War to Be Stepped Up in Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials indicated today the United States has reached agreement with the government of South Viet Nam on a program for intensifying the war against Communist guerrilla forces.

The sources were reluctant, however, to confirm specifically that this could mean carrying the conflict beyond the boundaries of South Viet Nam by bombing supply lines in the Communist-held jungles of Laos. But they did not deny that implication.

The decisions, announced in Saigon this morning, are an outgrowth of consultations held here a week ago by Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor with top administration policymakers, including President Johnson.

Johnson sent Taylor back to Saigon with instructions to work out immediately with South Vietnamese leaders, plans for stepping up the war effort, on both military and civilian fronts.

The President avoided any public statement then of a decision to carry air strikes beyond South Vietnamese territory. Privately, some officials indicated that action could be expected within a matter of weeks against the supply lines, but that there would be no air strikes, at this stage, directly against the territory of North Viet Nam.

In the other main field of action, Johnson attached top priority to measures to build political stability in South Viet Nam—but that is a goal toward which the United States has been trying to move for more than a year, and one on which U.S. officials do not expect quick or dramatic results. They would be happy simply to begin to reverse the apparent tide of political disintegration in the country.

The administration expressed concern, in the final White House statement on Taylor's consultations here, that the flow of reinforcements and supplies from Communist North Viet Nam to South Viet Nam had increased, though no details were given.

Slowing the movement of such assistance to the Viet Cong would be one of the main purposes of air strikes against the lines in Laos. But another purpose would be to try to get across to North Viet Nam and to Red China that the United States does not intend to permit the Communist conquest in the south, and will take increasing risks, if necessary, to defeat the Red threat, not only to South Viet Nam but to all Southeast Asia.

Atlas-Centaur Rocket Firing Big Success

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Atlas-Centaur space rocket registered a much-needed test flight success today, hurling its two-ton Centaur second stage and metal model of a moonship into a precise orbit around the earth.

The orbit, a circular path 103 miles high, is the course the Centaur stage must achieve on future unmanned moon and planetary launchings.

The success was the second in four test flights for the Atlas-Centaur. It heralded a possible end to problems which have harassed the rocket and have put it about three years behind schedule. Continued success might enable it to plant a Project Surveyor spacecraft on the moon late next year.

Packed in the Centaur's nose today was a 2,100-pound chunk of metal with the same weight and center of mass as the Surveyor. It was rigged with instruments to measure vibrations and temperature, but was not to separate from the Centaur stage.

The 112-foot tall booster rode away from Cape Kennedy at 9:25 a.m. EST on the power generated by the first stage Atlas. The Centaur upper stage, burning high-energy liquid hydrogen, fired for 5½ minutes and drilled itself into the planned orbit.

This was the third successful space launching at Cape Kennedy in four days.

On Tuesday a space glider was launched on a suborbital flight to test techniques for future spacechips designed to maneuver and land like conventional aircraft.

Thursday the Air Force launched a Titan 3A military space rocket on a successful orbital flight.

The only black mark during the week was an attempt Wednesday to launch an unmanned model of the Project Gemini man-in-space capsule. The launching was frustrated at the last second because of trouble with the engines after they had ignited.

The Atlas-Centaur accuracy today was made possible by flawless performance of an inertial guidance system which was steering the rocket for the first time. On previous shots, the guidance package was carried as a passenger and its potential performance monitored while a separate control system directed the course.

Daylight Time Issue Will Be Back in State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Daylight saving time was a controversial issue when the present Minnesota law was enacted in the special session of 1959.

An Associated Press survey indicates it will be just as controversial if a proposal to change the law is brought up in the 1965 legislature.

The 1959 law provides for daylight saving time from the fourth Sunday in May until the day after Labor Day.

Asked how they stand on a proposal to extend this period, 37 legislators said they would favor it and 34 said they were opposed. Ten said there should be national legislation to achieve uniformity in the matter of fast time.

One rural legislator, Rep. Curtis Warnke of Wood Lake, said the present daylight saving period should be shortened. Two metropolitan area legislators, Sens. Raphael Salmore of Stillwater and Leslie L. Westin of St. Paul, said they planned to offer proposals to make Minnesota daylight saving conform to the Wisconsin dates. These are from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in September.

Legislators also are sharply divided on such questions as a Sunday closing law, party designation for legislators, and making terms of department heads coincide with the term of the governor.

Duke of Windsor Will Undergo Arterial Surgery

NEW YORK (AP) — The Duke of Windsor leaves Saturday for Houston, Tex., to undergo "corrective arterial surgery" by a noted heart doctor.

The former King Edward VIII, now 70, is reportedly suffering from a possible abdominal aneurysm — a ballooning of an artery in the abdomen, according to spokesmen at Methodist Hospital, Houston, where the surgery will be performed.

The duke's wife, the former Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson of Baltimore, Md., will accompany him.

An aide of the duke declined to elaborate on the nature of the ailment.

Mankato State Students Want 'Rock 'n' Roll'

MANKATO, Minn. (AP) — President C. L. Crawford of Mankato State College promises to consider student demands that their social function get more of the "rock 'n' roll, knock 'em down" type of music.

His promise came after 15 students with placards staged a Thursday demonstration on the campus which included the burning of the school's social affairs committee in effigy. An estimated 150 more joined the original band in a precarious march over sidewalks made icy by freezing sleet.

Motorist Killed Near Mankato

MANKATO, Minn. (AP) — A head-on collision today of a car and a delivery truck on Icy Highway 60, half a mile west of Lake Crystal, killed the driver of the car, George W. Dodge, 51, of St. James, Minn. He was alone in his car.

Blast Rocks U.N. Area

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — An explosion rocked the area of the U.N. Headquarters Building today while Cuba's minister of industry, Ernesto Guevara, was delivering a speech in the General Assembly.

At first police said the explosion went off in front of the building, but later they said it did not occur there.

As the explosion went off, a Cuban exile tried to drag down the Cuban flag flying in front of the headquarters building. The woman demonstrator was seized by police and U.N. guards.

The explosion came as shouting, chanting Cuban exiles picked the building.

Four Workmen Hurt in Blast

MADISON, Minn. (AP) — Four employees were injured when a cast iron pipe exploded under the blast from an acetylene welding torch at the Fiedler fertilizer plant here.

Hospitalized here were Francis Schilling, Melvin Nelson and William Komen, all of Madison. Taken to St. Barnabas Hospital in Minneapolis for treatment of eye injuries was Harold Nelson, Correll, Minn.

Sheriff Warren Dyhevik of Lac Qui Parle County said pieces of the pipe were blasted through the plant roof and some were found more 500 feet from the scene.

Judge's Order Releases Suspect

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Judge John A. Weeks spotted a man sitting in the rear of his courtroom wearing a hat.

Disturbed by this blatant disregard for courtroom decorum, Judge Weeks ordered the man to leave. He did.

The clerk called for the burglary case of George A. Rodge, 44, Minneapolis, who had been free on $1,000 bond.

Rodge didn't come forward.

"Your honor," Prosecutor Harlan Goulet interrupted, "that is the man you ordered from the courtroom."

Police are still looking for Rodge.

Crystal Man Found Slain

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The body of a Crystal man, with a bullet wound in the back, was found behind a north side home early today.

The victim was Russell J. Skaja, 30, of 6617 58th Ave. N.

Police picked up three men for questioning.

One of them was Felix Watson, 32, who told police he and two friends were standing in front of a cafe when a car drove up and the driver — apparently Skaja — asked, "Help me."

Watson said he and the other two got into the car, intending to "roll" the driver. Watson said he went through the man's pockets in the alley where the body was found.

Skaja's wallet, containing $171 was under the car seat. He was an installer for Northwestern Bell Telephone Co.

Being questioned with Watson were William Lee, 21, and John Mascott, 24. All three live in the same general near-northside area where the body was found.

Police were told that Skaja apparently was involved in a hit-run accident before the slaying. A witness got the license number of the car and said two other persons were in the car.

Watson, Lee and Mascott were in the 1963 white Chevrolet when it was stopped about 3:15 a.m. in connection with the hit-run accident. Discovery of Skaja's body followed questioning of Watson.

LBJ Has Legislative Duties for Humphrey

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says he will make Vice President-elect Hubert H. Humphrey responsible for coordinating and pressing government programs that are dedicated to the goal of equal opportunity.

This announcement Thursday night to the Urban League was accompanied by a Johnson pledge to make the emancipation of Negroes "a fact" and a promise that he will be content with "nothing less than the full assimilation of more than 20 million Negroes into American life."

In both instances Johnson drew sustained applause.

Urban League Executive Director Whitney Young told the President that Negroes trust

Rock 'n' Roll Singer Sam Cooke Killed by Woman

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Negro rock 'n' roll singer Sam Cooke was shot and killed early today by a woman motel manager, police said, after he kicked in the door of her apartment.

Cooke, 33, was struck in the chest by one bullet from a pistol fired by Berntha Lee Franklin, manager of the South Figueroa Street Motel.

Police said Cooke, who was wearing only a topcoat when he was shot, accused Mrs. Franklin of hiding his female companion, who he said had fled the motel room with most of his clothing moments before.

Officers identified the girl, found in a telephone booth half a block away shortly after the shooting, as Lisa Boyer, 22, a Eurasian of English-Chinese background who lives in Hollywood.

Viet General Escapes Death In Red Attack

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Lieut. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, commander of South Viet Nam's armed forces, escaped death Thursday when the Viet Cong attacked an airport from which he was about to take off.

With Khanh, former premier of South Viet Nam, was Dr. Nguyen Luu Vien, deputy premier in Premier Tran Van Huong's civilian government.

A government source said Khanh and Vien were visiting Phu Quoc, a 30-mile-long island in the Gulf of Siam. They were about to return to Saigon when the attack began.

The plane they were to use was damaged in the fight, and the two men were forced to spend the night on the island. Another plane was sent in for them today and they returned to Saigon safely.

The soft underwood of the musk ox compares with cashmere and vicuna. Just four ounces are enough to knit a feather-light sweater that will resist below-zero cold.

Honor for North Central Passenger

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Mrs. Tina Korte of Duluth will hold two records when she lands this afternoon at Twin Cities International Airport.

The flight from Duluth will mark her first airplane trip and she also will be feted as the ten millionth passenger carried by North Central Airlines since it went into business 16 years ago.

Frank N. Buttner, the lines traffic vice president, was to present Mrs. Korte with a commemorative plaque, a radio set and a "first flight" certificate.

The airline, serving 91 cities in 10 Midwest states and Canada, has logged more than a billion and a half passenger miles without a fatality or injury to either riders or crew.

BILL MERRILL'S

Something to Live by

Recently I made a trip to a metropolis approximately 130 miles from home, conducted a day's work; and was back at a decent hour. It was all possible, thanks to the family capsule. In appreciation, I am determined not to take that contraption for granted, no matter how commonplace it may become.

My grandmother made the years of old live, as she used to talk of the log cabin, the horse and buggy, and the many inconveniences that, to a young boy, made the era prior to motorization, electric lights, and aluminum sidings, almost enchanting, with a note of adventure that seemed could never be paralleled.

As a young married woman, she often would bid her husband goodbye as he drove out of the yard in his wagon pulled by a fine team of horses. Those horses were things of real pride with Granddad. He would be gone days — even a week at a time, calling from farm to farm, town to town, and that team, along with the wagon, was vital to the cause. Little wonder in that day that the fellows would spend leisure hours talking horses, pulling power, rigs, and trading deals of both — the horses and the rigs. In a comparably short time, our nation saw transportation progress from the prairie schooner (which was the covered wagon), and the buckboard, to the fancy surrey with the fringe on top.

WHEN MOTHER was courtin', the very early cars were coming onto the scene. To discuss the era of the automobile with its development, would be a topic by itself, let it suffice to say, it has arrived. It's just the fact that we have come to take the horseless carriage so for granted that we hardly give it due consideration, as our attention is forever being drawn to jets, rockets, and dreams of going to the moon.

But stop and think about our family cars. They are, in the true sense of the word, modern capsules. They include upholstered interiors, (in some cases overstuffed seats) music, news and sports are at your fingertips, with heat controls to adjust the temperature to one's own liking. We rocked over highways at great speeds, put in a day's work in a neighboring community, and then returned—all in a few hours.

In grandmother's day, the trip would have eaten up the better part of a week to complete, to say nothing of the extra day or so to get around from place to place, if the neighboring community was a metropolis. Matter of fact, in the day of horse and buggy, 130 miles hardly seemed like a neighboring community.

IT'S AN exciting age, and most certainly adventure didn't die after all, with the advent of modern living. It's only that there are so many wonders about us that it takes quite an amazing experience to make us feel adventurous any more. Yet, a little thinking on the subject makes one realize it's a glorious life, and all so typified in that family car—a capsule, if you please. Somehow, thinking of the car as a capsule helps stimulate the spirit of adventure. And, if you think about it long enough, you will realize that the real glory isn't in the material things, such as our family capsules—cars to those that don't "dig" this reasoning yet, but in the ability of man to bring things into being, thanks to a Creator that gave man the mechanism of thought.

$4,401 Shortage In Menominee County Treasury

KESHENA, Wis. (AP) — A shortage of $4,401 in the Menominee County treasury has been found by state auditors, County Board Chairman Leo Kohls and Dist. Atty. Michael Eberlein said Wednesday night.

Kohls and Eberlein told reporters of the shortage following a closed meeting with the county board with Roger Alf, state superintendent of municipal audits; and Claude Lehner, a state auditor, both of Madison.

Kohls emphasized that no charges had been made and that there was no proof of wrongdoing.

Eberlein declined to say what action, if any, would be taken.

Bruce A. Wilber, 31, was appointed treasurer when the Menominee Indian reservation became a county in 1961. He was elected in the fall of 1962 and again last November.

The auditors said their report covered the period from Jan. 1, 1963, to Oct. 7, 1964.

City Water Blamed For Pipe Damage

Pipe corrosion, existence's bane for the water department, reared its rusty head again at the Board of Municipal Works meeting Thursday.

Dr. Nels Minne, Winona State College president, told the board that pipes in several new campus buildings have had to be replaced within three or four years after original installation. Lester Larsen, chief engineer, said all piping in the new power plant has been replaced. The plant is three years old, he said.

ALTHOUGH THERE seems to be no consistent pattern, Larsen said, the trouble most often appears in hot water lines. Newer pipes seem much more vulnerable than old systems, Larsen said, noting that pipes in Sorenson, for example, have largely escaped damage. This building, more than 40 years old, has had only normal replacements in their pipe fittings, Larsen observed.

Chemical engineers studying the problem cannot account fully for the random but costly deterioration, Larsen said, but are inclined to blame the city water. Most of the trouble appeared after the city installed its Westfield iron removal plant, he said.

Board Chairman C. J. Borzyskowski said a high content of dissolved oxygen might be responsible for some damage. Tests made in the wake of similar complaints elsewhere in the city had indicated this had been a contributing cause.

INVESTIGATIONS last spring identified the iron removal plant as the source of excessively oxygenated water and some adjustments were made. Complaints about corrosion had seemed to subside to some extent after these changes were made.

Borzyskowski said a testing apparatus, used to detect excess oxygen, is now being repaired. When this is back in service, he said, a check will be made on water supplies to determine whether the dissolved oxygen content has increased. "We're working on the problem," he assured the WSC president.

BOARD MEMBERS also passed a resolution of acceptance for special legislation adopted at the 1963 session of the state Legislature. The law, introduced by Rep. Virginia Torgerson at board request, amended the charter to raise the limit on non-bid purchases from $500 to $1,500. Technically, the legislation was not effective until accepted formally by a majority of the board membership. The technicality was complied with in the board's adoption of the resolution which will be sent to the secretary of state.

More investigations will be made into the idea of an additional reservoir in the Sugar Loaf area, board members decided. Water Commissioner G. O. Harvey displayed a map of the Glen Echo subdivision showing two possible sites for the 500,000-gallon tank on Sugar Loaf hill. It would require about 1,000 feet of main to connect the nearer point to present mains, Harvey's maps revealed.

HARVEY WAS instructed to secure estimates on costs of main installations.

In September the board was told a 500,000-gallon tank could be built for $50,000 and that a 1-million-gallon tank would cost about $70,000. Purpose of the tank is to provide better pressure and to serve as a standby source for Community Memorial Hospital in the event of service interruptions in present mains. The hospital is supplied from the north by a single main which also serves the Sugar Loaf area where residents frequently complain about insufficient pressure at their water taps.

A custodian at the post office here has been commended by Postmaster General John A. Gronouski for his "honesty and integrity" in returning a $100 bill he had found to its owner.

He is William J. Bohn, 118 E. Howard St., who found the bill on the post office floor while performing his duties.

The postmaster general learned of Bohn's actions by reading a letter published in the Daily News, praising the custodian's honesty.

Gronouski wrote: "I am told that you anticipated no reward and received none. Here, in essence, we mutually discover the common denominator of everyone in the postal service: 'We expect no reward for a job well done because a job well done is expected of us.'"

Gronouski wrote that Bohn's action typifies the "honesty and good conduct of thousands of postal people."

Current status of cases on which the welfare department is now working was discussed at Thursday's meeting of the Winona County Welfare Board.

Cases involve legal actions and court proceedings on allegations of support, child neglect, paternity actions, retardation and mental illness.

William P. Werner, welfare department director, said his department has completed adoptive placements of two children.

The board approved payment of routine monthly bills and discussed two settlements of lien

Trials Slated On 3 State Liquor Charges

Three county bar operators will be tried in early January on state charges of selling liquor containing more than 3.2 percent alcohol on Sunday, Nov. 29.

William Klingner, operator of Bill and Betty's Bar, and Cyril Schmidt, operator of Schmidt's Bar, both in Rollingstone, entered not guilty pleas to the charges made by state liquor control agents in municipal court Dec. 1.

ANTHONY SCHELL, operator of Swede's Bar, Stockton, had pleaded not guilty to a similar charge Dec. 1, and trial was set today for Jan. 12 at 9:30 a.m. Attorney William A. Lindquist represents Schell and asked for trial by a 12-man jury.

Attorney C. Stanley McMahon asked for trial by a six-man jury for his client Schmidt. Judge John D. McGill set date of trial for Jan. 7 at 9:30 a.m. Klingner will be tried Jan. 5. His attorney, Roger P. Brosnahan, said that he had not yet decided whether to ask for a jury trial.

JUDGE MCGILL released all three defendants without bail on their own recognizance. They are long-time county residents.

Leonard O. Skoglund, assistant chief of enforcement for the State Liquor Control Commission, swore out the complaints against the two Rollingstone men charging them with selling him "strong" beer on a Sunday. In addition, Skoglund alleges, Klingner sold him a half-pint of whiskey.

Ronald Pearson, an inspector for the commission, charges Schell with selling him a six-pack of "strong" beer, also on a Sunday.

MINNESOTA law forbids the sale of liquors containing more than 3.2 percent of alcohol on Sunday. The state agents raided the three county taverns on the same day, Nov. 29. Charges were pressed in municipal court Dec. 1.

The bar owners face revocation of their licenses to operate if they are found guilty of the charges against them.

Check Forgery Charge Reduced

The check forgery charge brought against James D. Jordan, no permanent address, Thursday in municipal court was dismissed today by Judge John D. McGill on the motion of County Attorney S. A. Sawyer.

Jordan pleaded guilty to a new charge of cashing a check on a nonexistent account and is serving a 17-day jail sentence for lack of $50 to pay the alternative fine.

Sawyer told Judge McGill that further investigation of Jordan's case developed the possibility that the signature on the check was that of his former wife, not his mother as formerly believed. The former Mrs. Jordan could not be reached, Sawyer said; and consequently, there is no real evidence that Jordan forged a signature to the check he cashed at Shorty's Bar Cafe, 528 Center St., last Jan. 14.

The check, for $25, was drawn against a nonexistent account, however.

Whitehall to Hold Lighting Contest

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Donald S. Johnson, president of the Lions Club, announced an outdoor Christmas decorating contest. Prizes $5, $10 and $15 will be offered.

Judging will be by out-of-town persons on the basis of originality and religious theme rather than on the greatest display of lights. Last year's winners won't be eligible for prizes but may receive honorable mention.

Train Almost Struck Another Pepin Car

PEPIN, Wis. (Special)—Further investigation into the death of Sherry Lee Tiffany, 18, in a car-train collision on Highway 35 at the Trevino crossing at 9:20 p.m. Wednesday indicates that her friend Connie Berg, rural Pepin, had crossed the tracks immediately in front of her.

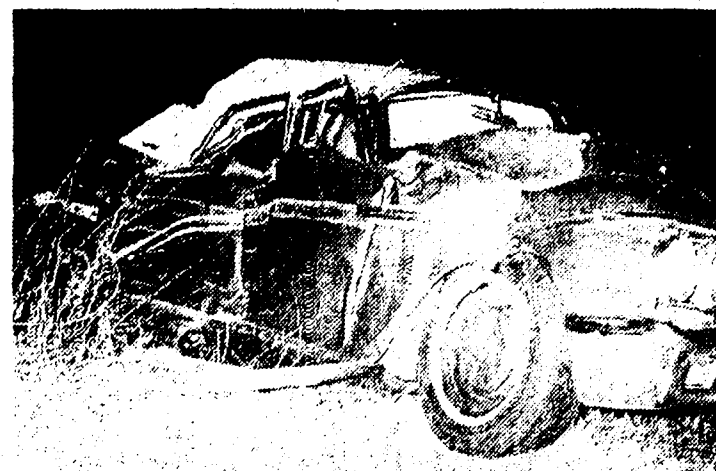

Miss Berg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Berg, said she and Sherry Lee had been together earlier in the evening and were en route home. She said she continued on her way without hearing the collision, and was told about it later.

THE ENGINEER of the Chippewa Valley division freight of the Milwaukee Railroad told Daniel Seifert, first on the scene, the train had barely missed the first car when Miss Tiffany's car appeared on the tracks immediately in front of the diesel.

Seifert, son of the Glen Seiferts, Pepin, was en route east to Nelson when the train barred the highway. He got out to investigate and was asked by the engineer to call help. He started back to Pepin and stopped at the Roy Baer farm to telephone Robert Brantner, Pepin policeman.

Seifert said the diesel had stopped some 200 feet south of the crossing.

THE GIRL'S mother, who arrived at the scene when officers were removing her body from the wrecked 1962 car, collapsed and was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Wabasha. Sherry Lee apparently died in her car of a skull fracture. The vehicle was about 60 feet south of the crossing and 10 or 12 feet down the embankment from the 15-car freight. The car landed on its wheels on the east side of the tracks.

DEATH CAR . . . The 1962 vehicle, struck on the right side by a Chippewa Valley division freight of the Milwaukee Railroad, took the driver, Sherry Lee Tiffany, Pepin, to her death. The train carried the car 60 feet along from the Highway 35 crossing and dropped it on the embankment. This was taken at the scene by Robert Sing, Buffalo County traffic officer.

The crossing marked by railroad signs used where there are no flashing signals, is east of the main Chippewa River bridge, about 4 1/2 miles south of Pepin in Buffalo County, about a half-mile east of the Pepin County line. It's on a straight blacktop highway.

Buffalo County officials investigated with Brantner.

SHERRY LEE was born Oct. 15, 1946, at La Crosse. She moved to Pepin with her parents in 1950. Graduated from Pepin High School last spring, she had been employed about eight months at Arntson drugstore, Wabasha. She was en route home from there.

She was a member of Lima Catholic Church near Durand, where she was to have been married Monday to Herbert Weiss of Durand.

Survivors are: Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Tiffany; two sisters, Mrs. Herbert (Diane) Smith and Pamela, both at home; her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Mildred Blanchard, La Crosse, and paternal grandfather, Herbert O. Tiffany Sr., Nelson.

THE FUNERAL service will be Saturday at 10 a.m. at the Lima church, the Rev. Charles Wolf officiating. Burial will be in Nelson Cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Neil Westberg, Walter Hauer, William Smith, Francis Mulhorn, David Schlosser and John Marsh.

Friends may call at Stohr Funeral Home, Alma, this afternoon and evening. The Rosary will be said tonight at 8.

Merchants Bank Buys More Land

Sale of the former Winona Heating & Ventilating Co. property by its owner, P. Earl Schwab Co., to the Merchants National Bank was announced today.

The heating firm property, occupied continuously since the company's founding in 1903, is just across the alley north of the bank. It consists of one building, 25 by 60 feet, fronting on Lafayette Street, and three buildings with combined frontage of 50 feet on 2nd Street. The latter three, each 100 feet long, join the Lafayette Street at the rear in an L-shape arrangement.

THE SCHWAB company acquired the property in exchange for a new building it is erecting at 324 E. 2nd St., where Winona Heating & Ventilating will be located early next year.

G. M. Grabow, president of Merchants National Bank, said the newly-purchased property will provide room for major expansion now being planned for banking services.

Final shape of the plans will be determined by outcome of an alley vacation petition to be submitted by the bank to the City Council. The bank will ask vacation of the portion which now separates it from the heating firm buildings.

IN CONJUNCTION with its petition, Grabow said, the bank will offer the city use of an alley segment opening on 2nd Street, running south beside Northern Field Seed Co. to connect with the eastern half of the present alley in the center of the block. The bank now owns the quarter-block of land extending from the Lafayette-2nd Street intersection to the seed company's property line. All buildings will be removed to provide a 40-space customer parking lot.

Present plans call for three teller-manned drive-in windows, each with its individual lane, Grabow said. Positioned north of the bank, these will extend across the present alley — if the vacation is granted — with exits on Lafayette Street.

Other remodeling, scheduled to begin next year, will push the second floor rear wall north to coincide with that of the first floor. This will permit enlargement of bookkeeping and proof departments. The departments will be adjacent to space allotted for a large IBM computer to be installed about Nov. 1, 1965. Overhead walkways will connect outside tellers' cages with bookkeeping and data processing departments.

OFFICIALS of Winona Heating & Ventilating said the firm expects to begin moving into its new location next month. This will be the first move in its 61-year history.

The company was established in 1903 by William A. Galewski, who was joined in 1913 by his son, the late William A. Galewski Jr. Since Galewski's death in an auto accident last June, the firm has been operated by surviving stockholders, Mrs. Galewski, William H. Galewski, Donald and Michael Gostomski.

Custodian Gets Commendation From Gronouski

A custodian at the post office here has been commended by Postmaster General John A. Gronouski for his "honesty and integrity" in returning a $100 bill he had found to its owner.

He is William J. Bohn, 118 E. Howard St., who found the bill on the post office floor while performing his duties.

The postmaster general learned of Bohn's actions by reading a letter published in the Daily News, praising the custodian's honesty.

Gronouski wrote: "I am told that you anticipated no reward and received none. Here, in essence, we mutually discover the common denominator of everyone in the postal service: 'We expect no reward for a job well done because a job well done is expected of us.'"

Gronouski wrote that Bohn's action typifies the "honesty and good conduct of thousands of postal people."

County Welfare Cases Reviewed

Current status of cases on which the welfare department is now working was discussed at Thursday's meeting of the Winona County Welfare Board.

Cases involve legal actions and court proceedings on allegations of support, child neglect, paternity actions, retardation and mental illness.

William P. Werner, welfare department director, said his department has completed adoptive placements of two children.

The board approved payment of routine monthly bills and discussed two settlements of lien

Trio Only Stole From Churches

TREMPEALEAU, Wis. (Special)—When residents of Trempealeau noted the conviction of an 18-year-old Mackinac City, Mich., girl in County Court Tuesday on a charge of taking $70 from St. Peter & Paul's Catholic Church at Independence, they contacted Sheriff August Matchey at Whitehall about a speaker missing from the inter-com system at St. Bartholomew's Church here.

Soon Sharon Ann Vieau, who is serving a 15-day sentence in county jail at Whitehall, had admitted she was the thief. She believed it still was in the 1956 Ford in which she had been traveling with Gail Karen Holbrook, 18, Carp Lake, Mich., and Lawrence L. Vieau, 32, Sheboygan, Mich.

THE SHERIFF at Wisconsin Rapids, where her companions are jailed, was contacted and couldn't find it.

Sharon Ann, who claims Lawrence Vieau is not a relative, said she had joined the pair Nov. 18 but they had been traveling for six months, visiting Catholic churches they had pinpointed on a map they carried. The map designated churches in Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

She admitted one of her party had taken $40 from a church as West Salem and also had entered St. John's Church at Whitehall, but had taken nothing there. She said she wasn't involved at these two places.

It was at Wisconsin Rapids, where the trio was captured, that she admitted taking money from the Independence church Dec. 1. That led to her appearance in Trempealeau County Court.

Many Catholic churches have poor boxes and vigil light stands where money can be found, but Trempealeau has none, hence she took something that appeared to be valuable, pulling the inter-com attachment from its standard in the baby-sitting room.

IT WAS taken sometime between Nov. 29 and last Friday. Pastor Edward Sobczyk notified Deputy Sheriff Oliver Landers, who traced the theft. Miss Vieau told Sheriff Matchey they made a "living," but when they got a little ahead, their car would break down and they incurred extra expense in getting it repaired.

Rain Could Have Been Half-Foot of Snow

Nearly half an inch of rain (ell Thursday; had the temperature been below freezing that would have been about six inches of snow.

Now colder weather is expected for the weekend.

CONSIDERABLE cloudiness and colder tonight and Saturday is the forecast with occasional light snow late tonight and Saturday. The forecast predicted a temperature low of 18-25 tonight and a high of 25-30 Saturday. Occasional light snow and colder is the outlook for Sunday.

The extended forecast for the next five days indicated temperatures will average near seasonal normals for the period with daytime highs of 25-31 and nighttime lows of 5-14. Precipitation in the period is predicted at .10 to .25 of an inch in snow Saturday and again early next week.

Total rainfall in the city up to noon today measured .44 of an inch and cut snow cover to a trace from the inch and a half at the start of the rain.

Heaviest rain reported in Southeastern Minnesota was .37 of an inch at Lake City.

High temperature Thursday afternoon was 39, low during the night 35 and at noon today 35.

A YEAR AGO today the Winona high was 25 and the low 14. All-time high for Dec. 11 was 56 in 1949 and the low -11 in 1936. Mean for the past 24 hours was 34. Normal for this day is 22.

Rainfall was general over Minnesota with Rochester receiving 40 of an inch and La Crosse .29. In most cases temperatures were around the freezing mark with a low of 12 today at Redwood Falls and 24 at Bemidji.

The Rochester low was 22 after a Thursday high of 35 and La Crosse posted extremes of 35-36.

Take your choice: Fog, rain, drizzle, sleet, snow. WISCONSIN had them all today.

City and County Street Widening Project Mapped

Plans for widening Junction Street, Gilmore Avenue and Sarnia Street were outlined by city representatives in a meeting with county commissioners Thursday night.

The meeting in the courthouse was attended by City Engineer James Baird and Winona County Highway Engineer Gordon Fay, as well as members of the City Council and the Winona County Board of Commissioners.

BAIRD OUTLINED the city's plan for widening the three streets from the Junction Street-Broadway intersection to Sarnia and Huff streets. This is part of County State Aid Highway 32.

The most critical area, he said, is between Clark's Lane and South Baker Street, where the traffic count is as high as 7,000 vehicles a day. The area of actual construction will be in this area, he said.

County spokesmen pointed out that county road and bridge funds are committed to projects included in a five-year program. The city, however, wants to plan the work next year, with a view toward possible construction in 1966.

In a cooperative project such as this, the county would pay for excavation, base construction and bituminous surfacing. The city would bear the cost of such extras as curb and gutter and storm sewers.

Two methods of financing the work were mentioned, without any decision being reached as to which — if either — would be used.

THE CITY plans to survey the need for reconstruction. County commissioners concurred with this plan, agreeing that a need for such reconstruction exists.

County representatives suggested that — when the county programs construction for its next five-year plan — the city plan with it to make sure that both governmental bodies spend to road and bridge money where needed.

Christmas Light Judging Slated For Next Week

Four display categories will be judged in the annual Christmas Lighting contest for Winona and Goodview residents.

The Winona Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsoring organization, said plaques will be awarded to winners in each of the following divisions:

Best general lighting effect, best lighted religious display, most creative display and best lighted miniature display.

Judging will be Tuesday and Wednesday evenings next week. Winners will be announced Dec. 21, according to Richard Cole, chairman of the Jaycee lighting contest committee.

Post-holiday activities will include the annual Jaycee "tree lift." Discarded trees will be collected from city boulevards by Jaycee crews early in January. Exact date of the pickup will be announced soon.

Driver in Bus Accident Charged

Gary A. Gibbish, 18, a Winona State student from Savage, Minn., pleaded not guilty today in municipal court to a charge of driving without adequate brakes to control his car.

He posted $30 bail pending date of the trial, Dec. 22 at 11 a.m. The charge arises from an accident Wednesday morning in which a car driven by Gibbish collided with a city bus at Wilson and Howard streets.

The bus driver and two passengers were injured, not seriously, in the mishap.

Holiday for Most Students Starts Dec. 18

Dismissal of classes in Winona's public and parochial schools for the Christmas holidays will begin Dec. 18, although several schools will remain in session into Christmas week.

The recess for public school students will begin after classes Friday, Dec. 18, and classes will be resumed the morning of Jan. 4. At Senior High School auditorium the afternoon of Dec. 18 there will be a Christmas music program for Senior High and Central Junior High School students prior to dismissal.

Among the Catholic parochial schools, Cotter High School, Cathedral and St. Mary's schools will follow the Dec. 18-Jan. 4 schedule. Cotter also will have a program on the afternoon of the 18th.

St. Stanislaus School will have a shorter vacation period at Christmas to accommodate an earlier spring dismissal because of the projected construction program which involves a replacement of existing elementary school facilities. The first phase of the building program is expected to begin in early spring. St. Stanislaus will dismiss its students for Christmas the afternoon of Dec. 23 and classes will be resumed Jan. 4.

St. John's and St. Casimir's schools will dismiss the afternoon of Dec. 22 and students will return to school Jan. 6. The schedule was arranged to afford teachers time to attend an educational conference at Mankato during the holidays.

St. Matthew's Lutheran School will have a vacation period extending from noon Dec. 24 until Jan. 4, while St. Martin's Lutheran School will dismiss after classes Dec. 23 and resume work Jan. 4. There, vacations were scheduled to compensate for time devoted to teachers' conferences during the year.

The holiday recess at St. Mary's College will begin at the end of the class day Dec. 18 and continue until the morning of Jan. 4.

At the College of Saint Teresa semester week continues through Dec. 19. Students who complete their examination schedules earlier in the week may leave at that time. Seniors and juniors will return for registration for the second semester Jan. 4 and, with faculty members, will attend a conference on "You . . . Emotions and Modern Times" Jan. 4-7. Freshmen and sophomores will register Jan. 7, a student retreat begins the evening of Jan. 8 and classes will begin for the second semester Jan. 11.

Winona State College students will be dismissed for the holidays after classes Dec. 18 and return the morning of Jan. 4.

The first would be for the city to use its state aid funds for the work. The county could then pay its share within two or three years, using its state aid.

The second method would be for the city, the county or both to issue bonds, which would be paid with from future state aid funds.

THE CITY plans to survey the need for reconstruction. County commissioners concurred with this plan, agreeing that a need for such reconstruction exists.

County representatives suggested that — when the county programs construction for its next five-year plan — the city plan with it to make sure that both governmental bodies spend to road and bridge money where needed.

NASON ON EDUCATION

Overly Helpful Parents Played

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.
University of S. Calif.

From the mail bag—

Dear Dr. Nason:

What can I do with an eight-year-old boy who doesn't seem to care about anything? At home and at school he is the same. When he is told to do something that should take five minutes, it takes an hour. If it should take an hour, it takes all day. I have talked to him, punished him and even spanked him. He still doesn't care. If he were graded on day-dreaming, he'd get an A-plus every time.

The only thing he does without help is his art work in school. In this he gets good grades.

Our doctor says there is nothing wrong with him except he is just lazy. Whether it was learning to talk, doing his school work or cleaning his room it has always been the same. Unless I kept after him, nothing gets done.

Mrs. E.L.R.
Millington, N.J.

Answer:

Your last sentence is the key! By keeping after him about everything, he has learned to depend on you to get him started and keep him going. An eight-year-old can be made to understand this. He can be placed on his own and can be made to develop self-reliance and initiative. Your son's attitude toward art is evidence that he, too, can if he decides to.

You will find it difficult to keep your hands off as he fails and falters in taking charge of his own actions. No play or entertainment until the work is done is more effective than spanking in this situation. Make certain he feels secure in your affection and don't give in, even though he should throw tantrums when he is restricted from the things he would like to do.

Dear Dr. Nason:

I appreciate the link your columns form between the adult worker and the sphere of education.

I notice that certain people think at a much greater speed than others. This is manifest by rapid speech in some and by the variety and detail given in answering questions extemporaneously by others. To what extent can thinking speed be increased within a person's inherited intellectual capacity?

T.E.G., Auburn, N.Y.

Answer:

No one has "measured" the time required in thinking. However, it has been estimated that a person seeing two numbers to be added, such as six and nine can know that the answer is 15 in less than one two-hundredths of a second. Another person, faced with the same problem, may consume much time saying to himself "nine plus six is 15."

Through proper control of thinking procedures, "thinking speed" can be increased tremendously.

Dear Dr. Nason:

An argument has developed in our school district. The school has a policy of reducing a student's grade point average by 3 percent as punishment for such misdemeanors as skipping school. The president of the board said if it is a school rule it must be applied to all students whether they have low grades or high ones. The principal says that it should be applied only if the student can "afford" the 3 percent cut.

We parents feel that the basic idea of reducing grades as punishment is wrong. What do you think? Mrs. M.E.R., Ohio.

Answer:

A student's grade point average should, in no way, be changed once it is established. If schools wish to give students grades in deportment so that their good or bad conduct becomes a part of their record, I would heartily approve. But to report a lower grade in subject matter than a student actually earns, I consider dishonest.

Specialists are seeking to learn about the life cycle and habits of the Arabian oryx. Its elusive ways have made it an impossible subject for study in the wild.

Rolvaag Hails Human Rights Action in State

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Gov. Karl Rolvaag said Thursday Minnesota has the "best body of law and history of executive action in the field of human rights and human relations in the entire nation."

Then, in a speech at the Governor's Human Relations Conference he listed a series of steps he said represent "a basic minimum of civil rights legislation in Minnesota so that our laws in the future reflect the highest hopes, rather than the lowest common denominator."

"The appropriations to Minnesota civil rights agencies must be increased dramatically," said the governor.

"The Fair Housing Law which is part of the Minnesota State Act Against Discrimination administered by the State Commission Against Discrimination must be extended to all housing whether publicly assisted or not."

"The commission must have power to enforce the public accommodations law as part of its statewide program and procedures, concurrently with county attorneys under the existing equal accommodations statute."

"The commission should have the power to issue binding orders, after notice and hearing, like most other administrative agencies, repealing the ridiculous and 'dneovo' provisions (present law requires an entirely new trial in the District Court in certain discrimination cases.)"

"The commission should have the power to obtain a temporary injunction from the court restraining the sale or rental of property, pending determination of a complaint of discrimination to prevent the property involved being sold or rented before determination."

"All licenses to do business, issued by the state or local authorities, should be made revocable upon proof of violation of any anti-discrimination law in connection with the business."

The governor also suggested the possibility of having a high level education specialist on the Human Rights Commission to coordinate higher education human rights activities in all Minnesota institutions of higher education.

VFW Hears Talk On Food Program

Endorsement of a new federal food stamp program was voted Wednesday evening by members of Neville-Lien Post 1287, Veterans of Foreign Wars. James Foster, post member, explained the plan which has now passed both houses of Congress. It is based on pilot projects conducted in 36 localities across the country. Its purposes are to furnish low-income or no-income families with better diets without sacrifice to their dignity and to cut government costs of storage and distribution of food surpluses.

Foster said the program will help fight malnutrition and hunger which are widespread in the nation despite presence of "burdensome surpluses of agricultural products."

The annual children's Christmas party will be Dec. 19, 2 p.m., at the club rooms, members were told.

Chester Tarras said a Winona team will enter the District VFW bowling tournament at Owatonna Sunday.

Entertainment and the arts

THE ROCK AND THE TREE... James Heinlen, Winona painter whose works are currently displayed in the Bell art room of the Winona Public Library, stands beneath the largest painting in the show. The exhibit will continue through December. (Daily News photo)

New Turn Seen In Heinlen Show

By GEORGE McCORMICK
Daily News Staff Writer

James Heinlen's painting has taken a recent stylistic turn, an exhibit currently hung in the Winona Public Library's Bell art room clearly shows.

The bulk of the paintings in the show are the representational landscapes and portraits we have come to expect from Heinlen, but a few paintings give evidence of an almost-mathematical construction, and one, "The Rock and the Tree," seems to be — if not the culmination of this experimentation — at least its present status.

THE MATHEMATICAL quality is seen in two works, "American Armada" and "Three Kings." These are precise, and their intricacy is obviously carefully planned, but their very complexity gives them a life that precludes stiffness.

They look like whimsical machines—and, in fact, do suggest ordered versions of Klee's "Twittering Machine."

Another painting, "Fantasy of Knights," combines some of the qualities of the above two works with almost-representational figures.

These paintings, however, seem to lead one to the largest work in the show, "The Rock and the Tree." A delightful and highly rhythmic painting, it uses the complexity evident in "Armada" and "Three Kings," but makes it more free by adding organic forms.

ALSO NOTABLE in this exhibit is "Medieval Cathedral," in which the ornate, yet solid, qualities of the gothic building are conveyed by Heinlen's thick piling-up of paint.

A low-key work — hanging near the overwhelming "The Rock and the Tree" — and thus easy to miss — is an untitled winter landscape in which the painter has used watercolors to represent an overcast sky, heavy with the threat of snow, yet almost luminous.

The exhibit is a valuable illustration of how a painter's work can develop along a given line. It will continue through December.

All major post offices have converted their parcel post sorting and transportation facilities to the ZIP code system, according to C. L. Wood, assistant postmaster here.

This is important to postal patrons in all parts of the country, Wood said, because almost every parcel goes through one of these offices at one time or another on its trip from sender to recipient.

ZIP codes on parcels stand less chance of being lost or damaged, Wood pointed out, because they are routed more directly and are handled less. Success of the program, however, depends on public use of the ZIP codes, he added.

Wood had these suggestions:

- If you don't know the ZIP code of the person to whom your parcel is going, use your code in the return address.
- When cards and packages arrive, copy the five-digit codes from the return addresses on them and add them to Christmas lists for future use.

Wood explained that ZIP code mail from a smaller post office is generally sent to the nearest main post office or sectional center. From there, it goes directly to the sectional center nearest the final destination. This usually eliminates at least one separation of mail, he said.

Father Charged
With Violation
Of Suspension

A Rochester man was arraigned today in municipal court on a charge of violating the terms of a suspended sentence given after a hearing Sept. 29.

At that time, Raymond Sorenson Sr. was ordered to pay $45 a week for the support of his five children (aged 8 to 16) by his first wife. Sorenson was sought by county welfare authorities when he failed to make any payments after Oct. 19.

TODAY, Sorenson told Judge John D. McGill that he has been disabled much of the time since his last court appearance and has not been working regularly. Sorenson has remarried and has two children by his second wife. He said he has a letter from a doctor concerning his disability.

Judge McGill ordered an investigation of Sorenson's alleged disability by the county welfare department. He released the defendant on his own recognizance pending a scheduled appearance Dec. 28.

Assistant County Attorney Richard H. Darby showed the court a letter from Lawrence E. Curran, county caseworker, saying that Sorenson would be $350 in arrears on his support payments as of today.

The letter also said that Sorenson's former wife, Maxine Johnson, has asked for ADC relief for the support of her children by Sorenson, which would amount to $147.60 a month.

His former wife is also remarried, Sorenson said at his September appearance.

JUDGE McGill rebuked Sorenson for not making application to the court for an adjustment of his support payments while disabled. He set Sorenson's bail at $100 but told the Rochester man he possibly could be released on his own recognizance after a conference with the judge.

Sorenson said that he had only been employed a total of five or six weeks since late September. He will get his first unemployment check in two weeks, the defendant said.

A bench warrant had been issued Nov. 10 by Judge McGill, but Sorenson was not served with the warrant by the Olmsted County Sheriff until this week.

Assault Case
Goes to Jury
In Wabasha

WABASHA, Minn. (Special)—The aggravated assault case brought by the state against Larry Wayne Aslakson, 18, Red Wing, went to the jury in Wabasha County District Court at 11:30 a.m. today.

Aslakson is charged with operating his car in such a manner March 31 as to force Young Tack Kim, Winona, off the traveled portion of Highway 61 1½ miles north of the intersection with Highway 60 here, resulting in the fracture of the lumbar vertebra.

JUDGE Arnold Hatfield said the law provides for a sentence up to 10 years in prison or $10,000 fine or both.

There were three questions in the verdict: Did the jury consider that harm was inflicted; was it intentional, and was it great bodily harm.

Testimony closed at 4:10 p.m. Thursday. Pleas to the jury opened at 10 a.m. today.

County Attorney John McHardy told the jury Kim's mature judgment in letting Aslakson pass him on Highway 61 at Reads Landing was a mistake, because it was south of there he was forced off the road. The young men were proceeding from Red Wing south.

Martin A. Healy, Wabasha, attorney for Aslakson, called the erratic driving of Aslakson and his companions horse play as they harassed the Kim vehicle south from Red Wing.

DENNIS Morrison, Winona State College, and Richard Friese, now apprentice electrician at Red Wing, were witnesses for the state Thursday afternoon. They, with Clark Leeson, now at the University of Minnesota, and John Stuber, Winona State, were riding with Kim.

The state rested at 3 p.m. William Sarazin, 20, Reads Landing, and Aslakson testified for the defense. Larry Hemphill, Red Wing, who was with them at the time, now is in Washington.

Sarazin denied seeing Kim's car in the ditch.

On cross-examination by McHardy he admitted making a false statement regarding his age when applying for a marriage license at one time.

TESTIMONY by Aslakson closed the defense. He said he passed Kim at Maple Springs as they were taking Hemphill to Wabasha to take a driver's test.

Kim, a Korean law graduate, then a student at the University of Wisconsin.

Altura Resident
Faces Charge

Duane M. Savoy, 24, Altura, Minn., was charged today in municipal court with carnal knowledge and abuse of a 14-year-old girl.

The complaint, sworn out early this month by the girl's mother, alleges that the offense took place on or about March 1.

JUDGE JOHN D. McGill asked Assistant County Attorney Richard H. Darby to certify to District Court that Savoy should be represented by a court-appointed attorney. Under oath, Savoy revealed that he owns no real or personal property other than his clothes.

He has a check for $91 due from a job he has been working at this fall, Savoy said. Darby asked that appointment of an attorney by District Court be made conditional on Savoy's turning the check over to his wife for the support of their three children, aged 1 to 3.

The charge against Savoy is a felony, and he cannot make a plea to it in municipal court. However, Judge McGill ordered an appearance by Savoy next Friday when he can ask for, or waive, a preliminary hearing. The state would be required to show that there is cause for trying Savoy on the charge if he asks for the hearing.

Savoy is being held in county jail under $1,500 bond set by Judge McGill, pending his appearance in municipal court.

THE DEFENDANT is separated from his wife, who lives in Winona. He pleaded guilty Oct. 30 in municipal court to assault against her and paid a $35 fine levied by Judge McGill.

Twelve days later, Savoy pleaded guilty to non-support of the couple's three children. Judge McGill suspended the usual $100 fine and 30-day jail sentence in the case provided Savoy pay $75 a month child support while employed.

Titled "The World in 1964 — History As We Lived It," the 300-page hardback volume is destined to become a memorable collector's item. It will be sold exclusively by this newspaper in the Winona area.

More than an ordinary almanac or annual, "The World in 1964" was specially assigned to a team of AP writers who have recaptured the immediacy of the year's exciting news events in vivid, dramatic writing.

HIGHLIGHTING THE month-by-month coverage are hundreds of the best color and black and white pictures, many of them reproduced full-page size. The unique combination of living history in text and brilliant photography brings a fascinating year of news to life.

DFL Warning Up to Sales Tax

CONG. DONALD FRASER told a DFL gathering on Saturday that a state sales tax would be preferable to undesirable cuts in the budget for such services as mental health programs.

As a Minnesota legislator and leader in the DFL party, Fraser opposed a sales tax. Such opposition still is the official party line. Gov. Karl Rolvaag often—though not lately—has stated that he would veto a sales tax bill if the Conservative (Republican) Legislature passed one.

But sentiment appears to be changing in some DFL circles. Businessmen around the state who are local DFL officials have been asking why the party can't go for a sales tax as a partial replacement for the property tax, which is becoming so onerous a burden in so many communities.

FARMERS ARE questioning the high personal property tax rates. The Upper Midwest Research and Development Council has cited Minnesota personal property levies as a factor limiting employment. Public school districts, faced with the need for more funds, despair of getting much more from local property taxes.

Thus the sales tax looks more palatable to some of its old foes. Rep. Fraser said he would prefer higher income taxes to a sales tax, but would prefer a sales tax to higher property tax rates. There have been reports that this is the position of some other DFL officials and that they plan eventually to accept a state sales tax with a great show of reluctance.

MAYBE FRASER'S remarks are, in effect, their trial balloon. — Minneapolis Star

TODAY IN NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Warns Against New Depression

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Warnings against a serious economic depression in the United States within the next 18 months may be unpalatable, but if they serve to emphasize some of the trends that are actually appearing in the economic situation in America today, preventive measure could still be employed in time. Public opinion has its own way of applying correctives.

Since private credit is so widely expanded nowadays, it is of transcendent importance that high employment be maintained and that the workers themselves shall be able to make their installment payments.

Next, it is essential that prices shall not rise so as to discourage the demand for goods. For when demand drops off, production has to be curtailed, and many workers usually are laid off. This means fewer jobs would then be available for newcomers, too, in the labor market.

PRICES CANNOT be kept stable if wage increases are extorted far beyond the capacity of business to absorb without increased income from sales.

Today, the whole wage-price structure is running into trouble. Management seemingly is helpless. It cannot afford costly strikes. It cannot depend on government action or law to restrain labor's demands. The administration which has just been elected is in an embarrassing position because the labor unions supplied, directly and indirectly, one of the principal methods whereby the campaign was financed and the labor vote was organized. The work done to line up the labor vote for President Johnson was far more intensive than anything accomplished by the regular organizations nationally in either political party.

The labor drive not only swelled the Johnson-Humphrey electoral vote but had a vital part in electing a majority of the members in the House of Representatives and in bringing about the election of enough senators to assure control of that body.

WHEN THE crisis recently arose in the auto industry, the President did not intervene. The auto companies had to surrender so as to avoid costly strikes. Yet the settlement reached could be damaging to the American economy. Other industries, including steel, now are threatened with a similar pattern of wage increases, though they are not in as good a position to absorb such raises as are the auto companies.

The central weakness in the whole situation is that the labor union leaders in different industries vie with one another to get wage increases at least of the same size as in another industry, though conditions may vary. Also, inside the big unions such as steel, if the top officers fail to get a wage settlement such as labor won in the auto industry, they may be defeated in the next union election by candidates who promise more.

This is not a new development. The late President Kennedy struggled with the dilemma in 1962 as his Council of Economic Advisers came up with a plan which avoided government control of wages or prices but did set forth points of "advice" within certain limits. These were called "guidelines" or "guidelines." They provided a means of measuring "productivity," and if it increased, for example, by a 3.2 percentage, the wage rises were to be correspondingly held to that figure. Prices might even be reduced as efficiency improved and unit costs were lowered.

THE CONCEPT was widely hailed. But in the auto settlements in recent months, the formula was torn to shreds. President Johnson last week in his speech to the Business Advisory Council returned to the theme as he said:

"I believe that through wage-price guidelines government can offer leadership on the kind of voluntary private wage and price policies that are consistent with achieving sustained prosperity, full employment and price stability."

But on the next day the head of the Steelworkers Union told a press conference that he didn't intend to be restricted by any "guidelines." He said the settlement would be "non-inflationary," which means, of course, that no matter how high the wage costs go, the companies are supposed to hold or even reduce their prices. This is the sure road to a diminished volume of sales and an economic depression.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

No. 1 Lobbyist Playing Both Sides of Street

By DREW PEARSON
WASHINGTON — Most successful lobbyist in Washington remains O. Roy Chalk, the D. C. transit czar.

Roy got more out of the Eisenhower administration than any other Washingtonian, and it now looks as if he would get plenty out of the Johnson administration.

It was the charming, ubiquitous Roy who had the foresight to hire Mamie's brother-in-law, Col. Gordon Moore, even before he was elected President and when Col. Moore was on his uppers. As a result, Roy was invited to select White House parties when other lobbyists were left out on Pennsylvania Avenue in the cold.

Roy was able to get the streetcars removed from the District of Columbia in favor of buses; snagged a choice airline for himself to Puerto Rico, though he had never been in the airline business before; and became the capital's most sacrosanct citizen.

Last summer, Roy looked ahead again, figured Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota would be the next vice president, threw a big soiree for him, replete with donkeys and all the political trimmings. Roy also had his private yacht off shore at Atlantic City to take Democratic bigwigs cruising when the convention got too dull — which was most of the time.

Today, Roy sits as cocky and cool in his tower overlooking the Potomac, quite certain he can block a subway for sprawled-out Washington and suburbs — that is, unless he runs the subway.

ROY WANTS THE taxpayers to put up the money to build the subway, then turn it over to him.

"The only private operation I would consider is that like in 1956 when Congress named the D. C. transit to run the city's bus lines," Roy proclaims.

That would seem an audacious statement. However, O. Roy Chalk probably has the power to enforce his authority. He knows how much he has contributed to key congressmen, also figures he can count on his friend, likeable, sometimes glib, vice president-elect Hubert Humphrey. In the lobbying business you have to butter up the key men well in advance.

Rev. Carl McIntire, the defrocked Presbyterian minister, has suddenly blossomed out with a new college in Cape May, the quiet little South Jersey resort town where he makes his headquarters.

The rootin'-tootin' fundamentalist minister had already taken over the 10-story Admiral Hotel, renaming it "The Christian Admiral." Then suddenly Cape May residents woke up to read a sign: "Shelton College admissions office."

THIS WAS THE first news they had that they were to become an educational center.

Most of them had never heard of Shelton College, but they have now. It has 175 students, is being transported from northern New Jersey.

Cape May is in a dither. Rev. McIntire, who had blasted Johnson and Kennedy on the radio for months, says he will build 18 college buildings all at once. This means rezoning, loss of taxes, an urban revolution.

The city fathers are stunned. They are for education, but they would like to have more to say about its operation, and at the moment it looks as if one man only, the energetic fundamentalist, would have most of the say.

Members of the House Democratic "study group" were sworn to secrecy when they met behind closed doors last week and pledged not to "leak" to the press. However, here is how they decided to recommend the purge of two disloyal Democrats: John Bell Williams of Mississippi and Albert W. Watson of South Carolina.

Previously, in 1956, Williams had deserted but so also had a northern Negro, Adam Clayton Powell of Harlem. And the late Speaker Sam Rayburn ruled that neither be purged.

But last week, in secret session, long, tall Frank Thompson, the Trenton, N. J., Democrat who presided over the study group, recalled that Rayburn had argued there had been no advance notice to the two deserters. This time it was different.

THE STUDY group was shown a joint statement by ten Democratic leaders dated Oct. 2, 1964, warning that Democratic congressmen who voted for Goldwater would lose their privileges. William Phillips, counsel of the study group, displayed numerous press clippings showing how Watson had bolted three days later. The clippings also showed both Dixiecrats had made public statements that they expected to be punished by the Democratic party.

The secret session also cited the Republican precedent of 1925 when ten GOP congressmen from Wisconsin were purged for supporting the late Sen. Bob La Follette and the Progressive party.

Note 1 — President Johnson had telephoned some of the congressional leaders approving the idea that Williams and Watson be stripped of party rights.

Note 2 — The study group deduced taking a stand on deprogramming committee dictators as proposed by Rep. Dick Bolling of Kansas City, who has written a challenging book, "House Out of Order," on the chaos in Congress. But the group did recommend a joint committee of House-Senate members to consider modernizing the rules of Congress, now about as out of date as the Ford trimmer plane in these days of jet travel.

SETS A RECORD
NEW YORK (AP) — "What Makes Sammy Run?" has set a longevity record at the 36-year-old 54th Street Theater.

The musical starring Steve Lawrence opened Feb. 27, and has gone past the 228-performance mark set by "No Strings." The most successful show ever to occupy the 54th Street, "On the Town," moved to another theater midway in its run of 462 performances.

WASHINGTON CALLING

U.S. Popularity In Asia Is Low

By MARQUIS CHILDS

KARACHI, Pakistan — Support for or even understanding of America's very difficult position in Viet Nam is hard to come by in Asia. This reflects the growing consolidation of the Asian-African bloc under the pressure of Red China, applied with extra force since the Congo tragedy.

Pakistan is still nominally a partner in the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization and the Middle East pact known as CENTO. But if newspapers reflect government opinion, and western diplomats believe they do in this "basic democracy," the advice to Washington is to get out as quickly as possible.

Claims Thurley Homes Infested With Roaches

To the Editor:

I am a resident at the Housing Project — and I'd like a public opinion on whether you think it's reasonable to have to live and pay rent in a place that's at least half infested with cockroaches. Winona might be an island, but these roaches are ridiculous!

My neighbors and myself have complained repeatedly to the office and the Health Department with no results. The Health Department says there is nothing they can do. They aren't authorized to come out here and spray. Well, as far as I know, this project is just government subsidized. There are city officials on the board of directors, so why can't the city spray? What does the federal government care if I have cockroaches?

Trying to kill them with these cans of spray is like fighting a war with a water pistol. They get used to these sprays we can use and it hardly affects them. They say they are harmless and I'd like to know how that's true when they crawl out of the sewers and through every nook and cranny into your food, dishes and clothing.

I thought roaches were the result of climate, poor plumbing and dirt. But I found out. I'm a fanatic house cleaner and I still have them.

Gives you a creepy, insecure feeling when you're leary of opening a cupboard door and making meals, when you have to constantly search your clothing and bedding and furniture to make sure you're alone. Try sitting down to eat and have them crawl out from under the table. Good way to lose weight maybe — but lousy on the disposition.

When you complain at the office they tell you it's impossible that you have that many cockroaches. Or that you even know what one looks like. If you give them a sob story they will give you a can of spray and if not you can buy your own.

If you ask for a can of spray every month they ask you what you're doing with it. Guess they think it smells so good we use it for a deodorizer. Then they ask you if you leave dirty clothes around or clean your house. Well maybe some people have more disorder in their house than others and they have more roaches. But you can't live in an empty house to get rid of roaches either.

I read somewhere that it was considered that types of cockroaches carried hepatitis. I sure don't want to find out the hard way.

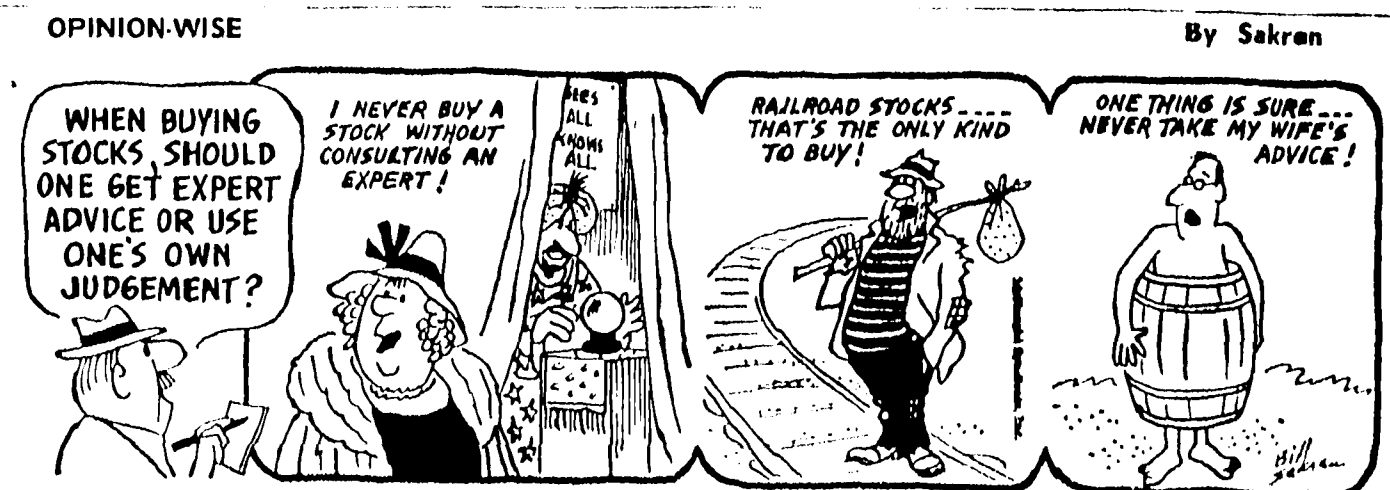

I don't know if there is anything you can do about this or if you can print any of this and if you can whether I'll have a place to live. But I'm speaking for everyone out here that has them.

CLU Claims School Board Is Inconsistent

The Winona Central Labor Union Wednesday asked the Board of Education to explain what the labor group charges is inconsistency on the part of the board.

The alleged inconsistency is that the board accepted the CLU's resolution supporting construction of new school buildings, but rejected another CLU resolution, this one asking that the board reopen discussion of the recommendations of an adjustment panel formed to settle teacher-board differences over salaries and other matters.

THIS LATTER resolution was passed at the CLU's Nov. 11 meeting. The board later placed a copy of the labor group's resolution on file, taking no other action.

In a letter to the school board Thursday, the CLU wrote:

"We have heartily endorsed the proposal of the Board of Education for construction of new buildings. We recognize the need for these facilities to maintain a good education system.

"However, we also recognize that any educational system is only as good as its instructional staff. It is most important, therefore, that we attract and retain good teachers. We feel, also, that the best instruction can only be accomplished by maintaining a happy, well-paid staff.

"The Central Labor Union feels that the Board of Education owes us some explanation for the obvious inconsistency in the acceptance of our endorsement of a new school building program and the apparent disregard of our recommendation on the adjustment panel's findings, both of which, we feel, are equally important in maintaining the high standards of education we desire in our community."

THE ADJUSTMENT panel, a three-man group, was formed after the board and teachers could not agree on salary schedules and other matters for the current school year. The panel had recommended a revision of teacher-board discussion procedures and had called for upward adjustment in the current year's salary schedules.

The board, however, placed the panel's report on file, provided that the plan suggested be used during discussions to be

Model Railroaders Steam Up for Sunday

A final check-out of their layout was run by Winona's Model Railroad Society members Thursday night in the loft above Holden's Drug Store, 953 W. 5th St.

The check-out was in preparation for this Sunday's 11th annual pre-holiday show and open house of the group's realistic "0" gauge layout. Everyone is invited to attend the open house from 2 to 5 p.m.

CONTRIBUTIONS received are donated to the Goodfellows Christmas fund.

The layout itself is hand-built with more than 1,800 man-hours of labor over more than 10 years. Much of the rolling stock was constructed from kits, but several important pieces were painstakingly scale-built by hand.

The 500 feet of track extends the full length of the loft on one side. An upper and a lower loop form the simplified "plan" of the layout, and there is an extensive yard installation for marshalling of trains.

Some idea of the pains taken to achieve reality of setting is

City Planning Meeting Delayed

The City Planning Commission postponed its Thursday night meeting because it lacked a quorum. Only two of the required five members were present.

The commission will meet Dec. 22. Put over until then for action is the petition of Carl Zaborowski Jr., 660 E. Broadway for rezoning lots at 666 E. 2nd St. from M-1 (light manufacturing) to R-2 (one-to-four-family residential) category.

Also scheduled is a hearing on a preliminary plat of Burns Acres, proposed development in East Burns Valley at the city's far southeastern limit.

indicated by the 10,000 hand-laid ties. The rails were spiked into place by hand. The 40,000 tiny spikes were placed with a specially grooved pliers.

THE LAYOUT remains a "work in progress," however. Club members are presently trying to puzzle out how they could carry a proposed trolley line across the railroad tracks to the town which is under construction.

Additions to the layout this year include new track-work, installation of lighting in three buildings and a 4-by-12-foot background mural.

The electrical circuitry needed to run trains over this network of brass rails was so designed that a crew of three engineers is required to operate the pike. One is stationed at a control panel in the yards by the turntable.

From there, he controls all activity in the yards. It is his job to make up trains from the 60 cars available for runs on the main line. He gets his locomotives from the roundhouse and the diesel house by use of the turntable.

AT THE SAME time, the other two engineers are stationed at the central control panel to guide their trains on the main line tracks. The layout has its own closed circuit telephone system with which the engineers coordinate their whole operation.

Present active members of the society are: William F. Holden, 773 Terrace Lane; Frank O. Whetstone, 1026 W. Wabasha St.; James Meier, 561 E. 4th St.; Jay A. Stirmann, 262 Cummings St., and August L. Vogler, 361 Minnesota St.

Youths to Present Advent Service At St. Matthew's

The Advent service at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at St. Matthew's Lutheran Church will be presented by the Youth League.

The service will emphasize the Old Testament prophecies relating to the coming of Christ. The gradual lighting of the church symbolizes the unfolding of Old Testament prophecies which led man from spiritual darkness in which he was because of sin to the glorious light of the Gospel. The reading of the prophecies will be accompanied by the lighting of candles.

The congregation will join in the singing of the hymns. The Youth League choir, directed by Douglas Bode, will sing "Come, Thou Precious Ransom, Come," "O Lord, How Shall I Meet Thee," and "Lord of Hosts." The girls' choir will sing, "The Magnificat."

Organist for the service will be Miss Kathleen Skeels. Reading the antiphons and responses will be John Matson and Wayne Stender. Acolytes will be Bill Gilbertson and Tom Dunlap.

Blair Proceeding With Plans for Sewage Disposal

BLAIR, Wis. (Special) — Blair Common Council has taken preliminary steps toward construction of a ridge and furrow sewage disposal system.

It will handle wastes from the Preston Cooperative Creamery cheese making — and whey drying operations.

CONSTRUCTION was approved 406 to 44 at the November election. Estimated cost is $116,000.

The council now has applied for a $34,622 federal grant.

The sewage committee of the council was authorized to meet with creamery directors to select a site for the disposal, probably adjacent to the present plant. Cost of the system will be paid by the creamery through a charge for its use.

Members agreed that Davy Engineering Co., La Crosse, should proceed with detailed planning as soon as the site is selected.

The clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for coal and fuel oil for city use. Bids will be opened at the January meeting.

HOW IS

Your

VISION

What you see and what you look for, when you read, makes a difference. Vision is 87% of all avenues to the brain. Can your vision distinguish between good and evil, honor and dishonor? Jesus said, If your eye leads you into sin, pluck it out. The library of your church will give you reading of 20-20 vision for the soul.

The Bible, in any version, is the world's best reading. Has your Bible reading vision become impaired? Do you develop astigmatism when you start reading God's word? What reading the Bible has done for others... it will do for you. Read it with 20-20 vision of mind and of soul.

Central Methodists Expand Facilities

By FRANK BRUESKE
Daily News Church Editor

A new sanctuary, a new Norton chapel, a new kitchen and classrooms will greet members of Central Methodist Church when they tour the newly completed structure Sunday.

The church, constructed in a modified Romanesque style, has eight laminated wood arches that peak 42 feet above the floor.

THE SANCTUARY including the chancel is 52 by 112 feet and will seat about 500 parishioners. There is additional space for about 80 choir members.

Norton Chapel, also on the first floor, will seat about 80.

The church now has a total of 28 classrooms and meeting rooms.

The basement area has eight classrooms plus six other rooms which will double for classrooms, committee rooms, sewing room and Boy Scout room. In addition there is a kitchen which can serve 80 to 100 persons; a choir rehearsal room, two dressing areas for the choir; a bride's room, a mechanical room, an organ blower room, a fireless recreation room and a men's lounge.

The first floor also has administration offices, pastor's and assistant pastor's office and a general workroom.

The second floor has eight primary classrooms. Five of these rooms have their own toilet facilities.

These classrooms and offices are in addition to the existing facilities which include six classrooms, a guildhall, fire-side room and a kitchen.

A Hensel Fink, Philadelphia, was architect for the church. He worked through Eckert & Carlson, a Winona architect firm.

MRS. ODELL Prather, Philadelphia, was the window designer. The chancel window visible from Main Street is called the Glory Window. The window, 38 feet high and approximately 25 feet wide, carries the theme, "Christ the True Vine."

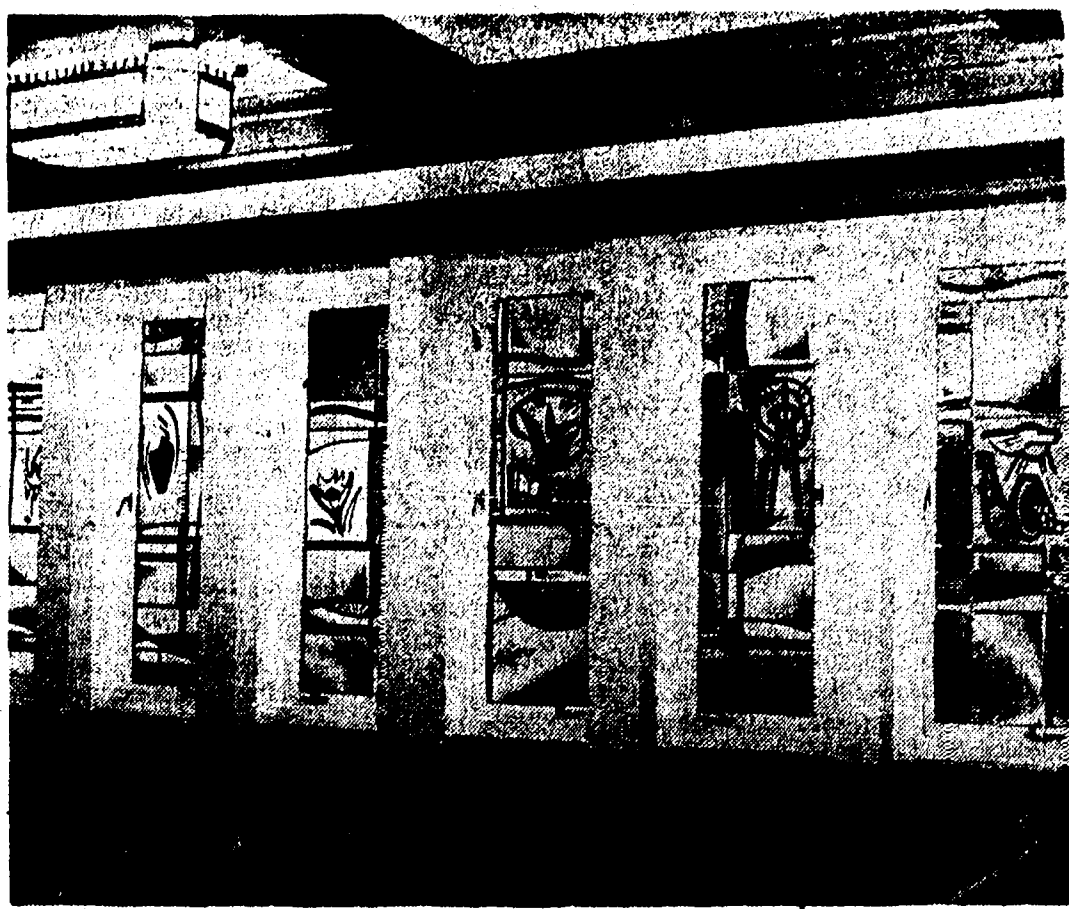

Faceted slab glass in epoxy and mosaic of gold are used in the chancel windows. In the center lancet Christ is represented as the beginning and the end. The top lancets represent angels of the Heavenly Hosts, surrounding the throne of God. At the left is St. Gabriel, the messenger angel while below is the flaming heart, the Wesley symbol. The right lancet carries the figure of St. Michael in full armor and carrying a pair of balances to indicate the militant power of God and the weighing of men's souls on judgment day. Symbols of the entwined vine; the praying hands; and the censer of worship; the trumpet and the harp of praise are located in the upper areas of the lancet.

THE RUBY CROSS in the center lancet and the wine press at the feet of Christ with the Communion Cup and the nails symbolizing the eternal light given in the passion sacrifice of Christ.

The nave windows around the church are constructed of faceted slab glass in epoxy and mosaic of gold. The nave windows are divided into nine groups: The Nativity, The Boy Christ in the Temple, The Baptism by John, The Healing Ministry, The Teaching Ministry, The Last Supper, The Crucifixion, The Resurrection and the Ascension.

New Edifice Cost Nearly 1 Million

The majestic new Central Methodist Church, which will open its doors for the first time to worshippers Sunday morning, cost nearly $1 million, including furnishings, and many thousands of hours of labor from the time construction started until it was completed.

According to P. Earl Schwab, general contractor for the church, a total of 12,000 cubic yards of material were hauled away from the building site. This included materials from excavation and debris from the burned out structure. An average truck will carry six to 10 cubic yards.

Approximately 40,000 concrete blocks were purchased in Winona for construction of the church. About 30 tons of structural steel, seven tons of steel decking and 40 tons for concrete reinforcement were used.

CONCRETE totaled about 2,000 cubic yards, employed for footings, walls, slabs and reinforcement. A standard ready-mix concrete truck can haul about six cubic yards.

There are 4,400 square feet of stone floors and walks and 10,000 square feet of soft tile flooring.

There are 5,500 square yards of plastering in the new church and 15,000 square yards of painting and stain work. Forty-four tons of roofing tile were used and about one truckload of hardware.

Schwab said 15,000 square feet of Winona Travertine stone were needed for the exterior, plus 22 truck loads of Bedford stone for trim around the doors, windows and for carved stone work. There were 11 truckloads of millwork — doors and windows. Bedford stone came from Bedford, Ind., and the millwork from Calmar, Iowa.

THE NEW CHURCH nearly matches the construction and color of the church tower and the remaining Guildhall. He said this became possible because the same type of stone was selected, the same type of trim, and the colors matched almost perfectly. The church tower and stone towers facing Main Street were sandblasted before construction of the new church was started.

More than 500 working days went into construction of the church. At the height of construction about 40 men were at work.

It isn't quite four years ago when on Jan. 23, 1961, the only church the Central Methodist congregation had was a bell tower and a ruin of ashes and stone.

McKinley to Dedicate Educational Building

Located at the rear of the church building the educational unit was built in 1957 at a cost of $125,000. The two-story and basement building consisting of classrooms, nursery, friendship room lounge, dining room, kitchen, office and pastor's study was consecrated Feb. 16, 1958, by Dr. Paul Hayes who was at that time Southeast District Superintendent.

A BEQUEST from Miss Sara McCarl, a charter member of McKinley Church, who hoped that her money would be used for the Christian education of children was the nucleus of the money needed to build the needed classrooms. Pledges and gifts of members and friends over a nine-year period have paid the cost of the building.

Chairman of the Commission on Education is Ernest Buhler. Earl Laufenburger is general superintendent of the Sunday school and Mrs. Fred Heyer is assistant superintendent. There are 20 teachers in the Sunday school, offering classes from nursery age to an adult Bible class.

Harmony Farm Building Burns

HARMONY, Minn. (Special) — Fire destroyed all but the block walls of a 24-by-60-foot hog house on the Richard McCabe farm about seven miles north-east of Harmony late Thursday afternoon and evening.

All hogs, except for a sow and nine pigs were saved. Some oats also was saved.

The fire started about 5 p.m. McCabe's sons had gone into the house and had been there about 15 minutes when they saw the flames in a window of the building. They believe a heat lamp may have exploded and started the fire.

Harmony, Lanesboro and Preston fire departments were called and stayed at the scene until 10 p.m., saving other buildings in the area. It was raining, and there was no wind.

Firemen stood by on call in case of a flare-up. The blaze started again at 1:30 a.m. today, but the family got it out. The building was constructed 10 years ago. The McCabe farm is just north of Henrytown, a small unincorporated settlement.

You Can Give Pig an Ulcer

MADISON, Wis. — Peptic ulcers, long-time antagonists of man, also have been causing problems in swine herds. University of Wisconsin research suggests that both diet and stress are probable causes of ulcers in pigs.

The ulcer problem in swine was discovered a few years ago when Ted Kowalczyk, university veterinary scientist, conducted a study to determine the incidence and types of ulcers found in hogs.

AFTER THE problem became known, Kowalczyk — along with University researchers Nathan Reese, B. A. Muggenburg, W. G. Hockstra, and R. H. Grummer — began looking for cause and prevention of peptic ulcers in swine. They think diet may be a big factor and research is already making progress in that direction. Heavy corn rations promote ulcers, but hogs on ground oats or wheat seem to have very few of them.

For their study of hog ulcers, the researchers learned how to induce ulcers in pigs. They used histamine in beeswax and oil which they injected into the pigs daily before meals for 14 days. They injected 21 pigs, and at the end of the two weeks, 16 had developed stomach ulcers that ranged in severity from slight lesions to perforated stomach walls.

The scientists believe that histamine stimulates overproduction of hydrochloric acid in the stomach to a degree that harms stomach walls. The artificially produced ulcers have been the source of more studies by the researchers.

The big study now going on is the effect of diet. Oats and wheat seem to prevent or reduce ulcers and the scientists are seeking the factor in these grains that is an ulcer preventative.

IT LOOKS NOW like the preventive factor is in the oat hull. A hulled oat kernel doesn't prevent stomach lesions.

While studying the effects of diet on ulcers, the researchers are not overlooking how stress and strain enter into the picture. An experiment now in the planning stages will test how much nerve strain it takes to produce ulcers in hogs. The pigs will be put under stress at eating time, and also will live in crowded conditions.

The researchers hope that the signs of control of hog ulcers through diet is just the first of many breakthroughs on finding the cause and cure of ulcers in man.

Specialist Cites Electronic Soil Test Advantages

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Leo M. Walsh, extension specialist in soils, College of Agriculture, Madison, explained the soil test report to about 75 Trempealeau County farmers Tuesday afternoon.

All county 1964 soil tests were reported by the electronic computer. Then each farmer was sent his soil test report, which included field information, the laboratory analysis for each sample, the corrective and maintenance recommendations. The corrective recommendation is designed to raise soil test levels up to a point where it will be possible to obtain optimum yields of all crops being grown, and refers to the amount of lime, phosphorus and potassium to broadcast during the corn or oats and seeding year. The corrective treatment should be made only once during a rotation.

Maintenance applications of phosphorus and potassium are necessary to maintain the desired level of soil fertility, he explained.

The fertilizer recommendations on the report are made in terms of total pounds of plant nutrients needed per acre. By presenting recommendations in terms of plant nutrients, it is easier to substitute one grade of fertilizer for another.

Walsh urged farmers to have soil samples early. It takes approximately 20 days for the tests to be processed and sent back.

Ed Ausderau, farm management agent, and Peter Bieri, county agent, were present at the meeting.

LAKES COULEE 4-H BLAIR, Wis. (Special) — The Lakes Coulee Starlettes 4-H Club will meet at 8:15 tonight. This will be fun night. Games, prizes and special treats will be presented.

Fertilizer Gets Half Credit for Corn Crop Gains

WASHINGTON, D.C. — About one-half the increase in corn yield per fertilized acre over the past decade in Corn Belt and Lake States can be credited to increased use of fertilizer.

This is the finding of U.S. Department of Agriculture's economic research service as noted in its 1965 outlook issue of the Farm Cost Situation report.

The report indicates that the remaining increase in corn yield can be credited to changes in other technology, weather, and acreage shifts.

Eighty-seven percent of corn acreage for grain in Corn Belt and Lake States was fertilized in 1963 compared with only 66 percent in 1954, say the economists.

In the last 10 years in those states, nitrogen fertilizer application on corn has nearly tripled . . . phosphate use has nearly doubled . . . and potash applications have increased one-and-one-half times that applied in 1954.

The USDA report adds that the average 1963 corn yield in these eight states was nearly 82 bushels per acre, and the average fertilizer rate on corn was 145 pounds of plant nutrients per acre. Research shows that yields much higher than this are possible with added fertilizer use.

Buying Tree? Make Tests

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Before you purchase your Christmas tree, run your fingers through the foliage to see if it feels fresh to your touch, advises the USDA marketing service.

No needles come off? Then give the tree a shake, and again check to see if any needles drop. If it passes both tests, rap it on the ground to see if it still holds its needles.

If the needles are turning brown, the tree has already dried out and will be a fire hazard. If you're economy minded, you might select a tree better developed on one side than the other. In a corner, it won't show anyway, and it may cost you less.

After you get your tree home, store it in a cool, shady place with the butt end placed in water, the USDA says. Sprinkle the branches and foliage with water daily. Cutting the butt diagonally about an inch above the original cut will aid in the absorption of water. Once the tree is up, keep it fresh by standing it in a container of water which you can refill daily.

Twin Cattle Test Set in Houston Co.

CALEDONIA, Minn. — Dr. George E. Keller, in charge of brucellosis-tuberculosis Division of the Minnesota Livestock Sanitary Board, notified the Houston County extension service that a group of veterinarians will be assigned to Houston County Dec. 28 to conduct a tuberculosis and brucellosis test.

According to the board the test will be conducted to recertify Houston as a modified certified brucellosis county and to recertify it a modified accredited tuberculosis-free county. The test also is intended to reduce both tuberculosis and brucellosis to a lower degree. The last recertification test for brucellosis was conducted approximately three years ago. The last recertification test for tuberculosis was conducted approximately six years ago. Dr. Keller said, "The test will be conducted at state and federal expense with no direct expense to the county or to the cattle owners."

The board plans to employ about 20 veterinarians who practice in the Houston County area to conduct the test. Veterinarians from a distant area will be used only if there are insufficient local veterinarians available.

The veterinarian or the local assistant will make an appointment with the cattle owner to test his herd. The owner then is to have his cattle in the barn and to help restrain them for the test. The test must proceed on schedule with no delays, so cattle owners with later appointments will not be inconvenienced and so the county test can be completed on schedule. A modified certified county for brucellosis and a modified accredited county for tuberculosis mean more markets for dairy products, healthier and more productive herds, and less brucellosis and tuberculosis infection of human beings.

Dr. John J. Burgess, an area supervisor, will be in charge of the Houston County test, and he will be available during the test to answer questions.

4-H'er of Week

LEWISTON, Minn. — Four-H has developed a great interest in dairy cattle for Steve Nahrang.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. John Nahrang, Lewiston, Steve has been in 4-H 10 years. At present he is a member of the Golden Go Getters, a club formed in November 1963. Before that Steve belonged to the Lewiston Wander Workers.

In his favorite project, dairy, Steve has received many awards. Among these has been a champion at the Minnesota State Fair 4-H Dairy show. At the 1964 State Fair Steve was awarded a trip to the National 4-H Dairy Conference in Chicago for his outstanding work.

A junior leader for three years, Steve played a major role in organizing the new club in which he was president. In 1964 he attended the junior leadership conference at Winona County's voting delegate and also received his 4-H Key Award.

Steve has participated in many county events and has been president and vice president of the county 4-H leaders council. At present Steve is studying agriculture at the University of Minnesota.

Wisconsin Feeder Cattle Sales Gain Popularity

MADISON, Wis. — Ten years ago Wisconsin livestock and marketing specialists were looking for a more effective way to sell Wisconsin grown beef feeder cattle. They hit upon a plan to hold several fall sales around the state that would hopefully sell more cattle and stimulate more feeder cattle raising.

Since that time the steady growth and high quality of these sales has attracted the attention of many large Midwest cattle raisers. The sales have far exceeded in cattle numbers and buyer-seller response original hopes of cattle producers and University of Wisconsin extension personnel. Fourteen sales from October through December now move about 12,000 head. During the first year about 350 head were sold. Dick Vilstrup, University of Wisconsin livestock marketing specialist, says:

All sales are co-sponsored by the University Cooperative Extension Service and Wisconsin Beef Producers Association. Sales this fall were held in Belmont, Sparta, Friendship, Richland Center, Milwaukee, Rice Lake and Bondville.

Sorting all cattle into uniform lots, instead of making each owner sell his animals in one lot regardless of size, lets the farmer take different sized cattle, co-mingle them with other producers' animals to produce the uniform lots, and thus sell each animal to an advantage.

This in turn has helped buyers purchase for feedlot specifications and avoid paying extra dollars for mixed lots.

Buffalo Co. 4-H Leaders to Meet

ALMA, Wis. — A dairy committee to handle Buffalo County fair problems will be formed and officers elected at the annual countywide adult 4-H leaders meeting at the courthouse here Monday at 8:30 p.m.

The junior leaders will hold their Christmas party at 8:30 p.m. Saturday at the Alma State Bank.

Trempealeau Co. 4-H

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — A Trempealeau County 4-H leaders training meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Monday at the courthouse.

Horse Project Popularity Up In Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis. — More and more Wisconsin youngsters are enrolling in the 4-H horse project both for enjoyment and for the possibilities of making money.

Starting with a total enrollment of 150 members in 1957, the project has grown to 3,238 members in 1964, making it one of the fastest growing 4-H projects in the state, says Quinn Kolb, University of Wisconsin livestock specialist.

The basis for a good project is a good horse. Youngsters shouldn't select an animal that is too large or headstrong. An older, well-trained horse with a good disposition is best. Experienced members get the most benefit starting with a weanling colt and developing and training their own mount.

Enterprising club members can use this project to make money. Buy a mare and raise foals if you have pasture and feed available. You'll also get valuable experience from training young horses for sale.

Select a mare from a breed that is in demand locally. Start with a young mare unless an older mare that has foaled regularly is available.

Consider these things when choosing a mount: Your age; weight; experience and skill in handling horses; facilities available for keeping the horse; the price you can afford; your individual preference regarding type, quality and gait; and your project plans for using the animal.

Choose from stock horse, three-gaited pleasure and pony types. These are the most common in Wisconsin. Stock horses are short-coupled, deep-bodied and well muscled animals developed for work under the saddle on cattle farms and western ranches. They are sure footed, agile and hardy. Stock horses are usually mixed breeds, with thoroughbred, quarter horse, Arab, or Morgan breeding predominating.

Three-gaited pleasure horses are a lighter breed popular for pleasure riding at a walk, trot or canter, the specialist points out. They are longer coupled than the stock horse.

Pony breeds are under 14.2 hands in height at maturity. Experienced riders often cross miniature Shetlands or medium size Welsh ponies with Arabs, Morgans, or other light breeds to produce large, more spirited ponies.

Tri-State Elects In Buffalo Co.

Alternate delegates are Wilo Winsand, Dover, and Gerald Thielert, Waumandee. County members on the sire committee include Emmon Acosta, Mondovi; Holstein; Earl Hatrick, Nelson; Guernsey; and Merlin Haueser, Fountain City, Jersey.

USDA Develops Portable Tester For Moisture

CHICAGO — Farmers soon may be able to test the moisture content of their hay right in their own hay fields, with the help of a new device developed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Research Service.

This instrument, called an electrical conductance hay moisture meter, measures how well hay will conduct electricity. By comparing the rate of conductivity to moisture percentages given in a specially-designed correlation table, a farmer is able to find out exactly what the moisture content of his hay is minutes before it is harvested. The figures go up proportionally, as the higher the rate of conductivity, the higher the moisture content.

Researchers say the machine is accurate enough to serve as an important tool during the haymaking season. It is an inexpensive device which is easy to construct and easy to operate. It is also completely portable and powered by two transistor radio-type batteries. Determination time is only 2 to 3 minutes, compared with the two-hour oven baking technique now in use.

Tests have shown the moisture meter to be highly accurate on alfalfa hay having a moisture content of 50 percent or less. However, adjustments must be made for various other hay types and for higher moisture content.

Let's Get Growing

By A. F. SHIRA

The Iris Family

CONTINUING with our discussion of some of the plant families, we are today taking up the iris family (Iridaceae), the large group of plants that have taken such an important place in our hearts and gardens.

The irises have received their name from the goddess Iris who symbolized the rainbow in Greek mythology and has been referred to as the "goddess of the rainbow." Because of their unusual color qualities and a most shimmering and translucent appearance under varying light conditions, the very descriptive word "iridescent" has been applied to them. It fittingly portrays the various colors, tones and tints of beautiful irises as we know them today.

In describing the goddess of the rainbow, the poet Virgil wrote, "Iris, of saffron wings, displaying against the sun a robe of a thousand varying colors." This description is very applicable to the wonderful modern hybrids.

The iris family comprises more than 1,000 species distributed over most of the world from which the present day horticultural forms have been developed. Today, there probably more than 1,500 varieties of the tall bearded irises alone that are listed in nursery catalogs.

OUR COMMON native "blue flag" is found growing wild over a wide area from the Great Lakes eastward in marshes, swamps and along streams. The violet, or lavender, form is found from Ohio southward under the same marshy conditions. As a boy, I gathered many blooms from the marshy areas along the Sciota River in Ohio.

The counterpart of our native "flag" is the yellow variety in Europe which likewise grows in marshy situations. It is the Fleur-de-lis of France.

There are few groups of plants that have such a variety of one type as the genus Iris. The most popular of the type are the bearded irises which abound in our gardens today. They may be divided into three general groups, the tall, medium and dwarf forms.

FOLLOWING THESE are the bearded types which are divided into six groups, including wild species as well as hybrids. Probably, the best known of these is the Japanese iris.

Next, we might list the bulbous, or Dutch, irises, that have true bulbs instead of rhizomes, or fibrous roots, that are present in the other types. They are not grown as generally in gardens as they should be, since they are far better for cutting than any of the other forms. Furthermore, the bulbs are rather inexpensive. Then, there is the small crested group that can be used to advantage in a rock garden.

Now, let us take a look at some of the other plants that belong to the iris family, two in particular that are prized garden flowers, the gladiolus and the crocus. Years ago, when we first learned that the gladiolus was a member of this family it was very hard to reconcile the fact that these summer plants, so tender in bulb, were such close relatives of the hardy iris group.

THE CROCUSES, unlike the irises, are apparently stemless plants, the flowers arising direct from the corm, or bulb, at ground level, or with only a very short stalk.

Another member of the family is the plant commonly known as the blackberry lily, or leopard flower. It has long sword-shaped leaves and rather attractive orange flowers with red spots. After the seed pods ripen, the many blackberry-like seeds can be seen, hence the name.

Among others of the family, the blue-eyed grass might be mentioned. It is a native of the U.S., has grass-like leaves, and the flower stalk bears blue flowers in terminal clusters.

Wabasha Breeders

LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special) — Clarence Siewert, Zumbro Falls, and Kenneth Steffen, were re-elected directors of the Wabasha County Consolidated Breeders Association at its annual meeting Tuesday evening. Other directors: Sidney Stoltz, Plainview, president; Henry Dose, Lake City, vice president; Steffen, secretary-treasurer; Dwayne Dose, Lake City; Donald Palmer, Lake City; and Harold Houghton, Elgin. About 120 people attended.

Three Varieties Added to State 1965 Seed List

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Seven crop varieties have been dropped and three have been added to the list of varieties recommended for 1965 by the University of Minnesota.

According to Harley J. Otto, extension agronomist, the varieties dropped include Kindred and Traill barley; Ajax, Andrew and Burnett oats and Comet and Norchief soybeans.

The added varieties are Garland oats and A-100 and Chippewa 64 soybeans.

Kindred and Traill are both malting barley varieties and were dropped because the newer varieties have yielded as well as Traill and better than Kindred, have larger percentages of plump kernels and stand as well as Traill and better than Kindred.

Both Trophy and Larker have been used long enough by the malting industry to be judged acceptable.

Ajax, Andrew and Burnett oats have been replaced by newer varieties in the same maturity classification which yield better and have better disease resistance. Comet and Norchief soybeans have also been replaced by newer varieties of the same maturity but better performance.

The A-100 soybean variety was developed by a farmer. It is of the same maturity as Harrow and Lindar, yields as well but stands better and has higher oil content than the other two.

Chippewa 64 performs about the same as Chippewa; the main difference is Chippewa 64 has resistance to phytophthora root rot. This disease has not been seen definitely in Minnesota, but it presents a real danger and the resistant variety provides increased insurance.

Garland oats is a medium-early variety, among the top yielders in this maturity classification in three years of tests. It is about average in standability, and has as good resistance to stem rust as any variety tested. It is moderately susceptible to crown rust, a disease to which no varieties are completely resistant.

Breeders Rename Pepin Director

DURAND, Wis. — Francis Sarn, Durand, was re-elected director of the Pepin County Tri-State Breeders Cooperative at its annual meeting.

Winonan Leaving For African Duty

A 22-year-old Winonan and 1964 St. Mary's College graduate is one of 105 Peace Corps Volunteers scheduled to leave for the new African republic of Malawi Dec. 27.

Bruce E. Hartert, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hartert, 153 E. 5th St., is on home leave prior to joining the 100 other members of his group at Kennedy Airport late this month for the flight to the East African nation.

AFTER A STOP at Nairobi, Kenya, Hartert and his fellow volunteers will fly to Blantyre-Limbe, Malawi, where they will enter a three-week orientation before taking up teaching posts in secondary schools around the country.

Malawi is the former British colony of Nyasaland, which gained its independence July 6, 1964. Hartert, an English major at St. Mary's, expects to be teaching English and another subject, possibly geography or physical education, in a Malawi high school by around Feb. 1, 1965.

The standard tour of duty abroad is two years, ordinarily spent in the same country. Hartert says many schools have been built recently in Malawi; some of them have not yet been opened for lack of faculty.

ALTHOUGH THE 3,000 Peace Corps Volunteers are serving in 48 nations in Africa, South America and Southeast Asia, most have been sent to Africa, Hartert said. This is because the newly independent African nations have put in most urgent requests for the volunteers.

The 105 members of Hartert's "team" will participate in two projects: Cooperative management and secondary education — joining approximately 100 Peace Corps Volunteers already working in Malawi.

The majority of Hartert's group will teach in the secondary schools. Subjects include mathematics, science, English, history (world and English), economics, geography and home economics.

THE GROUP trained for 14 weeks at Syracuse University. They studied the history and culture of Malawi, United States history and institutions and world affairs. Although their work will be conducted mainly in English, the trainees also studied some of the local languages spoken in Malawi.

The teachers also were instructed in teaching techniques, procedures and the Malawi curriculum and examination system.

DEAR ABBY:

This Gal Showed More Than Slip

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Recently the janitor who works in the office where my sister is a secretary told her in front of some other employees that her slip was showing. My sister became very angry and told him that she thought he was out of line to have made such a personal remark to her. As a result of this, many unpleasant things have developed which I do not care to go into here. But our family is now arguing about it at home. Some of the members of our family say that a person who is in a lower class should not make personal remarks to someone who is in a higher class. Your opinion is needed.

ELECTED TO WRITE

DEAR ELECTED: Class shmass! Just because a man's a janitor does not mean that he is of a class below that of a secretary. The poor man was probably only trying to be helpful. Your sister showed more than her slip — she revealed her ignorance and arrogance as well.

DEAR ABBY: Our son married a girl with two children. He legally adopted these children. It has been almost two years now and the wife and children have never called us anything but "MR. AND MRS. SO-AND-SO." It is very embarrassing when our friends and neighbors ask us if those children don't know that we are their grandparents. We think it's terrible, and want to know what you think and what should be done about it?

ABBY

DEAR MR. AND MRS. SO-AND-SO: "MR. AND MRS. SO-AND-SO." Your son is half to blame. And since you are closer to him, he is the one to approach about remedying this unfortunate situation. Perhaps his wife is shy and has been waiting for you to invite her to call you something more personal. Give her the benefit of the doubt. But ask your son to straighten her out.

DEAR ABBY: What does a girl do when she is smarter than every boy she knows? I am a rather pretty (I am told) girl of 15 and I have never had a date in my life. I am sure it is because I am so smart in school that I scare all the boys away. It is very embarrassing always to get the highest grade in the class. How can I solve this? I don't want to let my grades drop just to be popular. Can you offer a suggestion? Tagged—

"THE BRAIN"

DEAR BRAIN: Use that superior brain of yours to noodle out the real reason for your unpopularity. The grades are your alibi — not your problem.

DEAR ABBY: Nick and I were engaged for three months and all our friends knew it. We broke up about two weeks ago and I gave Nick his ring back. Now everyone wants to know what happened. They ask me if I broke it off, or did he? I don't feel like talking about it. Besides, it's nobody's business. How do I answer these busy-bodies?

NOT TALKING

DEAR NOT: Simply tell them that you and Nick agreed to disagree. Period. Then change the subject.

'Space Needle' Daugherty BIG Problem for Hawks

By GARY EVANS

Daily News Sports Editor

ROCHESTER, Minn. — Spiraling out of the mists of a foggy day in the Mayo City, Rochester John Marshall's human "space needle" is a most imposing structure.

Dave Daugherty — "The Dort" to coaches, teammates and friends — is the minaret thrown squarely in the path of John Kenney's Winona High basketball team.

Listed at 6-7, but certain to go 6-8 on U. S. Bureau of Weights and Measures scales, Daugherty is the "untouchable" in Rochester's urban renewal project created with the graduation of four starters off the team that finished second in the 1964 state tournament.

For that reason — although he is an unquestionably good one — plus the loss of 6-5 Joel Erickson to a football knee injury, many bypassed the Rockets when picking preseason title possibilities.

Now, suddenly, the Rockets are a team. They learned it when Daugherty was forced to sit on the bench for eight minutes at Red Wing, one of the major choices in balloting for a possible champion.

"This was very pleasing," said Kerwin Engelhart of the expected collapse that never came. "We were very happy with the boys' ability to keep the lead and win with 'The Dort' out of there."

Thus, the Rockets took a 65-57 victory over the Wingers — a most startling event since the game was played at Red Wing.

"That has to be one of the two hardest places to win at in the conference," chuckled

Engelhart, referring also to Winona High's gym which is tucked on the stage of the high school auditorium. "We still haven't found out how long ago it was we won there (at Red Wing) before, but it was quite a while."

Stir in the win, include Winona High's 71-50 sprint past Albert Lea, and you have a battle of potential powers brewing — the only Big Nine game featuring unbeaten.

The game will be played at Rochester John Marshall gym at 8 o'clock, following a "B" squad skirmish between teams of the two schools.

"We're going to find out whether we've come of age," snapped Kenney. "This will tell us something."

It must be pointed out that in two victories, the Hawks have hardly been tested. Roms past Mahtomedi and the Tigers proved the potential is there. The game tonight, although too early to mean a life or death, will go beyond that.

Kenney will make no changes. No surprises are planned.

"I think we're capable of playing anybody on even terms if we're going the way we can," said Kenney. "We've got a couple of things to change if everything isn't working well, but there won't be any surprises."

"I figure they'll be a typical Rochester club," he went on. "They'll run when they can, pressure you whenever they can and try to force you into making mistakes. They depend on Daugherty quite a bit, but they've been improving from week to week — they must be to beat Red Wing up there."

Working the double-post for the Hawks will be 6-5 captain Bill Squires and 6-4 junior

Larry Larson. Gary Addington and Tony Kreuzer, who poured in 25 against Albert Lea, are the wings and Don Hazelton the "quarter-back."

In addition to Daugherty, the Rockets go with 6-3 Mike Winter and 5-11 Bill Schwartz in the front line. Fred King, 5-8, and Darrell Moon, 6-0, are backcourt running mates. Sophomore Bryce Kommerstad, 5-9, is the top guard replacement with 6-1 Rick Bowron able to fill up front.

"I don't have to see Winona to know they're a heckuva good club," purred Engelhart. "I said they'd be one of the top two in the conference and they haven't done anything to prove me wrong yet."

"We'll be ready," he vowed.
Ditto for Winona.

St. Mary's, State Go Road Hunting

Redmen Seek MIAC Romp At Macalester

Hovering over the moors surrounding Macalester College is the faint odor of an upset that occurred last year and was carried back to the St. Paul campus from Southern Minnesota.

The Scot cagers made a visit to St. Mary's Dec. 14, 1963, and created a stir by ending a six-game Redmen streak by swiping a 59-58 win in the MIAC opener for Ken Wiltgen's team.

It's a safe bet the Redmen haven't forgotten even after repaying the Scots with a 55-51 setback in the Twin Cities.

SATURDAY, the two teams get together again, this time at St. Paul. The situation is much the same.

St. Mary's has whipped through four straight opponents after a first-game loss and will be under a full head of steam for its conference start.

Macalester again harbors upset thoughts.

"You can bet they're a good club," mused Wiltgen. "They're not real big, but Macalester always has a menacing ball club. Remember what happened last year?"

Macalester brings a 3-1 record into the fray, but may have its troubles defending the Hill-toppers. In five games, St. Mary's has had four different leading scorers. Four starters are averaging in double figures and the fifth is just 1.2 points short of that.

THE TEAM leader is Rog Pytlewski with 77 points. He is the only Redmen to take scoring honors twice, hitting 23 against Stout and 22 against St. Ambrose. Right behind is Mike Maloney with 72, his 15 - point spree topping the show against Loras.

Jerry Sausser has scored 65, 23 against Central State of Stevens Point, and center George Horder 62, 24 against St. Norbert.

George Valaika, Pytlewski's running mate at forward, has 44. That same five, averaging better than 6-3 in height, will be at the circle for the center jump Saturday night.

"You've got to stick with a winner," smiles Wiltgen.

Three Scot starters return in Gary Davidson, Gary Jacobson and Ron Feist.

"It's going to be a rough one," said Wiltgen, implying that a victory would be most appreciated.

FOLLOWING Saturday night's contest — game time is slated for 8 p.m. — the Redmen return to the Twin Cities Tuesday, this time for a game with Augsburg at Minneapolis.

The clash with the Augies, always a power in the MIAC, winds up the pre-holiday schedule. St. Mary's will play in the Fremont, Neb., holiday tournament Dec. 28-29.

After the first five games of the World Series, catcher Tim McCarver had 8 hits in 17 official at bats. He finished with 11 for 23.

Warrior, Hawk Tankers Busy

The city's two swimming squads, Winona High and Winona State, are slated for heavy action this weekend.

The Hawk tankers, under the direction of Lloyd Luke, host Mankato in a Big Nine meet at 6:30 tonight at the Winona High pool, then travel to Eau Claire North Saturday for a 2 p.m. meet. Both tests will involve "A" and "B" competition.

John Martin's Warrior dolphins entertained the Stevens Point State University tankers today in a 4 o'clock meet and will travel to Mankato Saturday for a Northern Intercollegiate Conference test. The Mankato meet will get under way at 7:30 p.m.

The Winona State wrestlers will participate in the La Crosse State University quadrangular Saturday, while the Winhawk grapplers are hosting Rochester tonight in a Big Nine skirmish at the Hawk gym. Meet time is set for 6 p.m., with competition on varsity and junior varsity level. There also will be several junior, high matches.

Warriors Off To Bout With Jackrabbits

Winona State's cagers packed their bags this morning for a 700-mile round trip to South Dakota's Jackrabbit country—minus head coach Dr. Robert Campbell.

The Warrior cagers will meet head on with one particular band of Jackrabbits Saturday at Brookings, where all the not-so-cute cottontails will be dressed in the yellow and blue Easter egg uniforms of South Dakota State University.

CAMPBELL remained at home because of the illness of his infant daughter. Handling the club will be assistant varsity coach Gary Grob and freshman mentor Dick Papenfuss.

On the Warriors' minds, will be victory No. 2 of the young season. Even though Saturday's competition consists of "big time" talent, thoughts of a victory at Brookings are not remote, thanks mainly to an impressive showing against Loras of Iowa Wednesday night at Memorial Hall.

Winona State dominated the Loras contest, indicating to fans that the Warriors may be ready to roll.

South Dakota State, a school two-and-one-half times the size of State, has met and fallen to the talented University of Minnesota Gophers and has remaining games with Drake of the Big Eight conference.

THE JACKRABBITS, coached by Jim Iverson, are members of the North Central Conference, where a year ago they finished second with a 9-3 mark and had an overall record of 14-7.

Winona State will once again be without the services of 6-2 guard Jack Kelly, who suffered an ankle sprain in the Plateville game and is hobbling on crutches. Dave Meisner, who had been bothered by foot blister troubles in earlier games, will be available Saturday.

The squad went west this morning. The Warriors worked out in the South Dakota fieldhouse 4 o'clock today and will get a chance to observe the Jacks against a Northern Intercollegiate Conference opponent, Mankato, tonight. Gametime Saturday is set for 7:30 p.m.

IN THE STARTING circle for the Warriors Saturday will probably be Gary Petersen and Tom Stallings at forwards, Dave Rosenau at center, and Dave Goede and perhaps Meisner at guards. If Meisner does not start, Tim Anderson will more than likely shift to forward and Petersen will fill a guard slot.

Others making the trip are Dallas Diercks, Bill Werner, Keith Asleson and Dennis Morgan.

The Warriors return home early Sunday.

PART OF ANSWER MAY COME TONIGHT

Is Cotter Dominance About to Be Ended?

By ROLLIE WUSSOW
Daily News Sports Writer

That old rivalry which always seems to prevail when Cotter and Wabasha St. Felix high schools meet in athletic contests, will be renewed once again tonight at St. Felix gym when John Nett's Ramblers and the Yellowjackets take the floor.

Cotter generally has held the upper hand. Could this year be a different story?

DUKE LORETZ
Is This the Year?

"Nett's had real good ball clubs at Winona for a number of years," St. Felix mentor Duke Loretz. "With guys like Schultz, Starzcki and company popping up quite regularly, he didn't have to worry too much."

"But maybe he has come to the end of the line," echoed the voice at the other end of the telephone line. "He has no individual stars this year, so we're pretty much balanced for once."

This is true. The Ramblers aren't blessed with one particular star this season, but they do have the stuff that is a vital ingredient to produce a winning ball club—overall potential and a desire to win.

This was proved in the Ramblers' one point win over Mahtomedi in their opening. An overtime win over Prairie du Chien Campion Monday again pointed out the team's spirit.

The Yellowjackets are 1-2 on the year, losing to Lake City in their opener, and to Rochester Lourdes, supposedly the power in Region Six this year. Their lone victory was over St. Peter of Hokah in a Bi-State Conference game.

"I would say our lack of experience has hurt us when we needed the big play in our two losses," says Loretz. "We just haven't come around automatically yet."

Loretz has only two boys who have seen any amount of action over the years. The two are Gene Wodele and Bill Glomski, both holdovers from last year's Bi-State championship squad. Both are seniors.

"We'll be a good ball club by the middle of January," continued Loretz, not saying that his club isn't already. "I'll take us awhile to get our feet on the ground, but when we do, we'll be tough. Cotter has the same problem, but they'll be much stronger by the same time."

The Yellowjackets will field an all-senior lineup tonight against Cotter. Wodele and Doug Kennebeck will be at the guards; Glomski and Tom Foley at forwards and Mike Cichanowski at center.

Cichanowski, out all last year with a knee injury, has been hampered by the flu bug all week, but was in school Thursday and is likely to start. Should he be unable to go, John Wodele will fill in. John Arens and John Bill, both juniors, are likely to see a lot of action tonight.

Cotter and Nett will counter with Bob Allaire and Bill Browne at the guards, John Nett Jr. and Dan Pelowski at the forwards and Dave Pelowski at center.

Game time is 8:15, with a 6:45 preliminary involving the "B" squads from both schools.

Add John Austin to 'Hot' New Faces List

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There are a lot of new faces on the college basketball scene this season, such as Louie Dampier of Kentucky, Ron Sepic of Ohio State, Wes Bialosukria of Connecticut, Bob Lew- is of North Carolina and Nevil Shed of Texas Western.

You can add John Austin of Boston College to the list today. He's a junior, but his fame as a sophomore last season was confined mostly to New England. He's headed for national recognition now since Boston College will depart shortly to play on the Pacific Coast and in the Rainbow Holiday Classic at Honolulu.

Austin, a 6-foot-1 native of Washington, D.C., made his debut at New York's Madison Square Garden Thursday night and led the Eagles to their third straight triumph, a 102-84 conquest of NYU.

Austin scored 42 points on 14 of 25 shots from the field and 14 of 17 free throws. He got 16 of his points in last six minutes after the Violets, 14 points down, reeled off 13 straight points to climb within one at 72-71.

Billy Cunningham of North Carolina with 48 points, Larry Sheffield of Notre Dame with 37, Rick Barry of Miami, Fla., with 30 and Bob Verga of Duke with 24 also made the headlines on Thursday's slim national schedule.

Cunningham set an individual single-game scoring record for North Carolina as he led the Tar Heels to a 111-74 victory over Tulane at Chapel Hill. Sheffield paced the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame to their fourth straight home victory, a 107-86 trouncing of Detroit.

Barry upped his scoring output to 187 points in five games as the Hurricanes downed Niagara 74-67 at Niagara Falls, N.Y., and Verga led Duke to a 93-87 overtime victory over Navy at Baltimore.

Verga stole two Navy passes in the overtime period and converted them into baskets as the eighth-ranked Blue Devils downed the Middies after the regulation game ended 79-79.

Badger Schools Swing Into Loop Activity Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

While defending champion La Crosse is idle until Saturday afternoon, five other members of the Wisconsin University Conference will play their first league basketball games tonight.

In the only game involving state colleges Thursday night, Milton rolled over Northwestern of Wisconsin 96-57 in a Gateway Conference game at Milton. John Sekeres scored 37 points and Lon Sherman 20 for Milton, making its first conference start. Northwestern, 0-2, was led by Dennis Halvorsen and Dave Toepel with 16 points each.

Oshkosh, picked as a challenger for the state conference crown, will open its league season tonight at River Falls, 0-1. Other games tonight have Stevens Point at Superior, 0-1; Platteville at River Falls and Whitewater at Stout, 0-2.

Saturday's state university league games have Whitewater at La Crosse, which has won its two conference starts; Stevens Point goes to Stout; Platteville will be at Superior; Oshkosh at River Falls and Eau Claire has a non-conference date at Northland.

Schedule Benefit Cage Game at Whitehall

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Proceeds from a basketball game in the high school gym Dec. 26 between the Chicago Brown Bombers and the Whitehall Lions All-Stars will be used for furnishing a room at Tri-County Memorial Hospital.

The contest, beginning at 8 p.m., will be preceded by a game at 7 o'clock between Arcadia and Whitehall junior high teams.

THIS SHOULD BE A FAIR SHAKE

CHICAGO (P) — If you see opposing Big Ten football coaches shaking hands before a game next season, don't be surprised.

Athletic directors attending the annual winter business meetings of the conference have gone on record endorsing the pregame, rather than postgame, handshake.

The Warriors return home early Sunday.

Erickson Didn't Make Same Cage Mistake Twice

MADISON (P) — Wisconsin basketball Coach John Erickson said Thursday he made a mistake last season when he shifted Mark Zubor from center to forward.

The 6-foot-6 Zubor started the last campaign at center but was moved to forward when Jack Brens became eligible for second semester play. Zubor's scoring fell off and he eventually finished the season on the bench.

Zubor is now back at center and has led the Wisconsin scoring with 45 points in the Badgers' two victories in as many games. The addition of 20 pounds, which put Zubor at 224 pounds, hasn't slowed him down, according to Erickson.

"He can fool you with his quickness," the coach said. "He's not fundamentally fast but he can move. The added weight has given him more confidence under the basket, and that plus his experience, has made him much more effective, especially on defense."

Zubor will attempt to add to his point total and the Badger success in Saturday afternoon's game here with Bowling Green, winless in two starts. Bowling Green lost 90-77 to Western Kentucky and was beaten 100-62 by Illinois.

Badger assistant Coach John Powless, who scouted Bowling Green in its opener, said the Falcons "like to run." Powless said he was impressed with their speed, the ability of their big men to take the ball up the middle on the fast break and the pressure they can apply on defense.

Powless said Bowling Green is short a big player; but has Bob Dwors. "He's 6-foot-3 and he gets up there as good as any big man," Powless said. "He scored 31 points against Illinois and not many will do that. He had 30 against Western Kentucky. He's the man we have to stop."

Brekken Is Man on Spot

Dave Brekken, Crookston, Minn., freshman, is the man on the spot as St. Mary's hockey team continues its chase for a second consecutive MIAC championship.

Brekken, a 5-8 150-pounder, will be asked to fill the right wing spot on Andre Beaulieu's line Saturday afternoon when perennially-rugged Macalester invades Terrace Heights for a 2 o'clock game.

But Coach Keith Hanzel isn't especially worried about how Brekken will fit in.

"He's a good, tough hockey player," he said earlier this season.

Brekken will skate the wing with center Beaulieu and left wing Brian Desbiens because of a skate cut suffered by Dennis Cooney, converted from center to wing, in the win over St. Thomas Tuesday.

Perhaps the only thing worrying Hanzel right now is the weather. Thursday's rain kept St. Mary's inside. "We did have a real good practice Wednesday afternoon though," said Hanzel.

"I know we're going to have a tough game on our hands. They play St. Thomas tonight, so that should tell us something."

Hanzel's second line will have Bob Magnuson and Jean Cardin on the wings with Yvon Thibodeau, the tiny Canadian, at center.

Jerry Archambeau, who has seen duty in all three Redmen games to date, will be in the nets with Bob Paradise, one of the league's top competitors, and Mike Bishop comprising the blueline corps.

A year ago, Hanzel's team finished with an overall record of 14-1 and was 10-0 in the conference. This year the club has been beaten twice by the University of Wisconsin before the victorious MIAC debut with the Tommies.

"We still haven't looked as good as we should," stated Hanzel. "I hope we come out of it soon."

Soon can mean only one thing — against Macalester Saturday.

Reorganization of Badger County Boards Suggested

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The reorganization of county boards, with population a stronger factor, was recommended Wednesday by a committee of the Legislative Council.

The recommendation, which will be presented to the 1965 Legislature, was made in the face of an impending decision by the Wisconsin Supreme Court on a suit challenging current county board makeup. The decision in the suit, which could force reorganization, is expected on Jan. 5, a few days before the Legislature convenes.

A plan recommended by the County Board Representation Committee would create representative districts in every county "after a public hearing . . . in such a manner that each supervisor shall represent as near as practical an equal number of persons . . ."

The committee said other factors such as "continuity of interest, compactness and contiguity of existing town, village and city lines" should be taken into consideration.
