Ban on Shipping To Cuba Near

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration sources say they expect President Kennedy's long-awaited order against shipping to Cuba to be issued shortly, perhaps today.

The order is reported still undergoing last-minute revisions. Informants expect a main feature to be a ban on shipments of U.S. government or government-financed cargoes aboard vessels stopping at Cuba after last Jan. 1.

Huge New Bridge Going Up in N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP)—A new engineering wonder is being rushed to completion between two proud, old forts that once stood guard over New York harbor.

The structure is the $325-million Verrazano-Narrows Bridge, destined to become the world's largest single span suspension bridge. It is to be completed in 1965 and will arch majestically from Fort Hamilton in Brooklyn to Fort Wadsworth in Staten Island. On a clear day it will be visible 40 miles away.

For travelers approaching New York by sea, it will be an imposing landmark of the huge metropolis.

Its 4,260-foot center span will be 60 feet longer than San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge, now the longest between piers, and its two supporting towers will be almost 70 stories high.

If you want to compare it with other big things, the center span will be:

Almost three times the height of the Empire State building (1,472 feet), the world's tallest building; more than four times the length of the liner France (1,035 feet), the world's longest passenger ship; longer than the Grand Coulee Dam (4,173 feet), nation's largest concrete dam; and one-seventh the height of Mt. Everest (29,028 feet), highest mountain in the world.

The reason a force of 1,000 men is doing a rush job is purely a matter of finance. The quicker the bridge, started in 1959, is completed, the sooner the city can start collecting tolls, and getting something back on its investment.

Both of the 690-foot towers are complete and much of the work is done on concrete anchorages to which steel supporting cables will be attached. The cables, most expensive item of the bridge, will cost $50 million.

Work on the four cables, each a yard in diameter, will begin in the spring and last for six months. Then the year-long job of erecting the suspended span will commence.

When completed, the bridge and its approaches will be nearly three miles long and have two traffic levels of six lanes each. Until traffic demands it, only one level will be used.

Although a bridge of such size ordinarily would cause considerable excitement and feelings of pride, there has hardly been a ripple in New York.

One reason, of course, is that the city already has four major suspension bridges: George Washington (3,500 feet), Triborough (1,350), Bronx-Whitestone (2,500), Throgs Neck (1,800) and the ancient Brooklyn Bridge (1,355).

The shipping order has been delayed time and again since Washington authorities first unveiled a four-point plan early in October and said they intended to issue detailed regulations within days. Kennedy said at a Dec. 12 news conference that the order would be ready within a couple of weeks.

U.S. authorities have been close-mouthed on the subject, except for hinting reasons for delay. One was the complicated nature of a regulation that could affect ships of many countries. Another was the U.S.-Soviet crisis over Cuba. Others were the efforts to get invasion prisoners and Americans out of Cuba. The longshoremen's strike was another factor.

It is known also that there is a split opinion within the U.S. government as to how effective a shipping order would be, and that several maritime countries have been cool to the idea.

U.S. diplomats have been exhorting maritime allies to divert their ships from Cuba. Secretary of State Dean Rusk reported Friday that the number of non-Communist ships stopping at Cuba in January was fewer than 15, compared with 60 last July.

Plane Carrying Classified Navy Cargo in Crash

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A Slick Airways Constellation carrying classified Navy cargo crashed Sunday in an instrument landing at fog-shrouded San Francisco International Airport and exploded in flames, killing four of the eight men aboard.

The huge, four-engine ship made a normal instrument approach and then dug its left wing into the ground at the edge of the runway, skidding into a half-moon arc that ended 300 yards away. The plane burst into flame.

A spokesman for Slick Airways said the craft was carrying classified cargo bound for Alameda Naval Air Station across San Francisco Bay. The cargo was presumed destroyed.

The four who perished in the crash, all Californians, were: pilot Richard MacCallum, 42, Walnut Creek; copilot William Coryell, 48, Burbank; Albert V. Aaron, 40, and Lloyd Mulligan, 40, both of San Mateo. All were Slick Airways employees.

Aaron, an off-duty pilot, was dead-heading home from Dallas, Tex., as was Mulligan, the maintenance foreman at Slick's San Francisco shop.

The flight had originated in Washington, D.C., and made stops in Norfolk, Va., Dallas, Tex., and Albuquerque, N.M. The big ship had been held over San Jose for 45 minutes while visibility cleared to three-quarters of a mile at the airport.

That group will not be the only subcommittee studying a taconite amendment. The Democratic Farmer-Labor party executive committee, meeting in Minneapolis Saturday, decided a committee including Party Chairman George Farr should launch its own study. The executive committee hinted it had some misgivings about the bill introduced Friday.

The bill, the DFL said, "apparently gained impetus from an agreement reached in Pittsburgh, Pa., between representatives of the steel industry and private groups. The DFL party believes that the economic future of Minnesota should not be decided by a Pittsburgh pact."

At the same meeting the executive committee reaffirmed the DFL's "traditional support of the statutory approach to the taconite tax assurances," rather than by constitutional amendment.

St. Cloud Man Kills Wife, 2 Children, Self

ST. CLOUD, Minn. (AP)—A St. Cloud man drove his wife's cousin to church Sunday, then returned home and used a .12 gauge shotgun to kill his wife, two small sons and himself.

Police learned no motive for the tragedy but the investigation continued today. L. Melvin Boelz said a lot of people are being questioned, "and we should know a lot more about the shooting sometime today."

Dead are Henry Tretter, 29, his wife, Virginette, 24, and their sons, Dale, 5, and Stephen, 4. Boelz said there was no note or other explanation, no sign of a struggle, no indication anyone tried to get out of the gun's range. The officer added, however, that authorities were certain it was a suicide and triple slaying, with Tretter firing the gun.

Police Inspector Willard Sexauer said the Tretters had been considered a friendly couple, and there was no history of domestic trouble. Tretter worked for a meat packing company here.

Dunn to Name Committee on Taconite Tax

ST. PAUL (AP)—Chairman Roy Dunn of the House Tax Committee today to consider proposed amendments to the taconite tax stabilization bill, and the whole committee will get to work on its bill Tuesday.

A bill introduced in the House last Friday would provide for a constitutional amendment, with one section permitting voters to repeal the amendment after 20 years. The bill resulted from a labor-management compromise worked out by big steel companies and the United Steelworkers Union.

Dunn, Pelican Rapids conservative, said a five-member subcommittee will consider all suggestions, particularly those needed to make the committee's bill conform to the agreement of the mining industry and union.

Dunn said he will name himself head of the subcommittee, and other members will include Rep. Francis LaBrosse, Duluth liberal, and Rep. Alfred France, Duluth conservative.

That group will not be the only subcommittee studying a taconite amendment. The Democratic Farmer-Labor party executive committee, meeting in Minneapolis Saturday, decided a committee including Party Chairman George Farr should launch its own study. The executive committee hinted it had some misgivings about the bill introduced Friday.

740-Pound Man Dies

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Two weeks ago, when Charles Steinmetz weighed 670 pounds, he said: "I haven't got much time left. I crave food like an alcoholic craves alcohol."

Steinmetz, 38, died Sunday in a hospital. Doctors said he weighed 740 pounds at death—a gain of 70 pounds in two weeks.

Steinmetz complained of lung congestion Saturday. It took 16 men to load him into the rear of a delivery truck for the trip to the hospital. Cause of death awaited the outcome of an autopsy.

Steinmetz, who was 68 inches tall and 76 inches around, said each pound he gained brought him nearer to death, but he couldn't stop. "Other people smoke or drink when they worry. I find myself a chicken."

At the age of 8, Steinmetz was underweight. He started gaining rapidly in his late teens. He worked 16 years as a typist, retiring on a medical pension in 1959 when he reached 565 pounds. He said doctors told him there was nothing organically wrong. "I have no health problem, no diabetic trouble—just overeating," he said.

3 Youths Trapped, 1 Swims to Safety

TWO DROWN, ONE SAVED... Car in which two of three Rosholt, S.D., men drowned while taking short cut across Lake Traverse, near Browns Valley, Minn., is pulled from water with the bodies of Philip Anderson, 19, and Paul Vergeldt, 21, inside. Jerry Hahn, 21, swam to safety. (AP Photofax)

BROWNS VALLEY, Minn. (AP)—Their car plunged through the ice and 12 feet of frigid water, settling on the bottom of Lake Traverse. The three college men didn't panic.

They climbed into the back seat and pressed their noses to the roof, where there was a pocket of air. They pulled off their coats and Jerry Hahn said, "Well, we all have to go for it."

Hahn, 21, was the only one to survive the ordeal Sunday. He swam 75 feet, pulled himself onto the ice, then ran and crawled a half mile to a lakeshore shack.

Philip Anderson, 19, an excellent swimmer, drowned. So did Paul Vergeldt, 21, whose last words were, "You gotta help me, I can't swim!"

A skindiver later found the bodies of Anderson and Vergeldt in the back seat of the car. Neither had escaped the submerged vehicle.

From a bed in a Wheaton, Minn., hospital, young Hahn told his father and Game Warden Melvin Brunken about the tragedy.

Wants Nation To Accept N-Weapons

By MAX HARRELSON
OTTAWA (AP)—The Canadian Cabinet fell apart today. Defense Minister Douglas Harkness, an advocate of nuclear weapons for Canada, resigned and indicated that dissolution of Parliament is near.

Such dissolution would bring April elections, with Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker seeking to restore his Conservative party to a clear-cut majority in Parliament.

Harkness in resigning said his and Diefenbaker's views were irreconcilable.

"For over two years you have been aware that I believed warheads should be supplied to the four weapons systems we have acquired which are adapted to their use," Harkness told Diefenbaker. "Throughout this period I believed that they would be authorized at the appropriate time."

"During the last two weeks particularly, I have made absolutely clear what I considered the minimum position I could accept,

Douglas Harkness

Quits on Nuclear Weapons Issue and several times have offered to resign unless it was agreed to.

"It has become quite obvious during the last few days that your views and mine as to the course we should pursue for the acquisition of nuclear weapons for our armed forces are not capable of reconciliation. Thus it is with a great deal of regret that I now find I must tender my resignation as minister of national defense."

"Until the last few weeks I enjoyed my six years as a member of your government and trust I have made some contribution to it and to Canada."

Harkness said he sent the resignation to the prime minister Sunday, along with a memorandum saying he intended to make the resignation public today and later speak in the House of Commons. He then hinted that the Diefenbaker Cabinet had been discussing dissolution of Parliament. He said he would make public his planned statement to Commons, if dissolution came before the Commons meeting at 2:30 p.m. today.

Diefenbaker's Conservative party came out 17 seats short of a majority in last June's election. One of the three opposition parties Social Credit, has thrown its votes to the government in the past to keep it from defeat.

Diefenbaker is said to be resigned to a new election this spring. He is not happy with his efforts to carry on without a clear-cut majority.

The government had been under fire from the opposition parties for its defense policies even before the U.S. State Department said last Wednesday that Canada was dragging its feet on accepting nuclear warheads for U.S.-supplied Bomarc nuclear missiles and for rockets on Avonon interceptors jets at night and in Europe.

Six Fishermen Survive, 3 Drown After Wreck

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP)—Six of nine fishermen who tied themselves together and leaped into a boiling sea when their trawler sank today after the ordeal which claimed the lives of three companions.

They were in the Gulf of Mexico about 40 miles before a Coast Guard cutter, hampered by 25-foot waves, could pull them to safety.

In all, eight men lashed together with a rope were hoisted from the gulf about 25 miles offshore Sunday by the Coast Guard cutter Nike.

Two of the eight were dead. The body of a ninth crewman, who had been knocked off the line during the rescue operation, was recovered several hours later.

The dead were Willard Hull, 44, and Archie Wilson, 41, both of Pensacola, Fla., and Wesley Eli Haslett, 35, of Theodore, Ala.

The skipper, Max Alford, 43, suffered broken ribs. Treated for shock and exposure, and released were John Summers, 35; John Grey, 43; John Tucker, 49; David Grigg, 21; and C. G. Smith, 50, all of Pensacola.

NASON ON EDUCATION

Choose School For Individual

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

Finding your way into a college that meets your needs is complicated and sometimes difficult. It takes time and planning. You should be giving it thought throughout the high school years.

Each one of you who can do college work should go to college. By making the most of your life and fulfilling your own potential, you will not only serve yourself but your country best.

The choice of a college is important, not just because of the large expenditure of money involved, but because a wrong choice may bring about delays or failures.

The choice of a college is too important a decision to be made on hearsay information, or because a friend is going to a certain school. The school you choose should be the best one for you as an individual.

MY ADVICE to students is, before trying to choose a college, is to get a realistic picture of yourself.

1. How good a student are you? If you are not in the upper one-

No longer be annoyed or feel ill-at-ease because of loose, wobbly false teeth. PASTEETH, an improved alkaline (non-acid) powder, sprinkled on your plates holds them tighter so they feel more comfortable. Avoid embarrassment caused by loose plates. Get PASTEETH today at any drug center.

fourth of your class, it is of little use to apply to a college which normally accepts only those in the upper 25 per cent. If they did accept you, you would probably be unhappy and your chances of success slim.

2. What type of training do you desire? When this decision is made it will be easier to pick a place from the 2,000 colleges, universities, junior colleges, technical institutes and specialized schools listed in college handbooks.

3. How much financing is available? Apply to at least one college you can finance without scholarship help. Even though scholarships are more numerous than before, competition for them is getting keener.

The cost of a college education is increasing. Be sure you plan on it's costing more than present estimates show.

Your high school counselor or librarian can introduce you to books such as the College Handbook, or Guide of College by Gene R. Hawes. Each gives facts and brief sketches.

Choose a college in which you have a reasonable chance of success. To learn more about each-

1. Ask to see a scholastic profile of last year's freshman class. Your counselor or the admissions office of the college should be able to supply this information. You need to know what the competition would be like.

2. Study the college catalogues. In most cases they can be provided by the counselor or librarian. Today's catalogues are far more readable than those of a few years back.

3. Discuss your tentative choices

Boat Handling Course Offered

Families, beginning boatmen or seasoned skippers may enroll for instruction in seamanship and small boat handling scheduled to begin Feb. 12.

Qualified members of the Winona Coast Guard Auxiliary will conduct the eight-week course. Classes will be Tuesdays at 7:15 p.m. at Somsen Hall, Room 322, Winona State College. The lessons are free and enrollees may register at the Park-Recreation office in City Hall or at the first meeting at the college.

Topics will include seamanship, aids to navigation, piloting, traffic rules, safe motor boat operation, accident prevention and rope tying. Training aids, slides and films are used in the instruction. Booklets on the material covered will be available at the meetings for cost.

Students who successfully complete the course will be awarded the Coast Guard Auxiliary Basic Small Boat Seamanship certificate.

with your high school counselor. He can determine quickly whether you are eligible for admission.

IF PRACTICAL, discuss your case personally with the admissions officer of the college before making an application. This can save delays and needless paper work.

If your grades are lower than they should be for your aims and ability, you will have to work your way up. Don't expect to make it in one jump. When making a change from one school to another, particularly from high school to college, grades usually go down. If you have not acquired learning skills and study habits that produce satisfactory grades, you will not acquire them by waving a wand.

There are schools, many of them junior colleges, that specialize in helping students make up their deficiencies, improve their scholarship and become eligible for transfer to the college of their choice.

Hundreds Visit Bong Site of Biernat Burial

KENOSHA, Wis. (AP) — Searchers combing the abandoned Bong Air Base for leads in the killing of Anthony Biernat suspended ground operations for a time Sunday as hundreds of curious persons visited the farmhouse where his body was found.

The air search for the car used in the abduction and slaying of the 46-year-old Kenosha juke box operator continued until dark, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation flew two crates of evidence to Washington for examination.

There also were reports that rivalry between the Kenosha police and sheriff's departments was resulting in duplication of effort and waste of time in the investigation.

Biernat was abducted from a railroad station in Kenosha Jan. 7. His battered body was found a week ago today in a basement grave in the farmhouse. The ground and air search of the base property began last Friday and authorities ordered it continued today.

A center of Sunday's ground search was a gravel pit several miles from the farmhouse.

"We'll never find the kidnap car until the spring thaw, if it's down there," said Arthur Blake, a sheriff's investigator. Ice on the pit is thought to be two or three feet thick. It was only a few inches thick early in January, before the state was gripped by extended sub-zero cold.

FIRE NEAR ARCADIA

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special) — The Arcadia volunteer fire department was called out Friday at 9:30 a.m. to extinguish a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Aymaar Axness, west of Arcadia. The fire began in the stove oven. No damage resulted.

Overweight women and men in normal health may now lose 5-10-30 pounds and more and still enjoy daily breakfasts and dinners of fine food . . . thanks to Larson's Coffee Reducing Diet Plan. It's so simple . . . eat regular sensible meals morning and night as outlined. But, instead of a heavy lunch, eat lightly and stir a heaping spoonful of LARSON'S C.R.D. crystals in black coffee or plain tea and drink it as directed . . . that's all! If the plan is followed you will lose weight and inches from all over the body the same way. It's quickly noticeable how much overweight is gone from face, chin, neck, bust, stomach, thighs, arms and legs.

WHAT IT IS

LARSON'S C.R.D. Reducing Diet Plan was invented for coffee and tea drinking adults who want to reduce but still stay healthy. If you are overweight because you eat too much and if you want to quickly slim down safely without being hungry all day, then you should get a jar of Larson's C.R.D., follow the easy directions and see for yourself that you don't have to be so fat.

HEALTHY-NOT DANGEROUS

LARSON'S C.R.D. Reducing Diet Plan takes off the excess fat in a natural way without using reducing drugs or reducing agents, without slimming ingredients, laxatives or exercising. LARSON'S C.R.D. is a crystal preparation. It contains no coffee but combines with coffee or tea to form bulk which helps give you the feeling of fullness. And with excess weight off, you should feel more fit, healthier and more energetic. Show your doctor the Larson's C.R.D. Reducing Diet Plan as his recommendation and approval is always invited.

HOW TO USE

Breakfast and Dinner Are Not Diet Meals

Eat regular sensible meals morning and night, cutting down on heavy, high calorie foods. Then, instead of a heavy lunch, drink one or two cups coffee or tea fortified with a heaping spoonful LARSON'S C.R.D. CRYSTALS and eat a salad or other light food as directed in the complete LARSON'S C.R.D. REDUCING DIET PLAN which comes in every package.

NO UNDERFEEDING

LARSON'S C.R.D. dissolves almost instantly in your regular coffee or tea. Also can be taken in fruit juice, skim milk, water, bouillon, soup or almost any liquid. It is super-rich in protein, carbohydrates, vitamin fortified and with a delicate sweetness that helps counteract craving for food and helps curb the appetite. Truly, here at last, is a new kind of easy reducing plan.

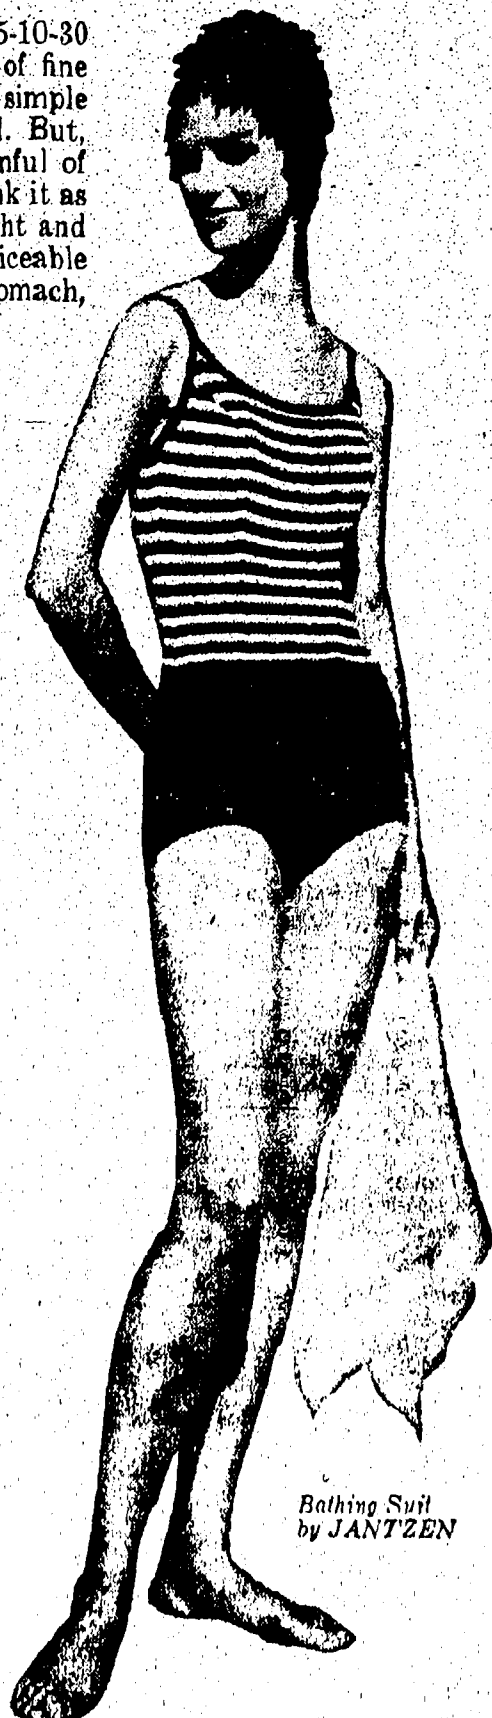

SATISFACTION IS GUARANTEED

If you follow the plan faithfully your appetite is curbed, you automatically eat less and your calorie intake is decreased. You should lose pounds and inches with the very first jar . . . or return for your purchase price refund. You have nothing to lose but the overweight you don't want anyway. In limited supply, LARSON'S C.R.D. sells out fast. Get Larson's C.R.D. today.

Arcadia Farm Fire Loss Set At $60,000

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special)—The Arcadia fire department was called to the William Walsky Jr. farm eight miles east of Arcadia on Oak Ridge early Sunday morning and stayed on the job four hours, but flames that destroyed the huge barn had progressed so far that nothing could be saved.

The blaze, discovered by Mrs. Walsky at 1:15 a.m., destroyed the main barn, 106 by 32 feet; an L attachment, 50 by 36 feet; a connected cattle shed, 30 by 60 feet; an attached corn crib, 16 by 32 feet; and two silos, each 12 by 42 feet.

ALL CONTENTS were destroyed in the holocaust except for 80 head of 2-year-old Holsteins, which the Walskys managed to get from the cattle shed.

Destroyed were 39 milk cows, 19 calves and 28 yearlings—these 86 Holsteins were in the barn proper; plus 6,000 bales of hay; silage; some corn; all milking equipment including a bulk tank holding an estimated 1,500 pounds of milk; several pieces of machinery including a grain drill, corn planter, corn picker and two wagons; and the usual small tools kept in a barn.

Walsky estimates his loss at $60,000 and said it was partly covered by insurance.

Mrs. Walsky said she awakened for some unknown reason and saw the red sky out of her bedroom window. The entire barn was in flames.

Fire Chief Don Glanz said the volunteers took a pumper and water tank to the farm and tried to save the silos by wetting them down, but even they were too far gone.

IT WAS 15 degrees below zero when they went to the fire. There was a breeze on the ridge, but the wind blew the flames away from the house and other buildings so they weren't in danger. Firemen stayed on the scene until 5:30 a.m. Glanz said they had no trouble getting up the steep hill to the ridge; the road wasn't slippery.

The Walskys have sheltered their remaining cattle in another building on their 384-acre farm, and plan to rebuild, Mrs. Walsky said this morning.

Police, Sheriff Check Break-ins

Sheriff's deputies and police each investigated break-ins Sunday night and this morning.

Sheriff's deputies said the front door at B. & B. Food Market, 405 5th St., Goodview, had been forced open between 7 and 10 p.m. Sunday. According to the owner, Leo Borkowski, 375 7th St., Goodview, apparently nothing was taken.

Police found the window in a rear door at Sam's Direct Service, 608 Huff St., broken at 4:30 a.m. today. They believe the break-in occurred shortly before that time.

This is the second break-in at the service station during the past week and a half. Nothing was taken this time, but in the last one $50 cash was taken. Sam G. Morken, 617 Terry Lane, is the owner.

Pedestrian Says Outside Mirror Of Car Hit Him

Police are looking for a blue or purple 1964-7 Mercury with a rear-view mirror on its left side broken off.

The car was involved in a hit-and-run accident at Broadway and Huff Street at 7 p.m. Sunday. It struck Edwin P. Yach, 22, Huff St., at that intersection.

Yach told police he was crossing Broadway and that the car went through a stop light and struck him. Yach walked to the sheriff's office and later to police headquarters. He was not hurt.

He brought the rear-view mirror to police headquarters. The mirror hit his chin as the car passed him, he said.

2 Harmony Scouts To Receive Eagles

HARMONY, Minn. — Two Harmony boys will receive the Eagle Scout badge at ceremonies at the elementary school Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Ron Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. Johnson, and Dennis Greibel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Greibel, will receive the awards. They are members of Troop 74, sponsored by the volunteer fire department.

$350,000 Contracts Let at La Crosse

LA-CROSSE, Wis. (AP) — The Most Rev. John P. Treacy, Roman Catholic Bishop of La Crosse, announced Sunday that contracts are being let for a $350,000 Catholic student center and chapel on a 2 1/2-acre lot near the main building of La Crosse State College.

The project is part of the effort by Catholic officials to provide service facilities near public campuses for Catholic students.

Warm Week Ahead; Snow to Be Melting

More good weather news. For the first time in a month above-normal temperatures are predicted for Winona and vicinity for the next five days.

TEMPERATURES will be 5 to 12 degrees above those usually expected at this time of the year.

For the first time in a month above-normal temperatures are predicted for Winona and vicinity for the next five days.

One or two brief periods of colder weather are expected during the five days with precipitation averaging .10 to .20 of an inch.

intermittent light snow or freezing rains.

After reaching a low of -14 Saturday morning a warming trend set in which boosted the thermometer to zero at noon Saturday and dropped it to -8 during the night and put it at 7 above at noon Sunday. The temperature this morning was 25 above. At noon today the reading was 33.

A freezing drizzle early today coated highways in the vicinity with ice and made driving difficult. The state highway department's Minnesota and Wisconsin reported most highways slippery.

Variable cloudiness is predicted tonight and Tuesday with a low of 18-25 tonight and a high of 25-35 Tuesday. Little temperature change with scattered light precipitation is indicated for Wednesday.

A year ago today Winona had a high of 42 and a low of 20 with 2 inches of snow on the ground. All-time high for the day was 53 in 1880 and the low 26 in 1893. Mean temperature for the past 24 hours was 17, exactly normal for the day.

The wave of mildness extended over the state with International Falls having a morning reading today of 2 after a figure of -32 Sunday morning.

Rochester had 14 and La Crosse 11.

RISE IN TEMPERATURES were accompanied by freezing rain that slicked highways in Minnesota, Wisconsin and lower Michigan. Power lines and trees were coated with ice in parts of Wisconsin.

Burlington and Newport, Vt., recorded new low marks for the season, -26. The 4 reading recorded at Windsor Locks, north of Hartford, Conn., was a record low for the date.

Other low readings in the North-east included Lebanon, N.H., -24; Caribou, Maine, -24; Saranac Lake, N.Y., -30.

Snow fell in the northern part of Wisconsin with Green Bay reporting about 2 inches of new snow on the ground today. Wausau, Eau Claire and Superior each had about 1 inch.

Freezing rain and sleet started falling in the Milwaukee area about 5 a.m. today and continued until 6 a.m., glazing all exposed areas.

The lowest temperatures Sunday night were Green Bay's 7 below and Superior's 1 above. The high for the past 24 hours was 32 Sunday at Los Angeles.

Gene Olson was elected president of the Shake Hollow Hustlers.

Others elected were Sheryl Olson, vice president; Ronald Olson, secretary; Donald Nelson, treasurer; and Jon Olson, reporter.

City Remains In Class 4 Fire Rating

Winona's conditional Class 4 fire insurance rating now has been fully confirmed, Mayor R. K. Ellings said today.

The rating is the result of an exhaustive inspection of the city made last September by representatives of the National Board of Fire Underwriters and the Fire Underwriters' Inspection Bureau. The survey was made at no cost to the city.

FOLLOWING the last such inspection in 1951, the city was rated Class 5, a poorer classification which called for higher fire insurance premiums. However, the city promised to make certain recommended improvements and the Underwriters' Bureau granted a Temporary Class 4 rating. Since then major improvements have been made in the city water system and fire department, the report noted.

These conditions have been more than adequately met, Mayor Ellings said. In 1951 the city's point score for the inspection was 2,185. Class 5 ratings are given to cities in the 2,000-2,500 range. Last September the score was 1,746, putting Winona well into the 1,500-2,000 Class 4 category.

Mayor Ellings said a further reduction of inspection points would be justified when the new telephone alarm system goes into operation shortly.

"WE ARE VERY happy with the report," Ellings said. "We knew many improvements had been made but we didn't know how well they would measure up." The report says the fire department is very good but it does say the department is under-manned.

Some substantial cash outlays would be required in order to qualify the city for reduction to a Class 3 rating, Ellings said.

One of the major recommendations made was that calling for more manpower in the fire department. A five-man company should be assigned to each of three "high value" units. At present, four men are designated for each. This would mean adding three men to a shift. Also recommended is another ladder unit to be attached to Hose Company No. 3, the report continued. Another section of the report suggests establishment of a complete fire prevention bureau.

FIRE CHIEF John L. Steadman said fire prevention activities now are supervised by assistant chiefs. Additional measures are being taken to broaden activities, he said.

Mayor Ellings said that the cost of meeting these additional requirements in full would exceed the possible savings in combined city fire insurance premiums.

Other cities in the region having Class 4 ratings are Rochester, Duluth and Fargo, N.D. Minneapolis and St. Paul are in Class 3, Mayor Ellings said.

Teenagers Arrested On Conrad Drive; Each Forfeits $30

Two Winona teenagers were arrested on Conrad Drive in Wincrest Addition at 2:03 a.m. Sunday, according to police.

Thomas J. Martin, 18, 562 E. Howard St., and Peter P. Stanislawski, 19, 207 E. Howard St., were charged with separate driver's license violations.

Martin was charged with permitting another to use his driver's license and Stanislawski was charged with using the driver's license of another. Each forfeited $30 bail in municipal court today.

Joseph V. Hahn, La Crosse, Wis., forfeited $30 bail on two charges in municipal court. He was charged with driving with only one license plate on his motor vehicle and with using the license plates issued to another vehicle.

He was arrested at police headquarters at 2:30 p.m. Saturday. He forfeited $10 on the first charge and $30 on the second.

Beebe graduated from the University of Minnesota with a bachelor's degree in agricultural engineering in 1952. He received his master's degree in agricultural engineering there in 1954.

An active member of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers, he served 22 months in the Army, where he was assigned to the Continental Army Command and was engaged in engineering evaluation of wheeled vehicles.

Beebe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Beebe, Trempealeau.

CITY ELECTION

Under 10% Vote In Early Hours

Election judges reported extremely light traffic at city polling places this morning but expressed hope that sunny weather would bring out more voters later in the day.

Less than 10 percent of the registered voters had cast ballots at noon today despite the fact that four primary contests were expected to spur unusual interest.

A PRE-DAWN freezing drizzle which coated streets and sidewalks with ice was blamed by judges in some precincts for the small turnout. One official wryly suggested that serving coffee and doughnuts at the polling places might bring more people out to vote.

Only in the 4th Ward did the number of voters exceed 10 percent of registrations. Noontime totals there were 370 votes cast out of a possible 2,450. Leading the city in mid-day voting was the 4th Ward's third precinct where nearly 23 percent of the 662 registered voters had appeared at the polls.

Patrice Munsel Finds Weather Here Wonderful

"I think Winona's weather is wonderful!" Miss Patrice Munsel, internationally known operatic star, said this morning at Max Conrad Field before she boarded a North Central Airlines plane for the Twin Cities where she will star in an operetta.

The weather was mild, sunny and perfect this morning after the recent chilly temperatures. Miss Munsel wore a white turban, mink coat and high red boots. Her husband, Winona Robert C. Schuler, wore a raccoon coat. The couple waved farewell to his brother, William Schuler, and mother, Mrs. C. C. Schuler.

ROBERT SCHULER and Miss Munsel flew from New York to Chicago and then took a train here Sunday to attend a surprise birthday dinner for Mrs. C. C. Schuler at the home of William Schuler, Robert Schuler, a television producer, announced he is producing a musical, "Chrysanthemum," which he hopes to bring to Broadway in the fall.

"I won't be in it," Miss Munsel said. "It's not right for me. But I hope he'll have a show for me later."

After a 45-minute flight to Wold Chamberlain Field, Schuler and Miss Munsel were scheduled to be greeted by St. Paul Mayor George Vavoulis and then to fly by helicopter to an Air Force Nike missile base in the Anoka area. There Schuler and Miss Munsel were to be guests at a luncheon given by the base commander. Miss Munsel was to sing at the luncheon.

THIS WEEK Miss Munsel will rehearse in St. Paul for the St. Paul Civic Opera production, "The Merry Widow," which starts a week's run next Monday in the St. Paul Auditorium. Bob Wright will co-star with Miss Munsel. The cast will include other noted Broadway and opera stars.

Miss Munsel said she hoped to visit Winona again after her St. Paul engagement.

It Happened Last Night Wives: Keep Weight Down

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Phyllis Diller, the comedienne who would have been great even if she hadn't come from one of my old home towns, Lima, O., was quite a big hit when she returned to the Blue Angel — because she admitted she wasn't home when they were passing out glamour.

"The year I lost my baby fat," she moaned. "I got middle-age spread."

Phyllis, mother of several, told her adoring husband, "I'd like to keep my weight down."

"You've got it pretty far down now," replied her husband, appraising her. "Where do you want it — down to your ankles?"

Blanche Thebom, Phyllis Curtin and my own B.W. were among those enchanted by ex-tick driver Bernie Allen, now a comedian, recounting how he'd given advice to his wife on looking youthful.

"But how do I keep looking young?" she pleaded. . . and he answered, "Always hang around old people."

Susan Strasberg — the tiny beauty who could become the new sex-pot — is dying to start rehearsals in "Lady of the Camellias" because she gets to die on stage.

"In every movie or play I do, I die," Susan says. "Dying is getting to be my specialty — and I wonder — is that good?"

Kim Novak — no longer attached to one guy since her breakup with Dick Quine, the director — has been getting teased about having dates with a couple of physicians at the very time she's been battling a virus which put her in a hospital.

"Why not?" retorted Kim. "Next time maybe I can get sick retail."

Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges and Adlai Stevenson rushed down to the Players Club for a supper party after "The Hollow Crown" opening. Stevenson laughed at the story Secretary Hodges told him of how the Circus Sants & Sinners ribbed him when he was their Fall Guy.

The spoofers had an actor playing Hodges, another playing President Kennedy, and then this alleged conversation:

JFK: "Luther, you promised to do something for Massachusetts. Could you transfer the contents of Fort Knox to Hyannisport?"

HODGES: "Too late, Mr. President. Your father did that 20 years ago."

He's 75 but Boris Karloff admits that the Frankenstein business is so good here that he's become a permanent resident alien of America. . . with an apartment on W. 72d St. Karloff, whose real name is Henry Pratt, will follow "The Raven" with five more "thriller" movies — he hates the word "horror."

Asked how it feels to be 75, he quoted Clement Attlee, who, when asked how it felt to be 80, replied:

"Compared to the alternative, it feels darned good!"

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "I was at a cocktail party that was so dull," remarked Irwin Kramer, "that only 12 people were labeled."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Now that the meteorologists are forecasting with the help of satellites, winging it out six months ahead of time, what the weather isn't going to be." (Les Krafer)

EARL'S PEARLS: As Joe Cotten was buying a gift for his wife Patricia Medina, a salesgirl asked, "What are her measurements?" Joe replied, "Satisfactory."

QUAINT QUOTES: Are you Old-Timer enough to remember this one? "There's only one time a woman can change a male — that's when he's a baby."

Kid Story: Selma Core asked her son, Peter 3, why he sucked his thumb. He answered, "If I didn't, it would get dry and wouldn't taste good." . . . That's earl, brother.

Supplies Being Loaded On Fruit Ship for Cuba

BALTIMORE (AP)—A United Fruit Co. ship, the S.S. Santo Cerro, is to begin loading today a cargo for Cuba in payment for Bay of Pigs invasion prisoners.

The Maritime Trades Department of the AFL-CIO said it will not contribute to the loading of the vessel, although the department paid the wages of the longshoremen who loaded two other ransom ships.

Jasper Baker, assistant vice president of United Fruit, said his company will pay the wages, provide the ship and contribute $400,000 worth of food.

These water reservoirs were said to be tending to attract urban people to run such businesses.

The department cited Camden County in central Missouri as an example of what recreational facilities can do. The population of this county—an interior rural area—grew by 16 per cent during the 1950s as the result of businesses and retirement homes fostered by the Bagnell Dam and its reservoir, the Lake of the Ozarks. The economy and population of this county had declined for 50 years before the recent reversal.

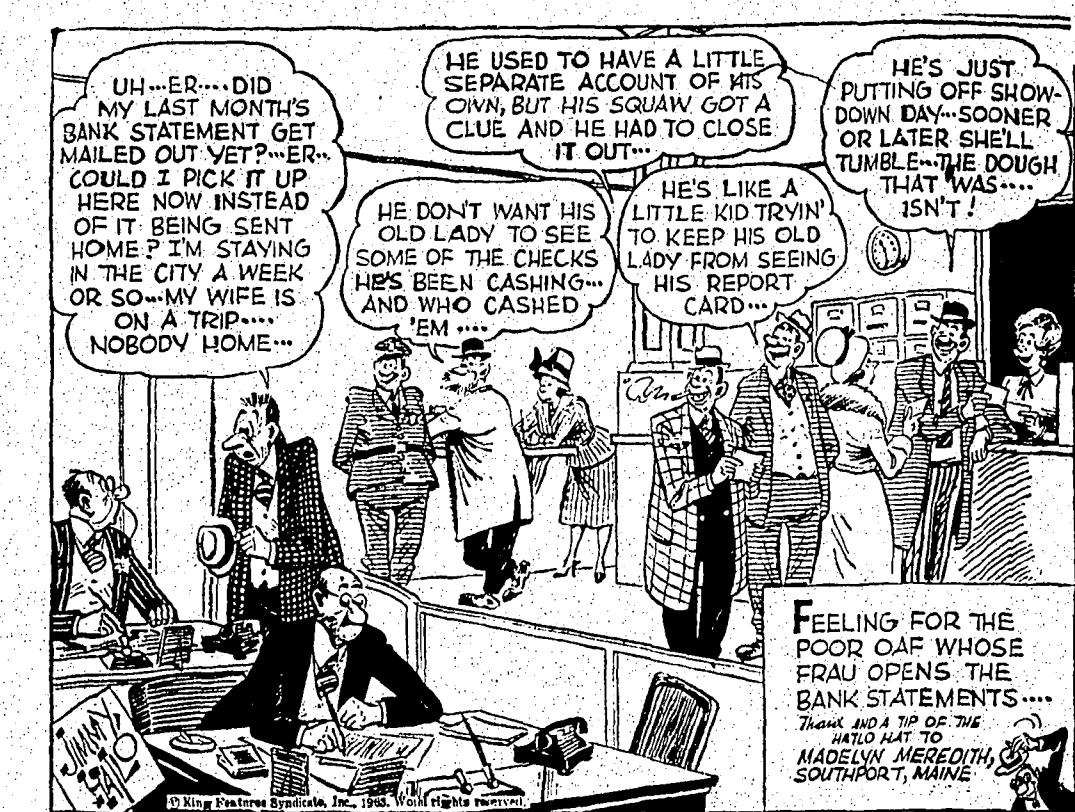

The expansion of recreation as a business enterprise may well be speeded up in the years immediately ahead under programs being inaugurated by the department.

These programs, sponsored by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, will encourage farmers to devote more and more of their land to recreational uses. The secretary has said that the demand for outdoor activities in the years ahead cannot be met by publicly-owned facilities.

The department will offer technical as well as financial assistance to farmers wishing to shift from agriculture.

Urban-Rural Equilibrium In Prospect

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department says that not all the shifts in the nation's population are running against rural areas. In fact, it says, there are trends working toward an eventual urban-rural equilibrium.

An analysis of the latest federal census was said to have shown there have never before been so many areas declining in population at a time when most urban areas are growing rapidly.

The department says the decline in the number of farms and the number of farm people has received much publicity, particularly during periods when agricultural policy has been a prominent political issue.

On the other side of the coin, the agency says in a report, is a trend by certain industries of a more traditional urban character to decentralize into rural areas or into small cities.

"For example, the wearing apparel industry has migrated to a substantial degree from the larger cities of the north to more rural districts of the south," the study said.

In addition, rural areas have furnished the sites for military installations and research facilities, both of which are becoming increasingly prominent features of the national economy. Some of these facilities require rural, thinly settled surroundings because of dangerous or secretive aspects of their work.

The department said recreational industries are also steadily altering the character of the rural economy.

The current great expansion in business based on use of leisure time is traced in part to a rapid increase in dams.

"Dams are usually built for an avowed purpose other than recreation—such as flood control, reclamation, navigation or power—soon become important as recreational centers," the study says, adding:

"Some of the traditionally landlocked states now have large expanses of reservoir water surfaces and an ardent clientele of water sportsmen and vacationists. Dams, state parks, and other recreational facilities provide many new opportunities for employment, and especially the founding of small trade and service businesses."

These water reservoirs were said to be tending to attract urban people to run such businesses.

The department cited Camden County in central Missouri as an example of what recreational facilities can do. The population of this county—an interior rural area—grew by 16 per cent during the 1950s as the result of businesses and retirement homes fostered by the Bagnell Dam and its reservoir, the Lake of the Ozarks. The economy and population of this county had declined for 50 years before the recent reversal.

The expansion of recreation as a business enterprise may well be speeded up in the years immediately ahead under programs being inaugurated by the department.

These programs, sponsored by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, will encourage farmers to devote more and more of their land to recreational uses. The secretary has said that the demand for outdoor activities in the years ahead cannot be met by publicly-owned facilities.

The department will offer technical as well as financial assistance to farmers wishing to shift from agriculture.

The report says military population growth is especially impor-

Answer Children's Dental Questions

(Editor's Note: Feb. 3 through 9 is the 15th annual National Children's Dental Health Week. As part of the observance the Winona Daily News, in cooperation with the Winona County Dental Society, today begins a series giving typical questions asked about dental health, and the authoritative answers.)

Is it really worth the effort to keep my own teeth? Aren't artificial dentures just as good?

During the average lifetime, a person consumes some 38 tons of food. That is enough to provide a banquet for a capacity crowd at Madison Square Garden and for all the guests at the world's three largest hotels. Most of that food has to be chewed; chewing is the chief purpose for which you need your teeth.

Sound, healthy teeth also are essential to your appearance and for proper speech.

While artificial dentures usually are attractive and function adequately, they are not just as good as your own teeth, any more than an artificial hand is just as good as your own hand.

My neighbor told me her dentist says that teeth can last a lifetime. Is this possible?

Children who, from birth, drink water containing 1 part per million fluoride have up to 60 per cent less decay than might otherwise develop. Where the water is not fluoridated, topical applications of fluoride are of value in helping to prevent decay.

I am now 30 years old and have never had any wisdom teeth. Is this unusual?

No, it is not too unusual. Twenty-five percent of the people never get third molars. Incidentally, whether or not you have wisdom teeth has nothing to do with how wise you are. The custom of calling the third molars wisdom teeth apparently arose just because the teeth appear late, usually from the 17th to the 22nd year.

Freighter Reports Small Fire Aboard

NEW YORK (AP)—A fire aboard the American freighter S.S. Bridgehampton in the Atlantic about 1,000 miles north-north-east of Bermuda has been reported extinguished.

No injuries were reported among the crew of 40.

The Coast Guard said today the crew was having some trouble getting rid of water used to fight the fire but the ship was not in distress.

The freighter, a 523-foot general cargo vessel owned by the Tramp Shipping and Oil Transportation Corp., radioed the Coast Guard Sunday that a fire was being fought in the No. 2 hold.

Canada's Red Party Takes Nuclear Stand

MONTREAL (AP)—Tim Buck, chairman of the Communist party in Canada, described the U.S. State Department's criticism of Canadian defense policy as "arrogant and insulting."

He praised the New Democratic party Sunday for opposing nuclear weapons for Canada. Buck told a Communist party meeting there is no merit in the positions of Canada's other three national parties.

More Russians In Cuba Now, Keating Says

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, a man with a satchel full of information, is keeping the Kennedy administration hopping overtime with his charges of a Soviet arms buildup in Cuba.

For more than six months the white-haired, ruddy-faced New York Republican has been rising in the Senate to announce ominous Communist developments in Cuba. Time and again the Pentagon and State Department have challenged his information, only to have to concede later that Keating was at least basically right.

Sunday night Keating claimed in a television interview that total Soviet military strength—soldiers, weapons and equipment—is now 10 times greater than it was estimated to be last July 1, even conceding that Soviet offensive missiles have been removed from the island.

Assistant Secretary of State Edwin Martin, who appeared on ABC "Issues and Answers" with Keating, cautioned that estimates of Soviet troops in Cuba last July were not too accurate but said Keating's claim "is within the range of possibility."

Last week Keating told the Senate there is "continuing, absolutely confirmed and undeniable evidence that the Soviets are maintaining" the missile bases that were involved in last October's quarantine crisis.

He said he believes there is "the very real possibility" that the Soviets either hope to return missiles to the island or have missiles left there "and need only to wheel them out of caves."

Keating's charge that the bases have not been dismantled was challenged promptly by the Defense Department and White House press secretary Pierre Salinger.

Keating's colleagues know him as a merry fellow, quick with a quip, a pleasant companion. Some of them are aware that he is a setting up exercise enthusiast, that he drinks a health concoction of honey and vinegar each morning. They have heard him growl about the quality of the low-calorie luncheon in the Senate restaurant.

As a brigadier general in the Army Reserve, after service in two world wars, Keating has many friends in uniform. He declines to put a finger on them. He says he first got interested last August when people who had become involved in the Cuban situation began talking to him about it.

DEAR ABBY:

Thank God, Count Your Blessings

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I'm glad that R. F. D. character wrote in to bellyache about postage going up. It gives me an opportunity to let off a little steam. Maybe he doesn't know that the Post Office Department is a public service and operates at a deficit. Also, Post Office employees cannot strike against the government and probably wouldn't if they could. Tell this R. F. D. guy that he ought to thank God he is living in a country where he has the privilege of paying an extra penny for postage, rather than somewhere else where men are paying with their lives for freedom.

MR. CITIZEN

DEAR ABBY: In 1898, when postage was 2c, my father was employed as a barber. He earned $9 a week plus tips. If a barber's wages had gone up in the same proportion as postage, then effective January 7th, 1963, barbers would get $22.50 per week plus tips. Do you know any barber who works for $22.50 a week? Does R. F. D. (the fellow who griped about the price of postage today) know of any? K. G. S.

DEAR ABBY: I agree with R. F. D. all the way. Why wouldn't postage go up? If you saw all the free mailing sent by preferred personnel in the government, you'd understand it. It's as though I owned a garage and used all the labor and material to repair my own automobile and never put a dime in the register. Then I soaked my customers to pay for getting my own car fixed. If that is fair, my name is McGee.

CORWIN

DEAR ABBY: I was very much disturbed over a recent letter from a reader complaining about five-cent postage for letters. People can grumble about low incomes and high taxes, but not about the postage rates.

Over the years we have had a tremendous increase in the cost of everything. I am astonished that the postage rate is not higher. And, pray, where can you get more service for a nickel? SUE

DEAR SUE: I am with you! The American people have shown themselves to be everything but cheap. My mail has INCREASED since postage went up!

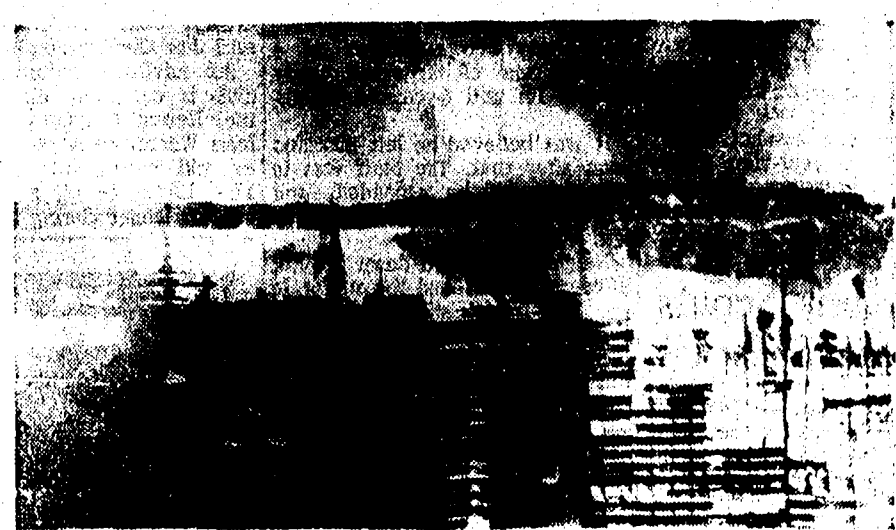

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Are you risking RUIN with inadequate business insurance?

You may be unless your business is insured through an independent insurance agent.

Only an independent agent can make sure all your insurance risks are covered by insurance. No single company can do this—because no one company offers every type of business insurance.

If you buy insurance directly from a company, it's likely you'll hear only about the policy or policies that company offers. An independent insurance agent, however, is free to choose the best business insurance policy from hundreds offered by different, competing companies.

The Big Difference in car, home, and business insurance is the continuing, personal attention of your independent insurance agent.

Search Teams Find 3 Dead in Viet Crash
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Search teams found the bodies today of two U.S. Air Force captains and a Vietnamese observer killed in the crash of a B57 fighter-bomber.

It was believed the plane was shot down while strafing Communist sampans along a canal.

A government spokesman said 58 guerrillas and 10 defenders were killed in the action 110 miles southwest of Saigon Sunday. The Communists were driven off by air strikes and a helicopter-borne company of Rangers.

The crash brought the total of American servicemen killed in Viet Nam to 57, 29 of them in combat.

SHAKOPEE, Minn. — Funeral services for Joseph James Moriarty — veteran lawyer, Democrat, and controversial judge of 8th District Court.

A lifelong resident of Shakopee, Moriarty, 79, died in a St. Paul hospital Saturday night. Services will be in St. Mary's Catholic Church in Shakopee.

Moriarty was judge here for 13 years, until his defeat in 1950 by Harold E. Flynn. The latter's decisions later voided 865 of the divorces Judge Moriarty had granted.

Moriarty attracted widespread attention in 1950 while presiding over the Laura Miller and Robin Shetsky murder trials in Glencoe. Both defendants were acquitted. Survivors include Mrs. Moriarty, two sons and two daughters.

New Expense Account Rules Exasperating

AMID MOANS and groans, upper Midwest businessmen are scrambling to set up record keeping systems which comply with new, tougher than ever expense account rules of the internal revenue service.

Described by one businessman as a "pain in the neck," the new regulations simply mean: No records—no deduction. Gone is the day when the businessman could say "entertainment—$50" and get away with it.

Not only must he now spell out in his records the who, why, when, where, what and how of it, but every expense of $25 or more must be backed up with receipts, paid bills or the like.

Mortimer M. Caplin, commissioner of internal revenue in Washington, D. C., has said that the rules are designed to end the abuses of "expense account living." Travel and entertainment deductions had been the "wastebasket" for questionable deductions, he said.

THE MISLABELING of personal living expenses by a small percentage of taxpayers has caused the government a revenue loss estimated by Caplin at near 100 million dollars a year. He hopes that the new rules will pick up this loss.

Most company financial officers are revamping their expense record systems, relying on information in the press, in business publications or supplied by business services.

Practically all firms are in some phase of reorganizing their systems. They are grumbling because of the expense and time involved, and the absence of more complete information from the government.

NOT ONE FIRM surveyed felt that its previous expense account form was inadequate. The information the firms required was enough to satisfy them that they got the most for their expense account dollars.

Many businessmen said that in some areas—Hollywood, Miami, New York—the get tough policy may have merit. But in "conservative Minnesota and Wisconsin," money is not thrown around loosely, "one remarked.

"It seems like a terrific burden for the revenue service to impose off 90 to 95 percent of the taxpayers just to catch a few chiselers," said one tax manager.

One industrialist predicted that increased revenue expected by the government will be more than offset by a loss in regular revenue.

He said that salesmen will have to spend more time each day filling out expense account forms. This, he said, will mean less selling time with resultant fewer sales, less company profits and, finally less taxes.

OPERATORS OF restaurants, bars, clubs and similar places advance the same argument. Although all businessmen surveyed said that they do not plan curtailments of expense account spending, restaurants and clubs said that they are already feeling the pinch.

The manager of a private club in Milwaukee said that since Jan. 1 about 3 percent of the club's members have dropped out because of the new regulations. The club expects a total 10 percent drop "before this whole thing is over."

AFFECTING PRIVATE clubs is a requirement that to deduct club dues the facility has to be used more than 50 percent for business. Then only that portion of the cost attributable to business use can be deducted. That is, 60 percent business use—60 percent deduction.

Restaurant and bar operators are concerned because they expect a curtailment by businessmen of the spending on persons who don't exactly qualify as a business relation. No longer will the businessman be able to pick up the tab for several friends just because a business acquaintance was along.

AT LEAST ONE segment of American business is profiting from the new revenue service requirements. Printing firms are doing a booming business preparing the necessary expense forms, diaries and cards.

HOW DO YOU STAND, SIR?

Financing by Deficits Hit

By SEN. BARRY GOLDWATER

By its own arithmetic, the Kennedy administration will—in its first full three years in office—have handed the country a whopping $27.1-billion shortage in its fiscal accounts.

This, I suggest, is deficit-financing with a vengeance. But it doesn't tell the whole story, because the $27.1-billion figure for total deficits in the 1962, 1963 and 1964 fiscal years is a highly optimistic one.

In fiscal 1963, the President presented what he called a balanced budget. He estimated that there would actually be a surplus of $500 million in the till when it ended.

But his recent budget message to Congress for fiscal 1964 shows that the estimated deficit for 1963 will run $8.8 billion. In other words, in winding up with a deficit of $8.8 billion where he had predicted a surplus of half a billion, the President made a slight error of more than $9 billion.

This being the case, the American people can be nothing but highly suspicious and highly worried over the President's figures for fiscal 1964. In those figures, the administration estimates a deficit of $11.9 billion for the year. For the sake of argument, let's assume that the President's figures are just as faulty this year as they were last. In such a case, we would have a deficit not of just $11.9 billion, but of more than $20 billion for just one year.

ACTUALLY, IT is difficult to believe that the President will be as wrong this year as he was last. But there is little doubt in the minds of fiscal experts both in and out of government that the President will be wrong to some degree if Congress adopts his tax program. Sen. Harry F. Byrd, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, for example, has already predicted that the President's $11.9-billion deficit figure will be more like $14 billion when the final accounting is rendered.

The belief that the $11.9 billion figure for the 1964 deficit is too low stems from the fact that President Kennedy estimated revenue receipts for the year at a figure higher than these receipts ran in the previous fiscal year. And these estimates allow for tax reductions of between $5 billion and $6 billion.

NOW, HOW IS this trick performed? How is it possible to cut taxes around $6 billion in a given year and collect more taxes than were taken in during the previous year? Well, it's perfectly simple—at least on paper. What you do—and what the President did—is say to yourself that the business outlook is so good for the 1964 fiscal year that the Gross National Product will probably run as high as $578 billion, and, consequently, tax revenues will be greatly increased. Then, you take a pencil and paper and figure out that the horizon is so bright that the tax receipts will run more than $6 billion better than they did last year.

The trouble is that the whole thing is a guess and a gamble on the part of the President and his advisors—all of whom have proven in the past that they view the business future of the country with far rosier glasses than conditions warrant. In fact, the $8.8-billion deficit for 1963 resulted from just this kind of overoptimistic figuring, coupled with accelerated government spending.

PRIVATE ECONOMISTS and knowledgeable congressmen can argue until they're blue in the face that the economic indicators and conditions generally point to a Gross National Product of $565 billion rather than the $578 billion envisioned by the President. And they can make the most of the fact that the President, in fiscal 1963, estimated the GNP at a figure $16 billion higher than the mark it attained.

But none of them can stop the President from arriving at his own estimate of what will happen and incorporating that estimate into the national budget. The trouble will develop if the Congress of the United States adopts the President's appraisal of the situation and fails to cut back on the spending program of $98.8 billion offered for fiscal 1964.

How do you stand, sir?

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

De Gaulle Stand Blow To U.S. Farm Prospects

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The American farmer doesn't know it yet, but he will probably get the heaviest backlash from De Gaulle's veto of Britain for the common market. It will probably mean cutting close to $1,100,000,000 of farm products to Western Europe, though the cut won't all come at once.

The reason is two-fold:

1. Continental Europe is hell-bent to develop its own food self-sufficiency.

2. Britain's entry was a test case which was to pave the way for subsequent entry by the United States.

The chief economic stumbling block to Britain's entry was the fact that commonwealth partners — Australia, Canada, New Zealand — would get their wheat, butter, wool into the common market at low tariff rates, too.

This had the vigorous opposition of French farmers; and the French farm bloc is just as strong in the Chamber of Deputies as the American farm bloc is in the U.S. Congress.

France has the support price on wheat of $2.30 a bushel, which is a healthy margin over the $1.82 price support on American wheat.

However, the German wheat support price is $3.15 a bushel. And French farmers, under the common market policy of free interchange, can get the benefit of this high German support price. In other words, they can grow wheat at a $2.30 price in France and sell it to Germany for $3.15.

What they have been planning to do, therefore, is plough up about 6,000,000 acres, hitherto in pasture or other crops, and put it in wheat.

SO DE GAULLE was not about to open French doors to cheap Australian and, later, American wheat.

De Gaulle, of course, had several reasons for blackballing Britain, but this was one of them.

What will now happen is that common market tariffs will be increased against all American farm products. The tariff on American broilers is already so high that our market in Germany has almost evaporated.

Of course, it's possible for the United States to retaliate with high tariffs against French and German products, but this is not the way to build Western unity against Communism.

Rep. Bob Jones, who comes from the missile-city of Huntsville, Ala., is fearful that with water, water everywhere, the United States may soon be running out of water to drink.

HE HAS BEEN working with his friend from Minnesota, Rep. John Blatnik, regarding the problem of water pollution.

Consider the chlorinated cocktail that pours out of the faucet. Most likely, it contains a jigger of sewage dumped in by communities upstream. A dash of insecticide from the farms, perhaps some chemicals and contaminants from a factory.

Not the least frightening may be radioactive wastes, raising the possibility that future ulcers might glow in the dark.

Purifying plants to try to clean the drinking water by mixing in more chemicals to counteract the chemicals from upstream. The unsavory solution which finally spews out of the tap is barely drinkable.

The danger to drinking water is only half of the problem. Sludge and slime are also closing the nation's waterways to swimming, boating, fishing, camping. Already our recreation areas are marred by closed beaches, putrid rivers, sewage-clogged shorelines, lifeless swamps, and fishless waters.

NOTE — Jones, a key member of the government operations committee, charged with investigating the problems of the government and the nation, was all set to investigate water pollution and other health problems when he got word that his committee chairman, Rep. William Dawson, the Chicago Democrat, had his own ideas on running the probe. Now it probably will not be made.

THE ROLL CALL of the New Frontier, as Boy Scout Week approaches, shows that all but one member of the cabinet were either scouts or active in scout work. The President himself was a member of Troop 2, Bronxville, N.Y., later district vice chairman of the Boston council and finally a member of the executive board.

Dean Rusk, secretary of state, was knot-tieing champion in the early 'twenties in Atlanta, Ga.

Douglas Dillon, secretary of the treasury, was an executive board member for ten years in Plainfield, N.J.

Robert McNamara, secretary of Defense, was an Eagle Scout in Troop 3, Piedmont, Calif.

J. Edward Day, postmaster general, was a Scout in Springfield, Ill.

ORVILLE FREEMAN, secretary of agriculture, was Star Scout in Minnesota Troop 24.

Stewart Udall, secretary of the interior, was a first class Scout in Arizona where his father, Justice Levi Udall, was awarded scouting's highest honor — the Silver Beaver award.

Luther Hodges, secretary of commerce, was a charter member of the Cherokee Council in Reidsville, N.C.

Robert Kennedy, the attorney general, was a Scout in England when his father was U.S. ambassador to the Court of St. James. Bob was granted special dispensation so that he did not have to pledge allegiance to the queen.

Willard Wirtz, secretary of labor, like his predecessor Arthur Goldberg, was a Scout. Wirtz was in a troop in De Kalb, Ill.

REAL CRISIS

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Cuban crisis caused another crisis in Miami Beach, one which some felt was really drastic.

The city's Servicemen's Center sent out an appeal for at least 400 young ladies, and preferably as many as 1,000.

When troops were rushed into the area, the center found itself with plenty of servicemen, pastries and fruit punch, but greatly short of young hostesses.

TRAFFIC STOPPER

MIAMI (AP) — A truck driver hit a power pole and broke it in half, then sped away.

The accident created a huge traffic jam by knocking out every traffic light for about a mile on two busy streets.

Jack Golden, 61, arrested later and charged with careless driving and leaving an accident scene, said he did so because, "I didn't want to cause a traffic jam."

TODAY IN NATIONAL AFFAIRS

U.S. May Revolt At Tax Changes

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — It may take a little while before the new facts of tax life sink in, and when they do, there may be widespread discontent as the citizens discover that a tax cut is to be accompanied by a tax rise. While the net change may be a slight reduction in taxes for the individual, the psychology that will prevail is that the government is giving something with one hand and taking it away with the other.

For a while it is easy enough to show that taxpayers in all brackets may come out with a slight cut in taxes, the person who makes out a return will have the feeling that somehow the government, though reducing his tax rate, is trying to get nearly all of it back by a penalizing system of amendments to the tax rules.

The biggest source of dissatisfaction is the so-called five percent "floor" on all deductions. Whether it be a charitable contribution, the interest on one's house mortgage, losses sustained that are not covered by insurance, or even allowance for state income and property taxes paid, the fact remains that the new rules would deprive many taxpayers of a part of the deductions enjoyed almost since the day when the present income tax laws and regulations were first written. A person who made out his will years ago now faces some substantial changes which will mean he will leave his wife or children less money than had been contemplated. Why should a legal document drawn up years ago as a trust, for instance, suddenly be affected by a retroactive tax law?

TO CUT through human habits and customs and revolutionize them on the theory that this is a desirable "tax reform" is to damage the party in power. The planned-deficit policy will be vigorously debated. While the average man may feel the subject is over his head, the chances are that, after all the hullabaloo about tax reductions, if he winds up with tax savings of only a few cents a week—as the government goes into the red by many billions of dollars—he will finally say, "let well enough alone."

For if the proposed tax plan goes through, there will be many individuals who will be adversely affected, and many non-profit institutions will find it hard sledding. Tax rules operate in so many different sectors that there are bound to be some who benefit or who are not materially affected. Gratitude in political life, however, is less important than dissatisfaction. Those who are hurt will be vocal. Those who will be moderately benefited will be indifferent.

THE administration's gamble is that there will be more money overall to spend, and that this will bring prosperity and thus decrease unemployment. But there's a difference between a "planned" deficit, such as is being proposed, and those deficits of the past which came naturally as the business curve turned downward. Deliberately to plan to put the government into the red by many billions serves notice on everybody. It means that somehow there has to be a psychology of spending rather than saving on the new tax reductions. But the confusion that may result from the far-reaching penalties that the new tax law would impose could cause a period of hesitation in the economy which would be costly all around.

Economic discontent has swung many an election away from the incumbent. William Howard Taft was elected in 1908 on a wave of prosperity, and he got one of the biggest majorities in the electoral college up to that time. He was a jovial, good-natured man who was extremely popular when he was inaugurated in March 1909. But, less than two years later, his popularity took a nose dive after he signed a tariff bill that failed to cut down the "cost of living." It was the key issue of the times. His party was split, and he was defeated in 1912.

HARRY TRUMAN in 1946 was at the low point of his political strength after a midterm election that gave the Republicans control of both houses. This was due to the high cost of food because of delays in removing price controls after World War II. He overcame some of the dissatisfaction and won by a narrow margin of popular votes in 1948.

There are other instances of adverse impact of policies or voter discontent. Herbert Hoover was elected by a huge majority in 1928, carrying almost every northern state and some southern states. But in 1930 his party lost control of Congress, and in 1932 Mr. Hoover was the victim of a landslide due to the depression. He had little to do with its origin, as the whole world was involved in an economic readjustment, but the voters took their grievances out on his administration just the same.

To Your Good Health

Allergy Can Cause Sinus Grief

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Many people have suggested an operation but I am reluctant because it sounds quite serious. My sinuses bother me only when I have a bad cold. Some relatives have suggested that I use salt water, snuffing it up my nose every morning. It seems to help. Is it possible for the sinuses to affect one's ears?—L.M.

This sounds like a lot of advice without getting the facts. And advice without facts isn't worth much.

I have some doubt in this instance whether it is true sinusitis, if it bothers you only when you have a bad cold.

With a severe cold, the membranes of the nose and sinuses are inflamed and swollen, and this interferes with sinus drainage. The sinuses can ache. But this doesn't call for an operation.

When the sinuses remain congested, and pus and constant drainage persist, that is another matter, and can be determined by examination and/or X-ray.

As to "operations," different types are done. One is to straighten a bent or deviated septum of the nose, if bent so it plugs one side of the nose, blocking both nasal and sinus drainage. Another is removal of polyps, if they are forming a blockage. (Polyps are more common in people with allergies.) Or there may be surgery on the sinuses proper, to remove diseased membranes and aid drainage.

SO THERE'S nothing gained in arguing over whether to "have an operation" until you know what, if anything, there is to do.

Many so-called "sinus cases" are due to allergy or to constant irritation from fumes—and I deliberately include tobacco fumes. Many a "sinus victim" has stopped smoking long enough to find that the "phlegm" and "catarrh" and coughing disappear.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald E. Myers

Jeanette Kokott, Gerald Myers Exchange Vows

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special) — St. Stanislaus Catholic Church was decorated with white chrysanthemums for the marriage Jan. 28 of Miss Jeanette Kokott and Gerald E. Myers.

Parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Kokott, Arcadia, and Mr. and Mrs. George Myers, Crandon, Wis.

The Very Rev. Joseph J. Andrzejewski performed the double-ring ceremony. Traditional organ music was played by Sister M. Aquila, who accompanied St. Stanislaus Catholic School choir in a hymn to the Blessed Virgin, and Gerald Pehler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Pehler, who sang "On This Day O Beautiful Mother."

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her father, wore a white floor-length gown of peau de soie fashioned with fitted bodice, modified scoop neckline dipping to a V at the back, and long sleeves. The skirt formed of unpressed box pleats extended into a chapel train. A crown of iridescent held her bouffant veil and she carried a cascade of American Beauty red roses. Her pearl necklace and earrings were gifts of the bridegroom.

The bride's sister, Mrs. George Nehasil, Detroit, as maid of honor wore a street-length blue peau de soie dress fashioned with modified scoop neckline which dipped to a V back, three-quarter length sleeves and knife pleated skirt. Her rose puff headpiece held a circular veil. She carried a cascade of American Beauty red roses and wore a pearl necklace and earrings, gifts of the bride.

The bride's brother-in-law, George Nehasil, Detroit, was best man and Marcel Guza, Independence, brother-in-law of the bride, ushered.

Mrs. Kokott selected a navy frock with matching accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore an olive green winter cotton dress with brown accessories. Their corsages were of pink tea roses.

A NOON bridal dinner for 50 guests was served at Club 93 with a wedding cake centering the bride table. Mrs. Charles Carhart, Trempealeau, and Mrs. James

Blair Area Girl Scout Leaders Plan Day Camp

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special) — Plans were made for Girl Scout day camp by executive board members of Girl Scout, neighborhood nine, Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. James Davis, Blair, neighborhood chairman. The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Milan Skundberg, La Crosse assistant director of Riverland Council.

Tentative plans were made to hold camp June 17 through 21, at a suitable site in the Blair area, with Scouts from 7 to 17, from Whitehall, Blair, and Ettrick participating. Mrs. Davis was named registrar. Registrations must be made by May 22. Camping hours will be from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

The possibility of a nursery unit with Senior Scouts in charge, was discussed, as a means for leaders who are mothers with small children to bring their children to camp.

A fee will be charged each girl to cover a part of the cost of food, program supplies and accident insurance. Wearing apparel was discussed. If enough register, intermediates wishing to complete the Fun in the Out-of-doors requirement for first class rank, may do so. No camp may be conducted with fewer than 25 girls or if leaders are not available. Mrs. Skundberg said. She pointed out that girls who have not reached the fourth grade in school are not eligible to attend established camp.

Mrs. Everett Hanson and Mrs. Ray Nering, Blair; Mrs. S. B. Myers, Whitehall, and Mrs. Ben Erickson and Mrs. C. A. Brye, Ettrick, attended the meeting.

Ettrick Girl Scouts are making plans for the area-wide annual cookie sale. Chairmen for Ettrick are Mrs. Raymond Erickson and Mrs. Minard Stenberg. Money raised by the sale is used for maintenance and improvements to Camp Eshewe, established camp near Mindor.

WYKOFF, Minn. — Gerald F. Walsh, Minneapolis, executive director of the Minnesota Association for Retarded Children, will speak at a meeting of the Fillmore County Association at 8:15 p.m. Feb. 12 at the Wykoff Public School.

Mr. Walsh's talk, "The Public's Attitude Toward the Mentally Retarded," will be based on findings of a major study published last month by the Minnesota ARC and the Minnesota welfare department. The study, based on interviews with a sample of 900 Minnesotans, is the first undertaken in any state to determine public attitudes and information concerning mental retardation.

THE January cold spell was hard on animals as well as humans. On my son's Indiana farm the lambs and the riding horses are cared for by his wife and the children, while he takes care of the beef cattle herd, the pigs and the rest of the farm. In a letter from my daughter-in-law she said, "I've been in the most awful lamb mess. They started coming Jan. 6. It's been 15 below zero and of course we had to bring them into the house. For several days we'd go down to the garage four times a day (the last time around midnight) and milk the ewes, then bring up the milk and bottle-feed it to the babies. Darn and I have both become expert milkers."

She went on, "When that got too cold for our bare hands, we just brought the ewes to the house. I had both Janie and Gimpy, plus their babies, in the utility room off the kitchen, Janie for five days — I just put her out today. She had twins in the sheep pen (one of the lambs was partially frozen); and I had the frozen twin in the kitchen until we finally had to put him to sleep today; he couldn't walk because of nerve damage to his frozen front legs."

She continued, "So it was like having triplets, each of which had to eat every three hours — only before I could feed them I had to milk the mothers. You should SMELL our house — horrible! Well, anyway I successfully taught four lambs to nurse, one by one, and now have all four of them outside with their mothers. Two more to go, and then I'm going to sell the blasted sheep. But the lambs are so darling."

Knowing that John Waldo of Witoka has some 90 dairy cows and calves I asked him if he'd had any trouble this cold spell. He said that when a calf was born the other 30 below zero night he didn't want to take a chance, so picked up the baby calf and brought it home and put it behind the furnace in the basement until the little thing dried off and got on its feet.

He went on to say that he places great store by the 250-watt infrared heat lamps which throw out a lot of heat and keep things warm and dry. John has put into his dairy barn a "calf maternity ward" which consists of individual calf cribs, each one with an overhead heat lamp. This calf nursery results in fine care for newborn calves and gives the animals a good start in life. Last winter a cow that was about to calve got away and wandered down into the woods and had her calf on a ten-below zero night. Though they found it quite soon the calf's ears were frozen and she was named "Frosty-Ears."

Rushford farmer Bob Bollman who raises both pigs and dairy cattle also uses the 250-watt heat lamps to keep the baby pigs warm. These last cold weeks he installed an extra lamp for good measure. The old sows seem to have no trouble keeping warm this frigid weather but baby pigs which are subject to pneumonia must be given extra shelter and warmth.

4 Killed in Nicaragua

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Three men and an infant were killed and eight persons were wounded as Nicaraguans voted Sunday to extend the Somoza family's 31-year rule of their Central American nation.

The clash between National Guardsmen and 300 anti-Somoza demonstrators erupted during voting and dried blood splashed on the presidency to Rene Schick Guierrez, candidate of the Somoza-run Liberal party.

Dr. Fernando Aguerro Rocha, opposition leader who had called for a boycott of the national elections, was placed under house arrest. He was charged with inciting demonstrators who battled with police and troops for three hours. Fifteen rioters also were jailed.

Order was restored after Aguerro and the authorities declared a truce and the opposition leader agreed to remain under house arrest. Police dropped demands that Aguerro go to jail after he agreed to advise his followers to give up the demonstrations.

Schick, an ex-professor who takes office May 1, was called a Somoza puppet by the opposition which claimed the family put him in to hold the seat until one of them could run again.

A new law prevented outgoing President Luis Somoza from succeeding himself or being succeeded by any member of his family. Schick, 53, has insisted he will act independently, but he has spent most of his career serving the Somozas. His term as president expires in 1967.

The voters also elected 3 vice presidents, 16 senators, 54 deputies and town councils throughout the country.

1,500 Fishermen Catch 75 Trout At Independence

INDEPENDENCE, Wis. — Seventy-five live trout ranging upward in size to 17 inches were taken by an estimated 1,500 fishermen who competed Sunday in the fifth annual trout fishing contest sponsored by the Elk Rod & Gun Club.

Attendance was described by contest officials as good, considering the fact that fishing was done in near-zero weather with a strong wind blowing throughout the afternoon.

THE SHOTGUN awarded for the largest fish went to Darwin Bradley, Blair, Wis., and runner-up was Virgil Meinking, La Crosse, who also received a shotgun for a brown trout weighing almost a pound.

There were about 30 rainbows — one of them the winning catch — brought in and the rest were browns.

Winners of the next eight prizes for fishing were, in order: Gene Schaffner, Chippewa Falls, Wis., a 22-caliber rifle; Bruce Reesie, Fountain City, Wis.; Bob Bensend, Whitehall, Wis.; and Jane Lund, Eau Claire, Wis., each a 200-pound hog; Roland Holman, Whitehall; Richard Wetzel, Winona; Roy Pietrick, Eau Claire, and Roy Aamerud, Pigeon Falls, Wis., 20-pound turkeys.

THE TOP attendance prize, a 14-foot aluminum boat, went to Ernest Sobota. Independence. Mrs. Schaffner, Christianson, Whitehall, won the 3-horsepower motor; Greg Gamroth, St. Francis, Wis., a 200-pound hog, and Mrs. Louie Schoenberger, Independence, a clothes dryer.

David Baumgartner Independence, 2 years, 2 months old, was the youngest boy fishing won a baseball bat. The youngest girl, was Donna McKeith, Galesville, Wis., 1 year, 9 months.

In charge of arrangements for the contest were Cliff Kampa, club president, and Willie Smieja, secretary-treasurer.

Debaters Post Record of 6-4

A 6-4 record was posted by the Winona Senior High School debate squad in the eighth annual St. Olaf College Invitational Speech Tournament at Northfield, Minn., Saturday.

Bloomington High School was the debate winner and Hibbing won the sweepstakes award.

Coached by Robert Neujahr, the Winona affirmative team of Barbara Ferguson and Richard Tezak and negative, Tony Schina and Carole Van Thoma, each finished with records of 2-2.

Schima participated in extemporaneous speaking and Lee Turner in radio speaking.

Tonight the Winona squad will compete in the Region 1 high school debate tournament at Rochester.

The winner and runnerup of the regional meet will be entered in the state tournament at the University of Minnesota Feb. 15-16.

Ohio has more area used for horticulture specialties than any other state. It has 36.2 million square feet under glass. California is second with 30.7 million square feet.

BUSINESS MIRROR

Today's Problems Similar to 1948

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Just 15 years ago the Associated Press launched a business news column. It noted that businessmen were complaining of many problems at home and abroad.

On February 3, 1948, these included: High taxes and the dimming chances of a congressional drive to cut them; a profit squeeze in steel; a crippling siege of bad weather; fear that Europe would clamp down on the influx of American goods; consumer preoccupation with high prices, including the rising cost of education; and the prospects of a recession starting later in the year (it did).

There have been a lot of changes in the 15 years. Many of the problems are called by different names. Statistics used then look pretty puny alongside today's. But the February 1948 picture shows some remarkable likenesses to 1963 reflections along with some complete turnarounds.

In that earlier February the president of a big electrical equipment company said the U.S. tax policy was drying up venture capital. The U.S. Treasury was reported fearful that a drop in personal and corporate incomes might cause a big federal deficit. Congressional plans to cut income taxes, Republican senators said, might be vetoed by President Harry S. Truman because of the Treasury outlook.

Steel executives complained that profits were being squeezed by rising labor costs when they needed funds for new and more expensive mills. Too, they were worrying about an expected drop in the high demand for their products.

Housewives were happier because some food prices had just dropped. Butter, which had been around $1 a pound in New York, was down to 83 cents. The ladies also were cheered by the announcement that the nylon stocking supply should catch up with demand before the end of 1948.

Bad weather was in the news that February 3, too, for tying up transportation and cutting steel production. A fuel association said that the big reason 129,000 homes had been out of fuel for "a few hours to a few days was the worst weather in a generation."

Government agencies poured out record statistics: Personal incomes hit a high of $167 billion, now its $447 billion. The U.S. gold stocks rose to a high of $23 billion as Europe's reserves sank. Today it's $15.9 billion here because of the flow to Europe. Installment credit passed $6 billion and its

Now it's $47 billion and many have just given up worrying. Washington was provoked because the Havana International Trade Conference was deadlocked and "economic nationalism is on the rise in Europe and Latin America." Today the Western world doesn't hold confabs in Havana, and the worry is over the split of Europe into rival blocs threatening to cut U.S. exports.

A slice in appliance prices 15 years ago was ascribed to new manufacturing techniques, now termed automation. It was noted that Columbia University, in the first year of Gen. Eisenhower's tenure as its president, announced that tuition would rise 33 per cent in the fall and dormitory rents 17 per cent. Inflation was a big topic — was it temporary?

And the February 1948 mirror reflected fashions. Christian Dior's New Look was changed to something called "fly away," with a shortened skirt and a flattened bosom. Is that a bit like the just announced 1963 line?

And the mirror dutifully recorded a study by the National Better Business Bureau of bust-developing estrogenic creams, concluding that the bureau leans to the feeling that inflation is temporary.

In Puerto Rico, the sun shines 360 days a year. Temperatures average 76 degrees Fahrenheit, with only a six-degree variation between winter and summer.

There's no place like home — for pictures

Your youngster manfully struggling to build his sky-room version of the Golden Gate Bridge.
Your little girl fussing to dress her doll just so
Your whole family engaged in an old-fashioned sing along.

These are the kind of pictures that make the family album come alive. They are the kinds of pictures you find almost anywhere you look around your home, any day, any evening. And they're all pictures that are so easy to take with flash. Especially with a new Brownie Starmite Camera.

The Brownie Starmite is small, light, and simple enough for even the children to use. The flash unit built right in the camera uses the low-cost, peanut-sized AG-1 bulbs.

With the Brownie Starmite Camera you get 12 pictures to a roll of 127-size film — either black-and-white or color snapshots, or super color slides. No need to wonder if you've advanced the film after each shot. There's automatic double-exposure prevention. Just aim and shoot for the easiest pictures ever. So stop in this week and get started taking indoor family pictures. No time like right now!

Center Galley Divides Classic Ranch

By JULES LOH

Following textbook logic to the extreme, a family ought to have two houses side by side: One for daytime and evening activities, one for sleeping.

Because, when you think about it, the two functions are entirely separate.

Few would care for that kind of opulence, but architect Herman H. York, a craftsman attuned to the needs and wants of contemporary society, has in effect produced the same thing in an even more logical way.

TODAY'S HOUSE of the Week, J-59 in the series, is a luxurious ranch with four bedrooms in a completely separate wing, removed from the bustle and bustle of vacuum cleaners and delivery men as well as the din of after dark entertaining.

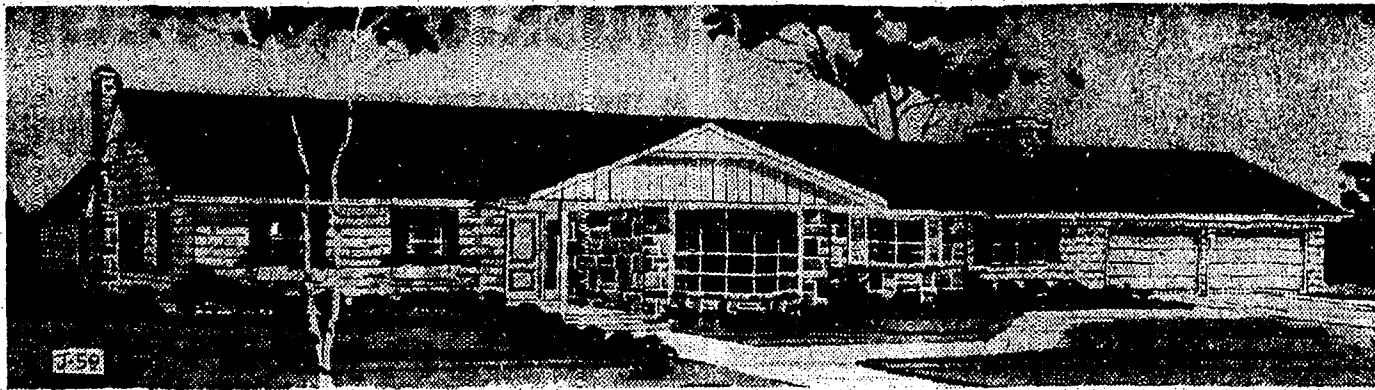

A gallery, stretching from front door to rear terrace, divides the house into two distinct parts.

This is only one unusual feature in a truly fine home designed for the couple who have compromised long enough with crowded rooms and crammed closets and are ready at least to reward themselves with the home they'll be content to live out their lives in.

THIS HOUSE has all the extras, right down to the raised bathtub in a tiled alcove. Yet there is nothing ostentatious about it; on the contrary, its main characteristic is a quiet sort of dignity both inside and out.

A number of optional features—such as a screened porch (which could be added at any time), an alternate doorway from the gallery to convert the fourth bedroom into a study, a side location for the garage doors if the size or shape of the lot permits—allow the owners to adapt the house to individual needs.

Overall dimensions are 92 feet 8 inches wide by 46 feet 1 inch deep and the total living area, not counting the garage, is 2,205 square feet. It contains a 13 foot 4 inch by 21 foot living room, a recreation room of about the same size.

STYLISH SIMPLICITY: A minimum number of materials blended in tasteful patterns give this luxurious four-bedroom ranch elegant character. A gallery, stretching from front door to rear terrace, divides the house into sleeping and living areas. If the lot is large enough, garage doors could be located on the side.

a handsome 12 foot by 13 foot formal dining room and a breezy 8 foot by 9 foot 4 inch coffee room adjoining the kitchen.

THE HOUSE has a full basement, though the laundry is located on the main level for added convenience. A lounge, terrace and a play terrace in the rear are included as part of the design.

Architect York is known for his careful attention to exterior detail, and this house is a fine example of his distinct style. He uses a minimum number of materials, creating interest instead through unusual and tasteful patterns.

"Dignity comes from a warmth of colors blended with nature," he said. "If stone is used in this house, the trim should be white with an accent color drawn from a color in the stone."

Good landscaping also is important, he said, "and the best job usually is done by a landscape architect."

FOR ALL OF its touches of elegance, economy of construction plainly was a consideration in this design and there is little or no wasted space. The bedroom wing is a good example.

The main bedroom is a luxurious suite with a 36-square-foot walk-in closet (in addition to a large wall closet), an adjoining bath, and a built-in vanity all arranged to take none of the space away from the room and leave it free for interesting furniture arrangement.

A door leads to the private lounge terrace, a truly elegant warm weather touch.

THE OTHER three bedrooms likewise have excellent closet facilities, and there are two linen closets—again designed for efficient use of space.

Unlike many plans, the family room is accessible not only from the kitchen but also the formal dining room.

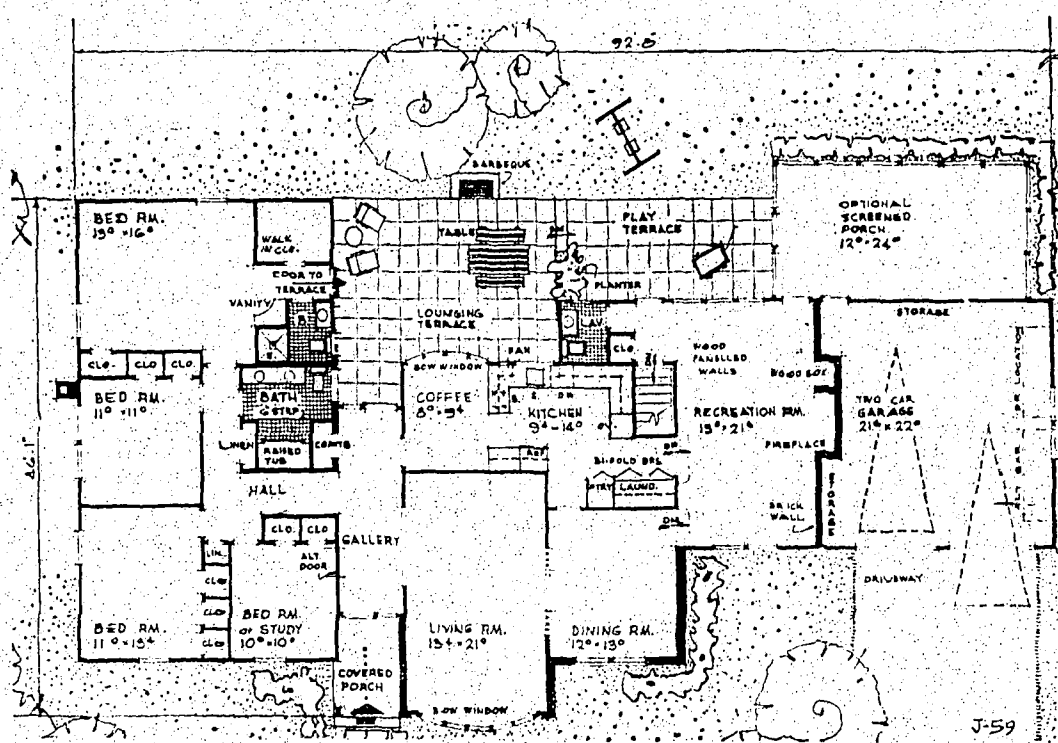

A huge fireplace with an old fashioned wood box dominates the far wall, built of brick. If you go in for Early American design, the shape of this room lends itself well to beam ceiling and colonial fireplace. In any case, architect York suggests wood paneling for the other three walls.

The kitchen is centrally located, serving all the rooms and only a few steps away from both front and rear entries. It is large, but efficiently designed to save steps. Folding doors conceal both the pantry and the laundry.

THE GALLERY also should be furnished as a room—an ideal place, suggests globe-hopping York, to display items collected on vacation trips.

FLOOR PLANS: The living area, not counting the garage, totals 2,205 square feet in over-all dimensions of 92'8" wide by 46'1" deep. The screened porch is optional and could be added later. Also, an alternate side location is shown for the garage doors if the lot is large enough.

How to Use Those Vital Hand Tools

AP Newsfeatures

No matter how many power tools are in your home workshop, there is always a need for the old reliable hand tools, such as the hammer, screwdriver, pliers, etc.

Oddly enough, many persons who have become proficient in the use of electric machines in recent years have no parallel skill in the use of hand tools.

HERE ARE some tips about handling the nonpower equipment in your shop:

- Use only a wrist movement in driving a small nail with a hammer, bending the elbow for larger nails and striking hard with full arm action for very large nails.

- In using a chisel, keep the left hand (if you are right-handed) behind the cutting edge at all times. Remember that it is easier and quicker to make several thin cuts with a chisel than one thick one, in addition to insuring a more professional result.

- In making a hole in wood with an awl, the edge of the tool should be pushed into the wood across the grain, as there is a possibility of splitting the stock if this is done along the grain.

- On the other hand, the clenching of nails into wood should always be along the grain, since this adds strength to the fastening.

- In cutting with a hacksaw, be sure that the work is held firmly in a vise, that the blade is held tightly in its frame and that you remember the principle that the cutting is done on the forward stroke.

- The cutting also is done on the forward stroke when filing, so be sure no pressure is exerted in drawing back the file.

- Old screwdrivers can be renewed by grinding the tips, but be certain the grinding is done straight across so that the tips will fit firmly into the heads of screws.

- Attaching a piece of tempered hardboard to the top of your workbench will insure an excellent working surface that will resist dents and other marks. Screw the hardboard into the workbench top so that, if necessary, it can be removed and replaced at a later date, although this is unlikely to occur for several years.

CHANGES AT ETRICK

ETRICK, Wis. (Special)—Mrs. Oscar Anderson of the South Beaver Creek area has moved to Etrick to occupy the basement dwelling on Main Street vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Blaha and children. The Blahs have purchased the former Gerald Sheehy residence.

NEW HATS FOR OLD

If that straw hat you love so much has faded, you can make it look like new again by giving it a coat of enamel in your most flattering color with one of those handy self-spraying cans. Remove any dust by going over the hat with your vacuum cleaner and remove any oil, grease or lipstick with odorless paint thinner.

BOYLE'S COLUMN

Japanese Men Fear Wives

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

"It's more of a woman's world every day. A recent magazine poll in Tokyo, once a bastion of male strength, found that more than half of younger Japanese husbands 'fear' their wives."

Prosperity note: U.S. families with life insurance have an average protection of $14,300—but this isn't enough to send two kids through college comfortably.

Test this theory on your friends: It is said that the nose of a right-handed person points to the right, and the nose of a left-handed person points to the left.

History lesson: Only one physician served on the U.S. Supreme Court. He was Dr. Samuel Freeman Miller, appointed by President Lincoln, and he served for 28 years.

Our quotable notables: "Men have as exaggerated an idea of their rights as women have of their wrongs."—Ed. Howe.

The world's most famous tilt is that of the Leaning Tower of Pisa in Italy. It is now 16½ feet out of line and sinks a fraction of an inch more each year.

No wonder American housewives are tired. They open 55 million cans and jars of food each day.

Abandoned wealth: The man who invented the safety pin sold his patent rights for $100.

Great minds in labor: The Colorado State Supreme Court has solemnly ruled that a telephone booth is a building.

What have you done to impress your bride recently? It took 20,000 men 17 years to erect the Taj Mahal, an Indian poobah's sentimental monument to a departed wife.

No one knows when the dog became man's best friend, but Egyptians kept dogs at least 5,000 years ago. Today there are at least 130 distinct breeds.

Health note: Since mental hospitals in 12 states unlocked their doors, only half as many patients have tried to escape as when they were restrained by lock and key.

It was President Theodore Roosevelt who observed, "A man who has never gone to school may steal from a freight car; but if he has a university education, he may steal the whole railroad."

Approximately 400,000 tourists visit Puerto Rico each year.

District Building Volume Down

A $12.5 million drop in the valuation of building permits issued in the six-state district of the Minneapolis Federal Reserve Bank in 1962, compared with the previous year, has been reported by the bank in its annual report on building activity in the district.

The 174 reporting cities in the district reported permits totaling $516,876,551 in 1962. For the year of 1961 the total was $529,382,482.

More than half of the overall total was reflected in permits issued in the Minneapolis-St. Paul metropolitan area where last year's total was $287,829,448, down a little more than $3 million from 1961.

The district covers all or parts of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Michigan and Wisconsin.

Comparative totals for several Minnesota and Wisconsin cities follows:

	1962	1961
Red Wing	$1,667,725	$1,000,000

3 Remodeling Permits Only Ones Issued

Three permits for house remodeling were the only ones issued last week by the city engineer's office. With a listed total valuation of $1,100, last week's permits raised the year's new building total to $761,973. There has been one new house permit issued.

Last year at this time the dollar volume of new building was $99,360 and no house permits had been written.

Last week's permits went to Mrs. Mildred Wager, 428 E. Sanborn St., and J. O. Reinhard, 406 E. 5th St., both for kitchen remodeling, the first estimated to cost $100 and the second $500, and to B. Eugene Gough, 511 Hiawatha Blvd., for a $300 interior remodeling job.

The only gas permit was issued to Superior Heating & Roofing Co., for an installation for Allyn Ruppert, 467 E. Sanborn St.

CEILING'S FIRST

Paint the ceiling of a room before doing the walls. If you do the walls first, you may splatter some of the ceiling paint on them.

PREVENT SHINGLE STAINS

Thenatural coloring matter in cedar shakes and shingles is soluble in water and will stain the paint applied over them unless water is prevented from entering. A minimum of two heavy coats of oil paint is recommended by the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association to keep water out. Moisture inside the house should be given a chance to escape by installing exhaust fans in the kitchen and opening bathroom windows after bathing and showering. Check the house exterior to be sure there are no spots where water from rain or melting snow can get in.

Cotter Cops 13th With 62-44 Romp

By AUGIE KARCHER
Daily News Sports Editor

Cotter's Ramblers, sporting the best win-loss record of any Winona basketball team, stands 13-4 today, thanks to a 62-44 victory over St. Felix Sunday afternoon at Wabasha.

The Rambler victory, their second in three days, was achieved while Winona's other three varsity quintets all suffered defeats Saturday night in one of the most disastrous weekends of the basketball season.

WINONA HIGH tumbled to Owatonna 62-34, to end a six-game winning string and run the Winona mark to 7-6. St. Mary's made a determined bid but fell to unbeaten Augsburg 70-63 to even its record at 9-9, and lowly Winona State, after beating Loras Friday, blew a halftime lead Saturday and succumbed to Moorhead State 67-66.

That was the Warriors' 12th loss in 17 starts.

Winona State Tuesday night traveled to Superior State and St. Mary's Wednesday takes on Hamline in St. Paul.

Friday night Cotter goes after an undisputed Rivoix Conference Championship at Rochester.

Louder and Winona High enters Albert Lea in a Big Nine test.

Saturday St. Mary's is host to Hamline and Winona State is home to Bemidji State which upset St. Cloud Saturday.

COTTER HAD no great difficulty in turning back Bi-State leader St. Felix for the second time this season.

Bob Judge and Sam Czaplowski combined for 17 points in the first period as the Ramblers spurred to a 19-7 margin in the first eight minutes. Judge had 11 of those points and finished with 17 for one of his best individual productions of the season.

John Kasper of the Yellowjackets collected 15, getting six in the third quarter when St. Felix outscored Cotter 17-13.

The Ramblers held a 35-21 margin at the intermission as they controlled the boards all the way. It was 48-38 going into the final period but the Ramblers limited St. Felix to three meager baskets to thwart any attempt at a rally.

COTTER AGAIN was plagued by poor free throw shooting, missing 26 chances in 40 tries. St. Felix had no better luck, miffing 18 of 32.

The Yellowjackets could solve the Rambler defense for only 15 baskets though they got 58 shots. They averaged only 26 per cent from the field.

John Nett's Ramblers unleashed 20 shots and hit 24 for 34 per cent.

On the boards, Cotter plucked a sizzling 55 rebounds, 31 on the defensive side. St. Felix had 37 for the game.

SHARPENING UP FOR OLYMPICS

TKO IN NINE

Griffith Plans To Defend Title

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Power-hitter Emile Griffith, fresh from his technical knockout victory over Denmark's Chris Christensen, pointed today toward two defenses of his world middleweight championship in the next four months.

The hard-hitting Virgin Islander signed to meet Brian Curvis of Wales on the Welshman's home grounds early in June. He came to terms with Jack Solomons, the British promoter, shortly after smashing Christensen with pile-driving lefts and rights to end their bout in the ninth round.

Referee Robert Seider of Switzerland stopped the bout as Christensen slumped helplessly against the ropes in a fight that was billed for the junior middleweight title although Griffith is the recognized champion in this division only in Austria. The World Boxing Association recognizes Denny Meyer of Portland, Ore., as the titleholder.

Griffith is expected to defend his 160-pound crown against Luis Rodriguez, an exiled Cuban, next month. Curvis defends his British Empire welterweight championship against England's Tony Smith in London Feb. 12.

Griffith, who now lives in New York, was very tough on Christensen. He sent the Dane to the canvas in the third round with a jarring left and right to the head. He had Christensen groggy again in the fifth round with a swinging right to the jaw. At the end of the seventh, the challenger's face was blotched red.

In the decisive ninth round, Griffith rocked Chris with a left and then a right. The Dane crashed on his back. When he got up at the count of nine, he walked into another series of "shattering punches. He took a compulsory eight count, standing groggily.

Once again, the champion stormed in and Christensen's corner tossed in the towel. Griffith weighed 132 pounds and Christensen 131.

A CHEER FOR PLAYER

AUGSBURG CRUISED to its 16th straight victory and 9th in a row in the Minnesota Intercollegiate Conference. St. John's bounced Concordia 79-76, Minnesota Duluth downed Macalester 70-54, Hamline edged Gustavus Adolphus 68-65, and St. Thomas tripped Loras, Iowa, 55-52 in other MIAC activity.

In another NSCC game, Moorhead nipped Winona 67-66. Northland, Wis., clipped Beloit 75-71 in one overtime in a non-conference game.

Craig Mueys poured in 47 points to pace St. John's to its victory. The 5-11 guard hit 15 of 27 free shots and 17 of 24 free throws for the top individual scoring performance in state college games this season. Gary Larson got 14 for Concordia.

Augsburg ran up a 37-24 halftime lead and went on to beat St. Mary's fairly easily. Dan Anderson had 23 for Augsburg. Al Williams 14 for St. Mary's.

Duluth moved up to a second place tie with St. Thomas in the MIAC, both with 6-2 records. Roger Hanson led the Bulldogs with 20 points.

Moorhead won on Pete Lysaker's two free throws with 15 seconds left. Winona missed several golden scoring chances after that. Don Werniger got 21 for Moorhead and Lysaker 20. Lyle Papenhus had 20 for Winona.

Augsburg shoots for victory No. 17 straight tonight against Macalester, while Concordia hosts Hamline. In a non-conference tilt, Sioux Falls plays at Minnesota Morris.

Bemidji Stuns St. Cloud; Huskies vs. Tech Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

St. Cloud State, which may have gotten caught peeking around the corner at tonight's game with Bemidji State, hopes to upset the Northern State Conference leaders and wipe out the memory of Saturday night's 54-50 upset loss at Bemidji State.

Bemidji, used a tight defense and ball control to handle the Huskies, who dropped to a 5-5 NSC record, behind Tech's 5-0. The Beavers led 29-26 at halftime and went ahead for good at 45-43 on Ken Hansen's hook shot.

Dave Sjodahl led the Bemidji shocker with 15 points, while Jack Harrison had 14 for St. Cloud.

Schueler Wins Ski Jumping Tournament

John Schueler topped the jumping event and Jim Bambenek Jr., Gary Goetzman and Gwen Goetzman won downhill honors Sunday in the Winona Winter Carnival ski jumping tournament at the Goetzman ski area on East Burns Valley road.

The meet was delayed from Winter Carnival week because of cold weather.

DESPITE temperatures barely above freezing Sunday, the event was run off and drew about 100 spectators, including Winter Carnival royalty.

Schueler leaped 62 and 58 feet to score 64 points for the jumping title. Second was Greg Bambenek with 48-61 for 63 points and third Greg Goetzman with 50-49 for 55 points.

In downhill, Jim Bambenek was clocked in :21.4 and :19.5 to win the junior division. Second was John Carter, :25.6 and :20.8; and third, Greg Goetzman, :27.3 and :21.5.

GARY GOETZMAN won men's downhill with times of :17.7 and :17.5. Steve Boller was second, :19.0 and :19.4, and Stan Ledebuhr, third, :21.1 and :19.1.

Gwen Goetzman, 1:06, won the girls downhill. Sharon Margroff was second, 2:25, and Christine Johnson, third, 2:20.

Judges were Hubert Bambenek, George Goetzman and Robert Boller.

Grand opening of the ski area was held in conjunction with the tournament.

SKIING FUN... Young and old turned out Sunday for the grand opening of the Goetzman ski area on East Burns Valley road where the first weekend of the Winona Winter Carnival ski tournament was held.

Houston Leads Pin Race; Bronk, Nelson Cop First

Horseshoe Bar of Houston, Minn., one of three Houston teams competing in the Winona City-Bowling tournament, holds the top spot in the team event today after the first 48 of 214 teams entered shot last weekend at the Keglers Lanes.

Shooting on the second squad Saturday night, the Houston five smashed 2,819 with 400 pins handicap. Their top bowler was Roger Hoppel with 206-535.

OF THE TOP 10 in the early leaders, two others are also from Houston — Schlitz Beer in seventh place and Ace Telephone in 10th.

Winona County Abstract of Westgate Men's League holds second place with 2,785 recorded Sunday. Top scorer was Len Strange with 511. His club had 422 free sticks.

In third place is Hal-Rod Lanes.

Blanchard started his big game with four straight strikes, left a 4-pin in the fifth frame, and then came back with five more strikes. His mates, however, couldn't keep Irene Bronk and Helen Nelson captured the all-events titles as the 1963 Winona Women's City bowling tournament wound up Saturday at the Winona Athletic Club.

There were no changes on the late Saturday night shift.

THUS THE singles championship went to Cornelia Podjaski with 605 and the doubles crown was plucked off by Marlys Meyer and Pat Brang with 1,176.

All-events winners were announced this morning by Bernice Williams, secretary of the Winona Women's Bowling Association.

Mrs. Bronk, who bowls at St. Martin's Lanes, won the handicap trophy with 1,698 for her nine games. Second was Irene Pozanc with 1,697. Mrs. Bronk was not entered in the optional prize list in all-events.

MRS. NELSON, Winona's high average women's bowler for four straight years, totaled 1,601 for the scratch title. In second place with 1,566 were Mrs. Bronk and Lucille Weaver.

Tentative low payoff in singles will be $21 and in doubles 1,025.

Science Shrinks Piles

New Way Without Surgery

Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dynex) — discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H. At all drug counters.

Oilers Tumble To Canton Five

Standard Oil lost its second consecutive game of the season Sunday, 107-95 to Canton.

Canton led by one at halftime and outscored the Oilers 23-14 and 33-29 in the final two quarters.

Fred Beck again paced the Standard attack with 39 points. Rog Leonhardt added 29.

Hugh Vannatter and Mike Henry each fired in 27 points for the winners.

Standard Oil is now 6-2 for the season. Canton is 4-0.

Bentley, Iverson Sock 1,396 Set

SPRING GROVE, Minn. (Special) — Rodney Bentley and Odell Iverson broke the bowling jackpot at the Spring Grove Recreation Center Thursday night with a combined score of 1,396 for three games plus handicap.

Bentley rolled 224-215-254—693 scratch plus 36 pins handicap to give him a 729. Iverson notched a 689 scratch series with a 226-191-202. The team needed 1,333 to break the jackpot.

A new bowling league was organized named the "Houston County Classic." Teams entered are from Caledonia, Spring Grove, Houston and La Crescent. The teams bowl on Sunday afternoons, rotating from city to city until they have met 12 times.

Little Winhawks Notch 13 in Row

OWATONNA, Minn. (Special) — Winona High's undefeated sophomore basketball team posted its 13th consecutive victory Saturday night by downing Owatonna's sophomores 46-34.

The Little Hawks outscored Owatonna 12-2 in the third period, holding the Papooses scoreless until the final minute of the period.

Bill Squires was high with 16 points, six in the third quarter burst.

Lakers' West Injured as Streak Ends

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Los Angeles Lakers have a comfortable 9½ game lead in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association. But the Lakers aren't breathing as easily as they should.

Jerry West, the Lakers' All-Star guard, pulled a hamstring muscle in his left leg in Sunday's 122-95 loss to the New York Knicks.

"I was driving in for a layup when all of a sudden I felt it give," West explained. "I can't put any weight on it and everything depends on how things go in the next few days." Los Angeles does not play until Wednesday.

The setback snapped the Lakers' eight-game winning streak. It was also the first success for New York in eight games. In other games, Boston defeated Detroit 137-128, Cincinnati downed Syracuse 125-115 and Chicago beat San Francisco 110-108.

Gene Conley of the Knickerbockers, who suffered a chip fracture of his right index finger Thursday night, played with his index and middle fingers taped together. He scored 11 points.

In Saturday's games, Los Angeles whipped St. Louis 103-97 and Syracuse beat Cincinnati 117-113. San Francisco faces Chicago in San Jose, Calif. in tonight's only game.

Curtice to Coach At Santa Barbara

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—Cactus Jack Curtice, fired last fall by Stanford University after 21 years as a major college football coach, is moving into the relative quiet of small school competition.

The University of California at Santa Barbara announced Saturday that Curtice, 55, will take over its football program immediately.

He'll inherit a team with 20 returning lettermen that won two and lost eight last season. The school is dropping out of the California Collegiate Athletic Association because the "football going is too rough."

WINONA MIDGET SKATERS TUMBLE

Winona's midget hockey team was eliminated from the regional midget tournament Saturday when it lost to Rochester.

The Mayo City team defeated Winona 4-0 at the West End rink. Winona goals had 40 stops, Rochester 11. Six penalties were assessed Winona, four to Rochester.

Meyer Victor In Glove Bout

CHATFIELD, Minn. (Special)—

Billy Meyer was the only Winona fighter to win Saturday night as eliminations for the sectional Golden Glove tournament were staged as part of an amateur boxing card. Meyer scored a knockout over Chatfield's Bob Ferguson in 1:26 of the first round of a middle-weight bout.

Three other Winona middleweights lost. Carlyle Putterbaugh dropped a split decision to Wayne Elring of Chatfield. Ray Coleman of Rochester knocked out Bruce Volkman in the second round and Mike Creeley was decisively by Vic Hall of Rochester.

With the addition of bantamweight Fred Green, Winona will send a full team to Rochester for the Golden Glove semifinals and finals in Mayo Civic Auditorium Wednesday night.

Stevens Point Stays Unbeaten

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Stevens Point retained an unbeaten record in Wisconsin State College Conference by defeating Wisconsin-Milwaukee 81-47 Saturday night for its seventh victory over Eau Claire, which climbed out of the loop after a 70-61 triumph over Stout despite 40 points by Fred Seggeling of the losers.

Platteville handed an 83-72 loss to Whitewater, the defending champion and now in last place. River Falls had an easy time subduing Superior 90-61.

La Crosse lost to Illinois Tech 65-59 in nonconference action, and Oshkosh was idle.

Other high scorers in a night of unbeaten performances included Dan Benovich of Illinois Tech 34 points; Pete Hus, Eau Claire, 31; Don Koestnick, River Falls, 29; Joe

Interest Conflict Charged Over La Crosse Tower

MADISON, Wis. — A Green Bay television company employee has been accused of having a conflict of interests in his recent vote as a member of the state aeronautics commission to grant a high tower construction permit to a La Crosse television company.

Named in an action filed in the Dane county circuit court was Don Love, Green Bay television announcer, who cast the deciding ballot for nearly a year. The commission last month declined to reconsider its decision.

Representatives of private flying interests in the Eau Claire area brought action to set aside a decision of the state commission granting a permit for the construction of a 1,629-foot-high transmission tower near Galeville in Trempealeau county.

The pilots claim that the high tower will be a dangerous obstruction in a widely used route for visual flight between Minneapolis and Chicago, and Eau Claire and La Crosse. They asked for an injunction to prevent the construction of the tower pending a final ruling on their appeal.

John Bowers, assistant attorney general representing the state, opposed the change of venue and Judge Bardwell allowed a week for filing briefs by the parties on the point. Thomas Barland of Eau Claire and J. Curtis McKay of Mequon, members of the state legislature, appeared for the complaining filers.

The television station which secured the construction permit is WKBT-TV of La Crosse. It told the commission that it needs a higher tower for competitive reasons. Flying interests opposed the proposal at public hearings held by the commission.

The challenge of Love's vote was contained in an amended complaint received when the case was opened. Steffen, Whitewater, 27, and Port Kampsira, Platteville, 23.

Brisk Demand For Top Issues, Trading Active

NEW YORK (AP) — Brisk demand for selected issues highlighted a mixed stock market early this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

Gains and losses of most key stocks were from fractions to about a point.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at 256.5 with industrials up .1, rails off .8, and utilities up .5.

Active buying was apparent in Chrysler; General Motors had AT&T.

Rails slumped on average, due considerably to a 2-point fall by Chesapeake & Ohio.

Aerospace issues were mostly higher. Steels lost early firmness and eased. Motors, nonferrous metals and electrical equipments were irregular.

GM made a historic high with a fractional gain. Chrysler touched a 1962-63 high as it rose well over a point.

AT&T also attracted renewed investment demand and moved ahead fractionally.

Prospects for continued heavy spending for space age defense helped such issues as Boeing, General Dynamics and United Aircraft to fractional gains.

Steels were unchanged to slightly lower.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off .05 at 683.14. Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Trading was moderate. Corporate bonds were irregular. U.S. government bonds showed scant change.

PERHAPS YOU THINK I'M SELFISH, MRS. WORTH. OR FOOLISH! BUT I FEEL A MOTHER SHOULD AT LEAST TRY TO PREVENT HER DAUGHTER FROM MAKING A TRAGIC MISTAKE!

MIDGE'S LIFE WILL NOT... AND CANNOT... BE AN EXTENSION OF YOUR OWN, MRS. MILLER!

SHE IS A PERSON... AND NO TWO PERSONS EVER BORN WERE THE SAME. I HAVE LIVED THE SAME EXPERIENCES!

SHE'S A CHILD! — NOT YET! — CARRIED AWAY BY ROMANTIC DREAMS! — AND I'M ONLY ASKING HER TO... TO THINK SERIOUSLY BEFORE IT'S TOO LATE!

MEANWHILE, ACROSS THE STREET...

I'LL MEET YOU HERE AT EIGHT SHARP, TRACY!

I'D RATHER YOU DIDN'T TELL KEITH ABOUT PAUL'S ARRIVAL

JUST AS YOU WISH!

BUT YOU'VE AROUSED MY CURIOSITY, TRACY! WHY SHOULDN'T KEITH KNOW?

NO SPECIAL REASON, BUT KEITH WOULD INSIST ON TAKING ME TO THE AIRPORT... AND I'D PREFER HE DIDN'T!

MARK TRAIL

IT WAS LUKE THAT TOLD THE REVENIERS ABOUT MY STILL, AND THEN HE CUT DOWN ON US DURING THE RAID!

AND IT WAS YOU, WID- CALDERWOOD THAT RUN OFF WITH MY GIRL YEARS AGO!

BEFORE YOU GET TO FIGHTING AGAIN THERE'S SOMETHING OVER WE WANT TO TELL YOU... THEN MAYBE YOU'LL QUIT!

Some things you just shouldn't be without

Sometimes families, in an effort to keep within a budget, go without many of the big and little things that make life worth living...sacrificing the security of "having" without waiting, scrimping and saving. They miss the many social and business advantages that come with a nice home, a newer car, smart clothes and other modern comforts.

You Need Not Wait...the magic of modern financing available at Minnesota Loan and Thrift can open a wonderful new life to you—enabling you to have more of the things you need and want NOW—without waiting until you have saved the cash, without disturbing savings. Don't postpone the satisfaction this new credit concept can bring to you.
