Saturn Shot Gives U.S. Space Lead

Russians Admit They Downed U.S. Craft

3 Americans Aboard Jet Trainer Killed

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP) — The Soviet Union announced today one of its fighters downed a U.S. jet trainer over East Germany and the three officers aboard were killed.

The disclosure of the plane's fate came in a Soviet protest note released in Moscow accusing the United States of a provocative flight designed to increase tensions.

The plane vanished Tuesday on a flight from this U.S. air base. Air Force officials said it apparently lost its way. The Russians had been asked for information.

The Soviet note said the plane appeared over Communist East Germany and ignored warning shots from a Soviet fighter plane directing it to land.

The note did not actually say the twin-jet T39 trainer was shot down. After saying the "intruder did not react to the conventional signals demanding it to land" or react to warning fire, the note added:

"Therefore the Soviet fighter had to take measures in compliance with air defense instructions which are well known to the American command."

"As a result the intruder plane crashed near Vogelsberg village 20 kilometers (12 miles) northeast of Erfurt."

Erfurt is about 140 miles northeast of Wiesbaden and on a direct line of the flight the plane was making to the Frankfurt area. The plane had been forced to fly above a storm.

The U.S. Air Force said a radar track of the plane's flight showed two blips appeared just before the plane vanished from the radar screen.

"An inspection of the crash site showed that the intruder was a military jet plane of the T39 type belonging to the U.S. Air Force," the Soviet note said. "Three corpses of servicemen were found."

The official Soviet news agency, Tass, said the note asserted: "The Soviet government cannot regard this intrusion as anything but a gross provocation by the American military authorities, aimed at aggravating the situation in central Europe."

The note said the American plane crossed into East Germany near Diefdorf, 15 miles northwest of the town of Eisenach, and had penetrated 55 miles into East Germany at an altitude of about 26,000 feet when the Soviet fighter went up to intercept it.

The T39 trainer, with a lieutenant colonel and two captains aboard, was tracked by Air Force radars for 11 minutes Tuesday heading into East Germany at about 450-500 miles an hour.

Shortly after the plane disappeared from the screens, the radar operators saw "two other blips." It could not be determined whether these were Communist fighters or anti-aircraft shells.

The Air Force refused to confirm the report that the plane had been shot down.

An Air Force spokesman said the plane was not authorized to cross the Iron Curtain and could not be reached by radio. He said the Air Force didn't consider there was "the slightest possibility" that the three officers were defecting.

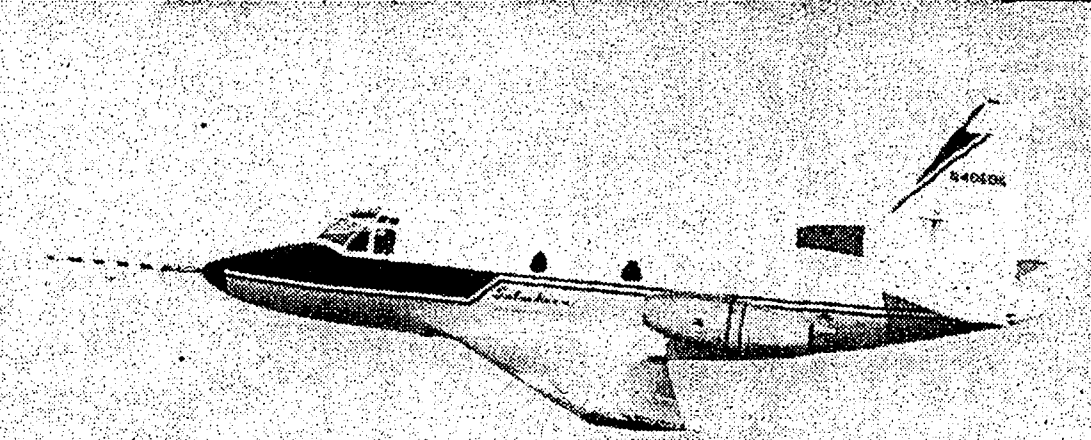

The Air Force said the officers aboard the plane were Lt. Col. Gerald K. Hanna, 41; Capt. John F. Lorraine Jr., 34; and Capt. Donald G. Millard, 33.

Atlanta Seeks Racial Answer

ATLANTA (AP)—Leaders of Atlanta grope today for an answer to new racial questions arising after four consecutive days of demonstrations. The demonstrations by young Negroes and white persons were directed mainly against one restaurant which has refused to go along with many others in desegregating.

However, a leader of the demonstrations said protests will continue until all restaurants in Atlanta are open to Negroes.

"There are many instances of segregation in the city and for many long years people have tried to negotiate a settlement without success," said James Forman, executive secretary of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

Mayor Ivan Allen Jr. called together about 250 city leaders for a conference today.

"I feel that this meeting is necessary to maintain the rational attitude that has marked Atlanta's approach to human relations," Allen said. He has been working to open public accommodations to all, and was one of the few Southerners who testified in behalf of the accommodations section of the proposed civil rights bill in Washington.

The Atlanta Restaurant Association proposed to its members Tuesday night that all restaurants in the city be closed for one day to "show the unity of the restaurant industry."

The association's executive secretary, Ed England, told the approximately 200 members that the organization wanted only to have the right to operate its restaurants either integrated or segregated, whichever the owners preferred.

Shriver May Seek Some U.S. Office

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—U.S. Peace Corps chief R. Sargent Shriver said today he has no aspirations for the American vice presidency but this "does not mean I have no aspirations" for any public office.

He did not say which public office he might seek.

He left for Washington via Tokyo today after a two-day visit to Thailand in connection with the Peace Corps program.

The brother-in-law of the late President Kennedy has been mentioned as a possible running mate for President Johnson this year.

Baker Probe Under Growing GOP Pressure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate investigation of Robert G. Baker—sweeping up a tangle of names, dates and deals—came under growing Republican pressure today to dig deeper and resolve a dispute involving presidential aide Walter Jenkins.

The possibility Jenkins, a long time assistant to President Johnson, may be asked to testify arose as Republicans, brandishing a campaign issue, raised a cry of "possible perjury."

Special counsel L. P. McLeod of the Senate Rules Committee said he didn't know whether the White House assistant would be questioned about his disputed role in the sale of advertising time on the Johnson family television station in Austin, Tex., to an insurance man.

Republican National Chairman William E. Miller demanded that the committee develop fully what Miller called a "direct conflict" in sworn statements by Jenkins and insurance man Don B. Reynolds, a witness in the Baker hearings.

He said there is "a clear issue of possible perjury" which should be followed through.

Living Costs Slightly Higher

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mainly because of weather damage to vegetable crops, the cost of living rose two-tenths of one per cent last month, the Labor Department said today in reporting an unusual increase in December prices.

It was only the third time in the last 10 years that the cost of living rose in December, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said. The rise took the consumer price index to 107.6.

Food prices increased 0.3 per cent from November, primarily because of sharply increased vegetable prices after Southern crops were damaged by freezing weather. An increase of nearly 3 per cent in sugar prices also contributed to the rise in grocery prices.

Cold Air and Strong Winds Over Northeast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cold air and strong winds spread into the Northeast today in the wake of a storm which dumped up to seven inches of snow in parts of New England.

Temperatures were moderating across the chilled Midwest after a brief cold spell in which readings dropped below zero four days in northern areas.

The snow storm which hit the upper Ohio Valley and New England Tuesday tapered off during the night and early morning as it drifted out to sea. Snow measured seven inches in Augusta, Maine, and more than four inches fell in Boston and Portland, Maine. Snow also fell in parts of Pennsylvania.

Strong winds were reported in some eastern areas, with gusts up to 44 miles an hour in Nantucket, Mass. Temperatures were a little below and near zero in some sections of the Northeast, with -2 in Lebanon, N.H. The teens were reported in many parts of the East.

The mercury also dropped a few degrees below zero in parts of Idaho and Nevada and some of the cold air which spread into the East dipped into the Southwest, with freezing marks in many areas.

U.S. Rejects Call to Destroy All Bombers

GENEVA (AP)—U.S. officials have rejected a Soviet call for destruction of all the world's bomber fleets. But they were hopeful it signified a Russian interest in an American suggestion to keep obsolete bombers from smaller nations.

The bomber proposal was put forth at the Geneva disarmament conference Tuesday by Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin. Chief U.S. disarmament negotiator William C. Foster said he would like to discuss it in detail.

The State Department in Washington said any move to destroy the bombers of all nations was neither acceptable nor practical.

But it expressed hope Tsarapkin's proposal meant the Russians would look with favor on an informal suggestion Secretary of State Dean Rusk made to Soviet officials in Moscow last summer. Rusk suggested that big powers destroy nuclear bombers as they became obsolete lest they fall into the hands of non-nuclear nations.

Rusk suggested destruction on a one-for-one basis of U.S. B47s and Soviet Badger bombers. His suggestion would not apply to such supersonic bombers as the U.S. B58A and the Soviet Bander.

Wife of Presto Executive Killed At Eau Claire

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The deaths of three persons, including an Eau Claire industrialist's wife killed on her birthday, have raised Wisconsin's traffic toll for the year to 68, compared with 44 on this date a year ago.

Mrs. Phyllis T. Soper of Eau Claire, whose husband Laverne, is a vice president of Presto National Industries, was killed Tuesday evening when her car hit a tree after leaving a street a block outside the Eau Claire city limits. Tuesday was Mrs. Soper's 43rd birthday.

Margo Ann Little, 20, of Madison, died Tuesday night when her car plunged into a ditch near an I-94 intersection in western Waukesha County.

James Cullen, 38, of Darlington, the father of five children, died in a hospital there Tuesday night. He was injured a few hours earlier when his car left a town road about six miles southwest of Darlington. He was thrown from the car, which rolled over him as it tumbled down an embankment.

China, France In Deadlock

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — As France and Communist China struggled with the touchy two-Chinas issue, Nationalist China waited quietly on the sidelines today. The feeling in Taipei was that President Chiang Kai-shek had outfoxed Mao Tse-tung.

Chiang's officials were elated at the dispute between Paris and Peking only a day after French President Charles de Gaulle's recognition of Communist China.

Red China's Foreign Ministry called on France Tuesday to break off relations with the Nationalists. A French spokesman replied Paris would continue to recognize the Taipei government.

The French spokesman also denied the Paris-Peking agreement to exchange ambassadors included a French pledge to sever diplomatic ties with the Nationalists.

Nationalist officials saw the dispute as evidence of a miscalculation by Mao, Red China's Communist party chief. They said Mao apparently expected Chiang to cut off relations with France in angry reaction to De Gaulle's recognition of Peking Monday.

Had the Nationalists broken with France, they would have solved Mao's problem. The Red leader, like Chiang, opposes the idea of two Chinas. Each regards his regime as the sole voice and legal representative of the Chinese people.

The Red Chinese failed to make clear what they would do if France continued its relations with Taipei. In Paris, a French spokesman said his government is seeking clarification of Peking's position.

Nationalist officials say the next move is up to Paris. They think Peking probably will not send an ambassador to Paris until France breaks relations with Taipei. The Paris-Peking agreement calls for the exchange of ambassadors within three months.

Although the Chinese Nationalist embassy in Paris has been instructed to carry on as usual, the government ordered the withdrawal of funds from French banks to prevent the money being turned over to the Communists later.

Called Biggest Satellite Ever Sent Aloft

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A Saturn 1 super rocket propelled the world's heaviest satellite into orbit today and presumably vaulted the United States over Russia in the race for space rocket supremacy.

The mighty rocket, 164 feet tall and weighing 562 tons, flooded its launching pad with a rush of flame and sent a thunderous shock wave rolling across Cape Kennedy as it blasted off at 11:25 a.m., Eastern Standard Time, on its first full-scale test flight.

Slightly more than 10 minutes later, the Saturn 1—its second stage live for the first time—ejected into orbit a mammoth 84-foot-long satellite weighing 37,700 pounds, nearly three times heavier than the Soviet heavyweight champions of space.

The satellite is little more than a mass of metal and sand with a radio tracking beacon. But its presence in the sky demonstrates U.S. capability for the future and the nation's determination to grasp the space rocket power lead.

No scientific value was attached to the huge satellite because of the research nature of the flight.

On the test, the Saturn 1—fore-runner of rockets which will boost U.S. astronauts to the moon—chalked up milestone performances.

For the first time, its massive eight-engine first stage power plant developed full thrust of 1.5 million pounds—equal to 34 million horsepower or enough to power more than 200,000 standard automobiles. On four earlier flights of the first stage only, the thrust was held to 1.3 million pounds.

The second stage, a cluster of six motors driven by high-energy liquid hydrogen fuel, was flown alive for the first time and provided the muscle to shove the satellite into orbit. That stage, cutting in after the first had burned 145 seconds, delivered 90,000 pounds of thrust.

Saturn 1's claim to the title of world's most powerful rocket is based on official U.S. estimates that its first stage generates about 50 per cent more thrust than Russia's largest booster and the fact that there is no evidence of Soviet progress with liquid hydrogen fuel.

The rocket spewed a torrent of flame from its base and sent a thunderous roar rolling across Cape Kennedy as its engines flashed to life, feeding on 475 tons of fuel.

The enormous rocket rose slowly at first but picked up speed quickly.

About 30 seconds after liftoff, Saturn 1 began a gradual pitch to a southeast heading, spurring a tail of flame more than 300 feet long as it streaked into the sky. It vanished from sight in a low cloud bank about 40 seconds after launching.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported 150 seconds after launching that the first stage had shut down as planned and the second stage had ignited. An announcement said all phases of the flight appeared normal up to that point, and that the second stage was continuing to burn.

The shot was delayed more than an hour by radio interference which affected a tracking radar and the radio frequency on which the range safety officer would send a signal to destroy the rocket in case it strayed off course.

The radar trouble was traced to a ship offshore. The ship turned off its signal when it was advised, and the other interference was cleared up soon afterward.

When the trouble arose the countdown had reached 13 minutes, but one system aboard the rocket had to be turned off during the wait, so the count was set back to 25 minutes when it was resumed.

The massive vehicle was intended to propel into orbit a 37,700-pound satellite, nearly three times as heavy as any previous man-made satellite.

The 164-foot-tall, 562-ton rocket is 13 feet taller and more than twice as heavy as the Statute of Liberty.

Taylor Partners Sell Business

TAYLOR, Wis. (Special) — Two Taylor businessmen who have been in business together more than 30 years have sold their John Deere Implement establishment.

Lee Casper and Harry Chrisinger also have been in the feed business since forming a partnership Oct. 1, 1933. They have sold their latest venture to Lee's son, Morris Casper.

Casper & Chrisinger first purchased the Taylor Feed & Produce from Mrs. James Redmond. They operated it 11 years. In 1941 they started the implement business and ran the two together three years.

In 1944 they sold the mill to John and Arthur Erickson. The same year Casper & Chrisinger purchased the former Farmers Grocery from Olaf Odemark, turning the building into the present office and parts department of the implement establishment. The following year they erected an adjacent building for a repair shop.

The partners employed their sons, Morris Casper and Harold Chrisinger, when they returned from military service in 1946.

Later the sons became partners with their fathers and the business was known as Casper & Chrisinger & Sons.

The payroll has expanded to seven at the present time.

Lee, a licensed livestock buyer, plans to buy and sell livestock. Harry, who lives on a farm about three miles east of Taylor, plans to operate his place and work part time in the implement shop.

400 Attend Houston Co. Farm Bureau

CALEDONIA, Minn. (Special) — "Americans want Christ without a cross and Communists want a cross without Christ," Maynard Speece, announcer for a Twin Cities radio station, told more than 400 persons at the annual banquet of the Houston County Farm Bureau at Caledonia Tuesday evening.

"I don't approve of the sale of wheat to Russia," he said. "It's time we stopped our give-away program."

DISCUSSING the nation's relief lists he said, "The nation would go bankrupt during the pretense of taking care of people. The idea of getting something for nothing is all wrong. Being dependent on the government is the result of voter apathy."

"How many people here can name your representatives in Congress?" he asked. "Taxes make us work three or four months of the year for the government."

"Our farms are becoming larger and fewer," he pointed out. "Young people should get an education. The average college graduate has a choice of four jobs starting at $6,000. The best thing you can do for the young people is to encourage them to go to school."

THREE AWARDS were presented during the program. Glen Jostad, Brownsville, career underwriter for Farm Bureau Mutual Insurance, was awarded a trophy for being the top agent in Division 9. He was also the second highest agent in the state.

Linus Ernster, Caledonia, agency manager for Houston County, was awarded a trophy for having the top agency in the division and in the state. Wesley Happel, Houston, president of the county Farm Bureau, was presented a watch for the results of the insurance sales activity in his county.

P. D. Hempstead, Houston, state Farm Bureau vice president, presented the Farm Bureau story. Robert Sprague was toastmaster.

Jacobson was elected assistant cashier.

Other bank employees are Mrs. Ronald Johnson, Verdonn Meyer and Mrs. Waldo Marzolf, tellers, and Mrs. Lee Ronnenberg and Mrs. Allan Lange, bookkeepers.

Participants come from Central and South America, Africa, Asia and Europe. About 20 Saint Teresa students will take part, while Winona State College and St. Mary's College will have a total of about 15 participants.

Included in the show will be demonstrations of karate and the Japanese tea ceremony, a German shadow play, and an adaptation of "I Like to Live in America."

Miss Sun commented: "The value of this international night is immeasurable for promoting a better understanding of the world we live in. The important thing to remember is that this production is done entirely by international students and it is their way of telling college students about their countries."

Political Party Caucuses Set; GOP Feb. 5

The heat on local political burners goes up a notch next week as Winona County Republicans hold precinct caucuses Wednesday at 8 p.m.

At Democratic-Farmer-Labor grassroots level, precinct caucuses are set for March 3.

DELEGATES will be chosen at these caucuses for county conventions which in each case will be held about a month later. Republican county conventions will be held in March and DFL conclaves are to be scheduled for April.

Winona County GOP Chairman James Goetz said he expects high degrees of interest at all party levels. Voters' attention will be aroused by races for the presidency, for U. S. senator from Minnesota and balloting on the proposed taconite amendment to the state constitution, Goetz said.

Such issues will furnish ready-made agenda for precinct caucuses, Goetz said, and should increase attendance. He described the precinct caucus as the place where citizen participation in government begins.

ACCORDING to state law, a person may participate in a party caucus if he or she is a qualified voter in Minnesota, or will be at election time; if the person is in agreement with the party's principles and intends to vote for that party's candidates and support its aims. Goetz said:

"We certainly encourage all Republicans to attend their caucuses and become active parts of the party organization at these key functions of election year activity."

WHALAN, Minn. — Whalan Village electors will vote Tuesday from 3-7 p.m. on whether it shall join the Lanesboro Fire Co. "fire ring" to gain better protection and lower fire insurance. The village hall will be the polling place.

It's Melting Time Again

Although the Old Farmer's Almanac says "Snow with sleet" for Jan. 28-31 and "Alas, no luck, another storm to buck," the U.S. weatherman had nothing but good weather news for Winona and vicinity for the rest of the month.

Mostly fair and a little cooler tonight with a low of 8-15 is his forecast. Thursday, he says, will be increasingly cloudy and continued mild with an afternoon high of 30.

Outlook for Friday is for continued mild and no precipitation of consequence.

EVEN THE extended forecast for the next five days was optimistic in predicting average temperatures 10 to 16 degrees above normal with a warming trend Thursday followed by con-

Cancer Crusade Chairman Named

Frank Chupita, 722 E. Broadway, has been named chairman of the 1964 Cancer crusade in Winona County. He is an assistant cashier at the Merchants National Bank.

His appointment was announced by Dr. Philip F. Eckman, Duluth, president of the Minnesota division of the American Cancer Society.

County cancer board members and committee chairmen for the drive were announced last week.

The group indicated the death toll from cancer in Winona County as a reason for the urgency of this year's drive. Sixty-four persons died of cancer in 1962, drive spokesmen said. The total of deaths from all causes that year was 411.

The board pointed out, however, that one out of five persons with cancer was saved in 1937. One out of every three was saved in 1963.

In the first eight months of operations under the new city tree program, the park-recreation department crew worked on 1,712 trees located in parks, on boulevards, streets or alleys.

There are about 14,500 trees on city property.

A report, issued this week by the department, devoted a special section to emergency cleanup work occasioned by the June 8 windstorm last year. The complete report covered the months of May through December.

FOR SIX weeks following the storm, all scheduled work was

Normal temperatures for this area at this time of the year range from daytime highs of 21-26 to nighttime lows of zero to 7 above.

Precipitation averaging less than .10 of an inch (melted) is predicted in occasional brief periods of light snow or snow flurries.

The mean temperature for January to date is 21.10, contrasting with a normal mean for the month of 17.3. Last year the January figure was 12.58.

To date this year there have been only 5 days on which the temperature was below zero, 6 on Jan. 14 being the lowest. Last year January had 19 days on which below zero readings were recorded and the lowest was -31 on Jan. 16.

Low for the past 24 hours to noon today was 11 at midday Tuesday. During the night the thermometer held around 22 and at noon today the reading was 32. High Tuesday afternoon was 25.

A YEAR AGO today the Winona high was 21 and the low -13. Four inches of snow lay on the ground at that time. All-time high for Jan. 29 was 49 in 1914 and the low for the day -36 in 1873.

All main highways in Minnesota and Wisconsin were reported in good winter driving condition today, clear of ice and snow.

Temperatures in Minnesota generally were mild today with the lowest report 12 above at Duluth. Bemidji had a low of 13 and St. Cloud 14. Rochester had a morning reading of 22. The 24-hour low was 15 Tuesday. Temperatures for the same times at La Crosse were 21 and 17.

Milder temperatures have returned to WISCONSIN and are due to remain for a few days, if all goes well.

In place of the subzero weather of the two previous nights, temperatures Tuesday night ranged from 10 degrees in the Superior-Duluth area and Eau Claire to 17 at La Crosse.

The only precipitation reported was a brief light snowfall in the Superior-Duluth area.

Racine and Burlington had the highest temperature reported in the state Tuesday, 26 degrees.

The nation's high Tuesday was 86 at South Miami and Miami Beach, Fla. The low overnight reading was 9 below at Craig, Colo.

It Happened Last Night

Barbara Loden On Way Up

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — So here's a warning to Carroll Baker, Jane Fonda, Jayne Mansfield, Natalie Wood and all those other Hollywood chicks.

Barbara (Candy) Loden is so good as Marilyn Monroe in Arthur Miller's "After The Fall" that she has officially tossed her pajama tops into the ring to be the new American Sex Symbol . . . and she deserves it, for she's had a tough, 10-year struggle to get her talents recognized.

"Barbara is a wonderful actress who has developed," Edie Adams said the other morning in Sardi's, "and I should know . . ."

Miss Loden's first big job after her arrival from Asheville, N. C., was on the Ernie Kovacs TV show about 1954. She had briefly been a chorus gal at the Copacabana.

"Ernie was always figuring out crazy things for her to do," Edie remembered. "Practically every morning she would come out on camera rolled up in a rug. She was always getting a pie in her face or some thing like that."

Miss Loden (who married Producer Larry Joachim) was in three flop shows, then "Compulsion," then did two Hollywood movies for Elia Kazan, before stealing the show at the new Repertory Theater.

"She really is like Marilyn Monroe," a chap said backstage. "When she looked up at Arthur Miller, she thrust out her bosom, and gasped, and batted her eyes, like Marilyn used to do."

IS "NO-cal-bourbon" coming? Dr. Allen E. Stearn, retired head of the chemistry dept. at the University of Missouri, and his wife, Esther, retired bacteriologist, are working on "no cal booze" at their home in Chicago . . . and think they've got it . . . Liz Taylor's writers and lawyers are issuing another statement that "Elizabeth will not buy a divorce" which will specify Eddie Fisher's alleged demands . . .

On Bagel Beach, in front of the Stage Delicatessen, somebody was saying, "We have a lot of literary guys hanging out around here. A lot of writers." Frank Garzaniti of the Stage Barbershop said, "Sure you got a lot of writers: numbers writers."

Marlon Brando seemed to have two interests at Basin St. E. one A.M. — folk singer Minnie Makeba from Johannesburg, S. Africa, who held him spellbound as he sat listening ringside, and his belly dancer date Nogo Lord, a shapely dark-haired beauty. Brando visited Miss Makeba, an old friend, in her dressing room (they closed the door) between shows. Comedian Bill Cosby and Stan Getz' Jazz Group filled out the show . . . and Brando told Cosby, "I hope you can act — I want you to be in my next movie."

(Cosby told one loud ringsider: "Would you like to stand up, sir, so you can make even a bigger spectacle of yourself?")

"THIS IS the first time we ever went out for a drink at intermission," said my B.W. at the Repertory Theater opening on W. 4th St., "and got coffee. With no bar near, we hit the Campus Coffee Shop . . . Jason Roberts Jr. addressed Lauren Bacall backstage as "Mummy."

Our story on Jackie Gleason's $6 million TV deal with CBS caused Richard K. Doan to write that it was "given exclusively to a syndicated gossip columnist." Thank you, sir, it was. "Gossip" once a nasty word, today is just news that hasn't been announced yet . . . But we booted one reporting June Wilkinson married Bob Caplan. She phoned us gently from New Orleans that she's dating Caplan, Stuart Schwartz of Detroit and Bob Steuer, producer, but isn't even engaged: "Maybe I'm chicken."

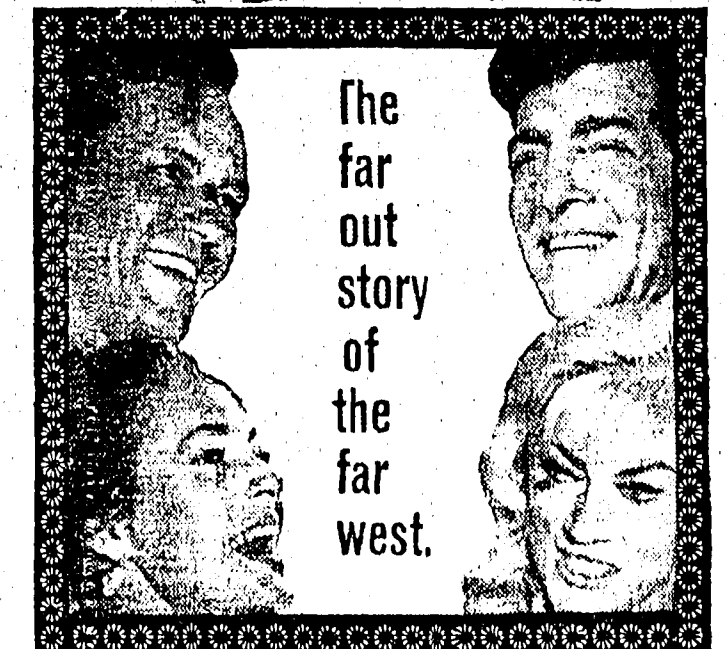

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "If this city raises bus fares again," writes Jack Herbert from Chicago, "I'm gonna start going out with girls in my own neighborhood."

EARL'S PEARLS: In Hollywood, says Tony Webster (author of "The Marriage Counselor"), a marriage is considered successful if both parties can agree on the divorce lawyer.

Robert Horton, who went from the "Wagon Train" TV'er to "110 in the Shade" (set in Kansas), says, "After all those years in a western, I switched to a mid-western." That's earl, brother.

District Court Case Postponed

Continuation until Monday has been ordered for a case that had been scheduled for trial in District Court Tuesday. The $37,000 damage suit brought by Andrew Snyder, 970 W. 3rd St., against John Fitzgerald, 64 Lenox St., and his son, David, will begin at 1:30 p.m. Monday. It was continued until then because of the illness of the plaintiff.

District Judge Leo Murphy ordered the continuation after being informed of the plaintiff's illness by Snyder's attorney. The attorney will file an affidavit stating this reason with Joseph Page, clerk of District Court.

Snyder seeks damages because of an alleged accident Dec. 18, 1961, on East 3rd Street between Market and Franklin streets. He contends that his car was struck by one owned by Fitzgerald and driven by his son.

Joseph Wachowiak was driver of a third car involved in the mishap. His father, Peter Wachowiak, 67 Chatfield St., owner of the third car, has been named as third party defendant in the case.

DEAR ABBY:

Boy, 13, Needs Cheering Up

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I wish they had a law against people adopting a child when they already have one of their own. I am a 13-year-old adopted boy. My parents got me when I was first born. They already had one boy of their own. He was four, and they wanted a companion for him. Well, I was supposed to be it, but I never was. My brother and I never got along. He's a good student and a good athlete and I am neither. I am a big disappointment to my parents and I wish I was dead. It wouldn't be so bad if my brother was adopted, too, but he is their real son and I am not. I don't think adopted kids and flesh and blood kids belong in the same family, do you?

DEAR ADOPTED: Adopted kids belong in any family that wants them. If you are different from your "brother," don't blame it on the fact that you are adopted. You are probably the only one who ever gives it a second thought.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I got a telephone call at 11 o'clock at night from his kid sister, who lives 200 miles from here. She said, "Dick and I are getting married tomorrow. I don't suppose you and Pat (that's me) can drive down for the wedding, huh?" Neither of us had made any arrangements at work so we told her we couldn't make it, wished her good luck on the phone and said goodbye. Our first free week-end we drove down to his home town and his mother was mad at me. She had the idea it was my fault we missed the wedding. When I went into her house she had cut our wedding picture in half and my husband was in a frame all by himself! What would you do?

DEAR PAT: I'd say you were the one who was framed. Skip it.

DEAR ABBY: Our four-year-old son is not left-handed except when it comes to eating. My husband says for me to leave him alone, but I am trying to encourage him to eat with his right hand because I think it looks so clumsy for a person to eat with his left hand. What do you think?

A MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Leave him alone. What's the difference? His mouth is in the middle.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FIGHTING IRISHMAN": There are two kinds of women in the world. The kind a man would die for, and the kind he'd like to outlive.

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

More Military Bases to Close

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara reported Tuesday that a new round of military base closings is expected before the end of March. But he said it will be of less magnitude and involve smaller installations than the closing announced last month.

He told a news conference that "every base we have is in jeopardy in the sense that we don't plan to retain a single one" not required for military purposes. McNamara said he will continue to review the need for every installation.

The list of closings he expects to announce by the end of March will not involve Navy yards, McNamara said.

State Soldier Found Guilty in Alaska Slayings

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—A 25-year-old Minnesota soldier was convicted late Tuesday of the rifle slayings of three men and was sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor.

The verdict against Spec. 5 Kenneth H. Schlomann was returned by 11 officers serving on a general court martial board after hearing 11 days of testimony at nearby Ft. Richardson.

The court, corresponding to a jury in a civilian trial, deliberated one hour and 20 minutes before returning the guilty verdict against Schlomann on five counts. It deliberated another 20 minutes in fixing the penalty at life and imposing a dishonorable Army discharge on the soldier.

Schlomann, a native of Macedonia, Minn., who was stationed at Ft. Wainwright, Alaska, at the time of the slayings, was found guilty of murder without premeditation in the slaying of O.C. Howard, a Fairbanks taxicab driver killed at a skating rink where the shooting spree broke out last July 1.

He was convicted on two counts of murder while attempting robbery in the deaths of T.O. Lenord, manager of the El Rancho Motel at Fairbanks, and George Walker Stockton, 68, a tourist from Brookston, Ind., staying at the motel.

He was acquitted on a charge of attempting to murder Mrs. Lenord, who managed the motel with her husband, but was convicted of aggravated assault. Mrs. Lenord was wounded in the shooting at the motel office. He also was convicted of attempted armed robbery of Mrs. Lenord in the motel.

The defense contended Schlomann was temporarily insane at the time and was not responsible for his actions. The prosecution argued the slayings were the result of a violent temper and that no mental defect led to the killings.

Aviation Committee Has Proud Record

WHEN WILLIAM A. "Bill" Galewski, former mayor, long-time civic worker and the city's "Mr. Airport," relinquished his duties last week as chairman of the Chamber of Commerce aviation committee, it marked the end of an era.

This doesn't mean, however, that he is through with his job of spearheading the city's fight to retain airline service. Far from it. As the city's $1 a year assistant airport manager, he is going to see the fight through until, as he explains it, the Civil Aeronautics Board will no longer threaten small communities like ours with the loss of feeder airline service—the principal reason we received federal assistance in building our airport.

Bill Galewski, as he explained at the final meeting of the old Chamber airport committee last week, has been in this airport-airline service battle for nearly a quarter of a century. He became interested in the early 1940s when he teamed up with the late Roy T. Patneude to get an airport for the city—a civic promotion they regarded just as important as the pioneers felt when they fought to get a railroad through this then rapidly growing Upper Mississippi River city.

THEIR EFFORTS—Patneude and Galewski later dubbed "The Goldust Twins" by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey—were culminated June 18-19, 1949 when the 600 acres of dredged in swampland which today is Max Conrad Field, was officially dedicated in one of the largest—if not the largest—celebrations in the city's history.

The Winona Republican-Herald, in its special airport dedication issue at that time, had this to say about "Bill" and "Pat":

"The Winona airport is a personal history. It is a personal history of two industrious, extremely civic-minded Winona men—Roy T. Patneude and William A. Galewski. No one has surpassed the time and effort these two volunteer workers have contributed to the promotion, financing and construction of the new Winona Municipal Airport.

"It is a matter of record, too, that this all has been entirely without compensation, and that neither of them has ever submitted an expense account. Their friends, however, hazard the estimate that each must have spent several thousand dollars of his own in the promotion."

The newspaper account reiterated how these two men, aided by a hard-working committee, raised more than $60,000 through private subscription to help acquire the land; how they directed a lottery which raised another $14,000 as the city's share in the cost of the administration building; how they fought hard and long for airline service, first with Northwest Airlines, then with Mid-Continent and finally securing North Central, of their struggles and disappointments with the various base operators and repair service organizations; and their long fight with unexcelled help of the City Council and the Winona Industrial Development Association to build the airport's giant hangar.

THE DEDICATION celebration itself—like the celebration when the name of the airport was changed to Max Conrad Field—was a highlight in the city's history. During the 1949 event, more than 50,000 persons saw a terrific demonstration by the Navy's Blue Angels and the Air Force Twin Mustangs, fly-overs by Air Force "Shooting Star" jets and Navy "Phantom" jets as well as displays of aircraft of various kinds. At one time it was estimated more than 150 aircraft were parked on the new field.

Among the celebrities here were Lt. Gen. Edwin W. Rawlings of the Air Force, now board chairman of General Mills, Sens. Edward J. Thye and Humphrey, Rep. August H. Andresen and many, many others.

A similar display of aerial might took place Aug. 30, 1961 when the name of the airport was changed to Max Conrad Field. There was a tremendous show by the U. S. Air Force Thunderbirds. Conrad received a telegram from the late President Kennedy, he was made an honorary colonel in the Air Force by Gen. Curtis LeMay and celebrities from far and wide were on hand for the occasion.

SINCE THE DEATH of Roy Patneude eight years ago, Bill Galewski has continued to carry on the campaign to make the airport a busy and productive one and to retain airline service. He has been assisted by such able men as George E. Kelley, City Attorney G. M. Robertson Jr., members of the City Council aviation committee and many others.

First it was a battle with the CAB on the "Use It or Lose It" program—a program which the city won, and now it is the CAB's "Regional Airport" concept by which it has been proposed the La Crosse airport serve both Winona and the downriver city. Litigation in this case is still pending.

The fight to retain North Central Service and defeat the regional airport concept is continuing and Winona is receiving support from communities throughout the country facing a similar problem.

Galewski, Kelley and the others who have been embroiled in this matter for years are of the firm opinion that a city without an airport or without airline service is a second-rate community. And once airline service is lost, it will be difficult, they say, if not impossible, to recover.

The Chamber of Commerce has made a serious error, in our opinion, by making the new aviation committee a subcommittee of its transportation committee. The aviation committee's record has far out-

EAST AFRICA

Explosion Is Averted

By PATRICK J. MASSEY

LONDON (AP)—A quick swoop by British troops in East Africa appears to have averted, temporarily at least, an explosion of Congo-like anarchy which could have provided a new battle front for communism.

Military mutinies in Kenya, Tanganyika and Uganda last week were crushed by British soldiers summoned by the leaders of the nations, which won independence from British colonial rule in the past three years.

Though the upheavals were suppressed, the tensions behind them simmer on.

IT WAS A mutiny of Congolese troops that touched off the chaos following the Congo's independence in 1960. But the premier of the Congo then, the late Patrice Lumumba, resisted the use of troops from the former colonial power, Belgium. Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya, Julius Nyerere of Tanganyika and Milton Obote of Uganda invited the British troops back, although Nyerere's invitation was issued only after a second outbreak.

Underlying the upheavals is a problem common to any African territory emerging to independence from colonial domination.

Nationalist leaders who fought the long independence battle spurred on their followers with promises of the fine life that freedom would bring. When freedom dawned, it became apparent the fine life might take some time to deliver.

Africans who live on less than $60 a year, the average was in Tanganyika, found the well-paid posts and big houses still occupied by European civil servants and businessmen because there weren't enough Africans qualified to take their places.

HOTELS AND restaurants no longer have any color bar, but their prices keep out all but a wealthy fringe of Africans.

This is particularly true in the armies. African soldiers find they are still taking orders from white officers retained by Nationalist leaders.

In such circumstances there is a tendency for the taste of independence to turn rapidly sour. When trouble erupts like the revolution in Zanzibar two weeks ago, passions are likely to be inflamed across neighboring territories.

The African leaders who called in British troops to support their own authority may find their prestige weakened at home and open to Communist propaganda attack. But for the time being they have averted the chaos in which Communist agents usually find their richest opportunities.

Johnson to Ask Funds For Parochial Schools

By DREW PEARSON

Some of LBJ's old friends say that there must have been too much noise around the Dallas airport when Lyndon took the oath of office as President of the United States.

Perhaps he didn't hear Judge Sarah T. Hughes correctly when she administered the oath to uphold the Constitution.

Because Lyndon has just about decided to disregard one of the most sacred provisions in that Constitution—separation of church and state.

He is planning to propose federal money to parochial schools. That is something John F. Kennedy, a Catholic, never did, nor has any other President of the United States.

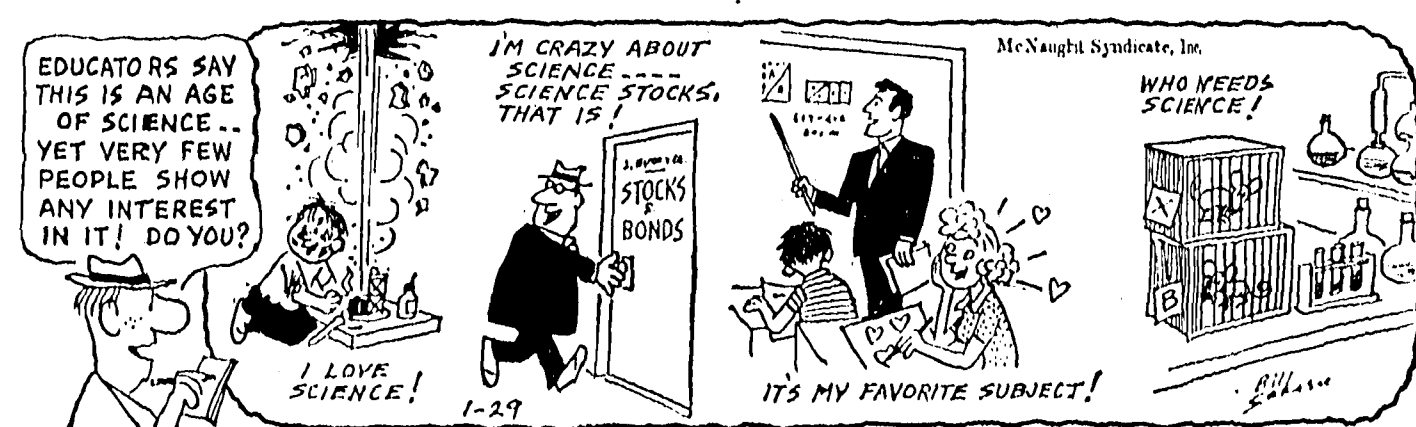

They have been clear-cut and unequivocal about upholding the Constitution. In the past two years the Supreme Court has been overwhelming and emphatic that previous presidents were right, by writing strong decisions against government prayer in public schools. If government-written prayer is taboo, even more unconstitutional is government money for religious schools.

However, some advisers have been telling LBJ that to win the big city Catholic vote, he has to depart from the precedents of other presidents and courts, to say nothing of the Constitution. The FBI was irate over this column's disclosure on Dec. 2, 1963, that the FBI, though fully aware of Lee Oswald's presence in Dallas, had failed to report him to the Secret Service in advance of President Kennedy's arrival. This, I stated, was an important factor in the death of the late President.

THIS WEEK, William Turner, for ten years a G-man, reports in Saga magazine: "Lee Oswald was probably aided by jealousy and lack of cooperation and communication between law enforcement agencies. I learned that a Dallas FBI agent had especially interviewed Oswald only ten days before the assassination. I also learned that eventually the FBI did give the Secret Service a 'risk list' of people the bureau feared might harm the President."

President Johnson is so much more relaxed now that he's become president of his company and doesn't have to think anymore."

How to Pick Vice President

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Almost all of the proposals that have been made recently about picking a vice president in case a vacancy occurs in that office seem to ignore the basic principle on which the American republic was founded—namely that the people should choose both their president and vice president.

Since a vacancy might occur suddenly in the vice presidency and there would be no time for an election, the logical alternative is to place the responsibility of selection on the representatives of the people—the Congress of the United States.

Yet many of the plans now being suggested would give the incoming president himself, instead of Congress, the right to select a possible successor. Also, objections are raised to the idea of letting Congress pick a successor because the majority in both houses might happen to be of a political party different from that of the incumbent president.

But these very phases of the debate now going on reveal a failure to differentiate between an oligarchy and a democracy. There are, for instance, proponents of a plan whereby the President would nominate his own successor and then Congress would be permitted to vote on it. Other plans have been suggested which stipulate that the members of the president's cabinet should form the line of succession. But, somehow or other, very few of the proposals provide that the people should do their own choosing—as is the case in many of the English-speaking democracies throughout the world.

THERE have been some proposals made that two vice presidents should be elected along with the president in national elections every four years. But this would hardly strengthen the chances of getting a good man in the White House in an emergency. In fact, there has been relatively little attention paid in recent years to qualifications of vice-presidential nominees. Now that the debate over presidential succession has arisen, doubtless will be given to whether a vice-presidential aspirant really does have the capacity to make a good president.

But any plan for a constitutional amendment that does not give the people or their representatives in Congress a direct voice in the selection of the president of the United States is bound to be turned down by Congress itself. Any new constitutional amendment could provide that Congress must select a successor to the outgoing vice president within 60 days after the vacancy has occurred. This would give ample time for the members to ascertain public sentiment in their respective districts or states.

AS FOR THE argument that one political party might be in control of Congress while the presidency was of another political complexion, the truth is that, when the nation has elected a majority from one party in both houses of Congress, the will of the people has thus been expressed on national policies. The incumbent party in Congress should, therefore, have the right in an emergency to pick a new vice president. An examination of this country's experience, moreover, with divided government—a Congress of one party and a president of another—only emphasizes the fundamental defect in the existing constitutional system. It is that the people have no means of effecting a change in the executive branch of their government at a time when they may have repudiated at the polls the party of the president and elected instead a majority in both houses of Congress to reflect their wishes.

THE CHIEF reason for the confusion that has resulted from so-called divided government is that members of the House are elected for two years, members of the Senate for six years, and the president for four years. The original purpose was to provide continuity, but it hasn't worked out that way.

There have been many suggestions that the terms of the members of the House be lengthened to four years, and those of the Senate curtailed from six to four years, so that all members of Congress as well as the president would be voted out at the same time.

But, as Woodrow Wilson wrote just a few months after he was elected to the presidency, four years is sometimes too long a term for a president and some times it isn't long enough.

INSTANT SURPRISE

If you could see the expression on a customer's face when I load a KODAK INSTAMATIC Camera and say, "It's ready for shooting," you'd get the same kick out of it that I do.

They all say the same thing: "Well I'll be darned. Look how simple they've made it."

Actually, you can open, load and start shooting with a KODAK INSTAMATIC Camera several seconds quicker than you can describe the motions. It's as fast and easy as one-two-three. Getting rid of that business of threading film through the camera and onto a take-up spool is just about the brightest thing that ever happened to picture-taking. And being able to do it in bright sunlight instead of hunting for a dark corner is pretty good, too.

And that's not the only surprise. If you've been used to giving up on the idea of getting a vertical picture on a slide, a KODAK INSTAMATIC Camera is for you. Kodak solved the problem with a new square format that makes composing slides as easy as composing for prints.

No matter how sophisticated you've become as a photographer, there's a KODAK INSTAMATIC Camera quite suitable for your skills. After all, the cameras do most of the critical "thinking" for you anyway. Automatic exposure control, automatic adjustment to the speed of the film you're using, automatic correction for shooting with flash instead of natural lighting. There's even one model that automatically advances the film so you can shoot a roll of film as fast as you can twitch your finger.

Come down and let me show you!

England's Music Absolutely Awful

The music is absolutely awful — worse, I think, than what one calls from the juke boxes and disc-jockey programs at home. It is Elvis Presley at his worst, but with a nasal cockney accent, or a Liverpool twang. The country has gone mad for a pop group called The Beatles, who comb their hair straight down into their eyes, and the Beatlian influence is very strong. Nearly all songs end with "Yeah, yeah, yeah" now, the crush of the young is much worse than in the old Sinatra mob-scene days. I think one of the troubles with British manhood is that they leave their game on the dance floor. They have always adapted themselves violently to dancing fads, ranging from the vertical-horizontal position, in which the boy and girl glue themselves to each other and don't dance at all, to some of the newer ones when all the activity is down in a half-crouch with both partners nearly kneeling but with pelvis thrust forward and torso flung backwards. Nobody ever seems to go home. Between the Beatles and the Shakes, it is a miracle that anybody finds time to get married.

OF COURSE, it is difficult to say who might want to marry whom. The gentlemen's hairdos run usually longer than the ladies' coiffures, and the costumery is a bit more ghastly than the music which seems to enthrall them. The boys wear drainpipe pants and peculiar vests, and the girls are all wearing floor length straight-up-and-down dresses which give them

A condition of any extension shall be that the purchaser shall be liable to the State for interest on the entire unpaid purchase price at the rate of six (6) percent per annum during the whole term of such extension. MINNESOTA DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION
By: ROBERT J. BROWN
Robert J. Brown,
Deputy Commissioner

the appearance of having answered the door hurriedly in a nightgown. And — I have witnesses — one lady went formal in a long ballroom skirt made of tweed!

It has always been a steady British habit to sneer at the outlandish Yanks — their music, dress, dances, and general tribal customs. I do not think that in the worst stages of the zoot suit-rock 'n roll ice age that we ever approached: our cousins for sheer outlandishness of youthful nonconformity.

EVERY THIRD girl in London today has a pair of high-heeled

"kinky" boots to wear over skin-tight pants. "Kinky" is a popular word at the moment. If you call a girl a "kinky advert" you are being insulting, because a kinky advert is an advertisement meaning that a member of the Christine Keeler cult is willing to perform rather unusual services for a fee.
The girls who are not wearing kinky boots are wearing the most god-awful red and black stockings with peculiar designs. The Beatle cult boys wear needle-toed winkle-picker boots, and everybody has a leather jacket, a bum-freezer (veddy short) or a hacker (veddy long). And, as mentioned, nobody has had a haircut in years. I saw a leading man in a hit play the other night who had his hair literally wrapped round and done in a bun. And this was no costume play.

I CANNOT attempt to describe the popular hair-dos for the girls, but I will say that if you hid an English sheepdog in a haystack you might have some idea of the general effect. Apart from doing the Shakes, the most popular British pastime at the moment is killing each other on the highways during weekends. Alcohol is getting a heavy blame, and the breathalyzer tests lead the situation in Cyprus as a topic. The strip joints are also still going strong, and play to a heavy noon audience of nice old gentlemen with bowler hats. These are the same splendid old parties one hears snoring in the better clubs later on.

BRITAIN IS the most underestimated country in the world. People tend to think of it as dull, but there is more going on, despite the peculiar licensing laws, than in New Orleans in the old Storeville days. The only thing that confuses me is why the English make a point of going to France, when talk-they've got so much action, including the Shakes, in their Tight Little Isle.

A BLESSING
NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP) — A rattling window halted Superior Court proceedings recently. Judge Joseph S. Longo called off the session because the window made so much noise that he couldn't hear the lawyers talk.

Locker Plant, Gamble Store Burn at Lyle

LYLE, Minn. (AP) — Fire heavily damaged the Lyle locker plant and the adjoining Gamble Store Tuesday night.

Lyle volunteers called for help from nearby London, Austin, 12 miles north of here, and St. Ansgar, Iowa, on the Minnesota border to keep flames from hitting other downtown business places.

Firemen said the blaze broke through the roof of the one-story locker plant, where it started, but appeared to have been confined to the first of two floors in the Gamble structure. No one was in the buildings when the first alarm was sounded shortly before 10 p.m.

By coincidence, the Gamble building had been rebuilt after a 1961 blaze which started there and spread to the locker installation.

Minneapolis Man Dead in Collision

ST. PAUL (AP) — A collision of automobiles Tuesday night in suburban Roseville killed a Minneapolis man, Winfred M. Jansen, 33, and injured three other persons.

The death raised Minnesota's 1964 traffic toll to 38, the same as a year ago.

The Ramsey County sheriff's office said Richard Steadman, 21, Minneapolis, and Lloyd Pohls, 28, Roseville, in the car of which Jansen was an occupant, were injured and hospitalized, as was Howard N. Ivey, 47, Roseville, who was alone in the second car involved.

Business Pulse Strong, Steady

WASHINGTON (AP) — Experts of the Federal Reserve Board have taken the pulse of the three-year-old business expansion and found it stronger and steadier than that of earlier, more spectacular postwar recoveries.

The monthly reserve bulletin said Tuesday that the four key components which can cause flutters in the economy have remained on a generally rising plane during this recovery, compared to rather wide fluctuations in the 1953-57 and 1958-60 expansion periods.

These key components are consumer durable goods — such as automobiles and appliances — residential construction, business investment and federal government purchases.

Seven Picked for Beckwith Jury

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The jury in the Byron de La Beckwith murder trial remained all white and five men shy today.

In two days of tedious interrogation of prospective jurors, seven had been finally accepted. The 32 turned back included one of the seven Negroes on the special venire.

Beckwith, a 43-year-old ex-Marine from Greenwood, was a little less dapper and showed signs of impatience as the legal wheels ground slowly through the preliminaries.

He is charged with lying in ambush to murder Medgar Evers, 37, state field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Teachers Need Solid Knowledge

LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.
Professor of Education,
University of S. C.

Some Questions and Answers:
Dear Dr. Nason:

There has been a lot said of late that teacher training should place more emphasis on the subject matter taught, and less on the methods courses.

I can see where this would be an advantage for one planning to teach in junior or senior high school, but what of those in the elementary school field where we are required to teach the entire program of all subjects on one grade-level? Do they need great concentration in any one subject?

C. P., Tampa, Fla.

Learning habits are acquired in the elementary school. Teachers who have majored in an academic subject at the college level have necessarily learned to organize knowledge. Having practiced this skill they are better able to pass it on to their students.

An elementary teacher with a thorough knowledge in any specific field finds it easier to gain background in each of the many fields touched upon in a single grade.

There is no substitute for a well-trained mind.

Dear Dr. Nason:

Our daughter is in the third grade. About twice a week she has homework assignments which take up an hour or two of her time. I feel sure that without my insistence she would not keep working at them long enough to complete them. They certainly cut into her play time.

Is this too much homework?

A. R., Long Beach, Calif.

Answer:

It is generally agreed that 15 or 25 minutes of homework two days a week can be beneficial to third-graders. It is difficult for teachers to know how long the homework assignment will take any individual child. What one child can do in six minutes may take another an hour.

If your child is slow by habit she needs help in learning to speed up her work. If she is a child who works rapidly her assignments are too long for a third-grader.

Dear Dr. Nason:

I have a problem with my 16-year-old daughter who is in third year high school. She hates history.

All my lectures on getting a diploma and finishing her education seem to do no good. I have tried all sorts of discipline.

What can I do to get her to concentrate her efforts on this subject so that she can graduate?

Mrs. L. K.,
Red Bank, N. J.

Answer:

Lectures seldom help! Your daughter must have a plan for overcoming her problem. She

Newspaper Food Pages Draw 80% Of Women

NEW YORK — A preliminary report based on a new research study shows that women today depend on editorial copy and advertisements pertaining to food subjects in making buying decisions much more than has been generally assumed.

The study, recently completed for the Bureau of Advertising, derives its information from interviews with women in 40 cities across the nation.

The fact that eight out of ten women look at food ads before making a shopping trip, was one of the more significant findings reported by Jack Kaufman, executive vice president of the Bureau. Of this number, 90 percent buy one or more of the advertised items. Also, 80 percent of the women shoppers take special note of advertised features and nearly that same number will shop at stores carrying the featured items.

Other statistics from the survey show that 75 percent of the women are interested in food recipes in newspapers and that 60 percent of them clip recipes for reference.

Kaufman pointed out that food advertising has to work a lot harder today — supermarkets carry some six or seven thousand items as compared to half that number a few years ago, and national brands must compete with regional and private labels.

"There is growing evidence of consumer indifference and confusion over which brand to buy and try," he said. "Getting through to the consumer is one of the major problems facing food manufacturers today. It's up to the advertiser to dispel the confusion."

Supper at Eyota

EYOTA, Minn. (Special) — Walter Lund, commander of Eyota American Legion Post 551, announced the post will hold a hamburger fry Sunday evening at the Legion Hall. Proceeds will be used to send a boy to Boys State.

Shoplifting Deposit

Mrs. Evelyn Smocke, 718 E. Howard St., forfeited $35 when she failed to appear to stand trial for shoplifting. She was charged at 6:35 p.m. Tuesday after her citizen's arrest at the Broadway Super Saver, where she allegedly stole several small articles.

Society for Crippled Plans '64 Activities

The Winona County unit of the Minnesota Society for Crippled Children and Adults, pointing toward its annual drive for funds, said that another day camp will be held here in 1964.

During 1963 a boy was sent to Camp Courage and the first day camp was launched here.

Attending Camp Courage near Annandale for the second time was Elmer Nederhoff, 15. He is able to walk without crutches but has a brace on his left leg because of the effects of polio.

In the all-camp Olympics, Elmer received two second-place ribbons, one for riflery and one for sculpture.

DIRECTING THE day camp here July 15-26 was Mrs. Roger Zehren, 264 W. Broadway. Previously she had directed a crippled children's school in St. Paul.

Between 13-17 children attended sessions of the two-week camp. They ranged from 7 to 14. Of these one was blind, one deaf, four had cerebral palsy, one spina-bifida (no sensation from waist down), three or four were post-polio, two had rheumatic fever and one had muscular dystrophy. Several wore long leg braces and two were confined to wheelchairs.

There were no mentally retarded children in this group; all children must be educable. One of the children at the camp had an I.Q. of 145.

Various civic and city organizations, as well as individuals, helped sponsor the camp in Latsch Prairie Island Park.

IT IS HOPED that the rural children will participate in the camp next summer; two came from St. Charles last year.

La Crosse 'Man of Year' Dr. Mitchell

LA CROSSE, Wis. (Special) — Dr. Rexford Mitchell, who was named president of La Crosse State College 25 years ago when the institution had 203 students, was honored Tuesday night as La Crosse's "Man of the Year."

More than 1,400 persons attended the testimonial dinner at which the award was presented by the La Crosse Chamber of Commerce. La Crosse State, a teachers' college when Mitchell became president, now has 2,325 students.

Aquinas Winner Of Debate Meet At Cotter High

Undeclared in three rounds of debate, Aquinas High School of La Crosse was the winner Saturday of a practice debate tournament for beginning debaters at Cotter High School here.

The Aquinas affirmative and negative teams posted six wins to edge runnerup St. Charles High School.

Other schools participating were Winona Senior High School and Cotter.

St. Felix of Wabasha was to have sent a squad to the tournament but unfavorable road conditions prompted school officials to cancel the trip. Cotter entered a substitute team to replace St. Felix.

Members of the Cotter Debate Club served as timekeepers and tallied ballots.

The tournament was for students in their first year of debate.

Voice of the Outdoors

Fish Houses Damaged
The cutting northern wind that blew 30 miles per hour with gusts up to 50 over the weekend, deroofed quite a few fishing shacks exposed on open stretches of sloughs. In the Trempealeau lakes area more than a dozen reported wind damage. In some cases, shacks of light construction were moved and flattened.

Locally, some of the shacks along Straight Slough off Prairie Island, and at Frog Island across from the elevator, were striped of roofs, doors and paper siding. On Lake Pepin where a house was not well anchored or banked with frozen snow, the wind moved the structures some distance. However, the number of fishing shacks on the lake is again down this year.

The wind had a strange action on the ice, according to one fisherman who fished Saturday on the ice at Fountain City Bay. It caused a wave action under the ice that caused water to come up in the holes cut for fishing in the houses. This may sound funny or like a tall tale, but it is true. The wind blowing over the ice caused a rocking motion, hardly noticeable on the surface, but of sufficient strength to cause a wave-like motion in the water underneath the ice. Commercial fishermen experience it on days like last Saturday.

New Pilot-Agent
Southern Minnesota has been given a federal game agent who will cover the area by plane. Glenn V. Orton, a game management agent pilot, has been transferred from Mitchell, S.D., to Mankato. He will be federal game agent for most of Southern Minnesota.

Orton, who is 38, is a native Minnesotan and a World War II Air Force pilot who has been with the warden service since 1951, first serving in North Dakota, then transferring to Alaska in 1956. He has been stationed in South Dakota since 1960. He was born at St. Cloud.

Feed the Birds

Most area residents who maintain bird feeders have noticed an increasing number of birds around the feeders the past week. Cold weather and the necessity for more to eat to keep warm, have been the reasons for these new visitors to a source of easy eating.

Wisconsin conservation wardens are now carrying around in their cars sacks of grain to stock feeders put out for pheasants and to supply 4-H clubs and school groups who cooperate in bird feeding projects.

"There is no critical need for feeding at the present time," Stanley Apel, Buffalo County warden, said today. "The snow is pretty well blown off fields and natural foods like wheat corn and weed seed are available. It is not frozen into the ground."

However, bird feeding during cold weather helps birds to maintain their body temperatures and enables them to remain healthy. Once feeding is started, it should be continued. The birds become dependent on feeders as their source of food.

No Eau Galle Contest

One of the older fishing contests in this area has been discontinued. The Eau Galle Sportsmen's Club has voted to discontinue its contest on Lake Eau Galle as a fund raising event. It will try a new summertime project this year.

The Lake Eau Galle fishing contest, largely for panfish, drew from a large area of Western Wisconsin at one time, but has not been too productive the last couple of years. The contest will be missed, however, by a lot of fishermen who had fun there every winter.

Personal Property Tax Reform Asked At Bemidji Rally

BEMIDJI, Minn. (AP) — The personal property tax, in effect, forces a three-month shutdown of Nu-Ply Corp., Bemidji wood-working firm that is Bemidji's largest industry.

Paul Barthelmy, manager of the firm, told the Interim Tax Study Commission Tuesday that his company buys no timber after Jan. 1 but instead works off its inventory against the May 1 personal property deadline.

Barthelmy's testimony came before a jam-packed audience of more than 350 farmers, businessmen, merchants, implement dealers, resort and motel operators, housewives and local government officials.

The consensus of all was that tax reform is greatly needed. Of 21 of the 50 witnesses who made their views known, 16 voiced favor for a sales tax as a replacement levy.

Sen. Donald O. Wright, Minneapolis, commission chairman, said the turnout here was greater than at either of the group's two previous sessions, at St. Cloud and Fairmont. He said the next meeting would be held in WINONA in late February but set no date immediately.

Barthelmy pointed out that pulpwood and timber his firm uses could be cut and hauled more economically in winter.

"But with the May 1 tax deadline in mind, we have to shut down buying Jan. 1 and start processing the material in hand in order to reach our minimum inventory in late April," he said.

His plant employs 55 men for nine months of the year and could level out employment if it wasn't for the tax problem, Barthelmy told the commission.

Barthelmy said there was a "perpetual supply" of aspen, the wood his firm uses most, in the Bemidji area, a supply he estimated could furnish raw material for 10 companies the size of his.

"But it's doubtful if any more will come in in view of the tax picture," he said. He added that his firm gets 88 per cent of its gross revenues from outside the state, spends 75 per cent of its disbursements within the state, mostly for labor and raw material.

Albert Williams, 75, figures he may have the world's biggest bargain in a hoe.

The one he uses was bought in 1916 for 45 cents. The blade of the hoe is two inches narrower than it was, from years of sharpening, but it still has its original handle.

Caledonia broke open a close game with a fourth-quarter surge and whipped Canton 66-52.

The Warriors led only 46-41 going into the final eight minutes, but hit 20 points in the final frame.

Mike Percuoco scored 28 points and Jim Harris added 18 for the winners. Lynn Dale Turner tallied 17 for Canton and did a fine job in the rebounding department. Don Halvorson hit 10.

Paul Renslo anchored the Caledonia defense, while John Ask did a yeoman's job under the boards. Caledonia also won the "B" game 55-37.

HOUSTON 61
SPRING GROVE 62
A spinning layup by Bruce Carrier with less than 10 seconds to play gave Houston a 64-62 verdict over Spring Grove and pushed the Hurricanes into third place in the league.

Houston had squandered a 49-42 third-period lead before Carrier's bucket pulled it out. Tom Kunningham meshed 18 points for Houston. He was helped out by the Bremseth brothers, Steve and Bob, with 15 and 12 points, respectively.

Mel Homuth took game honors with 25 markers for the Grovers. Wayne Gulbranson added 13 and Gary Glasrud 12.

Dave Wickersham and Orlando Pena led the Kansas City pitchers in victories last season, each getting 12.

Badger Rally Trips Marquette

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Wisconsin survived a flock of errors and outbatted Marquette down the stretch for a 7-6 victory Tuesday night in a game of give-away between exponents of race-horse basketball.

The Badgers trailed by as much as 13 points late in the first half but then capitalized as Marquette lost its shooting sights and pulled out the triumph before a near capacity crowd of 10,448 at the Arena.

Wisconsin scored eight straight points to cut a deficit to 39-34 at the intermission. The Warriors then boosted their advantage back to seven points, 48-41, before gradually wilting under the Wisconsin attack.

Dave Grams, a set shot artist from Monroe, kept the Badgers within hailing distance, until fouling out with 7:15 remaining. His departure only seemed to inspire his mates and Capt. Mike O'Melia tied the game with a driving layup with four minutes left. Ken Gustafson, a sophomore who had failed to score a field goal in his last two games, then hit on a layup and a hook to put Wisconsin in command.

Standouts for the evening were: Roland Stover, Bill Laurie, John Glenn, Dr. Jim Tester, Stan Rosen, Loyal Hosack and Harv Robinson.
