Minnesotan Found Frozen to Death

Britain to Push Ahead on Common Market

By ANTHONY WHITE LONDON (AP) — Britain announced it will push ahead for admission into the European Common Market despite French hostility, and won open support from West Germany and Belgium. Italy and Holland gave implied backing to the British bid for membership. Only Luxembourg remained silent publicly in the six-nation economic-political bloc.

The Foreign Office, with the authority of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Cabinet, said Britain intends to keep trying to get into the market. At the same time the Foreign Office expressed hope France will have second thoughts about its rejection of American Polaris missiles. President Charles de Gaulle's rejection of the Polaris missile offer and his tough stand on Britain's entry into the Common Market were widely viewed in Europe as a double blow at the Western Alliance.

Tshombe Ready To Yield to Congo and U.N.

By ROBIN P. MANNOCK LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Katanga President Moise Tshombe capitulated today. He said he is ready to end Katanga's secession, cooperate loyally with the United Nations and let U.N. troops rove where they will throughout the province.

From his war capital in Kolwezi, Tshombe appealed to Premier Cyrille Adoula's central Congo government for amnesty for himself and all his followers in their 30 months of independence. Bitterness of the long fight, however, was reflected in a riot of Congolese youths against the British Embassy in Leopoldville.

About 1,000 Africans, with a core of 200 university students, sacked the embassy in protest against alleged British support for Tshombe's and Katanga's secession. They smashed windows. Files were stripped and hurled into the street.

Robert K. A. Gardiner of Ghana, chief of U.N. operations in the Congo, intervened personally to stop it, when Congolese police failed to take a hand. British Ambassador Derek Riches protested strongly to the Congolese Foreign Ministry. Riches said some members of his staff were injured.

Tshombe's declaration was relayed by the South African Press Association and Rene Thierry, a Belgian radio correspondent.

"We are ready to declare to the world that the Katanga secession is over," Tshombe said. "We are prepared to give the United Nations troops freedom of movement throughout Katanga."

Tshombe said he is prepared to return to Elisabethville "to settle the modalities of the application" of U.N. Secretary-General U Thant's plan for Congo unification. Modalities means methods for the discharge of an obligation.

"It is our request," the statement continued, "that the president of the Congo Republic and the prime minister should, when this statement is issued, put into force the amnesty provided for in the U Thant plan in order to guarantee the security and liberty of Katanga, all their officials and agents and all the people who have worked under them."

Congress Seems Set To Vote Cut in Taxes

EAST GERMAN RED CONGRESS OPENS ... Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev joins in applause with other Red leaders at opening of East German Communist Party Congress in East Berlin. More Detailed Proposals on Plan Awaited

By JACK BELL WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress registered unmistakable signs today it intends to accept President Kennedy's invitation to cut taxes this year.

But members awaited more concrete details than the President provided in Monday's State of the Union message before committing themselves to his three-year program to lower taxes by $13.5 billion and recoup $3.5 billion by revenue law reforms.

He is expected to send a special message on taxes to Congress, possibly as early as Jan. 24.

Almost every member of the House and Senate favored reducing taxes. Although a solid segment demanded reductions in spending, too, few appeared to believe they would be forthcoming.

Another group said Kennedy proposed too big a break for individuals, who would share in $11 billion of the reductions, whereas business would get only $2.5 billion.

A storm seemed certain to break when the administration spells out its proposed loophole-closing provisions.

Some sources expect him to ask for the lowering of family items such as deductions for medical expenses, deductions for state and local sales taxes, interest on mortgage payments and joint returns filed by married couples.

Some members of Congress have heard that among other things, Kennedy may ask for a thorough overhauling of depletion allowances which affect 100 products.

The oil industry would be certain to throw its powerful weight against a proposal to limit drastically its 27 1/2 per cent depletion allowance.

The President's submission of a budget of around $99 billion on Thursday will whet the controversy over whether it is wise to vote tax cuts—with no comparable spending reductions — when a whopping deficit is in prospect.

Kennedy said his program of tax reductions and reforms was aimed at producing ultimately "a balanced budget in a balanced full employment economy." Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said instead the country may be looking down the throat of a three-year deficit of about $30 billion.

In his 43-minute speech to the House and Senate, Kennedy put so much emphasis on his tax program that other matters were relatively obscured.

Congressional liberals muttered — the Democrats mostly to themselves and the Republicans publicly — about Kennedy's relatively brief dismissal of the social welfare issues he has pounded in the past.

The President devoted only two sentences to educational needs, omitting any specific mention of federal school aid.

Red China Reported Rejecting Peace Plea

PLEA TO LEGISLATORS

Action Urged On Buildings

ST. PAUL (AP) — Welfare and veterans groups today joined in a campaign for fast legislative action on repassage of the 1961 state building bill.

Their action came in the wake of reports that some legislators wanted to take a closer look at the building program, thus threatening a delay in start of many projects.

Gerald R. Walsh, Minneapolis, executive director of the Minnesota Association for Retarded Children, said: "We are concerned over the desire by some legislators to delay repassage of the building bill."

"There are critical needs at institutions for the mentally retarded which must be met as soon as possible. Patients are housed in old buildings which are considered fire traps. Two buildings scheduled to be replaced by a new building are so primitive that members of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Mental Retardation were shocked."

"The bill includes appropriations for additional buildings at the Brainerd State School and Hospital to meet needs of close to 700 on the waiting list and eliminate overcrowded conditions at Fairbault and Cambridge State Schools and Hospitals."

At the Fairbault school, Walsh said, 700 patients are housed in substandard facilities.

Donald M. Miller, department commander of the American Legion, said: "Leaders in the American Legion are hopeful that the Legislature presently in session will take action as soon as possible and will

Ulbricht Says Reds Will Gain Against West

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

BERLIN (AP) — East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht told world Communist chieftains today that communism will continue to flourish in Cuba and intends to extend itself in the Western Hemisphere.

With Soviet Premier Khrushchev listening from the platform, the spade-headed East German denounced Red China's attacks on the Soviet leader's policies. He credited him with saving the world from nuclear war by compromising the Cuban crisis with President Kennedy.

In his opening address to East Germany's sixth Communist party congress, Ulbricht also proposed a vague solution for the problem of divided Berlin. He said the United Nations flag should replace the "NATO flag" in West Berlin but that any such arrangement must recognize East German "sovereignty, especially on the access routes on the land, water and in the air."

Ulbricht also called on Peking and India to settle their border dispute at once. He criticized the Chinese Reds for launching their border operation against India in October without consulting other Communist states.

Khrushchev's handling of the Cuban crisis, Ulbricht said, "prevented the world from experiencing the horrors of nuclear war." Khrushchev nodded agreement.

State Fires Leave Score Homeless in Bitter Cold

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS More than a score of Minnesotans were homeless after fires destroyed or heavily damaged several homes as the mercury sank to new low marks in the state.

Most of the blazes were attributed to heating plants pushed beyond their limits by householders seeking to fight the record cold. Firemen also were generally handicapped by frozen water lines and inability to move as swiftly as normal in the overpowering chill.

At Shakopee, a dozen members of the Lambert Van Epps family lost nearly all their household possessions and personal belongings when fire leveled the two-story stone and wood Murphy House, a landmark dating back to post-Civil War days.

The Van Epps and their 10 children, 6 to 19, fled into sub-zero cold with only what they had on their backs. The Shakopee Sportsmen's Club occupied first floor quarters and the family lived upstairs. The 100-year-old structure, surrounded by a chartered attic, was owned by the Shakopee Historical Society.

Mr. and Mrs. Beauford Klerdon managed to get their children, 5, 4, 3 and 2, out safely before flames roared through their two-story home at White Bear Lake. They were being quartered temporarily at a motel there.

Two firemen were treated for frostbite on Monday night after fire destroyed the Duluth home of Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson, who set their loss at $12,000.

An overheated wood stove was blamed for the blaze that razed the two-story farmhouse where Donald Willard lived alone eight miles west of Mankato.

Firemen from Nicollet found the dwelling beyond salvage when they arrived and Willard saved only a few articles carried out by volunteers. He was absent at the time and neighbors sounded the alarm, salvaged what they could before flames engulfed the place.

More Than 50 Storm Deaths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Winter's longest and most widespread siege of cold weather, which has caused heavy damage to crops and property and was blamed for more than 50 deaths persisted today in many parts of the nation.

The Midwest, hit by sub-zero blasts for several days, got a fresh mass of arctic air. Temperatures plunged to near 40 degrees below zero in northern Wisconsin and were 20 below and lower in much of Wisconsin and Minnesota.

The new surge of icy air which spread southeastward from Canada into the Midwest headed eastward into the Ohio Valley and the lower Great Lakes region. Colder weather was indicated eastward into western New York and western Pennsylvania.

The sub-zero belt covered areas

Tax Cut for Many Would Be 20-30 Percent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury Department says President Kennedy's tax cut proposals, if enacted, would mean reductions of 20 to 30 per cent for many persons with incomes of $20,000 or less.

In tables released Monday night showing what Kennedy's proposals would mean for certain taxpayers, the Treasury noted that the figures do not show the effect of certain changes to be proposed later in tax treatment of some types of income.

Also, the department said, the tables apply only to taxpayers claiming the standard 10 per cent deduction.

Following are examples of changes under the proposed tax cut:

BUSINESS DIPS BECAUSE OF NEWS STRIKE—Phil Simon stands behind counter in his luncheonette in the Queens section of New York City with few newspapers to sell and with his business off $600 to $700 a week. The strike of the city's nine major newspapers has affected thousands of small stores in the metropolitan area as they lean heavily on daily paper sales to attract buyers for other products. Blackout Blues

No Papers, Business Dips

By ED DENNEHY
NEW YORK (AP)—My business is off $600 to $700 weekly. "Because I have almost no evening papers, most of my regular customers have lost the habit of dropping in afternoons and evenings. Cigars, cigarettes, candy, soda fountain, short order meals—all these are off."

"You can say I'm singing the blackout blues," the newspaper blackout, that is, I've had a month-long headache, and I'm not kidding. Some of the stores like this have had a 50 per cent drop in business. Luckily, I haven't been hit that bad."

Phil Simon is proprietor of a small luncheonette located in the Queens section of New York City. He usually has a quick smile and a bright quip. A frown often creases his face these days as he tries to cope with the effects of the newspaper strike. Like other dealers he has been able to get deliveries of Newark and Philadelphia papers and this helps.

The luncheonette is in an excellent business location at the eastern end of the 6th and 8th Ave. subway system that traverses the city. Thousands of commuters come by car or bus from scores of suburban Long Island communities to get the subway for the boring, jolting ride into Manhattan.

"Before the strike, they would buy a New York paper or two to make the 30 to 45 minutes spent on the subway an interesting period," Simon said. "Many would break the trip from Long Island by having breakfast or a cup of coffee here. On the way out they'd get their smokes for the day. Many people now dash right into the subway without stopping."

Simon was interrupted by a well-dressed man who picked up the Newark Star-Ledger and handed him a nickel. "Star-Ledger's a dime," Simon said. "A dime? What are you doing—profiteering?"

"Listen, go someplace else. They'll charge you 15 cents. I make no profit selling out-of-state papers for 10 cents. I'm doing my customers a favor," Simon said. "Aggravations like this all day long," Simon sighed. "I'm only able to get a limited number of out-of-state papers from these guys who buy them at the plants and bring them into the city."

"Some of my customers already they're experts on editions of the Philadelphia Inquirer, the Newark Evening News, the Star-Ledger. They'll say, 'Hey, that's an early edition I want a later one.' I tell 'em, 'Brother, take it or leave it. It'll go fast.' People are so hungry for good papers that I think the Boston, Chicago or West Coast dailies would move quickly, if I could get them."

Simon's spot is only a few blocks from the Long Island Press building. Ironically, he can't get deliveries of this daily paper. The Press is publishing editions only for Nassau and Suffolk counties out on Long Island.

Newsday, published in suburban Garden City, is delivered to the store. But Simon is able to get only the same amount he received daily before the strike started.

What's his biggest single problem?

"The loss of the New York afternoon papers. I sold 700 copies of the Journal-American, Post, Press and World Telegram & Sun nightly. Now I get 50 copies of the Newark Evening News from the dealer. The store often is as quiet as a morgue from 3 p.m. on. To cut the overhead, I've had to lay off one man, reduce another man's hours and close up earlier."

ENTERPRISE
MIAMI (AP)—A street corner newsboy had just been delivered two large bundles of papers. It was a windy afternoon and he was struggling to hold down the papers when a motorist honked and asked for a paper.

The newsboy thought a moment, pulled off his shoes, put one on each bundle and ran in stocking feet to his customer.

Identical Twins In Queen Race

Judith K. Baker

Jane K. Baker

By HAROLD KNOLL
Daily News Staff Writer

Winona Winter Carnival queen contest judges will do a double take this week when they judge the latest two entries—Judith K. Baker and Jane K. Baker.

Yes, for the first time in the contest's history identical twins have entered.

Each girl is 20 years old, 5 feet 4, weighs 118 pounds, wears a size 10 dress, has light brown hair, blue eyes, is a graduate of Winona Senior High School, enjoys sewing, music, dancing and boating and hopes to travel. The twins are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Baker, 550 W. Bellevue St.

The only difference between the girls is in employment and contest sponsoring.

Jane is sponsored by the Oaks and works in the display advertising department of the Winona Daily News. Judith is sponsored by the Steak Shop and is a cashier at Ted Maier Drug.

ROBERT A. Wiczorek, queen contest chairman who is known for his diplomacy in handling protests from disappointed contestants, said today he didn't know what he'd say to the loser if the judges picked one of the twins as queen.

Could there be two queens?

Payrolls Here In December Top for Month

Winona employment totaled 10,588 in mid-December, a record high for that month and only 104 under last month's all-time high of 10,692.

This was announced by Ray H. Brown, local manager of the State Employment Service.

"EMPLOYMENT throughout the various industrial categories continued high to the year's end," Brown said. "The only declines were due to seasonal curtailments in construction and manufacturing. Retail trade pushed to the year's high point. Falling employment is forecast for January and February when cold weather shuts down much of the outdoor activity."

"Manufacturing, which had been at all-time peaks for the previous three months, dropped slightly during December. Although this category fell by 140 from the all-time November top, it was, nevertheless, the highest December level ever recorded. Off-season curtailments accounted for the slight slowdown. Food processing, textiles, concrete products and wood products netted small losses. The usual seasonal declines are expected to continue during the next 30 to 60 days."

Brown said retail trade employment reached the year's high because of employment of temporary holiday workers. Retail employment will settle back this month.

CONSTRUCTION declined sharply at year's end because cold weather forced curtailment of operations on highway construction and reduction of crews on other building projects. A further drop is expected in January and February.

Labor demand slackened in December. But there was a continued heavy need for stenographers and other office workers. Labor supply rose to about 1,100 at the end of December. Of these persons seeking jobs through Brown's office, 400 were women and about 125 were students and others seeking part-time jobs.

Here's a five-year roundup of mid-December employment: 1962, 10,588; 1961, 10,263; 1960, 9,888; 1959, 9,688; 1958, 9,943.

Black River Falls Reports 50 Below

By C. GORDON HOLTE
Daily News Staff Writer

You didn't hear many jokes about the weather in Winona this morning; with the mercury depressed to deep-freeze readings in the 30-below range it was just too cold to be funny.

Power lines snapped, storm windows shattered and fuel lines froze in marrow-chilling cold from which federal forecasters see no immediate relief for the Winona area.

Winona's official low at the Weather Bureau's reporting station off Franklin Street was 31 below at 8 a.m., the coldest temperature recorded here in 12 years. At noon it was still —15.

This was comparatively balmy, however, compared with the 50-below dip at an official Weather Bureau station at Black River Falls, Wis.

Out at Max Conrad Field, North Central Airlines reported a 35-below reading at 8 a.m. and elsewhere in the area unofficial reports were received of temperatures ranging downward to 55 below, that at Taylor, Wis.

Cloudless, brittle blue skies over Winona this morning were partially obscured by an ice fog that draped the city. The fog, a phenomenon observed in periods of extremely frigid weather, is caused by minute ice crystals suspended in the air. Adding to the haze were billowing clouds of vapor from exhausts of motor vehicles whose motors were left running in parking places along the streets.

Today's cold that gripped Winona had spilled from the North Pole where weathermen say a high pressure system is centered with its edges trailing down on either side of the globe.

While a moderating trend is expected tonight in South Dakota and Iowa, the Winona area can expect virtually no relief until Wednesday at the earliest with readings of between 15 and 25 below predicted for tonight.

In numerous communities in Southeastern Minnesota and Western Wisconsin fires and power failures added to the misery of the bitter cold.

On the Wisconsin side of the river, at nearby Marshland and Bluff Siding, and at Galesville, there was a power outage for about an hour early this morning, believed caused by a line break resulting from the cold.

At Durand, Wis., where an unofficial reading of —39 was reported, volunteer firemen were called to put out a chimney fire on a farm owned by the Dreyse Sisters, 4 1/2 miles from Durand, near Eau Claire. There was no damage to the house. Durand public and parochial schools, as well as those at Arkansaw and Eau Claire, were in session this morning.

A little farther south, at Plum City, Wis., residents reported 46-below readings and schools were closed. At Wabasha, Minn., it was —38.

A report that a barn was burning sent the Lewiston, Minn., fire department out in 30-below temperatures shortly after midnight.

When firemen arrived at the Molly Fischer farm they found that a heater on a stock water lank, some 15 feet from the barn, was burning, and the reflection had prompted neighbors to believe the barn was afire.

The Lewiston public school was open but a bus carrying children from the Silo area to Lewiston was about an hour late.

At Whitehall, Wis., where schools were closed today, the temperature seemed to depend on where you were standing and at whose thermometer you were looking. Reports from there included readings of from 40 to 50 below.

A Coral City, Wis., resident, Theron Scott, said his thermometer dropped to 45 below and Black River Falls' official reading was 50 below.

The Blair, Wis., weather observer, Earl Gunelson, said it was down to 35 below there while Norman Thompson, a farmer living at Blair Creek, between Ettrick and Blair, found that it was eight degrees colder there. Blair schools were in session.

Trempealeau County's ASC office manager, Henrik Henness, lives on a farm near Whitehall and has a government thermometer which registered 41 below this morning.

Among communities in which schools were closed because of the cold were Minnesota City, where the mercury dipped to 37 below, Mondovi, Osseo, Eleva, Strum, Wis., and Houston, Minn.

Here in WINONA, frost-encrusted cars, "died by the cold, stood at curbside parking places as icy monuments to the coldest Jan. 15 here since 1908.

In the city, the mercury began its drop Monday afternoon from a high reading of 4 below and its downward course was charted by the hour at the airport where the maximum was two degrees colder at 2 p.m. Tuesday.

By 9 p.m. the airlines thermometer — which registers readings only down to 40 below — showed 18 below and it was 24 below by 11 p.m.

If any solace can be realized from this, a check of weather records shows that it's been a lot colder in Winona — but not too frequently.

THE COLDEST January day on record is Jan. 18, 1873, when the city shivered in 43 below weather, while in 1951 there was a 32-below reading on Jan. 20. The coldest Jan. 15 was in 1888 when there was a drop to 32 below.

The coldest it got last winter was 28 below on March 1 and 2. Last January can be recalled as downright pleasant with no temperature lower than the 18 below read on the night of the 20th.

A year ago today the mercury soared to 26 — above, that is — which was still 20 degrees colder than the record high for Jan. 15 set in 1953.

The mean temperature for the 24-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today was 16 below. The normal mean for this date is 16 above.

Medical Society Elects; Polio Clinic Planned

Dr. Roger F. Hartwich was elected president of the Winona County Medical Society Monday at the annual dinner at the Williams Hotel.

He succeeds Dr. Warren Haesly. Dr. Orest N. Filipovich was elected vice president and Dr. Herbert Heise was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Dr. Louis Wilson, Rushford, was elected a delegate to the state house of delegates. Elected an alternate was Dr. Howard Satterlee, Lewiston. Dr. Lewis I. Younger was elected to the board of trustees. Dr. John Tweedy was chairman of the nominating committee.

Dr. Hartwich announced that the Sabon oral polio clinic will be held soon, weather permitting. The date is to be announced. The clinic had been postponed previously. The charge will be 25 cents for each dose.

A film on coronary heart disease was shown. Twenty-five doctors and their wives attended.

Public Invited To Meeting With City Candidates

All 13 candidates involved in the city primary election Feb. 4 will be on a public program at the American Legion Memorial Club tonight.

Donald V. Gray, Leon J. Wetzel and others invited the public to attend the program at 8:30 o'clock. He said that each candidate will be introduced for a brief talk about his candidacy and the issues. No questioning will be permitted from the floor. Past commanders of the post will introduce each of the candidates.

The commander said that Mayor N. K. Ellings also had accepted an invitation to attend. Lyle Haney is in charge of the program.

The post will hold a brief business meeting at 8 p.m.

Hospital Trustees Attend Institute

A hospital trustees' institute in Mankato Monday was attended by five Community Memorial Hospital directors and Earl W. Hagberg, hospital administrator.

The institute was sponsored by the 6th District Council of the Minnesota Hospital Association. Hagberg, immediate past district president, gave the welcoming speech to conferees at the Viking Motel.

James A. Hamilton, University of Minnesota director of program in hospital administration, spoke on "The Role of the Hospital Trustee." E. J. Sievers, president of the Community Memorial Hospital board, was a member of a five-man panel which discussed the topic following the speech.

Other hospital board members attending from Winona were E. H. Finkelnburg, J. J. Kleinschmidt, William P. Theurer and W. P. Werner.

Utica Girl Named

UTICA, Minn.—A Utica girl has been elected chairman of the recreation and events committee of the Southeast District of the Minnesota Extension Young Adult Citizens Council. Donna Edwards was chosen at Fairbault Saturday. Judy Solberg, Houston County, was named chairman of the educational program committee. Marilyn Reinke, Rochester, Olmsted County president and outgoing district officer, was among those attending.

On $10 Bet

Sleeps Outside And Likes It

Today's weather story was one of overworked furnaces, tired trucks and college students.

A Winona area student at Luther College, Decorah, Iowa, paid off a $10 bet on the weather today.

David Miller, Harmony, Minn., bet his roommate, Tom Artes, Perth, Iowa, that he couldn't spend the night outside in a sleeping bag. Despite 38-below temperatures, however, Artes sacked in outside and remained there through the night to collect the bet. He said this morning he slept only a few hours; part of the time he was listening to his transistor radio to find out how cold it was outside.

One Winona service station was besieged by calls for towing service from owners of stalled cars. The calls went unanswered, though. The station's tow truck wouldn't start this morning.

Filling stations reported a brisk business in anti-freeze today. Many cars were protected for temperatures down to 25 below but needed to be fortified still more when the mercury plunged past 30 below.

Motorists fortunate enough to have their cars start this morning didn't take any chances on having them stall later. The early morning coffee and breakfast crowd left their cars' engines running when they parked and vapor from exhausts reduced visibility along 3rd Street for a time to almost zero.

H. K. Kurvers Jr., Winona manager of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co., reported a record number of local calls placed this morning, many of them placed by Winonans calling offices, cab companies and service stations when their cars wouldn't start. Kurvers didn't have a tally of all calls because most of them are placed by dial operation but central office equipment indicated a record volume of calls.

PRESTON, Minn.—The office of Fillmore County superintendent of schools is now vacant, the term of Mrs. Robert Fisher having expired the first of the year.

She chose not to run again and there was no other candidate for the office.

The office can be filled by appointment of the county board. An appointee must have at least an elementary principal's certificate.

It Happened Last Night Star Has Chicken Pox at Age 50

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — We bring you another flash on the chicken pox of "Mr. President" — Robert Ryan, the handsome leading man who thought, because he was 50, he could not possibly have the so-called "children's disease."

"I'm still shaky and weak," he grinned feebly at the St. James Theatre, where he's back in the show and Presiding every night. "I had 103 temperature — I was in bed four days," he said. "At night when I finish the show I'm supposed to bundle up and go right home, and back to bed."

"One trouble was, when I got these spots, I didn't know whether I'd ever had chicken pox. Well, I know something now — I've had chicken pox! Another thing," he said, "everybody thinks this is very funny — but me!"

Marilyn Maxwell thinks she's got her health back and will do a Red Skelton TV show next month. However, she isn't sure whether she's still in possession of Rock Hudson, despite her remarkable hold on him — for Eddie Adams (of New Jersey!) has been seeing him lately. Warren Beatty and Natalie Wood are acting very much like the marrying kind, but some close friends don't think it'll happen. "It would seem to be due in the spring after Natalie's divorce from Robert Wagner," Beatty's hunting a N.Y. apartment. Billy Rose's wife Joyce Mathews, who spent several months in Switzerland, then joined him here for the holidays, is going back to Switzerland again — for several more months.

CHARLIE MOSCONI, the ex-vaudeville dancer, brother of Will Mosconi, the billiard whiz, was "Lambasted" by the Lambs Club in a spectacular stag session. Comedian Jack Waldron started out saying, "Can you imagine anybody giving this bum a party when Bernard Baruch's sitting alone on a park bench?" And Rube Brown, the veteran actor, said, "I'd dearly love to play golf with my friend Charlie. He can throw a 7-iron farther than most people can hit a golf ball."

Rosemary Clooney, who never fell out of love with Jose Ferrer, is reported ready to take him back in a big reconciliation which he requested in numerous phone calls from Europe. Eddie Fisher didn't want to seem to be courting publicity about it. But he went quietly to Guantanamo to entertain the boys. While Inger Stevens is playing the Barbara Bel Geddes role in "Mary, Mary," Diana Lynn is warming up in rehearsals to take over when Inger leaves in a couple of weeks.

BILLY ROSE—who owns about $10,000,000 worth of A.T.&T. stock —has quietly bought approximately $1,000,000 worth of N.Y. Central. "Those are the only two stocks I own or intend to own as of now," Billy has confided to Broadway friends. "I've got my position in N.Y. Central and I'm happy." Billy had his stock ticker removed from his office several weeks ago—saying he felt quite safe with the stocks he owned and was going to abandon ticker-tapping to devote his time to running the Ziegfeld and Billy Rose Theatres.

"I heard President Kennedy on TV," reported Mickey Albert, the theatrical agent, "and he's getting to sound more like Vaughn-Meador all the time."

A pest who had met Jack Carter many years ago and thought Jack should remember the distant occasion rushed up and said to Jack, "What's my name? What's my name?" Jack retorted, "If you're too stupid to remember, I'm not going to tell you."

EARL'S PEARLS: "A dentist is a strange type of chap. He asks a woman to open her mouth." (M. W. Larmour.)

TODAY'S SADDEST LAUGH: Oscar Homolka says he saw a "modern western" on TV recently — the Indians attacked a newspaper office. But they found it abandoned.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Diets, says the plump lady down the street, are for people who are thick and tired of it (Emporia Gazette).

Clive Revill, that brilliant fellow in "Oliver," says he came across what evidently was a very, very old magazine on a New York newsstand. It didn't have one nude girl in it anywhere... That's earl, brother.

Business Asks Cut in Spending With Tax Slash

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Business figures generally were agreed Monday that President Kennedy's plans for a tax reduction should be tied in with cuts in federal spending.

Joseph W. Simpson Jr., president of the First Wisconsin National Bank, said, "It is encouraging that a steeply graduated personal income tax rate and an excessive corporate rate are being recognized as a drag on the economy. What is needed is tax revision, not just tax reductions, most importantly accompanied by a cut in government spending."

Robert A. Evans, executive vice president and secretary of the Wisconsin Manufacturers Association, said, "From my discussions with industrial executives, I conclude they would prefer tax reductions tied in with assured corresponding reductions in spending."

George Gordon, a Racine manufacturer, said, "Despite the proposed corporate cuts, I don't look for too much relief in the way of corporate savings in the overall tax picture — not when you consider the increased costs of state and local governments." He said personal income tax cuts would "create more incentive."

Robert Spitzer, president of Murphy Co., a Burlington feed firm, said "certainly business needs a tax climate in which we can compete domestically as well as with our foreign friends, but there also is urgent need for sensible government spending."

It could also use a department of agriculture, vitamin A in its infant dry milk, colored postcards, more three-day weekends, a new version of the Star-Spangled Banner, and Grandmother's Day.

These, at least, are gaps in the national scene noted by members of the House of Representatives who have rushed to fill them in the opening moments of the 86th Congress.

Although the House has been in session only about six hours, some 2,000 bills have already been introduced. They deal with almost every subject imaginable, including using Social Security records to locate runaway parents.

This is a suggestion of Rep. Abraham J. Muller, D-N.Y., who could function pretty well as a one-man legislature. He already has 173 bills in.

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., would like more holidays to fall on Monday and has a bill making that the official day for observing Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day, Independence Day and Veterans Day.

Besides Grandmother's Day, there are those who think we should observe Shu-Jus Day, Purple Heart Day, Children's Day, Food Service Week, Senior Citizens Month and Welded Products Month.

Rep. Lindley Beekworth, D-Tex., is fearful the new higher postal rates will prevent elderly pensioners from communicating with their families. He is seeking a colored penny postcard for strictly personal messages.

There are bills to help Indians, artists, nurses, ducks, veterans, page boys, Bills to get the United States out of the United Nations and retire the national debt.

And there is a measure by Rep. Vernon W. Thomson, R-Wis. All he would like is a little national recognition for the Circus World Museum at Baraboo, Wis.

About 85 percent of the nation's public school boards are elected and the remaining 15 percent appointed, a study by the U.S. Office of Education has disclosed.

Voice of the Outdoors

Wisconsin Beaver
There will be a one-month open season for trapping beaver and other in Wisconsin counties along this sector of the Mississippi, Stanley Agel, Buffalo County conservation warden, has been notified by the state department.

Both seasons will open Feb. 15 and run through March 16, with the season limit 20 beaver and two otter. The usual tag and license arrangement will prevail.

Lands of the Upper Mississippi River Wildlife and Fish Refuge, within Wisconsin in the open zone, will also be open under the permit system. Donald Gray, refuge manager, stated. No information is yet available on the Minnesota beaver season.

Fishhouse Hazard
Below and near zero weather has created a new hazard to winter fisherman, the Wisconsin Conservation Department warns. It is dangerous to fish from oil or gas stoves in the houses. Fishermen reduce ventilation to keep warm, and unknowingly become victims of gases.

"We have been checking houses on the ice in Buffalo County," Agel said, "and have found several bad ones. Fishermen report having headaches, becoming drowsy and getting sick. Wood fires are best."

River Eskimos
Three hundred fishermen enjoyed coon fishing at the Buffalo County Sportsmen's contest on Spring Lake near Buffalo City Sunday afternoon. Crappies, sunnies and perch were hitting. The big sunfish went 11 ounces.

Financially, due to the hard work of the members of the seven clubs in the group, the contest was a success. More advance tickets were sold than a year ago. The stocking campaigns depend on the fund and now can be continued despite the small crowd on the ice.

Happy Hunting Grounds
Now and then we get a letter from someone, who upon retirement, has found his "dream" come true. Not so many local residents will recall John L. Lundberg, first ranger hired by the Upper Mississippi River Wildlife and Fish Refuge and stationed at Wahabasha and later at Prairie du Chien. John's address is now, John L. Lundberg, P.O. Box 75, Oakridge, Ore. We are passing on to his friends and to our readers in general who have a longing for the west, part of John's letter as follows:

"I have nothing that keeps me tied down—retired two years ago and have been doing nothing but hunt and fish ever since. This is an ideal spot for it as Oakridge is in the heart of the Willamette National Forest which is an area about the same size as the state of Delaware and most of it is still as virgin as when Columbus came over. I can look out of my window and see places that perhaps never had a human foot on them."

"Anyway it makes for lots of elbow room. We have elk hunting within ten miles of here, deer and bear in our back yard, cougar, bobcat and wolves all over. I shot a mule deer a year ago that just missed getting first in our local contest by a half inch on horn spread. It dressed out at 235 pounds and it was in rough country. A friend and I worked all one day getting it to my car."

"One of the local boys took a 25-pound brown trout out of one of the Des Chutes River reservoirs and believe it or not, it was taken on a fly."

Big Barn Burns At Pine River
PINE RIVER, Minn. (AP) — Fire Monday destroyed a 32-80 dairy barn at Raymond Tulenich's farm 10 miles southwest of here.

Thirty-six dairy cows and five of younger cattle died in the fire, and loss included milking machines, a milk cooler, barn cleaning machinery and a large amount of hay.

Tulenich was unable to estimate his loss.

Car Left Running Plunges Into River
DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Stanley B. Blegen, 36, of Superior, Wis., started his car, weighed the accelerator and then went into the waterfront restaurant where he works to wait for the vehicle to warm up.

When he returned, the car was gone from the dock where it had been parked.

Police answering Blegen's stolen auto complaint found a gap in a guard rail and the car slowing sinking through the ice of St. Louis Bay. They believe the vehicle, declared a total loss, slipped into gear accidentally.

Nation in for Shock On Tax Crackdown

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Brace yourself for a shock when President Kennedy spells out to Congress, later this month, the $3.5 billion worth of reforms he wants tied to tax reduction.

The loopholes he would close may be your own. They may range all the way from the stock options given to corporation heads right on down to the common income tax deductions long available to every middle-income householder.

At least a score of proposals to "broaden the tax base"—meaning, to make more income subject to tax—and curtail or erase "unfair or unnecessary preferences" have been under study at the Treasury since Kennedy took office.

Just which ones the President will request, to offset in part the revenues lost by his three-year plan to reduce taxes by $13.5 billion, remain a well-kept Treasury secret. Kennedy gave no hints in his State of the Union message to Congress Monday.

In any event, tax specialists at the Capitol predict that Congress won't give all, or even nearly all, that Kennedy wants. It would be much easier politically to give less tax cut and less reform, they point out, thus arriving at the same deficit with less pain.

Least popular politically, among the proposals known to be under study, are income tax deductions which most families have come to consider a matter of justice and right. Nevertheless, Kennedy may request the pruning of some of these:

1. Deductions for medical outlays and casualty losses.
2. Deductions for sales and excise taxes paid to state and city governments.
3. The interest on mortgage payments.

4. The privilege enjoyed by married couples of filing joint returns which split their income and reduce their total tax. Single persons pay much more on the same income.

Kennedy's targets are very likely to include some other tax provisions at which reform advocates have been shooting for years—the capital gains rate, depletion allowances, stock options, tax-free state and municipal bonds, and the $50 exclusion and 4 per cent tax credit on stock dividends.

The President specified one of religious motives behind Sunday's coup and claiming they had not intended to slay President Sylvanus Olympio.

The junta seemed intent on handing over power to someone else as soon as possible. It was expected to choose a new government chief from among:

Former Premier Nicholas Grunsky, 49, a brother-in-law of Olympio and a leader of the Progress party opposed to Olympio's administration. He reportedly was the junta's first choice.

Idrissou Antoine Meatchi, 27, a former opposition leader in the Togo Assembly who has been in self-exile in Ghana.

Anani Santo, a former justice minister, imprisoned after he resigned in 1961 to lead a dissident youth wing of Olympio's party. His Juvento party seeks close ties with Ghana.

Emmanuel Bodjolle, a former sergeant in the French colonial army, told newsmen that the revolution was engineered by disgruntled former colonial soldiers, all Togolese, who could find no place in an independent Togo.

U.S. Embassy reports to Washington told of army dissatisfaction over low pay and the demobilization of troops formerly in the French military forces. The Togo army consists of about 1,000 soldiers.

Bodjolle took credit for Sunday's coup and presided over a nine-member "insurrectional committee" of army men. He said they wanted to establish a legal civil government of a provisional nature.

President Olympio's death was not planned, Bodjolle said. Bodjolle did not disclose how many politicians were under arrest, but the capital was quiet. Togo has 1.5 million people.

Proposed Tax Cut Should Spur Economy

FOR YEARS, high income taxes have worked against economic expansion of our nation.

Now President Kennedy, proposing to do something about it, asked in his State of the Union message to Congress Monday, that income taxes be slashed $13.5 billion in three annual steps between now and 1965.

For several days prior to the message, it appeared he might not ask for a large enough cut.

This newspaper feels that his tax proposal goes a long way in the right direction. It provides a break for all taxpayers regardless of income level. Only with a large cut, such as he asked for, will the economy be given enough of a spirit to make a tax cut worthwhile.

THOSE IN THE lower and middle economic brackets will help the economy by using their additional income to buy products and satisfy unsatisfied desires adding considerable impetus to the consumer economy. Those in the upper brackets, who already have satisfied most of the basic human desires that money will pay for, will invest their tax savings in the American economy. The combination of these two factors can lead to greater economic growth than most persons dream of. It is remarkable that the growth that has occurred came in spite of the depressing effect of high income taxation.

Most people, ourselves included, would prefer to see some substantial cuts in federal spending to accompany tax reduction, but even if expenditures are not cut, a tax cut is desirable. Over a period of several years, the growth of the economy should more than offset initial losses to the treasury.

We would prefer, however, to see a different approach to taxation of corporations. The President suggests lowering the top corporate rate to 47 percent from the present 52 percent. While it is desirable to lower the top rate, all but the smallest corporations are now paying income taxes at the same rates as the largest ones. A graduated income tax similar to that paid by individuals should be applied to corporations with lower rates applied to small and medium corporations. This would encourage the growth of new business ventures.

ALL IN ALL, we agree with the President's income tax proposal, but it would be a sounder move if non-military spending were cut at the same time.

Minnesota Rail Crossing Mishaps Analyzed

DURING THE FIRST nine months of 1962, 161 railroad grade crossing accidents in Minnesota resulted in 24 fatalities and 94 persons injured.

In the full year of 1961, 210 railroad crossing accidents took 30 lives and injured 140. This record low in fatalities is a great improvement over the period 1950 through 1959, when 2,260 railroad grade crossing accidents occurred in Minnesota, killing 435 persons and injuring 1,426 for an average of 226 accidents and 435 fatalities.

In the whole United States in 1961, 1,225 persons were killed in railroad grade crossing motor vehicle accidents, which is a decrease of six percent from the previous year, compared with Minnesota's decrease of only four percent.

IN THE FIRST NINE months of 1960—the same comparable period on which the 1962 study was made—there were 145 grade crossing accidents killing 24 persons and injuring 102. Thus the death toll for 1962 and 1960 are equal, but with eight less personal injuries despite an increase of 16 in the number of accidents.

Collisions between motor vehicles and railroad trains gather much public attention, perhaps because of the severity and finality involved which finds as many as seven persons or entire families perishing in a single collision.

This type of accident is probably the most needless of all types of motor vehicle collisions. The railroad train consisting of a diesel locomotive weighing about 120 tons and cars weighing about 50 tons each, has its own network of private roads, so to speak, and one from which these trains cannot swerve to avoid a collision.

It is possible to completely eradicate this type of accident since it depends upon a single motor vehicle driver behind the wheel who needs only to stop, look in both directions, and listen before proceeding across the tracks. Records show, however, that many drivers are not alerted to this responsibility.

WASHINGTON CALLING

No Freedom if Press Is Dark

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—The news blackout in New York and Cleveland has produced jibes from parts of the world where authoritarian control of the left or the right is exercised over the press. You say you have freedom of the press, these jibes go, but what about this claim when in two of your leading cities there is no right to print?

With no end in sight in either city, the newspaper strikes are causing serious concern over the validity of what has long been considered a constitutional guarantee. If it can be abrogated for an indefinite time by one or more unions then it must be considered a highly qualified guarantee if it is in fact a guarantee at all.

The President, the secretary of labor, the governor of New York and the mayor of New York City have all undertaken to help bring an end to the conflict in New York between the printers and the publishers. Their efforts have been in vain, with Bertram A. Powers, president of the New York Typographical Union, refusing to participate in a study of the dispute by a Board of Public Accountability named by Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and Mayor Robert Wagner.

AS THE news blackout goes into the second month with increasing hardship and inconvenience extending far beyond the employees immediately affected, thought is being given to how, if and when the strikes are settled, a way can be found to insure that this cannot happen in the future. In short, how can the guarantee of the right to utter and the right to print be made real in an era when powerful trade unions control the vital processes in the complex business of publishing a metropolitan newspaper.

An example is under study here in which both labor and publishers got together in agreement that freedom of the press was a right at least equal to that of freedom of labor. And, what is more, they did something about it.

In 1947 printers strike shut down the newspapers in Copenhagen, Denmark, for four months. Vincent Naeser, an owner of the Berlingske Tidende, one of Europe's most influential and distinguished newspapers, asked Professor Hakon Strangerup of the Copenhagen Graduate School of Economics to conduct an inquiry into the economics of newspaper publishing in relation to the concept of a free press.

THE BOOK written by Professor Strangerup, summarized in a pamphlet in English, describes the way in which neighboring Sweden the publishers and the printers reached accord on a system of arbitration that has prevented both strikes and lockouts since it was established in 1937. A series of strikes had shut down Swedish newspapers concluding with one in 1919 that resulted in a two-months blackout.

The newspaper publishers association, including conservative, liberal and all shades of opinion except the Socialist press, decided to stay out of the over-all Employers Association because they believed they should never agree to a general lockout such as might be called by the Employers Association. Their reasoning was that publishers "have not only the right but also the duty to furnish the public with newspapers."

A careful distinction was also made between printing establishments and newspapers. Led by Sten Dehlgren, for many years editor of Dagens Nyheter, also one of Europe's most respected newspapers, discussions were held with the printers. They finally agreed to separate for bargaining purposes the employees of printing establishments and of newspapers. In other words both sides came to recognize the interest of the public in the continuity of the press.

THERE FOLLOWED extended negotiations concluded with a 10-year voluntary agreement under which all disputes were to be submitted to a three-man court of arbitration. The terms of that agreement as signed by both sides include: "...the just demand of the public that the papers are published..." The basic agreement has subsequently been renewed on two occasions. The relationship between the printers and the newspapers has evolved in such a friendly fashion that only twice has it been necessary to resort to the Court of Arbitration to settle a dispute.

Meetings in East Berlin May Bring New Settlement

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — A Communist meeting that could give President Kennedy the big break he's been looking for will take place in East Berlin today. It's a meeting of top Communists from eastern Europe, attended by Khrushchev himself, and is scheduled to see a shake-up of East German extremists.

Premier Walter Ulbricht, the tough pro-Stalinist leader of East Germany, has been one of the consistent Khrushchev needlers for an early German peace treaty and a rigid Berlin settlement. Recently, he announced he was willing to compromise.

Hilda Benjamin, East German minister of the interior in charge of the East Berlin police, has been responsible for the slottings along the Berlin wall. She is reported ready to resign. If so, and if Ulbricht tones down his pro-Stalinist belligerency it will be a break for the Berlin settlement.

Simultaneously, Ambassador Foy Kohler reports from Moscow that it's barely possible Khrushchev may cross the Berlin wall and make a tour of West Berlin in a gesture of cooperation. This would seem both risky and doubtful, but apparently that's the word from the diplomatic grapevine.

DEFINITELY, however, Mr. K's son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubei, editor of Izvestia, and Pavel Satukov, editor of Pravda, have been invited by the Berlin Foreign Press Association to visit West Berlin during the East Berlin conference.

All this, together with the moderate position recently taken by Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin and the toning down of Chancellor Adenauer, could pave the way for a Berlin settlement.

On the opening day of Congress, an elegantly dressed lady sat in the Senate diplomatic gallery fingering a beautiful pearl necklace, touching up her lipstick, and adjusting her hat. She looked more nervous than a certain young man on the Senate floor who was being sworn in as senator from Massachusetts.

JUST BEHIND her sat three other ladies, in plain house-dresses, also intent on watching the swearing-in ceremony, but obviously more composed. The lady in furs and pearls leaned forward as long, lean Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts conducted a handsome youth down the center aisle where he raised his right hand to become a senator of the United States. You could understand why she was nervous. He was her youngest son. Her eldest is president of the United States.

The three ladies in house-dresses, behind Mrs. Kennedy were attendants in the ladies rest room — Gladys Stevens, Sydney Phinney, and Mrs. Leaster Daggett. Kindly Vice President Johnson had given them passes to the Senate gallery and, when it was all over, Mrs. Kennedy, Sr., and Mrs. Ted Kennedy said hello, and they all went downstairs, an example of how American democracy works.

One interesting aspect of the fighter plane contract awarded to General Dynamics, despite a contrary recommendation by a military board, is that General Dynamics was simultaneously being sued by the Justice Department for antitrust violation.

IN OTHER words, at the same time the Kennedy administration was suing General Dynamics for violating the law, it was handing it an initial contract for a new supersonic fighter plane which eventually should run into five billions.

Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark.,

is investigating why the top leaders of the Defense Department reversed an 18-month unanimous recommendation by the military experts that the contract go to Boeing.

As previously reported in this column, Col. Henry Crown, chief stockholder of General Dynamics, and a heavy contributor to the Democratic party in the recent 1962 election, had appealed direct to administration leaders in Washington. His company had lost $425,000,000 in 1960-61, and desperately needed a big defense contract to bail it out. A company's losses, however, do not necessarily make it efficient in spending the taxpayers' money on a new contract.

NOTE — The antitrust suit against General Dynamics was brought Nov. 8 on the charge that the company required those from whom it purchased to turn around and buy its carbon dioxide.

TV may be playing a bigger part in picking the Congress than lawbook knowledge. This was the inescapable conclusion when anyone looked at the array of handsome new senators just elected to the 88th Congress. Every one had a Colgate smile, a glamorous wife, and looked as if he used Arrid and Rise every morning.

This was also the real secret behind the young Republican revolt. It was not politics, it was the grizzled how and sometimes sagging jaws of Ev and Charlie on TV which prompted the young Republicans to bid for new leadership.

The young Kennedys have set an image which the Republicans are now determined to equal — both on television and otherwise.

Election Decided School Issue

To the Editor:

I'm not an intellectual but just an average tax-paying citizen of Lewiston who has graduated from Lewiston High School as have my son who is now in the Navy and daughter who is a junior at the University of Dayton. My elementary education consisted of six years in St. Charles school and final six in Lewiston school (which incidentally was the first Consolidated District School in the state of Minnesota).

I know many people of both communities and have watched the "pros" and "cons" of the school issue. To me, and many of them, their school is the pride, as well as the hub of the activities of their community. Will a big, long structure out in the country be the same? Most of the town students now can walk to their schools as well as can the old and young of the townspeople who attend functions there. What about those without cars? What about adequate police and fire protection as well as proximity in a central school in the country?

No one walks to a central school. Buses and cars must constantly be shuttling back and forth many times a day, hundreds of times during the year. What about the functions at night requiring private cars?

We'll grant that a large central school could offer a more varied curriculum than we now have and would cost somewhat less to build than local structures would.

But wouldn't new larger buildings provide similar facilities with the valuations and cooperation of the outlying districts, but the bickering, petitions and objections of certain die-hard individuals who cannot accept the vote of the majority?

Voices championing the new central school have been most vociferous in proclaiming that any building barring a central unit will be a white elephant with nothing good coming from it.

Where did the students of the area get their past education? Certainly, I believe the present schools have produced a fair quota of intellectuals, men in the professions, businessmen and successful farmers compared to other communities of like size in the state. Remember we are farming communities.

Our teachers, with few exceptions, have and will compare favorably with any schools of the area and with expanded facilities can do as well as the best.

Why didn't the state department force Peterson to join Rushford, Mabel and Canton to join Spring Grove, Lanesboro to join Preston, etc.? Have their graduating classes consisted of at least 100 minimum to be efficient as stipulated by the state department and Dr. Van Alstine's class project group? No! They have averaged about the same as ours during the years.

Certainly our neighbors in Alma and neighboring communities were justified in uniting to build new schools, but how large were their units before the present? Not as large as ours, I know, because my wife graduated from Fountain City High School.

Why must we be forced to ignore the results of our halts in the past election? Certainly after three years of citizens' investigating committees and meetings it should be final, or is our democracy at such a low ebb that the dictatorship of certain high officials and die-hard petitioners should have precedence?

I'm for a new central school if it is the will of the majority, but since it is legally voted otherwise I'm for a new school in Lewiston and St. Charles. Perhaps we are all dumbbells who have graduated from the antique present and past structures if we let the results of our ballots go unheeded. Let's get on with our new schools in Lewiston and St. Charles soon, so our posterity may be more enlightened than we are.

Noise in Head May Be Ear

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Every now and then I get a bad cold or other minor trouble and go to the doctor and he thinks I'm foolish. You see, I look terribly healthy.

But for the last six months or more I've been getting what I can only describe as a "rocking motion" in my head.

Could it have anything to do with my ears? I get earaches very easily. — P.C.

I hope you are exaggerating or misinterpreting when you say your doctor thinks you are foolish for going to him for small ills. True, we don't know much more about curing the common cold than we did 100 years ago, but we can do a lot about stopping complications if they start to develop.

As for other minor ills, if the patient is worried, we can reassure him, and usually make him feel better, both mentally and physically. There's nothing foolish about that. Are you sure you aren't imagining your doctor's feelings when he gives you that reassuring "ce" and tells you there's nothing to worry about?

The "rocking motion" can result when the ears are especially sensitive in the region called the "semi-circular canals."

These fluid-filled organs are largely responsible for our sense of balance. Any shifting of the fluid inside is transmitted by way of the nerves.

Some degree of congestion can, at times, upset this "gyroscopic" and cause a "rocking" or dizzy sensation.

SO CAN TOO much salt in the diet, so one suggestion is to cut down on it, and see if that helps.

If the earaches become progressively worse, have your doctor check to see whether there's any chronic infection.

Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter in college has a bad complexion. I know she keeps her face very clean, doesn't irritate it with cosmetics, eats good food and even takes vitamins. Her trouble must come from within. Could she possibly have worms? — R.W.

She might have worms for all I know, but they wouldn't cause skin trouble. The probability is acne and it's highly common among even the healthiest teenagers. Before hunting for some rare cause, look for a simple explanation first.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it possible to have an abnormal or mongoloid baby if you get pregnant too soon after a miscarriage? Would it be long enough to wait until after one period after the miscarriage? — Mrs. V.B.

Such a time factor has no bearing at all on whether a child will be abnormal or deformed. If, in connection with the miscarriage, there had been some other reason for delaying pregnancy, your doctor certainly would have advised you.

Whimsical Bootblack U.N. Favorite

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A whimsical bootblack with a passion for geography and a sales pitch in many languages is one of the best-known figures at the United Nations.

For 16 years Jimmy Rinaldi has been shouting "shoeshine" in a dazzling variety of tongues as delegates pass his one-man concession.

"I can say it 30 ways now, including Burmese, Indonesian, Arabic and Swedish," said the gray-haired bootblack, pausing briefly at his stand on the fourth floor of the secretariat building.

"Every time I get a customer from a new country, I ask him how to say 'shoeshine' in his language," he added. "In the past couple of years I've picked up half a dozen African dialects."

Jimmy can name the capitals of all 110 U.N. member states plus most major cities and rivers. He likes to hash over world affairs with diplomats who patronize his stand.

"I try to find out about the economy of each country and the amount of money it is getting from the U. N.," he said. "I used to have a pretty good picture of it, but so many new nations have been starting up that I've kind of lost track."

Jimmy averages 60 shines a day at 25 cents each plus tips. He has found his trade volume a barometer on the state of the world.

"When everything is peaceful, I get plenty of shines," he said. "If things get bad, business falls off."

The sharpest drop came during the early days of the Cuban crisis.

"It seemed like no one cared about a shine because there might not be any tomorrow," he observed.

Jimmy thinks the United Nations has done a good job keeping the missile crisis from exploding into war.

"As long as they keep talking here, there is hope," he said. "All that name-calling doesn't mean anything. But if they stop talking, look out."

It bothers Jimmy that the big powers haven't gotten together on a formula for disarmament.

"I hope they come up with something before every Tom, Dick and Harry gets the bomb," he said.

He is a little puzzled by the fact that every nation in the world forum has an equal vote.

"I guess it's fair," he said. "but it seems funny that a country with only a couple of hundred thousand people should have the same say as the big ones."

In 16 years Jimmy has struck up friendships with hundreds of delegates and secretariat officials.

"Trygve Lie, the former secretary-general, was very friendly—always asking after people on the U. N. staff," he said. "He really looked out for the little guy."

Frederick Boland, former General Assembly president, stops by frequently for a shine and a chat. So does U. N. Undersecretary Ralph Bunche, who likes to swap notes on fishing, Jimmy's favorite off-duty pastime.

Most top-ranking Soviet delegates always laugh when I throw them that old Russian proverb 'clean shoes, clean pockets,' he said. "Only I switch it to 'clean shoes, no clean pockets,' meaning I won't take all their money."

Jimmy, a bachelor in his late 40s, lives with his mother in the Ridgewood section of Brooklyn, N.Y. He likes to spend his days off boning up on world geography or fishing when the weather is right.

He also keeps close tabs on trends in footwear.

British diplomats wear the best-made shoes, but the Americans and Italians have more of a flair for style.

"When Soviet-bloc delegates first come here, they wear pretty plain shoes," Jimmy said. "but after a while they begin showing up in American or Italian types." His steadiest patrons are Spaniards.

"They really take care of their boots," he said.

Representatives of the new African countries are good customers, but some try to stretch a shine into a siesta.

"They like to settle back with a cigar and a newspaper," said Jimmy. "I guess they get a little hurt when I nudge them along."

AP Using New Electronic Printer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Associated Press utilized new electronic equipment Monday to send an advance text of President Kennedy's State of the Union message to some newspapers in six minutes.

Utilizing a newly installed Data-speed system, AP transmitted more than 6,000 words at a rate of 1,000 words per minute. AP's Data-speed facilities are used to speed the transmission of stock market tables throughout the country.

Special circumstances enabled the system to be used for the presidential message.

Newspapers as widely separated geographically as the Newark (N.J.) News and the San Diego (Calif.) Union received the Kennedy text in the time it ordinarily would have taken to send less than 400 words on standard news circuits.

Cathedral Hewn Out of Mountain

By JAMES DEWEY

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Thousands of Colombians attend Mass in one of the most unusual churches in the world—a cathedral hewn out of a mountain of salt.

This salt cathedral is located about 30 miles from Bogota at Zipaquira. It measures about 1 1/2 times the length of a football field. Its arches soar 74 feet. It holds 8,000 persons and it takes a circle of 20 persons to encompass each of its six mammoth pillars.

The area where the cathedral is located has the richest sodium chloride deposits in the continent.

When the Spanish conquerors reached the country 400 years ago, they found the natives engaged in a flourishing industry trading salt from the mountains for gold, emeralds, food, cloth and skins.

About 125,000 sacks of salt are mined monthly, and geologists claim the deposits won't be worked out for thousands of years. The experts say the mountain of salt was formed by a deposit of ocean water. Marine fossils are found in the mine.

Work on the cathedral was started in 1950 and was completed four years later.

The mine has four levels. The cathedral was built on the second level. Builders had to blast out the two-story church.

The cathedral consists of four naves. The principal one terminates at the high altar behind which there is a depiction of Calvary with an enormous 27-foot wood cross towering over the altar.

The right nave leads to a chapel of the Virgin.

Another ends in a baptistry. A subterranean spring feeds the font.

The fourth nave leads to a grotto depicting the birth of Christ.

The church has indirect lighting.

The central nave can hold 2,000 persons.

The cathedral was built in the center of the mountain where a number of mine tunnels converged. It is dedicated to Our Lady of the Rosary.

The church was designed by Colombian architect Jose Maria

Gonzalez Concha. The mine belongs to the government.

Segregated Windows For Paying Taxes

VALDOSTA, Ga. (AP) — An agreement has been reached on the issue of segregated windows for paying taxes at the Lowndes County courthouse.

"White" and "colored" signs have been removed from the newly built service windows, but tax record books still will be kept by race. The tax commissioner says separate books are required by state law.

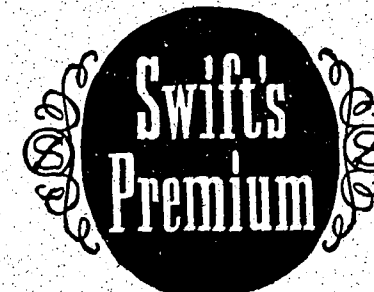

A Negro organization, the Valdosta-Lowndes County Political League, had protested the segregation signs.

The agreement was worked out by a white minister, the Rev. Bill Ligon, president of the Valdosta Ministerial Association.

Court Will Hear Election Charges

ST. PAUL (AP)—Irregularities charged in connection with Minnesota's tangled governorship contest will be considered at a court hearing next Monday.

Judge J. H. Sylvestre of Crookston, presiding over the three-judge panel supervising the recount, set the trial date Monday. He explained that this would be in the manner of a prelude to the main action in the case, that concerning disputed ballots.

Judge Sylvestre said it was hoped this phase of the recount could be reached by Feb. 4. In the meantime, he said attorneys for both sides had been instructed to work together to pare down the tens of thousands of challenged votes from the Nov. 6 election.

C. L. Nelson, New Prague, attorney for former DFL Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag who asked the recount, said he would present evidence of irregularities in five selected precincts at the Monday hearing.

Nelson said these alleged deviations could result in a shift of as many as 200 votes, depending on how the panel of judges views the evidence. He explained that some of the irregularities involved absentee ballots.

BOYLE'S COLUMN

President's Wife Leads Hard Life

By MAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping to conclusions—"and how many do you agree with?"

It is harder on the health to be a wife of a U.S. president than to be actually president.

Those elected to the White House are supposed to have man-killing jobs, but more than half (18) lived longer spans than their wives — something the average husband in America just isn't strong enough to accomplish.

Here's another proof of presidential durability: 22 of 33 former U.S. presidents lived to be 65 or older, and 16 made it to 70 or beyond—including three still alive.

One of the worst things about being wealthy is that you have to pretend you like caviar.

Any man who lets his wife throw away his old neckties without putting up a fight probably isn't much good at the office either.

The colleges that teach your son or daughter how to be a 24-karat snob always cost more than those that don't.

Half the crankiness of people would disappear if men got one more hour of sleep a night—and women wore girdles and shoes two sizes larger.

The first politician who has the courage to denounce fishing as a clammy waste of time is bound to get at least two votes—his and mine.

Something you'll never see in your life: a woman who likes another woman's hat well enough to go out and buy one herself just like it.

Fear of gossip has never reformed a determined sinner, but it has often cauterized him to move his scene of action out of town.

The only time it's safe to yawn when the boss is telling a funny story is when your father owns the firm.

There are few things that make marriage seem more worthwhile than the sight of a husband and wife in old clothes raking leaves from their front yard in autumn with the help of two small children.

It isn't wise to lend money to a man who puts catsup on everything he eats; his judgment is likely to be deficient in all areas.

Proxmire, Nelson Applaud Kennedy Tax Cut Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Wisconsin's Democratic senators, William Proxmire and Gaylord Nelson, found reasons Monday to applaud President Kennedy's plans for individual and corporate income tax reductions but were generally cautious in their comments.

Democratic members of Wisconsin's House delegation endorsed the President's position. Republicans asked for spending cuts to achieve a balanced budget.

Proxmire, who has expressed strong views against a tax reduction, applauded any efforts to keep down spending.

Nelson, who took office less than a week ago, said he was for a tax cut "in principle" but would like more time to study the plan.

Comments of House members included: Lester Johnson, D-Black River Falls, expressed pleasure with the message and said he was pleasantly surprised that the President has apparently decided to plug loopholes as part of a reduction.

Trucker Charged In Bribery Case

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The District Attorney's office has issued a complaint charging David Donahue, 29, a truck driver, with trying to bribe a University of Washington basketball player.

Investigators say Donahue offered Larry Sharp $1,000 "to miss a few baskets" in last Friday night's Washington-Southern California game won by Southern California 64-61.

They said Donahue admitted the allegation but contended he was merely kidding when he mentioned money.

Hearing on La Crosse Nuclear Plant Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission announced Monday the postponement until Feb. 8 of a hearing in La Crosse, Wis., on a proposal to build a nuclear power reactor near that city. The hearing had been set for Jan. 24.

The reactor would be built by Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co. and operated by Dairyland Power Cooperative.

Cost of Business Keeps Going Up

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — One thing most businessmen will contend is wrong with the state of the union is the seemingly constant rise in the cost of doing business.

And increasing competition from abroad makes the problem keener today, as both the President and congressional leaders have pointed out.

Caught in the bind, American industry is trying all kinds of tactics to cut back on the cost of producing and fabricating and distributing. Machinery to cut man hours of labor, economy drives to hold down phone calls or waste of paper clips, analysis of real costs of producing individual items.

And ideas for paring costs whether in the production line, inventory storerooms, or office where paperwork seems to snowball, come from all sides.

Some manufacturers make a point of showing customers how to cut their costs. Outside agencies are springing up, either to track down unnecessary costs, or to train a firm's executives to do so, or to furnish experts for once in awhile tasks.

Here is just a sampling, a few of the many that are increasingly offering management in its endless fight.

A paperwork simplification program is offered customers of Standard Register Co., of Dayton, Ohio. M. A. Spayd, its president, holds that much of the mountain of such work is unnecessary. He says the piece of paper itself is only five per cent of this unnecessary cost, the rest being the effort to produce the final record.

His program often shows customers how they can buy fewer forms (which he sells) by making one form do the work of two or more, and cut out duplication of work. What is needed, Spayd said in an interview, is the application of value analysis — long used by purchasing agents, engineers and production experts — to the firm's management and clerical divisions as they tend to get topheavy.

Computers and other high speed data processing equipment have increased unnecessary paperwork by making already complex business systems still more complex, he holds.

One of a number of agencies in the field is Value Analysis Inc. of Schenectady, N.Y., which asserts its techniques can usually spot from 20 to 25 per cent of the cost of a product as unnecessary. It says that in servicing some 50 companies in the United States it has helped remove $45 million of unnecessary costs.

Among others in the field are the Reliability Dynamics Institute of West Acton, Mass., and Los Angeles, which offers courses on quality cost analysis, and R.C. Neal Company, Buffalo, N.Y., which teaches buyers not to be interested in inventories as such. It analyzes the cost of keeping an inventory, the value of turnover of company funds, to find the most profitable amount of goods to have on hand and the rate of reordering.

Many companies are cutting down on costs by calling in outside experts rather than maintaining their own staff of experts.

Osseo Farmer Thinks He May Have Deer Calf

OSSEO, Wis. — A female calf sired by a buck deer? Arnt Mork, Rt. 4, owner of the calf believes this may be so. But the Wisconsin Conservation Department, after an examination of the animal, says "There is nothing to indicate it is a deer."

The Holstein calf has an unusual shaped head. Ever since threshers saw the animal while helping on the Mork farm eight miles southeast of here in the Beef River area of Trempealeau County, there has been speculation about the calf.

MORK SAYS the first calf heifer that bore the calf had been bred artificially but the attempt was unsuccessful. The heifer was placed in a pasture with other young stock in an area frequented by deer. Mork says there are no bulls in the vicinity.

He was surprised to find the heifer with calf and thought there was something strange when the calf was born, because of the tapered chin and the fact it weighed only 25 pounds.

He almost disposed of the calf a month ago but decided to keep it at least long enough to clear up the nagging questions in the back of his mind.

William Rollman, assistant Conservation Department law enforcement officer for the west central area of the state, visited the farm and checked the animal.

"Some day it's possible we'll get one," he said, "but on the farm has no characteristics of deer." He said department records show no deer in the area.

Between the animals is considered remotely possible but not probable.

EAU CLAIRE veterinarian Dr. Walter Klein, said, "Usually when a farmer with a big Holstein cow finds she has given birth of a tiny calf, we find that she has been mated with a Jersey and not a deer. Dr. Douglas Erbeck, a veterinarian from rural Chippewa Falls, said, "The two species are so different, I don't see how it would be possible to cross them."

Mork said he would be willing to let university experts examine the calf.

West German Envoys Set to Leave Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — West German diplomats prepared to leave for home today after their nation severed ties with Cuba.

The establishment of full diplomatic relations between Cuba and Communist East Germany triggered the Bonn government's break with Havana. East Germany's mission here will be its first in Latin America.

U.S. Exports Set Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. producers shipped goods abroad at a record rate last year, but the cry from the Kennedy administration for more and more exports grows louder.

To a man, administration officials say an increase in exports holds the really effective solution to the country's balance of payments problem.

By Commerce Department estimates, exports swelled 4 per cent to $20.8 billion last year. This does not include military aid shipments. At the same time, imports rose 12 per cent to a record $16.4 billion.

The favorable balance in trade thus dropped from $5.3 billion in 1961 to $4.4 billion in 1962.

Even so, the U.S. deficit in its overall balance of payments declined from the $2.5-billion gap of 1961 between the flow of dollars in and out of the country. A decrease in private investments abroad helped reduce the deficit to somewhere around $2 billion.

No one knows what the deficit will be this year. President Kennedy's once expressed hope of wiping it out by the end of 1963 seems doomed. Most officials believe, nonetheless, the gulf will continue to narrow as long as sales overseas expand.

Imports could rise in 1963 if the economy improves, making it all the more important to increase exports. Sales abroad of both capital and consumer goods went up last year. Industrial areas provide the most likely markets, and the Commerce Department says labor shortages and rising prices in Europe improve the competitive position of the United States.

Such improvement, to Chairman William McChesney Martin of the Federal Reserve Board, offers "the best method to combat a payments deficit."

Frankie Avalon Gets License to Marry

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Singer Frankie Avalon obtained a license Monday to marry dental technician Kathryn U. Deibel, 25, of North Hollywood, Calif.

Avalon, 22, was issued the license under his legal name, Frank T. Avalone. He refused to talk to reporters and shied from photographers.

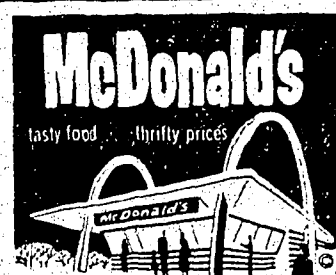

Ferrer-Clooney Reconciliation Seen

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Actor Jose Ferrer, divorced last May by singer Rosemary Clooney, is back in their home, but he says he does not care to comment on reports of a reconciliation.

"You can draw your own conclusions," Ferrer told a reporter who called Monday at the home where he and Miss Clooney lived with their five children.

More than 700 trade fairs will be held in 61 countries in 1963.

10 SE Area County Fairs Attract Over Half-Million

More than a half-million persons attended county fairs in Southeastern Minnesota during the 1962 season, according to reports from the Minnesota Federation of County Fairs.

The figure for eight of the 10 fairs in Southeastern Minnesota was 543,076. Two of the fairs, Dodge County and Goodhue County, did not report their attendance.

This year's receipts were $2,500 over the 1961 fairs with this year's at $212,976. Premiums paid were up $1,023 to $60,328.

The Steele County Free Fair was the largest again with more than 205,000 persons attending. The Mower County Fair was second with approximately 141,302.

The Winona County Fair attendance dropped 5,271 over 1961. This year's attendance was approximately 10,000 compared with 15,271 last year. Fair receipts were also down from 1961. Receipts were $7,028 compared with $8,730 last year.

Premiums paid were down from $5,291 to $4,539 and expenditures from $17,580 to $12,362. Receipts from other sources increased from $13,021 to $14,822.

The following table shows a comparative statistical breakdown of the 10 fairs with figures for 1962 and 1961:

Trial of Mother Of 4 Opens At Ellsworth

ELLSWORTH, Wis.—The criminal trial of Mrs. Walter Danielson, 33, mother of four charged with embezzling $64,970 from the city utility department, opened here Monday after selection of a jury.

The prosecution was expected to present its first witnesses Tuesday before Circuit Judge Merrill R. Farr of Eau Claire.

Mrs. Danielson was charged in September, 1961, with the thefts from the municipal utility department where she worked as a bookkeeper.

The shortages between 1957 and 1960 were discovered in an audit by the public service commission. Mrs. Danielson lost a civil suit brought by the River Falls utility in circuit court here last August.

A preliminary hearing on a perjury charge against Mrs. Danielson which arose out of that trial has been postponed indefinitely.

Mrs. Danielson, an accountant for the River Falls light, power and sewer utility, had been charged with "adjusting" consumer ledger cards and withholding payment stubs.

During the civil suit, William J. Bauman, of an Eau Claire accounting firm which audited the books, said Mrs. Danielson's books showed "a set pattern of default" which could not be called "normal bookkeeping errors."

The trial Monday was ordered by Judge Farr after Mrs. Danielson waived preliminary hearing and pleaded innocent to the criminal charge.

A budget of $93,000 was adopted by the congregation of St. Matthew's Lutheran Church at its annual meeting Monday night. Of that amount, $10,000 has been subscribed to the synod and district missions.

Four new councilmen were elected. They were Herbert Peter, Richard Sievers, Alfred Krieger and Kenneth Keiper. Re-elected to the council was Harold Schuppen-hauer. Retiring councilmen are Edgar Bunke, Harley Greenwood, Addison Ehler and Henry Ehmecke. The councilmen will meet Thursday to name a president to succeed Ehrhcke.

Leonard Loppnow and John Meyerhoff were elected head ushers to replace Arnold Michaels and Earl Reese. Eugene Czaplewski, Orval Hilke and G. W. Mueller served on the nominating committee.

Pastor of St. Matthew's, the Rev. A. L. Mennicke, baptized 32 persons in 1962, confirmed 25, married 9 couples and conducted 146 regular services attended by 40,752. Communion was served to 3,268.

Gerald Schapekahn, school principal, reported an enrollment of 158 students who are taught by five full-time and two part-time instructors. Ray Burmester, Sunday school superintendent, has a staff of 24 who attend weekly training sessions and instruct 182 pupils.

"Where Quality Clothing Is NOT Expensive"

New Dulles Airport Is Making a Hit

By VERN HAUGHLAND

WASHINGTON (AP)—Washington's New Dulles International Airport is making a big hit with just about everyone who sees it or uses it.

The Federal Aviation Agency, operator of the $110-million airport, says public enthusiasm over the terminal building and the mobile lounges that shuttle to and from the jet airplanes is even greater than had been anticipated.

Striking enough by day, its Eero Saarinen-designed terminal is even more beautiful at night. Lights inside its vast glass-walled concourse, the luminous cascading effect of the outer lower walls, and the dramatic spotlighting of a pagoda-like control tower that appears to rest on a pillar of flame—give the whole a dream-like appearance.

William E. Cullinan, airport manager, said the practical-minded regular traveler appears most pleased with the new mobile lounge technique that does away with carrying suitcases down long corridors.

The passenger arriving at Dulles by limousine walks from the entrance to the ticket counter, and then to the waiting lounge, all on the same level. The total walking distance is no more than 150 feet. The lounge in effect is a comfortable waiting room on wheels, exclusively for the use of passengers on that particular flight. The time that the lounge draws away from the terminal building, to go to the airplane, is the official departure time for the flight.

The 90-passenger lounges load at either end, so that like ferry boats they go forward and back without turning around. The trip from terminal to waiting jet plane takes about five minutes.

Invalids and other handicapped persons have found the system a blessing because there are no stairs involved. The airport's specially built wheel chairs can maneuver into and through the lounges and the airplanes, they meet.

Dulles Airport was named for globe-trotting John Foster Dulles, secretary of state during the Eisenhower administration. Dulles died in 1959.

At the dedication ceremony Eisenhower said it was fitting to honor a man "who had spent most of his life serving his country in the cause of national security and world peace."

Dulles has parallel north-south runways 11,500 feet long and 150 feet wide, 6,700 feet apart. A third runway 10,000 feet long extends on a west-northwest-east southeast line, and there is provision for a fourth runway parallel to it when traffic requires it.

The airport is 27 road miles west of Washington, near the village of Chantilly, Va.

Eastern, Braniff, Delta, Northwest, American and Trans World Airlines use the airport in most cases for jet flights that formerly served Washington through Baltimore's Friendship Airport.

Pan American is expected Jan. 1, United Jan. 13, and National and British Overseas Airways Corp. later.

Planners expect the airport to handle 4 million domestic passengers and 156,000 international passengers by 1965, and 8.7 million domestic and 464,000 international passengers by 1975.

Man Arrested in Theft of Painting

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The FBI has arrested a bowling alley handyman in connection with the theft of a 19th century French painting from the University of Kansas last August.

The oil sketch by impressionist Edouard Manet is valued between $40,000 and $70,000 and is titled "Portrait of Line Compineanu." Agents picked up William R. Busham, 31, Monday on a federal warrant charging him with receiving the stolen painting. The painting was recovered in apparently good condition.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Douglas Aircraft Co. says it has fired 22 employees who refused to join a labor union or pay the equivalent of union dues under an agency shop agreement.

The firm said Monday it was acting under terms of a contract with the AFI-CIO Machinists Union and the United Auto-Aerospace Workers. Douglas estimated 20 to 30 per cent of eligible employees are paying an agency shop fee of about $5 monthly instead of joining the union. Under the contract, employees must do one or the other or be discharged.

No Landing Site For Moon Ship

By JOHN BARBOUR

WASHINGTON, P. — It's a good thing there aren't American astronauts on the moon, waiting for instructions on where to land on earth.

There are a flock of imaginary landing fields abounding all over the U.S. Southwest, constructed of political pressure, guesswork and just plain wishing.

You can picture the homeward bound astronauts now. Heading for New Mexico, a new rumor makes them change course for Texas, and finally they land in Washington because they overshot another field in California.

This, of course, is absurd. They could have landed in Australia all along.

The fact is, no one has selected a landing site yet for the Apollo moonship or for the Gemini two-man spacecraft.

For the men of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration there is more concern with getting men into space than with the frenetic rumors of where they will come down again.

Some things about the landing site for Gemini's two-man spacecraft, equipped with various landing devices, can be said with some certainty.

D. Brainerd Holmes, director of manned space flight for NASA, explains that some early Gemini test flights may be aimed at water landings, although the spacecraft is being designed primarily to touch down on land.

It will use parachutes to break its fall, as does Mercury, and will put out a parawing so that it can be flown a little like a heavy glider. Its center of gravity actually will be off center, and by changing its attitude, this will enable it to aim itself better at a site on the earth's surface.

The parawing will allow it to come in for an airplane-like landing on skids which will be extended from ports on its body, like an airplane's landing gear.

With a Titan rocket booster, Gemini will need all energy possible to get into its proper orbit. It will be shot from Cape Canaveral and, to get the added boost of the earth's rotation, will be aimed eastward. But this will limit its possible landing areas.

This means it will ride in a space belt around the earth, never higher than 30 degrees above the equator and never lower than 20 degrees below the equator. The amount of the United States within this area is puny.

West to east from the spacecraft's eye there is a mountainous corner of western Texas, then the southern tip of Texas from Houston south to the Rio Grande, then the swamps, bayous and beaches of southern Louisiana, then the peninsula of Florida.

Holmes says the landings will be made if possible in the United States, and if not, then in some friendly, fairly flat area where there is enough settlement to make the supply and contact problem easy, but not enough to cause a hazard to an overshooting or undershooting spacecraft.

Mercury spacecraft aim for an area within a target rectangle 150 miles long and 50 miles wide. Gemini spacecraft, and the Apollo too will be able to aim for an area within a 10-mile by 10-mile landing square. For Gemini, the aiming area is roughly two miles long and one mile wide.

Given the above requirements, folks in the southwestern United States or in Florida and Louisiana can make their own guesses as to where the Gemini spacecraft will land. One good guess is it will land in southern Texas, a generally flat area, not too heavily settled, yet near the Gemini control center which will be located in Houston, site of the space agency's Manned Space Flight Center.

As for Apollo, it is too early to talk about eventual landing sites for the men who will be returning from the moon, perhaps in 1967. Early Apollo spacecraft may have the same limitations for landing as Gemini.

Until space agency planners settle on whether the return flight will follow a 60-hour orbital path or a 72-hour orbital path, or some other, the landing site is uncertain.

Another open question is the Air Force's Project Dyna-Soar. This winged spacecraft will have more earth-flight capability, and will be even better equipped, less limited in choosing its landing spots.

Back in the ranch country of the Southwest, the landing site competition goes in. Some say it will be the missile testing facilities of White Sands in New Mexico, a broad desert area. Some say it will be Edwards Air Force Base in California where the X-15 rocket-plane—precursor of Dyna-Soar—lands after its fiery flights to the fringes of space.

Legislators from the areas write letters to the space agency and make public statements about the coming of the space age to their states.

There is some question, anyway how much of an economic boon a landing site selection would be for any area. Its equipment would be made, largely, elsewhere. Its permanent force would be small, compared with bases like Cape Canaveral. Its real value is in flatness and remoteness.

The International Committee of the Red Cross consists of 25 Swiss citizens with headquarters in Geneva.

Hershey Says Too Many Men Called

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national director of the Selective Service System, says he is unhappy with some military leaders calling for more men than they can use.

Speaking Monday at a meeting of 75 local draft board members, Hershey said he was tired of young men being inducted and then soon discharged after "we've disrupted their homes and life work."

He said, however, it would be necessary for American youth to live under the draft system as long as there are hot spots to take care of.

Man Who Killed Hound Pays $1,350

DECATUR, Ga. (AP)—Donald H. King has been ordered to pay $1,350 damages for killing his neighbor's basset hound.

The neighbor, Fred E. Shroyer, testified in a court trial Monday that King lured the dog into his yard last Easter by tying a piece of meat to a string and placing it through a hole in a fence separating their yards. Then, Shroyer said, King shot the dog.

Developers Proud Of New Jet Plane

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—There's very little the new P1127 jet plane won't do, say its developers.

It will fly both forward and backward, they say in addition to taking off and landing vertically. It also hovers.

Northrop Corp. announced Monday that the Defense Department has pledged $35 million for combined development by Northrop and Hawker Siddeley Aviation Ltd. of London.

The craft controls directions by rotating nozzles on its jet engine.

U.S. Tourists Visit Lawrence Of Arabia Land

By DAVID LANCASHIRE

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—With clattering hooves and jingling bridles, horses pick their way through the twisting gorge, past soaring redstone cliffs where Lawrence of Arabia once rode.

A Bedouin raiding party? Tribal sheikhs riding to a rendezvous? Jordan's desert patrol tracking down smugglers?

No. It's a party of American tourists heading for Petra, an ancient caravan city hewn from solid, rose-colored rock. With cameras at the ready, similar tourist groups scramble up the pyramids of Egypt, paddle across the Syrian sands to Palmyra, where the Roman ruins outshine those of Rome.

Thrusting up like flowers from the deserts of the Middle East are some of the world's most spectacular tourist attractions, a lot more and more visitors are discovering them every year. The coming season may be the biggest yet.

Tourists come from the United States, Europe or the Far East. Bunches of Soviet technicians' families mingle with the sightseers in Aswan or Damascus.

"Tourists are reaching out for new places, beyond Europe, and the Middle East has a great deal to offer," says one travel expert. "It has an additional appeal as a place that not too many people have seen."

Arab governments are aware of the profits tourists can bring. But most still have much to learn about attracting visitors and looking after them once they are here. Iraq, with its suspicion of foreigners and cameras—taking a picture of Babylon or Baghdad requires a police permit—has wiped itself out of the tourist guidebooks. Saudi Arabia admits Muslim pilgrims to Mecca, but a Christian tourist rarely gets into the country.

Jordan, however, is conducting a sophisticated campaign to swell the stream of visitors to the Holy Land.

This year the campaign brought 210,000 tourists to Jerusalem—which is divided between Jordan and Israel—to Bethlehem, the Dead Sea and Petra. The number has more than doubled in three years.

Tourists watching the glass blowers of Hebron, swimming in the Dead Sea or strolling through Jerusalem's medieval streets can stay in new hotels and guest houses or refurbished old ones. They can speed from Christ's birthplace to a desert camp on new roads, or plunge into swimming pools in places where running water was unknown a few years ago.

Army engineers are helping restore the ruins of antiquity that litter the desert. Amman's little airport can handle the largest jets. An American public relations specialist in Beirut makes his suggestions directly to King Hussein. Israel attracts Jewish tourists from all over the world, yet in the past three years one-third of all visitors were Christians visiting Nazareth. Tourism has been rising steadily and 185,000 visitors are expected this year to wander among biblical scenes and study the busy new life of modern Israel.

Aside from the traditional sites that attract religious pilgrims, there are newly developed tourist places such as the "desert capital" of Beersheba. Efforts are under way to make the Red Sea port of Eilat, with its warm dry climate, into a winter refuge.

Tourists pack the hotels in Egypt, whose pyramids and sphinx are among the best known sightseeing attractions. Greek tourists came up the Nile to marvel at them 2,000 years ago. The mighty monuments are only the gateway to the rich temples and tombs that abound in upper Egypt.

New, simplified visa procedures and the scaffolding of new hotels show the Egyptian government's interest in attracting tourists. But travel agents say the Egyptian approach could stand improvement.

Tourism officials there, ever mindful of politics, prefer to put President Gamal Abdel Nasser's portrait on the brochures instead of camel pictures or the pyramids. And Nasser's violent speeches and propaganda campaigns have kept away many a tourist, the travel agents say.

Similarly, every time a new coup d'etat erupts in Syria—there have been two in 15 months—a few tourists cancel reservations in Damascus.

Syria has rich resources for the tourist to mine. Palmyra, the spired city of Damascus, sometimes called "the pearl of the Orient," and the Krak des Chevaliers, the best of all the crusader castles.

The government, however, does little to promote the trade. Syria depends largely on tourists passing through on their way to better-advertised Jordan.

Lebanon also reaps benefits from the Jordan traffic. In 1961 it got 206,444 visitors. The figure includes thousands of Arab vacationers from Iraq, oil-rich Saudi Arabia and Kuwait, whose spendthrifts seek coolness in the mountains every summer.

Lebanon has the historic city of Byblos, the famed cedars, the only skiing in the Middle East, Baalbeck and its festival, a Riviera-style gambling casino, excellent hotels and restaurants, beaches, scenery and climate that equal the French Riviera, but the

Jaycees Cite Yule Activities

Winona Junior Chamber of Commerce Christmas projects were called "very successful as far as group activity and community service were concerned" by Bernie Wagnild today in a summary of activities.

Wagnild was Jaycee Christmas activities chairman.

Two new projects were added this season. More than 175 persons attended the senior citizens party Dec. 15 with Nick Schneider as chairman. According to Ed Karo, Christmas Downtown was well received by churches and businessmen.

Robert Bergsrud headed the holiday lighting contest committee. Calls to Santa Claus were placed by 715 Winona youngsters Dec. 16, with Mike Eischen as chairman.

"Operation Treecliff" ended 1962 activities for the Jaycees, who hauled 26 truck loads of trees. Donations left on trees will help finance Jaycee projects in 1963, Dave Peplinski, tree disposal chairman said.

The Winona Mrs. Jaycees also were active during the Christmas season.

Residents of St. Anne's Hospice and the Paul Watkins Memorial Home were entertained at a Dec. 15 Christmas party. The committee was headed by Mrs. Charles G. Brown Jr.

Mrs. James B. Goetz, Aid to Retarded Children chairman, said gifts were distributed to mentally retarded children.

Christmas gift packages were distributed to needy patients at Community Memorial Hospital under direction of Mrs. George P. Joyce, hospital representative for the Mrs. Jaycees.

Honorary Citizenship Asked for Churchill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A resolution to confer honorary U.S. citizenship on Sir Winston Churchill has been introduced in the Senate by Sen. Stephen M. Young, D., Ohio, who praised the former prime minister of Great Britain for his contributions to mankind and history.

A similar resolution was introduced last year but not acted on.

In the next few years, one of the strangest countries in the once-sealed frontiers to tourists. It is medieval Yemen, on the southwest tip of Arabia, and traditionally known as the land of the queen of Sheba.

Yemen has the biggest tourist problem of all—there is not a hotel or restaurant in the country.

Yugoslav Native

A native of Yugoslavia who experienced Communism first-hand told Portia Club members Monday that the weakest spot for communism is Eastern Europe.

"Moscow's plan has been to devise a master plan for building the ideal Communist society within the present generation," said Svetozar Peyovich, assistant professor of economics at St. Mary's College.

The program was arranged by Mrs. W. S. L. Christensen for the meeting at the home of Mrs. H. K. Robinson.

"Forty-five years ago Communism was confined to a one-room apartment in Zurich, and today it has engulfed two-fifths of the earth with the implication that Moscow is planting its banner on the moon," he said.

HE TRACED the history of the Communist Bloc in Europe and outlined action Americans can take to combat the Cold War. "America's part depends upon the art of understanding, education and the power of human skills in a crucial period of development," he said. He stressed this need for children.

Mrs. Christensen developed the following aspects of the club world affairs program: Sino-Soviet split, fruits of Communism agriculture, Chinese home-front problem, Russian-Chinese squeeze on Southeast Asia and beleaguered Berlin.

The program was followed by a question and answer period and quiz. The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. S. A. Hammer, president. Recommendations for study next year were American Fundamentals, The National Goals of Education or The Importance of Balancing Urban and Agrarian Needs. These and other programs were submitted to the program committee headed by Mrs. Ted Biesanz, assisted by Mrs. L. L. Korda and Mrs. H. K. Robinson.

MRS. HAMMER announced the plans to send delegates to the state convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs to be held at the Lafayette Club in Minneapolis.

Ruskin Study Club Reflects Social Change

Ruskin Study Club programs have reflected the changed role of women in society since 1890's when the Ruskin Art Club was formed.

Mrs. Robert Selover told club members Monday afternoon that emphasis today is on social welfare, national and international questions. "When the club was formed, woman's place was indeed in the home and her interests and activities were bound by her concerns with the family, church and school. Women's clubs at that time were chiefly cultural and social in purpose. But women entered into public life with granting the vote, the broadening educational opportunities and their consequent responsibilities to society."

"Club activities span four wars and show changes from an insular position of local concern to a broad concept not only to changes in transportation and communication, but also to the changed role of women in society."

Mrs. Robert Reed was hostess assisted by Mrs. Fred Boughton.

THE WORLD TODAY

Kennedy Feeling More Confident

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — In two years President Kennedy's mood about things at home and abroad has changed from that of dark worry and gritty crisis to one of much confidence and a feeling the tide is running right. The change shows in the three State of the Union messages he has delivered to Congress: the first in 1961, right after he took office; the second in 1962; the third Monday.

Kennedy's first message sounded like a call for the ambulance. The one last year considered the American patient much improved. The one this week said the patient was doing fine but could still stand some vitamins.

Monday's message had less rhetoric than the one in 1961. But that wasn't the reason it sounded flat by comparison. It was just less urgent. It mentioned fewer needs, suggested fewer remedies.

In the past few weeks in one unusual way or another—on television or in conferences with newsmen—he pretty generally laid down not only his view of the world at this time but what programs he would propose to Congress.

The three messages side by side tell the story. The first group is on problems at home; the second on problems abroad; the third on the future of the world.

1961—"I speak today in an hour of national peril. The outcome is by no means certain. The American economy is in trouble. . . . We completed (1961) on the high road to recovery and growth. Now he was thinking no longer almost entirely in terms of recovery but in terms of controlling inflation so the recovery already taking place wouldn't be hurt.

1962—"I can report to you that the state of this old but youthful Union, in the 175th year of its life, is good. . . . The recession is behind us. . . . Both at home and abroad there may now be a temptation to relax. . . . But we cannot be satisfied to rest here."

Here are the same three messages, side by side, on foreign problems:

1961—"All (our domestic) problems pale when placed beside those which confront us around the world. . . . Each day the crises multiply. Each day their solutions grow more difficult."

"Each day we draw nearer the hour of maximum danger, as weapons spread and hostile forces grow stronger. . . . The tide of events has been running out and time has not been our friend. . . . 1962—"It was not so much what he said in 1962 as what he left unsaid that showed Kennedy felt more confident about dilemmas overseas."

He no longer dwelt on the hour of peril or the approach of danger. Instead, he gave a brief lecture on the difference between the West and communism—the difference between free choice and coercion.

It was a lecture he was to repeat almost in the same words in his 1963 message. Still, he turned on the amber light. He warned that "every apparent blessing contains the seed of danger."

1963—"In the world beyond our borders steady progress has been made in building a world of order. . . . Only a few years ago, communism sought to convey the image of a unified, confident and expanding empire, closing in on a sluggish America. . . . In these past months we have reaffirmed the scientific and military superiority of freedom."

We have every reason to believe our tide is running strong."

Care Urged in Building Peace Corps at Home

By ROBERT A. HUNT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Creation of a domestic peace corps should be given careful consideration since it involves risks as well as great promise, reports a rural areas development advisory committee.

The 34-member group, appointed by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, adopted a resolution to this effect at the windup of a two-day meeting here.

Clarence J. McCormick of Vincennes, Ind., former undersecretary of agriculture and chairman of the group, said the members urged consultation on the proposal with all elements of the national committee.

"If such a program is launched," the committee said, "We strongly urge that leaders in rural America be consulted at an early stage so that rural America can make its fullest contribution to the program; as well as secure maximum benefits from the program."

The committee said such an organization could be effective only insofar as it strengthens and reinforces work of existing public and private groups within local communities.

"Under no circumstances which this committee can anticipate," the resolution said, "should such a national service corps provide 'cheap labor' competing unfairly for paid jobs in the local labor market."

Freeman, in an appearance before the committee Thursday, had endorsed creation of a domestic peace corps as an organization which "can be a healthy and dynamic influence in the rural areas development program."

The committee also endorsed a medical care program for the elderly that would be carried out on the basis of prepaid insurance.

Meeting Thursday At St. Martin's

A budget will be adopted and officers, elders, education board members and trustees will be elected at the annual dinner-congregational meeting of St. Martin's Lutheran Church Thursday. The dinner is scheduled for 6 p.m. and the meeting for 7.

Winnebagoes Set Vote on Tribe

BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis.—Winnebago Indians will have their last chance to organize as a tribe Saturday when they vote yes or no on a proposed constitution and bylaws.

A special vote on the question is provided for by the Indian reorganization act of 1934. The election will be valid only if at least 30 percent of the tribe's 494 adult members vote, meaning there must be a turnout of 148. If the measure is defeated the tribe will be excluded from trying to organize under the act in the future.

Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. in six locations—Town of Komenky hall, Black River Falls; home of Alvin Blackdeer, La Crosse; LaGrange Town hall near Tomah; Lake Delton Town hall; John Winneshiek home, Wisconsin Rapids; and Wittenberg village hall.

The Rev. Mitchell Whiteabbit, Black River Falls, is heading the drive for tribal organization. Adults 21 and older who are Wisconsin Indians or descendants of Winnebagoes with one-fourth or more Wisconsin Winnebago blood may vote.

Currently the only tribal organization is the claims committee. The election is being conducted by the Wisconsin Winnebago business committee.

British Liner Sails For Home After Fire

VALETTA, Malta (AP) — The British luxury liner Canbetta, which caught fire in the Mediterranean 10 days ago with more than 2,000 passengers on board, sailed for Belfast, Northern Ireland, Monday for repairs. Most of the passengers have been flown to Australia.

5,600 Strike Philadelphia Transit System

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Some 5,600 transport workers struck the Philadelphia transit system today, stopping every bus, trolley and subway operating exclusively within the city.

Chances of a quick settlement were clouded. Police, who had experience in one system-wide stoppage and 13 lesser walkouts since 1955, adopted emergency measures to cope with traffic jams.

The only public transportation available for the one-half million riders within the nation's fourth largest city were regular commuter lines of the Pennsylvania and Reading railroads. Their combined stops within the city, however, are limited. Bus and trolley service of other companies continued in the suburbs.

The strikers, members of Local 234, International Transport Workers Union, were ordered off the job at 12:01 a.m. by international President Michael J. Quill.

Pickets were set up at all major terminals and depots. Quill was carrying the first placard just half an hour after he emerged from last-minute negotiations called by Mayor James H. J. Tate.

Quill said the Philadelphia transportation Co. had refused "point blank" to consider what he called the union's latest concessions in its contract dispute over wages and a no-layoff clause.

Robert Stier, the transit company president, said the company has to stand firm to eliminate the no-layoff clause. "This is not negotiable," he said, and added, "If we don't make the fight now to change the pattern, we have abdicated." Pessimistically he added, "I have very little hope of changing the union's views."

The union says loss of the lay off clause would cost it one-third of its membership in the next two or three years.

Both sides blamed the other for the strike.

The union seeks a wage boost of 38 cents an hour and a cut in the work week from 40 to 35 hours. Workers now get $2.25 to $2.75 an hour.

Senate Labor Group Studies Compensation Law

ST. PAUL (AP) — The Senate Labor Committee begins a study today of a problem the 1957 and 1959 Minnesota legislatures failed to solve — updating the state's unemployment compensation law.

Gov. Elmer L. Andersen described it as urgent in his message to the legislature.

"The balance in the unemployment insurance fund is dangerously low and it is imperative that this be remedied," he said.

In the last two sessions the conservative Senate and the liberal House passed different bills but for a variety of reasons the two houses were unable to compromise their differences and the law today is the same as it was before the start of the 1957 session.

First witness scheduled to appear before the Senate Labor Committee was Otto Christenson, executive vice president of the Minnesota Employers Association. He said he would not submit a specific proposal but would outline the problem and offer the cooperation of his organization in drawing a bill.

Indications are that the legislature will act to increase employers' contributions to the unemployment fund by raising rates, will liberalize benefits to some extent and will tighten rules for eligibility in an effort to limit benefits to those truly on the labor market.

The labor committee, headed this session by Sen. E. J. Anderson of Frost, is one of three Senate committees which have scheduled their first meeting today.

Others are education, municipal affairs and Public Welfare.

In the House, Speaker Lloyd Duxbury said he would be ready to announce his standing committee appointments late today or Wednesday.

He announced that he is naming 36 committees instead of the 34 of last session. New committee names are administrative Rules, Financial Institutions, Law Enforcement, Metropolitan and Urban Affairs, Recreation and Water Resources, and State and Junior Colleges.

Dropped from the list are committees on Banking, Labor and State Institutions; the Reapportionment Committee is being combined with the Elections Committee.

The new committee names are

New Lisbon Family Flees Burning Home

NEW LISBON, Wis. (AP) — Four members of a rural New Lisbon family were forced to flee from their burning home in temperature of 30 below zero early today. The farmhouse was destroyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Schultz and their two small daughters were given shelter by neighbors. They lost all their possessions.

The blaze started out as a chimney fire but spread throughout the home, located one and one-half miles south of New Lisbon in Juneau County. The New Lisbon Fire Department en route to the scene, was held up three or four minutes by a train at a crossing.

Puerto Rico Cites Ex-Whitehall Man

WHITEHALL, Wis. — A former manager of the Land O'Lakes plant here has been cited by the Puerto Rican commonwealth.

Roy Hultfeldt, Denmark, Wis., manager of the plant here 1942-49, received a plaque for setting up a milk processing operation in San Juan. He was there from October 1961 to June 1962.

contained in the House rules which will come up for action late today.

While the rules contain a provision requiring lobbyists to register with the House Rules Committee, Rep. Fred Cline of Aurora, House minority leader, says he beauty and barber shops, security dealers and real estate brokers, aren't listed, so the total number of businesses is actually higher.

Robbers Steal $105,000 at Miami Race Track

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Detectives studied skimpy clues today in a search for two men who held up a cashier and guard at Tropical Park race track and fled with $105,000, including $80,000 in cash.

The robbers wore green uniforms similar to those worn by track cleanup crews. They disarmed John A. Murphy, 62, the guard, and locked him and F. Volney Waite, 63, a cashier, in a closet under a stairway, then escaped less than an hour after the last event on Monday's nine-race program.

Police said Murphy and Waite were transferring the money to the counting room on the ground floor of the grandstand.

The robbers took two bags containing $80,000 in currency and $25,000 worth of checks. They left a heavy bag of silver.

Detectives said Murphy kicked open the closet door and called police.

Firms Counted in Trempealeau, Jackson

According to the January edition of Dun & Bradstreet's reference book, there were 450 businesses in Trempealeau County and 272 in Jackson County, including manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers who seek or grant commercial credit. Some of the service and professional businesses, such as beauty and barber shops, security dealers and real estate brokers, aren't listed, so the total number of businesses is actually higher.

Tense Nerves Block Bowels

New laxative acts on colonic muscles...de-constipates overnight.

The muscular wall of your colon contains nerves known to medicine as Auerbach's Plexus. In regular people, these nerves tell the colon muscles to propel and expel waste from the body. But tense nerves or emotional upset can block your normal bowel habits. Your colon muscle impulses are no longer strong enough to eliminate waste—which dries and shrinks, further aggravating the condition. The most effective relief, many doctors say, comes from a bulking action combined with a colonic nerve stimulating action. Of all leading laxatives only a new tablet called COLONAD gives you this special combination for 3-way overnight relief.

(1) COLONAD stimulates colonic nerve network, to further activate and regulate its muscular "movement". (2) COLONAD's unique re-bulking action helps re-tense tense colonic muscles. (3) COLONAD moisturizes for easy passage without pain or strain. COLONAD even relieves chronic constipation overnight; yet it is clinically proven gentle even for expectant mothers. U.S. Mediators Resume Efforts In Dock Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal mediators resume efforts today to settle the 24-day-old dock strike on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

There was no plan, however, for a joint meeting of representatives of the striking longshoremen and the industry.

James J. Reynolds, assistant secretary of labor, said: "I see no purpose in having one immediately. Their positions are unchanged and there has been no real progress."

The contract deadlock is between the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) and the New York Shipping Association, which represents 145 shipping and stevedoring companies. Contract terms reached between the two groups here traditionally set a pattern for settlements in other ports. Wages are a major issue.

Two top officials of the ILA, President William V. Bradley and Thomas (Teddy) Gleason, executive vice president and chief negotiator, returned here after conferring in Washington Monday with AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Meany was reportedly unofficially to have urged the ILA leaders to do everything possible to settle the strike of 60,000 dock workers, which has crippled shipping in ports from Maine to Texas.

Gleason said that Meany had no suggestions for settlement terms.

ST. PAUL (AP) — The State Board of Education voted today to support legislation that would grant continued immunity in law suits to Minnesota school districts.

The action was occasioned by a recent decision in which the Minnesota Supreme Court said school districts would lose their immunity after adjournment of the present legislature unless a law is enacted.

The high court said, in a decision in which a suit was instituted against a school district for injuries to a boy, that certain governmental units are presumed to have immunity but held that school districts would lose such protection if the 1963 legislature took no action.

The board will not offer any specific bill but agreed to support legislation in that respect.

British Embassy Wrecked in Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Rioting Congolese students sacked the British Embassy in Leopoldville today, smashing windows and burning papers and files into the street.

The rioters were protesting alleged British support of the secession of Katanga Province.

The rioters were finally dispersed after an hour of violence by Robert K. A. Gardiner, Ghanaian head of U.N. operations in the Congo. Congolese police made only ineffectual attempts to break up the riot.

Caledonia Sets
Polio Clinic

CALEDONIA, Minn. (Special)—Caledonia Community Hospital Auxiliary is sponsoring the first of three Sabin oral polio clinics Jan. 27. Type I immunization will be administered between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. at the public school auditorium.

The auxiliary explains the oral dose provides a good immunity against poliomyelitis and provides substantial protection against infection, thus preventing the individual from becoming a carrier.

The vaccine is taken in three doses, one for each of the three types of polio. Type II will be administered March 17 and Type III, April 28.

The vaccine is recommended for people of all ages regardless of previous immunization. A contribution of 25 cents per dose will be requested to cover costs, but no one will be refused.

Registration cards are being sent home with school children this week. All members of the family should be listed on the card. People who don't receive a card may get them at drug stores, doctors' offices and grocery stores in Caledonia, Ellettsville, Brownsville and Freeburg.

The cards should be filled out in advance to avoid waiting in line at the vaccine clinics. The auxiliary points out it is important that people get all three doses on the dates given so they will receive immunity for the coming polio season.

Beef River Asks
Rate Increase on
Osseo Telephones

OSSEO, Wis.—Representatives of Beef River Telephone Co. here asked the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin at a public hearing at the city hall here Monday afternoon for a raise of about 30 percent in rates to improve its service and meet an expanding payroll.

Clarence Gore, manager, and a representative of Rolin, Mable & Co., Eau Claire accountants, asked for an increase to $6 on private residence phones, and $3.30 on urban 4-party and rural multi-party lines.

THE INCREASE, they said, is necessary to rebuild and maintain rural lines; reduce number of subscribers on overloaded rural lines, and replace out-dated phones.

Attorney John Ward, Osseo, represented the telephone company at the hearing which lasted from 1:30 to nearly 4 p.m.

Meanwhile, Beef River Company through an engineering firm, Kratz Inc., of Footville, Wis., is endeavoring to improve toll-free service between it and General Telephone Co. subscribers at Osseo.

Gore said this morning he expects there will be 10 toll-free lines between the two Osseo companies within 30 days.

Previous to last July 1, a 10-cent toll existed between the companies. Neighbors with one phone had to pay 10 cents to call next door to a subscriber of the other company.

Beef River discontinued the toll after July 1. General, which went dial July 11, removed the toll in August, Gore said.

THE MANAGER described the toll service as unsatisfactory, however. There are five circuits, three from General to Beef River and one dial from Beef River to General, plus one manual circuit from Beef River to General, only available from 8 a.m. to noon and 1-5 p.m. five days a week, Monday through Friday, excluding holidays.

Beef River managers applied to Public Service Commission for improvements in the toll-free situation.

Judge Sentences
Driver to Jail

Robert W. Savoy, 26, 1100 E. 5th St., was sentenced to 15 days in jail after Judge S. D. J. Bruski found him guilty in municipal court today of the charge of careless driving.

Savoy did not testify in the trial and did not call any witnesses. Prosecutor Roger Brosnahan called Police Sgt. Raymond L. Kauphusman as the state's only witness.

Kauphusman said that about 11:30 a.m. Thursday a car driven by Savoy went west past his home at 964 E. 5th St. He said the car was traveling at a high rate of speed. He estimated it was traveling about 40 m.p.h.

Kauphusman, who was off duty, said he was working in his yard. He also said that he had seen the car earlier in the day.

Savoy offered no defense, and Judge Bruski found him guilty of the charge.

Savoy also was charged with driving a motor vehicle after revocation of his driving

DEAR ABBY:

Tell Best Man To Grow Up

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our son, 26, is being married soon. He has asked his brother, who is 29 and unmarried, to be his best man. The bride has asked her sister to stand up for her. The sister is eight months pregnant and our son refuses to stand up with a lady in that condition. Do you think he is right?

GROOM'S PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: If the bride's choice is a pregnant sister, she is privileged to stand up as long as she can stand up. Your 26-year-old will be a better man if he tells his best man to grow up.

DEAR ABBY: I am an intelligent woman of 42 and can trace my ancestors back to Roger Williams. I have been feeling dizzy and weak and I can't sleep nights. I've been to four doctors and they all said it was nothing but NERVES. It seems to be the style these days for doctors to blame everything on nerves when they can't diagnose a case. Why don't they just admit they don't know?

NERVOUS

DEAR NERVOUS: Go back to one of those doctors and let him explain how uncontrolled emotions can (and do) turn into physical ailments. It's true.

DEAR ABBY: At the beginning of the school year I was over at my girl friend's house and some kids were there. One boy I have liked for a long time said, "Hey, if you ever get down to your normal weight I'll take you out."

I went to a doctor and he put me on a diet. I have lost 16 pounds since October. I have 12 more to go and am sticking to my diet. When I get down to normal weight, should I remind him of what he said?

GETTING THINNER

DEAR GETTING: Don't "remind" him. Now that there is less of you to notice, chances are he will notice you more. If not, his eyesight is no better than his memory.

CONFIDENTIAL TO LIZ C.: Yes, you read right. If a man buys his wife shoes, the least she can do for him is to shine his.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Redmen Win Third Loop Game 79-51

St. Mary's Redmen, who dropped their first three games in the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference basketball race, today have a three-game conference win string going for them.

Latest in the skein was a 79-51 decision over St. John's of Collegeville, Minn., Monday night at Terrace Heights.

more on the stretch half of the cage season, seven of those at friendly Terrace Heights.

Hall, Jim Rockers and George Valaika scored all of St. Mary's points in the first 17 minutes of the first half. The Redmen played good defense and moved well against the Johnnie zone.

ST. MARY'S hit 32 of 47 shots from the floor and 11 of its first 14 baskets in the first half came on lay-up shots. St. John's scored 17 times in 69 shots for a cold 24.6 percent.

Hall, who finished with 19 points, dropped in nine of his 13 tries from the field. Craig Muehres of St. John's, who had 24 points, had 7 for 21. Muehres meshed 10 free throws.

Muehres erased St. Mary's opening 10-7 lead with a five-point burst good for a 13-10 margin. Valaika and Hall then combined for seven straight points for a 19-12 Redmen lead with 9 1/2 to play. After a Johnnie free throw, Rockers reeled off seven straight points with six minutes to play.

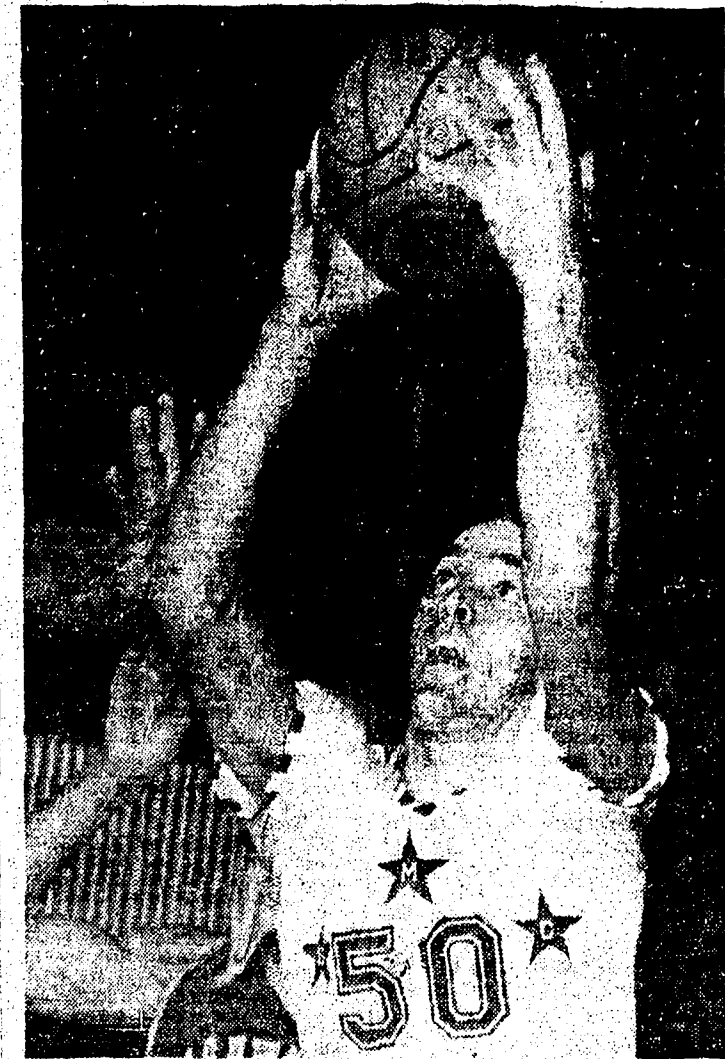

St. John's closed within 26-20 but Valaika hit two straight buckets, one at the horn, for the 11-point intermission bulge.

ST. MARY'S moved ahead 51-35 early in the second half with five different players scoring, out-pointing St. John's 14-2 in one span. Muehres scored eight points in the last 5 1/2 minutes, only Johnnie to register in that span.

Rockers finished with 16 points and Valaika 14. Al Williams was limited to three as he could not find the range from outside. He tried nine times; hit one.

St. Mary's had a top-sided 43-25 edge on the boards.

The Redmen are now idle until Osceola (Wis.) Air Force Base plays here Jan. 26.

13TH STRAIGHT WIN

Auggies Crush Pipers 65-37

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Duluth. It was Augsburg's 13th straight win for the season.

In other games, Duluth went outside the conference and bowed 79-74 at Northern Michigan, while St. Thomas downed Macalester, 69-47 in two overtimes. St. Mary's, who had a 10-0 record, was defeated by St. John's 78-51 and Gustavus Adolphus dispatched Concordia 85-75.

Those were the only state college games Monday. No games are scheduled tonight or Wednesday night.

Augsburg toyed with Hamline, leading the Pipers 14-5 after five minutes and 33-17 by halftime. Dan Anderson's 39 points led the Auggies and Ziggy Kauls got 12 for the Pipers.

Duluth trailed most of the way, including 32-27 at the half, but rallied to push Northern Michigan to the wire. Mike Patterson of the Bulldogs led all scorers with 24 points.

St. Thomas won on center Dave Palecek's hook shot with one second remaining in the second overtime. It was 60-60 after regulation time and 63-61 after the first extra session. Palecek got 23 points and Gary Davison 20 for Macalester.

Gustavus trailed 38-36 at half-time before sprinting after intermission. Ken Abram's 24 tallies topped the Gusties. Gary Larson got 19 for Concordia.

Czaplewski Ready to Play As Ramblers Meet Pacelli

Sam Czaplewski is expected to see action tonight as the Coter Ramblers, 8-3 for the season and unbeaten in the Ravoux Conference, travel to Austin for a league game against Pacelli.

John Nett, Coter coach, this morning reported Czaplewski's cut eye lid, suffered against Campion, has mended well enough to play.

"I didn't bother him too much Friday, but I didn't want to take a chance," said Nett, looking back on the 41-33 loss to La Crosse Aquinas which snapped a seven-game Coter win streak.

"I would like to think having Czaplewski would have made a difference. We would have had a lot more scrap," said Nett.

"We shot poorly and they defended us very well." The Ramblers got plenty of shots against the Blugold zone, but they weren't dropping.

Russ Fisk, Nett's No. 1 reserve, will start at forward tonight if Czaplewski does not get the nod.

Otherwise, it will be Loran Kopravski at the other forward spot. Bob Judge at center and Rich Starzcki and Gene Schultz at guards.

Coter holds a 61-46 triumph over Pacelli here this season. The Ramblers have eight regular season games remaining after tonight, including a Friday night test at Lewistown.

KUNZE HITS 28 AGAINST MICHIGAN

Gophers Five Now Threat For Big Ten Cage Crown?

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Maybe, just maybe, Minnesota's Gophers are going to make a run for the Big Ten basketball championship after all.

If they do, it will be to the credit of a couple of guards who suddenly blossomed into two of the conference's bests — Terry Kunze, and Bob Bateman. Bob led the Gophers past Iowa Saturday.

Monday night it was Kunze's turn to be the Gopher hero as he fired in 28 points to lead Minnesota to a 66-63 victory over a Michigan team which had been tabbed in some quarters as a strong Big Ten contender.

The brilliant Duluth Central sophomore sank 14 of 15 field goal shots to tie the conference shooting record set by Ohio State's great Jerry Lucas against Minnesota last February.

"I've never seen a kid hit like he did," elated coach John Kundla said. "Even when he threw up a bad one it managed to roll around and go in."

While Kunze was having his greatest night in 13 varsity games with the Gophers and fulfilling — possibly ahead of schedule — the great things predicted for him, Minnesota senior Eric Magdanz was recovering from a slump in Saturday's Iowa game that had him and Kundla worried.

Magdanz backed Kunze's performance with a 20-point night, including 15 tallies in the second half when Magdanz and Kunze accounted for all but two Minnesota points.

The Gophers led by up to seven points and held the upper hand most of the way, but Michigan rallied for ties at 57-57 and 59-59.

Then Magdanz hit on a three-point play to make it 62-59. The Wolverines pulled up to 62-61 before Bateman hit a layup for a 64-61 reading. Again Michigan cut it to a one-point lead, but Magdanz fired it with a pair of free throws with six seconds left on the clock.

Minnesota, now 2-1 and tied with Ohio State for third place in the Big Ten, raised its season record to 6-7 in scoring its first victory of the year away from home. Michigan is 10-3 overall and 2-2 in conference play now.

WORDS IN THIS SPACE in Sunday's News didn't come out exactly as they were written.

In pointing out that Rochester is talking about a second indoor ice arena, I wrote that Winona is at the mercy of the elements due to lack of INDOOR facilities.

The word INDOOR became OUTDOOR in print.

And that's an injustice to Mike Bambenek and the Winona Park-Recreation department.

Winona has fine OUTDOOR facilities, which few cities of this size and larger can match. But, and Mike will agree, OUTDOOR facilities are adequate only when the weatherman cooperates. And he (the weatherman) is sometimes a temperamental cuss.

THE ANNUAL Twin Cities Mid-Winter baseball dinner Monday at the Radisson has now been thrown open to women baseball fans, too. It was billed first as a stag affair—but at $15 a ticket, maybe too many men couldn't get oaks from their fraus, unless she gets to go, too.

Anyhow, the talent at the head table is a pretty fabulous array. Starting with Mickey Mantle and Stan Musial and going on down, the major leaguers on hand would probably bring $10 million on the trade market.

APOLOGIES TO BILL HASSINGER, heavyweight wrestler on the Winona High "B" team. Bill took a first place in the St. Louis Park invitational mat meet a week ago but was credited with only a third place finish in the published reports.

THE SAME St. Thomas College team that Ken Wiltgen's Redmen shocked Saturday night in St. Paul was ranked No. 2 in the nation in team defense among NAIA schools.

Tommy opponents had averaged only 48.7 in the first 11 games. Only performance better than that was the 46.3 allowed by Oglethorpe (Ga.).

IT WAS SORT OF "old home week" at Michigan Tech Saturday.

Bob Gunner, former Tech mat coach, brought his Winona State wrestlers to Houghton for a dual meet and Al Renfrew, former Tech hockey coach, brought his Michigan State hockey sextet in for a game.

Houghton must be a nice place to be "from."

SOME 15 TO 16 Winona bowling teams have entered the 1963 Minnesota State tournament to be held in Austin. It is the largest Winona entry in several years, says Jim Schneider, secretary of the Winona Bowling Association.

Teams with reservations are reminded their entry fee must be filed by Sunday to hold their reservation. Final date for entering is Jan. 27.

Saturday is the final day for entering the Winona men's city tournament.

BILL JONES, Swift & Co. manager who has been transferred to the south, will go with a Daily News "300 Club" patch among his possessions.

Jones qualified with a 301 last Tuesday in the American League at Westgate Bowl. Co-workers will present the patch to him at a farewell party Wednesday — along with other tokens of esteem.

Chicago (AP)—Gambling boldly, the Chicago White Sox traded two established stars to Baltimore Monday in an effort to end a third base problem which has been haunting them for years.

The White Sox shipped Luis Aparicio, one of the game's great fielding shortstops, and outfielder Al Smith to Baltimore for shortstop Ron Hansen, relief pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm, outfielder Dave Nicholson and third baseman Pete Ward.

Who is Pete Ward? He is a youngster who has to make the grade or the White Sox might end up having made a bad deal.

Ward was the key man in the deal so far as the White Sox were concerned. Hours before the trade was completed the Orioles tried to retain Ward but were told "no Ward, no deal."

Ward is 23. He batted .329 with Rochester last season with 22 home runs. He scored 14 runs and stole 17 bases in 19 attempts. He played the outfield last year simply because the Orioles have no problems at third base, a post well guarded by Brooks Robinson. Wilhelm, a knuckleballer who will be 40 this summer, has been one of baseball's top relief pitchers for years.

Nicholson, 23, commanded a bonus of $115,000 five years ago.

Redmen, Toms Deadlock at 4-4

St. Mary's and St. Thomas battled to a 4-4 deadlock Monday night at Terrace Heights in an MIAA hockey game played in temperatures more than 20 degrees below zero.

The two sextets were knotted after regulation time, played one overtime and then headed for the warmth of the indoors.

A BRILLIANT job by St. Thomas goalie Jim Lindsay was credited to earning the Toms a tie. He had 28 saves, many of them outstanding.

The Redmen, who went in with a 4-1 MIAA record, led 1-0 after the first period on Andrew Beaulieu's goal and made it 2-0 on Don Berrigan's shot at 3:41 in the second period.

Paul Cramer and Tom Murray scored in succession for St. Thomas to tie it at the seven-minute mark but Dick McCormick and Beaulieu lit the light before the period was over.

At the 5:25 mark in the third period Jack Vogelsang of St. Thomas beat goalie Fritz Kokesh and Dave Peterson rang up the tying goal at 7:50.

Beaulieu's second goal of the night was a 50-foot slap shot when St. Thomas was a man short. The Toms also scored once when the Redmen had one man in the sin-binning.

260 Attend MV Banquet, Hear Coach

COCHRANE-FOUNTAIN CITY, Wis. (Special)—Clark Van Galder, backfield coach at the University of Wisconsin, was the speaker Monday night before 260 coaches, players and cheerleaders at the annual Mississippi Valley Conference football banquet here.

All six schools were represented. Van Galder narrated films of the controversial Minnesota-Wisconsin football game of which he said, "Wisconsin was fortunate to win."

Scheduled showing of the 1963 Rose Bowl game was postponed and will be shown later this spring.

Van Galder in his talk stressed the need for study among high school boys who desire to continue athletics in college. "There's nothing worse than for us to have to tell a boy that his grades are not good enough for him to enroll at the University," said Van Galder.

MAYS YIELDS TO PITCHHITTER — BALTIMORE (AP)—Willie Mays, the San Francisco Giant's star centerfielder, gave way to a pinch hitter at a sports banquet here Monday night.

Chuck Hinton of the Washington Senators accepted the "Sultan of Swat" award for Mays, who was ill at his San Francisco home.

Several years ago Paul Richards, the Houston general manager, who was then managing the Orioles, was praising the fielding ability of rookie third baseman Brooks Robinson.

"I'll tell you how good he is," said Richards. "If I had Robinson at third and Aparicio at shortstop, I'd wager it would be next to impossible to get a ball past them."

The big deal has given the Orioles what could be the best defensive left side of an infield in baseball today. They also picked up a consistent performer in Aparicio, 34, who batted .292 with 16 home runs and 82 runs batted in.

Aparicio, although slumping to .241 last season, is 29 and far from through. He still rates as one of the game's top defensive shortstops.

Hansen, 24, was a rookie rage in 1960 when he made the American League's All-Star squad. He hit 22 home runs, knocked in 86 runs and batted .255. Last year he batted .173. The Sox ignored his records of 1962 because he played part time while serving in the Army.

Winhawk JV Crushes Logan

Winona High's Junior Varsity, using 16 players and getting points from 12, crushed La Crosse Logan JV 73-57 Monday.

Bill Squires was high with 19 points. Pat Boland, Bob Haefner and Tony Kreuer each had 10.

Winona trailed 33-26 at the quarter but led 112-44 at the intermission.
