the 45th Infantry Division. Pearson, 18, and Bangus, 18, ended their 50 mile walk-and-run at Coalgate in southern Oklahoma in 13 hours, 18 minutes. Owens dropped out after 35 miles and Cook, 17, went 30 miles. Their trip started from Wetumka. (AP Photofax)

Disputed Ballots Screened

ST. PAUL (AP) — Screening teams plowing through the disputed ballots in the gubernatorial recount got into a tiff late Thursday — over the last ballot from the last of the state's 3,765 precincts.

The dispute came as the party screeners were checking the second precinct from the St. Paul suburb of Maplewood, whose ballots also figured in an earlier fuss resolved by the court.

Representatives of Gov. Elmer L. Andersen objected to opening the last of five envelopes containing ballots used as court exhibits in the earlier court case.

DFL checkers wanted it opened. They said it contains a torn ballot to be counted for Karl Rolvaag, DFL challenger for Andersen's office.

A DFL official said the ballot would mean a lead of 139, rather than 138, for Rolvaag as the recount moves into its next phase.

The dispute will be submitted to the three-judge panel supervising the recount.

It won't really delay things, since a second "super screening team" representing both parties is busy whacking away at the disputed ballots for the Feb. 25 trial before the judges.

WAVES BATTER HOUSES . . . A high wave smashes into a house on the oceanfront at Surfside, Calif., an Orange County community south of Los Angeles which officials declared a disaster area. The house is one of 75 in three communities threatened by the pounding surf. The situation was blamed on a Pacific storm which created heavy swells at high tide. (AP Photofax)

Raps Critics Advocating Rash Action

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has bluntly warned the Soviet Union that if it ever again sets up offensive weapons in Cuba the United States will know it and will be prepared for history's greatest crisis.

The risks in such a situation would be so alarming, Kennedy told his news conference Thursday, that he believes "the Soviet Union will proceed with caution and care."

And the President said the same goes for the United States, which he said must not be stamped into rash action on the basis of rumor, and hearsay concerning Soviet strength in Cuba.

Kennedy's remarks, delivered with obvious feeling, represented a blast aimed at two targets:

1. At the Kremlin leaders who continue to keep a formidable supply of short-range arms in Cuba.

2. At administration critics, in and out of Congress, who suggest that U.S. intelligence may be overlooking ominous hidden stocks of Soviet missiles in Cuba.

Kennedy voiced full confidence that such secret stockpiles do not exist. But he readily conceded he could be wrong.

If he is, Kennedy implied, it wouldn't make much difference because hidden weapons would have to be uncovered and placed in position before use—and this would be discovered by aerial reconnaissance.

He said: "We cannot prove that there is not a missile in a cave or that the Soviet Union isn't going to ship (sic) next week. We prepared for that. But we will find them when they do, and when they do, the Soviet Union and Cuba and the United States must all be aware that this will produce the greatest crisis which the world has faced in its history."

Cuba completely dominated the news conference, with Kennedy making these other major points: Discussions are being conducted with the Soviet Union concerning a promised withdrawal "in due course" of remaining Soviet troops in Cuba. Kennedy said he wants a better definition of "in due course" and wonders if a withdrawal could be accomplished this winter.

In his spirited defense of the administration's Cuban intelligence program, Kennedy appeared angry—even bitter—about the conduct of certain critics in Congress. While saying the government welcomes reports of Soviet moves in the Caribbean, the President declared:

"Even some of the members of Congress who have come forward either refuse to say where they heard the information or provide us with reports which do not have substance to them."

One of Kennedy's principal critics, Sen. Kenneth Keating, R-N.Y., told The Associated Press Wednesday he is offering the administration reports of Soviet strength in Cuba but is unwilling to disclose his sources.

Said Kennedy: "We have to move with hard intelligence. We have to know what we are talking about. We cannot have the issue of war and peace on a rumor or report which is not substantiated, or which some member of Congress refused to tell where he heard it."

He and North Central Attorney A. L. Wheeler disputed the prediction that Sheboygan would produce more passengers than the Manitowoc-Two Rivers community.

Wisconsin's Asst. Atty. Gen. John H. Bowers and Alexander Hopp, speaking for Sheboygan County, argued Manitowoc-Two Rivers and Sheboygan should be served by their own, separate airports. But if there is to be only one, Hopp said, it should be at Sheboygan.

Bowers recommended Manitowoc be retained on its present North Central flight from Chicago to Hancock-Houghton, Mich., and Sheboygan added to the air line's Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minn., route to Milwaukee via Eau Claire, Marshfield and Appleton.

"If you uproot the service and give it to another city, you will warn other communities they will never have any guarantee of losing established air service which is used far above the CAB's minimum requirement," he said.

Anti-Guerrilla Force Set for Canal Zone

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is planning to form a new group of antiguerrilla experts and base it in the Panama Canal Zone to help Latin American nations cope with any Cuban-fomented uprisings.

Informed sources disclosed this today amid concern in the United States over Soviet military strength in Cuba and the threat of Communist penetration of South and Central America.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has said the Soviets and Cubans do not have the ships to move any of the tanks or other significant military gear across the Caribbean to Latin America.

But U.S. authorities long have been concerned that Fidel Castro might succeed in transplanting his revolution by undercover means and stir up insurgency aimed at overthrowing governments friendly to the United States.

The U.S. Army now maintains four Special Forces groups, each made up of more than 1,200 men trained to a fine edge in the techniques of combatting guerrillas. For sometime, a nucleus of Special Forces troops has been detailed to the Canal Zone. The new group will be a full scale and permanent outfit.

Although it never has been publicized, teams of U.S. antiguerrilla experts are known to have worked in several Latin American countries—always at the request of those countries.

Among them were understood to be Guatemala and Colombia.

Such operations are likely to expand with formation of the fifth unit in the Canal Zone.

The cold war mission of the Special Forces is to train native armed elements, but not to fight themselves. However, in South Viet Nam U.S. Special Forces have found themselves in the midst of battle between government soldiers and Communist guerrillas, and some have been killed.

In a hot war, the Special Forces would be sent behind enemy lines in small teams to organize civilian resistance.

Their officers and men are experts in weapons, demolition, parachuting, communications, medical treatment and other military arts.

The number of Special Forces experts has tripled over the past two years to a total of 5,600.

The British Embassy in Baghdad reported to London that junior officers had risen against Kassem's police state regime but did not confirm immediately the report that the premier had been assassinated.

"The population of Baghdad itself is quiet," the embassy's first messages to London said.

Baghdad Radio announced all Iraq's borders with Turkey, Syria, Jordan, Saudi Arabia and Iran were closed. All Iraqi airports also were closed.

The rebels, calling themselves the National Council of the Revolutionary Command, announced that a national guard had been set up under an army colonel identified as Abdel Kerim Mustafa.

The council pledged to respect the United Nations charter and international agreements, to follow a nonalignment policy abroad and a policy of democracy at home.

Marshall declined to comment until he sees a copy of Mondale's statements and of the letter to Sen. Judd. The commissioner indicated he would reply next week.

Mondale also made public a letter he wrote Sen. Val Immi of Mankato, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, asserting he was amazed by Marshall's statements concerning the legal staff assigned to the Highway Department.

"I am writing to correct some of the misstatements of fact attributed to the commissioner and to correct any false impressions gained by you or other committee members because of this unfair, gratuitous and wholly unwarranted attack upon a group of excellent and dedicated attorneys," Mondale wrote.

Fight Against Filibustering Loses Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Once again senators who favor a tighter antifilibuster rule have gone down to defeat. But on the key vote they made a better showing than they have in the past and can be expected to renew the fight in the next Congress.

The battle ended abruptly Thursday, after nearly four weeks, without the Senate's getting a chance to vote on any proposed changes in the rule requiring a two-thirds majority of senators voting to choke off a filibuster by limiting debate.

One proposal would have cut the required majority to three-fifths of those voting. Another would have permitted debate-limitation by a majority of the 100.

A proposal along the same lines, to prohibit use of the picture or name of any public official on state highway maps, was approved by the Senate Highway Committee. The same bill would provide for biennial instead of annual publication of the maps. Sen. Robert Dwyer said that in the past highway maps had been used by the DFL for political purposes.

State Highway Commissioner James Marshall told the committee he had given orders that 65 per cent of the $7.5 million federal aid for secondary roads go to the counties and 35 per cent to the trunk highway fund.

The commissioner's order of two years ago for a 50-50 split brought loud protest from the counties which had formerly received two-thirds of the money.

Paul Rasmussen, chairman of the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse Commission, added that "if the state doesn't demonstrate enough interest to ask for hearings, the trains will be taken off."

Opposing the resolution, Henry Covie, an attorney for the railroad, said the passenger trains are losing nearly $2,000 a day. He said that if the passenger trains were discontinued, the saving could be used to improve freight service for which there is a real need.

He said eight days of hearings had been held by the ICC a year ago and that the situation had not changed.

Sen. Harold Krierger of Rochester said the passenger trains would be taken off automatically on March 24 unless the ICC can be persuaded to hold further hearings.

The Senate Transportation Committee also approved a resolution calling upon the Interstate Commerce Commission to hold further hearings before permitting the Chicago & North Western Railway to discontinue service on passenger streamliners, the Twin Cities 400-401 and Rochester 518-519.

The resolution says abandonment of the service would adversely affect the economic climate of Minneapolis and St. Paul, as well as other communities, and would leave Mankato, Rochester and numerous other communities without passenger train service.

House Group Looks Into Highway Patrol

ST. PAUL (AP) — A subcommittee of the House Highway Committee named to study allegations regarding operations of the State Highway Patrol will start public hearings at 10:30 a.m. next Thursday.

Subcommittee Chairman Richard White of Minneapolis said the group will call witnesses who will "present the full and complete picture of the role, responsibilities and performance" of the patrol.

He added that Rep. Fred Cina of Aurora, House minority leader who made the allegations leading to appointment of the subcommittee, would be given an opportunity to present evidence.

Cina said he would present evidence showing that highway patrolmen are given a quota of traffic tickets they must issue and that some officers have been sent to a re-training school as a punishment. Highway Department officials have denied Cina's claims.

The House gave preliminary approval to a bill to bar state officials' pictures from state publications.

A proposal along the same lines, to prohibit use of the picture or name of any public official on state highway maps, was approved by the Senate Highway Committee. Claim No Threat In Cuba Disputed WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's contention that 6,000 rocket-equipped Soviet combat troops in Cuba do not represent a military threat to the hemisphere met with some dissent in Congress today.

But there was general agreement with his statement at Thursday's news conference that any Soviet attempt to reactivate offensive missiles on the island would "produce the greatest crisis which the world has faced in history."

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., who has contended the Kennedy administration has failed to keep the people abreast of developments, stuck to his position that the Soviet buildup poses a threat directed primarily toward Latin America.

"I am glad that the President recognized the threat to Latin American nations, which is the principal point I have been making," Keating said.

Kennedy said the big dangers to Latin America, as he sees them, are the difficult and in some cases desperate conditions in the countries themselves. He specified illiteracy, bad housing, maldistribution of wealth and political or social instability.

He added that the Soviet forces he said the United States is negotiating to get out of Cuba "cannot be used to invade another country."

"They may be used to maintain some sort of control within Cuba, but obviously they are not a force that can be used externally," he said. "And in addition, Cuba cannot possibly launch any amphibious equipment and, quite obviously, our power in that area is overwhelming."

Keating said he agrees with Kennedy that the Soviet military strength in Cuba does not represent any threat of invasion of the United States.

It was the re-enactment of the $29 million building bill, passed by the 1961 legislature but held up pending approval last November of the state-debt amendment to the constitution.

The Republican state chairman, Robert A. Forsythe, said quick passage and signing of the building bill "was a dramatic answer to the political charges made earlier by Atty. Gen. Mondale that this matter should be handled by a court test and that there would be delay in the legislative process."

THE LARGEST share of the 1961 appropriation is $12.3 million for state hospitals and correctional institutions.

Eleva Resident Commits Suicide

ELEVA, Wis. — The death
Thursday afternoon of Gerald D.
Edison, 36, Eleva R. 2, has been ruled a suicide by Trempealeau County Coroner J. E. Garaghan.

Garaghan said that Edison died of carbon monoxide poisoning between 3:30 and 4 p.m. in a garage on his parents' farm in East Bennet Valley. Edison had attached a piece of copper tubing to the exhaust pipe of his car and had placed the tubing inside the car through a window, said Garaghan.

THE OPEN PART of the window was blocked off with a grain sack and the car was just about airtight, said the coroner.

Edison was found by Robert Olson, a school boy neighbor, about 4:40 p.m. The coroner was called and he and Sheriff Orrin Klundby and Milo Johnson, traffic officer, Strum, arrived at 5 p.m.

According to the family, Edison had been despondent since his discharge from the U.S. Army in Bennett Valley area. He was a member of the East Bennett Valley Lutheran Church. He spent two years in the U.S. Army, from January 1948 to January 1950, re-enlisting shortly afterward.

Survivors are his parents, and five sisters, Mrs. Duane (Vivonne)
Borgwardt and Miss Judy Edison, Eau Claire; Mrs. Bertand (Eu-nie) Hawkinson, Strum; Miss Verna Edison, Whitehall, and Miss Sonia Edison, at home. Two sisters have died.

FUNERAL SERVICES will be

Children First Consideration, Judges Decide

ST. PAUL, AP — In fixing visitation rights of divorced parents, the children's welfare is the controlling consideration, the Minnesota Supreme Court ruled today.

The high court denied the appeal of Walter Lee Bryant of Meeker County, who sought to amend a lower court order denying him the right to take his seven children by a former marriage into the home of his present wife, who has five children.

Judge C. A. Roloff of Meeker
County district court denied Bryant's motion for modification of a judgment on April 14, 1961. That order awarded a divorce and custody of the seven children ranging in age between 4 and 12 years.
The judgment provided that Bryant could have the privilege of visiting the children every Sunday but barred him from having the children in the home of his present wife.

"It is quite obvious . . . Justice Thomas Gallagher said, "that the court determined it to be best for the children's welfare not to compel them to visit the defendant's present domicile where the situation could lead to unpleasantness and discord between them and the present Mrs. Bryant and her children."

In another case, the Supreme Court granted the appeal of Thomas E. McDonald, Minneapolis, who sought a new hearing in a proceeding involving adoption of a 19-month old child.

The mother of the child, Mrs.
Audrey Zink, executed a written affidavit of consent committing the child to the custody of the Children's Home Society, to be placed for adoption. She opposed giving the child to McDonald.

McDonald was not permitted to present evidence at a hearing in juvenile court where welfare officials also opposed the baby's adoption by McDonald. Associate Justice Walter Ilogosheske said Mc-Donald was entitled to be heard, present evidence and cross-examine witnesses.

Wabasha Meeting To Discuss Route For Highway 61

WABASHA, Minn. (Special) —
The Wabasha Council is planning to hold a special meeting Wednesday night to hear Charles A. Burrill, Rochester, district highway engineer, discuss relocation and improvement of U. S. Highway 61 from Wabasha to south of Kellogg.
Burrill was invited to the council meeting this week but couldn't attend.

Ray Karvel, Rochester, who recently purchased riverfrontage on the John Burrichter farm here, asked the council Tuesday evening for a water main extension. He said he had divided the property into 62 lots and planned to start building homes in May if the extensions were put in.

The property fronts Robinson Lake and the Mississippi River. A new access road will be built along the property line between the Bur-richter farm and Chick's broiler plant.

To bring city water to the property would take nearly a mile of water main through the Florin farm to the end of the line near the Ray Hopkins place.

Karvel previously had negotiated for the Florin farm before buying the Burrichter tract.

about the
DIFFERENCE
in fuel oils

MIDLAND INFRA-HEAT FUEL OIL with CAL-RAD looks like most other fuel oils. But it's the difference you can't see, as a result of the refining and blending processes, that can cost you money and heating comfort.
Many fuel oils contain additives. They, too, are different. Cal-Rad in Midland INFRA-HEAT is a tested and proved additive that overcomes the moisture and sludge problems inherent with heating oils.
With ordinary fuel oil in your tank, moisture can cause damaging rust and sludge formation. Let's see what this means.

Cal-Rad in Midland
INFRA-HEAT absorbs
and disperses moisture, prevents rust and sludge.
The moisture burns with the fuel. Your burner no-zzle stays clean, inside and out. No smoke, soot, fuel waste or lost heat. Uniform fuel atomization like this gives you clean burning,

Navy Honors Dentist for Saving Life

Cmdr. Aurelius H. Maze, Winona dentist, has been commended by Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth for having saved the life of John Heftman, Winona, last summer.

Dr. Maze borrowed a pocket knife to perform a tracheotomy on Heftman who was choking on a piece of steak at a Winona Civic Association picnic.

THE DENTIST received the citation this week at a national meeting in Chicago of Navy dental reserve officers. The presentation was made by Rear Adm. C. W. Schantz, chief of the Navy's Dental Division, who came from Washington to make the presentation.

The citation follows: "For meritorious achievement on 1 July 1962 in connection with an emergency operation which resulted in saving the life of a member of the Winona Civic Association of Winona, Minnesota, during its annual picnic at Lamolite, Minnesota.

"While the picnic was in progress, an elderly man was observed at one of the tables to be choking, apparently from food lodged in his throat. Shortly thereafter, he lapsed into unconsciousness and became cyanotic (turned blue). Upon learning of the situation, Commander Maze quickly and accurately diagnosed the condition of the victim and immediately attempted to resuscitate him through conventional artificial respiration methods.

"When this failed, he borrowed a pocket knife, honed it on the cement beside the patient, and successfully performed a tracheotomy, thereby saving the man's life. Commander Maze's quick thinking, cool courage, and skillful efforts were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

THE COVERING letter from Adm. Schantz follows: "I wish to congratulate you for the citation you received for saving the life of a man under very trying circumstances. I wish further to commend you for the expeditious way in which you responded to a difficult situation. I am proud that you are a member of the U.S. Navy Dental Corps."

The citation and letter were read by Clarence A. Bell, Winona Civic Association secretary, at the group's meeting Thursday night at the Winona Athletic Club. Thursday afternoon Dr. Maze received a phone call from the Navy summoning him to two weeks of active duty starting Sunday aboard the USS Cadmus, a repair ship at Norfolk, Va. He will leave Winona Saturday and plans to fly to Norfolk. He will return to Winona Feb. 23.

DR. MAZE IS a member of local Composite Company 9-59 of the Naval Reserve which meets at Winona State College. He has had more than 7 1/2 years of active duty and has been in the reserve 20 years. He served more than four years with the Navy in the Pacific during World War II, volunteered for duty during the Korean War and served in Korea more than one year with the 1st Marine Division.

Presiding at the Winona Civic Association meeting Thursday was President James Mauszycki. Thirty-six members attended. Committee reports were given. Two films were shown — a Chamber of Commerce film favoring a state sales tax and a telephone company film on communications and defense.

Car Allowance Boosted by Board

An upward adjustment in the automobile allowance provided one of its employees was approved Thursday by the Board of Municipal Secretary G. O. Harvey told commissioners that the department's chief operator, Robert Jensen, felt that the $25 monthly allowance he's now receiving for on-the-job travel wasn't adequate. Harvey pointed out that most city employees who receive car allowances are getting $30.

The board agreed that Jensen's allowance should be raised to $30 to put it in line with the going rate.

Harvey also was asked to obtain cost data on hydraulic pipe cutters. The board was told that the unit now in use was built for 4- to 12-inch pipe and that much of the pipe now being installed ranges from 14 to 20 inches, making the unit inadequate for many jobs.

Commissioners said that he should present information at the next meeting on costs of larger cutters.

Monthly bills were approved for payment.

Attending the meeting were Board President C. J. Borzyskowski, Commissioners C. S. Lukas, William M. Harvill, Ted Mahlik, Roy Burmeister and N. J. Fischer, Mayor R. K. Ellings and City Attorney George M. Robertson Jr.

UNDERWRITERS SAY:

City Water System 'Generally Good'

The Board of Municipal Works Thursday listened with satisfaction to an appraisal of the city's water supply and distribution system made by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

In its report on a 1962 survey of Winona's firefighting capabilities, the underwriters' inspection bureau found that as far as the municipal water system is concerned it's manned by "capable and experienced personnel" and condition of the system is "generally good."

THE UNDERWRITERS noted that substantial improvements had been made in the waterworks system since the last survey used in establishing a fire insurance rate structure for the city was made 11 years previously.

Among these were the 77 percent increase in well capacity realized through the development of the new wellfield at Westfield Golf Course and a 93 percent boost in high lift pumping capacity with the construction of the Bierce Street pumping station adjacent to the golf course.

The detailed report presented appraisals of both the waterworks system and the Winona fire department and was concluded with a list of recommendations for improvements in each department.

NONE OF the recommendations dealing with the water department was described as a high priority item requiring immediate remedy.

Average daily consumption of water during 1962, the underwriters reported, was 3,055 million gallons, an increase of 34 percent in the past decade, while maximum daily consumption was up 47 percent.

The report stated that an adequate water supply is available, the arterial distribution system to the principal business district is adequate and "is fairly good except in a few areas. Pressures are mainly good and well maintained."

Quantities of water available for fire protection are adequate in the principal business district although "considerably deficient in some industrial districts" and generally adequate — with minor exceptions — in institutional and residential districts. Storage facilities were described as generally well maintained.

Some strengthening of the distribution system by installation of mains and elimination of dead ends to the greatest degree possible was recommended.

ALSO RECOMMENDED was the installation of additional valves so the average length of a main which would be put out of service by single break would not exceed 500 feet in vital districts and 800 feet elsewhere.

The underwriters suggested that the valve inspection program be intensified and additional hydrants be installed in residential areas so that there would be one hydrant at each intersection and intermediate hydrants in long blocks.

La Crosse Driver Finds Parking Expensive Here

A La Crosse man came back to his car parked at 977 W. 5th St. at about 9:45 p.m. Thursday night and found that in addition to picking up his car, he had picked up three license violation citations.

George E. Riesing had parked his car at that point on West 5th Street earlier. While he was gone the wiring shorted out and started to burn and police came along.

They called the West End Fire Station at about 9:34 p.m. and then extinguished the fire themselves with a dry chemical extinguisher. When firemen arrived the fire was out.

Not finding the owner, police called to check who it was. When Riesing arrived, police issued the citations.

He was charged with displaying license plates issued to another vehicle, failure to display current vehicle registration and operating an unregistered vehicle.

In municipal court today, he forfeited $50 on the first charge, $50 on the second and $30 on the third. The total fine was $65. The wiring in his car also was badly damaged, said police.

8 of 10 Heart Victims Return To Job Again

Eight of every ten persons suffering a heart attack today are subsequently able to return to work, Winona Kiwanians were told Thursday.

The phrase "heart attack" is a loosely used term, Dr. Sidney O. Hughes told the group at Hotel Winona. It is a generalization covering such things as high blood pressure, strokes, rheumatic fever damage, and clotting in arteries which supply the heart muscle, or coronary occlusion.

TWO DRUGS have been developed to aid greatly in assisting the recovery of heart patients, Dr. Hughes said. One is an anti-coagulant, preventing formation of clots which choke blood vessels. The other is a substance which raises blood pressure, helping an attack-weakened heart maintain minimum pressure and flow of blood while it recuperates.

High blood pressure, present to some degree in one of every five persons, stems from a variety of factors, including nervousness, the physician said. It causes extensive damage to heart and blood vessels if it remains high for a long time, he said.

HARDENING OF the arteries, civilized man's contribution to the gallery of degenerative diseases, is unknown among some isolated races, Dr. Hughes said. There may be a link between this absence and the low-fat diets they have, the doctor said. However, he declined to indict the much-publicized cholesterol level as a clearly identifiable villain.

Diet seems to have some relation to heart and circulatory disease, Dr. Hughes said, but it is something to be watched rather than a tyrant by which to be enslaved. It will be another 25 to 30 years before medical men know for sure what the effects of cholesterol are in the blood stream, he said.

HEART-DAMAGING attacks of rheumatic fever often can be prevented by proper treatment of sore throats, he continued. But even when heart valves are weakened and do not work efficiently, surgery can correct the condition in many cases, Dr. Hughes said.

Many advances in treatment have been made possible by the Heart Fund, Dr. Hughes said.

The speaker was introduced by Dr. W. O. Finkelnburg in connection with the observation of National Heart Month.

Blair Festival Set Sept. 6-8

BLAIR, Wis. (Special) — Blair Commercial Club heard a guest speaker and set Sept. 6, 7 and 8 for this year's Egg Festival.

Sterling Gillingham of Tri-State Breeder's Cooperative, Westby, told the 33 members that his organization makes it possible for farmers to live better and spend more on main street.

He said Lyle Indrebo, Tri-State technician at Blair, had reported the breeding of 4,000 cows last year, and that calves thus produced will bring the farmer more money than other calves from average breeding.

Gillingham invited Blair businessmen to four Tri-State headquarters at Westby.

President Ardell Matson urged members to pay their dues to Secretary Frank Lovgren.

Laufenburger Objects to Andersen Move

Objection to confirmation of state office appointments nominated by Gov. Elmer L. Andersen was expressed by State Sen. Roger Laufenburger, Lewiston, in his maiden speech in the Senate this week.

Laufenburger and 20 fellow liberals argued against confirmation during a 90-minute debate prior to the Senate's approval of the appointments by a 42-24 vote Tuesday.

Laufenburger held that action on appointments should be deferred until the gubernatorial recount is settled — if we are to remain faithful to the concept of reasonable government. If a governor is to be an effective chief executive he must be free to surround himself with persons of his own choice.

The Winona County legislator asserted, "There is absolutely no urgency why these appointments must be confirmed now. Governor Andersen can utilize the talents of these people on an interim basis until the recount is determined and, if he should be the eventual winner, then they can be properly confirmed by the Senate."

If Karl Rolvåg should emerge as the winner, Laufenburger continued, "he should have the opportunity to name whomever he wishes to these important positions. If he must serve for four years surrounded by Andersen's appointments, he will be forced to serve with one hand tied behind his back."

Temperatures Returning to Near Normal

With the five-day weather prediction calling for near normal temperatures, Winona today looked forward to considerable cloudiness with occasional snow flurries tonight and Saturday.

A low temperature of 10-18 is predicted for tonight and a high of 22-30 for Saturday afternoon, Sunday, says the weatherman, will see little change.

THE EXTENDED forecast for this area said temperatures from Saturday through Wednesday would average near or a little below seasonal normals. Little change is seen over the weekend, warmer early next week and cooler again by midweek.

Normal daytime highs are 20-29 and nighttime lows zero to 10 above. Precipitation as brief rain or snow is expected early next week and averaging .10 of an inch or less with little or none in most sections.

The Winona temperature rose to 34 Thursday afternoon, dropped to 15 during the night and was 18 at noon today. A trace of snow and sleet fell about 8 p.m. Thursday and again early this morning a few snowflakes were noticed.

A YEAR AGO today Winona had a high of 19 and a low of -3. All-time high for Feb. 8 was 48 in 1925 and the low -26 in 1899. Mean temperature for the past 24 hours was 24. Normal for this day is 18.

Slightly cooler weather returned to Minnesota today with snow and a low of 5 at International Falls. It was 8 and cloudy at Duluth and 11 at Bemidji.

Rochester reported snow and a morning reading of 15 after a Thursday high of 24. La Crosse had cloudy weather and temperatures of 15 and 32.

WISCONSIN was dusted with light snow today as the state prepared for a cold weekend.

Light snow was falling in mid-morning at Eau Claire, Lone Rock, Madison and Milwaukee. Clouds covered the entire state. Temperatures early today ranged from 2 below at Marinette to 14 above at Racine. Green Bay reported 1 above, Park Falls 3, Wausau 4, Superior 8, Eau Claire and Madison 11, Lone Rock 13, Milwaukee and Beloit 16.

Racine reached a peak of 35 degrees Thursday. Madison and Green Bay had 31, Beloit and Lone Rock 29, Wausau 29, Eau Claire 28, Park Falls 24 and Superior 20.

MINIMUM temperatures are expected to be from 5 to 15 above zero tonight.

Palm Springs, Calif., set the national high of 92 degrees Thursday and Pellston, Mich., was the coldest, spot early today with 20 below zero.

It Happened Last Night New Ways to Lose Money

By EARL WILSON

LAS VEGAS — The Beautiful Wife and I flew out here to see if they've found any new ways for a guy to lose money — and they have. You can soon lose it twice as fast as you can now.

"It's because I'm just a dreamer," says Big Joe Wells, owner of the Thunderbird, who's built a racetrack for quarter-horses on his grounds — and will have a closed circuit TV arrangement so you can bet the horses on the outside while you're inside shooting dice or playing roulette or black jack.

"Losing money will be made easier for everybody," promised Joe. "For example, you could lie in bed and bet the races. I'll bet nowhere else in the world can a guy lie in bed and lose money on a race he's watching."

Big Joe's a part of tremendous drive to make it easier and easier for people to lose money. He's opening an oyster bar, and a ham radio station, and even a "Stage-door Delicatessen."

Famous Max Aspas of the Stage Delly in NY has given him a course in pastrami peddling.

It seems this has become one of the great boom cities now — just everybody was here. I observed several beautiful figures as Debbie Reynolds, Eddie Adams, and Connie Francis working here — and Debbie's ex-husband, Eddie Fisher, was at the Desert Inn — around with Eddie Adams, it appeared to me.

BUT "THE LEADER" — Frank Sinatra — with Dean Martin and Sammy Davis Jr. — was doing one of the great shows of all times at the Sands. . . and their little semi-private show in the Sands lounge afterward.

The B.W. and I were sitting a table away when I felt a small object nick me on the brow. It was an ice cube. "Yeah, they throw ice cubes, and they bust hats," little Jackie Heller, the host, said. They got up and performed briefly in the lounge — having already done a long show in the main room — and each one would jam his hand through a straw hat or a top hat as a climax. "You don't get to sing any more if you don't bust a hat," Jackie Heller said.

GROUCHO MARX saw my B.W. who remarked, "Groucho, I've lost 15 pounds."

"And you'll lose a lot more before you leave Las Vegas," Groucho said. He said the Sinatra-Martin-Davis show was so great, he went twice.

"But can you remember," he said, "when there was a sign backstage in theaters saying that if you used as much as the word 'hell' your act would be canceled?"

Yep, it was wild and wonderful — and Sammy Davis said, "It's been a pleasure to have participated up here in World War III."

Debbie Reynolds, closing after 7 weeks at the Riviera, to start a movie, "Mary, Mary," was wonderfully received. One of her impersonations was of Anna Magnani. Miss Magnani was shown kissing a picture, screaming at it "I love you, I love everything about you!" Debbie showed the audience the picture. It was a picture of Anna Magnani.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "My great aunt went till 94 without ever using glasses. Just went right through to the end drinking right out of the bottle." — Dean Martin.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Lipstick is kissproof; it's proof of what you've been up to." — Harold Coffin.

EARL'S PEARLS: Old gag writers never die — but their jokes do.

REMEMBERED QUOTES: Some of the new hairdos are definitely hair-don'ts.

A hunter arrived outside a farmhouse and woke up the farmer by pounding on the window. "It's a bad, cold night, and I would like to stay here for the night," pleaded the hunter. "O.K., stay there!" exclaimed the farmer, slamming the window. "That's earl, brother."

Marines Accept Hike Challenge

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — U.S. Marines are on the march to prove they are just as fit as the Leathernecks of Teddy Roosevelt's day.

From Florida to Arizona, it was "pick 'em up and lay 'em down" for some proud members of a proud corps who took a suggestion from President Kennedy as a challenge and set out to meet it.

The challenge: Hike 50 miles in 20 hours, double-time the last half-mile and run the final 20 yards.

The first to report mission accomplished was Lt. Col. James W. Tuma, 49, a Marine stationed at the U.S. Army Electronic Proving Ground at Ft. Huachuca, near Tucson, Ariz.

"I had a notion I could do it," he said after stepping off 50 miles in 13½ hours Wednesday.

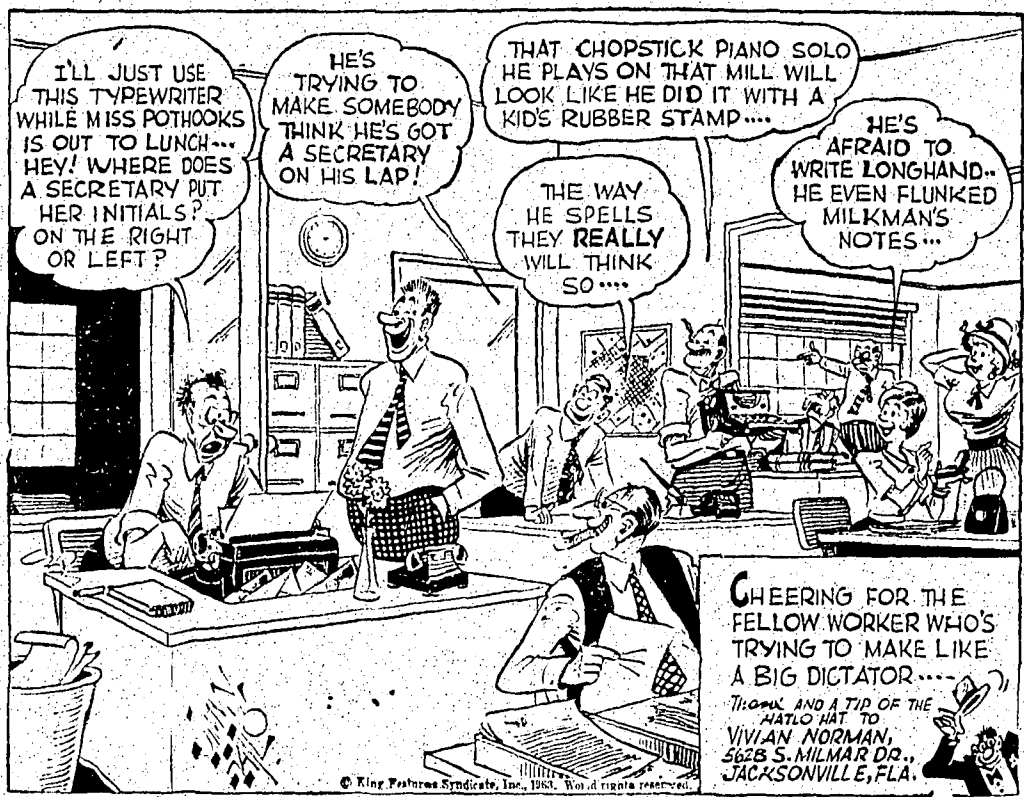

At Pensacola, Marine Sgt. Stanton E. Jordan ran the final 20 yards in his barracks before daybreak Thursday, completing a 50-mile hike in 17 hours.

Jordan, on his day off, hiked around a five-mile course at the naval air station where he is a drill instructor.

"I considered this a personal challenge," Jordan, 37, told reporter Pete Williams of the Pensacola News-Journal.

Record Crapple The crapple John Tourtellott, Fountain City, Wis., is holding in the above picture, is the largest one taken in recent years in this sector of the river to our knowledge. It tipped the scales at the Gingerbread Tavern at 2 pounds 14 ounces.

John caught it Thursday morning out of the lower end of Spring Lake near Buffalo City, Wis. He was using a common ice fishing rod, light line, and a medium-sized minnow. He had caught several other keepers before he pulled the big one up through the hole in the ice with some difficulty. It was nearly too wide for the hole.

Fishing has improved generally the last two days in most of the backwaters and sloughs and some nice messes of sunfish have been taken. With good weather predicted, this should be the big fishing weekend of the winter.

Walleye fishermen are plentiful below the dams and over other known deep walleye holes. The catch is fair. Warmer weather has opened up areas of water below the dams, but there are plenty of safe zones below the 300-foot line at most of the dams.

Catfish fishermen did fairly well on Lake Pepin right after the cold spell broke. Some Winona fishermen caught up to 50 pounds in one day's fishing. It is a matter of finding the fish. It is jig fishing, with a fairly heavy line and substantial rod.

Whiskers Must Be 'Bagged' On Space Trip

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Astronauts will have to bag their whiskers after shaving on a spaceship to prevent them from floating around the cabin and creating a fuzzy haze.

That's the word from Dr. Stanley C. White, a key scientist in the man-to-the-moon venture.

White says electric razors are being considered for use by astronauts because, for one thing, water will be at a premium. And he says, with no water for a man-sized rinse, dried soap might irritate an astronaut's skin.

And unless corralled, he told a news conference Wednesday at the Space Medicine Symposium at Brooks Air Force Base, the shaved-off whiskers — weightless, just like everything else aboard — would float around freely, creating at least a nuisance.

Other space buffs speculated that free-floating whiskers might even gum up the works in delicate electronic gear aboard the ship. Dr. White, of the space agency's manned spacecraft center, got into the celestial having discussion in relating plans for the personal hygiene and other care of astronauts who participate in the Gemini program.

That's the venture in which two-man crews will orbit the earth for periods up to two weeks as a prelude to the moon flight.

"Why shave at all on a space ship?" a newsman asked.

"Because the beard acts as a collector of debris and dead skin," said White, "they'll need to shave."

"But they must gather the whiskers and put them in some kind of a container."

Fatality Rate Up In Wisconsin

Wisconsin's mileage death rate for 1962 was 6.02 fatalities per 100 million miles of vehicle travel, an increase over the 5.82 rate in 1961.

To this death toll all counties in this area contributed.

Trempealeau County had 8 traffic deaths last year, one more than the previous year. Buffalo County had the same number in 1962-8, which was 4 fewer than the 12 counted in 1961.

Pepin County had 1 traffic death last year; Jackson, 10 in 1962 compared with 7 the previous year; Eau Claire County, 15 in 1962, three fewer than the previous year, and La Crosse County counted 14 traffic fatalities last year, four more than 1961.

It's Taboo for 6th Grade Formals

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Today my daughter has a long face because I refused to buy her a formal. She is 11 years old and in the sixth grade. A girl used to get her first formal for the Senior Prom when she was 17. Today they have proms for children in the sixth grade. I hate to see my daughter miss out on the fun with her friends, but we are a medium income family and can't afford formals and all the accessories for 11-year-olds. What is your opinion, Abby?

AVERAGE MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I'm told that the added expenses of extra-curricular events in the modern high school are becoming psychologically tough on haven't kids. So now it's "formals" in the sixth grade? I'm against 'em!

DEAR ABBY: I have a sick-in-the-head husband and his jealousy is driving me out of my mind. I am not allowed to speak to any man in our neighborhood or to any other man. Even relatives! If I even look at them he accuses me of all kinds of dirty things. I have never given him any reason to doubt me. I can't just pitch him because we have children. He tells me he is not sick in the head, but what else would you call it? What am I going to do? Now I am getting jealous. Jealous of women who have sane husbands.

Abby JEALOUS

DEAR JEALOUS: If you husband had a toothache, you would get him to a dentist by hook or crook, wouldn't you? Well, there are doctors who take care of "sick-in-the-head" people, too. What are you waiting for?

DEAR ABBY: I am a single woman of 28 who has never been married. I live alone and support myself. I recently met a very handsome man who fell for me fast. He talked of "our future together" and I thought I had finally found my man. I was completely bowled over last night when he asked me for a loan of $500. He's a salesman and told me how well he was doing. I asked him if he'd sign a note for it and he said if he had wanted to sign a note he could have gone to a bank. Now I have my doubts about him. Half of me wants to continue seeing him and half of me tells me to quit him. I am — SHATTERED

DEAR SHATTERED: Better to be temporarily "shattered" than permanently broke. Listen to the half with the brains in it. Romeo who mix moonlight and marriage are a poor risk.

CONFIDENTIAL TO TED: People are governed by the head. A kind heart is of little value in chess.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Lights Too Bright So Trucker Knocks 'Em Out With Bar

CHILTON, Wis. (AP) — The burly truck driver had enough. The car behind him kept its bright lights on despite repeated signals from the man in the truck.

So, he stopped the truck, blocking the highway, stepped out of the cab, clamped a pick-up an iron bar from the truck's tool box, and smashed out the car's bright headlights. Then he drove off.

Robert Ring of Green Bay, the motorist, proceeded along Highway 57 Wednesday night with his dim lights until he reached Chilton where he told his story to Calumet County Sheriff C. J. Kosmosky.

Kosmosky radioed to a deputy who stopped the trucker, but Ring declined to press charges.

Answer Children's Dental Questions

(This is the fifth in a series of questions and answers on dental health published by the Winona Daily News, in cooperation with the Winona County Dental Society, in observance of National Children's Dental Health Week Feb. 3 through 9.)

Why does my dentist insist on making X-rays of my teeth every two years?

X-ray pictures reveal to the dentist many defects of the teeth and surrounding tissues — such as small cavities, decay developing under fillings and bone loss in periodontal disease — which he cannot see when making a visual examination. The dentist needs to have the information about the hidden parts of the teeth and the soft tissues and bones of the mouth in order to detect and treat many oral conditions. Only x-ray can reveal this information.

Also dental x-ray examinations at regular intervals provide the dentist with a history of a patient's mouth, enabling him to watch for changes in teeth, bones or soft tissues that may be early indications of disease or other difficulty. Then the necessary treatment can be given at once, before the condition becomes serious.

Your own dentist is the best judge of how often x-rays should be taken of your teeth, since this depends on the conditions in your mouth.

What is meant by erosion of the teeth?

Erosion is a decalcification (dissolving) of the enamel of the teeth. It occurs most frequently at the gum line.

There is considerable evidence that suggests erosion is a result of the action of acids. Drinking lemon juice or other highly acid beverages frequently can result in erosion. Once the acid etches the tooth surface, toothbrushing easily removes the softened tissue.

As preventive measures dentists usually recommend limiting the amount of strongly acid foods and beverages consumed, proper toothbrushing and regular dental check-ups. In some cases, it may be necessary for the dentist to restore the eroded area with a filling or a crown.

What is meant by abrasion of teeth?

Abrasion is a wearing away of the teeth primarily as the result of mechanical action. Pipe smokers' teeth often are abraded in the area where the stem of the pipe is held. Carpenters, shoemakers and upholsterers frequently hold nails between their teeth. This habit can cause notches in the cutting edges of the teeth. Holding pins or bobby pins between the teeth can cause similar damage.

There also is some evidence that improper brushing of the teeth may cause abrasion, usually of the outer surfaces, near the gum line.

To prevent abrasion, one need only identify and avoid the habits that may lead to this problem.

Out of nearly $99 billion that consumers spent for food and clothing in 1960, about 35 percent went to farmers and 65 percent went for marketing services.

NASON ON EDUCATION

Business Careers Call for Talent

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D., Professor of Education, University of Southern California

Dear Dr. Nason:

I would suggest that businessmen get to work on presenting business as a desirable occupation. Should high school counselors steer all good students toward the professions and the less able toward business?

M.F., Webster Grove, Mo.

Answer:

High school counselors should encourage interested and able students to make a profession of business.

Education in this field is undergoing major changes. The findings of social sciences, modern math, statistics, and computer sciences are being applied to business problems. The Ford Foundation has aided these changes with large grants of money.

Counselors should make students aware of the new opportunities in this area.

Mondovi Church To Call Pastor

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special)—The name of Trinity Lutheran Church will be changed to Zion Lutheran Church, church members agreed at their recent annual meeting.

The church had been joined with Trinity Church, Gilmanston and with St. Paul Modena Lutheran Church. The Rev. Morris Kirchoff has served as interim pastor at the three churches since the death of Rev. A. G. Hemer.

Zion Lutheran was the original name of the church before it joined with the other two. The congregation has sent out a call for a pastor to serve the church.

Trinity at Gilmanston and St. Paul at Modena will continue as a yoke church and will call a pastor to serve their congregations.

The Rev. W. Handrich organized Zion Lutheran and St. Paul Lutheran in 1902. In 1904 he organized a congregation at Gilmanston and in 1905 the churches joined taking the name of Trinity Lutheran Church.

Officers elected at the meeting include president, Edward Linse; elders, Rufus Machmeier, Bervai Deutscher and Milo Anderson; trustees, Gordon Brion, LaVern Crapser and Otto Bollinger; recording secretary, Ronald Kovitz; financial secretary, Galen Aase; treasurer, Allen Duncanson, and financial committee, Clarence Aase, LaVern Anderson, Willard Graese, Dottie Kent, Donald Roetter and Orlan Stamm.

Houston Chamber

HOUSTON, Minn. (Special)—The Houston Chamber of Commerce will be entertained at dinner at the Community Room Monday at 6:30 p.m. by F. G. Iverson, oldest active businessman in Houston and oldest member of the chamber. Iverson has been in the lumber business here more than 50 years. At 82, he still does his own estimates and architectural work, even climbing to the roofs to find where repairs are needed. Music Mothers will serve the dinner.

Answer: I heartily agree with your approval of honors classes and your decision to have your daughter remain in them, even though this means foregoing honor society because of the inequities in the grading system used. The admissions officers of many colleges and universities will take into consideration the fact that her grades were earned in honors classes. Certainly her preparation for college will be more adequate.

Let's Get Growing

By A. F. SHIRA

Dahlias

One day last week we were talking with a lady who is a very proficient grower of flowers, not specializing in any particular variety, as we recalled, but a lover of all.

As the conversation progressed, it became evident that she had become greatly interested in dahlias and had exhibited some of them at several flower shows the past season. We were interested in this as it has seemed to us that the growing of dahlias has been on the increase during the past few years.

Strange as it may seem, the dahlia was looked upon some years ago as a coarse, ungainly plant somewhat on a par with the zinnia and about as popular. It seems to have been grown more by men than by the women in the earlier days of its popularity.

I recall visiting a farm home years ago where the feeding of beef cattle was a major project. However, instead of showing me his sleek animals in the feed lot, the farmer could hardly wait until he had showed me his dahlias, tall single stemmed plants carefully staked and each tipped with a large bloom. Then, again, my first trout fishing trip in Minnesota was taken in the company of a river steamboat pilot. Until we arrived at the trout stream, about all he could talk about were his dahlias.

DAHLIAS supply the gardener with almost anything desired in size, form and color. The flowers range in size from huge exhibition blooms of dinner plate dimensions. The plants that are trained to grow large exhibition blooms on single stems may reach a height of 6 feet, or more. On the other hand some of the smaller varieties make low compact plants that can be used for edging a border, or a walk.

In the creation of new varieties the flower arranger has not been overlooked. The singles, orchid flowering types, and the small pompons are now being used extensively in artistic floral compositions.

Dahlias are very valuable as cut flowers and last well indoors. A number of plants of the smaller types in the border, in front of the shrubs, or even in the vegetable garden will supply ample quantities of cut flowers from July until frost. They can be used to complement the mums as autumn flowers. In varying sizes, forms of blossoms and range of colors, the dahlias are equaled by few plants.

THE NEWER varieties of dahlias change so rapidly and intermingle so closely with previous types that their classification has been greatly confused. The American Dahlia Society has recognized something like 15 types of dahlias. For most of these types there are three size groups each, large, medium and miniature, the latter with flowers under 4 inches in diameter. Unless the gardener is a dahlia fancier, some types under the classification will be of little interest.

The general nursery catalogs usually list about four or five types from which the gardener has a choice of a number of varieties under each type. These types generally include the cactus, ball, decorative and pompons, along with the dwarf type which refers to the size of the plant only.

IN REGARD to colors, there are 13 that are recognized by the society. They range from white, yellow, red, lavender, purple, through various blends and bicolors.

Dahlia tubers should be dug in the fall and stored indoors for the winter in the basement, or other cool place, where they will not freeze. In the spring the tubers are separated and planted outdoors again.

Since dahlias increase the number of tubers each year, an initial investment may be returned many times over.

74.5% vote Valiant best in nationwide consumer survey

"Like to test-drive the 1963 compacts?" That's what Nationwide Consumer Testing Institute—a completely independent company—recently asked 3600 typical drivers in 18 cities across the country.

The people were asked to test-drive two compacts. Some picked Corvair and Valiant. Some picked Falcon and Valiant. Some wanted to try Rambler or Chevy II. The course included all kinds of normal driving.

Drivers circled the course twice (once in each car) with N.C.T.I.'s trained interviewers firing questions all the way. Which of these cars do you prefer for acceleration? Ride? Steering? Styling? Finally, which is the best all-around value?

The surprising results:

Compact preference	Rambler	Valiant	Chevy II	Valiant	Corvair	Valiant	Falcon	Valiant	Average four compacts	Valiant
Interior styling	25%	75%	30%	70%	27%	73%	44%	56%	33%	67%
Exterior styling	24	76	48	52	39	61	41	59	38	62
Quality of workmanship	38	62	40	60	36	64	44	56	40	60
Acceleration	17	83	48	52	21	79	25	75	28	72
Passing power	17	83	45	55	21	79	24	76	27	73
Ride	35	65	56	44	30	70	44	56	41	59
Steering	26	74	31	69	37	63	29	71	31	69
Best ALL-AROUND VALUE	17	83	34	66	24	76	27	73	25.5	74.5%

Two things were not tested—price and warranty. But remember that Valiant is just about the lowest-priced car made in the U.S.A. today. And that Valiant carries America's longest and best new-car warranty—5 years or 50,000 miles. Ask your Plymouth-Valiant Dealer for your own independent test drive in The New Valiant.

* Your Authorized Plymouth-Valiant Dealer's Warranty against defects in material and workmanship on 1963 cars has been expanded to include parts replacement or repair, without charge for required parts and labor, for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, on the engine block, head and internal parts, transmission (excluding manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints (excluding dust covers), rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings, provided the vehicle has been serviced at reasonable intervals according to the Plymouth-Valiant Certified Car Care schedule.

Best all-around compact anybody has come up with yet...VALIANT!

In Dallas, 74% voted Valiant best value.

In Syracuse, 78% voted Valiant best value.

In Los Angeles, 77% voted Valiant best value.

Extreme Cold Hurts Upper Midwest Economy

WINTER MONTHS usually mark a seasonal low point in Upper Midwest business activity and this year should prove no exception, says the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis.

The extreme cold of recent weeks could result in an even more noticeable seasonal variation, as outside work has been curtailed as much as possible during an unusually long period of subzero weather. In spite of the cold, however, shoppers have increased their purchases a moderate amount from year ago levels. The number and the dollar volume of checks cleared through the Federal Reserve Bank during January were up substantially, too, from a year ago, indicating a continued high level of financial activity.

PERSONAL INCOMES in the area improved through the end of 1962 to provide a favorable base for economic activity. December personal incomes were up an estimated 8.3 percent from a year earlier, with farmers' net income showing a particularly strong trend. Wages and salaries declined slightly from November, but were up more than 7 percent from December 1961.

In recent weeks, city banks noted a slackening in the rate of time deposit growth, while the upward trend continued strong in the country banks. A substantial improvement in the rate of demand deposit growth occurred at both city and country banks during the 4-week period ending at mid-January. Member bank borrowings at the Federal Reserve Bank have been almost nil in recent weeks.

THE MOST recently available series of economic indicators and particularly the favorable farm income showings suggest a continuing relatively strong position in the district's economy despite the seasonal blues frequently prevailing at this time of the year, the bank concluded.

Racial Bar to Equal Opportunity Weakening

THERE ARE two of them now. Harvey Gantt is established as a student at Clemson College in South Carolina. James Meredith has returned for another semester at the University of Mississippi.

No one can say to what extent James Meredith at Ole Miss paved the way, or at least made the way easier, for Harvey Gantt at Clemson. Doubtless Meredith's experience had some effect on that of Gantt. Yet the more important fact is that the people of South Carolina themselves made possible the quiet entry into Clemson by rallying behind the cause of law and order as opposed to the kind of extralegal resistance that turned Oxford, Miss., into a caldron of hate.

THE ORDEAL of the Negro in his search for equality as a citizen has a long course to run. It has been shortened, however, by Meredith and Gantt — and by others more or less quietly admitted to colleges elsewhere in the South. The racial bar to equal opportunity in education is still strong, but it is weakening.

Robert Frost, Above All, a Poet

THE POPULAR image of Robert Frost is that of an old man with a leprechaun face and wispy white hair — an old man who somehow rose above being a mere poet and became a confidant of the President. People remember him reading his poem at the inauguration; they remember some of his humorously shrewd remarks in public since then; they remind one another with relish that he twitted the Russians by reciting for them his poem that begins, "Something there is that doesn't love a wall..."

Though this popular image is not untrue, it is limited. You cannot find the essence of an old man in how he appeared and what he said during the last couple of years of a long, full life. Robert Frost was, above all, a poet. What he had to say to the world was said, in the main, through his deceptively simple art during the course of almost half a century.

In his tribute to the poet, President Kennedy echoed the beautiful lines that have come to be so well known:

"The woods are lovely, dark and deep.
But I have promises to keep,
And miles to go before I sleep..."

MORE THAN one meaning can be found in the poem of which those words form the core. But now those lines, written long ago, have a special meaning relative to their creator. He kept his promises to life. He left for us a legacy of insight, and of pleasure in the way he illuminated what he saw. And now he sleeps.

HOW DO YOU STAND, SIR?

Post-Holiday Sales Technique

By SEN. BARRY GOLDWATER

When you read the President's budget message for fiscal 1964, you begin to get the idea that the New Frontier has been infected with the post-holiday sales technique in the presentation of figures.

Perhaps this is just my outlook, because I have spent so many years in the retail sales business.

For example, in my business, when you have a sales item upon which you hope to make approximately $100, you offer it for a price of $98.80. If the price goal is $12 on some other item, you mark it $11.90. And so it goes. This is good sales psychology. Time and again, a buyer who won't consider a $100 purchase will be attracted by a slightly lower price which doesn't involve three digits before the decimal.

Now take the President's budget. For many weeks, fiscal experts and financial writers have been anticipating a $100-billion federal budget. But when the budget was finally presented, the total is an estimated $98.8 billion. Of course, the President knows and the Congress knows that what we have been asked to consider for fiscal 1964 is a $100-billion budget.

The figure presented, however, doesn't look quite that bad. It almost seems as though the White House feels by shaving the total a little below $100 billion the reality of the most stupendous spending program in the history of the nation—in peace or war—will somehow be lost on the American taxpayer.

BY THE same token, the President neatly estimated the federal deficit for fiscal 1964 at $11.9 billion—almost as though he were afraid of the round figure of $12 billion. And if the sales psychology I mentioned earlier is applicable to federal finance, perhaps the American people will feel more ready to buy a deficit of $11.9 billion than they would a deficit of $12 billion.

But, by and large, I don't think the New Frontier will gain much from this technique. The reason is that the price is too high to begin with. No matter how the framers of the last federal budget shave their figures, the totals are still frightening to Americans who are accustomed to balancing their own family budgets and who realize the perils of spending more than they earn.

Actually, the discouraging thing about the new budget is that the President and his advisors have now discarded any pretense of striving for a balanced national budget, either now or in the foreseeable future.

IN THE FISCAL 1963 budget, we at least were given to believe that the President hoped for a balance. The lip-service his message gave to the possibility of a slight surplus in that period was a little encouraging, because it held forth the hope that the President hadn't finally junked the precepts of sound fiscal policy.

But this budget indicates the President has embraced the radical economic theory that deficit-financing is essential to the economy rather than the thing that is feeding the fires of inflation and calling into serious question the soundness of the American dollar.

In fact, the White House presented a brief summary of the 1964 budget which calls attention to the projected deficit and then states:

"IN THE PRESENT state of our economy, this deficit does not raise the threat of inflation. Government deficits could indeed contribute to inflationary pressures if they were incurred during a period of full employment, when the economy was already producing at full capacity. The nation's current problem, however, is not that it is overstraining its productive capacity, but that capable workers and efficient factories are idle for want of markets."

In other words, deficit financing is perfectly safe so long as we have unemployment and a few idle factories. This is the sheerest kind of economic nonsense.

How do you stand, sir?

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Elks' Segregation Policy Makes Politicians Scary

By JACK ANDERSON

(Editor's Note: White Drew Pearson is out of Washington. The Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — John T. Allen of Arlington, Va., long a devoted and dutiful Elk, has been tangling horns with his brother Elks over an issue that could make the great fraternal organization the battleground in the segregation fight.

Allen dashed off a letter to the Elks magazine last year, protesting against segregation in their benevolent and protective order.

"Despite all our fancy talk and our many good deeds," he wrote, "we are not American in a true sense; we are not democratic; and we are not a symbol of equality and freedom. We are none of these things so long as the rules of our order, without even the grace of local option, exclude from its membership all persons who are not of the Caucasian race."

AFTER the magazine refused to print his letter, Allen appealed all the way to the grand lodge, but merely got the run-around. Now he is going outside the order with his protest.

Note—Many politicians may get uncomfortable about their membership in any fraternal organization that comes under attack for segregation. Among those who belong to the Elks are Senators Cannon of Nevada, Case of New Jersey, Keating of New York, Kuchel of California, Long of Missouri, and Miller of Iowa.

Despite no-trespassing signs all over the place and strict orders to workmen to keep their mouths shut, it has now leaked out that non-union workers dug the foundation and laid the fireplace for the house Jackie is building on Rattlesnake Mountain in the Virginia Hunt Country.

THE FIRST lady is overseeing the construction of the fieldstone-and-succo presidential retreat personally, often drives over to the job in her white station wagon.

The use of scab labor, however, was the doing of the subcontractor, the Nelson Construction Co., of Warrenton, Va., which has now rounded up union carpenters to finish the job. Though a non-union contractor, the company abruptly changed its hiring habits to avoid embarrassing the President.

New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller had a confidential brush with the Internal Revenue Service recently which almost shook the Rockefeller Foundation loose from its snug tax-exempt moorings.

Back in 1960, when he first started flitting with presidential delegates, Rocky needed research-in-depth studies to support his stand on political issues. To do his homework, he couldn't resist using the vast facilities of the Rockefeller Foundation.

BUT SOME political sport brought this to the attention of internal revenue, which has strict rules against tax-exempt foundations participating in politics. For a while, the giant Rockefeller Foundation faced real trouble. It was let off the hook, however, after Rocky promised never to use the foundation for political research again.

As part of a shadowy battle of the "bugs," President Kennedy's private office is now guarded 24 hours a day to make sure no red agent tries to slip an electronic eavesdropper under his desk.

The entire White House area is also carefully checked for planted microphones and taped telephones. The air itself is swept with detection devices for invisible beams, such as the Russians are known to have used to trigger a mine they had planted in the back of the eagle in the American seal at our Moscow embassy.

The "de-bugging" sometimes goes on during secret conferences. For our counter-intelligence boys discovered some mikes can be activated only by conversation. For weeks, they missed six such mikes planted in the cement of a basement conference room at NATO headquarters in Paris. They had made the mistake of checking the room while it was not in use.

ARKANSAS SEN. William Fulbright received an unusual but straightforward request the other day from a ten-year-old boy in Fort Smith, Ark. In childish handwriting, he asked for a copy of the law against whipping a person with a belt.

The second sentence modified the request and asked for two copies of the law, one for himself and one for his father. Another childish plea, signed "an avid horse lover," was addressed to Indiana Sen. Vance Hartke. The child, having read many stories of "horses which have been saved from dog food," wanted to know the location of horse meat packing plants in the United States. He explained: "I would like to know where I can purchase a horse which has never had a chance in life."

New Mexico Senator Clint Anderson received two letters the same day last week, one accusing him of being a "yes man" for the New Frontier, the other congratulating him for not being a "rubber stamp" for the Kennedy administration. Anderson answered the first letter by sending the writer a copy of the second.

THE PENTAGON'S clock-and-dagger department has concluded that Sen. Ken Keating, the white-haired New York Republican, is getting his Cuban intelligence from labor union sources with pipelines inside Cuba. Since the shooing-down of a U-2 at the height of the Cuban tension, not a shot has been fired at our spy planes which have been making photographic sweeps over Cuba every day. It can be stated on the highest authority that if another should be downed, American warplanes will retaliate.

The Justice Department is preparing charges against Fidel Castro's 26th of July movement, which is registered in this country as a foreign agency but allegedly hasn't reported its full activities. Its agents skipped off to Havana, however, before they could be served with subpoenas.

THEFT OF A COPY

NEW YORK (AP) — A lot of people offered help when the copy of a famous Rembrandt painting was stolen from among the stage props of the Broadway comedy "Lord Pango."

A news item about theft of the picture — "Aristotle Contemplating the Bust of Homer" — drew response from distant points. The show management said some people offered to lend copies of the painting without charge — but one man in Verdun, France, sent a cable saying he would sell a copy, for $700. A duplicate, however, was made on overnight rush order for $1,500.

TODAY IN NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Older Slogans Urged for GOP

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — If the Republican party really wishes to defeat President Kennedy for re-election in 1964, maybe all that needs to be done is to take a page out of the campaign history of the Democrats.

Perhaps plagiarism isn't satisfying — for most politicians like to be original — but a declaration of the Democratic party in one presidential campaign was so successful that its argument not only defeated the incumbent administration but it also won the electoral votes of nearly every state in the union.

"Turn the spendthrifts out!" was the battle cry in 1932. "Democrats pledge at least 25 per cent reduction in expenses" was the headline in protest against deficit spending. These slogans were reproduced in a d v e r t i s i n g space in the new papers throughout the land.

Someone has just sent to this correspondent a faded but readable copy of that particular ad, which was sponsored by the Democratic National Campaign Committee and which helped to win the presidential election for Franklin D. Roosevelt, governor of New York, against President Hoover.

All one has to do is to substitute the name of the incumbent and multiply the deficit figures of those days by two or three times to bring them up to date. A change of wording is also necessary to remind readers that it is the Democratic party which obtained majority control for the years from 1934 through 1964.

The pronouncement of 1932 started with this headline: "The public pays your taxes and Republican extravagance." It then went on to say: "When you groan under the burden of taxes: Remember that the deficit at the end of the last two years of Hooverism is around $4 billion—the greatest in peace time history."

"REMEMBER that this huge deficit was not born overnight but the performances of the past two years have wiped out previous gains in the way of reducing our national debt and have brought it to the astounding total of $20 billion."

"Remember that though Republicans preached economy in 1920 and 1924, and promised highest efficiency at lowest cost in 1928, government bills have mounted steadily."

"Remember that although it was clear that our chief source of revenue, income taxes, would drop seriously and retrenchment was the watchword in every home and business, government spending kept merrily on at $5 million a day more than income."

"Remember that the 71st Congress with a big Republican majority was in session from December 1930 until March 1931. Remember that a balanced budget as well as reconstruction plans had to await a Democratic majority in the House where all revenue measures must originate."

"REMEMBER that Republican leadership has brought us to the verge of bankruptcy. Democrats pledge at least 25 per cent reduction in expenses."

"Turn the spendthrifts out! Put responsible government in—elect Roosevelt and Garner. Issued by Democratic National Campaign Committee."

But this wasn't just a piece of Madison Avenue advertising literature. For the Democratic platform, which was adopted at its national convention in Chicago in June 1932, read in part as follows:

"We favor maintenance of the national credit by a federal budget annually balanced on the basis of accurate executive estimates with increased revenues, raised by a system of taxation levied on the principle of ability to pay."

"We advocate an immediate and drastic reduction of governmental expenditures by abolishing useless commissions and offices, consolidating departments and bureaus, and eliminating extravagance, to accomplish a saving of not less than 25 per cent in the cost of the federal government, and we call upon the Democratic party in the states to make a zealous effort to achieve a proportionate result."

BUT THE WINNING candidate, immediately on taking office, abandoned this whole concept. Failure to cooperate with the outgoing administration between election day in November 1932 and inauguration day, March 4, 1933, created confusion and fear.

Now it is true that it is unwise for a government to continue operating with a large deficit indefinitely. However, the administration hopes, with good reason, that the deficit would disappear in a few years because actual tax revenues will have increased even with a decrease in the tax rate. This would be true when nation's income rises after the boost given by the tax cut.

Thus it appears that a deficit accompanying a tax cut is not only not harmful but even necessary if a tax cut is to bring satisfactory results.

Is Westfield Going to Remain Where It Is?

To the Editor:

I see they are going to build a new clubhouse on the Westfield Golf Course. How silly, unless they know for sure they are going to stay there.

To lengthen or plan 18 holes you must first have acreage—at least 80 to 100 acres. I know I have not a thing to do with this, but I am most interested and hate to see them go the wrong way about same.

What about Prairie Island or the sand and gravel pit area? There must be some place near for a good golf course. What about some of the property near the airport? Eighteen holes on 40 acres impossible — for a pitching and putting course, yes.

Ben Knight
Largo, Florida

(Editor's Note: Ben Knight, professional at the Winona Country Club for more than 30 years, now retired and living in Florida, laid out the Westfield course when it was established in 1923 as the Winona Public Golf Club, as well as more than a score of other golf courses in Southwestern Wisconsin.)

Deficit Must Accompany Tax Cut

To the Editor:

There seems to be little disagreement that a tax cut would give our economy a boost to set it growing at a more desirable rate. However, there have been many bitter words on whether government spending should be slashed along with any tax cut to avoid a large deficit (government spending greater than government revenue). Now just how harmful can a deficit be to our economy? Can it be inflationary?

If we were at full employment there could be no doubt that a deficit would be inflationary because the government would be bidding away from the public goods and services that were fully utilized in the private market. This would necessarily force prices up and result in inflation.

However, with almost five percent of our labor force unemployed and with large amounts of excess capacity in our industries, we are clearly not at full employment. Now if the government were to decrease its expenditures along with a tax cut, it means the government would be demanding fewer goods and services. This would result in still more unemployment and even more excess capacity in our factories. Before a tax cut could give our economy a boost, it would first have to increase private spending to erase the slack caused by decreased government spending. Only after this could we begin to move closer to full employment than we are now. Can any reasonable tax cut give our economy such a "double" push? This appears doubtful to me.

Now it is true that it is unwise for a government to continue operating with a large deficit indefinitely. However, the administration hopes, with good reason, that the deficit would disappear in a few years because actual tax revenues will have increased even with a decrease in the tax rate. This would be true when nation's income rises after the boost given by the tax cut.

Thus it appears that a deficit accompanying a tax cut is not only not harmful but even necessary if a tax cut is to bring satisfactory results.

RELIGIOUS EMPHASIS WEEK... Professor John E. Burkhardt, McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago, talks with four students at Winona State College after concluding his series of talks there Wednesday during Religious Emphasis Week.

Education Aim Of YMCA Students Service Program

The major purpose of the YMCA Student Service aid in foreign countries is to become acquainted with the economic and educational life of the people, said Harold Rudolph as he spoke to the fathers and sons of Central Lutheran Church at their annual banquet Wednesday night.

Rudolph, from Milwaukee and executive secretary of the YMCA Student Service, last summer directed 23 college students on a work seminar in various schools and communities in South America.

The group worked with the people on varied welfare projects.

They joined with 40 Peruvians in five major projects at Lima, Peru. These involved the building of playgrounds, installation of showers and lavatories in a school, assisting in the construction of a six-room school building, setting up a library and assisting in building a library and assisting in building a shower and locker room in a YMCA area.

Rudolph said that even Communist students gave their assistance and felt that this had been their finest impression of the U.S.

The students visited Chile, Argentina, Uruguay, Brazil and Venezuela. Rudolph illustrated his talk with slides.

Edwin Buck, president of the men's organization, was toastmaster. Invocation was given by the Rev. W. C. Friesath, assistant pastor. Victor Bohnen welcomed the sons and Leslie Bohnen welcomed the fathers. Arnold Steneheim led the song fest. The pastor, Dr. L. E. Brynestad, gave the benediction.

Students Told Church Is Inevitable

"Life has meaning," said Professor John E. Burkhardt, as he concluded his series of three talks at Winona State College Wednesday night during Religious Emphasis Week.

"The meaning of life is personal and the life is found in the community with other persons. For the Christian this means the church is inevitable. It is a social fact of his existence."

Burkhardt said the need for students today is they should be rebels within the church, against the church, for the sake of the church.

In emphasizing the responsibility of the student in church, Burkhardt said that the contemporary student is critical of the church. This is good, he pointed out, but a way to be a responsible critic is to be a rebel within the church, not without.

The professor is from McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago.

A BOVINE BILLBOARD — This billboard should be ideal to call attention to the National Future Farmers of America Week, Feb. 16-23. At least that's what these blue-jacketed leaders of Minnesota's FFA association told University of Minnesota dairy department officials when they asked to "borrow" a cow. Then they called on the state dairy industry's pretty Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Kathy Hjelle, Argyle, to help out with the artwork done with harmless nontoxic paint.

"Udderly magnificent," was the pronouncement of the young farmers-to-be who are, from left, Duane Leach, Winnebago, national FFA vice president; Dan Von Bank, Jordan, state FFA reporter; and Ron Gerhardt, Faribault, state FFA president. This year's FFA Week marks the 33rd anniversary of the Minnesota association which includes 13,500 members in 285 chapters.

Fillmore Co. Feed Grain Signup Started

PRESTON, Minn. — Farmers who grew corn, grain sorghum or barley on their farms in 1959 or 1960 can sign up now to participate in the 1963 feed grain program, Elay Johnson, chairman of the Fillmore County ASC committee, said.

The signup period for the voluntary feed grain program will continue through March 31. The same signup period applies to farmers in spring-wheat areas who want to take part in the 1963 wheat stabilization program. The program sign-up for winter wheat ended Dec. 14.

The chairman listed the following principal features of the 1963 feed grain program: The program is voluntary; it applies to corn, grain sorghum and barley, for which crops the base acreages are added together into one "feed grain base" for the farm; program participants must take at least 20 percent of the total base area of production and devote such acres to a conservation use.

A program participant must not exceed the feed grain base for any other farm in which he has an interest in the feed grain crops; diversion payments will be made to participants for shifting acreage from production into conservation.

Price support payments (18 cents a bushel for corn, 14 cents for barley, and 16 cents for grain sorghum) will be made to program participants on the normal production of the 1963 feed grain acreage, no matter what use is made of the grain, and regular price-support loans and purchase agreements on the three feed grains will be available only to participants, and they will be available on the entire 1963 production of the three feed grains.

Farm Compared With Business

PLAINVIEW, Minn. (Special) — Dr. James L. App, extension economist in farm management at the University of Minnesota, was the guest speaker at the third annual "Plainview farmers-businessmen" banquet.

The banquet was held at Plainview Community School cafeteria Tuesday evening. Lester Christison was toastmaster.

App, discussing "Is the Farmer a Businessman?" said, "Farming is definitely becoming a business and we are seeing more and more large farms and fewer small ones."

He pointed out that in a five-year trend from 1954 to 1959, expenditures by farmers on machinery, fertilizers, feeds, seeds and gas had increased greatly.

"Our farms must be well managed and have efficient operation if the farmer is to survive, because costs are increasing every year," he said.

Local talent presented the entertainment for the banquet. A trumpet trio and a tenor saxophone trio were directed by David Kallma.

The banquet was sponsored by the Plainview vocational agriculture department, Wabasha County Extension Service and Pedco agriculture committee, of which Christison is chairman.

Buffalo Co. Holstein Breeders Meet Feb. 20

SOME FARMERS MISINFORMED

Feed Grain Signup Starts at '62 Pace

LEWISTON, Minn. — Signup in the 1963 feed grain program began Tuesday in Winona County and is proceeding thus far at about the same pace as in 1962, says Marvin Wiskow, chairman of the county ASC committee.

The committee is concerned, said Wiskow, that some farmers may decide not to participate in 1963 on the basis of the per acre payment rates for their farms received in the mail.

THESE NOTICES do not inform the farmer of what he will receive from the direct payment or "price support payment," should he enter his farm in the program in 1963. This direct payment is the big change in the program this year and it can make a vast difference in the amount of payment he will receive.

It is arrived at by multiplying the normal yield per acre set for his farm times 18 cents, times his actual acres planted to corn. On an average farm in the county, this represents an additional payment of $11.88 per acre for each acre of corn he grows with in his permitted acreage, regardless of the yield his 1963 crop produces.

In a typical case of an average farm with a 50-acre corn base acreage, in which the farmer diversifies 20 percent or 10 acres, the diversion payment would be $155.80, but the direct payment would provide a return of $475.20, making a total net return of $631 on the 10 acres diverted.

The direct payment provides an equalizing factor between the cash crop producer and the feeder who feeds most or all of the corn he produces, since the payment is made regardless of the use made of the corn. The cash crop grower earns in addition the privilege of taking a commodity loan at $1 per bushel on all the corn he produces on his acreage permitted for corn.

NO FARMER, says Wiskow, should decide against entering the feed grain program this year until he has stopped at the county office and receives a thorough explanation of what this program can do for him on his farm. Too many farmers, he said, have received misinformation via the rumor-mongering of the use made of the program might impose on those who sign up.

Those who investigate are sometimes surprised not only at the size of the payments they can expect, but find that they can produce corn within reasonable limits on other farms in which they have an interest. They will have an opportunity to adjust their acreage after the land has been measured, should they be found in excess on corn planted, or short of the required acreage diverted, Wiskow concluded.

A new group of oilseed crops may become popular in Minnesota, says R. G. Robinson, University of Minnesota agronomist. He points out sunflower, oilseed rape, crambe and mustard as good possibilities for expanded use in the state when markets become available.

He doubts the practicality of safflower, castorbean, sesame and ironwood for this region though. More than 35 potential oilseed crops from states and nations have been tested at the university, he says.

Interest in oilseed crops in Minnesota has risen during the past two years, partly because the USDA allowed certain ones to be planted on diverted wheat and feed grain acres.

Proper housing for sows is too often neglected as a phase of good swine management. This is the conclusion of Clyde Barth, farm engineer at the University of Wisconsin. Barth feels that the expected profit from pigs farrowed and saved depends to a great extent on the care and attention given sows during breeding and gestation periods.

He points out that in Wisconsin it's essential that sows and gilts being raised as replacements have a dry, draft-free, bedded area for winter: A 15 to 20 square foot area per sow is sufficient, he says.

He would also provide a small hard surface area nearby where the sows can be fed and watered. Also a heated automatic waterer is a big labor saver during cold weather, says Barth. He adds that in the summer the hogs need shade. Often a simple housing unit with doors on two sides is fine, the sides can be closed for winter use and opened for summer conditions. The small portable houses found on many farms are satisfactory, he says.

Perfect Setting for Upset

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

On paper, it shapes up as a hotbed weekend in Minnesota college basketball — a perfect setting for some upsets.

Trying to brew the strongest medicine in the upset kettle will be Whitey Skoog and his Gustavus Warriors who entertain Augsburg, the nation's 10th ranked small college team, sailing along on a perfect 17-0 season.

The Augsburg-Gustie game Saturday night will mark another attempt by Ernie Anderson's Minneapolis team to write a page in Minnesota college basketball history — an undefeated season. They've got six games to go in the MIAC plus two outside games.

A pair of Midwest Conference game leads off the action tonight, Coe at St. Olaf and Beloit at Carleton.

Saturday night finds the second place MIAC teams taking on lower rungs foes. Minnesota Duluth is at Concordia while St. Thomas is at Hamline. Duluth and St. Thomas are 7-2 behind Augsburg's 10-0 mark.

Macalester is at St. Mary's to complete Saturday's MIAC slate.

In the Northern States Conference, Wis., at Mankato, Beloit at St. Olaf, Coe at Carleton, Beloit at Minnesota Morris.

RAMBLERS EYE TITLE TONIGHT

Can Hawks Stop Top Loop Scorer?

By AUGIE KARCHER
Daily News Sports Editor

Cotter's Ramblers, ranked No. 5 among Minnesota Catholic prep basketball teams, goes after an undisputed Ravoux Conference championship tonight at Rochester Lourdes, and Winona High entertains Albert Lea and the Big Nine's leading scorer tonight at Winona High.

The two games aren't the only action for prep athletic teams. Winona's wrestlers are at Albert Lea tonight and the Winona swimmers host tough St. Louis Park at 2 p.m. Saturday.

COTTER EARNED its ranking Thursday in the first weekly ratings revealed by coaches of state Catholic schools. St. John's Preps, De La Salle, Benilde and St. Thomas Academy were rated 1-2-3-4.

Loures, 1-1 in the Ravoux Conference against Cotter's 2-0 mark, is ranked 10th in the state. Austin Pacelli is No. 8 though it has lost to Lourdes.

Cotter, 13-4 for the season against Lourdes' 10-6 record, swamped the Eagles 58-24 in their first meeting this year, a game Coach Gene Bienen of Lourdes would like to forget.

THE RAMBLERS of John Neit will probably face Lourdes a third time, barring upsets, in the Region Four Catholic playoffs Feb. 22-23. Lourdes was moved into Region Four in a revision of assignments last spring.

Winona High, 7-6 for the season faces a Tiger team which sports a 5-9 record after winning the Big Nine title a year ago. This game won't decide any championships, but will give the Hawks a chance to try to stop John Goodmanson, the league's leading scorer.

Goodmanson has 119 points in seven games for an even 17.0 average. Winona Coach John Kenney hasn't revealed who will draw the assignment of guarding him. If the Hawks continue their pressing man-to-man defense, it could be almost anyone.

DON B. UHR, Tiger coach, watched Winona lose to Owatonna Saturday. He commented: "Winona may not have had one of its better nights against Owatonna, but those kids gave every indication of being able to shoot the eyes out of the basket."

Buhr hints he expects a zone defense from Kenney, but is preparing for anything. The Tigers were missing a couple players in drills Monday, but they were reported to be at full strength Thursday.

In the 6:30 p.m. preliminary, Coach Bob Lee's sophomores shoot for their 14th consecutive victory which would just about wrap up the Big Nine sophomore title. They lead that race with a 7-0 record.

IN WRESTLING, the Winona Hawks, 4-7, close out their dual meet season at Albert Lea which is 6-3-1 for the year. Bob Board, Winona coach, revealed heavy-weight Dick Glanier will not be available for the rest of the season because of injury.

K. Barry, 145 who has been wrestling at 145 on the "B" squad, will go at 133 for the varsity tonight.

The Hawk matmen are among nine schools competing next weekend in the District Three tournament at Kasson-Mantorville.

MEET SATURDAY

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — The annual meeting of the Whitehall Country Club will be held Saturday evening at Club Midway, Independence. A smorgasbord dinner will be served at 7 p.m.

Three Card 67s to Share Lead in Phoenix Tourney

By CARL BELL
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The Phoenix Open Golf Tournament was skin tight going into the second round today with three par-busters sharing a one-stroke lead and 42 others within four blows of them.

Out front in the four-day race for $35,000 prize money after 5-under-par 67s Thursday were Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and Jay Hebert.

Breathing down their necks at 68 were Arnold Palmer, who is trying to win this one for the third straight year; Tommy Aaron, Bob Harris and Cary Midgoff, Julius Boros and Jimmy Clark.

Ten others were grouped at 69; 10, including Billy Casper, at 70, and 18 at 71.

Nicklaus, Palmer, Player and Casper already have won tournaments this year. The only 1963 winner who failed to break par 72 on the flat 6,779-yard Arizona Country Club course was Jack Burke Jr. He shot a 75.

Most of the scoring, matching Phoenix' 89 degree weather, could be attributed to the way the pros ripped apart the short par 3 holes.

Player and Clark each eagled two of the five par 3s, the longest of which is 554 yards. Palmer scored one eagle.

There was a notable exception to the mastery of par 3, as slender Dave Hill suffered a 15 on the 523-yard 3rd.

Redmen to Meet Scots; Warriors Host Bemidji

By BOB JUNGHANS
Daily News Sports Writer

Both Winona college cage teams are on their home courts Saturday night to do battle with a pair of conference foes.

Winona State will take on a streaking Bemidji quintet, and St. Mary's tries to avenge an earlier loss to Macalester.

WINONA STATE has lost a pair

Friday, February 8, 1963

of close ones in its last two outings, and it is still looking for its first NSCC conference victory of the season. Bemidji, the Warriors' opponent, has won four straight, including an upset victory over St. Cloud.

In their last meeting Bemidji thumped the Warriors 83-68. Chief villains in that encounter were Dave Sjoholm and Ken Hansen. Those two combined for 42 points and will be in the Beaver starting lineup Saturday night.

Other starters will be 6-6 Dave Odegaard at center, Sjoholm and Dave Warner at forwards and Hansen and Joe Mayer at guards.

Winona State Coach Bob Campbell will start the regular lineup, and he noted, "We'll have to do our best defensively. Then maybe we can get the job done."

THE BEAVERS will not be holding anything back in the contest. Bemidji Coach Zeke Hogeland is wary of the Winonans.

A preliminary game will pit Lewiston High School against Peterson High School at 6:15 p.m.

At Terrace Heights St. Mary's, 4-5 in MIAC play, is host to Macalester. In the Redmen's last outing they bounced Hamline 59-50 to move into a fourth place spot. Macalester wasn't as fortunate, as the Scots were damped by unbeaten Augsburg 75-60.

EARLIER this season Macalester dropped the Redmen 60-49 when St. Mary's hit an ice-cold last half. The big guns that night were Arlin Buyert and Gary Davidson. Buyert, 6-4, and Davidson, 6-3, combined for 50 of Macalester's 60 points. Buyert, hitting from inside the free throw line, bagged 31.

St. Mary's has shown an exceptionally well balanced scoring attack in its recent encounters, putting at least three men in double figures in its last eight games. Al Williams is the current point leader with 283 points in 19 games for a 14.9 average. Newly-returned Mike Stallings has averaged 11.5 points per game in the four games in which he has played.

ST. MARY'S hockey squad is also in action Saturday, hosting Hamline in a tilt scheduled for 2 p.m. The Redmen will be looking to get back on the winning trail after falling to a strong Macalester sextet 6-5 in their last game.

No Pressure As Market Edges Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market edged lower early this afternoon with no particular selling pressure apparent. Trading was moderate.

Losses of most key stocks were fractional. A few went to around a point.

Profit-taking on recent big gainers was in progress.

The excitement about Chrysler's stock split and dividend boost had died down and motors edged off. Rails, which accompanied motors in bucking Thursday's downturn, were ragged.

Losses among some of the international oils were attributed to the military revolt in oil-rich Iraq.

Steels, electrical equipments, airlines, and nonferrous metals were generally lower.

Du Pont and Polaroid were off about a point each.

Prices were mixed in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed.

U.S. government bonds showed few changes.
