Kennedy Lays Wreath At Tomb of Unknowns

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under a cloudless blue sky, President Kennedy placed a red, white and blue wreath at the Tomb of the Unknowns today to honor the nation's war veterans living and dead.

Several thousand spectators crowded about the area at Arlington National Cemetery as the hatless President strode with Gen. David M. Shoup, the Marine commandant, to the Tomb.

While the crowd stood silent, the President, helped by an Army sergeant, placed the wreath in front of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and between the Unknowns of World War II and Korea.

His somber gray-striped suit contrasted with the bright red and white carnations and red and blue ribbon.

Then, as a bugler played taps, the President stood at attention. Arrayed behind the President were his military aides, veterans Administrator John Gleason and Luther Skaggs, head of

HARRIS SURVEY

Cold War Thaw Cited

By LOUIS HARRIS

Most Americans welcome the thaw in the cold war. President Kennedy has a united country behind him in his efforts to find further areas of agreement with the Russians.

Nearly one American in every four has become convinced that Khrushchev is now more genuinely interested in peace than he has been in times past. The recent test ban agreement met with the support of better than 8 out of every 10 people across the nation.

But does this mean that the American has softened in his resolve to stand behind this country's commitments to defend the free world against Communist encroachments? That question was raised recently in connection with the status of American ground forces in West Germany.

By better than 5 to 1, the American people are ready to defend West Berlin—even if it means war. However, the majorities favoring going to war over Berlin if that should be necessary have fallen off slightly as the cold war has shown signs of easing.

A carefully-drawn cross-section of the American people was asked:

"Since Russia agreed to a test ban on atomic testing, some people think Khrushchev has become more peace-minded. Do you think Russia is now really more for peace than before, or do you think there has been no real change?"

RUSSIA ON PEACE	Nation-wide Percent
Russians really more for peace	22
No real change	63
Not sure	15

A majority feel that the peace overtures of the past few months are only a temporary tactic by Khrushchev. However, 22 percent feel that the change in Communist attitudes is real—a significant dent in the previously massive suspicion of the motives of Soviet leaders.

Perhaps the best measure of specific public satisfaction with the test ban treaty, the sale of corn to Hungary and the impending wheat deal with the Soviet Union emerges from the

KENNEDY ON PEACE	Nation-wide Percent
Rate JFK:
Excellent	29
Pretty good	47
Only fair	13
Poor	5
Not sure	6

Support on the specific "first steps" toward easing the cold war, such as the test ban agreement, parallels this over-all estimate. These "first steps" win better than 2 to 1 approval. Clearly, the American people are willing to have their government explore avenues for peace with the Soviets on a practical basis.

How far Americans are willing to go in Berlin is reflected in this question:

"Our government has guaranteed the freedom of West Berlin. We have said if the Communists try to take over West Berlin we will defend that city, even if it means war. Do you favor or oppose this policy on West Berlin?"

DEFENSE OF WEST BERLIN	Nov. Aug. Percent
Even if it means war	68 75
Opposed to war over Berlin	13 9
Not sure	19 16

There has been some perceptible erosion—7 people in every 100 to be exact—who are not as adamant about defending Berlin today compared to a few short months ago. But it would be going too far, indeed, to say that very many Americans are veering toward a desire to let down our military guard.

Death Toll in Two Japanese Disasters 600

By CONRAD FINK
Associated Press Staff Writer

TOKYO (AP)—Leftist cries of government neglect and the smell of funeral incense hung heavily over Japan today as be-lieved families arranged services for more than 600 persons killed in a coal mine explosion and triple train crash.

Socialist and Democratic Socialist politicians seized on the double disaster as a major campaign issue in national parliamentary elections only 10 days off.

The leftist held Premier Hayato Ikeda's conservative government responsible for the tragedies, charging the accidents resulted from the government's "one-sided policy to protect monopolistic capitalist classes" at the expense of workers' lives.

The coal dust explosion in the mine at Omuta, on the southern island of Kyushu, killed 449 miners, injured about 450 and left 7 unaccounted for, the Mitsui Mining Co. said. Police said, however, they had counted 452 bodies.

The train wreck six hours later and 600 miles to the north killed 162 persons, including William Scott, 28, of Colorado Springs, Colo., who was studying in Tokyo. At least 70 were injured.

Two persons were injured today in another train wreck. A slow-moving passenger train rammed another passenger train that had halted half a mile out of the Hiroshima station.

Although the pressure was on Ikeda, the president of Japan National Railways, Reisuke Ishida, said he was accepting full responsibility for Saturday's disaster and would resign.

The pileup near Tokyo was the second three-train crash in 18 months. Japanese rail accidents take an average of 10,000 lives a year.

Both leftist parties announced they would investigate the train and mine accidents independently of the government.

The opposition parties had few concrete issues last month when Ikeda dissolved the lower house of Parliament. He called the election in an attempt to enlarge his Liberal Democratic party's overwhelming majority of 286 seats, compared with a combined opposition total of 154.

Boy Playing With Rifle Is Killed

NEW YORK MILLS, Minn. (AP)—Mark Majala, 9, was killed Saturday when a rifle he and a brother were playing with discharged accidentally and the bullet struck the victim in the head. The accident occurred at the home of the Rudolph Majalas near New York Mills, about 35 miles southwest of Detroit Lakes in western Minnesota.

The plane was en route from New York to Mexico City. The incident occurred about 10 minutes out of Houston.

Jet Ripped From Plane In Flight

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Investigators are trying to find out what ripped out engine from a four-engine jet airliner carrying 128 persons, forcing an emergency landing.

Pilot Mel H. French of Huntington Station, L.I., said the Eastern Airlines DC8 ran into the worst turbulence he had ever encountered shortly after takeoff from Houston Saturday.

Flying at 20,000 feet, the plane suddenly was caught in a violent downdraft and dropped nearly three miles in about 12 seconds.

Passengers with seat belts unfastened were pushed against the ceiling where they remained helpless until the pilot regained control and leveled off around 6,500 feet.

Dr. M. C. Elroy of Philadelphia said he fell back into his seat by a window just in time to see the wing vibrating violently and the nearest engine rip away. The starboard engine struck the tail stabilizer, denting it, and disappeared.

A search was under way for the engine about 45 miles southwest of Houston.

Ex-Husband Slays Neighbor, Beats Woman

WAUPACA, Wis. (AP)—A jealous ex-husband who, authorities said, admitted the rifle slaying of a neighbor and the gun-whipping of his divorced wife, was held in jail today pending the filing of formal charges Tuesday.

Sheriff Loran Frazier of Waupaca County said George Reimers Sr., 45, appeared at the jail early Sunday and told of shooting Willy N. Holmes, 41, of rural Waupaca, and beating Mrs. Ruth Reimers, 40, with the gun. Holmes died in a hospital of a chest wound inflicted by a small calibre rifle.

The shooting occurred late Saturday in the Chain O'Lakes area near Waupaca where Reimers and his ex-wife had been living since their divorce in January.

Reimers told the sheriff he waited in the bedroom for his neighbor, Holmes, and Mrs. Reimers to return Saturday night. When they came into the room Reimers fired a shot that hit Holmes in the chest, then assaulted his ex-wife with the weapon, inflicting injuries which put her in the hospital.

Truman Wouldn't Trust Russians

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—In case anybody has any doubts, this is what former President Harry S. Truman thinks of the leaders of the Soviet Union: "They're nothing but a set of damned liars. I wouldn't trust them across the street."

Role of Bishops Topic of Debate

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The conservative and progressive factions in the Vatican Ecumenical Council resume debate today on proposals to increase the role of bishops in the central administration of the Roman Catholic Church.

Conservatives among the 2,300 council fathers opposed the proposed changes, which could shift some administrative powers from the conservative-dominated Vatican Curia to the bishops. The changes ultimately probably would revolutionize church government.

The progressives are pressing for the changes. The differences flared into an open dispute Friday in the most dramatic clash of the 13-month-old council.

A progressive cardinal denounced the Curia's holy office as unfair, out of date and in need of reform. A conservative termed this a slur on the pope himself.

Pope Paul VI has showed himself clearly on the side of the reformers. In a speech in September to stunned members of the Curia, the church's administrative organ, he said the central directorate must be internationalized and reformed.

Such changes could be effected through two schemata—or topics—before the council—"De Ecclesia" (on the nature of the church) and "Bishops and Diocesan Government."

In test voting last month on principles in "De Ecclesia," the council fathers voted overwhelmingly for collegiality—the concept that bishops collectively share power with the pope.

Don't Count Nixon Out, Ike Declares

NEW YORK (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower sees Richard M. Nixon as a possible darkhorse candidate for the Republican presidential nomination next year.

The former president told a nationwide television audience Sunday:

"Now if there should be one of those deadlocks (at the national convention)...I think he (Nixon) would be one of the likely persons to be examined and approached because he is after all a very knowledgeable and a very courageous type of person."

Nixon, vice president under Eisenhower for eight years, was not available for comment.

He has said repeatedly he has no interest in running again for the presidency. He lost to John F. Kennedy three years ago.

Eisenhower noted Nixon's statements of disinterest when he appeared on the American Broadcasting Co.'s "Face the Nation" program.

"I had assumed that he had removed himself completely," Eisenhower said. "Now, if he has changed his mind or even is more receptive, why, all right."

Many Others Wounded Over Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Death wore a scarlet shroud this weekend as the deer season opened in Minnesota.

Three hunters died of gunshot wounds. Heart attacks claimed six others. Many more were wounded—some seriously, some slightly. One of the injured was shot as he lay in bed sleeping.

An inquest will be held this afternoon into the death of Norman J. Isaksen, 31, Minnetonka, Minn., shot Saturday as he hunted in the Big Fork area 40 miles north of Grand Rapids.

Sheriff John Muhar said another hunter, Richard Zwirn, 31, New Rockford, N.D., told authorities he fired the fatal shot, mistaking Isaksen for a deer. Zwirn was jailed at Grand Rapids pending determination of whether charges will be filed following the inquest.

The other men killed in hunting accidents Saturday were, like Isaksen, also 31.

Eldon Schultz, Amiret, Minn., died in a Fargo, N.D., hospital after he suffered head wounds while hunting near Kelliher, north of Bemidji. Game wardens said Schultz apparently dropped his rifle and it discharged.

Merlin Cross, Marshall, died of loss of blood while being taken to a hospital after he suffered a thigh wound from a .30 caliber rifle shot. Cross was hunting about 30 miles north of Duluth when the accident happened. The deputy St. Louis County coroner, Alexander Jacklin, said Cross and a companion had gone after a wounded deer and another member of their party fired a series of shots from a semi-automatic.

Hunters who died of heart attacks were:

Elwin C. Lien, 44, Grand Rapids, while helping load two deer Sunday near Ball Club, in Itasca County.

Andrew Larson, 54, Lake Lilian, Minn., in a Duluth hospital Sunday after being stricken the day before.

Russell Finberg, 50, Clinton, at Odessa Saturday after he apparently exerted in dressing out a deer.

Charles A. Turner, 66, Zim, Minn., who apparently was hunting alone near Sax, in central St. Louis County. Other hunters came upon his body.

Lloyd Volk, 44, Minneapolis, dead on arrival at a Grand Rapids hospital Sunday after being stricken while hunting south of Big Thunder Lake, in Cass County.

Harold DeMars, 45, Mankato, while hunting Sunday near Thief River Falls.

Many hunters were injured, mostly by gunshot.

Robert Frankfield, 25, Minneapolis, was sleeping in a cabin near Big Fork early Sunday when a bullet ripped through the wall and pierced his side. Attendants at a Big Fork hospital described his condition as fair.

George Loeffler, Beclida, Minn., underwent surgery in Duluth Sunday for a severe back injury sustained when he fell out of a tree while hunting. Loeffler was transferred to Duluth from a Bemidji hospital.

Roger Ness, 16, Canby, was in critical condition in a Minneapolis hospital. A shotgun slug entered his abdomen and struck the spine Saturday while the youth was hunting in Lac qui Parle County.

John Moeller, 20, Biwabik, Minn., was in poor condition in an Aurora hospital after being wounded in the right shoulder and cheek.

Merle V. Collins, Mountain Lake, underwent surgery at Cloquet Sunday after a ricocheting slug went into his lower abdomen while he hunted south of Carlton.

Others wounded in gunshot accidents included George Blum, 21, Stewart; Ival Surber, 44, Indianola, Iowa; Anastas L. Urdanski, 51, Paul; Jack Schumacher, 23, Sartell, and James Townsend, 30, Minneapolis.

Alliance for Progress Changes Asked

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—A hot ministerial debate is looming over a proposal to give Latin members of the Alliance for Progress a bigger voice in the administration of Washington's multibillion-dollar program.

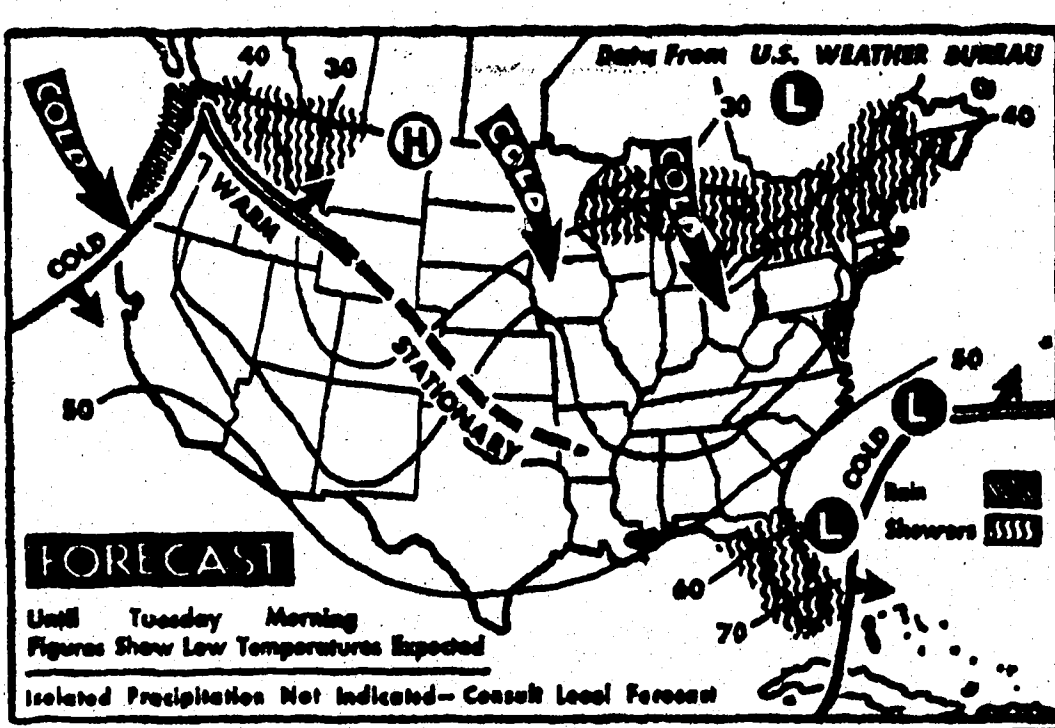

The plan, already approved by U.S. and Latin technical experts, came before top-level representatives of the 20-nation alliance at a conference of the Inter-American Economic and Social Council opening today. U.S. Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman was expected to endorse the plan.

The idea behind the proposed change is to minimize the program's Yankee overtones in an effort to make it more palatable to the recipients. The alliance, developed under President Kennedy's administration, has met stiff resistance from the dominant conservative class in most countries because it calls for reforms that would curtail their privileges.

Coast Guard Photos Cubans In Island Raid

By JOE MCGOWAN JR.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A slow-moving, unarmed Coast Guard patrol plane defied guns trained on it by Cuban militiamen and scored a major propaganda victory over the Fidel Castro regime.

Photographs taken by the crew of the twin-engine amphibious plane showed the world a Cuban raiding party kidnapping 19 refugees from Anguilla Cay, a desolate British island 40 miles off Cuba's north coast.

Photos showed a Russian-built helicopter on the ground and two Russian-made PT-type boats speeding from the island with the refugees aboard. One photo showed three men in one boat with their automatic rifles aimed at the U.S. aircraft.

Catching the Cubans in the daylight raid is regarded by the Coast Guard's Miami Air Station as the most exciting thing that has happened since Castro came to power.

Search and rescue has been and still is the Coast Guard's primary job. These missions can be tedious. Sometimes they are dangerous.

Since mid-1959, a preponderance of search and rescue missions have been linked in one way or another with the Cuban situation.

In addition, the Coast Guard has been assigned the difficult two-way task of guarding against illegal Castro activities, yet protecting the Communist island from attack by anti-Castro exiles.

To handle the assignment, the Coast Guard has siphoned off men and equipment from its stations around the world and added them to the command of the 7th Coast Guard District, headquartered in Miami.

The district has become the largest Coast Guard operation in the world, said Comdr. James Dillon, Ten high-wing Albatross amphibians, capable of land or sea operation, and three helicopters operate from the air station at Dinner Key.

On March 30, 1963, President Kennedy issued a proclamation against raids on Cuba.

"Since then, we have had a plane in the air at almost all times during daylight hours, and quite often at night," said a Coast Guard officer.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a Texas firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss, but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to satisfy everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall, and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But how can any man or woman be sure what is actually causing their hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Actually, there are at least 18 scalp conditions that can cause hair loss. No matter which one is the cause of your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have hair (or at least some fuzz) on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair, now is the time to do something about it, before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered promptly, by mail and without obligation.

old hardnose really did it this time. dafne, my girlfriend, and i were getting pretty serious about getting married. but shes a pretty sensible girl and she just insisted that before we got married old hardnose should supply us with a split level mouse house, an extra cheese ration - because two cant live as cheaply as one - and she wanted a bell put on oswald, the landlords cat.

well, old hardnose went right through the roof. he said he wouldnt provide any of these things she wanted, he said i wasnt doing my job properly, and he told dafne that as far as he was concerned she could pack up and move out.

and - weep, weep - thats just what she did. she packed up and moved over to the record library of kwno. but, shes in real bad trouble over there because there is one girl over there who just doesnt like mice - even nice girl mice. and if she doesnt get out of there soon im afraid shell be caught - weep, weep.

however, the gang at kwno is doing everything they can to help soften up old hardnose so shell come back to me.

tomorrow and wednesday they are going to move over here and do most of their broadcasting right from our offices. they are offering free tv signal service for anybody who signs up during these two days, they are conducting a contest with a great prize, theyll be talking to me - and hardnose - and oswald - and some of our subscribers - and, i hope, dafne.

i sure hope a lot of my friends who dont have the tv signal service right now sign up during these two days so old hardnose softens up a lot - so dafne comes back to me - so i can stop crying - weep, weep.

please be sure to listen on tuesday and wednesday - between 8 oclock and 5 oclock each day - and id sure appreciate it if you would help me out by signing up so i can get dafne back soon.

Temperatures Due For Normal Range

Temperatures in Winona this week are expected to get back to normal after one of the mildest falls on record.

After predicting near normal temperatures through Saturday, the weatherman added a real wintry touch: Snow flurries along about Thursday.

MOSTLY FAIR tonight and Tuesday is the outlook for the immediate future with a low of 22-28 expected tonight and a high of 40 Tuesday. Wednesday, says the weatherman, will see little change in temperature and no precipitation.

Daytime highs for the week are expected to range up to 37-42 and nighttime lows will drop to 20-25.

Mild and dry conditions prevailed over the weekend here with the thermometer rising to 62 Saturday afternoon and 63 on Sunday. Sunday morning the low was 37 and this morning 33. At noon today the reading was 41.

A year ago today the Winona high was 75 and the low 50. Alltime high for Nov. 11 was 68 in 1930 and the low 9 in 1926 and 1950. Mean for the past 24 hours was 48. Normal for the day is 37.

Bringing some cheer to deer hunters was the report of snow in the north country, especially in the International Falls area. Duluth, too, reported snow falling during the forenoon.

Rochester and St. Cloud reported temperatures of 29 this morning, lowest in the state. It was 30 at Bemidji. La Crosse had 34.

Winter took a big step closer to WISCONSIN today. Temperatures dropped sharply and snow flurries fell in scattered areas in the state.

Flurries occurred Sunday in northern areas and were still falling this morning at Rhinelander. Ashland and Hurley Light showers or snow flurries were expected for the remainder of the state by tonight.

Madison was the coldest spot officially during the night with a low of 29.

Racine, Lone Rock and Beloit set the high of 57 Sunday to 41 at Park Falls.

Burbank and Imperial Calif. were the warmest communities in the nation Sunday with 88 degrees, compared with the low of 13 early today at Williston, N.D.

Pigeon Falls Pastor Hurt

BLAIR, Wis. (Special) — A Pigeon Falls pastor is a patient at Tri-County Memorial Hospital, Whitehall, with fractured ribs and lacerations about the head and face received when his car went out of control on County Trunk W five miles southeast of Pigeon Falls.

The Rev. E. B. Christophersen was proceeding south down the Voss Coulee hill when his car veered right on a curve, traveled on the shoulder, then went left and into the left ditch, coming to a stop when it hit a driveway. The car tipped on its side.

About an hour after the accident, which was at 5 p.m. Thursday, a passerby enroute to the lutefish supper at Blair found him on this sparsely traveled highway and gave him assistance.

An ambulance was called and he was taken to the hospital. The front and right side of his car were badly damaged, according to Trempealeau County Sheriff Orris Klundby, who investigated.

The accident happened near the Palmer Hjelmsand farm about five miles north of Blair.

Success Poor

Can't See Deer, Wardens Figure

"The deer were there but the hunters couldn't see them."

That's the way one Southeastern Minnesota warden explained the low success ratio for the opening two days of the 1963 deer season. The season in Zone 6, Southeastern Minnesota, closes at sunset today.

"Conditions were such," Philip Ham, Houston County warden, said, "that the deer and the background harmonized nearly perfectly, and, unless the deer was moving, it blended into the background. An inexperienced observer could not spot a resting animal in the field."

Anyway, the overall ratio in the area will drop to one deer to 10 hunters, according to an estimate of George Meyer, superintendent of the Whitewater Wildlife Refuge.

Not more than 300 deer were taken out of the Whitewater valley by about half the usual number of hunters. The weather, the cover, and more open territory were advanced as the main reason.

Hunting was generally poor in Winona County. In some areas hunters hit, but in most areas the deer stayed still and let the hunters wander around. The weather also made hunters lazy.

Areas around Lake City, seemed to be best in Wabasha County from reports from that area. Wabasha and the Zumbro valley districts reported poor hunting. The hunting pressure was definitely down in these counties.

"I checked the Brownsville-Reno area and found only a few hunters," Warden Ham said. "Most of Houston County hunters were on the ridges and back from the river. There were a lot of deer in the Reno bottomlands. I saw them during the duck hunting season."

Ham said the hunters that got deer got good ones. Big bucks were common, and does, too. They were all nice and fat for the winter.

A state game and fish plane was assigned to Southeastern Minnesota over the weekend. It was in radio contact with wardens cars over the area.

The general opinion among hunters was that the season was two weeks too early for this part of the state.

International Milling Firm's Earnings Jump

WABASHA, Minn. (Special) — Record sales and a 30 percent increase in earnings were reported by International Milling Co. in its 71st annual report for the year ending Aug. 31.

Sales of the firm, which operates a flour mill in Wabasha, rose for the seventh consecutive year to an all-time high of $308,427,636, compared with $291,804,602 for the previous fiscal year.

NET EARNINGS of $5,033,200 were equivalent to $2.13 per share of common stock compared with $1.58 per share of earnings of $3,875,063 the previous year, said W. A. Palmen, Wabasha plant manager.

Each of the company's four major operating divisions contributed to the year's profits. The report indicated that improved profits resulted from an increase in volume of most of the company's lines, better margins for some products during the first part of the year, and more stable currency exchange rates.

The report reflected changes in International Milling capital structure as a result of its reincorporation in New York State Sept. 3.

Reviewing the year, the report indicated that additions to property, plant and equipment, including improvements in progress, totaled $3,931,541.

Shipments of bakery flour, Durum products and bakery mixes reached record levels in the U.S. during the year. Sales of formula feeds, now a part of the company's business in Venezuela as well as the U.S. and Canada, reached an all-time high, and expansion continued with the opening of new formula feed plants at Danville, Ill., and Valencia, Venezuela.

IN APRIL, a flour mill was purchased at Maracaibo, Venezuela.

New cake mix flavors, icing mixes, and pudding mixes were added to the company's Canadian line of consumer products by its affiliate, Robin Hood Flour Mill Ltd.

International's employees numbered 4,829 at year's end. Assets of $7,468,740 were held in trust at year's end for employee participants in the company's profit sharing retirement program.

COLONEL'S DEFINITION

Who Are Veterans Anyhow?

By C. Gordon Holte
Daily News Staff Writer

Winona today commemorated the sacrifices of those who have served in the defense of the United States with a solemn tribute to the nation's war dead and an appeal for rededication to the patriotic ideals which motivated those who have fought and died to preserve this country as a free nation.

Representatives of Winona veterans organizations joined in a parade climaxed at 3rd and Center streets by the firing of a volley saluting war dead at 11 a.m. — the 45th anniversary of the signing of the armistice ending hostilities in World War I.

EARLIER in the morning, Col. C. G. Simenson, Fort Snelling, Minn., Minnesota sector commander of the 14th U.S. Army Corps, spoke at Winona Senior High School auditorium at a Veterans Day program for Senior High students and the public.

In charge of all Army Reserve units in the state, Col. Simenson noted that Veterans Day until 1954 had been observed as Armistice Day in recollection of the ending of "what was to have been the last war. Now, 45 years and 2 1/2 wars later, we observe this day as Veterans Day and it is good to broaden the concept of Veterans Day to honor all veterans in our nation's history.

"What are veterans? Simply patriotic persons who have served their country," Col. Simenson said. "The veterans did not shed their patriotism when they shed their uniforms and the patriotic power of our nation stems from the patriotism of the individuals. It becomes a matter of strength based on the willingness of each individual to do his part."

PATRIOTS throughout history, the speaker continued, have found that, grim as war is, there is one thing worse than war and this is the enslavement of people.

Col. Simenson reminded his audience that the Army flag has 145 streamers, each representing a military campaign in the years beginning with the Revolutionary War and continuing into the current crisis in Viet Nam.

"These battles have been won," he said, "by individuals who courageously met the challenges before them. Why? Because these veterans found something intriguing in this land of ours that inspired individuals to build a nation established on freedom."

He told students that "our forefathers have handed to us on a silver platter a free country. But now there is another concept in the world, that of communism. And I hope that each of you will study communism in an attempt to understand it. I say attempt to understand it because I don't believe any of us truly can understand communism."

"THE Communist does not know right from wrong the way we know it today. To them what is right is anything that furthers communism. Under their creed they can falsify, steal, even murder."

"Communism also is a disease that must either grow or die," he continued. "And, in growing, it must feed upon itself. It must be exported to grow. My feeling is that if Communists were to keep communism to themselves we wouldn't be too distressed; if this were possible they could be accepted as peace-loving members of the family of nations."

Pointing to the challenges of the future, Col. Simenson observed that 90 percent of the world's technological advancement has been realized in the last 2 percent of recorded time. He urged the youth of the nation to continue to work toward new progress, asserting that "any nation is no better than its future generations. With the challenges we have been given by our forefathers and by our veterans organizations, we should rededicate ourselves today to the task of moving forward; of maintaining a nation built on freedom of choice."

PLATFORM guests at the program arranged by Norman Indall of the high school social studies department were representatives of local veterans organizations: Mrs. Stanley Hardt, Daughters of the American Revolution; Mrs. Paul Griesel and Mrs. B. R. Wandsnider, Women's Relief Corps; Floyd Kuhlman, Veterans of Foreign Wars; Mrs. Edward Holehouse, VFW Auxiliary; Mrs. Alvin Koch, national president, and Mrs. Alfred Kuhlman and Mrs. Stance Kolter, Gold Star Mothers; Dean Varner, American Legion; Mrs. Donald Gray, American Legion Auxiliary; P. F. Loughrey, United Spanish American War Veterans; Mrs. Ralph Kohner, Spanish American War Veterans Auxiliary; Rudy Sparrow and Harry Walinski, Veterans of World War I, and Miss Bertha Miller, Veterans of World War I Auxiliary.

The colors were advanced by the American Legion color guard; Jeffrey Genner, president of the high school student council led the pledge to the flag; the invocation was given by the Rev. Harold Reksstad, pastor of First Congregational Church; Principal Robert H. Smith introduced the platform guests; the speaker was introduced by Norris Abts and the Senior High orchestra played.

This afternoon, students at Central Junior High School participated in a Veterans Day assembly at which a movie on Pearl Harbor was shown.

rural Rochester, had been hunting. They were turning off No. 30 onto B, a left turn, when the car went out of control on newly graded crushed rock. The vehicle skidded 276 feet, according to the Olmsted County sheriff's office, then turned over on its top in the left ditch.

Hrdlicka's head was pinned by the vehicle, officers said. They said he apparently had been thrown. However there were no witnesses to this.

The accident was discovered by Ambrose Fix, nearby farmer, who pulled the car off the young people with his tractor. Matzke's sister, Mrs. Jerry Stokes, Chatfield, was en route to church when she saw the car being lifted off the men and saw the men.

THE MISHAP occurred near the Elmira Church, about two miles west of Saratoga. Sheriff Gerald Cunningham and Deputies Dale Stuve and Donald Lynch investigated. Dr. T. O. Wellner ordered an autopsy.

Matzke was reported to be employed at a turkey plant in Rochester, and Hrdlicka had worked for a monument company there.

Her Diamonds Can Knock an Eye Out

By EARL WILSON

BEVERLY HILLS — "Joan Cohn's diamonds will knock your eye out," a man said. "She's wearing one of the classic necklaces of Hollywood."

The B.W. and I were visiting the rich. I elbowed her up the steps. Joan Cohn, the beautiful, blonde, youthful-looking extremely charming widow of Harry Cohn, was giving a party for her friend Laurence Harvey, after the dressy opening of "The Time of the Barracudas."

Gifted Larry Harvey played a man who'd murdered three wives for insurance. He then married a young widow (Elaine Stritch) who on their honeymoon tried to electrocute him. She'd murdered three husbands for insurance.

"Competitor!" he snarled. "What plans did you have for me, LOVER?"

We warmed up for the late bash by dining at enormously popular new "Le Bistro" where you may "go casual."

Milton Berle—without a tie—had about 20 cigars in his fists. "Since Ruth hooked me, she won't carry my cigars in her purse," he said. Ruth smiled above her sable.

AFTER THE play at the Huntington Hartford Theater (which has a bar) we got to the party and I said to the B. W., "Shall we join the money?"

I was dazzled. "Joan has an all-white bedroom," somebody said. "Here's a room we haven't even looked into," somebody else said. "I say $85 a day is too much to pay for a hotel room so I get one for $35," somebody else said.

Hugh O'Brian was just back from the Grand Bahamas where he'd got the right to sell or rent everything there with two or three wheels on it. Big business. . . . Edie Adams, with Cy Howard, was congratulated on her new sable slacks and Bentley or Rolls, I forget which.

Esther Williams and Fernando Lamas told me Esther'd been robbed twice in Rome where the burglars were almost as bad as in New York.

I felt shabby. Then I ran into Glynnis John who said:

"I WANT to do another type TV series that can take people's minds off pain and loneliness. I was very sick myself. I wanted to be a doctor. I'm going to do it. I know my instinct is right."

HOWCUM? FLASH FINSTER CAN GO THE LENGTH OF THE FIELD FOR A TOUCHDOWN IN RECORD SPRINT TIME...

BUT IS HE FIRST ACROSS THE GOAL LINE? NOPE! OLD FATSO, THE REF, IS TWO YARDS AHEAD ALL THE WAY!!

By GRETCHEN L. LAMBERTON

SATURDAY afternoon an old friend and I whipped up to Minneapolis to see the Winona State College performance of Isben's "Ghosts" at the Guthrie Theatre that evening. A busload of local people went up and we also saw many of the Winona State faculty members. The theatre was well filled by Twin City people, many of them Winona State alumni, and there were few vacant seats. The play was excellently done and very well received by the audience, and both director Dorothy Magnus and the cast can take a bow on their achievement.

An interesting sidelight was the fact that there were many Scandinavian Exchange students present, some of them in their gala national costume. The Norwegian Consul-General was also present and went up on the stage at the play's end to congratulate the players warmly. The unique feature of the play, of course, was the fact that a talented Broadway star, Judith Evelyn, played the leading role.

One might have thought that a famous star playing with an inexperienced college cast might have played the part of Mrs. Alving to the hilt and shone brilliantly. But not at all. Miss Evelyn played her lines, or almost underplayed them, to the young collegians in a way that drew them out and inspired them to great artistic heights. She underplayed her part, but with a quiet intensity that held the cast together in extraordinary fashion. Of all the warmly unselfish and outgoing personalities I've met she ranks among the top. She could be a great teacher of dramatic art as well as a great actress.

After the play when we went onstage for a visit with her we found that she was leaving for Winona on the same early morning train that she was taking for Chicago. "Oh," she cried throwing her arms around us, "we must have breakfast together on the train!"

So that's how we happened to have an 8-o'clock breakfast with a Broadway star. She looked radiant in a grey-green tweed dress with full length coat to match, and she said she had gone to her hotel room and slept like a baby after the exhausting day of driving up from Winona and last minute rehearsals on a different stage, with the inevitable worries and minor mishaps of an opening night.

Knowing that she is a firm believer in high-protein "energy meals" during strenuous work time I said I hoped she had been able to get a good high-energy meal before the performance.

She laughed. "Do you know what I had for my main meal? Before I left Winona in the morning I had made myself a quick peanut butter sandwich just in case there wasn't time for lunch in the rush of rehearsals and I put it into my handbag. Things got so hectic that that peanut butter sandwich was my meal of the day!" She added, "It was good too. I always put some honey on the peanut butter for a quick energy food."

Miss Evelyn will spend three days in Chicago with her mother, then go on to New York for work in TV and stage plays.

DEAR ABBY:

No Need for Federal Case

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our mother remarried two years ago. My brother, my sister and I are all in the teen-age group and we get quite a few telephone calls. Well, here is the problem. Our last name is Henderson, but our mother changed her name to Lupowitz when she remarried again. Our stepfather is a very nice man, but he wants us to answer the telephone, "Lupowitz's residence." When we do, the other person says, "Sorry, I've got the wrong number," and hangs up. Don't you think we should be able to answer the telephone, "Henderson's residence"?

MISSING CALLS

DEAR MISSING: Ask you stepfather if you can't just say "Hello" and not make a Federal case out of it.

DEAR ABBY: Is there such a thing as a person being able to drive another person out of her mind? If there is, I think that is what is happening to me. I have an aunt who takes pleasure in saying things that hurt me. Like when I had my second child — it was another girl. She marched into my hospital room and said, "Oh, I wish you had had a boy for your husband. He looks soooooo disappointed."

Abby

On another occasion, when she saw my daughter all dressed up in her Sunday best, she remarked, "Such a pretty dress. Pity the child is so fat she doesn't look good in anything!" That woman has hurt me deeper than anyone I've ever known, and I've never done a thing to deserve it. My husband says, "Pay no attention to her — she's ignorant!" How can you get along with a person like that? She lives near me and visits often. SICK AT HEART

DEAR SICK: If your aunt were only ignorant, you could forgive her. She's vicious. Why try to get along with her? Try getting along WITHOUT her. You'll live longer.

DEAR ABBY: My husband asked me what I wanted for my 12th wedding anniversary and I said, "A divorce." I know it is out of the question because of my religion, but I really would almost rather be alone with the kids than living like this. I am 29 and we have six kids, which I have had to raise practically by myself. I am tired of covering up for my husband when he is late from work, or on a weekend binge. I have nobody to blame but myself because I ran off and married this guy against my parents' wishes. I was 17 and he was 19. Please keep telling young people not to rush into marriage. Forever is a long time. SORRY NOW

CONFIDENTIAL TO HARRY: Smart people speak from experience. Smarter people, from experience, don't speak.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Joseph M. Donahue Of St. Paul Dead

ST. PAUL (AP) — Joseph M. Donahue, St. Paul lawyer and president of the Minnesota State Bar Association in 1960-61, died Sunday. He was 56.

Donahue was an assistant Minnesota attorney general for five years before becoming partner in a law firm here.

Donahue was a member of the state forestry service, to consider the forest areas to be acquired along the parkway from Hastings south to the Iowa border. The lands would be acquired under a $300,000 appropriation from the Natural Resources Commission for land within the state's Hardwood Memorial Forest.

Olson also will work with the counties on determining the feasibility of their retaining a 250-foot construction strip with a 300-foot scenic easement on all tax delinquent lands for the planned parkway. This would lower the cost of constructing the road.

Olson, who recently retired as a staff assistant in the Minnesota Highway Department, has been secretary of the National Parkway Commission since 1956. He has been involved in planning the Great River Road since its inception in 1938.

Another appointment announced by the Minnesota parkway unit was that of James W. Clark, North St. Paul, as coordinator to work with the state

Let's Get Growing

By A. F. SHIRA

Some Notes On The Clematis

Several phone calls have been received the past few days as is usually the case at this time of the year inquiring whether clematis vines should be cut back in the fall, or in the spring. This can be done either in the fall or spring, but how it is done depends to a great extent on the blooming habits of the vines.

Before we go into this, however, let us talk a little about clematis vines. We consider them to be the most attractive as well as the most versatile of all vines for use about the home in this area. In fact, they are considered by some gardeners to be most beautiful and useful of our northern climbing vines.

Generally, the clematis has been looked upon as a one period bloomer, that is for a few weeks in the summer. However, some of the large-flowered hybrid varieties will flower somewhat continuously until fall. We have a white one that has several blossoms at the present time. Of course, the small-flowered white variety C. paniculata blooms in the late summer and fall producing clouds of fragrant blossoms.

CLEMATIS vines as we know them in this area are classed as woody perennial vines. They do not have any discs, tendrils, or other usual means of attachment, but climb by means of the stems of the leaves that curl or hook about the supports. If a vine has numerous stems and they are not carefully guided up a trellis, these leaf-stems will hook, or curl, about various other stems of the vine and a tangled mass will result. This often causes a bunching of the blossoms at a low level as the vine does not grow as tall as it would otherwise.

While some varieties of clematis do not seem to be especially adapted to this area, there are other kinds that are very hardy here and, if properly planted and cared for, will last for years. The old favorite C. Jackmani is one of these and is often seen to the exclusion of other varieties. However, certain others of the large-flowered hybrids in various colors are perfectly hardy here. One of the good white varieties with blossoms four inches, or more, across is C. Henryi that has a propensity to bloom through the late summer and fall. One of ours still has several blossoms and buds.

AND, NOW, let us talk a little about pruning clematis vines, or cutting them back as some gardeners prefer to call it. Some varieties bloom primarily on old wood while others bloom on the new wood of the present season's growth. This should be taken into consideration on cutting them. If the vine has a tendency to bloom on new growth that sprouts from the old stems several feet above the ground, it is preferable not to cut the stems down lower than three or four feet in the fall. The clematis stems are brittle and easily broken, thus leading some gardeners to think that they are dead. However, some of them will remain alive and will send out new growth in the spring higher above the ground thus making a taller vine. If the trellis is taken down to be painted, the shortened canes can be carefully removed from it and

Thoughts at Random — From Editor's Notebook

(In the absence of Executive Editor Gordon R. Clossway, who is on vacation, Thoughts at Random is written this week by Frank Uhlig, Local News staff writer.)

APPARENTLY IT WAS a case of not being able to see the forest because of all those leaves in front of our eyes. But the Park-Recreation Board and the Chamber of Commerce tourist committee should be complimented for rather quickly spotting the outlines of the woodlot, once it was called to their attention.

We refer to the proposed improvement of access to the city's far famed—but somehow neglected—landmark, the distinctive Sugar Loaf. Park-recreation commissioners have agreed to survey possible trail routes to the top of the hill, in response to a suggestion by the chamber committee.

The whole thing came about because of an advertisement in an out of town newspaper. The travel ad outlined a suggested sightseeing trip down the Hiawatha Valley, culminating with a proposed climb up the Sugar Loaf heights for the view.

Sensibly enough, committee members and park administrators decided the hill should live up to its advance notices. So now we'll be able to enjoy the walk up scenic paths to the top of our own unique landmark. And about time, too, don't you think?

SPEAKING OF the Park-Recreation Board, its doings have been followed with more interest lately than those of any other two or three city boards you can name.

Today, it's the issue of whether to sell unused property on the south shore of Lake Winona as the site for a luxury motel. Most public opinion seems to favor this, as does a majority of the board.

Commissioners frankly acknowledge they have neither plans nor funds to develop the five acres of quaking, boggy lake shore. On the other hand, by its sale the city gets a reasonable price for otherwise unusable land; adds to, instead of detracts from, our already shrinking and over-loaded tax base; acquires a 50-job payroll; and has an attractive lure for money that in many cases would speed past its doors for other cities.

We shouldn't let this one slip away.

EVER WONDER what all the fuss about tourist promotion means to you personally as a Minnesota taxpayer? Plenty, says the state Department of Business Development, tossing out these facts:

If people stopped coming to Minnesota for vacations, the state would have to attract over 2,000 new businesses—each with a $100,000 payroll—to make up the loss. Last year tourists, together with a tidy group of Minnesotans, put $350 million into the state's economy via the vacation route.

Because each dollar is spent an average of five times, this amount turns into an astronomical amount of business for Minnesota.

That's why it's vital to keep our waters clean, our roads maintained and the welcome mat out and freshly swept.

IF YOU HAVE friends or relatives in overseas service—and who doesn't?—better keep an eye on the calendar. Surface mail to military units in other countries should be dispatched by Nov. 20 to guarantee Christmas delivery. Should you slip up, postal authorities remind us, you can send airmail until Dec. 10 with fair assurance it will arrive by Christmas. Best bet, of course, is not to wait quite that long.

EVERYTHING, ALMOST, is going to color these days. It is not exactly new that experiments have been tried in colored pavements, but two examples come to hand the same day:

A segment of street paving in Grand Rapids, Mich., is being covered with a half-inch-thick top coating in colors to demonstrate the effect. There is an option of green, red and yellow. This is not primarily a study of aesthetics, although it is considered. Rather, it is to study safety factors, such as color paving in freeway lanes where they lead to exit ramps, or stretches of yellow or red to indicate "slow" or "stop."

White asphalt is getting a test on a creek bridge on Iowa Highway 163 east of Des Moines where it is getting this coating applied to a new concrete flooring to test visibility and durability.

Distinctive colors have been applied to airport taxi strips in some airports. Michigan is presently experimenting with tinted bridge structures—all except pink, that is.

Farm Program Needs Changes

By SEN. BARRY GOLDWATER

No area of our economy has been treated with less respect or been more shockingly maligned and abused by political power enthusiasts than American agriculture.

Consider for a moment the impact of politics upon the American farmer.

The ridiculous imbalance of economic concepts has brought American agriculture to a potentially disastrous revamping of its institutional structure. Fundamentally, the farm problem which we are functioning under was developed during a period of economic stress.

Minor changes in this policy notwithstanding, government planners have managed to foist upon us an acceptance of the illusion that the federal government should either fix prices on certain commodities or exert a maximum influence upon them.

During the economic upswing that followed World War II and Korea, the farmers proved a significant and disturbing exception to the rule of general prosperity. The reason for this was that we followed too closely the policies of earlier years. We did not allow for readjustments in the agricultural economy as a result of generally-improved conditions.

CONSEQUENTLY, despite the application of practically every conceivable government program for agriculture, the farmers have been more hurt than helped by Washington-inspired directives.

Added to this bureaucratic confusion, and perhaps aided and abetted by it, is the rapidly-decreasing farm population. How such a confused and deteriorating situation could occur at a time when technological revolution offers so much hope and inspiration is a challenge to us all.

There may be a host of answers to this problem. Not being blessed with an intricate knowledge of farming, I don't pretend to offer any series of formulae which would satisfy the total agricultural needs of our country.

THIS MUCH I can say. A man farms his land in order to provide crops to sell at the marketplace and to reap a maximum of profit for himself. He is, therefore, no different from the shopkeeper, the barber, the restaurant owner or any of the myriad of other types of people who derive their living from the provision of goods and services to the consuming public.

The farmer and his small business counterpart in the urban areas depend for their livelihood upon the laws of supply and demand. Logically, the government's role in their affairs must be a minor one. Subsidy crutches remove them from the competitive pattern of the economy and make of them nothing less than pawns of government.

On the other hand, a minimum of restrictions on farm production and marketing will permit the farmer a maximum of dependence on free markets as the best guide to production and consumption. The truth is that politics and agriculture don't mix. Politics means government, and whenever government starts doing things for people in any walk of life, it automatically and unavoidably takes from them certain rights.

How do you stand, sir?

WHEN YOU WERE DYING —

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

White House Had Orange Alert On During Crisis

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — This is the day when wives and mothers go to the cemeteries from Arlington in Virginia to the Presidio in San Francisco to deck the graves of fallen heroes. It's a day when we pause to pay tribute to those who fought in the Argonne, and at Chateau Thierry, and Guadalcanal; who stormed the beaches at Salerno and marched up the bloody hill at Cassino; who died in the landing at Normandy, and shivered and froze in the tragic retreat from the Yalu River.

Today we will pause — a bit briefly perhaps. The President will lay a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. Then most of us will go on about our work or enjoy a little extra time off thanks to the dead whom we honor.

Those who do kneel at the white markers, those who do pause in memory, will not know that six days before — on last Tuesday during the hold-up on the Berlin autobahn, the White House was on the orange alert. This is the alert just short of war.

One false move last Tuesday, one mistake by the young lieutenant in charge of the American convoy, a loss of temper by the Russian lieutenant colonel—and the button would have been pushed.

Once again the dead and the wounded would have littered the countryside — on two continents, perhaps most of the world — if that button had been pushed.

ONLY THIS time there would have been few, if any, civilians around to nurse the wounded, or bury the dead, or erect markers in memory of the dead—if that button had been pushed. Woodrow Wilson talked about a war to end war. He failed. But last week it would have been a real war to end war — because there would have been few around to fight another war — if that button had been pushed.

In the fall of 1959 after President Eisenhower received Nikita Khrushchev at Camp David, there was proclaimed a new attempt by the world's most powerful nations to clear away Soviet-American suspicion. Both men had suffered in war. Both had known what it was to send masses of other men into battle. Both wanted to avoid war in the future.

Both agreed that their countries would stop name-calling; that Khrushchev would go to Peking to persuade the Chinese to quit threatening Formosa; that they would get together at an early summit conference.

KHRUSHCHEV DID go to Peking. He got rebuffed. Eisenhower took a trip-half way round the world, was welcomed by Communist children waving "I like Ike" flags in Italy.

Then the erosion began. The summit conference was to be held in December. But the State Department said that was too soon. February was mentioned. More postponement. Under Secretary of State Douglas Dillon made a speech. It pulled part of the rug out from under the Camp David spirit. Chancellor Adenauer made speeches. The last thing he wanted was better understanding between the USA and USSR. Other of our allies burned up the cables. They were dependent on U.S. aid, and if there was on fear of Moscow by Washington they knew that aid would stop.

Secretary of State Chris Hertz, influenced by these allies, made another speech. It had repercussions in Moscow. The hard-core Stalinists long before this had been needing the moderates. "You can't trust the Americans," they argued.

Came May, 1960. The long delayed summit conference was about to meet in Paris. Someone in Washington sent the U-2 spy plane over Russia. The Russian people boiled. The summit conference was off.

LAST SUMMER the United States and Russia made a new start toward better understanding. A test ban treaty was signed. A telephone line was installed between Moscow and Washington. It was agreed to keep armed satellites out of outer space. It looked as if a wheat deal would be negotiated.

Then the eroders of peace started to work.

Khrushchev has his enemies inside the Kremlin. Red army leaders haven't enthused over the reduced arms budget. Herr Ulbricht in East Germany has been needing him about Berlin. The Red Chinese have been calling him an appeaser. In Washington the Goldwater-ites have been saying the same things of Kennedy.

Harry Truman, when President of the United States, said, Oct. 4, 1952: "Why did we not have a clear right of way to Berlin? We should have had it. The arrangements were to be worked out by the military commanders in the field. Our commanding general (Eisenhower) was informed of his responsibility to work them out. He delegated this job to Gen. Clay, and left Europe. Gen. Clay met with the Russian military leaders and got only oral assurances, instead of a precise agreement in writing — Gen. Clay in his book admits this was a mistake."

REGARDLESS of whose mistake it was, there are thousands of men under white markers who must wonder whether they will be joined by other men under more white markers all because of an argument over lowering a tailgate or counting 42 men on the Berlin highway.

"We who lie here have nothing left to pray," wrote Alfred Noyes in 1916. "To all your praises we are deaf and blind. We may not even know if you betray our hope to make earth better for mankind."

Clemenceau at the Paris peace conference in 1919 said: "Listen, I can hear the soldiers of 1914 weeping." Today the soldiers of Guadalcanal and Salerno and the Yalu River must be wondering — and weeping.

He'd Let Public Decide on Land Use

To the Editor:

The City Council (with the exception of Clarence Tribbell) has again voted to accept a proposal which I feel should have first been submitted to the citizens of Winona to see if they wanted it. Why cannot actions which concern the entire city be submitted to the voters for their approval or rejection before any final action? Is the City Council indifferent to or afraid of public reaction that they have to act first and let the public be damned?

Among council decisions on matters which might well have first been submitted for citizen approval are the following:

1. Levee Park conversion to parking lots.
2. The rape of Central Park to erect a post office — an architectural disgrace despite President Kennedy's big print political blessing appearing on Main Street during the months of its construction.
3. Selling of city property in our Lake Winona recreation area to the Holiday Inn.
4. Requesting a $77,600 federal planning grant for urban renewal for which the citizens of Winona will have to pay regardless of how this grant is worded.

This city does need a face lifting but I still insist the city can do the job itself without having to pay an outsider $55,000 in addition to the costs. After all, who does the council think will pay except the citizens of Winona?

A big question is beginning to form in my mind as to what individual or group is expecting to personally gain by these "deals."

Recently a statement attributed to a leading local citizen indicated the Holiday Inn should be given city property or at least buy it for one dollar. I am wondering what he expects to or will get for his attitude.

According to a recent Twin City newspaper "William H. Book, executive vice president of the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce addressed the Community Redevelopment Committee of South St. Paul Chamber of Commerce." Quoting this article Book said "the problem of business improving in their own business is not a part of urban renewal or a problem of area residents." "Urban Renewal," he said "is a program of community improvement. However, this business area (Concord Street) is a problem of private enterprise."

Denouncing federal spending for local urban renewal projects, Book said, "when federal officials dish out the money there is a lot of red tape and delay. The job is not as well done and not done as cheaply. It is corruption to destroy the responsibility and incentive of local public officials who should have to account for what they spend and justify its needs in the taxes they levy. It is also corruption to bail out the businessman whose downtown investment has gone sour."

According to Life Magazine—August 16, 1963, "But the pork barrel, by long and cheerful habit, works best in just a few fat-cat categories. By tradition as old as the country, the happiest hunting grounds for the pork barreler have been the public works with its roads, dams, parks, waterways and buildings, and post offices which in acquiring new buildings, has often handed out its largesse with an eye to somebody's political health."

"The 87th Congress appropriated $102 billion — $8.2 billion of this need not and should not have been spent."

"Lease a post office and lose a wad of money—since Teddy Kennedy got into the Senate eight new post offices have been or are being constructed in Massachusetts (towns are listed) and 14 more have been approved for construction." Isn't this plain political pork barrel?

rel at its worst? Yes, but, this coming year sparks the big administrative drive to perpetuate the system of pork barreling.

When will our City Council let the citizens of Winona have a voice in decisions affecting the welfare of Winona?

My congratulations to Clarence Tribbell (only Council member to vote no), Royal Thern, president of Winona Chamber of Commerce and Attorney Martin Beatty who had their own courage of conviction and who can and do speak out on this ever-growing federal government encroachment and expansion.

Answers To Your Questions

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have only one ovary and tube. My doctor tells me it is closed and that I cannot become pregnant. Can anything be done? What causes a tube to close?—Mrs. W. S.

Infection or inflammation, resulting in scarring, is the usual cause of the closing of a tube. Sometimes insulation (blowing air through the tube) is used to determine whether it is open or closed.

Little can be done to open an obstructed tube, although there have been reports of surgical reconstruction. This is a major operation, and many doctors (myself included) are cautious about recommending it because success is not certain, and it may mean substantial cost, not to mention disappointment.

Dear Dr. Molner: In what way is mineral oil harmful, besides destroying Vitamin A? I have a lot of trouble with constipation and the oil seems to help me more than anything else.—Mrs. M. F.

There's no harm, other than in preventing the absorption of some vitamins. I don't like to see anyone get into a laxative habit, but for occasional use mineral oil is all right.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am suffering from a gassy stomach and my doctor tells me it is from swallowing air when I eat and even when I talk. How can I avoid this?—R.N.

Eat slowly. Don't gulp liquids.

When talking, notice whether you have the unconscious habit of pausing between words and taking a "gulp" of air through the mouth. The best way to avoid this is to always breathe through the nose, with the mouth closed. Tense people may also swallow frequently — and this contributes some air.

Winona State College Jazz Band Plays First Concert

By FRANK UHLIG
Daily News Staff Writer

New faces in the ranks and the cohesive effect of consistent rehearsals characterized the Winona State College jazz band in its first public outing of the season Sunday night.

A goodly crowd of Somsen Hall concertgoers was generous with applause for Director Fred Heyer's customary format which calls up old standards, new pops and surprise guests.

WHILE THE large ensemble slid rather easily down its well greased groove, much of the program's excitement was provided by small units. Vocals by Mrs. Alice Scharlow, Rochester, backed up by an impromptu group, were among the high points of the evening. Her versions of "I Only Have Eyes for You" and "Down by the Riverside" were supported by Fred Heyer at piano, Bob Schuh, trumpet; Doug Wood, trombone; Dave Heyer, drums; and Ralph Benicke, bass.

Modern jazz renditions of "Did It Rain" and an unorthodox 5-4 tempo bit were intermission offerings by three Winona Senior High School bandmen. Members of the trio were Dave Heyer, piano; John Durfee, bass; and Jay Epstein, drums.

Appearing with the big band were Bob Schuh, playing "Ciri Biri Bin" as a trumpet solo, and Linda Heyer, who sang "Linda" and "Take Me Out to the Ball Game."

ASIDE FROM Director Heyer's traditional tour de force through the family of reed instruments, solo bits were provided by Gary Urness, trumpet, and Orrin Hager, trombone. Hager's no-nonsense pacing of the section from his first chair made the trombones an outstanding part of the ensemble, although dynamics and balance throughout the band were generally better than adequate.

This was the nearest thing to an all-student band Heyer has fielded in two years and, as such, gives promise of better things. As the football coaches say when the lettermen graduate, this is a building year. The next concert should be even better.

Thompson Trial in Recess

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The murder trial of T. Eugene Thompson, St. Paul attorney accused of plotting the slaying of his wife, was in recess today for the Veterans Day holiday.

The trial, recessed Friday afternoon, will resume Tuesday morning.

Testimony began last week, insurance people telling of policies totaling $1,055,000 taken out by Thompson on the life of his wife, Carol, 34.

In his opening statement, prosecutor William Randall alleged Thompson masterminded the beating - stabbing death to gain the insurance money and to be free to marry another woman, the defendant's former secretary.

Randall is expected Tuesday to take up testimony concerning the fatal attack on Mrs. Thompson in her fashionable St. Paul home March 6.

Boy Swallows Toy Pellet

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A small plastic bullet he inhaled sent a 7-year-old Pine River, Minn., boy to University Hospitals here for an emergency operation.

Dale Knutson was recovering today after the harrowing experience that began Saturday afternoon as he was playing at home with brothers and sisters.

After Dale, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Knutson, swallowed the toy pellet, he began choking. His parents rushed him to a Pine River clinic, where a doctor cut an opening to the windpipe to restore his breathing.

Dale was taken by ambulance to St. Joseph's Hospital in Brainerd and a specialist from St. Cloud was flown there. He could not dislodge the bullet, which was in one of the bronchial tubes, so Dale was taken to Minneapolis, two nurses accompanying him in the ambulance.

Surgeons at University Hospitals performed a 4½ hour operation early Sunday morning and recovered the pellet.

Last week the doctor and his assistant, Dr. James Dougherty, moved into his all-modern veterinary office and clinic. Larson's office, which has been in his home several years, has been closed.

The front is brick with large windows of crescent glass block on either side of the door. The building is oil heated.

Looking to Bears, Pack Nearly Forgets Vikings

Roach Leads 28-7 Victory With Passing

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — What does it take to fire up a bunch of old pros? Just mention Chicago Bears to the Green Bay Packers.

"All the marbles," said middle linebacker Ray Nitschke with a grin as he looked ahead to next Sunday's game at Chicago.

Although riding an eight-game winning streak, the Packers still are smarting from an opening season defeat by the Bears. The defending National Football League champions want revenge.

The Packers, a proud, spirited unit, were caught with their sights set too far ahead, but settled down Sunday for a 28-7 victory over the Minnesota Vikings as John Roach fired three touchdown passes.

That set the stage for a showdown with the Bears at Wrigley

TOO MUCH TEAMWORK... Green Bay Packer linebacker Ray Nitschke (66) watches the football intended for Bob Reed (27) of the Minnesota Vikings who fell trying for the ball (far left). Nitschke

Field. The two teams are tied with 8-1 records and the Western Division title may ride on the outcome of the renewal of an ancient rivalry.

"We can rise to the occasion," said fullback Jim Taylor, although stunned by a Minnesota defense which held him to a mere 37 yards in 18 carries.

Obviously looking ahead to the Bears, the Packers managed only 60 yards and a 7-7 halftime standoff with the upstart Vikings. However, they settled down to the business at hand after intermission, and piled up 304 yards in the last two periods while extending their winning streak.

Roach, making the most of his substitute service, clicked on scoring passes of 12 yards to Marv Fleming, 20 yards to Boyd Dowler, and 45 yards to Tom Moore. Zeke Bratkowski, obtained on waivers from Los Angeles two weeks ago, then took over and finished with a 10-yard payoff loss to Moore.

It was a fight until midway through the fourth quarter; however, and the Vikings had the opportunities to make things even tougher on the Packers.

The Vikings went after the Packers with a vengeance born of the frustration of the near upset in the Twin Cities three weeks previous.

Minnesota stormed 48 yards to the Green Bay 39 only to have the drive bog the first time they got the ball. Then Steve Stonebreaker recovered a Tom Moore fumble on the Packer 26, but the Vikings blew this one when Fran Tarkenton barely missed hitting flanker Bobby Reed with a certain touchdown pass.

The Vikings finally got on the board — and led the Packers for the first time in their history — when Tarkenton hit Paul Flatley with an 18-yard scoring pass before the first quarter ended. A 62-yard pass from Tarkenton to Flatley set that one up.

The Minnesotans appeared to be launching another drive early in the second period, when Hank Gremminger — the villain of the Viking near-miss last month — intercepted a Tarkenton pass. The Packers drove to the tying touchdown, with Roach hitting Fleming on the 12-yarder.

That's the way it stood at halftime. The Packers finally wore down the Viking pass defense in the second half to win handily.

"We stopped Taylor," Viking Coach Norm Van Brocklin said stonily in the dressing room. "but offensively we didn't do anything and that was the story of the game. I don't mean the offensive line didn't do anything, either."

Van Brocklin had high praise for his defense. "We played well enough on defense to win," he said. "Those last two touchdowns were gifts."

Had Utah beaten New Mexico in football last fall, all five eligible teams would have tied for the Western Athletic Conference title.

U.S. Hockey Team Trimmed To 36 Players

SOUTH ST. PAUL (AP) —

Coach Eddie Jeremiah of the United States Olympic hockey team Sunday trimmed his squad to 36 players. The 36 include 21 candidates from the western tryout camp here, plus 15 from the eastern training sessions in Boston.

The western group comprises two goalies, six defensemen and 13 forwards. Nineteen of the western players are from Minnesota. Michigan and Wisconsin each contributed one.

The 36 candidates will work out twice daily here, starting today. Another cut will be made Nov. 18, after east-west intrasquad games in South St. Paul on Nov. 16 and in St. Paul on Nov. 17.

The Olympians' first domestic game will be Nov. 22 at Rochester, Minn. The squad leaves for Europe on Jan. 3.

FRANK BEARD — THE WINNER

Sinatra Meet Aids Needy Youngster

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) —

The announced purpose of Frank Sinatra's $50,000 golf tournament was to help needy youngsters.

Already it's helped one — the guy who got the winner's purse.

Frank Beard, an obscure, 24-year-old Kentuckian, birdied two of his last three holes Sunday, shot a two-under-par 69 and won the first Sinatra Invitational Open by a single stroke.

Sinatra gave him a check for $9,000, which is $61.02 more than Beard had won in all his previous tournaments combined.

Beard, who never entered the national amateur tournament because he never had enough money, has been playing professionally a year.

Jerry Steelsmith, who got $4,600 for finishing second, isn't exactly up to his eyeballs in currency either. Steelsmith, whose wife is expecting a second child, ranked 56th among 1963 PGA money winners with $11,109.56 coming into the Sinatra event.

Beard's 72-hole score of 68-72-69-69-278 was six under par. Steelsmith was five under at 70-71-69-69 — 279. Dow Finsterwald and Mason Rudolph finished at 280 and won $2,800 each and Al Geiberger picked up $2,300 with a 282. Only 10 players finished under even-par-284.

Proceeds of the tournament, which sponsors hope to make an annual event, go to the Frank Sinatra Foundation, established to aid youth groups.

Officers will be elected. Current officers are Harold Andre, president; David Hooley, vice president; Mrs. Lambert Tullius, treasurer; Richard Tullius, secretary; and Lambert Lilla, director. Holdover directors are Leonard Kulas and James Wicka.

ONLY UNBEATEN MAJOR COLLEGE TEAM

Texas Ends 2nd-Half Drought

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer Oh, those things college football coaches say before a game. Darrell Royal, coach of the country's top-ranked Texas Longhorns, said before the Baylor game Saturday "I just don't know if we lack the killer instinct or what, but by not scoring in the second half we've had to sweat out some games we thought we had wrapped up."

Result: The Longhorns tallied in the second half to beat Baylor 7-0 for their eighth straight victory. They became the country's only major unbeaten, untied team as Princeton and Auburn fell by the wayside.

Now Royal says "I am still scared" of the Texas Christian Horned Frogs who play the Longhorns this Saturday. In a similar situation in 1961 the Horned Frogs pulled a 6-0 upset and knocked Texas out of the No. 1 ranking in The Associated Press poll.

"I think that victory will help Texas Christian this time," Royal said in expanding on his "I am scared" theme. "Winning one like that makes you confident that you can do it again."

Perhaps, but TCU lost to Louisiana State Saturday 28-14.

One thing at least seems certain. Royal will stick to his "three yards and a cloud of dust" style of play. The Longhorns ground out 242 yards by rushing against Baylor and showed a "killer instinct" in rushing Don Trull, the nation's leading thrower, whenever he faded back to pass.

Trull did complete 19 of 39 for 204 yards, but he was hurried on most every throw. And he suffered a vital interception in the last 29 seconds when Duke Carlisle, the Texas QB, grabbed the ball out of the hands of Baylor's Lawrence Elkins in the end zone.

Mississippi State toppled fifth-ranked Auburn from the unbeaten, untied ranks on Justin Canale's 36-yard field goal with 22 seconds left, 13-10. Harvard spoiled Princeton's perfect slate with a 21-7 upset.

Illinois and Ohio State, ranked in the Top Ten, also took it on the chin. Illinois, No. 2, went down before Michigan, 14-8, and Ohio State, No. 10, fell before Penn State's Nittany Lions, 10-7, on a 23-yard field goal by Ron Coates.

The others in the top ten won impressively. Mississippi, No. 3, trampled Tampa 41-0; Navy No. 4, crushed Maryland 42-7; Oklahoma, No. 6, whipped Iowa State 24-14; Pitt, No. 8, walloped Notre Dame 27-7; and Michigan State, No. 9, blanketed Purdue 23-0, to take the lead in the race for the Big Ten title and the Rose Bowl, Alabama, No. 7, had an open date.

AND CLEVELAND FELL 9-7

Schmitz Stopped Mr. Brown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

You're Cleveland quarterback Frank Ryan. You're leading 7-0 in the third quarter, but it's second down with the ball on your own three-yard line.

What do you do?

Sure. You give it to Jimmy Brown.

Well, you, Ryan, Brown and Coach Blanton Collier agree.

So does Pittsburgh linebacker Bob Schmitz, who diagnosed the pitch-out, knifed through and slammed Brown to the ground for a safety that propelled the Steelers to a 9-7 victory over Cleveland Sunday in the top upset on the National Football League program.

"Ryan had one chance to call the play," said Collier. "I think it was called right. You should be able to execute a play anywhere on the field."

"I just got trapped in the end zone," said Brown, "that was all."

That was all for Cleveland. Pittsburgh took it from there, and scored the clinching touchdown in the fourth quarter on a nine-yard pass to Gary Ballman, a reserve receiver scoring his first touchdown in two years of NFL play.

The loss dropped the Browns into a first-place tie in the Eastern Conference with the New York Giants, who brought their record to 7-2 as Y. A. Tittle passed for three touchdowns in an easy 42-14 triumph over Philadelphia.

Green Bay and Chicago, meanwhile, remained in a tie for the Western Division lead with 8-1 records. The whole issue may be settled when the two teams meet Sunday in Chicago.

The Packers broke a 7-7 tie in the second half as John Roach passed for two of his three, touchdown passes and a 28-7 victory over Minnesota. The Bears ran into even more difficulty, edging Los Angeles 6-0 on two field goals by Roger LeClerc.

St. Louis rode three touchdown passes by Charley Johnson to a 24-20 victory over Washington. San Francisco's Lamar McHan hit for three scoring strikes in a 31-24 triumph over Dallas and Jim Martin's field goal proved the difference as Baltimore edged Detroit 24-21.

A record crowd of 54,497 turned out at Pittsburgh for the Steelers-Browns clash. Cleveland scored first, moving ahead 7-0 in the second period when Ryan fired a four-yard touchdown pass to Gary Collins. Then Brown, who was held to eight yards in the second half after gaining 92 in the first, was caught in the end zone.

Tittle completed 16 of 20 passes for 261 yards before rookie Glynn Griffith took over for the Giants and added to the Eagles' miseries with a 22-yard TD toss to Del Shofner.

The Bears completely contained the Rams, holding Los Angeles to 88 yards on stout defensive work by Earl Leggett.

Johnson broke the Cardinals' team record when he connected for his 18th touchdown pass, a 14-yarder to Sonny Randle in the fourth quarter that proved decisive.

WAITING AT THE ALTAR

St. John's Awaits NAIA Invitation

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) —

St. John's University's football team was still sitting at the altar waiting for the bridegroom to appear this morning.

Last year, the Johnnies were left in the lurch in a similar situation.

St. John's has finished its regular football season with an 8-0 record, and the Minnesota Intercollegiate Conference championship.

The Johnnies have been told by National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics officials to sit tight, that a bid to compete in the NAIA's post-season playoffs to determine a national small college champion is certain to be offered.

Coach John Gagliardi thought the NAIA would let the school know Sunday. He received no word. The NAIA headquarters in Kansas City was silent.

In 1962, St. John's wound up 9-0 and waited patiently in anticipation of the NAIA bid. Instead, the organization picked Northern State of South Dakota to represent this region.

Gagliardi isn't critical of the NAIA's selection last year, but he'll be keenly disappointed if his Johnnies are ignored again.

"I don't see how they can pass us by this year," he said Sunday.

Gagliardi is trying to sell the NAIA on the idea of matching St. John's against Kearney (Neb.) State or some other foe in the University of Minnesota's Memorial Stadium this Saturday afternoon.

"We've already made arrangements with the university for use of the stadium," he said. "All that we need is the go-ahead from the NAIA. We'd like to go ahead and play Saturday, because it will be about our last chance to use the stadium. Minnesota plays at home the following week, and after that would be too late."

Some People Just Lucky

NEW YORK (AP) —

Some men go a lifetime and never hit the jackpot with a good race horse. But 55-year-old Robert W. Wilson, Louisiana and Texas oilman, waited only 10 years and Dave Erb, one-time jockey, just three.

OLYMPIC COMMITTEE REVERSES DECISION

AAU Gains in Struggle For Amateur Athletics

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Olympic Committee is expected to adopt new voting rules today that would further strengthen the Amateur Athletic Union in its struggle with the colleges, already a loser after only one roll call vote in the two-day proceedings.

The changes to be voted on today would give the AAU an even bigger margin over the National Collegiate Athletic Association on the Olympic Committee.

The first showdown came Sunday when the Olympic Committee reversed its board of directors in a dispute over international baseball. It was a clear victory for the AAU in its battle with the NCAA for control of amateur sports.

Off Sunday's show of muscle, the AAU figures have little difficulty getting passage of the voting changes. Also on today's agenda is an amendment permitting President Kennedy to name three members of the Olympic Committee's board of directors.

The AAU represents the United States on nine international federations. It has been locked in a feud with the NCAA which seeks to replace the AAU on several federations.

The AAU-NCAA power struggle threatened to wreck U.S. Olympic hopes in Tokyo next year that will postpone the fracas until after the 1964 Olympics.

The AAU-NCAA feud flared Sunday in a vote over recommendation of the committee's board of directors that a newly formed federation represent the United States on the International Association of Baseball Federations.

Committee President Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson explained that the board had asked that the federation be formed because baseball was not an Olympic sport. He said the committee joined the international body only because it sent baseball teams to the Pan American games.

On an almost straight AAU vs. NCAA vote, the board of directors was reversed and the committee voted 422 to 249 to study the matter two more years.

Michigan State Has Inside Road To Big 10 Title

CHICAGO (AP) — The Spartans of Michigan State have the inside track towards the Big Ten championship and the coveted Rose Bowl bid but Ohio State and Illinois remain strong contenders for both title and the trip.

Michigan State's 23-0 victory

BIG TEN CONFERENCE

Team	W	L	T	Pct.
Michigan State	4	0	1	.909
Ohio State	3	0	1	.750
Illinois	3	0	1	.750
Wisconsin	3	1	0	.750
Michigan	2	2	1	.500
Iowa	2	2	1	.500
Purdue	2	2	1	.500
Northwestern	1	3	0	.333
Indiana	1	3	0	.333
Minnesota	1	3	0	.333

over Purdue left the Spartans in the position of needing only a victory over Illinois Nov. 16 to gain at least a share of the title and represent the Big Ten in Pasadena New Year's Day.

Michigan State took the league lead with a 4-0-1 record while Illinois fumbled away its glorious opportunity in a 14-8 loss to Michigan. Ohio State dropped a 10-7 decision to Penn State but is still undefeated in the conference with a 3-0-1 record. Illinois is third with a 3-1-1 mark.

Michigan State plays Notre Dame Saturday and conceivably could wrap up matters should Ohio State and Illinois both lose. The Buckeyes take on dangerous Northwestern and Illinois will be at Wisconsin. The Badgers broke a two-game losing streak with a 17-14 victory over Northwestern.

One more defeat in the final two games will eliminate Illinois from all title consideration. However, if Illinois defeats both Wisconsin and MSU, the Illini could possibly win title if Ohio State should falter against either Northwestern or Michigan. Ohio State can be the Rose Bowl representative only if it wins the title outright. A tie with Michigan State, who like Ohio State has a six-game conference schedule compared to seven for Illinois, would eliminate the Buckeyes for bowl consideration since Ohio State went after the 1957 season.

Michigan State's last bowl appearance came after the 1955 season when the Spartans finished second to Ohio State which had gone to the bowl the previous season. Big Ten teams cannot make successive bowl appearances.

All the other teams have been eliminated from bowl and title considerations. Iowa defeated Minnesota 27-13 Saturday and Indiana came up with a 20-15 decision over Oregon State giving the Hoosiers a three-game streak, their longest since 1958. Saturday's schedule finds Illinois at Wisconsin, Iowa at Michigan, Minnesota at Purdue, Northwestern at Ohio State, Indiana at Oregon and Notre Dame, hubbed by Pitt 27-7, will be at Michigan State.

The season winds up the following Saturday with Illinois at Michigan State. Ohio State at Michigan, Purdue at Indiana, Wisconsin at Minnesota and Notre Dame at Iowa.

Howe Finally Sets Record With No. 545

DETROIT (AP) — Gordie Howe and the Detroit Red Wings ended two long weeks of frustration Sunday when the All-Star right winger scored a record-setting 545th career goal in a 3-0 National Hockey League victory over Montreal.

Howe's goal, the third scored in the second period by the Red Wings, came with Detroit's Alex Faulkner in the penalty box. The crowd of 15,027 rose to its feet when the red light went on behind Montreal goalie Charlie Hodge and gave Howe a seven minute ovation.

The goal broke the record of Montreal's Maurice (The Rocket) Richard, who had 544 in 18 NHL seasons. Howe currently is in his 18th season.

Howe tied Richard's mark two weeks ago against the Canadiens. Since that time, the Red Wings were able to win only one of five games—that a 1-0 triumph over New York last Thursday.

While Howe was getting all of the attention for his goal, Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk quietly moved into a tie for most career shutouts (94) with former Toronto and Montreal netminder George Hainsworth. Sawchuk also has 10 shutouts in Stanley Cup play.

The game was one of two played in the NHL Sunday. In the other one, Boston ended Chicago's 11-game unbeaten streak with a 4-2 victory. The last-place Bruins got 43 shots at reserve goaltender Denis DeJordy, who was pressed into action because Glenn Hall was sidelined with a stomach disorder.

Blanda Stars As Houston Tips Jets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was George Blanda's week to throw to his teammates.

The veteran quarterback of the Houston Oilers escaped without an interception while completing 19 passes against the New York Jets, and added a vital field goal in a 31-27 Houston victory Sunday.

The week before, the Boston Patriots had intercepted six passes thrown by Blanda, slaughtered the Oilers 45-3 and moved into a first place tie in the Eastern Division of the American Football League.

The Oilers moved back out front alone with a 6-4 mark, as the Patriots were dropped by the San Diego Chargers 7-6 in the other AFL Sunday game. Boston is 5-5.

Buffalo jumped into second place with a 5-4-1 slate, after a 27-17 victory over Denver Saturday night. The Bills have won five of their last six after a dismal start.

The Oakland Raiders handed the defending champion Kansas City Chiefs their fifth straight loss, 22-7, in a Friday night game.

The Oilers-Jets game was a wild one, with four touchdowns—two by each team—in the last four minutes.

Rookie Bill Baird ran 93 yards on a punt return with 3:40 left in the game to put the Jets in front 21-17. The Oilers struck back for two touchdowns to take the game back.

Bill Tobin carried over from the four for one touchdown, his third of the game, and Blanda threw seven yards to Charley Hennigan for the other. The Jets got one touchdown back, but tried for a two-point conversion and failed.

State Colleges Hold Big Edge Over Out-Staters

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With only one game remaining, Minnesota's colleges have compiled a 31-19-4 football record against out-state foes this season for a winning percentage of 61.1.

Leading the way were Minnesota Morris and Bethel of the Pioneer Conference, who between them ran up a 9-4-0 mark against out-state opposition. Then came the northern Intercollegiate Conference's state colleges, who finished 11-7-1, Carleton and St. Olaf of the Midwest Conference who were 8-5-1 and the Minnesota Intercollegiate at 3-3-2.

The only game remaining on the slate of any of the teams finds St. Thomas of the MIAC at St. Norbert, Wis., this Saturday.

St. Cloud State, Carleton and Bethel upheld state pride Saturday, but otherwise it was a dismal day for Minnesota teams. St. Cloud whipped Concordia of Nebraska 26-13, Carleton belted Monmouth 46-0, and Bethel of St. Paul mauled Jamestown, N.D., 65-0.

On the debit side, Grinnell cracked St. Olaf 26-7, Northern Michigan pounced on out-clasped Macalester 49-8, Mankato bowed to Illinois Normal 7-6, Western of Iowa tied Hamline 7-7 and Augsburg and River Falls, Wis., battled to a 21-21 standoff.

In intra-state warfare, Concordia belted cross-town rival Moorhead State 37-6. Against non-conference opponents, the MIAC stands 7-4-2 with the one game left. Concordia's win over Moorhead gave the MIAC a 3-0 record with the Northern Intercollegiate this season.

The NIC wound up 13-7-1 against non-conference foes, rolling up most of its margin against Wisconsin opponents.

GOLDEN GLOVES NEEDS SPONSOR

Jimi Mullen, the man in charge of the Winona Golden Gloves boxing program, said this morning that a sponsor for the program is needed.

"The Catholic Recreational Center has donated its facilities," he said. "But right now we need a sponsor. We need equipment for the boys we have out."

Mullen expects at least 30 boys to attend tonight's workout. In that group will be four former champs.

Anyone interested in sponsoring or helping to sponsor the local program may contact John Van Hoof, who is in charge of finances.

Also helping Mullen this year is former pro fighter John Bell and former Golden Gloves champ Joe Ives.

Several local fighters will be on a Chaffield card Nov. 23 and Mullen hopes a card can be held here early in December.

STANGE TO BE AT WESTGATE

Lee Stange, Minnesota Twins pitcher who also excels as a bowler, will conduct a clinic for adults and juniors at Westgate Bowl Thursday, Paul Gardner, owner-manager, announced this morning.

Stange, who won the Major League Baseballers Bowling Tournament, will conduct a clinic for juniors between 3-5 p.m. Thursday and meet with the adults from 5-6 o'clock.

In addition, he will speak at St. Mary's Grade School in the morning and St. Stan's in the afternoon.

Halas: Don't Like What's Ahead for Us

CHICAGO (AP) — "I'm glad that one's behind us," said owner-coach George Halas of the Chicago Bears "but I don't like seeing what's ahead of us."

Halas' comments concerned his club's narrow 6-0 victory over the Los Angeles Rams Sunday and the upcoming football game against the Green Bay Packers next Sunday. Green Bay defeated Minnesota 28-7 Sunday.

The Bears, who defeated the Packers 10-3 in the season opener, are tied with Green Bay for the Western Division lead in the National Football League. Each club has an 8-1 record and the upcoming game could determine the divisional championship.

For the Bears, it was the same story it has been all season in their triumph over the Rams. The defense did it again. Six times this year the Bear defense, which Halas considers the best in his club's history, has held the opposition to one touchdown or less while the offense throughout the season has been erratic.

Asked if the Bear offense was looking ahead to the Green Bay game, Halas shook his head negatively. "We didn't mention Green Bay all week. We tried to get the offense up but it did not work. We can't play that way against Green Bay and win. That much I know."

"I have to be careful of what I say this week," said Halas. "Green Bay is coming here to prove their loss to us was a mistake."

2 More Dead In Minnesota Auto Mishaps

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A young man and a middle-aged woman, both from southeastern Minnesota, died in separate traffic accidents this week-end.

The deaths raised the 1963 Minnesota traffic toll to 696, compared with 592 deaths through this date last year.

Patrick Hrdlicka, 21, rural Rochester, was killed and Jerome Matzke, 20, also of rural Rochester, was injured seriously Sunday when they were thrown from a car as it went out of control and overturned south of Dover, about 15 miles east of Rochester. Hrdlicka's head was crushed when the car landed on top of him.

Mrs. J. E. Zachrisson, 57, Albert Lea, was killed and her neighbor, Mrs. Wayne Walk, 47, suffered severe head injuries in a three-vehicle crash southwest of Albert Lea Saturday.

Officers said a Jefferson Lines bus slowed because of poor visibility, resulting from smoke from grass fires, and the women's small car crashed into the rear of the bus. A semi-trailer truck then struck the rear of the car. The drivers escaped injury, as did the bus passengers.

Mrs. Rosella Dahl, 23, Pipestone, was killed Saturday night when a pickup truck upset at Flandreau, S.D.

New Jersey Boy Dead In Slide

RINGWOOD, N.J. (AP) — Work crews today began the dangerous task of trying to recover the body of a youth who was hurled to the bottom of an abandoned mine shaft in an earth slide.

Police said the victim, Harry Van Dunk, 15, of Ringwood, was playing with two friends Sunday near the rim of a slope leading to the shaft when the earth, loosened by rains, began to slide. The other youths, Arthur Milligan, 11, and Randall Milligan, 13, scrambled to safety.

Van Dunk was thrown backward and down the 100-foot shaft. Police estimated he was buried by 200 tons of muck.

Viet Nam Has Other Problems

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The generals in South Viet Nam solved one set of problems when they threw out President Ngo Dinh Diem and his troublesome brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, both of whom were killed. But there are others.

The brothers, after nine years in power, never solved them. Now it's the turn of the generals who are running the country. Will they be able to?

Steer it in a democratic direction? Diem didn't. His was a dictatorship. Wage successful war against the Communists? Diem didn't. Avoid conflicts, intrigues, jealousies, explosions? Diem didn't.

Will the generals, through reforms and programs of benefit, be able to give the masses of Viet Nam a reason for caring who wins? Diem didn't. The

But the shootings brought the Buddhists' complaints to a head. They demanded improved social and economic status.

And then, as he had listened to a voice coming to him over more than 400 years, a 73-year-old Buddhist priest, Quang Duc, drenched in gasoline, lit a match and burned himself to death in protest against Diem's policies.

In England 400 years ago, Catholic Queen Mary set out to repress the Protestants. One of their leaders, Bishop Hugh Latimer, was condemned to death by burning at the stake.

As he walked to his death at Oxford in 1555 he said "we shall this day light such a candle, by God's grace, as shall never be put out." It wasn't. When the Protestants regained power, they persecuted the Catholics.

The burning monk in Viet Nam shocked the world, pointed up for all to see as perhaps nothing else could the dilemma of the Buddhists, and encouraged other Buddhists to sacrifice themselves, too.

Seven of them made candles of themselves before the general's devastated Diem and his brother Nov. 1.

The Vietnamese people never have known democracy. They moved from French colonialism into Diem's dictatorship. Since they never had a chance to practice it, it can't mean to them what it does to those who grew up under it.

It can be no surprise then if the generals ignore the democratic road and operate as a dictatorship. If so, there can be no surprise if the country sinks into chaos under the weight of new repressions and power struggles.

The new government in Viet Nam, even if it wins the fighting war, will have to find an answer to offset the Communist promises. The answer lies in programs of benefit to give the masses a reason for not choosing communism.

Tying spending limitation to bill.

Dirksen — Exactly how you enforce it? How do you set it up in order to give it real effect? My experience with ceilings over a long period of time leads me to believe that you have some difficulty there.

Smathers — We are the ones here in Congress who will determine the amount of appropriations. It's not done in the executive branch of the government.

The effect of a tax cut made in an election year:

Dirksen — One would normally think that if a tax cut could be well-propagandized in an election year it might have some political benefit. But people are pretty well insured to these dodges in our political system and perhaps its effect will not be as great as one might anticipate.

Smathers — I don't believe it will make a great deal of difference, generally speaking, because in this instance, most of the Republicans are supporting the tax bill.

Will a tax reduction lift the economy sufficiently to balance the budget in a couple of years?

Smathers — I firmly believe that, as does the business advisory group and most other business groups.

Dirksen — It'll have some effect, but in my judgment not nearly as much as anticipated.

Ettrick Man Notes His 94th Birthday

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special) — The 94th birthday of George Berger was observed Friday.

Mr. Berger was born at Eidsvoll, Norway, Nov. 8, 1869. He came to this country with his parents while he was a small child. He married Olive Carlson at Black River Falls Sept. 21, 1904. The couple observed their golden wedding anniversary in 1954.

Mr. and Mrs. Berger were engaged in farming in the Lee community in the South Beaver Creek valley until 1951, when they retired, purchasing a home in Ettrick. They have no children. Berger is the last of his family. He is active, and takes his exercise by splitting wood. He is seen on the Ettrick streets every day.

The Bergers are members of South Beaver Creek Lutheran Church.

Good Times Seen Despite Tax Bill Action

By JOE HALL and JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Everett M. Dirksen and George A. Smathers were confident the economy will continue operating in high gear even if there is no tax cut until 1964.

Dirksen, Senate Republican leader, and Smathers, Floridian who is secretary of the Democratic Conference, agreed in an interview that there is no economic downturn in sight.

President Kennedy has been pressing for Senate action on the House-passed $11-billion tax reduction bill to spur business. Smathers remained hopeful but Dirksen said it won't come until 1964.

The Republican leader said he thought it was rather thin and tenuous to contend that tax reduction would have an immediate effect on the economy. He indicated he is not worried by the delay in action.

Smathers said he doesn't believe there will be an economic downturn this year. But he said business leaders and economists remained concerned that if taxes are not cut soon "we would begin to experience a downturn in the early part of next year."

Their views, in brief, on other issues in connection with the tax bill now in the hands of the Senate Finance Committee, of which both are members:

Dirksen — Exactly how you enforce it? How do you set it up in order to give it real effect? My experience with ceilings over a long period of time leads me to believe that you have some difficulty there.
