Smashing Vote Of Confidence For Willy Brandt

BERLIN (AP)—West Berliners gave their Socialist mayor, Willy Brandt, a smashing vote of confidence Sunday in their first municipal election since the Communists built their Berlin wall. Brandt's anti-Communist Socialists won 89 of the 140 seats in the city's new Parliament. They had 77 deputies in the 133-seat house elected four years ago. West Berlin's small Communist party, never represented in Parliament, lost a third of its popular vote. This was blamed largely on the wall. The Communist vote declined from 31,570 in 1959 to 20,887 ballots. In percentage of the total votes, they decreased from 1.9 to 1.3 per cent.

The Free Democrats, led by Franz Arnheim, deputy mayor in Brandt's coalition government of Socialists and Christian Democrats, won 41 seats, a drop of 14. They lost over 160,000 votes.

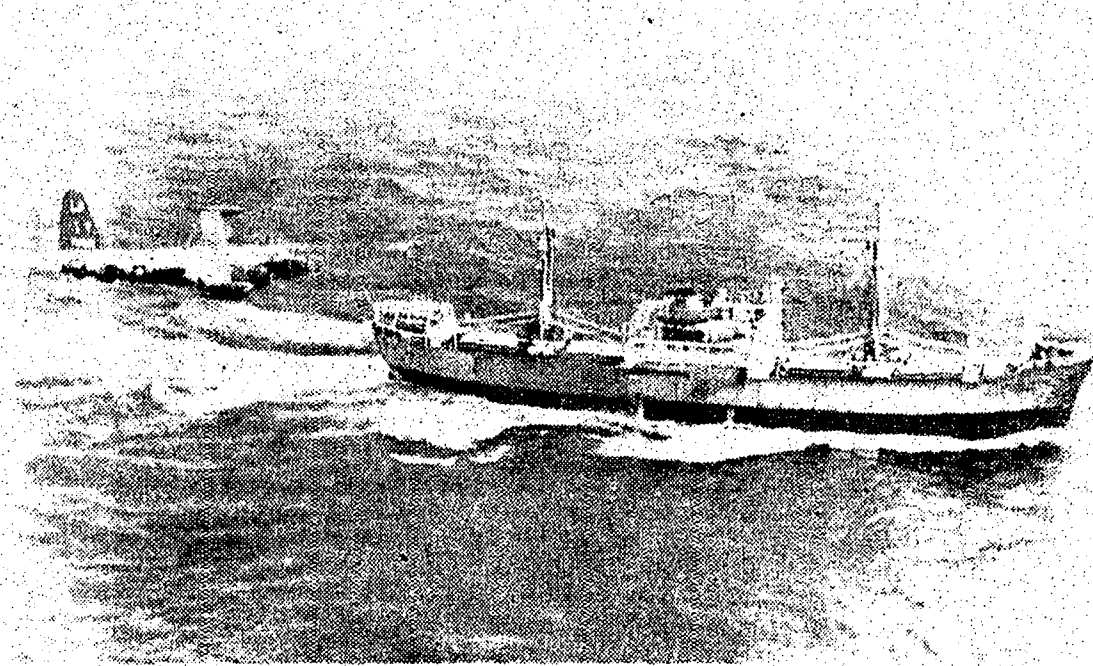

The Free Democrats, not represented in the old house, doubled their strength and entered the new city Parliament with 10 deputies. Political observers agreed that the city election outcome gave a new key to the West German political situation. Berlin, like most big German cities, is a traditional Socialist stronghold. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic party is strong in small towns and rural areas.

The Christian Democrats are largely a Roman Catholic party. West Berlin is predominantly Protestant.

The Socialists and Christian Democrats had formed a government coalition to demonstrate the unified opposition of the city's major political groups to the East German Communists encircling West Berlin.

Brandt in his first post-election comment said his party is ready to form a new government on as broad a basis as possible. But he told the Christian Democrats and Free Democrats they must adapt themselves to the Socialists' campaign platform if they join his coalition.

This was viewed as a broad hint that Brandt will not repeat such concessions to the Christian Democrats as his cancellation of a meeting with Premier Khrushchev during the Soviet leader's visit to East Berlin last January.

NAVY PLANE INTERCEPTS FREIGHTER — A U. S. Navy Neptune plane flies over the hijacked Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui after intercepting the vessel about 140 miles north of the French Guiana coast. The plane fired rockets across the ship's bow. A Pentagon spokesman in Washington said the Navy was just trying to attract the attention of the ship so they could communicate. This picture was taken by David Acevedo of the San Juan Star in Puerto Rico and was transmitted in two parts. (AP Photofax via radio from Port of Spain)

Two Small Boats Visit Fugitive Ship

BELEM, Brazil (AP) — Under constant U.S. air and sea watch, the hijacked Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui was anchored in Brazilian waters today with her pro-Communist captors reported ready to surrender to Brazil.

A Brazilian government source said the ship will be taken into custody, but the government has indicated that the pro-Communists who seized the Anzoategui will be given asylum and not turned over to Venezuela.

Wilmar Medina Rojas, leader of the band that seized the ship on the high seas last week, was quoted by Havana radio as sending this message to Rio de Janeiro:

"We are anchored in the territorial waters of Brazil between the mouth of the River Amazon and Maraca Island. We are awaiting Brazilian authorities aboard. Signed: Wilmar Medina Rojas." Maraca Island is about 300 miles northwest of Belem. The river Amazon flows into the sea near the northern tip of the island.

The naval base here earlier announced that Brazilian ships were keeping watch on the 3,127-ton freighter. Another destroyer, the Berloga, was putting out from Belem on an ocean survey mission. The navy base said she could easily be diverted to the Anzoategui.

The Havana broadcast said two members of the Armed Forces for National Liberation (FALN) are en route to Recife, Brazil, to negotiate asylum for the hijackers.

The pro-Communist foes of the Venezuelan government seized the ship after she put to sea last week, in an effort to embarrass President Romulo Betancourt, an enemy of Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

But the incident failed to accomplish one aim—to prevent his visit to the United States. Betancourt flew to San Juan, Puerto Rico, and will leave from there Tuesday for Washington.

The U.S. research vessel Gibbs, manned by civilians, is keeping a sea watch on the freighter 23 miles to the east, said an Associated Press dispatch from Paramaribo, in Surinam, Dutch Guiana.

The freighter anchored off the Brazilian island Sunday.

Two small boats were seen to visit the fugitive ship Sunday night, shortly after a tracking American plane saw the freighter stop suddenly deep in the water off the island.

In Washington, Edwin M. Martin, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, told a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee the ship was anchored just inside Brazilian territorial waters.

The Pentagon fixed the position as 3,000 yards off shore.

Martin said the ship apparently had anchored to await what he called a pickup from Brazil and promised asylum in that country.

He said the freighter's captors evidently felt that they had accomplished their mission by reaching Brazilian waters and that there was no need to take the ship 300 miles farther to the Brazilian port of Belem.

The U.S. Defense Department said a tracking American plane saw the 3,127-ton fugitive ship stop dead in the water suddenly off the Brazilian island about 7 p.m.

The island lies about 300 miles northwest of the Brazilian port of Belem, where the hijackers had indicated they might seek refuge. The report from the tracking plane gave no hint of the identity of people in the boats that appeared alongside the freighter.

Communist gunmen stowed away on the Anzoategui early this week and with the help of one or more members of the crew took over the ship Wednesday after it sailed from Venezuela for New Orleans, La., and Houston, Tex.

The hijackers reportedly made the captain and most of his 35-man crew captive. President Romulo Betancourt's anti-Communist government branded the hijackers outlaws and appealed to friendly nations with forces in the Caribbean to seize the freighter.

Seizure of the vessel appeared to be part of a Communist attempt to force Betancourt to cancel a visit with President Kennedy in Washington this week. Betancourt went ahead with plans to leave for Puerto Rico today and to fly on to Washington Tuesday.

Although Fidel Castro's regime offered the hijackers asylum in Cuba, the ship was located Saturday off the northeast coast of South America. It appeared to be heading for Brazil, where Portuguese rebels who seized the liner Santa Maria in 1961 found asylum.

Allied Leadership Problem for U.S.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — In the give and take of a fast-moving news conference President Kennedy sometimes crashes through the careful restraints worked out by his official advisers and voices in loud, clear words some hard truth of international relations they would prefer to soft pedal. In the last few days under the stress of question and answer the President has thus thrown the insight of sharp understanding on one of the problems involved in the present disarray of the Western Alliance. This is the problem of U.S. leadership.

It arises in many different contexts and it appears to be much on the President's mind. A little more than six weeks ago in a year-end review of his administration he stressed the need to get things done even at the cost of disagreement and unhappiness in friendly capitals. He does not conceive of the United States as being in a popularity contest. He sees it in today's dangerous world as saddled with a lonely responsibility to see that the necessary things get done at the right time and in the right way to save the world from nuclear destruction and from Communist conquest.

The problem as Kennedy sees it—the problem which is at the core of his differences with French President Charles de Gaulle—came clear in a few flashing phrases at his news conference last Thursday. Kennedy was talking about creation of a nuclear force under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Missiles with nuclear warheads may have to be fired on five minutes notice, he said, and the decision to fire may have to be almost instantaneous.

"Who is going to be delegated on behalf of Europe to make this judgment?" the President asked. "Someone has to be delegated with that authority."

"If it isn't the president of the United States it will have to be the president of France or the prime minister of Great Britain, or someone else."

His remark appears to have been more generous than practical. It does not appear to be possible that the total and final control over nuclear forces almost entirely supplied by the United States would be handed over to the chief of a foreign government.

The issue which the President therefore sharply posed is the issue of American leadership. In the present state of international affairs it is essentially the question of whether the Allies now, in changing circumstances, will accept that leadership as a more or less permanent, more or less decisive arrangement.

So long as the United States had a clear monopoly of atomic power it was in position to make its will felt not only in the military but in other fields of foreign policy.

With the postwar growth of economic prosperity in Western Europe, with the rise of Soviet nuclear weapons capacity, with the development of limited nuclear power in Britain and the less advanced production of such might in France, the forces which once placed the leadership of the United States beyond contest by any of the Allies have given way to an entirely different set of influences.

These have given De Gaulle his opportunity to chart a different course for France based on French prosperity in a profitable European economy and French nuclear power sufficient to furnish dreams of new glory.

The problem is not so difficult for Soviet Premier Khrushchev because his international relations rest on a system of central control and his allies are satellites or else they break away completely.

Communism Loses Battle in Africa

VIENNA (AP) — Communism has lost a battle in Africa. The defeat will influence the future course of young nations on the Dark Continent.

The battle was lost in the minds of African students who went behind the Iron Curtain and found Communist talk about the equality of man only a lure. They are coming back with the same accusation of racial discrimination they once hurled at their white colonial masters.

Supreme Court Rejects Appeal By Mississippi

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court rejected today a Mississippi appeal asking review of actions by the Justice Department and the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in the admission of James H. Meredith, Negro, to the University of Mississippi.

The appeal, filed by Mississippi Atty. Gen. Joe T. Patterson and five assistants, said federal officials in the Meredith case disobeyed the Constitution, apparently for political gain.

The Circuit Court in New Orleans, the appeal said, "was rushed headlong past the most basic doctrines of constitutional law in the haste of these parties to secure what was, for the Department of Justice, apparently the quiescence of political expediency."

The appeal asserted "no graver constitutional issue" had ever faced the high tribunal.

The Supreme Court's rejection of the appeal was in a brief order which gave no reason.

Iowa Lad Takes Top Hog Honors

3 Die in Fire at Rochester, Wis.

ROCHESTER, Wis. — Three elderly persons — two brothers and a sister — died Saturday night when fire destroyed their small frame home in this Racine County community.

The victims were Albert, William and Myrtle Naracon, all in their 70s. All were dead on arrival at Burlington Memorial Hospital.

Firemen found the three victims within six feet of each other in the small living room. The woman apparently had collapsed attempting to get to the door. One of the men was still sitting in a chair.

Gilbert Baumeister, a neighbor discovered the fire and turned in the alarm.

Death apparently was caused by smoke inhalation.

Rochester and Watford firemen, who fought the blaze, estimated the loss at about $8,000. The cause was not determined, but the Racine County sheriff's department said the blaze apparently broke out near a chimney on the south side of the one-story house.

Some Schools and Hospitals Curb Activities; Flu Spreads

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
where at least seven schools closed for part of last week.

The health commission of Milwaukee, Dr. E. R. Krumbein, predicted an Asian flu outbreak would reach epidemic proportions in that city.

The Wood Veterans Administration hospital in Milwaukee ended all visiting hours until further notice after Director D. C. Firmin estimated 75 cases of flu in the hospital compared with 26 the day before.

Visiting hours were suspended until further notice at Memphis, Tenn., city hospitals where more than 500 patients were treated for upper respiratory infections.

Dr. Glen M. Clark, chief of staff of the city hospitals, said many doctors were down with the infection. Other doctors and nurses gave up their weekends to treat long lines of patients in the emergency wards. Many of the victims were children.

At least 25 Memphis policemen were absent Sunday with respiratory infection and several firemen were ill. Flu cases were on the increase in other portions of Tennessee, but still under normal levels.

Two southern Indiana counties, Clark and Floyd, reported up to 10 per cent absenteeism because of flu and the Clark County health officer described the outbreak as the worst in 30 years. It was not believed to be the Asian type. One flu death was reported in Ripley County where school absenteeism ranged up to 25 per cent.

Flu-type diseases were abating somewhat in parts of Virginia and Kentucky. One Louisville hospital reported a sharp drop in the number of cases and several schools expected to reopen, but four northern Kentucky hospitals asked visitors be curtailed. The Elks Home for the Aged at Bedford, Va., had its 14th death from flu-type diseases in two weeks.

The North Carolina Health Department reported 65,494 cases in the state last Friday. The Arizona Health Department said it knew of only one case of Asian flu in the last month. Outbreaks of flu-like cases appeared to be decreasing in Connecticut.

Stennis Fears New Blockade Of Cuba Needed

By LARRY OSIUS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., says another blockade of Cuba may be necessary if Soviet troops on the Caribbean island cannot be forced out by economic pressure or other means.

Republican National Chairman William Miller says the Kennedy administration should consider reimposing the naval quarantine that led to removal of Soviet bombers and missiles from Cuba late last year.

These views, and a welter of other congressional opinion about Cuba came in a series of statements and television interviews over the weekend. The consensus from members of both parties was that Communist subversion in Latin America is a bigger problem than the Soviet troops in Cuba.

Stennis said in a television interview that steps to combat the Soviet position in Cuba should include "first, economic pressure, and getting the Organization of American States to cooperate on that as far as they will. And I think unless we get results otherwise we will be driven to a blockade and one step will have to follow another unless results are obtained."

"I don't put any timetable on that," Miller, a House member from New York, said in another television interview that in addition to considering reimposition of the naval quarantine the government should work with the OAS to place economic sanctions against Cuba in other developments.

The House subcommittee on Inter-American Affairs begins hearings today on Communist subversion in Latin America. Assistant Secretary of State Edward M. Martin was scheduled as the first witness.

The Senate International Affairs subcommittee hears today from Paul G. Hoffman about a U.S. special fund grant of $1.5 million in agricultural assistance for Cuba. Hoffman is American manager of the U.N. fund. President Kennedy has said no U.S. money will go into the project.

Concern over the spread of Communist subversive activities in Latin America—and the role played by Soviet troops in Cuba—was again voiced by Sen. Kenneth Keating, R-N.Y.

Traffic Mishaps Take Five Lives

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Five persons died in Minnesota traffic accidents this weekend, two in a collision during a heavy snowfall in the western part of the state Sunday night.

The deaths raised the state's 1963 traffic toll to 59, as compared with 67 a year ago.

Killed in the crash on Highway 10 near New York Mills were Alan Hoxeng, 18, a Concordia College (Moorhead) student from Thousand Oaks, Calif., and John J. Polizewski, 28, Lake Park, Minn.

Two Concordia College students with Hoxeng and Polizewski were injured in the crash — Mark Ylvisaker, 19, Moorhead, and John Hatch, Trimont, Minn., 18. Ylvisaker's mother, Mrs. Marie Ylvisaker, librarian at Concordia, is on leave of absence to the University of Minnesota.

Concordia authorities said the students had been in Minneapolis and rode as far as Wadena Sunday with a friend from Battle Lake, Minn. When the friend turned off at Wadena, the colleagues caught a ride with Polizewski.

Polizewski, who had been working in Minneapolis, is survived by his wife and a baby, born to the couple only last week.

The Polizewski car, heading west, collided with an eastbound car nearly head-on. The Highway Patrol said the two persons in the second car were treated at a Wadena hospital and released. They were Frank Hamblin, 31, and Foster Williams, 30, both of St. Louis, Mo.

The fatal accident was the second in northwestern Minnesota over the weekend. About 60 miles northwest Charles R. Mezker, 26, rural Hawley, was killed when his car left a county road near Hawley.

The new list of appointees followed by a few days a letter to the governor from Sen. Paul Thuet of South St. Paul, the minority leader, asking that the Senate request that the Senate defer further action until the end of the governorship reelected.

The governor has not replied to the Thuet letter and there was a disposition in some quarters to regard today's list of appointments as the reply.

Most of the appointments sent to the Senate today had been announced previously.

The list includes appointment of Edward P. Roberts of Duluth to the state industrial commission; Jerry H. Ketola of Virginia, GOP candidate for Congress in the 8th district in November, to the Panel Board of review for the State Commission against Discrimination; Francis W. Russell of Cold Spring, reappointed to the State Civil Service Board; Ralph Hayden of Stephen and Slays Carlson of Marshall to the State Board of Education; and Charles F. Mounier of Aurora, Harry Phil of Bemidji, R. D. Harrison of Moorhead and Arthur G. Seifert of Redwood Falls to the State College Board.

An extended debate has resulted nearly every time the question of appointments has come up on the Senate floor. Some conservatives have described liberal tactics as filibustering and there have been threats to invoke a seldom-used rule to limit debate. Liberals have denied any delaying tactics, insisting their effort is to make clear their position to the voters of the state.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Mayor Arthur Naftalin will seek a second term. The primary election will be April 30.

Naftalin, 45, announced his candidacy Saturday, explaining he wanted to clear up speculation he might be in line for an appointment to a federal post.

Bill Would Legalize Sale Of Colored Oleo

ST. PAUL (AP) — A hearing on a bill to legalize sale of colored oleomargarine has been set for 2 p.m. today before the Senate Agriculture Committee.

This will open up the entire margarine question. The committee also has before it a bill to repeal the 10 cents-a-pound tax on most oleomargarine now sold in the state.

The Farmers Union and the dairy industry have registered strong opposition to both proposals.

However, there appears to be considerable sentiment for repeal of the tax bill and also some mention of the possibility of legalizing sale of colored oleomargarine and imposing a heavy tax.

One of the arguments used by supporters of the bills is that huge quantities of oleo — estimated at more than five million pounds a year — come into the state tax free from states which permit sale of the colored product.

Another argument, from border areas to the west and south, is that persons who go outstate to buy the spread also make other substantial purchases in neighboring states.

Ruling May Have Bearing on Governor Race

ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Supreme Court's ruling in a legislative race will, in all probability, have a bearing on the governor contest between Republican Gov. Elmer L. Andersen and his DFL challenger, Karl F. Rolvaag.

The court last week held that conservative Henry J. Morlock, Jordan, topped incumbent liberal John M. Fitzgerald of Shakopee by 10 votes in their recount.

A key decision was the court's liberal attitude in crediting each man with ballots on which voters used erasing pencils but still indicated their choice reasonably well.

The tribunal accepted ballots which contained minor irregularities, such as voting marks behind the name of the candidate or slight variations in marks in the various races. However, it rejected ballots containing two or more distinctly different types of marks — such as an "X" in one race and a check mark in another. The reasoning was that such ballots might easily be identified by a voter after the election.

Neither the Andersen nor Rolvaag forces say these decisions will hurt. However, one result will be to cut the number of disputed ballots in the governor election to around 2,000. Previously, final screening teams had expected they would eventually lay around 4,000 disputed ballots before the three-judge recount panel.

Even with the change, it is likely to be mid-March or later before the recount panel announces a winner in the election last Nov. 6. If the loser appeals to the Supreme Court, it might be April or even later before there is a final decision.

Titan 2 Partial Success

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The Air Force says the first silo launching of its big Titan 2 was a partial success — despite the fact that it exploded in the sky and chunks of flaming debris showered down on the base below.

Most of the shattered parts fell into the sea, but some small pieces, blown by the wind, sent newsmen and civilian contractors scurrying after the missile destroyed itself Saturday. No one was injured.

The Titan 2 blew up 56 seconds after launch, at an altitude of 18,000 feet. An Air Force spokesman said the Titan blew itself up — apparently because an automatic signal in its guidance system indicated a malfunction somewhere aboard.

It was the first time the Titan 2, this nation's most powerful intercontinental missile, was fired from its bombproof, underground silo.

Speeding Car Kills Lad, Girl Pushed to Safety

VENICE, Calif. (AP) — Police say David Brimley, 17, pushed his girl friend to safety when a speeding car bore down on them in a crosswalk Sunday. But he didn't have time to save himself, and was killed.

Officers estimated that the car was traveling 90 miles per hour. It ran a red light, police said, and hit another car before it careened into Brimley.

Brimley was knocked 172 feet. Brimley's date, Paulette Lewis, 16, became hysterical.

After hitting Brimley, the vehicle crashed into two mail boxes and a street sign and knocked down a power pole.

Investigators reported that three young men leaped from the car and fled.

NASON ON EDUCATION

Technicians Fill Vital School Role

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

In this age of emphasis on higher education, let's not underrate the technicians.

The ones who train their hands at the same time they train their minds are laying an excellent foundation for ultimate success even beyond their immediate specialties.

And our country needs people with special skills. President Kennedy's panel of consultants on vocational education reported that up to 200,000 new technicians will be needed each year during the 1960's.

These technicians require post-high school training. So it is imperative that we offer training programs in our schools to give many of these people the opportunities to continue their education with a minimum loss of credit and standing.

THERE IS NO reason why courses in English, history, civics, math and science, which are a part of many technical training programs, cannot be evaluated for credit toward the Associate of Arts degrees given by two-year colleges.

The courses can be so designed that if a student changes his ultimate objective, he will be prepared to enter a university or state college with some advanced standing.

Often during such training, students discover they can understand involved instructions readily. For the first time some gain confidence in their ability to learn.

Often they raise their goals and many continue on for bachelor's degrees.

Still, other students gain an interest and skill in learning that helps carry them on to responsible positions in business and industry.

SO IT'S important that we keep open these avenues of training.

The fear that their advancement may be blocked by lack of formal training deters many capable students from entering technical training programs. As a result, we are left with a large group of drifters. They waste their time and talents—for they do not work toward a goal.

If we redesign our programs so capable students can elect such training without fear of entering a dead-end street, we can salvage many of these people.

Instead of drifting, they will gain the satisfaction which accompanies learning, and can continue to advance happily for the rest of their lives.

Mild Weather Won't Last; 10-15 Tonight

The temperature shot into the 40s Sunday to bring Winona some of the mildest weather of the winter.

But the weatherman says it won't last. He predicts variable cloudiness and colder tonight and Tuesday with a low of 10-15 tonight and a high of 25 Tuesday.

THE EXTENDED forecast — predictions through Saturday — indicates temperatures will average near normal figures of 26-31 during the afternoon and lows of 5 to 11 above at night.

It is expected to be colder during the early part of the period, warming through midweek, then turning cold again, late in the week. Intermittent light snow or snow flurries throughout the period will occur but total precipitation is expected to be less than .10 of an inch.

The Winona temperature got up to 29 Saturday afternoon and 41 Sunday. Low Sunday morning was 15 and this morning 34. At noon today it was 34.

The Minnesota and Wisconsin highway departments reported some slippery roads due to frost and snow. Early morning fog was reported in some places.

Only below zero readings in Minnesota came from the far north where International Falls reported -5 and Bemidji -1. It was snowing at Duluth where the temperature was 13. Rochester had a morning reading of 26 after a high of 34 Sunday.

It was cold at Winnipeg, too, where the sky was clear and the temperature -16.

Colder weather, carrying a threat of light snow, pushed slowly through Wisconsin from north to south today.

Temperatures ahead of the cold front were about normal for the season. At midmorning today, La Crosse and Stevens Point reported 33 degrees, but Superior held to the 11-degree reading it had in the early morning hours.

Some scattered light snow fell in Wisconsin during the night, mostly in the north. Park Falls reported 2 inches of snow and Superior had 1. Eau Claire recorded about one-half inch.

MINIMUM temperatures during the night, in addition to Superior's 11, were Park Falls 19, Green Bay 22, Lone Rock, Beloit and Milwaukee 24, Racine 25, Madison 27 and La Crosse 32.

La Crosse set the Wisconsin high of 40 degrees Sunday, with other maximums ranging down to 28 at Park Falls.

Old Town, Maine, was the coldest community in the nation early today with 2 below zero and Thermal, Calif., set the high of 78 Sunday.

3 Spring Grove Youths Hurt in Fatal Accident

LA CROSSE, Wis. — Three Spring Grove youths were injured when a car plunged over an embankment near Granddahl Bluff here Saturday night.

A Decorah, Iowa, youth — John H. Knutson, 16 — was killed when the car plunged off County Trunk F, which leads from the bluff to Highway 33. It's two miles outside La Crosse.

The accident happened about 9:30 p.m.

POLICE SAID the car traveled nearly 200 yards after leaving the road. Doors flew off and three of the passengers, including Knutson, were thrown. Knutson, whose parents are reportedly connected with the faculty at Luther College, Decorah, was said to be driving.

Among the three Spring Grove youths, one of the most seriously injured was Charles Doley, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Doley. He received a fracture of the leg below the knee and possible internal injuries. He had a bad night Sunday night, Doley said this morning, and is in serious condition.

Roger Paa, 15, son of Mrs. Irene Paa, Spring Grove, was treated for bruises and Thomas Trehus, 16, for cuts and bruises. Both were released from Lutheran Hospital Saturday night. Thomas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Trehus, Spring Grove.

ALSO SERIOUSLY injured was Charles C. Ristey Jr., 17, La Crosse, formerly of Spring Grove, who suffered a severe compound leg fracture and torn arteries. He was taken to St. Francis Hospital as was another passenger, Daniel G. Lemke, 16, La Crosse, who was being held for observation.

Today Ristey was reported paralyzed from the waist down and transferred to a Madison hospital. Ristey is the son of Mrs. Ronald Johnson, Spring Grove, formerly of Mabel, and Charles Ristey, La Crosse.

Automobile replacement parts and accessories sold in 1962 had a taxable value of $2.6 billion.

No Charge Filed In Man's Death

Charges have not been filed against Robert G. Thilmany, 42, 700½ E. Sanborn St., driver of the pickup truck that killed 78-year-old jaywalking pedestrian Frank L. Lilla, 318 Chatfield St., Saturday night, police reported this morning.

Dr. R. B. Tweedy, Winona County coroner, said Lilla died of a fractured skull. The victim, who was rushed to Community Memorial Hospital by ambulance after being struck at 7:36 p.m., was dead on arrival at 7:50 p.m.

LILLA WAS ON his way home from the Winona Athletic Club, where he customarily watched wrestling on television from 6:30-7:30 p.m. Police said the accident happened on Mankato Avenue 63 feet north of the crosswalk north of the intersection with East Broadway.

Lilla was crossing from west to east when he was hit apparently by the center of the front of the pickup. He was apparently thrown over the hood and left front fender.

WILLIAM BELL, manager of the Winona Athletic Club, was on duty Saturday night during Lilla's visit. Lilla was a club member.

"I saw him sitting watching the wrestling matches," Bell said. "I didn't say anything to him. But when he was leaving he met Mr. and Mrs. Felix Janikowski, 927 E. Broadway, who were coming in. Mrs. Janikowski told me later that Mrs. Lilla said this to the Janikowskis:

"For me, it's time to go to bed." Those were Lilla's last words before he died.

MR. LILLA was born here March 30, 1884, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lilla. A lifelong resident, he had retired from employment with the Burlington Railroad. He never married and was a member of the Athletic Club.

Survivors are: One sister, Mrs. Helen Banhenek, Winona, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. at St. Stanislaus Church, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. N. F. Grulkowski officiating. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Friends may call at the mortuary after 2 p.m. today. Rosary will be said at 7:30. Members of the Athletic Club will meet there at 7.

No injuries were reported. Charges were not filed.

Trempealeau Fishing

TREMPEALEAU, Wis. (Special) — Prizes to be given at the fishing contest at Third Lake here next Sunday will total $1,000 instead of the figure given Sunday. The event is sponsored by Trempealeau County Associated Conservation Clubs.

The Hearing Aid Industry Conference says the association of hearing loss and old age is a misconception. Almost three out of every five persons with a hearing loss are under age 65. And more than two million school-age children have hearing impairment.

Pedestrian Pleads Innocent to Charge Of Disobeying Order

A pedestrian pleaded innocent in municipal court this morning to a charge that he disobeyed a direct order from a policeman to remain on the curb to avoid being hit by traffic.

The defendant is Edmund R. Pelowski, 60, 209 W. 5th St. He posted $10 bail pending trial at 9 a.m. Wednesday before Municipal Judge S. D. J. Brusk.

Pelowski was arrested at 5:15 p.m. Saturday at East 4th and Johnson streets. Police said today an officer directing traffic ordered Pelowski and a group of children to remain on the curb because of traffic. The children obeyed the order. The arrest was made under a state law requiring compliance with orders of a traffic officer.

Gilmore Crash Driver Fined; Man in Hospital

Miss Marlene L. Salisbury, 23, 1881 Gilmore Ave., pleaded guilty in municipal court to driving over the center line in connection with a two-vehicle collision that sent the other driver to the hospital.

Municipal Judge S. D. J. Brusk fined her $15 or five days in city jail. She said the fine. She was arrested by police following the collision of a pickup truck she was driving with a car driven by Verne A. Boynton, 30, Lewiston, at 7:04 p.m. Sunday on Gilmore Avenue near Sunset Boulevard. Boynton was taken by ambulance to Community Memorial Hospital. He suffered head cuts. X-rays are to be taken. This condition is satisfactory.

Miss Salisbury said she was driving a borrowed pickup and was pushing her car which blew a tire, sending the pickup across the center line and into the wrong lane of traffic. The pickup and the Boynton car collided head-on.

Police said the pickup had been heading west on Gilmore and the Boynton car east. Miss Salisbury was examined and released at the hospital. There was $200 damage to the front end of the Boynton car and $100 to the front end of the pickup owned by Winona Delivery & Transfer Co. Miss Salisbury's car was not involved in the collision.

Next Clinic On March 31; 3rd May 19

Mild weather with 40-degree afternoon temperatures encouraged a turnout of 21,200 area residents for Sunday's oral polio vaccination clinic here.

The figure was somewhat lower than the anticipated 30,000, but Dr. James Testor, chairman of the Winona County Medical Society's polio committee, said the turnout was highly satisfactory.

PEOPLE BEGAN trooping into the three centers at the opening hour of 11 a.m., temporarily swamping personnel. Fresh waves of adults and children swelled the lines periodically as worship services were concluded in various churches. The numbers dwindled considerably through mid-afternoon and up to the 7 p.m. closing time, officials said.

Exact tallies were not available today, but the Hospital Women's Auxiliary estimated the number of Wisconsin residents taking part at 1,400.

The Jefferson School center recorded the greatest volume of people in its immunization lines, administering 9,000 doses of vaccine. Central School was next with 7,000 people and the remaining 5,000 filed through the Washington-Kosciusko School center.

Auto traffic was temporarily congested in the Jefferson School area shortly after 11 a.m. Police Sgt. George McGuire, whose Civil Defense volunteers directed traffic to the clinics, said some cars were diverted to other centers to even up the distribution.

MCGUIRE SAID the communications network set up by the Hiawatha Citizens Band Radio Association functioned efficiently in controlling traffic and maintaining contact among control points.

Clinics for administering Types II and III of the Sabin oral vaccine will be held March 31 and May 19, Dr. Testor said.

He emphasized that complete immunity to all three types of polio cannot be secured by an individual unless he takes all three types of vaccine.

Dr. Testor said about 2,400 doses of vaccine were left over from Sunday's clinic. Some of it will be used at a clinic to be set up Tuesday evening at St. Mary's College for students there, he said. The serum is kept frozen and once it is thawed it must be used or discarded.

Police said the pickup and the Boynton car collided head-on.

Max Conrad Aims For New Records

Assured by Rochester physicians that he is physically fit for the rigors of endurance flight, 59-year-old Max Conrad was to confer in Washington, D.C., today with executives of the National Aeronautics Association regarding projected assaults on a series of world's records for flight in light aircraft.

The veteran Winona pilot spent a greater part of last week in Rochester undergoing special physical examinations for pilots and Sunday reported that doctors had given him "a good bill of health, a really fine report."

HOLDER OF numerous flying records and now on the prowl for some new ones, Conrad said Sunday before taking off for a flight into this campaign with the idea that whatever I can do will help open the door for the Winona Aviation Foundation.

The foundation was established some time ago to implement Conrad's original Winona Experiment, a program to interest the youth of the nation in aviation.

He said he's contacted a number of individuals and firms for sponsorship of his record flights and found the reception "much better than I'd expected."

CONRAD HAS operated an aircraft ferrying service out of Lock Haven, Pa.

He said his wife, Betty, has been working with him and "is in a position now where she can take care pretty much of the running of the business. We have a few pilots available for flying the airplanes and with Betty taking care of the business it frees me to do these things I'm planning on."

He said that he and Mrs. Conrad plan to take off within the next six weeks or so on a flight to Europe. Conrad's 100th trans-Atlantic crossing.

THE PIPER people who own it made it available to me for some records they were interested in," he continued. "The are only certain ones they had in mind, though, and if I'm going after these others I'd like to buy the airplane myself."

Stockton Hill Accident Driver Facing Charge

Michael F. Eischen, 23, 1725 Gilmore Ave., was to appear before "GoodView Justice" of the Peace Lewis E. Albert this afternoon on a charge of careless driving after Eischen's car crashed on Stockton Hill early Sunday.

Eischen was arrested by sheriff's deputies after he reported he had fallen asleep at the wheel of his car on Trunk Highway 14, a about ½ mile from St. Mary's College.

The defendant, who was heading up the hill at 1:10 a.m., went into the left lane, spun around, went backwards into the guard rail, knocked down three posts, bounced off the guard cable and stopped in the left lane. There was $70 damage to the car's right rear fender. Eischen was not hurt.

It Happened Last Night 'Prince Mike' Happily Retired

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "Prince Mike" Romanoff is so happy being out of the restaurant and saloon business — now having trouble everywhere due to the Expense Account Freeze — that he went pub-crawling here just to sneer playfully at other saloonists. "You slaves!" he cried. "You haven't the intestinal fortitude to quit like I did and become a free man!"

Ava Gardner's become almost Greta Garboish in her passion for privacy. After having supper here with ex-husband Frank Sinatra, she went back into her shell. Credit Peter Ustinov with a great deal about wives in his great "Photo-Finish." He says a certain wife (his) "is what the critics call 'the nags' nag." In another hilarious moment, playing a senile 80-year-old writing his autobiography, he says, "I have a memory like a — (long pause) — what's the name of that damned animal?"

Peter Duchin, now society's darling at the St. Regis, discovered his penthouse in the Carnegie Hall apartments burglarized of money, jewels — and a beautifully & tenderly inscribed picture of Kim Novak, whom he used to date when he was still in college. Recently disengaged Sherry Britton, the shapely stripteaseer, went back to Author Budd Schulberg — they were acting happy at Billy Reed's Little Club.

MILT KAMEN'S a very funny guy with those movie reviews on the Merv Griffin show. He said "They called 'Taras Bulba' that because they were trying to find a name funnier than Yul Brynner." Of another film, he said, "It's a man's picture, but the man mustn't be over 12."

Roy Castle, the British comedian on the Garry Moore TV show, makes his first trip to western U.S. shortly — to Lake Tahoe and Los Angeles. He hopes American photos don't play tricks on him as one did in South Africa when one wanted to fake a picture of him jumping over a mountain. "As I jumped, my trousers split and the picture showed me leaping out of them," he says. "The photographer promised to fill it in, but he didn't, and the caption read, 'Roy Castle Opens in Capetown.'"

Castle says it was difficult to explain to parents of actress Fiona Dixon whom he'll marry in July in London.

VAUGHN MEADER said it in San Francisco at the "Hungry" cafe. "Die, Gaudier, better come around to our way of thinking on the Common Market, or we'll keep his blasted painting!"

By GRETCHEN L. LAMBERTON

EVERY so often someone asks me to write something about the moon planting and to print a moon planting table, and this year I've had several requests. As you no doubt know, moon planting is a system of planting at different phases of the moon as worked out by the ancients thousands of years ago. Men have been planting by the moon for 3000 years and it's only during the past 100 years that it's been questioned.

The main idea is that you must plant above-ground crops like lettuce or peas during a waxing or increasing moon, and you should plant below-ground crops like potatoes or carrots during a waning or decreasing moon. But this is only part of the cult of moon planting. The ancients worked out the idea, from centuries of observations and recording, that the moon in its journey across the sky travels through twelve signs of the zodiac, and from keeping records they came to the belief that some of these signs or positions were "barren" and some were "fruitful."

And so grew up the elaborate system of moon planting which meant planting seeds not only in the waxing or waning phase of the moon but also during a fruitful sign, or period. For thousands of years men believed in this and wouldn't dream of planting seeds in the wrong sign of the moon. Today many farm almanacs continue to print moon planting tables, though belief in moon planting is dying out.

A potent argument of the moon planters is that the gravitational pull of the moon certainly causes the ocean tides and can pull them up as high as 30 to 50 feet; if the moon exerts this tremendous pull upon the sea isn't it logical to presume that it exerts a similar pulling force upon the earth and all that's planted in it? Many successful gardeners still plant by the moon. In fact the greatest plant wizard of modern times, Luther Burbank, did all his planting, pruning and hybridization experiments according to the phases of the moon. But for the most part modern gardeners rely more on scientific plant foods and other new garden aids than on the moon.

When I talked it over with expert gardener and garden columnist A. F. Shira he said, "No, I don't pay much attention to the signs of the moon. I feel that when the soil and the weather are just right, that's the time to plant. But plenty of people still believe in moon planting and seem to have good results."

Out of curiosity I experimented with moon planting for two different springs. One year I planted two beds of lettuce from the same seed packet side by side, and one was planted during a barren moon sign and the other two days later during a fruitful sign. As I watched them it seemed to me that the good-sign lettuce grew thicker and more succulent than the other. Then one night the rabbits dug into the garden and ate up all the good-sign lettuce and hardly touched the bad-sign lettuce. Since rabbits are quite gourmet in their tastes this almost but not quite convinced me.

So the next spring I planted tomato seeds, half in a bad sign, half in a good sign. Again it seemed to me that the good-sign plants grew a little sturdier than the others, but the difference was slight. So this spring just for fun I want to experiment again with a few vegetable seeds. For those of you who want to have a little fun with a moon planting experiment I have dug out of a rather complicated "Moon Sign Book" a simplified moon planting table. I have listed only Best, Good and Bad planting days. Days not listed are just fair to middling. Remember to plant top crops during the waxing or increasing moon; plant root crops during the waning or decreasing moon.

DEAR ABBY:

I'll Agree That Animals Count

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the cat who won't eat meat on Friday. It's no mystery. Animals can count. If an animal is used to getting fish every seventh day, he is puzzled and uneasy if he doesn't get it. When my mother was a girl, she had a pony who knew when it was Sunday. Every other day the pony would take the road to school, but on Sundays the pony would head right for the church. Cows can count, too. Otherwise, when a herd enters the barn, no matter in which order they come in, why does each cow go to her own stall?

DEAR JEAN: All right. I'll agree — animals CAN count. But I am a love girl who had to be told by an Illinois professor that cows could give milk before they calved, so please don't ask me how come a cow knows her own stall.

DEAR ABBY: As a former teacher and college dean, may I add a few words to the young man whose father refused to regard D as a passing grade.

Though systems differ, D usually means "passing but unsatisfactory." A former Dean of Admissions at Harvard summed it up well. "D means 'just got by.' How would you like to eat an egg that 'just got by'?" Sincerely, JOHN V. D. SOUTHWORTH

DEAR ABBY: My 15-year-old son seems to be obsessed with those smutty girlie magazines (pictures of women) and I can't do anything about it. I have found them hidden under his mattress, in his closet and almost everywhere I look. I keep throwing them away, but he keeps buying more. Is this typical of a normal 15-year-old boy's behavior, or is he headed for trouble?

DEAR PALO: All normal 15-year-old boys have a normal curiosity, but your son's curiosity appears to be insatiable. He should be talked to by his father. If he has none, a mature, clean-thinking, intelligent adult man could relieve the boy's curiosity by encouraging him to ask questions, and freely discussing his fascination with the opposite sex. Excessive preoccupation with sex can be damaging.

LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special) — Thirty-six students plus this semester's speech class, signed up for the winter speech activities at Lincoln High school here during a recent declamation meeting.

Rules for participation are the same as for athletics, including no smoking or drinking.

Sandra Swenson and Douglas Digre, speech advisers, are working on a schedule so all participants will be able to work with either adviser about 30 minutes per session.

Screen-outs for elimination will be held sometime in March. No local contest will be held. The school's foreign student, Tom Astrom, had his first opportunity to speak to the entire student body Wednesday, AFS rules preventing him from speaking during the first semester. Tom showed pictures of his homeland, Finland.

Man, 32, Draws Pension, He's Allergic to Wood

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) — Carpenter Leslie Cox has been pensioned off at 32 because he's allergic to wood.

For 14 years Cox worked for the city parks department. Then he started developing a skin rash whenever he handled certain kinds of wood. The parks department had no other job for him. He was pensioned off.

That means he will draw 3 pounds—$8.40—a week for the next 33 years. Then, at 65, his pension will drop to 2 pounds 11 shillings and 1 penny—slightly over $7. He'll get that for the rest of his life.

Cox says he's going to look for another job—where he doesn't handle wood.

Many Wet Spots, No Bad Storms

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fairly cold weather prevailed today across northern sections of the Midwest and New England but generally temperatures were at or above seasonal levels in most parts of the nation.

There were many wet spots but no severe storms were reported.

Temperatures in New England and upstate New York moderated after Sunday morning subzero readings, including 21 below in Watertown, N.Y., which reported 56 inches of snow.

A fresh batch of cold air spread into northern parts of North Dakota and Minnesota and the mercury dropped to near zero in some areas. The cold belt was expected to extend into the upper Mississippi Valley and the upper Great Lakes region.

One freezing line extended from northern Maine to southern South Carolina, with some freezing marks also reported in northern Georgia and Tennessee. It also,

Invention of New Scale Measures Dust

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Well, they've finally invented it—a dust scale.

It has springs the size of a pinhead, made of glass-like substance. It can detect weight changes of a thousandth of a millionth of a gram and a gram is less than one-five hundredth of a pound.

On to the obvious question: why?

To measure cosmic dust. There is a lot of dust in space, much of it sub-microscopic. Scientists fear these clouds could scour a space ship enough to damage it. To understand the risk, they have to weigh the dust. So the government got Electro-Optical Systems Inc., of Pasadena, to invent the dust scale.

The only problem remaining is to get the scale to the dust. The space ship for it isn't ready yet.

Temperatures were mostly in the 20s and 30s in other sections of the country except for the 40s and 50s in the Pacific Coast and the 50s and 60s in extreme Southern areas.

Divergent Jazz Schools Show Styles in Concert

By FRANK UHLIG
Daily News Staff Writer

Two divergent schools of big-band jazz were put forward Sunday night at Somsen Hall, Winona State College, for the appraisal of contemporary music devotees.

The report card shows a scattering of B's for execution but some solid A's for effort, verve, originality and sheer fun.

OPENING the two-part show were the sharply-tailored St. Mary's Marinettes, exponents of out-and-beyond, astral jazz forms.

Flip side of the performance was by the WSC Rhythmasters. Both came up with some exciting interpretations.

Paced by an outstanding five-man trumpet section, the Marinettes peaked out strikingly on "Killer

Joe," an avant garde Benny Golson arrangement. "Winter in Tambora," by former Marinetor Jim Frawley, and "Doodyville Blues," superb lead trumpet was provided by Lee Finn, who has power, a fine phrasing concept and a range from low F-sharp to double high C or thereabouts.

Bob Dixon, trumpet, and Finn performed in solo spots. The rhythm section was solidly led by drummer Mike McCormick, who delivered forcefully and with infectious inspiration.

Dave Knutson fronted affably and played with the trombone section. The band's instrumentation was five trumpets, four trombones, five saxophones, drums, string bass and piano. Brother Paul furnishes overall direction.

IN ITS portion of the show, the WSC band displayed the subdued polish of what in these circles amounts to a veteran combination. Director Fred Hoyer, a multi-threat performer, carried on his always-enjoyable tour de force, supplying arrangements and playing any woodwind or reed instrument he could lift.

Jerry Paulson did some agreeable trumpet solos and Linda Hoyer, 9, sang "A Lot of Livin' To Do."

All sections came through well, with good intonation and clean phrasing plainly evident. Ever a pleasant factor, the talented rhythm section produced a flashing, sturdy beat. Instrumentation included six trumpets, five trombones, five saxophones, drums, string bass and piano.

Finale was a mass band rendition of a Hoyer original, "Somsen Blues."

Music for the occasion was provided by a grant from the trust funds of the recording industries, obtained by the cooperation of Local 433, American Federation of Musicians.

Shakespeare As Fairy Tale Is Enjoyed

John Marzocco's interpretation of the "Merchant of Venice" as a charming fairy tale for Elizabethans makes Shakespeare theater entertainment today.

The play continues its five-day run tonight through Wednesday at 8 at the College of Saint Teresa. Audiences at Shakespeare productions often are comprised of persons who deem it correct to see Shakespeare, sit stiffly and applaud appropriately at the curtain call. Not so of Mr. Marzocco's audience. They take to the "Merchant of Venice" like a child to a fairy tale.

They laugh at Leonardo's "all convenient speed" and the cunning plot of Portia, Patricia Keenan, Mankato, Minn., and Nerissa, Ann Joyce, Rochester, Minn., to take their husbands' rings. They break into the play with applause for Shylock, Ronald Wietecha, Franklin Park, Ill., the villain in raging agony.

In fairy tale fashion the characters are obvious, not bogged down with real-life complications. Shylock the villain, is all bad until he becomes a Christian to live happily ever after unlikely though this might be. Portia, the beautiful and witty heiress outsmarts learned men of the law. The audience adopts the fairy tale with the enthusiasm of Portia who brings gaiety to her court through the plot of love and intrigue to the happily ever after ending.

Morals and wise sayings have long been an integral part of fairy tales and the "Merchant of Venice" is replete with quotable lines. Lest the audience think the plot too simple and the characters too easy to discover, clever stage setting and elaborate costumes add glamor.

The total effect is "this is entertainment. Shakespeare is fun."

Village Cannot Grant Exclusive Trailer License

CALEDONIA, Minn.—A village cannot grant an exclusive franchise to operate an automobile trailer camp and is not liable to the franchisee if a new ordinance provides for additional franchises, according to an attorney general's opinion to John H. Rippe, Caledonia Village attorney.

The question arose when the Village Council received some requests for additional trailer courts in town. Some years ago Council gave an exclusive franchise to persons operating a trailer court here, and when other requests came in the question of an exclusive franchise arose. Mr. and Mrs. Mike Scantlan to date have the only trailer court in Caledonia, having an area in the southeastern part of the village that could accommodate 18-20 trailers.

Romney For State of Union, Not Union State

HERE IS what the man said, word for word:

- "It is balanced."
- "It is balanced without new or higher taxes."
- "It abhors red ink."
- "It reduces rather than increases the treasury deficit."
- "It realistically predicts future revenue."
- "It continues the existing level of state services and provides these services for our rapidly expanding population."
- "It is not afraid to say 'No' to new programs which we cannot afford now."
- "It does not fear to move Michigan ahead where revenues permit."
- "It will rebuild confidence in our fiscal integrity as a state."
- "IT EMPHASIZES job creation, increases efficiency in government management, improves revenue collections, and prepares Michigan for the demands of the population explosion."
- "In short, this budget is both prudent, because it lives within its income, and progressive because it provides for the future."

By now you will recognize the words as the preamble to the budget of the State of Michigan prepared by its new governor, who is George Romney.

Evidently he has brought a strong detergent to clean up the mess left by Soapy Williams and his Democratic successor who were interested not so much in the state of the union and the state of Michigan as in the union state, which Michigan became under their administrations.

IF WHAT GOV. George Romney claims is only half right, he is fresher than a breeze off Lake Winona. A man, as they say, to watch — with or without fingers crossed.

Quite Convincing in Criticism of Aid Program

FIRST DISTRICT Congressman Al Quie, in his current newsletter to constituents, makes a quiet but convincing criticism of President Kennedy's big education program.

"The President has refused to set priorities in education and has instead presented to Congress a huge, expensive, omnibus bill," Quie writes. "There is no chance for passage of this entire measure, and the portions of greatest need will be delayed and endangered."

Quie writes as one of the most effective champions in Congress for federal aid to higher education. Senate Minority Leader Everett Dirksen, interviewed on the nationally televised "Meet the Press" TV program a couple of Sundays ago, referred to the higher education bill which the young congressman from Southeastern Minnesota has developed and promoted.

IN HIS newsletter, Quie cites several reasons why the federal government has a special responsibility to aid education at the college and university level. The need is greatest here with the population bulge about to push enrollments skyward. The federal government is going to take a high proportion of college graduates for defense, space exploration, and other fast-expanding research, and it should help see that enough men and women are college trained to meet the rest of the country's needs. Finally, Uncle Sam has been aiding higher education for over a century, as witness the land grant colleges.

But elementary and secondary education, Quie insists, should remain the job of state and local government. They can levy any tax available to the federal government except import duties.

MEANWHILE, THE impression persists that Kennedy keeps on asking for wholesale federal aid to grade and high schools in a somewhat perfunctory manner. It's one of those articles of faith to which his administration is politically committed. "Liberals" like Minnesota's DFLers love to beat their breasts about the imperative nature of this big new federal aid to education. Local schools simply must have a big infusion of new money, they righteously insist. But levy a Minnesota sales tax to provide more money for schools? Horrors! Saints forbid! That would be reactionary! — Red Wing Republican Eagle.

Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves. (Mat. 7:15)

Idle Production Capacity Noted

By SEN. BARRY GOLDWATER

Idle production capacity in the United States is bothering President Kennedy. He gives this problem—plus unemployment—as the major reason why he believes the nation needs a whopping big tax cut and a whopping big spending program.

But I don't believe the President and his advisors understand the problem involved in the fact that the nation has large amounts of production capacity going unused.

It isn't enough merely to say that this capacity is unused because demand is lacking and that by increasing the purchasing power of the consumer the demand will increase.

Let's take an example. When the New Frontiersmen speak of unused plant capacity in the United States, the steel industry is most often cited as a case in point. Figures are produced to show that the steel industry is operating at only 60 percent of capacity. Then it is argued that if the steel industry produced at 90 percent of capacity the gross national product would increase and more people would be employed. The argument rests on a belief that if people had more money to spend they would spend a lot of it for products in which steel is used. This, in turn, would increase the demand for steel and bring about capacity or near-capacity production in American mills.

THE TROUBLE with this argument is that it overlooks the fact that steel-producing capacity is of many varieties, and some of that capacity is for a kind of steel that is no longer wanted. A large part of the 30 percent unused steel-making capacity will never be used again no matter how much consumer purchasing power is expanded.

If things were as simple as President Kennedy and his economic advisors would like to make out, why was it that the steel industry spent a billion dollars last year to increase capacity? Why didn't the steelmakers merely use some of that 40 percent of idle capacity the administration talks about?

The reason is easy to understand. An industry operating at only 60 percent of its total capacity had to have a different kind of producing capacity. It needed a new capacity to produce a thin sheet steel so that it could compete better with the producers of other kinds of materials, such as plastics and aluminum. In short, it had to increase capacity for reasons of advancing technology and in recognition of the fact that a great deal of its existing, but unused, capacity wouldn't fill the bill.

If demand stemming from consumer purchasing power was the answer to unused capacity in the steel mills, it would be difficult to understand why 1962 wasn't a capacity year for steel. Just consider the automobile industry, perhaps the largest single user of American steel, and consider the fact that 1962 was one of the biggest years the automakers in this country have ever enjoyed.

GENERAL MOTORS, for example, made more money last year than any other corporation in any year in American history. Steel demand also was high in the fields of construction, highways, industrial plants, housing, schools and military hardware.

The need today is not for utilization of old and obsolete plant capacity, but for the building of new kinds of plant capacity. There is need, too, for greater capital investment, for more research and development and for more retraining of manpower for new tasks.

Our present problems are not the kind that lend themselves to easy answers, such as deficit-spending combined with tax reductions.

How do you stand, sir?

SORRY, I CAN'T RUN, BARRY—

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Trio Runs House With Oklahoman Middle Man

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — You hear a lot these days about Rep. John McCormack, D-Mass., the gaunt, grey humanitarian speaker of the House of Representatives, and about Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., the charming and convivial Democratic whip of the House, but you don't hear so much about the man who stands in between.

He is an unspectacular, conscientious little man from the west open prairies, of the Southwest, Carl Albert of Oklahoma, who, as majority leader of the House, some day will, undoubtedly become speaker.

Albert is a political phenomenon: The son of a coal miner and also a Rhodes scholar. His mother insisted that his father give up coal mining as she saw the sickening increase of casualties in the Oklahoma mines, and the family went in for cotton. Carl can still remember the feel of the rough ball on his raw fingers as he picked cotton, and he recalls the steady northward march of the weevil to put cotton farmers out of business.

Though a liberal, Albert is elected from one of the most conservative parts of Oklahoma, "Little Dixie." But he gets overwhelmingly re-elected because he works hard and is straightforward.

It's more than mere geographic or religious coincidence that a Methodist Midwesterner was picked to operate between two Catholics who come from two opposite cities—Boston and New Orleans. John McCormack, who hates all things Russian, would never use the name, but this makes a pretty good trioka.

MCCORMACK, for instance, works with northern big city Democrats, Boggs with the South, and Carl Albert with the Democrats in between. At times, they also cut across geographic lines. And there is no man more persuasive in talking to Judge Howard Smith, the Dixiecrat congressman from Virginia, than Carl. He finds Smith to be always a gentleman, always willing to listen, and a man who always keeps his word. However, he makes his own decisions. As chairman of the Rules Committee with life and death power over letting legislation come to the full House for a vote, Smith's cooperation is indispensable.

Sen. Harry Byrd, who knows Smith well and is supposed to be the Democratic boss of Virginia, remarks: "I never ask Howard Smith to come to see me. I go to see him."

When Majority Leader Albert was trying to get one of Kennedy's welfare bills passed last summer, he went first to see Sen. Byrd, who was favorable, then to see Rep. Smith, who was unfavorable. After discussing the merits of the bill and the President's hope that it would be passed, Albert asked Smith if he had talked to Byrd about the bill.

"NO," REPLIED the congressman who is a key cog in the Byrd machine, "and what makes you think Byrd's views would influence my vote?"

As majority leader, it's Albert's job to rally the votes for administration measures. It's a job, he finds, you can't leave to subordinates. It has to be done personally or by trusted party whips.

The late lamented 87th Congress closed last year with one of the worst public images in years but with more accomplished than in any other recent years. Its poor image was due to the temperamental pyrotechnics of elderly committee chairmen. Its record of accomplishment was due to the House trioka, with special emphasis on the indefatigable majority leaders from "Little Dixie," Oklahoma.

When Helen Blumberg of Philadelphia introduced Speaker John McCormack to Tommy Gosling, the famous British jockey, McCormack invited Gosling to sit in the speaker's chair on the House floor.

"It's much more comfortable than a saddle," Mr. Speaker said Gosling, who has ridden the best horses in England, including the racing steeds of Winston Churchill.

You might not think so if you presided here every day," replied McCormack.

ALFRED and Martha Stern, the Chicago millionaire couple who escaped to Mexico a step ahead of the FBI in 1947, are reported in Czechoslovakia operating a Communist-style peace corps school. They are training Communist technicians for work in underdeveloped countries. Soviet scientists put on an impressive display of nuclear fireworks over Novaya Zemlya during their recent nuclear tests in the Arctic. Most impressive: In one test monitored by our National Security Agency, three Soviet ballistic missiles were destroyed by a single nuclear blast from the warhead of Russia's newest anti-missile missile.

Hungary's birth rate has plunged since the 1956 uprising until it is now the world's lowest. Explained Hungary's prime minister-in-exile, Ferenc Nagy: "This is self-imposed genocide. The peasantry does not want to produce slaves for world communism."

Nagy predicts the Communist authorities will allow Cardinal Josef Mindszenty to leave his exile in the American embassy and return to Rome, as a gesture to U.N. Secretary-General U Thant during his forthcoming visit to Hungary.

Re's congressman has finally found something to do. For two years, Rep. George Gooding, R-Pa., who represents the city of Gettysburg, has been silent and almost uninterested. But the other day, Gooding spoke up at last—in criticism of Vaughn Meader and the famous record on the first family. The congressman from Gettysburg did not approve of the record . . . Gen. Curtis Lemay, the Air Force chief, has been sounded out by American Airlines, also by General Motors when his term runs out in June. Lemay has indicated wistfully that he would enjoy working with cars—something on the ground, not in the air. He and another Air Force general, Frank Griswold, like to try out their own inventions on their twin Corvairs.

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — A rock clearing blast damaged a house. But Marin County supervisors decided against licensing powdermen.

Desegregation Bill Offered

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — A significant bill has just been introduced in Congress on the subject of desegregation in the public schools. Since the 1954 desegregation decisions of the Supreme Court, it has often been pointed out that the fourteenth amendment specifically provides that Congress alone may enact laws to enforce the provisions of that amendment. But somehow, during the last nine years, no such law has been enacted by Congress to require desegregation in the public schools.

It is refreshing, therefore, to see homage paid at last to the idea that Congress should pass a law on the subject. Sen. Joseph S. Clark, Democrat, of Pennsylvania has just introduced a bill which, if passed, would require every school district to file a desegregation plan within three years, and the plan would be put into effect unless it was challenged in the courts as inadequate.

When asked why no such measure had been passed heretofore, Sen. Clark replied that a somewhat similar proposal has been sponsored for several years now by Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois in his civil rights bills but these died in committee. He explained that the new bill "would give legislative teeth to the 1954 decision and make it possible through legislative action to implement what the Supreme Court had ruled in its opinion."

The Pennsylvania senator said that he had been asked by Mr. Kennedy after the 1960 election to prepare legislation to carry out the Democratic platform pledge on school desegregation. This correspondent asked Sen. Clark why he and others felt that legislation was necessary, especially since, up till now, the Department of Justice seems to have had no hesitancy about using numerous court orders on desegregation which have been as sweeping as if they had been derived from specific statutes. Mr. Clark said:

"IT SEEMED to me, frankly, that the executive has taken a pretty effective and aggressive lead in this business of assuring rights which are set forth in the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments that the judiciary has similarly moved and that the legislation has been the laggard — and that those rights cannot be assured or secured in the words of the Declaration of Independence unless the legislature also acts to implement the actions of the judiciary and of the executive."

"My philosophical argument is that, under our system of checks and balances, when you undertake to implement a constitutional mandate which has been pretty well ignored for nearly a hundred years, all the various elements of government — executive, legislative and judiciary — must cooperate to that end and if the result is going to be effective."

At least it can be said that Sen. Clark's proposed legislation is more in line with constitutional theory than was the Supreme Court decision of 1954. For this was a ruling based primarily on sociological doctrine and not on constitutional law or precedent.

TO PUT before Congress now a concrete piece of legislation on the integration-desegregation issue is to give the representatives of the American people a chance to vote on the question. If they decide in favor of such a law, the sentiment for enforcing it will at least be supported by a statute, and there would no longer be much discussion of the merits of the court decision itself.

Unhappily, however, even if Congress passed a law requiring desegregation in the public schools, this would not dispose of all of the points raised in the controversy over constitutionalism. For "ratification" of the fourteenth amendment itself was a plain fraud. It was an illegal procedure. Historians do not dispute the facts, though they excuse them as due to the emotional atmosphere of postwar days in 1868.

Oddly enough, the Supreme Court has never passed specifically on the legality of the strange method used to "adopt" the fourteenth amendment. It has dealt with hundreds of cases arising out of the wording of the amendment itself, but has refused to take any case involving the validity of the irregular and arbitrary procedures used to declare the fourteenth amendment "ratified." The court has simply said that the question is "Political." But within the last few years, the Supreme Court broke precedent and accepted cases on the reapportionment of congressional districts, even though this had for decades been characterized by the court itself as a "political" question.

MAYBE THE way has been opened either for a Supreme Court decision on the legality of the "ratification" process used for the fourteenth amendment or to the adoption of a revised fourteenth amendment by Congress and the states in the manner prescribed by the constitution. This would dispose of one of the worst violations of the constitution ever recorded in the history of the United States.

Atomic Cocktail For Goiter

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Do recommend the atomic cocktail for goiter? Do all goiters respond to it? Please explain different treatments.—P. R.

Yes, I recommend the atomic cocktail for suitable cases. A goiter is a thyroid gland which has grown larger than normal. The causes and results are not all the same, though.

The best-known cause is lack of iodine. Some areas, including the Great Lakes region, were known as "goiter belts." The reason: There was almost no iodine in the soil, hence none in foodstuffs grown in these areas.

The thyroid gland produces a hormone called thyroxine. It has to have iodine (even though in only small traces) to do so. With iodine lacking, the thyroid gland, following nature's desperate urge to produce even under handicaps, enlarges.

The result: Goiter.

Use of iodized salt now has put an end to the majority of simple goiters from that cause.

However, there are also toxic goiters, which become overactive from some other cause. (Cysts and tumors are two causes of such enlargement.)

The atomic cocktail is used in some of these. The "cocktail" essentially is a small amount of iodine which has been made radioactive and then dissolved in a glass of water.

Since iodine automatically is conducted to the thyroid (where that element is needed), so is the radioactive iodine. There its radioactive properties quiet the overactivity.

IT IS, indeed used instead of surgery, the same end result being achieved by removal of the gland, and leaving only the amount of gland tissue needed to provide enough thyroxine.

Thus for some goiters, administering iodine alone may be a successful treatment. In others, the atomic cocktail or surgery may be necessary.

What used to be summer habit now belongs to winter,
too. Who'd imagine that over 14 million people took winter vacations just last year. And the figure seems to double every year.

Use! We'll be vacationing right here in the store. But we have some tips for you if you're one of those going anywhere. The first is to bring your camera in and let us check it over before you go. That way, no matter whether it's an over-night junket or a season-long island-hopping cruise, you'll be sure your camera will be getting the fine picture you aim it at. Next, you'll probably want to take more pictures than you might think (we always do), so stock up on an ample supply of color film. Travel note:

If you're going abroad, take plenty of extra rolls. Simple reason is that it costs less to buy it here.

Here's another good thought before you pack. If you're going to be taking Kodak color film for snapshots, slides, or movies, see us for a supply of Kodak Prepaid Processing Mallards. The price you pay for the mallard is the price you pay for processing. As you finish up each roll of film just put it in the handy envelope, mail it, and it goes directly to Kodak where it's expertly processed fast and right, and then sent directly to your home. Save possible damage or loss of your valuable film while traveling. Come

House of the Week

Modified Y-Shape Offers Individuality

By JULES LOH

An exterior of eight faces, each more attractive than the next, not only gives this house the individuality every home owner seeks but makes it a practical investment for a host of common-sense reasons.

It's a one-story home with three bedrooms, 2½ baths and all the essential features required for modern living — family room, a large kitchen with breakfast bar, living room with a grand fireplace, roomy dining room and an abundance of large closets and storage space.

BUT IT also has a variety of features you wouldn't expect in a house of only 1,561 square feet of basic living area, features resulting directly from its unusual and distinctive design.

The layout is roughly in the shape of a Y, with the base at the living room projection, the bedroom wing representing one arm and the housekeeping wing the other.

Its creative designer is architect Samuel Paul. It is design J-61 in the House of the Week series.

Each of its eight sides was designed as a front elevation, Paul said, so the house can be positioned on a lot any way you choose. Even a lot as narrow as 60 feet can accommodate this house.

BUT MAINLY it was designed so the builder can take advantage of the angle of the street, any big trees that might be on the lot, the slope of the terrain, the direction of the sun and so forth.

The exterior presents a sleek, long and handsome silhouette on all sides. Openings in the front of the hip roof and a built-in rear trellis add an interesting play of shade and shadow to the well-balanced facade of brick veneer and vertical siding.

Outdoor facilities, important adjuncts to any up-to-date house, include three continuous terraces off the kitchen, dining and living rooms. Sliding doors from the dining room open onto a trellised dining terrace.

ARCHITECT PAUL suggests you get a detailed plot of your lot drawn to the same scale as the floor plan of this house as it appears in the J-61 study plan. Then try positioning a cut-out of the house on the lot in various ways until you come up with the combination you like.

He has included several alternate schemes for lot size and orientation on the study plan to give you a few professional ideas. No matter how you place it, it will look attractive from the street — a feature which should be welcome to every home buyer who has struggled with the restrictions on design imposed by lot size and shape.

ANOTHER alternate feature of this house is the size of the garage. You can have either single or double size without affecting architectural balance.

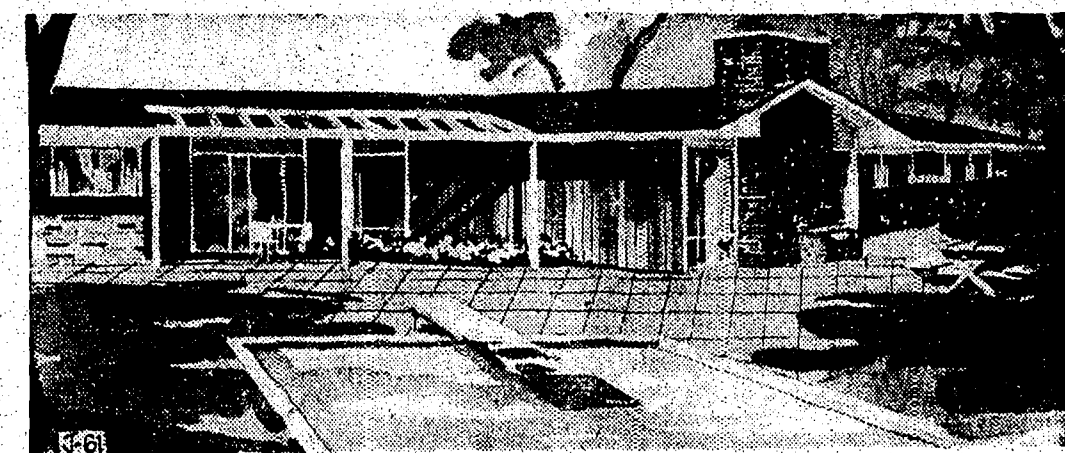

A dramatic and spacious entrance foyer takes advantage of the point where the house changes direction.

Beyond it, a dining room which adjoins the living room at a 45-degree angle does the same thing, a particularly dramatic design because both rooms share one sweeping wall.

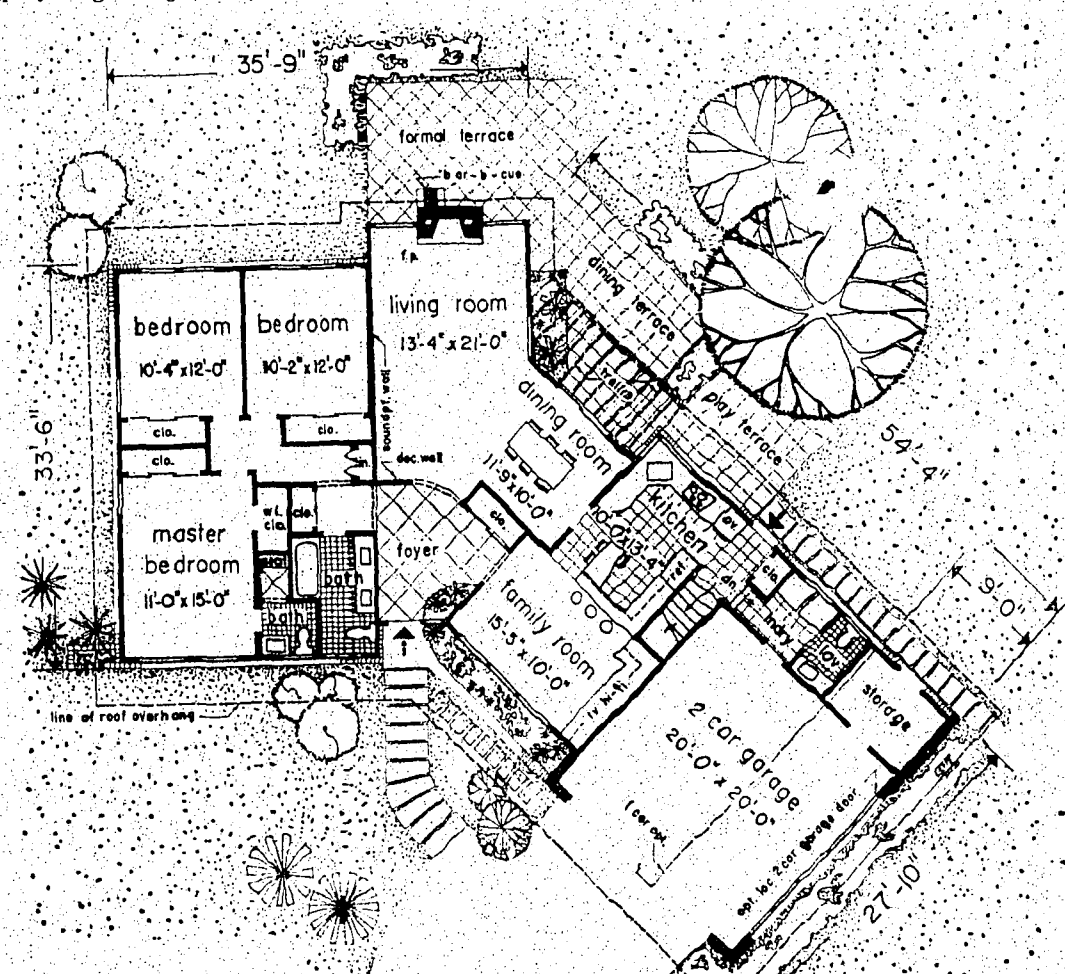

The brick fireplace in the living room is flanked by windows at the gable end, and an outdoor barbecue on the terrace takes ad-

ONE WAY TO LOOK AT IT: This modified Y-shape house is attractive from any of its eight sides, each of which was designed as a front elevation. In this position the garage faces the street, with the front entrance angled to the left. House contains three bedrooms and 2½ baths.

ATTRACTIVE FROM ANY ANGLE: Directly opposite the foyer, the living and dining rooms present an equally pleasing exterior view. The projecting living room, with its fireplace also providing an outdoor barbecue, forms the stem of the rough Y-shape of the house. The bedroom wing extends to the right; the housekeeping wing to the left.

FLOOR PLAN: Any lot 60' wide and up will accommodate this house. The total basic living area is 1,561 square feet with the laundry and lavatory occupying another 76 square feet. The garage can be either one or two-car size without upsetting the architectural balance. There are 33 linear feet of closets in bedroom wing.

J-61 Statistics

A one-story house of modified Y-shape containing seven rooms in a basic area of 1,561 square feet. Laundry and lavatory contain 76 square feet; cellar contains 1,573 square feet; two-car garage would add 474 square feet; one-car garage would add 231 square feet.

Living room and bedroom wing, at widest point, total 35 feet 9 inches wide by 33 feet 6 inches deep. Housekeeping wing, at 45-degree angle, is 34 feet 4 inches wide by 27 feet 10 inches deep in two-car garage design, one-car design reduces width 9 feet.

Advantage of the same chimney. A soundproof wall divides the living room and bedroom wing.

THE BEDROOM wing is a nicely planned division featuring a total of 33 linear feet of closet space, a large main bath with a recessed tub and dual basin vanity more than six feet long, plus a full bath adjoining the master bedroom and equipped with a stall shower and seat.

Though the house has a full

Bay State Gets Permit for Dock at River

Two building permits, one for construction of a loading dock and the other for house improvement, were issued last week by the city engineer's office.

The first was taken by Bay State Milling Co., 55 Franklin St., for a dock to be erected at the riverfront.

Cost of construction was estimated at $7,250 and the contractor is River Construction Co., La Crosse.

The riverfront dock will be a grain unloading facility and will be in the vicinity of the mill's present barge dock.

A crane and hopper unit will be used with a conveyor from a storage elevator to unload grain from barges.

The other permit went to Frank Wicka, 924 E. 5th St., for installation of aluminum siding on his house. Harris Construction Co., Minneapolis, is the contractor for the job estimated to cost $700.

Mid-February's dollar volume of new construction this year is $765,725, compared with $111,566 at this date a year ago.

There has been one new house permit issued this year; there were none recorded at this time in 1962.

Oil-burner permits were issued to Henry Harders for Raymond Kaczorowski, 456 High Forest St., and Sievers Heating & Air Conditioning, for Vatter Motor Co., 115 E. 4th St.

Permits for gas-fired installations were drawn by Harders for Wyliss Larson, 102 Lenox St., Superior Heating & Roofing Co., for Millard Schwan, 461 E. Sanborn St., and Winona Heating & Ventilating Co., for Leo Prochowitz, 1010 E. Broadway.

BACKGROUND FOR PAINTINGS

To show off oil paintings to their best advantage, hang them on a wall painted white. In this way the colors in the painting will not be affected by their background. Choose the color for the other three walls from the dominant color of the painting. This will tie the room together.

EASY TO PAINT

Anodized aluminum is as easy to paint as other types of this metal. Remove any oil or grease with paint thinner, then apply any exterior primer. After this has dried, brush on exterior house paint or enamel. In areas of industrial or atmospheric corrosion, the best primer to use is zinc chromate.

REAL PROTECTION

Spreading newspapers under furniture you are refinishing will protect the carpet from enamel or varnish drips and splatters. But to be sure that you don't step in these spots and track the finishing material onto the rug, do one

Let's Get Growing

By A. F. SHIRA

Some Suggested Trees For The Home

Supplementing our article of last week, we are suggesting today some desirable trees for landscaping the home grounds.

First, several trees might be mentioned that should be avoided by the home owner as far as possible as they have little to offer and possess some qualities that are objectionable. Among these are soft maple, American elm, Chinese elm, our native linden or basswood, native green ash, weeping willow and the poplars. The home owner should not be misled into planting some of these so-called fast-growing trees, since some of the better trees will equal them in size after becoming well established and in good growth.

There are several hybrid elms listed by nurseries as being better than the American elm and more resistant to the Dutch Elm Disease, but they are not thought to be so desirable as to take the risk of this disease. Some of the better types of trees are listed below.

Pink Oak—This is a wonderful tree and is considered one of the best because of its many excellent qualities. It makes a pyramidal shaped tree with rather horizontal branches, is fast growing, and may reach a height of about 50 feet. The leaves are deeply cut and lobed, are bright green in color and often turn to a bronze red in the fall. Like all large lawn, or yard trees, the lower branches should be cut off as it grows in order to form a stem, or trunk, 8 to 10 feet high to permit ample head room underneath.

MORANE LOCUST—This is a hybrid patented tree that makes a good lawn specimen. It is fast growing, thornless, and has no seed pods to litter up the lawn. The finely cut foliage gives the tree an airy and graceful appearance.

Shademaster Locust—Also a patented tree, it has a straight trunk with upright branches and small dark green leaves. It is a fast growing tree and like the other hybrids does not have any seed pods.

Sunburst Locust—Like the two locust varieties mentioned above, this is a patented tree that has become quite popular, judging by the numbers that can be seen. It is unusual in that the tips of the new terminal growth take on a golden color while the older inner leaves are deep green. It is a hardy, fast growing tree that attains a height of about 35 feet. The tree is thornless and is not bothered with insects or diseases.

Marshall Seedless Ash—This is a seedless ash that can be planted instead of the native green ash, or the white ash. It is hardy, a fast grower and makes a well-shaped tree about 50 feet high.

GINKGO—It is a very remarkable tree native to northern China. It is the only survivor of a family of trees very widely spread in geological times and is classed as the oldest tree known to man. This is a fairly fast growing tree and may attain a shapely height of about 50 feet. The leaves are fan-shaped, of thick leathery texture and turn a bright yellow in the fall. For an unusual and distinctive tree, plant a ginkgo. It is very hardy and disease resistant.

European Mountain-Ash—This tree is very showy in the spring with its many flowers in flat-topped clusters. It is a brilliant sight in the late summer with clusters of yellow berries that turn red later in the season. The berries are greatly liked by some birds, especially the robins and the cedar waxwings. It reaches a height of about 40 feet.

OTHER TREES—There are several other desirable trees with which most of our readers are familiar such as hard maple, Crimson King maple and white birch. The above are all deciduous trees. The evergreens will be taken up in a later article.

Arcadia Council Asks Survey on Street Project

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special)—Arcadia City Council Thursday night instructed H. J. Lenschow, city engineer, to make a preliminary survey for work necessary on sanitary and storm sewers and water lines on Main Street.

That in preparation for a 1964 street improvement project estimated to cost $170,000. The work on the utility lines will be done this year. The road project will be run from the intersection of Highways 93 and 95 at the west end of Arcadia about 1.34 miles easterly to the city limits on top of the hill. The estimated figure will include new curb and gutter where not now laid and repairs to curb and gutters and sidewalks where necessary.

The street project was proposed by the state. The city's share of the street improvement will be about $44,000 of the estimated $170,000. The sewer and water improvements will be a city obligation.

The council is of the opinion that work on the area from the Trempealeau River bridge easterly to the theater, covering several blocks, will not have to be extensive as hot mix was laid here in 1954.

THE COUNCIL decided to move Green Bay Avenue about 10 feet west. This is a short street just west of and parallel to the Green Bay & Western Railroad tracks. Trucks turning onto this street from the east have occasionally been caught between the tracks.

The council granted Joe Klonecki permission to divert up to 350,000 gallons of water a minute from the Trempealeau River occasionally from June 1 to Sept. 1 for irrigating strawberries. The land which would be irrigated is on a farm Klonecki leases about three miles north of town. Permission was necessary because the city owns about 31 acres of land adjacent to the river.

A Public Service Commission hearing on Klonecki's request will be held this month.

THE CITY also has received notice of application of Lloyd Fernholz for a permit to divert water from Trempealeau River in Town of Arcadia for irrigation. Fernholz's request is to divert up to 350 gallons of water a minute at times from June 15 to Aug. 30. The commission will hold a hearing at the La Crosse County courthouse March 22 at 9 a.m.

The council issued a bartender's license to Daniel Sobotta. Clerk Warren Shanley was instructed to call for applications for an assistant in his office to succeed Mrs. Donald Woychik, who is resigning April 1.

Gophers Face Badgers Tonight

Schedule Favors 'U'

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Revenge was both sweet and highly profitable for the Minnesota Gophers Saturday night as they socked Michigan State 75-70 at East Lansing, and at the same time picked up a full game on Illinois in the Big Ten basketball race.

The triumph atoned for a 61-59 setback suffered at the hands of the Spartans here three weeks earlier.

There's no letup now as the Gophers head into the stretch of the Big Ten chase.

Minnesota hosts dangerous Wisconsin tonight in Williams Arena, and has four more conference games compressed into the next two weeks.

The scheduling from here on in tends to favor the Gophers. Only

Huwald Best Bet For Glove Title

MINNEAPOLIS (Special) — Ron Putterbaugh, Lee Huwald and Tom Van Hoof of Winona will seek Golden Glove titles tonight in the Upper Midwest tournament in the Minneapolis Auditorium.

Van Hoof Sunday was named to replace Don Welch of St. Paul in the lightweight semifinals. Welch status has been doubtful since suffering a back injury when he beat Van Hoof in the quarterfinals.

Van Hoof will face Darland Smart of Nashua.

Huwald, who rates as the best of the three Winona boxers to finish on top, meets Mike Brazil of Minneapolis in the featherweight semis.

Putterbaugh has his work cut out for him. He opposes Bob Coe of Blue Earth who holds two decisions over him. Heavyweight favorite is Charlie Smith of Minneapolis who meets Lee Collier of Superior.

Joel Nack of Austin, a middleweight fighting on the Rochester team, as are the three Winonans, age against Bob Porter of Minneapolis.

The old mark of 317 was held jointly by John Balfanz of Minneapolis and Jimmy Brennan of Leavenworth, Wis.

Kotlarek, 21, a member of the 1960 U.S. Olympic ski jumping team, showed almost perfect form in reaching a peak since his poor showing in the last Olympics.

Judges rating distance and form awarded Kotlarek a total of 230 points to 209 for runnerup Ansten Samuelstuen, a native Norwegian now competing for the Steamboat Spring Winter Sports Club. Samuelstuen's jumps were 292 and 279 feet.

The nation's junior ski jumping champion repeated Sunday. Jay Martin of Minneapolis, a Wyoming University student, sailed 284 and 287 feet.

Balfanz, whose old mark of 317 feet was set at Iron Mountain, Mich., fell in his first jump. His second went for 309 feet.

Brennan did not compete.

Samuelstuen won the regional Olympic ski jumping tryouts here Saturday and was favored to recapture the national title.

Black Hawks Tip Boston in NHL

CHICAGO (AP) — Bobby Hull, the Chicago Black Hawks' golden jet, is cruising at high speed these days and threatening to win his third National Hockey League scoring title.

Hull pounded in three goals Sunday night to lead the Hawks to a 3-1 victory over Boston and increased their league lead to four points over second place Montreal. It was Hull's second hat trick of the season and ninth of his career.

Hull now has scored 17 goals in his last 13 games and has 28 for the season and 57 points, two less than league leader John Bucyk of Boston.

Last year Hull put on a tremendous spree in the second half of the season to finish with a record-setting 50 goals and win the league scoring title with 84 points.

In other games Sunday night, the Montreal Canadiens moved into second place, with a 6-1 victory over the Detroit Red Wings and the Toronto Maple Leafs dropped to third after bowing to the New York Rangers 4-1.

Wisconsin's Ron VanderKelen set a Big Ten record last season by throwing 10 touchdown passes.

one of Minnesota's remaining games is on the road — at Northwestern Saturday.

Among the home foes the Gophers have left are Illinois and Ohio State, Saturday's play with 6-2 records. Minnesota is third at 6-3. Illinois is here next Monday, and Ohio State March 4.

Those two games could well decide the Big Ten championship.

Jefferson and Central Blue, first and second place teams in the Junior High Basketball heavy-division ended the season on winning notes last week. Jefferson thumped Central Golds 49-28, and Central Blue edged Phelps 48-44.

Todd Spencer and John Ahrens bagged 16 and 13 points, respectively, to pace Jeff's win. Doug Emanuel hit 10 for Golds.

John Walski fired in 22 points to lead Blue. Joe Ives added 13. Tom Becker sparked Phelps well balanced attack with 14 tallies. Don Hazellon and Bob McDougall bagged 13 each.

Bruce Olson netted 14 counters and Bob Speltz 12 in Blue's win. Miles Cronin hit 10 for Phelps.

Central Golds captured the title in the Lightweight League by dumping its closest rival Jefferson 31-21. Central Blue moved into a second place tie by swamping Phelps 44-21.

Steve Gerlach banged in 10 points and Jerry Wrensch eight to lead Golds to victory. Steve Moen had nine for Jefferson.

San Francisco, Detroit Battle For NBA Playoff

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With the end of the regular season in sight, there appears only three things left to be decided in the National Basketball Association, other than individual records.

They are: 1. The race between Boston and Los Angeles, the divisional leaders, for the extra $2,000 that goes to the team with the highest percentage. Los Angeles leads 750 to 712.

2. The race between Syracuse and Cincinnati for second place in the Eastern Division and the extra $3,000 that goes to the team finishing runner-up. Syracuse leads Cincinnati by two games. Each have 16 games left to play.

3. The race between Detroit and San Francisco for the third and last playoff spot in the Western Division. Detroit leads by half a game. San Francisco is 17 games to play. San Francisco 17. No extra money is given for the finishing third, but the team that does gets $6,000 for making the divisional semifinal playoffs.

Both Syracuse and Cincinnati won Sunday as did Boston. Syracuse whipped Detroit 133-124. Cincinnati defeated New York 600-58 and Boston nipped Chicago 110-99. Boston took St. Louis 114-94 and San Francisco went two overtimes to defeat Los Angeles 122-118.

Minneapolis and Hibbing are favored for the team title. Lone defending champion in the field is Bob Rodriguez of Minneapolis, a bantamweight who won last year's flyweight title.

MEET OPENS THURSDAY

The usual match of Twin Cities entries against northern Minnesota power is set for the opening of the state high school hockey tournament in the St. Paul auditorium Thursday afternoon.

The favorite going in will be International Falls, which ran its unbeaten string to 54 games Saturday night in whipping Hibbing 5-3 for the Region 7 title. The Broncos have only two ties against 52 victories in that string.

International Falls meets Alexander Ramsey of St. Paul in the first round.

The tournament pairings set up the possibility of a rematch of last year's title game, which the Broncos won 4-0 over Roseau. Roseau meets a strong Richfield entry in the first round.

Northern clubs have won the title 15 of the 16 times the tournament has been held and have taken all trophies since 1955. St. Paul Johnson cracked the dominance in 1951, 1953 and 1955, and they are back in the running.

In a tournament preview Saturday night, Minneapolis Roosevelt bumped Johnson 4-3, although the St. Paulites were weary after playing their fourth game of the week.

Twin Cities coaches call the metropolitan field one of the best in years, noting Johnson's two victories over Roseau and a strong showing by all five teams against outside opponents.

Thursday afternoon games send Richfield against Roseau at 1:30 and Roosevelt against Johnson at 3.

Night games have St. Paul Murray meeting Warroad and Alexander Ramsey against International Falls.

STALLWORTH SCORES 47 POINTS

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

In one of the biggest upset plunges in college basketball history, the name of Dave Stallworth will be written in the biggest letters.

Stallworth fired Wichita to the surprise of surprises Saturday night—a 65-41 conquest of nationally ranked Cincinnati. The 6-foot-7 junior poured in an amazing 40 points, including the last seven of the game at Wichita as the Wheatshockers ended the two-time national champions' victory string at 37.

Wichita's triumph was tops in a long list of summers. Second-ranked Loyola of Chicago got knocked off at Bowling Green, 92-75, fourth-ranked Illinois was outscored at Indiana 102-100, sixth-ranked Mississippi State was upended at Florida 73-52, seventh-ranked Colorado lost at Iowa State 73-60 and 10th-ranked Georgia Tech was ambushed at home by Louisville 78-73.

Eighty-ranked Stanford won at California 69-58 but jumped the gun on the upset spree by being tipped by the Bears on its own floor Friday night 61-60.

That left only three members of the nation's top ten who got through the harrowing weekend unscathed, third-ranked Duke, fifth-ranked Arizona State and ninth-ranked Ohio State.

Duke clinched first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference's regular season race with a 73-60 victory at home over Wake Forest. The Blue Devils will be top-seeded in the ACC tournament which determines the conference's champion and its representative to the NCAA tourney.

Arizona State broke its tie with Brigham Young for the Western Athletic Conference lead, romping at BYU Saturday night 104-87 as Joe Caldwell scored 32 points and Art Becker added 27.

Ohio State, gunning for its fourth straight Big Ten title, held Illinois for first by posting a 75-60 decision at Michigan. Gary Brundage paced the Buckeyes with 34 points.

Despite the loss to Wichita, Cincinnati nailed down at least a tie for the Missouri Valley title as St. Louis fell at Tulsa, 66-63.

Bowling Green had Loyola all the way in dealing the Ramblers their first setback in 22 starts this season. With both Cincinnati and Loyola tripped, there are no major unbeatens left.

REASON TO SMILE... Gene Kotlarek of Duluth, Minn., broke an old record Sunday, and then set about to break his own. Kotlarek was taking part in the United States Senior Jumping Championships at Steamboat Springs, Colo. The old record was 317 feet. Gene broke this record with his first jump of 318 feet. His second jump was recorded officially at 322 feet. Kotlarek is a senior at the University of Minnesota. (AP Photos)

MEET LAST-PLACE JOHNNIES

Auggies Can Wrap Up MIAC Cage Title Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Only a small miracle will prevent Augsburg from wrapping up the Minnesota Intercollegiate Conference basketball championship tonight.

The Auggies host last-place St. John's, who on paper don't stand a chance of upsetting the MIAC leaders. Augsburg is 13-0, St. John's 2-9. Augsburg's last title was in 1946.

Augsburg clinched a tie for the crown Saturday night by ripping St. Thomas 73-53, while Duluth kept its faintest of hopes alive by smashing St. John's 79-50. Duluth is 9-3 and plays at Hamline tonight.

In other MIAC action Saturday, Concordia edged St. Mary's 76-75 to evade the conference cellar and leave it to St. John's, while Gustavus Adolphus edged past Macalester 51-50.

Only Northern State Conference game saw Michigan Tech down Mankato 87-74 to retain its top spot in the NSCC. Winona defeated Northland 95-90 and Bemidji whipped Manitoba University 87-37 in non-conference games.

In the Midwest Conference, Carleton defeated Monmouth 79-76 but St. Olaf bowed to Knox 81-66. It was Monmouth's 13th straight defeat.

Other games tonight have Concordia at Macalester, St. Thomas at St. Mary's and Superior, Wis., at St. Cloud.

Augsburg ran up a 34-23 half-time lead and coasted past St. Thomas. The Auggies, now 20-1 for the season, got 19 points from Lloyd Raymond.

Duluth had St. John's on the run by halftime, 41-23. Johnnie ace Craig Myres, 17th high school college scorer in the nation, mustered only 15 points. He could hit nothing from the field.

Michigan Tech, leading St. Cloud by only half a game, completed a crucial tour with wins over Winona Friday and Mankato Saturday.

Young Mahaffey, 15, Hits 695 for Lead in Tourney

Dennis Mahaffey, a 15-year-old Cotter High sophomore, is the leader in the singles race of the Winona City bowling tournament today and Winona Milk Co. of the Keglers' Knights of Columbus League holds the team championship.

The Milkmen won their title Sunday when the last six of 214 teams competed in the five-man event and failed to displace any of the top 10.

DENNIS, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Mahaffey who operate the host Keglers Lanes, splashed a 695 with handicap Sunday afternoon to go 19 pins ahead of his closest rival.

A 119-average bowler in the Merchants League, Dennis is in his second year of league competition. He throws a straight ball—mainly due to "orders."

"I won't let him throw a hook yet," said his father. "There is time for that in two or three years. Too many of these kids are trying to throw big benders, and it's not good for them."

YOUNG Mahaffey opened with 178 which included a ninth frame split. He then added 145 with an opening split and four errors in the last five frames. But that didn't daunt him a bit. He shook off a split and a foul in his last game and then unreeled seven straight strikes for 220. He had 152 pins handicap. Dad Mahaffey hasn't rolled his doubles and singles yet.

The 220 game also earns him an ABC Century award patch for being 100 pins over his average.

Only other change in singles Sunday saw Fran Ziemann tag 628 with 134 free pins for sixth place.

High scratch in weekend singles was a 503 by Roger Bilgen Saturday night and high game 231 by Ray Gady whose 638 moved him into fourth.

IN DOUBLES, Merlyn Von Baren and Jim Englerth cracked 1,216 Sunday for second place. Eng-
