Talks May Thaw Chilly U.S.-French Relations

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY
WASHINGTON (AP)—A thaw in the chilly U.S.-French relations appears possible following the announcement that President Johnson and Charles de Gaulle will meet here early next year.

The surprise announcement came from President Johnson after he had spent 18 minutes in private conference with the French president at a reception late Monday for foreign dignitaries who attended President John F. Kennedy's funeral.

Johnson, obviously plunging into the monumental tasks before him with rapidly, came out from the conference room and said, "We have decided he would come back and talk more early next year." To give it further emphasis he told newsmen: "Sure, you can quote me." De Gaulle originally had planned to meet with Kennedy, probably in February, and arrangements had been completed. It appeared the two men swiftly came to agreement on the need for early talks to clear up standing differences between the two long-time allies.

Flood of Orders Supports Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market launched a strong rally today upon reopening after being closed for the funeral of President Kennedy.

The surge to buy was in sharp contrast to the panicky selling that followed word of Kennedy's assassination Friday afternoon. At that time prices plunged and exchanges were closed early.

Chrysler advanced $3.25 to $82. Other gains included General Telephone $1.25 to $29, Standard Oil (New Jersey) $1.62 to $69 and Texaco $2.25 to $65.25.

6 Wisconsin Hunters Dead By Gunfire

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
After three days the death toll for Wisconsin's 1963 deer hunting season already has equaled last year's figure for the entire nine-day run.

Six were killed by gunfire and 11 died of heart attacks. Milton Roessel, 28, of Minong, Wis., was shot and killed Monday while hunting with four companions about six miles west of Minong in Washburn County. Authorities said an inquest into the shooting will be held Dec. 14 in Shell Lake.

Harry Messer, 56, a truck driver from Sauk City, suffered a fatal heart attack Monday while he was helping his hunting party drag a deer out of the woods near Pray in Jackson County.

Badger Supreme Court Upholds State Bar Poll

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The Wisconsin Supreme Court released today its 5-2 decision that permitted the State Bar to go ahead with a membership poll on the qualifications of David Rabinovitch to serve as a federal judge.

On Nov. 7 the court denied a petition to stop the poll and a tabulation showed an overwhelming majority of Wisconsin lawyers responding found Rabinovitch, a Sheboygan labor attorney, unqualified to serve as a federal judge.

Since the assassination of Kennedy "there is an absence of anything political to talk about," Goldwater said. Rockefeller said in a statement that during the 30-day mourning period "I shall not participate personally in any public activity in connection with the Republican presidential nomination, nor in any other public activities with the exception of those falling within my official duties as governor of New York State."

Youths Ask Juvenile Hearing

FARIBAULT, Minn. (AP)—Petitions have been filed here for a juvenile delinquency hearing for two high school seniors held in the death of Rolene Madison, 17.

County Atty. Herbert J. Cook filed the petitions Monday with Probate Judge Robert Martin. Judge Martin will decide whether Ray Van Straaten and Leslie Harmond, both 17, should have their case considered in juvenile court or whether it should be moved to district court.

A hearing on the delinquency petitions was set tentatively for 9:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Rocky, Barry Plan 30-Day Political Rest

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona say they plan no political speeches for a month in deference to the late President John F. Kennedy.

Rockefeller, who has declared himself a candidate for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination, said Monday he will not push his candidacy during the 30-day period of mourning which has been decreed for New York State.

Grand Jury Indicts Ruby

DALLAS (AP)—A Dallas grand jury indicted Jack Ruby today on charges of murder with malice in the slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald, the man accused of assassinating President Kennedy.

But De Gaulle never hesitates to make it clear that in any showdown France would come quickly to America's side. Johnson has the reputation of being a seasoned, astute politician who knows how to work with people and get them to work for him. He also has the reputation of being a compromiser, at least in the realm of domestic politics.

Problems confronting Kennedy's successor and the French chief of state are manifold, but some of the larger ones are De Gaulle's go-it-alone atomic defense policy, his uncooperative attitude toward the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, his chilly attitude toward the limited nuclear test ban treaty and his lofty position on the Common Market.

Hired to Kill Woman, Father, Anderson Says

New President Outlines Views To Governors

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here are excerpts from President Johnson's speech to 35 governors at the White House Monday night, as released by the White House.

Gentlemen, I want to tell you how deeply I feel in your debt for not only your coming to Washington on this tragic occasion but for your being so understanding of me and being willing to come here and visit with me this evening.

I am sorry I am late. General De Gaulle had to return to Paris. He has had a long day of it and he is flying back to night. He talked a little longer than I anticipated. Even then we did not finish, so we have another meeting set up for early in the year when he comes back to this country.

Circumstances over which I had no control brought me into this position that I occupy tonight. The difficulties and the tribulations are great, and this is the time when our whole system has gone on trial, not just the Republican party and the Democratic party but the American system of government.

From the standpoint of population, we have less people than the Soviet Union. From the standpoint of resources, in many respects she has greater resources than we have. She has 8,600,000 tillable acres of land while we have 3,000,000. She has 208 million people while we have 180 million people. She has greater water resources and greater potential oil and power, but the thing that is really to determine whether we win or lose in this struggle of philosophies is how well our system works. We think we have the best system.

I think continuity without confusion has got to be our password and has to be the key to our system. For that reason, I am going to address the Congress on Wednesday.

I am going to tell that Congress that we intend to honor the commitments we have made at home and abroad, and I am going to tell them I understand my own limitations, but I am going to do the best I can with your help and God's.

We live under a system of checks and balances. We do so because our founding fathers figured properly that the only sure method of preventing tyranny was a political system in which no one person or no one group of persons can have power without limitations.

However, there is one point that must always be borne in mind. It is that a government by checks and balances will work only when people are willing to cooperate and work together for the common good. If they insist on glaring at each other, refusing to work together, and standing firmly on prerogatives and forgetting responsibilities, the nation will quickly be paralyzed.

For these reasons, I consider it vitally important to ask for your help. I want you to cooperate. I need your heart and your hand. Our country has suffered a grievous shock. The transition while a term is still going on is always a difficult test for democracy. It is doubly difficult in these days of quick decisions on matters that involve the fate of humanity.

I hope to keep in constant touch with you. My permanent purpose is to maintain the fabric of your nation intact and in the days that lie ahead I hope to work with you to this end.

Hard Day for Mrs. Kennedy

By FRANCES LEWINE
WASHINGTON (AP)—The day for Jacqueline Kennedy had been a long and crushing one. But shortly before midnight she slipped out of the White House and rode through the darkness to place a sprig of flowers on her husband's new grave.

An eternal flame—placed at the head of the assassinated president's grave at her request—flickered on the silent hillside. Her brother-in-law, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, was at her side. Only hours earlier, world dignitaries had crowded the area during graveside rites for the fallen leader.

At night, the two stood alone. After 10 minutes they went back to the executive mansion. Some of Mrs. Kennedy's plans for the future may be made known today, according to White House press secretary Pierre Salinger. She must seek a new way of life for herself and her two children.

Among the foremost questions are how long will she remain at the White House, where will she make her new home and what will become of the White House school she set up for daughter Caroline and some 20 other children.

Mrs. Kennedy, a widow at 34, never sought nor relished the public role she came to play as the wife of John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

She married him in 1953, when he was a young senator from Massachusetts. When Kennedy became president in 1961, Mrs. Kennedy looked with some dismay at the life ahead.

Mrs. Kennedy, traveling abroad to 13 countries alone and with her husband, speaking French, Spanish and Italian as she went, soon carved for herself a niche of fame. She drew crowds by the thousands and became a goodwill ambassador for America on her own.

Arbitrators Drop 90% of Firemen Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal arbitrators ruled today that 90 per cent of firemen's jobs on diesel yard engines and freight trains should be eliminated. They said this should be done by attrition or with job protection for most of the 40,000 union members affected.

The seven-member arbitration board in the long dispute over railroad work rules was set up under a law enacted by Congress in August which provided that its finding would be binding on both parties.

However, a spokesman for two of the five railroad unions said the arbitration award and the law under which it was made would be attacked in federal court.

Thompson Case Resumed in Minneapolis

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Dick W.C. Anderson testified today he made a $3,000 contract with Norman Mastrian to kill Mrs. Carol Thompson, and that arrangements were made to kill the woman's father "in six or seven months."

The sensational testimony came at the opening session of the sixth week of the murder trial of the woman's husband, T. Eugene Thompson.

Under questioning by Prosecutor William Randall, Anderson told of meeting Mastrian March 3 through Richard Sharp, Twin Cities hoodlum, who was an earlier witness.

Anderson quoted Mastrian as saying one of the two slayings must look like an accident.

Anderson said he asked what Mastrian meant by the other killing. Anderson said Mastrian told him: "the broad's father will be next in six or seven months."

Mrs. Thompson, 34, was the daughter of Otto Swoboda, a St. Paul plumbing contractor. Mrs. Thompson was bludgeoned and stabbed last March 6, a slaying the state claims was plotted by Thompson, arranged by Mastrian and executed by Anderson.

Anderson said Mastrian suggested in the March 3 meeting that the killing might be done with dynamite in Mrs. Thompson's car.

The final arrangements were made the night of March 3, Anderson said, when Mastrian called and asked: "Do you want to contract me?" Anderson said he replied "yes" but demanded half the money beforehand. He said Mastrian agreed to call him the next morning on that matter.

Previous testimony has been that two payments totaling $2,300 were made to Anderson from Mastrian via Sheldon Morris, charged as an accessory. Swoboda was himself a witness earlier today. He testified there appeared a generally good relationship between Thompson and his wife.

Anderson's testimony said the mention of a second killing was made the night of March 4, when he and Mastrian met in a cafe near Lake and Hennepin in south Minneapolis.

Later that night, two days before the slaying, Anderson said he and Mastrian drove to the Thompson home. Still later, Mastrian drew a diagram of all three floors of the Thompson home, Anderson said.

Anderson said a rubber hose was taken by Mastrian from under the car seat, and that Mastrian spelled out how Mrs. Thompson was to be struck at (Cont. on Page 3, Column 1) THOMPSON

NW May Give Temporary Pond Easement

A solution may be in sight for the problem of flood control easements the city seeks on land owned by the Chicago & North Western Railway Co., following a weekend conference of city and rail officials.

Under negotiation are easements for use, as a ponding area, of an 8-acre tract of land occupied mostly by North Western freight yards. The area extends along the city's northwest edge, west of Olmstead street.

UNDER THE master flood control plan, drafted by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the general area would be an impounding basin for excessively heavy surface runoff waters. It would receive inland runoff only, serving as a temporary reservoir which would be pumped into the Mississippi River. Some earth moving would be necessary to obtain maximum water retention capacity.

All costs of the project will be met by federal funds, except those of securing land use rights. The city is required to stand the cost of securing these easements.

North Western officials have objected to granting permanent easements, according to Council President Harold Briesath, one of the city's negotiators at last Friday's meeting in Chicago. However, he said, it is likely that temporary easements can be obtained by the city. The railroad has said it hopes to retain the land for possible future development as industrial sites.

Under the temporary easement plan, which seems likely to be adopted, the railway could, with proper notice, reacquire full rights to use of the land. The city then would be obliged, at the insistence of the Corps of Engineers, to provide alternative facilities for collection and disposal of surplus runoff.

Briesath said the additional pipe and pumping facilities that might be required, in the event this alternative became necessary, would cost about $500,000, according to engineers' estimates.

BRIESATH SAID that other land in the vicinity should be acquired by the city, rather than committing some future City Council to such a potentially costly arrangement. Unused and unproductive parcels of land could be acquired at much less expense to the city than it would cost to build extra pumping stations, Briesath said.

Representing the city at the 2 1/2-hour conference were Briesath, Mayor R. K. Ellings and City Attorney George M. Robertson Jr. Also present were officers of the Corps of Engineers.

THOMPSON

an angle across the back of the head, to simulate a fall in the bathtub.

In quoting Mastrian's alleged directions, Anderson testified: "He says Mr. Thompson leaves the door open in the morning. He says you'll be able to go inside and go in the basement and wait. He says at 8:25 Mr. Thompson will call Mrs. Thompson and he says at that time you'll be able to sneak up the stairway. He says Mrs. Thompson will be in the kitchen answering the telephone. He says the other telephone in the house would be removed so that she has to come downstairs."

Anderson's testimony, obviously near the windup of the state's case against Thompson, virtually paralleled the prosecutor's statement to the jury.

Anderson said Mastrian told him that Thompson would leave water in the bathtub, and that Mastrian described how "reverse artificial respiration" was to be used.

Randall has charged that the planned killing, instead of appearing an accident, turned into a bloody struggle as Mrs. Thompson tried to break away and finally staggered bleeding down an alley to a neighbor.

Anderson said the suggestion that dynamite be used might have involved three other women.

Anderson, also charged with murder, quoted Mastrian as saying "this woman goes to some type of meeting with three other women and while they are in the meeting you could place the dynamite and get them all and then the suspicion wouldn't be on any particular woman."

Anderson was moved from the county to the city jail in St. Paul about 3 a.m. today, and was brought to Minneapolis under heavy guard.

Widow Visits Grave at Night

WASHINGTON — A fragile spray of lilies of the valley, parting midnight gift from a sorrowing widow, and the military regalia of fighting men, also placed during the night, lay side by side today on the freshly covered grave of President Kennedy.

Along with the white flowers placed on the grave in an almost surreptitious visit by Mrs. Kennedy, there were a forest green cap from the Army Special Forces, and a buff shoulder strap and cockade of the Army's 3rd Regiment. The Special Forces are the anti-guerrilla, unconventional warfare units sharply expanded in the Kennedy administration with his specific approval.

The scene was a little eerie as a slow-rising sun lighted the unguarded site on the east slope of Arlington National Cemetery.

Except for the eternal flame, kindled little more than 12 hours before by the widow, the last resting place of the 35th President was hard to spot before dawn.

Gone were the rulers of the world who paid silent respect Monday afternoon to their departed peer.

Gone also were the troops, the honor guards and the servicemen who at sundown were standing stiff sentry duty around the gravesite.

When dawn broke, the flowers and wreaths, banked carefully only a few hours earlier, were leaning under the weight of a heavy frost that accumulated in the early morning hours.

At 8 o'clock the military watch over the grave was resumed as four soldiers, tall in their long blue coats, took their places at the four corners of the roped-off site.

With the opening of the gates to the cemetery a few minutes later, people, apparently ordinary citizens, started walking from lower levels up the grassy slope to stand silent and look.

City and County Directory Readied

Information is now being compiled for the 1964 edition of the Winona City Directory, to be published, as in the past, by R. L. Polk & Co., St. Paul.

Mrs. Fern Myers, representing the publishing firm for the fourth time in Winona, said that canvassing of the city is "going nicely." She expects to send information and advertising copy for the new book into the publisher around Christmas.

DEADLINE for all local information and copy is Dec. 16. Six persons are working on the gathering of information for the directory. Because many persons are not at home the first time a canvasser calls, there are a lot of return trips made, Mrs. Myers said, and this slows down the work to some extent.

She asked that persons not home when a canvasser calls call her office, 413 Exchange Building, to report needed information. A yellow slip giving the office telephone number is left at each house where a canvasser finds no one at home.

The directory, as in previous editions, will include an alphabetical listing of businesses and private individuals, including the name of a man's wife and his occupation.

FROM THE directory, one can find out who lives at any address in the city, and whether he owns his home.

There is a reverse telephone directory, which tells to whom a certain number belongs, rather than telling what a person's or a business firm's number is.

The book includes a county directory and a county taxpayers directory, a classified business directory, and information about the city.

Check Writer Gets Suspension

Mrs. Norman C. Meska, 24, 110 Winona St., received a suspended sentence in municipal court today after she pleaded guilty to a charge of petty larceny by check.

Judge John D. McGill suspended the sentence on two conditions. The conditions were that she make restitution for the check and that she is not guilty of a similar offense within the next six months.

Mrs. Meska was arrested at police headquarters at 10:40 p.m. Sunday on a complaint that she issued a check for $25. The check was issued to the Mileage Oil Co. on Nov. 20 and written on the First National Bank.

Root River SWCD Hears Report on Russian Farming

SPRING GROVE, Minn. — Russia's underproduction of farm commodities is due to inadequate agricultural equipment, asserted Merle Severson, deputy commissioner of agriculture, St. Paul, when he spoke to 170 who attended the Root River Soil and Water Conservation District's annual meeting here Monday evening.

Severson showed slides he had taken on his recent visit to the Soviet Union. He said the general lack of progress of the Russian economy was due to insufficient equipment.

The county conservation award was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Welscher, Mayville Township farmers, near Caledonia.

Two county soil conservation speech winners — Thomas A. Tweeten, Spring Grove, and David Ernster, Caledonia — were introduced. They presented their prize-winning speeches.

A memorial speech was given in honor of the late President John F. Kennedy.

Arnold Onstad, Spring Grove, state soil and water conservation president and member of the Root River District, was master of ceremonies. Robert Hillman, president of the Spring Grove Commercial Club, gave the welcome.

Appraisers Set In College's Land Acquisition

Condemnation proceedings involving 18 parcels of land for the expansion of the campus of Winona State College began in District Court here today with the naming of appraisers.

Judge Leo F. Murphy named Stanley A. Hammer, 358 W. 4th St., Howard L. Keller, 358 Collegeview, and Everett J. Kohner, 365 W. King St., as commissioners for appraisal of the property.

Alternates named were John C. Bamberg, 578 E. 5th St., and Archie J. McGill, 166 E. Sarnia St.

The proceedings were to have opened Monday, but were postponed to today because of the declaration that Monday be a day of national mourning.

Condemnation of the property involved is for additional space for construction of dormitory space, a student union, an addition of Maxwell Library and the new food service.

Following are the parcels to be condemned: 276, 270, 222, 218 and 216 W. Howard St.; 469, 473 and 477 Washington St.; 365, 369, 373 and 377 Johnson St.; 477, 476, 471 and 468 Winona St.; 464 Huff St. and 164 W. Sarnia St.

Representing the state in court this morning were Fred C. Norton, an assistant of the attorney general, and John J. Davis, land acquisition agent for the commissioner of administration.

Judge Murphy scheduled the first meeting of the commissioners for 1:30 p.m. today.

The property involved in the condemnation must be vacated by June 15, according to Norton. Construction is scheduled to begin by July 1.

It May Be Good Weekend to Travel

Good news for Thanksgiving travelers. Continued mild weather is predicted with no precipitation of any consequence.

DECREASING cloudiness late tonight and warmer tonight and Wednesday is the prediction for that time. A low of 30-35 is forecast for tonight and a high of 50 for Wednesday. Thanksgiving day temperatures are expected to be about the same.

The extended forecast, made Monday, also was hopeful. It said there might be "brief" precipitation Thanksgiving Day. The official thermometer rose to 44 Monday afternoon, dropped to 28 during the night, was 33 at 7 a.m. today and 34 at noon. The readings generally were in keeping with those of a year ago today when the high was 49 and the low 23. No precipitation was recorded on that day.

All-time high for Nov. 26 was 65 in 1914 and the low for the day — 2 in 1880 and 1898. Mean for the past 24 hours was 36. Normal for this day is 29.

Temperatures were mild throughout Minnesota with the state's low registered at Bemidji where the reading this morning was 19. Cloudy and partly cloudy weather prevailed in most places and St. Cloud reported a light snow falling at 8 a.m.

Rochester had a morning figure of 29 after a Monday high of 43 and La Crosse posted figures of 28 and 41 for the same times.

Milder weather took over in Wisconsin today, although a few snow flurries were still coming down in northern areas.

The outlook for Thanksgiving Day called for continued mild weather with fair skies in the south and cloudiness in the north.

One inch of new snow fell at Superior in the 24-hour period ending at daybreak today, bringing the total on the ground there to two inches. The Park Falls area had a trace of snow. Madison and Lone Rock had the low of 23 early today.

MAXIMUM Monday ranged from 33 at Superior to 50 at Beloit.

Devils Lake, N.D., set the national minimum of 15 degrees early today, compared with the high of 83 Monday at Fort Myers, Fla.

Chief Regrets Criticism of Dallas Police

Winona Police Chief George Savord said today that criticism of the Dallas, Tex., police department is unjustified.

Savord said unfounded charges of negligence against the department — in connection with the fatal shooting of Lee H. Oswald, alleged assassin of President John F. Kennedy — have been made in many newspapers and by other news media.

A Daily News editorial, published Monday, criticized Dallas police for giving advance information on a planned transfer of Oswald from the city jail to a county jail.

"In considering the tragic events of the past few days, there is gross error in the direction of public wrath toward the Dallas police department," Chief Savord said. "It is wrong to collectively indict 1,200 men for events not yet resolved."

"If we are to consider the actions of the Dallas police as a group, then we must remember the efficient patrols, the traffic and crowd control officers whose actions on those fateful days will never be fully appreciated. We must remember the planning, organization, direction and detailed function of all police personnel — from police command to patrolman."

"Let us remember that a Dallas policeman died in the line of duty. Other Dallas officers faced deadly firearms and effected live apprehensions without taking life; first in a theater, then in some obscure corridor."

"Let us remember the swift apprehension of the alleged assassin and the thorough investigation, conducted over a relatively short period of time. Many Dallas officers contributed their efforts to those accomplishments."

"And let us remember that wisdom after the event is easy."

Top Recipe for Turkey Dressing

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — My Gorgeous Mother-in-Law just turned 79 and at a little family dinner I persuaded her to write "The Secret Papers of a Mother-in-Law" . . . which will expose, unmask and lay bare — among other confidential documents — her recipe for Thanksgiving turkey dressing.

Can the memoirs of Pierre Salinger or even Bobby Baker be more useful? I doubt it.

Thanksgiving's a day of labor for Broadway stars. Kirk Douglas, Charles Boyer, Robert Horton, Inga Swenson, Colleen Dewhurst, Albert Finney, Vivian Blaine, Zero Mostel and Joel Grey, among others, do matinees as well as night shows. They are denied huge Thanksgiving feasts. They slip inconspicuously into Sardi's, Toots Shor's, or Downey's and may even eat alone.

That's one time of year I feel superior. My mother-in-law's turkey dressing is so delicious you don't even need turkey with it.

Grandma Marlene Dietrich, who's quite a cook, can't top Rosella Lyons, my mother-in-law.

"But, listen," she says, "I don't remember measurements very well . . . you see . . . well . . .

"You break a loaf of dry bread into small pieces in a colander, soak them and set aside to dry . . . Now the onions . . . don't forget the onions . . . oh, now about soaking the bread . . . just dampen enough to handle and mix . . . too wet . . . yes, the onions, don't forget the onions! . . . one large or two medium . . . I don't pay much attention to measurements . . . you take the onions, several stalks of celery, medium green peppers . . . dice those . . . drain off some turkey juice into a fry pan and put the diced onions, celery and green peppers in to be sauteed (Don't burn them!).

"MOST PEOPLE put the dressing in the turkey, but I do not . . . You've placed the soaked bread in a mixing bowl. You add your sauteed vegetables and sage, salt and pepper to taste. Mix together — and put it in a pan around the turkey, not in it, so you get the flavor of the turkey while it's cooking. Continue cooking this way for the last hour. That's it. "I don't pay any attention to measurements."

Wisconsin Season

Although no final data on the number of deer harvested in the shot-gun season in the river counties of Wisconsin was available today, early estimates issued from the district office in Black River Falls indicate a take running ten percent ahead of last year. This is based mainly on checking station reports telephoned there from key checking stations, not county totals.

Hunting pressure was above normal on Monday afternoon. At Black River Falls, William Rollmann, deputy area director, declared the hunters did not go out during the forenoon. They stood around watching television until after the President's funeral, then started hunting again. The general closing gave a lot of weekend hunters another day to get their deer.

Count of the number of hunters in key areas made by plane, Rollman said, indicated that hunting pressure over the Black River Falls district, which covers nine Western Wisconsin counties, was slightly above normal. Car counts along the highways, Rollman added, verified this conclusion.

Violations the first two days or during the shot-gun season were about normal. A total of 53 arrests were reported up to Sunday night from the district. Most of them were for common violations, like carrying an un-cased rifle in a car.

Two persons were killed in the district, two more wounded. Three heart cases were reported. This is lower than other years.

The kill in Wisconsin's nine-day deer hunting season appears to be running anywhere from 10 to 30 percent ahead of last year.

But the assassination of President Kennedy dampened the enthusiasm of the hunters and some went home to attend memorial services, cutting short their stay in the woods.

Deer tag registrations at Conservation Department check points placed the estimate for the first two days at 28,537 deer. This was based on a sampling of registrations in the various areas and extended to arrive at a statewide total. Registrations, however, run behind the actual kill.

Hunting conditions were not too good. Snow was scarce, making tracking difficult, and a quick freeze in the wet woods made movement of hunters too noisy.

Dean Zink, a special warden assigned to the Fairchild area, was hospitalized for treatment of injuries which he said were suffered when a hunter slugged him with a gun. The hunter was held without charge in the Eau Claire County jail pending the filing of charges Tuesday.

Hunting pressure was up 10 to 20 percent in the west-central section, averaging 20 to 50 hunters per square mile. Registrations were up 20 percent with hunting best around Eagle River in Vilas County and Rhinelander in Oneida County.

Silent Badger Throngs Honor Slain President

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Gathering under a statue of Abraham Lincoln, a silent throng paid their final respects Monday to another martyred president — John F. Kennedy.

The multitude on Bascom Hill, estimated at 10,000 reached down the gentle slope and listened in brooding silence as state officials revered the fallen leader.

To the roll of muffled drums Wisconsin bandmen marched to Lincoln Terrace while color guards of the school's four ROTC units were aligned behind the statue, a bronze sculpture which has stood for 4 years.

Far down the hill, workmen employed on the construction of a new law school laid down their tools and joined in the 35-minute tribute. Wisconsin's official memorial service for Mr. Kennedy.

"His martyrdom will serve to remind generations to come of the evils borne of unreasoning hate and fear," Gov. John W. Reynolds said in a message. "It must give new strength to the forces in our lives that encourage love and understanding."

Reynolds was in Washington, attending services for Mr. Kennedy, and his words were read by Jacob Friedrich of Milwaukee, president of the University board of regents.

University president Fred H. Harrington said Americans should keep alive the courage of Mr. Kennedy "as we continue to fight for peace and for democracy and for the dignity of man."

At Green Bay, Bishop Stanislaus V. Bona offered a Solemn Pontifical Requiem Mass at St. Francis Xavier Roman Catholic Cathedral.

There was standing room only in Sheboygan's Trinity Church where the worshippers joined in singing, "What impious numbers, bold in sin, disgrace the Christian name!"

Union memorial services sponsored by the Greater Milwaukee Council of churches were held at the First Methodist Church in downtown Milwaukee.

The Rev. William Blake of Kingsley Methodist Church read the lines of Carl Sandburg, who wrote: "In their darkness, with a great bundle of grief the people march."

"In the night, and overhead a shovel of stars for keeps, the people march: "Where to? What next?"

For instance: Does anybody else in LeSabre's class treat you to that gentle Buick ride or impressive Buick performance and new gas economy? Kennedy Left With 126,000 Other Heroes

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Staff Writer
ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—The red glow of the saddest sunset faded over the hill's crest—and left President Kennedy and 126,000 other sleeping heroes to the privacy of night.

Gone were the crowds that had trailed the funeral procession across the nation's capital. Gone were the impressive and important of 54 governments. Gone were the close and dear.

Now, through the still woods and the open lawns sounded the melancholy boom of cannon—50 times for the 50 states. Even in darkness and mist, the tombstones—like small white scars on the earth—marked the resting place of his new company.

Down the slope and across the black Potomac, you could see the glittering lights of the capital and the towering Washington Monument, the graceful Capitol dome and the pillars of the Lincoln Memorial.

On this hill — gray green in the face of coming winter—the 35th President of the United States had joined a parliament of silent men.

By 5:05 p.m. the cannon had ended their soliloquy to dusk, and night came quickly.

At graveside, there was work to be finished, and when it was done the headlights of cars pointed the way through the winding cemetery roads.

There were still guards, of course. And down below along the rim of the cemetery, the curious and sympathetic passersby searched the darkness for the small glint of the eternal flame that burns at Kennedy's graveside.

Seven minutes before midnight, the President's widow returned to the cemetery. By the light of the flickering flame, she placed a sprig of flowers on his newly covered grave.

Woman Slain, Husband Found Wounded in Car

EVELETH, Minn. (AP)—An Eveleth woman was shot to death outside her basement home Monday evening and her estranged husband later was found critically wounded in his car.

Dead is Mrs. Frances Phillips, 42, supervisor of nurses at Virginia Municipal Hospital. She lived at Ely Lake, three miles south of Eveleth.

Thomas Phillips, 42, was admitted to a Duluth hospital. Attendants said he had a bullet wound in his head and was in critical condition.

Sheriffs deputies and Dr. David A. Sher, deputy St. Louis County coroner in Virginia, said a witness told of seeing Phillips shoot his wife with a .22 caliber pistol as they argued in the front yard of the Phillips home. The single bullet struck Mrs. Phillips behind the ear, Dr. Sher said.

Following the shooting, Phillips apparently drove off in his car. He was later found wounded in the vehicle about 4½ miles from where Mrs. Phillips had been shot.

Officers said six shots had been fired from the pistol. Phillips recently had been living in Minneapolis.

Oswald's request was turned down, the Cuban government said in a statement broadcast by Havana radio and monitored in Miami.

Lyndon B. Johnson Proud, Dynamic, Driving

WHAT MANNER of man is Lyndon Baines Johnson, who at 2:39 p.m. last Friday was sworn in as the 36th President of the United States?

He is, say those who know him and his record well, a proud, dynamic, driving man. Moreover, as Senate majority leader — and an incredibly successful one — he commanded enormous power, far greater than that invested in the office of vice president.

President Johnson faces a challenge — one that he thinks he will meet. He has the ability, he has the friendship of members of Congress, he has had leadership training. Perhaps the only field where he is not as experienced as many would like, is in that of foreign relations and he'll have to devote his energy now to improving that facet of his political life rather than making friends with camel drivers or handing out ball-point pens to natives of Holland.

THE FACT is that for most of his life, Lyndon Johnson has been preparing for leadership. But let him profile himself. He once said:

"I am a free man, an American, a U.S. senator and a Democrat in that order. I am also a liberal, a conservative, a Texan, a taxpayer, a rancher, a businessman, a parent, a voter, and not as young as I used to be, nor as old as I expect to be — and I am all those things in no fixed order."

He could have added that he is the descendant of Baptist preachers and educators, and that he has been a schoolteacher, a law student, a congressional secretary, a farm hand, a road worker, a janitor, a truck driver, a dishwasher, a Navy lieutenant commander who received the Silver Star from Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

HE HAS TWO dominant qualities — energy and focus.

As a senator, Johnson worked 14 and 16 hours a day. His day started at 6:30 a.m. with coffee, the New York and Washington newspapers, and the Congressional Record.

He would go to his office at 8, sometimes dictating to a secretary in the car.

In a day, it was not uncommon for him to receive 70 callers, 650 letters, 500 telephone calls. How does anyone know? His staff maintained a chart, a kind of box score, that showed the numbing statistics.

"Come on, let's function — let's function," he would say, when things seemed to be bogging down.

HIS WIFE, born Claudia Alta Taylor, and nicknamed "Lady Bird" by her Negro nurse, once said of him:

"At night he comes home dog-tired. We seldom go out. Lyndon says he can't put on a black or white tie every night and still do his job."

On July 2, 1955, a heart attack felled Johnson.

He stands 6-3 and he weighed 200 pounds at the time.

Convalescing, he was ordered by his doctors to cut his weight, his habit of chain-smoking cigarettes, and his working hours.

He lost 25 pounds and stopped smoking. But he was soon back at the same working pace.

He is so focused, so highly concentrated, that when he has something on his mind he seems not to be able to leave it, even temporarily.

AN INCIDENT — a newspaper reporter went to his office one day for a prearranged interview. Johnson had just won an important objective on the Senate floor. He could not sit still. He fidgeted and twisted behind his desk.

He seemed to listen to the first question but said, "Excuse me a second." Then he placed a telephone call. When he hung up, he asked that the question be repeated. It didn't register. He already was phoning another man. Several telephone calls later, interspersed with instructions to several staff members, he finally got to the first question.

Thus — prior to the heart attack at least — he was completely absorbed in his work. He said he had been too busy to read books, listen to music. If he went to a ball game it was "for the company."

Johnson's close friend, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., once said of him:

"Lyndon Johnson hasn't got the best mind in the Senate. He isn't the best orator. He isn't the best parliamentarian. But he is the best combination of all those qualities."

In his Senate office, Johnson had a large, framed legend which said, "You Ain't Learnin' Nuthin' When You're Talkin'."

He is a good listener and he comes now to the greatest learning job in the world.

World population is now well past the three billion mark. Pretty soon space flight won't be just an adventure; it'll be a necessity.

It's being said there should be no tax cut without a spending cut. If this idea of matching outgo to income spreads, there goes the American Way of Credit.

But let a man examine himself, and so let him eat of that bread, and drink of that cup. 1 Corinthians 11:28.

WASHINGTON CALLING

Lurid Light on Capital Routine

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — The Bobby Baker case is like a many-colored kaleidoscope. As the pieces of the career of this ambitious young operator come into focus they shed a lurid light on the ways and means of this capital.

But while each episode in the life and times of the former Senate majority secretary generates a new headline a basic pattern is becoming evident. In the jargon of the sociologist Baker was the agent for the in group within the Senate Democratic majority.

He dispensed favors — committee chairmanships, campaign funds, tips on upcoming contracts — to those who played the game. Understandably he earned the enmity of the senators in the out group who for one reason or another were not team players. In this cross-fire the enmity was directed not so much at Baker as at his far more powerful principal.

Lyndon Johnson as majority leader, elevated the young page boy to the influential office of secretary to the majority. He helped carry out the system of rewards and punishments under which Johnson so effectively ruled the unwieldy collection of Democrats in the Senate. When he left to be vice president he saw to it that Baker stayed in his post where he continued to exercise his extraordinary powers.

LIBERAL DEMOCRATS deeply resented the fact that Johnson's successor, Sen. Mike Mansfield, was willing to have Baker as a Johnson legate carry on as before. They had never quite dared to speak openly against Johnson. Now Sen. Paul Douglas and others in the out group are directing at Baker the animus they have felt toward the overlordship exercised for so long by Johnson.

This is the deep division within the Senate majority that the Baker affair has brought into the open. In the group, of which the late Sen. Robert S. Kerr was probably the most conspicuous member, had a close affinity with powerful economic interests. That was true particularly of oil, uranium and other interests in the Southwest.

Take a small example of how the system worked. The late Sen. Estes Kefauver's anti-monopoly subcommittee was a source of concern to the Senate establishment. Kefauver insisted on poking into the economics of "administered" prices in steel, bread, automobiles and other matters touching the consumer's pocketbook.

THE ISSUE came to a head when Kefauver proposed to investigate drug prices in South America as fixed by United States firms. This caused a lot of anguish among powerful figures in Washington who watch out for the well-being of these firms. How to sidetrack or stop the investigation?

Previously two Democrats considered "sound" had been named to the subcommittee, Senators Edward V. Long of Missouri and Sam J. Ervin Jr. of North Carolina. Long, a freshman senator with wide business interests in his home state, had been put on the committee in August of 1961. He cast the deciding vote to refer the drug inquiry to the Foreign Relations Committee where it was vetoed.

Kefauver has been replaced by Sen. Philip Hart of Michigan, rated a liberal. The issue today is whether subpoenas shall be issued to compel the testimony of drug manufacturers. Long says he is opposed to this action. His may be the deciding vote against it and therefore against further investigation.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Johnson Will Be Strong President, Writer Says

(Editor's Note: The Drew Pearson column today takes the form of a letter to his youngest grandson, age three, who is named for the 36th president of the United States.)

Washington, D.C.
November 23, 1963

Dear Lyndon,

When I kissed you goodbye in your high chair at the breakfast table yesterday morning and flew to Texas, I did not know that I was flying to the scene of a great tragedy. I also did not know that during the course of the day, the man for whom you are named would become President of the United States.

You are now three years old and you will not understand the things I am writing about. But someday if your mother puts this letter aside and you read it, then you will understand. For yesterday marked a very tragic day in the history of the United States, when a man who had had the courage to stand up for the rights of all races and the underprivileged and for better understanding in the world, was shot. He was killed like a president who had had similar courage 100 years ago.

When a president dies in office in the United States, it is a very great shock, because, entirely aside from sorrow, our government revolves around the presidency. We are almost entirely dependent on him. Many people therefore are wondering what the new president, the man for whom you are named, is going to be like.

I have known him a long time, since he first came to Washington as a congressional secretary 30 years ago. And when you know a man well you are sometimes inclined to see too many of his faults, just as a wife knows all the faults of her husband.

But if President Kennedy had to die, in my opinion we are very lucky to have Lyndon Johnson here to take his place.

Some vice presidents are not very well equipped to take over when the president dies. But your Uncle Lyndon knows government, has worked in government most of his life. Even more important he is not a coward. He is strong and determined. He is just as determined as I have seen you when you want something and yelled your head off until you get it.

A lot of people consider the new President a politician. He is. But he has some very deep convictions. Some have taken a lot of courage. He comes from the South where it isn't popular to stand up for Negroes and Mexicans.

Some people think that when he started working to help Negroes it was just because he wanted to be run for President. But he started employing Negroes on his congressional staff a long time ago.

And once when a Mexican-American war veteran died down in Three Rivers, Texas, and the local people wouldn't let him be buried in a grave for white folks, Lyndon got him buried in the Arlington National Cemetery and stood out in a steel storm by the grave during the ceremony.

And when he took over the job of getting government jobs for Negroes, he probably did more for the Negro race than any man since Abraham Lincoln. For he didn't just fool around with a few stenographic jobs in a few government offices. He called in the 100 top defense contractors and told them they must open their rolls to all races — or they would lose their government business.

One day I went up to see your Uncle Lyndon when he was vice president, and took with me Sonny Liston, the heavyweight boxing champion of the world. Sonny Liston is a big man, about the same height as Uncle Lyndon, and I was interested in watching them together.

Sonny came from Arkansas where his father picked cotton and had 25 children. Uncle Lyndon came from Texas where his father had no money and he went off to California to work as an elevator boy.

Sometimes one man in this country has a better chance than another. Sonny Liston didn't have much chance and once went to jail; Lyndon Johnson didn't have too much chance but lacked one handicap that Liston had: Color. He pushed and plugged away until he was elected vice president of the United States.

And as vice president he took Sonny out on the Senate floor. The Senate was not in session. I went along and watched them.

He showed the big Negro from Arkansas the Senate desk of Daniel Webster, the great orator whom you'll study about someday; and the desk of Sen. Huey Long of Louisiana, who like President Kennedy got shot by an assassin. And he showed him the desk of Jefferson Davis, one-time president of the Confederacy.

Davis' desk, now occupied by Sen. John Stennis of Mississippi, was of particular interest to Sonny Liston, because Sonny's ancestors, as slaves, were the chief issue in the war fought between the north and south.

Uncle Lyndon pointed to a scar on the side of Jefferson Davis' desk and explained: "During the Civil War, a Union soldier found out that this was Jeff Davis' desk and hacked at it with his sword. They tried to patch it up, but it's still there."

The scar had been vanished over several times and was almost gone. The scars of race hatred have been vanished over several times in this country, as you will learn when you grow older, but they are still there. And it may be that the man for whom you are named will be able with his great persuasion, and his great understanding of human nature and his roots in the South, to make them heal forever.

These are some of the things that began happening when I said goodbye to you in your high chair yesterday morning and flew to Texas.

Love from,
Your Grandfather

CHICAGO — A homeowner received a tax rebate for termite damage to his home when a federal court judged it a "casualty loss."

The owner's house was razed on the advice of a pest control expert, and he had to burn it down. The owner was paid $21,000.

Termite had done their work within the short period of five months during 1956.

Federal tax law requires that in order to deduct a casualty loss on income tax returns, the lost must have an element of "suddenness" such as fires, storms and shipwrecks. Commerce Clearing House, a tax authority, said.

Commerce Clearing House says in fiscal 1963 there were 155,493 filed.

Wonderful Man Victim of Ignorance and Hate

To The Editor:

John F. Kennedy, the 35th and most beloved president in the American Republic's history, has sadly been taken from the American people. However, our late president has left the United States a rich legacy which shall forever be represented by the simple glory of every American flag that is displayed across the nation and around the world.

To me the American flag's colors will always represent President Kennedy's work in behalf of liberty. The blue of the flag is symbolic of the late president's belief in the golden virtues contained within the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights. White should remind us that John Kennedy strongly believed that man can be free, only when he has been liberated from corrupt and domineering social, economic and political forces. Red relates that President Kennedy made the ultimate sacrifice in the service of the United States of America.

Old Glory shall be an eternal memorial to the principles and ideals of our late president. In this time of national remorse, all responsible Americans, regardless of political philosophy, sincerely proclaim that President Kennedy was a great American who fought to make the world brighter for all mankind, and to extend the greatness of the Republic.

Nov. 22, 1963 will be remembered by present generations and those of the future as the day when a wonderful man had been slain by the gun of ignorance and hate. If the days just ahead appear dark we should recall that President John F. Kennedy held much faith in the American soul and spirit. Surely, every American citizen must pledge to assure that the torch of freedom shall continue to burn in the many years to come.

As a free and a mighty people, Americans can harness the spirit of John Fitzgerald Kennedy and march on to score total victory for human independence. That would be the greatest tribute the American people could ever pay their fallen chief executive.

Answer Will Come
Hard But It Will Come
To The Editor:

In the words of a contemporary newscaster "A man worth so much dies at the hands of a man worth so little!"

At 12:25 p.m. Friday an unwritten drama transpired before the world, a world that knelt and prayed for 25 agonizing minutes and then found it prayed in vain. John Fitzgerald Kennedy, the 35th President of the United States, was dead. He accomplished more in his 46 years of life than most men could do in 80 or 100, or many more.

Brave warrior, well educated, servant to the people as well as their leader, he gave till his last breath his all in the cause of America, the cause of freedom and justice. A cause that should have been moved forward under his guidance, instead of snuffed out by a sniper's bullet.

We all know his record, his much talked about education at Harvard, his distinguished service during World War II, and his brilliant work as representative and senator from Massachusetts. We also know a kind man with a smile that was as broad as his New England A., a devoted family man, a deeply religious man, a man who was the Christian ideal. Even his political enemies knew they could approach him as a friend when the issue was decided for or against him. The American people knew his record and his personality and they showed their love by making him the youngest President of the U.S.

By Sakren

ing him the youngest President of the U.S.

A statement from his inaugural address was his own personal motto as President of the United States, "Ask not what your country can do for you, but what you can do for your country." He tried his best to see that every member of his country was helped, from the aged to the man in service.

His ideas were youthful but at the same time mature, dynamic but never reckless. He sought to guide the ship of state through troubled waters with a calm and steady hand. And this he did. His name will always be remembered for these actions and for perhaps the greatest event toward peace in years for which he was directly responsible, the atomic test-ban treaty. Yet this is hollow now for "the ship has weathered every storm, the prize we sought is won, the port is near, the bells I hear, the people all exulting. While I with mournful tread walk the deck where my captain lies, fallen cold and dead."

But the world moves on. Time passes and heals great wounds. America is strong, her leaders good, she shall recover from this great pain of mortal agony. The ship of state sails under a new captain, and God grant him safe harbor. Still one word: Why this waste of a man with such potential, a man whose genius will, now, never be fully known?

We ask this question as people all over America, all over the world are doing. The answer will come hard for us, but it will come. Our own life will profit, America will profit, from the supreme sacrifice of John Fitzgerald Kennedy, who lay down his life not only for his brother, or America but for all men that they may one day, each and every one, have freedom and justice for themselves and for the world.

Johnson Asks Full Report on Assassination

By EDMOND LEBRETON
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has ordered the FBI to prepare a detailed report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy and that the people be told all the facts.

The report is to cover, too, the fatal shooting of Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused slayer of the late president, the White House announced Monday.

Johnson has "directed all federal agencies to cooperate," the White House said.

The announcement came after Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, the assistant House Democratic leader, suggested a high-level congressional investigation of Kennedy's assassination.

Citing the fact that the killing of Oswald, 24, aborted the normal public disclosure and weighing of evidence in a trial, Boggs said he thinks Congress should conduct a careful inquiry to determine the facts.

Authorities in Dallas, where a sniper's rifle bullets ended Kennedy's life Friday, say the evidence is conclusive and that the case is closed—so far as the question of Oswald's guilt or innocence is concerned.

Perhaps feeling that there is still some uneasiness in the public mind, Dallas Police Chief Jesse Curry said his department intends to make all the evidence public unless federal agencies want some withheld.

A further problem is the persistent campaign by some Soviet propaganda agencies to depict the killing of Oswald, who had steadily protested his innocence, as part of a right-wing plot that took the president's life.

Boggs said he favors a "blue-ribbon inquiry, far above any suggestion of partisanship."

Rep. William H. Ayres, R-Ohio, said he will introduce legislation making any assault on the president, vice president or other high executive or judicial officers a federal crime.

Such a statute would guarantee quick FBI action in any such case, Ayres said.

The killing of the President was considered likely to revive interest in a bill now pending in the Senate Commerce Committee to regulate the sale of firearms by mail.

The FBI has said the rifle with which the President was shot was bought by mail.

The pending bill, by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., would require persons buying firearms by mail to certify they were not under 18, had not been convicted of a felony and that the purchase would not violate local law.

SEATTLE (AP) — Martha Ostenso, 63, author of "Wild Geese" and "The Sister Kenny Story," died in Seattle Sunday.

Miss Ostenso and her husband, Douglas Durkin, arrived from her hometown of Brainerd, Minn., Friday. She became ill and was taken directly to a hospital.

Miss Ostenso, author of about 30 novels, an anthology of verse and many short stories, was born in Bergen, Norway, and reared in South Dakota and Minnesota. She attended the University of Manitoba, in Canada, where she met her husband, who was teaching one of her writing classes. They were married in 1944.

DEAR ABBY:

She's Hopeful But Confused

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I met a widower 14 months ago, and he seemed sincere when he told me he would marry me as soon as he unveiled his wife's monument. The unveiling took place last July, and now his excuse is that he doesn't think he should marry until his daughter is married. (She is 20 and as yet isn't even going with anybody.) He has also said in a kidding way that maybe I am too old for him (I am 59). He doesn't take out anyone but me, and is very good to me. He's bought me some nice gifts, and his family seems to like me. Should I continue seeing him, or should I tell him to leave me alone and find a younger woman?

NEEDS ADVICE
DEAR NEEDS: Give him a deadline. If he doesn't come up with a wedding ring by Christmas, you'll know there ain't no Santa Claus.

DEAR ABBY: Is there such a thing as not having a "head" for figures? Our son made "A's" and "B's" in everything but math, and he got a "D" in that. Do you think he should be punished for this? DAD

DEAR DAD: When one doesn't have a "head" for something, but applies his tail (to the chair) and devotes enough time to studying, he usually does well enough. Ask your son's math teacher if your son is working up to his capacity. If he is, don't punish him.

DEAR ABBY: I should like to comment on the letter you printed from a bride-to-be who wanted the popular song, "What Kind of Fool Am I?" sung at her wedding. In 1938 I belonged to St. Agatha's choir. Our director was an organist, a young priest who often played popular tunes during the Holy Mass. Among his favorites were "Deep Purple," "Bei Mir Bist Du Schoen," and, of all things, "Heaven Can Wait." Father slowed down the tempo appropriately, but the tunes were recognizable and the effect was beautiful.

Business Out To Shake Off Death Shock

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's economy seeks today to shake off the shock and indecision that followed the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Whether the economy can regain its vitality remains to be seen. Many business economists think it will.

Shops, banks and security houses that were closed all or part of Monday, out of respect of the President, resume business today.

Businessmen will carefully watch sales, the stock markets and other indicators this week. Economists say businessmen tend to put off decisions after a shock like this, partly to wait until their own minds clear, partly to figure out government plans and partly to see how the consumer is reacting.

Many seem confident there will merely be a temporary lull. "When the uncertainty and unsettlement are over, it will be seen that the basic economic situation is no different than before," said Roy L. Reiersen, senior vice president for economics of the Bankers Trust Co., New York.

"Unless President Johnson brings the country quickly out of its state of shock," says Robert W. Mathieson, an economist for the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp., "a serious downward economic adjustment would occur."

Most indices pointed upward before the tragedy. Personal income and employment were high, capital spending plans were favorable and inventories were generally lean.

Still, business economists say that confidence has received a bad shock, and this could override technical considerations.

The stock market tumbled when the first shock wave hit Friday and still was falling when the market closed early.

Also to be watched closely is Christmas spending, and spending for automobiles and appliances.

Some say Christmas could help carry the economy over the rough spots. They think people will go ahead with holiday spending, if only out of momentum, and this should quicken general confidence.

Red China Sees New President More Aggressive

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China charged today that President Johnson has called for increased "aggression" in South Viet Nam.

The official Peking People's Daily, quoted by Peking Radio, said:

"The new U.S. President Lyndon Johnson has issued his first foreign policy directive calling for intensified efforts for aggression in South Viet Nam."

The broadcast also reported without comment the killing of Lee Harvey Oswald, who had been charged with assassinating President Kennedy.

Texas Buries Hero Cop and Drifting Red

By ROBERT H. JOHNSON JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Like the President with whom their fate became inextricably linked, the hero cop and the drifting Communist went to their rest Monday.

President John F. Kennedy was buried in the solemn majesty of a nation's grief in Arlington National Cemetery.

The cop went to his rest in a gentle hilltop in South Dallas — in a grave still unmarked with a stone.

And the Communist was buried almost furtively in simple ceremonies in a Fort Worth graveyard.

The President, authorities said, was shot to death Friday by the Communist, Lee Harvey Oswald, 24, who drifted into the Marine Corps and out with an undesirable discharge, into Soviet Russia with a desire to change his citizenship and out when he pleaded with the State Department to let him come home.

The policeman, Patrolman J. D. Tippit, met Oswald about three miles from the assassination scene Friday and was shot to death when he stopped him for questioning—probably after hearing a description of the assassin on his prowling car radio.

Soon Oswald was charged with murdering both the President and the patrolman—and 36 hours later he, too, was dead, gunned down by a fourth man who burst into the national tragedy.

He was Jack Ruby, 32, Dallas strip joint owner. Some said Ruby killed Oswald out of grief over the President's death. Others said the cause of his grief was fear the city's sadness would cost him holiday business.

Russia Fears America Will Blame Soviet

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Moscow propaganda in the wake of President Kennedy's assassination seems to reflect a feeling of dread.

In the Kremlin's reaction there is detectable a fear that the American public will turn its wrath upon communism, as such, because a man labeled a pro-Castro marxist was accused of killing the President.

Premier Khrushchev and his supporters, beset by enormous economic problems, and a deep split in the world Communist camp may be apprehensive that Soviet foreign policy could collapse before a hardened U.S. attitude.

The propaganda is full of veiled warnings. The government newspaper Izvestia, which can be considered a voice of Khrushchev himself, said "President Kennedy's death has undoubtedly aggravated the situation in the United States."

"The struggle between sober-minded Americans and the forces of rabid reactionaries who will not miss the chance of using the situation for their own ends," will be very tense," Izvestia's editorial said Monday.

Khrushchev's policy is pegged to peaceful coexistence, as he calls it. This implies that since war is unthinkable, the two greatest powers must agree on dangerous issues. As practiced, coexistence has involved probing, testing, edging close to danger — as in Cuba and Berlin — and retreating when there is risk of a collision which could trigger war.

Kennedy confronted Khrushchev with shows of strength in Berlin and in Cuba. But the Kremlin knew Kennedy and respected him as an antagonist. President Johnson still is an unknown quantity to the Russians, and Moscow deeply suspects what it does not know or understand.

Moscow has been cautious lately. Its caution is reflected in a mild response to the humiliation and expulsion of Soviet diplomats from the Congo.

Izvestia expressed fear that the assassination may have deadly parallels with the 1933 Reichstag fire which brought Hitler to power in Germany. There, it pointed out, Communists were blamed.

All this indicates that before long the Kremlin will want to test Johnson and his intentions.

2 Golden Valley Girls Killed

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Two Golden Valley girls were killed and five persons were injured in an automobile collision in the suburban community Monday night.

The deaths of Diane Verlo, 12, and Janet Becker, 11, raised Minnesota's 1963 traffic toll to 718, compared with 630 fatalities through this date last year.

The victims were among a group of young girls being driven to a swimming party at Ascension Church when the accident occurred.

BUSINESS MIRROR

Expansion Plans May Be Delayed

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Business seemed getting set to start another big expansion drive—before the shock of President Kennedy's assassination.

Predictions for spending next year for new plant and equipment had ranged from a moderate increase to a possible 10 per cent boost.

Plans may be held up while industrialists assess the new business climate.

But the first tangible sign of quickening business interest already has come in the language of dollars. Manufacturing firms have sharply boosted their appropriations for capital spending—as much as 45 per cent in some key industries. The total set aside is the highest since 1956, when the last big boom was in full swing.

The greater part of the actual dollar outlay would be made in 1964. And if the appropriation trend that started this summer continues, next year could see a duplication of the outpouring of money by corporations which made 1955-56 a notable expansion era, unchallenged since in year-to-year spending increases.

Appropriations can later be cancelled, but mostly they are not. So the $3.2 billion which directors of 602 leading manufacturing firms earmarked in just the last three months for capital spending—if matched by the multitude of firms so far unreported—could mean the 1964 economy can expect a stronger boost than heretofore foreseen.

This year business spent $39 billion on new equipment or on plant expansion. Private surveys of business inventions show expenditures next year may run from 4 to 10 per cent higher. The Department of Commerce's own survey of intentions for 1964 is due out this week. The most optimistic forecast so far has been for a $43 billion expenditure.

But the money-on-the-barrel-head appropriations, as tabulated by the National Industrial Conference Board, shows that in the July-September quarter money set aside by 802 corporations increased 19 per cent over the second quarter of the year. The total of $3.2 billion approaches the $3.3 billion back in the summer of 1955. In the 1955-56 boom spending suddenly swelled by 22 per cent.

Significantly perhaps, appropriations this summer by industries turning out durable goods increased 22 per cent over the April-June quarter. Bellwethers are the primary iron and steel firms, up 45 per cent; motor vehicles and equipment, up 35 per cent; fabricated metal products, up 70 per cent; instruments and photographic equipment firms, up 64 per cent.

Economists have been watching closely the trend of business spending because it is the third leg of the economy. The other two—consumer and government spending—have shown but moderate rises.

A definite increase in business spending might give the economy the pep it needs for growth rate desired if more jobs are to be created.

BOYLE'S COLUMN

Presidency World's Hardest Job

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Some notes on "the world's toughest job"—the presidency of the United States:

Despite the awful pressures of the post, 27 of the 34 men who served as president before Lyndon B. Johnson lived to be over 60—and three are still alive.

Of the eight who died in office, four were felled by assassins.

The most durable president to date was John Adams, variously known as "Atlas of Independence," "His Rotundity," and "Old Sink or Swim." He lived 90 years and 295 days and died on the same 4th of July as did Thomas Jefferson, who was 83.

The oldest president to die in office, William Henry Harrison, 68, "Old Tippecanoe," succumbed to pneumonia exactly a month after he took office on March 4, 1841. He caught cold after riding to the Capitol on a white horse in stormy weather and delivering the longest inaugural message on record—8,578 words.

His successor, John Tyler, who served out his term, lived to be 71. Tyler had two wives. He had 15 children, the largest number of any president. Seven of the children were born during the 16 years he survived after leaving the White House.

Of the three presidents besides William Henry Harrison who died of natural causes while in office, only one, Warren G. Harding, 57, was under 60. Zachary Taylor was 65, Franklin D. Roosevelt, 63.

At 46, John F. Kennedy, the youngest man ever elected president, was also the youngest to die. He was the second Democrat to die in office, the first slain while in power.

The second youngest president to die was James A. Garfield, killed by an assassin at the age of 49.

Sixteen past presidents, including the three now living, survived to be 70 or over. Five made it to 80 or more, among them Herbert Hoover.

Abraham Lincoln and John F. Kennedy died in coma within a short period after being shot by assassins.

Garfield lived for 80 days. President William McKinley lived for eight days after he was shot Sept. 6, 1901, at the Pan-American Exposition in Buffalo, N.Y.

Since 1958, by act of Congress, all presidential widows receive pensions of $10,000 a year.

Duluth Man Rescued in Fire

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Firemen rescued a Duluth man from his smoke-filled home Monday after eight other occupants of the dwelling had escaped unharmed.

Donald Bellows Jr., 37, Duluth motel operator, was reported in good condition in a Duluth hospital, suffering from smoke inhalation.

Firemen found Bellows in an upstairs bedroom. His wife and three of their children, and house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Meredith McCarthy, Minneapolis, and two of their children, fled from the home.

Bellows, who had been sleeping on the ground floor, rushed upstairs apparently thinking not all had escaped. Two other Bellows children and three other members of the McCarthy family were staying at Bellows' motel.

A defective lamp cord was blamed for the blaze. Damage was estimated at $15,000.

Washington Gets Scare

WASHINGTON (AP)—Police raced to the roof of the 7-story Internal Revenue Service Building today in response to a report that a man had been seen on the roof with a weapon.

The roof overlooks the Justice Department entrance used by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, brother of the assassinated President.

Officers of the General Services Administration found no one on the red-tiled roof. But officer David M. Randall said he had seen a man with what looked like a weapon when he inspected the roof from a tower of the adjacent Old Post Office Building.

Police indicated they would keep an all-day watch on the roof and inspect elevators and vacant rooms in the Internal Revenue Service Building.

Do You Remember?

CARNIVAL TIME . . .
Winona Winter Carnivals 40 or 50 years ago were a shade different from those staged here in more recent years. There was the same carnival atmosphere and fun-making but the emphasis then was on costumed marching units representing many of the city's business and industrial firms. This photograph taken in 1920 shows employees and management of H. Choate & Co., dressed up for the carnival parade. Long-time Winona residents remember other groups — among them from J. R. Watkins Co. (now Watkins Products, Inc.) and Behrens Manufacturing Co. — which each year appeared in the annual event. After a lapse of a number of years, the Young Men's Activity Group sponsored an ice show which set the stage for the modern version of the mid-winter celebration. This photograph was submitted by Mrs. John D. Jereczek, Dodge, Wis.

ST. MARTIN'S CHOIR . . . Members of the St. Martin's Lutheran Church mixed choir are seen in this photograph taken in 1918. Left to right in the front row are: Esther Huseman, Edna Prigge, Florence Schreiber, Mrs. William Koenig, Mrs. Fred Buchholtz, Director Max Hackbart, Olga Noeske, Ella Frey and Mathilda Kuhlman.

Third row: William Koenig, Wallace Baumgardt, Alvina Bodewing, Gay Frey, Edna Noeske, George Kiebusch, Mrs. Peter Liver, Arthur Frey, Elsie

Ed Buck Says—

LET'S TALK TURKEY

Like a lot of folks, we're expecting company for Thanksgiving dinner.

We're going to be well prepared, with plenty of stuffing (film) and trimmings (flashbulbs) for our camera as well as stuffing for our turkey!

Over the years, we've learned — and we're sure you have, too — that the traditional Turkey Day is always an ideal day for picture-taking.

Whether it's just a snapshot, movies or both, the chances for outstanding pictorial keepsakes at these warm family gatherings are almost endless.

Dad's job of carving the turkey is always a scene-stealer, so don't neglect to record this ritual in pictures. And though the kitchen may be delicious with fragrant odors, Mom in the midst of her creative thrives makes another great study. And don't forget those favorite out-of-town relatives who put in an appearance only on these blue-ribbon occasions.

Here's another festive thought. The picture you take of the family gathered around the table just before the Thanksgiving feast begins would make an ideal subject for your own photo-greeting Christmas card this year. Just bring your pictures in to us for processing, and we'll be glad to show you how your Thanksgiving picture-taking can return a Christmas card dividend that will be pure gravy!

Prophecy Becomes
Kennedy Epitaph

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy probably never meant to be his own prophet but he was when he explained eight years ago why he chose certain men in American history for his book, "Profiles in Courage."

His prophecy became his epitaph.

"The courage of life," he said, long before he was considered for the presidency, "is often a less dramatic spectacle than the courage of a final moment; but it is no less a magnificent mixture of triumph and tragedy."

"A man does what he must—in spite of personal consequences, in spite of obstacles and dangers and pressures—and that is the basis of all human morality."

It took courage to push through crowds to shake hands or ride through a city with the top down. He knew the consequences might be assassination, and they were. But he felt what he did needed doing.

The deeper courage of his life, as with others before him, was in seeking the presidency and then trying to make good at it with all that implies in effort. He gave the presidency a youthful sense of life unmatched since the bouncing days of Theodore Roosevelt, if only because all the others in between were older when they took office. Kennedy was only 43.

President Johnson, 55, cannot be expected to spend himself as tirelessly, at least in a physical way, as Kennedy. His heart attack of 1955 makes it important not to get over-fatigued.

Kennedy brought more than courage and energy to the White House. Like Sir Winston Churchill, he had that indefinable thing called grace.

Churchill always had style but he developed grace late. Kennedy always had it, and it showed itself in his quiet humor, even at his own expense, and in his avoidance of political brawling. At this moment, so close to his death and before the emotion over his assassination melts away, it is impossible to measure his place in history. He was president less than three years or only five months longer than Harding, who was a misfit no matter how he is looked at. Kennedy, on the contrary, fitted into the presidency almost elegantly.

Yet, his less than three years of service were hardly more than a beginning, a foundation for what lay ahead since he seemed very likely to win a second term.

In that time, abroad, he had become a highly popular and respected figure. He had established better relations with the Soviet Union than had existed. He won the confidence of most of Latin America.

This place in history may well depend upon the fact, if it proves to be a fact, that he broke the ice of the cold war. But it is too soon to do more than suggest that may be the result of the work he did in his short time.

His domestic record is spotty. In his presidency the country became more prosperous and perhaps more self-confident particularly when he assured it the United States was ahead of the Soviet Union in long-range missiles.

But he bogged down badly with Congress. All through 1963 Congress just drifted, frustrating completely his request for a new civil rights law and a tax cut. Maybe it would have done better next year.

Maybe it would have done better this year if he had been harsher and tougher.

It didn't seem to be in his nature to be harsh and he appeared unwilling to be very tough except as a last resort, such as in making Premier Khrushchev take his missiles out of Cuba or using troops to stop Southern governors' defiance of federal court orders.

Vikings Ready for Draft With Armful of Needs, Bagful of Hopes

MINNEAPOLIS — The Minnesota Vikings head for the National Football League play-off draft in Chicago next Monday with an armful of needs and a bagful of hopes.

The needs, perhaps not as acute as in the Vikings' first three drafts in the NFL, still are large. Probably the biggest need is for youngsters with blue-chip potential in the pro league.

This is an intangible—something nobody can predict. What is meant are players like Paul Flatley, Tommy Mason, Fran Tarkenton, Rip Hawkins and a couple more the Vikings have managed to snare.

Who could have made an outright prediction a year ago that Flatley was of this caliber? Nobody. Now he is considered likely to achieve the heights few pass receivers have reached. He may be the game's next great receiver.

"We have many needs," Viking chief scout Joe Thomas says. "We say we need offensive linemen; we say we need defensive linemen; we say we need this, or we need that. I suppose what it boils down to is this: You draft on the basis of needs and what's available. At left end, rookie Don Hultz has done yeoman work this season—the best job the Vikings have had done at the position in three years. But there is room for improvement so the Vikings are keeping their eyes open.

"Most anybody will take a big, tough running back if one is available," Thomas adds. Bill Brown and Tom Wilson have given the Vikings their best fullbacking since they came into the league, but here again it is a question of whether some draftable rookie might do even better.

Tommy Mason is set for years at left half but, should a good running back be available who could be trained as an understudy to Mason for possible trading, he would be taken. With Tarkenton and Ron VanderKelen at quarterback, the Vikings are not likely to draft a quarterback—unless one of the "big name" college quarterbacks is available when the Vikings' turn comes up. In that case, he might be drafted as trade bait.

Linemen—both offensive and defensive—are the Vikings' primary needs. When both No. 1 draft Jim Dunaway and No. 2 pick Bobby Bell were lost to the American Football League last year it hurt the Vikings more than they have ever admitted publicly. Those two could have meant two or three more victories this season.

Who are some of the top players on everybody's draft list this season?

Thomas lists running back as "probably the weakest of all positions up for the draft. There's no real outstanding running back in the country."

Among receivers, Southern Cal's Hal Bedsole, Texas Tech's Dave Parks and Georgia Tech's Billy Martin appear to be the cream of the crop.

Minnesota's Carl Eller and Texas' Scott Appleton are the joy of the pro scouts when mentioning top line prospects.

Of Eller, Thomas said, "I have never talked to him. We can't until after he's completed his eligibility."

Any sleepers who the Vikings are likely to come up with either in the draft or as free agents?

"The sleeper is hard to find nowadays," Thomas replied, "because everybody is working harder at scouting. Very few NFL prospects miss the scouts' attention."

LET'S TALK SPORTS

OUR CONGRATULATIONS first to Bruce Zellmer and Roger Goerisch, Winona State's representatives on the 1963 all-Northern Intercollegiate Conference football team.

Zellmer, named to a defensive halfback post, is a three-year veteran of the all-league team and Goerisch, a sophomore, is a first-year member.

Rog is one of the chief reasons Madeo (Moon) Molinari, Warrior grid mentor, is looking forward to future years.

Although the Statesmen underwent a rebuilding year that saw them win only one of eight starts, with a total of 42 underclassmen on the team, the future holds promise of great things to come.

"And they're all good kids and good football players," smiles Moon.

THE OLD SONG TITLE: "It's So Nice to Have a Man Around the House," might well apply to Molinari beginning today.

Monday marked Moon's last official day on the job for the current school term. He began his sabbatical leave today.

He will begin classes at the University of Minnesota in January.

"We were just talking about what I'd do up until January," said Molinari. "I guess my wife has some things she'd like to have me do around the house."

THROUGHOUT THE country, high school wrestling is gaining popularity. The Winona area is no exception.

Just yesterday we had an item stating that Arcadia High School had added the sport to its extracurricular activities.

And today we receive a note from Dover-Eyota High School stating that wrestling is being initiated into the program there.

Roy Henderson, a Winona State grad and also Eagle football coach, is handling the mat reins.

ROCHESTER, IT SEEMS, is growing in more ways than population.

Nine, and perhaps 11, holes of a new municipal golf course will be ready for play at the opening of the next links season.

The new course, we understand, will be quite a switch from the flat Soldiers Field layout.

It will run 600 yards longer and feature an up-and-down terrain characterized by a draw ravine and interesting placement of trees, making it much more challenging than Soldiers Field.

The second nine is scheduled for play the season following next.

The new course is located about a half-mile west of the U.S. 14-52 intersection.

IT'S TIME AGAIN for mid-week cage predictions. We now stand with 21 of 36 right for a .583 percentage (20 of 36 for .556 with handicaps).

This week, we see: Winona High over Kasson-Mantorville by 7. Cotter over La Crosse Aquinas by 6. West Salem over Mindoro by 1. Gale-Ettrick over Holmen by 5. Trempealeau over Melrose by 2. Bangor over Onalaska by 6. Stewartville over St. Charles by 3. Elgin over Faribault Deaf by 4. Waseca over Randolph by 2. Cannon Falls over Farmington by 5. Wykoff over Elkton by 4. Preston over Houston by 1. Lanesboro over Caledonia by 6. Spring Valley over LeRoy by 4. Gilman over Rollingstone Holy Trinity by 7. Cadott over Fairchild by 1. Pepin over Plum City by 3. Spring Valley over Durand by 5. Elva-Strum over Fall Creek by 8. Wabasha over Mazeppa by 3. Dodge Center over Dover-Eyota by 7. Lake City over Plainview by 2. Spring Grove over Mabel by 3. Rushford over Canton by 1. Alma over Wabasha St. Felix by 2.

THAT WHAT HIS COACH SAYS

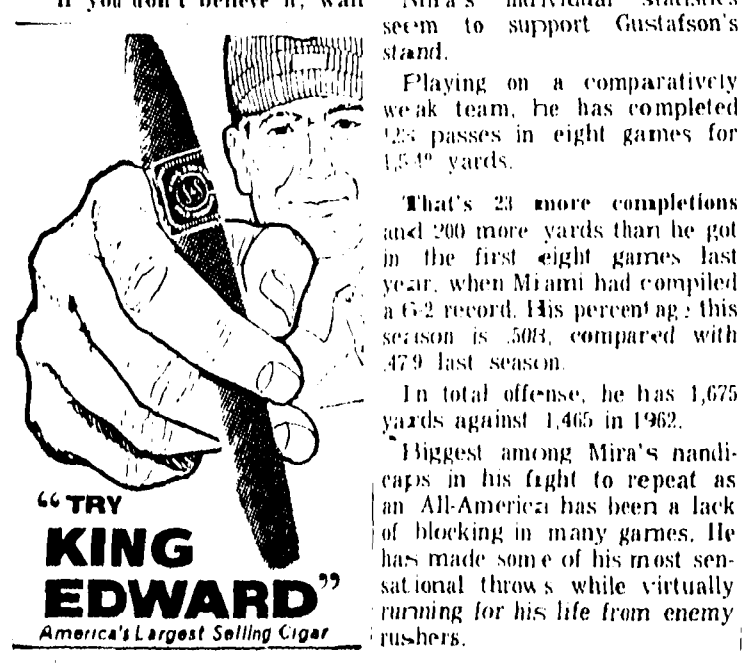

Mira Stands Out Despite Losses

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Is George Mira, Miami's All-America quarterback a year ago, still a top-notch quarterback in spite of his team's 3-5 record this season?

Here's how his coach, Andy Gustafson, answers the question:

"Despite every conceivable handicap, George has been far greater than he was in 1962. There is no doubt that he is the nation's greatest passing quarterback."

Redmen Cagers Eagerly Await Opening Battle

By BOB JUNGHANS
Daily News Sports Writer

"We're ready for a game. At least we're sick of practicing," commented St. Mary's basketball coach Ken Wiltgen as the Redmen prepare to open their season Saturday night.

"We need some strange competition," continued Wiltgen. "It gets to the point where everyone knows what everyone else is going to do, and you can't improve any. From this point on we'll have to play games in order to improve."

THE REDMEN open their 1963-64 season with a bang, taking on Stout (Wis.) State College in an 8 p.m. game Saturday night, and then staying at Terrace Heights to host St. Ambrose Sunday night.

"It's the first game and anything can happen," said the St. Mary's mentor.

"We've got size, experience and speed, and that should be what it takes. But you can never tell."

Wiltgen will pick his starting quintet from eight cagers, including a freshman. Almost certain to start at forwards are Tom Hall, 6-3, and Roger Pytlewski, 6-5. The pivot position is a tossup between 6-5 Denny Burghman or Jim Rockers, who scales 6-7. Mike Maloney, 6-3, Al Williams, 6-3, Jim Clarkin, 6-0, and freshman Jerry Sauter are battling for the two back court slots.

THE REDMEN played both teams last season, dropping a 60-57 decision to Stout in the third game of the campaign, and then tipping St. Ambrose 74-72 two games later. Gone from the Stout squad is top scorer Fred Segglink, who also was much of the Blue Devils' rebounding strength. Segglink dumped in 23 points

ANNUAL GRID DINNER TONIGHT

Bruhn Trying to Keep Team Ready

MADISON, Wis. — The University of Wisconsin football team will sit down to its annual banquet tonight, and there may be some discussion of the season's final game, scheduled for Thanksgiving morning.

The grid dinner usually is held after the season's final game but this year's finale—matching Wisconsin and Minnesota at Minneapolis—was postponed because of President Kennedy's death. There was no alternate date available for the dinner, to be held in the Memorial Union.

The Badgers returned to the training chores Monday, going through a short conditioning drill.

Guard Jon Hohman, who has been hobbled by a knee injury, was able to join in the drill, devoted to passing assignments and timing.

Wisconsin will fly to Minneapolis Wednesday, but in the meantime, Coach Milt Bruhn said, "We're going to try to keep the team ready."

"Our workouts," he said, "will be similar to the type we would hold the latter part of any week before a Saturday game. We won't attempt to give the team new plays, just go over what we have been doing."

When the Badgers get to Minneapolis, Bruhn will be seeking his sixth victory in eight games over his old school. In his first

Bausman Wins MVP

Bruce Zellmer, making his third appearance on the team, and Rog Goerisch are Winona State's representatives on the all-Northern Intercollegiate Conference football team selected by the conference coaches at a meeting at the Curtis Hotel, Minneapolis, Friday, and announced today.

Conference champion Michigan Tech dominated selections, placing six players on the 23-member team.

In addition to the all-conference team, Bruce Bausman, senior end from Moorhead, was declared the winner of the Glen Galligan Award which goes annually to the most valuable player in the league.

BOTH OF WINONA's selections are members of the defensive unit. Zellmer, named also as a sophomore and junior, was selected as a defensive back while Goerisch, a sophomore, was picked as a defensive end.

Along with Zellmer, Bausman and Lorry Johnson, defensive tackle from Moorhead, are three-year veterans of the team.

Four members — offensive ends Wel Halverson of St. Cloud and Lowell Nomeland of Bemidji and defensive end Dick Kern of Mankato and linebacker Russ Johnson of St. Cloud — are making their second appearance.

To the offensive team as an end a year ago but switching to the defensive unit this year is Kern, 185-pound senior. Johnson, 205-pound senior, was a guard on the offensive unit in 1962.

The offensive backfield features a pair of quarterbacks, but 210-pound senior Jerry Walls-kog, who quarterbacked St. Cloud to its surprising NIC finish, was named fullback.

The field general is 175-pound Michigan Tech senior Ralph Abata, who led the Huskies from last place to a conference title in the span of one year.

Speed is the feature at the wings with 195-pound sophomore Doug King of Michigan Tech the choice at left half and Bruce Johnson, 180-pound junior from Mankato State, the pick at right half.

Teaming with Johnson at a defensive tackle slot is Rog Rettings, 240-pound junior from Michigan Tech. The two defensive guards are 225-pound St. Cloud senior Maury Goldstein and 215-pound Michigan Tech senior Dennis Burns.

The linebackers are Ken Naples, 220-pound Michigan Tech sophomore; Bob Falk, 190-pound Bemidji junior, and Johnson.

Joining Zellmer in the defensive secondary is 195-pound Bemidji sophomore John Kopart.

Winona High Schools Anxious for Openers

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor

For three weeks now, Winona's two high school basketball teams have been hard at work, concentrating on opening dates.

And then suddenly Friday because of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, Winona High's scheduled opener with Harmony was postponed. Cotter's opening clash with St. Paul Hill scheduled for Sunday also was postponed.

And now, both coaches agree that their teams need to get in a game.

Both will have that opportunity Wednesday night as John Kenney's Winhawks play host to Kasson-Mantorville of the Hiawatha Valley league at the High School auditorium at 8 p.m. and John Nett's Ramblers journey down river for a clash with La Crosse Aquinas at the Mary Sawyer auditorium at 8 p.m.

In addition, both schools will have "B" squads in pre-game action.

—WINONA HIGH—

"We've been playing head-on for two weeks now," stated Winhawk Coach John Kenney. "The thing the kids need most to break up the monotony is a game."

Wednesday night the Hawks get their chance to break the monotony, but they will have to go into the game at most completely in the dark.

Although Kenney has had a chance to go over the Ko-Met roster, he is in the dark as to what to expect from Coach Vern Huse and Co.

As of now, Winona High does have a starting lineup and also six other men that could see considerable action.

Kenney will open with Jim Kastel, 6-3, at center. John Duell, 6-3, and Bill Squires, 6-4, at forwards and Pat Boland and Steve Keller, both 5-11, at guards.

Kenney also hopes to use Gary Addington, 6-0 sophomore who is completely recovered from an ankle injury. Tony Kreuzer, 6-0, and Bob Urness, 6-1, in the back court.

Dennis Duran, 6-2, and Bruce Holan, 6-1, will play at forwards with John Brandt, 6-4, at center.

"We've been running them together and pairing them off," said Kenney, "but they could be run in as a unit."

In that case, most likely Addington and Kreuzer would operate at the guard spots.

—COTTER—

Nett looks upon the Aquinas test as being tougher than Hill would have been.

"They have a game under their belt," he said. "And they press and run."

Aquinas opened with a win over Stevens Point Pacelli.

"We're at the point now where we need a game to find out where we are weak and where we need some work," he continued.

Nett will open with the same five that were to debut against Hill. Gene Schultz and Rick Starzeck will be at the guards with John Nett Jr., and Bob Judge at forwards and Mike Jerecek at center.

Dave Knopick and Russ Fisk will also see considerable action, Fisk at center and Knopick at forward.

Le Roy is at Spring Valley. Preston hosts Houston, and Wykoff entertains Preston. In other Minnesota games, Randolph travels to Waseca, and Cannon Falls visits Farmington.

In an inter-state tilt, Rollingstone Trinity is at Gilman. Across the river, Fairchild journeys to Cadott, Pepin is at Plum City, Durand hosts Spring Valley, Wis., and Fall Creek goes to Eleva-Strum.

Wednesday evening, Mazeppa hosts Wabasha in a Centennial game, and Dover-Eyota kicks off its season by entertaining Dodge Center. The Root River has two games on tap with Mabel at Spring Grove, and Canton-hosting Rushford. The only nonconference affair has Alma traveling across the river to Wabasha St. Felix.

In his first three starts Tom Cheney, star pitcher for the Washington Senators, allowed no earned runs and struck out 26 batters in 27 innings this spring.

Six Repeat Performers on Maple Leaf All-Conference

Centennial Looks Like Repeat of Last Season

It looks like a two-way race for the crown in the Centennial circuit.

Goodhue and Randolph, which finished 1-2 in the loop last season, again appear to hold the power in the circuit. Goodhue is knee-deep in lettermen, and Randolph boasts one of the tallest teams in conference history.

Wabasha could sneak into the top spot if the two contenders are busy knocking each other off.

WABASHA

Eight lettermen, including one of last year's all conference performers, greet Wabasha Coach Chuck Karger this season, and it could be one of the better ones in recent years.

The standout from last year is 5-11 1/2 senior forward Jim Glynn. Among the other number winners there is good size. They are: Jim Burkhardt, 6-2, Jerry Ekstrand, 5-11, Pete Ekstrand, 6-0, John Reinhardt, 6-2, Richard Schuth, 6-1 1/2, Steve Taverna, 5-10, and Gerald Zierdt, 5-10.

Karger is in his first year at the basketball helm, and wants to make no predictions, but he did offer a cautious, "we should improve." The Indians were 3-14 last season.

Chief prospect seems to be sophomore center Jack Kane who scales 6-6 1/2.

GOODHUE

With three all-conference players lost through graduation, Goodhue coach Ronald Bambenek looks for a rebuilding job ahead.

But possibly the coach is forcing a bit of pessimism as he has eight lettermen returning from the team that compiled a 15-5 record a year ago.

Back are seniors — Lyle Amundson, 6-3 1/2 center; Bruce Husby, 6-0 forward; Dave Kahl, 5-6 guard, and Bob Delva, 5-8 guard.

The junior lettermen are: Dean Dicke, 6-3 1/2 center; John Rueter, 5-11 forward, and Alan Mollenhaur, 6-0 forward.

Top prospects include three sophomores: Gary Opsahl, 6-2 forward; Bob Buck, 5-7 guard, and Eugene Diercks, 6-2 guard.

FARIBAULT DEAF

John Mathews has five lettermen returning from the Hilltopper team that compiled a 4-9 overall record a year ago.

He figures the Hilltoppers to be better than a year ago because of added height, speed and experience.

The lettermen are: Mike Wackler, 6-0 senior forward; Mike Holland, 5-8 junior guard; Eddie Leighton, 6-0 junior forward; Gary Specht, 5-10 sophomore guard, and Roger Thompson, 5-11 junior center.

Outstanding prospects are: Alfred Meier, 5-10 sophomore forward; James Melby, 5-6 junior guard; Julius Vold, 6-2 junior center; Ronald Springer, 5-9 sophomore forward; and Ronald Johnson, 5-8 sophomore guard.

RANDOLPH

Perennial contender Randolph finished second only to Goodhue last season with a 8-2 circuit mark and 15-3 overall. This could be the year for the Rock-ets.

Five lettermen return, and with them will come one of the biggest teams in the Centennial Conference. Dave Sorenson, who streaks skyward to 6-6, will man the pivot spot, with a pair of brawny helpers on the front line — Doug Felton, 6-3, and Wayne Gergen, 6-2. In the back court will be 6-0 Jim Pelkey and Gary Errington, 5-10.

Randolph's only weak spot may be in its bench. Ron Betzold, 5-10, Morris Merrill, 6-0, and Dave Popp, 5-11, all juniors may help. Top sophomore prospects are 5-10 Don Pressnall, and Mike Popp, 6-0.

ELGIN

A trio of lettermen and a fine crop of junior and senior prospects will hold the balance of Elgin basketball fortunes this year.

The Watchmen finished in the third position of the Centennial Conference last season with a 5-10 overall record. If the bench comes through, Coach Vern Lorentson could reverse that record.

The returning veterans are 6-0 senior Al Schwartz, 5-9 senior Dave Prescher, and 5-10 junior Tom Tucker. Lorentson has good size among non-letterwinners. Pete Weisbrod scales 6-4, and Ken Evans is 6-0. Other hopefuls include Lonny Richardson, Gary Scheuneman, Gary Stelling, Merle Wright, and Bill Brinkman.

MAZEPPA

After winning only three of 19 contests last season, Mazeppa cage hopes should be on the upswing as a half dozen seasoned performers are back from last year.

Dave Grossback, 6-3, gives the Indians good height at the pivot spot. Lee Kerkoff is a six-foot-er who will also be in the front line. The only two seniors on the squad are Butch Wobschall, 5-4, and Tom Sand, 5-6. The other veterans are Phil Tom of merna, 5-7, and Jon Sand, 5-6.

Burros Place 5 on Team

A half dozen repeat performers from last year, including three who were chosen on both offense and defense, top this year's Maple Leaf All-Conference selections.

The well balanced league saw at least two players selected from each squad for the 20-man team. Conference titlist Lanesboro led the way with a quintet of gridders. Spring Valley and Wykoff were close behind with four performers each, and Chaffield had a trio selected. Preston and Harmony contributed two players each.

THREE OF the repeaters from last season were from Lanesboro. Jon Ask, a hard-running 178-pound halfback, averaged a phenomenal 14.2 yards every time he carried the ball. He runs the 100-yard dash in 10.5 and always was a threat to go all the way. He led the conference in scoring with 80 points on 13 TDs and two conversions. He also was a top-notch kickoff return man and pass receiver.

Dennis Northouse was one of the trio to be selected both ways. The 205-pounder stood out as an offensive guard and defensive end. He was the hardest and surest tackler on the squad and excelled at rushing the passer. He is an honor student. Larry Strom is a hefty 200-pounder who is a top-notch blocker and snapper. He also did all the kicking for the Burros.

Two more of the gridders who have stood out for the past two seasons hail from Preston. Darryl Burgess made this year's squad as both an offensive and defensive tackle. Weighing in at 189 pounds, Burgess was the man that the Preston backs ran behind when they needed short yardage. He also handled the punting duties and specialized in harassing enemy passers.

Jim Shanahan moves his 160 pounds around his linebacking slot with authority. He led the Preston squad with 63 tackles and loved contact. His quick reactions gave him exceptional range.

WAYNE KING was chosen to the team for the third straight year. The 200-pounder is classed as a fine college prospect by his coach. In addition to his bull-like rushes, he anchored the Chaffield defense from his linebacking spot. The other two Gophers to make the team were Glen Bernard, a spritely 145-pounder who was the fastest man on the squad, and Steve Strange, who kept opponents from running around his defensive end.

Gerald Schaeffer of Lanesboro was termed as one of the Gophers' unsung heroes. He played the entire season on both defense and offense without any relief. Jack Matson of Harmony led his team with 65 tackles from his linebacker spot. He was at his best while blitzing enemy quarterbacks. Merlin Christensen weighs in at 175 pounds, big for a defensive half-back, but his exceptional speed allowed him to come from his safety position and nail enemy ball carriers at the line of scrimmage.

Squires Rattles 237 for Fifth

Winona keggers tore into the first full night of bowling this week with obvious delight Monday night as a quartet of 600 marks were registered, and the women shattered the top 10 standings on two occasions.

All four of the men's honor counts came from the City circuit at Hal-Rod Lanes. Vince Suchomel belted the topper, a 245-635 for Wally's Fountain City. Robert Klage spilled 622, and the Billgen brothers also got into the act. Hal totaled 602, and Roger slapped 600 even. The Hal-Rod Lanes team captured team honors with 1,001-2,902.

The women did their best bowling of the night in the Westgate Ladies League. Shirley Squires got her name in the season's top list once again as she hammered 237-571 for The Oaks. The 237 single puts her in fifth place. Grulkowski Beauty Shop splattered 945-2-758. The team series squeezed them into third place on the top listings.

Other 500 bowlers were: Esther Kelm 516, Marcy Wiczorek 501, Helen Grulkowski 505, Mary Jo Grulkowski 555, and Elaine Bambenek 504.

HAL-ROD: VFW — Joe Stolpa topped 583 for Wason's Supper Club, and Mike Gostomski hit 224 for 7-Up. Bakken Construction rapped 1,005, and Golden Brand Foods laced 2,880.

Park Rec Jr. Girls — Nancy Drussell sparked Hal-Rod All Stars to 1,270 with her 277 two-game set. Lucky Strikes totaled 646 behind Jane Wiczorek's 163.

WESTGATE: Community — Bob Heftman waxed 567 for Sunbeam Bread, and Pete Wolte walloped 221 for Schmidt's Beer. Bub's Pilsen and Oasis took team honors with 962 and 2-758, respectively.

Pentagon to Rule on Game

By JIM BECKER

Associated Press Sports Writer

"We all feel like we have been hit in the pit of the stomach," said Navy Coach Wayne Hardin. "We haven't an inkling about playing the game."

Army Coach Paul Dietzel said his team was "waiting for a decision."

The decision on whether to play the Army-Navy football game, scheduled for Saturday in Philadelphia, will have to come from the Pentagon. It may come today.

Officials of both service academies have said they are in favor of playing, since they feel that President Kennedy had a great interest in football and sports generally. The late President attended the last two games.

However, the next 30 days have been designated as a period of mourning for the armed services.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The semifinal football playoffs in the National Association of Intercollegiate athletics will match College of Emporia (Kan.) against St. John's (Minn.), and Kearney State (Neb.) against Prairie View A&M (Texas).

The two winners will meet for the NAIA championship in the Camellia Bowl game at Sacramento, Calif., Dec. 14.

The NAIA selection committee completed arrangements for the playoffs and announced the selections of Prairie View and Emporia Monday. Kearney and St. John's were chosen last week.

Emporia has a 25-game winning streak in regular season play—longest in the NAIA. Prairie View is the first Negro team to gain a spot in the football semifinals.
