Churchill Weaker, Life Slowly Ebbing Away

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill, his life slowly ebbing, was a little weaker today, a medical bulletin said.

The bulletin was issued by Churchill's personal physician and lifelong friend, Lord Moran, after a visit to the 90-year-old statesman this morning.

It said that otherwise there was nothing to report on the old man's condition.

The text of the bulletin:

"Sir Winston had a restless night. He is a little weaker, but otherwise there is nothing to report."

This was the seventh bulletin since Churchill was struck by cerebral thrombosis Friday. All have told of the steady decline of the aged statesman.

Moran, 82, arrived for the morning examination at 11:17. The bulletin was issued 30 minutes later.

The next bulletin will be issued at 8:30 p.m. (2:30 p.m. Winona Time) the physician said.

Lord Moran left the Churchill home immediately after issuing the bulletin. Asked by reporters whether Churchill was taking any nourishment, he said:

"I don't think I'll answer that."

Moran examined Churchill twice Sunday. After the second examination he said: "After a restless start, Sir Winston has had a peaceful day, but he has lost ground."

Churchill's three surviving children stayed late with Lady Churchill now 79, near the bedside, dispersing only in the early hours this morning.

His adored daughter Sarah, 49, said as she left: "He is sleeping peacefully."

Sir Winston's son, Randolph, and grandson, Winston Spencer Churchill, 24, left grave-faced after 1 a.m. without comment.

The younger daughter Mary, wife of former Cabinet minister, Christopher Soames, stayed on with her mother.

Outside the house, on a secluded residential street just south of Hyde Park, a small crowd of newsmen and photographers waited through a turbulent night. Sleet and rain lashed down and high winds sent milk bottles clattering along the sidewalk.

Three lights burned inside the house all night. At dawn the number of onlookers began to grow.

Big headlines in the morning papers reflected the nation's concern.

"Peaceful... but he is losing ground," said The Daily Express. "Winston worse" was the line in The Sun.

LBJ Pledges No Letdown In Defenses

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson told Congress today the United States "is stronger militarily than at any other time in our peacetime history."

Johnson, sending a 4,000 word special message to Congress, disclosed that he expects to submit a budget calling for defense spending of $49 billion, a drop of $300 million from this year's level and $2.3 billion less than last year.

The President unveiled three major new weapons systems he is proposing to begin this year.

One is a new missile system, the Poseidon, to increase the striking power of Polaris submarines.

"The Poseidon missile will have double the payload of the highly successful Polaris A3," he said.

To keep America superior, Johnson told Congress, "the immediate future will see further increases in our missile strength, as well as concentration on further technological improvements and continuing vigorous research and development."

The Polaris A3, with a range of nearly 21,900 miles, carries a nuclear warhead equivalent to the explosive power of about 800,000 tons of TNT.

Johnson said the increased accuracy and flexibility of the Poseidon will permit its use effectively "against a broader range of possible targets and give added insurance of penetration of enemy defenses."

Another disclosure was a series of what Johnson called "remarkable new payloads for strategic missiles."

These, he said, include "penetration aids," decoy devices to assure that missiles hit their targets through any defense; guidance and re-entry vehicle designs to increase many times the effectiveness of U.S. missiles; and new methods of reporting the arrival of missiles on target up to and including the time of explosion.

The third system is a new short-range attack missile — SRAM — that can, if needed, be mounted on B52s or other bombers.

Johnson said this missile — "a vast improvement over existing systems" — would permit a bomber to attack a far larger number of targets and do so from beyond the range of their local defenses.

The President said he will ask more than $300 million to continue a program designed to extend the life and improve the effectiveness of the B52 bomber.

At the same time, he announced elimination of two squadrons of early model B52s, "least effective" of the eight jet intercontinental bombers.

Jailed Youth Rips Out Cell Plumbing

STILLWATER, Minn. (AP) — A 17-year-old youth was jailed for drunkenness here Saturday. Officers said the prisoner ripped out the plumbing in his cell. As a result, the sheriff's office on the floor below was flooded.

Damage was estimated at $1,000.

Weather Is Dubious For Inaugural Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — The capital starts whooping it up for Lyndon B. Johnson officially today, and only a dubious weatherman stands in the way of what could be one of the liveliest inaugurations since Andrew Jackson's.

Three days of partying and assorted rejoicings begin with a reception for distinguished ladies this afternoon followed by tonight's Democratic gala. This is a mammoth variety show, with an all-star cast of singers, dancers and comedians.

President Johnson returned Sunday night from a weekend in Texas, ready to celebrate his sweeping victory over Republican Barry Goldwater.

Not until the five inaugural balls are over sometime Wednesday night is Johnson likely to have another quiet moment. He planned to get in some work today on his inaugural address.

For all the accent on the gaiety, if you needed one word to describe official Washington today that word would have to be: Apprehension.

With snow on the ground, more snow in the forecast for tomorrow and temperatures huddling in the 20s, the climatic possibilities are sobering if not downright frightening. The forecast for Tuesday: fair and cold.

Inauguration after inauguration, it's not so much what they say here, but the conditions under which they shiver and shake.

On the eve of John F. Kennedy's inauguration in 1961 an eight-inch snow, swirling in gusts of up to 32 miles an hour, so tied up traffic you would have thought the capital was barricaded.

Such recent nightmares, coupled with such uncertain forecasts, could hold down the crowds, even though Johnson throughout the campaign extended invitations lavishly.

Sunday night, coming back from Texas, he brought along so many friends on the presidential plane his staff members were displaced and had to ride another aircraft.

Curiously, Andrew Jackson, away back in 1829, seems to have come closest to Johnson in inviting all his friends to come. Some 20,000 did crowd into the White House and creating such suffocating confusion that Jackson eventually had to flee the too-friendly mob.

Well, Johnson hasn't gone that far.

Security precautions, much stronger since Kennedy's assassination, will keep everyone in his place unless he has a ticket. The 20,000 who will be dancing Wednesday night will have paid $25 each for the privilege.

Almost obscured by all the sideshows is the main point: the simple swearing-in ceremony at noon Wednesday, and the inaugural address.

Johnson worked on his speech Sunday, but there is no hint as to what he will stress or how long he will talk. Since the President spoke to the nation over television and radio in his State of the Union speech Jan. 4, and since he has sent a batch of messages to Congress, the guess would be that he will keep this one short.

Cuban Sugar Mill Bombed

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A Cuban exile organization reports hitting Fidel Castro's Cuba where it hurts most — in the sugar industry so vital to the island's economy.

The Insurreccional Revolutionary Recovery Movement — MIRR — said Sunday its commandoes bombed a sugar mill and used incendiary materials to set fire to cane fields on the island's western tip.

A spokesman said, "Our planes dropped incendiary and napalm and high-explosive bombs and more than 5,000 capsules of live phosphorus."

The spokesman said the cane fields hit were in Cuba's western Pinar del Rio Province. The sugar mill bombed was the Niagara mill on the north coast of Pinar del Rio.

Daytona Beach Has Mark of 27, Tallahassee 15

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Biting cold blanketed the entire Atlantic Coast today and pushed far into Florida, where low temperature records were broken.

Subzero readings ranged from Maine to Delaware. Atlantic City, N.J. recorded 3 below and Salisbury, in southeastern Maryland had 6 below.

There was from three to nine inches of snow on the ground in Maryland but no fatalities were noted and schools remained open. Snow covered all North Carolina. There was from one to three inches of new snow in Western Pennsylvania overnight and some roads were slippery.

Record lows for Jan. 18 were set at Daytona Beach, Fla., with 27 and Tallahassee with 15 above. Other Florida readings in the morning included: Ocala, 22; Tampa, 30; Vero Beach, 29; Clewiston, 29; West Palm Beach, 33, and Fort Myers, 33, with light frost.

Snow fell from the eastern Great Lakes and the upper Ohio Valley to the Appalachians. The remainder of the nation was fair and dry, except for considerable valley fog in California, the Pacific Northwest and parts of the Great Basin.

Heavy snow squalls blowing off Lake Erie left one-half to one foot accumulations from North Buffalo, N.Y. to Niagara Falls eastward to Lockport, N.Y. overnight. Brisk winds piled up huge drifts and many schools and business firms remained closed.

Lows this morning included 15 below zero in Newport, Vt., and International Falls, Minn., and 13 below in St. Johnsbury, Vt., and Lebanon, N.H.

The Weather Bureau warned that the Midwest was in the path of a new series of cold outbreaks.

The icy arctic air that gripped the eastern half of the nation added new misery to many sections still recovering from heavy weekend snow storms.

Below freezing weather forced Florida fruit and vegetable growers to turn up their burners in efforts to save threatened crops. The orange crop, however, was expected to escape damage.

Miami set a record low of 39 early this morning, after a record-tying low of 44 Sunday.

Farther north, many secondary roads remained snow-bound and some major highways were snow-packed or icy. Officials announced that schools would be closed in wide areas of Virginia and North Carolina. Up to 18 inches of snow fell over the weekend. About 100 schools were closed in the east Tennessee mountains.

Subzero readings were expected in some parts of Virginia.

Frigid temperatures and some snow flurries were predicted for New England and other sections of the Northeast.

With another mass of cold air moving in from the arctic, little relief was in sight for the eastern half of the nation.

The Weather Bureau said fresh snow will blanket a stretch from Upper Michigan to eastern and northern Indiana, then diminish to flurries late today. However, another snow storm is brewing in northern Alberta and will move into the Midwest Tuesday.

Indiana — hardest hit of the Midwest states — was still suffering from the weekend storm, although major highways were open. The 12-inch snowfall still had secondary roads clogged and most schools in the middle of the state were closed today.

Pink Champagne, Black Caviar

Perle's Blast for Hubert Opens Inaugural Swirl

WASHINGTON (AP) — There was pink champagne (domestic) and smoked tongue and black caviar and so many people the next vice president of the United States was almost backed into the kitchen.

But everyone had a nice word for everyone, and Hubert Humphrey, as always, had a few more at Perle Mesta's blast Sunday night which unofficially inaugurated the social swirl of inaugural week.

"How does it feel to be unemployed?" someone asked the vice president-elect.

"Not unemployed," he grinned. "Unpaid." Humphrey went off the government payroll Dec. 29 when he resigned his Senate seat to advance his successor's seniority. His new paycheck of $43,000 a year doesn't start until he is sworn in Wednesday.

Clearly the top line of the evening came from Rudolph Nureyev, the great ballet dancer, who was asked what he thought of the Great Society. "I don't know," the Russian defector said, struggling to keep his elbows in and his champagne from spilling. "I haven't seen it yet."

Nureyev came with Dame Margot Fonteyn, the ballerina, who was radiant in something black. Like Carol Channing of "Hello Dolly," they will perform tonight at the inaugural gala. Sunday night, Miss Channing wore a big round white hat which was said to be modeled after the Capitol dome.

Mrs. Mesta, who is "social consultant" for this inaugural, gave the party in her 15-room penthouse apartment, which is full of expensive French furniture — the Marie Antoinette desk, someone whispered, is worth $25,000 — and the bathroom fixtures are sculpted out of gold leaf.

The cocktail party had been billed as a get-together for the in-folk and friends of the Lyndon Johnsons. But among the 300 present, the kin were outnumbered by members of government, show people and society reporters.

Thief Returns Car With Baby

LAKE GENEVA, Wis. (AP) — Federal authorities have declined to file a kidnapping charge against a 21-year-old Illinois man who telephoned police he was returning after discovering a child on the back seat of a car he had taken.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation identified the man as Roger Dale Hobson of Rockford, who had driven into Illinois Saturday night before discovering that James McAvoy, 2½, was in the car.

Police Chief Mel Swance said a crying Hobson telephoned from Belvidere, Ill., about 35 miles southwest of here, and said he was driving to the Lake Geneva police station.

"I might spend the rest of my life in jail, but I'm more concerned about the boy," Hobson told the chief. Hobson said he didn't know James was in the car until he awoke and asked "Where's my mommy?"

Hobson was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner John J. Byrnes at Elkhorn Saturday night on a charge of interstate transportation of a stolen car. He was bound over to trial in U. S. District Court at Milwaukee and released on his own recognizance. He did not enter a plea.

James, one of the five children of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McAvoy was unharmed, a physician said after an examination.

McAvoy told police his car was gone when he and his wife returned from a two-minute stop at a downtown drug store. James, dressed in pajamas and wrapped in blankets, had been asleep on the back seat.

Police said McAvoy left the keys in the unlocked car and motor running to keep James warm.

James and the car disappeared about 7:30. Hobson had notified police that he was headed back at about 8:30.

4 Escape Car Sinking Through St. Croix Ice

HUDSON, Wis. (AP) — A man and three youths escaped through the windows Sunday when their auto plunged through the ice on the St. Croix River while they were participating in a church fishing contest.

Recovering were Bert Boeger, 60; his sons Phil, 19, and Craig, 18, a neighbor, William Janisch, 20, all of River Falls.

Craig Foster said they had been driving on the ice and the auto broke through just as they were about to turn around because "it didn't look too good up ahead."

Wabasha Jaycees Cite Three Citizens

WABASHA, Minn. (Special)—Wabasha's outstanding citizen of the year is Daniel F. Foley, 43, attorney and former national commander of the American Legion. The outstanding young farmer is Donald Tentis, 33, Kellogg, and outstanding young man, Donald E. Larson, 30, dairy operator and former Wabasha Jaycee president.

Awards were made at the third annual Jaycees distinguished service awards and senior chamber farmers night banquet at St. Felix school auditorium Saturday night. About 250 Wabasha businessmen and women and their farm guests were present.

MASTER OF ceremonies was John Hollowell, president of the senior chamber, who introduced guests including Maynard Speece, WCCO farm director, who gave the principal address; William Wood, Minneapolis, national director of the Minnesota Jaycees, and Miss Barbara Hasselberg, Miss Minnesota of 1964, who entertained with a Hawaiian dance.

Duane Stroot, president of the Wabasha Jaycees, presented the outstanding citizen and young man awards. Matt Metz, Wabasha County agent, introduced the outstanding young farmer.

Speece entertained the crowd with a number of amusing stories and incidents. He is one of the initiators of the outstanding farmer awards program and stressed the need for a better understanding between "people in town and people in the country."

In citing Foley's record, Stroot said he served Wabasha as city attorney, the district as American Legion commander, and the state and nation in the same capacity. He also mentioned Foley's honorary degree in international law from the University of Mexico, his Lantern award from Massachusetts, and his appointments on the national Legion security council and veterans affairs committee. Because he is in Washington for the inaugural ceremonies, his son, Thomas, 17-year-old St. Felix High School senior, accepted the award in his behalf.

TENTIS operates a 1,000-acre farm in Greenfield Township in partnership with his father. Metz praised the modern methods he uses both in testing the soil of the 300 acres he has in crops and his beef and dairy projects. As a youth he was president of his 4-H club eight years and received the state farmer degree following membership in the Wabasha High School FFA four years.

He has held offices in the Zumbro Valley Farmers Union, is current president of the Wabasha County organization, and a director of the Minnesota Farmers Union. A member of the Wabasha County extension service board, he also is active in the DFL party, church and other organizations.

As local Jaycee president, LARSON organized the first distinguished service awards banquet in Wabasha in 1963. He has been a continuously active member of the Jaycees. He is a member of the city planning board, worker in charity drives, member of the scouting commission from 1956 to 1959, and a scoutmaster. Stroot attributed the national Jaycee community development award to Larson's work.

HARRIS SURVEY

Poll Shows Popularity Of LBJ High

By LOUIS HARRIS

On the eve of his inauguration as President of the United States in his own right, Lyndon B. Johnson receives an even higher measure of approval from the American people than he did during the emotional aftermath of the event that catapulted him into the White House in November, 1963.

Yet the American public is a severe task-master for Presidents, and Mr. Johnson is no exception.

In November, 1963, people were inclined to give him the benefit of every doubt; only 3 percent then had anything critical to say about the new President. Since then, negative comments have increased and are now volunteered by 27 percent of those interviewed.

Mr. Johnson, riding the crest of his smashing victory at the polls, seems to have sensed these potential sharp edges of dissent and moved to eliminate them through his efforts to maintain a national consensus.

The following table compares public opinion about President Johnson during his first week end in the White House with public reaction now:

OVER-ALL REACTION TO L.B.J.

	Jan. 1965	Nov. 1963
Positive	69	63
Negative	27	3
Not sure	4	34

Despite the favorable balance of public opinion that has prevailed for Mr. Johnson since he took over, the number of people who are all praise and no criticism of the President comes to less than a majority.

INDIVIDUAL IMPRESSIONS OF L.B.J.

	Total Nation
All favorable, no negative	43
Mostly favorable, some negative	26
All negative, no positive	27
Not sure	4

A profile of Mr. Johnson as seen by the public illustrates his specific strengths and weaknesses within this broad spectrum of individual impressions. A representative cross-section of the public was asked:

"What are two or three things you most like about the President? Anything else?"
"Is there anything you don't like so much about the President? What is that? Is there anything else?"

(NOTE: Percentages add to more than 100 percent because some people volunteered more than one comment about the President.)

It is immediately apparent that although the positive increases are substantial, many are balanced by a rise in the negatives. For example, while the number who single out the warmth and friendliness of Mr. Johnson has risen 18 percent, this increase is somewhat offset by the 8 percent who feel he is too "corny" in manner. The rise of 17 percentage points for integrity and character have been almost wholly offset by the 16 percent who feel Mr. Johnson is too much a "wheeler-dealer" and is lacking in integrity. His gains on foreign policy are balanced to some degree by criticism in international relations, especially over Viet Nam.

Significant is the fact that Mr. Johnson is judged more on his personality than on his record. This was also true with Presidents Dwight Eisenhower and John Kennedy. The dominant impression Mr. Johnson has made is as a warm man with a native shrewdness and a keen love for and capacity for politics. Contrary to the public's opinion of Gen. Eisenhower, President Johnson is not thought of as above politics, but rather as being in the thick of the political mainstream. As such, the new President is considered to be much more one of the people and closer to the rank and file than either of his last two predecessors. This means that he, much as President Harry Truman, is criticized for his human frailties, is not put on a pedestal and is apt to be judged more on the basis of the time-honored political question: "What have you done for me lately?"

Jury Panel Ready for Trial Opening

Efforts toward an out of court settlement failed this morning in District Court in the suit of Zywicki Investment Co., Inc., against two local heating contractors and an Ohio boiler firm.

Clerk of Court Joseph C. Page announced at 11:30 a.m. that trial would begin at 1:30 p.m. today when jurors were to be picked to hear the case. The 45 members of the petit jury panel assembled at 10 a.m. to hear opening instructions from Judge Arnold Hatfield.

The judge instructed the members in their duties and responsibilities as jurors and in the methods of the court. Jury cases are scheduled to be heard first in the new District Court term.

A new boiler, a destructive fire and five years of litigation have gone into the trial that begins today in District Court.

The boiler was manufactured by National Heating & Cooling Manufacturing Corp., Columbus, Ohio. It was sold by Ross Kranning, 966 Gilmore Ave., and installed by H. J. Kramer, 1060 E. Sanborn St.

And it was the two-story brick building of Zywicki Investment Co. at Center and Howard streets that burned down Nov. 28, 1959, allegedly because of faulty installation of the allegedly defective boiler.

Zywicki started by suing Kramer and National. But Kramer sued National, claiming that any damages awarded to Zywicki should be assessed entirely against the manufacturing firm. Kramer also sued Kranning, who sold him the boiler, charging breach of warranty.

During three years since 1961, which saw National win a dismissal of the Zywicki claim against it in federal District Court, then get brought back in by the Kramer suit, Zywicki arranged an out of court settlement, announced Jan. 11.

The issues which are now to be settled by trial are apparently those of final liability for the fire damage. And the three defendants in the case are fighting it out among themselves.

Empties Used To Buy Gasoline; Theft Possible

Sheriff George Fort was investigating today a report that several youths bought gasoline in Stockton late last week using the credit on empty pop bottles to pay for the purchase.

The sheriff is investigating the incident in connection with the theft of the first of the year of 10 cases of empties from Frank Root's Fremont Store in Lewiston.

Root told the sheriff that the pop bottles were taken from a platform in front of his store during the night. The Stockton store owner who accepted the bottles in payment for gasoline said that a great many more bottles were concealed in the back of the youth's car under a blanket.

2 Sacred Heart Teachers Leaving For Bogota Duty

Two Winona teachers were among two sisters and one lay person who were honored at departure ceremonies Sunday afternoon at Rochester. They depart Jan. 30 for assignments in Bogota, Colombia.

They are Sister Del Rey and Miss Elizabeth Weidenkopf, both leaders at Sacred Heart Cathedral School. The second sister is Sister M. Ruarc McGinty, a teacher at St. Augustine School, Austin.

Both sisters, from the St. Francis Order, are graduates of College of Saint Teresa. Miss Weidenkopf is a graduate of St. Cloud State College.

The Most Rev. Bishop Edward A. Fitzgerald presided at the ceremonies.

The two instructors at Cathedral School will be replaced by Sister Myron and Sister Andrina, both first semester graduates from the College of Saint Teresa.

Hit-Run Crash In 4 Weekend Accidents Here

Winona police reported four accidents Saturday and Sunday, including a hit-run. One minor injury was recorded.

The hit-run collision occurred on the Interstate Bridge Saturday at 8 p.m. James B. Duffy, 18, Winona R. 3, was stopped on the bridge headed south and about to make a left turn onto Latsch Prairie Island when an unidentified car struck the Duffy vehicle in the rear and drove on without stopping.

Duffy reported the incident to police 2 1/2 hours later. Damage to his car was about $75.

A TWO-CAR collision on Pelzer Street, 75 feet south of Wabasha Street, Sunday at 12:50 p.m. left one driver complaining of pain and more than $175 damage to the vehicles.

Ronny MacCronacher, 360 Pelzer St., complained of pain after a collision with a car driven by Robert Gora, 19, 1750 Kraemer Dr. MacCronacher was attempting to make a "U" turn on Pelzer Street when the collision occurred.

Both drivers had been heading south on the street. Damage was more than $150 to the right rear of MacCronacher's car and more than $25 to the front of the Gora vehicle.

Patrolman Roy C. Nelson cited Gora for driving without his driver's license in possession. Gora forfeited $10 bail today in municipal court.

AN ACCIDENT on Junction Street between 5th Street and Broadway caused more than $250 damage to one car Sunday at 1:08 a.m.

James G. Ahrens, 263 McBride St., was driving south on Junction Street when he attempted to pass a car driven by Allen M. Robiecki, 23, 761 W. Mark St.

Police said Ahrens lost control of his vehicle, ran off the street to the east and sheared off four guard posts and a telephone pole. Damage was to the left side and rear of his car. Damage to the posts has not been estimated.

Patrolmen William J. Gordon and Byron Hock investigated.

A TWO-CAR collision at 4th and Hamilton streets Sunday at 3:53 p.m. caused $200 damage to both vehicles.

Richard A. Wild, 18, 1750 Kraemer Dr., was driving south on Hamilton Street and Romelle H. Wineski, 875 E. 5th St., was driving east on 4th Street when the two collided.

The Wild car spun around to face east about 20 feet south of the intersection. Damage was to the right rear of the Wild vehicle and the front of the Wineski car.

Patrolman George M. Liebsch investigated.

Boy Scout Troop Formed at Kellogg

KELLOGG, Minn. (Special)—The first meeting of the newly organized Kellogg Boy Scout troop was held Wednesday night in the municipal auditorium.

Donald Peters is Scoutmaster and Dean Kuklinski, his assistant.

Members of the general committee are Brayton Collier, Lawrence Graner, Alois Freiburg, Odell Arens and Donald Schouweiler.

The troop will meet each Wednesday night in the auditorium. Kellogg American Legion Post 546 is sponsoring the program.

Continuation Given In Charge Stemming From Lake City Death

WABASHA, Minn. (Special)—Gene Turner, 21 Lake City, was brought into Wabasha County District Court this morning on a criminal negligence charge in connection with the death of Alvin Adler, 58, Millville.

Martin J. Healy, Wabasha, his court-appointed attorney, asked for a continuance for more time to study the case. Turner will be arraigned in two or three weeks.

Allegedly Turner forced the Adler car off Highway 61 at the south edge of Lake City, Dec. 17. Adler was killed in the accident.

Judge Donald T. Franke, who was elected 3rd District judge last fall, presided. A trust account was settled and there were adoptions and a quiet title action this morning.

William J. Grede

Milwaukeean To Speak at Chamber Event

A Milwaukee businessman will be the speaker at the Winona Chamber of Commerce annual meeting at 7 p.m. Feb. 3 at the Oaks.

He is William J. Grede, chairman of Grede Foundries, Inc., which he founded in 1920. The firm now operates seven foundries in three states and employs approximately 1,400 persons.

Grede has served as president of the Employers' Association of Milwaukee, the Wisconsin Manufacturers Association and the National Association of Manufacturers. He received a citizenship medal from the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution in 1953, the first time such an award was given a Wisconsin citizen.

He is a former director of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, a member of the board of Carroll College and a past president of the Milwaukee YMCA. He has also been active in regional and national YMCA groups.

New officers and directors of the Winona chamber will be installed at the dinner meeting.

Arcadia Group Collects Funds For Fire Victims

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special)—The Arcadia Businessmen's Association, under the leadership of President Stanley Wiersgalla, is conducting a fund drive for the benefit of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Slaby, whose rented home and contents in Lewis Valley burned early Saturday.

Ronald, wife and 2 1/2-month-old son, who escaped with coats over their night clothes, are staying with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Slaby. The Arcadia fire department, Martin Rebhahn, chief, was called to the blaze.

Some Airliners Set For New Equipment

North Central Airlines flights served by Convair 440 planes soon will be equipped with transponders, a form of electronic navigation and flight control aids.

The transponder responds to signals from a ground radar station, enabling the station to identify, locate and guide an aircraft on its landing pattern.

Restricting the new equipment to Convairs means that flights to Winona will not carry the apparatus. The airline uses DC-3 aircraft here.

Requests have been made by the city for federal funds to increase main runway length from 4,000 to 5,000 feet at Max Conrad Field. If the extension is constructed, the field will accommodate Convairs. North Central plans to convert its entire fleet to Convairs within the next two years.

CLUE NO. 1

Children's Treasure Hunt

Here is the first clue in the 1965 Winona Winter Carnival Children's Scavenger Treasure Hunt conducted by the Winona Activity Group and park-recreation department.

This is the first of six items or requirements. The first five items in the Scavenger Hunt will be published in the Daily News today through Friday and the final clue will be announced at Lake Park Lodge Saturday at 10 a.m.

The contest is for youngsters of Winona and the trade area 12 and younger. Top prize in the treasure hunt is a $25 U.S. Savings Bond.

To be eligible to win, youngsters participating in the Treasure Hunt must have all scavenger hunt items with them Saturday morning. The winner will be the one to find the final items revealed by the clue to be announced that morning.

The first requirement will be to register at the park recreation office, City Hall, in person or by telephone any time this week but before Saturday.

The first thing to get will be a clean empty milk carton or other container. Awards also will be given for an optional event, the best decorated and most novel container. However, contestants are not required to decorate containers. Keep your carton throughout the contest and place the other items inside it. You do not have to put the final item in the carton if you find it.

New Queen To Be Guest In St. Paul

The first public appearance for Miss Snowflake of 1965, Miss Sharon Olson, will be Friday noon at the St. Paul Winter Carnival where she and visiting royalty from nine other cities will attend a luncheon at St. Paul Hotel.

Miss Olson, who received the Miss Snowflake title during coronation ceremonies Saturday evening at Senior High School auditorium, will be in St. Paul five days to participate in the coronation of the Queen of Snows, appear in the parade with her two attendants, Miss Janet Stever, princess of the Gopher Realm and Miss Lynn Clossway, princess of the Badger Realm, and represent Winona at other carnival events.

THE NEW Miss Snowflake was in tears after the coronation Saturday.

"I never thought I had a chance of winning," the 19-year-old, 5 foot 5 queen said.

Dabbing a tear-soaked handkerchief to her eyes, the freshman at Winona State College was still shaking from the excitement of the coronation.

"I still can't believe it," she said. "I'm so happy I'm seeing spots in front of my eyes."

The queen, from Red Wing, Minn., and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Olson, said she would try to be a good queen. "I love people and this will give me an opportunity to serve Winona and meet more people."

A 1963 graduate of Red Wing High School, the queen enrolled at Winona State College in September of 1963 and attended classes one quarter. Then she attended a beautician's school at Rochester and became a licensed beautician. She enrolled at Winona State for the winter quarter in December 1964 and is majoring in mathematics.

She is employed part time at the Daniel O'Brien House of Beauty at the Westgate Shopping Center. She was sponsored by the Westgate merchants.

JANET STEVER, 20, 362 1/2 E. 5th St., daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Otto Stever, was named princess of the Gopher Realm. She is employed by the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. as a service representative.

LYNN CLOSSWAY, 20, daughter of Gordon R. Clossway, 286 Lafayette St., and Mrs. Clossway, a graduate student at the University of Minnesota, was named princess of the Badger Realm. She is a junior at the College of Saint Teresa and is majoring in Spanish and psychology.

Wrapping up the coronation ceremonies Saturday evening, Jack Frost XV, Kermit Berglund, and his two Princes Frost, Robert C. Olson, Prince of the Gopher Realm, and William Wiczorek, Prince of the Badger Realm, were given the names of the new queen and attendants.

Wiczorek walked past several of the queen candidates and then placed the crown on Miss Clossway.

Olson followed with the crown for the second attendant and walked past all the girls before he placed the crown on Miss Stever.

THEN JACK Frost XV took the queen's crown, eyed all the girls, and waited several seconds, before he walked over to Miss Olson and placed the crown on her head.

Masters of ceremonies for the coronation were James Goetz, 557 W. 5th St., and Mrs. Pat Smiley, Minneapolis, hostess for Minnesota Brewers Association.

Several visiting queens were introduced during the evening. Less than 700 attended the coronation ceremonies.

Student Killed at Galesville

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special)—One of two sophomores at Marquette University, Milwaukee, who were en route to visit their girl friends at Winona State College, was killed instantly at 7:15 a.m. Sunday when the car he was driving skidded 705 feet out of control in a snow-covered field about three miles southeast of here.

Luke M. Scinto, 19, who would have gone into the school of dentistry next year, died of a broken neck and skull fracture, according to J. E. Garaghan, Whitehall, Trempealeau County coroner. He was listed as being from Stratford, Conn.

HIS COMPANION, Edward J. Kubacki, Riverton, N.J., received a fracture of the right femur and lacerations of the skull. Taken by ambulance to St. Francis Hospital, he was in good condition there this morning.

Kubacki would not disclose the names of the girls he and Scinto were going to see. He appeared to be unclear about Scinto; at the hospital this morning he asked "Do you know what happened to the other boy?"

At the scene Sunday morning, officers had found him beside Scinto's body in a dazed condition, saying, "Luke is dead."

Kubacki said he was studying political science and pre-law. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Kubacki, were at the hospital with him.

Scinto, believed by officers to have been driving Kubacki's 1962 convertible, was traveling north on Highway 53 and lost control about 300 feet north of Hunter's bridge. Kubacki said he was asleep at the time.

THERE is a town of Galesville running straight north from Hunter's bridge. Concrete Highway 53 begins a long and gradual left curve at the top of the hill which rises from the low bridge over Black River. The two roads form a Y.

Scinto either fell asleep or lost control after he took the straight road by mistake and tried to get back onto the concrete, officers said. He traveled straight into the Y, crossing the road which curves onto the concrete from the straight road, flying over a 6-foot drainage ditch, knocking over a Trempealeau Electric Cooperative utility pole, and coming to rest facing south when it struck two heavy posts from which it knocked a sign.

The vehicle traveled 705 feet from the dry highway before coming to rest, facing south in the rough, snow-covered field. Sheriff Eugene Bijold and Maurice Scow, county traffic officer, said the car skidded sideways.

SCINTO'S BODY was found 30 feet south of where the car stopped. When officers got there, Kubacki was sitting beside his body.

An unidentified passerby saw the wreckage and ran to the Joseph Gerard home to the east, on the town road. He asked them to call an ambulance and doctor. The passing motorist also roused Ernest Komperud, living in a basement home adjacent to Highway 53 on the west, nearly at the top of the hill.

Gerard called the sheriff's office. Mrs. Komperud brought blankets to cover the survivor until officers arrived. Gerard and Komperud helped place Kubacki in the ambulance.

Smith Mortuary, Galesville, said this morning Scinto's body was to go by air this afternoon to Bridgeport, Conn., a mortician there having called to make the arrangements.

CORONER Garaghan called Scinto's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nicola R. Scinto, of 45 Rosedale Terrace, Stratford, and Kubacki's parents Sunday.

Scinto's driver's license indicated he lived at 605 N. 13th St., Milwaukee. He was born Oct. 23, 1945, in Dane County, Wis.

Kubacki's car license was issued at Garden City, N.J.

This was Trempealeau County's first traffic fatality of 1965.

Arcadian Files For Alderman

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special)—One resident of Arcadia filed nomination papers for city office last week with Warren C. Shanley, city clerk.

Eugene Killian, 41, filed for 3rd Ward alderman. Rudolph Klink Sr., whose term expires, hasn't filed yet. Filing deadline is Jan. 26 at 5 p.m.

Killian, born at Independence Sept. 7, 1923, to the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Killian, has been in Arcadia since 1947. He is a graduate of Independence High School and the Wisconsin Institute of Mortuary Science, Milwaukee, which he completed in 1949. He came to Arcadia, to serve his apprenticeship under the late James Webb.

He purchased an undertaking business from Orlando Haines in 1952 and with Martin A. Weimer, Independence, the Webb funeral service and furniture store in 1953. In 1962 he and his brother, John, went into partnership and purchased Weimer's share.

Killian is secretary of the Wisconsin Funeral Directors Association. He is a veteran of World War II and a member of St. Stanislaus Catholic Church. He and his wife, the former Evelyn Hohmann, have two daughters and one son.

Indian Dancers For Inaugural

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—Four New Mexico Indian dancers will appear in the inauguration parade in Washington Wednesday, but without their arrowheads.

The Cochiti tribe dancers were questioned by the Secret Service, which is in charge of presidential security, about the type of arrowheads they would carry and the strength of their bows.

Joe Herrera, sponsor of the dancers, said the arrowheads were steel and volunteered to remove them for the parade.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Frederick W. Ford resigned as a member of the Federal Communications Commission effective Dec. 31. The White House announced Saturday night.

Ford, a Republican, had been on the commission since 1957.

City Receives $120,724 in State Road Aid

A total of $120,724, its share of state-collected road funds, has been granted the city of Winona by the Minnesota Department of Highways in St. Paul.

Winona's share includes $22,845 for maintenance and $97,879 for construction. The money is for the fiscal year 1965, which will end June 30.

By a special resolution, the City Council last year lumped construction and maintenance funds in a construction category for the Mankato Avenue widening project. General contract costs of the project totaled $150,063, making it necessary to use $29,339 of general fund surpluses. This made up the difference between costs and available state aids.

Still not included is the cost of relocating crossing signals for the Milwaukee Railroad tracks. The estimated cost is $17,500 but no bill has been received from the railroad company yet.

Last fiscal year—ending June 30, 1964—the city received aids totaling $119,415. Of this, $96,570 was for construction and $22,845 for maintenance.

City officials estimate state aids for fiscal 1966 will be only slightly higher unless a gasoline tax increase is adopted in the current session of the Legislature.

Gross funds of $11,591,689 were distributed by the department to 77 municipalities with populations of 5,000 or more. In fiscal 1964, the municipalities received $10,967,128.

The largest allotment went to Minneapolis, which received $2,693,645. St. Paul, which was granted $1,949,262, was next.

300 Attend DFL Party

About 300 persons heard Lt. Gov. A. M. "Sandy" Keith describe the Democratic - Farmer-Labor party as the "party of progress" Saturday night at a victory celebration here.

Keith addressed local DFL members at the Athletic Club in the course of a program which included appearances by elected officials and party leaders. He called the DFL the party best suited to handle state affairs because it "has successfully met the challenges in the past."

Also introduced were George Daley, Lewiston, the party's 1st District congressional candidate last year, City Rep. Frank Theis and Sen. Roger Laufenburger, Lewiston. The legislators said some form of real estate tax relief is needed for elderly persons who own homes.

Master of ceremonies was Cy Crawford, rural Winona. Music for dancing was by Emil Guenther's orchestra.

Five Burglaries, Attempts Checked

A total of five attempted and successful break-ins occurred in Winona over the weekend, Assistant Police Chief Marvin A. Meier said today.

In two instances, burglars entered buildings but did not take anything. In the other three cases, they were unsuccessful in trying to gain entrance.

PATROLMAN Joseph F. Bronk reported the latest break-in today at 5:12 a.m. He found the front door of Sam Weisman & Sons, Inc., 450 W. 3rd St., pried open early this morning. Investigation showed that nothing had been taken, although a filing cabinet in the office had been pried open and a safe rolled about five feet away from one wall.

Sunday at 12:35 p.m. Alfred Eddy called police to report a break-in at Technigraph Co., 1012 W. 5th St. Eddy is manager of the company. He told police that he found an outside door open at the plant.

A police investigation turned up no evidence of forced entry or anything missing, although here, too, a filing cabinet was pried open.

Patrolman James L. Hill on routine patrol today at 2:44 a.m. found that a rear door of the Winona Clinic, 420 E. Sarnia St., had been pried at; but it appeared that entrance had not been gained. A door knob had been broken off the rear door, but nothing was disturbed inside the building.

ELMER VOLKMAN, operator of Dutchman's Corner tavern, Wabasha and Laird streets, found a lock on the outside door of his place broken Saturday morning. The door had been pried at but entrance was not gained.

A similar incident at the Mosman Service station, 602 W. 5th St., was discovered by Patrolman William J. Gordon and Edward E. Matthes early Saturday morning. The front door was pried open, but nothing had been taken.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dean Burch says his decision to step aside as Republican national chairman is not a repudiation of former Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Burch said on NBC's radio-television program "Meet the Press" Sunday that the move represented Goldwater's effort to unify the GOP.

When he turns the job over to Ray Bliss, Burch said, he will turn over "some cash, not a whole lot, but no bills."

Injured Strum Man Released

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Herbert Holte, 36, Strum, who received a cut over the left eye when his car hit the rear of a farm truck on Highway 93 north of Independence early Saturday morning, was dismissed from Tri-County Memorial Hospital, Whitehall, Sunday.

William Schlink, 22, Osseo, Minn., and Miss Beverly Rude, 21, Blair, both were still hospitalized here this morning. Their car went out of control Saturday morning at the Everett Hanson home on the west outskirts of Blair, crossed the lawn and hit a tree.

3 Youths Held In Burglary of Mazeppa Tavern

WABASHA, Minn. (Special)—Two juveniles, each 16, and Guinn Minter, 20, Mazeppa, are being held in the Wabasha County jail here in connection with a burglary in their village early Sunday.

Meanwhile, a break-in and theft of some $1,200 in merchandise and cash at Elgin Thursday night still is under investigation.

GERHARDT Gahler, who operates a tavern and bakery, with TV repair shop attached, found about $40 in merchandise and cash missing from his Main Street business Sunday morning.

Seventeen packages of Erik's cigars, three cartons of cigarettes, and $4 or $5 from the till were missing.

Officers said entrance apparently was gained by pulling at the back door until the screws came off. The burglars then broke a window in a rear room used for storage and gained entrance to the tavern section.

Deputy Robert Loechler was called at 9:55 a.m. by Richard Sibley, Mazeppa policeman, who had seen the car in which the juveniles and Minter were driving during the night. Authorities said someone else saw it at 3:30 a.m. on the street.

Loechler traced it by tire tracks and found it on a back street. Some of the missing cigars were in it, he said.

Minter will be arraigned and the juveniles disposed of after consultation with District Attorney John McHardy, Plainview.

SHERIFF J.D. Lager and Loechler are investigating entry into the Milo Peterson drug store at Elgin sometime Thursday night. Watches, jewelry, coffee makers, toasters and a radio taken were valued at $951 by the owners. Burglars also took between $250 and $300 from the cash register.

Loechler said he thought entry was gained by inserting a knife in the back door and moving the lock.

It Happened Last Night Audrey Hepburn Did Too Sing

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Now It Can Be Told That — Audrey Hepburn sang almost half of the wonderful "My Fair Lady" songs . . . She hasn't spoken up about it, not wishing to reduce the acclaim that gifted Marnie Nixon's got for the dubbing. But Audrey's teacher Susan Seton tells me, "Audrey should have credit for being able to sing in the same league with the greatest voices."

Paula Wayne of "Golden Boy" heard some people gossiping maliciously about her in Downey's. Realizing they didn't recognize her, she joined in: "How do you like that broad?" etc. They, and she, condemned Paula Wayne for many minutes until a waiter said, "Telephone, Miss Wayne!"

Joe E. Lewis just turned 63, he thinks . . . Hugh Downs doesn't want this around but he's a secret gourmet. At Ernest Henderson's swank Elizabethan dinner in the Elizabethan Room at the Sheraton Russell, they served a mystery meat. Hugh correctly guessed it was "baby bear" . . . Johnny Carson's just discovered he's got a great singing voice. He may become the Vaughn Monroe of the Sixties . . . Eydie Gorme is NOT expecting. When Dennis James kept saying she is, on that telephone, he was joking . . . Little Joey Heatherton's being groomed to become the new Marilyn Monroe. Joey's a triple-threat: Acts, dances and belts a ballad.

AVA GARDNER said she's going into a hospital for a checkup . . . What's this? Little Patty Duke talking about marriage? . . . Marty Allen & Steve Rossi have an imaginary interview with LBJ in their act at the Las Vegas Sands: "Mr. President, 9 out of 10 doctors don't like Medicare"; LBJ: "But 9 out of 10 Democrats like it." . . . Irving Berlin's getting so royally-rich, at 76, that J. Paul Getty wishes he'd gone into song-writing . . . Billy Eckstine greeted Harry Belafonte, Quincy Jones, and other celebs at the Americana Royal Box, and then, spotting Leslie Uggams, said, "From what I hear you might be my daughter-in-law" (referring to his son Ronnie who's in service) . . . Joi Lansing, the sexy health faddist, plays the trick Faye Emerson used to perform: She lifts guys over her head . . . Dick Adler rushed Ann-Margret into the Sophia Loren spot in the Inaugural Gala mistress - of ceremonies lineup when Sophia definitely pulled out because of filming. Guess a lot of other Hollywood beauties'll think they should have had the honor instead of the Swedish Swedeheart.

All in fun, of course: Jackie Kannon at the Ratfink Room looks at one group and says, "Look at all the booze on the table. Must be retired cops." . . . TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "Elizabeth Taylor had her trials and tribulations in the past," noted Vaughn Meader in Ken-

Fire Destroys
Arkansaw Home

DURAND, Wis. (Special) — Fire destroyed the home of Mrs. Maryann Decker, Arkansaw, Sunday morning. Also lost was her clothing and that of her six children ranging in age from 3 to 11.

The children were watching television when the fire broke out at 7:45 a.m. They called their mother, who was sleeping upstairs. She called Durand firemen, who stayed on the scene 4½ hours.

It is believed the fire was started from electrical wiring. Firemen said the fire marshal from Eau Claire was to investigate today. Mrs. Decker and children went to Ellsworth to stay with her mother, Mrs. Seward Nielson. She is employed at Pyrofax Gas Co., Durand.

Classical League
At Cotter High
In Two Sections

In a step to provide more opportunities for its more than 110 members to take a more active part in programs and activities, the Junior Classical League at Cotter High School has been divided into two sections.

Each unit will meet monthly with a combined meeting of both units scheduled every two months.

The freshmen JCLers, under the leadership of Ilean Meier, assisted by Philip Biesanz and Karen Glubka — have planned a Tuesday meeting featuring songs and games. Chris Graczyk and Victor Morse will provide guitar accompaniment for singing.

Peter Kaehler, Paul Przybylski and Jane Meier head the sophomore group's program committee. At their meeting Tuesday there will be a Latin Hootenanny and a "What's Your Line" panel of occupations related to the field of Latin.

James Heinlein presides at senate meetings held weekly to coordinate the new units.

Wisconsin Car, Train Crashes Take Six Lives

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Six persons died in car-train crashes as Wisconsin recorded 10 highway fatalities during the weekend, pushing the total for the year to 46, only one below the toll on this date last year. Four of the victims were killed Saturday at Stoughton in the collision of a freight train and a car carrying the Whitewater High School wrestling coach and members of his freshman-sophomore team.

Coach Carl Choltz, 25, and three 15-year-old wrestlers, Elmer Batz, William Hammons and Larry Kowalski, were injured fatally. Two other members of the team were injured seriously.

Killed in other car-train crashes Saturday were Mrs. Leona Shimek, 48, of rural Cleveland, and Wallace Tousey, 21, of rural Gresham. Mrs. Shimek died in a collision at Alverno, two miles west of Manitowish, and Tousey in a wreck a mile south of Gresham in Shawano County.

Orrin Salwoke, 42, a Lafayette County farmer, was killed Saturday night when a car struck a concrete bridge on a county highway near the Wisconsin-Illinois state line.

Luke M. Scialo, 19, a Marquette University student from Stratford, Conn., was killed Sunday when his car left Highway 52 south of Galesville in Trempealeau County, snapped off a utility pole, jumped a ditch and stopped against a post in a field.

Mrs. Mary Heinz, 81, of Kaukauna, died Sunday of injuries received Saturday in a two-car collision at the intersection of Outagamie County Trunk JJ and Highway 41 west of Appleton.

Listed previously was the death of Russell Jacobson, 62, of Milwaukee in a two-car crash on a Milwaukee Street.

St. Teresa Gets Library Grant

A grant totaling $2,249 has been received by the College of Saint Teresa from the Association of College and Research Libraries, a division of the American Library Association.

Of the total grant, $1,000 is in cash, and the rest is in the form of a microcard reader and seven publications on microcards.

The college was one of 162 recipients selected from among 547 applicants. It plans to use the $1,000 cash grant to increase library holdings on Russia, particularly on its literature and arts.

Through the college's cooperative program with libraries at Winona State and St. Mary's colleges, students at each institution have access to the collections of all three.

Religious Program In Catholic Grade Schools Discussed

The religious department of Cotter High School met recently with religious teachers of the city's five Catholic grade schools to promote mutual understanding of the religious curricula in the grade schools and high school.

The Rev. James McCauley, principal at Cotter, welcomed the group and spoke on the need for effective religion instruction in a time of spiritual renewal and ecumenism. He emphasized that mutual aid and understanding at all levels is necessary to the effectiveness of the program.

The Rev. Robert Stamschroer, head of the Cotter religion department, presided at the meeting and served as moderator at a discussion of the subject matter of each class in religion at Cotter and a review of the grade school religion syllabus conducted to insure that the Cotter curriculum is geared toward continuity in the 12-year program.

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENTS OUT

New Wisconsin Education Service Nearing Operation

The work of the state Cooperative Educational Service Committee to set up 19 Cooperative Educational Service agencies in Wisconsin to supply and enhance services now furnished by county superintendents of schools has been completed.

Each agency will meet in March to organize its board of control of 11 members from among delegates from the school district in the agency. The administrator from the school with the largest valuation will preside at the convention. A chairman, vice chairman and treasurer will be elected.

SCHOOLS IN this area are in Agencies 5, 6 and 11.

Delegates from the 20 districts in Agency 5 will hold their convention at Spring Valley March 12 at 2 p.m. Delegates from this area at the convention there will be Delmore Zirzow, Alma district; Arthur Drier, Arkansaw; W. W. Weishaple, Durand; and Howard Brenholt, Pepin. School population total in the agency is 20,498.

Cochrane-Fountain City District was placed in Agency 11 but has asked for transfer to Agency 5.

The convention of Agency 6, including four high school and five common school districts in this area, is scheduled for March 11 at 2 p.m. at Cadott.

AMONG the district delegates there will be Paul Rieck, Mondovi; Charles Rongstad, Osseo; Gerald Bergerson, Strum-Eleva; Mrs. Laura Gilman, Gilmanton Union Free High School; Mrs. Phyllis Buchholz and Eldrid Branger, rural Mondovi; and Robert Weiss, rural Alma, representing three common school districts sending their high school students to Gilmanton. The 31 districts in Agency 6 have 34,114 students.

Agency 11 will have its convention March 8 at 2 p.m. at West Salem. Delegates from this newspaper area will be Ralph Rasmussen, Whitehall; Leonard Bender, Trempealeau; Walter Kling, Taylor; Ernest C. Halama, Independence; Donald Haug, Galesville; Donald Skorstad, Blair; Ralph S. Lund, Black River Falls; Ernest Sobotta, Arcadia, and Sylvia Tolkan, Alma Center.

Also in Agency 11 are Melrose and Mindoro, under reorganization. Cochrane-Fountain City will be represented by Mrs. Alma Multhaup, Cochrane, if not moved to Agency 5.

There are 34 schools in Agency 11 and 35,462 students.

Any state resident may appeal until Dec. 31, 1966, to transfer his entire school district to another agency.

ALL PROVISIONS of Chapter 565, providing for creation of the agencies, go into effect July 1. At that time the agency boards of control may apply for the $22,000 state aid which each is to be allowed.

County superintendency will be discontinued at that time and agency coordinators, whom the boards of control have hired, one for each, begin their services. The coordinator becomes secretary of each county school committee and board of control.

County boards elect a third member to county teachers college boards. Provisions permitting county boards to levy taxes for supporting county superintendents are repealed.

In July school boards will appoint delegates to each agency convention to be held on the second Monday in August. It will be Aug. 9 this year.

AT THIS time, the agencies will reorganize for the year, electing their boards of control. A delegate from each district, appointed by the school board in July, will attend.

The chapter provides that the board of control shall have no more than 11 members. Union Free high schools will be limited to one member on the board of control although several common school districts may be operating in their area.

The convention will decide how to divide its area so as to place the limited 11 on the board of control, which will take over at once.

The board will determine the policies of the agency and receive the $22,000 in state aids for operation.

The board of control will approve service contracts with local school districts, county boards of supervisors, and other cooperative educational service agencies. However, no such contracts will extend beyond three years.

THE CONTROL board will determine the participating local unit's prorated share of the cost of cooperative programs and assess these costs against each participating unit, but no board may levy taxes.

No cost shall be assessed against a unit for a cooperative program unless the school district enters into a contract for such service.

The board will appoint an agency coordinator for a term of not more than three years. Coordinators must have qualifications at least equal to the highest level of certification required for local school district administrators. The salary of the coordinator should range between $10,500 and $13,500.

The board of control will meet monthly and at the call of the chairman. They will take care of the necessary expenses of the board and coordinator and for acquisition of equipment, space and personnel.

The coordinator will be responsible for the services, secure participation of individual districts and county boards, and other cooperative educational service agencies with whom they may exchange services.

THE COORDINATOR also will implement the policies of the board of control.

A professional advisory committee, composed of the highest professional school district administrators in each agency, will meet at the request of the board or coordinator to advise them.

Minnesota State Society Honors Hubert at Ball

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Minnesota State Society held a pre-inaugural ball Saturday night in honor of Hubert H. Humphrey, who will be sworn in Wednesday as vice president of the United States.

The formal affair in the grand ball room of the Mayflower Hotel attracted an estimated 1,000 persons as the city got into a festive mood in preparation for the inauguration of President Johnson.

The Minnesota throng included many who came to Washington for the inaugural ceremonies along with hundreds of former Minnesotans who now live in the capital.

One of the highlights at the ball was the crowning by Humphrey of Miss Connie Freeman, daughter of Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Orville L. Freeman, as Minnesota's Cherry Blossom Princess.

The entire Minnesota congressional delegation accepted invitations for the ball with the exception of Rep. Clark MacGregor, who sent word he would be out of the city.

The nonpartisan nature of the event was pointed up with the announcement by former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota that he was bringing down a dozen guests for the ball from Philadelphia, where he now resides.

Carl Rowan, head of the United States Information Agency, was master of ceremonies. The guest list included Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag of Minnesota and Mrs. Rolvaag, U.S. District Judge Luther Youngdahl of Washington, a former governor of the state, and Mayor Arthur Naftalin of Minneapolis.

Variance Asked Of Zoning Board

A variance from both front and back lot setback regulations will be sought by Dr. Cleve Gruler in a hearing before the Board of Zoning Appeals Jan. 28.

The board meeting will be at City Hall and begins at 7:30 p.m.

The proposed building lot is at the apex of a triangle formed by Randall Street and Service Drive. Its east side line is 119 feet, while the west end of the lot is a wedge-point. The address is 1302 Service Drive.

Dr. Gruler has applied for permission to construct a house fronting on Service Drive with a 20-foot setback instead of the prescribed 25 feet. At the rear of the house he wants a 16-foot setback instead of adhering to the 25-foot line established by neighboring houses.

LBJ Working On Message For Inaugural

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson works today on his inaugural address and gets ready for the opening festivities of this oath-taking week.

Johnson and wife, Lady Bird, are going to a Broadway style pre-inaugural gala tonight. But there was no word on which of the many private and semi-public parties and receptions would draw them out of a White House so jammed with relatives and friends that daughter Luci was sleeping on a cot.

The President set aside part of the day to do more work on the address he will deliver in Capitol Plaza Wednesday after taking the inaugural oath. Aides said this chore probably would not be completed until the morning of the ceremony.

Johnson flew back to Washington from his Texas ranch Sunday night, cramming his jet transport with so many inaugural visitors that a second craft had to be used for the overflow.

One of the 27 relatives and friends aboard Air Force One was Mrs. Earle Deathe of Austin, Tex., who was delighted with the capital's snow cover.

"This is the most snow I've ever seen," she said. "I brought some boots and I'm going to put 'em on. I'm going to save my Sunday-go-to-meeting shoes."

Besides inaugural commitments, Johnson's only announced appointment today was for a Cabinet room ceremony to swear in the new secretary of commerce, John T. Connor.

The President worked on his inaugural address at the ranch before going to church services Sunday, then relaxed by leading a small party of reporters and photographers on a tour of Johnson City and the neighboring countryside.

The day also produced a presidential announcement of anti-poverty projects in 33 states and Puerto Rico. The estimated cost: $102 million.

On Saturday, Johnson said goodbye to an overnight ranch goody, Canadian Prime Minister Lester Pearson, and announced at a living-room news conference the resignations of four White House staff members first appointed by John F. Kennedy: special assistants Kenneth O'Donnell and David Powers, special counsel Myer Feldman and Dr. Janet Travell, a White House physician.

Lanesboro Firemen Called to 2 Farms; Machine Shed Burns

LANESBORO, Minn. (Special) — Lanesboro firemen were called out twice Sunday. To a car and machine shed fire.

The farmer who lost the machine shed lost another building in a fire only a few days ago. A call came at 8:30 a.m. from the Amos Holland farm five miles north of town where the back seat of a 1960 car had started to burn. Holland closed the car tight, containing the fire to a smolder.

At 2 p.m. Clarence Topness, farmer 12 miles southwest of Lanesboro, saw smoke in his machine shed. The building was burned, plus a diesel tractor, manure spreader, garden tiller, air compressor, mower and small tools. Fire Chief LeRoy Erickson estimated the loss at between $5,000 and $6,000.

There was an unlit oil stove in the shed. Cause of the blaze wasn't determined.

A few days ago Topness lost a hog house with five sows and 37 little pigs by fire.

Closed School Districts Nearing July 1 Deadline

By GEORGE McCORMICK
Daily News Staff Writer

A spate of school district dissolutions has occupied the Winona County Board of Commissioners during its meetings in the second half of 1964.

Before then only an occasional thing, from July on, petitions for dissolution of a district and its attachment to another district were presented to the board at almost every meeting.

THE RESULT is that the number of school districts in the county — 66 at the end of 1963 — has dropped to 55. This has been done through elimination of closed districts — that is, districts that do not operate a school.

There were 31 such districts at the end of 1963. Now, there are 20.

The reason for this influx of petitions for dissolution is a Minnesota law requiring that all closed districts still in existence July 1, 1965, be dissolved automatically.

If a closed district's residents take the initiative in dissolving their district before this deadline, they have a choice as to which district they will join. If the residents wait for the deadline, the county board will decide where pupils — and tax money — will go. The board will take an advisory ballot in any closed district left when the deadline arrives, but it is not obliged to follow the outcome.

'Y'all Come'

Plans All Set for Johnson Inaugural

WASHINGTON (AP) — In an extraordinary blend of "y'all come" hominess and unprecedented security precautions, Lyndon B. Johnson renews his presidential oath at high noon Wednesday.

Besides the solemn ceremonies in which the President will place his hand on his mother's well-thumbed Bible, swear to defend the Constitution, and then deliver his inaugural address, there will be these other highlights:

A grand parade featuring everybody from spit-and-polish West Point cadets to dancing Eskimos from above the Arctic Circle — and even a man from Utah skiing down Pennsylvania Avenue on a mobile mountain. Some 500,000 persons are expected to witness this spectacle in person and 200 million via TV around the world.

Then, of course, there will be the inaugural ball, spread over four mammoth halls, and wrapped in star-spangled decor symbolizing "America the Beautiful." The President and the First Lady will drop in on each of these oversized dansants.

As for security, the Secret Service is living up to its name. It is saying nothing. "Please," one S. S. agent implored, "do not even say that I said 'No comment.'"

It is known, however, that there will be increased details.

AFS Chapter Meets Wednesday

The annual meeting of the Winona Chapter, American Field Service, will be Wednesday at 7 p.m. at Winona Senior High School.

Chapter members include families who have been host to foreign students who have studied here under the AFS program, parents of students who have made AFS trips abroad, persons interested in the AFS program and representatives of the Senior High student council.

Host family applicants for AFS students are being interviewed this month to assure Winona of having AFS students here during the next school year. If Winona is host to a foreign student, local students will have a chance to participate in the Americans Abroad program. Any person interested in learning more about AFS should attend the Wednesday chapter meeting.

Since 1947 Minnesota has been host to 1,364 foreign students under AFS, a total surpassed only by New York and California. Since 1954, 818 Minnesota students have gone abroad.

AT ILLINOIS MEETING

Two Winona men are attending the annual conference of the American College Public Relations Association's Great Lakes district at Northern Illinois University, Ke K. They are Brother I. Patrick, FSC, of St. Mary's College and Karl P. Lipsohn of the College of Saint Teresa. They are among approximately 200 delegates at the meeting, which lasts through Tuesday.

of the voting in assigning an area to another district.

OF THE 20 closed districts still in existence here, only eight will be affected by the July 1 deadline. They are common school districts 2548, 2571, 2576, 2577, 2605, 2621, 2623 and 2628. They have a total assessed valuation of $343,460.

Four of the eight, however, have no levy for school purposes this year, and the total school tax levy in the group is only $6,390.

When these districts become part of operating districts, they will share the costs of running and staffing schools. The inevitable rise in tax levies is undoubtedly one reason these districts are waiting until the last possible moment to change their status.

Jesse B. Jestus, county superintendent of schools, said he thought none of the eight districts affected by the law would initiate dissolution action but, instead, would wait for the county board to act after the deadline.

THE REMAINING 12 closed districts in the county will keep their present status after July 1. This is because each falls into one of three categories exempted from the state's requirement.

Some of the districts may continue in existence because their pupils are educated in Special District 5, Winona. The law provides that a closed district may continue contracts with special districts.

Goodview (CSD 2606) may continue in existence because its children are educated under contract with the State College Board. Its pupils attend Phelps Laboratory School, operated by Winona State College.

Any district having such a contract with the State College Board is exempted from the July 1 deadline, and a similar exemption applies to districts having contracts with the University of Minnesota Board of Regents. This includes some Twin Cities area districts.

A THIRD kind of district exempted from the requirement is one in which at least 75 percent of the children are served by a private elementary and secondary school.

Rollingstone (CSD 2566) is one of two districts in the state to come under this category. The other is Cold Spring in Stearns County. Most Rollingstone district pupils attend Holy Trinity School in the village, operated by Holy Trinity Catholic parish and staffed by Franciscan sisters.

One district — the Falsch district (CSD 2629) north of Utica — is having a meeting on dissolution Friday.

Unless sentiment in the other eight districts affected by the July 1 deadline changes before then, nothing more in the line of school district dissolution is likely to happen before the county board's July meeting.

of rifleman on the rooftops, an armored and bullet-proof glass shield for the President when he reviews the parade outside the White House, and meticulous scrutiny of all windows en route.

An example of how meticulous the security planning is: troops lining the streets during the inaugural ceremony and parade will not carry rifles, as always in the past. This is a precaution against the remote possibility that some soldier gone berserk, or somebody masquerading as a soldier, might open fire.

Troop units carrying weapons as they march in the parade will be inspected to make sure that there are no rounds in the chambers.

This security, of course, is repugnant to Johnson, and the S.S. still has no guarantee that he will not vault out of his reinforced, armor-plated, bubble-topped limousine, and shake hands.

The security stems from the tragedy of Nov. 22, 1963, and certain recommendations of the Warren Commission which investigated the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The inauguration jamboree is not a one-day affair. It lasts three days. Monday the high spot is a Democratic gala at the National Guard Armory. This whirling dervish is free, for those 10,000 persons who have wangled invitations.

Richard Adler, musical comedy playwright and producer, has come down from Broadway to manage it. Performers who will contribute talent to this affair include: masters of ceremonies, Alfred Hitchcock, Carol Channing, Ann-Margret and Johnny Carson; vocalists, Bobby Darin, Barbra Streisand, Carol Burnett, Julie Andrews and Harry Belafonte; comedy relief, Woody Allen, Mike Nichols and Elaine May; dance, the Royal Ballet's Margot Fonteyn and Rudolf Nureyev, and the Ballet Folklorico of Mexico.

Tuesday there are various high-powered social fetes, including the governors reception, another for Vice President-elect and Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey, a Young Democrats' reception and dance, and an inaugural concert.

Wednesday, the big day, will witness a speedup, if the inauguration managers have their way. The reason is this: The Constitution says a President's term expires at noon on Jan. 20.

It is planned to have the President's right hand in the air at exactly noon, EST. Chief Justice Earl Warren will swear him in before perhaps 100,000 persons massed at the East Portico of the Capitol. Johnson then will deliver his inaugural speech. Before the presidential oath, Vice President-elect Humphrey will be sworn in by Speaker of the House John W. McCormack.

Provided Johnson does not linger too long over lunch in the old Supreme Court Chamber at the Capitol, the parade to the White House will begin at 1:30 p.m. He will lead it, and then with his party will sit in the reviewing stand outside the White House.

2 High Schools Send Debaters To Tournament

Winona Senior High School and Cotter High School debate squads were involved in tournament activity last weekend here and at River Falls, Wis.

Senior High debaters participated in the River Falls State University invitational tournament while Cotter was host to beginning debate teams from Senior High, St. Charles and La Crosse Aquinas high schools Saturday.

At River Falls, Senior High coached by Keith Larson, posted a 5-3 record with the negative team of John Morse and Lee Turner winning ratings of "excellent" after going undefeated in four debates. Members of the affirmative team were Patrick Ellis and Jeanne Hittner.

Among the 50 schools participating in the tournament was DURAND, Wis., which finished with a 7-1 record. Its negative team also received an "excellent" rating.

The Cotter tournament was won by Aquinas which won five of six debates. Senior High was runnerup, Cotter third and St. Charles fourth.

On the Cotter host squad coached by Sister M. Janice, were freshmen Keane Kohner and Phyllis Wernz, affirmative; sophomores Mary Hauge and Judy Wera, affirmative, and Janu Meier and Karen Kohner, negative.

Senior High debaters participating were: Affirmative, Ruth Karnath, Lynn Schroder and Marilyn Bambenck (alternate), and negative, Noel Bubblitz, Ken Rother and Martha Donahue (alternate).

On Saturday both Senior High and Cotter will participate in the La Crosse State University Invitational Debate Tournament.

Cotter students also will be at St. Peter, Minn., for a speech tournament in debate, extemporaneous speaking and oratory, sponsored by Gustavus Adolphus College.

Holstein Breeders To Meet Thursday At Lewiston Bowl

LEWISTON, Minn. — Howard J. Hansen, Sioux Falls, S.D., national fieldman for the Holstein Breeders Association, and Milo L. Hill, Farmington, state secretary of the Minnesota Holstein Breeders Association, will be guest speakers at the Winona County Holstein Breeders Association meeting at 1:30 p.m. Thursday, at City-Mar Bowl, Lewiston. All farmers interested in Holstein cattle are invited. Stephen Kronebusch, Rollington, is the county secretary.

HOUSTON COUNTY GOP

CALEDONIA, Minn. — Houston County Republicans will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Sprague State Bank hospitality room, Caledonia. Chairman LeRoy Harlos, La Crescent, will be in charge.

State Senate Committees in Action Today

ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Senate swings into full scale committee sessions this week, with committee action on the school aid restoration bill a possibility early in the week.

The Senate Finance Committee, to which the proposal was referred, is scheduled to meet to consider it Tuesday afternoon.

The bill would direct the refiguring of school aids and distribution to the school districts of their appropriate shares of the $6.6 million cut ordered by Gov. Karl Rolvaag last fall. He said the cut was necessary because income tax receipts were not sufficient to cover the aids voted by the Legislature in 1963.

The bill is sponsored by Sen. Robert Dunlap of Rochester, chairman of the Senate Education Committee. A similar measure was introduced in the House.

Dunlap and others contend the state has an obligation to pay the aids in full.

The Public Welfare Committee is to hold its second meeting today.

Also scheduled Tuesday are meetings of the Senate education and elections and reapportionment committees. The elections group is slated to begin work on legislation proposed by an interim committee to improve election laws.

The committee hopes to deal with these matters early to clear the decks for the later heavy work of legislative reapportionment.

House committee rooms had not been assigned following the naming of House committees last week, so no meetings were scheduled today.

Both House and Senate had 4 p.m. sessions scheduled today.

Driverless Car Runs Down Owner

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Police Sgt. Wayne Lecroy said he had seen it happen — a car leave the scene of a collision, circle driverless in a field and return to run over its owner, lying injured.

Lecroy said the car veered into the darkness Sunday night after hitting a pickup truck. Marie Ivey, 35, of Lubbock, the driver, fell out.

Tracks showed the car circled a quarter of a mile before returning and hitting Mrs. Ivey as she lay at an intersection. She was taken to a hospital in a serious condition.

Lecroy said the car — headlights knocked out — almost hit him as he directed traffic, then plowed into his cruiser at an estimated speed of 35 miles an hour. He theorized the accelerator had jammed.

One of 88 in Nation

Minnesota Gets OEO Project

ST. PAUL (AP) — A $70,089 technical assistance grant to the Minnesota Office of Economic Opportunity was announced Sunday, as one of 88 new projects in President Lyndon Johnson's war on poverty.

Gov. Karl Rolvaag, in an announcement which came on the heels of that from Johnson City, Tex., said the money will finance a Minnesota Community Assistance Agency.

The agency, Rolvaag explained, will aid cities, counties, school districts and other subdivisions in implementing and obtaining benefits of the federal Economic Opportunity Act.

The federal grant of $70,089 is to be matched on a 10 per cent basis from state resources.

Other assistance for Minnesota programs in the federal listing included:

Vista Volunteers — Assignment of 22 domestic Peace Corps volunteers as follows: four volunteers to live and work in four Chippewa communities on Fond du Lac Reservation; three volunteers to provide varied social services on Grand Portage Reservation; six volunteers to work in varied programs on Leech Lake Indian Reservation; four volunteers to assist Chippewa communities on White Earth Indian Reservation; five volunteers to serve in the Oak Terrace Nursing Home, Minnetonka.

Work Experience — $12,400 grant to Minnesota State Welfare Department for a special project to assist in rehabilitation of unemployed persons on relief.

Job Corps Center — 200-man job corps camp at Portage Lake 3½ miles northwest of Bena in Cass County, with annual operating budget of $180,000, under supervision of U.S. Forest Service. Work to include trail improvements, roadside maintenance, tree planting, site cleanup on 15 recreation areas in Chippewa National Forest. Also construction and development of 48 new recreation areas and 52 camp and picnic areas in forest scenic overlooks.

Gov. Rolvaag said the new planned Minnesota Community Assistance Agency will be operated through the Department of Public Welfare. The agency, he added, will be in continuous and direct communication with the governor.

"The need for this new agency arises out of the awareness of the tragic lack of resources available to many economically distressed communities in Minnesota which wish to help themselves," Rolvaag said. "For lack of assistance in organization, program planning and in establishing liaison with St. Paul and Washington, many communities have in the past failed to obtain many benefits available to them. They will most certainly fail to gain the full advantage of the Economic Opportunity Act unless we act now to fulfill their needs in this regard."

Rolvaag said he expects to start staffing the agency immediately. Initial plans call for a staff of up to five community specialists, plus a director and assistant director.

"I will expect and demand that the staff of this agency get right out where the problems are and not expect the problems to come to them," Rolvaag said.

Once a community is organized and has begun to develop its anti-poverty program, Rolvaag said, the community specialist who aided with the organization will continue to serve as a "liaison man" with federal and state government.

Naftalin Raps University At Mankato

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minneapolis Mayor Arthur Naftalin says making Mankato State College a university would dissipate scarce resources, promote unhealthy competition and possibly "cheapen the term 'university.'"

The idea of university status for Mankato should not be encouraged, the mayor said.

Naftalin said there is "no reason whatever" to favor Mankato above the other four state colleges except for its size — which results from its location in a populous area.

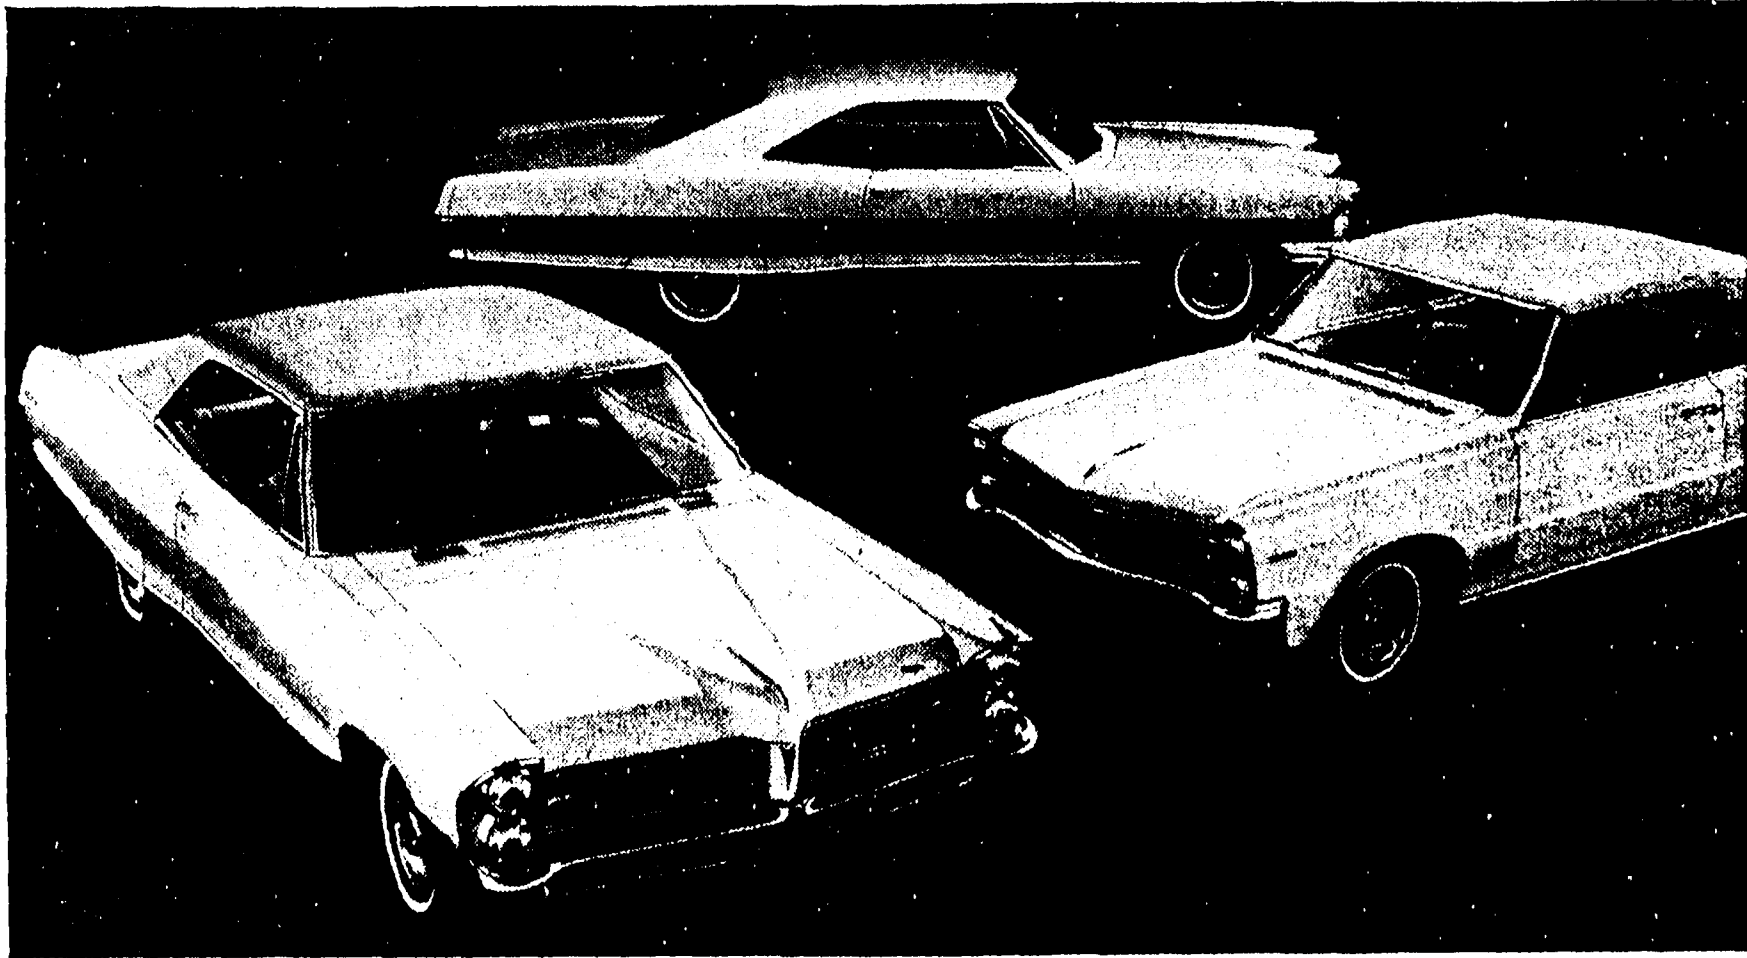

He added that a university branch, like those at Duluth and Morris, would be better because it would permit sharing, rather than dividing, resources and would decentralize education more effectively than would a multiple system.

Mankato citizens arguing the city's case recently before the State College Board cited a 1957 Naftalin speech. He was quoted as saying Minnesota higher education enrollments would double or triple in 10 to 15 years, that Mankato "would play an important part in the growth, and who knew but that in 10 or 15 years, we might be another university."

The quotation is substantially correct, Naftalin said, but he added that the university idea had been mentioned before. He said he made his remarks while backing development of the upper — now "Highlands" — Mankato campus against the view that the Valley campus nearer town should be expanded.

Education Plan Certain To Be Expensive

SOME COMMENT on President Johnson's aid-to-education message described it as imaginative. Others have called it exciting. One thing is certain — it's going to be expensive.

The $1.6 billion "tots to teens" proposal would raise spending for all educational purposes in fiscal 1968 to $8.6 billion.

Obviously, from these figures, the federal government already is deeply involved in the schooling of Americans. The new ground staked out in the President's message is direct aid to schools, both public and private, particularly in poorer areas.

THE FORMULA is broad. Any school district with either 100 children, or 3 percent of enrollment, from families with incomes under $2,000 would be eligible for aid. Almost 90 percent of the nation's 26,000 school districts could qualify for grants up to half the cost of educating each underprivileged child.

This is the heart of the Johnson program which has many other facets. Education becomes part of the war on poverty.

With some eloquence Mr. Johnson bids Congress attend this No. 1 business of the American people. "Freedom," he reminds us, "is fragile if citizens are ignorant."

THE RICHEST NATION on earth can certainly do better by its youth. The nation's schools have many tragic lacks. Statistics on the need for more facilities of all kinds, and on the shortage of teachers, are staggering. Educators have pointed out the pockets of cultural poverty, both rural and urban, where the quality of schooling is below acceptable standards.

Past Presidents and Congresses have tackled these problems without too much success. Direct federal aid has foundered on the dispute over public funds to private and parochial schools. There has been concern over loss of local control. How far do we go before education is divorced from local responsibility?

ON THE FIRST point Mr. Johnson seems casually confident of a solution. As to control, the federal hand rests ever heavier on local schools and, for good or ill, seems certain to stay.

The question for a dynamic nation becomes one of priorities. Congress must weigh the needs against the ever-mounting requests for more and more billions to build the "Great Society."

Mr. Johnson has set the first priority for his eager congressional majority by his imaginative, exciting and expensive proposals for "developing our nation's most priceless resource."

UNDER THESE auspices they have a better than even chance to come back to his desk before summer for his signature into law.

Should Prior Judicial Experience Be Required?

AN ATTEMPT is afoot in Congress again to make prior judicial experience a condition of appointment to the Supreme Court. Is such restriction on the President in his choice of men for the highest court justifiable?

Senator Simpson of Wyoming has introduced a bill which would require that any person appointed to the Supreme Court have at least five years of judicial service as a judge of a federal district or appeals court, or as a judge of the highest court of a state. As he noted in his introductory message, the Constitution "does not require that the justices of the Supreme Court meet any standard."

There is some reason for this. By not establishing standards — as it does not, in any substantive way, for members of Congress — the Constitution gives the chief executive the widest latitude in selecting justices. No arbitrary restrictions are placed on him; he can consider for this post any person, without narrowing the list to those who have previously served as judges, as desirable as that may seem.

IT IS TRUE that, down through the years, some of the ablest Supreme Court justices have been men who had little or no judicial experience before their appointment. Had the Simpson standard been applied in the past, some of our most distinguished occupants of the highest bench would not have been permitted to serve. The present system, whereby the President nominates Supreme Court justices without restriction and appoints them with the advice and consent of the Senate, should be given serious study before any change is made.

The true light that enlightens every man was coming into the world. John 1:9.

TODAY IN NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Elected GOP to Make Policies

By DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON — Whether Dean Burch voluntarily resigned or there was a forced change in the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee is of little relevance or significance as far as the fortunes of the Republican party in the future are concerned. Nor is it of any real importance just now who is aspiring to be the Republican presidential nominee in 1968.

For the plain truth is that, unless the Republican party becomes a party of constructive opposition and effectively turns public opinion toward its side on major issues, Lyndon B. Johnson may be able to achieve nine consecutive years in the presidency.

The Republicans in recent weeks have put so much emphasis on their internal squabbles that they haven't seen the forest for the trees. Actually, the Republican national chairman doesn't make Republican policy or mobilize public sentiment on the issues of the day. Everett Dirksen, leader of the Republican party in the Senate, made a realistic statement of the whole situation when he said last Monday that the members of the joint Senate and House Republican leadership in their conversations since the November defeat have discussed numerous paths that might be followed by the party, but that "always certain basic facts have emerged," which are:

"FIRST, THAT the only elected Republican officials of the federal establishment are the 32 Republican members of the United States Senate and the 140 members of the House of Representatives. Obviously and beyond dispute, they will guide Republican party policy at the national level, in the absence of a Republican president and vice president, by the record they write in the Congress. It is their responsibility."

Second, that an additional repository of advice and counsel on party policy exists in former presidents and nominees for president, in our present elected governors, in the members of the Republican national committee and the state chairmen of our several states, and, of course, in active Republican advocates at all other levels of the party structure. Their wisdom must be channeled into party policy formulation."

This is but another way of saying that, while advice is acceptable and all viewpoints from governors and former presidential nominees should be heard, the responsibility for making party policy rests with the Republican members of Congress who are dealing every day with national issues. It is the way these legislative questions are handled which can mean victory or defeat in elections.

THE REPUBLICANS in Congress have elected Gerald Ford as their new leader in the House of Representatives, and from his public statements there are indications that he is well aware of the difference between the making of party policy in Congress and the mechanics of party organization throughout the country which is usually left to the chairman of the Republican national committee.

But even with the selection of new leaders and a renewed enthusiasm on the part of the Republicans in Congress to do an effective job for their party, the fact remains that the making of party policy cannot be left to the individual predilections of would-be candidates or to some of those young Republicans in different parts of the country who do not yet know the facts of national political life.

Thus, for instance, many of the so-called "moderates" are talking about formulating alternative programs; little realizing that this is one way to get lost in a plethora of details and controversial technicalities. The main function of a minority party is to tell the nation what's wrong with the majority party's policies and to explain how they will be detrimental to the public interest. Alternatives are important, but only as principles and as major objectives.

THE REPUBLICAN party in Congress will have numerous "task forces" to help it analyze current issues and prepare speeches of opposition, but this alone will not build the Republican party's chances for victory. One of the chief weaknesses on the Republican side is in the field of communication. It has been very ineffective in presenting its point of view to the country, though, to be sure, much of the difficulty has been in the fact that the Republican party in Congress has not been articulate or able to concentrate on major points of opposition to the party in power.

The Republican party's job, therefore, lies not in worrying about the ideology of a party chairman, but what the Republicans in Congress are going to do to oppose unsound fiscal policies and waste of public funds as well as ill-conceived controls by the federal government of those services which should primarily be taken care of by the states. In the long run, the differences between advocacy of centralization in the federal government and an insistence on the retention by state governments of their responsibilities will become clearer and clearer. This could develop into a major issue in the congressional elections of 1966 as well as in the presidential election of 1968.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Washington Preparing for Big Inaugural Jamboree

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — This town is all set for the biggest inauguration jamboree in history—from machinery for soboring up drunks to escorts for every ambassador's wife who attends the distinguished ladies' reception.

Perhaps no inauguration since the free-for-all days when Andrew Jackson and his whisky-drinking Tennesseeans marched down muddy Pennsylvania Avenue will see so many crowds, so much jubilation, such jam-packed hotels, and so many Hollywood stars flown here, in some cases all the way from Paris.

Two Broadway productions, "Hello, Dolly!" and "Funny Girl!" will close down to let Carol Channing and Barbara Streisand come to Washington, while "What's New, Pussycat!" will stop its shooting in Paris to let Woody Allen fly to Washington to bring laughs to the inaugural gala.

Lynda and Luci Johnson have so many teen-age friends coming up from Texas that Luci has been relegated to a cot in her study. High school bands have been relegated to high schools floors and college dormitories. The Pennsylvania railroad will run 13 special trains in from Philadelphia alone, and Pullman cars at the Union Station will serve as hotel rooms for visiting politicians.

"JIGGS" DONOHUE, who used to have headaches as commissioner of the District of Columbia, has never had so many headaches in finding hotel rooms for the mob which is descending on Washington to see Lyndon Johnson become the 36th president of the United States.

Johnson, incidentally, will not be content to sit in a box at the inaugural ball, as most past presidents. He has been the dancingest president ever to occupy the White House and intends to dance at his own inaugural.

The next four years are going to be tough ones. But the friends and fans who helped give LBJ the biggest margin in history intend to give those four years the greatest send-off in history.

Very quietly, George Humphrey's Hanna Nickel Company, which in 1953 secured one of the most profitable government contracts in years, has paid the government a settlement of $2,175,000.

This has just been revealed by Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., in a report issued by the Joint Committee on Defense Production.

THE HANNA Nickel contract, signed by Humphrey's son Gilbert four days before the elder Humphrey became secretary of the Treasury in the Eisenhower cabinet, was investigated by the Senate and called one of the worst conflict-of-interest cases of the Eisenhower administration. Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., charged that it was worse than the Bobby Baker conflict of interest.

Rep. Charles Vanik, D-Ohio, described the contract as "the most ingenious money-making device since the invention of the printing press. Government representatives were either drugged or blindfolded."

The contract for the mining of nickel in Oregon and provided that the federal government would loan the Hanna company, long dominated by the ex-secretary of the treasury, $25,000,000 to build a plant then would buy 125,000,000 pounds of nickel for 20 cents a pound, which meant a profit of around $19,000,000. The government also paid Humphrey's company an annual $100,000 to operate the plant, plus various other benefits.

This column exposed the terms of the contract as early as Oct. 16, 1953, though the Senate did not get around to bringing the same facts to light until August, 1962, nine years later.

AS A RESULT of these exposures, the Justice Department has sued the Hanna company for $1,816,958 on the claim that the company charged up to expenses important items which should have been capitalized.

Uncontested by the Hanna company, and in addition, was a cash settlement of $2,175,000 at the termination of the contract which has just been revealed.

Crusty cigar-chomping Gen. Curt LeMay, retiring head of the Air Force, may be concerned about the curtailment of manned bombers, but dollar-wise he seems to have won his war with Secretary of Defense McNamara.

Figures just dug out by the congressional Committee on Defense Production show that for the first time in five years aircraft expenditures in fiscal year 1964 exceeded the expenditure for missiles.

WASHINGTON CALLING

Bracing Tonic For Free World

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

WASHINGTON — The return of the British ensign and British power to the gates of Singapore — the dispatch of Britain's Far East strike force to defend Malaysia from the aggressive designs of Indonesia — is a wonderfully bracing tonic to unashamedly Tory hearts all over the world.

For once more at least in our lifetimes, the Royal Navy and the Royal Air Force are running up and proudly flying, rather than striking and sadly folding, their standards.

For one more time, at least, Her Majesty's fleets of sea and air are moving unapologetically to protect the interests of civilized men, rather than drawing back to huddle in the home islands lest the United Nations or "world opinion" or some such thing condemn the honest use of honest power for honest purposes as some blot upon the curiously precious escutcheon of the modern world.

To see the great British aircraft carrier Eagle standing in to Malaysian waters is to see an extraordinarily moving sight and one, moreover, which at first the eye can hardly credit. For the dreadfully accustomed view, in all the dreary years since the war, has been of British men-of-war forever departing and never coming back, as Kipling said, to Mandalay.

IMPERIAL INDIA is a dead memory and the old British sahib a surviving figure of fun only to men who remember also another character, likewise long deceased, called Colonel Blimp. The British are long out of every Mandalay — and Holland is long out of Indonesia. There, an operative sort of dictator called Sukarno has brought the peculiar blessings of an odd kind of "democracy" to a people whose so-called liberation from the wicked Dutch was surely one of the hollowest victories for "independence" in all the mixed postwar history of the movement of so much nobility of purpose and of such frequent perversion in fact.

Yes, the bad fellows — the British from Singapore, the Dutch from Jakarta — have long been absent from the scene. And, in the words of a barracks song that will be remembered by certain middle-aged fellows who served with British infantry, the last British troop ship was leaving Bombay a very long time ago, indeed.

But now the bad fellows, (or some of them) and the troop ships are back at last; though it is true that these are chastened neo-colonialist men, these British officers and ratings of the Eagle and the other great ships of the line. No sahib, no Colonel Blimp, sent them; but rather one of the world's most aggressively anti-sahib, anti-Blimp, anti-colonial politicians — Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

THE BRITISH are there, this time, not to cling to some old position but only to rescue one of the truly authentic "independence" movements of the Far East, that of Malaysia, from Sukarno's threats.

If it is ironical that the Royal Navy has gone back to Singapore there is sharpened irony that it has gone back under the orders not of a Tory but of a Labor government in London. And it is far more than mere irony. It is the clearest possible signal that the responsibilities of his heavy office have transformed Harold Wilson from a doctrinaire and neutralist-minded quasi-pacifist to a prime minister of England who knows quite well what power is for. He has, in this matter, now become involuntarily a Tory himself.

The first thing one knows the Prime minister will be having the bands play "Land of Hope and Glory" in the parks in London.

In the meantime, it is good enough to see him — this dim, gray little figure of a man who so recently seemed to have only the manners of a pedant and the soul of a professor of economics — stoutly flinging the Queen's navy across the earth to vindicate British honor as roundly as any Tory ever did.

Add to this the fact of increased American military action in aid of our Vietnamese allies and it is difficult to restrain a small

Opposes Federal Aid For Urban Renewal

To the Editor: Although redevelopment is essential in Winona, it should be generated from within and not ruin the civic values a city needs to succeed.

The responsibility of redeveloping and revitalizing a city belongs to the people and businessmen of that city without federal subsidy (Urban Renewal Agency).

Urban renewal programs are known to be recklessly wasteful with the taxpayers money (such as the sale of acquired property at a small percentage of the acquisition cost) and they also halt local initiative to improve property.

Let's not turn this community into a welfare state with a something for nothing attitude.

To Your Good Health

Two Ills Occur Together

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Could you suggest a diet for anemia and high blood pressure.

My condition seems to be a paradox. I didn't think it possible to have anemia and high blood pressure at the same time. — M. B.

No, it's not a paradox. It is quite possible. It is true that a person with a severe anemia MAY have low blood pressure — for instance, if the anemia is related to low thyroid function or chronic or subtle blood loss.

Conversely, high blood pressure can be due to certain kidney disorders accompanied by loss of considerable albumin and microscopic quantities of blood, with an anemia developing even though the blood pressure is high.

There are various causes of both problems, anemia and elevated blood pressure, and they can occur at the same time.

PROPER DIET for anemia should include ample protein (lean meat, fish, fowl, dairy products). If iron deficiency is present, this usually is treated with medications containing that element.

There is no specific diet for high blood pressure, except that the amount of salt or sodium products should be limited.

If the patient is overweight, then a low-calorie diet (for reducing) is in order. Or in some cases in which there has been serious kidney impairment, protein may be restricted.

But there is no special diet for a combination of anemia and high blood pressure.

Houston Man
Found Dead

HOUSTON, Minn. (Special)—Investigation is continuing into the death of Ralph P. Halverson, 56, who was found dead in the Houston village maintenance truck in the village garage Sunday at 3:30 p.m.

First reports from an autopsy performed at St. Francis Hospital, La Crosse, this morning indicated he apparently died of carbon monoxide. Dr. Philip Utz, La Crosse, Houston County coroner said. However, he had been receiving medication for a nervous condition.

THE CORONER said Arnold Peterson, assistant postmaster, was walking by the closed garage when he heard a motor running. He saw smoke in the garage. He opened the overhead door, it slammed shut, and he opened it again.

With help, he got the motor stopped and found the victim. Houston people said Halverson may have had the truck out sanding slippery spots in streets, or he may have started the truck to warm it up.

Sheriff Byron Whitehouse, Caledonia, was called to the scene with Dr. Utz.

MR. HALVERSON was born Aug. 30, 1903, at Rushford to Mr. and Mrs. Hans Halverson. He attended the public schools there and became a member of the Rushford Lutheran Church. He was in the produce business there several years prior to moving to Houston, where he spent the rest of his life.

He married Josephine Virock of Houston, June 21, 1937. Survivors are: His wife; two sons, Roger, Houston, and Richard, in military service and currently on military police duty in Kansas City; three brothers, Berger and Arthur, Rushford, and Franklin, Minneapolis; and one sister, Mrs. Stanley (Lillian) Cox, Waseca.

The funeral service will be Wednesday at 2 p.m. at Rushford Lutheran Church, the Rev. Eugene Foebringer officiating. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery, Rushford.

Readings Seen

Good weather news for Winona and vicinity.

Temperatures through Saturday will average four degrees above seasonal daytime highs of 20-25 and nighttime lows of 1 below to 6 above.

THAT'S THE word from the extended forecast issued by the Weather Bureau for the next five days for Southeastern Minnesota and Western Wisconsin. In the same time, the report said, precipitation is expected to average less than .10 of an inch (melted) in scattered light snow Tuesday and again Wednesday and again late in the week.

Variable cloudiness is the forecast for tonight and Tuesday with brief light snow late tonight and early Tuesday. A low of 12-22 is expected tonight and a high around 25 Tuesday. The high Saturday afternoon was 19 and on Sunday the thermometer rose to 31. Low Sunday morning was 18 and this morning 6. At noon today the reading was 12.

Man Dies
At Wedding

ST. PAUL (AP) — Some 300 relatives and friends filled St. Michael's Catholic Church to see Bruce Stanton and Sharon Cosgrove, both 22, joined in marriage.

Eight attendants were gathered at the altar as Miss Cosgrove slowly walked down the aisle Saturday. She smiled at Stanton and placed her hand in his arm. They moved together toward the altar. The marriage ceremony started.

Suddenly, Stanton collapsed and struck his head on the floor as he fell in the aisle. An ambulance took the unconscious young man to a hospital.

Stanton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stanton of West St. Paul, and Miss Cosgrove were at his bedside when he died Saturday night without regaining consciousness.

His father said he had no idea what might have caused the death of the young man, a sophomore at River Falls State College in Wisconsin.

"He had some headaches," said the father. "But a groom always has tension headaches before he's married. When he struck his head he aggravated whatever might have caused him to fall. All we can do now is wait until we get the autopsy report."

Miss Cosgrove was in "terrible shock," said the man who would have been her father-in-law.

Relatives and friends again will fill St. Michael's Church Wednesday morning. They will attend funeral services for Stanton.

As a base for petits fours — those delectable little French cakes — use pound cake baked in a shallow pan; cut the cake into circles, squares, rectangles or diamonds and frost on three sides. Garnish prettily!

Two-State Deaths

Miss Louise Pawelke STRUM, Wis. (Special)—Miss Louise Pawelke, 69, died unexpectedly Saturday at 6 p.m. at the home of her brother, Albert, with whom she resided. She had been in ill health for some time.

Boy, Father,
2 Relatives
Hurt in Blast

MENASHA, WIS. (AP) — An explosion rocked a one-story frame home Sunday, seriously injuring a small boy, his father and two relatives.

Fire followed the blast, which spokesmen for the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. said stemmed from a break in a two-inch natural gas line outside the house.

A similar explosion damaged a house but caused no injuries two weeks ago in nearby Appleton.

Injured were Shawn Sobieszyk, 2, who was burned over 65 per cent of his body; his father, Jerome, 26, face and arm burns; Jerome's brother, Hilard, 38, face and arm burns, and Mrs. Theresa Sobieszyk, 58, mother of Jerome and Hilard, who was in serious condition with arm burns which aggravated a cardiac condition.

They were taken to Theda Clark hospital in Neenah where Jerome's wife was a patient. She gave birth prematurely Friday to a son, who was reported in critical condition.

Firemen said the family smelled gas and one of the men went to the basement to investigate. The blast apparently was touched off when a basement light was turned on, authorities said.

Fire Chief Harold Akin estimated damage to the house at $20,000.

Rail Strike
Fear Revived

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new national rail strike threat arose over the weekend as the head of a group of union leaders said "we are quite close to setting a strike date" in a dispute between five non-operating unions and the railroads.

G. E. Leighty, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' Association, announced the possible strike action in a news conference Saturday.

The five unions include the telegraphers, clerks, maintenance of way personnel, dining car stewards and signalmen. Presumably any strike by them would result in a shutdown of all major carriers. Chief issues are job security and the loss of jobs through automation.

Leighty also announced that the union chiefs had reversed a 45-year-old policy and voted in favor of having the government buy and operate the railroads.

J. E. Wolfe, chief management spokesman, called the nationalization proposal "a pressure tactic by the unions."

First Fashion Flurry Of Inaugural Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first fashion flurry of the inaugural begins this afternoon when 5,000 queue up in the National Gallery to meet Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson and Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey.

They announced in advance their gowns for the three-day inaugural celebration, a wide range from warm outdoor outfits to specially designed ball gowns.

They picked their favorite colors—Mrs. Johnson choosing bright shades of yellow, bright red and shimmering whites; and Mrs. Humphrey a patriotic wardrobe of red, white and blue. Hats were considered optional by Perle Mesta, who issued a "what to wear" manual as "social consultant to the inaugural committee chairman."

Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Humphrey planned to wear hats only to the outdoor oath-taking and inaugural parade. They were careful to see their clothes went well together, since they were making joint appearances almost everywhere.

For the late afternoon Distinguished Ladies Reception in the gallery today, dark-haired Mrs. Johnson picked a princess-line holiday-red silk afternoon dress with three-quarter sleeves and gently flared skirt. Silver-haired Mrs. Humphrey's outfit was a sleeveless silver and white brocade, with matching jacket.

For tonight's first evening appearance—the Inaugural Gala, a galaxy of entertainment in honor of the President—Mrs. Johnson's gown by Roxanne of Samuel Winston, New York, will be a long sparkling white peau de soie, with bodice of crystal jewels, bugle heads and pallidettes, with matching white stole. Mrs. Humphrey planned to make a last-minute choice between her two gowns for evening formal events. She was expected to wear an empire-style red satin gown with a bateau neckline.

The First Lady has picked a American beauty red costume for the Capitol ceremony where President Johnson will be sworn in at noon Wednesday. Designed by Sophie of Saks Fifth Avenue, New York, it includes a single-breasted coat of needle-point wool, with a small face-framing collar and thin black sealskin bow at the neck, over a matching slim-skirted sheer wool dress. The hat, by Adolfo of New York, is American beauty red velvets off-the-face, with a black velvet band.

Mrs. Humphrey wanted to make the most of her inaugural wardrobe, but didn't have the time and had to leave it to

Drug Science, Blood Disorders Traced for AAUW Women Here

By JEAN HAGEN
Daily News Women's Editor
"Pharmacology" and "The Role of Certain Blood Disorders in Heredity" were the two scientific and scholarly subjects presented to the American Association of University Women, Winona Branch, at their all-day meeting Saturday at Community Memorial Hospital.

SPEAKERS were Dr. Arnold W. Fenske of Winona Clinic and Dr. A. Sigrid Gilbertsen of Nicolet Clinic, Minneapolis.

About 50 AAUW members heard Dr. Fenske in the morning session, had lunch at the Hot Fish Shop and then returned to the Hospital Solarium for the afternoon session.

Miss Evelyn Taraldson, program coordinator, opened the meeting and presented Mrs. Lloyd Belville, chairman of the series of studies, "Bridging the Gap Between Science and the Layman," which was culminated by Saturday's program. She introduced the speakers.

DR. FENSKE, who said his topic had been announced as "Pills and Progress," because he thought the term "Pharmacology" would scare people, traced the development of the science of drugs from early times.

Early man, he said, thought pain was caused by evil spirits. Dr. Fenske told of the early study of patients and diseases by Hypocrates and its development during the Renaissance. He spoke of the discovery of digitalis in the 19th century and the pioneer work of French and German scientists in pharmacology.

Presently there is an increasing flow of new drugs, he said. Some people distrust the new drugs, while others over-trust them, according to Dr. Fenske. He explained the effects of drugs on certain types of patients, because of the body's metabolism, tolerance, absorption and other factors.

Dr. Fenske outlined studies that are being done constantly to determine the purity, stability and potency of the many new drugs being introduced each year.

"THE DOCTOR'S little black bag now runneth over," he quipped, about the many new drugs.

Dr. Fenske described the legislative regulations to protect the public from impure drugs, such as the Food and Drug law of 1906, the Harrison Act, 1914, and the Marihuana law, 1937.

Presently, he said, the United States Pharmacopeia, the National Formulary and the New and Non-Official Remedies are the sources of information and regulation in the use of drugs. Periodicals, such as "New Drugs" contain facts to speed up information as soon as the drugs are on the market, as does the American Medical Association Journal. The PRD (Physician's Desk Reference) he said is another source of valuable information about drugs. Laws require details of a drug's content in each package. Dr. Fenske said, which is another source of information.

"PHARMACISTS, TOO have to keep up on the new trends, the same as doctors," the speaker said.

Dr. Fenske discussed the antibiotics and other drugs and described the intensive studies that are made to insure their safe use.

"I want to reassure you that there are a lot of controls and safeties to protect you," he said. You can see how many references and controls are available."

MRS. E. J. BOLLER, president of AAUW, presided at the afternoon meeting and introduced Dr. Gilbertsen.

The Minneapolis physician is the wife of Dr. Victor Gilbertsen, former Winona. He is the son of Mrs. Victor Gilbertsen Sr., 474 W. King St., and is the head of the Cancer Detection Center and assistant professor and surgeon at the University of Minnesota.

In her talk on "The Role of Heredity in Various Blood Disorders," the Minneapolis physician opened new vistas of understanding for many of her listeners.

She described the various blood types, such as A, B, AB, O and RH and by means of charts on the blackboard told what happens when persons of certain blood types are mated and reproduce.

DR. GILBERTSEN reviewed some important blood disorders, such as hemophilia, which she said had an impact on political history. She referred to the "bleeders" in the royal families of Europe. Hemophilia, she said, is an ancient disease, dating back at least to the second century, and told what condition of the blood causes it and how it is inherited through the females of a family.

Dr. Gilbertsen explained the process of blood transfusion, which was a method first tried by doctors in France in 1668.

She discussed such diseases as anemia, leukemia, jaundice, and sickle cell anemia.

Dr. Gilbertsen said that the study of the blood makes a contribution to the study of anthropology. She suggested that the sickle trait, found mainly among African Negroes, but also in Asia, indicates a mass migration of peoples between Africa and Asia.

The study of the blood and heredity, she said, "has all sorts of new horizons. It opens new vistas in the field of genetics. What can be discovered here is unlimited and fantastic. It is a thing of the future."

Split Level to Please a Large Family

By ANDY LANG

For nearly 20 years, split level design has been received in all sections of the country as a house which offers a great deal of habitable area for the money. Combine this concept with the elegance associated with custom design and you have the five-bedroom home created by architect Herman H. York for the House of the Week series.

Because of an extra "all-purpose" room on the lower level, a sixth bedroom is ready if the family increases in size at some later date.

IN KEEPING with many of today's finer houses, the entrance has been designed to

H-66 Statistics

Design H-66 has a living room, kitchen-dinette, foyer, four bedrooms and an exceptionally large bathroom (with three lavatories) on the upper levels. There are three rooms on the lower level: A family room, a fifth bedroom or den, and an "all-purpose" room, plus a laundry area. Total habitable area is 2,504 square feet, not including the covered entry, terraces and two-car garage. The overall dimensions are 75' by 38' 4".

have an impressive appearance. The foyer is large, with quick access to either the family room down a few steps or to the bedrooms above. Directly ahead and through a pair of louvered doors is the dinette-kitchen combination.

Sliding glass doors lead from the dinette area to a private dining terrace at the rear. And from this terrace, several steps lead down to a lower outside lounging area off the family room.

On the lower floor, in addition to the family room, are a laundry with a built-in laundry chute, a full bathroom with a stall shower, a guest bedroom and the all-purpose room we previously mentioned. The two-car garage on the same level can be entered from either the family room or the service walk at the rear.

While provision is made for two fireplaces, one of formal design for the living room and the other in a long masonry wall dominating the family room, a budget-minded family might want to omit the fireplace in the living room.

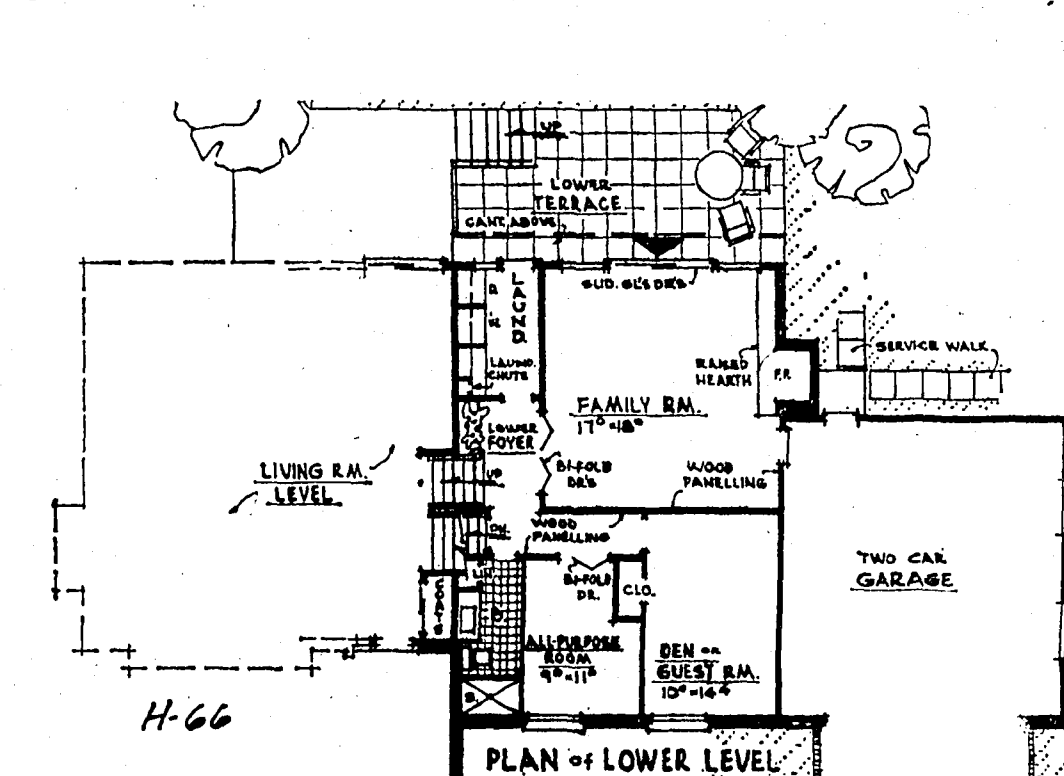

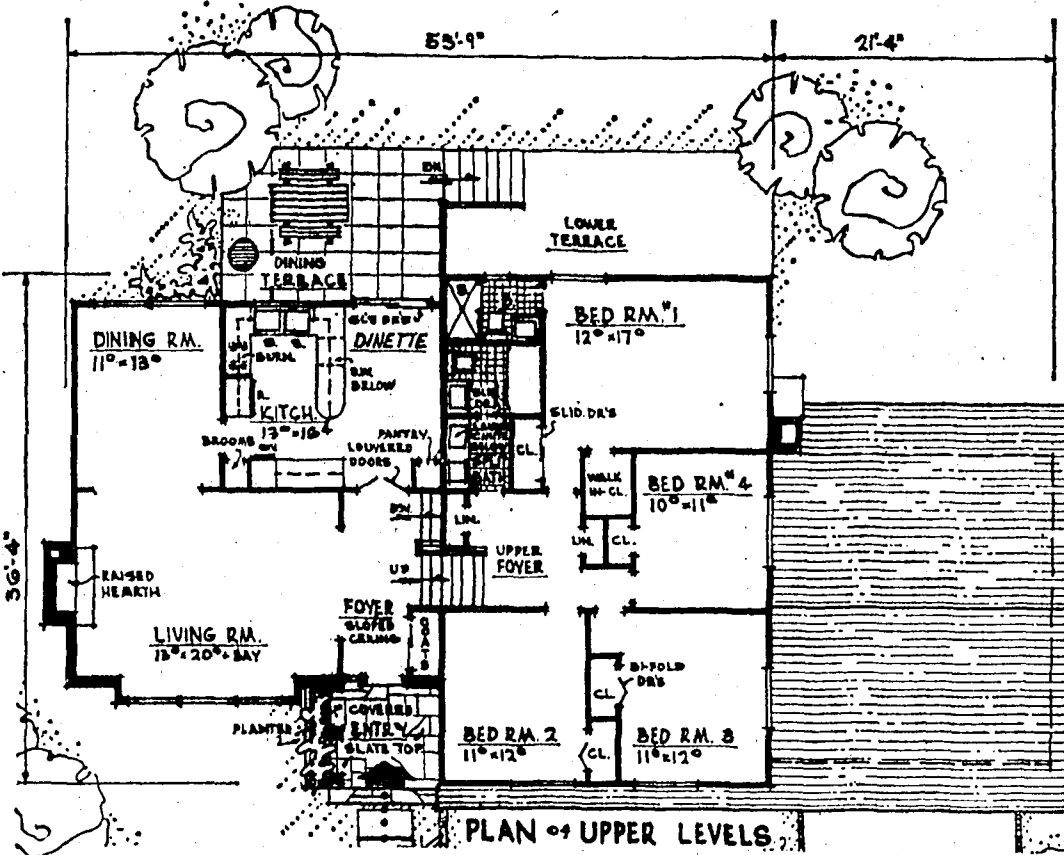

However, the furnace flue is a part of this chimney, and the additional fireplace will not cost as much as one with its own chimney structure.

There are four bedrooms on the upper level, plenty of closets and a huge bathroom arrangement with three separate lavatories, a desirable feature for a large family preschool, rush hour traffic jam.

For exterior styling, architect York has selected "stacked

PLEASING COMBINATION... Elegance and simplicity are combined in this five-bedroom split level, which has all the practical amenities a large family might want.

FLOOR PLANS... The three levels of Design H-66 provide lots of living space for a big family, with 1,686 square feet of habitable area on the upper levels and 818 square feet on the lower level, excluding the covered entry.

bond" brickwork, which means the vertical joints are not staggered as in a common bond. The appearance of this kind of jointing is often recommended to give a house greater contemporary character. (York uses this kind of brick pattern in his own house.)

THE SIDING is rough sawn with an interesting texture. Before exterior colors are selected, it is well to remember that monochromatic color schemes are the safest and, interestingly enough, in the best taste. Whatever accent is needed can be achieved with foundation planting, using shrubs, flowers or flowering trees a little out of the ordinary.

The wide roof overhangs are desirable as a protection from driving rain and as an aid to the problem of maintenance. While split levels utilize the lower level or basement as a living area, there is no absence of necessary storage or furnace room in Design H-66. These needs are taken care of by a full cellar under the living, dining and kitchen portion of the house.

Building Record Set at Rochester

ROCHESTER, Minn. — Building permits issued here in 1964 totaled $19,151,602, 40 percent above the previous high of $13,622,047 in 1962.

Apartments and motels, ranging from two units to 90, were the big news. Permits were issued for a total of 421 units in 52 buildings.

Institutional building accounted for nearly $7 million of the total. Permits for 245 houses were issued.

Last week a Minneapolis builder announced he would build a $2 million complex composed of 10 buildings.

Permit for New Linahan Motel Issued

A permit for construction of an 80-unit luxury motel-diner-drawn at the city engineer's last week gave a half-million dollar lift to Winona's early year building activity.

The permit was issued to Linahan's Inn, Inc., for the development near the intersection of Mankato Avenue and Highway 14-61.

Just east of Mankato Avenue, with an assigned address of 956 Mankato Ave., the permit application called for construction of a 235- by 131-foot motel building and a 131- by 102-foot administration building. W. Smith, Winona, is architect for the project.

THE MOTEL area will be on a 4.5-acre tract and will have a swimming pool, dining facilities, cocktail lounge, service station and other facilities. William Linahan, president of the firm building the motel and its general manager, had said previously that provisions will be made for future expansion.

The Linahan permit was the first major one issued here this year and swelled the 1965 dollar volume of new construction to $508,820, well ahead of last year's to-date total of $312,800.

There have been no new house permits issued thus far this year.

Frank O'Laughlin Plumbing & Heating Co., received a permit for an oil burner installation for Mrs. Frieda Griesel, 55 E. Sarnia St. and Myron Lowther, 303 W. Howard St. Kraning's Sales & Service received permits for three air-conditioning units to be installed at Miracle Mall shopping center, 1213 Gilmore Ave.

Permits for gas-fired installations went to O'Laughlin, for Dr. Herbert Heise, 267 E. Broadway. Kraning's, for furnaces and heating units at Miracle Mall. Fair Heating Service, for Winona Warehouse, Inc., 408 W. 4th St.

All-America Flowers for 1965

HERE we go again on All-America Selections for 1965. This time the award winning garden flowers will be discussed, as the vegetables were taken up in a previous article.

January is the month of the seed and nursery catalogs, many of which are filling the mails and delighting the hearts of gardeners with the prospects of colorful gardens in the growing season just ahead. There catalogs describe the award winners for 1965 along with the annuals that won recognition in previous years.

The All-America Selections, familiarly known as AAS, is a non-profit educational organization that conducts official trial grounds throughout the United States and Canada for new varieties of flowers and vegetables. Entries are open to all private, commercial and public institutional plant breeders. They are tested in these trials by qualified resident judges who score and rate the entries according to their performances. From these ratings, together with the personal evaluations and comments of the judges, a board of directors finally selects those varieties to receive the awards by secret ballots. The flowers receiving the honors for 1965 are four in number including one each of the following popular varieties: delphinium, petunia, snapdragon and zinnia.

FIRST to be mentioned is the delphinium named Connecticut Yankee. Since this plant will bloom the first from seed and will persist for succeeding years, it may be classed as both an annual and a perennial. Unlike other famous delphiniums of giant size, this champion is bushy in growth, reaching a height of about 3 feet and bearing large 2-inch blooms. The color range is from light to dark blue, lilac, lavender, purple and once in a while white. The first year plants may have from 3 to 12 spikes, each with about 20 florets. By the second year a plant may have 20, or more, spikes filled with blooms. They are wonderful for use as medium tall plants in the border. We believe that Connecticut Yankee is the first delphinium to receive an All-America Selections award.

The next winner is the petunia, Appleblossom, which perhaps is the most prolific bloomer of all of the large flowered kinds. The blossoms are 3 inches, or more, across, heavily fringed, and light salmon-pink in color with wide white throats. The compact 12-inch plants are extremely vigorous and free-flowering, and are ideal for beds and borders, as well as for planters and window boxes. This petunia is resistant to Botrytis disease and holds up well in all kinds of weather.

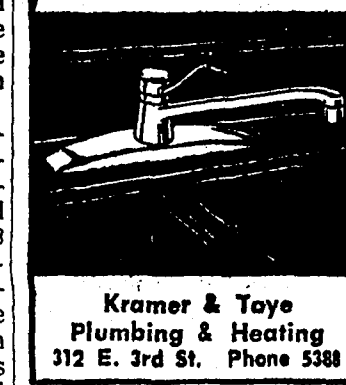

Now, let us turn to the snapdragon, Floral Carpet Rose, the third winner of the AAS awards. This new variety is described as of bush form, rounded, dwarf, and very free blooming. The bright rose-pink spreading cushion with flower spikes only 7 or 8 inches high is an entirely new type of miniature snapdragons. Its hybrid vigor is attested to by the fact that as many as 25 spikes may be in bloom at one time on a single plant. This new snapdragon is everblooming in habit and will produce many new blossoms without cutting back the old spikes.

The fourth award winner for 1965 is the zinnia, Yellow Zenith, the largest, liveliest, and brightest color of all of the members of this great race of El hybrid zinnias. The bushy plants grow to 2 feet and produce many clear yellow double cactus-flowered blooms up to 6 inches across, on long stems. The hybrid vigor keeps these plants growing and blooming over a long period for a matchless display of color. They seem to be quite resistant to mildew.

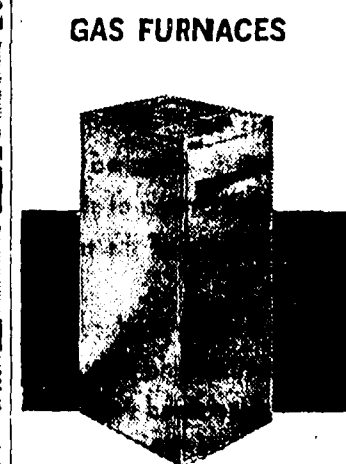

The seed catalogs indicate the All-America award winners by the symbol AAS, and they should be available at most seed houses and stores. Look for them when buying your seeds for spring planting.

NASON ON EDUCATION

TV, Homework Won't Mix

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
University of Southern California

Your television set often serves you well with an amazing variety of entertainment and information, but it CAN cause trouble for school children.

In the morning a quiet breakfast and a warm family relationship provide a proper start-off for school children. Television, even with a choice of good educational programs, should not be allowed to interfere.

In the late afternoon, while mother is preparing the evening meal, there are programs designed for little ones—cartoons, games and activities that build responsiveness. But even though this keeps children occupied while mother is busy, it cannot take the place of reading, drawing, clay modeling, painting or other quiet activities in which the child exercises his own skills and initiative.

SOME TIME between school and dinner, children need wholesome playtime with physical exercises and a chance to work off pent-up energy.

Judicious use of television can be a source of family entertainment in the evening, but should not be allowed to rob the family of story-reading time, or time for discussion of the day's problems.

Homework activities and television can't operate in the same room. A student should put his whole mind into studying. The student who says he can study better with the music as a background may be using music to shield him from outside noises and distractions. Even if it does help, it fills a part of his mind that should be used in studying.

Radio, with talking, demands an even greater share of a student's mind. Television, making demands on both ears and eyes, makes study even more difficult.

How television shares the home with people can be controlled through family planning. It takes teamwork to budget television time. Adults should see that children have a quiet time and place necessary to complete their homework.

CHILDREN aren't born with built-in self-discipline. They have to learn it. They need support in whatever it takes to look after baths, home chores, proper rest and homework.

Of course children like exciting Westerns. They know the "good guys" are going to win. They are on the side of the good guys; nothing succeeds like success. They may even derive profit from the moral flavor of the show.

But without parental interference, Johnny may sit through a whole series of such shows. If this happens, he'll wake up in the morning too tired to face the day. Poor work in the classroom may follow.

The trouble is not the Westerns, but fatigue. What Johnny needs is more sleep. A child needs some firm, kindly, consistent discipline from parents to maintain good mental health.

Assistant at Central Church To Leave Post

The Rev. W. C. Friesth, assistant pastor at Central Lutheran Church 2½ years, resigned his position Sunday morning during worship services.

In his letter of resignation to the congregation he said, "I want to quote one paragraph from the letter of call dated May 29, 1962, and accepted by myself: 'In accordance with the practice of the American Lutheran Church, it is understood that if and when the senior pastor resigns, the assistant pastor also will resign.'"

"Therefore, in compliance with this statement, I hereby offer my resignation as assistant pastor of Central Lutheran Church. The effective date of this resignation to be Sept. 1, 1965, unless a call from another congregation requires my leaving at an earlier date."

Pastor Friesth came to Central Lutheran Sept. 1, 1962, to replace the Rev. Thomas Herbranson. A native of Ft. Dodge, Iowa, he graduated from St. Olaf College, Northfield, in 1954 and Luther Seminary in 1958. After completion of his seminary education, he served LaSalle Lutheran Church and Lake Hanska Lutheran Church in Minnesota before coming here.

Rev. Friesth and his wife, Beatrice, have three children: Bonnie, 6, Brent, 4, and Bruce, 1½.

Pastor Friesth was active in youth work, parish education and the Lutheran Student Association at Winona State College. He now is president of the Winona Ministerial Association.

BILL MERRILLS..

Something to Live by

It happened—really it did. The things I'm about to tell you really happened, and in church.

If someone is interested in some true tales to tickle the ribs, so to speak, and he has the time to do the research, and the know-how to write a book, I've got a great idea for the book. Really it could become a best seller, I believe. Its title should be, "It Happened in Church." The source of information would be primarily ministers and the stories would be true.

I'm thinking, for example, of the minister who had spent many years with one congregation and was now making a move to another pulpit. There was an elderly gent in his congregation that habitually fell asleep during services. It just happened that on the Sunday that the new preacher was to deliver his first message that the first minister was still in town, giving him a chance to hear his replacement. As he took his place in the pew, he found himself next to the old gent that always fell asleep. Nudging the preacher and handing him a small pen-knife, the old fella said, "I want to hear this new man too, but you know my weakness. If I fall asleep, just poke me with this," referring to the pen-knife.

The minister took the knife with a smile and a nod of agreement as the service began. The message wasn't far spent when sure enough, the old boy was off into dreamland. Taking his elbow, not the knife, the minister poked this pew-sleeper lightly, at which the old gent literally yelled out in church during services. "Help, I'm being stabbed." This preacher decided never again to disturb a sleeping soul, at least not during church services.

ANOTHER Minister tells of the heckler and how he handled him. The heckler was a small boy that wore high buckle overshoes, but always left them open to the top. Each Sunday the lad would wait until services were well under way and the minister had started the sermon. Then it happened—it always happened. The boy would come from the back of the church, walk down to the front, clicking his overshoe buckles together, cross in front of the preacher, smile as he went by, and then go out a side door. In a few moments he would come back to cross a second time in front of the preacher, smiling as he came by.

After about the second Sunday, the preacher found that it was a weekly event, and the young lad obviously felt under the circumstances, he was an untouchable. But in this minister, he met his match. The message was just under way when the preacher saw the young lad slide out of his seat and start down the aisle, overshoes clicking and all. The preacher, capable of speaking without notes, kept right on speaking, stepped out of the pulpit and onto the floor level, preaching all the time, mind you, waiting for the boy to get just a step ahead of him, and then followed the lad the full length of the front of the church and right up to the door, preaching. The little boy would look back and then walk a little faster until by the time he reached the door, he was nearly on a run. And, it happened in church. It was the last time it happened, but like a thousand and one such stories of action and reaction, it happened in church.

I WONDER whatever became of that old man with the pen knife. Perhaps he has passed on to his reward. Or, that little boy? Possibly he became a preacher. You see, lots of interesting things happen in church.

ST. PAUL (AP) — Minnesota industry reached record levels in 1964, says Gov. Karl Rolvaag. The governor reported Saturday the industrial picture improved financially by more than $187 million and more than 15,000 new jobs were created last year.

The governor's annual report from the Department of Business Development stated that 149 new manufacturing plants located in Minnesota last year, and 171 plants expanded facilities. The new plants created more than 11,700 jobs, and the plant expansions accounted for 3,600 additional new jobs.

New plant construction totaled more than $87 million, Rolvaag said, and plant expansions more than $100 million.

In his regular monthly report, Frank T. Starkey, employment security commissioner, stated that the December 1964 job level of 1,033,800 exceeded the previous year's figure by 25,000. Unemployment in December was 11,100 under December 1963, he reported, at 58,100 compared with 69,200.

Benefit pay to jobless in 1964 totaled slightly more than $37 million, about 4.7 per cent lower than the previous year.

The number of unemployed drawing benefits of one week or more in 1964 totaled 108,500, compared to 116,500 in 1963.

DEAR ABBY:

Ten Years and Still No Wedding

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: When I started going with Earl ten years ago, he promised me that after he finished his 20 years in the Navy we would get married. Well, he's been out three years now, and he never says anything about marriage any more. He even placed his hand on the Holy Bible once and swore he'd buy me a ring, so when I asked him why he didn't, he said I talked too much. After ten years of going around together he decides I talked too much!

I found a book of matches in his pocket on which was written in his own hand, "IS THERE ANY WAY I CAN SEE YOU TONIGHT?" I am sure he wasn't writing that kind of message to another man. I am 39. Do you think it takes a 41-year-old man ten years to make up his mind?

GLADYS

DEAR GLADYS: No. I think Earl finished one 20-year hitch and he's not about to go for a lifetime hitch just yet. The handwriting on the book of matches is clear enough. Don't wait for him to draw you any pictures.

DEAR ABBY: Why do you claim that you answer people's problems when you don't? This is the fourth letter I've written to you and it will be the last if you don't answer. Do you just throw a letter away if you can't think up a smart answer for it? My problems are a lot more serious than some of the stupid ones I have seen in your column. Does a person have to PAY to get his letter in the paper? If you don't answer this one, I am going to quit taking the paper.

ABBY

DEAR SUBSCRIBER: Does your newspaper run a "tag" after each of my columns stating that I will answer all letters WHICH INCLUDE A SELF-ADDRESSED STAMPED ENVELOPE? If it doesn't, it should. All these letters ARE answered, but due to the space limited to me, only a few letters can be answered daily in my column. Sorry.

DEAR ABBY: My Mother, Dad, husband and I had a big argument and we want you to settle it for us. Every time we go out for dinner, my husband orders steak. He is left-handed and can't cut it properly, so he gives his plate to me and I cut it for him. My parents say that this is not proper, but my husband and I don't see anything wrong with it. What is your opinion?

LEFTY'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Why your left-handed husband has trouble cutting steak is beyond me. But if he wants you to cut it and you're willing, it should be nobody else's business.

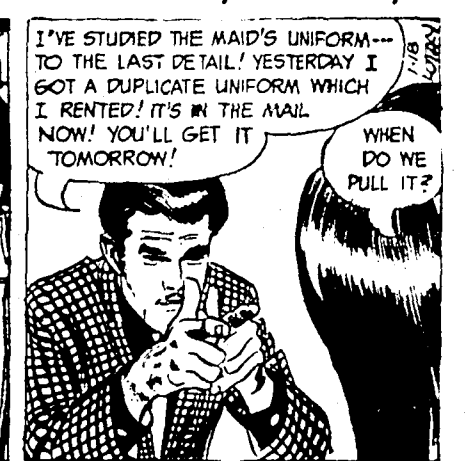

CONFIDENTIAL TO MOTHER OF SEVEN IN COLUMBUS: Television will never replace reading. Limit those children of yours to so many programs a day, or when opportunity knocks later in life they won't be able to hear it for the television's blaring.

Troubled? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hawks, Redmen Set for Stretch; Campbell, Nett Looking

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor

Preliminaries are out of the way. For Winona's four basketball teams, the stretch run is dead ahead. Two apparently are set, two are not.

Winona High and St. Mary's have compiled the best records and appear set for battles to come. The Hawks have nine games left, six in the Big Nine, while St. Mary's has 13 games remaining, 11 of them in the MIAC. The Redmen hold the city's best record of 11-2 — 4-1 in the conference. Winona High is 7-2 overall and 3-1 in league play.

Still searching for lethal combinations are Winona State's Bob Campbell and Cotter's John Nett. The Ramblers have a seven-game push ahead before tournament activity. They now stand 7-5 on the year. State, with an NIC record of 1-2 and an overall mark of 3-8, has 10 games left, seven in the conference.

Last weekend's activity brought success only to the Winhawks, who gave veteran coach John Kenney his first victory at Austin. The score was 79-64.

State lost an 86-77 overtime decision to once-beaten Moorhead (2-0 in the conference) and Cotter saw St. Paul Hill gain revenge for an early-season Rambler win with a 61-54 win.

Kenney and St. Mary's Ken Wiltgen are satisfied their teams are set.

"With the last three wins to set us up, we should be ready," said Kenney.

The Hawks — who have met La Crosse Logan, Eau Claire Memorial and Austin in their last three tests — have two rugged games this weekend. They must meet Mankato, an early-season title choice that has staggered on occasion, at the High School Auditorium Friday night before rolling into Williams Arena on the University of Minnesota campus to meet Mounds View, one of the state's top 20 teams, in a preliminary to the Gopher-Ohio State game Saturday night.

"Mankato is coming around," said Kenney. "(Dave) Lillard is 6-6 and jumps pretty well and they run a 1-2-2 with (Chuck) Halling out front. He's the one who beat us (61-74) last year. He's a good shot and a good ballhandler."

The coach, who plans no changes in his starting lineup, will spend some time working with forward Larry Larson while giving the other four starters a rest tonight.

Wiltgen's Redmen face a big test in Lakeland. The team doesn't hold an outstanding won-lost record but has size in a pair of boys who go 6-3 and 6-11.

Following the Thursday clash at Sheboygan, the Redmen move on to Milwaukee for a bout with full-court pressing University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

"They should be real good tests," said Wiltgen, whose team hasn't played since last Monday because of exam break. "We haven't had a real good practice since Thursday and this week someone or other will be gone all the time. I hope we can regain our shooting and poise on the trip. We want to be ready for the conference games."

Nett viewed Cotter's 61-54 loss to Hill as a bad night. "We were kind of flat — not sharp at all. That size hurts us and it's something we can't seem to do anything about."

About Mondovi, he said: "I haven't seen them, but I guess they're having one of those seasons when they're up one night and down the next, too. What about St. Felix? How are you going to beat a team that scores 111 points?

"I'm still not satisfied with the starters, but we just can't seem to come up with the right combination."

Campbell probably had the biggest reason to moan after the Warriors' 86-77 overtime loss to Moorhead.

"Two years ago when they were down here, we were behind 77-76 at the end," he remembered. "We took time-out with 12 seconds left and set up. It worked perfectly, but we missed the shot."

"We had a 72-70 lead at the end, Saturday," recalled Campbell. "Everything worked perfectly. We gave Lysaker a shot from the corner and he missed. But our rebounder was around and (Jim) Jahr got a cheap one underneath. Two games almost alike. Maybe we don't live right."

Of Bethel, Campbell was expecting a scouting report today. "I believe they have a kid 6-10, but we don't know much yet. We'll stay with the same group."

In wrestling action this week, Winona High is at Mankato Friday and Winona State at St. Cloud Saturday. The Warrior tankers get back into action Friday by hosting Carleton at 3:30 while Winona High's swim team is at Mankato.

The St. Mary's hockey team, currently leading the MIAC, meets Hamline at St. Paul's Aldrich Arena Friday before moving on to Collegeville for a bout with St. John's Saturday.

Auggies Destroy Supremacy Doubt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If any doubt existed about Augsburg's supremacy in Minnesota's small college basketball this season, the Auggies dispelled it emphatically Saturday night.

Augsburg blasted Minnesota-Duluth 75-55 for its sixth straight Minnesota Intercollegiate Conference victory, upping its overall record to 15-1. Lone Auggie loss this season was to Lincoln, Mo., in the Bemidji Holiday Tournament.

Gustavus Adolphus, meanwhile, remained a threat to Augsburg. The Gusties defeated St. Thomas 66-56 to move into a second-place tie with idle St. Mary's, both with 4-1 MIAC records. Macalester beat St. John's 87-57 in the only other MIAC game.

Mankato State pulled the biggest surprise of the season among Minnesota collegiate teams, however, when the Indians upset St. Cloud State 63-60 at St. Cloud in the Northern Intercollegiate headliner.

The Huskies' defeat was the first in nine years to a conference opponent on their home floor. St. Cloud had won 41 conference games since 1956 at home, and had won 44 straight games from all foes since 1960.

Mankato and Moorhead, an 86-77 victor over Winona State in overtime, remain as the only unbeaten teams in NIC play. Bemidji State posted a 95-82 victory over winless Michigan Tech.

In the Midwest Conference, Carleton lost to Coe 72-60 while St. Olaf bowed at Beloit, 81-66. Minnesota Morris blasted Northwestern of Minneapolis 87-70 in a Pioneer Conference game.

Augsburg is idle this week, taking the break for semester exams. Three MIAC games are on tap tonight, with Gustavus visiting St. John's for the only game involving one of the top teams.

Seeling Cops Singles Title In Tournament

Dave Stark and Bob Hardtke won the doubles event with 1,179 and Dick Seeling placed first in singles with 651 in the Eagles League Annual Double-Singles tournament held at Hal-Rod Lanes Saturday.

Seeling posted games of 182-230 and 212 and used a 27-pin handicap to boost the 624 scratch total.

The second-place doubles team was made up of John Sherman and Bill Armstrong with 1,162. Lauren Eskelson and Ernie Eskelson were third with 1,144. Daryl Oates and Dale Prondzinski were fourth with 1,131 and Frank Rossin and Roger Ladewig fifth with 1,125.

Bill Armstrong followed Seeling with 645. Joe Trimmer had 620, Bill Hamerick 600, Bob Cada 590, Bill Doerer 504, Chris Weifenbach 579 and Joe Trochta 577.

Larry Eskelson had the high single game of 233 and Seeling's 624 was the best series.

SALAVA: 'A BIG ONE FOR US'

Cards Vs. Hornets Tuesday

Some of the glitter was removed from the Eleva-Strum at Alma Center Lincoln clash scheduled for Tuesday when the Hornets fell before Independence Friday night.

But, while the contest won't match conference unbeaten, both the Cardinals' Dick Salava, who has coached his team to a 6-0 Dairyland Conference record, and the Hornets' Dick Fischer agree the game should be a dandy.

Eleva-Strum has lost once in nine games. Alma Center holds a 5-1 record in the Dairyland and is 6-2 overall.

"I don't feel we've reached our potential although we have made great improvement the past two weeks," said Salava. "It has to be called a big game for us. A win would put us two games ahead in the conference and we play all the toughest at home the rest of the way."

"I feel we have the potential," says Alma Center's Fischer. "We're doing better than most people expected, but we have some pretty fair boys. After watching Independence, I feel we'll have an easier time with Central."

"Bisek (Jack, 6-8 Indee center) is a hard man to stop," went on the first-year coach. "Eleva-Strum won't be that big, but they do have a balanced scoring attack."

The Cardinals have received a shot in the arm with the return of 6-2 forward Jerry Vetterkind, who has been out with a fractured collarbone. He has been the team's leading scorer and rebounder over the past two seasons.

"He still isn't starting, but he can make a tremendous difference," said Salava. "He was our high scorer against Whitehall (The Cards won 57-38 behind 17 points from Jerry.)"

To try and combat the hot-shooting Hornets, Salava will start Roger Tollefson, 6-0; John Dinkel, 6-3, and Tim Bue, 6-1, up front. They have been the early-season leaders. Also opening will be Greg Finstad, 5-10, and Jeff Havenor, 5-11. Salava calls Finstad his "steadiest boy."

Alma Center will open with high-scoring Gary Cummings, 6-4 senior at center. The forwards will be Norman Dale, 5-11, and 6-1 Norm Seguin. The guards are 5-10 Dave Mayer and 5-10 Dave Hayden.

Both teams bank on hot-shooting performances. The Cards average in the high 40s, Alma Center around 45 percent.

"I think we'll be ready for them," summed up Fischer. "The boys have been looking to this one for a long time. In fact we might have been looking too far ahead when Independence beat us."

The game highlights a conference slate that also sends Whitehall (3-3) to Augusta

(3-3), Independence (3-3) to Cochrane - Fountain City (1-5) and Osseo (1-5) to Blair (2-4).

In the Hiawatha Valley, Lake City (6-1) plays at Zumbrota (6-1) to decide who is king of the hill.

As far as top non-conference clashes go, take your pick.

In a top Catholic Region Six game, Wabasha St. Felix travels to Rochester Lourdes. Coach Duke Loretz' Yellow-jackets, who rolled up 111 points against Hokah Friday, lost to Lourdes by only three points in an earlier meeting and won a victory over Winona Cotter.

A prime Western Wisconsin battle will have Alma, a perfect 9-0 on the season, going against Durand in a rematch. The Panthers lost to the Rivermen earlier, but Jim Miner's team has been coming strong, winning two Mississippi Valley clashes.

Gale-Ettrick, drubbed by Holmen Friday but holding a 5-3 record, travels to Mon-dovi, Preston plays at Spring Grove, Elgin at Dover-Eyota, Plum City at Pepin, Chatfield at Caledonia and Caledonia Loretto at LeViston in other big games around the area.

TONGUE-TWISTING ZONE FELS KENTUCKY

Iconoclastic Defense Does Job

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The wintry demons that conspired against the Oregon State and Bowling Green basketball teams were nothing compared to the plight of Kentucky's Adolph Rupp.

Oregon State was in a fog and Bowling Green was snowbound, but the undoing of Rupp's Wildcats at Tennessee was a thing called an iconoclastic defense with Disarmament Tendencies.

That's what Tennessee Coach Ray Mears dubbed his 1-3-1 zone after the Vols had whipped Southeastern Conference rival Kentucky 77-58 at Knoxville Saturday. The loss, Kentucky's sixth in 13 starts, dropped the Wildcats' SEC record to 2-2. They entertain league-leading Auburn, 5-0, tonight.

A layer of fog that blanketed the Northwest softened up Oregon State for Pacific Athletic Conference foe Washington State. It took two chartered airplanes and four rented cars — with police escort — to get the Beavers from Seattle to Pullman, Wash., where they lost to the Huskies 64-63.

It was the second defeat in two nights for the Beavers, preseason pick to press national champion UCLA for the conference title, and left them in a last-place tie at 1-3.

Bowling Green, en route to Oxford, Ohio, for its game with Mid American Conference leader Miami, got snugged in the blizzard that hit the Eastern part of the country. The Falcons walked the last mile into Oxford from their snow-stalled bus and took a 74-58 beating from the Redskins. It was Miami's eighth straight league victory and 12th in 13 over-all games.

Foul weather caused cancellation or postponement of several games but failed to stop the nation's top ten teams from completing a rare sweep of their competition during the week.

Keith Erickson and Gall Goodrich, with 21 and 15 points, respectively, led top-ranked UCLA past Stanford 80-66 for its 13th successive triumph after an opening loss at Illinois.

Cazzie Russell scored 36 points, equaling his own Michigan single-game mark, as the runner-up Wolverines trimmed Northwestern 90-68 and took the lead in the Big Ten Conference race.

Wichita, No. 3, held the top spot in the Missouri Valley Conference with a 75-64 victory over St. Louis.

"I've saved this for a whole year," Mears said of his tongue-twisting zone after A. W. Davis' 24 points led Tennessee to its third conference victory in four tries and a 10-2 season mark.

IN THE perch division, Kevin Sonosola, 1462 Park Lane, took first with a six and one-eighth ounce catch. David Dornfeldt, 112 Laird, was second with a five-ounce and Gregory Erickson of Lewiston third with a three and one-half ounce fish.

In the girls perch division, Debbie Bell, 427 E. Mark, won first with a four and one-half ounce catch. Janet Dornfeldt, 112 Laird, was second and Linda Dornfeldt third.

Ricky Schultz, 1760 W. Wabasha, was the youngest fisherman present. He is three years old. Tom De Grood, 78 E. Sanborn, won the attendance prize.

Notre Dame lineman Jim Lynch is the brother of Tom Lynch, Navy's 1963 football captain. Tom helped Dick Duden coach the Navy Plebes this fall.

Cardinals Top Dodge Center

HARMONY, Minn. — Tom Meulermans' Harmony Cardinals kept right on rolling along Saturday night, dropping Dodge Center 78-66.

The Cardinals broke from a 17-17 first-period deadlock to lead 40-34 at halftime and 57-53 at the end of three.

Jim Willford paced four double-figure scorers for the Cards with 22 points. Bill Barrett had 10, Mike Erickson 15 and Ron Johnson, a defensive and rebounding star, got 14. He also picked off 14 ricochets.

Roger Kraemer's 21, Roger Delano's 15 and Dennis Myers' 10 led Dodge Center.

Harmony won the "B" game 58-25.

Dramatic Putt Helps Ellis Win Tourney

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The San Diego Open Golf Tournament ended in the excitement of a sudden-death playoff, a remarkable rally, victory for the underdog, Wes Ellis Jr., and a touching off-scene reaction by the most ardent admirer of the loser, Bill Casper Jr.

Ellis capped a dramatic comeback when he sank an eight-foot putt for a birdie 3 on the 73rd hole while Casper got down in par.

The 32-year-old Ellis, who doesn't play many tournaments away from his position as a club professional in West Caldwell, N.J., sent the affair into the extra hole when he made a sensational putt on the 72nd hole.

He knocked the ball in from the edge off the green, 45 feet away.

Shouts from the gallery shook the place.

But a small boy, standing in the crowd, cried.

His name? Billy Casper III, age 8. He had trotted as close to his daddy's heels as he could all day.

The round turned into a three-way struggle in the final nine holes among Casper, Ellis and Johnny Pott. Pott, who lost in a playoff to Tommy Jacobs in 1962, missed a short putt on the 16th hole, losing his chance for the playoff.

Pott finished with a 65 for 269, George Knudson had a 64 for 268 and Jay Dolan and Bud Holscher were tied at 272.

Women Pace Pin Happenings Over Weekend

Except for Carroll Colborn's 615 series for Ferguson-Colborn in the Guys and Dolls League at Westgate bowl, the women dominated weekend bowling action.

Filling out the highs in the Guys and Dolls were Peterman-Konkel with 759, Emmons-Schacht with 2,179 and Lois Schacht with 2,162-2,170 — 528. Leona Lubinski totalled 161-168-190 — 519 and Millie Lica got her first 200 game and 500 series by waxing 208-146-150 — 504. Colborn's 615 game on games of 221, 181 and 213.

PACING THE female legklers was Leona Lubinski, subbing in the Jacks and Queens circuit at Westgate. She smashed 190-547 errorless to pace Double L's to 792-2,211. Sonia Buck had 161-440 for Rockets and Marv Niemeyer 233-564 for Lefts and Rights.

In the Winona Athletic Club Ladies League — and pin action resumes at the Club tonight — Helen Selke raked 216-535 to lead Hot Fish Shop to 963-2,572 as the first half ended.

Last, but certainly not least, Pat Weigel came up with a 517 series for Alley Gators in the High School Girls circuit at Hal-Rod Lanes. Teammate Joyce Schreiber laced 203 as the pair led the team to 797-2,184.

WESTGATE BOWL: Kings and Queens — Ben Gordon's 534 series paced Trojans to 2,183. Jerry Palmer's 226 led Guesome Foursome to 738. Alice Bauer totalled 181-440 for The Beeps.

JUNIOR GIRLS — Linda Schultz slashed 158 to lead Pozanc Trucking to 732 while Bowling Belts were tumbling 1,390 behind Mary Rodgers' 264.

ALLEY BOYS — Dave Smelser's 178-440 led Strikers to 711. Alley Crackers tipped 2,014 and Don Blake 171 for All-Stars.

HAI-ROD LANES: His 'N Hers — Bev Wolfe ripped 157-450 for McElmury-Wolfe and Bud Hansen of Anderson-Hansen and Ed Kauphusman of Kauphusman-Kauphusman split men's honors with 211 and 357. Anderson-Hansen came up with 788 and Evans-Gunderson 2,236.

High School Boys — John Walski rammed 202-577 for Good Players and Knights commanded team events with 724-2,101.

Park-Roc, Jr. Boys — Dave Schewe's 166 led Braves to 722. Bruce Springer of Four Aces tied the 166. Dave Czaplewski scored 303 for Four Go Fours and Black Hawks tumbled 1,368.

Perkins Favored to Win Over Hernandez

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Eddie Perkins, the much-travelled world junior welterweight from Chicago, is a heavy favorite to retain his title against No. 1 challenger Carlos Hernandez tonight, but the Venezuelan better has a simple upset formula in the works.

"I'll finish him if I can hit him," the 24-year-old Hernandez said after finishing training for the scheduled 15-round bout, beginning at 11 p.m., EST.

Williams Annex 55, Watkins 54.
Lewiston 58, First National 45.

Thanks to the Williams Annex Innkeepers and a bit of shirt-tail riding by Standard Oil, they now have a three-way first-place tie going in the City Basketball League sponsored by the Park-Recreation Department.

The Innkeepers knocked off Watkins 55-54 in Sunday's thriller, and watched the Oilers trounce Owl Motor Co. 78-43 to set up the three-way deadlock.

In the other game, Lewiston broke from a 25-25 halftime tie to snow under First National 58-45.

Williams Annex went ahead

30-26 at halftime, then watched Watkins slowly close the gap. Bob Hazelton and Ron Richter paced the winners with 16 and 13 points. Pat Costello and John Koprowski each had 11 for Watkins. Both teams missed repeated free throw shots, the Innkeepers settling for nine of 21 and Watkins 12 of 23. Richter was 5-for-5 from the line.

PITCHING three men into double figures and getting a standout defensive effort from Ted Czaplewski, the Oilers built a 38-20 halftime lead. Jim Cyert got 14 and Rich Brown 13. Roy Hazelton and Mike Leahy each had 13 for Owl.

Lewiston's Jack Miller meshed 16 points and Ron Erdmann 13. Chuck Pettit scored 15 for First National and Chuck Hagen 11.

BOSTON (AP) — The current Boston Celtics are being praised as the greatest ever — better than any of the Bob Cousy, Bill Sharman, Frank Ramsey clubs.

Seeking a seventh straight National Basketball Association title, Red Auerbach's runaways made it a record-nearing 14 straight victories and 21 of 22 by beating Cincinnati 101-88 Sunday.

And Auerbach says, "We're concentrating more than ever on defense."

In other NBA action Sunday, St. Louis downed Los Angeles 111-105 and tied the Lakers for the Western Division lead.

Cincinnati, trailing Boston by eight games in the East despite a 30-14 record, just missed on a late rally before Bill Russell hugged his 30th rebound and killed the clock. Russ also had nine assists.

Afterwards Royals' Coach Jack McMahon said: "Those old Celtics with Cousy, Sharman, Ramsey and Russell were great but this team is the greatest."

"The old Celtics used to beat you with their scoring. This Celtics' team beats you with its defense."

Cotter led 15-9 at the quarter, 33-23 at halftime and 42-39 with six minutes left.

Mike Twomey paced Cotter with 17 points, Leaf had 11 and Greden 10.

Cashman scored 12 for Hill and Hedican, one of five Little Pioneers to foul out.

Sunbeam forged a half-game lead in the Bantam loop by defeating Red Men's Club 23-10 while Peerless Chain was idle. In the other game Athletic Club dumped Central Methodist 27-10.

Sunbeam built a 13-1 halftime lead and coasted home. Karl Kreuzer and David Ramer scored 13 and six for the winners. Ron May six for the losers.

Athletic Club led 20, 9-4 and 21-8 at the quarter turns. Ricky Schultz and Joe Carroll counted 16 and seven for AC, Dennis Suchomel four for Central Methodist.

After Notre Dame beat Navy, Middle coach Wayne Hardin said: "Notre Dame is probably the best team in the country."

800 Attend Fishing Contest At Tremnealeau

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special) — Estimates of the crowd on Third Lake, Tremnealeau, for the Arcadia Sportsmen's fishing contest ran from 600 to 800 and over, Sunday.

Prizes for fish caught were guns, first, rods and reels, second and ice augers, third. Win-

Hopkins Tops Winona High Swim Team

HOPKINS, Minn. — Prior to Saturday's swimming meet at Hopkins, Winona High Coach Lloyd Luke rated the host club as one of the state's best.

Although Hopkins was beaten by Edina-Morningside Friday, Luke hasn't changed his mind after his Hawks fell 70-17.

"THEY HAD TWO kids out and it was enough to make the difference in the meet with Edina," said Luke. "They (Hopkins) are very powerful."

In the varsity meet, Winona was relegated to second- and third-place finishes. Hopkins swept every first place.

Winona did get a top effort from diver Fred Williams, who tallied 51 points to finish just two points behind the winner, Scott.

Grant also got a second for the Hawks in the 100-yard breaststroke, but that was the majority of glory for Winona.

In the "B" squad preliminary, Winona was beaten 62-29. Holmes captured a first for the Little Hawks in the 100-yard butterfly when his opponents were disqualified.

Winona's 200-yard freestyle relay team of Bill Seivers, Tim Heise, Bob Rydman and Spencer also won.

The next test for Winona comes Friday at Mankato at 6:30 p.m. when both A and B squads will be in action.

"We beat them once," said Luke. "But they have been getting stronger."
