LBJ Asks Immigration Law Based on Skills, Family Ties

Would Drop Old Quota Systems Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed a sweeping new immigration law to Congress today. It is based on an immigrant's skill and his family ties in the United States. It would do away with the 40-year-old national-origins quota system. Johnson called the quota system "incompatible with our basic American tradition." Instead, immigrants would be selected on a first-come, first-serve basis, within a system of preferences based on work and cultural skills and family unity. The bill is virtually identical to one proposed in 1963 by President John F. Kennedy. Johnson urged Congress today to give the revived bill priority consideration.

He said the proposed law "both serves the national interest and continues our traditional ideals."

"No move could more effectively reaffirm our fundamental belief that a man is to be judged — and judged exclusively — on his worth as a human being," the President said.

The bill, he said, would maintain safeguards against undesirable and excessive immigration, require all immigrants to meet U.S. security requirements, and ensure that no immigrants "could contribute to unemployment in the United States."

Unemployment figured strongly in one of the first congressional comments on the President's proposals.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said "I don't think we ought to let this country get flooded with immigrants. We've got enough of an unemployment problem as it is." He is a member of the immigration subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., promptly announced he would introduce a bill to carry out Johnson's recommendations and would ask for early Judiciary Committee hearings.

"The quota system should have been changed years ago," Hart said.

An administration source estimated passage of the law eventually would increase the average number of immigrants from 300,000 to 350,000 — including those not subject to numerical restrictions, such as those coming from Western Hemisphere countries.

It would eliminate an old provision — the so-called "Asia-Pacific triangle" — that discriminates against persons of Asian ancestry by forcing them to apply under the quota of their country of ancestry even if they have lived for generations in a non-Asian nation.

The provision would be abolished immediately — even though the new bill would prescribe gradual elimination of the whole quota system over five years.

The Kennedy Immigration Bill was sent to Congress in July 1963. It underwent Senate and House Judiciary Committee hearings but never came to a vote in either house.

Gov. Rolvaag Explains Opposition to Sales Tax

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. Karl Rolvaag said Tuesday, "I have always been opposed to a sales tax," and two other Democratic-Farmer-Labor party leaders added similar comments.

It was another round of the party's swelling chorus of opposition after earlier reports that it might be having a change of heart about means of raising new revenue to meet the state's growing needs.

George Farr, DFL state chairman, had emphasized his opposition and that of the state DFL party, in an anti-sales tax pronouncement Monday.

On Tuesday, Rolvaag was joined by Lt. Gov. A. M. Keith and Rep. Robert Latz of Minneapolis in speaking out against it.

Keith predicted in a speech at Moorhead that the legislature would not enact a sales tax this year. He said Minnesota's needs would be better met through a small hike in the state income tax—already one of the highest in the nation—and possibly some excise taxes on selected items.

Rolvaag was shown a prepared text of Keith's talk and commented that it was a re-statement of Liberal opposition to a sales tax. He added, "I have always been opposed to a sales tax."

Elaborating on his stand, Keith said, "Neither the sales tax nor the property tax has any relation to one's income, and they tend to hit low income people and certain types of businesses unnecessarily hard. It is this fact that makes the income tax so preferable in raising new money."

Latz declared the sales tax is "unnecessary and unwanted in Minnesota." He spoke at a suburban Twin Cities DFL women's club meeting.

Meanwhile, Robert Forsythe, state Republican chairman, urged Rolvaag to "resist pressures which would have you close the door on complete evaluation of tax reform and tax revenues."

Forsythe added that pressures were building up to have the governor and legislature "slam the door on a complete and across-the-board evaluation of tax reform and tax resources, old and new."

"The Republican party hopes that he does not capitulate to the power blocs which obviously are putting heavy pressure on him in the matter of state revenue."

The two big ships knocked out are the superliner United States, flagship of the United States Lines, which had been scheduled to sail for Europe Thursday with 800 passengers; and the Argentina of the Moore-McCormack lines, which was to have left New York today with about 180 passengers on an eight-day Caribbean cruise.

The action by the seagoing unions greatly increased the impact of the three-day-old dock strike which is causing an estimated loss of $20 million to $25 million a day to the nation's economy. Up to 200 ships are reported tied up in two score ports.

William B. Rand, president of the United States Lines, said the cancellation of American-flag passenger ship sailings is "an extremely damaging blow to the American merchant marine and the entire shipping industry."

Justice Dept. Awaits Action In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The Justice Department waits today to see if it won federal indictments in Mississippi's case of the three murdered civil rights workers.

In two days of secret hearings, a case prepared from one of the biggest FBI investigations in history was laid before the same 23 grand jurors who refused indictments in the case last fall.

The grand jury may have voted. A marshal took a basket of ballots to be burned shortly before adjournment Tuesday. However, no report was made.

The federal grand jury here normally does not report until the end of its session — and there were nearly 100 other cases on the docket. The session may wind up Friday.

Strike Holds Up 2 Luxury Liners

NEW YORK (AP) — Scheduled sailings of two luxury liners have been canceled as seagoing unions of the American merchant marine supported the longshoremen on strike on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

The seagoing unions called for immobilization of American-flag passenger ships on the two coasts in a show of unity with the International Longshoremen's Association.

Banker Who Took $3 Million Gets 8 Years

VALENTINE, Neb. (AP) — In a 20-minute session that surprised this town of 3,000 in Nebraska's rich cattle country, husky Richard Davenport was sent to jail for a minimum of eight years for embezzlement of funds of the bank he once headed.

Davenport, 45, whose heartiness and wide smile had made him one of the town's most popular men, appeared in court with his wife Tuesday to plead guilty to two counts of embezzlement and told the court he may have taken as much as $3 million.

Only twice did he speak, once to set his estimate of $3 million, and then unemotionally to tell the court that gambling and speculation started the misappropriations which "mushroomed and snowballed."

He was sentenced on one count to 5 to 10 years and to 3 to 5 years on the other. Judge John H. Newton ordered the sentences to run consecutively. That meant that Davenport, with time off for good behavior, must serve a minimum of eight years.

Judge Newton then suspended the sentences for 30 days, after which Davenport will enter the Nebraska Penal Complex at Lincoln. The Judge specified hard labor but prison officials said they could not now say what work might be given Davenport.

Rochester Boy Crossing Street Killed by Car

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An automobile slid from icy Highway 28 at Cyrus, in northwestern Minnesota, early today, crashed into a tree and killed the driver, Harley Edward Windom, 24, of Donley, Minn.

The Highway Patrol said Windom's companion, Karen Lee Johnson, 23, Morris, was hospitalized with a broken arm and cuts about the head.

The death raised Minnesota's 1965 traffic accident toll to 23, as compared with 17 a year ago.

A boy crossing a Rochester street was struck by a car Tuesday afternoon and died 40 minutes later in a hospital. Charles G. Micek, 8, was crossing U.S. 52 at the northwest edge of Rochester. His was Rochester's second traffic death within a day after the city had gone 22 months without a fatality.

Frank Benjamin of Jackson, Minn., was killed near Olivia Tuesday when his car and an ice cream delivery truck collided. The truck driver, Earl Sikila, 42, Hutchinson, and Benjamin's passenger, H.C. Benjamin, 68, Heron Lake, were injured.

A truck driver was killed in Washington County Tuesday when his vehicle slid into the path of a Chicago North Western train near Lake Elmo. He was Sigurd Solby, 53, Lake Elmo, who was returning from a kennel with a pet dog. The animal also died.

E.J. Giddings, engineer of the freight train, said Solby apparently tried to stop but his truck slid onto the tracks. The train, going 50 miles an hour, carried the wreckage half a mile.

Election Defeat Ends 6-Month Burch Reign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barry Goldwater's conservative command of the Republican party was over today, a scant six months after it began.

Accepting a shift he once said would be "a repudiation of me," the former Arizona senator invited Ray C. Bliss of Ohio to take over the Republican National Committee chairmanship now held by his man, Dean Burch.

Burch, picked for the job after

Goldwater won the Republican presidential nomination last July 15, said he would step down effective April 1.

The Republican National Committee, which gathers in Chicago in nine days, will act on the plan to have Bliss take over the committee reign, averting a showdown confidence vote on Burch's own tenure.

Announcing the settlement in Phoenix Tuesday, both Goldwater and Burch insisted they could capture a committee majority in a showdown. Privately, allies of the embattled chairman had conceded in advance this probably was not so.

In any event, Goldwater himself said Burch could not command "a clear working mandate."

He said a fight in Chicago "could have scored a victory for neither side, and it would have left our party dangerously divided."

Goldwater said he talked it over with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon "and each of them has concluded it as being in the best interests of our party and our country."

Nixon and Eisenhower told Goldwater a month ago that Burch would have to have a mandate, not just a majority in the National Committee, to continue as chairman.

Nixon declared Tuesday night the end of the dispute over the chairmanship "means unity for the Republican party in 1965 and victory for our candidate in 1966."

"Ray Bliss will be supported by all elements of the party," Nixon said. During the futile campaign to keep Burch as chairman, both he and Goldwater had questioned whether conservative Republicans would go along.

"I feel the removal of Dean Burch now would be a repudiation of a great segment of our party and a repudiation of me," Goldwater said in a Dec. 26 letter to National Committee members.

Five days later, Burch wrote committee members he was facing ouster demands as a symbol of Goldwater and of conservative Republicans.

"If this is true," he said, "then my resignation under pressure at this time would clearly be interpreted as a full repudiation by the Republican party of all those voters who identified themselves with responsible conservative Republicanism."

Reacting to Burch's resignation, the GOP national committeewoman from Oklahoma said conservatives might take it just that way.

"This could be the beginning of a third party," said Dorcas Kelly of Oklahoma. "I don't know why Sen. Goldwater and Mr. Burch gave in to those governors. That's all it is — just a bunch of governors, and a minority at that, who want a change."

New Wisconsin Legislature Meets

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The old gave way to the new in Wisconsin's legislative halls today, but the change didn't budge standing governmental issues.

The 77th Wisconsin Legislature, convening at noon, inherited the budget, tax and political problems of its immediate predecessor and added one of its own — divided control of its houses.

Still the 1965 session held the promise of a new start and could be immediately credited with forcing an end to the 1963 Legislature, which dragged on two years while compiling a total of 146 working days.

The divided political leadership in the new session puts Democrats in control of the Assembly for the first time since 1959. Their margin in the 100-member house is 52 to 48. Republicans hold sway in the Senate, 20 to 12, with a 33rd member to be picked in a special election in March.

Lawmakers got a sample of requests Tuesday at a pre-legislative conference sponsored by the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce.

Lester P. Voigt, state conservation director, said his agency will ask the Legislature to approve at least four measures that would help a budget suffering "malnutrition."

Voigt called for a $2 trout stamp and a $2 pheasant stamp to support stocking programs and said sportsmen should be willing to pay for the "extra recreational benefits."

Other measures would set another referendum on raising the forestry mill tax and require Great Lakes fishermen to buy a state license.

Gov. Warren P. Knowles told the conference he would initiate legislative and administrative actions to brighten Wisconsin's business and industrial image.

"Search and rescue operations to recover the other pilot are continuing."

The incident occurred during daylight hours, newsmen were told by Arthur Sylvester, press chief of the Defense Department. Sylvester said he had no further details.

The two planes shot down today brought to six the total of U.S. Air Force and Navy planes shot down during reconnaissance operations over Laos which started last May.

Two Jets Shot Down Over Laos

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two U.S. Air Force jet fighters were shot down over Laos today, the Defense Department announced. The announcement, read to newsmen, said:

"A U.S. F100 airplane and a U.S. F105 airplane were shot down in central Laos today by ground fire."

"One pilot has been recovered."

"Search and rescue operations to recover the other pilot are continuing."

Johnson Wants Dillon to Stay

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says it always distresses him to read stories to the effect that Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon plans to resign.

"I hope I never get that letter," Johnson said Tuesday to a group of industrialists.

Then, turning directly to Dillon, the President added: "I hope you never learn to write."

One of Graff Quads Dead

KENOSHA, Wis. (AP)—A girl member of the Graff quadruplets born Monday, died early today at Kenosha Memorial Hospital.

A hospital spokesman said the child had had respiratory trouble since birth.

The mother, Mrs. Joyce Graff, 23, was described as "crushed" by the loss of the child but was in good physical condition.

Mrs. Graff prematurely. Mrs. Graff and her machinist husband, Robin, 25, also have twins, a boy and a girl who will be a year old Saturday; and a son, Martin, 3.

On Tuesday night, Mrs. Graff said "My head's just been going around in circles. I haven't even been able to think of names for the babies. I was just so happy they were all right. I guess I won't realize until I start taking care of them."

Her husband had spent his day trying to sort out his duties and make plans.

"I've got to get down to the hospital and see her," he told callers at the family's 40-foot trailer home.

In a rambling explanation of his activities, he continued, "I only got about four hours sleep last night. We don't have a phone, but the neighbors kept bringing me messages. I saw my wife right after the birth, but all she could do was cry. The doctor and everybody said we should have a lawyer, so I called one I used before. Maybe he'll tell us what to do."

Graff, who drives a small foreign car to his job in nearby Waukegan, Ill., continued, "I'm going to have to get a part-time job to buy the groceries. But first I've got to get to that hospital." But then he remembered another problem — housing.

"I don't think they'll let me bring the babies home until we find another place to live," Graff said. "But I don't know what I'll do. The twins sleep in one crib and our older boy has been sleeping in the top bunk while we had the lower bed in the other bedroom."

To make crusty brown full-flavored croutons for tossed green salad, heat cubes of bread in garlic-flavored salad oil until toasted. Toss together the greens and dressing, then add the croutons at the last minute so they will be crisp when served.

Timber Cutting Prohibited In Canoe Area

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The federal government has ordered an end to timber cutting on some 150,000 acres of the one million acres in the Boundary Water Canoe Area (BWCA) of northern Minnesota.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, in announcing that Tuesday, said he also has asked the Forest Service to end cutting on 22,000 acres outside the canoe area and he hopes to add another 100,000 acres to the ban in the next few years.

Freeman, former Minnesota governor, said the order was needed to preserve natural timber stands "in one of the great treasures of the nation."

It's estimated the action will preserve the natural tree stands around 90 per cent of the water area in Superior National Forest.

Freeman said his order follows the recommendation of a six-man committee he appointed last May to investigate charges that road building and tree cutting were ruining the border area.

The committee was headed by George Selke, former Minnesota commissioner of conservation.

Freeman said his no-cutting order took into consideration that some communities, such as Ely and Grand Marais, are heavily dependent on pulpwood harvesting in the forest.

Other major changes, Freeman said, will be that special zones will be established for use of motorboats—both large and small—and establishment of some no-motor zones on lakes and streams.

Also, he said, the ban on air travel in the wilderness area will continue and a ban will be enforced against the use of motorized land vehicles, such as snowmobiles except on certain portages.

Freeman also indicated the Forest Service will seek added appropriations and additional manpower to better manage the BWCA for the annually-increasing public usage.

He said a program of public education is needed to make visitors aware of the need to keep the area unspoiled. He said a system of registering visitors and licensing canoe outfitters will be started soon.

The additional 100,000 acres to be added to the no-cut zone will be marked out soon and withdrawn from the cutting area as soon as present contracts expire.

Freeman said future timber cutting contracts will be reduced from 10 and 15 years to five years' duration.

Freeman said his office will work with the Minnesota Conservation Department in establishing the special motor boat zones. Also recommended was the banning of houseboats and other craft with overnight facilities.

Freeman also recommended that the federal government acquire remaining private, state and county lands within the wilderness area.

Other members of the study committee were Conservation Commissioner Wayne Olson, Ray Haik, vice president of the Minnesota Izaak Walton League; Rolfe Johnson, news director of WCCO-TV, Minneapolis; John Vukelich, St. Louis County supervisor, and David J. Winton, chairman of the board of Winton Lumber Co., Minneapolis.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional sources report the Veterans Administration will

3 Promoted At Winona National Bank

Kleibusch

Three staff members were advanced as officers at the annual directors' meeting of the Winona National & Savings Bank Tuesday afternoon after the stockholders' meeting.

Ronald J. Ritter was named assistant trust officer, Gerald G. Kleibusch was made an assistant cashier and Edward A. Gott was named assistant cashier and auditor.

RITTER joined the staff in July 1961 as an administrative assistant in the trust department. Because of the Berlin crisis, he was called to active Army duty in November of that year and was stationed at Fort Lewis, Wash., until August 1962, when he was given an honorable discharge.

Born in Winona, he attended Cotter High School and is a 1957 graduate of St. Mary's College. After this, he served four years as a systems analyst for Remington Rand Univac in Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Returning to the bank from Army duty, he attended the American Bankers Association national trust school at Northwestern University during August 1963 and 1964. He completed both the trust administration and trust new business courses. He will continue the three-year trust major program at the association's graduate school of banking.

Ritter is a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which he serves as chairman of the governmental affairs committee. He is a member of the Winona County Sheriff's Civil Service Commission, is a director of St. Mary's College National Alumni Association, served as chairman of its alumni reunion last June and holds membership in the Winona Elks Lodge, Winona Country Club and the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart.

He is married, has one daughter, Lynn Marie, 2½ years old, and lives at 910 W. Mark St.

KLEIBUSCH is a native of Winona and, after graduation from high school in 1955, started in banking at the First National Bank of Winona, where he was an assistant cashier in charge of the installment loan department at the time he resigned in 1964.

He joined the staff at Winona National a month later and is an assistant to Vice President David Fleming in the recently-expanded installment loan department.

He has been active in the local American Institute of Banking chapter and has completed a number of its courses of study. During the 1959-60 Steamboat Days celebration he served as one of the mates assisting the Steamboat Days captain.

Active at St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, where he serves on the educational committee, and the Winona Activity Group, of which he has been secretary. Kleibusch is also a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Whitewater Valley Sportsmen's Club, the 419th Civil Affairs Company of the Army Reserve and the board of governors of the local American Institute of Banking chapter.

He is married, has one son, Steven, 1½ years old, and lives at 1702 W. Broadway.

City Bank Deposits Grow $5 Million

Winona banks grew in all categories during 1964, according to statements of their conditions as of Dec. 31.

Total deposits in the three grew from $81,406,367 at the end of 1963 to $86,958,064 at the end of 1964 — an increase of $5,551,697.

TOTAL RESOURCES climbed $5,940,074 — from $67,350,880 at the end of 1963 to $73,290,954 a year later. The banks' total capital accounts — including stocks, surplus, undivided profits and reserves — grew from $5,554,835 at the end of 1963 to $5,764,050 twelve months later — an increase of $209,215.

The increase and expansion has not been limited to financial growth. First National Bank's new building at Main and 4th streets is nearing completion, and the bank expects to operate there by the end of April or the first part of May.

Merchants National Bank, too, began an expansion program. It announced in December that it had bought the former Winona Heating & Ventilating Co. property. This will make possible a major remodeling project, President G. M. Grabow said, and will provide room for installation of an electronic computer late this year. Its annual meeting will be Jan. 28.

Merchants remained the city's largest bank in terms of deposits, resources and capital accounts. Its deposits grew by $1,388,665 during the last year, and it added $1,442,404 to its resources. Capital accounts grew by $35,960.

FIRST NATIONAL, however, showed the greatest growth during the last year. Its deposit total increased by $2,287,934, and it added another $2,456,435 to its resources. It increased its capital accounts by $153,799.

Winona National and Savings Bank added $1,875,098 to its deposits during 1964, and increased its resources by $2,041,235. Its capital accounts grew by $19,456.

In addition to the figures in the accompanying table, Winona National was handling $20,722,357 in its trust department at the end of 1964.

PRESTON, Minn. — The Fillmore County extension home program is hosting two informative meetings on civil defense at the Preston Town Hall Thursday at 8 p.m. and at Wykoff Community Hall Friday at 1:30 p.m.

Clifton Halsey, University of Minnesota, will conduct the meetings.

President Lyndon Johnson's inauguration festivities Jan. 20 are being compared to the wild celebration that followed Andrew Jackson's oath-taking in 1829. A boisterous crowd of perhaps 20,000 followed the popular hero down Pennsylvania Avenue. At the White House, muddy boots clattered over silk carpets; fists flew; china crashed, and ladies fainted in the crush. Jackson, who had defeated 5,400 British troops at New Orleans, beat an ignominious retreat out a back door.

Youth Gets Extra 3 Days For Contempt

A La Crosse youth sentenced to three days in jail on a disorderly conduct conviction got another three today for contempt of municipal court.

Allen M. Sumner, 21, La Crosse, will spend six days in city jail after his appearance this morning in the city court. He pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct today after throwing a salt shaker through the glass front of a cigarette machine Tuesday at the Steak Shop, 125 Main St.

Sumner explained to Judge John D. McGill that he had been employed as a dishwasher at the restaurant. He said that he was "insulted" by a cook and by the boss. "After all those insults, I didn't feel too good, so I put a salt shaker through his machine," Sumner concluded.

At this point, Judge McGill repeated that Sumner would spend three days in jail. Sumner interrupted, asking if this wasn't a "free country" and didn't he have a "constitutional right" to look for a new job. The judge added three days for contempt, and Sumner was led from the courtroom wondering out loud whether he found himself in a "Communist state."

Mink Raisers At Independence Win Show Prizes

INDEPENDENCE, Wis. (Special)—Two Independence mink raisers won first money in the 22nd International Mink Show at the Milwaukee auditorium over the weekend.

George T. Smieja & Sons Fur Farm won first and tenth in a class of 75 Royal Pastels, the largest entry list in the show.

THE SMIEJAS also placed first in a class of 28 Lavender mink. They also received third, sixth and ninth in this exhibit.

The George Gamroth ranch placed first, third, fourth, fifth and seventh in the Royal Sapphire class. Gamroth also took first in this class in 1961.

The Smiejias show 30 mink, Gamroth seven among the 900 animals competing. In a class of 67 Violet Mink they placed tenth, and among 28 Royal Sapphires, sixth, eighth, ninth and tenth. The depth of fur and texture are judged.

The Smiejias began raising foxes in 1929. They switched to mink in 1946. The 32-acre farm east of Independence has about 8,000 mink at the peak of the season. About 1,500 breeders are kept. Mr. Smieja and sons

James and Bronie Matthey take care of the animals, with additional help during the pelting season.

GAMROTH has a 17-acre farm. He began raising mink in 1947 with four breed females. Now he owns 500 breeder females in four types: Pastel, Sapphire, Pearl and Violet. The ranch is a family operation, although help is hired during the pelting season.

Fifty ranchers from the U.S., Canada and Scotland entered the show. Smieja said a mink coat takes 60 to 65 pelts and a stole, 12 to 14.

12,505 Eligible For Primary Here Feb. 1

The city recorder's office announced today there are 12,505 registrants eligible to vote in the upcoming city primary Feb. 1.

Registration closed Monday for the February election.

There are 1,255 more eligibles for this year's primary than were registered for the 1963 primary. At that time, 11,250 voters had registered. In 1961, 11,653 registrants had signed up.

Based on an estimated 14,000 voting-age adults in the city, the present registration represents about 89 percent of all possible voters. In the last city primary election, 41 percent of all registered voters cast ballots. In the 1963 city general election, 62 percent of the registrants voted to the polls.

Figures for this year's primary and that of two years ago are as follows:

Possible Warming Predicted by Friday

Winona's temperature dropped to -15 this morning as a cold wave moved across the Upper Midwest, sending the thermometer down to -38 at Williston, N.D., for the nation's low.

A strange fluctuation in the weather pattern gave the La Crosse Airport a record low for this date, 28 below at 7:15 a.m. It surpassed the previous Jan. 13 low of -25 in 1916.

Weather observers there said the dip was only momentarily and registered only on their delicate instruments. Elsewhere around La Crosse the low was -22.

THE WINONA reading was the coldest since Feb. 21, 1963, when the minimum for the day was -16. Last winter's low was -12 on Dec. 16. The Winona airport low today was -16.

Mostly fair through Thursday is the forecast for Southeastern Minnesota and Western Wisconsin with a predicted low tonight of 8 to 18 below and a high Thursday of 8 to 10 above.

Westerly winds are slated to diminish tonight. Moderating temperatures with a chance of light scattered snow is the outlook for Friday.

Two inches of fresh snow fell Tuesday, providing the prelude for the sudden drop in temperatures overnight. High Tuesday afternoon was 9. At noon today the official reading was -7.

GOOD NEWS, however, appeared in the extended forecast for Winona and vicinity where near normal temperatures are predicted for this area for the next five days. Daytime averages of 19-25 are expected near weekend and nighttime lows of 1 below to 7 above. Temperatures are expected to moderate gradually, the weatherman said, although briefly a little colder about Saturday and early next week is expected.

Precipitation for the five days is expected to average .10 of an inch (melled) in snow late this week and possibly rarely next week.

MOTORISTS were out early battling the car-starting problem although more were keeping their cars in garages and where none was available were connecting them with electric warming plugs.

City sanding crews were out making street intersections safer and plowing crews were busy last night.

Highways in the area were slippery in some spots but in general fair winter driving conditions prevailed, the highway departments of Minnesota and Wisconsin reported.

A year ago today Winona had a high of 18 and a low of -5. Three inches of snow lay on the ground at that time. All-time high for Jan. 13 was 50 in 1894 and the low for the day -25 in 1912 and 1916. Mean for the past 24 hours was -3, contrasting with a normal figure of 16 above at this time of the year.

Bitter cold gripped many Minnesota points this morning with a low of -23 at Bemidji, -22 at Alexandria, International Falls, Minneapolis and Rochester.

St. Cloud and Duluth registered lows of -19.

Some light snow spread across Wisconsin Tuesday, with the west central section receiving the most. La Crosse recorded one inch of new snow.

Temperatures Tuesday ranged from 29 at Racine to zero at Park Falls and Superior.

HOMESTEAD and Pompano Beach, Fla., set the high of 79 Tuesday.

He Goes to Belly Dancing School

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I've done about everything in New York — so I went to belly dancing school.

"Serena" was the name of my truly beautiful sultry-looking, Turkish-type teacher. She had a wicked wagger in her leotard. She and Broadway agent Joe Williams were surprised that LBJ's Inaugural Gala isn't having a bit of belly dancing because, they said, bellies are sweeping the country like guitar-plucking.

"I'm getting calls from Columbus, Detroit, Chicago, New Jersey, Los Angeles, Washington, Miami Beach, all over... for belly dancers to go on the road," Joe Williams said.

I had climbed the steps at "The Stairway to Stardom," W. 83d St., next door to the Cat and Dog Hospital.

That lovely enchantress "Serena," with those torrid Middle-Eastern eyes, slid down on the couch beside me, to explain that the course runs 10 lessons.

"She is the true Arabic type," I thought, "with just narrow slits for eyes. Probably from Cairo or Beirut."

"SERENA" tossed her thighs provocatively. "For graduation," she said, "we give the students a jewel for their navel."

"Mystery clubs" — social groups which let one couple select an entertainment program in secret — have been coming up to class, she said.

"I teach the women a belly dance... then the men a dance... then I get both men and women on the floor... and teach them a little dance called 'The Belly,'" said "Serena."

I was completely carried away by Serena's Oriental charm. The powder room at the school read "Harem" for girls, and "Sultan" for boys.

"LOVELY Serena," I said at last, "you of the sultry Turkish eyes and quiver, please tell me your real name."

"Confidentially?" she whispered. "But of course," I breathed back.

"Wilson," she said, "from where you used to live... up on West End Avenue."

I shouldn't tell you this secret stuff but: A B'way stage star and his lovely young leading lady had a blowup, and now those public embraces aren't the real thing... A top agent can't marry his lovely songstress client — he'd lose four or five other gals in his stable... A man who gave the world some of its greatest beauties doesn't really see beauty any more: He's an alkie.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: There's an optometrist out in Beverly Hills who's become so successful that he's putting in bigger eye charts.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Dave Astor's description of those baby-sitters who charge $1 an hour: "They're kids who punish adults for staying out late."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Merely going to church doesn't

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmie Hatlo

make you a Christian any more than going to a garage makes you an automobile." — Billy Sunday.

EARL'S PEARLS: Burt Lancaster's movie, "Hallelujah Trail," is about 40 wagonloads of whiskey. "Just think," said Burt, "put a red ribbon around them and you have the perfect Christmas gift for Dean Martin."

George Cort complains that he can never get his girl to make up her mind. For instance, she still hasn't decided where they'll go New Year's Eve... That's earl, brother.

CARDS DISTRIBUTED

City Mantoux Test Program Beginning

Cards now are being distributed to city school pupils in connection with the annual Mantoux test program conducted under supervision of the public health nursing department.

Testing will begin Tuesday and continue through Feb. 23, covering all public and parochial elementary and high schools.

Parents are being asked by the nursing service to sign and return the authorization cards promptly. Those who refuse to allow their children to have the test are to call the city nursing department to state their reasons.

About 6,800 school children are eligible for the tuberculosis tests, according to estimates by Mrs. Mary Crane, nursing department supervisor. For the past three years the number of pupils tested has averaged 97 percent of eligibles.

Children who show positive reactions should be sent to Room 8, City Hall, for X-rays by the city health department, Mrs. Crane said. Younger children should be accompanied by parents. The X-rays are free to city residents.

Schedule of tests:
Jan. 19 — St. Casimir's, Phelps.
Jan. 25 — Jefferson.
Jan. 26 — Cathedral, Central.
Feb. 1 — St. Stanislaus, St. John's, Washington-Kosciusko.
Feb. 2 — Lincoln, Jefferson (kindergarten in afternoon).
Feb. 8 — Madison.
Feb. 9 — Cotter High School.
Feb. 15 — Afternoon, kindergartens at Washington-Kosciusko, St. Stanislaus, Central, Phelps and Madison.

Feb. 16 — St. Mary's.
Feb. 23 — Winona Senior High School.

Still to be determined are dates for St. Martin's and St. Matthew's schools and for morning kindergartens at Lincoln School.

Pension Plan Considered for Badger Teachers

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The Wisconsin Retirement Research Council voted 10-2 Tuesday to introduce a pension plan in the Wisconsin Legislature under which teachers and other employees of the state, counties, cities, towns and villages could retire at half pay or more.

The plan would cost the state and local government units about $10,693,000 a year. The state would pay about $7,486,000 and local governments about $3,207,000. More than 38,000 teachers and employees of other state and local governmental units would be affected.

Contributions to the pension funds by the teachers and other employees also would be increased.

The council said that the increased contributions would permit formula benefits which would give retired employees 50 to 60 percent of the average salaries in their five highest salary years.

Government employee pensions in Wisconsin are below the level of pensions in other states, the council said. The council is composed of legislators, and representatives of governments, and employees.

Small Audience Hears Quartet at St. Mary's

By GEORGE MCCORMICK
Daily News Staff Writer

The Flor Quartet brought a thoroughly professional sound and technique to the varied program it presented in the St. Mary's College auditorium Tuesday night.

The only regrettable part of the concert was that it was played before a woefully small audience that could not more than half-fill the small room.

THE PROGRAM ranged from a Christian Bach quartet for violin, viola, cello and piano for which three-fourths of the string quartet were joined by pianist Gertrude Flor — to the expressionistic starkness of a Webern quartet.

After thus setting the limits, however, the group settled into romanticism for a Borodin quartet and a Dvorak quintet, joined, in the latter, by Mrs. Flor once again.

The Bach was pleasant, although there were some uneasy moments, especially in the first movement, before the group decided upon a tempo. The audience, too, it seemed, needed a while to get its bearings, for it applauded between the two movements.

The Webern followed, coupled with "Quartet, Jig Tune," by the contemporary American Herbert Hantel. The latter composition had some interesting harmonies, but its rhythms were so much in the American idiom that no one was startled by the performance.

THE WEBERN was quite another thing, however. It is a percussive composition that has left traditional tonality far behind, and it ends with an ambiguity peculiarly consistent with the world in which — and for which — it was written.

It is the kind of thing one wants to hear, then think about for an hour or so, then hear again. It is tantalizingly pleasant, however, and was well-played by the Flor group.

Coming after the Webern, the lushly-melodic Borodin provided quite a contrast, full as it is of the I-walked-out-whistling kind of theme. It was vigorously played by the group as a whole, although — and this was true, too, of the Dvorak — one was troubled by intonation difficulties in the upper register when one concentrated on Samuel Flor's first violin. This is more than understandable, however, when one considers what extremely high tones he was required to play.

THE DVORAK, like the Borodin, was done with a polished verve that speaks well of the professionalism and artistry of the musicians. It contained some beautiful solo work by 'cellist Paul Thomas and, especially, violinist Charles Finte.

John Sambucco's second violin, it should be noted, was delightfully competent all through the program.

The encore was the familiar "Hungarian Dance" by Brahms. Flor's comments before each selection were helpful, although it was rather a shock to hear Christian Bach and Mozart described as romantics.

On an average day there are more than 1,300,000 persons in hospital beds in the United States.

DEAR ABBY:

Time to Give Up on Hunting

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Ten years ago I married what I thought was a sweet, understanding country girl. I was a city boy. Now we have three children. I have always loved to hunt. Before I got married, five buddies and I used to go out of state to hunt deer for a week every year. My buddies are all married now, too, and THEIR wives let them go on these hunting trips, but my wife won't let me go. She says killing deer is inhuman and we are a bunch of savages. She refuses to cook wild game and she absolutely forbids our sons to play with toy guns. What do you suggest?

ABOUT HAD IT

DEAR ABOUT: If you can't persuade your wife that deer hunting is neither inhuman nor savage (and good hunters are familiar with all the arguments), you had better hunt yourself up another hobby. You can't win 'em all, and it would appear that your wife has "about had it" on the hunting issue, too.

DEAR ABBY: The manufacturers of men's clothing saved money when they took away the vest, a very handy garment. Then they raised the price of men's suits. How come?

DON'T GET IT

DEAR DON'T: Where have you been? The vests are coming back. But don't wish for the "good old prices" on men's clothing unless you want the "good old wages" that went with them.

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: How often I have heard that my husband and I are the happiest couple in town! Yet, after 27 years of marriage, two fine well-educated children, plus three grandchildren, I found out that my husband has been unfaithful to me with a woman who works for him. Before making any accusations, I hired a lawyer and a private detective to get the facts. The evidence they brought me (photographs and tape recordings) was a blow I shall never get over. My soul is dead. I have repeatedly asked my husband to confess his guilt, but he responds with more lies. (He doesn't know I have the evidence.) It has been six months and I am still waiting for him to tell me the truth. The hurt and humiliation is more than I can bear. How much longer shall I give him? Please answer before I do something foolish to him or to myself.

DON'T USE NAMES

DEAR DON'T: Quit punishing yourself and confront your husband with the evidence.

DEAR ABBY: About 15 years ago I was given a recipe for old-fashioned Swedish meatballs. I have used it often, improving upon it by changing the proportions a little here and there, and adding some special spices to suit my taste. Every time I serve my Swedish meatballs someone asks for the recipe. I have been giving out the original recipe, just as it was given to me. Is this dishonest?

GOOD COOK

DEAR COOK: Yes. Your friends wanted the recipe for the meatballs you served THEM. Since you were unwilling to share it, you should have said so.

Navy Trying To Make Subs Safer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy says it has acted on 20 safety recommendations aimed at protecting the lives of its men who cruise the ocean depths in submarines.

The Navy recommendations stemmed from an inquiry into the loss of the atomic submarine Thresher, which carried 129 men to their deaths in the spring of 1963.

In a statement released Monday, Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze also declared:

"No expense of (sic) effort has been or will be spared in the correction of any areas of operating procedures, materials or ship construction that are deficient."

The Thresher was lost shortly after undergoing a final overhaul at the Portsmouth, N.H., shipyard.

The Navy statement came after the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee had said "practices, conditions and standards existing at the time were short of those required to insure safe operation of the Thresher."

The 20 recommendations, most of them highly technical, were made by a Navy court of inquiry. They had been kept secret since the investigation ended in June 1963, two months after the Thresher went down.

The congressional committee called for a "drastic change in the present military technical management concepts," and urged that Navy officers be assigned to technical responsibility as long as necessary to do a thorough job without hampering promotion opportunities.

The Navy statement made no comment on this. Several of the 20 recommendations dealt with ways to strengthen the piping systems of submarines.

Who Wants 'The Good Old Days'?

IN 1903 THE FIRST motor vehicle regulation act was passed in Minnesota, requiring that a license must be obtained from a state boiler inspector — for $2 — unless the vehicle was licensed by a municipality. The number assigned had to be painted on the back of the vehicle in figures 4 1/2 inches high.

The history of the automobile and road building goes even further back into Minnesota history, and, vast as the industry is today, it is still a young industry. Roughly 100 years ago the state was still largely traveling on trails. And as ancient as the concept of constructed roads may be, Minnesota did not emerge from the wilderness stage until obtaining statehood in 1858, a scant 106 years ago. Even then it was a faltering, uneven start toward what we recognize as a road system.

Road building at first was entirely a local responsibility. State participation was specifically prohibited in the Constitution. Not until 1920 did Minnesota give full authority to the state for building and maintaining a network of primary roads.

A backward glance in the light of today's sophisticated acceptance of modern highway methods provokes amused wonderment over the quaintness of those rugged times.

WITH THE COMING of the railroads, interest in highways suffered a setback. Road building tumbled and the fledgling efforts faltered. The railroad companies themselves supported the good roads movement in various ways — an example of intelligent self-interest for those times. They even built demonstration roads near passenger and freight stations and sponsored good roads demonstration trains to help "sell" the idea. For several years the railroads hauled road material free!

As public needs and public opinion has changed over the years, Minnesota has moved a long way ahead of those "primitive" times when:

The Highway Patrol Division was created in 1929, when a bill was passed which empowered the commissioner of highways to employ a force of 30 men.

From 1925 to 1939 oil inspection and collection of gasoline taxes were under the direction of the Dairy and Food Commissioner.

In 1900 there were 260 motor vehicles registered in Minnesota, but in 1903 the number had more than tripled to 920. (Minnesota just recently passed the 2,000,000 mark in total registrations for the first time.)

The first highway grade separation was built in 1926-27 at the intersection of what was then highways 50 and 52, now TH 65 (Lyndale Avenue) and Interstate 494.

THE FIRST RECORDED traffic count was taken for one week in October 1912, on the Red Wing-Lake City road and showed an average daily traffic of 37 automobiles and 51 wagons.

Trust Fund For Hazardous Duty?

OFTEN, WHEN a policeman or fireman is severely wounded or killed in line of duty, a fund for expenses or care of his family is established. Usually the response is generous — in some cases more so than in others, depending on the circumstances.

No one can find fault with such expressions of gratitude to those who risk their lives in the public service. The impulse that prompts them warrants praise. The beneficiaries are deserving. We refer to the recent fatal shooting of a state highway patrolman in Minneapolis. We could have had a similar tragedy here during the recent attempted burglary at Winona Senior High School when a city policeman was wounded.

Something is wrong here, all the same. Those injured in the course of their dangerous work, and their dependents if they die, should not have to depend on the public whim. It might be kinder, and it would be more certain, if there were trust funds to meet such emergencies. This would be desirable if only because it would relieve firemen and policemen of some anxiety about the future should they be the next victims of bullets or falling timbers or a crash in pursuit of criminals.

THE PUBLIC response is usually generous, as was noted above, but generosity is relative. Sometimes the total subscribed is enough — though that, again, is a relative thing — and sometimes it is not. On occasion, as when a patrolman was fatally shot on the day of the Kennedy assassination, an enormous sum pours in. This wide variation argues the case for a trust fund that could be expended as need dictates. That should be basic, and there would still be a place for individual generosity.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

In the Players' Club, the death mask of Richard Sheridan invariably intrigues visiting celebrities. A hard-to-impress author once grumbled to a member, "Humph! He looks mighty dour for a celebrated humorist!" The member patiently pointed out, "You must remember he was not at his best when this mask was made."

And the angel said to them, "Be not afraid; for behold, I bring you good news of a great joy which will come to all the people." Luke 2:10.

TODAY IN NATIONAL AFFAIRS

See Solution to School Worship

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — At last there has emerged a possible solution of the controversy that has recently arisen as to whether the worship of God and the reciting of prayers shall be continued in the public schools. For the government itself apparently has found a way to overcome the handicap imposed by those decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States which were widely construed as forbidding any governmental connection with instruction on religious subjects in the public schools.

The system that could be used in the schools now is being employed by the "Voice of America" — a U.S. government agency — in 15-minute religious programs broadcast five times each Sunday to the people of Europe, the Middle East, the Far East, West Africa, East Africa, Latin America and Southeast Asia. All this is paid for by U.S. Treasury funds derived from federal taxes, and there is no reason why the government cannot similarly finance such programs for listeners in the schools of the United States.

THE "VOICE of America" programs are carefully balanced between the various denominations and faiths. They consist of choral or concert music, interviews, panel discussions and lectures or sermons. Phonograph records or tape recordings of these programs could be readily made and supplied to all public as well as private schools to be played in certain rooms over loudspeakers during a free period each day or at least once a week. Those students who didn't care to listen would not have to do so.

It could hardly be argued persuasively that this would be a violation of the first amendment to the Constitution. Since the "Voice of America" is already spending government funds to disseminate religious doctrines all over the world. If the government itself can select programs on religious subjects and pay for broadcasting them overseas, the individual educational institutions of this country would be well within their rights in asking for a similar service from their government. Surely what is broadcast to people outside the United States should also be available to children inside America.

HERE IS A brief description of programs broadcast in the past several weeks by the "Voice of America" — an agency of the United States government operating under appropriations made by Congress:

Nov. 30, 1964 — Program dealing with the Jewish religious festival of Hanukkah and participated in by a rabbi representing the Union of American Hebrew Congregations.

Dec. 6, 1964 — A discussion of the English-language liturgy approved by the Ecumenical Council for use in Roman Catholic churches.

Dec. 13, 1964 — A Lutheran church discussion of the "life involvement" program of children's education.

Dec. 20, 1964 — A Christmas presentation, with a panel discussion of the "Meaning of Christmas" by three Protestant clergymen, one each from the Methodist, Church of Christ, and Presbyterian denominations.

Dec. 27, 1964 — Singing by a choral group from the University of Chicago, with a commentator explaining the music, followed by a sermon on the teachings of Christ.

Jan. 3, 1965 — An interview with the chairman of the board of trustees of the Newman Day School, Oklahoma City, Okla., which is a private inter-religious school.

Jan. 10, 1965 — A program of contemporary sacred music which will be used in the English-language liturgy of the Roman Catholic church.

'YOU AND YOUR BIG MOUTH!'

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

New Commerce Secretary Puts Merck Stock in Trust

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Before John T. Connor, the new secretary of commerce, arranged to put his Merck Drug Company stock in a trust, he called at the White House to outline the plan to the President, then conferred with LBJ's economic experts.

Connor outlined three main steps he planned to take:

First, he said he planned to resign every connection he had, not only business, but as a trustee of colleges and universities.

"Why are you doing that?" Connor was asked. "Don't colleges get research contracts from the federal government?" he replied.

"Not from you."

"But they do from some of my colleagues," he said, and stuck by his decision.

Second, he has a clear understanding with the Morgan Guaranty Co. his trustee, that they will sell his Merck stock. It will not be sold immediately, since this would break the market, also he would lose about half a million dollars in capital gains taxes. But the stock will be sold.

Third, Connor under no circumstances will know what his money is invested in. He will get a check from Morgan Guaranty Co. once a year, but they will not report to him on any of his investments.

THE PRESIDENT'S economists, plus members of the Senate Commerce Committee concluded that Connor had gone far enough, in fact, much further than certain other cabinet members in avoiding all possible conflict of interest.

In contrast, Ike's secretary of the treasury, George M. Humphrey, refused to sell his stock even though it was directly affected by the taxes the Treasury imposed. He argued that the law did not forbid him to own stock and cited his own law firm as authority. Two members of that firm were later made assistant secretaries of the treasury and counsel of internal revenue. Humphrey owned 67,555 shares in the M. A. Hanna Co., a holding company which benefited from tax and other Treasury policies, and which made a profit for Humphrey of $202,665 in 1956 alone.

Humphrey also owned 20,000 shares in Pittsburgh Consolidation. Its stock in 1953 when Humphrey became secretary of the Treasury was valued at $126,160,704. When Humphrey got out in 1957, its value was $368,306,250. In other words, it had increased in value $242,145,546 during the period Humphrey was head of the Treasury.

A FACTOR which probably contributed to its increased value was an event which followed a $300,000,000 loan from the Export-Import Bank, whose decision Humphrey as Treasury head, guided, to Brazil. After this loan was granted Brazilian National Steel, 85 percent owned by the Brazilian government, canceled part of a long standing coal contract with Eastern Fuel and Gas to award a large contract to Pittsburgh Consolidation.

After Humphrey left the Eisenhower cabinet, he became president of National Steel, another affiliate of the M. A. Hanna Co. Its shares had increased in value from $374,754,720 to $484,962,000 during the period Humphrey was in office. He owned 13,200 shares at $50, or $660,000, and kept his stock. He did not even put it in trust during his term in the Treasury.

The one person whom President Johnson most wants at his swearing-in, aside from his immediate family, is Mrs. Chester Lowrey, the teacher who taught him in grade school back in Texas.

WHEN MRS. Lowrey, now living in Rough and Ready, Calif., was reached on the telephone by the White House, she said she certainly wanted to come to see her "foremost pupil" become President in his own right.

However, Mrs. Lowrey is in her seventies and not feeling as spry as in bygone days. She hopes to come, but is not absolutely certain she can make the long trip.

It's been a long time since Alexander Meiklejohn as president of Amherst churned up the "educational world" — so long that some people have forgotten him. The educational world, however, will not forget him — nor will the underdogs whom he championed.

Almost 93 years old, Meiklejohn had the satisfaction of living long enough to see some of the controversial educational ideas he initiated become standard for the educational world.

TALL, STRAIGHT as a ramrod, a bit fragile physically, Meiklejohn at the age of 92 never stopped fighting. He slipped into Washington two months ago all by himself to visit old students and spur them on.

His greatest crusade was complete freedom of expression on the university campus — and elsewhere.

"That's what I ought to have done."

How to Deal With Red China?

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

WASHINGTON — A looming problem over how to deal with Communist China without weakening or embittering the American-Japanese alliance is the skeleton at the feast in the meetings here between President Johnson and Prime Minister Eisaku Sato of Japan.

The thing has not yet come to a sharp issue; but it has ugly possibilities for trouble between Washington and Tokyo. As high Japanese informants put the case, Prime Minister Sato is finding it increasingly difficult to resist popular pressure — including a good deal of pressure from within his own party — for accepting Red China into the United Nations.

Japanese recognition of Red China would, of course, torpedo the long American effort, thus far successful, to keep her out of, and Nationalist China in, the U. N. Moreover, it would set the most civilized power in all Asia — Japan — looking in precisely the opposite direction from its biggest friend, the United States.

On the United States side of the question, popular opinion — and Administration and Congressional opinion, too — is profoundly against any concession whatever to the Red Chinese so long as they remain what they now clearly are: the most poisonous agents for war and aggression, the most noxiously infectious core of trouble for the West, in all the world.

HERE IS a regime that fought us and the United Nations in Korea and a decade and a half later remains unpurged and unrepentant of its crime while it now simultaneously foments Communist assaults upon South Viet Nam and Communist intrigues to destroy free governments in Africa.

Here also is a regime which, in the contest with the Soviet Union for the ultimate headship of world communism, is openly contemptuous of Russian proposals for coexistence with the West and instead openly recommends war with the West.

Here, in short, is a regime which in American eyes embodies a very great part of the whole aggregate of evil and horror that now afflicts the earth. But this estimate, however sound it is in fact, is not the estimate of the Japanese people. Where we see Russia as far the more tolerable, of the two monolithic Communist states, at least in a relative sense, the Japanese see matters exactly in reverse.

THEY PREFER the Chinese to the Russians. It is an incredible choice to us — incredible in logic, considering present Chinese attitudes, but the Japanese choice all the same. Perhaps it is because the Chinese Communists are not bothering the Japanese as they are bothering us. Perhaps it is because Japan and Russia were mortal enemies long ago.

Perhaps it is simply because the Chinese are, after all, Asians, too, with a cultural and language pattern not in every way really alien to the Japanese. At any rate, there it is: The Red Chinese demon in American eyes is not that demon in Japanese eyes, and is not likely to be in any foreseeable state of affairs. This being the bottom reality, Japanese leadership is clearly moving, if moving very cautiously, toward loosening if not actually breaking the solidity of the old American - Japanese front against giving international countenance to what we see as the bandit regime in Peking.

THERE IS little doubt that Prime Minister Sato will hold onto our essential line as long as he can. For the maintenance of good Japanese - American relations is even more vital to Japan than to us. But there is no doubt that he has here a capital domestic political problem and that he is most likely to solve it the way his people want it solved.

This being the predictable end of it all, the indicated

Can't Understand Some Dog Owners

To the Editor:

It has always been of deep concern and a puzzle to me, a dog lover, why some people own a dog and generally ignore him and his needs aside from seeing that he gets some food at times. In below zero weather, it seems utterly cruel to keep a dog outdoors all day long and during the night also.

Even a child is familiar with the saying, "A dog is a man's best friend," and many people who know this to be true treat their dogs as "friends" by the daily care and attention they give them. There are the few, however, who expect their dog to give his devotion to his master but do not show it any regard for his comfort and well being.

Short-haired dogs cannot stand this cold any better than a person can, wearing his spring coat when he or she is outdoors. Even if a long-haired dog may not be quite as sensitive, this penetrating cold gets to him eventually in the same manner that it does to people who wear winter clothes. Keep this in mind, no matter if someone said that dogs can take it. They can also be utterly miserable outdoors any length of time. Neither can the owner console himself that his dog has a dog house of sorts.

If the meaning of Christmas means compassion for other human beings, it also includes compassion for animals who are in our care. Give your dog warmth of your home and heart.

Mrs. M. V. Curtis

present course for this country would seem to be to give Sato all possible help to enable him at least to hold on as long as he can. He is in the moderate's classically painful position — squarely in the middle. And while this position is far from satisfactory to us, it is infinitely preferable to a situation in which Sato had been pushed all the way to the left by unsympathetic American treatment.

The priests, numbering about 150, had threatened to resign if their pay was not increased.

SE Guernsey Breeders Honor 2 Area Families

EYOTA, Minn. — A Stockton dairy farmer was re-elected president of the Southeast Guernsey Breeders Association at the association's annual meeting here Monday.

He is Earl Wachholz. Other officers re-elected at the meeting at St. Paul's United Church of Christ here included Russell Heins, Eyota, vice president, and Odean Goss, Lewiston, secretary-treasurer.

Olaf Kjöme, Spring Grove, was re-elected to the board of directors and Gordon Paulson was elected to succeed Loren Graskany, Fountain. Both are for three-year terms.

PLAQUES were presented to Olaf J. Kjöme & Sons for exhibiting the three best females at the 1964 parish show and to the Elmer and Russell Wirt families for the highest producing Guernsey herd in the parish. A special tray also was presented to Wirts for their contributions to the promotion of Guernsey cattle in the dairy industry.

Guest speaker Clifford Markuson, manager of the Minnesota Dairy Industries Committee, told the 50 persons that dairymen must face the facts, be realistic and sell their products in a way which will meet threats made by competitive products.

Markuson said the task of advertising dairy products will fall on the shoulders of the producers in the future.

"THE DAIRY industry has an advantage over competitors because every man, woman and child in the country is a potential user," he said.

"It's time producers wake up because for every dollar spent to publicize butter, $18 to $20 is used to publicize margarine.

"Advertising alone is not the answer," he said. "There has been a great progress towards producing a better dairy product during the past 25 years.

The American Dairy Association is working to produce a better climate between producer and consumer. The industry is looking for better and more attractive methods of packaging to make the product a better buy for the housewives.

"DESPITE the recent furor over cholesterol it seems unlikely a product used as a health food for more than 6,000 years can be overly harmful," Markuson said.

"There are many imitation products—imitation on milk and imitation ice cream—which are being test-marketed throughout the country now," he said. "None of these products have been closer to a cow than on

A resolution for joint financing of lights with the highway department is to be introduced shortly, with bids to be opened Feb. 9. The city will pay three-fourths of the expense; the department will pay one-fourth.

Panamanians Demonstrate Against U.S.

PANAMA (AP) — An estimated 1,200 Panamanians demonstrated against the United States Tuesday night and burned an American flag, the third in two days. Panamanian soldiers again kept them away from the Canal Zone with tear gas and shots fired in the air.

The labor-student rally in downtown Santa Ana Plaza was the last scheduled event in a four-day observance of anti-U.S. rioting last January in which 21 Panamanians and four U.S. soldiers were killed.

There was speculation that student agitation might continue today. Some quarters suspected the students hoped continuing unrest would force the government to close the schools and suspend end-of-term examinations due this month.

During the rally in Santa Ana Plaza, National Assembly member Virgilio Schueverer condemned the United States for "imperialism," praised Prime Minister Fidel Castro and predicted that "rivers of blood" will flow in Panama.

There were frequent chants of "Revolution . . . revolution" as other anti-American, antigovernment and pro-Castro speeches harangued the crowd and the U.S. flag was burned. Three empty coffins were on display.

After the speeches the crowd headed for the Legislative Palace opposite the Canal Zone boundary. About 100 soldiers lined up to block them and let loose a tear-gas barrage.

The demonstrators dispersed into side streets, but the troops followed them in patrol cars and broke up groups that formed with more tear gas.

Tear gas hung over the main business section and the streets were littered with refuse from overturned garbage cans. Store windows protected by steel shutters escaped damage.

On Monday, about 30 students soaked an American flag in gasoline and ignited it in a university corridor. Films of the incident were shown on the Panama television station Tuesday.

During a demonstration earlier Monday high school students burned a homemade paper American flag. Their principal called the action shameful.

National Guardsmen also dispersed about 250 students Tuesday as they tried to march on the U.S. Embassy.

Sites Suggested For Vocational, Technical Schools

ST. PAUL (U)—The State Board of Education today designated Bemidji, Detroit Lakes, Moorhead and Pine City as sites for area vocational - technical schools.

Except in the case of Moorhead, the communities will be required to adopt bond issues to provide suitable initial facilities within six months and to be ready to go into operation by Sept. 1, 1966. Moorhead will be permitted to set its own timetable.

Bemidji, Detroit Lakes and Moorhead were designated by unanimous vote of the board.

Pine City was chosen over Mora by a 4-2 vote. The state department had recommended Mora as the site but Daniel Gearhart of St. Paul, member of the board who visited all proposed sites, said he believed Pine City was in a better location.

Judge Byron Wilson at Moorhead Is Retiring

MOORHEAD, Minn. (AP) — Judge Byron R. Wilson of Moorhead, announced his retirement Tuesday after 30 years on the bench of the 7th Minnesota Judicial District.

The judge, presiding over the current session in Clay County District Court, told the jury that this would be his last term and that this would be his last jury in Clay County.

The judge, who is 74, will officially retire in mid-June. After his term in the Clay County court, he will officiate at sessions in other counties in the district.

Nuclear Rocket Engine Blown Up In Nevada Test

JACKASS FLATS, Nev. (AP) — This nation's nuclear rocket engine program has leaped an important safety hurdle. Scientists blew one up in a deliberate accident with no more damage or radioactivity than they expected.

Still to be learned, however, is what would happen if such an engine fell into the sea in a launching mishap.

Salt water increases the number of fissions or atom-splitting per second in a nuclear-fueled reactor, and thus multiplies the explosive effect.

Tuesday's test resulted in a spectacular explosion. There was a 15-foot-diameter fireball, a great cloud of dust, and a multicolored shower of twinkling, radioactive sparks.

Telephone poles 50 feet away were blown high in the air, and set afire by the 8,000-degree-Fahrenheit heat generated by the blast.

The flatcar on which the 12-foot-high, trashcan-shaped engine rested was crushed as if by a giant foot.

Dr. Keith Boyer, director of the test for the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory, said a first look at radiation monitors indicated humans would have been completely safe 1½ miles away.

Durand Frosh Debaters Win

DURAND, Wis. (Special) — The freshmen debate team of Durand High School came away with high honors in the 21st annual interstate debate tournament at Wisconsin State University, Eau Claire, Saturday.

In class B division the freshmen were undefeated and tied Eau Claire Memorial and Wausau for the title. James Forster and Mary Spindler were affirmative and Kathy Forsland and Nancy Morey negative.

The freshmen team now has won 16 straight debates.

Durand had two teams in the A division. One team composed of Mary Shafer and Jackie Buchholz, affirmative, and Gary Weckin and John Hess, negative, came out 4-2. The negative won all three.

The second unit was composed of Barbara Morey and Ken Smith, affirmative, and Jane Bartholomew and DeLores King, negative. It came out even. Of the fourth unit entered in class B, the affirmative, Georgie Bleserveld and Gary Castleberg, lost all three and the negative, Myrna Bauer and Cheryl Ward, won all three.

John Hess was judged second top speaker in the A division with 54 points, losing to the winner by one point. Cheryl Ward was named third best speaker in the B division with 51 points. Other high scores went to Gary Spindler, 50, and Gary Weckin and Mary Shafer, 49 each.

The teams will participate in the River Falls invitational Saturday.

NASON ON EDUCATION

Why Not Train For Jobs Early?

BY L. J. NASON, ED. D.
University of Southern California

Job-training in public schools is approached with a poor sense of timing. Special programs of job-training for high school dropouts and teen-age unemployed are necessary and valuable—but are three or four years late. Why wait until the boy or girl has demonstrated lack of ability or interest in regular academic work before attempting to interest them in the more immediate concerns of specific job-training?

We have technical institutes for the training of those who either fail to qualify for college or do not choose to go. But students find that transition from the regular high school to the technical institute is difficult at the ages of 17, 18 and 19. They have already passed the optimum time.

At the age of 13, boys and girls are enthusiastic and cooperative. At this age, they will give their best efforts to self-development provided they are given adequate adult leadership.

THIS IS THE age at which pupils enter the trade schools in England. In these schools, the children appear eager and happy, and they turn out surprisingly good work.

In Southern Germany and Austria, most of the 13 and 14-year-olds are attending school mornings and are engaged in apprentice training for no pay in the afternoons.

When we allow uninterested students to dally along unnecessarily with college preparatory courses until they are seniors in high school, change becomes difficult. There is no one pseudo-sophisticated as a high school senior. Perhaps partly due to his natural drive for independence, he resists rather than welcomes direction.

It is a serious mistake to force boys and girls to remain in a situation for which they have no desire during this period of 13 to 17. They should be making strides in self-development preparatory to future life work. During these years, they are fed and clothed, and, too often, furnished with automobiles and spending money.

BY 17 THEY have acquired the habit of living without putting forth any personal drive. No wonder they are bored and give up what they are doing and to put their shoulder to the wheel to prepare themselves to work for the things they are so in the habit of getting without effort.

If at 13 a boy or girl would rather work with his hands or prepare for a specific task than study, that is a fact to be considered.

Worry of FALSE TEETH Slipping or irritating? Don't be embarrassed. Use false teeth slipping, dropping or wobbling. A little PARTITELLIN on your teeth will hold them in place. It's a remarkable sense of added cushioning. No slipping, dropping, irritating. No annoying more, pasty taste. Don't PARTITELLIN at any drug counter.

Top Protection Set for Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lyndon B. Johnson will be the best-protected president in modern history on his inauguration day. That much is agreed by all concerned with the ceremonies of next Wednesday, but the Secret Service security screen is so dense that it has blocked reporters' access to most of the details.

Among the protective measures known or understood to be planned, to prevent any would-be assassin's attempt to duplicate the tragedy in Dallas 14 months ago, are these: — Agents with rifles, as well as Army television scanners, will guard the President as he views the bands, marchers and floats from his reviewing stand in front of the White House.

A contractor was installing other sections of glass Tuesday, but his contract provides that the heavy, 10-foot-long, center section is to be "finished, installed and removed by others" — presumably by trusted government employees working under Secret Service eyes.

Crossing of Heating Tapes Caused Fire

Electrical heating tapes are dangerous unless used according to instructions, George Jensen, city electrical inspector, warned Tuesday.

The warning came in the wake of a fire Monday night at the Barbara Kulas home, 873 E. Wabasha St., which started when a heating tape overheated.

He said Miss Kulas crisscrossed a heating tape used to keep water pipes in her basement from freezing. The tape became overheated at junction points, and a fire started in floor joists of the ground floor. Jensen added warnings against covering the tapes with anything to keep heat in. He said that this, too, could lead to overheating; and rags make good tinder. The electrical inspector added that it is unsafe to splice lengths of tape together.

If the tape is to be used for any length of time, it should have a thermostat. Miss Kulas thought there was a thermostat on her heating tape. There wasn't, Jensen said.

CUSTOMERS SHOULD make certain that they get directions when they buy heating tapes and they should read and follow the directions. None of the heating tapes are approved by the Underwriter's Laboratory, Jensen said.

Manufacturers do not give a guarantee on the devices, he added. It's up to the buyer to eliminate the risks involved in using heating tapes, Jensen concluded.

Knowles Inaugural Address Postponed

The executive office announced the change Tuesday but gave no reason.

Big Cities Need Income Increase

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Mayor of Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth met here Tuesday and agreed they all face a tough problem: how to find more money to operate their city governments.

At a session in the office of Minneapolis Mayor Arthur Naftalin, they agreed to consider a united front on tax legislation they may ask of the current legislature, and they arranged to meet with Gov. Karl Rolveng Thursday to discuss the matter. Meeting with Naftalin were St. Paul Mayor George von Steuben and Duluth Mayor George Johnson.

BILL MERRILLS..

Something to Live by

WHEN you stop to think about it, a new born baby is a bit of clay, and parents are "do-it-yourselfers" whose purpose it is to mould that clay into a beautiful being, physically, mentally, and spiritually. Let me put it this way.

As a youngster, I used to spend hours working on model airplanes. Those were the days we purchased kits with plans and pieces. The framework of the model was all built up of balsam sticks and covered with a special light paper. Just a few times since my adulthood have I ventured into a little model building, but whenever I do, I find it relaxing and challenging. So, once in a while, a family member who enjoys seeing me relaxed, will give me a model to work on. The last was an automobile set. I got it at Christmas, and it was given to me in the name of my four-year-old. She looked at the untouched model kit the other day and indicated to me that I hadn't done anything with her present. And, I wonder if she didn't feel a little let down. I'm sure she would be happy if Dad would take time to begin enjoying her gift.

I've been thinking. A human being is something like that kit. All the parts are a one-package deal. There's appetites or desires, emotions, capacity to think, and most evidenced is a physical exterior that people see first. The big difference between what kind of a person an individual becomes, depends on how that person is moulded — first, by others, and then by self. You see, all of us of normal existence physically and mentally, have our hand in framing our own life, and in most cases, the lives of others, in the form of children. And the question is, what kind of builders or moulders are we?

UNLIKE THE little auto kit on my desk, life won't wait. If we fail to carefully mould it, it develops on its own — not as it should, but as it wants, yielding to its appetites and emotions, and passed off lightly by saying, "Oh, well, he or she is just doing what comes naturally."

The harm is right here. Where one is not moulded by loving care, chances are his appetites and emotions will control his thinking, thus, his body, and doing what comes naturally can mean basically one thing — trouble.

On the other hand, mould one's life — thus his thinking, teaching that one in time to continue to use his or her thinking powers, and the mind will control the appetites and emotions and the body will function accordingly. This is good. Thinking for himself will often cause one to see beyond the physical and consider that part of the package deal, called the soul, and when that is done, the model is well built.

So, you see, the small babe is a package deal filled with emotions, desires, and ambitions. What becomes of this package depends on those of us that touch that life.

High School ROTC Changes Under Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon planners may propose remodeling the high school ROTC program to provide more than 100,000 teen-age youths with training in specialties that could lead to careers as military technicians or in civilian trades.

President Johnson some time ago ordered the Defense Department to study the Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps program and find a way to make it "responsive to the needs of our national defense."

The President acted after Congress required that the Junior ROTC program be expanded from the present 254 schools to 1,200.

Defense officials said that the Junior ROTC, as now set up, fills no military requirements, produces no officers and does not lead directly to enlistments in the Army.

The objective is to give that ROTC program a military purpose, officials said.

The present curriculum, based on three hours of training a week and a three-year course, centers around such subjects as military courtesies and conduct, close-order drill, military organization, weapons and marksmanship, map reading and the like.

However, officials said, this is of little utility and not worth the $5 million a year now spent on the program.

Delivering letters is one of the oldest public services. In 500 B.C., Darius the Great operated a postal system throughout Persia. Post is derived from the Latin positus meaning "placed," because horses were stationed at intervals to relay Roman dispatches.

Ford Selects House Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford, the new House Republican leader, Tuesday tapped Rep. Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen as his personal choice for the job of Republican whip, or second in command.

But Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois, who has served as whip for the past 21 years, stood firm on his decision to make a fight for the job. The election will be by secret ballot Thursday, and members expect the result to be very close.

Frelinghuysen, from New Jersey, would give Eastern representation to the House GOP leadership, which in the past has been heavily Midwestern. He also is a member of the Wednesday Club, a group of 20 House Republican liberals.

Asked if this had anything to do with his choice, Ford said "the decision was made by me without any arrangement with any individual or element of the Republican party."

A gallon of seawater contains about a quarter of a pound of salt. In all, the oceans have about 4,500,000 cubic miles of salt. Major efforts are being made to find large-scale economical means of extracting the salt, so that the seawater can be used for drinking and other human needs.

Burch Decision Is Defeat for Goldwater

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dean Burch's decision to quit as chairman of the Republican National Committee April 1 is a major defeat for former Sen. Barry Goldwater. But it made some other things clear, too.

Goldwaterites will not run the Republican party; Goldwater is definitely not its leader any longer; Republican governors and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon charted the road for Burch's exit.

Many if not most Republicans would have felt Goldwater controlled the party chairman so long as the 37-year-old Burch remained as chairman. He had been the senator's loyal lieutenant for years and had been handpicked by him as party chairman for a four-year term.

After his disastrous defeat by President Johnson last November Goldwater said he didn't consider himself the party leader but nevertheless he put his position of influence in the party on the line by his defense of Burch.

First, he defied the Republicans who wanted to get rid of Burch. "They are not going to throw Burch out," he said. Burch could have been retained or fired by the 132-man National Committee which meets in Chicago Jan. 22-23.

But Goldwater went further, clearly making himself, not Burch, the main issue in the fight over the chairmanship. He said the firing of Burch would be a "repudiation of me."

The cries of "Burch must go" began shortly after the November election. Burch didn't accept this and began to fight to retain his job, at least to the extent of polling committee members to see how much support he had.

His prospects began to dim by early December when Republican governors called for an overhaul of the National Committee and, without mentioning Burch by name, said the National Committee should adopt leadership which clearly represents a broad view of republicanism.

A number of the governors, but not all, said this was aimed at Burch. That was Dec. 5. Four days later Goldwater went to New York to confer with Eisenhower and Nixon.

The three agreed Republican unity could be achieved if opposing factions gave a little ground, meaning if they were willing to compromise a bit on their differences.

Then Nixon talked to newsmen. "We feel," he said, referring to Eisenhower, "and Sen. Goldwater agrees that the national chairman must have road-based support." This is what the governors had said.

Nixon said unanimously was not necessary but a majority of one wasn't enough to prove Burch had broad backing. He said Burch's polls showed he had a backing of a majority on the committee.

Then Nixon said it was up to Goldwater and Burch to develop the broad-based support if they could. Later in December Goldwater wrote the committee members to say he would be glad to recommend Burch's replacement if it would help unify the party and that he had never rejected any compromise.

But he added: "I cannot see that the ouster of Mr. Burch would constitute a compromise." Instead, he said, he felt it would be a surrender by those Republicans who had supported him.

Then Burch wrote all 132 committee members, saying his resignation had been called for on the grounds that he was a "symbol" of Goldwater and the "so-called conservative faction" of the party.

"If this is true," he added, "then my resignation under pressure at this time would clearly be interpreted as a repudiation by the Republican party of all those voters who identified themselves with responsible conservative Republicanism."

But Goldwater and Burch finally, after a nose-count, concluded that while Burch could win a vote of confidence from the committee it would not be big enough to provide a mandate — which is another way of saying the broad-based support mentioned by Eisenhower and Nixon.

Galesville Antique Sale Draws Crowd

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special) — The annual winter antique sale at the Unit Step building three miles south of Galesville drew crowds of more than 300 buyers and dealers at times Saturday and Sunday.

The only one of its kind in the area, it even drew people by plane. Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Webb, Austin, Tex., landed in La Crosse and rented a car from there to look for items for their One O'Clock Shop.

It was 70 degrees when Mr. and Mrs. Francis Taylor started Friday from South Bend, Ind., in their car and 1 below zero when they arrived at Galesville.

Mr. and Mrs. John Reitzel, Sterling, Ill., came by car; they know Henry Bender, formerly of Galesville, who comes to the Trempealeau County Fair here each year to help the Lions Club barbecue chicken.

MR. AND MRS. Joseph Gerard, who stage the auction, collect antiques from estates and individuals. Col. Fred G. Quick, Aurora, Ill., is auctioneer and Jeff Geffers, Montgomery, Ill., helps. Seven comprise the crew. Several boys are hired to park cars, trucks and trailers. A caters serves lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerard entertained some of the buyers from long distances at a buffet supper Friday night.

Buyers were given cards with numbers on them which they held up when bidding. One man said, "I shouldn't have blown my nose with the card in my hand. I now own a copper wash boiler." He wasn't complaining, however, because he had purchased a wrought iron set for his fireplace and can use the boiler for a wood box.

The sale moved along at a good speed. Mrs. Gerard said, "It's always a gamble, and always exciting. Some article I find for 50 cents might bring $100, and some article I find for $100 might go for 50 cents." The dealers are sharp and know how high to bid on the rare and unusual items.

BILL STOETZEL, Ellsworth, bought an old long-stemmed German pipe with two carved heads for the bowl. He wasn't saving it for an antique shop; he started smoking it.

One rare Agatha tumbler sold for $325. Metlach steins and others went as high as $50; a Wedgewood jar, $37.50; seven plates and a fish platter brought $95; a hanging lamp with prisms, $50; a satin glass vase, $30; cester sets went up to $17, and dolls, some with human hair or bisque heads, went for up to $27.50.

A Burmese swirl vase brought $180; a peach glow web vase, $100; "Gone With the Wind" lamps and table lamps brought up to $50; a hitching post with iron horse head, $16; pine cupboard, $55, and cutglass hinged jewel case, $22.50.

Old buffalo robes, books, papers, souvenir spoons, jewelry and much more filled the auction area.

ART CRAM, editor of the Galesville Republican, was pressed into service in helping hold up intricately woven bedspreads, Navajo blankets, rugs and afghans.

A silver wedding cup went at a $10 bargain. It was tricky. The bride's skirt comprised a large cup. At the top of the figure there was a smaller cup. When both were filled with water, the bridegroom was to drink from the large goblet without spilling the bride's small portion.

The Gerards said it was a successful sale.

An exhibit of the Dead Sea Scrolls will be shown at the Smithsonian Institution from Feb. 27 to March 21. Then the scrolls will go on tour to museums in Philadelphia, Berkeley, Omaha and Baltimore.

Ships Using New Satellite Tracking

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy says some of its ships — including Polaris submarines — are using a new all-weather satellite system for automatic and precise determination of their position at sea.

The announcement Tuesday said that the last of three satellites in the system was launched in December. While one satellite is enough, three permit fixes of ships' positions every 90 minutes.

2 American Planes Lost In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two American planes went down near the Cambodian border today. One was shot down, the other crashed when it ran out of fuel, U.S. spokesmen said.

No lives were lost in the plane crashes. Two crewmen of a small Army spotter plane suffered second-degree burns when their craft was shot down. A U.S. Air Force officer suffered minor bruises and scratches when his plane ran out of fuel.

Antigovernment demonstrations in four cities subsided, and the demonstrators in Hue prepared to send a delegation to Saigon to discuss their grievances with Chief of State Phan Khanh Suu.

All was reported quiet in Hue, Da Nang, Quang Tri and Nha Trang, where noisy demonstrations took place Tuesday and Monday. Airline flights from Saigon to Hue and Da Nang, canceled Tuesday because of the demonstrations, resumed today.

A three-day general strike ended in Hue, 400 miles north of Saigon.

In Saigon, conferences continued between U.S. officials and Buddhist leaders who oppose Premier Tran Van Huong's government, but the Buddhists were reported taking as hard an antigovernment line as ever.

Communist China charged that "U.S. imperialism" was behind a South Korean government decision to send 2,000 non-combat troops to South Viet Nam.

Red China called the Korean decision "an exceedingly grave move" and said: "If U.S. imperialism continues to prosecute its aggressive war in South Viet Nam and even internationalizes that war, the Chinese government and people will have to give further consideration to the duties incumbent upon them for the defense of peace in this area."

The Chinese possibly hoped to influence the South Korean National Assembly, which still must approve the troop movement. South Korea already has 116 noncombat personnel in South Viet Nam.

Harold Beth, trustee, and Gerald Koenig, clerk, have returned to the council, having been re-elected last fall. Fred Meitrodt and Herbert Schroeder are holdover trustees and I. C. Gengler is treasurer. Ralph Thimmesh was present as assistant clerk.

MAYOR LEE reapointed Walter Thiele, assessor; Carl C. Kruse, weed inspector, and Peter Koenig and Oscar Peterson, members of the public health committee. Caledonia's new doctor, Lawrence Postoh, also was named to the health committee.

Schroeder was named deputy mayor; the Argus, official newspaper, and the Sprague and Caledonia State banks, official depositories. The Council will have its regular meetings the second Monday night.

Members will attend the meeting of the Southeastern Minnesota League of Municipalities at Spring Grove Jan. 21. On-sale liquor and beer licenses were approved by the VFW Club.

Gengler and Thimmesh were authorized to invest surplus village funds. George J. Albert, fire chief, was authorized to purchase 400 feet of 1½-inch fire hose, with couplings.

Midland Cooperative was given a contract to furnish No. 2 fuel oil in transport lots at 10.2 cents per gallon, less 1 percent discount if paid in 10 days. Mobil was given the fuel oil bid in less than transport lots and Standard Oil, gasoline contracts. Sunray DX and Skelly also bid.

Hector Construction Co., Caledonia, was awarded the rock, pea rock and sand contract. Other bidders were Benson Bros., Houston, and William Zahn Jr., Caledonia.

THE COUNCIL accepted Nelson Lumber Co.'s proposal to install vinyl tile at the sewage disposal plant for $250. The plant is in operation.

Bills totaling $41,497.54 were allowed, including a $14,982.89 payment on bond principal and interest on recent improvements.

Major uses of saltine crackers, in order, are: with soup, with cheese, in recipes, with peanut butter, with jam, with salads.

U Thant Seeks New Asian-African Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant sought today to salvage a foundering Asian-African plan to settle the stalemate over the General Assembly votes of nations which refuse to pay peacekeeping costs.

Thant held an emergency conference Tuesday night with Assembly President Alex Quaison-Sackey of Ghana after the United States announced it had rejected a provision of the Asian-African plan setting aside the U.N. Charter's Article 19. This penalty clause takes away the assembly vote of any member two years behind in its payments.

Informants said Thant and Quaison-Sackey hoped to persuade the 59-nation Asian-African group to make their plan more palatable somehow to the United States and to the Soviet Union in hopes of avoiding a showdown when the assembly returns from New Year's recess Monday.

U.S. sources said Thant was expected to confer with U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson to find out what concession if any the United States would be willing to make on the voting issue.

Thant was also expected to call in Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko to see if there was any easing of the Soviet stand against paying part of their peacekeeping assessment. U.S. sources said Washington has accepted the Asian-African plan's provision for voluntary financial contributions toward the peacekeeping deficit of nearly $86 million. "But we do not agree to a precondition in which you would just put Article 19 aside," said one source. Article 19 would take away the vote of the Soviet Union, France and 16 other nations more than two years in arrears on their total assessments because of their refusal to pay peacekeeping dues. The Soviet Union has indicated it would pay into a voluntary fund without disclosing the amount and provided its payment was not listed as a peacekeeping contribution. It also demanded that Article 19 be suspended and threatened to quit the United Nations if deprived of its assembly vote.

Surfers compare their feeling of exhilaration with mountain climbing — with one big difference. In surfing, the mountains chase you.

What to Wear at LBJ's Inaugural?

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — What to wear to President Johnson's inauguration?

Well, the experts are suggesting: earmuffs, leotards, high boots, black tie and the prettiest long formal gown you can find.

Johnson has set a less formal one for male inaugural fashions, but the swirl of feminine finery will be as splendid as ever.

There wasn't really a moment's hesitation among the fashion pacesetters of Washington, including the First Lady, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson.

The biggest inaugural fashion problem of all is — the weather!

Remembering the freezing snows of 1961, everyone wants to be prepared. But, for what? The Weather Bureau, looking into its record closet, says Jan. 20 temperatures in the capital have ranged as high as 71 in 1951, and as low as 8 degrees in 1940.

All this led the parade co-chairman, Mrs. Orville L. Freeman, to suggest the thousands of marchers, riders and watchers get prepared the way her Minnesota homestaters do for fashionable winter carnivals. "You can be warm, as well as attractive in a parade," she maintains.

Many a drum majorette has looked lovely in flesh-colored leotards with long sleeves and float queens can look as regal and alluring in long velvet, fur-trimmed robes as they do in strapless evening gowns, for example.

Mrs. Freeman, wife of the secretary of agriculture, says the first thing she bought was high boots "and I strongly recommend everyone coming to the inaugural have them." Incidentally, high boots for ladies happen to be very fashionable.

Her next suggestion — and she's following it herself — fur earmuffs, or headbands.

And, for parade watchers, "Nothing could be more appropriate or more comfortable than sk. pants or parkas with hoods."

President Johnson, of course, has announced he'll take his oath of office wearing an oxford gray suit instead of the traditional morning coat and striped pants. He hasn't decided yet whether he'll wear a hat.

More than 3,000 Texans are expected for the inaugural festivities. While undoubtedly adding a dash of homestate cowboy attire themselves, they have hopes that LBJ will get out of his 10-gallon hat sometime, too.

The President's mail reflects both applause and disappointment for his decision to be informal and also to wear black tie which he considers more comfortable than white tie and tails for the inaugural balls.

Though the inaugural ball chairman, Warren Woodward, noted it wouldn't be very chic to upstage the President, it turns out there are some die-hards who have rented white tie anyway, refusing as they put it "to dress down."

The ladies never had any intention of dressing down. And, Perle Mesta, widely known Washington hostess who got the role of "social consultant to the chairman of the inaugural committee," made this what-to-wear pronouncement: "Inaugural ball: Long formal dresses."

The White House has decreed nothing will be released until Jan. 17 concerning Mrs. Johnson's inaugural wardrobe.

This secrecy posed a problem for those who don't want to turn up wearing the same color dress as the First Lady.

Fortunately, the word has leaked out in the fashion world that Mrs. Johnson's ball gown, being designed by John Moore of New York, will be yellow, for the famous rose of her Texas home state.

Now, as far as can be ascertained, Cabinet wives, inaugural officials and those likely to be in presidential proximity, are shunning yellow.

Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey, silver-haired wife of the vice president-elect, is tied to the White House protocol-girls and her wardrobe will be announced with the First Lady's.

Though she usually makes her own clothes and is making one for the inaugural ceremony, Mrs. Humphrey wasn't taking any chances with the gown for the historic 1965 inaugural balls.

She confided at a recent news conference that it is being designed by Count Sarmi. Aside from being famous in the fashion field, a standout in ball gown design, a real Italian count, now-a U.S. citizen, Mrs.

Humphrey points out "he's a Democrat."

A Cabinet wife braver than Mrs. Humphrey is Jane Wirtz, whose husband is secretary of labor. Asked about her ball gown designer, she reminded: "I make my own clothes."

Even while campaigning, she admits she was thinking about what she'd make. It's a rosy red brocade ball gown "long and simple."

Most of the VIP women have not yet come to grips with their special clothes for the rest of the three-day 1965 inaugural festivities. And, some weren't eager to put on their best finery for the balls, either, because those events usually are so crowded — expected attendance is about 20,000 — that there's little room to dance.

Sentiment was well as style enter in decisions on what to wear and the fashion range covers everything from homemade to designer original.

Mrs. Hale Boggs, wife of assistant Democratic House leader and inaugural ball cochairman, held out for a dress from her home town of New Orleans, La. And, it's a bad time of year to order a dress because that famous Louisiana city is in the throes of preparations for Mardi Gras when ball gowns are in big demand.

Whitehall, Alma Center Triumph

Whitehall and Alma Center, both members of the Dairyland Conference, pulled out squeaker victories in non-conference battles Tuesday.

Whitehall had the toughest time, scoring a narrow 67-66 win over Mondovi of the Mississippi Valley, while Alma Center nipped Taylor 80-73.

In other games, Cadott nipped Fairchild 54-53, and Arkansaw tipped Lima Sacred Heart 55-53 in a pair of overtimes.

WHITEHALL 67 MONDOVI 66

A strong first half enabled Whitehall to eek out a 67-66 win over Mondovi.

The Norsemen plowed to a 23-19 first quarter advantage, then match Mondovi's 15 second quarter points for a 38-34 halftime mark. In the third period the Buffaloes outscored Whitehall 18-16 and in the fourth 14-13.

For Whitehall, Roy Aane-rud meshed 15, Keith Johnson 14, Bud Tompsett 12 and Bruce Ausderau 11.

Mondovi's Bob White took game honors with 19. Chuck Sharf added 14, Steve Kent 11 and Dennis Parr ten.

ALMA CENTER 80 TAYLOR 73

Sharp shooting from the field and foul line enabled Alma Center Lincoln to nudge Taylor 80-73.

The Hornets hit 50 percent from the field and 69 percent from the foul line en route to the win. Gary Cummings hit 17, Dave Hayden 16, and Dave Mayer and Dale Cummings 15 each for Alma Center.

Larry Mitchell peppered in 25 and Jerry Chrisinger 24 for Taylor. Maynard Kral added 15.

The Hornets also were victorious in the "B" game 48-38.

ARKANSAW 55 LIMA 53

Bill Yingst was elected to take a "last shot" for Arkansaw in the final ten seconds of a second overtime at Lima High School Tuesday night. He made a short jumper from the key for a 55-53 Traveler win.

The game was shoved into overtime status because of a 47-47 regulation game tie. Each team scored four points in the first overtime period, making it 51-51 and requiring the second three-minute session.

For the Travelers, Yingst was high with 19. Bill Luther had 15 and Randy Hoffman ten.

Lima's Al Weiss had 16 and Bill Brunner 12.

to have signed for $35,000, the same as he received from the Dodgers. Chance, who came from Cleveland in a trade, and who has already signed, said he hurt his left knee playing in the Puerto Rican League and might have to undergo a cartilage operation. (AP Photofax)

Holmen, Trempealeau Score Wins

Undeclared Holmen continued on its winning way Tuesday night as the Coulee Conference member was one of a pair of league entrants to post non-conference wins.

The Vikings rolled to their ninth straight win of the season with a convincing 74-61 win over sometimes - trouble-maker Brookwood.

Trempealeau was the other league school to win, 67-58 over Arcadia, while Melrose dropped an 84-57 decision to Onalaska Luther in non-league play.

HOLMEN 74 BROOKWOOD 61

Coach Dean Uhls' Holmen Vikings roared in front of Brookwood 24-14 in the first quarter then played the visitors on even terms for the second and third periods before assuring a 74-61 win in the final stanza.

Brookwood outscored the Vikings in the second period 17-14, while both teams each dumped in 14 in the third stanza.

Once again it was the capable scoring of Uhls' center and front line that led the Vikings to the win. Eino Hendrickson dumped in 32, Bob Anderson 13 and Dan McHugh 12.

For Brookwood, John Creston had 20, Ron Graewin 16 and Bob Buchholz 12. Holmen also won the "B" game 48-24.

ONALASKA LUTHER 84 MELROSE 57

Melrose lost its seventh game of the year against a pair of wins, an 84-57 drubbing by Onalaska Luther. Luther's Ken Stratman flexed for 16 points, while Rick Schultz and Dennis Lemke had 12.

For Melrose, Randy Seefeldt meshed 13, Jerry Blaken 12 and Tom Soukup ten.

Onalaska also won the junior varsity contest 40-24.

TREMPEALEAU 67 ARCADIA 58

Trempealeau played dead for the first half, then fought back in the second two quarters to pin a 67-58 loss on Arcadia.

The Bears were behind 17-11 at the end of the first quarter and trailed 33-24 at the half. In the third period, Trempealeau outscored the Raiders 25-12 and in the fourth 18-13.

Gary Meunier pumped in 28 points for the Bears, while Wayne Winters had 18 and Tom Johnson 14.

The Raiders' Pat Maloney counted 22 and Bud Benusa 18.

Arcadia salvaged the junior varsity game 40-36.

NCAA THINKS SO

Will Early Grid Signings Stop?

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association, with some support from the major professional football league, has taken a major stride toward preventing the premature signing of college players by the pros.

The NCAA, in its annual convention, took a surprisingly strong stand on its relations with the pros Tuesday and the pros immediately came up with some qualified support.

National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle issued an order to his 14 member teams prohibiting the signing of college players until they have completed their eligibility, including post-season bowl games.

And American Football League Commissioner Joe Foss praised the report by the NCAA's Pro Relations Committee and said he was generally in accord with the proposals.

He said he would take up the matter with the AFL club owners in their meeting in Houston this weekend.

"We'll sit down and go over it word by word and line by line and we'll thrash it out," Foss said.

"I feel confident we can work out something acceptable to the NCAA and all involved."

The NCAA report, made by Louisiana State Athletic Director Jim Corbett, stressed several matters — including the widespread practice of assistant coaches who are on professional payrolls as scouts — in addition to the problem of premature signings.

It was only on the latter point, however, that Rozelle's order touched. His edict read: "No player will be signed to a contract or any form of document of intent, directly or through an agent, until after completion of all his team's football games, including bowl contests."

"This will be further implemented by appropriate language providing for disciplinary measures to be placed in the league constitution at the next annual meeting to be held next month."

On another matter, Corbett candidly admitted "we may have a couple of hundred assistant coaches throughout the country" who receive payments from the pros for filling in scouting reports.

He urged in his report that the NCAA "deal forthrightly with this reprehensible practice without delay."

Badgers Set For Collision With Warriors

MADISON (AP)—The suddenly successful Marquette and Wisconsin basketball teams meet again tonight with the Badgers planning to go with their once "secret lineup" and the Warriors with a chance to break a 26-year jinx.

The second meeting of the teams this season is expected to attract about 10,000 fans to the UW fieldhouse for the 7:30 p.m. tipoff. The game will be broadcast throughout the state.

The Badgers snapped an 11-game Big Ten losing streak over two seasons by defeating Purdue 76-66 Monday night while evening their record for the current campaign at 5 and 5.

The Warriors have a 5-7 record after beating their last two opponents, Loyola of Chicago and Xavier of Cincinnati. They also hold a 62-61 victory over Wisconsin in the consolation game of the December Milwaukee Classic.

Wisconsin's triumph over Purdue was fashioned by what Coach Johnny Erickson called his "psychological secret lineup." It amounted to shifting Ken Gustafson from guard back to forward and inserting Dennis Sweeney at the guard position, while installing Keith Stelter at the other forward position. Center Mark Zubor and guard Jim Bohan round out the lineup.

Erickson prepared the combination as a surprise for Purdue, and part of its success stemmed from more running and more shooting than earlier lineups.

Eau Claire Is Beaten Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Stevens Point snapped a seven-game losing streak by beating Eau Claire 81-76 in a State University Conference basketball game at Stevens Point Tuesday night.

In the only other game involving a Wisconsin college team, Carthage College of Kenosha defeated Elmhurst of Illinois, 84-56 at Kenosha.

It was the first conference victory against five defeats for Stevens Point. Eau Claire remains winless in six league games.

Stevens Point led all the way and held a 39-30 advantage at the intermission. The Pointers had to turn back a late Eau Claire rally, however.

Bill Borchardt of Stevens Point and John Schauf of Eau Claire shared scoring honors with 20 points each.

Vikings to Try And Sign Kramer

ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings have made a negotiation trade with the Baltimore Colts and will attempt today to sign Larry Kramer, 245-pound Nebraska tackle.

Kramer, from Austin, Minn., reportedly told the Colts that he planned to sign with Buffalo of the American Football League or Vancouver of the Canadian Football League if he could not negotiate with the Vikings.

A Viking spokesman said his National Football League Club had "made a contingent trade with Baltimore to gain negotiation rights" to Kramer and if he is signed "the Colts will receive a player and a draft choice."

Kramer was drafted by the Colts on the seventh round in 1963 as a future.

Sophomores Hit As Duke Romps

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There are a lot of new faces in college basketball this season with a fine crop of sophomores.

Bob Verga, a six-footer from Sea Girt, N.J., and Bob Riedy, 6-foot-6 from Allentown, Pa., are two of the best making good in varsity competition at Duke.

They sparked the 10th-ranked Blue Devils to a 106-81 victory over Clemson Tuesday night in one of the top games of a slim national program.

Verga threw in 29 points and Riedy added 19 in addition to effective work on rebounds as the Blue Devils rebounded from their Saturday night defeat by North Carolina to tie for the lead in the Atlantic Coast Conference with Wake Forest.

The game, at Duke Indoor Stadium, was one of two involving teams in The Associated Press top ten. The ninth-ranked San Francisco Dons also won easily on their home court, 86-59 over Portland.

Joe Ellis' three baskets from long range and three steals sparked the Dons to a 15-0 outburst midway of the second half that broke the game wide open against the Pilots.

Cincinnati downed Dayton 76-65, Boston College edged Rhode Island 107-105, Wake Forest crushed Georgia Tech 97-78, Yale beat Brown 87-65 and Arkansas thumped Rice 79-61 in other games.

Cincinnati, playing at home, was down 12 points to Dayton at halftime. Led by Ken Cunningham and Ron Rolfe, the Bearcats rallied to tie at 44-44 and then went on a 16-point spree that sewed things up. Rolfe got 26 points and Cunningham 19.

Wake Forest also chalked up a triumph away from home by defeating Georgia Tech at Atlanta behind Bob Leonard's 23 points and Richard Herring's 20.

Virginia Tech and Connecticut both won on the road in other games. VPI downed William and Mary 87-75 at Williamsburg, Va., and Connecticut whipped New Hampshire 82-62 at Durham, N.H.

Austin + Hill + Moorhead = Tough Time for Hawks, Cotter, State

By ROLLIE WUSSOW
Daily News Sports Writer

Austin, St. Paul Hill and Moorhead State provide formidable opposition for three of the city's cage teams this weekend. St. Mary's is idle because of semester exams.

Austin, the word that has — in past years — made many a foe cringe in fright, is Winona High's opponent Friday night, while Cotter travels to St. Paul Hill Saturday.

Moorhead State comes to town for the only activity for local fans Saturday night. The Dragons face Winona State.

The consensus of the city's three coaches? All rugged.

Winona High's trek to Austin will be no different than other years, assures Hawk coach John Kenney, who may not be able to make the trip with his team due to a death in the family.

"They're a hot shootin' ball club," testifies Kenney. "This Lerud (Wayne) is averaging around 30 a game, and they have a couple of other boys who can pump them in."

Are the Hawks about ready to make a gun-gu bid for victories in each of their remaining games before tournaments?

"We're about ready," says a serious Kenney. "Winning Saturday up there (Eau Claire) was fine, but I think that the Logan game might have been the turning point."

At Cotter, coach John Nett was thinking about his remaining eight games before tournaments, but specifically of the Hill rematch this weekend.

The Ramblers bounced the cocky Twin City club 65-57 here Dec. 19, and Nett feels that Hill will be remembering.

"That's the thing," says Nett. "They'll be remembering that loss. They came down here and didn't figure on losing and we clubbed 'em. It'll be tough."

Cotter moved up a notch in the MCEA cage ratings announced today. The Ramblers hold down the No. 5 spot, while Saturday opponent Hill ranks No. 7. A week ago, Cotter was No. 8.

Moorhead State, Saturday's Winona State NIC foe, ranks 8-1 on the year and will be one of three straight tests for the Warriors, who are 3-8 on the season.

The Dragons will bring in a club that has averaged 46 percent from the floor this year. "They're a good club," says Dr. Robert Campbell, Warrior coach. "They've got pretty much the same group as last year. All they've done is matured."

The Dragons were 11-10 overall last year, and 5-5 in the NIC, same as Winona.

"In order to do the job, we've got to have some more help from our reserves," says Campbell. "Stallings, (Tom) Meisner (Dave) and Anderson (Tim) have been doing all the work. Our reserves except for Kelly (Jack) haven't been coming through and it's killing us."

The Statesmen rested Tuesday, watching films of the Mankato game.

Jap Premier Gets Texas Hat

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson gave his Japanese guest of honor a Texas hat, Sarah Vaughan sang nightclub style in the East Room and Hubert Humphrey got the title — "Surgeon of the Administration."

This happened Tuesday night at a gay White House state dinner, the first of 1965, where the atmosphere had the festive air of the inaugural just a week away.

The President and Mrs. Johnson and the Humphreys danced past midnight, changing partners frequently amid the 150 guests gathered to celebrate the official visit here of Japan's Premier Eisaku Sato.

Joshing between dances, Johnson pronounced Humphrey the surgeon of the administration. Asked what he thought it meant, the vice president-elect grinned and suggested: "When a man coins a new phrase, let him interpret it."

Secretary of State Dean Rusk smilingly volunteered that the talks with the Japanese "have gone very well — good business."

The President busily signed autographs with movie director-producer Alfred Hitchcock, who sketched his famous silhouette.

The guests dined on rock cornish hen in the state dining room, drank champagne, toasts, and the President produced the 10-gallon hat for Sato to the amusement of all.

After that, the light-hearted tone was set.

Mrs. Johnson introduced Miss Vaughan as "a singer's singer."

Miss Vaughan sang seven numbers. She started with "Sakura," a Japanese folk song, and ended with the America folk song, "Sometimes I feel Like a Motherless Child."

Before he left, Vice President-elect Humphrey announced with a grin: "With my new responsibilities I spend half my time dancing."
