Plane Crashes Into Ocean Off N.Y., 84 Aboard Lost

NEW YORK (AP) — An Eastern Air Lines four-engine propeller plane crashed into the Atlantic Ocean in flames Monday night, apparently killing all 84 persons aboard.

Thousands Watch Search for Plane

JONES BEACH, N.Y. (AP) — They stood on the sand at the water's edge and looked out to sea. Tragedy struck near this famed summer playland in the chill of a winter's night.

By the hundreds and the thousands they came Monday night at first word of the air disaster. They made an eerie picture — huddled together against the chill wind.

A few miles out at sea several flares could be seen. The moon was hidden behind heavy clouds.

The sky was filled with the droning of planes in their desperate rescue efforts. "My God — how could anybody live out there — even if they got out of the crash alive," one man said.

Others standing nearby agreed. Then came more flares, hanging from parachutes in the dark sky as they slowly drifted down.

One hour went by. Then another hour. Still another. But they kept the vigil at the water's edge. Soon fishing craft began to pull into the Coast Guard station just across the road from the beach.

The first craft in had several fragments of the tragedy spread out on her deck. Pitiful reminders they were — a singed fur coat, a torn leather hand bag, charred pieces of seat padding. Then came more vessels, some of these displaying twisted slivers of metal.

One boat carried a pair of seats, their padding ripped off. A woman's blouse, lace cuffs and collar lay soaking on the deck of another ship — the price tags still intact.

Veteran seamen stepped from the vessels shuddering from what they had seen. Then there were the inevitable canvas bags hiding shattered bodies.

Tragedy had come out of the sky, turning a summer playland into a makeshift morgue.

Youth Held in Strangling

ST. PAUL (AP) — An 18-year-old St. Paul youth was held by police today in the strangulation slaying of Mrs. Jane E. Stark, 22, in her apartment Jan. 13.

Capt. George Barkley, chief of the St. Paul homicide division, identified the youth as Kenneth M. Kealy.

Kealy was booked on suspicion of homicide. Police planned to present information in the case to William Randall, Ramsey County attorney. No formal charges have been filed.

Kealy was picked up Monday at the Red Wing Training School for boys. Kealy fled the institution Aug. 12 but returned voluntarily last Tuesday.

Police said that Kealy formerly lived in a basement apartment across the street from the apartment where Mrs. Stark and her husband, Roy, were caretakers. Mrs. Stark's attacker apparently was looking for rent money, police said. She was strangled with a nylon stocking.

American Jets Ready for Chinese MIGs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 15 U.S. Air Force F100 jet fighters were ready to take on Communist Chinese MIGs Monday if the Chinese had tried to interfere with the South Vietnamese air force's bombing strike against troop bases in Communist North Viet Nam.

But, as one officer put it, "company never came." The 15 F100s flew combat air patrol over the propeller-driven Skyraider dive bombers of the South Vietnamese air force which smashed at three places north of the 17th Parallel boundary.

Four other F100s went along on the mission to lay down "suppressive fire" — that is, to shoot up antiaircraft batteries on the ground so the South Vietnamese planes could have a better chance. Some of these F100s took hits, but their pilots apparently escaped unhurt.

Although North Viet Nam has no combat planes to speak of, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said this week that "there is evidence in the past several months the Communist Chinese have moved certain MIG aircraft into North Viet Nam."

Intelligence reports indicated there were some movements of MIG jets in South China during the weekend, but so far as is known here these planes did not cross over into North Viet Nam.

In addition to older — model MIGs the Chinese got from the Soviet Union before their split, the U.S. intelligence community has reason to believe that Communist China has started building its own MIG-type jets. The best of these is the relatively modern MIG21.

The Communists may have been caught by surprise when the Navy's 48 carrier jets swept in on Sunday and blasted troops staging areas at Dong Hoi on the coast of North Viet Nam.

They likely expected Monday's strike, especially since the United States had announced that part of Sunday's planned raids were aborted because of adverse weather. The South Vietnamese air force command said the heavy flak his planes met showed the Reds knew they were coming.

Yet there was no challenge from Red China's air power.

Red China Threatens Retaliation

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China today became the first of Hanoi's allies to hurl the threat of retaliation for U.S. and South Vietnamese air strikes against North Viet Nam.

It came in an editorial in the Peking Peoples' Daily which said the air attacks "have to be repaid."

"We warn U.S. imperialism . . . we are waiting for you in battle array. If you insist on imposing the war on us, heavy retribution is in store for you," the paper said.

"Debts are debts and they must be repaid. When debts accumulate, they will have to be repaid at compound interest rates," the editorial said. It was broadcast by the New China News Agency.

Earlier, a Peking government statement said "aggression by the United States" against North Viet Nam means "aggression against China."

"China and Viet Nam are closely related like the lips and the teeth," the statement said. It was broadcast by Radio Peking.

The New China News Agency reported that "hundreds of thousands" of demonstrators, including foreign students staged mass rallies in Peking for the second day to protest the raids.

Russ Allow Demonstration

MOSCOW (AP) — About 1,000 demonstrators hurled rocks and smashed windows of the U.S. Embassy today and smeared the building with green and blue ink in a protest against U.S. air raids on North Viet Nam.

The crowd surged past a thin line of police. Most of the embassy windows on the ground and second floor were smashed. Some in the crowd hung anti-American signs on the seven-foot iron picket fence in front of the building.

The disorders closely followed the pattern of previous demonstrations.

This time, most of the demonstrators appeared to be Moscow University students.

Witnesses said the small detachment of police appeared to be making no effort to restrain the rock throwers.

The demonstrators marched up to the nine-story embassy building in orderly, well-drilled columns.

They carried Vietnamese and Soviet flags, and handmade posters denouncing the American retaliatory raids.

A short time before their arrival, embassy guards closed and locked heavy iron gates leading to the embassy courtyard.

Congress Awaits New Viet Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress awaited fresh reports today before moving toward any investigation of the Viet Nam situation.

President Johnson called in Democratic Senate and House leaders for a morning conference in which he was expected to bring them up to date on developments.

A Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee arranged for an afternoon briefing behind closed doors from William P. Bundy, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern Affairs.

Bundy apparently was in a position to relay to members some of the information his brother, presidential assistant McGeorge Bundy, reported to the President and the National Security Council Monday about conditions as he found them in South Viet Nam.

Policy briefings were promised for 50 members of Congress invited with their wives to the White House tonight for the first of a series of receptions for senators and representatives.

Johnson planned to speak to the group. Other speakers include Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Undersecretary of State George W. Ball

Dependents Start Home

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Vietnamese defenses against possible Communist retaliatory attacks bristled today. A battery of Hawk antiaircraft missiles was set up at Da Nang air base and Vietnamese armed forces tightened the alert along the North Viet Nam border.

U.S. Air Force F105 fighter bombers roared aloft from Da Nang today, but headed into neighboring Laos for a bombing raid on Communist supply lines there.

Qualified sources at Da Nang, 80 miles south of the border, said the F105s, among the best in the U.S. Air Force arsenal, also carried out heavy raids in Laos Monday shortly after Vietnamese and American aircraft struck at North Viet Nam.

The sources said raids against North Viet Nam have halted, at least temporarily. The raids against Communist supply lines in Laos are expected to continue as they have for more than a month.

There were no immediate reports on results of the raids into Laos.

Heavy fighting continued in South Viet Nam today and a U.S. helicopter crew member was killed in action in Phuoc Tuy Province, not far from Binh Gia. Several other helicopter crewmen were wounded.

Binh Gia was the place where about 500 Vietnamese soldiers became casualties in the last week of 1964 in a huge Viet Cong operation.

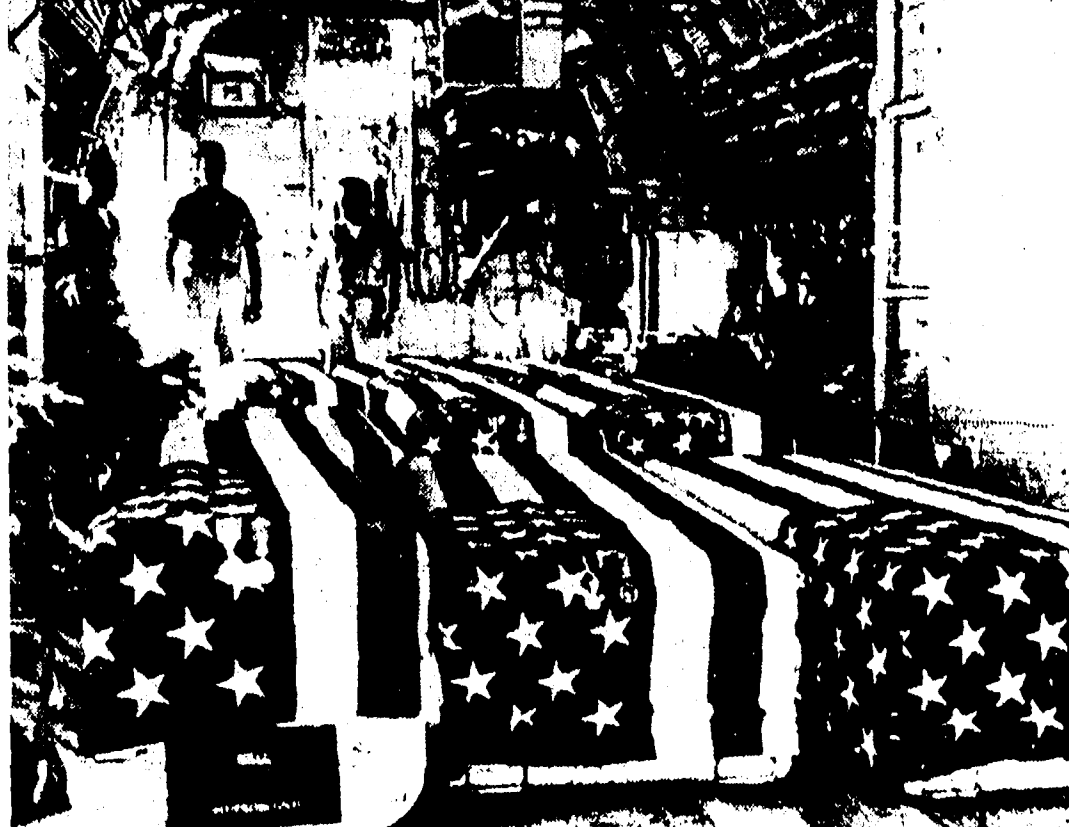

Heavy fighting was reported elsewhere in this war-torn country, including one bloody battle under way near Pleiku, where two American installations were heavily hit Sunday by Viet Cong attacks which touched off the current Vietnamese crisis.

About 40 gloomy U.S. dependents left Saigon airport for home — the first of nearly 2,000 to be evacuated under White House orders while, jubilant Vietnamese fliers celebrated Monday's air raids on North Viet Nam.

About 100 yards away, a solemn funeral ceremony was held for nine Americans, eight of whom were killed in Sunday's Viet Cong attack on Pleiku.

Each of the coffins, lined up in front of the transport plane which was returning the servicemen's bodies to the United States, was pinned with a Vietnamese and an American decoration. A wreath from the Vietnamese armed forces was placed at the head of each coffin.

U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor and Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, stopped for a moment of silence in front of each coffin.

DEAR ABBY:

Mother Always Yelling at Her

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I wish you would print my letter for the benefit of all teen-agers — especially the girl who signed her letter, "FIFTEEN AND PICKED ON." She complained that her mother was always "yelling" at her.

Constant reminders about grooming, posture, keeping the complexion and hair clean, getting enough rest, doing homework, eating properly, and not wasting too much time watching TV or talking on the phone, are all for her own good. I am 15, and my mother used to remind me of all those things, and I also felt "picked on." But I am not "picked on" any more because my mother died in July. I grew up overnight. (Please sign me)

"WISH I WERE PICKED ON NOW"

DEAR ABBY: Please tell that busy-body, who wrote to say that her neighbor was a "thief" because the towels on her clothesline had names of different hotels on them, that I have news for her.

John's Bargain Stores scattered throughout Philadelphia sell these towels at a discount as "seconds." Last summer I bought a dozen of them, and because of trouble-makers like her I have to hang them in my cellar.

FLORA ON WEBSTER STREET

DEAR FLORA: Go ahead and hang 'em outside, and if any of your nosy neighbors gives you a bad time, ask JOHN to speak for YOU!

DEAR ABBY: Perhaps you'll tell me, as you've told countless other wives whose blessings include a faithful husband who is an excellent provider, that I have a lot of nerve complaining about a comparative trifle, but here it is: Our family is together for only one meal a day. I maintain that this should be a time for daily devotion and quiet family conversation. My husband, who has not heard the news all day, brings a portable radio to the table and lets it blast forth. Sports are his hobby, so after the news we all must listen to some sort of sporting event. Shall I resort to cafeteria style? My husband could have the table to himself while the children eat on trays in front of the TV set. And I could nurse my grudge comfortably with the evening paper. Shall we continue as is? Or is there a logical solution?

ANTI-RADIO

DEAR ANTI: If you can schedule your dinner before or after the news and sports, try it. If your husband still cannot forego the radio for an hour's companionship with his family, split up and enjoy dinner as best you can. P.S. Nursing a grudge is no aid to digestion.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "MIXED-UP COUPLE IN MONTEREY": Yes, I do answer questions like "that." But not in the column. Other married couples have been "mixed up" about the same thing. Send me your name and address and I will answer you personally.

Problems? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Slippery Roads Face Drivers; 25 Wednesday

A bad night for driving faces Winona and vicinity tonight with a Weather Bureau prediction of occasional light snow mixed with a little drizzle or freezing drizzle and sleet for the area.

A low temperature of between 15 and 25 is predicted tonight. Variable cloudiness and colder is the forecast for Wednesday with a high of 25.

TEMPERATURES a little below normal with a chance of scattered light snow or snow flurries is the outlook for Thursday.

A quarter of an inch of snow dropped over the area early today with the morning temperature at 26. High Monday afternoon had been 29. At noon today the reading was 29.

A year ago today the Winona high was 29 and the low 3. All-time high for Feb. 9 was 50 in 1894 and the low for the day -32 in 1899. Mean for the past 24 hours was 28. Normal for this time of the year is 18.

Most Minnesota communities reported snow this morning. Lowest temperature was 8 above at Duluth. Bemidji had a low of 13 and St. Cloud 21. At Rochester the low was 20 after a Monday high of 27 and La Crosse posted figures of 21 and 27 for the same times.

ROCHESTER, Minn., got in on the freezing rain this morning, and the Twin Cities had a mixture of snow and light freezing drizzle that iced streets and highways.

Snow was reported at several places in Minnesota, including Redwood Falls, Alexandria, St. Cloud, International Falls and Duluth. Snow also was reported this forenoon at Grand Forks, Fargo and Jamestown, N. D., and at La Crosse and Eau Claire, Wis.

Virtually the entire state of Iowa was coated with a film of ice from freezing rain.

Snow, freezing rain and a drizzle pushed into western WISCONSIN today and began moving across the state.

The latest blast of unpleasant winter weather came on the heels of Monday's sunny conditions when temperatures ranged from 29 at Beloit and Lone Rock to 17 at Park Falls and Superior.

During the night, the mercury reached a low of eight above zero at Superior. Wausau reported 12, Burlington and Eau Claire 13, Park Falls, 14, Madison, 15, Lone Rock and Green Bay 16, Racine 19, Beloit 25 and Milwaukee 26.

Snowfall this morning covered the western third of the state. Freezing drizzle was falling in the extreme southwestern corner.

PELLSTON, Mich., set the nation's low of 4 below zero early today, compared with the high of 85 Monday at Cleveland and Fort Myers, Fla.

Electronic Control Stolen From Car

Police Chief James W. McCabe today reported the theft of an electronic control box from a car parked behind Williams Glass House, 71 E. 2nd St., during business hours Monday.

Mrs. Perry Williams, 112 E. King St., reported the theft to police Monday afternoon. She said that a control box valued at $25 was taken from the front seat of her parked car. The box was used to raise and lower their garage doors on an electronic signal, she told police.

Board Salary Proposal Rewards Advancements

By C. GORDON HOLTE
Daily News Staff Writer

A proposed revision of the public school teachers' salary schedule designed to encourage staff members to continue professional advancement was drafted by the Board of Education Monday night.

The board plan, scheduled for presentation to teachers later this week, provides for a general upward adjustment in the salary structure with greatest benefits to be realized by instructors who have completed educational requirements beyond the four-year degree level.

School Board

FOR THE MOST part annual salaries along the 13 steps of the schedule are within about $100 or $200 of the amounts requested by the teachers in their presentation earlier this winter but it omits two intermediate steps for work done beyond the bachelor and master degrees sought by the staff's joint salary committee.

The board proposal calls for an increase in the basic starting salary for a four-year degree teacher with no previous teaching experience from the $4,900 on the present schedule to $5,000 and sets a maximum at the bachelor's level after 13 years experience of $7,725. Teachers had requested a range for holders of bachelor's degrees from $5,015 to $7,800.

The board would grant a $200 differential for teachers with bachelor's degrees after they had completed 30 credit hours of work of approved study beyond the four-year degree. There is now a $100 differential paid and the proposed schedule for those with bachelor's degrees and 30 credit hours would run from $5,200 to $7,925. The teachers asked for a minimum of $5,265 and a maximum of $8,350.

FOR THOSE with master's degrees the board would raise the schedule by $100 at the bottom and $300 at the top for a spread from $5,300 to $8,725. The teachers' plan called for salaries from those with master's to run from $5,520 to $8,900.

An additional $200 would be provided in the board plan for those with master's degrees and 30 additional credit hours. The differential now is $100. The board plan at this level would provide salaries ranging from $5,500 to $8,925, compared with the teachers' request for a span of $5,770 to $9,150.

In addition, the teachers had asked that two new steps be introduced in the schedule for the 1965-66 contract year. These would allow for payment of additional increments for 15 credit hours work done beyond the bachelor's degree and the master's.

BOARD MEMBERS during an extended discussion of this proposal were of the opinion that the 15 hours did not represent sufficient evidence of professional growth to justify the intermediate increment.

Superintendent of Schools A. L. Nelson made some estimates as to the cost factors in salary plans under consideration, including projections of anticipated financial impact in the next four years with both the board proposal and the teachers' request.

Using the current staff as a basis and contemplating probable advancement of individual teachers on the schedule (taking into consideration retirements but not covering resignations and unforeseeable replacements or faculty expansion), the superintendent estimated that the board proposal would necessitate a teachers' payroll for the 1965-66 contract year of something more than $1,321,592, or somewhat more than $50,000 above that which would be paid if no changes were made in the current schedule.

The estimated additional cost of the teachers' proposal was set at around $80,000. If the present schedule were to be retained the increase resulting from normal advancement on the schedule would come to around $6,700.

FOR THOSE WHO think of governmental expenditures in terms of mill increases in the tax structure, the payroll increase under the board plan for the 1965-66 contract year could be translated into a mill increase of 3.5, compared with 5.3 mills under the teachers' plan.

Looking ahead to the next few contract years, the superintendent made some estimates on costs of the two currently considered schedules as they would increase with anticipated advancements by individual faculty members.

For the 1966-67 year the board proposal would involve a 1.5-mill increase with 2-mill increments contemplated in 1967-68 and 1968-69. The increases resulting from the teachers' proposal for these same years were estimated at 3.3, 4.2 and 4.6 mills.

State Cigarette Revenue Gains

Winona's shares of state cigarette and liquor taxes for the last half of 1964 are up from amounts received for the same period in 1963. City Treasurer Alfred Berndt said today.

Berndt's office received checks for $24,646.05 from cigarette taxes and $15,932.80 for liquor taxes today. These are for the period of July through December 1964.

The rise in liquor tax receipts was greater, both in actual amount and on percentage basis, than that for cigarettes. Last-half liquor tax receipts for 1964 were $1,244.70 more than the 1963 July-December return of $14,937. The current cigarette tax check is $995.80 higher than the $23,650.25 received for the comparable 1963 period.

Lake City Fishing Barge Sinks Again

LAKE CITY, Minn. — The block-long fishing barge on Lake Pepin apparently sprang a leak over the weekend and sank for the second time.

The top was nearly level with the waterline. The barge was partially submerged last year when hit by a hard storm.

Reports indicate the previous owner will be called in from La Crosse for inspection and recommendations.

Bohr Finishes Testimony in Equipment Case

V. A. Bohr, Scottsdale, Ariz., today ended his marathon testimony after nearly 18 hours on the witness stand in District Court. Three other plaintiffs' witnesses followed Bohr in comparatively quick succession this morning.

The three new witnesses gave testimony about the condition of fertilizer equipment leased by Bohr to defendant King Gas & Fertilizer Co., Lewiston, in 1959. Bohr alleged a breach of warranty in that the equipment was not properly maintained.

ALLEN PETERSON, a Fremont Township farmer, testified concerning his employment by Bohr and later by King Gas as a "dealer" in the fertilizer business. He bought fertilizer from the company and rented their equipment to do jobs for Winona County farmers, Peterson said.

He said that Bohr left his fertilizer equipment "pretty well up to snuff and in top-notch condition" in 1959 at the time of the lease. He wasn't acquainted with all Bohr's equipment, however, Peterson acknowledged.

Peterson described how the fertilizer equipment leased by King Gas still was in good condition in 1960, but in 1961 the apparatus was generally run down, and in 1962 it was subject to breakdowns, an uncommon occurrence.

Peterson said that he looked at the two applications he was familiar with Jan. 30, 1965. "They looked like quite a pile of junk," he said.

DEFENDANT'S attorney William E. Crowder asked Peterson whether he was being paid to appear as a witness. Peterson said he was not. He acknowledged that he quit working for King Gas in 1962 because of a dispute about a bill.

Norman C. Vigen, Hager City, Wis., testified that he had worked for both Bohr and King Gas between 1956 and 1960. He said that Bohr overhauled his fertilizer equipment each winter in preparation for the spring and early summer fertilizer season.

Vigen described how worn or bent parts would be replaced, engines checked and cleaned and valves looked over for rust, among other things. The equipment was in good condition in 1959 as far as he knew, Vigen said.

Vigen examined several pieces of fertilizer equipment in the courtroom and pronounced them in generally poor condition. He denied that it was customary for pumps and engines to "freeze" up while in storage prior to their winter overhaul.

FARMER FAY Martin, Plainview, took the stand just before the noon recess. He testified that Bohr's applicators were in "running order" in July 1959 after the end of Bohr's last season as operator.

Attorney Crowder pointed out to Bohr under a re-cross-examination today that certain of his statements in a deposition taken April 1964 conflicted with his testimony during the trial.

Bohr maintained that his testimony in court here is correct.

Judge Arnold Hatfield, in effect, asked plaintiffs' attorney William A. Lindquist to speed up his case. At one point the judge commented, "This is about the third time we've heard this," as Lindquist questioned Bohr about testimony challenged by Crowder.

Sidewalks Included In West Fifth Plan

City Council members took 2½ hours Monday night to review street and utility additions and improvements proposed for 1965, 1966 and beyond.

For the first time in several years the city goes into a construction season with less than its full allotment of state street aids committed to specific uses. Of an apportionment totaling $120,724 this year, $30,000 is not designated thus far for any definite project.

A THREE-QUARTER-mile upgrading program on West 5th Street will use about $60,000 of the allocation, according to estimates by James Baird, city engineer. When assessable work is deducted, the net estimated cost to the city is $26,000.

The plan calls for some related storm sewer installation and improvement of one block of Junction Street between Broadway and 5th Street.

Winona County will provide an estimated $64,000 of improvement expense for 5th Street from Junction to the west city limit. Total cost estimate for the 5th Street project is $124,001.

The balance of committed street aids will go for an estimated $53,575 three-block improvement of MANKATO AVENUE from Broadway to 3rd Street. This will complete the northern portion of a widening and paving program begun last year, covering six blocks from Bellevue Street to Broadway, costing $149,000 including storm sewers.

ALDERMEN approved the engineer's plan for the 5th Street project and authorized advertisements for bids. An estimated $16,000 will be put up by the city to finance sidewalks which county commissioners said they require as a matter of policy for projects in which they participate. The walks will be assessable to benefited property, aldermen noted, and the outlay therefore will be recovered.

Sidewalk width will be four feet. Its total area is 32,000 square feet.

Also assessable will be an estimated $18,000 worth of curb and gutter, Baird said, leaving the net city contribution to the project at $26,000, according to present figures.

A storm sewer system for the Broadway-Junction-5th Street area will cost an estimated $16,446, Baird told aldermen. This will drain large low areas west of the new Fawcett Funeral Home and Westfield Golf Course clubhouse. The main will empty in County Ditch No. 3.

The network also will extend leads to catch basins on the adjacent street improvement project, qualifying the installation

ALD. WILLIAM Holden protested a plan adopted last week which would eliminate parking on vacant land at the northeast corner of the Broadway-Junction Street intersection. Persons working in the area and those attending classes in the Schermer building (Area Vocational-Technical School) use the land extensively, he said.

City Attorney George M. Robertson Jr. said the arrangement had been painstakingly worked out to protect city right of way rights and to allow Fawcett Funeral Home, Inc., to develop the western portion of its property. The plan provides entrances to the land from the unused curving portion of pavement at the corner. This use also represented the most economical solution for the city, Robertson said, and plenty of room would be available in on-street parking lanes when Junction Street is widened.

Ald. Harold Briesath said a similar segment is available at the southeast corner of the interchange. He asked whether this could be cleared and filled for parking. Robertson agreed it could. The attorney told aldermen the city should retain full control and possession of the land since it is designated by the city Master Plan as the future site of a major cloverleaf interchange.

BAIRD REQUESTED and received permission to write bidding specifications for a 50-kilowatt standby generator for the High Forest Street lift station. Estimated cost is $5,000. The generator would furnish emergency energy for pumping in event of an electric power failure. A power interruption of as little as one hour would be disastrous to the sewage disposal system, Baird said.

Looking ahead, Baird said if sewage plant grit chambers were fitted with mechanical grit collectors the capacity of the plant would be greatly increased. At present, he explained, sewage flows through only one chamber at a time, while the other is being cleaned. The chambers are used to trap small stones, gravel and similar hard materials.

If mechanical collectors are installed, he said, both chambers could be used continuously. He estimated the cost at $25,000 and suggested this be included in the 1966-67 budget.

This also would increase operating efficiency and effectiveness of the plant, Baird said. One result would be to push farther into the future any contemplated major additions such as secondary treatment facilities, he told aldermen. He maintained that the present plant, a primary treatment system, does an adequate job and will continue to be satisfactory for some time to come.

Extension of Lake and Wilsie streets to the proposed new high school area should be studied for 1966, Baird said. If the school is built it also will require budgeting for storm and sanitary sewers and water main extensions, he added.

A NEW application for federal runway extension aid funds should be prepared by March 15, Robertson advised. Acquisition of clear-zone easements, required by the Federal Aviation Agency, has not been completed and should be accomplished in order to prepare the application, he said. If the extension is not built, the city will lose airline service, Robertson said, since North Central Airlines is now converting to larger planes which need longer runways.

The council also should decide whether to improve the Highway 43 segment of 4th Street or to upgrade 3rd Street from Mankato Avenue to Zumbro Street, Baird said.

The engineer said he would consult Department of Highways personnel about sharing costs of the 4th Street work. President Briesath said he thought it a direct responsibility of the state since the route carries heavy volumes of traffic. The council hopes to convert corners to 15-foot radii, and to get substantial fund assistance for relocating traffic signals at 4th and Main Streets.

CONSTRUCTION of a new Prairie Island roadway will be done by the street department, Baird said. The department will add enough quantities to its regular annual purchases of aggregate and bituminous materials to cover the 24-foot roadway.

This will be built after completion of new levees this summer by Corps of Engineers contractors.

Amputee Sends His Thanks

By RUTH ROGERS
Daily News Area Editor

CALEDONIA, Minn. — Mike, 8-year-old rural Caledonia boy who's around on crutches at home now after eight weeks at St. Francis Hospital, La Crosse, is literally overwhelmed by the some 450 cards and letters he received plus many gifts since the accident in which he lost part of his right leg.

THE GREAT majority of people who wrote are total strangers. There were 24 youngsters from Kellogg, apparently second graders, because their printing resembled what he had been doing. He's supposed to be in second grade at St. Mary's, Caledonia.

There were letters and cards from such places as Winona, Wabasha, Rollingstone, Lamolite, Chatfield, Houston, Canton, Preston, Spring Grove, Mabel, Rochester, Peterson, La Crescent, and Harmony, and as far away as Minneapolis, Hopkins, Lake Como, Fla., Bryans Pond, Maine, Chicago, and from a grandmother at Fergus Falls.

From across the river in Wisconsin, Arcadia, Trempealeau, Whitehall, Alma, Fountain City, La Crosse, Bangor, Galesville, etc. Most of the folks said they read about him in the Daily News; the people from a distance said they were formerly from the Winona area.

MIKE WAS sitting on the seat of a tractor when his dad Harlan Ingvalson, was shelling corn Dec. 3. When he climbed off the machine to go tell his father something, his trouser leg was drawn into the power takeoff.

His right foot was cut off, and that's what saved his life. The amputation released him from the takeoff, but not before he had received a fracture of the same leg above the knee.

At the hospital surgery left his leg at about six inches below the knee. His upper leg was in traction.

He was in isolation on his eighth birthday — Christmas day — because an infection had developed in his wound, but hospital personnel saw that he had a party. Mike didn't lose consciousness after the accident, and all he thought about at the hospital was getting well and home; there was no self-pity.

WHEN GIFTS began pouring in, his first thought was to help his parents pay for the hospitalization and for the artificial limb to come later.

But the money's been deposited in a local bank in his name, to be used for education or whatever he wants to do with it to bring him success in life. Everything else will be taken care of by his doting parents, who are amazed and inspired by Mike's attitude.

Before the accident he had planned to ask his father to get him a pony, but now he thinks he probably should buy it himself.

His mother has been helping him with his school work so he's keeping up with his class. They aren't sending him to school yet for fear he will injure his tender wound.

His sisters, Jeanne, 6, and Mary Ellen, 3, hadn't seen Mike from the time he had the accident until a week before he came home, and it was quite a reunion. Anxious to help, they hand his crutches to him, and wait on him.

are mystified that one or two little items about his accident in the Winona Daily News and his hometown paper, the Caledonia Argus, brought him the many greetings that helped him keep his chin up but it was a wonderful experience, and Dad and Mom join him in extending their appreciation.

In a case like this, it's not cliché to say you never know how many friends you have until you are in trouble. Also, the kindness of the American people once again has been demonstrated to help a little fellow through his darkest hours.

BOHRER grilled Bohr on the subject of his varying estimate of damages to 19 fertilizer tank trailers. Referring to answers Bohr had made in November, 1964, Crowder asked whether he hadn't claimed a total of $71.55 damages to a particular trailer.

Bohr answered he had done so in November, but that a January examination had shown the damages to be much worse than he at first thought.

On another occasion, Crowder

It Happened Last Night You'll Be Happy Without College

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Sam Levenson goes around the country lecturing to colleges — telling students it isn't necessary to go to college to be happy . . . and — speaking of happiness — he also discourages college marriages.

"A TV repairman who likes his work has got it made but a Ph.D. may shoot himself," says Sam.

As a former school teacher, and a graduate of Brooklyn College, Sam's high on education, but, says he, "You have a destiny. If you were born to be a mechanic, you won't be happy being a lawyer."

"It's a well-known fact," he adds, "that many high-priced lawyers should be mechanics!"

Sam's against college marriages because "some parents now send not only their boy through college, but their son's wife, baby, dog and babysitter. They should name the baby 'Diploma' because that's what they both went to college to get," Sam says.

"Here's a boy who's a chemistry major — he's in the kitchen preparing the baby's formula, while his wife's writing an English paper entitled, 'The Diaper in a Changing World.'"

"USUALLY, the boy who gets married in college changes his course of study in his haste to get out of college. He doesn't prepare himself for what he really wants to do."

"So he blows his career." Sam attacks parents for making their sons' and daughters' colleges a status symbol for themselves.

"They get their kids in colleges that are too hard for them and they get nervous breakdowns."

Teachers and professors often applaud Sam's controversial viewpoint. He also says that "today a father is a pal because he doesn't have the guts to be a parent."

SPEAKING IN San Antonio, substituting for Gov. Connally of Texas who couldn't get there, Sam saw some signs, "45 in 65," meaning that in '65 the teachers wanted to be raised to a start-

Must Protect S. Viet Nam, Humphrey Says

HURON, S.D. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said Monday it is in the national interest "to protect our freedom by protecting the freedom of South Viet Nam."

"We're not only fighting to protect the freedom of Viet Nam, but of all southeast Asia," Humphrey said.

Humphrey stopped here Monday to visit his aged mother. It was his first visit with her since he was inaugurated. He also dropped in at the Humphrey drugstore to chat with his brother, Ralph.

Humphrey told newsmen he had been in close touch with the White House on the Viet Nam situation over the weekend.

He said that as a member of the National Security Council he had backed President in council discussions and backs him now.

"Everything we do has some risks," Humphrey said. "There are some obvious risks in Viet Nam. We have to take some of these risks to protect South Viet Nam and it is in our national interest to protect our freedom by protecting their freedom."

Nature Cooperates

The February thaw that opened up the creeks, poured fresh melting snow water, full of oxygen, into the rivers and sloughs and removed that dark deathly snow blanket from the ice was a real life-saver to countless numbers of fish throughout Minnesota and Wisconsin. Even big rivers like the Whitewater, Root, Trempealeau and parts of the lower Chippewa throw off their ice and snow covering.

As the reflective light in the above view of Lake Winona shows the surface of the ice is now nearly clear and sunlight can shine through to the fish below, giving them needed oxygen.

Lake Pepin Contest

Does the two-inch perch, the only fish caught by contest fishermen, nearly a 1,000 of them, during three hours fishing on the most popular fishing area of Lake Pepin at Lake City Sunday, reveal the story of what has happened to Lake Pepin fishing?

There is no use trying to conceal the fact that fishing in Lake Pepin, dear down to Reeds, has been bad since the oil slick incident of last year that caught the northern flit of ducks. Fisheries authorities at the time declared that it had no effect on fish life, other than perhaps injuries to some spawn.

Willis Kruger, veteran Wabasha County warden, has no explanation of the poor fishing that has prevailed all winter and most of the last open water season. Pollution, sedimentation, predominance of weed fish like shad, are a few of the reasons he advances. Commercial fishermen are not getting rough fish. The big school of catfish that normally winters in the lake, has not been located this winter.

Yet netting tests made by the Minnesota division of fisheries for the Mississippi River Conservation Committee in 1963 and 1964 showed a plentiful supply of game and rough fish in the lake. Lake Pepin fishermen hope these surveys produced correct information. At the present time they are shaking their heads. The fish must prove that they are there.

Iowa Fishing Season
In 1965 Iowa will continue its policy of wide-open fishing in the Mississippi, a pamphlet giving the seasons for the year, issued by the Iowa Fisheries Division, shows. Inland waters are closed for a short period for smallmouth, walleyes and northern pike.

The inland trout season continues open the year around with a six and 12 limit. There is no size limit. Winonans will be heading for Iowa with the spring breakup.

In the Mississippi River, where there is a continuous open season, the daily aggregate limit for small and large mouth bass is ten with a 20 possession limit. Ten walleye can be taken in day and five northern.

Starving Deer

Northern Wisconsin's large deer herd, more than the carrying capacity of their winter range, has yanked up in an area with a snow depth of 40 inches and a food supply below the herd's minimum need, field supervisors have reported to Director L. P. Voigt.

Voigt immediately issued an order putting care of the deer herd on top priority for all employees in the field. Chain saw crews have been sent into yard areas to drop browse timber. Commercial harvesting of timber in these areas is being encouraged.

All 250 yards in the northwest will be under constant surveillance with timber sale and cutting crews ready to move in wherever signs of deer starvation appear. Chequamegon national forest officials and county forestry committees have earmarked timber tracts near yards for sale to loggers if the need arises.

Department crews are now cutting noncommercial species to keep deer alive pending commercial operations in the Flagg River and Sand Point yards of Bayfield County. Supt. Bert Dahlberg said dead animals have already been found at Sand Point. About a dozen commercial timber sales have been activated to provide vital browse in the Brule River valley in Douglas County, the Weirgor yard in Rusk County and management unit 14 in Ashland and Price counties.

In a recent report to the Conservation Commission, Game Division Chief J. R. Smith said Wisconsin is wintering a deer herd of more than 500,000 animals. Smith said the population is 10 to 20 percent above what the range can support under current weather conditions. He pointed out that starvation takes its toll from both living animals and the unborn spring fawn crop. He called for a higher harvest next season if winter losses are not severe, but said that losses this winter are inevitable and could mean a drastic drop in the size of the herd in the Lake Superior watershed area.

$75,000 Fire At Aitkin

AITKIN, Minn. (AP) — Unofficial loss estimates ranged up to $75,000 Monday following a fire which destroyed the 45 by 90-foot Arens Farm Equipment Store building here.

The blaze was discovered shortly before midnight Saturday. Firemen battled the flames for several hours, but were unable to save the building. Also destroyed were two hay bales and other machinery.

An oil line broke during the fire, feeding oil onto the floor and into the building.

Owner P.H. Arens theorized the fire may have started from an oil burner near the center of the building.

Check Thief Gets 10 Years

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A former Menomonee Falls, Wis., man, accused of using a stolen check protector and blank checks to finance a spree, was sentenced to 10 years in prison Monday.

Christy C. Williams, 40, charged with theft of blank checks and the check protector from the State Bank of Sturgeon Lake, Minn., in August, was sentenced by Judge Edward J. Devitt, of U.S. District Court.

Williams took 25 checks and cashed a number in the total amount of $7,350 through Florida and the West Indies before he was apprehended.

Two Children Killed When Hit by Autos

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The deaths of two children raised Minnesota's traffic toll for the year to 70 today, compared to 58 a year ago.

Four-year-old Leah Torkelson, whose parents Mr. and Mrs. Glen Torkelson, recently came to the state from Alabama, was fatally injured Monday night while walking along U.S. 12 in Minnetonka, east of Highway 494. The girl was struck by a car driven by Romeo Cloutier, 62, of Mound, Minn., and died en route to a hospital. The Torkelsons had been staying in a nearby motel.

In the other accident, Leon Carling, 15, Minneapolis died in a hospital of injuries received when hit by a car. He died Saturday.

Buffalo Valley Has Third Of Required $25 Members

COCHRANE, Wis. — Some 64 members of Buffalo Valley, Inc., in annual meeting at the Cochrane School annex Monday night, ratified the budget of the million-dollar 700-acre recreation area being developed between Cochrane and Alma, terms of the $589,500 Farmers Home Administration loan, amended the bylaws in accordance with FHA requirements, and elected 11 members to the 15-member board of directors.

Before the loan money can be available, FHA requires 1,000 memberships in the BVI or sponsoring organization at $25 each; 1,000 $75 family membership pledges (which won't have to be paid until the golf courses, ski area and other facilities are ready for use), and $160,000 in donations or loans.

JAKE ZECHES, board chairman, announced Monday night that a third of the memberships have been obtained, $69,500 in donations and pledges has been secured, and the drive for $75 family memberships for the first year, entitling holders to use all the facilities, is beginning.

Elected to three-year terms on the board were: Zeches; Cyril Reidt, Eli Maule, Pat Motley and Allen Kirchner, Alma; to two-year terms as directors, Carleton Fingle of Buffalo City; William F. Lang, Winona Chamber of Commerce president; Warren Korte, Waumandee; James Scholmeier, Fountain City, and Vincent (Whitey) Rice, Alma, and to a one-year term, John Hartman, Alma.

Holding over with one-year terms are Dr. John Platt, Wabasha; O. J. Scheweide, Buffalo City; La Croix Johnson, Cochrane, and Dr. M. O. Bachhumber, Alma.

THE $25 MEMBERS will be owners of the recreation area, designed to benefit Buffalo County and the entire area.

Directors feel the $75 family membership entitling all members to use the facilities each year is nominal considering what will be available. This fund will be used for repaying principal and interest on the loan.

Donations and subordinated loans will be used for operation until the area gets on a self-sustaining basis. Interest on loans is not to exceed 6 percent.

In addition to the FHA loan, REA has promised $50,000 for the ski tow and other electricity needed, and a watershed project estimated at $179,000 has been promised.

A commitment for $110,000 for the snow-making and ski equipment has been secured by the board.

THIS IS what the area will include:

- A 90-acre ski area on Flury Mountain between Cochrane and Alma, with 570-foot measured drop and approximately 1 1/4-mile runout; about 14 slopes, and complete with chairlift, 670 feet to the top, T-bars and tows. The area will be lighted, snow-making equipment is assured and the government loan provides for a $50,000 chalet, doubling as a golfhouse.

Expansion plans envision this will be the largest skiing area in the Midwest.

- Billy Sixty Jr., Milwaukee golf architect, has laid out 27 holes of golf. There'll be nine holes each in Slaughter and Flury Valleys — connecting to provide 18 holes at the foot of the hills — and nine holes on Flury Mountain.

- The 3,100-foot double chairlift, used for skiing in winter, will carry golfers to the high course in summer, where a view of the Mississippi River below may distract them. They'll be championship courses.

- Negotiations are under way to provide lodging, restaurants and bar facilities in conjunction with the recreation area.

- A 100-unit lodge motel is planned, plus a 300-unit convention facility.

A LOCAL investment group presently is investigating the possibilities of an SBA loan for construction of a portion of the planned facilities.

Additional lands are available adjacent to the site on which the promoting group envisions private development of a marina, additional motel facilities, a railroad terminus, bowling alley, etc.

The acreage is on Highway 35, the Great River road, and the Burlington Railroad.

The recreation program planned includes a public camp and picnic grounds; riding stable and trails; trailer camp; skeet and trap shooting ranges; archery field, tennis, swimming and ice skating.

A children's zoo is in the plans. There'll be lookouts along the mountains; a complete program of roads, trails and parking areas to open up the scenic beauties of the area to the general public, and adequate provision is planned for handling specific public use of open sports such as hunting, fishing, and water skiing.

THE FHA land conversion program was started primarily to aid individual farmers in taking land out of cultivation and substituting recreation facilities on a farm-to-farm basis.

Buffalo Valley, Inc., will be a large facility anticipating wide and general public acceptance because of its size, scope and cost.

The $897,853 construction budget has been approved by the FHA. As soon as local conditions are met, the loan will become available and work will get under way.

Pepin County Highway Revenue Hits $624,212

DURAND, Wis. (Special) — Revenues of the Pepin County highway department last year, including $89,063 in available funds at the beginning of the year, totaled $624,212, according to the report to the County Board of Supervisors by Elwood Myers, highway commissioner.

Expenditures totaled $593,626, leaving $30,586 Dec. 31, 1964.

Revenues included $98,913 in general property taxes; $83,112, state and federal aids; $157,033, machinery rentals, and $101,573, sale and transfer of materials and supplies etc.

Expenditures included $12,713, buildings and attached fixtures; $55,929, machinery and equipment; $104,994, materials and supplies; $93,026, operation of equipment; $94,644, general maintenance and $24,048, winter maintenance of county trucks; $98,847, county aid road construction, and $8,913 in bridge construction on a 50-50 basis.

Administration cost $13,657, including $6,000, commissioner's salary, $4,210 in clerk hire, committee per diem, supplies, social security and retirement, and group health insurance.

Gravel pit revenues were $48,204 and operation of quarry cost $58,531. Balance on hand in the county stockpile fund was $10,234.

County aid bridge funds were spent in towns of Albany, Frankfort, Lima, Pepin and Waterville. County aid construction was spent on FF, V and B in towns of Durand and Lima; T in Lima; I in Pepin and N in Frankfort. Of a $100,000 bond sold for improvement of County N, $99,557 was used in 1963 and 1964.

The department traded equipment valued at $3,069 during the year and sold a preparator for $10,000.

Sheehan Discontinuing Aqua Follies in Theodore Wirth Pool

Performances of the Aqua Follies at Theodore Wirth pool in Minneapolis have ended, Al Sheehan, the producer, a former Winona, announced.

The show has been presented in Minneapolis as a feature of the Aquatennial. Wirth facilities are considered inadequate. It's expected that the follies will be presented elsewhere. For the past 15 years the follies also played Seattle, Wash., after the Minneapolis run.

Investors' Corner

The 1,200 stocks on New York Stock Exchange... profit they earn, dividends they pay.

If you're thinking of investing in stocks for the first time (it's estimated over one million Americans will do so this year), you may want to learn more about stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Although there are well over 1,000,000 corporations in the country, the common stocks of only about 1,200 are listed on the Exchange.

These few earn nearly two-thirds of all the net profits reported by all companies, and pay about 60% of all the dividends.

Of the estimated 17 million U.S. shareowners, some 11 million own these 1,200 companies. (Last year, on the average, 4.9 million shares were reported to have changed hands on the Exchange each trading day. This supply and demand is one reason investors usually can buy and sell listed stocks so easily.)

When the Exchange considers listing a company today, such minimums as these are used as guidelines: 1,500 round-lot shareowners, 600,000 shares in public hands with a market value of at least $10,000,000, and demonstrated earning power of at least $1,200,000 a year after taxes. Financial reports for shareowners are required too. And owners of common stock must have the right to vote.

The Exchange considers de-listing a company when the number of round-lot shareowners drops below 500, market value of publicly held shares dips under $2,000,000, or other circumstances make further dealings inadvisable.

Are listed companies the right investment for you? Before you decide, take these four steps:

1. Set a realistic goal. Dividends perhaps. Or long-term growth. Or the greater safety that bonds may offer.

2. Provide for living expenses and emergencies, then consider investing. (The Monthly Investment Plan is a systematic way to invest with as little as $40 each three months.)

3. Make your judgment on facts, not hopeful rumors or bits of news. There is risk in any investment, so you'll be wise to search out such facts as a company's sales, earnings, dividends, and then try to evaluate its potential.

4. Let a member firm help you. Registered representatives had to meet Exchange standards when they became registered. This doesn't make them invariably right, but perhaps they have facts and a point of view that you've overlooked.

Investing can be a rewarding experience. That is why it is so important to know there are both right and wrong ways to go about it.

River Important Trafficway

WATERWAYS ARE one of the foundation stones of Minnesota's progress in commerce and industry. And the Mississippi River is assuming an increasing importance in providing the state with low cost water-borne transportation with each passing year.

The port of Duluth is still the major gateway for bulk shipments, but if the present trend continues for another 15 years or so, tonnage moving on river barges will surpass the traffic volume moving through the lake port.

Only a few years ago Duluth was accounted the second port of the nation in point of tonnage — second only to New York. Now it is in fourth place, behind Houston and New Orleans, and Philadelphia is rapidly overtaking the Zenith City.

Since activity on the iron ranges has been curtailed, ore shipments from the Duluth-Superior harbor have declined. Back in 1950 and 1951 an average of 68 million tons cleared the port annually. In 1963, due to shrinkage in ore shipments, some 41,500,000 tons were handled. Incomplete reports for the past year may show a slight increase in that tonnage.

BUT THE fact remains that traffic at the lake port is down by about 40 percent despite a gradual upward movement in shipments and receipts through the St. Lawrence Seaway.

During this same period, however, tonnage moving on the Upper Mississippi has more than tripled. Fifteen years ago an average of 2,800,000 tons moved by river barge. The average for 1963 and 1964 came to 9,700,000 tons!

Every indication points to continued growth. Port facilities on the river are being expanded. And the booming industry in the Twin City area and all along the Mississippi below the state's metropolis is stimulating an ever-increasing flow of traffic. Barges are also assuming a more important role in the shipment of farm products and in transporting such bulk commodities as fertilizers required by modern farming methods.

SOME NOTABLE changes in the character of barge traffic have taken place in recent years, too. Fifteen years ago, 94 percent of river traffic moved upstream. In the last two years, fewer downstream bound barges have gone empty. Downbound tonnage now accounts for almost 30 percent of the total.

Coal has superseded gasoline and oil products as the major commodity carried upstream. Coal tonnage increased from 1,088,000 tons (1950-51) to an average of 2,894,000 tons received on river docks these past two years. Coal tonnage representing 41 percent of all river port receipts 15 years ago now accounts for 42 percent of the total.

Construction of refineries at Pine Bend and St. Paul Park now supply a part of the demand for gasoline and oil that was formerly brought in by barge. For while tonnage of these products has increased from close to a million and a half tons to over two million tons, the movement of these commodities is now but 29 percent of total receipts — as compared to a 57 percent share of the total at the earlier date.

OTHER BULK ITEMS — chiefly fertilizers and chemicals, sand and gravel, and iron and steel — have become a far more common barge cargo. Receipts of these items have increased from 52,000 tons annually to almost two million tons — and they now constitute 28 percent of all dock loadings.

Grain continues to be the major downbound cargo. Fifteen years ago riverside grain terminals supplied 84 percent of the shipments. That percentage has been upped to 90.

National farm programs with their emphasis on the export trade have pushed grain traffic from an average of 153,000 tons in the early 50s to a current tonnage running well over two-and-a-half million tons per year.

The river is also being more widely used to transport other goods—flour, vegetable oil derivatives, and machinery among them. This tonnage has increased almost tenfold during the period. During 1963 and 1964 the traffic ran at 285,000 tons as an annual average.

While St. Paul continues to hold first place among river ports — handling 48 percent of all Upper Mississippi dock receipts and 31 percent of shipments, and Minneapolis accounts for a little over a tenth of the total traffic, the combined contributions of 13 other localities to the flow of traffic has become one of monumental proportions.

WINONA RANKS among the half dozen most important of these ports. Largest single traffic producer includes the Minnesota River terminals at and near Savage. Cargill grain shipments and coal for the NSP Black Dog generating plant account for a good share of this activity.

Other ports ranked according to tonnage handled include La Crosse, Alma, Pine Bend, Lansing (Iowa), St. Paul Park, Red Wing, Stillwater, Prairie du Chien, Hastings, Fountain City, and Genoa, Wis.

Tonnage handled at dock and terminal facilities of these 13 ports has multiplied fourfold in the last 15 years. Their volume represents 46 percent of the total these days.

WITHIN THE space of a year or so — unless the present trend is reversed — over half of all river cargoes will be loaded or unloaded at these ports. All offer advantages to bulk freight users that can

Use of Prayer Not Forgotten

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Church and state are supposed to be separate, and formally they are. But the 13th annual presidential prayer breakfast on Thursday at the Shoreham Hotel here, attended by the President of the United States and prominent men from the other two branches of the government, was an outstanding example of the role that religion plays in governmental life in America.

Just four years ago, at the 9th annual presidential prayer breakfast, Lyndon Johnson, then vice president, said:

"We need to remember that the separation of church and state must never mean the separation of religious values from the lives of our public servants."

In his address this week to the prayer breakfast — now as president — Mr. Johnson said:

"I find for myself, as I know men and women throughout this great government of ours also find, a sustaining strength from the moments of prayer, whether we assemble together or whether we pray silently alone. What has become a tradition and practice in our times is actually one of the oldest public traditions of our national life."

ALL THIS may sound paradoxical in view of the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States which have banned the use of prayers as a classroom exercise in the public schools. But the annual presidential prayer breakfasts here have become inspiring manifestations of devotion to the concept of prayer, whether public or private.

Besides President Johnson, there were in attendance Vice President Humphrey, Speaker McCormack, Justice Clark of the Supreme Court of the United States, and some of the leaders of the Senate as well as the House of Representatives.

The brief speeches were particularly significant. One was made by Gen. Harold K. Johnson, chief of staff of the United States Army, who told of the value of prayer to him as he passed through dangerous moments in World War II and in the Korean War. He spoke of an occasion when he was a prisoner aboard a Japanese ship which was being bombarded by American aircraft. He said:

"I BOWED my head and prayed, and in the course of my prayer said, 'Lord, I am ready if you want me.' And I knew a great peace."

"Fourteen years ago and two months, on a lonely road just southeast of Pyongyang, the capital of North Korea, a road that was deserted except for a small handful of American defenders, a lonely commander was deeply troubled by the threat to the men that he was charged with safeguarding. Could he do the job that was his to do and still give his men a fighting chance to survive? And out of the still of the night, as if from a great distance, came God's voice saying 'Be strong, have no fear, I am with you.' And in the years that have since passed by, I continue to turn to God, both in my infrequent hours of accomplishment or achievement to thank Him, and in my more frequent hours of tribulation to seek His help. In short, I am here because I believe. I am sure that you are here because you believe."

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Sen. Mundt Talks About Economy, Practices Waste

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — No one in the Senate is more sanctimonious about government economy than Karl Mundt, the solemn senator from South Dakota. Seldom does he miss an opportunity to harangue the Senate regarding waste.

The echoes had hardly died from his last oration on economy when Mundt tackled a rider on the farm commodities appropriation which would tie the hands of the President in eliminating Veterans Administration waste.

What aroused the GOP senator from South Dakota was that Johnson planned to close the veterans' regional office in Sioux Falls, S.D. The idea of saving the taxpayers' money in South Dakota, Mundt obviously felt, was carrying government economy too far.

Mundt closed his mind to the fact that the Sioux Falls office has one of the lightest workloads of any VA office in the country, that its shutdown would eliminate duplication and overhead now costing the taxpayers nearly $118,000 a year.

During the last fiscal year, the taxpayers paid a premium $6.58 per man-hour to keep the Sioux Falls office open. The President has proposed a merger with the St. Paul, Minn., office which would cost the taxpayers only $4.47 per man-hour to operate.

THE ONLY way Mundt could save the Sioux Falls office was to fight against closing of the 11 VA hospitals and the 17 regional offices which Johnson wants to consolidate. Thus his rider will cost the taxpayers not only the $118,000 that would have been saved in Sioux Falls but a whopping total of $23,000,000.

The 11 hospitals the President wants to close are located far from the medical centers that attract good doctors, nurses, and interns. Thus, the out-of-the-way hospitals not only have become difficult to staff and uneconomical to run but they provide inferior treatment.

The President's proposal would offer more veterans better treatment at lower cost. But, thanks to Mundt, this cost-cutting effort has been blocked. It remains to be seen whether the President can regroup his forces and blast the reforms out of the Senate.

Meanwhile, Mundt continues to preach government economy—outside his own state.

Note: Putting an extraneous rider on an essential appropriations bill is one of the most ruthless and unfair ways of tying the hands of the President. He has to have the money being voted in the appropriations bill and therefore has to swallow the rider which infringes on his power as executive.

IT WOULD have been a simple matter for either Bobby Kennedy when he was attorney general, or Nicholas Katzenbach, his successor, to have headed off the massive demonstrations and arrests in Selma, Ala.

They have had the power to act ever since July 2, 1964 when the civil rights act became law.

Six demands that Negroes be permitted to register in Selma have been before U.S. District Judge Daniel H. Thomas, since 1961. But for four years, most of them got nowhere.

Last week, with several hundred Negroes arrested, and ten congressmen about to fly to Selma, Judge Thomas finally dusted off these four-year-old cases and gingerly ordered a few voting restrictions removed. But, at any time after July 2, the Justice Department had the power to go over the judge's head and remove Selma voting restrictions.

The attorney general could have ordered a three-judge court to review the denial of voting rights, and followed this up with the appointment of federal voting referees.

Instead, both attorneys general sat on their hands and waited for Rev. Martin Luther King to force a timid federal judge to take semiaction. President Johnson should take a good look at the Justice Department he inherited from Bobby Kennedy.

IN ACKNOWLEDGING he "may have made a mistake," President Johnson still didn't confess the chief reason he failed to send Vice President Hubert Humphrey to London for the Churchill funeral.

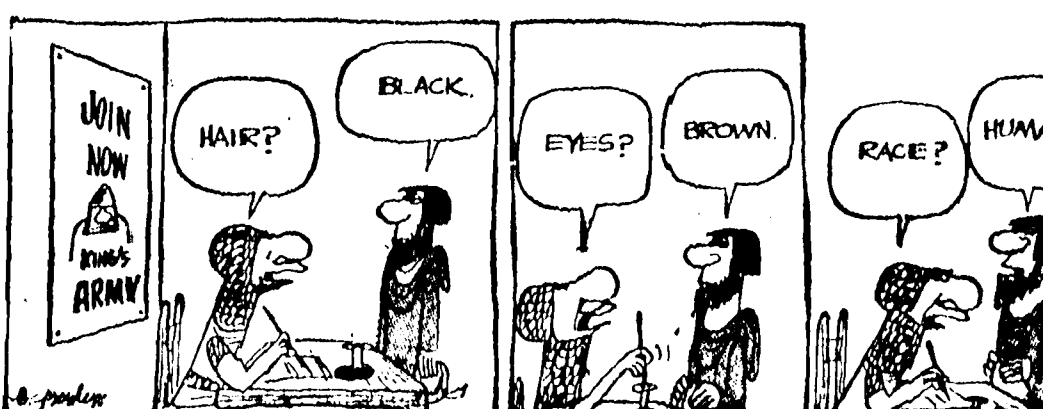

Intimates insist that the President felt so low from his cold and cough that he wanted the vice president around in case of a turn for the worse. Johnson is keenly concerned about the succession to power. "When I am away," he has told the vice president, "I want you in Washington." In case of illness, says an insider, the President also "wants Hubert handy."

"Right to Work" Would Hurt Worker

To the Editor:

What is behind these "right to work laws"? Despite this high-sounding title, these "right to work laws" are designed for only one purpose — to weaken labor unions and lower standards of wages and working conditions.

This is accomplished very simply. By prohibiting all basic Union Security arrangements, the law strikes directly at the bargaining strength which workers have been able to attain through union organization.

What it really means is the spurious and unobtainable right of an individual to stand alone, to represent himself, without the indispensable strength which can come only through union organization.

It is not a question of whether we believe in the union shop. The question involved in this "right to work" legislation is government interference with the independence of both management and labor to negotiate whatever kind of contract they may agree upon.

Playing "Patsie" To Communists

To the Editor:

The American people hear increasing talk these days of new and dramatic ways to ease world tensions and to bring the United States into a closer accord with the Communist powers. Our young people are taught the morality of international understanding; and rightfully so, for every rational individual dreams of the day, hopefully in the not too distant future, when all nations and races will unite in a common crusade against the enemies of every human being: hunger, disease, and tyranny.

But only the uninformed and the intentionally blind fail to see that in our present "liberal" efforts to co-exist with communism, we are not co-existing at all but rather are playing the voluntary role of the "patsie" who spurs victory and hands the prize to the devil in the false name of humanitarianism and peace. How can America hope to regain the support of world opinion, whatever that is worth, when her president and State Department negotiate away the security of friends and allies while refusing to recognize the real character of those who seek the destruction of freedom and the enslavement of humanity?

It is more than disturbing to hear intelligent persons declare: "We are not at war in South Viet Nam" and "The Communists do not wish to harm America." Well, the fact remains that the Communist will be a Communist so long as he desires the conquest of the world; and should he repudiate that goal then the Communist will no longer be a Communist. I have yet to learn of a Communist who does not believe that his system will triumph over democracy, with whatever means, and destroy every trace of liberty.

Communism advances at a steady pace and in any given number of directions. Since Stalin grabbed Mainland China and stole Eastern Europe, the U.S.S.R. has been content to move by taking baby steps and unfortunately has proved to be quite successful. They have managed to capture half of Korea, and today are near to controlling the rest of Viet Nam. In Cuba, two years ago, it was three moves forward; we pushed them back one move; chalk up a net gain of two for the Red tyranny. The continued existence of a Communist stronghold in the Caribbean is clear proof of the administration's failure to come to grasp with the realities of the world we live in.

I, unlike some other Americans, am hopeful of better things for mankind and still believe that democracy can survive despite trends running to the contrary. After all, there are millions of Americans who have awakened to the facts of the conflict and registered their demands for a change in present foreign policies last November.

We, as conservatives, pledge to our Creator, and I being a Quaker, that we shall continue to embrace the philosophy of conservatism so that the forces of freedom may go on fighting for the liberation of the human spirit.

Children Enjoy Pranks

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I hope you can help me. My son is almost five years old and for the last two weeks after I put him to bed he insists that he sees a cat on the radiator. I have frequently reassured him, but to no avail.

He hasn't been scared by anything lately, so what could be causing it, and what can I do? He has always had to have his closet door closed or he won't go to sleep. But the cat is new. — E. M.

Children are the strangest people, aren't they?

The best way I know to handle them is to be (1) logical; (2) imaginative; (3) kind.

Now, Mrs. E. M., I don't quite know from your letter whether to decide that your five-year-old is unduly imaginative, or whether you are, or whether you both are.

But I'll tell you this: Children have an uncanny ability to sense when their elders, especially their parents, are ripe to get all stirred up over some nonsensical notion or other.

If I HAD a five-year-old and he couldn't go to sleep unless his closet door was shut, I'd just tell him that it is up to him to shut the door. If he cared enough to keep the closet door shut, fine. If he didn't, that would be up to him.

Small fry are frighteningly logical. Give them a good, solid answer, and it shuts 'em up. (Until they think of something else to fuss about, of course.)

As to the cat on the radiator, I'd ask the child, while the lights are still on, "Is a cat there?" If not, I'd make some play about the whole business. When the boy was in bed I'd say, "Okay, wave goodbye to the cat, now." And let it go at that. At the ripe old age of five, the boy would realize that you were just going along with his imaginative play.

TREAT THE business seriously, and the boy will take advantage, and think up new ways of getting you in a tizzy.

If I even suspected that you had a true problem, I'd tell you to consult a child psychiatrist. But with only the closet door and the cat on the radiator, I can only assume that you are getting all wrought up over the sort of things that virtually all children try on their parents, to see if they can get away with it.

I'm not opposed to or suspicious of psychiatry. Anything but! But I'm opposed to making "psychiatric problems" out of the nonsense that most children enjoy.

Calm down, Mom.

Test Reports Made on Grade, High School

Reports on tests of basic skills and educational development given in the elementary grades and high school level of the Winona public school system were presented to the Board of Education Monday night.

Robert H. Smith, principal of Senior High and Central Junior High schools, analyzed findings of the Iowa Tests of Basic Skills given seventh and eighth graders last fall and the Iowa Tests of Educational Development taken by students in the ninth through 12th grades.

HE NOTED that achievement appeared to be fairly uniform through each grade and pointed out areas in which concentration of instructional effort is contemplated.

A report prepared by Dr. C. H. Hopf, director of elementary education, on basic skills tests given in the 4th, 5th and 6th grades near the beginning of the fall term were discussed by Superintendent of Schools A. L. Nelson.

Comparative data for the classes over a three-year period were presented to give an insight into overall educational growth as measured by the tests.

THE BOARD Monday also approved notices of intent to terminate at the end of the current school year the contracts of two public school teachers who will be reaching the mandatory retirement age of 65.

Notices are being sent to Herbert Berger, business instructor at Senior High School, and Mrs. Gladys Anderson, special education teacher at Lincoln School. Action is being taken in accordance with established board policy and affords the teacher the opportunity for a hearing on termination if he desires before final action is taken.

In other business Monday the board also received a request from Mrs. Grace Belville, an elementary teacher at Washington-Kosciusko School, asking that her resignation be accepted effective at the end of the current school year. The request was granted.

$1.77 Million Asked for Kennedy Grave

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has asked Congress for $1.77 million to make improvements near the grave of President John F. Kennedy.

The White House said the money would be used for walks, platforms and other facilities designed to accommodate the large number of visitors to the Arlington National Cemetery grave.

28.2 Million Pounds of Milk For Ridgeway

RIDGEWAY, Minn. (Special) — Ridgeway Creamery purchased 28,274,456 pounds of milk from its patrons during 1964, it was revealed at the annual meeting Saturday at Pleasant Hill Town Hall.

A total of 199,279 pounds of grade A milk were trucked by bulk tank to Rochester for processing.

DURING 1963 the creamery discontinued purchasing cream so no comparison between 1963 and 1964 could be made on milk volume. But there was a gain of 63,573 pounds of butterfat during 1964. A total of 1,262,330 pounds of butter were churned during 1964. The creamery received $735,328 for the butter. Skim milk receipts totaled $266,623 and buttermilk receipts totaled $5,088.

The creamery paid out $925,742 to patrons; $23,000 for new equipment, and $2,744 to the ADA.

J. Ray McNally and Arthur Erdmann were elected directors for three-year terms.

Erdmann was elected president of the board of directors and McNally was elected vice president. Other directors are Robert Hass, Ivan Sperbeck, W. H. Pflughoeft and E. W. Gaedy. Lucille Von Moos is secretary and Alice Hackbarth is treasurer. Jerome Kolstad is manager-operator. His assistants are Lynn Gellersen and Don Matthees.

ARTHUR Anderson, guest speaker from Rochester Dairy, stressed the need of quality improvement in patrons' milk by elimination of mastitis and disease in dairy herds; better cleaning methods for dairy equipment and milk rooms, barns and milk tank trucks, and better cooling methods. By GRETCHEN L. LAMBERTON

WELL, I may not have made it to the Inaugural Ball but I did get to a super-glamor ball Saturday night — the Candlelight Ball at St. Mary's College brand new gymnasium. It was quite a surprise to me and came about in this way.

The other way—below zero afternoon I was sitting in my room at St. Anne Hospice feeling grumpy, stir-happy and sorry for myself when there was a rap on the door, and then in swept big smiling Brother Paul like a fresh north breeze. "Hi! We want you to come out to our party Saturday night," he said.

"Oh, I couldn't possibly, much as I'd love to," I gasped. "Why not? We'll get you there."

I demurred, "I would have to come in a wheelchair, and I couldn't stay long."

"So what?" he said. "We'll pick you up at 7:30. We'll send a car and a fine driver and get you there and back again."

So that's how it was that I found myself being driven up the curved driveway that was lined with flaring torches. In the flickering light the new gym looked romantically like a medieval castle, and in the spacious entrance hall stood uniformed footmen. Guests in evening dress were strolling about and going into the main gym.

For those of you who for weeks have seen me only in my habitual physical therapy costume of gray flannel culottes and beat-up cotton shirts let me reassure you that my daughter had driven out to my house and picked up some of my fanciest evening clothes, even to long white kid gloves. The only flaw in the general picture was the big clumsy ground-gripper shoes with a metal brace that kept showing under my floor-length skirt. So I tried to ignore the shoes and concentrated on the elegant long kid gloves.

It was wonderful to see so many people and to visit again with friends I hadn't seen for so long. There were beautifully set tables with punch and hors d'oeuvres, and everybody moved around very gay and sociable. The reception committee of Brother Gregory, Brother Paul, Brother Robert and many others welcomed everybody, and most of the rest of the faculty and staff visited with the guests, and there was beautiful background music.

After a good sociable visiting time guests were invited to the south hall where round tables for ten were set, and very elegantly, too. Since I was allowed just an hour at this, my first exciting ball after five months of hospitalization, I didn't stay for the dinner which I hear featured the world's best roast beef with both orchestral and chorus music throughout the dinner.

Every small detail was beautifully worked out, from rosy camellia corsages for the pretty Saint Teresa student hostesses to the immaculate uniforms of the St. Mary's student waiters. A typical touch: As I waited in my wheelchair in the entrance portico for the car to be brought up, a young waiter came out on the sidewalk and presented a silver tray of hors d'oeuvres. "Will you have an hors d'oeuvre, ma'am, while you're waiting?" he said.

I took one and he said, "Ma'am, won't you try one of these caviar ones?" So I picked up a caviar sandwich with my gloved hand, got some caviar on my fingertip, and got home with my glove smelling of caviar — a touch of elegance. It was a memorable party, and next year I hope to stay longer than an hour.

inspector for the Department of Agriculture, said there should be a greater consumption of all dairy products. Eliminated should be the use of "whips for toppings" and other substitutes which contain no dairy fats and solids.

His '65 Ford rides quieter....than his Rolls-Royce

Tests proved it.* Does this mean Ford now rivals one of the world's most wanted luxury cars? Hardly! But these tests do mean plenty—to you—if you're shopping for a popular-priced car. They prove Ford has outstanding strength, design, quality. Compare Ford, in every way, with everything in its class . . .

Feel Ford's solid quality

- 100% new body—strongest ever on a Ford.
- New frame "tunes out" vibration.
- New suspension puts a big ultra-soft coil spring at each wheel.

Inspect Ford's luxurious new LTD models

- Decorator interiors, thick nylon carpeting.
- Walnutlike vinyl inserts on doors and instrument panel.
- Rear-seat center arm rests, five ash trays (4-door hardtops), padded instrument panel, and more.

Relax in Ford's spacious interiors

- Swept-back instrument panel, lower transmission hump.

- Trunk holds four 2-suiters standing upright, and more.
- Test Ford's new power
- Big, new 289-cu. in. V-8 standard in XL's and LTD's.
- New Big Six—biggest Six in any car. Test-drive a '65 Ford!

*Leading acoustical consultants conducted tests in which 1965 Fords (Galaxie 500 Sedan, XL and LTD Hardtops) with 289-cu. in. V-8 engines and automatic transmissions rode quieter than a new Rolls-Royce. These tests were certified by the U.S. Auto Club.

Best year yet to go Ford!

Bill Merrill's Something to Live by

"Where am I going, and what am I doing?" Those were the words of a pretty-coed that took an honest look at life, and it was a bit frightening. I live in a college town that attracts young people from far and near. The school itself, I believe, is one of the best of its kind. One evening my phone rang and a young lady asked for me. It seems she had remembered me as an adult on the faculty of a youth camp she had attended. When I took up the phone, she explained she needed help and could she see me soon. There was something urgent about the whole thing, so I assured her I would come to her dormitory right away, as I lived just a few blocks from it.

The young lady that met me in the reception room of the girls' dormitory was striking in appearance. She had deep brown eyes that spelled absolute sincerity. Indicating she didn't wish to talk around the other students, we departed to the lobby of a large downtown building where, though we were in a public place, no one would concern himself with what she was saying.

I HAD anticipated the possibility that this young lady might be in a jam of some sort, as often is the case where young people are concerned. The refreshing aspect of this whole thing was this girl saw the danger of going along with her new-found society and getting nowhere in life. She expressed it this way. "Tomorrow," she said, "is my birthday. I am turning eighteen and I have asked myself, 'Where am I going, and what am I doing?'" Then her inner feelings began to pour forth. She came from a good, middle-class family. Her father was prominent in the community, and in general, she hadn't wanted for anything. Her religious life was limited in that the folks weren't anti-religious, they just didn't have much of a contact with church life. She was a good student, and I am sure she would be considered a person with a well-rounded personality. But there was something else. She had character. As is often the case with young people who are away from home in a new environment, the girls in the dorm were working at what they thought was living. Smoking and loose talk had been exhibited as if being symbolic with adulthood. I.D. cards (standing for identification) also entered in I expect, for at eighteen, these young people could enter the haunts about town if they could prove that they were eighteen. And that too lent itself to "big talk."

THE GIRL I was talking to at this point, was asking herself the question, "Where am I going, and what am I doing?" She dared to think for herself. When she began to talk out loud about it, she expressed what she saw — that the so-called sophistication of her young companions as a shallow pretense, not a purposeful effort at living.

She has become a non-conformist in that she thinks for herself. Her religious side has deepened. Today she is happily married and a mother, prepared to lead her children by example, through the adventure of life. And I fully expect she will succeed.

In closing, if you're wondering what happened to the old-fashioned girl, you'll probably find her at home with her husband.

Jane Tearse Weds Mr. Hamel On West Coast

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. — Miss Jane S. Tearse, San Francisco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Tearse, Tucson, Ariz., former Winona residents, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Tearse, 373 Main St., was married Jan. 30 in San Francisco.

She became the bride of Arthur B. Hamel Jr., San Francisco, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hamel Sr., Newburgh, N.Y.

The wedding took place in First Unitarian Church, with the Rev. Conrad Rheiner officiating.

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor-length gown of silk peau de soie, styled along simple, elegant lines. The empire gown had a sabrina neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. The bodice was trimmed with a wide band of imported fringe lace and the sheath skirt featured several bands of lace, which also trimmed the Watteau train. She wore a Lady of Camelot headpiece of the lace to hold her silk illusion veil. The bridal bouquet was lilies of the valley.

Miss Frankie LaRoux, San Francisco, was maid of honor. Her tulle-style gown was of lime-green silk brocade. She carried a spray of brown cymbidium orchids.

Best man was Roland S. Hansen, Richmond, Calif.

An afternoon reception and dinner was held at the Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco. The couple left for a wedding trip to Carmel, Calif.

They are now at home at 878 14th St., Apt. 101, San Francisco.

The bride is a graduate of Winona Senior High School and Northwestern University at Evanston, Ill. She is a teacher in the Ponderosa School, South San Francisco.

Mr. Hamel is a graduate of Pennsylvania State University, University Park, Pa. He is an industrial engineer with Matson Navigation Company, San Francisco.

LADIES AID — The Ladies Aid of the Church of the Brethren will meet at 2 p.m. Thursday at the home of Mrs. C. E. Whetstone, 85 Lenox St.

Local, Area Senior Students Outstanding in HS Classes

The Daughters of the American Revolution in all areas of the United States have again conducted the annual Good Citizens contest among senior girls in high schools.

WENONAH CHAPTER DAR and others in the area announce their choices of girls who qualify as top good citizens of their respective schools. They have been judged by their classmates for dependability, service, leadership and patriotism. Three girls in each school were chosen by the class, after which the faculty selected one for the honor of Good Citizen of the year. One Good Citizen is selected in each of the seven districts in the state of Minnesota.

These seven girls will be invited to attend the DAR state convention at Pick-Nic Hotel, Minneapolis, March 10. At that time a Minnesota DAR Good Citizen will be elected. She will be awarded a $100 Savings Bond by the National DAR. Second award will be $50 and third, $25, both given by the State DAR.

Each state winner will be eligible for a national award, given to the Good Citizen chosen from winners of all the states, if she chooses to compete in the National Essay contest.

Every Good Citizen chosen to represent her school will be given a DAR Good Citizen certificate from the National Society and a Good Citizen pin from the State Society.

New State School Aid Plan Offered

ST. PAUL (AP) — The State Board of Education recommended a new school aid formula Monday that would increase the aid bill an estimated $74 million during the next two years.

The board made a slight change in figures proposed by the State Department of Education.

It was estimated that the aids would cost $334.4 million during the next two years under the present formula. This is an increase of $42.6 million over the current two years and makes allowances for increases in enrollment.

The proposed formula would call for a total aid outlay of $365.8 million. Under it the state would pay about 47.8 percent of the maintenance cost of public primary and secondary education, a figure educators believe should be raised to 50 percent.

The present foundation aid program uses $315 as the per pupil cost of an educational program. Aid paid a district is the difference between $315 and the amount a 19 mill tax levy on the equalized value of property will raise.

The formula for districts still receiving basic aid now calls for a payment of $95 per pupil.

The proposed foundation aid formula retains the 19 mill factor but increases the $315 to $330 for the first year of the next biennium and to $336 for the second year.

The board recommended increasing basic aid to $99 per pupil in the first year of the next biennium and to $101 for the second year.

Nurses Proposed For Sick Animals

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Animals will have nurses someday, a Texas veterinarian says.

Dr. Gerald Parker, president of the Texas Veterinary Medical Association, told the group Monday that in 5 to 10 years licensed animal nurses or animal technicians would be used by veterinarians.

Parker said such personnel would be similar to nurses in the medical profession.

HARRIS SURVEY

Views on School Integration

By LOUIS HARRIS

Sharp and dramatic shifts have been taking place in the thinking of American Negroes about education. Most Negroes now believe that solid progress in moving toward integrated schooling has been registered in the past year. They are even more optimistic about the future.

Partly as a result of these beliefs, the rank and file of Negroes now indicate disagreement with a number of the stated aims in education of some civil rights spokesmen. According to a just-completed survey of a national cross-section of American Negroes, a majority is now opposed to busing children to other neighborhoods to achieve school integration. An even larger majority does not approve of school boycotts. As recently as 1963, 5 out of 8 Negroes favored busing.

HOWEVER, THESE results do not mean that Negroes have cut back on their demands and objectives for ultimate integrated education for their children. To the contrary, by better than 6 to 1, Negroes want their children to attend mixed classes in school. The vast majority feels that Negroes do better work when studying alongside white children.

These new findings do imply, however, that most of the Negro community, both North and South, want to pursue a course of responsible pressure to achieve integration in education. Most of all they indicate a desire to realize the benefits of greater freedom rather than to register protest for the sake of protest. In fact, there are real signs today that many Negro parents view the education of their children as a precious and indispensable experience, much as it was to newly arrived immigrant groups of 50 and 100 years ago.

OPPOSITION to the use of school boycotts graphically illustrates the seriousness with which Negroes now take the education of their children. The major reasons cited for opposing the boycott tactics are that it tends to give children a disrespect for education and that Negro children can ill afford to miss even a single day of school.

Negroes report that the quality of the education in their neighborhood schools is improving slowly, but surely. In 1963 Negroes felt schools in their home areas afforded inferior education compared with schools in white neighborhoods. Opinion has now shifted to the point that, by a slim margin, Negroes believe the quality of education their children receive is equal to that received by most whites. The main reason given for this improvement is increased integration in education.

This shift in Negro thinking is dramatically illustrated in the answers to the same question asked in July, 1963, and again in this survey:

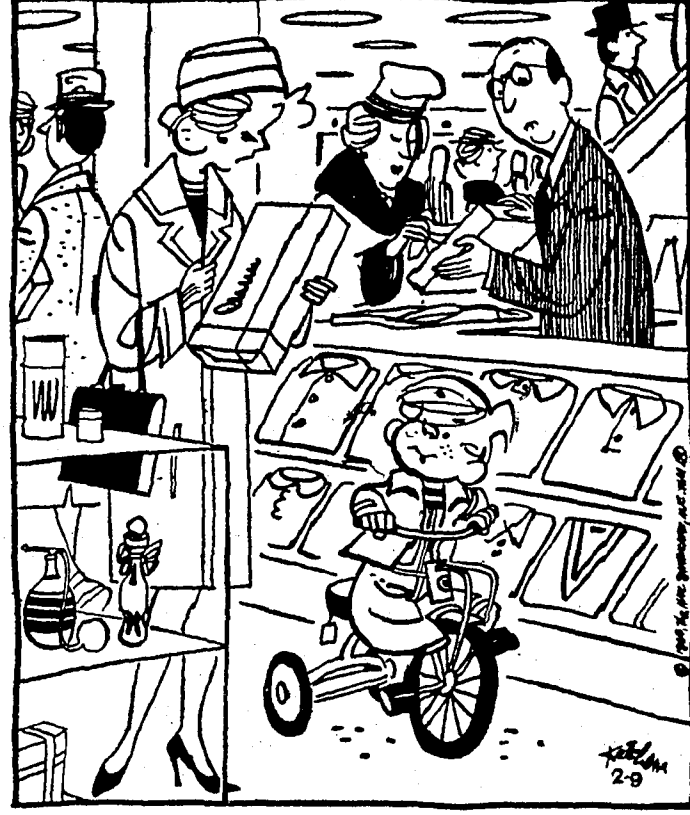

"Because of where they live today, Negro children go to Negro schools and white children to white schools. Would you like children in your family picked up in buses every day so they could go to a school in another part of town with white children, or would that be too hard on the children?"

SCHOOL BUSING

	1965	1963
Prefer busing	35	50
Too hard on children	52	30

However, the desire for integrated education has not abated. Similar cross-sections of Negroes were asked:

"Would you or would you

"I BORROWED IT IN THE TOY DEPARTMENT. I'M TIRED O' WALKIN!"

not like to see all Negro children in your family go to school with white children?"

INTEGRATED EDUCATION

	1965	1963
Go with whites	68	70
Not go with whites	11	10

What is more, Negroes see real advantages for their own children in an integrated education. They were asked:

"Do you feel that Negro children would do better or worse work if they all went to school along with white children today?"

	1965	1963
Negroes will do better work	68	65
Will do worse work	2	3

Despite this deep desire for integration and equality in education, Negroes nonetheless are opposed to use of the school boycott today. The cross-section was asked:

"Do you think it is generally a good idea or a bad idea to conduct school boycotts where children are kept away from school in order to protest the lack of integration in schools?"

Overall, when asked to compare the situation on integrated education today with that two years ago, 46 percent of all Negroes report they feel they are better off; only 1 percent believe regression has taken place.

The remaining 53 percent either

see no change or are not sure.

When asked how they think things will be five years from now, 65 percent feel the cause of integration in schooling will be still improved, with only one percent projecting that things will be worse.

Some Negro leaders have taken

such signs of satisfaction with progress up to now as an indication of growing complacency in the Negro community. They fear that Negroes may be too quick to settle for what has been called only token integration.

Basically, however, what Negroes appear to be saying is that they feel in a small, but significant measure, that the white community has been willing to take first steps toward fulfilling the promise and pledge of national leadership for greater equality, especially in education.

Second Major Airline Crash In Three Days

NEW YORK (AP) — The Eastern Air Lines plane that took 84 persons to apparent death in the Atlantic Ocean off Long Island Monday night was the second major world air disaster in three days, and the worst domestically in a year.

Last Saturday, a Chilean Airlines propeller-driven DC6B crashed into a mountain near Santiago and exploded, killing 87.

The last comparable U.S. disaster came in February last year, when another propeller-driven plane, a Constellation crashed into a hillside near Lake Tahoe, Calif., killing 86. That crash did not involve a scheduled airline.

Primary Date Bill Signed

ST. PAUL (AP) — Gov. Karl Rolvaag has signed a bill changing the date of the Minnesota primary election to avoid conflicts with Labor Day, as occurred last year. Henceforth the primary will be the first Tuesday after the second Monday in September. It will affect only two years in the 20th century.

LBj Urges War on Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson called Monday for a wide-ranging program to preserve and enhance America's beauty.

It included attacks on air and water pollution, more parks and recreational areas, and the elimination of eyesore junkyards along the nation's highways.

In a special message to Congress, Johnson said that while the federal government can do much, a beautiful America will require the effort of government at every level of business and private groups.

"I am hopeful that we can summon such a national effort," Johnson said.

"For we have not chosen to have an ugly America. We have been careless and often neglectful. But now that the danger is clear and the hour is late the people can place themselves in the path of the tide of blight which is often irreversible and always destructive."

Johnson said "we must not only protect the countryside and save it from destruction, we must restore what has been destroyed and salvage the beauty and charm of our cities."

For the cities, he recommended a community extension program which will bring the resources of universities to focus on problems of the community just as they have long been concerned with rural areas.

In addition, under the housing law of 1964, grants will be made to states for training of local governmental employees needed for community development.

Johnson said he will recommend a supplemental appropriation for this purpose.

He cited two programs already on the books which he said can be of special help in creating areas of recreation and beauty for metropolitan area population. The open space land program, and the land and water conservation fund.

In addition to these programs, Johnson said he will ask authority for a fund matching program to cities for landscaping, installation of outdoor lights and benches, creating attractive cityscapes along roads and in business areas, and for other beautification purposes.

He also told Congress he will propose legislation to authorize supplementary grants to local authorities to acquire, develop and manage properties of historical significance.

Johnson said the present system of parks, seashore and recreational areas does not meet the needs of a growing population and that he will propose the use of federal funds to establish:

Assateague Island national seashore in Maryland and Virginia.

Tocks Island national recreation area, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Cape Lookout national sea-

Liquor Store At Odin Robbed

ODIN, Minn. (AP) — Thieves cleared the shelves of the Odin municipal liquor store early Sunday after forcing the front door.

Vernon Meyers, manager, estimated the liquor loss at between $500 and $600 and said the thieves also took $7 in cash and 10 cases of beer.

Police believe several persons took part in the break-in which was carried out despite Odin's brightly lighted new street lights.

Odin, population about 180, is in Watonwan County, about eight miles southwest of St. James.

shore, North Carolina. Sleeping Bear Dunes national lakeshore in Michigan.

Oregon Dunes national seashore, Oregon.

Great Basin National Park, Nevada.

Guadalupe Mountains National Park, Texas.

Spruce Knob, Seneca Rocks national recreation area, West Virginia.

Big Horn Canyon national recreation area, Montana.

Flaming Gorge national recreation area, Utah-Wyoming.

Whiskeytown, Shasta, Trinity recreation area, California.

In addition, Johnson directed Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall to study the desirability of establishing a Redwood National Park in California.

Johnson also recommended that outdoor recreation areas be increased in the national forest system, particularly in the populous East, and asked for an enlargement of the wilderness system.

Saying that strip and surface mining practices have left ugly scars, Johnson asked for support of a nationwide study program provided by the Appalachian regional legislation.

He directed the secretary of commerce to take a series of steps designed to beautify the nation's highways.

Among other things, this program would require landscaping of all federal interstate, primary and urban highways, encouraging the construction of rest and recreation areas along highways, and the preservation of natural beauty adjacent to highway rights-of-way.

He noted that the present highway law permits the use of up to three per cent of all federal aid funds to be used without matching by the states for the preservation of natural beauty.

He also told Congress that he will recommend legislation to insure effective control of billboards along highways.

He said the elimination or screening of unsightly, beauty-destroying junkyards and auto graveyards along highways is urgently needed and he will recommend legislation to this end.

Johnson said the time has come to identify and preserve free-flowing scenic rivers before growth and development "makes the beauty of the unspoiled waterway a memory."

He added that he shortly will send to Congress a bill to establish a national wild rivers system.

House Gives LBJ Say on Aid to Arabs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has abandoned its insistence that the government end sales of surplus food to the United Arab Republic.

Last week the House supported 204 to 177 a Republican move to ban an estimated $37 million in food shipments under an agreement that ends June 30. The Senate, responding to pleas from the administration, voted to leave up to President Johnson whether to carry out the sales.

Monday the House voted 41 to 165 against a Republican effort to instruct House representatives on a joint conference committee to insist on the ban. This means the Senate view will prevail and the restriction will be eliminated in the final legislation.

The House had tacked the amendment onto a $1.6-billion supplemental farm appropriation bill in an effort to snub UAR President Gamal Abdel Nasser. All but $37 million of the $431.8 million in food which the United States had agreed to supply Nasser over a three-year period has already been sent to the UAR. He has told the United States, in effect, to take its aid and "go to hell."

In the original House vote, 74

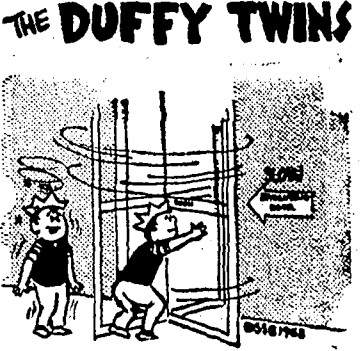

Democrats lined up with the Republicans, disregarding pleas from House leaders that this would tie the President's hands in the conduct of foreign affairs. Monday only 37 Democrats voted with the Republicans.

Only one Republican, Rep. Ogden Reid of New York, switched to the Democratic side. Before his election to the House, Reid served as ambassador to Israel.

Senate and House conferees meet today to work out agreement on these amendments, both opposed by the administration.

asked whether tires that had had to be replaced on the trailers were new when leased. Bohr answered that the tires were missing last October when he made an inspection.
It turned out that Bohr had more than doubled most of his damage estimates on the trailers since giving written answers to Crowder's questions in November.

CROWDER ASKED whether all tires were in place when the trailers were returned to Bohr last month. "And three were flat," Bohr answered. He added that a number of tires were "ragged" inside when he saw them sagging off their rims last August.

Referring to an inspection of the fertilizer equipment made Jan. 22 by parties of both sides in the dispute, Crowder asked, "Now, Mr. Bohr, these applicators appeared in good shape at that time, didn't they?" To which Bohr answered a flat, "No".

JUDGE HATFIELD warned Bohr a second time to answer questions of the lawyers and refrain from making speeches, as Lindquist began redirect examination of his client. The first warning had come last Wednesday.

Lindquist brought out that Bohr had made his written estimate of damages, on request from Crowder in November, at his Arizona home with the aid of notes made on a Minnesota inspection trip in October 1964. Bohr testified that his next look at the fertilizer equipment was taken in January, at the expiration of King Gas's lease.

Arcadia Area Farmer Found Dead in Creek

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special) — John Sopka, 77, was found dead drowned Monday in the creek that runs by his home in Newcomb Valley five miles east of here.

He got a ride home early Sunday morning with Emil Bauth, Arcadia. Bauth said he let him off on Highway 95 at 1:10 a.m. because Sopka said he would walk the rest of the way.

According to Trempealeau County Sheriff Eugene Bijold, Sopka apparently slipped on the bridge — about 20 rods from home — and fell into the three or four feet of water in the stream, which was higher than usual because of thawing Friday and Saturday.

His son, Ralph, operating the home farm, wasn't alarmed when he wasn't home Sunday morning because occasionally he stayed away overnight. When he hadn't returned by Sunday night, however, he notified Edward Kaiser, Arcadia chief of police.

Kaiser called Bijold, who investigated with Maurice Scow, Whitehall, county traffic officer and deputy, and Adolph Rebahn, deputy sheriff at Arcadia. Rebahn, fire chief, secured the services of eight firemen for a searching party.

Scow, Rebahn and Lloyd (Bud) Kostner found the body Monday noon about 700 feet downstream. Trempealeau County Coroner J. E. Garaghan pronounced Sopka dead from drowning.

Mr. Sopka was born July 3, 1888, in the Town of Arcadia to John and Mary Sopka. He married Anna Pierzina Nov. 24, 1913, at St. Stanislaus Catholic Church, Arcadia. He farmed all his life.

Survivors are: His wife; one son, Ralph, on the home farm; one daughter, Mrs. Roman (Helen) Barth, Dodge; nine grandchildren, and two brothers, Martin, Winona, and Albert, Arcadia. One daughter and three brothers have died.
The funeral service will be Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. at St. Stanislaus Church, the Very Rev. Joseph Andrzejewski officiating. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Friends may call after 4 p.m. today at Killian Funeral Home. The Rosary will be recited at 8:15 p.m. by Father Andrzejewski and at 8:45.

Eyota Youth's Taped Speech Wins Contest

EYOTA, Minn. — A 4-H'er who couldn't attend the Olmsted County 4-H speaking contest won the event by submitting his speech on tape.

He is John Clement, 16, Eyota Rt. 1, who was unable to attend because he was competing in a school debate contest. He taped his speech earlier in the week at the extension of office so it could be played back at Saturday's contest. He is a member of the Marion Marchers 4-H Club, a junior at John Marshall High School and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Clement.

Runner-up was Francis Branch, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Branch, Eyota Rt. 1. He is a member of the Eyota Wonder Workers Club.

Judge Approves Default Divorce

Findings for a default divorce were filed in District Court Monday by Clerk Joseph C. Page.

Page filed a finding for divorce of Lucille M. Vickerman, 35, from Vernon A. Vickerman, 45, Utica. The order was granted by Judge Arnold Hatfield on motion of Mrs. Vickerman's attorney, P. S. Johnson.

Vickerman did not appear and did not contest his wife's action. The couple was married at Cannon Falls, Minn., Jan. 7, 1950; they have four children, aged 5 to 14. Mrs. Vickerman receives custody of the children.

Man Sentenced On Check Counts; Others Pending

Rudolph A. Thompson, 41, Winona Rt. 3, pleaded guilty today in municipal court to charges of passing three bad checks in Winona during the past two months.

However, he will not serve the total of 51 days in county jail meted out by Judge John D. McGill. The judge later today agreed to allow Thompson to be transported to Red Wing where he will face a charge of check forgery.

City police made the three misdemeanor complaints against Thompson and had sought him for more than a month before he was apprehended Friday by Sheriff George Fort. However, Sheriff Fort Saturday received a warrant from Goodhue County Sheriff Paul M. Zillig, charging the Winona man with check forgery, a felony.

Thompson was to have served his 51-day sentence at the county jail under provisions of the Huber Act. He is not presently employed, but his attorney William A. Lindquist, hoped to locate a job for Thompson which he would work at days, while spending his nights in jail.

Judge McGill agreed to allow Thompson to serve his sentence under those conditions, making it possible for him to make restitution for the checks he has written recently.

But Thompson now will not serve the Winona jail sentence. He faces a possible penitentiary term if found guilty of forging a signature to an $85 check cashed at Red Wing Nov. 19, 1962.

Airman Asks Return of Money

A Wisconsin Air Force man Monday asked Sheriff George Fort's help in recovering a $20 money order allegedly taken by a Winonan.

A.I.C. William Martin, Camp Douglas, Wis., told the sheriff this story:

He was driving north on U.S. 61 between La Crescent and Winona Sunday at 2 a.m. when he was "stopped" by a Winona man whom he identified. Martin said the Winonan told him he was home on furlough from the services.

Martin told the sheriff Monday that his companion took the $20 money order. The airman didn't say how. He wants the money order back. Sheriff Fort is investigating.

Students Paid In Cafeteria To Need License

A policy providing that the $1 fee for food handlers licenses required under new city code be paid by all student workers in public school cafeterias and lunchrooms who receive payment for their work and by the school district for those who work for meals was adopted Monday night by the Board of Education.

The amendment to the code on food handlers licenses goes into effect next July and will affect the schools' full-time food service employees who work for wages, college students who work part-time in some buildings on a wage basis, students who work in the Senior High School cafeteria who receive a wage plus a meal and those students employed in lunchrooms who only receive a meal.

THE BOARD agreed that all who receive wages should pay the $1 license fee required for their employment. Those who receive only meals will have their license fee furnished by the district.

Directors also voted to authorize students in special education classes at Washington-Kosciusko School to be enrolled in a work program as cafeteria and custodial helpers. The program would be established on an experimental basis for the remainder of this school year.

Wage rates for those in the lunch program would be the same as those paid other student workers and custodial helpers would receive 75 cents an hour.

THE BOARD authorized a change in the milk suppliers' agreement, as provided for at the beginning of the school year, which will have Pleasant Valley Dairy supply Central Elementary School with milk. Winona Milk Co., which has been supplying Central Elementary since the beginning of the school year, was working under an arrangement which provided that Pleasant Valley might become the supplier later in the year.

Tabled by the board Monday was a letter from Maurice D. Godsey, 702 Grand St., suggesting a system for distribution of available basketball tournament tickets for regional and state high school tournaments.

The letter was similar to one sent last year when Godsey volunteered to supervise distribution of tickets allocated on a limited basis to the district on a plan giving top priority to members of the Senior High basketball team and to their parents.

Boating Classes Begin Tonight

The first of a series of classes on safe boating for the amateur will begin at Winona State College tonight.

The free classes, open to the public, will be held at Somsen Hall, Room 323, starting at 7 p.m. each Tuesday. Duration of the course is eight weeks. It is sponsored by the Winona Coast Guard Auxiliary.

Registrations are taken either at the park-recreation department, City Hall, or at the classroom. Coast Guard films will be used and Coast Guard personnel will help conduct some of the classes.

2 Fountain City Crashes Checked; Man in Hospital

FOUNTAIN CITY, Wis. — Within a short time early Monday morning Charles Pehler, Fountain City policeman, was called to two accidents.

He was called at 1:20 a.m. to investigate an accident involving William Storlie, 32, 154 Eligh Forest St., Winona. Storlie said that while driving downriver, he swerved right to avoid a man (Eugene Bugalski) on the road. Storlie hit two guard posts and smashed the back of his car.

RICHARD Zeller, Fountain City, driving by, found Bugalski about 12 feet off the shoulder on the dam parkway and took him to the Community Memorial Hospital, Winona, where he is being treated for a fractured ankle, cuts and bruises.

Zeller was stopped by Winona police as he was taking Bugalski to the hospital and then left for his out-of-town employment. Winona police notified Pehler, who went to the scene and found articles from Bugalski's pockets along the roadside.

Storlie told Pehler he didn't hit Bugalski. He drove into the guard rail about a mile north of the Fountain City dam, Pehler said.

WHILE investigating this accident, Pehler was called to the Gaylord Mueller residence on Fountain Street, old Highway 35, in the south end of the city, to the rear of the Shell service station.

Mueller was awakened when he heard a wrecker outside. Pehler later arrested Michael Thompson, Fountain City, on a hit and run charge.

Calvin Mueller's 1964 model was pushed into the 1956 model belonging to his father, Gaylord. They were parked on the street outside their home. Thompson had gone to the Shell station, where he was employed, for the wrecker and was

Leased Cars For Rural Carriers Urged

The Post Office Department is proposing to provide rural carriers with leased vehicles instead of paying them 12 cents a mile. Assistant Postmaster C. Lewis Wood said today.

Postmaster General John A. Gronouski has announced completion of a study which shows that an ultimate annual saving of between $25 million and $30 million could be realized.

"This is an economy proposal," Gronouski said, "that can help us to carry out President Johnson's mandate to reduce expenditures while maintaining the same high level of service to the American people."

During the last fiscal year, the department spent nearly $70 million to reimburse rural letter carriers for the cost of using their own vehicles as required by law. Here in Winona the cost was $6,702. This expenditure represented payments to more than 31,000 rural carriers who last year traveled some 570 million miles. In Winona three carriers drove 55,848 miles.

The department's 14-month study indicates that vehicles can be leased on a nation-wide basis at a cost of between 6 and 8 cents a mile from the General Services Administration as well as major fleet lessors.

"Not only did the study substantiate dollar savings for the government, but it also revealed relief can be given to some rural carriers who now have out-of-pocket expenses for operating their own car."

Under the proposed program, the rural carrier would periodically have a new car and no longer would be responsible for maintaining or financing it. Legislation would be required. Congress also sets the 12-cent figure.

Legislature to Meet On February Holidays

"How much is that Dart in the window...?"

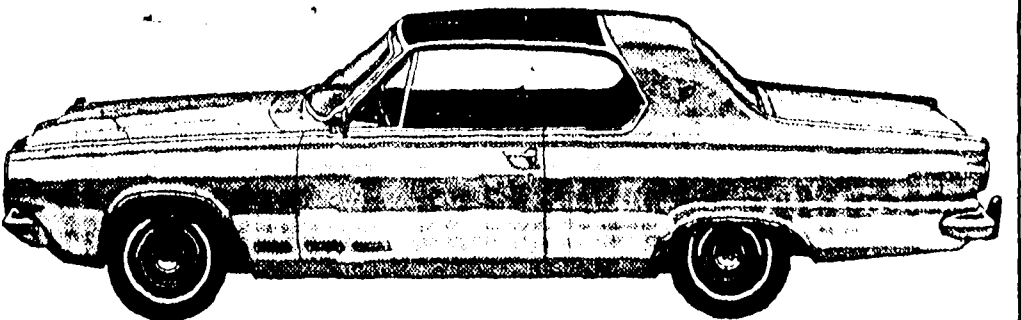

"I just have to give up chasing Dodge Darts... too tiring. For a change, I'd rather ride in one."

"Like that Dart GT... with all-vinyl bucket seats, padded dash, carpeting... the works. It's so sporty I'm sure she'll notice it."

"But I'm not taking any chances."

Don't you take chances either... get a sure thing. Get a Dart.

Dart, the family-size compact. 111-inch wheelbase. Sound big? It is. Big, roomy and comfortable. More trunk space, too. Your choice of economical Sixes or quick V8's. And there's a little compact price in the rear window of every one.

Cobbers Trap Redmen in Overtime Tilt

AFTER 5TH WIN

State Piper

By ROLLIE WUSSOW
Daily News Sports Writer

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Hamline and Winona State, a pair of teams that have been having their problems this year, meet at the Piper fieldhouse here tonight in an 8 o'clock game.

The Warriors, in fifth place in the NIC with a 1-5 record and 4-13 overall, were clobbered in a pair of weekend outings with Moorhead and Bemidji and should loom the favorite tonight mainly because of Hamline's 0-10 MIAC record and 2-16 overall slate.

WARRIOR COACH Robert Campbell, who has had his share of sleepless nights in recent weeks, will once again have trouble fielding a starting lineup.

"I just don't know who will fit where," says Campbell of the situation created when Dave Meisner, the team's leading scorer and Gary Petersen, the top reserve, were sidelined with injuries prior to the northern swing last weekend.

"I don't know how much Meisner's leg has healed up (he had blood poisoning), so I don't know if he'll fit in as a starter, reserve, or not at all again."

"I'M PRETTY sure there'll be some lineup changes," he continued. "But then again, I'm not sure at what spot."

Campbell mentioned several combinations where the switch would take place. If Meisner can play, he would move in place of Tom Stallings. Another possibility could be at a guard, where J. D. Barnette, who did a fine job Saturday against Bemidji, could move in place of slumping captain Dave Goede. Another change could come at center, where freshman Mike Jerecek could fill in for Dave Rosenau.

THAT WOULD make a starting five of Meisner, Jerecek, Barnette and probably Tim Anderson and Jack Kelly at the forwards.

"We had them scouted when they played St. Mary's," says Campbell. "They're a young team, with two freshmen, a couple of juniors and one senior in the starting lineup."

"Their big scorer so far this year is a 6-4 guard by the name of Al Frost. We also know that they're bigger than we are. They run 6-5, 6-6, 6-3, 6-2."

Cards Peddle John Crow for Abe Woodson

ST. LOUIS (AP) — John David Crow, who has charged for a lot of yardage on the football field, figures a step backward occasionally will give a runner enough room to move two steps forward.

He feels the same way about being traded to San Francisco.

Moving from the contending St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League to the last-place 49ers normally is no gain, but Crow feels like he's just scored a touchdown.

The Cardinals traded him Monday to the 49ers in return for defensive cornerback and kickoff return specialist Abe Woodson.

"It's what I had been hoping for," said the injury-plagued Crow, who had threatened to quit football if he was not traded. He felt he did not play enough last season.

Eyes Tilt

and 6-1 down the line." After tonight, the Warriors have only four games left on the season, including two home encounters. The first of the two comes this Saturday night when NIC leader, St. Cloud, comes to Memorial Hall for a 7:30 game.

Dump-the-Leader New Contest in MIAC Cage Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was "dump-the-leaders" night in the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference cage wars Monday night, so:

Previously unbeaten Augsburg got tripped up by St. Thomas 58-50, but still leads the league with a 10-1 mark.

St. Mary's and Gustavus Adolphus, tied for second and hoping to gain on the Auggies, got nipped and wound up in a three-way tie with winning Duluth, all with 7-4 marks.

The Tommies played the gi-

Redmen Take 2nd MIAC Puck Title

For the second consecutive year, the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference hockey trophy has come to rest at Terrace Heights.

The Redmen, although they wouldn't have had to worry, made certain they would get the award by clobbering Concordia's Cobbers 13-2 at Aldrich Arena, St. Paul, Monday night.

THE WIN became unnecessary when Augsburg defeated St. Thomas 6-3 in the second game of a triple-header at Aldrich. The Tommies were the only team with a mathematical chance of catching the Redmen.

The day after the title-clinching game was made part of St. Mary's athletic history, Coach Keith Hanzel cast an eye at the season.

Was it as satisfying as his first?

"I guess it wasn't," he said. "Last year was my first year and we went undefeated. We had to work last year. This year things came easier, but we had that one letdown (a loss to St. John's)."

"IF I WERE to make a statement about our season, it would have to be that we'd like to meet Wisconsin (the Redmen were beaten by the Badgers in their first two outings) again. I hear that more than anything."

With Brian Desbiens, a sophomore from St. Catharines, Ontario, Canada, and Jean Cardin, a freshman from Sorel, Quebec, Canada, accounting for nine of the 13 goals, the hilltoppers skated Concordia off the ice.

Perhaps the most amazing aspect of the game was that St. Mary's connected on 36.1 per cent of its shots — an astronomical figure in hockey.

"(Bob) Paradise set up some beautiful goals and we worked for the open shots and got them," said Hanzel.

IT WAS OVER after a period Monday as Cardin and Desbiens accounted for a pair of goals each to make the score at the end of the period 4-1.

From there it got progressively worse. Cardin and Desbiens scored the first two goals in the second period to run it to 6-1.

St. Mary's now has two games remaining on its schedule. The Redmen meet the Air Force Academy at Rochester's Mayo Civic Auditorium Saturday night before moving over to St. Peter, Minn., to play Gustavus in the finale Tuesday.

Lose Chance to Gain in League

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor

MOORHEAD, Minn. — They decided the St. Mary's - Concordia game in overtime here Monday night — not especially satisfying since the Redmen held a two-point lead and the ball with 15 seconds to play in regulation time and then lost 57-53.

Mike Maloney wheeled up the right side, through the Cobber press and then was called for dribbling the ball out of bounds with 14 seconds left.

Stymied to the right of the lane on the baseline, the Cobbers shoved the ball to Proctor High School product Bob Laney about 13 feet out on the left side and he pushed through a flat jumper to tie it with ten seconds left.

MALONEY WAS fouled by Laney after crossing the time-line and missed the toss with five seconds left.

Rog Pytlewski rebounded, was tied up by Tom Dalen and the Cobber's took possession with two seconds showing. A quick timeout later, they couldn't get off a shot and the contest was in overtime.

St. Mary's drew first blood in the five-minute extra period as Pytlewski rammed home a one-hander from long range on the left side with 3:45 remaining.

Following that, Pytlewski missed a free throw with 3:29 left and Maloney failed to convert a gift shot at 2:41. Jim Lindberg nearly matched that by blowing a free throw at 3:32 and Maloney hit the second of two to run it to 53-50 with 2:02 left.

FROM THERE, Concordia hit first on a short jumper by Dale Carlson and then took the lead at 54-53 with 1:34 remaining on two free throws by Tim Peterson. He scored two more with 14 seconds left and Lindberg tallied on one of two with five seconds showing to run it to the 57-53 final.

The loss, coming on the heels of a 74-64 beating by Gustavus, nearly disintegrated any title chances the Redmen had left. They now rank 7-4 in the conference with five games left. Augsburg, the once-beaten leader, has six games remaining.

The loss, which made St.

Mary's record 15-6 on the year, cost the Redmen a golden opportunity not only to gain on Augsburg, beaten by St. Thomas, but also to take sole possession of second place as Gustavus was beaten by pesky Macalester.

OF THE out-of-bounds violation that cost the Redmen the ball with 15 seconds left, Maloney said: "I really don't know what happened, one minute I was dribbling up the court, the next I was standing out of bounds. George (Valaika) told me I had taken a shove, but I really don't know."

That Maloney was pushed appeared obvious. He progressed smoothly up court, came parallel with a Cobber and suddenly jerked out of bounds.

The overtime period overshadowed a Redmen rally that carried them from eight points back with eight minutes left in the first half to a 27-25 intermission lead.

Trailing 25-19, the next two-minute span brought a big surge. Maloney shoved in a rebound shot and Pytlewski counted on a long jumper from the right side. Jerry Sausser followed with a long-range one-hander and Valaika added a pair of free throws at 18 seconds to make it 27-25.

RETAINING command during most of the second half, St. Mary's was on the long end of a 39-31 score at 10:55 and still led 46-41 with less than seven minutes showing.

Concordia tied it at 2:47 after a jumper by Laney, a free throw by Dalen and a short rebound jumper by Dalen.

From there, Pytlewski pounded in a free throw and Maloney a drive off a pattern against the Cobber man-to-man, which they alternated with a zone.

The host team used a varied zone pattern exclusively in the first half, stayed with it in the second and finally came out when St. Mary's threatened to control the ball with ten minutes left.

"Did you ever see anything like that?" queried Coach Ken Wilgten. "The lead and the ball that late in the game, and then lose. It's unbelievable."

FOR CONCORDIA, Laney, a freshman, wound up with 14 points and Carlson had 12.

St. Mary's got 16 from Maloney, 14 from Pytlewski and 13 from Sausser.

The Redmen made the trip courtesy of Watkins Products, Inc., on the company's DC-3. Leaving Max Conrad Field shortly after 2 p.m., they ate dinner at Moorhead at 5 and left Hooker Field, Fargo, N.D., shortly before 11 p.m., arriving home at 12:30 this morning.

Now the Redmen rest briefly before moving into the new field house for the christening battle against St. Thomas Thursday night.

Four New Faces Move Into Tournery's Top Ten

With tentative low payoff set at 2,808 and with 32 teams left to compete, Dan & Mark's Tavern of Fountain City, Wis., continues to hold its lead in the annual Winona Bowling Association city tournament being rolled at Westgate Bowl.

Four new faces grace the top ten after Monday's two-shift round, however. Offering the most severe challenge to the leader Monday night was a fellow Fountain City team, Kochenderer Oil, which posted 2,899 to take third place behind Dan & Mark's 3,009 and Hotel Winona's 3,002.

BUB'S BEER of the Winona Athletic Club Classic League captured fourth place with 2,985, but will have to survive tonight's two-shift round to hold permanent possession of that spot.

Forging a tenth-place tie were Sportsman's Tap of the Hal-Rod Retail League and Brems Sign of the Westgate Lakeside League with 2,906s.

TOP TEN

Dan & Mark's - FC Men's - FC 3,009	Hotel Winona - City - HR 3,002
Kochenderer Oil - FC Men's FC 2,899	Bubs Beer - Classic AC 2,985
Pozanc Trucking - Classic - WG 2,977	Golden Frog - Classic - AC 2,943
Sam's D.S. - Comm. - HR 2,932	Schultz Beer - Comm. - HR 2,914
Bunke Apco - Legion - HR 2,906	Sportsman's Tap - Retail - HR 2,906
Brems Sign - Lakeside - WG 2,906

Kochenderer Oil, which carried a 374-pin handicap, got 567s from Floyd Kriesel and Charles Keilholtz, 561 from Leo Schollmeier, 489 from Leonard Lettner and 431 from Elmer Schmidtknecht in rolling 2,615 scratch.

The Bub's club, which took fourth, posted a scratch total of 2,707 with a 279-pin handicap behind 625 from Bob Weisbrod, 543 from Dick Speltz, 518 from Phil Bambenek, 516 from Frank Mencil and 505 from Ed Mrozek.

SPORTSMAN'S TAP clipped 2,582 scratch to go with a 324-pin handicap and Brems Sign belted 2,606 scratch and carried 300 pins of handicap.

Individual action Monday night found Weisbrod whipping games of 226, 202 and 197 into the 625 while Jerry Glenszki tripped 182-168-256-606. Bill Ward socked 593 errorless.

Top games, in addition to Glenszki's 256 and Weisbrod's 226, came from Rich Moham with 248, Leo Schollmeier with 245, Si Benson 241, Vic Schwere 241, Charles Keilholtz 235, Paul Wadewitz 234, Clint Kuhlman Jr. 233 and Moham again with 226.

The team event of the tournament concludes tonight with shifts at 6:45 and 8:45 and the doubles and singles competition begins with 6:45 and 8:45 p.m. shifts Wednesday and finishes with a 9 p.m. shift Sunday.

MOORHEAD BASKETBALL COACH Larry MacLeod surpassed his previous high total for victories in one season when his Dragons bopped Bob Campbell's Warriors Friday night.

The Dragons pushed their record to 14-7 with the win over the Warriors.

The best MacLeod had been able to do in his first ten years at the college was a 13-7 record in 1956-57.

Bernie Jaszewski Powders 641 Set

With the city tournament on at Westgate Bowl, the keggers attacked the pins at Hal-Rod Lanes with a vengeance Monday night.

Paving the way was Bernie Jaszewski with 641 for Hamm's Beer. He notched the series in the VFW circuit with games of 212, 224 and 207.

Chris Weitenbach scattered 224 for Blanche's Tavern and Jones & Kroeger and Bunke's APCO split team honors with 971 and 2,825.

In the City loop, Robert Jandt's 256 game paced Country Kitchen to 1,018-2,826 with Adolph Schreiber stalling 208-202-223-633 errorless for Oasis Bar. Jack Swensen rattled 620.

HAL-ROD LANES: Park-Ree, Jr. Girls — Debby Kaehler's

137-262 paced All-Stars to 714. Alley Oops tipped 1,375.

RED MEN'S CLUB: Monday night — Fred Brust of Bub's and George Wenzel of Sunbeam led their respective teams to 901 and 2,602 with 445 series. Lloyd Fegre of Doerer's spilled 170.

WINONA AC: Monday — Ted Bambenek shattered 223-572 to prod East End Coal Co. to 2,811. First National Bank scored 1,005.

Go-Getters — Gen Chuchna of Graham & McGuire socked 200-480 while E.B.'s Corner was racking 898-2,576.

Nite Owl — Orville Cisewski paced Dick's Marine, which cracked 747-2,096, with 186-493.

Wabasha School Board President Resigns Office

WABASHA, Minn. (Special) — A member of the Wabasha school board since 1959 resigned at the meeting Monday night.

Howard Holmgren, 44, transferred to Lake City Nov. 15 as district representative of Northern States Power Co. plans to move his wife and five children there March 6. He has been president of the board since 1961.

HE HAS been replaced on the board by John Dankwart, Wabasha, who operates a feed and elevator business at Kellogg. Dankwart will serve Holmgren's unexpired term, ending July 1. A school board election will be held in May.

Gifford Arntson, Sr. was elected board president.

Holmgren was elected citizen of the year for 1963 in the Red Wing division of NSP. He served on the board during the consolidation of Kellogg district and the Cook's Valley area with Wabasha. The addition to the Wabasha School and the new elementary building at Kellogg, constructed in 1962 and 1963 at a cost of $625,000, were done during his term of office.

He is past commander of Wabasha American Legion Post 50; was master of Wabasha Lodge 14, A.F. & A.M.; was assistant Scoutmaster five years and scoutmaster three years and will resign at the court of honor tonight; was 1st District Legionville chairman; school patrol chairman; served on the park board seven years, and was deacon in the United Church of Christ congregation and served on the liaison committee.

DANKWART, who is 44 today, is a World War II veteran; member of the American Legion and Burkhardt - Roemer VFW post; was alderman two years; belongs to the Farm Bureau, and is married and has two children.

The school board Monday night accepted the resignation of Larry Pontinen, sixth grade teacher at the Kellogg School, and will consider the teacher salary schedule at the March 8 meeting. All other teachers have been hired for next year.

There are about 50 species of garfish, sometimes called needlefish or billfish. Found in warm waters, they are fast swimmers and some are six feet long.

Cochrane Crash Victim Discharged From City Hospital

COCHRANE, Wis. — Harold V. Nystrom, Cochrane, was discharged from Community Memorial Hospital, Winona, Monday and is recuperating from injuries received in a car accident a week ago.

His vehicle slipped on Highway 10 between Ellsworth and Prescott, Pierce County, and hit a bridge, according to a report. The vehicle was badly damaged.

Senate Group May Consider Bond Bill Soon

Winona's request for legislative authorization to issue $5.98 million in bonds to finance construction of a new Senior High School and a building to house the Winona Area Vocational-Technical School may come up for hearing by the Minnesota Legislature's Senate education committee within the week.

Members of the Board of Education were advised Monday night. Superintendent of Schools A. L. Nelson said that he had been informed by county Sen. Roger Laufenburger, Lewiston, that there was a possibility that the committee might consider the bill sometime later this week.

No date has been set for a similar hearing in the state House. A Winona delegation plans to attend the committee sessions when the bond authorization bill is called for hearing.

The school board, meanwhile, was told by its clerk and business manager, Paul W. Sanders, Monday that several more letters had been received during the past week from Winona organizations endorsing the proposed school building program.

The newest additions to the file were letters from the Chautauque Club, Winona Ministerial Association, Kiwanis and Lions clubs and Jefferson PTA.

More than a score of Winona business, professional, service, civic and educational groups and individuals have now sent letters to the board giving notice that they have given or record formally in support of the building program.

The board of education has written letters to organizations inviting endorsements.

Committee Set On Insurance

A committee was named Monday night to review applications of insurance agents wishing to participate in public schools insurance business for the next year.

Most of the insurance on the public schools will be up for renewal April 1 and for the past five years the Board of Education has followed a policy which provides that insurance is written by Winona Insurance Agency, which receives 30 percent of the commissions, with other approved participating agents sharing the remaining 70 percent.

Allocation is scheduled for the March meeting and board President Lawrence Santelman appointed 1st Ward Director Ray Gorsuch and Frank J. Allen, 3rd Ward, to a committee which will review applications of prospective participants and submit a recommendation on allocation to the board.

Payrolls approved for payment: Homebound teachers, $933; substitute teachers, $787; miscellaneous work in instruction, clerical, custodial and audiovisual areas, $1,721; cafeteria supervisors, $737; student cafeteria workers, $235, and custodial work, $267.

Overtime payments to custodians amounting to $770 also were approved for payment.

Buffalo Co. Board To Meet on Tuesday

ALMA, Wis. (Special) — The Buffalo County Board of Supervisors will meet next Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. to receive the annual reports of officers and departments for the year. Ed Senelbach, Waumandee, board chairman, will preside.

The steel group was a pacesetter. Aircrafts were a bit higher. Oils and electronics were other buying factors.

Strength came to steels as the United Steelworkers batted in the climax of a lively contest for the top union offices. Wall Streeters said investors apparently felt David J. McDonald, USW president, would win reelection.

Aircrafts and aerospace issues were attracting attention at least partly because of the news from Viet Nam. Analysts said it focused favorable thinking on prospects of these stocks.

The market moved upwards almost immediately after the opening and then leveled off a bit toward noon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .8 at 336.5, with industrials up 1.4, rails off .1 and utilities up .6.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was 2.30 higher at 900.19 after a gain that at one point reached 3.44.

The motors, utilities, chemicals and metals were mostly higher but with occasional backsliders. The rails were mixed and the tobacco were mostly lower.

Prices were higher in active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

U.S. treasury bonds continued to move higher. Corporate bond prices were mixed.

Record Traffic Marks Year for North Central

Record traffic and performance highlighted the year for North Central Airlines, which serves Winona, as the Minneapolis - St. Paul-based carrier continued its program of equipment modernization and service improvement.

The airline carried a record 1,353,301 passengers in 1964, an 11 percent gain over last year. On Dec. 11 the company became the first regional carrier to board 10 million passengers.

A new daily record was set Dec. 18 when 5,454 passengers were carried. In August North Central set a new monthly record for the regional industry, with 136,973 passengers.

PASSENGER miles flown in 1964 totaled 230,232,714, a gain of 13 percent over 1963. Freight showed a 31 percent increase in 1964, with 14,064,515 pounds carried.

In 1964, the airline also achieved an outstanding operating performance record. The company flew 99 percent of its 14,409,822 scheduled miles, and 85 percent of its 169,305 scheduled arrivals were on time.

The National Safety Council's Award of Honor was presented to North Central in 1964 for having no fatal accidents during the previous year, and an accident rate lower than the average for its group in the preceding three years.

DURING THE 17 years of its operation, the airline has maintained a perfect safety record. The company has carried over ten million passengers and flown 1,645,000,000 passenger miles without a single fatality or injury to passengers or crew members.

In line with its equipment modernization program, the company purchased five more pressurized Convair 440 aircraft during the year, bringing the fleet to 23 Convairs and 19 DC-3's.
