U2 Crashes After Cuban Mission

Story of Killing Retold for Jury

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Signs that Mrs. Carol Thompson may have waged a desperate battle for her life were sketched today for the jury trying her husband for her murder.

Another round of police testimony told of the woman's bedroom in shambles, articles spilled in the bathroom and another bloody knife in the kitchen.

The matter-of-fact testimony didn't say so specifically, but it appeared the state was trying to nail down its theory that the man hired by defendant T. Eugene Thompson botched his murder assignment.

Theodore Elzerman of the St. Paul police laboratory told of the wrecked and bloodstained bedroom, a planter knocked over, the night lock chain pulled partly out of the wall near the front door.

Elzerman added additional testimony that there was four or five inches of lukewarm water in the bathtub, bloodstains on the bathroom sink and blood in the master bedroom, where drawers were dumped on the floor.

Elzerman said he was asked to look for a sum of money in the top drawer of a basement filing cabinet, but found none. Prosecutor William Randall has told the jury Thompson told police there might have been $4,000 in the house. Randall said this was not true but that Thompson had 44 $100 bills in his own office on the day of the murder.

The police witness told of finding a .32 caliber revolver in the basement filing cabinet.

In the kitchen, he said, was a large butcher knife bearing blood stains and two smaller knives removed from their place in a drawer. Earlier testimony told of a broken knife removed from the neck of the victim.

Wednesday's testimony drew for jurors word pictures of the bathroom and bedroom, and suggested the killer washed blood off his hands before leaving.

Two policemen who were first at the Thompson home after the killing last March 6 told jurors what they saw. Their testimony came after a 12-inch length of hose, a paring knife which broke off in the victim's neck, and the German Luger allegedly used to pistol-whip her had been received in evidence.

Det. Ernest H. Williams, corroborated by Theodore Elzerman, head of the police crime laboratory, said they found Mrs. Thompson's bedroom in disarray and saw numerous bloodstains both inside and outside the house.

Prosecutor William Randall asked Williams to describe the scene.

"The radio was playing and a light on one night stand in the bedroom was burning," replied the witness. "There was a mop across the bed and a newspaper and a pair of glasses lying on it."

"Drawers on what appeared to be a master chest in a closet all were pulled out and their contents strewn about the floor."

"Blood, or some red substance was noted on several items that came from the drawers. We checked the bathroom and found the tub partially filled. Near the taps of the bathroom sink were red smears."

The state charges that plans to make the death appear an accident went awry when Mrs. Thompson apparently violently resisted her attacker.

Elzerman testified that he also had observed "red stains" in fresh snow leading away from the front door of the Thompson home. He said the stains, later determined to have been blood, were made by large-sized overshoes or rubbers.

John J. Marcado, a police sergeant, said he found two pools of blood when he entered the home. He testified that he saw a live bullet in one pool, the broken handle of a knife in the other.

Earlier, Mrs. Harry Nelson, a neighbor, told the court about the dying woman, barefoot and in only a housecoat, coming to her door for help.

"Help me, I have a knife in my throat," were the victim's first words, the witness said. She added that Mrs. Thompson's face had been so battered and bloody that the Nelson family—her husband and son were home—did not recognize their neighbor at first.

In one of his few showings of emotion, Thompson appeared visibly shaken and placed his hand-gripped knuckles to his face during Mrs. Nelson's testimony.

Cambodian Envoy Denies Swing to Reds

By SPENCER DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cambodia has not turned its back on the West in asking a termination of American military and economic aid, Ambassador Mong Kimmy said today.

The veteran diplomat said he assured the State Department that Cambodia's chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, has no intention of rushing into the arms of the Communists.

"All we want is to be left alone," Kimmy said in an interview. "Let our friends judge us by the success or failure of our policies."

"They see a war in South Viet Nam and they see civil strife in Laos while in Cambodia they see we have peace."

Kimmy has represented his country here for 11 years and played leading roles in the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina and the 1961-62 Geneva conference which established the neutrality of Laos.

Sihanouk has no plan to ask for military aid from Communist China, Kimmy said, but Peking may be asked to send "a few technical experts — not military."

"In our agreement on military aid with the United States there is a provision that Cambodia must not receive aid from any of the Socialist countries," the ambassador said. "In point of fact, this meant we were not neutral."

For this reason, he said, Sihanouk has decided he would not ask for Peking's military assistance because such an appeal "means that Cambodia would then become a satellite of the Soviet bloc."

Hawaii Talks On Viet Nam Concluded

By MALCOLM BARR

HONOLULU (AP) — South Viet Nam's change in government won't affect the United States attitude in the troubled Southeast Asia country, the U.S. State Department says.

Reporting on Wednesday's top-level meeting of diplomatic and military officials in Honolulu, Robert Manning assistant secretary of state for public affairs, said the meeting produced no proposals for major changes in U.S. policy in Viet Nam. He said he sees no changes in economic aid "in the foreseeable future."

The conference drew together Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, Gen. Maxwell Taylor, head of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Maj. Gen. Paul D. Harkins, head of the U.S. military advisory group in Viet Nam; Adm. Harry D. Felt, Pacific military commander, and other top-drawer civilian and military officials from Saigon, Washington, D.C., and Honolulu.

McNamara left Wednesday night for Washington immediately after the meeting to report to President Kennedy.

Manning's report described the day-long sessions as "more of a discussion than an arrival at a full set of finished decisions."

Congo to Break With Russians

By ROBIN MANNOCK

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Premier Cyrille Adoula is preparing to break diplomatic ties with the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia and expel their diplomats from the Congo, government sources said today.

The sources said Adoula would shortly publish documents, seized from two Soviet diplomats arrested Tuesday, which showed deep involvement of the two Communist countries in subversion in the Congo.

The sources said expulsion letters to the Russians and the Czechs were being readied by the Foreign Ministry. The final decision on when to deliver them is up to Adoula, they added.

Soviet Embassy officials reported that a Russian newspaperman was arrested at his hotel Wednesday night. He was Benik Beknazar, Juzbachev, correspondent of the Soviet Novosti news agency who arrived recently in Leopoldville.

The Soviet officials said they still had received no news of the two diplomats who were dragged from their car and arrested two days ago.

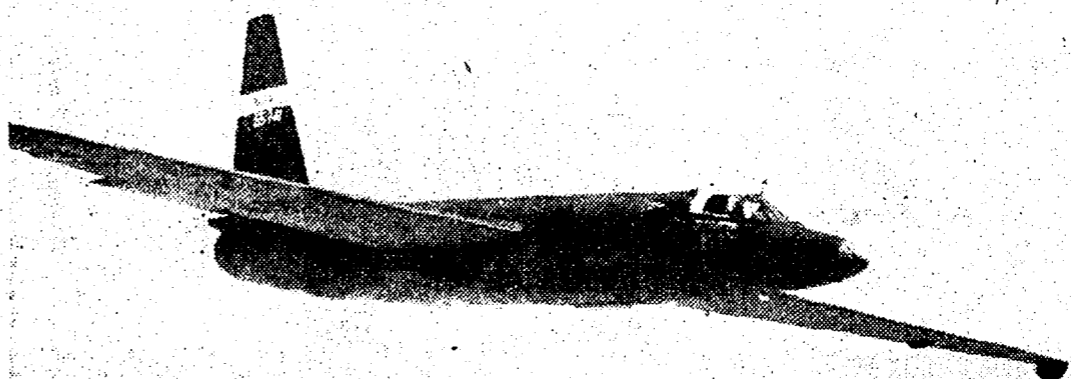

The two, embassy counsellor Boris Voronin and press attache Yuri Miakotnykh, were arrested on their return from Brazzaville, capital of the neighboring Congo Republic, rose to 150.

24 Killed In Caracas

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — At least 24 persons have been killed and 84 wounded in Caracas in the last two days of a stepped-up pro-Castro terrorist campaign to block the Dec. 1 presidential election.

Caracas residents who stayed off the streets Tuesday ventured out again Wednesday. Some were caught in the cross-fire between troops and terrorist snipers.

Bombings and other violence also were reported in the interior. Arrests of terrorists rose to 150.

Senators Hear Blonde Widow In Baker Probe

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — A blonde widow who fell heir to a partnership with Robert G. Baker in ownership of a plush resort motel went before the Senate ate Rules Committee today for questioning about his business dealings.

She is Mrs. Gertrude (Trudy) Novak, mother of two and an employee of the Senate Small Business Committee for the last 13 years.

Behind the closed doors of the Rules Committee, Mrs. Novak was to be questioned about the motel venture and other transactions in which Baker had a part.

Baker, 35, resigned as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority after allegations of conflict of interest. Mrs. Novak's husband, Alfred S. Novak, was Baker's partner in the posh Carousel Motel at Ocean City, Md., that was sold earlier this year to the Serv-U Vending Co., a vending machine firm with which Baker had dealings.

Novak died in March 1962, his death ruled a suicide, and his widow inherited his partnership. Mrs. Novak told a reporter her husband's death came after "two years of turmoil that started with his interest in that motel. . . It's just been one thing after another."

The motel opened with a party which drew Washington figures, including Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, but apparently fazed financially under the Baker-Novak management.

Committee investigators were reported to have questioned Wednesday the man who blew the whistle on Baker — Ralph L. Hill.

Hill is chairman of the Capital Vending Machine Co. and plaintiff in a civil suit charging Baker and associates used improper influence to cancel a vending machine contract in favor of another firm.

Humphrey Hits 'Smog on Hill'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert Humphrey put a stethoscope to Congress and diagnosed that it is a victim of "a civil rights smog."

Humphrey, assistant Senate Democratic leader, said that once the battle over civil rights legislation is over, "the problems of managing the Congress will be over."

"Until that day," he warned Wednesday, "leaders can implore and deplore. . . but there will not be much improvement."

His implication was that Congress' wheezing pace is caused by maneuvering of Southern bloc of civil rights legislation—many of them entrenched in key posts in Congress.

Russ Jets Fell Iranian Plane

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Three Soviet jet fighters shot down an unarmed Iranian plane 18 miles inside Iranian territory after it accidentally strayed into the Soviet Union, official government reports said today.

Two aerial survey officials aboard the plane were killed and the pilot was seriously injured.

The plane, on a photographic mission in connection with a land redistribution project in northeast Iran, lost its way Wednesday and flew into Soviet territory, the reports said.

The reports said the Soviet jets ordered the plane to land on a Soviet air strip. The pilot, however, found he was short of fuel and flew back into Iranian territory, the reports added.

The three jets then reportedly followed the Iranian plane and fired on it near Darghaz, in Iran. The plane was reported to have caught fire and exploded in the air.

The plane was downed while Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev was in Iran on an official visit.

News of the incident spread through the Iranian Parliament today as Brezhnev addressed a joint session on improved Iranian-Soviet relations. The president said the Soviet government and people are greatly satisfied with the removal of the "darkness" from their relations with the Soviet government.

The downed plane was a twin-engine, piston-driven civilian craft belonging to the Iranian Air Taxi Co.

Erhard and De Gaulle Meet

PARIS (AP) — Ludwig Erhard met President Charles de Gaulle today for the first time since becoming chancellor of West Germany and the two leaders apparently got along well despite some disagreements.

Arriving by special train from West Germany, Erhard went at once to a meeting with the tall French general who worked with former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to weld a bond of friendship between the two ancient enemy nations.

Erhard, like Adenauer, is strong for close cooperation with France. But the new chancellor is much more outspoken in favoring Britain's entry into the Common Market and urging more integration of French forces into the Atlantic Alliance.

240 Days in Jail For Young Driver

MANKATO, Minn. (AP) — A Minneapolis youth was sentenced to a total of 240 days in jail today after he pleaded guilty to four charges following a high speed chase by the Highway Patrol.

A patrolman said James E. Gibbons, 18, Minneapolis, a Mankato State College student, led the officer on a 27½ mile chase late Wednesday night at speeds exceeding 100 miles per hour at times. Gibbons was accompanied by four young passengers.

In Municipal Court this morning, Gibbons was sentenced to 90 days for reckless driving, 90 days for resisting arrest, 30 days for driving 100 miles per hour in a 50-mile zone, and 90 days for driving 90 miles per hour in a 30-mile zone. On the fourth charge, Judge Leslie Morse suspended all but 30 days on the condition Gibbons surrender his drivers license and automobile registration plates.

Debris Found In Gulf Off Key West, Fla.

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — The wreckage of a U2 spy plane which vanished Wednesday, presumably after a mission over Cuba, was found today in 100-foot deep water in the Gulf of Mexico. The body of the pilot was not in the cockpit.

An air-sea search by Navy and Coast Guard planes and surface craft was continued for the pilot, Capt. Joe G. Hyde Jr. of LaGrange, Ga.

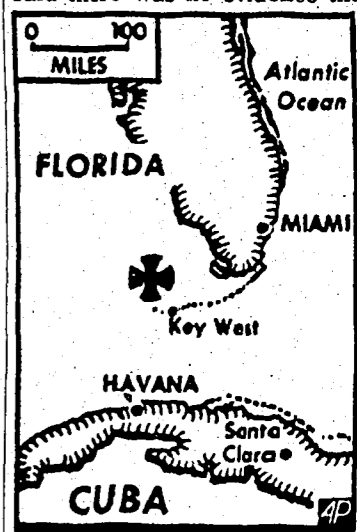

Capt. Ernest H. Dunlap, chief of staff to the commander of the Key West Navy Base, said two Navy salvage vessels, Petrel and Shrike, had reached the wreckage and determined that the pilot was not in the cockpit.

Earlier, the Coast Guard cutter Nemesis had reported finding debris at the spot 40 miles northwest of Key West and 180 miles north of the coast of Communist Cuba.

It was at this place that Hyde's plane vanished and where another aircraft eight minutes later reported sighting an oil slick.

The Pentagon in Washington said it had nothing to indicate the fate of the pilot. The U2 is a one-man plane.

The Strategic Air Command and the Defense Department said there was no evidence that the plane was downed by hostile action. A spokesman at SAC's Omaha headquarters said it was believed the crash was caused by mechanical failure.

A Cuban radio report said merely that a U2 "which might have been on reconnaissance activities over Cuba," crashed in the Gulf. It quoted Washington reports that "it is presumed the plane plunged into the sea due to a mechanical fault."

At 10:32 a.m. Wednesday, the plane vanished from radar scopes. Eight minutes later another plane spotted an oil slick in the area.

Three Navy air-sea rescue planes joined in the search. SAC called the plane a WU2, said a Defense Department spokesman said that was only the designation for a weather plane version of the spy planes that are still flying over Cuba to keep guard against reintroduction of Soviet missiles in Cuba.

Search for the plane was being directed at Key West by the commander of Navy forces there.

SAC said the plane disappeared from land-based radar scopes at 10:32 a.m. Eastern Standard Time. The disappearance was made public about nine hours later.

The only WU2 unit assigned to SAC is the 4080th, operating out of Davis-Monthan AFB, Tucson.

-11 in Montana, 8 Inches of Snow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The season's coldest weather spread across the Northern Rockies and Western Plains today but it was fairly mild in most other parts of the nation.

Below-zero temperatures chilled many sections of Montana as the cold air from Canada spread across most parts of the state, southward into Wyoming and eastward into the western Dakotas.

Temperatures edged toward zero in some areas outside Montana. One of the coldest spots was Cut Bank, Mont., with 11 below.

Light snow fell in the cold air but no severe storms were reported. More than eight inches of snow was reported in West Yellowstone, Mont., and up to a foot covered the Kalispell region in northwestern Montana.

The cold belt penetrated many areas from the northwestern Great Lakes region southward to northern Iowa and northern Nebraska and into the Dakotas and northeastern Wyoming.

Conrad to Try for Distance Record

On Thanksgiving Day Max Conrad will launch an assault on still another world record for distance flight in a light airplane when he takes off from Max Conrad Field here on a closed circuit flight that he hopes will carry him nonstop at least 3,000 miles.

In a telephone conversation with his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Jenkins of Winona, he told of his plans to claim for the United States the Class C1D sustained flight record of 2,773.03 miles now held by a Russian pilot.

CONRAD, who operates Max Conrad Aviation Industries at Lockhaven, Pa., said that the record attempt will be supervised by the Federal Aeronautics Administration which will send a representative here from Kansas City to oversee preparations made prior to take-off and check progress of the flight to insure that all requirements are complied with.

Conrad will be flying a route that will take him from Winona to Milwaukee, Chicago, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, Sioux City, Iowa, Sioux Falls, S.D., and back to Winona. The officially measured distance of this circuit is 1,500 miles and completion of two circuits would give Conrad the record.

ALTHOUGH the length of the runways at the airport here is not sufficient to permit Conrad to carry in his Piper Twin Comanche the maximum fuel load, he hopes his supply will be sufficient to allow him to remain aloft long enough to top the existing record by a substantial margin.

A second, smaller closed circuit course has been laid out for him to travel in the event he can continue his flight beyond the two-circuit route.

This second course is bounded by Rochester, Minneapolis and Winona. If he is successful in negotiating the first two larger loops and wishes to extend his flight, each completed flight around the small circuit would add distance to the official new record.

While the flight is in progress it will be checked at each of the cities around the circuit by FAA personnel. Conrad will be required to pass outside the towers at each of the airports along his closed circuit routes.

CONRAD PLANS to arrive in Winona the day before Thanksgiving. Orville Coleman of the FAA office in Kansas City will be here to supervise the sealing of the Comanche's gasoline tanks, official weighing in of the aircraft and installation of sealed instruments which will keep record of the flight while it is in progress.

Conrad said that the projected record flight has been in the planning stage for some time and was held up for a time awaiting the granting of Conrad's request that the flight be initiated from Winona.

He said that he wanted Winona as the takeoff and terminal point because his primary reason for making the flight was to promote the Winona Aviation Foundation, of which he was an organizer.

THE FOUNDATION was established several years ago to sponsor and continue Conrad's "Winona Experiment," a project to interest the youth of the nation in aviation.

In his telephone conversation from Lockhaven Wednesday, Conrad said that he had encountered a number of persons throughout the nation who were interested in promoting and contributing to the foundation.

Actual expenses of the flight will be paid for by Shell Oil Co. and Champion Sparkplugs, although Conrad will receive no financial compensation for his efforts.

THIS WILL BE Conrad's second closed circuit flight for record in a little more than three years. Early in July 1960 he stayed aloft more than 60 hours on a 6,920-mile flight that earned him another world record in a different weight class.

This effort, which contributed that year to his selection as the National Aeronautic Association's "Man of the Year," topped by nearly 4,000 miles the previous record held by a Czech pilot.

Now a veteran of more than 100 transoceanic flights in light aircraft, Conrad in his 1960 flight flew a course bounded by Minneapolis, Chicago and Des Moines. He had attempted, unsuccessfully, to have the flight originate and end in Winona.

He probably holds more flight records for this type of airplane than any person in the world.

In 1961 he made his most spectacular record - breaking flight when he flew a twin-engine Piper Aztec 25.457 miles around the world in slightly more than 8 days, 18 hours.

This slashed 20 days from the previous record for airplanes in the 3,358- to 6,613-pound class.

MRS. JENKINS said that her brother had indicated to her that his flight plan calls for a cruising speed of 125 miles an hour at the start of the flight, after which he'll throttle down to 110 miles an hour as a fuel economy measure.

If such a schedule is followed, approximately 24 hours would be required to complete the two circuits necessary for the record.

Mrs. Jenkins doubts that Conrad will carry any food with him on this flight. He plans to have three quart-size insulated jugs, one filled with black coffee, another with tea and the third, water.

Jobless Claims Lowest Here Since 1955

As employment in Winona climbed to a record high in October, the number of unemployment compensation claims in the area fell to its lowest point since 1955.

The number of persons drawing benefits at mid-October fell to 163, some 1,200 lower than the highs of last winter when claim rolls were at a peak because of shutdowns in outdoor work.

RAY H. BROWN, manager of the Winona office of the State Employment service, cites record employment in manufacturing and stepped-up activity in highway work and other construction projects as factors that account for the low number of claims.

The top number of persons filing claims with the employment office here this year was 1,340, nearly an all-time high. This occurred early in February. The first significant drop occurred in mid-April, when warm weather permitted recall of workers in construction and outdoor industries. A gradual drop continued through the summer and fall months.

On a dollar basis, October payments were low. Payments made to claimants in the entire three-county region served by this office totaled just slightly more than $16,000. This is a long way down from the February peak period, when $113,572 in claim benefits was paid out by the Winona office.

A BREAKDOWN of October payments shows that $14,325 — about 90 percent of the total — was paid to Winona County residents. Applicants from Wabasha County collected $1,170, and those in Houston County received $588.

Brown predicted that claim filings will continue low through November. No substantial rise is expected until cold weather forces lay-offs in outdoor work, he said.

Based on actual count, the comparative breakdown is as follows (UC represents unemployment claims; UCX-Fed. indicates claims by veterans and federal workers):

Suit Over Furnace Goes Into 3rd Day

A $60,000 damage suit over a 1961 fire at the then-new Brietlow Funeral Home was in its third day today.

According to Judge Arnold Hatfield, who is presiding over the case, the trial may last between two and three weeks.

BREITLOW claims the fire was caused by faulty design, controls and manufacturing of the heating system.

Clifford Olson, designer of the heating system, continued to testify this morning. He also was on the stand Wednesday afternoon.

Olson said he was aware that national building codes require that duct work in the furnace room had to be one inch away from any combustible material. He explained that there were no requirements regarding the space for a furnace room in a business building.

There also were no requirements for ventilation in the room, he said, but there was a regulation involving the intake of combustion air for the furnace.

Olson said that he had suggested a grill in the room to help cool it down. He did not recommend a high limit temperature control setting for the furnace until the day of the fire, he said.

Quality Sheet Metal Works made alterations, he said.

Alterations involved placing the furnace closer to one wall than recommended, he said. The space allotted for the furnace was large compared with the size of the furnace, he added. Olson testified that prior to the fire he had notified Quality to check the high limit temperature control and had recommended insulation for the top section of the furnace.

JAMES K. CARLSON, partner-owner of Eckert & Carlson, Winona architect, was the third witness called by the plaintiff for adverse examination.

His testimony had just begun when the noon recess was called. He said that his company entered into a contract with Carl Breitlow of Breitlow Funeral Home, Inc., in the early summer of 1959.

Tjernlund Manufacturing Co., Minneapolis; Comfort Supply Co., Rochester; Quality Sheet Metal Works, Winona; Eckert & Carlson, Winona, and Olson, Emanuelson & March, Minneapolis, are defendants.

Third party defendants are Minneapolis Honeywell Regulator Co. and Continental Casualty Co., Chicago.

CLIFFORD OLSON, Minneapolis, a member of the firm of Olson, Emanuelson & March, consulting engineers for the heating system at the funeral home, also was called for adverse testimony Wednesday.

Olson began his testimony during the afternoon session. He was called by James Schmacher, Minneapolis, attorney for the plaintiff. Roger Brosnahan, Winona, also represents the plaintiff.

Olson, a mechanical engineer, said that he personally worked on the plans for the plumbing and heating arrangements of the funeral home.

Eckert & Carlson, project architects, sent floor plan sections and sketches. Olson said, for use in formulating plans for the equipment to be used for heating and cooling.

THEY HAD designated the size of the furnace room, said Olson. However, he had requested more space.

Later Olson said that he didn't feel the furnace was too large for the furnace room or that the furnace room was too small for the furnace. There could have been more room for the duct work, he said.

Olson explained that he calculated the heat loss of the building and figured the size of the equipment needed. He said that he made the decision that the Tjernlund furnace was the correct one. Tjernlund had no restrictions in their specifications in connection with the size of a room for their furnaces, said Olson.

THE HEATING system at the funeral home was a common installation, he said. Olson said he couldn't remember if he consulted the standards of the National Board of Fire Underwriters regarding the size of the furnace room.

He explained that a furnace should not be too close to combustible material and the furnace compartment should be ventilated. Ventilation would make the furnace room temperature lower, he said.

Eckert & Carlson used concrete duct work below ground in the exterior walls, he said. The concrete ducts caused a resistance to the heat from the heating system, said Olson.

Olson later said he specified Honeywell controls for the heating system. He explained that the controls are set by the manufacturer, but can be reset by the contractor to fit the situation.

He said that no wood beams were shown in the sketches and plans for the furnace room. He said that he found the beams were in place in December 1960.

THE OWNER of Quality Sheet Metal Works, Harold Ofenloch, who had testified Wednesday morning continued during the afternoon session.

He said there were no clearance regulations or requirements made by the manufacturer of the furnace and by the supplier.

Ofenloch also said he knew nothing about a city building code regarding oil furnaces and the size of the room in which they are to be installed.

He said that he had received complaints about trouble with the furnace from the Breitlows in the fall of 1960. Overheating of the furnace room was mentioned, he said.

THE FURNACE was inspected, Ofenloch said, and later a Tjernlund representative made an inspection. Adjustments were made in the blower, he said.

Shortly before the fire, he said, a damper system was installed in the wall near the ceiling of the furnace room. It included a fusible link.

The fusible link, which was set to snap, closing the damper system, when the temperature was higher than 160 degrees, snapped shortly after it was installed.

Ofenloch said he received a letter from Eckert & Carlson Jan. 24, 1961. This was before the fire and the letter said that the damper section should be installed.

THE LETTER continued that if the temperature in the furnace room was not lowered there might be a fire and destruction of the building.

Eckert & Carlson advised that the breaching and surfaces of the furnace room be insulated. They were insulated, Ofenloch said.

Ofenloch said the estimated cost of repairs to the furnace room following the fire was $41,822.

FBI and Police Set Conference On Bank Robbery

A conference on bank robbery for bank employees will be sponsored here by Winona police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Chief of Police George Savord said it will be at Central Junior High School auditorium Wednesday at 4:15 p.m. It will consist of lectures on bank robbery methods and preventive measures. Films taken during actual robberies will be shown.

Chief Savord and Special Agents Marvin Shay and George Burton, Minneapolis, FBI office, will conduct the conference.

All bank employees in the area are invited, Savord said. FBI reports show that 1,250 violations of the Federal Bank Robbery and Incidental Crime Statute occurred last year, Savord said.

This was more than a 30 percent increase in such crimes over 1961.

He noted that armed assaults upon banking institutions are among the most vicious and demoralizing crimes facing our nation today.

In many instances, he said, they are accompanied by felonious attacks against innocent bank employees, customers and citizens, and frequently result in kidnappings, murders or both.

EAGLE SCOUT ... Bruce Johnson, a Harmony, Minn., Boy Scout will receive his Eagle badge at a court of honor here at 2 p.m. Sunday at Harmony Elementary School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Johnson and a member of Troop 74, which is sponsored by the volunteer fire department.

FOUNTAIN CITY SCOUTS — FOUNTAIN CITY, Wis. (Special) — The first Fountain City Boy Scout meeting will be held at Fountain City Auditorium at 7 p.m. Monday. All boys in the area 11 or over are eligible. Boys who received registration blanks at the preliminary meeting should bring them.

YMCA Youth Director Named

Larry Schiller, 23, Fresno, Calif., will start Jan. 1, 1964, as youth director for the Winona YMCA. The post has been vacant since the resignation of Carl Miller, who left Aug. 15 to return to teaching.

Schiller has just been graduated from the YMCA's George Williams College, Chicago, with master of science degree in group work, according to James Anderson, general secretary of the local organization. Schiller was graduated from high school at Fresno in 1958. In 1962 he was graduated from Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa, with a bachelor of arts degree in sociology.

He has been associated in various capacities with the YMCA for 14 years, Anderson said. He was senior counselor at the St. Louis YMCA's Camp Lakewood during the summers of 1959, 1960 and 1962. In 1961 he was senior counselor at Camp Becket, near Boston, Mass. He served as club supervisor last winter at the Duncan Branch of the Chicago YMCA.

Anderson said Schiller visited the city for an interview with board members three weeks ago. He is unmarried.

Weatherman Still Sees Snow

There certainly was no pressure on the weatherman to make good on his prediction of rain changing to snow and much colder weather for Winona and vicinity.

That had been the forecast Wednesday and in the main he repeated it today.

MOSTLY CLOUDY through Friday with occasional light rain or drizzle changing to snow flurries tonight and more general snow Friday, he said. He predicted colder weather, too, with a low of 20-30 tonight and a high of 30 Friday.

Saturday, he thought, would bring more snow for Southeastern Minnesota and Western Wisconsin and continued rather cool weather.

Instead of the overnight low of 20-30 he predicted, the temperature in the city got no lower than 46 this morning after a Wednesday afternoon high of 50. At noon today the reading was 48.

PRECIPITATION since Tuesday night has totaled .20 of an inch in light showers and drizzle.

On this day a year ago the Winona high was 53 and the low 34. All-time high for Nov. 21 was 65 in 1913 and the low 9 below in 1880. Mean for the past 24 hours was 48 as contrasted with the normal of 31 for this time of the year.

Although the morning temperatures had slid 4 above at Minot, N. D., fairly mild temperatures continued in Minnesota with Bemidji's 22 the low for the state. It was 25 at Duluth, 26 at International Falls and 30 at Duluth. Rochester posted a high of 46 Wednesday and a low of 42 this morning. At La Crosse temperatures for the same time were 48 and 46.

THE WEATHER Bureau said the storm system was gathering ammunition in the Rocky Mountains, and that the colder air was drawing warm, moist air from the Southwest.

The convection made for snow in parts of the Dakotas and western Nebraska, with the possibility of freezing rain. Forecasters issued a warning to stockmen.

Low temperatures are expected to skid to 5 above in parts of eastern North Dakota and northern Minnesota tonight. The weatherman predicted temperatures would be mostly below the freezing mark elsewhere during the night.

WISCONSIN'S pleasant fall weather, wonderful while it lasted, shows signs of deteriorating. Snow and rain have crept into the forecasts, and that's a sure sign things are getting back to normal. Clouds and fog this morning appeared to be a forerunner of something worse.

Much to the satisfaction of deer hunters who need snow for tracking, forecasts are for snow in the northern part of the state by Saturday's opening of the season. The southern section is due for some rain. A cold front is likely to envelop the entire state.

Rain fell over most of the state Wednesday, ending in the late afternoon and evening. Fog developed in many areas during the evening at Clintonville, Stevens Point and Rhinelander. It was heavy at daybreak in the vicinity of Madison, Lone Rock and Janesville.

Laredo, Tex., registered the nation's high of 85. The coldest spot in the nation was Cutbank, Mont., where the temperature dropped to 11 below zero.

Pickwick Driver Ties Up Traffic On Expressway

A Pickwick truck driver was involved in an accident early Wednesday that had traffic on Chicago's Northwest Expressway backed up for nearly a mile.

Roy Henderson, 58, was driving a tractor and trailer loaded with meat when an auto stopped ahead of him. He swerved to avoid it, and the trailer jackknifed, coming to rest upright on the shoulder of the road.

Chicago police said that traffic on the southbound lanes of the expressway was blocked for about 2½ hours.

No one was injured in the accident. Damage to the truck was estimated to be $50.

The automobile disappeared before police arrived.

Trappers Fined In Buffalo Co.

ALMA, Wis. (Special) — Two trappers appeared in Buffalo County Court before Judge Gary B. Schlosstein this week.

Leonard Kaczorowski, 977 E. 5th St., Winona, pleaded guilty to two charges and paid fines and costs.

HE WAS arrested Oct. 15 on a charge of giving a false statement when obtaining a sportsmen's license at a Fountain City hardware store, stating he was from Wisconsin. The fine was $100 and costs, $5.

He was arrested Tuesday by Stanley Apel, Buffalo City, Buffalo County conservation warden, for setting and resetting traps and attending a trapline between sunset and an hour before sunrise. The fine was $15 and costs, $5.

His case was heard late Wednesday. Thursday morning Robert Dingfelder, Fountain City Rt. 2, pleaded guilty to obtaining a Wisconsin sportsmen's license Sept. 27 when it had been previously revoked by the Buffalo County Court to Nov. 19. He was sentenced to a $100 fine and $5 costs on this count.

He also was charged with setting and resetting traps and attending a trapline between sunset and an hour before sunrise. He was sentenced to a $25 fine and $5 costs on this count.

DINGFELDER'S licenses for hunting, fishing and trapping were revoked in both Wisconsin and Minnesota for one year. He was placed on probation for one year instead of having to pay the fine on revocation and ordered to spend the 13th month in jail if he fails to pay the costs. He paid the $25 fine and costs on the second count.

Both men were apprehended Tuesday by Deputy Sheriff Myron Hoch and held in jail here until appearing in court.

Buses Wait For Kennedys

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — If you or I ride a bus, does anybody as much as grunt?

That's right — just the bus driver, when we say hello. But the Kennedy Clan is enormously popular on Broadway today for having thought to take a bus ride. There was a little different: Diamonds blinding the bus driver; evening gowns trailing down the bus steps. . . . "Take your time, General, don't hurry, Senator, your bus will wait for you!"

They rejected the usual long black limousines and chartered five buses to ride from seven dinner parties to a charity showing of "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World" — Bobby, Teddy, their wives, their mother, enough friends and national officials to cause spectators to say "Who's minding Washington?"

Climbing back into the buses three hours later, they rode to a big supper dance at the Hilton around 11:30.

"It wasn't that the Kennedys couldn't afford taxis — they figured with all these Washington officials here, there'd be less chance of losing them."

Pat Lawford, Peter Lawford's wife, didn't do the bus bit. She arrived either with Eddie Fisher in his limo or with Donald Sawyer, who seemed to be her escort. (The Kennedy gals sure do confuse us.) Even though the others came by bus, there was the usual red carpet both places — unrolled by gents in tuxedos.

DURING THE intermission at Warner Cinerama Theater, brother-in-law R. Sargent Shriver went over to Sidney Poitier, the Negro star, and said:

"Mr. Poitier, I'm an admirer of yours."

And later all those Washington names — Ted Sorensen, Arthur Schlesinger, Secretary McNamara — were "mixing" (as we say in Show Biz) with Milton Berle, Sid Caesar, Jonathan Winters, Dick Shawn, the Van Hefflins, Elizabeth Ashley, the Al Strelins, Mrs. Buddy Hackett, the Morton Downeys and the Walter Cronkites.

It remained for Milton Berle to relate that he'd recently told President Kennedy in Washington that his son Billy, now less than two, "will be the first Jewish President."

THE PRESIDENT replied — according to Milton — "I would be the last one to tell you it's impossible."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "Do you suppose," whispers Mart Rieck, "that Vaughn Meader, who does the JFK impression, knows something? He's getting a Goldwater haircut."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: The Christmas gift most people appreciate most is something you made yourself — such as money. — Arnold Glasow.

Mondovi Mill Rate to Increase

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special) — The Mondovi City Council approved the 1964 proposed budget following a public hearing Tuesday night. No interested taxpayers appeared.

The mill rate was set at 35.5, up 1.5 from last year. Estimated expenditures for 1964 are $137,621, less revenues other than property taxes of $77,438, leaving the general property tax levy for city purposes at $60.182.

Largest share of the taxpayer's dollar will go to the school. Its taxes are estimated at $132,338, or 47.1 percent of the total. They are 39 percent higher than last year's $115,190.

The city's share is down to 21.4 percent from last year's 21.9, but in dollars it's up $1,854 over last year's $58,382. County taxes are $86,871, down from last year's $91,490.

The spread of taxes is over an increased valuation.

The total of all state, county, city and school taxes in Mondovi is $281,001. The 1963 valuation of the city is $7,915,525.

The state Highway Commission has requested permission to erect no parking signs on Highways 10, and 37 from 400 feet east of the junctions of Madison and Highways 10 and 37 to the east junction of the two highways. The request was granted.

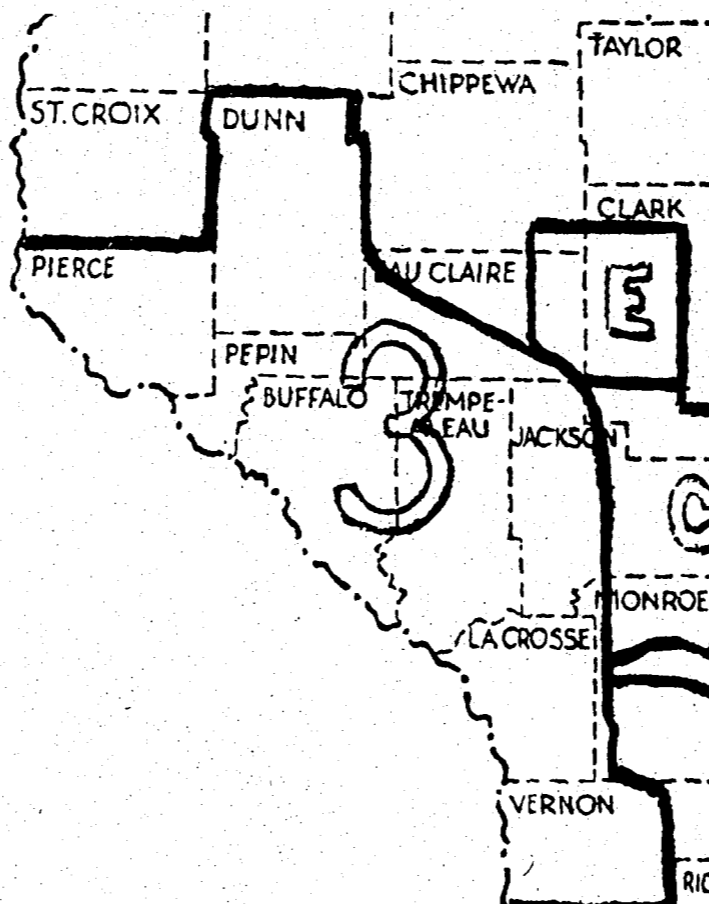

In other business the council granted the fair board permission to erect a sign to welcome fair visitors at Harrison and West Main streets.

Barndancers licenses were issued to Ruth R. Larson and La Vern Thorson.

Spring Grove Orders Drainage Switching

SPRING GROVE, Minn. (Special) — The Spring Grove Village Council has set a charge of $25 a month on all building owners whose roof waters drain into the sanitary sewer. This charge goes into effect Jan. 1. To eliminate the charge, buildings must be remodeled to run surface water into the storm sewer. This action was taken because during a heavy rain the sewage plant becomes overloaded and doesn't function properly.

Voice of the Outdoors

Wisconsin Opening There may be tracking snow on the ground in Western Wisconsin Saturday morning when the Wisconsin 1963 deer season opens. At least there is a very definite hint that snow may come in the next couple of days, even before this appears in print, in the weather forecast published today and projected ahead for the weekend.

As the above detail map of the Wisconsin "any-deer" zone shows, the territory open for this two-day season Saturday and Sunday has been enlarged from former years. The most important additional area opened for the first time to hunting of deer of either sex and either rifle or shotgun is western Jackson County. This area includes all territory in that county west of Highway 27 and south of Highway 12, or south and west of Black River Falls. This territory has been top deer country in Wisconsin for years. As C. A. Weitz stated, "There are more deer there this year than ever before."

But hunters going there will run into many "No Hunting" signs. The area has been extensively posted by landowners fearing that their deer herd will be wiped out by almost shoulder-to-shoulder hunting.

Deer hunting is an important source of income to residents of Jackson County. Black River Falls has been almost nationally advertised as the "Deer Hunting Capital of Wisconsin."

Thousands of red clad sportsmen will pour into Black River Friday afternoon and evening for the 6:30 a.m. opening on Saturday. Residents, businessmen and their employees all dress in deer safety colors to add to the carnival atmosphere that will prevail. Most of the crowd will not go to bed for the simple reason there is no place to sleep except in their cars.

agent and most farmers, likewise is closing a lot of good deer area to hunting this fall in that county. Here is what the Buffalo County Journal editor wrote about it last week.

"The rifle season has caused a great deal of excitement in Buffalo County. It has been the cause of the closing of most farms to hunting in the county. As one farmer said the other day in the Journal office, 'Any time a hunter gets tired trying to find a place to hunt with a rifle, he will be able to find plenty of no hunting signs to lean on.'"

"We would like to appeal to the farmers of the county. Let's not spoil the hunting with shotguns the first two days. When hunters ask for permission to hunt, let them hunt. Then close down on the rifle hunting but continue to allow the shotgun hunters to hunt during the spike buck season."

"Many feel that the protest against rifle hunting will be more effective if the ban against rifles is carried out but shotgun hunting proceeds as usual. There appear to be lots of deer, let's allow the hunters to harvest a normal crop but stick to the no rifle hunting so that the use of rifles will be banned next year in Buffalo County."

"The rifle season has certainly stirred up this county's farmers. Proof of this fact is the purchase of 3,000 no hunting signs which were distributed free by the county board and another order which came in Tuesday for 2,400 more from the townships. In addition we have been almost unable to keep up with the demand for no hunting and trespassing signs at the Journal office."

Dakota, Dresbach Combine to Get Site for Dumping

DAKOTA, Minn. (Special) — Dakota village and Dresbach Township now have an official dump.

Officials have given notice that there shall be no more dumping down a steepbank and along hillside roads. The Winona County sheriff will make arrests for littering if this is continued, officials said.

THE OLD refuse area was on the Henderson area southwest of Dakota. Now it is covered and packed.

Officials began searching for a new dumping ground late in August. Finally, Carl Strauss, rural La Crescent, offered a large gully area which he wanted filled.

The Dakota-Dresbach disposal area is a short distance off Highway 61-14 where "Once the Ship" was located. At that point, below Dresbach, the underpass has been readied on Interstate 90, affording residents of the area entrance to their homes.

This is how you get to the dump: Turn off on Highway 61-14 where a sign reads "Panorama Motel Entrance." Proceed under the pass, turn left, then right at the first driveway, and continue on the rock-surfaced roadbed, constructed jointly by the municipalities, to the disposal area. The road will be maintained by the municipalities under the agreement with Strauss, who has laid down certain specifications.

NORTH RIDGE farmers who live within the township, in addition to Dakota and Dresbach residents, may use the area. No special wrapping is necessary but no cans, bottles and other refuse should be dropped en route.

Strauss requested that persons refrain from hauling rubbish Sunday and after dark. There are no lights at the dump. No hunting or shooting will be permitted.

STRAUSS warned that pets should be kept in cars and off the grounds because poison will be applied regularly.

Robert Grams, Hokah, is operating a bulldozer to pack the area that has been filled in. Grams, who had the contract to build the roadway, is doing the work on a temporary basis. The two municipalities using the dump have agreed to keep it covered.

State Job Office Open on Saturday

The temporary changeover was made so that the employment service is able to follow a recent order issued by Gov. Karl Rolvaag, directing that state offices be closed the Friday after Thanksgiving.

SPRING GROVE SCOUTS — SPRING GROVE, Minn. (Special) — Cub Scout Pack 55 will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the church parlors. A pinewood derby race will be held following the meeting. This Wife's Really Fashion-Conscious

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been sick for a year. The doctor said he will last maybe another three months, four at the most. I want to know if it would be proper for me to wear a large black picture hat with a wide brim and a black sheer veil over it for his funeral. My friends say veils are worn with only small hats, but I am a large woman and don't look good in small hats. Also, could I wear a black tailored suit with a green and blue flowered blouse, or must I wear all black? If I wear all black, would it be all right to wear one large piece of costume jewelry?

PREPARING AHEAD

DEAR PREPARING: Wear dark clothing, and dress as inconspicuously as possible. A funeral is not a fashion show. And you appear to be so pre-occupied with what you will wear that one might suspect you can hardly wait for the occasion.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been on the same job 24 years. He has only one more year to go before he retires, provided he doesn't get caught stealing. This has been going on for about three years. I've begged him to stop, but he won't listen to me. Most of the things he has brought home are expensive, but he has absolutely no use for them. They're just hidden away. I have lost all respect for him. He has always been a clean and honest man. I can't understand it. If I turn him in, he'll lose his job and our children will be disgraced. He reads DEAR ABBY. Maybe he will listen to you.

Abby

DEAR WIFE: Your husband appears to be a sick man. A thief takes things he wants and needs. A kleptomaniac has a compulsion to take things whether he needs them or not. I urge you to get your husband to a doctor. Psychiatrists have been able to cure kleptomania. A kleptomaniac is as morally blameless as, say, a diabetic.

DEAR ABBY: Joe and I were married in 1958 by a Justice of the Peace because it was all we could afford at the time. The first two years we had two babies. Neither of us was grown up enough to accept the responsibilities of marriage, so it ended in divorce shortly after the second baby came. I went home to my parents. We have been divorced nearly three years and in that time we have both matured a lot. We've been seeing each other, and have decided to try marriage again. I want a church wedding with a white gown and veil, Abby. I know this is not done for second marriages, but I think my case is the exception because there has never been another man in my life except Joe. And this, to me, is really like our first marriage. Please say it's all right.

STARS IN MY EYES

DEAR STARS: White wedding gowns and veils are traditional for first marriages only. But if your clergyman is willing to perform such a ceremony, I say go ahead and have it, and may God bless this union.

DEAR ABBY: How should a mother-in-law treat her daughter-in-law? My son married a lovely girl. We grew very fond of one another and a truly good friendship followed. Then their marriage went sour. I can't turn off my feelings like a spigot for this girl. My son thinks I am being disloyal to him because I haven't dropped her like a hot potato. Their children are still my grandchildren. Am I wrong?

MOTHER-IN-LAW

DEAR MOTHER-IN-LAW: Probably not. Your friendships are your own and not subject to your son's veto. But if your son has remarried, an excessive show of affection for his former wife could make things awkward. Your son is wrong. Keep your friendship, but don't flaunt it.

Learning Seat Belt Value - The Hard Way

(EDITORS NOTE: Mike Jones is a reporter for the Lansing State Journal, Lansing, Mich. He formerly was a member of the Michigan Highway Department News Bureau. He wrote the following story after he recovered from injuries he received in a head-on auto collision.)

LANSING, MICH.—Promoters of automobile seat belts have another champion of their cause, a fellow who survived a head-on collision without the use of a seat belt.

The fellow is this reporter who had the life saving belts installed in his car about a month ago.

But when they were needed most, the belts were on the seat beside me—unfastened.

At impact, my left knee rammed the windshield wiper button, my chest hit the steering wheel and my right hand punched a hole through the windshield.

The cuts and bruises suffered could—I am convinced—have been less serious or even prevented if my seat belt had been fastened.

It was one of the few times that I haven't worn the belts, but in the urgency of the impending crash, it was too late to put them on.

IT WAS ONLY a few seconds from the time I saw the other car enter my lane of traffic until the collision, only enough time to hit the brakes.

My eldest daughters, ages three and five, were first to ask, "Did you have your seat belt on, Daddy?" The same question has been repeated many times by many people.

Since returning to work, I've turned up several interesting seat belt facts in a report by the Auto Industries Highway Safety Committee:

—Only 6.9 percent of today's automobiles are equipped with seat belts.

—About 55 percent of motorists with belts ALWAYS use them in local traffic; about 71 percent on long trips.

—About 29 percent with belts SOMETIMES use them in local travel; about 18 percent on long trips.

This, it is reported, shows growing acceptance for seat belts, since only three percent of America's cars two years ago were so equipped and only one-third of the belts were used.

THE MICHIGAN State Highway Department reported recently that evidence in favor of seat belts is so strong there's hardly any argument about them any more.

The department quoted the American Medical Association which estimates that seat belts could save 10,000 lives a year.

The U.S. Forestry Service requires that seat belts be installed in each of its 8,000 automobiles and reports that since 1954, the belts have saved the lives of more than 100 of its employees.

Minnesota's Highway Department says, "The widespread use of seat belts by both motorists and their passengers would save between 170 and 200 lives a year in Minnesota traffic."

ARGUMENTS THAT seat belts may trap people in a burning car or in one submerged in water are refuted by experts.

They state that in such an accident, seat belts would reduce injury, keeping the driver and passengers conscious and giving them a chance to get out of the car.

Statistics show that if two cars, each going 30 miles an hour, collide and each stops in 1 1/2 feet, the average stopping force is equivalent to 20 times the pull of gravity, about 2 1/2 times that experienced by John Glenn in his lift-off into space.

The death of a friend in an auto accident prompted me to put seat belts in my car and my own experience taught me to fasten them before starting the engine.

MY SEAT BELTS are now a constant reminder that an accident can happen to me.

It is reported that people are eating more snacks all the time. One obvious reason is that regular dinners are becoming more irregular.

The prospective deal for the exchange of U.S. wheat for Russian gold is pretty much a question of balance. It would help our balance of payments. And it would help balance the Russian diet.

Let all things be done decently and in order. 1 Corinthians 14:40.

WASHINGTON CALLING

Many Getting Federal Money

By MARQUIS CHILDS
WASHINGTON — With a presidential year just ahead it is a safe bet that the rallying cry, "Elect me because I can do more for the great state of —," is certain to resound across the land. The eager office-seeker will give the impression that defense contracts, research contracts, projects large and small, are on the political auction block and he and he alone can snare them.

Defense spending takes today 10 percent of the nation's gross national product. This means that whole communities and large payrolls depend on a continuous flow of dollars from Washington. Any substantial reduction in this spending, whether by the economies that Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara is trying so earnestly to bring about in the next budget or by a modest beginning at disarmament, means a rude adjustment.

A program put forward recently to help ease the adjustment from a cold war economy to a future peacetime economy went almost unnoticed. Sen. George McGovern (D., S.D.), joined by 10 others including Majority Whip Hubert Humphrey, proposed a National Economic Conversion Commission. The commission would be responsible for drafting a blueprint for converting to peacetime work and for drawing up schedules of possible private and public investment that would help to bridge the transition period. All plants in which 25 percent of operation was in defense would be required to set up an operating conversion committee.

IN PRESENTING his proposal to the Senate, McGovern quoted in support of it from an eminently respectable source, a survey of the Morgan Guaranty Bank:

"With about one-tenth of gross national product devoted to military purposes year after year, there has developed a reluctance, both public and private, toward cutting back so sizable a sector of economic activity. Thus, the very fact that makes it important to prepare for the possibility of a reduction in defense outlays — that is, the economy's heavy involvement in defense — could also make it more difficult to achieve reduction."

McGovern uttered a warning similar to that which has long been coming from business. The fact that roughly three-fourths of the nation's scientific and engineering talent is in military research and development or space has caused a drastic decline in the modernization of civilian industries. The United States, which once led the world in machine-tool production, today has slipped to fourth or fifth place, according to McGovern.

THE CONCENTRATION of research in the government sector means that this country has lagged behind in new and improved products. In West Germany only five to 10 percent of a research is in defense and the balance in private industry.

What this means in world competition in the sale of goods and services hardly needs to be pointed out. The relation to America's unfavorable balance of payments is a direct one. As West Germany, Japan and Italy have built up new plants, the United States is left today with the unenviable distinction of operating the most outdated metal-working machinery of any major industrial power.

The Wall Street Journal last summer conducted a survey revealing that industrialists felt that high defense and space research salaries paid out of seemingly unlimited funds had priced them out of the market. Between 1954 and 1961 personnel working on government research contracts rose 317 percent to 190,000. In this same period industry increased its private research payroll only 30 percent to 130,000.

AS THE DEMAND for technical manpower grows, the supply dwindles. According to the Wall Street Journal survey, the demand for new engineers alone now runs close to 60,000 a year. But in the current calendar year only about 33,700 will be graduated and this is down from 38,134 in 1959. The situation seems to be nearly as acute in the physical sciences, chemistry and physics.

This is, of course, only one aspect of the cold war economy where adjustments are vital if trouble is avoided. McGovern pointed out that in the aircraft industry over 93 percent of all employees are working on warplanes. In shipbuilding the figure is 60 percent, in radio and communications equipment 38 percent. Unless these industries are to go on into an indefinite future, turning out more and more war machines to be stockpiled, a basic adjustment will have to be faced up to.

Radioactivity May Be Used to Preserve Food

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Radioactivity, which kills men, cattle, all living things in war, will soon be the means of preserving food for millions of people to eat.

The Food and Drug Administration has already approved the use of a revolutionary form of irradiation for preserving bacon and wheat. The latter is to prevent insect infestation which destroys about one-fourth of wheat shipped through the tropics.

Food and drug also has applications for the use of irradiation to preserve citrus fruit and prevent potatoes from sprouting.

The Atomic Energy Commission and Army Ordnance have been working on the preservation of other foods and believe it's already possible to preserve such foods as bacon, ham, pork, chicken, and being in a whole some state for as long as two years. Irradiated shrimp, haddock, peaches, oranges, strawberries, chicken, and other foods will taste just as fresh after two years, they claim.

At present, one out of every four strawberries is spoiled before it reaches the market. Irradiation can cut this by 75 percent without impairing the flavor. Strawberry losses amount to $5 million annually and the scientists say that an expenditure of 20 cents to irradiate strawberries will save 75 cents worth.

THE ATOMIC Energy Commission is already working on plans to place an irradiation processing plant in the California fruit fields by the spring of 1965 so as to irradiate fruit as it passes through the packing house. It's also planned to put irradiators aboard ships to preserve fish immediately after the catch, and the AEC already has a marine product irradiator under construction at Gloucester, Mass. It should be in operation by late next summer.

Note — Dr. Kevin Shea of the Atomic Energy Commission and Dr. Edward S. Josephson of the Army surgeon general's office explain that the irradiation treatment leaves no residual radioactivity in the food, that the food is only exposed to the rays without any physical contact between the food and the radiation source.

You have to give JFK a lot of credit for putting public interest ahead of his wife's personal interest in regard to her childhood home on the banks of the Potomac.

Jackie's stepfather, Hugh D. Auchincloss, sold the home, Merrywood, for about $700,000 for a high rise apartment. When the neighbors opposed the sale, Jackie was so irked at some of them that she refused to attend the wedding of Ambassador Angier Biddle Duke if it was held at the home of one of the protesting neighbors.

DESPITE HIS wife's feelings, the President has backed up his secretary of the interior, Stewart Udall, in bringing legal action against the apartment developers in order to preserve the Potomac Palisades. Udall argues that the Potomac skyline belongs to all the people, wants it kept the way George Washington and the founding fathers knew it.

A group of priests at Catholic University, all faculty members with a deep interest in current events, tried for weeks to get Attorney General Robert Kennedy to speak to them. They offered him six suggested dates, all of which he turned down.

In his place, they invited his nemesis, Teamster Boss Jimmy Hoffa, who accepted the invitation and spent much of the time happily castigating Kennedy.

Dr. Murphy will have a lot to say about the nomination of Nelson Rockefeller to run for President of the United States.

The new addition to the Rockefeller family is expected around June. If Mrs. Happy Rockefeller can appear in public radiantly happy with the new offspring, it should help to break down some of the current feminine antagonism. Already her appearances in public have helped.

BUT IF she can appear not only with the new offspring but with her own four children, it would be both a maternal and political triumph.

However, Dr. Murphy, her former husband, retains custody of the four children. Since Dr. Murphy called the time on the divorce, he alone can decide where they're going to be, and he alone holds the biggest key to Nelson Rockefeller's political future.

The U. S. courts will play a part in the big Teamster bargaining move for a nationwide contract. Hoffa lost his Supreme Court appeal for a change of venue for his Nashville trial, but has now asked for a rehearing. That will give him a little more delay. But the Justice Department is itching to go to trial in Nashville at the drop of the next court decree — before the contract bargaining begins.

Chester Bowles, the erudite ambassador to India, came back to Washington for consultations but made sure the trip coincided with the Yale-Harvard game. Chet is not only a Yale man but ex-governor of Connecticut.

The new 23-year-old Mrs. William O. Douglas should quit talking to people about the difficulty of living with a genius — her 65-year-old Supreme Court justice husband. . . . Former Mrs. William O. Douglas is now living happily with a delightful new husband, Fritz Echolz. . . . Japanese coal mines have changed a lot with the years. In 1922 I was at the bottom of the big Kyushu mine where 400 miners were killed the other day. Every Japanese coal miner at that time was a woman. They were stripped to the waist because of the underground temperature. Now Japanese coal miners are men. . . . Kentucky's ex-governor, ex-Senator Earl Clements has really gone rural. He is milking 150 cows with a chore boy lactarium in Morganfield, Ky., says he's never going back to politics.

Russ Violate Pledge to U.S.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Just 30 years ago — on Nov. 16, 1933 — the United States government formally recognized the government of the Soviet Union. The anniversary furnished an opportunity to publicize formally the many violations of pledges by the Soviet government during the intervening years, but somehow the United States government was strangely silent.

The act of recognition and resumption of diplomatic relations came in 1933, after 16 years of hesitation and reluctance by Presidents Wilson, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover, and with misgivings by President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Certain conditions were imposed in the agreement which have since been flagrantly violated again and again by the Soviets.

In a significant memorandum written on July 16, 1933, to President Roosevelt by Robert F. Kelley, chief of the Division of Eastern European Affairs in the Department of State, the following warning had been given:

"It would seem, therefore, that an essential prerequisite to the establishment of harmonious and trustful relations with the Soviet government is the abandonment by the present rulers of Russia of their world revolutionary aims and the discontinuance of their activities designed to bring about the realization of such aims. More specifically and with particular regard to the United States, this prerequisite involves the abandonment by Moscow of direction, supervision, control, financing, etc., through every agency utilized for the purpose of Communist or other related activities in the United States."

THE DOCUMENTS exchanged in Washington on Nov. 16, 1933, between President Roosevelt and Foreign Minister Maxim Litvinoff made a particular effort to cover the point in the Kelley memorandum. The notes of recognition contained mutual promises, and the Russian government thus agreed to the following pledge:

"To refrain and to restrain all persons in government service and all organizations of the government or under its direct or indirect control, including the organizations in receipt of any financial assistance from it, from any act overt or covert liable in any way whatsoever to injure the tranquility, prosperity, order or security of the whole or any part of the United States, its territories or possessions, and in particular, from any act tending to incite or encourage armed intervention or any agitation or propaganda having as an aim, the violation of the territorial integrity of the United States, its territories or possessions, or the bringing about by force a change in the political or social order of the whole or any part of the United States, its territories or possessions."

YET THE Federal Bureau of Investigation and congressional committees have uncovered in the last 30 years instance after instance in which the Soviet government has sent its agents into the United States and has financed organizations aiming to overthrow the American government. Only last year there also was exposed to world view the plot to injure the people and territory of the United States by means of missile bases and military forces stationed in Cuba. These hostile moves, although ostensibly the responsibility of the Cuban regime, were directed as well as financed by the Soviet government in Moscow.

Less than two years after formal recognition was extended, Secretary of State Cordell Hull — in a statement to the press on Sept. 1, 1935 — pointed to the violation of various pledges by the Russians, and said:

"If the Soviet government pursues a policy permitting activities on its territory involving interference in the internal affairs of the United States instead of preventing such activities as its written pledge provides, the friendly and official relations between the two countries cannot but be seriously

Letters to The Editor

Suggests Inn Pay Own Way

To the Editor:

Because of recent publicity regarding the possibility of Holiday Inn locating in Winona and the reported feeling of some that "Winona should give them the land for $1.00", we feel we should express our opinion which is our privilege and a part of our good American tradition.

First of all, no one can challenge the right of this company to locate in Winona and we would be the first to defend that right. Also we agree the proposed site is second to none and undoubtedly the very best available.

Let us, however, consider this—the Holiday Inn Corporation is a profit making organization and a very successful one, managed by a group of shrewd businessmen. It sells franchises to individuals and/or groups, allowing them to use the Holiday Inn name for which, we understand, it charges a fee plus a royalty on each room while operated as a Holiday Inn.

Now, no business man or group of business men expects something for nothing. Most are wise enough to realize that if a business venture is so "marginal" that it would fail because of paying a proper price for land acquisition it would probably fail regardless. Motels of the 100 unit size normally budget from $1,000 to $2,500 per unit, which means $100,000 to $250,000 for land cost and preparation of the ground for construction. Actually, location is generally considered to have much more effect on the price than the condition of the land.

It should also be borne in mind that there are probably twenty or more motel chains, some not so well known, which might welcome such an opportunity if the people of Winona really wish to sell the property said to be sought after by the Holiday Inn Corporation.

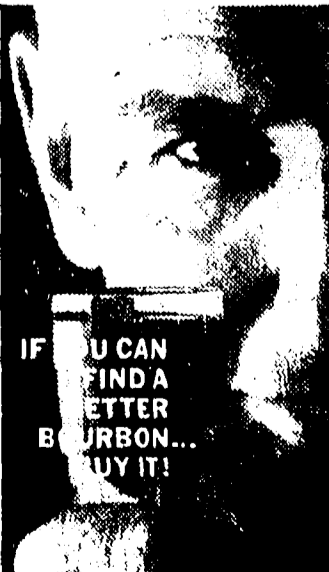

Some folks may say we have "an ax to grind"—and we have. We pay for our location—we pay for everything we use. We pay our taxes, which last year amounted to $4,804.84. We haven't asked for special favors. We like it here and we expect to continue in business in Winona for a long, long time.

If this new motel — or any reputable business firm — desires to come to Winona on the same basis and is willing to invest its money and to pay its way as we have always done, we would be happy to welcome them.

ly impaired." American diplomats complained and protested often in ensuing years, but to no avail. In 1939, the Soviet government became an ally of the Nazis and in a signed agreement guaranteed Hitler that he would not have to fight on his Eastern Front. Laird, Norton Historian Tells Of Findings

Findings in his research into the history of Winona's pioneer lumber firm, the Laird, Norton Co., were reported to members of the Winona County Historical Society Tuesday night by Dr. Fred Kohlmeier, Winona area native on leave from his post as professor of economic history at the University of Illinois.

A former resident of Chatfield, Minn., who attended Winona State College and received his doctorate from the University of Minnesota, Dr. Kohlmeier has been commissioned by the lumber company to gather material for a volume on the history of the firm, its operation and families active in its management.

ABOUT 75 attended the monthly public meeting of the society at the Lumber Building. A petition was signed urging federal action to expedite completion of the Mississippi River Parkway scenic Great River Road project.

Mrs. John Refsland, Houston, a member of the Houston County Historical Society board of directors, was introduced by Dr. L. I. Younger, Winona County society president, as a special guest at the meeting and new member of the Winona County unit.

Dr. Kohlmeier, who is maintaining an office here while doing his research, spoke of the establishment of the lumber firm in the 1850s in an address on "Gleanings from the Laird, Norton History."

He commented on accusations frequently made that early lumbering firms — whose owners were described as "robber barons" — had been responsible for an indiscriminate despoiling of timber areas.

HE REFUTED these charges with an assertion that the operations should be viewed in respect to conditions of the times and emphasized that in the middle years of the last century there was a general apathy among most people regarding conservation practices.

His research convinced him, Dr. Kohlmeier said, that Laird, Norton had worked to observe good conservation practices as they were known at that time and had insisted on similar compliance by sub-contractors.

Of his own work, Dr. Kohlmeier said that he was seeking historical photographs touching on the Laird, Norton operations and was especially anxious to obtain photographs of the Beef Slough area.

Kennedys Plan Thanksgiving at Hyannis Port

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will spend Thanksgiving Day at the traditional Kennedy family gathering at Hyannis Port, Mass., the White House said here.

The Kennedys gather for the holiday at the home of the President's father, former ambassador to England Joseph P. Kennedy, whose sprawling ocean-front house is the center of a family compound at Cape Cod.

The President expects to go to Hyannis Port some time Wednesday, Nov. 27, the day before Thanksgiving, White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said.

He also plans to attend the Army-Navy football game in Philadelphia on Saturday, Nov. 30, and probably will fly there from Hyannis Port, Salinger said.

In recent years, several Canadian provinces have acquired their own authentic tartans. They had to win approval from the Court of the Lord Lyon, Her Majesty's Register House in Edinburgh.

2 Galesville Men Jailed For 'Shining'

Each was sentenced to pay a $50 fine or serve 15 days in the county jail on the first count and $100 or 30 days in the county jail plus a mandatory 10-day jail sentence to be served under the Huber Act on the second count. Osseo Students Can Skip School For Deer Hunting

OSSEO, Wis. (Special) — Osseo High School students in grades 7-12 can miss classes to go deer hunting. The Wisconsin season opens Saturday at 6:30 a.m.

Those who want to hunt during school must obtain an application blank from the principal and present evidence to show that all work missed in classes will be done in advance. They also must have written permission from parents and a valid license and deer tag.

The school recommends hunting on weekends and during Thanksgiving vacation instead of being absent from classes. School will be closed next Thursday and Friday for Thanksgiving vacation.

Hunting Licenses To Be Available At Buffalo City

BUFFALO CITY, Wis. — Wisconsin hunters, who made up their minds to go deer hunting too late to get hunting licenses through regular sources, may secure them up to midnight Friday from Stanley Apel, conservation warden, here.

"My office in my home," he said, "will be open from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. Friday for the sale of resident and nonresident deer licenses. We also will be prepared to issue duplicate licenses to hunters who may have lost their license purchased earlier.

No licenses can be sold after midnight Friday.

Mondovi Service Stations Entered

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special) — Three service stations at Mondovi were burglarized.

About $309 was stolen from Rog's Texaco station on Highway 10 and 37. Burglars gained entry by breaking a small pane in the window on the east side of the building and unlatching the window. A file containing the money was pried open. Roger Winsand, owner, said the loss was covered by insurance.

Other places entered Monday night were Jackson Implement Service on Highway 10 and Riley's 66 Station on Highway 37. At Jackson Implement a chain saw and an undetermined number of tools were taken. A door was pried open.

At Riley's 66 Station a window was pried open too, but apparently nothing was taken there.

An Eau Claire detective and the Mondovi city police are investigating.

So HELP Me by Fran

Having not been able to be at the store for many months I went in last evening for just a few minutes to ride home with Henry and was elated to see all of the beautiful gift merchandise on display — I know where I'm going to do my Christmas shopping! It won't be long until the little parties are being given where you are asked to bring a gift from about 35¢ to $1.00 — Beverly has set up two large tables just inside the front door — one for things under one dollar and the other for gifts an even dollar — they are really beautiful! — Why buy something as just a silly gift when you can be proud of what you give? Slippers — purses — after-bath cologne — magnifying mirrors — bubble bath in lovely unbreakable colorful containers for use on the tub — pretty glass ash trays, circled with gold and gift boxed — stamp dispenser — bath oil capsules — in a pretty wine glass — gold shell containers that can be used as ashtrays, for soap, candy or nuts — candle holder — shower ensemble with rope soap and shower cap in one container — spray cologne — cute gift bridge matches — playing card tray (very good looking) — bridge score pads — lint brush — and more and more! Believe me, these are just a few — Please come in and look around — we love it — and remember, we gift wrap packages FREE.

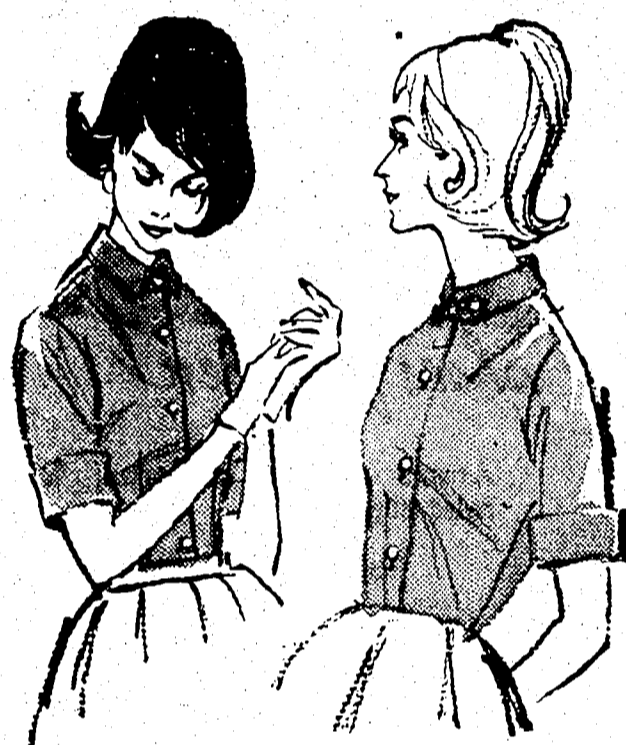

Saw an item I had never seen before — an instant car defroster — if you have been leaving your car outside the last few nights, you know how hard it is to get that frost off the windows, and you don't want a ticket! This is the answer — melts snow, ice and sleet away instantly — plugs into the cigarettes lighter of your car — long cord for side and rear windows — removes fog and steam for crystal clear vision — can also be used as a hand warmer and believe it or not, can be used in the home for quick hair drying when you need to put in those few quick curls.

Plainview Directors Hear Complaints on Reduced Bus Service

PLAINVIEW, Minn. (Special) —Following a hearing at Plainview High School on complaints of some area farmers on curtailed bus service, John Boehlke, board member who presided, said the matter will be discussed further by the board and a decision announced.

In addition to testimony by several others Monday night, Ralph Tiedemann presented the board with a petition, signed by about 150, asking for this declaration of policy:

"SCHOOL BUS routes of this district shall extend over all public roads in said district, including but not limited to all township, county and state highways, and also over all private driveways where the same can be traveled with reasonable safety and where it would work an unreasonable hardship upon the children to walk to the nearest road."

Patrons asked that school bus routes be left as they were previously. Some changes had been made.

Pat Welti said, "A move to economize in the district shouldn't begin with bus service."

Welti said of $70,000 in real estate and $20,000 in personal property taxes in Highland Township last year, 90 percent went to the school, county and township. Although he has no children in school he feels people are entitled to bus service to patrons' driveways because rural people are paying their way.

MRS. EDGAR Herman said the idea of consolidation was to keep children off the road. She pointed out there are many dips and hollows in the terrain, so drivers and children can't see each other until nearly. She pointed this out as a hazard for the children.

Albert Staeger said for nine years a school bus had come to his driveway and had never been stuck. "Why change now?" he asked.

Leo Demming said village children have buildings to protect them and can stop in stores to get warm so route to school, while country children have to walk unprotected from the elements to the bus stop and wait for the bus to arrive, which doesn't always arrive on time due to weather conditions.

PURPOSE OF changes in the bus routes was to cut costs for taxpayers, but some farmers contended the new routes aren't ered 58,812 miles, the chart showed. This year, with 21 changes, 25 miles can be saved per day from the 338 miles traveled daily last year, with an estimated annual saving of $3,961.

Maximum state aid for transportation per pupil is $60, not to exceed 80 percent of the cost.

BOEHLKE said the bus transportation policy provides that "Pupils will be expected to walk to the bus stop if the distance from the junction of the patron's driveway to the bus stop on the public road is not more than one-fourth mile. If the distance is clearly more than one-fourth mile from the regular bus stop, the driver will go to the driveway, provided it is safe to do so, and provided that an all-weather turn-around is built near the junction of the patron's driveway and public road."

"Buses are not to go into a driveway except in the interest of the route and safety of the children. Length of driveway makes no difference. If part of a patron's driveway is public road, the bus will go in only

CHILDREN'S STORY HOUR

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special) — Mrs. Esther Rolbiecki will conduct a story hour for children in the Arcadia Public Library each Saturday at 2 p.m. for children who are or who will be in the first grade next fall. Older children and parents are asked to see that this ruling is observed by youngsters in the family.

Mrs. Rolbiecki asks parents to send children to the story hour in play clothes.

Jet Takes Off Straight Up

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — A strange-looking jet airplane developed under a $2.5-million Army contract took off vertically and then leveled off into normal flight in a demonstration here.

Lockheed-Georgia's new "Hummingbird" can hover like a helicopter or move sideways. It has no propellers. It was shown in its first complete take-off-to-landing operation Wednesday.

Powered by two turbojet engines, the 32-foot-long plane has climbed to 10,000 feet in 58 seconds.

Child Born In Elevator

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Four persons got on the elevator at St. Mary's Hospital, but five got off.

The fifth was a 6-pound, 11-ounce son born to Mrs. Shirley Cooper, 32, of near Maynardville, as she was being taken to the delivery room.

Field Service Wins

American Field Service, an agency that administers an international student exchange program, was announced today as a winner of the 1963 Lane Bryant Group Award for promotion of understanding and friendship among people of the world. L. D. Minard, chairman of the Winona AFS organization which, for several years, has placed foreign students in Winona homes and screened Winona applicants for foreign summer study, was advised that the AFS award was one of three $1,000 awards for volunteer service to the community.

Winona Rambler Shows Dodge

With most of Detroit's 1964 creations on display more than a month, Winona car buyers got their first look at the new Dodge just one short week ago at Winona Rambler, Inc., 810 E. King St.

Winona Rambler has six of the full-sized Dodge and one of the medium-sized 880 series. In addition, several of the smaller Dodge Darts will be put on display shortly.

The styling of the '64 DODGE is new, clean and uncluttered. The graceful lines are fronted by a massive wrap-around front bumper, and an aluminum grille of vertical bars.

Styling at the rear accents width and stability. In all, there are 22 models in the standard-size Dodge line in three series: the 330, 440 and deluxe Polara. The ultra-sporty Polara 500 features a sports package of bucket seats and center console.

A new windshield provides better visibility, and all two-door hardtops feature a "semi-fastback" roofline. Dual tail-lights are featured in the 330 and 440 series, while the Polara has triple lights, with the back-up lights in the center. The overall length has been increased almost two inches, and there is increased headroom in both front and rear.

Six engines, ranging from a 225-cubic-inch six-cylinder to the nationally known Ramcharger 426 with dual four-barrel carburetors, may be linked with two standard and an automatic transmission. The four-speed manual is a new feature. All gears are fully synchronized.

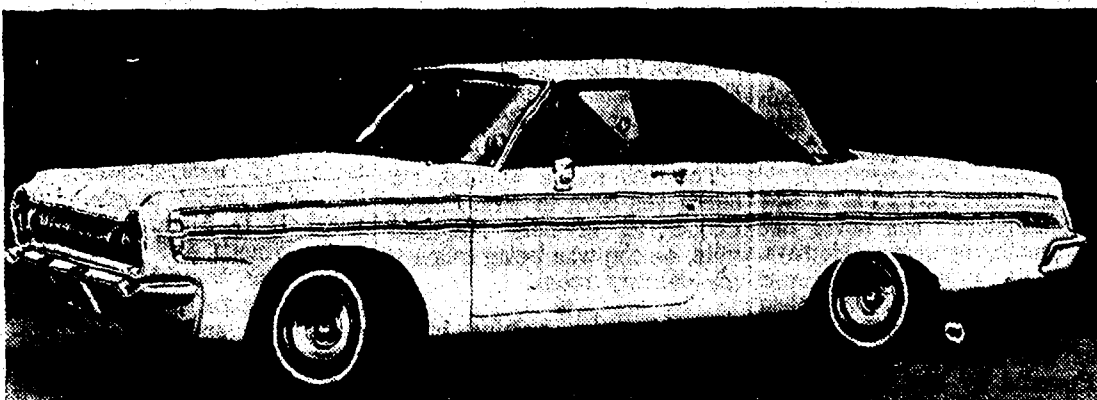

Dodge's medium-priced 880 offers nine models in two series, the deluxe Custom 880 and the lower-priced 880. New features for '64 include: an optional steering wheel that tilts to seven different positions; a four-speed manual transmission, more effective air-conditioning, and a series of engineering refinements which provide faster starting and improved fuel economy.

The broad, concave grille features a pattern of small, tightly linked rectangles with a slender bar running its width and connecting the head lamps. Bold, horizontal taillights dominate the rear.

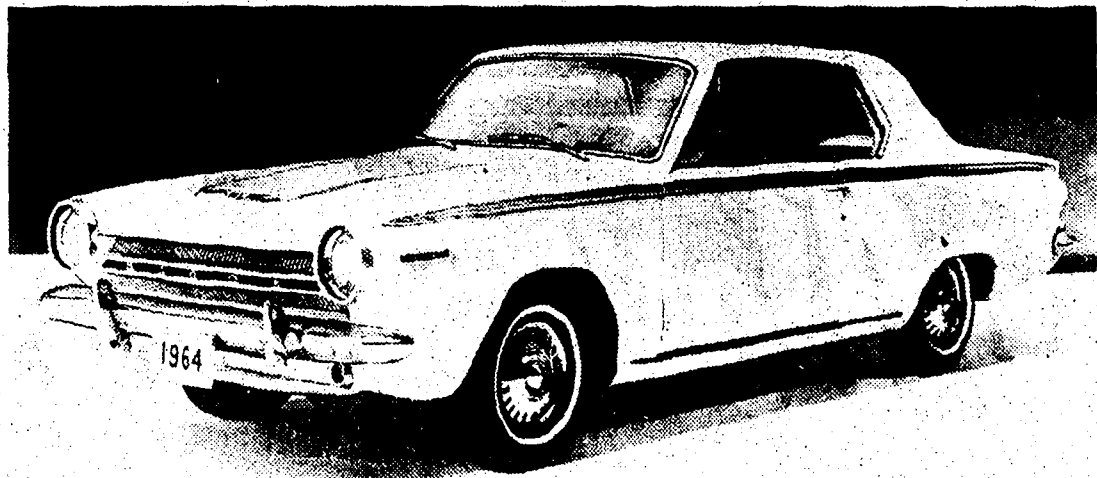

Under the hood is a 361-cubic-inch V-8 which uses regular gasoline. A high performance 383 is offered as an option.

The smallest of the Dodge line, the DART, offers greater comfort, convenience, durability and safety in addition to new styling features. The 1964 Darts are offered in nine models including two station wagons and two convertibles.

A broad grille composed of fine vertical lines plus a simulated air scoop on the hood highlights the front end sculpturing. Side molding gives the impression of increased length, while an increase of three inches in the width of the rear window gives the driver better rear vision.

An increase in compression ratios has improved the efficiency of the Dart's 170 and 225-cubic-inch six-cylinder engines. The smallest Dodge also sports a new four-speed manual transmission. A Sure-Grip differential is added to minimize wheel spin.

A new instrument panel is functional and uncluttered with heater control knobs relocated high on the center face of the panel for more convenience. The Dart's trunk capacity remains one of the biggest in the compact field, equalling that of larger cars.

Northwestern Communities Ask Natural Gas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Power Commission announced Wednesday it will hold a hearing Dec. 17 on a proposal to provide natural gas service for the first time for Fergus Falls and Breckenridge, Minn., and Wahpeton, N.D.

Great Plains Natural Gas Co., Omaha, is seeking authority to extend its pipeline system and install distribution facilities at a cost of about $3.3 million to serve the communities.

The company also is seeking an order to require its supplier, Midwestern Gas Transmission Co., Houston, to connect with facilities which Great Plains would build in Otter Tail County, Minn., and to supply the gas.

Wabasha Co. ARC Collects Gifts for Faribault School

WABASHA, Minn. — The Wabasha County Association for Retarded Children once again is placing collection boxes throughout the county for the convenience of anyone wishing to send Christmas gifts to patients at the Faribault State School and Hospital.

Suggested items are clothing; toilet articles of all types, and large, durable toys such as medicine balls, rubber and plastic building blocks. The greatest need is for gifts for adult males — cigarettes, snuff, belts, T-shirts, shaving needs and similar items.

Patients who otherwise might receive nothing will be remembered.

Collection boxes will be in the following business places until Dec. 7: Gerken's grocery, Zumbro Falls; Gusa electric store, Elgin; Kellogg shopping center; Ben Franklin store, Wabasha; Ives department store, Lake City; Millville food market; Ore Oelkers grocery, Mazeppa; and King grocery, Plainview, according to R. W. Passe, publicity chairman for the Wabasha County ARC.

Retired Blair Teacher 89

BLAIR, Wis., (Special) — Miss Daisy Immell, who spent 43 years of her life in the schoolroom, observed her 88th birthday Friday.

Born Nov. 15, 1874, on a farm three miles east of here, Miss Immell is the last member of a family of seven born to Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Immell. Her last teaching assignment was at Arcadia, where she taught the first two grades. She retired in 1941 at 66. From that time on she cared for her sister, Mrs. Hollis De Bow, an invalid, who died in 1961. Miss Immell was Blair's centennial queen in 1955.

Friends called to help her observe the day. A birthday cake was presented her by Mrs. C. B. Immell, whose husband is her nephew. Miss Immell, who lives alone in a residence on West Second Street, is active for her age.

2,500 Visit New Center At Arcadia

ARCADIA, Wis. — About 2,500 people attended open house at Trempealeau Electric Cooperative here Thursday through Saturday, according to Manager Gordon Meistad.

Visitors toured the new "Willie Wirehand" meeting room for rural and community groups, had coffee and doughnuts served from the new kitchen, and visited the new appliance center called TEC, short for the name of the cooperative.

The new meeting room is 30 by 50 feet, can seat 200, is air conditioned and electrically heated, and includes a built-in movie screen.

The kitchen facilities are additional space.

ALL NONPROFIT groups are free to meet here. On the average the old meeting room was used three and four times a week. More are expected now since the facilities are larger.

The old meeting room has been converted to the appliance center.

The new 27,000-square-foot addition also includes a service shop.

The addition, erected west of the county REA headquarters here, cost $37,800. It is attached to the original building and is faced with the same brick.

ASSISTING Meistad, Henry G. McConnon, Blair, and Daniel F. Thompson, Whitehall, in charge of TEC, and Charles Wolover, Arcadia, public relations director, who will head the new department, were the following members of the board of directors:

Elmer Anderson, Blair, president; Nick Jensen, Arcadia, vice president; Wendell Burt, Independence; Ted Gilbertson, Strum; Henry Kopp, Galesville; and Connie Hanson, Holmen.

Present Saturday was Barbara Slaby, Arcadia, REA queen.

Hoffa Lawyer Disbarred for Jury Tampering

By BARNEY BALLARD

Associated Press Staff Writer

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — An attorney preparing James R. Hoffa's defense against jury-tampering charges has been accused of the same offense and barred from practicing in federal courts.

District Judges William E. Miller and Frank Gray Jr. signed an order Wednesday night prohibiting Z.T. Osborn Jr. of Nashville from practicing in their courts. Officials said the order would bar the lawyer from all federal courts.

The judges accused Osborn, 43, of offering $10,000 through a middleman to a prospective juror if he would prevent conviction of Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union.

Neither Osborn nor Hoffa could be reached for comment.

Hoffa and six other men are to go on trial Jan. 6 on charges of attempting to influence jurors in Hoffa's trial in Nashville last year on charges of conspiring to violate the Taft-

Hartley Act. Osborn, one of Nashville's leading lawyers, helped defend Hoffa in the 1962 trial.

Miller's memorandum said Osborn offered $5,000 through Nashville Policeman Robert D. Vick for the prospective juror, Ralph A. Elliott, if and when he was seated on the jury. The other $5,000 would be paid if Hoffa was not convicted.

Elliott, a member of the district court panel of prospective jurors was said to be a relative of Vick's.

However, Elliott was not contacted and information obtained by Vick was turned over to federal authorities.

Wardrobe Sells For $40,000

CHICAGO (AP) — The personal wardrobe of one of Chicago's wealthiest women — an estimated 25,000 pieces of apparel — has been sold at public auction for $40,000.

The wardrobe, owned by the late Mrs. Violet Bidwell Wolfner, was sold at a three-day auction by order of Cook County Probate Court.

The clothes included more than 1,000 dresses — with a purse to match each dress — some 500 coats and 1,500 pairs of shoes. The highest price paid was $1,250 for a full length

Humphrey Sees Top Priority for Education Bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said Wednesday the administration is giving top priority to passage of two major education bills before the 1963 session ends.

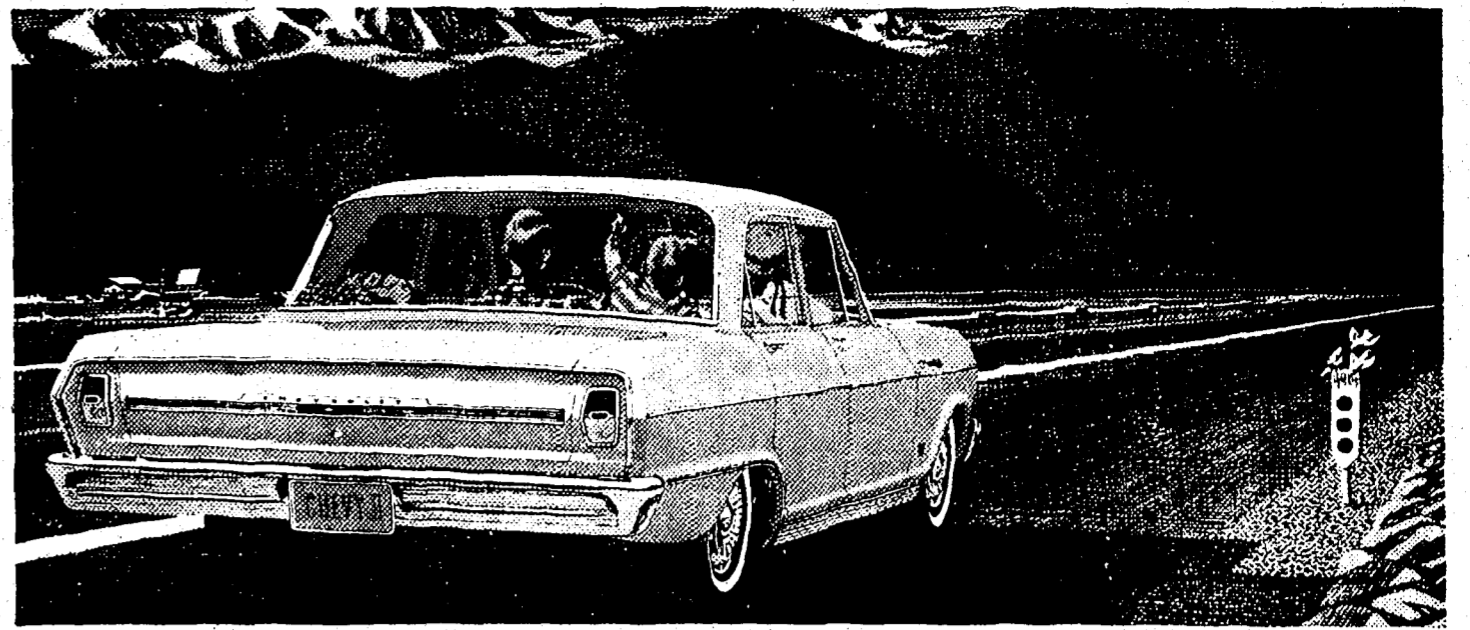

The Democratic Senate whip told newsmen much of a White House meeting of congressional Democratic leaders with President Kennedy was devoted to these two measures.

The two bills, one providing aid for colleges and the other dealing with vocational education and other programs, seem likely to be the only two major administration measures to reach Kennedy's desk in the remaining weeks of the current session.

A snarl has developed over the two measures but Humphrey said he was confident that differences would be resolved.

Mrs. Wolfner was 62 when she died in Miami Beach, Fla., in 1962. She left an estate of $3.1 million to her two adopted sons. Her first husband was Charles W. Bidwell, wealthy sportsman.

Chevy II Nora 4-Door Sedan

Now—'64 Chevy II . . .

with a V8 engine

Now you see it. Now you don't. When a Chevy II does that kind of disappearing act you know without looking twice: It's a '64 with a V8 engine.

That's right. A full-grown 195-hp Turbo-Fire V8.*

It's available for the first time this year along with a choice of three other engines—the standard 4 (in 100 Series sedans), the standard 6 and a new 155-hp 6.* (And all of them maintain their high spirits on modest amounts of regular gasoline.)

But the changes aren't confined to what happens when you slip into the driver's seat.

There are new styling features like the tasteful grille design and trim accents, for instance. And the larger self-adjusting brakes that further reduce upkeep on a car that already has a reputation of coming about as close to perpetual motion as anything on four wheels can get.

The place to get the full details on the '64 is your Chevrolet dealer's. And after you've got them, we hope you'll attend to one further detail yourself. Drive it.

Osseo Council Considers Buying Telephone Firms

OSSEO, Wis. (Special)—The duplication of telephone services in Osseo may be solved by the city council which is issuing letters to both General and Beef River Valley companies and the Public Service Commission indicating its interest in acquiring both systems for municipal ownership.

Also, Clarence Gore, president and manager of Beef River Valley Co., received a letter Wednesday from Floyd Brynolson, Madison, counsel for General, suggesting that both companies jointly meet and study the suggestions of the PSC that they consider three possibilities: Sell to a third party; sell to each other, or operate cooperatively. Municipal acquisition of the companies would be subject to the will of the voters in referendum. Gore said his company would welcome sale if it were approved by a majority of his company subscribers.

Meanwhile, Beef River Valley company is restrained from converting to dial by an order of the PSC issued in 1961. This order, not officially issued until May 1, 1962, restrained both companies from making improvements. Meanwhile General Telephone Co. had begun converting to dial and went dial that summer.

Proposed Durand Budget $128,176

DURAND, Wis.—A proposed budget of $128,176 for the city of Durand will be the subject of a public hearing at the council chambers Monday at 7:30 p.m. It is $4,559 higher than this year's expenditures.

The Pepin County and state levy on Durand is $98,000, $7,800 higher than last year, and school levy is $124,940, $23,000 more than last year.

A total of $246,284 will be the tax bill on Durand next year if the city budget as proposed is adopted.

This will be $32,886 more than the total of all levies here last year, which were $213,398. The 1961 levy, for all purposes, was $202,222.

Can YOU Identify This House?

IMPORTANT — No Salt or so-called Ice Removers should ever be used on Homeward Steps or any other concrete product.

Homeward Steps at the entrance of a house immediately exemplify the owner as a person of smart, stylish, and practical tastes. These top quality Steps have proven themselves to be a wise investment because they need no ordinary maintenance, even after years and years of wear. They're constructed to a full 2" thick reinforced concrete. This is important to you because there are some "skimpy" steps now on the market that are only a little over half as thick (and naturally can't be expected to last as long nor be as strong).
Homeward Steps are easier to install, too, because they are separate sectional construction instead of a cumbersome, awkward entire unit to wrestle into place. It is also important to remember that should a step be damaged (perhaps a truck backs into it or someone drops a heavy object on it) it is practical to replace ONLY the damaged section NOT THE WHOLE EXPENSIVE UNIT!
Through extensive testing and nationwide research it has been found that Homeward 6-inch risers are the best walking and climbing height for elderly people and children . . . with patented non-skid surfaces for increased safety. INSIST ON THE FINEST — insist on Union-Made HOMEWARD STEPS. THEY COST NO MORE! Phone 8-1533 for a Free estimate.

Some Landlords are Yummy!

By EDIE ADAMS

DEAR EDIE: I recently moved into a fully furnished luxury apartment with a built-in bar (completely stocked, Hi-Fi, and all the latest, maddest, most modern conveniences.)

My problem is: the rent is only $75.00 per month — and Jack Lemmon, my landlord, says he will lower the rent if I promise to meet him Under The Yum-Yum Tree. Is this better than a month's concession?

PERPLEXED SINGLE GIRL (34-22-34)

DEAR PERPLEXED: See Jack Lemmon in Columbia Pictures "UNDER THE YUM-YUM TREE," co-starring: Carol Lynley • Dean Jones • Edie Adams • Imogene Coca • Paul Lynde • Robert Lansing and The Yum-Yum Girls.

Dear Edie

DEAR EDIE: Can a boy and girl find happiness under the Yum-Yum tree?

BEWILDERED BLONDE (36-24-36)

DEAR BEWILDERED: Yes, that's where they'll find the passkey to paradise. For proof, see Jack Lemmon in Columbia Pictures "UNDER THE YUM-YUM TREE," co-starring: Carol Lynley • Dean Jones • Edie Adams • Imogene Coca • Paul Lynde • Robert Lansing and The Yum-Yum Girls.

DEAR EDIE: How long has Yum-Yum been going on?

ANXIOUS REDHEAD (38-25-36)

DEAR ANXIOUS: Ever since Adam and Eve. If you don't believe me, see Jack Lemmon in Columbia Pictures "UNDER THE YUM-YUM TREE," co-starring: Carol Lynley • Dean Jones • Edie Adams • Imogene Coca • Paul Lynde • Robert Lansing and The Yum-Yum Girls.

MR. AND MRS. HORACE W. MANN, 753 E. Howard St., are observing their 65th wedding anniversary today. It will actually be a double celebration, for Mr. Mann will be 88 years old Saturday. Mrs. Mann will be 82 on Christmas Day. Close friends and relatives will help them celebrate the occasion on Sunday afternoon at their home. Both have lived in Winona County since birth. They were engaged in farming near Clyde in Saratoga Township for many years, with the exception of 13 years when they lived in St. Charles. There he operated the St. Charles Auto Company and later became agent for the Standard Oil Company, a position he held until they returned to the farm in 1927. Because of ill health, they again left the farm and returned to St. Charles, where they resided until 1957 when they moved to Winona. Mr. Mann is a past noble grand of the IOOF and for many years was the assessor for Saratoga Township. The Manns have two sons and one daughter, Mrs. E. A. Beyer and William H., both of Winona, and Francis G., of Washington, Iowa. A daughter, Gladys, died when she was three in 1913. They have seven grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

College of Saint Teresa's Play Opens Friday Night

Two of the most admired playwrights of England and France, Christopher Fry and Jean Anouilh, have combined their talents in "Ring Round the Moon", a comedy which will be presented by the College of Saint Teresa for four nights beginning at 8 p.m., Friday in the College Theatre. Miss Eileen Whalen is director and John E. Marzocco, technical director. An unusual aspect of this lighthearted frolic is that Robert E. Oram, of the drama department will act two different parts—that of twins. The brothers look alike but are poles apart in temperament.

ORAM WILL alternately portray a brash, self-assured, heartless older brother and a timorous, fumbling, sensitive younger twin. In 1955, Mr. Oram appeared with Miss Dinah Merrill in "Ring Round the Moon" at the Olney Theatre, Olney, Md.

Members of the production staff are Richard J. Weiland, assistant technical director; Elizabeth Krajeck, Fargo, N.D. house manager; Sister Mary Lorraine, publicity; Anita Matzkanin, Chicago, costumes; Sister M. Caelan, poster design; Mary Ellen O'Malley, Chicago, stage manager; Lucy Ramey, Rochester, assistant stage manager.

All seats are reserved. Opening night will be guest night for invited guests of the College. Tickets for Saturday, Sunday, and Monday may be reserved by calling the College.

Soroptimist Club Hears Talk On Winona's November Skies

Sister M. Cortona was featured speaker on the program of the dinner meeting of Soroptimist Club of Winona at the College of Saint Teresa Wednesday evening.

Sister Cortona is lecturer in the planetarium at the college. Her subject was "November skies over Winona, and the Zodiac." She explained that a planetarium is an apparatus constructed in such a manner that the stars, planets, moon and sun can be studied during various phases, and in all seasons.

She took the members through the sky, showing movements of the stars and planets, during a November evening, and then pointed out the heavenly bodies that make up the signs of the Zodiac.

She explained the mythology connected with the Zodiac, expressed wonder at the wisdom and knowledge of the ancients who were aware, without modern methods, that there were stars at all times in back of the sun, though they did not show when the sun was shining because of the intensity of the light reflected by the sun.

SISTER CORTONA lectures each Sunday at the College Planetarium at 3 p.m., changing her lecture each month. She invited members to return and learn more of the stars seen over Winona. Her December lectures will be on the Christmas Sky.

Dinner was held in the Tea House on the college campus. Miss Harriet Kelley, club president, presided at the business session. Miss Evelyn Taraldson, corresponding secretary, read letters received from Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and Eugene McCarthy, and Rep. Albert H. Quie, in answer to the club endorsement of their sponsorship of bills for monies to complete the Great River Road project.

Miss Kelley announced that a new club will be chartered in the North Central Region, at Columbus, Neb., Nov. 30, sponsored by the Lincoln, Neb. Soroptimist Club. A letter of greeting and the club's share of gifts for a new club, will be sent prior to the charter dinner. Announcement was made of a new club in the Pacific Region, at Palm Desert, Calif., chartered Nov. 16, 1963.

MRS. ROY BAAB, chairman of the Bonnet Boutique committee, reported that the committee had met at the home of Mrs. William Markle and set Feb. 23 as the date of the Bonnet Boutique at Richards Hall, Winona State College. B. McLaughlin; program, Mrs. Fae Griffith, Mrs. Studie Blumberg and Mrs. Marie Fjelstad; publicity, Mrs. Lambert; favors, Mrs. Walter Kelly, Mrs. Crane and Mrs. Baab. Workshop meeting on decorations will be announced.

A committee was appointed to evaluate the American Soroptimist magazine, in answer to a request sent by the editor of the magazine. Members offered their opinions and criticisms. These will be incorporated in the reply to be sent by Mrs. Lambert.

MISS KELLEY announced that the committee working on nominations for the Regional Nominating Committee, and the American Federation Nominating Committee will meet with Mrs. McLaughlin Monday noon at the Paul Watkins Memorial Methodist Home. Mrs. McLaughlin, Miss Kelley and Mrs. Lambert are committee members.

The December noon luncheon will be held in the Huntsman's Room of the Steak Shop Dec. 4. Place of the annual Christmas meeting Dec. 18 will be announced later.

Mrs. Jaycees Hear Brother Raymond, St. Mary's College

"Mental illness is an affliction that has been with the human race almost from the beginning of recorded history," Brother Raymond of St. Mary's College said Tuesday evening at a meeting of the Mrs. Jaycees.

He was speaker of the evening at the event, held at the home of Mrs. Delvin Williams. Brother Raymond defined the two kinds of mentally ill persons as psychotic and neurotic and told what the medical profession is doing about the problem of mental illness.

"The emphasis (today) is on treatment and cure rather than on diagnosis and isolation as it was in former days," Brother Raymond said. He stressed the fact that the problem of the mentally ill is a complex one, since there is no clear-cut dividing line between mental illness and mental health. Many normal persons, he said, experience periods of depression, tension and anxiety, similar to those of the mentally ill.

"The mentally and physically ill are those who are so burdened with many handicaps that they are either entirely incapacitated or are at least drastically curtailed in efficiency of living," he concluded.

Mrs. John Breilow presided at the meeting. Mrs. O. J. Fawcett talked on the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, to which the Mrs. Jaycees make donations. Members voted to support the bill on the Great River Road. Refreshments were served by co-hostesses Mmes. Douglas Dettman and Tom Lindquist.

Family Histories Heard by Society

CALEDONIA, Minn. (Special) — Two family histories, election of officers, a brief history of the society, a program and a talk by Dr. Lewis Younger, president of the Winona County Historical Society, highlighted the quarterly meeting of the Caledonia village auditorium Sunday afternoon.

DR. YOUNGER outlined the progress the Winona County group has made since 1954.

By preserving items from the past, local historical societies help build respect for the area, its elders and for the ideals of Americanism, he said.

It is especially important that societies become active in collecting and preserving, because historical items are being destroyed. Modern homes without attics or basements have no room for them, he said. The superhighway and urban renewal programs as well are fires also are disastrous to them.

The speaker displayed items from the War Eagle — an Elias Howe sewing machine, glass bottles and other specimens which sank with the ship in 1870.

OFFICERS and directors were re-elected as follows: Wesley Happel, president; Thomas Flynn, vice president; and Mrs. W. A. Johnson, secretary, all of Houston; William L. Murphy, Caledonia, treasurer; and I. G. Iverson and Mrs. John Reitsland, Houston; Olaf Khome, Spring Grove; Miss Gladys Lapham, Lyle Lapham and Mrs. R. E. Sprague, Caledonia; W. C. Lockhart and Arthur Renner, Brownsville; and Clifford Orr, Mound Prairie.

Larry Olson, Spring Grove, is a new director. Miss Georgina Lommen, Caledonia, was elected adviser.

Miss Lommen is a charter member of the society, which was organized in 1948. It was discontinued for a time, revived in 1954 when it put on a pageant, "The Past Is Our Heritage," for the Caledonia centennial, declined once more and again came to life three years ago. Membership now is 95.

"WHAT WE LACK in other things we make up for in enthusiasm," Murphy said. He hopes by the next annual meeting the society will have a museum in the village hall here for display of historical items and a collection of family trees. Officers and directors meet monthly in homes.

Murphy was master of ceremonies at the program, which began with a welcome by Mayor Dean Dennison.

Mrs. Victor Palen, Girl Scout leader, presented the Scouts, who wore old uniforms of this organization. Janet Gaspard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gaspard, gave the history of pewter ware and displayed articles owned by Mrs. L. L. Duxbury Jr. that were brought from England by her grandmother. Articles belonging to Miss Lommen and Mason Witt also were displayed.

Mary Wagner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wagner, gave the history of Tiffin glassware.

GERRY AND Vickie Palen, children of the Victor Palens, discussed antique photographic equipment and demonstrated the use of the equipment belonging to their grandfather, Frank Palen, who at the age of 7 came here with his father, Dominic, in 1875.

Frank Palen opened a photographic studio here in 1891 following his apprenticeship in La Crosse. The business now is owned by his son.

Elda Ideker, Hokah; Sandra Miller, Brownsville; and Joan Goetzinger, Freeburg, gave a musical number, accompanied by Mary Heiler, Brownsville. Donna Nims, daughter of Mrs. Evelyn Nims, gave the Graf family history. A history of the Hefke family was given by Diane Bunge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reinhart Bunge, Caledonia.

Minnesota Tree Supply Dwindling

LEWISTON, Minn. — Farmers who have any intention of planting trees in 1964 should hurry and place their orders for planting stock at once, says John F. Papenfuss, chairman of the Winona ASC County Committee.

Papenfuss says his committee and other conservationists in the county are becoming greatly concerned because the large available stocks at the Minnesota state nurseries are going rapidly and Winona County farmers have thus far placed comparatively few orders.

"LET'S HURRY up and get these orders in," says Papenfuss. "Or county farmers who have a great need are going

Farm and Home Workshops Slated In Houston Co.

CALEDONIA, Minn.—A series of farm and home management workshops will be offered to Houston County farmers, County Agent Francis J. Januschka said.

The five workshops are set up for farmers wishing to set up a plan for future farm operations. It is designed to help farmers determine which enterprise combinations work best for their particular farm and situation.

The husband and wife both will be involved; home management will be covered as well as farm management.

The series will start Jan. 8 and meet five consecutive Wednesdays until Feb. 5. The sessions will run from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., and will be held in the basement of the Golfview Restaurant near Rushford.

Farmers interested in registering are to contact the county extension office by Dec. 6.

Root River SCD To Meet Monday

SPRING GROVE, Minn. (Special) — The Root River Soil Conservation District will hold its 13th annual banquet Monday at 7:15 p.m. at Trinity Lutheran Church.

Speaker will be Merle Severson, Minnesota state deputy commissioner of agriculture, who will speak and show slides of his recent trip to the Soviet Union.

Banquet tickets available from district supervisors and at the SCS office.

No 'Right' Way To Rear Child, Specialist Says

CALEDONIA, Minn. — There is no one right way of rearing children.

Sixty-three parents heard this statement from Ron Pitzer, family life specialist at the University of Minnesota at the meeting on "Bringing Up Junior" here.

Pitzer feels many parents know the principles of child-rearing but fail to apply them. Some of the most common principles are:

- Don't lose your temper.
- Be consistent.
- Show your child he is loved.
- Punish the act, not the child.
- Be impartial.
- Sexual curiosity is natural and should not be punished.
- One child should not be compared with another.
- Children can tell how you really feel.
- Each child is unique, an individual.
- Don't spoil the child — he has to face reality.
- Be patient — reason with him.
- Children are very complex.
- Though parents may know these principles, there is no guarantee that they will be applied. Some of the reasons they are not applied are these, said Pitzer:
- Our standards are too high.
- Parents' personal problems.
- False ideas of what children really are.
- Society's pressures on parents.

Perhaps one of the most important things to keep in mind in child rearing is that parents should provide a warm, accepting, loving atmosphere for their children. If this is the situation, problems will be easier to solve, he said at the meeting Nov. 14.

Spring Grove Herd

SPRING GROVE, Minn. — Three registered Guernsey cows in the herd of Olaf J. Kjome and Sons, Spring Grove, have completed top official HIR actual production records, according to The American Guernsey Cattle Club. All cows were milked two times a day, Valleyland Vicky, a senior 4-year-old produced 12,002 pounds of milk and 588 pounds of fat, in 286 days; Valleyland Lynn, a senior 3-year-old, 11,127 and 487, 305 days, and Valleyland Trudie, a junior 2-year-old, 9,135 and 462, 305 days.

ganism once it has been determined.

- Mastitis prevention, through proper housing, bedding, care and milking practices.

The foundation pointed out farmers do not have to "live with" mastitis. They do not have to, that is, if they will adopt this control program and follow it vigorously, say the foundation's authorities.

3 Trempealeau County Soil Savers Honored

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special) — For excellence in adoption of conservation practices to their land, three farm families of Trempealeau County were honored at a noon banquet at Galesville Presbyterian Church Monday.

Odell Schansberg, Whitehall, chairman of the county soil conservation district supervisors, presented certificates to Herman Dopp, Ettrick; Gerhard Fremstad, Whitehall, and Claude Jackson, Independence.

Dopp and his son, John F., own and operate 385 acres in the Town of Gale. Conservation methods on the Dopp farm include contour strip cropping, pasture renovation; 96 acres of pasture woods protected from fire and overgrazing, and detention structures for retarding water run-off on steep slopes. The Dopps have 100 head of cattle, which include 45 milk cows for the main source of income.

FREMSTAD owns and operates 338 acres in the Town of Pigeon. He has used relatively the same practices as Dopp with gully control structure; six acres of pine and regular crop rotation. The Fremstads operate a general dairy farm with the addition of 300 laying hens. The farm has been in the Fremstad family almost 100 years.

JACKSON owns and operates 345 acres in Plum Creek, family owned for nearly a century. This farm has 130 acres of open land, 50 acres with a tile system; strip cropping on sloping land. 20 acres of woodland under timber stand improvement and 60 acres of woodland fenced out. There are four detention ponds on the place, 600 feet of diversion dike, and 500 feet of grass waterway.

Jacksons use strip contour and pasture renovation. It is a beef cattle farm with 100 head. An active member of the Rod and Gun Club, Jackson is interested in big game hunting and fishing. He was chosen by Judge A. L. Twesme to serve on the Trempealeau County Drainage Board.

HOSTS FOR the banquet, attended by approximately 100, were members of the Trempealeau County agricultural committee: Schansberg, Lee Sacia, Galesville, chairman of the county board; Paul Lehman, Trempealeau, treasurer; Lily Reich, Independence, secretary; John Walek Jr., Independence, a member, and Trempealeau County Soil Conservation District supervisors.

Presentation of soil conservation poster awards were by Nic Jensen, president of the Rod and Gun Clubs, Trempealeau County, and Miss Reich; to Eileen Isom, Osseo; Lois Lakely, Trempealeau; Marie Miller, Independence; Sheryl Johnson and Beverly Rohde, Galesville; Tonja Pruess, Whitehall, and Evangeline Wier, Arcadia.

E. O. Baker, Eau Claire, conservation education specialist, was master of ceremonies.

SEN. Raymond C. Bice, La Crosse, discussed "Conservation Progress." He congratulated the farm families and the poster award winners, noting that all the posters displayed were in keeping with what he wanted to emphasize.

Bice quoted the Bible on the creation of earth to bear fruit. He noted that on the moon there are no people, no atmosphere and no water, only dust, and said without conservation practices this planet could be the same.

China is starving because of having denuded the soil, he said. Countries without conservation practices have to be fed by us and yet every day we are polluting the streams more and poisoning the air with motor exhaust and fouling up our streams and land with broken beer bottles.

"We must keep conservation practices and clean air and water to pass on unspoiled for future generations," said Bice. He said air pollution of Milwaukee needs to only increase once more to kill plant life.

A dinner will be served at noon and a movie shown afterward. Lindley Smith is county director.

HOUSTON COUNTY members will meet at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday at the Sprague Bank basement, Caledonia. A noon meal will be served. A film will be shown. Julius Ernster is county director.

FILLMORE COUNTY members of Tri-State will meet at the American Legion Hall, Mabel, at 8 p.m. Monday. Olaf Sande is county director.

Several Wabasha County NFO members will be delegates to the national convention Dec. 4-5 in Des Moines, Iowa. They will be DWAIN DOSE, PAUL MARK, ALFRED DRENCH-HAHN, LLOYD ROEMER, HARLAN SCHROEDER, JOHN WELT, FRANK BIEGLOW, FRED KNAUF, ORVILLE ROEMER, Mr. and Mrs. HERBERT SPRENGER, Mr. and Mrs. DONALD TUCKER, Mr. and Mrs. JOSEPH ROLAND and Mr. and Mrs. KENNETH HAGGERTY . . . From an acre of crops, the dairy cow produces an average of 2,190 pounds of milk, which contains 72 pounds of digestible protein and 712 units of energy.

Fence posts can be made to last from 10 to 30 years, depending on the type of treatment they are given and the species used. Pressure treated posts usually give the longest possible life . . . Approximately 150,000 trees have been planted in Wabasha County during the past 10 years, reports MATT METZ, county agent . . . Is the work all done for the year? Don't forget your record keeping, reminds the extension service. This is the important part of your farm work . . . A home lighting clinic will be presented at the FRANKLIN HOLZER home Friday, reports, KATHERINE HISEY, Wabasha County home agent.

The average life of a new refrigerator or range is about 16 years, reports the USDA's consumer service. A TV set should last 11 years . . . WALTER WOLFE, who lives near Bluff Siding, Wis., displayed a red strawberry in the office last week. He said there were some other green ones in the patch but he didn't see any blossoms. The berry was not from an ever-bearing plant . . . Raising dairy calves is one of the more important jobs connected with a dairy operation, reports GARFIELD STOCK, Pepin County agent . . . He recommends an extension booklet "Raising Better Dairy Calves," that can be picked up at his office.

From all indications of research by the extension service, farmers can expect an increased yield when plowing is completed in the fall. Of course the field must be relatively flat or the conservation plan on the farm must be completed . . . An evening course in soils will be offered in Pepin County during February. Contact the extension office at Durand for more information . . . Mr. and Mrs. VINCENT GOHL and family have moved from their farm home in rural Lake City to their home at 510 Center St., Lake City . . . New owners of the Gohl farm are Mr. and Mrs. LOUIS TIGHE of Dakota City, Neb.

Egg prices averaged 32 cents per dozen in October, one cent below a year ago . . . The estimated 35 million pounds of American cheese made in Wisconsin during September was a record output for the month . . . One hour of farm labor produces more than five times as much food and other crops as it did in 1919-1921 . . . Two huge castor bean plants were reported in the area. Mr. and Mrs. DONALD W. WOOD, Sugar Loaf, said a castor bean at their home attained a height of 15½ feet. In the last month before it was cut down, the plant grew almost five feet. The other 15-foot castor bean was grown by Mrs. HAZEL OLSON, Houston, Minn. The plant, which grew in her backyard, was 10 inches in circumference.

GEHL Mix-All cuts feedmaking costs

The 10,000 owners of Gehl Mix-Alls have found that it's the best money-saving machine they have ever owned. Try it yourself . . . you'll save on costs by using your own grain and buying concentrate in quantity. You save the cost of grinding and mixing because you do it yourself. You save grain hauling trips to the mill. You save again by making feed in minutes . . . no waiting in line at the mill.

It's easy to make high quality, low cost feeds with a Mix-All. Just load your grain in the swinging auger feeder. Pour the concentrate in the low-mounted concentrate hopper. If you want to add roughage to your ration, toss baled hay slices right into the crusher-feeder. The Mix-All does the rest. In just 20 minutes you'll have two tons of finished feed a commercial mill would be proud to put out. And you can't beat the convenience of grinding and mixing when you want to. You can make a fresh batch in minutes.

You'll like the savings . . . many of the 10,000 Mix-All owners report that in just one year they saved enough money on feedmaking costs to pay for their Mix-Alls. Seeing is believing . . . so stop in soon for a demonstration of the money-saving, time-saving Gehl Mix-All.

Wisconsin Called Logical Area for Beef Expansion

By 1970 U.S. consumers will be demanding about 25 percent more beef than we now produce—if the present taste for beef continues. This is an increase to 99½ million head of cattle.

And Wisconsin is one logical place to produce many of those cattle, according to Dwayne Rohweder, University of Wisconsin forage specialist.

IT APPEARS that Wisconsin farmers already have sensed this increased demand when you look at the growth of beef herds recently. Wisconsin had 53,000 beef cows on farms in 1950, compared with about 143,000 now. Nearly 43,000 steers were fed on Wisconsin farms in 1930; now there are nearly 90,000.

Rohweder has looked into many of the angles of expanding the beef cow and calf program in Wisconsin. For example, an expansion of beef cattle production would be logical because of forage surpluses. Shifts in land use patterns are releasing land for forage production. Many farmers are confining corn production to their better land where they can obtain high yields.

Wisconsin dairy cattle numbers are not increasing. But improved plant varieties are boosting the potential for forage production. The state has more part-time farmers. They often find it more convenient to raise beef than to run a dairy farm.

BUT THIS doesn't mean increased beef production would be practical for the entire state, says Rohweder. Non-glaciated areas in western and southwestern Wisconsin look like the most probable. The northern

Caledonia Herd Highest in DHIA

CALEDONIA, Minn. — The top herd in the Houston County DHIA in October was owned by Rainer Klug, Caledonia, Unit 1. His herd of 26 registered Brown Swiss averaged 43.9 pounds of butterfat.

Top herd in the other unit was owned by Roland Bolduan, Caledonia. His herd of 23 grade Holsteins averaged 40.2 pounds of butterfat.

one-third of the state is a possibility.

It will be important to feed beef cows on pasture as much as possible, says Rohweder. Seven months of grazing is a good goal for southwestern Wisconsin. Fertilized grass pastures can provide early season grazing, while legume-grass or grass gives mid-season grazing. Legume seedlings which are to be plowed, bluegrass, or stockpiled sudangrass would extend the grazing season into the fall. Corn stalks, bean stubble or legume stands—after they've developed cold resistance—can be used for late fall grazing.

By JOHN HALVORSON
Assistant Winona County Agent
(This is the second in a series of six articles on 4-H projects offered in Minnesota. The county agent staff at each county extension office administers the 4-H club program with help from local adult leaders and the University of Minnesota.)

Accepting responsibility is a very hard task for some people. But that's not so for Winona County 4-H'ers. Through 4-H they gain knowledge and experience to prepare them for the future.

With more than 30 projects available in six different areas, 4-H'ers have much to choose from. One of the most popular divisions is the livestock projects. Included in this area are beef, dairy, sheep, swine, poultry, rabbits and horses. Nothing gives a youngster a greater feeling of responsibility than to know they are accountable for a living animal.

A balanced diet is very important to animals just as it is to a human. Four-H'ers learn to feed a proper ration to their animals and why it is a proper ration. Learning how to take care of an animal can mean the difference between success and failure. An animal must be kept clean and dry to maintain good health. Regular feeding hours and a certain amount of TLC (tender loving care) always seem to improve an animal.

LEARNING to show an animal is a part of the 4-H program that indicates the interest of a member and just how much they know about animals. The ability to provide and care for an animal does not come over night. It takes time for a club member to become experienced and gain the real true meaning of managing an animal properly.

Everyone realizes how important it is to make the right decision. Livestock judging provides a background for the decision making process. Being able to select the right animal and tell why you did it, is part of the 4-H livestock judging program. This forms excellent groundwork for decisions to be made in the future.

THE 4-H DAIRY project is a very popular one in Winona County. In 1963 more than 170 4-H members were enrolled in this project. Dairy project members are encouraged to start with a calf and raise it to a mature cow. This gives the club member a good chance to watch the animal grow and mature.

And with the complete records, a member can tell whether or not the animal is paying for itself. The economics of a project play a very important role in the learning experience of a member.

Local 4-H leadership is given by parents, organizational leaders and the county extension office. Four-H does offer much. What a member gets out of it depends on how much they put in. The opportunity is there.

Information on 4-H membership can be gained by contacting a local leader or your county extension office.

ASC Promises More Prompt Loan Service

LEWISTON, Minn.—Farmers should be able to obtain their loans more promptly under 1964 price-support programs, John F. Papenfuss, chairman of the county agricultural stabilization and conservation committee, reports.

New operating procedures under the programs will apply particularly to farm-stored commodity loans.

THE CHAIRMAN explained under previous conditions it sometimes took considerable time for a producer to obtain his farm-stored commodity loans due to the required exact measurements of quantity and determination of quality factors. In 1964 administrative instructions will be held to a minimum, and farmer-committee men will have more responsibility in the local administration of the programs. Community committees may handle applications and collateral-inspection duties.

Under the new procedure, price support may be requested by filing an application and paying a nominal fee, which is not refundable. (This application also will replace the purchase agreement form.) The ASCS county office representative and the producer will then jointly confirm the existence and apparent condition of the farm-stored commodity. Together they can develop a quantity estimate to which a reasonable safety factor will be applied. (Where a producer wants only price-support protection without a loan, no farm visit will be made.)

ON WAREHOUSE storage loan, as in the past, the producer will put up his warehouse receipts as collateral. The price-support loan rate then will be based on the settlement value of the quality offered. The quantity eligible will be that shown on the receipt.

Disbursements will be made by the ASCS county offices using a CCC loan draft designed so a bank may hold it as an interest-bearing certificate. If the producer redeems his crop (either farm- or warehouse-stored), no service charge will apply. If the producer does not redeem his crop, CCC will accept all of the eligible commodity at delivery time, and settlement will be based on its grade, quality and quantity.

Organic Compounds Cause of Acidity, Researchers Find

DENVER, Colo. — Most soil acidity is held in a reservoir of aluminum and organic compounds in soil, according to research reported here.

Details about reactions involved in soil acidity were presented by University of Wisconsin soil mineralogist M. L. Jackson, who spoke to the annual meetings of the American Society of Agronomy on research he has conducted with V. V. Volk and U. Schwertmann.

The acid hydroxy aluminum forms a positively charged gel and coats negatively charged clay and organic particles.

Jackson calls these clays "hydronium-aluminum clays" because the excess hydrogen is in hydronium-like surfaces. The purpose of liming soil, he says, is to pull the excess hydrogen from the acid aluminum compounds so they become neutral in reaction rather than acid.

These findings help research men understand what goes on when soil becomes acid and has to be limed by the farmer, why some soils respond to liming better than others, and how soils become increasingly more acid as they grow older.

BIOCHEMIST SAYS:

Lysine New in Cereals; Most of Us Don't Need It

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Amino acid deficiencies in cereal grains result in only a fraction of health problems in the United States, but have a much greater consequence on the world at large, says I. E. Lien, biochemist at the University of Minnesota.

Cereal proteins contain only half as much body building materials as the proteins from animal sources. Adding the animal protein lysine to cereal proteins restores a normal rate of growth.

AMERICANS have an unlimited supply of animal protein in the form of eggs, milk and meat products to provide a diet of high enough nutritional value to meet body building needs.

There are exceptions of individuals who do not eat a varied diet. This may be due to individual likes and dislikes of certain foods or perhaps a program in weight reduction. It may be necessitated for health reasons as in the case of an allergy to certain foods.

These situations are not normal and do not constitute sufficient justification for the widespread supplementation of all cereal proteins with lysine, claims Lien.

To meet the limited need that may exist, specialty items as lysine-fortified bread, biscuits and breakfast cereals are now beginning to appear in the grocers' shelves.

On the worldwide scale, protein malnutrition is the most serious and widespread nutritional deficiency. Particularly in Central and South America, Africa, India and the Far East. This problem stems from the fact that meat protein is not consumed to any appreciable extent in these countries.

EXTENSIVE clinical tests have conclusively demonstrated that when lysine is added to native diets containing cereal grains a marked improvement is evidenced in the health and well-being of the people.

Because of the results of these tests intensive efforts have been made by chemical manufacturers in this country to produce lysine on a large scale. It will be used as a food supplement in much the same way as vitamins are now supplied to enrich processed foods.

The cost per person of lysine supplementation would run $2 to $3 per year. This would be a small price to pay toward eliminating the disease and social unrest which is now plaguing large segments of the world's population, says Lien.

Clod Buster May Save Time at Corn Planting

MADISON, Wis. — Have you been looking for a way to reduce the amount of time and labor spent on preparing seedbeds for corn planting? Orrin Berge, agricultural engineer at the University of Wisconsin, has several ideas that may meet your needs.

One of these is the clod buster or plow packer that attaches to the plow. It combines a tillage operation with the plowing operation, Berge says. Immediately after plowing is a good time to break up clods of soil before they dry and harden. You can plant corn in the conventional manner or with wheel track planting following this operation.

Another system makes use of hitches so that you can pull a corn planter behind a tillage tool. Some farmers use a front mounted tractor cultivator for tillage tool and pull the corn planter behind the tractor. Others prefer to pull the planter behind a tillage tool attached to the rear of the tractor. These tools may be a rear tool bar cultivator, a disc or a trailer-type cultivator. Any of these systems save a trip over the field. This means you save time as well as lowering soil compaction, Berge says.

Strip tillage is another scheme some farmers are trying. With this method, soil is tilled in narrow bands — between six and eight inches wide — just ahead of the planting units. You can use strip tilling on plowed land, sod land or in the track left from last year's corn, Berge says. You will have to use chemical weed control with this method. One form of the strip tiller uses narrow power driven rotary tillers for each of the corn rows being planted. Power to drive the tiller is supplied by the tractor power take off.

In another system, intended primarily for planting in plowed ground, a set of rotary hoe elements are mounted backward to till the strip of soil. One of these elements is mounted ahead of each of the planter shoes.

Gale-Etrick Tour

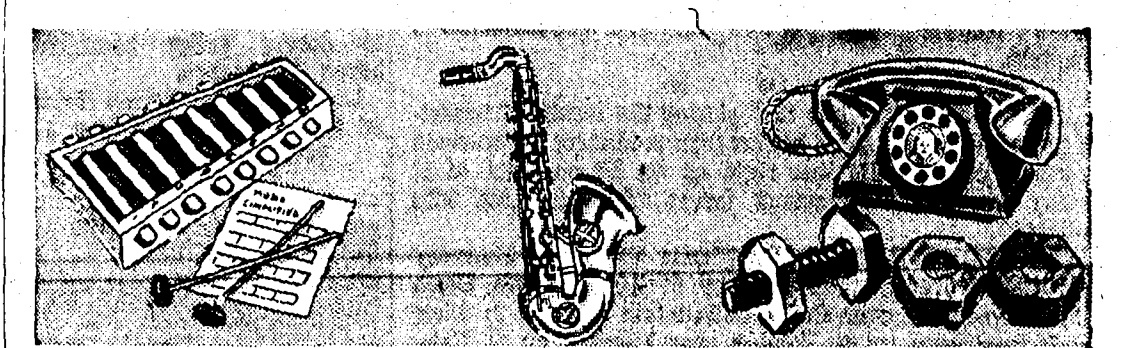

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special) — Twenty-five active student librarians at Gale-Etrick High School were conducted on a tour of the Winona State College library last week. Miss Alice Thurston explained the purpose and use of the microfilm projector, the periodical storage room, sample textbook room and other parts of the 60,000-volume library. A highlight was a visit to the area where research papers of graduate students are stored. They examined a book written by William Emmons, former Gale-Etrick mathematics teacher, now an instructor at the college.

OSSEO, Wis. — Sandra Gilbert, Osseo, is one of Wisconsin's nine outstanding 4-H and Future Farmers of America dairy project members who are touring some of the state's leading Guernsey farms at Cumberland, Barron, Ridgeland, Chetek and Bruce.

Lanesboro Eyes 2nd ML Crown

WE GOT OUR first look at high school basketball for the season at Cochrane-Fountain City Tuesday night when the Pirates entertained and defeated Alma 66-64.

The game also marked our first look at the new rules for the season.

The biggest change this year is that the official must handle the ball after all violations in both the back and front courts.

Immediately you basketball fans can see problems for teams utilizing fast break attacks. No longer can a team pick up the ball on a violation in the back court and put it in play.

That problem was pointed out doubly in the game we viewed Tuesday. Both Alma and Cochrane-Fountain City have used fast breaking attacks exclusively in recent years in an attempt to beat the opponent. Now the defenses have a chance to get set.

Also, the clock stops on all violations and doesn't start to run again until the ball has been passed in bounds. This, say the mathematicians at Winona High, will cause a game to run between eight and ten minutes longer than in past years.

Also gone is the official's timeout. No longer will the official be able to take a timeout for a player to tie a shoe-string. Nothing short of a major catastrophe will cause the clock to stop. If a player is injured and it takes more than 1 1/2 minutes to resume play, two timeouts can be charged. It looks as if the days of piles of players on the floor hunting for a lost contact lens are gone forever, but we can't help wondering what will happen if the floor becomes wet or littered. It's going to be hard for the whistle-blowers to sweep the floor while staying in motion and position to call the plays.

Also this year, more pressure will be put on a fouling player. The official won't address the scorer until he makes certain the player in violation has raised his hand.

More pressure, too, will be put on the offensive muscle men. The officials have been asked to call more violations on the player with the ball pushing past the defensive man.

Also new, the referee can pick the official timer and scorer and it need not be a home team representative.

It goes without saying, the boys in black and white will be busier than ever this year.

DEFENDING Region One champion Austin opens its season by hosting Richfield of the Lake Conference Saturday night and the Packers may be without the services of all-conference guard Dave Hartman.

Hartman, the key to the Packer attack, has been hampered by a football injury and is a doubtful performer.

Also nursing a gridiron hurt is holdover regular Al Berg, who suffered an elbow injury against Red Wing.

WE DON'T KNOW if Houston's Elwood Lee is a shy, retiring sort of fellow, but his picture is.

After correspondent Vienna Drake had mailed us all — or what she thought was all — of the all-conference pictures submitted by Root River Conference coaches, she found Elwood's tucked down in the corner of an envelope.

If Elwood is shy, his athletic and academic feats speak well for him. A "B" plus student, he is a 170-pound center and defensive end who scales 6-1. While operating at center, he hasn't made a bad pass in two years and was a Hurricane co-captain.

JOHN KENNEY told us that picking the results of basketball games was going to be harder than predicting the outcome of football contests. He was right as we hit on eight of 13 Tuesday for a .615 percentage (seven of 13 for .538 with handicaps).

This weekend it should be: Winona High over Harmony by 8; Cotter over St. Paul Hill by 5; Augusta over Osseo by 2; Elewa-Strum over Cochrane-Fountain City by 3; Blair over Independence by 6; Holmen over Mindoro by 1; Gale-Elttrick over West Salem by 4; Onalaska over Melrose by 6; Bangor over Trempealeau by 7; Alma over Taylor by 6; Pepin over Fairchild by 4; Rollingstone Holy Trinity over Onalaska Luther by 5; La Crosse Central "B" over Hokah St. Peter by 6; Austin over Richfield by 1; Lake City over Wabasha St. Felix by 2; Rochester over Minnetonka by 6; Gilman over Lima by 9; Durand over New Richmond by 4; Mondovi over Chippewa Falls by 4; Randolph over Simley by 3; Shattuck over Faribault Deaf by 7; Grand Meadow over Spring Valley by 5; Medford over Mazepa by 8; Claremont over Elgin by 6; Chatfield over Stewartville by 1; Cannon Falls over West Concord by 3; Dodge Center over Kasson-Mantorville by 1; Kenyon over Waukegan by 2; Owatonna over Northfield by 5; Lyle over Rushford by 1; Lanesboro over Mabel by 4; Whitehall over Alma Center by 4; Goodhue over Zumbrota by 6, and Plainview over Lewiston by 2.

After cruising through the season with only one loss, and then being stunned in the first game of the district tournament, Lanesboro could be out to atone for the humiliation.

It appears that Coach Ron Lockwood has the material to gain his second straight Maple Leaf crown, and conference coaches have picked the Burros to do just that. Spring Valley appears a likely spoiler after losing only one game. Chatfield is relegated to a dark-horse role after finishing second in the loop last season.

CHATFIELD

With four lettermen returning, things would normally look good, but Chatfield cage Coach Jerry Bernatz has his reasons for a pessimistic attitude.

His two tallest lettermen, 6-11 Wayne King and 6-2 Tom Odegarden, will both be lost until after Christmas because of football injuries. Jerry Easler, 5-7, and Mike Walker, 5-11, are the other two veterans.

Help must come from a sophomore, a senior, and five juniors. The senior is 6-0 guard Glen Bernard, and the sophomore is 6-3 Doug Rowland, the tallest man on the team. Chuck Pavlish, Don Scott, Ernie Richter, Bruce Johnson, and Ed Tuohy are the juniors.

WYKOFF

With only four lettermen returning, it could be a long season for Wykoff in the always-tough Maple Leaf Conference.

The WyKats tied for last in the loop last year with a 1-9 mark, but were 8-11 overall. Coach Virgil Dykstra feels confident that they will improve on the conference record, but doesn't look for a title contender from his charges this season.

Returning to the WKat camp are Norm Vehrenkamp, 6-0, Dick Anderson, 6-1, Harlan Jacobson, 5-9, and Chuck Doering, 5-9, all seniors. Help must come from several prospects, but lack of height in this group may hurt.

The tallest of the hopefuls is Dick Root, a 6-1 senior. Others are Lowell Christopherson, Rod Grabau, Ben Starks, Steve Bicknese, Dick Wagner, Garry Nordhorn, and Rick Erdman.

SPRING VALLEY

The old expressions "Lucky No. 7" may well be the key to Spring Valley basketball hopes this season.

Last year, the Wolves finished last in the loop with a 1-9 mark.

ROGER LECLERC
The Foot That Kicked The Packers

Leclerc Top NFL Player

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bears' Roger Leclerc, who missed his only field goal try in college, was left almost speechless today by his selection as the Associated Press National League Player of the Week for his booting prowess against the Green Bay Packers.

"The honor makes me so excited, I don't know what to say," said the four-year Bear veteran, whose four field goals helped shove the Bears to a 26-7 conquest of the Packers last Sunday.

SPEAK AT ATHLETIC CLUB

Twins Thank Winona Fans

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor

The Minnesota Twins said thank you to Winona through the mouths of outfielders Lenny Green and Jimmie Hall, ticket manager Charlie Lavender and assistant public relations director Jerry Snyder, pinch hitting for Tom Mee.

With Green and Hall providing the majority of the entertainment, 300 Twins fans packed the Winona Athletic Club for the "Meet the Twins" banquet Wednesday.

After a roast chicken dinner, Clarence Bell, master of ceremonies, got the festivities underway by introducing Mayor R.K. Ellings who welcomed the Twin players and representatives to Winona.

BELL FOLLOWED by introducing guests seated at the head table. Introduced were: Harry Czarowski, Athletic Club president; Harvey Stever, past president and banquet chairman; Loren Torgerson, special municipal judge; T. Charles Green, Jack Frost XIII; Milt Knutson, Prince Frost; Wayne Valentine, KAGE, and Gary Evans, Daily News sports editor.

Jack Frost then was called on and presented citations to Snyder and Lavender. Snyder was named "His Majesty's Happy People Maker" and Lavender was named "His Majesty's Holder of the Good Seats." Knutson presented Hall with a citation. Jimmie is "His Majesty's Rookie of the Year."

Also introduced were sisters Isobel and Connie Baertsch, loyal Twins fans.

Following the introductions Snyder, who recently moved out of the Twins' accounting department to his present post, was called on.

He introduced Hall, who spoke briefly on his fantastic rookie season and recalled moments spent in Winona when a member of the Fox Cities team in the Three I League.

Hall outlined the reasons he felt cost the Twins the American League pennant. "No. 1, out pitching staff wasn't at full strength," said Hall. "Jim Kaat didn't have his usual good year and Camilo Pascual was troubled by a sore arm. No. 2, Earl Batley was forced to catch with a bad knee, and No. 3, Harmon Killebrew had trouble with a bad knee."

HALL THEN went on to urge the youngsters present to work hard in sports and continue their education.

"Going to college is almost a necessity," said Hall, who is in line for American League Rookie of the Year honors. "There are fewer minor leagues now than when I broke in, and the good players are coming out of college."

Lavender then was introduced and talked about the seating arrangements at Metropolitan Stadium and thanked the fans present for helping to make the Twins No. 1 in attendance in the American League.

Green wound up the show by talking about the teams he felt were strong in the American League.

The players and representatives then answered questions and the event ended with the showing of the film "Strike Three."

Minnesota Prepsters Get 1st Taste of Cage Action

With Wisconsin schools already underway, and three Badger leagues opening, most Winona area Minnesota schools will get their first taste of basketball action Friday night.

In Wisconsin, the Dairyland, Coulee and West Central conferences all hit the league trail. In the Dairyland circuit, the big game is at Independence where loop favorite Blair takes on the Indees. Elewa-Strum will be at Cochrane-Fountain City for another hotly contested battle. In other tilts, Augusta travels to Osseo, and Alma Center entertains Whitehall.

The Coulee Conference has a game of significance this early in the season when Gale-Elttrick's Redmen play host to up-and-coming West Salem. Trempealeau entertains Bangor. Both teams won opening non-conference games. Holmen, also 1-0, will face Mindoro at the Vikings' gym, and Melrose, which was humbled in its opener, battles visiting Onalaska.

Alma, which was favored in the West Central Conference but dropped its season opener, meets its first league test when the Taylor Trojans invade. Pepin is at Fairchild in a toss-up game. Gilman, the fifth member of the loop, entertains Lima Sacred Heart in an inter-league game.

The Bi-State circuit also kicks off league activity with a single game. Onalaska Luther, which fell to Holmen in its first season affair, hosts Rollingstone Trinity.

All Minnesota action is non-conference, as Gopher prepsters try out their basketball wings for the first time this year. Some of the league favorites will get early tests. Goodhue tackles Zumbrota on its home court, and Kenyon travels to Waukegan. Hokah St. Peter will test the La Crosse Central "B" squad, and Lake City and Wabasha St. Felix will have it out in an "anybody's guess" game at Lake City.

Randolph hosts Simley and Faribault Deaf will face visiting Shattuck in a pair of games involving Centennial Conference teams. Spring Valley, an early season pick in the Maple Leaf, gets a staunch test against Grand Meadow, and Chatfield, another of the Maple Leaf's strong teams, travels to Stewartville of the Hiawatha Valley loop.

Cannon Falls is at West Concord, and Kasson-Mantorville entertains Dodge Center in two other affairs. Plainview and Lewiston will test each other at the Gophers' field house in what promises to be a tight battle. Saturday night, highly touted Lanesboro will host Mabel, and Lyle travels to Rushford.

Back across the Mighty Mississippi, Durand and Mondovi of the Mississippi Valley Conference will each play their second game of the young season Friday. Both teams are 0-1 and will be looking for initial wins when Durand goes to New Richmond, and Mondovi entertains the Indians of Chippewa Falls.

Coach Harry L. Parker of Harvard at 28 is one of the youngest crew coaches in the country.

Gophers Will Have Plenty Of Incentive

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Wisconsin needn't worry that last place Minnesota will lack incentive when the teams meet in their season football finale Saturday at Minneapolis.

Fresh in the minds of the Gophers is Wisconsin's 14-9 victory over Minnesota last season for the Big Ten Conference championship.

"I've got some things I want to do in this game," said 6-foot-5 tackle Carl Eller who holds a bitter view of the Badgers' last minute victory here in 1962.

Tabbed as an All-America prospect, Eller also has strong personal reasons for wanting to finish his career in a blaze of glory. Eller's cause already has suffered from Minnesota's dismal season in which they have salvaged only one victory in six conference starts.

"The revenge motive is really burning the players," warned sports publicist Otis Dypwick. "They will remember the bitter disappointment and frustration in Madison last year."

Wisconsin's hopes to keep above the .500 mark in conference play received a boost Wednesday when end Jimmy Jones was given a medical go ahead to play Saturday.

Jones missed the Illinois game because of an injured eye. He worked hard as the Badgers ran through their last heavy drill of the year.

76ers Finally Turn Tables on New York 118-101

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Philadelphia 76ers, nee the Syracuse Nationals, haven't set the National Basketball Association on fire since the franchise was shifted to the Quaker City. Nevertheless Coach Dolph Schayes is confident his 76ers will make the playoffs by beating out the revived New York Knicks in the Eastern Division.

Beaten in two previous games by the Knicks, the 76ers turned the tables on the New Yorkers Wednesday night, 118-101, as Lee Shaffer and Hal Greer combined for 54 points. It was the first Philadelphia victory of the season over the Knicks and gave the 76ers a two-game lead over the team they must beat to make the playoffs.

The Detroit Pistons snapped a three-game losing streak by coming from behind to defeat the Cincinnati Royals 124-118 in Wednesday's other scheduled NBA game.

Ralston Boosts U.S. Net Hopes

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., raised the Davis Cup hopes of the United States Thursday when he defeated Australian ace Roy Emerson in the semifinals of the South Australian Tennis Championships.

Ralston turned back the No. 1 ranked Australian 6-4, 2-6, 3-6, 6-2, 12-10 and will meet Australia's John Newcombe in the finals Sunday.

Bemidji State and St. Cloud State each placed three men on the first teams and Augsburg and Minnesota-Duluth each had two.

Here are the selections announced today by District 13 Chairman Eddie Colletti, who is also St. Cloud's athletic director:
