...and a Happy New Year

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — The little guy, any little guy going home this New Year's Eve, felt so calm it was unnatural. A whole year gone without a great fear or a great disaster. He wasn't used to it.
It wouldn't last, he thought, as he bustled along, like heading into a new century. So he slowed down, asking himself: "What's the rush? It's just another year coming up." Is that all?
He didn't know. He had seen too many years to be sure. He remembered this same night last year, going home. He was dragging then, not bustling, with the Dallas thing still on his mind, spoiling everything for him, even his sense of life.

In 1963, after that day in November, he would have been glad if someone, remembering President Kennedy, had said officially: "Happiness is canceled for the rest of the year."
The year before that the Cuban missiles gave him the creeps. Not just the danger. They made him feel more than ever that the world was getting nuttier. The world he grew up in wasn't like that, or so he told himself.
And the year before that there was the Berlin wall, and the year before. There was almost always something, but this year practically nothing except the presidential campaign. Was that right? He tried to remember.

There was the income tax cut. He remembered that. And he remembered he didn't understand it or how much the cut was. Too complicated. He'd find out later when he was doing his tax return. It could wait.
But the campaign stuck in his head. He hadn't seen one like it. A bit of a weirdy, in a way. President Johnson and Sen. Barry Goldwater campaigning up and down, saying the same things over, and promising hardly anything.

It didn't quicken his blood, that's for sure. He felt all along the returns were in before the count began, and the polls showed it.
He got on the bus. Jampacked but no anxious faces. They were like him, the undisturbed. Any shooting in 1964 was far off, in the Congo or Viet Nam. Any shouting was far off, too, in the Soviet Union or Red China or some place.
The bus lurched and the people tilted but their expression didn't change. Here at home the country was living high. Most people, that is. Not everybody, though. He read about millions who weren't.

He never really saw them. They lived in a different part of town or a different part of the country, the empty-handed ones. He figured he never saw them because his routine was home-to-bus-to-office-to-bus-to-home.
He didn't have much money himself. But at least he could send his kids through school. Long ago, and he didn't know how, he had developed a habit of not thinking about the ones who couldn't.

This bothered him a little, but not much, because he was wrapped up in his garden, and the car, and the family, and a thousand things every day. What things? He was glad he was asking himself the question.
If someone else had done the asking he wouldn't have known what to say because his life wasn't that filled up or tied up or occupied. A feeling of anguish went through him for a second.
It always did, but only for a second, whenever he tried to ask himself what he was doing with his life. Just existing, he thought, and maybe each year just a little less.

Time was peeling the years off him like the skin of a banana. Maybe something that happened in 1965 would give him back, if only for a moment, that fierce sense of response and action he had at 21. He knew better.
He looked at the people in the bus: the tall, the short, the fat, the skinny. They all knew better, too. They didn't seem to be worrying. He shook himself. "That's enough of this stuff," he said. "Let's get going."
The bus kept going. And 1963 was just around the corner.

Mondale Starts Senate Duties

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter F. Mondale, Minnesota's new Democratic member, moved into the swing of Senate affairs today after signing his official appointment papers late Wednesday.
Mondale flew here immediately after a swearing-in ceremony by Minnesota's Gov. Karl Rolvaag Wednesday at the state Capitol in St. Paul. He was greeted by the man he succeeds, Sen. Hubert Humphrey, who moves up to the vice presidency next month.

Humphrey resigned his Senate seat to permit the 36-year-old Mondale to pick up seniority on other new senators.

Mondale will take the oath of office Monday after the new Congress meets at noon.

Mondale was accompanied by his wife and their three children, and his mother, Mrs. Theodore S. McKeldin. The family went immediately to the home Mondale has rented in nearby Chevy Chase, Md., while he went to the Capitol.

Humphrey and Rep. Donald Fraser, D-Minn., accompanied Mondale to the office of Felton Johnson, secretary of the Senate, for the signing of his appointment paper. The signing not only put him on the payroll but permitted him to name his Senate staff, including:

Jerry Schawler, who has been serving on the staff of Rep. Joseph E. Karth, D-Minn., as his administrative assistant; William Conlon, press secretary; and Philip Byrne, legislative council. Conlon has been serving on the staff of Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., while Byrne was on Mondale's staff when he served as attorney general in Minnesota.

Asked about committee assignments, Mondale said he was interested in appropriations, labor and space.

Fire Sweeps Derailed Freight At Litchfield

LITCHFIELD, Minn. (AP) — At least five railcars of apples and lumber were ravaged by fire early today after derailment of an 84-car Great Northern Freight train between here and Grove City, 10 miles to the west.

Thirty-six cars were shunted off the rails when a coupling between two of them broke, officials of the line said. The resulting blaze, started by charcoal heaters in the apple cars, attracted scores of spectators.

Hundreds of Ways to Greet The New Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Fall out of an airplane, climb Pike's Peak, dance your feet off, throw junk out of windows or just stand around Times Square with a million other revelers — that's how some of the world will welcome in the New Year tonight.

On Long Island, at Eastport, N.Y., Frederick Wild, 33, and Frank Guzman, 36, plan to fall out of an airplane at the stroke of midnight and pass a bottle of champagne between them as they drop from 12,000 feet to 2,000 feet. Then, hopefully, they'll open their parachutes.

The two sky divers have a combined total of more than 600 jumps to their credit.

In Colorado Springs, Colo., members of the AdMan Club have figured out a way to get high and still stay sober. They will make their annual climb to the top of Pike's Peak and shoot off fireworks.

In various nightspots around the world, music makers will play until the wee hours for those people who want to dance out the old year and dance in the new.

One Los Angeles club, the Whisky A Go Go, advertises it will provide "all the Watusi and Frug you can stand."

The Sands in Milwaukee is throwing in free baby-sitting service along with a complete evening of entertainment, for $35 a couple.

Many clubs are offering a continental breakfast — coffee and rolls — to help sober up the revelers before they start the drive home.

If you're in Rome, you can do as the Romans do — throw junk out of windows, although it's against the law. There are reasons of life and limb behind the police concern, as any pedestrian caught under the joyful bombardment can testify.

When the bells toll 1965, from an abundance of Italian balconies will rain forth a cascade of empty wine flasks, chipped china, rust-stained sinks and cracked toilets.

The old Roman custom symbolizes the removal of things old and disliked to make room for the bright and hopeful things of the new year.

For the morning after there's the "hangover clinic" of the Physician's Wine Appreciation Society of New York.

No Paper Friday

As has been its custom for many years, the Winona Daily News will not be published Friday, New Year's Day, thus allowing employees to spend the holiday with their families.

Regular publication will be resumed Sunday.

Losses Heavy in New Viet Ambush Reds Use Graves of U.S. Servicemen to Bait Trap

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong ambushed 100 Vietnamese marines today as they were opening graves believed to contain the bodies of four U.S. servicemen shot down as fighting continued around Binh Nghia.

A U.S. Marine captain was wounded in the ambush. The marines fought their way into a jungle area where a U.S. Army helicopter was shot down Wednesday night as it was covering marines collecting the bodies of government troops. The helicopter burst into flames

Urges Peace Efforts in 1965

Johnson Sends Best Wishes to Russians

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson has told Russian leaders that "the most urgent business for all of us remains strengthening the foundation of world peace."

Along with New Year's greetings and best wishes to the Soviet people and their leaders, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Anastas I. Mikoyan, Johnson said:

"We can and should move to limit the spread of nuclear weapons; to achieve a verified worldwide comprehensive test ban; to make a cutoff of fissionable material production for weapons coupled with measures to safeguard the peaceful uses of nuclear power; and to agree on a verified freeze in existing offensive and defensive strategic nuclear delivery systems."

"By progress in this critical area, our governments can help to make this a happier and safer world for all peoples."

Johnson said Wednesday to the Soviet leaders did not represent an exchange of greetings, because the customary New Year's message has not been received from the Soviet chiefs.

Johnson had no official visitors on his schedule today and planned work on his State of the Union message.

Press Secretary George E. Reedy reported that work on the budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 now is 90 per cent completed.

"The whole thing will be wrapped up in a week or 10 days," he said.

Work on the Atomic Energy Commission budget was finished Wednesday and Chairman Glenn T. Seaborg told a news conference in Austin that it will be down a little from last year. He said, however, that spending will be higher on peaceful applications of nuclear energy ranging from reactors to physical and biological research.

and exploded when it hit the treetops.

A marine search company reached the crash site this afternoon and found four fresh graves next to the wreckage, presumably containing the bodies of the helicopter's four American crewmen.

The marines reportedly were digging up the graves when a powerful Viet Cong unit ambushed them.

Vietnamese losses were believed to be extremely heavy.

The marine unit withdrew, taking their wounded with them, and late in the afternoon were preparing to attack the area again with the whole marine battalion.

Government troops regained Binh Nghia, a town of 6,000 Roman Catholic refugees 40 miles east of Saigon Wednesday, but fighting continued around it today for the fourth day. It was one of the longest actions of the war against the Communist Viet Cong.

The Defense Department in Washington listed the helicopter crewmen as missing, but it seemed almost certain that their bodies were in the graves by the wreckage.

"The Viet Cong have done this before — used graves of Americans as bait," one U.S. adviser said. "They know we have to go in to get them."

They were identified as WO Stephen E. Morgan, San Jose, Calif.; WO Roy G. Azbill, Hayward, Calif.; Sgt. Franklin D. Porter, Columbiana, Ohio, and Pfc. Theodore A. Winowitch, Pittsburgh, Pa.

If the four were killed, their deaths would raise to 245 the number of Americans killed in combat in Viet Nam since December 1961.

The Communist, also captured two Americans and wounded nine others before withdrawing into the jungle when 49 U.S. helicopters landed a battalion of Vietnamese marines to reinforce the hard-pressed government forces at Binh Nghia.

Need Fortune to Lose

One of our leading politicians complains that politics has become so expensive that it takes a fortune even to lose . . . Adolescence is the time of rapid changes. Between the ages of 12 and 17, for example, a parent ages as much as 20 years . . . Who says today's children are lazy and don't want to learn? Just show them an easier way to do something, and they'll pick it right up . . . Notice at a social club: "At our next meeting our congressman will discuss taxes. Come and hear the dope right from Washington."

McGhee also reported that Johnson told him he had asked David K. E. Bruce to remain as ambassador in London and that Bruce had agreed to do so.

McGhee also quoted Johnson as saying he shortly intends to ask Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen to remain as ambassador to France.

Since McGhee went beyond his own post in relating a conversation with the President it seemed obvious that Johnson wanted to hush speculation that these three major diplomatic posts might be involved in shifts.

government casualties at nearly 300 dead, wounded and missing. A partial count showed at least 32 Viet Cong dead.

Two of the villagers also were killed. Their Catholic families buried them Wednesday. The villagers are refugees from North Viet Nam and militantly anti-Communist.

In another action, government troops surprised an infiltrating Viet Cong unit at Ban Thai, 15 miles west of Saigon, and killed about 42 guerrillas. Four government troops were killed and four wounded.

On the political front, talks continued in Saigon between Vietnamese civilian and military leaders and U.S. Embassy officials, but the deadlock over the fate of the government persisted.

Congo Rebels Kill American By Trampling

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Rebel warriors performed a savage war dance of death on the stomach of American missionary William McChesney until he died, refugees said today.

McChesney, the sixth American missionary to be killed by Communist-backed rebels in the northeastern Congo in the past two months, was trampled to death at Wamba during almost a week of bloodletting last November.

After McChesney had died of internal bleeding, the rebels continued to vent their fury on his corpse, the refugees said and then flung his mutilated body into the Wamba River.

McChesney, 28, was from Phoenix, Ariz.

This tale of horror was pieced together from white hostages of the rebels rescued at Wamba two days ago. They told how the rebels butchered 28 of their prisoners between Nov. 24 and 28.

The toll of white hostages massacred by the rebels rose to nearly 200 with the latest refugee reports.

When 110 Greek, Cypriot, Italian, Dutch and Portuguese refugees were flown to safety, survivors of Wamba's days of carnage told confused and often conflicting stories. Today, with the first shock of freedom behind them, they spoke more calmly.

The survivors told how McChesney, who served at a Protestant Mission near Wamba, was killed together with an unidentified British missionary aged about 50.

Ten other Britons are reported to be among 86 missionaries and other hostages kidnapped last weekend by rebels and taken from Wamba. They were rescued Wednesday by white mercenary soldiers who made an overnight dash across country to save them.

Freezing Rain Possible For New Year's Day

Today's weather — clear and cold and more like what Winonans expect at the year's end — may be short-lived, the weather man said today. He predicted variable cloudiness tonight with a low of 15 to 28 and increasing cloudiness Friday with snow and rain or freezing rain developing.

HE EXPECTED New Year's day to be warmer, probably with a high of 30-33. Colder with a few snow flurries in the forenoon is the outlook for Saturday.

Although temperatures at some Minnesota points dipped far below the zero mark, the low overnight for Winona was 7 after a high of 33 Wednesday. At noon today the reading was 19.

A year ago today the Winona high was 12 and the low -11. All-time high for Dec. 31 was 54 in 1875 and the low for the day -24 in 1946. Mean for the past 24 hours was 20, contrasting with a normal for this time of the year of 17.

LOWEST Minnesota reading was International Falls' -18. It was -16 at Bemidji and -11 at Duluth.

Rochester had a low of 10 after a high of 30 Wednesday and La Crosse posted figures of 7 and 33 for the same times.

Although roads were slippery in some areas, generally fair to good winter driving conditions prevailed in Minnesota and Wisconsin, the highway departments of both states reported today.

Some fog existed in southern Wisconsin and snow was reported on most northern Minnesota and Wisconsin highways but travel on main highways was open.

New Year's Eve celebrations in Wisconsin may have a soggy time of it getting home early Friday.

Snow or rain, or snow mixed with rain, appeared to be in the offing for most of Wisconsin.

Temperatures dropped sharply in the state early today as skies cleared. Superior had a chilling 11 below zero. Eau Claire reported 2 below.

Light precipitation fell in most of Wisconsin Wednesday. The northern areas had more snow, while the south reported intermittent drizzle. Heavy ground fog formed in many parts of the north during the night, especially in the Rhinelander, Stevens Point and Eau Claire regions.

Racine, Beloit and Milwaukee had the high temperature of 39 Wednesday, with others ranging down to Superior's 23.

LAREDO, TEX., set the national high of 85 Wednesday, compared with 29 below early today at Havre, Mont.

MISS BRAND GRADUATES Miss Mary Brand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer J. Brand, 845 41st St., Goodview, has graduated from the Rochester School of Practical Nursing, St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester.

LOOKED LIKE SMOKE RENO (AP) — Where there's smoke there's fire. But this time it turned out to be water. The Nevada Division of Forestry got a report of a possible range fire in the hills southeast of Reno. When fire officials checked the report, they found a geyser of water instead.

A pipeline between Carson City and Virginia City had sprung a leak and water was spraying as much as 100 feet in the air, resembling smoke.

Winona's new telephone directory — that Who's Who that includes almost everyone — is being received by subscribers this week.

It's bigger than ever this year, reflecting both the increase in number of telephones in use (13,277 telephones just before the books came out this year; 12,646 a year ago) and in number of communities included in the Winona directory.

LAST YEAR'S book included listings for Winona, Witoka and Fountain City subscribers. (Goodview customers were included in the Winona section and are again in the new book.)

The new directory includes the three communities above plus Rollingstone and Minnesota City.

The book incorporates several changes in service that went into effect during 1964. Among them are listing of Bluff Side numbers in the Fountain City

Liquor Charge Reduced at Rollingstone

A guilty plea to selling strong beer and whisky on a Sunday was entered in municipal court by William Klinger, operator of Bill and Betty's Bar, Rollingstone.

The plea was made after County Attorney S. A. Sawyer obtained amendment of the complaint against Klinger to eliminate the word "willfully." The effect of the amendment was to reduce the seriousness of the charge, and Klinger reversed a not guilty plea he had made in municipal court Dec. 11.

Klinger paid a $35 fine levied by Judge John D. McGill as the alternative to 12 days in jail. Attorney Roger P. Brosnahan, representing Klinger, explained that Klinger's plea to the amended complaint does not make him subject to an automatic license revocation.

The complaint was made by Leonard O. Skoglund of the state Liquor Control Commission who charged that Klinger sold him a six-pack of strong beer and a half-pint of whisky Nov. 29. Any action against Klinger's operating license will be on the commission's initiative.

The word "willfully" was stricken from the complaint because Klinger, the bar's operator, was not tending bar when the liquor was sold.

Heart Specialist Offers Wives '65 Resolution

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A heart specialist suggested this New Year's resolution for American wives:

"Resolved: That in 1965 I will stop murdering my husband."

Of course, Dr. Paul W. Willis III, cardiologist and an associate professor of internal medicine at the University of Michigan, based his proposal on the assumption the wife wanted to keep her husband.

Chances are, the doctors said, that he'll live longer if the wife will do two things:

1. Stop loading his plate with fat, juicy steaks and smothering his other foods in butter, lard and other animal fats.

2. Help him "kick" the smoking habit.

CLASSES AT CANTON CANTON, Minn. (Special) — Classes for adults in refinishing and upholstering furniture will start Jan. 12 at 8 p.m. in the home economics department of Canton High School. Persons enrolling should bring a piece of furniture to work on at the first meeting. Classes will continue through Feb. 9.

Winona's new telephone directory — that Who's Who that includes almost everyone — is being received by subscribers this week.

LAST YEAR'S book included listings for Winona, Witoka and Fountain City subscribers. (Goodview customers were included in the Winona section and are again in the new book.)

The new directory includes the three communities above plus Rollingstone and Minnesota City.

The book incorporates several changes in service that went into effect during 1964. Among them are listing of Bluff Side numbers in the Fountain City section and direct, toll-free dial service to Minnesota City and Rollingstone telephones.

The new book has 96 pages of alphabetical listings and 116 classified pages. The old book had 89 alphabetical listing pages and 112 classified pages.

Another change is the inclusion of an updated map of the city. The map in use through last year did not show such street and highway changes as the completion of the new, four-lane Trunk Highway 61. The new map covers a greater area, extending part way across the interstate bridge and into Goodview.

IN THE Winona alphabetical listings, Johnson seems to be the most common name, with 64 listings. Smith is a not too-close second with 41.

The cover on the new directory, like that of last year's, is white with color photographs of Minnesota scenes.

SOIL TESTS . . . Test borings were being made this week at four locations considered by the Winona Board of Education as possible sites for construction of a new Senior High School building. John Reardon and Gary Axtell, St. Paul, are seen here making borings on a tract west of Sunset Addition and north of Gilmore Avenue. Other tests are being made on property south of Gilmore and west of an extension of Wilsie Street, between Homer

Road and Highway 61 west of Siebrecht's greenhouse and in the area of east of Mankato Avenue near Highway 61. Results of the tests to determine soil characteristics for load bearing purposes will be submitted to the board and architects for the new school, Eckert & Carlson, Winona, and Caudill, Rowlett & Scott, Houston, Texas, who probably will discuss them at a meeting next week. ## 3 Slightly Hurt In 4 Accidents

Three minor injuries and more than $700 damage marked four traffic accidents here Wednesday.

A hit-run collision occurred at 10:38 p.m. on 3rd Street, 100 feet east of Vine Street. Ruth E. Buege, 217 Franklin St., and a passenger, Mrs. John Wineski, 55, 316 St. Charles St., were sitting in the Buege vehicle while the engine warmed up.

Their car was parked at the south curb of 3rd Street facing east when it was struck on the left rear by a car moving east on 3rd Street. Impact pushed the Buege car 12 feet, and the second car sped off.

Mrs. Wineski complained of pain after the accident. There was more than $100 damage to the Buege car. Patrolmen James L. Bronk and William A. King investigated.

JEROME D. Borzyskowski, 827 E. 4th St., had a bitter pill to swallow at about the same time.

The 1965-model car he had taken possession of three hours earlier was struck in the rear end at 10:30 p.m. in an accident on 3rd Street, 100 feet west of Johnson Street.

Borzyskowski told police that he had stopped for a vehicle making a left turn in front of him when the collision occurred with a car driven by Dennis Brown, 117 Stone St. Both cars were moving west on 3rd Street.

Diane Ellinghuysen, 19, Winona Rt. 1, a passenger in the new car, complained of pain after the accident. Damage was more than $200 to the rear of Borzyskowski's new car. No damage estimate had been made on Brown's car by this morning.

A COLLISION at Broadway and S. Baker Street at 11 a.m. caused one minor injury and more than $150 damage.

John M. Schaefer, 73, 64 W. Howard St., complained after the collision. He was driving east on Broadway and Ray R. Fisher, 857 W. Howard St., was driving south on South Baker Street.

Impact of the collision "bounced" Schaefer's car into a light pole at the southeast corner. Damage was more than $100 to the left front of his car, and more than $50 to the right front of Fisher's car. Patrolman Willis H. Wogan investigated.

A COLLISION at 2:15 p.m. caused more than $250 damage to two cars on Main Street, 150 feet south of 2nd Street.

Robert H. Schuh, 581 Winona St., was driving south on Main Street, and Cyril Schmit, Rollingstone, was backing out of a diagonal parking stall on the west side of the street when the collision occurred.

Damage was more than $200 to the right side of the Schuh vehicle and more than $50 to the left rear of Schmit's car. Patrolman Willis H. Wogan investigated.

Sheriff Neil S. Haugerud, Preston, took Jongschaert into custody this morning at a warrant issued by Fillmore County municipal court. Sheriff Ford received the warrant Dec. 22; it charges Jongschaert with violating a child support order issued by the court Nov. 9.

Sheriff Neil S. Haugerud, Preston, took Jongschaert into custody this morning at a warrant issued by Fillmore County municipal court. Sheriff Ford received the warrant Dec. 22; it charges Jongschaert with violating a child support order issued by the court Nov. 9.

Arlold Vetsch, La Crescent, reported Wednesday night, that children stationed on the Dakota overpass had hit his windshield with snowballs as he drove toward Winona on U.S. 61-14. No damage resulted from the incident, which occurred about 7 p.m.

November Sales Here Keep Up With Year Ago

Department and general store sales in Winona during November were essentially the same as they were during the same month last year.

Statistics released today by the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis, however, indicate that cumulative sales for the first 11 months of 1964 are up 11 percent from the comparable total for 1963.

Throughout Region II of the 9th Federal Reserve District — the region in which Winona is situated — November sales this year were up 7 percent from the total for the same month of 1963, and cumulative sales were up 10 percent from those for January through November last year.

Rochester's sales volume for November was up 1 percent from the figure for the same month of 1963, but its January-November cumulative total was up only 3 percent from the comparable figure a year ago.

LA CROSSE'S sales in November dropped 4 percent from the November 1963 level, and its cumulative total for the year through November is the same as that for the same period in 1963.

In Minnesota as a whole, November department and general store sales increased 7 percent from their levels a year ago. Sales for the first 11 months of 1964 were up 10 percent from the January-November cumulative total in 1963.

Throughout the 9th District, sales increased 6 percent from the volume during November last year, and the cumulative total for this year is up 9 percent from that for the same period on 1963.

NEW TREMPLEAU OFFICERS INSTALLED TREMPLEAU, Wis. (Special) — New officers of Trempealeau Masonic Lodge 117, F&M, were installed by Howard Post, installing officer, and Paul Lehmann, marshal.

Taking office were William Lehmann, master; Lloyd Anderson and Irvin Diamond, senior and junior wardens; William Junghans, treasurer; Harvey Nelson, secretary; Robert Hayter and Harold Hanson, senior and junior deacons; Robert Johnson and Gilbert Harris, senior and junior stewards; and Albert Towner, tyler.

KALINKE PROMOTED ETTRICK, Wis. (Special) — Wilbur Kalinke, former principal of Ettrick Elementary School, is now associate professor of education and a director of the Ames Laboratory School at River Falls State University.

REDCROSS NOW CAN CHECK ON COAST RELATIVES The American Red Cross has announced it can now direct inquiries on the condition of persons in the West Coast flood area to chapters there.

A moratorium on such inquiries, placed in effect when the flooding was at its height, was lifted shortly after Christmas, the chapter said.

Red Cross workers, however, urged persons here to continue personal efforts to reach friends and relatives in the flood area, which includes parts of California, Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Nevada. Use of air mail was recommended.

State Red Cross disaster offices have been opened in Eureka, Calif.; Portland, Ore.; and Spokane, Wash. Sub-offices are operating in all counties affected by the flood.

Delays in obtaining information may be experienced, the Red Cross warned, because many communities are still isolated and surface travel is difficult.

Director Files For Re-election

Ray E. Gorsuch, 50, 369 W. Howard St., Wednesday filed for election as a 1st Ward director on the Winona Board of Education, a post he has held by appointment since 1962.

President of the Credit Bureau, Inc., Gorsuch served one term on the board as director-at-large from 1957 to 1959 and returned in April 1962 when he was appointed by directors to serve for the unexpired portion of the term of Darrel Hoffman, 1st Ward director who resigned. He's now running for election for a full four-year term.

Gorsuch is a former resident of Des Moines, Iowa, who has lived here since 1951, is married and the father of one daughter. He has served as chairman of the finance committee of the Winona Area Girl Scouts, is a former president of Associated Credit Bureaus of Iowa, Associated Credit Bureaus of Minnesota and Associated Credit Bureaus of the Upper Midwest. He has been chairman of the medical credits division and vice chairman of the collection service division of Associated Credit Bureaus of America.

He is a member of Central Methodist Church and a member of its official board, is a former president of the Central Methodist Men's Club, is a member of the board of directors of the Arlington Club and the board of the Winona Shrine Club.

Gorsuch is a member of the YMCA, Elks Lodge, American Legion, 40 & 8, Masonic Lodge, Winona Consistory, Osman Temple of the Shrine and Kiwanis Club.

SUPREME COURT REVERSES AWARD TO CHATFIELD MAN ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The Minnesota Supreme Court today reversed an Olmsted County District Court verdict granting $6,000 damages to Orval Erickson, Chatfield farmer, in his $30,000 suit against two neighbors for loss of part of the fingers on his left hand in a farm accident.

Erickson was helping harvest corn on the farm of Harold and Arthur Quorstad on Oct. 25, 1960, when his hand became caught in a hoist. The court said there was no showing of negligence on the part of the Quorstads.

GIRL, 7, STRUCK BY CAR LISTED AS SATISFACTORY A little Winona girl who was struck by a car at a city intersection Tuesday was in satisfactory condition today at Community Memorial Hospital with her broken leg in traction.

Jane Glubka, 7, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed (Mary) Glubka, is expected to be in the hospital some time before she can go home. The girl was running across Sarnia Street at its intersection with Franklin Street when the accident occurred near dusk Tuesday afternoon.

Alcohol, Ice, Driving — What Do They Cause?

A holiday warning was issued today to those city and county residents who might be tempted to take a chance on having a good time at a party and a bad one behind the wheel while driving home.

Sheriff George Fort and Assistant Police Chief Marvin A. Meier warned again that the combination of alcohol and gasoline is a deadly one. Throw in icy winter streets and highways, they added, and the odds for a safe trip home could only be taken by a man whose brain is a bit clouded.

Both men urged area drivers to plot a safe homeward course, even before they start out tonight, and to stick to the plan though inclination might urge otherwise by the end of the evening.

Whitehall Mason Groups Install

Happy New Year Whichever You Are

By GEORGE McCORMICK Daily News Staff Writer

"Happy New Year," I said to my holiday-minded neighbor, Albert Sniggle, as we met at our mailboxes this morning.

"Shhh!" Sniggle replied, looking about furtively. "Don't let on that we know."

"Don't let on that we know what?" I asked.

"That a new year's about to begin," he whispered. "Pretend we don't know anything about it."

"Why on earth should we do that?" I demanded.

SNIGGLE PEERED OVER his shoulder, then beckoned me to follow him. He led me into his garage, motioned for me to hide behind his 37 1/2-year collection of "National Geographic" and pulled the door shut.

"Now we can talk," he said, turning to me.

"I suppose so," I replied, "but why couldn't we talk before?"

"Stuck with what?" I asked, beginning to feel a bit hopeless.

"Why, we'd be stuck with any year they wanted to give us," he said. "We'd have no choice."

"No choice?" I repeated. "Of course we have no choice. At midnight tonight, 1965 will arrive. Last year was 1964, you know."

"YES, YES, I KNOW THAT," Sniggle said impatiently, "but how can you be sure that this new year will be 1965?"

"These things are consecutive," I explained.

"You're jumping to conclusions," he told me. "These things have been consecutive so far, but we have no guarantee they'll continue to be consecutive."

"No guarantee?" I said desperately. "But they're always consecutive. One follows the other. The new year will have to be 1965."

"Don't be so sure," he said ominously. "What would you do if the new year turned out to be 1929? That was a rough year."

"Yes, it was a rough year," I agreed, "but the new year won't be 1929; it will be . . ."

"OR HOW SMART WOULD you feel if the new year turned out to be 1664?" Sniggle went on, disregarding my objection.

"1664?" I asked.

"The year of London's plague epidemic," he explained. "How'd you like to go through that?"

I decided I would gain nothing by arguing, so, instead, I asked: "What are you going to do when midnight arrives? What year are you going to have it be?"

"You won't tell anybody?" he asked.

"Cross my heart," I assured him.

"WELL," HE SAID, "I'm going to have it be 1893. That was a nice year. Things were peaceful then."

"1893," I repeated. "Yes, that was a nice year, but how are you going to arrange this thing? Won't everyone else think it's 1965?"

"At first they probably will," he admitted, "but they'll find out."

"How?" I persisted.

"Don't you know the difference between 1965 and 1893?" Sniggle asked scornfully. "What did you do in history classes when you were in school?"

"I suppose that if someone doesn't realize it beforehand, he'll know it's 1893 when President Cleveland is inaugurated," I said to mollify him.

"NOW YOU'RE TALKING," Sniggle beamed.

"Will you tell me one thing, though?" I asked.

"Of course," he said expansively.

"How did you happen to settle on 1893?" Sniggle turned and peered out a garage window. Motioning me closer, he rummaged beneath his "National Geographic" pile and came up with a bulky package. "If I'm right about this year business," he whispered, "I'll make a fortune."

"What's in the package?" I asked.

"These," he hissed, "are 1893 calendars — and I'm sole distributor."

It Happened Last Night Johnson Enjoys 'Hello Lyndon'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — FDR's favorite song really wasn't "Home on the Range" . . . Harry S. Truman undoubtedly got tired of hearing "The Missouri Waltz" . . . but it's certain now that Lyndon B. Johnson's most beloved song is "Hello, Lyndon!" . . . not to be confused with "Hello, Dolly!" . . . sung with any lyrics that Carol Channing wants to sing.

"The President," one of his admirers just told us, "considers that 'Hello, Lyndon' — he never thinks of it as 'Hello, Dolly!' — in his song."

"After the band played 'Hello Lyndon' at some recent functions, he said, 'Now why don't they play my song?'"

Respectful of LBJ's tastes in songs, Carol Channing will dash to La Guardia Airport Saturday night, Jan. 16, when the curtain rings, down on "Hello, Dolly!" and fly to Washington to get plenty of sleep Sunday, and plenty of rehearsal Monday, to sweep into the Inaugural gala Monday night and sing, as it's never been sung before, HIS song, "HELLO, LYNDON!"

Now I do love the Beatles! But gee whiz, when Mitch Miller calls them "the Hula Hoops of Music," geez . . . The "greatest ruler of the west?" Red Skelton said it was the cowboy who wore silk and satin levis . . . Choo Choo Collins, the "baby Betty Grable," now attracting Hollywood producers, sounded like Marilyn Monroe when an interviewer asked what she wears around the house. "Just my false eyelashes," she said. (Edie Adams said, "All I have on when I greet my husband is my contact lenses.")

I'VE A NICE note here from Suzi Marlin, Miss Alaska '64, whom I met as a judge of the Miss Universe contest at Miami Beach. "We've had a little cold spell," she reports. "Been between 45 and 55 degrees below zero for two weeks."

Dog lovers, start cheering! Robert Montgomery's secretary is permitted to bring her dog to work with her . . . Leslie Caron was dining at Le Moal in one of those circular or horizontal minks that are supposed to make girls look slimmer and boys poorer . . . Joe E. Lewis will m.c. one of the segments of Fight for Sight's "Lights On" show at Carnegie Hall Sunday night Jan. 10 at which Sammy Davis and others will scintillate.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Joe Berger suggests a way to solve N.Y.'s parking problem — at the N.J. end of the tunnel place a sign reading: "Full — Try Philadelphia!"

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Fat men, says a psychologist, are usually honest. You'd be honest, too, if you couldn't run very fast. — Irish Digest.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Trust everybody — but cut the cards." — Finley Peter Dunne.

EARL'S PEARLS: Any bachelor can tell you — his favorite dish is one somebody else washes.

Pianist Peter Nero guest-starred on Jonathan Winters' TV show, and reports, "Johnny's wild and unpredictable — he has the only director in television who works with a whip and a chair" . . . That's all, brother.

ROCK AROUND MINE RENO, Nev. (AP) — The "Nevada Rock Roller" sounds as if it has something to do with modern music.

Voice of the Outdoors

Failures of 1964
Most reviews of the year deal with successes or attainments of individuals or organizations. The failures of the year, set-backs to progress overlooked in measuring the work of men, too often are the bricks used to build the castles of the future.

In conservation, which affects the lives of so many people, the failures of the year stand out like sore thumbs. All one needs do is lean back in a poolside chair, like we are now doing out here in sunny California, close ones eyes, and run the mental film of the past year across the screen of memories.

The failure of the St. Paul district engineer of the War Department and the conservation departments of Minnesota and Wisconsin to cooperate in establishing a safety zone for the protection of human lives and the conservation of fish below the nine-foot channel dams, rates near the top in our list of failures of 1964.

A new public liability resulted in the throwing out the "300-foot" limit which had done the job satisfactorily for 20 years.

Perhaps second in our list is the failure of the Minnesota High Department to let any major construction contracts for continued improvements of U.S. Highway 61. This has been and will continue to be a major roadblock in the development of tourists and recreational enterprise in the entire Hiawatha Valley, costing the residents of this area thousands of dollars more than the cost of building the road into a 4-lane highway from Minnesota City to Hastings.

Third, failure of the Minnesota department of parks to develop any of the new parks in Southeastern Minnesota, authorized by the state legislature which also provided the needed funds.

Fourth, failure of the city government to provide facilities to meet the increasing pollution problem in the river.

Fifth, failure of the Minnesota Legislature to give to the state conservation commissioner the authority to establish hunting and fishing regulation and seasons.

Successes of 1964
Perhaps the project that brought greatest and, if properly managed, the most lasting benefits to Winona in the vacation field, is the expanding of camping facilities by the John A. Latsch Memorial Board on Prairie Island in cooperation with the Park-Recreation Board. Winona has become a place to spend a week's vacation, not just a spot to stop on the way to some place else.

The success of the "put and take" trout fishing program on the Whitewater perhaps would be second. Fishermen are generally pleased with the program of irregular stocking of fish-able-sized trout.

Third, the zoning system installed during the year by the Upper Mississippi River Wild Life and Fish Refuge. This plan preserves the wilderness areas of the upper river.

Fourth, the campaign against litterbugging carried on by the Wild Life Refuge and the Wisconsin warden service. It has introduced clean housekeeping to the river boating areas.

Foremost nationally was congressional action setting up new standards for uses of government lands and the purchase of additional lands and their maintenance on a self-supporting basis.

There are, of course, many other items that could be placed in either list. In fact, every reader should make his own list of successes and failures as a guide to his project for the year ahead.

SO HURT

DEAR HURT: No, I think he has NOT been seeing her. If he had, he wouldn't need to keep her phone number. He'd know it. I suspect that you two are not communicating very well. Don't accuse him or cause a scene. Try to reestablish that "closeness" by being understanding, sweet, fun, interesting, quiet, and very, very wise. (P.S. As for the latter — start by keeping out of your husband's wallet.)

DEAR ABBY: I am willing to wager that a lot of people are living with some very strange situations because I know I am. Many years ago I met a sweet, quiet, country school teacher. I courted her in the fashion of the day. While making plans for marriage she made me promise that I would always "respect her privacy." I thought she was just a little bashful and it would wear off after we were married. When we returned from our wedding trip, she had two separate mail boxes put up. One with my name on it, and the other with her MAIDEN name on it. It has been up for 37 years and that's the way she gets her mail. Wouldn't you say she was a little strange?

DEAR BAFFLED: If this is her only indulgence in "privacy," I would say it is indeed a "little strange." But stranger still is your decision to air your bafflement after putting up with it for 37 years.

CONFIDENTIAL TO S. F. H. IN OTTAWA: When in deep water, it's wise to keep your mouth shut.

Security Close, Hope Says of Far East Trip

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I think we had the most security of all time," said comedian Bob Hope, just returned from a Christmas tour of U.S. military bases in the Far East. "I've never had my back scrubbed by a bayonet before."

Hope and his troupe flew into Los Angeles International Airport Wednesday to end a 15-day tour that included Guam, Korea, Okinawa, Thailand and South Viet Nam.

Hope's lips were chapped from the countless outdoor shows he performed. Actress Jill St. John was nursing a limp; someone dropped a native crossbow on her ankle. No one suffered any serious mishaps.

Military authorities weren't taking any chance the Hope troupe might be the target of Red terrorists.

Hope said: "Our destination was such a secret we really didn't know where we were ourselves. Really!"

In Korea a helicopter carrying comic Jerry Colonna and bandleader Less Brown developed engine trouble in a snowstorm and had to make a forced landing outside Seoul.

"But the highlight was Viet Nam," said Hope. "We found out a lot of things. I never dreamed the Viet Cong was pepped all over the place. We saw a lot of destruction from the Viet Cong."

He praised the U.S. fighting men there.

"Those kids are the greatest Americans — they're staging a great fight. I think we're holding our own."

Hope, who has missed 13 Christmases at home this way, celebrated the holiday in a South Viet Nam mess hall with his troupe and GI's. Also with him this year were Anna Maria Alberghetti, Janis Paige, Anita Bryant, and Ann Sidney, winner of the Miss World beauty pageant.

Their departure from their plane was delayed 30 minutes for customs inspection in Los Angeles, and Hope quipped: "I'm going back to Guam." Finally they made it down the ramp to where newsmen and families were waiting.

"It was great," Hope said. "The most exciting Christmas trip since 1943."

Handicapped Board Member Appointed

ST. PAUL (AP) — Gov. Karl Rolvaag named one new member to the Advisory Board on Handicapped, Gifted and Exceptional Children Wednesday and reappointed three present members.

Dr. John Haavik of Duluth was named to replace Dr. Donald F. Muhich of Virginia, who has resigned.

Reappointed were Probate Judge Philip Anderson of Crookston, Dr. James Delano of Rochester and I. V. Johnson of South St. Paul.

All will serve until 1967.

Laborer Faces Charges in Oil Station Slaying

FOND DU LAC, Wis. (AP) — A husky laborer who lived alone in a house trailer in a rural area between Campbellsport and Lomira faced arraignment today on charges of first degree murder and armed robbery in the holdup slaying of a service station attendant near Fond du Lac.

Robert L. Scarrah, 24, was transferred to a maximum security cell in Fond du Lac County jail Wednesday from Burlington, where he was arrested Tuesday several hours after Richard Sigler, 20, was slugged, shot several times and robbed at the service station on Highway 41.

Sigler's body was found in the washroom of the station by a motorist who wondered why there wasn't an attendant on duty. About $54 was missing from Sigler's money belt.

Sheriff Raymond J. Howard said that Scarrah admitted striking Sigler and robbing him, but nothing more. Howard said that Scarrah related that he suddenly decided "to go South", picked up a suitcase, drove to the station and committed the robbery to get money.

White Earth Man Sentenced

WADENA, Minn. (AP) — A White Earth man was sentenced to three years in Stillwater Prison Wednesday on a criminal negligence charge in an auto death.

District Judge Rol E. Barron of Wadena sentenced Leonard Dakota, 33, in the Oct. 27 death of Joseph Jackson, also of White Earth. Dakota was listed as the driver of a car in which Jackson was riding and which collided with a truck on U.S. 59 about 11 miles north of Detroit Lakes.

Bird Count Set Sunday

Members of the Hiawatha Valley Bird Club of Winona will conduct their annual bird count Sunday.

Headquarters for the operation will be Lake Park Lodge and the bird "census takers" will cover an area within a radius of 7 1/2 miles of the report center.

The Christmas count is conducted each year in all parts of the United States and Canada by organized bird club members and others in an effort to detect changes in migration patterns, loss trends suffered during the year and similar data. The count period extends over the 10 days from Christmas through Jan. 3 and birds, especially unusual species seen and properly verified within the period, may be credited in the area's official report.

This will mark the fourth participation by the Winona club and will be under the direction of the club president, Francis Voelker, 416 Mill St. In other years, 30 to 40 varieties have been spotted in the area in numbers ranging from a single specimen to several thousands.

One purpose of the count is to locate species not commonly seen in the area in mid-winter and any person, whether a club member or not, spotting an unusual bird is invited to report

Minneapolis Man Dead in Fire

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Charles V. Quigley, 63, a retired city employee, died in a fire that heavily damaged his northside home Wednesday.

Firemen said Quigley apparently fell asleep in a chair while smoking. He lived alone. His body was found on the living room floor near where the fire started.

Stolen Car Traded For Brand New One

CLOVIS, N.M. (AP) — A man dressed in Western hat and boots drove a late model auto to a Clovis used-car lot and took a newer one out for a road test Tuesday.

When he didn't come back, police discovered that the car he had left had been stolen from a lot in Amarillo, Tex.

Amarillo officers found that the car left there had been stolen from a lot at Lubbock, Tex. Police at Lubbock determined that a car a man left there had been taken off a lot at Hobbs, N.M.

Hobbs police were trying to find out where the car left there had come from.

his discovery to Voelker by calling 4424. Among the species on which information is wanted are purple finches, red polls, tufted titmice, brown creepers, evening or pine grosbeaks, red headed woodpeckers, crossbills and snow buntings.

$452,945 Low On Highway 248

A Rochester firm was the apparent low bidder on a project involving work on Trunk Highway 248 from Rollingstone to a point 4.3 miles westward.

Leon Joyce Construction Co. submitted the apparent low bid of $452,945 in a Dec. 18 letting in the Minnesota Department of Highways central office in St. Paul. Fifteen bids were received for this project.

The work involves grading and installation of a gravel base and a plant-mixed bituminous base. Work is to begin May 17 and be completed in 80 working days.

The project was one of 12 included in the Dec. 18 letting. Apparent low bids totaled $8,811,992. The largest project — to cost $2,538,671 — calls for work in the St. Paul Capitol approach area on the interchange complex for interstates 35E and 94.

A Tribute to Friendship!

Through the years, as we learn to evaluate people and personalities, we find that enduring friendships are one of life's precious jewels. What is more comforting than a treasured visit with someone to whom you can just be your natural self? Do you know what the definition of a friend is? It is a person who knows all your faults but still likes you, in spite of them. None of us is free from faults. That is only human. So we gravitate to those who like us and who, in turn, we think rather special. Let's cherish our friendships and make the most of them . . . lest cold acquaintance be forgott!

John Weinberger (left, above) received our 500,000th prescription recently from Newt Goltz. This prescription marked a milestone in the 76 year history since the Pharmacy was first founded in 1888. We're mighty proud of our heritage and the important part we've played in the lives of so many Winonians.

New Ways To Budget Stability Needed

BETTER THAN half of every tax dollar goes for a single function of government — defense of the United States.

When Secretary of Defense McNamara says, then, the next year's military budget will be held to under $50 billion he is also talking in terms of a reduced federal budget, or that is the way it sounds.

Current defense spending is running at the rate of $49.8 billion a year, and that includes military assistance under the foreign aid program. The new figure should be at most this size or even smaller. Yet spending figures often are illusory.

The Secretary of Defense is talking in terms of estimates, as we gather from his announcement after a conference with President Johnson in Texas. Reckoning by budget estimates, Defense "saved" $1.1 billion this year over fiscal 1963.

BUT ANOTHER measure of government spending is, quite literally, the amount of spending itself. This means what Congress fixed as the level of appropriations, or New Obligational Authority, as it is called.

By this reckoning the arms budget went up $1.5 billion in fiscal 1964.

For these reasons we are less emboldened to hope for any great reduction in actual spending although it must be conceded that Mr. Johnson talks and theoretically has maintained a good economy line.

The trouble is that over the years since 1960 non-defense spending has increased by $13.7 billion while defense spending went up only $7 billion.

THE WHOLE ANSWER does not lie with arms budget trimming. Nor does it lie with apparent budget trimming. Instead, it would seem to rest with a wholesale joint presidential and congressional revision of spending methods and gauges.

A $100 billion government is an inordinately big one and surely a wasteful one under present budget practices.

If Mr. Johnson has any mandate from the huge vote Nov. 3 it may be identified with those who favored him as a man committed to economy and to good management. At least, he found favor with the moderate center because of his attitude toward private enterprise and his business sense—qualities not always visible in Democratic presidents.

AT PRESENT 15 presidential task forces are studying problems of government and solutions that may be found with the help of Congress. We hope that these explorations will find new ways to budget stability instead of fresh and devious paths to the public's purse.

Our Sundays Have Changed

THE ADVENT OF Sunday shopping in these parts is, among other things, a reminder of how things have changed over the years, as far as the Sabbath is concerned.

A lot of us are old enough to remember when Sunday was set aside as a day of quiet relaxation, if not actually sustained religious worship. Church was a place where services weren't confined to the morning hours, but extended into the evening. You wore your Sunday best for much of the day.

The pattern started changing when the automobile became a popular mode of transportation, and families drove to neighboring towns on Sunday afternoons. That also was the time when churches started turning out their lights and closing the doors Sunday night. They retreated before popular custom.

SUNDAY SHOPPING is a controversial subject. It is opposed by church leaders, clerks and, in general, by management. Only the buying public likes it.

All of which brings us to the point we had in mind. It is that, if Sunday shopping is to decline, rather than grow, it will be because the people who do the buying decide to direct their attention to other activities. For years they have gone to ball games, movies and other forms of entertainment. It was inevitable that sooner or later somebody would get the idea they also might like to do their shopping on Sunday.

In some parts of the country, notably southern California, Sunday is the biggest day of the week for retail stores.

IT IS A PRETTY good bet that, if a clergyman were to deliver a sermon telling his parishioners he didn't like to have the merchants do business on Sunday, his listeners would solemnly nod their heads and then head for the nearest store.

The plain fact is that, if we are going to change what we do on Sundays, we'll have to change our whole philosophy. It's been a long time since our people as a whole regarded the Sabbath as a day reserved for rest and meditation. — Man-kato Free Press.

Ambassador Taylor says the outcome in South Vietnam is "very much in doubt." This comes as a great surprise — to everyone who's been living a hermit's life.

Washington's busiest time is yet to come. But it's bustling enough now, what with all those products of the landslide doing their house-hunting.

The Lord hath appeared of old unto me, saying, Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love; therefore with loving kindness have I drawn thee, Jeremiah 31:3.

TODAY IN NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Words of 1960 Had Real Ring

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Sometimes it's an informative experience to disregard the method of historians who usually evaluate past occurrences from the standpoint of hindsight, and to try instead to gauge events on the basis of what was being said at the time they actually were taking place.

This correspondent, in doing some research the other day, came across some dispatches he wrote prior to and during the Democratic National Convention in July 1960, and found in them some comments that seem pertinent today, particularly a quotation from a statement by Lyndon Johnson which reads as if in certain respects he had anticipated history.

The dispatch of July 6, 1960, referred to a statement by Sen. Johnson at a news conference held the week before the convention, in which he had said:

"AFTER JULY, the handwagons will be silent. The 'dark horses' will be out to pasture. And we will stand face-to-face with whatever destiny this century holds for us — with one man as our leader, the one man that we choose this year, the one man standing out in front to lead us."

There will be little time to learn this job. We can only anticipate that the next President will be greeted by the threat of a Russian submarine base in Cuba, less than 100 miles from our shoreline. He will be met by efforts to penetrate internally into the republics of this hemisphere. He will be met by new ultimatums over Berlin. He will be met by attacks upon the security of American bases throughout the world — by insults to the American flag and embassies abroad — by indignities against our citizens anywhere."

IT WAS A prophecy that came true. For President Kennedy was indeed confronted from the outset of his administration with the threat of Soviet submarine as well as missile bases in Cuba, with a crisis in West Berlin, and with episodes in which insults were hurled at the American flag at embassies and legations in different parts of the world.

But one of the most interesting excerpts of a prophetic nature was quoted in this correspondent's dispatch of July 20, 1960. It reported that, when word was being passed around the convention hall that Lyndon Johnson had accepted Mr. Kennedy's offer of the vice presidential nomination, a close adviser of the Texas senator approached this correspondent and said:

"I know you will be surprised about this, but last night several of us had a talk with Sen. Johnson and discussed very frankly what we were up against. Bear in mind that the labor leaders fought Johnson for the top place on the ticket, and they don't like him. Bear in mind that Jack Kennedy will make a campaign on virtually a socialist platform. He may be less radical if elected, but he will be plenty radical in the campaign. What is that going to do to us in the South during the coming session of Congress and later on?"

"WELL, MANY of us in the Johnson camp felt he just had to get in there and exercise a restraining influence. If elected, Lyndon Johnson will have considerable power inside the Senate, just as he has had as majority leader."

"I tell you his influence will be exerted toward safe and sane policies, and he will be in there pitching. We told him he just had to accept the vice presidential nomination if offered to him. He had nothing to lose if defeated, because he would remain as majority leader."

STAY ALIVE IN SIXTY-FIVE

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Civil Righters Divided On Mississippi Stand

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — A significant battle between the moderates and the left wing of the civil rights movement took place at a recent closed-door session of the Leadership Conference for Civil Rights.

On the surface, the showdown was over the seating of Mississippi congressmen when Congress opens next week. Underneath, however, was an undertone of disenchantment by some civil rights groups with the left wing of the movement.

The leadership conference is composed of labor representatives, the NAACP, Dr. Martin Luther King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference, NSCC (Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee), and various religious groups.

Clarence Mitchell of the NAACP was presiding when Bill Higgs, the able young attorney for SNCC, raised the question of supporting the Mississippi Freedom Democratic representatives to get seated in Congress instead of the recently elected Mississippi congressmen.

Mitchell, however, refused to hear him. "Let's be frank," he said. "I've got Dr. Henry and Charles Evers down in Mississippi to think about. I can't go behind their backs."

HE REFERRED to the fact that Dr. Aaron Henry, Mississippi head of the NAACP, has "withdrawn from the Mississippi Freedom Democratic party," while Evers, secretary of the NAACP, has disapproved of certain left-wing elements in the Freedom party. Both men had been in Washington at the last meeting of the leadership conference to urge that the Mississippi congressmen not be seated, but that the conference not support representatives of the Freedom party in their place.

Since this position had been previously adopted by the leadership conference, Chairman Mitchell ruled it could not be reopened.

Robert Spike of the National Council of Churches, however, called the ruling unreasonable, and Andy Biemiller of the AFL-CIO counseled Mitchell: "You'd better let 'em talk."

So it was decided to hold an informal meeting after the regular meeting to discuss the question of the Mississippi Freedom Democratic party and the proposed seating of its representatives in Congress in lieu of the four Democrats and one Republican elected in November.

IT WAS generally agreed that because Negroes were disenfranchised in that election it was invalid. But Higgs of SNCC argued that the three Negro ladies, elected in a side election conducted by the Freedom party, were legally elected to Congress. Rev. Walter Fauntroy, spokesman for Dr. King, supported him.

"Dr. King wants me to say that he supports this and hopes you will," Fauntroy said. "I called him in Paris."

"He must not have read the papers or he wouldn't have said that," Chairman Mitchell replied. "You have no right to mislead these women," he told Higgs.

Frank Pohlhouse, counsel for the NAACP, went further. He called the three women publicity seekers.

Herman Edelsburg of the Anti-Defamation League read a memo by Joe Rauh, counsel for the United Auto Workers and the man who did such a dramatic job of presenting the Mississippi Freedom party's case before the Atlantic City convention. The memo stated that Dr. Henry of Clarksdale, Miss., who had run against Sen. John Stennis in the side election was withdrawing on advice of counsel. "I told him," Rauh's memo stated, "that he had no legal right to sit in lieu of Stennis."

FOR THE same reason, Rauh stated, he did not think the other Freedom party representatives had a right to sit in lieu of the four Democratic and one Republican congressmen, since they were not elected in a regularly constituted election.

Others argued that if it were possible to seat persons in Congress not regularly elected, it would set a precedent that could backfire. Nazis might use it to claim election to Congress.

There was some discussion of the fact that the late Sen. Theodore Bilbo of Mississippi had been denied his seat in 1947 after he had prevented Negroes from voting. Bilbo never did take his seat. He died while waiting for the Senate to decide whether he was entitled to represent Mississippi again in Congress.

However, it was also brought out that Sen. Homer Ferguson, R-Mich., who made the motion asking Bilbo to step aside, based it on personal fraud rather than denial of voting rights to Negroes.

The closed-door debate was heated and lasted until midnight.

To Your Good Health

Smokers Take a Chance

By J. G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a boy of 11. My parents agree that I can start smoking when I am 17 as long as I don't use cigarettes. Dad smokes cigars and thinks I should, too, as it causes little strain on the teeth. (I have very straight teeth.)

I would prefer a pipe. All my friends plan to be pipe-smokers because their fathers are.

Which is better for health? Is it possible for a young man not to feel sick after smoking a cigar or pipe for the first time? Are pipe-and cigar-smoking a habit forming? — J. A.

That's a fine letter, but I'm not very happy about the idea of parents getting into such ponderous matters of policy-decision when their child is so young.

Let's answer the questions in your last paragraph:

1 — I don't know which is better for health, pipe or cigars, but either is better than cigarettes.

2 — Sure, it's possible for young men, even those of 11 years, to smoke a cigar or pipe for the first time and not get sick. I guess that's too bad. If everybody got sick the first time, not as many people would smoke.

Too many parents (remember I'm a parent, too!) have used this old wheeze with the idea that it would discourage smoking. But if children, having been told this, try smoking anyway, and DON'T get sick, they forthwith decide that ALL advice they've had about smoking is wrong.

3 — Yes, pipe-smoking and cigar-smoking are habit forming. So are cigarettes, snuff and chewing tobacco. Plus a lot of other things. But I can't think of one single item known to man which has proved to be as habit forming to so many people as that one substance: Tobacco.

THE TROUBLE is that tobacco doesn't do any detectable damage at first. Most smokers don't even get sick at the first contact with it. (Going nearly 40 years back in my memory I remember a girl who, on a dare, smoked a pipe. She was proud of not getting sick. But what's to be proud about? As far as I know, she still smokes cigarettes, but would be better off without them.)

It takes 20, 30, 40 or even more years in most cases before a smoker realizes that the habit has harmed him. Then it's too late. If only tobacco caused its troubles soon instead of late, there wouldn't be any problem. Nobody would smoke.

Sometimes, of course, people smoke pipes all their lives and live to be 104. But some don't. Some lose a lot of years from their lives. I've known people in their 40's and 50's who suddenly realized that they were about to die, and didn't want to. But they'd taken the chance and they lost. That's the way things work out.

ALL RIGHT, my young friend, I've answered your questions. Now you answer one for me.

Why do you want so much to smoke, anyway? Because your dad does? Because all the other fellows' dads do? I buy the theory, evolved at long last, that the only good way to stop smoking is for parents not to smoke. That takes several generations to do. I myself quit smoking much too late. My youngsters smoke. If I hadn't, maybe they wouldn't.

I'd suggest you forget the whole idea. It is youngsters like you at whom the campaign about the evils of smoking is being directed.

NOTE TO T. M. S.: Having a hysterectomy would not prevent sexual intercourse and would not mean you could not or should not marry.

Letters to The Editor

TV Program Called
U. N. Propaganda

To the Editor:

The highly advertised TV program, "Carol For Another Christmas," turned out to be a propaganda guise for the United Nations. In this program Americans fearing the enemy, namely communism, were portrayed as selfish gluttons and unfeeling scrooges who block the accomplishment of peace and brotherhood between all men and all nations. As I read through and between the emotion packed lines of the script, the message to the viewer was obvious: world peace can only be achieved when America forgets her policy of "security through strength," abolishes her defense systems, and relies upon "talk" in the U. N. to protect and to preserve freedom.

It was, indeed, a fine performance clearly showing its price tag of $4 million worth of talent and arrangement. However, the network and the show's sponsor should have informed the people that the program despite its Christmas holiday setting was actually a 90-minute commercial for the United Nations and an endorsement for total disarmament.

During the course of the program there was no mention of the fact that since the end of World War II and the founding of the U. N. more people and countries have fallen under the tide of tyranny than at any time in world history. Cuba, Poland, Hungary, Tibet, Mongolia, Viet Nam, and the Baltic nations are just a few sad examples. Where was the United Nations when millions of human beings lost their lives and freedoms before the advance of communism? What did "talk" in the U. N. do for those being enslaved and for those who have tried in vain to win back their freedoms? Nothing.

While our representatives "talked" with those of our enemy, communists smashed freedom into the ground, and continues to do so, without any opposition from the U. N. Yes, "talk" has never served as a counter against communism but only as a cover for communism's real and evil intentions.

I support the principle and the charter of the United Nations. My complaint being that the majority of the U. N. member states completely ignore the charter. Soviet Russia, for instance, will not pay her share of U. N. costs and operations. Were the charter obeyed then the solution would be simple: No pay; no vote.

We fail to press the issue of payment. We are told by our leaders that it is wrong to hurt communism's "feelings." The same tender "feelings" kill our people in South Viet Nam and enslave nearly one half of the world's population.

Thirty years ago, a silent generation of free men closed their minds to the rise of Hitler. Too many Americans refuse to notice or to speak out against the trends running stronger than freedom. Why is it always so late when democracy finally does awake to the challenge?

I am haunted by visions of a great Republic sowing the seeds of neglect while the evil of communism gathers in the shadows to reap the fall of the human spirit.

He was born here May 28, 1883 to Mr. and Mrs. Iver Iverson.

He married Christine Knutson of Sheldon Dec. 30, 1916. They settled in Rushford, where he was employed as clerk in several stores until retiring. He was a member of Rushford Lutheran Church.

Survivors are: His wife; two daughters, Mrs. Marvin (June) Anderson, Rushford, and Mrs. James (Helen Rose) Johns, St. Paul, and eight grandchildren. One son, Vernon, five brothers and one sister have died.

The funeral service will be Saturday at 2 p.m. at Rushford Lutheran Church, the Rev. John Rockne officiating. Burial will be in Rushford Lutheran Cemetery.

There will be no visitation at the Jensen Funeral Home, which is in charge of arrangements, but friends may call at the church after Saturday noon.

John W. Kranz
ST. CHARLES, Minn. — John William Kranz, 78, died at 12:52 a.m. today at Community Memorial Hospital, Winona, after a brief illness.

He was born in Mt. Vernon Township, July 24, 1886, to Ernest and Mary Grablander Kranz. He married Margaret Bitner Sept. 18, 1907. He was a farmer, lived in the area his entire life and was a member of St. Martin's Lutheran Church, Winona.

Survivors include two sons, John, Day, Minn., and Fred, St. Charles; two daughters, Mrs. Glen (Margaret) Allen, Minnesota City, and Mrs. Harold (Alice) Rainwater, Visalia, Calif.; 13 grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; one brother, Frank, Kellogg, and one sister, Mrs. Franklin (Minnie) Keller, Buffalo City, Wis. One sister, Mathilda, has died.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at St. Martin's Lutheran Church, the Rev. A. U. Deye officiating. Burial will be in Minnesota City Cemetery.

Friends may call at the church Saturday after 1 p.m. Bretlow Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements. A memorial is being arranged.

Two-State Funerals
Ralph E. Nelson
KELLOGG, Minn. (Special) — Funeral services for Ralph E. Nelson, 57, rural Kellogg, who died suddenly Tuesday morning, will be held Sunday.

Mr. Nelson was born July 27, 1907, to Mr. and Mrs. Louis (Maude) Nelson, Greenfield Township, Wabasha County. He married Dorothy Torrance, La Crosse, at Winona Dec. 5, 1931. The couple lived in Winona seven years before moving to the Kellogg area where they operated a farm.

Survivors: His wife; two sons, Ralph W. and Bruce; one daughter, Mrs. Ralph (Dorothy) Jean Nelson; six grandchildren; three brothers, Harvey, Pine Island, Leslie, Lewiston, Edgar, St. Charles, and three sisters, Mrs. James (Pearl) DePuy, Rochester; Mrs. Wilbur (Harriet) Stierck, Landa, N.D.; and Mrs. Florence Page, Wabasha. A sister has died.

Funeral services will be Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at Kellogg Methodist Church, the Rev. Robert Dunn, pastor, and the Rev. F. Allen Sackett, Seventh Day Adventist Church, Rochester, officiating. Burial will be in Greenfield Cemetery, Kellogg.

Friends may call at the Buckman-Scheiters Funeral Home, Wabasha, after 7 p.m. Friday. A memorial is being arranged.

Pallbearers will be Walter Dugan, Arthur Graft, John Hager, John Fitzgerald, William Edelbach and Ronald Kelly.

3 More Deaths

Push State
Toll to 829

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The already all-time record Minnesota highway toll continued its upward swing Wednesday with deaths of three persons in two accidents.

The killings carried the total to 829 compared with the 801, the previous mark set last year.

Latest additions to the fatalities listings were Martin Westergard, 56, Minneapolis, and his 54-year-old wife, who died when their car crashed with another on U.S. 65 north of Mora.

Three occupants of the second machine, all from rural Mora, were hospitalized at Mora in reported serious condition. They are Mrs. John Sundberg, 48, and her daughters Karen, 20, and Barbara, 23.

Highway patrolmen said the collision occurred when the Westergard car pulled out to pass a snowplow.

The third death was that of Bruce J. Barenbaum, 17, St. Louis Park, who died in a similar head-on crash on U.S. 8 near Lino Lakes.

Officers said the car in which Barenbaum rode skidded out of control and into the path of another.

Others in the two cars were reported only slightly injured.

Three Children Die in Auto
FENNIMORE, Wis. — Three children died of carbon monoxide poisoning Wednesday night while asleep in an automobile in a supper club parking lot in suburban Bee Town.

Dr. Leo Becker, Grant County coroner, identified the victims as Kevin Thorpe, 5, and his sister Connie, 6, children of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Thorpe of Fennimore, and Joan Jackering, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Jackering of Lancaster.

The coroner said the deaths were accidental and caused by carbon monoxide poisoning. He said that the children and their parents had eaten dinner at the tavern-restaurant and the children then went out in the car to sleep while the parents played cards. The car engine was started to run the heater. Apparently the gas leaked into the automobile, Dr. Becker said.

Tourist Training Program Planned
ST. PAUL (AP) — A tourist facilities training program will start for 25 Minnesotans on Jan. 6, Gov. Karl Rolvaag said Wednesday.

Purpose of the program, being paid for with a federal grant of $40,331, is to provide training for present and prospective workers in state parks.

The 25 "students" were selected from among the 46 persons who recently took a civil service examination for park manager.

They will receive six months training in such fields as public relations, safety, conservation and state park regulations, budgets, personnel policies and maintenance and operations.

They will spend three months in classroom sessions at Fort Snelling State Park and devote the last three months to on-the-job training at various parks.

Department of Conservation staff members and people from other state departments will serve as instructors.

AT SAINT TERESA

12 Psychiatrists to Discuss
Pressures on College Women

Twelve psychiatrists will explore the emotional problems and pressures of college women during a four-day conference at the College of Saint Teresa next week.

The program of lectures and seminars will begin at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the college auditorium and will conclude with a 12:15 p.m. luncheon Thursday in Lourdes Dining Hall.

CONSIDERED will be such topics as the effect on the college woman of pressures of class work and examinations, the stresses caused by her efforts to achieve what her family and college expect of her and the difficulties caused by her simultaneous efforts to establish her role as a woman in today's world.

The conference, "You — Emotions and Modern Times," is being conducted for juniors and seniors. All faculty members will attend the general lectures.

Supported by a $7,500 grant from the Lee and Rose Warner Foundation, the conference will consist of six general lectures on such subjects as emotional growth and maturity, student hopes and dilemmas, values, emotional problems and the discovery of identity.

MODERATOR and chief of staff for the conference is Dr. Francis H. Braceland, psychiatrist-in-chief at the Institute for Living, Hartford, Conn., and former head of the psychiatry section at Mayo Clinic.

Dr. Braceland has taught at Yale and Harvard and has been president of both the American Psychiatric Association and the International Catholic Association for the Study of Medical Psychology.

A public lecture will be given by Dr. Braceland at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday in the college auditorium. His topic will be "The Community, Mental Health and You."

Codirectors of the conference are Sister M. Romana, OSF, chairman of the college's departments of education and psychology, and Oscar Horner, chairman of the biological sciences department. They have been assisted by eight faculty-student committees.

OTHER participants in the conference are Dr. Dana L. Farnsworth, professor of hygiene and director of health services at Harvard University; Dr. John I. Nurnberger, chairman of the psychiatry department at Indiana University; Dr. John W. Higgins, associate professor of clinical psychiatry, St. Louis University medical school;

Dr. Howard P. Rome, senior consultant in psychiatry at Mayo Clinic; Dr. Robert McAllister, Catholic University of America, psychiatric coordinator for the federal Department of Defense; Dr. H. Waldo Bird, associate dean and professor of psychiatry at St. Louis University;

Dr. Maurice J. Martin, Mayo Clinic; Dr. Neal Krupp, consultant in psychiatry at the clinic; Dr. Ruth Westrick, psychiatric consultant at the college and a fellow in psychiatry at Mayo Clinic; Dr. Henry Brattensborg, Mayo Clinic fellow in psychiatry, and Sister M. Immaculata, supervisor and instructor in psychiatric nursing, St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester.

The conference will be opened by Sister M. Camille, president, at 7:30 p.m. MONDAY in the college auditorium. Dr. Braceland will give the keynote address, "Women's Changing Role."

At 9 a.m. TUESDAY, Dr. Braceland will discuss "Emotional Growth and Maturity." Student seminars will be conducted at 10:20 a.m., while, at the same time, Dr. Farnsworth will discuss "Faculty and Student Relations" for the college faculty in Roger Bacon Lecture Hall.

Dr. Nurnberger will discuss "Student Values—How Attained and Transmitted" at 2 p.m. in the auditorium, and Dr. Higgins will lecture to the faculty on "Counseling the Student" at 3:15 p.m., while students are taking part in seminars.

An informal discussion period will be conducted after a 6 p.m. buffet dinner in Lourdes Dining Hall.

After the 5:30 p.m. dinner in Lourdes Dining Hall, Dr. Bird will give a lecture for students only in the college auditorium. Titled "Courtship and Marriage," it will begin at 7:30 p.m. Commentator for this lecture will be Dr. Nurnberger.

Dr. Rome will begin the final day of the conference, THURSDAY, with a 9 a.m. lecture, "The Problem of Identity." All staff members will take part in a summary of the conference at 10:20 a.m. in the auditorium. A question and answer period will be included. The conference will then end with a luncheon in Lourdes Dining Hall.

SISTER CAMILLE said of the conference: "While we are honored to have the services of a distinguished professional staff, we do not expect facile, pre-fabricated solutions to arise. We are dealing with human beings, specifically young women who come to us from throughout the nation and abroad. They have complex intellectual, emotional and spiritual needs. They find themselves in a world of rapidly changing secular values, a world in which the woman's role becomes blurred."

"We at the College of Saint Teresa recognize the desirability of providing experiences that will help the students to develop toward maturity in their role as women in today's complex society. This, we feel, should be a continuing experience, and for this reason, especially designed experiences, as the 1965 conference, are planned to help each student to achieve a kind of maturity that will place her in a position to live a happy and useful life as an integrated personality."

IF THE OLD year is thought of only as something to be forgotten and consigned to the dust of the past, it cannot be of any present or future value. Only as we profit by our mistakes and consider them as costly lessons can the old year as well as the new year appear in proper and clear perspective.

Unless the unproductive practices of the past, that inhibit our better selves, are lessened in some degree, or entirely discarded, there is no adequate incentive to urge us on to better accomplishments. A good gardener does not continue with cultural practices that have been found to be unproductive in previous seasons, but profits by the experiences gained and works for better results, with hope and faith undiminished.

Regardless of what the past year may have brought us, joys and successes, or sorrows and failure, the New Year can be considered as a vibrant issue on which to build anew. Our sincere wish is that it may be a year of worthy accomplishments and great fruitfulness for all of our readers.

Some New Year Thoughts

AFTER the frivolities of the New Year's celebrations have passed and the crumpled paper horns and discarded hats have been swept up and consigned to the rubbish heap, it is to be hoped that some of our mistakes of the past year will accompany them into the discard.

As the head clears and a better perspective for the future is attained, many resolutions for better performance in the New Year will be made. However, these can be brought to fulfillment only through the necessary will to carry them out.

For the gardener, the New Year presents many opportunities for entering into some new experiences; a different and improved form of a new vegetable may be tried, a new rose may be planted, or some of the new vastly improved annuals may be grown for a more diversified color effect in the garden. Deep-seated resolutions are not necessary for this.

While we may be enchanted with the loveliness of the many new flowers, the old treasured ones of the past should not be overlooked, for they can still give the same charm and beauty to the garden as they did in the days long past. Many gardeners fully realize this for some of the old favorites are still with us and seemingly in greater demand. Some gardens display a combination of the old with the new that creates an entrancing picture that combines the deep-seated sentiments of the past with the artistic realism of the present.

IT IS GOOD to contemplate the garden at this season of the year for it enables us to regain in a measure our sense of proportion in the evaluation of material things as compared with spiritual values that are too often lost, or kept in the background of our daily life. The most valuable and dearest things in life do not lie beyond the distant horizon, but are nearest to us, are close around us, touching our garments, and influencing us at all times, even though quite imperceptibly.

Our days can be greatly enriched and mellowed by the hours spent in the garden in close touch with many of the mysteries of life itself. Such hours can offer solace and comfort to those who may be living in the deepening twilight without peace of mind and with little incentive. The spiritual and mental stimulus together with the physical benefits makes for greater happiness and contentment. As sublime music may erase from the mind some of the clouds and doubts of our everyday life, so does the beauty of flowers and the activities in the garden nourish and enrich the soul.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

... it is midnight, and the toll of the bells announce a brand New Year. It is time to begin again. God hands us 365 clean, new days and as we accept his proffer we must make valid resolutions to discharge all the responsibilities that automatically come with them. Our world is confused. Seeds of destruction are planted everywhere. It is not a time for indecision. May we resolve, right now, to get a clearer view of destiny... to understand more of the meaning and purpose of life. May we have more time for God, and somehow, may He make us realize, He is in front of all our tomorrows. Happy New Year!

Three Blind Little Girls Enjoy Their Christmas

By RUTH ROGERS
Daily News Area Editor

Three girls home on vacation from the Minnesota Blind and Sight Saving School at Faribault were probably the happiest and best adjusted children in Winona County this holiday season.

Nancy Kanz, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kanz, Lewiston, has only peripheral and 20 percent vision. Cheryl Lingenfelter, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lingenfelter, rural Lewiston, and Pamela, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Farnholtz, Witoka, are totally blind.

TO HEAR AND see them in their family circles, they aren't missing anything. Nancy Kanz, who has reigned as queen of the school the last year, is cheerleader and looking forward to going with the 20-member wrestling team to the North Central Association tournament for 10 schools of the blind at Jacksonville, Ill., Jan. 26. They'll be gone four days.

"There are 12 weights of boys from Faribault in the matches," she said.

"The totally unsighted kids have just as much fun as the rest of us," Nancy, who has 20 percent vision, said. "They swim, ice skate, roller skate and go downtown, sometimes by themselves. Faribault is about as big as Winona. They don't have any trouble."

Totally blind Cheryl Lingenfelter agreed that the students at the state school are a happy lot, but added, "Life is sometimes drab there, nothing ever happens." On the other hand, she was so thrilled with her week at Camp Knutson near Brainerd last summer that she said, "I wish I had been deaf, too, so I could have stayed another week."

"We had lots of privileges — we could stay up late, talk after we went to bed, we went out on a barge for a singlet, and swim."

Used by a former Minnesota legislator as a retreat, Camp Knutson now is available for the handicapped and as a Bible camp.

NANCY AND CHERYL talk with a precision and clarity that does honor to the English language. "I think they are taught to do so," Mrs. Lingenfelter said. "We who see depend partly on our sight in listening to what people say by looking at them, while the blind depend only on their ears."

Speaking of ears, Mrs. Farnholtz says, "You can't do anything but what Pammy hears you." Snuggling up to you, Pammy gives you an apple and a running commentary about the school. For Christmas she brought home a brand new riddle she learned from her roommate, Bonnie O'Day, Minneapolis, which she tried, successfully, on her staunch friend, Henry Schwetler at the Witoka store.

"I bet I can make you say yellow," Pammy said. "I'll bet you can't," he answered. "Count to 10," she said. He did. "What are the colors in the American flag?" she asked. "Red, white and blue," he answered. "I told you you'd say blue," she quipped. "No, you said yellow," he answered. She won — he had said yellow.

Retrolental Fibroplasia is the cause of Nancy's and Cheryl's blindness. "It's in the encyclopedia," Nancy said, as she spelled the unfamiliar words. Both born prematurely, they apparently received too much oxygen while in the incubator, causing fibrous scar tissue behind the retina, shutting off the light, Mrs. Kanz said.

Since the cause was discovered, the use of oxygen in incubators has been measured carefully, she said.

With advances in surgery, Mr. and Mrs. Kanz thought something might be done to help Nancy, but were told the scar tissue was too far back in the eye to make an operation safe.

PAMELA's story is different. She has a deformed optic nerve. Mrs. Farnholtz said the doctor who operated on Pammy at age three months to release the improperly functioning muscle between stomach and intestines told her there might also be other malfunctions. It was following her surgery that they discovered her eyes weren't seeing, Mrs. Farnholtz said.

At 4½ years, Nancy was in school at Faribault. "She was so tiny," Mrs. Kanz said, "the superintendent would hold her on his lap to get her adjusted to being away from home." In kindergarten she and the other children began learning Braille. Cheryl was enrolled at Faribault at 5. Pammy started kindergarten at 4 at Lincoln School, Winona. The following year she was switched to Faribault and took kindergarten another year.

BOTH CHERYL and Pammy demonstrated their Braille reading ability for me. Cheryl read deftly from a religious book published by the Lutheran church — Missouri Synod. Pammy read from a children's book telling the story of Cinderella. Pam quickly discovered the book in her hand was upside down, turned it over and started to read orally. The story of Cinderella was never read with more expression than by this happy little third grader. The little servant girl wore pink satin after she became a princess. "Pink is sort of a bright color," said the child, who'll never see even a dim light.

"We have to write our assignments in Braille," Cheryl said. "We use a stylus — I call it a stick. It's pear-shaped, with a point on the end to punch the words in the paper." She's a seventh grader.

MRS. Lingenfelter demonstrated that when they write they move from right to left, and then turn the sheet over to read the raised characters from left to right, like you read when you can see.

When they write letters home, the Braille is translated by school personnel before mailed. The Braille alphabet is more complicated than the abcs; it contains combinations of letters.

Perhaps it's because these children have so much more learning to do than sighted children; at any rate school starts at 8 a.m. and runs to 4:30 p.m. Nancy said they learn how to use a regular typewriter in seventh grade. A freshman now, she takes time out from fun and helping with the housework at home to type up price lists for her father, who's a partner in the Lewiston Feed & Produce.

FILLED WITH plans for the future, Nancy, who was 15 Dec. 15, plans now to be a physical education teacher. "Colleges don't recommend us for teaching positions," she said, but that's not deterring her. She's a great Twins fan, attends games, and has her favorite players.

Like the other students, she learned piano first, but then she switched to saxophone. "We placed first in district and regional last year," she said of the state school band, which plays at many functions on invitation.

"Sometimes the piano gets boring," Pammy said, "but when you learn a new song, it's fun." She's learned to play the mouth organ which she received for Christmas.

"I'm going to break Chicka next summer," Nancy said. Chicka is a colt in a stable of five at the Kanz home. "Chicka means little girl in Spanish," she explained. A freshman, she's taking first year of Spanish. Her regular horse is Tammy. Horseback riding is one of her favorite sports.

BEFORE the street where she lives became a busy thoroughfare, she'd ride her bicycle there. Now one of the other children goes with her.

"At school we ride tandem bicycles," Nancy said. "One of the sighted students rides in front, with a total in back." Pam Farnholtz was planning the party for her ninth birthday Jan. 2. "I'm going to take the kids to the barn and show them my new pony colt, Dandy," she said. She received Dandy from a neighbor, Tommy Summers, and Mike Murphy of Money Creek for Christmas.

They'd had a slight accident with the new pony. "She was eating a few wisps of hay when I went up beside her and she bit my leg," Pam said. There was a black and blue mark, but no broken skin.

"Pammy isn't afraid of anything," her mother said. She walked freely and unattended, though a bit slowly and carefully from room to room. "After all, I have been around this house a long time," she commented.

SHE WALKED into a balloon toy, "That's the duck," she said, feeling it with her toes.

"I can sleep better than other children, because no light bothers me," Pam said, "and then I can get up early in the morning." She thinks she's lucky. "When you get a Barb doll, a Tammy doll, a radio, and phonograph, that's all you need. When you are older, what is there to enjoy? Just a bunch of boy friends that get bothersome at times."

She was wearing slacks and commented, "Dresses are for girls going some place." Holding a piece of string between outstretched arms, she said, "I think this is three feet long." Her mother measured it: It was within half an inch of a yard.

ONE OF HER BEST friends in Theola Vail, the blind girl at the Winona post office concession who had been to Faribault to visit her recently. To the Farnholtz family she is Teddy.

"When my house mother comes home from shopping, her husband can tell what coins she has in her purse by the sound," Pam said. He's blind, too, and in charge of the boy's dormitory. Pam says she, too, can tell coins by sound and by size.

She'd bought a toy settee and straight chair made of wood by the boys at school with pennies saved for her by her grandmother, Mrs. Nora Farnholtz, who runs the lunch counter in the service station at Huff and Sarnia streets, Winona. When her savings grow again she's going to buy a bunk bed and rocking chair they make.

"Our teacher says we can see better than sighted people," Pam said, "because we have to depend on our fingers."

This generous little one said, "If I could see, I would make my mother six dresses."

For Christmas she had made her father a combination key ring and purse — "see, here's a place for bills, and this is for coins." Dad and mother also received braided leather belts.

"When I get older I'm going to make rugs," Pam said.

NANCY KANZ described the school, where 90 are enrolled. The curriculum is the same as in all other schools through 12th grade. "We have a Braille encyclopedia, the World Book, a Braille dictionary, and a regional library serving Wisconsin, Iowa, South Dakota and Minnesota. Books and recordings are circulated from here. They send us books in the summer.

"We watch TV, the partially sighted ones filling in for the rest. We go to basketball games and have dances." She's a member of the student council and the FHA.

At home she washes dishes, cooks and babysits for her youngest sister, etc.

Last year she attended a physical federation workshop at the state school for the blind at Lansing, Mich., having been chosen as one out of a select 25 to vacation there.

The girls at school help each other, the partially sighted helping the blind to select skirts and blouses that match.

Cheryl attends Bible study and church conducted by the Rev. Berthold Streufert, state appointed chaplain, who is a member of the Missouri Synod. Children of other faiths are taken care of by Faribault pastors. Cheryl described the library and museum, the latter filled with stuffed animals, old stage coaches, etc.

She learned basketry for a time, and then switched to making fish nets, because she likes to fish. Her younger brother proudly displayed one she had made. She fishes in Lake Winona, and the family each summer takes a vacation at a northern Minnesota resort.

THE FAMILY circles of these three children will be broken again temporarily when they troop back to Faribault, ending another vacation of fun in households that make no issue of having a handicapped among them. Instead, the other five children in the Kanz household and other four in the Lingenfelter and Farnholtz families will perhaps be enriched anew by the self-discipline and freedom from self pity taught their sisters at an apparently very excellent school.

Former Area Auto Mechanic Now Minister

ARKANSAW, Wis. — Alvin Bradshaw, former garageman at Arkansas and Mondovi, who retired from the business in 1953 because he had asthma, became a preacher at 60 and now hale and hearty, is serving Bethel, Fayette, Middlebury and Waldo churches in Iowa and Lafayette counties, Wis.

His wife, Connie, also is a minister, after he challenged her to become one, too. Between them they make $4,100 a year, receive $1,350 for travel, and draw Mr. Bradshaw's social security.

He was a lay leader and sometimes preached when his pastor, the Rev. Otis Botts, urged him to take a church. When he was young he thought of going into the ministry, but lacked the education. At 60, textbook study after 42 years out of school isn't easy. He says he'll never complete the course for ordination. Mrs. Bradshaw, whom he married in 1961, is planning to become ordained.

LANESBORO PATIENT

—Mrs. Garvin Benson is at Grandview Hospital, La Crosse, with a broken hip received in a fall at her home Dec. 23. She was hospitalized five weeks after fracturing a leg above the knee in a fall down the basement stairs at her home in October.

Saint Teresa Retreat Set For Next Week

Conducting the annual retreat for students of the College of Saint Teresa will be three priests of the Winona diocese, the Very Rev. James H. Habiger, the Rev. Lawrence C. Gaven and the Rev. Martin G. Olsen.

The retreats will open at 7 p.m. Jan. 8. Retreat masters for the exercises on the Winona campus will be Msgr. Habiger and Father Gavin. The exercises at Assisi Heights, Rochester, for seniors will be conducted by Father Olsen.

Ettrick Motorist Comes to Stop For Five Deer

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special) — Two Ettrick couples, returning from La Crosse late Monday night on the ice-slicked concrete, escaped an accident only because they were traveling at a slow 30 miles an hour.

Lester Tranberg was driving when he saw five deer attempting to get a footing on the ice as they crossed the road on the north side of Decorah Hill near Galesville. They apparently dared not run, but made it across the highway in two directions as Tranberg brought his vehicle to a stop. Two cars behind him also were traveling carefully; they were able to stop before hitting the Tranberg car.

Lakeside Pastor Arriving Jan. 10

The Rev. Ray Cheshire, Eau Claire, Wis., has accepted a call to become pastor of Lakeside Evangelical Free Church here. He will conduct his first service at Lakeside Jan. 10.

Interim Pastor Appointed for Waterloo Ridge

SPRING GROVE, Minn. (Special) — The Rev. S. O. Sorlien has accepted a call to serve as interim pastor at Waterloo Ridge Lutheran Congregation, six miles southeast of Spring Grove.

He succeeds the Rev. E. A. Beaver, who now serves a rural congregation near Fergus Falls, Minn. Pastor Sorlien will commute from his home at Decorah, Iowa when his service begins Feb. 1.

Pastor Sorlien was the 13th of 16 children of Mr. and Mrs. John Sorlien, Bode, Humboldt County, Iowa. In this family there were 10 boys and six girls. Nine of these boys formed a baseball team back in 1915 and played several games including Luther College.

Pastor Sorlien is a 1922 graduate of Luther College. After having served five years as high school principal and superintendent, he enrolled at the Lutheran Theological Seminary in St. Paul from which he received the Bachelor of Theology degree in 1930. He has served congregations in North Dakota, Minnesota and Iowa. Since his retirement in 1961, he has served as visiting pastor of First Lutheran Church, Decorah.

Pastor and Mrs. Sorlien have seven children, five girls and two boys.

Salvation Army Enters Second Century Today

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

With booming drum and quiet prayer, a robust worldwide army today enters its second century of "warfare" — in behalf of God and man.

The Salvation Army begins a year-long observance of its centenary.

And while the tactics and sociological terrain have changed since it first marched forth to battle 100 years ago, it still is carrying on the struggle to "save and serve" human beings.

"Methods have changed, but not the motivation," says the national commander, Commissioner Holand French of New York.

The objective still "is fighting the good fight against hunger and fear, neglect and loneliness, doubt and delinquency."

At army centers across the country, devotional vigils Thursday night marked the start of the centennial observance, and also launched a nationwide evangelistic crusade with the theme, "Christ for the World."

It is a dedicated and distinctive army.

Its "weapons" are prayer, the Bible and a cheerfully helping hand.

Its time-honored motto is, "To meet the need at the time of need at the point of need."

With its military organization, discipline, array and terminology, combined with its compassionate operations, the army is a highly unusual religious body.

But in great contrast to the denunciations and abuse it encountered when it began, it now has broad community support and esteem among people of all faiths.

Its red kettles, tooting bands and tinkling bells adorned the Christmas landscape, as they do each year now.

Other familiar earmarks are the army's flags, tambourines, drums and trumpets, its officers and cadets outfitted in their red-tipped blue uniforms, the men in caps and women in beribboned bonnets.

From the start, founder William Booth "learned there was magic in bold, martial music and in a militant appeal," says Commissioner William Davidson of New York, commander of the Eastern territorial division.

But aside from the martial trappings, the army also has become famed for its sympathetic heart and action in time of trouble.

Although sometimes regarded largely in terms of the "soup, soap and salvation" dispensed on skid row, the army's works of mercy extend far beyond that, from problems of tornado and fire to those of employment, housing and pregnancy.

The army is staffed by 25,000 officers in 71 countries, more than 5,000 in the United States, and includes about a million "lads and lassies" in the ranks, the members or "soldiers."

They belong to the army's 17,000 neighborhood congregations, called "corps," the combined work, worship and recreation centers of the army. There are 8,072 of them in this country, with 233,109 members.

Beyond these local nuclei, however, extends a vast social-service network. The army operates more than 3,000 welfare institutions, including: 31 general hospitals, 70 clinics, 367 hostels for homeless men and women, 66 employment bureaus, 38 maternity homes for unwed mothers, 38 maternity hospitals, 145 children's homes, 30 boarding schools, 870 day schools, 115

Wisconsin Traffic Deaths Up to 1,051

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The death of a 64-year-old Kenosha County man has raised Wisconsin's record 1964 traffic toll to 1,051, far ahead of the 905 deaths recorded on New Year's Eve one year ago.

Carl Menke, 64, of New Meunster died Wednesday night in a Kenosha hospital of injuries sustained Dec. 2 when his car went out of control on an icy town road in Kenosha County and struck a bridge.

Freezing Meat— Is It a Saving?

ST. PAUL, Minn.—Is it practical to buy a half or a quarter of beef for the freezer?

In answer to that question asked by many families, University of Minnesota extension specialists say that the actual cost of a half or quarter of beef may not be as low as you think. They point out that there are other considerations besides cost:

- Your family's size and meat preferences.

- The availability of meals you like.
- Nearness of your market and the frequency of buying food.
- Amount of freezer space.
- Quality of meat available by the quarter or side.
- Skill of the processor who will cut, trim and package the meat.
- Amount of money you want to invest in one kind of meat.

A beef side will usually yield a fourth steaks, a fourth roasts, a fourth ground beef and stew meat and a fourth waste.

Although you may buy a side of beef weighing 300 pounds on the hook, remember that you will not get 300 pounds for the freezer, the specialists caution. Cutting, trimming and boning reduce the yield by 20 to 30 percent. Generally, the fatter the meat, the higher the loss. This reduction, then, must be taken into consideration in figuring the cost you are paying per pound of edible meat.

Most families overlook the cost of having meat stored in the home. Generally, it costs from 11 to 25 cents to hold a pound of food in a freezer for a year. Cost per pound can be reduced, however, by frequent turnover of food in the freezer.

Many of the questions on cost of buying a side or quarter of beef for the freezer are answered in a University of Minnesota Agricultural Extension Service fact sheet, "Beef for the Freezer," available free from Bulletin Room, Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul.

French, Beaver Creek Shed Gets Committee OK

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—The application for federal assistance for French-Beaver Creek Watershed has been accepted by the state committee, Odell Schansberg, Whitehall, chairman of the Trempealeau County Soil and Water Conservation District, said.

It will be eligible for consideration for priorities for planning when the Soil Conservation Service is in position to take on another application. The earliest opportunity for this is in December 1965.

Directors of the watershed will meet at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at Ettrick Community Hall, Schansberg said.

Farm Courses Set at Caledonia

CALEDONIA, Minn.—A welding course for farmers and other interested persons will begin at 1:30 p.m. Monday in the vocational agriculture department of Caledonia High School. The classes will meet every Monday, Wednesday and Friday for 10 sessions.

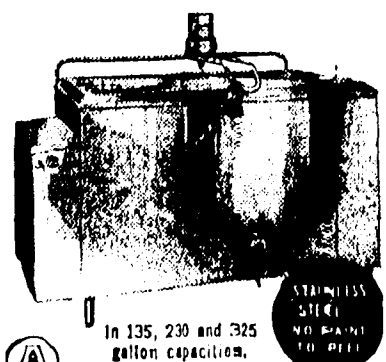

The course is sponsored by the board of education.

The first farm shop class, conducted by the agriculture department, will start at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. A total of 10 meetings will be held, on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. The course is open to all young men who are out of high school. There is no advance registration.

RURAL ROUNDOUP

By FRANK BRUESKE
Daily News Farm Editor

A drop can be expected in the net income per farm in Minnesota during 1964, the USDA reports. A new high in net earnings per farm of $3,852 was reached in 1963. It is the drought of the past year will lower this average. It is estimated that crop production was cut $100 million by the drought. . . . KATHY HISEY, Wabasha County home agent says she will start a sewing class for county homemakers if there is enough interest. Homemakers interested in the course should contact the Wabasha County extension office. The classes would be held in February and March.

A registered Brown Swiss cow owned by GEORGE J. HENDEL & SON, Caledonia, Minn., has reached a lifetime production of more than 4,000 pounds of butterfat. The cow, Zemp's Tanna 321,572, produced 93,416 pounds of milk and 4,008 pounds of butterfat in 2,341 days, according to the Brown Swiss Cattle Breeders' Association. . . . OLIVER STRAND, Winona County agent, says members and friends of the Minnesota Crop Improvement Association are invited to attend a crop improvement day on the St. Paul Campus of the University of Minnesota at 10 a.m. Jan. 13. . . . Farmers still have time to sign up for the farm and home development course "Managing Our Future," to start Jan. 13 at Rushford. Farmers in Winona, Fillmore and Houston counties are eligible to attend. For more information, contact your county agent.

MARVIN LEE, assistant Wabasha County agent, says high school senior boys who are members of 4-H clubs or FFA chapters are eligible for a $500 scholarship to the agriculture college of their choice. Additional $150 scholarships are available. Contact your county extension office for complete details. . . . The Wabasha County 4-H achievement program will be held Jan. 18 at Plainville. . . . The U. S. exports to countries of the Western Hemisphere reached an all-time high of $154 million during 1964, 15 percent above the previous year.

A new assistant has joined the staff of Production Credit at Arcadia, Wis. He is DUANE JENSEN, an agriculture finance graduate of River Falls State University. He and his wife, ELAINE, natives of Frederic, Wis., will live at Arcadia. . . . Dairymen, take note. If your milk has been banned from commercial markets because of pesticide residues, you may apply for indemnity payments at your ASCS county office. Check with your ASCS office for full information. . . . Beef imports were down more than 20 percent from last year's level, says the USDA. Meat imports from Ireland were slashed 61 percent while imports from Australia were down 12 percent.

Final topic will be dairy housing for cattle of all ages. Discussion will include free stall housing, loose housing and conventional housing systems. At this meeting Dr. Williams will discuss calf raising in detail, covering nutrition, diseases and general management. A registration fee will be charged to cover the cost of educational material and meeting room. Any dairyman interested should contact the extension office at Lewiston or adult vocation instructor Howard Johnson at St. Charles before next Thursday. Olmsted County farmers may register with Richard Radway, Olmsted County agent, at Rochester.

Dairy Schools Begin Soon at St. Charles

LEWISTON, Minn.—A series of four "Winter Dairy Schools" have been scheduled for interested Winona and Olmsted County dairymen during January, says Oliver Strand, Winona County agent.

The sessions will start at 10 a.m. next Thursday at the American Legion Club basement at St. Charles. Other sessions will be Jan. 14, 21 and 28. Sessions will continue through 3 p.m. with a lunch break at noon.

ONE MEETING will cover dairy nutrition in detail with Dr. Cole, head of the dairy department, and Ralph Wayne, extension dairyman providing the information.

Another meeting will deal with principles and problems of dairy breeding and inheritance, physiology of reproduction, and selection.

Quality milk production, principles of efficient milking procedure, bulk tank calibration and mastitis prevention and control will be the topics of a third informational meeting with university extension specialists Vernal Pachard and William Mudge in charge.

Caledonian Wins Bond With Essay

CALEDONIA, Minn.—David Ernster of the Caledonia Champion Racers 4-H Club will be awarded a $25 Savings Bond at the State Soil Conservation District Supervisors Annual Conference in St. Paul Monday, according to Harlie Larson, soil conservation agent.

David placed first in the Area VII contest at Rochester with his conservation speech entitled "Soil and Water Conservation—How Will It Affect My Future Recreation." Area winners were entered in the state contest sponsored by the State Soil Conservation Women's Auxiliary. Mrs. Clarence Elkins is Houston County auxiliary chairman.

Taylor High Class To Hear Tri-State Technical Head

TAYLOR, Wis. (Special)—Wallace E. Erickson, technical manager of Tri-State Breeders Cooperative, will speak to the Taylor High School adult farm class at 8 p.m. Jan. 14.

His program is entitled "Management—The Key to Good Breeding Results." He also will answer questions on artificial insemination of swine, colored slides will be shown.

Marvin Nelson, vocational agriculture instructor, says a good breeding program plays a big part in the success of a dairy or beef program.

The regular scheduled adult farm classes will begin Jan. 7.

35 Trempealeau Co. Youths Graduated From 4-H Program

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Graduation certificates were presented to 35 Trempealeau County 4-H club members at the junior leaders banquet at Blair Tuesday evening.

Certificates were given to members who will be 19 before Friday and have successfully completed 4-H club work. Receiving graduation certificates were:

Kenneth Gander, Arcadia Humming

Dairy Clinic Starts Jan. 20 At Arcadia

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Peter Bieri, Trempealeau County agent, announced that an in-depth dairy clinic has been scheduled at Arcadia.

The clinic is a series of meetings on feeding, breeding and management. Two hours is devoted to basic training in a single phase of dairying.

The schedule for the Willie Wied Hand room, Trempealeau Electric Cooperative, Arcadia, from 1:15 to 2:15 p.m. on successive Wednesdays:

- Jan. 20—Background information on dairy farming, principles of dairy cattle breeding; J. W. Crowley, extension dairyman.

- Jan. 27—Feeding standards and feed requirements, balancing dairy rations; Crowley.

- Feb. 3—Selecting feeds, pasture and forage utilization, practical feeding programs; Crowley and George Werner, extension dairyman.

- Feb. 10—Mastitis and milking procedures, dairy disease problems; Dr. C. W. Burch, extension veterinarian, and Crowley.

- Feb. 17—Value of DHIA records, using DHIA records; C. C. Olson and A. G. Sendeback, extension dairyman.

- Feb. 24—Dairy cattle housing, materials handling; Edward Bruns and Lynn Brooks, farm building specialists.

Enrollment will be necessary. Clinic attendance is limited to participants who plan to attend all six meetings. Those interested should register at the county extension office, Whitehall.

Test Check Made On Trempealeau DHIA Results

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Trempealeau County farmers taking advantage of the testing program offered by the Trempealeau DHIA have been assured by Peter Bieri, county agent, that the tests are accurate.

To insure that farmers get accurate DHIA butterfat tests, extension dairymen bring 12 samples and have the local technicians test each of the samples, then submit the tests report to Madison. The tests submitted were exactly the same as the official tests made by the extension dairymen. Mrs. Sidney Borreson is county lab technician.

4 Area Residents Named as ADA District Delegates

ARCADIA, Wis.—Four area people have been nominated as delegates for the District 6 American Dairy Association which will have its annual meeting here Jan. 19 at American Lutheran Church.

They include Arnold G. Hanson, Osseo; Gerhard Nilsson, Arcadia; Donald Schmitt, Fountain City, and Donald Stanford, Blair.

They are among the 13 nominated for the seven delegate posts.

Blair Homemaker Alternate Delegate To Ireland Meeting

BLAIR, Wis. (Special)—A Blair homemaker has been named as alternate delegate to the Associated Country Women of the World at its triennial meeting in Dublin, Ireland, in September 1965.

She is Mrs. Rudolph Anderson, who is past state treasurer of the organization and a member of a Trempealeau County homemaker club.

Several months ago each county homemaker donated 5 cents to a fund to help send a delegate to the meeting. The delegate who has been named to attend the meeting is Mrs. William Kitzrow, state president.

100 Pounds of Meat Per Person in 1965

CHICAGO, Ill.—The nation's meat industry produced a record of more than 100 pounds of beef for every person in the country in 1964 and expects to maintain that level in 1965, according to Roscoe G. Haynie, chairman of the board of directors of the American Meat Institute and president, Wilson & Co., Inc.

Per capita consumption of 100.4 pounds of beef in 1964 was an increase of six pounds over the 94.5 pounds in 1963, Haynie said in a year end statement.

The spurt in beef production sent total red meat consumption to a new record of nearly 174 pounds per capita in 1964. This represents, in addition to beef, 64.1 pounds of pork, 5.0 pounds of veal and 4.2 pounds of lamb and mutton per person.

"Although the meat industry expected a record year, beef production actually exceeded our expectations. However, a continued very strong demand for beef by the consumer readily absorbed this increase," Haynie reported.

Total beef production for 1964 was 18.1 billion pounds. In 1965, it is expected to rise slightly faster than the growing population. Total meat production in 1964 was 32.1 billion pounds—an all-time high. It is expected to remain about the same in 1965. Declines in production of pork, lamb and mutton will offset the increased beef production.

Although total meat production is not expected to rise in 1965, Haynie hopes that improved efficiencies will enable meat packers to maintain the overall increase in industry profits recorded during 1964.

Safety Specialist Retiring Today

ST. PAUL, Minn.—Glenn I. Prickett, who developed the agricultural extension safety program at the University of Minnesota 15 years ago, will retire from his duties today.

His retirement comes at the end of 37 years on the staff of the University. He taught 16 years at the West Central School and Experiment Station in Morris and served six years as assistant state 4-H club leader.

Since he was appointed extension farm safety specialist in 1949, Prickett has been working with individual farmers, county extension agents, farm and civic organizations and the state and county safety councils in an effort to reduce farm accidents by bringing more safety into agriculture.

The constant objective of the extension safety program is to create a safety consciousness among rural people in the state, Prickett says. And he feels that Minnesota farmers and farm workers are becoming increasingly more safety-conscious.

As evidence he points to the notable drop in total number of farm work fatalities reported annually. There were 48 reported last year, compared with more than 80 in 1949. The number dropped to 41 in 1959, but rose again in 1960. Prickett explains this rise to be partly due to a combination of bad weather and a late season that year.

"While it is true that the farm population has decreased over the past 15 years," Prickett explains, "it is also true that the number of farm power machines—the major cause of farm deaths and injuries—has increased considerably."

The tournament, this year termed the Carleton Invitational, concluded its second year of existence Wednesday in the beautiful Carleton Fieldhouse before some 1,300 fans. Beloit

Hawks, Ramblers Home Saturday Night

Coaches John Kenney of Winona High and John Nett of Cotter hope to celebrate the New Year's arrival a bit late this year — a day late in the form of victory celebrations following Saturday night games.

Both will be on home courts Saturday, the Hawks against a rangy La Crosse Central outfit in a non-conference battle, and the Ramblers against rangier Austin Pacelli at St. Stan's. Both games start at 8 p.m.

For Kenney, the problem will be to smooth out the kinks which will probably show up after the Christmas break.

"I'd like to use as many kids as possible Saturday," says the coach. "We'll probably be a little rusty."

Kenney visted the Red Raiders in action Wednesday night in their 57-51 win over arch-rival Aquinas.

"They didn't look too good for a half," tells Kenney. "They were down by about ten in the third quarter and finally had to pull her out."

"They're big and aggressive around the boards. They run the zone press, and they'll try and chase us and make us throw it (the ball) away."

"We can match 'em in height pretty well," continued Kenney. "It all depends who they start. Their front line will go around 6-5, 6-4 and 6-4."

Kenney will go with his usual starting five, Gary Addington and Don Hazelton at the guards, Larry Larson and Bill Squires at forwards, and John Brandt at center.

Austin Pacelli is the state's No. 1 Catholic power with a perfect 8-0 slate and rumbles into the Rambler gym seeing red.

Cotter has beaten the Shamrocks at home for the past three or four years, according to Nett, whose Ramblers possess a 5-3 mark. So Nett expects Austin to come in like the north wind.

The Shamrocks bring with them what has to be one of the tallest and most talented squads in state parochial ranks.

Leading the pack is 6-7 Dave Lobb, a senior center, who devastated the Ramblers in the semi-finals of the state tournament last spring and who, reportedly is, even better this year.

The Lobb name will provide double trouble for the Ramblers this year as Dave's younger brother Mike at 6-4 is also in the starting line. Rounding out the Pacelli starting five is 6-0 forward Ray Halverson, 6-4 Tom Rockers and 6-0 Dave Wistrick.

Nett realizes his assignment.

"I just don't know how we're going to combat that height," he worried out loud. "We just don't have it like they do. I don't anticipate changing my starting lineup any, but we may have to do something with the height problem."

"As far as I know, they aren't a running ball club. All I know is that we've beaten them in the past here and they'll be coming in roaring mad."

Barring last minute changes, Nett will go with his son John Jr., Chuck Kulas, Dan Pelowski, Bob Allaire and Bill Browne.

Ken Donahue Smashes 633 For Topper

Ken Donahue, competing for Springer Signs in the Commercial League at Hal-Rod Lanes, paced city keggers Tuesday night.

Donahue smashed a 633 errorless series to lead the Signmen to 987. Dave Ties picked up 232 for Orv's Skelly and Speltz Texaco waxed 2,879.

In the Retail League at Hal-Rod, Ed Kauphusman was leveling 227-619 for Warner & Swasey Igo while Behrens and Dorn's IGA were collecting 992s and Behrens 2,910. Ben Schneider came up with 577 errorless.

In the Sunsets League at Westgate, Helen Selke's 537 for Asco, Inc., was high for the women. Her team smashed 2,608. Eleanor Kleist rapped 190 for Boland Manufacturing and Goltz Pharmacy came up with 889.

WINONA AC: Ace — Mike Gostomski rattled 588 for Winona Heating Co., while Clem Rozek was leading Jerry's Plumbers to 2,813 with his 216. Schmidt's tagged 988.

Majorette—Ed Phillips swept team honors with 836-2,463. Sharon Schubert dumped 186 and Bernie Revair 442 for Super Saver.

WESTGATE BOWL: Mixers—Larry Donahue and Pat Foster creamed 190 and 501 for Golden Brand with Marigold Dairies tapping 889-2,622.

Working Girls — Sharon Fakler led Gutter Dusters to 1,519 with her 177-457. Hi-Pockets tumbled 528.

Wait a Minute! This Basketball Score 690-673?

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — The players thundered up and down the basketball court for nine straight hours and when the final whistle blew, the Catholic Youth Organization had edged a YMCA squad, 690-673.

The game was arranged by Asheville Catholic High School Coach Charlie Munday with the idea of setting a marathon record for basketball.

Tipoff was at noon Wednesday and all 10 starters stuck it out until 9 p.m. A five-minute half-time was held at 4:30 p.m. for the players to change shoes, drink orange juice and eat a chocolate bar.

Bruce Mound Winter Sports Area Open

MERRILLAN, Wis. — Bruce Mound Winter Sports area three miles east of Merrilan on Highway 95, one of the leading winter sports areas in West Central Wisconsin, has opened again. With the help of a snowmobile to groom the hills, skiing is considered excellent.

Clark County purchased 200 acres of land in 1960 and began developing the area. A snow machine was purchased by the Clark County Forest & Parks department to make snow. The temperature must be 15 above zero or colder to make snow. Ski elevations are 80 feet for beginners, 150 feet for intermediates, and 330 feet for experts. All three hills have electric power tow. A ski instructor has been hired and classes are conducted every Saturday morning. Private instructions are given by appointment.

At a modern shop in the basement of Liestemann Lodge, skiing equipment, skis, boots, poles and apparel and toboggans may be rented or purchased.

The toboggan slide has a 130-foot drop, 700 feet of track, metal side walls, and an additional 400 feet of sliding area beyond the track.

The track was specially made by Felder's of Marshfield and is footed with 150 feet. A 250-foot tow has been built and is powered by a 10 h.p. electric engine. Steps have been built up the steep side of the hill to the top of the slide.

A skating rink 80-by-150 feet is near the lodge.

The basement of the lodge was built in the fall of 1960 and was in use until the lodge was completed the following year. The chalet type structure was constructed with funds furnished by the Marguerite Liestemann Foundation.

The building is 20 by 60 feet, two stories with kitchen and dining on the upper floor, and lunch room and service area in the basement.

Fourteen tables, cupboards and other woodwork were done by the Clark County Forestry Department. The upper story is finished in knotty pine with cedar ceilings and tile floor. Large windows look onto the slopes, slides and rinks.

Meals and lunches are served when the area is open Saturdays, Sundays and holidays during skiing season from 11:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday night from 6:30 to 11. Small ski hills for children, toboggan slide and rink are lighted for night use.

Play Finest Game Against Rougher Foe

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Keith Hanzel stopped to chuckle Wednesday before his St. Mary's hockey team left for the Twin Cities and a game with the University of Manitoba at Aldrich Arena here.

"You saw what they did to the University (the Gophers) last Tuesday night," he said. "We'll go up there with nothing to lose and everything to gain."

When Hanzel arrived home at 2 a.m. this morning, he was still chuckling.

HIS TEAM had played its best game ever, against the strongest opponent the Redmen have ever faced.

The final score favored the Manitobans by 7-4, but there were no feelings of disgust connected with the defeat — the team had come closer than anyone believed it could.

It wasn't until the third period that the Bison could chalk up the victory.

The first period ended with the score 1-1 as the Redmen drew first blood. It was 4-2 after two periods and three straight Bison goals in the third pushed it out of reach. The Redmen refused to give up, however, scoring the final two goals for the 7-4 final.

BOB PARADISE, the Redmen's hard-skating defenseman, put St. Mary's out front at 4:02 of the first period, whirling in unassisted to thwart Manitoba goalie Ken Kachulak.

Manitoba tied it on a goal by Geoff Ball from George Butterworth at 9:29 to close the first-period scoring.

It was tied 2-2 after Jim Irving hit unassisted for Manitoba at 6:59 of the second and Dennis Cooney counted for St. Mary's on an assist from Andre Beaulieu at 7:30.

Manitoba extended its lead on a goal by Leo Duguay and Bill Podolsky.

IT WENT to 7-2 in the fourth on goals by Duguay, Edgar Rivallin and Charles Meighen, but the Redmen came roaring back. Paradise counted on an assist from Beaulieu at 9:29 and contained Andre scored unassisted at 11:11.

"I'm real proud," Hanzel said this morning. "They won, but we did everything we could have hoped for. Paradise never was better. He never came off the ice except for a penalty and he was knocking them down beautifully on legal checks."

"Archebaudet did a fine job also," he went on. "They all did a tremendous job."

ST. MARY'S will rest now until meeting Hamline, St. Thomas and Macalester in rapid fire order Jan. 10, 11 and 12. The first game will be played at Terrace Heights, the second two at Aldrich Arena.

Hanzel estimated that nearly 1,000 people viewed Wednesday's contest. In a preliminary game, St. Paul Hill came from behind to top White Bear Lake 2-2.

Wabasha Wins Over Gophers, Saints Triumph

PLAINVIEW, Minn. — Wabasha and St. Charles won games in the second night play of the Plainview Holiday Doubleheader here Wednesday.

Wabasha won a 64-62 thriller from host Plainview, while the Saints clubbed Lewiston for their second win of the year in the night's opening game 50-38.

ST. CHARLES 50 LEWISTON 38

Head coach Chuck Elliott used a revamped lineup to get the job done Wednesday night. Using sophomores for part of the game, St. Charles raced to a 28-14 halftime lead and clipped Lewiston 50-38.

Gary Johnson finished as the Saints' high point man with 16, while Gary Connaughty had ten.

For Lewiston, Jerry Mueller collected 16.

WABASHA 64

PLAINVIEW 62

John Reinhardt's two free throws in the final 11 seconds provided Wabasha with a 64-62 win over Plainview.

The win was the Indians' fourth of the year against one loss.

Thanks to a brilliant 82 percent from the field, the Gophers raced to a 24-18 first quarter lead, then settled down in the second period, but still held a 42-36 halftime advantage and 53-47 at the end of three.

Jack Kane was a spark in the Indian attack in the fourth quarter, netting four field goals. He finished with 11. Jim Burkhardt had 18 for Wabasha, while Pete Ekstrand had 14 and Dennis Iverson 13.

Dennis Lee smashed home 28 points for Plainview. He was followed by Dan Standinger with 12 and Gary Feldman with 11.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

St. Norbert and Beloit owned championship trophies while Carthage and River Falls settled for runnerup awards today in the wake of holiday basketball tournaments in four states.

St. Norbert won the Lawrence tournament by belting the host Vikings 84-62 after Northland took consolation honors with a 73-67 victory over Milton Wednesday night at Appleton.

Beloit traveled to Northfield, Minn., and won the Carleton tournament by defeating Winona State 72-67. Carleton overcame Carroll 75-53 in the consolation game.

At Davenport, Iowa, Carthage was unable to cope with a height disadvantage and bowed 74-57 to Central of Iowa in the St. Ambrose championship showdown.

Lanesboro Wins Mabel Tourney

MABEL, Minn. — Lanesboro scrapped its way to the Mabel Holiday Tournament championship here Wednesday night, taking a 65-60 verdict over rival Maple Leaf Conference entry Preston.

The Burros trailed for the first three quarters, then rallied in the final stanza to overcome the Bluejays.

In the consolation game, Rushford racked host Mabel 86-73.

LANESBORO 65 PRESTON 60

Sparked by Phil Erickson's ten points in the fourth quarter, Lanesboro overcame a 50-47 third-quarter deficit to win the holiday tournament over Preston 65-60.

Preston at one time led by 13 points, as well as at the quarter marks. The Bluejays held a 12-8 first-period lead, and 34-24 at the half. Erickson finished as high man for the Burros with 18.

Tom Wengen added 16 to the Burro cause, and Brian Bell netted ten.

For runnerup Preston, Mike Knies was tops with 23. Bob Hanson had 11 and Jerry Rislove ten.

RUSHFORD 86

MABEL 73

In spite of Mabel's Robert Rommes' 39 points, Rushford won the consolation championship of the tournament with a 86-73 win over the Wildcats.

Rommes wound up as high scorer for both squads with his 39 markers which included 12 field goals and 15 free throws. Rick Reulmann contributed ten to the Mabel cause.

For the winners, Dennis Ellefson counted 25, including 12 field goals; Rex Marion had 16 and Vernon Bunke 19.

Mabel led 24-22 at the end of the first period, but trailed 46-37 at the half.

Election of Humphrey Top State Story

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Hubert H. Humphrey has won another election.

Humphrey's election as vice president and the subsequent naming of Atty. Gen. Walter F. Mondale to succeed him in the Senate won in a walkaway today in a poll of Associated Press member editors for the top story of 1964 in Minnesota.

The Humphrey-Mondale story collected 191 of a possible 210 points in the AP poll. Stories were rated on a basis of 10 for first choice, 9 for second, and so on.

Newspaper and broadcast editors picked the overwhelming voter approval of the taconite amendment and the subsequent announcement of new taconite plants as the second biggest story of the year.

In third place, editors chose the ruling of a three-judge panel of federal court that held Minnesota's legislative districts invalid.

The National Farmers Organization livestock holding action got fourth place in the news poll. Fifth went to another farm story, the widespread drought that cut deeply into farm production last summer.

Completing the top 10 in the AP poll were these 1964 stories:

6. Ten die in tragic fire at Kasota.

7. Conservatives again rule in both houses of legislature.

8. University puts "hold down" on enrollments.

9-10. (tie) Father slays family, takes own life at Sartell, and state's traffic toll sets another bloodshed record.

GOD JUL. In Sweden, Christmas is the time for feasting. It is the time of smorgasbord with relishes, special cheeses, anisettes, spiced fish, caviar, pickled herring, the traditional lut-fisk, roast pig, Julgrogg (rice pudding with almonds), and Julglogg made from brandy, port, spiced with 9 different condiments, almonds and raisins.

In Swedish or American, our best to you on this happy Holiday Season.
