8 Dead in Kansas City Crash

By HUELL E. WARREN JR.
KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A sleek prop-jet airliner, coming in for a landing at Kansas City Municipal Airport, crashed into a dike at the end of a runway Tuesday night, killing all eight persons aboard.

The four-engine Continental Airlines Viscount had seats for 59 passengers but carried only five. All that was left was a mass of tangled wreckage that burned fiercely for 20 minutes.

Dead, in addition to the five passengers, were the three crew members. All eight bodies were recovered.

The victims included: Capt. Joseph William Smith, 46, Dallas, Tex., the pilot.

First officer S. Clark George, 34, Dallas.

Hostess Ann Lewis, 26, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Lewis, Abilene, Tex.

Passengers: Mary Ann Stewart, 21, Kansas City; Miss Stewart was on the public relations staff of the People to People program. Her parents live in Wichita Falls, Tex.

Mrs. Elmer Russell, 70, Kansas City, Kan.

Her son, Richard, 32, Kansas City, Kan.

E. N. Johnson, Chicago Heights, Ill.

Nathan E. Garber, St. Louis.

R. O. Ziegler, assistant chief of air traffic for the Federal Aviation Agency here, said the plane, Flight 290 from Midland, Tex., approached from north to south toward the business district, just across the Missouri River from the airport.

"It made a normal approach until about 50 feet above the north end of the runway," Ziegler said. "at that time it appeared to level off and climb slightly. It proceeded over the runway until it reached the south end of the field, when the nose appeared to drop sharply and the aircraft disappeared from view behind the dike."

Witnesses said the craft hit an earthen bunker and bounced over a 4-foot wire fence. It skidded up the slope of the dike and catapulted into undergrowth 150 yards from the river.

J. W. Matthews of Bonner Springs, Kan., said the plane was as far as it approached.

Matthews was on duty as a railroad foreman near the airport.

Building Bill Ready for Senate Vote

ST. PAUL (AP) — The first big bill of the 1963 Minnesota Legislature — the $29 million building bill — was ready for Senate consideration today.

Within the period of a little more than an hour Tuesday, the House passed the bill 128-4 and the Senate Finance Committee recommended it for passage.

The measure could be passed today under suspension of the rules, but Sen. Val Imm of Mankato, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said he planned to let the bill take its normal course. This would mean that the bill would get preliminary consideration Friday and could come up for final passage Monday.

William Stevenson, state commissioner of administration, told the Finance Committee that plans and specifications for buildings involved have been finished. He said bids could be called and contracts awarded as soon as legislative action is completed, adding that competition among contractors now would be keener than in June or July.

The bill — a repassage of one approved by the 1961 legislature — includes $8,250,000 for new construction and land acquisition for the five state colleges, $13 million for mental hospitals and institutions for the mentally retarded, and $7.5 million for the University of Minnesota.

Its repassage was urged by Gov. Elmer L. Andersen to remove any doubt about constitutionality of the measure. These doubts were raised because the bill was passed before the voters approved a constitutional amendment authorizing borrowing for building purposes.

The governor called House approval a victory for all Minnesotans and said he hoped for similar speedy action by the Senate.

Voting against the measure in the House were four conservatives, Reps. George French of Minneapolis, Clinton J. Hall of Rushford, Graham Fuller of Ivanhoe and Kenneth S. Scott of Fairmont.

McNamara Asks More Allied Aid

De Gaulle May Promote Western Break With U.S.

U.S. Concerned Over Newest Turn in Events

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The crucial question being debated in Washington today is whether French President Charles de Gaulle will follow up his Common Market defeat of Great Britain with a campaign to break Western Europe's close ties with the United States.

De Gaulle's veto Tuesday of Britain's bid for membership in the market is regarded here as a severe setback to the U.S. campaign for increasing unity within the North Atlantic alliance.

A De Gaulle drive to split Europe apart from the United States — or as one authority put it "to get the United States out of Europe" — could be little short of disastrous.

The question of what De Gaulle will do next is one of several troubling U.S. leaders in the aftermath of the Brussels showdown.

The official policy line taken by administration informants is that the United States intends to go ahead with a broad program for reducing trade barriers, including tariff negotiations with the six-nation Common Market. The administration also intends to carry forward plans for formation of a North Atlantic Treaty Organization nuclear striking force built around the Polaris submarine missile.

But officials said today that until the dust settles it is difficult for them to see exactly the best way to proceed.

Administration officials rule out for the time being at least any sort of U.S. retaliatory action against France.

Another question is what will British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan do? It will be up to him primarily to chart Britain's economic relations with the Western European allies. British relations with France are now more strained than at any time since the Western alliance was formed 15 years ago.

The five nations within the market which opposed De Gaulle's black-balling of Britain — Italy, West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg — also must sort out their policies.

3 Feared Dead In Mine Fire

BENTON, Ill. (AP) — Three miners were feared killed today in a fire, smoldering in one of Illinois' newest coal mines, swept out of control. Four other miners were hospitalized, suffering from smoke inhalation.

The mine, which employs about 250 men in this Southern Illinois city of about 7,900 population, started production in 1961.

A fire broke out Tuesday in the Freeman Coal Co.'s Orient No. 5 mine near Benton. Nearly all 70 men in the mine were evacuated.

A few miners remained 640 feet underground to fight the blaze, which appeared to have been brought under control.

The rains were of much benefit in Southern California, easing the longest drought in the region's history.

Heavy snow fell in southern Oregon mountain sections, with more snow throughout the state and freezing rain indicated in Portland where 3 to 6 inches of snow cover the ground.

Temperatures climbed above zero Tuesday for the first time in more than two weeks in some of the snow-covered sections of the Midwest.

The below zero zone this morning covered sections of the northern Rockies and the northern Midwest. Lowest reading was —24 in Bozeman, Mont. It was —14 in Marquette, Mich., and —13 in Minneapolis.

A blowing snowstorm which hit Montana diminished and a warming trend was indicated. Temperatures appeared near normal in Colorado and Wyoming, with a few sections reporting below zero.

Freezing rain pelted much of Georgia and the state patrol reported nearly all roads north of Atlanta were closed. Hazardous driving conditions were reported through central and northern parts of Georgia, eastern Tennessee, northern South Carolina and western North Carolina. However, warmer weather was on the way.

He said an increasing military strain on the Soviet economy might "tend to limit the size and help determine the character of the Soviet military program, at least over the next few years."

He forecast that Eted China will seek "to expand its own influence in the Communist camp and among the unaligned nations, resorting to armed aggression to satisfy its ambitions only where this can be done without a direct confrontation of U.S. military forces."

"Our principal concern in the years ahead must be the dangers of an ICBM or submarine-launched missile attack, and the main thrust of our efforts should be directed to meet these rising threats," McNamara said in a discussion of U.S. air defenses.

"In this area we are in better shape with respect to warning than to active defense," he said.

"It is now generally agreed that the Nike-Zeus system currently being tested would not be effective against a sophisticated threat until in the late 1960s or early 1970s."

McNamara asked for a $246-million authorization to press development of the Nike X, an advanced antimissile missile which would have an improved radar system and a speedier rocket booster. He requested a total of $50 million for antimissile research and development work.

"I believe that the matter of antimissile defense is so important that we must make every effort to develop an effective system, even if we cannot now make a decision to procure and deploy it," McNamara said.

He called for an increase of 15,000 men in the Army's permanent personnel ceiling to "organize provisions."

The additional strength would provide men to be organized into new air assault divisions, highly mobile units which would be assigned about 400 helicopters and Army airplanes.

Warns U.S. Will Protect Viet Nam

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today the United States does not want to dominate the North Atlantic Treaty Organization but will have to stay in the driver's seat as long as it carries so much of the Western defense load.

"We would be happy to share more equitably the heavy burdens we now carry in the collective defense of the free world," McNamara said. "But as long as we do carry so great a share we cannot escape carrying a proportionately large share of the responsibility for leadership and direction."

America's allies in Europe should be able to shoulder a bigger share of the burden than they have, he added.

McNamara outlined U.S. hopes for the Atlantic Alliance in telling Congress about a five-year defense program designed to handle the Communist threat in situations ranging from guerrilla warfare to nuclear attack.

In lengthy testimony to a closed-door session of the House Armed Services Committee, he estimated the fiscal 1964 spending for all the defense programs at $56 billion. The biggest share, $51 billion, is tagged for the military forces.

In a wide-ranging summary of the present and future U.S. military position, he strongly hinted that the United States would send combat troops into South Viet Nam if the Communists launch an open attack from North Viet Nam. For the first time, he acknowledged the United States now has more than 11,000 military men in Viet Nam advising the native forces.

McNamara told Congress that American strategic might is sufficient to absorb an enemy strike "and still destroy the Soviet Union."

He said the United States will "retaliate in kind" to any Russian nuclear attack, striking back at Soviet cities if American cities are hit.

The defense secretary called for development "on an urgent basis" of a new missile to defend the United States against intercontinental ballistic missile attack.

He sketched a radical new concept for organization and use of airborne infantrymen, one he said "would be particularly valuable for conflicts in areas outside of Europe."

He said an increasing military strain on the Soviet economy might "tend to limit the size and help determine the character of the Soviet military program, at least over the next few years."

He forecast that Eted China will seek "to expand its own influence in the Communist camp and among the unaligned nations, resorting to armed aggression to satisfy its ambitions only where this can be done without a direct confrontation of U.S. military forces."

"Our principal concern in the years ahead must be the dangers of an ICBM or submarine-launched missile attack, and the main thrust of our efforts should be directed to meet these rising threats," McNamara said in a discussion of U.S. air defenses.

De Gaulle Policies Weaken NATO

Russia May Press for Quick Advantage in Western Break

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

PARIS (AP) — The future of the Western Alliance may hinge on the question of who is tougher — youthful President Kennedy or the aging but durable enigma of Europe, President Charles de Gaulle.

The world likely will be witnessing two cold wars within the big one — the East between the Soviet Union and Red China, in the West between the United States and De Gaulle's France.

Britain's lost battle to join the European Common Market will have repercussions around the world. Obviously it is a severe — though not necessarily fatal — blow to the Western unity for which statesmen labored patiently over the past dozen years.

There will be cheering in the Kremlin and probably a Soviet attempt to take quick advantage of the breach in the Western front. The Soviet response may take the form of an aggressive new peace offensive, with seemingly genuine gestures on ranking problems, to make it appear that Europe can do business safely with the Communists.

De Gaulle has made clear that he believes Europe should be a force standing between the United States and the Soviet Union, independently wielding its own nuclear weaponry, even though he has no nuclear weapons to wield yet.

He has made France into a poor partner in NATO — hardly a partner at all. Since France is an important piece of European real estate, De Gaulle's policies already have weakened the Atlantic Alliance.

De Gaulle also has declared Britain unfit to be considered a part of Europe. He champions "continentalism," a continent looking inward, paternally guided and directed by its powerful heart — France and Germany.

Liberals Want DFL Label

By ADOLPH JOHNSON

Associated Press Staff Writer
Members of the Minnesota Legislature usually known as "Liberals" are conducting a campaign to have people refer to them as members of the DFL caucus.

And the Republican State Central Committee at a weekend meeting adopted a resolution calling upon legislators to pass a bill for party designation for senators and representatives.

This means there probably will be a lot of discussion and argument about the proposal, but not necessarily that it will be approved.

Supporters will argue that the legislators should carry party labels, just as other state officials do, to fix the responsibility of members of the legislature to carry out the program of the party which helped elect them.

Many of the liberals — or DFLs to give them the name they want — and also many Conservatives — often GOPs — were elected with party endorsement.

The proponents of party designation will argue further that admitting party ties will strengthen the two-party system and that this in turn will make for better government.

Opponents will repeat their familiar theme that lack of party labels in the Minnesota Legislature saves "oceans of time" that might otherwise have to be devoted to fighting political battles.

They will point to Minnesota's as one of the best legislatures in the nation and one that has enacted forward-looking laws in many areas.

Whatever the merits or drawbacks of the proposal, however, and despite the fact that both political parties have long supported it, party designation appears to have little chance at this session of the legislature.

A study of the makeup of the Senate Elections and Reapportionment Committee, which would pass on party designation bills, shows a strong preponderance of senators who, in the past, have vigorously opposed party designation.

Several bills have been introduced for constitutional amendments to provide for election of the governor and lieutenant governor as a team from the same party. At the same time a study is under way to determine whether there is any possibility that this can be done without amending the constitution simply by passing a law.

A late guess by a state official who has watched the situation closely as to the likely time for the completion of the governorship recount, June.

Freeman's Vote Is Challenged

ST. PAUL (AP) — With a chorle in his voice, Republican chairman Robert Forsythe let it be known Tuesday that the absentee votes of former Gov. and Mrs. Orville Freeman were among those challenged in the Second Ward of Minneapolis.

Forsythe said a DFL challenger tossed them out during the recount of votes in the Elmer Andersen-Karl Rolvaag race.

"The matter does not merit a response," huffed George Farr, state DFL chairman, when asked to comment.

B52 Crashes In N. Mexico

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Burning wreckage of what was believed to be an Air Force B52 jet bomber was sighted this morning on a ridge of the rugged Sangre de Cristo Mountains about 45 miles northeast of Santa Fe in northern New Mexico.

Air Force and state police units were on their way to the site. An Air Force spokesman said a B52 crew would vary from six to nine men. Kirtland Air Force Base at Albuquerque said none of its planes has been reported missing.

Missing Plane's Rafts Sighted

NEW YORK (AP) — A Navy plane with 14 persons aboard was missing 150 miles southeast of here in the Atlantic today. The Coast Guard said it sighted two life rafts, debris and a dye marker, but that it did not know if there were any survivors.

Search planes hovered over the area while the Coast Guard cutter Abasco and two Navy destroyers converged toward the scene.

St. Paul Man Dead in Crash

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Death of a St. Paul man in an automobile collision at a St. Paul intersection early today pushed Minnesota's 1963 highway fatality toll to 34, or four under the count at this time last year.

John Nowaczewski, 64, was thrown from his car and died of head injuries when his car and another collided.

St. Paul police said the second driver, a New Richmond, Wis., man, was held pending an investigation. Police said witnesses reported the Wisconsin man ran a red light and struck the Nowaczewski car broadside.

Killed Tuesday night was Mrs. Agnes Opsahl, 48, Bemidji. The car driven by her husband crashed into the rear of a large truck. The husband, Arthur, was hospitalized with injuries. The semi-trailer truck was being towed following a breakdown. Driver of the tow truck, Leonard Meland, Bemidji, was not hurt. The accident occurred on Highway 2 west of Bemidji.

DEAR ABBY:

White Is Proper For 2nd Marriage

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A neighbor of mine promised her husband she wouldn't smoke any more, so she took up chewing tobacco. It is disgusting enough to see a man chewing, but a woman doing it looks terrible. She claims lots of women chew but few people know it.

I have hinted that it looks bad, but she goes right on chewing. The poor soul must have the habit so strong she can't quit now. Will you ask your readers to pray for her? A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: An entire nation could "pray" for her, but the Lord needs her cooperation. A bad habit never disappears miraculously. It's an "undo-it-yourself" project.

DEAR ABBY: I am concerned about my daughter. She is a lovely, intelligent, happily married woman with two fine children. She has been seeing a clinical psychologist for a year. She is not mentally ill. I've tried to discuss her problem with her but she refuses to confide in me. I know it's fashionable these days to run to psychiatrists and psychologists, but I hate to see my daughter spend her husband's hard-earned money on such a frivolous expense. How can I convince my daughter she is foolish for continuing this costly fad? CONCERNED MOTHER

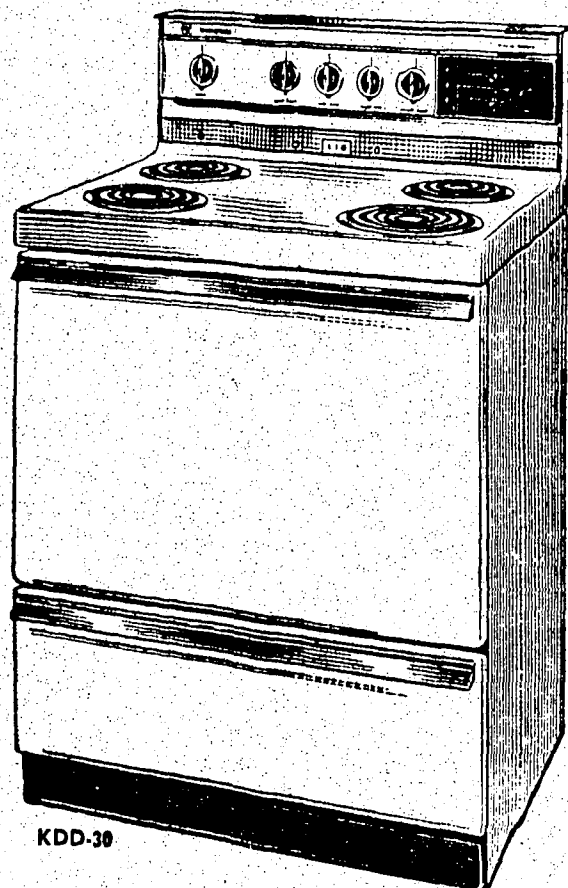

Abby

DEAR ABBY: My problem is an over-attachment husband. When he leaves for work, he kisses me. When he comes home, he kisses me. If we should meet anywhere else, he hugs and kisses me. He doesn't care whether we are alone or not. He is always telling me how nice I look and other such compliments. He can't keep his innermost thoughts to himself. Sometimes it is very embarrassing. Please understand, I really love my husband, but his constant show of affection annoys me. How can I discourage him a little without discouraging him altogether? BLOSSOM

DEAR BLOSSOM: Are you bragging or complaining? Search your soul. Surely you must have a bigger problem.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Sixth District Recount Still A Possibility

PRINCETON, Minn. (AP) — A recount of votes in Minnesota's 6th District congressional race is still a possibility, the Republican loser said Tuesday.

Robert Odegard, Princeton, said the House elections subcommittee is not yet organized in Washington and has not had a chance to act formally on his recount request. Odegard lost to Democrat Alec Olson of Montevideo by 348 votes. The State Supreme Court recently refused to bar the state canvassing board from issuing a certificate of election to Olson.

Odegard said the status of his request was delayed to him by his attorney, Fred Hughes of St. Cloud, who had corresponded with Rep. Robert T. Ashmore, D-S.C., chairman of the subcommittee. Ashmore wrote Hughes that he was chairman of the subcommittee in the last session of Congress and probably will be named to the post again.

He added that while he was not trying to pre-judge Odegard's case, he said that charges of errors and irregularities must be specific and not deal in generalities.

Odegard said he and his backers pointed out in a letter to the House subcommittee Dec. 4 that some precincts turned up more votes than there were voters; and that marked differences in the pattern of voting for governor and congressmen in Grove City and Union Grove Township indicated there may have been a transposition in recording votes.

Odegard said copies of the correspondence were sent to Minnesota's Republican congressmen pending the subcommittee's action.

Rockefeller Asks Kennedy to Tell Truth About Cuba

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller attacked the public information policies of the Kennedy administration Tuesday night, demanding to know when the American people will be told what he called the true situation in Cuba.

The Republican governor told the New York State Publishers Association there is a philosophy "all too popular in high places" that the public cannot be told the whole truth about the international situation "because the people might panic."

He called this concept "fundamentally and dangerously wrong." It was the second assault on the Democratic national administration in two days by Rockefeller, who is considered a likely GOP presidential nominee in next year's election.

The governor expressed "deep concern" Monday over President Kennedy's decision to halt underground nuclear tests during negotiations with the Soviet Union on a test-ban treaty and also said he was disturbed by an "apparent weakening" of the U.S. position on treaty provisions.

'Professionals' Blamed in Kenosha Slaying

KENOSHA, Wis. (AP) — William Schmidt, chief investigator for the Kenosha County sheriff's department, says juke box distributor Anthony Biernat was killed by professional executioners.

The lime-coated body of the 46-year-old Biernat, of Kenosha, was found Monday evening in a frozen grave in the basement of an empty farmhouse on the abandoned Bong Air Force Base 22 miles west of here.

He had suffered at least three blows on the head, and his hands were bound by a wire that stretched around his neck.

Schmidt said Tuesday night the sheriff's office would "devote the entire energy of the department to seeking out and prosecuting the professional executioners who murdered Biernat."

"This was strictly a professional execution," said Schmidt. "The whole thing was prepared in advance. The grave must have been dug beforehand and the lime that covered the body also was gotten in advance. "Why they picked on a man of Tony's unblemished record — a good family man, a church member — I don't know."

The same question undoubtedly was probably one of many raised by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents and Kenosha city and county officers at a two-hour meeting Tuesday night. Attending the conference were six FBI agents, Police Chief Stanley Haukedahl, Schmidt and Deputy Donald Preston. After the conference, Schmidt said, "We merely put our heads together and went over the facts in the case." Virgil Peterson, head of the Chicago Crime Commission, said Tuesday the slaying of Biernat was a "good indication" that hoodlums may be seeking to "muscle in" on the coin machine business in the Kenosha area.

Housing Unit Adopts Budget, Elects Officers

Commissioners of the Winona Housing and Redevelopment Authority met Tuesday to adopt a budget, elect officers and award a contract for public liability insurance coverage.

The annual meeting of the board, held at the Arthur C. Thurlay Home offices, had been postponed from Jan. 15 for lack of a quorum.

COMMISSIONERS approved an operating budget based on anticipated receipts of $125,210 for the fiscal year April 1, 1963, to March 31, 1964. It was submitted by Arthur A. Gallien, executive director. The budget is for operation of the Thurlay low-rental units and the new Schaffner Homes for elderly persons. The two projects are now administered as a combined unit.

Total routine expenses for the fiscal year were budgeted at $92,280 and Gallien estimated nonroutine expenses at another $19,350.

Coming under the heading of nonroutine outlays is a $16,500 appropriation to cover painting of doors, windows and trim on all buildings. Bids will be asked next month. Gallien told board members, with work to be done this summer.

All operating expenses will total $112,080, according to the budget. This includes $8,530 which is earmarked for payment to the county treasurer in lieu of real estate taxes. The 1962 figure was $6,628.

AN ESTIMATED surplus of $13,000 is anticipated and will be used in reduction of the government's annual contribution for interest and amortization of construction indebtedness.

Gallien said the budget will be filed with the Chicago office of the Public Housing Administration.

The Shelby Mutual Insurance Co., represented by the Warren Wunderlich Insurance Agency, will be the authority's insurer for $150,000 to $300,000 of public liability coverage for the next three years. The total three-year premium will be $266.11. The premium for similar three-year coverage on the policy now expiring was $380.

Nine bidders submitted offers to insure at premiums ranging from the second-low figure of $1,240 up to $4,576.

RE-ELECTED TO one-year terms by unanimous vote were the following officers:

Frank Cunningham, chairman; Joseph E. Krier, vice chairman; and William J. Thurow, secretary.

Sheriff Checking Vandalism, Theft

Sheriff George Fort is investigating three incidents which occurred in Winona County during the past few days.

He has been investigating reports of youths shooting holes in a grain storage tank at the Lewiston Elevator Co., Lewiston. He received the first report late last week and has since had other reports.

He went to Lewiston Tuesday afternoon and found many holes in the tank. He warns that offenders will be prosecuted if they are caught.

He is also checking out a report of the theft of a power air wrench worth $75 from the Mobil Service Station, St. Charles, Saturday afternoon. He received the report Tuesday afternoon.

Fort also reported that youths had ransacked the Alfred Mueller home in Bethany. A safe was tampered with and $3 was taken from the home after the ransacking. The incident occurred Tuesday afternoon, said Fort. The safe was not entered, he said.

2-Day Blood Total Rises to 172 Pints

One hundred seventy-two pints were donated Tuesday to the Red Cross bloodmobile at Lucas Lodge for a two-day total of 331 pints.

The five-day goal is 625 pints. There were 28 rejects Tuesday. Phone the Red Cross for an appointment. The bloodmobile will be at Lucas Lodge today and Thursday from 2-7 p.m. and Friday from 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

Mrs. E. S. Kjos, executive secretary of the Winona County Red Cross Chapter, said the good turnout stemmed from organizational efforts of Everett L. Edstrom, blood recruitment chairman, and press and radio publicity.

Edstrom sent letters to local firms setting a quota for each. In some cases these firms reached 200 percent of their quotas. Edstrom has also had excellent cooperation from Winona's three colleges which have named recruitment chairmen and committees. Mrs. Carl Breiflow is blood program chairman.

Persons whose donations reached a minimum of one, two or three gallons Tuesday follow:

One gallon—Mrs. Frank Klagge, James Walz, Miss Rita Rompa, Delmer E. Danielson, the Rev. Myron L. Swanson, Mrs. Doris Storie, Richard Hermanson, Mrs. William Chuchna, Ray A. Beebe, Mrs. L. E. Brynstad, William Emmons, Gerald Gunz, Jack Nelson, George Hittner, Lloyd M.

Ferdinandson, Edward S. Starick, Vernon H. Hemming, Robert Schossow, Ralph J. Carlblom, Ray O'Laughlin, Benedict Grain, Fred Von Fischer, Mrs. Andrew Lipinski and Al Hegenbart.

Two gallons—Miss Alma Wollin, Clarence Losinski, Sylvester, Kammerer, Clarence Satka, Mark S. Joswick, Mrs. George Peterman, Mrs. Fae Griffith, Robert Ozmun, Lawrence J. Kohner, William Chuchna Jr., Robert Meier and Ed Peterson.

State May Start Condemnation for WSC Dormitory

The state of Minnesota has indicated that it may request a hearing in District Court here sometime next month on a petition for condemnation of property for the acquisition of a site for a new dormitory for Winona State College.

The area involved probably would be a portion of the north half of the block bounded by Winona and Huff streets.

40 Attend Public Meeting on Plan For Redevelopment

An audience of 40 people attended a public meeting on downtown redevelopment at the YMCA auditorium Tuesday afternoon.

Speaking at the meeting sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and Winona Industrial Development Association was C. W. Odor Jr., Columbia, Mo. Odor is executive director for the Columbia Land Clearance and Redevelopment Authority.

Present were representatives of several Chamber bureaus, industry, church and women's groups, the county Historical Society, and city and county officials.

Chamber Manager Don Stone said interest was expressed by members of the audience in possible effects of adoption of a similar program for downtown areas of Winona.

THIS IS on the south side of King Street, across from an existing block of dormitories.

It's not believed that the entire north half of the block will be taken but rather a tract extending west from Winona Street.

A member of the firm of Eckert & Carlson, Winona architects who are drafting plans and specifications for the 200-bed dormitory, said today that he has not been advised by the state yet whether a final decision has been made if the new dormitory will be for men or women students.

FUNDS ARE available for land acquisition. Cost of the dormitory has been estimated at $700,000 and construction would be on action by the Legislature at its current session authorizing an issue of revenue bonds for state college dormitory and food service construction.

College officials have hoped that the new building might be ready for occupancy in the fall of 1964.

Fire Strikes Barns, Tavern

Loss $20,000 In Elgin Blaze

ELGIN, Minn. (Special) — A 36-by-72-foot barn, 4,000 bales of hay, 1,500 bales of straw and some small farm machinery, all valued at $20,000, were destroyed by fire on the Merle Bany farm seven miles north and west of here Tuesday evening.

A motorist, Kenneth Goetz, Plainville, noticed the blaze at 2:30 p.m. and notified Bany. The Elgin fire department was called but the fire was out of control when it arrived. There was no livestock in the building.

Firemen prevented the flames from spreading to other buildings but were called back at 4 a.m. when the wind changed direction and burning embers threatened the house. Cause of the fire was not known. The barn was partially insured.

Livestock Burns On Mabel Farm

MABEL, Minn. (Special) — Fifteen head of Hereford steers and heifers and 31 sheep were destroyed in a fire which burned the barn on the J. R. Casterton & Son farm nine miles southeast of here Tuesday night.

The flames destroyed the 32-by-45-foot barn, 200 bales of straw and two tons of hay in addition to the livestock.

When Edward Seiness, a neighbor, discovered the blaze, it was

Canton Tavern Damaged

CANTON, Minn. (Special) — Extensive damage was done to the interior of a tavern, Jim's Place, here early this morning.

About 15 feet of the interior on the north front was badly charred and bar, booths and other fixtures were damaged by water.

THE CASH register at the front of the barroom was damaged beyond repair, according to Sabert Halverson, fireman, but the cash register near the back of the bar, containing checks and cash, will be serviceable.

Electrical wiring at the front of the building is suspected as the source of the fire.

The fire was discovered by Virgil Johnson, traveling through town en route to his farm home. He noticed reflection of flames in the front windows and called the operator at Preston from a street telephone booth. The alarm was sounded at 2 a.m. Five firemen receive calls when an alarm is sounded.

Too late to get the cattle out, the fire was out of control when Mabel firemen reached the scene. They were called at 11 p.m.

Casterton and his son, James, don't live on the place. The buildings were empty except for the stock. The farmstead is about a mile cross-country from the house where the Castertons reside, although the farm land adjoins. The buildings are about a half-mile from a gravelled county highway.

Casterton said he carried insurance on building and livestock. Firemen fought the blaze in -8 weather.

'Not So Cold' But Plenty Cold Anyhow

"Not so cold." Those words in the weather forecast for Winona and vicinity are music to the ear.

IN FACT, the weatherman predicts that for the next five days, the average temperature will not be much more than 10 to 15 degrees below normal for this time of the year. It's been running as high as 20 and 25 degrees off normal.

For the next five days normal highs for the area are 21-26 and nighttime lows zero to 7 above.

Mostly fair tonight and Thursday is the prediction with a low of 2 to 12 below tonight and a high of 10-20 above Thursday. A little colder Friday with a chance of some light snow flurries is the outlook.

It will be colder again Friday with no great change thereafter, says the extended prediction. Precipitation will average one-tenth of an inch or less, occurring as occasional periods of light snow or snow flurries.

IT WAS NIPPY in Winona this morning. The temperature was down to -15 at 7 a.m. after rising to a maximum of 14 above Tuesday afternoon. At noon today the reading was zero.

The traffic departments of Minnesota and Wisconsin reported all main highways in good winter driving condition.

A year ago today Winona had a pleasant 39 for the high and 2 for the low. The all-time high for Jan. 30 was 48 in 1890 and 1931 and the low for the day -37 in 1951, one of the coldest days in Winona history, -43 being the all-time low on Jan. 18, 1873.

Meat for the past 24 hours was -1. Normal for the day is 17.

International Falls was back again with the state's lowest reading, 21 below zero. Bemidji and St. Cloud posted 17s and Duluth -15.

At Rochester the low was -13 after a Tuesday high of 9 above. La Crosse had readings of -11 and 13 above for the same times.

It seemed like a heat wave Tuesday as WISCONSIN enjoyed its warmest day in two long, miserable weeks, but a relapse occurred during the night.

Back to the old stuff again, the mercury slid down as if it were on a greased pole, dropping to 17 below zero at Wausau and Eau Claire overnight.

And the figures were nearly as sad elsewhere: 15 below at Superior, 11 below at Green Bay, 6 below at Lone Rock, 5 below at Madison, and 4 below at the Milwaukee Airport.

The nation's hottest spot was Fort Myers, Fla., where it was 79. The national low early today was 36 below zero at Drummond, Mont.

Arkansaw Girl St. Paul Queen

ARKANSAW, Wis. — "It seems more like a dream."

That's what brown-haired, blue-eyed Roberta Ann Anibas, 19, rural Arkansas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Anibas, told her mother Monday night at St. Paul after being crowned Queen of the Snows of the St. Paul Winter Carnival.

ROBERTA, wearing a long, full-skirted white dress and long white gloves, was chosen from among 27 contestants. Her parents and a brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kahabka, St. Paul, attended the coronation in the St. Paul Auditorium. Roberta was crowned by Henri G. Foussard, King Boreas XXVII.

Election Ballots Can Be Secured For Invalids

Persons confined to their homes or beds by illness or disability also are eligible to vote by absentee ballot. City Recorder Roy Wildgrube emphasized today.

An application for absentee ballot must be completed and signed by the voter and returned to the recorder's office at City Hall. A friend or relative can pick up the application, return it to the recorder's office and deliver voting supplies to the voter, if desired. The process also can be accomplished by mail.

Upon receiving the ballot the voter marks it, seals it in an inner envelope and signs the outer mailing envelope. A notary public must witness this signature. The envelope is then mailed and delivered to the proper election board.

Mailed ballots must be received by election judges before polls close on election day. The city primary election will be held Monday.

Lions at Ettrick To Hold Banquet; Dredging Planned

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special) — Marvin J. Roshell, Chippewa Falls, governor of district 27-E, Lions International, will be the speaker at the governor's night banquet of Ettrick Lions Club at St. Bridget's Catholic Church Feb. 7.

A Valentine party will be held and wives of the Lions will be guests.

Roshell was elected at the 1962 state convention and attended the international convention at Nice, France, in June.

The club is sponsoring a series of card parties to raise funds for dredging the Ettrick pond, "Lake Chapultepec." Ten businesses will entertain 12 persons each at a card party before Feb. 7. (Metus Casey is chairman of the project.)

The club hopes, with the help of the village and volunteer labor, to dredge silt and mud to fill in adjacent lowlands for a park. Brush and small trees on the east side of the dam were cleared last fall by Ettrick American Legion Post. Larger trees were left standing.

Officers of the club are: Oscar Strand, president; Bennett Onsrud, E. O. Runnstrand, secretary, and C. H. Nelson, treasurer.

Sewer Use Tax To Be Charged At Spring Grove

SPRING GROVE, Minn. — Residents and business establishments where sewer service is available will be charged a sewer use tax whether or not they are connected to the system, according to Mayor B. A. Onsgard.

Onsgard said the state Board of Health will demand connection to the sewer lines in the near future as a health measure.

The sewer use tax is estimated to produce $16,000 annually to pay principal and interest charges for the sewage treatment plant and operating expenses.

Accident Driver Found Guilty

Gerald J. Knopick, 20, 868 E. 5th St., did not testify in a trial in municipal court today in which he was charged with failure to yield the right of way causing an accident.

Judge S. D. J. Bruski found him guilty of the charge and sentenced him to pay a fine of $15 or to serve five days. Knopick paid the fine.

He was arrested by police following an accident at Mankato Avenue and East Wabasha Street at 7:20 a.m. Jan. 21. Knopick had pleaded not guilty Jan. 22.

Paul Kapusik, Winona policeman, was called by Prosecutor Roger Brosnahan as the state's only witness.

Kapusik said that when he arrived at the accident scene he asked Knopick what had occurred. He said that Knopick told him that he was driving east on Wabasha Street and that Wilfred A. Henning, 519 Wall St., was driving north on Mankato Avenue.

He said that Knopick's car had struck the left rear of Henning's truck and that the car traveled north on Mankato Avenue for 50 to 50 feet past the point of impact.

Kapusik also said that Knopick told him that he slowed down and skidded and thought he could make it across the intersection. The policeman also stated that Knopick told him that he did not stop for the stop sign.

Commissioners To Open Bids

The Winona County Board of Commissioners will open bids at 10 a.m. Tuesday for a station wagon and pickup truck for the county highway department, County Auditor Richard Schoonover announced.

The February meeting starts at 1:30 p.m. Monday. At 2 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. respective hearings will be held on self-off petitions from Richard Dorn and Erwin Richter, Norton Township, who want land set off from Common School District 2605, Prigge School to Lewiston Independent District 857.

Commissioners will choose a company to provide medical and hospitalization coverage for county employees for the year starting March 1. North American Life & Casualty Co., Minneapolis, has the policy now.

COURT CORRECTION

Garlan Polus, 477 Wilson St., said today that he did not testify in a municipal court trial Tuesday that he admitted owing the plaintiff in a debt collection the sum of $3125 for snow removal.

Private Rites Set for Frost On Thursday

BOSTON (AP)—Private funeral services with only members of his family in attendance will be held Thursday for poet Robert Frost as the world shares in the mourning.

The four-time Pulitzer Prize winner poet died Tuesday at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital at the age of 88. Death was caused by what doctors described as a probable blood clot in the lungs.

He had been in the hospital since Dec. 3. A week later, he underwent surgery for a urinary tract obstruction and subsequently suffered a heart attack and two blood clots.

Frost, dean of American poets, was considered in many quarters as the uncrowned poet laureate of the United States.

The private services will be held Thursday afternoon in Cambridge, where he had made his home. A memorial service will be held Sunday, Feb. 17, at Amherst College.

Burial will be in the family plot at Old Bennington, Vt., where his wife and parents lie.

Two of Frost's six children survive him. They are Mrs. Joseph Ballantine of New York, and Mrs. Irma Cone of Burlington, Vt.

BOYLE'S COLUMN

Story of — Country, City Life

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The menu for today, dear reader, is a true-life success story with a puzzle at the end.

The puzzle is whether you can guess which—but first, read on: Once upon a time—about 30 years ago—two young fellows roomed in the same boarding house at a Midwest university. America was still in the stubborn grip of the greatest depression of the 20th century.

Times were really rough. You could eat on 35 cents a day if you had to. You never bought a new pair of shoes until the ones you were wearing had been broken and knotted together in at least four places.

When the two young fellows graduated, one said: "There's nothing in the way of opportunity out here. I'm going to seek fame and fortune in the big city. I hear there's a dollar to be made there for every light on Broadway."

The other fellow said: "I think I'll go back and settle down in my home town where people know me. Something'll turn up sooner or later."

Well, both these young men—let's call one Mr. Home Town and the other Mr. Metropolis—carried out their decisions. Thirty years later Mr. Home Town phoned Mr. Metropolis and said, "I'll be in Manhattan next Friday. How about us getting together for dinner?"

He and Mr. Home Town reminisced about old times on the campus as they gulped and chewed their way through two highballs, steaks, after dinner brandy—Mr. Home Town really seemed to want to live it up, and Mr. Metropolis felt rather sorry for him—and coffee.

"How have things been going with you?" asked Mr. Home Town. Fingering the bills in his pocket and wondering whether they'd cover the tab, Mr. Metropolis said he had one child, lived in a small but comfortable apartment in an area where there hadn't been a knife stabbing in six months. He

'Hollow Crown' Making a Hit On Broadway

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Critic

NEW YORK (AP)—To this season's Broadway boom in theatrical treats from Britain, add now "The Hollow Crown."

A pageant of the pleasures and perils of English monarchy from William's conquest to Victoria's coronation, it opened Tuesday night at the Henry Miller Playhouse for a four-week run.

Four players and a musical quartet fill the stage with imaginative panorama created from bits of ancient narrative, courtiers' comments and majesty's own words.

Sometimes this contingent from the Royal Shakespeare Company of Stratford on Avon, present episodes as readings, then suddenly become the very participants in long-ago crises. The subtle acting display is without period props or costume.

The cast includes John Barton, who also arranged and directed the entertainment; Max Adrian, Paul Hardwick and Dorothy Tutin. Between the dramatic scenes, interludes of ballad and harpsichord melody are contributed by Richard Golding, Stephen Manton, John Lawrenson and James Walker.

The lusty Tudors and merry Stuarts provide much of the subject matter, but hardly a ruler in a thousand years of regal turbulence is overlooked. It is a spectacle of words tragic, touching, witty and vibrant with life.

said he didn't drive a car, rode the subway, had a pretty good job and hoped if he could hold it to 65 to be able to save enough to retire and move back to his own old home town.

"And what about you?" he then asked.

"Oh, I've got seven kids," said Mr. Home Town. "I've got a transportation company that did $20 million last year. But, of course, that's not my main interest."

"What is your main interest?" asked Mr. Metropolis.

"Oh, I'd say it probably was banking."

"How big is your bank?"

"Which one? I've got four."

As he reached for the restaurant check and opened a wallet stuffed with $50 bills, Mr. Home Town remarked:

"You know, I envy you the cultural advantages you've gained by living in a place like New York all these years. I'm still a country bumpkin. My wife and I get to take in the shows and concerts only when we pass through here each summer on our way to Europe to pick up a few modern paintings."

The two men arose, shook hands and parted.

That is the story, dear reader. Now comes the puzzle:

Can you guess which of these two young men was the one who came to the big city 30 years ago to make his fortune and enjoy the finer life—me or the other fellow?

Losses Far Exceed Gains by Strikers

THE COSTLY DOCK strike has been settled and it is a break for the long-suffering citizens of the nation's eastern half. Once again 550 idle ships are moving cargo for Atlantic and Gulf ports and 100,000 idle men are again drawing wages.

The losses in the 30-day strike have exceeded a half billion dollars and this cannot be relieved. But at least they won't go higher.

What will go higher are the costs of shipping goods by water. The settlement proposed by federal negotiators provides wage increases and other benefits adding about $100 million annually in the areas covered by the contracts.

IT WILL BE paid, as is usual, by the ultimate consumer of the shipped goods in the form of higher prices.

While we rejoice that a settlement has been reached, we hope that the issues will not be set aside and forgotten until another costly strike occurs to plague the public and lead to a settlement under duress.

CONGRESS HAS pending proposals to curb such damaging strikes in the public area. There still seems a need to consider whether the public interest is not compromised by such a strike as this which caused losses more than five times the year's gains by the strikers.

New Cuban Buildup And 'Managed News'

FOR MONTHS, newspapers in this country have warned that the Kennedy administration was playing with fire in suppressing or bending the news to fit its own purposes.

Now, in the latest flareup over the Cuban mess, we are seeing just how serious this can be.

We can ignore for the moment the awkward question of whether the President of the United States (and his brother) have falsified the record on our air-cover commitments for the 1961 invasion.

This is bad enough, but not too pressing now. It is vital, on the other hand, that American people know the truth about a continuing Soviet buildup on this captive island.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY says that no more than one Soviet ship has taken military cargo into Cuba in recent months.

At the same time, dozens of eyewitness reports indicate that traffic is heavy; that underground storage areas are being built, and heavily guarded; that short-range missiles and rockets by the hundreds, along with planes and crack Soviet troops, remain at Cuban bases.

One Washington reporting team declared flatly last week that at least three Soviet ships headed for Cuban ports were checked at sea by low-flying U.S. reconnaissance planes.

The ships bore "fissionable material," which probably means nuclear warheads. The ships and ports are named.

AMERICANS HAD REASON for alarm when their government took the Russians' word for it that long-range missiles and bombers had been removed after the October crisis.

At that time, most of us wanted Castro thrown out or starved out, with a blockade kept up at least until all imported men and weapons had been removed.

Now the evidence points to a renewed Soviet buildup, in jeering defiance of Khrushchev's promises last fall. Castro and Cuba are Soviet captives. They remain a real threat to the entire hemisphere.

A SENATE SUBCOMMITTEE has begun a full study, and about time. But will their findings dare to call the President a liar if that is how the evidence turns out? —La Crosse Tribune.

HOW DO YOU STAND, SIR?

Workers Forced To Join Union

By SEN. BARRY GOLDWATER

Thousands of workers in this country who do not want to join a union or pay tribute to it are compelled to do this in order to hold their jobs.

Under the present law, the only alleviating circumstance is a provision of the National Labor Relations Act which permits states, if they desire, to adopt laws limiting or completely prohibiting any form of compulsory union membership. So far, 19 states have enacted these so-called "right-to-work" statutes.

In recent weeks I have devoted considerable study and research to this problem. And I have come to the conclusion that, in adopting this approach when it passed the Taft-Hartley Act in 1947, Congress put the cart before the horse.

Instead of permitting compulsory unionism and authorizing the states to forbid it, I am convinced the Congress should have prohibited all forms of compulsory membership in or financial support of labor unions. It could then have provided that the states, acting affirmatively, could permit the limited form of union security now authorized in the law. This approach would have been consistent with the spirit of the Wagner Act, which labor has often referred to as its "Magna Carta" and to which they always profess a desire to return.

UNTIL 1935, when the Wagner Act became law, compulsory unionism was legal in some states and partially or wholly unlawful in others. If the Wagner Act had adhered to its basic principle of forbidding all hiring and personnel practices which discriminated against workers because they did or did not belong or contribute to a labor union, then every form of union security or agency shop would have been outlawed as constituting such a discrimination.

But Sen. Robert F. Wagner, the author of the act, recognized the inevitability of such consequences. So he included in his proposal a specific proviso permitting unions and employers to execute and apply compulsory union membership agreements.

Senator Wagner's justification for this was highly interesting, since it was a pure and unadulterated plea for states' rights. He argued that unless his proviso were included, all state laws permitting compulsory unionism would be nullified by the federal law. Here is what he said in a statement to the Senate at that time:

"EQUALLY ERRONEOUS is the belief that the bill creates a closed shop for all industry. It does not force any employer to make a closed-shop agreement. It does not even state that Congress favors the policy of the closed shop. It merely provides that employers and employees may voluntarily make closed-shop agreements, in any state where they are now legal."

I suggest that the history of the Wagner Act, as well as its structure and the underlying principles of its approach to labor-management relations, all make it very clear that compulsory union membership or compulsory financial support of a union are forms of discrimination. In 1935, Congress, as well as the author and supporters of the Wagner Act, recognized this and justified the inconsistency on the grounds of states' rights—stating that a proviso was necessary to preserve state laws permitting compulsory unionism.

IN THE LABOR-MANAGEMENT bill which I have proposed to the new Congress, the situation existing today would be corrected. Provisions of that bill would declare, as a matter of federal law, that all forms of discrimination because of membership or non-membership in or support or non-support of a union are unfair labor practices. They would permit the present limited form of union security to be imposed only in those states whose laws affirmatively provide for it. But they would not affect existing or future state right-to-work laws, although the need for them would have largely disappeared.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Chairman 'Chickens' On Power Line Fight

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — When the chairman of an important regulatory commission confesses that he's "chickened" regarding regulation of one of the biggest utilities in the USA, at first you think he's kidding.

However, when you examine the private correspondence between Chairman Joe Swidler of the Federal Power Commission and Rep. John Moss, the Sacramento, Calif., Democrat, you can see that Swidler was not kidding. Unquestionably, he did chicken. Here is the inside story of what happened.

When Vice Chairman Howard Morgan of the Power Commission finished writing his dissent in the bid of Pacific Gas and Electric and Pacific Light and Power to build a historic 230,000-volt interstate line from Oregon to California, he sent copies of his dissent to senators and congressmen from the Far West.

One went to Rep. John Moss. As a representative of northern California, vitally affected by the vast transmission of power to and from Oregon, he read the dissent with interest. He noted allegations that Congress had proposed building its own transmission line to tap the government's own power at Bonneville Dam; noted that the two big power companies were trying to beat the government to its own power; also noted that Bonneville Administrator Charles Luce said he would sell no government power to the two private utilities without an OK from Congress.

FINALLY MOSS noted that this would be the first time in history that a giant high-voltage line similar to those in Russia was to be built carrying power long distances in the United States.

Noting these dissenting allegations, the congressman sent over to the Power Commission to get both sides of the story. He received back the majority opinion, but not Vice Chairman Morgan's dissent.

Moss already had the dissent. However, he is chairman of a House committee on the suppression of government information so he wondered why the dissent was being suppressed. He phoned Bill Webb, in charge of press relations. "I'm sorry," stalled Webb. "I can't give you the dissent. You'll have to talk to the secretary of the commission."

Moss then phoned Joe Gutridge, the FPC secretary.

GUTRIDGE ALSO stalled. It became clear that the vice chairman's dissent, which blasted the other three commissioners out of the water, was too hot to publish. But since differences of this kind, involving the taxpayers' money, are supposed to be a matter of public record, Rep. Moss called in Chairman Swidler. They had a long talk about the entire transmission line problem, and in the end, Moss asked Swidler to draft a bill giving the Power Commission the power to certify all high-voltage transmission lines in the United States.

Moss and Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., also vigilant on power matters, then introduced the bill which Swidler had written.

But here is the pay-off. After the bill was introduced, the full Federal Power Commission, with Vice Chairman Morgan dissenting, then disapproved the bill which its own chairman had written. The majority didn't want the government to certify the new high-voltage transmission lines which may revolutionize industry in the United States. This they ruled should be left to the private utilities.

And Chairman Swidler, believe it or not, joined in disapproving the bill which he himself had written. He chickened again.

SEN. DAN I NOUYE, the one-armed freshman from Hawaii, jokes about his low Senate seniority. It's so low, he says, that every old senator is raiding his furniture. He started out with green furniture, green drapes, and green rugs. Now, thanks to seniority raids, he has red furniture with green drapes, and soon expects to have purple rugs. . . . Khrushchev and Kennedy have been exchanging letters about a new site for nuclear testing, and both seem to favor Afghanistan, a neutral country. Afghanistan's reaction is similar to that told by the late Vice President Alben Barkley of the man who was to be ridden out of town on a rail. "If it wasn't for the honor," he said, "I'd rather walk." . . . Dictator Franco of Spain has chosen a poor time to try to blackmail the USA into raising the price tag on U.S. bases in Spain. It's a time when we're pulling land-based missiles out of Italy and Turkey in favor of water-based submarines. If we pulled our entire military complex out of Spain, the economic impact would probably mean revolution — and the end of Franco.

To Your Good Health

Answers To Your Questions

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What percentage of pork is infested with trichina? I am usually quite careful but a few days ago I was in a hurry and cooked sausage only 18 minutes at 300 degrees. After we had eaten some I knew it wasn't done and I recoiled the remainder. However now I am wondering whether a death sentence is hanging over our heads.—MRS. G. P.

This letter fits from Kansas a state of low incidence of trichina, where less than one-tenth of one percent of swine are infested.

Chances, therefore, are less than one in a thousand, and the cooking, in this case, may or may not have destroyed the larva, if any. Larva will be destroyed if the pork is cooked to 137 degrees all the way through.

Dear Dr. Molner: For six or eight months my left shoulder has pained me a lot although it lessens during the day. What do you think the trouble is?—MRS. C. B.

Obviously, I can only speculate. Get your doctor's diagnosis. Among the frequent causes is a strain from some unusual use of the arm—wall washing, painting a ceiling, or sawing wood.

Bursitis (from too much pressure or strain on a joint) is another. There may be a calcium deposit along a tendon or in a bursa which causes pain in certain movements. Such a condition might be more painful at night because you lie with your arm in some particular position.

City Should Sponsor Miss Minnesota Contest

To the Editor:

I am writing in regard to holding a Miss Minnesota Contest here in our lovely city of Winona. I believe that if Winona held a Miss Minnesota Contest, it would have great publicity value, and social prestige, and perhaps bring a little fame to the lovely city of Winona.

I believe that Winona and the surrounding area has some very lovely and talented young ladies who I think would make very fine representatives in a Miss America or a Miss Universe Beauty Contest if only given the proper chance to prove and to show what they can do. Since Winona is a college town, and with young ladies in attendance at these colleges, it really shouldn't be too hard to find potential Miss Minnesota representatives to represent our great city of Winona at a national or international beauty pageant.

I have been asked by the national director of the Miss United States—Miss World Beauty Pageant—if I could send a young lady from Winona to compete in the National Miss United States—Miss World Beauty Pageant—but since I have no experience along these lines, I thought that perhaps our local newspaper, the Winona Daily News might be in a position to give some added suggestions as to what to do concerning this matter, or perhaps there may be some organizations or individuals in the city who might be interested in an affair of this nature.

Rattlesnake Hunting And Bounty Payments

To the Editor:

In answering the column that was printed in the Daily News Jan. 10, first we want to clear our names of being some of the snake hunters bilking the taxpayer out of unfair taxes. We have hunted snakes for 40 years and should know what we are going to write about.

A young rattlesnake is born with a rattle or a button the start of a rattle. This button is black and about 1/4 inch in length, easy to identify from the other snakes. So any of the chairmen paying bounties on young snakes without a rattle or button are wasting our tax money.

The column states a young rattlesnake is born without a rattle. This statement is false. A young rattlesnake has a button while it is still in the egg. It lives on this egg until it is born. The young are born the latter part of August or in September. If we have an early spring the females are mated early and the young will be born sooner. The young at birth look just like the mother only lighter in color.

Each time the young snake sheds its skin it adds a segment, which could be twice a year. These segments are hooked together like a chain. The longest rattler we have killed was 64 inches long and had 23 segments. The rattlesnakes lose a lot of these segments by crawling over rocks. So you cannot tell the age of a rattler by the segments it has.

We have killed some rattlers probably eight or ten years old with just a button. How could these rattlers warn some little child that danger was close by? They need five or more segments to warn you. Otherwise you don't hear them.

Our experience in snake hunting comes from 40 years of hard work, climbing those steep rocky hills, risking our lives to help keep the parks clean of these pests. We don't just think of the dollar while hunting these pests. People are using the parks more each year. There's water in the parks and rattlers like it there. Our experiences in snake hunting are all true experiences and not all from a book. You get very little dope out of books on snakes.

The law on rattlesnake bounties states you need a rattle intact to a part of the tail, also the head to collect the dollar bounty which should be $2 or $3. We don't hunt rattlers until the latter part of August, depending on the spring. The young are about 10-13 inches long and the average female has eight young.

Now taxpayers, if these young were not hunted at this stage, the young snakes would be hard to find until they get three or four years old and have young of their own. And if six of the eight are females and they have on the average of eight young that will live, it would cost us $48 instead of $8.

We say bounty should not be paid on young rattlesnakes until they are 10 to 13 inches long. Then the chairmen can see that it is a rattlesnake. We don't have any trouble with our chairmen and we are not wasting tax money.

The farmers that own the land we hunt on are always glad to see us come. These farmers have small children crawling around the lawns playing. If a rattler bites them, it would most likely be in the face or neck. The bite could be fatal. The rattlesnake also will swallow young rabbits and squirrels, eat game bird eggs and also the young. Winona County hasn't many snake hunters left. What would happen if all of us gave this sport up?

We have killed a lot of rattlers in the last 40 years. Most of these years the bounty was 50 cents. This dollar bounty we get today does not pay our expenses. So if this sport of hunting the young rattlesnake with a button or rattle is illegal, then we'll hang our equipment in the dens and go fishing.

Dogs, Cats Can Change in Short Time

To the Editor:

As to the "wild dogs," I'd like to add my two cents worth. This person claims he is an animal lover. If he is such a lover and a know it all about dogs he ought to know that a dog or cat can change in a short time when it is taken out into the country to be dumped off on some farmer.

They dump these dogs out in the country so they don't have to either put up with it in town or to do away with it so the kids will think someone stole it or it ran away.

Now what happens when this dog is dumped on the farmer? Some farmer will either have a soft heart and will put up with it, while if he already has a dog or two will have to shoot it.

A cat belongs to the tiger family and it will also turn fierce if it is allowed to—but doesn't do this sheep killing. Incidentally this is where a lot of deer get killed because a good farm dog stays home unless he is urged by stray city dogs.

Hope this "dog lover" loves his dog if he is an owner—but at least gives the dog some fresh air even if it is on a chain. Fresh air is good for all—even a dog.

The mammoth feast comprised four sittings, each for 16 persons.

The menu included such Chinese delicacies as bear's foot, bird's tongue, elephant trunk, deer, stork, seal and a whole suckling pig. It wound up with a grand dessert consisting of 100 kinds of fruit.

The feast cost more than $600, equivalent to two years' pay for the average worker in Hong Kong.

The feast, known as the "Manchu - Chinese complete banquet," took a local restaurant two weeks to prepare.

Wabasha County Town Ordered To Provide Road

WABASHA, Minn. (Special)—A verdict for the plaintiff has been rendered against Glasgow Township, Wabasha County, enjoining its board to provide an adequate road for Delbert Passe. The case has been in the courts since 1960.

Passe petitioned the town board in 1960 for a road through the Martin Passe farm, complaining that his outlet road along a bluff was narrow, steep and dangerous. Township officers refused.

Eventually Passe went to the District Court. At the trial in December last year township officers agreed to widen Passe's bluff road and reduce the grade. No decision was rendered and the case was continued.

Passe brought the matter to the attention of the court again and his appeal was tried before Judge John Cahill of Waseca here last Aug. 30.

Judge Cahill in his order, rendered last week, commanded the Town Board to fulfill the agreement of 1960 or investigate the cost of alternative routes to provide Passe with adequate access.

Dan Foley and James Zeig, Wabasha, were attorneys for the plaintiff, B. H. Schlosstein represented the township.

Some time ago we mentioned to you what a wonderful job Lustre Cream Shampoo did on pigskin gloves — you really should try it — fantastic — now Beulah tells of another use for this Shampoo — Do you have trouble in laundering your husband's shirts in removing that little line — that no matter how clean he is will form on the fold of the collar — moisten the collar first with water, use a little Lustre Cream Shampoo — rub — and presto, it is gone — can't understand why — but it does — biggest one little help I've had lately.

Valentines galore at BROWN'S this year — all new and all pretty — this cold weather does give one a little more time to browse around when downtown — come in — get warm — pick out your Valentines — only about two weeks now before it is time to be sending them — this is one time of year you can say the things you may want to many other times and don't.

Ev and Charlie Show Ready for Another Season

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—The "Ev and Charlie" show is about to go into production again with some new characters added to the cast. Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said today he and House GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana will be back in the business of peddling their party's viewpoint at weekly news conferences as soon as Congress gets down to work on legislation.

Dirksen conceded there will be some changes in the script and some new faces in the television lights.

The general understanding among Republicans is that the two old pros, Dirksen and Halleck, will continue as the stars, but the format of the act may be changed.

Instead of presenting only Dirksen and Halleck each week, top Republicans on Senate and House committees which are dealing with specific subjects may be brought in to air their views.

To keep the stage from becoming too crowded, Dirksen and Halleck may alternate their appearances.

To give the whole thing more of an atmosphere of a party endeavor—rather than strictly a leadership undertaking—any Republican governor in town is likely to be drafted for an appearance.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller plans a visit next week. However, Dirksen thought that would be a little early to try to get the show on the boards.

One plugging circumstance is that no sponsor has turned up. The Republican National Finance Committee orphaned the show by cutting off its budget funds.

BUSINESS MIRROR

Consumers Step Up Auto Buying

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—To the joy of a lot of people—including the finance companies—consumers have stepped up their buying of autos and appliances and other durables. Will it last?

They are spending just under 13 per cent of their after tax incomes on such things. Total sales last year rose 9 per cent to $48 billion.

This change of heart by consumers after a long spell of caution is a prime reason General Motors reports record sales and profits for 1962. It is the reason most auto, appliance and furniture men are predicting that 1963 will be that rare thing, a back-to-back good year. This would mean two big selling seasons in succession.

Another reason they are optimistic is that sales of durables are particularly sensitive to the level of incomes—and these continue to grow. And they are equally swayed by the rate of growth of incomes and the chances of this continuing. Surveys report most consumers feel things are going to get better.

A third reason the durable goods producers and dealers look for a good sales year is they believe Congress will vote some kind of a cut in individual income taxes this year. And the salesmen think that durables have an inside track on getting that extra money.

Even so, few are looking for a boom in sales comparable to that from the end of World War II to 1955. The Chase Manhattan Bank of New York, in its current Business in Brief survey, notes that in 1950 consumers were spending 17 per cent of their after tax money on hard goods, and in 1955 it was 15 per cent.

But the bank economists also point out that from the early 1961 low of the last recession to the third quarter of 1962 sales of durables rose 15 per cent.

From this some might figure that the auto years of the late 1950s are over. Then the big pent-up demand from the war years (and even from the depression before them) had been fairly well satisfied. Huge sales of cars and household gadgets had brought transportation and home living up to the dreamed-of standards. Why could things be different today?

The bank economists note that in 1962 some durables that didn't get the big play before began to sell at rates well above the 9 per cent gain for durables as a whole. Color television sets, formerly selling around 100,000 a year, came to 400,000 in 1962. Phonograph sales rose from 3.9 million in 1961 to 4.9 million last year.

And most American families aren't satisfied with just the appliances they once thought all they needed. As they pay off the monthly chits on these, they begin dreaming of new ones. Or, as the bankers put it, "Aspirations are increased with success."

EPISCOPAL INCREASE
NEW YORK (AP)—Membership in the Episcopal Church now totals 3,591,853 in 7,735 parishes and missions, the 1963 Church Annual says. The membership represents a 2.5 increase above last year's figure.

Free World Shocked on Common Mart

LONDON (AP)—Shock waves of disappointment and anxiety surged through free world capitals today at the rejection of Britain's Common Market bid.

The Atlantic alliance groped for steady footing amid the far-ranging uncertainties of President Charles de Gaulle's blackball.

The collapse of the Brussels negotiations to link the island kingdom with continental Europe threatened the biggest immediate explosion in Britain.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, who had staked his reputation on the success of the talks, was certain to face a full-scale attack from the opposition Labor party against a background of 800,000 unemployed and a stagnating economy.

One effect could be a scaling down of British military commitments to the defense of Europe. Trade experts said Britain has one path now: a fierce fight to win bigger markets overseas and to spur industrial growth at home through more efficiency in industry and harder work all around.

One suggestion was that the government propose a grouping of countries based on the Commonwealth. Britain's partners in the European Free Trade Association and any Latin American countries that want to join.

While De Gaulle's lofty snub was directed at Britain, one immediate result was to isolate the

Mission Field Workers Needed

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Opportunities for Protestant work in Latin America are greater than the churches are able to handle, says Jessie M. Trout, field liaison executive secretary for the Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ).

Back from a survey of the denominations' missions in South America, she told a meeting here: "We have struggled so long to get the doors open that we almost believed they would not open and now that they swing wide, we have neither money nor personnel to go in."

French statesman from his five Common Market partners.

The five—West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg—promptly called off a meeting of Common Market finance ministers. The session was to have discussed the flow of American investments into the Common Market area, something which arouses concern in France.

Representatives of the five said they cancelled the meeting rather than give the French an opening to launch a criticism of American business practices.

British Deputy Foreign Secretary Edward Heath, who led his country's fight in Brussels, said his government will be "in the closest contact" with the five for the next few days "and then decide what should be done."

"We shall not turn our backs on Europe or the countries of the European Community," he told a British television audience.

Singing Is Better Than KP

OLD BRIDGE, N. J. (AP)—Because singing is more pleasant than doing kitchen police, basso Louis Sgarro has a career at the Metropolitan Opera.

Sgarro, who makes his home here, had no special desire to sing until he entered the Army in World War II. "I quickly learned that by singing you could escape many unpleasant military duties such as KP," he says, "so I sang."

Sgarro later studied in Italy for two years. He made the grade with the Metropolitan eight years ago.

Mental Exam Ordered for Madison Slayer

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Earl C. Schuster, a police officer who admitted killing his wife, was taken to Central State Hospital at Wausau Tuesday night to begin a 60-day, court-ordered mental examination.

Schuster, 35, is charged with second degree murder in the death of his wife, Lois, 33, in their home Monday evening.

The mental examination was asked by Dane County Dist. Atty. William D. Byrne "in view of the fact that Schuster shot his wife in the presence of their 9-year-old daughter." The couple's two other children, 6 and 2 years, also were in the house.

Property Tax Administration Changes Asked

ST. PAUL (AP) — Twelve recommendations to improve property tax administration were made to the legislature and to Gov. Elmer L. Andersen Tuesday by a task force headed by Roland Hatfield, state tax commissioner.

The suggestions range from use of a Jan. 2 assessment date to the setting of minimum standards for county assessing officers.

"The recommendations, if adopted, will improve property tax administration," Hatfield said.

Highlights of the report:

Change of assessment date from May 1 to Jan. 2.

Use of the average monthly inventory system of assessing personal property.

In property sale, the tax should be based on the previous year's rate, with the provision the tax be paid before recording the deed; and the tax must be apportioned between buyer and seller.

Legislation providing for listing of personal property in the district where it is located.

Legislation providing for registration of boats and motors by the secretary of state with the tax rate the same as applied to mobile homes.

Appointment instead of election of assessors.

Big Job for Three-Stage Delta Rocket

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —America's most reliable space rocket, the sleek, three-stage Delta, faces a challenging assignment next month when it attempts to boost the Syncom communications satellite into orbit 22,300 miles above the earth.

The satellite had been scheduled for launching Feb. 6, but the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced in Washington today a postponement at least until Feb. 13. It said the delay was ordered to provide for a more complete check-out of equipment.

Success would be No. 15 in a row for the trusty booster and would give the United States the world's first synchronous satellite—one which travels at the same speed as the earth rotates on its axis and thus appears to hover motionless in the sky.

Syncom will not attain a perfect synchronous orbit. This can be accomplished only by launching from a spot on the equator or by doglegging the rocket after a Cape Canaveral launching so that its upper stages fire at a proper angle over the equator.

Delta does not have the power for the dog-leg maneuver, so Syncom is scheduled to describe a figure 8 pattern as it shifts back and forth over one point on the equator between latitudes 33 degrees north and south of the line.

On this path, Syncom will tell scientists whether a synchronous orbit communications satellite is feasible. The space agency is convinced it will work and has started development of a much larger advanced Syncom which will be hoisted into a perfect synchronous orbit by a booster more powerful than Delta.

Three communications satellites in synchronous orbit at evenly spaced points 22,300 miles above the equator would provide complete, continuous worldwide coverage. Lower orbit communication satellite systems like Telstar and Relay would require 40 to 50 vehicles for thorough coverage.

Syncom will not provide television channels as did Relay and Telstar. The Delta capability on this difficult launching task restricts weight of the package to 55 pounds, and the satellite will have only a single two-way voice channel.

New Low Rate For After-9 p.m. Calls Suggested

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Bell telephone companies are proposing a new $1 or less rate on telephone calls between any two points within the continental United States between 9 p.m. and 4:30 a.m., and increases of 5 to 10 cents on certain person-to-person long distance calls.

The Federal Communications Commission announced Tuesday the companies have reported they will file these rate schedules.

The new rates, to become effective about April 1, would cut revenues of the companies by $30 million a year, the commission said.

Under the plan, a three-minute station-to-station interstate call would cost a maximum of $1, plus 25 cents for each additional minute, between 9 p.m. and 4:30 a.m.

If you poke a finger in yeast dough that is "doubling in bulk," and the impression remains, the dough has risen sufficiently.

NASON ON EDUCATION

Potential Often Better Than I.Q.s

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.
Professor of Education
University of Southern California

Education is failing to meet the needs of America at both ends of the technological scale. Thousands are unemployed while thousands of jobs go unfilled day after day.

One has only to check the want ad section of a metropolitan newspaper. The same ads appear week after week for secretaries, cost accountants, engineers, designers, advance communication specialists, etc.

And it's not getting any better! A U.S. Department of Labor survey shows that the number of openings for engineers, for instance, is increasing about nine times as fast as the total number of jobs.

In every field there is a growing demand for more highly trained personnel. At the same time, machines are eliminating the strong-back jobs.

Some educators despair. They conclude that our very progress will defeat us because there will not be enough people of high I.Q.'s to meet the needs of our growing technology.

THEY ARGUE that only about one-third of our population have I.Q.'s above average—70-110. Only part of these reach the educational levels soon to be demanded by our society.

There are fallacies in the arguments of these prophets of doom. THE FALLACY: There is no such thing as transfer of training. THE TRUTH: The mind can be trained in the skills of study and learning. This training carries over into all phases of school and work. More trained minds is the crying need of our present society.

THE FALLACY: The number of individuals with highly trainable minds is indicated by the results of their I.Q. tests.

THE TRUTH: Tests measure to some extent the present day learning potential of individuals. However, these same individuals, trained in the skills of learning and the skills of test taking, take on new potentials!

In one city where a search for highly superior individuals has been conducted for years, twice as many persons have been discovered in the extremely high IQ range as the test makers predicted!

Programs conducted over a period of years in each community in which students with high potential are sought out and trained in the skills of learning would increase our supply of highly trained people.

SCORES THAT students make on intelligence tests depend upon their attitude toward the tests, the background of their homes and previous schooling as well as their innate ability.

Once they have learned how to study and how to take tests—when they recognize their own ability to attain a higher status in life—their motivation for achieving on the test will be higher. These students then will set higher goals for themselves.

The potential of our youth is far greater than it would appear from present test results.

We can come closer to reaching this potential through proper recognition. Training not only will meet the needs of our society for the foreseeable future, but will help many individuals achieve happier lives.

WASHINGTON REPORT by CONGRESSMAN AL QUIE

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of letters from Congressman Al Quie which the Daily News will publish during the current session of Congress.)

WASHINGTON — The 14 Republicans on the House Agriculture Committee, including myself, have sent a letter to Committee Chairman Harold Cooley urging him to take immediate steps toward improving the bargaining position of American agriculture in the European Common Market.

The reasons for our letter are simple and evident.

Minnesotans realize how important European markets are to American agriculture. Gov. Andersen and others have done a commendable job in bringing this story to the people.

In 1961, markets in Western Europe received 23 percent of all U.S. farm exports and 31 percent of all of those "sales" for which we actually received dollars. One acre out of every seven which American farmers raise is exported.

If these sales are decreased, both the economy of the First District and the American balance-of-payments will suffer. Unfortunately the protective tariff policy of the Common Market seriously endangers the level of American farm exports.

American poultry farmers are already losing a $50 million market in Europe because of the Common Market's variable tariff. American wheat and feed grains farmers face serious future obstacles.

Our letter was sent to demonstrate the desire of the Republicans on the committee to cooperate in a positive effort to strengthen the American agricultural position.

We hope that the Agriculture Committee will take three steps:

1. Give a thorough review and study of the developments which led to the present situation.

2. Keep abreast of fast-moving changes in Common Market negotiations, especially those affecting the policies of Great Britain and her Commonwealth.

3. Emphasize by Committee Resolution the urgent need for vigorous and effective agricultural representation at the highest levels of tariff negotiations.

Hopefully these recommendations will be accepted by the Committee Chairman and will help strengthen the position of American farmers in foreign markets.

Strong Atlantic Partnership Minus France Difficult

By ERNEST B. VACARRO
WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Democratic members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee expressed belief today that a strong Atlantic partnership can be formed without France.

They called the French veto of Great Britain's admission to the European Common Market a jolt to Western Europe's economic stability.

Most, however, agreed with Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, that "the temporary aberration of one member of the Western community, though deeply disappointing, is not fatal."

While French illusions "run their course," Fulbright said in a statement, "the United States and its partners in Western Europe are not without resources to press ahead with the development of a strong Atlantic partnership."

"Anybody can reconsider a mistake," said Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore. "I hope De Gaulle will. If he does not, the alternative may be just to let the general go it alone in his defenses."

"We don't need to stay in Europe to protect the United States. They need us more than we need them."

Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., said the French blow need not be disastrous.

"If necessary," Sparkman told reporters, "I believe the United Kingdom, the United States and Canada could form a very effective trade bloc."

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate's Democratic leader, clung to the hope that "there is still time to reach an accommodation for Britain to enter the Common Market."

"I don't think we should assume as yet that the Common Market door has been slammed in Britain's face," Mansfield added.

Sparkman observed that the may be some "ultimate hope—who knows what may happen in one or two or five years."

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., said the United States and Britain have worked to maintain France as a great nation. He said he is beginning to worry whether De Gaulle is more interested in short term prosperity for France than long term "free world solidarity and security."

Role With Mentally Ill Described

"The policeman is probably the citizen's best friend in a situation involving the mentally ill person," Police Chief George H. Savord told the Winona County Mental Health Association Tuesday night at the YMCA.

"That's because of the policeman's ability to get to the scene rapidly, his special training in handling mentally ill persons and his ability to control the situation until proper medical or psychiatric care is secured."

Savord said the policeman's role in handling the mentally ill is essentially one of recognizing symptoms, protecting the mentally ill person and the community from the person's actions, and arranging for referral to the proper agency. He reviewed several anonymous local case histories involving the mentally ill to illustrate how the police had handled these cases.

The speaker commended the association for having sponsored last year's police workshop on handling the mentally ill. He said his department enjoyed excellent cooperation from other agencies.

Savord showed a film, "The Cry for Help," depicting how police prevent suicides. He was introduced by Brother J. Raymond, FSC, program chairman. Twenty-five persons attended.

It was announced that a speaker's bureau has been established by the association. Mental health talks will be given to interested groups throughout the county. A progress report on the county mental health center was given.

Seat Belt Bill Vetoed in S.D.

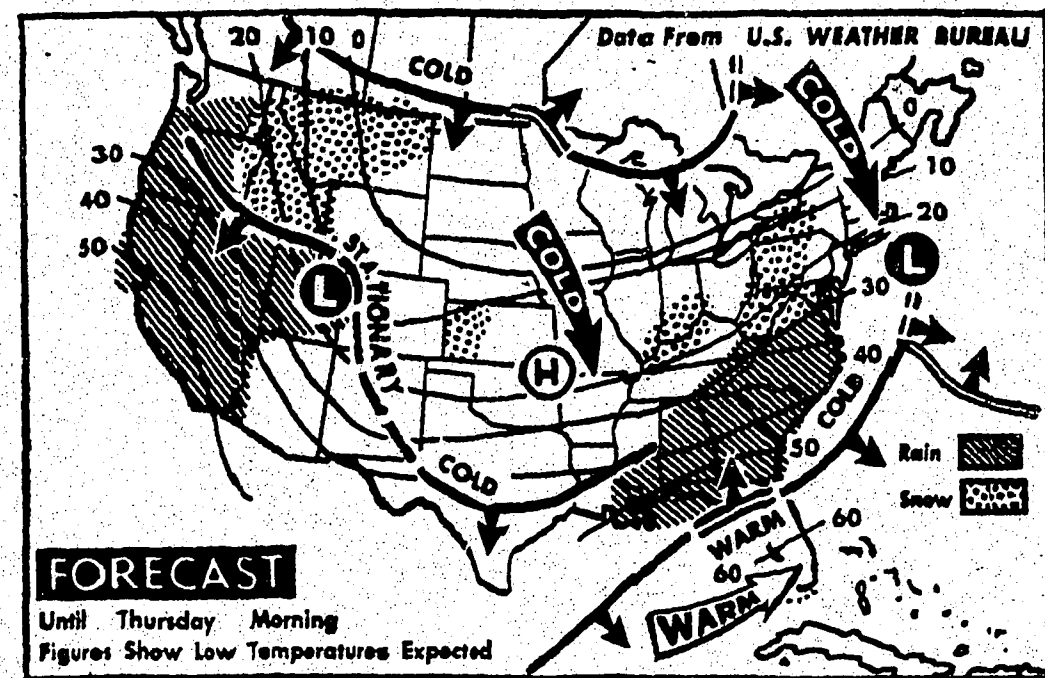

PIERRE, S.D. (AP)—The controversial seat belt bill was vetoed Tuesday by Gov. Archie Gubbrud.

The measure would have required that all new cars sold or offered for sale after Jan. 1, 1964 be equipped with safety belts on the front seat.

Gubbrud said he was in full agreement with the spirit and intent of the bill.

"A study of this law, however, reveals that the purchaser of a new car has no other choice than to buy seat belts from the automobile dealer selling the vehicle," he said.

"This provision can only be interpreted to be unfairly restrictive and in direct opposition to our free enterprise system," he added.

WEATHER FORECAST . . . Rain is expected tonight in the Pacific, Gulf and southern Atlantic coast states while snow is forecast for the Rockies and the northern Appalachians. Cold-er weather is seen for the north Atlantic coast states, the Lakes area, the Ohio, Tennessee and Mississippi valleys, the southern Plains and the western Gulf region. (AP Photofax Map)

Kennedy Plan For School Aid Starts Quarrel

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's attempt to unite supporters of aid to education has already touched off a bitter division among them in Congress.

Kennedy wrapped 24 separate proposals dealing with everything from elementary to graduate school into one big bill and sent it to Congress Tuesday, urging "high priority action."

The package carries an estimated price tag of $4.6 billion for three years but cuts back sharply previous administration proposals for aid to public elementary and secondary schools.

The idea of lumping everything together was apparently to entice friends of different proposals into making common cause for the whole package, but the first effect has been to alienate influential House Republicans who support some items but oppose others.

Rep. Peter Frelinghuysen Jr., R-N.J., ranking GOP member of the House Education and Labor Committee, called the catchall bill "the height of political cynicism," and said Republicans will offer bills aimed at specific targets.

Rep. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., called Kennedy's program "incredible in its proportions" and said it robbed individual measures of bipartisan support.

Even such a staunch supporter of federal aid to education as Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., who has led the fight for college aid in previous Congresses, said "I regret the omnibus approach was taken."

The Senate, which generally regards education measures more favorably than the House, seemed more willing to go along with the President, at least for a while. Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., chairman of the Senate Education Committee, said he thought it would be "highly desirable" to hold hearings on a single bill and see if common approach to the nation's educational needs can be reached.

Morse introduced the measure in the Senate late Tuesday and said it deserved the support of Congress.

Charges Against Airmen Dropped

MOUNTAIN HOME, Idaho (AP)—Airmen Gerald M. Anderson is a free man today after almost 10 months of confinement on charges of murder.

Now he wants out of the Air Force. His attorney has called for an investigation of the Air Force's treatment of Anderson, who was accused of killing the wife and son of a fellow airman.

In and out of military and civil jails since April, Anderson was released from the Mountain Home Air Force Base stockade Tuesday.

Another man confessed to the murders in November. Civil authorities accepted the confession and released Anderson but the Air Force promptly arrested him and announced it would try him for the crimes.

Anderson, 25, had no criticism of Air Force personnel except the Office of Special Investigations agents who got him to sign a confession. But he said he hopes the Air Force will grant his request for an early discharge.

Sorry, Wrong Number

BESSEMER CITY, N.C. (AP)—Blondine B. Lovelace had telephone number MA9-2152. People were always getting it mixed up with Dr. R. L. Cochcroft's MA9-2125 and calling the wrong place.

Late Basket Ends Redmen Bid 60-58

By AUGIE KARCHER
Daily News Sports Editor

Bruce Ackland, the young man who sparked St. Mary's to the Minnesota prop title a year ago, is up to his old tricks again.

Ackland is now a freshman at the University of Minnesota-Duluth. He broke into the starting lineup only four games ago. And Tuesday night his jump shot from the edge of the circle with six seconds to go sent St. Mary's College down to a 60-58 defeat.

IT WAS Duluth's 13th consecutive win over the Redmen and snapped a four-game St. Mary's winning string, besides keeping them from gaining a third place tie in the MIAC. It also was St. Mary's first home loss in eight games this season.

The Redmen, 9-8 for the year, row jump out of the frying pan into the fire. They meet undefeated Augsburg Saturday night at Terrace Heights.

"St. Mary's could well beat Augsburg," said Duluth Coach Norm Olson after his Bulldogs upped their record to 10-5 by beating the Redmen.

"This was a big one for us. It was a hard one to lose for either team," Olson said. "St. Mary's played good ball. This was a good game as we have played all year."

KEN WILTGEN, St. Mary's coach, looked at it differently. He said: "We beat ourselves; Duluth didn't beat us."

Wiltgen blamed Redmen mistakes in the last six minutes when St. Mary's let a 51-46 lead fade against the Duluth pressing man-to-man defense.

The Redmen held varying leads throughout the game, but never by more than seven points. Widest margin was 39-32 early in the second half and 47-41 seconds after the final 10 minutes got under way.

St. Mary's got only two baskets in the last 10 minutes and only one in the last 9 1/2 minutes. Missed free throws took their toll, too.

TRAILING 49-43 with 7:37 left, Duluth's Mike Patterson completed a three-pointer and Roger Hanson hit a jumper around Tom Hall's two gift shots. That made it 51-48. Hall and Al Williams blew successive 1-and-1 free throw opportunities at 4:26 and 4:00.

Harry Oden, Duluth forward, promptly hit two straight jump shots to push Duluth ahead 52-51. First Bulldog lead since a 29-28 advantage late in the first half. At 2:43, Hall made the second of a two-shot free throw chance to tie it up, but Patterson matched that at 2:03.

With two minutes even remaining, big Mike (Moose) Stallings, back in harness after eligibility problems, sank two gifters for St. Mary's 55-53 lead. The six-foot frosh hit a jump shot to tie it with 93 seconds left, and Roger Hanson put Duluth ahead with a driving lay-up with 68 seconds to go.

THE REDMEN didn't fold. Williams, getting a tap off a jump ball situation, put in a two-point making it 57-56. With 34 seconds to play, Ackland canned a free shot and with 19 seconds remaining, Williams tied it at 58-58 with his 16th and 17th point of the game.

Duluth moved quickly into the offensive zone, passed to Ackland and his soft-touch basket from 12 feet away was history. It also gave him 19 points for the night.

There was some more excitement after that, namely the result of St. Mary's strategy. The Redmen signaled time out with two seconds to go. They got the ball at court's end, passed in and instantly signaled time out again, to get possession at mid-court.

When the clock failed to show any time elapsed on the throw-in, Duluth Coach Olson was off the bench like a missile. Timekeeper John Curtin maintained he started the clock and stopped it again, though it showed no change.

ST. MARY'S then passed from mid-court, but Mike Maloney was unable to get a shot away and a lay-up basket by Stallings was clearly after the final horn had sounded.

St. Mary's, which hit 15 of 31 shots in the first half, finished with 23 for 56 and 41 per cent. Duluth hit 37 per cent on 24 for 65.

It was on the St. Mary's offensive boards that much of the story was written. The Redmen got only nine offensive rebounds and were out-rebounded 33-24.

Maloney contributed 12 points. Hall 13 and Stallings 10 behind Williams. Jim Rogers, who did a creditable job on Patterson in the first half though drawing three fouls in the first 10 minutes, was limited to a free throw.

Valaika moved into the pivot, but he also drew three fouls in the second 10 minutes.

Patterson finished with 11 points, Oden got 14 and Hanson 10.

GROVERS, CALEDONIA WIN

Petes Tip Mabel for Seventh Victory

CORNELL HERE THURSDAY

Flaherty Wins, But WSC Bows

Pat Flaherty is Winona State College's only undefeated wrestler today after the Warrior matmen suffered a 15-9 defeat at the hands of River Falls State Tuesday night at Memorial Hall.

Flaherty, a 177-pounder, decided the Falcons' Steve Gutting 5-0 for his 11th consecutive victory.

LEO SIMON and Dave Morocco both suffered their first losses in dual competition this season.

Simon, 167 pounds, lost a 5-3 verdict to Jerry Halverson and Morocco, 147, was a 3-2 victim of Pat Molek.

"Had we worn track shoes instead of wrestling shoes, we would have done much better," said Warrior Coach Bob Gunner.

Gunner was unhappy with River Falls' stalling tactics which resulted in a strictly defensive style. "We chased, and chased and chased, and then when we went in, our boys got took down," he said.

"YOU CAN BET we won't stall like that when we wrestle Cornell," he added.

Cornell, major eastern power, is here Thursday night for an 8 p.m. match at Memorial Hall, offering midwest fans a look at big-time eastern collegiate wrestling.

HAWKS VS. ROCKETS MARCH 5

District Sets Cage Pairings

Pairings for the District Three basketball tournament starting Feb. 25 were announced this morning.

And it's no news that Winona High will meet Rochester John Marshall in the semifinals Tuesday, March 5, at Mayo Civic Auditorium in Rochester.

SUB-DISTRICT play will begin Feb. 25 at Plainview and Kasson-Mantorville.

Winona and Rochester were seeded into the semifinals as customary: with the smaller schools battling it out for the other two semifinal berths.

While the Winona-Rochester duel is again Rochester-based, the 1964 district clash between the two will be played in Winona at Memorial Hall on the Winona State College campus. This was the result of a long battle of words, won by Winona last fall.

This year's Winona-Rochester game will be played at 7:30 p.m. March 5 followed by the East vs. West sub-district semifinal at 9 p.m. The championship game is at 8 p.m. Friday, March 8.

WABASHA drew the bye in the East-sub-district round at Plainview and Dodge Center and Pine Island drew byes in the West sub-district.

The Plainview schedule is as follows:
Monday, Feb. 25—Lewiston vs. Plainview, 8 p.m.
Tuesday, Feb. 26—St. Charles vs. Elgin, 7:30 p.m.; Lake City vs. Dover-Eyota, 9 p.m.

Thursday, Feb. 28—Wabasha vs. Plainview-Lewiston winner, 7:30 p.m.; St. Charles-Elgin winner vs. Lake City-Dover-Eyota winner, 9 p.m.

Pairings for the Kasson-Mantorville vs. Maseppa, 7:30 p.m.; Byron vs. Kasson-Mantorville, 9 p.m.

Wednesday, Feb. 27—Dodge Center vs. Stewartville-Maseppa winner, 7:30 p.m.; Pine Island vs. Byron-Kasson-Mantorville winner, 9 p.m.

Kasson-Mantorville is defending District Three champion, the second school in 33 years to break up the Winona-Rochester monopoly of the championship.

Cronk Bags 28 For Lakeland

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Former Minnesota basketball star Ray Cronk, who became eligible as a transfer student at Lakeland this week, scored 28 points Tuesday night in leading the Muskies to a 114-79 rout of the University of Illinois Chicago. The 6-foot-6 Cronk turned in a brilliant performance as Lakeland posted its seventh straight Gateway Conference victory. The Muskies, undefeated in league play, have an overall record of 9-3.

In non-conference action, Whitewater defeated Cornell 63-57. St. Cloud of Minnesota swept past St. Mary's 76-60. Bemidji of Minnesota downed Superior 71-67, and Dubuque of Iowa swept Plattville 42-27.

At Chicago, Cronk was aided by Wes Seyler, Dennis Hubbard and Doug Isas, who connected for 14 points each. Chicago fell in was paced by O. T. Gordon with 23.

St. Cloud opened up a 15-1 lead on its home court against Stout and with-lead a late rally by the Wisconsin team. The Muskies' margin was cut to six points with three minutes to play, but regulars were sent back into action and quickly scored eight straight points to insure their triumph. The victory was St. Cloud's 15th in 10 games.

Stout, holder of a 4-9 record, was led by Bill Heidenan with 20 points. Bill Wray with 14 and Fred Segelink with 13.

Bemidji surged to a 43-35 half time lead and boosted the margin to 20 points after the intermission on route to its victory over Superior. Jim Schobald captured individual honors with 19 points for Bemidji. Bob Dodge was high for Superior with 14.

Nieson also suited a second contract Tuesday — a marriage license to wed Judy Wiedel of Richfield, a student's ray technician.

Signed Twins Hit 25 Mark

MINNEAPOLIS — Three more players returned signed contracts for 1963 to the Minnesota Twins Tuesday, bringing to 25 the number of Twins now in line to play for the coming season. Fourteen remain to be signed.

Trade Triplett For End Clark

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MINNEAPOLIS — The Minnesota Vikings shipped out fullback Mel Triplett Tuesday in exchange for end Leon Clark of Cleveland.

The Vikings' pass catcher needed help in the pass catching department. Clark, 30, is 6 feet 4 and weighs 235. Last year was his seventh season in the National Football League. He had been a teammate of Viking guard Norm Van Brocklin at Los Angeles.

Triplett was used sparingly by the Vikings last season.

Veck Loses His Bid for AL Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Investment banker James M. Johnston look over as boss of the Washington Senators today after stockholders brushed aside an offer from Bill Veck.

Elwood R. (Pete) Quesada, quick-tempered, controversial former Air Force general, resigned as president Tuesday and sold his stock to a three-man group headed by Johnston.

Veck, a colorful American League figure as top man at Cleveland, St. Louis and Chicago, and Nate Dolin of Cleveland had offered $5 million for the baseball team, despite its 10th place American League finishes the past two seasons.

Under the deal Tuesday, five of the original stockholders sold to Johnston, his business partner James H. Lemon and aviation executive George M. Bunker, with two others retaining their original holdings.

The new board of directors elected Johnston chairman and indicated he would serve as chief executive officer with an office at the stadium.

NFL Discusses Free Agents, Odd Safeties

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The playing rules and a holdover title dispute from 1952 occupied the National Football League today after Commissioner Pete Rozelle's reacted there would be no further betting investigation.

Rozelle's said once again that he is continuing his probe and would make a complete report only when the investigation had been finished.

The league beamed at record attendance figures of 4,003,421 for 1962, led by the New York Giants' total of 439,456 for seven straight sellouts at Yankee Stadium. It was the first time the NFL had gone over 4 million paid attendance, almost doubling the figures of 10 years ago.

Disaffected players who decide to play out their option and then sign with another team in the NFL will find that their new owners must settle with the old owners on "reasonable compensation."

Halfbacks Bill Barnes of Washington, Ollie Matson of Los Angeles and end John Adams of Chicago will become free agents May 1. They did not sign for 1962 but played out the one-year option contained in their 1961 contract.

These free agents can sign with teams in the rival American Football League or in Canada. But if they sign in the NFL, as R. C. Owens did when he moved to Baltimore from San Francisco, the new club must foot the bill. If there is a dispute, Commissioner Rozelle will make the decision.

The most important rule change suggested would eliminate the possibility of a safety being scored on a penalty. This happened twice in 1962 and was the decisive factor in Pittsburgh's 30-28 victory over Dallas. End zone penalties against the defensive team now are enforced from the spot of the foul. If the rule is changed, officials would enforce the penalty from the line of scrimmage.

Case of Lost Shoe Worries Loyola Coach

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CHICAGO (AP) — George Ireland, coach of the Loyola Ramblers, who are the nation's No. 2 basketball team, plans to take the case of the shoeless basketball players before the National Rites Committee this year.

"It's a minor point," said Ireland, who also is the representative of the Fourth District for the U.S. and Canada, "but it just isn't fair."

Ireland contends that several times this season rival players have had play halted by officials because of the loss of the shoe.

"It always happens when we have a fast break going and a three-minute situation, one game this year, it happened four times. Same player, same situation. Three or four men going for the basket against one defender."

Ireland blames it on the off-the-type sneaker which can be kicked off easily. When a player loses his shoe, an official time out is called until the shoe is tied on again.

Ireland said he will mention his complaint to the rules committee which meets two days after the NCAA tournament ends in March.
