Policeman and Burglar Wounded

Johnson Asks Health Care Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed today a broad health insurance-health care package that includes a suggestion that the federal government pay part of the basic operating costs of medical and dental schools.

Johnson, submitting a message entitled "Advancing the Nation's Health," plugged first for enactment this year of medical insurance for persons 65 and over under the Social Security program.

He made the message his first one on a specific subject in the new session, thereby giving it high priority.

"I believe this year is the year when, with the sure knowledge of public support, the Congress should enact a hospital insurance program for the aged," the President said.

Johnson called, too, for a five-year program of grants "to develop multipurpose regional medical complexes for an all-out attack on heart disease, cancer, stroke, and other major diseases."

Aides said 32 medical centers would be built in various parts of the country at a cost of $1.2 billion.

Another major new proposal would set up a system of grants "to help cover basic operating costs of our health profession schools in order that they may significantly expand both their capacity and the quality of their educational programs."

Besides medical care the items in the package followed recommendations made to Johnson last month by his Commission on Heart Disease, Cancer and Stroke, headed by Dr.

Michael DeBakey, Houston heart specialist.

In line with its suggestions, Johnson is asking Congress to provide $1.2 billion over the next five years for 32 regional medical centers that "can provide the most advanced diagnosis and treatment for heart disease, cancer, stroke and other major diseases."

The President promised in his presidential campaign to give top priority this year to a drive for medical insurance for the elderly keyed to the Social Security program.

He said in his State of the Union message to Congress Monday night that "a just nation" should throw open to the elderly "the city of promise" by providing hospital care under Social Security.

"I propose," he said then, "we begin a massive attack on crippling and killing diseases."

At another point he said: "Greatness requires not only an educated people but a healthy people. Our goal is to match the achievements of our medicine to the afflictions of our people."

"Regional medical centers can provide the most advanced diagnosis and treatment for heart disease, cancer, stroke, and other major diseases."

Most of the centers would be associated with major universities. The aim is to bring the latest medical techniques and treatment facilities to all sections of the country.

The chief executive also is seeking increased federal financial aid for medical and dental education. And he is proposing community centers to treat the mentally ill and to offer health care to the mentally retarded and to school-age children from low-income families.

School Aid Fight First in Legislature

ST. PAUL (AP) — Conservative lawmakers, still irked at Gov. Karl Rolvaag's school aid cutback last year, plan an early counter-attack.

A bill is ready for introduction in the Senate — possibly today — to restore the $6.6 million trimmed from last year's final aid payments to local districts last August.

A similar bill will be introduced in the House and probably will be given top priority by Conservative majorities in both houses.

Rolvaag last year blamed Conservatives for producing a red ink budget by appropriating more funds than could be covered by state revenues in the current biennium. He ordered general state spending trimmed 5 per cent and school aids cut 4.5 per cent.

"The bill will honor the commitment made by the last legislature," according to Rep. Aubrey Dirlam, Conservative leader in the House.

Sen. Robert Dunlap of Plainview, chief sponsor of the Senate bill, said he believes it should be sent to the finance committee for prompt action.

Education matters came in for considerable attention in Rolvaag's speech to a joint session Wednesday and in the post-speech comments.

Both houses planned to meet this morning but were expected to adjourn for a long weekend, returning late Monday, the House at 4 p.m. and the Senate at 7:30.

Search on For Others In Burglary

The sheriff's office was checking two leads on the man or men who escaped from Winona Senior High School after a gun battle early this morning, Sheriff George Fort said about noon.

The sheriff had a report that a stranger tried to force his way into a house on Kansas Street about 9:30 a.m. today. The home was not identified. And a car was dispatched to Rollingstone about noon to check on two men driving a car with out-of-state license plates who tried to cash a check there.

THE LICENSE plate on the car was so battered, the numbers and state could not be distinguished. The men left Rollingstone without cashing the check.

Meanwhile, city police were pushing an effort to identify the 28-year-old burglar shot down at the school.

He had a driver's license in his wallet identifying himself as a Chicago cab driver. However, Chicago police, checking out the name on the license, found that it does not belong to the man being guarded in Community Memorial Hospital.

Police Captain Marlowe L. Brown and Detective Fred J. Brust fingerprinted the man this morning and hope soon to identify him. They had not yet questioned him.

THE MAN WAS slightly groggy this morning after coming out of surgery for the removal of a .38 caliber bullet from his left calf, but he told Sergeant Sylvan M. Theil, his guard, that he has a wife and two children in Chicago.

Sheriff Fort told how he, Deputies Elroy Balk and John Schneider and about 10 city policemen combed the high school for a trace of the missing men early this morning. They opened air ducts and boiler caps in the futile attempt to turn up a lead.

Hamm Brewery To Merge With Montreal Firm

ST. PAUL (AP) — Officials of Theo. Hamm Brewing Co. here and Molson Breweries Ltd. of Montreal plan to merge the firms, with Hamm becoming a subsidiary but retaining its name.

Plans were outlined Wednesday by spokesmen for the companies, who said the deal would involve a stock exchange. Molson shareholders have yet to approve the proposal.

Molson had sales of $125 million in fiscal 1964, while Hamm Brewing Co., which is 100 years old, had sales of more than $124 million for the same period.

Rains Taper Off

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Swollen rivers receded and rains tapered off today to give flood-ravaged Northern California a welcome breather. Relentless nature turned her winter wrath on the High Sierra, stranding hundreds of travelers in blinding snowstorms and freezing gales.

Several hundred residents of the Eel and Mad rivers districts straggled back to the homes they fled the past two days when torrential rains sent waters raging up to flood stages. Forecasts of only scattered showers promised improving conditions.

The three-week storm that had deluged large areas of Northern California and four other Western states — Oregon, Washington, Nevada and Idaho — raged unabated in the High Sierra on the Nevada-California border.

At least two transmountain buses and dozens of cars were marooned on 7,200-foot-high Donner Summit Wednesday night as a howling blizzard reduced visibility to zero.

Authorities said the road would remain closed for the night and possibly through today.

The California Highway Patrol said each of the buses carried about 40 passengers. It was impossible to tell how many cars and trucks were stalled on the major route across the mountain — Interstate 80.

Lt. O. P. Ledford said vehicles bogged down in the storm included three highway patrol cars.

"Visibility in the whole area is absolutely zero," he said.

Snow depths were estimated at five feet at Truckee and eight feet at Tahoe City. Both communities lie just on the California side of the mountains.

Ski resorts were suffering from too much snow. At Heavenly Valley ski area, on the south shore of Lake Tahoe, Annette R. Saltus, 43, of San Francisco, fell beneath a snow removal tractor Wednesday and was killed.

SATISFACTORY CONDITION... Patrolman Sylvester J. Rotering was in satisfactory condition this morning after being wounded in the right forearm and biceps by a burglar's 45-caliber pistol. Surgery was not required, but the doctors do not yet know how long Rotering will remain in the hospital. (Daily News photo)

Sukarno Still Wants to Pull Out of U.N.

BULLETIN

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — President Sukarno Thursday night announced Indonesia's withdrawal from the United Nations.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Foreign diplomats in Jakarta said today that President Sukarno still insists he will withdraw Indonesia from the United Nations.

The diplomats, who saw Sukarno in the past few days, refused to be identified.

Sukarno was to address a mass rally tonight, one week after threatening in another speech to pull Indonesia out of the world organization.

State Minister Soepeno said the president would make good his threat.

A parade of foreign ambassadors continued to call on Foreign Minister Subandrio to discuss Indonesian withdrawal from the United Nations. Only the Red Chinese were reported approving the move.

Indonesian delegates at U.N. headquarters in New York informed officials of the organization orally last Friday that their government was withdrawing because Malaysia — which Sukarno has sworn to crush — was admitted to the Security Council. However, written notice of the withdrawal has not been delivered. There has been speculation that the Indonesians are having second thoughts.

TFX Changes Wings in Flight

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The controversial TFX biservice fighter plane made aviation history when it successfully changed the position of its variable-sweep wings during an hour flight Wednesday.

The plane's design enables it to have its wings outstretched almost straight for added life and short takeoffs, then sweep them back to reduce drag for supersonic speeds.

Never before had a plane utilizing the retractable wings performed so well in the effort to solve the problem of incorporating short takeoffs and landings with high speed into a single aircraft.

Pilot R. L. Johnson and copilot Val Prahl flew the TFX, designated the F111 by the Air Force, on its second flight Wednesday to an altitude of 10,000 feet, then moved the wings from their forward position of 16 degrees back to the full swept angle of 72.5 degrees.

This test was at a speed of about 400 knots — approximately 450 miles per hour. Johnson said on the third flight, not yet set, the TFX will attain supersonic speed.

The plane is designed to reach 2.5 times the speed of sound, approximately 1,600 m.p.h., Johnson said the multipurpose jet cleared its primary hurdles with "one minor exception." He said several minor stability tests could not be performed because at one point the engine developed a slightly high temperature and erratic fuel flow.

The policemen followed a sloping ramp south down the center of the first floor from the auditorium to the superintendent's office on the Broadway side of the building.

Lyngklip followed but remained at the far end of the sloping hall. The officers saw a head pop out of the superintendent's door and quickly pop back in again.

A dim bulb was burning in the interior of the entrance, near the scene of the battle.

BOTH, with drawn revolvers, shouted to the men inside to surrender. But one of the men shouted back, "Don't come in. I've got a gun." Officer Rotering looked out the front entrance to shout for the reinforcements he knew were on the way.

He saw one of the men just opening a window, as if to jump out. At that moment, a patrol car drove up and put its light in the superintendent's office. Rotering saw two men inside before both withdrew into the shadows.

Seconds later, the two men came bursting out of the office, one with pistol blazing. Rotering said that he fired one bullet at about the same instant. One of the burglar's bullets plowed a furrow up the forearm of Rotering.

Two Intruders Rolling Welder Stirs Teacher

By TERRY BORMANN
Daily News Staff Writer

A gun battle between city police and at least two burglars at Winona Senior High School early today resulted in the wounding of a patrolman and one of the intruders.

One or more burglars escaped.

Patrolman Sylvester J. Rotering, 29, 181 E. Howard St., is in satisfactory condition at Community Memorial Hospital, recovering from a wound to his right forearm from a 45-caliber bullet.

THE WOUNDED burglar also is in satisfactory condition at the hospital under a police guard after surgery to remove a bullet from his left calf. The bullet had ripped through his right calf as well.

Burglars had made a small nick in the safe near the lock with an acetylene torch when police surprised them.

They gained entry to the building and to the superintendent's office with a set of keys, found on the wounded burglar.

A check today revealed that only about $246 was in the safe, lunch money from Wednesday's hot lunch sales. In addition, some athletic tickets and petty cash were kept there.

Patrolmen Rotering and William J. Gordon were called to the high school after a welding instructor sleeping there overnight heard noises about 1:45 a.m., according to Assistant Chief Marvin A. Meier.

Bruce Lyngklip, Chatfield, Minn., had decided to stay at the school overnight after working late on class assignments. He went to sleep in one of the school's pickup trucks and "had just closed my eyes it seemed" when he was awakened by the sound of iron wheels moving over the concrete floor of the welding shop.

IT WAS TWO MEN wheeling some of the school's welding equipment upstairs. "My first thought was that it was kids. I thought I'd follow them and give them a scare," Lyngklip recalled today.

He followed the retreating sounds of the welding cart down a hall toward the school swimming pool. As he neared the stairway to the first-floor level, Lyngklip realized the voices were mature.

"These aren't kids. I'd better get out of here," the teacher told himself. "I tiptoed back down that hall a lot more quietly than I came up it, believe me," Lyngklip said.

THE welding instructor called police, who dispatched Gordon and Rotering to the school. Lyngklip let the officers into the welding shop by an alley door and showed them where the intruders had gone.

The policemen followed a sloping ramp south down the center of the first floor from the auditorium to the superintendent's office on the Broadway side of the building.

Lyngklip followed but remained at the far end of the sloping hall. The officers saw a head pop out of the superintendent's door and quickly pop back in again.

GAS POISONING BLAMED

Four Youths Die In Arizona Jail

PAYSON, Ariz. (AP) — The 800 residents of Payson, a resort community in the mountains of central Arizona, were trying to go about their normal business today after learning that carbon-monoxide poisoning had been responsible for the deaths of four teen-agers in the city's jail.

Townpeople gathered around the county complex Wednesday waiting for word of an autopsy in Globe, about 75 miles away.

Dr. Alfred D. Musgrave, Gila County pathologist, ruled that carbon monoxide poisoning was the cause of the deaths, which occurred Tuesday morning.

Authorities today were to continue their inspection of the butane gas heating system in the jail.

The probe was interrupted Wednesday when two investigators were overcome while checking out the heating system.

Sheriff's Deputy Lyman Peace and rescue squad leader Tom Drake became ill in the jail. They were rushed to Payson Hospital and given oxygen before being released in good condition.

The four youths were arrested Monday for investigation in the theft of some beer. They were placed in the jail on orders of juvenile authorities.

Deputy T. L. Meredith, who found the victims in a cell Tuesday morning, said, "I was never so shocked in my life."

Sheriff Elton R. Jones said he didn't know when an inquest would be held. Justice of the Peace Florence Greer indicated it might be several days.

BILL MERRILLS..

Something to Live by

HERE'S a tidbit of thought of what used to be. I am referring to the good old days when families talked together for pastime and younguns' would sit by the hour and listen.

Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn might well have gotten some of their scalliwag ideas from listening to the old folks. That's right—at any rate. I venture to say the counterparts of these renowned adventures in the form of little boys to young sapplings through the years have picked up some brain-teasing ideas this way.

This source of information came from family get-togethers that would start with dinner—a large dinner with more than enough for everyone, after which the women would take to the kitchen, the kids would go outdoors, and the men folks would chat briefly and then, one by one, slip off into a quietness as they caught a nap in a big chair or on a cot. Now the timing was perfect. By the time the women were through in the kitchen, the men were coming to, and the chit-chat would begin. "How's business?" "Have you seen anything of the Huckins family," and so it would go, on and on. Then there was supper, consisting of leftovers from dinner.

It was after the supper hour that the kids would find a spot in the livingroom and take their part in the human race, as those beings who were to be seen, but not heard — an arrangement that was quite satisfactory, as it was in the evening when the reminiscing started and the grown-ups would recall what they used to do. A fella could get more ideas this way, and even if he didn't copy the idea directly, it sure would ease his conscience if his own ideas went amiss, knowing some of the stunts the older folks pulled when they were kids.

I HEARD one gent, whom I held in esteem, tell of the time the teacher accused him of doing something he denies doing guilty to this very day. His punishment was to nile the wood in the woodbox. It wasn't 'til school had been dismissed that it was learned how this lad got his revenge. He piled the wood all right. It's only that he piled it against the door so the teacher and her students couldn't get out until another lad or two were put through the window so they could go around and restack the wood.

Then there was the time that two of the family members tapped on the pipe running from the principal's office to the basement. As was his custom, the old janitor came and placed his ear to the other end of the pipe, as this was their inter-com, so to speak. The boys then poured a pail of water down the pipe, giving the old fella a soaking he long remembered.

THE CHIT-CHAT would recall some weird tales of the past, including tappings in the night, as they told of a spiritualist that they knew; a hanging in Vernon County, and a murder on the Kickapoo. Seldom did the kids ever know the outcome of all the talks as they would fall asleep, only to be awakened, poured into their beds, and promised to get together again next school.

Here's a suggestion — turn off the TV, invite the family in, and have a good old-fashioned talkathon. I suspect it will prove as glorious as ever, and draw the family closer.

Action on the proposals was deferred by the WHRA until after a public meeting set for Monday. At that time, Elmer Binford, regional urban renewal representative for the Housing and Home Finance Agency, will address city governmental bodies. The meeting is at City Hall at 7:30 p.m.

They Trade Shots In Dim Corridor

"Slim was lucky," one of his brother policemen said this morning after things had calmed down a bit.

The patrolman was referring to Sylvester J. Rotering, 29, 181 E. Howard St., who was shot in the arm early this morning as he flushed two burglars out of the superintendent's office at Winona Senior High School.

RESTING IN A hospital bed late this morning, Rotering recalled how he had answered the radio call to go to the high school with his patrol-car mate, William J. Gordon.

The two men walked down a hall. Two burglars came bursting out of the office into a dimly-lit corridor and, "I shot at the same time," he said. From there on, I don't know. I ended up here," the policeman said, gesturing with his good hand to the hospital-white surroundings.

Rotering wasn't knocked down by the bullet, which "creased" his right forearm, outstretched factor in selection of firms for the study, Kleinschmidt said. Minnesota concerns are favored because of their basic knowledge of local and regional characteristics and because accessibility and continuous contact are important, he added.

Kleinschmidt said the General Neighborhood Renewal Plan that will emerge has several objectives. Some of these are: Plans for land use, location of community facilities (public buildings, street improvements), possible revisions of parts of the city Master Plan, analysis of parking facilities, identification of proposed clearance areas, timing of projects, identification of historical buildings and establishing needs of individuals and businesses displaced in clearance zones.

The marketability study, a related but separate project, would seek to establish demand for land which has been cleared and how much space would be needed for various uses planned for it.

ANSWERING aldermen's questions, Kleinschmidt said a number of provisions would be made for individuals and businesses which renewal projects would displace. In a federally-assisted project, funds are allotted for business removal costs. A 100 percent survey of all potentially displaced businesses would be made, he said, to determine future wants and needs.

Many provisions are made for relocation of persons living in renewal clearance areas, he continued. These include a 25 percent survey of all families involved, analysis of the local housing market to find suitable dwellings, determining which families are eligible for public-financed housing and review of the capacity and willingness with gun in hand. When the firing died down, other policemen found him leaning against a display case, holding his arm. He walked outside to the ambulance which took him and a fallen burglar to the hospital.

ASSISTANT Chief Marvin A. Meier praised his men for the courageous performance of their duty. It was the first shooting of a policeman he could remember in his more than 25 years on the force.

"But something like this can happen anytime," he said, "and policemen and their families have to live with it." Mrs. Rotering is pregnant with the couple's third child.

Rotering expressed happiness that he had escaped more serious injury; and, as some of his visitors left, one called, "Don't get yourself in any trouble."

"No, I can't without you," Rotering smiled back at the departing policeman.

Farmer Pays Fine at Durand

DURAND, Wis. (Special) — In Pepin County Circuit Court this morning, Charles Borgwardt, Mondovi, paid a $100 fine and costs on a charge of throwing a rock at a vehicle during an NFO demonstration.

The jury Tuesday found Borgwardt guilty of that charge, rather than of throwing the rock with intent to do great bodily harm to Francis Weisenbeck, 27, Mondovi, Sept. 10.

The NFO-connected case brought by the state against Bernard V. Bauer, Durand, charged with disorderly conduct, was dismissed on motion of District Attorney Karl Goethel, on grounds of lack of evidence.

Bauer had been charged with releasing air from a tire on the Ernie Weiss truck Sept. 9. Joseph H. Riedner, former district attorney, had reduced the charge from attempting to interfere with an individual's manner of making a living to the disorderly conduct charge.

Mabel Lions Give

MABEL, Minn. (Special) — The Mabel Lions Club has donated $500 to the high school band for purchasing new uniforms. Past Lions projects include erecting a bandstand, shelter and many picnic tables in Mabel Park; furnishing rooms and purchasing medical equipment for Green Lea Manor nursing home, and furnishing Christmas decorations for Main Street. The club has a membership of 35. Dean Kalash is president.

City Rejects Low Offer On Pumper

Fire and police commissioners rejected the low bid on a new pumper truck at a meeting Wednesday afternoon and voted to accept the "lowest responsible bid" — $27,981 from Peter Pirsch & Sons, Kenosha, Wis.

After reviewing Fire Chief John L. Steadman's report on the four bids received on the new pumper, commissioners discussed the fact that the low bid — $26,837 from Howe Fire Apparatus Co., Anderson, Ind. — did not meet all fire department specifications.

A REPRESENTATIVE from Howe had talked with Chief Steadman and Mayor R. K. Ellings, who attended Wednesday's meeting, assuring them that Howe would provide everything they had specified. However, Mayor Ellings asked, "Why have any specifications if you're going to allow them to make changes?" Other commissioners noted that Howe would be legally bound to provide only what appeared in the specifications contained in their bid.

Commissioner Harold Streater outlined two possible courses of action: First, reject the Howe bid because it doesn't meet specifications and take the next lowest bid that does meet them, or second, readvertise for bids. Streater said he didn't believe the second course would get the fire department a better deal for their pumper. He added that the law governing the board states that contracts "must be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder."

CHIEF Steadman said that the Pirsch people provided good service on their trucks, but he wouldn't say their trucks are better than Howe's. He did point out in his report, however, that a Howe fire truck purchased in 1955 had not met specifications.

Streater moved that the minutes show that the chief said the Howe bid does not meet specifications, that the 1955 Howe truck did not meet specifications and that the commissioners reject the present bid.

Streater's motion was passed unanimously as was that of William Theurer to accept the Pirsch bid. Chief Steadman's report also was entered in the minutes.

Lake City Youngsters Break Legs in Falls

LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special) — Two Lake City youngsters are wearing casts on broken legs following accidents on Lake Pepin ice this week.

Amy, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Peters, received her fracture Sunday when a bobble on which she was riding capsize. With a break of the large bone above her right ankle, she is convalescing at home with a cast from toes almost to the hip. Her older brother was with her.

Richard Dwell, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Dwell, broke his leg Monday while skating. He is wearing a cast, and recuperating at home. Both were taken to Lake City Municipal Hospital.

Town Officers Asking Household Goods Tax

Reinstatement of the household goods tax in this county was urged by a group of township officers at Wednesday's meeting of the Winona County Board of Commissioners.

The group, which numbered as many as 30 at one point, crowded into the commissioners' meeting room at the beginning of the board's afternoon session.

THE TOWNSHIP officers made two main points that mill rates in their subdivisions increased when the household goods tax was removed in 1960, and that it was unfair for them to pay personal property tax on farm machinery while a city dweller pays no tax on such expensive items as boats.

It soon became apparent that the group's major complaint was the latter. Repeated comments indicated its feeling that boatowners should be taxed. Boats were not included in household goods when the 1959 Legislature gave counties the option of discontinuing the tax on these items. Since then, however, boats have been placed in this category and, thus are not taxed in this county.

Winona County is among the majority of Minnesota counties in having discontinued the household goods tax. Only 30 of the state's 87 counties still levy it.

DAVID V. SAUER, county supervisor of assessments, summoned from his office next to the meeting room, contended that the household goods tax would cost more to administer than it would bring in revenue. He urged support of a bill being sponsored in this Legislature by the county assessors' state association. This bill, he said, would remove boats from the household goods class and would have them taxed as are mobile homes — according to their list prices.

He explained that if the household goods tax were reinstated, everyone would get a $1,200 exemption. Thus, he said, most householders would not be taxed. In rural areas, where the tax would be relatively easy to administer, he contended, it would bring small returns. In cities and villages, where deputy assessors would have to be hired to go into every home, the cost would outweigh the returns, he maintained further.

$5.9 Million School Bond Issue Proposed

By C. GORDON HOLTE
Daily News Staff Writer

Construction of a new Senior High School and a building to house the Winona Area Vocational-Technical School will require a bond issue yielding $5,980,000, the Board of Education determined Wednesday night.

Directors also agreed that property south of Gilmore Avenue at the west end of Lake Winona would be the most desirable site for the new high school and, if feasible, the vocational school building.

THE COST of the building program and a decision on site priority were arrived at following a meeting of board members with representatives of the two architectural firms retained for the high school project, Eckert & Carlson, Winona, and Cauldill, Rowlett & Scott, Houston, Tex.

Spokesmen for the two associated firms presented reports on findings of soil studies conducted during the past two weeks at four locations which had been under consideration by the board as possible sites. The architects said that on the basis of soil characteristics involved in site development and from the standpoint of the great number of students living within a designated radius, the area just west of an extension of Wilsie Street south of Gilmore Avenue would be their recommended building site for the high school.

THE "COST" figure to be incorporated in the request for bonding authority expected to be made to the state Legislature at its current session was developed from construction estimates made by the architects for a high school to accommodate enrollment of 1,800 students. This figured out to be somewhere in the neighborhood of $4.6 million.

Since architects have not been retained as yet for the vocational school building no cost estimates from construction studies could be made, so board members used a recommendation by a University of Minnesota survey committee which last year found that about $1.6 million would be required to construct and equip an adequate vocational school. This figure was exclusive of site purchase and development.

School Board

WITH SLIGHT reductions in the furnishings cost estimate for the new high school and an anticipated availability of certain money in the school building sinking fund two years hence the total amount expected to be required from a bond issue was reduced below the $6 million mark.

Before any building can start legislative authorization for the bond issue must be obtained and site negotiations completed. Two meetings were scheduled by the board Wednesday on these two details.

First the board will meet with members of the Winona Planning Commission to obtain its sentiments on use of the west lake area site, if it becomes available, for school building purposes.

THE DIRECTORS then will meet with the City Council to submit a proposed draft of legislation which aldermen will be asked to present to legislators for authorization of the bond issue. Both meetings have been scheduled tentatively for Monday.

In the meantime study will be given to matters involved in land acquisition.

The site now considered most desirable consists of about 38 acres and is owned by 17 individuals and includes one tract of city park land.

Indications from preliminary and informal discussions with members of the Park-Recreation Board are that the board would not be opposed to use of this undeveloped tract for school purposes.

Board President Lawrence Santelman said that as far as the remaining tracts privately owned are concerned, he thought that a meeting should be held with owners to explain the school situation.

IT WAS suggested that perhaps appraisers might be named to estimate values of the property in the area to assist in negotiating with the owners. City officials also will be consulted to determine if there is an established procedure in acquisition of property for city purposes.

If for any reason the lake site is not obtained the board has tagged two other locations as of next highest priority. They are properties north of old Highway 61 and near Siebrecht's greenhouse and one east of Mankato Avenue and north of the new highway.

The architects Wednesday presented the board with a tentative timetable for the high school project that calls for site acquisition and programming to be completed by March 1, approval of schematic design by April 1 and design development approval by June 1.

DETAILED working drawings should be completed by early in 1966 to permit an advertisement for bids about Feb. 1, 1966. Construction should begin by April 1, 1966, to allow for completion in time for occupancy in the fall of 1967.

As far as construction costs are concerned, the architects presented two alternatives for board consideration Wednesday.

The first would allow for construction of classroom and other facilities to accommodate an immediate enrollment of 1,200 students with core facilities adequate for the ultimate 1,800 enrollment. This would allow for addition at a later date of the other 17 classrooms and facilities to meet demands of an enrollment increase to 1,800.

TOTAL construction cost of such a plant designed for later expansion would come to about $3,984,000, exclusive of site acquisition and development.

To build immediately a complete high school for 1,800 students, the architects estimated, the cost would run around $4,474,000, also exclusive of site acquisition and development.

In their presentation Wednesday Edwin O. Eckert and James K. Carlson of the Winona firm reported on findings of the site studies and C. Herbert Pasour and Alexander Brailas of CRS conducted the briefing on preliminary planning and cost estimates.

Although the board would shift its consideration to the other two sites if difficulties are encountered in obtaining the lake area property, the factor that weighed heavily in favor of the latter was its location in relation to the concentration of student population.

TO A FAR greater extent than any of three other sites discussed last night, this would be a comparatively central location and would encompass by far the greatest number of students within a one-mile walking radius.

Eckert said that preliminary testing reports indicated that with a certain amount of excavation and compacting fill the site would be suitable for school construction. Water and sanitary sewer extensions would have to be made only about 200 feet to the school site from Gilmore Avenue.

The second site near Siebrecht's greenhouse has good load-bearing characteristics but it is more remote from the student population center, as it now exists. Sanitary sewers, with a lift station, would have to be extended from Mankato Avenue and Highway 43 and water service from Highway 43 and Sugar Loaf Road.

THE SITE east of Mankato Avenue now is outside the proposed flood control area, although city officials have indicated that efforts will be made to have the new flood dike location changed to encompass a broader area. This site would require the greatest expenditures for development; probably, although it is somewhat closer to the student population concentration than the one to the south-east.

Also discussed Wednesday was an area between Highway 61 and the old Goodview Road. This was virtually eliminated from consideration when it was noted that it lies in two separate tracts, parts of which are under control of the state Highway Department, and that a bridge meeting highway department specifications would be necessary connecting the two tracts. Cost of such a bridge, alone, could conceivably be virtually prohibitive.

After their meeting with the architects directors first agreed that the Gilmore Avenue site would be most desirable, then began analyzing cost data required for the legislation on the bond issue.

ALTHOUGH word is still being awaited on possible federal aids to assist in financing the vocational school and plans have not been drawn for this building, it figured prominently in Wednesday's conversations and directors emphasized that this project isn't being by-passed, even though concentration now is on the high school building.

One suggestion was that studies be made to determine whether there is suitable land available in the lake area to permit construction of the vocational school adjacent to the new high school, if it's built there. Certain economies would be realized with such a plan, especially in the matter of a central heating unit.

THERE WAS general and early agreement among the seven directors attending the meeting that the complete high school should be built rather than phasing out the project over several years.

Fourth Ward Director Franklin A. Tillman, pointing out that construction cost of an addition several years from now might be considerably higher than the same facilities would cost today, noted that if a school with 1,800 capacity were to be built it would accommodate anticipated public school enrollments, take care of Cotter High School students who may attend some classes on a shared time basis and also allow for room to be devoted to vocational school purposes until plans for the new school have been firm up and the new building erected.

THIS THOUGHT drew expressions of favor from other board members and it was decided to set an estimate of $5.98 million for the bonding request to cover construction of the two schools.

Third Ward Director Frank J. Allen Jr. said he thought it should be pointed out that the board must rely on estimates of the high school architects and, for the vocational school, the university survey committee, in arriving at a figure since no definite action has been taken on site and no formal plan for the vocational school building has been drawn.

Attending the meeting were Santelman and Ray Gorsuch, 1st Ward; Dr. C. R. Kollowski and Dr. L. R. Korda, 2nd Ward; Allen and Dr. W. Rogers, 3rd Ward, and Tillman, 4th Ward; Superintendent of Schools A. L. Nelson and the board's clerk and business manager, Paul W. Sanders.

City election judges will meet tonight for a more technical class in machine operation. They will be shown what to do before, during and after voting. Carter said there will be at least one more meeting for judges between now and the Feb. 1 primary.

LOUIS SCHUTH

46-Year Music Career to End

By FRANK UHLIG
Daily News Staff Writer

When Louis Schuth puts away his saxophone Saturday night he will stop one week short of a full 46-year career as a dance band musician.

Schuth, 62, heads his own band at the Oaks, where he has played every Saturday night for three years. It is the latest in a string of engagements reaching back to Jan. 16, 1917. He remembers the date well.

"I PLAYED my first dance job at the Pepin, Wis., Opera House," Schuth recalls. "The band was Dix Melody Boys and we drove a bobbed across Lake Pepin from Wabasha."

Born and reared on a farm near Wabasha, he never got far from home in a business widely known for its nomadic characteristics. All of Schuth's playing has been in an area roughly bounded by Red Wing, Eau Claire, La Crosse and Rochester.

As a result of this concentration, Schuth is personally acquainted with literally thousands of people in the area. It is likely that nearly every one of these individuals considers him a personal friend. On two occasions he has played wedding dances for three generations of a single family.

Although he has played with many bands, he has headed his own groups ever since 1930. It was from this point that he developed his changeless style—one that is warmly familiar to older fans and one which seems dated to younger couples, but danceable nevertheless.

IN ADDITION to his personal popularity, dance promoters get their money's worth in another way when they hire Schuth. He does double duty, playing drums while also playing a strong saxophone lead and singing frequently. Though full band personnel numbers five or six, Schuth often takes three-piece party jobs, in effect supplying four musicians since drummer and saxophonist are one and the same.

He had played drums intermittently since 1922, Schuth said. When a drummer on his own band proved unsatisfactory, he took over the drums and has been beating them ever since.

An almost inseparable companion since 1924 has been his younger brother, Herman, 60, who plays trumpet. Herman also will retire his horn after Saturday's finale.

THE BROTHERS' association has been maintained despite a fantastic handicap Herman had to overcome. When some of his facial nerves were suddenly paralyzed 20 years ago, he was unable to flex his lips enough to play.

He soldered attachments on the trumpet mouthpiece which drew his lips into playable formation and fought the handicap with sheer will power. He plays today without artificial aids. A partially controllable tone quaver and somewhat reduced endurance are the remaining scars of a determined fight against a condition most trumpeters would consider unbeatable.

The band leader's memories span 4½ turbulent decades—from the days of tin lizzies to the jet age.

Horses and buggies furnished transportation to many jobs in the early 1920s. The automobiles then were no match for bottomless country roads when wet by rains or spring thaws.

ONE TRAVEL crisis in the '20s stands out prominently in Schuth's recollections. Stranded at Dumfries by heavy rains and mud, he drove his car over five miles of tie-studded railroad right of way to reach Kellogg and passable roads.

He remembers the Prohibition era with deep distaste. It was, he recalls, a time of uncommonly low standards and morals. "You could see a lot of things on a dance floor then that never happen now," Schuth says.

Schuth says he enjoyed his playing days, especially those with his "new" group—the persons who have been with him since 1943. These include Mrs. Richard Harris, Bluff Sliding, Wis., pianist; Arthur Ronnenberg, 659 W. 5th St., bassist; and Vernon Smelser, 1420 W. 4th St., trombonist. Smelser also will play his final engagement with the band Saturday.

Smelser and Mrs. Harris have been with him since 1943 while Ronnenberg's connection dates back to 1939. Says Schuth:

"They've been fine associates. We've never had any complaints from dance managers and we've always tried to play what people wanted. A lot of the credit is due to my musicians."

SHARING MUCH of the credit is Mrs. Schuth, the former Maude Kalbrener, also a Wabasha native. Never since their marriage in 1929, says Schuth, has she asked him to quit the dance business, despite the many nights she spent alone at home.

Asked if he could explain the enduring popularity of his music despite the disappearance of once numerous dance bands, Schuth said:

"I think what hurt public dancing as a form of recreation was the terrific modern jazz just after World War II. Most people didn't care for it so they began following the old time bands which had a big upsurge in the early 1930s."

"Young people began to go for such things as rock-and-roll, where they don't dance closely together. So they just lost the knack of conversation while they were dancing."

"But those who were teen-agers in the '50s have switched back again—to what I call 'easy melody' tunes. These are the ones they can hum or whistle. Now the younger middle-aged people are dancing to conventional modern music. After they pass 20, they get away from some of that crazy stuff."

THE YEAR 1918 marked the beginning for Schuth of two parallel careers, neither of which has been allowed to interfere with the other. That same year he went to work as a printer for the Wabasha Herald. Since then he has been a day-time printer and linotype operator and a nighttime musician. He never missed a day's work because of playing, he says, even though he occasionally got home "just in time to change clothes and go to the print shop."

Today Schuth is publisher of the Cochrane-Fountain City, Wis., Recorder. In addition to turning out a well printed eight-page weekly newspaper, his shop produces a large volume of commercial printing. A far cry from the traditionally dusty, obsolete print shop, the Recorder plant is equipped with well-maintained modern presses and typesetting machines.

Schuth bought the Cochrane Recorder in 1956 after working since 1943 as a Daily News linotype operator. In 1959 he bought the Fountain City Republican and merged it with the Recorder which now serves both towns.

ARRANGEMENTS have been made for the band to carry on, despite the Schuth brothers' retirement. It will continue to appear Saturdays at the Oaks under the same name, with replacements for the former members.

Some of the trademarks will be missing after this week. A large number of ringsiders is to be on hand Saturday to hear Schuth's individual renditions of such tunes as "You're Nobody 'Till Somebody Loves You" and "Keep Your Shades Down," a parody which seldom fails to bring shrieks from women in the crowd to whom it is directed at random.

"I've always made it a point to visit with friends when they show up at our dances," Schuth says. Come Saturday night, quite a few of them will make it a point to visit with him and listen to the music with which many of them grew up.

By GRETCHEN L. LAMBERTON

WHAT a lot of dog lovers there are in this world! Many would be the best kind of small dog for me after I am back in shape and home again and able to have a dog (but small, for a change).

Two people from neighboring towns advocated small cocker spaniels as gay, devoted and little trouble. The very next day two other readers warned me how high-strung cockers are and how they either run away or get themselves run over, and how much mud they track in.

A Wisconsin couple wrote that there was nothing quite as jolly, funny and as little trouble as a beagle. Then came a letter from a city woman advocating several kinds of dogs, (poodle, dachshund and boxer) and she closed by saying, "Get anything but a beagle. We had our life made miserable by our neighbor's beagle who used to roam around and get home about 1 a.m. and howl ear-splittingly like a wolf the rest of the night."

Mrs. Goetz writes that they have kept countless kinds of dogs, from mutts on up, "but the best companion I've ever had has been my toy silver poodle. Poodles don't shed, they don't smell, and they can be clipped chic or else left fluffy and shaggy. Poodles are clowns whether dancing on two legs or trying to make you laugh by patty caking. Mine is affectionate and just wants to be at my side when I am reading, mending or resting. He is an alert watchdog but not yappy." There were several other letters advocating poodles.

But by far the greatest number of persons sang the praises of miniature dachshunds. A letter signed "Reader" speaks of the dachshund's fierce loyalty, his loving nature, his humor, his cute sense of fun. The John Tearese family of Tucson, Ariz., former Winonans, are enthusiastic advocates of small dachshunds, and so are the C. D. Tearese of Winona.

A rural Winonan, Gayle Goetzman Przybylski, sums up the case for dachshunds: "My husband, dad and I regard as 'best friends' our two female dachshunds. They fit all the categories you describe. They are also easy whelpers, they eat everything we feed them and never get sick. They are level headed, never nervous or nippy or jumpy or barks as many small dogs are. They announce strangers with a low bark or two but, no ear-shattering yips or wails, and they stop barking after the stranger is announced. They are clean in the house, calm and poised, quiet and very keen-nosed. They love walks or hunting outings, and get along fine with other dogs and children. Anyway, we have had many breeds of small dogs, but none measures up to the versatility of the lovable dachshund."

One evening Mrs. E. D. Whiting came to my room carrying under her coat the tiniest dog I've ever beheld. He was a four-month-old fawn-sable chihuahua all wrapped up in a doll blanket and weighing just over one pound. He looked precisely like a tiny miniature fawn with his big eyes and pointed ears. The tiny creature wagged his tail gratifyingly and gave a few affectionate licks with a little pink tongue. He was completely enchanting, almost like a Christmas tree ornament. He should weigh about four pounds when grown up. Chihuahuas are gay, smart and devoted—and rather uncommon.

More poodle advocates: Ruth Lucas of Tarrytown, N. Y., who has kept many breeds of dogs and has had her own kennels, regards poodles as the smartest, cleanest and most beguiling of all dogs.

Brother Basil of St. Mary's College is keen on poodles, and tells me that Brother Patrick of the college raises some pretty fancy small poodles.

A dissident note: One who signs himself "Column Reader" wrote, "Why go through all the grief of breaking in a dog who will only smell terrible, make noise and drag in a lot of dirt? If you are smart you'll settle for a nice cat. Clean, no trouble, and they let you alone and aren't always bothering you." One gets a picture of a rugged individualist hermit sitting in one corner of his cave with a black cat curled up in the farthest corner, both ignoring each other.

A letter that both puzzled and pleased me came in large printing from an eight-year-old girl, Barbara Hammond from far-off Bryant Pond, Maine (where did she read my column asking for dog information?). "My brother is 4 and I am 8 and we like cocker spaniels. They are friendly and nice."

From a St. Paul suburban wife came praise for a breed of dog I'd never heard of—the Peekapoo which is a cross between a poodle and a Pekinese and seems to have all the good qualities of both breeds. There is even a kennel that specializes in this new (new to me, at least) breed.

Anyway, thank you, readers ranging from eight-year-old Barbara to the hermit who tolerates cats.

State Guard Unit Names Officers

Twenty-two members of Winona's former Company C, 1st Medical Battalion, Minnesota State Guard, elected four officers at a reunion Tuesday night.

The executives' first order of business? Planning next year's reunion.

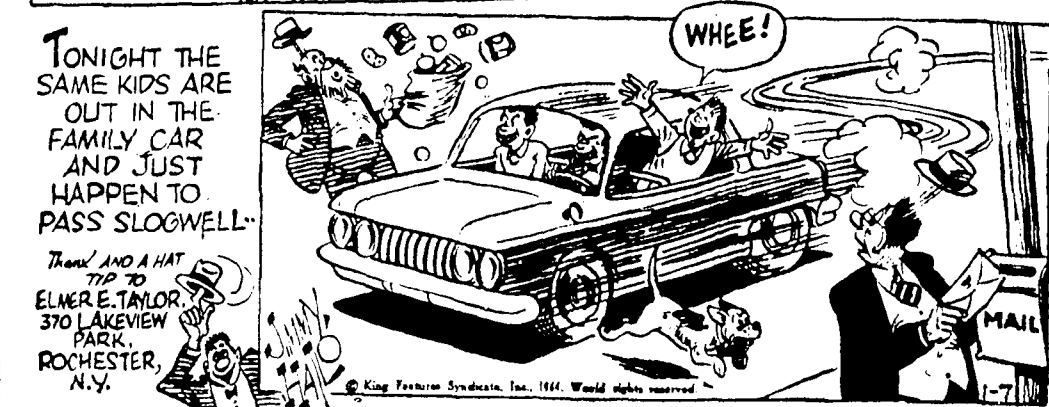

President George Loomis, second in command of the World War II home guard unit, said Wednesday that there are more than 30 members of the 39-member company still living.

Twenty-one of the 22 at Tuesday's reunion are Winonans; the group hopes to get some of the far-flung comrades back for next year's reunion.

Other officers are: Harold Englund, vice president; Verdi Ellies, secretary; and E. S. Moe, treasurer. Meetings of the group will be held when appropriate.

Gal With Boy's Name Star Stuff

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Little Joey Heatherton, the girl with the boy's name, has started 1965 with a great dash toward being a star. Joey, just 20, the bouncy, blonde firecracker daughter of the Ray Heathertons of Rockville Center, Long Island, invaded Hollywood, the City of Beautiful Dames.

She waltzed off—no, NO!—she Twisted off, she "Swam" off—with a 5-year, two-picture-a-year contract arranged personally by Jack Warner. He was convinced from two previous films, and some tests for "My Blood Runs Cold," with Troy Donahue, that she can be great.

Over at "Hullabaloo," the new NBC TV show, they're convinced she already is. She introduces a new dance ("The Hullabaloo") on the opening show Jan. 12—sort of a combination of the Jerk, the Swim, the Twist, the Frug.

What does Joey think about it all?

"It's very groovy," Fat girl comedienne Totie Fields told me at the Ed Sullivan show she invented the Totie Fields Doll: "You wind it up and it eats."

Sammy Davis' "Golden Boy" set an all-time B-way record last week—$92,000—with standees every performance. Sammy thus established himself as one of B-way's biggest box office draws as well as ranking beside Frank Sinatra as the greatest cafe attraction. He's also as busy as Lyndon B. Johnson. Besides lining up Peter Lawford and Billy Daniels as guests on his ABC TV spec, he's starring in the Fight For Sight benefit at Carnegie Hall Sunday night.

Richard Adler, producer of the Inaugural Gala Jan. 18, has timed the show to 1 hour 46 minutes—"the shortest but I hope the best we've had." With good weather (especially with no snow), Adler hopes to have busy LBJ saying good night to the audience by 11 o'clock.

Warren Beatty flew in from London where he spent the holidays with Leslie Caron. "Did you get married?" I asked him. "Did you?" he fired back. "Yes," I answered, just 29 years ago this coming Sunday! (They'll probably marry in March). Connie Francis, who didn't want to be a star, only a wife and mother, will probably want to be a star again since deciding to divorce Dick Kanellis. And Dick, who was entering the talent management field with Connie's father, will return to public relations. Monique Van Vooren blushed saying it: "I got a new sable coat, and it's humiliating to say, but it was a present from me to me."

We Point With Pride . . .

100% Growth in 10 Years

Our total assets in the Dec. 31, 1954, annual statement were $11,108,894.08. Ten years later on December 31, 1964, as published in this statement our assets total the magnificent sum of $22,060,298.28 and have actually been substantially higher several times during the past month.

This statement of our financial condition is a progress picture of things as they are at our bank and they indicate the direction in which we are steadily moving . . . FORWARD! Figures can and do tell a story . . . a story which includes major remodeling projects, construction of new facilities and the almost yearly addition of the best in modern equipment. You can count on us to continue this kind of up-grading as we move onward and upward in the years to come.

We feel that only if we make service available for every banking need can we rightly serve the citizens of our community and of our trade area. In doing this, we keep uppermost in mind the human qualities that make the difference in banking. We do our best to make every customer "feel at home" the moment he steps through our doors. We like them to be comfortable and relaxed while they are in our bank whether it be for business, information, advice or just to pass the time of the day. We try to provide a "banking home" with pleasant surroundings and a cheerful atmosphere so that you may be proud to say "THAT'S MY BANK."

Come and bank with us if you are not already doing so. We want your business. Try our parking garage with its walk-up teller windows and be sure to try our latest — TV drive-up teller stations for prompt service without leaving your car. Four savings tellers, three commercial tellers and three loan tellers plus 2 relief tellers are ready to serve you in the main lobby in addition to the walk-up and drive-in station tellers. They will try as we all have since 1874 to be "Your Good Neighbor."

President

P.S.—Hope we, and the community, can do as well in the next 10 years.

Let's Profit By Their Experience

WINONA IS FACING the closing of the Swift & Co. meat packing plant in February which will throw 175 men out of jobs and deny our community a large annual payroll.

We might consider what some cities which are about to lose their military installations are doing to meet the problem. Little Glasgow, Mont., for example, is going to lose its air base which employed 7,500 persons with a $10 million annual payroll. Madison will lose Truax Field and some New England communities in similar situations have gone into economic tailspins, particularly Portsmouth which has a big Navy yard.

John C. Sauerwein of Ardmore, Okla., says that if a city is losing its military installation (or a large industry), "You've got to get possession of the base, and without a recapture clause."

Sauerwein had previous experience with towns that lost their bases when he was hired as manager of the Ardmore Chamber of Commerce when its nearby base was phased out in 1957, along with a $10-$12 million payroll.

THE POPULATION fell 30,000 to 20,000. Bank deposits dropped. Store sales declined almost 25 percent.

Ardmore acquired the base as an industrial park and hired Sauerwein who went to work luring new industries. By now the town's economy has climbed back to earlier levels —

"But it took until 1963," Sauerwein points out.

The loss of a big military base (or a packing plant) is a stiff jolt to any community. But many have already done what Ardmore did: Meet the situation with optimism and imagination and find a new use for the facility.

Here's how some other communities have coped with the problem, according to a survey made by the Wall Street Journal:

New Mexico — an obsolete radar installation was bought by the state for $38,000; all its buildings are being used to ease overcrowding in hospitals, prison farms, forestry camps.

Presque Isle, Me. — an old base providing 1,475 jobs was turned into an industrial park and the city went hunting new industries; now the park provides 2,000 new jobs.

Hitchcock, Texas — an Army camp has been turned into a maintenance base for a fleet of oil field vehicles.

Oakland, Calif., and Greenville, Miss. — former military air stations have become municipal airports.

New Iberia, La., and San Diego, Calif. — a one-time naval air station and former Marine marksmanship training base are being used by universities; the one in Louisiana, for a 3,000-student branch campus.

Harlingen, Texas — the swimming pool at the closed-down Air Force base became a municipal pool; realtors successfully promote surplus housing as retirement homes for northerners.

Decatur, Ill. — General Electric and Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. bought an old Army signal depot where GE makes phonographs and Firestone makes tires; their civilian payroll is 50 percent higher than the Army's was and the property is now taxable.

Other communities whose military installations are still in business — for the time being at least — are taking steps now to broaden the base of their economies.

A DOZEN OKLAHOMA CITY businessmen leave this month to hunt new markets for local products in Europe and Africa. San Antonio is looking into the possibility of becoming a huge civilian medical center. The Albuquerque Industrial Development Service is preparing to quadruple its advertising budget to lure firms industries from the East and Midwest. The governor of Colorado is visiting New York touting his state as a site for plants.

As the manager of industrial development for Oklahoma Gas and Electric Co. sees it, the military cutback "really steams things up."

"And everybody is going to be fighting harder for new payrolls now."

'Thing on The Hill' Soon To Be Ready

THE FIRST OF 169 congressmen will soon start moving into the controversial, new House Office building which has been variously called "the ten-year pyramid," "Edifice Rex" and "The Thing on The Hill."

Costing $122 million, the lavish building, is the most expensive public structure in history. The Pentagon, the world's biggest office building, was built for $83 million. The Empire State Building cost $42 million, and the United Nations building $72 million.

Critics say that the new House Office building cost more than the pyramids at Giza, the Hanging Gardens of Babylon and the Colossus of Rhodes. It was first proposed as a $64 million job but it has cost almost twice the original sum due to many changes from the original plans. And the contractor is McCloskey and Company, the same firm which was under investigation in the Bobbie Baker case.

SUITES IN THE PLUSH office building will be given out on the basis of seniority. Those who will get first choice are representatives who have served 14 terms or more.

TODAY IN NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Beginning of New Government Era

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — This is the beginning of a new year in government — and the start of an era unprecedented in American history. For it marks the climax in a gradual erosion of the written constitution adopted by the people in 1788 and amended in 1791. It confirms the emergence of an unwritten constitution whose mandates are being set forth from time to time not by the people or their representatives, but by an oligarchy or "presidium" of five to nine men who are appointed for life. More than ever, they feel free now to retain or to discard whatever they please from the old constitution.

The 1788 document has in it a provision specifying that amendments could be made only as the result of a two-thirds vote of both houses of Congress and ratification by three-fourths of the states. This no longer appears to be obligatory, as the Supreme Court of the United States now has assumed the right to make "interpretations" of its own which are supposed to have the same legal effect as constitutional amendments.

JUST THREE weeks ago — on Dec. 14, 1964 — the high court handed down a ruling which illustrates how completely the process of making constitutional amendments has in recent years been revolutionized. In this case, one provision of the old constitution was rewritten and another was bypassed. They were:

One: "The Congress shall have power . . . to regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several states, and with the Indian tribes."

Two: "The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people."

What did our forefathers really mean by the clause "to regulate commerce . . . among the several states"? Did this cover human services, or was "commerce" confined only to certain limited transactions in goods moving across state lines?

WEBSTER'S DICTIONARY today still defines the word "commerce" in common usage as "the buying and selling of goods, especially when done on a large scale between cities, countries, etc." The word "goods" is defined as "movable personal property."

Yet the Supreme Court has just proclaimed that the power of Congress to "regulate commerce" means the right to prescribe also what personal services must be rendered by one citizen to another if in his business he happens to use property or goods of any kind which at some time in the past may have crossed a state line. When barbers, for instance, are employed in any part of an establishment which offers rooms or meals to traveling citizens, hair-cutting is being classed as coming within the rules governing interstate commerce. Human services thus are put under government control along with the buying or selling of goods or movable property which has once been transported from other states.

If "interstate commerce" is so inclusive and can at any time be interpreted to cover human behavior in selecting or serving customers or clients, or in negotiating with them, then the court's recent decision can sooner or later be broadened to regulate any form of business or professional activity and any other phase of American life hitherto deemed to be private.

WHEN THE ORIGINAL constitution specified that all rights not enumerated as having been delegated to the federal government were "retained by the people," it obviously meant that the people would have the right to be consulted about any changes and to express their desires by adopting or rejecting specific amendments to the constitution.

'WHAT WOULDST THOU HAVE?'

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Federal Funds May Be Cut to Aid Civil Rights

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Uncle Sam sent hundreds of thousands of Christmas messages to school boards, hospitals, universities and welfare agencies over the holidays which will not be welcomed in some states as Christmas cheer.

They served notice that Section 6 of the Civil Rights Act is in effect after Jan. 3 and that these institutions must stop discrimination against Negroes or forfeit federal aid.

Scarcely a community in the country doesn't draw federal money for school lunches, vocational training, hospital construction, welfare payments, water pollution control, and dozens of other programs.

Some school districts, located near military bases or other federal installations, depend on the federal government for as much as 40 percent of their budgets.

Under the new law, universities may have their research grants cut off unless they desegregate. Medical, dental and nursing schools cannot qualify for federal construction funds unless they agree to admit students of all races. None of the military bases which Secretary of Defense McNamara is closing can be turned over to local communities that won't promise to integrate them. Even sewage plants can no longer be built with federal funds unless they serve both Negroes and whites alike.

THE HEALTH, Education and Welfare Department, which administers most federal programs affected by the Civil Rights Act has taken the lead in implementing the ban on federal funds.

"This is the ultimate weapon for civil rights enforcement," Assistant Secretary James Quigley explained in this column. "However, we intend to be prudent and careful in its use. The purpose of the law is not to cut off federal funds but to eliminate segregation. If a locality fails to make a reasonable effort, of course, withdrawal of federal funds will be the consequence."

Most interesting fact about the enforcement program is that President Johnson has turned its direction over to Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

This is the man who in the 1948 Democratic convention fought for a strong civil rights plank and took the issue to the floor when southern Democrats succeeded in watering it down.

"We are 172 years late in acting," the then mayor of Minneapolis said in a strong appeal to the Democratic convention.

HUMPHREY is also the senator who crusaded long and diligently for civil rights legislation. He was behind the passage of three civil rights bills, fought hard to curb southern filibusters.

Today, Humphrey's staff is drawing up plans to coordinate compliance, so that one government agency does not conflict with another. The vice president will supervise rather than actively direct its details of compliance. He will fix over-all policy; will make sure that when the HEW is withdrawing federal funds from Philadelphia, Miss., the Federal Aviation Administration is not simultaneously granting $33,400 to Philadelphia to improve its airport — as happened last fall.

Or he will keep an eye on such inconsistencies as the payment by the Post Office of $26,680 to Byron De La Beckwith, tried on the charge of murdering Medgar Evers, but released as a result of a hung jury. Beckwith owned part of a parcel of land the Post Office needed in Greenwood, Miss.

TWO SENATORS who got a lot of welcoming handshakes when the 88th Congress convened were two that most senators didn't expect to see back. They were Gale McGee, the ex-history professor from the University of Wyoming, and Frank Moss of Utah, a New Deal lawyer who trained under FDR and never deserted his principles.

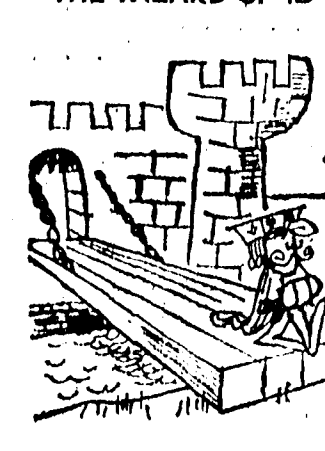

Reason their colleagues never expected McGee and Moss to come back was because the John Birch Society and the conservatives of the Far West had picked these two senators as their No. 1 targets. And in sparsely populated states, such as Utah and Wyoming, it's usually easy to bump off off liberal senators with a concerted drive, especially when outside money is available.

The drive against the two liberals began more than two years ago when for a time McGee was not permitted to speak at Wyoming Rotary clubs and other public gatherings. The Birchites accused him of being almost everything in the pro-Communist book.

"Trying to remember who eats what must drive him crazy."

Growing Interest In Home Rule

To the Editor:

Before the turn of the century, if the people in community "x" in the state of Minnesota want to have a local government they go to the state legislature and ask for a charter. This charter gives them the powers of government among which are the power to levy and collect taxes, the power to maintain and to repair streets, the power to regulate the conduct of the people, etc.

Today, if these same people want a local government they don't have to go to the legislature and ask for a charter. They can draw their own charters within statutory limitations. They can decide for themselves whether their city council shall have five members or 11. They can decide whether the employees of the street department shall be appointed by the mayor with or without the consent of the city council or by a civil service commission. And most important of all they can decide whether their form of government should be a weak-mayor-council type, a strong-mayor-council type, a commission type, or a council-manager type.

These things are possible today because of constitutional home rule, so called because by constitutional amendment approved by Minnesotans in 1898 the local people are authorized to frame, to adopt, and to amend their own charters according to their wishes within the limits prescribed by state law. In short, home rule connotes two things: 1) authority to make and to enforce local policies, and 2) discretion in deciding the structure and mechanics of local government.

If a home rule charter is adopted for Winona the structure of government for the city will have to be modernized. The present weak-mayor-council form of government will have to be replaced by a council-manager system. I suggest the following reasons why such a change should be made:

First, the weak-mayor-council form is no longer adequate to meet the problems brought about by a growing community. For example, it takes money to run a city government, to pay salaries, maintain buildings, buy equipments, and cut the grass in the park. Moreover, it takes technical competence to allocate financial resources to these various tasks performed through an annual budget. The preparation of this budget is no easy task, since it is not just an accounting document. Nor is it just a short-term budget. It is a planning and program document. Someone must be responsible for its preparation because it is an instrument of planning and programming services, a document that will provide for the services and improvements the city must have.

I have searched the present charter of Winona and I found no official in the city hall responsible for budget preparation. This is not a surprise in view of Winona's weak-mayor-council form of municipal structure. For under such a structure no one is responsible for budget preparation!

Second, a home rule charter providing for a council-manager form of government will bring about a unification of powers in the city council. Under the present charter municipal powers are dispersed among a number of independent appointive boards. Such boards are useful as a means of citizen participation in municipal affairs. But sometimes these boards are too slow to make decisions.

ions, too slow to respond to new challenges, too slow to meet changing conditions. They may even frustrate the popular will which is expressed in the decisions of the council.

Consider, for example, the present Board of Municipal Works. On April 6, 1964, the council voted 7-1 recommending fluoridation. On Aug. 13, 1964, the board voted for fluoridation 3-2. Now, why did the council merely recommend fluoridation? Why did it not decide to have fluoridation without going to the board? Do we have fluoridation now? Does it take really this long to buy the equipment needed to inject sodium fluoride into the water supply? There is only one answer to these questions: The council did just that because it lacked the power to do so. Such power is vested by the present charter in the water board!

There is a growing interest in home rule in Winona and an increasing awareness of the inadequacy of the present system of city government. We do not know how much this citizen interest and how much this popular awareness are. But a present survey research is being done by my advanced students of political behavior to measure the attitudes of the people toward the proposals for a new home rule charter and a council-manager form of government. The result of this project will be made available to anyone interested in good government.

It is my feeling that the people of Winona must fight for home rule. If they lose they must come back again and again from their defeats to begin the battle all over. Only through such battles will the spirit of self-government, local autonomy, and municipal development persist.

To Your Good Health

Answers To Your Questions

Dear Dr. Molner: My son's pulse is from 41 to 58. Does this mean there is something wrong with his heart? A year ago it was 72 to 74. He is 21 years old — MRS. C. O. D.

This is a slow rate of heartbeat, or bradycardia, (as compared to a rapid rate, or tachycardia).

This may be quite normal. For we must always keep in mind, in matters of health and in so many other things, that AVERAGE is made up of a lot of figures which are above or below the line.

In this case, the pulse rate deserves a check-up, perhaps with an electrocardiogram (ECG) to determine whether any defect exists in the conduction of impulses which regulate the timing of heartbeat, or pulse.

I predict (on the law of averages) that such a test will turn out to be normal. If so, and if your son has no other related symptoms (excessive fatigue, which could mean a slow rate of metabolism, or technical signs pointing to present or past heart disease) I would forget about the matter, since slower-than-average pulse rates, as well as faster-than-average, are not unusual.

Democrats Take Over More House Committee Places

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats have beefed up their already substantial control of House committees, placing themselves in a stronger position to push President Johnson's legislative program.

The most sweeping revision of House committee makeup in 25 years especially brightens Democratic prospects for health care, education and immigration measures.

With the single exception of the Rules Committee, which continues to be made up of 15 Democrats and 10 Republicans, the Democrats in control of the House dealt themselves bigger shares of committee strength.

The outnumbered Republicans went along, grateful at least that none of their members who were re-elected will have to lose a committee assignment in the shakeup.

The decisions were made Tuesday at a bargaining session described by House Democratic and Republican leaders as amicable.

A key decision was to change the ratio of the Ways and Means Committee from 15 Democratic and 10 Republican members to 17 Democrats and 8 Republicans.

This appeared virtually to ensure — if any further assurance should be necessary — that the committee will approve some sort of health care plan for the aged related to Social Security.

The committee had been the graveyard of Social Security health care plans, consistently opposed by all the Republicans, and by Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., and enough other Democrats to make up a majority.

Mills has indicated he would be amenable to a compromise version in which taxation for health care and for the traditional Social Security benefits would be kept separate.

The Appropriations Committee, divided 30-20 with Democrats in control since 1951, now will have a 34-16 ratio.

Man Survives Sweep Through Storm Sewer

BURLINGAME, Calif. (AP) — A workman clearing debris from a drain cover fell into an underground storm sewer Tuesday night and was flushed a mile through the drain into San Francisco Bay.

He emerged virtually unhurt. Police said the man, William John Selkirk, 54, fell into the rushing torrent of a two-thirds full 6-foot drainage pipe.

Selkirk was found later trying to clamber out of a deep ditch at the mouth of the drain exit to the bay.

Nudist Wedding Couple Divorced

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Sissie Dawson Narrow, 16, and her Coast Guardsman husband, married in a nudist ceremony, have been divorced.

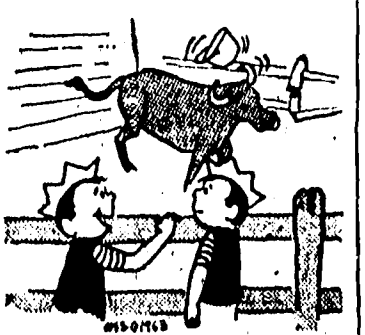

Sissie, pretty daughter of John Dawson, operator of a nudist camp north of Miami, and Charles Narrow, 23, were wed in the buff at Dawson's camp last May 9.

Records revealed that Narrow won a divorce Dec. 1 on the ground of extreme cruelty, charging that she left him in June, returned, then left him again in September.

TAOS CATCHES UP
SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — A 50-star flag will wave in the future over Taos Indian Pueblo, thanks to Gov. Jack M. Campbell.

The governor made a personal presentation of two 50-star United States flags to Taos Pueblo officials, after learning that Taos did not have a 50-star flag.

Tuesday-Thursday Club Under Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of Congress' most hallowed unofficial institutions, the "Tuesday-to-Thursday Club" is coming in for some Republican grumbling again.

The name refers to the common habit of some congressmen of leaving for home Thursday night and coming back to work in Washington Tuesday morning.

An obliging Democratic leadership has in the past scheduled most major and controversial bills for the midweek days of Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts made clear Tuesday that he has no intention of changing the system in this session of Congress.

McCormack defended the status quo by saying that if a full week of important legislation is scheduled and the House completes it by Thursday, there is no reason for it to stay around Friday.

House Majority Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma chimed in to say that members would not be likely to stay around for a Friday devoted to minor speechmaking in the House chamber, so there is no particular reason for scheduling a session on that day.

"That isn't the point," protested a longtime Republican critic of the Tuesday-to-Thursday Club, Rep. H. R. Gross of Iowa. "They can schedule business on Friday. They are the leaders and they can and should schedule business."

Girl, 3, Dies In Plastic Bag

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A girl, 3, pulled a plastic bag over her head and suffocated after her mother had knotted both ends to prevent just such a tragedy.

Police said the girl, Perri Parsons, apparently had pulled the bag out of a waste basket Wednesday.

Coroner William Allen said that despite the knotted ends, enough of the bag remained open for the child to get her head inside.

Licenses Same As Last Year

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — Motorist Johnny Jackson beat one-in-a-million odds twice.

His wife reported Wednesday he brought home the license plates for their two cars without even looking at them. The numbers were the same as those of their 1964 tags — XB 5263 and XB 5264.

Oklahoma will sell more than a million tags this year.

August Big Wedding Month in Reno

RENO, Nev. (AP) — June may be the big month for brides elsewhere, but August is the big wedding month in Reno, where weddings are big business.

The county clerk's office says it issued more marriage licenses, 2,526, during August than any other month of last year.

Divorces last year totaled 4,741, compared with 4,366 in 1963. August also was the high month for divorce, with 571.

Alaskan Firemen Warned of Cold

SITKA, Alaska (AP) — Fire hydrants were untouchable today in this Alaska Panhandle town. Volunteer firemen were told to keep hands off until a prolonged cold snap ends, even if there's a fire.

Chief Robert Barden, who issued the order Tuesday, said the whole water system might freeze up because of lower pressure if the hydrants are used.

Large tanks borrowed from the Standard Oil Co. have been mounted on city trucks and filled with water for emergency use by fire rigs.

Let Him Hire A Housekeeper

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with a man for two years. We love each other very much. I am a widow with two small children and he is divorced with three small children. He doesn't want to get married again because of the way his wife treated him. (She was really rotten.) He needs someone in his home 24 hours a day. He has tried older women, but they are not good with his children. He wants to hire me as his housekeeper. My family says if I take the job it will ruin my reputation as everyone in town knows we go together. Please help me make the right decision as so many people could get hurt if I make the wrong one. TO BE OR NOT TO BE

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: My husband's father lives with us and he has a habit that is causing my nerves to fray. The old man drinks right from the refrigerator jug. I've caught him doing this time and again and I have told him it was very unsanitary. I didn't like it, and I wish he'd quit it! It's like talking to the wall.

I've asked my husband please to tell Grandpa to cut it out, but he says he doesn't want to hurt the old man's feelings and I should skip it. Grandpa is 78 and ought to know better. Is there a solution? FRAYED NERVES

DEAR FRAYED: Get the old man his own personal refrigerator jug and label it "GRANDDAD." And let him drink right from the jug to his heart's content. Stash the "family" jug in the rear of the refrigerator and alert all members.

DEAR ABBY: My mother is my problem. She is always picking on me. She doesn't like the way I wear my hair or any of my clothes. She is always hollering about my posture and telling me to go wash my face or it will break out. Every time I eat something fattening she yells, "You don't NEED that!" She is forever griping that my room is a mess. (Sometimes it is, but I always get around to cleaning it up.) I just can't seem to please her. Please help me. FIFTEEN AND PICKED ON

DEAR FIFTEEN: Yours sounds like the typical wail of the teen-ager, and your mother's reaction is also typical. Just refrain from doing the things you know will irritate your mother, keep your room tidy, and stay out of her sight.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this to try to keep some other girls from making the same mistake I made. I started going with a boy in high school. We were very much in love and had such wonderful plans. We were going to get married when we were through college. We even decided how many children we wanted and what kind of furniture we were going to have. Eventually he persuaded me to forget my moral standards because we were going to get married anyway and it would make the waiting easier. He went away to college and I got a job when we graduated. It has been three years now and when he came home for Christmas vacation he told me he wanted a girl with stronger "moral convictions." I don't think I have to say any more. Thank you. "TWENTY-ONE AND FOOLISH" trict supervisors, will be held at the courthouse here Monday at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Lily Reich, secretary, said.

Wabasha Co. Board Ups Some Salaries

WABASHA, Minn.—The Wabasha County Board of Commissioners had completed preparations for another year's business when members adjourned their annual meeting in mid-afternoon Wednesday.

The seven banks of the county were designated as depositories of public funds after the board approved collateral furnished in lieu of bonds. First National Bank of Minneapolis was appointed custodian of the collateral.

Depositories are: First State Bank, Wabasha; People's State and First National, Plainview; Elgin State Bank; People's State, Mazeppa; Lake City State Bank, and Security State, Hammond.

SUBJECT TO order of the state Commissioner of Agriculture, and appropriation of $11,680 was made for county extension work. The board appropriated $7,000 for the county nursing service and $2,400 for the Soil Conservation Service funds that had been placed in the levy collectible this year.

Bounties approved were: Barberry, $3; fox, adults, $4, and cubs, $1; pocket gophers, 10 cents; striped gophers, 3 cents; woodchucks, 15 cents, and rattlesnakes, $1.

Salary raises were granted as follows: Assessor, from $6,000 to $6,300; auditor, from $6,500 to $6,700; attorney, $5,600 to $5,800; sheriff, $4,960 to $5,060; superintendent of schools, $6,920 to $7,120; clerk of district court, $3,000 to $3,200; veterans service officer, $4,020 to $4,200; engineer, $9,660 to $9,860, and treasurer, $6,500 to $6,700. The salary of the civil defense director remains at $2,100.

DR. B. J. Bouquet, Wabasha; Conrad Schad, Lake City, board vice chairman, and Ralph Warthesen, Plainview, board chairman last year, were named to the county board of health.

Schad was placed on the county extension committee for one year and Mrs. Henry Dose and Donald Tantis for three years each.

L. M. Hart, Mazeppa, new board chairman, was placed on the nurse's advisory committee for one year; Mrs. B. A. Fleische and Dr. E. C. Bailey, Lake City, were named to this committee for three years.

The Wabasha Herald was named the official newspaper. The Lake City Graphic was appointed to publish the 1964 financial statement in the newspaper.

THE BOARD passed a resolution requesting the Legislature to pay 50 percent of probation services. The county now receives 10 cents per capita for this service.

A request also will be sent to the Legislature to raise the lim-

Commissioners Won't Check Bounties Anymore

Members of the Winona County Board of Commissioners will no longer have power to authorize payment of bounties, the group was told at its meeting Wednesday.

Game Warden Francis Teske, Goodview, appeared to tell the board he was discontinuing its authority to assist him in the bounty system.

ASKED by Commissioner James Papenfuss, Dakota, why he was taking this step, Teske replied that he had "no reason."

He went on to say, "I feel that I'd like to take care of it again myself."

From now on, Teske explained, persons wishing a bounty payment will have to see him.

The board members have been authorized to act as his agents for some time. It was at his request that commissioners were authorized to help him administer the bounty program, Teske said.

THE BOARD Wednesday afternoon voted to hire George J. Hass, Houston Rt. 1, as weed and seed inspector for 1965. Voting against the move was Commissioner Len J. Merchlewitz, Winona, who said he favored hiring the 1964 inspector, Charles R. Smith, 3855 6th St., Goodview, for another term.

Hass, who is 72 years old, is a retired Pleasant Hill Township farmer. He will be required to attend a state school for inspectors.

Smith, 42, is owner and operator of Valley Nursery.

Other candidates for the job were August H. Gensmer, Minnesota City; Henry Johnson, Winona Rt. 2; Richard M. Henry, Utica Rt. 1, and Edward A. Becker, East Burns Valley.

itation on the levy for county revenue purposes from 15 to 20 mills.

Seven individuals filed petitions for detachment from Hyde Park School District 2393. John Tighe wants attachment to Lake City Independent District 813. Robert Jostock Jr., Arthur W. Kautz, Eugene Krismier, Charles F. Kelley, Norbert Riley and Mrs. Isabelle Hofschulte petitioned for attachment to Hammond 2374.

The auditor was instructed to advertise for bids for a motor grader; two tractors equipped with mowing machines and loaders, and two additional mowers. Bids will be opened at a special meeting Feb. 9.

NARROWED ESTATE COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Remodeling in Ohio's Statehouse left the press room somewhat smaller than it has been. Apparently some newsmen are unhappy, because this sign appeared on the door shortly after the revamped press room opened: "Hard-Pressed Room."

(As different from other cars as they are from each other)

CHEVROLET—As roomy a car as Chevrolet's ever built. Chevrolet Impala Sport Coupe

When you take in everything, there's more room inside this car than in any Chevrolet as far back as they go. It's wider this year and the attractively curved windows help to give you more shoulder room. The engine's been moved forward to give you more foot room. So, besides the way a '65 Chevrolet looks and rides, we now have one more reason to ask you: What do you get by paying more for a car — except bigger monthly payments?

CORVAIR—The only rear engine American car made.

You should read what the automotive magazines say about the '65 Corvair. They're wild about its ride. They think there's nothing else this side of the Atlantic that can touch its styling. They say if you haven't driven a new Corvair Corsa with a 180-hp Six Turbo-Charged! you just don't know what you're missing.

SO HELP Me by Fran

Since the Holidays fell on certain days, we have not had a column for two weeks — everyone was too busy to do much reading on those week-ends anyway — We do hope you had a wonderful Holiday Season.

This week Brown Drug had an ad on wonderful Bonne Bell items — three of them — the PLUS 30 HORMONE LOTION and HORMONE PLUS 30 CREAM — it is the first time that both of these items have been put on sale at the same time — the cream has been improved so that it is much more readily absorbed by the skin — Use the lotion under make-up and the cream for extra lubrication — The other item, NEW for men — Ten O Six After Shave Lotion — it's medicated — helps to heal nicks and scrapes — has a fine fragrance — Try it!

New evening clothes with pleated necklines and the "see thru look" almost require the use of Max Factor's SUEDES RUES make-up devised to help wear make-up right for the new look — Blends make-up below the natural chin and neckline — Will not rub off — In each box is a wonderful booklet telling other beauty secrets — Make-up is applied with a brush — When has the brush become so important to make-up of all kinds? We now find that all types can be applied much more efficiently with a brush.

Another new item — FAB ERGES "BEDTIME PERFUME" — just four weeks old the first of its kind — It is not diluted by oil or alcohol as regular perfumes are — one to three drops at bed time will last the whole night — Yes, it can be worn during the day, but one or two drops would be all that you would need — It is completely different — You will find it at BROWN DRUG in the fragrance of Aphrodite, Wood Nue, Tigress and Flambeau — Very nicely gift packaged.

For the latest in Cosmetics visit the Cosmetics Department of the BROWN DRUG.

Buffalo County Homemakers Study Laundering

ALMA, Wis. — Buffalo County Homemakers are studying "Keeping Up-To-Date With Laundry" this month.

Many advertisements about soaps and detergents claim that these products will get clothes clean, says Nancy Gerner, Buffalo County home agent. But it takes more than a good detergent to get a clean wash. You also need plenty of hot water, good back and forth movement of the clothes and lots of rinsing.

The old rule, "the hotter the water, the cleaner the wash," still holds, she says. True, some fabrics will have less wrinkles when they're washed in cool water but they won't get as clean. And dark colors will keep their colors better if the water isn't too hot.

Clothes need to have action while in the washing machine. The agitator that doesn't move clothes continually pulling them down and under isn't apt to turn out clean clothes. The front opening machine pulls the clothes up and lets them drop back into the water, the home agent says.

Overloading a machine means that there will be less action and less cleaning taking place.

You'll get a cleaner, whiter, brighter wash if you load the washing machine about three pounds less than the capacity. Keep the wash load about six pounds for a washer with a nine-pound capacity.

Soaps or synthetic detergents can then do their job—help pull the dirt from the clothes and hold it in the sudsy water.

All-purpose detergents are made to clean the general family wash. They are either high-sudsing or low-sudsing. Only the low-sudsing are used in front opening machines. Light-duty detergents that are used in washing machines are more for washing delicate and fine fabrics.

A similar program will be held in conjunction with the annual meeting of the Minnesota Swine Producers Association at New Ulm Jan. 19.

Compared with the same period in 1963, the number of cattle slaughtered was up 16 percent, calves slaughtered was up 16 percent, hogs slaughtered was down 2 percent and sheep and lambs slaughtered was up 8 percent.

Hogs slaughtered in commercial plants during November at 614,000 was 18 percent above the November 1963 number of 519,000 and one percent above the previous month. Slaughtered hogs averaged 253 pounds per head liveweight during November 1964 which compares with 258 pounds a year earlier and 254 pounds in October 1964.

Sheep and lambs slaughtered during November, which totaled 89,500, was below the 108,000 head the previous year and the 135,000 head in October 1964. Liveweight per head of 101 pounds was 3 pounds above the previous November average and one pound above the October average.

Commercial slaughter plants in WISCONSIN produced 103,656,000 pounds of red meat during November. This was 5 percent below last month but 4 percent above November a year ago. Beef, veal, and lamb and mutton production increased from a year earlier, while pork output declined.

The number of cattle slaughtered in November was 14 percent higher than last year and calf slaughter increased 20 percent. ## Soybean Disease Found in State

ST. PAUL, Minn. — A well-known and potentially serious root rot disease of soybeans has been identified for the first time in Minnesota, but no widespread occurrence of the disease is expected in the state during 1965.

The disease is Phytophthora root rot, and was recently identified on soybean plants grown on soil taken from fields on two farms in south central Minnesota, according to Herbert Johnson, extension plant pathologist at the University of Minnesota.

Three of the newer soybean varieties are resistant to the disease, but seed of these varieties is in short supply for 1965. These resistant varieties are Harosoy 63, Chippewa 64 and Lindarin 63.

Johnson points out that Phytophthora generally occurs on low ground and is most severe during wet conditions. While the disease may cause extensive damage in a given field, the effect generally tends to be spoty.

Johnson says other diseases which kill soybean plants are present every year and have been in the state a long time. Phytophthora was first found in southern Ontario and Ohio in the middle 1950s, and has since spread west through Indiana, Illinois and parts of Iowa.

FAT OVERWEIGHT

A tablet for you without a doctor's prescription, the ODRINEK plan. You must lose only fat or your money back. One of the basic problems of losing weight is your inability to stick to a plan. ## Ettrick Area Shed Unit Plans Education Drive

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special) — The earliest opportunity for consideration for priorities for planning the French-Beaver Creek Watershed will be in December 1965, Odell Schansberg, Whitehall, told watershed executive committee members attending a meeting here.

Schansberg, chairman of the Trempealeau County Soil and Water Conservation District, said this was the earliest the watershed could get on the priority list.

G. J. BARBER, Madison, with the State Soil and Water Conservation committee, said that sites for floodwater retarding structures are available in the north and south branches of Beaver Creek. Structures on these sites would control runoff from about 50 percent of these two sub-watershed drainage areas. The proposed program of structural measures also includes a grade stabilization structure in Dutch Creek sub-watershed area.

The program of structural measures in the sub-watersheds appears to be feasible, Barber believes. Restoration of the lakes at Ettrick and Galesville must be a local responsibility.

An accelerated land treatment program is needed for watershed protection, he said. Good work has been done by individuals and groups of farmers, it was revealed, but much land treatment remains to be done.

Fifty percent of the land area above a permanent structure must be in the soil conservation program and silt must be kept out.

Ed Baker, Eau Claire, Conservation specialist advised an educational program to inform the people in the watershed area. Henrik Herness, Whitehall, forester, discussed tree planting. He recommended that the soil conservation committee secure a man to work with the farmers on tree planting. Tree planting equipment is

The index of prices received by Minnesota farmers in mid-December was 78 percent, one point above a month earlier and five points above a year ago, according to the Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. This may be a new sign for the new year.

JOHN WEINZIER of Elmwood, Wis., was elected president of the Pepin County farm management club. GILES MILLIREN, Arkansas, was elected vice president; DAVID ANIBAS, Arkansas, secretary; JAMES KRING, Plum City, treasurer, and WARREN PAT-NODE, Arkansas, reporter. Directors are ART BRENNER, Nelson, JOHN KRINGS, Arkansas, and DANIEL FORSTER, Durand. A new herd production average for milk and butterfat has been announced for the registered Holstein herd owned by C. H. MUELLER & SONS, Lewiston. The herd has completed its latest testing year with a per cow average of 14,010 pounds of milk and 527 pounds of butterfat based on 112 completed lactation records.

By reading the world news reports, farmers may have discovered an "inside" track to getting aid from the federal government. All they must do is to follow the idea of Egypt's president, Abdel Nasser. Nasser told the American government to take its aid and "drink from the sea," which in our language means go to it. And it worked. Five days later the Agriculture Department issued an authorization for the purchase of $16,995,000 worth of surplus wheat for Nasser.

Although the transaction had been made some time ago, the United States could have stopped the deal after Nasser's speech. All farmers must do now is to tell the government where to get off and maybe they will be rolling in money.

CANDACE SIMON, Altura, Minn., has been granted junior membership in the Holstein Friesian Association. To qualify, member candidates must be under 21 and have successfully completed one year's work in 4-H or vocational agriculture on a dairy project. MATT METZ, Wabasha County agent, says farmers who want trees for spring planting should order now as trees are still available. Deadline for Wabasha County 4-H'ers who will participate in the county speaking contest is Friday. USDA officials expect meat imports during 1965 to total about 733 million pounds, about 15 million pounds more than 1964. The USDA's report to consumers says furniture prices are expected to increase as much as five percent during 1965. Salaried workers can expect to spend about 18 percent of their take-home pay for food in 1965 as compared with 18 1/2 percent during 1964.

A Trempealeau County 4-H club can boast of a member with a beard. The bearded member is GERALD EVERSON, 19, Blair, Wis., who won't reveal why he is raising the chin foliage. A bet may be involved. He is one of five sons of MR. AND MRS. ELMER EVERSON of Tappan Coulee. Registered Holsteins from three area herds have increased their lifetime production to more than 100,000 pounds of milk since they reached two years of age. They include Mueller Roebuck Graceful 3927228, 107,073 pounds of milk in 2,991 days, and Mueller Johanna Geraldine 3410270, 106,667 pounds of milk in 3,067 days, both owned by C. H. Mueller & Sons, Lewiston, Minn.; Rosenholm Walker Emily 3936022, 118,411 pounds of milk, owned by J. H. Rosenow, Cochrane, Wis., and Brook Lane Jule May 3936597, 111,169 pounds of milk, owned by Harry Marks, Mondovi, Wis.

available. Herness said, and the forestry department will assist with the program.

EUGENE SAVAGE, Jackson County agent, suggested a tour of the completed Trout Run watershed so that farmers may see the results.

Bernard Wood was named chairman of an educational committee.

A meeting of the executive board will be held at the insurance building next Thursday at 1:30 p.m. to plan the educational program.

Need for Boat Harbor At Fountain City Cited

FOUNTAIN CITY, Wis. (Special)—The need for a boat harbor at Fountain City was pointed out by William Pehler at a hearing before the Public Service Commission at the auditorium here Wednesday morning.

Willis Fernholz, La Crosse, district fish manager for the Wisconsin Conservation Department, testified to the feasibility of a public access road over the Burlington Railroad tracks to the proposed development.

HE SAID L. P. Voigt, director of the state Conservation Department, recommends state aid for the harbor, which would be the only one of considerable size and usability on the Wisconsin side of the Mississippi River between Alma, 18 miles upriver, and Trempealeau, 20 miles downriver.

The state would pay up to 50 percent of the cost, he said. The estimated state share would be roughly $6,000.

It would be a joint project of Fountain City and the Conservation Department, with Pehler furnishing the land if the railroad would provide an ordinary 24-foot crossing, without bell and light signals.

The access road would be an extension of Mill Street toward the river from Highway 35 in the area of the American Legion Club, in the lower part of the city.

In his testimony Pehler pointed out his proposed marina would be only six miles upriver from the Y across the interstate bridge from Winona. Recreation seekers from Winona could keep their boats at the harbor here and drive to Fountain City, saving themselves the trouble of going through the locks.

HE CALLED attention to the track-to-track fishing enjoyed on the river; fishermen can get into the boats on either Wisconsin and Minnesota shore and fish.

Wisconsin is particularly in need of such facilities, Fernholz said. Winona marinas and launching areas are mostly on the Minnesota side.

Pehler said he doesn't now own the 14.53 acres he proposes to develop, but owns 40 acres of land in the area of the Fountain City boatyards, and has a trade agreement on file with the U.S. Department of Interior proposing to exchange that acreage for the downriver area.

He told commission representatives he would give enough of the land to the city for constructing an access road, launching ramp and parking area, estimated to accommodate 50-60 cars, and would retain shoreline for the estimated 75-100 slips there would be room for, plus area for cottage, camping, trailers, etc.

He presented pictures of the area, maps provided by the Conservation Department, and grade and elevation specifications.

"There's a natural harbor here," he said, "with a small bay." He said visibility at the proposed crossing is over two miles east and over 1 1/2 miles west. No swimming facilities would be provided so there would be no traffic of children to the area.

ON CROSS examination he said he plans to develop the area alone if he doesn't get cost sharing, putting in 15 to 18 slips immediately, but the project would go faster with financial help.

He said there is no room for commercial extension of the area up or down stream.

There's a small-boat harbor at the foot of Liberty Street near Wally's Supper Club at this time but the railroad underpass isn't big enough to allow the entry of cruisers and there's no parking or turn-around room for cars. At Merrick State Park, 2 1/2 miles upstream, there's a small harbor, but the water is too shallow for larger boats at the launching area, and boats have to use backwater to get to the river.

Pehler testified that Dam 5A counted 3,231 cruisers and other small craft going upstream and 3,249 downstream through the locks between May 15 and Oct. 15, 1964. A boat harbor here could save one or two lockings, whether the boat were going down or upstream — there are three dams between Winona and Lake City.

The promoter said he would provide drinking water, telephone service, gas pumps and electric power. For electricity, the railroad would have to raise transmission lines at the point.

ROLF E. Hanson, examiner, presided for the PSC, with R. A. Montgomery of the engineering department asking questions. Richard S. Moen of Moen, Sheehan & Meyer, La Crosse, was counsel for the railroad. Other railroad officials present were J. D. Larsen, assistant superintendent, and F. T. Bullock, signal superintendent. La Crosse: R. C. Russell, division engineer, Aurora, Ill., and D. H. Thomsen, Chicago, assistant to the signal engineer.

Donald Gray, Upper Mississippi Refuge manager, and Bartlett Foster, wildlife technician, Winona, were present, plus Harvey Nielson, Trempealeau, district refuge manager.

Marvin L. Fugina, Fountain City attorney questioned Pehler. Among other city officials present were Mayor W. F. Bohri; Councilmen Norris Abts and C. S. Richtman; Clerk Mel Schlesselman, and Oscar Florin, Buffalo County Board member from Fountain City. About 40 attended.

Pehler is assistant manager of the printing department at Watkins Products, Inc., Winona, where he has been employed 18 years.

Dairy Scientists Study Weight Gaining Rates

MADISON, Wis. — Heavier calves at weaning tend to reach top choice slaughter grade sooner than lighter ones. But they will be heavier before reaching this grade. These heavier calves also have a larger portion of their carcass weight in the valuable cuts when slaughtered at a standard live grade.

This is the conclusion of three University of Wisconsin livestock breeding specialists, L. L. Christian, E. R. Hauser and A. B. Chapman. The scientists say that the economics of fast gain in cattle is well accepted. But there is a lot to be known about the factors that influence gain at the various intervals from calving to marketing.

CALVES from 3-year-old and 4-year-old cows weighed more at birth, got more milk from their dams, consumed more feed and were heavier at weaning time than calves from 2-year-old cows.

They also found that butterfat and solids notfat are more important to the calf than the volume of milk produced by the dam in the first 6 days of her lactation period. Some calves could consume up to 20 pounds of milk in a day.

From birth to weaning, male calves gain faster than females. The researchers found that part of the differences between calves in weaning weight was inherited. Birth weight, the dam's milk production, the creep or other feed consumed and the sex of the calf all contributed to weaning weight differences. The feed available either as milk or as supplemental feed was the main factor in variability in weaning weight.

THE CALVES were weaned at 240 days of age after which more information was gathered up to market weight. From weaning time until one year old, steers gained faster than heifer calves. From a year old until slaughter there was no significant difference in rate of gain between the two sexes.

However, it was found that the heavier calves were not as efficient feed converters immediately following weaning. They suggested that the heavier calves underwent more stress and adjustment when they were taken away from their heavy milking mothers. Another possibility is that the heavier calves put on more of the added weight as fat which is put on less efficiently than lean.

The experiments were done on twin Hereford cows bought as calves and raised on the university farm.

The study also gave some useful information about the heritability of traits in beef cattle. They made the studies on twin cattle over a period of more than a decade.

THE animal breeding scientists conclude that there is wide variation in the inheritance of characteristics of cattle. They range all the way from almost complete heritability of color to little if any heritability of reproductive ability of fertility. The least heritable trait measure was age at first calving.

Another highly heritable characteristic of cattle is size at maturity. Cattle also pass on to their offspring rate of gain and feed efficiency.

Production of milk and butterfat is not as highly heritable as rate of gain.

Racine Worker Dead in Cave-in

RACINE, Wis. — Robert Mackey, 52-year-old Racine Construction worker, died in a hospital Wednesday night of injuries suffered when he was buried for two hours in wet, packed clay in a sewer project cave-in at the city's outskirts.

Mackey was one of three men trapped when the sides of a 15-foot deep trench caved in as they put down pipes for an extension of a sewerline project to the nearby town of Caldonia.

One of the other men, Keith Tucker, 29, of Racine, also was admitted to St. Luke's Hospital with an apparent leg injury. He was buried to the shoulders for nearly an hour.

The third man, Arlan Utsch of Sharon was trapped to the waist but managed to claw his way to safety. Utsch said he and Tucker were in the trench and Mackey was standing at the edge when the cave-in occurred.

Wabasha DHIA Switching to Central Records

WABASHA, Minn. — The Wabasha County Dairy Herd Improvement Association is rapidly switching to the central processing of DHIA reports.

At present 49 herds are transferred over to this method of analysis. Matt Metz, county agent, said. Directors have set April 30 as the deadline date for all herds to be on the central processing system. Metz says some values of this system are: feed records; listing of all animals on one sheet so they can be more easily read and used; herd average every month after you have been on the system 12 months, and others.

THE animal breeding scientists conclude that there is wide variation in the inheritance of characteristics of cattle. They range all the way from almost complete heritability of color to little if any heritability of reproductive ability of fertility. The least heritable trait measure was age at first calving.

Another highly heritable characteristic of cattle is size at maturity. Cattle also pass on to their offspring rate of gain and feed efficiency.

Unusual weather for January—fog, rain and sleet—gripped Winona and vicinity today and was slated to turn into more steady rain tonight, changing to snow by morning and continuing Friday.

Not much temperature change was expected tonight, the thermometer dipping to between 25-32 by morning, but Friday will be a little colder, probably with a high of 25-30.

The outlook for Saturday is for partly cloudy and colder weather.

TEMPERATURES generally remained slightly above the freezing point overnight with the high Wednesday afternoon 39 and the overnight low 31. It was 36 at noon.

A year ago today the city's high was 33 and the low 16. All-time high for Jan. 7 was 47 in 1880 and the low for the day -34 in 1912.

A heavy morning fog made driving difficult in Southeastern Minnesota and Western Wisconsin. Fresh rain polished icy spots remaining at some intersections and on many side walks.

Most Minnesota communities had a drizzle today and in most cases temperatures were around the freezing mark with the ex-

'Shakes You Up'

"When the thing is all over you get to thinkin' back over it, and it shakes you up," Bruce Lyngklip, a welding instructor at Winona Senior High School, said this morning.

Lyngklip was recalling a pretty wild night in the darkened school building as city police and burglars exchanged gunfire and pursued one another through the building.

THE INSTRUCTOR teaches adult classes in welding under the federal Manpower Development Act from 2:30 to 9:30 p.m. each weekday. He stayed late at the school Wednesday night, correcting papers and preparing the next day's class. The Chalfield, Minn., man decided to sleep at the school rather than make the two-hour ception of Redwood Falls where the low was 1 above. Edmonton, Canada, had a low of -33 and Minot, N.D., -2.

At Rochester 24-hour temperature ranges were 33-34 while La Crosse had a 32-35 range.

WISCONSIN was in for another round of mild temperatures today, but at this time of year it just can't last. In fact, much colder weather appears to be in the works for the western region Friday and the remainder of the state by the weekend.

Meanwhile, light drizzle and fog continued in many areas of Wisconsin. The drizzle was reported at Madison, Lone Rock, La Crosse, Wausau, Eau Claire, Park Falls and Superior. The drizzle was freezing in the Superior region. Fog was reported at Wausau, Clintonville and Stevens Point.

Temperatures Wednesday were about 10 degrees above normal for the season, reaching a high of 44 at Burlington. Superior also was the coldest place during the night with a low of 27.

KINGSVILLE, Texas, set the national high of 83 degrees Wednesday, compared with the low of 18 below early today at Cut Bank, Mont.

round trip home and back in time for his morning classes. "It seemed like I'd just closed my eyes, when I heard my welding cart rolling over the concrete floor," Lyngklip was sleeping in a school pickup truck in the welding shop when the iron wheels rolling over concrete awakened him.

He tipped back to the welding shop and called police while the burglars continued upstairs to the superintendent's office.

He let the two patrolmen who answered his call in the alley door of the welding shop and followed them upstairs to the superintendent's office.

The burglars had just begun to cut into a safe with the school's acetylene torch when the officers outside shouted for them to surrender. The intruders tried to escape through the office windows but were blocked by the arrival of another patrol car.

THEY THEN tried to "shoot their way out." When it was all over, two men were wounded, one of the burglars had gotten away and Lyngklip was turning on all the lights in the welding shop for fear policemen might mistake him for a burglar.

He heard the shooting from a basement phone where he had called police headquarters for more reinforcements, at the request of the first two officers to come.

Then he heard footsteps race down the stairway across the darkened welding shop and out into the alley where the policemen had entered. It was then Lyngklip took the precaution of turning on the lights.

HE ALSO called police again to tell them to warn the men on the scene of his presence. A policeman, James L. Hill, was sent for Lyngklip and took him to police headquarters shortly after 2 a.m.

Here, Lyngklip was checked with Tom Raines, vocational director at the high school, to make sure he was authorized to be in the building. The Chalfield man returned to the school around 3:30 a.m. where he spent a wakeful early morning, listening to the sounds of police and sheriff's officers conducting a double search of the whole building.

Durand Teacher
Killed in Crash

DURAND, Wis. (Special)—A teacher in the Durand Unified School District became Pepin County's first traffic fatality of the year late Wednesday afternoon when she was killed instantly in a near head-on collision a half-mile west of Durand on U.S. Highway 10.

Mrs. Richard (Gail Anne) Bratley, 26, was en route to her Menomonee home when, according to witnesses, her red German import went out of control. They told Sheriff George D. Britton that she rounded the left curve just west of the Chippewa River bridge successfully, then the vehicle went out of control on the slippery blacktop.

IT SKIDDED sideways at about 45-degree angle for a distance, then was struck at the left front of the door by a 1963 model driven by Mrs. Arthur (Shirley M.) Herbison, 27, Arkansas Rt. 2, whose seven children, 7 months to 7 years, were with her.

Dr. R.J. Bryant, coroner, said Mrs. Bratley died of a broken neck and crushed chest. She also received lacerations.

Mrs. Herbison and children were taken to St. Benedict's Community Hospital, Durand, for treatment of lacerations and bruises. Two of the children were reported to have concussions but none was critical, officers were told. They were being held at the hospital this morning for observation.

Witnesses told officers at the scene that after meeting the Bratley car, they saw it go out of control and veer into the left lane. The accident was reported to the sheriff's office in Durand at 4:25 p.m. by Daniel R. Vradenberg, 19, Durand Rt. 2, and David Fedie, 18, Durand.

The impact occurred on a straight blacktop highway in the Town of Waubeek, just west of the river bridge here. The sky was overcast and there was light fog, officers said. It was slippery all of Wednesday, the sheriff said.

MRS. BRATLEY was traveling west, being on her way home from Grandview rural school on Highway 85 north of Durand. She taught kindergarten — mornings at the Eau Galle school and afternoons at Grandview, both in the Durand district.

Mrs. Herbison was traveling east into Durand. "There were no skid marks on the highway to measure, Britton said. The cars came together and fused, stopping in about the center of the road, the vehicles locked together. Damage was principally on the left side of the foreign car and the front of Mrs. Herbison's. No one was thrown.

The Herbison children are Randall J. 7; Wendell, 6; Gary T. 5; Eddie D. 4; Calvin Jr. 3; Brian S. 2; and Dana D. 7 months.

The Herbison home is near Plum City, Arkansas rural route.</

Torrid First Half Enables Redmen to Halt Cobbers 81-70

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor

For 20 minutes of intense action Wednesday night, St. Mary's was an invincible quintet, a masterful unit that combined brilliant passing with deadly shooting.

Cracking Concordia's man-to-man and zone defenses, the Redmen forged into a 49-30 half-time lead.

Only a relaxed second half allowed the Terrace Heights visitors to make the score respectable, 81-70 at the gun.

WITH GUARD Jerry Sausser blending his hardcourt magic with Rog Pytlewski's daring defense, the Redmen broke it open in the final 12 minutes of half No. 1 and preceded to register victory No. 9 on the season and second against a single loss to defending champion Augsburg in the MIAC.

It ended as another brilliant night for St. Mary's scorers, Sausser and Pytlewski finding the range for 20 points and Mike Maloney finishing just a step behind at 18. From there it went to nine for George Valaika and seven each for George Hoder and sixth-man Jim Buffo.

Allowing Concordia a false sense of security at the outset, St. Mary's trailed 16-14 with 13 minutes left. From there the Redmen dazzled the Cobbers with 13 straight points to turn it into an early rout.

SAUSER TIED it on a long flipper from the outside. Hoder scored on a hook, Valaika on a drive, Hoder again on a free throw and a tip, Sausser on a drive and Pytlewski on a jumper from the outside.

In that one breathless span of four minutes and 23 seconds, the game was over.

Another surge with two minutes left saw Pytlewski score first on a rebound shot, then on a whirling drive and Maloney on a stolen ball layup to make it 43-24. It went to 49-28 seconds later as Sausser dropped a pair of free throws and Pytlewski a drive on a diving steal that took Jim from a nearly sprawling position at midcourt to a bucket.

in superlatives at intermission, a glance at the shot chart bore out the obvious. A jam of numbers under the basket on the paper court showed no misses. Viewing the entire halfcourt smile, just a smattering of numerals weren't circled. The Redmen had made good on 22 of 35 attempts for a .629 percentage.

the day. "I figured if we could stay even for the first five minutes, we could solve things by then."

THAT'S EXACTLY what happened. Finding the Cobber guards could be pressured, St. Mary's hawked the visitors, forcing them into 12 mechanical errors in the first half and converting the majority into easy buckets.

Sausser and Pytlewski were at their best. Jerry, the 6-1 guard from Chicago, made repeated trips under the bucket and left his tormentors talking to themselves. There were times he spiraled the ball through a jam to setup teammates and times when he threatened the pass and took it up for two.

"I don't know how he does it," recalled Wiltgen. "There were times it was amazing how he found the other guys—just a quick glance and he had them the ball."

Now the Redmen prepare for a Saturday trip to St. Paul for a bout with St. Thomas. Following that they will be home for a Monday game with St. John's before exam break.

Brodie Top Golfer Among Pro Gridders

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Two years on golf's tournament trail have paid off to the tune of a new car for San Francisco 49er quarterback John Brodie.

Brodie carded a 75 Wednesday for a 54-hole total of 231 to win the National Football League Golf Tournament and the first prize of a 1965 Ford Mustang.

Again Friars Are Gaining Recognition

The charges of Coach Joe Mullaney made it 10 in a row by whipping Boston College and John Austin 89-79 at Newton, Mass., Wednesday night. Walker, whose style is being compared to Providence's former greats, threw in 28 points on nine field goals and 10 of 11 free throws.

Bill Blair, a junior, also chipped in with 28 points for the Friars, who led by 19 points at halftime. Austin, playing with an injured wrist, got 29 points for Boston College. He sat out the first eight minutes of the second half.

It was the fifth victory on the road for the Friars, indicating they are tough anywhere. Their other road triumphs came against Creighton, Iowa, St. Francis of New York and Fairfield. They play Canisius Saturday at Buffalo, N.Y.

Ninth-ranked Providence was the only team in the Associated Press top ten to see action. Louisville, 9-2, scored a 92-40 home-court triumph over LaSalle. In other home-court victories, Brigham Young whipped Seattle 92-72 behind John Fairchild's 23 points and Marquette edged Chicago Loyola 71-69 on Rocky Calvello's jump shot in the last second of a five-minute overtime.

Wake Forest drubbed North Carolina 107-85 and N.C. State downed Virginia 73-67 in two Atlantic Coast Conference games. West Virginia took Virginia Military 87-79 in the Southern Conference.

WITH THE CROWD speaking

The second half brought fewer shots (24) but 13 were made to leave the team with another torrid evening at .583 percent.

But while the first half had been a source of joy for Coach Ken Wiltgen, he wasn't pleased with the final six minutes of the game.

"This is the first time we've had any type of letdown this season," he said. "I suppose it was bound to come, but it takes something away from the first half. We slowed it down at the end, but we weren't handling it right—not looking underneath for the good shot."

THINGS WERE FINE for the first 12 minutes, leading by 73-56 after that time with the pressure off.

Things slowed from there and the Cobbers managed to come back to respectability.

Auggies Grab First in MIAC

Augsburg stands alone atop the Minnesota Intercollegiate Conference as the only team still unbeaten in league play. But the Auggies had better keep an eye on Minnesota - Duluth and St. Mary's.

Augsburg ripped St. Thomas 82-68 Wednesday night for its third straight MIAC victory without defeat, and ran its season record to 12-1.

UM-D, shocked by Concordia in its first MIAC game last month, continued its comeback by crushing St. John's 93-73 and St. Mary's kept pace with an 81-70 waltz past Concordia.

Duluth and St. Mary's are now 2-1 in the MIAC and loom as Augsburg's most serious rivals. UM-D is 7-2 for the season and St. Mary's 9-2. Nobody else appears close to the Big Three in the MIAC.

In another league game Wednesday, Gustavus Adolphus (1-1) whipped Macalester 80-63.

Dan Anderson's 30 points paced Augsburg past St. Thomas. The Auggies led only 65-62 but spurted away in the final seven minutes.

UM-D also had to rally after a hard first half. The Bulldogs trailed 43-41 at the half, but outscored St. John's 9-2 at the outset of the second half and never trailed again. Bruce Ackland got 22 points for Duluth.

Gustavus rushed in front 39-24 at the half and won easily over Macalester. Al White topped the Gusties with 22.

In a non-conference game, Bethel of St. Paul lost to River Falls, Wis. State 83-76.

No games are scheduled tonight.

HARMONY, HOLMEN SEEK ANSWER FRIDAY

Home Courts--How Much Do They Mean?

By ROLLIE WUSSOW
Daily News Sports Writer

Spring Valley at Harmony and West Salem at Holmen have been selected as this week's top prep games involving some 35 high school Friday area cage attractions.

Both games are somewhat unique in the fact that both visitors haven't won too many games on either courts in the past few years. Scanning the situation for the skirmish scheduled for Harmony Friday, we find the Cardinals own an 8-1 season record, while Spring Valley is 3-6.

The Wolves of a year ago captured the District One title, but were soundly beaten on the Harmony floor during the regular season. The same thing has happened for the past few years, or so recalls Wolf Coach Dick Kowles.

"They're real tough on their own floor," bemoans Kowles, giving a hint of dissatisfaction with his current season record. "It seems as though each time we go there, they wind up shooting about 98 per cent from the floor."

Although the Cardinals haven't been sinking baskets at a 98-percent clip, Harmony head Tom Meulemans admits his squad has a pretty decent percentage.

"With the exception of that one game (the loss to Alma), we've been shooting pretty fair. In our nine games we've been averaging 45 percent from the field. We're averaging 86 points per game in conference and 81 overall, so I can't complain.

"Individually," Meulemans continues, "Willford (Jim) has been hitting at a 50-percent clip, and three other starters Erickson (Mike), Barrett (Bill) and Johnson (Ron) have been shooting 45 percent."

Not bad for a team that was supposed to go nowhere when the pre-season ratings came out.

Kowles, laden with visions of how his season might have been if he had had the services of Hans Jorgensen and Sam Lindsay, both stars of a year ago who suffered unfortunate accidents which required surgery and sidelined them for the year, is dissatisfied but has hopes.

"Sure, I'm dissatisfied," he says, "but I have hopes we will come around. I'd like it to start Friday night at Harmony."

Kowles will go with Bob Olson, Clayton Larson, Craig Churchill, Steve McGhie and Harold Hintze or

Providence Has Bright New Star

Lombardi: 'Hornung to Stay With Green Bay'

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Green Bay Coach Vince Lombardi is high on Paul Hornung's "potential" and plans to keep the high-scoring halfback with the Packers.

Lombardi emphatically denied Wednesday a report that he and Hornung had clashed and the former Notre Dame star was on the trading block, possibly in a deal with the New York Giants.

"I don't know a player in the National Football League who has the potential of Hornung," Lombardi said. "You don't give up something for nothing."

"Now, I'm not saying that we're going to sit pat up here. If we have an opportunity to better ourselves, we will trade. But I have no plans to trade Hornung, period."

According to a New York report, Lombardi and Hornung clashed when the halfback reported late for a team meeting before the Packers met the St. Louis Cardinals in the Pro Bowl in Miami. The report quoted the coach as telling Hornung: "Get in your car and keep going."

"That's a bold-face lie," Lombardi said. "I had no disagreement whatsoever with Hornung."

PAUL HORNUNG
He's Vinnie's Boy

There's absolutely no truth to that story."

Hornung was on the bench when the Packers opened against the Cardinals. He carried the ball only five times and his lone pass on the option play was intercepted, killing Green Bay's last chance in a 24-17 loss. However, Hornung booted a 40-yard field goal and added two conversions.

Hornung was Green Bay's bonus choice in the NFL draft in 1957. He became a star after Lombardi took over the Packers in 1959, leading the league in scoring three straight years and setting an NFL scoring record of 176 points in 1960.

He sat out the 1963 season under suspension for betting on games and returned to the Packers last season at the age of 28. Although troubled by a pinched shoulder nerve much of the campaign, he finished fourth in scoring with 107 points, although he cashed just 12 of 38 field goal attempts. He gained 415 yards rushing and caught nine passes for another 98 yards.

Arkansas Is No. 1 College Football Team

HONOLULU (AP) — "I'm prouder than I've ever been in my life," said Coach Frank Broyles Wednesday on learning that his unbeaten, untied Arkansas Razorbacks will receive the Grantland Rice Award.

The memorial to the late sports writing great goes to the team rated No. 1 in the United States by a five-man committee representing the Football Writers Association of America.

"This is something I know the people of Arkansas have dreamed about for a long time," he said. "I know that this has to be the proudest moment in the athletic history of Arkansas for the players, the university and our fans."

"They all rank No. 1," Broyles said.

Arkansas, the Southwest Conference champion, defeated Nebraska 10-7 in the Cotton Bowl game for an 11-0 record the only major college football team without a loss.

The Razorbacks finished second in the final Associated Press football poll, which was released before the bowl games. Alabama, No. 1 in the last poll, lost in the Orange Bowl to Texas, which was defending national champion and No. 1 when it lost by a point to Arkansas.

Switch to New York Coach Red Sullivan. Color him what else but red — for being bright enough to take some between-periods advice from Ranger General Manager Emile Francis.

It was the GM's suggestion that led Sully to give Lou Angotti a full turn in the third period, and the rookie responded by scoring the go-ahead goal in what became a 5-2 New York victory over Boston.

Now for Toronto Maple Leaf rookie Britt Selby. Color him green, but not very. The youngster, playing in his second NHL game, scored his second goal and it turned out to be the winner in a 3-1 Leaf victory over Chicago.

And as for Detroit left wing Ted Lindsay. Color him blue since he's 5'7" lighter in the waltz after sitting out the shortest suspension in NHL history.

Lindsay, suspended by NHL President Clarence Campbell after refusing to pay $75 in fines for two misconduct penalties he drew in Toronto last Saturday night, decided to sign a letter of apology and pay the fine just before the Wings game in Montreal.

Campbell reinstated him immediately and he dressed for the game, just two hours after the NHL president had first announced his suspension.

School Bond Limit Climbs At St. Charles

ST. CHARLES, Minn. — If Vowels Common School District 2590 votes Jan. 20 to dissolve and join St. Charles Independent District 858, the bonding power of the district would reach $1,283,500, according to discussion at the meeting of the school board here Monday night.

This figure would be within $1,500 of the estimated cost of a high school planned last fall.

THE SCHOOL board reduced its plans to the $1,000,000 bonding limit at that time, and the district voted down the bond issue Dec. 14.

Saratoga District, closed for some time, was placed in the St. Charles District effective March 1 by the Winona County Board of Commissioners Tuesday. The district is expected to vote on debt assumption in February.

It was announced Monday night Vowels will vote Jan. 20 on whether to dissolve and attach.

Attaching Saratoga brings the bonding power to about $1,144,000. Six kindergarten children and 19 high school children from Vowels are attending at St. Charles. Thirteen elementary students attend Vowels School.

ELBA district met this week and decided to vote on consolidation with St. Charles, according to information received by Jesse Jestus, Winona County superintendent. Voting at Elba is expected Jan. 18 or 19. A St. Charles spokesman also said Utica was considering a vote, but both districts are awaiting necessary legal forms, it was said.

The St. Charles board said the rural districts now operating could continue to do so particularly until a high school is built, because of crowded conditions in town, but administration would be centered in town.

The board formally rejected the Daley bill, passed by the 1963 Legislature, which would have created a central school out of St. Charles and Lewiston independent districts and Vowels and Utica common districts. The other three districts had voted in favor of the bill. Last fall, however, when St. Charles showed no sign of favoring consolidation, Lewiston floated a $1,100,000 bond issue and is getting its high school building plans ready.

DEAN SHERWOOD Berg of the institute of agriculture, University of Wisconsin, has been engaged as commencement speaker at St. Charles June 4. The 1965-66 calendar, with school opening Sept. 2 and closing June 3, 1966, was adopted.

The board passed a resolution permitting the six 4-H clubs in the area to use the activity room of the high school free of charge up to two meetings a year. This followed requests from a dozen people representing the Pleasant Ridge Rustlers and Saratoga Challengers, who attended the meeting.

The board will send delegates to the annual state school boards convention at St. Paul Monday through Wednesday. Henry J. Bartel, superintendent, Del. Rubberg, chairman, and Frank Koch will attend the full session. Lyman Persons, Walter Fischer and John Nitemann Jr. will attend one day.

Houston County Counts $505,098 at Year's End

CALEDONIA, Minn. (Special) — Houston County closed its business at the end of 1964 with a balance of $505,098.57, according to the report Wednesday from the audit board, consisting of Sigurd Evenson, Spring Grove, Bern Ott, Houston, and Virgil Johnson, Sheldon. Commissioners: All funds are in the black.

An appropriation of $500 was made on the final day of the two-day annual session to the Houston County Historical Society, which has affiliated with the state historical society. The appropriation was made on request of Wesley Hoppel, Houston, president, and Miss Gladys Lapham, Hokah, member of the board of directors.

The society has been permitted the second floor of the Caledonia village hall for its headquarters and will purchase display tables and cases and other necessary equipment. Up to this time it has been operating out of a temporary building.

THE BOARD passed a resolution providing county maintenance on township roads in townships where it has an agreement with the local board.

The jury lists submitted by the commissioners were admitted.

Two More Dead In Minnesota Auto Mishaps

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A car-train crash in southwestern Minnesota and a single vehicle accident in suburban Minneapolis took the lives of two persons over night.

The deaths raised the new year traffic toll to 12, two under the count through this date in 1964.

Richard Waltz, 54, Watertown, S.D., driver, died in a Tyler hospital Wednesday night about four hours after a car and a freight collided on a Highway 91 crossing at Russell, about 12 miles south of Marshall.

Joseph Meyer, 29, Watertown, S.D., occupant of the same car, was taken to a Marshall hospital with a broken leg and other injuries.

Claire L. Osowski, 35, of Crystal, was killed early today in Brookline Park when her car left the road and struck a tree. The car went across an intersection at the junction of Hennepin County Road 109 and Highway 169. She was alone.

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — When two drivers had a fender-bending accident Wednesday they followed the letter of the law.

Robert Dicke, 22, Minneapolis, and Dennis McMann, 32, St. Paul, left their cars where the accident occurred and went to call police.

A Rock Island train came along and smashed into both cars. One hit a utility pole. The pole fell and shattered the windshield of a third automobile.

Teachers Salary Meeting Slated

A meeting with representatives of Winona's public school teachers on salary issues for the 1965-66 contract year was scheduled Wednesday by the Board of Education for next Wednesday night.

The meeting was called after Superintendent of Schools A. L. Nelson told directors that a joint salary committee representing the Winona Education ing's outstretched gun hand and partially lodged in his biceps muscle.

IN THE meantime, Gordon had emptied his revolver and brought one of the men down. The other went running up the inclined ramp to the auditorium (which had been abandoned by Lyngklip, meanwhile, who had called police headquarters for fear gas and more men at the request of Rotering and Gordon).

The burglar ran to the east after reaching the auditorium area but found everything locked. He ran back to the west side of the building, passing the inclined ramp in the process.

Patrolman James L. Hill got off two quick shots at him as he passed, but missed.

POLICE by this time were converging on the high school. Sgt. Joseph F. Kryzer and Patrolman Rodney J. Pellowski were in the patrol car which shined the spotlight, and they quickly covered the street entrances to the building.

As the two burglars were exchanging fire with the police at the high school, Sheriff's Deputy Eloy Balk saw a man in tan pants and checked coat running away from the area at 5th and Washington streets. He fired two or three shots at the man but did not hit him, and the person lost himself among houses in the area.

In the meantime, Lyngklip had taken refuge in the engineer's office just off the welding shop. He heard footsteps hurrying down the stairway the burglars had gone up, sprinting through the length of the shop and bursting through the alley door. (This alley runs parallel to Broadway and 5th Street between Johnson and Washington streets.)

THIS APPARENTLY was the man who got away from the superintendent's office. Police speculate that the man fired at by Deputy Balk was a look-out. He was seen running at the same time the gun battle broke out inside the school.

Chief Meier called on all seven uniformed members of the day-shift to help in making a double classroom-by-classroom search of the school after the two wounded men had been taken by ambulance to the hospital.

Their search turned up nothing. A "fresh" pool of blood discovered at the school this morning turned out to have nothing to do with last night's fight. In addition to the revolver fire, Patrolman Gordon fired one round from a submachine gun.

Assistant Chief Meier is acting head of the department in the absence of Chief James W. McCabe, who returns from a three-week vacation Friday.

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Scott Kealy, 3, died Wednesday when the heavy lid of a tool chest fell on him at a public park.

School Board

Association and the Winona Federation of Teachers had drafted a proposed salary schedule for the next contract year.

BOARD MEMBERS didn't discuss the salary question Wednesday but agreed to consider the request when it comes up for a formal presentation next Monday night and then meet with the teachers later in the week to examine the proposal in detail.

The request is understood to include proposals that the range of salaries for teachers with bachelor's degrees be raised from the present $4,900-$7,625 to $5,015 to $8,015 and a maximum of $7,800.

The 13-step schedule for those with master's degrees, the teachers will propose, would be raised from the present $5,200 to $8,425 to a range of $5,200 to $8,900.

The joint salary committee also is seeking that increments be paid for levels of advancement beyond both bachelor's and master's degrees.

AT THE TOP of the bachelor's schedule a differential of $125 is sought for 15 hours work beyond the bachelor's and $550 for 30 hours for tops of $8,075 and $8,350, respectively.

A maximum at the 13th step of $9,025 is requested for those with master's degrees and 15 additional hours and $9,150 for those with master's and 30 additional credit hours.

At a meeting with the board last month, teachers' representatives had indicated that they would use an adjustment panel's recommendations for salaries for the 1964-65 contract year—a submitted last summer—as a take-off point in drafting the 1965-66 request.

Superintendent Nelson said that the teachers' recommendation for a new schedule reflects a principle of stimulating professional advancement through remuneration for work done beyond basic degrees.

THE REQUEST probably will be received formally by the board at its Monday meeting and directors expressed hope that, despite a heavy agenda, some time can be devoted to its study that night.

A full exploration of all aspects of the proposal will be afforded at the Wednesday meeting with the teachers.

In a letter received by the board from the joint salary committee of teachers the faculty said that it was proposing a revision in the salary schedule in the belief that "teaching is a profession and, as such, deserves remuneration in keeping with the training and professional demands made upon individuals as teachers. We believe that remuneration must be attractive to the extent that good teachers can be obtained competitively and that good teachers can be retained."

THE TEACHERS said they were "most concerned that the children of Winona have the best possible education in the Winona public schools. In order to accomplish this we believe that Winona must attract and retain good teachers."

We agree with the board that further professional growth is increasingly desirable, commendable and necessary. We feel that professional growth among teachers will result in substantial remuneration is provided in the salary schedule which reflects the various stages of professional training."

Cole slaw is delicious made with both red and green cabbage, but use more of the former than the latter. A little shredded red cabbage added to a tossed green salad is an excellent idea, too.

ORDINANCE PREPARED

Hiring of a professional planner to implement county zoning and planning was informally approved by the Winona County Board of Commissioners Wednesday.

Commissioners told Gordon M. Fay, county highway engineer and chairman of the county planning and zoning committee, to interview planners. The zoning group there is to recommend hiring of a planner.

THE BOARD'S consensus was reached when Fay and S. A. Sawyer, county attorney and ex-officio member of the zoning group, told the board that their committee has prepared an interim zoning ordinance.

Fay and Sawyer went on to say, however, that their group felt a planner should be hired as soon as possible. It would be best, they said, if the planner were hired in time to review the interim ordinance.

At the next meeting of the zoning committee, the group will formally transfer this money to the county. Then, at the following board meeting, the money will be accepted and a fund established for it.

In this way, the county auditor would be able to write checks disbursing this township funds money.

Committee Assignments Completed

Committee assignments for 1965 were announced by Chairman Leo R. Borkowski, Goodview, at this morning's session of the Winona County Board of Commissioners annual meeting.

In addition, the board accepted assignments of securities from banks in which county funds are kept, approved county inventories and assignments and assignments to the nurse's advisory committee and authorized two expenditures.

BORKOWSKI'S committee assignments follow, with the chairman for each group listed first: Purchasing — Len J. Merchlewitz, Winona, and all other commissioners.

Building — Merchlewitz and all others.

Health — James Papenfuss, Dakota, and Carl O. Peterson, Fremont.

Printing — Adolph Spitzer, St. Charles, and Peterson.

Finance — Spitzer, Peterson and Merchlewitz.

Road and bridge — Peterson and all others.

Mental health — Spitzer and Peterson.

Extension — Borkowski and Spitzer.

Law library (set by law) — Borkowski.

Soil conservation — Peterson.

ASSIGNMENTS of securities came from seven banks, all in Winona County, and totaled $3,462,000.

The banks, and the securities assigned the county by each, are First National Bank of Winona, $1 million; Winona National & Savings Bank, $1,126,000; Merchants National Bank of Winona, $1,165,000; First National Bank of St. Charles, $50,000; Security State Bank, Lewiston, $61,000; First State Bank, Rollingstone, $25,000; and Altura State Bank, $35,000.

The board accepted an inventory the value of which totaled $85,106.34 for county offices and $44,372.95 for the county highway department.

The highway department's inventory listed $164,774.64 in major equipment, $1,230.75 in minor equipment, $365 in snow equipment, $5,334.55 in office furniture and engineering equipment, $6,922 in radio equipment, $6,923.20 in shop equipment and tools, $9,108.30 in materials and supplies and $285,714.51 in lots and buildings.

THE COMPOSITION of the nurse's advisory board this year will remain the same as during 1964. The members are Jesse B. Jestus, county superintendent of schools; Mrs. M. L. Spencer, Winona; Mrs. Frank Nottelman, Lamolite; Mrs. Ralph S. Haugen and Mrs. Emil Fabian, St. Charles; Mrs. Harold Selvig, Lewiston; Mrs. Kenneth Poblocki, Winona; Dr. George P. Joyce, Stockton Hill; dental adviser; Dr. Curtis M. Johnson, Winona, medical adviser, and Merchlewitz and Papenfuss, representing the county board.

Expenditures authorized by the board included a $10 a month clothing allowance for each of the seven deputy sheriffs for the latter half of 1964. The total is $420.

In addition, the board voted to give $350 to the Automobile Club Safety Council of Winona, the same amount donated to the group last year.

The newly appointed finance committee began work this morning with the task of counting cash on hand in the county treasurer's office. The total was $4,884.24, including a $2,000 cash fund always kept in the office.
