Goldwater Claims 500 Of 655 Votes Needed

By WALTER R. MEARS
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, keynoting his bid for the White House, has called President Johnson a New Dealer who talks like a conservative and faces the liability of programs inherited from President John F. Kennedy.

"I am going to do everything in my power to return the presidency of the United States to the principles which have made this nation great and which can make it greater," the Arizona senator declared Monday night in his first address as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Goldwater said he thinks he already has some 500 of the 655 delegate votes it would take to win him top spot on the GOP ticket at the San Francisco convention next July.

Goldwater made his first campaign speech at a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner which originally was scheduled Nov. 23, the day after President Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas, Tex.

He got a polite reception in a half-empty hall. Local Republicans explained they admitted only party contributors who bought tickets. They said 879 were sold.

Goldwater said he respects President Johnson but considers him "first of all today a leader bound by the commitments of his party. And in that role I shall do what I can with all the support I can gather. For his party is wrong."

"The President will expound on his inheritance from his predecessor's administration," Goldwater said. "These inherited proposals he must not and he cannot reject—or even materially revise."

"These cannot be listed among President Johnson's assets," Goldwater said. "They are his liabilities."

The Arizona conservative said Johnson himself "knows that Republican ways are the ways to inspire Americans today."

"Even while he tells his staff that he is, frankly, a Roosevelt New Dealer, he tries to sell the public on the idea that he is a conservative."

Goldwater, who today launches his campaign in New Hampshire, says "our opponent is the Democratic regime now in power. I do not believe in intra-party blood-letting."

Bad Conduct Discharge Hard To Live With

WASHINGTON (AP)—"I find it very hard to live with the shame. They will not hire me. I can't enter the college of my choice."

With words such as these, many former enlisted men petitioned the Navy to let them escape from the shadow of undesirable, bad conduct and dishonorable discharges.

Now, the Navy is using these words to drive home an object lesson — to impress on young sailors "the handicaps and consequences" of receiving less than honorable discharges.

"Many young enlisted men are under the erroneous impression that a less than honorable discharge will not penalize them as civilians," said a notice being circulated to all ships and shore stations.

To dispel that impression, the Navy Bureau of Personnel has selected remorseful quotes from petitions asking a change to honorable discharge.

Without identifying the writers, the Navy is making sure the quotes are shown to sailors throughout the fleet—and that they realize none of the petitions quoted were granted.

Since 1959, officials said, undesirable, bad conduct and dishonorable discharges from the Navy have been running at the rate of about 3,600 a year.

Johnson Renames Rabinovitz

WASHINGTON (AP)—David Rabinovitz, a well-known labor attorney from Sheboygan, Wis., whose nomination to a federal judgeship by the late President Kennedy was blocked, was given an interim appointment today by President Johnson.

Recess appointments may be only made between congressional sessions.

The Rabinovitz appointment will expire with adjournment of Congress later this year unless the Senate confirms or rejects it before then. Pending such action he will draw full pay at the rate of $22,500 a year. Confirmation by the Senate would continue him in office for life.

Rabinovitz received the recess appointment and was sworn in by telephone shortly before the U. S. Senate convened. He will be permitted to serve as U. S. District Judge for Wisconsin's western district until the Senate acts on President Johnson's nomination.

Presidential aide Walter Jenkins telephoned Rabinovitz shortly before noon, Washington time. Reached while arguing a case before Miss Emily Dodge, an examiner for the State Industrial Commission, in Sheboygan, Rabinovitz was administered the oath immediately.

Miss Dodge, a notary public, then heard Rabinovitz repeat the oath as the race with the clock was beaten. Rabinovitz had to be sworn in before the Senate convened at noon, 11 a.m. Wisconsin time.

"All I can say is there is much work to be done," Rabinovitz said. "I will go to Madison and start immediately. I will do my best to facilitate and expedite the calendar."

Rabinovitz, a Democratic national committeeman, originally was nominated by President Kennedy to fill the U. S. District Court vacancy caused by the death of Judge Patrick T. Stone of Wausau last January.

The nomination touched off a controversy. The Wisconsin State Bar conducted a poll of members and a majority who responded held that Rabinovitz was not qualified for the post. Hearings later were held in Washington, but action was deferred and the Kennedy nomination died when the Senate recessed Dec. 24.

At one of his last news conferences, Kennedy said in response to a question about Rabinovitz and the stalled nomination: "I'm for Dave all the way." Rabinovitz was an early supporter of Kennedy in the 1960 Wisconsin presidential primary campaign.

Gov. John W. Reynolds also was an ardent backer of Rabinovitz and sharply criticized the State Bar poll. Only last Saturday, Reynolds went to Minneapolis to confer with a Johnson aide and urged that Rabinovitz's nomination be resubmitted to the Senate.

Reynolds called the State Bar poll "unconscionable." He said most of the lawyers who voted in the poll did not know Rabinovitz.

President Johnson also made three other last minute recess appointments to the federal bench.

Asked by newsmen if it were not unusual for such recess appointments to be announced barely in advance of the convening of a new session of Congress, White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said: "I don't regard it as unusual."

Appropriations Bill Signed

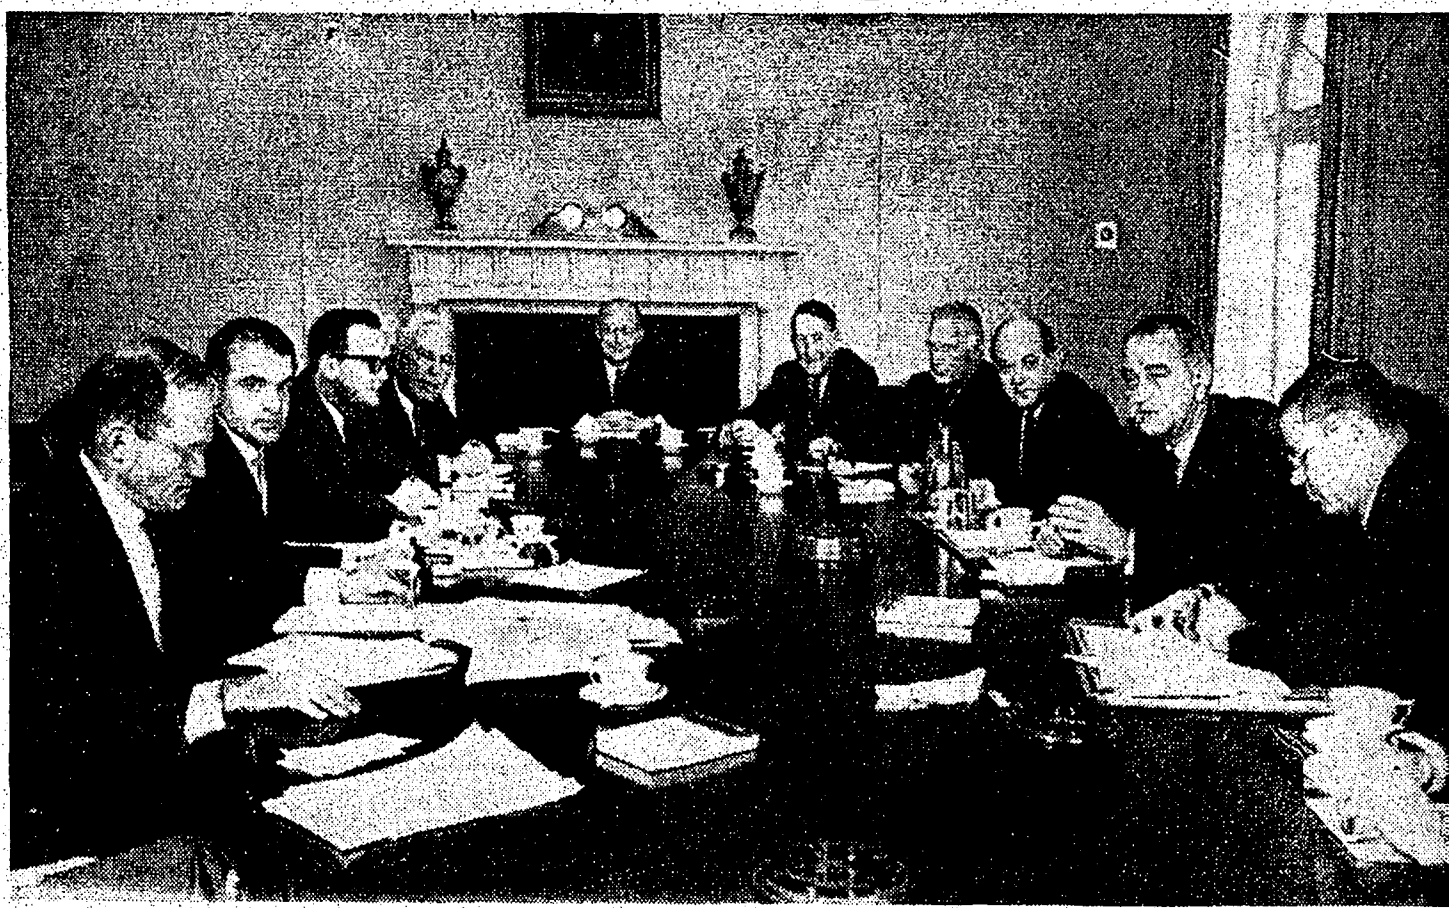

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson signed today the $3 billion foreign aid appropriation bill.

The funds are for the fiscal year that began last July 1. The amount, a compromise between Senate and House figures, is $600 million below the ceiling previously authorized.

It is $1.5 billion below the amount originally asked last spring by President John F. Kennedy, and also well below the $3.6 billion level Johnson had said would represent "a dangerous reduction in our security."

The President won one point in the long dispute over the measure—elimination of a House-originated ban on government guarantee of credit to Communist nations on grain sales and other deals.

88th Congress Back at Work

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The 88th Congress opened its second session today under the multiple pressures of a campaign year, a new administration striking out on new paths, and a mountainous backlog of unfinished business.

A few hours before the gavels banged in the House and Senate chambers, President Johnson went over with Democratic leaders from the Capitol his first State of the Union message, a communication he will deliver in person at a joint session at noon Wednesday.

The party chiefs were close-mouthed on details after their weekly breakfast session at the White House, but agreed the message is "excellent" and "quite to the point." House Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts said he thinks the American people will respond most favorably.

There was informed speculation that the message will contain proposals for a many-pronged attack on poverty through specialized education and other measures. The new chief executive pledged himself during his work-and-play Christmas holiday in Texas to give high priority to a drive in that direction.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told newsmen at the White House that the message is "quite to the point in the interest of the American people domestically speaking."

Mansfield said some of this will be channeled into housing, unemployment assistance, educational and other programs aimed at improving living conditions and the level of employment among the nation's poor.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said in a separate interview it remains to be seen whether Johnson can trim enough out of military outlays to finance such programs without breaking through the President's self-imposed limitation on expenditures.

"I have told the President that if he comes up with a Texas-size budget, he is going to be in trouble in Congress," Dirksen said. "On the other hand, if he cuts military expenditures to the point where Congress thinks national security is threatened, some of this money may be restored."

The second session of the 88th Congress gets under way at noon today, with indications that many members intend to prolong their holiday and not return until next week.

The House had before it a Senate-passed bill to rename the national cultural center in honor of the late John F. Kennedy and provide some federal financing for it. The Senate had no major business scheduled.

In his personally delivered message Wednesday, Johnson is expected to expand on a theme he has been preaching for years—that the nation cannot afford to "surrender to poverty" just to "serve the ends of political bookkeeping."

A former school teacher, Johnson has laid heavy stress on education for the unskilled and those with skills outdated by automation who are, he said, thus "confined in an airtight case of poverty."

Father-in-Law Gets Custody in Thompson Case

ST. PAUL (AP) — The father-in-law of convicted murderer T. Eugene Thompson was named guardian of the four Thompson children today, in a challenge to another custody claim by other relatives.

Thompson was convicted Dec. 6 of the slaying of his wife last March.

Otto Swoboda, father of Mrs. Thompson, received an order today from Probate Judge Andrew Glenn in Ramsey County, naming Swoboda special guardian for the children, ages 6 to 14.

An order in Faribault County Monday had named Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Gesche of Elmore guardians for the youngsters. Mrs. Gesche is Thompson's sister. The petition for this guardianship was signed by Thompson and his son, Jeffrey, 14.

The conflicting guardianship orders presumably set the stage for a district court fight. The Swobodas had said they would challenge the Gesches' guardianship on grounds the children are not legal residents of Faribault County.

Jeffrey attends St. Paul Academy. The girls, who attend St. Paul public schools, are Patricia, 12; Margaret, 10; and Amy, 6.

Thompson is a native of Elmore. He was sentenced to a life term in prison for the slaying of his wife. Two other men face trial on murder charges in the case.

Mrs. Gesche withdrew the three Thompson daughters from school today and said they would be taken to Elmore and entered in public school there.

A person close to Mrs. Gesche said she feels she is according to a wish of Mrs. Carol Thompson, the slain mother, in taking the children.

Mrs. Gesche testified at the Thompson trial that Carol once told her that she had a premonition that something might happen to her as the result of an accident. Mrs. Gesche added that Carol had considered the Gesches would keep the children together.

Goldwater Will Let 'Johnny Do It' in Wisconsin

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, one of the two announced candidates for the Republican presidential nomination, has taken a "let Johnny do it" stand on the decision of Rep. John W. Byrnes to run as a favorite son in Wisconsin's preferential primary, now only three months away.

"Because of the peculiar election law, a Republican is taking his life in his hands if he enters the primary in Wisconsin," the Arizona senator said Monday night. "I would much rather see Johnny carry the load."

New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, the other announced candidate, said, "I will respect the wishes of the Republican lead of Wisconsin . . . provided, of course, the other candidates for the nomination do likewise."

Others among the possible contenders said they would skip the April 7 test, while some skirted the question, and one

B26 Crashes In Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — A B26 fighter carrying two U.S. Air Force officers crashed on a test flight today and an American military spokesman said both were killed.

The officers, a major and a captain, were not immediately identified.

The spokesman said the plane crashed about 15 miles east of Saigon. The reason for the crash was not determined.

The roll of American dead in Viet Nam rose to 166. Ninety-two of these have been in combat against the Communist Viet Cong.

Pope Back at Vatican Desk

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI returned to his Vatican desk today after his historic Holy Land pilgrimage and reportedly began work on the first encyclical of his seven-month reign.

The 66-year-old pontiff, who shattered Roman Catholic precedent with his flying pilgrimage to the Bible land, was said to have in mind an entirely new type of encyclical devoted to scientific and technological research.

Informants said experts would help draw up the encyclical, timed apparently to coincide with the 400th anniversary this year of the birth of Galileo Galilei, 16th century Italian astronomer and experimental philosopher.

Galileo was condemned by the Roman Catholic hierarchy for his theories on the solar system. Examined by the Inquisition under threat of torture, he recanted and spent the remainder of his life in partial custody.

Past encyclicals have touched on scientific research only in passing. The last, Pope John XXIII's "Pacem in Terris" (peace on earth) last April, cited the potential benefits of science but it dwelt also on disarmament, world peace and a number of other matters.

In the wake of Pope Paul's resounding welcome home by more than a million cheering Romans, his trip continued to generate speculation of more papal travel abroad.

Indian sources said previously the pontiff has accepted an invitation to go to Bombay next fall for an international Eucharistic congress. There also is a long-standing invitation, extended earlier to Pius XII and John XXIII, to visit the shrine of Mary at Lourdes, France.

There also is talk of a trip to Africa, which Pope Paul visited in 1962 while a cardinal.

State Death Toll Up to 12

ST. PAUL (AP) — Minnesota's 1964 traffic fatality list reached 12, as compared with 16 a year ago today, with the death Monday night of Paul J. Huhn, 85, St. Paul. He died five hours after being struck by a car as he was walking across a street here.

Romney Sees New Role for Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Michigan Gov. George Romney said today he believes this nation is on the threshold of a new epoch in its political history, with the Republican Party as the potential driving force.

In a speech prepared for the National Press Club, Romney called upon his party's leadership to take the initiative that will make the GOP "a creative minority" that ultimately can regain power.

To do this, the party must work toward a rebirth of the nation and a restoration of the "eternal principles" of its founders, he said.

"The Republican Party must . . . resume its historic responsibility not because it is popular, but because it is right and because the politics of eternal principle are the best politics of all," said Romney.

He outlined six approaches which the GOP must take in order to accomplish the task, ranging from defining basic problems to "organizing for action at all levels—even in precincts not normally considered democratic."

The speech was Romney's first major address of 1964 and marked his formal entry into the national campaign in this election year.

The former auto maker, Michigan's first Republican governor in 14 years, has been regarded as one of the dark horse candidates for the GOP presidential nomination but repeatedly insists he is not, will not become, a candidate.

DEAR ABBY:

This Girl Needs Help

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A relative, recently out of high school, is planning to marry a man she met this past year as soon as he gets out of prison. He is about 10 years older than she, previously married, divorced and has children. He has served time in prison for armed robbery, and was out on probation when she met him. Since then he's been sent back to prison for failing to report to his probation officer. The girl is attractive and intelligent. She claims she is "in love" with him, that he needs her and she can reform him. Her parents are heartbroken, but she won't listen to them. She confides in no one, but she does read your column. Can we reach her through you before it's too late?

TROUBLED RELATIVE

DEAR TROUBLED: "Love" in some people is a mental disease which can't be cured with logic. I agree, the man appears to be a poor risk. But unless the girl herself seeks advice, NO ONE can reach her.

Abby

DEAR ABBY: I have a daughter-in-law who brings her week's ironing along in a basket when she comes to visit me for the week-end. You need not ask who ends up doing it. This girl has no job outside her home, and she has only one child to care for. I have my own work to do, and when I have week-end guests, I do not expect to do someone else's work. How can this be solved without starting a family fight?

WEARY

DEAR WEARY: Look right through the basket of ironing. When your daughter-in-law realizes that she has to do it anyway, she'll find the time to do it at home.

DEAR ABBY: What's the difference between meddling in other people's business and giving advice?

WAITING TO HEAR

DEAR WAITING: Meddling in other people's business is offering advice — unsolicited. Giving advice is acceptable when the advice has been asked for.

DEAR ABBY: "Preparing Ahead's" letter from the woman who had so many questions about what to wear to her husband's funeral (while he was still alive) reminded me of this classic story:

Mr. George C. one of the vice presidents in a large corporation, passed away suddenly. An hour after it became known in the office, and eager beaver who had been bucking for vice president approached the boss and asked if he could take George's place.

"It's all right with me if the undertaker doesn't mind," replied the boss.

Sincerely, MAX

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Fighters Fly From West Coast to Europe

MORON AIR FORCE BASE, Spain (AP)—In a new demonstration of mobility, the U.S. Tactical Air Command sent 18 F104 fighters on the first non-stop deployment from the U.S. West Coast to Europe Monday in 10 hours, 40 minutes. Making the 6,150-mile flight from George Air Force Base, in California, to this base near Sevilla, the 476th Fighter Squadron was refueled six times in flight.

Hamm Must Pay $773,420 More in Tax

ST. LOUIS (AP) — William Hamm Jr., board chairman of the Theo. Hamm Brewing Co. in St. Paul, must pay an additional $773,420 in gift taxes levied against him by a tax court in 1960.

That was the ruling Monday of the 8th District Court of Appeals, which upheld the government contention that Hamm had undervalued stock he turned over to the Hamm Foundation, a non-profit and tax exempt agency.

Involved were 263 shares of United Properties Inc., a Hamm family investment firm on which Hamm had placed a valuation of $100 per share, as claimed in a 1953 gift tax return.

The government, however, introduced evidence at the tax court hearing that the stock actually had a value of $8,605 per share and claimed taxes on the higher figure. The appeals court supported that claim.

Hamm attorneys said it was possible the case still would be carried up to the United States Supreme Court.

U.N. Observer Will Oversee Cyprus Truce

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Cyprus has agreed to a proposal by Britain, Greece and Turkey for a U.N. observer to oversee the 10-day-old truce on the troubled Mediterranean island.

Cypriot Ambassador Zenon Rossides made the announcement after conferring with Secretary-General U Thant Monday. Britain hopes a U.N. presence will enable her to withdraw some of the 2,000 additional troops she rushed to her former colony after fighting broke out between Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

Mankato Plans Call For Part No Parking

Plans and specifications for converting 10 blocks of Mankato Avenue to a four-lane, heavy duty thoroughfare were approved Monday night by the City Council.

The concrete surfaced roadway will extend from 2nd Street to the intersection of Mankato Avenue and Sarnia Street. The intersection there will be rebuilt by the State Highway Department, City Engineer James Baird, told aldermen. Funds for this construction phase will be supplied by the city, then reimbursed by the highway department.

City Council

AS A COMPANION project, the council ordered plans for widening three blocks of 3rd Street, from Mankato to Zumbro Street. The entire 13-block project is eligible for state aids, although cost of the job will probably far exceed the current year's allotment, expected to be about $120,000. Baird said a highly tentative estimate of total costs would be $200,000.

Now 42 feet across, 3rd Street will be widened to 44 feet in the project area. Aldermen decided this would be the best time to clear up some troublesome and substandard surface and drainage conditions there.

The present 35-foot roadway on Mankato will be 64 feet wide between 2nd and Howard streets, according to the plans. There will be four traffic lanes and two parking lanes. From Howard Street south, the roadway will narrow to 52 feet. This section will permit four-lane traffic but will be posted against parking on both sides.

ELIMINATION of parking between Howard and Sarnia streets was ordered reluctantly by the council. The action was nearly inescapable. Right of way between Mark and Bellevue streets is a bare 66 feet, which would leave one foot of clearance from curb to property lines there, if the 64-foot roadway were built. Some buildings are flush with property lines, which would leave only a foot of sidewalk room between curb and front walls.

Aside from a narrower street, with no parking lanes, the only alternative would be costly and time-consuming property purchases, aldermen decided. Providing parking space in the area would be pointless anyway, Baird said, because state Railroad & Warehouse Commission regulations prohibit parking within 150 feet of grade crossings. The Milwaukee Road tracks cross Mankato Avenue between Mark and Howard streets.

ALD. DANIEL Bambenek said elimination of parking would be a blow to at least one neighborhood business, Wronski's Twilight Grocery, 513 Mankato Avenue. The store is flanked by some open space at either side, aldermen noted, some of which might be converted to customer parking. In any event, aldermen agreed, the Railroad & Warehouse Commission restrictions appear to eliminate parking in front of the store, which is a few feet south of the tracks.

Demands on Motel Reduced; Station Set

Changes in terms of an option offered to Holiday Inn developers were ordered Monday night by the City Council.

Last month the council offered to sell 4.4 acres of lake shore just west of the Huff Street-Highway 61 intersection for $7,500, on condition that a 100-room motel be built. Incorporated subsequently by Harold Streator, attorney for the developers, that this requirement was too high, the council agreed to consider modification.

The minimum was imposed because of aldermen's determination that the site, if developed, would not be the location of anything other than a high grade luxury installation.

City Council

Aldermen agreed to rewrite terms of the offer to specify a minimum of $400,000 of construction. Although not enunciated, it was understood that the 100-room provision would have required property investment of nearly $1 million.

Streator said that, while feasibility studies have not been completed, tentative plans call for about 80 units. A later addition of 40 units would be provided if needed, he said.

No filling in of the shoreline beyond its present boundaries is planned, Streator told aldermen. A previous suggestion that some projection of the present shore into the lake has brought heavy criticism from opponents of the land sale.

A service station, primarily for convenience of patrons, would be included.

Front Street Track Removal Considered

City Council members were visibly cheered Monday night by the possibility that Milwaukee railroad tracks may be removed from 10 blocks of Front Street.

The trackage is between Mankato Avenue and Franklin Street. Dangling this attractive prospect before their eyes was Street Commissioner Arthur Brom, who said railroad officials seem inclined toward this action. It would make possible the construction of a serviceable 25-foot street for a cash outlay by the city of about $2,000, he said.

City Council

Brom said there are some if's to be overcome: If the Milwaukee can negotiate traffic rights over Chicago & North Western trackage and if the city will pay costs of street reconstruction when tracks are removed. Aldermen agreed unanimously that the improvement would be well worth the cost. Street department personnel would do the actual construction work.

Curb and Gutter Assessment OKed

Assessments for curb and gutter projects totaling $9,263.40 were approved Monday night by the City Council.

The assessments may be paid in installments by property owners, with 5 percent interest charged for delinquent payment. Payments may not extend beyond a period of 10 years and must be at least $5 each.

City Attorney George M. Robertson Jr. reminded the council that such plans are optional. The council is not required to extend these privileges, he said, and it may wish to consider doing away with the practice. If lump sum payment is required, he noted, it will eliminate the necessity for tying up fairly large amounts of city funds over long periods. Aldermen listened noncommittally and did not act.

Other business: A resolution, approving payment of $519.95 for repairs on the Mankato Avenue lift station, was passed. City Engineer James Baird said an 18-inch cast iron force main had been fractured shortly before Christmas. Emergency repairs are being made, he said.

Provisions in the city zoning code applying to the Airport Industrial Park, approved last week by the City Planning Commission, were approved. Adopted as amendments to the ordinance governing M-2 general manufacturing category, the regulations restrict construction types, uses and spacing. They also require off street parking and prescribe street uses.

Trash burning from 4 to 8 p.m., Oct. 1 to April 1, will be permitted by a fire code amendment voted by the council. This will allow daylight burning of trash on short winter days.

A study of parking conditions in the vicinity of the city library will be conducted by the council committee on parking and safety. Patrons have complained about a lack of available space in the area.

A license to conduct a 30-day going-out-of-business sale was issued to Ford Hopkins Service Store, 56 E. 3rd St. The period covered is from Jan. 2 through Feb. 1.

Seventh Day Adventists were given a permit to hold their annual fund solicitation. Dates of the canvass are Nov. 15, 1963, to Jan. 31. There will be 15 solicitors. Lack of a proper permit had prompted police to suspend the solicitation by members of the local congregation.

City Considers Condemnation On Railroad

Because flood control procedures are temporarily on dead center, the City Council was advised Monday night, extreme measures may have to be taken.

City Attorney George M. Robertson Jr. said several months of negotiations with railroad companies for ponding easements have been fruitless. U.S. Army Corps of Engineers officers are now advising the city to resort to condemnation to acquire land rights, he said.

Until now, the council has sought to find areas of mutual agreement with the Chicago & North Western Railroad Co. for use of land in switching yards along northwest edges of the city.

Robertson said expenses of court action, which would be instituted by federal attorneys, would be borne by the city. They would be about $1,000, he said. Under terms of the project agreement, it is the city's responsibility to furnish all necessary easements for the flood control system. The cost of acquiring easements may reach $100,000.

A request by the public health nursing service for permission to remodel its City Hall quarters was turned over to the building committee. Mrs. Mary Crane, supervisor, said private conference space is needed.

City Attorney Robertson was authorized to acquire an abstract of title for the old city dump property. He said ownership of various parts is uncertain and ill defined. The action must precede a proposed platting of the area as an industrial park.

Ald. Jim Mohan said his proposal to name a city street after the late President John F. Kennedy had aroused little support. Most citizens feel the name should be given to some public building, such as a school, he said. Other aldermen advised waiting until a suitable project could be found to carry the name.

On motion of Ald. Henry Parks, plans and specifications for curb and gutter on West Bellevue Street will be drawn. The installation will extend from Wilkie to Sioux Street.

Ald. Clarence Tribell commented on what he considers the mixed blessings of progress. Constituents are complaining about the new fire alarm box system, he said. Had the old telegraph system been kept, he said, losses in the Dec. 23 Rearts Art Glass Studios fire would have been lower. He said wrong addresses could not possibly be given with the old boxes. President Briesath said the old wiring system was dilapidated and that most people used home phones, anyway.

TV Singer Makes Debut in Opera

NEW YORK (AP) — From television commercials to the Metropolitan Opera. That long journey was completed Monday night by soprano Mary Costa. She made her debut at the Met, singing the lead in "La Traviata."

Miss Costa has been singing with the San Francisco Opera since 1960.

She did not sing in TV commercials. But movie fans heard her voice as that of "The Sleeping Beauty" in the movie cartoon feature.

Other Retraining Classes Considered

Authorization for the public schools administration to cooperate in the organization of one or more additional training courses under provisions of the Manpower Development & Training Act — should the factor of need for such instruction be established — was granted Monday night by the Winona Board of Education.

The board during the past year has worked with the local office of the state Employment Service in establishing three MDT classes, two in stenography and in welding, all offered through the Winona Area Vocational-Technical School and each federally financed.

SUPERINTENDENT of Schools A. L. Nelson told directors Monday that Congress now has extended the program for training workers in areas where employment needs have been established for two more years until 1968.

Since Winona has an area vocational-technical school, Nelson pointed out, "we are expected to cooperate with this program. It would be embarrassing for us to proceed with establishment of a course and not receive board approval after the groundwork has been done."

Nelson said that seven areas of instruction have been considered as possibilities for instruction here.

These include training of highway technicians (that is, draftsman and surveyors), industrial drafting, clerk typist, auto body repair, cosmetology, medical technician and welding.

MONDAY'S BOARD action doesn't mean that any of these courses necessarily will be offered here.

Procedure calls for the employment service to conduct surveys in the immediate area served by the vocational-technical school to determine whether a need exists for trained workers in any specific field and whether there is the student potential in the area.

Once need is established application can be made for organization of a class. If the application is approved the federal government makes financial provision for offering the course.

School Board

Council Approves Housing Code Draft

Despite two major objections raised by its members, the City Council Monday night voted to approve a final draft of a comprehensive city housing code.

It will be submitted at the Jan. 20 meeting as an ordinance proposed for adoption, with routine acceptance virtually assured.

Ald. Clarence Tribell argued that sections calling for compulsory modernization of substandard homes would impose severe monetary hardship on many elderly persons living on limited incomes. Ald. James Stoltman approved the code in principle but said its enactment would "put too much power in the hands of one man."

City Council

City Attorney George M. Robertson Jr. told aldermen there is "quite a bit of due process available" to persons who receive abatement orders and wish to protest them. The health officer also is instructed by the ordinance to use discretion, Robertson said. Inspections are to be made at reasonable times, and full notice must be given to owners that violations exist. The health officer is directed by the ordinance to allow a reasonable time for any corrections ordered.

ROY VOSE, city sanitary inspector, told aldermen there are no plans to go through the city immediately with a fine tooth comb, looking for violations. However, he said, the code is needed as a tool to force correction of exceptionally bad conditions which the health department now is powerless to alleviate.

Dr. Warren W. Haesly, city health officer, said substandard rental properties would be among major targets of action.

Council President Harold Briesath questioned a section requiring hot running water connections for kitchen sinks, lavatories, showers and bathtubs. He asked whether everyone would be forced thereby to install hot water, regardless of financial condition. Vose replied this "eventually" would be the case.

Robertson, carrying the ball for the defense, told aldermen: "There are always some people who don't comply with the laws. They don't comply with other laws, either. But without such a law, how can you make anyone do anything?"

ALD. STOLTMAN conceded that teeth were needed in housing regulations but held out for an appointive committee to protect against possible abuses of power by an inspector. His fears do not apply to present department personnel, he said, but future officers could present problems.

Robertson said the council itself functions as an appeal board. If deficiencies show up, aldermen will be among the first to know and needed amendments can readily be made, he added.

Mayor R. K. Ellings pointed out that passage of the ordinance is necessary if the city's Workable Plan certificate is to be renewed by the federal government. Like it or not, the council must adopt the code to qualify for federal aids in downtown renewal projects, he said. Corrections can be made as they become necessary, he added.

Although a shortage of low income housing could be created by enforcement of the code, Robertson said, its passage also would spark an expansion of publicly financed housing. Doubling the capacity of the Schaffner Homes for the elderly will be sought by the Winona Housing and Redevelopment Authority, provided the Workable Plan certificate is renewed, he noted.

E. O. ECKERT, architect, told aldermen some provisions should be altered to take modern construction principles into account. He said sections requiring basements to have adequate light in daytime, without artificial illumination, are obsolete. A clause making additional screen doors mandatory in season would directly violate fire and safety codes for such institutions as rest homes, he said. All doors on public installations must swing outward, which would automatically result in one illegally operating door in each case where the code were applied literally.

In general, he said, the code is a good one. However, those changes which can be effected now should be made, he suggested, rather than resorting to later amendment of the ordinance.

OTHER SECTIONS prescribe requirements for safe maintenance of rental units. Roofs, windows, stairs and plumbing must be in good repair. Each rental unit must have 150 square feet of floor space for the first occupant and 100 square feet or more for each additional occupant. Sleeping rooms must have 70 square feet of space for one person; 50 square feet for each additional occupant. Extermination of rodents and pests is the responsibility of occupants of dwelling units.

Condemnation of dwellings may be instituted if they are deemed unfit for human habitation. It is unfit, the code rules, if excessively damaged, decayed, dilapidated, unsafe or vermin-infested, and is a serious hazard to health and safety.

Red Cross Takes Blood Donations Appointments

Registrations are being taken this week for persons wishing to donate blood when the Red Cross bloodmobile is here next week.

The bloodmobile will be at the Red Cross headquarters, 276 W. 5th St., next Monday through Thursday from noon until 6 p.m., and next Friday from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Persons wishing to make appointments to give blood are asked to call the Red Cross headquarters.

PLAINVIEW MEETINGS — PLAINVIEW, Minn. (Special) — The Dorcas Club of Immanuel Lutheran Church will meet at the home of Mrs. Grace Zabel Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. These meetings were formerly held on Thursdays. The United Presbyterian Women's Organization will meet Wednesday at 2:30 p.m.

Changes at Intersections Get Approval

Traffic flow at several city intersections will be altered this week, under terms of a new stop sign ordinance adopted Monday night by the City Council.

Major changes effected will come at Mankato Avenue and Sarnia Street, old Highway 61 and CSAH 17, and 5th and Junction streets.

The ordinance makes 5TH STREET a through street from Hilbert Street to the west city limits. This will include a change of right of way at the Junction Street intersection, where westbound 5th Street, where westbound 5th Street traffic now must stop. A traffic separation island also will be built in the intersection, with traffic from Junction Street forced to stop before entering 5th Street. Northwest bound Junction Street traffic will be stopped before entering 5th Street under the new system.

A change of signs at the junction of CSAH 17 and the old highway will stop northbound Pleasant Valley traffic. At present, this traffic has right of way over westbound traffic entering the intersection on the old highway.

A yield sign at MANKATO AVENUE and Sarnia Street will be changed to give northbound Mankato Avenue cars right of way over those turning north onto the avenue from Sarnia Street. This will be just the opposite of the present situation and conforms to the findings of density studies made on the intersection.

Also designated as a through street was Pelzer Street, from West 5th south to Highway 61.

Two Aldermen Miss Meeting

Two City Council members were absent from the regular meeting Monday night at City Hall.

They were Mrs. Muriel Ollom, 1st Ward, and A. Del Schneider, 3rd Ward. Mrs. Ollom was in Rockford, Ill., with her husband, J. L. Ollom, chief pilot for Watkins Products, Inc., who is hospitalized there with a heart ailment.

Schneider was out of the city in connection with his employment with a chemical manufacturing firm which distributes products in several states. It was the third consecutive meeting he has missed. Schneider is rumored to be considering resigning his seat, to which he was elected last February. He has made no statement on the subject to date.

Lipstick, Cigars Just Won't Mix

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — There's so much cigar-smoking being done — or threatened — by gals lately, that one of us menfolk has got to give them some pointers on puffing. Sweeties, you're doing a lot of it wrong. You don't light a cigar with a cigarette lighter, please! Do use matches, darlings.

And don't inhale. Don't carry the cigars open in your purse beside your lipstick or you may be using a cigar to put on lipstick and it won't look the same. Besides, it won't help the flavor of the cigar. Really, it won't.

I feel I must speak in my capacity as "Cigar Man of the Year," having been tapped for that great honor by the CIA — "Cigar Institute of America" — at Atlantic City recently.

I doubted the wisdom of that selection at first. Perhaps I still do. For I like cigars, but am very fond of 10 and 15-cent brands. Sometimes I smoke only eight or ten a day, only $1 worth.

Edward G. Robinson or Milton Berle, really big cigar smokers, can smoke $1 worth before breakfast.

HERMOINE Gingold, Anne Baxter, Bricktop and Carol Lynley are among the female cigar smokers. Remember, pussycats, there's an elegance to this luxury.

Of course, when men smoke cigars, they mumble things like, "As Kipling said, 'A woman is only a woman, but a good cigar is a smoke,'" or "Mark Twain said he didn't start smoking till he was 8 years old, but he made up for it later."

You girls should get some little sentiments like that.

You can make a little show out of it and we know how you like to show off. You can sniff the cigar to make sure it's not damp . . . you tap it with your forefinger and hold it up to your ear (it's supposed to crackle softly indicating it's cured) . . . and you don't bite off the end . . . That's barbaric!

THEY HAVE a cutter or "guillotine" to snip off the end . . . or a perforator. You warm the end of the cigar with a burning match, turning the cigar slowly to get a good even light, before puffing. You also blow through the cigar gently before lighting. And after the cigar goes out, you don't re-light it.

When you get really accomplished, you'll probably hear about the "long-ash contests" held by the Cigar Smokers of America.

The contestants sit statue-still puffing very gently trying to smoke the entire cigar without breaking the ash.

Ladies generally are considered too flighty to attempt this.

SOME OF the new women cigar smokers are puffing those little cigars and some are using cigar holders. You may dip your cigar in brandy, if you like, the end you put in your mouth, of course.

In the past it has never been considered good form for a man to kiss a lady while he has a cigar in his mouth. Now that women are taking up cigars in America it'll probably be common for women to kiss guys while smoking cigars. Just be careful, that's all. You can burn up more husbands that way.

Voice of the Outdoors

PASADENA, Calif. — Winona High School's band must be the best Minnesota can produce or have a lot of pull if it plans to march in the Tournament of Roses parade Next Year's Day.

That is our conclusion after watching the most colorful parade of the nation move down Colorado Boulevard for eight miles through an estimated half million "watchers" stacked four stories high in temporary steel bleachers most of the line of march. Another fifty million, Pasadena estimated, saw the parade on television.

Each of the 28 bands, mostly California college bands, Southern California or Los Angeles area high schools, were outstanding marching units wearing brilliantly colored uniforms so that color TV would pick them up. Most of the bands, they told us, purchased special uniforms for the occasion.

Outside of the bands from the two competing universities, Washington and Illinois, there were eight out of the state bands. These were mainly champion high school groups, with more than 100 members, who had been invited by the management of the Tournament of Roses from many applications. Some of the bands were sponsored by commercial organizations that had entered floats. St. Paul Winter Carnival had the only Minnesota float.

Despite the annual change in parade theme, there is a great amount of sameness in the parade. After all, there is a limit on what can be attained with flowers. In fact, it is wonderful what they do achieve through dyes, imports, and special flower cultures. We understood the blue flowers on one float were flown the night before the parade from Hawaii, and the entire senior class of a high school worked for hours, right up to parade time, putting them in tiny tubes in the display. It is common practice to hire high school art instructors and classes to complete a float. Florist organizations are also employed.

Many of the thousands who watch the parade and Rose Bowl game come from outside the Los Angeles area. In fact, most residents of Southern California throw up their arms and declare, "Not me. I got in that traffic tangle once and that was enough." Yet they pack the parade route and game tickets are sold in hotel lobbies in Pasadena at a premium up to game time.

There were a lot of soreheads among the Coast sportwriters. They called the Illinois team butchers and cheats and other unpleasant names but we believe that they all eventually admitted Illinois had complete control of the situation from the first kickoff. They rolled over Washington on the ground, intercepted their passes, and out-kicked the Huskies from the tall timber. A lot of the shirt-sleeved crowd left the stands during the last quarter.

Interest in the game in Los Angeles restaurants and bars was much less than in Wisconsin and Minnesota games. The odds were pretty much in favor of the Big Ten. We went into one barber shop a couple of days before the game and the barber asked, "Who's playing?"

The heat, of course, is always a factor. It was 85 on the playing field. Each team had ample reserves, so it probably had little bearing on the outcome of the game. The crowd ate it up. The coatless, white shirted crowd in the stands, seen by millions of TV fans, was wonderful advertising for the state. The announcers injected weather reports regularly about snow in Florida and drifts in Texas.

Skin Diver, 17, Drowns at Racine

RACINE, Wis. (AP)—Lawrence E. Weiler, 17, a skin diver from Brookfield, Ill., drowned Sunday a few minutes after he had dropped through a hole in the ice for a swim at Aqua-Land, Inc., a converted quarry on the outskirts of Racine.

William Fogell, 18, of Chicago, told Racine County deputies he and Weiler had been in the water for about 10 minutes and were returning to the entry hole when he noticed Weiler face up against the ice, his mouthpiece hanging useless from his air tanks.

Fogell said he attempted unsuccessfully to tow his friend to the opening and then went for help. Another diver tested Weiler's diving equipment and found it in working order, authorities said.

Mrs. Bunn Willson Of Rochester Dead

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP)—Mrs. Bunn T. Willson, 73, president of the Olmsted County Historical Society for many years, died in a hospital Monday. She suffered a heart attack four days ago.

In 1961 Mrs. Willson served on the executive board of the Sibley House Association and she was a member of the executive council of the Minnesota Historical Society from 1951 through 1956. She had received a merit award from the American Association for State and Local Historical Societies.

British Troops Avert Civil War in Cyprus

By TOM OCHILTREE

LONDON (AP) — British troops in the thankless role of policemen seem to have averted civil war in Cyprus by a hair-raising margin.

But the peacemakers still are keeping their fingers crossed. As long as Cyprus bristles with guns and old hatreds, it will constitute a danger to stability in the eastern Mediterranean, to the Atlantic Alliance and possibly even to world peace.

The recent fighting in Cyprus fully exposed to the world the degree of hostility between the island's two ethnic groups, the Greeks and the Turks.

Cyprus was transformed into a republic within the British Commonwealth three years ago after 80 years of rule by Britain. Now many of the hopes which accompanied that change have been destroyed.

Problems, once thought solved, will have to be looked at again, diplomats say. A search must begin for ways to convince Greek and Turkish Cypriots that they must cooperate in promoting stability.

That will be the task of the London conference later this month. It will be attended by representatives of the two Cypriot groups, and officials of the British, Greek and Turkish governments.

Greece, Turkey and Britain are members of the North Atlantic Alliance (NATO). A Greek-Turkish clash in the eastern Mediterranean could permanently damage the alliance and weaken NATO's eastern flank.

In such circumstances the Soviet Union, which seems in a mood to negotiate with the Western Powers might be tempted to intervene. Moscow has already declared support for the Greek Cypriot position.

The present crisis began after the island's Greek Cypriot president, Archbishop Makarios, proposed constitutional changes he said were needed to make the government more efficient.

The Cyprus constitution contains an elaborate system of checks and balances to protect the rights of the 100,000 members of the Turkish-speaking minority. Turkish Cypriots regarded the proposed changes as the opening move by the 442,000 Greek Cypriots to unite the island with Greece.

Turkish Cypriots bitterly oppose union with Greece.

Bay City Sand Mine Storing CD Supplies

BAY CITY, Wis. — One of the largest civil defense storage centers in this area is the McHardy sand mine tunnel at Bay City.

Enough cartons are stored here to provide for 10,000 people for a week. There are boxes of CD crackers, tanks for water (now unfilled), and sanitation kits.

The mining tunnel — some 12 miles long — is operated by Mrs. Arthur McHardy and son Earl. The mining operation was developed by the late Arthur McHardy, who learned about sand mining from a friend in World War I and started the mine in 1919.

The main tunnel is about a mile long. The vein of sand is for mining; then five men can haul and process about two carloads a day. The nearly pure dense and heavy silica is loosened by dynamite blasting.

The McHardys own the 400 acres of land, 200 under cultivation above the mine.

Tunnel temperature remains near 48 degrees.

The latest official census lists a total of 3,807 bald eagles in the United States exclusive of Alaska.

Did Industrial Costs Prompt Closings?

A FEW WEEKS ago Studebaker announced it was closing down its big South Bend, Ind., plant and moving its manufacturing operations to Canada. Now its Burroughs. The adding machine corporation, like Studebaker, has decided to shut factories in the United States and do the manufacturing in other countries.

What are the reasons behind these moves? Are U.S. industrial costs being priced out of business?

In both cases, however, the facts mitigate the uneasiness caused by the actions.

The loss of 6,000 jobs at the Studebaker plant was a heavy blow to South Bend and President Johnson already has designated it as a distress area and has asked the Labor Department to help find jobs for those out of work. Detroit will be hurt when the Burroughs Corp. closes its midtown factory there and lays off 1,500 of the 3,400 workers.

THERE IS at least one point of similarity between the two decisions. The Studebaker factory in South Bend and the 1904 Burroughs works in Detroit were antiquated.

In a computerized industrial age, you can't stay in business in multi-story brick buildings that have been standing half a century.

The point was amplified by Ray R. Eppert, president of Burroughs. "The nature of our business has changed rapidly in the last ten years and is expected to change even faster during the next decade," he said. "These realignments, and consolidations will enable us to keep pace with these technological changes and to meet our competition effectively and efficiently."

A third of the total Burroughs layoff is attributed to a drop in defense work at the Detroit plant.

EVEN SO, these two cases call for thought about the effects of foreign competition on U. S. industry.

Moving production to Canada will give Studebaker cheaper transportation on the St. Lawrence Seaway and wage rates of $2.50 an hour instead of $3 plus fringe benefits in South Bend.

Burroughs will import its adding machines from plants in Scotland, France and Brazil which already are producing the supply for everything but U. S. and Canadian markets. Some time ago, Burroughs ended the making of calculators in this country, and gets them from its plant in Scotland.

Many other U. S. industries are doing something similar.

WHAT CAN be done to reverse this drift away from the proud legend, "Made in the U.S.A."?

New York Votes To Fluoride Water

AFTER A DECADE of debate and bitter controversy, fluoridation of city water is expected to be placed in operation in New York City by next September. The measure was overwhelmingly approved in December by the City Council and the Board of Estimate.

Mayor Robert Wagner said it is apparent "that the overwhelming weight of competent scientific information in the nation and in New York City itself is that fluoridation is safe, effective and urgently needed. I am convinced that the steps we have taken here are essential and imperative." Dr. George James, city health commissioner, hailed the decision as "a priceless Christmas gift to the children and parents of New York City."

Pres. James P. Hollers in a congratulatory telegram to Mayor Wagner praised the mayor and members of City Council and the Board of Estimate on their action to bring fluoridation to the city of New York.

"YOU ARE PERSONALLY to be commended for your initiative and determination in winning passage of this proven public health measure. I am convinced that New York's action will have a profound effect on hundreds of other communities whose children are still denied the life-long dental health and cost-saving benefits of fluoridation," the telegram stated.

The specific proposal before the City Council and the Board of Estimate was to amend the expense budget to provide $565,000 to equip nine plants to place fluoride into the city's water supply. Among those testifying for fluoridation at a 20-hour public hearing were Dr. Luther L. Terry, surgeon general, Dr. Charles H. Patton, Philadelphia, ADA past-president, and Dr. J. Roy Doty, Chicago, ADA assistant secretary and secretary of the Council on Dental Therapeutics.

OPPONENTS OF fluoridation, as to be expected, immediately announced plans to try to block it in the courts and through a drive for a referendum.

A witness testifies that Bobby Baker had stacks of $100 bills in his Senate office. Shucks, Congress still has stacks of bills — mostly unpassed.

Jane Russell did an impromptu shimmy on a New York street when her fur stole caught fire. The office cynic says that's what is known as hot publicity.

And he said, Lord I believe. And he worshipped him, John 9:38.

Stronger Alliance

Erhard Trip Bears Fruit

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's first negotiating session with a foreign leader, West German Chancellor Erhard, has strengthened both the Western military alliance and the capacity of the West to explore in unity all possible openings to any genuine easing of the cold war with the Soviet Union.

Chancellor Erhard has accepted, on behalf of the greatest military power in Western Europe, the two principles of the Johnson policy: (1.) To make Western defenses ever stronger and to be prepared to fight unhesitatingly any aspect of communism which seeks war or aggression.

(2.) At the same time to test every opportunity to make reliable agreements with the Russians, who now appear to be slightly more nearly ready to talk business than they have been in some years.

THIS IS the principal meaning of the first summit conference of the Johnson Administration, deliberately held in the rural simplicity of Johnson City, Texas, in order to establish a personal as well as an official relationship between the new American President and the new German Chancellor.

Much was made in that meeting of the German-American character of much of the population surrounding the town. This was done in order to put the Chancellor especially at home. What was neither contemplated nor made in the meeting, however, was any "special relationship" with the Germans in any way to reduce or downgrade the relationship of this country with its other allies. Notably this means Britain. Nor does it exclude France, notwithstanding the somewhat chilly reserve toward Washington at the moment being shown by President Charles de Gaulle.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON never mentioned General de Gaulle's name. Nor did he ask Chancellor Erhard, directly or indirectly, to make any "choice" as between de Gaulle France — which was the special friend of Erhard's predecessor, Chancellor Adenauer — and the United States.

Any "special relationship" with Germany, in the President's mind, means one thing and one alone. This is the simple fact of life that Germany is the biggest military link in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, apart from the United States itself, and is thus the obvious beginning point in the President's determination to make NATO far stronger than now. Mr. Johnson was especially keen to obtain just what he did obtain: Unqualified assurances of continued German force contributions to the NATO shield and enormously important German financial assistance to ease the drain of our foreign expenditures.

AS TO BRITAIN, the German-American atmosphere at Johnson City should not hide the basic fact that the President's paternal ancestry is British and that all through his public life he has been an exceptionally good friend to Britain. Britain, indeed, came out exceedingly well from a consultation in which it did not participate. For Chancellor Erhard's agreement with the President that it is "highly important to continue to explore all opportunities for the improvement of East-West relations" is precisely what the British Government has been urging for some years.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Johnson Has Rancher's Eyes in Stalking Deer

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — When President Johnson reads a speech in public he sometimes complains that the lights on the podium are not bright enough. But when he gets out on his Texas ranch he has amazing eyesight.

He has what is called "rancher's eyes." He can look into the underbrush and see a deer a hundred yards away with a city visitor cannot possibly spot.

President Johnson used his rancher's eyes in spotting deer for Chancellor Ludwig Erhard during their Texas talks. However, the two men did not shoot any deer. Before Erhard arrived, Johnson did go deer shooting in his Lincoln Continental, fired at three bucks but missed. The car was moving and so were the deer.

Johnson has laid down the rule for himself that he will shoot no deer. The deer in Texas this year are so plentiful that the state has lifted the ban on shooting deer, but not Johnson. He doesn't shoot deer himself and discourages others from shooting them.

The President showed the Chancellor of Germany almost everything around his Texas ranch and rode him in all sorts of vehicles, from his Lincoln convertible and his helicopter to his electric cart. But he did not drive the chancellor in his aquatic jeep, which Johnson likes to take out into the river with unsuspecting city folks who at first are afraid they're going to drown. Just as they start to scramble out of the jeep, it takes off in the water.

The President decided to spare the chancellor this experience. He also did not take him to see Cousin Oriole who lives a couple of hundred yards from the LBJ ranchhouse. Cousin Oriole is over 70, lives by herself on the family property. The President likes to take a visitor to Cousin Oriole's house in the cool of the evening and, standing outside her door, he will call: "Cousin Oriole, this is Cousin Lyndon, can we come in?" "No, Cousin Lyndon. I'm not decent. Wait till I put on some clothes," is her frequent reply.

The President has treated a good many visitors to this experience, but not the Chancellor of Germany.

TWO SOVIET ambassadors have been praising President Johnson lavishly in their private conversations — Ambassador Dobrynin in Washington and Ambassador Fredorenko at the United Nations. Fredorenko came up to Johnson following his U. N. talk and praised it as one of the great speeches of the year. Johnson had urged easing cold war tensions. The two ambassadors are reported to have told Khrushchev that Johnson sincerely wants better relations. . . . In undertaking this drive for better relations, LBJ completely ignored the advice of Ex-Secretary of State Dean Acheson. The two men lunched together at the White House. Johnson listened carefully to Acheson's advice that you could not get along with Russia, then proceeded to ignore it. He followed the advice of his Secretary of State Dean

Rusk, who has argued that, step-by-step, relations can be improved, otherwise we drift into war. . . . At the very same time Chancellor Erhard was being conciliatory at the LBJ ranch, Red Chinese premier Chou En-lai made a significant detour in his African trip to visit Khrushchev's No. 1 Communist enemy, Albania.

The Albanian and Chinese press began blasting Khrushchev's coexistence policy. It didn't help Khrushchev's recent efforts to patch up the Russian-Chinese feud. . . . St. Casady, alert publisher of the Valley Times of El Cajon, Calif., reports that the John Birch Society and extreme elements of the daughters of the American Revolution are out to discredit Carl Foreman's production of "The Victors" which shows that neither side can win in war.

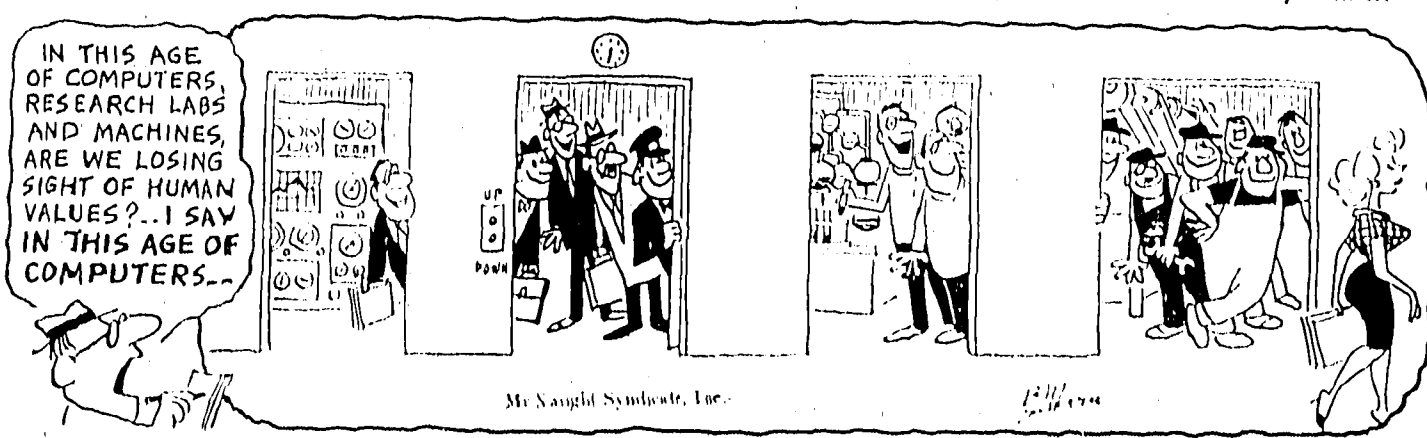

THE HEADLINES which told of Secretary of Defense McNamara's near accident in Paris didn't really indicate how close to death he came. But McNamara knows. And he has now sent silver-plated cigarette lighters to the Air Force crew whose split second action saved him from death.

Congress in Unhappy Mood

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Congress has come and gone—but in an unhappy mood. Resentment is privately expressed by a number of the members. They do not see any reason why they should have been called back here under presidential pressure after they had gone to their districts for the Christmas recess.

Again and again senators and representatives have said privately that the "foreign aid" bill could just as well have waited until Jan. 7, because there was ample money in the till to carry on these operations. Expressions of disapproval were numerous in both parties. It is too early to say how much of an effect this is going to have on the fortunes of the Johnson administration in the future, but it would not be surprising if there were outcroppings of dissatisfaction here and there when the new session starts.

The calling back of Congress is, of course, a two-sided controversy. Actually, from a legislative standpoint, immediate action on the "foreign aid" bill was not necessary. President Johnson, however, was repeatedly told by his advisers it would make an unfortunate impression abroad if he did not come out on top in a showdown with Congress at this time. It was supposed to be vital to his prestige and influence in world affairs.

Weighing, therefore, the inconvenience involved in disrupting the family plans of members of Congress as against the desirability of presenting a favorable "image" in Europe, the administration chose to pressure Congress to put through the measure before adjourning. One major effect of the episode has been to focus attention on President Johnson's relations with Congress and the methods he may use hereafter in trying to get his way. One senator — after a conversation with the President on a subject pertaining to his own state — is reported to have told colleagues that the President was very graceful about it but did not fail to mention that he expected a bit of help himself on Capitol Hill.

THE FRICITION over the amendment to the "foreign aid" bill which would put certain restrictions on lending to Communist countries is an example of the kind of cleavage that may occur again and again. Congress likes to manifest its independence. Many members feel, moreover, that in the coming political campaign the sale of wheat to Russia will be an important issue. If the administration, under the discretionary powers just voted to it, does go through with its plan to help finance the transaction with government credit there will be more criticism heard.

Meanwhile, Congress is getting ready for a big battle when the sessions are resumed on Jan. 7. No subjects are more complicated than the tax bill and the "civil rights" measure. Amendments galore will be offered to each one. Neither bill will be passed without several weeks of debate. There is bound also to be an accumulation of political grievances growing out of various aspects of the legislation.

UP TO NOW, the "foreign aid" bill has been the only really controversial question in which President Johnson has become involved. The issue of fiscal economy has yet to crystallize. All the talk has been in more or less unintelligible language as far as the public is concerned. For there is a difference between the amount authorized to be spent and the actual appropriation of public funds. The President has wisely talked a good deal about economy and the importance of holding down expenses, but the opinion of competent observers is that

Hospital Patients Not Forgotten

To the Editor:

In behalf of the forgotten patients of the Rochester and St. Peter State Hospitals, the Winona County Association for Mental Health wishes to thank all the people who donated gifts and money to the Christmas gift project. We are deeply grateful to all who helped make this a Merry Christmas for these patients.

Mrs. Phillip Hicks, chairman.

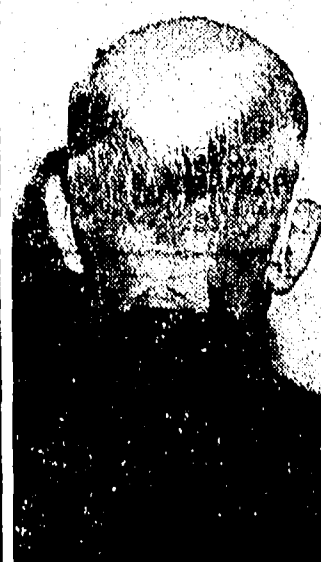

the amount of the budget will be around the $100-billion mark just the same.

Every administration does a lot of budget-cutting in theory. This usually happens when the Treasury estimates have been submitted to the President and before they are formally sent to Congress. Congress itself, however, has to do the actual cutting job. There are signs that economy will be a major issue this year and that Congress will attack the budget on many items.

THE ORIGINAL argument for a tax-reduction bill was that a business recession would thereby be avoided. Now that business is supposed to be going ahead into something of a boom, Congress might just take it upon itself to do a little cutting of tax rates beyond the administration proposals and still not run up a bigger deficit than was planned. There is a temptation, too, to modify various rules and regulations that limit taxpayers' deductions.

Congress has been represented as at odds with the Kennedy administration on many issues, and lately the impression has been given that President Johnson, because of his experience in the legislative body, will get along better with Congress than did his predecessor. But this view is questioned by those who believe Congress is reflecting a discontent prevalent throughout the country, not only over high taxes but over excessive expenditures by the federal government.

Foreign Student To Study at 'U'

LEWISTON, Minn. (Special) — The foreign exchange student who has spent the last nine months at the Edmund Leuhmann home rural Lewiston, will leave today to attend the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture, Minneapolis, for three months.

After that Klaus Hanson will travel extensively in the U.S. before returning to his home at Plensburg, Germany.

KLAUS AND four other exchange students in the area have demonstrated that determined persons can "See America first" without much expense and time. By pooling their resources and following a flexible plan they covered 3,300 miles in seven days in September for $45 each, the cost covering gas, food, one night's lodging, ferry crossings, and admission to the Ford Museum.

The first night they slept in an abandoned barn near Green Bay, Wis. It was raining and cool, but with sleeping bags and extra blankets they were comfortable.

The Leuhmanns had warned them that, while sleeping in farmers' barns might be common in Germany, farmers in this country are leary of strangers sleeping in their barns.

Other nights they slept outside, in a fruit farm bunthouse and one night they stayed at a YMCA. They visited Niagara Falls, a Pennsylvania fruit farm, Detroit, Chicago and Milwaukee, and parts of Canada.

WHEN PEOPLE learned they were exchange students, they were friendly, offering food and lodging and expressing particular interest in the youth program in which they were taking part.

They were tired after their week-long trip but appreciative of time allowed for it by their host families.

They proved to be adept in the use of cameras and have many excellent, unusual slides of their stay here to show their home folks "How America Lives."

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Jackson (Edstrom Studio)

Jackson-Theis Vows Exchanged At Church Here

Miss Marilyn Kay Theis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Theis, 503 E. Sanborn St., and Lyman Layton Jackson, Dayton, Ohio, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Layton Jackson, Montello, Wis., were married Dec. 28 at Grace Presbyterian Church.

The groom's father officiated at the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. William King. Mrs. T. Charles Green was organist and Duane Malewicz, Minneapolis, was soloist.

THE BRIDE was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of peau de soie and lace, styled with a floor-length skirt and chapel train, a lace-covered fitted bodice with scoop neckline and elbow-length lace sleeves. The skirt front was covered with lace almost to the hemline. Her veil was held by a petal headress trimmed with pearls. She carried a garland bouquet of stephanotis and white roses, centered with white orchids and tied with white nylon.

Miss Elizabeth Stuhl was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Misses Phyllis Jackson, Ann Fishbaugh and Mary Stremcha, all of Winona.

THEIR GOWNS were deep emerald - green peau de soie, fashioned with fitted bodices, scoop necklines and elbow-length sleeves. Attached to the bell-shaped skirts at the back waistlines were floating panels bordered with satin brocade. Their headpieces were green petal hats, shaped like poinsettias, with matching veils. They carried sheafs of red carnations tied with red net.

Howard Kaste, Mesa, Ariz., was best man. Groomsman-ushers were David Paschka, Austin, Minn., Patrick Murphy, Adrian, Minn., and Robert Jacob, Minneapolis.

A reception dinner was held at Williams Hotel.

The bride's mother wore a green lace dress and matching hat and the groom's mother was attired in a light blue metallic dress with a black hat. They had corsages of white roses.

THE rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents at Grace Presbyterian Church the evening before the wedding. The newlyweds went on a wedding trip to Madison, Wis., and Chicago and to Dayton, Ohio, where they are now at home.

Both young persons are graduates of Winona Senior High School, and Winona State College. The groom teaches business education in a high school in Dayton.

Prior to the wedding the bride than 200 Leap Year-minded fashion writers here for the opening sessions of Press Week.

The varied program of manures included big flirtatious hats, siren hairpieces, shadowy black stockings, fast track shoes, and a web of intriguing silk costumes.

The New York couture group all the American designers group are conducting spring previews for the writers.

Stylist Lilly Dache explained that the siren of '64 has replaced the sweet young thing of 1963.

To prove it, one sweet young thing in a basic straight hairdo bluntly cut just below the earlobe was transformed into half a dozen different types of seductress with pin-on pieces of hair.

Not wigs, the pieces included false bangs, a cluster of back curls and puffed-up pillow chignons. The quick-change hair whimsies supposedly either enchant or confuse men into surrendering.

Miss Dache's hat lures are big black mesh cartwheels festooned with black roses, or glistening black patent leather turbans, of blinding turned-down brims with peek-a-boo holes; or flower-entwined straw snoods.

The 1964 siren will avoid tans at all costs, says Miss Dache. Her skin will be as pale in contrast to strong eye shadow and bright lips. Black and brown stockings will create the smoky, tantalizing leg effect under black dresses with tech necklines and fluttery short skirts.

The fashion flavor was utterly feminine, and naturally silk. There were rustling ruffles, lacy flounces, slithery bias-cuts, bareness, softness, gauziness, a little naughtiness, and some silliness.

A reminder that the married woman should not be less a temptress during Leap Year, either, was "the other woman" dress—black, of course, bare-shouldered, with two tiers of clingy crepe.

CIRCLE M MEETING

Circle M of St. Martin's Lutheran Church will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Richard Eichhorst, 925 W. King.

Schmidt-Serfling Vows Exchanged at Methodist Church

HARMONY, Minn. — United in marriage Dec. 28 at the Harmony Methodist Church by the Rev. Allyn Hanson, were Miss Sharon Serfling and Loren Schmidt. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Serfling, Harmony, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schmidt, Wykoff, Minn.

Mrs. Richard Reuter was organist and Mrs. Clinton Ewalt sang.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of ivory de-lustered satin. It was styled with a high neckline outlined with re-embroidered lace appliques, long sleeves pointed over the hands and a Watteau-type train. Her veil was held by a crown of re-embroidered lace and pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and ferns.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Pauline Serfling, Rochester, as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Marion Schmidt, Wykoff, sister of the groom, and Miss Diane Serfling, sister of the bride.

They were attired in red velvet street-length dresses, featuring scoop necklines and bell skirts. They carried bouquets of red and white carnations.

Attending the groom were his brother, Myron Schmidt, Wykoff, as best man, Jerry Serfling, brother of the bride, and Jerry Markham, Wykoff, as groomsmen. Ushers were Allan Dahl and Rodney Jeché, Wykoff.

Both mothers wore green wool dresses and corsages of red roses.

A reception after the wedding was attended by 200 guests. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Homer Brown, Lanesboro, Minn. Assisting were Misses Judy Willford, Carol Mae and Nancy Breise, Pat Ruesink, Lois Moore, Jeanne Serum, Marlene Goetsch, all of Rochester, Connie Brown, Lanesboro, Mary and Judy Westphal, Donna Jeché, Sheila Markham, Sheri Kraling and Marilyn Buss, and Mmes. Allan and Harlen Schmidt, Eunice Dahl, Everett Serfling and Richard Severson.

The groom's parents were hosts at a luncheon at the Harmony House after rehearsal.

The couple is now at home in Rochester, following a short wedding trip.

Jury Hearing Suit Brought by Hospital

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Drawing of a jury to hear the Circuit Court case brought by St. Francis Hospital, La Crosse, against Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ritter, Trempealeau, for collection of $2,600.18 allegedly due for hospital care, was completed early Monday afternoon.

The case, in which Dr. John Sevenants, La Crosse dermatologist, is an impleaded defendant, is expected to run several days. Judge Merrill Farr, Eau Claire, is presiding. Dr. Sevenants was the only witness on the stand Monday following opening statements by three attorneys and before adjournment at 4:45 p.m.

THE CASE involves treatment of an ulcer which developed after Mrs. Ritter received a scratch on the forepart of her left leg near the ankle in July 1960, when she was getting into a car in Winona.

Testimony also is expected to show Mrs. Ritter also had other health problems. The Ritters have filed a counter-claim.

Robert Johns, La Crosse hospital attorney, said testimony will prove that bills against the Ritters for care of Mrs. Ritter from Nov. 25, 1960, through Jan. 22, 1961, for which she was billed $1,367.18, and further hospitalization from Feb. 11 to March 31, 1961, for which the bill was $1,233, had not been paid.

He said he would prove through witnesses the bills were reasonable for services rendered, and that the services were necessary.

The bills and the complete hospital record of both periods were offered in evidence.

THOMAS SKEMP, La Crosse attorney for the Ritters, said he would prove by testimony that the treatment given Mrs. Ritter for the leg ulcers was not in accordance with accredited hospital practices. He said he would prove this was true both in failure to make a clinical record at the time of her admittance and in the administrative function.

Witnesses would prove Skemp said, that wet cloths had been applied to the ulcer from Nov. 26 to mid-December, but they were not sterile gauze.

He said Mrs. Ritter tried treating the ulcer herself and went to other doctors until someone suggested she go to Dr. Sevenants. He put her in the hospital the day she consulted him.

SKEMP SAID he would show no clinical record of her history was made by the doctor until Dec. 16, which was not in accord with accepted practices. After she was in the hospital two weeks she complained to nurses and the doctor of pain in the posterior of the affected leg. Skemp said no mention of her complaints appeared in the records, as he felt they should, and said he would prove that Dr. Sevenants made no record of development of ulcerous conditions in the back part of the leg.

He would show, he said, that Dec. 25 was the first time anything was done to alleviate the pain in the back of her leg, when it was elevated onto a frame and a pillow was placed under it. The attorney said one of the hospital attendants told him her leg should have been treated that way from the first.

SKEMP SAID he would show no laboratory tests were made until Dec. 28, and that Dr. Sevenants made no record of any new ulcers. When she was released Jan. 22, ointment was prescribed to apply and she was asked to report back twice a week on progress.

Two ulcers were not healing, Skemp said, and on Feb. 11 she was ordered back to the hospital. He said he would show the hospital and doctor are responsible for the tightening of the skin on the back of her leg which makes walking difficult, it is sensitive to heat and cold, and there is pain and pressure in the area. He said he would show the services rendered were of no value.

RICHARD HALLERN, Madison, attorney for Dr. Sevenants, said in his opening statement he would prove the doctor knew Mrs. Ritter's history of diabetes and excess weight, and that he had brought a consultant into the case.

He would prove that Mrs. Ritter had improved so she could be dismissed from the hospital, and that the large 2½-inch ulcer originally developed

EITZEN'S NEW FIRE TRUCK
Chief Milton Staggemeyer at New Station

EITZEN FIRE ENGINE OF 1906
$5 to Fastest Team

Eitzen Fire Company Acquires Truck, Station

EITZEN, Minn. (Special)—Last year was an important one for the 56-year-old Eitzen Fire Company.

A new GMC truck, with portable auxiliary pump, was purchased, and a new fire station of concrete blocks, costing about $4,000, was built to house the company's two trucks.

THE EITZEN volunteers organized July 6, 1908, with Herman H. Fruechte as president, August Wiemerslage, vice president, Franklin H. Deters, secretary, Fred F. Deters, treasurer, and Frank H. Buchholz, chief.

Their first equipment was horse-drawn. To encourage speed, the company offered $5 to the first man to arrive at the fire barn with his team when called to a fire.

The first equipment was manually operated; it cost $288.90. Land for the shed in which the truck was housed was leased for $1 a year. The first fire station cost less than $100. Expenses were met by selling shares to individuals at $10 each.

In July 1946 a new pump was purchased and mounted on a new Ford truck. In October the same year a frame building was erected on land owned by the Eitzen Switchboard Co., which served until the new one was completed last year.

THE FIRE company answers calls within a radius of about 14 miles. It has a modern fire call arrangement with Ace Telephone Co., one dialing calling several key men who notify the others.

The cost is $25 per share to the approximately 200 members. Present officers are: Milton Staggemeyer, chief; Paul Meiners, secretary; Warren Deters, treasurer; and Arlen Feil, Ted Kruse, Erwin Rober and Arthur Burmester, directors.

Foley Stresses Tolerance at Legion Meeting

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Three Negroes sat at the head table of an American Legion meeting as the group's national commander called for racial and religious tolerance.

Commander Daniel F. Foley of Wabasha, Minn., told the American Legion Luncheon club meeting Monday that the essence of Americanism is "class, religious and racial tolerance."

The meeting marked the first time that Negroes had sat at the head table of the all-white club.

They were Onie B. Granville, president of the Consolidated Realty Board; Christopher Taylor, chapter president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; and the Rev. H. H. Brokins of the steering committee of the United Civil Rights Committee.

Foley told a press conference earlier that he urged the Legion to hold its national convention next year in Dallas, Tex., where President John F. Kennedy was assassinated.

He said the group's concern with patriotic principles would have a beneficial effect in Dallas.

Fillmore County GOP Hears Plea To Back Choices

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special)—Once a Republican nominee is chosen, members of party organizations should back him regardless of personal opinion, a party leader told a group here Monday night.

Arthur Swan, Rochester, 1st District Republican chairman, also stressed the importance of precinct caucusing to members of the Fillmore County Republican organization in a special meeting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Louis Wilson.

Mrs. Wilson, county chairwoman, reported on plans for nine village and township caucuses, which will be held at 8 p.m. Feb. 1 in Chatfield, Preston, Rushford, Mabel, Harmony, Lanesboro, Wykoff, Spring Valley and Bloomfield Township.

Arthur Nyhus, Rochester, district fieldman, discussed the party's $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner, Jan. 22 in St. Paul. Sen. Thurston Morton (R-Ky.) will be the speaker at the affair.

The party's Fillmore County convention will be held in March in Preston. A definite date will be set later. The district convention is scheduled for April 11 in Faribault.

State Sen. Lew Larson, Mabel, and State Rep. Clinton Hall, Rushford, will serve as monitors of "Project Update" at the next regular meeting of the organization, Jan. 20 in Preston.

Representatives from Spring Valley, Wykoff, Fountain, Mabel, Rushford, Chatfield and Harmony attended the Monday night meeting, which was presided over by Walter Eichinger, Spring Valley, county chairman.

Include the relish, with the meat! Add a couple of table-spoons (or more) of sweet pickle relish to a pound of ground beef for hamburgers.

Pickup Truck Bids Asked

An advertisement for bids for a new truck to be used by the public schools maintenance department was authorized Monday night by the Board of Education.

The new truck will replace a 1957 model pickup which, Superintendent of Schools A. L. Nelson said, is in unsatisfactory condition.

IN OTHER action Monday directors granted Donovan R. Fried, elementary music instructor, a year's leave of absence for graduate study.

Fried requested the leave for the 1964-65 academic year to obtain his master's degree. The superintendent recommended that the request be granted.

Two other faculty matters were acted on by directors. Mrs. A. G. Lackore's employment as instructor for a new class in stenography offered under provisions of the federal Manpower & Training Act was approved. She'll receive $672.22 for each four weeks of teaching. The course runs for 32 weeks.

Mrs. Luther McCown, 257 Grand St., was employed for the remainder of the school year as a second grade teacher at Jefferson School in the absence of Mrs. Bernice McCourt who is ill. Her salary will be $623.14 a month.

PAYROLLS approved included those for substitute teachers, $667.50; homebound instructors, $804.13; driver training instructors, $520; direction of one-act plays, $250; nutrition class instruction, $84; band rehearsal, $16; study hall supervision, $53.44; evening knitting class, $90; survival preparedness class, $50; towel room attendant, $15.75; visual aid assistant, $12.75; attendance teacher, $33.75; custodial helpers, $82; noon hour supervisors, $381.50; and student cafeteria help, $327.30.

Also approved were overtime payments to custodians amounting to $313.48.

St. Peter to Vote on Swimming Pool

ST. PETER, Minn. (AP)—St. Peter school district voters will ballot at a special election Friday on the question of installing a $90,000 swimming pool in a high school addition approved last October.

In the October vote a total of $1,500,000 in bonds were approved for a new elementary school and the high school addition. At that time the swimming pool proposal failed. It is being resubmitted on petition of 400 voters.

Young Women's Christian Association's Winter Schedule of Classes Starting

Young Women's Christian Association classes and activities for girls and women are starting on the winter schedule, and participants are urged to call the YW office to register. Membership in the YW is necessary to all classes, unless otherwise stated.

Two new classes are being offered in response to popular demand, according to Miss Dorothea Hunley, executive director of the YW.

Archery, of interest to individuals and family groups alike, will be taught on Wednesdays at 7 p.m. starting this week and continuing through March 11. Equipment is available for those who do not have their own.

The other new class is Lip Reading, and will be taught by Mrs. Florence Harrington. Classes will be held Mondays at 7:30 p.m. and will run from next Monday to March 16.

The evening schedule will include other courses as follows: Thursday, 7 p.m. — Knitting, for beginners and experienced knitters, Jan. 9-March 12.

Thursday, 7 p.m. — Family Swim. Starts Wednesday. Plunge tickets can be bought by non-members as well as members.

Tuesday, 5:30 p.m. — Social and service club for working girls, age 18-35, with dinner meetings on second and fourth Tuesdays of each month.

Tuesday, 7:30 p.m. — Who's New Club, for newcomers to Winona, meeting the second Tuesday evening of each month.

Wednesday, 7 p.m. — Swimming instruction for beginners—women, Jan. 8-March 11.

Wednesday, 7:45 p.m. — Swimming instruction for intermediate and advanced swimmers—women.

Wednesday, 8:30 p.m. — Plunge for women; available to non-members.

Girls' swimming lessons will be given on Saturday mornings from this Saturday to March 14, as follows: 9 a.m. — swimmers; 9:45 a.m. — intermediate; 10:30 a.m. — advanced beginners; 11:15 a.m. — beginners.

Girls who are advanced swimmers may try out for the Swim Team, which has several meets scheduled for the winter. The Swim Team meets Tuesdays and Thursdays at 3:45 p.m. and Saturdays at 1 p.m., from Jan. 7 to March 14.

Dancing classes will be held from Jan. 4 to March 7, with instruction in tap, ballet, and aerobic dancing. The schedule is as follows: on Saturday mornings: 9:45 a.m. — beginners; 10:30 a.m. — advanced beginners; 11:15 p.m. — intermediate and advanced.

Baton twirling will be taught on Saturday mornings, from Jan. 4 to March 7, as follows: 9 a.m. — beginners; 9:45 a.m. — intermediate and advanced.

Pigtail Club is a group for fun and recreation for girls in first through fourth grades.

The club meets on Saturday from 1:30 to 4 p.m. for games, sports, handicrafts, and swimming. The present term extends to May 23.

Y-Teen clubs are for girls from seventh through 12th grades, and will start their schedule as follows: Jan. 7 — 4 p.m. — ninth grade; Jan. 15 — 4 p.m. — eighth grade; Jan. 8 — 4 p.m. — seventh grade; Jan. 7 — 6 p.m. — dinner — Hi-Teens (senior high).

Small Fry classes are for girls and boys who are four and five years old. Children come on Mondays, Wednesdays or Fridays. Classes include directed play, story telling, games, rhythms, and music. Winter term classes run from Jan. 13, 15, and 17 to March 30, April 1 and April 3.

The Y-Wives program is planned with a wide variety of classes to meet the interests of homemakers who want to learn new skills. Classes meet every Thursday, and a nursery is available for small children. The schedule is as follows: 9 a.m. — physical fitness; 9 a.m. — knitting; 9-11 a.m. — plunge; 9:30 a.m. — crafts; 10 a.m. — beginning bridge; 10:30 a.m. — kitchen kapers; 1:15 p.m. — rug braiding; 1:15 p.m. — advanced bridge.

Information about courses, fees, and registration may be had by calling the YW office. For those classes which have already started, registration is still available.

State Raps Falcons 81-62, St. Mary's Home Tonight

Warriors Rally In Second Half

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor

For 23 minutes and 50 seconds Monday night Winona State went through the process of deciding whether or not it wanted its fourth straight basketball victory.

But the remaining 16 minutes and 10 seconds left little doubt of the Warrior's intent.

A steady rally over that span in the second half propelled Winona to an 81-62 victory over River Falls. A team that had beaten the Warriors 81-77 just four short weeks ago.

THIS, WINONA State's seventh victory against six losses, wasn't as smooth, perhaps, as the twin victories in the Sheboygan, Wis., holiday tournament over the weekend. But when the rejuvenated Statesmen got their offense untracked in the second half, the tilt was stuffed in the victory bag with comparative ease.

"We had to decide that we wanted to do the job," said Coach Bob Campbell. "This had to be a bit anticlimactic after the Lakeland tournament. And then, too, we're pointing for Mankato."

Winona State gets Northern Intercollegiate Test No. 1 at Mankato Saturday against the Indians, rated as the cream of the conference crop in pre-season balloting.

A lackluster first half saw the Warriors steadily outbounded by the Falcons, who left the court with a 35-34 intermission advantage, thanks to the efforts of a blond, curly haired guard who makes his home just a few short miles north of Winona on the Wisconsin side of the Mississippi.

DURAND'S KEN Lee proved the only bright spot in a spotty River Falls offense, firing in 15 points in the first half while keeping the Falcons within striking distance.

Lee came back in the second half, picked up seven quick points before fouling out with 5:15 left in the game and finished as the high scorer in the contest with 22 points.

He rode the bench for four persons for nearly five minutes of the second half.

But the scoring Falcon threat No. 1 out of the game. Winona State wasted little time in turning the corner. The first of two Darrel Schuster free throws with 16:10 left gave the Warriors a 44-44 tie. The second gave them a one-point lead. They never again were headed.

DESPISE CONFUSION that included rolling bracelets and thrown confetti from the large crowd, the gap widened.

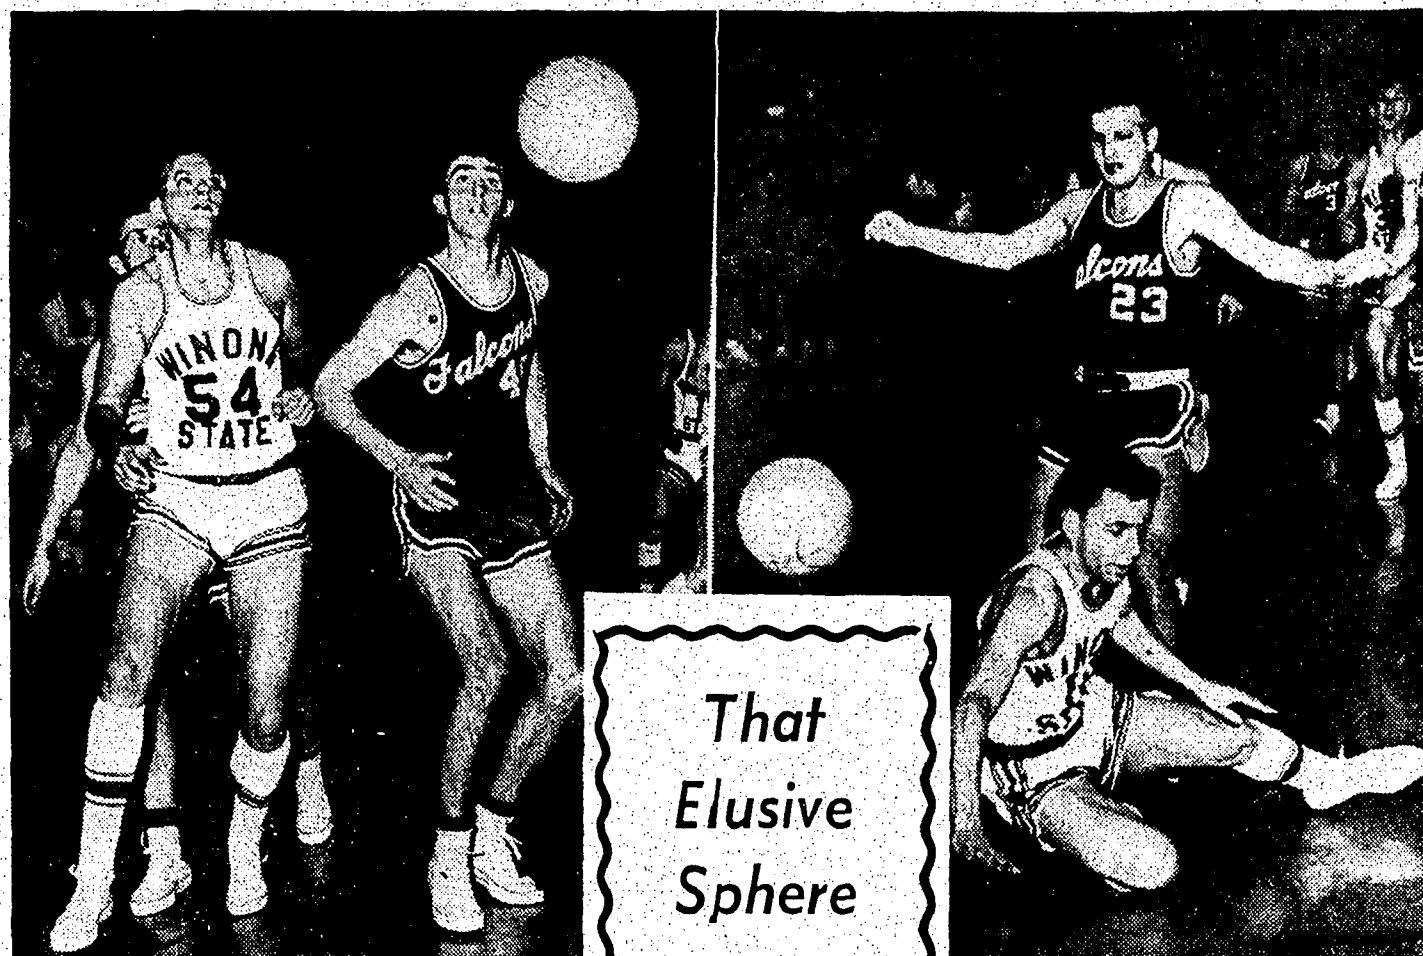

A driving shot by Schuster made it 47-44 and Lyle Papenfuss hit a free throw. With 9:50 left, four straight points by Dave Rosenau pushed it to 57-50.

The Falcons cut it to 57-52 on a jump ball mixup that resulted in an easy basket by Paul Kramer, but in the next two minutes, State hit 10 straight points.

Schuster started it on a drive and Dave Goede followed with a long jumper. Gary Peterson flipped through two gift shots, then hit a jumper and Papenfuss followed suit.

That made it 67-52 and only the mopping up work was left for the reserve corps.

"OUR REBOUNDING was had in the first half," mused Campbell. "We were just standing around and watching them shoot and then go get it. Things improved in the second half." Peterson, who treated the crowd to a variety of leaping one handers and daring drives, finished with 21 points for Warrior honors. Schuster came through with his second straight stellar performance, netting 17. Papenfuss had 14.

That Elusive Sphere

HARD TO CONTROL... From these two pictures, one might get the idea that ball control was sorely lacking in Winona State's victory over River Falls at Memorial Hall Monday night. In the photo at left, State's Rog Kjöme (54) and River Falls' Paul Kramer appear mystified as the ball

floats in front of their faces. At right, the ball soars away from Dave Goede (on floor) who tripped while dribbling for the basket. Making an attempt to miss Goede is Bob Pritchard (23). (Daily News Sports Photos)

ADDINGTON, KREUZER NURSING INJURIES

Winhawks Test Logan Tonight

When you're speaking of rockets, it's known as a test launch. In auto racing, it's called a trial run. In baseball, the name is exhibition games.

All of the terms, however, apply to Winona High's scheduled trip to La Crosse tonight for a contest with Logan. The game marks the final warmup before the Hawks head back into Big Nine competition by hosting Austin Friday night.

And you can be certain that Coaches Bob Lee and John Kenney, should he make the trip, will be experimenting with an eye on Friday night's tilt.

TROUBLE befell the Hawks Monday as Gary Addington strained several ligaments in the top part of his foot, and Tony Kreuzer injured a finger on his right hand.

That cuts the guard corps thin and may play havoc with the strategy Kennedy and Lee have been plotting.

Kenney, who suffered an asthma attack a week ago and was released from Community Memorial Hospital Sunday, wasn't certain this morning whether he would be able to make the trip.

If he doesn't, Lee once again, will handle the varsity.

A preliminary game tonight will send Winona's third varsity, five and seven or eight "B" squad sophomores against a comparable Logan group.

The games will be played at the Logan High School gym.

"BOTH BOYS were optimistic this morning," said Lee in reference to Addington and Kreuzer. "Gary said his foot was feeling much better and Tony reported that his finger was improved also. But we want to take care of the kids so they will be ready for Austin, so we'll just have to wait until tonight and see."

Four of the five Hawk starters are set. Denny Duran and Bill Squires will be at forwards with Jim Kasten at center and Steve Keller at one guard spot. The other guard will come from a trio of Addington, Kreuzer or Pat Boland.

Logan's strength lies in the performance of 6-9 Gary Addis. And in an attempt to stop him from scoring, the Hawks will resort to a zone defense.

"They work quite a bit to the left side of the floor," said Lee, "and they try to get the ball to Addis. We're going to try and stop that. We saw Sparta play Logan and they (Sparta) worked that type defense fairly effectively."

THE REMAINING four Logan starters will be Dick Keller and either Bob Walker or Bob Hauser at forwards with Harold Blank and Gary Gartner at guards.

Represented by the game is a chance to stop a three-game losing streak. The Hawks have bowed to Eau Claire and La Crosse Central of Wisconsin and Spring Valley of Minnesota in their last three outings.

"We need a win," said Lee. "We hope to get it tonight."

CHICAGO — All-America Gary Bradds of Ohio State is out in front in the Big Ten all-games basketball scoring race.

Bradds, with 293 points in 11 games has a 26.6 average and leads Rich Falk of Northwestern by an average of one point a game. Falk is second with a 25.6 average and Dick Van Arsdale of Indiana follows with a 24.0 average.

Pete Gent of Michigan State, Cazzie Russell of Michigan, Bill Buntin of Michigan and Skip Thoren of Illinois are among the top scorers averaging better than 20 points a game.

"They work quite a bit to the left side of the floor," said Lee, "and they try to get the

Redmen Will Host Tommies

By BOB JUNGHANS
Daily News Sports Writer

It's been a long absence, but St. Mary's basketball team finally returns to its home court tonight for an MIAC battle with St. Thomas.

The Redmen have played four straight games away from home, and have not made a court appearance at Terrace Heights since Dec. 14. The four-game road trip was none too pleasant for the Redmen, who dropped three of four contests. Despite the rather dismal record, Coach Ken Wiltgen was not too displeased.

Freshman guard Jerry Sausser proved himself to be of varsity caliber. Jim Rockers had one of his best games of his career, and the outside shooting came back into its own. In addition, the Redmen got back on the winning trail Saturday night when they tipped Concordia 67-66 at the Cobber's field house.

TONIGHT, ST. Mary's will face a team which is 0-4 in the MIAC campaign. Chief claim to fame for the Tommies is a 66-65 loss to mighty Augsburg in their last outing. In that game Tom Randall, Bruce Heidtke and Fred Korba were the big guns, hitting 17, 18 and 14 points, respectively.

Tonight's tilt should arouse interest among both St. Mary's and St. Thomas fans. The Redmen have not looked sharp in their last six games, of which they have won two and dropped four.

"We've been in a rut," said Coach Wiltgen. "We let the other team get ahead before we go to work." Saturday night's win might just be what St. Mary's needed to snap out of the doldrums, and with the home court advantage tonight may be the night for the Redmen to come out with all guns blazing.

On the other hand, it has been a rather disappointing season for the Toms, but if Saturday night's loss to Augsburg was any indication, the St. Thomas quintet may be beginning to jell and could spell trouble the rest of the way for MIAC opponents.

Although Wiltgen hasn't scouted St. Thomas, he expects the Toms to employ a fast break offense, and in Randall and Heidtke, St. Thomas has a pair of hot shooting forwards.

A PAIR OF reserves, George Valaika and Denny Burman, came up with outstanding efforts in the Redmen's win over Concordia. Although Burman didn't score, he did yeoman work under the boards. Valaika tossed in 13 points in his brief stint.

Last season, St. Mary's took a pair from the Toms by scores of 58-49 and 66-54. Al Williams was the big gun for the Redmen in both of those victories, but the 6-3 guard has had his problems getting started this year. Also figuring prominently were Mike Maloney and Rockers, currently 1-2 in St. Mary's scoring. Randall paced the Toms in both of those tilts, hitting 16 points in the first loss and 22 in the second.

Brenegan Hits 30 as Pioneers Defeat Huskies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Platteville battled from behind to edge Northern Illinois in the last six seconds 90-89 Monday night in one of four non-conference basketball games involving Wisconsin colleges.

Lakeland defeated Trinity 96-85 in a Gateway Conference game while in non-league contests Winona, Minn., whipped River Falls 81-62. St. Norbert trounced Eau Claire 98-77, and Milwaukee Allen Bradley defeated Stevens Point State 100-75.

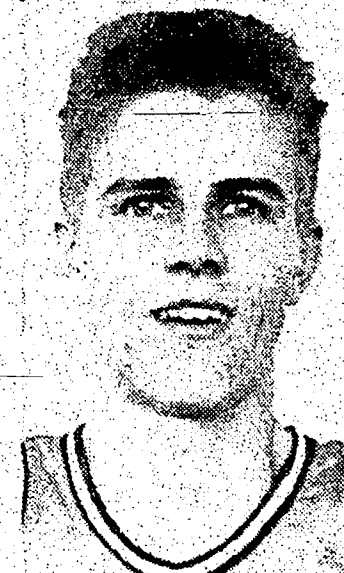

Ron Kampstra and Jack Brenegan led the Platteville attack at DeKalb, Ill., with 32 and 30 points, respectively. The Pioneers, who trailed 59-47 at halftime, got their decisive basket on a layup by John Delany with six seconds remaining. Platteville is 2-2 and Northern Illinois 5-5.

Wildcats Slide Down Ladder, Vanderbilt Wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's a long slide from the No. 1 college basketball ranking in the country to the bottom of the Southeastern Conference but Adolph Rupp's Kentucky Wildcats have completed the trip in less than a week.

Kentucky led the country in last week's Associated Press poll. Then the Wildcats ran into their first conference foe, Georgia Tech. The Engineers demolished the Wildcats and the loss dropped Kentucky to No. 2 in this week's poll. Monday night it was Vanderbilt and today the Wildcats find themselves peaking out of the conference basement with an 0-2 record.

John Ed Miller was the star for seventh-ranked Vanderbilt in an 85-83 thriller. His last-second jump from 30 feet out won it. Roger Schurig led Vandy with 22, and Miller added 18. Terry Gibson's 19 topped the losers.

In other college conference play another pre-season favorite ran into trouble. Kansas State, a Big Eight power, ran up a 14-point bulge on Colorado with less than 12 minutes to play, then suddenly lost the range and eventually the game, 60-69.

Utah State handed Utah its second loss in thirteen starts, 84-72 in a nonconference clash.

There were plenty of points in the Xavier of Ohio-Detroit game with Xavier winning 121-113.

South Carolina shot 60 percent from the field and handed Maryland its first Atlantic Coast Conference setback 73-69.

Texas Western grabbed a 77-72 decision over Arizona State.

WINONA RIVER FALLS

PALMER FINISHES THIRD

Harney Takes LA Open Win

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Golfer Paul Harney, who thought he'd never win another tournament until he captured the $50,000 Los Angeles Open, is a fellow who thinks tournament golf is for the birds — and he doesn't mean golf birds.

Harney headed for his adopted home at Sunset Oaks near Sacramento, Calif., Tuesday, richer by $7,500 for his biggest victory after nine years on the tournament circuit.

The 34-year-old product of Worcester, Mass., shot an even par 71 for a 72-hole total of 280, and four strokes under par for the distance, leaving behind the celebrated Arnold Palmer, U.S.

Open champion Julius Boros and a few others who kept yipping at his heels but could never quite catch him in the final round.

Bobby Nichols was second, with a 71 for 281. Palmer, who could never get any closer than two shots of the front runner Monday afternoon, finished in a four-way tie for third at 282.

Palmer had a 70, his third and his lowest score of the tournament. Tied with Palmer were Bob Goalby, 67; Dow Finsterwald, 78; and Al Geiberger, 70.

Dave Marr, with a 68, and Tommy Jacobs, 70, finished with 283, while Boros rallied with a 68 and a tie at 285.

THE SWAMI RETURNS, but he keeps insisting that these triple overtime thrillers are doing nothing but throwing his crystal ball's sensitive adjustment out of line.

His percentage now stands at .652 on 161 of 247. Of course, with handicaps, he's hitting a meager .563 on 139 of 247. But that will change, he says, as soon as his crystal forecaster becomes used to the weather change pattern.

But now for tonight:

Winona High over La Crosse Logan by 3, St. Mary's over St. Thomas by 7, Blair over Cochrane-Fountain City by 6, Alma Center over Osseo by 4, Independence over Whitehall by 5, Eleva-Strum over Augusta by 2, Onalaska Luther over Rollingstone Holy Trinity by 3, Lewiston over Elgin by 5, Chatfield over St. Charles by 7, Lanesboro over Spring Grove by 8, Peterson over Wykoff by 11, Spring Valley over Grand Meadow by 1, Owatonna over Waseca by 4, Taylor over Melrose by 7, Gilmanton over Arkansas by 5, Durand over Elmwood by 3, Mondovi over Eau Claire North by 8, Trempealeau over Arcadia by 7, West Salem over Cash-ton by 2, Bangor over Brookwood by 6 and Lima-Sacred Heart over Chippewa Falls McDonnell by 2.

Badgers Bow To Spartans, Wildcats Win

CHICAGO (AP) — Michigan State and Northwestern, both taking advantage of being at home, scored initial Big Ten basketball victories Monday night.

Michigan State swept past Wisconsin 106-90 and Northwestern hammered Indiana 79-65. Both Indiana and Wisconsin were left with two defeats in as many conference games.

Michigan State, having dropped an opening 27-66 decision at Illinois Saturday, saw Pete Gent lead its attack with 25 points. Bob Johnson was high for Wisconsin with 14.

The Spartans were especially rough on Wisconsin backcourt shooters Mike O'Melia and Don Hearden, limiting each to one basket in the first half.

Northwestern moved ahead 12-2 in the early minutes and was never overtaken by Indiana. The Wildcats were in front 36-28 at the half, saw their lead dwindle to four points in the second half and then came on strong to move ahead by a healthy 14-point advantage.

Rich Falk of Northwestern led all scorers with 26 points while teammate Rick Lopossa whipped in 21 before fouling out in the second half. Indiana's Van Arsdale twins topped the Hoosiers with Tom scoring 18 points and Dick adding 17.

Purdue will play a non-conference game at Drake tonight and matters will remain a status quo in the Big Ten until Saturday when Illinois will be at Iowa, Michigan at Purdue, Minnesota at Ohio State, Indiana at Michigan State and Wisconsin at Northwestern.

UCLA Grabs No. 1 Spot From Cats

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Okay UCLA, it's your turn to face the jinx.

For the second week in a row a new team turns up at the top of the Associated Press' basketball poll and UCLA hopes to stick around a bit longer than last week's leader, Kentucky. The Wildcats lasted just one week after grabbing the top spot from Loyola of Chicago.

Loyola led the poll from its first week but seemed to be struggling and finally slipped against Georgetown, D.C. Kentucky took over and ran into Georgia Tech. Now it's undefeated UCLA sitting on top.

The Bruins grabbed the top spot by polling 31 first place votes of the 41 cast by a panel of sports writers and broadcasters. Kentucky was favored by only two voters for the top spot but mustered enough points to outdistance Loyola of Chicago for the runner-up spot.

Points are awarded on the basis of 10 for each first place ballot, nine for second, etc.

Cincinnati dropped two of three on a Western trip last week and slipped from fourth to eighth. Michigan jumped one spot to fourth and undefeated Davidson climbed to fifth after being No. 7 last week.

Oregon State scrambled into sixth place ahead of Vanderbilt, another upset victim last week. Villanova and Duke complete the listing.

The top ten with first place votes in parentheses and points out of 100-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

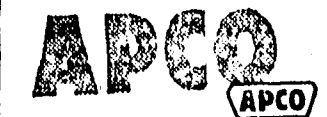

1. UCLA (31)	291
2. Kentucky (22)	272
3. Loyola (11)	258
4. Michigan (2)	244
5. Davidson (2)	238
6. Oregon State (2)	165
7. Vanderbilt (12)	124
8. Cincinnati (1)	104
9. Villanova (1)	84
10. Duke (1)	79

ARAKAWA TO COMPETE

Carnival Mat Card Slated

The annual Winter Carnival Wrestling show will take place Saturday night at Winona State's Memorial Hall, and it will bring to Winona some of the top grappling attractions in the upper Midwest.

Making his first appearance in Winona will be Mitsuo Arakawa, the oriental grunt-and-growl artist who specializes in the seldom seen, clay hold. Arakawa will take on a favorite of Winona fans, Doug Gilbert, in the one-hour time limit, two-of-three falls main event on the three match card.

In the semifinal, women wrestlers will grab the spot light, returning to the local scene after nearly a year of absence. Mars Monroe, a Superior, Wis., native who tips the scales at 128, will battle Kay Noble, St. Joseph, Mo., who weighs a shapely 122, in the 45-minute limit match, with two-of-three falls deciding the winner.

The opening bout, a one fall, 30-minute limit affair, will bring a familiar face to the Winona ring. Eddie Sharkey, possibly the smallest wrestler in the game at 218 but also one of the most popular, will tackle muscular Marquis De Pare, a 240-pound Montreal native.

Arakawa may be a stranger to local wrestling fans, but he is no stranger to Twin Cities opponents. In two matches with Vern Gagne, the pair split even. He stands 5-10 and weighs a solid 224 pounds. The quiet calculating Oriental, who reads Mickey Spillane novels to "super-charge" himself before a match, is well on his way to become the first of his race to win the world title.

In Gilbert, Arakawa will meet one of the few scientific wrestlers in the game today. The likeable 222-pounder is a protégé of Gagne and is currently ranked among the top wrestlers in the country.

The first match will take the ring at 8:30 p.m.

Patterson Starts Long Road Back

STOCKHOLM (AP) — "I'll never give up my hope for a chance to meet Sonny Liston again but I realize that maybe I don't deserve it yet. I want some more matches here first." That was Floyd Patterson's reaction to his Monday night victory over Santo Amonti, the first step on his comeback campaign after failing to survive the first round of two title bouts with Liston.

"I consider the victory a step on the road toward a new chance at the world heavyweight title," said Patterson, who stopped Amonti in 2:25 of the eighth round of a 10-round match after knocking him down three times.

Although Amonti is the heavyweight champion of Italy he is unranked in the world ratings. Patterson is the No. 8 contender.

In fact there was doubt that Amonti would be approved as an opponent. In 1961 he had been involved in an auto accident in which a woman was killed. At the trial the boxer reportedly told the judge he lost his eyesight for an instant just before the accident. The judge recommended that his driver's license be revoked and a new hearing is pending. However, the European Boxing Union approved the Italian as an opponent for the ex-champ.

The last knockdown in the eighth found Amonti reeling back and finally sitting on the bottom rope. He got up, tried to move and finally accepted the inevitable. The Italian opened his arms wide in a gesture of resignation, a familiar ending for a European bout.

It was Floyd's first fight since he was knocked out by Liston in 2:10 of the first round at Las Vegas, Nev. last July 22. A year before in Chicago Liston finished him off in 2:06 of the first.

Hawk JV Team Bows to Central By 78-69

In a junior varsity game at the Winona Senior High School gym Monday afternoon, La Crosse Central topped Winona High 78-69.

The visitors built up a 17-15 first-period lead and stretched it to 37-29 at halftime. At the end of three quarters, the score favored Central by 53-49.

Kennedy paced Central with 17 points. Abraham had 16, Keeler 15 and Gross 14.

Kratz' 635 Top Solo

The pace is starting to pick up on the Winona kegling scene as the season nears the midway point.

Monday night's action was a good example as the top 10 standings were juggled in three different team categories, and the men toppled the timber for a quartet of 600 counts.

George Kratz walked to 247-635 in the City loop at Hal-Rod Lanes for the individual high scores in town. His fine firing helped Bunke's Apco race to 1,047-3,001. The team set moved the Gasolinemen into the ninth spot on the season's list.

Two other honor counts came from the league. John Schreiber blasted 609, and Louis Wera blitzed 603.

Dean Sanden found the range for the other 600, coming up with a 245-601 for Abrams Furnace Co. in the VFW circuit at Hal-Rod. Team laurels went to Blanche's Tavern with 993-2,837.

The women got into the act as a pair of squads reached the top 10 listings. Hamernik's Bar swept the alleys clean for a 2,754 set (good for fifth place) sparked by Margie McGuire's 225-549. Main Tavern also hit the fifth spot with a team game of 984.

Other 500 keggers were: Dolores Wieck 546, Betty Englerth 532, Irene Gostonski 532, Helen Englerth 517, Isabelle Rozek 512, Annette Wiecek 510, Betty Schoonover 509 and Esther Pozanc 505.

RED MEN: Class B — Augie Kreuzer blasted 517 for Bub's Oldtimers, while Jerry Anderson's 210 sparked Schmidt's to 1,006. Doerfers cracked 2,652.

WINONA AC: Monday — Lance Hamernik powered 243-590 to boost East End Coal Co. to 2,838. Phillips 66 totaled 1,039.

Go Getters — E.B.'s Corner waxed 2,430 behind Ruth Kulkowski's 163-453. Tews Garage laced 853.

HAL-ROD: Park Rec Jr. Girls — Jan Wiecekorek's 170 — 304 paced Lucky Strikes to 642. Spare Masters hit 1,260.

WESTGATE: Alley Gaters — Shirley Squires bagged 541, and Virginia Schuminski belted 212, both for Curley's Floor Shop. Mohan's Window nailed 869-2,584. Saturday night, Curley's defeated Mohan's for the first half title. Shirley Squires led Curley's to a 2,511 total with her 197-532.

Community — Bob Heftman lifted Sunbeam Bread to a 2,741 team set with his 235-570. Schlitz Beer tagged 993.

ST. MARTIN'S: Ladies — Eleanor Loshek blasted 164-465 for Winona Typewriter Service's 2,464. Deep Rock Rockets lapped 869, and Ruth Braatz breezed to 164 for United Building Center.

Mankato in NIC Lead, Auggies Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"Augsburg at Duluth," reads the notation in the basketball schedule.

That's next Monday night, and it should be a dandy. Those two schools continued undefeated Monday night, both 5-0 in the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference and apparently heading for a showdown.

Augsburg zoomed past St. John's 100-53, while Minnesota-Duluth had a somewhat stickier time getting past Hamline 74-71.

Dan Anderson, the Auggies' 6-10 center, collected six points but hardly worked up a sweat as he and regulars took it easy most of the game against the hapless Johnnies.

Doug Pautz and Dan Meyers flicked in 26 apiece as Augsburg hit 50 per cent from the field to a miserable 28 per cent for St. John's. Joe Mucha had 14 for the losers.

Duluth battled an erring Hamline team after trailing 41-38 at the half, and the Pipers' second half mistakes helped turn the tide. The teams tied at 69, but then a free throw and field goals by Dan Holje and Mike Patterson tucked it away for the Bulldogs.

Gary Richards had 18 for Duluth while Freddie Schmiesing had 24 for the Pipers, who dropped to 1-1 in the MIAC.

Mankato pushed atop the Northern Intercollegiate Conference race with a 79-62 pasting of Moorhead. Mankato is 2-0 and the only undefeated team in the NIC.

Mankato led 41-32 at the half with Les Sonnabend notching 19 points. Jon Hagen and Jim Tetzloff had 18.

Peters Has Curve Ball Problems

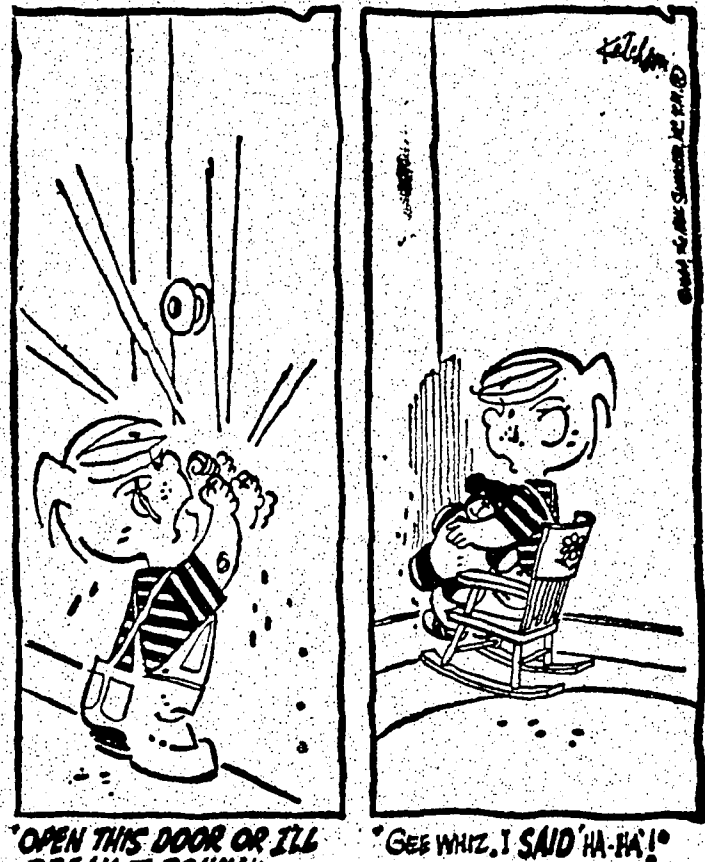

CHICAGO (AP)—Gary Peters of the Chicago White Sox, American League Rookie of the Year in 1963, is a pitcher with too big of a curve ball.

"That's his only weakness," said Sox pitching coach Ray Berres. "We've been working on cutting it down this winter. Gary has been working with our Sarasota team of the Florida Instructional League."

Southpaw Peters will be shooting for 20 victories this year after a rookie mark of 19-8. He had a 2.33 earned run average, struck out 189 and walked 68.

"That big curve is his only problem," Berres said. "It leaves the ball hanging there to be hit out of the park. Or it comes in sometimes and hits a batter's feet. We're cutting it down, so when he does throw a curve it will get over the plate. His slider still explodes up there. But his curve is so big a batter can anticipate it."

Regular Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said he plans to keep a "pretty regular schedule" in the White House.

He told reporters he usually rises at 6:30 a.m. and goes over official papers for the next two hours. Then, he said, he likes to report to the office at 8:30 or 9.

Johnson added that he swam eight lengths of the White House pool Monday as part of his regimen of exercise, and has been making a practice of swimming before lunch and dinner.

In Memoriam

A TRIBUTE OF love to the beautiful memory of our beloved wife and mother, Dolores, who passed away Jan. 7. We cannot bring the old days back, when we were all together. But memories of you will live within our hearts forever.
Harlan Bockenhauer & Children.
IN MEMORY of our beloved mother and grandmother, Margaret Rupprecht, who passed away 5 years ago, Jan. 7. Memories are treasures no one can steal. Death is a heartache nothing can heal. Some may forget now that you're gone, but we'll never forget you. Remember me to all your family.
Mr. & Mrs. George Pruka & family.

IN LOVING MEMORY of our dear mother and grandmother, Isabelle Kowalski, who passed away Jan. 7. Days of sadness come over us. Secret tears often flow. Not but memory keeps you ever near us. Though you left us 3 years ago, we still miss you. Sincerely,
Son, Daughter-in-law, and grandchildren.

Is There Still An Ugly, Inefficient Antenna Like This On Your House?

NOT ONLY IS IT UNSAFE BUT YOU'RE GETTING ONLY PART OF THE TOTAL TV AVAILABLE WITH IT!

You probably aren't aware of the wonderful television that more than 5,000 Winona and Goodview families enjoy if you are still trying to get programs from your old, unsafe rooftop antenna. There is a better way and that's with Winona "TV Signal" Service. Ten channels, all networks, black and white and color plus educational channel 2 and all the area stations. All this for only $5.00 per month. Isn't this the time to put "superior reception" in your home and do away with your rooftop antenna forever? Call 3306 tomorrow for your installation.
