State Funeral for Churchill Saturday; LBJ May Attend

Now He Belongs to the Ages

1874 — Sir Winston Churchill — 1965

History's Child, President Says Of Churchill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation heaped unprecedented honor and unstinted praise today on Sir Winston Churchill, whom President Johnson called "history's child."

Johnson ordered the American flag to be flown at half staff through Saturday wherever it appears, on government buildings and on ships on the seven seas, in mourning for the British statesman who died Sunday.

So far as anybody could determine this is the first time such an honor has been accorded to a foreigner. But then, many thought, Churchill was not a foreigner. Wasn't he half American — through his American mother? And did not Congress, which listened enthralled to the British leader in the dark days succeeding Pearl Harbor, endow him with honorary American citizenship?

On his hospital bed President Johnson vowed to fly to the funeral in London Saturday, if the doctors were at all willing.

Johnson had this statement issued:

"When there was darkness in the world, and hope was low in the hearts of men, a generous Providence gave us Winston Churchill.

"As long as men tell about that time of terrible danger and of the men who won the victory, the name of Churchill will live. "Let us give thanks that we knew him. With our grief let there be gratitude for a life so fully lived, for services so splendid, and for the joys he gave by the joy he took in all he did.

"The people of the United States — his cousins and his fellow-citizens — will pray with his British countrymen for God's eternal blessing on this man, and for comfort to his family.

"He is history's child, and what he said and what he did will never die."

Johnson, despite his uncomfortable cold, had issued orders that if Churchill died, he was to be notified immediately. Thus it was that the sad tidings were brought to him at 3:50 a.m. by CPO Thomas Mills at Bethesda Naval Hospital.

Johnson Plans to Attend Funeral if Doctors Permit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today President Johnson, making good progress in recovery from his heavy cold, is most anxious to attend funeral services for Sir Winston Churchill but may delay a decision until Wednesday or Thursday.

Press Secretary George E. Reedy said Johnson has improved a great deal. Routine tests produced normal readings and the President's temperature was within the normal range, he said.

There was no word, however, on when Johnson might leave the Naval Medical Center, at Bethesda, Md., which he entered early Saturday. Reedy said Johnson's doctors would still like to keep him in the hospital for a further period of convalescence.

Asked about the prospects for a presidential trip to the Churchill rites in London Saturday, Reedy said Johnson wants to go but that "a decision doesn't have to be made today or tomorrow."

Reedy said he was certain Johnson had already received considerable advice on the wisdom of making the flight so soon after an illness. But he emphasized that Johnson alone would "make the decision."

David Waters, an assistant White House press secretary, said that since a 3 a.m. temperature reading of 99.2, subsequent checks of the President have shown normal readings.

Waters, reporting on Johnson's condition, said that the doctors characterize his condition as having improved "a great deal."

Two and a half hours before

LONDON (AP) — Parliament met today — leaving Sir Winston Churchill's old seat empty — and approved Queen Elizabeth's request that the nation give the beloved elder statesman all the magnificence of a state funeral he planned for himself.

The empty green leather seat which Sir Winston occupied in the last session of Parliament was the only vacant place in the packed House of Commons.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson stood on the spot where Churchill stood for so many years as prime minister and said:

"As Parliament succeeded Parliament he stood at this box at one time or another, holding almost every one of the great offices of state."

Wilson referred to the battered dispatch box that always sits on the table before prime ministers.

Churchill's fellow Londoners led millions throughout the world into a week of mourning. Hundreds wore black ties and somber clothing in memory of one of the greatest Englishmen of all time.

All trading stopped on the busy, noisy floor of the London Stock Exchange at 11 a.m. for two minutes of silence as a mark of respect for the man who rallied and often led the Allied powers against tyranny in World War II.

At the other end of London, beneath the oak beamed ceiling of Westminster Hall, workmen readied the place to receive Sir Winston's body for lying in state, as commanded by Queen Elizabeth II.

The body will be taken to Westminster Hall, probably late Tuesday, from the London home where Sir Winston died Sunday morning, his great heart at last stilled after a stroke. The body will lie at Westminster Hall — where kings have lain — until the state funeral Saturday, planned by Sir Winston himself, at St. Paul's Cathedral.

Normal business was abandoned in Parliament. A party battle between the governing Labor party and the Conservatives was postponed in deference to Sir Winston.

All over Britain, political meetings were canceled.

Monarchs, presidents and veteran statesmen will follow his coffin on its last journey Saturday. President Johnson said he would be among them if sufficiently recovered from the cold that sent him to the hospital over the weekend.

Churchill died shortly after 8 a.m. — 3 a.m., EST — Sunday at No. 28 Hyde Park Gate, the London house in which he had lived since retiring from the premiership in 1955. Two months past his 90th birthday, he had suffered a stroke nine days before. Medical experts said he died peacefully and without pain.

As the world's tributes flowed in for the greatest Englishman of modern times, friends revealed that he first started planning his funeral ceremony during World War II.

In December 1943, he was in Cairo after talks with President Roosevelt and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and caught a cold which turned to pneumonia.

Half jokingly he told aides: "They'll have to give me a state funeral. President Roosevelt will have to come to London to attend it."

From this remark grew Churchill's "funeral book," laying down the procedure he wanted followed and even detailing the names of military units which should attend.

In 1954 he returned to the exercise. Some details inevitably were changed but the outline remained, including a funeral progress up the Thames River to the kind accorded in 1805 to Admiral Lord Nelson, hero of Britain's naval victories over the French.

Determined that everything should go without a hitch, he toured the route the cortege will take. The route is a study in stone of Churchill's life.

From the house where he spent his last years in London, the coffin will go on Wednesday (Continued on Page 4 Col. 6)

4 Americans Captured, 2 Killed by Reds

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Communists who captured four Americans while they were fishing Saturday apparently executed one of them on the spot.

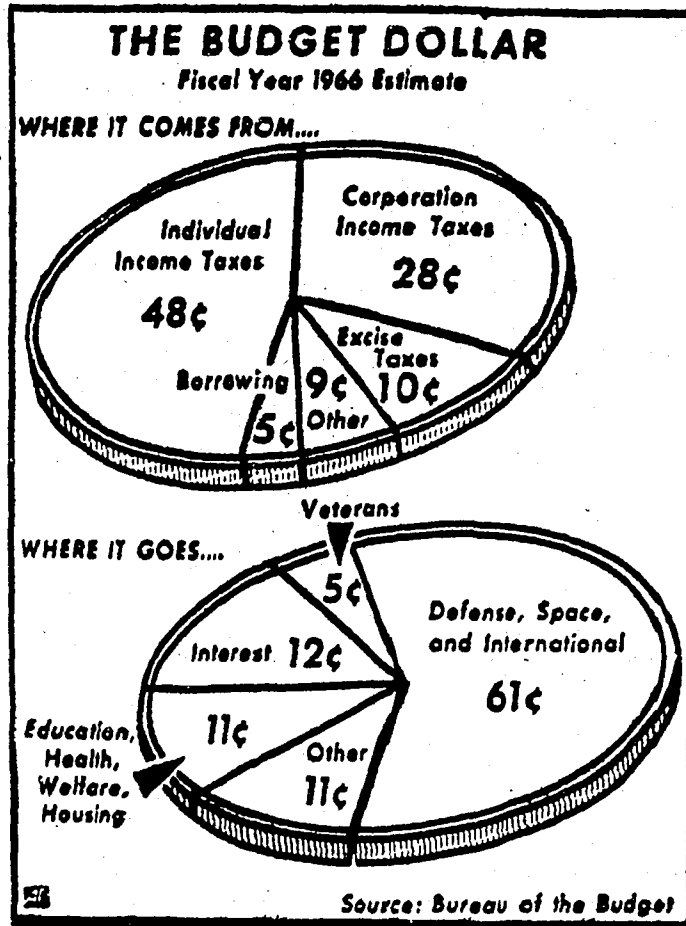

U.S. officials reported today that the body of one of the Americans was found floating in the water near the group's boat, a rope around its neck, the feet tied and with a bullet hole in the back of the head.

The body of another of the soldiers was found earlier. The other two are missing and presumed either captured or killed by the Viet Cong.

THE DEFENSE Department in Washington said the dead soldiers were Sgt. I.C. James T. H. Cordova of Glen Burnie, Md., and Spec. 4 Roger L. Buss, 22, of Cottage Grove, Wis. Buss was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Buss of San Prairie, Wis.

Their deaths brought to 254 the number of Americans killed as a result of enemy action in Viet Nam since December 1961.

The missing men were Spec. 4 William E. Swaykos of Bloomfield, N.J., and Sgt. I.C. Harold E. Strong Jr. of Alexandria, Va.

Ice, Snow Lash East

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Severe ice and snow storms which turned much of the Midwest and East into a mass of power failures, auto accidents, and school and road closings plagued residents from northern Illinois to New England today.

Cars skidded over ice-packed side streets. Power lines laden with ice snapped or were broken by falling tree limbs, leaving hundreds of communities without electricity.

Many hospital emergency rooms were jammed with victims of auto accidents and falls on icy sidewalks.

Adding to the troubles early this morning were new storms, dumping fresh snow on northern New England, freezing rain, sleet and snow on southern New England and light snow across much of the northern part of the nation.

The Chicago area was one of the hardest hit. The Air Force canceled today's supersonic flights over the city, fearing that sonic booms could snap more power lines.

Thousands of utility workers labored through the day and night repairing damage caused by one of the worst ice storms in Chicago history.

Several public schools canceled classes for today and many families sat through a day of freezing weather without lights or heat.

Severe weather held a grip on the Northeast. Snow, sleet, freezing rain and strong winds played havoc with highways and air travel through wide stretches of the area.

Snow ranged up to a foot in southern New England, where sleet and freezing rain covered the snowfall.

A freezing rain in New York City applied a filmy coating atop two inches of sleet that fell Saturday night, making travel extremely dangerous.

Action Should Pick Up in Legislature

ST. PAUL (AP) — Action in the Minnesota Legislature should pick up this week, when the governor's record budget will be dumped into lawmakers' laps — asking for increased spending of around 20 per cent or more.

Advance estimates indicate that Gov. Karl Rolvaag will submit a spending proposal of about $600 million, or $145 million higher than was appropriated two years ago. At that, the governor will have trimmed requests of various state departments that ran to $848 million.

It is unlikely the Conservative-dominated legislature will buy a budget with such a sharp step-up, especially since the revenue-raising task is a formidable one.

Cheating Racket At Air Academy

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Who are the dozen cadets who operated the "exams - for - sale" racket and touched off the cheating scandal now rocking the U.S. Air Force Academy?

That was the major mystery as a special team of investigators dug today into the facts of a cribbing case that threatens to dwarf the honor code violations at West Point 14 years ago.

The chief of the Air Force Academy Office of Information, Col. Richard Haney, promised to start providing some answers today but insisted that no names would be divulged.

"It is the academy policy not to reveal names of ordinary dropouts, which represent about 9 per cent of the enrollment a year," the colonel said. "Naturally, we wouldn't think of changing that practice in this case."

The secretary of the Air Force, Eugene M. Zuckert, announced Saturday that more than 100 cadets, including at least 30 members of the football team, are involved in the classroom irregularities.

Twenty-nine cadets already have resigned rather than face court-martial and others are being confined to their quarters. About 700 of the 2,567 cadets are reportedly being questioned.

Only a few of the facts may be brought into the daylight. Identity of the original violators may never be known.

The current scandal is different from that which caused expulsion of 90 West Point cadets, including 43 of 45 varsity football players, in August 1951.

The Army case was one of simple cribbing. Examinations were given to different groups at different times. Under the West Point honor system, similar to that of the Air Force, the cadets were not permitted to discuss the subject matter in the presence of others who had not yet taken the exam.

West Point investigations revealed that Army athletes engaged in such discussions, and others knew about it and didn't tell.

The Air Force scandal is more cynical. Cadets, according to Secretary Zuckert, conspired to steal the papers and then offer them for sale. Zuckert referred to them as "a well-organized ring of 10 or 12 cadets."

Excise Tax Cut Asked By President

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson told Congress today the first year of his "Great Society" will cost the nation a record $99.7 billion.

The President's budget message for fiscal 1966 — which he hinted may be the last U.S. budget below $100 billion — called for:

— A $1.75-billion cut in excise taxes, without naming those to be reduced or repealed.

— A $2.1-billion increase in all

BUDGET IN BRIEF

For fiscal year ending	June 30	1965	1966
figures in billions
Spending	$ 97,481	$ 99,687
Income	81,200	94,400
Deficit	6,281	5,287
Debt at year-end	316,000	322,500

Social Security cash benefits this year, amounting to 7 per cent on the average, but followed by a steep rise in the payroll tax next year.

— Hospital care for aged persons — perhaps 19 million citizens — with the taxpayers footing the bill for those not covered by Social Security. This would start in mid-1966.

— Quadrupled spending in the war on poverty.

Military and foreign aid outlays would be trimmed slightly, helping to reduce the budget deficit to $5.3 billion, or a billion dollars less than this year's red-ink spending.

But federal outlays for education would be increased by more than 75 per cent, to $2.7 billion, in the fiscal year starting next July 1 because, as Johnson explained:

"It (education) is our primary weapon in the war on poverty and the principal tool for building a Great Society."

He estimated that government revenues would total $94.4 billion, also a record. This would mean a $3.2-billion rise in tax collections from 1964 to 1965, generated by an unprecedented fifth consecutive year of strong business expansion.

The President predicted a record prosperity for this calendar year — a prosperity with these dimensions:

National output at $660 billion, a gain of nearly $38 billion; corporate profits at $61 billion, up nearly $4 billion; personal incomes rising to $520 billion, up 6 per cent.

The word "frugal," used repeatedly in last year's budget message, did not appear in this one. The new budget, said Johnson, is one of "both opportunity and sacrifice." He went on:

"It begins to grasp the opportunities of the Great Society. It is restrained by the sacrifices we must continue to make to keep our defenses strong and flexible."

"This budget provides reasonably for our needs. It is not extravagant. Neither is it miserly."

But the cost-cutting and payroll-paring emphasis of a year ago was diluted, in today's message, by what Johnson called "the rising need for more public and private services" resulting from an increasing population, growing incomes and changing ways of life.

The budget provides, in fact, for a 1 per cent increase in the number of civilian employees.

"It is evident," Johnson conceded, "that unless defense needs should decline substantially, government expenditures will continue to rise over the long run."

But the costs will rise less rapidly than the nation's ability to meet them, Johnson said.

Despite the 1966 increase, he said, federal spending will decline in relation to the Gross National Product — "to less than 15 per cent, the lowest ratio achieved in 15 years."

Nevertheless the federal debt will stand at an historic peak of $322.5 billion when the fiscal year has closed. Johnson served notice he will ask another increase in the debt ceiling fixed by Congress.

These were among the highlights of the message:

Defense — Spending would be reduced to $49 billion from $49.3 billion. Yet Americans, he said, (Continued on Page 14, Col. 5)

Baltimore Archbishop 1 of 27 New Cardinals

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI named 27 new Roman Catholic cardinals today, including three from Communist lands and one from the United States.

This raised the membership of the sacred college to 103, the largest in history.

Archbishop Lawrence Joseph Shehan of Baltimore, Md., was the only U.S. prelate among the new cardinals, the first named by Pope Paul since he became pontiff in June 1963.

They will formally be elevated to the purple at a consistory Feb. 22.

Pope Paul's nominations were in line with policies that have become evident in his reign.

He has opened a dialogue with Communist countries while continuing to denounce Marxist ideology. Today he named the first three Roman Catholic cardinals from Communist countries since a 1953 consistory held by Pope Pius XII.

One of the nominations — of Josef Beran of Prague, Czechoslovakia — was a clear challenge to Red officials who have restricted his activities.

Archbishop Shehan

Other new cardinals included Maurice Roy, archbishop of Quebec, Canada; Franjo Saper, archbishop of Zagreb, Yugoslavia; and Josef Slipyi, archbishop of Lvov, Poland, and primate of Ukrainian Catholics.

The late consistory for the creation of cardinals was held on March 19, 1962, when Pope John XXIII elevated 10 men to the sacred college and brought its membership to 87, the largest in history.

Since then 11 cardinals have died.

The elevation of Archbishop Shehan gives the United States six members of the College of Cardinals. Baltimore is the oldest Roman Catholic Diocese in the United States.

The other American members are Francis Spellman of New York, James F. McIntyre of Los Angeles, Richard J. Cushing of Boston, Albert G. Meyer of Chicago and Joseph E. Rittor of St. Louis.

In his second bedside news conference at the suburban Bethesda Naval Hospital, Johnson said he wants "very, very much" to attend the funeral Saturday. "A lot depends on how I feel in the next day or two," he added.

NASON ON EDUCATION

Recreation Helps Mentally Retarded

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D., University of S. Calif.

If you have ever played a game with a mentally retarded boy, you know some of the frustrations of dealing with youngsters in this group.

But if YOU were frustrated, consider the boy. HE was in a game in which situations changed too rapidly for him to adjust. People talked too fast. Before he could grasp a clear picture of what he had to do, the opportunity was gone.

If this boy is at a loss in a game, he is really in trouble in the classroom. He long since gave up trying to keep up with the conversations. New words are brought into the classroom in far too great a profusion for the mentally retarded to think out their meanings before still more new ones appear.

Life in the normal classroom to the retarded is quite like living in a foreign land. The language barrier is just as real.

It is estimated that mental retardation afflicts at least five million Americans.

THROUGH THE leadership of the Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr. Foundation, a new surge of attention to the mentally retarded is taking place. Through this foundation, information about successful programs is being collected and disseminated.

First, attention is being given to special recreation programs for these children. In such a program, the boy we mentioned would be having fun instead of feeling frustrated. The game is geared to his pace and ability. Furthermore, experience in the recreation field may well lead to a better understanding of how the retarded can learn in the classroom as well as on the recreational field.

Recreation programs for the retarded have been carried on in many cities for years. But the bringing together of information from these cases through the Foundation should shed light on principles and techniques that will help us ease the plight of the youngster inadequately equipped to meet the challenges of our fast-talking, rapidly-moving world.

That recreation may be one of the keys to educational success is evinced by the dramatic results obtained by a British Physical Educator, Dr. D. N. Oliver. He instituted a physical education program for mentally retarded boys.

NOT ONLY did all of the retarded improve in athletic ability, physical fitness and strength but, in addition, they all improved in self-esteem, self-confidence and in their ability to get along with others. In fact, 25 percent of the retarded youngsters improved in tellectually as measured by higher I.Q. scores.

A recreational game is a concrete situation where the words used must be followed with appropriate action. The rules are easily visualized in actual situations. There is enough repetition, and all the elements are continuously associated with each other and with the actions of the learner. A principle is established.

The same careful development must be used in all learning activities. More than the usual number of opportunities to relate words to actual objects and actions must be given. There must be repetition and mastery of one set of words and ideas before the introduction of new ones. The pupil must have opportunity to draw pictures and to express his understanding.

The operation of the Foundation brings new hope that all phases of the life of the mentally retarded will be eased. We, as a nation, are again demonstrating our willingness to help the less fortunate.

12 Homes Built At Lake City

LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special) — Twelve new homes were built in Lake City last year and an eight-plex apartment house is nearing completion.

The largest private building project of the year was launched in November by Gould National Batteries. It's building a 10,102-square foot addition, part of a several-stage expansion project.

Tennant & Hoyt Co., Di-Acro Corp. and Gould National Batteries, all in Lake City, were the second, third and fourth highest taxpayers in Wabasha County, paying $41,800, $32,400 and $32,200, respectively.

The city built a million-gallon reservoir and will repair the old 500,000-gallon reservoir this year. Natural gas was turned on in July for about 500 customers. The city rezoned the area south of the Terrace Super Club for industrial use; some space already is reserved.

Recreation wise, members of the Sportsmen's Club were told by a regional fishery manager that Lake Pepin has the largest and best sized population of northern pike of any lake in Minnesota. The waterfront commission was notified that federal financing has been approved for a $490,000 loan to enlarge the harbor and improve the Point.

Health Lodge at Camp Hok-Si-La was dedicated July 12 in memory of the late Dr. B. A. Flesche.

Kerr-Mills Wisconsin Cost Is $2,625,000

LA CROSSE, Wis. (AP) — In the first six months of its operation, the Kerr-Mills health program for persons 65 and older aided 7,250 Wisconsin residents at a cost of $2,625,000.

Seven of every 26 persons certified as eligible for the program applied for and received benefits, Frank C. Zepeda of the Continental National American Health Insurance Group, told the western Wisconsin Association of Health Insurance Writers Friday night.

The Continental group, lowest of four bidders, handles the program in Wisconsin. It has a one-year contract that runs to June 30, 1965.

Zepeda said approximately 26,000 persons were certified for the plan known as Wisconsin's Health Assistance Payments Act. Originally it was estimated that 430,000 persons were eligible to receive benefits, but by subtracting persons already receiving some form of federal-state or county assistance, and further screening, the figure was reduced to 175,000 actually eligible.

Amounts paid for specific services July 1-Dec. 31 included: hospitals $1,985,000; physicians and surgeons, $420,000; nursing associations, $15,000, and dentists $1,000. Claims handled totaled 38,000. There were 58,300 calls by physicians at hospitals and nursing homes, and 30,000 prescribed drug orders were filled and paid for.

More Snow Predicted

Winona was pretty well dug out of Saturday's 7-inch snow-fall but, according to the weatherman, another one to four inches may be expected through the middle and latter part of this week.

A freezing drizzle fell during the morning today and at noon the temperature was 25.

SCATTERED light snow ending tonight and partly clearing and colder later is the forecast for the immediate future. A low of 5 to 15 is predicted tonight. Tuesday is expected to be partly cloudy and colder with an afternoon high of 20.

The extended forecast, through Saturday, indicates temperatures will average 5 to 8 degrees below daytime normals of 20-26 and nighttime lows of 2 below to 7 above. Colder weather is predicted for Tuesday, a warming trend through the middle of the week and then colder again late in the week.

Melted precipitation from intermittent light snow is expected to total .10 to .40 of an inch, the weatherman said.

THE WEEKEND storm was concentrated in southern Minnesota and central and southern Wisconsin. Highways in both states north of an east-west line through Wabasha were generally in good winter driving condition with fresh snow dropping off to nearly nothing in the Twin Cities.

The Saturday afternoon high was 21 and on Sunday the thermometer rose to 25. Low Sunday morning was 6 and this morning 23.

A year ago today the Winona high was 35 and the low 6. Half an inch of snow lay on the ground. All-time high for Jan. 25 was 54 in 1944 and the low -27 in 1904. Mean for the past 24 hours was 22. Normal for this day is 16.

WITH LITTLE traffic to interfere with the snow removal job, work of plowing Winona streets was pretty well completed by Sunday noon.

Crews worked all night Saturday removing snow from the streets and Sunday morning snow was hauled from part of the downtown section.

Sanding crews made slippery arterial intersections safer. Although the temperature dipped below the zero mark in Canada (-10 at Regina) lowest temperature in Minnesota today was 3 above at International Falls. It was 17 at Rochester after a Sunday high of 21 and La Crosse had figures of 19 and 23 for the same times.

A little light snow fell in WISCONSIN Sunday in the wake of a storm which had dropped 10.9 inches of snow in Milwaukee and other parts of the southern area.

Up to 6 a.m. today Superior had 13 inch of new snow. Lesser amounts were reported at Green Bay, Park Falls, Wausau, Milwaukee and Eau Claire.

Sunday's high temperatures were generally near seasonal normals, ranging from 30 at Milwaukee to 22 at Green Bay. Racine had 23, Burlington 27, Wausau and Park Falls 25, Lone Rock, Beloit-Rockford and Madison 24 and Superior and Eau Claire 23.

Overnight minimums were generally above normal. The low of 16 was reported at Lone Rock, Park Falls and Superior. Other lows included Green Bay and Eau Claire 18, Racine and Wausau 18, Milwaukee, Madison and La Crosse 19 and Beloit-Rockford 20.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., had Sunday's national high of 85 while Cut Bank, Mont., was the coldest spot early today with 4 below zero.

Overnight minimums were generally above normal. The low of 16 was reported at Lone Rock, Park Falls and Superior. Other lows included Green Bay and Eau Claire 18, Racine and Wausau 18, Milwaukee, Madison and La Crosse 19 and Beloit-Rockford 20.

Final Carnival Events Draw Good Crowds

Good crowds turned out for all activities during the closing weekend of the Winona Winter Carnival, according to general chairman Milton Knutson.

The high point was reached Sunday night, when about 1,000 persons were in the Winona Senior High School auditorium for the carnival stage show and talent contest.

THE NAME of a Rochester man was drawn during the show, making him the winner of an all-expense-paid trip for two to Chicago. He is Kenneth Brickson. The winning number was 3688.

About 700 persons were in the auditorium for Sunday afternoon's stage show, Knutson said, and a crowd that was "way beyond my expectations" was at Lake Winona for the sports car gymkhana.

Tom Kaisersatt, chairman of the gymkhana, said that there were 44 entries, and drivers came from Minneapolis, Eau Claire and Port Edwards, Wis., as well as from area towns.

Friday night's teen-age dance, a button event, was attended by about 350 persons, according to Junior Ferguson, chairman. He estimated that another 200 persons were at the Red Men's Wigwam Saturday night for the free old time dance.

TWO WINONA groups were among the winners in the talent show portion of Sunday night's program, Ferguson said.

First place was awarded to Johnny and the Rave-ons, a Winona rock and roll group. Barbara Rabehl, a Rochester singer, was the second-place winner.

The Three Teens, another Winona group — this one composed of dancers — was the third-place winner, and Scott Novotne, a Rochester pantomime artist, took fourth prize.

In the gymkhana, three La Crosse drivers were winners in the class for cars with engines over their drive wheels. There were 26 cars entered in this division.

FIRST PLACE in the timed runs went to Duane Padden. Dan Parr took second place, and third place went to Peter Hinert.

In the class for cars with engines opposite from their drive wheels, first place was won by Jack Nankivill, 1338 Wincrest Dr. Kaisersatt took second place, and George Brockman, La Crosse, was the third-place winner.

Padden had the fastest time of the day, chalking up 2 minutes 42 seconds for a run around the 1.2-mile course. He was driving a front-wheel-drive Swedish car.

Red Stocking Envelopes Asked

An appeal to return envelopes in the annual Red Stocking appeal was made today by Mrs. Jack Pickett, city chairman.

She said that the neighbor-to-neighbor envelope solicitation was started before Thanksgiving but many have not been returned.

The campaign is on behalf of the Children's Home Society. The envelopes may be returned to her or Herbert Hassinger, fund treasurer, at Winona National & Savings Bank.

Two Winonans Heard Churchill

At least two Winonans had the opportunity of hearing Sir Winston Churchill in person.

They are: Ralph G. Boalt, 722 Main St., retired vice president of Watkins Products, Inc., and Gordon R. Cloway, executive editor of the Daily News.

Sir Winston died early Sunday at his home in London at the age of 90.

BOALT HEARD Churchill speak to a University Club luncheon in New York City in 1946. It was shortly after the prime minister's famous "Iron Curtain" speech at Fulton, Mo., Boalt recalled, and the club was crowded to capacity.

In rooms whose normal capacity was perhaps 100 diners, some 250 to 300 persons were seated, Boalt said. Churchill's remarks were extensions of his Fulton speech, and Boalt said the crowd listened in hushed attention.

Cloway recalled two occasions at which he was present. He said:

"I heard Sir Winston twice during World War II when I was based in the Midlands of England, 85 miles northwest of London, with the 8th Air Force.

"The first time was April 12, 1945, the day President Roosevelt died. I had been spending a leave in London with Leo Stackhouse, formerly of Winona, who had just completed a tour of heavy bomber missions over Europe and soon was to return to the United States.

"WHEN I HEARD of the President's death I went to the Houses of Parliament and asked a guard at the Thames River entrance to look up Mr. Brown, the Member from Rugby, whom I had previously met. Mr. Brown was most accommodating and got me onto the Main floor of the House of Commons, only a few yards from Mr. Churchill when he made his brief but dramatic tribute to President Roosevelt. The Prime Minister spoke slowly and deliberately, from notes, and it was a momentous occasion.

"The Chamber was less than half filled — many of the members having gone into the countryside for the weekend — and there was only a handful of spectators. There were a couple of other Yanks — in uniform as I was — in the balcony just above the speaker's rostrum — I don't know how they got in.

"Prior to the session the main gate was stormed by soldiers of all nations and many other persons but for some reason or other the English bobbies weren't letting them inside.

"THE SECOND TIME I heard him was in June of 1945 when London officially welcomed General Ike Eisenhower after the war in Europe was over. There was a procession to Mansion House, official residence of the Lord Mayor of London. Dick Mettlen, my squadron adjutant from Abilene, Kan., — Ike's home town — and I were in the crowd in the street when Ike and the other VIP's talked from the porch of the Lord Mayor's residence.

"When Ike finished his remarks, the crowd began yelling: 'We Want Winnie, We Want Winnie.' Soon the red-cheeked, cherubic-looking statesman came forward, big cigar in his mouth. He greeted the crowd, jested for a moment or two, paid a brief tribute to Gen. Eisenhower and that was it — but his appearance was enough to satisfy the crowd. They revered him and they wanted to see him — if only for a few moments."

ST. PAUL (AP) — James Rice took over as Gov. Karl Rolvaag's executive secretary, succeeding William Shovel.

Patrolman Willis H. Wogan investigated.

A THREE-car collision at Main and Sanborn streets caused over $400 in damage to the vehicles Saturday at 9:13 p.m.

Robert G. Clemmings, 19, 422 E. 4th St., was driving south on Main Street, Fern J. Harris, Trempealeau, Wis., was driving east on Sanborn Street.

Impact spun the Clemmings car into a car parked at the southwest corner.

Damage was more than $250 to the front and right side of the Clemmings car, about $10 to the Harris vehicle and about $150 to the left rear of a parked car belonging to Charles W. Hagen, 360 Palzer St. Patrolman Lyle E. Lattman said.

Chicago Man Pleads Guilty To Burglary

Chicagoan William J. Cozart Jr., 27, pleaded guilty to burglary with a tool today in District Court but refused to identify his accomplice in the Jan. 7 Senior High School burglary attempt.

Cozart told Judge Arnold Hatfield that he doesn't want to be the cause of another man serving time in the penitentiary, but he said bitterly that he doesn't care what happens to the man. However, he said he wasn't afraid to reveal the name.

JUDGE HATFIELD said, "You seem to think you owe a great duty to this man. Have you thought about your two little children?" Cozart made no answer. They are by his second marriage.

The judge ordered a presentence investigation. Cozart faces a possible maximum sentence of 20 years in prison, a $20,000 fine, or both.

Attorney William A. Lindquist, appointed by the court to represent Cozart, requested the presentence investigation.

Cozart admitted in answer to Judge Hatfield's questions that he once spent three weeks in jail in lieu of a fine levied for trespassing on a private golf course.

He also received a "bad conduct" discharge from the Air Force after he escaped from serving a four-month hard labor sentence imposed on conviction of being AWOL.

THE CHICAGO man is a high-school drop-out. He told Judge Hatfield that he went to grade school at a private military school, but he dropped out of public high school after only one year.

Cozart related how he had taken a train from Chicago to La Crosse Jan. 6, arriving about 3 p.m. His accomplice met him at the station, and they ate in La Crosse before driving to Winona.

The Chicago man refused to say where he had met his accomplice, but he did say that they had met only recently and that the Jan. 6 trip was his first to Minnesota. He was summoned by a long-distance call the morning of Jan. 6, he said.

The pair got into the Senior High — an objective picked by the other man — through a classroom window. They opened the superintendent's office, then went looking for welding equipment to open the metal wall safe inside.

After they had found it and taken it to the office, the other man had just lit the torch and began cutting, while Cozart pulled the shades and kept a watch, when apparently the other heard a sound, Cozart told the court.

THE OTHER MAN turned off the torch. Then a flashlight beam crossed the opaque glass of the office door. Cozart and his companion went to the windows, and a patrol car just pulling up shined its spotlight in their faces.

They ran around inside the two-room office, looking for another way out. Finally the other

It Happened Last Night Washington Mobs Outscore Beatles

By EARL WILSON

WASHINGTON — You people who are going to Washington in the next few days might recall the words of wisdom of a battered and beat-up visitor:

"I feel like a sparrow that accidentally flew into a bad-minton game."

The bedraggled-looking woman who spoke that sentiment at the inaugural put the words right into my typewriter. It seems that the new flock of Democrats have a lot of push — especially at big receptions. They and their big Security guys push you right out on the floor and walk over you. It's sad but true that this capital city can't handle crowds. The chaos around LBJ from now on will be like fifteen Beatles riots combined.

Thank God for those lighter moments when Edie Adams' Silver Wrath Rolls Royce with the all-white body and black fenders rolled up with the Beautiful Wife and me as passengers and captured some attention at the Sheraton-Park governors' reception.

LBJ and Ladybird attended for an hour, while weary Secret Service men pushed, shoved and perspired, clearing a path so that the President and Ladybird could shake hands with the states' anxious, admiring leaders.

"I saw him, I saw him!" women squealed. Those like Arlene Dahl, who shook hands with him, were also pretty ecstatic.

EDIE ADAMS, with her own Rolls and own hair-dresser — Mr. Robert, flown in from Hollywood on Gov. Pat Brown's special plane — was also rather noticeable. It wasn't surprising that a man who has a definite future in the party, Gov. John Connally of Texas, talked to Edie when she visited the Texas booth.

Marty Mills, Edie's husband, bashfully said to Mrs. Connally, "I'm Edie's husband."

"Yes, I know," Mrs. Connally nodded understandingly, with a shrug, "I'm John's wife."

The crush here is so big that even Gregory Peck got lost and so did Edie Fisher and some girl described only as "wearing those funny stockings."

Some guests undoubtedly will be lost for several days at one of the receptions. The receptions for the governors and for Hubert H. Humphrey ran three, four or five rooms in size. They've revived an old story and tell about a Texan who bought a Washington apartment. He wanted it to be roomy. One day, about six months after his purchase, he opened a closet door and found five rooms he didn't know he had.

THE "HANGOUT" for N.Y. and L.A. and the Jet Set seems to be Duke Zeibert's, which resembles Toots Shor's in atmosphere. Toots was in fact hanging over the maitre d's desk there, telephoning, probably insulting some of Duke's customers. You see top government officials there, and since this is a democracy, you might also see Frank Costello, as I did the other day.

But it remained for Edie Adams to convince a lot of people who'd come here to see the Johnsons that perhaps — just for a moment — they hadn't seen the right Bird.

"I want to see and hear Charlie Bird," she said. Charlie Bird is the great jazz guitarist appearing here at The Showboat, who, despite his talent, will likely go down in history as the most unremembered Bird of 1965.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: B'way quote: "The cigarette scare must be over for him — he's borrowing them again."

WISH I'D SAID THAT. Anti-heckle line from Johnny Martin of Worthington, O.: "I hear you've got a photographic mind — too bad it never developed."

EARL'S PEARLS: A harried husband complained that between his wife and his teenage daughter, he can't get on the phone, in the bathroom or out of the house.

"I've been watching the Twist, the Frug and the Fish," says Bob Orben. "Tell me — whatever happened to all those people who took dancing lessons so they would look graceful?" ... That's earl, brother.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmie Hatlo

The questions asked by little ones can well keep our minds from collecting cobwebs. "Mommy, when I grow, does my head go up, or do my feet go down?" This was the question a niece of mine presented to her mother. And truthfully now, can you answer that question, or have you taken it as a matter of fact? The first reaction is, it has to be that your head goes up, but what about when you are sleeping? Can't it be both ways? Just a thought to consider.

And then there was the time that a little boy, upon being rebuked by his mother for something he had done wrong, quickly rose to his defense by asking, "Why do I have to mind you, Mother? After all, you're only a little girl grown up."

How about that?

YES, WE CAN take a lesson from those little ones. Really, much goes on in little heads. And many times the working of their grey matter with its questions is most thought-provoking. Only few questions are openly expressed in comparison to the many left unanswered because they don't reveal all of their thoughts. And yet, to us, it seems like we are forever being plagued with the question, "Why, why, why?"

When my wife had gone to the hospital awaiting the birth of our second-born, our oldest child was then three and a half years old, and her grandmother had come to take care of her while Mommy was in the hospital. Immediately upon hearing of the arrival of our little baby, I stepped to the phone and called home to inform them of the great news of another daughter. It was 1 o'clock in the morning. My three-year-old was awake, having heard all the commotion around the house, and when her grandmother informed her that she had a new baby sister, she sat in her little chair, looked up at her grandmother, after considerable pondering, and asked, "Is my baby sister a girl or a boy?" Yes, there was a lot of thought behind that question, for in her mind, she perhaps was thinking that if it was a girl, it would be that much more chance for her to play dolls. She didn't say that, but one can sort of read between the lines.

ONE SMALL girl's big brother was the drum major for a city band. At home he would sing, "Hazel is a little snap-crack" to the tune of a marching number. Upon watching the band in action and hearing that same tune, the little girl went home and complained, "Mother, do you know what the band played — Hazel is a little snap-crack — right down town before all those people."

She was thinking she was thinking her big brother had done her wrong.

The point is, there's a serious side to little ones that we adults ought not to take too much for granted. Each of these little stories, I suspect, shows a cute side of the children involved, and at the same time, a depth that places a real responsibility upon us to whom they look for answers in their formative years. Someone has said, "Out of the mouths of babes comes that which shouldn't have been said in the first place."

Symphony Plays 'Hold Your Hand'

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) — The Liverpool Royal Philharmonic orchestra included in its program of Grieg, Tchaikovsky and Strauss Saturday night an arrangement of "I Wanna Hold Your Hand," a tune that was suggested to the philharmonic by Conductor Arthur Wiedler of the Boston Pops orchestra.

DEAR ABBY:

This Fellow Got 'Skunked'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A good friend of mine came to me with a problem, and not knowing how to advise her, I am writing to you. Her gentleman friend gave her a fur jacket for Christmas. It smelled awful and one of the hooks was missing. The lining looked frayed around the collar, and worse yet, it was several sizes too large for her. She asked him where he got it so she could exchange it for one her size, but he wouldn't tell her. He keeps asking her when she is going to wear it. She thinks the world of this fellow and hates to hurt his feelings, but she says she just couldn't wear that jacket anywhere. What should she do? A FRIEND

ABBY

DEAR FRIEND: She should tell him that she appreciates his thoughtfulness, but she isn't able to wear the jacket because it is much too large for her. And if she really "thinks the world of him," she might confide that if he paid for a new jacket, he got skunked.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a mediocre piano player who fancies himself as an accomplished musician and, while a guest in someone's home, would strike a few chords and exclaim (in a voice fortissimo), "OH, FOR HEAVEN'S SAKE, WHEN WAS THIS PIANO TUNED LAST?" A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: I would say he had a good ear and bad manners. P. S. Someone should tell the host (in a voice pianissimo) to get the piano tuned.

DEAR ABBY: I am an ex-service woman. After World War II I took my discharge in the Philippines and accepted a civil service job in Japan. At that time my sister called me a "vagabond" and urged me to come home. I didn't, and I loved Japan. A few years later I wrote and told her I was taking a foreign job with the Navy in Guam. She replied, "What do you want to go to a place like THAT for?" I went and I had a ball.

Last year, when I accepted a job in Alaska, I phoned my sister long distance and she yelled so loudly I had to hold the receiver a foot away from my ear.

This year I am faced with having to tell my sister I have another job offer in Hong Kong. I need the money and crave the adventure. My sister is getting on in years and I don't want to upset her. Please advise. GLOBE-TROTTER

DEAR GLOBE-TROTTER: So far you've done an excellent job of leading an exciting and independent life. I don't know what you owe your sister, but you owe yourself more. Do what you want to do. And don't feel guilty.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DISAPPOINTED FATHER IN KENTFIELD: Don't be too hard on the boy. You can be grateful for one thing — with those grades you know he hasn't been cheating.

Woman Kills Child, Self

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A 24-year-old woman spurned by her lover burned herself and her 3-year-old child to death last week in an effort to break up her lover's wedding procession, Vietnamese newspapers reported Saturday.

They said Huynh Thi Men doused herself and her baby with gasoline in the village of Cau Khoi, near Tay Ninh, and set both afire.

The papers quoted neighbors as saying the lover was the father of the child and added that the wedding procession went on as scheduled.

CHURCHILL

to Westminster Hall, the ancient seat of England's freedoms, adjoining the House of Commons which was his stage.

There it will lie in state for three days. Then through Whitehall, the seat of government, and past his old residence as prime minister, at No. 10 Downing Street.

At the head of Whitehall stands the Admiralty, always Churchill's favorite government office, and Trafalgar Square with its soaring statue of Nelson.

On down the Strand, with memories here of Churchillian nights out at the Savoy Grill and the now vanished Romano's, favorite haunt of Edwardian London.

Then into Fleet Street, London's newspaper row to which Churchill turned for a platform and for income in his youth and again in the years of political eclipse after World War I.

Finally to St. Paul's, Sir Christopher Wren's domed masterpiece where Britain traditionally takes leave of its heroes.

From St. Paul's the cortege will travel to the Thames. In the shadow of the tower Churchill's coffin will be put aboard a barge to travel up river to a pier near Waterloo Station.

Here the public ceremonial ends. The family will join the coffin on a private train and Churchill will be buried near his parents in a village churchyard in the heart of England.

Parliament was called together this afternoon to hear political leaders' tributes to Churchill and give formal approval to Queen Elizabeth's request that the funeral be made a state occasion.

This approval is automatic. It is technically necessary since the funeral will involve some governmental expense.

The end was announced in a terse bulletin signed by his physician and lifelong friend, Lord Moran. At his bedside were Lady Churchill, his son, and his two daughters.

The queen, among the first to be informed of his death, immediately sent Lady Churchill this message:

"The news of Sir Winston's death caused inexpressible grief to me and my husband. We send our deepest sympathy to you and your family."

"The whole world is the poorer by the loss of his many-sided genius, while the survival of this country and the sister nations of the Commonwealth in the face of the greatest danger that has ever threatened them will be a perpetual memorial to his leadership, his vision, and his indomitable courage."

The funeral is expected to bring together the largest concourse of statesmen since that of President John F. Kennedy in 1963.

Diplomats said President Charles de Gaulle has unofficially let it be known that he expects to come. They said the Soviet representative is likely to be President Anastas Mikoyan, whom Churchill knew well, or the new premier, Alexei N. Kosygin.

It will be the first state funeral for a British commoner since that of Prime Minister William E. Gladstone 67 years ago. The service will be conducted by the Archbishop of Canterbury, primate of the Church of England.

Burial will be in the small country churchyard in Bladon, 70 miles northwest of London. It is on the great Blenheim estate, home of the dukes of Marlborough, where Churchill was born.

His father, Lord Randolph Churchill, was a son of the seventh duke, and Sir Winston died on the 71st anniversary of Lord Randolph's death.

Bay City Radio Bids Advertised

BAY CITY, Wis.—In its radio communication system expansion program, the U.S. Army Engineer District, St. Paul, will issue a call for bids Wednesday for site grading, roadway and fencing at the radio repeater station near Bay City.

INVESTMENT

Reliable estimates place the investment in daily newspaper classified advertising at nearly one million dollars for the year 1964. This is about the same as the estimated expenditure for network television. It is greater than the expenditure for all radio. It is greater than the expenditure for weekly and monthly magazines combined.

This huge investment is not made by a handful of great national advertisers, it is the sum of the advertising investments of more than 50-million classified advertisers, over 60,000 of them in the classified advertising columns of the Winona Daily News alone. It is a phenomenal proof of advertising performance.

Your own investment in classified advertising will provide phenomenal proof of performance for you, too.

WINSTON CHURCHILL

Sir Winston Churchill has taken his place among the great men of history. His deeds and words will live. Few men have left such deep imprint upon the events of our time as has this British warrior, statesman, author and orator, who served his monarchs, his Empire, and the freedom-loving peoples of the world with unequalled skill and fortitude.

He rose to grandeur during World War II. Who shall forget his stand in Britain's darkest hours, his "blood, toil, tears and sweat" statement, or his tribute to the RAF during the blitz: "Never in the field of human conflict was so much owed by so many to so few"? It was Churchill at his prime, but there was scarcely a year that he was not contributing some service to his country, from the time he fought as a youth of 23 on India's northwest frontier until he was recalled once more to the Premiership in 1951.

Americans considered him one of their own. He was half American. His mother was Jennie Jerome of New York. Several years ago, on the occasion of Churchill's 80th birthday, President Eisenhower summed up America's appreciation to Britain's grand old man:

"We Americans salute you as world statesman, as unconquerable warrior in the cause of freedom, as our proven friend of many valiant years."

Winston as a boy. At 13, he entered Harrow, later graduated from Sandhurst, Britain's "West Point."

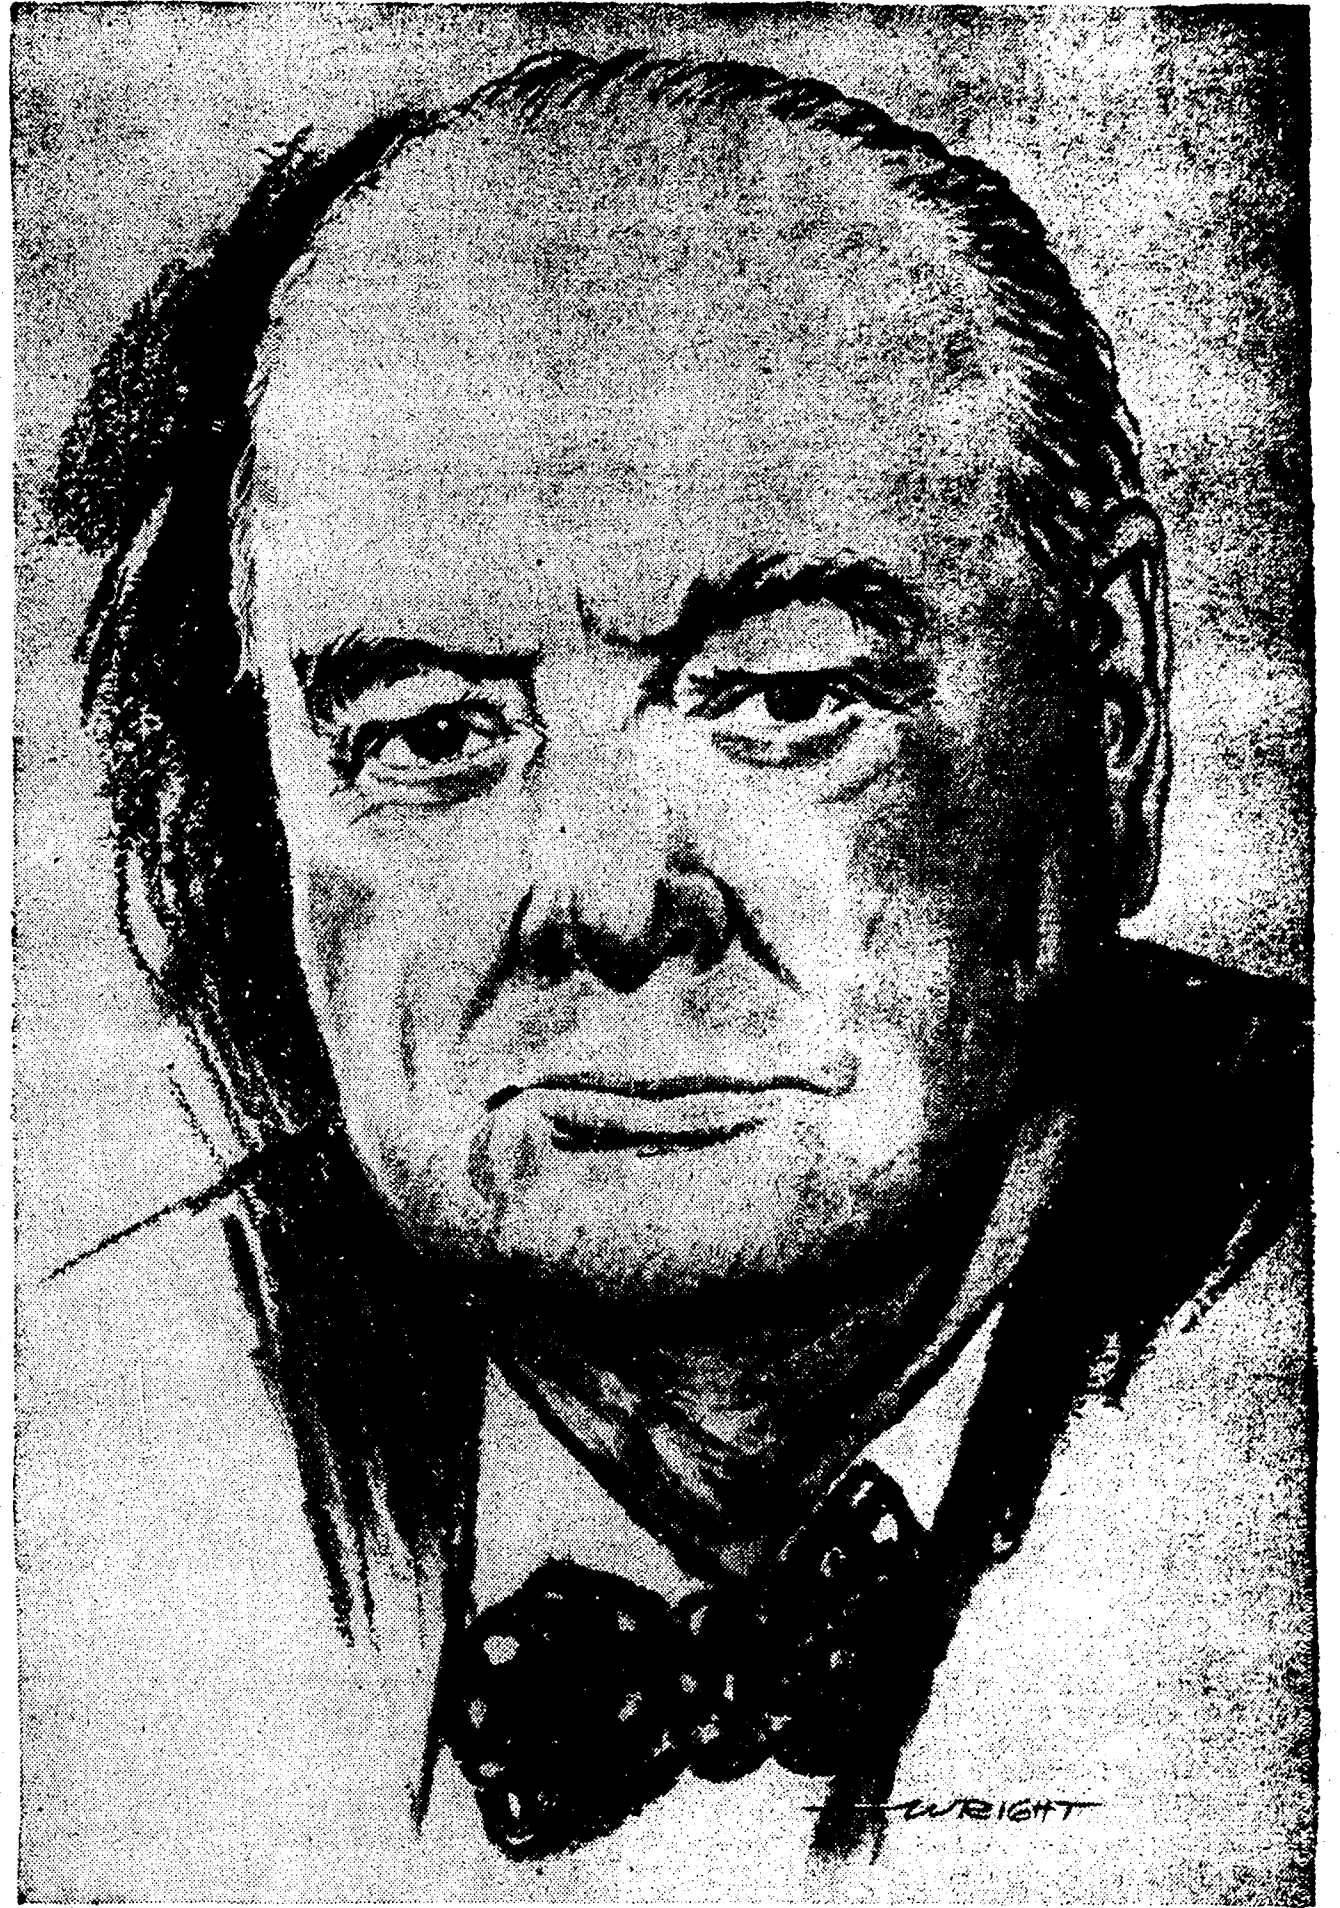

His first commission was as a lieutenant in the Fourth Hussars, saw action in India and Egypt.

Wearing helmet, Major Churchill stands alongside General Fayelle in France, during World War I.

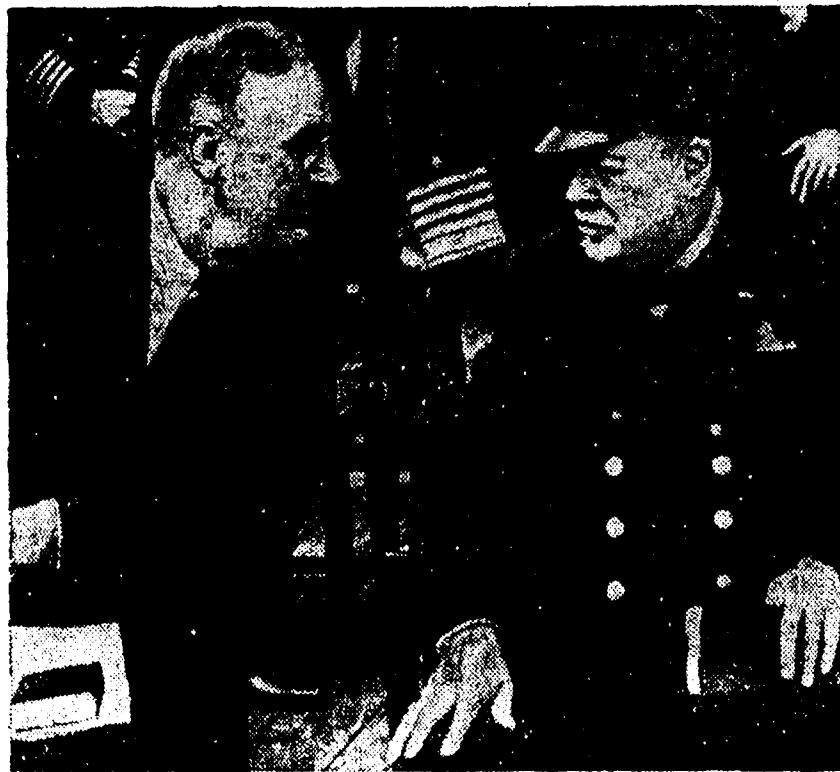

He was appointed Chancellor of the Exchequer in 1924, kept post for five years.

Winston Churchill: "With rare vision and stout heart he looked beyond the clouds."

1940: "Winnie" heads air raid warning, heads for shelter.

In 1941, Churchill and President Roosevelt met at sea in the historic Atlantic Charter conference.

Speaking at Fulton, Mo., in 1946, he denounced Russia, called for an Anglo-American alliance.

Always a welcome visitor to the United States, Churchill is greeted by the President and Mrs. Eisenhower at the White House in June, 1954.

Close partners in governing, Sir Winston and Anthony Eden reflect their happy relationships on arrival at 10 Downing for 1954 cabinet meeting.

Fingers overlapping, Sir Winston and Lady Churchill peruse specially-bound citation presented by British Legion on occasion of his 80th birthday.

His hobbies: painting and bricklaying. Above, he paints town of Camara de Lobos on island of Madeira, and lays bricks at anti-aircraft battery during war.

Sir Winston's Was A Life of Service

SIR WINSTON Churchill, who became the symbol of all that is fine and resolute in the British character, has put aside the burdens of a life devoted to the service of his country and all mankind.

One of the world's great heroes, his name surely will go down in history like that of Disraeli, Napoleon, William the Conqueror and other great men of the past.

Sir Winston's tenacity, courage and brilliance guided his countrymen through some of their most difficult trials. Yet in the days just after World War I, Churchill—statesman, writer, orator and politician that he was—was relegated to that political limbo reserved for those very few who insisted on keeping their eyes open. He was often a lonely figure as he stood in the House of Commons sounding his warnings of what was happening in Germany and Italy. He was preparing himself, although he may never have been aware of it, for that time when his country would desperately need a leader who could look reality in the eye and not flinch.

HE CALLED the darkest days of World War II his country's "finest hour." It was that, and in that hour it was his voice that spoke out. The words were his—there could be no mistaking the cadence, the beauty and the clarity of the phrases. But the thoughts he expressed were not his alone—somehow he spoke what was in the hearts of all his countrymen, and of freedom, whatever their nationality, everywhere in the world.

When most people think of Sir Winston they think of a bulldog. They knew him as a fighter, a defender of the weak and of his beloved nation. Yet in the privacy and warmth of his family circle, he was a devoted father, a domesticated, lovable man.

Everything wasn't always a bed of roses with his children, yet their troubles were his troubles and their successes gave him heartfelt pleasure.

HE LIVED modestly. His personal luxuries—champagne, cigars and fine brandy—were less an indulgence than a sort of supplementary fuel to his energies.

It was our privilege to have heard him speak in person on two occasions. The first was in the House of Commons on the morning April 12, 1945, when he paid tribute to his esteemed friend and cohort, Franklin Delano Roosevelt who died that day. The second was on the porch of Mansion House, residence of the Lord Mayor of London in June of 1945 when London welcomed as no city ever welcomed General Ike Eisenhower, commander in chief of the Allied Forces, following the close of the war in Europe.

THIS CENTURY has so far been a troubled one. History will have to write that it produced tyrants like of which had seldom been seen before. We can be grateful that it will also have to record that these, our times, produced a Winston Churchill.

Health Plan Is Going To Cost Everybody Plenty

WHEN THE FEDERAL government asserts its right to tax your income its claim has first priority. It may tax you for the purpose of sending an ice show to Africa at a time when you need the money for an operation. The fact that you obviously have need for your money—and should have a better claim on it than Congolese ice-skating fans—will avail you nothing in your conference with the Internal Revenue Service.

Fewer Americans would have trouble meeting their medical bills if our government had not spent and wasted so much of their earnings through the years. That's something to remember now that the administration is urging that the government take on more responsibility for our health.

The bills for this will go to the taxpayer. He will benefit only if his health problems happen to fit neatly into the particular medical approaches Washington sets up. If you should happen not to qualify for treatment under the federal programs, the new federal taxes would still sap you to pay for the ailments of others and leave you so much less solvent to pay for your own care.

UNDER THE administration's new plans, even persons under the $3,000-a-year "poverty level" will have the obligation to meet hospital bills for anyone over 65, no matter how wealthy. The breadwinner who is fighting a battle against crippling arthritis will see part of his earnings tapped to treat others whose ailments may be cardio vascular.

Need will be no criterion for federal help, and hardship will bring no relief from the costs. Persons of some ages and with some diseases will have claim on the resources of us all, while others in greater need and with diseases as serious will be only on the paying end.

These new health programs seem sure of enactment in this Congress. National polls show that those who most favor them are ignorant of what they contain. Once these plans are enacted, we may expect that Congress will be asked to liberalize them—at least until they provide what most people think they provide now.

ULTIMATELY, if this stuff is made, we may expect the federal government to assume responsibility for all medical costs. Anyone who believes that it will cost American families less this way just doesn't know the record of the federal government.

TODAY IN WORLD AFFAIRS

Loves Every Minute of It

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Lyndon Johnson loved every minute of it. He appeared to be at home even in the solemnity of the inaugural ceremony at the Capitol, where 33 years ago he started as an apprentice. Throughout the day—as he attended luncheons and receptions, and stood in the reviewing stand pointing and clapping his hands and bestowing smiles on some of the participants in the parade—the whole event seemed like the fulfillment of a politician's dream as well as the achievement of a man who came up the hard way.

The applause for Mr. Johnson was frequent, and the President himself, attired in a business suit, looked like one of the many members of Congress who surrounded him—indeed, much like the senator and majority leader who made a fetish of skillful mixing to attain legislative ends and who did all this so naturally. Lyndon Johnson does what comes naturally and, on the day of his inauguration, naturalness pervaded despite the inevitable dignity of some parts of the day. But even as he finished his inaugural address, he didn't forget to pay tribute to "those close friends of mine who have followed me down a long, winding road."

A MASTER politician Mr. Johnson continues to be. But now, as the full responsibility of the presidency bears down upon him after he takes over on his own the highest office in the land, the question is how this background can be helpful in producing those decisions which make the difference between statesmanship and the floundering in time of crisis that has characterized many of his predecessors.

Today, of course, the whole world watches and listens on TV and radio, and the inauguration of an American president is an event of worldwide importance. This is all the more reason why one wishes Mr. Johnson had used the occasion to stress more explicitly the operations of American democracy. For the contrast is striking between totalitarian rule, which still holds enslaved people of many nations of the world, and the free system, under which the citizens choose their chief executive and remove him, if they wish, at the end of a four-year term. What a wonderful opportunity it was to emphasize the freedom enjoyed by the people of the American republic and to point to the material as well as spiritual rewards which they have gained through a system of self-government.

TALKING IN implicit phrases and turning to domestic controversies, the President exhorted his listeners to abolish hate. There was perhaps an impression given that America's ills are of large extent and that little has been done to overcome or ameliorate them. A significant comment was in the following paragraph of the speech:

"No longer need capitalist and worker, farmer and clerk, city and countryside, struggle to divide our bounty. By working shoulder to shoulder, together we can increase the bounty of all."

This is somewhat unrealistic as long as the government itself tolerates, and the politicians seek to curry favor with, the groups which periodically employ arbitrary power to shut down transportation on land and sea and to impair the freedom of management to apply the most efficient ways to earn the very bounty which Mr. Johnson mentions.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Churchill Remembered for War Days Visits to U.S.

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Among the Roosevelt intimates Winston Churchill is best remembered for clomping down the second floor hall of the White House, his slipper flapping, his crimson silk kimono, with gold dragons embroidered on it, half draped around his rotund, naked tummy.

There was no Blair House in those days, and the prime minister of England, on his frequent trips to confer with President Roosevelt, was invited to be a White House guest. He kept such unholy hours, sleeping until 3 in the afternoon and staying up until 3 a.m., that the joint chiefs of staff eventually complained about it.

They pointed out that Winston would wait until after midnight, when they weren't around, to argue FDR into important war decisions. After midnight, the President, following a long, hard day, was weary while Churchill, after sleeping all day, was full of vigor and eloquence.

One of these late night sessions was credited with FDR's original agreement to bow to Winston and transfer Gen. George Marshall to Europe.

AT THE Ottawa conference in 1942, Marshall had clashed with Sir Alan Brooke, British chief of staff, over his demand for faster British action in the India-Burma theater. Sir Alan resented this, and later, when Churchill and FDR were alone, Winston adroitly suggested that the Allies needed a man of Marshall's stature to command the European theater, where, incidentally, he would have nothing further to say about the India-Burma apathy.

Reaction in the joint chiefs of staff, and later the public, was so critical that the decision was reversed.

Among Roosevelt intimates, there were two schools regarding the dauntless and crusty prime minister, and their opinions about him were just as vigorous as his about them. One school was led by Mrs. Roosevelt, who eventually got so down on Winston that when he would move into the White House she moved up to Hyde Park.

Mrs. Roosevelt's difference with Winston was not over the way he turned her housekeeping topsy-turvy by keeping the servants up all night, but over the independence of India and other British colonies.

U.S. MILITARY and diplomatic leaders supported Mrs. Roosevelt, though for somewhat different reasons. Sumner Welles, longtime under secretary of state, and Ambassador William Phillips, a former under secretary, had argued that if the Indian people were given a pledge of independence they would enter the war with enthusiasm and supply the manpower for the Burma front, thereby saving American lives.

But Churchill said no. And he would pound the table indignantly, insist that no one knew how to handle India except the British, and shout "blood will flow" if there was American interference.

Leader of the pro-Churchill faction among FDR's advisers was Harry Hopkins, who worshipped the old man. With him, Churchill could do no wrong.

At times the argument among Roosevelt advisers was bitter, especially over Churchill's opposition to the second front across the English channel. This reached a crisis at Casablanca in 1943, when the U.S. general staff argued that the way to win the war in a hurry was by a direct attack on Germany across the channel. Churchill was opposed, finally stipulated that if such a second front was undertaken the troop ratio would have to be 70 percent American to 30 percent British.

"WE CANNOT squander the seed of the empire," he said, referring to expected loss of manpower.

However, it would have taken one year to transport enough American troops to England to carry out this ratio, and Gen. Albert Wedemeyer, chief of war plans, argued that the British, with a sizable army already in England, could participate on a 50-50 basis. In this case the second front could be started in the summer of 1943.

Churchill was quite liked at Wedemeyer. However, he won his point. The cross-channel operation was delayed for a year and a half, and the long, costly campaign up the boot of Italy began.

After Casablanca, Churchill suggested that Lord Louis Mountbatten needed an expert liaison officer for his campaign in India, and specifically asked that Gen. Wedemeyer be attached to Mountbatten. Wedemeyer was an expert on German tactics, knew nothing about the Far East, but was transferred to India anyway.

Another hot argument took place among Roosevelt advisers—later among Truman advisers over Greece.

At Casablanca, Churchill got a commitment that the Mediterranean operation be under British jurisdiction, that all American personnel travel on British planes, all telegrams be sent over British wireless, all American labels be scratched off lend-lease goods and replaced with labels reading "Britain delivers."

AMERICAN officials resented this bitterly. And the resentment rose to a crescendo when Churchill sent the British army into Athens with telegraphic instructions to "treat Athens like a conquered city."

It was the shooting down of Greek women and children by Gen. Scobie on the streets of Athens at the end of the war which led to a Communist-inspired civil war and the Truman doctrine which replaced British rule with an American protectorate for Greece.

There was great admiration for the old bulldog's indomitable determination to defend the British empire at all costs in those war days, but there was also a lot of feeling that the war could have been won a little quicker if the old bulldog hadn't been quite so indomitable.

SECOND CLASS IMAGE

NEW YORK — Among off-Broadway's problems, list a caste handicap, says Paul Libin, president of the League of Off-Broadway Theaters.

"The fact that we are treated as second-class citizens is the real dilemma of off-Broadway," he told the Drama Desk, an organization of theater writers.

RESEARCH URGED

NEW YORK — Like the advertising world, the churches must begin a "great new movement of communications research," instead of ridiculing such studies as unworthy of the holy gospel, a Methodist leader says.

The Rev. Dr. Harry C. Spencer of Nashville, a church television-radio executive, told a meeting here that "too frequently psychological research is not related to the proclamation of the gospel. . . . Careful research can give us answers to our questions concerning communications."

Advantages of Council Manager Form Cited

To the Editor:

Because a number of persons have been inquiring what advantages would a council-manager form of government have over the present weak-mayor-council set-up of the city of Winona, a public discussion of the subject is in order.

To begin with a council-manager form of government is similar to a business corporation. The voters are the "stockholders" who elect a city council which functions as a "board of directors." The council in turn hires a city manager who serves in a similar capacity to the general manager of a business firm responsible to the board of directors. The city manager directs the city departments each of which is headed by a trained career specialist in his field.

There are three advantages of this form of government over the present structure of city government in Winona:

1. By better utilization of municipal personnel, better management practices, and better business methods in purchasing, accounting, and awarding of contracts the city manager could reduce the unit cost of running the city government. Being the coordinator of municipal activities he could eliminate duplicating services and overlapping functions and thus prevent extravagance and waste in the expenditure of public funds.

2. A new system of budgeting will be used which will focus attention to the accomplishment of municipal goals and objectives. Such budget is called a program or performance budget. This kind of budget is prepared by the city manager who shall make it clear to aldermen and to the public what funds are being used for. It is a long-term financial plan which involves the fixing of a decent rate of tax and keeping operating expenditures within it in spite of pressures from interest groups. It is a budget in which someone is responsible for its preparation; someone who could explain proposed new expenditures, tell why taxes are requested, discuss municipal policy positions, and summarize the budget for the benefit of citizen-taxpayers.

3. The city manager can help enhance city economic growth. The experience of Aaron Marsh, city manager of Florence, S. C. tells us how this could be done. When Mr. Marsh was hired as city manager of this southern community business conditions in town were in bad shape. We are told that agricultural income from the surrounding farm country was dwindling. Moreover, although the local chamber of commerce had inaugurated a program to attract new industries, such industries were staying away. Mr. Marsh was told that there was little which the city government could do to help.

Prior to his appointment as city manager of Florence, Mr. Marsh was a city manager "intern" at Phoenix, Ariz., where he had seen an "imaginative solution" to the same problem by Ray Wilson, city manager of this growing Arizona metropolis. Taking a cue from Wilson's experience, Mr. Marsh made the city government of Florence a positive instrument of municipal development. He helped the chamber of commerce in attracting industries by laying out a modern industrial park, offering city services at attractive rates, getting the state highway department to build a new six-lane road and offering excellent industrial sites at a fair price. It wasn't long when plant-location experts began to take an active interest in Florence and now, so the story goes, the city of Florence faces the future with confidence.

A colleague once said that what is sauce for the goose is not always sauce for the gander, while another reminded that there is no such thing as the "correct" or the "best" form of city government. However, the council manager plan has proved to be an effective and successful form of local government. It has already withstood the test of use. The experiences of 2,000 cities operating under this plan at the end of 1964 (26 of which are located in Minnesota) will bear this out.

To Your Good Health

Answers To Your Questions

Dear Dr. Molner: I am now 67 years old and all through the years I have needed help in elimination. I have used mineral oil, milk of magnesia, suppositories and enemas. Now I get abdominal cramps after their use and it lasts a long time. Please tell me how to overcome this. — C.S.K.

At your age, I recommend that you give a thought to the possibility that something else may be the trouble other than a reaction from the use of laxatives.

Long-continued use of such so-called aids to elimination can result in spasm of the bowel, such as you describe. But so can more serious troubles, one of which is malignancy, or cancer.

Thus for you, C.S.K., I urge immediate medical examination, including X-ray and proctoscopic studies. This could be a time at which immediate treatment could save you from dangerous peril.

For younger people who are falling or have fallen in to the habit of thinking that they have to "take something" regularly to help elimination, I certainly suggest reading my booklet. There are right ways and wrong ways to combat constipation, and the wrong ways lead to greater troubles, sooner or later.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 52 and have had no period for 18 months. My husband thinks there is no danger of pregnancy. What is your opinion? I don't want to take chances. — MRS. E.T.

Your risk is practically non-existent, but nobody can say that pregnancy is impossible. However, the chance, under the circumstances, is quite remote.

Dear Dr. Molner: Would you advise a woman of 43 to have a baby if she so desires, or is this too late in life? MRS. J. B.

The ideal time is earlier—the 20's or 30's. In the 40's, the chance of pregnancy decreases, and the chance of miscarriage, stillbirth, or malformation increases a little, but the added risk is small that my answer is: If you want a baby, go ahead.

Bronchiectasis

LBJ's Illness Is Explained

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bronchiectasis, from which the White House says President Johnson is suffering, is an ailment that affects tiny air cells at the end of the bronchial air passages to the lungs.

According to White House press secretary George E. Reedy, Johnson has suffered from bronchiectasis since he flew at high altitudes over New Guinea during World War II.

Johnson was taken to Bethesda Naval Hospital, Reedy said, because chest discomfort from his respiratory infection was made more painful because of the bronchiectasis.

Long-standing bronchiectasis is often associated with emphysema — a lung disease in which breathing becomes more difficult, thus potentially taxing the heart. It could be especially serious for patients who have had prior heart attacks.

Johnson suffered a severe heart attack on July 2, 1955 but has made a complete recovery. His physicians say there is no trace of it or any effects from it.

The tiny air cells affected by bronchiectasis are called "alveoli."

The alveoli act as miniature exchange stations within the spongy lungs; that is, their permeable walls, lined with tiny blood vessels called capillaries, allow inhaled oxygen to get into the body's circulatory system to sustain the body's vital functions.

At the same time, they pick up waste product carbon dioxide from the blood and help in its elimination from the body in exhaled air.

In bronchiectasis, which is usually secondary to bronchial obstruction or infection, the alveoli become partly filled with fluid and are distended. The over-all effect is to impair breathing.

In emphysema the air spaces in the lungs are enlarged.

Emphysema is often caused by excessive cigarette smoking, according to the Surgeon General's Advisory Committee on Smoking and Health.

Johnson was a chain cigarette smoker until his heart attack but gave them up and has not smoked since.

Lake City Hospital Counts 7,891 Inpatient Days

LAKE CITY, Minn. — Lake City Municipal Hospital recorded 7,891 inpatient days during 1964, an increase of 134 days over 1963, according to Robert L. Polk, administrator.

The percentage of occupancy was 54.2, an increase of 2.1 percent over the previous year. On the other hand, the average patient stay decreased from 7.1 to 6.8 days.

There were 364 outpatient visits to the hospital.

Two of the board members, Dr. M. F. Campion and Roy J. Wittenborg, were recognized for 30 years of board service. Gifts to the hospital included $5,000 from Bernard Flesche VFW post to purchase physical therapy department equipment and $500 from a Jaycees benefit, besides Auxiliary donations and services.

Family Flees Blair Home

BLAIR, Wis. (Special) — If LeRoy Dahlby hadn't hurried his wife and five children from his smoke-filled home early Sunday morning, they would have suffocated, said Agnus Olson, chief of the Blair fire department, which was called to this west side residence at 2:25 a.m.

Firemen had to put on masks to get inside, Olson said, adding, "It was the heaviest smoke I've ever seen."

Mrs. Dahlby and children rushed outside barefooted and in their night clothes, and were taken into the nearby home of Miss Alice Stumpf nearby. She housed them overnight.

The fire apparently started in the electric cable leading into the house, because neighbors saw it arcing. Several of the joists under the cable in the two-story house were burned. Olson estimated damage to about $500, not including smoke damage. Firemen stayed on the scene until 4 a.m.

Truck Tips, Milk Spills

INDEPENDENCE, Wis. (Special) — A load of more than 16,000 pounds of milk destined for Preston Cooperative Creamery at Blair was lost when a bulk tank truck flipped onto its top in a ditch on the west side of State Highway 93 a mile north of Elk Creek Saturday about 1 p.m.

David Larson, 19, Mondovi Rt. 1, driver, and his brother, Dale 14, passenger, were unhurt. About $2,500 damage was done to the tank and $1,000 to the truck. The cab was a total loss, but the engine was intact.

Larson had picked up milk along the route in the Mondovi and Gilmanton areas. He met a northbound car on a slippery curve. He turned right in the snow to make way for the car. The top-heavy truck, with the milk slopping the sides of the tank, went out of control on the narrow shoulder.

The vehicle landed with wheels in the air in a three-foot ditch. The occupants stayed in the cab and apparently were only shaken up.

Checks for half a month were saved by Larson and will be delivered to patrons. The checks were carried in the cab.

Larson, resident of the Town of Naples, drives for Clayton Nelson, Mondovi Rt. 1, who is a contract milk trucker.

OSSEO, Wis. (Special) — The Public Service Commission has granted the Osseo Golf Club and Recreation Center, Inc., permission to divert water from the south fork of the Buffalo (Beef) River for irrigation of the golf course.

The club requested permission to divert up to 250 gallons a minute to supplement rainfall between May 1 and Sept. 30 to the 28-acre golf course. The club has applied to Farmers Home Administration for a loan to install grass greens and an irrigation system. The club estimated irrigation would be necessary about 15 times a summer and might not be necessary over the whole course. The club owns 65 acres of land but will use the water only for the golf course. It plans to develop the other areas into softball diamonds, badminton courts and other recreation.

Peace Corps Test Set for Feb. 13

An opportunity for area residents to test their aptitudes for Peace Corps service will come at 8:30 a.m. Feb. 13 at the Winona post office.

The test is not passed or failed, but simply indicates where one's greatest potential lies. The Peace Corps questionnaire, which must be filled out and brought to the exam unless previously submitted, tells what an applicant has done in the past, but the placement test is aimed at showing what he can do in the future.

Applicants do not have to register for the test ahead of time.

The questionnaire can be found in post offices. On college campuses, they are available at college placement centers or the offices of Peace Corps liaison officers, who are members of the faculty or college administration. They are also available from the Peace Corps, Washington, D.C.

There are two parts to the corps placement test — a general aptitude test and a modern language aptitude test. For the latter, knowledge of a foreign language is not necessary.

Applicants should plan to spend about 1½ hours at the testing center unless they wish to take the Spanish or French achievement test. For this optional test, another hour should be added.

Bridal Information Must Be In Early for Best Coverage

Brides who wish to have a full coverage of their wedding and two-column pictures are reminded again of the changes made over a year ago in the publishing of wedding stories in the Winona Daily News.

Because of the wide area now covered by the Daily News and the consequent increase in the number of weddings in this area, it has become necessary to compress wedding stories and to tighten up the deadline time for submitting weddings and wedding pictures.

In the future the description of the bridal gown will be brief, since the accompanying picture tells the story of how it is made. Names of those who assist at the reception will only be listed, not what each one does (such as pours punch, cuts the cake, etc.).

Details that will be omitted are: Descriptions of decorations, what jewelry the bride and her attendants wore, and other facts that are apt to be about the same at every wedding.

Wedding stories that come into this office later than 10 days after the wedding date will contain only the basic facts — names of the bride and bridegroom, their parents, minister, attendants, time and place of the wedding and reception, where the bride couple went for a wedding trip, where they are making their home, where they attended school and where they are employed.

Pictures will be printed with the stories, if they reach this office within the 10-day period. Those submitted after 10 days will be made smaller and will be printed with only a brief caption beneath and no story. Pictures received after three weeks cannot be used. Brides are asked to insist that photographers get the glossy prints to the Daily News as early as possible.

Man Admits
Being Father

Samuel Murray, 259 W. Mill St., admitted today in District Court being the father of an illegitimate child born to a Winona woman Sept. 17.

Murray's $300 bail was continued in full force pending a welfare department investigation of the child's needs and the father's ability to pay support.

Attorney Loren W. Torgerson represents Murray, who has posted the bail. Assistant County Attorney Richard H. Darby represented the state in the civil case.

Trial Slated in Nonsupport Case

Trial of a nonsupport charge against Charles C. Young, 31, Minneapolis, was set for Feb. 15 at 11 a.m. today in municipal court after Young pleaded not guilty.

County Attorney S. A. Sawyer suggested the three-week interval to Judge John D. McGill to allow time for an investigation of Young's financial status.

Judge McGill granted the delay after hearing that Young has been hospitalized in a Veterans Hospital and that VA benefits would shortly be available to his wife.

The charge brought by Marleen Young, Winona, alleges that Young has failed to provide support for his two children, aged 4 and 5, since Dec. 1.

Young was released on his personal recognizance pending the date of trial.

Stalled Auto

Tipped Into Ditch
Near Hammond

WABASHA, Minn. (Special) — The Wabasha County sheriff's office is investigating an incident Sunday on County Road 26 one mile from Hammond.

Terry Skadsem, 25, Rochester, ran out of gas there at 1:30 a.m. Saturday. He returned Saturday at 5:30 p.m. to get his 1956 model car. It was 200 feet down the road with the rear end in the ditch.

Unable to get it out, he left it until Sunday and went to try again. This time he found someone had rolled it completely into the ditch and it had tipped over.

Floyd Wiebusch, Lake City, slid into a rocky wall on Highway 63 west of Lake City at 2:30 a.m. Sunday. The Highway Patrol said damage was about $200. He was traveling south.

In another accident four miles west of Lake City, on County Road 4, Miss Ruth Weick slammed into the rear of a parked car belonging to Miss Mary Holmstadt, 21. McLeod Calls
Lobbyist Rule
A Model One

The Minnesota House of Representatives lobbyist registration rule is a model for the legislatures of the nation, Rep. Donald McLeod, rural Winona County, said today.

Rep. McLeod said the original rule, adopted in the 1953 session, has been reinforced into House rules for the present session, with some refinements. The additional language provides a four-member committee to deal with complaints about alleged unethical lobbying practices. It also sets up procedures for adjudicating such complaints.

Modern Home Has Family Room Kitchen

By ANDY LANG

Remember the days when the kitchen was the core of the house — when the family gathered there to eat and to enjoy life in general?

How would you like to have the kind of kitchen that was large enough and comfortable enough for that kind of living, but in a modern ranch house with gracious styling?

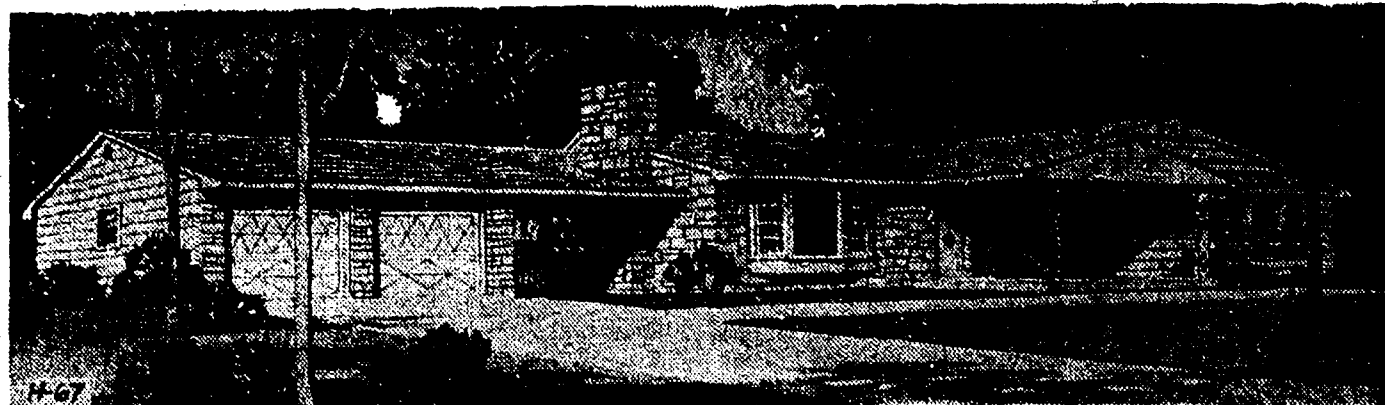

THE ANSWER is, "you can." Architect Lester Cohen has designed just such a combination for the House of the Week series. In a three-bedroom, two-bath house, architect Cohen has placed an appropriately named family room kitchen, 18' by 17', with a full complement of up-to-date appliances, a snack bar divider and an informal area for the family and friends to gather.

The entire room can be reached from any part of the house without going through other rooms. It also is immediately accessible from the front foyer — again without crossing other rooms — and has sliding glass doors leading to the rear. It's a sort of house within a house, with the exception of the sleeping quarters.

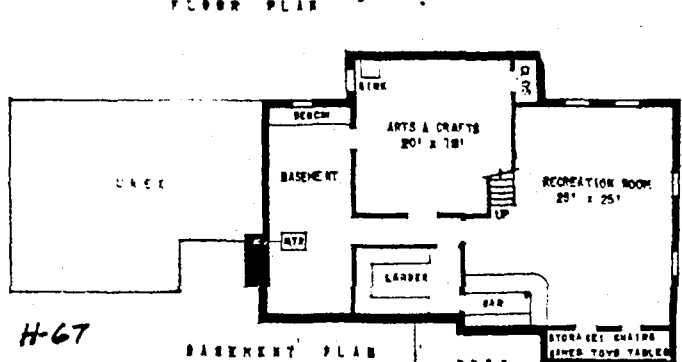

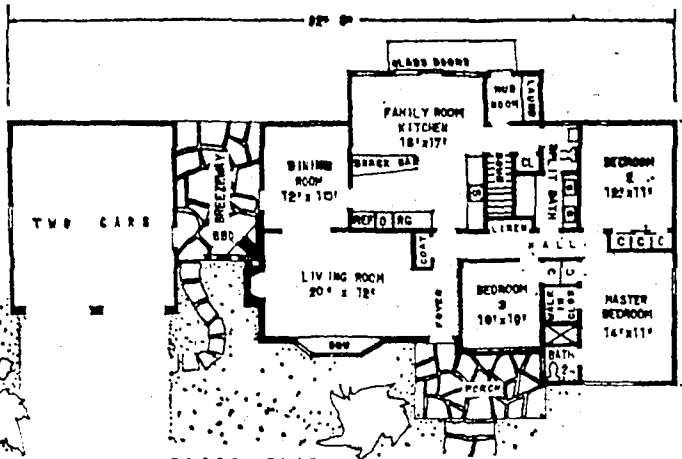

Because so much time will be spent in this section, the entire home will be easier to keep neat and clean with a minimum of housekeeping.

NEXT TO THIS focal point are a mud room and a laundry just inside the back door. And connected to them is a bath with two sinks, minimizing tracking and permitting quick clean-ups when the youngsters come in from school or play.

The bedrooms are on one side of the family room kitchen, the living room and dining room on the other. The master bedroom, facing the front, has a private bath. There are two closets, one a walk-in.

FLOOR PLANS: Design H-67 features an excellent traffic pattern, with direct access to the large family room kitchen from the front and rear.

Double windows at the front and another at the side provide cross ventilation. This room is insulated from the rest of the house by closet walls on two sides. The second bedroom also has cross ventilation, while the third has attractive latticed windows for privacy. If this latter room is not needed for sleeping, it can be used as a study or library.

THE LIVING ROOM, 20' long, is directly to the left of the foyer. It has a bow window, with a place for plants and bric-a-brac. A fireplace gives a welcoming air to the room, taking it out of the too-formal category.

Next to the living room is the dining room, with a convenient door to a breezeway porch. The breezeway has a barbecue backed up to the living room fireplace for economy and is protected from the street by a latticed stone grillwork. It would make an ideal place for outdoor dining during nice weather. A door leads from the breezeway to the two-car garage.

In his basement plan, the architect has made provision for a huge recreation room, a second large room for pursuing hobbies, a refreshment bar, a larder, storage space and a place for the heating plant.

THE SPECIFIED living area of 1534 square feet does not include the basement area. Interesting contrasts are obtained on the outside with a combination of rough stone, brick and siding. It's a modern but not stark house, one that will adapt to any neighborhood.

H-67 Statistics

Design H-67 has a living room, dining room, three bedrooms, two baths and an 18 ft. by 17 ft. family room kitchen for a total of 1,534 square feet of living area.

In addition, there is a breezeway porch, connected to the two-car garage, plus a mud room, laundry and full basement, sectioned into two large recreation-hobby rooms, a larder and a utility room. Overall dimensions of the house, including the garage, are 82 ft. by 31 ft.

One Building Permit Taken During Week

One permit for interior remodeling at a Winona business plant was the only building permit issued last week at the city engineer's office.

The permit was drawn by Co-ca Cola Bottling Co., 102 Franklin St., for a $1,000 job to be done by Ralph Scharmer.

THERE ALSO was one wrecking permit written.

This one went to Blanche Hunter for dismantling a 32-by-44-foot house at 958 Mankato Ave.

This is on the site of the new development by Linahan's Inn, Inc., for construction at 956 Mankato Ave., of a motel complex.

TOTAL ESTIMATED cost of construction for which permits have been issued this year now is $509,820.

At the same date a year ago the figure was $313,850.

There have been no new house permits taken this year, nor had there at this time a year ago.

Covering Ceiling? Numerous Ways

AP NEWSFEATURES

Ceiling tiles are easy to apply as well as being decorative — which explains their continued popularity with do-it-yourselfers.

But don't overlook other ways in which the ceilings of extra rooms can be made attractive.

For a luxury look, wood paneling can't be beat. Some interesting effects can be obtained with plywood, especially with striated squares. Gypsum board makes an inexpensive ceiling. Hardboard produces a smooth ceiling and is easy to paint. Wallpaper is very effective. Textured fabrics also can be used; even ordinary canvas is striking in certain types of playrooms.

There are dozens of ways to make a ceiling attractive or different or both — or whatever you want it to be.

Hard Water Can Add to Plumbing Bill

AP NEWSFEATURES

Plumber repairs to boilers, piping, air conditioners and other water-using devices are multiplied in areas where hard water is prevalent.

It has been estimated that the water in about 65 percent of the nation is hard or extremely hard, in 20 percent moderately hard and in the rest of the country soft or nearly soft.

JUST WHAT is hard water and why is it such a troublemaker? Hard water contains a relatively high concentration of dissolved minerals picked up while flowing along the ground or seeping along under it. While a certain amount of mineral content is picked up while water is going through the air, it is small enough so that rain caught in a container is soft.

The minerals that bring so much woe are mostly those in the calcium and magnesium groups. When they combine with the ingredients of soap and similar products, they form a crusty or goeey film. The scale deposited inside your tea kettle is old-fashioned limestone formed by the chemicals in hard water.

This type of deposit hits the home owner's pocketbook when it forms in heating system pipelines. At first, it merely cuts down heating efficiency. Later, it can clog a pipe completely and result in a hurried call for a plumber.

(Plumbing repairs you can do yourself are detailed in Andy Lang's booklet, "Make Simple Plumbing Repairs," available by sending 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Know-How, P.O. Box 954, Jamaica, N.Y. 11431.)

ANOTHER VICTIM of hard water is the air conditioner, because it contains many feet of small-diameter tubing which can become clogged with scale and decrease the ability of the conditioner to cool adequately.

Modern water-softening devices do a good job of removing most of the chemicals from hard water. Sodium chloride or common salt, placed in the appliance at regular intervals suggested by the manufacturer of the water-softener, is the agent chiefly responsible for what is called the regenerating process.

SOME MANUFACTURERS recommend ice cream salt or a specially prepared water-softener salt. If you purchase a water-softener, it is well to follow the recommended procedures on this matter of adding salt, since some types of salt have a tendency to leave dirt and sediment inside the softener.

What happens when the hard water turns to soft? Mom gets the clothes cleaner, the dishes more sparkling and uses less soap. Pop gets a better shave in the morning — and cuts down his plumbing repair bills.

Let's Get Growing

By A. F. SHIRA

NOTES ON SOME MULCHING MATERIALS

IN A previous article the benefits of mulching from both the winter and summer standpoints were discussed. Today, let us talk about some of the various materials that can be used for this purpose.

As has been stated before, some shrubs, ornamental evergreens, roses, and many other plants will go through the winter season with more vitality and less loss, if they are watered thoroughly just before the ground freezes and then well-mulched after the ground has frozen. If the freezing weather occurs late in the season as was the case this past fall, it will not do any harm to apply the mulch before the ground has frozen, but the plants should be well soaked beforehand. Some of the mulching materials that can be used to advantage during the growing season are not very satisfactory for winter covering.

As a means of retaining moisture in the ground and restricting the growth of weeds, most of the usual mulching materials are about equal in value as a summer mulch. However, the ready availability of certain kinds, along with ease of application, can well be the determining factor as to the kind of material to be used. With this in mind, let us take up some of the more common mulching materials.

LEAVES WILL be mentioned first, since they are usually available in good quantities to most gardeners. They are one of the best materials for mulching bulbs, perennials, roses, shrubs, ornamental evergreens, and other plants for winter. We have used them for years as a suitable mulch for strawberry plants. To keep them from blowing away, they can be wetted down thoroughly and a few pieces of boards, branches, corn stalks, or other materials placed over them.

In the spring the bulk of the leaves can be raked up and placed on the compost pile. They are less easily used in the vegetable garden as a summer mulch, but can be spaded, or plowed, into the soil either in the fall, or spring, for humus and nutrients. However, when partially composted, they can be used to advantage in the vegetable garden as a summer mulch. One plant authority has stated that leaves contain as much plant nutrients per pound as dog manure of the same moisture content. Therefore, they should be used to the limit as compost and as mulches.

Marsh hay makes a good winter mulch for various plants. We use it as a top covering over the mulch of leaves on the rose bed. In the spring it can be piled up near the vegetable garden and, if kept fairly wet, can be used as a mulch for vegetables, since it disintegrates rather rapidly. We like to use it under the cucumber and melon vines, as well as for tomato and strawberry plants.

STRAW IS OFTEN used as a mulch between strawberry rows to protect the plants and to keep the berries clean. However, the use of straw may bring in weed seeds and for this reason we prefer to use marsh hay or leaves.

Ground corn cobs, if available, make a good summer mulch and is one of the best for roses. However, they are deficient in nitrogen and do not contain a sufficient amount to take care of the bacteria requirements that are necessary in their decomposition. Therefore, additional nitrogen should be worked into the soil before the corn cob mulch is applied so that the bacteria will not have to use up the nitrogen in the soil at the expense of the plants.

Sawdust is generally available and makes a good summer mulch, but decomposes very slowly. Therefore, additional nitrogen should be added to the soil the same as when corn cobs are used.

Other summer mulches are, grass clippings, peat moss, huckwheat hulls, oat hulls, cocoa bean hulls, especially prepared mulching paper, and other materials that may be available locally.

If our readers have any questions regarding mulches or mulching, we will be glad to answer them.

Two Candidates File For Arcadia Offices

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special)—Two more persons have filed for Arcadia city office. Alex Foster filed first, for reelection as supervisor. Later filings are Morris Jensen, 51, seeking reelection as first ward alderman, and William Micek, 60, who has filed for third ward supervisor.

Jensen, alderman the last six years, is president of this City Council. Owner of Morris Jensen & Son Lumber Co., he is married and has two sons. He is a member of the American Lutheran Church.

Micek was appointed supervisor last year to fill the vacancy left by the death of Dr. W. E. English. Retired farmer, he is a past director of the Arcadia Co-op Association and Trempealeau County Farm Bureau. He and his wife have two daughters. He is a trustee of St. Stanislaus Catholic Church.

Most Surplus Food Requests OKed at Alma

ALMA, Wis. (Special)—Nearly 100 percent participation by persons who applied for certification for the surplus foods program begun this month in Buffalo County was reported Friday by the Public Welfare Department, local distributor. Only six of the households certified for this U.S. Department of Agriculture program didn't call for their allotments.

An approximate 625 people are benefitting from the following foods distributed Tuesday through Friday, with distributions to recipients in Naples, Mondovi, Canton, Dover and Gilmanton towns estimated for Friday:

Butter, 625 pounds; processed cheddar cheese, 780 pounds; 625 13-ounce cans dried eggs; 625 pounds lard; 1,260 pounds dried beans; 625 28-ounce cans beef; 452 pounds bulgur; 1,230 pounds cornmeal; 3,500 pounds flour; 463 pounds grits; 625 30-ounce cans chopped meat; 985 pounds dried milk; 440 pounds peanut butter; 700 pounds rice, and 750 pounds rolled wheat.

As a few of the supplies are for two or three months, distributions were heavier in January and will increase again as supplies are depleted. A family making its own bread may receive extra flour. Food items like butter, cheese, lard and meat will be with the monthly allotments, according to the welfare department.

Persons receiving welfare aids and others in low income brackets are eligible.

Spring Valley Tops District 1

SPRING GROVE, Minn.—Spring Valley High School's drama group will travel to Northfield, Minn., next Saturday to compete in one of eight regional drama contests after winning the District One competition at Spring Grove High School Saturday.

The Spring Valley group presented "A Minuet," one-act play by Louis N. Parker, directed by the high school's George F. Colbornson.

Judges Ralph Haugen and Mrs. Miles Johnson, both from St. Olaf College where the regional competition will be held, reviewed one-act plays put on by Spring Valley, Rushford, Mabel and Preston high schools. They picked Rushford as an alternate to Spring Valley.

The District One competition was held at Spring Grove High School for schools in Fillmore and Houston counties. Larry Blegen, head of the English and speech departments at Spring Grove, directed arrangements. Winners of the eight regional competitions to be held Saturday will compete against each other in a statewide contest during February sponsored by the Minnesota State High School League.

Etrick Cemetery Elects Officers

ETRICK, Wis. (Special)—Officers re-elected at the annual meeting of the Ettrick Cemetery Association include Arthur Runnestrand, president; Jennings Johnson, vice president; Ben Erickson, rural Osseo, secretary, and N. C. Twesme, treasurer.

Erickson is using the same secretary's book that has been used continuously since the association was organized in 1896. First president was E. J. Brovold who for 17 years was postmaster at Ettrick. First secretary was J. E. Wilberg, father of E. O. Wilberg, Whitall dentist. Trustees appointed at the first meeting were Hans Christianson, father of Helmer Christianson, now a resident at Bethany Home, La Crosse, and Iver Pederson, father of Mrs. Ann Birge, now of Eau Claire. Pederson is generally conceded to have been the founder of Ettrick.

Ben C. Erickson, father of the present secretary, Ben E., also served as secretary many years. E. J. Brovold was grandfather of Arnold Brovold, who operates the Brovold homestead at Beach.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

Redmen Meet Gusties Tonight: 'Must' Game for Both

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor

After completing what Coach Ken Wiltgen termed a "very good two-game road trip," the St. Mary's College Redmen bound back into MIAC competition tonight at Terrace Heights.

The opponent for St. Mary's will be Whitey Skoog's Gustavus Adolphus quintet, the conference surprise at the moment.

The contest that represents a "must" game for both clubs begins at 8 p.m. and signals the beginning of a big three-game conference week for Wiltgen's crew.

The Redmen trek to Hamline Thursday and then return home to meet the University of Minnesota - Duluth Bulldogs Saturday.

"At this time next week, we'll pretty much know where we stand," said Wiltgen Sunday. "We've got to keep winning now."

The Gustavus game kicks off a week that will see all four city quintets in action, Winona High, which copped twin victories over the weekend, travels to Faribault Friday for another big contest. Both the Hawks and Falcons are 4-1 in the Big Nine.

Winona State hosts Wartburg at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in a non-league game and Cotter travels to Minneapolis for a bout with De La Salle's Islanders the same day.

"We'll need an all-out effort," said Wiltgen. "We've been tested, now we have to go to work for Friday," said Kenney of his team's weekend victories over Mankato and Mounds View. "This has to be a big one, especially over there. This will tell us how far we've come."

The last has to rank as the understatement of the year. As of Sunday, Nett planned no change in his starting lineup.

Winona State's Bob Campbell saw his Warriors fall to St. Cloud 73-62 at Eastman Hall on the Huskie campus Saturday night, but wasn't displeased.

MEET HARMONY, ALMA TUESDAY

Caledonia, C-FC: 'Giant Killers?'

Caledonia and Cochrane-Fountain City will try to play the role of "giant killers" in Minnesota and Wisconsin non-conference basketball games Tuesday night.

Caledonia, a youthful club that has compiled a 4-5 overall record, will try to slow the charge of the Harmony Cardinals, holders of a 12-1 record, while C-FC, under the direction of Jim Danielson, tries to halt a 12-game Alma winning streak.

Caledonia must travel to Harmony while CFC gets the homecourt advantage. In addition to the top records possessed by the Cards and Rivermen, both games rate as matches of traditional rivals.

Harmony, beaten only by Alma in holiday action, has been improving each game in the eyes of Coach Tom Meulemans, himself an Alma High School graduate.

Felix Percuoco of Caledonia feels his club may still be a year away.

Alma's Greg Green refuses to look ahead.

Danielson knows a top effort will be needed.

All of the coaches point to tough games.

"We're coming along real good," said Meulemans. "We played out best half of the year the first two quarters at Lanesboro Friday before getting the natural letdown (the Cards won 79-72). We had a 21-point lead, but lost Johnson (Ron, 6-1 forward) on fouls and couldn't get the ball up against their press."

Meulemans points to 6-3 junior Doug Hulcher as the key: "He's our starting center. As tough as he is, is how tough we are."

WORKING WITH Hulcher are Johnson and 5-11 sophomore Bill Barrett at the wings and 5-10 senior Mike Erickson and 5-11 senior Jim Willford in the backcourt.

Erickson is averaging 22, Barrett 18, Willford 16 and Johnson 15. Hulcher has been in double figures in two of the last three games and sixth-man Larry Haugen, a 6-2 senior forward, has come off the bench to sweep into twin digits on occasion.

One thing operating against the Cardinals Tuesday is the fact they meet Chatfield Friday in the game that could clinch a tie for the Maple Leaf title for Harmony.

"But we can't get caught looking past Caledonia because they're big and tough," said Meulemans.

PERCUOCO SAYS: "They use a 2-1-2 zone press and we've had trouble getting the ball up the floor all year. On their small court it could really hurt us. Then too, you can't try to stop one man, because they're all good scorers."

The Warriors, who have had trouble putting four good quarters together, will start 6-2 Jack Hauser, who scored 40 points in a win over Mabel Friday night, and 6-1 junior Jon Aska at guards. The forwards are Jim Wiegrefe, 6-1 senior, and Bruce Dennison, 6-0 junior. Burl Haar, 6-2 junior, goes at center. Also likely to see action will be Bruce Hansen, Ken Larson and Loretto transfer Paul Wagner.

"We have the good height, but we're still a step away from the quickness we need," said Percuoco.

"We'll have all we can handle in Gustavus. They are coming real well. They are something like us. They get scoring from everyone, our records are about even and we're even in size."

St. Mary's ranks 12-3 on the season and 4-1 in the conference. Gustavus is 6-1 in the conference and 10-5 on the season and holds a victory over Duluth.

St. Mary's will make no changes. Rog Pytlewski and George Valaika team at forwards with George Hoder in the center and Jerry Sausser and Mike Maloney at guards.

"Potentially Gustavus can get scoring from everyone,"

After victories over Mondovi and St. Felix Friday and Saturday, the Ramblers stand 9-5 on the season.

About De La Salle, Nett said: "After what Hill did to them (the Islanders cracked the Islanders 68-44 Friday), they'll be blistering mad. It will be tough because you always have trouble on their home court, even if you happen to be 20 points better than them. You might say their fans are boisterous."

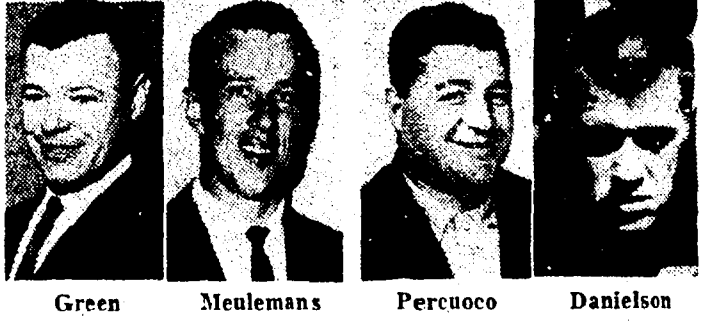

Campbell praised Dave Meisner, who scored 25, for his fifth consecutive top game, had words of kindness also for Tom Stallings and Dave Rosenau.

The Warrior coach plans to take a long look at 1964 Cotter grad Mike Jerecek, 6-5 center, in workouts this week.

"He did a good job on the boards for us Saturday and we might try and work him in there," said the coach.

Wartburg rates nearly even with the tiny Warriors in size. "That is their big men and our big men are about the same," smiled Campbell. "You'll hardly find anyone with guards as small as Goede (5-7 Dave) and Meisner (5-10)."

"One thing I was pleased with at St. Cloud is that the kids cut down on their errors and had fewer forced shots," he said. "This is what we have to do."

Crampton Wins Crosby Golf Meet

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Bing Crosby's annual experiment in human endurance — his $84,500 golf tournament — is over and handsome Australian Bruce Crampton emerged the winner.

Today the golfers and their fans could discard their raincoats, greatcoats and all-weather gear after a weekend that must be known as the big blow — cold and rainy.

The skies turned bright Sunday afternoon, but not until they'd delivered a final brisk shower in the morning.

Next stop on the pro tour is the $55,000 Lucky International Open in San Francisco. "Crosby weather" may prevail there but it can't be worse than it was here.

Crampton, 29, who won the Australian open at age 20, is the first foreigner to win the Crosby.

He moved into the lead for the first time early in Sunday's round and finished with a three-under-par 69 and a three-under 284 for the 72 holes. It was worth $7,500.

Crampton whipped "The Monster," the Pebble Beach Golf course which is 6,320 yards of golfing chagrin and frustration with a par 36-36-72, in 32-37-69.

Tony Lema, the defending champion, finished with a 72 for 287. Jack Nicklaus, with a 71, and Bill Casper Jr. with a 72, tied at 288.

Lema won $4,000. Casper and Nicklaus each got $3,100.

Arnold Palmer shot an 80 for a 302 total.

National Open champion Ken Venturi and PGA ruler Bobby Nichols failed to survive the 54-hole cut.

Newcomer Rocky Thompson of Wichita Falls, Tex., who was the surprise leader going into the final round, scored a 78 for 290, along with Ken Still, 70, and Jacky Cupit, 75. Each received $1,833.33.

Cage, Grid Coaches Worry? What About Hefty Grapplers?

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor

Basketball and football coaches are supposed to worry — it's the thing for them to do. But consider the lot of a wrestling coach. His job is supposed to be relatively easy — get some good individuals, make 'em tough and win.

But football and basketball coaches have never had the problem of an athlete being barred from competition for being overweight!

Winona State's Bob Campbell bumped into the problem Saturday night at Memorial Hall, and it cost him some gray hairs before his Warriors finally came up with their sixth straight victory, a 17-13 decision over St. Cloud, a team that had been undefeated and rated fourth in the NAIA.

Steve Drange had defeated Dan Scraback in a challenge match. Saturday came and Drange couldn't make weight. By this time Scraback had abandoned his diet and grown "pudgy" for a 191-pound exhibition bout.

The 167-pound job fell to Lake City freshman Byron Bremer. Gunner credited him with a standout job, but he was beaten 7-2 to send St. Cloud in front 13-11.

neuvering were Perry King (5-0) and Larry Wedemeyer (6-0). The loss to Hazewinkle was Marchionda's first against four wins and a tie.

In exhibition matches, Scraback pinned former Minnesota state prep champ, John Rybak, at 5:40 in a 191 match and Greg Maxwell fell to Len Brunn of St. Cloud by 5-2 at 147.

The Warriors seek to keep their unbeaten string alive with two weekend matches. They wrestle at Superior, Wis., State Friday before moving on to Houghton, Mich., and a match with Michigan Tech Saturday. Gunner came to Winona from Michigan Tech.

"Superior is harder than heck to beat at home," said Gunner. "They only lost to the University of Wisconsin by two points. Our work is cut out!"

TODAY'S GAME

Baltimore vs. Boston at Providence.

BOSTON (AP) — "It's great to be a winner again," someone shouted in the Celtics' dressing room.

The Boston club, careening toward a record number of victories in a National Basketball Association season, didn't stop to mourn the end of a 16-game winning streak Saturday.

Instead, the seven-time world champions look it out on Los Angelo 117-93 Sunday, administering a stern lesson in the arts of basket making-and-stopping.

The triumph was the 24th in the last 26 starts for Boston which at 42-8 is eight full games ahead of Eastern Division runner-up Cincinnati with 30 to play.

The Royals beat San Francisco 124-103 Sunday, enabling the Warriors to set a league mark for consecutive losses at 16. The Warriors had previously tied the old mark of 15 set by Denver in 1949.

In the other game played Sunday night, the Baltimore Bullets turned back the St. Louis Hawks 114-106.

The Celtics remain on target for 67 victories, seven better than the one-season high they established in 1960.

Mark Rodriguez, a junior from Brentwood, N. Y., swims the butterfly events on the University of Washington swimming team.

Then Tom Caron won 10-5 at 177 and Larry Wedemeyer 4-2 at heavyweight, and the surprising Warriors had pulled another shocking upset and, hopefully, improved their eight-place national ranking.

"It was a good one, oh was it good!" said Gunner. "The fans — 1,800 of them — were so wild, they had to throw a towel out on the mats because they couldn't hear the buzzer. Pop corn boxes and everything else were flying out of the stands. It was great!"

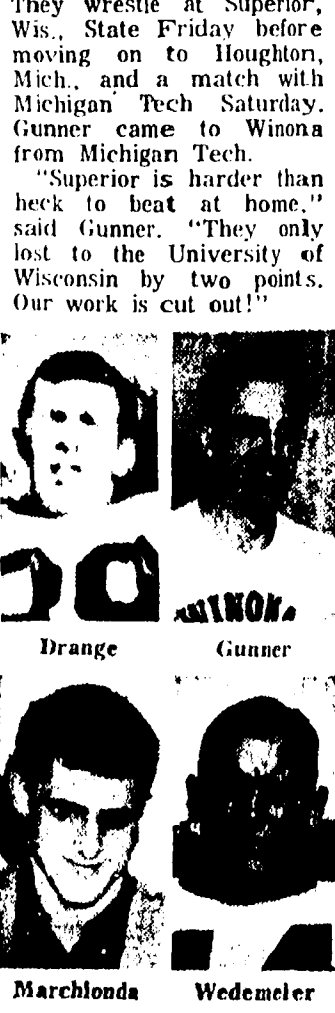

So from a three-win record in 1963-64, the Warriors stand 6-0.

"We're tough," claims Gunner. "And we're going to get better. Right now we have three kids ineligible who could be varsity men."

Gunner credited Larry Marchionda with a top job against two-time NAIA champion Dave Hazewinkle at 123.

"He's one of the finest wrestlers we'll see in here this year," purred the coach. "Larry did a good job, but he just wore him down (Marchionda was pinned in 8:20)."

Continuing unbeaten strings in the varsity ma-

5-10 junior Hal Chedester, 5-11 senior Dan Dietrich, 5-6 junior Rich Abts, 5-11 junior Dennis Auer and 6-1 1/2 senior Gene Baker, the tallest man on the team.

"We've never played anyone smaller than we are," pointed out Danielson. "And somehow we always seem to get into foul trouble. Thus far we've been trying to give everyone a lot of experience. We've never played less than nine men in a game."

IN AN EARLIER meeting between the two teams Alma won 80-50 after leading 19-17, 37-27 and 51-37 at the quarters.

In other top games Tuesday, Lewiston is at Wabasha, Wykoff at Spring Grove, Rollingstone Holy Trinity at Gilmanton, Arcadia at Independence and Blair at Taylor.

Cotter Frosh Drop Lourdes

Cotter's freshman team earned a 42-26 victory over the Rochester Lourdes yearling squad Friday.

Cotter led 11-3 at the end of the first quarter, and 22-15 at the half, as well as 30-22 at the three quarter mark.

Mike Schneider hit for 16 points to pace the Cotter frosh. Manahan scored eight for Lourdes.

Hey, Fellas! Check on That NIC Cage Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don't look now, but they've got themselves one whale of a basketball race in the Northern Intercollegiate Conference.

Moham pulled down 13 rebounds in a 98-59 romp past Pepin Friday, hit six of 10 shots from the field, finished with 14 points and had four assists. Antrim is the leader in rebounds and Stohr the leader in assists.

"We don't mention scoring much," said Green. "It has been balanced."

Danielson feels the key to a win over Alma is stopping the Rivermen's running game.

He said: "You have to stop their speed or you're sunk. We haven't anticipated an out-right stall, but we have to do something about slowing it down and working for the good shot."

DANIELSON HAS seen his club in a surprising way. "We are 2-8 and we've been in every game but two right to the end. We could be 8-2."

Going for the Pirates will be 5-10 junior Hal Chedester, 5-11 senior Dan Dietrich, 5-6 junior Rich Abts, 5-11 junior Dennis Auer and 6-1 1/2 senior Gene Baker, the tallest man on the team.

Augsburg, only MIAC team unbeaten in conference play, still leads, with Gustavus second at 6-1 and St. Mary's third at 4-1.

The big MIAC game this week is tonight when Gustavus plays at St. Mary's to decide the No. 1 challenger to Augsburg's reign. Augsburg doesn't return to action until Saturday night at Concordia.

In other Saturday results, Carleton dumped Monmouth 85-71, St. Olaf lost to Knox 80-73 and Minnesota-Morris downed Northland 75-69.

GAME TUESDAY
Macalester at St. Mary's, 3:30 p.m.

When St. Mary's 17-game MIAC hockey victory string was snapped 5-4 by St. John's at Collegeville Saturday, was the pressure showing?

"No, not at all," said coach Keith Hanzel. "I think it was just becoming harder and harder for us to convince ourselves that we had to be sharp. We are several goals—at least several goals—better than anyone else in the conference. That's a fact, not overconfidence. Everyone was pointing for us. And an underdog does have some advantage."

But the Redmen won't stand pat after the loss. Hanzel, in fact, was dissatisfied with both weekend games (the Redmen beat Hamline 7-2 Friday), and the changes will probably show it.

"We're only getting goals from one line (Captain Andre Beaulieu's group). Our second line is not getting the job done defensively and besides that they aren't scoring. There will definitely be some changes!"

But while Hanzel recognizes his team's abundant material, he wasn't ready to take anything away from the Johnnies.

"They won it because man-for-man they wanted it more than we did. Some of our kids played their guts out. But some didn't!" he said.

St. Mary's, which ranks a half-game ahead of Augsburg in the league with a 6-1 record, must host Macalester at Terrace Heights Tuesday and St. John's Saturday. The Macalester game will be played at 3:30, the St. John's test at 2 p.m.

"We'll be out for revenge," snapped Hanzel. "They'll know they've been in a game."

While the Redmen lost their MIAC invincibility, Hanzel still feels title chances are excellent.

"We have three tough games left with Macalester, St. John's and Augsburg," he said. "Other than that, the easy part of the season is ahead. I'd say our chances are excellent."

Hanzel won't change the line of Beaulieu, Brian Desbriens and Dennis Cooney. Elsewhere shakeups are seen.

"We had a meeting Sunday afternoon to iron out some of the problems," said Hanzel. "We should be ready to roll again now."

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Minnesota, fresh from a jinx-snapping 97-77 victory over Ohio State at home, invades the Purdue fieldhouse tonight for perhaps the most crucial game of the season for the Gophers.

A victory over the Dave Schellhase-Bob Purkhiser paced Boilermakers would lift the Minnesota Big Ten record to 3-1.

More importantly, perhaps, is the frame of mind it would set for the Gophers.

A triumph would send them into the "grave" portion of their Big Ten schedule with morale high and a chance to pad their conference record before home-and-home contests with mighty Michigan.

Following tonight's battle here, the Gophers catch Northwestern and Michigan State—two conference also-rans—before taking on Illinois at home. Following the Illinois test, Minnesota plays Wisconsin and Northwestern in return matches.

If they could win tonight, then take those five straight "grave" bouts, the Gophers could head down the stretch with a 9-1 Big Ten record and put the pressure on Michigan, since the first game with the Wolverines is in Minneapolis.

On the other hand, a defeat tonight against Purdue would drop the Gophers to 2-2 in the Big Ten and could prove a devastating blow to morale.

The Gophers were at their season's sharpest Saturday night in crushing Ohio State in Williams Arena.

Minnesota bagged eight field goals and a free throw the first 10 times they had the ball to take a 17-10 lead. By halftime they had the Buckeyes out-classed at 53-33, and the Gopher margin crested at 30 points, 76-46, with 11½ minutes to go.

The second-place teams are new, however, as Teamsters of Hal-Rod cracked into second in Class "A" with 2,585 while Winona Rug Cleaning, also of Hal-Rod, moved into third with 2,554.

Mertes, Munson Lead Hornets

Winona's Hornets made it two straight victories over Eau Claire at Athletic Park Sunday night by downing the visitors 5-4 in hockey.

The deciding goal came on a charge by Wayne Noeske at 6:08 of the third period on an assist by Ed Ratajczyk, but perhaps what really stowed the contest away for the Hornets were two goals by spare Rog Munson in a 10-second span in the second period.

Winona tallied on goals by Tony Derosier and Ratajczyk to run the first-period score to 2-0 before Mel Martin hit for Eau Claire at 3:27 to send the home forces into the second period on the long end of a 2-1 count.

Munson, a spare center, counted at 2:05 on an assist from Dave Hagen and again at 2:15 on an assist from Sherm Pampuch to run it to 4-1. It was 4-2 at the end of the period and Noeske's goal stretched it to 5-2 before Eau Claire tried to catch up.

Winona goalie Ray Mertes, who made 46 stops, was credited with an outstanding job in the nets.
