State Senate Acts to Restore School Aid Cut

ST. PAUL (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee recommended for passage Thursday a bill that restores the $6.6 million school aid cut ordered last fall by Gov. Karl Rolvaag.

The committee approved the bill, authored by Sen. Robert Dunlap of Rochester, after some spirited discussion. The bill also has a provision that in the future the commissioner of administration shall have no power to cut school aid payments set by the legislature.

Stephen Quigley, commissioner of education, said the state will have to find more than $36 million in the next month to make a payment now due and pay the $6.6 million the bill seeks to restore. This means, also, the state will have to collect some $50 million in income taxes in the next six months, Quigley said.

He also pointed out that if there is a $30 million deficit in the income tax school fund on June 30 and it has not been repaid by the end of the year, the state auditor, state treasurer and governor will have to make a tax levy on property.

But there was rebuttal from Rolfand Hatfield, state tax commissioner, who estimated that collections this year will have to total $34.8 million more than last year, and that collections this year are $15 million ahead of last year's pace.

Two bills were given final passage in the House and sent to the governor. One would extend the life of nonprofit corporations, and the second changes the dates of court terms in Kittson and Marshall counties.

The House voted itself a cost-of-living expense raise in addition to legislators' salaries. Those legislators from out-state living away from home will get $21 a day, and Twin Cities legislators $14 more. In the last term, the cost-of-living raises were $18 and $12.

The General Legislation Committee of the House announced it will begin hearings Feb. 11 on the controversial daylight time bill. Chairman Dwight Swanstrom of Duluth set the hearing on the bill that would extend fast time from three to five months. The committee also has before it a bill that would eliminate daylight savings time in the state.

Among new bills was one that would ban pictures of persons smoking or handling cigarettes in advertising, and another that would bring wrestling under control of the State Athletic Commission, levy a 5 per cent tax on theater television of boxing matches, and designate nine Minnesota rivers as official canoe routes.

Savings & Loan Branch Upheld At Stewartville

ST. PAUL (AP) — Right of the Austin Savings & Loan Association to establish a branch office in Stewartville, 36 miles away, was upheld today by the Minnesota Supreme Court.

In another decision, the court said a police officer can arrest a person without a warrant when a crime has occurred and he has "reasonable cause" for believing the suspect committed it.

In the Austin case, the court affirmed a decision of the state banking commissioner. The commissioner ruled in favor of the association over the objections of the Minnesota Bankers Association and three banks — the First National Bank of Stewartville, the First National Bank of Blooming Prairie and the Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Blooming Prairie.

The court said the state statutes provide ample authority for establishment of branch offices by savings and building and loan associations.

It added that such associations may open branches in counties adjoining the one in which the home office is located or within a 100-mile radius.

The Supreme Court upheld the arrest without a warrant of Harley M. Sorenson who later was convicted of second degree burglary in Hennepin County District Court.

Sorenson was convicted in connection with a burglary April 28, 1962 in an apartment in Minneapolis. He was arrested on the basis of his earlier record and method of operation. The court said the officers who arrested him had "probable cause" to believe he was involved.

Swift Congressional Action On Succession Law Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fast congressional action appears certain on a constitutional amendment urged by President Johnson to deal with the problems of presidential disability and vice-presidential vacancies.

A Senate Judiciary subcommittee had scheduled a hearing on it for today even before Johnson's special message was sent to the Capitol late Thursday. And the House Judiciary Committee has arranged for hearings starting Feb. 9.

The proposed amendment was introduced in the Senate early this month by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., with 75 other senators as cosponsors. And in the House it is being sponsored by the chairman and top GOP member of the Judiciary Committee. One part provides that if a vacancy occurs in the office of vice president it shall be filled by presidential appointment subject to the approval of a majority in both the Senate and the House.

The other part of the proposed amendment establishes procedures under which the vice president would take over as acting president in case the president is unable to discharge the duties of his office.

The Senate approved the amendment by a 65-0 vote last Sept. 29, but no action was taken by the House before Congress adjourned.

Johnson told Congress it was astonishing that since the adoption of the Constitution in 1789 "we have neither perfected the provisions for orderly continuity in the executive direction of our system nor, as yet, paid the price our continuing inaction so clearly invites and so recklessly risks."

The President also called for another constitutional amendment to wipe out what he termed the ever present possibility that presidential electors "may substitute their own will for the will of the people."

In presidential elections Americans cast their votes for electors who are free legally to vote for someone other than the candidate they were chosen to vote for. This has happened in some instances.

Massive Cold Wave Grips Much of U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A massive cold wave enveloped much of the nation today, sending the temperature to zero or below in at least 27 states. Snow, rain and flooding plagued some sections.

Bitter cold arctic air swept out of the North into the nation's midsection. Cold wave warnings stretched from the mid-Mississippi Valley to the northern Appalachians.

The temperature at International Falls dropped to 30 below zero a little warmer than the 38 below Thursday at Ely, also in northern Minnesota.

The mercury hit 3 below in Chicago early today with lower readings in the suburbs.

A 2-inch snow fell in the St. Louis area, causing at least two deaths. The temperature in Missouri ranged from -5 to 20.

In Iowa the mercury failed to get above zero Thursday in some sections. Central Kentucky registered an 8-degree temperature after a 2-inch snowfall. An inch of snow fell in Cleveland.

The temperature fell far below zero in parts of New England, swept by gusty northwesterly winds.

Snow squalls struck western New York State.

A fast-moving storm dumped up to 4 inches of snow in West Virginia.

The cold moved into the Southland, where temperatures fell into the teens in Arkansas.

The Northwest was hit by more rain, aggravating the flooding situation in Washington and Oregon. Snow fell again in the Rocky Mountains.

Rivers surged over their banks in northwestern Oregon, waterlogged from December floods which killed 18 persons. An earth slide thundered onto Mapleton, a community of 800 west of Eugene. No injuries were reported.

A flooding creek north of Albany washed out the main line of the Southern Pacific Railroad.

Nine inches of rain fell in Toledo, Ore., in a 42-hour period and 6 inches hit Blodgett on the coast.

The Weather Bureau said the Snoqualmie River was expected to rise to about 55 feet at Carnation, Wash., today — two feet above flood stage.

A power failure struck a five-state Midwestern area Thursday, putting thousands of homes out of heat, water and lights for a short period.

Equipment trouble at a substation in Fort Randall, S.D., affected most of South Dakota, Iowa and Nebraska for about an hour. A related power failure struck western Wisconsin and northwestern Illinois.

Sulphur Fumes Rise From Alaska Fissure

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Sulphur fumes are reported rising from a fissure high on the east side of 10,197-foot Mt. Redoubt, a long-dormant volcano about 100 miles southwest of Anchorage.

Oscar Underhill, a pilot for Northern Consolidated Airlines, said he spotted the fumes as he flew over the mountain Thursday.

The U.S. Geological Survey office here said Mt. Redoubt was last reported smoking in 1933.

In 1902 the mountain erupted, dropping two inches of ash from Lake Clark to the Skwentna Valley, a distance of more than 100 miles.

Rusk Pays Tribute to Churchill

Bulletin
LONDON (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower stood in soldierly silence today before the coffin of Sir Winston Churchill, his wartime comrade in arms. Dressed in black overcoat and carrying a black Homburg, he stayed for eight minutes.

LONDON (AP) — The U.S. delegation to Sir Winston Churchill's funeral paid him homage today at Westminster Hall.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk led the Americans. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was expected to visit the bier late in the afternoon.

The American delegation stood in silence for five minutes before the flag-draped coffin.

In addition to Rusk, the American mourners included: W. Averell Harriman, former ambassador in London and Moscow and a friend of Churchill's; Chief Justice Earl Warren who some reporters mistook for Eisenhower, and U.S. Ambassador David Bruce.

An official at the U.S. Embassy said Eisenhower did not go to Westminster Hall with the American delegation because he is a private guest of the Churchill family.

At the other end of London, the Duke of Norfolk directed a final rehearsal at St. Paul's Cathedral for Sir Winston's funeral Saturday.

The Duke, Britain's Earl Marshal in charge of arrangements for the state funeral, said: "I think it has gone well."

The line of mourners moved silently through Westminster Hall. Many paused for a few moments beside the catafalque. Early in the day the number of mourners reached 200,000.

Of the 133 nations invited to send representatives to the state funeral, only one nation had declined — Communist China. Another Communist country, Mongolia, said its ambassador, who lives in Warsaw, was ill but may yet attend.

At least six monarchs, four presidents and 14 prime ministers were expected to be among the vast throng of international figures who will join more than a million others in Britain's largest funeral since that of King George VI in 1952.

The governments of 17 British colonial territories or protectorates will also be represented in the procession.

The American delegation arrived Thursday night and is headed by Rusk and Chief Justice Earl Warren. With them came Eisenhower and W. Averell Harriman, now U.S. under-secretary of state.

Knowles Names Director of Administration

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — George C. Kaiser of Milwaukee was appointed director of the State Department of Administration by Gov. Warren P. Knowles Thursday.

Kaiser, 32, replaces Howard Koop, an appointee of Democratic former Gov. John Reynolds.

Kaiser has been a certified public accountant and audit manager for the Arthur Andersen & Co. accounting firm in Milwaukee. He resigned his job before accepting the commissioner's position, which pays $20,000 a year.

General Frees Viet Buddhists

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh's new Vietnamese government released today all Buddhists arrested during the past week of demonstrations and riots except those suspected of being Viet Cong agents.

Then, as a warning against further Communist terrorism in the capital, a firing squad executed a 20-year-old Vietnamese in Saigon's main public market an hour before sunrise. He had been caught Tuesday night carrying a grenade and a 15-pound bomb.

The youth, Le van Khuyen, shivering and silent, was blindfolded, then backed up against a sandbag parapet in front of the National Railroad Building. After the volley of rifle fire and a pistol coup de grace, the body was loaded into a coffin and whisked off in a truck.

A battalion of paratroopers guarded the route from Chi Hoa Prison to the market place. Newsmen and photographers recorded the execution and a few hundred people gathered but showed little interest.

A military tribunal convicted Khuyen Thursday of terrorism. He was a student of the Catholic Hung Dao school, but police said he told them he had no religion.

Leaflets were scattered through Saigon streets today demanding the return of Tran Van Huong as premier and urging support of U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor.

The leaflets, titled "South Viet Nam to the South Vietnamese," objected to Huong's overthrow Wednesday in a military coup staged by Khanh and his generals. Huong is a South Vietnamese, while most of the pressure against him was from North Vietnamese Buddhist monks and political factions. Taylor came under fire for his support of Huong.

Acting Premier Nguyen Xuan Oanh, put in office Thursday by Khanh, issued the order releasing persons arrested in disorders since Jan. 20.

During the morning in Saigon, authorities freed 85 Buddhist nuns, 79 monks, 132 students and 153 other persons.

Thich Tri Quang, a major Buddhist leader and one of five monks who fasted eight days until Huong was ousted, spoke today to the Vietnamese editors of Saigon's two English-language newspapers about the demonstrations and the anti-American tone which they developed.

"There is no such thing as anti-Americanism," the monk said. "One can only be anti-American if one is Communist or chauvinistic. Buddhism being neither Communist nor chauvinistic, there is no anti-Americanism."

"But there is some resentment, for America misunderstands the whole problem. The recent troubles are internal political developments of Viet Nam. When people hated Mr. Huong, anyone who supported him inevitably received a share of that hate."

LBJ's Cold Hanging On

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson still is battling remnants of a cold while getting ready to swing back into full stride of official duties.

The President has been taking it fairly easy — easy for him, that is — mixing rest with work. Thursday he spent most of the morning in bed. But at mid-afternoon he went to his office in the west wing of the White House for five hours' work.

It was the first time in the office in six days. He hadn't been there since last Friday, when he started coming down with a heavy cold, cough, sore throat and chest pains that got him into the hospital in the small hours of Saturday morning.

Johnson returned to the White House Tuesday but only to the living quarters. While he has been seeing some people now and then and turning out a bit of paper work, he has by no means been as bouncy as he was before the cold.

He still has a bit of cough but no temperature, aides said, and until Thursday afternoon was reported "taking life very easy."

He took it easy Thursday by doing such things as sending a message to Congress urging it to get busy and do something about (1) the problems of possible presidential disability, (2) filling the vacancy when there is no vice president and (3) changing the electoral system to abolish the electoral college but not electoral votes in the states and provide for the situation that could arise if the president-elect, the vice president-elect, or both, died before taking office.

In addition he: Sent his annual economic report to Capitol Hill.

Nominated acting Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach to be attorney general and Ramsey Clark to be deputy attorney general.

Finally persuaded W. Marvin Watson, Texas state Democratic chairman and steel company official, to take a White House job as a $28,500 a year special assistant to the President.

Filled some diplomatic posts by appointing, among others, Angier Biddle Duke, the State Department's former protocol chief, to be ambassador to Spain.

Let it be known that seven or eight more similar appointments will be coming along in the next week or two.

For today, there were no appointments on the Johnson schedule. But that didn't mean no work — there were no appointments on Thursday's schedule, either.

Marvin Watson, Texan Friend Of LBJ Hired

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marvin Watson, a Texas friend of President Johnson, will join the White House staff as a special assistant.

Press secretary George E. Reedy announced Thursday that Watson has agreed to join the White House staff on Feb. 1.

There had been speculation — and denials — for several months about the appointment.

Johnson has been anxious to have Watson as an assistant on a full-time basis.

Watson has been in and out of the White House and the LBJ Ranch in Texas doing staff work on a voluntary part-time basis.

He is Texas State Democratic chairman and has been executive assistant to the president of the Lone Star Steel Co.

Reedy said Watson will receive $28,500 annually. This is the salary of other presidential assistants except for Lawrence O'Brien, who receives $30,000 as assistant for congressional relations.

Let's Get Growing

By A. F. SHIRA

What About Trees?

WE have written about the new roses, glads and other flowers, as well as vegetables, and have extolled their many fine qualities. As the gardener pages through the brilliantly colored nursery catalogs making notes of the particular varieties of flowers and vegetables that make substantial additions to the yard and garden, no far-reaching decisions are necessary, except perhaps that the list is too large and must be cut down.

If a new rose is desired, the choice may rest primarily on color and type. In case it does not turn out to be satisfactory in another year, a replacement may be made. If an annual flower, or an improved type of vegetable is tried and found wanting, little is lost. Gardeners are meeting up with such experiences repeatedly and usually become reconciled to such disappointments, being ever hopeful of better results in another season. However, most of the planting efforts are very rewarding and fruitful.

Perennials are the favorite flowers of countless gardeners and many new varieties of peonies, irises, daylilies and others are introduced each year. They are reliable performers as a general rule, if good roots are obtained, properly planted and given the necessary care. When a new variety blooms, it may not seem to be any better in the gardener's estimation than an older kind of the same color, yet it is acceptable as a new addition.

NEW COLORS in daylilies are being developed continually, but the gardener who has had some of the newer colors such as the reds and the pinks blooming in the garden may consider some of them to be inferior in shade and depth of color to the claims made for them. However, the acquisition does not have to be permanent and undesirable plants can be discarded later to make room, if necessary, for more promising varieties.

Hardy shrubs are usually considered to be a more or less permanent part of the landscaping plan and old plants are allowed to remain even when they have outlived their usefulness in certain locations. White spires with bare stems topped by thin foliage in a row in front of, or along the side of a house; tall, leggy mock orange, lilac and honeysuckle bushes; and scrubby, low-growing evergreens, can all be discarded as being out of place. Instead, some of the newer dwarf forms of shrubs can be planted, just as furniture replacements are made in the home.

And, now, let us turn to the trees. Their selection and function should be given very careful consideration before the type and variety are definitely decided upon. A tree is not something that will be planted one year and discarded the next like some of the other plants. Once it is planted, a tree usually becomes a permanent and integral part of the landscape barring some accident that may damage it to the point where it should be replaced, or that might destroy it entirely.

THE PURPOSE which a tree is to serve is one of the most important reasons why it should be chosen with great care. It is not enough to simply state that you are going to get a tree and then buy the first one that strikes the fancy. Whether it is pictured in a nursery catalog, or handled by your local nurseryman, the same careful thought should be given to its selection.

Some persons have a very sentimental regard for trees and dislike to destroy them, or see them destroyed by others. If a home owner has a tree of poor variety in his yard, he might envision the tree a few years hence and, if it does not measure up to expectations, it can be removed while small and replaced with a better variety.

Trees will be considered further in some future articles.

Fifth Good Test For Minuteman 2

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's newest strategic missile, Minuteman 2, has registered its fifth successful test flight.

One of the pushbutton weapons darted out of an underground silo Thursday night and hurled its warhead to a target area 4,000 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy. It was the first short-range test for the missile, previously shot over 5,000-mile courses.

BILL MERRILL'S
Something to Live By

"I can't ask that boy to do a thing," a mother was heard to complain, reflecting the lad's lack of competence to fulfill various household tasks to her liking.

Some small boys have a way of being pre-occupied, thoughtless, or shortsighted, to say the least, when it comes to fulfilling household chores. Link this with a pure lack of ambition for anything likened unto work, and no wonder a mother would state, "I can't ask that boy to do a thing."

On the other hand, that same lad will work by the hour over a bicycle turned up on its seat and handlebars, with the rear wheel off and parts all over the place, grease on his clothes, and sweat on his brow, but that's different. Dad complains that every time he mows the lawn he finds one or more of his wrenches lying in the grass, testifying days later, that Junior was there and that this was the exact spot where he had undertaken that repair job.

Now any family counselor can tell you that these are not necessarily the signs of a delinquent, but rather, evidences a normal, red-blooded boy that, rather than proving that he lacks "know-how," is a dreamer so pre-occupied with what he wants to accomplish, that any invitation to do some menial task is an intrusion demanding as little effort and time as he can get by with. Certainly when he grows older, he'll prove as useful as any other one around the house. HaHa.

BUT LOOK! The boy in question has now grown older, has a family, a good wife, and appears to be deeply loved by all, in spite of the fact that his wife is hesitant to ask him to do anything beyond cleaning the basement, putting on the storms or screens, and mowing the lawn. Why? Well, it seems he's a success in his business — a labor that calls for some imagination or dreaming, if you please. But often he is so pre-occupied he can't find time to carry the trash out.

As to fixing things around the house, she says in essence, she's afraid to have him try, citing the time he tried to fix a leaky hot water faucet without turning the water off.

He is quick to point out that he used his head to overcome the dilemma, however. First, he placed a milk bottle over the stream of hot water shooting toward the ceiling. "Why that bottle didn't break, I'll never know," his wife breaks in. Then he tells of running around the house and turning on all the faucets in the bathroom and the apartment upstairs until he cut the pressure. Then, for the first time, sought out the place to shut it off in the basement.

THEN THERE was the time he came home and his breath smelled so awful as he kissed her. The reason? He had spent the day on a friend's farm. They had an old tractor and he had decided to siphon some fuel from a fuel tank to replenish the tractor's supply. It's just that he kept sucking on the hose longer than was necessary.

By the way, someone has said that many a marriage goes into boredom after 15 years. Mrs. Merrill, the wife in our little story, and "yours truly" have been married 21 years, and we're not bored. But then, she claims there is never a dull moment. It's not as if my Mother hadn't warned her, "You just can't ask that boy to do a thing."

DEAR ABBY:

Rightfully Indignant

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband works nights and sleeps days. At least he tries to, but with so many salesmen knocking on our door my husband hasn't been able to get much sleep. Well, about two months ago I put a sign on our front door which said, "DO NOT KNOCK FOR ANY REASON—DAY SLEEPER."

All kinds of salesmen came around and beat on our door anyway. This makes our dog bark, and then my husband wakes up. Last week I put a BIGGER sign on the front door which said, "HE WHO KNOCKS ON THIS DOOR GETS WATER IN HIS FACE." I want to know, Abby, if I have a right to throw water in the face of a person who knocks and wakes up my husband.

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Anyone who would knock despite the warning you posted, deserves to get water in his face. But you'd better check with a lawyer about your "right" to soak a salesman, though duly warned.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been happily married (until now) for eight years. She's a wonderful wife and mother and I love her very much. We've never had a misunderstanding we couldn't iron out in a few minutes.

For the past week my wife has been acting cool and distant. I asked if I had said something to hurt her feelings. She said no. I suggested calling a doctor, thinking maybe she wasn't feeling well. She said she felt fine. Finally I got it out of her. It seems she went shopping last week and ran into an old chum she hadn't seen since high school. They got to talking about old times, and whom they'd married, etc. Well this chum told my wife that I had had an affair with a friend of hers, but she failed to mention that it happened ten years ago. (She also failed to mention that I had had an affair with HER, too.) I wasn't married at the time and wasn't even going with my wife then. Do you think my wife is justified in acting this way just because I didn't tell her about my social life before I was married? I never asked her to tell me about hers.

IN THE DOG HOUSE

DEAR IN: Your wife is being extremely childish. What a pity they've done away with ducking-stools, the 17th century method of punishing witches, gossips, and female trouble-makers. It would have been an ideal way to teach your wife's chum a lesson.

DEAR ABBY: My niece is planning a wedding in the near future. She wants to be married in white with all the trimmings. Now it is no secret that she has already had her honeymoon. Last summer she and her fiancé spent their vacation together. This is a small town, Abby, and I'm afraid if she insists on going through with a wedding like that, our whole family will get the horse laugh. What do you suggest?

AFRAID

DEAR AFRAID: I suggest you leave your niece's wedding plans to her. And don't advertise your "fears" too broadly, or YOU might get the horse laugh.

Pine County Man Gets 40-year Term

WHEATON, Minn. (AP) — A Pine County man was convicted late Wednesday night of second degree murder in the slaying of his estranged wife and was sentenced to serve up to 40 years in the penitentiary. A jury of 12 men deliberated more than seven hours before returning a verdict against Vernon D. Hanson, 32, of Bruno, Minn. Judge Sam Gandrud of Traverse County District Court immediately sentenced Hanson. Hanson went on trial Jan. 18. He was charged with first degree murder in the shooting of his wife, Rosella. Police said the couple had been estranged and that Hanson shot his wife at the home of a relative in Browns Valley, where she had been living during their separation.

Jury Awards $800 in Fall At Apartment

An $800 verdict for the plaintiffs, Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Heaser, Kellogg, Minn., capped nearly two hours of deliberation by a District Court jury Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Ross Nixon, jury forewoman, delivered the decision of the ten men and one other woman at 2:45 p.m.

THE CASE, tried Wednesday and Thursday before Judge Arnold Hatfield, arose from an alleged fall down an outside stairway of an apartment building owned by defendant Chester C. Shank, 552 E. 3rd St.

Mrs. Heaser testified that she suffered the fall May 11 while five months pregnant with her seventh child. In addition to near premature birth of the child, Mrs. Heaser said that she had to be hospitalized six times last summer before the child was actually born Sept. 9, nearly two weeks overdue.

The plaintiffs charged negligence on Shank's part in failing to maintain the stairway in a safe condition.

In their complaint, the Heasers asked $25,000 damages in compensation for the medical expenses, pain and anxiety allegedly incurred as a result of the accident.

JUDGE Hatfield granted a 30-day stay of execution of the verdict, with an additional 30-day stay to be granted if either party asks for a transcript of the trial. The purpose of this move is to allow time for an appeal.

Attorney John R. McGill for the defendant Shank indicated no immediate intention to appeal the verdict. Attorney Roger P. Bronsaham represented the Heasers.

Jurors were: Mrs. Ross Nixon, Laverne Johnson, Ignatius J. Klug, Carl Jackson, Edwin C. Schuppenhauer, Arthur Hohenesee, Clarence Ellinghuysen, Rollo C. Merrill, Arnold Wendt, George Kistler, Mrs. Oliver Dufrey and Max Bunn.

Bond Bills In Committee

Committee action now is being awaited in the state legislature on a measure that would authorize the issue of $5,980,000 in bonds to finance construction of a new Winona Senior High School and Area Vocational-Technical School building.

At a special meeting of the Board of Education Thursday night, board President Lawrence Santelman said that he and Superintendent of Schools A. L. Nelson had conferred earlier this week with Winona County's three legislators, Sen. Roger Laufenburger and rural Rep. Donald McLeod, Lewiston, and city Rep. Frank Theis, Winona, on status of the bond authorization bill.

Bills to permit issuance of school bonds have been introduced in both houses of the legislature, Santelman told board members, and have been referred to committees in both senate and house.

Next step, he said, will be calling of committee hearings on the bill and these might be convened at any time.

Santelman said that a delegation of board members would be expected to appear at the hearings to answer any questions that might arise.

Bluff Siding Man Given Probation For Carnal Knowledge

Richard Dingfelder, 21, Bluff Siding, was placed on seven years' probation in District Court this morning.

He was charged with carnal knowledge last November after a complaint was brought against him by the mother of the 15-year-old girl involved.

Terms of the probation forbade him to have beer or liquor, to enter taverns or to have any woman other than his wife in his car.

Dingfelder is being held in the Winona County jail until he sees a state probation officer.

Not Phasing Out Schools, Catholic Spokesman Say

By C. GORDON HOLTE
Daily News Staff Writer

Although Cotter High School is interested in development of a plan which would permit its students to enroll in certain elective courses at Winona Senior High School when and if a new public high school building is erected here, there is no intent to "phase out" any portion of the program of Catholic parochial school education in Winona, members of the Board of Education were told Thursday night.

The proposal for dual enrollment of Cotter students in the projected new public high school was discussed Thursday for the second time in a little more than a month by members of the school board and its administrative staff and representatives of the Cotter High School Advisory Board.

SCHOOL BOARD members of the Catholic parochial school program in Winona entered the discussion when school board President Lawrence Santelman said that if any thought had been given to any future cutback in parochial school offerings this would have an impact on public schools enrollment and would constitute a major factor in the design of the new public high school building.

Thought is now being given to building a high school with a capacity of 1,800, some 200 students over and above anticipated peak public school enrollment, to accommodate parochial school students that might be enrolled on a part-time basis.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. N. F. Grulkowski, pastor of St. Stanislaus Church and chairman of the Council of Administration for Winona's Catholic parochial schools, said he could foresee no major future curtailment in the parochial school program here.

THE RT. REV. Msgr. J. W. Haun, pastor of St. Casimir's Church, added, "I think the whole Catholic school system will continue pretty much as it is now because we feel that it's a vital part of church work," explaining that whatever future participation of parochial school students in the public school program might emerge would be in certain areas of elective study which might not be economically provided for in the parochial school program.

Also attending Thursday's meeting were the Rev. Merlen Wegener, a pastor at St. Martin's Lutheran Church, and F. H. Broker, principal of St. Martin's School.

Broker explained that they were attending the meeting more or less as observers "to hear what has developed so far and how any of this might fit into our program."

SINCE St. Martin's program carries only through the junior high school level its students wouldn't be involved in the high school plan. However, Rev. Wegener and Broker indicated that there might be interest in enrollment of some students in the junior high school in certain elective courses such as industrial arts and home economics when a centralized public junior high school is established with the completion of the new senior high building. The junior high program would be offered in buildings now occupied by Senior High School and Central Junior High School.

Broker said that a comparatively small number of students would be involved — possibly about 20 — in any plan that might be formulated.

Santelman said that if any dual enrollment program were to be established the board would make provisions for it to embrace all schools that might wish to participate.

A GOOD portion of Thursday night's meeting was devoted to a discussion of scheduling details involved in a senior high school dual enrollment arrangement with Cotter.

Superintendent Nelson, the Rev. James McCauley, Cotter principal, and Robert H. Smith, principal at Senior High School, had made a study of anticipated Cotter enrollments in public high school classes and had made preliminary investigation of class schedules that might be arranged to accommodate students.

It has been estimated that if the proposed plan were to be implemented Cotter participation in the public school program in elective courses would represent about 1,260 student class hours, with something like 200 students involved. For such an enrollment seven classrooms would be required in addition to those needed for anticipated public school enrollments.

TRANSPORTATION would have to be provided by Cotter to allow for the movement between schools and Father McCauley said that a tentative schedule under consideration indicates that "scheduling problems could be solved. It might not be the best situation such as you'd have in one building but it would seem that we could work out a schedule that would be mutually satisfactory."

The one outlined by Smith Thursday would call for Cotter's class day to start and end 20 minutes later than that at Senior High to allow for transportation time.

For example, if Senior High's class day were to begin at 8:30 a.m. and Cotter's at 8:50, a Cotter student could come to Senior High for his first class, then have 20 minutes in which to return to Cotter for a second period class beginning at 9:50 a.m.

SMITH SAID the main consideration would have to be given to scheduling students of the two schools evenly throughout the school day so that the most economical use of staff and physical facilities at Senior High could be realized.

Except in certain rare cases, Cotter students wouldn't spend more than two hours a day in class at Senior High unless a study period might be included.

Fourth Ward Director Franklin A. Tillman asked whether there was any possibility that Cotter students might attend classes four hours a day so that they could be counted for state aid purposes and Father McCauley said it seemed unlikely such an arrangement would develop.

Cotter contemplates maintaining under a dual enrollment program a curriculum that would include English, Latin, religion, social studies, basic sciences and mathematics. Electives to be taken at Senior High would be in advanced sciences, domestic arts, industrial arts, physical education, commercial subjects, art and foreign languages.

SANTELMAN said at the outset of the meeting that although the board had not discussed the Cotter proposal in formal session it was his personal thought that directors would give first consideration to enrollment of Cotter students in such courses as are not offered now in the parochial school or in those for which enrollment at Cotter would be too small to justify expenditure of funds for instruction and physical facilities.

He told the visiting delegation that he hoped that they were in support of the school board's plan for construction of the new high school and vocational school. Msgr. Grulkowski replied, "As far as I'm concerned there's no question whatsoever as to our support."

Msgr. Haun added, "It's my impression that there's goodwill for this project throughout the community."

"I think we have made a fair and honest study of our problems," Santelman said, "and that we have approached them in a reasonable way."

CONSTRUCTION of the new school facilities depends ultimately on approval by the state Legislature of a request for a

Electric Outage Hits Big Area In Midwest

Lights went out in a large section of Western Wisconsin and parts of Southeastern Minnesota Thursday afternoon as a massive power failure hit portions of seven Midwest states during some of the winter's bitterest weather.

Many furnaces went out, too, causing some schools to dismiss classes early. Machinery was shut down.

OUTAGES RANGED from a few minutes to 1½ hours. The power failure started at 1:20 p.m. when a 230,000-volt substation at Fort Randall Dam on the Missouri River in South Dakota went dead.

Cause of the failure is being investigated, but a Dairyland Power Cooperative spokesman said it was probably caused by an overload.

F. W. Lachicotte of the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation at Watertown said the failure was set off by a loose connection. When the major transmission line went dead, the Fort Randall unit lost additional capacity.

Generating systems of interconnecting utilities were overloaded when voltage was drawn off from them, and their systems came to a halt. It took time to put them in operation again.

THE FAILURE was initially noted at Dairyland Power when the telemetering equipment recorded an extensive overload, a spokesman said.

To keep a plant from being overloaded and burned out, a switch automatically opens and de-energizes the transmission lines and plants, a spokesman said.

This happened at No. 5 unit, the Alma steam power station, a 87,000-KW turbo generation plant, which lost power because of the drop in frequency.

This affected Wisconsin and Minnesota areas fed by the Alma plant.

Northern States Power Co. also had outages in Western Wisconsin and parts of Southeastern Minnesota. All powerlines are interconnected, a Dairyland spokesman said, and NSP lost energy because of the Fort Randall failure, too.

Tri-County Electric at Rushford, receiving most of its power from Dairyland at Alma, the only Dairyland plant in the area affected, reported outages from 1:36 p.m. Thursday for about 55 minutes from the Witoka area through Pickwick, Lamaille, Ridgeway and Nodine to Dakota.

All rural FILLMORE COUNTY was without electricity during this time, plus Harmony, Mabel, Peterson and Fountain. Lanesboro and Preston brought their auxiliary generators into service.

Half of HOUSTON COUNTY was out, including rural areas and Caledonia, Spring Grove and Eitzen, but only about 40 minutes. Brownsville, Houston village and the La Crescent rural area are served through Dairyland Power out of La Crosse, Tri-State said, and had no outage. Hokah and La Crescent village are served by Northern States.

Tri-State's line running into the rural Stockton, Lewiston and St. Charles areas in WINONA COUNTY also were out.

Gordon Meistad, Arcadia, manager of TREMPLEAU ELECTRIC Cooperative, receiving its power from Alma, said power was off for about 30 minutes from 1:25, throughout its rural areas of Trempealeau, Jackson and Buffalo counties and northern La Crosse county.

Ray Steuergel, BLAIR, NSP manager, said power was off in Galesville, Osseo, Blair, Fountain City, Strum, Eleva, Whitehall, Independence, Pigeon Falls and Coral City about 60 minutes from 1:25.

Six Minnesota communities served by NSP were without power for an hour, the office in WINONA said. Lights went out at Altura, Elba, Minneka, (Continued on Page 14, Col. 2)

Downtown Planner to Begin Survey in City Next Week

By FRANK UHLIG
Daily News Staff Writer

Downtown planning and renewal proposals were explained by two specialists Thursday night at a meeting called by the Citizens Advisory Committee on Urban Renewal.

Summing up the general outlines were Elmer Binford, regional representative for the Housing and Home Finance Agency, Chicago, and B. B. Chapman, director of renewal planning for the firm of Nason, Law, Wehrman & Knight, Minneapolis. Chapman will supervise drafting of a general improvement plan for downtown areas. His firm recently was employed by the Winona Housing and Redevelopment Authority under terms of a $77,500 federal planning grant.

BINFORD reviewed the role of the federal government in an HHA-assisted renewal project. He said the federal echelon cannot take over any local government function and that the decision to request aid must be made by the city itself.

Chapman, who plans to begin work within a few days, said the planning process is largely dependent on contributions and suggestions by many interests. Planners will analyze present conditions in the area, including patterns of land use, ownership and traffic, he said. The study also will cover development possibilities and the marketability prospects of proposed new uses.

When completed, the plan will provide a framework for improvement of approximately 30 blocks of downtown retail and adjacent residential areas. The over-all plan will not deal with specific buildings, he said, but it will set up a logical sequence for projects which will be proposed to carry it out.

CONSIDERABLE attention will be paid to possible impact of renewal on present occupants of the district, Chapman said. Consultation also will be sought with state and county highway departments, business leaders and social welfare specialists.

Efforts to identify historically or architecturally outstanding buildings also will be made and provisions for their preservation incorporated into over-all plans, he said.

Binford and Chapman answered a long series of questions posed by Don Ehmann, 980 W. 5th St., dealing with relocation of renewal area occupants and other aspects of area rebuilding.

Relocation of people is "considered our most important activity," Binford said, speaking for the government. Any plan must show adequate living quarters provided for displaced occupants, within their abilities to pay, he said. Unless these provisions are firmly established, the government would refuse to participate in any project, he added.

Chapman, in answer to questioning, said business building removals usually are done on a "checkerboard" plan. Occupants are frequently moved to temporary locations for the interim between demolition and erection of new buildings. The time lapse is minimal, he said.

Ehmann asked for comment on charges that "urban renewal only shifts slums and has not actually revitalized any areas in which it was carried out."

Binford said the Minneapolis Gateway project, covering 70 acres, afforded an example of accomplishment which viewers could judge for themselves. About 1,800 men who lived in Skid Row flophouses were relocated, many of them to institutions for treatment for alcoholism. Others went to low-rent housing elsewhere, he said. Welfare personnel in Minneapolis have complete records on these relocations, he added.

"ANY SUBSTANTIAL business in the area was relocated elsewhere in the city," Binford said. A majority of businesses were marginal operations, he said, skirting the edge of insolvency and unable to sell to anyone. Many were "wino shops," whose loss probably constituted an improvement to the community, he pointed out.

Uprooting may occur as the result of such projects, Binford continued, but plans must now include accommodations for those displaced. He said the criticism once had some validity but that is no longer the case.

Ehmann asked whether the Urban Renewal Administration has "ordered stricter compliance in housing code enforcement in order for the city to qualify for renewal." Binford said this is true, since the government seeks to help remove blight rather than allow it to spread.

Concerning the number of homes the city should inspect, Binford said it should be contemplated in terms of a 10-year period instead of a set number in a single year. Many homes need no inspection, he continued, especially all those built since adoption of city building codes. As in the case of any other code, enforcement of housing regulations is a public improvement program, he asserted.

REPLYING TO Ehmann's question on the legality of entrance of homes by inspectors without warrants, Binford said the enforcement approach is not that of a police state. The purpose is to develop a general voluntary program of improvement. Inspectors are expected to observe reasonable hours and work cooperatively with householders, he said.

Howard Loveland, 68 W. Wabasha St., asked whether a marketability study would have to show favorable resale prospects for an area in order to gain approval for renewal. Binford assured him it must.

Expense of relocating business and residential occupants of an area was formerly shared by local and federal governments, Binford said. Present regulations provide that the (Continued on Page 14, Col. 3)

SAN DIEGO and Los Alamitos, Calif., reached the national high of 82 Thursday.

BUT WHILE subzero temperatures ruled in most sections, western South Dakota enjoyed readings well above zero.

Rapid City's 24-hour high was 19 and the low, 9. A couple of other South Dakota cities, Watertown and Aberdeen, recorded lows of -25, however. Up to two inches of snow fell in the Black Hills of South Dakota.

The American Automobile Association office at Minneapolis reached its "high" for the season — in terms of trouble calls. A spokesman said that for the 24-hour period ending at midnight Thursday "upwards of 6,000" motorists called about stalled cars. That exceeded the previous high of more than 5,000 set on Jan. 13, when the mercury dipped to -22. This time, wind and humidity made it harder to start vehicles, said the AAA.

Balky automobiles and nipped ears and fingers were the order of the day in WISCONSIN today as the mercury plunged as low as 40 below zero.

Hayward recorded 40 below, a temperature quite common early this morning in communities across the far northern section of the state. Most schools in that area are closed because of an accepted rule that school buses will not be put in operation in weather colder than 30 below.

Danbury recorded 37 below zero and Winter had 32 below. Other lows, all below zero, were: Park Falls 31, Superior 30, Lone Rock 29, Eau Claire 27, Rhinelander and Wausau 26, Stevens Point 24, Ashland and Madison 23, Green Bay 21, Racine 18, Burlington 17, Milwaukee 16 and Beloit 13.

During the day Thursday, Racine reached a high of zero and all other points in the state were below that level. Wausau had a high of 12 below.

It Happened Last Night Barry's Back for Shorter Inaugural

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Barry Goldwater thinks presidential inaugurations should be drastically shortened . . . unless, of course, he's being inaugurated.

"So the President can get on with his job . . ."

The ex-senator, who likes to go night-clubbing at El Morocco, happened in there the other morning — to become the leading VIP among 350 VIPs holding a private, black-tie party for the premiere of the Jack Lemmon picture, "How to Murder Your Wife."

B. G. stole the show from blonde Italian sexpot Verna Lili, and Frank Sinatra, Peter Lawford, Lauren Bacall, Jason Robards, and the hand-holding Dina Merrill-Cliff Robertson combination.

When word spread that "Barry is in the house," many a celeb rushed over to greet him . . . Lemmon included . . . and Goldwater looking upon the graceful curves of Miss Lili, supposedly said, "I can understand men wanting to murder their wives."

"I think Lyndon Johnson did a good job of shortening the inaugural," Goldwater said. "But a lot more can be done to get rid of the pomp and circumstance that does not fit in with today's living in America."

With a smile, he added, "But if I had been the victor, I guess I would have wanted all that, too."

COMEDIAN JACK Carter and his Beautiful Wife Paula opened — in separate acts — at the American Royal Box in the greatest chunk of Show Business in town, it's Colossal!

"Bravo!" they cried out to Paula's songs — then Jack came on with machine-gun jokes: "You seem to like my wife — that's a novelty! . . . She's the mother of our two Yorkshire terriers . . . LBJ, that stands for Lyndon Barbecue Johnson . . . Eddie Fisher does a wonderful impression of Richard Burton . . . he should have done it years ago . . . I often wonder about Tony Martin and Cyd Charisse working together. After all, does Tony Martin really need her? He has him!"

Bell Telephone Reducing Rates

Starting Monday, it will cost less to make station-to-station telephone calls to many out-of-state cities, Robert C. Olson, Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. manager here, said today.

Lower "evening" rates will also be in effect Saturdays, he said, and lowest rates of all will apply all day Sunday as well as after 8 p.m. the rest of the week.

These rates apply on interstate calls to communities more than 200 miles away. For example, the maximum charge for a three-minute call from Winona to any place in the continental United States except Alaska will be $1.

Week-day evening rates (those in effect from 6-8 p.m.) for station-to-station calls to other states will also apply throughout the day Saturdays up to 8 p.m. when lowest night rates will go into effect, lasting all day Sunday and until 4:30 a.m. Monday.

Deer Season

Minnesota's rifle deer season will open one week later in 1965 or on Nov. 13, Ted Shields, game and fish director, disclosed in a discussion on deer legislation before the Minnesota Senate committee on game and fish this week. This is in response to deer hunters' demands. A questionnaire mailed to deer hunters revealed that 65 percent wanted a later season and only 35 percent were satisfied with the present season, Shields said.

Locally, the announcement of a week later season is satisfying. The average hunter in the Southeastern Minnesota "shotgun" zone has had enough of "blue-bird" weather deer hunting without tracking snow.

One bill (Senate File 85) authored by Sen. Henry McKnight would give the commissioner of conservation complete authority to set all seasons and limits.

"We'd be very happy to assume all responsibility for setting seasons if we were given such authority," said Shields. He pointed out that game and fish experts in his division, rather than the legislature, are the logical authority to set seasons.

If granted the authority provided in Sen. McKnight's bill, Shields said it would be his division's plans to add one more week to the present nine-day deer season in the north so hunters would have the probability of tracking snow.

"In 1965, then, we would have a 16-day deer season in a portion of the present nine-day zone," Shields said. "Eventually we might even add two more weeks. This would reduce hunter congestion in certain areas and the longer season would not make any difference to the number of deer killed. We feel the success ratio would still remain about 45 per cent."

Fishing Contest
Three fishing contests, including two major ones, are on our list for Sunday and there is an inkling of hope in the advance weather forecast that the weather may be "fishable" warm.

Probably the greatest interest is manifest in the contest of The Associated Conservation Clubs of Trempealeau County, Wis., on Third Lake, Sunday afternoon. This is the county-wide group that operates the pheasant farm at Marshland, Nic Jensen is the big boss and there will be li-

NASON ON EDUCATION

Make Boy, 11, Supervise Self

By L. J. NASON, Ed. D.
University of S. California
Dear Dr. Nason:

My 11-year-old, sixth-grade son seems to have no inner desire to achieve good grades. He attended a Catholic school in the primary grades and did quite well. When he switched to public school in the fourth grade, his marks dropped considerably. He has made a good deal of improvement in the past two years but is still a problem, mostly because he does not try. He reads above his grade level and is interested in science. Occasionally, he does excellent creative writing, showing that he can write and spell well when he wants to do so. But most of the time his handwriting is very poor, as is his spelling, punctuation and use of English. Also, he does not hand his work in on time without being reminded. I need advice.

Mrs. F.S.R., Sacramento, Calif.

Answer:
Your son has not developed adequate self-discipline. It is possible that his work was more closely supervised in the first school he attended and that he was not prepared to assume responsibility for his own work when the transfer was made. At 11, the effort to correct this must stem from the boy himself. Talk over the problem. The time he spends in practice will pay off so rapidly in improved school work that he should be sold on the idea that self-discipline pays off in greater success and satisfaction.

Dear Dr. Nason:
Our son, now ten and in the fifth grade, was born in October and therefore was eligible for kindergarten while only four years old. He has had a struggle even for average grades. He is usually the youngest in his class. We have been told that these young starters sometimes come of age scholastically in junior high or high school. Our son does seem to be gaining ground this year.

Now we have another son in October, eligible for kindergarten next year. Would a struggle similar to that of his older brother contribute more to his future than holding him back to start with the advantage of more maturity?

Mrs. R.E.J., Sunset, Utah
Answer:
Your second son will not necessarily follow the pattern of the first. However, I advise the later start. If he finds school too easy and boring, he can then be advanced a half year rather than risk his getting a poor foundation because of too early a start.

Dear Dr. Nason:
I am an adult with a reading problem. I cannot retain what I read. Could I have poor reading-habits? It is true I do not concentrate fully on what I am reading.

Is there any way to learn to keep my mind on what I am reading?

Miss B.U.R., Schenectady, N.Y.

Answer:
Study what you are reading as you read it to find out what is said. Stop occasionally and review in your mind what you have learned. If your mind wanders, you probably are not reading fast enough or not studying as you read.

Supermarket Open Three Days Burns

PAYNESVILLE, Minn. (AP) — A supermarket that opened here only three weeks ago was destroyed by fire late Thursday night.

The blaze, which broke out about 10 p.m., destroyed the Jack and Jill Supermarket, owned by Robert Anderson and Laverne Bobbing. They estimated the loss at $80,000. There were no injuries.

Firemen battled the flames in -22 degree weather, and one hydrant froze up. The blaze appeared to have started in the basement, firemen said.

Galesville Credit Union Veterans Get Silver Dollar

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special) — Each member of the Galesville Credit Union who had supported the organization continuously for 25 years received a silver dollar souvenir at the 25th annual meeting Tuesday night at the Presbyterian Church.

Assets were reported at more than $312,000, an increase over last year. President George Oliver discussed projected changes to be made, including variable rates of interest for different classes of loans.

Joseph Dorf, Eau Claire, Credit Union fieldman, discussed real estate. Roy Poss, Clarence Olson and Lee Sacia were re-elected directors. Oliver as president, Miles McKeeth as an officer, and Clarence Brown, credit committee member, were re-elected. Fred Nelson and Orville Erickson are other members of that committee.

Rolvaag Tax Proposal Hits Low Income Groups

WE AGREE WITH Robert A. Forsythe, state Republican chairman, who said: "Gov. Karl Rolvaag proposes to hand the bill for the biggest budget in state history to the man least able to pay."

His income tax proposal, through which he will finance most of his program, is regressive because it places the greatest tax increase on the people with lower incomes.

Under his plan, income taxes of those with the lowest incomes would double while taxes of those with the highest incomes would increase only 10 percent. The higher the income, the smaller the tax increase will be.

As an example, take a typical family, a married man with two children. If the breadwinner's income is $4,000 a year, his taxes would increase 43.5 percent. But if his income is $50,000 a year, his taxes would increase only 13 percent.

IN ADDITION to this, the governor singles out in his proposals a three percent sales tax on automobiles. He calls it an excise tax. One might be able to see how either one of these proposals might be justified at one time or another but by taking them together, at one time, he zeroes in on one class of taxpayer, the working man.

"It is difficult to assess just what the governor's tax policy is," Forsythe said. "He seems to be dashing off in two directions simultaneously—opening the door for a sales tax at the same time he is increasing the income tax so that Minnesotans will be paying one of the highest, and some authorities say the highest, income taxes of any state in the union."

"His indecision displays a lack of leadership, a lack of courage or indicates he is not a free-agent to take a definitive course. This indecision will make the drafting of a meaningful tax program much more difficult and may have long-range, detrimental repercussions."

FORSYTHE ALSO said there may be flaws in the governor's plans for balancing the budget.

"He doesn't spell out where he is going to get the money for relieving the personal property taxes on farm livestock and machinery and retail merchants' inventories," Forsythe said.

"Is the money to replace these to come from the income tax fund which has been dedicated for educational purposes?" Forsythe asked.

Furthermore, Forsythe pointed out, the personal property taxes are not paid to the state but are paid to the local units of government—cities, counties and school districts—to finance their operations. The same is true of the property taxes of senior citizens, another area in which the governor and some Conservative legislators have been advocating relief.

"Does the governor intend to repay this money to the various governmental units from the income tax school fund or from other sources?" Forsythe asked.

HOW THESE FUNDS will be repaid is an important consideration in evaluating whether or not the budget actually would be balanced—particularly if the income tax school fund is to be considered a separate entity, as Rolvaag insisted it must be when he declared his phony fiscal crisis last year.

Packaged Hospitals Costly to Taxpayers

IF SOME NATION, which shall be nameless, should start lobbing nuclear missiles at us, we'd be in for it. We've always doubted whether some of the civil defense preparations made for this eventually would be of much comfort, and now Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) has brought another CD oddity to our attention.

Sitting around in warehouses over the land, he says, are packaged hospitals which cost taxpayers $38 million.

"Hospital equipment is no safer from nuclear attack in warehouses than it would be distributed to hospitals throughout the country," said the senator, in a flash of good sense that would dazzle the more perceptive of the CD planners.

Furthermore, this program is just beginning, and when the federal planners have finished they mean to have 10,000 such idle hospitals hidden away in storage, at a cost to the people of $400 million.

ONCE A YEAR, Sen. Proxmire laments, some federal employee visits these noninstallations and empties out the expensive drugs that have passed their useful life without having ever had the chance to save a life or ease a pain.

In the past, CD has spent its money largely with the signpainters. It has stuck its identification on mail trucks and garbage trucks with impartiality, and indicated that safety may be found in atomic firestorms in "shelters" which would keep out rain but little else. It has fabricated city evacuation plans that would work, providing the enemy gave us 30 days notice and the privilege of postponement, and squirreled away some special hard biscuits to nibble on should the horror ever come, and should we and the caches survive.

WE WOULD LOVE to believe that there is something our government can do that practically would solve the problem of survival in nuclear war. But until there is, we sort of hate to pay out tax money to those who play at it.

Keeping Budget Under $100 Billion

By DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON — How to keep the budget under $100 billion "without really trying" — this is the talk of the town here.

Out of the 512 printed pages containing President Johnson's budget and supplementary tables and figures, there is one chart which tells the whole story in graphic form. It reveals how any President can keep the budget under $100 billion.

There are two white bands across the chart. One says that the new authorizations the President has asked Congress to give him amount to $106.4 billion. The other shows unspent authorizations enacted in prior years as totaling $96.7 billion.

BY SIMPLY dipping into these two big funds and using some funds from each in a given year, a President can come up with $100 billion of expenditures or some other arbitrary figure in his estimated budget for the following year and still remain at a level of imaginary frugality.

The same chart reveals that out of the $106.4 billion of new authority asked by the president, only $72 billion will be spent in fiscal year 1966, which begins on July 1.

Out of the unspent authorization of $96.7 billion in prior years, the chart discloses that the President announced he will use only $27.6 billion in 1966.

BY ADDING this $27.6 billion and the $72 billion, a budget of a little less than $100 billion is thus presented for the fiscal year 1966.

Where does this leave the two unexpended yet still authorized totals: Out of the new authority recommended for fiscal year 1966, the treasury would have left $34.4 billion, and out of the unspent authorization of previous years, it would have $67.2 billion. This means that next January the President can again dip into unexpended but authorized funds totaling $101.6 billion as a reservoir available to make another budget below $100 billion.

This is the main reason why it is misleading for so much emphasis to be placed on the fact that the "administrative budget" for fiscal year 1966 will be less than $100 billion. It is to this that most prominence has been given, though there is beginning to be an awakening of public opinion on the subject, as shown in editorials from three leading newspapers which supported Mr. Johnson in the last election. The New York Herald Tribune, for example, says:

"MR. JOHNSON'S publicized preoccupation with keeping the administrative budget under $100 billion should not be permitted to obscure the fact that his budget, for fiscal 1966, at $99.7 billion, is the highest in the nation's history. Nor should emphasis on the administrative budget obscure the payments that will be made into and from the assorted trust funds—and which will bring total federal spending for fiscal '66 to $127.4 billion."

The New York Times says: "The cash budget, which consolidates the activities of the government's trust funds, estimates total payments for fiscal 1966 at over $1 billion and receipts at $123 billion. By focusing attention on the $99.7 billion spending figure in the administrative budget, the President is not merely giving less than a full picture of the government's role. He also is limiting the effort to forge the budget into a truly flexible instrument for influencing the economy."

"Right To Work" Phrase Without Meaning
To The Editor:

We hear the demagogic claim put forth by organized labor's opponents that the union shop, with its agreements with employers, is improper and unjust, and the repeal of section 1413 of the Taft-Hartley Act, which gives to the states the right to adopt or reject "Right to Work" legislation.

What is this "Right to Work"?
Is it in the Constitution?
NO.
Is it in the Bill of Rights?
NO.
Just what sort of a right is this?

If you are unemployed, can you utilize this "right to work" to claim a job with any local contractor or business? Of course not. To obtain work, a job has to be vacant, you have to be qualified and selected for the job.

If you are employed, does this "right to work" protect you from losing your job? Of course not. You can still be discharged for disobeying company rules and regulations, for inefficiency or for other legitimate reasons.

If the company's business declines, can you still be laid off? The "right to work" does not help you to obtain a job or prevent you from losing a job.

Let's face it: In America there is no "right to work". It is a phrase without meaning. Instead, it might be said that individuals have the "right" to look for "work"—but it is the employer who decides whether any worker is to be hired and not the people.

Housing Code Will Affect Every Person
To The Editor:

Regarding urban renewal, new high school and real estate taxes in Winona:

I don't believe anyone will dispute the fact that our downtown district needs modernizing. Not too many deny we need a new high school. However, the housing code is a horse of a different color. I was present at the council meeting when the housing code passed. I recall one official's answer to objections by Alderman Stoltman, saying, "We can pass this code but we don't have to enforce all those provisions." Now we are told they have to be enforced. We can talk progress and we can have progress, but please let's not have any more of the kind that took us to Wincrest, where some near $200,000 of the taxpayer's money was squandered.

Now our real estate taxes: We are going to build a new high school which I favor. If my information is correct, this will take 97 lots off the tax rolls. We know Winona State will continue to expand, taking more valuable property from our dwindling tax rolls. Urban renewal, and when I say urban renewal, I mean for the whole city because that's what it means whether we have been told so or not.

No one knows yet how much it is going to cost or how it will accelerate our tax rates.

Let's omit these three important and costly factors for a moment.

My 1964 taxes payable now were increased ten percent and amount to $18.42 per month. Project that ten percent increase over ten years and my taxes will rise to $47.70 per month. Any owner now paying $300 a year or $25 per month will be paying $777.80 per year or $64.81 per month.

Now add the other three factors I mentioned earlier and will anyone be able to deny these taxes are confiscatory? Does anyone know how high they will be? Our friend from Rochester, in Tuesday's issue, mentioned taxes are much higher in Winona than in Rochester. Maybe then high taxes aren't a mark of progress because Rochester has made progress without urban renewal and maybe we in Winona aren't getting the full value from our tax dollar.

The housing code discussed earlier is going to affect every person in the city of Winona freedom-wise, and dollar-wise, owner or renter, so I urge each voter to find out how each candidate for city office stands on these issues and then vote as he wishes, but please vote.

Enforce Existing Laws First, Then Make New Ones
To The Editor:

In regard to your editorial of Jan. 22, "Knowles would set beer age at 21": Governor Knowles states that Wisconsin is the only state in this area which permits the sale of beer to those under 21 years of age, and that drivers between the ages of 18 and 21 are involved in 13 percent of all accidents and 16 percent of all fatal accidents.

Mr. Knowles, however, failed to mention that a great many of these accidents occurred in Milwaukee County. Milwaukee has a 21 year of age tavern law, and these young people drive their cars 30 miles outside of the city to obtain beer.

If beer was available to them in the city they would not be involved in accidents by driving a great distance to obtain it.

Young people who have reached the age of 18 are usually employed and have their own money to spend.

Beer taverns in Wisconsin have amusement devices such as pool tables, pinball games, bowling alleys and juke boxes. A good share of the money these young people spend go into these devices.

Does Governor Knowles want to close these places to these young folks and drive them out to some secluded spot such as Blesanz stone quarry, Prairie Island, Garvin Heights or some seldom used side road? (These are the places where Minnesota kids do their drinking). In these places their 21-year-old friends can purchase beer and even whiskey for them. And don't forget, the coins they formerly spent on amusement devices will now also be spent on drinks. Is this better than allowing them to go to a place where drinking can be controlled? Is this what Governor Knowles wants for Wisconsin?

Sheriff George Fort stated that young people from Minnesota come over to Wisconsin to purchase beer by the case. Wisconsin has had a 21 year of age off sale law for the past 18 months, so changing the existing on sale law would not make any difference in this case.

Mr. Fort also stated, that young folks from Minnesota come to Wisconsin and nobody asks them where they're from and are being served in their beer taverns. If he would take a drive on any evening of the week, from Galesville to Nelson and visit all the beer taverns, I am sure that he would find that Minnesota kids are not being served or even allowed to stay in these places.

Yes I know Minnesota juveniles are being served across the river from Winona, but they are not being served in the beer taverns. Perhaps a strict enforcement of our tavern laws would help that a whole lot.

Mr. Fort also stated, that juveniles who broke into a Lewiston filling station had been drinking beer. Was this beer purchased in Wisconsin? And how about the tavern keepers in Minnesota who have been arrested in the last few months for selling beer to minors.

Let's work for a strict enforcement of the tavern laws now in existence, and then propose a new law if it is still necessary, and I don't think it will be, if all tavern operators check the age of their customers the same as the beer taverns do in this area.

And whether the editor thinks it's a bunch of hogwash or not, I'll still go along with the old argument, if a man is old enough to fight and die for his country, then he is old enough to have a glass of beer if he wants it.

Manufacturer Gives Views On Urban Renewal
To The Editor:

Your Sunday editorial on urban renewal was of great interest to me as a businessman and taxpayer. The company which I represent owns property which falls within one suggested area for urban renewal and it is possible we will be involved.

Before proceeding, I would like to set forth my understanding of urban renewal. It is a designated area where land and buildings are purchased with government funds, by negotiation or condemnation, and razed. The land is then sold to businesses and investors who will erect suitable new buildings, the money received for the land to revert to the government as partial payment for their outlay.

If my understanding is correct, it appears that a super-board will be neces-

WASHINGTON CALLING

London Sees Great Pageant

By MARQUIS CHILDS

LONDON — This capital is preparing for a great pageant in memory of the greatness of an era that already seems part of the remote past.

The death of Sir Winston Churchill had long been expected. Coming at the end of the long, gentle sleep of his last days it was almost an anti-climax. Yet it has called up all the emotion that lies buried beneath the outward stoical calm of the British temperament.

Already with the final act in the drama still days away the normal life of the city is slowing to a pause. Government offices in Whitehall are frantically working on details of a state funeral that will be a solemn spectacle much as has not been seen since the death of Queen Victoria on Jan. 22, 1901, at the age of 81.

Kings and queens, heads of state, princes and potentates, all are arriving. As Victoria's death marked the end of an age — Britain's long ascendancy, the time of the empire on which the sun never sets — so does Churchill's passing signal the close of a chapter that the British people treasure in another way. This was the hero of their finest hour, the symbol and the sign that valor and steadfastness and sacrifice and nobility could be called forth as of old. HISTORY MAY not hold that Churchill singlehandedly saved Britain. But this is the belief of millions who will pay tribute to him. And certainly if his voice had not been raised in that critical hour it is hardly possible to doubt that the outcome would have been different. It was his fighting spirit that rallied a desperate people.

Hard as it is to realize, nearly a quarter of a century has passed since the days of the blitz. Night after night a thousand fires burned in the heart of London. In the grim light of morning Churchill moved from one smoking ruin to another assessing the damage. The pessimists said Britain was finished. The voice of Goebbels was loud with exultant doom.

BUT CHURCHILL never showed the slightest sign of yielding in any degree. He worked ceaselessly with the attention for detail that often drove his associates to the edge of exhaustion. The memoranda that he sent in an unending stream from No. 10 Downing Street demanded the impossible and not later than tomorrow morning.

This interlude of mourning may almost be welcome in that it calls up the great past at a moment when Britain's fortunes are at a low ebb. The labor government of Harold Wilson holds precarious authority, a three-vote margin in the House of Commons. While an election may come soon, the Conservatives have no desire to return to office in light of the difficulties plaguing the British economy.

The British pound, once the token of stability and financial authority, suffered a bad sinking spell last year and was rescued by the International Monetary Fund with a draft on the hard-currency countries. Prices are rising as British goods have been forced out of competitive markets. Labor spokesmen are compelled to appeal to the rank and file for restraint on wages and a postponement of new welfare measures. No one quite knows what the direction is.

IN THIS sad dilemma the image of the stouthearted man with the cigar clamped in one corner of his bulldog mouth is a welcome reminder of what men can do when they have to. No one talks about anything else and almost everyone has his or her anecdote. People treasure the moments they saw him, a glimpse of him passing in a car or standing on the outskirts of a crowd and hearing that stirring voice raise in a challenge like a bugle call. Through the long darkness of the blitz that voice on the wireless was a sustaining force for millions of Britons.

The memory is erased of their ingratitude at the war's end. In the election that came as he sat down at Potsdam in 1945 with Stalin and Truman to try to agree on a peace he was turned out of office. It was a severe blow to his pride and to his belief that he had a hold on the affection of his people.

Ehmann Petition Asks Three Votes

A Winona businessman, Don Ehmann, 80 W. 5th St., said today that he is actively circulating petitions calling for referendums on a new school bond issue, urban renewal and a change to a home-rule city charter.
Ehmann said he is being helped by about 30 solicitors and that they have met with "terrific response."
Ehmann, who operates a television repair service, says people of the city should have the opportunity to vote on these issues.

Mondovi Farm Woman Burns In House Fire

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special) — The body of a rural Mondovi woman was found this morning in the rubble of her farm home which was leveled by fire during the night.
She was Mrs. Olaf G. Syverson, about 75, who lived with her husband on a farm just off Highway 37 near Mondovi.
However, Mrs. Syverson apparently was alone in the house when the fire was discovered at 3 a.m. by the Nelson Brothers, who operate a neighboring farm.
The residence was a mass of flames when Mondovi firemen arrived, according to Chief George Jackson.
Authorities said Mrs. Syverson's husband, about 75, spent the night at the home of a nephew, Alfred O. Johnson, with whom he had planned to go to Michigan this morning to pick up an auto. Cause of the fire was unknown.
The Mondovi firemen were called to the farm about 10 a.m. today when rubble started flaming again.

Man Just Released From Caledonia Jail Faces Fillmore Count

PRESTON, Minn. — A man who was released from the Houston County jail at Caledonia Saturday after serving a sentence on a bad check charge is to be returned to Fillmore County today for taking a car from Preston.
Ronald Gene Larson, 30, was apprehended by Yellow Medicine County authorities in Granite Falls Wednesday night, driving a vehicle he had allegedly stolen from Richard Wold, a salesman for Gunderson Motors, Preston. Wold was demonstrating the car to Larson, whom he believed to be a prospective customer.
Neil Haugerud, Fillmore County sheriff, said Larson probably will be charged with grand larceny.

SPOKESMAN

No One Hurt In Collisions; Driver Charged

Four accidents — none of them resulting in personal injury — were investigated by Winona police Thursday and early today.
The first took place at 9:05 a.m. Thursday on 2nd Street 75 feet west of Carmona Street. Edwin P. Burke, 22, Chicago, a student at St. Mary's College, was driving west on 2nd Street when he lost control of his car.
The vehicle veered across the street, striking two parked cars, both owned by Wayne M. Pagel, 573 E. 2nd St.
Damage to the left rear of Burke's car was estimated at $150, while that to the left rear of one of the parked cars was set at $150. Damage to the left front of the other parked vehicle was estimated at $65.

AT 11:50 a.m. Thursday, a car driven by William T. Sillman Jr., 23, 1021 W. Wabasha St., and a Milwaukee Railroad truck driven by Thomas C. Goodier, Red Wing, collided at Mark and Winona streets.
Damage to the right front of the Sillman car was set at $150, while that to the railroad vehicle was estimated to be $50 and was confined to its front end.
Goodier, driving west on Mark Street, was unable to stop in time to avoid hitting Sillman's car, which was going north on Winona Street. The pavement was icy, police said.

THE INTERSECTION of 2nd and Carmona streets was the scene of an accident at 1:15 p.m. Thursday — just four hours and 75 feet from an earlier mishap.
Involved this time were cars driven by Julius P. Groth, Dakota Rt. 1, and Wilbur L. Van Thomma, 456 E. 4th St.
Groth told police he was driving west on 2nd Street, and was over the center line because he wanted to avoid driving on railroad tracks on the north half of the street.
Groth said he saw Van Thomma turn right onto 2nd Street from Carmona Street, but was unable to avoid hitting his car.
Damage to the right front of Groth's car was estimated at $100, and damage to the left front of the Van Thomma vehicle was set at $150.

Groth, ticketed for driving with an expired driver's license, forfeited $10 by failing to appear in municipal court this morning.
A TOTAL of $445 damages resulted from a collision at 8:08 a.m. today at the intersection of King and Dakota streets.
Louise V. Kujak, 457 Eckert St., was driving a car owned by Mrs. Alice Kujak, same address, east on King Street when she hit a car moving south on Dakota Street. Driver of the second car was Gerald McVey, 660 Winona St.

Miss Kujak said she let one car go through the intersection, then proceeded into it herself without seeing the McVey car approaching. She did not see it, she said, until the point of impact.

WABASHA CHIMNEY FIRE

WABASHA, Minn. (Special) — The Wabasha fire department was called out in subzero weather at 9:30 a.m. today to extinguish a chimney fire at the Paul O'Flaherty farm home.

Blood Donors Will Top Quota

The Winona County Red Cross blood drive appeared certain to pass its quota as 150 prospective donors were processed Thursday.
The cumulative total processed during the week through Thursday is 594 — only 31 short of the week's goal of 625.
Pints of blood were collected Thursday from 140 donors, Mrs. Carl Bretlow, blood drive chairman, said. There were 28 first-time donors.

Woman Carries Dogs From Burning Kennel

HOUSTON, Minn. (Special) — A Houston kennel operator braved sub-zero weather and fire here Friday when she raced into a flaming building and carried 22 puppies to safety.
The woman, who became the dogs' best friend, is Mrs. Perry Frosch. She and her husband operate the Frosch Kennels two miles north of here on Highway 76.
Between 12 and 15 registered dogs perished in a second structure.
Mrs. Frosch said she awakened about 2:30 a.m., looked out the kitchen window, and saw a red glare. The kennels — consisting of two separate buildings — appeared to be burning, she said.
She telephoned the Houston fire department and then ran outdoors. One 20-by-50-foot building housing the kennel's registered breeding stock was burned to the ground. This structure contained dachshunds, fox terriers and manchesters.
Flames were licking their way through the top of the second building. Mrs. Frosch raced in and managed to carry out all 22 puppies. Minutes later, this building had burned to the ground.

She saved beagles, miniature dachshunds, fox terriers and one litter of beagle-dachshunds, all registered. Houston firemen prevented the blaze from spreading to other buildings.
Each building had wood burning heaters, she said. But she didn't know if they caused the blaze.
Mrs. Frosch said she and her husband have operated the kennels since 1949. Since his illness this past fall, she has operated the business. The buildings and the dogs were insured but she hasn't had time to estimate the loss. They plan to rebuild the kennels when weather permits.
The puppies were moved to the basement of the Frosch home. "People who ordered puppies can still obtain them," she said.

IN ADDITION to the 140 donors, there were 10 rejects. Mrs. Bretlow explained, however, that all prospective donors count toward the county's quota, even if some of the volunteers are rejected as actual donors.

Shortly before the center opened at 9 a.m. today, there were 51 persons registered to give blood. This number would put the drive past its quota by 20. Four persons who have given four gallons of blood or more to the Red Cross were among Thursday's repeat donors. They were Robert A. Meier, Erwin Baudhuin, Lewis Burt, Paul Libera, Darol E. Lee and Mrs. Milton Range. Others were:

Three gallons or more — Kenneth Meyers, Mrs. Isabel Prochowitz, Harvey Nielson, Robert O. Becker, Gerald Van Pelt, Bruno Marcolini, Norman Schellhas, Francis Lanik and Leo C. Voelker.

Two gallons or more — Robert Ozmun, Mrs. Mike Golt, Carl J. Fischer, Malcolm G. Becker, Miss Alma Wollin, S. J. Seebold, William Silsbee, Oscar Lindstrom, Joseph Burke, Merle W. Matzke and Willard Angst.

One gallon or more — James Killian, Mrs. Mark Zimmerman, Gerald Wondrow, Mrs. Donald Hittner, Donald Marg, Ronald Kruse, Stephen Michalowski, Mrs. William Silsbee, Jerry Glenzinski, Howard Heup, Thor Romstad, C. C. Currier and Mrs. Violet Kjos.

Bruski Drive Recommended

A recommendation to name a new street Bruski Drive was adopted Thursday night by the City Planning Commission.
The street, about 600 feet long, runs eastward from Mankato Avenue along the north side of the new Linahan's Inn motel site. The street was dedicated to the city by the development corporation last year when it purchased the land from previous owners.
The street's namesake is the late Municipal Judge S. D. J. Bruski, who died in May 1963.
In adopting the motion which will be forwarded to the City Council, the commission acted upon a resolution passed recently by the Winona Civic Association, asking for the designation.

TRAGEDY and COMEDY are the symbols of the theater. Many people treat life as a comedy with an "eat, drink and be merry" attitude. The tragedy is that many die failing to accept the free gift of eternal life.
"For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." John 3-16

Americanism

Liberty, as proclaimed by law and constitutions, can never have full meaning without the added ingredients of Fraternity and Brotherhood; without the spirit of friendliness and unselfishness... love for one's fellows. Those powerful qualifying attributes help spell out what Americanism is.
When one sees a family unit, parents and children, with Bibles in hand, attending church to worship as they please... then one is witnessing Liberty in its finest and most fullsome forms, for that, too, is American. Freedom of religious worship is equally important, along with economic freedom and freedom from oppression, in America.
Then worship God as you please but be sure to worship... that is Americanism.

Our Saviour's At Whitehall OKs Assistant

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Members have voted unanimously to call an assistant pastor for Our Saviour's Lutheran Church instead of having an intern as during the past six years.

The present intern, Cameron Liebenow, will be here until Sept. 1; the assistant will assume his duties then.

The action was taken at the annual meeting.

RECEIPTS LAST year, including the improvement fund, totaled $52,000. This does not include the amounts of the various auxiliary organizations. The congregation is now out of debt.

The new constitution, adopted at the 1964 annual meeting, was ratified.

This year is the 95th anniversary of the organization; it will be observed next summer. The report of the Rev. O. G. Birkeland, pastor, listed a total of 150 services which included 93 regular, 15 special, 22 funerals, 14 Communion services, and six programs and other meetings. There were 26 baptisms and 17 marriages. Thirty-one members, including two adults, were confirmed.

Dr. N. S. Simons, financial secretary-treasurer, reported on debt retirement. Total disbursements for 1964 were $7,236.61, and receipts, including the beginning balance, were $9,856.47. Balance Jan. 20, 1965, $2,619.47.

HIS REPORT listed total receipts for the year, plus the $10.33 balance on hand, at $43,900.51. Included were a $4,332.72 bequest from the Selmer Stuve estate; $471.50 in memorials; $1,550.00, church women, and $28,790.84 in envelope contributions.

Disbursements totaled $43,560.35. This included $10,500, synodical budget; $3,000, Rev. and Mrs. Calvert, missionaries; $6,600, pastor's salary; $3,005, intern's salary; $3,000 custodian; $2,027.18, fuel for church, parish house and parsonage, and $496.54, utilities for the church plant.

Officers elected: Nels Erickson, president; Miss Mayne Hallingstad, secretary; Charles Johnson, treasurer; Alvin Windjue, financial secretary, and Dr. Simons, financial secretary of improvement fund, all one-year terms.

Board of deacons (three-year terms) — Mrs. Clarence Briggs, district 3; Sylvan Olson, district 4, and Robert Nehring, district 7. (Holdover members are Willie Johnson, Morris Everson and Mrs. Carsten Linnerud, whose terms expire in 1966, and Veri Hanson and Harland Schaefer, whose terms expire in 1967.)

St. Matthew's Dedication Speaker Back

The Rev. Prof. E. E. Kowale, Northwestern College, Watertown, Wis., one of the speakers at the dedication of St. Matthew's Evangelical Lutheran Church will preach the sermon of the 45th anniversary services Sunday.

St. Matthew's was organized at a meeting on Jan. 4, 1920, at which the late Rev. A. W. Sauer, pastor of St. Martin's, presided. The first pastor called was the Rev. Paul Froehke who served the congregation for about 18 years. The congregation was organized with 165 families.

Worship services were first held in a building which had been in use as a parochial school and later as a store at West King and Minnesota Streets. The present church was dedicated in 1925; an education building and gymnasium, attached to the church, were built in 1956. A special project of the congregation in this anniversary year is the building of a new parsonage at 710 W. Wabasha St. to replace the Broadway parsonage.

After the services there will be an anniversary dinner. Honored guests at the dinner will be the first couple married in the congregation, the first individual baptized who is still a member of the church, and the charter members. Members who joined the congregation during the past year will be guests of the church council.

Committee in charge of the arrangements is Don Kiekbusch, Harold Stender and Leon Larson.

Trempealeau Unit to Employ History Student

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special) — Plans for hiring a student of history at an area college to sort and catalog books and papers in the Trempealeau County Historical Society were discussed at the annual meeting at Galesville Tuesday night.

Leland Chenoweth, Blair, who has held the society together for 10 years, was given a standing ovation as he was replaced by Clark Nixon, La Crosse, as president. Also elected were William Beseler, Trempealeau; Mrs. C. Andrew Kuhn, Whitehall, and Chenoweth, vice presidents; Mrs. Eileen Layton, secretary, and Arnold French, treasurer, both of Galesville.

THE OFFICERS, plus Mrs. G. M. Wiley, Ettrick; Basil Erickson, Whitehall, and Mrs. Henry French, Galesville, will serve as the board of directors of the 60-member organization.

Next meeting is planned for the first Sunday in March following a tour of the Nixon home in La Crosse. After that meetings will be the last Tuesday of every month.

Nixon said the National Education program will pay 90 percent of the cost of a summer student. The State University, La Crosse, would add the 10 percent remaining if a student of historical research were chosen from there, he said.

Nixon said the old bank vaults have been ready to receive important books and documents for preservation.

A newspaper story on the history of the Trempealeau County Historical Society was presented for filing.

GIERE DISPLAYED his coin collection and discussed it.

He said Abraham of the Bible, living some 2,000 years before Christ, was the world's first millionaire. He used cattle as a means of exchange more than his gold or silver because they were self-propelled, while the metal had to be carried on camels' backs.

He said it cost Abraham about $218.96 to bury his wife. Buying Rebekah at the well for a wife for his son cost about $98.98, or two shekels, plus two bracelets.

Naaman offered Elijah about $68,000, and 70 camels for curing him of leprosy, Giere said, but Elijah refused. Joseph and Mary journeyed to Bethlehem to pay 25 cents each in taxes.

HE TOLD OF the widow's mite and other coins in his collection carrying likenesses of the Caesars. He said Felix put the head of Jesus on coins to endear the poor to him but he didn't succeed because he had broken the commandment, "Thou shalt have no graven images before me."

To illustrate the size of the coin collecting hobby, Canada received six tons of letters for coins of a new issue. Sixty million dollars worth of them were ordered before Jan. 2. After two million orders were filled, the others were returned, Giere's among them.

Lunch was served at the meeting by Mrs. Doris Lyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter O. Knutson

Peter Knutson, Janet Winberg Speak Vows

INDEPENDENCE, Wis. (Special) — Miss Janet Marie Winberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude G. Winberg, Independence, became the bride of Peter O. Knutson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milo G. Knutson, La Crosse, Saturday at St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church.

The Very Rev. Edmund J. Klimek officiated. Edward Lyga and the Senior Choir sang. Mrs. Regina Reinhold was organist.

Miss Pauline Roskos, Independence, was maid of honor and the Misses Mary Sieger, Madison, Rebecca Weist, La Crosse, Janet Knutson, Independence, and Bette Smick, Durand, bridesmaids. Miss Mary Lynn Winberg, sister of the bride, was flower girl.

FRANK SCHNEIDER Jr., La Crosse, was best man and Peter Wahlstrom and Harold Moe, both of La Crosse, Dennis Maule, Independence, and Jeff Roverud, Spring Grove, Minn., groomsmen. Ushers were John Beranek Jr., Bettendorf, Iowa and Albert Sylla, Independence.

The bride, who carried red roses with white Stephanotis, wore a gown of candlelight silk ottoman with a bow-accented empire waist, and an A-line skirt with a redingote falling from the waist into a diamond chapel train. A white mink collar enhanced its beauty. Mink trim on the silk ottoman pillow box with a three-tier silk veil of candlelight completed her ensemble.

Her attendants, each carrying three roses, wore floor-length gowns with velvet bodices and camelot sleeves of ruby red. Petal pink crepe skirts were accented at the empire waists with red satin bands and roses. Bow trimmed velvet ruby red pillboxes completed their costumes. The flower girl wore a gown like the bridesmaid's.

THE BRIDE'S mother wore an aqua suit and had a corsage of white roses. A candlelight brocade dress was worn by the groom's mother and she had a corsage of pink roses.

A reception for about 400 was held at Club Midway. Miss Joan Schlessor provided special piano music. Assisting were the Mmes. James Lyga and John Beranek and the Misses Linda Olson, Annette Truan, Betty Lou Halama and Marjorie Marsolek.

Following a trip through Minnesota and Illinois, the couple will be at home in La Crosse after Feb. 1.

The bride is a graduate of Independence High School and of St. Francis School of Nursing, La Crosse. She is a pediatric nurse at St. Francis Hospital. Her husband was graduated from Central High School and attended American Flyers School, Ardmore, Okla., and Aviation Training Enterprises, Chicago. He is a commercial pilot for Northern Engraving Company.

College Offers Analysis of Neighborhoods

Assistance in compiling neighborhood analyses will be tendered by the business education department of Winona State College, the City Planning Commission was told Thursday night.

The analyses are to be completed as part of the requirements for recertification of the city's Workable Plan for Community Improvement. The plan's recertification is necessary if the city wishes to apply for any further federal aids in connection with urban renewal.

GRADUATE STUDENTS and upper classmen will be sought to help with legwork and charting, Drs. Warren Marley and J. H. Froegen told the commission.

The two teachers expect to meet with the city attorney to define objectives for the analysts. Guidelines and methods then will be established, subject to commission approval.

The commission voted to recommend approval of the plat of the proposed Schellhas Subdivision to the City Council. The recommendation was for approval as a legal exception to subdivision regulations requiring certain improvements. In cases where plats have live or fewer parcels and are on existing streets, approval may be granted on the general conditions that applicable platting, subdividing and zoning regulations have been met.

The five-lot subdivision is on the south side of Lake Boulevard and west of Mankato Avenue.

Commission members said they will seek a meeting with the Board of County Commissioners soon to discuss proposals for adoption of countywide planning.

APPLICATIONS have been received by the commission from 14 candidates for the position of city planning coordinator. Commissioners will review applications individually and will start the elimination and selection process at their next regular meeting, Feb. 11.

Also present at the next meeting will be B. B. Chapman of the planning firm of Nason, Law, Wehrman & Knight. Chapman will supervise drafting of the proposed renewal plan for downtown areas. His firm, a Minneapolis concern, was recently awarded the planning contract by the Winona Housing and Redevelopment Authority.

Mother of Sharpshooter Marks Birthday at Osseo

OSSEO, Wis. (Special) — With a sparkle in her eye Mrs. Minnie Larson looked forward to her birthday today. She's 76.

Resident of the Osseo Nursing Home, she speaks with a great deal of pride of her two sons, Leon "Colonel" of Whitehall and Vernon Henry, Washington, D.C.

ALTHOUGH bedridden since her arrival here last March, she is keenly interested in the affairs of the world, keeping up with the news daily. When President Johnson was inaugurated, a TV set was brought to her room so she could view the ceremony.

Mrs. Larson is also interested in the activities of other patients at the home and likes visitors, but the highlight of her life is receiving letters or visits from her sons. For willing listeners she'll tell all about them.

Mondovi Group Re-elects Peck

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special) — Officers of the Mondovi Agriculture, Professional and Businessmen's Association were re-elected Tuesday by the board of directors.

Howard Peck remains president; Edward Robinson, vice president; Norman Hanson, secretary; and Lowell Serum, treasurer. Other members of the board are D. L. Scholt, Gordon Retzlaff, Jerry Dahms, Harris Serum and Arnold Gunderson.

The following committees were appointed, the first named being chairman:

Retail — Robert Thels, Carl Aasmund, Mrs. Harris Serum, Mrs. William Aase, Bert Kisselburg, Edward Mahlum, Herman Weiss, Gordon Retzlaff, Agriculture — Howard Kins, John Rohrichs, Milton La Duke, Donald Bruce, Roger Winandine, Industrial development — James Dietz, Ervin Heck, Jack Whelan, Robert Armstrong, Harley Hestman and Edward Robinson. Youth and recreation — David Howard, Gene Higley, Gaten Aase, Gordon Kienvel, Allen Duncanson, Leonard Zmolek and Jerry Dahms.

Health, education and welfare — Donald Zmolek, the Rev. Roger Brooks, Dr. John Lee, Dr. D. B. Johnson, Donald Bruce and Arnold Gunderson. Membership — Edward Robinson and all directors. Budget and auditing — Allen Lehman, Charles Vincent, Charles Accola, Frank Norrish and Lowell Serum.

Civil defense — George Jackson, John Tanner, Charles Gless, Otto Bollinger, William Hehl and Norman Hanson. Civic pride — James Hake, Thomas Melis, Gene Franchester, Fred Rockwell, Melvin Gregory and Harris Serum. Publicity — Alton Nyseth and all committee chairmen.

Special committee — to promote Mondovi as the Horse Capital of Wisconsin, the agriculture committee.

Next association meeting will be Feb. 9 at noon at Don's Supper Club.

Cranberry Growers Form Association

BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis. — A Jackson County Cranberry Association has been organized here to promote the industry.

Directors are: Milton Stage, Mather; Robert Case, Fred Barber and Carl Nemitz, Warrens, and Arthur Janke and John Roberts, Black River Falls.

According to County Agent Eugene Savage, there are approximately 750 acres of cranberry marsh in Jackson County. Average yield is 100 barrels per acre, one barrel containing 100 pounds of cranberries.

There has been a steady increase in production in recent years, with about 50 acres of new beds brought into production in each of the last three or four years.

One of the most limiting factors is a suitable water supply, Savage said.

Mondovi Honor Roll

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special) — Mondovi High School students receiving straight A's for the second nine weeks of school were Doris Berger, Lincoln Duncanson, Patricia Fedle, Linda Hageness, Allyn Hubbard, Debbie Kramschuster and Barbara Odgaard. A total of 27 received averages of 3.5 and 51 averages of 3.

Colonel is called the world's champion sharpshooter; he's well known for his shows at fairs and other events in the area.

BECOMING an expert sharpshooter is a feat in itself, she pointed out, but how he did it is more remarkable.

At 28 her Colonel was married, the father of two children and teaching school. Then he was stricken with polio. Handicapped so he could no longer play the kind of football he did when he was on an all-star college squad, and handicapped as a coach, he decided to do something else with his life.

To exercise damaged muscles in his arms and shoulders, he learned roping and juggling. To bring back the strength of his legs, he learned to ride a unicycle. He became an all-around hobbyist, with an admiring crowd of youngsters usually following him around.

These talents and his target shooting ability led him to give up teaching and enter school lyceum work. Now he is a representative of the Marlin Gun Co. His work takes him and his wife to all parts of the U.S.

VERNON WAS in the U.S. Navy 22 years as an aeronautical engineer and flyer. He was the first to pilot Constitution No. 1 in World War II. He now is in the government civil service.

Mrs. Larson was born Jan. 29, 1889 at Chippewa Falls, where she lived until coming to Osseo. Her husband, Henry Larson, was a railroad engineer, working in the yards at Irvine. He died six years ago. She remained in the family home alone until a year ago and was a patient two months at St. Joseph's Hospital, Chippewa Falls, before coming to Osseo.

She has seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

They'll Pass Heart Envelope at Osseo; Girl Scouts Helping

OSSEO, Wis. (Special) — Mrs. Melvin Krienke, chairman of the Osseo "Pass-the-Heart" drive in the Heart Fund campaign beginning Monday, has enlisted Cadette Girl Scouts to distribute envelopes in the neighborhoods.

Residents will be asked to place their contributions in the envelope and pass it on to their neighbors. The envelope should not remain in any home longer than 24 hours.

No direct solicitation will be made in the rural areas but persons surrounding Osseo are to send contributions to Mrs. Krienke.

Trempealeau County School Committee Renames Officers

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — At the annual reorganizational meeting of the Trempealeau County school committee at the courthouse held Wednesday evening, Merlin Winters, Trempealeau, was re-elected chairman, and Irwin Hogden, Ettrick, vice chairman.

Mrs. Lily Reich, Whitehall, will be secretary until July 1. Following that time the coordinator of the Cooperative Educational Service Agency, being organized for several schools of the area, will be secretary of the county school committee. A coordinator will be hired sometime after agency organization in March.

Other members of the county school committee are: Melvin Anaas, Whitehall; Dr. Leon English, Arcadia; Milo Whipple, Eleva, and Edward Gunderson, Blair.

First National Staffer Retired

Mrs. Veronica M. Brown, an employee of the First National Bank 30 years, was honored at a retirement party in the Captain's Room of the Williams Hotel Thursday evening.

She has elected early retirement, as of Feb. 1, under the bank's pension program.

When Mrs. Brown and her husband, the late Weldon Brown, moved to Winona in 1924, she answered a newspaper ad of the First Trust & Savings Bank for stenographic help during the vacation period.

The job Mrs. Brown turned out to be permanent. She worked at First Trust until it was dissolved and sold to the Winona company. She joined First National Bank Jan. 15, 1935, and worked in the trust department as secretary to the late E. E. Shepard, vice president and trust officer. For the past four years she has been the custodian in the safe deposit department.

Mrs. Brown resides at 251 Walnut St. She is a member of the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart, its St. Gertrude Guild and of the American Legion Auxiliary.

She will move to Murdo, S. D., where she will make her future home with her sister.

William Mountain New Deputy In Pepin County

Hospital Site Cases Settled; 7 New Jurors

Settlement of four related cases was announced Thursday afternoon in District Court by Clerk of Court Joseph C. Page. Page also disclosed names of seven jurors called additionally to replace members of the original 45 member petit jury panel who have been excused from jury duty.

THE FOUR CASES settled Thursday involved alleged cracking of walls and ceilings in four homes near the site of the former Winona General Hospital. The damage allegedly resulted from concussion of demolition work at the hospital last winter by the Sam Rueb Wrecking Co., Marion Township, Olmsted County.

Plaintiffs in the four lawsuits were: Austin Loeffler, 668 W. Wabasha St., asking $3,000 damages; Thomas Stoltzman, 658 W. Wabasha St., asking $500 damages; and Edward Kindt, 654 Wabasha St., and Peter Biesanz, 660 W. Wabasha St., each asking $1,500 damages.

Terms of settlement were not disclosed. Attorneys were Duane M. Peterson for all four plaintiffs and the Minneapolis firm of Schermer & Gensler for the defendant, Sam Rueb.

NEW JURORS are: Mrs. Raymond Arnoldy, Rollingstone; Mrs. Kenneth Anderson, Rushford; Mrs. Paul Holst, Elba; Leland T. Larsen, 708 W. King St.; Walter Pfinghoff, Houston; Hilbert Sens, Rollingstone, and Catherine Sherwood, Rollingstone.

Judge Arnold Hatfield, after dismissing other members of the jury panel until Monday at 9:30 a.m., instructed the seven new jurors in their duties at a private session in his chambers.

Permit Denied For New Home

A request by Dr. Cleve Gruler to erect a two-story house at 1302 Service Dr. was unanimously declined by the Board of Zoning Appeals Thursday night.

Neighboring property owners, represented by William Hull, attorney, raised a series of objections. The proposed site is a parcel at the apex of a triangle formed by Service Drive and Randall Street.

Hull contended adjacent property values would be injured because the house would front south on Service Drive, while others in the block face Randall Street to the north. The rear wall would be 20 feet from the Randall Street line, he noted, out of conformity with the fronts of other houses which are set back in uniform 45 feet from Randall Street.

Minimum statutory setback for such lots is 25 feet and a variance from this requirement had been requested by Dr. Gruler. The 45-foot line, while not mandatory, had been established by common agreement among the other property owners.

Hull also objected to construction of a two-story house in an area where all others are single-story types.

Two board members, William Wiczorek and Stanley Wiczorek, were absent.

Stocks Found In Hotel Room

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Miami Beach police found hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of negotiable stocks and bonds in the hotel room of a 29-year-old gypsy arrested after he tried to cash a check.

The man, who signed a statement admitting the stocks were stolen from a New York office, identified himself as Stephen Tene, the FBI said. He gave his tribal name as Bimbo.

The stolen stocks were worth $650,000 when they were taken from the office of S. Cy Gluck Dec. 24, agents said. Police Lt. Albert Biblo estimated their value at $1 million.

Cold Weather Training Set For Guardsmen

ST. PAUL (AP) — Extensive cold weather training will be held for 500 Minnesota national guardsmen at Camp Ripley from Feb. 21 to March 7.

Maj. Gen. Chester J. Moeglein, state adjutant general, said the trainees will be from the 2nd B.J., 138th Infantry, commanded by Lt. Col. Donald N. Anderson, Moorhead. The battalion has units in Moorhead, Bemidji, Crookston, Thief River Falls and Detroit Lakes.

More than 8,000 troops of the 47th Infantry Division will undergo cold weather training during 1965, Moeglein said.

Two hundred officers and men will be flown to Alaska Feb. 6 to participate in maneuvers dubbed "Polar Strike."

Another battalion from southwestern Minnesota will conduct its annual field training in Alaska in June. Other detachments will train in Alaska from March through August.

Plainview Shippers To Meet Feb. 12; Director Election Set

PLAINVIEW, Minn. — H. L. Cadman, field representative, Central Livestock Association, South St. Paul, will be guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Plainview Cooperative Livestock Shipping Association at 8 p.m. Feb. 12 at the high school.

A film, "Credit Where Credit Is Due," will be shown. One director to fill the expired term of Cyril Greive will be elected.

Present officers and directors include Francis Kottschade, president; Kenneth Steffen, vice president; George Mason, secretary - treasurer, and Cyril Greive, Thomas Zabel and Charles Christison.

Bill to Kill Wisconsin Sales Tax Introduced

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A bill to eliminate Wisconsin's three percent sales tax on household furniture, floor coverings and appliances was introduced in the Senate today by Sen. Joseph Lourigan, D-Kenosha.

Other new legislation included another in a series of bills to repeal the state ban on the sale of colored oleomargarine. The newest proposal came from Sen. Casimir Kozlowski, D-Milwaukee, and would also eliminate the 15 cents-per-pound tax now applied to the uncolored product.

A $50,000 appropriation was requested in a bill by Sen. Jeris Leonard, R-Milwaukee, to finance research and experiments in combatting Dutch elm disease.

The work would be done under direction of the University of Wisconsin's department of plant entomology and plant pathology.

Sheriff Bijold Appoints Staff

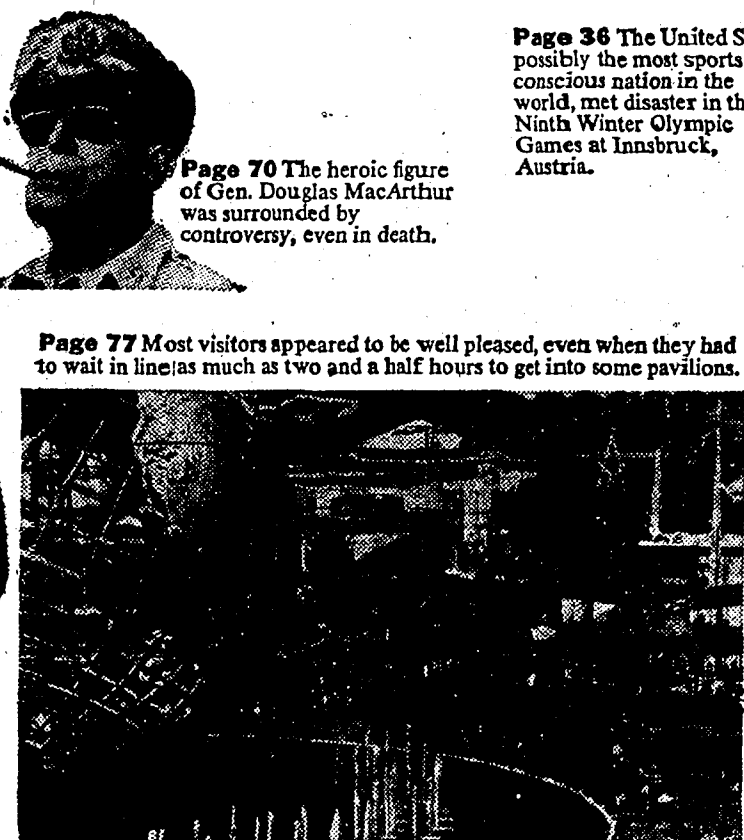

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Trempealeau County Sheriff Eugene Bijold, who took office the first of January, has appointed his wife, Winifred, as undersheriff and the following as deputies:

Lee Johnson and Howard Everson, who are radio operators and employed at the jail; Maurice Scow, Whitehall; Milo Johnson, Strum, and Willard Knutson, Blair, county traffic officers; Arnold Thorpe, Blair; Edmund Severinski, Independence; Adolph Rehmann and Theodore Harrison, Arcadia; Oliver C. Landers, Trempealeau village constable; Odean Robertson, Osseo; Arthur Dahl, Pigeon Falls constable; Gary Redsten, Galesville chief of police, and John Briggs, Ettrick.

Save 1964 for your children.

"What was it like to be alive in 1964?" Today, when last year is still almost close enough to touch, it's easy to recall everything vividly. But think back a few years. Remember 1954? Remember its moods, color, minor madnesses and major events? Probably not. The year has faded into the flat dimensions of a history book. In a few years 1964 will be just as difficult to recall, just as impossible to describe to our children.

To recapture all the high drama, low comedy, the events of lasting importance of 1964, The Associated Press announces a new and unique book.

It's called The World in 1964: history as we lived it. It's available through this newspaper.

The World in 1964 is a 300-page annual report covering the condition of the planet in this monumental year. It recalls vividly the stories that captured headlines in the worlds of science, sports, politics, entertainment, religion, civil rights, war and more. It's a brilliantly written book, crammed with the year's best news photos, many in full color.

For its historic value alone, The World in 1964, is worth its small price of $3.00. But there's more. It includes a valuable almanac, too, with basic facts about the U.S., foreign governments, sports records, business information, births, deaths, marriages, and that scarcest of all items, an up to date world map.

Here is truly a remarkable book that will interest everyone now, and will keep growing more valuable to you, your friends and your children.

Books may be reserved now before printing begins and will be mailed in February. Order now, by filling in the coupon and mailing it today to this newspaper.

Brandt Accepts Challenge, Emerges as Key to Victory

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor Challenge accepted.
Faribault and Tom Weaver more like Tom Weaver and Faribault — offer the opposition to Winona High tonight at Faribault.
Weaver, the Big Nine's biggest man at 6-8, poses a defensive challenge. Winona's 6-5 center John Brandt has gleefully accepted.
Stirring Brandt for a top effort has been little problem for Coach John Kenney.
Brandt volunteered, was accepted and thus emerges the key for the biggest Big Nine battle in which the Hawks have been involved.

The Rochester game of Dec. 11 had to be counted as a big one, but it was too early to be vital and the Hawks' subsequent four-game conference win streak has somewhat erased the shadow of the 67-58 tragedy at the John Marshall gym.
But if the Winona - Rochester clash of Feb. 19 is to mean anything, a victory tonight is vital: Faribault fell to the Rockets by one point and stands in a 4-1 league tie with the Hawks.

Why has Brandt been chosen for the assignment?
"He thinks he can do a good job," said Kenney. "But more than that he has done top jobs on Elletson (6-8 Jeff, Eau Claire Memorial's pivot man) and Hendrickson (7-2 Eino, of Holmen, who the Hawks met in a Christmas vacation scrimmage). Nobody around is bigger than those two."
So while the Hawks are ready to concede Weaver some points, they don't want him to produce a scoring rampage.

At the same time the remaining starting quintet —
Bill Squires, Larry Larson, Don Hazelton and Gary Addington — are being primed for an effort reminiscent of the Austin game when Wayne Lerud counted 31 but the rest were shut off to the tune of a 79-64 victory.
"We need a team effort from all five," said Kenney.
"We've been getting that the last five games because we've been thinking basketball laying off the fouls and cutting down the mechanical errors."
Nothing short of an all-out effort will satisfy Faribault Coach Alan Wold either.

"We've got to play one of our best games," he assessed.
"I saw Winona against Mounds View last Saturday.
They are very impressive.
They play good defense, are strong rebounders and the pressure doesn't rattle them.
Squires is a very fine ball-player. He can hurt you both from the outside and inside.
I just hope we're ready — we have to be."
If we want to do anything in the conference we have to beat Winona and hope they can knock off Rochester," he said.

The Falcons are shooting for their second consecutive Big Nine title with Weaver as the backbone.
With the Faribault career scoring title already locked up, Weaver is looking to push it out of reach with a 20-point plus average.
"He started as a sophomore and has been by far our best scorer since," said Wold.
Joining Weaver will be 6-1 senior Paul Dragsten and 6-2 sophomore Todd Andrews at the forwards plus 6-0 seniors

Fred Zahn and Jim Ohnstad at the guards.
"Andrews has tremendous potential," purred Wold of his sophomore deluxe. "And Zahn is lefthanded so we get a little both ways."
The top reserves are Mike Graham, 5-11, Harlan Handahl, 6-0 Jim Wilson, 6-1, and Jim Reinke, 6-0. Handahl is a brother of Al Handahl, a leading Faribault scorer of a year ago.
The two teams come into the contest with nearly identical season slates. Faribault is 8-2 after losses to Rochester and Forest Lake, Winona 9-2 with losses to La Crosse Cetral and Rochester.

Kenney made one personnel change this week, elevating sophomore forward Loren Benz to the varsity unit and pushing him into the left forward spot behind captain Squires. He may see limited action.
The Hawks have one thing going for them. A Kenney-coached team has never lost
at Faribault.
"We don't want that to change tonight!" snapped the coach.

St. Mary's Nips Pipers, Readies for UMD Bout Saturday

AGAINST WARTBURG HERE SATURDAY NIGHT

Warriors Seeking Fifth Victory

By ROLLIE WUSSOW
Daily News Sports Writer Winona State's basketball team steps out of Northern Intercollegiate Conference action
Saturday night to entertain Coach Bob Campbell's alma mater, Wartburg of Waverly, Iowa, in a struggle scheduled for Memorial Hall at 7:30 p.m.
The Warriors read 4-10 on the year, while the Knights rate a 5-7 over-all nod. Despite the slight edge in records, Campbell feels that the game should be even.

"This will be their first game after semester exams," he opened. "They're a little bigger than we are, but we play two different styles of ball, so that should make things pretty even."

IT IS REPORTED the Knights play a pattern style of ball after getting the rebound, while, in contrast the Warriors are a strike-quick outfit.

"If we keep playing the type of ball we have been, we should get the job done," states Campbell. "Everybody's with us, we're healthy, so I guess you can say we're ready."

Wartburg and Winona have met two common opponents, Loras and South Dakota State.
The Warriors beat Loras and were trimmed by the Jack-rabbits, but Campbell doesn't know how the Knights fared in either contest.

Wartburg is shooting 42 percent from the field, the same as Winona. The Knights' foes are hitting at a 46 percent clip.

THE KNIGHTS will have four men over six feet in their starting lineup. Lowell Syverson of Albert Lea and John Hearn of Racine, Wis., both 6-4, will be at forwards; Cliff Cameron, also 6-4, will be at center, and Dennis Bowman, 6-2, and Gary Ludvigson, 5-10, will man the guard slots.

Campbell isn't set on his starting five as yet. He might scramble his talent a bit.
Dallas Diercks, the Warriors' only other "big man" at 6-5 has dropped the squad, leaving a gap in the reserve ranks. Campbell has been tutoring 6-5 Mike Jereseck, star on Cotter's state tournament team a year ago, to fill the vacancy.

Jereseck, a freshman, "might see a lot of action, if we can work him in there," says Campbell. "He's got a lot to learn, and a lot of confidence to develop, but we can see that he's making some strides."

PROVIDING Campbell doesn't make any changes, he'll go with Dave Rosenau, 6-5, at center, Dave Meisner, 5-9, and Dave Goede, 5-9, at the guards, and Tim Anderson, 6-4, and Tom Stallings, 5-11, at the forwards.

Jack Kelly and Gary Petersen are slated for heavy reserve duty.

The Saturday meeting between the two clubs will be the first since 1958, when Wartburg took a 72-67 decision. Over-all, the Wartburg-Winona series stands at 3-3.

Coach Dick Papenfuss' freshman squad, possessing a 1-7 record, will tangle with the Knight frosh in a 5:30 p.m. preliminary.

State Scoring (4-10)
Meisner 12 79 30 181 15.7
Stallings 14 47 46 181 12.8
Anderson 14 48 14 151 9.6

VICTORY KEYS . . . These are the five boys who will have to make the big effort if Winona High is to win the second-place Big Nine Conference battle at Faribault to-

John Brandt, Bill Squires, Don Hazelton and Gary Addington.
Brandt will be saddled with the job of defending the Big Nine's biggest man, 6-8 Tom Weaver. (Daily News Sports Photo)

Cotter Eyes De La Salle Tilt

For the third time this year
Saturday night, Cotter and Minneapolis De La Salle High Schools clash in a basketball match.

The first two times — in the finals of the Cotter Invitational at Tournament and a week later at St. Stan's — the clubs split. De La Salle won the first match 54-52. Cotter took the second 60-55.

This time, for the "rubber match", the scene is switched to the Islanders' home court in Minneapolis and the contest is set for 8 p.m.

The Islanders suffered a severe disaster a week ago, as

St. Paul Hill humiliated De La Salle 68-44, the Islanders' worst loss in many a year, according to Cotter coach John Nett.

"They'll be coming at us tomorrow night with daggers in their eyes," said Nett. "I can't even remember the last time they (De La Salle) got beat so bad (24 points). It'll be rugged."

The Islanders are ranked third in the state with a still impressive 8-3 record against some of the state's best parochial outfits. The Ramblers dropped a notch in this week's cage ratings, from fifth to sixth. Hill, understandably, moved up to No. 4 and St.
Cloud Cathedral replaced Cotter.

"I talked to Costello (Ralph, Hill's coach) after their loss," stated Nett, "and he said that they (Hill) confused 'em real bad and just never let up."

"De La Salle has been so very strong for years," continued Nett, "and now they're down a bit. But we still think it's a feather in our caps if we can beat De La Salle."

Nett is highly respectful of the Islanders' Mike Riney and Tom Hlnot, perhaps one of the best one-two scoring punches you'll find around.

"They're still the problems," said Nett. "If you find anyone who has any suggestions as to how to handle

Nett will probably go with Dan Pelowski, who did such a brilliant job in two games last week, at center; Bill Browne and Bob Allaire at guards, and Chuck Kulas and John Nett Jr., at forwards.

De La Salle will counter with Riney, Hlnot, Mark Reiger, Pete Froelich and Randy Herbert.

There will be a 6:30 p.m. preliminary game involving the Islander "B" team and Jon Kosidowski's "B" team.

REVENGE SATURDAY!

Redmen 'Six'
Love the Cold

Is the cold getting you down?

If it is, rest at ease, What's bad for some is good for others, and there is a group at St. Mary's College overjoyed with the present streak of sub-zero temperatures.

"We're very happy because it is cold," was the emphatic statement from Coach Keith Hanzel. "WE WANT TO PLAY SATUR-DAY!"

Hanzel is the two-year hockey coach at St. Mary's.
He has seen his team lose only once in 18 MIAC starts in those two years. That was last Saturday to St.
John's at Collegeville.

St. John's helps St. Mary's celebrate Winter Sports Weekend by meeting the Redmen in a return match at Terrace Heights Saturday at 2 p.m.

"There won't be any work connected with getting them up this weekend," said Hanzel in reference to his team.
"They want to be ready!"

There are two problems at Terrace Heights. First, Brian Desbiens, skating at a wing on the line centered by Andre Beaulieu, got hit with a puck in practice Wednesday. The disk caught him in the precise spot of the foot fracture that kept him out of the lineup through early-season battles. He is doubtful. Then, Gordy Tie-deman, who centered the second line, is scholastically ineligible.

"If Desbiens can't play, we'll put Dave Brekken at his wing and we'll move Jean Cardin up to center
the second line," said Hanzel.

Dennis Cooney operates at the other wing on Beaulieu's line and Magnuson and Don Berrigan skate the wings on Cardin's line.

Was Hanzel pleased with St. Mary's 5-0 victory over Macalester Tuesday?

"The penalties were the only bad part of it," he said. "We were a man short for one-third of the game.

Not being scored upon shows how we've hustled. Most pleasing was the fact that we finally got ourselves a shutout. We've been strong offensively all season, but the defensive zone has given us trouble. We've given up too many goals. We'd rather win 5-0 than 10-2."

Valaika Is Big Man in 14th Win

One hurdle down, the biggest ahead.

For St. Mary's College, a 62-55 winner over Hamline's Pipers in St. Paul Thursday night, the big test will come Saturday at 7:30 p.m. when the University of Minnesota-Duluth led by 6-3 Mike Patterson hammers into Terrace Heights.

The Duluth Bulldogs have shaken themselves from a period of lethargy that saw them fall to Gustavus, Concordia and Augsburg in the conference.
They stand 4-3 in the league, but gave indication they will have to be reckoned with by a rest of the way by bombing a top Northern Michigan club 71-64 Tuesday night.

"THEY'RE A big, powerful club," said Redmen Coach Ken Wiltgen. "I saw them against Gustavus and they weren't very impressive, but I think they're untracked now. The losses to Gustavus and Augsburg probably shook 'em up."

St. Mary's nearly had its problem with lowly Hamline, now 0-8 in the conference and 2-16 on the season. Joe Hutton's Pipers blew to an 11-point lead in the first half, appeared ready to explode and finally wilted in the face of St. Mary's second-half charge.

The letdown after Monday's victory over Gustavus, was a natural one.

"We certainly looked ahead," said Wiltgen. "It's hard to sit there knowing you're 20 points better and being behind by 10.
The kids were trying, but nothing really came of it. We weren't sharp and the harder we tried the worse we got. We finally did untrack a bit in the second half."

CREDIT ST. Mary's George Valaika with keeping his team in the thick of it in the first half. He scored 12 of the first 14 points when the Pipers were threatening to take their first victory and wound up with 15 at intermission. In addition, he led the club with 18 points.

With 6:02 to play in the first half, St. Mary's was down by the score of 25-14. With 3:50 left, Valaika made it 26-13 with a layup. Mike Maloney broke through the defense and dropped a layup and Valaika another. That cut the gap to 26-22. Jim Boyd and Kramer quickly broke through for Hamline field goals to make it 30-22 and Roger Pytlewski and Jim Buffo closed it to 30-26 at intermission.

The score was tied on a drive by Valaika at 18:11 of the second half and the Redmen went ahead 35-32 at 17:34 on a three-point play by Maloney.

"Their defense definitely confused us," said Wiltgen. "I still don't know what they were using. Sometimes they'd follow a guy down through and sometimes they wouldn't. Finally in the second half we ran straight man-to-man stuff against it, watched the cuts and did all right. I'm just glad to get that one over. We learned a lesson."

Wiltgen still hasn't settled on his defensive strategy for Patterson, rated a better performer than Augsburg's 6-10 Dan Anderson.

"I haven't decided who will take him yet, probably Valai-ka," said Wiltgen. "But he will have to get help from someone else. We know Patterson can be stopped because at least it's not a matter of doing something 10 feet up in the air.
But he can do more things than Anderson."

THE CONTEST, which rates as a must game for the Redmen, will get under way at 7:30 p.m. at Terrace Heights. It is part of St. Mary's Winter Sports Weekend celebration.

FRACTURES HAND

State Loses
Mat Captain

Winona State puts its six meet unbeaten string on the line this weekend with a pair of rugged meets in foreign territory — minus the services of 123-pound captain Larry Marchionda.

The Warrior grapplers, ranked eighth in the nation, hit the road today for a test against Superior State of Wisconsin, that state's collegiate champion of a year ago, then trek on to Michigan Tech, for a NNIC clash with the Huskies.

The Warrior swimming team also moves back into action after a month of inactivity with a meet with Oshkosh State of Wisconsin in the Memorial Hall pool tonight at 7 p.m., and a test at Platteville State Saturday.

ALSO ON the local scene, Winona High's wrestlers host Far-ibault in "A" and "B" squad tests starting at 6:30 p.m. tonight at the Hawk gym, while the Hawk swimmers use the facilities of the University of Minnesota's Cooke Hall pool Saturday for a dual against St.

Cloud, the state's No. 3 prep swim team.

Coach Bob Gunner's Statesmen will be without the services of Marchionda until possibly the season, or maybe, if luck is with them, by the time the NAIA tournament rolls around in March.

The senior captain received a fractured right hand in practice Tuesday.

GUNNER'S LINEUP for tonight's test against the Yellowjackets and tomorrow's against the Huskies at Houghton, Mich., will have Steve Baird at 130, Perry King at 137, Merle Sovereign at 147, Leo Simon at 157, Dan Scraback at 167, Tom Caron at 177 and Larry Wedemeier at heavyweight.

Rostad Belts Second 700

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special) — Galesville's Caryn Rostad is becoming an old hand as spiraling 700 series. He got his second of the season Thursday night.

Rostad, who moved to Galesville from Spring Grove, last summer, totaled 707 at Galesville lanes to make it two national honor counts for the season.

Earlier he totaled 711 in the Bowl Down Cancer Tournament and topped second place in the state of Wisconsin tournament with the score, which was increased with a 48-pin handicap. For that he won a northern vacation.

Thursday night, the regular performer for Eastside 66 in the International League, socked games of 227, 225 and 255 for the 707.

Jim Garry Lashes 640 to Pace City

The Westgate Classic League Thursday night produced the top scores in the city and leading the way was the Mutual of Omaha man about town, Jim Garry.

Competing for Ruppert's Grocery, Garry spilled 204-197-239-640. Meanwhile, Gary Baab was piling 242-171-226-630 errorless and Bill Vogel 193-216-224-633 to pace Ruth's Restaurant to 1,004-2,532.

Gordie Fakler polished 221-209-196-626 errorless for Fish Shop, Bob Kratz 215-236-160-611 for Watkins and Rich Church 180-223-202-605 for Clark & Clark.

In women's league activity, Helen Selke, who competes for Fish Shop in the Winona AC Ladies League, spilled 552 for the top series. She did it behind two 188 games. Norma Zywicki lashed 188 to lead Stein Oil Co. to 2,578 and Walley's Sweethearts pounded 916.

Leona Lubinski was on target for 533 for Lawrence Furniture in the Keglerette Ladies League

New Leaders Again In Women's Meet

The hotly-contested doubles and singles departments in the Winona Women's Bowling Association city tournament have new leaders again today as the meet gets set to sing its 1965 swan song.

The tournament concludes with a 9 p.m. shift in singles and doubles today at Hal-Rod Lanes.

Taking over the top spot in singles after Thursday's action was Judy Przytarski with 574. The new doubles leaders are Phyllis Thurlay and Louise Livingston with 1,116.

THE TOURNAMENT is assured of new 1965 champions as the 1964 doubles team of Marianne O'Brien and Ruby Brang rang up 992 Wednesday night and rank out of the top ten and '64 singles champion Larry Donahue recorded 482 Thursday night to rank out of the top ten.

Judy Przytarski scored her 574 behind games of 138, 187 and 165 plus an 84-pin handicap. The doubles leaders got 159-189-166-514 from Phyllis Thurlay and Louise Livingston and built at Westgate. Lynn Brugger pushed over 191 for Plumberettes, Sam's Direct Service 949 and Sammy's Pizza 2,651.

Lynn Brugger produced her first 500 — a 530. Arlene Cisewski rattled 518 and Bev Wos 502.

WESTGATE BOWL: Pin Drops — Randall's sweet team honors with 920-2,577. Charlotte Muras of Culligan and Dianne Huff of Papp's split individual awards with 199 and 484.

Bay State Men's—Bill Blanchard's 221 paced Golden Tigers to 1,020. Ray Bambenek tumbled 598 errorless for Blockbusters and Bouncers 2,838.

WINONA AC: K of C—Norm Weaver socked 573 to lead Weaver & Sons to 2,745. Bub's spilled 953 and Ralph Bambenek 230 for Winona Milk.

RED MEN'S CLUB: Ladies—Ethel Knapik blazed 172-489 to pace Schmidt's to 867-2,503. Class 'A' — Don Knapik tripped 212 and Ervin Dulek waxed 570 to push Winona Boxcraft to 987-2,868.

that to 1,116 with a 122-pin handicap. Alice Neitzke and Sharon Stahmann, doubles leaders after Wednesday's round, skidded to second. Moving into a tie for third place with Alice Spalding and Eleanor Loshek were Ellie Griesel and June Daleska with 1,098.

Durand Hands Menomonee 1st League Defeat

WESTERN WISCONSIN CITY LEAGUE

Menomonee 7, Gilmanian 4.
Fall Creek 7, Mondovi 4.
Durand 7, Alma 3.
Elmwood 7, Cochrane-FC 1.

SUNDAY'S GAMES
Cochrane at Gilmanian.
Mondovi at Fall Creek.
Durand at Elmwood.
Alma at Menomonee.

Menomonee dropped its first game of the year in a double-overtime thriller to Durand Sunday, but still has a two-game edge on the second-place clubs.

Menomonee will bounce back into action this Sunday against Alma, a 73-69 loser to Elmwood last Sunday, at home. Other contests this week will send Durand to Elmwood, Mondovi to Fall Creek and Cochrane-Fountain City to Gilmanian.

Durand's victory was paced by Jim Wayne's 23 points. Don McNaughton and Bob Walker added 16 each. Jan Peterson had 24 and Moessner 20 for Menomonee.

Chet Lien's 27 markers helped Elmwood past Alma. R. Lich had 19 and Jim Baier 16. For Alma, which led 43-33 at the half, Jim Hartman hit 14, Rich Noll 13, Craig Kreibich 12 and Frank Huber 10.

Mondovi rapped Cochrane-Fountain City 83-77. Duane Poeschel accounted for 22. Jim Lieberman 20 and Gary Schultz 13 for Mondovi. Mike Leahy had 27 and Larry Abts 26 for C-F.C.

In the other game, Fall Creek belted Gilmanian 84-78 behind Virg Krang's 24 points. Bill Lange had 14 and Marsh Blizard 12. For Gilmanian, Ron Schultz hit 27 and Bob Larson 20.

INDOOR SOFTBALL

Lang's 4-1 Osis 3-3
Sunshine 4-1 Hofbrau 3-3
Watkins 4-3 Warner & S. 0-7

FRIDAY'S RESULTS

Watkins 12, Hofbrau 6.
Lang's 4, Warner & Swayse 1.
Sunshine 5, Osis 1.

It was a night for top pitching efforts in the Park-Rec Indoor Softball League and veteran Norb Throne came up with the best of all, hand-cuffing Hofbrau for a shutout no-hitter that gave Watkins Products a 12-0 victory.

In other games, Lang's and Sunshine got low-hit efforts from Pete Jerowski and Jim Langowski to top victories that kept the first-place tie alive.

LANG'S DUMPED Warner & Swayse 4-1 behind a one-hitter from Jerowski and Sunshine rapped Osis 5-1 as Langowski fashioned a three-hitter.

Throne went four innings for his first indoor no-hitter. The veteran hurler was in complete command all the way and was assured a victory as his mates built up an 11-0 lead in the first three innings.

Don Ender and Bob Welch labeled two hits each for Watkins Products. Throne, Cliff Kan and Rich Bork one each.

While Langowski was striking out seven and walking three, Osis bunched three singles in the fifth for its only run. Jeff Kremer, losing pitcher Tom May and Myles Vaughn got the safeties for the losers.

MEANWHILE, Sunshine was assaulting May for seven hits including a three-run home run by Jim Buswell. Gene Gorny pounded two singles as did Larry Modjeski. May struck out five, walked three.

Lang's got three hits from catcher Tom Kosidowski, two from Bill Glowczewski and one each from Rog Green and Bob Czaplewski.

Lee Hwald managed the only Warner & Swayse hit.

Watkins 14-12-7
Hofbrau 6-0-0
Lang's 4-1-0

Badgers Hope Sweeney Does Job at Guard

MADISON (AP)—Wisconsin basketball Coach Johnny Erickson is counting on sophomore Dennis Sweeney to put a new punch in the Badgers' attack when they return to action Saturday afternoon at Ohio State after a 16-day layoff.

The Badgers have been idle since beaten 59-58 by Marquette on Jan. 13. The break included time for examination, but the Badgers resumed workouts Monday.

Wisconsin, with a 13 Big Ten record and a 5-6 overall slate, will meet in Ohio State a team that's in just about the same shape, at least on paper. The Buckeyes have lost all three conference starts and have a 6-7 season mark.

Erickson said Wednesday the Marquette game spotlighted the Badger needs for another guard, and he hopes 6-foot-1 Sweeney can fill the bill.

Sweeney pushed into the starting lineup during the Christmas holiday trip to Hawaii. He has averaged only 4.4 points a game with 16 baskets in 43 attempts, but Erickson believes he can become a consistent scorer.

Weaver, Rollingstone and Minnesota City at 1:20 p.m. Winona city wasn't affected because NSP wasn't generating enough electricity from its own plants here. The area was getting current from another transmission line.

School was dismissed early at Galesville because the building was getting cool. The electric stove wasn't working at Living Home Lutheran fellowship hall, Ettrick, where lunch was served after the Oscar Strand funeral. Women made coffee on the old gas stove in the basement of the church proper.

THE OUTAGE affected seven states that were having sub-zero weather. In Wisconsin the trouble centered in Prairie du Chien, La Crosse, Eau Claire, Chippewa Falls and Sparta in addition to an area stretching from the Mississippi River east to Abbotsford. Other states were Iowa, much of Nebraska, and parts of South Dakota and Illinois.

The outage affected telephone communications during the failure, and telephone lines in some areas are having their own difficulties on account of cold weather.

Reportedly power was off at La Crosse for a half-hour again this morning.

A spokesman for Dairyland said "This is the biggest power loss we've had, and I hope it doesn't happen again."

Red Wing Youth Gets Term for Wabasha Crash

WABASHA, Minn. (Special)—Larry Wayne Aslakson, 18, Red Wing, found guilty by a Wabasha County District Court jury Dec. 11 of aggravated assault, was sentenced by Judge Arnold Hatfield here this morning to five years with the Youth Conservation Commission.

He is in the Wabasha County jail and will be taken to Lino Lake.

Aslakson was charged with operating his car March 31 in such a manner as to force Young Tack Kim, then a Winona State College student, off the traveled portion of Highway 61 north of Wabasha.

Aslakson told Judge Hatfield this morning he didn't force Kim off the road and didn't know it rolled over. He admitted that he had purchased a .22 pistol in Red Wing since having been found guilty and while out on $3,000 bail. However, he said he bought it for target practice. He said he also had been convicted in Red Wing for possession of beer and had paid a $25 fine.

Brown Swiss Unit Names Caledonian

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special)—Jerome Frank, Caledonia, was elected president of the Canton I Brown Swiss Breeders Association at its annual meeting here Thursday.

Reid Johnson, Houston, was elected vice president; Robert O. Olson, Lanesboro, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Robert O. Olson, public chairman, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Anfinson, Whelan, are junior leaders. Next meeting will be June 4 at Rushford.

22 Interviewed For Drum Corps

Seventeen girls and five boys were interviewed for the Brigadiers at the American Legion Memorial Club Thursday evening.

Robert Moravec, committee chairman for the drum and bugle corps, said he was pleased with the response. However, he felt that some who wanted to come didn't because of the cold. For that reason interviews again will be held Tuesday at 6:30 p.m.

Dakota Thermometer Reads 37 Below

DAKOTA, Minn. (Special)—It was 31 degrees below zero at Dakota at 5:30 a.m. today. The temperature had risen to 14 below at 11:30 a.m. The thermometer was in a sunny place.

Groves & Son, road construction firm at Dresbach, reported 29 below at 7:45 a.m.

It was 29 below at Nodine on the hill this morning, and still 25 below at 11:30 a.m.

Venturi to Miss 6 Weeks of Tour

LOS ANGELES (AP)—National Open champion Ken Venturi of San Francisco will be off the golf circuit for about six weeks, his physician reports.

Venturi has been troubled recently by circulatory problems in his hands — especially in the fingers of his right hand.

Mississippi Trial Delayed

A Hattiesburg, Miss., assault trial at which a Winona nurse is to testify for the prosecution has been postponed a week, her mother learned Thursday night.

Miss Phyllis Cunningham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cunningham, 635 W. Broadway, was a witness when four other civil rights workers — all men — were attacked Monday.

Three Hattiesburg area men, N. W. Hamilton, Billy Lee and Donald Wheat, were charged with assault and battery and were to stand trial at 4 p.m. Thursday.

The civil rights workers — eight in all — who were to testify at the trial have been threatened and harassed all week in an effort, Miss Cunningham said, to keep them from testifying.

The trial began at 4:30 p.m. Thursday, after the eight witnesses were kept waiting outside in the midst of a large but orderly group of townspeople. Hamilton failed to appear and, thus, forfeited his bond. The other two were not represented by counsel, so the judge continued their case until this coming Thursday.

Since then, Miss Cunningham told her mother in a telephone conversation Thursday night, the threats against the eight civil rights workers have continued.

Mrs. Cunningham said her daughter told her that Federal Bureau of Investigation agents talked with her Thursday. Another interview with the FBI is being arranged, she said.

Miss Cunningham, a graduate of the College of Saint Teresa, has been in the southern Mississippi city since last summer.

DOWNTOWN

federal government must furnish all this cost, he said.

Chapman replied to a question about a Minnesota law permitting 25-year tax abatements on renewal project areas. A tax freeze on such property may be enacted by the local government, keeping taxes on rebuilt real estate from rising above their former level for 25 years if the area is developed by a private nonprofit corporation.

To date, he said, there has been no such corporation involved in any Minnesota project so the law has never been used.

YOU DON'T begin tearing down, Binford told a questioner, unless there is a commitment for resale of the cleared land. The marketability study helps determine resale prospects, he noted. Furthermore, he continued, the federal agency does not encourage the acquisition and demolition of sound buildings. The Housing Act of 1964 requires that the local public agency must determine further development of an existing building is not feasible to gain approval for its destruction, he said.

Binford declined to answer directly a question on whether government — directed renewal was the only practical method available to rebuild rundown areas. He acknowledged that it would be "difficult to develop without having the power of eminent domain."

Nevertheless, he continued, "I cannot advise you that the government way is the only way. We encourage you to develop locally if at all possible. It is not my job to sell projects. We serve if we are called upon by and have been called upon by this city."

JOHN WOODWORTH, 252 W. Wabasha St., noting that Winonans pay taxes to assist some 800 other projects across the country, asked whether the government can foresee any end. There may eventually be 10,000 such projects, he suggested, if all cities feel they, too, should participate since their taxes are paying for these things. He concluded:

"If Winona can't do it on its own, how could we expect a city in less-privileged areas to do it alone without federal help?"

Binford replied it was hardly a question for him to answer since national policy and local decisions are involved. Federal agencies are "happy" to stimulate local action, if possible, he stated, since the number of applications for assistance exceed the amount of money available each year.

Beautification of the city will not be overlooked, Mrs. J. M. Dahm, 357 E. 5th St., was assured by J. D. Scott, advisory committee chairman. Mrs. Dahm suggested that women of the community and those interested in the arts be consulted so that any new buildings would meet architectural standards somewhat "higher than those of the new post office building."

TO REPORT AT PLAINVIEW PLAINVIEW, Minn. (Special) — Lt. Kenneth Siegenthaler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Siegenthaler, will show slides on the Far East at the Presbyterian Church Sunday at 8 p.m. He is home on furlough from the U. S. Air Force. Coffee and pie will be served. An offering will be taken.
