Congress Expecting Long, Hard Summer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although Congress has cleared some controversial hurdles, Senate and House leaders have abandoned hopes for adjournment in July or even by Aug. 1.

Traffic Deaths Ahead of Normal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Deaths in traffic accidents on the nation's highways on the first day of the Memorial Day weekend appeared to be running slightly ahead of the normal mark for a non-holiday period.
But the National Safety Council said it was too early in the holiday period to draw any conclusions from the current pace of fatalities.
Sixty-one persons died in highway accidents as millions of motorists jammed the streets and highways on the first day of the holiday period. The Associated Press count of traffic toll deaths started at 6 p.m. (local time) Friday.
In the first three months this year traffic deaths averaged about 100 a day. The death toll last year was a record high of more than 40,000.
The National Safety Council has estimated that between 430 and 510 persons will die in traffic accidents during the 78-hour holiday period, ending at midnight Monday. The record for a three-day observance of Memorial Day was 431 set last year. The lowest total was 204 in 1948.
An Associated Press survey of highway fatalities during a three-day non-holiday weekend period, from 6 p.m. Friday May 14 to midnight Monday May 17, showed a total of 387.
Although Memorial Day officially is Sunday, millions also will have Monday off from work as most business and industrial establishments will be closed.

Rolvaag Vetoes Bring Criticism

ST. PAUL (AP)—The Minnesota Legislature's 1965 session and Gov. Karl Rolvaag's attention to the 859 bills before him have passed into history, but criticism of some of the governor's action still goes on.
Rolvaag finished working on the legislature's efforts hours before the deadline for signing bills at midnight Thursday.
Two Conservatives had some words Friday about the governor's vetoes. Rolvaag vetoed 12 bills on the last constitutional day of work, Thursday.
Sen. Gordon Rosenmeier of Little Falls, chief author of the Conservation Department reorganization plan, which Rolvaag vetoed, said by his action the governor now must see to it that there is progress in conservation.
Rolvaag refused to sign the reorganization bill, contending the copy he received was not correct. Rosenmeier, however, commented:
"At any rate, a very important bill which had the approval of a great majority of the legislature did not become law."
Rep. Paul Overgaard of Albert Lea, who authored the vetoed workmen's compensation bill, said he could not understand Rolvaag's action.
Overgaard defended his bill, which provided greater compensation for injured workers with dependents than single persons.
Rolvaag, meanwhile, was in Moorhead Friday at a Red River Valley planning committee meeting. Gov. William Guy of North Dakota also attended the session.
The two governors were asked to explain why one pushed for a sales tax increase and the other opposed any sales tax.
Rolvaag had told the Minnesota Legislature he would veto any sales tax and told the Moorhead meeting:
"The Minnesota Democratic-Farmer-Labor party held that a sales tax would not be considered unless it dealt with tax reform. It should not just deal with tax relief. And the legislature saw fit not to adopt my recommendations for tax relief and reform."
Guy said: "We could not have achieved elimination of personal property taxes or more aid to education without the sales tax increase. Although the Democratic Nonpartisan League realizes the sales tax is regressive, it is the lesser of two evils."

Russ Accuse 2 Americans Of Being Spies

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet newspaper Saturday accused two American diplomats in Moscow of being spies for the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency. The U.S. Embassy called the charge a fabrication.
The accusation apparently was the Soviet Union's response to charges by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover that spies are included in practically every Soviet group that visits the United States.
At the same time the paper Sovetskaya Rossiya accused the Canadian government of harassing Soviet diplomats and newsmen in Ottawa.
In Ottawa a spokesman for the Canadian foreign ministry called the charges "completely unfounded."
Nyedelyn weekly magazine section of the Soviet government paper Izvestia, said that Malcolm Toon, the U.S. Embassy counselor, and Alan Logan, a second secretary, were actually CIA agents.
It said Toon, 48, third-ranking political officer in the embassy, was a typical example of "the master spy of American detective novels." Logan, 39, was described as the head of the embassy's intelligence group specializing in Soviet-African relations.
An American Embassy spokesman called the Nyedelyn article "a highly scurrilous piece which is a complete fabrication." Toon would make no comment.

—Revision of the Immigration laws to wipe out the national origins quotas in existence more than 40 years.
—Repeal of the Taft-Hartley law Section 14b, which permits states to ban labor contracts requiring a worker to join a union to hold his job.
—Extension of the minimum-wage law to cover 4.5 million additional workers in low-pay categories.
—Creation of a Cabinet department of housing and urban development.
—Liberalization of unemployment compensation payments and establishing of federal standards for the amount and duration of benefits.
None of these has as high a priority in the Johnson program as the voting-rights bill or the Social Security-health care measure.
The voting rights and health measures are considered certain to reach Johnson's desk before long. The former has passed the Senate and the latter the House.
Legislators named by the administration to handle the five other bills believe that all except the unemployment compensation measure have a reasonably good chance of passage this year. But they concede there could be long and bitter fights over each one.

$250,000 in Gold Saved in Fire

OWATONNA, Minn. (AP) — About $250,000 in gold was carried to safety when fire struck a building housing the Josten Co. casting department Saturday.
The alarm was turned in about 12:30 a.m. by a watchman who heard an explosion and then saw flames at the rear of the second floor.
The gold, used by the firm in making school class rings and other emblems, was stored at the rear of the building. It was carried out by a company official. Some equipment also was saved.
A company official said no loss estimate was available immediately but added he expected it would be quite extensive.
Lost in the blaze were molds and machinery used in manufacturing class rings and other equipment. The roof of the two-story building collapsed. Water damage to the first floor was heavy, the company official said.

Faulty Battery Replaced in Gemini Capsule

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The cast and stand-ins for the most spectacular of all U.S. space spectacles, the flight of the Gemini 4, ran through more rehearsals Saturday in preparation for next Thursday's opening.
The job of replacing a faulty battery in the two-man spacecraft was completed late Friday. The electrical systems were checked out during the night. Saturday, space agency officials said the job was successful and there would be no delay in the launch.
Astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II, two Air Force majors, will attempt a 62-orbit, four-day flight, the longest in U.S. space history. They will attempt the world's first space rendezvous when they edge close to their spent second-stage booster. And White plans to become the first American to emerge from the capsule and float free in space at the end of a golden tether.
The farm product price increases contributed to higher retail food prices reported Thursday by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.
Prices paid by farmers for goods and services used in production and in family living rose 1 per cent during the month, setting a new record. These prices were 3 per cent above the date a year ago.

New Probing Actions All Along Line

SAIGON, Soviet Viet Nam (AP) — A series of Viet Cong attacks erupted Saturday in the three northernmost provinces of South Viet Nam, bringing concern that the Communists may soon start a big drive to the sea. One U.S. officer and an undetermined number of Vietnamese troops were killed.
The Vietnamese army struck back, but the initiative appeared to be with the Viet Cong. The Communists seemed to be trying to confuse the Vietnamese as to where the main blow would fall.

There was rising speculation that U.S. Marines from Da Nang in the area would be sent into action if the fighting got too rough for the Vietnamese.
In the air, U.S. warplanes again struck at Communist North Viet Nam. Six Air Force F-105 Thunderchiefs and supporting jets dumped 12 tons of bombs on Hon Nieu Nien, 130 miles north of the border.
A U.S. military spokesman said they destroyed an anti-aircraft battery, two buildings and a radar tower despite heavy ground fire and returned safely.
Eight Navy planes from the carrier Oriskany severely damaged a wooden bridge and a barge and hit two highway bridges in unloading three tons of bombs on an area 160 miles south of Hanoi. A spokesman reported all planes returned to the carrier.
In Saigon, U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor postponed his trip to Washington for the second time in 24 hours because of political jostling between Premier Phan Huy Quat and Phan Khac Suu, chief of state, over Cabinet shifts. Taylor expects to leave Sunday.

In the ground war, Viet Cong attacks were concentrated in Quang Tri Province, bordering North Viet Nam, Quang Nam next to Quang Tri, and Quang Ngai, first province south of Quang Nam.
The U.S. Army officer — the 391st American to be killed in combat — was with a Vietnamese force in an outpost three miles east of Quang Tri, the provincial capital. He died along with about 30 government soldiers when the Viet Cong overran the post.
On the other hand, government troops in an operation still continuing killed 23 Viet Cong and captured 18 in Quang Tri.
There were multiple Viet Cong attacks in Quang Nam Province, where the big U.S. air base and Marine center of Da Nang is located.

Nine Killed In Crash of Private Plane

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A private plane crashed and burned Saturday, killing all nine aboard as they started on a weekend fishing and skin-diving expedition to Baja California, Mexico.
The dead included the physician pilot and his two sons.
The twin-engine Beechcraft plunged into a gully in an open field at 7:03 a.m., six minutes after taking off from Orange County Airport at nearby Costa Mesa.
A witness said the plane appeared to be having engine trouble, lost altitude and struck a power line.
Investigators identified the pilot as Dr. Melvern K. Lelsy, 40, a general practitioner of Altaadena, Calif., and his sons as Derek, 14, and Kurt, 11.
Other victims were not immediately identified.
Three of the dead, in the central part of the wreckage, were burned beyond recognition. Five bodies were scattered over a 300-yard area.
Lelsy was flying a plane owned by a friend, Richard G. Kennedy, Pasadena, one of his patients, who was not aboard.
Kennedy had been the physician's companion on numerous flights in the plane for snow skiing at such resorts as Mammoth Mountain, Calif.; Sun Valley, Idaho, and Aspen, Colo.
Kennedy, 30, manufactures extruded aluminum trimming in El Monte, Calif.

TOO MANY CANDIDATES

MUNFORDVILLE, Ky. (AP) — David Stewart, the incumbent county clerk, figured out a way to keep candidates from wanting their campaign cards on each other.
Stewart, one of 57 who entered the May primary, had buttons made which read: "DON'T SHAKE MY HAND — I'M A CANDIDATE TOO."

Flood Bills Climb

Invoices covering costs of dike construction now on hand at the city recorder's office have reached a total of $1,498,260.09.

The total comprises four expense categories: Labor, $337,781.36, equipment rental, $750,033.25, materials $303,084.98, and damages, $107,360.50.

Totals shown in the table below are for all expenses to date. A previous breakdown, published May 13, showed bills for all categories totaling $1,444,260.91. These are included in the gross amount shown for each category.

In general, said the city recorder's office, contractors' bills were made up according to a uniform schedule of charges. Some representative examples are:

House trailers used for offices, $175 a week; Euclid earth movers, $32 an hour; trucks, $6 to $10 an hour according to size; track bulldozers, $9 to $30 an hour; draglines, $18 to $20; truck cranes, $16 to $18, and rubber-tired loaders, $16 to $20.

Hiawatha Hits Car at Kellogg

KELLOGG, Minn. (Special) — The Milwaukee Road Hiawatha demolished a 1958 Studebaker at Midland Junction one mile north of Kellogg at 10:05 a.m. Saturday.

The fast train was traveling downriver when it hit the unoccupied car, which had stalled on the crossing. It belonged to Mrs. John Hoffman, who with her daughter Linda was en route to visit her sister, Mrs. Ernest Gusa. When the car stopped, Mrs. Hoffman and Linda went to the Gusa farm, which is near the crossing, to get a tractor to pull it off the tracks. Meanwhile, the train came. It stopped briefly and

Assault Trial Slated Tuesday

A Winona man pleaded not guilty Saturday in municipal court to a charge of assault brought by a young boy.

Stanley Langowski Sr., 55, Sugar Loaf, will be tried Tuesday at 11 a.m. on the charge of grabbing young Larry Smith, no address given, by his clothes and causing fear of bodily harm in the youth.

The complaint sworn out by the youth also charges that Langowski tore Smith's clothes May 17.

Attorney Duane A. Peterson represents Langowski.

Mental Health Fund Checked at Stockton

STOCKTON, Minn. — First reports of the Bellinger Campaign being conducted by the Winona County Mental Health Association were heard by the Rev. Walter Meyer, Lewiston, chairman, at the home of Mrs. Karl Lipsohn here Friday.

Minnesota City 4-H clubs collected $60, according to Mrs. Roger Church, captain. Mrs. Arthur Wacholz, chairman, Stockton, reported $41. Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Ahern reported $29 collected by the Lewiston Rural Ramblers 4-H Club. Pauline Wershofen, chairman at Pickwick, turned in $16.

Dakota, Dresbach, Homer, Rollingstone, Altura, Elba, St. Charles, Utica, Wilson and Ridgeway haven't reported.

License Number Identification To Police Only

ST. PAUL (AP) — After July 1, you won't be able to call up the State Motor Vehicle Division to find out the name and address of the cute blonde whose automobile license number you were lucky enough to catch.

Or even, as a matter of fact, the name and address of the driver who almost forced you off the road.

The legislature has decreed that after July 1, license number information will be furnished, by telephone, only to law enforcement agencies and to federal, state and local governmental units.

The provision was written into the state departments appropriations bill. It is an example of the kind of provisions which find their way into the law without much fanfare or publicity.

Lawmakers wrote it in after asking Secretary of State Joseph Donovan and Wilbur Howes, motor vehicles director, about the license number telephone calls.

The two said the records section of the Motor Vehicles Division handles one-half million such calls a year, only 15 to 18 per cent of them from law enforcement agencies.

Object of cutting off telephone calls from the general public is to save money, but neither Donovan nor Howes was willing to guess how much would be saved. They indicated, though, that they probably would discontinue about half the 10 telephone calls now in use in the records section, which is manned 24 hours a day.

License number telephone service has been available since 1921, when there were 330,000 motor vehicles registered compared with the 2,040,000 numbers now on file.

Cutting of telephone service to the general public will mean that such inquiries can be made only by mail or in person.

Since this is a money-saving move, officials are considering requiring those who mail in requests to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the reply.

Tree Shorts Out St. Peter Power

ST. PETER, Minn. (AP) — This Nicollet County city of some 8,500 persons, and surrounding areas, were without power for 35 minutes Friday when a fallen tree shorted a Northern States Power Co. line near the Rush River substation.

Bad Weather For Johnson In Texas Visit

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, home in Texas for the first time in six weeks, is being plagued with bad weather.

Cloudy skies with occasional thundershowers — some of them heavy — were forecast Saturday for the area of the LBJ Ranch 15 miles west of here.

Johnson, who flew to the ranch Thursday night for the Memorial Day weekend, had plenty of weather troubles Friday. Because of torrential rains and a low ceiling, the President had to fly by helicopter to and from Baylor University commencement exercises in Waco, 120 miles northeast of here. He had hoped to make the trip in his Air Force Jetstar transport.

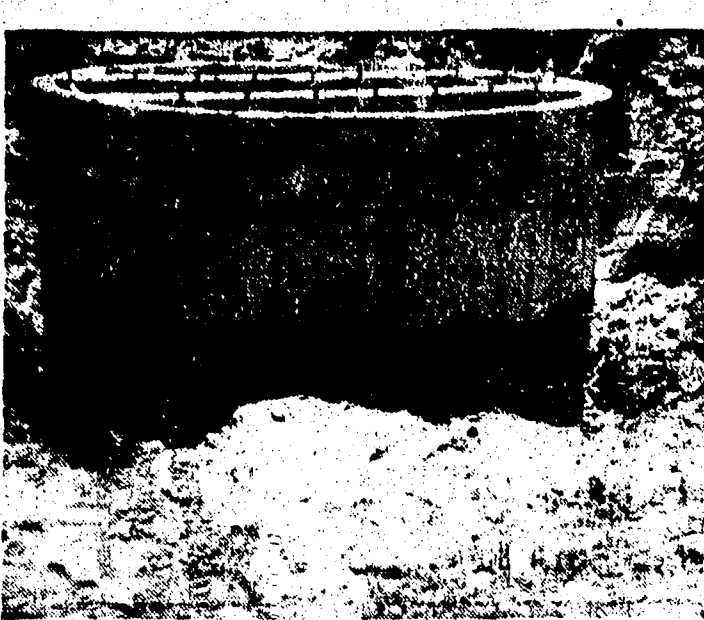

The weather also altered Johnson's plans for delivering the Baylor commencement address. He wanted to use a teleprompter for the speech, broadcast nationally by television and radio networks, but the necessary equipment got hung up in the clouds aboard a chartered airliner bringing the White House press corps to Waco.

Because of rains that caused flash floods in the area, the plane was able to land only after Johnson had arrived at the ceremony. He read a typed copy of the speech.

Johnson's first stab at relaxation during the weekend also was affected by the weather. After the Baylor event, he flew to Lyndon B. Johnson Lake — formerly Granite Shoals Lake — north of here for an outing. But clouds hugged the ground there and rain came down in sheets.

Mrs. Johnson, who had an engagement in Washington Friday, flew to the ranch Friday night to join her husband. They are expected to return to the capital Monday night.

Press secretary George E. Reedy said Friday night that Johnson would hold a news conference next Tuesday at the White House. The 4 p.m. EDT conference will be Johnson's first since April 27 and will be available for live radio and television coverage.

IMHOFF TANK . . . This is the Imhoff tank for the sewage treatment facilities at Pigeon Falls, Wis. The $155,146 project also includes laying the sewer lines, first in the village. Laying of them is about half completed. Target date for system operation is Sept. 1. A ridge and furrow irrigation system is included in the project and will take care of industrial wastes from the creamery.

The project will cost the village $94,800. Pigeon Falls Cooperative Creamery, $32,330, and the federal government has contributed an anti-water pollution grant of $28,016. (Knudson Photo)

Car Wrecked At Independence

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Although his 1952 car was demolished in an accident Friday, Daniel Maule, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Maule, rural Independence, wasn't injured.

Maule was traveling east on Silver Fox Ridge about three miles west of Independence when he apparently lost control. His car rolled over into a ditch on the north side of the highway, landing on its wheels. Trempealeau County Sheriff Eugene Bijold received the call at 4:30 p.m.

FCC Director Raps LBJ Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lee Loevinger, a member of the Federal Communications Commission, has criticized the FCC's plan for regulating the Community Antenna Television industry.

FCC Chairman E. William Henry defended the agency's position Friday in an opening hearing before the House Interstate Commerce Committee.

The issue was not the need for regulation, but over the FCC's proposals and assertion of jurisdiction without further congressional authority.

$9,195 in Trust For Elgin Boy Who Lost Arm

ELGIN, Minn. — An Elgin youth who lost one of his arms below the elbow in a rotary power mower accident will receive $9,195 when he's 21.

Theodore Tucker, 14, son of the Donald Tuckers, rural Elgin, will receive the money as his share of an out-of-court settlement in an injury suit. Theodore was 7 when the accident happened Sept. 5, 1957. The Tuckers were living at Plainview then.

Root Manufacturing Co., its distributor, Fairbanks Morse & Co. and Reiter-Murphy, Inc., Plainview retailer, were defendants. A settlement of $175,000 was sought in two suits filed against the defendants by Tucker and son.

Following the sixth day of trial here the settlement was

Scientists Test Space Reactor

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Scientists report they have operated a Nerva nuclear space rocket reactor three times for a total running time of 68 minutes.

The reactor ran for 43 minutes in the latest test Friday — but not at full power.

A spokesman for the nuclear rocket development station said a full power run May 20 generated 1,100 megawatts, equivalent to 55,000 pounds of thrust.

Slated for an initial test in 60 days is an advanced reactor, Phoebus I, which is designed for a thrust range of 200,000 pounds. Generated over long periods, such sustained thrust could eventually drive spacecraft to planets beyond the reach of brief-burning chemical rockets.

reached, providing $15,000 for the son and $3,500 for his father. The son's trust is left after legal and medical expenses. The settlement was filed in Olmsted County District Court last week.

Waumandee Girl Crowned Queen of Arcadia Festival

NEW ARCADIA QUEEN . . . Phyllis Rippley, center, will reign over the annual Arcadia, Wis., Broiler-Dairy Day parade today. Her attendants, Barbara Patzner, left, and Susan Erickson, right, and all 14 candidates will ride in floats provided by A-G Cooperative, producer of the Arcadia Fryers for which the festival is named. There will be 59 units in the parade, scheduled for 2 p.m. (King Studio)

Winners Ride In Parade This Afternoon

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special) — It wasn't easy to choose the 1965 Arcadia Broiler-Dairy queen among the 14 young beauties entered, but the judges Friday night came up with Phyllis Rippley, 18, Waumandee, who was crowned during the coronation ball opening the three-day festival. It closes tonight.

First attendant is 17-year-old Barbara Patzner of the Dodge area and second, Susan Erickson, 17, Arcadia. They'll ride in convertibles furnished by plants of A-G Cooperative in the 59-unit parade today at 2 p.m.

Phyllis, brunette daughter of the Louis Ripples, Cochrane address, is 5 foot 11. She received a bouquet of roses and $100, gifts of the sponsoring Lions Club. She plans to use the money toward expenses at River Falls State College, which she'll enter this fall.

Former mayor Milo Knutson, La Crosse, introduced all the candidates as the audience waited for the announcement of the winners.

The attendants received $25 prizes and flowers. BARBARA will use her gift at a Minneapolis school where she will study to be a stewardess.

Her sister, Diane, was Broiler Queen five years ago.

Diane, now Mrs. Richard Guseman of New York City, later was named Clipper Queen. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Patzner Sr., Dodge.

SUSAN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orlin Erickson Sr., will use her gift toward education at Eau Claire State College. Susan was homecoming queen last fall and was a cheerleader.

Queen judges were Vaughn Hoffman, Mrs. William Herrick, and John Lucette, teachers at Durand, Osseo and Independence, respectively.

A Winona barbershop quartet entertained prior to the coronation ball. The Messengers, Winona, played for dancing. John Knottling was chairman of the queen committee. Bonnie Feuling, retiring queen, placed the crown on her successor.

SQUARE DANCING in City Park will follow the parade and state title wrestling will be on the program at 8:15 p.m. today. There's a carnival in City Park area and Arcadia Fryers done to a turn at barbecue stands all over town.

The champion and consolation wrestling finals will be followed by a "Battle Royal" among Ted Bosanic, Jack Guy, The Saint, Little Bear, and Chief Little Wolf.

Cub Pack Award Attached to Flag

An award won at a recent Kiwanis Club-sponsored scout exposition was attached to the group's flag at the recent meeting of Cub Pack 2, Central Lutheran Church.

Awards also went to Steven Harbeck, Steve Brank, Mark Hunn and Dave Starick, who won mother training awards went to Mrs. Edward Starick and Mrs. George Jessen.

Theme of the meeting was fishing. The pack's next meeting will be a picnic in June.

End of Bounty System Brings Mixed Reaction

The end of Minnesota's bounty system June 30 will be greeted with mixed reactions by Winona County officials.

There are some that will hail it with cheers — or, at least, quiet satisfaction.

Others, for whom an attack on the bounty system is something akin to an attack on motherhood or the flag, will be outraged.

Both sides, however, will be able to agree on one point: The end of the bounty system in the state will settle a long-standing period of indecision in Winona County.

The bounty program will end June 30 because Gov. Karl F. Rolvag last week vetoed two bills that would have extended bounty payments on bears, foxes and other predators.

IN HIS VETO message, the governor said studies have shown that bounties have been proved "over and over again" to be failure either in controlling predators or increasing game species.

He proposed that the money that has been used for bounties be used instead to help counties develop game refuges.

In taking this step, Gov. Rolvag is following the recommendation of the conservation groups that have been contending that the bounty system does not do what it is supposed to do.

Most game wardens agree. Francis Teske, Winona County warden, appeared before the Winona County Board of Commissioners in January 1964 to ask that the group discontinue fox bounties. The game population, he said, depends more on what cover is available in an area than on the number of foxes there.

THE BOARD decided to continue to pay bounties that year, however, and only Len J. Merchlewitz, Winona, 1st District commissioner and an outspoken foe of bounties, voted against the measure.

In January of this year, the board again voted in favor of continuing bounty payment. Again, Merchlewitz was the only dissenter.

The January 1965 meeting was also the occasion for Teske to tell the board that its members were no longer authorized to issue warrants for bounty payments. Anyone wishing to collect a bounty would have to see him, Teske said.

At the March meeting this year, James Papenfuss, Dakota, 5th District commissioner, complained that bounty-seekers were finding it difficult to collect their bounties from Teske because he travels throughout the county. If they are to be put to the trouble of looking all over the county for Teske, Papenfuss asserted, the bounty-hunters should be paid for their trouble.

PAPENFUSS — supported by Adolph Spitzer, St. Charles, 3rd District commissioner — proposed raising the fox bounty to $2.50 or $3. It had been set at $2.

Merchlewitz had earlier suggested that bounty agents be appointed and paid for their trouble by the bounty — hunters themselves, who would be charged 10 cents for each bounty they collected. He objected that raising bounties 30 cents or $1 would more than offset this 10-cent charge and would instead be a substantial increase in bounties.

No final decision was reached, and the situation has remained essentially the same since March.

U.S. Flags Fly Half-Staff Until Noon Today

Although Monday will be observed as a holiday, Memorial Day is today and this is the day to fly the flag at half staff until noon.

According to the United States flag code, approved by the Congress, "the flag should be displayed on all days when the weather permits, especially 'Memorial Day (half staff until noon) May 30 . . ."

Regarding half staff, the code says: "The flag when flown at half staff, should be first hoisted to the peak for an instant and then lowered to the half-staff position. By 'half staff' is meant lowering the flag to one-half the distance between the top and bottom of the staff."

Survey on Need For Office Workers Starts

Winona employers have been asked by the Minnesota State Employment Service and the Winona Senior High School business department to survey their needs for office workers.

In a letter sent to heads of city firms last week, Ray H. Brown, employment service manager here, and Herbert O. Berger, chairman of the business department, pointed out that trained business students would be graduating and looking for jobs soon.

Testing and evaluation of these students for placements in jobs has now been completed, the two men said.

Noting that qualified stenographers will be "in very short supply," the letter asks that employers determine what kind of office workers they need, then call the employment service to arrange for interviews with candidates.

School authorities have agreed to let students have time out from their class schedule for definite interview appointments, the letter said.

LOREN SAYS 'NO'

ROME (AP) — Sophia Loren has denied reports popping up in Paris that she accepted an offer to play the role of Evita Peron in a film based on the life of the ex-Argentine dictator's wife.

"It doesn't interest me," was Sophia's comment.

Only 57 Signed For Bloodmobile

The Red Cross bloodmobile is scheduled to be in Winona Tuesday through Friday, and Red Cross officials hope to collect 500 pints.

Any county resident is entitled to free Red Cross blood if hospitalized, an official said. The only charge is made by the hospital for administration costs.

MRS. Margaret Dorn, executive secretary of the Red Cross, said Friday that blood donors are badly needed to meet the 125 pints per day quota. Only 57 appointments have been made so far for blood donations this week.

Mrs. Carl Breitlow, blood program chairman, said that donors from all over the county should give blood. All Winona County residents benefit from the county blood bank, she pointed out.

Donors can come to the Red Cross headquarters at 5th and Huff streets without making an appointment. However, Mrs. Breitlow pointed out that those with appointments would be taken first.

Bloodmobile hours are noon to 6 p.m., Tuesday through Thursday, and noon to 3 p.m., Friday.

NURSES ON duty take prospective donors' medical histories; only those in good health can donate blood. Mrs. Breitlow said she added that donors should eat their regular meals before going to Red Cross headquarters, only abstaining from fatty foods.

Donors with a negative blood are in particularly short supply, Mrs. Breitlow said. A negative blood is needed for emergency cases in which there is no time to determine a patient's blood type.

Some blood types are incompatible with others, but A-negative can be taken by people with any blood type, Mrs. Breitlow said.

Memorial Day Service Monday

Observance of Memorial Day on Monday will begin with a parade on 3rd and Main streets of Winona, followed by a program at the Lake Park bandshell, a VFW wreath ceremony, a water ceremony and the American Legion's Shrine of Crosses ceremony.

Clarence Olson, parade marshal, said the VFW Mad Bombers will set off the starting bombs for the parade lineup at 10 a.m. at 3rd and Market streets. The parade will move off at 10:15. Participating units will start from the VFW Club on Market street and proceed to Lake Park.

THE LINEUP: Mass colors from American Legion, VFW, Veterans of World War I, Marines and marchers; Municipal band, and cars for Gold Star Mothers, Spanish American War veterans, Veterans of World War I and Women's Relief Corps.

The program, sponsored by the Winona County Memorial Association, will start at 10:30 a.m. at Lake Park bandshell with A. J. Kiekbusch, president, presiding.

The program: Flag raising, Company B, 135th Infantry Regiment, National Guard, pledge to the flag, Eagle Scout Don Staricka; audience sings "Star Spangled Banner," accompanied by band, directed by Harold Edstrom; invocation, the Rev. Donald Winkels, Cathedral of Sacred Heart; recitation of "In Flanders Field," David Heyer; Memorial Day address, Capt. James Anderson, U.S. Army Reserve unit adviser from Rochester; audience sings "America," and the benediction, the Rev. Orville M. Anderson, Faith Lutheran Church.

Mrs. Floyd Kuhlmann, president of the Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, will place a wreath at the VFW monument near the bandshell, and the rifle salute will be fired. VFW Chaplain Raymond Buege will say the benediction. Gold Star Mothers, led by Mrs. Charlotte Kuhlmann and Mrs. Agnes Koch, will place a Gold Star at the VFW monument.

MISS BERTHA Miller and Mrs. Paul Griesel Sr., members of the Women's Relief Corps, will conduct a water ceremony honoring the sailors and marines lost at sea during the wars. This service will be held directly after the program. The municipal band will play "Near My God to Thee" and Father Winkels will say the benediction.

The American Legion ceremony at the Shrine of Crosses will follow the lake front ceremony. Lt. Col. Donald T. Winder, USMC (Ret.), will call the roll and a wreath will be placed on each cross by Winona Girl Scouts. This will be followed by the American Legion firing squad salute and "Taps" will be sounded. Rev. Anderson will give the benediction.

In case of inclement weather the program will be held at the Senior High School auditorium.

Seymour, Arcadia Blood Donors Offered Rides

By STAFF WRITER

ARCADIA, Wis. — In the lightweight horsepulling contests at this city's annual Broiler-Dairy Festival Saturday afternoon, Maurice Barclay, Seymour, won first in the professional class and Jerome Klink, Arcadia, first in the local contest.

Chuck Schaaf, Chetek, who came in second in the professional class, won the trophy for horsemanship.

Barclay's 3,200-pound horses pulled 3,200 pounds on the dynamometer 24 1/2 feet, the equivalent of pulling 21 tons on wheels or seven 14-inch plows six inches deep.

SCHAFF'S TEAM pulled the same load 10 feet 5 inches. Eldon Millard, Lodi, pulled 3,200 pounds 6 feet 6 inches for third place. Both had 3,200-pound teams.

Fourth place was taken by Robert Aldinger, Marshall; 5th, Barclay's 3,200-pound team.

Wig Snatchers Hairy Problem For Atlanta Police

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Wig snatchers are becoming a hairy problem for Atlanta police.

Sgt. W. A. Jones said Friday that thieves are yanking wigs off both men and women.

One man was arrested on larceny charges after police said he grabbed a $100 wig from the head of a young woman as she walked along a street. Another woman told police she dozed momentarily on the porch of her home and when she awoke, her wig was gone.

Both celery salt and paprika are good additions to a white sauce that is to be used for creamed ham or turkey.

Prospective blood donors needing a ride to bloodmobile headquarters at 5th and Huff Streets this week have a volunteer motor corps at their disposal, Mrs. William F. White said Saturday.

Donors needing transportation can get it by calling Lucas Lodge or volunteers, according to the following schedule:

Tuesday — noon to 3 p.m., Miss Dorothy Leicht; 3 to 6 p.m., Mrs. Ted Biezanz.

Wednesday — noon to 3 p.m., Mrs. Robert Lembeck; 3 to 6 p.m., Mrs. R. W. Johnson.

Thursday — noon to 3 p.m., Mrs. Howard F. Williams; 3 to 6 p.m., Mrs. White.

Friday — 9 a.m. to noon, Mrs. L. F. Woodworth; 12 noon to 3 p.m., Mrs. Fred Burmeister.

Memorial Day Given Wider Scope

MEMORIAL DAY, which will be observed Monday this year instead of May 30 as usual, is a solemnity which has been widened in scope since its beginning. It is a holiday throughout the United States except in the states of the former Confederacy.

Today in most communities it serves to honor all the dead who at any time wore any uniform of the armed forces of the nation. Formerly it was a day of remembrance for those who lost their lives, in enemy action or otherwise, in any of our wars.

It began in 1868 as a day set aside to decorate the graves of those who lost their lives on the northern side in our Civil War. Hence its first name — Decoration Day. This was its sole name until 1882, when the Union veterans' organization, the Grand Army of the Republic, recommended that it be known as Memorial Day. Both names still are in common use.

Maj. Gen. John A. Logan of Illinois (1826-86) instituted Decoration Day on May 5, 1868, by issuing an order as national commander of the G.A.R. He picked May 30 of that year for the first observance, and that has remained the date ever since.

THE CUSTOM OF strewing flowers on the graves of fallen soldiers was observed in parts of the south, and that is how Logan got his idea for Decoration Day. This was described in a second-hand but obviously authentic account written by Mrs. Virginia C. McAndrew of Carbondale, Ill. Her authority was the general's widow, with whom she discussed the subject about 40 years ago.

"Mrs. Logan said," wrote Mrs. McAndrew, "that soon after the Civil War she went with some friends to visit in Virginia. It was in the early spring, and, while driving past a cemetery, they saw women decorating graves of soldiers with spring flowers. When she returned to Washington, as she and Gen. Logan sat before the grate fire in their suite in the old Willard Hotel, she told him of her trip.

"He was impressed by this custom of decorating the graves with flowers. She said he went immediately to his desk, and, as national commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, wrote the order No. 11, calling on all G.A.R. members to honor dead soldiers by decorating their graves with flowers. May 30 was selected as the date when flowers would be in full bloom."

LOGAN'S OWN words on the order were that May 30 was to be "for the purpose of strewing with flowers or otherwise decorating the graves of comrades who died in defense of their country during the late rebellion." That last phrase, judged disparaging, explains why Logan's idea has not been accepted in the former Confederacy. Southerners honor their war dead, but, Virginia excepted, on days other than May 30.

It would be difficult to say how many Americans are to be especially remembered on this day, according to present practice. If we confine the observance, as used to be done, to those who died on active service in war, the best estimate available is 963,096.

For wars after the Civil War the figures are reliable, and even for the Civil War they may be judged fairly accurate. For earlier wars, they are only approximate.

The total, not including the estimated 133,821 dead of the Confederacy in the Civil War, is divided thus:

Viet Nam War (1962-65) . . . . .	400
Korean War (1850-53) . . . . .	54,248
World War II (1941-45) . . . . .	405,399
World War I (1917-18) . . . . .	116,516
Spanish War (1898) . . . . .	2,448
Civil War (1861-65) . . . . .	364,511
Mexican War (1846-48) . . . . .	13,283
War of 1812 (1812-15) . . . . .	2,260
Revolutionary War (1775-83) . . . . .	4,435

The above figures are not the totals of casualties, which include the wounded and missing.

Some of the dead were lost at sea; thousands lie in foreign soil. Others were interred in mass graves, especially those piled up in heaps during Grant's murderous advance through northern Virginia in the spring of 1864.

TIME AND DECAY have obliterated other graves, and no markers remain over them. How many of those who fell on Bunker Hill or at Guilford Courthouse will be remembered on this Memorial Day?

This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners of whom I am chief.—1 Timothy 1:15.

TODAY IN NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Compulsory Unionization

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — While President Johnson's message last week used only a few words to outline a request that Congress forbid the states to maintain any of their laws interfering with compulsory unionization, the administration, through Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, now has given a full explanation of its reasons for sponsoring the move.

Mr. Wirtz declares that "the real issue involved is not widely understood," and he is absolutely right about this. In his testimony, however, before a special labor subcommittee of the House Committee on Education and Labor, he does not really make it any better understood as a desirable piece of legislation, though he does make a good case as to why the unions naturally want to collect more dues from persons who are not now members and who, as a matter of principle, do not favor unionization.

THE SECRETARY says that "the principal issue is whether an employer and the representative of his employees are to be free to make an agreement of their own choosing." But this has never really been in dispute. For if it were a mere matter of permitting unions to make agreements with employers, there would be no controversy. It's a fact that by these very agreements persons who do not want to belong to a union are compelled to do so anyway or lose their jobs. The secretary adds:

"The real issue is whether a company and a labor union should or should not be permitted — so far as the law is concerned — to agree that all employees of the company who are represented by the union should share the expenses of maintaining the union and having it represent them in their dealings with the employer."

This is tantamount to saying that individuals should be compelled to pay the expenses of various organizations whose activities result in benefits for them. The secretary of labor argues that all employees should share the cost of negotiating and administering collective-bargaining agreements and of the adjustment and settlement of disputes. He describes all employees as "beneficiaries," and remarks that those workers who do not pay such expenses are called "free riders."

BUT DO THE UNIONS really pay for all the expenses of collective bargaining? The employer pays a large share as he incurs heavy costs in conducting union negotiations and carrying out bargaining procedures.

No arrangement is ever made whereby the unions share the expenses of the employer arising out of bargaining negotiations. Each union undertakes the negotiations of its own initiative, and employees who do not care to belong to a union have the right — specifically affirmed by a Supreme Court decision — even to carry their individual grievances to the employer without going through the union. All employees must, of course, abide by the terms of the agreement reached with a union as to working conditions, but they are under no obligation to pay any of the bills of either the employer or of the union. Secretary Wirtz further says in his testimony:

"There's no violation of freedom in a minority's having to accept the majority's fair judgment fairly arrived at."

BUT IS THIS true? Would all the organizations representing Negroes, for example, agree with the view that a minority has to accept a majority's judgment? Would racial demonstrations and integration of public facilities in the South have been initiated if the minority were compelled to accept the view of the majority?

It has been argued that the worker really doesn't have to join a union and that all he has to do is to pay an initiation fee and tender periodic dues to the union. Mr. Wirtz says that "the employee cannot be required to attend union meetings, to accept union discipline, or to engage in union ritual" and that he is "required only to pay his way like everyone else."

But, whether a member or not, a worker does have to accept "union discipline." He doesn't dare to cross a picket line in those states where right-to-work laws do not exist. In states with the right-to-work laws, the employee is usually protected against coercion and violence when there is a strike.

IN YEARS GONE BY

The resignation of Richard O. Powell as assistant to the president of the Hayes-Lucas Lumber Co. was announced. He has accepted a position with the Thompson Yards at its Aberdeen, S.D., division office.

Mrs. Harry P. Cisewski, Winona, left for Annapolis, Md., to attend the graduation of her son Richard, from the United States Naval Academy.

Twenty-Five Years Ago . . . 1940

The request of Mayor Floyd R. Simon and the City Council that the Association of Commerce undertake solution of the downtown parking problem was accepted at a meeting of the association directors.

Winona is not in a favorable position to enter the airplane or airplane accessory manufacturing field at present, George J. Banning, secretary-manager of the Association of Commerce, declared at a meeting of the association directors in a report on his airplane trip to California.

Fifty Years Ago . . . 1915

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Grafton, who have been spending the winter in Florida, returned home.

On June 1, the citizens of Winona will have an opportunity to hear one of the most prominent men in American education when Charles A. Murry delivers the dedication address of the new Normal Elementary School building.

Seventy-Five Years Ago . . . 1890

Prairie Lodge No. 7, IOOF elected the following officers: Noble grand, J. Rooney; vice grand, W. E. Smith; secretary, L. L. Theutan, and treasurer, H. J. Willis.

The exercises of the Normal commencement week were closed by a reception rendered the faculty, members of the graduating class and their friends by Prof. Shepard at this residence.

One Hundred Years Ago . . . 1865

We were pleased to receive a call from George W. Curtiss, one of the pioneers of Winona, but of late years a resident of St. Louis. He "struck oil" some time ago and has a fair prospect of making a fortune in a legitimate way.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Clerk Stalls in Showdown On Seating Mississippians

By JACK ANDERSON
(EDITORS NOTE: Drew Pearson's column is written today by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

"WASHINGTON — It looks as if speaker John McCormack's backstage slowdown to protect the Mississippi congressmen from being unseated is already getting results.

Rita Schwerner, widow of one of the three Freedom Workers murdered at Philadelphia, Miss., found this out when she and other civil rights leaders called on Ralph Roberts, clerk of the House of Representatives, to ask when the report of the House Administration Committee on seating the Mississippians would be reported out. The amiable Mr. Roberts indicated that it would take many months.

"The 1947 reorganization act of the House requires that it be reported out by July 4," Mrs. Schwerner told him. "Oh, we don't pay any attention to that," replied the affable clerk of the House. "Have you had any other cases similar to this since the 1947 act was passed?" asked William Higgs, an attorney for the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party.

"One," replied Roberts after a little thought. "Usually these cases go on into the second session of Congress — if they ever come out of committee at all."

OBVIOUSLY HE was in no hurry to have the House vote just after the Senate debated the Negro voting rights bill. It's on this question of Mississippi's refusal to permit Negroes to vote last November that the move has been made to unseat the Mississippi congressmen. Naturally delay is in their favor. The temper of Congress right now, after the Selma beatings and the Klan trial for the murder of Mrs. Liuzzo, would be to unseat them.

Mrs. Schwerner also asked Roberts to set a date for a confrontation with ex-Governor James Coleman of Mississippi, who represents the Mississippi congressmen. Roberts said Coleman couldn't come to Washington for two weeks.

Higgs pressed for an early hearing, but Roberts said he himself had to go out to Indiana to receive an award from his home town high school.

"I may stay out in Indiana a little longer than just a day or two," Roberts stalled. "Furthermore the record may not be printed in time."

HOW LONG will it take to print the record? Roberts was asked.

"Oh, perhaps two or three months," the clerk replied.

"The House Judiciary Committee had its 1300-page report on the voting rights bill printed over the weekend," Higgs reminded Roberts. "Our affidavits aren't much longer than that. The government printing office can turn out in no time at all."

However, the man who runs the red tape machinery in the House of Representatives continued to stall. He is answerable to Speaker John McCormack.

President Johnson has overwhelmed foreign premiers and potentates with his Texas-style diplomacy, but he is not exactly a hit with their ambassadors in Washington.

The President likes to deal with the top man and tends to bypass lesser officials. As a result, some ambassadors feel that they are treated as errand boys. They complain that the President seldom sees them except in groups on formal occasions, that he almost never invites them to the White House for private talks.

RECENTLY Secretary of State Dean Rusk has been trying to nail down the latest complaint that has come out of embassy row. It reportedly came from one of the three new ambassadors summoned to the White House to present their credentials.

They were Sir Patrick Dean of Britain, Radomiro Romic Romero of Chile, and Torben Rønne of Denmark.

Each would have preferred a private audience, but they were brought in to see the President together. After the formalities, they were quickly dismissed.

As they were leaving the White House, the President had an afterthought and sent aides scurrying to fetch them back to pose for pictures.

Bewildered, Sir Patrick Dean grumped: "What is all this about?"

"I think the President wants to have your pictures taken," an aide explained.

Later, the word was whispered around that one of the ambassadors had complained about the presentation — picture-taking and all.

Portray Lindsay As 'St. George'

By MARQUIS CHILDS

NEW YORK — Rarely has any political announcement touched off such salvos of publicity almost all of it bursting with praise and enthusiasm. So great has been the response to his announcement that he would run for mayor of New York City as a Republican that Rep. John Lindsay is a little overwhelmed by it.

Lindsay is portrayed as a kind of St. George confronting the dragon of corruption, crime, traffic and the other evils of urbanism in its most-advanced form. He is tough-minded enough to know that the extravagant hopes of the reformers are not the equivalent of votes in the ballot box in a city where in large stretches the citizens do not even know what a Republican is. If they have heard the word, it has had sinister connotations as a band of predators bent on robbing the people of their birthright.

Why there should have been such miles of publicity is not hard to discover. First of all, Lindsay is superbly type cast. He looks the epitome of the courageous reform candidate — tall, lean, handsome in a rugged way. The contrast with Mayor Robert Wagner, who bears the scars of 12 years in what must be one of the three or four most difficult and demanding public offices in America, is painful.

BUT THE real reason is that Lindsay took the plunge deciding after long soul-searching to enter a race in which the odds against him seem hopelessly long. The registration figures alone — 2,377,000 Democrats plus 67,000 Liberals as against 670,000 Republicans — should have warned off a sensible man.

In this polyglot city the biggest ethnic and religious blocs — Negroes, Jews, Puerto Ricans — have cemented an alliance with the Democratic party. Add to this the close ties of the garment workers and other leading labor organizations and you have a political structure with the look of an unshakable monolith.

The Lindsay challenge is a challenge to despair. It is a test of whether the two-party system has any vitality in America's cities with the dead weight of the slums and the exodus to the suburbs of citizens who might bear a share of civic responsibility. For New York is the prototype of the present-day alliance between the big cities and the Democrats in Washington who can dispense federal bounty. San Francisco is almost the only metropolis in the country with a Republican mayor, and George Christopher, born in Greece and with a special appeal to minorities, is a rather special case.

IF LINDSAY should win in November despite the long odds, the Republican party would get a badly needed lift. The rightists in his party will be only too happy to interpret his defeat as proving that moderate liberalism hasn't a chance. As one of a small minority within a minority in the Congress Lindsay is the kind of Republican whom many in his party would like to excommunicate. For the party itself, not only in the city and the state but in the nation, his candidacy is a test.

It is too early to say whether moderate Republicans will rally to his cause and provide what is the immediate need — money. A lot turns on the kind of support Lindsay can get from Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and his brother, chairman of the Chase Manhattan Bank. They can do the necessary with the business community if they decide to.

The response of the big power groups will afford a test, in the view of those who have considered the case hopeless, of whether the city is governable. It is not that Wagner has been a bad mayor. But ever-mounting problems — rundown housing, overcrowded schools, crime in the streets, traffic that all but chokes off movement — have seemed to overwhelm him.

THE LINDSAY strategy is not to attack Wagner's

What of Color Blindness?

By JOSEPH G. MÖLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Mölner: Please settle an argument between my husband and me. Which sex is predominantly susceptible to color blindness?—MRS. H. S.

This is another question that sounds simple, but, as the song says, "it ain't necessarily so."

If you want to know which is more likely to be color blind, that's easy. Men. However, SOME women are color blind.

So, if you and your husband argue whether the new draperies are a beautiful reddish heliotrope, or are just a dismal gray, because one of you is color blind and won't admit it—I can't decide the fight.

You, madam, have percentages on your side, but you still MIGHT be color blind and your husband not. The only way is to have some rather easy tests which will tell you who does and who doesn't see colors the way they really are.

IF, HOWEVER, you are arguing over whether the mother or father is responsible for a child being color blind, that becomes what used to be called a Mexican standoff. You can't settle it (and I can't) without knowing the hereditary background of the parents.

A father cannot pass color blindness along to his son. Only the mother can do that.

But if a father is color blind, he will pass the trait on to ALL his daughters. They may not be color blind (unless their mother also carries the trait or is color blind herself) but they will carry the hereditary trait.

If you want to know why this is so, come around some Saturday afternoon and we'll discuss some books on genetics, and X chromosomes and Y chromosomes, and recessive genes and stuff like that.

IT'S SOMETHING like hemophilia, a hereditary disease which is even more closely related to sex. Boy babies may have it; girl babies rarely do. Yet the TRAIT can be carried by either sex, and transmitted to children.

In that case, the boys, having the disease, often do not live long enough to grow up and have children. Girls, having the trait but not the disease, do grow up and have children.

Therefore women transmit the disease, yet rarely if ever have it.

I fervently hope that this is not and will not become a subject for "war between the sexes." So far as I am concerned, I favor a continuation of the established custom of having two sexes. Neither one amounts to anything without the presence of the other.

If male and female choose to argue with each other, for whatever pleasure it gives 'em, who am I to protest? But if either one tries to "prove" that the other sex causes all the trouble, it won't work. It will be, today, tomorrow, and forever, a Mexican standoff.

record nor is it to paint the New York picture any blacker than it already is. The challenger intends to present a series of programs designed to lift the level of living for all New Yorkers.

Astronaut Will Try Space Maneuvering

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — When astronaut Edward H. White II floats away from the Gemini 4 spacecraft, he will use a spacegun to try to move within 20 feet of an orbiting, spent rocket. It will be the world's first rendezvous in space.

The dramatic additions to the flight plan of the Gemini 4 — following quickly the announcement that White will leave his craft — were announced Friday by a panel of space agency officials.

"If we are successful," said Dr. George E. Mueller, acting director of the Gemini program, "we will have done something the Russians have not tried, although I am sure they have the capability."

At Pad 19 in the Cape Kennedy complex, technicians unseated the Gemini spacecraft from its perch on the nose of a nine-story-tall Titan 2 rocket, replaced a faulty battery, and remated the two.

The battery must be checked out, but officials said that barring further difficulty, Gemini 4 would lift off on time next Thursday morning. Space buddies White and James A. McDivitt, both Air Force majors, planned to run through highlights of their scheduled four-day mission today.

Mueller described this sequence after Gemini 4 slides onto orbital path during the actual trip:

After separation of the spacecraft from the second-stage booster, six minutes after launch, command pilot McDivitt will hold a tight formation with the spent rocket, trailing it by about 300 feet.

During first orbit, the astronauts will depressurize the cabin while pressurizing their space suits. McDivitt will maneuver the 7,600-pound spacecraft to within 25 feet of the burned-out rocket.

"White will open his cabin hatch, stand, and then — as the spacecraft begins its first pass over the United States — will float free at the end of a golden umbilical cord."

Using a Buck Rogers-like spacegun that fires jets of oxygen, White will move to within 20 feet of the slowly tumbling rocket, but no closer.

"It wouldn't be too wise to approach too close to a tumbling booster," said an official.

White will take pictures with a camera mounted on the spacegun. McDivitt will take pictures of White.

Later, after White has returned to the spacecraft, the hatch has been closed, and the cabin repressurized — at the beginning of the fifth orbit — McDivitt will maneuver from about 16 miles away to within 10 feet of the booster.

Then White and McDivitt will get on with the mission's primary objectives — to test the performance of the spacecraft during a long flight, and to measure the effects of prolonged exposure to weightlessness on the two-man crew. The flight of 97 hours, 50 minutes will be the longest yet for the United States.

Soviet cosmonaut Alexei Leonov was the first human to venture into space. He floated at the end of a tether without any means of propulsion last March 18.

Dr. Charles Barry, the astronauts' physician, said he was not worried about anything going wrong during White's space walk that would shorten the flight and thwart the medical objectives.

"I feel this is a safe procedure," he said. "The crew members are completely familiar with the equipment. They are well trained and perfectly ready for this mission."

Dr. Robert Gilruth, director of the Manned Space Center, said the new plans had not been motivated by any desire to stage propaganda stunts but that each was in line with the objectives of the Gemini program.

"We know there are risks with all these flights," he said. "There is the risk of getting into orbit and of returning from orbit. But once we make orbit, we feel we should do everything we can do and are prepared to do before we come back down."

'Kids' Mature Quickly in Viet Nam War

By JOHN T. WHEELER

WITH THE 2ND MARINE BATTALION, South Viet Nam (AP) — "Tell them not to call us kids; we don't feel like kids any more," a rangy 18-year-old Marine said.

The Leatherneck's platoon had just suffered one killed and four wounded at the hands of the Viet Cong in one action.

The Marines here are for the most part young in terms of age. But old timers feel that combat patrols against the Viet Cong have added maturity.

Lance Cpl. Marvin Shirley, 19, leads a three-man fire team. He is the only man of the original unit who has not been hit. One died with a bullet in his heart. The second was shot in the stomach.

The rangy, Jacksonville, Tex., Marine said, "It isn't bad luck, they were just in the wrong place at the wrong time. And we got some of them (the Viet Cong)."

Staff Sgt. Danny Thomas, Chester, Ill., 3rd Platoon's sergeant, commented: "The third oldest man in the platoon is 23. But since we got some action, the men have taken on a new look. They're older somehow."

"For the casualties we've taken, morale is good," he added. Echo Company, which includes Shirley's and Thomas' Platoon, has counted one dead and nine wounded in initial U.S. Marine clashes with the Viet Cong.

Although well-indoctrinated on what to expect in Viet Nam, some of the Marines are finding it tough to adapt themselves to guerrilla warfare here. So far there has been no hard contact with a large Viet Cong force and casualties have come from snipers and booby traps. One Marine was shot in the side with an arrow.

"Everyone is tired off that we can't get them into the open and have it out," one private first class said.

Older Marines express pride in the way the newer men handle themselves. Echo Company 1st Sgt. William Baird, Corpus Christi, Tex., said:

"They are as good now as the Marines of 20 years ago. There's no way around it, you can't take it away from the young ones. You've got to admire them."

Baird is a veteran of World War II and Korea.

Shaky Dominican Truce, Viet Nam War Stepped Up

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

In Santo Domingo, the shaky truce held, and the United States began its withdrawal from a sticky military and political situation. Sixteen hundred troops of the American force of some 20,000 left for home during the week, and President Johnson announced another 1,700 were being recalled.

The country, its revolution a month old, still had no government, but other Latin-American governments were sending in troops to keep the warring factions apart. A Brazilian general was en route to take command of the Organization of American States forces; the United States, however, would remain the real ruler of the Dominican Republic.

President Johnson, taking note of criticism, foreign and domestic, said, "In those terrible early hours, we did what we had to do." Speaking at commencement exercises of Baylor University in Waco, Tex., the President recognized, however, that American reaction to the trouble in Santo Domingo had not been the whole answer.

He called for "new international machinery geared to meet fast-moving events" such as those in the Dominican Republic. "When hours can decide the fate of generations," he said, "the moment of decision must become the moment of action."

In Viet Nam, the tempo of war increased as the monsoon rains came on. All up and down the country, from the Mekong River delta to the 17th parallel there were sharp clashes.

On Tuesday, four planes "presumed to be MIGs" attacked a South Vietnamese engineer battalion four miles south of the 17th parallel. Five soldiers were wounded, a bulldozer burned. Later, American officials admitted they were "99 per cent sure" that the "MIGs" were in fact American jets off course.

On Wednesday, Secretary of State Dean Rusk chose a Washington news conference to deliver an unusually stern warning to the Soviet Union and Red China. It would be a mistake, he said, for the Communists to believe "that they can have a larger war with impunity and that a larger war on their side would remove us from Southeast Asia."

Everything seemed in readiness for the four-day orbit of two Air Force majors, James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White

II, in Gemini 4. Takeoff was to be June 3 and two dramatic flights were scheduled: White would be the first American to leave the cabin and cavort in space on a 25-foot tether and the astronauts would try to rendezvous their spacecraft within 25 feet of the orbiting second stage of the booster rocket.

Friday, one of six batteries in Gemini 4 was dead, but officials were optimistic that the launching schedule could be met.

After 24 days of half-hearted opposition by Southern senators, the Senate voted cloture on Tuesday to block off further delay. Then on Wednesday it passed the voting rights bill, 77-19, a better margin than that which passed the civil rights bill of 1964.

President Johnson immediately hailed the Senate action as "triumphant evidence of this nation's resolve that every citizen must and shall be able to march to a polling place without fear or prejudice or obstruction."

The House is expected to pass the bill in two or three weeks.

Summer Play Program Registration Continues

Registration for four summer programs is continuing at the city park-recreation department office, the department said today.

There is still time to sign up for the municipal day camp, the youth tennis classes and the children's "learn-to-swim" program, the department said.

THE DAY camp, at Holzinger Lodge will operate in weekly periods from June 14 through July 30. It is open to boys and girls 7 through 11 years old, but registration is limited to 15 for each weekly session.

Campers meet at City Hall at 1 p.m. daily and are returned to the city playground nearest their homes by 5 p.m. The program includes nature hikes, fishing, cooking and crafts. Ronald Buck is the instructor.

A tuition fee of $1.50, which covers milk served to campers during the week, is payable at the time of registration.

It reaffirms the 15th Amendment's guarantee that no citizen's right to vote shall be denied because of race or color.

Deaths: When the maid found the bathroom door locked, she called the police. They found Ethel du Pont Warren, former wife of Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., dead by hanging in her home at Grosse Pointe Farms, outside Detroit. The verdict: suicide.

Mrs. du Pont, 49, an heiress to the industrial fortune, had been under psychiatric care several times. She and Roosevelt were married June 30, 1937, one week after his graduation from Harvard. They were divorced in 1949, and a year later she married Benjamin S. Warren Jr., a Detroit lawyer.

As a young man, Joseph Clark Grew was trying to get into the diplomatic service. While he waited he went hunting in China, shot a tiger. When word reached President Theodore Roosevelt, the president declared, "Bully, I'll have to do something for that young man." Thus began a career of 40 years for Grew. It included 10 fateful years as U.S. Ambassador to Japan, 1931-1941. Early in 1941, Grew cabled Secretary of State Cordell Hull that the Japanese had plans for a surprise attack on Pearl Harbor. At the moment the attack was in progress, Grew was at the Japanese Foreign Office, attempting to arrange a meeting with Emperor Hirohito. Not mentioned, and it was hours later before Grew learned about it.

Tuesday night, Joseph Clark Grew died at his summer home in Manchester, Mass., two days short of his 85th birthday.

Rep. Burt L. Talcott, R-Calif., inserted a very short speech in the Congressional Record: "Professional boxing stinks." Everybody knew he was talking about the Cassius Clay-Sonny Liston fight Tuesday night in Lewiston, Maine. The heavy-weight title bout ended in a misadventure of confusion.

Clay was pronounced the winner, but professional boxing was certainly the loser. Careful reconstruction seemed to indicate that Clay hit Liston once, sometime in the first round, and thereafter Liston fought no more. So unsatisfactory was the result that a loud cry arose for federal regulation of boxing.

It was all very friendly. The short, rotund, ex-butcher rocked back and forth on his heels in federal court in Newark, N.J. Said Judge Reynier J. Wortendyke to the man: "You, yourself, have exemplified what can be achieved with only limited resources but with courage and vision. But, at the same time, you have caused terrific loss of money to many of your fellow Americans."

Then he sentenced Anthony (Tino) DeAngelis, 49, to 10 years in prison. DeAngelis, in trying to corner the market in vegetable oils, had engineered one of history's biggest commercial frauds, with multimillion-dollar losses to many firms. His basic time: forging receipts for oil that didn't exist.

Said DeAngelis to the court: "I wish I could devote the rest of my life to make up for this." Quote of the week:

"One of the best statements struck off by the hand of man since the barons of Runnymede and the constitutional fathers." — Robert Moses, commenting on the declaration by the executive committee of the World's Fair that admission prices would not be cut.

The classes are open to all children who are residents of Winona, and Red Cross certificates will be issued to those who complete the course successfully.

ON HIS WAY . . . It's kind of birds season, for both people and animals. The little flicker Arthur Cram, Galesville, Wis., is holding was lucky. After she injured her neck, Cram's big police dog, Cara, who wouldn't hurt anything, much less a bird, found her. Cram, who was with the dog, found that the bird made no attempt to escape when he held it in his hand. It recovered quickly, however, its twisted head went back into shape, and by morning the flicker had answered the call of the wild again. (Danuser Photo)

Phelps Class Goes Outdoors For Studies

Sixth grade students at Phelps School participated last week in a three-day camping program at Whitewater State Park in an extension of the past year's classroom activities in several subject areas.

This was the eighth year Phelps has conducted the camping project in which children plan menus and prepare food in accordance with principles learned in courses in health during the school year and camp activities are planned to afford practical experience in self-government and student leadership. Children left for Whitewater at 9 a.m. Wednesday and returned about 5 p.m. Friday.

DR. HOWARD MUNSON, Phelps principal, describes the program as "outdoor education" which, he says, is based on the philosophy that "Those subjects which can best be studied by direct contact should be studied in that manner rather than vicariously as through textbooks. Therefore, the natural stage—the out-of-doors—provides an ideal setting for the study of science, conservation and much of healthful living."

Phelps is the only school in the area which has conducted such a camping program on a consistent basis for this length of time and Dr. Munson said that plans are being considered to extend the camping period to a full week next year.

Following arrival at camp and assignment to cabins, students were welcomed to Whitewater by Wayne Kontola, park superintendent, who discussed state parks and the rights, privileges and responsibilities of those who use them.

THE REMAINDER of the morning was spent with Area Forester Robert Schutz, Lewiston, who spoke on forest conservation, reforestation and management. Schutz conducted a car tour through the area, pointing out good and poor conservation practices and telling what the results of such practices should be.

At noon children had a sack lunch and in the afternoon there were outdoor classes in first aid and safety, outdoor arithmetic, camp cooking, campcraft, conservation and nature. An hour of free play and two hours of supervised trout fishing followed the evening meal. Wednesday evening Dale Petersen, game warden supervisor from Owatonna, and Francis Teske, Winona area game warden, discussed animal and fish conservation, game laws and the responsibilities of wardens and the public in enforcement of hunting and fishing regulations.

THURSDAY morning's program included a discussion by Joseph P. Emanuel, head of the Winona State College science division, on area plant life preceding a nature trail hike to identify plants. Dr. James Opsahl, Winona State science instructor, spent an hour with the children on birdlife. Pupils were provided with binoculars for long-range observation of birds and animals.

In the afternoon, Dr. William Green, wildlife management biologist of the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service here, presented a program on wildlife. Class teams then went on a scavenger hunt to find interesting objects for observation and identification.

Other Thursday activities included a lesson on plant and wildlife identification conducted by Dr. Munson, instruction in campcraft, and evening campfire program with group singing and games — which visiting parents may attend — and a star watch during which a telescope was used for study of the heavens.

ON THE FINAL day of camp Dr. Calvin R. Fremling of the Winona State science department showed students how to study aquatic life and showed slides on his government-sponsored river research project. For an hour before noon each group of students worked on its conservation project.

In the afternoon, Dr. Melvin O. Wedul conducted a car tour of the Whitewater Valley that included visits to the Crystal Springs trout rearing pond, the deserted village of Beaver and other points. Stops were made at farms along the way to observe conservation practices.

During the three days in camp, each student was assigned to a specific group which was charged with camp duties.

Gale-Etrick FFA Hears Graduate Who's in Banking

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special) — A Spring Green, Wis., banker who studied agriculture at Galesville High School, returned here last week to tell Gale-Etrick High FFA boys and their parents about the values of farm life.

Vern Olson, the banker, praised J. O. Beadle, agriculture instructor and FFA adviser here. Olson graduated in 1945.

OLSON SAID agriculture is the most important single industry in the United States.

"Each city is dependent on the farmer and the farmer is dependent on the town to manufacture what he needs to operate today's farms," he said. "The cry, 'the boys are leaving the farms,' should not be tragic since every young person who leaves the farm today has no business on a farm. There has to be a love and an enthusiasm to be a good farmer. Today's farmer has to farm scientifically and with technological know-how."

"There are many aids to farmers: Soil conservation, county extension, vocational aids, maintenance management, home administration and other agencies. Banks must work closely with the farmer and his financing."

Olson said farming is always a family affair. "A young farmer must choose a wife who also loves farming and its many hours of hard work."

His motto is: "The road to success is always under construction."

David Emmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Emmons, Galesville, FFA president, was master of ceremonies.

AWARDS WERE made by Robert Schwarzhoff to: Russell Butman, livestock achievement; Wendell Hovre, farm mechanics award; Ronny Waller, outstanding freshman farmer award, and Donald Stelflug, crop award.

Butman also won the $100 scholarship to be used for an agriculture short course at the University of Wisconsin.

The FFA boys chose four honorary members: Clarence Brown, president of the Trempealeau County fair; Price Hillton, who furnishes trucks to haul animals to the fair;

Merlin Wilber, Centerville, who furnishes plaques to the outstanding boy farm planner and C. H. Safranek, Winona, who has worked with the boys in meat judging.

Other FFA officers: John Nichols, vice president; David Olms, secretary; Donald Aleckson, treasurer; Larry Folkeidahl, reporter, and Mike Cantlon, sentinel.

3 False Alarms Send Durand High Pupils Scurrying

DURAND, Wis. (Special) — All students were ordered into the gym at Durand High School after three fire alarms were sounded Thursday morning in widely separated parts of the school.

The alarms, it turned out, were the work of pranksters.

Supt. Gordon Heuer told the students of the seriousness of setting off false alarms and announced they would have to remain until the students who had sounded the alarms came forward.

Sheriff Roger Britton and Everett Biles, city patrolman, arrived on the scene.

With no confessions forthcoming, the student council took over and passed ballots asking if students had seen any persons setting off the alarms. Most of the ballots were left blank but six students were named, some of them tentatively. They were retained by the superintendent when the other students were dismissed. Those were two boys and four girls.

The alarm sounded at 11:35 a.m. about the time school was being dismissed for the term. All but the students named on the ballots, some of whom were said to have later helped teachers turn off the alarms, were released at 12:40 p.m.

Rollin's 5 RBI Boost Helps Twins

McCown: 'State Still Year Away'

By DAVE HARRIS
Sunday News Sports Writer

Despite a conference championship and a berth in the NAIA Region Four tournament, Winona State baseball Coach Dr. L. A. McCown feels his team is "still a year away from being a really top-notch team."

"We played spotty, up-and-down ball this year," he said. "But that game at St. Thomas last Monday (for the NAIA District 13 championship) was as fine a game as you'll see."

Winona won that game 3-2 in 11 innings.

"But Thursday's game against Buena Vista was very bad," the coach added.

Winona lost that one 10-8 in 11 innings, after previously beating William Jewell of Missouri 8-6.

The fielding and pitching in nearly all the NAIA games left something to be desired artistically, McCown observed. One game eventual champion Whitewater won 11-0 contained 12 errors.

"The boys did a good job through the season," McCown felt. A 10-day layoff during the flood, when some of the team members worked on the dikes, hurt, because of no practice and no games.

"Any team could have won the NAIA tourney," McCown insisted. "Both Winona State's losses came in extra innings. We had opportunities to win them, but couldn't seem to get the runs home."

Winona's first loss, to Buena Vista, was played under protest by Winona State after the first inning. Officials later upheld the protest, but because of the difficulty of replaying that game and subsequent games, McCown agreed to not insist on replaying it.

McCown also noted that the host Buena Vista team was being censured by the NAIA Area Four committee for poor sportsmanship on the part of the crowd, which threw items at players and coaches, hitting both McCown and assistant Coach Gary Grob.

McCown, who was named

Minnesota college baseball coach of the year by the NAIA, had warm words of praise for Grob.

"I've had wonderful assistance all year from Gary. He's being groomed eventually to become baseball coach for Winona State."

Seniors Ed Kelly, Dean Bailey, Jerry Kohn and Bill Allaire have finished their college careers.

Davis Usgaard, hard-hitting junior third baseman, reportedly is being eyed by the Washington Senators. McCown said.

Sophomore Larry Anderson was the outstanding Winona player in the NAIA tourney, in McCown's estimation.

"He hit well and pitched a fine game for seven innings. We'll use him as both a pitcher and centerfielder next year."

Also returning is the nucleus of a fine pitching staff, McCown said. It includes no-hit pitcher J. D. Barnette and Roger Roepke, both juniors, Jack Benedict, a sophomore, and Dick Peters, a freshman.

High points of the season, in McCown's eyes, were taking two games of three from highly rated St. Cloud and the victory over St. Thomas. WSC's 11-0 season record included Northern Intercollegiate Conference record.

Crush Nats Behind Rally In 6th Frame

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rich Rollins drove in five runs with a homer, single and double, sparking Minnesota to an 11-8 triumph over Washington Saturday.

Rollins' two-run single in the Twins' five-run sixth inning snapped a 7-7 deadlock. He homered in the fifth following Zoilo Versalles' two-out single and doubled home Versalles in the ninth.

The Twins' five-run uprising wiped out a 7-5 Washington lead built partially on home runs by Bob Chance and Ed Brinkman in the fourth and Jim King in the fifth.

Earl Battey started the winning rally with a single, and the Twins loaded the bases on Jerry Kindall's single and a walk to Don Mincher.

Steve Riddick replaced Buster Narum, but Versalles greeted him with a two-run double that tied the game. Rollins followed with his single, then scored the final run on Joe Nosske's sacrifice fly.

Battey was struck by a pitch in the five-run fifth and left the game. An examination disclosed a deep bruise on his arm, meaning he will miss several days action.

Nosske came in to bat for Jimmie Hall with a two-strike count.

Jim Grant (5-0) started for the Twins and was being hit solidly when he was lifted. He stood to lose his first but got off the hook when the Twins tied the score.

Camilo Pascual for the Twins and Mike McCormick for the Senators are the scheduled pitchers as the series winds up today.

BATTEY HIT... Earl Battey, Minnesota Twins catcher, lies on the ground with a trainer checking his arm after he was hit by a Frank Kreutzer pitch in the sixth inning of Saturday's game with the Washington Senators in Washington. ## Clemente, Bucs Assault New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Roberto Clemente kept up his assault against New York pitching Saturday, sparking the Pittsburgh Pirates to their eighth straight victory, 7-4 over the last-place Mets.

Clemente rapped four hits, including a single in the seventh inning that sent in the deciding run. The National League's defending batting champion, who got off to a slow start due to a pre-season malaria attack, has seven hits in 10 trips in two games with the Mets, raising his average 29 points to .300.

JOHN BRILLIANT

Chicago in 6-3 Victory

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox, getting six innings of brilliant pitching from Tommy John, handed New York a 6-3 defeat Saturday, extending the Yankees' losing streak to four games.

John, 22-year-old lefty, yielded a run in the first inning on Bobby Richardson's single and successive walks to Roger Maris, Mickey Mantle and Joe Pepitone. But then he settled down and held New York to one hit through the next five innings.

He turned wild again in the seventh, walking Clete Boyer and throwing a wild pitch before giving up a single to pinch hitter Horace Clarke that scored Boyer. Eddie Fisher came in and put out the fire.

The Sox cushioned John for his fourth victory against two setbacks with two runs in the first off Al Downing. Ron Hansen walked and Bill Skowron, Pete Ward and Ken Berry singled for the runs.

The Sox got two more in the fifth as Skowron led off with a double and scored all the way from second on Downing's wild pitch. The pitch was the fourth ball to Ward, and he raced to second on the play. Ward scored from there when Jim Schaffer's sizzler down the first base line was bobbled by Joe Pepitone.

The Yankees loaded the bases off Fisher in the eighth on Mantle's single, an error and a walk but scored only one run — on pinch hitter Ray Barker's sacrifice fly.

McAuliffe RBI Sends Tigers Past Cleveland

DETROIT (AP) — George Thomas opened the 10th inning with a double and raced home on a double by Dick McAuliffe, giving the Detroit Tigers a 1-0 victory over Cleveland and Jack Kralick behind the two-hit pitching of Mickey Lolich Saturday.

The victory was the second 1-0 decision for Detroit over Cleveland in less than 24 hours and extended the Indians' scoreless inning string to 21. The Tigers also got a two-bitter Friday night with Hank Aguirre outdueling Ralph Terry.

Lolich, now 7-2, allowed only a pair of singles by Leon Wagner, one in the first inning and the other in the fourth. After the second single, Lolich retired 18 straight Indians until he walked Rocky Colavito leading off the 10th.

Foyt, Clark, Gurney To Christen New '500' Era

A. J. FOYT
He Holds the Pole

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Texan A. J. Foyt, Scot Jimmy Clark and Californian Dan Gurney, each shoehorned into a rear-engine Lotus Ford, will help start a new era in the 54-year-old 500-mile race Monday.

A trio that has taken specialization out of auto racing, it earned the front row at speeds never reached before on the 2.5-mile Indianapolis Motor Speed way.

It will pace a field of 27 rear-engine cars evolved from road runners of the world Grand Prix circuit, a couple of Novis and only four of the Offenbacher roadsters which have won every 500 since 1963.

Twelve of the pushers made the 33-car field last year but the favored Lotus-Fords of Clark and Gurney were retired by mechanical difficulties blamed on failure of foreign tires. Foyt came up from a fifth place start to win in one of the 19 old Offys that started.

The three front-row drivers already had proved that a good one can race anything, anywhere. Clark, world road racing champion in 1963 and No. 3 last year, has led both of his Indianapolis starts and won another U.S. closed course feature, the Milwaukee 200 miler, in 1963.

Foyt is the only driver who has ever won four national championships on the U.S. Auto Club big car circuit since the opening campaign in 1964. He also has captured sports car events and major races on the NASCAR grand national stock car circuit.

Gurney is a regular on the international road racing circuit and was runner up for the world title in 1961. He has won the January international stock car race at Riverside, Calif., for three straight years.

Parnelli Jones, the only other former winner in the field, will be starting Monday with a fractured bone in his neck, souvenir of another speedway crash May 21. Speedway physicians said it shouldn't bother him.

Foyt has what is basically Clark's 1964 car, but it was rebuilt extensively by U.S. master mechanic Luigi Leonsky. Clark has a new model Lotus Ford, a little bigger.

Gurney will carry the colors of the Japanese Yamaha motor cycle builders but he also has a Lotus Ford. He pulled out of team Lotus, Indianapolis section, to form his own All American racing team, reportedly financed by Californian Carroll Shelby of Cobra sports car fame.

Gurney's teammates will be charging Roger McCluskey, who has wrecked or spun out in three previous 500 starts, and newcomer Joe Leonard of San Jose, Calif. USAC stock car rookie of the year for 1964.

Foyt has the exclusive attention of his Sheraton-Thompson crew, but Clark has a new teammate, speedway rookie Bobby Johns of Miami, who is a second generation racer.

As the vanguard of the possible record but never announced crowd began filtering into suburban speedway city Saturday night, many veteran fans were saying that this 500 could break patterns in addition to the long Offy reign.

If Clark wins, he will be the first foreign speedway champion since Italian Dario Resta in 1916.

A foreign-built car has not finished first since the late Wilbur Shaw's 1939-40 successes in an Italian Maserati.

A first-time starter has not won since George Sanders took the checkered flag with a Du-senberg in 1927.

Track officials rated this year's crop of 11 rookie starters, biggest since the 12 first-time qualifiers of 1958, as one of the best ever. It includes Italian-born Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., who held the qualifying record briefly before Clark and Foyt ran, and capable Bill Foster, Victoria, B.C., who will sail on either side of Parnelli Jones in second row.

Parnelli was leading last year's deadly 500 when his fuel tank exploded in the pits. He was only slightly injured, but drivers Eddie Sachs and David MacDonald were killed in a second lap collision and fire that took five cars out of the race.

USAC officials adopted new rules banning fuel tanks in the nose of a car, requiring rupture-resistant tank liners, and requiring two pit stops to hold down the fuel loads. The Lotus had been able to run the distance on one stop.

There have been 56 deaths at the speedway, including pre-500 races of 1909 and 1910.

Braves 2-Out Rallies Tip L.A.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves put together a pair of two-out rallies to erase a four-run deficit and thwarted league-leading Los Angeles with sterling relief work by Billy O'Dell to conquer the Dodgers 5-4 Friday night.

Mack Jones' bases-loaded single drove in the tying and winning runs to cap a fifth inning uprising fueled by three singles and two walks after the first two batters grounded out.

O'Dell, taking over with the Dodgers ahead 4-0, pitched the last six innings and yielded only three singles. He struck out four and didn't surrender a walk.

A walk to Hank Aaron and a single by Joe Torre started the fifth inning surge. Gene Oliver singled in Aaron and pinchhitter Eddie Mathews walked to fill the bases. Jones slashed a single to center to score Torre and Oliver.

The first two Milwaukee runs came an inning earlier in another spree which didn't start until two Braves were retired. Oliver doubled and raced home on Mike de la Hoz's single. Singles by Jones and Woody Woodward produced the other run.

Ken Johnson, making his first start for the Braves after leaving Houston in a weekend trade for Lee Maye, was battered by the Dodgers.

John Roseboro singled with the bases loaded in the first inning to scar Johnson with two runs. A single, a walk and Lou Johnson's two-base blast to left-center field doubled the Dodgers lead in the third and the Milwaukee hurler yielded to a pinchhitter in the fourth.

O'Dell, a sore-arm cast-off by the San Francisco Giants at the end of last season silenced the Dodger attack the rest of the way. He notched his third victory against two losses.

O'Dell struck out Jim Gilliam to start a double play in the ninth as Torre tossed out Dick Tracewski at second on an attempted steal on the pitch. The veteran southpaw got Maury Wills on a grounder to wrap up the decision.

The victory moved the fourth-place Braves back within 3½ games of the Dodgers. Bob Sadowski, 3-2, will confront Don Drysdale, 7-3, in the finale of the three game series to-night.

DISPUTES CALL

Bragan Blasts Umpire Conlan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A disputed pitch during the last inning of Thursday night's Milwaukee Braves-Los Angeles Dodgers game has brought the charge from Milwaukee Manager Bobby Bragan that umpire Jocko Conlan "was anxious to get the game over with."

Bragan said today he plans to write a letter about the incident to National League President Warren Giles.

Conlan, angered by Bragan's charge, said, "That's a pretty low remark to make when a guy's out there doing his best behind the plate."

The flareup came in the final inning of Thursday's game with the Dodgers won 3-2 when Braves' left-hander Denny Lemaster walked home the winning run.

Bragan and Lemaster said Conlan walked to the Brave dugout prior to the start of the inning and said: "Come on, somebody get a run."

The disputed pitch came with the bases loaded and a 2-2 count on Dodger pinch-hitter Al Ferraram Conlan called it a ball and Lemaster protested. The following pitch walked home the winning run.

"There's nothing funny about an umpire trying to get a game over with in the late innings when the game is hanging in the balance," Bragan said.

Conlan, called out of retirement to fill in temporarily for ailing Tom Gorman, replied: "What's wrong with saying 'let's somebody get a run.' That ends the game, doesn't it?"

"But nobody has a right to question my integrity and honesty. I've been working this game 24 years and no one has ever questioned by integrity before," said Conlan.

Conlan retired last season.

Kirkwood Cops Halfway Edge In '500' Meet

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The major casualties in the Speedway Festival Open Golf Tournament, moved this year from the speedway course to longer and trickier Greentree Country Club, do not include old man par or Joe Kirkwood Jr., the leader at the halfway mark with a 139.

Only 15 players including Kirkwood, bettered Greentree's 71-71-142 par for 36 holes, two others matched it. Nobody beat par by more than three strokes, for either 18 or 36 holes, and only three players put together two subpar rounds.

Only Kirkwood could go three under par for the 36 holes Thursday and Friday, and he needed the two days to get that edge with 69-70-139.

Tommy Bolt went three under Thursday with a 68, but he slipped to 73 Friday and was in a nine-way tie for seventh place.

Lionel Hebert got the only 68 Friday. Added to his opening 72, it gave him 140 and a five-way tie for second.

Beside Kirkwood, the only owners of two sub-par rounds were Miller Barber and Dan Sikes, each with a pair of 70s.

Deadlocked with Hebert, Barber and Sikes at 140 were former champion Doug Ford with 69-71 and Juan (Chi Chi) Rodriguez with 71-69.

Ray Culp got home run support from Tony Gonzalez and Wes Covington but needed Chris Short's one-out relief help in the ninth inning before subduing the Cubs.

The Pirates moved out of the NL cellar and the Mets moved in when Bill Mazeroski's sacrifice fly and Willie Stargell's three-run homer produced a four-run eighth inning against Warren Spahn. Bob Veale, 5-2, got the victory with a five-hit ter.

The Junior Legion team has joined a league with Lake City, Plainville, Kollong, Wabasha and St. Charles.

First home game will be Thursday at 8 p.m. against Lake City.

Schwartz Tips Two Homers as Rochester Cops

ROCHESTER, Minn. — Winona's hopes for a share in the Big Nine Conference baseball championship glimmered and died here Friday afternoon in an 11-inning thriller Ed Spencer, Winona coach, was ready to call one of the best-played high school games he has seen.

The Hawks and Rockets slugged it out at 2-2 for six and one-half innings before the tough two-man combination of Bill Schwartz and Dave Fierke gave Rochester a 3-2 victory.

WITH IT went the outright title for the Rockets, who finished 7-1. Austin is 6-2, Winona 5-3.

But while Rochester's season is over (Lake City eliminated John Marshall in the District Three tournament), Winona's will continue Wednesday at St. Charles. The game with Kasson-Mantorville will decide the District Three championship.

The contest, which must be played on a neutral site and was moved to St. Charles because Wabasha's field is not ready, will get under way at 4 o'clock.

Except for the 11th inning, the two teams did their scoring in the same innings.

WINONA GOT a single tally in the first as R.D. Boschulte walked, was sacrificed to second, went to third on a passed ball and came home on Todd Spencer's single after Gary Addington was called out for interference while trying to squeeze on a pick-off.

Rochester followed with a first inning run as Schwartz hit the first of two right-field home runs with two out.

Then in the fourth Winona scored as Bob Urness singled and Boschulte was safe on an error while sacrificing. Jim Dyle forced Urness at third and the runners moved up on a double steal. Addington's bunt sent in Boschulte.

Rochester also scored in the fourth when Schwartz ripped a bad-hop homer into right.

THEN IT rocked on to the last of the 11th. With one out, Fierke doubled. Bryce Kornmestad then popped out and Schwartz got his third run batted in with a single.

"It was a well-played game," said Spencer. "I'm not half as disappointed with this game as I was with the Albert Lea game (the Tigers took a nine-inning 2-1 victory Tuesday)."

Todd Spencer, who was the loser Tuesday, went all 11 innings Friday, giving up eight hits while striking out 17 to run his two-game total to 33. He walked four and hit three.

FIERKE took the victory, recording a five-hitter. He struck out seven, walked two and hit one.

"After that one Friday I know the kids will be ready for Wednesday," said Spencer in signing off.

Winona stands 9-7 on the season.

Schofield Right at Home on S.F. Field

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The next time Dick Schofield's phone rings, it may be that little old landlady with the $700-a-month place to rent giving it another try.

Schofield, who hasn't been able to locate a place to live in San Francisco, continued to remain right at home on the field for the Giants, again playing a key role Friday night in a 12-7 victory over Cincinnati.

Acquired from Pittsburgh in a straight shortstop swap for Jose Pagan, Schofield went shopping for a place to live Thursday, bumped into the landlady and was almost howled over by the price tag on her living quarters.

Schofield added to his value every day with the Giants. He has hit safely in all six games for his new mates, building a .304 batting average.

And against the Reds, he led off with his first homer of the season, first Cincinnati from moving ahead in the fifth inning with a spectacular fielding play and then got a seven-run rally started in the sixth inning by walking and scoring the run that put the Giants ahead to stay.

Elsewhere in the National League, Milwaukee knocked off the front-running Los Angeles Dodgers 5-4, Houston edged St. Louis 3-2 in 12 innings, Philadelphia downed the Chicago Cubs 3-1 and Pittsburgh made it seven in a row with a 6-1 triumph over the New York Mets.

Besides Schofield, Jim Hart also homered for the Giants while John Edwards and Tommy Harper connected for the Reds. But the decisive fireworks came as the Giants sent 11 men to the plate in the sixth.

Schofield started it by walking with one out, coming around to break the 4-4 tie on singles by Jesus Alou and Willie McCovey. Hal Lanier stroked a key two-run single during the uprising and Tony Perez let in two runs by fumbling a grounder by winning pitcher Bob Shaw.

Jim Wynn's single and a double by Walt Bond accounted for the Astros' winning run in the 12th as Jim Owens squared his record at 2-2 with three innings of perfect relief pitching.

Cardinals starter Ray Sadecki limited Houston to five hits and had a 2-3 lead until Bob Aspromonte led off the ninth with a homer.

Ray Culp got home run support from Tony Gonzalez and Wes Covington but needed Chris Short's one-out relief help in the ninth inning before subduing the Cubs.

The Pirates moved out of the NL cellar and the Mets moved in when Bill Mazeroski's sacrifice fly and Willie Stargell's three-run homer produced a four-run eighth inning against Warren Spahn. Bob Veale, 5-2, got the victory with a five-hit Lanesboro scored three runs in the first inning and two more in the fifth on six hits. Caledonia managed single runs in the first and seventh.

MABEL 11 PRESTON 2

Mabel added three runs in both the fifth and sixth innings to ice the contest.

State Handed 12-Inning Loss

STORM LAKE, Iowa — A second and the centerfielder, 12th inning 5-4 loss to Whitewater State University of Wisconsin in the first game here Friday eliminated Winona State from the Region 4 NAIA baseball tournament.

Whitewater then stopped Buena Vista, host team, 11-10 and 5-3 to battle out of the consolation bracket and win the double elimination tournament with a 4-1 record. The Wisconsin team thus advanced to the national finals at St. Joseph, Mo., starting June 7.

AFTER LEADING for much of the game, Winona could not hold back the eventual district champions.

The Warhawks' Farr smashed a game-tying pinch home run over the left field fence in the last of the ninth to send the game into extra innings. The Warrior relief pitcher J. D. Barnette issued a walk to the catcher, Berrwitz, in the 12th. Krueger sacrificed him to second and the centerfielder, Kidlitzewski, ended the game with a run-scoring single. WHITEWATER tallied the game's first run in the third on Klotz' single, a walk to Hetzel and a double by Berrwitz. Winona tied it up in the fourth on Ed Kelly's double and Dean Bailey's single.

Catcher Dave Wendlandt put Winona in the lead in the fifth. Reaching base safely on an error after two were out, he advanced on Jim Connor's single. Wendlandt scored on Dennis Morgan's single after kicking the ball out of the Whitewater catcher's hand.

WINONA grabbed a 4-1 lead in the eighth on doubles by Kelly, Davis Usgaard and Larry Anderson, but Whitewater matched those two runs with a pair of walks and Krueger's double.

Larry Anderson pitched seven innings for Winona and yielded two runs in the eighth before being relieved by Barnette. Lay won it with two shutout innings of relief pitching.

The Warriors, coached by Dr. L. A. McCown, won their first tournament game Thursday, 8-6 over William Jewell of Missouri, then lost to Buena Vista 10-8 in 11 innings. The Winona team finished the season with an 11-10 record.

RADATZ TAKES SIX WEEKS

In Shape? Robinson Needs 1 Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It took Brooks Robinson one game to get back into shape. Dick Radatz needed six weeks. Robinson returned to the Baltimore line-up after a 19-day absence as the Orioles divided a doubleheader with the Los Angeles Angels Friday night, losing the first game 3-1 before taking the nightcap 3-0.

Radatz made his third straight appearance as Boston whipped Kansas City 9-1.

The American League's Most Valuable Player last season, Robinson suffered a broken right thumb when hit by a pitch May 8. He played part-time the next day but hadn't appeared in a game since then.

Against the Angels in the opener, he failed to get a hit in three trips to the plate. The rust wore off quickly, however, and he started the second game with a second-inning single.

Then, in the fourth, the ace third baseman doubled across two runs and scored the Orioles' other run on Jerry Adair's single.

Radatz, the AL's Fireman of the Year in 1964, had been having more than a little trouble this season prior to the last three days. Consistently ineffective, the 6-foot-5 veteran saw his earned run average soar to 7.43 two weeks ago.

With 5 1-3 innings of shutout relieving the past three days, though, Radatz has sliced his ERA to 6.19.

He relieved Jim Lonborg Friday night in the seventh inning with two runs in, two Athletics on base and one out. He got out of the jam and finished the game with one hit allowed and seven batters struck out.

His performance was only one of many outstanding pitching exhibitions in the American League.

George Brunet pitched a two-hitter for Los Angeles in the first game victory over Baltimore while Steve Barber came back in the nightcap and held the Angels to three hits.

Heavyweight Success Our Own Fault

THE CRIES OF "Fix!" "Cheat!" and "Robbery!" rolled up after Cassius Clay retained his heavyweight title with an unceremonious first-round knockout.

The cries should be heard. The flicking punch that most writers say traveled a grand total of six inches should hardly have felled a man of such previously terrifying appearance, a man who had broken down Floyd Patterson twice on knockouts in a total of 4:16.

Yet Sonny Liston went to the canvas at one minute (and we disagree with the figures since our unofficial clocking of the Mayo Civic Auditorium closed-circuit telecast showed something like 1:45) and spent 17 seconds there.

It hardly seems right when you consider that Marty Marshall had fractured Liston's jaw in 1954 and the "Burlly Bear" to use the champion's favorite nickname, stayed on his feet and fought back in his only defeat until meeting the dancing, prancing Clay.

Liston, too, was hit hard by lightning-fisted Cleveland Williams, rated one of the hardest hitting heavyweights in the past 10 years, and went on to flatten the weak-chinned Texan.

Apparently the only major thing wrong with Liston Tuesday was his age (listed at 31 but certainly nearer 41). He was a flatfooted, bewildered old man as Clay dipped and ducked before planting his feet and lacing out with the right hand.

The punch, invisible to viewers since Liston's back was to the camera, appeared little more than a slap when it started. No one in the television audience saw it finish, the shocked roar that floated up when Liston fell was testimony of the fans' disbelief.

But let us ask why the complaints now? Why should there have been need for a closed-circuit telecast in the first place?

The last four heavyweight fights have gone a total of 23 minutes and 16 seconds. In that time Liston flattened Patterson in 2:06 and 2:10 and now Clay beat Liston in one minute.

The only fight worth talking about time-wise was that bizarre Feb. 25, 1964, affair that saw Clay try to quit in the fifth because of what he claimed was temporary blindness and that ended when Liston refused to come out after the sixth because of a muscle tear in his left shoulder.

Perhaps that fight hurt as much as any. It poisoned the public belief in the mighty recklessness of heavyweight boxers.

But why the harsh criticism of heavyweight boxing now? Certainly the public should have had a bellyful after the last three matches.

That we were suckered into viewing the closed-circuit telecast was no fault but our own. No promoter dragged us in by the neck.

Next time Clay defends his title, the promoters should have trouble enough getting a TV network to pick up the telecast for home viewing. If it goes closed-circuit and succeeds, we have only ourselves to blame.

Boswell Makes American Loop Players Notice

WASHINGTON (AP) — When David Wilson Boswell ambles his lanky 6-3 frame to the mound these days, American Leaguers take notice.

The 20-year-old "Bos" pitched and batted the Minnesota Twins to a 4-1 victory over Washington Friday night, allowing only one hit before he was sidelined with a blistered finger.

He got twice as many hits himself, belting a triple and scoring, and following up with a single.

Boswell, a Baltimore bachelor held his one-hitter through 5 2-3 innings with Johnny Klippstein and Bill Pleis finishing up. Rain drowned out the second half of the scheduled doubleheader.

On his last few outings, Boswell has established himself in the Twins' pitching rotation and probably will be a regular starter after relief duty earlier. He is 3-2 this season.

Boswell led the Northern League in strikeouts at Bismarck-Mandan last year and also showed up well in a late-season switch to Charlotte. He started four games for the Twins at the tail end of the season, posting a 2-0 mark in his first big league showing.

Only hit he allowed Friday night was a double by Bob Chance.

Tony Oliva drove in three runs with a home run and single and Bob Allison blasted a solo homer for the Twins' output.

The Twins play a doubleheader at Baltimore Monday before returning to open a home stand against Boston on Wednesday.

GAMES BOTH TODAY AND MONDAY

HVL Pitchers Face Rugged Tests

Hinawatha Valley League pitching will keynote an eventful Memorial Day weekend in amateur baseball circles.

Sunday and Monday mark days on the league calendar and the pitching stats of member squads will face a strength test.

Perhaps facing the most rugged tasks are leaders Dakota and Hollingshead.

Both teams have veteran flingers who have dominated the circuit. But while Dakota's Larry Papenfuss and Hollingshead's Dewey Clink scales have been mystifying enemy batters over the first two weeks, it is doubtful that the mound kings can take the two-day grind.

In one respect Hollingshead probably has the better of it since Larry Snicker, Winona State pitcher-outfielder, has completed his season with the Warriors and will be eligible for the weekend set.

Seasoning the eight-game-in-two-day program is today's battle of traditional rivals.

Hollingshead, which shares the circuit's lead at 2-0 with Dakota, will be at Lewis-ton, moving now after a first game loss to Dakota. Dakota, a new league member a year ago, plays host to Kellogg, Trempealeau is at Galesville and Cochrane-Fountain City at Alma.

Both Trempealeau and Alma will be seeking their first victories. Kellogg, C. F. C. Galesville and Lewiston have split.

The teams come right back Monday with Trempealeau at Hollingshead, Cochrane-Fountain City at Dakota, Galesville at Alma and Lewiston at Kellogg.

Most teams are expected to start their ace hurlers today. Papenfuss and Clink-scales will trek to the mound for Dakota and Hollingshead. Lewiston's choice will be Jerry Broadwater, who beat Alma 10-4 a week ago. Cochrane-Fountain City will open with Wayne Valentine, Trempealeau with Irv Wagner, Galesville with Smith, Kellogg with Jerry Leisen and Alma with Jim Hartman.

A week ago Hollingshead and Galesville highlighted weekend play by engaging in a ferocious mound duel for 17 innings before Hollingshead finally broke it up 3-2. Clink-scales went the route.

In other games last Sunday, Dakota used two run rallies in the ninth and tenth innings to subdue Trempealeau 12-9. Cochrane-Fountain City edged Kellogg 8-5 and Lewiston dumped Alma.

West Newton Surveys Flood Damage, Plans Rebuilding

Big Cleanup Job Tackled Along River

By LEFTY HYNES
Sunday News Outdoor Writer

FLOOD damage to real estate, not including personal property to the summer homes of the West Newton Colony, Inc., was placed between $20,000 and $30,000 at a meeting of the corporation at the Williams Hotel last week.

Damage to the hundred or more similar resort areas along the Upper Mississippi from St. Paul south to St. Louis was equal or exceeded that suffered by West Newton, reports received at the office of the Wild Life refuge here indicate.

This is another aspect of the fearful toll of property taken by the Great Flood of 1965, and a glimpse of the big rebuilding and cleanup job ahead this summer when the river goes down.

"We are going to rebuild immediately," Willard Matzke, president of the West Newton group, said. "Peter Wornor, a member of the colony, already has made his place livable."

Similar thoughts were expressed by other owners attending the meeting. In fact, the repair job is under way at most of such settlements.

AT TREMPPEALEAU, Wis., where some 70 cottages suffered extensively and roads must be dug from drifts of sand, work is progressing rapidly. Joseph C. Page, Winona County's clerk of court, has used a bulldozer to clear his property, and August J. Bingold, former chief of police here and permanent summer resident there, whose cottage was moved from its foundation wall and extensively damaged, has made it livable once more.

At Lake City, where the ice and flood crushed most of the trailers at Central Point, crews have been cleaning up on weekends and attempting to salvage property. Most of the trailers were owned by Austin residents.

At La Crosse, La Crosse, Brownsville and a 100 or more other locations on each side of the river, similar summer home and cottage damage was recorded. A lot of cottages were built up high above the normal high water mark, but the flood of 1965 disregarded those records and swept the supporting pillars away, causing the cottages to sink in the raging waters. Some were carried some distance downriver to lodge among trees.

ACCESS ROADS are another problem. At West Newton, where the main road to the colony, always a trouble spot each spring, the damage was mainly sand wash. One section back of the cottages has a sand drift over the roadway 200 yards long, five yards wide and eight feet deep that will have to be removed by bulldozers.

At Trempealeau, the main road or street through the cottage colony has disappeared beneath the drifting sands. It will have to be cleared with graders and bulldozers.

Access by water also has been hit by the flood. The channel has been changed. Where there was 30 feet of water be-near the crest of the flood. Water was running through these cottages as it did with most sandbar-located structures along the upper river.

SUMMER homes on sandbars and islands along the Upper Mississippi, popular as vacation retreats for generations, were major victims of the Big Flood of 1965.

This group of pictures, made during and after the flood at West Newton, one of the oldest colonies of summer homes in this area, gives an inkling of what happened.

The lower row shows what happened. The Willard Matzke cottage cracked, sank and will require reconstruction. In the center picture is the Brose cottage as it is today, off its foundation, partially sunk in a cave-in. At the right is shown a new yellow cottage at Trempealeau, Wis., built a year ago by a Chicago family, that sank in a cave-in. The lower row of views are by Frank Uhlig, Daily News staffer.

fore the flood, there is now a hull-scraping sandbar. As the water level declines to normal stage, dredging will be required to clean the nine-foot channel.

Harbors like the Municipal Marina at Winona will have to be dredged so the boats may enter and leave.

Temporary summer living or camping along the river likewise has suffered. Many camping areas in riverside parks were submerged during the flood. A big cleanup job had to be done, for example, at Merrick State Park, Perrot State Park, Pettibone, and at Lake City. It will be mid-season before all of the riverside picnic facilities will be usable by the public.

River Areas to Restore Facilities Hit by Flood

MADISON, Wis. — Western Wisconsin, with its Mississippi River recreation areas, Great River Road, historic sites, and state parks, is drying off after the worst flood in 50 years. Visitors to this scenic vacation land will find it back to normal.

Major scenic highways along the river are again in good driving condition. Bridge approaches have been repaired, and motorists can forget about the damage done by the flood. Only short sections of rebuilt dike road, on the Wisconsin side of the bridges at Wabasha, Minn. (Highway 25) and Lansing, Iowa (Highway 82), are still unopened.

One problem remaining is dust from the temporary gravel surfacing.

In addition some of the town and county roads leading to campsites, fishing grounds and boat launching areas are not open. At Goose Island, popular La Crosse County Park, campers will have to use boats until county crews can patch up the approach road and a washed-out bridge.

THREE OF Wisconsin's major historic sites are located in towns hard-hit by floods.

At Prairie du Chien, foresight of early fur traders and Army engineers helped save both Villa Louis and the Museum of Medical Progress from damage. The Army constructed the first Fort Crawford at Prairie du Chien in 1816 but in the 1820s it was flooded. In 1830, they rebuilt it on higher ground. The fort's reconstructed hospital now houses the museum thanks to that old decision to relocate. The 1965 flood, even though higher by inches than its 1828 counterpart, did no damage.

Hercules Daussman, fur agent in Prairie du Chien during the early 19th Century, probably got his feet wet in the 1828 flood. When he built his mansion, Villa Louis, he put the foundation on an Indian mound that has kept it high and reasonably dry ever since. Erected in 1847, the Villa is maintained by the State Historical Society and is now one of the most popular history stops in Wisconsin. Visitors this year will find it clean and dry, untouched by the flood.

Governor's Action

The veto of the Conservation Department reorganization law and the fox bounty law by Gov. Rølvaag really was no surprise. The reorganization law was fought all the way through the legislative session by Wayne Olson, conservation commissioner, a Rølvaag appointee. Even if the mistake was not found, it was a pretty well established conclusion that the governor would have put the bill in his pocket and let it die.

As to the bounty bill, sentiment against bounties has been growing among the trapping states. Wisconsin and North Dakota no longer pay bounties. South Dakota has only a token bounty this year, and in Iowa it is county option. On top of this, all the major conservation organizations in the state, as well as the Conservation Department, came out sharply opposed to bounties.

What effect it will have on fox population is yet to be seen. The sharp increase in the price of fox skins last winter and the growth of fox hunting may produce sufficient pressure on the fox to control the population. Nature also controls over-population of any species.

Midwest Moves In

The appointment of Dr. Stanley A. Cain, Ann Arbor, Mich., an international conservation authority, as assistant Secretary of Interior for fish and wildlife, puts the lake states in a key position in conservation thinking. The University of Michigan has been foremost among the big schools in progressive conservation. Cain was one of its leaders.

Another $400,000 would be spent in each of the next five years to acquire by purchase or long term lease large marshes and wetlands which the farmers themselves could not manage.

ness as usual." The Mighty Mississippi just keeps on rolling along. As it rolls, it offers fun and adventure for all, floods or no floods.

State parks along the Mississippi and St. Croix Rivers suffered some damage, too, but for the most part nothing permanent. Merrick Park, near Fountain City, took the worst soaking. Its concession stand and campground were submerged and are still rough. Perrot and Interstate park custodians are shoveling mud, but report no serious damage. Wyand and Nelson Dewey parks are high on bluff tops, and escaped with no more than wet feet.

Boaters, fishermen and other outdoor types will find things returning to normal all along Wisconsin's western shore. Flood-washed fish are back in sloughs near the river. Boat launch facilities at such centers as La Crosse, Alma and Prairie du Chien are doing "business as usual."

For those picnic sandwiches, mix chopped hard-cooked eggs with ground cooked ham, sweet pickle relish and just enough mayonnaise or boiled dressing to moisten. This is an old-fashioned combination and oh, so good!

464,000 Families Move Out of 'Poverty Bracket'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Approximately 464,000 American families took a giant step last year. Their income edged over the $3,000 mark — and out of what the administration defines as the "poverty bracket."

At the happier end of the scale, a Census Bureau report today also showed, the number of families with incomes of $10,000 or more increased by 1.4 million.

And the median — middle — income increased too from $6,249 to $6,569. That's a 5-per cent jump from 1963 and 57-per cent from 1954. Prices also rose, though, so the increase in purchasing power was only 4 per cent.

The median income is the exact middle income for the 47.8 million American families. That is, half of them are below that level and half above.

Some 17.6 per cent of American families, or 8.4 million, had incomes below $3,000 compared to 18.5 per cent in 1963. Almost 32 per cent had incomes below $3,000 in 1954.

Some 10,800,000 families had incomes of $10,000 or more in 1964. This represented 22 per cent compared to 20 per cent in 1963 and less than 6 per cent in 1954.

More than one out of every 20 families had incomes of at least $15,000 compared to one out of 100 in 1954.

Mankato Man Saved in Fire

MANDAN, N.D. (AP) — A possible tragedy for a Mankato, Minn. man was averted Friday by an anonymous telephone caller who directed police to a fire under the Heart River bridge west of Mandan.

They found Edward Kerns, 60, sleeping beside a fire. His clothing had started to burn.

The officers put out the fire. Kerns was unhurt.

After a brief rest, Kerns continued his trip to Mankato. He said he was returning home to the West Coast.

War on Rough River Fish Set

Chemical treatment of a river to kill off undesirable rough fish and to prepare it for restocking with game fish, has been going on, with sportsmen's cooperation, in Western Wisconsin for the last half dozen years.

Here is a report on results of such project on the Beef River in nearby Trempealeau County, between Osseo and Strum, prepared by Willis Fernholz, Wisconsin Conservation Department, now fish biologist stationed at La Crosse. Willis' home was Arcadia.

A chemical treatment project to control rough fish in the Beef River and the feeder streams between the Osseo and Strum Dams was completed in July 1963. The objective of this fish management program was to improve fishing. To realize this, almost complete destruction of the very high carp and other fish population in these waters had to be obtained to allow for good survival of trout.

THE STRUM Rod and Gun Club, in a cooperative effort with the Wisconsin Conservation Department, achieved this goal. During reclamation of the stream, an estimated 20,000 pounds of carp, suckers, redhorse, and other undesirable species were removed from this segment of the Beef River. The Conservation Department coordinated the program and conducted the chemical treatment, and the Strum Rod and Gun Club furnished man power for dead fish removal operations and dam site closing at the Strum Pond. They also obtained written permission from the landowners along the stream to conduct the reclamation project.

Restocking of the Beef River, following reclamation, consisted of brown trout in the main stem of the Beef River and brook trout in the tributaries. In addition, the Strum Pond received largemouth bass and bluegills.

Creel census and fishing reports on the opening of the trout fishing season, May 8, 1965, showed excellent catches of trout up to 16 inches in size.

A RECENT report indicates that a local resident, Fred Williams of Strum, caught two brook trout weighing 2 1/4 pounds and 1 1/2 pounds respectively.

tively. The sportsmen who have fished this segment of the Beef River, following reclamation, have been very well satisfied with the results of this project. They no longer are aggravated by the carp, suckers, redhorse, and minnows nibbling at their bait.

The Strum Rod and Gun Club should be commended for its outstanding performance and cooperation with the Wisconsin Conservation Department in achieving improved fishing in this area. Without the effort and long hours of hard tedious work this project would not have been a reality.

The Conservation Department has pointed out that fish habitat in the Beef River and some of its feeder streams is not overly satisfactory because of high water temperatures during peak summer periods, significant siltation, and flooding. However, the management program which was undertaken, was considered the best possible under existing conditions, and excellent results were yielded.

In future years the Beef River will again become infested with undesirable fish, however, this management tool can be reapplied to improve trout fishing for an estimated period of seven to ten years.

Adventures in Eating Predicted at Winona Country Club

By JEAN HAGEN
Sunday News Women's Editor

A courtly cook from old Vienna, a sturdy little man with merry brown eyes, has taken over the kitchen at Winona Country Club.

"We're going to have some adventures in eating out here!" says Pat Shortridge, Country Club manager. William Ivanyi (pronounced "Ee-van-Yee") arrived the latter part of April, donned his white chef's cap and suit and with elastic short steps, briskly went to work in the kitchen, brewing all kinds of delectable foods for members and their guests at the daily luncheons and dinners.

One member of the Country Club, who belongs to the TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) Club, rationalized the other day about the calorie content of her lunch. It was liver dumplings with sauerkraut and parsley potatoes. No gravy, she pointed out!

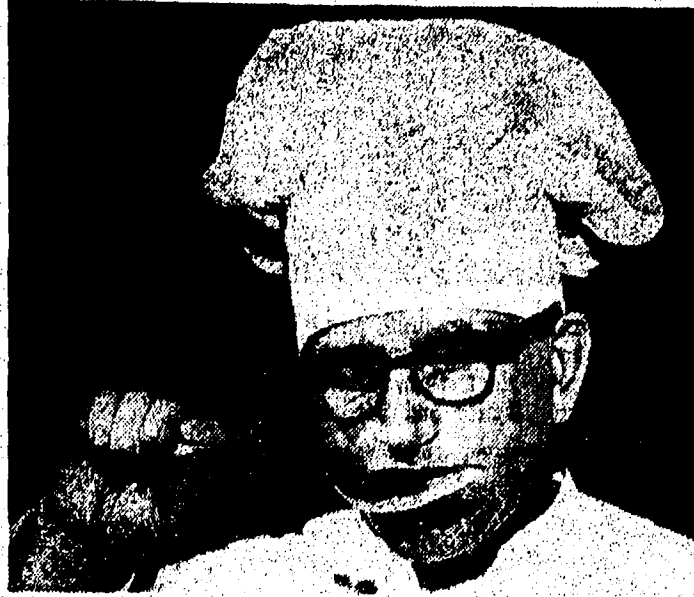

BUT MANY of Chef Ivanyi's famous dishes will be loaded with delicious, delectable calories. He likes to cook with plenty of butter, scoops of sour cream, dashes of wine, so that the sauces and gravies are rich and, alas, fattening.

Some of his favorite old-country dishes are Paprika Chicken and tender little egg dumplings (Austrians, he says, are lavish with the paprika); Kalbsvogerl, veal birds larded with bacon and cooked with spices and cream; Rindfleisch, boiled beef with zesty horseradish sauce; Eszterhazybraten, pot roast a la Eszterhazy, which he calls "Vienna's most revered dish"; boneless trimmed beef, braised with fresh vegetables and fine herbs, such as capers, grated lemon rind, sour cream and Burgundy wine.

Chef Ivanyi, who has made his home in Chicago, the last 15 years, says he loves Winona because it reminds him of his native Vienna. On his time off he likes to roam around the hills which are like Austria's.

His family owned a restaurant in Vienna, which he operated after the death of his father. But in 1940, because of the war, he came to this country and never has been back since. He likes the way of living and the country itself and is now an American citizen.

TASTING . . . Like all good cooks, Bill Ivanyi samples his dishes to see if the seasoning is right, as he does here in the Country Club kitchen.

However, he plans a trip to Vienna to visit his mother, his brother, who is a Catholic priest, and his sister, who is a doctor and teaches in the medical school at the university.

Chef Ivanyi says of his old home, "Vienna to an amazing degree keeps acting like the romantic capital of the 19th century — like a pleasure pavillon in the Danube plain.

"THE MANNERS of the long-dead Hapsburg court are still a universal habit. Friends say 'Hello' or 'Goodbye' with 'Servus,' (your servant). Everyone from bartender to baron greets everyone else with 'Kuss die hand' (I kiss your hand). Every woman is called 'Gnadigste' (most gracious one) and so a surly tram conductor growls at a naughty passenger. 'No getting off here, most gracious one!'"

In Chicago, Chef Ivanyi worked at the Illinois Athletic Club on Michigan Boulevard for eight years. He was at the Oak

They use equal amounts of onions and meat.

Liver Dumplings

Soak six French rolls in water. Drain and grind with about half a pound of raw beef liver. Add four eggs and 1½ cups dry bread crumbs, minced onion that has been browned in butter, salt and pepper, chopped fresh parsley, dash of garlic powder or minced fresh garlic. Mix together and form in balls (Don't pack too firmly).

Drop in boiling-chicken broth or salted water and cook 8 minutes. Serve with sauerkraut and parsley potatoes.

"One bottle of beer is a must with this dish!" says Chef Ivanyi.

He prepares his sauerkraut by straining it and rinsing it with water to take away the bitter taste. Then he caramelizes a little sugar in a pot, adds some minced onion, ½ cup white wine and a little vinegar and stirs till blended. Add the kraut, a teaspoon of caraway seed and a grated raw potato. Cook only about half an hour.

"Kraut should never get mushy," he says.

Eszterhazybraten (Pot Roast)

For a 2 to 3 pound round-beef roast make a marinade of 2 cups water, ½ cup red wine vinegar, 2 teaspoons whole allspice, 1 onion, 1 carrot, 1 parsnip and 1 small stalk celery, all chopped. Bring to boiling point and then cool. Rub salt and pepper over surface of roast, place in crock and pour marinade over it. Cover and keep in refrigerator three days. Turn the meat once a day.

On the third day, remove meat, pat dry and rub surface with flour. Place in heated roaster, greased with oil, and brown in a hot oven (400 degrees) for about 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 325 degrees and bake 3 or 4 hours or until fork tender. Use a little of the strained marinade to baste the roast occasionally. Remove meat (keep warm).

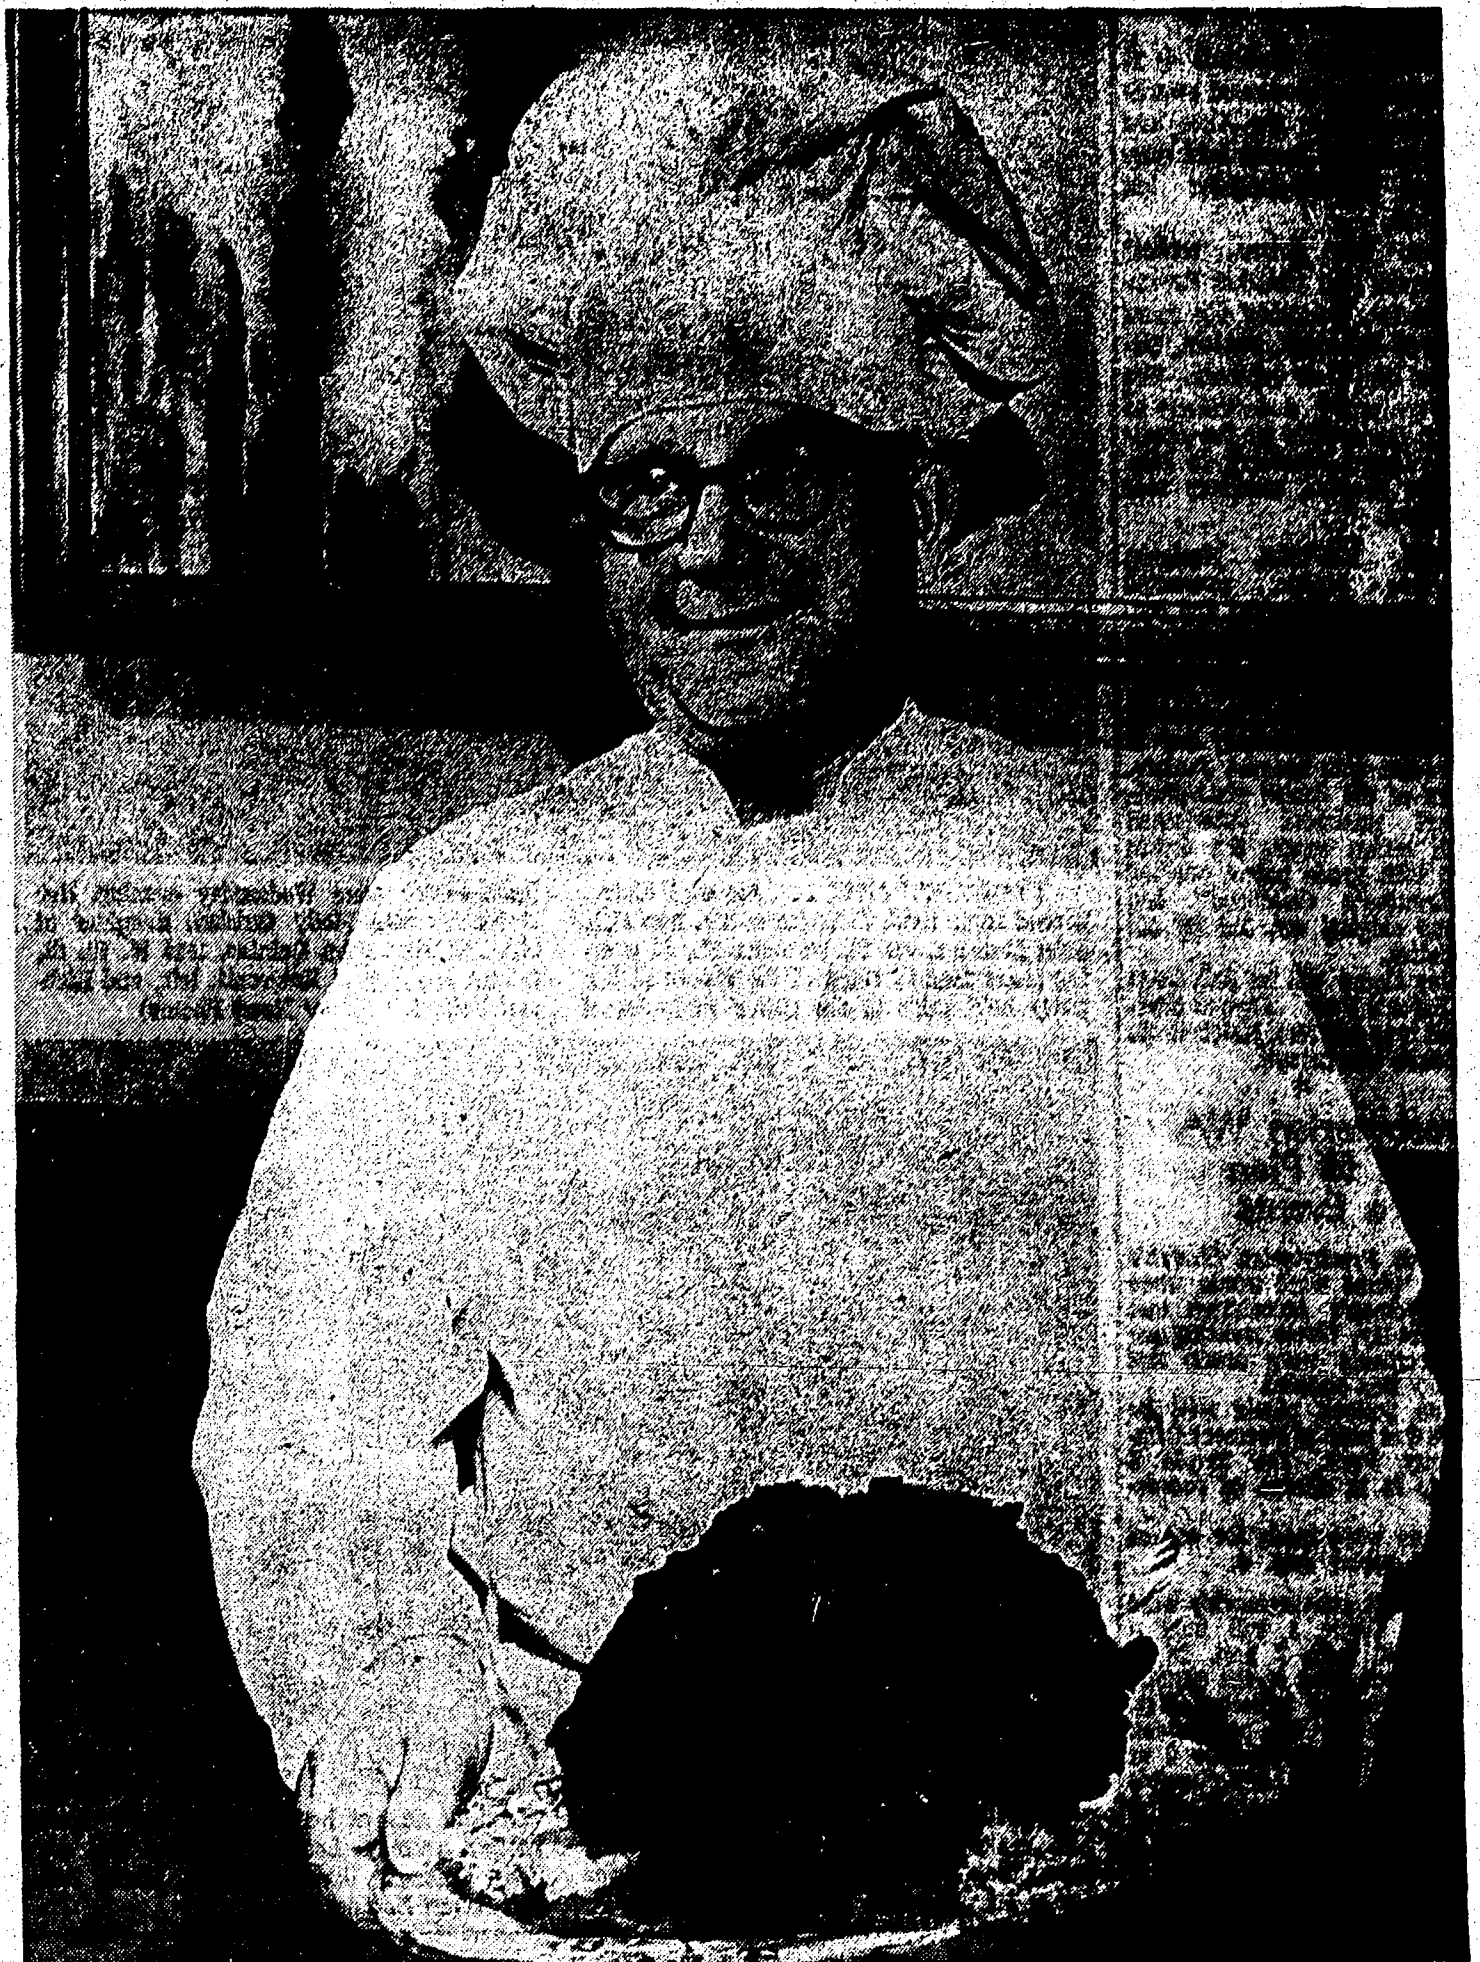

Make gravy in roaster by browning flour in the fat and then adding water. When thickened, strain. Season with ½ cup red wine and about ¾ cup sour cream, (first beating about 1 teaspoon of flour into the cream, so it won't curdle). Bring just to the boiling point. "Never boil sour cream," says Chef Ivanyi.

He suggests serving the meat with potato pancakes, another Vienna specialty.

Potato Pancakes

Grind together 3 raw potatoes and 1 small onion. Add 3 or 4 slices of crisp fried bacon, minced, 2 beaten eggs, a little sour cream to season, salt and pepper, 1 teaspoon sugar (this makes the pancakes brown nicely), chopped parsley and flour to bind it together.

Fry in a skillet, greased with bacon fat or oil, like pancakes, browning on both sides.

CHEF WILLIAM IVANYI . . . The new cook at Winona Country Club, who has the traditional gracious manners of his native Vienna, Austria, smiles in his friendly way as he exhibits one of his specialties, Eszterhazybraten (Pot Roast a la Eszterhazy). He says it is Vienna's "most revered dish." (Sunday News photos)

about town

They're saying . . .

A west end family watched with interest a neighbor carefully painting his house a lovely shade of pink last week — and lo and behold! — he turned up in the chorus line of "Paint the Town Pink."

Daily News personnel were amazed at how widespread the news of Winona's flood traveled. Orders for the special flood edition came in from such places as Berlin, Puerto Rico, Peru, Scotland, Mexico, France, South Africa, New Zealand and Italy amongst others.

Paprika Chicken

Cut up spring chicken and saute in butter with finely chopped onion, until tender. Remove from pot. In the drippings, make a sauce by first browning some flour and then adding chicken stock or water, two teaspoons of paprika (to make a nice color), one cup of sour cream and salt to taste. Strain the sauce and pour over the chicken.

Never use pepper with paprika, says the Country Club chef. He says Hungarians are not afraid of using paprika, nor onions. A rule with them, he says, is that "in goulash, you can't put too much onions."

HAVE ONE OF THESE! . . . Chef Ivanyi offers a Country Club guest one of his special liver dumplings, which he likes to serve with spiced sauerkraut and parsley potatoes. He stands behind the buffet table in the dining room at the Country Club, where a variety of his culinary creations are arrayed.

WIELDS A NEAT KNIFE . . . The new Country Club chef's more than 25 years of experience as a cook make him adept at such culinary tasks as slivering thin wedges of roast breast of turkey, as he does here in the kitchen of the Winona Country Club.

CHAFING DISH GOODIES . . . Lifting the lid of the big chrome chafing dish on the buffet table at the Country Club, Chef Ivanyi inspects the hot parsley and spiced sauerkraut to see how the supply is holding out. He has a special way with kraut, cooking it in a concoction of caramelized sugar, wine, etc., with grated raw potato.

Auxiliary Gives Hospital $2,100 Remembrance Gift

Community Memorial Hospital Auxiliary will purchase two pieces of specialized equipment for the hospital at a total cost of $2,100. From their Remembrance Fund, the members are buying an Isolette and an attachment for the Astrup Ultra-Micro Unit.

THE DECISION to make the gift to the hospital was made this week at a meeting of the auxiliary board, presided over by Mrs. T. H. Underdahl, auxiliary president.

The Isolette, or incubator, is for use in the pediatric and nursery sections of the hospital. It is a means of stabilizing an infant's body temperature at the normal level and is used for extremely ill or premature babies.

The addition to the Astrup unit enables physicians to determine additional information in certain surgical cases.

THE REMEMBRANCE Fund, with which the auxiliary will purchase the equipment was established in 1952 and is a fund to which anyone may contribute in memory of or for the recovery of a loved one. Remembrance Fund money is used for medical equipment which has been requested by the hospital board and the board of trustees.

Mrs. Everett Edstrom and Mrs. Douglas B. Robinson, co-chairmen of the Paint the Town Pink show, gave their reports on the auxiliary sponsored benefit. The $7,115 realized will be used to furnish the new Convalescent and Rehabilitation Unit of the hospital.

Mrs. Robert Horton, chairman of the scholarship committee, reported that interviews of nursing school candidates is nearing completion. She requested that the auxiliary expand its scholarship program to include more area students. The board agreed.

A report was given on the Gift Shop, announcing the arrival of new gift items.

MRS. HARRY Meyers, hostess desk chairman, asked that vacationing college students call her and make arrangements to work as summer replacements on her staff, either afternoons or evenings.

Mrs. Underdahl requested volunteer chairmen to arrange with their workers in completing the summer staffing schedule.

Mrs. Milton Goldberg, Birthday Ball chairman, announced that this year's ball will be Sept. 25 at the Country Club.

After the meeting, coffee and doughnuts were served by the hospitality committee of which Mrs. Frank Cofield is chairman.

To Stimulate Interest in Roses Is Purpose of 5th Annual Rose Show

"To stimulate enthusiasm for roses and rose growing is the purpose of the fifth annual Rose Show of the Winona Rose Society — through sharing the beauty of roses and by making this beauty available to the greatest possible number of people," says Francis Jilk, show chairman.

"NEARLY 100 members of the Winona Rose Society will gladly share cultural information. They are enthusiastic about their favorite flower and are glad to do the necessary work that is required to present the Rose Show," he added. The Winona National and Savings Bank is making its air-conditioned lobby available for the show, which will be open to the public from 2 to 8 p.m. June 12, free of charge.

Visitors to the show will see roses grown by amateurs throughout the area. They may wish only to move about and enjoy the spectacle of beauty and fragrance made by the "Queen of Flowers". If, in addition, they have an idea of growing roses of their own — the show can be helpful. Here they can see actual blossoms of practically every popular rose variety, correctly identified by name, and are encouraged to make notes of the ones best liked — most of which are available at local garden centers and nurseries at planting time.

THOSE who grow roses are invited to enter them in friendly competition in the show, by displaying the many splendid varieties in their gardens.

"If the organization of the Rose Show seems confusing at first, remember that to make both interesting and fair competition, many different classes are set up. The object of classifying is to have blooms that are reasonably similar competing against each other," Mr. Jilk said.

There is a first broad division of roses according to growth habits of the plants. Then there are divisions by color. Many of the leading named varieties are set up in separate classes of their own. In addition to single specimen bloom competition in horticulture, there are classes in which each entry consists of a specified group of blossoms, such as the grouping in the trophy classes and collections.

ROSES in the show are evaluated by experienced judges who have definite standards of excellence for perfect blooms. Consideration is given to form, color, substance and size of flowers, as well as to perfection of stem and foliage. The judges are guided by rules and regulations set up by the American Rose Society.

Of the arrangement classes it is said that "A flower arrangement is a relaxing exercise of self-expression." Those that will be seen on June 12 fit into the theme — "Father Shares His Roses" (in honor of Father's Day). Each class has some directives, but the exhibitor is free to interpret as he wishes. Consideration is given in judging to how well the arrangement fits the category, as well as the condition of the roses.

The show this year is presenting two new trophies for competition. Three hybrid tea specimens correctly named and of different varieties are required for the "Palma Thomson Perpetual Trophy." Two miniature specimens — each a different variety and correctly named, may be entered for the "Stockton Perpetual Trophy." For both of these trophies the exhibitor must be a member of the Winona Rose Society and the American Rose Society.

THERE WILL be a number of special non-competitive exhibits and floral displays to add interest, education, information and glamour to the show.

A complete schedule of classes to be entered is available at the bank. Two important things to be done now in preparation for the show are to give roses lots of water and to disbud hybrid tea blooms for specimen exhibition, the committee points out.

THE ENGAGEMENT of Miss Janet Marie Oates, to Allyn Roy Burnmeister, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Burnmeister, 403 E. Howard St., is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Oates, 654 W. Sarnia St. The wedding will be Aug. 7 at St. Martin's Lutheran Church. (Edstrom Studio)

2 French Children Get U.S. Vacation

OSTER BAY, N.Y. (AP) — Year after year, Pierre Coret, 15, and his sister, Odile, 14, had taken care of the grave in France of President Theodore Roosevelt's son Quentin, who was killed in action during World War I.

Quentin Roosevelt was killed near Coulonges-en-Tardenois, where the Corets lived until a few years ago. Since they were young children and until they moved to Soissons-Aisne, Pierre and Odile had kept the grave free of weeds and full of flowers.

They did it, they said, because they wanted to show their appreciation for all that American troops had done for France in two world wars.

This Long Island community, where Theodore Roosevelt once resided, wanted to show its appreciation to Pierre and Odile. So, the community raised $1,600 for expenses and brought the French teen-agers here for a three-month visit.

They arrived by plane Wednesday and will stay alternately with three families, including that of Principal Richard Nodell of Oyster Bay High School. Odile is currently staying with the Nodells, who have two children, Dorothy, 17, and Richard, 12.

"They're one of the loveliest pairs of youngsters I've ever come across," Nodell said today of his visitors. "They both have a terrific sense of humor."

One of their big thrills came Wednesday night when they got their first taste of an American hot dog at a barbecue at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jones, where Odile will stay later.

A big Memorial Day weekend is in store for Pierre and Odile. Sunday they will place a wreath on the original headstone of Quentin Roosevelt's grave. The grave has been moved to a large military cemetery in France, but the headstone was brought to his father's home, now a national shrine at Sagamore Hill.

On Monday, Pierre and Odile will be the guests of honor at Oyster Bay's Memorial Day parade.

Plan to Raise U Tuition in Wisconsin Hit

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A "catastrophe to students and society" was the way University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee Chancellor J. Martin Klotz described a bill introduced by Assemblyman Kenneth Merkel, R-Brookfield.

The proposal would provide for an upward sliding scale of tuition increases at state supported universities in Wisconsin, with freshmen and sophomores paying the lowest tuition, and graduates and medical students the highest. Non-resident tuition also would be increased.

Merkel told the Assembly Education Committee Wednesday at a public hearing that all taxpayers are now subsidizing the education of students, but the costs of education "should be borne by the individuals who receive it."

He said enrollments in the next few years would increase by 100 percent while the tax base of the state would grow only 10 percent, and his bill would provide a solution to paying the higher costs.

Over a four-year period, his bill would increase the cost of tuition to a resident attending the University of Wisconsin by about $1,600. Residents at state universities would pay about $1,400 more, Merkel said.

Area Residents Buy $964,734 In U.S. Bonds

With the year now one-third completed, U.S. Savings Bond sales in District 9 are slightly more than one-third of the quota for 1965.

District 9 comprises 11 Southwestern Minnesota counties, including Winona, Wabasha, Olmsted, Fillmore, Houston and six others. This year's quota for the district is $7,338,500. Total sales through April were $2,485,014. In five area counties sales were $964,734.

Highest percentage of completion in the district to date was rung up by Dodge County, which achieved 50.1 percent of its 1965 quota. Winona County's attainment percentage is 29.2.

Across the state, all 87 counties together have attained 35.1 percent of the combined objective, registering total sales of $24,919,077. The state quota is $71,000,000.

Area counties showed these results:

County	Quota	To Date	%
Fillmore	$1,127,764	$717,172	63.3

29 Complete Banking Courses

American Institute of Banking extension courses, extending through the winter, were completed last week by 29 persons from banks in the two-state area.

The courses were conducted by the AIB Winona chapter. They included commercial law, taught by Richard Darby, Winona attorney; principles of bank operation, Herbert Hassinger, Winona National & Savings Bank officer, and public relations for banking institutions, Robert C. Olson, Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. manager here.

Course material is supplied by AIB. Each course comprises 42 hours of study and each class meets according to its own schedule. Classes begin in the fall and conclude the following spring. A kickoff dinner early next fall is planned to inaugurate a new series of courses, local chapter members said.

Officers of the chapter are: Ralph Petz, First National Bank, president; Richard Gilen, Merchants National Bank, first vice president; Miss Carol Kronebusch, Winona National & Savings Bank, second vice president, and Kenneth Seebold, First National Bank, secretary-treasurer.

C. Elmer Anderson Takes Self Out Of Political Race

HAMBURG, Minn. (AP) — C. Elmer Anderson, the quiet spoken former governor of Minnesota, now is a small town banker and has removed himself from the political scene.

Anderson declined to express any opinions on political issues or personalities in an interview. He observed there had been a big change in the Capitol complex in 10 years.

"Even the reporters I knew when I was governor — even most of them are gone now," he said.

The former Republican chief executive aimed no brickbats at the man who now serves as governor, Democratic - Farmer-Laborite Karl Rolvaag.

"Things look different after you've been in there once," Anderson said. "You understand better what the problems are."

Anderson had a magazine distributorship in Brainerd and was serving his 11th year as lieutenant governor in 1950 when Gov. Luther Youngdahl resigned to become a federal judge. Overnight he moved from relative obscurity to the governorship.

His administration was unmarked by any particular controversies. When Anderson ran for another term in 1952, against Orville Freeman, now U.S. Secretary of Agriculture, he polled 785,125 votes — the largest gubernatorial vote in state history.

Two years later, they were opponents again. This time Freeman was elected governor, and Anderson returned to Brainerd. He subsequently sold the magazine business and purchased a hotel in that northern Minnesota city.

Recently Anderson was elected president of the State Bank of Hamburg, a village of 288 population in Carver County and about 40 miles southwest of Minneapolis.

Anderson said he had been planning for some years to enter banking. He said he chose a small-town bank so that he can learn all phases of the business.

"If you start out in one of the larger banks," he said, "you may have to concentrate in just one aspect of the business."

Also, he said, it happens that he likes small town life. Anderson doubted that he would be involved in politics in the 2nd congressional district.

He said he has no ambitions to try again for political leadership. It is only occasionally, he said, that he misses the excitement, glamor and power of those years when he was governor.

Burning Hours 5 to 8, City Firemen Remind

With screens on Winona windows and the windows themselves open to the air, trash burning is presenting an odor nuisance this spring rather than a fire hazard, Fire Marshal Cleo Keiper said Friday.

Keiper said it probably is necessary to refresh the memories of Winonans on the city's burning ordinance, which is designed to minimize the nuisance as well as the hazard at all times of year.

Paper and other "readily" burnable materials "not producing offensive odors" may be burned in covered incinerators between 5 and 8 p.m. only, according to the ordinance.

Keiper noted that complaints have been received from Winonans whose sleep was disturbed on a warm night by heavy smoke coming from a neighbor's incinerator long after 8 p.m.

Violations of the ordinance hours and burning of bad-smelling materials like rubber or plastics are not only against the law, Keiper pointed out; these violations are bad manners as well.

No wire basket incinerators are approved by the Fire Chief for use by householders, Keiper said. Steel drums are approved only if they have a heavy screen or spark arrestor cover.

Fire department approved incinerators are available at local stores, Keiper said.

Brazil Likes, Never Gets Straight Talk

DUQUE DE CAXIAS, Brazil (AP) — Straight talk is something residents of this small community like, but seldom get, from their politicians.

That's why Eleuterio, a bright green and yellow parrot whose unvarnished vocabulary has overnight made him Brazil's biggest bird, is an odds-on favorite for councilman in fall city elections.

Election authorities, still smarting from landslide write-in elections of a rhinoceros in Sao Paulo, a nanny goat in Pernambuco and a jackass in Parana, can be expected to do everything possible to squash Eleuterio's candidacy before it goes any further. Police are looking for those responsible for distributing thousands of leaflets urging Eleuterio's election.

But whether he wins or not, Eleuterio is basking in the warmth of sudden fame. He has appeared on several television shows, his name has been on the front page of even Rio's most serious newspapers and Flamengo, one of the city's top soccer clubs, has picked him as its mascot. Duque de Caxias is 10 miles northwest of the center of Rio.

Writing in the names of well known animals such as Cacareco the rhino or Slinky the nanny goat is more than a practical joke to many Brazilians. It is their way — in a country where voting is compulsory — to show their disgust with slates of candidates put up in an election. They prefer to write in the name of the animal rather than leave their ballot blank.

Such votes are, of course, annulled by election officials. But they first must be counted like those of any other candidate.

Fragile Soviet, Chinese Ties Badly Strained

MOSCOW (AP) — The fragile Soviet-Chinese alliance on Viet Nam appeared Saturday to have been shattered by a bitter new exchange between Moscow and Peking.

Observers here believed the dispute between the two Communist powers could have a profound long-range effect on the future of the war in South-east Asia.

The Soviet Union implied on Thursday that the Chinese were seeking to touch off a world war over Viet Nam in hopes this would unite the Communist bloc.

The Kremlin's official policy mouthpiece, Pravda, chided the Chinese. It said that true Communists should spend their time "not in waiting for a world war to break out, but in averting a chain of events that is liable to trigger it off."

Peking snapped back Friday with an angry charge that the Russians were "abetting the U.S. imperialist plot of peace negotiations and trying to subordinate the Viet Nam question to their general line of peaceful coexistence and Soviet-U.S. cooperation to extinguish the Vietnamese people's revolutionary struggle."

The Chinese attack was distributed by the official New China News Agency. Its publication the day after the Pravda article seemed clearly intended as a reply to Moscow's rebuke.

The stinging Soviet-Chinese exchange came only three months after Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin announced during his visit to Asia that "imperialist provocations" in Viet Nam had brought the Soviet Union and China together in determination "to curb the aggressors."

The Russians have shown signs of irritation over Chinese inflexibility on the question of negotiations to seek a settlement of the Viet Nam crisis.

Now that their underlying differences over Viet Nam have been aired publicly the two Communist rivals may be expected to continue the polemic openly, observers believed.

A Hungarian Politburo official hinted earlier this week that if agreement is reached on Viet Nam policy, the Russians and their supporters might renew the call for a showdown conference of world Communist parties which was shelved earlier this year because of China's refusal to attend.

Whatever the disruptive effects of the latest Soviet-Chinese argument on the rest of the Communist movement, observers doubted the Russians would back out of their pledges of military aid to North Viet Nam.

It was believed the Russians would continue the arms deliveries — possibly including Soviet anti-aircraft missiles.

Early Bird Rates Filed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The proposed halfway rates for transatlantic television use of the Early Bird satellite have been filed with the Federal Communications Commission.

Communications Satellite Corp. said Friday it wants to charge $2,400 for the first half-hour and $475 for each additional 15 minutes.

The rate would cover transmission from the U.S. ground station at Andover, Maine, to Early Bird.

Flotilla of Canoes on Root

CHATFIELD, Minn. — Excitement ran high as the Root River Trailblazers canoe trip got under way Saturday morning.

Ceremonies were attended by some 400 spectators gathered from Rushford, Harmony, Rochester, Houston, Minneapolis, Preston, Mankato and elsewhere to see 47 canoes begin their weekend trip that will end in Houston Monday afternoon.

SOME DANCED on the banks of the Root, probably many of the new experiences the old river was to witness before the trailblazer trip is over. The Chatfield band struck up the lively tunes.

A raft on two canoes halfway out in the river at Parsley Bridge was the program platform. Gordon Yeager, outdoor editor of the Rochester Post-Bulletin, was the speaker. Earl Bunke cut the ribbon crossing the stream. The Rev. Glenn L. Quam, Methodist Church, Chatfield, gave the opening prayer. Bernie Lusk, of TV Channel 10, was master of ceremonies.

The sun was shining although the air was cool as the spectators, some of them wishing they were going along, saw 72 begin the virgin voyage. The number of canoes was expected to increase to 60 at noon. Others planned to join them Sunday as they approached Rushford.

THE CLYDE Ryberg family from St. Paul came along in four canoes. Ryberg is administrative assistant to State Sen. Henry T. McKnight, St. Paul.

The oldest canoeist with the party was Harvey Anderson, 72, Mankato, who has been canoeing since he was 14. Rev. Quam traveled with him. Anderson has traveled by canoe to the Gulf of Mexico, a 2,300-mile trip. His yodeling echoed and re-echoed through the river valley.

Ryberg played his mandolin as the craft, copied from the birchbark canoes of the original Americans, the Indians, started gently down between the picturesque hills of the Root gorge.

Ray Bentsen and Bob Bunke, in the excitement of the canoe trip they helped plan, to bring their ukelele and guitar.

IN THE GROUP, which stopped at a campsite at Lanesboro Saturday night, were several college students. Some of the modern canoes carried just girls, and there were father and son teams.

Bible Made in Jerusalem Is Given to Ike

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, wearing a black yarmulke, traditional skull cap, was presented Friday night with a silver-colored Bible, made in Jerusalem.

The gift was in recognition of his role as commander of the Allied forces that liberated the Nazi death camps 20 years ago.

The general sat solemnly through a Sabbath service at the Park Avenue Synagogue. Presenting the bible was Joseph Howard Katz, the congregation's president.

Fireballs Mistaken For Lumps of Candy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fireworks which look like small colored candy balls are posing a new danger.

The Food and Drug Administration said Friday that some youngsters have mistaken the balls for candy.

Commissioner George P. Larrick said several cases have been reported from Ohio and the District of Columbia in which children bit into the balls and were injured.

Drink American Policy Derided

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Europeans and Americans living abroad have greeted President Johnson's drink-American policy with reactions ranging from enthusiastic approval to whoops of laughter.

Said Angier Biddle Duke, American ambassador to Spain: "Many Europeans look upon the United States as a new nation still unable to do great things. It will come to them as a surprise that we can produce good wines, and do."

At Dijon, heart of France's burgundy-producing region, a spokesman for the Association of Fine Wines of Burgundy commented:

"This seems to be an indication of bad humor on the part of Mr. Johnson. In French embassies, they serve American bourbon whiskey, even Coca-Cola — and nobody dreams of stopping that."

Earlier this week, White House sources said that since August 1964, no French or other foreign wines had been served at the executive mansion. The sources said the drink-American policy was being put into effect at the State Department and in American missions abroad.

In other comments to Associated Press questions: Jacques Cheignard, grand chamberlain of the Knights of Wine Tasting:

"This is really bad news for the diplomatic corps. I don't think the guests of American embassies are going to appreciate this privation either."

Bertrand Mure, president of the Interprofessional Committee of Champagne Wine said he welcomed the Johnson policy — in that he hoped it means that

Linda Darnell Estate Put at Under $10,000

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actress Linda Darnell, who left an estate valued at less than $10,000, named her adopted daughter and close friends as heirs.

The will was filed for probate Friday in Superior Court.

Miss Darnell, 43, was fatally burned in a fire April 10 at Glenview, Ill. Her will asked that Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lane Curtis, at whose home the fire occurred, become guardians of the actress' daughter, Charlotte Mildred Marley, 17.

Miss Marley, chief beneficiary under the will, is to graduate next month from the Ojai Valley (Calif.) High School. She will make her home with the Curtis family.

The will, dated April 18, 1962 and revised last year, made no mention of airline pilot Merle Roy Robertson, whom she divorced in 1963.

Charlotte was adopted by the actress and her first husband, the late J. Peverell Marley, in 1948.

Sen. Mansfield

Praises Press

In Iowa Speech

DUQUOIE, Iowa (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield praised the nation's press Saturday and said it must continue to reflect the truth as it sees it, "not as it is reflected in the retina of official position."

When these two views differ, Mansfield said, "there must be no forced convergence in the name of a national unity."

That kind of unity, he added, "is not a source of strength. Rather, it is a source of a dangerous and delusive weakness."

In a commencement speech prepared for delivery at Clarke College, Mansfield said it is the basic task of the press to ask incisive questions "which in a democracy need to be asked by the people and answered by their government."

The Montana Democrat said this was the case in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic, where "the press provides the impetus and stimulus for a searching and continuing public debate which is likely to go on and should go on until there is a satisfactory resolution of critical national questions."

Mansfield injected his remarks about the press into a speech largely devoted to the role of women in today's society as he addressed the graduates of the liberal arts college for women.

Trap Thief

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Some one filched a $10 bill from the concession stand Dorothy Anderson, a blind woman, operates in the Minneapolis Police Department.

Mrs. Anderson remembered the voice of a boy who asked for bubble gum while his cohort sneaked behind the counter and took the money. The blind woman "kept getting madder and madder" for a week she kept listening for "that voice."

Friday she heard some boys whispering in the hall. She recognized one voice and summoned a policeman. A boy, 15, admitted stealing the money and giving half of it to his companion, 13.

women. Mrs. Mansfield, who attended Clarke College for three years and was graduated from St. Mary's of Notre Dame, received an honorary doctor of laws degree at the ceremony.

Judge Flays
Demonstrators

MILWAUKEE

— A former school board member now sitting as county judge rebuked demonstrators charged with blockading school buses in a classroom integration dispute Friday.

Judge John E. Krueger suspended $10 fines levied against 16 demonstrators, but criticized them for feeling "they can take the law into their own hands."

A similar charge against Assemblyman Lloyd Barbee, D-Milwaukee, only Negro member of the Wisconsin Legislature, was dismissed by Krueger, because of immunity granted lawmakers under the state Constitution.

Seven civil rights demonstrators were arrested Friday when they chained themselves together in front of a bus scheduled to transfer Negro pupils to a predominantly white school.

Barbee and nine of 10 persons arrested in a similar protest Monday also appeared before Krueger.

Five more demonstrators were arrested Friday evening in a sit-in at the Milwaukee public school administration building after closing time. One was carted on a small flatbed truck to the police van.

The protesters objected to the policy of keeping classes intact when transferred temporarily from overcrowded or outmoded buildings to other schools. Barbee said demonstrators would be "escalated" to "stop busing for segregation."

Krueger told the civil rights group, "If we're going to have to furnish police escorts every time the school board wants to transport children from one school to another, it's a sad state of affairs in this community."

Barbee and the others had linked arms in the first human barricade Monday. The seven Friday chained themselves together at the waist. They failed in an attempt to hook the chain to the first bus.

The buses proceeded with the pupils after the demonstrators were lifted, still chained, into a police wagon.

All were charged with obstructing traffic by standing in a roadway.

But it is more than just a prestige trip. He and the President will be interested in talking about the future of the Atlantic Alliance and its problem child, President Charles de Gaulle of France.

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization is moving shakily toward a crisis, and West Germany's status in the world depends heavily on membership. It is a good bet that Erhard will be thinking hard about how to help save it.

Like most national elections, the one in West Germany virtually paralyzes foreign policy. No serious moves can be expected until after the next government emerges. Then the new chancellor — Erhard again, in all likelihood — can sit down with President Johnson and British Prime Minister Harold Wilson to see if there is any offer worth making to keep De Gaulle in the alliance.

Preliminary exploration may start at next week's meeting. Johnson and Erhard will want to assess the danger of De Gaulle's pulling out, what can be done to prevent it, and what to do if it cannot be prevented.

They will also want to talk about what might be done to bring the two parts of divided Germany closer together, and what price Moscow would ask. Erhard will be cautious on this because a leak on any proposed concession would give him a lot of explaining to do in the campaign.

Erhard and Johnson are bound to discuss how to create an Atlantic force that would give West Germans some voice for the first time, in the use of nuclear weapons. This is another topic too hot to handle publicly during the campaign.

2 Returned From Canada to Face
Mankato Charges

ST. PETER, Minn. (AP) —

Two men who posed as priests to enter Canada have been returned to Minnesota to face charges in connection with the May 12 kidnapping of a Mankato man.

Kidnaping warrants naming Paul Schmadebeck, about 25, Spring Lake Park, and Charles Wilkerson, 29, address unknown, were issued at St. Peter following the abduction — beating of Jack L. Zoller, 30.

Zoller told authorities he had worked with the men on floor repair at Mankato and was seized and taken to a St. Peter motel. Zoller escaped.

A third man also was arrested in the case. He is Lawrence Fondow, 31, Minneapolis. A preliminary hearing for Fondow has been delayed until June 4.

St. Peter authorities who accompanied a deputy U.S. marshal to Winnipeg to take custody of Schmadebeck and Wilkerson also brought back a suitcase containing clerical garb the two men wore while entering Canada.

Schmadebeck also is wanted by federal authorities in connection with the theft of a $14,000 shipment of dry goods in Minneapolis. Fondow and Dennis G. Buchanan, 19, Columbia Heights, already have been charged in that theft.

Buchanan was arrested earlier this week at Jackson, Minn., by FBI and Jackson County authorities. The truck and dry-goods were recovered.

Zoller told authorities he was roughed up and held captive after being directed by Schmadebeck, whom he described as his "boss," to bring $375 of the repair firm's money to him.

The board meets June 12 and probably will act on the recommendation. If approved, the increase would go into effect in the fall and would raise the university's income by $1.75 million a year.

Wilson said the added funds would be used mainly to pay higher faculty salaries and to hire new teachers.

Resident students currently pay $255 a year in tuition and $60 in fees. The total of $315 would be increased to $375 for the school year.

Wilson said his proposed increase is in line with the legislature's orders for state and junior colleges. The legislature makes no recommendation for the university, appropriating only a lump sum of money to be spent by the Board of Regents.

The legislature allocated $98.5 million for the university's spending during the next two years, about $8 million less than what was sought.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—

President O. Meredith Wilson of the University of Minnesota says he will recommend to the Board of Regents that student tuition and fees be increased by $60 a year.

THE INVESTOR

By WILLIAM A. DOYLE

A company in which I own some stock sent a notice of a rights offering to its stockholders concerning the issuance of new preferred stock. Each common stockholder was given the right to buy one new share of the preferred for every 15 shares of common stock that he held.

Then I noticed in the newspaper stock tables that they were selling these rights in the market. Why would the company do that?

A. The company didn't. Some stockholders did.

The company issued the rights to buy the new stock to you and all other owners of the common stock. You received one "right" for each share of common stock you owned.

You could turn in 15 rights and whatever amount of money was specified in the rights offering and buy one share of preferred stock.

That should be an easy example. Of course, this worked out in multiples of 15 for most people.

IF YOU DIDN'T want to exercise your rights by buying preferred stock, you could have sold your rights up to the time that that rights expired.

Many people sell the rights they receive. Other people buy rights in the open market, in order to exercise them and obtain stock.

When a company makes a rights offering it sends the rights to the stockholders. After that, what each stockholder does with his rights is his own decision.

For your sake I hope you either exercised your rights or sold them. Once rights expire, they have no value.

Q. You tell your readers that anyone who sells stock at a higher price than he paid for it is supposed to report his profit as a capital gain on his Federal income tax return. In reply to someone who asked if he could sell some stock and immediately reinvest in another stock, without reporting the profit on the stock he sold, you answered, "Don't try it."

Why not? Do you think that the Internal Revenue Service knows much, if anything, about the myriad of security transactions that take place in this country? Isn't it all governed by the conscience of the individual?

A. The conscience of each individual plays a mighty important role when the individual files his income tax return. And worries about what might happen if he gets caught filing an inaccurate return also enter the mind. The latter is hardly conscience.

You seem to doubt that the IRS can keep tabs on what is going on in the securities markets. Give the revenues some credit. They don't know about everything. But they do know their business. You would be amazed at the information they can obtain.

And, if they catch you "neglecting" to report a capital gain or two, you can be sure they could investigate you by checking the records of the brokerage

Flags Placed At Graves Of War Dead

By MARTHA COLE
WASHINGTON (AP) — One fell in the woods along the route to the Rappahannock in 1861.
One was a general who commanded the American Expeditionary Forces in World War I.
One lies beneath white marble "In honored glory, an American soldier known but to God."
One, who had served in the Navy, died of an assassin's bullet in Dallas, Tex., Nov. 22, 1963.
At the grave of each of these, and others — 1,038,000 in number — who lie buried in U. S. national cemeteries a small American flag will fly this May 30, Memorial Day, the day to honor the dead.

Flags may not be used to decorate the graves except on this day. It's a custom that simply grew through the years, a way for the country to show its respect for those who fought its wars and served it in peacetime.

On this day, too, as they have for 97 years, military people and civilians will gather at nearby Arlington National Cemetery, the best known of the 98 national cemeteries, for remembrance services.

Following custom, a wreath from the President will be laid, with full military honors, at the tombs where lie buried the Unknowns. They are the three nameless men who died for their country in World War I, World War II and in Korea and symbolize all who have died for their country.

A miniature flag will fly on the grave of John Fitzgerald Kennedy behind a white picket fence on a grassy slope of Arlington, where sometimes 50,000 people come in a day to pay honor to the slain president.

More than eight million persons have visited the grave since Kennedy was buried there Nov. 25, 1963.

In the big cities and little towns across the country, the people will remember the dead, too. Sometimes veterans' organizations place flags on veterans' graves.

Gilmanton Man Pleads Guilty To Check Counts

ALMA, Wis. (Special) — Oscar Meistad, 50, Gilmanton, pleaded guilty to two bad check charges in Buffalo County Circuit and County Court here Monday.

Judge Gary B. Schlossstein presided in both courts and appointed Dane Morey, Durand, to represent the defendant. District Attorney Roger Hartman prosecuted.

Meistad was tried on a felony charge in the Circuit Court branch. He wrote a check to himself Feb. 16, 1963, for $240 on First Grand Avenue State Bank, St. Paul, signing the name of his son, Ronald Meistad, Ellsworth. He cashed it at an Eau Claire bank.

He was sentenced to serve not more than one year in the state prison at Waupun. Sentence was stayed and he was placed on probation for three years to the state Department of Public Welfare.

IN COUNTY Court he pleaded guilty to issuing a $250 check on First National Bank, Mondovi, to C. E. Beyreis, which was returned because of insufficient funds. For this he was placed on probation for two years, the probation period to run concurrently with the Circuit Court sentence.

Meistad was ordered to pay court costs and make restitution of both checks.

Also in court Monday, Richard R. Piechowski, Fountain City, pleaded guilty to procuring a case of beer at Wally's Tavern, Town of Dodge, for minors in a car belonging to Thomas Bauers and parked on Highway 35. He paid a $100 fine plus costs. He was arrested May 21. ## Every Nursing School Has Its Own

Caps Symbolize a Proud Profession

By C. GORDON HOLTE

Sunday Editor

IT'S a simple but impressive ceremony at which a girl begins a career in nursing. It involves a traditional lighting of candles and the reception of the nurse's cap — a tiny bit of cloth that long ago ceased to serve any real functional purpose but remains as a symbol of a dedication to works of mercy.

And every cap tells something more about its wearer than identifying her profession: a cut, a fold, a bit of ribbon, some embroidered letters — all are distinctive marks that indicate where the nurse received her training and the type of preparation completed for her career.

At Community Memorial Hospital in Winona, for instance, members of the nursing staff represent 33 different schools of nursing which award diplomas to registered nurses after three years of training and four schools of practical nursing providing one-year's training for licensed practical nurses.

And her cap with its distinctive styling or decoration tells where the nurse attended school — in Dresden, Germany, or Rochester, Minn., Winona or Lancaster, Pa.

There'll soon be a new cap added to those seen at Community Memorial. It will be the one worn by students who are graduated from the new baccalaureate degree course offered at Winona State College and who this spring have been making a selection of their type of cap that will become a symbol of their school.

The history of nursing caps can be traced back to the early days of Christianity when members of religious orders accepted the care of the sick as one of their works of mercy. The religious, of WINONA GENERAL . . . The cap adopted by the former Winona General Hospital School of Nursing is worn by Mrs. Helen Wroblewski, R.N., Community Memorial nursing supervisor.

L.P.N.'s . . . Differences in styles of caps of two schools for licensed practical nurses are seen here in those worn by Mrs. Audrey Erickson, right, a graduate of the Winona School of Practical Nursing at Community Memorial Hospital, a nurse in the post-anesthesia recovery room, and Miss Marlene Peterson, St. Marys Hospital School of Practical Nursing, Rochester, a nurse on the medical floor.

HISTORIC SCHOOL . . . This is the cap worn by graduates of the nursing school of the oldest incorporated hospital in the United States. Mrs. Theda Hester, R.N., a Community Memorial staff nurse, is a graduate of Pennsylvania Hospital, Philadelphia, established in 1751.

FROM DRESDEN . . . Interesting pleats and a bow in the back provide individuality for this cap from a nursing school in Germany. It's worn by Mrs. Margarete Krause, R.N., head nurse on the surgical floor of the hospital here and a graduate of Agnes Karl Schwesternverband, Dresden.

ORGANDY CREATION . . . This cap is fashioned from organdy and identifies a graduate of Lancaster General Hospital School of Nursing, Lancaster, Pa. Mrs. Mildred Baldwin, R.N., head nurse in Central Supply at Community Memorial, is a graduate of Lancaster General.

course, wore their veils and even later lay members of the nursing profession wore head coverings in an era when it was still not the custom of women to appear in public bareheaded.

The stiff white cap of the deaconess and the close fitting white linen head coverings of the nun all have influenced to some extent the styling of modern day nurse's caps.

The name of Florence Nightingale — recognized as the founder of modern nursing — figures in the story of the development of nursing garb in the United States during the last century. Miss Nightingale formulated what were to become the primary guidelines for nursing education and established in 1860 a school of nursing at St. Thomas Hospital in London. In 1873 a "Nightingale school" of nursing was organized on an experimental basis in Bellevue Hospital in New York.

The first six students in this class wanted a uniform other than the housedress covered by a large apron customarily worn by hospital personnel. Those seeking adoption of a uniform held that it would be safer, cleaner and more economical, as well as a morale booster.

It's said that one of the members of the first Bellevue class was a New York socialite, Euphemia Van Rensselaer. One weekend, the story goes, Euphemia went home and returned to the hospital dressed in blue and white striped seersucker, leg-o-mutton sleeves, trailing skirts, white apron, collar, cuffs and caps. Girls weren't any different then than they are today and with a society leader setting the pace all of her classmates soon were wearing a similar outfit. The Bellevue cap adopted at the same time was patterned after the cap worn by nurses at the Nightingale school at St. Thomas.

Over the years styles have changed and schools may change their types of caps. Many of the early caps were extremely elaborate and the pleating or ruffles on them had to be done with a special fluting iron.

One of the caps to be seen at Community Memorial is worn by a graduate of Pennsylvania Hospital, Philadelphia, the first incorporated hospital in the United States. Almshouses and hospitals of some sort had been established in this country as early as 1863 but with the aid of Benjamin Franklin a formal charter was sought for a medical institution in Philadelphia and was granted by the crown in 1751.

Among the many caps to be seen at the hospital here is one with interesting pleats and a bow in back worn by a graduate of the Agnes Karl Schwesternverband, Dresden, Germany.

The photographs on these pages today show some of the types of caps worn by nurses at Community Memorial, caps that to each wearer is a proud status symbol that never can be purchased but must be earned.

PETITE STYLING . . . A small cap worn well back on the head is the cap of St. John's hospital, St. Paul. Mrs. Ethel Grimm, R.N., a graduate of St. John's is a staff nurse on the surgical floor.

DIFFERENT STYLE . . . Miss Bernice Holm, R.N., left, and Mrs. Anne Piechowiak, R.N., are both graduates of Winona General Hospital School of Nursing but you seldom see them in the caps of their school. Miss Holm is head nurse in the operating room and Mrs. Piechowiak a staff nurse there and during duty hours they wear the surgical caps completely covering the hair.

| 2 cups cooked medium length egg noodles  | 1 cup small curd cottage cheese   |
| 3 tablespoons French dressing            | 2 tablespoons French dressing     |
| 1 tablespoon finely chopped green onions | 1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce |
| 1/2 cup chopped celery                   | 1 teaspoon salt                   |
| 1 4 3/4-ounce can chicken spread         | Hard cooked egg                   |
|  | Pimiento                          |
|  | Black olives                      |

Cook noodles as directed on the package (left over noodles can be used). Drain. Mix noodles with dressing, onion and celery. Cool; then put in refrigerator. Cream cottage cheese thinned with French dressing, Worcestershire sauce and salt. Blend in chicken spread. (This was made in a 9 inch pie pan.) Rub oil on the bottom of the pan or mold. Put a layer of marinated noodles on the bottom; center with cottage cheese mixture and top with another layer of noodles. Garnish with the item of your choice: Slices of egg, pimiento and black olives. Sprigs of parsley and watercress will also dress it up. Let stand, covered with Saran or in poly bag, in refrigerator for at least 24 hours to mellow. Makes 4-5 servings.

Serve balance of dressing in separate bowl. Makes 6-8 servings.

A chilled, well-seasoned egg salad, crusty French bread with plenty of butter and a tall glass of icy cold milk . . . the perfect answer to what to serve on the hot days of spring and summer. Tomato Swiss Salad is in a class by itself with egg salad heightened by strips of Swiss cheese and bright tomato slices peeking out from a topping of hard-cooked eggs.

Nobody's Perfect . . . But You Can Improve

Choose Apparel to Minimize Faults

NOBODY'S perfect and sometimes troubles come in pairs. For example, take the gal who is both overly slim and overly tall or the gal who is both too heavy and too short. They can help minimize their joint over-and-under-endowment by following a series of multi-purpose fashion dos and don'ts.

But lest I be accused of shortsightedness and neglect, what, of the damsel who is either too tall or too short but otherwise well-proportioned? Or who is either too stout or too slim but of average height? Strange to tell, dear readers, here too we find common solutions — with variations — for seemingly opposite problems.

Let's consider, first, those lasses who are either too short or too tall. Both should avoid exhibiting well-defined waistlines! The short gals, should look to above-the-waist emphases — empires and similar high-waisted looks, princess styles and sheaths, and the shorter the jacket the better — whenever possible or practicable incorporating vertical lines such as are afforded by full-length parallel skirts; the tall gals should try to introduce horizontal lines below the waistline such as can be achieved with tunics, blouses, tiered and flared skirts.

Both should also be wary of too-obvious exaggeration when it comes to selecting shoes: The high-rising miss, while favoring shorter heels eschewing those which are too-too low, her shorter sister avoids those with too-high heels — which would only serve to proclaim the fact that they are trying ever so hard to compensate for their height or lack of it.

Common solutions are also in order for those ladies who are either too heavy or too slim — but again, for different reasons. Both these women should take care not to select clothes which are too clingy or fit too tight. Why? Because on the one hand, such clothes will reveal excess avoirdupois; they will emphasize jutting bones.

The keynotes in both situations are looseness and camouflage. The too-thin gal should take pains to keep covered those parts of her which are most obviously bony — shoulder blades, collar bones, arms, legs, knees, whatever. She should strongly consider sleeved, higher-necked outfits, slightly longer skirts, and perhaps some delicately textured or patterned stockings for the legs. Her stouter counterpart should take similar care to keep covered up, paying particular attention in choosing blouses and bodices to their ability to conceal flabby upper arms.

And now, how about the heavy-set woman who is also a bit too tall? She can best serve herself by employing still another combined solution for a double excess by aiming at a lengthening of the torso by means of a slimmer, skimming sheath or skirt with a hemline flare or low-placed pleats.

And the slim-jim lass who is also rather short? She would do well on both counts by concentrating on torso-shortening styles such as the empire.

Finally, two "universal" styles I might recommend which are safe bets for practically all categories and combinations of categories: The overblouse which fits loosely through the waist and the coatdress — with the shorter miss favoring vertically-flowing lines, the taller one horizontals.

Now, have I left anybody out?

FASHION MIRROR

One of the reasons for stretch gloves having been accepted as a virtual staple by fashion-wise women is that there's really no longer any visual difference between them and sized gloves. I should, perhaps, qualify this: There's basically no difference in appearance insofar as all-fabric gloves are concerned — especially those double-woven cottons and nylons with resiliency built in throughout so that they can stretch in all directions. The situation in leathers, however, is somewhat less ideal, the fact remaining that one-size stretch gloves in this category — in which not the whole glove but just the fourchettes stretch — have yet to attain the sleek, streamlined appearance of conventional all-leather gloves. The result is that while stretch leathers are recommended for sport and casual wear, they still have quite a way to go in the tailored and dressy realms.

FASHION TIP

Did you read recently where the wayoutniks were painting their kneecaps with flower faces and all other kinds of pop artlessness? Now here's something else to stack on your mind's shelf of immemorable trivia: Kneefers — stretchy knitted abbreviated sleeves designed to slip up over the leg and cover the kneecap with flowers, fruits, and fringes. Suppose to be cute or fun or something. Actually, they're hysterical.

DEAR ABBY:

Hairline Decisions Are Tough to Make

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, age 49, but I am far from "old," if you know what I mean. A very prominent, well-to-do professional man (he is a widower) has asked to marry me. I've been a widow for six years. Melvin is very affectionate and full of fun, and he seems young at heart, but you never know. Please don't think I am silly, but a friend of mine, who was widowed twice and stung three times with older men, told me that men who lose their hair early in life do not have much "drive" romantically. (I hope you get what I am trying to put across.) I've known Melvin practically all my life. (His wife and I were good friends.) Melvin started to go bald in his late 20s and this worries me. I don't know what to believe. Is there any truth in what my friend says? Sign me . . . YPSILANTI

DEAR YPSI: Absolutely not! Just because there's chrome on the dome doesn't mean there's no power under the hood. Tell your widow friend to get her ears out of your water.

DEAR ABBY: We are a family of five. Last week my ever-lovin' husband went downtown all by himself and traded in a perfectly good two-year-old, five-passenger sedan for a little two-seater sports car. What would you say he had in mind? MAD

DEAR MAD: Himself.

DEAR ABBY: It is always nice to be remembered with a gift on Mother's Day — even an inexpensive one, because it's the thought behind it that counts. When a gift is bought in the line of duty, it is meaningless. My sons married and live a short distance from me. I have never been a butting-in mother-in-law, but my sons' wives never cared much for me. I've never gone to their homes without an invitation, and those invitations were very rare. But the wives' families were always in and out. I wasn't missed. My sons slowly turned away from me. On Mother's Day I always get expensive gifts with beautiful cards with verses saying what a wonderful mother I am and how much they love me! It is like rubbing salt in the wound. One son hasn't been in my home for three years, but every Mother's Day he sends an extravagant gift. I hope you'll find space in your column to let young daughters-in-law know that all their husbands' mothers want from them is to love their sons and to take good care of their families. And if they showed a little respect for an aging mother-in-law who might not be around too many more years, they wouldn't regret it. Thank you. A HURT MOTHER

Abby

WINONA SUNDAY NEWS

Sunday, May 30, 1965 WINONA SUNDAY NEWS 7

Wants Sophisticated Roles

Actor Doesn't Like 'Pretty Boy' Image

By CHARLES WITBECK

The main problem with the tall, black-haired actor David Hedison, who plays Commander Lee Crane, second in command to Richard Basehart on ABC's "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea" Monday nights, is that he is too good looking.

Hedison needs more wrinkles in his face to cut down on the pretty boy image. "You should have seen me five years ago," he says. "Boy, was I bland looking. Another five years will help me a lot."

The wrinkles don't have to be as deep as Spencer Tracy's, but lines for Hedison are career builders. David agrees. "A man's golden age is from forty to fifty," he says. "I must be patient."

David has to wait a while before he graduates into that age bracket, but he's putting in security time running from one bulkhead to another in the submarine series for kids. Like most actors, David hoped to snag a TV series role where character might come into the picture occasionally.

In "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea" there is little chance for this sort of thing — the chase or the struggle with an underwater monster is the high point. Commander Crane is a handsome naval officer who opposes the bad guys underwater be they human or finny. "I was just a cardboard character at first," admits Hedison, "I was groping, trying to get a foothold on Crane."

CRANE HAS NOW become a better fitting suit for Hedison to jump into, and David confesses Crane is easier to play these days. The stiffness, Hedison thinks, has gone. "I've learned a lot from our star Richard Basehart," he says. "We discuss."

It's something of a puzzle why Richard Basehart, a very competent actor, chose the series with its appeal aimed at the kiddies. Money is perhaps the big answer, and it looks as if Basehart guessed right, because "Voyage" will be back next season, in an early Sunday evening time slot.

The two leads, Basehart and Hedison, get along well together and that helps. "Richard is more of an introvert," says David, "while I'm in the extrovert category."

Hedison has enough push and personality to get along easily with others. At one time he was a Fuller Brush man in Rhode Island, passing out combs as free samples, before going into his sales pitch to housewives. One morning in the midst of a good pitch, a shrewd female customer

TV Mailbag

By STEVEN H. SCHEUER

QUESTION — I think all of Perry Como's shows are the greatest. I seem to recall reading that a well-known singer was really Perry's brother, but that he didn't want to cash in on Perry's fame so he changed his name. Could it be Eddie Fisher or is it Vic Damone? P. C. F., Davenport, Iowa.

ANSWER — Perry Como has been erroneously tagged as the brother of many famous singers including Dean Martin, Vic Damone, Eddie Fisher, Steve Lawrence, Tony Bennett and even Dinah Shore.

QUESTION — I have become a big Humphrey Bogart fan after seeing many of his old movies on TV and I would like to know the name of his first movie. My girl friend says he was a silent film star but I don't think he was that old. M. V., Paterson, N. J.

ANSWER — Bogart was brought to Hollywood in the thirties to repeat his portrayal of "Duke Mantee" in the all-talking screen version of the hit Broadway play "The Petrified Forest." He became a star with this film's release and remained one of the biggest until his death.

Sky Vu Triple-Feature

Jerry Lewis in Two Films

A triple-feature program opens the week's bill at the Sky Vu Theatre through Tuesday.

IT'S ONLY MONEY has Jerry Lewis in the role of a TV repairman who wants to be a detective and joins up with a friend who is a private detective in a search for the missing heir to millions left by an electronics genius. It

Romance Set At Acapulco

Set in the vacation resort of Acapulco, Mexico, LOVE HAS MANY FACES is a romantic drama of jealousy and intrigue which plays through Tuesday at the State Theatre.

Lana Turner stars as an heiress who uses her millions to get what she wants and what she wants is Cliff Robertson. Robertson is cast as a beach boy at the resort who married into great wealth and Hugh O'Brien appears as a friend of Robertson.

The latter is still playing the field, romancing and even blackmailing the lonely, love-hungry women whom he meets on the sands of Acapulco beaches. Stefanie Powers is an American girl who becomes involved in the intrigues around her and Ruth Roman and Virginia Gray are two vacationing American women.

Robert Mitchum and Carroll Baker star in MISTER MOSES, opening Wednesday at the State.

Filmed in Kenya in Africa, the movie stars Robert Mitchum as a lovable renegade who is adept at handing out sweet talk to the natives, settlers, missionaries and women.

Carroll Baker is the daughter of a missionary who meets the wandering con man and nurses him back to health after he has been kicked out of a village for trying to sell a "health remedy" to gullible natives. Alexander Knox is Miss Baker's missionary father and Ian Bannen Mitchum's rival for Miss Baker's hand.

turns out Jerry actually is the missing heir and he's subjected to numerous attempts on his life while unwittingly seeking out himself.

Jerry also stars in the second feature, YOU'RE NEVER TOO YOUNG, with Dean Martin and Diana Lynn. In this one, Dean is a teacher at a school for girls and Jerry romps madly around the grounds masquerading as an 11-year-old boy with 500 coeds in hot pursuit.

The windup of the program is THE INCREDIBLE MR. LIMPET, a comedy starring Don Knotts.

FATHER GOOSE and THE BRASS BOTTLE are paired as a double-feature at the Sky Vu Wednesday through Friday.

Cary Grant plays the title role in "Father Goose" as a professor of history who rebels against society and seeks an escape to a South Seas island where he operates a one-man launch. His idyll comes to an abrupt end when he comes upon Leslie Caron, the war-displaced daughter of a French consular official who with seven schoolgirl charges have taken up residence on an island outpost.

Playing Saturday night only will be the double-feature, PALM SPRINGS WEEKEND and YOUNG AND WILLING.

The first stars Troy Donahue, Ty Hardin, Connie Stevens and Jerry Van Dyke in a story concerned with the descent on a California beach area of college students on a spring vacation.

YOUNG AND WILLING is a story about intrigue and the undercurrents of life at a provincial university in England.

Paul Rogers and Virginia Maskell play a prim and proper college professor and his morally indiscreet wife while Ian McShane is a brilliant but cynical and ill-mannered student leader, around whose romantic excesses and violent indulgences the story revolves.

Top Comedy Acts Return

THE WORLD OF ABBOTT AND COSTELLO, featuring sequences from 18 of the comedy duo's most famous pictures, shows through Tuesday on a Winona Theatre double-feature program that also includes THE SWORD OF ALI BABA.

Comedian Jack E. Leonard narrates "The World of Abbott and Costello" which recalls highlights of the careers of Bud Abbott and Lou Costello who teamed up in the depression days of 1931 to become the world's funniest comedy act.

The movie shows their classic skit "Who's on First?" which screen audiences first saw in "The Naughty Nineties." Marjorie Main appears with them in the "Frog in the Soup" scene from "The Wistful Widow of Wagon Gap" and Tom Ewell is seen in a segment from "Lost in Alaska."

There are parts from 16 other movies, including the famous "Buck Privates" which sent Abbott and Costello into the front ranks of boxoffice favorites.

Opening Wednesday at the Winona is STATION SIX - SAILOR, with Carroll Baker cast as a dissolute and disgusted woman who wants to shed her husband, Biff McGuire.

After leaving him she finds herself at an oil field in the Sahara Desert, a station occupied by five lonely, angry men. The abrupt appearance of a woman at the station sets loose a reign of violent contention for her favors and the climax comes when McGuire, who has been disabled in an automobile accident, arrives at the station determined to exact vengeance for his wife's actions.

Spy Shockers, Memoirs for Summer

Book publishers will be giving summer readers a fat quantity of nonfiction, but the real interest may lie in the fiction. And there are two interesting trends:

1. The fiction will include a major cluster of spy-thriller shockers.

2. The nonfiction encompasses a larger than average swatch of biographies, autobiographies and memoirs.

For the June-July-August period, let's take the fiction first, more or less in the order of publication:

June brings a novel by Vincent Sheean, "Beware of Caesar" (Random) which is concerned with Nero and Seneca; "Commander-I" by Peter George, a sequel to "Red Alert," which became that flicker "Dr. Strange-love," and a story of social responsibility in the modern world, "Beyond Bojador" (Holt, Rinehart) by Charles Mercer.

OTHER FICTION items in June will be "The Monday Voices" (Holt, Rinehart), a modern story of a social worker, by Joanne Greenberg, whose previous novel was an excellent historical study, "The King's Persons," a story of racial tensions in a little Tennessee town by Jesse Hill Ford, called "The Liberation of Lord Byron Jones" (Little, Brown) and Elizabeth Spencer's novel with an Italian scene, "Knights and Dragons" (McGraw).

July's fiction will start off with John (Beatle) Lennon's collection of stories, "A Spaniard in the Works" (Simon & Schuster). Later will come the new Peter DeVries novel, set in Indiana, "Let Me Count The Ways" (Little, Brown).

In August the novels will include a story of the three Wise Men, "How Far to Bethlehem?" (Doubleday) by Norah Lofts, whose fine historical specialty has been early England; and "The Schatten Affair" (Atheneum), a story of postwar Berlin by Frederic Morton, best known for his nonfiction "The Rothschilds."

AS FOR THE spy category, there are two big numbers coming.

In late July John Le Carre will come in from the cold with "The Looking Glass War" (Coward-McCann), described as a sardonic story of the Cold War.

In early August there will be the late Ian Fleming's final James Bond sketch, "The Man With the Golden Gun" (New American Library).

Other nerve-twitchers this summer will include Frederick Ayer's "The Man In The Mirror" (Regnery); Clifford Irving's "The Thirty-Eighth Floor" (McGraw); John Gardner's "Understrike" (Viking); and "May You Die In Ireland" (Morrow) by Michael Kenyon.

Crossing over to the nonfiction side, let's have a look at the personal stories.

June will bring John Fenton's "Salt Of The Earth" (Coward-McCann), an informal portrait of Richard Cardinal Cushing; Oscar Levant's "Memoirs of an Amnesiac" (Putnam); "Tennessee Williams and Friends" (World) by Gilbert Maxwell; and "Intern" (Harper) by a Doctor X.

IN JULY there will be J. Edward Day's "My Appointed Round" (Holt, Rinehart), described as a witty account of the author's experience in the Kennedy cabinet.

In August "Oppenheimer: The Story of a Friendship" (Braziller) will be Haakon Chevalier's contribution to a knotty episode in recent history, and literary critic Granville Hicks will bring forth "Part of the Truth" (Har-

Three of the summer's nonfiction items are likely to stand out in the fields of ideology and history.

In June there will be "Report From a Chinese Village" (Pantheon) by Jan Myrdal, a factual record from behind the Bamboo Curtain. In July, "The Making of the President 1964" (Atheneum) will be Theodore White's companion volume to his best-seller on the 1960 campaign. Late in August, there will be the final volume of Bruce Catton's trilogy on the Civil War, "Never Call Retreat" (Doubleday).

For variety, the nonfiction items of the summer will include a story of the liberation of Paris in World War II, titled "Is Paris Burning?" (Simon & Schuster) by Larry Collins and Dominique Lapierre; Robert Leckie's account of a turning point in the same war, "Challenge for the Pacific" (Doubleday); and a nature book by one of the eloquent masters of the field, Robert Murphy, "The Golden Eagle" (Dutton).

Figures in Plot Lack Motivation

THE SENTRIES, by Ed McBain. Simon & Schuster, 317 pages, $4.95.

By JOHN R. BREITLOW

The scene is southern Florida. The little town of Ocho Puertos is seized by a band of armed men, held at gunpoint. There is murder involved. Into the harbor comes a hijacked Coast Guard cutter for use in Cuban waters. The plan is cunning and its execution seems certain. It almost sounds like another Communist plot but most of those involved are at the other end of the spectrum.

The small armed band led by a cashiered naval officer, Jason Trench, are not agents of Moscow or Peking. On the contrary, they believe themselves to be dedicated Americans of the type now described as "super patriots." Their aim is to force the United States into a shooting war with Castro's Cuba, and they nearly pull it off.

This clever and unfortunately topical theme is developed in the novel, THE SENTRIES, by the well-known author Evan Hunter writing under the pseudonym of Ed McBain. Hunter has good reason for the disguise. After publishing several good books, the best of which was BLACKBOARD JUNGLE, he has produced a dud.

THE IDEA, and even sorts of the plot of THE SENTRIES has already been exploited with exciting results in SEVEN DAYS IN MAY. But no matter how sincere an author's motives or how just his cause, he must first create a readable, believable story. The author who sacrifices storytelling for preaching will lose his opportunity to do either.

Jason Trench's plan looks very effective and of itself is quite believable. Once the private harbor at Ocho Puertos is held incommunicado and the cutter under Trench's control, the commandeered vessel will be sent to Cuban waters on a fake rescue mission. Those aboard well provoke the Cubans into sinking the craft. The predictable effect on the American public of a Cuban attack on an American vessel on an errand of mercy would be to trigger an invasion of the island.

The usual reaction to situations posed by books like THE SENTRIES is "it can't happen here."

from the three major faiths, the most moving and significant of the sermons and religious expressions in the two days following the assassination of President Kennedy.

THREE ON A TOOTHBRUSH, Jack Paar.

Adventures and encounters around the globe.

ADVENTURES IN FRIENDSHIP, Clarence B. Randall.

A series of vignettes, thumbnail character sketches of the important and less important people who have left their mark on Randall's warmly appreciative memory.

It is the job of the novelist to overcome this natural disbelief on the part of his readers. He does this first by having his plot exciting and not too improbable. On this point Hunter manages to succeed most of the time.

A good plot will not stand alone. Such books as THE SENTRIES must be about people, not just actions and issues. The characters must inspire a sense of reality and some understanding. It is in this area that Evan Hunter is either too concerned with making a point or else he takes too much for granted.

SINCE FEW readers have much exposure to the caliber of person likely to hijack a Coast Guard vessel or able to involve the U.S. in an unwilling war, the motives of men like Jason Trench and his cohorts must be thoroughly explored and understood. Instead Evan Hunter has made his lead villain a hollow caricature of the far-right personality colored in unrelieved shades of black.

Trench's disciplined and well-trained followers, including his very pregnant wife, are equally dismissed with sketchy, artificial backgrounds and shallow, unconvincing personalities. Evan Hunter asks his readers to believe that a band of bums, fanatics and near morons, led by a petty thief with unspecified moral convictions, could evolve and very nearly succeed in such a coup.

I do not object to Evan Hunter's theme. Extremists of any persuasion are always dangerous. His constant carping on the ease with which these men could purchase arms gets abrasively wearying and his inflation of the importance of such an activity by phrases like "The world was poised for anarchy" sounds childish, but these are merely irritants. I am annoyed that he missed a singularly appropriate opportunity in THE SENTRIES, that of understanding the conspirators.

I am not personally able to cope with times where someone with excessive concern for his country is considered a dangerous deviate but there seems to be great agitation in that direction. To write of such people demands an understanding of the reasons for their conduct. If Evan Hunter has such knowledge, he has certainly kept it out of print and there by made a mess of what might have been a very worthwhile consideration of a real problem.

THE SENTRIES may well be the beginning of a trend. The subject is good raw material for popular and legislative interest at the moment. Hopefully other ventures into this area will do something more than "cry wolf" in an unconvincing voice. In a society swamped by attempts to excuse and explain every sort of evil-doer and scoundrel imaginable, it is not asking too much of an author who postulates plots of right-wing revolt to explain why his characters act as they do.

Area Author's Book For Children Published

THE CALF NOBODY WANTED, by Kenneth G. Brown. Van tage Press, 59 pages, $2.50.

The adventures of a calf whose escape from a truck bringing it to market results in its "adoption" by a doe with two fawns is told in THE CALF NOBODY WANTED, a children's story written by Winona area newspaperman Kenneth G. Brown.

His first published work, the tale is directed to the 6- to 10-year age group and relates the events that happen to Taffy, a calf the color of brown sugar candy, among wildlife she encounters while she's the stepchild of the doe.

First there are the adjustments to be made to life with deer, grouse, rabbits and raccoon and then the meeting with little Nancy Miller when Taffy makes her way to a barn on the Miller farm.

Nancy, who has been wishing for an animal to come and live in the empty barn and has prepared a bed of straw for its arrival, is overjoyed at the appearance of Taffy and eventually arrangements are made with Taffy's original owner for her to keep the calf to which she has become so attached.

A native of South Dakota and a graduate of the University of Minnesota School of Journalism, Brown is a reporter and outdoors writer for the La Crosse Tribune.

Alma Prizewords Fan Misses on One Letter

Prizewords Puzzle No. 536
Sunday, May 30, 1965

MAIL TO: Prizewords, Winona Sunday News,
Box 70, Winona, Minn.

After making a mistake in her answer to the first clue, an Alma, Wis., Prizewords player last week went on to fill in correct letters in each of the remaining 15 blanks to miss out on a $270 cash award by a single letter.

Mrs. Julius Furrer stumbled on No. 1 across, writing in BLINDLY, rather than BLANDLY, as the answer to the first clue for the only error on her entry.

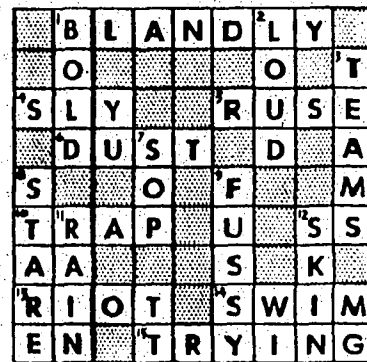

No one else came any closer to a perfect solution, however, so last week's $270 stays in the jackpot and we add the $10 that goes in each week there isn't a winner.

THAT MEANS that the one person who sends in a perfect entry this week will receive a prize of $280.

Others who came close last week were Bernard Iverson, Rushford, Minn.; Miss Mamie Loechler, Wabasha, Minn., and Kermit Blexrud, Canton, Minn., each of whom had only two mistakes.

Among those with three errors were Evelyn M. Pederson, Blair, Wis.; Myrona Traaen, Spring Grove, Minn.; Gaylord Ruff, Alma Wis., Rt. 2; Mrs. Walter Pape, Fountain City, Wis., Rt. 2; Joe H. Susa, Independence, Wis., Rt. 2; Mrs. Emil Mueller, 865 E. King St.; Margaret M. Ives, 483 E. Bellevue St.; Miss Audrey Amdahl, M a b e l, Minn.; Victor Johnson, 702 Winona St.; Dennis Pelley, Fountain City Rt. 1, and Mrs. Neil Bellock, Rushford, Minn., Rt. 2.

Last Week's Correct Prizewords Solution

ACROSS

1. You might well be irritated by a person who BLANDLY follows advice that's obviously bad (Blindly). — In the case of Blindly, there's no cause to doubt you'll be irritated. Exceptions are more likely with BLANDLY; he might have a trick up his sleeve, and follow the advice for his own purposes.

4. It's sometimes pleasing when we innocently say something that others regard as Sly (Fly). — Fly indicates you're wide-awake and quite knowing; sometimes doesn't go far enough. To be considered Fly is always pleasing. To be considered SLY can be downright unpleasant at times.

5. We might well have reason to suspect an old RUSE (Fuse). — Fuse is less to the point; if it hasn't blown it might last for some time. An old RUSE, or trick, is one we might be familiar with.

6. DUST is often a contributory cause to many a motoring accident (Dusk). — The restraint of often and many is too great with Dusk, which is a high accident-rate period. The restraint of the clue is better with DUST.

10. As a rule, the more experienced a trickster the less likely we are to TRAP him (Trip). — TRAP is better. It has an air of finality. As a rule exaggerates with Trip, which indicates we spoil his plans. We do not catch him in the act.

13. An insulting remark could possibly lead to a RIOT (Rift). — The clue makes wide allowance for exceptions and is more reasonable with RIOT. A mere Rift could be caused by many things — and an insulting remark is indeed likely to cause one.

14. You might well expect to benefit from it if you SWIM regularly (Slim). — The word regularly is out of place with Slim. Too much dieting might not be good for you. It fits better with SWIM, which completes a matter-of-fact statement.

15. TRYING questions are apt to upset a nervous youngster

DOWN

1. Women are apt to treat flip-pantly a BOLD proposal of marriage from a mere acquaintance (Bald). — Bald suggests the proposal is sudden, unexpected; the reaction might even be shock! BOLD doesn't necessarily imply that it's so unexpected.

2. Probably most of us are apt to be impatient if a person is LOUD (Lout). — Probably, most and apt understate with Lout. All those qualifications fit better with LOUD; a person who is LOUD isn't so objectionable as one who is a Lout.

3. Good TEAMS should hold together regardless of strain (Seams). — With Teams, the strain comes from the opposition; and the statement thus completed is reasonable. Seams is less true; they might not have been made to withstand excessive strain.

7. Parental objection is likely to be strong when daughter shows preference for an admirer who seems SOP (Sap). — His being a Sap surely will bring parental objection. His being a SOP, a softie, isn't quite so bad. He could have other good qualities.

8. It's apt to please some women when their clothes make people STARE (Star). — STARE goes well with some. Some women enjoy wearing extreme fashions. Start isn't complimentary. It indicates an unpleasant reaction to the particular costume, and won't bring pleasure to the wearer.

9. It's apt to madden women when men are very tolerant of a woman who is FUSSY (Hussy). — Apt understates with Hussy, for whom other women have little patience. The restraint is better with FUSSY; the woman might be FUSSY on other women's behalf.

11. The outcome of a battle might be decided by the effect of heavy RAIN (Raid). — The effect of a heavy Raid is such that might doesn't go far enough. Might makes wide allowance for exceptions, and it fits better with RAIN.

12. It might be advisable to consult a doctor if you have a badly discolored SKIN (Shin). — The badly discolored SKIN might indicate something more serious than a mere bruise. The badly discolored Shin is more likely to be just a bruise.

Wants Sophisticated Roles

said, "Kid, you ought to be an actor."

DAVID HAD the acting bug in his brain before his career as a salesman. After high school, Hedison joined the Navy and saw John Wayne pictures whenever he could. Learning that John Ford was going to direct a Wayne movie, Hedison wrote and asked for a job in any capacity. He also enclosed a snapshot of himself in Navy whites with his hat cocked on the back of his head.

Director Ford for some unknown reason answered the letter ending up with: "And the next time you send your picture to an ex-Navy four-striper, be sure and square your hat, sailor!"

Following Navy duty David studied at Brown University for three years, then enrolled at New York's Neighborhood Playhouse. After seasoning in summer stock, David appeared on two Kraft TV dramas and won a part in an off-Broadway production, "A Month in the Country" starring Uta Hagen.

SPOTTED BY 20th Century-Fox scouts, David signed a five-year contract and came west for pictures like "The Enemy Below," "The Fly," "Son of Robin Hood" and that short-lived TV series, "Five Fingers." His latest epic is the current "The Greatest Story Ever Told," in which he spent nine months playing one of the Apostles.

The big deal though is underwater as hero Crane sticks out his jaw as he watches all the flashing buttons in the super sub and prepares to fight off a sea monster or face his nation's enemy.

Actor Hedison, who yearns for sophisticated parts in Phillip Barry drawing room plays about the rich, "roles where you have to have a personality," perhaps was born too late, but he still has the good sense to go along with a trend and ride a winner.

Whimsy

Every woman is a Thing-Keeper at heart. Females of all ages keep string, boxes, left-over food in the refrigerator, half-used medicine bottles, paper that things are wrapped in, old valentines, and empty perfume bottles.

Men are Thing-Keepers too, but according to them they keep only sensible things — like last year's license plates, or burned out fuses, or the key that used to fit the back door before the lock was changed last summer.

Eventually, Thing-Keepers have certain problems with their keepings. When it comes to putting things away in closets female Thing-Keepers follow a plan that is a cross between a squirrel storing nuts for the winter and a street map of an old river town.

Objects that are used only once a year, like Christmas tree lights or Easter baskets, are kept on a bottom shelf, near the front. Items that are used daily, such as the attachments for the vacuum cleaner, are invariably stored at the rear of the closet, behind some boxes, underneath the winter headgear.

Woolen articles are swathed carefully in sheets of plastic and taped messages attached — "WHTK" or "KFLD - 9/18/60". A woman can always solve these unfathomable codes by poking a hole in the plastic and taking a peek at what's inside.

A favorite that everyone keeps are things-that-go-on-things, like the tops of jelly glasses, covers of olive jars, bottle caps, lids of pots long thrown away, and odd saucers.

Things-that-come-off-things rate a close second for the Thing-Keeper. Such as buttons, buckles, hinges, the nozzle of the garden hose, some screws that fell out of the TV set, and any nut found lying on the garage floor.

Some people save things that other things come in, such as paper sacks, egg cartons, round tin boxes — no honest to goodness Thing-Keeper can resist a round tin box — and most any empty jar.

Things-in-the-cellar and things-that-seem-a-shame-to-throw-away fill up many a corner and attic. Even knocking over twenty flowerpots on every trip to the basement or snagging nylons on the empty petunia flats seldom inspires a Thing-Keeper to get rid of the whole mess.

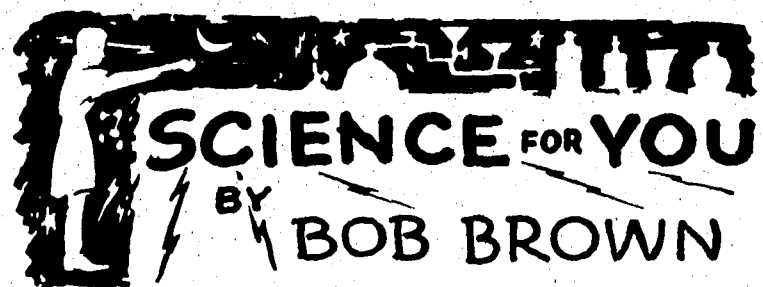

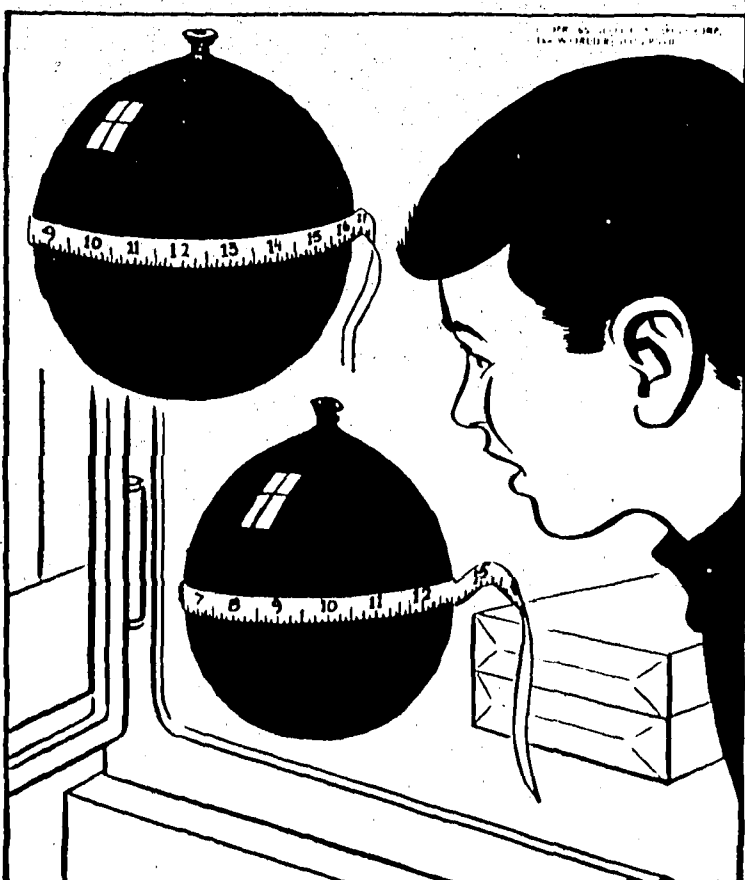

Most people have lovely collections of things-that-have-sentimental value, like wedding announcements, high school report cards, baby shoes, newspaper clippings, and last year's Christmas cards.

Some things are saved simply because they are too-nice-to-use. Crocheted tablecloths, tatted baby slips, the quilt Grandma made the winter she stayed with us, linen anythings, and initialed paper goods yellow with age, not use.

But a woman really shines in the thing-keeping art in the kitchen. There you are apt to find kool-aid in the tea cannister, cookies in the flour jar, grocery bags in the bread-box, snapshots in the recipe file, and floor wax in the potato bin.

But — clean it all up, logically and orderly, for a genuine Thing-Keeper and it will take her precisely a week to get the "mess" all straightened out and back to its former blissfully unkempt state.

A Refrigerator Shrinks a Balloon

PROBLEM: Cold and warm air.

NEEDED: A balloon and a refrigerator.

DO THIS: Blow up the balloon, tie it tightly so that there is no leak, and measure a tape measure around it. Keep the balloon in the refrigerator half an hour, then measure it again. It will have shrunk in size.

HERE'S WHY: As the air in the balloon is cooled, it contracts, exerts less pressure on the tight rubber of the balloon and the balloon shrinks. When the author tried it, the balloon shrunk from 24 inches to 21 inches in circumference.

A slightly more technical explanation is: As the air cools, its molecules move more slowly, beat against the stretched rubber with less force, and therefore the rubber is not distended as much.

Tricks With Pics

By Bonnie and Reba Churchill

HERE'S a fun fad that puts the focus on friendship. Today, along with pen pals, there are pendant pals whose photos decorate jewelry, hats or purses. As Linda Miller discovered, a bracelet makes an ideal "gallery," for, like charms, additional pictures can be added.

TO FASHION SUCH personalized jewelry, snip a school photograph to conform with the dangle disks. Secure with rubber cement, using a clean cloth to press out air bubbles. Next, protect each photo with a see-through lucite covering or a quick spray of clear plastic.

A TAG TOPPER is another way to display your portable album. Select a handful of metallic rimmed tags (the kind with a punched hole and string at one end). Cement photos to cardboard circles, then arrange them across the crown of the hat. The straw chapeau, pictured, was covered in fish netting, which made it easy to tie on the pics.

SPOT OF FAME—GUESS THE NAME

Today's spot of fame, a funerary temple built by the architect Senenmut for Queen Hatshepsut, is backed against the red cliffs of the "mountain of the West," behind which is Egypt's famed necropolis of the Valley of the Kings.

The sanctuary is hollowed out of solid rock, and is immediately opposite sloping terraces leading to the Nile. In the first century A.D., a Christian monastery was set up in the ruins of the temple and the Arabs named it the "monastery of the North."

Queen Hatshepsut is one of the enigmas of Egyptology. She was a relative of Thutmose III and, during her regency, usurped his throne. Upon his return from Asiatic conquest this "Napoleon" of the empire attempted to erase her from history by destroying her images and temples and obliterating inscriptions pertaining to her wherever he could find them.

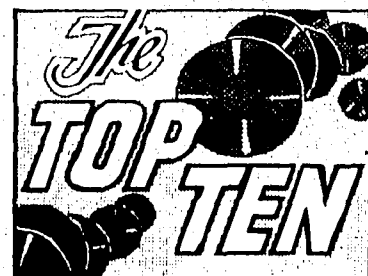

Fortunately, today's spot of fame was spared from this total destruction. Can you name it? (Names at bottom of column)

Furniture Talk

By Lavern Lawrenz

WHAT'S THE MOST IMPORTANT

piece of furniture in your home — the one which should come first on your budget? The one around which the rest of your furniture must be planned? You'll find varying answers to that question, even among experts, but in any such discussion the word "sofa" will occur often. It is important for its size, and because it is often the most expensive single item.

But true importance in interior decorating does not come simply from size and cost. The most important things are those which do most, which bring the most livability and beauty into your family's lives. That's why the sofa is often first choice. It seats several people, family or guests, can function beautifully for relaxing, television, reading, conversation. It can set the style for a room and become its focal point.

In some rooms and homes, however, there may be other pieces that are just as essential or even more, such as a really impressive breakfront that gives you storage, drama, style, a fine stereo music center, or a grand piano, if music plays a major role in your life. Give a lot of thought to this "big piece." Whatever it is, remember you won't replace it often in a lifetime — so be sure! And to be sure of quality, in honored names in home furnishings, visit our complete display. You'll always find a warm welcome and courteous help, at Lawrenz Furniture.

New Fabrics Enhance Your Bedroom Decor

The new trend toward ready-made boudoir coordinates provides virtually unlimited opportunities for dramatic bedroom decorating schemes. Bedspreads with accent pillows, matching draperies and headboard coverings run a floral gamut from the pastel to the brilliant, from the precisely patterned to flamboyant in concept. In the arrangement at the right the bedspread is a Mediterranean import that established both theme and color. In sharp yellow and orange, the fringed throw is matched by yellow draperies within an orange frame. The wall behind the bed, dramatized by a baroque Spanish headboard, is dull yellow-gold, the rug a paled orange. Lazyback pillows in shadings of yellow and orange with knotted fringe and a Spanish chest and chair complete the picture.

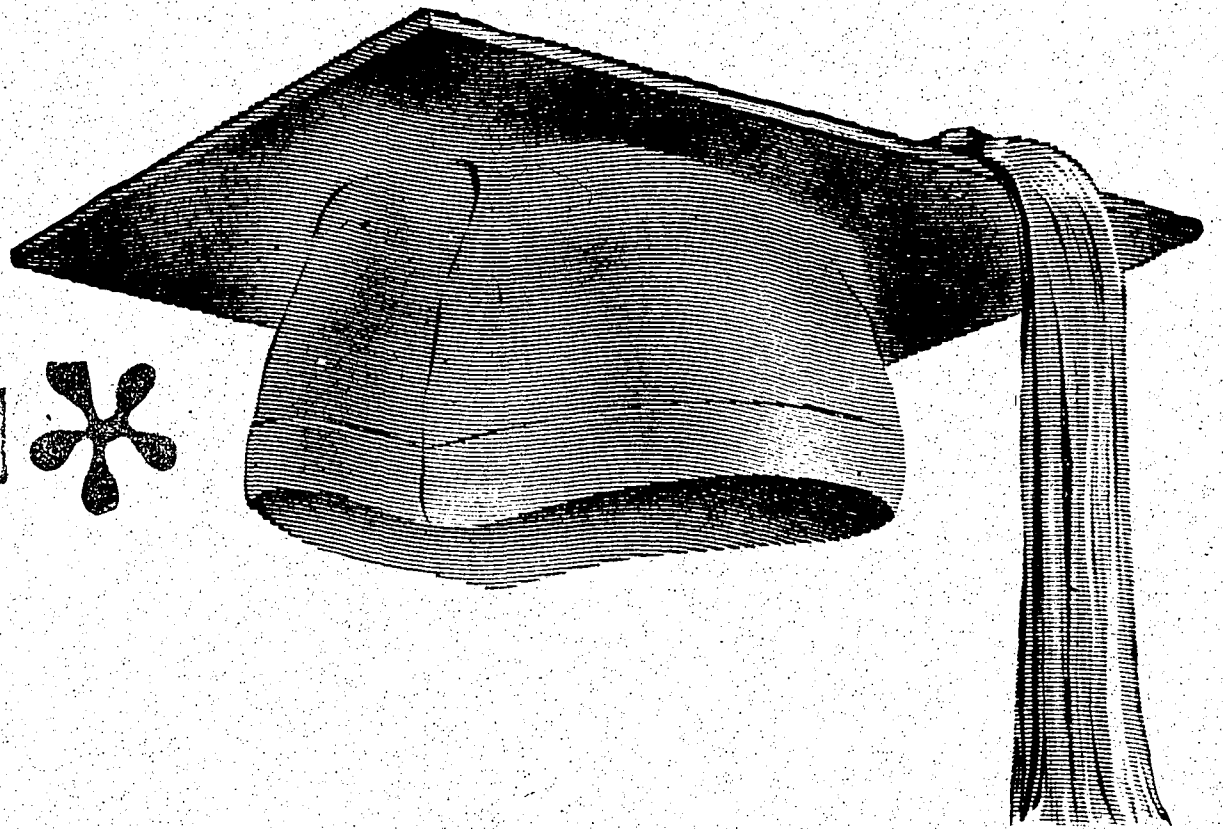

TAHITI is the name of this bold new bedspread, its exotic floral pattern matched by a modern half-canopy in red, black or peacock with white. Hand-guided embroidery quilting emphasizes the spread's big, bright flowers. The canopy, available in either twin or double bed size, slips over a metal frame supported by brackets that screw into the wall.

DEAUVILLE is a bedspread with a gay, abstract floral pattern with a French flavor. Border welting and upholstered headboard in blue or powder pink are keyed to the dominant hue in each of the spread's two pastel colorways. Print swags here top powder pink draperies and sheer white curtains. Boudoir chair is upholstered in cerise cotton and the rug picks up a pale apple green tone from the print.
