Fire in Shaft Breaks Out On 8 Empire State Floors

NEW YORK (AP)—A troublesome fire whipped through a pipe shaft running the height of the 102-story Empire State Building today, shooting flames into offices an eighth of a mile above the ground.

Firemen closed two floors of the building—the world's tallest—as they continued finding and fighting smoldering flames. No injuries were reported.

The building was twice evacuated, the first time before dawn, the second time when the bulk of the 16,000 people who man the 910 offices in the super-skyscraper had begun to arrive for work. In all, 60,000 persons normally move through the man-made colossus each day.

By 9 a.m., the building was finally reopened but firemen continued to bar persons from the 66th and 67th floors.

Flames had badly damaged offices on the 64th, 65th and 66th floors, and at one time or another, evidence of fire was seen on eight floors.

A lower atop the building houses the transmitting antennae of all seven New York City television stations, as well as some stations.

Several stations also have transmitting equipment in the building, and for a time WNBC-TV, the local NBC affiliate, was forced off the air as its engineers joined the evacuees. Also knocked out for a short period was a local radio station, WNEW-FM.

It was the second fire reported in the building in a week. A minor blaze broke out Monday and was put out by the Fire Department.

The mammoth structure, first opened in 1931, is as symbolic of this bustling city as the Eiffel Tower is of Paris. It was the scene of a major disaster in July, 1945, when an Army bomber flying through fog crashed into its 79th floor and exploded. Thirteen persons were killed.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department Tuesday asked the drafting of 9,000 men for the Army in March. This is the biggest monthly quota since January, 1962, and more than double the quotas of recent months.

The sharply increased quota was foreshadowed by an Army announcement last November that it would expand its strength by 20,000 men through increased draft calls for a six-month period.

The higher draft is aimed at building the Army's strength to 980,000 men.

The quota for this month and for next stands at 4,000 men. In December, 6,000 were drafted.

16 Religious Pilgrims Killed in Brazil

Tshombe Voices Threats to Blow Up Installations

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—Renewed threats by Moïse Tshombe to blow up vital industrial installations in Katanga, the United Nations' Congo reunification drive at a delicate juncture today.

Woes also piled up the U.N. Command with the reported outbreak of serious tribal fighting in the diamond-mining province of Kasai, a region just northwest of Katanga. The United Nations is short of men there, having moved much of its strength to embattled Katanga.

"My ministers and I have been very busy in Kolwezi preparing the demolition of all industries," Tshombe said on his return to Elisabethville Tuesday from Kolwezi, an industrial city 150 miles from the U.N.-occupied capital.

Union Minière, the giant company that owns most of the province's mines and utilities, described the sabotage threat as "real and appealed" to all responsible parties "for measures to prevent it."

"After 10 days of hostilities, Katanga has already reached an economic standstill," the company said in a statement.

Union Minière said two dams and power stations in the Kolwezi region which provide more than three-fourths of Katanga's hydroelectric power have been mined. The company said Tshombe's gendarmes occupy its pits and plants in the area.

France and Monaco End Tax Dispute

MONTE CARLO (AP)—French and Monacan officials reportedly will agree in Paris Thursday to end the 10-month tax dispute that has rattled the calm of this Riviera haven from taxes.

Informed sources said the agreement will continue much of Monaco's privileged tax situation but will close many loopholes.

French authorities have been trying for 10 months to pressure the 370-acre principality gently into aligning its tax system with that of France.

Monacans don't deny the French charge. They just phrase it differently. They say that one of Monaco's most endearing attractions has been its lack of income taxes on corporations and individuals. They proclaim proudly that Monaco doesn't need the money.

With the French seeking to eliminate Monaco's status as a tax-free refuge in a tax-bound world, and Prince Rainier III zealously guarding Monaco's sovereignty, negotiations between the two countries broke down in October. Prince Rainier, however, said then that agreement had been reached on basic principles.

Sources here said the agreement to be announced Thursday will continue to spare Monaco's citizens—about 2,000 in a population of 23,000—from paying income taxes. French citizens who have resided in Monaco five years or more will continue to be exempt from French taxes.

Items Need Attention, Solons Told

By JACK B. MACKAY
Associated Press Correspondent

ST. PAUL (AP)—Gov. Elmer L. Andersen, still uncertain of reelection despite the lapse of two months since the general election, appeared today before a joint session of the Minnesota Legislature to list five top priority items.

He also reviewed progress of his administration during the past two years and reiterated:

"You can look forward to the next two years with no new taxes, and no increase in taxes — yet with steady improvement in programs and performance."

The 63rd session opened Tuesday. Ordinarily the second day is devoted to inauguration of a governor. The oath of office is being held up until a three-judge panel decides whether Andersen or his Democratic challenger, Karl F. Rolvaag, is the new chief executive.

Andersen listed the following items of top priority:

1. A 12-point action program for northeastern Minnesota, with passage of a taconite amendment a "must."

2. Re-passage of the 1961 building bill because after approval of Amendment No. 2 by the voters doubt arose as to constitutionality of the bill.

3. Replenishment of the balance in the unemployment compensation fund which Senate Majority Leader John Zwach, Walnut Grove said was "almost bankrupt." The fund reportedly is at a low of around $40 million.

4. Recommendation that Congress and the President be urged "immediately to protect Midwest agriculture from the impact of Common Market tariffs."

5. Placing of directors of five conservation department divisions under Civil Service, with an early decision asked since both the game and fish and forestry divisions are vacant, and "should not so remain indefinitely."

Andersen said that tax reform is a matter of such complexity and importance that he would not attempt to treat it with the other matters.

He explained that he would be happy to share his views after the governor's budget message and the report of the Tax Reform Committee are given to the legislators. The governor acknowledged that the future of individuals can be held in abeyance while inspectors scan ballots and lawyers engage in contests but stressed that the work of state government must continue.

In his program for northeastern Minnesota, Andersen said passage of a taconite amendment is essential to give long-range assurance of stabilized tax policy and a taconite statute "to record immediate policy."

He also called for escalated taxes on taconite and semi-taconite holding reserves "beginning 10 years from now," memorializing Congress to establish import quotas on foreign ore and steel; expanding research in the mineral industry; and protecting of seniority rights of mining employees moving from one phase of mining operation to another.

88th Congress Opens, New Members Sworn In

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—The 88th Congress opened its doors today for a politically charged showdown on the reception it intends to give President Kennedy's legislative program.

The President called Democratic leaders to a White House breakfast for a last-minute review of his proposals before the formal convening of Congress at noon.

In both Houses, new members will be sworn in as the new session gets under way. All House members begin new two-year terms, and on the other side of Capitol Hill 41 will take the senatorial oath.

The new House lineup will be 258 Democrats, 176 Republicans and one Democratic vacancy. Democrats will have a 67-33 edge in the Senate. That's a net loss of two Democratic House seats and a net gain of three Senate Democrats who lean toward the liberal side.

The House then goes through rotation of re-electing Rep. John W. McCormack, D-Mass., as its speaker. (Republicans put up their party leader, Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, as a candidate foredoomed to defeat.)

With the preliminaries out of the way, the House plunges into a battle Kennedy is favored to win over the size and political complexion of the Rules Committee, which calls the signals for action on major legislation. A decision was expected by midafternoon on whether to fix the membership of the committee at 15.

This would give Kennedy nominal assurance that liberal-leaning representatives could outvote a conservative coalition of Democrats.

crats and Republicans and thus get major administration measures before the House.

The alternative would be to return to a 12-member lineup with the conservatives in control.

Although Halleck lined up Republican opposition to the 15-member proposal, Democratic leaders remained confident they could get enough votes to put it over.

Kennedy has said the fate of his legislative program could hinge on the makeup of the committee. As for the House as a whole, he has said that it is "slightly against us more than it was" in the last Congress.

The bright spot for Kennedy this can be accomplished only by a two-thirds majority of those voting in the Senate would do the acting.

A coalition of liberal Senate Democrats and Republicans has delayed seeking a rules change which would make it easier to stop filibusters against civil rights and other measures. It plans to move after Kennedy delivers his State of the Union message to Congress next Monday.

Since Southern opponents expected to filibuster against this rules move, there was little likelihood of reaching any early decision on a proposal to give a majority of the 100 members the right to end debate. Presently this can be accomplished only by a two-thirds majority of those voting.

LIKE BEING IN DARK

Newspaper Blackout Tough on N.Y.

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—What does the newspaper blackout mean to New York City convention visitors?

Disappointment, frustration and a feeling of being in the dark make up the reaction of some executives attending the convention of the National Retail Merchants Association to the north-old strike that has closed nine New York dailies.

The NRMA's five-day meeting brought 5,000 merchants and their families to the city. It is one of the bigger conventions held each year in this greatest of convention cities.

Delegates from far away are attempting to keep abreast of the news by watching radio and television programs in their rooms. Some from such cities as Philadelphia, Baltimore and Chicago are able to buy their hometown papers at hotel newsstands.

"It's a great disappointment to come to the greatest city in the world and not have the news at our fingertips before breakfast," said George W. Dowdy, executive vice president of Belk Bros. Co. of Charlotte, N.C.

"Much of the glamor of the city is missing," said Joseph T. Meek of Chicago, president of the Illinois Retail Merchants Association.

"My daughter is here with us for the first time and she feels frustrated, not being able to find out in the newspapers where to go and where to shop. We don't know who the entertainers are."

Delegates say, too, that they are hampered in business activities by absence of newspapers.

"We came here not only as delegates to the convention but as observers of New York stores and their advertisements," said Nathan J. Gold of Gold & Co., Lincoln, Neb., department store. "Now we don't know what's going on."

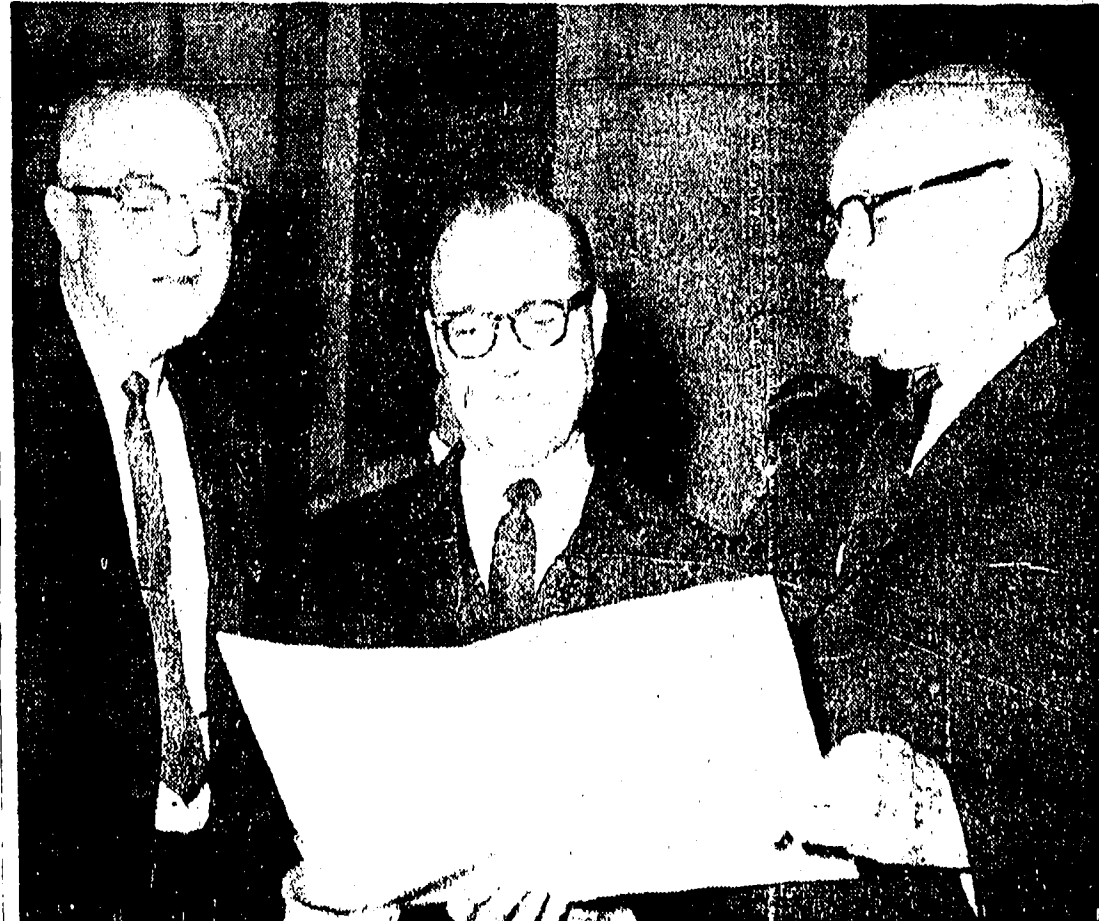

Harold H. Bennett, outgoing president of NIMA and president of Zion's Cooperative Mercantile Institution, Salt Lake City, Utah, said, department store, commented: "It is most disappointing to have this void in a most important media."

"I think the problem of the New York stores is greater than would be in smaller cities like mine where television and radio are more local."

Gold said that mail orders, generated by newspaper advertising, are more important to New York stores than to merchants in smaller cities.

"With all respect to other media, you can't give adequate coverage without newspapers," he said.

State Asks Halt To School Jobs

State Commissioner of Education Erling O. Johnson has called for a halt in planned construction of a new Lewiston High School and proposed construction of additional classrooms at St. Charles School and consolidation in the area pending further study of a proposed central high school. Johnson's comments were contained in a two-page letter to Winona County superintendent of schools reporting rejection of a plan for proposed consolidation of Lewiston Independent District 857 and Utica Common School District 2561. Jesse B. Jestus announced the letter Monday afternoon.

MONDAY MORNING Jestus announced Johnson's rejection of the plan. Johnson's comments, reported in Tuesday's Daily News, were typed on the plan itself. The comments about the Lewiston and St. Charles building programs were contained in the letter to Jestus announced in the afternoon.

Johnson has called for further study of the proposed central high school to serve the Lewiston-St. Charles area. The proposal had been rejected 1,281-973 at an area vote Oct. 30.

Meanwhile, the Lewiston school board has bought land for a new high school and is expecting preliminary plans soon from an architect. Excerpts from Johnson's letter to Jestus follow:

MANY PEOPLE feel that the merits of a central school project should be given a fuller opportunity for study and understanding through public meetings and group discussions. The school boards of the districts should provide this opportunity of a full and free discussion.

"It is recommended that a study committee be formed, composed of representatives of the several communities or settlements in the Lewiston and St. Charles High School areas. This committee should proceed to make a thorough study of the proposed 'central school project,' disseminate information to the people of the region through public meetings and by group discussions. At the present time Lewiston school board is considering construction of new facilities and the St. Charles district is in need of additional classrooms to house its present enrollment. All proposals for erection of new facilities and additions, or consolidation of districts or the dissolution and attachment of districts or the detachment and annexation of lands should be held in abeyance until the people have thoroughly discussed the larger proposal and made their decision regarding the 'central school project.'

"The State Advisory Commission on School Reorganization recommends that the school boards of Winona County initiate the necessary steps to establish a County School Survey Committee. The purpose of such committee would be to study the school facilities and services of the several districts of the county and prepare suitable recommendations for the essential improvements to be submitted to the people for their decision.

"It is our considered suggestion that plans be initiated immediately for a complete study of the school problems of Winona County and the Lewiston and St. Charles High School areas.

AT TUESDAY afternoon's meeting of the Winona County Board of Commissioners, chairman Bernard Kennedy of the Lewiston School Board asked the commissioners when they would act on seven proposed setoffs from the Utica district to the Lewiston district. Accompanying Kennedy was Charles Radatz, clerk of the Lewiston School Board.

Last month the commissioners held a hearing on the setoffs but deferred action because this was prevented by law as long as the Lewiston-Utica plan was pending. The commissioners are now free to act since the plan has been rejected.

Commissioner James Papenfuss, Dakota, 5th District, who had just been elected board chairman, said the board would take up the matter at this week's meeting.

"WILL YOU invite the Utica people who are requesting the setoffs to this meeting?" Kennedy asked.

Papenfuss said there was no need for that since the hearing had already been held.

Kennedy said further discussion would be useful because two of the county board members were new—Commissioner Leo R. Borkowski, Goodview, 2nd District (he did, however, attend last month's hearing as an observer), and Commissioner Carl O. Peterson, Fremont Township, 4th District.

"I don't think these two members can be expected to make a right decision unless they hear from the petitioners," Kennedy said.

PAPENFUSS repeated his objection to further testimony on the setoffs but said he would invite the petitioners if the two new members requested this. The new members didn't do so Tuesday afternoon.

And Papenfuss said he had found listening to pro and con discussion of the setoffs a fruitless experience.

"All I could get out of it was a bunch of arguments," Papenfuss said.

St. Charles To Ask New School Plat

ST. CHARLES, Minn. (Special)—St. Charles school board, in a brief special meeting Tuesday night, voted to request Winona County Superintendent of Schools Jesse Jestus to draw up a new plat of consolidation with rural schools in the area and submit it to the state Department of Education.

John Hynes, chairman of the board, said this morning members will decide at a regular board meeting Thursday night what rural districts to include on the plat.

Recently Jestus rejected a St. Charles school board request to prepare a plat for consolidation with 11 common school districts including Utica, because a consolidation plat between Lewiston and Utica was already under consideration by the state department. With rejection of this plat by the state Tuesday, St. Charles board will try again.

Hynes, Wally Ask and Frank Koch of the school board and Superintendent Roy Belsaas will attend the state school board convention at Minneapolis Monday. Theme of the meeting is "Planning for Tomorrow's Decision."

County Fair Wants $10,500 In Tax Money

Warren Magnuson, president, Winona County Fair Board, asked the County Board of Commissioners Tuesday afternoon for a $10,500 appropriation for 1963.

Of that sum, $9,000 would be to pay the fair board's debts and $1,500 would be operating capital to be spent in an effort to rejuvenate the fair which has been in sad shape in recent years.

Magnuson was accompanied by Roger Gustafson, fair board secretary, who brought the fair's books that had just been audited and approved by the State Department of Public Examiner, Magnuson said.

THE PRESIDENT said he had booked excellent entertainment for this year's fair but warned:

"If the fair doesn't go this year, frankly I think we should bury it."

He and Gustafson said the fair recently got $2,365 in state aid. However, the fair needs an extra $2,500 this year to make the final installment on land bought previously. There's also a $9,000 deficit, Magnuson said a $10,500 appropriation would pay the deficit, permit final payment on the land and give the fair operating capital.

He said he and Gustafson had recently returned from the Minnesota Federation of County Fairs meeting held jointly at Minneapolis with the Midwest Showmen's Association of which Magnuson is a member.

Magnuson said if the fair proved successful, a building construction program should be started in the future. The immediate

Dublin Wants Lewiston Plat

The board of Common School District 2576, Dublin School, has asked for a plat for proposed consolidation with Lewiston Independent District 857. Jesse B. Jestus, Winona County superintendent of schools, announced this morning.

"He received a letter requesting the plat signed by these Dublin board members: James A. Mueller, clerk; William L. Heim, treasurer; and Anthony Heim, chairman."

Jestus will prepare the plat and send it to the State Department of Education for consideration.

Dublin School is closed. Dublin elementary pupils are transported to adjoining CSD 2575, Heim School. There are no high school students in Dublin district. The district adjoins the Lewiston district on the north.

Jestus said Dublin was one of 11 common school districts involved in a proposed plat for consolidation with St. Charles Independent District 858. It was rejected.

Kingsley District Arguments Heard

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Oral arguments were heard today by the Minnesota Supreme Court on the appeal of a group of taxpayers of Kingsley School District, Olmsted County, in a school consolidation case.

Appellants ask return of the district to its former status.

Jesse B. Jestus, Winona County superintendent of schools, had issued an order in 1960 calling for consolidation of Ridge, Pelstead, Town Hall, Nesbit and Nichols districts, Winona County, and Wegman and Kingsley districts, Olmsted County, with St. Charles High School District.

Judge Leo F. Murphy in Winona County District Court upheld the superintendent's order, holding there was no fraud, no bad faith, no constitutional violation or no dishonesty in the election of voters favoring consolidation by a vote of 78-5.

Attorney Daniel F. Foley, Wabasha, told the high court that to uphold the plat would "only tend to encourage others to give little attention or meaning to statutory requirements in the performance of public duties."

John King, St. Charles, representing the school district and the county superintendent, declared there is no evidence of misrepresentation in the case and asked the high court to affirm the lower court action.

need, however, is to repair and renovate existing buildings.

THE PROGRAM at the July 18-21 fair will include Al Brown's Shows (a carnival with 15 rides), an area talent revue, a thrillade (stock car stunts), a novelty orchestra act and a professional pickpocket who practices his trade to entertain, not fleece, his victims.

The pickpocket, incidentally, will be in Winona shortly before the fair to promote the event—unless he is inadvertently clamped in jail by a skeptical policeman.

"This is one of the earliest fairs in the state," Magnuson said. "It will come one week after Steamboat Days and will be held ahead of the Olmsted County fair which should be a big help."

Land Set Off To Lewiston From Prigge

The Winona County Board of Commissioners approved a setoff petition Tuesday afternoon from Clarence Rennie to have 80 acres of his land in Common School District 2605, Prigge School, set off to Lewiston Independent District 857.

The setoff went into effect immediately. However, the commissioners deferred action on a proposed setoff of Richard Dorn's land from District 2605 to the Lewiston district.

IN HIS FIRST petition, Dorn requested that 120 acres be set off. However, the Lewiston school board requested that all 320 acres of Dorn's land in District 2605 be involved in the petition. So Dorn filed a second petition covering the 320 acres.

The commissioners will hold a hearing at 2 p.m. Feb. 4 on Dorn's proposal. Both Dorn and Rennie said they wanted the setoffs so their children could attend Lewiston High School.

Attending the meeting were chairman Bernard Kennedy and clerk Charles Radatz of the Lewiston School Board. They were there, however, to discuss seven pending setoffs from Utica Common School District 2561 to the Lewiston district.

BANKS IN Winona County that have county funds on deposit have posted bonds as collateral. Banks and collateral follow:

Altrusa State Bank, $35,000; First State Bank, Rollingsstone, $25,000; National Bank, St. Charles, $50,000; Security State Bank, Lewiston, $61,000; First National Bank, Winona, $937,000; Merchants National Bank, Winona, $900,000; and Winona National and Savings Bank, $925,000.

Bonds were approved for terms in office of these county officials: Sheriff George L. Fort, $5,000; Surveyor James Kleinschmidt, $500; Assistant County Attorney Richard Darby, $500; County Attorney S. A. Sawyer, $1,000; Dr. R. B. Tweedy, coroner, $500; and Clerk of District Court Joseph C. Page, $2,000.

THE BOARD rejected a request from Erlend G. Ham, St. Charles, former county seed and weed inspector who was not reappointed last month, that he get another county job at least for eight months to qualify for additional Public Employees Retirement Association benefits.

Chairman James Papenfuss, Dakota, 5th District, said it was the board's policy not to hire persons over 65.

THIS MORNING, after securing a new petition, the board scheduled a hearing for 2:30 p.m. Feb. 4 on a setoff petition from Erwin Richter, Common School District 2605, Prigge School. Like the other two petitioners, Richter asked that his 160 acres be set off to Lewiston Independent District 857 so his children can attend school there.

River Zoning For Various Uses Proposed

A recreation and public use committee to study means of coordinating conflicting interests, such as water skiing and fishing, on the Upper Mississippi was appointed during the closing session of the annual meeting of the Upper Mississippi River Conservation Committee at Hotel Winona Tuesday.

"One of the plans suggested was that the popular areas of the river be zoned, with certain sections designated for water skiing and others for boat fishing. Reports indicated it was a growing problem on the river in parts of the five states.

A uniform system of marking, to help fishermen find their way around the backwaters was discussed. Iowa and Illinois reported an increasing number of tourist fishermen getting lost and unable to locate fishing lakes and other points of interest. The signs all along the river would be the same and carry no advertising. The cooperation of the Upper Mississippi River Wildlife and Fish Refuge will be sought in the venture.

Everett Speaker, Iowa Conservation Department, was elected committee chairman. Halmar Swanson, Minnesota Conservation Department, was elected vice chairman. Herbert Fischer, Missouri Conservation Department, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The 1963 annual meeting will be held at Peoria, Ill., Jan. 14. There will be several committee meetings during the year.

Loans and Discounts	5,245,769	30,706,042	27,945,402	30,091,194

Winona's burgeoning economy in 1961 was reflected in all-time record deposits and total resources counted by the city's three commercial banks during the past year and reported to stockholders at annual bank meetings here Tuesday afternoon.

Combined deposits of the three banks last year swelled to $57,017,126, an increase of $4.8 million over the previous year's total and total resources amounted to $62,849,128, a $5.2 million gain.

EACH OF THE three banks in the past year effected improvements in physical facilities and one, First National, is looking toward construction this year of a new building on the site of the present post office building.

A composite statement of condition for the three institutions for 1962 shows continuing increases in all major categories such as resources, deposits, holdings of U.S. government bonds, loans and discounts.

As a matter of fact, total resources have increased nearly $30 million since 1940 and deposits were nearly four-fold the total 22 years ago.

Statements of individual banks show First National with deposits of $17,449,495; Merchants National, $22,963,114; and Winona National and Savings, $16,563,576.

There was an increase of more than $1 million in government bonds and securities held by the three banks in 1962, compared with 1961, and loans and discounts totaled $30,091,194, up more than $2 million from the previous year.

IN HIS ANNUAL report to stockholders at Merchants National Bank, President G. M. Grabow reviewed "a record year of banking, both in growth and earnings."

Grabow reported that the total number of stockholders now is 123 and that 83 percent of the bank's common stock is now owned by people living in Winona and the area.

He noted that "dividends" paid out last year amounted to $72,000, spent locally that went back into the community.

Grabow said that because of the higher interest rate now paid on time deposits anticipated bank earnings in 1963 may be down somewhat. He pointed to high level of activity in all departments of the bank.

All officers and directors of Merchants National Bank of Winona were re-elected at Tuesday's reorganization meeting of the board of directors.

Rochester Council Votes Against Sunday Closing

ROCHESTER, Minn.—Rochester City Council has voted to file a committee recommendation that a Sunday closing ordinance be adopted.

For all intents and purposes the action means that the six aldermen present at the meeting voted to reject a ban on the operation of large retail stores in the city.

Before aldermen was a recommendation of the council's public safety committee. The ordinance had been asked by the Downtown Retail Merchants Association as a "preventive measure" since at present there are only a few retail stores doing business here on Sundays.

The action is considered a tabling device and means that the recommendation can be brought up again at virtually any time.

Default Judgment Granted in Court Over Landscaping

Judge S. D. J. Bruski granted a default judgment in favor of the plaintiff in a civil case in municipal court today.

The plaintiff, Harold A. DePuy, 503 Westdale Ave., asked for $40 which was the amount he said he had paid the defendant, Paul M. Nilson, Amnandale, Minn., in advance for landscaping work.

DePuy said he and Nilson had signed a contract and that Nilson had failed to perform the work. The contract was signed and the payment was made May 29, 1962, DePuy said.

Lucene Peterson was the plaintiff's attorney. The defendant was not in court and was not represented.

High School Wrestler Dies During Match

MONDOVI, Wis. — Leon Hoch, a 17-year-old high school senior from rural Mondovi, died Tuesday while competing in an interscholastic wrestling match here.

Hoch's coach, John Thomsen, and an official worked for an hour in a futile attempt to revive him.

Officials of the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association said it was the first fatal accident ever recorded in high school wrestling in the state.

AN AUTOPSY performed Tuesday night indicates death was caused by an acute heart failure, according to Dr. E. A. Mell, Cochrane, Buffalo County, corner. The diagnosis is preliminary pending completion of tests.

Mondovi High School Principal John Herpst said the 5-foot-10, 165-pound student apparently was in perfect health. He had successfully passed the WIAA-required physical examination for athletes Nov. 21, Herpst said. Leon's father, Roy Hoch, said his son seldom had so much as a cold.

Hoch had tried out for wrestling this year for the first time. The sport was made part of the athletic program at Mondovi only last year. Thomsen said it was unusual for a senior to try to make the squad, but he said "Leon loved wrestling and never missed a practice without the best of reasons."

HOCH'S MATCH with Danny McNaughton, Durand, was in the last of three two-minute periods when Leon slumped in his opponent's arms. The match was the fifth of the season for Leon and was a preliminary to the regular meet between Mondovi and Durand high schools. The meet was postponed.

As an active member of the school's Future Farmers of America chapter, Hoch had helped promote a Corn for Polio campaign. He and a fellow member were responsible for raising over half of the chapter's $480 contribution to the polio fund, school officials said.

HOCH was born April 10, 1945, to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hoch, Mondovi, R. 4. He had lived in this area all his life.

He was a member of Sacred Heart Catholic Church, the school FFA chapter, Boys Athletic Association, Junior Dairyman's Association, and was president of the Clover Leaf 4-H Club.

Survivors are: His parents; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Berger, Durand; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hoch, Mondovi; five brothers, Donald, Alan, Norman, Randy and Jon Hoch, and four sisters, Susan, Janelle, Karin and Valinda Hoch.

FUNERAL SERVICES will be Saturday at 9 a.m. at Sacred Heart, the Rev. Edward Fastner officiating. Burial will be in Sacred Heart Catholic Cemetery.

Friends may call Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday until time of services at Kjentvet & Son Funeral Home, Mondovi. Rosaries will be said Friday at 8 and 8:30 p.m.

Wilcox's replacement here has not been announced, company officials said. Richard Jansen, assistant manager, is in charge of the store in the interim.

It Happened Last Night Mary Martin's Sailing Problem

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "The only place that has any more strikes than New York," somebody said, "is a bowling alley." Anyway, Mary Martin and her husband Dick Halliday have been scheduled to depart for Brazil on a Swedish freighter since Dec. 28. They're waiting for the dock strike to end, but, says Mary, "we can't find out much about it — due to the newspaper strike."

Sammy Davis and May Britt — who have a small dir. of their own and an adopted son — will adopt a little girl in the fall, Sammy revealed to me at the Copacabana.

"We want to have three of our own and to adopt three," Sammy said. "We feel that people who can afford to do it should adopt several." Their adopted son, Mark, 2, saw Sammy's show at the Copacabana the other night. Proprietor Jules Podell having made the show earlier so Mark could watch it before falling off to sleep.

Judy Garland "has too many legal problems with her divorce" and won't be able to appear at the 2nd Anniversary Inaugural Salute to President Kennedy in Wash., Jan. 18, her mgt. David Begelman, says. Danny Kaye had withdrawn earlier after an appendectomy. I asked Begelman how Judy lost so much weight so beautifully. "Just being happy," he swore.

THE REVIVAL OF "Telstar" by New Jersey scientists has also brought back George DeWitt's line about it. George asked an expert, "Can that little satellite really cost $18,000,000?" The "expert" allegedly answered: "No, the satellite only cost 15c. . . all the rest of the money was spent for the extension cord."

Zany Goodman Ace—Perry Co.'s chief writer—is driving his accountant crazy. The latter warned him to keep a careful expense account diary. Each day, Ace mails his accountant several pages of longhand, starting out "Dear Diary: The funniest thing happened to me today while I was riding the subway to Brooklyn."

Milton Berle's doing a night club act at the Las Vegas Desert Inn with Maury Wills and four other Los Angeles Dodgers. He signed them: when it appeared they'd win the pennant and intended to bill them as "The Champions." When they lost to the San Francisco, he changed it to "The Losers." It was Jan Murray who suggested what they should do. "Toss a ball on stage," he said, "and have all of them miss it."

PRODUCER David Merrick refused to give "Oliver" first night tickets to David Susskind to review the show for station WINS. The station bought preview tickets for Susskind who prepared a review anyway. Learning of it, Merrick charged it was "unprofessional." The station argued that it had asked for regular first-night tickets. "But Susskind's my mortal enemy," Merrick said. "His review's a rave!" replied a station representative. "He's my dearest friend!" replied Merrick.

Which isn't quite true, either, because Susskind said, "This show is so good that the shabby producer will not have to resort to low ballyhoo and fake tricks to put it over." He added that the show "needed no boost from his (Merrick's) bottomless bag of fakery and boorishness."

Max Aspas, the much-quoted proprietor of the Stage Delicatessen, was taken by a friend to lunch at an expensive restaurant celebrated for its soups. "Isn't this wonderful soup?" rhapsodized Max's friend. Torn between honesty and politeness, Max answered, "To tell you the truth, I'm so used to my own lousy soup, that this soup tastes awful."

DICK POWELL had hoped—before he died—to say a public "thank you" to the many, many people who had written or telegraphed him to encourage him in his fight against cancer.

Almost in tears, Joe Wolhandler, his N.Y. press representative, told about it.

"Dick told me in California just a few weeks ago 'I'll get away from the doctor for a couple of days, and come to New York and we'll work out something.' He had wanted to thank all of them and encourage them in winning any battles they were having."

"He never got to do it, so why don't you do it?" Wolhandler said. "Powell discovered his illness in N.Y. when buying a shirt. He wore a size 16, but suddenly found that a 17 wasn't large enough. Doctors first believed his puffiness was an allergy which Powell himself had attributed to eating some Roquefort cheese."

Dick Powell was one of the finest men anybody ever met—not just in Show Business—in any business.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: After reading that Jos. Kennedy has either $400,000,000 or $600,000,000, Nippy Russell says at Basin St. East, "He's so rich, he can write a check and make the bank bounce."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: The Times of London has an ad for "My Fair Lady" which urgently nudges ticket buyers: "LAST TWO YEARS."

EARL'S PEARLS: A good way to get away from it all nowadays, opines Herb Stein, is to visit any Hollywood movie studio.

Despite the expense account crackdown, one big spender is still spending money like it was water. Showgirl Taffy Tittle explained, "That's right. . . a drop at a time." . . . That's earl, brother.

SPEAKERS GOT full attention at the afternoon session of the Mississippi River Conservation Committee at the Hotel Winona Tuesday.

Annual Conservation. The annual meeting of the Upper Mississippi River Conservation Committee at the Hotel Winona Tuesday, if it did nothing else, passed out to the 60 government workers a lot of morale building information, through papers presented, discussions and lobby pow-wows.

• That commercial fishing on the river is still a major industry with a take of 10½ million pounds, worth nearly a million dollars in 1961, with 2,244 persons employed. The take in the "good old days" was 13 million in 1894; 12½ million in 1922, and 9 million in 1950.

• That Lake Pepin was the top rough fish-producing sector of the river in 1961 — one-fifth of the total catch for the Upper River came from the lake.

• That what is happening to channel catfish is one of the major fisheries problems facing the committee. Commercial fishermen's take of catfish dropped a million pounds in one year — 85 percent of all catfish taken are caught by seine fishermen.

• That the number of hook and line fishermen fishing below the nine-foot channel dams has decreased 20 percent in the past four years. Army Engineers, through their lockmasters, count fishermen daily.

• That a billion dollars has been voted by residents of communities along the Missouri River and in St. Louis in the past two years for sewage disposal plants or a "clean river."

• That pleasure boat traffic on the river has increased 180 percent in the last five years.

• That the average fisherman fishing from a boat, float or from shore, catches an average of 1.2 fish per hour.

• That the age of fishermen has changed. Today, senior citizens are replacing the 16-to-22-year-old age group. The kids have taken up water skiing instead of fishing.

Catfish Run Incidentally, Lake Pepin fishermen have found part of the answer to where the catfish went. For the last three days a big school has been lying off the foot of the lake. Fishermen have been catching them by jigging with sonars. Some of the fishermen, according to one report, have taken as many as 100 five-pound channel cats in one afternoon of fishing. There have been as many as 100 fishermen over the spot at one time, all getting catfish.

The January meeting of the Will Dilg Chapter of the Izaak Walton League will be held at the Prairie Island cabin at 8 p.m. Thursday. New officers will be installed. There will be lunch and a movie.

Lefties Feel Handicapped

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

Do you feel awkward and handicapped because you are left-handed?

Most people have one or more areas in which they feel inept. But these seeming handicaps can be overcome when a person is willing to expend the effort.

Recently, I received a letter from Mrs. G. S. of Santa Ana, Calif., which clearly describes the problem and solution. She wrote: "Bright students are sometimes unconsciously handicapped by the ease with which their knowledge accumulates. They may literally never have had to try to develop a particular skill."

"A BRIGHT SON, now a National Merit scholar, found hand music difficult because he did not already know each piece. He received 'C' in typing the never practiced at home! In his senior high school year we persuaded him to take drafting. He was most reluctant. He insisted he was 'uncoordinated.' He referred to his sloppy, left-handed penmanship as 'dooming him to failure.'"

"However, he attempted the course. We felt that his mathematical ability would give him a little time edge in his actual drawing, which proved to be the case. Soon he was second in his class. He could not beat the best boy in examinations, but he could make as many extra-credit drawings as possible."

"He took minutes salvaged from a heavy sports program and graduated with an 'A' in this course. 'The satisfaction gained from this success was a greater incentive than all the 'A's' and awards which had previously been his with so little effort. I think the experience was invaluable in his character development.'"

This lad's typing, handwriting, and feeling of uncoordination also can be overcome if he makes the same persistent effort which solved the drawing problem.

Perhaps, he will, now that he has discovered that some things can be achieved only through struggle.

Here is a letter from Ted of Long Beach, Calif., to illustrate my point. He writes:

"I AM LEFT-HANDED. My test grades have always been lower than grades on work done at my desk at home. After reading one of your discussions of handwriting I studied my manner of taking tests."

"I found that I wrote in a very awkward position, since I used my left hand on the table-arm arranged for right-handed students. My arm and elbow were always in mid-air."

"With the permission of the teacher I have since either worked at a table or moved a second chair into position beside me. My grades on exams have improved markedly."

"Please pass this information on to other left-handed students." Thank you for the hint. Right-handed students could well follow your example of analyzing the situation in which their work is not proving satisfactory.

Another tip may help. Left-handed students should grasp the pen or pencil at least an inch from the writing end. This allows them to see what they are writing without assuming a cramped position.

PLANS UNCANCELED

TEMPE, Ariz. (U)—Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity at Arizona State University decided to send pledges and several trucks out for snow so they could build a campus snow man.

Unfortunately, there was no snow anywhere in the state.

The fraternity men changed plans quickly. They bought 1,000 pounds of crushed ice and built an iceman instead.

Junior GOP Group Wins Party Toehold

WASHINGTON (AP)—A formidable group of junior Republicans has blazed its way into GOP party councils in the House.

In a quickly hatched coup they elected 49-year-old Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, chairman of their party conference at Tuesday's initial 1963 GOP huddle and won themselves eight votes in the 36-member party policy committee.

Emphasizing their claim that their action was not a revolt against the old-line leadership, they then joined in unanimously re-electing Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana as their party leader and Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin as chairman of the policy committee.

Ford unseated Rep. Charles B. Hoeven of Iowa as conference or caucus, chairman by secret ballot of 88 to 78. Hoeven, 67, had held the post since 1957, when he was elected with Halleck's backing.

Hoeven, starting his 21st year in the House, bitterly disputed claims of his opposition that the fight had as its goal only a larger voice in party councils for relatively newer members. Ford has been in the house 10 years.

"I was the victim of a power play," Hoeven angrily told reporters. "And I'm just the first. They'll be going after Mr. Halleck and Mr. Arends in due time."

"They just started on me because they thought I was the member of the leadership group they could deal with easiest."

Rep. Leslie Arends of Illinois is Republican whip and had no opposition for re-election.

Conservative Wins Seat in Minnesota Senate

ST. PAUL (AP) — Conservative Claude Allen wins the Minnesota Senate seat in St. Paul's 43rd District because there were insufficient grounds for a recount cited in the petition of Gerald Christenson, his liberal opponent.

That was the ruling late Monday of the State Supreme Court, which moved today to hear a House contest.

That involves the petition of Henry J. Morlock, Jordan, who is fighting the certification of incumbent liberal Rep. John H. Fitzgerald, Neprague, for re-election. Two other House contests may also reach the high court.

Donald E. Swenson, Mankato conservative, has indicated he would oppose certification of C.A. Johnson, also of Mankato. And another case may come in the challenge of David Swanson, Minneapolis, to the election of Edward Volstead in that city's 34th District.

DEAR ABBY:

Better Step on It Young Lady

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A very well-to-do, retired gentleman has been dating me off and on for three years. He finally asked me to marry him. I didn't want to seem too anxious although I am no spring chicken myself. I went to my fortune teller and told her all about him. She said my horoscope was not in favor of marrying a redhead, and also my stars warned me against marrying this year. She said my stars would be different next year and I should wait. I told this man what my fortune teller told me and I haven't heard from him since. I really should have grabbed him. What should I do now? GIMINI

DEAR GIMINI: Call HIM! Maybe you can still get another crack at him — if he isn't already married to your fortune teller.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been making a habit of taking his secretary to lunch every day. She is a young married woman with marriage problems and has been crying on my husband's shoulder. Now I am not saying there is anything going on between them, but I do not like the talk it's been causing. I told my husband I wanted him to stop this, but he says she pays for her own lunch so there is nothing wrong with it. Can you advise me?

NEEDS AN OPINION

DEAR NEEDS: The way to a man's heart is not always through his stomach. It can be through his shoulder, moistened, with tears. Tell your husband that he is neither a Dear Abby nor a Father Confessor to his secretary. If you value your marriage, Madam, break up the luncheon dates. They can result in marital indigestion.

DEAR ABBY: I never had a dog when I was young because my mother was one of those crazy clean housekeepers who wouldn't put up with one. I am a mother myself now (our baby is 13 months old) and my husband and I are going to see to it that our child is raised with a pet. We have heard it is a good idea to get a puppy and let it grow up with the baby. Others say to get an older dog. Which is better? PET SHOPPING

DEAR SHOPPING: Contrary to popular opinion it is unwise and often inhumane to match up a small puppy (or kitten) with a very young child. Older and more placid animals are better for small children.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Norstad Put Strength in NATO

LAURIS M. NORSTAD, the son of a Scandinavian minister, was raised in Red Wing. No one would have ever guessed then that he had a destiny of international greatness.

Last week, Lauris M. Norstad retired as a U.S. Air Force General after six years as the Supreme Allied Commander of Europe.

The general's place in history was not reached as a politician or as a conquering hero, but as a quiet steady force in development of an international army.

IT WAS A difficult task. He faced an England with world-wide military commitments and money problems. He saw a France pulling divisions in and out of NATO for the Algerian war and to fulfill its own grand design. He dealt with a Germany with anti-military feelings and constitutional restraints on service commanders. And he knew of the political conflicts of an Italy with strong Socialist and Communist parties.

But with force when necessary, with subtle persuasion at other times, and always with charm and dignity, the general directed NATO from a hopeful discussion group into an all-powerful military force.

Today, the armies of Europe train together and share responsibilities of mutual defense. The NATO forces have instant communications, clearly defined orders, and an atomic strike force, backed by well-equipped army divisions.

ALL THIS IS the work of many nations with a common goal. But Gen. Norstad was able to mold national feelings and needs into a single modern force.

The Issue Is Freedom of Choice

IT SEEMS CLEAR enough after the hearing that a majority of the La Crosse Common Council is opposed to forced Sunday closing of certain retail stores.

A heavy majority of the 200 citizens attending the public debate felt the same way.

These people, aldermen and residents alike, just don't think it is the city's job to tell merchants how to run their businesses.

We agree.

In our opinion, the issue is not sanctity of the Sabbath. Nor should it be tied in with employees' days of rest, family ties, or what America "needs." Pursue any of those lines far enough, and you wind up in pretty strange territory.

THE ISSUE, we believe, is freedom of choice. That's an old American tradition, too, and deserves a stout defense.

A lot of Americans work on Sunday now, from choice or necessity: Police and firemen, restaurant waitresses, nurses, staffers on radio stations and morning newspapers. The list also includes men of the cloth and pro football players.

This may be bad or good, according to the individual viewpoint. But should someone in Congress, the legislature, or city hall decide who may work and who may not; which store or product is "essential" and which is not?

Stores in many cities stay open one or two nights a week now. Many shopping centers are open five nights, and in some cities on Sunday.

Some open at 10 a.m., some at 9; some are cash and carry; some charge; some deliver. And the customer makes his choice, to support the system he prefers.

He's been doing that for quite a while now, and the country has the widest variety of prices and services in the world.

EVERY CHANGE in merchandising brings protests from the established forms; that's human nature. Often, someone gets hurt—and that's a law of nature and of life. If the newcomer doesn't have what the public wants, he won't be around long.

Other Wisconsin cities are going through this battle, or will be. The legislature will be asked to deal with it at the state level.

We think legal restrictions are the wrong approach, and the council should kill the proposal when it comes up this week Thursday.—La Crosse Tribune.

Servants Take On Roles of Masters

AGRICULTURE SECRETARY Orville Freeman charges that the press has been withholding from the farmers information about the great benefits of his federal programs. Naturally it is the "Republican" press which bears the greater share of the blame.

Perhaps Orville has not been told about the "managed news" policy that now prevails in Washington, which feeds the people what the government wants them to know, and keeps from them information the government decides to sweep under the bed.

The free press of America is taking a licking these days, and the people who pay for the ever-expanding federal government in Washington are taking a licking, too. The servants of the people seem to have taken on the role of masters of the people.—St. Cloud Times

U.S. Policy in Congo Puzzling

By SEN. BARRY GOLDWATER
We must know a great deal more about American policy in the Congo.

Regardless of what finally happens to Katanga and its leader, Moise Tshombe, the position of the United States in the disgraceful events of the past few weeks demands clarification.

All sorts of questions arise out of the spectacle of the United Nations using force and violence to impose a political solution of its own making on the people of an independent nation.

It might be asked, for example, why the United States was the only major power to actively support U. Thant's infamous policy directed at the only strong pro-Western leader in the Congo, The British, French, Belgians and others of our allies were certainly not in accord.

Of course, we have heard all of the stock answers, but these have not been reasonable enough to convince the majority of the American people.

How is it possible to adopt the administration view that waging war against Katanga was the only way to insure against a Communist takeover? In waging that war, we have weakened to the point of destruction the only strong anti-Communist element in the whole area. And we have strengthened the hand of a coalition government which combines an inability to rule the Congo with the inclusion of leftist administrators.

IF OUR PURPOSE is to bring about a united Congo under a centralized government, how is this possible when we have generated a soul-deep bitterness among the people of the wealthiest region to be incorporated?

The truth is that the United Nations action in the Congo has done more for the cause of disunity than any other development in that turbulent situation. There can be no doubt whatsoever that if Tshombe and the Katangese secessionists are finally beaten, the United Nations will have to keep troops and military equipment in the Congo for years to come. In effect, it will have to occupy the territory like any other conqueror.

Strangely enough, it doesn't seem to occur to the architects of the United Nations war in the Congo that the Katangese are fighting for freedom. It might surprise U. Thant and the rest of the United Nations crew to know that the people of Katanga took seriously all the lip-service paid by the United Nations in years past to the principle of self-determination among nations.

WHY SHOULDN'T the people of Katanga fight for the right to determine their own future, for the right to run their own province and their own lives the way they want to? What gives the United Nations the right to decide that Katanga should be a part of another political organization merely because some staff in New York decides that this is the way to handle the complicated situation in the Congo? Even more to the point, what gives the United Nations the right to use force to impose its dictatorial decision of what should happen to Katanga?

When the whole operation is stripped down to realities, the conclusion is inescapable. The thing that makes it possible for the United Nations to use force and violence against Katanga is the moral and financial support of the United States. U. Thant's Congo operation is costing more than $10 million a month, a large part of which is paid by the American taxpayers.

How do you stand, sir?

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Undercover Presidential Drive for McNamara

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy doesn't know it, but one of his top cabinet members has been sounded out by two influential Republican publishers about running for president—against the Democrats—in 1968.

An interesting memo giving this inside news is now being circulated right under Secretary McNamara's nose by his own military leaders. He does not know about the memo.

The memo claims that "feeler" antennae were extended to him by two prominent publishers high up in Republican policy councils when he visited New York City late in November.

"Already the build-up of Bob McNamara is under way," the memo continues. "He's gotten the humanizing 'treatment' in the Luce (Fortune) and Curtis (Saturday Evening Post) publications, the twin organs of Republican respectability."

"Like Eisenhower's, McNamara's ordinariness is being played into a sterling virtue." McNamara has a few of the qualities that the ordinary man finds annoying, but several that he might find quite appealing.

"Bob McNamara is not unaware of the growing political figure he is cutting on the national scene. Having already established one side of his archetypal Americanism—the competitive, hard, pragmatic, individualistic and success-driven—he must cultivate the other—the religious-idealistic, friendly, cooperative side."

"In 1968, the constitution will bar a third term, legally removing the distaste of any secretary of defense for the prospect of politically challenging his boss."

"GOP strategists who are hopeful that Bob McNamara will take the political plunge have one thing going for them which was not present in 1948 when nobody, not even Mamie, knew whether her husband was a Republican or a Democrat. Mrs. Peggy McNamara knows that, up to 1952, Bob was true-blue to the party of Abraham Lincoln."

You can take the headlines of a Communist plot in Peru with a large grain of salt. Real fact is that the military junta which seized control of Peru last July has been looking for an excuse to get more aid from the Kennedy administration, and the best way of getting it is to wave the flag of Communism.

SO MANY governments have yelled wolf over communism, however, that Washington is getting a bit blasé about it. Furthermore the record of the Peruvian military is extremely interesting.

First, they kicked out the only democratically elected president in years, Manuel Prado, and used Sherman tanks given them earlier by the United States to do it.

Second, they did this in order to thwart a strong anti-Communist liberal, Victor Raul Haya De La Torre, from taking office. Haya De La Torre, who represented a left of center faction similar to that of Italian Premier Fanfani, had just won a hard-fought election in which he was vigorously opposed by both the Communists and the military.

Third, the military leaders who kicked out Prado and thwarted the election of Haya had been schooled by the U.S. military. Col. Gonzalo Briceno, who battered down the presidential gates with Sherman tanks, had trained at Ft. Benning, Ga. Guillermo Tirado Lumb, the ex-Navy minister who helped masterminding the revolution, has a son who just graduated from Annapolis. Many of the other military leaders had trained under the United States either in the U.S.A. or in the Panama Canal zone.

THEY WERE flabbergasted, therefore, when President Kennedy broke off diplomatic relations. Finally against the advice of the State Department, Kennedy resumed relations.

But the Peruvian military, though getting some aid from the United States, haven't got enough. The Communist disturbance has come just at the right time to be fanned up into an awesome menace so they can get more.

All last year the secret voting in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee was 8 to 7 for Kennedy policies. He squeaked through by a margin of one vote. At the current session it looks as if this one-vote margin would be reversed—largely through JFK's longtime good friend and former usher at his wedding—Sen. George Smathers, the dapper Florida Dixiecrat.

Smathers has asked for a place on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and despite his consistent opposition to Kennedy, Vice President Lyndon Johnson and Democrat Leader Mike Mansfield are expected to give it to him.

THE MYTH that Smathers is still a friend of the President's is now merely a myth. The handsome senator from Florida still claims to be a friend but the White House doesn't reciprocate that friendship. Kennedy respects the civil amenities, entertains Smathers at breakfast with other senators, but grinds his teeth in private over Smathers' continual opposition. No senator except Barry Goldwater of Arizona was more critical of Kennedy's original Cuban policy of watchful waiting than JFK's former usher. And last October, Smathers even kept Congress in session one week extra to prevent his "friend" in the White House from exercising a pocket veto of a bill to permit doctors and the self-employed to get tax concessions for special pensions.

With the exit of moderate Sen. Alex Wiley, Wisconsin Republican, from the foreign relations committee, Sen. Karl Mundt, right-wing South Dakotan, wants to move in to take his place, even though his present place on the Senate Agriculture Committee is of far greater importance to the farming state of South Dakota. The combination of Mundt and Smathers would make two votes against Kennedy and swing the control of the Foreign Relations Committee.

Congress Has Own Rights

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Yes, there is a Congress. It is composed of 435 representatives and 100 senators—all of them elected directly by the people of the United States.

For two months now, day after day, newspapers and television and radio have told of the activities of the President—conferences and speeches, statements on public policy and plans for legislative proposals. The country may have indeed gotten the impression that the President runs the government. Actually, the President proposes, but Congress disposes.

For, under a written constitution, the President cannot interfere with the operations of Congress as specified in that document, and Congress cannot interfere with the exercise of any constitutional power delegated to the President.

Yet, as the 88th Congress goes into its first session this week, the impression the country has been given by some news dispatches and radio and TV discussions is that the President is trying to tell Congress what rules it shall adopt for the size of its committees or for the length of its debates. Again, and again, the Supreme Court has decided that these rules are solely within the power of Congress itself to prescribe.

The President constitutionally can have nothing to say about the fight over the Senate or House rules. He has no voice in such matters. Strictly speaking, it is unconstitutional for him to endeavor improperly to influence the votes of the members of either house on these questions, even though they may indirectly relate to the progress of his legislative proposals. The constitution gives the President no right to lobby or to use his presidential office to secure the passage of legislation at any time, whether by the promise of or threats to withhold favors to members of Congress. He can recommend legislation to Congress, but he cannot coerce members of either house to vote as he demands.

THIS IS important to the integrity of Democratic government today and in the future. Specifically, the House and Senate may each decide for itself how much power a minority in its membership shall have. This is a function that cannot be legally tampered with from the outside. The authority of the House rules committee to conduct its business is entirely independent of the merits of legislative proposals themselves. A bill can be pigeonholed in any committee by a majority of the committee. But the House can by petition of a majority of the members, get a bill to the floor for action.

As for the anti-filibuster rule in the Senate, in some instances it makes little difference, theoretically, whether a two-thirds or a three-fifths majority is necessary to end debate. Actually, the measures that are debated at length often have better than a one-third minority against ending debate. Today, for example, the so-called conservative "coalition" draws votes from both parties. Nobody knows whether giving the power to three-fifths, or 60 members, of the Senate to end debate will make it any easier to get such a vote in specific instances than under the present rule requiring two-thirds, or 67 members, of the Senate.

When issues become acute and only a narrow majority in the Senate itself is in favor of a measure, it isn't hard to pick up a few votes to keep a filibuster going. The right to debate amendments at length also gives the minority an opportunity to prolong the discussion by introducing new amendments, all of which can be debated thoroughly.

A CONTROVERSY over the Senate rules has come up in recent years at the beginning of almost every session. No concrete legislative measures are usually being considered, though in the background generally is the "civil rights" issue. While the assumption is that only the southerners are interested in this question, there are growing indications that northern senators find themselves concerned about limitation on debate and "gag rule."

Meanwhile, a lot of time will be used up on the rules problem in the first few days of

Importance Of Having Chest X-ray

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is your idea about a chest X-ray required annually by an employer? There has been much discussion concerning aftereffects, possibly leading to cancer.—Mrs. H.A.M.

To clear the air, let's dispense of the "cancer" idea. No, this won't cause cancer. A chest X-ray requires about one-tenth of a second exposure, and comparable amounts for other diagnostic X-rays.

It's true that in the early days some doctors and scientists were burned by the rays, but that was the result of hours of excessive exposure. At the rate of one ordinary X-ray a year, at a tenth of a second, 36,000 years would be required to accumulate only one hour of exposure—or 600 years for a mere minute.

These figures ought to set your mind at rest.

The more urgent concern these days is over fallout from nuclear explosions and what effect on genetics.

Will the increased radiation result in more babies being born with defects? Whether it is fall-out, or natural radiation, or from an X-ray machine, it is still all radiation.

Therefore we want to avoid ANY radiation, even small amounts, unless there is good reason for it.

I would never hesitate for an instant over the split second of radiation needed for an X-ray. But neither would I permit any X-ray without good reason. It's a very small amount but it adds up.

BECAUSE of the significance as applied to birth defects, the important time for protection is in early life—say until 35 years or so.

That covers the child-bearing years for the most part. After then, the added radiation is of less significance.

There has been some change in routine testing. Instead of chest X-rays for everyone, there is now a growing practice of giving a tuberculin, or skin test to people under 35. If the test is negative, no X-ray is required. If it is positive (showing that the person has been exposed to TB) then an X-ray is taken. If this shows no disease, then an additional X-ray every other year (rather than every year, as in the past) is taken.

But—and mark this well—further X-rays are taken at once if there is any symptom, at any time, raising suspicion of TB.

THE CHEST X-RAY, of course, is useful in detecting many other conditions. It is an important, useful tool, and I hope no reader will hesitate for an instant when one is really needed.

the session. Oddly enough, if the rules are modified so as to diminish the rights of the minority in either the House or the Senate, this will be erroneously hailed in the headlines as a victory for the President. For he is not permitted under the constitution to have a part in the making of the rules of either house. The reason for playing it up as a presidential victory or defeat is the assumption that back stage the administration—in disregard of the constitution—is using whatever influence it can command to cause members of Congress to vote as the White House dictates, rather than as they might really want to from the standpoint of their constituents.

State Eye Bank Work Discussed

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special)—The eye bank at the University of Minnesota, established three years ago, cannot keep up with the demand for operations to save and restore sight.

This was a statement made by Dr. Arthur Rathkey of the university's ophthalmology department to the Rushford Lions Club Thursday.

"We are always behind," he said. "We are unable to help 10 or 15 people who need corneal transplants. We do not have enough eyes and must take care of the truly desperate or emergency cases."

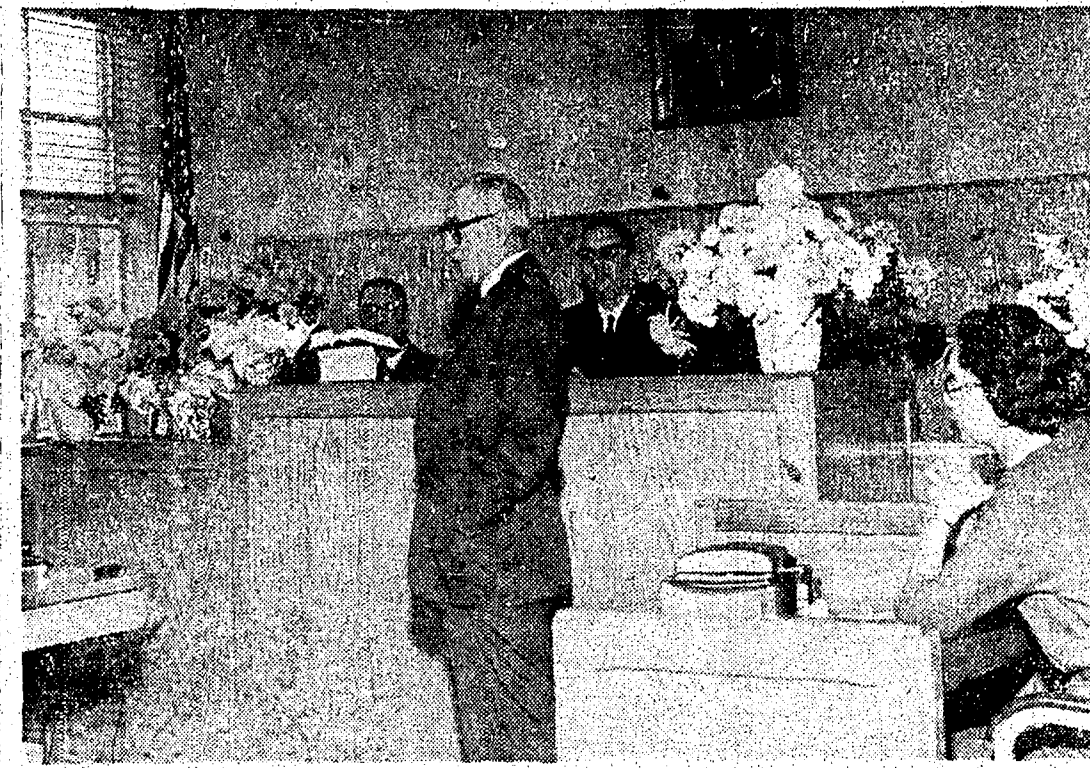

Dr. Rathkey told the club members that the formal name of the bank is the Minnesota Lions Eye Bank because it is supported by Lions Clubs throughout the state.

"Transplants are made to help a person see better," he said. They also provide replacement for ruptured or severely diseased corneas. All eyes are taken from dead persons. Approval is required from the next-of-kin although an individual has bequeathed his eyes to the bank.

"Sight can sometimes be restored by transplanting a cornea or part of it from another person's eye," he said. "For some types of transplants a cornea must be secured within a few hours of the donor's death. In other cases where only part of the corneal thickness has to be replaced, the transplant material can be taken from a cornea that has been stored in the eye bank under sterile conditions."

Rathkey said persons who have been sightless for 25 years have been given sight by surgery. During 1962 the bank received

State Fair Has Cash Balance

MINNEAPOLIS (P)—The Minnesota State Fair had a cash balance of $414,473 after an operating gain of $135,589 for the 1962 exposition, John E. Libby reported Tuesday.

Libby, acting secretary-general manager, told the 104th annual meeting of the Minnesota State Agricultural Society, running the fair, that revenues last year reached a record high of $1,547,312.

He said this resulted largely from an increase in admission fees at the outside gates from 30 to 75 cents. Attendance of 1,070,204 marked the eighth consecutive year the exposition has bested the million mark.

AT BROTHERHOOD MEETING ETTRICK, Wis. (Special)—Representing the Lutheran Brotherhood at a district conference Saturday and Sunday at Stevens Point were Oscar Strand, district president; Ben Erickson, president of the Mondovi Circuit, and Ronald Johnson, Blair, and Oliver Peterson, Whitehall.

Other directors are Henry Pederson, Harmony, president, and Vernon Miller, Lime Springs, Iowa; Clarence McKay Jr., Harmony, and Henry Ostrem and Clifford Nelson, Lanesboro.

Rifle safety and handling will be taught to boys and girls under 15 in 10 weekly classes beginning Tuesday, the park-recreation department announced this week.

Waldemar Thiele, a member of the Winona Rod & Gun Club, will supervise the classes. He is supervisor of the gun club's youth conservation unit.

Participants in the course are to furnish their own 22 caliber rifles and ammunition. Rifles must be carried in cases or with the bolt removed, the park-recreation office warned.

Income Tax! Are you struggling with this? Do you have a family that uses a lot of drugs and prescriptions? If you trade at Brown's why don't you start the New Year right! Every time you receive a statement from the store, we include copies of each of your itemized charge slips, if you would have an indexed folder or even a large envelope, and each month drop these slips into the container, at the end of the year you will have a complete record of drugs -- The Government wants us to take all of the deductions to which we are entitled, but they must be covered with sales slips -- Why guess, and then if you are checked, try to have us go back over your slips and try to help you and you're not just sure -- This also works for other items too -- Brown's aren't necessarily trying to sell you an indexed folder, but we do have a very nice alphabetized folder for this purpose for only $1.95 -- plenty large enough for family use.

Once a Year Promotion -- specially priced Spray Mist -- Revlon's Intimate only $3.00 -- packaged attractively in white plastic coated bottle -- This really is a very nice fragrance -- nice for after bath use. You will find the matching items in talcum, dusting powder, bath and toilet soap -- nice time to try it at a reasonable price.

Really New

Something new and really different is going to be on the market very soon -- sounds wonderful -- it's called PRETTY PERM -- doesn't sound possible, but it is to be a permanent wave including a color process -- no more can be told at the present time but I am going to the Cities this week to see a live demonstration of the use of it, and take a bit of training on this product so that we can help you in the right way -- The salesman will tell you more about it next week. We will be purchasing it at the same time at the meeting. Permanent waving has always been one of the biggest problems of tinted hair -- let's hope this means they have a solution to this problem -- This is apt to be the most different hair preparation for many years.

Russ Accept Metal Found At Manitowoc

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Russians, who made a big public show of rejecting a space fragment that probably belongs to them, have quietly taken possession of the chunk of metal found in Manitowoc, Wis.

The State Department said Monday the transfer took place last Saturday. Informants said a low-ranking member of the Soviet embassy staff called at the State Department, picked up the fragment which was packed in a box, tucked the box under his arm and walked out without further ado.

Alexandri Zinchuk, a press officer at the Soviet embassy, said Monday night, "They insisted we take it, and we did. We have no way of determining if your American tests are right. We will send it to Moscow to test. It's too heavy to air mail. We will send it by slow boat."

The fragment was still warm when found by police officers on a Manitowoc street Sept. 5. American experts said it was part of the Russian satellite Sputnik IV launched into earth orbit May 15. After breaking up in space it reentered the earth's atmosphere in a fiery display over northern Wisconsin.

The Russians received a 14-pound section of the fragment. The United States kept the remaining six pounds for further testing of its own.

Air Force To Abandon Texas Towers

OTIS AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (AP)—The two remaining Texas Towers in the Atlantic Ocean off the Massachusetts coast have fallen victim to nature and technological progress.

The Air Force announced Monday that a routine inspection of the two radar installations revealed extensive erosion of sand and rock around the supporting legs.

The announcement said it is not considered practical to repair the tower foundations because semi-automatic airborne radar equipment is expected to be available soon with the same capabilities as the towers.

Texas Tower 2, located about 100 miles east of Cape Cod, will be abandoned immediately. Texas Tower 3, about 60 miles southeast of Cape Cod, will be maintained on a standby basis until the end of February. It will be manned by seven men when the weather is favorable.

Three towers were built by the Air Force in the mid-50s as part of the radar network designed to spot enemy aircraft approaching U.S. shores.

Tower 4 collapsed in January 1961 during a gale. Its crew of 14 Air Force men and 14 civilians was lost. Two other towers, 1 and 5, were planned but never constructed.

ROBERT C. RUARK

Uncle Breaks Partnership

NEW YORK — He leaned back in his chair, and lit a cigar as big as a baseball bat. He ruminated over a brandy snifter, and rubbed his comfortable paunch with his free hand. There were still the remains of the second bottle of wine on the table.

The mink on his companion was pastel. The diamonds on the wrist, the fingers, and around the neck had the smack of reality, even if the blonde hair did not. Her dress had not come off a rack; it screamed of Hattie or Oleg or Balanchina. Sulka had sired his necktie; he was past the Countess Mara or even Bronzini stage.

Two captains and a waiter hovered, their best smiles carved into their faces. They were not fighting their luck; in a very short time the customer would call for the check and he would scribble fatter on the back, with separate entries labeled "captain," "waiter" and "wine." The maitre d'hotel wanted to go to the men's room, but he was postponing the necessity. He wasn't leaving his pulpit until the fat man pressed the usual ten dollars in his hand. The ten bucks would be the cash transaction — except, of course, the dollar for the hat chick and the other dollar for the doorman who would hand him and his lady into the softly panting Rolls from the Buckingham people.

THE MAN gestured, savoring his cigar, for more brandy. He needed it to tamp down the lunch, which had gone all the way from the blue Virginia crab-lumps with the spiced sauce to the crisp duckling and the chocolate extravaganza on the dessert cart. As an afterthought, he ordered another creme de menthe frappe for his companion.

"I feel naked without a tan, like," he said to his lady fair. "I guess I'm gonna have to get used to it, though. If they're serious I don't see how we can run the business from Miami anymore."

"They can't do this to you, Nate," the lady said. "They can't but they did. They done it all right. You don't come under the head of business entertainment no more, Angie. This is the last lunch on the house. From tomorrow on I gotta bring the accountant to lunch, he shouldn't miss the paperwork."

"BUT EVERYTHING gonna close up," Angie said. "Who's got it to go to Morocco? Who goes to the football games? Who flies the jets to the Roney when the weather changes? Who spends for theater tickets from the scalp? Who keeps the joints open?" "Not me, I'm racked up," the fat man said, and snapped his fingers for the captain. He carefully crushed out his cigar, less than a third smoked. "Another Upmann," he said, and stopped talking until the captain returned with the fresh cigar. "It was great while it lasted," he resumed. "You didn't mind the taxes if you could put a few laughs on the old expenseroo. The laughs cost money, but you didn't mind throwing it if Uncle was your partner."

"But certainly," Angela said. "Surely there's got to be something deductible."

THE MAN blew a smoke ring. "Not laughs, baby," he said. "Not Miami. Not Europe. Not you. You're a luxury now, not a charge-off."

"But what do I do?" "Well, you can start taking better care of that coat," the man said. "I hear there's a place where they renew mink."

"You used to get me a new one every other year," the lady said.

"That," the man said, "was in another era. Walter, bring me the check." He turned to the girl. "I'm gonna double the tip!" he said.

Retired Red Wing
County Auditor
Urges Tax Reform

RED WING, Minn. (AP) — "Doc" Eckholm has retired after 20 years as Goodhue County auditor, but he's going to carry on a personal campaign for a better system of state assessments and taxation.

E.P. Eckholm, who has been in the auditor's office for 36 years and six in the county highway department before that, closed the books on his long service last week. He plans a six months' rest and then will make plans for his retirement future.

But he has a burning ambition to work for a legislative overhaul of the multiplicity of state laws dealing with assessments and taxes.

With a fist pounding the desk and missionary zeal in his voice, he declared:

"It's preposterous the amount of piece-meal legislation passed over the years which complicates the tax structure and adds heavy burdens of extra and unnecessary work upon county auditors throughout the state.

"Do you know that in the Zumbrota school district alone there are 60 different tax rates?" And Eckholm promises, "if there's anything I want to do now it's to correct this mess and I'm going before this legislature and do my level best to get something done about it."

He figures his opinions will be respected more as a retired auditor, rather than as one still in office with an ax to grind.

Doc says the most frustrating and time-consuming experience during his 36 years in the auditor's office has been the current recount of Nov. 6 election ballots in the governor's race.

Good Roads, Inc. Advocates 2-Cent Gas Tax Raise

ST. PAUL (AP) — Minnesota Good Roads, Inc. is advocating a two-cent per gallon boost in the state gasoline tax to meet what it claims will be a deficit in Minnesota's ability to reap full benefits from federal matching funds for highways in the fiscal year starting July 1.

Unless some remedial action is taken, the state will fall to match allocated federal grants by $8.5 million, John H. Mullen, executive director of the group, said Tuesday.

Mullen estimated that the proposed increase would raise $15 million annually, leaving $8.5 million to be used for other highway uses.

His organization is made up of contractors, equipment dealers, and others interested in highway development.

Liberal Caucus
Now DFL Caucus

ST. PAUL (AP) — Rep. Fred Cina of Aurora, minority leader in the House of Representatives, said Tuesday the liberal caucus had voted to call itself the "DFL caucus" for organization purposes.

"We were elected with DFL support," he said, "just as a good many conservatives were elected with Republican support. We think both sides should admit this."

In answer to a question, Cina said this could well be the forerunner of a strong push for party designation for legislators.

Attorney Asks Care
In Selecting Jurors

"You should handle selection of jurors with as much caution as you use in buying an automobile for the county or repairing a road," Duane M. Peterson, Winona, told the Winona County Board of Commissioners this morning.

Peterson said he has been conducting an independent study of how jurors have been selected by the county commissioners. The study is not yet complete but Peterson inferred from his findings to date that district court jurors have been top-heavy with rural residents and retired persons.

ON HIS WAY to the courthouse this morning, Peterson saw all five commissioners and County Engineer Gordon M. Fay outside the building inspecting a 1963 car that was parked in the driveway. The commissioners had interrupted their annual meeting to examine the car at the request of Commissioner Adolph Spitzer, St. Charles, 3rd District, who said, "I want to see what it looks like."

This was in connection with two bids the board opened this morning for a sheriff's patrol car. The lawyer urged that the commissioners use a random method of picking jurors. Under state law, the commissioners have to pick at their annual meeting 72 grand jurors and 144 petit jurors. Peterson said grand jurors are hardly needed here, so he had confined his study to selection of petit jurors.

JURORS CHOSEN at the annual meeting will be available for service in the April and September terms of District Court this year and the January term next year. The forthcoming January term starts Monday. Jurors were previously picked for this term. Jurors get $6 a day and 7 1/2 cents mileage. Jurors can be excused by the court for valid cause.

Peterson, who was introduced by County Attorney S. A. Sawyer, said the Winona County Bar Association had started a study of jury selection about five years ago but had not completed the study. Peterson said local lawyers Roger Bronsahan and C. Stanley McMahon had volunteered to help him with the study.

"ABOUT TWO-THIRDS of the people on these juries have been rural people," Peterson said. "You would expect that 75-80 percent of the jurors would be employed but instead you get many retired or near retired people. The idea of a jury system is that you are to be judged by your peers. For example, the U. S. Supreme Court has heard cases involving segregation in which it was charged the defendants didn't get a fair trial because some segments of the population had been excluded from the jury."

Peterson commended City Recorder Roy G. Wildgrube and the city system of picking jurors for municipal court. The city uses voter registration cards and jurors are picked at random from these cards.

Peterson said the commissioners could use these cards in picking city residents for service on District Court juries.

However, since rural precincts don't have voter registration, selection of rural jurors could be done by using precinct voting registers and picking names at random. Peterson said some of these registers have been sent to Ramsey County District Court which is supervising the gubernatorial election recount and thus could not be used now.

COMMISSIONER Carl O. Peterson, Fremont Township, 4th District, said:

"Using voting registers in the country may not give a fair sample because about 50 percent of the rural people don't vote."

"Then the census list would be better in such a case," lawyer Peterson said.

Tuesday afternoon, County Attorney Sawyer discussed lawyer Peterson's forthcoming visit with the county board and said:

"There are not enough businessmen in comparison with farmers on juries. Some attorneys in the area might make a test case of jury selection. You shouldn't put the names of your buddies down as jurors."

Council Asking
Planning Group
To Study Renewal

A committee of the city Planning Commission will be asked to study ways to get a community improvement program into action.

City Council members were told Monday night the city's certification for a Workable Program for Community Improvement was contained in a letter from John P. McCollum, regional administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, Chicago.

Aldermen moved to refer the business of recertification to the Planning Commission, although it was noted by Ald. Howard Roy Wildgrube that the city Housing and Redevelopment Authority is empowered to act in such matters.

At a meeting Dec. 19, the Planning Commission appointed Commissioners E. O. Eckert, William F. White and Milton A. Goldberg to a committee charged with investigating feasibility of government-aided urban renewal for downtown areas.

A previous effort to get bids failed because complex State Highway Patrol specifications were used. Simple specifications were used this time. Robert P. Olson, vice president, Quality Chevrolet, drove the Biscayne model sedan to the courthouse at the board's request this morning. The Owl Motor bid was for a Ford 300 model.

The county's share of these poor relief bills was approved for payment: Winona city, balance of 1961, $50,000; Utica Township, 1962, $591.13; Altura village, 1961-62, $640.36; and Saratoga Township, 1961-62, $678.11.

These committees were appointed (chairmen listed first): Purchasing — James Papenfuss and all other members. Building — Merchewitz and all others. Printing — Leo R. Borkowski and Merchewitz. Health — Adolph Spitzer and Merchewitz. Finance — Borkowski, Merchewitz and Peterson. Road and bridge — Spitzer and all others. Representing the board on these county committees will be: Extension — Papenfuss and Peterson; county law library — Papenfuss; soil conservation — Borkowski.

Approved was a $10 monthly payment of a $10 monthly uniform allowance for the last half of 1962 for the seven sheriff's deputies.

The best single night hand during the 1962 harness meeting at Yonkers, N.Y., came the final night when $3,191,020 was wagered.

Mercury to Dip
To 5-10 Above

The weatherman is about to lower the boom on the Winona area which has been enjoying pleasant autumn weather for the past week.

A new cold spell, which the Weather Bureau said will reach or approach cold wave proportions tonight in North Dakota and parts of northern Minnesota, was moving into the north central states today from Canada.

LIGHT SNOW pushed along by the low pressure area probably will be succeeded by snow flurries accompanied by the cold, the Weather Bureau said.

The temperature, which rose to 45 Tuesday afternoon, near the all-time record of 49 for the day in 1880, is predicted to drop to 5 to 10 above tonight and remain cold for the rest of the week.

Mostly cloudy tonight and Thursday with light snow changing to snow flurries Thursday. High Thursday may not be much above 45-50, the prediction indicates. Very cold with a chance of snow flurries is the outlook for Friday.

Ramblers Eye 7th Straight Tonight

By BOB JUNGHANS
Daily News Sports Writer

Sporting a six-game winning streak, Cotter High School's high flying Ramblers host a tough Prairie du Chien Campion tonight at St. Stanis Gym. The game will start at 8 p.m.

This game will resume a rivalry after a two-year lay-off.

CAMPION WILL bring a 3-5 record to St. Stans. The only common opponent of the two schools is Eau Claire Regis. Cotter fell to Regis 38-46, and Campion did the same by 56-47.

Leading scorer thus far in the season for Campion is John Klie-forth, 6-4, 220-pound junior center. Klieforth is not slated to start tonight, however.

Probable Campion starters will be Tony Skemp and Joe Holloran in the back court, Bill Englehart and Ron Mied at forwards, and Mark Farrell at the post.

Of these starters Holloran, 5-11 senior guard, leads the scoring with 76 points in eight games.

THE RAMBLER attack has come on strong in the last month. Sam Czaplowski has a 13.7 per game average. Bob Judge, 12.0, and in the last three games, Gene Schultz, 9.1.

Schultz now figures prominently and can be counted on to be the sparkplug for Coach John Nett's basketball team.

Tonight's Rambler lineup will find Judge at center, Czaplowski and Logan Koprowski at forwards, and Schultz and Rick Starzecki at guards.

When questioned about the game Nett said, "They'll be tough, but we'll play them on our home court so that should be to our advantage."

passing exploits in the Rose Bowl and Hula Bowl caused the football world to flip, put in his first full day of classroom routine Tuesday since returning home.

The pro contracts will have to wait—at least for the present, while Vanderkelen hits the books. But admittedly, he tore himself away from the books with some reluctance.

"It's kind of a pleasure to be in this position and I hope it will all work out," Vanderkelen said. "I'm pretty sure I'll sign with some body."

Vandy's great show in the Rose Bowl, where he set records by passing for 401 yards on 33 completions and gaining a total of 406 yards, put virtually every pro team in this country and Canada on his trail. He was by-passed in the National Football League draft and picked up by the New York Titans, almost as an after-thought, in the American League draft.

But the business at hand, Vanderkelen said, is work on some term papers. Then he wants to talk with Wisconsin coach Milt Bruhn "and some other people."

Vanderkelen talked to Norm Hecker of the "world champion Green Bay Packers" shortly after returning to Madison this week. But he has "an open mind," Vanderkelen added, and he plans to "listen to all of the others, then decide I am sort of anxious to get it over with so I can concentrate on my studies."

He said that stories that he did not want to play with Green Bay were "misinterpreted."

Dick Voris, Packers personnel chief, said Green Bay by-passed Vandy in the draft because of a club policy of not selecting players they did not have a chance of signing. And the Packers gathered, on a television appearance a couple of weeks before the draft, that Vanderkelen would rather make a start elsewhere.

Donkey Basketball At Lewiston Friday

Wedge Meier Signs Pact With Viking Pro Club

Jerry Wedemeier, Winona State College lineman and champion heavyweight wrestler, has signed to a pro football contract by the Minnesota Vikings, the NFL club announced this morning.

Wedemeier was one of the free agents put under contract by the Vikings. Others are halfbacks Jim Howser and Paul Bauch of St. Thomas College.

Wedemeier, a six-foot, 255-pounder, will be tried by the Vikings as an offensive guard, said Coach Norm Van Brocklin.

The warrior star, named "Man of the Year" in Winona sports, said of his contract, "It's a good one." He did not divulge the terms but it is believed there is a bonus connected with it if he is able to prove himself and make the permanent roster. It is not a "no-cut" contract.

Wedemeier, who played four years of varsity competition under Coach Moon Molinari at Winona State, performed at both guard and tackle for the Warriors who won the NSCC championship last fall.

The WSC product, a native of Waverly, Iowa, plans a professional wrestling career as well, and says he will try Canadian football if cut by the Vikings.

LOSE TO STANFORD; TWO OVERTIMES

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

California, a meek kitten in the Big Five last year, suddenly has turned tiger and the rest of the conference now the Big Six is practically biting its collective finger nails.

Last year, the Bears were picked up by just about everyone and finished their league season with a sorry 2-10 record.

Things have changed. First, the Bears upset Southern California twice last weekend and found themselves riding atop the conference Tuesday night, they were supposed to get their lumps from Stanford, the team rated the strongest in the league.

They were beaten, all right, but only after two overtimes and a 60-54 decision over the Bears in the Palo Alto Indians half to death. The final score was 71-64. Defending co-champion Southern Methodist came from behind a 13-point deficit to beat Texas Tech 70-61 and Texas Christian turned back Arkansas 59-31.

West Virginia, No. 9 team in the current Associated Press poll, left no doubt of who's boss in the Southern Conference. With Ted Thorn popping in 28 points, the Mountaineers defeated tough Davidson, 89-73. It was close until the final five minutes.

In other loop action, Virginia Tech ran its at-home winning streak to 40 games and its conference record to 3-0 with a 74-50 decision over VMI, and William and Mary climbed out of the cellar by downing the Citadel, 83-69.

Loyola of Chicago, the highest scoring squad in the country and No. 2 in the AP poll, rolled over Marquette 76-68 to run its record to 14-0. Jerry Harkness had 23 points for Loyola.

Winona High's sophomores used a 20-point second quarter to notch their eighth straight victory of the season.

The unbeaten Winona "B" squad was led by Bill Squires with 29 points.

The leading scorer for Logan was with 18 points was Johnson.

KRAUSE TOSSES IN 21 POINTS

Hawks Down Logan 56-50

LA CROSSE, Wis. (Special) — "We had to scratch for it but we did it," beamed John Kenney, Winona High basketball coach, who today finds his Winhawks on a pleasing two-game winning streak, something that wasn't anticipated in some corners.

The Hawks disposed of Logan's Rangers 56-50 here Tuesday night to make it a sweep for Winona against La Crosse schools in two games in four days.

AS A MATTER of fact, coupled with Cotter's six-point win over Logan and the Ramblers' triumph over Aquinas, Winona has a 4-0 edge to date in the inter-city competition.

Gary Addis, Logan's 6-8" junior center, got 22 points but he had to work hard for them. "We didn't give him any baskets," Kenney declared. "We were determined to stop him even if we had to do it by fouling."

As it turned out, the Hawks lost both Dan Scharrer and Jim Kasten before it was over as that pair, Wulf Krause and John Duei all took turns against Addis.

Kasten, who has demonstrated new-found ability and desire, however, left the game at 5:30 in the third period when he was charged with swinging at Addis in a melee under the boards.

KRAUSE, who hit for 16 points in the second half, carried the brunt of the Hawk scoring with 21 points though he sat out much of the first two periods.

Just as pleasing was the 22 point contribution of guards Marty Farrell and Steve Keller who went the route until the last 30 seconds.

"Krause was 'one-oneing' his man to death," said Kenney, explaining Wulf's expert ability to draw his man out of position to get away his shots.

John Prigge, though limited to six points, hauled in 14 of Winona's rebounds. Logan bagged 33 cars, but most of them in the second half.

THE WINHAWKS shot at a good 47 per cent in the first half on 11 baskets in 23 tries and 37 percent in the second on 7 for 19. Logan's percentages were 42-20 for 45 percent and 7-28 for 25 per cent.

Addis, who got 27 points in his last outing, scored eight in the first period which Winona led 12-11. He went scoreless in the second quarter but the Rangers, now 4-4 for the year, outscored the Hawks 17-15 to lead 28-27 at the half.

Farrell and Krause meshed quick two-pointers at the start of the second half to move the Hawks in front 31-28 and they never trailed again, though it was nip and tuck at times.

At one stage in the fourth period, Winona had a 49-41 cushion, but Addis, with 10 points in the last quarter, powered Logan to within three points with 1:45 remaining. There Farrell counted two points on a 1-and-1 foul and put it out of reach.

FARRELL got half of his 12 points from the charity stripe, making 6 of 7. The Hawks counted 20 of 29 all in. Logan 18 of 29.

Jim Lanzel scored 12 for Logan and sophomore Dick Koeller eight. Koeller, though not a starter, is Logan's leading scorer. Lanzel finally fouled out trying to stop Krause and guard Ralph Tolokken also was fouled to the bench.

The Winhawks, now 3-5 for the year, entertain Nankato in a Big Nine game Friday night, trying to snap a three-game conference losing streak and vacate the cellar.

GREEN WOVES 'EM AT DINNER TABLE

Twins Stars Make Big Hit Here

By AUGIE KARCHER
Daily News Sports Editor

Lenny Green wowed fans of the Minnesota Twins all summer long in Metropolitan Stadium and he wowed them Tuesday night at the Winona Athletic Club — even without his bat and glove.

Green, teammate Rich Rollins and Don Cassidy of the Twins promotion staff were the guests at a "Meet the Twins" banquet. George (Doc) Lentz, club trainer, was also slated to appear but could not make the trip.

Green, labeled as the Twins' "Mr. Clutch," could also be tagged as the Twins' Bob Hope. Whether he talked about his favorite subject — his salary — or about his close friend — Earl Batley — he left the crowd of nearly 300 persons chuckling — and thinking about buying tickets for 1963.

Rollins, whose .298 batting average and quick glove earned him "Sophomore of the Year" honors in the American League in 1962, played the straight man in the act.

Green who celebrated his 30th birthday Sunday (though he admits to only 29) quipped that at Washington his wife got tired of having the paperboy cashing his check. And when a woman diner inquired during a question and answer period as to the amount of his salary, he injected "I don't want to embarrass Cal Griffith or myself."

It was good-natured joking and the crowd liked it.

"I had the best year I've ever had last season," said Green in a more serious vein. "I have never played anything but centerfield and that's all I ever want to play." He batted .273 last year as a leadoff man and committed only two errors on defense.

"Of course," says Cassidy, "the way he kept his errors down was that on balls hit between two fielders he told the other guy to take it."

Rollins and Green spent an hour during the afternoon in a basketball workout at the Catholic Recreation Center which was more to Rich's liking than to Green's. "He's the basketball player," said Lenny.

For the umpteenth time, Green precluded the question as to why he "takes" the first pitch thrown to him by saying:

"If I'm saving at it, I'll pop up or ground out and then when I come back to the bench I can't tell Bob Allison or Harm Killebrew what the pitcher's got and they can't hit home runs and get pay raises and me a pay cut."

The two Twins will be among 46 reporting to Orlando, Fla., Feb. 20 and Feb. 27 for spring training. But before then they will complete a tour of the Upper Midwest with various other teammates to, in Cassidy's words, "thank the people for their support of the Twins last season."

Jack Frost XIII, Charles Green, and his prince, Jerry Papenfuss and Milton Knutson, awarded citations to Rollins as "Defender of the Hot Corner," Green as "Royal Catcher of the Long Ball" and Cassidy as "Royal Twins Promoter."

Other replay appointments went to Harry Czarnowski, newly elected president of the Athletic Club; Ken Pablocki, Dan Barmenok, Romy Galeski, Bill Bell, and Duane Peterson, who served as master of ceremonies.

Harvey Stever, retiring AC president, introduced the Rev. James McCauley who gave the invocation and benediction, and Mayor R. K. Ellings who extended to the Twins the official welcome to Winona.

WILLING TO TAKE TEST

Lions' Walker: Nothing to Hide

DETROIT (AP) — While admitting he knew "about half" of the six gamblers mentioned in a Detroit police report linking pro football players with known gamblers, Detroit Lions linebacker Wayne Walker insisted Tuesday night, "I have nothing to hide."

Walker volunteered to take a lie detector test if anyone doubts his honesty. "They can wire me up and ask me any questions they want," Walker said. "I'm ready any time they are."

Reached at his suburban Livonia home, Walker said he had loaned his car last summer to Jimmy Butsicaris, part owner of the Lindell Bar, a Detroit saloon frequented by sports personalities.

Earlier Tuesday, Lions head coach George Wilson was quoted by The Detroit News as saying he had been questioned by police and the FBI regarding what "the officers considered improper use" of Walker's car.

The Detroit Free Press said it was informed by police that the car was with a party of gamblers who returned from the Lions' exhibition game in Cleveland Aug. 18 in a bus, painted blue and silver—the Lions' colors—and loaded with "booze, girls, Lions and gamblers."

Walker told The Associated Press he had no knowledge of the bus. He said he had loaned his car to Butsicaris during the seven weeks he was in training camp in nearby Bloomfield Hills and did not know Butsicaris planned to make the trip to Cleveland.

Detroit Police Commissioner George Edwards, who revealed the "association of the Lions with known gamblers," told The News the "party bus" was operated by Odus Tinscher, who, he said, "three times has been convicted of gambling."

Butsicaris and his brother, John, are partners in the Lindell Bar with Lions defensive tackle Alex Karras. The News said Monday that the Lions would attempt to have Karras get rid of his part ownership of the bar, but Karras was quoted as saying he would quit the club first. Lions general manager Edwin Anderson said he had given Karras no such ultimatum.

Ewbank Fired, Shula Named Colts' Coach

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts have fired Weeb Ewbank as head coach. Replacing him is Don Shula, defensive backfield coach of the Detroit Lions.

Carroll Rosenbloom, owner of the National Football League club, announced the change Tuesday, calling it "probably the most difficult task I've ever faced."

Ewbank's dismissal confirmed weeks of speculation that he would lose his job. He coached the Colts to NFL championships in 1956 and 1958. Since then Baltimore has been just another team in the Western Division.

Shula, 33, accepted a two-year contract for 1963-64 in his first head coaching position. Salary was not disclosed.

Rosenbloom said Ewbank, 55, was offered another job with the Colts. The club owner denied reports that it was the general manager's position now held by Don Kellert.

"They offered me another job in the organization, but I've had no chance to think it over," said Ewbank.

Baylor, Lakers End Hawk String

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Elgin Baylor and Jerry West, a deadly duo, have scored another knockout punch to snare St. Louis' 13-game home court winning streak as the Los Angeles Lakers increased their lead in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association.

West revived the Lakers in their game with the Hawks Tuesday night and Baylor put over the crusher with two baskets in the final 16 seconds for a 99-96 victory.

In other games, Bob Cousy's six points in the last 3 minutes enabled the Boston Celtics to defeat the San Francisco Warriors 118-112. Hal Greer paced Syracuse to a 119-116 conquest of Cincinnati and the Detroit Pistons defeated the New York Knicks 109-93.

Redmen Six Faces Macs Thursday

St. Mary's Redmen, with the help of the weatherman, will meet Macalester at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in an MIAC hockey game at the Terrace Heights rink.

"The rink is in good shape, though the ice is soft," said Coach Max Molock, "but it will harden up if the weather turns cold as it is supposed to."

The Redmen, 4-1 for the season, bowed to Augsburg here Saturday. "We were terribly flat," said Molock. "We didn't play together; it definitely was not a team game. There was no back checking and some of our boys made some foolish fouls."

Molock said he will keep his first line intact for the first period, but plans some changes in order to give his regulars relief time. Nick Szumas is expected to alternate at defense and Tom Fitzgerald, a wing, will also see defensive service.

Molock indicated improvement by Tom Stoffel, John Ulrich and Joe Fidler will also give his club added strength.

Market Moves Irregularly in Heavy Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — In the week's heaviest trading, the stock market moved irregularly early this afternoon.

Signs of renewed speculative demand for specific issues mingled with profit-taking on recent gains.

Volume of 2.35 billion shares for the first two hours was the largest for that period this week. The business news looked good and prospects for a tax cut figured prominently.

Some auto stocks rose at the start. Chemicals, aerospace issues, tobacco and utilities maintained a slightly higher trend. Steels, oils, and rails drifted lower on balance.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1 1/2 points with industrials unchanged, rails off 1, and utilities up 4.

AT&T was active and up a point. Ford and Chrysler made fractional gains at the start. When Ford's directors declared the regular 45-cent dividend, however, the stock sold off fractionally.

General Motors eased from its late historic peak and took a fractional loss.

U.S. Smelting, a 3 1/2-point loser yesterday following a rise of more than 20 points in three weeks, dropped another 4 points or so. IBM was up a couple of points.

Beckman Instruments rose close to a point.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.59 at 671.47. Prices on the American Stock Exchange rose in moderate trading.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were unchanged to slightly lower.

President's 'E' Flag to CNW

CHICAGO — The Chicago and North Western Railway Co. this month will become the first railroad and surface carrier in the nation to receive the President's "E" flag and export award "for outstanding contributions to the increase of U.S. trade abroad."

The award was announced by Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges in a wire to Raymond J. Degnan, former general foreign freight agent of the railway. Degnan was recently appointed director of motor services of the railway in change of trailer-on-flat-car sales and service, Chicago.

Basis for the President's "E" pennant was the activity of C&NW's foreign freight department in recent years in developing new traffic via North Western's lake port cities and the St. Lawrence Seaway.

C&NW freight traffic accounted for approximately 20 percent of total overseas tonnage on the Seaway in 1961.

C&NW is the third largest railroad in the United States in terms of mileage, but approximately 1,000 miles or more from Atlantic, Pacific or Gulf port cities. It was a "land-locked" railroad until the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway in 1959. The road serves every major port on the Great Lakes, now known as "America's fourth sea coast," from Chicago to the twin ports of Duluth-Superior.

Freodtert Chooses Agent in East

MILWAUKEE — Henry F. Port, president of Perot Malt Co. of Philadelphia until its recent sale, will form a new company to act as sales representative for Freodtert Malt Corp. Freodtert, the nation's largest malting company with a plant at Winona, Minn., is a division of Basic Products Corp.

Thomas R. Gettelman, Freodtert president, said in announcing the appointment that Mr. Port's company will represent Freodtert in the eastern part of the United States, supplementing Freodtert's present staff in that area.
