OAS Votes Inter-American Force to Police Dominicans

De Gaulle Asks U.S. to Leave Dominicans

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle today voiced his disapproval of American military intervention in the Dominican Republic and called for withdrawal of the U.S. forces.

A spokesman for the French Cabinet said De Gaulle took this position during a Cabinet meeting.

France Tuesday made known its disapproval of American action in the Dominican Republic through a statement at the United Nations Security Council. U.N. Ambassador Roger Seydoux called for rapid withdrawal of American forces there.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Organization of American States made a historic break from tradition early today and American military force in the Dominican Republic.

The force will include some of the approximately 20,000 U.S. Marines and paratroopers already patrolling the Dominican capital of Santo Domingo.

As other nations contribute to the joint force, part of the U.S. contingent will be withdrawn, Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. ambassador to the OAS, told the American nations. He said he was speaking on the authorization of President Johnson, who had been urging since last week that an inter-American military force be set up in the riot-torn Caribbean republic.

Paraguay and Venezuela announced they were ready to contribute military units to the new force. Costa Rica, which has no regular army, offered police units. Argentina and Brazil, it was indicated, also are considering sending military forces.

There was no indication on the total forces the other hemisphere nations might contribute, nor the date of their probable arrival in the Dominican Republic.

The vote was a departure from the OAS tradition of non-intervention in the Western Hemisphere. Never before had such a joint force of American nations been created formally to go into a country beset by internal turmoil, although various nations contributed military assistance during the Cuban missile crisis in the fall of 1962.

The purpose of the joint force, the OAS declared, is to establish "a climate of peace and conciliation permitting the functioning of democratic institutions" in the Dominican Republic.

The OAS action came on the heels of these U.S.-Dominican developments:

—U.S. government sources made public a list of 58 alleged Communists and Castroites who it said were involved in the Communist bid to take control of the Dominican Republic.

—A State Department spokesman, commenting on the reported installation of rebel Col. Francisco Caamaño Deno as president of the Dominican Republic, said the United States feels "there is no effective government at the present time" in the riot-torn Caribbean nation.

—President Johnson conferred at the White House with former Gov. Luis Munoz Marin

Jets Smash Red Base

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force jets smashed a North Vietnamese ammunition complex today and claimed "spectacular results."

A spokesman said four underground ammunition bunkers blew up after direct hits and four others were left burning.

On the political front, South Viet Nam's Armed Forces Council dissolved itself, ending 18 months of military control of the civilian government. The development strengthened Premier Phan Huy Quat's hand.

A task force of transport planes continued to shuttle the 3,500 men of the U.S. Army's 173rd Airborne Brigade from Okinawa to South Viet Nam. Reports circulated that the landing of another large group of U.S. Marines was imminent.

In the raid north across the 17th Parallel, 25 F105 jet fighters dumped 80 tons of bombs on the Phu Van ammunition complex, 125 miles southwest of Hanoi.

A U.S. military spokesman said towering black clouds of smoke were rising from the area as the jet pilots broke off their 45-minute attack. All returned home safely.

Flying in the first day of perfect weather in almost a week, the Air Force pilots hit the eight ammunition bunkers and also destroyed five out of six buildings in the complex.

Rain and low clouds had hampered pilots on recent raids and forced cancellation of two strikes.

A U.S. military spokesman said three American servicemen were wounded Wednesday.

Two Army helicopter crewmen were hit during a government operation near Da Nang airbase, and an Air Force enlisted man was slightly wounded during a mission to apply defoliation spray along a road. All three were released after treatment.

The spokesman said Viet Cong guerrilla attacks in South Viet Nam continue to increase and "a rather substantial number" were reported in the 24 hours ending Thursday morning.

Five Viet Cong attacks were reported Wednesday, with three ending in victories for the Reds. The Communists also fought it out with government soldiers in Darlac Province, killing 14 and losing only three known dead.

The brief ceremony dissolving the Armed Forces Council was held in Quat's office.

Daylight Saving Issue Back In Legislature

ST. PAUL (AP) — The House General Legislation Committee may take up for discussion today one of several daylight saving time bills in its possession.

While there appeared to be little sentiment among legislators to revive the fast time battles of earlier in the session, most lawmakers were more concerned with ending the session on time. After this week, there will remain only two weeks before the May 22 bill-passing deadline.

Strong pressure was being exerted on legislators from Twin Cities residents and civic leaders for an extension of fast time in Minnesota.

Despite the pressure, Sen. John Zwach of Walnut Grove, the majority leader, said "the Senate is determined to finish on time." He said the legislature's remaining work load was the heaviest in state history but "through long hours of hard work, things are shaping up."

Zwach said Senate committees are being urged to end their sessions so the full Senate can put in more time on floor debate.

Major appropriation bills should begin to reach the Senate floor next week from the House, he said, where the tax committee must originate revenue raising bills.

More liquor bills got the ax in committees Wednesday.

The House Liquor Committee tabled 11 bills which would have allowed as many communities to keep their off-sale municipal liquor stores but shift on-sale liquor to private licensees.

The Senate Liquor Committee laid over a controversial proposal to let cities have both private and municipal liquor outlets. In both cases, the delay in positive action likely means the end of the proposals for the session.

The House Education Committee rubber-stamped its subcommittee recommendations on school aids and sent the figures to the appropriations committee for inclusion in the $500 million-plus education money bill.

The Senate passed a highway wage bill over strong rural objections, voting 38-26 to send it to the governor. The bill requires contractors on county federal aid roads to pay the same wage scale as on nearby state highway jobs.

Titan 3A Will Try Space Tests

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A Titan 3A rocket blasted off today in an effort to execute a series of orbit-changing space acrobatics and to release two satellites.

The 124-foot-tall booster roared aloft on the most complex assignment ever given a U.S. rocket. The maneuvers must be perfected for future manned and unmanned military space missions.

The third stage, called a transtage, was to fire into a circular orbit 115 miles high as a flying launch platform. Packed in its nose were an 80-pound experimental communications satellite and a 75-pound sphere designed to help calibrate radars and radio systems in America's worldwide satellite tracking network.

After one 90-minute circuit of the globe in the initial orbit, the transtage was to re-start its engines and swing into an elliptical path ranging from 115 to 1,725 miles high.

When the transtage reached the high point of the egg-shaped orbit the second time, planned for 4 hours 24 minutes after launching, a third ignition was to circularize the course at 1,725 miles and the two satellites were to be kicked free.

The communications satellite carried a small motor which was to ignite to push it into a course reaching out to more than 11,000 miles. The satellite was to check long-life materials and techniques for future military communications satellites.

After 6 hours 54 minutes of flight, the transtage was to attempt an unprecedented fourth origin to again shift its orbit to one ranging from 1,725 miles to 2,300 miles. The Air Force gave this experiment a 50-50 chance of success.

Dr. Sheppard To Fight Return to Jail

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Attorney F. Lee Bailey, determined to keep Dr. Sam Sheppard out of Ohio Penitentiary, thinks the case will end up in the U.S. Supreme Court.

Bailey planned to arrive here today from Boston and confer immediately with Sheppard, then with two attorneys helping him on the case.

Sheppard's long fight for permanent freedom was set back when the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati Wednesday ordered him back to prison. The vote was 2-1.

"I was somewhat surprised," Bailey said in Boston. "I thought one of the judges might go against us, but never two. I think there is a chance for a rehearing."

Bailey said "The case has got to end up in the U.S. Supreme Court."

$700 Million Grant Ready

House OKs Funds, Senate Votes Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate moves today toward sweeping passage of a $700-million arms fund bill that in President Johnson's view will constitute a vote of confidence in his Viet Nam policies.

The measure whizzed through the House Wednesday. Passage on a 408-7 vote came after less than two hours' debate.

In a special message to Capitol Hill on Tuesday, Johnson asked Congress "to appropriate at the earliest possible moment an additional $700 million to meet mounting military requirements in Viet Nam."

He told the Senate and House he was asking "for prompt support of our basic course: Resistance to aggression, moderation in the use of power and a constant search for peace."

"Nothing will do more to strengthen your country in the world than the proof of national unity which an overwhelming vote for this appropriation will clearly show. To deny and delay this means to deny and to delay the fullest support of the American people and the American Congress to those brave men who are risking their lives for freedom in Viet Nam."

can people and the American Congress to those brave men who are risking their lives for freedom in Viet Nam."

Wednesday, Speaker John W. McCormack said House passage of the military money bill "is an indication to the whole world that the people are behind our President, not a Democratic or Republican President, but our President."

Seven House Democrats voted against the bill. They were Reps. George E. Brown Jr., Philip Burton and Don Edwards of California; John Conyers Jr. of Michigan; John G. Dow and William F. Ryan of New York; and Edith Green of Oregon.

In requesting the $700 million, Johnson told Congress, "I cannot guarantee this will be the last request." The Defense Department budget already is running around $50 billion a year. The additional money will be used for ammunition, replacement of lost aircraft, maintenance of planes and construction of warehouses and oil storage facilities.

Rebels Threaten to Fire on Americans

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The leader of the Dominican rebels says any U.S. troops entering the rebel zone will be fired on as violators of the cease-fire agreement negotiated by an Organization of American States peace commission.

Col. Francisco Caamaño Deno said his men captured one U.S. Marine Wednesday when an American jeep blundered into the rebel sector of Santo Domingo. Heavy firing broke out, and Caamaño said the other three American servicemen in the jeep fled on foot. He said one was wounded.

A U.S. official said the patrol took a wrong turn and entered the rebel zone by mistake.

American officials announced that four U.S. servicemen were wounded Wednesday in other firing in Santo Domingo. This brought the total of American casualties in the Dominican crisis to 6 dead, 1 missing and 50 wounded.

Caamaño warned earlier that the U.S. forces could bring on "a massacre" by moving into the insurgent zone.

A U.S. spokesman replied: "We have sent word to Caamaño that we reserve the right to effect any moves necessary in the implementation of our mission in the Dominican Republic."

The spokesman added that "U.S. soldiers have received strict orders not to leave the international security zone." But he said that occasionally a patrol may go one or two blocks beyond the zone "because of snipers operating nearby who might be difficult to get at."

Showdown in Senate on New Vote Law Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — A showdown loomed in the Senate today on a Southern effort to pull some teeth from the voting rights bill.

Scheduled for a vote is a move by Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., to strike provisions that would automatically authorize federal registration of voters in much of the South.

Instead, federal courts would authorize appointment of federal registrars — but only in a specific area and only after the government proved Negroes were encountering discrimination in trying to vote.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen had announced plans to try to end debate on the bill when the Senate agreed unanimously Wednesday to vote on Ervin's key amendment.

Houston Area Suffers

HOUSTON, Minn. (Special)—Several farmsteads were wiped out in the Houston area when one of the several funnels dropped down on the quiet little town which, as one man said, has had a bad two years.

Drought, freezing, flood and now wind have swooped down on it.

The complete set of farm buildings on the ALDIS GORDON place was flattened and a 40-passenger school bus was demolished. Gordon is custodian and driver for Houston school.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon and daughter miraculously weren't injured and crawled out of the debris. There was no time to get to the basement.

Across from the Gordons a mile west of town on the old road, nothing was left standing on the VINCENT POPPE turkey farm. This morning white turkeys were running everywhere. The wind took big wheels off tractors and left machinery and buildings in a twisted mess. The storm soared over a hill from the southwest and onto these places on its way northeasterly along the edge of town en route to Looney Valley.

It hit the car lots of BUD JOHNSON and LEONARD TRACY, where buildings were demolished and cars tipped over.

For some time, Alfred Elleson and Hjalmer Schipstead, who live in a small house in the car lot area, were lost. Their home was lifted off them. Elleson landed in a slough, Schipstead in a field. Although borne by the wind and dropped, they weren't hurt. Later they were found downtown.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Simonson and daughter heard the storm coming, like trains roaring by or jet planes overhead. They dashed from their trailer toward their driveway at the east end of town.

"We lay down on the floor, and all we could do was just pray," Mrs. Simonson said.

The wind took the trailer and set it on the driveway. The family crawled out, uninjured.

GEORGE KELLY and ELMER BIRKELAND, farmers east of town, had some losses.

All that's left on the farm of NORMAN PETERSON and his sister, Erna, in Looney Valley is the house and granary. Dead stock in the barn rubble still was there this morning. One animal was dead in the barnyard, another couldn't get out, apparently it had a broken leg.

Norman's brother, Fred, nearby, lost barn and stock.

An 8-room modern brick residence on the JEROY LARSON farm was sheared off and other buildings taken.

"You wouldn't know there'd ever been any building on the place," someone said.

This Boy Really Evacuates

What does a 7-year-old boy do when tornado warnings come?

While his father was routing everyone from the second floor to the ground floor, this particular boy was making preparations without being told.

When his father returned, he discovered much to his amazement that his son was holding a neat pile of his personal possessions: Winter cap with an undershirt rolled in it; folded jeans and baseball jacket; a pair of shoes with a pair of socks, small wax rabbit (Easter present) and a pencil stuffed in them, and a school book entitled, "Down the River Road."

He was holding his empty lantern savings bank between his teeth and asking, "Where do we go? Down in the basement?"

Strong Winds Miss Buffalo, Trempealeau

Storm warnings were out for sections of Buffalo County Wednesday night but predicted tornadoes skipped over the area.

Heavy rain hit the Fountain City area about 8 p.m. Rain continued at times through the night.

No heavy storms were reported in Trempealeau County. Heavy hail, rain and electrical storms hit north of Elvea about 11 p.m. and midnight but apparently did no damage.

Tornadoes Hit Other Areas In Minnesota

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tornadoes roared down on some two dozen communities in Minnesota Wednesday night, damaging farm property heavily. There were only scattered reports of light injuries to citizens.

The twisters dealt heavy damage to at least eight farms in the Parkers Prairie region, in northwestern Minnesota, and to farms and lake cabins near New York Mills, Euclid, Detroit Lakes, Frazee, Alexandria, Urbank, Brainerd, Sauk Centre, Rushford, Fremont, Dresbach, Houston, Le Roy, Lowry and Harmony.

At Parkers Prairie, Terry Zimmerman, 8, was in the barn when the twister hit the area. It came down to the ground 100 feet away, but the child walked away unhurt.

Buildings on the Altman and Ost farms also were destroyed.

Herman Carter, near Parkers Prairie, lost a barn in a fire a year ago and built a new one. It was heavily damaged Wednesday, only a few upright pieces of siding remaining.

Some cattle on the John Kalina farm near Lowry were injured by flying debris and had to be destroyed.

At New York Mills a twister caused damage to several farm buildings and cut a zig-zag swath 3 feet wide and about 100 feet long on one farm. It also tore up a section of new roadway.

The Dean Hamlin farm north of Le Roy had damaged farm buildings and to the farmhouse in a southeastern Minnesota twister. The family of four, however, escaped uninjured.

Some recreational property and cabins on Lake Darling, near Alexandria, were destroyed by a twister around 6 p.m.

Light damage was reported near Big Pelican Lake near Brainerd by another twister.

At Urbank, the farm of Florian Revereing was hit by a twister and several farm buildings and the farmhouse were heavily damaged.

Hail and rain struck many areas briefly before and during the windstorms. At Rochester, hailstones nearly one inch in size pelted a wide area before twisters moved into the region.

Some damage from tornadoes was reported Wednesday in North Dakota. One twister reportedly struck west of Fargo in the Cassellon-Chaffee area, and another reportedly touched

Some Sandbagger Checks Ready From Recorder

Paychecks are now ready at the city recorder's office for all flood workers except those assigned to Crooked Slough and Prairie Island dikes.

Workers at these two locations constitute a major part of the labor force and will be paid later. Checks still are being processed for these areas, said John Carter, recorder. Payment dates will be announced.

The recorder's City Hall office will be open until 6 p.m. today through Saturday.

Dike workers employed by the city are paid $1.50 an hour. Carter said $95,000 would be a conservative estimate of total amounts to be paid.

$75 Added To Fund

The City of Winona Flood Fund now stands at $12,518.70, an increase of $75 from Wednesday's figure.

Most of this money has already been turned over to the city to help it meet its immediate flood-control expenses. The rest will be given the city periodically as it comes in.

LBJ Expects Kicks, But He Won't Duck

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, talking about a policy of firmness Tuesday night during a walking news conference, said:

"When you tremble and you buck and duck and you dodge and you shimmy, every man and his dog gives you a kick. I expect to get kicked but I don't expect to duck."

ground southwest of Bismarck, near Lark.

There were no reported injuries, but some farm property was damaged.

How It Happened

The City's Big Tornado Scare

Civil Defense (CD) and city and county police forces were alerted Wednesday night in the face of possible tornado warnings relayed to Winona by the Minnesota Highway Patrol.

CD Director George K. McGuire said that he and Communications Chief Roy Evett decided to come downtown to City Hall to be available on standby about 8:15 p.m. (CD hospital, transportation and citizens band radio units were alerted to be ready for action.

SHERIFF George L. Fort issued warnings to city and county residents to take cover in their basements and warned motorists to stay off roads after he received reports of a tornado touching down south of Fremont and apparently headed for Winona.

City police warned six gatherings in Winona about the danger of a severe windstorm coming into Winona but left it up to the individuals involved to cut short their meetings or work.

CD Director McGuire said today that he and Evett, along with city police, kept abreast of the weather warnings issued by Rochester and La Crosse weather bureaus.

EVETT SAID that he and his men set up communications in the CD headquarters at City Hall which had functioned more than two weeks during the recent flood emergency. Jim Neeck and Larry Peterson were standing by at City Hall with mobile units, and 12 mobile units and two radio-equipped trucks in all were available for use, Evett said today.

It was the Rochester Weather Bureau that warned Winona of "high winds and hail and possible tornadoes," McGuire said. Police Chief James W. McCabe was informed of the possible danger but decided not to come downtown unless the situation worsened.

Sheriff Fort said that he got word around 8 p.m. of the wind damage near Fremont. Later heard a report of a tornado near Lewiston.

On the basis of reports from the Weather Bureau relayed through the Minnesota Highway Patrol, he issued a warning at 8:20 p.m. to all county residents to take cover and to motorists to avoid, if possible, driving out into the storm area. The warning was carried over KWNO radio.

City police relayed the tornado alert about 8:30 p.m. to meetings at Cotter High School, Lake Lodge, City Hall and the First Church of Christ, Scientist, and to a choir concert at Winona Senior High School and workers at Ray State Milling Co.

The Boy Scouts at Cotter, the Take Off Pounds Slightly group at City Hall, and the worshipers at the church all decided to cut short their meetings and go home. The meeting of the Hiawatha Valley Bird Club at Lake Lodge broke up a little early after getting a warning about 9 p.m.

Some members of the audience at the WSHS choir concert went home early, but the concert continued, ending about 9:15 p.m. Workers at Ray State were kept on the job.

At 9:13 KWNO carried another report from the Rochester Weather Bureau that the first violent storm had passed to the south of Winona but that two more were headed for the city and would arrive in 20 to 40 minutes. The station put a man on Garvin Heights to watch for funnels and several times he reported he hadn't seen a funnel "yet."

McGUIRE said that he set up a "take cover" procedure to warn people if a tornado was spotted sweeping into the city. If a funnel had approached, the siren on top of City Hall would have sounded a 2½-minute wailing note.

This measure never became necessary, McGuire said.

He and Evett went home about midnight when it appeared that Winona was out of danger, McGuire said. The CD set-up had been on standby for less than four hours.

Sheriff Fort said today that the tornado which touched down near Fremont, flattening eight farm buildings, apparently passed off to the south of Winona, missing the city by about five miles.

The sheriff said that the storm apparently passed through the county around Rushford. The buildings demolished were on the Cyrus and David Agrimson farms, four miles south of Fremont, the sheriff said.

HIS CAR was out in the county during the storm and investigated the report of funnels near Fremont and Lewiston. No one was injured, and no livestock was hurt on the Agrimson farms, the sheriff said.

The farm homes were not touched, he added. "It was tornado winds all right. They were powerful," Sheriff Fort said.

He had received no other confirmed reports of damage in the county by mid morning today, the sheriff said.

The sheriff gave the word to Winonans about 11 p.m. that the danger was over and that they could come out of their basements if they had taken cover there.

It Happened Last Night Who Says All Lawyers Bad?

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Who says lawyers are all bad? They are so often condemned by the glib and careless that I take time out today to applaud Aaron R. Froesch, attorney for Liz Taylor, Richard Burton, Rex Harrison and others, for a good deed he probably wouldn't admit.

He's executor of Marilyn Monroe's will. He'd hoped the beneficiaries would be paid long before this. But they haven't been. Attorney Froesch — so I'm told by others — has been personally providing for Marilyn's mother, Mrs. Gladys Baker, patient in a mental institution since Marilyn's death, without any guarantee that he'll ever be repaid — and it's now going on three years.

Tina Louise, who has the prettiest feet in town — and they're large, too — danced barefoot at the Kirby Stone Forum with Les Crane, who kept his shoes on. Susan Strasberg's moving to Hollywood to get a house with a pool "and learn to drive a car." It looks like Diahann Carroll vs. Leslie Uggams for the lead in Otto Preminger's "Hurry Sundown" movie. I asked Leslie at the Ed Sullivan show what songs the Rolling Stones had sung. "I didn't recognize any of them," she said. "B Day" at Ed Sullivan's studio at B'way and 53d will be Saturday Aug. 14 when the Beatles do a taping, to be aired during the fall. Busti Zahara, the bellydancer who's a size 40, a miniature Jayne Mansfield, was asked to pose for Playboy — but insisted that her boyfriend take the pictures.

JOE E. LEWIS learned a great lesson as a schoolboy. His teacher put a worm in a glass of whiskey. The worm died. "I learned then," says Joe, "if you drink, you don't get worms." Joey Bishop reports that he heard on the radio that LBJ'd declared war on the Klan and promptly asked Frank Sinatra, "What do we do?" He says Frank replied, "Cool it. For a few weeks, don't call me 'Imperial Wizard.'" Secret Stuff: A famous producer was ordered off the set by a temperamental foreign director. "Get out. I hate your face!" Eddie Fisher may get rich yet. His new deal at the Las Vegas Riviera starting May 17 gives him 27% ownership. Another B'way star's rumored divorcing to marry his leading lady, but insiders think he'll go back home like Robert Preston did.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Bob Orben saw that TV'er, "Peyton Place," and notes: "If you want to get the full effect, watch it through a keyhole." WISH I'D SAID THAT: Some people are glad to call a spade a spade — till they stumble over it in the dark. — Charles B. Vaughn.

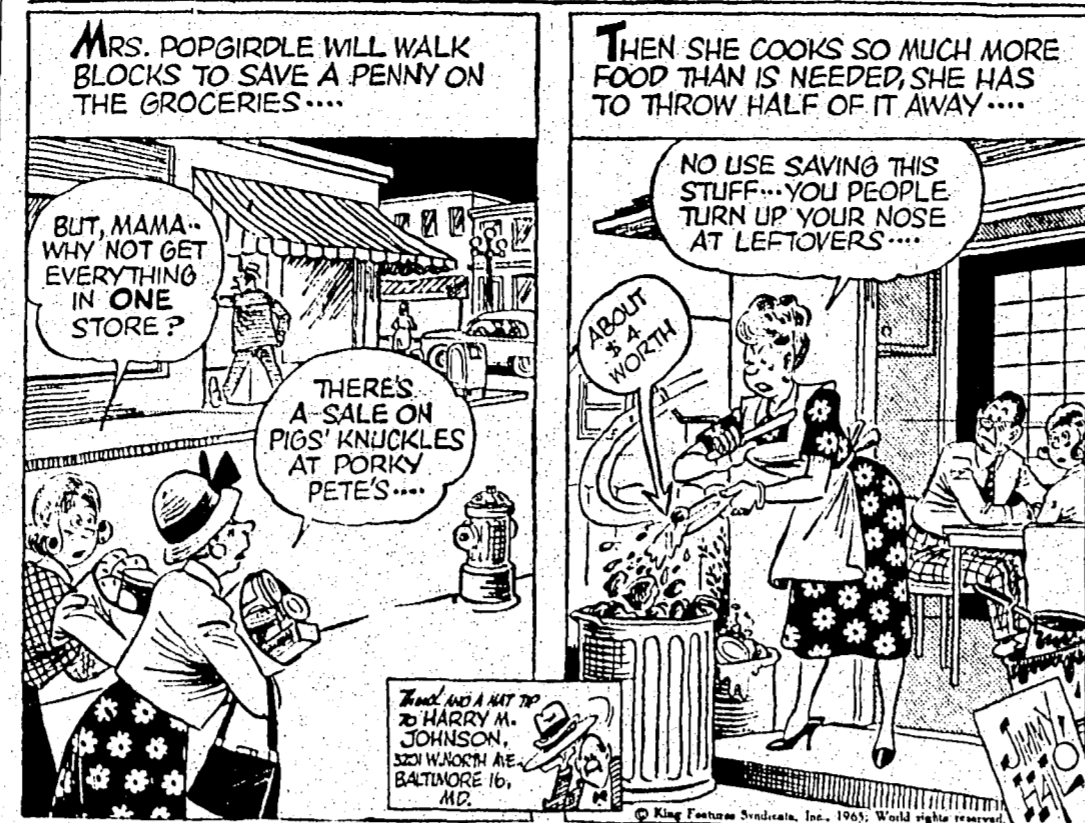

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Nature wisely gave us 12 years to develop a love for our children, before turning them into teenagers." — Eugene P. Bertin.

They'll Do It Every Time

Wisconsin Trout Opening Unless flooding rains should fall, Wisconsin trout fishermen will find most of the creeks in nearby Western Wisconsin in good fishable condition when that state's trout season opens just after midnight Friday.

Although scenes like the above one will not be possible, since it is too dark to shoot pictures, fishermen will probably stumble around in the dark and the early dawn light to get fish like those shown in the above picture, taken on the North Branch of the White-water a week ago. The actual scene is the Fairwater Bridge, just after noon last Saturday.

Pressure on nearby Buffalo and Trempealeau county streams, of course, is not as heavy as on the Whitewater. There are no large nearby cities like Rochester and Winona to send their fishermen to their streams. However, there will be shoulder-to-shoulder fishing on some of Jackson County and Vernon County waters. Fishermen will catch more brook trout than Minnesota fishermen did during their opening.

Where Are the Fish? Here are a few tips on where to find fish after a big flood. They come from fishing experts of a large outdoor corporation. We feel they are worth passing along.

It's important to understand what occurs when fish suddenly find unlimited roaming room. To cope with this situation, the fishing experts offer an explanation and some advice:

The flat lands bordering lakes are quickly flooded by rising water. An increase of even two feet over a gently sloping field may create acres of new grounds for fish to probe. A rise of 10 to 20 feet, not uncommon in large impoundments, can nearly double the normal feeding area, scattering fish far and wide.

To compound matters, this new territory is rich in natural foods, and the fish literally gorge themselves for a while. Full of this natural food, fish are a bit more reluctant to strike at artificial offerings. Yet the man who tosses plugs will do better than the bait dunker who remains in one location.

At a general rule, use top-water and shallow running lures. Bottom bumping models are difficult to handle in recently inundated areas because of usually heavy bottom vegetation.

Cast into the weeds at the edge. Work the shoreline thoroughly, but keep moving. Venture back into the narrow, tree-choked heads of coves; it's tough casting but productive.

Emergent growth away from shore indicates a hidden knoll which is almost guaranteed to attract fish, particularly big ones. Cast all the way around it carefully.

After a few weeks as conditions become more settled, fish finding will be more predictable. But, in the meantime, don't be discouraged by high water; you'll find fish by prowling constantly.

Legal Life-Saving Devices The conservation departments, of Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin, have issued the Coast Guard numbers that life-saving devices bearing its approval must have. Better check. Boarding parties will soon be traveling the river.

Approved numbers are: 160.002, 160.003, 160.004, 160.005 and 160.055 for life preservers made of kapok, cork, balsa wood, fibrous glass or unicellular plastic foam. 160.047, 160.052 and 160.060 for buoyant vests made of kapok, fibrous glass, unicellular plastic foam and unicellular polyethylene.

160.048 and 160.049 for buoyant cushions made of kapok, fibrous glass or unicellular plastic foam. 160.009 and 160.050 for cork, balsa or unicellular plastic ring life buoys. And 160.064, special purpose water safety devices.

Persons in possession of lifesaving devices should check numbers to determine whether they are still acceptable under Coast Guard

Students Burn Draft Cards

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Forty University of California students burned their draft cards in front of the Berkeley Draft Board Wednesday in protest of "the invasion of the Dominican Republic."

While Berkeley police photographers snapped their photos, the students squatted in a huddle like a football team and placed their burning cards in a small pile.

Hundreds of students marched on the draft board after a noon rally at the UC Berkeley campus at which student and faculty members assailed the United States move into the Dominican Republic.

Sister Takes Jobs Corps Post At Retirement

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Sister Francetta Barberis is beginning again — with a tarnished silver dollar and a new job at the age of 65.

Sister Francetta, now president of Webster College at St. Louis, becomes a full-time consultant and coordinator for Job Corps centers for women June 1. She will wear secular clothing while working instead of the black robes of the Roman Catholic Sisters of Loretta.

"Life is a series of beginnings," she says. "Beginnings make life exciting and the final great beginning is death."

When she became Webster College President in 1958, the school needed money and Sister Francetta started a fund drive. One day a student stopped her, handed her the silver dollar and said it was all she had to give. "That silver dollar was part of my beginning here and I don't think I'll ever give it away," says the nun.

Sister Francetta thinks nothing of working in secular dress instead of the habit she has worn since 1928 as a Roman Catholic nun.

"People put too much emphasis on clothing," she says. "When I go swimming, I wear a swimming suit. When I work among the people, it would behoove me to wear the habit of the people."

Permission to wear the secular clothing was obtained from the head of her order, Sister Mary Luke, when Sister Francetta decided she wanted to keep working after retirement from Webster.

"I believe in retirement at age 65," she says. "But, I don't believe in stagnating."

She said she called Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., and asked him if he could help find her a job in the antipoverty program. Symington did — with the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Toastmaster Cites Need for Charter

A home-rule charter would "give democracy a working chance in Winona," according to a speaker at Wednesday's meeting of the Hiawatha Toastmasters Club.

Making a speech that won him the evening's "sparkplug" award, Gerald Swanson declared: "Our present system of government is so complicated that it is almost impossible to put it down on paper in the form of a diagram."

"A home-rule charter would do away with many of the inefficiencies inherent in our present system. Most important of all, it would give democracy a working chance in Winona."

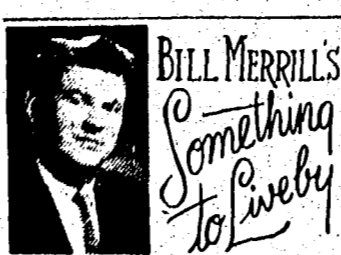

Other speakers for the evening were Richard Coleman, who discussed fluorescent lighting; Richard O'Bryan, who spoke about the need for tax reform in Minnesota; and James Casey, who reminisced over the past accomplishments of the club, along with some of its shortcomings.

General evaluator was Fred Heyer. Walter Dopke evaluated Swanson's speech; Frank Johnson evaluated Coleman's; Victor Bertel evaluated O'Bryan's; and Cleve Gruler evaluated Casey's.

During the extemporaneous portion of the program, Duane Peterson, tabletop topics master, had the whole club back at the dikes as he moved about in a radio "mobile unit" interviewing individual toastmasters as they pretended to hold back the waters of the Mississippi River.

Guests for the evening were Roger Anderson and George Erickson. Eighteen members were present.

Planning and coordinating the entire program was James Miller as toastmaster.

BILL MERRILL'S Something to Live By

I looked out the window on a beautiful day, took a quick glance into space, and contemplated the activities planned for this day and reflected, "It's a good life here in these United States."

I get in this mood of reflecting our blessings here in these United States after looking at a 20-year reunion book with pictures and stories of my wife's high school class of '41. As I glanced through the booklet again recently, it occurred to me that for the most part, these seniors of now over 20 years ago, fared out fine. Their education sustained them, and in many cases, led them to a great success.

Interesting, isn't it. We come into this world, take life for granted in those very early years; follow a system of education, and then somewhere, we find ourselves settled down to some particular task. We have responsibility of others who are now traveling a similar route — they are our children. I hope we do as well by our children as that generation in the era of '41 did by us.

WAR WAS the worse condition we had to pass through, and some of the young people of twenty years ago lost their lives defending our right to live. But, as for the majority, happiness or despondency became the product of the individual, but the makings of happiness were and are available for all takers.

As I looked into the new day ahead, I felt good all over. The past was full and purposeful. The future looks adventurous and meaningful as I push on for goals that I deem worthy of all effort. This very day my particular agenda is full, and I know it will prove a good day all the way.

Many a country fails to give its citizens as bright an outlook. In some cases, the past proves to have very little to offer in the line of encouragement, and the future is often the survival of the fittest. Sure, there are Americans that are depressed and feel life hasn't given them a fair shake, but the rule is that opportunity is for the taking in these United States, and I appreciate the privilege of casting my lot with all America because here it's not left up to chance alone. One can shape his course.

WHEN YOU stop to think about it, no human being can come into this world without increasing or diminishing the sum total of all human happiness.

Limit Asked on Doorkeepers

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — State Rep. Robert Breslin Jr. has filed a bill to limit the number of doorkeepers and pages in the Rhode Island Legislature. At present there are 126 lawmakers, and 78 doorkeepers and 95 pages. The Senate chamber has five doors and the House six.

Breslin's measure, introduced Wednesday, would limit the number to 13 doorkeepers and 21 pages at an estimated saving of $61,500 in salaries at each session.

Legislators Doing Creditable Job

AN ARTICLE that appeared in News-week magazine a couple of weeks ago containing a lengthy indictment of state legislatures and their operations was manifestly unfair to legislators in a number of states where duly elected officials have been laboring long and conscientiously to conduct the law-making functions assigned them under the most trying conditions.

Minnesota is a case in point. Our legislators are faced with the difficulty of meeting new and often complex problems affecting the state and its local subdivisions and resolving plans and programs supported by adequate legislation to implement them — all within the relatively short span of 120 working days.

In the absence of adequate office quarters, staff people to supply necessary background information on matters before them, and under pressure from groups represented by well-paid and skillful lobbyists, they have done — all things considered — a pretty creditable job.

They have given of their time and effort on a pay scale that is well below what their services are worth. Our representatives in Congress get $30,000 a year. Our state legislators — both members of the House and Senate — are paid $4,800 for each biennium.

TAKING INTO consideration only the span of the legislative sessions, national and state, our national representatives are paid almost three times what we pay our state lawmakers on a per diem basis.

But the difference is really far greater than that. Our people in Congress have full-time jobs, while our state legislators have to make a living and still find time to attend long legislative sessions every two years, and serve on interim committees and perform public chores in between these sessions. This situation has discouraged many capable men from seeking reelection to office.

There is no doubt that some legislatures have given inept performances. Some have been touched by scandal. But the record of the Minnesota Legislature has been a good one.

THOSE WHO HAVE had business at the state capital in recent days have been duly impressed with the calibre of most of the people we have elected to represent us. We owe them due recognition for the honest, hard-working public servants they are — especially at a time when state legislators in general are being subjected to condemnation and ridicule.

Warm-Hearted Computers Get New Task

THE COMPUTERS, we are led to believe, can do almost anything a human being can do — and can do it better.

Now, university admissions officers are using punch cards to pick their freshmen, and at a meeting in Chicago the other day they defended their machine operations staunchly. No, it is not cold and heartless, they say, for a computer to decide whether your son or daughter is going to have a college education.

A long day of poring over applications might tire the admissions officer and his weariness might cause him to pick the wrong candidates. But they say the machines never err.

Well, we can understand how a computer can be perfectly objective in dealing with statistical things like a student's grades, but can a machine really decide whether he's sincere in wanting to go to college? Can a machine measure his chances of success?

THE COLLEGE officials seem to think so, and they're using the computers more and more — to register students, set up class schedules, to grade examinations. And of course to send the bills home to dad.

Yes, education processes are being programmed and fed into computers and, whether we like it or not, that's the way it is.

But once in a while there's a cheerful and homey note. Out at Antioch College in Yellow Springs, Ohio, an English literature prof tried for 18 months to program an elementary poetry course. Finally, he gave up in frustration and that, we feel, is a victory for all old-fashioned people everywhere.

COME TO THINK of it, we wonder why those college admissions people took the trouble to have a convention. Instead of going to Chicago, why couldn't they have just programmed the whole affair, fed it into their computers, played back the tapes? They could have stayed at home, too — all much more impersonal and objective.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A prisoner at the bar was charged with being intoxicated — and it was quite obvious the charge was justified. "I note by your record," said the judge severely, "that you've been arrested for being drunk 18 times in the past six months. Are you doing nothing to straightening yourself out?" "Yes, I am," pledged the prisoner. "I'm going to get me a new wife." "What good will that do?" asked the judge. "A lot," the prisoner replied. "Every time I drink this one has me arrested."

Thou therefore which teachest another, teachest thou not thyself. — Romans 2:21

TODAY IN WORLD AFFAIRS

What About Santo Domingo?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The state of anarchy in Santo Domingo, which caused the United States to send its troops to the island to protect the lives of Americans and other foreigners, points up one of the most serious challenges that faces the world — how to deal with countries that are not yet capable of governing themselves. Whether it's Viet Nam or the Congo or the Dominican Republic, the basic problem is the same.

Up to now homage has been paid to the concept of self-determination and the independence of peoples, but, while this is a commendable theory, inability to apply it effectively has turned out in practice to be detrimental to human welfare and progress in many areas of the globe.

The idea of self-determination received its biggest impetus in the peace pronouncements that came out of World War I, but the formula of trusteeships for backward areas which was sponsored by the League of Nations didn't last very long. Political pressures from within the country as well as from outside eventually brought about the withdrawal of all foreign troops and civilian officials. The principal nevertheless still afford the only constructive solution to the dilemma.

THE UNITED NATIONS, in a sense, has adopted the same approach through its system of peace-keeping operations in Africa and in the Middle East. But what is really lacking is a harmonizing of objectives and a sincerity of purpose on the part of the larger nations which are called upon to supervise the evolution of the smaller states. Certainly if the United Nations itself were not torn asunder by the political conflicts between East and West and were not imperilled by the machinations of some of the Communist stooges among the smaller countries, there would be a different story to tell today. For it is the existence of the "cold war" which is preventing the emerging nations from achieving their true independence and freedom.

The only hope, so far as troubles in this hemisphere are concerned, lies in strengthening the organization of American states. The Communists pay no attention either to the Monroe Doctrine or to the Organization of American States, and carry on their infiltrating tactics and divisive operations everywhere. But once the Latin-American countries are united and recognize realistically that their own survival is at stake, the chances of diminishing the capacity of the Communists to make mischief will be materially improved.

MANY WORTHY resolutions have been adopted in the past by the Organization of American States which have denounced communism and outside interference, but the Communists in turn have worked up considerable antagonism to the United States in all of Latin America by accusing this country of imperialistic designs. Indeed, the landing of U.S. Marines and troops in the Dominican Republic now will be so characterized again and again in schools and colleges and in other centers where the Communists have an influence. Yet there was no other course left to the United States government, which feels an obligation under international law to protect not only the lives of its own citizens but those of other countries as well in order that no provocation shall be given for European intervention in the affairs of the countries of this hemisphere.

'MMM — REFRESHING, ISN'T IT?'

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

World Considers U.S. Aggressor in Viet Nam

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — It was at 8:41 p.m. Eastern Standard Time 20 years ago today that a general cessation of hostilities was agreed upon at Rheims and the great war in Europe began grinding to a final halt.

Today, 20 years later, the United States finds itself fighting a disagreeable, persistently bloody war half way round the globe; and has landed more troops on the soil of a Caribbean neighbor than that neighbor claims in its entire military establishment.

It also finds itself with the goodwill it had once built up around the world evaporated. It finds itself criticized, not merely by Pravda and Izvestia, but by its allies of NATO and its good neighbors in Latin America.

Secretary of State Rusk has tagged American critics of our foreign policy as guilty of "nonsense, glibness, and stubborn disregard of the facts." Nevertheless, if the present situation is not to erode into another world war, discussion is necessary.

AMONG OTHER things, Americans who last November voted against a man they considered trigger-happy because he promised to defoliate the Vietnamese jungles, have a right now to know why the non-trigger happy man they elected has now defoliated the jungles and landed Marines in the Caribbean without waiting even two hours to confer with the OAS, an organization which could have saved him a lot of trigger-happy headaches.

So before we slide into another world war, 20 years after the end of the last one, let's examine what we face, how we got there and how we can get out.

It is said that those who question current Johnson policy in South Viet Nam are appeasers. They are compared with the umbrella-carrying Neville Chamberlain who bowed to Hitler at Munich. And the Chinese are compared to the military machine of Adolf Hitler which swept over Austria, Czechoslovakia, and Western Europe a quarter of a century ago.

This is the criticism of the anti-critics expressed in Congress and the State Department.

OUTSIDE THE confines of the United States, criticism is different. In Japan, our staunchest ally in Asia, we are considered the aggressor in Viet Nam. Anti-American feeling is just as strong in Japan today as when President Eisenhower had to cancel his visit in 1960.

At that time, Eisenhower did visit the Philippines. Today, Johnson could not visit the Philippines. Riots would endanger his life.

Even in Western Europe, the President would face hostile crowds and embarrassing demonstrations — the real reason he canceled plans for foreign trips this year.

Reason for this hostility is that we, not the Chinese, are considered the Hitler-like aggressors in Viet Nam. Sen. Tom Dodd of Connecticut, Dean Rusk and the anti-critics don't seem to realize this, but whenever a powerful nation occupies the soil of a smaller nation, the larger is considered the aggressor. This is especially true when the large nation is white and the little nation is black, yellow or brown.

There is also the Dean Rusk argument that China is the aggressor because it wants to play dominoes against the free world, knocking down Viet Nam, then Thailand, then all of Southeast Asia.

Readers of this column know that I hold no brief for Red China. But history shows that the Chinese, through the centuries, have not been military aggressors. They have spread their influence through culture, industry, economics, not by war.

IT IS TRUE that the Mongol hordes, after first conquering the Chinese, swept over Europe, until finally subdued by the Chinese through economics and inter marriage.

But today the Chinese are so non-aggressive militarily that they permit U.S. fortifications on the islands of Quemoy and Matsu to remain only 3 and 12 miles off the Chinese mainland.

Quemoy is about as far from the Chinese metropolis of Amoy as Staten Island is from Manhattan.

President Johnson has landed troops in the Dominican Republic 1,500 miles from New York because he says a certain number of pro-Castro non-Dominicans participated in the revolution.

Imagine, how long he would permit Staten Island, if bristling with the guns and fortifications of a foreign power, to remain in New York harbor without doing something about it.

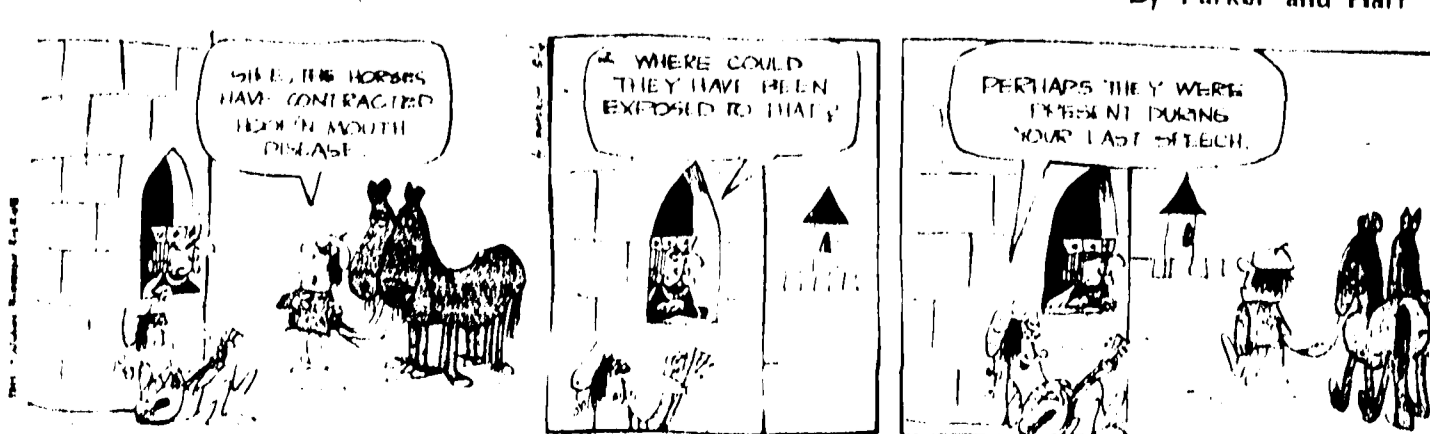

On March 24, 1955, Admiral Robert Carney, then chief of naval operations, told Washington newsmen that the Chinese would invade Quemoy-Matsu by April 15. That was ten years and three weeks ago. The Chinese have not invaded.

Minnesota City to Homer Dike Proposed

To the Editor:
I am enclosing a check for $25 for the Winona Flood Control Fund.

This is just a very small token of appreciation and thanks that Ruth and I want to show everyone for all the outstanding, fantastic heroic work that was done to save our city from its worst disaster.

While it is next to impossible to honestly single out any one group or individual for more words of praise and congratulations and thanks than any other — there is one group that I think is deserving of "Honorable Mention."

They are the group that volunteered: They donated their services and their only hope for a reward of any kind was the personal satisfaction of knowing that they had done what they could to help save their city, which had done so much for them.

We are told now that very few people really know how close we did come to losing the fight and that if it hadn't been for the river breaking out over the Burlington tracks and relieving the rise of the river for a few hours, while we caught up on one of our weakest spots, we all would have lost and all of our work would have been for naught.

Now that it is all over it is ridiculous for anyone to say this high stage of the river is a thing that can happen only once in a hundred years.

That is exactly what was said 14 years ago when the stage of the river reached 17.40 feet, only to have it go up the next year (that's 13 years ago) to 17.94 feet.

In 1951, the dikes broke and water came over to Broadway at McBride & Ewing streets.

In 1952, much as you may have heard to the contrary all dikes that the city built held. The Prairie Island road was undermined and went out at the locks and that flooded all of the swamp land west of Winona and the airport but every other place was saved and later the people were so grateful for what the city had done for them that four thousand individuals donated money to the city to help defray the expense they had been put to.

I think right now we have a lot of very grateful people who are waiting to be asked if they wouldn't like to help build up the "Winona Flood Control Fund."

I have one more thought I want to bring out. Every year our city spends more than half a million dollars on its Relief, Police, Fire and Street departments to make living a lot safer and more pleasant for everybody living here.

We have spent over five million dollars on a new hospital to take care of our sick people.

We are going to spend over five million dollars on new schools for our children.

Why? I ask you, in all fairness shouldn't we spend an equal amount to save our city from the constant yearly worry about flooding that we are always going to have to live with.

All we have to do is build a permanent dike along the river ALL THE WAY to Homer. It's just that simple.

Our city engineer knows what needs to be done — where the pre-out dikes should be widened and strengthened, where the railroad right of ways should be raised and improved and water-proofed, where some locks or river gates should be installed — and our city officials know too.

Personally I'd like to see the Prairie Island road built solid enough so the locks near the Silo Company wouldn't have to be opened every time we have high water and our airport flooded temporarily out of business.

I understand after 13 years we are going to get some federal help, but we need a lot more and certainly if the government can spend seven billion dollars a year trying to shoot a sky rocket to the moon — the little money it would take to improve our condition — by comparison would be just peanuts.

Our city officials know what needs to be done: I say let's all get behind them and give them all the support and help that we possibly can and get this flood control project finished before we have to fight it all over again.

Ileitis Inflamed Intestine

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Sir: Two of my three children have had what was diagnosed as ileitis between the ages of one and two years. One is cured now, and the other is being treated.

I only vaguely understand the disease and would like to hear it described in layman's words. What causes it? Is it hereditary? Are X-rays needed? — MRS. D. H.

The ileum is a portion of the small bowel which attaches to the colon in the lower right quarter of the abdomen.

If the ileum becomes inflamed — ileitis! Since as a rule only a small segment of the ileum is involved, the term regional ileitis is often applied.

Ileitis is rarely due to a specific germ; I doubt that we can say that there is a specific cause. It's a question of what may have inflamed that part of the intestine. It is not an hereditary condition.

Ileitis is not common among very young children. Your doctor may have noted something which may have been the irritating factor in your youngsters. Ask him. And again, it may be something not detectable.

THE USUAL treatment embraces the use of suitable antibiotics to suppress infection, along with a bland, low-residue diet to avoid physical irritation of the inflamed area.

Since the trouble is in the lower right quadrant of the abdomen, appendicitis is often suspected. In young children, there rather often can be enlargement of glands located around the bowel. This can produce pain or fever, and simulate appendicitis or ileitis. Such glandular involvement can be part of a generalized infection.

X-ray generally is necessary, along with other tests, to confirm a diagnosis of ileitis. Some of the tests are designed to eliminate other possibilities. That's true of a good many medical problems: When you are sure what some problem ISN'T, it narrows the problem of diagnosing exactly what it IS.

Meeting Stated on Hiawatha Trail

A Winona delegation will attend a meeting in Red Wing Wednesday to make final preparations for the formal opening of the Hiawatha Pioneer Trail later this month.

Anyone wishing to go to Red Wing for the meeting should register at the Winona Chamber of Commerce office, according to Donald Stone, chamber manager and Hiawatha Valley Association secretary.

The meeting will be held at 6 p.m. in Nybo's restaurant. Information on participation in the formal dedication's motorcade will be available there. Banners for automobiles will be distributed.

Philip Jason, regional public relations director for the Minnesota Department of Business Development, will answer questions Wednesday.

The formal dedication of the trail will be held May 29 in New Ulm, midway point for Minnesota's section of the route. Motorcades from a number of communities along the trail are to meet there in time for a parade, which will be led by Gov. Karl F. Royster at 1:30 p.m.

The Hiawatha Pioneer Trail extends through Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Its Minnesota segment extends from Jackson, Pipestone and Granite Falls on the west, through New Ulm, Mankato and the Twin Cities to Red Wing and La Crescent on the east.

Klan Gun Linked To Killing

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — State attorneys have linked Ku Klux Klan member Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr. with the weapon an expert says was used in the slaying of a Michigan mother taking part in civil rights demonstrations.

An earlier witness had traced a 38-caliber revolver to Wilkins, and Marion Williams, an FBI weapons expert, identified it Wednesday as the gun which killed Viola Liuzzo, 39, mother of five.

The chief prosecutor, Circuit Solicitor Arthur E. Gamble Jr., said he had "a few more questions" to ask Williams today before the state rested its case.

Matt H. Murphy Jr., the Klan's attorney, already had indicated through cross-examination of prosecution witnesses the course his defense may take. He also has shown a revolver which he said he took from FBI Informer Gary Thomas Rowe Jr.

Murphy has not said how he will connect the pistol to the case. His only comment was, "I took it away from Rowe before he killed someone and blamed it on us."

The Klan attorney has sought to portray Rowe, the state's star witness, as a troublemaker hoping to collect a rich reward from the federal government if he could "help break the back of the Klan."

Wilkins, 21, a self-employed automobile mechanic at Fairfield, Ala., near Birmingham, is the first of three KKK members brought to trial for the slaying of the Detroit housewife.

Mrs. Liuzzo, the wife of a Teamsters Union official, was shot to death near Lowndesboro the night of March 25 after taking part in the civil rights march from Selma to Montgomery and ferrying some of the marchers back to Selma.

Indicted with Wilkins — and awaiting trial — were Eugene Thomas, 42, an employee of U.S. Steel at Bessemer, Ala., and William Orville Eaton, 41, also of Bessemer.

Tampa Guard Armory Burned

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A fire apparently set by an arsonist destroyed 15 military vehicles at the National Guard Armory Wednesday night.

Guardsmen saved more than a hundred other trucks, some of which were alive, when they rushed onto the field and drove them away from the flames and exploding gas tanks. There were no injuries.

Two eyewitnesses saw a man climb an eight-foot chain link fence with a container under his arm shortly before the fire started, according to a Guard spokesman.

Col. K. C. Bullard, commander at the Ft. Homer Hesterly Armory, estimated the loss "in excess of $100,000."

PATIENT FROM HOUSTON HOUSTON, Minn. — Burton Henderson, Rt. 2, was hospitalized at St. Marys Hospital, Rochester, Wednesday with a back ailment. He will be confined for some time.

19,363 U.S. Troops in Dominicans

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department announced Wednesday that there are now 19,363 U.S. troops in the Dominican Republic.

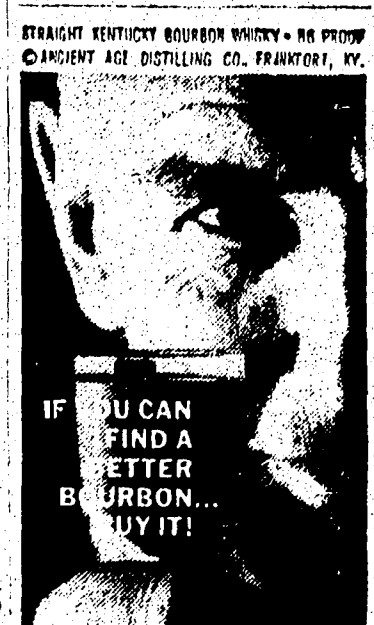

This is 5,363 more than the last officially announced total reported by President Johnson in a radio television broadcast Sunday night.

There was no immediate word on when or how the increase was made.

The Defense Department broke down its total to 12,439 Army troops and 6,924 Marines. It said the Army troops are mostly members of the 82nd Airborne Division. The Marines are mainly of the 2nd Marine Division.

The Pentagon also reported today that six have been killed in the fighting there, three Army men and three Marines. There have been 52 wounded in action, 30 Army and 22 Marines.

MRS. MULLEN, who presented the educational feature, had a number of suggestions for people who wish to improve their voices.

"Watch out for unintended inflections — vary your pitch. . . . Try reading aloud to children. . . . The 'ups' and 'downs' in your voice are the most expressive qualities it has. . . . Vary your speed. Change of pace is almost as important as variety of pitch. Practice speaking softly but with perfect diction."

Mrs. Robert Collins, topic mistress, asked her audience to relate some interesting experience when Winona was faced with a possible flood. This topic evoked a variety of responses, but predominant was the thought that the people of Winona fought a valiant battle against the old Mississippi and that the local Civil Defense Unit did an outstanding job in the emergency.

A REPORT on the last council meeting was given by the club representative, Mrs. Hamerski. Mrs. Ralph Kohner, who served as general chairman of the Council speech contest held in Winona April 10, thanked club members for their efforts during this event.

75 Unpublished Cole Porter Songs Found

NEW YORK (AP) — Between 75 and 100 unpublished songs written by Cole Porter, have been found in the late composer's files. The list includes such titles as "Bertie and Gerlie," "Dizzy Baby," and "He Certainly Kills the Women."

Porter, who died last October at the age of 72, was such a prolific songwriter that he often wrote two or three songs for the same stage situation.

Most of the unpublished songs were written for Porter's Broadway musicals, but were never used. Some were for a motion picture that was not made.

Dr. Albert Sirmay, chief editor of Chappell & Co. music publishers, disclosed Tuesday night that he made the discovery while looking into Porter's inventory of music material at the late composer's Waldorf Towers apartment last December, January and February.

Sirmay said that John Wharton, Porter's attorney for 20 years, had asked him to examine the material.

"They are in the style of Cole Porter, all fit for the stage," said Sirmay.

Wharton said that at the present he had no plans for the unpublished works except to find out more about them by sitting down and listening to them played and sung.

As for long-range possibilities, he said: "someone may offer to do a new show. They may be added to a revival or single songs recorded from them."

Wharton suggested that some might be used in a revue along the lines of a current off-Broadway hit entitled, "The Decline and Fall of the Entire World as Seen Through the Eyes of Cole Porter, Revisited." The show is composed of little-known, unpublished Porter songs.

Porter wrote such hits as "Just One of Those Things," "Night and Day," and "Begin the Beguine."

DEAR ABBY:

City Relatives Bother Farmers

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We live on a farm, and every summer we are bombarded with the kids of our city relatives. Summers are important to a farmer because if he doesn't get his crops harvested then, it can cost him hundreds of dollars. Yet every summer, as soon as school is out, we have an endless stream of kids getting in the way, taking up our time and slowing up our work.

Don't say, "Put them to work," because some of those city kids are so lazy they won't even pick up their own clothes. They would rather walk around them.

If the situation were reversed, and we sent our kids to our city relatives, would their husbands take the kids to the office and watch them all day so they wouldn't get into trouble, hurt themselves, or break something? And I wonder how many city wives would like to give up their bridge parties and make extra meals and do extra laundry for the kids. What do you suggest? FARMER'S WIFE

ABBY

DEAR WIFE: I suggest you tell your city relatives exactly what you have told me. People who permit others to impose on them because they lack the nerve to say "NO" have to put up with the consequences.

DEAR ABBY: My best friend from sorority (we are both graduated from college now) asked me to be her maid of honor. She's being married soon. I accepted, then she called me long distance and said the best man was 6'4", and since I am only 5'1" we would look silly together. So how would I like to be one of the six bridesmaids? I said all right. Then she called again and said she hoped I wouldn't feel bad but all the other bridesmaids were tall girls, and I was too short to be a bridesmaid. She made me promise I'd come to her wedding anyway. My mother says if I go I am a sap. Abby, I have never heard of cutting a girl out of a wedding party because she was too short, have you? TOO SHORT

DEAR SHORT: NO! Your friend, the bride, is also short on common sense and courtesy. I agree with your mother.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell me what you think of a mother who lets her four-year-old child kick her, hit her and slam her over the head with his toys or anything he happens to have in his hand at the moment? This little monster is so spoiled it is pathetic, and he has a very ugly temper. My friend just laughs and says it doesn't hurt, and she makes no effort to correct or punish him. I feel so sorry for her. AIRPORT ROAD

DEAR ROAD: Don't waste your sympathy on the mother. The "little monster" will need it when he goes to school and tries to use those tactics on his teacher and playmates. When a mother neglects to teach her child how to control his emotions, he learns the hard way. And pays dearly for the lesson.

CONFIDENTIAL TO FASHION-MINDED: Yes, the skirts are getting shorter, and the necklines are plunging deeper. And I don't like it, either, but as long as the two don't eventually meet, we are lucky.

Problems? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Committee Tuesday night killed three bills aimed at prohibiting the spreading California topless bathing suit shows.

Youths to Help With Cleanup at Prairie du Chien

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, Wis. (AP) — The first of 300 Neighborhood Youth Corps workers signed up Tuesday for flood cleanup work as the receding Mississippi River dropped floating garages and sheds in the middle of streets or yards in the 4th Ward area.

The cleanup will be directed by Paul A. Tinard, a retired Army first sergeant, who said he could use the 300 young men and women between the ages of 16 and 21 for eight weeks.

"I think we have 96,000 man hours of work for them," said Tinard. J. B. Drury, disaster chairman, explained why the cleanup problem is critical in Prairie du Chien and why the city was the first of the state communities battered by the floods last month to ask Youth Corps help. He said that 60 percent of the persons in the hard-hit 4th Ward, a virtual island that was covered by the flood, are retired and on pensions or are unemployed.

"The Red Cross spent $18,000 in the 1962 flood," he said. "We furnished materials but no labor. Now these people are 13 years older. Many can't furnish labor. They need help."

He said the Red Cross has already spent $4,000 to aid flood victims and said an estimate of the total cleanup cost would be $50,000.

The Mississippi, which reached a record crest of 24.3 feet, had dropped to 19.9 feet Tuesday but was still 1.9 feet above flood stage.

Britain to Cut Down Of Motorcycle Noise

LONDON (AP) — Britain's transport minister announced plans today to muffle the nation's motorcycles, scooters, automobiles and trucks. Minister Tom Fraser said motor vehicles will be limited to 85 decibels before the end of the year.

The minister said vehicles exceeding the decibel limit will be ordered off the streets and roads.

Americans eat much seaweed unknowingly. Manufacturers put the nutritious ocean plants into a wide variety of products, including bread, cheese, ice cream, jellies, salad dressings and breakfast food.

Johnson and Barnett Cleared Of Charges

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Former Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett — and his successor, Paul B. Johnson, the current chief executive of the Deep South state — have been freed of criminal contempt stemming from their attempts to keep a Negro from enrolling at the University of Mississippi.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, in a 4-3 decision announced Wednesday, dropped the charges, which grew out of the 1962 integration of Ole Miss by James H. Meredith.

"No sufficient reasons exist for further prosecution of the proceedings," said the 3½-page majority opinion of Judges Richard Rives of Montgomery, Ala.; Warren Jones of Jacksonville, Fla.; Walter P. Gwin of Tuscaloosa, Ala.; and Griffin B. Bell of Atlanta, Ga.

"We are doubtful, to say the least, whether we and the other judges may not have formed a fixed opinion that Johnson and Barnett are guilty," the majority said.

Barnett was governor at the time; Johnson was lieutenant governor.

Sweet-Smelling Buses Tried in Santa Monica

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — This beach city's buses smell. People stand on corners and sniff when the buses go by. The reason is perfumed fuel.

City transportation director Tom Prior says the floral scent is inexpensive and already has reaped a huge harvest of goodwill after a month of testing.

"We haven't had a single complaint," he said, "only compliments."

Brown Faces Reagan in California

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown, victor over two California Republican giants in past campaigns, is edging toward a possible 1966 battle against a new breed of office-seeker — the actor-turned-politician.

Ronald Reagan, whose affable face was etched in the voters' memories by scores of movies and television shows, says he'd like to move into the executive mansion in Sacramento.

So do others, raising the prospect of a tumultuous election year in a state where both Democrats and Republicans are trying to patch up feuds.

Brown, now serving his second term as governor of the nation's most populous state, declines to comment on predictions by his friends that he'll try for a third.

They are hoping the same campaign magic that worked against former U.S. Sen. William F. Knowland in 1958 and against former Vice President Richard M. Nixon four years later, will once again mean victory for the Democrats.

Brown says, "I can only tell you that there's one good fight in the old man yet."

Reagan's backers — who proudly wear the conservative label — are spurred on by the example of his fellow Republican, George Murphy, the state's new junior U.S. senator.

Former actor Murphy readily admits his film exposure gave an early push to his 1964 campaign. It ended with a win over Pierre Salinger, press secretary to Presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

Price-Fixing Ruling Brings Tax Savings

NEW YORK (AP) — The bulk of the nation's electrical equipment industry, caught in a price-fixing scandal in 1960, today is in the final stages of settling damages approaching $400 million.

But because of a controversial tax ruling, the companies stand to save almost half the cost through tax deductions.

The ruling has sparked a clash between the Internal Revenue Service and some congressmen who charge that General Electric, Westinghouse and the 27 other antitrust violators are getting soft treatment. In the background is the case itself, one the Justice Department said involved secret agreements over eight years to fix prices, rig bids and divide markets on electrical equipment valued at $1.75 billion annually.

The companies and 45 executives pleaded guilty or no contest to 20 antitrust indictments before a federal judge in Philadelphia who called the price-fixing "a shocking indictment" of a vast section of the economy. He sentenced seven executives to jail for 30 days in 1961 and gave 24 others suspended sentences. Fines totaled $1.9 million.

That was only the beginning. The price-fixing by companies supposed to be in competition covered products ranging from tiny $2 insulators to huge, multimillion-dollar turbine generators. Their customers sued for triple damages under the Clayton Antitrust Act, claiming they were overcharged.

Farms Hit Hard in Canton, Harmony Areas

Four Injured; Canton House Carried Away

CANTON, Minn. (Special) — Major damage caused by the funnel which dropped down in the Canton and Lenora area at 7:20 p.m. CST Wednesday apparently was on the Charles Fravel farm northwest of Newburg where every building was reduced to kindling and efforts were being made this morning to extricate stock from the barn.

Some cattle stood dead in their stanchions. At least 10 cows were killed, and many, still trapped in the barn, may have to be destroyed.

FRANEL WAS in the milkhouse at the time and suffered injuries. He was reported in satisfactory condition at Tweeten Memorial Hospital, Spring Grove, this morning.

The new home, which the family moved into last fall, was flattened, as were the barn, silo, garage and other farm buildings.

Today you could see the path of the storm as it traveled from southwest to northeast.

On the ROBERT TROUTEN farm, straight south from Harmony about four miles, all buildings are gone except the corn crib and part of the barn.

The 1962 car in the yard was flattened. The top of the silo was carried off. The house was demolished, but the family including three children escaped injury.

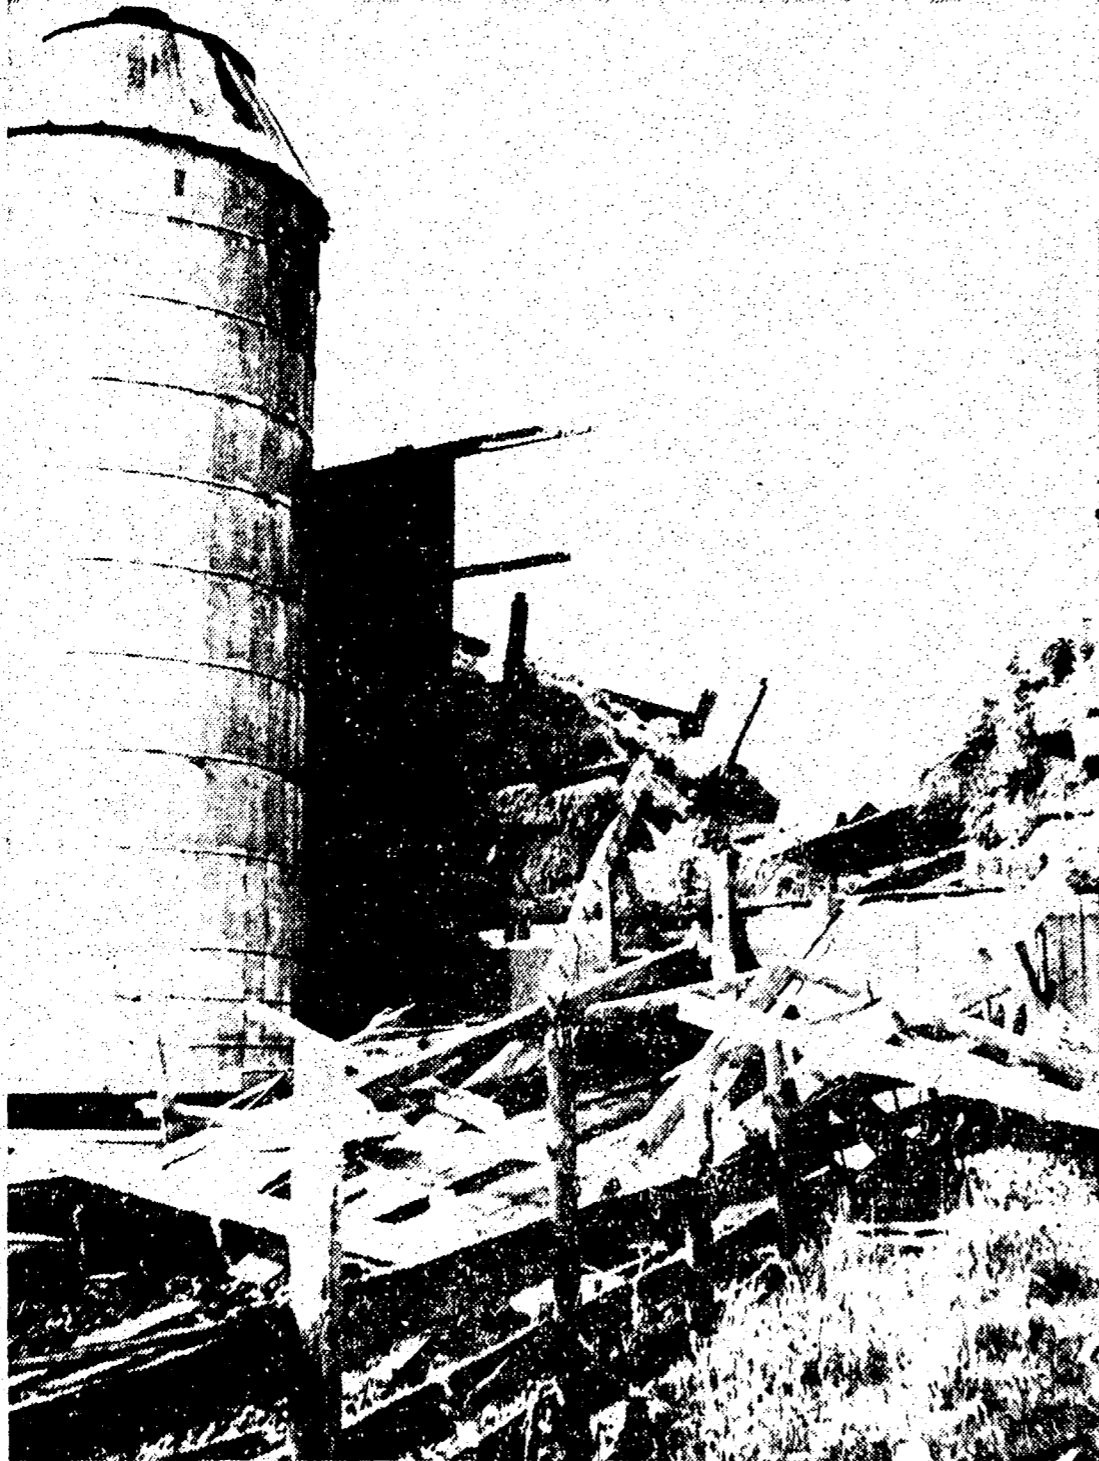

The furnace and water heater were tipped over in the basement. Registers from the furnace lay on the lawn, and debris was scattered for long distances into the fields. Only a washer and dryer were saved.

At the GORDON LANSWICK farm three miles south of the Minnesota-Iowa state line below Harmony the family rushed to the basement and was trapped. Of the four children, a 13-year old girl was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, Cresco, Iowa, suffering with bruises.

All buildings were reduced to kindling.

The next time the twister dipped the HAROLD FLATLAND farm barn was tipped. The windmill was down, part of the barn roof off, and trees uprooted on the DONALD GATES place.

The house was damaged, barn tipped and small buildings down on the ERNEST BURRI farm three miles south and a mile east of Harmony. A half-mile east of the Burri place a tree smashed into the house on the AVITUS McCABE farm and the barn was down.

SILLO STANDS UP . . . On the Melvin Garness farm northeast of Lenora the silo withstood the tornado, but the barn was demolished, exposing bales of hay to the rain. (Griswold photo)

The residence of CLEMENT ELLIS, Canton High School principal, was picked up by the wind, carried some 75 feet, and dropped, landing as kindling. A car by the house apparently had tipped and been righted—it was muggy and the windows were out. The garage beside it was intact.

The Ellis family escaped injury; they had gone into the basement. The residence, what remained of it, stood on Highway 52 across from the Shell station.

MYRON JONES and son Ronald were taken to Harmony hospital Wednesday night after the outbuildings on their farm a half-mile north of Canton were blown down and the house damaged. They were released this morning.

Trapped cattle were bellowing in the barn on the CLAUDE WILLFORD farm two miles northeast of Canton this morning. At least four cattle were dead, and attempts were being made to release the others. Some had to be destroyed. The barn and an old house were blown down and residence damaged.

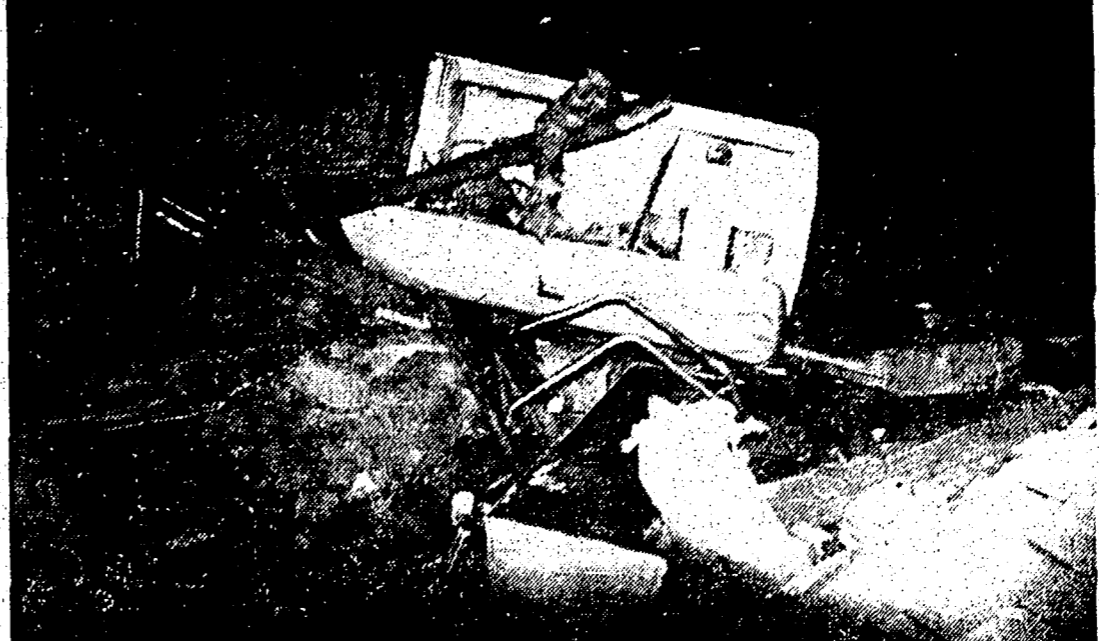

The Willfords were attempting to go to their basement when a tipping refrigerator caught Willford and almost severed his right ear. He was taken to Mabel Clinic and later to Harmony hospital, where he was released this morning.

The barn and all other outdoor buildings were destroyed on the farm occupied by REUBEN HELGESON, just south of Lenora. The barn and hoghouse on the NELVIN GARNESS farm, northwest of Newburg, were demolished.

Transformers Found

The Interstate Power Co. of Chalfield, Minn., was checking its records and equipment today on a request from Sheriff George L. Fort to determine whether six damaged transformers he found Friday belong to them. The company initially told the sheriff that they knew of none of their equipment being missing. The sheriff found the six transformers — about four feet in length and two, wide — on the ground in Schenager Valley, south of Stockton, Friday. The copper had been stripped from the insides.

THIS IS KITCHEN . . . The Edwin Hallum home near Rushford, Minn., was wrecked. This is the wreckage of the kitchen. (Manion photo)

FREMONT DAMAGE

Refrigerator Pins Girl at Rushford

RUSHFORD, Minn. — Several farms in the Rushford area were severely hit by the twisters Wednesday night.

The EDWIN HALLUM place, 14 miles southeast of Rushford in upper Yucatan Valley, was reduced to rubble. Every building went down except an old corn crib on this farm at the head of the valley and its roof was carried off. The cobs of corn were left undisturbed in their pile.

The cows were in pasture. Of the calves in the barn, Rushford firemen found two dead.

Two tractors, apparently a little to the side of the funnel, were untouched. The family car and a panel truck looked as if they had been rolled over and over until landing in a ditch. Big evergreen trees were uprooted and lay flat on the ground.

There are four in the Hallum family. Phyllis, eighth grader, was slightly injured when she was pinned by the refrigerator.

Hallum also was treated for a slight injury at Rushford Clinic. An earlier report that he received a leg fracture isn't true. Neither was hospitalized.

Two AGRIMSON farms in Winona County about four miles south of Fremont received damage.

The Cyrus Agrimson place is 14 miles west of Rushford, Arendahl area. Everything was taken by the wind except the house, including a large barn and pole barn. There were 5,000 to 6,000 chickens in the outbuilding.

His brother, Harold, living a mile closer to Rushford, lost his windmill. Reportedly, Cyrus lost five buildings and Harold, three.

EDDIE JAMESON, living in Yucatan Valley about 1½ miles from the Hallum place, had damage to all buildings but the house and garage. Part of the barn also was left.

THREE FUNNELS were sighted in this area. The first two passed by, and the third dropped down, at 7:15 p.m. CST. Tri-County Electric employees worked all night. All trucks were out this morning. Men were working and couldn't be reached.

A report had come in, however, that 12 consecutive poles were down in the Looney Valley area north of HOUSTON.

Long distance telephone lines were out in some places. Town roads were blocked by trees, victims of the big wind.

Sikkim is smaller than Yellowstone National Park and has only 165,000 people. The land rises north of India in central Asia from tropically luxuriant valleys to a panorama of snowy mountains, sky and emerald lakes held in towering folds of rock.

Probers Ask Honor Code Be Retained

WASHINGTON (AP) — The five-man committee that investigated the cheating scandal at the Air Force Academy recommended today that the honor code be retained. But the committee said some changes may be needed in the way the code is applied.

The committee headed by retired Gen. Thomas D. White, conducted hearings, interviews, and studies of the scandal which resulted in the resignation of 105 cadets.

The committee reported to Secretary Eugene M. Zuckert that the academy's program is fundamentally sound.

The Air Force, in a report to Congress after the cheating was disclosed, said two chief members of a cheating ring made a profit of about $900 in selling examinations to other cadets.

Four other cadets were described as "contact men" who made the actual sales of the examination questions.

TWISTED WRECKAGE . . . Twisted wreckage was all that remained on the Henry R. Boehm farm near La Crescent. The wind demolished a trailer house on the farm, whipped off the top of one barn, flattened several sheds and completely wrecked one building and tossed the remains about 100 yards away. Machinery in this shed on the Boehm farm was heavily damaged. (Daily News photo)

Barn and Small Buildings Wrecked at La Crescent

LA CRESCENT, Minn. (Special) — One of several twisters swooping down on Minnesota Wednesday night hit the Gerald Mormann farm on the Pine Creek road west of La Crescent, demolishing a barn 40 by 60. They have 14 children.

The storm, which lasted about three minutes, also damaged the David Mormann property, Pine Creek Creamery, William Thicke, Henry Boehm and Robert Taylor farms in the general area.

MRS. MORMANN said the approaching storm sounded like wind in willows and increased in velocity until it seemed as if a train were nearing.

All the Mormanns' 14 children were at home except Mary Lou, who was working at the Del-Jarlais Supper Club. She tried to call home at 8:15 p.m. DST but telephone lines already were down. Clocks at the Mormann farm stopped at 8:20 p.m.

All at once, Mrs. Mormann said, the kitchen was so full of wind she could hardly stand; she had been putting milk in the refrigerator after milking. Mormann ran for the door, intending to take the children to the cattle pasture, but there wasn't time. No one was hurt, but the smaller children became ill from shock after the storm was over.

THE YARD was a shambles. The barn roof was carried 80 feet and landed on the cab of their son David's truck.

About 50 neighbors gathered quickly and helped the Mormanns get the cattle from the barn. They saved all but two of the 28 head.

A machine shed, hoghouse, granary and rabbit house also were destroyed and several trees were toppled. In the house, however, only windows were blown out.

Using Christmas, birthday and first Communion candles, Mrs. Mormann got the children to bed. It was impossible to clean glass from the house Wednesday night from the broken panes.

David Corcoran, Hokah, and Joetta Hall, Winona, David Mormann's fiancée, also were at the house and got in on the excitement. David Mormann was fixing up the Pine Creek store nearby for a residence; he intends to marry soon. He had started a garage in a repair shop on the property. This was demolished.

Mormann said he had only minimum insurance coverage and couldn't estimate his loss. The newest building was the barn. David valued his wrecked truck at $1,500.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert (Hub)

E. BARGE Sr. had just returned from a bowling banquet at La Crescent when the storm struck their home near the Pine Creek Creamery. The garage door was snatched from Barge's hand and he was thrown to the floor. The wind blew out one end of the brick PINE CREEK CREAMERY.

The roof was torn off the large barn on the THICKE farm seven miles northwest of La Crescent on Pier Ridge. A combination machine shed and granary and farm truck were damaged. An old barn was tipped over.

On the HENRY BOEHM farm in Pine creek a trailer owned by Irvin Boehm was tipped and the roof was blown off a machine shed. Smaller buildings were wrecked.

A corrugated roof from the Robert Taylor barn on the ridge landed on the pasture at the Mormann farm.

La Crescent got its first report of the storm shortly after 9 p.m. when a small unidentified girl rushed into Crucifixion auditorium shouting for her uncle, also unidentified. She said the barn had blown down. Immediately some 100 persons, who had been watching a movie on pornographic literature at a program sponsored by the Knights of Columbus, dispersed.

Chatfield Area Gets Tornado; Lights Go Out Teen-ager Hurt In Durand Crash

CHATFIELD, Minn. — Tornadoes striking down between four and eight miles west from Chatfield Wednesday at 9:25 p.m. CST took the barn, machine shed, corner and granary on the LEO HORAN farm.

Only damage to the house was to siding and windows.

Hogs were saved from their damaged building on the LEON KELLOGG farm, where a corner was destroyed.

The barn was felled and trees uprooted at the LAUREN KRUMHOLTZ place.

Lightning struck the LEON MILLER house in the same area about midnight but didn't start a fire. Lights were out in part of Chatfield about one-half hour Wednesday evening.

The buildings on one farm south of Spring Valley reportedly were taken, and eight others were damaged in the Bloomfield Township area.

DURAND, Wis. (Special) — Of six teen-agers whose 1956 car went into a ditch northeast of here Wednesday night, one, Cheryl Ward, was brought by ambulance to St. Benedict's Community Hospital.

Dennis Odegard was the driver. They were going northeast on Highway 85 four miles west of Durand. Dennis told George Plummer, Pepin County traffic officer, that he ran off the right edge of the blacktop. In trying to get back onto the road, the car skidded out of control and overturned in the ditch on the left side of the highway. Plummer said the car was a total wreck.

A Durand doctor was called. Cheryl was reported to be partly unconscious when removed. The accident happened at 10 p.m.

SCATTERED . . . The barns on the William Thicke farm near Dakota were scattered over a 200-yard area Wednesday night by damaging winds. Part of the roof of one barn is in the foreground. Farm machinery was tipped over and heavily damaged. (Daily News photo)

BATTERED BARN . . . Sheet metal from the roof and sides of this barn on the Donald Thesing farm near Dakota was scattered for more than a mile by the winds Wednesday night. There were no animals in the structure at the time. A pumphouse and a corn crib also were flattened by the wind. Thesing did not have insurance on his buildings. (Daily News photo)

DRESBACH CEMETERY . . . Falling trees caused heavy damage to several tombstones in the Dresbach Cemetery. This tombstone here was toppled by a tree which was uprooted by the winds. (Daily News photo)

The book is the second in a series of religious stories for children. The first was "The First Rainbow," released last November. Another of Miss Bergey's books, "The Boy Who Saved His Family," will be released next year and retells the story of Joseph and his brothers.

Miss Bergey, a polio victim for the last 17 years, types her books at the rate of three words a minute. Her first children's story was "Rocky, the Rocket Mouse," published in 1961.

Travelers in Ethiopia dread the fierce Danakil warriors. Their desert code demands the murder of strangers lest they deplete water holes.

Cotter Students Selected for Summer Study

Two Cotter High School students have been selected to participate in special summer science training programs in Alabama and Maine.

They are Sandra Wicka, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Florian Wicka, 416 Hamilton St., who will attend a secondary science training program in mathematics at Tuskegee Institute, Tuskegee, Ala., June 14-Aug. 7; and Laurine Speltz, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jerome Speltz, 160 E. Broadway, who will participate in the Jackson Laboratory pre-college training program at Bar Harbor, Maine, June 25-Aug. 26.

At Tuskegee SANDRA will be enrolled in a program designed to expose academically talented high school students to a modern treatment of algebra and trigonometry, probability and statistics. An objective of the course is to stimulate students with high mathematical aptitude to select mathematics as a career and to prepare them more effectively for college.

Sandra is the recipient of a total National Science Foundation scholarship for all living expenses and a stipend for travel. During the time she's at Tuskegee she will tour the George Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville, Ala. At Cotter she has been enrolled in chemistry and intermediate mathematics as preparation for the summer program.

Laurine chose to participate in the program at Bar Harbor after also being named a recipient of a scholarship for the summer program in biochemistry at Clark Science Center, Loomis School, Windsor, Conn.

Her summer work will be devoted to research in attempts to correlate mouse strain differences in terms of pathology and anatomy, utilizing mathematical formulation to arrive at interpretations of various data.

Although research is the core of the Jackson Laboratory program, students participate in colloquia, seminars and informal group meetings.

Laurine, who also prepared for the summer program with work in chemistry and intermediate mathematics, is the second student from Cotter to participate in the Bar Harbor program. Becky Reinarts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Reinarts, 3941 6th St., Goodview, was enrolled last summer.

No Wind Damage In City; More Showers Predicted

The Weather Bureau's tornado warning system was put into effect and alerts were issued for Winona and Station KWNO authorized to maintain full power for the period of the warning.

The sheriff's office and the Winona police department alerted groups meeting in the city.

Power was blacked out north of La Crosse in the Holmen and Bryce Prairie areas. The wooden roof of the one-story block building housing Outers Laboratories, a gun cleaning equipment firm at Bryce Prairie, was partially blown away.

Heaviest amount of rain reported officially was 44 of an inch at Eau Claire, Madison had 32 and Green Bay 13.

Temperatures Wednesday ranged from 54 at Racine to 77 at La Crosse and Eau Claire.

At night, the lowest minimum was Park Falls' 46.

Prairie du Chien Concern Burns

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, Wis. — Fire, started by lightning and spread by chain reaction, burned out the interior of a large building and its contents at the Hutchinson Log and Lumber Co. Wednesday.

Firemen said the lightning apparently struck a tree, setting it afire. This in turn ignited a small storage shed. The shed burned to the ground, setting fire to an 80 by 60-foot metal covered building containing lumber, two tractors and truck tires. One of the large lumber-burning tractors, valued at $20,000, was purchased a week ago.

The company is not in an area affected by the recent record flooding in Prairie du Chien.

Braves' Blasingame Brilliant, Flips 14-Inning Five-Hitter

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves enjoyed a day of rest today — and no one deserved it more than south-paw Wade Blasingame.

The 21-year-old fire-baller allowed only five hits and struck out 12 in an brilliant 14-inning performance as the Braves edged the Houston Astros 2-1 on Eddie Mathews' double Wednesday night before a crowd of 1,391 at foggy County Stadium.

Mathews, handcuffed in five previous trips to the plate, broke up the marathon with his long blast to the wall in right center scoring Mack Jones. Jones had grounded a bad hop single over third baseman Bob Aspromonte's head with one out in the 14th.

Following up his 6-1 triumph over Philadelphia last Saturday, Blasingame was in top form as he evened his record

EDGES ASTROS' 2-1 ON MATHEWS' DOUBLE

2-2. His only mistake was serving up a home run pitch to Rusty Staub, whose drive into the bleachers with two out in the seventh tied the count 1-1.

Only one other Houston player reached second base. Joe Morgan walked and took second on another pass by Blasingame in the fourth. Morgan doubled but was left stranded in the 14th.

Houston right-hander Dick Farrell retired the first 11 Braves in order before Hank Aaron doubled to left center with two out in the fourth. Mathews ended the inning by lining to Morgan at second.

However, Joe Torre, Blasingame's batterymate, broke up the scoreless duel with his third homer of the season, a line shot into the left centerfield bleachers on Farrell's first pitch in the fifth.

After Staub's homer in the seventh, the Braves failed to capitalize on two hits in the eighth. Frank Bolling singled with one out and Blasingame struck out after failing to sacrifice. Felipe Alou singled, moving Bolling to third, but Jones popped to the infield to end the threat.

Farrell was felled by Aaron's line drive at the start of the ninth. The Houston ace was struck on the back of the head by the ball which caromed high into the air and was grabbed by Morgan on the grass behind second base for the putout.

Farrell remained in the game and retired the next two batters before being lifted for a pinchhitter in the 10th. He was taken to a hospital for overnight observation.

Jim Owens hurled hitless ball for Houston in the next three innings and then left for a pinchhitter. Former Brave Claude Raymond escaped damage in the 13th, then was the victim of the hits by Jones and Mathews and was charged with his second defeat in three decisions.

The Braves left by plane today for the start of a 10-game road trip, opening Friday night in New York.

LET'S TALK SPORTS

THERE IS AN ABUNDANCE of joy in the Winona State basketball camp these days.

Naturally, the person wearing the biggest smile is Warrior coach and athletic director, Dr. Robert Campbell, who Monday evening received a phone call from Winona High star Bill Squires.

Squires, the leading Winhawk scorer over two seasons, informed Campbell that he would attend Winona State.

"We definitely feel he will fit into the group," said Campbell. "We expect he will see quite a bit of action next year. We regarded Bill as one of the top area prospects. He will give us the one thing we've lacked in the past — size!"

With Squires and Mel Homuth, outstanding Spring Grove star, set to attend here, Campbell is waiting for star Independence center Jack Bisek, listed at 6-7.

"We understand he will be making a decision soon," said Campbell. "We hope he decides to come here."

GENE BIEWEN, six-year basketball coach at Rochester Lourdes, has tendered his resignation in favor of a teaching position in the northern sector of British Columbia in Canada.

The St. Mary's graduate leaves the post after compiling a 60-66 record in his six years. While an Austin native has vacated the post, similarly an Austin native is the replacement.

Orris E. Jirele, who guided Austin Pacelli to the 1958 state Catholic basketball championship from his guard post, has accepted the job with the statement: "Lourdes is my No. 1 choice. It has very good potential and I hope to bring it out."

Jirele, who became the first player from west of the Mississippi to start for St. Bonaventure University in St. Bonaventure, N.Y., where he was a regular for 2½ years and captain in 1961-62, is a mathematics major and also has done graduate work at Pennsylvania State University and at the University of Minnesota.

He is on the teaching staff at Austin Pacelli and a freshman basketball coach.

SEASON IS JUST around the corner — the National League opens Monday — and already the city association is making plans for fund raising projects.

Their first effort will be a dance at Winona Athletic Club May 15. Music and refreshments will be furnished. Anyone is welcome to attend.

Since the association does serve a worthy purpose, if you have nothing to do May 15, why not plan an evening of dancing?

NOTE TO MEMBERS of the state American Legion tournament committee: There will be a meeting of the group Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

With members expressing a desire to have plans finalized before June 1, this will be one of the final chances to get things settled before the start of the regular season.

IT'S A BOY for Mr. and Mrs. Jon Kosidowski. With the stork floating in with the big, new addition, we understand Jon is most happy with the young fella. In fact, we wouldn't be a bit surprised to find that he already has a baseball bat and glove.

At any rate, mommy and son are doing just fine, and our congratulations are added to those already received.

Redmen Sweep Past Macalester, Make Conference Record 5-1

By JOHN VOTAVA
Of St. Mary's College

With 1964 lurking in the background and the '65 St. Mary's Redmen quietly eyeing repetition of victories that brought them the pennant last year, they not so quietly pounded Macalester College 14-3 and 7-1 Wednesday for their fourth and fifth consecutive successes in the MIAC.

Bob Paradise went the route for St. Mary's in the opener, getting tapped for nine hits while striking out 11 and walking only two.

THE JUNIOR, now 2-1 for the season, looked for a while as if he were going to have to do it

BUT ANDERSON still couldn't find the knee-to-shoulder zone and walked Bob Paradise and Vic Fischer to load the bases. Steve Granzky dribbled a roller to shortstop Pete Mickelson, who made a wild toss to second attempting to force Fischer. Buffo scored, the bases were loaded.

No. 9 hitter and long overdue left fielder Dennis Ludden waited out a 3-1 count before jacking a waist high fastball 350 feet over the left field fence.

Knoedler, now hitting at .406, started the parade again in the sixth when he doubled down the right field line. Two ground balls to the second baseman put him across, Paradise and Granzky then sandwiched singles around Fischer, who worked a 3-2 count for a free pass—Anderson's sixth in two innings.

LUDDEN collected his fifth RBI with a single to left, and Payette punched two more across with a double that hit the very top of the wire fence in right field. Ludden tallied the 14th run as Denny Trickel was bobbling Matt Kolodge's short bouncer.

As frequently happens in the nightcap, the game began started as a complete reversal of the 20 hits and eight errors of the first. In fact, for a while, it

BOTH PITCH FOUR-HITTERS, WARREN BOWS 1-0

Bunning's Homer Costs Spahn Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jim Bunning of the Philadelphia Phils, who made his comeback last year, has temporarily sidetracked Warren Spahn's 1965 revival by beating the great southpaw at his own game.

Bunning, whose perfect game last June 21 against the New York Mets helped him capture National League comeback laurels, returned to Shea Stadium Wednesday night and personally outscored the Mets and Spahn 1-0 with an opposite-field home run.

The homer was Bunning's first in the league. Spahn has 36, the all-time record for NL pitchers.

Spahn determined at 44 years of age to bounce back from his 6-12 season with Milwaukee in 1961, pitched his best game as a Met, matching Bunning's four-hitter. But the pitch that Bunning hit over the right field fence in the sixth inning made Spahn a loser for the second time in four decisions.

Bunning's homer left him seven behind San Francisco's Willie Mays for the year. Mays hit No. 8, high in the majors, in the Giants' 10-5, 10-inning victory at St. Louis. Milwaukee ripped Houston 2-1 in 14 innings, the Los Angeles Dodgers topped Cincinnati 4-2 and the Chicago Cubs defeated Pittsburgh 3-1 in other NL games.

Bunning yielded four singles, while improving his current record to 2-3. He retired 20 of 21 Met batters during one stretch and wrapped up the victory by striking out the side in the ninth.

"I hit a high curve ball," he said of the home run pitch. "Spahn should know better than to throw a high curve to a country boy or a good hitting pitcher."

The Giants exploded for five runs in the 10th inning after two errors by second baseman Phil Gagliano on the same play opened the gates. Jim Davenport led off the inning with a double, took third on a ground out and scored the go-ahead run when Gagliano bobbed Ed Ball's grounder, then threw wildly to the plate.

Versalles Wiends Big Bat (4 RBI) as Twins Storm Past Baltimore

S. P. A. U. L. (AP) — This may be the year of the Z, when Minnesota Twins shortstop Zoilo Versalles realizes the potential so long predicted for him.

Versalles, who as a homesick 20-year-old in 1961 decided he had had all he wanted of the great American dream of playing major league baseball and bolted the Twins, slashed four hits and drove in four runs Wednesday night and paced a 9-2 victory over Baltimore.

The burst lifted Zoilo's batting average 36 points to .315 and extended his hitting streak to 12 games. In the streak he has batted .354. His 23 hits include 8 doubles, 3 triples and 1 home run.

Versalles and Twins batting coach Jim Lemon agree that the young Cuban's sudden spurt is attributable to two things: Zoilo is laying off high pitches and he's getting his weight behind the bat instead of swinging from the ankles and shooting for the fences.

"It has taken a long time to cure Versalles of both faults," he added. "I'm using the same model bat as Tony Oliva, so maybe that's why I'm getting so many hits," Versalles joshed.

"I have to be careful with a high pitch; that's my trouble," he added. "and I try to relax more at the plate. But the main thing is I have to tell myself all the time to watch for the high pitch and leave it alone."

Lemon said Versalles is "staying on the ball, not trying to hit the ball out of the park and swinging at strikes. He had a tendency to swing at high pitches and this year he's not doing it. And he's keeping his weight out over the plate where he can commit it properly. He's not pulling away."

He tripled home a run in the second inning, singled in two runs in the third and doubled home another in the seventh in triggering the Twins' rout of the Orioles Wednesday.

Rich Rollins and Jerry Zimmerman added three hits apiece to the Twins' 14-hit attack in support of Camilo Pascual's six-hit pitching for his third victory without defeat.
