Florida Air Crash Kills 10

2 Clitherall Men Dead in Plane Crash

HENNING, Minn. (AP) — Federal Aviation Authority investigators and Otter Tail County authorities sought today to learn what caused a light airplane to crash, bringing death to two Clitherall, Minn., men.

Bodies of Richard E. Nelson, 53, a resort operator, and Arnold Lukken, 43, a contractor, were found Sunday in the wrecked aircraft.

The two had been hunting fox and failed to return home Saturday night. The Civil Air Patrol sent up 20 planes from Alexandria Sunday morning in a search mission.

The wreckage was discovered, however, by a farmer. Herman Cordes came upon the crashed plane on his farm, six miles north of Henning in eastern Otter Tail County.

The nose of the plane was buried in the ground, indicating to investigators that the ship likely stalled and then nosed to earth. The engine was jammed into the cabin.

Nelson, Clitherall, Minn. resort operator, and Arnold Lukken, 43, Clitherall contractor. Several planes took part in a search when the men failed to return from a Saturday hunt. (AP Photofax)

Bursts Into Flame After Taking Off

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—A South Central Airline twin-engine passenger plane burst into flames immediately after takeoff today and crashed, killing at least 10 persons.

The Beechcraft plane was Flight 510 which originated in Ocala and was en route to Jacksonville.

D. M. Carroll, a city employee, said:

"It looked like the plane was about 200 feet high. The left-hand motor cut off and the engine made a whining sound. The plane turned on its left side, just like a plane circles an airport when it's way up in the air. Then it hit the runway and exploded and burst into flames."

The Federal Aviation Administration in Miami said there were 10 persons aboard the plane.

South Central serves small cities in Florida, Georgia and the Carolinas. It has a fleet of eight of the twin-engine Beechcrafts.

'Lyndon Johnson' Greets Goldwater

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — About 75 persons, mostly young people, were at the Twin Cities airport to greet Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona when he arrived today.

Among the first to greet him was Lyndon Johnson, Mankato State College student and Goldwater supporter.

The student group carried banners labeled "Welcome Barry" and "Goldwater '64."

The official greeting party included Clifford Sommer of Owatonna, national treasurer of the Goldwater for President organization, William McFadden of Minneapolis, former Minnesota chairman, Robert Forsythe, GOP state chairman; Mrs. Nancy Brattas of Rochester, State GOP chairwoman, and Rhoda Lund and George Etzel, Republican national committee members for Minnesota.

Goldwater, promptly nixed the suggestion Sunday, and Eugene F. Trumble of Minneapolis, an official of the Judd group, said the proposal would be given directly to Goldwater today "at the first opportunity."

The exchange came just a day before the first of the 3,785 GOP precinct caucuses were to begin.

The caucuses scheduled from today through Feb. 11 are the first step in selecting the 26 delegates and 26 alternates who will vote for Minnesota Republicans on a presidential nominee at the national GOP convention in July. The precinct meetings were expected to produce a test of strength in the struggle between Judd and Goldwater forces, the more actively organized camps.

Trumble said the appeal to Goldwater was planned in the interest of party unity. Holes saw it as a "stop Goldwater movement," an attempt to Stop Pussyfooting, Nixon Declares

MISENHEIMER, N.C. (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said today the United States should not "pussyfoot" around on the question of neutralizing Southeast Asia.

"A neutral Vietnam, with the tremendous power of the Chinese Communists to the north" would be in severe danger, Nixon told a Pfeiffer College convocation of 1,600 persons.

"keep people from expressing their desire for a presidential candidate of their choice at the precinct caucuses." He described it as an effort "by the astute politicians who are guiding the so-called Judd favorite son movement" to divert attention from Goldwater.

Said Holes, "I have every reason to believe that Barry Goldwater would refuse such an abortive attempt to throttle a free choice."

The Nevada senator, the GOP's "Mr. Conservative," was to address about 1,200 persons at a luncheon here, then meet with Republican leaders at a series of afternoon meetings. A news conference was scheduled at 3:30 p.m. and he speaks this evening at a rally at Macalester College, St. Paul, with about 2,000 expected to hear his talk.

The rally is sponsored by the Macalester College Goldwater Club. Assisting are the University of Minnesota Goldwater Club, the Macalester College Republican Club and the Minnesota Youth for Goldwater Committee.

Erhard Aide Kills Self

DORTMUND, Germany (AP) — Ewald Peters, chief security officer for Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, committed suicide in jail, the state prosecutor's office announced today.

Peters was arrested Saturday on suspicion of having killed Jews in Russia during World War II.

Peters was one of two leading members of Erhard's government accused of war crimes. Refugee Minister Hans Krueger resigned Saturday, saying he had committed no crimes, but did not want to damage the government.

The government is investigating Communist charges that Krueger committed war crimes during the Nazi occupation of Poland.

Says Johnson Administration Is Fumbling

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater charged today the U.S.-backed war on Communist rebels in South Viet Nam is "drifting toward disaster."

He said U.S. policy on the dispute over the Panama Canal is "stuck in the mud of indecision."

Campaigning for the Republican presidential nomination, the Arizona Senator blamed the Johnson administration for current troubles in the Southeast Asian and Latin American crisis spots.

"I charge that this administration is fumbling, is failing," said Goldwater. "I charge that freedom is falling around the world."

It was Goldwater's toughest campaign attack on administration foreign policy.

The Senator went after Minnesota's 26 GOP convention votes with a crowded afternoon campaign schedule in Minneapolis and St. Paul.

He tackled Johnson's foreign policy in an address prepared for a luncheon gathering of his Minnesota backers.

"There is a new coup in South Viet Nam and the war there is drifting toward disaster," Goldwater said. "Where is the administration? Still off making promises to buy votes at home while the world smolders and burns."

"And how can we expect the same administration, the same foreign policy fumbler who neutralized Laos — how can we expect them to do better in Viet Nam?" he asked.

On the crisis over the Panama Canal, he asked: "Where has Lyndon been while Panama burned? Fiddling with his political promises, telling the nation that Republican criticism amuses him — or maybe listening to his Bobby Baker stereo set."

Dealing with Cuba, he said the U.S. wall of isolation "that was supposed to keep it from deporting murder and subversion throughout Latin America... crumbled even as it was being built."

Senate Gets Down to Work On Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted 55-25 today to knock out of the House tax cut bill the reduction in capital gains rates on assets held longer than two years.

The initial roll call test on the $11.6-billion tax cut measure thus resulted in a victory for President Johnson. This was the only major change the administration asked in the House version.

Under the House capital gains provision, profits realized from sale of stock, real estate or other capital assets held two years or more would be taxed up to 40 percent of the normal income tax rates up to a 21 percent maximum levy.

It would retain the present rates, 50 percent of the regular levy up to a 25 percent ceiling, on gains from sale of assets held from six months to two years. Gains from sale of assets held less than six months are taxed at regular income rates.

Debate on the top priority $11.6-billion administration measure began Thursday, but only a few speeches have been made on it so far.

However, Senate leaders put their colleagues on notice that there would be long sessions all this week in an attempt to pass the measure by Saturday and send it to conference with the House.

Democratic leaders held some hope of finishing by Thursday night.

It appeared likely that there would be only five or six major floor battles on the bill and that these would not involve the most important provisions.

A proposal by Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., to allow a tax break on college education costs is up for debate today, with a vote expected Tuesday.

HARRIS SURVEY

N.H. Poll Startling

By LOUIS HARRIS

Sen. Barry Goldwater clings to a narrowing lead in the key New Hampshire primary, according to a just-completed survey of Republicans likely to vote in the nation's first primary election on March 10.

In a two-man race against New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, Goldwater is ahead 54-46 percent. His margin has dropped 8 percentage points, however, in the past two months.

More significantly perhaps, the much-publicized "show-down" in New Hampshire looks now as if it could well end with an inclusive result: Four in 10 Republicans indicate that they are thinking of writing in the names of candidates other than Goldwater or Rockefeller.

When all the leading GOP potential nominees are put before the voters, moreover, Rockefeller and Goldwater together command the support of only three in 10 Republicans in the Granite state. New Hampshire Republicans would much prefer, according to our interviews, to see either Henry Cabot Lodge or Richard Nixon as their party's standard-bearer.

In the head-to-head contest between the two heaviest campaigners, what looked like a potential runaway for the Arizona senator last November is now a closer match:

Goldwater-Rockefeller Trend	Today	Nov.
"Undecided"	46	53
Included	39	33
Without	15	14

The comeback of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller looks dramatic and even startling at first glance, but much of the edge of the seeming Rockefeller recovery is taken off by two other sets of factors highlighted in this intensive survey of a carefully drawn cross-section of New Hampshire Republicans.

The primary ballot has been complicated by the candidacies of Harold Stassen and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith. And when potential write-ins are added to the hard-core vote for the declared candidates, New Hampshire preferences become widely scattered.

Total GOP Voters	%
Goldwater	29
Rockefeller	23
Lodge (write-in)	19
Nixon (write-in)	12
Romney (write-in)	2
Scranton (write-in)	2
Smith	1
Stassen	1
Not sure	11

The two front runners, Goldwater and Rockefeller, can only count on winning a bare majority here between them. It is difficult to gauge accurately what proportion of those who would like to cast a write-in vote actually manage to do so on March 10.

But with Lodge appealing to almost one in five voters as a write-in candidate, and with Nixon getting another one in eight on the same basis, any approximation of these percentages on primary day would take the gloss off a victory by either of the present front-runners. The relatively weak standing of the declared candidates in New Hampshire is clearly documented when Republicans are asked to state their first-choice preference, independent of the way names will be listed on the ballot March 10:

First Choices—Total Filled	%
Nixon	29
Lodge	23
Goldwater	13
Rockefeller	12
Romney	3
Scranton	3
Mrs. Smith	1
Stassen	1
Not sure	5

Nixon and Lodge plainly dominate the field—well ahead of the formal candidates. Their individual pulling power with New Hampshire Republicans is proven beyond doubt when either is pitted against Goldwater and Rockefeller in three-way contests:

Three-Way Race Including Nixon	Today	Nov.
Nixon	50	41
Goldwater	28	39
Rockefeller	22	20

Thus the peculiarities of the New Hampshire ballot may well obscure the real feeling of New Hampshire Republicans who vote in the March 10 primary.

Mrs. Marina Oswald
Convinced Husband Killed Kennedy

Presidential Panel Questions Mrs. Oswald

WASHINGTON (AP)—A presidential panel today questioned the young widow of Lee Harvey Oswald on what she knows about the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The first witness to appear before the commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, blonde Russian-born Marina Oswald had been living in seclusion since the slaying of her husband Nov. 24, two days after the President was murdered.

Mrs. Oswald, 22, has been under the custody of Secret Service agents and several presumably were aboard the plane which carried her to Washington Sunday night from Dallas. Other agents were at National Airport when she arrived.

The Warren commission has said Mrs. Oswald is testifying voluntarily. Plans originally were to hear her in Dallas. Tuesday in a copyrighted interview with radio-television station KRLD, Dallas, Mrs. Oswald said she was convinced her husband had killed Kennedy.

Oswald, 24, had been charged with the assassination of Kennedy, the fatal shooting of Dallas policeman J. D. Tippitt and the attempted murder of Texas Gov. John B. Connally, who was wounded in the attack on the President.

Ranger 6 Hits Moon, Cameras Aboard Fail

By DIAL TORGERSON
PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Space scientists sifted through coded tapes today in a search for the reason why spacecraft Ranger 6 plunged into the moon with its cameras blind to the wonders of the lunar landscape.

The agonizing end to a 66-hour flight came at 1:24 a.m. (PST) Sunday when Ranger 6 reached its historic rendezvous — and six television cameras aboard wouldn't function.

Laboratory directors went ahead with plans for Ranger 7's flight — an identical photo mission — pointing out that the Ranger series is designed to gather information needed for manned U.S. landings planned later this decade.

The fruitless journey of Ranger 6 was the sixth straight failure in the Ranger program.

The cost to date: $168 million — figures at $28 million a shot. Ranger 6 was the first of the costly spacecraft to complete the difficult moon-approach maneuver faultlessly—which made the blind crash even more frustrating for its designers.

The camera system was considered one of the simplest mechanisms on the 804-pound spacecraft.

It was turned on by a command flashed from the ground. There was also an automatic timer aboard to do the job. Ranger radioed back word that the order had been received at 1:09 a.m. (PST), as it was nearing the end of a 5,000 m.p.h. plus plunge toward the moon's Sea of Tranquility.

Newsman and engineers gathered in a big room at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, listened to the tone of Ranger's radio signal as it was being amplified through loudspeakers.

Then — when the five-minute warm-up period was over — the emotionless voice of a project engineer announced the first sign that all was not well:

"There is no indication of full video power."

Then, for a tense 600 seconds, the hushed crowd listened to the tone of Ranger's death song, and the engineer's words that it was unavailing:

"Seven minutes to impact — still no video."
"Six minutes to impact—still waiting for video power."
"Five minutes to impact... three minutes—no video."
"One minute to impact — no indication of full power."

And then:
"Five seconds — four—Three—two—one."
Suddenly the musical radio tone ceased.

"Impact! Impact!"
And then:
"No video."

A check of Ranger's radioed messages showed no sign of the code which, run through a computer, would have produced earth's first closeup pictures of the moon. Russia's Lunik 3 photographed the back side of the moon, but from a distance of more than 4,000 miles.

In the world's big observatories, astronomers watched the moon at impact time to see if the crash would produce a flash of light or a puff of moon dust visible from earth.

There was only one report of a possible sighting. At Lowell Observatory in Flagstaff, Ariz., Dr. Karl J. Jansky, watching with a 21-inch reflector, said he saw a flash of light 50 or 60 miles from the point of impact 90 seconds prior to the impact time.

But the city's 850 schools remained open in the face of the demonstration — even those in institutions with high absenteeism and some teachers marching in the civil rights picket lines.

Shortly after class bells rang, authorities reported only about 2,700 pickets outside 300 schools. This was far short of the 8,000 pickets the demonstration leaders had anticipated.

A spot check by the Board of Education at 27 schools showed pupil absenteeism running from none to more than one-third.

Normal daily absenteeism is about 100,000.

The demonstration started throughout the city without violence. About 2,000 policemen were assigned to schools and another 6,000 were ready for duty if needed.

The boycott and picketing dramatized minority group dissatisfaction with the Board of Education's plan for coping with school racial imbalances resulting from living patterns.

Sponsors of the protest declared that the board's intention to start busing children from one neighborhood school to another next fall is not far-reaching enough.

Colored Students In N.Y. Boycott

By JUNIUS GRIFFIN
NEW YORK (AP) — Thousands of Negro and Puerto Rican children, joined by many white sympathizers, boycotted the nation's largest public school system today demanding total integration.

A spokesman for the one-day protest movement estimated that 262,000 pupils participated — about 65 per cent of the Puerto Ricans and Negroes among the one million pupils in New York City schools.

15 Injured in Two-Car Crash

DARLINGTON, Wis. (AP) — Fifteen persons were injured Sunday when two cars collided almost head-on, but only five remained in a hospital today and they were reported in satisfactory condition.

The crash occurred, police said, when cars driven by Mrs. Mable Peacock of Shullsburg and William Klemm, 18, of Monroe, collided on Highway 11 about six miles south of this Lafayette County community.

Mrs. Peacock remained in Darlington hospital along with four others. They are Joseph Ripp, 13, and Gerhart Stricker, 12, both of Monroe; and Charlene Layne, 14, and Ronnie Bradley, 12, both of Shullsburg.

Occupants of the Klemm vehicle besides Ripp and Stricker were James Fritz, 15, Randy Schwartz, 12, John Gerhardt, 13, and another passenger who was taken home by his parents and unidentified.

Those in Mrs. Peacock's car besides Bradley and Miss Layne were Shirley and Betty Klotz, Kay Holland, Sharon Teutschmann and Charles Melcher, all of Shullsburg.

DEAR ABBY:

More Than Wash Dirty

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Just before Christmas two ladies came into the laundrette and covered all the tables with wrapping paper, ribbons, etc., and while their clothes were being washed they wrapped Christmas gifts. When my clothes were dry, I asked politely if I could use one of the tables to fold my sheets and blankets. I can't quote their replies, but I guarantee you that if these women had been men I would have punched them both right in the mouth. When my wife saw the laundry all wrinkled and unfolded, her face got as red as her hair. She said I should have called the owner of the place or the police. I said a gentleman wouldn't have done such a thing. She said when a woman shows that she is no lady, a man is relieved of the obligation to act like a gentleman. We'd like your opinion.

Abby
PHIL IN TOPEKA

DEAR PHIL: A gentleman acts like a gentleman even when a woman acts like a slob. A woman would never try to pull that stunt on another woman.

DEAR ABBY: A girl in our dorm is knitting a sweater for her "boy friend." She is the laughingstock of the dorm because this boy has been playing her for a sucker all year. He dates other girls, and when he does ask her for a date, he usually breaks it at the last minute with some phony alibi, but she always forgives him. How can we get her to realize that she is wasting her time?

CONCERNED AT BIRNKRAH HALL

DEAR CONCERNED: Don't waste yours. Apparently the girl likes wool — both the kind that goes into a sweater and the kind that is pulled over the eyes.

DEAR ABBY: I can't understand how women who don't earn any money of their own can go around bragging about the "gifts" they give their husbands. A non-working wife gets every dime she spends from her husband, doesn't she? So, isn't it the same as buying him a gift with HIS money?

JERRY

DEAR JERRY: Not necessarily. If a wife can save a little out of the grocery money by careful budgeting and frugal buying, the money she saves is hers. And if she wants to spend it on a gift for her husband, it's a gift in every sense of the word.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MARCIA S. AND BEV C.: No one is compelled to prove his innocence. The burden of proof is on the accuser.

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Nixon Speaks in North Carolina

MISENHEIMER, N.C. (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, on a "strictly nonpolitical" trip to North Carolina, speaks on foreign affairs today at Pfeiffer College.

Nixon, who flew to Greensboro Sunday from New York, took 25 minutes to move through a large crowd that met him at the airport. He told newsmen he didn't expect to be a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, but reiterated that he would do "whatever is necessary to help select the strongest candidate and to elect him."

BOYLE'S COLUMN

Orderly Person Annoying

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little ordeals to the disorganized mass of mankind is the orderly person.

The orderly person is the lint picker of the human race, the emperor of the pigeon hole.

He believes everything has its proper place, and if he can't find any other place for it he puts it in the waste basket.

Neatness often is praised as a virtue whereas, in fact, it more often is a vice—if not a down-right sin.

There are basically only two types of people—the hoarders and the discards.

The hoarders are the clutter-bugs of this world. They are normal.

They never throw anything away. Anything that happens to them is worth saving—be it a tooth broken in kindergarten, a love letter received in college, or a pair of combat boots worn in war.

The hoarder is afraid to throw anything away because he never knows when it might turn out to be useful. His voyage through existence becomes happily baggage-ridden, and whenever he takes a fresh step he creates a new debris.

The orderly person, on the other hand, is a fellow who turns something into nothing. He is like a man trying to bail himself out of a sinking lifeboat. He is so busy throwing things away that when he finally departs it is as if he had never been there.

In my opinion the compulsively neat person is the victim of an inhuman malady. This has to be there, that has to be there—and before he goes to sleep at night he has to write little memos to himself about how he will organize tomorrow. It is as if he were deathly afraid of life's natural spontaneity.

He lives in a world held together by paper clips. His desk at the office always looks as if it had just been born, his home wears the antiseptic air of a surgeon's arena. He doesn't inhabit life—he just goes through it.

The neat person is never satisfied with his own neatness; he must inflict it on others. He is abnormal; he is a fanatic.

One of the great beauties of life is its disorder, and chaos is an inescapable part of living. This world is more than a vast laundry. It is a great and continuing salvage operation, and anything that happens to one is worth holding on to.

My motto is: "Don't throw it away. Whatever it is, keep it. You may want to admire it later."

Parachutist Badly Hurt In Mishap

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Parachutist Fred Hastings, 29, of Louisville was in serious condition today after he plunged 5,500 feet to the ground at Seymour, Ind.

Hastings, making his 41st jump with the Kentucky Parachute Association, landed feet first in a soft, wet field Sunday.

James Tittle of Louisville, another jumper who was watching from the ground, said Hastings was saved from death when his reserve parachute blossomed briefly.

Tittle said Hastings was to fall free for about 20 seconds before pulling his parachute cord at about 3,000 feet. Hastings was falling face down in a spread-eagle position when the cord was pulled. The parachute failed to open properly.

Tittle said Hastings was jerked up and pulled the cord on a safety parachute. The second parachute became entangled in the first one until near the end of the plunge.

Beekeepers Elect Cannon Falls Man

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Robert Banker, Cannon Falls, Minn., was elected president of the American Beekeeping Federation as it wound up its annual meeting Friday.

Banker, who succeeded Glen Gibson, Minn., defeated Edmund Verney, Sheridan, Wyo., who had been vice president.

Roy Stanley Weaver Jr., Nevada, was chosen vice president. Hood Littlefield, Visalia, Calif., was named the federation's representative to the Honey Industries Council.

Coal, oil and limestone — essentials of steelmaking — are all of fossil origin. Coal is the compressed remains of vegetable debris of swampy lands; oil, decomposed plants and animals from ancient sea basins; limestone, an accumulation of the skeletons of marine invertebrates.

Lions Hold Award Night; Bohnen Cited

Presentation of a rare Grand Master Key Award — to Victor Bohnen — was the highlight of the Winona Lions Club award program Saturday night at Williams Hotel.

Publisher Frank Callister, Kenyon, Lions international counselor and member of the district board of governors, made the award. Bohnen was recognized for personally bringing 15 new members into the club. Only 409 such citations have been issued by the international Lions organization, which claims 750,000 members in 125 countries and geographical locations.

Monarch chevrons for 20 years of service were given to Bohnen, Irving Gephner, E. R. "Bud" Herman and John Tlougan. Fifteen-year chevrons were awarded to Chester A. Fockens and Lee Wiggins. Receiving 10-year chevrons were John Blank, John Carroll, LeRoy Peterson and S. A. "Jim" Sawyer.

Former officers recognized were: Past presidents — Arnold Stenehjem, Stanley Spooner, John Tlougan and S. A. Sawyer; past secretary — Raymond Dorn; past treasurer — Alfred Krieger, Fockens, Norman Schellhas and Willard Lambert. Awards for five years of perfect attendance went to George Cutler, Kenneth McQueen and Wiggins.

Police Check Breakin Tries

Winona police over the weekend investigated two attempted breakins and an occurrence of vandalism.

Vandals damaged a snowplow at Aves Cities Service, 176 E. 3rd St., but no estimate of the amount of the damage has as yet been made. The report came to police at 12:17 p.m. Sunday.

At 8:45 a.m. Sunday, police were notified by Gene Edel, 871 W. Mark St., that someone had attempted to break into his grocery store at 271 Chatfield St. Entry to the store had not been gained, however.

A cruising squad car apparently frightened off a would-be burglar at Libera & Sons grocery, 684 W. 5th St. early today. A door on the west side had been broken, the policemen found. Nothing inside the store was molested or taken. The incident occurred at 3:58 a.m. to day.

10 Schools in Debate Tourney

Debate teams from 10 Southeastern Minnesota high schools were competing today in the annual Region I high school debate tournament at Winona Senior High School.

Robert Neujahr, Winona debate coach and tournament manager, said this was the largest field for a regional tournament in recent years. The winner of today's competition and the runner-up will be eligible to participate in the state tournament at the University of Minnesota Feb. 13-14.

Debating was to begin at 2:30 p.m. with each team participating in three rounds. Winona is the defending regional champion.

High schools registered for today's meet were Winona, Houston, Albert Lea, Austin, Rochester, Elgin, Zumbrota, St. Charles, Spring Valley and Plainview.

It's Hazardous Time For Officials' Cars

Two city officials found this a bad weekend on Winona streets.

Cars belonging to 4th Ward Ald. James V. Stoltman, 206 Mankato Ave., and Mayor R. K. Ellings, 516 S. Baker St., were involved in separate accidents.

Stoltman, traveling south on Mankato Avenue at 7:56 a.m. Sunday, collided with a car going west on King Street. Gary Lee Poulin, 19, 516 Garfield St., was driving the second car, which skidded 41 feet 9 inches. Police noted skid marks beginning 12 feet past the stop sign which halts King Street traffic approaching the Mankato intersection.

Poulin, who was thrown out of the car, was taken by ambulance to Community Memorial Hospital for observation and later was released. Stoltman suffered facial abrasions. Estimated damage to each car exceeds $200.

In another accident, cars driven by Robert Ellings, 20, 516 S. Baker St., and Erma E. Meyers, Minneapolis, collided at 3 p.m. Sunday on 3rd Street just east of Walnut St.

Ellings, driving a car owned by his father, Mayor R. K. Ellings, was traveling west on 3rd Street. As he was making a right turn into a service station, the other car pulled out of its parking place along the curb. Ellings' car was hit on the right side, receiving more than $200 damage to the front door. The other vehicle was not damaged.

No citations were issued in either accident.

Civil Air Patrol Needs Adult Help

Sputtering along and in danger of cracking up, the Winona Civil Air Patrol unit needs renewed interests and help from adults to stay aloft leaders said today.

Organized five years ago, the group is headed by Donald Bauer, squadron commander, a Naval Air Reserve lieutenant commander. Its present membership is 14 cadets. They meet Tuesday nights for classes in radio communications, map reading and general principles of flying.

INTEREST AMONG ADULTS sponsors had gradually declined and present indications are that the unit will go out of existence unless the trend changes.

Basic need is for instructors, says Wayne Himrich, a senior member who has served as a volunteer adult adviser and teacher. It is not required that adult leaders be pilots, he said, but only that they be interested in helping to preserve the CAP program for interested young persons.

Boys and girls, 14 and above, are eligible to join the local unit, Bauer said. They enroll for a four-year program of activity and instruction which includes summer encampments, visits to Air Force bases and some flying orientation in the squadron's own airplane at Max Conrad Field. Cadets get no pay, buy their own uniforms and pay $5 a year to belong.

Meetings are held at the airport administration building Tuesday evenings and are open to interested youths and adults.

McKay Advanced

HARMONY, Minn. — A former Harmony man was advanced by the Oscar Mayer packing company of Madison to a newly created position of methods analyst and programmer for the Los Angeles, Calif., plant.

Richard McKay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Meril Vrieze, Harmony, began working for the company in Madison in January 1960 and was transferred to Los Angeles in March 1961. He became assistant supervisor of the data processing department there in January 1962. McKay is married to Katherine Grebin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Grebin, rural Harmony.

Fire Destroys St. Charles Farm Buildings

ST. CHARLES, Minn. (Special) — Fire destroyed a barn and four nearby structures Sunday night on a farm owned by Mrs. Frank Farrell.

The blaze, which apparently started in the barn, was discovered about 7:30 p.m. by Mrs. Charles Stephen, who was driving to St. Charles to the automatic laundry. She called the St. Charles fire department.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen operate a farm owned by Mrs. Farrell's son, Francis, Winona, about two miles west of St. Charles on the old Dover road. Mrs. Farrell's place is just west of St. Charles.

The place is vacant during the winter. Mrs. Farrell, 85, whose husband died six years ago, lives on the farm eight months of the year and has spent the last five winters with Mrs. Augusta Spitzer in St. Charles.

All buildings were vacant. Mrs. Farrell said, except for two plows in the garage, some machinery in the corncrib, and some expensive lumber in the machine shed belonging to Francis. These buildings burned to the ground, as did an empty granary and hog house.

The residence, about 50 yards from the other buildings, wasn't touched, but the south side of the nearby woodshed was scorched.

Mrs. Farrell estimated loss of the contents in the buildings at about $1,000. She said the lumber wasn't insured. She carried some insurance on the buildings.

Mr. and Mrs. Farrell, who were married 57 years prior to his death, farmed the place 47 years. They lived at Chatfield prior to that.

Convertible Wrecked, But Youth Uninjured In Millville Crash

WABASHA, Minn. (Special) — A 17-year-old Rochester youth apparently saved himself from injury Saturday by throwing himself on the floor of his convertible when it ditched in a 20-foot ravine.

Dennis Wilder was traveling on Wabasha County Road 2 a mile south of Millville at 8:30 p.m. He wasn't familiar with the highway, he told officers.

When he rounded a curve approaching a bridge, his vehicle went off the highway on the right side. The car, which landed on its wheels at the bottom of the ravine, was a total wreck, according to Deputies Everett Lorenz and Onner Krohse, who investigated.

Wilder escaped without a scratch or bruise. No citation was made.

Tipped Snowmobile Kills Garage Man

ORROCK, Minn. (AP) — Helmer Larson, 47, garage operator at Santiago, Minn., died Sunday when his one-ton homemade snowmobile overturned as it was climbing from a steep ditch.

Larson, who had started on a fox hunt, was pinned beneath the vehicle, died of suffocation, according to Dr. Gordon Tesch, the coroner.

Ulcer Hospitalizes Dirksen in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, of Illinois entered Sibley Hospital Sunday night for treatment of an ulcer, an aide reported today.

The aide said Dirksen was expected back in the Senate later this week. He has had trouble with ulcers previously. The senator's wife also is a patient at the hospital. She underwent a kidney operation last week and aides said she is making a fine recovery.

ON THE ROCKS . . . More than $200 damage was done by this car when it left County State Aid Highway 12 near Dakota early Sunday. The driver, 18-year-old Frank Kistler, La Crosse, escaped injury. Owner of the car was Lee Germann, La Crosse, owner of a body shop to which Kistler had taken his own car for repairs. (Lamar Fort Photo)

Rolvaag Sure Dunlap Won't 'Hunt Witches'

ST. PAUL (AP) — Gov. Karl Rolvaag said today he has confidence in Sen. Robert Dunlap of Plainview and doesn't believe a planned University of Minnesota investigation will become a witch hunt.

"Let's not call it a witch hunt before they hunt witches," he said when he returned to his office after a short vacation.

Sen. Dunlap is chairman of the Senate Education Committee. The committee voted last week to have him name a subcommittee to investigate standards and procedures for operation of the university. The inquiry is an outgrowth of the Sibley affair — a controversy over academic freedom centering around Prof. Mulford Q. Sibley.

"The regents are perfectly capable of handling matters at the university," said the governor. "They have done so for more than 100 years. The policies they have followed have built one of the greatest universities in the nation and the world."

"These distinguished state and community leaders could not be classified as rabbits. Mr. Gainey and Mr. Hughes have long been leaders in the Republican party and Marge Howard is a former Republican state chairwoman."

"Men and women like these and Mr. Malkerson and Dr. Mayo, chairman of the board of regents, are going to make certain bad influences do not creep into university life."

"I appreciate the attitude expressed by the regents — the statement by Dr. Mayo — indicating they will cooperate in the Senate investigation."

New St. Charles Law Firm Opens

ST. CHARLES, Minn. — The law firm of Plunkett & Peterson, Rochester and Winona, has opened an office in the Leo McCarthy building here.

Dennis Challen, who has been associated with the firm since October, will be in the office here Fridays and Saturdays. He is a graduate of Mitchell College of Law, St. Paul, and also attended Stout State College, Menomonie, Wis., and the University of Minnesota. A native of Abraham, he is married and has one son. Richard L. Plunkett, Rochester, is head of the firm and Duane Peterson is in charge of the Winona office.

Driver, 18, Comes To a Stony Stop

DAKOTA, Minn. — An 18-year-old La Crosse youth was charged with careless driving Sunday after his car went over a boulder-strewn embankment near here early Sunday morning.

Frank J. Kistler told Winona County sheriff's deputies that he fell asleep as the car he was driving approached a slight curve on County State Aid Highway 12 about 1 1/4 miles southeast of here. The car, which had been heading east, went over the bank at a sharp angle to the right.

IT WAS THROWN into the air after it hit some large boulders, landed on its wheels atop more boulders and came to rest against a tree. Damage to the car's front, undercarriage and rear was estimated at more than $200.

Owner of the car was Lee Germann, La Crosse. Kistler's car was at a body shop owned by Germann, and he said that Germann had loaned him the car he was driving at the time of the accident.

Kistler said that the car seemed to be out of alignment and had a tendency to turn right. The driver escaped injury and was able to reach a telephone in Dakota, where he called Germann. A passenger in the car also was uninjured.

KISTLER WAS found guilty of careless driving in an appearance before Justice of the Peace Mrs. Esther Dobrunz, Dakota, at 11:30 a.m. Sunday. He paid a $25 fine and $4 costs. The accident occurred while Kistler was en route home from Nodine at 1:30 a.m. He said he had taken Dwight Kerns, Dakota, home from a dance at the American Legion Club, Winona, then went to Nodine to meet a friend. He returned when the friend failed to appear.

Milwaukee Boy Admits Killing Mother in Row

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Mrs. Shirley Lisowski, 39, of suburban Greenfield, was shot to death Sunday in what police said was the climax of a dispute between her 15-year-old son and his stepfather over horseshoe cleats on the youth's new shoes.

Greenfield Police Chief Clifford Ruck said the boy admitted shooting his mother with a deer rifle. The youth was turned over to juvenile authorities and held for a hearing today.

The boy hitchhiked a ride to a precinct station on Milwaukee's South Side where he sobbed out his story to Sgt. Stanley T. Gwiazdowski. "He told me he loves his mother and she loves him," the sergeant said. The boy told police he and his stepfather, Francis Lisowski, 41, had argued Saturday night when Lisowski removed horseshoe cleats from shoes the boy had just purchased. The boy said he was slapped during the argument.

Saying he wanted to hurt his stepfather, the boy related that when he got up Sunday morning he took a .32 caliber deer rifle from its storage place and loaded it with five rounds. He said he shot his mother three times as she entered the living room and fired another shot as she fled down the basement stairs. Mrs. Lisowski was found in a pool of blood at the bottom of the stairs.

Houston Firemen Replace Two; Officers Renamed

HOUSTON, Minn. — Two new members were installed by the Houston volunteer fire department at its annual meeting recently. Eddie Virock and Earl Michelson replace Maynard Nelson and Roy Schnaufer, who resigned.

Officers re-elected: Arthur Houge, chief; Eugene Schroder and Kenneth Loken, assistant chiefs; Paul Klein, captain; Lars Anderson, secretary, and Elmer Wright, treasurer.

Paul Iverson reported on the selection of a sign for the new fire station. It will be installed soon.

Floyd Loken reported a net profit of $909.90 from the firemen's dance. S. J. Vathing, relief association secretary, reported. Association members were re-elected.

Last year the department contributed $1,000 to the village for payment on the new fire station. The money has been raised from dance donations from a percentage of insurance premiums paid here.

The department answered 18 calls last year — seven in the village and 11 in the country.

City Council To See College Expansion Plan

City Council members will get a look at Winona State College expansion and land use plans tonight in a special committee session at 6:30 at City Hall.

The meeting will precede the regular council meeting. Dr. Nels Minne, WSC president, and several state officials will show a 10-year projection of campus development, as drawn by the state architect's office. It will include suggestions for possible closing of some streets and alleys within campus limits to provide maximum efficiency of land utilization.

Conferences are being held as a result of complaints by neighboring residents relative to parking in the area. Present off-street parking capacity for college use is about 50 cars, college officials said.

Three Charged With Liquor Law Violations

Two students and a 22-year-old Winona man appeared in municipal court this morning because of alleged liquor law violations.

Roger A. Rommes, 22, Milwaukee Hotel, pleaded guilty to a charge of violating the open bottle law. Judge John D. McGill imposed a sentence of a $35 fine or 12 days in jail.

Rommes was arrested by police at 11:40 p.m. Saturday at 5th and Winona streets.

John H. Burros, 19, Winona Rt. 19, pleaded guilty to charges of violating the open bottle law and of being a minor with liquor in his possession. Sentence on each charge was $35 or 12 days in jail.

He was arrested by police at 11:25 p.m. Sunday at Mark and Olmstead streets.

Arrested with Burros was Ann E. Miller, 18, Shepard Hall, Winona State College. She entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of being a minor with liquor in her possession. Judge McGill set her bail at $35 and set trial for 9:30 a.m. Feb. 11. Rommes and Burros are making arrangements to pay their fines, and Miss Miller is arranging to post her bail.

Another Week of 'Spring'?

Another week of mild weather seems in store for Winona and vicinity.

Temperatures through Saturday will average 12 to 18 degrees above normal for this time of the year, the extended forecast by the Weather Bureau says.

Normal daytime highs for February are 21 to 27 and nighttime lows 1 below to 7 above. Very little, if any, precipitation is indicated.

Mostly fair tonight and Tuesday is the immediate forecast with a low of 15-20 tonight and a high in the 30s Tuesday.

WINTER temperatures were on the mild side over the weekend with the thermometer up to 39 Saturday afternoon and 31 on Sunday. Low Sunday morning was 21 and this morning 12. But by noon today the mercury had climbed to 22.

A year ago today the high was 5 and the low -14. Mean for the past 24 hours was 22. Normal for this date is 17. All-time high was 51 in 1928 and the low -20 in 1886.

A couple of below zero readings were reported from Minnesota weather stations this morning. Bemidji and Duluth had -1 and International Falls 0. At St. Cloud the morning low was 1.

Rochester reported a reading of 14 after a high of 31 Sunday and La Crosse had figures of 14 and 32 for the same times.

Fog, snow and bitter cold weather gave WISCONSIN an unusual weather pattern today after a cloudy Groundhog Day that held out hope for an early spring to those who believe in the legend.

The fog was particularly dense at daybreak in the Eau Claire and Rhinelander areas. The snow was very light with flurries at Wausau and Stevens Point.

The cold weather was most severe in the Hurley-Ironwood area where an overnight temperature of 14 below zero was the lowest in the nation.

The Beloit-Rockford area had a 38 degree reading for the state high Sunday.

HIGH in the nation Sunday was Point Mugu, Calif., with 78.

Applicants for position in the Winona Fire Department will be accepted at the Central Fire Station until

FEBRUARY 10, 1964

Applicants must be between the ages of 21 and 35 years, height 5'10" or more, weight 155 lbs. or more. High school graduate. Legal resident of Winona.

It Happened Last Night Beatles Ready to 'Outpelvis Elvis'

NEW YORK — We are getting to be an old codger now. We thought we'd never live to see anything as big in America as Elvis Presley, who pelvized the world.

But now here come "The Beatles," from Britain, on Feb. 7, for some Ed Sullivan and Carnegie Hall shows. We fear they will even be bigger than Rudy Vallee was in 1930, or whenever it was.

A San Francisco entrepreneur wants to pay them $125,000 a week to entertain in the Cow Palace, and for that he will even turn loose the cows.

One delightful story around is that Jack Paar's daughter Rando lectured her father that he should make up with Ed Sullivan and added, "When you're apologizing to him, ask him for some passes for me to see 'The Beatles'." A Cleveland booking agent phoned New York and, being a bit mixed up (or maybe he wasn't), said, "I would like to book that English act, 'The Monkeys'."

Liz Ashley, the delightfully candid star of "Barefoot in the Park," now romantically linked to George Peppard, who's in Hollywood, doesn't date others. She goes to her apartment in the 80s alone at night. "I won't have my phone number floating about and available to everybody who can afford to take a girl to dinner," she says. Jackie Gleason and staff huddled about taking the next year's show to Miami Beach to the Auditorium. "There are still some questions that must be answered," Jackie said after. Tessie the Sardi's hat-chick who spurns offers (my offers, anyway), says Greer Garson's about the most gracious customer: "She acts just like she knows you."

THE CURRENT gag by Comic David Fisher of the Living Room is about two drunken Bowerites bragging of their learning. "I can sign my name," said the first, putting down an X. "Why, I have the same name as yours!" exclaimed Burn No. 2, putting down an X. Then a second X. "But why did you sign your name twice?" "Oh, that second one isn't my name. It means I have an honorary degree from Harvard."

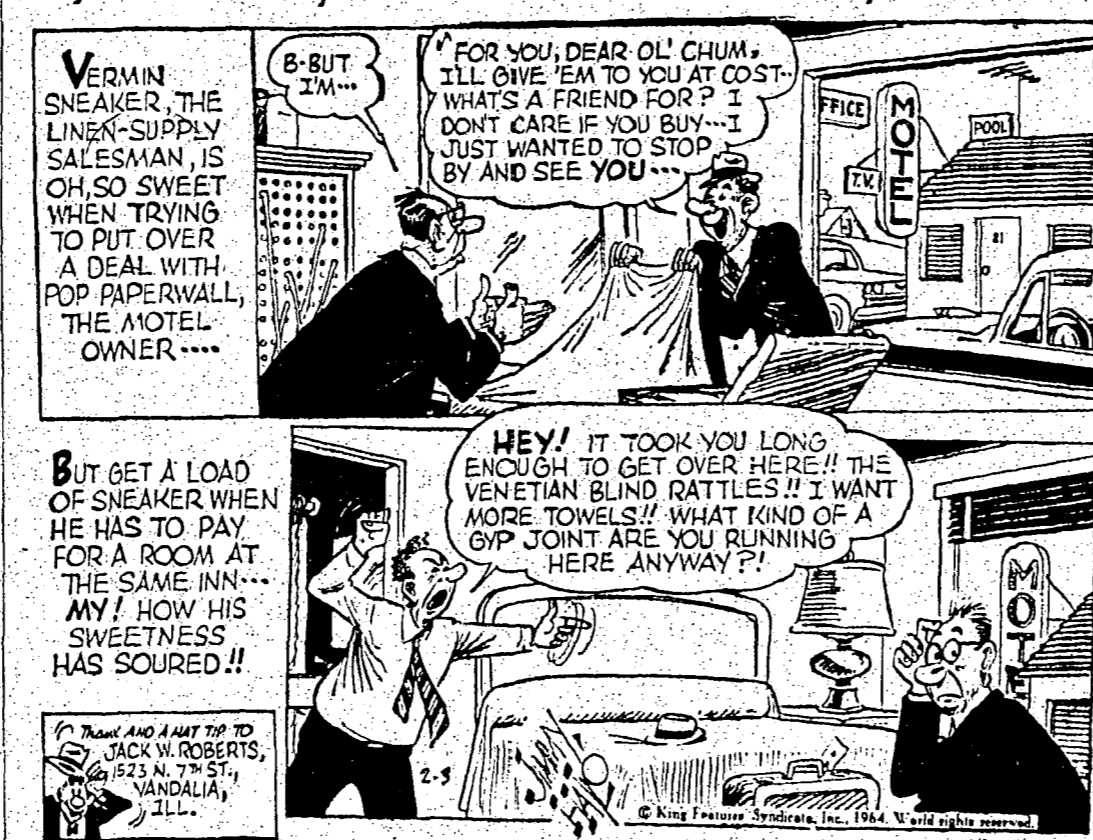

Jack Jones, Alan Jones and Irene Hervey's son, such a hit now at the Living Room, has eight TV guest spots in the next few weeks, but takes a month off to squeeze in some Air Force reserve duty. Mrs. Bob Mitchell and Mrs. Brendan Behan wrote a mag piece titled, "We Have Hell-Raisers for Husbands." Robert Goulet and Carol Lawrence sure do get tired of denying that rumor. Today's Worst Pun: If Nixon gets nominated, wouldn't his candidacy be unprecedented? CBS lists Allan Sherman as No. 1 candidate now to be Gary Moore's summer replacement. Gregory Peck's thrill was his White House visit. Robert Merrill, getting to be President Johnson's favorite singer, is now studying, "Iago" from Jose Ferrer for his "Othello" performance at the Met.

JULIE WILSON, who became a mother recently, took her baby son on the floor with her (for a brief moment) at the famous old Biltmore Hotel in Palm Beach; together, they broke all records. Tony Martin had wife Cyd Charisse's dance slippers goldplated inside and out, presented them to her on a red cushion, then drank a champagne toast to her out of them at the closing at the Las Vegas Riviera. "The way Liz and Eddie have been calling each other names," said Henry Stampler, "you'd think they were still living together."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Everybody predicted that TV would replace radio. All it's replaced so far is homework.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: A doctor gave his opinion that people should work after 60—and a lot of employers think it

Dirksen, Halleck Won't Agree to Political Truce

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP) — The two top Republican leaders in Congress have asserted they have no intention of agreeing to President Johnson's suggestion for a political truce.

GOP Senate leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and House chief Charles A. Halleck of Indiana spoke out Sunday, a day after Johnson told a news conference it was in the country's interest "to keep free from mudslinging and petty politics and getting into any political battles."

"Believe me there is not going to be a political truce," said Dirksen. "That would be a phenomenon that is unheard of in the history of this country."

Halleck, referring to polls that show Johnson garnering 75 per cent of the vote in trials against potential GOP opponents, said if he were that far ahead, he'd want a political truce too.

Two possibilities for the GOP presidential nomination had speeches scheduled today.

A talk on foreign affairs was scheduled by former Vice President Richard M. Nixon — the 1960 GOP standard bearer — at

Negro Minister Wants to Burn Self to Death

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — A Negro minister has threatened to burn himself Easter Sunday as a sacrifice to the civil rights movement if all color barriers are not dropped in this university town.

The Rev. B. Elton Cox, 32, North Carolina field secretary for the Congress of Racial Equality, made the threat at a rally Sunday, and encouraged other Negroes to do the same. "If I thought it would do any good," the Rev. Mr. Cox said, "I would come to Chapel Hill, talk to town leaders and University of North Carolina officials. That failing, I could burn myself."

If Buddhists can burn themselves to embarrass officials in Saigon, Negroes can do it in this country, he said.

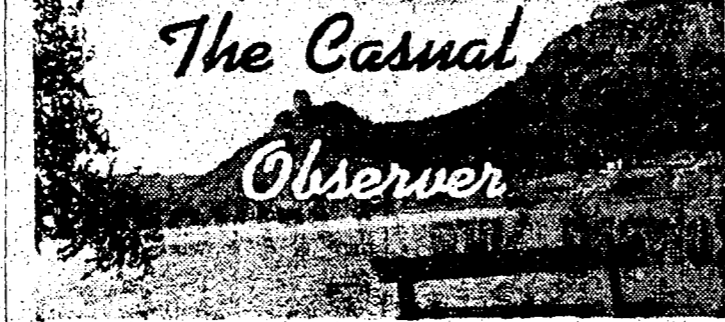

Frederick Knap, Zumbro Falls, secretary.

Elected to the meat board were John Tighe, Zumbro Falls; John Welti, Plainview; Donald Tucker, Elgin; Joe Lane, Lake City; and Stuart Atkinson, Zumbro Falls.

Wabasha County NFO to Hold Feed on Saturday

By GRETCHEN L. LAMBERTON

YOU'LL be back in an old-fashioned general store when you enter the Feb. 7 "Nearly New" sale that the St. Paul's Episcopal churchwomen are putting on at the Parish House this Friday from 9:30 to 4:30. It will be called the "General Store," with the "Emporium" or clothes department upstairs, and sales clerks in sweeping turn-of-the-century dresses waiting on you. In addition to a clothing store there will be departments of household wares, yard goods and notions, antiques, children's clothing and articles, jewelry, and a bookstore.

There will also be a candy counter selling old-fashioned penny candies like licorice sticks, horehound drops and peppermint lozenges. Coffee and doughnuts will be served all day. Among the children's wares we noted some real gems like boys' handsome tweed sports coats, a washable white linen boy's coat (size 10), almost-new overalls and skates, little girls' dresses, and two teenage formal from a top Boston store.

Noted among the antiques: A very old English blue cup and saucer bought at a Cape Cod antique shop, some massive old picture frames from the old Lamberton house—the kind that are snapped up to turn into coffee tables. I also saw a handsome wrought iron torchere or tall candle holder with glass shade. In "Notions" there were fine pieces of new yard goods and trimmings, a Dutch silver belt buckle and a brand new hand-made afghan.

The Eugene Marggraffs of our valley are having squirrel trouble. Two weeks ago daughter Sharon reached up to the refrigerator top to get a cracker, and a squirrel jumped out of the cracker box. He was a very little squirrel either a very young gray squirrel or some different variety that was small, and he was extremely shy.

The family tried to get him near a door and shoo him out, but it didn't work. So they borrowed a live animal trap and caught him one night. But somehow he slipped out and they've never again been able to catch him. He hides during the daytime and only comes out during the night to drink water and eat the crackers and nuts they lay out for him.

At first he came out of hiding between 6 and 7 at night and nibbled nuts in the kitchen, paying little attention to Mrs. Marggraff. But when she began using the electric dishwasher it frightened him so that he now stays hidden until after they go to bed. In the morning his water dish is empty and the peanuts are eaten. Does anyone have any ideas how the Marggraffs can either tame their little visitor or else chase him out of doors?

The conference is sponsored by the federal Department of Commerce.

Three East African Chiefs Save Nations

By DENNIS NEELD
 NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — By swallowing their nationalist pride and calling for British troops to quell a spate of brush-fire army mutinies three East African leaders have saved their countries from chaos on a Congo scale.

The governments of newly independent Kenya and Uganda, with British military help, cracked down hard and fast on rebellious African soldiers demanding more pay and quicker promotion.

In Tanganyika, President Julius Nyerere hesitated for five days before appealing for British aid. During that time his mutinous army elected its own commanders and held the country at its mercy.

About 5,300 British soldiers, backed by naval and air power, took over responsibility for the security of Kenya, Uganda and Tanganyika and their 23 million people. They put down widely scattered mutinies with a minimum of bloodletting and maximum speed. The British suffered no casualties. Four African soldiers were killed.

Nyerere called for an immediate conference of all African foreign and defense ministers to discuss the East African crisis. In a message to African heads of state, he called the situation in East Africa critical, and declared that army revolts constitute a grave danger to the whole continent. He suggested a conference at Dar es Salaam, Tanganyika, not later than Wednesday.

The extent of Communist influence in the army revolts is difficult to gauge.

Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home of Britain declared in a television interview that he thought Communists were behind the disturbances.

In Madagascar, President Philibert Tsiranana said on his return from France that he had shown President Charles de Gaulle a file on subversion in East Africa. He asked for more military aid, saying "otherwise you'll be abandoning us to the Russians and Chinese."

A successful Communist-supported revolution in Zanzibar, 25 miles from the African mainland, clearly helped spread the spirit of insurrection, though Nyerere says there is no link between the trouble in Tanganyika and the Zanzibar revolt.

It would be amazing if the security forces of Kenya, Uganda and Tanganyika had not been the targets of Communist infiltration. But it is difficult to nail down whether an over-all Communist plan was involved. Tanganyika's Defense Minister Oscar Kambona says his country has launched an investigation to expose any conspiracy connecting the three mutinies.

Jobs Slump Hits Poland

By GENE KRAMER
 WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Each weekday morning several hundred Poles gather in the corridors and waiting rooms of the government employment exchange in a shell-scarred building on Karowa Street.

They stand in long queues for registration and interviews, scan the almost empty job notice bulletin boards, and while away the time chatting, hoping that employment may turn up.

"I'm only a technician and getting worried about earning a living now that even engineers and architects are being fired," said a man in his 20s. "I hope I didn't study five years in technical school to go out and dig ditches."

Said a woman: "It used to be easy to get work, but not now. We have plenty to eat, but my husband doesn't make enough for a good living, so I need a job."

A nearby woman said: "It's rough now in the retail trade. They've started strict controls, and you get fired now for even little things."

A girl commented that "all you can get now is work in a (communal) typing hall for about 800 zlotys (officially $32) a month. No good typing jobs now."

The crowds have grown larger and the waiting for work in Poland much longer since the Communist government late last year clamped unpublished but drastic control on employment in the state economy.

The controls are to combat overemployment, one of the chronic ills of the Polish state-managed economy. Too much money is being paid out for too little work, officials say.

Without formally announcing a job freeze, the government stopped virtually all hiring and urged the elimination of workers from enterprises which have exceeded their labor quotas.

The 14th plenum session of the Polish United Workers (Communist) party later set a ceiling of 100,000 new state jobs in 1964. Four times that many were hired in just a few months last year. The ceiling is less than half the normal yearly increase in the number of job seekers graduating from schools.

Pennsylvania Groundhogs See Shadow

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Two Pennsylvania groundhogs poked their heads out of their burrows Sunday, saw their shadows and scurried back, portending six more weeks of winter.

At Quarryville in eastern Pennsylvania, hibernating Gov. Robert Herr of the Slumbering Groundhog Lodge sent four night-shirted patrols into the bushes in clear, 40-degree weather. Herr said one patrol saw a groundhog arise at 7:09 a.m. (EST), then retreat.

On the other side of the state, Sam Light, president of the Punxsutawney Groundhog Club, announced his favorite groundhog appeared on Gobbler's Knob at 7:29 and also retreated.

Each group insists its groundhog is the authentic weather forecaster.

Reuther Asks $200 Cut in Auto Prices

By CHARLES C. CAIN
 DETROIT (AP)—United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther says the UAW will not seek any contract gains this year that, in the union's judgment, would necessitate price increases.

Reuther Saturday made public a letter he sent to President Johnson last Wednesday pledging full support of the President's campaign against inflationary wage or price increases.

"Insofar as wages and other economic benefits for auto workers are concerned, you can be assured that the UAW will adhere to its traditional policy and will not press for gains that would create the necessity for price increases," Reuther's letter said.

Reuther, however, described auto industry profits as "staggering" and expressed belief that the industry could well afford to cut car prices $200 and grant wage and fringe benefits to its employees. He said this could be done by sharing profits.

The UAW will work out new contracts with the auto industry this summer covering many of its million members.

Reuther's letter dwelt heavily on the profits of over $3 1/3 billion before taxes reported this week by General Motors. He mentioned no other auto company by name.

There was no immediate comment from GM or the other auto companies.

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—Burglars broke into the vault at City Hall early Sunday—a half-block from the police station—and fled with about $14,000 in silver.

Police said the burglars also broke into a soft drink machine and drank while they worked to open the vault in the basement.

More Light on Panama Disorders

UNITED STATES residents of the Canal Zone — Zonians, as they call themselves — ought not to be made the whipping boy for the disorders which took place there Jan. 9-10.

Another false impression ought to be erased. It is the untruth that soldiers or police from the Canal Zone crossed the boundary line into Panama during the rioting. They never did, according to an article entitled "What Really Happened" in the Jan. 20 edition of The Spillway, publication of the Panama Canal Co., a U.S. government agency. The "factual summary" declares that defenders of the Zone fired only over the heads or in front of mobs to halt their destructive forays.

Twice, the account tells of small arms fire being heard from the Panama side. "Persistent sniper fire" forced evacuation of the 50-year-old Tivoli Guest House some 30 hours after the trouble started.

THE FIRST INCIDENT occurred on the Pacific side of the isthmus at 4:40 p.m. The mob there swelled to 5,000 or 6,000 by 8 p.m. It was shortly after 9 p.m. that crowds began to form on the Atlantic side of the isthmus, some 40 miles from the original flag-raising scene.

Police, firemen and soldiers were subject to a hail of stones and other flying objects. The mob also threw Molotov cocktails — fire bombs — and vandalized buildings inside the Zone. Structures destroyed by flames included a YMCA building, a Masonic Temple, a sanitation office and a warehouse. Also destroyed were a school, a gymnasium, a railroad station and a bus terminal.

"IN PANAMA, within sight of the Canal Zone boundary," says The Spillway's account, "rioting mobs, partly students but with many adults, overturned and burned cars, and burned and damaged a number of buildings in Panama, especially those occupied by U.S. firms."

We doubt anyone would contend seriously that the uniformed defenders of the Canal Zone should have surrendered and allowed the mobs to wreak their will all over the Zone.

In the same publication, Gov. Robert J. Fleming of the Canal Zone tells his "fellow employees": "The current conflict springs from something bigger, more basic, than we Americans in the Canal Zone. Before the existing crisis is completely resolved, an examination will be made of the basic causes of the United States-Panama differences."

THAT EXAMINATION should be thorough.

Flip That Signal!

ADD TO IRKSOME drivers the one who doesn't use his directional turn signal. This irritating species is subdivided into two main classifications.

In one can be lumped all those who fail to use the turn signal because of forgetfulness, or thoughtlessness, or simple indifference to others on the road. The fellow in this category is often a blinky-blank nuisance, but he is not mean. Churlish, perhaps, but not downright mean.

"Downright mean" exactly describes the second sort of non-user of the turn signal. This low-lifer acts deliberately—sometimes out of pure malice, sometimes to gain a petty advantage at an intersection. He deceives someone into waiting for him to go by, and then abruptly turns instead.

ALL THOSE who fail to make proper use of the turn signal have one thing in common: They are a potential danger to everyone else. If failure to signal brings an accident, it matters little whether devilishness or wool-gathering was the cause.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERR

A famous producer bought a ranch that he proposed to use as a haven to get away from it all. His wife, however, had different ideas and invited everybody she met to come down for a weekend. The producer walked in on one typical brouhaha and heard his wife bemoaning the fact that she had not yet come up with an appropriate name for the ranch. He looked over the assemblage of guests with considerable distaste and announced, "I've got it. 'Bar None.'"

One of our most popular advice-to-the-troubled columnist was stumped when she opened this letter recently: "Dear Lady: I joined the Navy to see the world. I've seen it. Now, how do I get out?"

Quiet Humor In England

LONDON—There is quite a bit of quiet laughter in London town at the moment, despite the snow and the train stoppages and bus-ban threat, whatever that may be, because noble America is on the hook with one of its last colonies, and Panama is cutting up real nasty because of how the American colonists treat the locals. The laughter is inspired by America's effort to free the world of colonialism.

Some more laughter, and slightly better, comes as a result of the knock-over in Zanzibar, just one month after it gained its legal freedom from Britain. Considerably more laughter is derived from the Hitlerian tactics of Emperor Kwame Nkrumah the First — and very possibly last — in Ghana.

And, finally, the happy coexistence of the loving Greeks and Turks in Cyprus, produces roars in the better back rooms.

As we say in Mayfair, it's one huge giggle, and we aren't home yet. Kenya hasn't really had time to build a revolution.

The wondrously freed people of India are killing each other merrily in Calcutta, almost as cheerfully as in the old colonial days when at least the trains ran on some semblance of time in India and a man could wet a thirst. (India is giving up its noble experiment, soon. Prohibition doesn't work in a country where most of the locals aren't supposed to drink.)

IT IS NOT practical to say a few kind words for colonialism, but, by golly, the colonials ran it better than the clowns who try to administer themselves these days and wind up working for Mao or some faceless Czech or Hungarian. It took just exactly one month of priceless freedom for Zanzibar to topple, despite Prince Philip's presence at the uhuru festivities. And that, as the parrot said, is a mighty short day.

It took Ghana a touch longer to turn itself into a dictatorship, but it's been a-building for most of Nkrumah's reign. It is interesting to note that he has done away now with all his old buddies in the revolt against the British, is now himself the state, and has decided to swing full left with the wilder shores of love, the Red Chinese.

A LOT OF good men have died in the fruitless defense of what we have learned to call colonialism, but none deadlier than the complete nonsense which has come home to roost in Panama, which very likely would have been, is now, and in the future, impossibly equipped to build its own canal. We Americans have maintained our own enclave there, and what do you know? The locals hate us. Hate us just as we hated the British at the time of the Boston Tea Party.

I have not checked in on the Jordanians and Israelis lately, because a sort of armed peace was declared for the Pope's visit, and seems to be holding. But just before His Holiness announced his intent, there was talk of United Nations intervention in border murders to avoid outright war.

Business has been brisk all over. Sukarno is cooking about Malaysia with the Filipino gift from heaven, Macapagal. Sukarno is as outright a dictator as Nkrumah. Diosdado Macapagal is supposed to be a democrat. I tell you, friends, it's frightening to look under the bed these nights.

THE POOR old belabored British are reaping a rich cackle out of the state of the world, even if the trains aren't running on time and you cannot complete a telephone call with any confidence on the Grosvenor exchange, let alone get long distance.

The British have taken a pounding as dirty rat, stinking colonialists all over the globe, and being a nobly self-appraising race, they rate a slight snicker out of having to send a gunboat to Zanzibar, alerting the garrison (soon to be kicked out in Kenya) and dispatching troops to Cyprus, if only to save the freed natives from their own exuberant selves.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Letter From Ike Manager Tells About Farm Financing

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, answering a question by Lou Gordon of WXYZ, Detroit, about gifts to the Gettysburg farm, replied last week: "This is one man's tissue of lies."

He was referring to a column published by this writer on Jan. 25, reporting that the Gettysburg farm had been financed by three oilmen, the late W. Alton Jones of Cities Service, George E. Allen of Washington, and W. G. "Billy" Byars of Tyler, Texas.

As to whether the facts in this column were a tissue of lies or the truth, I quote a letter from Gen. Arthur S. Nevins, Ike's farm manager, dated Jan. 28, 1958, addressed to both Allen and Byars, with a carbon copy to Jones.

The letter begins with the salutation, "Dear George and Billy," proceeds to discuss part of the farm operation, and then continues: "New subject—The funds for the farm operation are getting low, so would each of you also let me have your check in the usual amount of $2,500. A similar amount will also be transferred to the partnership account from W. Alton Jones' funds."

"I bought an exceptionally fine cow, a daughter of Eva's Bandolier Lad, Karana Family, at the Thomasville sale, but I can handle her purchase price from our normal operating funds. We have sold four steers recently for 30¢ cents lb., and will have some more to sell soon."

"With warm regards to all of you."

IN THE LEFT-HAND corner of the letter is a notation that a carbon copy is being sent to W. Alton Jones.

Note—Mr. Jones, a close personal friend of former President Eisenhower, later was killed in an airplane crash at Idlewild airport while en route to visit Ike at Palm Springs. A total of $61,000 was found in cash and travelers checks in his brief case and his wallet after the crash.

Aside from the above letter, there is clear evidence that the Eisenhower farms were financed by Jones, Allen and Byars. E. Donald Scott, a former implement dealer and a leading Republican of Adams County, Pa., has stated that he was paid by checks on an Allen-Byars account in the Gettysburg National Bank.

Victor Re, the Gettysburg contractor who built the $30,000 showplace barn for the Eisenhower farms, said that he had been paid by checks from a joint Allen-Byars account, also that he had built three smaller barns on the Eisenhower farms at a cost of around $7,500 to $8,000 a piece, also paid out of the Allen-Byars checking account.

ROBERT HARTLEY, assistant farm manager, a graduate of Penn State University of which Milton Eisenhower was once president, is an expert on black Angus cattle. He said that his salary was paid by Byars and Allen, as well as those of the hired hands on the place, which number between five and ten. Asked specifically if Byars and Allen paid Gen. Nevins' salary, Hartley replied:

"I guess you'd say that." Later he firmly repeated that the two oilmen, not Eisenhower, were the source of Gen. Nevins' salary.

Although the evidence noted above does not appear to be exactly "one man's tissue of lies," there is another conclusive way of establishing the source of the money which paid the upkeep of the Eisenhower farms — namely, Internal Revenue. Tax agents refused to let the three oilmen take business deductions on their payments to the Gettysburg farm. They were ruled to be gifts.

THE SENATE Rules Committee, now probing the Bobby Baker scandals, has the power to subpoena the tax records of the three oilmen from Internal Revenue. Sen. Hugh Scott, a Pennsylvania Republican, is a member of this committee, and an eager-beaver digger into all the facts regarding Baker.

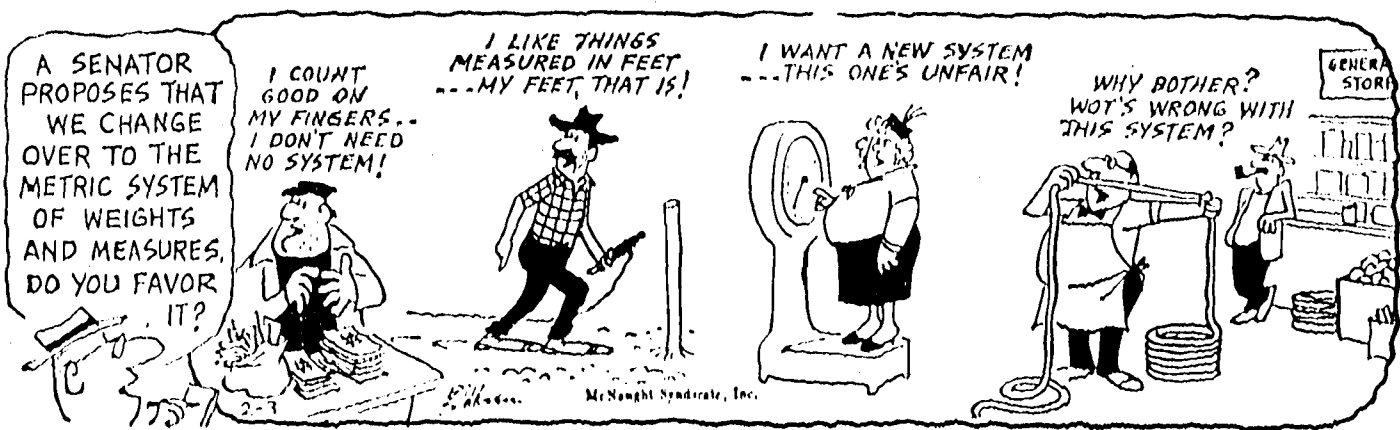

Scott is also a close friend of Eisenhower. In order to clear Ike's name and prove that the facts regarding the Gettysburg farm finances are or are not tissue of lies, Sen. Scott should move inside the rules committee to get all the tax facts regarding these gifts.

OPINION-WISE

TODAY IN NATIONAL AFFAIRS

More Inflation Feared for U.S.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Is inflation on the way, and is the purchasing power of the dollar headed for a further downward movement?

An announcement just made by the U.S. Department of Labor throws some light on the subject. It states officially that higher prices for food and housing raised the nation's living costs in December to a new all-time record. This means it takes $10.76 to buy the same goods and services that $10 could buy in the period between 1957 and 1959. The increase in the consumer price level as compared with the previous December was the largest in five years.

The increases in prices did not affect all things, but the total impact on the cost-of-living index was noticeable. Oddly enough, "take-home pay" of factory workers, due to longer work weeks and higher rates of pay, resulted in a larger amount of individual compensation, so that many citizens were able to offset the rise in the cost of living.

The main significance of the department of labor's announcement is that, despite all the claims that inflation is a thing of the past and that the coming tax cut will not be "inflationary," there are evidences that an inflationary trend has already set in and will, if anything, be intensified by the forthcoming tax cut. Secretary Dillon of the Treasury department, in a discussion last Sunday on an ABC radio and television program called "Issues and Answers," declared that the real effect of the forthcoming tax cut will not be felt in 1964, but in 1965. He said the former has been erroneously assumed because the bulk of "the rate reductions take place this year." He added:

"It takes quite a bit of time for these rate reductions to work through the economy and for people to buy more and therefore create more demand and therefore have orders to expand production and so forth. The full stimulus from this tax cut will be taking effect next year, not this year. And next year is the time when expenditures are being held down."

MR. DILLON called attention to the fact that the tax bill might take effect on March 1, and he mentioned that the increase in income a citizen may retain thereafter, due to a reduction in the withholding rates, will add to the total amount available to the economy. He estimates the increase at $8 billion this year. So it is evident that the effect of the delay in the date for the enactment of a tax bill will be offset by the larger amount of money per week that the taxpayer, after March 1, will retain out of his income.

When Mr. Dillon was asked how all this could keep prices down or labor-union demands from being pressed, he declared that the President was trying to keep in touch with the wage-and-price problem. Incidentally, the auto-union leaders have just indicated that they will demand the biggest increases in wages since 1955.

ANOTHER QUESTION asked of Mr. Dillon was whether, if both management and labor did increase prices and wages, this wouldn't practically compel the federal reserve system to increase its interest rates. He replied:

"If there is an inflationary push, the (the Federal Reserve board) would naturally take some action, and I think that would be expected, but we don't expect there will be need for that."

But the additional demand for goods as a result of the increase in consumer purchasing power growing out of tax reduction may be expected to bring more price increases and wage rises.

One of the most important aspects of the whole situation, however, has not been getting much emphasis lately. It is that public confidence in the future of the dollar is something that can change overnight, particularly by reason of the attitude of foreign countries which have large claims on gold in the United States. Any fundamental change in the international situation could produce a corresponding mood of hesitation inside America.

FOREIGN PRODUCERS, moreover, are watching the American market carefully to see any way they can underbid American producers and further invade the market in this country.

The whole economic situation is so complex and consists of so many interdependent factors that it isn't possible as yet to foresee all the effects of the tax-reduction bill if it goes into effect on March 1. Many of the economic experts, however, are beginning to wonder whether the readjustments that may have to be made in 1965 to meet new increases will make economic planning in advance for that year very difficult indeed, especially if during the year 1964 the cost of living continues to increase.

THE DAMAGING effects of inflation are usually due to the instability caused by the constantly diminishing purchasing power of the dollar. If all factors could be co-ordinated—as the theoreticians constantly urge—so that wages would move up only in accordance with productivity of labor and prices would move up only enough to make a reasonable profit, the supporters of a controlled or managed economy would have more basis for their argument.

But in the natural operations of a free-enterprise system, government action has an over-all influence that is controlling. When, for example, the federal budget itself is continually unbalanced year after year and money is pumped into the economy by borrowing constantly from the citizens, the public sooner or later discovers what red ink means in government finances, and confidence in the monetary unit inevitably weakens.

VALENTINE GIFT SUGGESTIONS

I'm stumped for a completely new and fresh idea for Valentine's Day... something that not only tells someone she's a most special person in your book, but keeps right on telling her.

Maybe during the past year, you noticed that she took particular pleasure in a certain snapshot of the children. Maybe it was a five-year-old's toothless grin, or a little girl lavishly dispensing affection on the new baby. A framed enlargement of such a picture sends a love message that's loud and clear.

Or what about her own special camera? The camera itself isn't so important. What she can do with it is. Any one of the new KODAK INSTAMATIC Cameras would be perfect. But I especially recommend the KODAK INSTAMATIC 300 Camera. This is the one that has an electric eye that automatically sets the lens opening for correct exposures. Your Valentine will be able to use this camera with complete confidence and get beautiful pictures with each touch of the button.

What the ladies really like about all KODAK INSTAMATIC Cameras is the no-nonsense, drop-in film loading with KODAPAK Cartridges. They like the automatic exposure control, the built-in pull up flash and the fact that a glance at the back of the camera tells what kind of film is in the camera and how many frames are left.

How about it, men? Shall we start a new tradition?

Clothing Price Report Given By Specialist

A report on the outlook for clothing prices in the coming year is released by Miss Athlene Scheid, extension clothing specialist at the University of Minnesota, Institute of Agriculture. Miss Scheid's story follows:

To be well dressed in 1964, you won't need to put a big dent in your budget.

That's because your personal income will probably be going up, but clothing prices will change very little. So, actually, you may be spending a smaller proportion of your disposable income for clothing than you have for the last few years.

ANOTHER factor that favors you as a consumer is that prices of clothing are subject to seasonal fluctuations. Consumers who are aware of these regular changes during the year can make more realistic plans for clothing expenditures and make significant savings in their clothing budget, says Miss Scheid.

Women's and girls' apparel has the greatest seasonal price fluctuation, with the lowest point in January when most stores feature after-holiday sales. A spring peak in March is followed by a downward price drift through the summer. Prices start to climb in September to the year's highest peak in October, then again there is a descending trend. For men's and boys' clothing the seasonal fluctuation in price is only half as great as for feminine apparel. Prices are highest for men's wear in the fall. Shoes, however, follow no seasonal pattern in price fluctuation.

FOR THE PAST six years, clothing and shoes have taken a small percentage of the family dollar—only about 8 cents, Miss Scheid says. In fact, the proportion of income going for clothing has been decreasing for more than three decades. Thus, in 1929 clothing took about 13 cents of each family dollar and by 1940 the amount had fallen to 11 cents.

Greater competition of other goods and services for the consumer's dollars is one explanation for the smaller proportion of income spent for clothing in the last few years. Another factor is the changing composition of the population, with larger numbers of people in older and younger groups with either fewer or decreasing demands for clothing. Other factors accounting for decline in the proportion of incomes going for clothing are economies resulting from the shift from cotton and wool to man-made fibers, today's casual mode of dressing and the slight increase in clothing prices compared to greater price advances for all goods and services.

Panama Still In Search of New Leader

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

PANAMA (AP)—A still beardless nationalistic upheaval is stirring here in search of a leader.

When the trailblazer is found—there are no visible candidates on the horizon—Washington's present dispute with Panama over the Canal Zone may resemble a prelude to political row by comparison.

To some with experience here and in Havana, Panama's political atmosphere seems charged with the spirit and passions of the Cuban revolution in its pre-Marxist image.

This is partly because in many national characteristics Panama is a startling miniature of Cuba. But far more significant is the existence in this tiny sliver of a country of virtually identical conditions that fueled Fidel Castro's movement.

There are the ceaseless tides of quick laughter and lightning hate; the gaping maw of indifference and resentment separating the tiny enclave of a ruling elite from the legion of poor; and a burgeoning middle class throbbing with the usual social growing pains—anger, bitterness, frustration, despair and some hope.

With the physical creation of the Canal Zone and its nearly antiseptic neatness, mechanical sufficiency and abundance, the United States opened up a display window through which the Panamanians could measure inferiority and feed their resentments.

For a half a century all this went into the shaping of a "gringo-phobia" of a virulence in 1964 that matches, and often surpasses, Castro's blackest moods.

This has nourished, in turn, a fierce nationalism, the depth, range and capability of which were sharply demonstrated last month in the bloody rioting over a flag incident in the U.S.-controlled zone.

Among students of the local scene, there is an understandable reluctance, therefore, to treat the Canal Zone clash as just a spontaneous isolated incident. There is much to suggest the existence of at least the outline of a preconceived strategy.

There is fertile ground for speculation that Castroite Caribbean strategists, after their debacle in Venezuela's December elections, decided to move shop to Panama.

If they were not in the middle of things in the beginning of the flag incident that left 27 dead and 250 hurt, Panama's leftist extremists moved in soon afterward.

Numerically, the Castroites and Marxists here are not impressive. The most reliable estimates place their strength at about 600 hard-core militants and a considerably larger following of sympathizers. But they are concentrated in the usual strategic spots, the student federations, some labor unions and among working newspapermen.

More copies of the Boy Scout Handbook have been printed in the United States than any other book except the Holy Bible. Some 20 million copies of the handbook have been printed.

WORLD TODAY

What's Matter With De Gaulle?

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—French President Charles de Gaulle, like a man descending the mountain with two tablets of stone, for a year has issued pronouncements saying "no" to American policy.

He banned the British from the European Common Market; refused to agree to a nuclear test-ban treaty; advocated neutralization of Southeast Asia; and recognized the sovereignty of Red China.

In each case he acknowledged some benefit to France. Americans can't consider this a mortal sin by itself, since they are concerned about benefits to this country.

But he is part of the Western alliance. If there were a few more De Gaulles there could be no alliance.

His repeated negations have been explained by apologists as the work of a man with a mystical belief in the revival of French greatness. But there has been pettiness in much of what he did, almost hostility.

There is immaturity in his obsessive nationalism which would have been more fitting in the 18th Century when Napoleon was emerging and French horizons seemed unlimited.

But Western Europe's nationalism brought two world wars and chaos. To try to restore it as intensely as De Gaulle is doing is to turn the clock back.

He has given demoralized France stability since he started his reign in 1958—reign is not an inaccurate word, for France now looks more like a monarchy than a republic—but there is no assurance the deluge won't follow him.

His personal immaturity is in his need for grandeur and the trappings of grandeur, in himself and France. He resents what he considers affronts and to maintain his ego retaliates with obstruction, like a child tearing toys.

On Jan. 14, 1963 he arranged for a news conference at such a time and with such a purpose—just shortly before the late President John F. Kennedy addressed Congress—that he torpedoed the President.

Kennedy happily announced a "new era of interdependence and unity taking shape" in Europe which "we regard as a welcome partner... not a rival." He was thinking of the creation of the European Common Market.

But by the time he got the words out De Gaulle already demonstrated how little unity there was by announcing he was banning Britain from the market. He said Britain was not a European nation.

This was nationalism at its worst. With Britain out of the market, France figured to dominate it, although the market was intended as one more step toward subordinating nationalism to common interests.

That wasn't all De Gaulle did that day. He rejected American-British proposals for a multilateral NATO nuclear force armed with Polaris missile-firing submarines.

If that wasn't enough, De Gaulle cast doubt on American willingness to defend France from Russian attack, now that the Soviet Union had missiles which could destroy America.

The agreement on the multilateral force had been reached a few weeks before at a meeting between Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. De Gaulle may have felt offended by not being included in the meeting.

On June 25 Kennedy pledged to risk destruction of American cities to preserve European freedom but two days later De Gaulle's information minister warned Europe against trusting its safety to America indefinitely.

The United States, Britain and the Soviet Union on July 25 initiated a nuclear test-ban treaty. Four days later, De Gaulle said France would not sign and intended to develop its own nuclear weapons.

Then on Aug. 29 — although the United States has pumped billions in aid into South Viet Nam to help the war against the Communist guerrillas of North Viet Nam—De Gaulle proposed the two Viet Nams be neutralized with French help. Such a step could wreck the whole Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

France had been driven out of Viet Nam in 1954, after holding it as a colony since the 19th century. Neutralization, with the United States withdrawn, might enable France to recapture some of its old influence.

DFL Central Committee Back U of M

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Democratic-Farmer-Labor state central committee, the Board of Regents and Atty. Gen. Walter F. Mondale have risen to the defense of the University of Minnesota in its hiring policies.

Statements championing the university Saturday stemmed from a decision by the Minnesota Senate Education Committee to investigate the institution's personnel practices.

Meeting in Minneapolis, the DFL said in a resolution the Senate investigation is neither needed or warranted.

"The principle of autonomy (of the Board of Regents) has been emphatically affirmed by the Minnesota State Supreme Court," the resolution said. "The Board of Regents has always conducted itself on a non-partisan basis; politics is left at the door of its meetings."

The regents meanwhile declared, in a statement issued by Dr. Charles W. Mayo, the board chairman, that they will cooperate fully in the Senate investigation.

The controversy, the regents said, "makes it difficult for our citizens to get an accurate picture of the university."

The statement said the regents believe the moral standards of the university's students are high, and that university teachers stand for open, responsible communication with their students and fellow staff members.

"Our teachers are not advocates of the distasteful notions which have been discussed so much in recent weeks," the regents said.

"Our university is one of the most productive and respected in the world," the statement added. "Its integrity must be preserved."

Mondale said he doubted the investigative move was legal under the state Constitution. He added that it climaxed "a crescendo of assaults upon the university by right-wing elements who fear the power of the free mind and on intellectual inquiry."

The Senate Education Committee's decision to undertake the investigation grew from an academic freedom controversy. The public expressions of Mulford Q. Sibley, a political science professor, sparked the dispute. Milton Rosen, St. Paul city commissioner, sharply criticized Sibley and appeared before the Senate committee Thursday, when the investigation was authorized.

Air Force Plans 'Soft Sell' Drive Against Smoking

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force surgeon general said today his service will undertake a "soft sell" campaign aimed at weaning young airmen from cigarette smoking.

"The young ones are the ones we really want to get to,"

M. J. G. E. n. Richard L. Bohannon told a reporter.

The key word in the campaign is persuasion — not prohibition.

A nonsmoker himself, the Air Force's top doctor said he bans on buying, possessing or using tobacco would work.

Gen. Bohannon doubts that any bans on buying, possessing or using tobacco would work.

Famed Penn Station in N.Y. Wrecked

NEW YORK (AP) — From the lofty ceiling debris falls. Sunlight moldered into shafts by 14 granite columns at the north entrance of Pennsylvania Station filters through the dust.

The scene resembles a Roman ruin. In one sense, it is. The station was patterned after the Roman baths of Caracalla and built partly with fine marble imported from Italy.

Now it is falling before the wrecker's hammer. The destruction, begun Oct. 28, is to make way for a new Madison Square Garden and a new station.

Spidery scaffolding veils the north entrance and screens the huge exterior clock flanked by statues of two women and two eagles. Motionless hands point to 6:49.

This is about all that the 200,000 passengers who pass through Penn Station each day can see of the destruction now. Soon, however, more of the pedestrianways will be re-routed.

The 550 daily trains will continue to run, shuttling passengers into and out of New York City on underground tracks. And the new sports arena and companion office building will begin to rise long before the demolition ends.

Completion of the project is scheduled for 1966.

The station was designed by Stanford White's architectural firm and formally opened in 1910.

Its nine-acre site is bounded by 31st and 33rd streets and Seventh and Eighth Avenues.

The new station will occupy the street and subterranean levels of the new $100-million complex which features a 22,000-seat arena, 4,000-seat amphitheatre and twin-towered 33-story skyscraper.

It went home from University of Minnesota hospitals Sunday.

Doctors said Roxanne Johnson, 8, of Hager City, Wis., was in satisfactory condition but would return to the hospital periodically for treatment.

In surgery Dec. 27, Roxanne received a kidney from LaVonne Doerr, 21, of Red Wing, Minn.

Baby Weighs Only a Pound

DETROIT (AP) — A baby who weighed just one pound took the spotlight away from a 17½-ounce infant Sunday as both continued a fight for survival against heavy odds.

The 17½-ounce baby was reported in Detroit Saturday. The child, a girl, was born Jan. 18 after a 6½-month pregnancy.

The report was matched almost immediately by one from suburban Garden City, where doctors said a baby born Dec. 10 dropped to a weight of 16 ounces soon afterward. The child, born after a 5½-month pregnancy, now weighs 24½ ounces and doctors say chances of survival "are fairly good."

NASON ON EDUCATION

Speak Language Of a Youngster

By L. J. NASON, Ed. D.
U. of Southern California

"A scurvy elephant! That's what you called my boy, Jim." The mother of the eight-year-old had come to school with blood in her eye after receiving this report from her offspring. "I have never called any child a name; however, I did say your son was a 'disturbing element'."

The mystery was solved. What a teacher says and what an eight-year-old hears, are often very different.

Beginning teachers are in a particularly difficult position. In college they are required to use a sophisticated vocabulary—the language of the pedagogues, sometimes called "pedagogy."

Like most persons they speak two languages — adult talk and baby talk. The language of the 7 to 11-year-olds is in between. At this age a child is adding many new words to his vocabulary. Usually, they are watered down adult words.

Many of the new words the child uses lack the precise meaning to him that adults place upon them. It requires a conscious effort for any new teacher to speak on the vocabulary level of the children.

There is too little opportunity for a teacher to listen carefully to an individual child when faced with a group of 30 or 40 children.

IT IS UNFAIR and unrealistic to expect the children to make the adjustments to the teachers' level of speaking. If there is to be understanding between teacher and child, it is the teacher who must learn to adjust.

Somewhere in the training of an elementary school teacher, there must be an opportunity for him to get acquainted with, and talk at length with, children of the age he will be teaching.

In order that he pass on information and learning, there must be a clear understanding between teacher and child.

Once communication is established on a firm basis the teacher can help a child develop a wider vocabulary. While this vocabulary is being developed it is extremely important that the child form the habit of grasping the PRECISE meaning of each new word.

AN IMPORTANT element in the training of elementary school teachers is the opportunity for each to develop according to his personal needs.

Such development calls for something more than a series of courses. San Francisco State College attempts to accomplish this training through a seminar taught by a team of specialists. Grades are abandoned. At the end of the seminar students are either recommended for certification, or not recommended.

A teacher-training program should enhance the strengths of an individual. It should also make it possible for him to develop needed background and skills. If he is to facilitate a child's learning, he must be skilled at learning. If he is to help a child become skilled in reading, writing and arithmetic he, too, must possess these skills.

House of the Week

U-Shaped Bay Provides Family Area

An eminently practical, livable and organized home, but also one completely different from run-of-the-mill development houses, is the goal of nearly every Sunday afternoon subdivision shopper.

Architect Lester Cohen achieves this elusive design in today's House of the Week, H-14 in the series.

HE HAS conceived of a flexible arrangement of the family social area focused around an enormous bay extending into the rear garden. The core is a brick fireplace—a veritable hub around which all household activity turns.

On one side is the kitchen and

TRADITIONAL BUT DIFFERENT: Behind this ever-popular traditional facade is a living area completely different in its concept of providing a practical and dramatic living area. The house contains three bedrooms, 2½ baths.

Basement Area Can Provide Space for Boy

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Why not give a growing boy some of that space going to waste in the basement?

It's a likely place for a messy project and you may find a budding engineer or scientist on your hands.

YOU CAN put the basement to practical use and start a youngster off on a hobby with a purpose perhaps by giving him a work surface, good light, ventilation, privacy. Play the rest by ear. When his enthusiasm begins to bubble, supply him with other needs.

A makeshift divider can separate him from other areas—furnace, wash tubs and whatever. If he is in a corner, the other two sides may be closed off with bamboo blinds or drapery rigged from the ceiling.

Many homes have old coal bins no longer in use due to conversion to other fuels. These structures make ideal little niches for work areas when scrubbed up and properly lighted.

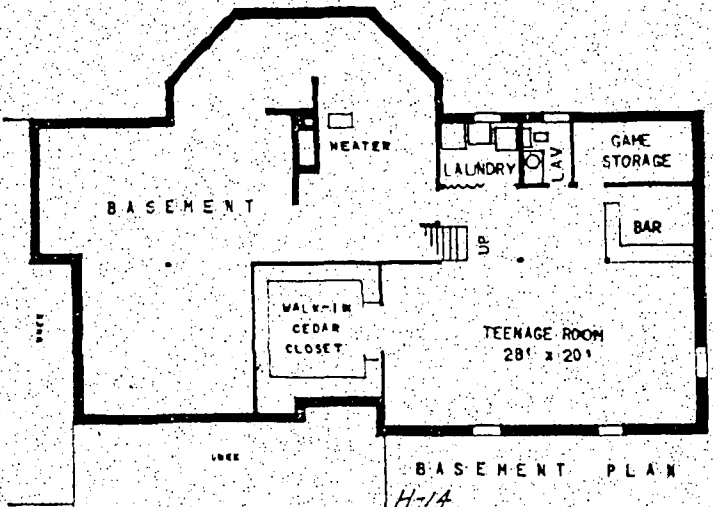

BOYS WHO get a little slice of home for their own devices may begin to build with their hands or dream and contrive something worthwhile.

In contrast with other generations when there were fewer social distractions to wean boys from an eagerness to adapt themselves to the responsibilities of manhood, today's young man often can't decide about his niche in the world when he is a college senior. He hasn't had enough contact with a work enterprise that appeals to him.

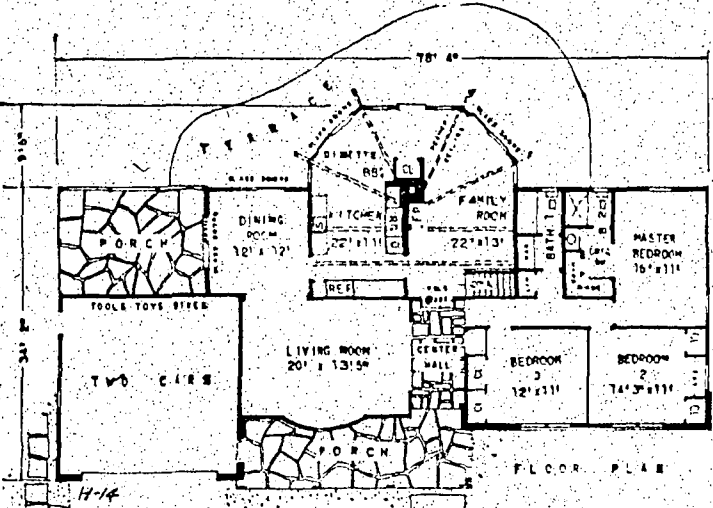

In large apartments, some parents turn over a closet to a young fellow, and he may promptly use it for photography experiments. Many artisans have begun their work in ceramics in just such a fashion.

Or he may find his forte is in electronics.

Some parents feel their youngsters will be deprived of fun if they take up a serious hobby.

FLOOR PLANS: The basic living area is 1,794 square feet in overall dimensions of 78'4" wide by 43'8" deep. The house was designed by architect Lester Cohen.

on the other the family room. Between are a dinette (with a barbecue fireplace for "cooking"), and an extension of the family room which allows it to flow outdoors to the terrace and garden.

The result is an expansive indoor-outdoor living area, completely informal, containing all the necessities of day-to-day family routine.

THE REST of the modest ranch style home contains three bedrooms, formal living and dining rooms, built-in two car garage, and a basement complete with recreation room, laundry, bar, and an abundance of storage space including a walk-in cedar closet.

The basic plan contains only 1,794 square feet of living area in over-all dimensions of 78'4" wide by 43'8" deep.

Unlike other homes which feature something off-beat simply for the sake of being "different," this house was designed with considerations of daily homemaking in mind. Whatever is different about it—and that's considerable—was dictated by practical necessity, and it shows.

AN INTEGRAL part of the rear bay plan is the view from the main entrance.

Immediately on entering the house through the flagstone center hall the focus of attention is on the family room with its fireplace, floor-to-ceiling glass, and sloping beamed ceiling.

Architect Cohen decided the place for the fireplace was the family room rather than the formal living room because in this arrangement it is the family room that will get the most use by far.

The formal living room remains set apart from the day-time activity area, a sort of special place for special gatherings. Its focal point is a bow window overlooking the covered flagstone porch with its grill-work columns. There is no need ever to cross the formal living room to reach any part of the house.

THE DINING room joins the living room through an archway and also has an unusual amount of privacy. It has two walls of sliding glass doors—one leading to the side porch (which can be screened), the other opening to the rear terrace which the dining room shares with the dinette and family room.

The terrace, in fact, links all the rear portion into a well integrated indoor-outdoor living area.

The sleeping area contains three bedrooms with copious closet space, a feature especially true of the master bedroom. This room has its bath and dressing area set aside so it doesn't interfere with furniture arrangement.

The main bath, or family bath, is equipped with doors separating the bath area from the lavatory, and has an interior closet.

THERE ALSO is a lavatory in the basement, serving the recreation room and laundry. The staircase to this important informal activity zone is convenient both to the main entry and the family room.

The Coast Guard's famed square-rigged training ship "Eagle" started out as the German "Horst Wessel." It was launched in 1936 at Hamburg and transferred to the United States as a part of reparations after World War II.

Garage Walls Make Spacious Storage Area

By AP NEWSFEATURES

Stand in the center of your garage and make a complete, slow turn. Look at all that wall space going to waste.

It requires no carpentry skill to put up shelves between the studs of garages with unfinished inside walls.

ALMOST ANY type of available lumber will do for this purpose. You can use plywood strips if desired or you may happen to have some scrap pieces of plywood around. You will find it easy to set the shelves on wooden or metal supports nailed or screwed to the sides of the studs.

Tools, garden implements and the like can be hung from metal hooks set into the perforations of hardboard. The hardboard is easily attached to the studding. In the event that the inside of your garage is finished—that is, it has a flat-surfaced wall—you will have to attach furring strips in order to make use of perforated hardboard.

If you do not do this, there will be no space behind the hardboard panels to insert the metal hooks.

IF THE INSIDE walls of your garage are concrete or some form of masonry, attachments will be more difficult than with wood. Masonry shields or anchors may be the answer. These are small, hollow receptacles which are inserted in holes drilled into the concrete with either a power drill with a carbide-tipped bit or with a star drill. When a screw or special bolt is inserted into the shield or anchor, the receptacle expands, firmly gripping itself inside the concrete. In drilling the hole, make it slightly smaller than the shield or anchor, which is tapped into place to make a snug fit.

Masonry nails also can be used. These are hammered into the concrete like ordinary nails, but require strong blows. Some of the new epoxy adhesives permit the attachment of wood or other materials directly to the concrete.

FURRING STRIPS or studding are hammered onto nails sticking out from the metal squares.

Should your garage be so small that there is no room at all to put anything on the side walls, you still can make use of the space at the back end.

Suspend shelves from the ceiling rafters with 2 by 4 stringers, being certain that the shelves are high enough to permit the hood of the car to fit under them.

But a hobby can be fun and it doesn't need to be all-consuming. A young fellow can appreciate other recreation all the more.

THE PRODUCT—A plywood sheathing with a special exterior glue and a water-repellent, fungi-resistant treatment of the edges.

THE MANUFACTURER'S CLAIM—That this sheathing, available at a slight premium over existing grades, has proved superior in resistance to adverse exterior effects and is immune to separation of the plywood layers even under severe storage and installation conditions.

Lone Building Permit Issued

The slack season of new building activity in Winona continued last week when only one building permit was issued by the city engineer's office.

It was the second consecutive week in which there was only one permit written.

The most recent went to Edward Lelwica, 556 E. 2nd St., for installation of siding estimated to cost $800.

The dollar volume of permits issued this year is $313,850, compared with $764,975 at the same date in 1963. There have been no permits for new houses drawn this year although the bulk of this year's dollar valuation can be credited to permits issued for construction of a new apartment complex on the former site of Winona General Hospital.

Permits for GAS FIRED installations were issued to:

Sievers Heating & Air Conditioning, for Paul Rosinski, 1007 E. Sanborn St., and Martin Rehse, 557 E. Wabasha St. Abrams Furnace Co., for Paul Mahutka, 618 W. 4th St., and D. J. Robelick, 615 Olmstead St. Kraning's Sales & Service, for O. N. Linden, 741 W. Broadway; Carol Dietrich, 464 High Forest St.; Mrs. Leona Fisher, 312 Johnson St., and Martin Twetten, 960 W. Wabasha St.

wall system without visible joints or seams, utilizing steel stud framing to which tapered-edged gypsum board panels are attached by means of a snap-in batten joint, doing away with screws, nails or other fastenings.

THE MANUFACTURER'S CLAIM—That a special waterproof tape, used for covering the joints, is completely hidden under a coat of topping compound, yet can be removed quickly with a sharp, upward pull, enabling the wall to be taken down quickly and set up somewhere else.

THE PRODUCT—A synthetic fabric paint roller available in different pile heights for general work on average surfaces or heavy duty work on rough surfaces.

THE MANUFACTURER'S CLAIM—That this roller performs equally well in water or oil-based paints, that it has more paint pickup, better rolling qualities and longer life than most other types of rollers, and that its covers will fit existing frames.

THE PRODUCT—Vinyl wall panels, each one foot square, designed to capture the texture, color and glaze of ceramic mosaic tiles.

THE MANUFACTURER'S CLAIM—That these panels, composed of miniature vinyl squares with simulated joints, can be installed quickly and easily by peeling off the protective backing paper, wetting the self-sticking adhesive and pressing them against the wall.

THE PRODUCT—A bathtub caulking material that sets up on contact with air into a silicone white rubber.

THE MANUFACTURER'S CLAIM—That this rubber sealant, applied from a squeeze tube in a continuous bead, stops water seepage, bonds to any surface and will not shrink or crack.

Wabasha Building Declines in 1963

WABASHA, Minn. (Special)—Contrasting with 1962's extensive building program in Wabasha, highlighted by the $1½ million addition to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, the largest single project here in 1963 was a $40,000 building remodeling job by the Northern States Power Co.

Work on the brick veneer building with glass show windows on two sides, modern lighting and air conditioning, began six weeks ago at the NSP warehouse on the corner of 2nd and Alleghany streets. A portion of the front was razed and a complete new building, 24 by 60 feet, is being erected in the front to house the office and display room.

Bernard Hennings, manager of the local office, estimates the building will be completed March 1. At this time the office will be moved from the present location on Main St. where the power company has had its office and show room the last 35 years. The warehouse was purchased 10 years ago and formerly was the American Legion dance hall.

A $25,000 small boat harbor, dredged by the Portable Dredging Company, Winona, also filling the Wabasha dump, was the city's single building project in 1963. No new streets or roads were constructed.

At the Wabasha Marina according to Walter Leonard, manager, two new slips were erected during the year. One houses 20 small boats and the other, three 50-foot boats, increasing the total to four slips. The size of the harbor also was increased by excavating 40,000 feet.

A new line of boats, the Boston Whaler, an ocean-going boat, has been added, Leonard said.

Wabasha's historic Hotel Anderson, owned and operated by Mrs. Verna McCaffrey and Mrs. Belle Ebner, was sold during 1963. The two sisters are continuing to operate the hotel, although the dining room, featuring Pennsylvania Dutch food, has not been in operation for over a year. New owners are Mr. and Mrs. William Shepherd of New Prague, who take possession Feb. 15. Purchase price was not revealed.

A building on the corner of Main and Pembroke streets, vacant for 1½ years, is now occupied by the Western Auto Associates store, John Dady proprietor. It formerly housed the Schnell clothing store. Before taking possession in October, Dady had the building completely remodeled. The outside was painted and a new sign added. New fixtures and shelving inside and redecorating were completed. Dady estimates the cost at $500. The store sells hardware, auto accessories and appliances.

U.S. Officer Wounded in Viet Cong Raid

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Two guerrillas were killed and one U.S. officer wounded today in the first Viet Cong raid on an American military compound since the Vietnamese war began.

The grenade attack on headquarters of a detachment of 130 officers and men was launched at 4:30 a.m. in the mountain city of Kontum, 280 miles north-east of Saigon.

Nine Vietnamese civil guards detailed to guard the eight-building compound were absent without leave, prompting an investigation to determine if they were involved in the incident.

The Viet Cong casualties were gunned down by an American Sentry, Spec. 4 Dale D. Flinn, 24 of Fowler, Kan. He was on duty because the Americans had decided not to depend on Vietnamese security.

Under cover of darkness, four guerrillas cut their way through a barbed wire fence around the compound.

While one guerrilla stood guard at the fence, three others ran toward a building housing field grade officers, who range in rank from major to colonel.

Spotting the intruders, Flinn opened fire with his rifle, but they made it into the building and each tossed one grenade.

One grenade went off in the room of a U.S. officer, wounding him and setting the building afire.

As the terrorists ran for the fence, Flinn opened fire again. They shot back, but missed, and Flinn killed two of them. The other two guerrillas escaped in the darkness.

The dead Viet Cong carried a 45 caliber pistol and a French submachinegun.

The building burned, but the spokesman said Flinn's alertness probably saved the Americans from greater casualties.

The wounded officer, whose identity was not announced, suffered burns, cuts and scrapes but was not in serious condition. He was taken to a field hospital at Nha Trang.

Pepin County Farm School Set

DURAND, Wis.—The first of the 20th annual Pepin County farm management schools will be held Friday at 1 p.m.

This school will feature a short discussion on this year's feed-grain program and later will go into the scheduled program in swine production and marketing.

Fred Giesler, animal science specialist, will discuss swine management and the future of the industry. Dick Vilstrup, market specialist in animal science, will discuss the future of livestock marketing and show some slides on what type of livestock the markets are looking for. Farm Management schools are open to any interested person in the area.

dock next to the Wabasha Transfer Co. was erected in August at an approximate cost of $2,500, according to John Wodele, owner. The cement block building has two rooms for storage and a cement dock. It is used for receiving and distributing freight.

At a cost of $200 with labor donated by the Wabasha Jaycees, a cut stone entrance and sign to River Vista Park, flanks the roadway to the Wabasha beach and recreation park. Planters are built into the entryways.

A new dentist, Dr. J. D. Nadreau, formerly of Janesville, opened a practice in Wabasha. His office is in the Mrs. E. B. Wise residence on Main St.

Ten new homes were built in Wabasha in 1963, with several others slated to be completed this year.

To most residents of Wabasha, the greatest progress here in 1963 was the election of its native-born attorney, Dan Foley, as national commander of the American Legion in September at Miami, Fla. Signs designating Wabasha as the home of National Commander Foley have been placed at both entrances to the city on Highway 61 and in front of his home Legion Post No. 50 on Pembroke Street.

Let's Get Growing

By A. F. SHIRA
Use of Vines About the Home

The value of vines in improving the appearance of the home and yard is appreciated by many gardeners, yet in many instances they are used only in a haphazard way.

Years ago, many porches were enclosed with vines and we still see this today in the case of some older houses. However, with so many low type houses being built today without porches, the use of vines as screens about the doorways is practically a thing of the past. This does not mean that the value of vines about the home has decreased.

On the other hand, they can be used with greater charm than ever before.

We know of a front porch over-tined with a bitersweet which is in complete harmony with the surroundings. A two-story house has a moon-flower vine covering a large front porch making a dense screen with its large leaves. Another porch, we recall, is heavily covered with the dense foliage of a Dutchman's-pipe vine which must be thinned and cut back to keep it within bounds. These are all on older homes and the vines have been established for years.

Vines are sometimes thought of only as screens to hide unsightly objects, or to eliminate views that may detract from the landscape, or to serve some temporary purpose until more permanent plantings can be established. This is especially true in the use of such annual vines as the morning glory.

A PARTICULAR variety of vine may be attractive in one location, but very much out of place in another. A great deal, of course, depends not only upon the location, but, also, upon the care given the vine as it grows. Since many vines are rampant growers, some attention must be given so they can be kept within bounds. Some thinning and pruning is usually required just the same as with trees and shrubs. Using vines to good advantage requires careful thought on the part of the home owner. The rate of growth, height, the density at maturity and decorative value should be considered.

Now, let us consider some of the types of vines that are hardy in this area and their manner of growth. First, the kinds of vines that climb by twining, or coiling their stems around available supports, even around other stems of the same plant. Usually a particular vine will twine in only one direction, either to the right or left, and Weather conditions varied from clear, bitter cold through freezing fog to blinding snow—and the time schedules made no provision for delays. Here a Falcon swifts through a sudden snow shower, testing traction in a practice run.

Falcon entered two classes in Europe's 2,700-mile winter ordeal—won them both and finished 2nd overall out of 299 cars. That's durability!

In the Rallye's five special Alpine sections, Falcon was first overall in four, tied for first in one. That's roadability!

In the Rallye's final test around the Monte Carlo racing course, Falcons were first and second. That's maneuverability!

MONTE CARLO—The 33rd Monte Carlo Rallye started with 299 cars. Some 2,700 miles and 3½ days later, only 163 were still in the rally when the field struggled into Monaco—but they included all eight of the specially equipped Falcons that originally started!

This eight-out-of-eight record was perhaps more remarkable than the fact that, despite a handicap formula that favored the smallest cars, a Falcon captured second place overall. One car can have luck . . . but eight have to have total performance. Because the Rallye samples every variety of weather and road conditions the continent can provide, and because it winds up on the most remote byways in the French Maritime Alps, it is a supreme test of all the car's abilities. Falcon steering had to be flawless on glare ice above a 1,000-foot drop. Those fabulous V-8's had to run like dynamos.

The final results in the Monte Carlo Rallye gave Falcon 2nd place overall, 1st in Class 8 of the Touring category, 1st and 2nd in Class 5 of the much tougher Grand Touring category, 1st and 2nd in the final three-lap test on the Monte Carlo circuit. The best finish by a Valiant was 88th overall. Falcon gained invaluable experience in how to build a car better, make it tougher, sharpen up its total performance. That's the real reason Ford is interested in open competition—and why Ford-built cars have got so much more to show drivers. Drive one and see; it won't have six lights, or a horn you can hear for four miles in stormy weather, or the other special rally equipment—but it'll sure surprise you!

TRY TOTAL PERFORMANCE FOR A CHANGE!

Can YOU Identify This House?

Homeward Steps at the entrance of a house immediately exclaim the owner as a person of smart, stylish and practical tastes. These top quality Steps have proven themselves to be a wise investment because they need no ordinary maintenance, even after years and years of wear. They're constructed to a full 2" thick reinforced concrete. This is important to you because there are some "skippy" steps now on the market that are only a little over half as thick (and naturally can't be expected to last as long nor be as strong).

Homeward Steps are easier to install, too, because they are separate sectional construction instead of a cumbersome, awkward entire unit to wrestle into place. It is also important to remember that should a step be damaged perhaps a truck backs into it or someone drops a heavy object on it it is practical to replace ONLY the damaged section NOT THE WHOLE EXPENSIVE UNIT!

Through extensive testing and nationwide research it has been found that Homeward Steps are the best walking and climbing height for elderly people and children . . . with patented non-skid surfaces for increased safety. INSIST ON THE FINEST—insist on Union-Made HOMEWARD STEPS. THEY COST NO MORE! Phone 8-1533 for a Free estimate.

IMPORTANT — No Salt or so-called Ice Removers should ever be used on Homeward Steps or any other concrete product.

DEMARET A LITTLE OLDER

Jacobs Gets a Little Bolder

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. — Tommy Jacobs is getting a little bolder and Jimmy Demaret is getting a little older. Which is not only a rhyme but a reason the $50,000 Palm Springs Golf Classic turned out the way it did.

Jacobs won it, beating Demaret on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff Sunday after they finished the regulation 90 holes in 353 strokes each, seven under par.

Demaret, 53, offered this wry salute to his 28-year-old adversary:

"Tommy's a good boy and it was nice he could win it. After all, I've got a lot of years left and he's about through."

Demaret, who hasn't won a PGA tournament in nearly seven years, admitted the 90-hole exercise left him slightly exhausted. In the playoff, he gave away 25 years.

Jacobs, who has a home at nearby Bermuda Dunes Country Club, won the playoff with a nine-inch putt for a par three on the 92nd hole.

Demaret, whose drive left him about 40 feet to the left of the green, was lying three when Jacobs holed out.

That ended a tournament that produced so many ties someone suggested it should be renamed the Wemby Open.

There was a tie after every round. It was Charlie Sifford and Jacobs after the first round. Sifford and Doug Sanders after the second round and Sifford and Bob Charles after the third round. Bill Casper and Chuck Courtney were tied going into the fifth round and Jacobs and Demaret, of course, were tied after 90 holes.

Jacobs got $7,500 of the $50,000 purse. Demaret, who plays only five or six tournaments a year, won $4,000.

Charles and Don January finished in a third-place tie at 354, one shot behind Demaret and Jacobs, and got $3,100 each. Courtney and Bob Goaly were another stroke back and picked up $2,450 apiece.

TREE TROUBLE . . . Tommy Jacobs, trapped by a palm tree on the first hole of a sudden death playoff for the $100,000 Palm Springs Golf Classic title Sunday, elects to chip safely to the fairway and give up a stroke. The strategy worked when his opponent, Jim Demaret, three-putted the green, enabling Jacobs to win on the next hole. (AP Photo-fax)

Start of New Sports Week

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor

With a successful weekend behind them, the Redmen cagers of St. Mary's College tonight inaugurate a new week's campaign by traveling to St. Paul for a tilt with the Scots of Macalester.

The Redmen will be bent upon the task of securing revenge for an early season defeat at Terrace Heights.

Macalester took a 59-58 victory to break St. Mary's six-game victory string and get Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference activity off to a poor start for the Redmen.

Now, seven conference games later, St. Mary's stands with an even 4-4 record while Macalester is 3-5.

ST. MARY'S brought its record to the 500 mark Saturday night at Terrace Heights with a 74-67 victory over Whitley Skoog's Gustavus Adolphus troops.

With captain Tom Hall leading in the scoring department, the Redmen broke from a 42-38 halftime deficit to take the lead with just over 10 minutes remaining.

After Hall had put the Redmen back in contention, Denny Burghman took charge of the victory drive, dropping four consecutive hook shots to give St. Mary's an eight point lead.

Coach Ken Willgen plans no changes in his starting lineup for tonight's game.

Hall and Hog Pyllewski will be at forwards with Jim Rocker at center and Mike Miloney and Al Williams at guards.

IN SATURDAY night's contest, Hall led the scoring parade with 20 points for St. Mary's. Al Williams who kept the Redmen in the game in the first half, finished with 18 and Burghman got 14.

For Gustavus, Bill Lauman poured through 23 points, Andy Hagemann got 13 and Ron Severson 11.

Winona's remaining three quintets take breaks until resuming competition this weekend.

Cotter, the winnnges team in the city with a 15-2 record, is faced with a crucial two-game schedule for Friday and Saturday.

Rochester Lourdes, the team that forced the Ramblers into overtime in the finals of the First Annual Cotter High Invitational Tournament, will be at St. Stan's Friday night.

SATURDAY NIGHT the Ramblers will play at Austin Paeelli. The Cotter Boosters Club is chartering a bus for the game.

Following the two weekend games, only a clash at Mardovi Feb. 15 remains before Region Six tournament competition. Winona High, fresh from a 53-39 victory over Northfield and with a new found starting lineup, plays host to Owatonna at 4-2.

There wasn't a pin registered in the meet.

Winona Coach Gene Nardini speculated that his team might have been tired after its hard fought victory over Northfield Friday, but also praised St. Charles for a strong team effort.

Once again Winona's supremacy in the upper weights proved the difference.

RUPP SEEKS 700TH WIN

Wildcats Test Georgia Might

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Adolph Rupp doesn't much care for cramped old Woodruff Hall in Athens, Ga. Never did. At least not since Feb. 13, 1931.

That's the day he lost his first game as head coach of the Kentucky basketball team. It was at Woodruff Hall. And home-standing Georgia, then as now, was a defensive club. Georgia won, 25-16.

Chances are that the score will be higher than that tonight when Rupp again takes his Wildcats into Woodruff Hall—he once vowed he never would again but it's likely to be a test of Georgia's defense.

Rupp will be seeking his 700th victory as the Kentucky coach and the Wildcats, ranked fourth in the nation, will be gunning for the Southeastern Conference lead. They share the spot with idle Louisiana State, each at 5-2. Georgia, currently one of the hottest teams in the league, is 4-2.

Jean Saubert Adds Silver Medal

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—Plucky Jean Saubert of Lakeview, Ore., added a silver medal to her earlier bronze with a flashing run in the women's giant slalom ski race and young Yank figure skaters got off to a strong start Monday in the United States' brightest day in the ninth Winter Olympic Games.

Miss Saubert, 21-year-old Oregon State coed, broke the monopoly of France's brilliant Alpine sister team by tying Christine Goitschel for second — a fraction of a second behind Christine's sister, Marielle, the gold medalist.

The winning time was 1 minute, 52.24 seconds. Jean and Marielle did 1:53.11.

Jean's two medals are the only ones collected so far by the U.S. team. The Soviet Union, on the other hand, is making a team runaway of the Games, with a total of 15—six gold, five silver and four bronze.

The Russians picked up another silver in the Nordic combined, the only other final of the day, with the gold going to Torodd Knutsen, a 32-year-old Norwegian clerk who had been thought too old for such a rigorous skiing test.

Knutsen sped the 9.3 miles of the cross-country in 59 minutes, 58.6 seconds for 469.20 points.

John Bower of Auburn, Maine, had the ninth best cross-country time with 52:26.4 but finished 15th in the final combined standings with 403.76 points.

Jim Shea was 27th with 346.76 points, after racing the cross-country in 53:04.2. The third U.S. entry, Jim Page of Lake Placid, N.Y., scratched because of an attack of influenza.

In the start of the men's figure skating competition at the Ice Stadium, Scotty Allen, the 15-year-old schoolboy national champion from Smoke Rise, N.J., shot into fourth place in the first two of five compulsory figures. The final three will be skated Tuesday.

Monty Hoyt of Denver, former U.S. champion, was ninth and Tommy Litz of Hershey, Pa., who shines in free skating, was 15th.

Manfred Schnelldorfer of Germany assumed the lead with 363.0 points.

Hoyt's score was 321.6 and Litz had a total of 306.3.

Four of Russia's six gold medals—a record number for one competitor at the Winter Olympics—belonged to one person, Lidia Skoblikova.

TO PLAY IN TUCSON OPEN

PGA Pulling Out of Phoenix

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The Professional Golfers Association is pulling out of this week's Phoenix Open, and wants to play in the Tucson Open instead.

The withdrawal from Phoenix and the Tucson request came Sunday.

The PGA said its members would not play in Phoenix because it had no contract with the sponsoring Phoenix Thunderbirds. The no-contract situation apparently stems from a dispute over television rights.

Thunderbird officials said, however, they would hold the tournament, with or without a contract.

Meanwhile, the executive board of the Tucson Golf Association is to meet at 8 a.m. today and decide whether to advance its tourney.

If the Tucson affair is moved up where Phoenix would get golfers is a good question as the PGA has ruled that any player competing at Phoenix will be suspended for the remainder of the year.

Ricki Rarick, chairman of the Tucson group's 72-hole tournament committee, said the biggest problem would be time to

HUGGINS MAKES GRADE

Hall of Fame Welcomes 6

NEW YORK (AP)—The spitball is legal in the Hall of Fame even if it is out of bounds in organized baseball. Burleigh Grimes and Urban (Red) Faber, two of the last pitchers to throw the spitball legally, were among the six new members named Sunday by the Hall of Fame veterans' committee.

Miller Huggins, the little man who managed the New York Yankees to six pennants in 12 years, and Heinie Manush, the powerful outfielder with a lifetime .330 batting average, also made the grade along with two from the pre-1900 era—John Montgomery Ward and Tim Lincecum.

In some ways Ward was the most remarkable of the group. A jack-of-all-trades as a player, Ward was the only man to collect more than 2,000 hits, 2,151, and also to win more than 100 games, 158, as a pitcher. Ward, active from 1878 to 1894, managed three clubs, acted as president of the Boston Braves, pitched a perfect game for Providence in 1880, organized the Players' Brotherhood and so was the lawyer for the National League.

Ward also set a record of 22 assists for a second baseman that still is in the book.

The addition of the six new men boosted the total membership in the Cooperstown, N.Y., museum to an ever 100. The new members were picked by the veterans' committee from players who had been retired at least 20 years.

Grimes, 70, and Faber, 75, were among the group of four pitchers permitted to continue use of the spitball after it was legislated off the book. Grimes actually was the last. He was active until 1934, retiring with a 270-212 won-lost record. Although he finished up with the Yankees, Grimes earned all but one of his victories in the National League at Pittsburgh, Brooklyn, New York, Boston, St. Louis and Chicago. He lives in Trenton, Mo.

Faber, who works for the Cook County highway department in Chicago, spent his entire career from 1914 to 1933 with the White Sox for whom he won 253 games and lost 211. Although Huggins was a second baseman at Cincinnati and St. Louis from 1904 to 1916 it was as a manager that he was voted into the Hall of Fame. After five years at St. Louis he took over the Yanks in 1918 and managed them until his death at the age of 50 in 1929.

Manush, 62, played in the majors from 1923 to 1939 and spent most of his career in the American League with Detroit, St. Louis, Washington and Boston. He finished up with Brooklyn and Pittsburgh in the National and later managed in the minors, scouted and coached. In 1926 he won the batting title at Detroit with a .378 average.

9 Killed in Wisconsin Accidents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Weekend highway collisions claimed nine lives, including a 68-year-old man and four of his grandchildren, and boosted Wisconsin's 1964 death toll to 84, compared with 48 on this date one year ago.

Sylvester J. Comp, 66, of Milwaukee, was injured fatally Sunday when a car he was riding in struck a parked vehicle on the city's southeast side.

Henry Steinmetz Sr., 68, of Stanley, and four of his grandchildren were killed Saturday morning when the car in which they were riding collided with a So Line "extra" train at a crossing two miles east of Stanley.

The young victims, children of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Smasal of rural Stanley, were Bruce, 10, Roxanne, 9, Douglas, 7, and Gregg, 6. The crash occurred near the Clark-Chippewa County line about one mile from the Smasal home.

Previously reported were the deaths of Douglas Freund, 19, of Fond du Lac, Saturday, and Elijah Chambers, 37, of Racine on Friday night.

2 Shot, Another Kicked to Death

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Two persons were fatally shot and another was kicked to death in unrelated incidents over the weekend.

The victims were John Walter Hester, 18; Orville Knutson, 45, and Matthew Johnson, 59, all of Minneapolis.

Young Hester was shot Sunday night while riding in suburban Hopkins with three other youths. Police said they were told the victim put a pistol to his head to prove it wasn't loaded. The investigation was continuing.

Police said Walter LaVoie, 48, 140-pound plumber, signed a statement Sunday admitting an attack on Knutson during a drinking bout. Detective Wallace Hyvare said LaVoie told of striking Knutson and kicking him with steel-plated boots.

Johnson was shot fatally in what police said was a tippling house. Kendrick Woodson, 35, gave an oral statement in which he admitted the shooting.

FAITH IN GOVERNMENT

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Commission chairman Jerry Pucci of suburban Sweetwater voted against a contractor's offer to share the cost of a bridge with the city.

"If we were to apply for a government grant, we might get two bridges, or four bridges. Who knows?" Pucci said.

Edward Ausderau, Dr. Lowell Patterson, Don Possley, Frank Sylva, James F. Hughes, Al Heikel and Warren Herried, Whitehall, John Kaykendahl, Blair, Herman Rebanehek, Independence; Vernon Olson, Pigeon Falls; LaVerne Sossalla, Arcadia, and Claire Blakely, Sparta.

The Rosary will be said at 8, 8:15 and 8:30 p.m. today and Tuesday. Friends may call at the Kern Funeral Home here after 4 p.m. today.

Warner & Swasey Buys Ohio Tool Plant

CLEVELAND, Ohio — The Warner & Swasey Company, which operates its Badger Division in Winona, Minn., has acquired the business and assets of Manchester Machine & Tool Company, Akron, Ohio, it was announced today by Dr. James C. Hodge, president of Warner & Swasey.

Manchester manufactures a line of carbide cut-off and grooving tools and tool holders used in metalcutting operations with various types of machine tools.

The firm, according to Dr. Hodge, will be known as Manchester Tools — a division of The Warner & Swasey Company. The new division will continue operations at the same address and with the same personnel.

"Manchester's business is currently at the rate of approximately $1 million annually," Dr. Hodge said. "The Manchester line of specialty tool, expendable tools will supplement existing Warner & Swasey products in the machine tool field."

Cleveland-based Warner & Swasey is a major manufacturer of machine tools, construction equipment and textile machinery. The company operates 9 plants in the United States and has a jointly-owned affiliate in Great Britain.
