2 Cuban MIGs Attack U.S. Shrimp Boat in Florida Straits

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy ordered the armed forces today "to take all necessary action" to prevent a recurrence of Wednesday's rocket attack by Cuban-based MIG planes on an American shrimp boat.

Kennedy's action was announced by the White House, which attributed the attack in the Florida Straits to "Cuban aircraft."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two MIG fighter planes from Cuba fired rockets in a flight over a U.S. shrimp boat in the Florida Straits Wednesday, the Defense Department announced today.

The boat and its two-man crew were not hit, the department said, but the rockets were understood to have come very close to the boat.

The MIGs flew away as U.S. planes approached.

The department said U.S. jet interceptors took off when unidentified targets appeared on the Key West radar station screen.

The U.S. planes reported two MIG fighters made rocket firing passes at the shrimp boat, the Ala. A Pentagon spokesman said.

The U.S. planes saw the rocket firings as they were screaming out across the straits to check on the unidentified targets, which turned out to be the MIGs.

The passes apparently occurred as the MIGs were headed back toward Cuba. A spokesman said he was unable to say whether the MIGs had been frightened off by the approaching U.S. planes.

The Soviet-built MIGs were not the latest models based in Cuba. There has never been any word from U.S. government sources as to whether Soviet or Cuban pilots are flying the MIGs based in Cuba.

The U.S. interceptors were Marine-piloted F4B Phantoms. The F4B is one of the fastest fighter planes in the world.

The Marine planes came from Fighter Squadron 513 based at Boca Chica Naval Air Station at Key West.

The department said the incident occurred in international waters 60 nautical miles north of the Cuban mainland and 78 nautical miles east-southeast of Key West.

The MIG fighters left the area of the shrimp boat when contacted by U.S. aircraft dispatched by the Air Defense Command in southern Florida, the Pentagon statement said.

"There was no engagement between the MIGs and the U.S. interceptors who witnessed some of the firings."

A spokesman said the term "contacted" meant visually contacted rather than any radio conversations or physical contact.

He said four MIGs were in the area but that apparently only two were involved in the rocket passes.

The shrimp boat was out of Fort Myers, Fla., and owned by the Seafood Packing Co. Its crewmen were identified as Paris Jackson and Benjamin Washington.

"When rescued by a destroyer escort, Jackson and Washington reported they had been drifting about three days because of engine failure," the department said.

The Ala left Fort Myers on Feb. 10 and its crew said the engine failed the afternoon of Feb. 17, the Pentagon reported.

The destroyer escort which rescued Jackson and Washington was identified as the Ketchmer.

The Ketchmer is based at Key West. Its home port is Newport, R.I.

New Protection Measures Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. policy makers held urgent meetings today on a tension-creating new Cuban incident—the firing of rockets by Soviet-built MIG planes in the vicinity of a U.S. shrimp boat in the Florida Straits.

President Kennedy was reported discussing with advisers the possibility of new countermeasures to tighten defense against Communist power based in Cuba.

One serious possibility was that U.S. fighter aircraft would be given definite orders to destroy any Red planes which endangered the shipping in the Cuban area.

The MIGs-shrimp boat incident occurred Wednesday but was only disclosed by the Pentagon this morning. The Defense Department said two MIGs flew by the shrimp boat, Ala, and fired rockets but did not hit it.

The presence of the MIGs had been detected earlier by radar and U.S. planes from Florida, dispatched to the area, saw the firing.

A Pentagon spokesman said the Ala was in international waters, 60 miles north of the Cuban mainland.

The sudden MIG assault inevitably raised the question in speculation here as to whether the shrimp boat might afford some clue to the mysterious fate of the tanker Marine Sulphur Queen, which vanished Feb. 2 on a voyage between Beaumont, Tex., and Norfolk, Va. The tanker was carrying 15,000 tons of molten sulphur. Wednesday ships searching for the vessel found flotsam littered Sulphur Queen.

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—An unidentified flare and flotsam lettered "Sulphur Queen" stimulated a search south of Key West today for traces and possible survivors of a freighter that vanished after sailing Feb. 2 with 39 men aboard.

8,000 Soviet Troops May Leave Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. sources report some Soviet troops—perhaps as many as 8,000—may ship out of Cuba within days. And American officials hope some of the Soviet weapons will be leaving too.

The forecast of the early departure is partly based on the arrival in Cuban waters of four empty or lightly loaded Soviet ships. One already has docked, sources said Wednesday night, and the three others are approaching the island.

The ship movements were disclosed barely a day after word circulated from congressional and diplomatic sources that the Soviet government had promised Monday to withdraw several thousand of its troops from Cuba by March 15.

The soldiers arrived there last fall with the offensive missiles and bombers which set off the Cuban crisis.

Experts estimated the four vessels were of a size that could handle as many as 8,000 men—almost half the 17,000 Soviet military personnel President Kennedy said he believed were still on the island.

2 Salt Lake City Girls Found Beaten

TOOELE, Utah (AP)—Two Salt Lake City girls were battered with a hammer and buried alive under desert brush Wednesday. Officers say a 19-year-old part-time dishwasher had admitted the crime.

The girls, Carol Annette Clayton and Drinda Jane Atnes, both 18, were rescued after a companion, Tony Robertson, 19, ran and walked 14 miles to the nearest telephone and got help. The girls were hospitalized and both were in critical condition.

Sheriff Paye Gillette said Rex Hintze of Salt Lake City admitted beating the girls after his car became stuck on a muddy road near the Great Salt Lake and the girls started walking toward home. He was booked on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

"He didn't seem to know why he did it," the sheriff said, "he just said he was mad at them for leaving."

Four Dead in Bomber Crash In Minnesota

SPRINGFIELD, Minn. (AP) — A sleek Air Force jet bomber crashed and disintegrated in a southern Minnesota farm field Wednesday, apparently killing all four crewmen.

Only three bodies were found, all tangled in parachutes the men may have tried to use at low altitude when the B47 ran into trouble on a practice bombing run, been aboard when the craft rammed the ground.

Officers said one man may have been killed.

The plane hit on the Carl O. Renburg farm between Springfield and Comfrey, about 100 miles southwest of Minneapolis. Renburg said the craft roared past so low he thought it would hit the house.

The B47 apparently was on a training mission to a radar bomb scoring site at Heron Lake, near Worthington, Minn.

All four crewmen were based at Lincoln, Neb. All were married. The Air Force identified them as Capt. Donald L. Livingston, 31; Lt. Col. Larnar E. Ledbetter, 41; 1st Lt. Thomas J. Hallgarth, 22, and 1st Lt. Michael R. Rebmann, 23.

One witness, John W. Evers of Comfrey said he saw the plane moving crazily and "beginning to come apart." He said later this may have been a parachute dropping from the craft.

Douglas Wall, Comfrey, said he saw the plane in a wing-dragging position with all engines blasting out black smoke. Wall said the plane climbed to around 1,000 feet, then nosed into the ground.

Two bodies were found near the crash scene, another near St. James, Minn., 20 miles to the southeast.

Officers said that only Livingston and Hallgarth had been identified.

Largest remaining portion of the plane was a cylindrical tank which landed in the Renburg yard. At the crash scene was a splash of charred earth where main portions of the wreckage burned fiercely for a time.

Remnants of a parachute, at center, and twisted piece of metal, lower right, were among the most tangible remains of a B47 Air Force jet bomber that was ground to bits when it crashed on a farm between Springfield and Comfrey, Minn., Wednesday. Peak Near in U.S. Spending for Defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—The peak in defense spending appears in sight.

But there are unknowns and uncertainties that could prevent any substantial downturn or even a leveling off in the years ahead.

Several key administration officials, including Budget Director, Kenneth Gordon, have been speaking optimistically of late. Pentagon authorities agree there is a basis for such optimism.

President Kennedy's proposed budget for the coming bookkeeping year contemplates record peace-time military spending of about $51 billion—more than half the total federal budget.

This is about $8 billion higher than the last military spending proposals submitted to Congress by President Dwight D. Eisenhower before he left the White House two years ago.

Much of the heavy increase grew from the Kennedy administration's urgent push to (1) build up the country's conventional land, sea and air forces and (2) speed construction of Polaris missile firing submarines and emplacement of quick-firing Minuteman intercontinental missiles in protected bases underground.

A good bit of this already has been done. And the new budget contains money to pay for the balance of such expensive programs as a 41-boat Polaris fleet and a force of new jet tanker planes to give B52 bombers greater range and endurance.

The number of U.S. fighting men has been boosted by nearly 200,000 above the Eisenhower strength, to nearly 2.7 million.

The Pentagon has taken long strides toward re-equipping the forces with the latest and most potent in artillery, tanks, battle-field missiles, jet fighter planes, helicopters and armored troop carriers.

A dangerous deficiency in high speed jet transports to fly troops to danger spots overseas is well on its way to being overcome.

But the Defense Department has embarked on a $2 billion program to buy Phantom jet fighters for the Air Force and Navy over the next five years. And beyond that, it is just getting started on development of a standard fighter to replace the Phantom. Ultimately, this advanced plane, now called the TFX, could cost $5 billion or $6 billion.

The new budget provides $3.3 billion for buying new arms equipment for the Army. This is a peak for Army modernization and is likely to taper off in the future.

Navy Building Up Fleet of Tender Ships

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy is enlarging its fleet of tender ships and floating drydocks to provide more floating overseas bases for its Polaris submarines. Included in the new shipbuilding program submitted to Congress in the defense budget is a request for funds to construct a fifth tender and to convert another floating drydock capable of servicing the larger, 425-foot long Polaris submarines.

Details were disclosed in testimony Wednesday before the House Armed Services Committee by Vice Adm. Charles D. Griffin, deputy chief of naval operations for fleet readiness.

For the planned fleet of 41 Polaris submarines, the Navy estimates it will need six tender ships with accompanying craft. Two tender ships are now in commission. A third was launched last month and a fourth is under construction.

In his testimony, Griffin explained the Navy's need for a fifth ship and the conversion of another drydock.

Hospital Insurance Heart of Proposal

By JOHN BARBOUR

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy put his battered plans for health care of the elderly into new wrappings today — part of a $10 billion, five-year plan aimed to better life, income and housing for senior Americans.

But it was bound to be old hat to Congress.

Besides the expected, and once-defeated, proposals for hospital insurance for the aged through Social Security, the President asked again for tax benefits for the elderly, part of his tax message last month.

The hospital insurance plan is expected to cost $5.6 billion for the first four years, the tax benefits $3.9 billion for the first five years.

Thus, in this special message on problems of the aging — the first ever by an American president — the two biggest money items and all but a fraction of the total money package are quite familiar.

But, in addition, the President called for:

More money for low interest loans to build rental housing for elderly persons of moderate income.

New emphasis on building group residences for the elderly where central dining and housekeeping services are available, some nursing care can be provided, but privacy is preserved.

More jobs for those past retirement age who want to work—including a directive to federal agencies to evaluate applicants and employees on the basis of ability, not age.

In all, the President recommended 36 ways to better the lot of senior citizens. But the heart of the program was hospital insurance. Concurrent with the President's message, a new administration bill was to be introduced in Congress.

It was basically the same as a bill stymied by Congress last year. And it did nothing to bend to previous objections of the American Medical Association to any plan financed solely by Social Security.

Nor is there room in the new bill for private or voluntary health insurance plans to get into the picture, except as additional insurance. This had been suggested to some degree by liberal Republicans who offered their own Social Security-financed health bill Tuesday.

Last year's administration bill—almost a twin to this year's—died in the hands of the House Ways and Means Committee. An attempt to move it through the Senate as an amendment to a welfare bill was defeated 52 to 48.

The basic change this year is an option in benefits for insured persons. The prime benefits still provide for up to 90 days of paid hospital care after the insured has paid the first $20 to $30.

But the new bill allows two options, providing the insured elderly person chooses the option immediately before his 65th birthday. Once made, the choice cannot be changed.

The insured may choose to get 100 days of paid care, after first paying 2½ days himself. Or he may choose to get 45 days of paid care without paying for any part of it. If he makes neither choice, he gets the basic 90-day provision of the bill.

As in the earlier bill, the cost of the medical care would be borne largely by a boost in Social Security taxes. It would mean a maximum of $13 a year for each employee, and a like sum for his employer. 1) amounts to one-fourth of 1 per cent for the first $5,200 of the employee's income.

Mass of Icy Air Moving Across U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A vast mass of icy air, powered by brisk northerly winds, stung the nation's midsection today and headed into Eastern and Southern states.

Subzero cold spread from Montana across the north central region into Ohio. Temperatures plunged to nearly 30 degrees below zero in northern Minnesota. Subzero readings were reported in Montana, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Michigan, Illinois and Ohio.

Gale winds and snow squalls in sections of New York state closed highways, stranded residents and caused hundreds of minor traffic accidents. The heaviest snowfall was six inches in western New York, which was lashed by wind gusts up to 51 m.p.h. off Lake Erie. Nearly 300 school children were stranded in western New York communities. The mercury edged to near zero in some areas, including Rochester and Buffalo.

Blowing snow, with amounts light to moderate, heralded the advance of the cold air southwestward through Kentucky and parts of Tennessee. Light snow fell in parts of the Great Lakes region and along the eastern slopes of the Continental Divide.

Generally clear weather prevailed in the below zero belt in the wake of Wednesday's snow, blustery weather. Near blizzard conditions had hit areas in North Dakota and northwestern Minnesota.

The Weather Bureau posted cold wave warnings for most states from western New York south to Virginia, Tennessee, Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas and northeastern New Mexico. No immediate relief from the subzero cold was in prospect for the Midwest.

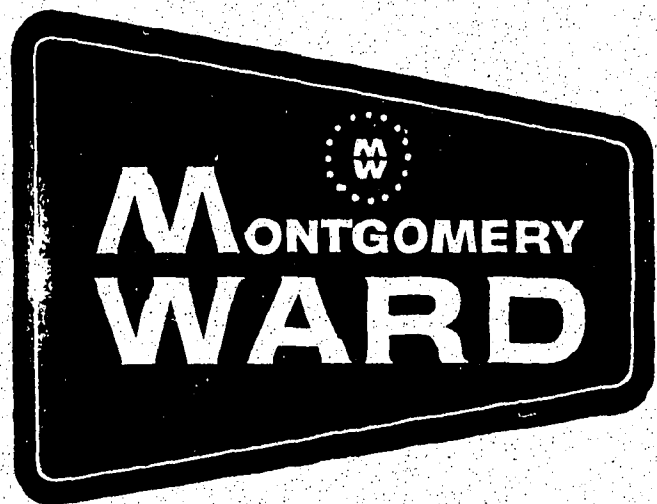

Big Fire at Green Bay

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — All of the city's fire fighting equipment was called out this morning to battle a blaze which raged out of control in three buildings on the West Side. No injuries were reported.

One of the structures was the three-story Blackstone Hotel. All occupants were reportedly evacuated after the fire was discovered in the basement of one of the buildings. Other buildings included in the complex located alongside the Fox River are the two-story Tradewinds Retail Shop, Elmer's Barber Shop, the 400 Bar and the Marine Outboard Mart.

The fire department began calling off-duty firemen about 10:30.

Man's Clothing Ripped Off In Bitter Cold

GILMANTON, Wis. (Special)—The power takeoff of a manure spreader caught a Gilmanton farmer's clothing Wednesday.

It ripped the clothing off the body of James Hestekin, 44, from the waist up, and held him. Then for about two hours he was exposed to the zero cold, and the strong northwest winds—first until his plight was discovered, then still longer, while neighbors worked frantically to release him.

Hestekin was taken to Tri-County Memorial Hospital, then to Luther Hospital, Eau Claire, where he is in serious condition. He has extensive frostbite, a shoulder wound and broken ribs.

Most severely frostbitten was his left arm. Flesh was gouged out to the bone in the shoulder. Surgery was performed on it Wednesday night.

The clothing on his left arm got caught between the wheel and the gear.

Hestekin had gone to a field about a mile from the house about 3 p.m. When he hadn't returned at 5 p.m., his wife went in search and found the tractor still running.

She turned it off and summoned assistance from Hestekin's brother, Ervin, Lloyd Nelson and Elmer Kolva, all neighbors, who worked for some time before releasing him. They had to dismantle part of the spreader to get him out. They ruined several jacks in the process.

The Hestekin farm is about seven miles east of Gilmanton in the Lookout area.

Rotarians Told Of Sad Life in Peru and China

The sad story of two nations was told by natives to Rotarians and their Rotary Anns at Hotel Winona Wednesday evening.

"The Poverty of Peru," where many of the poor and middle class think the future under communism is more promising than present living conditions, was related by Miss Daisy Olick, Lima, Peru, a student at the College of Saint Teresa.

"United States is the only hope there is for Peru," she said. "Communists already head the oldest university in the Americas and many of our schools."

She told of work done by Rotarians of Lima in supplying the hospital with milk for babies. Many mothers leave their babies behind when they leave the hospitals, she said.

A girl born and who lived behind the bamboo curtain until five years ago, told of the struggle for the China mainland, of living conditions in China today and of the progress made by the Reds. She is Miss Linda Sun, Hong Kong, another Saint Teresa student. Her family got out of China five years ago.

Life in Hong Kong today, the refugee problem and how satisfactory the British are in meeting it also was discussed by the speaker.

The program followed a steak dinner and a cocktail hour. It was in charge of Lars Granberg, The Winona Rotary Club is 40 years old this month. R. H. Watkins and Leo C. La France, two charter members, told of the charter night meeting and recalled some of the events of the early days of the club.

Other charter members are J. B. Leveille, A. M. Oskamp, A. E. Rau, J. Russell Smith and R. M. Tolleson, all of whom are active in the club.

Two Guns Stolen From Utica Farm

Two guns were taken from a garage on the Richard Thoreson farm, rural Utica, during the past week, according to Sheriff George Fort.

One was a 12 gauge bolt action shotgun valued at $25, the second was a .22 caliber automatic rifle with a telescopic site. The rifle's value was not given.

Sheriff's deputies investigated the incident Wednesday afternoon. They received a call from Thoreson Tuesday afternoon.

St. Mary's to Confer Two Honorary Degrees

St. Mary's College will confer honorary doctor of laws degrees Monday on the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John K. Ryan, native of Caledonia, Minn., and dean of the School of Philosophy of the Catholic University of America, and Robert J. Sheran, newly appointed associate justice of the Minnesota Supreme Court.

Degrees will be conferred as part of the golden jubilee celebration of Founder's Day. This is the third annual renewal of the commemoration of the establishment of the college by the late Most Rev. Patrick Heffron, bishop of Winona. Founder's Day was observed early in the college's history and then discontinued.

The tentative Founder's Day schedule will start with a low Mass of thanksgiving celebrated by the Most Rev. Edward A. Fitzgerald, bishop of Winona, at 6:45 a.m. Monday in the St. Thomas More

Chapel. The academic convocation will be held in the college gymnasium at 1:15 p.m. where honorary degrees will be presented and the college will honor seniors named to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

MSGR. R. IAN, son of Thomas and Mary Ryan, attended the College of St. Thomas, St. Paul, and then went to Holy Cross College to study philosophy, receiving an A. B. in 1920. He attended the North American College in Rome where he studied theology and received a bachelor of sacred theology degree in 1921. He studied philosophy and theology from 1922-24 at the St. Paul Seminary and was ordained a priest by Bishop Heffron in 1924. For the next six years Msgr. Ryan taught at St. Mary's College and was chaplain and instructor at the College of Saint Teresa during that time. He did graduate work at the University of Minnesota. Then he went to the Catholic University where he received his M.A. in 1931 and his Ph.D. in 1932. He became a philosophy instructor at the Catholic University in 1933 and in 1956 was named dean of the School of Philosophy.

Msgr. Ryan was named a domestic prelate in 1947 by Pope Pius XII. Msgr. Ryan is the author of "Basic Principles and Problems of Philosophy," "Modern War and Basic Ethics," "The Reputation of St. Thomas Aquinas" and other works.

SHERAN, a native of Waseca, Minn., received his A.B. from the College of St. Thomas in 1936 and his law degree from the University of Minnesota in 1939. He began his practice in 1940 at Glenwood, Minn. He was an FBI special agent from 1941-45. Then he joined the law firm of Gallagher, Farris and Zimmerman in Mankato. He served in the Minnesota House of Representatives from 1947 and 1949 sessions but did not seek reelection in 1951.

He organized the bishop's lay committee for vocations, is a member of the advisory board of the College of Saint Teresa and a charter member of Serra International at Mankato. Pope John XXIII named him a Knight of St. Gregory in 1961. Sheran, who is married and has five children, was described by Gov. Elmer L. Andersen who appointed Sheran to the Supreme Court, as "one of the ablest practicing attorneys in the state."

It's Holiday For Many Tomorrow

Most of the local branches of all governmental levels will be closed Friday for the Washington's Birthday holiday.

Postal services will be shut down for the day with service windows closed and no rural or city deliveries being made. Collection hours will be the same for outgoing mail and all dispatches will be on the regular weekday basis, except airmail which will not be flown until Saturday.

Minnesota State Employment Service offices, 163 Walnut St., will open briefly. Beginning at the regular 8 a.m. opening time, the office will be open until approximately 9:30 to write unemployment compensation checks.

All Winona County courthouse offices will close for the day, as will those in the Winona City Hall. Taxpayer assistance will be furnished today from 12:45 until 4:45 p.m. by the federal Internal Revenue office which will close Friday. The assistance again will be scheduled for the regular Friday afternoon hours beginning next week, officials said.

Other federal offices closing for the day include the Fish & Wildlife Service, Selective Service, Social Security Administration and Navy Recruiting Substation.

Conformity is not quite complete, however. Applicants for enlistment in the U.S. Army will find the office open all day, says M. Sgt. Leigh Bell, Army recruiter.

Federal farm agencies at Lewiston will be closed and farmers should plan their visits to these offices accordingly, said Donald Stedman, ASCS office manager.

Included will be the ASCS office, SCSS office and the forester's office. Federal Land Bank and Production Credit Association representatives do not plan to be at their offices either, he said.

Frigid Reading Again Tonight; Then Warmer

A bitter north wind and cold wave gripped the Winona area today, sending the thermometer down to -16 at 7 a.m. and promising continued very cold weather for tonight and Friday.

The below zero reading this morning was the 34th of the winter and the seventh in February. There were 19 below zero days in January, the lowest being -31 on Jan. 6 and 8 in December. To the same date last year 30 below zero days were recorded, but many of them not as low as this winter.

A LOW of 12-20 below is predicted for tonight. Friday, says the weatherman may be not quite so cold by late afternoon when a high of 10 above may be expected.

The northwest winds which have blasted the area for two days are destined to diminish late tonight and become westerly Friday. It was still 18 miles an hour at noon. The weatherman saw a chance of snow flurries Friday with the moderating temperature. Saturday is expected to see additional moderation and little or no snow.

THE WINONA temperature had dropped from 10 above Wednesday forenoon to 2 Wednesday noon and steadily during the night to the -16 mark. At noon today the reading was -10.

A year ago today Winona was digging out of a heavy snowstorm and 10 inches of the stuff remained on the ground. The temperature that day rose from zero to 23. All-time high for Feb. 21 was 64 in 1920 and the low -25 in 1873. Mean for the past 24 hours was -3 as contrasted with a normal figure of 21 above.

The cold wave extended across Minnesota with the thermometer down to -29 at International Falls and -27 at Bemidji. St. Cloud had a morning reading of -21 and Duluth -25.

ROCHESTER posted a low of 17 after a Wednesday high of 15 and La Crosse had readings of -16 and 18 above for the same times. The cold extended into Canada where Winnipeg had a low of -25, Fargo, N.D., reported a -21 reading.

The -19 below in the Twin Cities at 6:45 a.m. tied the record low for Feb. 21 set in 1939.

Superior's 26 below reading took the chilly honors for an overnight low in WISCONSIN, but Park Falls was close behind at 25 below.

Other lows around Wisconsin were 21 below at Wausau, 20 below at Eau Claire, 13 below at Green Bay and Lone Rock, 12 below at Madison and Milwaukee, 10 below at Racine and 9 below at Beloit.

The plummeting thermometer set records in Superior and Beloit and tied an old mark in Green Bay. The previous low in Superior for Feb. 21 was 20 below set in 1918 while in Beloit a 7 below mark, also set in 1918, was shattered.

Gusty northwesterly winds ranged as high as 46 miles an hour in La Crosse late Wednesday.

MILWAUKEE's 30-degree reading topped the list Wednesday for Wisconsin followed by 28 at Beloit, 23 at Madison and 22 at Green Bay. Other highs included 13 at Wausau.

The 24-hour high was 86 at Imperial, Calif.

Australians Find Cold Invigorating

Minnesota's cold is colder than the Australian cold, a young couple from the Down Under continent said here Wednesday.

"But it's so invigorating," added Mr. and Mrs. Antony R. Harry, Adelaide, Australia, Harry, 24, and his wife Joan were on a one-day visit to Winona in the course of a leisurely trip across the United States and Canada. It is their first trip to the North American continent.

HARRY, who practices law with his father, was in Winona to call on a client, Watkins Products, Inc. The Harry law firm has been Watkins' legal representative in Adelaide for 20 years. Watkins Products plant and five distribution branches in Australia.

It was "baking hot," a dry 105 degrees, when the young couple left Adelaide at little over two months ago. Situated on the southern coast, the city of 600,000 has a climate comparable to that of southern California, they said. To take a skiing vacation to the Australian snow country it is necessary for the Harrys to travel 1,000 miles. Low temperatures seem more tolerable there, they said, because of the semi-arid climate of the Australian interior.

ADELAIDE is the capital city of the state of South Australia which has roughly same area as Minnesota, the Dakotas, Nebraska and Iowa. Much of it is flat, open country, they said, devoted largely to raising sheep, cattle and some wheat. It also is the location of the Woomera rocket range, a familiar name to American followers of orbiting U.S. astronauts.

South Australia, for all its size, is sparsely populated, the Harrys said. It is expected to pass the million mark for the first time next month.

Friends in Australia had told them of the beauties of the Flinders Valley, the Harrys said.

Both were enthusiastic about the trip along the Great River Road from Minneapolis to Winona. Since arriving by ship at Vancouver, B.C., they have traveled overland exclusively by bus, following an itinerary designed to afford maximum amounts of sightseeing.

WHITE FRAME houses caught their eye, the couple said. They are accustomed to seeing brick construction in timber-short Australia. "They look so clean against the background of snow," exclaimed Mrs. Harry, a tall, blue-eyed blonde. Back home the architecture is not so exciting, she added, since great numbers of homes are identically constructed.

Notable to the visitors was the absence of fences between homes here. In Australia, they said, every house is surrounded by its low wall or fence, a practice which traces back to the nation's British origins. So ingrained is the custom, they remarked, that even in many modern housing developments there are taken fences with a single rail.

AUSTRALIAN housewives have generally less mechanical assistance in their homes, Mrs. Harry said. She had noticed more major appliances in American kitchens, especially dishwashers, she noted.

Unregulated monopoly is the foremost characteristic of Australian business and industry, Harry said. Some moves now are being made to introduce effective controls for consumer protection but little progress has been made so far. There is nothing comparable to the Sherman Anti-Trust Act in Australia, he added.

Nodding in agreement was his host, Frank G. Merles, Watkins assistant vice president in charge of rural sales. Merles had spent a year in Australia with Watkins branches where he saw at first hand the problems of buying in a market where producers combine rather than compete.

THE COUPLE arrived in Winona Tuesday evening and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Merles, 120 E. Broadway. While here they visited the Watkins offices, plant and experimental farm. They also made a brief stop at Garvin Heights park to take color pictures of the river valley.

"We love it here," Mrs. Harry said with a smile. "We think it would be a wonderful place to live."

It Happened Last Night 'Sophie Tucker' Not Plump Enough

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I sneaked a peek at the gal who's to play Sophie Tucker on the Broadway stage — Libi Stager — and I didn't think she'd overate enough yet. She wasn't plump enough yet.

"I've eaten like a horse... I've gone from 130 to 150," said the forthcoming star of the stage show, "Sophie." She was in black tights, rehearsing at the Bway Theatre — and she looked merely... well, rounded... shapely... cushiony... alluring.

"I've been eating whipped cream chocolate cake... I eat all the time... I'm stuffed... I can wear some padding to make me look 170."

"Why aren't you fatter?" I asked the Harrisburg, Ill., actress whom Sophie Tucker herself picked for the show which breaks in at Columbus Feb. 28.

"You see, I have a lot of dancing to do, and I eat washed potatoes and gravy and chocolate... but I dance it off. I have to rush right out to Lindy's and eat strawberry cheesecake after work."

"Anyway," she said, "the show Sophie Tucker began in the ages of 17 and 22. She wasn't so much well-built then."

STEVE ALLEN, who wrote the music for the show, thinks she's plump enough and Libi's husband, Jerome Ekos, a director, agrees. Sophie Tucker, when she looks at Libi in a few days, may think she's TOO fat — or Sophie won't be very feminine.

"Well, so long," grinned Libi, starting off toward Lindy's. Got to consume some more calories, Libi."

Beautiful Suzy Parker — who's making a packet doing modeling and TV commercials — privately admits that she and "Bradford" Dillman, as she calls the movie star known generally as Brad, will probably marry in April after his divorce becomes final. Gwen Verdon's expecting that her baby'll be a premie.

JUDY GARLAND'S back at her Las Vegas home with the children and Sid Luft — the "paralysis" wasn't serious — she'll probably go to London for a movie premiere in a week, accompanied by Luft. Jane Morgan's getting cheers of approval for her demand that "the Star Spangled Banner" be replaced by "America the Beautiful" as national anthem. Carol Lawrence goes to Las Vegas to do an Ed Sullivan TV show and will see her beau Bob Goulet, now at the Flamingo. Where does that leave her rival, Jill St. John?

Comedians Marty Allen and Steve Rossi — considered by many to be the "new Abbott and Costello" or "new Martin and Lewis" — are to be put into movies by Bob O'Donnell and Bob Hartgrove of Dallas. In a film planned in June, titled "Allen & Rossi Meet Frankenstein and Dracula," the two comedians will be shown inheriting a haunted castle. O'Donnell, nephew of the late Dallas theater operator of the same name, says, "Marty Allen and Steve Rossi are well known to night clubs and to TV through the Garry Moore show. But we must introduce them to the small

Now Hear This: USS Yellowstone Puts Out to Sea

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Now hear this, now hear this: The USS Yellowstone has put out to sea.

Before lunchlubbers ask, "So what?" read on.

The valiant USS Yellowstone is a destroyer tender — a floating collection of workshops — machine shops, electronics shops, optical printing, photo, canvas and other specialty shops to serve the needs of 26 destroyers assigned to Mayport Naval Station.

She rarely leaves her pier.

So when she was ordered out for a six-day cruise just to prove she and her crew of 500 could do it, Navy personnel at the base staged a gala bon voyage ceremony.

Capt. Frederick Madell, commander of Destroyer Squadron 16, sent a basket of empty champagne bottles to celebrate.

The Yellowstone sailed for Port Everglades, 300 miles to the south.

Gifts sent to the ship before departure included several books on navigation and seamanship — plus a road map of Florida.

After leaving the harbor, the Yellowstone's skipper, Capt. J. H. King Jr., messaged: "Many thanks for your kind hospitality. I didn't know you cared."

State Dept. To Get Help Of Computer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department is going to try to get background help on foreign affairs questions by push button.

Given a go-ahead by Secretary Dean Rusk after a visit to a Pentagon computer center last summer, the department's electronic answering system is slated to swing into operation on an experimental basis during the fiscal year that begins July 1.

So reports the latest State Department newsletter, a publication distributed to U.S. diplomats.

Successful demonstrations by the new information storing and retrieving machine, the newsletter said, points toward creation of "a system of mechanized support for researchers, desk officers, policy planners and decision makers who daily depend on substantive information and who frequently need it in a hurry."

Here's how the system is supposed to work:

South Dakota Tables Oleo Tax Repeal

PIERRE, S.D. (AP) — The House Assessment and Taxation Committee has tabled and, in effect, killed a bill to repeal the 10-cent-a-pound excise tax on oleomargarine.

The Senate passed the measure 18-15 last Saturday.

Committee action on the measure came Wednesday after some members questioned the loss of about $550,000 a year in revenue the state collects from the tax.

Gov. Archie Gubbrud had indicated that he would veto the measure if it came to his desk.

department's voluminous stacks of political, military, economic, geographic, biographic and what-not information and decide what is important enough to be stored on the computer's memory tape. Then the information is indexed, or coded, to be given as an answer.

A simple question such as "What are the expressed views of Mr. X on subject Y?" produces a simple answer.

But questions asked too broadly can cause trouble, the newsletter warns. That's because the electronic selector, trying to cover all the angles on a fuzzy query, will tend to throw in a pile of only distantly related information.

Dictator's Death A Shabby Thing

LONDON — The sudden, outrageous, rumpled death of a dictator is rather a piteous thing, a reminder that men's vanity rarely lives after them in the minds of their heirs. For a dictator's death is a shabby thing, with no memory of the man who was Dillinger, no real relic of the man who called himself Il Duce and who hanged high by his heels, kicked to death by a Milan mob, with his mistress upended obscenely beside him.

This has come sharply to mind as the result of seeing a picture of the assassinated dictator of Iraq, Abdul Karim Kassem, on British TV the other night. BBC apologized for showing the picture, but justified it as news, and said firmly that it would not be shown again on subsequent broadcasts.

It is indicative that Kassem was the unidentified carcass on the floor, his head under a chair, while two of his dead aides hogged the camera — one lying sprawled backward in a chair, as Count Ciano might have sprawled when they tied Edda Mussolini's husband to a chair and shot him in the head.

It is all so very untidy, violent death to violent men who came to power through the ruthless murder of the men whose positions they coveted; the cold slaying of the men they feared once they came to power.

NOBODY WAS ever murdered more coldly than King Faisal of Iraq by the late Kassem, who slaughtered the king and his cohorts as cynically as another recent corpse, Abd-el-Krim, once butchered 20,000 Spanish prisoners in the fight over the Rif, years ago. This Krim died in bed the other day in Cairo, but I can vaguely remember that he was such a popular figure of the conquering hero that "The Desert Song" was based on his battles with France and Spain, and his picture in flowing jellabiah made a hero of him in the world's press. Abd-el-Krim was an exception to the unhappy rule about living by the sword.

Nobody really knows what happened to Hitler, but it is certain the end was as ignoble as the end of poor little Sylvanus Olympio of Togoland, who squatted as miserably as a gasoline thief in a parked car before they banged him down as he headed for the sanctuary of the United States Embassy. Sylvanus was absolute, in a small way. He was Chief Minister, President, Foreign Minister, Minister of War — everything up to and including the supervision of the only crap game in town.

ONE WAY OR the other, they all get it. Trujillo was supreme for years in Dominica; they stuffed his riddled, dismembered carcass in a car trunk. I am told that Patrice Lumumba was considerably embarrassed by personal attention before they shot him and stuck him in a hole, his ridiculous little hep-cat whiskers looking even more gaudy through the blood.

As sure as I write this line there will be a sticky end for Fidel Castro, who has murdered so many men in a spurious campaign for lip-service emancipation of the people. They got Trotsky real good; there is no real evidence that Stalin died naturally. Certainly Beria got gunned down by the current incumbents, and if Kwame Nkrumah lasts the year out, after all those attempts on the god-man of Ghana, I shall be mightily surprised. The head of Master Nasser lies uneasy on his pillow, because he is not beloved inside or outside Egypt.

If you take it the tough way, you must be prepared to leave it without final dignity. Ernie Pyle once wrote a poignant line to the effect that death on the battlefield was the ultimate in untidiness, and that the corpses always seemed to be surrounded by tattered battle banners of toilet paper.

Horizontal graves of pirates form the paving on the terrace of Bluebeard's Castle in St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, where it is customary to drink a toast to the "unseen guest."

New York Art Lovers Gather At Utica Show

By H. E. WHITTEMORE
Utica Observer-Dispatch Staffer

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—Thousands of central New York art lovers wandering this week through a Utica museum offer evidence that American art appreciation is coming of age.

"How else can you explain this sincerity, this interest, this serious approach?" asked A. Montgomery Huntington, public relations director of the Munson Williams Proctor Institute and an artist in his own right, as he watched thousands filing through the museum. "Today, art is accepted as a part of modern living."

People standing in line to get into the institute are there to view a re-creation of one of the most controversial art exhibitions in modern history—the 1913 International Exhibition of Modern Art.

Fifty years ago, public reaction to this exhibition—now famous as the armory show—swirled a tidal wave of controversy around the bastions of American art.

Tens of thousands went to the 69th Regiment Armory in New York City in 1913 and gasped in astonishment at their first look at European modern art. They mocked and jeered.

This week ripples from that tidal wave are washing over Utica, where the institute has managed to recreate much of the 1913 show. The search for the art treasures took more than a year.

This time there are no mocking or biting comments. There is the same wonder at some of the abstract works. But there is genuine respect for the masters—Duchamp, Van Gogh, Matisse, Cezanne, Bellows, Glackens.

"What was all the excitement about in 1913?" seemed to be the question uppermost in the minds of many of the 2,000 visitors at the opening in this industrial city of 100,000.

Cossacks fought on both sides in the 1917 Russian Revolution. Thus the Communists distrusted them and finally suppressed them.

ALL OVER 60 . . . These folks were among those attending the Old Settlers Association meeting at Plainview Saturday. Left to right, seated, Mmes. C. W. MINNESOTANS IN WASHINGTON

Rep. Karth Asks About Space Costs

By RICHARD P. POWERS
Associated Press Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials face searching questions from Rep. Joseph E. Karth, D-Minn., about their spending in the increasingly expensive space program.

Karth has been named by Chairman George P. Miller, D-Calif., of the House Space Committee, to be chairman of two subcommittees that will pass upon some $2 billion in NASA spending programs.

"One thing I want to find out," Karth said, "is how much money is being re-programmed, or transferred, from one project to another, and why."

As an example, Karth said, Congress last year provided $20 million for the Mercury program, but only a small amount of this was spent on Mercury and the balance transferred to another project.

The Mercury program includes such orbital flights as that of Col. John Glenn, the nation's first man in space.

Under the law, NASA has the right to transfer funds within certain programs. Thus it can transfer money provided by Congress for the Mercury program to the Gemini, or two-man, flight program, or to the Apollo, or moon-handling program.

But Karth said he wants to find out why officials do not know in advance just what they want specific funds for.

"My thought is this: How come an estimate of a year ago for X, Y or Z program does not stand up for one year," Karth said.

Another area he wants to explore, Karth said, is whether there is any duplication in building of facilities for the space program, all of which are expensive.

"I know they have been building a lot of simulators and deep vacuum chambers and such and I want to find out whether these cannot be used for varied purposes," he said.

"I also want to evaluate as well as I can if each of these projects are absolutely necessary."

Karth said the estimated cost of the space programs for the fiscal year starting July 1 is $5.7 billion compared with $3.5 billion for the current fiscal year.

In commenting on his new responsibilities, Karth said:

"I am honored by the confidence Chairman Miller has shown in me by his naming me to head both the Space Science and the Advance Research and Technology subcommittees of the House Committee on Science and Astronautics."

Although NASA's manned space program captures the attention, Karth said, it is the space science and research and technology functions which provide the solid basis of information and the hardware which will make possible U.S. lunar and planetary landings.

Greenwood Old Settlers Hear St. Paul Pastor

PLAINVIEW, Minn. (Special) — The Rev. John Rollins, St. Paul, was guest speaker at the 88th annual meeting of the Old Settlers Association of Greenwood, Prairie Saturday at Plainview High School cafeteria. The program followed a picnic lunch.

Rev. Rollins was introduced by A. A. Burkhardt, master of ceremonies. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Rollins, Weaver, Rev. Rollins is a student at Hamline University and preaches at Mazepa and Goodhue Methodist churches each Sunday.

THE SPEAKER contrasted the work of ministers in early days and in modern times. He told the history of the beginnings of both Greenwood Prairie and Plainview churches.

All officers were re-elected as follows: Kenneth Baldwin, president; Herbert Marshman, vice president; Malcolm Doane, secretary, and Mrs. Will Hassig, treasurer.

COMMITTEES in charge of the meeting were: Reception — Byron Wood and Messrs. and Mmes. Leslie Wood, J. L. Baldwin, Raymond Slawson and Otto Claussen; program — Mmes. Arthur Olin and Arnold Gengler and Messrs. and Mmes. Cyril Grieve, A. A. Burkhardt and Kenneth Steffen;

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and his family fly south tonight for a weekend by the ocean at Palm Beach, Fla.

The Kennedys, including Caroline and John Jr., will stay at the ocean front estate of Col. C.M. Paul, about a mile along the beach from the home of the President's father, Joseph P. Kennedy.

The first family plans to leave Washington immediately after the annual reception for the diplomatic corps which is scheduled to end about 8 p.m.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said the President has no formal appointments logged during his Palm Beach stay and that the main purpose of the trip is for Kennedy to see his father.

He said the Kennedys plan to return to Washington Sunday night.

Four different ways to make going more fun than getting there

You can see why one of America's favorite outdoor sports is driving Chevrolets, with four entirely different kinds of cars like these to choose from. There's the Jet-smooth Chevrolet, about as luxurious as you can go without going overboard in price (has lots of new lower upkeep features, too, like a flush-and-dry rocker panel ventilating system that helps remove rust-causing salt and slush); the new low-cost Chevy II, a good-looking, fun-loving car that would send any family packing; another perennial family favorite, the sporty Corvair, whose rear-engine traction will make you think that ice and snow are kid stuff; and for pure driving adventure, America's only homegrown sports car, Corvair—now in two all-new versions with looks that can stop traffic like a rush-hour blizzard. Chances are you've already picked your favorite. The next thing is to take a turn at the wheel at your Chevrolet dealer's. Washington Served Notably in Many Ways

GEORGE WASHINGTON is remembered principally as the general who secured this nation's independence, and as the first president of the Union. Another aspect of his career tends to be overshadowed. He played a vitally important role in the creation and adoption of the Constitution upon which all else is based. Even without his other deeds, this gives him claim to leadership among the founding fathers.

For four years after the war's end, Washington lived the life of a country squire at Mount Vernon. He experimented with new crops and trees, redesigned the grounds of his estate; he wanted to end his life as a gentleman farmer. But during this period Washington also kept a watchful eye on the nation and wrote many letters to friends urging that "an indissoluble union" must be established.

HIS EFFORTS, and those of other like-minded patriots, resulted in the Constitutional Convention of 1787. Washington went to Philadelphia, reluctantly, as one of Virginia's delegates — and was promptly named to preside. For the most part he remained silent in discussions, considering that the chairman ought to be so, but outside the hall he steadfastly urged that the Constitution be a solid instrument and that the convention adopt no "improvising, expedients." He was a strong force in bringing about agreement, and later ratification.

The point here made is that Washington, though his greatness encompassed service as general and president, also served notably in other ways. He took a key part in assuring that our system of government should have solid foundations.

Minnesotans Favor New Expressway

THE RECENTLY opened Dan Ryan Expressway on Chicago's south side offers Minnesota motorists a time and toll saving route to and through Chicago.

According to a study by the Chicago Motor Club, the new all express Interstate 94 route through Chicago can save motorists up to 13 miles in distance and 70 cents in tolls compared with the Illinois toll road route around Chicago.

The I-94 route takes the motorist through Chicago via Edens Expressway, Northwest Expressway, Dan Ryan South Expressway and the Chicago Skyway (30-cent toll). Exit ramps are provided at numerous points, including all major Loop streets. The Northwest Expressway also links with O'Hare Airport.

JAMES McDonough, manager of the Chicago Skyway, said a growing number of Minnesota motorists are taking advantage of the I-94 shortcut to and through Chicago.

According to Motor Club figures, McDonough said, the I-94 route through Chicago is 58 miles long and the toll is 80 cents. The distance was measured from the junction of Edens Expressway and Illinois Toll Road to the Gary East toll plaza on the Indiana Toll Road (50-cent toll). The Gary and Skyway tolls amount to 80 cents.

THE DISTANCE from the Edens Expressway junction to the Gary East toll plaza via the Illinois Toll Road around Chicago is 71 miles, five miles of it non-express traffic through the heart of downtown Gary, and the toll is $1.50, according to the Motor Club.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

To be a truly successful pitcher in the big leagues, a man must have a streak of meanness in his makeup. Be willing to "dust a batter off" by aiming a fast one directly at his Adam's apple, thereby preventing him from taking too free a cut at succeeding pitches.

No hurler in recent baseball history, with the possible exception of Sal Maglie (who pitched them so close he was nicknamed "Sal the Barber") has been a fiercer competitor than Early Wynn. Even Ted Williams, one of the greatest batters of them all, tightened up a bit when he faced Early Wynn at the plate. In fact, he wouldn't invite Wynn (though they were old friends off the diamond) to go fishing with him at his Everglades camp until he had retired from active competition on the diamond. "No hitter would take a chance going into swamps like that with a pitcher like Early Wynn," explained Williams. "His body might never be found!"

Touring through the South of France, an American couple drove through one village square where a brass band of 12 musicians was blaring away, under the violent leadership of a perspiring, uniformed maestro, before a deserted house whose every door and window was tightly shuttered.

The driver stopped and asked an onlooker, "Who are they serenading?" "The mayor," was the answer. "Well, why isn't he at the window acknowledging the compliment?" persisted the driver.

"That's the mayor leading the band," explained the onlooker. "What do you expect him to do? Be in two places at the same time?"

Do not be deceived; God is not mocked, for whatever a man sows, that he will also reap. Galatians 6:7.

WASHINGTON CALLING

Tax Bill Needs Kennedy's Help

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—The President has been told in fairly blunt language that without some positive intervention from the White House the chances of getting a tax bill passed this year are close to zero.

Even with the White House taking a more active role than the President has thus far been willing to risk, the prospect is poor. Yet, since the Kennedy Administration put forward a complicated program for reduction and reform, until the Congress acts one way or the other a dark cloud of uncertainty hangs over the business community.

This inevitably induces a wait-and-see attitude and if the waiting goes on too long one result will be a decline in the rate of business investment in the current year. Since this is just the opposite of what the Administration hopes to achieve, the President has listened sympathetically to the earnest appeals to lend a helping hand—a hand that will not be too evident.

But what he can do—what anyone can do—in view of the present situation in the Senate is uncertain. The first and the highest hurdle is the Senate Finance Committee.

The committee stands 11 Democrats, five of them from the Deep South, to six Republicans. This ratio of slightly less than two to one compares with the lineup in the Senate, which is 67 Democrats to 33 Republicans. Therefore, active supporters of the Administration, such as Senator Hubert Humphrey, the majority whip, want the committee enlarged by two or three liberal Democrats, and the President is helping in this endeavor.

BUT, NO matter what the Democratic Steering Committee recommends, the odds are against Senate approval of such a change. The single vacancy on the Republican side is likely to be filled by Senator Everett McKinley Dirksen, the minority leader. Dirksen will be a valiant ally of the chairman, Senator Harry F. Byrd. Byrd's goal is to bottle up the bill and, failing that, to delay it as long as possible and pare it down.

After a month of futile debate over the rules and how many votes are required to force a decision on a given measure before the Senate, the sense of frustration has increased. The Lincoln's birthday talkfest to one side, absenteeism this early in the session is becoming an increasing problem.

There is no visible pattern of leadership within the unwieldy Democratic majority. That majority is far less real than it appears, since from 15 to 20 of the 67 almost invariably oppose the Administration on every domestic issue and sometimes they are in opposition on foreign policy issues, such as foreign aid.

MAJORITY LEADER Mike Mansfield has indicated that he may permit the members of the Democratic Steering Committee to vote by secret ballot on candidates for committee vacancies. To those who recall the era of the leadership of Lyndon Johnson this sounds like abdication. It is an invitation to chaos.

One thing could be worse than defeat of the tax program, in the view of Administration strategists primarily responsible for the President's recommendations. This is for a prolonged battle in the committees of Senate and House, with passage delayed until late September or October. The measure finally sent to the President for his signature would be short of all reforms and the reductions would be less than had been requested.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Secret Vote Kills Kennedy Plan to Expand Committee

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — What appeared on the surface to be a small squabble over the size of the Senate Finance Committee was, in reality, a bitter backstage battle over tax cuts and reforms.

It ended up also as a sharp setback for President Kennedy, which may affect the taxpayers' pocketbook.

The President wanted to add two reform-minded Democrats, Senators Ed Long of Missouri and Steve Young of Ohio, to the Finance Committee. This would have given him two extra votes to keep the committee from emasculating his proposals.

But Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen, the sympathetic senator from Illinois, took personal charge of the tax opposition. He not only appointed himself to fill the Republican vacancy on the Finance Committee, but he served notice that he would fight the expansion move to the last ditch on the Senate floor.

"I've got 33 Republican votes, and I can get enough southern Democrats to beat you," he informed Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

Mansfield took up the threat with President Kennedy at a White House legislative conference earlier this month.

SEN. HUBERT HUMPHREY of Minnesota, the dynamic Democratic whip, wanted to accept Dirksen's challenge and urged the President to use his influence to keep the Democrats in line.

"A little trouble in February is better than being defeated in September," Humphrey argued. Kennedy agreed.

But Mansfield later took a straw poll of Democratic senators, which turned out less than encouraging. Georgia's in-fluent Sen. Dick Russell threatened to swing the entire southern bloc of 18 votes against the committee expansion plan.

Fearing a party-splitting fight, Mansfield, Russell, and Vice President Lyndon Johnson paid a secret call upon the President last week. They brought along Robert Baker, secretary to the Democrats, who had done the nose-counting for Mansfield.

They gave the President the results of the nose count and warned that a floor fight would end in certain defeat. Russell also promised that the southerners would not gang up with Republicans to block the President's tax bill, if the Finance Committee were left alone.

NEXT DAY, Mansfield met behind closed doors with the steering committee, which determines Democratic policy and hands out committee assignments to Democratic senators.

He started off by reading a prepared statement which recalled it was his original suggestion to the President to enlarge the Senate Finance Committee. A poll had convinced him, however, that the plan would get only about 45 votes on the Senate floor.

Still reading, he moved that the Finance Committee be left at its present size.

Russell warned that any tampering with the committee would cause resentment, which would only increase the hazards for tax legislation. He also repeated his promise to the President that the southerners would not obstruct the bill.

The President's personal pal, Florida Sen. George Smathers, chimed in that the expansion plan would lay the Democrats wide open to accusations of "committee packing."

In the showdown vote, only Humphrey, Sen. Joe Clark of Pennsylvania, and Sen. Harrison Williams of New Jersey voted for the enlargement. Clark also cast the proxy of Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois. They were defeated by a secret, 11-to-4 vote of the steering committee.

FOR PRESIDENT Kennedy, it was the loss of an important round in his fight for tax cuts.

Note — In order to take the Republican vacancy on the Finance Committee for himself, Dirksen had to sacrifice the powerful appropriations seat of his GOP colleague, New York Sen. Jacob Javits. Dirksen decided that Javits should make the sacrifice.

The Senate Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee will accuse comic books and girls' magazines of promoting the traffic in mail-order guns.

An alarmingly high percentage of these cheap guns is going to people with police records, including juvenile delinquents.

Senate sleuths learned from one railway express driver that he couldn't deliver a mail-order gun, because the recipient was locked up in Washington's Saint Elizabeth's Mental Hospital as a narcotics addict.

Comic books and girls' magazines are packed with ads offering pistols for as little as $6.95. One ad, hawking a "lightning" revolver for $5 down asks: "How'd you like to be the most accurate and fastest gun alive?"

COMIC BOOKS often furnish helpful hints on how to make and use weapons. In addition to cheap guns, they also offer knives, whips, daggers.

A sword-cane riding crop, for example, is described as a "beautifully-made, hand-plaited genuine leather riding crop, with 18-inch dagger hidden inside. $5."

Most mail-order guns are handled by surplus dealers who buy their firearms abroad and do business out of a P.O. box. Worst states for shady gun dealers: California, Illinois, New Jersey, New York, and North Carolina.

The Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee is checking on gun-toting teenagers in Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, New York City, Philadelphia, St. Louis, and Washington, D.C.

U.S. Pays U.N. Aid to Red Cuba

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Officials of the United Nations are disturbed over the widespread disapproval of that organization's project designed to aid Cuban agriculture. Criticism of the U. N. is being expressed in speeches in Congress by members of both parties.

The incident is significant because it brings to the forefront the difference between officials with a superpower concept and spokesmen for a single country like the United States, which happens nowadays to be footing most of the bill of the United Nations.

U. N. officials are quick to point out that the United States isn't paying any of the expense for the Cuban project itself, but they choose to ignore the fact that the U. N. is nevertheless taking a position decidedly at variance with American policy in the "cold war."

It is pointed out on behalf of the U. N. that, out of $589 million for projects in 93 countries, less than $4 million are for projects which the United States has disapproved.

Of the $585 million for approved projects, the countries aided have contributed lands and buildings valued at $343 million. Of the remaining $242 million, the United States has paid 40 percent, or about $97 million.

This $97 million comes from American taxpayers. The projects are unquestionably helpful to the countries involved, but the United States is paying more than its proportionate share of the total.

The same thing is true, moreover, with reference to all U. N. expenses, particularly the cost of the Congo operations. These are largely paid for by the United States. The question asked here is whether the U. N. really wants American cooperation or whether the supranational philosophy of the U. N. staff is going to imperil such cooperation in the future and lose the help of the American Congress.

THE argument of the U. N. officials is that their organization cannot be influenced by the national considerations of any country. Cuba, it is insisted, is a member of the U. N. and thus is entitled to all its privileges. But in answer to this, it may be said that the United States is also a member, with the full right to withhold funds for special projects that go for purposes which could defeat American foreign policies.

The point is made in U. N. circles that if a declaration of war existed between Cuba and the United States, this would immediately interrupt any fund-giving or the operations of the U. N. in any belligerent country. No state of war has, of course, been proclaimed. But U. N. officials overlook the existence of a "cold war" and the fact that billions of dollars are being spent to try to defeat Communist aggression and that American lives are being lost around the world in places like Viet Nam in an effort to check the military operations of the Communists. Also, in the last few weeks, there has been revealed a military build-up in Cuba by the Soviets as a forerunner of possible aggression in Latin America.

WHEN THE U. N. becomes technical and insists that only a declaration of war can interrupt its help to the Castro regime, the American people, through their representatives in Congress, will also tend to become technical and will insist that no money be voted to the United Nations for projects anywhere under the auspices of the U. N. Our own so-called "foreign aid" program can take over all American assistance to foreign countries without channeling any of it through the U. N. At least the United States would then have some leverage in the situation and have something to say directly about where the projects will be launched.

The fact remains that the Soviet government has taken over Cuba by conquest from within. A people for whom American soldiers and sailors died a few decades ago, to liberate the island from Spain, have lost their independence. A base has been established in Cuba to take over other Latin American countries. For the U. N. to give financial aid and comfort to the Communist government in Cuba is brazen indifference to President Kennedy's desire to "quarantine" the island and keep foreign shipping out. This is certainly not going to enhance the reputation of the U. N. inside the United States.

THE American people perhaps have not given as much attention as they should to the constructive work that has been done by the special funds agency of the U. N., which indeed deserves encouragement. But the blunder in Cuba can only retard the continuance of such aid from the United States.

This controversy has not become a partisan matter in Congress. Spokesmen for both political parties have criticized the U. N. action. Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, Democrat,

To Your Good Health

Syphilis Can Be Hereditary

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: When I entered the army in 1943 my blood showed a positive Kahn test. I took 500,000 units of penicillin and was O.K. Now it is positive again. Could this be hereditary? I know of no other way it could have happened. —J. A. L.

We usually give more than 500,000 units of penicillin for a complete treatment for syphilis, but the fact that your blood test became negative the first time is a good sign. It may be that you need further treatment.

It is also possible that you are one of those unfortunate people whose blood test won't change. It happens. But with proper evaluation of your case, and treatment if it is needed, you can at the same time be without any clinical indications of the disease. Enough of the germ is in the blood to make a test positive, but except for that you can be well, and not run a risk of passing the disease on to anyone else.

Incidentally several newer and more sensitive tests have been developed in the last 20 years, and can do a more accurate job, in difficult cases, than the Kahn or Wasserman tests. However, those two tests are still very useful for most purposes.

As to whether your case is hereditary, I'd have no way of knowing, but what's the difference? Whether the disease is contracted as a result of heredity, or through the more usual way, it still should be treated until it no longer is a peril either to the patient or his family.

Dear Doctor: Is it possible to get syphilis from a man who has had relations with a woman yet he does not have the disease himself? —MRS. B. J.

I never have known the disease to be passed on in that fashion. While I can imagine circumstances under which I suppose it could happen, they would be so extraordinary to so scarcely believable.

The syphilis germ, you see, doesn't survive very long except in the human body. But in the human body—oh, how persistent it is. For a person to carry the germ for more than a very short time, give it to someone else, yet not contract the disease himself would be quite unusual.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can one ever get cured of trench mouth? —M. M.

Certainly, but the quicker you get to your dentist, the sooner you'll be cured.

Dear Dr. Molner: Does diabetes affect one's nerves? Does it interfere with one's ability sexually? —L. M. M.

Yes, sometimes. There can be "diabetic neuritis" with pains and reduced sensations as well. Hence diabetics should be careful of hot water bags, electric pads and the like. They sometimes can burn themselves because they don't sense how hot the things really are.

A nervous involvement can occur, causing reduced sexual potential. It can also involve the intestinal tract, causing either diarrhea or severe constipation.

Blair Checks 'Red Water' For Change

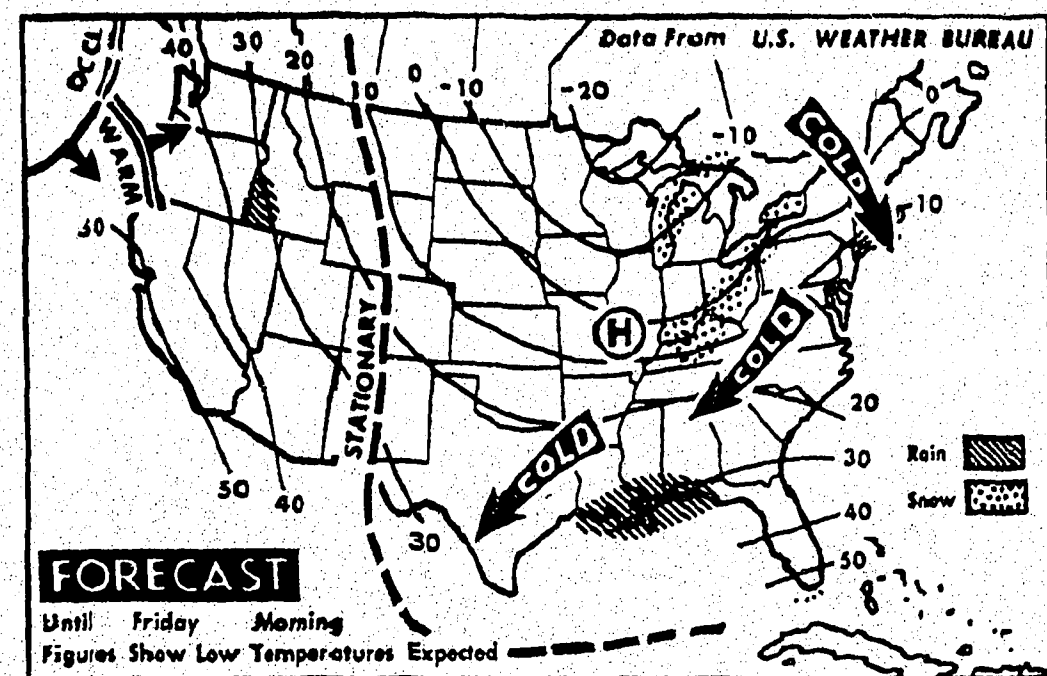

BLAIR, Wis. (Special) — An explanation of the water treatment technique being tried in the city has been made by the chief chemist of the firm in charge of eliminating "red water."

With initial treatment of poly phosphate Feb. 7 a large amount of scale and red water was loosened from the system, the engineer wrote.

The level, the chemist said, will aid polyphosphates to eliminate the corrosive problem. Some adjustment also was made in the chlorine feeding rate.

A FLUSHING program was recommended. The firm also made clear the necessity to follow instructions carefully.

A check this week indicates no increase in the number of "red water" complaints. It is believed the situation might be alleviated somewhat if many consumers ran water continuously to prevent freeze-ups.

WEATHER FORECAST — It will be colder tonight in the eastern two-thirds of the nation with little change of temperature in the west. There will be some snow flurries over the Lakes and the Ohio valley while the Gulf coast will have local showers. (AP Photofax Map)

IN TREMPEALEAU COUNTY

Board Approves Study of Development Coordinator

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — A committee was appointed at a special meeting of the Trempealeau County Board of Supervisors here Tuesday to investigate the need for hiring a county coordinator as recommended by the county development corporation.

Joseph Roskos, Independence, board chairman, appointed Burr Tarrant, Whitehall; Paul Lehmann, Trempealeau, and George Winick, Blair, to this committee which is asked to report recommendations at the board reorganization meeting in April.

TARRANT, representing the finance committee, said he had met with directors of the development group after the fall session when members of the corporation appeared before the board asking it to consider an appropriation for a coordinator. Tarrant pointed out this is a new field and more information is needed before making a decision.

County Agent Peter Bieri told the board Tuesday a coordinator could make development blueprints for each community. New conservation and recreational areas could be developed, he said. Bieri said the extension office would cooperate although it could not devote most of its time to the project.

Activities of a coordinator could be supervised by more than one committee, Bieri said.

THE NEED OF a specially trained speech therapist in the county was explained to the board by Mrs. Lily Reich, county school superintendent. She said about 70 children above third grade level need speech correction. Her office is trying to find a speech therapist, she said. The problem was referred to the special education committee.

Reports of the county hospital treasurer, clerk, clerk of court and highway department, were adopted.

A total of $933.33 in claims for sheriff's department fees, meals, transportation, and county coroner fees was allowed. At recommendation of the miscellaneous committee, $289.50 in dog damage claims was adopted. A resolution from the salary committee fixing the salary of the deputy county treasurer, Mrs. Irene Berg, at $135 per hour retroactive to Jan. 1, was adopted.

A CIVIL DEFENSE resolution adopted last fall providing for a joint director for Buffalo and Trempealeau counties was amended to provide salary of Howard Mohrk, Cochrane, hired for the position, and other expenses. Sixty percent of the CD director's salary of $4,640 during the first year will be paid by Trempealeau County. After that the salary will be paid on a 50-50 basis. Both counties will provide funds for office space, equipment, office help and travel expense.

Full-Time Deputy Sheriff Approved In Buffalo Co.

ALMA, Wis. (Special) — Buffalo County will have a full-time deputy sheriff beginning not later than April 1.

The Board of Supervisors in special session Tuesday created the full-time office on recommendation of the resolutions committee composed of Kenneth Jackelen, Alma, 3rd Ward; Harry Klopp, Town of Dover; and Earl Blank, Cochrane.

Appointment will be by Mrs. Glen Davis, sheriff. Salary was fixed at $350 per month. The deputy will work under the law enforcement committee consisting of Alger Marum, Town of Gilmanton, Oscar Noah, Town of Lincoln, and Jackelen.

ON RECOMMENDATION of the legislative committee the board recommended that the legislature approve Bill 4 A relating to adjustment of flat and equalized aid from the state to local school districts.

The equalized aid formula in this bill for integrated school districts provides for increasing the valuation back of each pupil from the present $38,000 to $38,000 in 1963 and to $40,000 in 1965. Recommending favorable action on the bill were Lorn Howard, Mondovi 1st Ward; Otto Bollinger, Mondovi 4th; Oscar Florin, Fountain City, and Dist. Atty. Pat H. Motley, Howard did not attend the session; Fred Dillon served in his place.

THE BOARD adopted a resolution providing for paying $20 a month toward office rental for the Soil Conservation Service. L. J. Wilbur is manager of the office, which is located in the Dr. M. O. Bachhuber building on Main Street.

Allan Hargartner, Osseo, new 4-H club agent, was introduced. He started working Monday, replacing Norman Haugen, resigned.

A rising vote of thanks was given Dan Piel, Town Cross, for many years on the board. This meeting was his last as he is moving out of the township.

THE BOARD voted to send copies of a resolution regarding encroachment on public highways to each town clerk for reading at the annual town meeting and to the law and traffic enforcement departments to direct their attention to such violations of the Wisconsin statutes and waste of taxpayer money.

Members of the county highway committee — H. L. Mulhaup, Ed Sendelbach and Alger Marum — recommending adoption of the resolution, said placing of fences, signs, etc., on highway right of way; plowing, cultivating or otherwise damaging drainage of right of way; and dumping rubbish, garbage, etc., along the right of way are increasing.

The board received annual reports from all county offices at the one-day session.

Stockton Exposures Called World Famous

The Stockton Hill rock exposures were described as world famous by a geologist here Wednesday evening.

John C. Slothower, Minneapolis, told a Central Junior High School Science Club audience that "here we have classic exposures of rock formations 400 to 500 million years old. For the geologist this is a fascinating area and you'd have to travel far to find examples such as these."

THE WINONA AREA today has its hills and bluffs, Slothower told his audience, because it lies in a 10,000 square mile tract left untouched by glaciers which moved down across much of the central portion of the United States more than 10,000 years ago. Had this area been glaciated, he explained, its topography today would be more level, like that to the east and west of the glaciers' path.

Much of Minnesota, Slothower observed, was once "what we might call a huge sandbar of the river that spanned a wide area of the central portion of the United States and Lake Winona, of course, is but a cutoff of that old river."

The sandstone and shale formations exposed at the base of Stockton Hill near St. Mary's College, he said, were laid down more than half a million years ago. Above them are successive, interbedded formations topped by the onondaga dolomite which forms the vertical cliffs and is quarried as Winona Travertine stone.

SLOTHOWER related geology to everyday life, explaining that "geology is not something you have to go to the Rocky Mountains to observe; it's the study of the land around you, the Mississippi Valley with its hills and bluffs, the plains of Western Minnesota. It's an everyday experience, and one that answers questions like why you have a hill behind your house instead of a valley."

Speaking here under the sponsorship of the National Science Foundation and the Minnesota Academy of Science, Slothower illustrated his remarks with a collection of colored slides. He pre-empted his topic with a presentation of slides depicting the plant and animal life of Minnesota of hundreds of millions of years ago, then showed slides of geologic formations of this area of the Upper Midwest.

SLOTHOWER, superintendent of transmission and distribution for Northern States Power Co., is an electrical engineer, has studied geology as a hobby for a number of years.

Slothower presented a collection of fossils of early plant and animal life of the eras to which he was referring.

"A knowledge of geology makes travel fascinating," he said, "because it gives a clue to the events that caused the formation of the topography you observe. Every geologic process in world history is going on right today; it isn't something that stopped a million years ago."

STUDENTS FROM Jefferson, Washington-Kosciusko, and Phelps junior high schools were guests at the Central science club meeting. Parents also were among the 60 attending.

Donald Vollmer and Hugh Duffy are co-sponsors of the Central club whose members are now working on exhibits for the annual Science Fair to be held this year at Rochester late in March.

MABEL, Minn. (Special) — Shareholders of Mabel Cooperative Telephone Co. will be polled again by mail on a proposed dial system.

A similar poll was taken a year ago without conclusive results.

Directors elected were Nansen Spande and Arnie Ranzenberger. Ervin Inglett was re-elected to the board.

The board elected Dr. Vernon Karli as president; Alton Spande, vice president; and Belmont Humphrey, secretary.

A margin of over $5,000 was shown in the financial report presented by George Ellestad.

School Bus Rides for Parochial Pupils Asked

The question of public school bus transportation for pupils attending private schools in Minnesota definitely will be considered by both houses of the Minnesota legislature during the current 1963 session. This was assured by the introduction of a Senate bill by Sen. Henry M. Harren, Albany, which would authorize bus transportation for all school children attending any legal schools within school districts. A companion bill was introduced some days earlier in the House, with Rep. John J. Kinzer of Cold Spring as its principal author.

Following the introduction of his bill, Sen. Harren said: "I am again asking the legislature to consider this proposal because I have the earnest conviction that it is in the best interests of all of the people of Minnesota, and certainly in the interest of fair play for thousands of our school children and their parents. There is no question in my mind that school-bus transportation is just as vital to the safety, welfare and educational opportunity of private-school pupils as it is to public school pupils. It would in no way represent public support of private institutions, but would only provide a service to children and their parents from which they are now being excluded but for which they are paying their full share."

Harren's bill would direct all school boards which provide bus transportation to public school pupils to provide equal or comparable service to pupils attending private schools within their districts. It does not require such districts to furnish transportation to private schools outside the district. It also stipulates that control of school-bus funds remain in the hands of the elected public school boards.

Sponsors of the Rosenmeier water pollution control bill will propose an amendment calling for long-range planning, the Senate Civil Administration Committee was told Wednesday.

Sen. Gordon Rosenmeier, Little Falls Conservative who headed the interim committee which prepared the bill, disclosed the plan, amendment in answer to criticism of the measure yesterday by Ray Olsen, Bloomington city manager.

Lack of specific provision in the bill for such long-range planning has been attacked by Olsen and others advocating creation of a metropolitan sewer district.

Conservative attempts to prohibit labor union contributions to state political campaigns may imperil revision of Minnesota election laws, Rep. Robert Latz, Minneapolis liberal warned Wednesday.

Latz urged sponsors of the prohibition amendment to let it "stand or fall on its merits," rather than tie it to the election revision bill.

Rep. F. Gordon Wright, Minneapolis Conservative and chief author of the revision bill, said he hoped the labor union proposal would not be "put on my bill" but would come up as a separate measure.

An angry flurry of statements Wednesday followed a state senator's criticism of instructors in some of his college education theory courses.

Appearing before the Senate Education Committee Tuesday, Sen. Raymond Bares, Sauk Rapids

Liberal, said some of his college educational theory courses were well-taught but others were given by "instructors I wouldn't want to train my dog to roll over."

Bares, testifying for a bill that would block a proposed five-year college requirement for Minnesota teachers after 1965, later disclosed he is a 1954 graduate of St. Cloud State College.

St. Cloud State's president, Dr. George F. Budd, declared: "It is indeed unfortunate that the senator who represents this district is so ill-informed about professional education that he would make such intemperate and ill-vised remarks."

Wozniak Feels Taxes Heart of DFL Program

Another in a series on leaders in Minnesota Legislature.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Rep. D. D. Wozniak of St. Paul strongly believes that the heart of the Democratic-Farmer-Labor program lies in a just and equitable tax structure.

Few people know that his full name is Daniel Donald Wozniak, although he is known as "Don."

When the liberals were in control of the Minnesota House of Representatives, Wozniak got the assignment as chairman of the Tax Committee.

He has been given most of the credit for getting the state to adopt an income tax withholding plan.

Wozniak refused to relax his insistence for such a law over a 10-year span.

He has been outspoken against a sales tax.

"We have to decide whether to tax people on what they earn or on what they buy. My position is clear. Taxation should be measured on the flow of income — on the ability of a man to earn rather than on what he has to buy to live."

A sales tax is neither needed or necessary in this state since withholding has placed our finances in a strong stable condition."

Aware of his knowledge in the tax field, Conservative House Speaker Lloyd Duxbury put Wozniak back as a member of the tax committee.

Many of his proposals have become law. Among them, besides withholding, are repeal of taxes on household goods; impounding of license plates of drivers convicted after driving during suspension or revocation of their driver's license; real estate licensing law; revisions of the workmen's compensation laws; garnishment laws; and providing for "open meetings" of all public and municipal bodies.

He is a graduate of the University of Minnesota Law School, and while attending law school was instructor of economics. He was a Navy fighter pilot during World War II.

He is married and has four children. He is serving his seventh term.

Powell Cries Racial Issue Over Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell has accused Sen. John J. Williams of racial bias. But Williams says how government money is spent — not race — is the issue in his attack on the Negro congressman.

Powell accused Williams, R-Del., at a news conference Wednesday of following "the Hitler concept" in purchasing property that the New York Democrat said is under a restriction limiting resale to "Aryans." Asked if he felt there was a racial motive to Williams' criticism, Powell declared emphatically, "yes."

The senator swung back at Powell Wednesday night. "I never have and never will refer to any man's race, religion or nationality in discussing a case on the Senate floor or off it," Williams told a newsman.

"I do intend to see that anyone, whether a member of Congress or not, gives a proper accounting of how government money is spent," he said. "We're going to keep right on the issue and will not be diverted."

In his session with newsmen, Powell said Williams has voted consistently against civil rights. He also distributed an excerpt from a property deed to a house Powell said Williams bought in 1952 in Rehoboth Beach, Del.

According to the excerpt, the deed contained a restriction against the sale or leasing of the property "to any person not of the Aryan (Nordic) race."

"Are you trying to say that Sen. Williams criticized you because you are a Negro?" a reporter asked.

"Very definitely," Powell replied.

Reached Wednesday night at his home, Williams said he bought the property in 1952, still lives there and has no intention of leaving. He said he has never examined the deed and has no idea if it contains a restriction.

But even if it does, Williams said, it would have no effect because the Supreme Court has outlawed such provisions.

Unions Plan Get-Out-Vote Drive in U.S.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The AFL-CIO is laying careful plans at winter union meetings to make organized labor an even more potent political force on the state and national scene.

Federal chiefs decided Wednesday to expand to a permanent, year-around basis previously sporadic campaigns to get the maximum number of union members and adult members of the family to qualify to vote and to go to the polls.

They also decided to establish voting overseers in each of the 60,000 local unions comprising labor organizations affiliated with the AFL-CIO. Their responsibility will be to marshal the greatest possible labor turnout in 1964 and beyond.

"We're now in this thing permanently," a spokesman said after an administrative meeting of the Committee on Political Education, the AFL-CIO political action organization.

Farming Awards Given by FFA

Marilyn Trocinski, senior at Winona Senior High, was chosen chapter sweetheart at the 19th annual Winona FFA parent's and son banquet Wednesday.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Trocinski, Dakota. Other candidates were Nancy Todd and Nancy Waldo. About 150 parents, FFA'ers and guests attended the banquet at the high school cafeteria.

Guest speaker at the banquet was Arlan Henderson, rural Houston. He is a past president of the Winona chapter and was chosen State Farmer in 1958.

WILLARD GAEDY, senior, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ewald Gaedy, Houston, Rt. 1, was presented with the Kiwanis dairy achievement award. He received the plaque for his work throughout the year. The award was presented by A. E. Stoa.

Gaedy received a $15 check in addition to the plaque. The second place dairy award went to Michael Thill, Winona, Rt. 2, and third to Allen Klawiter, Winona, Rt. 2. They received $10 and $5 respectively.

Ralmond Bundy, senior, son of Mrs. Henry Paskiewicz, 1129 Marion St., was named star chapter farmer. His award, also a plaque, was presented by Jerry Papenfuss, representing the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Leon Bowman, sophomore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bowman, Winona, Rt. 2, gave his winning FFA public speaking contest talk "The Effect of the European Common Market on American Agriculture."

Papenfuss presented a trophy to Bowman as the contest award. The award was sponsored by KAGE radio.

THE speaker, Henderson, said, "We should all learn from the experiences of others so we may better ourselves. Farming has become a crowded field and the farmer today must be a competitor and must be better. Skills in many fields are essential to today's farmers."

"You FFA members should open your minds and make them open store houses of knowledge for the future. There are so many things that you must know to become a farmer now. This I have found from my own experiences."

"I once heard an aging state legislator say, 'All wealth comes from the soil. We as future farmers and farmers know this and should be proud of it.'"

"Farming today is a combination of four things, land, machinery, livestock and most important the farmer himself. He needs knowledge now, but will need more in the future. The farmer of the future will be a technician in overalls."

Wozniak Feels Taxes Heart of DFL Program

Another in a series on leaders in Minnesota Legislature.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rep. D. D. Wozniak of St. Paul strongly believes that the heart of the Democratic - Farmer - Labor program lies in a just and equitable tax structure.

Few people know that his full name is Daniel Donald Wozniak, although he is known as "Don."

When the liberals were in control of the Minnesota House of Representatives, Wozniak got the assignment as chairman of the Tax Committee.

He has been given most of the credit for getting the state to adopt an income tax withholding plan. Wozniak refused to relax his insistence for such a law over a 10-year span.

He has been outspoken against a sales tax.

"We have to decide whether to tax people on what they earn or on what they buy. My position is clear. Taxation should be measured on the flow of income — on the ability of a man to earn rather than on what he has to buy to live.

A sales tax is neither needed or necessary in this state since withholding has placed our finances in a strong stable condition."

Aware of his knowledge in the tax field, Conservative House Speaker Lloyd Duxbury put Wozniak back as a member of the tax committee.

Many of his proposals have become law. Among them, besides withholding, are repeal of taxes on household goods; impounding of license plates of drivers convicted after driving during suspension or revocation of their driver's license; real estate licensing law; revisions of the workmen's compensation laws, garnishment laws, and providing for "open meetings" of all public and municipal bodies.

He is a graduate of the University of Minnesota Law School, and while attending law school was instructor of economics. He was a Navy fighter pilot during World War II.

He is married and has four children. He is serving his seventh term.

4 Towns Represented At Trempealeau Co. Historical Meeting

BLAIR, Wis. (Special) — Some interest was shown in a meeting at Blair public library Monday night to seek a display place and a sponsoring organization to care for antiques, records and Norwegian treasures stored in the attic of Blair Produce Co.

Representatives from Whitehall, Galesville, Strum and Blair attended.

Another meeting was scheduled for March at Blair City Hall for further discussion on reactivation of the Trempealeau County Historical Society.

Powell Cries Racial Issue Over Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell has accused Sen. John J. Williams of racial bias. But Williams says how government money is spent—not race—is the issue in his attack on the Negro congressman.

Powell accused Williams, R-Del., at a news conference Wednesday of following "the Hitler concept" in purchasing property that the New York Democrat said is under a restriction limiting resale to "Aryans." Asked if he felt there was a racial motive to Williams' criticism, Powell declared emphatically, "yes."

The senator swung back at Powell Wednesday night. "I never have and never will refer to any man's race, religion or nationality in discussing a case on the Senate floor or off it," Williams told a newsman.

"I do intend to see that anyone, whether a member of Congress or not, gives a proper accounting of how government money is spent," he said. "We're going to keep right on the issue and will not be diverted."

In his session with newsmen, Powell said Williams has voted consistently against civil rights. He also distributed an excerpt from a property deed to a house Powell said Williams bought in 1952 in Rehoboth Beach, Del.

According to the excerpt, the deed contained a restriction against the sale or leasing of the property "to any person not of the Aryan (Nordic) race."

"Are you trying to say that Sen. Williams criticized you because you are a Negro?" a reporter asked.

"Very definitely," Powell replied.

Reached Wednesday night at his home, Williams said he bought the property in 1952, still lives there and has no intention of leaving. He said he has never examined the deed and has no idea if it contains a restriction.

But even if it does, Williams said, it would have no effect because the Supreme Court has outlawed such provisions.

Unions Plan Get-Out-Vote Drive in U.S.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The AFL-CIO is laying careful plans at winter union meetings to make organized labor an even more potent political force on the state and national scene.

Federal chiefs decided Wednesday to expand to a permanent, year-around basis previously sporadic campaigns to get the maximum number of union members and adult members of the family to qualify to vote and to go to the polls.

They also decided to establish voting overseas in each of the 60,000 local unions comprising labor organizations affiliated with the AFL-CIO. Their responsibility will be to marshal the greatest possible labor turnout in 1964 and beyond.

"We're now in this thing permanently," a spokesman said after an administrative meeting of the Committee on Political Education, the AFL-CIO political action organization.

New 'Log Cabin'; Well Authorized

ELEVA, Wis. (Special) — The caucus March 5 at 8 p.m. at the village hall; discussion on building a new community hall to replace the Log Cabin, which burned, and authorizing Doughboy Industries Inc. to drill a new well on their property — these were the principal items of the Eleva Village Board Monday night.

Terms of all village officers, except three trustees, are expiring. To be elected April 2 are these officers: President, Willard Fox incumbent; trustees, Vic Odell, Alvin Semington and Myron Armour; clerk, John Bjorklund; treasurer, Arthur Sorenson; assessor, Ole Thompson; supervisor, Fred H. Ruseling, and constable, Eugene Semington, and justice, no incumbent.

Holdover trustees are Perry Kolve, Ronald Peterson and Mrs. Lois Sweeney.

GALE FORSYTHE, Doughboy manager, got permission to drill a well for increased water supply needed for anticipated higher production at the chicken dressing plant. There would be a cross-connection so the village could draw on the plant's supply in an emergency, Forsythe said.

A Broiler Festival committee reported it has ear marked $5,000 from festival receipts toward building a new community hall. The Civic Club has indicated it will donate $400 toward equipping the kitchen.

The village collected $9,000 insurance on the loss, which has been earmarked for the new building, said Bjorklund.

Peterson, Semington and Kolve were appointed to a recent community meeting to gather information on different types and sizes of buildings and approximate costs. They will present it at the meeting March 18. A member of an Eau Claire engineering firm talked to the board on building plans.

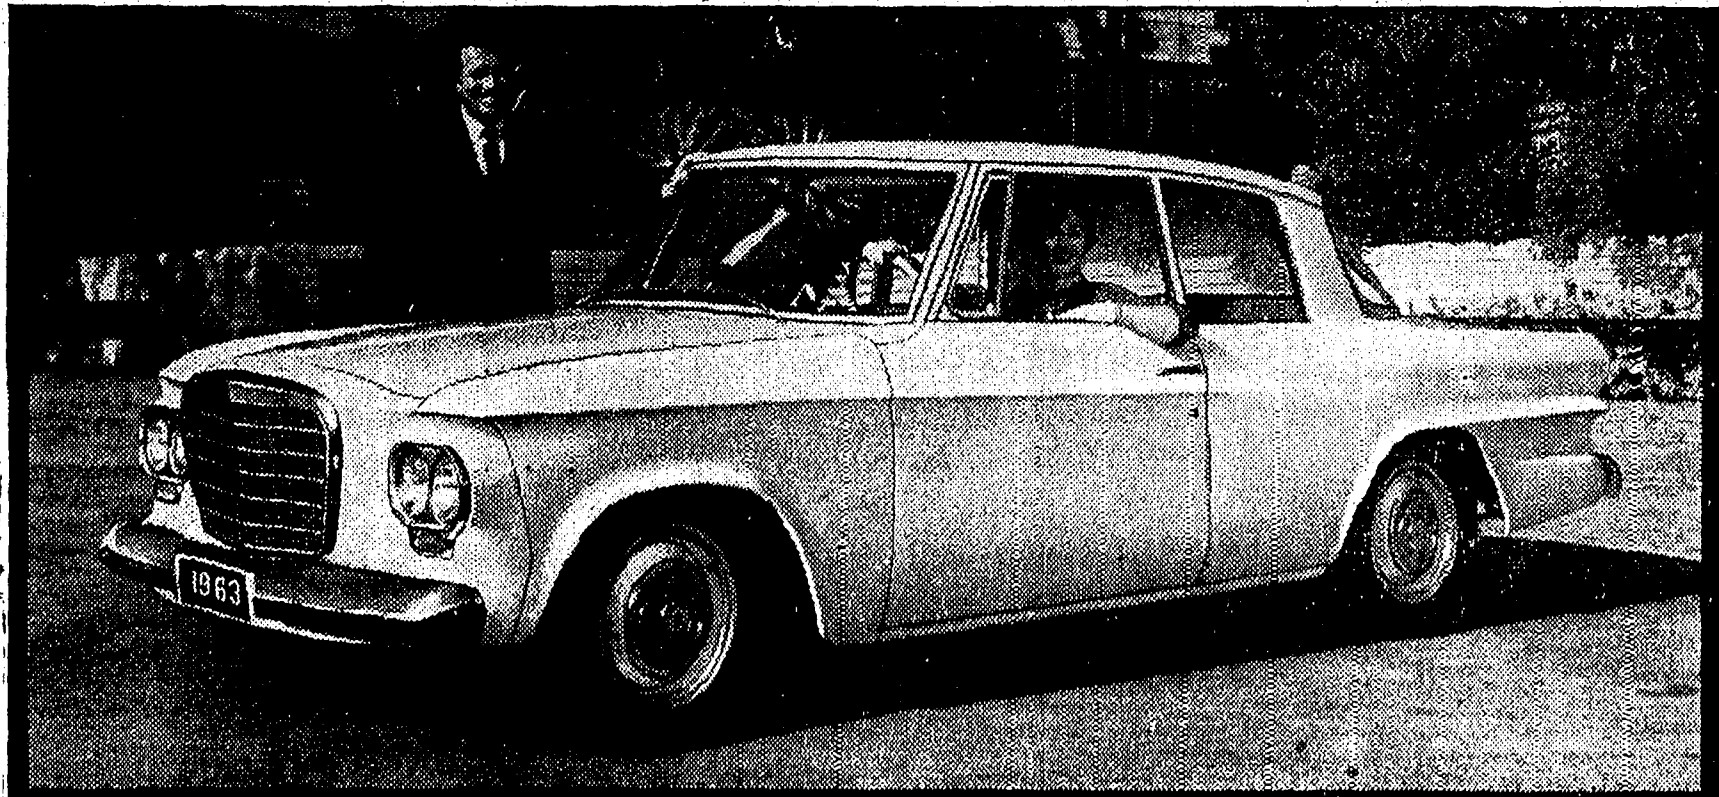

MIL0 WHIPPLE petitioned the board to open the street in the Perry Addition. Members voted an appropriation for it.

The village has been granted a $1,300 increase in water rates annually by the Public Service Commission to meet increased operating costs.

The board also discussed welfare problems and a white way lighting system.

No FBI Check on Congress Members

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators and representatives have a special kind of life in government. A check, minor or major, is made on all employees of the executive branch for behavior or loyalty. The FBI checks all federal judges and district attorneys before they take office.

The White House requires FBI investigations of the men the president appoints to high office.

Absolutely no check is made on members of Congress even though some of them in closed-door hearings hear highly secret information. For instance, members of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee.

There is no law saying members of Congress must be checked over. In the executive branch some checking is done on every employee and the FBI can be called in under presidential order going back to 1953.

Generally, the staffs in the various federal courts are not investigated although in some exceptional cases a judge may request one. Court employees are seldom, perhaps never, privy to secret government information involving national security.

While there's a law against letting present or former government employees sweeten their pocketbook because of their government connection — the conflict of interest law — no such law applies to members of Congress.

Thus a senator with a fortune in oil is free to plug for a bill that benefits the oil industry. He's not apt to brag that he has some self-interest in what he is doing.

No check is made on the staffs of the 535 members of Congress — they run up into the thousands — unless for some reason a senator or representative asks the FBI to investigate a specific individual.

Nor is any FBI check made on the staff employees of the various committees of Congress except in some special and limited cases when the committee chairman asks the FBI to step in.

ploye the chair man wants checked.

These committees, by their nature, are exposed to some of the most delicate government information. Therefore, their staff members might have access to it.

In these investigations the FBI turns its information over to the committee chairman requesting it. He is the one who decides whether a staff employee should be retained or fired.

Then the information goes back to the FBI files for secrecy and safe-keeping. Otherwise, it might wind up being gossiped around the halls of Congress.

Last October President Kennedy signed a new law tightening and broadening the scope of existing conflict of interest regulations. The major provision permanently bars former full-time federal employees from representing private interests before federal agencies on matters in which they took part personally and substantially before leaving government service.

The new provisions disqualify former employees for one year from handling private business before an agency in matters for which they had higher responsibility but no personal involvement.

DEAR ABBY:

You Rattled Right Cage This Time

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: You told a reader that it was poor manners to use a toothpick in public. I agree with you. But why bother with that when every day millions of so-called refined people commit a far more grievous social error by befouling the air with stinking cigarette and cigar smoke? If a person picks his teeth in public, those who don't like it can turn away. But if someone lights up a cigarette or a smelly cigar, those who don't like it can either lump it or leave the room.

DETESTS SMOKE

DEAR DETESTS: You rattled the right cage! I have harped on the offensiveness of smokers so much in the past that even my best friends are beginning to tell me off!

DEAR ABBY: I read your column every day and see where kids complain about their brothers and sisters. I hope they see this. I am an only child and would give anything for a brother or sister. I am very lonely. I have had dogs, cats, fish, birds and now I have a white rat, but I am still lonely. If anyone wants to trade a brother or sister for a house-broken white rat, it is a deal.

ONLY CHILD, AGE NINE

DEAR ABBY: Will you please settle something once and for all? Is it proper to tip the owner of a beauty shop if she has done your hair? I was told that you are supposed to tip only the employees and never the owner?

IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: When in doubt, offer a tip. If the owner of the shop refuses it, say, "Thank you" and forget it. If this is embarrassing, you'll be embarrassed only once, which is better than being in a constant state of doubt.

CONFIDENTIAL TO GREG: Take care of your character and your reputation will take care of itself!

Britain Is Losing Scientists to U.S.

LONDON (AP) — A top-level group of British scientists said in a report published Wednesday night that emigration—especially to the United States—is draining Britain of its best scientific brains and hampering research.

The group said the United States is drawing off nearly 50 per cent of the highly qualified personnel who annually leave Britain for more money and better living.

The report, based on a 10-year survey, said 1,539 holders of British Ph.D. degrees emigrated in the decade 1952-61.

He will explain how the balance of nature has been disturbed by control or elimination of these ancient monarchs of the sky.

West Split Over New Test Ban Parley

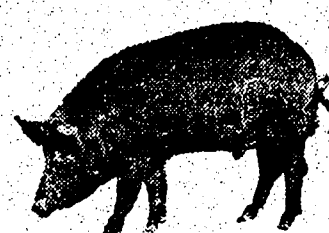

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Western allies are reported split on pursuing a new round of exploratory talks with the Soviet Union on Berlin.

While the United States takes the view that Soviet overtures for a fresh start should not be rebuffed, high diplomatic informants said Wednesday night, France remains opposed to another session with the Soviets. Britain and West Germany, the sources said, are supporting the U.S. position.

new attempt be made to try to find a solution to the Berlin problem. The United States immediately consulted with its three allies.

Talks between the United States and the Soviet Union on the divided German city have been stalled since last spring. Earlier this month, the Soviets proposed an ambassador at large, presiding.

Castro Declares Emergency Area

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Two Miami anti-Castro groups said their exile raids have prompted Fidel Castro to declare the north coast of Cuba's Las Villas Province an emergency area.

The Second National Front Es-cambray and Alpha 66 said in a joint statement that Castro recom-mended emergency procedures

Jan. 27 to guard against more at-tacks. The two groups claimed credit for several raids on Cuba's coast.

Red Meat is Cold Weather Food Feature

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Red meat for hearty cold weather eating is featured at many supermarkets over the nation this weekend. Price tags reflect heavy marketings of cattle and pigs.

Ribs of beef are offered at 37 cents a pound in the New York area by one national chain.

In the Los Angeles area, the same cut, the rib roast, is widely featured at 3 to 4 cents lower than a week ago.

Other beef attractions include hamburger, chuck roasts and cube steaks.

Smoked hams are selling for 29 cents a pound for shank ends at one national chain. Bacon is generally lower in the Midwest than a week ago. Sausage, spare ribs, chops and loin roasts are regionally featured.

Fryers and turkeys continue to compete for the poultry fan's attention, with the price edge in many markets going this week to turkeys.

Potatoes, radishes, celery, carrots, lettuce, cabbage, onions and celery are widely featured.

Fruit counters feature pears, apples, bananas and grapes.

Pope John Appeals To Catholics on Lent

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John XXIII, at the biggest general audience he has granted since his illness last year, Wednesday appealed to Roman Catholics to prepare for the forthcoming Lenten days of spiritual retreat. Lent, a pre-Easter period of prayer and fasting, starts Feb. 27. The 81-year-old Roman Catholic ruler told 5,000 persons in the Hall of Benediction that rest and diversion were prizes for hard work, but that life must not be spent only in amusement.

GM Builds Up Steel Stocks

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Labor unrest is causing many business leaders today to review policies. General Motors, for example, says it's building up its steel stocks just in case.

Most reports from steel labor and management sources indicate small expectation of a strike this summer. There could be one if the steel workers choose to reopen the contract in a move to raise wages or fringe benefits, and if management refuses to budge from its stand on holding the cost line.

General Motors says it's only prudent to build up its stocks to around one million tons above current needs, so it wouldn't have to shut down right away in case of a strike.

This announcement set off a rise in steel stock prices, on the supposition other companies might follow suit, and steel mills have a bonanza, however short-lived.

With steel output still far below capacity and new orders coming in at only a modest rate, there ordinarily would seem to be every reason for both labor and management to avoid any showdown this year.

And neither side has been putting out belligerent statements, usually an indication of go-slow attitudes. Some observers have even doubted if the contract would be reopened at all in view of the sluggish market. Others feel it might be reopened for negotiations of minor fringe benefits.

This year, however, labor-management relations have turned touchy because of the dispute over automation. And steel workers may be just as edgy about that as any other segment of the labor force.

Such demands as the steel unions have been talking about have been tied to that issue—three months vacations every five years for older workers, longer vacations for others, shorter work weeks. All these are part of labor's general proposals for spreading the work to counteract automation.

And a number of this winter's strikes have been sparked and prolonged by proposals for or fears of automation that would cut the number of jobs.

Management argues it must mechanize further because of rising labor costs or to compete with American or foreign rivals that have the latest machines. And it's finding it hard these days to raise prices to meet increased production costs.

Job security has become the hottest issue in labor circles. Some unions have struck to prevent automation or cuts in the work force assigned to any one piece of work. Many of the leaders are urging a cut in the length of the work week as the only way to combat unemployment right away.

The Kennedy administration opposes this, saying it would defeat the best way to create more jobs—getting the economic growth rate into high gear.

But neither labor nor management has accepted the administration ideas of how to accomplish this. And as the split in labor and management thinking on the problem widens, the uncertainty plays an increasingly larger role in business planning for the weeks and months ahead.

BOYLE'S COLUMN

Confusion Over Noon Lunch Date

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—The next time I plan to meet someone, I don't know by sight for lunch, I intend to make sure we'll recognize each other.

My hat will be trimmed in neon lights and I'll sport a rose between my teeth. And I'll request that the party of the second part make her entrance on roller skates and carry a cowbell.

Then maybe I won't repeat the tragedy of errors that marked my last luncheon date in a midtown restaurant.

It all started when my husband met—in line of duty, he claimed—a charming feminine member of a public relations staff and suggested that she call me and arrange a meeting.

In due time she telephoned me and we agreed to get together. "How will I know you?" I inquired.

"I'll make reservations and whoever gets there first can just sit down at the table and wait for the other," she replied.

That was fine. It was only after she hung up that I realized the reservations would be in her name and all I could remember was that her first name was Pat. I didn't panic because I knew my husband could supply the last name—after all, he had met her, hadn't he?

It turned out I knew more of her name than he did, but he finally succumbed to my pleas and phoned her office, where someone on the switchboard reported her name was Pat Hanson. All, at last, was well.

On the appointed day I presented myself at the restaurant and requested to be seated at Miss Hanson's table. I was guided to a booth where a lone lady awaited me.

After greeting each other effusively we settled back to chat, and had fully covered the health of the children and the state of the weather when she happened to ask if I had come in from New Jersey by bus.

Not having been in that state for several years, I had a sudden suspicion.

"You're not Pat Hanson?" I ventured. She wasn't. I wasn't the lady she was waiting for either. Back I went to the headwaiter, who was all apologies for the mix-up. This time he put me in solitary confinement, where I sat trying to appear nonchalant while thinking up charitable excuses for my luncheon partner's lateness.

My face was getting hotter than the flaming desserts blazing all around me and I finally sent up smoke signals to a passing waiter.

"Are you sure you don't want Mrs. Richardson?" he asked. "She's waiting too for someone who hasn't showed up."

Sill! Insisting that only Miss Hanson would do, I accompanied him to meet my fellow isolationist. It turned out she was Pat, after all.

It seems Hanson is her maiden name, which she uses at the office, but she made the reservations under her married name, which she had given me on the phone.

It's No Secret! Cotter (16-4) Favored to Capture Regional

By AUGIE KARCHER
Daily News Sports Editor

Even though the revised regional set-up throws a new stumbling block into their paths, it doesn't take a brave man to rule the Ramblers of Cotter High School as the favorite to finish on top in the Region Six Catholic basketball tournament.

son record, won't play until Saturday night, however. The Ramblers and Rochester Lourdes were seeded into the semifinals while the four smaller schools square off in the first round Friday.

Lourdes formerly competed in Region Five, along with Austin Pacelli, which was upset by Owatonna Marlon Wednesday night 50-47.

Region One was dissolved as such and becomes the playoff ground for a game between runnersup in Regions 3 and 4. Which means three Twin Cities schools will qualify for the tourney in St. Paul March 1-2-3.

Friday's first-round games send host St. Felix (12-7) against St. Peter of Hokah, a school which has not tasted victory in 38 consecutive games — but valiantly keeps plugging away at it. They meet at 7 p.m.

At 8:30 p.m. Friday, Loretto of Caledonia tackles Holy Trinity of Rollingstone with the Rockets having the edge.

St. Felix, perennial Bi-State Conference champion and winner of 20 straight until losing to Lima Sacred Heart Jan. 25, is coached by Duke Loretz and is paced by captain John Kasper, a 5-9 jump-shooting senior guard; and Dick Peters, 5-11 spring-legged junior.

The Yellowjackets, assuming that Rollie Trust's St. Peter five doesn't pull the upset of the year, will go against Lourdes (11-8) in Saturday's first semifinal game. St. Felix has earned a split with the Eagles in two meetings, each winning at home.

Coach Jim Hrabec of Rollingstone saw his Rockets throw a 60-50 scare at St. Felix last Friday night, and the Rockets won't play dead for anybody. They have been sparked by seniors Dave Rinn and Jack Shell and 6-11 Jim Reisdorf, a 6-1 junior center. They were third in the Bi-State.

Loretto, coached by Jim Oldenburg, has been up-and-down this season. Oldenburg's main horses have been Tom Wagner, Leo Cavin and Joe Keefe, but balanced scoring has been frequent.

St. Peter has only two seniors on its squad this season, has only 45 minutes of practice time available each day in the mid-sized Hokah town hall, and has a lot of determination. The Indians lost the last four games in 1960-61, dropped all 16 in 1961-62 and have lost all 18 to date this year.

Lourdes, piloted by Gene Blewin, have ridden mainly on the shoulders of Joe Brown and Jon Theobald. Of the Eagles' eight defeats, two were at the hands of Cotter and two by Austin Pacelli whom they beat once.

Cotter's Ravoux champions have won the Region Six title 19 times in 21 years. Their four losses this season have been to St. Paul Hill, Eau Claire Regis, La Crosse Aquinas and St. Louis Park Benilde. They took wins over all those except Benilde which they meet only once.

John Nett's Ramblers are presently on a five-game winning streak.

The Cotter vs. Loretto-Rollingstone game winner Saturday night semifinal is slated for 8:30 p.m.

Three games will be played Sunday starting at 12:30 p.m. with the battle for third place. Consolation final is at 2 p.m. and the championship game at 3:30 p.m. The Rev. Eugene Egan of St. Felix is tournament manager.

37 HORSES DESTROYED

BERRYVILLE, Va. (AP)—Thirty-seven thoroughbred race horses most of them yearlings and 2-year-olds, were destroyed Tuesday night as fire whipped through the main barn of the plush Audley Farm in northwest Virginia.

Ron VanderKelen, Wisconsin quarterback, totaled 1,237 yards in Big Ten competition last season. He averaged 6.2 yards per play.

AVENGE EARLIER LOSS

Oshkosh Thumps Pointers 70-57

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Oshkosh was in control of the Wisconsin State College Conference basketball race today as Stevens Point hung out a "help wanted" sign.

Oshkosh avenged its lone conference defeat and vaulted over Stevens Point into first place with a 70-57 victory on the Pointers' court before an overflow crowd of 3,000 Wednesday night.

The victory gave the Titans a 9-1 record with two games to play, against the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee next Monday and Whitewater March 2. Stevens Point, owner of a 9-2 mark with only one game with Platteville Monday, needs help from the two Oshkosh opponents, but its title hopes are slim.

In non-conference games Wednesday night, Lakeland defeated Rockford, Ill., 75-70 despite the benching of eight squad members for breaking curfew. Milton edged Whitewater 68-56. Minnesota-Duluth pulled out a 65-63 victory over Superior and St. Norbert downed Loras 70-63.

At Stevens Point, the Pointers appeared en route to duplicating an early season victory over Oshkosh as they took a 35-28 halftime lead by scoring on 44 per cent of their field goal attempts while Oshkosh hit for a chilly 29 per cent.

The Titans roared back after the intermission, however, as Jim Jeager sparked a surge with 18 of his 25 points in the second half. Oshkosh hit a 55 per cent clip for 42 points in the final 20 minutes, while Stevens Point's shooting fell to 30 per cent.

Dean Austin, a 6-foot-3, 240-pound forward who was held to a mere eight points in the Titans, 65-61 defeat by Stevens Point earlier, squared accounts. Austin tallied 28 points. Dick Ritzenthaler was high for the Pointers with 16.

The only SCC action this week-end is scheduled for Saturday. Whitewater, 3-7, is at UWM, 2-7. Superior, 3-7, travels to Eau Claire, 3-6, and La Crosse, 6-3, plays at Stout, 3-7.

Lakeland Coach Bob Griggs replaced eight squad members, including Wes Seyler and Ray Cronk, with intramural players as the Muskies edged Rockford for their 10th victory in 19 games. Sam Graber, an intramural player, captured scoring honors with 27 points, while Muscle Capt. Charley Davidson, a varsity reserve, added 20.

Griggs benched the eight players for breaking curfew last Saturday night. He said, "I would rather mold a basketball team of men than one which puts winning above everything else."

SET FOR BIG NINE MEET... These Winona High swimmers will compete Friday in the Big Nine Conference swimming meet at John Marshall High School in Rochester. Celtics Whip Detroit for Seventh Time

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If the Detroit Pistons don't make the National Basketball Association playoffs this season they can point the finger at the Boston Celtics.

The champion Celtics beat the Pistons Wednesday night for the seventh straight time, this time 117-113.

The defeat was particularly hard to take for the Pistons. Playing on their home court they blew an 18-point edge and saw their lead over San Francisco in the battle for the third and last playoff spot in the Western Division reduced to a thin 10-4.

Syracuse whipped Cincinnati 128-109 in the other NBA game scheduled Wednesday and just about sewed up a second-place finish in the Eastern Division. Cincinnati, Syracuse's closest pursuer, is four games back with 14 games to play.

In the main event the Caledonia High varsity tangles with the mens faculty.

The first game is at 7:15 p.m.

Three Titles Go on Line In Big Nine Loop Friday

Three championships will be decided in the Big Nine Conference Friday—and Winona High figures in at least one of them.

Winona, Austin and Rochester will tangle in the Big Nine's three-school swimming meet at 4 p.m. Friday at Rochester.

TWO BASKETBALL games Friday night Austin at Rochester and Winona at Red Wing will decide whether the conference will have tri-champions or a single

Kramer to Try for Cage Scoring Title

NEW YORK (AP)—Barry Kramer, New York University's star, will get a chance to go all out to win the major college basketball individual scoring race this season.

Lou Rossini, NYU coach, said early in the week he plans to play his 6-foot-4 star every minute of every game from now on, even if the Violets should enjoy a big lead.

This is fair warning to Seton Hall's 6-3 Nick Werkman, the leader since the start of the season who currently tops Kramer with an average of 31.5 points per game to Barry's 29.1 for games through Tuesday night.

Bill Green, 6-6 senior at Colorado State University, also is closing in on Werkman, weekly statistics from the National Collegiate Service Bureau showed today. He ranks third with a 28.7 average for 20 games.

team in the throne room.

Third crown up for grabs is the conference individual scoring title in basketball and that's where Winona comes in, since Winhawk Wulf Krause leads the pack.

John Marshall, which has won 13 Big Nine swim crowns in 15 years at St. Paul, is much too deep in talent for either Winona or Austin to have a chance.

Rochester beat Lloyd Luke's Winona team 78-17 and 78-18 and man-handled Austin 66-29 and 67-28. The Rocket merman have 11 straight dual meet triumphs this season and a string of 31 straight.

"ROCHESTER is so strong," said Luke, "they will in all probability make a clean sweep of firsts in all events."

Winona will be weakened by the absence of John Sanders, a good bet for first in a backstroke. He is ill and will not compete.

Austin needs only a victory over

Rochester to assure itself of a piece of the Big Nine cage crown.

And Red Wing is in the same boat in a game with the Hawks.

But a Winona victory and a Rochester win would leave the Packers, Rockets and Wingers in a rare three-way tie.

Krause, who got 12 points in last week's loss to Rochester, leads the scoring race with a 17.2 average. He has 136 points but has played in one less game than Albert Lea's John Goodman who has 142 for 15.7.

GLENN STOLTZ of Owatonna is averaging 15.5 for third.

Krause could score only seven points against Red Wing in the first meeting, back when the Hawks were in their five-game early season skid. He got 21 Tuesday against La Crosse Central.

Goodman and Albert Lea will be facing Mankato Friday night while Faribault is at Owatonna. Northfield, which is already finished, is host to St. Paul Harding, its finale.

Winhawk entries in the Big Nine swim meet:

100-YARD MEDLEY RELAY—Brent Rossi, Greg Gerlach, John Hoelt and Larry Anderson.
200-YARD FREESTYLE—Jerry Rusert, Tom Sanders, Craig Savord and Douglas David.
50-YARD FREESTYLE—Gary Grabow, Bill Kane, Ken Armstrong and Joe Findlay.
100-YARD INDIVIDUAL MEDLEY—Marc Johnson, Sam Gaustad, Jim Grant and Sam Quast.

WINO—John Edstrom, Tom Stover, Fred Williams and Robert Staricka.

100-YARD FREESTYLE—Graham Jacobsen, Terry Spatz, Larry Anderson and Sam Quast.

400-YARD FREESTYLE—Jerry Rusert, Tom Sanders, Robert Rydman and Ray Berger.
100-YARD BREASTSTROKE—Greg Gerlach, Chuck Rogers, Tom Findlay and Jim Grant.
100-YARD FREESTYLE RELAY—Gary Grabow, Terry Spatz, Bill Kane and Graham Jacobsen.

Wings Lose Young; 3-Game Suspension

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Red Wings defenseman Howie Young, suspended for the next three games by National Hockey League officials, will be replaced by a minor leaguer, also no stranger to the penalty box.

Clarence Campbell, NHL president, handed down the penalty Wednesday after studying reports on Young's flareup in the Wings-Montreal game here Sunday.

To replace Young, the Wings called up 20-year-old defenseman Roger LaFreniere from their Pittsburgh farm club. He leads Pittsburgh in penalty time with 90 minutes in 49 games and is No. 4 in the American Hockey League in penalties.

Red Wings' officials were unhappy about the sentence meted out to Young, who picked up 27 minutes in penalties Sunday to run his total to an NHL season record of 210 minutes.

They thought he would get a one-game suspension. The three-game penalty comes when the Wings are in the NHL playoff drive.

Giants Will Pay Mays $100,000 for Season

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

"This Willie Mays, he does everything."

And gets rewarded accordingly. San Francisco Manager Al Dark paid the compliment and the National League champion Giants will be paying Mays approximately $100,000 for the 1963 season, a plateau reached before by only Ted Williams, Joe DiMaggio and Stan Musial.

Mays agreed to terms Wednesday for an estimated increase of $10,000 following a season in which he led the National League in homers with 49 and drove in 141 runs while batting .304.

"The thing that impressed me most," said Dark at the signing ceremony, "was the way he could rise to the occasion in the latter part of a ball game. When you had to get a base hit, he did all the right things to get it."

While Mays stepped into the Giants' fold, World Series opponent Ralph Terry—the pitching hero who shut out San Francisco 1-0 in the deciding game of the Series—agreed to terms with the world champion New York Yankees.

The 27-year-old right-hander posted a 23-12 record last season and received a $12,000 raise to $35,000.

Terry said, "The enlarged strike zone should help me. I'll take another year like that (1962) anytime."

Another player expressing antipathy was Minnesota's Jim Lemon, the shagging outfielder who swung freely for the first time in two years as the Twins opened training.

"I'm free from pain in the left shoulder," Lemon said, "although it doesn't feel strong yet." Lemon underwent surgery in December for torn muscles and a blood clot in the left shoulder.

He hit 33 homers in 1959 and 38 in 1960, then slumped to 14 in 1961 and managed only one last season after injuring the shoulder when he ran into a fence in Kansas City.

Besides Terry, a host of other pitchers signed, including Roger Craig of the New York Mets, Ray Herbert and Gary Peters of the Chicago White Sox, Carl Willey of Milwaukee, Ernie Broglio and Bobby Shantz of St. Louis, Bob Allen and Wilfred (Sonny) Siebert of Cleveland and Steve Dalkowski of Baltimore.

Pittsburgh signed infielder Dick Schofield and outfielder Larry Elliott.

Cincy Shoots for Sixth Valley Cage Title in Row

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Cincinnati Bearcats, with one string ended, will try to keep another, more important streak going tonight against North Texas State.

The Bearcats' 37 game winning string came to an abrupt, painful halt in Wichita Saturday but their quest of an unprecedented third straight NCAA title is still very, very active.

They could take a major step in that quest by beating North Texas tonight, which would secure Cincinnati its sixth straight Missouri Valley Conference title and a spot in the NCAA regionals.

ed," Cincy Coach Ed Jucker said, "but the conference championship is the important thing right now. We want to win it, not worry about new winning streaks or ones that have ended."

Another important game sends Notre Dame against 10th ranked New York University, already named for an NCAA open berth, at Madison Square Garden. NYU has won nine in a row and is 13-2 at 10-11, is enjoying its best season since joining the league in 1957.

Penn State and Pittsburgh, vying for an NCAA spot, each came a-cropper Wednesday night as they headed into a showdown at Pittsburgh Saturday. Temple, now 14-6, upset Pitt 77-71 at Philadelphia while West Virginia held off a Penn State rally 83-82 on the Nittany Lions' home grounds.

Springfield upset Holy Cross 74-72 at Worcester, Mass., the Crusaders' fourth straight loss after winning 10 straight, home-standing Providence, already entered in the NIT, just held off visiting Assumption 68-67. Davidson blasted Wake Forest 90-75 at Charlotte, and Nick Werkman, the nation's leading major college scorer, scored 32 points in Seton Hall's 82-61 victory over St. Peter's.

In some of the other major games, Detroit edged Canisius 55-54. Marquette nipped Louisville 77-76. North Carolina beat Virginia 85-73. Rutgers defeated Colgate 93-82.

Green Bay Boy Who Killed 5 Puzzles Experts

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Harry "Butch" Hebard, 16-year-old high school junior, has admitted some remorse over killing his father but none in the deaths of his stepmother and the three children of her first marriage.

The curly-haired youth, who admitted planning the mass slaying, was arraigned Wednesday on four counts of first degree murder.

He appeared in County Court, where former Dist. Atty. Robert Parms was appointed to represent him, and the arraignment was continued until today. Hebard was held in jail without bond.

Dist. Atty. Robert Warren said a fifth murder charge would be "held in abeyance pending the outcome" of the boy's trial.

Hebard was taken into custody shortly before noon Tuesday, a few hours after officers found the body of his father, Jack, 38, his stepmother, Joyce, 35, and her three children in the family's home.

As the preliminaries to the trial continued, teachers, friends and relatives continued to supply limited information about the boy and the victims of the state's largest mass slaying.

Hebard attended classes at Green Bay West High School as usual Monday morning. Drafting instructor James Block, whose class was the last before lunch, was the last teacher to see Harry. Block said the boy "refused to work in class, and when I spoke to him about it he said he had an appointment with a counselor in the afternoon."

There was no appointment. Instead, Harry left school at 11:45 a.m. He called his friend, Norbert Hansen, 19, of Pulaski, and said he was carrying out an often-discussed plan to run away from home. He asked Hansen to pick him up near his home at 3:45 that afternoon.

Harry's activities of the next few hours are not known, but at 5:30 p.m. he brought an automatic pistol and rifle from the basement, and within the next 15 minutes killed his family, changed clothes, hid the rifle and concealed the pistol in a bundle of stained clothing.

Hebard's slayings made him the ghastly champion among putrides in the state in the last few years.

Others included Jane Dakin, 17-year-old Mauston high school girl who shot and killed her parents in their home four years ago. She was acquitted of first degree murder on grounds of insanity, and remains in Central State Hospital. A petition for her release is due for a hearing March 20.

Michael Hays, 17, of Madison, shot and killed his father and another man three years ago. Gerald Evenson, 18, shot and killed his father in their Manitowish farm home two years ago. He was convicted of manslaughter.

Joseph Brecke, 18 Hurley, shot and killed his sleeping father last October.

Fred Randsen, 17, shot and killed his father at their farm near Tomahawk four years ago.
