes to any ships carrying on trade with Cuba.

2. Setting up a Cuban government-in-exile as a "legal channel for aiding Cuban resistance."

3. Training and supplying a massive underground network in Cuba "to sabotage production, divert military manpower to guard duty and keep constant psychological warfare going against the Communists."

The Tampa newspaper then adds:

"If the Kennedy administration pursues this objective with the boldness it displayed in the missile showdown and the deviousness it used in the prisoner ransom, 1963 may see the free-Cuba wish come true."

Unfortunately, however, the administration has tied its own hands. In order to persuade Premier Khrushchev to withdraw his offensive missiles from Cuba, Mr. Kennedy bargained away the American right to invade Cuba even though 10,000 military men and technicians of the Soviet Union remain there ready to help the Castro government.

THE President fumbled the "Bay of Pigs" invasion in April 1961 by vacillating in an emergency. He let civilians run a military operation. # Treating Frostbite, Freezing

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

It should be obvious, but I know it isn't that physical condition is important in the matter of frostbite and freezing. We've harped at length, and perhaps to good effect, against sitters-at-desks who go out on week-ends and try to play 16 holes of golf. After they get into condition, they can take such exercise.

It's the same with cold. Every hunting season we read about hunters who die of heart attacks. It isn't only the exertion. They overtax themselves because the body has to work harder to stay warm.

On the other hand, children and vigorous young people get frostbite because they don't recognize, or out of bravado, ignore the signs of freezing.

Numbness or loss of sensation is the first sign. When badly chilled flesh begins to feel comfortable or even give an illusion of being "warm," look out. This isn't a case of getting "a second wind" against the cold. It's the beginning of frostbite.

Frostbite, remember, is actual freezing. Particles of water in the tissues turn to ice. The first visible sign is a waxy appearance. Deeper frostbite brings swelling, blue discoloration after turning gray, and then blistering.

DON'T TRY to prick the blisters. Wait until a doctor can do so under sterile conditions, because the damaged flesh is vulnerable to infections which otherwise it would throw off.

If in the wilderness, rush the sufferer to real shelter. There's nothing to be gained by thawing him in a temporary one and then having him freeze again as you go on. The freezing, thawing and refreezing does far more damage than allowing him to remain frozen longer in the first place.

A frozen hand can be tucked under an armpit, your own or someone else's, on the way. Frozen ears, noses, chins or cheeks (the other likeliest places, except feet) can be covered. But don't try to rub; you'll damage the flesh and accomplish nothing. Don't rub with snow. What the flesh needs is warmth.

WITH FROZEN toes or feet, get boots and socks off (gently!) once you reach shelter. Again, don't chafe or rub. And don't expose frozen flesh to hot, dry heat such as a stove or exhaust pipe.

Once in a cabin or house, you can speed thawing by soaking frozen toes or fingers in warm—not hot—water. It should not be above 110 degrees, which will feel mildly warm to you. Don't trust the victim's sense of warm or cold, because he can't tell.

And two more rigid rules. No smoking. The nicotine contracts the tiny surface blood vessels and restricts circulation where you must want to stimulate it.

NO ALCOHOL, at least until the victim is thawed. Again, it deranges the normal circulation patterns.

Don't drink alcohol before going out into the cold, or while in it. In severe or prolonged cold, the false "warming" of alcohol can lead to death, while non-drinkers survive the same exposure without harm.

United States, who happens also to have been elected President by the people.

MR. KENNEDY had every right to demand unconditionally the removal of the Soviet missiles from Cuban bases just 90 miles away from the United States. Instead, a deal was made whereby, in exchange for the removal of the missiles—still unverified on the ground—the United States gave up its right to invade Cuba to secure protection for the rights and property of our own citizens.

Kennedy May Ask Law to Stop Strike

By NORMAN WALKER
Associated Press Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy likely will have to recommend special legislation to end the crippling East-Gulf Coast docks strike if the walkout, now in its 12th day, is still on when Congress reconvenes next week.

The Taft-Hartley law requires that when its national emergency provisions are exhausted and a strike imperils the nation's health and safety, the President must submit a full report on the situation to Congress "together with such recommendations as he may see fit to make."

The administration is reported already considering what steps it could suggest, such as a ban against the strike continuing with a requirement the strike issues be submitted to final and binding solution.

This would be compulsory arbitration, a procedure officials are very dubious about because it would mean a curb of basic freedom in collective bargaining. Some members of Congress, however, have been urging a tight ban on strikes in transportation and defense industries.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz rejoins the docks negotiations in New York today, intent on a major new effort to obtain a strike settlement before Congress convenes next Wednesday.

From the President's holiday vacation headquarters at Palm Beach, Fla., come reports that Kennedy is worried about the year-end rash of labor strikes, particularly the docks tieup, and the New York newspaper strike.

It is reported that while the administration has some ideas for recommended changes in the basic labor laws the President probably will steer clear from opening up this always controversial subject for the time being.

DEAR ABBY:

She Needs Talk With Her Doctor

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What is your opinion of a father showering with a 4-year-old son? We recently took our son on a trip and, when I let him shower with me, my wife went on a rampage. She also has many other ideas about life and nature that I think are unnatural. I can't understand how I ever ended up with her as a partner because it wasn't a must. If you agree with me, please say so in your column. She never misses it.

HER HUSBAND

DEAR HUSBAND: Merely "agreeing" with you (which I certainly do) won't solve your problem. Your wife should have a talk with her family doctor about her "unnatural" ideas. She needs to trade some of her twisted, unhealthy theories for some enlightened, healthy ones.

DEAR ABBY: Our son (22) and his girl (23) eloped. We were very hurt but we forgave them. Dad and I offered to furnish their apartment as a wedding gift. We told them to go to my brother's furniture store and pick out what they wanted. Well, this girl walked around the store half a day and couldn't find one thing she liked. Imagine! Then she asked if they could have the cash instead. Our son sits and lets her do all the talking. We haven't decided what to do about it. My husband says to give them the cash. I say they don't deserve anything. We'd like your advice.

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: You appear to be still "hurt" by the elopement and haven't really forgiven them. Also, you blame the girl! If you really want to GIVE them a wedding gift, give them something. But don't invite them to select whatever they want in a grand magnanimous gesture — and then spoil it by telling them where they must buy it.

DEAR ABBY: Before my boy friend went into the service he gave me a diamond and we became officially engaged. We plan to be married when he returns in 13 months. Now that is a long time to sit home, Abby. I have gone out a few times, but only to keep from going crazy. I don't let anyone kiss me or anything like that. I am really being true in heart to my boy friend, because I DO love him. My family thinks I am terrible. Is it wrong for a girl to hook a fellow to take her out when she tells him from the start they can only be friends?

ENGAGED

DEAR ENGAGED: It IS wrong! The diamond you accepted puts you in SOLITAIRE CONFINEMENT. Stay home and start "hooking" a rug or something. But no dates.

DEAR ABBY: I live in a small town where rummage sales, dances and food sales are posted in the store windows for all to read. Lately we have had a new type "notice," which has me completely flabbergasted. Baby and bridal showers are being announced, inviting anyone interested to attend. What is your opinion of this?

CANYON CITY

DEAR CANYON CITY: It sounds like a free-for-all — but not exactly free.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

County Levies In Wisconsin Up $3.8 Million

MADISON, Wis.—All counties in the Western Wisconsin area contributed to the total increase of $3,826,579 in county levies for next year, according to a poll of county clerks by the Public Expenditure Survey of Wisconsin.

The 1963 county levies in the state reached a record of $136,344,630 in the state.

Fifteen counties had lower levies. Green County's remained the same, and the counties in this area were among the 56 with higher levies.

Trempealeau County's levy increased $37,196; Buffalo, $15,452; Jackson, $11,542; Pepin, $6,818; Eau Claire, $73,538, and La Crosse, $63,873.

A study by the Public Expenditure Survey shows that general state and local government expenditures per capita in Wisconsin totaled $336.82 in 1961, ranking second in states in this area. Minnesota's per capita cost ranked first in the North Central States area at $344.32. The U.S. average is $307.04.

The survey reported that 7.8 percent per capita income of $2,194 in Wisconsin in 1961 was represented by state expenditures, and in 1960, 16.7 percent of $2,158 per capita income was used for state and local government expenditures.

Pilot Ejects Self, Then Ditches Plane

MALIBU, Calif. (AP)—When his engine failed at 40,000 feet, an Air Force pilot pointed the nose of his F106 jet fighter into the clouds in a blind descent — and emerged from the overcast directly over the center of Los Angeles.

Major Keith D. Christelberg stayed at the controls, stretched his glide as far as possible, and headed for the sea, 20 miles away.

He crossed the coastline at Malibu only 1,000 feet up, fired his ejection seat, and parachuted to the sea as his plane crashed offshore. He was picked up unharmed by a fishing boat minutes later.

Tshombe Prodded To End Secession

By ROBIN P. MANNOCK
LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The U.N. prodded Katanga President Moise Tshombe today—both with a combat column moving toward his Kolwezi stronghold and with financial pressure—to end his secession without condition once and for all.

Foreign consuls in Tshombe's capital at Elisabethville were reported still fearful that the determined secessionist would carry out his threat of widespread sabotage and destruction of mining and other installations in the over-rich province.

Already, correspondents in Elisabethville reported, many bridges and power lines have been blown up. Elisabethville was without electricity.

The reports said Union Miniere, the European-owned mining firm which digs Katanga's copper and cobalt, was hurriedly removing valuable machinery from its refinery at Jadotville, 70 miles northwest of Elisabethville, fearing a scorched earth campaign.

There were contradictory reports on the progress of the Indian combat column advancing toward Jadotville and Kolwezi, 150 miles northwest of Elisabethville, where Tshombe took refuge with his air force and the bulk of his remaining armed forces.

The U.N. column had been delayed at the Lufira River, 20 miles east of Jadotville, by the destruction of road and rail bridges. One report said the column got a powerful vanguard across under heavy mortar fire.

The two funds have kept Katanga afloat as a secessionist province for 2½ years and would help lift a united Congo out of its present economic misery.

Union Miniere announced in Brussels Wednesday it was sending three company experts to Leopoldville to assist in the talks.

Secretary-General U. Thant's plan for unification of the Congo provides for all the $200 million in foreign currency to be diverted from the Bank of Katanga to the Congo's Central Currency Board which would hand back half of it to Katanga. Thant's plan also provides for 50-50 sharing of the $40 million fund.

Tshombe has held out for half of the balance in the foreign exchange fund after Union Miniere's foreign currency needs are taken care of.

Thant on New Year's Day set a two-week deadline for realization of the unity scheme. He declared Wednesday the time for negotiation with Tshombe was past and that the Katanga residents must now deliver actions, not words.

The only further discussions necessary concern technical questions, he declared.

Thant thus rejected Tshombe's offer to return to Elisabethville for negotiations if the U.N. would call a cease-fire on the Jadotville road.

Adding to the U.N. military pressure on the secessionist leader, Washington officials said the United States has agreed to U.N. requests for six armored personnel carriers, 30 medium trucks and mine-clearing devices to bolster the U.N. force.

TIDE OF REFUGEES
GENEVA — The World Council of Churches reports it resettled 11,942 refugees in the first 10 months of 1962.

At least four Indian soldiers have been killed and 19 wounded. The U.N. reported 18 Katangan dead and said its troops had captured two white mercenaries, a Belgian and a Hungarian.

On the financial front U.N. sources in New York said they expected Andre Van Rooy, Belgian governor of the Bank of Katanga, to come to Leopoldville in a day or two for talks on dividing up Union Miniere's $200 million-a-year foreign currency earnings.

The talks will have nothing to do with the $40 million a year Union Miniere pays to Katanga in taxes, export duties and royalties. An earlier report from Brussels had indicated Union Miniere was prepared to discuss paying some of this fund to the central government, but sources at U.N. headquarters said this did not appear to be the case yet.

TIDE OF REFUGEES
GENEVA — The World Council of Churches reports it resettled 11,942 refugees in the first 10 months of 1962.

At least four Indian soldiers have been killed and 19 wounded. The U.N. reported 18 Katangan dead and said its troops had captured two white mercenaries, a Belgian and a Hungarian.

On the financial front U.N. sources in New York said they expected Andre Van Rooy, Belgian governor of the Bank of Katanga, to come to Leopoldville in a day or two for talks on dividing up Union Miniere's $200 million-a-year foreign currency earnings.

The talks will have nothing to do with the $40 million a year Union Miniere pays to Katanga in taxes, export duties and royalties. An earlier report from Brussels had indicated Union Miniere was prepared to discuss paying some of this fund to the central government, but sources at U.N. headquarters said this did not appear to be the case yet.

The U.N. column had been delayed at the Lufira River, 20 miles east of Jadotville, by the destruction of road and rail bridges. One report said the column got a powerful vanguard across under heavy mortar fire.

Teacher Who Took Students to Red Headquarters Cleared

WINNIPEG, Man. (AP) — A high school teacher under attack for taking a group of visiting U.S. students to a Communist party headquarters has a vote of vindication from the Winnipeg school board.

The 15-member board voted 10-5 Wednesday night against a motion to revoke a $5,000 scholarship awarded teacher Lionel Orlikow, 30, to study at Harvard. Then the board gave him a 13-2 vote of confidence.

A 73-year-old board member and retired school inspector, Dr. Andrew Moore, proposed that the scholarship be rescinded after Orlikow took a group of students from Moorhead, Minn. State College on a visit to Manitoba Communist party headquarters here Oct. 27.

Before the meeting, Orlikow said in a press statement that he was not a Communist and had taken the students to the party headquarters because "I thought this was something these students could not do at home." He said he also took the visiting students to the provincial legislature building in Winnipeg, a cathedral, a Trappist monastery and other sites.

IT'S RUGGED, MAN
MCLESTER, Okla. (AP)—College student Isaac Vardanian of Iran told a Rotary Club meeting it was difficult for some foreign students to get used to the English language.

"You have so much slang," he said. "At first, we don't dig you."

Janet Huber Weds Gerald Averbeck

WABASH, Minn. — Red poinsettias and baskets of white chrysanthemums decorated the altar of St. Felix Catholic Church Saturday for the marriage of Miss Janet Rose Huber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Huber, and Gerald John Averbeck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Averbeck of Alma, Wis.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. John A. Mich officiated at the double-ring ceremony and at the nuptial high Mass. Music was by the St. Felix High School choir with Sister Stephen Marie at the organ. "Panis Angelicus" was sung at the offertory. The bride presented a bouquet of white chrysanthemums to the Blessed Virgin while the choir sang.

ATTENDANTS were Miss Sharon Johnston, maid of honor; Miss Mary Tuxen, cousin of the bride; Mary Beth Burrichter, cousin of the bride; junior bridesmaid; Anthony Averbeck, brother of the bridegroom; best man; William Averbeck, groomsmen; and Lawrence Tuxen, Alma, cousin of the bridegroom, and John W. Burrichter, cousin of the bride, ushers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory satin floor-length gown with cathedral train. The gown was designed with basque bodice and long sleeves embroidered in bugle beads and bouffant skirt draped at intervals and caught with small tailored bows. The ivory illusion veil was attached to a beaded headpiece of Alencon lace and flat bow of ivory satin. She carried a cascade of red carnations and pine tips.

The bride's mother chose a two-piece beige boucle dress and brown accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a brown rayon-acetate dress and brown accessories. Each had a bronze and yellow corsage.

A wedding dinner was held at the Idle Hour Farm followed by a reception at St. Felix auditorium where St. Kevin's unit with Mrs. Elmer Koopman and Mrs. Paul Dady as chairmen, served. Miss Carol Paise served the wedding cake. Mrs. David Deming was in charge of the guest book, Miss Carol Kroyer served punch, Miss Lavada Wodele and Nancy Marx opened gifts. Waitresses were the Misses Sandra Light, Mary Brekke and Lynch Brekke. Miss Helen Burrichter and Miss Shirley Dondlinger poured.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the bridegroom's parents Friday evening at the Alma Hotel. The couple is on a wedding trip and will reside in Eau Claire where the bridegroom is employed at the American National Bank. The bride is a graduate of St. Felix High School and has been employed by IBM, Rochester. The bridegroom is a graduate of Alma High School and attended Eau Claire Vocational School.

Jean Black Weds Donald Kannel

ARKANSAW, Wis. — Poinsettias decorated St. John's Catholic Church for the marriage of Miss Jean Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Black, and Donald Kannel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kannel, Plum City, Wis.

The Rev. Leonard Stuber performed the 10 a.m. ceremony Saturday. Attendants were Mrs. Kenneth Kannel, Plum City, matron of honor; Miss Mary Ellen Kannel and Miss Janet Black, bridesmaids; Kenneth Kannel, Plum City, best man; Eugene Tschumpulin and Steve Tschumpulin, groomsmen; Dallas Gilles and James Fisher, ushers.

BARBARA Hartung, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hartung, was flower girl and Ronald Kannel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Kannel, was ringbearer.

The bride's white satin brocade dress was made with sweetheart neckline, long sleeves, and floor-length skirt with chapel train. A crown of pearls and crystals held her silk illusion veil.

The bride attendants wore red peau de soie dresses made with draped neckline, elbow-length sleeves and bell skirts.

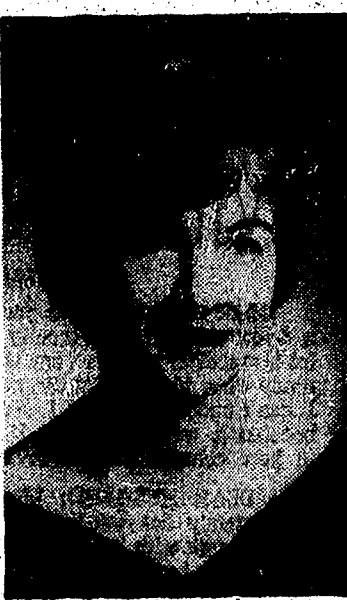

A reception was held in the church hall. The bride is a graduate of Arkansaw High School and Rochester School of Practical Nursing and is employed as a licensed practical nurse. The bridegroom, a graduate of Plum City High School, is engaged in farming. The couple is at home at Plum City.

Missionary Cites Education Needs

The Rev. T. J. McElligott, diocesan director of Christian education and a former member of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, was guest speaker at St. Paul's Churchwomen's meeting Wednesday afternoon in the parish hall.

Mr. McElligott emphasized the need for Christian education in the home. Children average 30 hours a year in church school. He indicated there have been requests for courses in Christian education, holy scriptures and church history. The department of Christian Education is planning to offer these courses in the near future. A youth consultant will also be added to the department. Mrs. Phillip Baumann introduced the speaker.

Mr. McElligott edited a missionary newspaper and ministered to the parish of the Good Shepherd in North Dakota.

Mrs. R. B. Maxwell led devotions and Ruth St. Anne Guild members were hostesses at the social hour. The social service committee reported that Christmas packages were sent to 12 of the parish shut-ins and that cards and roses had been sent to those in the parish who were ill.

New Russian Statement on Berlin Likely

By REINHOLD ENSZ

MOSCOW (AP)—Moscow's diplomatic colony is buzzing with rumors that Premier Khrushchev may soon make an announcement significant to East Berlin.

The sixth congress of East Germany's Communist party opens there Jan. 15. Some diplomats feel the Soviet leader might use the occasion to put new life into the Berlin problem and to boost the sagging prestige of East Germany's Communist leaders.

"These diplomats wonder whether Khrushchev's latest pronouncements on Berlin—one to West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, the other to London's Daily Express—might have been advance notice of a new Berlin offensive."

Other diplomats feel that Khrushchev has no desire to stir up the smoldering Berlin coals and will send a deputy to the meeting.

The two most prominent Soviet leaders who have not attended a foreign congress recently are both first deputy premiers—Anastas I. Mikoyan and Alexei Kosygin.

Some Western observers doubt that Mikoyan would be sent, having just finished with the face-losing Cuban situation. If he did go, East German officials might get the idea they are being put in the same category with Fidel Castro.

Kosygin possibly is a likely choice since East Germany is having serious economic problems. His specialty is economic planning.

If Khrushchev does not go to East Berlin, East Germany's economic plight could be a major reason. Khrushchev does not like to be associated with second-rate situations. They undermine his prestige.

Gov. Andersen Doesn't Plan Inaugural Talk

ST. PAUL (AP)—Gov. Elmer L. Andersen said today that he does not plan to send or present to the legislature anything in the nature of an outline of recommendations at the opening of the session next week.

Votes in the governor race are being recounted on petition of Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag, the DFL candidate. The canvassing board declared Andersen the winner by 142 votes.

It had been reported earlier that he would appear before the legislature on its second day, at the time when a governor would normally deliver an inaugural message.

"I do not plan to send or deliver any 'state of the state' message that would be comparable to an inaugural," he said.

"I do plan to send up messages about special matters I feel need urgent attention early in the session."

"When the recount is concluded,

Britain Drops Bank Rate From 4½% to 4%

LONDON (AP)—Britain today slashed its official bank lending rate by half a point, from 4½ to 4 per cent.

It was the sixth successive cut since the summer of 1961, when the bank rate was at a postwar high of 7 per cent.

If I am the winner, I would set a date for a few days afterward for the usual inaugural ceremonies and would present a broad program for the future."

The governor added that if the budget is ready before the recount is complete, he will present the budget message so legislators will have the financial picture before them and be able to get on with their work.

The law requires that the taxing and spending program be submitted by the governor within three weeks after the legislature convenes, and Gov. Andersen said he is sure the deadline would be met.

The number of working women has increased from 16.5 million to 22.5 million the last 10 years. The proportion of married women working outside their homes has risen from 22 to 31 percent during the decade.

Minnesota Has Fourth Traffic Death of '63

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A young Watkins, Minn., man was killed and his brother injured early today when their car skidded on a slippery highway near Richmond, Minn., and smashed into a tree.

Kenneth R. Meyer, 21, was killed. His brother, Donald, was taken to a St. Cloud hospital. Highway patrolmen said the area was foggy and slippery when the accident happened about 1:30 a.m. on Highway 22.

It was Minnesota's fourth traffic death of 1963.

George Vogelsang, 81, Dexter, Minn., was killed in a collision at a rural Mower County intersection Wednesday.

He was a passenger in a truck driven by Nels Lee, 27, Dexter, which collided with a car driven by Joseph McGee, 17, Taopi. Sandra K. Jax, 17, McIntyre, Iowa, passenger in the car, was critically hurt.

WORLD TODAY

More Talk, Less Fighting Likely

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new year started with bloody fighting in the Congo and Viet Nam — just as 1962 started with assassinations in Algeria. Yet 1963 may be far less hair-raising, although much more talkative, than the year just ended.

If it is, it will be because 1962 turned out to be such a shocker before it was over. This was the Cuban crisis. No sign of any such crisis is in sight now. If anything, relations between the United States and Russia should be a little more sensible.

The biggest hope in the West is that the Soviet-Red Chinese partnership will split and, in splitting, cut the Communist world in half. Their relations now are strained to bursting by recriminations whose real origins no doubt run deeper than anyone here knows.

The biggest immediate problem of the West is whether Western Europe shall achieve real economic unity and whether, particularly in the case of France, it will be content to save its money by letting the United States remain its nuclear guardian.

The Algerian massacres ended at last in 1962 in independence from France for the Algerians. The struggles in the Congo and Viet Nam were going on last year, and the year before, and in one form or another will probably be there in 1964, too.

They can be lived with so long as they remain dilemmas on the fringes of the rest of the world. What did not end until last year was almost over was the reckless — crazy — is a better word — determination of communism to test the will of the United States to resist a Red push even in its own back yard.

This Russian attempt to slip missiles into Cuba was a gamble as the Soviets demonstrated by backing down when challenged. What they showed was that they positively lacked the will, and very probably the weapons for a showdown, at least then.

Premier Khrushchev cannot survive many such humiliating defeats, although in typical Moscow fashion he sought to make his withdrawal look like the act of a humanitarian.

Therefore, it can reasonably be expected he will now pause for station identification before taking another risk. He has shown signs of soft-pedaling his demands on Berlin.

After the Cuban crisis there were optimistic pronouncements out of Washington that big changes were in the making around the world. They may be, indeed. But as of now there is no evidence to support the optimism.

gining to enjoy some comforts. 2. He can drop his ambitions for a Communist world — at least for a time — and seek reasonable relations, perhaps even solutions, with his Western neighbors.

This will become a necessity for him if Russia splits with Red China.

Although the Cuban crisis demonstrated that nuclear chaos can happen suddenly, it seems highly unlikely that the United States and Russia will in 1963 agree to disarmament or perhaps even to an inspected ban on nuclear testing.

Neither is likely to strip or limit itself in weapons — even if they could otherwise agree — so long as Red China remains both hostile and unpredictable. continues to build its arms, and is not a party to agreement.

These next few years will seem extraordinarily calm and uncomplicated compared with what lies ahead when Red China develops its own nuclear weapons and begins to assert itself in a way which isn't too risky so long as it lacks such weapons.

Europe — meaning Britain and France — is so far behind the United States in the development of nuclear weapons it would take years, if ever, to catch up. The United States is against their trying.

It offers itself as the loyal ally who will use its weapons to protect Europe in case of need. It suggests its allies put their money into things other than trying to build individual nuclear forces.

This has not pleased French President de Gaulle. He may resist, preferring his usual do-it-yourself system for France. This whole problem will be formented and tortured in the debates of 1963.

So will Europe's economic unity and, in one fashion or another, this country's role in that unity. It will be a big and busy year, certainly big in talk.

ON ONE CONDITION

TUCSON, Ariz. — During a speech in Tucson, George Paterson, Canadian consul general in Los Angeles, was asked about the possibility of one government for both Canada and the United States. Paterson replied, "We wouldn't mind taking you in as a province, but don't bring your national debt with you."

Boy Asks to Be Buried With Ball Packers Signed

WAUSAU, Wis. — Funeral services for 9-year-old Norman J. Weinberger, who carried his love for the Green Bay Packers with him, will be held in St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church here Friday at 9:30 a.m.

Norman died Monday night of cancer after watching his favorite, Bart Starr, and the other Packers win their second straight National Football League Title Sunday.

Starr, the Packers' quarterback, visited Norman on Nov. 12, 1962, and presented him with a football autographed by the Packers.

Tax Burden Too Heavy

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The Tax burden has been called too heavy by everyone from President Kennedy down to the lowliest taxpayer. It will be up for debate soon in Congress, many state legislatures and numerous local governing bodies.

Just how heavy is it? The answer and impact has been called by the Tax Foundation, a private non-profit organization keeping an eye on such matters. In the biennial publication, Facts and Figures on Government Finance, out today, the foundation looks at the total burden, how it is spent, how the public debt grows.

The totals are pretty high — the taxes, the spending, the debt. You might find them a help in understanding the pros and cons as Congress discusses whether the federal tax rates can or can't be cut, and if so how much.

In fiscal 1962 the Tax Foundation puts total government tax receipts at $140 billion, up $3 billion in the year. This includes federal, state and local collections. In 1959, these governments collected $54.8 billion.

President Kennedy says that while much of this is necessary to provide for defense and civil services, it still takes quite a chunk out of the purchasing power of American consumers and business firms that could be used to speed up economic growth.

The three levels of government spent $174 billion in fiscal 1962, the Foundation estimates. This is $10 billion more than in 1961 and compares with $70.3 billion in 1950.

Those who contend government should spend still more now, it wants business to get out of its present sluggish growth, hold that much of the $174 billion went towards keeping many individuals at work and many firms producing more than they otherwise would.

The Foundation puts the gross debt of federal, state and local governments at the end of fiscal 1962 at $379 billion, up $15 billion in the year, and comparing with $289 billion in 1952.

The debt total, with state and local components estimated by the Foundation, shows the federal tab as $298 billion, the local debt as $59 billion, and the state as nearly $22 billion. (The federal since the end of fiscal 1962 has risen too more than $304 billion.)

Statisticians like to reduce these gross figures down to the average person or the average family. This can be done by dividing the totals by the latest figures or estimates on the number of persons or family units in the United States.

This means little, particularly in the matter of taxes, since few persons pay the average figures. But the foundation has done the arithmetic and here is how the tax burden, government spending and debt figures out for each of the family units now estimated to be in the United States.

The share of each family in total taxes collected in fiscal 1962 is put at $3,005, compared with $1,394 in 1950. Government spending comes to $3,739 for each family, against $1,800 in 1950. And each family's share of the debt of the three forms of government is $8,129, compared with $7,100 in 1952.

This isn't a happy thought for

Prospects Dim for State Exhibit At World's Fair

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Prospects currently are very dim for Minnesota to have a $2 million exhibit at the New York's World's Fair.

Robert W. Fischer, Minneapolis banker serving as head of a 15-member exploratory committee, reported Wednesday night that responses from business, industrial and trade group leaders has been unenthusiastic.

In a survey of about 50 firms and associations, some expressed interest but not to the point of making financial commitments, Fischer said.

Under original plans, the project was to have been financed by $1.8 million raised from private sources, with the $200,000 balance to be asked of the legislature.

Fischer said it was very doubtful if anything firm could be accomplished on the proposal by the Jan. 15 deadline when fair officials must know whether the state plans an exhibit.

the new year. But a lot of other things are happening now than in 1950 — incomes, savings, total personal assets all higher.

Family of Eight Adopts Five More

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP) — Food consumption is up considerably at the Harold Rowberry home.

Mrs. Rowberry has to use four gallons of milk a day and 10 pounds of flour a week to feed 11 children.

The Rowberrys, who have six children of their own, recently adopted five more.

The adopted children, ranging in age from 17 months to 17 years, were members of the same family. Their parents are divorced.

Man Rescues Two Girls From River Near Mankato

MANKATO, Minn. (AP) — Mike Niflis of rural Mankato saw two little girls playing on Minnesota River ice near where an outlet keeps the stream open.

Sensing their danger, he parked his car late Wednesday and started walking toward them across the river. Before he reached them, one girl hit thin ice, went down.

Crawling ahead cautiously, Niflis reached the hole just in time to grab Debra Risteau, 8, as her head bobbed up. Then he took her sister, Mary Jo, 3 by the hand and the three made their way to safety.

Horseplay Must Stop at Vero Beach

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Airport manager Floyd Boyer says traffic is too heavy at the Vero Beach Airport—horse traffic that is.

He said Wednesday the airport area has no fence around it and horsemen are using the runways for riding strips. Boyer said he intends to stop the horseplay, but he didn't say how.

Sandwiches Answer to Flat Budgets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sandwiches are one answer offered by supermarkets this week-end to kitchen-weary housewives with holiday-flattened budgets.

A variety of fillings are featured regionally.

Smoked hams are bargain priced in many areas. Ground beef and Maine sardines are economy items almost universally.

Cheese is still attractively priced. Eggs are still relatively economical.

Leg of lamb, priced at 53 cents a pound in the New York area outlets of a national chain, offers a money-saving way to serve a refreshing change from the traditional holiday season fare.

Produce and fruit counters, meanwhile, show the effect of Florida's mid-December freeze. Tender vegetables generally show higher prices.

Oranges and grapefruit are higher as supplies from California and Texas seek to fill demand.

Frozen orange juice concentrate, a bargain for weeks, is climbing in price.

The most attractive vegetable items at most stores include cauliflower, spinach, mushrooms, potatoes, onions, cabbage, beets, celery, squash, carrots, artichokes and broccoli.

Among fruits, apples are the best attraction.

The average home contains 20 to 25 electric motors.

Alma Center Firemen Buy Resuscitators

ALMA CENTER, Wis. (Special)—Two new resuscitators called "Oxquip Reviv-A-Life" have been purchased by the Alma Center fire department.

The equipment includes resuscitator, inhaler and aspirator. One will be for use in the Alma Center area and the other at Humboldt, Fire Chief Darrel Edward, Alma Center, said.

Cost of the machines, about $350 each, will be paid from proceeds of the annual firemen's ball at Inwood ballroom, Halford, Feb. 2.

Carl Sandburg Will Celebrate His 85th

FLAT ROCK, N.C. (AP)—Carl Sandburg, poet and biographer of Abraham Lincoln, plans to spend his 85th birthday on Sunday quietly at his mountain home here.

Sandburg, talked with a newspaper Wednesday about world events and said he was "a little surprised to be alive."

It was announced Wednesday that the Pulitzer Prize winner had postponed a trip to Galesburg, Ill., where he was to have received his high school diploma at a special ceremony Sunday.

BOYLE'S COLUMN

Predictions For Life In 1963

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Life in 1963 promises to be better for you and for me.

Following our usual custom at this season, we dusted off the old crystal ball, and took a long deep look at what it showed about the year ahead.

Well, the view was so optimistic that we shook up that old crystal ball again just to be sure. And when the milky clabber cleared here is what we still saw:

In a gesture for world peace, Soviet Premier Khrushchev decides to let bygones be bygones and organize his own peace corps.

Each of the Soviet peace soldiers will carry to stricken countries overseas (a) a four-pound volume comparing Khrushchev favorably to Lenin, (b) a close-up photo of a Chinese opium den, (c) a rewritten version of a 1912 U.S. Department of Agriculture bulletin on how to raise more pork on fewer acres.

Salaries will go up slightly in the United States, as taxes drop to the point where the deductions in the average man's paycheck fall below his take-home pay.

Internal Revenue Service Commissioner Mortimer Caplin will then move in and say, "It is time for nonexpense account living to go."

But, receiving letters from 1,886,743 outraged wives, he will modify this to say, "Husbands will be allowed to bring home without itemization to any one wife $25 weekly, instead of $10, so long as this is not more than one-fourth of what the average federal em-

Rockefeller Courting All GOP Factions

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York has started courting Republicans of all shades of opinion in his obvious quest for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

Gov. George Romney of Michigan is playing it cool on whether he will be attracted later by the "greener pastures" of national office.

Gov. elect William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania—who will have a further opportunity to sound off when he formally takes office Jan. 15—already has said he would not resist an "unlikely" draft for the nomination.

That's the political rundown at the beginning of 1963 for the three Republicans most talked about as the possible GOP choice for undertaking what promises to be a Herculean attempt to oust Democrat John F. Kennedy from the presidency next year.

Rockefeller, taking in stride his second inauguration as governor, chose to spice his homily on the virtues of the American system with advice to Republicans to forget the labels which tend to divide them and to unite in a happy family.

Romney has made the same point in declining to classify himself as either a conservative or a liberal. Scranton has downgraded labels although he says if he had to accept one, it probably would be in the liberal category.

Rockefeller obviously has felt constrained for some time to try to shake off the liberal label generally pinned on him because of what he likes to call his "forward-looking Republicanism."

Whereas Romney talked in terms of solving Michigan's mountainous problems, and Scranton may be under the same requirement to speak of Pennsylvania's ills, Rockefeller felt free to address himself to areas where there may be party opposition to his 1964 ambitions.

It could hardly be regarded as accidental if Rockefeller warmed former President Dwight D. Eisenhower with his observation that "the local community can justly appeal to the state for help in meeting its economic and social needs only if it does all in its own power to satisfy these human wants at the local level."

Eisenhower has kept his own counsel in the matter, but there is some suspicion that he might be more enthusiastically for Scranton or even Romney than for Rockefeller if the governors wound up bidding against each other for the nomination.

It might have been Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., speaking when Rockefeller said:

"We should respect conservatism—because we know the measureless value that is our heritage to save, to cherish and enrich—because we believe that everything that is soundly built for the future is built in the present on the foundations of the past."

Goldwater is the choice of a great many GOP conservatives for their party's nomination. He is taking a look at the possibility that he might bid for it. But he has not closed the door against supporting Rockefeller if he himself doesn't run.

Rockefeller certainly expects no dissent from Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen and House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck to his declaration that "I believe that political leaders have the affirmative duty ruthlessly to prune out wasteful and nonessential expenditures of the taxpayers' money."

The governor's call for "fiscal integrity" is attune to the Dirksen-Halleck political theme song.

And, of course, Rockefeller did not neglect the liberals like Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., who promises to be warm supporters of his bid for the presidential nomination.

"We should respect liberalism," he said, "because we are more concerned with the opportunities of tomorrow than in the record of yesterday, because out of the past and the present a better future can and must evolve."

If the New York governor missed touching any important political base, he'll be around again soon to rectify that error.

play brings home to his wife. Of course, there may be exceptions, which will be explained later."

Other heartening news: "The government of Katanga will offer to pay the overdue bills of the United Nations if it is allowed to send an honor guard of troops to protect the U.N. headquarters in New York."

Mrs. John F. Kennedy's cultural enrichment of the White House will be enhanced by the surprise gift of Harry S. Truman's old poker chips. Daughter Caroline will use them to play tiddlywinks with.

The New York Giants will refuse to play the Green Bay Packers for the National Football League pro championship unless quarterback Y. A. Tittle is assured of a dry warm day—and Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung are sidelined by arthritis.

As for most of us, we'll get a year older and wiser, a year nearer pension time—and know the pleasure of sustaining the human comedy. There'll be more people alive over 65.

Did you manage to get through 1962? Well, more fun's in view in '63.

Wait and see!

Redmen to Play at Loras Tonight

St. Mary's Redmen go after their sixth win in 11 starts tonight when they journey to Dubuque, Iowa, to do battle with Loras College.

The Redmen opened the season against Loras and posted a 72-54 win, but the game wasn't as easily won as the score indicates. The action was close until the last four minutes when the Redmen went on a scoring spree.

St. Mary's Coach Ken Wiltgen is looking for a "tough game." "We've beaten them three times in a row, and they'll be looking for revenge. They're always tough on their home court."

Starting for St. Mary's tonight will be George Valaika and Tom Hall at forwards, Jim Rockers at center, and Al Williams and Jim Clarkin at guards.

Williams and Hall have paced the Redmen scoring this year, but Valaika has come on strong in the last four games. He scored 22 points in the holiday tournament at Huron, S.D.

"I was very pleased with Valaika's performance at Huron," said Wiltgen.

Probable starters for Loras: Denny Haerle, 6-5, and Mike McGrath, 6-4, at forwards; Fred Kunert, 6-3, at center; Jim Neppi, 6-1, and Jerry Klimisch, 5-9, at guards.

In the last encounter, Klimisch came off the bench to top the Duhawk scoring with 13 points. Since that time he has been scoring well, and the little man could mean big trouble for the Redmen.

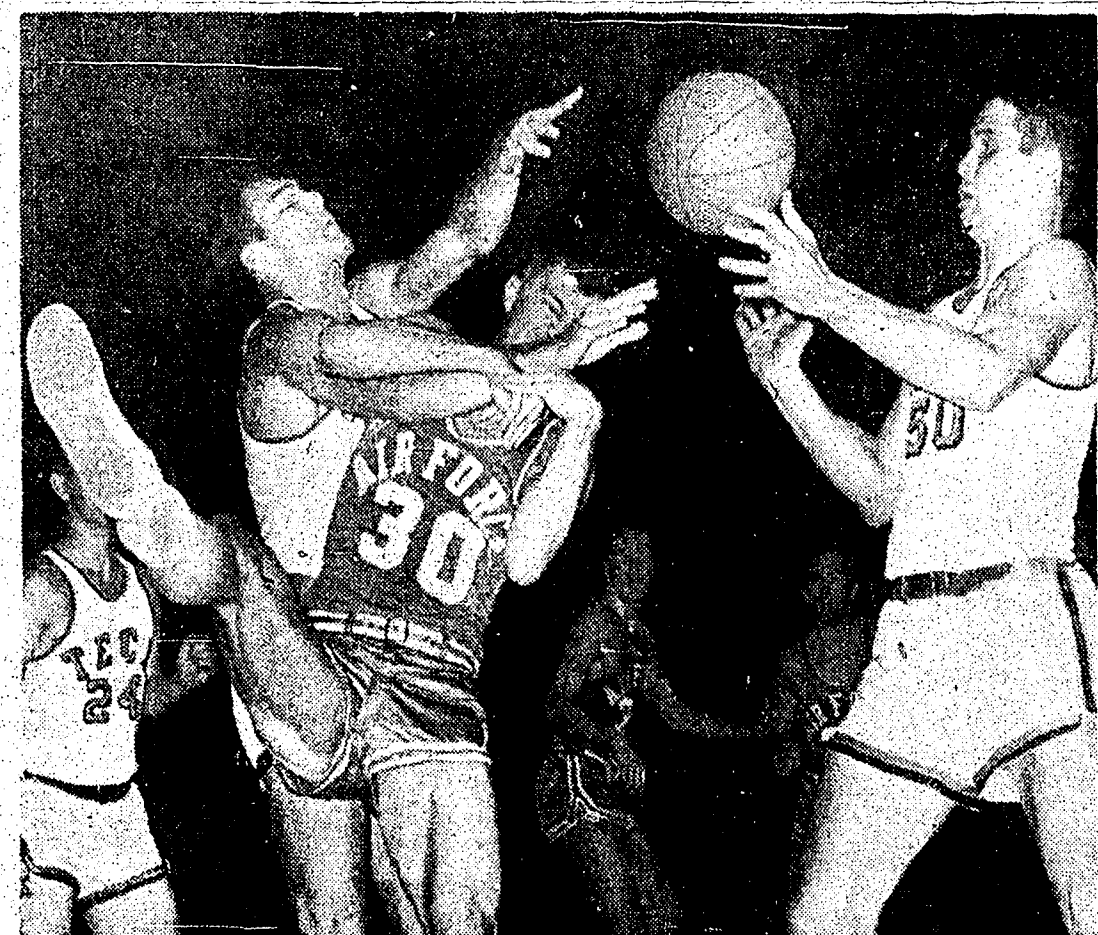

"I feel we are in better shape now," said Coach Wiltgen. "We played 8 games in 14 days. Now we've had time to rest and work out some of our mistakes in practice. The trip to Huron was encouraging. We played good defense. That's the key to the whole thing."

AUSTIN, Minn. (Special) — Lance Carpal and Roger Munson carried the Winona Hornets to a 6-2 triumph over Austin here Wednesday night at Kaufman Rink.

The victory was the third straight for the Hornets, including a forfeit win over Rochester, in Southern Minnesota League play.

IN OTHER games Wednesday night, Rochester whipped Albert Lea 14-4 with three Colts recording hat tricks.

Munson and Carroll each got two goals for the Hornets and Munson added three assists and Carroll another.

Young Stirnweiss, a junior who alternates between quarterback and halfback, is a fast runner and a top passer. In one game he ran for two touchdowns, passed for two others and kicked three extra points.

Toronto held a 2-0 lead midway through the middle period when Bathgate's goal tricked into the net. It couldn't have been intentional. The veteran wing was shooting from an impossible angle.

He picked up the puck at the left side of the net, beyond the goal mouth and whipped a whirling, backhand pass, apparently intended for teammate Dean

Prentice across the goal.

Instead, Toronto defenseman Red Kelly got his stick on the pass and, attempting to clear the puck, flipped it behind the amazed Toronto goalie, Don Simmons, into the net.

Many observers felt Bathgate may be a bit embarrassed in the manner in which he made the record-book. Not so, said Andy. "Maybe it's better this way," he said. "This way I'll remember it—and so will they."

Two goals by rookie Rod Gilbert provided the tying and winning markers for the Rangers and a superlative, 47-save performance by goalie Gump Worsley made it stand up.

VANDERKELEN OVERLOOKED BY NFL

Pro Clubs 'Interested' In 'Forgotten' Badger

NEW YORK (AP)—Ron Vanderkelen was a forgotten young man by pro football clubs a month ago—but several of them have become keenly interested in the Wisconsin sharpshooter due to his super-sensational show in the Rose Bowl.

The slim Badger quarterback wrote one of the brightest chapters in post-season football history in the New Year's Day classic, firing a dramatic final period rally that barely fell short as Southern California's national champions outlasted Wisconsin 42-37.

Afterward, it was noted with some amazement that Vanderkelen had been bypassed completely by the 14 National Football League clubs when they drafted 280 players last month and had been ignored in the American League draft until the 21st round when he was picked by the New York Titans.

But if the boy who paced Wisconsin to the nation's No. 2 ranking this past season was virtually unwanted in December, his dazzling performance at Pasadena, Calif., has made him a prize catch in January.

At least seven NFL teams are interested in him now, the AFL is angling for him and a Canadian Football League club is in the race for Vanderkelen's signature.

In an Associated Press survey, the NFL outfits that expressed interest in the Badger star were the champion Green Bay Packers, the Los Angeles Rams, Chicago Bears, St. Louis Cardinals, Cleveland Browns, Minnesota Vikings and Philadelphia Eagles.

NFL clubs were at a loss to explain why Vanderkelen was skipped in their draft, several of them saying simply that they "missed one." Some factors noted were that since Vanderkelen played only 90 seconds as a junior and developed somewhat late this past season, it was hard to assay his talents; and that he was more an all-around player rather than the specialist type the pros seek.

The Badger ace, now in Honolulu for Sunday's Hula Bowl all-star game, is going to take his time in cashing in on his newfound fame.

He says he'll weigh all offers and make his decision "when things calm down."

MANAGER SHIFT MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves have announced that veteran Bill Steinkamp, who managed their Dubuque, Ga., farm club to second place in the Class D Georgia Florida League last year, will manage the Waycross club in the same circuit this season.

Smith to Stay In California

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—One of the Badgers isn't flying back to Wisconsin today. He's Billy Smith, who is recuperating from surgery for a jaw broken during Tuesday's Rose Bowl game.

Attendees described the compact halfback's condition as good. He underwent 2-hour surgery Wednesday for a compound fracture of the jaw.

He also lost six teeth. Smith, the smallest player on either team, was hurt when he tackled lowering Hal Bedsole of Southern California. Bedsole was tall and weighs 150. Bedsole, the Trojans' star end, stands 6-5 and weighs 213.

Attendees at Huntington Memorial Hospital said Smith would probably remain there several more days.

Ramblers Tip Pacelli 64-46

By BOB JUNGHANS

Daily News Sports Writer

Cotter romped to its sixth straight triumph Wednesday night by rolling over Austin Pacelli 64-46 at St. Stan's gym.

Although fighting a height disadvantage, the Ramblers matched taller Pacelli rebound-for-rebound, and used a tight defense to make the Shamrocks shoot from outside.

PACELLI could manage only 11 field goals throughout the whole contest, while Cotter was hooping

The Shamrocks hit on 24 of 33 charity tosses, however.

Rambler Coach John Nett was pleased with the win, but said, "We showed signs of not practicing. Too many fouls. The free throws kept them in the game." Unfortunately, for Pacelli, there just weren't enough of them.

Shamrock guard Jerry Ulveling opened the scoring at 6:57 of the first quarter to give Pacelli its only lead of the night.

THE RAMBLER pushed in five straight points to make it 5-2 before big Chuck Von Feldt hit a hook shot from the key. One point was as close as Pacelli could get, however.

From here on it was all Cotter. Gene Schultz, Bob Judge, and Sam Czaplowski combined for nine straight counters for a 14-4 lead. Chuck Von Feldt closed the gap to 14-7 early in the second quarter with another hook shot, but Judge, Schultz, and Russ Fisk teamed up for another nine-point burst while Pacelli could manage only a pair of charity tosses.

Starting the second half with a 35-19 bulge, the Ramblers clicked for seven points while Ed Von Feldt could get the only Shamrock bucket.

COTTER built its largest lead of the evening at 52-29 just before the third frame ended.

Early in the fourth quarter Pacelli threatened to make a game of it. The visitors closed the gap to 54-40 with 5:29 remaining, but six points by Schultz and Judge put it out of reach.

Schultz paced the Cotter attack with 21 points, many of them coming at crucial moments. Judge tallied 17 before fouling out with 3:47 remaining, and Fisk came off the bench to pour in 13.

Pacelli was led by 6-4 C. Von Feldt with 15. Ed Von Feldt scored 11.

SO COTTER aims for seven in a row. The Ramblers' next opponent will be Prairie du Chien Campion here Jan. 9.

"They'll be tough," said Coach Nett, "but we play them at home, and we'll get in a lot of practice."

Russell Holds Still to 23 Before 12,067

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

This then, was the day big Bill Russell went home to San Francisco.

Russell, an All-America during his college days at San Francisco, led his Boston Celtics teammates into the Cow Palace Wednesday night for their first meeting in San Francisco in a regular season National Basketball Association game with the transplanted Warriors.

And big Bill, generally regarded as the finest defensive player ever, responded to the cheers of a San Francisco crowd of 12,067 with one of his better efforts among many good ones. He held the Warriors' Bill Chamberlain to 23 points—less than half his 50 point per game average—while Boston stalked off with a 135-120 overtime triumph.

Syracuse whipped St. Louis 120-95 and Detroit bombed Cincinnati 130-119 in the only scheduled games.

Russell scored only 10 points, but his defensive job on Chamberlain was a major factor as the Celtics struggled from behind, then romped in overtime.

Little Ramblers In 53-40 Defeat

Cotter's "B" squad fell before a rangy Pacelli "B" quintet Wednesday night 53-40 at St. Stan's gym.

Trailing by 26-15 at halftime the little Ramblers came out with a full court press that held Pacelli to three points in the third frame while they were scoring 17.

The height began to tell, however, and the Shamrocks pulled away in the closing minutes.

Dan Pelowski topped Cotter's scorers with 15 points.

Halverson and Von Feldt led Pacelli with 15 and 12 respectively.

MATCHES NHL GOAL RECORD

Bathgate Runs String to Nine

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Andy Bathgate wasn't at all concerned that his record-equaling goal was of the so-called "cheap" variety.

"I'll take the goal with the bad, or is it the other way around?" the smiling veteran said in the New York Ranger dressing room Wednesday night.

The goal in question was a weird one, bounding off the stick of a Toronto defenseman into the "Ranger's" nets and setting the Ramblers off on a comeback that brought them a 3-2 victory in the only National Hockey League game on schedule.

What's more important, it allowed the 30-year-old Ranger captain to equal one of the league's most prized records. It was the ninth consecutive game in which Bathgate had scored a goal, matching the mark held jointly by Maurice (Rocket) Richard and Bernie (Boom) Geoffrin, both of Montreal.

Toronto held a 2-0 lead midway through the middle period when Bathgate's goal tricked into the net. It couldn't have been intentional. The veteran wing was shooting from an impossible angle.

He picked up the puck at the left side of the net, beyond the goal mouth and whipped a whirling, backhand pass, apparently intended for teammate Dean

Prentice across the goal.

Instead, Toronto defenseman Red Kelly got his stick on the pass and, attempting to clear the puck, flipped it behind the amazed Toronto goalie, Don Simmons, into the net.

Many observers felt Bathgate may be a bit embarrassed in the manner in which he made the record-book. Not so, said Andy. "Maybe it's better this way," he said. "This way I'll remember it—and so will they."

Two goals by rookie Rod Gilbert provided the tying and winning markers for the Rangers and a superlative, 47-save performance by goalie Gump Worsley made it stand up.

Three More Bouts Set For Monday Fight Card

Three more bouts were announced today for next Monday's amateur boxing card at The Oaks.

The card will be the first for Winona Golden Glove punches in their home ring.

Mike Drakowski of Winona, a light heavyweight, will meet Clem Farrell of Rochester.

In a lightweight scrap, Mike Price of Winona goes against Terry McDonald of Rochester.

Ken Patzner of Lewiston, fighting on the Winona team, goes after his third straight win against Wendell Keene of Rochester. This promises to be a lively match. Patzner has a knockout and a TKO to his credit.

In the headline match, Ron Puterbaugh, having trouble finding opponents, will go against Milwaukee's Charlie Singleton.

First bout on the eight-bout program starts at 8:30 p.m.

Two more bouts are yet to be arranged.

Retzlaff Heads Players' Ass'n

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP)—The National Football League Players' Association, with all 14 teams represented for the first time in its six-year history, began study today of five proposed changes.

The Chicago Bears sent a member to the meeting for the first time—center Mike Pyle. Pete Retzlaff, offensive end for the Philadelphia Eagles, is president of the group.

Subjects to be discussed during the meetings include:

1. Income tax relief for pro football players.
2. Increase in the minimum salary for pre-season games. The current pay is $50 and some want it raised to $100.
3. Job placement service for players during the off season.
4. Deadline for receipt of player contracts for the new season. Veteran players want copies of contracts by May 1 for study before signing.
5. New sources of income for the league's pension fund.

Hebeau Farm, paced by Beau Purple's $342,205, earned $515,455 in 1962, tenth best figure for the year in thoroughbred racing.

Evan (Ollie) Davies started the new year off in blazing fashion Wednesday night as he rocketed a 655 series in the Class A League at Red Men Club, the only 600 in league play Wednesday.

The score was good enough for a share of eighth place in the Top Ten men's series.

Bowling for Dunn's Blacktop, fixed 193-208-254 and led Dunn's to 980-2,838.

AP Advocates Two-Point Option For Pro Ball

NEW YORK (AP)—College football should move the goalposts up to the goal line to encourage field goals and permit unlimited substitution, and the National Football League should adopt the two-point conversion option.

This was the opinion of the nation's sportswriters and broadcasters who participated in the annual year-end Associated Press survey of highlights and trends of the college football season.

The question was a two-part query, asking: 4. What rule does the pro football code have that you would like see adopted by the colleges? 2. What rule do the colleges have that might help the pros?

Moving the goalposts up 10 yards from the end zone to the goal line would increase the use of the field goal as a major scoring weapon as in the professional game. That was the general opinion of those who favored this change for the college game.

The rule was changed years ago to protect college players who faced injury when they scrimmaged on the goal line near the goal posts.

As for the college rule which might be adopted by the pros, the AFL already has the two-point conversion. Last season the 14-team National League played 98 games, and only four ended in ties. There were 56 games in the eight-team AFL with one tie.

The conversion rule allows the customary one point for a place-kick, or two if the scoring team tries a pass or a running play.

Hospital Time

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Robert H. Brodie got the proverbial middle-of-the-night awakening by his wife. Time to go to the hospital, she told him.

They made it but both were taken into the hospital in wheel chairs. Mrs. Brodie had a 7½-pound boy.

The proud father passed out cigars from his bed in another room on the same floor. He had made his first parachute jump the day before and discovered his ankle was broken when he tried to get out of bed.

Six thoroughbreds earned more than $300,000 in 1962. Never Bend led with $402,969, followed by Jaypur, Prove It, Beau Purple, Carry Back and Ridan.

Flatley Signs Pact; Vikings Now Have 6

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Northwestern and Paul Flatley has signed to play with the Minnesota Vikings, the National Football League club announced today.

Flatley, a standout in the East's 27-21 victory last Saturday in the Shrine game, signed a Viking contract before leaving to play in the Hula Bowl in Honolulu this week-end.

The 6-1, 189 pound pass catcher was the Vikings' 4th round pick in the NFL draft. He also was drafted by Denver of the American Football League.

In the Shrine game, Flatley caught eight East passes good for 180 yards, one a touchdown. Flatley brings to six the number of Viking draft choices to have signed.

Ray Poage, Texas halfback, was signed after the Cotton Bowl game. Signed earlier were Terry Kossens, defensive back from Hofstra; John Sklopian, Mississippi Southern fullback, and Ralph Ferrisi, Southern Connecticut fullback.

Check Sorting By Nymbols

NEW YORK (AP)—What is a nymbol?

It's a number and symbol belonging to a collection of malformed printed characters.

It also is magnetic, is printed on one type of bank document and knows how to talk back to electronic computers.

When you see it along the bottom of a check, you can properly call it a nymbol. Bankers, more austere, refer to the characters in a row of nymbols as magnetic ink character recognition numbers and symbols.

Only new record set at Chicago thoroughbred race tracks last summer was made by Prove It. Rex C. Ellsworth's colt covered one mile and a quarter in 2:00.4 on Aug. 18 at Arlington Park.

Ambassador Acted Without U.S. Orders

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Roy D. Kohler did not ask for instructions from the State Department before turning over to Soviet officials the Siberian peasants seeking refuge today in the U.S. Embassy in Moscow.

State Department officials said Kohler acted in accordance with the principle that the United States does not recognize granting asylum by embassies or consular offices. Therefore, they said there was no need for specific instructions.

They said Kohler had filed a detailed report on the incident.

Granting of asylum by embassies and consular offices formerly was recognized and practiced to a considerable extent but in more recent times it has been discontinued except by a limited number of countries, mostly Latin-American.

The United States has consistently disapproved of the principle of asylum and has always declined to recognize it as a part of international law.

U.S. foreign service regulations provide that a "diplomatic representative or consular officer may not extend asylum to persons outside of his official or personal household."

The regulations, however, permit exceptions "on humanitarian grounds" in cases of "uninvited fugitives whose lives are in imminent danger from mob violence but only during the period active danger continues."

The question whether the exception applies is left to the discretion of the diplomat on the spot.

Officials said that the case of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty the Hungarian Roman Catholic prelate who was given asylum in the U.S. legation in Budapest in 1956, was clearly a case when the granting of asylum was justified.

Chicken Casserole Caused Poisoning

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A chicken casserole prepared by a catering service was the cause of food poisoning at three wedding receptions Saturday, the Minneapolis Health Department reported today.

J. J. Handy, director of the department's bureau of environmental sanitation, said samples of the casserole had contained high enough concentrations of staphylococcus organisms to cause illness.

A total of 120 persons at the three receptions became ill. Still hospitalized is Mrs. Victoria Bohlen, 83, St. Paul. Her condition was reported as satisfactory.

The dish was prepared by the Mary Louise Nelson catering service, Minneapolis. No charges in connection with city food ordinance have been brought.

Gen. Hendrickson, Rushford Native, Dies in Mill City
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Maj. Gen. Norman E. Hendrickson, 68, died Wednesday in a hospital here. He was the first commander of the Minnesota National Guard 4th "Viking" Division.

Gen. Hendrickson was a native of Rushford. His family moved to Minneapolis and he attended high school and the University of Minnesota there. He enlisted in the National Guard in 1916 and was an artillery officer in World War I. He also saw service in World War II and the Korean War.

He had commanded the 47th from its formation in 1946 until 1954. He was a civil engineer in private life and had been district sales manager for Bethlehem Steel Co.

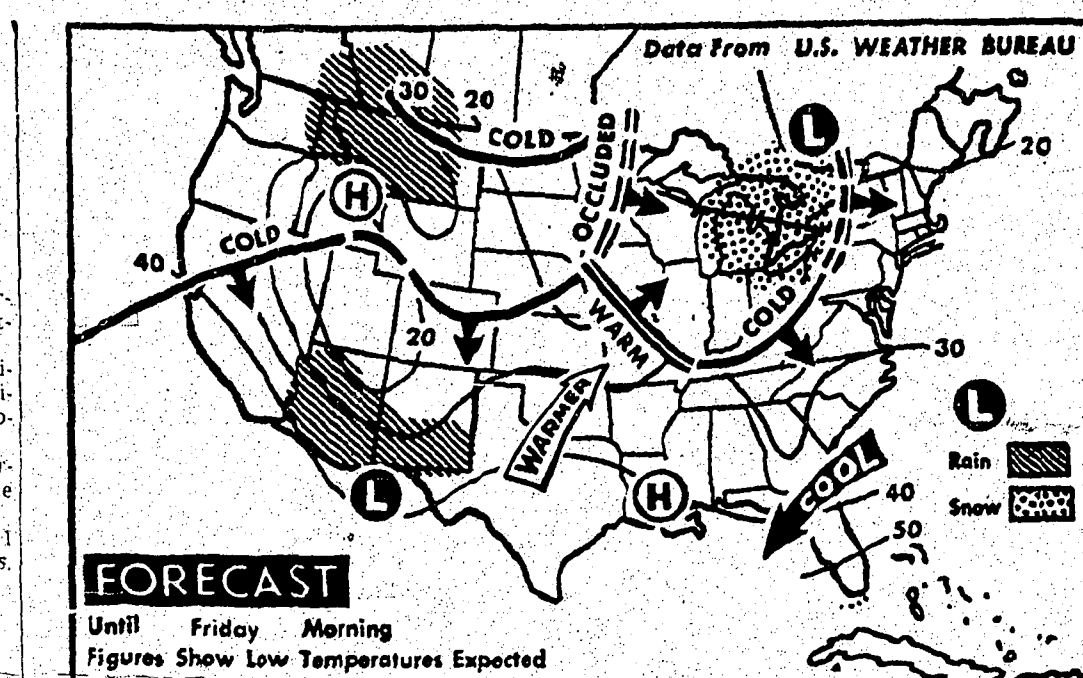

Survivors include his wife, three daughters and two sons. Funeral arrangements are being completed.

Warning From Bees
AVENUE, N. J. (AP) — What's that they say about "once stung, twice shy?"

John Petrow, 46, who keeps 75,000 bees in his back yard, is living proof that not all adages are true.

Petrow has been stung more than 100 times. His three sons have been stung several times, as has his perplexed but wary dog, Trivia.

"Actually, bees would rather not sting you," he says. "They always try to warn you first. The trouble is, some people don't realize when they're being warned."

WEATHER FORECAST... There will be snowbursts tonight in the lower Lakes region while rain is predicted in the northern and southern Plateau regions turning to snow in higher elevations. It will continue to become warmer in the northern Plains and from the southern Plains northeastward through New England. Cooler weather is expected in the south Atlantic coastal states, the upper Mississippi valley and the Pacific northwest. (AP Photofax Map)

Gen. De Gaulle Sends Answer To President

By JOSEPH E. DYNNAN
PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle has sent a reply to President Kennedy's offer of Polaris missiles, authorized French sources said today. They reported De Gaulle neither accepted nor rejected the offer.

The reply was sent Wednesday, these sources added.

The message was more in the nature of an intimation reply of courtesy to the effect that the offer is under study.

A government spokesman also announced that France will keep building its own independent nuclear striking force despite the offer of Polaris missiles.

The statement by information Minister Alain Peyrefitte clearly reflects De Gaulle's present position. Peyrefitte issued it following a Cabinet session in the Elysee Palace in which De Gaulle took an active part.

The minister said the American offer to sell Polaris missiles was discussed in connection with a long report by Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville on the recent British-American summit meeting in Nassau.

The foreign minister got additional details Wednesday from U.S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen. Bohlen will see De Gaulle on Friday.

Peyrefitte told newsmen that France still does not completely understand how Kennedy's proposal can be pertinent to France.

France, Peyrefitte pointed out, does not possess any submarines capable of launching a Polaris missile, nor any nuclear warheads for such a missile.

Under those conditions, he said, there is no reason for France to abandon its own nuclear program.

The information minister gave no hint of De Gaulle's attitude toward Kennedy's offer—whether the French president will accept or reject it. He said there had not yet been a decision one way or the other.

Wandering Constitutions

FRANKFORT, Ky. (P) — For more than 30 years, the original copy of Kentucky's constitution has been missing.

Some historians figure it will turn up in a musty pile of papers. Others say it was destroyed.

The only copy of the constitution, adopted in 1792, is a type-written document apparently copied from the original.

Also, the constitution of 1850 has disappeared from sight. The state has copies of its first two constitutions, adopted in 1792 and 1799, but they were missing for a number of years before they were returned, secretly, to the governor in 1944.

A Service Much Needed
TOLEDO, Ohio (P) — Faced with the responsibility of raising two young children after her husband was killed in World War II, Mrs. Eleanor Brown turned a neighborhood problem into a thriving business.

She got the idea from hearing neighbors grumble about inadequate rubbish collection service. Today she backs a community sanitation service with more than 20 trucks, a modern service building and equipment for collecting refuse from more than half of Toledo's industry and hundreds of suburban residential customers.

Fire Destroys Co-op Elevator in N. Dakota
LIDGERWOOD, N.D. (AP) — Fire destroyed the Farmers Co-operative elevator here today. Loss estimates ranged from $200,000 to $300,000.

The flames leveled the entire structure, including the original elevator and an addition with a capacity of 50,000 bushels.

The elevator, founded in 1889, was the oldest continuously operated business in the Richland County town about 30 miles southwest of Wapeton. Directors say the elevator will be rebuilt.

Prayers For U.N.
NEW YORK (P) — "Never before has divine guidance been so needed," said Rabbi Julius Mark, president of the Synagogue Council of America, in urging prayers for the United Nations as it opened its 17th General Assembly.

The hippopotamus differs from the rhinoceros in having four instead of three toes.

Market Rallies, Erasing Losses In Heavy Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rallied today, more than erasing the losses taken in the first session of 1963. Trading was heavy early this afternoon.

Reflecting a substantial gain, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 2.2 at 244.9 with industrials up 3.4, rails up 2.0, and utilities up 4.

Key stocks advanced from fractions to 1 or 2 points, with steels in the forefront.

Steels and other groups which are still depressed from last year's selling seemed to be favored by investors who are looking for stocks which have prospects for capital gains in '63, brokers said.

Gains of about 2 points were shown by Republic Steel and Jones & Laughlin, while Bethlehem was up a point and U.S. Steel more than that.

Chesapeake & Ohio was up about 2. Pennsylvania Railroad rose a full point and Illinois Central well over a point.

U.S. Smelting spurred about 4 points. IBM added 5, Polaroid and Du Pont about 2 apiece.

Oil also recovered from Wednesday's weakness. Gains of around a point were made by Texaco and Amerasia.

Gains of around a point or better were made by Johns-Manville, Anaconda, Kennecott, AT&T, Chrysler, General Motors and Eastman Kodak.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 6.40 at 653.19. Prices on the American Stock Exchange rose in moderate trading.

Corporate bonds showed little change. U.S. government bonds advanced.

Plans for New Bridge Across Pine River

ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota State Highway Department has applied to U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for approval of plans for a new bridge across the Pine River near Jenkins, Minn., in Crow Wing County.

The span, on County Highway 15, about a mile west of Whitefish Lake, will have a vertical clearance of five feet above high water and 8.7 feet above low water, or about a foot greater than that provided by the existing bridge 150 feet upstream.

The Corps of Engineers set Feb. 1 as the deadline for presenting written arguments or objections to corps headquarters in St. Paul.

ST. PAUL (AP) — Merrill Burns, 61, a part-time bakery worker, died in a fire that swept his quarters over a bakery early today.

NEW YORK (P) — Georgia Sefton, a former top star in burlesque, is being sought for a projected Broadway revue.

The production is keyed to a recent revival of public interest in gal-and-clown shows. Ann Corio, another stripper, has been appearing since last April in "This Was Burlesque" at an off-Broadway theater. Recently one of the big night clubs installed a similar program, named for the Minisky family which long dominated variety.

Polish-U.S. Relations May Grow Worse

By GENE KRAMER

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Relations between the United States and Poland could take a turn for the worse in 1963. The next few days or weeks may set the course. One indication is whether Poland pays its annual $4 million installment on $40 million in compensation for American private property nationalized in the Communist takeover. The third annual payment is due the first week of January. Competent sources say Poland recently warned the United States it may default on the payments because of congressional action last fall affecting Polish exports to America.

The Poles have accused the United States of bad faith because Congress included in the new foreign trade act a clause calling on the President to cancel tariff concessions, known as "most favored nation treatment," now granted Poland and Yugoslavia.

Polish authorities contend U.S. negotiators morally obligated their government to grant Poland "most favored nation" treatment at the time the property claims agreement was worked out in 1959. There is no legal connection, however.

Several congressmen who visited Warsaw recently expressed surprise at hearing U.S. officials talk of such a moral obligation. They said that while the Kennedy administration had opposed cancelling the trade concession for Poland and Yugoslavia, they had not been informed in Washington of any connection with the claims agreement.

Besides commercial trade, Poland is looking to America as a source of wheat, needed particularly because of a bad 1962 harvest. After repeated delay, talks began in Washington in late November on a Polish request for new shipments of surplus wheat on long-term credit. Progress, if any, has not been announced.

Poland owes $425 million for surplus U.S. foodstuffs imported since 1957 on 40-year credit. Officials say repayment, due to start in 1967, depends on opportunities for Poland to earn American dollars.

Polish exports to the United States have been growing steadily since 1960 and now run about $40 million dollars a year. But Polish sources claim orders are leveling off, partly as a result of congressional hostility toward East-West trade and sporadic boycotts by U.S. anti-Communist groups.

Crop failures and other economic troubles have prompted Poland's regime to give more emphasis than ever to boosting exports and conserving hard currency. Any deterioration of U.S.-Polish economic relations thus would be certain to lower the modest degree of American influence with Warsaw.
