Swollen Rivers Rout Many in California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rain-swollen rivers surged through hundreds of evacuated homes in Northern California today, pushing against hurriedly built sandbag dikes in Reno, Nev., and blocked traffic on main east-west highway and rail routes across the Sierra.

Gale force winds pounded the Northern California Coast a third straight day and began an attack on the Oregon Coast.

The battering wind and rain was the power head of a chain of storms raging in the Pacific, from northwest of Hawaii to the mainland.

Gusts up to 70 miles an hour lashed the Hawaiian Islands Thursday closing Honolulu Harbor and forcing a jet liner carrying Queen Elizabeth of England and Prince Philip of Edmonton, Alberta, to Honolulu to turn back to Vancouver, B.C.

In California five deaths were blamed on the storm. A boy was missing.

There was no immediate relief in sight. The Weather Bureau said the Pacific storm chain was driving eastward, its series of storm centers aimed at the Oregon and Washington coasts.

The storms meant snow for chilly western Washington where two inches was expected by this morning. The Yakima Valley area of central Washington, which received 14 inches of snow

Thursday, expected an additional 8 to 10 inches. Snow was general in eastern Washington and many schools were closed throughout the state.

Wind gusts up to 55 m.p.h. freed western Oregon from four days of snow and ice. As the thaw extended to northern Oregon it produced rain which froze on still cold power lines, pulled them down and blacked out vast areas from the coast 100 miles inland.

Thousands of homes in the Portland area were without power today.

In Northern California and Nevada the warring rain and snow melt produced more water than the rivers could carry.

Kennedy Enjoys 'Night on Town'

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Folk singers wailed of America's heritage. Dancers portrayed it. Guitars strummed about it. And President Kennedy passed nearly the entire, nationally televised hour polishing his prepared speech.

The President scrawled with a pen, fiddled with his black tie, sipped a seemingly endless glass of water and chatted with a neighbor during the 9th Annual Anti-Defamation League's "Dinner with the President."

His inattentiveness, though, was not witnessed by television viewers. It was under cover of semi-darkness while the attention of the diners was diverted to the bright stage at the other side of a hotel hall.

Then he ran a hand through his long brown hair, took off the red boutonniere he had been wearing and accepted the League's Democratic Legacy award.

He said, as the televised hour ticked away, that "it is not a burden but a privilege to have the chance in 1963 to make this really a new world—a new world for us and, indeed, for all those who look to us."

Kennedy brought everyone up short when he interrupted himself in mid-sentence to announce to the television watchers and the 9th Annual:

"It is almost 11 o'clock."

The President grinned impishly and resumed the sentence. A baffled network official said later a soft buzzer had gone off in the Presidential wristwatch. Besides, a technician had been waving time-out cards almost under Kennedy's nose.

The President—whose ennui had been pierced only occasionally when attractive dancers twirled across the stage—stopped a blue-skirted one near the door on his way out.

And Cathy Conklin of New York City, who had expected only a glimpse of the President, was dazzled by a broad smile, a squeeze of the hand and a "Thank you very much."

Then, his night out at an end, before midnight, the President shrugged himself into an overcoat, stepped into a limousine and went home.

Change in 9th District Urged

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The session's first proposal for reapportioning Wisconsin's congressional districts was introduced in the State Assembly Wednesday by Norman Anderson, D-Madison.

The bill would put Republican representatives Melvin Laird and Vernon Thomson in the same district by adding Laird's home county, Wood, to Thomson's 3rd District.

A new 9th District would be created from Waukesha County and Milwaukee's northern and western suburbs.

The present 9th District would be reconstituted as a new 10th to stretch north from Trempealeau County and take in Blyfield and Douglas counties.

Many of the counties in the present 10th District would be contained in the 7th District. Another proposed change would remove Green County from the 1st District and put it in the third.

FARR AND KENNEDY, FRIENDS? ...

Looking almost like buddies, Minnesota Republican Chairman Robert Farris (left) and Democratic-Farmer-Labor Chairman George Farris got together Thursday to talk to the Minnesota Associated Press Broadcasters' meeting in Minneapolis. The two political leaders agreed on many facets of last fall's historic governor election and subsequent litigation. They disagreed, however, on who will be the victor. (AP Photo-fax)

Unemployment Rises in January

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment rose by 655,000 in January to 4,672,000 as employment fell by 1,626,000 to 65,335,000, the government reported Thursday. It said the changes were seasonally expected.

Harold Goldstein, assistant labor statistics commissioner, told newsmen in announcing the job figures:

"Perhaps the most significant thing is that there has been no lessening in unemployment in a whole year. We seem to be on a plateau both in employment and unemployment—and we have been there most of 1962."

Layoffs of extra employees hired in stores and post offices for the holiday trade was the chief reason for the January sag in the job totals. There was further employment curtailment in outdoor activities.

Advantage Claimed for Rolvaag

ST. PAUL (AP) — Former Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag today won round one in his recent battle with Republican Gov. Elmer L. Andersen for the Minnesota governorship.

An audit of the initial recount filed in Ramsey County District Court showed Rolvaag leading. The DFL said Rolvaag had 620,510 votes and Andersen 619,372. By Republican calculation, it was Rolvaag 620,511 and Andersen 620,381.

The three-judge panel supervising the recount will rule Tuesday whether Rolvaag's margin is 130 or 138 votes.

Ten absentee votes in suburban Maplewood, which went nine to one for Andersen in the Nov. 6 election, are in dispute. DFL recounters fought their inclusion in the final audit, because the votes were not properly filed. However, an agreement was reached whereby two sets of figures were filed, one including the votes and one without them.

These 10 votes will be included in one of the 24 categories of disputed ballots on which the panel of three judges will be asked to rule.

Both GOP and DFL recount supervisors believe about 3,500 ballots will be presented to the judges after the second round of screening is finished.

Dunn Offers New Taconite Amendment

By JACK MACKAY
Associated Press Correspondent

ST. PAUL (AP) — A taconite amendment described by its chief author as a major part of Gov. Elmer L. Andersen's program of long-range assurance for the taconite industry was in the legislative hopper today.

Rep. Roy E. Dunn of Pelican Rapids, chairman of the House Tax Committee, is chief author, with two conservatives and one liberal joining as co-sponsors. The bill was filed in Speaker Lloyd Duxbury's office, awaiting introduction later in the day.

Rep. Alfred France, Duluth conservative; Rep. Aubrey Dirlam of Redwood Falls, leader of the conservative majority; and Rep. Jack Fena, Hibbing, liberal, are co-authors.

Several bills calling for a constitutional amendment or for long-term guarantee of tax fairness through legislation already have been introduced, but the Dunn measure was described by Fena as a "compromise."

France said the measure has essentially the same provisions as contained in a proposed amendment before the 1961 legislature, except that assurances of fair treatment will terminate after 25 years.

"The idea of a taconite amendment came from the mayors of the Iron Range," Dunn said. "It has won widespread support among people throughout the state as a long-range solution to some of the most pressing needs of northeastern Minnesota."

"Two years ago the governor and the conservatives of the House and Senate stood virtually alone in support of the amendment. Today the climate has substantially changed."

"There are legislators who today support the amendment who would never have endorsed it in 1961. This is due to the enthusiastic support of the people for the amendment."

Dunn said every poll and survey has shown that substantial majorities in southern Minnesota, as well as northeastern Minnesota, support the amendment.

"It is also convincing proof that the amendment will be ratified by the people in November, 1964," Dunn said.

Stops at Vancouver

Plane Trouble Delays Queen

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Looking slightly drawn, Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip were turned back for an unexpected overnight stay in Vancouver Thursday night after 20 hours in the air and only 3 hours sleep on their flight to the South Pacific.

A Vancouver hotel hastily swept out a suite that had been used for a business conference and decked it with flowers and special furnishings for the royal couple. Mothers whisked children from their beds, bundled them in sweaters and took them out for a glimpse of their sovereign.

Foul weather forced the royal plane to turn back twice on its flight to Fiji for the start of the royal couple's two-month tour of those islands, Australia and New Zealand.

A spokesman for British Overseas Airways Corp., said the queen and her party would depart later today but that weather could delay the flight further.

The royal party had been traveling for 20 hours before landing here Thursday night after a 6,500-mile flight.

"The queen and Prince Philip had a three-hour sleep and that's all," Cmdr. Richard Colville, the queen's press secretary said.

FDR Jr. to Be Undersecretary Of Commerce

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has selected Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., a former campaign lieutenant and son of the late president, to be undersecretary of commerce.

If the Senate confirms the nomination, the 48-year-old Roosevelt will succeed Edward Gurnea, who is returning to private business, in the $21,000-a-year post.

Announcement of Roosevelt's designation Thursday opened two avenues of speculation. That he might eventually succeed Luther H. Hodges as secretary of commerce or that he is being groomed for a Senate nomination from New York in 1964.

Newsman asked Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, if there was any understanding that Roosevelt would move up as secretary should Hodges resign. Salinger said he knew of no such understanding and Hodges issued a statement describing Roosevelt as "a dynamic and gifted person."

Roosevelt was elected to Congress from New York in 1949 and served two terms and part of a third. He makes his home in Washington, where he has a foreign auto agency, but the White House listed the appointment as from the state of New York.

Dunn said every poll and survey has shown that substantial majorities in southern Minnesota, as well as northeastern Minnesota, support the amendment.

"It is also convincing proof that the amendment will be ratified by the people in November, 1964," Dunn said.

Trapeze Artist Crosses Berlin Wall on High Wire

BERLIN (AP) — Sliding along on the seat of his pants, an East German trapeze artist fled over the heads of Communist border guards into West Berlin on a 110,000-volt power cable.

"I could hear humming and had a tickling sensation in my seat," said Horst Klein, 36.

One slip and Klein would have burned to a crisp.

A professional trapeze artist, Klein had been forbidden to work in East German circuses because he was an outspoken anti-Communist.

"I couldn't live any longer without the swell of the circus in my nostrils," he said.

Pedestrians Covered With Burning Debris

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Two planes collided over Ankara today and crashed in flames in the teeming main square of this Turkish capital. Police estimated 115 persons, most of them on the ground, were killed.

It appeared to be the worst such disaster since Dec. 16, 1960, when two commercial planes collided over New York City. That crash killed 134 persons, including six in a Brooklyn street.

Burning wreckage showered pedestrians and stores lining Ulus Square—the Times Square of Ankara.

The passenger craft was a Middle East Airlines four-engine Viscount heading for Ankara from Nicosia, Cyprus, with 15 aboard.

It was in collision with a Turkish air force C-47 Dakota only minutes from Ankara's big, modern airport northeast of the capital.

Virtually all of Ankara's ambulances and fire-fighting equipment was dispatched to the scene. Radio Ankara broadcast appeals for donors of blood. Doctors were summoned to hospitals.

Ulus Square is the center of the old city of Ankara. Ulus means "nation." A huge statue of Kemal Ataturk—father of modern Turkey, who established Ankara as the capital—is on one side.

Stores, restaurants and other business places occupy the other three sides.

The city's two main streets intersect at the square.

The MEA flight had originated in Beirut with one stop at Nicosia before heading for Ankara.

The pilot was identified tentatively as a Mr. Stillwell, nationality unknown.

He threw the rope across the cable in an effort to lower himself down into the Western zone. But his nimble hands missed the rope and he plunged 40 feet to the canal towpath in the West, only a few feet beyond a clump of bushes marking the border.

Klein came in three hours later and shouted for help. A woman heard him and called West German police. A fire brigade took him across the canal in a rubber boat.

In the full Klein broke his arms. His story came out after it became known that the East Berlin police had learned of his escape route.

Industrial Expansion

Speaker Cites Threat Of Federal Programs

Federal depressed-area development plans constitute a growing threat to more prosperous communities such as Winona, Kiwanis Club members were told Thursday noon at Hotel Winona.

David Swanson, Minneapolis, industrial development executive with Northern States Power Co., said crash programs mean massive government intervention in local affairs. Ten years from now, he said, half of all people working in industrial development fields will be government employees.

Swanson singled out the Rural Area Development program and accelerated public works programs as examples of preferential treatment given low-growth areas at the expense of other more flourishing communities.

UNDER THE Rural Area Development program, the Department of Agriculture has set up a coordinating agency as an idea group. Swanson said. No lending powers are included, he said, but the vaguely generalized objective of solving rural problems is politically attractive to voters.

RAD has local acceptance, it operates through locally staffed boards and is backed up by the technical assistance of the federal government, Swanson said. It also is a convenient avenue for intervention in local affairs by the government, he added.

About one-third of all the nation's counties are considered depressed areas, Swanson said. These are eligible for parts of a $400 million fund administered by the Department of Commerce under the Area Redevelopment Act. Despite the best efforts of such privately-financed groups as the Winona Industrial Development Association, Swanson said, good industries can be induced to locate in such areas by the unbeatable combination of cheap sites and long-term, low-interest loans, all government subsidized.

Public works programs such as sewage projects, municipal gas and electric utilities also are encouraged for cities of 10,000 and under, he said.

"Private investor-owned utilities don't have a chance in these areas," Swanson said.

THE Rural Electrification Administration, originally set up to electricify farm areas, now has gone into the industrial development line, Swanson said. Using funds it borrows from the government at 2 percent interest, REA makes loans at 4 percent to potential consumers of power on its lines, he explained. An industry induced to locate in some rural area by these REA practices is one that won't be paying taxes in Winona, Swanson observed.

Such preferential treatment discriminates against non-depressed cities, and is generally uneconomical, Swanson said. It is difficult to attack, he continued, but such governmental invasions must be met with united opposition from all concerned.

Swanson concluded: "Industrial expansion programs must be pushed fast to keep government intervention out. We must somehow come up with ideas the government can't match. Once we lose, we're in trouble. We could paraphrase Winston Churchill's famous observation by saying that never have so few owed so much to so many."

Dunlap Called One of Senate's Best Speakers

Sen. Robert Dunlap

Following is another in a series of Minnesota Legislative profiles.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sen. Robert Dunlap, 47-year-old Plainview attorney, is one of the Minnesota Senate's most effective speakers.

He is at his best explaining and defending the decisions of the Senate Finance Subcommittee on Education, which he heads, and in clarifying the intricacies of a school aid formula worked by the Senate Education Committee under his chairmanship.

Sen. Dunlap headed interim committees on higher education in 1957 and 1959 and has been chairman of the Senate Education Committee since 1959.

He believes establishing a pattern for the development of public higher education in Minnesota is one of the most urgent problems facing this legislature.

"We should either work toward establishment of a system of junior colleges to handle the pressing population of undergraduates or build and strengthen our system of state colleges, if that seems to be the desire of the Senate," he says.

Dunlap was elected to the Senate in 1953 following the death of Sen. James Carley of Plainview. He headed the committee on labor before being named to the chairmanship of the committee on education.

His other committee assignments this session include civil administration, judiciary, elections, agriculture, finance, highways and rules.

He is one of the Senate's most enthusiastic gallopers, has a fine, deep voice and a well-developed sense of humor.

Dunlap practiced law in St. Paul for a short time before starting Army service in 1912, establishing his practice in Plainview after the war. He resigned as Wabasha County attorney to become a candidate for state senator.

Firefighters Elect Officers, Hear Reports at Meeting

LA CRESCENT, Minn. (Special)—Officers were elected and annual reports heard at a meeting of La Crescent volunteer fire department Tuesday at the Commodore Club.

Donald Loechler was re-elected fire chief. Other officers chosen were: Frank Mader, president; Ralph Timm, vice president; Norris Johnson, secretary; and Arthur Gittens, treasurer.

Loechler appointed Harold Veitch and Mylo Sheppard assistant chiefs and Leonard Palubicki, captain.

Following reading of the treasurer's report, members voted to pay the village council $2,000 as its share of the new fire truck recently purchased. Cooperation of members in staging the 4th of July picnic and firemen's ball made this possible.

The fire chief's report showed 23 fire runs in 1962 and total property loss, $1,875. He said this small figure indicated La Crescent is becoming more fire safety minded.

Loechler said a letter has been sent to the fire underwriters inviting them to re-rate the village and rural areas in June. He said residents will benefit from this inspection—the last one was in October 1958.

The chief complimented the village council on its far-sightedness in adding new equipment to the department.

Donations of $25 from Karl Burrow and $10 from Mrs. Dan Hammel were added to the fire department fund.

During the social hour Joe Michel showed films of stockcar races and Arnie Berg of the 4th of July picnic and 1962 Apple Festival parade. Lunch and refreshments were served. The fire chief and captain of the La Crosse fire department were guests.

James P. Bautech, 22, 420 E. River St., Arcadia, pleaded guilty to failing to yield right of way to a vehicle on Arcadia streets and paid a $5 fine plus costs. He was arrested Jan. 20 by George Frisch, city policeman.

City Recorder

January One of Coldest Months in City History

"Good riddance," may adequately express the feelings of most Winonans about January weather.

And they have good reason to feel that way for a compilation of the records shows that the first month of 1963 was one of the coldest in the Winona record books.

The month, which saw temperatures range from a high of 45 on Jan. 8 to a low of -31 on Jan. 16, had a mean temperature of 12.68, one of the lowest in many years. The records show that you'd have to go back to 1957 for a lower mean, 10.4. Other lows in the past 30 years include 7.0 in 1929, 7.9 in 1930, and 9.6 in 1936.

THE NORMAL MEAN for the month is 17.3 degrees. The 10 inches of dry snow which fell during the month measured out to only .50 of an inch of water, unusually light. Normal precipitation for the month is 1.08.

The degree-day count for January was 1,622, far above the 1,562 of last year. Degree days are arrived at by taking the difference between the mean temperature for the day and 65 and are used by heating engineers and others to measure amount of heat needed to bring a building up to a comfortable temperature.

January had three days when the temperature dropped below -20, eleven below -10 and 17 below zero.

The weatherman gave the groundhog little chance of seeing his shadow Saturday with a prediction of mostly cloudy weather tonight and Saturday with scattered light snow or freezing drizzle (that's a new one) tonight and scattered light snow or snow flurries Saturday.

THE OLD BELIEF goes that if the groundhog sees his shadow he hurries back into his nest and six weeks more of winter results. If, however, he does not see his shadow he stays out and pleasant weather follows.

In either case, the weatherman expects freezing temperatures well into March and there's a 50-50 chance of a killing frost until April 30.

It is expected to be a little warmer tonight with a low of 12-20 and a high Saturday of 24-30. The outlook for Sunday is for temperatures below normal with little or no precipitation likely.

The five-day forecast sounded a little better with temperatures Saturday through Wednesday averaging near normal with daytime highs of 22 to 27 above and nighttime lows of zero to 7 above.

It will be a little colder over the weekend, some warming at the first of next week and again colder about midweek. Precipitation is expected to average generally .10 of an inch or less in occasional light snow.

THE HIGHWAY departments of Minnesota and Wisconsin reported roads slippery from the newly-fallen snow and urged drivers to exercise extreme caution.

The northern third of the two states were generally dry.

The Winona temperature rose to 18 Thursday afternoon, dropped to 6 above during the snow and rose again to 17 this morning. This contrasts with a high of 12 on this day last year and a low of -1. The all-time high for Feb. 1 was 48 in 1931 and the low -28 in 1918. The mean for the past 24 hours was 12, with the normal for the day 17.

Snow was general over Minnesota last night and today but temperatures were much above the level of the past week. Even International Falls, usually a cold spot, had a low of 5 above. It was 9 above at Rochester and 15 at La Crosse this morning.

Old Town, Maine, was the nation's coldest community early today with a low of 27 below zero and McAllen and Junction, Tex., set the high of 87 Thursday.

First Case Here

Board Sustains County Employee's Dismissal

A special board upheld by a 2-1 vote Thursday afternoon the dismissal of Ben J. Meier, 73, county highway department mechanic and World War I veteran.

County Engineer Gordon M. Fay and maintenance superintendent Frank Rost said at the 1½-hour hearing in the commissioners' room at the courthouse that Meier was incompetent because of age. Meier denied the assertion and said he performed his duties well. He had been with the department more than 50 years until he was released last Dec. 31.

Meier asked for the hearing under the state veteran's preference law. Here's what one part of the law says:

"NO PERSON holding a position by appointment or employment in the state of Minnesota or in the several counties, cities, towns, villages, school districts and all other political subdivisions or agencies thereof who is an honorably discharged veteran shall be removed from such position or employment except for incompetency or misconduct shown after a hearing upon due notice upon stated charges in writing."

There was no charge of misconduct in the case.

Meier's dismissal stemmed from a resolution, passed last May by the County Board of Commissioners, saying all County Highway Department employees who reach 65 by Jan. 1, 1963 shall be discharged.

The commissioners have apparently broadened the effect of this resolution without amending it formally. Recently Edward G. Ham, St. Charles, long-time county weed and seed inspector, was not reappointed. Ham asked for his job back several times but was told by the commissioners their policy prohibited their hiring or retention of county employees over 65.

County Veterans Service Officer Philip R. Kaczorowski, who defended Meier at the hearing, said this morning Meier was considering a possible appeal to District Court and may engage an attorney. Kaczorowski said Meier would reach age 65 next week. State law permits an appeal to District Court from the special board's decision.

THREE WINONANS comprised the board. County Surveyor James J. Kleinschmidt represented the county. John Maliszewski, engineer and former County Highway Department employee, represented Meier. Both sides then agreed on appointment of Lambert Kowalewski as a neutral. After the hearing, the board deliberated a half-hour. Kleinschmidt voting for Meier's dismissal and Maliszewski voting for Meier's reinstatement. Kowalewski broke the tie by voting for dismissal.

Testimony at the hearing was transcribed by Mrs. James Theis, Kaczorowski's secretary, and will be sent to Robert G. Hansen, state commissioner of veterans affairs, who had requested a transcript.

Assistant County Attorney Richard H. Darby, who represented the county, questioned witnesses.

Thursday's hearing was the first of its kind held in the county under the veteran's preference law.

As the hearing got under way, Maliszewski said to Darby:

"You're putting us (the board) at a disadvantage. You're an attorney, we're not."

Darby said the hearing would be informal and was not a court session.

There was some doubt about Meier's age.

Darby quoted county records as giving Meier's date of birth as Oct. 24, 1889, which would make Meier 73.

"I thought it was 1890," Meier said.

(This morning Kaczorowski said a baptismal record confirmed the 1889 birth date, making Meier 73.)

"I think we can just agree for the purposes of the hearing that Mr. Meier is over 65," Kaczorowski said.

Darby and Kaczorowski then discussed the law's provisions.

THE SERVICE officer reminded the board that the law provided that Meier couldn't be discharged until after a hearing. Meier was dismissed one month before the hearing, Kaczorowski asked if Meier was still on the payroll.

Meier was still on the payroll and was entitled to January pay. In view of this, Kowalewski recommended later that afternoon when he voted for Meier's dismissal that the employee receive one month's pay for January.

Fay was sworn in as the county's first witness.

"When a man is getting into his later years, he's not as efficient as in his younger years," the county engineer said. "He slows up."

Fay said insurance company representatives had remarked to him about the number of men over 65 on the county highway department payroll. There are 30 employees in the department, Fay said Meier, who joined the department Sept. 12, 1912, had done repair and maintenance of motor vehicles.

Fay indicated a younger mechanic was needed in the department because engines and highway equipment have changed considerably over the years and now need more precise adjustment.

Kowalewski reported after the hearing that Leon Budnick, 879 E. Wabasha St., a World War II veteran, had been hired by Fay to replace Meier. Budnick went on the payroll Jan. 1 at $1.80 an hour. Meier had been earning $1.76 an hour.

FAY SAID it was obvious that Meier's ability was falling when several years ago Meier had been unable to make an engine repair. The procedure for which Fay said was obvious. Fay said the repair involved installation of an engine pump. Fay said because of Meier's inability to install the pump a New York manufacturer had to make a long distance call to Winona. Fay said Meier had not kept up with new maintenance methods.

The county engineer said: "Employees must be in good physical and mental shape. Most definitely there's a danger to other employees if the equipment is not properly repaired."

When equipment broke down in the county, Meier had to drive out to the county to repair the equipment. Darby and Fay questioned Meier's ability to operate a motor vehicle safely at 73.

Meier interrupted Fay's testimony to assert that the longest time call came from Iowa, not New York.

Kaczorowski asked Fay if Meier had had a traffic accident.

"I don't know of any," Fay said. "Do you consider him incompetent?" Maliszewski asked Fay of Meier.

"He's not as good as when he was younger," Fay said. "As for Meier's alleged incompetence," Fay said:

"I don't consider him completely so."

Several times during the hearing Kaczorowski asked whether Darby's questioning of witnesses was actually designed to prove Meier's alleged incompetence.

"Did you ever need outside help to do your job?" Kaczorowski asked Fay.

Fay said he did.

Each year the county commissioners routinely pass a resolution authorizing Fay to get engineering and other technical assistance from the State Highway Department.

Under questioning from Maliszewski, Fay said:

"A few years ago the county board agreed that anyone over 65 would not get increases in salary."

Fay said that under this policy Meier had not received raises.

The policy reported by Fay is not in the county board's official minutes.

The county's second witness was Rost, the maintenance superintendent. He was Meier's supervisor.

"THERE WERE occasions when his work was not what it should be because of a lack of knowledge," Rost said.

Rost charged Meier had improperly repaired a motorgrader at Leveaux and that a Twin Cities maintenance man had to be summoned to do the job right. Later in the hearing Meier denied he had improperly repaired the motorgrader, charging that another mechanic had worked on the job first and hadn't done it right.

Rost said Meier's work output varied—good, slow and average. Rost said Meier had never refused to follow orders and had not taken excessive sick leave.

Rost, under questioning by Kaczorowski, said other county highway employees in addition to Meier had experienced difficulty occasionally in repairing equipment.

"I have trouble myself on some work and get outside help," Rost said.

When Kaczorowski asked whether Meier was competent or incompetent, Rost hesitated then replied that the equipment had changed considerably in recent years and that Meier would not be competent to work for a contractor.

Maliszewski asked Rost to confine his judgement to Meier's ability as a county highway employee.

Rost then said Meier was not competent.

Kaczorowski asked at the hearing whether denying raises to Meier was discriminatory.

This morning Kaczorowski quoted this part of the state law which he felt applied to the fact that

Alumni Meet

Factors in 'U' Growth Explained

Persons who express alarm over the expanding enrollment at the University of Minnesota frequently are unaware of the factors responsible for this burgeoning student load, Stanley J. Wenberg, university vice president for educational relationships and development, told members of the reactivated Winona chapter of the Minnesota Alumni Association here Thursday night.

The public often "gets mesmerized by that figure of 32,000" when enrollment figures are reported, Wenberg commented in his discussion with 46 chapter members and guests at a dinner meeting at Hotel Winona.

Of five major factors which have influenced the growth of the university to one of the largest educational institutions in the United States, Wenberg asserted, three are of historical or geographical origin over which neither the university administration nor the public has any control today.

THE OTHER TWO, over which controls may be exercised, are the comprehensive character of the institution and the quality of instruction offered.

Wenberg was the principal speaker at the first meeting of the recently reorganized chapter. Chapter President William F. White, 275 W. Broadway, who presided at Thursday's meeting, heads a slate of officers and directors re-elected to new one-year terms by the membership.

The university is "snugging up where it can" in an effort to keep physical expansion within the limits dictated by the range of educational opportunities and quality of instruction expected of the university.

Standards for enrollment eligibility in the College of Science, Literature and the Arts — the largest of the university's upwards of 30 schools and colleges — have been advanced, Wenberg noted, to the point where "the arts college is now the third most selective in the state."

HE SAID THAT most freshmen admitted have ranked in the upper third of their high school graduating classes, answering what he described as a frequently-heard criticism, "We don't have to educate everybody."

Programs of inter-institutional cooperation cited by Wenberg as measures undertaken for most economical use of facilities include the association of Minnesota with 22 other institutions in a library corporation to provide a central depository for mutual use of the members and a joint program with two other universities in graduate study leading to a doctorate in the sciences.

"We have reached the deadline," he said, "where we must make selective judgment in our offerings and can no longer be all things to all men."

Factors over which there is no control, have their roots in the era of the Civil War in the development of the character of liberal arts and mechanic arts colleges.

The 1862 Land Grant Act provided funds for the development of colleges specializing in agriculture and the mechanic arts and these, for the most part, he said, were established independent of the state universities. Both, he said, usually were located in rural areas of the state.

MINNESOTA IS unique, he continued, in that its state university developed as a combination of the two institutions and in a metropolitan area.

With the concentration of college-age youth in the immediate area of the university, he said, it becomes inevitable that a large percentage of high school graduates will enroll at the university.

Elsewhere in the nation where the state universities were established outside metropolitan centers, today in the principal cities of the state.

"If we had built our university at Alexandria, I'm convinced that we'd be building in the Twin Cities today," Wenberg observed. "If the choice of site was fortuitous we find that now that it turns out to be economical judgment."

In the 19th century westward expansion prior to the Civil War, he said, migrating groups were largely religiously-oriented and as they established communities they provided private religious colleges for advanced education.

After the passage of the Homestead Act, Wenberg continued, the nature of the migration changed abruptly and, with mass migration there weren't the number of colleges established by religious orders.

For this reason Minnesota and other Midwestern states have a lower percentage of students enrolled in church-supported institutions and a greater burden falls on the state for providing educational opportunities.

Nelson Farm Family Flees Burning House

NELSON, Wis. (Special)—Wind-fanned flames destroyed the farm home of the Martin Quarberg family five miles southeast of here early this morning.

Nelson firemen answered the alarm at midnight but were unable to save the two-story farm home. Neither the Quarbergs nor their four children were injured but they were able to save only a few personal possessions and household articles.

Firemen said the blaze started in a recently-built garage which is connected to the house by a breezeway. Flashed in the garage were two tractors and a car, all of which were destroyed. Smoke and flames, which awoke the family, swept quickly through the breezeway and enveloped the house.

Sometimes known as the former Thomas Otteson farm, the place has been occupied by the Quarbergs since the mid-1940's.

Whitehall Board Increases Size

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—At a special meeting of Whitehall School District, Wednesday night, voters decided to increase the board to seven at the annual meeting in July.

By a "gentleman's agreement," the district will probably elect three members from the Whitehall area, including Lincoln and Preston towns; two from Town of Pigeon and Pigeon Falls Village; and one each from the Jackson County area including Northfield, Garden Valley and Curran townships, and from Pleasantville and Town Dale.

Building of a swimming pool by the district, introduced at the annual meeting last July, was introduced again. Of 453 ballots cast, the district voted 286-167 against giving the board authority to investigate further into the possibility of building a pool. Last July the proposal was to attach it to the northwest corner of the high school building and enclose it. It would have been open to use by the public as well as the school.

The majority of urban people were in favor of the pool and the majority of rural people favored postponing the proposal.

Estimates on the cost were made but it was reported Gale-Erickson's pool under construction, not included, will cost an estimated $25,000.

The board was given permission to sell two schools no larger in size. Pike, the land reversion to the owner, and Fly Creek School, including 25 of an acre Sale will be by bid in the spring.

BUFFALO CITY OFFICERS Unopposed for Election

BUFFALO CITY, Wis. — Incumbents filed for Buffalo City office without opposition Tuesday, according to Henry Zentgraf, clerk.

Winonans will lay down their snow shovels Saturday to observe the 105th anniversary of an event that provided pedestrian emancipation in subzero climates like Winona's.

On Feb. 2, 1858, T. C. Wales, Dorchester, Mass., received a patent on Wales Patent Arctic Gaiters—known as galoshes to latter-day Winonans.

Wales helped finance his experiments from a slush fund raised by frost-bitten pioneer Winonans who disliked having their toes turn blue when the mercury cringed below zero, which was most of the year.

News of the patent was flashed to Winona by pony express riders who arrived here the following July. The news was timely, however, because it was still snowing.

Gaiters or galoshes are much in evidence on Winona streets these days. Many Winonans, so attired, like to engage in the city's favorite outdoor sport — sliding on ice. That gave rise to the expression that many Winonans are on the skids.

Scouts Collect Paper Saturday

The Winona Boy Scout paper drive will be held Saturday starting at 1 p.m. This is a city-wide drive with the proceeds donated to a charitable organization.

Winonans are asked to tie or box their paper and place it in front of their homes for pickup. Dr. Oran Featherstone is coordinator.

Goodview Screens Candidates for Village Clerk

The Goodview Village Council picked four candidates from 15 applicants for the job of full-time clerk at a special meeting Thursday night at Village Hall.

The four, all men, will be interviewed at a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday when a final selection may be made. Nine men and six women applied for the post which is now part-time.

The present elective clerk, Dr. E. G. Callahan, will serve until a full-time clerk has been appointed. A salary has not yet been set for the full-time post. The new clerk's office will be in the waterworks pump house. Presiding was Mayor Rex A. Johnson. Clerk candidates did not attend.

The State Health Department made a final test of the village's water Thursday and is expected to make a report to the council by Tuesday. Although the new waterworks was completed some months ago, only limited service has been provided pending approval from the state.

Durand to Have Council Contest

DURAND, Wis.—A contest for alderman-supervisor developed in the 2nd Ward here Tuesday, the deadline for filing nomination papers for the city election April 2.

Glen Bignell, owner of Farmers Machine Co., opposes Ralph D. Blair, long-time representative on the council and Pepin County Board. It is the first time Bignell has entered politics.

Two other aldermen-supervisors declined further service: Robert Schlosser, owner of Schlosser Motor Co., 1st Ward, and Joseph Brenner Jr., 3rd Ward.

Filing in the 1st Ward was Paul Weber, insurance underwriter, and Don Sommers, 3rd Ward. Weber has previously served on the council by appointment. Sommers is a rural mail carrier from Arkansas post office. He lives in Durand.

Only the alderman-supervisor vacancies are involved in the election this year. Next year Durand will elect a mayor, treasurer, and men serving as aldermen only.

Damage was more than $30 to LeBeau's car. No damage was reported on Sandness' car. No one was injured and no citations were issued.

A minor two-car accident occurred at 3rd and Vine streets at 11:05 a.m. today, according to police.

Drivers involved were Henry Lawrence, Leveaux, and Ronald Toole, 453 E. 4th St. Lawrence was driving north on Vine Street and Toole west on 3rd Street when the cars collided in the intersection, said police.

Damage was more than $50 to Lawrence's car and about $40 to Toole's car, said police. Neither driver was injured and no citations were issued.

Report Attempted Tavern Break-In

A rear door at E.B.'s Corner, 700 W. 5th St., was extensively damaged as a result of an attempted break-in early this morning, according to police.

Police said that entry was prevented by slide bolts on the inside of the door. They said that the door was badly damaged and that the door handle had been knocked off. Tool marks were found on the door, they said.

Police were called by Mrs. Frank B. Breza, 177 N. Baker St., wife of the owner, at 8:30 a.m. today. She had received a call from Allen Kirch, the daytime bartender, when he opened the door this morning.

It Happened Last Night Broadway Without Honor in New York

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I find Broadway at its most fascinating peak these wintry nights — yet the poor news-starved New Yorkers have only a hint of what's happening along the street they knock but secretly adore.

One famous glamour girl's reported delaying her divorce. "Because of the divorce papers" somebody asked. "No — because of the NEWSPAPERS" was the answer. (She wants the publicity.)

Give Maurice Chevalier credit for his great stamina — he went to two parties in his honor after his triumphal opening at the Ziegfeld. Mary Martin, Carol Channing and Bea Lillie sang in the aisles at the theater — off he went to a French-American source at the Americana — then to the King Henry IV where Judy Garland floated in as violins played "Over the Rainbow." There the 74-year-old youngster kissed Judy for the cameras. And he told Zero Mostel, "I am your fan forevermore." Chevalier kidded himself about his age, saying, "When you get older, you can do the same things as when you were young, but you can't do them at the same time."

Tuesday, Weld gets her man. She came into the Hampshire House looking for Richard Beynner — and found him. George Hamilton got back with Susan Kohner here (nothing to those Sue Lyon & "Lolita" rumors). George told an interviewer Susan had the most sex appeal for him. Blonde Carol Lynley, who switches to black hair for a film, is just ravishing as a brunet and should never change back.

Deeply religious Russel Nype, who's planning a TV series about a singing minister, confesses he may wind up that way in real life. He's always wanted to be a preacher.

JOE GARGIOLA, the sports commentator and after-dinner star, is doing a book on religion. He likes to tell about the time Yogi Berra, sitting through a very long service, finally remarked, "This is the first time I ever heard a Mass go extra innings."

Joe also tells of a nun whose unusual habit aroused curiosity in a restaurant. Finally a waitress approached and said, "Sister, what's your order?" The nun said,

Funds Raised For Iceland Cancer Study

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—In Iceland, cigarette smokers are raising a treasury for cancer education and research.

A special tax of half a cent per pack has been levied, the money to go to the Icelandic Cancer Society. The society expects to reap about $50,000 a year, all above its current annual income of $10,000 to $20,000, says Dr. Niels Dungal, society president.

Part of the money raised when smokers smoke will go into a campaign to urge people, especially teen-agers, not to smoke. If this succeeds, the revenue from the cigarette tax will go down. Iceland apparently is the first country to earmark a tax on cigarettes for such purposes, Dungal said in an interview during a visit to the United States. The tax took effect Jan. 1.

The society hopes to give regular smear tests for early detection of cancer of the cervix to all women aged 25 to 60 and to seek causes of stomach cancer.

Dungal, professor of pathology at the University of Iceland, is among those who blame cigarette smoking as a cause of lung cancer, a position challenged by some others, including the tobacco industry.

"Thirty years ago Icelanders smoked less than any nation in Europe and had practically no lung cancer," he said. "Then cigarette imports were limited to one pound of tobacco (about 450 cigarettes) per person per year and have risen to 3½ pounds (1,575 cigarettes) per person. Some do not smoke at all while others smoke one to two packages a day, and a few even more."

Lung cancer has increased to

DEAR ABBY:

Don't Blame Your Sister

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My sister asked me to be godmother for her son, but she wouldn't let me hold the baby while he was being baptized. Her excuse was that I had a few drinks in me at the time. I did have a few drinks, but I didn't feel them at all. I was very hurt about it but didn't say anything. I gave the child a nice gift anyway. My sister is a little nutty on the subject of drinking and she won't let anyone who has had a drink touch any of her children. Somehow I don't feel that I am really the godmother of this boy because I didn't get to hold him while he was being baptized. Am I?

IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: I don't blame your sister and you shouldn't either. Whether or not you are the godmother is on file in the official records of the church. Your clergyman can tell you.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with John for almost two years. I am 21 and he is 23. John has dated me a lot, but he dates others, too. His mother treats me like a daughter and invites me to her house to keep her company. I help her with the ironing and spend all my spare time there. My mother says it isn't helping me with John and I am beginning to think she's right. How can I get John to ask me to marry him? He works steady and nothing is stopping him.

WANTS TO MARRY JOHN

DEAR WANTS: Perhaps because John's mother treats you like a daughter, John can see you only in the role of his sister. Limit your visits to John's house and remember, when it comes to marriage... John will have to speak for himself.

DEAR ABBY: I am 67 years old. I have a thousand-dollar-a-month business, and can retire any time. I lost my wife (we had no children) and now I am alone. My friends think I am crazy to want to get married again. I can give a woman any kind of a home, car or clothes she wants. I own two homes, a motel and some real estate.

There are several young girls interested in me but they are too young. I want a lady about 48 or 50 who wants to get married and stay married. I don't want to be a Sugar Daddy to a gold-digger. I want to be a husband again.

DEAR FLORIDA: There are probably more unattached women between the ages of 48 and 50 in your state than in any other. Keep your eyes open and your mouth shut. He who advertises sugar attracts flies.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

about 10 to 15 cases per year, compared with one case a year 30 years ago, Dr. Dungal said.

Voice of the Outdoors

Suffering Swans

Steam rose from the background of puddling geese as these two swans moved side by side along the snow-covered bank of Silver Lake at Rochester, hopeful that some visitor would throw them a piece of bread or other food.

Probably they are the two northernmost outdoor swan in America. Like the geese that pack Silver Lake, they are there because the adjoining power plant pumps warm water into the small body of water, keeping its temperature above freezing. Park attendants declare the swan prefer it to an enclosed shed—their feet don't get cold.

King's Proposal

Most sportsmen will shake their head and say "Stafford King is a grand old man but we cannot agree with him when it comes to his program of lumping all game and fish funds in one pot and let every department help itself. After all, the license money comes from the sale of hunting and fishing licenses."

King appeared before the senate game and fish committee this week with a proposal that he contends simplifies bookkeeping and reduces office overhead in the Conservation Department.

He asked that the Legislature set up a lump sum appropriation for the Conservation Department each biennium instead of the specific appropriations for each of the five divisions.

"This would settle all of the questions of diversion of funds from the division of game and fish," he said. "I'm not arguing about whether or not water pollution, or forestry problems are concerned with game and fish. It's just that the Conservation Department has had to live with a system we have set up for it."

He asked that an example of specific legislative appropriations is the bounty system. "It has cost the department two, three, four million dollars in past years, and it hasn't worked. But we can't do anything about it. It is an appetite which we have fed."

King said that much of the trouble could be solved by the abolishment of the so-called "dedicated funds" under which game and fish license money is supposed to be used for game and fish purposes by specific appropriation.

"It's either feast or famine," he said, "depending on license sales. And if there is fish money which isn't appropriated, it is natural for legislators to try to spend the funds for other purposes."

He added that the system of lump sum appropriations and the abolishment of dedicated funds would save "thousands of dollars each year." He said it would eliminate the cost of duplicate salaries for research in each division as well as general "duplication of effort."

The subject came up when Clifford Lovgren of Alexandria, chairman of the Senate game and fish committee, asked for opinions on the "million and a half dollars which are diverted from game and fish funds" each biennium. He cited money spent on water pollution as one example.

O. L. Kaupanger, secretary of the Minnesota Emergency Conservation Committee, said he is more concerned with "streamlining the department" rather than "picking pennies."

Muskralt Salvage
Muskralts accidentally trapped during the Wisconsin beaver and otter season will no longer be wasted under a new Conservation Commission regulation effective this year.

The new rule makes it legal to salvage up to eight muskrats taken in beaver or other traps. Muskralt pelts taken accidentally must be tagged immediately. Special salvage tags must be obtained from conservation department headquarters in Madison. The address is Wisconsin Conservation Department, License Section, Box 450, Madison 1, Wis. Unused salvage tags will be returned to the department when pelts are exhibited for inspection.

Special Earnings Put North Western Railway in Black

CHICAGO — Special credits consisting mainly of gains from land sales enabled the Chicago and North Western railway to wind up in the black in 1962 despite a loss from operations, the company disclosed yesterday.

Ben W. Heineman, chairman, said 1962 revenues and operating results were adversely affected by the telegraphers' strike, which shut down operations from Aug. 30 to Sept. 28, and by severe weather in the first quarter of 1962.

Special credits last year were $3,712,109 and the loss from operations was $1,804,210, resulting in an excess of special credits over net loss of $1,907,899 for the year. In 1961 the railroad had net income of $3,075,776 and special credits of $4,806,251, for combined net income and special credits of $7,882,027.

Operating revenues in 1962 declined to $196,960,577 from the preceding year's $218,117,122.

The company's financial position improved in the year despite the strike setback, said Heineman. Working capital at the end of 1962 was $6,200,225, an increase of $5,585,407 from a year earlier.

The increase, he said, was after a net reduction in long term debt of $10,650,583 and after an investment in 135,128 shares of common stock of Gulf, Mobile & Ohio railroad at a cost of $3,284,759.

Heineman said the company's "available net income," as defined in its first and second mortgage indentures, was $1,700,965 for 1962.

Republican Party the Party of Wealth?

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY has long been accused of being the party of the rich. Many party members have been quite self-conscious of this accusation, especially when they themselves didn't have much to jingle in their pockets.

Obviously, since this is a prosperous nation, there are wealthy men in both political parties.

Someone, presumably a Republican, has taken the trouble to list some of the well-heeled Democrats and has come up with the conclusion that never in history has this nation had as many millionaires and near-millionaires influential and active in government. Here is the record:

President Kennedy is a millionaire.

His father is one of the wealthiest men in the world.

His brother, Robert, is a millionaire.

His brother, Edward, is a millionaire.

His brother-in-law, Shriver, is a millionaire.

His other brothers-in-law are each millionaires.

Until just a few weeks ago there were five millionaires in the Kennedy Cabinet.

ROBERT McNamara is a millionaire.

Robert Kennedy is a millionaire.

Luther Hodges is a millionaire.

Douglas Dillon is a millionaire.

Arthur Goldberg (now in the Supreme Court) is a millionaire.

And Vice President Johnson is a millionaire several times over.

Among the President's close advisers, Soapy Williams is a millionaire.

Averell Harriman is a multi-millionaire.

Adlai Stevenson isn't exactly starving.

Nor is Angier Duke.

Nor is Chester Bowles.

WILLIAM BENTON is extremely wealthy.

So is Abraham Ribicoff, who was in Kennedy's original Cabinet.

Let's look at a few more prominent Democrats.

The Roosevelts are not likely to starve.

Nor are the Pells.

The Astors are multi-millionaires.

So are the Higginses.

So are the Biddles.

The Lehmans of New York are not in want either.

The Butlers of Minnesota (Butler grain tanks, Butler ship yards) are not complaining.

AMBASSADOR Eugene (Puffed Rice, Shot from Guns) Anderson is not complaining either.

Henry Kaiser is a multi-millionaire.

So was the President's good friend, the late Sen. Robert Kerr (Kerr-Magee Deep Rock Oil).

So are numerous other oil tycoons, including the Joneses (Texaco) and Ed Pauley, of Truman scandal fame.

Sen. Stuart Symington is a millionaire, having parlayed an investment of some thousands of dollars into a $1,200,000 fortune during World War II.

And so, for a time, was the Pecos Golden Boy, Billie Sol Estes.

Coulee Region to Be New Pilot Area

THE ANNOUNCEMENT that Buffalo, Pepin, Jackson and Trempealeau Counties had been selected as a pilot area for a new program of land conversion and use, shows that once again the Coulee area of Wisconsin may establish another first.

Soil conservation, on a nationwide scale, was born with the development of the nation's first pilot watershed in the La Crosse, Monroe and Vernon County area in 1933. The Soil and Water Conservation Experiment Station also was established on Grandd Bluff in the early 30s.

The new program, which is designed to cut surpluses by converting cropland to other income-producing uses, such as forestation, grassland, and recreational development, is not an addition to the soil bank or feedgrain programs now in effect.

THE NEW PROGRAM could serve a two-fold need — to reduce crop production and to provide more recreational and wildlife areas which are in increasingly short supply in the nation, even in Wisconsin.

The program would be administered through the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service and the farmers would receive cost-sharing and incentive payments for converting their cropland to other uses. In the four Wisconsin counties the emphasis will be placed on tree planting and development of more recreational areas.

THIS SEEMS to be a better solution than to allow the land merely to stand idle and turn into a weed patch not fit for any use, with only a partial income for the farmer. The new program will give the farmer more income-producing possibilities to replace his crops. — La Crosse Tribune.

HOW DO YOU STAND, SIR?

Cannon Lashes Kennedy Plan

By SEN. BARRY GOLDWATER

One of the bitterest denunciations of President Kennedy's record-breaking spending budget of $98.8 billion for fiscal year 1964 came from the Democratic chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

I believe it is important for the American people to know the attitude of Rep. Clarence Cannon, not only because he is a member of the President's own political party, but because of his long experience with the problems of government fiscal programs. His views pretty well sum up those of every legislator seriously concerned over the extravagant trend of the New Frontier.

Here is just a part of what the Appropriations chairman had to say of Mr. Kennedy's budget in a speech to the House: "We live in the day of the superlative. Everything is bigger and better—or bigger and worse—and relatively more or less impressive than anything in its respective category that has ever come or gone down the echoing corridors of time and eternity. And today's budget is no exception to the rule."

"In many respects, this is the most portentous message the President plans to send down this year. I have listened to messages from Presidents here in the House for 40 years, but in all that time I have never seen or heard a budget message like this one, and neither have you; nor has anyone else."

"THIS BUDGET is the record-breaker of all the succession of record-breaking budgets of the last 10 years."

"It is the largest expenditure budget since 1789—it proposes to spend $98.802 billion. That tops the peak of World War II spending by $500 million when the sky was the limit and survival the sole object."

"And it tops the current year's estimated level of $4.491 billion and billions above earlier budgets. And much of it is for non-defense purposes. Even with the tax revisions, it proposes to take more from the people than in any other year, in war or peace—the sum of $38.9 billion in 1964, or $1.4 billion higher than now estimated for fiscal 1963."

"AND EVEN though it anticipates record national revenues, they fall far short of meeting the expenditures urged in the budget. Only once before—in fiscal 1959—has the budget in peace time exceeded the $11,902 billion deficit shown in this budget. And impressions to the contrary, more than $6.6 billion of that tentative deficit figure cannot be ascribed to loss through tax cuts or revisions or national-defense spending increases. Nor will rising space and interest expenditures account for it. Non-defense spending beyond available revenues is heavily involved."

"This $11,902 billion deficit is so tenuous, so precarious, so uncertain that the President plans to wait until later this year to advise the House how much he will have to ask in the way of a higher debt ceiling. But he concedes the obvious—the present ceiling for fiscal 1963 must be promptly hiked and a much further enlargement provided for fiscal 1964."

"IF THERE is the slightest hope in the message of the budget that the budget will be balanced even in fiscal 1965, there is no documentation to sustain it. On the contrary, there are abundant indications of another heavy deficit in 1965—and inevitably the debt must go higher and higher."

"Today's press quotes the Secretary of the Treasury as saying that not only will there be another deficit in 1965, but very possibly in 1966. Incredible. Unbelievable."

How do you stand, sir?

'The Teacher Wants You to Share in the New Aid-to-Education Program!'

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Mrs. Bob Kerr Takes Over Husband's Empire

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The little known lady in the life of the late Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma has now come forward to assume the reins of the far-flung Kerr empire. She is blonde, statuesque Mrs. Grayce Kerr, a charming lady who was seen but seldom heard when the senator was alive.

Her husband was such a human dynamo and so dedicated to politics, that most people didn't know much about Mrs. Kerr. She kept quietly in the background. And once, when Bob put politics ahead of everything else, friends said she filed for divorce in Le Flore County, Oklahoma, withdrawing after the p r e s u a b l e o b s e r v a t i o n s of an impassioned plea to preserve the home.

Today, however, Mrs. Kerr is sitting in the driver's seat. She already had a large chunk of stock in the Kerr-McGee Company with its $100,000,000 of oil reserves. On top of this, she inherited one-third of her husband's estate. Now, in a quiet but firm way, she is reorganizing the cattle, oil, law, and political fortunes of the Kerr empire.

It was only a few days after her husband died that she decreed that her eldest son, Bob Kerr, Jr., should run for the Senate. This was news to him and to everyone else. Bob is a charming, undynamic offspring who made no secret of the fact that he did not want to get into politics. He knew from watching his father how much time it took away from the family. After his own children were grown, he said, he might get into politics, but not now.

SUDDENLY, however, his mother changed all this. Bob Kerr, Jr., found himself running to replace his father in 1964.

Mrs. Kerr also let it be known that Aubrey Kerr, brother of her late husband, was to step down as head of the Kerr law firm to make way for Bob Kerr, Jr., and that Dean McGee, head of Kerr-McGee, was to step down to make way for her son Breene, while her son-in-law was to take over the vast 55,000-acre cattle ranch with its 10,000 head of black angus at Poteau.

That's the way Mrs. Kerr wants it, and she has the stock to back up her decisions. The little-known blonde in the life of the late senator from Oklahoma has suddenly assumed command.

There's at least one member of the Kennedy cabinet who has influence inside the Kremlin—Stewart Udall, secretary of the interior.

WHEN UDALL returned to Moscow from his Siberian survey of Soviet high dams and power projects, he had a session with Premier Khrushchev, at which he praised Soviet hydroelectric accomplishments.

The Russians are building some of the biggest dams in the world, several far bigger than Grand Coulee, Washington, and Udall told Khrushchev that his people were doing an excellent job. While he talked, I. T. Novikov, minister of power station construction, sat and listened.

Afterwards, Udall told him: "If you get promoted, you are going to have to give me credit."

A few weeks later, Novikov was made deputy prime minister, one of the top-ranking jobs in the Soviet Union. Udall promptly wrote him a kidding letter, reminding him that he had secured his promotion.

At the start of the 88th Congress, Adam Clayton Powell, the junketing congressman from Harlem, was not junketing. Nor was he in Washington. Powell was sunning himself in Puerto Rico where he keeps his wife on the government payroll to the tune of $12,000 a year.

POWELL is chairman of the important House Labor and Education Committee which must pass on aid-to-education, any changes in the Taft-Hartley act, the Youth Corps, and some of the most vital legislation in Congress. Yet he has one of the worst absentee records in Congress.

His absence from Washington holds up legislation affecting millions of people: both white and Negro. This, in turn, illustrates the fact that what might be termed middle-America is frequently caught between committee chairmen of the big-city North and the rural South. They hold office largely because of race prejudice either for the Negro or against the Negro and they run their committees pretty much the way they wish.

The two Negro chairmen from New York and Chicago, Powell and William Dawson, for instance, can never be defeated because of their race. They are elected by overwhelmingly Negro districts.

Likewise, various southern chairmen hold office partly because they are anti-Negro. Sen. Jim Eastland of Mississippi, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, who can never be defeated because of his anti-Negro position has held up the appointment of Negro judges and civil rights bills for months at a time.

HIS OBSTRUCTIONIST operations have been well publicized in this column. Not so well known is the obstruction of the two Negro chairmen. Here are two cases:

Case No. 1—Rep. Dawson of Chicago is chairman of one of the most important House committees, Government operations, with the power to investigate almost any phase of government of American life.

Yet, when Rep. John Blatnik, D-Minn., was in the middle of probing a highway scandal in Mobile, Ala., his superior, Chairman Dawson, pulled the rug right out from under him. Dawson stopped the highway probe at the behest of Frank Boykin of Mobile, then one of the bitterest segregationists in Congress.

Case No. 2—in 1958, Dawson cracked down on Blatnik's investigation of dangerous drugs, cigarettes, lung cancer, and various quackeries. Blatnik had worked hard to prepare this probe, then he got word that his committee was being "reorganized." This meant that his investigative personnel was being taken away and the probe was ended.

TWO YEARS later, Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., staged the same general investigation. But, in the interim, the public had been exposed to a lot of phony medicines, including thalidomide, which has caused the birth of deformed babies.

At this session of Congress, Rep. Bob Jones of Alabama, who heads a subcommittee under Dawson, planned to investigate the dangerous pollution of our water and other problems affecting American health. Suddenly, chairman Dawson sent word that the probe would be handled by Dawson's own staff. Which

Why Pay Anyone For His Hobby

To the Editor:

I suppose the debate between Mr. Fosmo and myself, regarding the merits of fox bounty could go on indefinitely. I had hoped he would arrange a date to show me where those bad foxes are eating pheasant. Naturally I expected to pay him for his time, at $5 per pheasant, if he would give me 10 cents per mouse. But, he hasn't showed up, nor has anyone else.

I don't know if either Mr. Fosmo or myself would qualify as an expert on wildlife in Wabasha County. I do know that I was born and raised there and still spend 75 per cent of all my fox hunting time there, while Mr. Fosmo is a newcomer to the area. I also know that for every day he could possibly spend in the woods there, I spend at least four. I still say that there are more fox in Wabasha County than any place in the United States that I know of, and I am in constant contact with fox hunters all over our country and Canada. Anytime he wants to show me where there are enough pheasants to feed three hungry fox a week, I'd be happy to go with him.

I actually don't know many fox trappers, and I don't know what Mr. Fosmo's authority for speaking for them is. I am acquainted with the best fox trapper in Southern Minnesota, Chalmers Keise, and he is against the bounty and has tried to have it removed for years. I can state, though, that I am acting secretary for the Minnesota State Foxhunters Association and have authority to speak for them. The main purpose of our organization is to fight bounty payments, not only for fox, but coyote, wolf, bobcat, and bear as well.

Mr. Fosmo might be surprised to know that we are in the process of offering the Conservation Department our services to get a bunch of hunters and good hounds and go anywhere in Minnesota where any so-called predators are too thick and causing a problem, and hunt there until they are thinned out. All of this completely free, and we would be happy for the opportunity.

We believe the fox and coyote and bobcat are great game animals and it is a privilege to be able to hunt them. We wouldn't think of asking the taxpayers to pay us for the privilege of carrying on our sport. Maybe Mr. Fosmo would explain why the trappers should be paid? This has always been a deep mystery to me, why should anyone be paid for carrying on their sport? It is my opinion that if a man has to be paid for his hobby, than perhaps he should try another one.

As for planting pheasants, that is a complete waste of time and money and almost every conservation department in the country is quitting this practice. South Dakota with the largest supply of pheasants in the world has never even had a game farm.

Thinks Tree Ordinance Will Be Too Costly

To the Editor:

It's voting time again. I have property in Winona but can't vote as I don't live in Winona so I hope those that live in Winona vote and think before they vote.

This tree ordinance meeting the City Council had in December taxing each taxpayer only $2. They say $2 now but wait. They already hired four men to work four years on making only one round on the public trees in Winona, 27,721 trees. They also bought a tree trimming lower that cost $11,390. Then on Jan. 28 bids were opened for a truck chassis on which to mount the tower. At the February meeting bills go out for a flat-bed truck, equipped with hoist and winch for hauling away debris.

I wonder what they are going to tax us for next. It's about time somebody thinks twice before spending tax money. Those who thought twice and didn't vote for the tree ordinance were Ald. Howard Baumann, Mrs. Mary Masysa and Clarence Triebel. Those who don't care about our tax dollar are Harold Briesath, Ald. Henry Parks, Mrs. Muriel Ollom, Lloyd Dellke, James Stoltman and Daniel Bambenek. The last six voted for the tree ordinance. I am also wondering what Wincrest is costing us.

Mrs. George Maht's

means it probably won't be held at all.

All of this means that the health, education, and civil rights of several million children, both white and Negro, will be affected by the big-handed absentee tactics of certain pro-Negro chairmen from Big Northern cities and anti-Negro chairmen from the rural South.

Childhood Diabetes Explained

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can tension, as a result of seeing other children in the family eat candy have an effect on the blood sugar of a diabetic boy of six? —Mrs. R.B.

Yes. I shortened the above letter but it pointed out that the child's blood sugar repeatedly stayed normal while he was away from home on a visit, but rose after he returned —and into the atmosphere of being denied candy while his brothers and sisters ate it.

Sometimes this happens. Nervousness, tension, family discord can upset the smoothness of control of a diabetic.

If it's a six-year-old boy who can't really understand why the others have things that are denied him — well, that's enough to upset a little fellow's sense of justice.

Handling a diabetic child takes a lot of tact and diplomacy on the part of parents. And good judgment.

Diabetes in childhood is a dangerous disease and you can't take liberties with it. Sweets and candy are out. Virtually so. On a blue moon, say for birthday, Christmas, and perhaps one or two other occasions in a year, a sweet treat may be permitted, making allowance in the regular diet for the extra calories. But the treat shouldn't be too rich.

The rest of the time the youngster should be kept on a well-balanced, wholesome diet, but without sugar.

THIS ISN'T A deprivation. Candy is not essential in a child's diet. In fact, it can be overdone with any child, to the detriment of appetite, teeth and disposition.

If I had a diabetic child, along with several non-diabetics, I'd be sparing of candy or other sweets for all of them.

I'd also pay attention to something else that I've noticed. You can pet and pamper and spoil a diabetic child in other ways. I'd try very hard not to. I'd try to treat the children the same, each with his fair share of love, praise and attention — and scolding when necessary. Try not to let them feel left out, or set aside, or given special favoritism.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am in my late teens and am no longer bothered with acne but my problem is scars and large pores. I have heard about something called dermabrasion. Do you know their cost? This is important because I want to become a model. —RUTH Dermabrasion or "skin planing" is quite effective in removing surface scars. (Deeper pits may remain but are less noticeable.) Many dermatologists (skin specialists) do this, as well as plastic surgeon, but to get a cost estimate you would have to let the doctor see how much needs to be done.

Dear Dr. Molner: Seven years ago I had an ectopic pregnancy and an operation. I have not been pregnant since. Does this mean I will never have children? —Mrs. A. J.

It's hard to say without special tests. One of the two Fallopian tubes had to be removed because of the ectopic pregnancy. Whether you can now have children depends on the condition of the other tube. If it is defective, the answer may be no. If it is normal, the answer may be yes.

Rural Whitehall Woman Marks 100th Birthday

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Mrs. Bernie Fryslie, rural Whitehall, observed her 100th birthday Tuesday when friends and relatives called on her at her home.

The daughter of Lars Larson Skjensby and Ingeborg Larson, she was born in Bir, Norway, Jan. 29, 1863. Her parents brought her to this country when she was three years old, and the family resided with relatives in La Crosse for two years before coming to this area. She was married to Matt Fryslie in 1888. Mr. Fryslie died in 1943.

Mrs. Fryslie has lived on the farm in Maule Coulee, operated by her nephew, Bennie Skjensby, for the past 67 years. A niece, Miss Olga Skjensby, also lives with them.

Highlight of the day for the guest of honor was the birthday cake presented her by rural mail carrier Willie Johnson. He has helped her celebrate her birthday for the past nine years.

Fund Pledges To Be Dedicated At McKinley

McKinley Methodist Church members will dedicate their building fund pledges at both services Sunday morning for the liquidation of the obligation incurred when the church school unit was built and the church remodeled five years ago at a total cost of $120,000.

A goal of $9,500 has been set for the present campaign, the amount needed to cover the balance of the indebtedness and interest.

An $8,000 note, the sum borrowed by the church to equip and furnish the kitchen in the new unit, has been paid in full and will be burned at the morning services. Mrs. Charles Love, present president of the church, Mrs. Bruce Reed, treasurer, and Mrs. Edwin Spencer and Mrs. L. M. Ferdinandson Sr., who were presidents of the society during the debt retirement years, will participate in the note-burning ceremony.

Ten memorials to McKinley church, honoring former members and friends of the church, will be presented and dedicated at the second service. They are: An oak lectern to hold "The Book of Memory," in memory of Mrs. June Meyer; a pair of wrought iron candelabra in memory of Mrs. Anne Miner.

Altar runners in liturgical colors in memory of Mr. C. N. Dean and Mrs. Ella Umbreit; additional equipment for the communion set in memory of Mrs. Oscar Nelson; a four-speed stereo record player in memory of Horace Keith; a church school picture filing cabinet in memory of Mrs. Rosy Vier.

A gift to the building fund in memory of Mr. Harry Patrick; books for the church school library in memory of Dr. Harry C. Munro, Mrs. Gebhard's father, and a record player for the church school use in memory of Mr. Olaf Sreen. Other memorial funds have been received by the church and the gifts will be dedicated when suitable memorials are selected.

Winona State Plans Religious Emphasis Week

Professor John E. Burkhardt, McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago, will be the guest speaker during Religious Emphasis Week at Winona State College Feb. 4-8. His topics will follow the theme, "The Responsible Student on Campus."

Religious Emphasis Week starts at 7:30 p.m. Monday when Burkhardt will be introduced at Pastors' Auditorium. A film will be shown with a coffee hour afterward. At 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the same auditorium Burkhardt will speak on "The Responsible Student on Campus." Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. his topic will be "The Responsible Student on Campus."

A food auction will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday in Somsen Auditorium. The food will be donated from various local church organizations. Money from the auction will be given to the World University Service.

Professor Burkhardt came to McCormick Seminary as an instructor in systematic theology in September 1959. Prior to his appointment there he was a lecturer in the religion department of the University of Southern California from 1911-1959.

He has served as book review editor of "Union Seminary Quarterly Review and Associate Editor of "Christianity and Society." He is sponsored here by the Winona Ministerial Association.

BLAIR, Wis. (Special) — Kim Sather, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Sather, has been appointed publications director for the Northern Wisconsin District Lutheran League. A sophomore at Blair High School and a member of Zion Lutheran Church, she succeeds Richard Anderson who resigned after his election to the district presidency in November. Her duties will include editing "Light," the Lutheran League newspaper. She selected Marie Engstrom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernal Engstrom, Blair, as assistant.

COMING DOWN . . . A section of the wall facing Main Street, of Central Methodist Church is being torn down this week as construction gets under way for the building of a new church. A "clam bucket" on the crane is breaking up the wall because some pieces of cut stone will be saved for the new church. P. Earl Schwab Co., is general contractor. (Daily News photo)

Winonan Heads Vocations Unit

Paul Libera, 748 W. 5th St., has been appointed by the Most Rev. Edward A. Fitzgerald, bishop of Winona, to be the diocesan chairman of the Bishop's Lay Committee for Vocations which functions as one of the activities of the Diocesan Council of Catholic Men. Libera is a member of St. Casimir's Catholic Church.

He will succeed Robert J. Sheran, Mankato, who has been diocesan chairman since its organization in 1955. Sheran resigned because of his appointment as associate justice of the Minnesota Supreme Court which will require his presence at St. Paul.

Libera is a graduate of St. Mary's College and was the first president of the Diocesan Council of Catholic Men and was awarded the Catholic Action Medal of the Bishop of Winona in 1956.

Methodist Men To Be Hosts

The McKinley Methodist Men will be hosts to their wives and members of the congregation at a dinner at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday.

New Building At Ettrick Gets Tentative OK

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special) — Preliminary plans for a new parish hall and Sunday school building were accepted at the annual meeting of Living Hope Lutheran Church.

The proposed building, housing a fellowship hall to seat 165 and to provide space for six classes, includes a kitchen, two administrative offices and six classrooms. A total of $15,000 has been raised during the past years for a building fund. The structure would be to stage a long-range building plan. The trustees were authorized to stage a fund raising campaign.

Wayne Erickson is president of the congregation. Executive building committee includes Mrs. Hiram Mahlum, Mrs. Jennings Johnson, Victor Folkedahl, Arthur Rønnestrand, Kenneth Truax, E. O. Runnestrand, Clayton Olson, N. C. Twesme, John Terpening and A. M. Hogden.

Plans and construction committee includes Hogden, Ben Erickson and Walter Nelsquest.

The accepted resolution reads: "Resolved, that Living Hope Lutheran congregation accept as a goal the preliminary plan for the first unit educational building as submitted by architects Gjelten and Schellberg. It is understood that this in no way obligates the congregation to begin construction on this unit or any other unit without the vote of the congregation at an officially called meeting."

"It is understood that this goal does not include anything more than the above named educational unit."

Cardinal D'Alton Of Ireland Dead

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — John Cardinal D'Alton, Roman Catholic primate of Ireland, died today in a Dublin nursing home. He was 80.

His death reduced the College of Cardinals to 83 members. Cardinal D'Alton, archbishop of Armagh, had been in ill health for many months.

Despite his condition, he left the nursing home in Dublin in October and attended the Ecumenical Council in Rome until it recessed in December. He lived in a nursing home while in Rome.

Last week he left the home again to attend the funeral in London of William Cardinal Godfrey, the Catholic bishop of Westminster.

Cardinal D'Alton was a noted historian and one of his books, "Horace and His Age," earned him a doctorate of literature from the National University of Ireland.

He was ordained in Rome in 1908, became bishop of Meath in 1943 and archbishop of Armagh in 1946. Pope Pius XII elevated him to the College of Cardinals in 1953.

The cardinal wanted Northern Ireland to unite with the Irish republic on a federal basis and for the two to take their place inside the British Commonwealth as an independent republic.

Parent and Youth Study Starting at McKinley Church

The first session of a parent-youth study unit will begin with a fellowship supper service at 6:30 p.m. Sunday McKinley Methodist Church.

The parents group, led by the Rev. Edward Gebhard, will use the text "Enjoying Your Teenagers," by Hoover Rupert.

The youth section, eighth graders and older, will be led by Cheryl and Charles Anderson, senior high MYF counselors, in a discussion of the text "Enjoy Your Parents," by Robert R. Powell.

These books were prepared for joint parent-youth study in Methodist churches at the request of the Methodist Council of Bishops. The final session of the unit will be a "talk back" panel, when mutual concerns of parents and youth will be objectively discussed.

St. Charles Church Calls New Pastor

ST. CHARLES, Minn. (Special) — Faith Lutheran Church voted recently to ask the American Lutheran Church to "call" the Rev. G. Neil Christopherson to the local pastorate. He has been serving as interim pastor since the resignation of the Rev. Luther Peterson Dec. 31.

Christopherson is a native of Ostrander and has served as a chaplain in the armed services. Rev. Peterson accepted a call to a St. Paul church. The congregation also elected James Morcom president and named Mrs. Edmund Luchmann Sunday school superintendent.

NASON ON EDUCATION

Teachers, Keep Grades Honest

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

Dear Dr. Nason:

I have been told that when there is a choice of grades, it is better to mark low. That a U instead of a C grade or a C instead of a B will stimulate a child to work harder.

It has been my personal experience that a disappointment in grades leads to drop-outs or a "why bother to try?" attitude. On the other hand, a high grade, even when it is not fully deserved, makes a child more interested in the subject, more sure of himself and he continues to do well.

Severa of us would like your opinion on this.

E. C. Syracuse, N.Y.

Answer:

The grade in any subject should reflect performance in that subject as nearly as possible.

The manipulation of grades to stimulate the student to work harder can not be justified.

Many items enter into the pattern of influences in each child's life. A lower grade might stimulate a college student or perhaps a few below that level. In my experience this practice seldom works at the junior high level.

Let's keep our grading honest and stimulate students through legitimate procedures.

Dear Dr. Nason:

I am very disturbed over my son who is 13 and in the 8th grade. He brings home very low grades in all subjects.

His work habits are graded: "Wastes time, inattentive, satisfied with less than best, disturbs class, does work below his ability, does not complete assignments."

In his social attitudes all teachers mark him as being cooperative. He is president of his class and has many friends.

I have talked with his teachers and they say this is a passing phase.

I have tried to help him at home and he seems to resent my suggestions. Could you advise me as to what might do to help my boy? His four sisters have never had any trouble.

Mrs. P. Snowflake, Ariz.

Answer:

It is not unusual for a boy to resist following the line of conformity so natural to his older sisters. This "phase" will not pass unless your son takes charge of his own life and does something about it.

Some adult outside the family may have more influence than teachers or members of the family. He already has developed a resistance to such advice. A respected neighbor, or the family doctor might help him to accept responsibility for his own life.

This may take time, but nothing could be more worthwhile than saving a boy from a life of failure and frustration.

Scheie-Garner Youth Group Elects Officers

MABEL, Minn. (Special) — Donald Halvors was elected president of the newly formed Scheie-Garner Youth League Sunday.

Connie Johnson was elected vice president; Terry Vatland, secretary; Shirley Anderson treasurer and Larry Solney, devotional secretary.

No Benefit Seen For Housewives In Oleo Repeal

ST. PAUL (AP) — The housewife would get no benefit from repeal of the 10-cent-a-pound tax on oleomargarine, William Nystrom of Worthington, vice president of the Minnesota Farm-house Tax Committee Thursday.

Nystrom said that after repeal of the 10-cent federal oleo tax in 1950 the consumer did not receive any benefit, adding, "the manufacturers and distributors absorbed the difference."

Nystrom then presented a chart indicating the retail price did not change much after the federal tax repeal.

The chart showed that the retail average price of oleo in the United States was 30.8 cents in 1949 and 31.3 cents in 1950. In 1951 it was 34.7 cents and then went into the 29-cent level and remained between 29 and 30 cents until 1958.

Rep. Harold J. Anderson, Minneapolis conservative and chief author of the bill, said repeal of the tax would help Minnesota's dairy industry.

Anderson's measure would repeal a law adopted in 1933 which imposes an excise tax of 10 cents a pound on any oleo which does not contain at least 65 per cent animal fat.

Anderson also has introduced a bill to repeal the color ban on oleo. "Repeal would end the bootlegging of the less expensive yellow spread from Iowa and Michigan," Anderson said. He estimated this at 10 million pounds a year.

Nystrom said the repeal would result in a loss of revenue to the state.

"We presume that the governor's budget is based upon existing taxes being continued and the budget balanced," Nystrom said. "He said no more new taxes. No doubt the governor had in mind the tax oleo brought in. We will have to shift the tax to someone else if it is repealed."

Nystrom urged that the bill be sent to the Dairy Products Committee.

William Anderson, legislative representative for the Minnesota Farm Bureau, said his group supported repeal of the tax. He said the Farm Bureau has a plan for replacement that would bring in the lost revenue. He obviously was referring to the Farm Bureau's stand in favoring a 3 per cent general sales tax.

Rep. Roy Dunn, Pelican Rapids, chairman of the committee, said the bill would get further consideration at the next meeting. The next meeting is Tuesday.

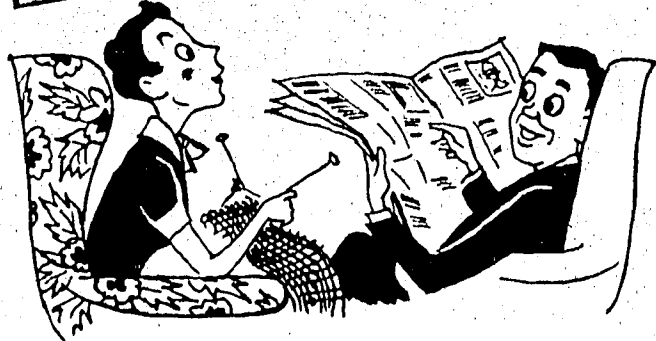

AT CONFERENCE — ARCADIA, Wis. (Special) — Charles Wolover, Arcadia, representing Trempealeau Electric Cooperative, attended the conference for rural electric inspectors at Columbus, Wis., Thursday and Friday.

Houston Co. Feed Grain Sessions Set

CALEDONIA, Minn. — The sign-up period for 1963 feed grain sessions will be available only to producers taking part in the feed grain program.

Under the 1963 wheat stabilization program, the chairman said, farmers may divert from 20 to 50 percent of their wheat acreage, with special diversion provisions for small farms. The diversion payment will be at 50 percent of the county loan rate reflecting the $1.82 per bushel national average on the normal production of the diverted wheat acreage.

The price-support payment to participating wheat farmers will be 18 cents per bushel on the normal production of the 1963 wheat acreage, and their crops will qualify for the regular price-support loans and purchase agreements reflecting the $1.82 per bushel national average.

LEARY GAVE these highlights of the 1963 feed grain program: For small farms with total feed grain base acreages of 25 acres or less, of which the producer diverts the entire feed grain base acreage (1959-60 average acreage, as adjusted) the payment rate will be 50 percent of the county support rate on the normal production of the diverted acres. (These farmers will receive no price-support payment, since they will have no 1963 feed grain acreage.)

For other feed grain farms, the payment on the first 20-percent reduction from the base acreage will be at 20 percent of the county support rate on the normal production of the diverted acres. On any acreage diversion above the minimum requirement, payment will be at 50 percent of the county support rate. The maximum diversion is 40 percent of the base acreage or 25 acres, whichever is larger.

In addition, participating farmers (except those on small farms who divert all their feed grain base acreage) will receive price-support payments on the normal production of their 1963 feed grain acreage, without regard to whether they feed their grain, market it or place it under price support. The payments will be figured on the farm's normal yield regardless of the actual yield on the farm in 1963. These payments will be 18 cents per bushel for corn and 14 cents per bushel for barley.

CROPS FROM participating farms also become eligible for price-support loans or purchase agreements at the county loan rate reflecting national averages of $1.07 per bushel for corn, 82 cents per bushel for barley, and $1.71 per hundredweight for grain sorghum. Price support on 1963-crop corn, grain sorghum, and barley will be available only to producers taking part in the feed grain program.

FOR BOTH FEED grain and wheat producers who sign up under the 1963 program, eligibility for diversion payments and price support in 1963 is contingent upon the farmer's diverting an acreage equal to the total intentions shown on his agreement.

Advance payments will again be available at the time of sign-up. Final payments under the diversion program and price-support payments will be made after compliance has been determined.

Leary urged farmers to get in touch with the ASCS county office for further details about the 1963 feed grain and wheat program.

$125 Prize List Posted at Show In Houston Co.

CALEDONIA, Minn. — Prizes totaling $125 will be given to hog exhibitors at the Houston County meat-type hog show according to Dean Dennison, show superintendent and Francis Januschka, county agent.

The show will be Feb. 19 at the show pavilion at the county fairgrounds here. Hogs will be shown in two average weight divisions, 190-220 pound and 221-250 pound.

Exhibitors may show a pen of three barrows or gilts or mixed in each division. Hogs will be designated at weighing time (the hog he wishes to enter in the carcass show. Prizes will be awarded in the live show divisions and in the carcass division. Carcass hogs must weigh between 190 and 220 pounds.

Carcasses will be cut out and the complete information will be given to each exhibitor. It will tell the hog producer the type of hog he is producing. A premium of 50 cents per hundred over the regular market base price will be paid on each hog in the show. Those planning to enter should contact the county extension office or Dean Dennison, Caledonia.

Cochrane Shippers To Hold First Annual Meeting

COCHRANE, Wis. — The first annual meeting of the Cochrane Cooperative Livestock Shipping Association will be Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in the agriculture room of Cochrane-Fountain City High School, according to LaVerne Eickamp, secretary-manager.

Thomas Kaliszewski, cattle salesman, and Rudy Erickson, field representative of Central Livestock Association, South St. Paul, will address the meeting. The colored film on farmer cooperation, "Partners," will be shown.

Business to be transacted includes the reports of the officers and the election of directors to fill the expired terms of the temporary board.

Present officers and directors of the association are: Delmar Plank, president; Oliver Weinandy, vice president; Eikamp, secretary-manager; Paul Kamrowski, Phillip Kamrowski and LaVerne Putts, directors.

Feeder Pig Co-op to Hold District Meets

Members of the Wisconsin Feeder Pig Marketing Cooperative will hold their annual district meetings during the coming week.

The meeting for cooperative members in Trempealeau, Buffalo, Dunn, St. Croix and Eau Claire counties in Wisconsin will be at the Mondovi City Building, MONDOVI, at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Members from Houston, Fillmore and Winona counties in Minnesota and Allamakee County in Iowa will have their annual district meeting at the Caledonia State Bank, CALEDONIA, at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

At the Wisconsin meeting, Lewis Laustad, Colfax, director, will preside over the 307 members in the district.

The sessions will begin with registration and the redemption in cash of 1962 earnings and 20 percent of 1963 earnings. Other business to be conducted by the membership will be the reading and discussion of the 1962 financial report, election of delegates, election of an advisory board, member nomination of candidates for directorship, submitting of resolutions and by-law changes.

Colored slides of new housing features, and management practices will be shown and discussed along with a session on the trends and outlook for 1963.

There will be the discussion and explanation of the new proposed dairy herd replacement and livestock marketing division. Recent years have seen a major expansion in the business of selling Wisconsin calves both as dairy herd replacements and for feeding purposes.

Both trends now established can stand considerable encouragement and if properly guided can add materially to the livestock producer's income in Wisconsin.

The Wisconsin Feeder Pig Marketing Cooperative was organized by farmers in northeastern Wisconsin in March 1957. It has grown from 426 members to presently more than 6,800. This past year more than 350,000 feeder pigs were handled by the cooperative with a dollar business in excess of five and one-half million.

Lunch will be served.

Lewiston Bull Gets Silver Medal

LEWISTON, Minn. — Hayssen Ford Master 1292699, a bull owned by Eldon Gremelsbach and C. H. Mueller, rural Lewiston, is one of three Minnesota bulls qualifying as Silver Medal Type Sire under the Holstein-Friesian Association of America's new plan of daughter-dam comparisons based on type classification scores.

The new method involves daughter-dam comparisons similar to those commonly employed in gauging a sire's ability to transmit production. Under the plan, each cow's type score is converted to a percentage of the breed average for her age group. Comparisons are drawn between the resulting figures averaged for both dams and daughters.

To qualify for the Silver Medal Type award, a sire must have daughters with classification scores higher than the breed average for animals in their age bracket. They also must exceed in expectancy, a point midway between the breed age average of their dams and that of the entire breed.

Twin Herefords Sought

MADISON, Wis. — Meat animal researchers at the University of Wisconsin are searching the Midwest for Hereford twin heifer calves. With the twins, researchers can determine many responses due to heredity or due to environment. To make the problem of finding the calves more difficult, the researchers want identical twins. They are looking for calves two to five months of age or nine to twelve months of age. Beef producers who think they have the twin calves should contact Val H. Brungardt of the meat and animal science department at the University of Wisconsin in Madison.

Picture Framing Lessons Slated In Winona Co.

LEWISTON, Minn. — Leader training meetings for the Winona County extension home program on "Pictures — Selection, framing and hanging" will be held during the next week.

The meetings will be at Winona Lake Park Lodge, Winona, Monday; Lewiston City Hall, Tuesday and St. Charles City Hall, Friday. All meetings will be from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Members should bring a sack lunch.

Mrs. Virginia Hohmann, county home agent, will present the lesson at these meetings.

DHIA records won't help cows give more milk, but they help dairymen select heifers for replacement and feed for cows that are milking. In the long run, DHIA means more production per cow and more income for the dairyman.

Films From SCS

CALEDONIA, Minn. — Occasionally a 4-H group, farm organization, youth group or civic film is about. The SCS office must have two weeks to get the films.

Wabasha County 4-H

LAKE CITY, Minn. — A 4-H leaders institute for leaders in Wabasha County will be at the city hall here at 8 p.m. Monday. Material on recreation and music will be presented to all adult and junior leaders. All leaders have a catalog telling what each should plan to attend.

4-H'ers Urged To Watch Price In Steer Project

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Four-H'ers in the steer project are expected to feed one or more steers to market grade and weight, according to Trempealeau County 4-H Agent Ray Shanklin.

Members start with a calf in the approximate 400- to 500-pound range. The calves usually are easy for market when they will reach high, good or low choice.

To win in the steer shows, members should feed the animal to the high good or low prime grade. Most quality beef sold today falls in these categories.

STEERS ARE selected early in the fall and are on full feed by December. Shanklin urged project members to buy steers at reasonable market prices, as those paying an unreasonable price for a steer stand a good chance of losing their labor and feed costs during the project year.

"Knowledge gained in feeding is worth something, but we should not penalize 4-H steer project members by encouraging them to pay unreasonable calf prices," he said. Calves should be bought at a known total weight and price per pound.

"Make sure that feed troughs, water and lots are clean. Establish a regular feeding schedule, as animals are creatures of habit and will respond best to regular feeding," says Shanklin.

Grain feed should be coarsely ground or cracked. Feed should be thoroughly mixed to prevent the calf from picking out only the feed he likes. Feed leafy green colored hay. High protein is necessary for the starting ration. The feed will replace the protein the calf was receiving in milk.

"START the calf on a grain feed gradually, possibly whole oats at the rate of about one pound per day. Gradually increase the amount of corn, linseed oil meal, and so forth and at the same time increase the amount of feed allowed for the calves," he says.

Steers on whole feed will eat about two pounds of grain per 100 pounds of body weight, and should gain approximately two pounds per day on whole feed.

Shanklin recommends that the 4-H steer member explore several feeding programs with his project leader, parents, and county agricultural agents before making his final selection.

Crooked Creek Meeting Slated

CALEDONIA, Minn. — The time of decision has come for the Crooked Creek Watershed, according to the steering committee of the watershed.

After years of apparent inactivity, the time for local people to make some vital decisions has come, they say. Therefore, the steering committee is asking all the people of the watershed to meet Thursday.

The watershed includes all of the village of Caledonia and all other land draining into the Crooked Creek. The meeting will be at the Caledonia State Bank basement at 8 p.m.

Extra Profit Corn Results Show Gains

CALEDONIA, Minn.—Erlling Burtness, Wilmington Township, produced a yield of 143.6 bushels of corn per acre in the Houston County extra profit contest, according to Harlie Larson, extension soils agent.

The increase of 75.8 bushels showed a net profit of $42.78 over the check plot. Plant population was 22,000 on the fertilized plots. The average for the six participants was 19,000 plants on these plots. The check plot average was 14,500 per acre.

Average increased yield for the fertilized corn in the six plots was 48 bushels, with average net profit of $58.30. Profit over check plot yield averaged $20.00.

The state championship went to Rodney Britton, Blue Earth County, whose net profit was $94.14 from a yield of 154 bushels per acre. Statewide the average yield was 101 bushels with a net profit of $41.79, according to Dr. Curtis Overdahl, University of Minnesota, extension soils specialist.

Average state plant population was 18,000, and an average fertilizer cost of $15.02. Weed and insect chemicals of 86 cents per acre.

County contestants beside Burtness were Donald Carlson, Houston Township, and Irvin Ingvalson, Alvin Myhre, Oscar Myhre, and Oren Myhre, Wilmington Township.

Winona County Flocks Checked For Sheep Scabies

LEWISTON, Minn.—Winona County extension agents, with the assistance of county vo-ag personnel, have completed preliminary inspection of county sheep flocks for sheep scabies.

Suspect flocks are now being checked out by Livestock Sanitary Board veterinarian. Any flocks showing evidence of the scabies mite will be held in quarantine on the farm and will be dipped at state expense, according to Oliver Strand, county agent.

The eradication program will result in Minnesota being certified scabies free when the cleanup is completed. It also will be a big help to sheep flock owners in preventing occurrence of scabies from sheep purchased or loaned from others, said Strand.

Any Winona County flock that has not been inspected was overlooked. If anyone has sheep that have not been inspected he should contact the county extension office.

The average cow last year produced 2,211 pounds of milk, enough to provide a year's supply of milk and other dairy products to slightly more than 11 Americans.

Around the Pitchfork

Are you considering buying a hay conditioner?
Orvin Berge, farm machinery specialist at the University of Wisconsin, recommends hay conditioners if a farmer really wants better quality hay and he has animals that will use this better quality roughage to advantage.

He points out that early cutting is the clue to harvesting hay with the most possible nutrients. The hay conditioner makes better hay primarily because the hay dries faster and it can be put in the barn more quickly.

There are several kinds of conditioners on the market and each has certain advantages and weak points, he says. Generally, he says, you can buy most makes with confidence. However, he still suggests buying one of the more common ones in your community and buying it from a reliable dealer.

The corn plant is in for some drastic remodeling, if some University of Minnesota research comes out as anticipated. One of the long-range goals is to develop hybrids with two or three ears per stalk, instead of the single ear that farmers must be satisfied with now.

Also, compared to current hybrids, this corn of the future will have ears averaging one to four inches longer, kernels twice as long and at least two more rows of kernels on every ear.

Yield? Exactly how high it might go per acre is hard to predict. But doubling the present yielding ability of individual plants is entirely feasible, according to plant geneticist E. H. Rinko, who is in charge of the breeding project. How many of these superior plants can be supported on one acre depends on fertility and available water.

In spite of the fact that corn yields have doubled since hybrids were first introduced in the '30s, Rinko says we're far from getting the most from corn fields.

He explains that yield increases of recent years have come about mainly through stepping up plant populations per acre and using more fertilizers. But we still have hybrids with only one ear per stalk, and with ears that differ little from those of 20 years ago, he says.

One of the major shortcomings in present-day swine nutrition is really an overfeeding problem, said L. E. Hanson, University of Minnesota livestock scientist, recently.

A little more slowness in feeding brood sows during gestation would mean good strong litters and more economical hog production.

Overfeeding, more common with sows than underfeeding, adds to feed cost per pig weaned and may result in smaller litters, because of higher embryo mortality during early gestation.

For a pregnant sow, Hanson said, protein intake is more critical than energy. He recommended limited feeding in drylot with 9 pound protein per sow daily. He also pointed out that recent research supports this point.

Cropland Conversion Program Explained

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—The new cropland conversion program authorized under recent legislation is designed primarily to improve family farm income by promoting the conservation and better economic use of farm land rather than merely taking land out of production and letting it lay idle.

So says Allen Gilbertson, Arcadia, chairman of the Trempealeau County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

MAJOR PURPOSE of the program is to help farmers convert cropland to some other long-range income-producing use, such as pasture, farm forests, water storage, wildlife habitat or recreational facilities, Gilbertson pointed out.

This year the program is being tested on a limited basis in 41 counties in 13 states, including four counties in Western Wisconsin. It will offer 5- or 10-year agreements to farmers who have worked out approved conservation plans for their farms in cooperation with a soil conservation district and with technical assistance from the Soil Conservation Service.

Eligible farmers who participate in the program will receive adjustment payments, conservation practice cost-sharing, and related technical assistance. The financial assistance offered through the program is designed to help farmers shift their cropland to new income-producing uses.

LAND ELIGIBLE for program assistance under the cropland conversion program includes: (1) Cropland devoted to the production of row crops or small grain in at least one of the past three years, including orchards and vineyard crops; (2) conservation reserve land on which the contract expired in 1960-61 or 1962;

(3) cropland diverted from production under the feed grain or wheat stabilization program in either 1961 or 1962; (4) tame hay land on which the stand was planted and from which a crop of hay was harvested in at least two of the last three years.

While approved measures needed to conserve and help develop the enterprise must be established and maintained on acreage designated under the program for the duration of the agreement, the acreage may also be used for certain approved purposes.

Gilbertson urged farmers interested in this program to convert unneeded cropland to other conservation and income-producing uses to get in touch with the ASCS county office for further information on the program.

The period designated for signing up to take part in the program has been set for Feb. 1 through March 22.

PRIMARY USES include grazing of livestock, forests and selected recreational enterprises, such as hunting, fishing, boating, swimming, hiking and camping.

ROLLINGSTONE, Minn.—The Rollingstone Creamery Association elected officers at a board of directors meeting here Wednesday.

Elected were Eugene Kalmes, president; Leonard Kreidermacher, vice president; Henry Siebenaler, secretary-treasurer; and Ervin Maus and Richard Tewes, directors. Kalmes replaced Maus as president. Others were re-elected.

At the association's annual meeting at the high school auditorium here Saturday it was reported that production of milk increased by 4,417,933 pounds over 1961. A total of 25,324,225 pounds of milk was produced at the creamery.

The annual report was given by Ralph Godin, St. Paul, state department of auditing. It also showed $942,710 returns from all dairy products. Net earnings for 1962 were $15,734. This will be credited to patrons equity of 1962. It equals .054 cents per 100 pounds of milk purchased during the year. Total current assets are $70,877.

Patrons equities from 1957 totaling $8,315 were called in for payment after the meeting. Butter sold in Winona and locally totaled 137,146 pounds.

Guest speakers at the meeting were Floyd Thompson, St. Paul, executive secretary of Minnesota Creamery Operators and Managers Association; Millard Chab, Winona, State Department of Dairy and Foods; Glen Haase, manager of the Plainville Creamery, and Clarence Peterson, St. Paul, American Dairy Association.

Personnel at the creamery are Al Rivers, manager; Rose Guenther, bookkeeper; Eugene Marxhausen and Dennis Gile, assistants; Pierce Wittenberg, Edward Lehnert, Clarence Spaag and Henry Meyers Jr., milk haulers.

Glencoe, Minn.—Albert Proschinski, 32, married and has two daughters. He rents and operates a 298-acre farm. Livestock includes 33 cows, 35 head young stock. He is a delegate for Tri-State Breeders Cooperative.

Donald Feltes, 39, married and has one daughter. He owns and operates 244-acre farm. Livestock includes 21 cows, 18 head young stock and 40 hogs.

Winona County Extension Agents, with the assistance of county vo-ag personnel, have completed preliminary inspection of county sheep flocks for sheep scabies.

Suspect flocks are now being checked out by Livestock Sanitary Board veterinarian. Any flocks showing evidence of the scabies mite will be held in quarantine on the farm and will be dipped at state expense, according to Oliver Strand, county agent.

The eradication program will result in Minnesota being certified scabies free when the cleanup is completed. It also will be a big help to sheep flock owners in preventing occurrence of scabies from sheep purchased or loaned from others, said Strand.

Any Winona County flock that has not been inspected was overlooked. If anyone has sheep that have not been inspected he should contact the county extension office.

The average cow last year produced 2,211 pounds of milk, enough to provide a year's supply of milk and other dairy products to slightly more than 11 Americans.

Houston County Town Officers Plan Banquet

HOUSTON, Minn.—Township officers in Houston County will hold their fourth annual banquet at Houston Lutheran Church at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

Al Francour, La Crosse County resource development specialist, will be the main speaker. His talk will cover resource development, land use planning and how township, village and county government ties in with the overall area development plans.

A president of the Minnesota Association of Township Officers also will be present. Entertainment will be provided by the Top Hats from Waterville, Iowa, and members of the Houston High School band.

Tickets are available from any of the following officers or directors of the Houston County Association: Roy Walters, La Crescent; Arnold Samson, Spring Grove; Neils Gulderson, Spring Grove; Roy Ask, Caledonia; Homer Stelplugh, Houston; William Schaller, New Albion, Iowa; and Martin Hori-han, Hokah.

All township, village and county officials are invited to this banquet.

That is the name, which means "carrying a load for the people," bestowed on him in 1935 when he was adopted into the Minnesota Chippewa Tribe for his efforts on behalf of Indians. He has for a number of years been a member of a special committee on Indian Affairs.

The senator also is at home, wearing an 1890's duster and goggles, behind the wheel of one of his 40 antique automobiles.

Another role not unfamiliar to him is that of band leader. A clarinetist of some note, he directed the University of Michigan marching band in 1926 and 1927. He also has become known as a world traveler in recent years.

In the Senate, Larson is best known as chairman of the important Committee on Public Highways, a post he has held since 1951.

A senator since 1939, he earlier headed committees on reforestation and public domain. In the 1959-1961 period he was president pro tem of the Senate.

This session he also is a member of the committees on agriculture, public domain, taxes, education, elections, rules and the Committee on Committees.

He lists his principal legislative interests as good roads and highway safety, agriculture and education.

In Ada, Sen. Larson has an automobile and truck agency and operates an automobile wrecking business. He is 60 years old.

Milk Route Man Admits Killing Two

RHINELANDER (AP)—An illiterate milk route helper who admitted, authorities said, that he slashed a young mother and her small daughter to death when the woman repelled his sexual advances, was named Thursday in two first degree murder warrants.

Twenty-four-year-old Keith Gillen told Oneida County officers Thursday that he attacked Mrs. William Heinen, 33, with a pocket knife when she seized a rifle to repel him.

Sheriff Alfred Sommers said Gillen's statement went on to say that Mrs. Heinen's 3-year-old daughter, Karen, witnessed the attack and was killed with the same knife.

THE most exciting event in U. S. theatrical history is being launched this week when tickets go on sale for the four plays to be given from May through September at the new Tyrone Guthrie Theater in Minneapolis. This breathtaking new theater was built by the subscription of people throughout the Northwest and it represents the life dream of the world's greatest living director, Sir Tyrone Guthrie.

It was he who directed London's famed Old Vic Theater, founded the great Shakespeare theater in Stratford, Ontario, and directed superb plays all over the world. Sir Tyrone knows the theater is in a bad way and decided to start a repertory company theater somewhere in America with top actors and low prices. Of all the cities in the U. S. that wanted him he chose Minneapolis as representing the most dynamic and vital region in the U. S.

On May 7 the Tyrone Guthrie Theater will open with "Hamlet." All that week "Hamlet" will alternate with the great Moliere comedy "The Miser," and this will continue until June 17. On that date the great Russian drama Tchekov's "The Three Sisters" will open, and soon thereafter the American classic "Death of a Salesman" will be added to the repertory. During the rest of the season, July through September, these four plays will alternate.

You may choose any play you want, on any date, but you'd better apply for seats in advance. You may get a single ticket for any individual play, or you may get season tickets for any or all four plays at a discount. You are earnestly advised to apply for tickets in advance because the heavy summer tourist influx into Minnesota is expected to gobble up all leftover seats. Every seat is excellent due to the remarkable design of the theater — no member of the audience is more than 32 feet away from the stage.

The entire Northwest area and lower Canada are being given the chance to purchase advance tickets for all performances between May 7 and Sept. 22. The procedure: An application blank may have been mailed to you, but if not you may get an application blank from the co-chairmen of our local committee, Mrs. B. A. Miller or Mrs. William F. White, and fill it out specifying the play and the date you want. Sir Tyrone Guthrie with Douglas Campbell will direct all four plays. He believes firmly that great theater must first of all be great entertainment and enjoyment to people beyond the narrow confines of New York's Broadway with splendid actors and at reasonable prices.

He has chosen as the lead actors for the four plays Hume Cronyn, Jessica Tandy, Rita Gam and the extraordinary young George Grizzard. Young area actors, many connected with the University of Minnesota, will fill in roles and work with Sir Tyrone. Bill Boughton of Winona, winner of a McKnight scholarship, is working in an administrative job in this new theater.

The theater in New York — which pretty much means the theater of America — is sick. You have to pay from six to 12 dollars for a seat for a play that is usually indifferent, shoddy or vulgar. The costs of staging a Broadway play in one of the few and inadequate theaters is so staggering that theatrical producers don't dare take a gamble on a classical or truly fine play, but usually try to play it safe with a "popular-type" play that would offend nobody, make nobody think, and be remembered by nobody.

When I get to New York with a very occasional exception, I refuse to throw money away seeing one of these Broadway plays. The only memorable play I've seen in several years has been "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" And in the lead was a young chap named George Grizzard who is going to play Hamlet in Minneapolis. The First Lady of the theater, Helen Hayes, said, "Tyrone Guthrie's venture in Minneapolis is the theater world is watching — a guiding star which may well point the way to a vital new kind of theatrical experience for everyone."

Mrs. Miller and Mrs. White, co-chairmen of the local ticket selling group, have several copies of an exciting 20-minute record by Sir Tyrone Guthrie, Douglas Campbell, Rita Gam, Hume Cronyn and Jessica Tandy, explaining the Minnesota theater and giving synopses of the plays. These records are available to any clubs or informal groups who would like to for programs or for further information. These records may be obtained by calling Mrs. White or Mrs. Miller.

Eight Crack 600; Aaker's 627 Is Tops

It was a good night for Winona bowlers as eight 600 series were posted Thursday night.

Four of them came out of the Bay State Men's League at Westgate Bowl. Bruce Rand topped these with a 243-623 for Boxer's. Top Scores scrambled a 1,037-2,880.

Other 600s were a 609 errorless by Ray Bambenek, 601 by Dick Percy, and 600 even by Fran Hengel.

Bob Aaker smashed a 232-627 for Dale's Standard in the Classic League at Westgate Bowl to top all Winona bowlers. Ray Pozanc banged a 235 for Pozanc Trucking. Dale's Standard registered 1,047, and Ruppert Grocery rolled a 2,958 series in which there were only seven errors.

Willard Critchfield clouted a 226-603, and Bob Stein bagged 600. Ray Ruppert spilled a 589 errorless series.

Dick Magin copped the lone 600 in the Eagles League at Hal-Rod Lanes. Magin totaled 605 for Warner & Swasey. Myles Vaughn blasted 236 for Winona Insurance Agency, and Schlitz Beer bombed a 1,069-2,825. Del Prodzinski shot a 573 errorless.

HAL-ROD LANES: Powder Puff Susan Day dumped 212, and Marge Moravec slammed a 525 for Winona Insurance. Hal Leonard Music clipped 909 and Walkers Products 2,538. Helen Galkowski counted 507.

KEGLERS-LAMES: Friendly Mixers — Vern Mahaffey topped 221-545 for M & M's to pace the men, and Bernie Revoir notch-178-446 for Glassy Four to top the women. Hot Shots cracked 773-2,008.

Knights of Columbus — Del Schneider socked 208 for Winona Milk Co., and John Grams punched 564 for Winona Savings Bank. Merchants Bank belted 953, and Buhs Beer fired 2,720.

WESTGATE BOWL: Pin-Drops Joanne O'Reilly smashed 180-494 for Pappy's. Kelly's hammered 894-2,532.

Keglerette Ladies — Nancy Gjerdrum walloped 211-501 for Hamm's Beer. Winona Plumbers etched paced team totals with 943-2,567.

ST. MARTIN'S: Thursday — Ernie Buhler tipped 200-502 for Mahle Bakery, and Clates Mobile Service slammed 930-2,638.

RED MEN CLUB: Red Men Ladies — Shirley Theis tipped 182-503 to pace Leicht Press's 2,523. Coca Cola clobbered 903.

Ski Events Sunday At Goetzman Area

The oft-delayed Winona Winter Carnival ski jumping tournament and slalom races will be staged Sunday afternoon at the Goetzman ski area on East Burns Valley road. Goetzman is combining the grand opening of his area with the competitive program.

Jumping competition on the 20-meter jump will start at 2 p.m. and will be followed by slalom races for riders in three age groups.

Jack Frost XIII, Chârlies

Green, will be on hand.

The Goetzman area has been expanded this year and includes a new 700-foot rope tow to take skiers almost to the top of the hill. He has added a small lodge and there are a variety of downhill runs.

As special grand opening features, the first 50 skiers will get free tow tickets and women will have free use of the tow for the afternoon. Free lessons also will be offered.

There are toboggan runs adjacent to the ski runs.

Huskies Face Bemidji Five; Toms Triumph

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Augsburg and St. Cloud State share the spotlight in Minnesota college basketball activity Saturday.

The Augies go after their 16th straight victory at St. Mary's of Winona, which can be tough territory for cocky invaders. The Redmen are only 3-4 in the Minnesota college conference but have been close to invincible at home, as Duluth found out recently.

St. Cloud is at Bemidji in a tune-up for Monday's big clash in the Northern States Conference. In that one, unbeaten Michigan Tech (5-0) will be at St. Cloud to give the Huskies a chance to avenge their only loss, suffered on Tech's court.

The only action Thursday night saw St. Thomas measure Concordia 62-57, with a flurry of Tommie free throws sealing it in the second half. Concordia shot a blistering .555 from the field in the first half to lead 35-28 but cooled badly after intermission. Dave Palack and Tom Rath had 17 each for the Toms, who took over second place at 6-2.

Terry Kulp scored 28 points in leading Northern to its victory. Dean Austin topped the Oshkosh scores with 25. Northern led at the intermission 44-34. The Huskies record now is 9-6 and Oshkosh is 5-7.

Other Saturday games have Concordia at St. John's, Duluth at Macalester, Gustavus at Hamline, Loras at St. Thomas, Moorhead at Winona and Willmar JC at Minnesota Morris.

Koch Scores 28 For Van Hoofs

Jim Koch poured in 28 points to pace the Tom Van Hoof squad to a 65-25 win over the Billy Kneel five in Catholic Rec Junior basketball play.

Tom Biesanz added 16 points for the winners while John Haun topped the losers scoring with 14. Three players hit double figures with Jerry Sylva nailing 16 as his quietest total the Bob Edel team 40-38. Dan Jankowski and Jim Halley shared scoring honors for the losers with 10 points each.

Gophers, Badgers To Vie Saturday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

This could be an explosive weekend in the Big Ten conference basketball championship picture with Indiana trying to light the fuse.

The Hoosiers, boasting top scoring Jimmy Ray with a 31.3 average, and Illinois remain unbeaten in the title chase.

Indiana is host to Northwestern, 1-4, in the main attraction Saturday while the Illini are idle. Then comes the showdown between In-

UCT TO HONOR YOUTH TEAMS

Baseball and basketball teams sponsored by United Commercial Travelers in the Winona Park Rec leagues will be honored by the firm Saturday night.

Fathers of players will be special guests for the 7 p.m. affair to be held at Red Men Club. A special program, including baseball films, is being arranged.

Cronk, Lakeland Thump St. Norbert

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lakeland College, again sparked by Ray Cronk, a former Minnesota star, defeated St. Norbert 101-96 in a non-conference basketball game at Sheboygan Thursday night.

In the only other game involving a Wisconsin team, Northern Illinois defeated Oshkosh 84-71 at De Kalb, Ill. It also was a non-conference tussle.

Cronk, who became eligible as a transfer student earlier this week, scored 25 points and grabbed St. Norbert scoring pace with 29 1/2 rebounds. Mike Wisneski set the points. Lakeland now is 10-3 and St. Norbert 5-11 for the season.

Terry Kulp scored 28 points in leading Northern to its victory. Dean Austin topped the Oshkosh scores with 25. Northern led at the intermission 44-34. The Huskies record now is 9-6 and Oshkosh is 5-7.

Cage Clinic Set at CRC For Feb. 9

A basketball clinic co-sponsored by Cotter High School and the Catholic Recreation Center will be held at St. Sten's Gymnasium Feb. 9.

The clinic is geared to the basketball players of junior high school age, but is not necessarily restricted to that age group.

Cotter Coach John Nett and Ozzie Loeffler, Catholic Rec director, will conduct the event which will be held from 1:30 to 3 p.m.

The clinic is divided into four parts: 1. Explanations of rules and interpretations; 2. Offensive basketball; 3. Special techniques of individual play; and 4. Team defense.

There is no charge for anyone attending the clinic, and the clinic is open to the public.

Vikings Complete Pre-Season Card

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings completed a five-game pre-season schedule Thursday during conversations at the National Football League meeting in Miami Beach, Fla.

The Vikings will play Los Angeles, San Francisco, New York, Philadelphia and St. Louis in their exhibitions next August and September.

Dates and sites of the games will be announced later, the club said.

Wisner Files $2.5 Million Slander Suit

BOSTON (AP)—A $2.5 million slander suit has been filed by Ray Wisner and the New York Titans of the American Football League against Theodore A. (Ted) Barron of Newton, Barron's counsel.

The suit charges fraud and misrepresentation in efforts by Barron, a Boston businessman, to buy the Titans. The suit was filed in U.S. District Court Thursday.

A spokesman for Barron and Brown said they welcome the opportunity to present their case in court. He added they are contemplating action for a possible counter suit.

Wisner set forth he owns 80 per cent in the Titans. The suit charges the defendants, representing a group of industrialists, backed down on a deal to buy the Titans for a $1.7 million.

In the suit, Wisner said he expressed a willingness to sell the football club before Jan. 25, 1963, and Barron and Brown expressed a willingness to buy.

Wisner charges Barron and Brown backed out and that slanderous statements were made by the defendants to the effect that: The Titans were in a precarious franchise situation; that there was a heavy debt, and that there was involvement with American Football League headquarters.

Black Hawks Win; Hull Scores Five

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago's Bobby Hull, though slowed by a charity horse, scored three goals and two assists in a 9-2 National Hockey League victory by the first-place Boston Bruins Thursday night.

Toronto's Red Kelly also turned in three goals as the Leafs came from behind and whipped the Montreal Canadiens 6-3 in the only other game played.

The victory left Toronto in undisputed possession of second place, two points behind Chicago. The Leafs and Montreal had been tied for second before the game.

Macmillan In Rome

ROME (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan arrived today in Rome, birthplace of the Common Market, to consult with Italian leaders on Britain's next moves to break into the Continental trade bloc.

The Italian government and many of the nation's newspapers hailed Macmillan's arrival and spoke of unremitting efforts to make British entry into the European Economic Community a reality one way or another.

Italian Premier Amintore Fanfani, Foreign Minister Attilio Piccioni and other Cabinet members greeted Macmillan on his arrival at Rome's Fiumicino Airport.

481 Give Blood In Wabasha County

MAZEPPA, Minn. — The Red Cross bloodmobile collected 481 pints of blood on its four-day visit in Wabasha County last week. At Mazeppa Tuesday it received 52 pints. Mrs. Richard Schmitt was chairman and Mrs. Arthur Reiland, co-chairman.

A total of 122 pints was collected at Plainview, where Mrs. George Douglas was chairman and Mrs. Mike Leonard, co-chairman.

Collection at Lake City was 168 pints, where Mrs. John Peters Jr. was chairman.

Wabasha residents gave 130 pints. Mrs. Marilyn Williams was chairman and Mrs. Della Carr, co-chairman.

Mrs. Edward Holling, Mazeppa, is county blood chairman.

Four Contests on Ballot at Osseo

OSSEO, Wis. — Contests in four city offices developed by the filing deadline Tuesday.

J. H. Smith and William Herrick filed for mayor to succeed M. Y. Myers, who isn't seeking the office again.

Harry Hagness, incumbent alderman, 2nd Ward, is opposed by Leonard (Art) Kattstad.

Edwin Erickson and Harold Seiler filed for 3rd Ward alderman succeeding Norris Paulson, incumbent.

William Cox, supervisor on the Trempealeau County Board of Supervisors from the 2nd Ward, is opposed by Ernest Vold.

Others filing without opposition were: Ayron Hagen, 1st Ward supervisor; Edwin Erickson, 3rd Ward supervisor; and Soren Thompson, 1st Ward alderman.

Cochrane-FC Farm Classes to Begin

COCHRANE, Wis. — Classes for young farmers and for adult farmers in the Cochrane-Fountain City area will begin next week, according to Ray Scholl, co-ag instructor at Cochrane-Fountain City High School.

The young farmers will meet at the high school Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. and the adult farmers will meet at the same time and place Wednesday.

The classes will be held on consecutive Tuesday and Wednesday nights for the rest of the school year, said Scholl. "The young farmers seem to have a preference for farm welding and the adults want farm management and swine production courses. We will try to meet both demands in these classes," he said.

All young farmers in the area are invited Tuesday night and all adult farmers in the area are invited Wednesday night.
