PLUCKY BUT NOT STUPID

Everybody May Hike But Not Pierre Salinger

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Marines are marching. Girls are marching. Practically everyone seems to be marching. But Pierre Salinger is not marching.

He has a bad case of cold feet. "I may be plucky, but I am not stupid," the President's plump press secretary announced Tuesday, and thus retired bowed but unbloodied from the New Frontier's sole-trying fitness course.

And so doing, he may have won a place in the hearts of all presidential assistants and the White House press corps. It was Salinger who had volunteered to pace them on a Friday hike along the C&O Canal.

With the leader gone, the expedition has collapsed, with many a sigh of relief.

Some 10 young Capitol Hill secretaries plan to carry the colors of the legislative branch today in an assault on the old canal tow-path. They are not trying to match the leathernecks.

"Who are we to challenge the Marines?" said Shia Green of New York, secretary to Rep. Charles S. Joelson, D-N.J. Their challenge was aimed at the portly press secretary. Said Shia: "We're sure Salinger can't come anywhere near us."

Salinger later proved his right. In bowing out, the 37-year-old press secretary characterized himself as a fat man whose physical condition leaves something to be desired. He said the personal consequences of a strenuous hike might prove disastrous.

President Kennedy's Council on Physical Fitness cleared the way for Salinger's retreat by saying, earlier in the day, that long hikes are fine for Marines and others who are in top physical condition. But the council, which presumably spoke with the blessing of the White House, warned that those in poor shape should not attempt such feats.

time was 15 hours, 32 minutes. But it seems doubtful if anyone could have beaten the mark hung up by Lt. Marty Shimek, the pride of Hazen, Ark.

A long-distance runner from the University of Arkansas who knows how to pace himself, Shimek came in at 8:05 almost 24 hours after he started. But by taking adequate rest, and then going full speed ahead, his marching-running time for the 50 miles was only 9 hours and 53 minutes.

When you remember this included rushing through mud and stumbling through the dark—and there aren't many places darker than Camp Lejeune in the middle of the night—that's hustling.

By midmorning, 14 of the 34 Marines had finished their endurance test.

So far there have been no drop-outs. Possibly the spirit of the Marines was best exemplified by the performance of Lt. Donald L. Bernath of Wauseon, Ohio.

He had a girl friend waiting at the finish line so Bernath didn't mess around with rest stops and such. He kept on walking and wound up in a blaze of lights Tuesday night, the first Marine to finish.

Bernath started walking at 8:05 a.m., and wound up at 8:52 p.m. with time out for one rest stop, his marching time was 11 hours and 44 minutes.

President Kennedy, who had wondered if the Marines of today are as fit as those of 1968, could not have had a better answer than the one Bernath supplied.

With his date, Rita Morris of nearby Jacksonville, joining him for about 25 yards of his final 200-yard sprint, Bernath raced over the finish line to receive in person the congratulations of Maj. Gen. Frederick L. Wieseman, commander of the 2nd Marine division.

Bernath wasn't even breathing hard. And he had time for a few words of advice to anyone who also might wish to spend the day hiking 50 miles.

"Stay in shape," Bernath said. "And get out from behind that desk."

Delaying Tactics Mob Violence Charged in State Senate In Ontario

By ADOLPH JOHNSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Liberal tactics in opposing Senate confirmation of interim appointments of Gov. Elmer L. Andersen have brought cries of "filibuster" in some quarters.

But some senators, including some conservatives, deny that the protracted debates could properly be described as filibusters.

Liberals spent two hours on one occasion last week explaining their opposition to the appointment of Gerald Bryan as state banking commissioner. His was the first of more than 130 appointments to reach the floor and liberals said they were opposing the policy, not the man.

Later in the week there was another hour and a half debate before the Senate voted to confirm the Bryan appointment. The vote was a straight conservative-liberal split.

Liberals have argued that no appointment should be confirmed until the recount decides whether Andersen or DFL candidate Karl Rolvaag won the November election. Conservatives have replied that the governor did his duty when he made the appointments and submitted them to the Senate and that it is the Senate's duty to confirm or reject them.

"If liberal tactics have not reached the filibuster stage, they soon will if they keep up," says Sen. John Zwick of Walnut Grove, the Senate majority leader.

"We have definitely not conducted a filibuster," replied Sen. Paul Thuet of South St. Paul, the minority leader. "We are just calling the injustice of the situation to the people of the state of Minnesota."

EDITOR'S NOTE—In the frozen Ontario bushland north-east of Lake Superior a nightmare has come true. Violence—the specter that haunts some labor strikes when they drag on without settlement—materialized. Three men were killed, nine others wounded. The following dispatch traces the development of the strike through the weeks of tension.

KAPUSKASING, Ont. (AP)—A strike that cut to the economic vitals of this bleak logging country has exploded, as many feared it would, into violence and death.

A spray of gunfire in the darkness, killing three strikers and wounding nine, climaxing four weeks of growing tensions around this northern Ontario lumber center where delivery of a cord of wood can involve in the loggers' walk-out.

This was a group known as the settlers, about 1,000 dirt farmers who supplement their generally sparse incomes with independent woodcutting during the winter for sale to Spruce Falls.

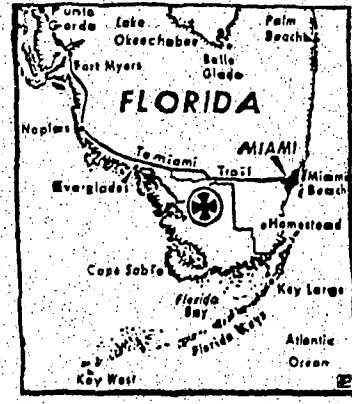

For the settlers, the passing of time is disaster. They cannot haul the lumber from the bush after mild weather begins in early March because the ground turns soggy.

These independents account for up to 175,000 cords of the estimated 450,000 cords used annually by Spruce Falls. They are paid only if the lumber is delivered to the mill.

Logging by the settlers took on the hated look of scab labor in the eyes of the strikers. Roaming cavalades of union men patrolled the highways and dirt roads, intent on stopping independent cutters from supplying pulpwood to the mill.

Several settlers reported gangs of men stopped their trucks, and dumped their logs into ditches.

Ten days after the strike began, Mayor Norman S. Grant, himself a long-time employee of Spruce Falls, said many of the settlers faced starvation because of the strike.

'Fuselage All Busted Up,' Witness Says

By THEODORE A. EDIGER

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Charred remains of a jet airliner, which crashed deep in the Florida Everglades with 43 persons aboard, were studied today by federal investigators seeking a cause for the tragedy. There were no survivors.

Civil Aeronautics Board and FBI agents worked behind tight security measures, trying to learn why the Northwest Orient Airlines jet plummeted out of the sky Tuesday only minutes after leaving Miami for Chicago, Seattle, Wash., and Portland, Ore.

A planned helicopter airlift of bodies from the smoldering wreckage was delayed by the investigation.

John McWhorter of Miami, in charge of CAB operations at the search base, said the first bodies might not arrive until after noon. Seminole Indian children were given a holiday as their school house, 50 miles west of Miami, at a place called Micoosuck, became a temporary morgue. The school also served as a CAB communications base.

The two-room, white frame school stands on concrete stilts because it borders on swampland.

Park rangers, Florida Highway patrolmen and the FBI guarded the crash site area, at the edge of the Everglades National Park.

The wreckage was 14 miles south of the operations base, across a swamp choked with thick undergrowth that only swamp buggies and waders could penetrate.

The flight recorder box, a compact set of instruments that might provide a clue to the crash, was taken from the wreckage and flown by Coast Guard helicopter to the operations base.

The recorder, a steel cylinder designed to withstand extreme pressure and heat, records on metallic tape an aircraft's direction, air speed, altitude and acceleration.

This morning as investigators looked for other pieces of the plane and passenger belongings, a cold north wind whispered across the damp, isolated swampland.

A team from the U.S. Fish and Game Commission reached the wreckage about midnight and radioed that it found the plane burning.

Miami FBI Agent Wesley Grapp conferred with the operations base with the CAB team. Grapp said his office usually cooperates with aviation officials in investigating such disasters.

The crash lost radio contact with Miami International Airport traffic control seven minutes after it took off in a rain squall at 1:35 p.m. Six and one-half hours elapsed before the first wrecked plane was sighted, 43 miles southwest of Miami, in a search that covered the southeast.

Coast Guardmen, who spotted the Boeing 720 from a helicopter landed and found no indication that any of the 45 passengers and a crew member had survived.

Marines Finish 50-Mile Test

By ART EDSON

CAMP LEJEUNE, N.C. (AP)—Brig. Gen. Rathvon McClure Tompkins, not to be outdone by Marines half his age, wound up his 50-mile hike early today tired but still game.

Gen. Tompkins was accompanied by an aide, Lt. Charles G. Bryan, and his first words were for the aide.

"Old Charlie would have set a record," Tompkins said, "if he hadn't been saddled with me."

Here the general could have been wrong.

His own time was spectacular for a man of his age, 50, who has gone through the rough stuff on Guadalcanal, Saipan and Tarawa.

He was on the road 18 hours and two minutes and his marching

Senate OKs Expense Bill For Rolvaag

ST. PAUL — After more than an hour of debate and three abortive attempts to amend, a House measure which would allow Karl Rolvaag expense money while he awaits the outcome of the recount was recommended to pass Tuesday by the Senate Finance Committee.

The discussion which involved the constitutionality of allowing Rolvaag the money was sparked by a sharp interchange between Sen. Paul Thuet, D-South St. Paul, who was advocating the bill, and Sen. Robert Dunlap, C-Plainview.

Thuet raised the point that if Rolvaag's name was mentioned in the measure, as the committee had indicated earlier it thought was desirable, the measure might be unconstitutional on the grounds that it would be granting favor or privilege to one man.

Thuet said he felt the House bill — which did not mention Rolvaag by name but narrowed the appropriation to him through a description of who should be eligible — should be passed.

FURTHER, the senators had indicated they wanted to limit the appropriation to $5,000 — the amount Thuet had indicated Rolvaag would need for what most likely would be the remainder of the recount period.

Some Liberals on the committee indicated they felt the $5,000 ceiling was unnecessary, particularly since the House had passed the bill in such a way that Rolvaag would be eligible to use up to $15,000, an amount originally appropriated to the department of administration for use by a governor-elect during the period between his election and his inauguration.

Dunlap's position was that the bill would be just as unconstitutional if Rolvaag's name wasn't mentioned as it would be if it was.

Bill Offered For University At Mankato

ST. PAUL — A bill for an act establishing the University of Southern Minnesota as successor to Mankato State College was introduced today in both houses of the state Legislature, under bi-partisan authorship.

Primary authors are two veteran lawmakers from Mankato, Senator Val Imm and Representative Roy Schulz, both conservatives.

Co-authors of the bill in the Senate are Walter Franz of Mountain Lake, a conservative, and Michael McGuire of Montgomery, a Liberal. Schulz did not identify all his co-authors in advance, but said he expected to have influential support from both sides of the aisle. He named C. A. Gus Johnson Sr., Mankato attorney and "independent," as one of the co-authors on his bill.

IN A JOINT statement to the press, Sen. Imm and Rep. Schulz declared, "this bill is not designed to either hurt or retard the existing University of Minnesota, nor is it designed or intended to harm or curb any project to establish an institution of higher learning in southwestern Minnesota."

"The proposed establishment of the University of Southern Minnesota is based on existing need, and on the conception of cooperatively working together for the educational advancement of our young people."

THE INITIAL draft of the southern university bill placed in the legislative hopper today is comprised of 15 pages, and is the result of months of study and preparation, designed to resolve all of the technical aspects of the proposed transition.

It provides for establishment of a governing board of seven trustees to be appointed by the governor with advice and consent of the senate.

Helpful Ways to Get Top Grades

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.
Professor of Education

University of Southern California
Every student is interested in getting better grades. Unfortunately, the area of getting better grades is not discussed in textbooks.

Only the better teachers remind their students of the successful procedures and sometimes even they forget. Every student, whether in elementary, high school, college or graduate school, should check the following procedures. These are the methods that help thousands of students get better grades:

1) Before the teacher reviews, start your own review.

2) Look over each course, try to get a clear idea, perhaps in outline form, of work covered.

3) Now you are ready to listen in class and make your final review a polish, not a cram session.

4) Practice analyzing problems (one of the neglected skills).

5) In problem-solving courses, such as arithmetic, algebra, calculus, physics, or chemistry, leaf through the book from set of problems to set of problems.

6) Talk over each kind of problem with yourself in words. Ask yourself, "How would I recognize this kind of problem from the way it is written?"

7) Keep your writing knuckles in trim through practice.

8) From now on spend 10 or 15 minutes per day practicing handwriting. Train your hands to hold the pen without cramping to write easily, rapidly and legibly.

9) This will improve your grades in fourth grade arithmetic, or help you pass a qualifying examination for a Ph.D.

10) Practice formulating answers. You can draw general questions from the table of contents, or chapter headings.

11) Practice writing concise answers. You will be required to do this on tests and the work of the semester seldom gives sufficient practice in concise answers.

12) Keep a list of things you must complete for each course, checking them off as you finish them.

13) In modern language, think directly from foreign words to pictures of meaning and form pictures of meaning to foreign words.

14) In studying life science, biology, or anatomy, picture the meanings of all words in your mind.

15) Plan the way you will think during tests. This will avoid typing up or blanking out.

16) Plan your work rapidly and accurately. Concentrate your attention on one question at a time.

17) Having answered it, turn your full attention to the next question. 9) Write all steps in the solution of a problem. It is faster than leaving out steps.

10) Plan to review your tests to eliminate so-called careless errors. The second time through, concentrate your attention on something different than you did the first time.

Check your problem solving test by thinking only of arithmetic. In an essay test look for errors in sentence structure or spelling. In a language test look for errors in word endings, etc.

These procedures produce increased learning as well as better grades.

BOYLE'S COLUMN

Wife Best Financial Manager

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The American housewife is one of the world's best financial managers. Although she handles 80 per cent of family expenditures, she spends only about $7 a week on herself.

Why those "good old days" went sour: A century ago the average man in this country worked 70 hours a week. Today he works from 39 to 40 hours—with time off for "coffee breaks."

In Paris, by calling certain numbers, you can get advice if you are lonely and despondent, a recipe if you don't know what to cook for dinner, or information about the atom bomb and nuclear physics. You can call a fourth number and your telephone will tell you a recorded joke, then emit wild yelps of canned laughter.

The best way to safeguard your car is to lock it. Nine times out of 10, car thieves prey on unlocked cars. Some 90 per cent of stolen cars are eventually recovered; most of the others are dismantled or stripped by professional gangs. A survey indicates that up to 50 per cent of the chronically unemployed are "functionally illiterate"—they can't read and write well enough to learn new skills.

Ex-President Calvin Coolidge received $1 a word for articles written after he left the White House, but Ernest Hemingway is said to have been perhaps the world's highest-paid author. In 1960 a magazine paid him $30,000 for a 2,000-word piece on bullfighting. That's $15 a word.

The American divorce rate is seven times what it was 100 years ago. In the last 20 years our illegitimacy and juvenile delinquency rates have nearly tripled.

All our clothing used to come from plants and animals. Now 11 of the 36 pounds of textile material each of us uses each year comes from laboratory-made materials.

It was Irvin S. Cobb who observed: "Learn all the rules, even one of them, so that you will know how to break them."

Rochester Man Draws Suspension

Judge S. D. J. Bruski suspended a Rochester man's 30-day jail sentence in municipal court today.

Neil B. King, 27, had pleaded guilty to a charge of nonsupport of his minor children. He was arrested at police headquarters at 4:05 p.m. Tuesday.

He was arrested on a complaint by his ex-wife Yvonne King, Winona. She claimed that he had not paid support for their three minor children since Dec. 3, 1962.

The sentence was suspended for one year on condition that King pay $30 per week for support. The payments must be made to the Winona County Welfare Board each Monday.

Council at Chatfield Told of $8,500 Deficit

CHATFIELD, Minn. — A deficit of $8,500 was reported by Clerk Gordon Mitchell to the City Council here Monday night. Resulting from receipts of $43,476 and expenditures of $52,043 last year, it will be leveled off by transferring funds, he said.

Receipts in the utility department last year were $14,970 and expenditures, $13,422.

The council authorized drawing of final plans and specifications for a new well and water system, a $4,000 project. It also voted to join the Southeastern Minnesota League of Municipalities. Twenty-five city licenses were issued.

Priest in Poor Condition After Richfield Crash

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — The chaplain of Villa Maria Academy, a Catholic girls academy at Frontenac, is in poor condition today at St. Mary's Hospital, Minneapolis, with injuries received in an automobile accident Tuesday night in which his companion was killed.

He is the Rev. Richard Larkin, 41. His companion and driver of the car was the Rev. Maurice A. J. Keeler, 59, Le Center, who was attached to St. Mary's Church there.

Police said the car left the highway at 9:15 p.m. and rammed a sign post beside Interstate Highway 35 in Richfield.

The death was Minnesota's 51st highway fatality of the year, compared with 62 a year ago today.

The reading was slightly lower than a year ago when the high for the day was 35 and the low 23. The all-time high for Feb. 13 was 33 in 1921 and the low -21 in 1905. Mean for the past 24 hours was 18. Normal for this day is 19.

A LIGHT SNOW spread across the Winona area during the forenoon, causing some slipping on secondary highways and lightly traveled roads. All main highways were reported in good winter driving condition.

With the exception of Madison, Wis., where the morning reading was 6, temperatures in the Midwest generally remained above the zero mark.

Rochester had a low of 2 after a Tuesday high of 17 and La Crosse reported figures of 2 and 22 for the same times. Both places reported light intermittent snow.

WISCONSIN has the dubious honor, for the second straight day, of having the coldest spot in the nation. The temperature fell to 6 below zero at Madison.

Other areas of the state also experienced subzero weather with 5 below registered in the Beloit-Rockford area, 2 below at Janesville, 3 below at Sussex, Milwaukee Airport had a low of 8 above, Racine, Wausau and Eau Claire 5 above, Lone Rock and Green Bay 4 above.

Lone Rock, the nation's ice box Tuesday with 16 below zero, did a turn-about during the day and registered 25 above, sharing honors with Eau Claire and Racine for the state high.

Other high temperatures included Superior-Duluth and Park Falls 24, Wausau 23, Milwaukee Airport and Beloit-Rockford area 19.

AT 8 A.M. today it was cloudy over the northern and western sections with occasional light snow, and partly cloudy in the extreme southeast.

Tuesday's national high was 30 at Miami Beach, Fla.

Library Staff Told:

Don't Treat Public Like Your Relations

A Minneapolis Public Library public information officer gave this definition of public relations Tuesday afternoon at an in-service training session for the Winona Public Library staff:

"Don't treat the public like relations."

The speaker, Miss Sarah Wallace, went to the Bible for an additional definition:

"Love thy neighbor as thyself."

EACH LIBRARY patron should be treated as an individual, she said at the Winona library. Librarians should never take it upon themselves to judge the importance of questions patrons ask.

Each question should be treated as important to the person who asks it. Miss Wallace urged the 12 Winona library staff members attending the session to know their library well, to try to understand the patron's point of view, and to avoid confusing the patron with library terminology.

Miss Wallace said the librarian serves a similar purpose as the clerk in a grocery. A patron enters, perhaps for the first time, looks around, doesn't find what he wants and may leave empty-handed. The grocery clerk and the librarian should help the patron find what he's looking for, Miss Wallace said.

Frederick Wezeman, associate professor, Library School, University of Minnesota, said Minnesota municipalities devote only 2.8 percent of their annual expenditures to support of their public libraries while 8.5 percent is devoted to recreation.

HE UNDERScored the shortage of professional librarians by reporting that last year only 391 of the nation's library school graduates entered public library work. The other graduates joined schools, colleges, special libraries and libraries in schools, colleges and industry.

Wezeman said public libraries are generally understaffed. He urged librarians to keep posted on new books—a difficult task since 40 percent more books are published annually now compared with 40 years ago.

Mrs. Alice Brooks, district service adviser, Northwestern Bell Telephone Co., Rochester, discussed telephone courtesy and showed a film, "A Manner of Speaking."

Presiding was Miss H. Alberta Seiz, the Winona library's librarian.

Co-op Creamery At Centerville Signs With NFO

CENTERVILLE, Wis. — Max Lilla, president of the board of directors of the Centerville Cooperative Creamery, has announced today that it has signed a marketing contract with the National Farmers Organization.

This butter and skim plant had a volume of 12 million pounds of milk last year. By signing the marketing contract the creamery is not faced with the loss of patron volume by diversion to other plants. A spokesman said, "Any loss of volume in a plant of this size would have a serious effect on our operating efficiency. We can process more milk than we are getting now."

In a letter to the patrons, the directors said all patrons will receive the same price and that they would not lose milk during a holding action. A holding action means that NFO members as well as some non-members would hold their milk from non-contract dairy plants and divert it to plants that are cooperating with the NFO.

When plants processing 60 percent of the national milk supply for manufacturing purposes and 60 percent of the bottle milk in the Midwest are cooperating with the NFO, these contracts will be activated.

Through these dairy marketing contracts NFO is working to improve the income level of the dairy farmer and bring him to a closer economic level with the rest of the American economy, said Bernard H. Hart, NFO zone chairman of the Madison area.

Father Asking Court to Stop Grandmother

Injunction proceedings in a child custody matter were being heard by Judge Warren F. Plunkett, Austin, in District Court here today.

The action is brought by Leonard Hohmann, 1005 W. Mark St., who is seeking a permanent order enjoining Mrs. Martha Nelson, Altura, from contacting his two children — her grandchildren — Judith, 17, and Daniel, 19.

AWARDED custody of the children following his former wife's death in 1958, Hohmann previously had obtained a temporary restraining order and today's hearing was on the action for a permanent order.

Mrs. Nelson, called for cross-examination by Hohmann's attorney, Roger P. Brosnahan, testified through the entire morning session.

She said the Hohmanns were married in 1942, divorced in 1948 and subsequently both remarried. Mrs. Hohmann was given custody of the children in the divorce findings but Hohmann won custody of the two children from Mrs. Hohmann's second husband, Herbert Walsh, after the mother's death. Mrs. Nelson is represented by C. Stanley McMahon.

MRS NELSON was questioned regarding her relations with the children since the custody proceedings first began and was still on the witness stand when Judge Plunkett called a noon recess. The hearing was to be continued this afternoon.

Judge Leo F. Murphy, Winona, will be in Rochester this week for trial of court cases and will begin jury work there on Monday.

Msgr. Speltz Named Auxiliary to Bishop

Bishop-Elect Speltz

An auxiliary bishop to assist the Most Rev. Edward A. Fitzgerald, bishop of Winona, has been named today by Pope John XXIII. The Most Rev. Egídio Vagnozzi, S.T.D., apostolic delegate to the United States, announced today in Washington, D. C.

He is the Rt. Rev. Msgr. George H. Speltz, rector of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Seminary and diocesan counselor. He is the first auxiliary bishop in the diocese since 1926, when Bishop Kelly was named auxiliary to Bishop Heffron.

BISHOP-ELECT Speltz was born at Altura May 29, 1912, son of Henry and Josephine Speltz. He graduated from St. Mary's College and completed his philosophy and theology at St. Paul Seminary. He was ordained a priest for the Diocese of Winona by the late Bishop Kelly June 2, 1940.

After serving one year as assistant at St. John's Church and superintendent of Loretto High School, Caledonia, he enrolled in the school of philosophy at Catholic University for graduate work in philosophy and education. He received the doctor of philosophy degree in June 1944.

He was appointed vice chancellor and diocesan superintendent of schools of the diocese and pastor of St. Mary's Church, Minnekahta, in 1944.

In 1947 he was appointed chaplain and professor at St. Mary's College and assisted in the organization of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Seminary. He was named rector of the seminary in 1948.

He also has served the diocese in the following positions: Synodal judge of the matrimonial curia; diocesan director of the Legion of Decency and the diocesan organization for decent literature, and since 1958 as chairman of the Diocesan Liturgical Commission.

BISHOP FITZGERALD, in welcoming Bishop-elect Speltz, said, "I am deeply grateful to our beloved Holy Father, Pope John XXIII who has so kindly and graciously appointed Bishop-elect Speltz, titular bishop of Clanus, to be my auxiliary for the welfare of the church in the Diocese of Winona."

"In his position of responsibility as auxiliary bishop, I look forward to great progress in the development of the church in our diocese. This appointment is also an honor conferred upon all priests of the diocese because one of their number has been judged by the Holy Father to be qualified for advancement to the College of the Apostles upon whom Christ conferred the privilege and duty of the magistristerium of the church."

He is the 13th son of the diocese to be promoted to the episcopate.

West 4th Zoning Hearing Slated

Five petitions will be considered by the City Planning Commission and the Board of Zoning Appeals at their next meeting Feb. 26.

Four property owners have petitioned to rezone the south half of the block between Washington and Winona streets, facing on West 4th Street. Petitioners are asking a change from the present R-2 (one-to-four-family residential) class to B-2 (central business) category.

Owners are: Mr. and Mrs. Chester J. Wiczek, 612 E. Broadway; Mr. and Mrs. Jack W. Thode, 173 Washington St.; A. Chris Jensen, 731 W. Broadway, and Western Motor Sales, 225 W. 3rd St.

THE NORTH HALF of the block, in which Western Motor Sales and the county jail are located, was rezoned to B-2 last July.

Petitioners contend that future salability of their property will be seriously impaired if it remains in R-2 classification. Since this is the only remaining portion of non-business area between the interstate bridge and other business and manufacturing sections, they contend, it would only be of value to future purchasers as commercial property.

No conversion of the property from residential to business use is now planned, according to the petitioners' attorney, Milton A. Goldberg. He said the requested change would not require removal of present houses but would be consistent with adjacent zoning.

A member of the commission and board, he has disqualified himself from this hearing.

MUCH OF THE interest likely to be aroused will be generated by a Twin City land development firm's request for rezoning of a 30-acre tract as a SHOPPING PLAZA site.

The commission held a hearing on the request last December but deferred action to await the filing of detailed plans for the area as a basis for action. The land lies between Gilmore Avenue and Highway 61, some 1,500 feet east of Clark's Lane. Developers say a million dollars worth of improvements and construction are contemplated.

John O. Daleska, 760 E. Mark St., is asking a zoning change for land just north of the site of the new Shell station on the Mankato Avenue-Sarnia Street intersection. Daleska requests rezoning from R-1 (one-family residential) to R-1 (neighborhood business) of a parcel 275 feet deep with 100 feet of frontage on Mankato Avenue.

Preliminary approval of a proposed plat of five lots on East Bellevue Street is sought by A. L. Dublin, Glen Mary, and John Dublin, 206 E. Sarnia St. The lots are in an unplatted area approximately 500 feet east of Carmona Street.

Commissioners will be asked to endorse a proposed amendment of the zoning ordinance in a petition submitted by Ralph Scharrer, building contractor.

The petition seeks enactment of legislation allowing the planning commission to permit light machine shop operations in buildings located in B-3 (general business) zones.

Specifically, the request seeks permission for Scharrer's building at Junction Street and Kraemer Drive to be used for such purposes. Although otherwise suitable, the petition says, the concrete block building cannot now house a light machine shop because it would be a non-conforming use.

You Can Vote April 1 If You're Registered

By sheer coincidence elections for City Council and Board of Education offices and April Fools day are the same this year.

But it will not be coincidental if some city residents are fooled into thinking they can vote if they aren't properly registered, says Roy Wildgrube, city recorder. It won't be for lack of attention on Wildgrube's part.

Making the usual strenuous effort to inform voters about the requirements, Wildgrube issued reminders that every day is registration day from now until March 11.

Some results have been observed at the recorder's office. Five new registrations and four changes of address have been made.

Anyone who has moved should sign a change of address card, Wildgrube said. A person who has changed his or her name should have the change noted on the registration list. Failure to enter this corrected information on his card before registration deadline will disqualify a person from voting, the recorder said.

New voters who will be 21 years old on or before April 1 should register before the cutoff date, Wildgrube said.

In addition to the regular daily hours, Wildgrube said the recorder's office will be open from 7 to 9 p.m. on the following Mondays: Feb. 18, March 4 and 11.

60 Volunteers To Man Each Polio Center

A staff of 60 volunteers will man each of three inoculation centers as the city's first mass polio clinic swings into action Sunday.

In addition to volunteer help, each center will have a physician, nurse and pharmacist on duty. Non-professional assistance will be provided by members of the Community Memorial Hospital Women's Auxiliary. They will check pre-registration forms and help distribute the sugar cubes containing the polio vaccine.

DR. JAMES TESTOR, chairman of the polio committee for the society, said that an effort has been made to distribute the pre-registration forms to every community in the county. However, if any community has been missed inadvertently, representatives should contact him or any member of the committee.

The clinics will be held from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. at Jefferson, Central, Elementary and Washington-Kosciusko schools.

Pharmacists are responsible for storage of the vaccine which is kept frozen until ready for use. They will supervise the giving of the serum and its delivery to the centers as needed. Since the vaccine is a live virus type, all materials which come in contact with it must be sterilized or incinerated.

Complete participation by all residents of the area is needed for the clinics to be successful, the polio committee of the Winona County Medical Society emphasized. If large enough percentages of the population are inoculated, polio can be eliminated because it will have no place to go, the committee said.

One of the first mass oral immunization clinics was conducted in Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1960. There have been no cases of polio reported there since that time, committee officials said.

SINCE THERE is no cure for polio, once it is contracted, vaccination is the only way to stop its spread, physicians say. Epidemic outbreaks of the disease still appear in areas with low percentages of immunization.

Recent studies have shown an increase in cases among children up to age 10, while adults seem to be more susceptible to Type III, the committee reported. Officials said it is necessary to attend all three clinics to gain complete immunity. They will be held at six-week intervals.

St. Charles Asks Social Security For City Crew

ST. CHARLES, Minn. (Special) — Judges for the city election March 5 were appointed at the St. Charles City Council meeting Tuesday night.

The board passed resolutions on taxes and social security and discussed new lighting.

Frank Koch, Merle Waby, Rudy Mueller and Irving Smith were appointed election judges. All incumbents filed without opposition. They are: Donald Hankerson, mayor; John Logan and George Eckles, aldermen; Louis Wilkins, recorder; James Hewitt and Albert (Jim) Fix, constables; Raymond Wiskow, treasurer, and Archie Cocker, assessor.

All posts are for one-year terms except the aldermen, who are for two years. No filings were received for two justices of the peace vacancies. Holdover aldermen are Dean Gaulke and James Wilson.

THE COUNCIL passed a resolution to present to the Winona county commissioners, expressing opposition to the personal property tax on household goods.

A resolution to submit to the legislature supports providing social security benefits for city employees. They currently have retirement benefits under state law (PERA).

Dr. James Flannery and John Hynes of the Chamber of Commerce appeared before the board to ask for better lighting on the highways through town—Federal 14 and State Highway 74 which is Main Street.

Mayor Hankerson said the council has asked Interstate Power Co. to look into the possibility of increasing lighting from present 200-watt to 400-watt bulbs. He said the same poles and wires could be used. The improvement would entail new transformers and bulbs.

THE COUNCIL turned over to Ray Sanstokke, Rochester, city engineer, the request of Attorney Alton Bergh for approval of a new plat in the north end of town, and completing arrangements with Chicago & North Western Railway Co. for a land purchase.

Bergh represented Ralph Seeman, who asks approval of 18 new lots he had laid out, each 150 by 75 feet. The railroad offered to sell for $100 the land on its right of way the city has been using in the midtown area.

Sanstokke reported purchase of a new distributor for the disposal plant.

William Glover was reappointed to the park board.

France Nuyen Conceals Union

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Miss France Nuyen, the original "Suzie Wong," just broke her engagement to Ralph Destino, the costume jeweler, "because the poor boy didn't know what a headache he was going to get being married to an actress."

"It was the first time I'd ever said I wanted to marry anybody," France said sadly.

They'd met at a Boytown of Italy luncheon and became engaged almost at once.

"But an actress leads an artist's life," France went on. "An artist is privileged to go anywhere in the world. Suppose I say to my husband, 'I have to go to China, and he's never been to China. He wants to go to China but he can't. I don't want to have anything my husband doesn't have.'"

So she told him, "It just would not work."

Her husband therefore must be able to say "Have luxes, will travel." But an actor? Not necessarily.

"There are plenty of people roaming around the world," said France, who'd just returned from Japan where she filmed "A Girl Named Tamiko."

MISS NUYEN cleared up the mystery of a $30,000 sable coat she's been wearing around B'way. "It was not a gift from my fiancé," she declared. "It's a wonderful coat... it's light... it's luscious... it's gorgeous... it's expensive... and it's a borrowed coat. It was borrowed from a furrier and it's back in his vault."

Beautiful & shapely Jane Morgan — now touring with Jack Benny and due at the Ziegfeld Feb. 28 — is campaigning for a new national anthem. She says "the Star Spangled Banner" is "practically unsingable" and "is all about war." She favors "America the Beautiful." Rock Hudson'll take over as narrator of Marilyn Monroe picture "Marilyn" which Frank Sinatra couldn't do.

Jayne Mansfield had some disagreements with old friends here about her on-and-off attitude toward her devoted Mickey Hargitay. Jayne told them she was "very sincere" and they just couldn't understand what it's like to have an Italian suitor. She referred to Enrico Bomba, who can't marry her because he already is.

JACKIE KENNEDY's not a free woman — she's been forced to cancel visits to a couple of B'way shows because there's been too much publicity exploiting her appearance — and security officers feared for her safety in huge mobs. In short, producers: If you want Jackie to see your shows, don't tell anybody!

There's something new after all — girls who whistle at guys. Girl fans of Johnny Mathis whistled at him from their tables when he opened at the Copacabana. Started at first, Johnny seemed taken aback at this new kind of demonstration. Johnny sings only nine months a year. He needs rest because there's a sliver of boy missing from his back. He must refresh himself frequently. "I could have a piece of steel put in there but I don't want to fool round with my spine," he says.

More Freezing Weather Chills Southern States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More freezing weather chilled the South today from Texas to northern Florida as cold weather clung to most areas from the Rockies to New England.

Arctic air continued to spread south and eastward from the snow-covered northern Midwest and extended over most of the East and Gulf Coast regions. Temperatures of near freezing and lower were reported throughout the Gulf Coast except in extreme southern Texas and the Florida peninsula.

The mercury dropped to 30 above in Tallahassee, in northern Florida, and to the low 50s in extreme southern Florida. Readings were in the teens in Tennessee, the mountain areas of North Carolina and the northern fringes of Alabama and Georgia. The chilly 21 in Atlanta compared to 28 in Anchorage, Alaska.

Coldest weather was in the north central region with subzero readings in scattered sections, including 4 in Rockford, Ill., 3 in Alpena, Mich., and 1 in north-west suburbs of Chicago.

Readings along the East Coast ranged from the teens in Maine to the 30s in northern Florida.

Heavy snow piled up in sections of the Northeast, with up to a foot in northern sections of Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine. Snow, freezing rain and sleet created hazardous driving conditions in other sections of New England.

Wild Dog Hunters

For the last two or more years, complaint after complaints about a pack of wild dogs killing deer, sheep, and chasing cattle have been received by the Winona County sheriff from the Ridge-way-Witoka area. Most everyone, including Sheriff George Fort, has taken the stories with a grain of salt — figuring these dogs were dogs belonging to area farmers, out of control, and running loose at night. The sheriff and game wardens issued warnings that all such dogs caught chasing livestock would be shot on sight—meaning that farmers should pen up their dogs at night.

However, the three farmers, pictured above, left to right, Ray Pfingsthoft, Vern Sass and Art Stender, knew better and had definite evidence that the dogs were wild ones. They went out to hunt them down. The three dogs on the snow in front of them are evidence of their success. The men all live in the Ridge-way area. Here are the facts, as related by Art Stender, who is well known in Winona.

"About three years ago," he relates, "some one dumped a litter of pups, about three weeks old, on a wide section of a side road. Some of them survived by catching young rabbits, mice and other animals. We saw the pups occasionally through the summer and fall —they became very wild—more so than the common red fox.

"The following spring and summer, youngsters in the neighborhood, saw two of the females in the bluffs with litters of pups." Stender continued. "During the following winter, the pack of wild dogs were seen often. We saw them in the fields and on the hillsides. Sheep and other animals were killed by dogs. Reports of dogs chasing deer became more common. Quite a few of them survived and went through the next winter.

"Last summer, the Babler boys found six pups under a rock ledge high on a bluffside. They dug the pups out. They did not have their eyes open. There was no question that they were born there."

Complaints grew about dogs killing lambs, even calves during the past summer and fall. There were no deer in the area last fall. It used to be an excellent deer hunting territory but the deer have been killed or chased out, area residents contend.

"The number of wild dogs was increasing," Stender declared. "During the subzero weather, they became bold and came into some of the farm yards. We would see them nearly every day on the exposed bluffside and in the fields, probably hunting mice. Chickens disappeared from the farms."

Well, the farmers took it in their own hands and started hunting wild dogs. So far three have been killed as shown in the picture. This is the result of three weeks of part-time hunting. Stender picked them up with his truck and saved them for the picture.

"They're much harder to get than fox," he said. "They are wary of human beings, are smart and keep out of sight most of the time. They weight around 30 pounds. They are quite skinny now — having had difficulty getting food. Now they venture into farm yards at night. They have the coloration of dogs—there is no indication of wolf strains in the animals killed to date.

More hunts are planned in the areas by the farmers and volunteers. The sheriff's office and game wardens have promised assistance, Stender stated.

Tomah Boy, 4, Dead of Burns

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—A four-year-old Tomah boy, burned when his clothes caught fire from a soldering iron at his home, was in critical condition Tuesday in St. Mary's Hospital Burn Center. Asian Flu Sweeps Eastern Half of U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Asian flu—or something very similar—is sweeping the eastern half of the nation, causing widespread absenteeism among students and teachers, forcing some schools to close and resulting in at least 20 deaths.

The Carolinas appear to be hardest hit.

North Carolina has been declared an epidemic area with flu outbreaks in about 20 counties and at least two deaths reported from the Asian variety. Three others died of "flu-like" ailments.

In South Carolina, three counties have had serious flu problems. Hospitals are overflowing with patients in Columbia and Walterboro. More than a dozen flu deaths have been reported in the state.

Health officials said the flu probably is the Asian strain in South Carolina, although it is not officially diagnosed as such. It has been confirmed as the Asian type in North Carolina.

Schools in Trigg County, Ky., closed indefinitely because 20 percent of 2,000 pupils were ill. At nearby Hopkinsville, Ky., the hospital said it is tending the greatest number of patients in its 49-year history.

More than 7,200 pupils and teachers were absent from Louisville, Ky., schools Monday.

Kentucky's state health commissioner, Dr. Russell Teague, said the state may be in for an epidemic of Asian flu but it appears mild and is no cause for alarm.

School absenteeism also was running high in Maryland's coastal area (about twice as much as normal), in Cincinnati (thousands out), in St. Louis (about 10 percent of the school population) and in Norwich, Conn. (nearly 50 percent).

In Bridgeport, Conn., schools were closed Monday to give teachers suffering from "flu-like" symptoms time to recuperate.

In Western Maryland, schools had great difficulty finding enough substitute teachers for those who were ill.

The Sharon Springs Central School in Schoharie County, N.Y., closed its doors for the week after 135 of the 425 students and eight faculty members developed a flu-like ailment.

A veterans hospital in Minneapolis and the Eastern, Md., Memorial Hospital curtailed visiting hours because of virus outbreaks similar to flu. The Eastern hospital said its medical and surgical beds were filled to capacity and it was forced to use obstetric beds which normally are not used for contagious cases.

The Chillicothe, Ohio, Veterans Administration hospital reported that more than 100 patients have a type of influenza symptomatic of the Asian variety.

Seventy Navy recruits at the Great Lakes Training Center in Illinois are under treatment for Asian flu. In the past three weeks, the disease has struck 270 of the 8,000 recruits there.

In Washington (two elderly persons are dead of the disease, but health officials said Asian flu cases there are not in epidemic proportions).

In adjacent Virginia, however, there were 1,876 flu-type cases—not necessarily Asian—at the last count, and 9,500 such cases last week. Virginia health officials also reported an increased number of deaths around the state caused by flu-type and respiratory diseases.

Dr. J. Earl Smith, St. Louis health director, said many people in his city heeded flu warnings and took inoculations which will lessen the disease's effect.

The Public Health Service in Washington took a sampling of 108 cities and said pneumonia-influenza deaths have been above the epidemic threshold for four weeks.

Especially vulnerable to flu, the service said, are the elderly, the chronically ill and pregnant women. The flu weakens them and, in many instances, makes them susceptible to pneumonia.

The service said Asian flu has been confirmed in Maryland, Kansas, Illinois, North Carolina and the District of Columbia. It has not been confirmed but is suspected strongly in Vermont, Maine, Delaware, Virginia, South Carolina and Georgia.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A 77-year-old Scottsdale man walked into the Arizona Motor Vehicle Division and tossed his state driver's license on the desk.

A division official asked, "What's this for?"

"Take it," Walter L. Brooks said, "traffic is getting too rough for me."

Conservative Ruled Winner At New Prague

ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Supreme Court today upset a lower court decision and declared Henry J. Morlock, Jordan conservative, the winner over John M. Fitzgerald, New Prague liberal, for a seat in the Minnesota House of Representatives.

The high court ruled Morlock won by 10 votes.

Judge Harold Flynn of Scott County district court had given the win to Fitzgerald, the incumbent, by 12 votes.

The decision amounts to a yardstick to be used in the Andersen-Roivaag recount, since it involves some of the same issues.

The Supreme Court said, however, the House is the final judge of its own members.

If Fitzgerald appeals, it is unlikely the House will refuse to go along with the Supreme Court, since the House is controlled by conservatives.

No one has been seated from the 12th District in Scott County pending outcome of the case.

Several weeks ago, the Supreme Court declared C.A. (Gus) Johnson, Mankato independent, winner of another contested House seat. His challenger did not appeal to the House.

Strong was fined $10 Tuesday for careless driving.

By ROBERT C. RUARK

NEW YORK — I have just emerged alive from the horse country of Virginia, where everybody owns a hacking jacket and a cough to match. This time I walked out; the last time I came out on a stretcher.

What I really went to Virginia for this trip was to press a call on a horse named Prince, a large, white, splay-footed animal who done me a bad turn a few months back, with the result that I was able to play basketball from a wheelchair before the doctor finally sprung me loose from a vicious spate of winter weather in a city New York, where it is impossible for human life to survive either traffic, climate, or human rudeness.

Prince literally refused to receive me, although there was no proper malice in my heart. As Irv Wolf, Prince's proprietor, said: "Ever since Prince got syndicated there ain't no living with him. Live with him? Hell, you can't even get a halter on him."

Ruark

I abandoned the idea of beating Prince to death with a crutch, vintage Culpeper, Va., 1962, and decided to avenge my shattered hip by inflicting my self on the hospitality of the people. It was a mistake. My health would have remained considerably more intact if I'd climbed back aboard Prince and rebuffed the other side of the pelvis.

VIRGINIA hospitality should be made illegal by Harry Byrd, or Harry Taylor, or Harry somebody. I had plumb forgotten the octanage of friendship in a land where they still fight cocks, talk about bear-baiting, and mention Tom Jefferson in a contemporary tone. They still have pump-houses in Virginia, and the pump never runs dry.

A hunt breakfast begins at 4:30 in the afternoon, and, in my case, winds up in disaster. I vaguely remember becoming engaged to a charming lady whose last name still escapes me, but who owns very interesting ski scars and a golden retriever slightly larger than a Shetland pony. One resolution I must make for the new year is to stop getting engaged to ladies whose last names escape me. Hospitality is one thing, but this is ridiculous.

IT IS NOT generally known that a certain sector of Rappahannock County is infested by Scandinavians, and I am rapidly convincing myself that George Washington was really a Swede. The Swedes are intensely hospitable people, and the trouble is that they carry it to a horrifying degree. They also own better, and certainly, more durable livers than Irishmen. One other resolution I must make for the new year is to stop socializing with people named Nils and Maria who live in Rappahannock County. We must keep the country moving, and this ain't the way to do it.

I really don't know why I am telling you all this, except that I took on Virginia more or less as the Chinese took on India. I just wanted to see if I could go in cold and then walk out under my own steam. As mentioned, I made it, but I now realize precisely why the young G. Washington eventually became father of the nation. He had been tested in fire as a young survivor; he had sampled the friendship of his peers, and after that neither the French, the Indians nor the British posed much of a problem.

NOT BEING a Civil War buff, I never was really hip to the details of how the South lost the decision until recently. The truth is that the South didn't lose it. General Grant was drunk at the time, and so, I believe, was General Lee. They shot crap to decide the issue at Richmond, and they paid off on Grant. By seeing as how it happened at a hunt breakfast, Lee was using horse dice with the inevitable result.

At the moment I am heading back to Spain, to lick my wounds, coddle my horse-busted pelvis, and give my liver a long-needed respite from friendship. But one day I shall return to Virginia, and this time, unlike Gen. Lee, I am bringing my own dice, not to mention my own horse, whose name positively will not be Prince. I was thinking more along the lines of a name like Traveller.

Surge of Optimism But Cloud Masses Remain

THERE CAN BE no doubt that a great many people in this hemisphere and abroad, have felt a fresh surge of optimism so far as international affairs are concerned. They observe that the world's waters seem, for the time being, less troubled than they were a year or so ago. They reason, from a succession of events, that the West has made very real progress in its strange, unprecedented conflict with the Soviet bloc. Some are convinced that it is the Soviets who are in real trouble, and that the West has the upper hand at last.

The principal events leading to these conclusions are three. One was President Kennedy's action in forcing the removal of certain Soviet nuclear weapons and warplanes from Cuba, along with a retinue of technicians and soldiers. The second is the rift between the Soviet Union and Red China, which came to a head at the recent conference of Communist nations where Khrushchev denounced Chinese intransigence, and the Chinese delegate stared stolidly at his papers while the other delegates roared applause. The third, and most recent, is the treaty between France and West Germany which President de Gaulle and Chancellor Adenauer agreed upon in late January.

All of these developments add up to good news. But, to cold-eyed and experienced observers, there is a very real danger that their impact on world affairs may be exaggerated, and that they may seem to be much more significant than they really are.

THERE IS A GROWING mass of evidence, past the rumor stage, that Russia has broken her pledge to the President, and is conducting a massive arms build-up in Cuba, employing advanced weapons, planes and submarines. A Senate subcommittee, alarmed by the reports received, has demanded an investigation.

Differences between the Soviet Union and Red China are substantial. But this hardly means that Russia's chief problem is now likely to become the Chinese situation. For those differences have nothing at all to do with long-range purpose, which, to both countries, is the ultimate subjugation of the West, by one means or another, and Communist domination of the entire world. The differences, then, are over tactics and timing—not over the goal.

Russia thinks China is trying to move too fast, and is economically and militarily unable to sustain her plan. What will happen when China attains a nuclear capability, which may come within a few years, poses a grim question indeed. Meanwhile, Russia and China may quarrel all they like, but it should be remembered that this is a quarrel within a family. When and if the time comes, it will be lost in a common cause.

THE FRENCH-West German treaty is designed to end the long and bloody rivalries between these nations, and to create a foundation upon which a true European solidarity can be erected. So far so good—all Westerners of anti-Soviet views welcome that. But a question here is that of the personalities involved. Octogenarian Adenauer retires this coming fall. And President de Gaulle holds relentlessly to one principle—that France must be the leader of any European alliance.

His mind, and it is a brilliant mind, dwells often in the past and thinks, in almost mystic terms, of La Belle France of another age. He has presented the West with two deep, grave problems. One is that France must have her own nuclear deterrent, free of United States control—though no one sees how she could conceivably produce one of worthwhile size in a reasonable length of time. The other is his opposition to Britain's entry into the Common Market, save on terms that Britain reasonably regards as humiliating and will not accept. Should he have his way, and should Britain stay out of the Market and turn back to the Commonwealth concept of trade and life, the whole NATO system will be in danger of foundering and Western solidarity will have more shadow than substance.

Finally, there are the differences between Britain and the United States. They were underlined by the Skybolt decision. Skybolt—an airborne missile—was to be Britain's principal defensive nuclear weapon. But unanticipated problems resulted, and test after test was a failure. The decision was that its perfection would be excessively expensive, that it would be a matter of throwing good money after bad, and that the varied resources involved could be better used on other military hardware. British feeling has been one of deep resentment—of having been almost callously let down by a friend.

THE INTERNATIONAL skies may have cleared somewhat. But masses of clouds remain.

HOW DO YOU STAND, SIR?

New Frontier's Apologists Active

By SEN. BARRY GOLDWATER

The Kennedy administration is currently engaged in a strenuous effort to convince Congress that black is white—or at least that black ink in the accounting ledgers of the government is downright dangerous.

A long list of government officials and journalistic apologists for the New Frontier have taken to defending President Kennedy's nearly $100-billion spending program on the grounds that it is needed to bolster the economy. They tell us that the $11.9-billion deficit written into the federal budget for fiscal year 1964 is not only not dangerous, but that it is absolutely essential "to get the nation moving."

Goldwater

To a nation of people taught from childhood to beware of red ink and to avoid spending more than they could afford, the current propaganda line being peddled along the New Frontier is a revolutionary departure from all the fiscal tenets they respect.

To business executives, long accustomed to operating in an atmosphere which demands responsibility and strict accounting, the President's budget is downright crazy.

To Congressmen whose concern is for the fiscal integrity of the nation, the soundness of the dollar and the development of economic growth, the New Frontier's spending program is incredible.

TO COUNTERACT the unhappy public reaction to Mr. Kennedy's amazing budget, the administration is presently calling out its biggest support guns. Consequently, we find Mr. Walter Lippmann, the New Frontier's most popular newspaper columnist, explaining that the President's planned deficit is a "new experiment for the United States." In a column published Jan. 29 in the Washington Post, Mr. Lippmann says this:

"The difficulty in adapting the new budget principle to the American situation is that there are so many serious and respectable and successful people who think it is crazy, who think it is ridiculous and who think it is not far from being a swindle. They are outraged at the idea of the government going further in debt to make the country richer."

I SUGGEST Mr. Lippmann has here greatly oversimplified the opposition to the administration's plan. The outrage is directed at an administration which attempts to sell the patently-false idea that the way to produce maximum employment and full production is through spending more money and reducing taxes at the same time. Basically, the opposition is grounded in the knowledge that what the President proposes will not bring about economic growth, full employment, correction of the adverse balance in our international payments, but instead will aggravate these deficiencies.

Mr. Lippmann, like everyone else who attempts to defend the administration's plan, is forced to argue that the planned deficit idea is something new and, therefore, difficult to understand. In fact, in the column I refer to, he went all the way back to arguments over the shape of the earth to support his positions.

HERE IS WHAT he said: "This is not the first time that a true theory looked absurd. The earth, for example, seems flat and is round, and it is not so easy to remember how to explain why it is round."

I suggest that it is a lot easier to explain why the earth is round than it is to explain how the administration's program for a calculated deficit of $11.9 billion will produce anything but a new round of inflation and further weakening of the dollar. In fact, it might be as easy to make out a case for the moon being made of green cheese.

"This is not the first time an administration has had to contend with debt in the financing of government accounts. But it certainly is the first time we have found the subject being glorified as something beneficial to the nation. How do you stand, sir?"

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Nicaraguan Agent Helped Finance Kennedy Campaign

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Senate probers digging into foreign agents have unearthed some interesting political contributions. One is a $10,000 contribution from the Somoza brothers of Nicaragua to John F. Kennedy's election campaign in 1960.

President Luis Somoza and his brother Anastasio, secretary of defense, are the men who for years have dominated Nicaragua.

The contribution was made by Frank Berry, a registered Nicaraguan agent, and as far as can be ascertained, Kennedy didn't know anything about it. Berry also made a contribution of around $1,500 to the election of Rep. D. A. Flood, D-Pa., an able and aggressive congressman who has been a long-time booster for a canal through Nicaragua.

Berry comes from Wilkes Barre, Pa., a town, the congressman said he had no idea that Berry was a Nicaraguan agent or that there was any connection between the contribution and the proposed Nicaraguan canal. He had known Berry as a member of the White House Secret Service staff in Truman's day.

"I've been for the Nicaraguan canal for years," he said, when queried by this column. "I've long thought we needed an alternate canal, and that we should build it across Nicaragua because of the uncertain political situation in Panama."

As a top-ranking member of the House Armed Forces Committee, Flood has been studying the means of building an alternate canal, says the Atomic Energy Commission has been working on plans to use atomic energy to dredge out a harbor in Alaska as a test to see whether atomic energy could be used to blast a canal through Nicaragua.

William Jennings Bryan as secretary of state under Woodrow Wilson, negotiated a treaty with Nicaragua in 1914 giving the United States the right to build a sea-level canal across central America at this point.

DR. HARRISON Brown, the Cal Tech physicist, who is married to the granddaughter of William Jennings Bryan, says that Russian scientists have become much more frank and friendly toward the United States. Brown goes to Russia almost every year for joint scientific conferences.

Most interesting change among the Russians he says is their sense of humor about themselves. One illustration is a story of a Russian school teacher who was giving "the line" to a class.

"Now, children," she instructed, "remember that the Soviet Union launched the first Sputnik in 1956, and three years later, sent a man in orbit 17 times around the world. Two years hence we shall reach the moon and five years hence we shall occupy the moon."

"Now, class," are there any questions?" "Yes, teacher," asked one small boy. "When can we go to Vienna?"

"And that story," says Dr. Brown, "is told by the Russians."

ONE FOREIGN agent who, in contrast to many, has been begging Sen. Bill Fulbright, D-Ark., to let him appear as a witness, is Gen. Julius Klein of Chicago. Klein, who served under Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the Rainbow Division in World War I, is a representative of the West German government and adviser to Chancellor Adenauer. He keeps away from propaganda or lobbying, does most of his work interpreting U.S. public opinion and U.S. political trends for the guidance of the German government. The State Department considers him an asset.

One man who went out of his way to obey the foreign registration act and got hurt as a result is William Kling, CBS film supervisor who was planning to do some travel documentaries of Spain for interpublic, a subsidiary of McCann Erickson. Even though he was only to shoot "travelogues in Spain, he leaned over backward to comply with the law. Then the deal fell through—after he had registered.

The foreign agents registration act was passed before Pearl Harbor partly because of information unearthed by Rep. John McCormack of Boston, now speaker, who exposed the manner in which Hitler was using the German railways information office in New York to spread pro-Nazi propaganda.

Also contributing to the law was an expose in this column, showing that Sen. Ernest Lundeen of Minnesota had his pro-Hitler speeches written for him by George Sylvester Viereck, a nephew of the Kaiser and a secret propagandist for the Nazis. The law does not prohibit advertising, propaganda work, lobbying, etc., for a foreign government, and some highly respectable people have done so. The law merely requires that the person representing a foreign government register so that the public may have the facts.

Answers To Your Questions

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 14 and the hair on my legs is black. I asked my mother if I could shave and she said no, but that I could use cream hair remover. My home economics teacher said this would open the pores and cause more hair to grow. So is it better to shave? I'm confused.—U. Z.

I can't blame you for being confused. Neither shaving nor cream removers will increase the growth of hair, and which is better depends on personal preference.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have had hepatitis for several months but still feel sick at my stomach and become very tired. I have been told that I will get well, I have also been told that I will never be entirely over it. Which opinion do you think is right? —MRS. A. T.

You'll get over it, but it takes time. There is reason to suspect that many patients may, after fully recovering, still harbor the virus but it doesn't bother them. It is important only to the extent that we are reluctant to accept blood donations from people who have had the disease.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

Lewiston Farmer Discusses Price Problem

To the Editor:

Farmers problems affect businessmen, bankers, farmers and almost everyone. The decline in farm income relative to other segments of the economy started during the Truman Administration because of the Korean War price limits set. They were set low for farming (pre-World War II levels) and higher for industry (1950 level).

The initial decision by government economists to "boom" industry at the expense of agriculture (it was thought that farmers could live off their fat for awhile) was made in 1949 by President Truman's Council of Economic Advisers. This trend got out of hand during President Eisenhower's term (1952-1960) and farmers were really hurt by flexible parity set in 1954 and Benson's programs in 1959-1960.

One thing the Republican farm policies did was make the farmers very efficient and weeded out many small, uneconomic farm units. This trend has gone too far and many rural businesses are now threatened.

Farmers purchasing power and prices received have declined at least 30 percent in the last ten years. (Farm prices down 19 percent and industrial prices up 28 percent. Farmers have increased production over 35 percent in an attempt to maintain their net income but it has been a losing battle).

Prosperous farmers can handle their own affairs and get the government out of agriculture at a great saving to the taxpayers. The rise in retail food prices stemming from fair or parity income by farmers would be about 8 percent, which would be a small price to pay for greatly increased farmer purchasing power, lower taxes for federal farm programs, and increased tax receipts at the local level (due to higher county assessments if farmers could fix up, paint up and buy more new equipment).

The government should get out of agriculture and let the farmers run their own business. But the withdrawal should be done gradually. An abrupt withdrawal of government programs, before farmers (in general) are strong enough to handle their own affairs, would be disastrous. It would enable chain stores and processors to beat farmers prices down to almost zero profit for the farmer. They would then keep prices just high enough so that some farmers would hang on and produce like crazy for them. They wouldn't lower prices down to where we would all go broke because then they would have the headache and expense of farming for themselves and lose a source of very cheap raw food material.

If farm prices were increased 20 percent (which would bring them up to a fair level) the retail price of food should increase only 5 percent on an average. With only 19 percent of the consumers disposable income spent for food, an 8 percent rise would mean only a 1.6 percent rise in the total cost of living. This certainly is not an unreasonable figure. This means that the consumer would spend 20.6 percent of their disposable income for food instead of the present 19 percent and greatly increase the farmers purchasing power. Think of the business this 20 percent more farm income would create for our economy.

According to farm product income in Winona County at present prices, the 20 percent increase would amount to around $7 million in Winona County in just one year. This $7 million is being lost each year, lost forever. If the farmers do not get paid properly first, then no one else can share in this economic wealth either.

Farmers are certainly entitled to an increase in income after watching other prices rise out of their reach over the last ten years. While farmers increased their efficiency by 35 percent their costs have risen more to offset this and find themselves more inefficient now than ten years ago.

Roughly another 15 million farmers feed 405 million people besides themselves. Their average wage being 82 cents per hour and no return on their investment or 4 percent on their investment and nothing for labor.

Would it really be unfair to the consumer to pay the farmer properly? Remember, everything we buy at the supermarket is not food. So before anyone complains of high food prices, check the non-food items in the basket first.

U.S. Was Loser In "Cuban Showdown"

The Kennedy administration's recent and highly publicized attempt to disprove urgent warnings of a new Cuban military buildup has failed to convince many Americans that Cuba does not present a threat to the security of the Western Hemisphere. While there can be no doubt the Soviet Union has dismantled its original Cuban rocket and bomber facilities, could not there be other means in which to launch "nuclear devastation" from the Caribbean to American cities and military installations?

Communist Cuba has been armed with a fleet of nearly 200 highly advanced Soviet built MIG fighter aircraft. Many of these sophisticated craft are well capable of delivering hydrogen warheads on American targets at twice the speed of sound. If the Soviet Union was able to sneak medium bombers and ballistic missiles into Cuba under the unwatchful attention of the State Department, why not small nuclear weapons to be carried by MIG aircraft based within striking distance of our Republic? While the MIG fighter is relatively short of range compared with a regular nuclear bomber, this craft can fly swifter, soar higher, is more difficult to detect, and can launch "nuclear terror" over vast regions of the southern states.

Another frightening element the administration refuses to uncover is the rapid construction in Cuba of an operational Russian naval base. The infamous Soviet trawler fleet, which has earned a reputation of "fishing" for everything except fish, will then be able to spy on military and scientific rocket flights from Cape Canaveral while moored in Cuba. Recent Soviet development of a "Polaris type" ballistic missile brings to light the possibility that Communist "rocket firing" submarines may be based in the Caribbean ready to hurdle "Havana Cigars" deep into the United States. Besides, when is President Kennedy going to fully understand that the thousands of Russian troops now in Cuba are not there to take Spanish lessons, or to harvest sugar cane?

It is my opinion that the United States, not the Soviet Union, was the loser in last fall's crucial "Cuban Showdown." After all, are not Communist troops and modern weapons still being maintained on Cuban territory, along with the continual construction of a naval base that could accommodate "rocket firing" submarines? There has never been one instance where Soviet Russia has kept a promise when dealing with the free world! In closing, just as a "Cuban Crisis" arrived with the falling leaves of autumn, another "Cuban Affair" may unfortunately blossom this spring with the leaves and mushrooms.

Kennedy Asks 2 More Men on Tax Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has put his weight behind an effort to enlarge the Senate's key Finance Committee to get more elbow room there for his tax bill and other major legislation.

In his first intervention in such Senate matters, the President has sent White House aides to Capitol Hill to lobby for the addition of two seats to the 17-member committee headed by Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va. Byrd is opposing this proposal.

The move — which presidential aides have tried to keep under cover — parallels Kennedy's earlier successful public fight to retain the traffic-directing House Rules Committee at the membership level of 15 calculated to open the road for action on his program.

The first test vote on enlarging the Finance Committee to 19 will come at a closed meeting Thursday of the Senate Democratic Steering Committee. This group is headed by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

The outcome may depend on whether members vote by secret ballot. The administration holds a nominal 8-7 margin over seven Southern conservatives who could be expected to resist the placement of additional liberal party members on a committee previously dominated by a conservative Republican-Democratic coalition.

If the steering group should vote to expand the Finance Committee, Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois has promised to fight the action in the Senate. Presumably he would have almost solid Republican support, plus that

Galesville Scouts Get Church Award

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special)—Two Galesville Boy Scouts received the Pro Deo et Patria badge during services at Zion Lutheran Church Sunday.

Their mothers pinned the badges on Theodore Twesme, son of Judge and Mrs. A. T. Twesme, and Thomas Rohde, son of Dr. and Mrs. Elmer P. Rohde. Also taking part in the ceremony were Pastor Vernon Hintermeyer, who worked with the boys in attaining the goal; Robert Docken, Scoutmaster, and Sam Hagerman, Holmen director of the 400-acre Camp Decorah of the Gateway Area Council. Hagerman represented the congregation's board of deacons.

In the audience was Pat Ingli, La Crosse, executive of the Gateway Area Council. A potluck dinner in the church basement followed the services.

The Galesville boys are among more than 7,800 Scouts who have received the "For God and Country" award from the Lutheran church.

of many conservative Democrats. Dirksen is slated to fill a Republican vacancy on the Finance group. His opposition to enlargement of the committee may be somewhat compromised by his efforts to get the Senate Appropriations Committee expanded so that Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., will not lose his seat on that important group.

The President's action in stepping into the controversy was regarded in some quarters as a move to placate liberal Democrats who complained bitterly that he did not lift a hand for them in their vain effort to make it easier for the Senate to cut off filibusters.

When that matter was before the Senate, Mansfield said that it was the Senate's business alone and Kennedy would take no part in it.

THE WORLD TODAY

Europe's Attitude On U.S. Changes

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The small convulsions shaking the West at the moment of its greatest power—and when the Communist front is cracking—look like forerunners of change in what seemed solid and simple for 16 years.

The change, which may force this country into new thinking in the years ahead and into new arrangements with its allies, has some bitter ironies, bitter because they are the product of success.

It was 16 years ago that the United States dropped the last remnants of isolationism—when President Truman decided to help Greece and Turkey against Russia—and assumed leadership and partnership in the West.

That was even before the Red Chinese had taken over the China mainland. Out of the Truman doctrine grew the NATO alliance, the Marshall Plan and other American alliances and bases around the world.

In the late 1940s, when the Western Allies were flat on their backs, it was American money which saved them from chaos and perhaps revolution and Communist take-over. American arms protected them from Russian infringement.

The years became savage; the Communist seizure of Czechoslovakia, the Berlin blockade, the Korean War, and the final conquest of the mainland of China by the Chinese Reds.

The very terror of the times melted the allies into a harmonious whole and glued them together.

The Western Allies welcomed American troops and American bases as their main protection against a sudden lunge by the Russian bear. It was also a time, significantly enough, before this country had intercontinental missiles.

The Europeans may never have been at ease completely with those American bases on their territory. It meant they would be certain targets in case of attack.

But just because the United States then lacked intercontinental missiles those close-up bases were necessary and the only possible deterrents.

The pattern of the 1950s—the NATO alliance and the bases and the American presence in the form of troops—looked indefinitely fixed, a kind of happy solution built up over many years to last many years.

Particularly for this most unhappy reason: The growing nuclear strength of Russia backed up by its friendship and alliance with Red China, a solid Communist world against the rest of the earth.

Gradually and only recently—as the United States and Russia built up their intercontinental weapons—the idea sank into the consciousness of the world that the two giants had become so powerful they had reached a stand-off.

War between them would destroy both of them. Therefore, both would be most reluctant to begin a war.

Two other things were happening: Europe had become fat and prosperous and communism no longer presented a solid wall. It began to split and crack as the Russians and Red Chinese quarreled.

Europe developed then a greater sense of security—less fear—than it had had since the war. It was this sense of security, no doubt, which emboldened French President Charles de Gaulle to assert more intransigence than he had dared before.

Since the United States could now protect Europe from its own bases at home with its intercontinental missiles, the Europeans developed a greater sense of confidence and well-being and a reluctance to have American bases near them.

The United States is taking its out-dated missiles out of Italy and Turkey. It wishes to replace them, still as a deterrent to Russia, with the missiles on Polaris submarines. It wants submarine bases in Italy and Spain. The Italians and Spaniards reportedly are showing reluctance.

These problems over De Gaulle and the bases, while they seem foggy and perhaps even minor now, are probably the early symptoms of changing attitudes in Europe toward its relations with America and its utter dependence on her.

Therefore, in the years ahead many rearrangements may have to be made. The old pattern is dying. The new arrangements may not all be happy or palatable. Some may be disastrous. The more unpleasant they are, the more surely they will lay the foundation for the resurrection of American isolationism, a desire to retreat behind the protection of the intercontinental missiles.

Astronauts, Wives Have Get Together

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The nation's 16 astronauts and their wives got together for the first time at an informal buffet supper last weekend, the John H. Glenn said Tuesday.

The supper was held at the Glenn home. "No one was missing," said Glenn, the first American to make an orbital flight. "It was sort of a first for all of us—the first time we 16 fellows and our wives have been together for such a very informal and enjoyable evening."

So HELP Me
by Fran

Tomorrow is Valentine's Day — are you ready with a little something for the ones you love — This is one day when a person loves to be remembered — just a card or small package — makes no difference — just remember — BROWN DRUG has a good assortment of Valentine Cards and a nice grouping of gift suggestions ready for those of you who are last minute shoppers — We will gift wrap for you — all ready to give.

Mrs. H. Alma — we mailed you the little package, stop in when you are in town the next time and I will tell you about it — hope you like this one.

Really quite a change in the way the girls are styling their hair — the new Hair Trend magazine on the magazine rack should be a lot of help to you — one of the things so many of them now suggest is the use of a "Wave Lotion" to help hold without so much teasing — one that is receiving much publicity is Dorothy Gray's Wave Lotion — this is not a hair spray — just a fine wave lotion to help hold without stiffness — another good one is "Setting Pretty" — by DuBarry — comb through the hair by sections — rolls smoothly — keeps combout under close control.

Large sizes of Clairol Shampoo have arrived — a big saving for you — especially for tinted and bleached hair — no danger of washout for tints or toners — Clairol Blue for delicate blondes — Clairol Green for all red, brown and black shades — keep the color in your hair — not in the wash.

A boon for skin with an occasional blemish — miner, but enough to mar the look — try Revlon's "Natural Wonder" — in pressed powder, liquid or all-in-one make-up in a tube.

For the finest in Cosmetics — try Brown Drug.

Lighting OKed At Independence

INDEPENDENCE, Wis.—Independence City Council has voted to improve the street lighting system on Highway 33 through town and in the downtown area.

The new lighting will be installed by Northern States Power Co. at no cost to the city. However, the city will pay a higher rate.

MELVIN Samplowski, local NSP representative, explained the proposed system at a meeting last week.

At present there are 25 10,000-lumen lamps between the high school and the intersection of Highway 93 and 121. These would be replaced with 25 fluorescent lights of 23,000 lumens each. This would increase the lighting from 250,000 lumens to a total of 575,000 lumens.

The city pays $50 a year for each 10,000-lumen lamp. The new cost would be $100 a year for the 23,000-lumen lamps.

In addition, two fluorescent watch lights would be installed in and near the park, replacing those now in use. Present lights in the alley at the rear of State Bank and Smieja's Market also would be changed to small fluorescents.

TOTAL additional cost to the city would be $1,306 a year.

The new lights all would be placed on the same side of the street and suspended 18 feet over the street at a height of 23 feet from the pavement. They will have four fluorescent tubes tilted at a 45-degree angle so sidewalks on the opposite side will be well lighted.

Construction will begin as soon as plans are approved by the Minneapolis office and materials are received.

State X-ray Unit To Make Stops In Buffalo Co.

ALMA, Wis. (Special)—A screening program for the detection of tuberculosis or other lung diseases, some form of heart disease, high blood pressure and diabetes is being offered people of Buffalo County by the nursing service and local physicians.

Homemaker groups also are giving volunteer service in the project which will begin Monday and extend through March.

SIMPLE TESTS to determine the presence of these diseases will be available at the state Board of Health mobile X-ray as it stops at the various communities in the county.

"They do not replace a thorough periodic medical examination by your family physician," said Miss Evelyn Nappe, county nurse. "They do not give all the answers, but have proven effective in locating those who need further checkup."

Persons who should have an X-ray are adults over 18 who have had contacts with known tuberculosis cases, have not been examined or have had negative findings, and contacts with persons with positive tuberculin tests if not examined before.

"No one is too old," the nurse points out. "The older you are, the more you need periodic chest X-rays." The diseases checked strike men and women of all ages but especially people over 40.

Boy, 10, Standing On Tracks, Stops Train at La Crosse

LA CROSSE, Wis. (AP)—A Burlington Line passenger train had to make an emergency stop last week, apparently because a 10-year-old boy was playing the game of "chicken," George Lang, the line's special agent at La Crosse, said Tuesday.

Lang said the boy, who stood on the tracks, was turned over to juvenile authorities. "Chicken" amounts to holding a position in the path of an oncoming vehicle until the last possible moment.

The incident on the outskirts of La Crosse was the first since the game was started last year, Lang said. He said the instances last year ended shortly after they began.

Persons who should have the diabetic test are persons age 40 and over; blood relative of a diabetic; parents of an infant weighing nine pounds or more at birth; women pregnant more than three months, and obese persons. A sample of blood is taken from a finger prick for this test.

Sen. Wright Seeks Flaws in Legislation

Sen. Donald Wright

This is another in a series on Minnesota legislative leaders.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
His associates in the Minnesota Senate say Sen. Donald Wright of Minneapolis has a sharp eye for a hidden flaw in a piece of legislation.

Those who have opposed him in debate say his tongue is equally sharp and that he has few equals when it comes to weaving his way through parliamentary entanglements.

The senator himself would say that if any of this were true it would be because he has been around longer than most anyone else. He began serving in the House in 1927, the same year that Rep. Ed Chilgren of Littlefork started, and moved to the Senate in 1935. Only other senator with the same length of service is Sen. Val Iman of Mankato.

The number of committees he has headed are some measure of Sen. Wright's experience. In the House he was chairman of the committee on Workmen's compensation. Since moving to the Senate he has headed committees on liquor control, welfare, civil administration and highways and taxes.

He is now chairman of the Tax Committee, a post he has held 10 years. His other committee assignments this session are welfare, labor, judiciary, education, highways, committee on committees and rules.

He lists tax reform as the job he would most like to see the legislature accomplish this session — tax reform that would include enactment of a sales tax law. The sales tax would provide replacement for some personal property and real estate taxes.

"I believe that more jobs for more people must be accomplished if Minnesota's economy is to expand," he says, "and tax reform is essential if we are to create more jobs."

In addition to his long legislative service, Sen. Wright was Minnesota's lieutenant governor in 1953, filling out the unexpired term of Ancher Nelsen, who resigned to become head of the Rural Electrification Administration. Sen. Wright is a member of the executive committee of the National Tax Association.

He has practiced law in his native Minneapolis since 1918. For recreation he hunts and fishes. He also calls himself a "basement carpenter."

Over the past decade, the number of dairy cows has declined 10 percent, but milk production has increased 9 percent — an increase in productivity per cow of 34 percent.

Money!, Root of Many Arguments

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a 58-year-old widow who was left well-off financially. I wrote and asked you if I should marry a charming, fine-looking gentleman who claimed he loved me. I explained that although he had no money I wanted to marry him. But if I were to die first, I wanted my children to inherit my money, not him or his children. You told me to have my lawyer draw up a pre-nuptial agreement (stating the terms) and to have my fiancé sign it. He is now arguing that if he were to give me the best years of his life and I died first, he should be entitled to something. He says if HE had the money he wouldn't leave ME penniless. In other words, "What's good for the goose is good for the gander." What do you say?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: I say he might be a goose, but YOU don't have to be. Tell him to take a gander around at other widows and if he sees a better deal to grab it. And if he heads for the door, open it for him.

DEAR ABBY: I have a husband who said, "Honey, you work 7 days a week, so from now on I am going to give you one day a week off." That day he lets me sleep late and he takes care of our two children. He brings me breakfast in bed. The coffee is weak and the toast is cold, but it is the most delicious meal of the week. Why don't more husbands act like that?

HAPPY WIFE

DEAR HAPPY: They probably will after I print this.

DEAR ABBY: How do you tell an 8-year-old blabbermouth that he is going to have a little brother (or sister)? He just loves babies and has told me several times he wished I would "get him" one. I want to tell him because I know it would make him happy but, knowing him, he will tell everybody about it. I don't want him telling some of our elderly neighbors who think it isn't right for little children to know these things. Also, I know he will start asking a lot of questions. Most of all I am afraid he might not say it right. You know how children can say things. Please help me. I'm six months now.

WANTS TO TELL

DEAR WANTS: Tell him! And don't worry about what the neighbors (young or elderly) will say. If he starts asking "a lot of questions," give him a lot of answers. The right ones.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Badger Senate Approves Change in Tax Setup

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The State Senate unanimously approved a bill Tuesday to define state taxes on liquor and cigarettes as direct taxes on the consumer.

If approved by the Assembly and signed by the governor, this would make such taxes deductible for federal income tax purposes.

Another unanimous vote approved a measure allowing firemen to deduct from their state income taxes contributions made to their relief benefit associations.

Earlier, Republican senators attacked the showing of a moving picture during Gov. John W. Reynolds' budget presentation last week. The film was taken during Reynolds' tour of state institutions.

Sen. Clifford Krueger, R-Merrill, called the showing of institution inmates "a common county fair sideshow."

Krueger said he was disturbed that faces of "unfortunate subjects" in the film were shown.

"There was no attempt to black out faces," he said, "which was the least that could have been done."

Sen. Reuben La Fave, R-Oconto, added that the Reynolds film "used mentally deficient children as a crutch to support spending programs."

Defending Reynolds, Sen. Charles Schmidt, D-Milwaukee, asked GOP members, "Do you want us to throw a gas pellet into these institutions?"

"That would take care of our problem," Schmidt said. "But we don't want to do that, we want to take care of these unfortunate people."

In an abbreviated session, new Senate bills introduced included a proposal to drop the legal voting age to 18. Offered by Sen. Gerald Lange, R-Bear Creek, the change would be effective only if approved in an April 2 referendum.

The Assembly session was confined to introduction of new legislation. Included were:

A bill to reimpose the personal property tax on pleasure boats, by William Ward, D-New Richmond, and Harvey Dueholm, D-Luck.

A bill to require signs at voting places stating, "The ballot is properly endorsed by the ballot clerk," by Roy Naleid, D-Racine. This move was prompted by the recent dispute over seating a Kenosha County Second District assemblyman.

A resolution asking Congress to enact legislation to insure the free flow of milk in interstate commerce, by a half dozen assemblymen.

February winds blew in this news from London, England: a British brewery has designed what it terms "the perfect beer glass." Gobel-shaped, with slightly nipped-in top and round stem, it's said to help one get beer into the mouth... and not down one's shirt-front! Of course we American hostesses often serve beer in goblets; it's so attractive at the table. Beer tastes fine in any shape glass! But it will hold its foamy collar better if you'll rinse the glass in cold water first. (No wiping, please.)

No Planned Cutback Of Forces In Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon's manpower chief says he is unaware of any plan to cut Army forces in Europe by 40,000 men.

Assistant Secretary of Defense Norman S. Paul, in charge of manpower, told this to a reporter when asked Tuesday night about reports that such a cutback is planned over the next two years. The Defense Department repeated what it said about similar reports Monday—"We know of no planned reductions of U.S. military personnel in Europe at this time." The total now is about 255,000.

Billy Graham Plans Trip to Asia Soon

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham says a spiritual revival in the Soviet Union is disturbing Russian leaders. Graham said Tuesday that he could not speculate on whether such a revival would lead to an uprising against communism. The evangelist stopped off in Los Angeles on his way to Honolulu to recuperate from a chest infection.

$125 Mink Coat For Poodle Dog

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP)—Tu-Tu, a 6-year-old toy French

poodle, could be the envy of all the other dogs and most of the human beings in Brockton. She has a new mink coat which cost her owner, Mildred Holmes, $125. "It's not a blanket," Mrs. Holmes emphasizes. "And it was not easy for the furrier to make it. It required several fittings." Explains Mrs. Holmes: "It's a real coat, with armholes and it's made to fit exactly to Tu-Tu's royal Dutch cut. That's the way all poodles of this kind are trimmed."

Actor George Maharis Out of 'Route 66'

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor George Maharis has been suspended from his costarring role on the "Route 66" television show. Producer Herbert B. Leonard gave no reason for the suspension but a spokesman for Lancer Productions said Tuesday Maharis had been absent repeatedly because of illness. Maharis, in New York, had no comment.

Actor Glenn Corbett has been hired to play opposite Martin Milner on the show, the spokesman said.

In 1961, American farmers sold about $35 billion worth of goods. According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, it cost $25 billion to produce these goods.

BAY STATE FIRE—One of the more spectacular fires in Winona history was one that destroyed the Bay State Milling Company on July 28, 1911. The above photo shows the fire from the river side and was from the collection of F. J. Allen Sr., former vice president and general manager, and the lower photo from the land side from the photos supplied by Norris Northrup, Trempealeau.

Ed Buck Says—

Home movies are very entertaining for the family, but have gained a reputation of being boring to entrapped guests. With a little forethought, some concentration during the filming, and just modest ability this can be avoided.

The secret of good home movies is to make them a feature with continuity from beginning to end. Make each segment a planned story.

By spending some time in planning, you can turn the dull half hour into stimulating entertainment your guests will look forward to in the future. Some of our avid movie users even write a script, and this as a matter of fact, is a very beneficial idea from a planning sense.

Summer is just around the corner, and this year along with recording your family's activities on film, try something creative. If you are a fisherman, there are many ideal subjects which are just waiting to be photographed. Or perhaps you are a water skier, there again are many opportunities for excellent footage. With a little clever editing some comical scenes are sure to show themselves.

No matter what your interests are, a movie feature on any of them would be more gratifying. Come in and see us ... we will be happy to give you some tips to add to your personal "BEN HUR."

We also stock many publications which have proved a great help in creative movie making.

The machine that they are pinning their hopes on is a maroon 1953 Studebaker powered by a 58 Edel Pacer engine. With the hood on the modified stock car looks docile enough except for the tapered front fenders which don't allow for headlights. Pop the latch, however, and you will see why this road racing team has hopes of it topping 170 m.p.h.

Sitting right on top of the Edel mill are six two-barrel Rochester carburetors. This and another identical twin engine have been bored out to 401 cubic inches. To add a little more get-up-and-go, the valves are lifted by an Iskenderian roller cam and tappets.

Ernie has been an active racing figure in the Winona area for over 10 years. After shattering all the records at the La Crosse and New Brighton tracks, he decided to go all out and take a car to Daytona and the National Championship of Stock Car Racing.

In the past two years he went as a spectator. Last year he and Johnson paid a $50 lap fee so they could be in the pits and talk with the mechanics and drivers.

McKinley to Vie For No. 1 World Tennis Ranking

NEW YORK (AP)—Chuck McKinley, on a court made to order for his attacking style, opens a drive tonight to defend his national indoor tennis championship and take over No. 1 world ranking.

The stocky, power-hitting American hopes to supplant Australia's Rod Laver, now a pro, in the top spot.

Nov. Emerson, Laver's Davis Cup mate, has the same ambitions. He heads the foreign seedings in the indoor, played on the fast boards of the 7th Regiment Armory.

McKinley, from St. Ann, Mo., demolished Laver last year, 6-0, 6-4, in the indoor semifinals and beat Whitney Reed in the final.

Reed is seeded right behind McKinley on the domestic list for the indoors.

McKinley opens play tonight against John Sharpe of Australia. Emerson meets Bill Scaret of Cedar Grove, N.J.

Play continues Thursday and Friday nights, with the semifinals Saturday afternoon and the finals Sunday afternoon.

Tennessee Cagers Play Cautious Tilt

JONESBORO, Tenn. (AP)—They came, they saw and then just stood around most of the game Tuesday night when Erwin High School outlasted Lamar 27-19 in a basketball match.

With both teams playing strict ball control all the way, Erwin led 4-1 after three periods, but had to come from behind in the last quarter on a field goal by Doug Shook.
