MARINA MARRIES AGAIN . . . Kenneth Jess Porter and his bride, the former Mrs. Marina Oswald, posed for pictures after their marriage at Fate, Texas, on the porch of their Richardson home, a suburb of Dallas. Marina Oswald Wed in Texas

FATE, Tex. (AP) — Marina Oswald, widow of President John F. Kennedy's assassin, and an electronics technician she met a month ago began married life today in a white brick house on a quiet street in a Dallas suburb.

Mrs. Oswald, 23, a pretty, Russian-born blonde, and Kenneth J. Porter, 27, a divorced father of two, were married in this small north Texas farming community Tuesday.

The couple was introduced a month ago at the home where Porter was staying, just two doors from Mrs. Oswald's residence in Richardson.

Delay Asked In Great Western, CNW Merger

ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse Commission said Tuesday it has asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to postpone indefinitely a hearing on proposed merger of the Chicago and North Western Railway Co. and the Chicago Great Western Railway Co.

The commission said North Western is involved in a series of consolidation and merger proposals which could lead to abandonment of considerable trackage in the Twin Cities area.

This, in turn, could affect interstate highway construction, with the possibility that bridges and underground structures now being built or planned to go over or under tracks would become useless.

The commission said construction costing more than $30 million is involved.

236 Feared Dead in Jap Mine Blast

TOKYO (AP) — A total of 236 men are feared dead in Japan's second - worst postwar coal-mine disaster.

Rescue workers recovered 219 bodies from the Yamano mine, on Kyushu Island, where a gas explosion occurred nearly 2,000 feet underground Tuesday.

Police said hope was virtually abandoned for 17 other miners believed buried under piles of coal and rock. Of the 552 miners and other employees working in the pits when the explosion occurred, 316 escaped. Thirty-nine were hospitalized, most of them with carbon monoxide poisoning.

Russ Accuse Israeli Agents

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has launched its fifth attack on the staff of the Israeli Embassy in two months, accusing the first secretary of trying to entice Jews in Georgia to go to Israel.

The government and Communist party newspaper of Georgia, Zorya Vostoka, also charged that the secretary David Bar-tov, distributed Israeli propaganda, books, cigarettes and prayer shawls in Georgian cities including Gori, birthplace of Stalin.

Viet Nam Reds Knock Down 2 U.S. Planes

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Communist anti-aircraft fire shot down two U.S. Navy planes during raids on North Viet Nam today. A rescue pilot said there was no chance the five American crewmen could have survived.

Two more Americans — an officer and an enlisted man — were reported killed in a Viet Cong triple ambush near Pleiku, 220 miles northeast of Saigon. Two American enlisted men were reported wounded, one seriously, and more than 80 South Vietnamese troops were killed or missing.

The total of U.S. dead in combat in Viet Nam rose to 403.

The two planes were both from the 7th Fleet carrier Midway. They were lost in an attack on a radar installation on the coast about 70 miles south of Hanoi.

An A4 Skyhawk with one pilot aboard plunged into the sea about a mile off the coast. No parachute was observed.

A few minutes later a second plane — a modified A1 Skyraider with four crewmen aboard — was hit and crashed about half a mile inland, a military spokesman said. It had been diverted to the area to search for the plane downed at sea.

There was no report of results of the raid on the radar installation.

It was the heaviest loss of American air crews since the raids on North Viet Nam began in February.

In other strikes against North Viet Nam today:

Five Skyraiders from the Midway reported knocking down a span of a bridge about 65 miles south of Vinh.

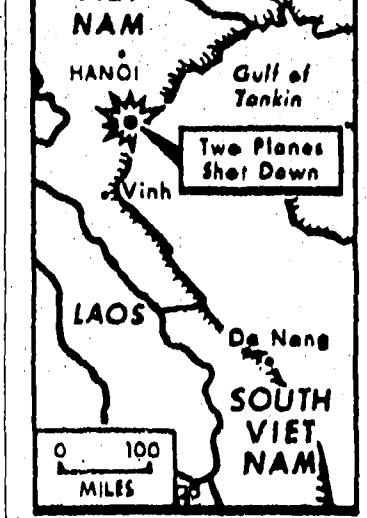

Four Skyhawks from the Midway reported destroying two boxcars, battering the approach to a concrete bridge and damaging a wooden bridge 55 miles south of Thanh Hoa.

Four Thunderchiefs destroyed a ferry landing and a barge and damaged three railroad cars at Vinh Kah.

In the ground war, the Viet Cong inflicted heavy losses on government forces in a triple ambush after the guerrillas overran a district headquarters near Pleiku. But U.S. paratroopers in another action Tuesday night turned the tables on the Viet Cong and ambushed them, killing four.

Troops of the 173rd Airborne Brigade were airlifted to positions along the Dong Nai River, 40 miles northeast of Saigon, and waited for the Viet Cong. They opened fire on the guerrillas as they tried to infiltrate the U.S. positions.

In central Viet Nam's Quang Ngai Province, scenes of intense fighting and heavy casualties over the weekend, reinforcements were rushed to a district headquarters at Nghia Hahn to meet an attack by a strong Viet Cong force.

They declined an offer to call a Sherman preacher. Porter is a member of the Church of Christ and his bride a member of the Greek Orthodox Church.

At Rockwall, just northeast of Dallas, Sheriff W. J. Price said the best man — identified only by the name of Woolridge — knocked at his back door to ask where they could find a justice of the peace.

Since that official was out of town, Price escorted them to Justice of the Peace Carl Leonard Jr. in the neighboring village of Fate, where Leonard also runs a garage.

"I didn't know it was Marina Oswald until the sheriff introduced her," said Leonard, who was plowing. "I was still dressed in my back yard khakis."

"I'd have performed the ceremony in the house but I'd left my book at the office and they were in a hurry. Said they were trying to stay out of sight of reporters. I just read the regular double-ring civil ceremony."

Friends said the couple drove to a reception in Dallas after the ceremony. It was nearly 9 p.m. before they returned home and scurried past newsmen.

Clark, who works with Porter at Texas Instruments, Inc., described the groom as a "hard-working, quiet, reserved type." Wanda Avora Porter divorced Porter in January 1964, charging harsh and cruel treatment. Their children are a daughter, Wanda, 7, and a son, Connie, 4.

Real Love

Some girls believe the only true foundation for real love is a big stone . . . Why is it that no two people think alike — until they go out to buy a wedding present? . . . In the war against poverty, says the cynic, the combatants are husbands against wives . . . Automation, we're told, has a bright side, look at all those jobs created to keep track of the number of jobs lost . . . Strange how few politicians remember the campaign promises — and how few taxpayers forget them . . . A bargain is something you can't use, at a price you can't resist.

Everything 'GO' for Gemini on Thursday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The man who will float alone in the heavens Thursday, and his space buddy who will pilot him there, started the last day before flight today with good news and great expectations.

Command pilot James A. McDivitt said: "We've got a good spacecraft, and it looks like we're going to have a good mission. We're ready."

"We" are McDivitt and fellow Air Force Maj. Edward II. White II — the man who will step out of the Gemini 4 spacecraft and waltz in weightlessness on their second orbit of the earth.

There was the chance, too, that these two rookie American astronauts would get close enough to their booster rocket on their maneuvering early orbits to enable White to touch the booster during his weightless walk.

The space agency had said earlier that they might get as close as 20 feet to the booster. But mission director Christopher C. Kraft said that "there is nothing holy about 20 feet."

Would the mission last four days as intended? Kraft said that the decision would be made sometime after the first 24 hours of flight — when the astronauts had a chance to evaluate their fuel supply for their maneuvering jets, and experts looked at the decay of the orbit.

It was a demonstration of the flexibility of the flight plan.

There was no hurry about the decision, Kraft indicated, partly because space-flight officials wanted the astronauts to recover from the space-walk maneuver.

The prospect for their nearly 98-hour, 62-orbit flight were put in glowing terms Tuesday by a mission review panel of experts.

"We couldn't look better," said Kraft.

These men are "in as high a state of readiness as any crew I have ever seen," said Dr. Charles A. Berry, chief flight physician who has watched over the health of Mercury and Gemini astronauts.

"In general, the launch-day weather presents the best situation I've ever seen," said Emilio Amman of the U.S. Weather Bureau.

There were some ocean swells in the Eastern Atlantic, but these were expected to moderate by launch day. Two typhoons were not expected to hazard recovery ships in the Pacific Ocean. Typhoon Babe, north of the Philippines and Typhoon Carla 300 miles southwest of Japan were being tracked. Weather satellites Tiro 8 and 9 were flashing back cloud-cover pictures of two-thirds of the globe.

The first American astronaut, Alan B. Shepard, now in charge of training said: "In my considered opinion, McDivitt and White are trained and ready for the Gemini 4 mission."

Preflight countdown was scheduled to start at 2 p.m. today. Propellant loading was set for 9 p.m.

City to Ask More Flood Bill Detail

The City Council committee on finance will review flood emergency bills submitted by a group of contractors before checks are written, aldermen decided Tuesday night.

City Recorder John Carter warned aldermen that bills are not itemized well enough to meet standards of the federal Office of Emergency Planning. Should the city pay such bills without obtaining detailed invoices he said, OEP auditors might well disqualify the amounts from disaster fund relief, leaving the city liable for the sums.

CARTER SAID the city has a balance of $942,113.11 in its OEP disaster fund. Against this are bills amounting to $986,270.25, a total which exceeds available funds by $44,157.14.

Ald. Neil Sawyer, finance committee chairman, said his committee will meet Friday for further review. He said a representative of S. J. Groves & Sons, a Twin Cities contracting firm, would assist the committee in its examination. Sawyer said standard lists of universally accepted charges for construction equipment rentals would be used to evaluate bills. Each piece of equipment used

Burglar Enters Thurow Building

A theft Tuesday night at Thurow Industries, Inc., 363 W. 3rd St., netted a burglar $5 in stamps and about 60 cents in loose change, according to Police Chief James W. McCabe.

W. J. Thurow reported the theft to police today after discovering a rear window of the building opened. The burglar apparently only had to slide the window up to gain entry. There was no indication that the window had been forced, McCabe said.

Thurow said today that the burglar had overlooked a petty cash box kept inside a desk drawer and containing $15 to $20. Police are investigating.

Council Adopts Agenda System

Informal approval was given Tuesday night by the City Council committee of the whole for a new set of procedural rules.

Purpose of the detailed agenda plan, explained Ald. Neil Sawyer, is to help give aldermen the broadest possible bases for their judgments. Under the formal agenda system proposed, aldermen will be given both time and a maximum of specialized information on each question they must decide. Sawyer is chairman of a special subcommittee appointed to draft the new plan.

APPROVED outlines of the plan were to be turned over to the city attorney today. The attorney, George M. Robertson Jr., will incorporate it into an ordinance upon which the council will act at an upcoming regular meeting.

Hopefully, the new plan will forestall the sort of hasty actions which have occasionally embarrassed aldermen by bringing about reversals of decisions as new facts were uncovered.

The deadline for the inclusion of an item in the agenda will be the Wednesday noon prior to a regular Monday meeting. Advance copies of the agenda then will be prepared by the city recorder and furnished to aldermen and appropriate department heads, probably within 24 hours. Council members thus will get an advance look at forthcoming business items.

SHOULD THE LIST appear too long, the council president may put over some items to a later meeting. It is expected, Sawyer said, that the president will review the agenda after the cutoff and prior to its publication.

Individuals who wish items included in an agenda will accomplish this through their own aldermen, according to the new plan.

Last-minute addition of business to the agenda will be possible only through unanimous consent of the council. In committee discussions some aldermen suggested that a majority vote be deemed sufficient for such admission. Sawyer said he believes the purposes of the agenda plan would be defeated if a majority of members could override the system at will.

Any matter brought before the council, aside from purely routine items, would be referred automatically to the appropriate committee chairman or to a special committee. Such committees then would study the items, seek the counsel of department heads or other specialists and report at a later meeting. Minority reports also would be admitted should divisions of opinion exist in committees.

IN THIS WAY, said Sawyer, aldermen would be able to rely on the advice of qualified persons for help in making final decisions. Put another way, the system would tend to concern the council with general policy but leave some purely administrative details to department administrators.

Among other things, the new system appears to mean the end of the council's custom of recessing its meetings at mid-point to convene as a committee of the whole. Under the present informal system of operation, such sessions are often devoted to preliminary discussion of matters to be voted on when the general session is resumed later in the evening.

ALSO SUBJECT to revision will be the council's practice of allowing informal speeches on random topics by members of the audience.

Such comments now will likely be limited to those which deal with an item on the meeting agenda. New topics would have to follow the agenda route of introduction and presumably could not be introduced directly from the floor.

10 Men Called In June Draft; Enlistments Dip

A nationwide increase in draft calls is making itself felt here, the Winona County Selective Service office said today.

Ten young men will make up the June 22 call for this county. In April and May the calls were for seven men each. In March only three were called for induction from Winona County.

SELECTIVE Service officials said the falling rate of enlistments in all service branches is responsible for the stepped-up draft activity.

In February, they said, the Minnesota call was for 70 men. This month, 350 will be called. Nationwide, the May call was for 15,000 men. The June total was raised to 17,000.

At present all men drafted are taken into the Army. For Minnesota men the initial duty station is Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

Because of the increase in inductions, the average age of draftees is going down. In January 1962 it was 24½ years. This month, most entrants will be 21 and some will be 20. The policy is to take oldest Class I-A men first, Selective Service said.

Another effect of the increase is that men now are being called several months sooner than they have anticipated.

NO POLICY changes are foreseen, Selective Service says. Deferments will continue, for the present, for married men, full-time students, National Guard and Reserve members.

Minnesota Selective Service now refers men found physically unfit for service induction to the several programs of the Economic Opportunity Act. Minnesota's average of physically acceptable men remains among the nation's highest. It ranks fourth in this respect, only slightly behind Iowa, North Dakota and Illinois.

MEMBERS of the Winona County Board are: George McGuire, Winona, chairman; Robert Currie, St. Charles; Floyd Waldo, Winona Rt. 2, and Robert Prondzinski and William Hull, Winona. Hull, a new board member, succeeded G. M. Grabow, Winona, last month.

Legal adviser to the board is Loren W. Torgerson. Dr. Herbert Heise is medical adviser and Mrs. Gladys Duxbury is board clerk. All are from Winona.

Woman Found Guilty in Court

A Winona woman was found guilty today in municipal court of making an improper left turn May 24 at 1:15 a.m. at Mankato Avenue and Sanborn Street.

Judge John D. McGill ordered Mrs. Sandra M. Weideman, 22, 921 E. Sanborn St., to pay a $15 fine or serve five days in jail. He had heard testimony by two policemen and Mrs. Weideman. She paid the fine.

THE EVIDENCE produced by City Prosecutor James W. Soderberg showed that Mrs. Weideman had made the mistake of almost hitting the patrol car in which Patrolmen Richard D. Peterson and Sylvester J. Rotering rode.

Peterson testified that Rotering was driving their squad car west on Sanborn Street about 20 feet east of the crosswalk at Mankato Avenue when they saw Mrs. Weideman moving south on Mankato Avenue.

The defendant began to make a left turn east onto Sanborn Street before reaching the intersection and her left rear wheel came within inches of striking the northeast curbing of the intersection, Peterson told the court.

Rotering testified that he had to slam on the brakes of the patrol car to avoid a collision with the Weideman car.

THE PATROLMEN pursued Mrs. Weideman and stopped her car about two blocks east of Mankato Avenue. She asked Peterson what cross street he had stopped her at, but Peterson was unsure whether it was Chalfield or Wall street.

In her own defense Mrs. Weideman said she had found, the following morning, that her car steered "awfully hard" and an examination showed that the power steering belt was broken. She was not represented by counsel.

BAR AND BENCH . . . Forty-two attorneys and judges from Winona, Wabasha, Houston and Olmsted counties — as well as a Supreme Court justice — posed for this picture before embarking on a river cruise to Fountain City, Wis., for their supper. The cruise followed a business meeting Tuesday afternoon of the old Third Judicial District Bar Association. (Daily News photo)

Bar Group Holds Outing

A mixed crew of attorneys and judges mixed business and pleasure at the annual meeting here Tuesday of the old Third Judicial District Bar Association.

Members of the bar and of the bench played golf in the early afternoon at Winona Country Club, then adjourned to the municipal courtroom at 3 p.m. for a business meeting.

THE "OLD" Third Judicial District includes four counties: Winona, Wabasha, Houston and Olmsted. (The district was recently reorganized to include 11 counties in southeast Minnesota. The bar association is still organized along the old judicial boundaries.)

Rochester attorney George W. Delany was elected president of the association to replace Attorney John A. McHardy, Plainview. Winona attorney Harold J. Libera was elected vice president.

Winona attorneys Duane M. Peterson and Roger P. Brosnan were selected delegate and alternate, respectively, to the state bar association convention. Three other delegates and alternates were chosen from other counties.

The association adjourned about 5 p.m. for a boat trip to Fountain City, Wis., where a supper was waiting.

AMONG distinguished guests at the meeting were state Supreme Court Justice Martin A. Nelson and retired Third District Judge Leo E. Murphy Sr. All six Third District judges attended. They are: Judge Arnold Hatfield, Chief Judge A. C. Richardson, Judge John F. Cahill, Judge Donald T. Franke, Judge O. Russell Olson and Judge Warren F. Plunkett.

Stray Bulldog Scratches Child

A bulldog which snapped at and scratched the arm of a 2½-month-old boy Tuesday afternoon was impounded today but not believed to be diseased.

A doctor who visited the boy Tuesday told his mother, Mrs. Dale Gjerdum, Prairie Island, that he would need no new tetanus shots, since the scratch had not broken the boy's skin.

Mrs. Gjerdum called Sheriff George L. Fort to report the incident Tuesday afternoon. Sheriff Fort located the animal, a black and white Boston bulldog, but not its master.

The dog was taken to Bart Foster's kennels for observation to determine whether it has rabies. (The animal did not appear to be rabid, the sheriff said today.) Sheriff Fort said the dog would have to be destroyed if its owner does not show up to claim it within a week or so.

Pound to Join 'Week of Poetry'

ROME (AP) — Ezra Pound, 79, is one of 15 or 20 poets expected to participate in a "week of poetry" at this year's Festival of Two Worlds, held annually at Spoleto, near Rome.

It would mark Pound's first public readings in the seven years since he returned to Italy from his native America, where he was once indicted for treason.

Official Miracle Mall Opening Set Thursday

Miracle Mall, Minnesota's largest non-metropolitan enclosed shopping center, will officially open its doors at 9:45 a.m. Thursday to the accompaniment of three aerial reports.

Each of the explosions will be the signal for the opening of one of the main entrances to the climate-controlled mall.

Ed Allen will be master of ceremonies for the grand opening, which will take place on the Gilmore Avenue side of the mall.

THREE helium-filled balloons containing prize certificates will be released as the doors are opened. Weather conditions permitting, it is estimated that the balloons could travel 20 to 30 miles from the center before bursting and returning to earth.

Finders of the balloon-carried gift certificates will be entitled to some of the thousands of dollars worth of prizes that will be given to the public by Miracle Mall merchants during the grand opening festivities.

Minneapolis Aquatennial Queen of the Lakes, Mary Sue Anderson, accompanied by Commodore and Mrs. Alan Moore, will be on hand for the grand opening ceremonies. The queen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Anderson, who own the Holiday Inn in Rochester. Moore is vice president of First National Bank in Minneapolis.

Also on hand to greet grand opening patrons will be Winona Winter Carnival's Miss Snowflake, Sharon Olson, 19-year-old student at Winona State College.

OTHER GUESTS will be Mayor R. K. Ellings and Harold Briesath, City Council president, as well as William Lang, Winona Chamber of Commerce president.

Accepting the center on behalf of its tenants will be Arnold Albrecht, owner and manager of Fairway Foods and president of the mall merchants association.

Although the Montgomery Ward and Tempo department stores in Miracle Mall opened their doors two weeks ago, Thursday's grand opening will give area residents the first opportunity to visit the freshly-stocked shelves of more of the stores in the center.

The ceremonies will be broadcast live from the center over KWN radio.

According to Leslie F. Crews, president and board chairman of Western Land Corporation, owners and developers of Miracle Mall, representatives of every company with a store in the center will be present for the grand opening.

The Leon J. Wetzel American Legion Post color guard will perform the flag-raising ceremony.

GIL MASON, Rochester, will provide organ music during the day, and he will present a program from 8:30 until 9 p.m. Appearing with him on this program will be Sam Ellison and Dewey Kuhn, also organists.

There will be a teen-age rock-and-roll dance from 7 until 8 p.m., with music provided by The Rogues.

Lake Pumping Ends; At Least Temporarily

Gates at the Lake Winona outlet are open this week for the first time in nearly two months.

Closed when the Mississippi River began its record-breaking rise in early April, the gates were opened Monday when the river level once more fell beneath that of the lake.

A 20-INCH pump, in nearly continuous service for more than six weeks, is still in place but not operating. Should a forecast half-foot rise in the river occur, the gates will be closed and pumping will be resumed, said City Engineer James Baird today. Should the large pump be removed in the meantime, others will replace it if needed.

The large pump was secured and put in operation by A. J. Kertzman, Lamotte dredging contractor. In addition, four 12-inch pumps were in operation alongside the 20-inch machine at the height of the flood crisis.

The effort was successful since lake levels were kept under control and steadily reduced while the river continued to rise.

One side of the Mankato Avenue-Sarnia Street interchange have been out of service since pumps were installed. Feed pipes were sunk through a hole in the northbound lane so water could be drawn from the box ment permitted traffic to use culvert beneath. The arrangement with only minor bypassing.

NO RAW sewage has gone into the lake for the past few weeks, Baird said. At one time, overflow from the nearby lift station was diverted to the outlet where it was pumped over the gates into the ditch.

The city's disposal plant, knocked out in April by high water, still has not been restored to service, Baird said. The sanitary sewage flow now is diverted at the High Forest Street lift station and pumped directly into the river.

Buildings Burn Near St. Charles

ST. CHARLES, Minn. — A granary and adjoining tractor shed, 16 by 20 feet, burned on the Clifford Biermann farm one mile east of Troy Sunday afternoon.

Several hundred bushels of oats and some tools also were lost. The fire was discovered about 1:45 p.m. by Biermann's daughter, Karen. Cause of the blaze isn't known. The loss was partially covered by insurance. St. Charles firemen were called.

Damage $300 In 2-Car Crash

A two-car collision at Broadway and Huff Street Tuesday at 5:56 p.m. caused $300 damage, according to a police report.

Rudolph E. Miesbauer, 460 Hiawatha Blvd., was driving west on Broadway when, he told police, his brakes failed as he tried to stop behind a second car headed west and stopped for a red light.

Damage was $200 to the left front of the Miesbauer car and $100 to the rear of a car driven by Calvin R. Fremling, Gilmore Valley. Patrolman George M. Liebsch investigated.

Stars Set for Steamboat Days

Little Jimmy Dickens

Dave Dudley

Three performers well-known to country and western music fans will be here for the Sunday night Steamboat Days stage show July 11, chairman Francis Whalen said today.

Appearing on the Levee Park stage that night will be George Hamilton IV, Little Jimmy Dickens and Dave Dudley. Admission is by Steamboat Days booth.

HAMILTON, whose record of "A Rose and a Baby Ruth" sold more than a million copies, is a member of the Grand Ole Opry show.

Unlike many of his fellow opsy performers, who gained fame after they joined the troupe, Hamilton was a regular performer on the Jimmy Dean Show, had made his million-selling record and had his own network television program before becoming a member of the opsy group.

Hamilton got his start when he appeared on the Arthur Godfrey Talent Scouts program. His current record is "Abilene."

DICKENS joined the Grand Ole Opry troupe after performing at radio stations throughout the Midwest. He began his career in his home town, Beckley, W. Va., where he crowed like a rooster to begin the local radio station's programming each day.

DUDLEY, a native of northern Minnesota, has appeared throughout the country, but a long-standing engagement at a Minneapolis night club made him a well-known performer in his home state.

He and his band, The Roadrunners, make personal appearances and play radio, television and recording dates.

Members will meet at the Clubrooms at 7 p.m. tonight and then proceed in a body to the funeral home to pay last respects to our departed brother, Ernest Bros.

Some Easy Rules For Losing Weight

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Having lost 15 pounds and anywhere from 10 to 50 years, according to which delightful flatterer I'm listening to, by going on the "Drinking Man's Diet," I have found it will soon be necessary to change my "official photograph" and get a much younger one.

Naturally I hate to do this. At first I thought I could use my high school graduation photograph in which I weighed a frightened 118.

But I'm 138 now, and let's be honest about how I look. Maybe not too honest, though.

Fat Jack E. Leonard met me on W. 57th St., looked me up and down and around, and said:

"You know what happens when you lose weight? Your sleeves get longer."

"Thanks a lot," I said, suspecting that wasn't a compliment to my tailoring.

"And so do your pants," he flung at me, as he rolled on up the street.

My B.W. didn't actually say it to me — she's ostensibly been going around muttering:

"I didn't realize until now that Earl has a very skinny head."

"The Carbohydrate Diet" — as this regime should be called — has worked with me (my doctor says I should take vitamins regularly and sneak some bread and sugar in frequently, in small quantities). I've decided to give my own rules for the Wilson Weight Wallowing System for the world's benefit.

1 — "Nothing sweet but dreams."

2 — "Half a slice is better than one."

3 — "Have yourself a small tomato... Errol Flynn used to live on them."

4 — "Eat a lot of bacon — but not a lot of bakin'."

5 — "Remember" — as my B.W. once pointed out — "that it's the first day of a diet that's the hardest. Because by the second day you're not on it any more."

GOP Policy Study Skirts Union Shop

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican policymakers were reported today to have skirted the explosive issue of state laws banning union shops.

President Johnson wants such laws repealed.

The tipoff on the GOP move came Tuesday when former Sen. Barry Goldwater, who once advocated a national law banning union shops, said he would not insist that the Republican Coordinating Committee declare itself against repeal.

Goldwater, the 1964 GOP presidential nominee, said he realizes that political realities will keep some Republicans from declaring themselves advocates of such legislation.

So Goldwater said he was not pressing the point at the committee's closed session.

Three more sections of GOP policy were due today from National Chairman Ray C. Bliss and the party's congressional leaders, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen and Rep. Gerald R. Ford.

They will be preliminary declarations on job opportunities, foreign affairs and civil rights — approved Tuesday by the coordinating committee.

All three are the handiwork of party task forces set up to study the issues.

A job opportunities study group headed by Charles H. Percy of Illinois found itself divided as soon as it took up the union shop issue.

Trial Site Changed
The Richard J. Dorer pools of the Whitewater Refuge, about four miles along Highway 74 out of Weaver, will be the site of the water heats of the Tri-State Hunting Dog Association's spring all-breed retriever trials to be held this weekend, Ralph G. Boalt, secretary, has announced. The location will replace the Prairie Island one which has been used in the past, but which was badly damaged as the result of the flood. The land events will be in an adjoining meadow.

Fishing Reports
The lower end of Lake Pepin, out of Reads, and Camp La Cúpis, were the "hot" wall-eye spots over the weekend, according to a survey of fishing over the long Memorial Day holiday. As a result of the flood, said Willis Kruger, Wabasha warden, walleyes have moved upriver into the lake. The lower end of the lake along the reef was dotted with many boats for the three days. Despite the weather and rough water, most of the fishermen came home with nice strings. It was good fishing.

Rain dampened the interest in fishing for many of "just holiday fishermen," cutting down the fishing pressure in some areas. Fishing below the dams varied, but was fairly crowded. It was slow at the Winona dam, fair at Whitman and Alma, and reported as good below the Trempealeau dam.

The rain did not hit trout fishing on most streams. The three branches of the White-water were fishable. In fact, it was too clear in some areas. Most fishermen got the recently stocked fish, but there were some fall-planted trout taken, as well as a number of big ones.

Dale Thomas, Dover, Minn., entered a five-pound, 14-ounce rainbow at Maurer's Sunday. Jack Dolle, St. Charles, got a five-pound brown out of the South Branch.

Protect the Fawn
Will a doe desert its fawn, if the fawn is handled by a person in the wild?

Willis Kruger, Wabasha County warden and a close student of Nature, believes it will, and is a strong advocate of the theory "Leave the fawn alone, its mother is watching."

The game and fish department in its annual appeal to leave new born wildlife alone, brings out the same thought in its annual release on the subject. It writes:

"In actual fact, wild animals are seldom abandoned by their mothers unless they have been handled by humans, in which case the strange scent left on the newly born young will often frighten the mother away. This dooms the young animal who cannot survive without the protection and nourishment given by the mother. And young animals will usually die without the mother's care despite all that their human captors can do to save them."

Fulbright Will Lead Fight for Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright said today he has decided — reluctantly — to lead the fight for President Johnson's foreign aid bill in the Senate.

The chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee also said he will back Johnson's request that $89 million be added to the measure for the economic and social development of Southeast Asia.

The Arkansas Democrat's declaration was a boon to the administration. Last fall, Fulbright complained that the aid bill had become a "garbage can" for all sorts of things. He said he would not lead the fight for it unless military and economic assistance were separated.

Fulbright said Tuesday he decided to manage the measure after all when he was unable to persuade anyone on his committee to take charge of it.

Besides, he said the committee had made some improvements — setting a two-year deadline for foreign aid in its present form, for instance.

The bill, passed by the House May 25, authorizes $3,352,170,000 in foreign aid for each of the next two years. Actually the sum is a ceiling for which a subsequent appropriation bill will provide funds.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said the measure may be called up Friday for the start of what could be lengthy debate.

Michigan Staters Hear Humphrey

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Vice President Hubert Humphrey told some 2,000 Michigan State University students Tuesday that Communist world strategy calls for "the biggest real estate operation" in world history.

"We know now that most Communist regimes do not desire to blow the world to pieces. They just want to pick it up, piece by piece."

The students paid $1 admission each to support the university's People to People Association, a student group, in a plan to adopt a South Vietnamese village and aid its residents. Carl Rowan, director of the U.S. Information Agency and formerly of Minneapolis, also was on the speakers' program.

Most State Counties Due For Overhaul

IF THE MINNESOTA Supreme Court upholds a decision of District Judge O. Russell Olson at Rochester last week, it will nullify a state law that limited any but the three largest cities (Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth) in the state to but two representatives on the five-man county boards.

In that case, not only Winona, Rochester and Austin would be entitled to increase representation on their county boards but the following as well: Albert Lea, Bemidji, Brainerd, Faribault, Mankato, Moorhead, New Ulm, Owatonna and Thief River Falls.

Furthermore, if the present commissioner districts in the 12 counties in the First Congressional District are typical, every county in the state is due for an overhaul. For, in all these 12 counties inequities in population of districts exist that run counter to the equal representation or "one man, one vote" philosophy.

To take an example, look at the present set-up in Wabasha County, a county incidentally lacking a city large enough to be affected directly by the discriminatory features that Judge Olson deemed illegal.

ACCORDING TO THE 1960 population figures which show a county population of 17,007, the ideal Wabasha commissioner district should number 3,401 residents. Using a 20 per cent variation allowance, each district should have a population ranging between 2,721 and 4,081.

DISTRICTS REPRESENTED by A. G. Grobe of Millville (1,824 population) and L. M. Hart of Mazeppa (2,215) are over-represented on the board. While those represented by Nick Jacoby of Wabasha and Conrad Schach of Lake City (4,206 and 4,649 populations) represent cases of under-representation.

Wabasha's first commissioner district, with 4,013 population, would come within a 20 percent limitation.

If a standard of 20 percent variation from the ideal is used to judge adequate representation, Winona, Olmsted and Mower counties will have to be completely overhauled as none of their present districts would qualify.

As noted above, only one district in Wabasha would be acceptable as presently constituted. In Fillmore and Houston counties, two districts come within acceptable limitations.

The state law that would be nullified if the Minnesota Supreme Court sustains Judge Olson specified that "no city of the second, third, or fourth classes should be in more than two commissioner districts. This law was affirmed by a state Supreme Court decision rendered in 1935.

AT THAT TIME, the law affected only second class cities, and it was tested by action brought by the city of Rochester. (Winona is a city of the second class.)

Judge Loring, who handed down the court decision, stated at that time that "the second class cities of this state are in counties essentially rural in character, and in our opinion the legislature was justified in preventing the urban population from dominating them and from governing the counties and possibly expending county funds wholly or principally in the interest of the cities within their boundaries."

Loring admitted that the three big first class cities "necessarily dominated their counties". And he thought the possibility remote that cities of the third and fourth class would ever attain such dominance.

But things have changed since 1935. Rural populations have dwindled as cities have grown. Smaller urban centers have gained an importance they formerly did not command.

Furthermore, there has been an evolution of political thought regarding legislative reapportionment. Inequality of population within election districts is now generally regarded as an infringement of the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment of the U. S. Constitution.

THE MINNESOTA Supreme Court will have a hard time sustaining the present state law under these circumstances. It may well agree with Judge Olson's recently expressed reasoning that "it would be a strange anomaly if the citizen's right to representation in electing state legislators did not extend to electing county commissioners since the county is the creation of the state."

The following table shows the population of the county commissioner districts in Winona area counties, based on the 1960 census:

TODAY IN NATIONAL AFFAIRS

New Amendment Called Necessary

By DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON — Amendments to the Constitution are usually hard to get started and adopted nowadays, but there is one which might receive popular support instantaneously. It has to do with the rights of the states to control their own educational processes.

Although the federal government denies that it has any intention of dictating what is taught in the public schools or of interfering with local communities in their mapping out of school districts, it is becoming evident every day that the centralized government in Washington is going to take over more and more of the education process by using its power over the distribution of federal tax money.

Why, for instance, should a state from which a billion dollars in federal taxes is collected and to which is allocated $100 million for aid to its schools suddenly be denied such aid because a federal bureaucracy decides that the state is not complying with regulations promulgated from Washington?

THE MONEY collected in federal taxes in a state far exceeds, of course, the allotments made to that state for education. What is being returned to the states is their own taxpayers' money. But it is being used in large part to require compliance by the states through what is being called "legalized blackmail."

Congress in 1964 passed a law which condemned racial discrimination. The text of the provision follows:

"No person in the United States shall, on the ground of race, color, or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving federal financial assistance."

ANY STATE which uses its federal funds to benefit schools that are predominantly Negro on the same basis as it furnishes funds to schools that are predominantly white would appear to be complying with the law as written by Congress. But the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has announced, through the U.S. Office of Education, that its own desegregation formulas must be applied. This is an extension of the words of the statute, especially since Congress did not specify that schools must be desegregated. This up to now has been handled by the courts.

Certainly when the 11 states of the South pay a total of nearly $16 billion in taxes and the federal government decides for some arbitrary reason to withhold a portion of the funds allocated to them — especially when the reason is not at all related to the educational process itself — then the citizens of these states have a grievance. The following table lists what was collected in taxes in 1964 in those states and what they will get back in the next fiscal year for education if they comply with federal commands:

State	U.S. Taxes Collected in 1964	U.S. Funds for Education Next Fiscal Year
Alabama	$ 726,000,000	63,450,000
Arkansas	359,000,000	37,597,000
Florida	1,803,000,000	74,400,000
Georgia	1,415,000,000	75,426,000
Louisiana	928,000,000	64,553,000
Mississippi	343,000,000	48,824,000
North Carolina	2,738,000,000	93,526,000
South Carolina	490,000,000	50,550,000
Tennessee	1,042,000,000	62,170,000
Texas	4,240,000,000	163,880,000
Virginia	1,824,000,000	85,653,000

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Last March, writing from Moscow, I reported that the United States and Russia were on a collision course. The reason, I said, was that American bombing of North Viet Nam which had cut the ground out from under Khrushchev's co-existence policy, set the Chinese to chortling that co-existence wouldn't work, and played into the hands of the old Stalinist, anti-American clique inside the Kremlin.

Last week, Cyrus Eaton, the Cleveland industrialist, returning from Moscow, reported that Premier Kosygin had told him American policy in North Viet Nam had left Russia with no alternative but to fight and that Moscow would retaliate against American forces "with everything we have" unless the bombing of North Viet Nam comes to an end.

NEXT DAY, Secretary of State Dean Rusk issued what was described as a stern warning to Russia and China not to widen the war in Viet Nam. He revealed that a new SAM missile site had just been sighted in the north. Rusk, when working for John F. Kennedy, had held Russian SAM missile sites to be purely defensive when constructed in Cuba only 90 miles away. But he viewed them with alarm 9,000 miles away.

Previously, Russian diplomats had conveyed informal but quite definite warnings that if Russian missile sites in North Viet Nam were bombed, Russia would have no alternative but to retaliate. They have not, of course, been bombed 90 miles off the Florida coast at any time since placed there four years ago.

So runs the dangerous game of diplomatic tic-tac-toe between two nations which have the power, with a single push of the nuclear button, to wipe out 60 of each other's major cities. Like small boys with chips on their shoulders, each dares the other, while each accumulates more chips and more grievances.

The United States has now sent or is sending a total of 65,000 troops to Viet Nam, three times the number President Johnson found there when he took over from the late John F. Kennedy.

THE NORTH Vietnamese THE WIZARD OF ID

government is now stripping its key government ministries from its capital, Hanoi, and moving them to areas where they cannot be easily bombed. This is the act of a government preparing for a long siege, not one ready to talk peace.

Reports from South Viet Nam indicate that the Viet Cong is ready to take advantage of the monsoon rains by coming out of the jungle for prolonged ground battles; also is preparing to set up embassies in every major country to claim that it, not the frequently changing government in Saigon, is the true representative of this troubled area.

In brief, the American policy of bombing North Viet Nam, sold to President Johnson by Gen. Maxwell Taylor and White House Adviser McGeorge Bundy, has been a miserable failure.

Taylor had left the Army during the Eisenhower administration to write a book, "The Uncertain Trumpet," in which he advocated small brush-fire wars for settling international problems rather than relying on the Eisenhower policy of push-button war.

Taylor sold his ideas to John F. Kennedy, who brought him back into government as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. However, Kennedy never entirely bought Taylor's theory of brush-fire wars. He dabbled with the idea in South Viet Nam, but never gave Taylor free-rein. It remained for Lyndon Johnson, inheritor of an insoluble military and political mess, to appoint Gen. Taylor as ambassador to South Viet Nam and tell him to go all out to solve the mess he helped create.

GEN. TAYLOR soon deviated from his original idea of brush-fire war and extended the war to his disastrous policy of Navy-Air Force bombing of North Viet Nam. This has failed. And with the beginning of the monsoon rains, we are now right back where we started — fighting an unseen, jungle enemy which sleeps by day and raids by night — the kind of warfare which the continental army used against the British when conducting an unpopular war against 13 relatively weak colonies in 1776.

Those 13 colonies won — partly because they were fighting on their own soil, partly because they were fighting for something they passionately believed in, partly because British troops were fighting a long way from home for something they did not believe in.

"The only trouble is every time he swings and misses one I just KNOW whom he'll blame."

WASHINGTON CALLING

Time to Go After Castro

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — Why not go after the source of infection? With increasing urgency as the unrest in Latin America spreads this is being put not as a question but a demand. The source, needless to say, is Cuba.

Gerald R. Ford, Republican leader in the House, who has given the administration unequivocal support on Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic, is today troubled by doubts. He says that of several suggestions he would like to put up to President Johnson perhaps the most important is for a blockade of Cuba.

He talks, in the language of the late Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Ford's home state of Michigan, of being in on the take-offs as well as the crash landings. The growing feeling of the menace of Castro's Cuba and the need to do something about it was reflected in House debate on the foreign aid bill. Offering an amendment banning assistance to any country helping — and by implication trading with — Cuba, Rep. William C. Cramer, (R., Fla.) called for cutting out "the cancer of communism."

Rep. Melvin R. Laird, (R., Wis.), chairman of the Platform Committee at last year's convention, appealed "for a clear return to the Kennedy doctrine that the export of communism from Cuba will not be tolerated in this hemisphere." Quoting the President as declaring that the rebels in the Dominican Republic had been "taken over" by a "band of Communist conspirators," Laird expressed a dim view of proposals to form a coalition Dominican government that would include the rebels.

HAVING supported the President, these Republicans are now beginning to say that he is not going far enough. The price of their continued backing may be further steps that Mr. Johnson will feel he cannot risk. This first small cloud on the horizon suggests the kind of controversy arising in the Korean War when the demand grew to attack the "privileged sanctuary" in China.

A blockade of Cuba aimed at keeping out all shipping would be a radical step with unforeseeable consequences. Ships of the Soviet Union carry supplies vital to Castro's wavering economy. Moscow might respond with a blockade of Berlin and a confrontation like that in the Cuban missile crisis of 1962 would be in sight.

But another element cannot be ignored. Ships flying the flags of certain of America's allies go in and out of Havana. The British some time ago signed contracts with the Castro regime to furnish a fleet of buses to replace Cuba's badly deteriorating transport. Other allies are trading with Castro. To stop this trade, which is actually very small, by force would put a new strain on the alliance.

NEVERTHELESS, pressures are building up revealing how Cuba, with the humiliation of the Bay of Pigs and the profound shock of the missile crisis, underlies fears of spreading disorder and revolt South of the Border. To blockade or not to blockade, to invade or not to invade, even to put the problem in these terms is to suggest how infinitely complex is the Cuban puzzle.

Cuban exiles are deeply divided. Those who supported the revolution against the Batista dictatorship and then were deeply disillusioned with Castro's Communist take-over have believed until recently that an internal revolt was building up. They have long been convinced that any attempt with American help to restore the Cuba of Batista would mean an American occupation into an unforeseeable future.

On the other hand, embittered exiles out of the Bay of Pigs — many were active supporters of Barry Goldwater last fall — constantly press for action. They publish Diario las Americas, which many exiles believe is subsidized by the Central Intelligence Agency. A recent editorial of Diario, which circulates

Damage Can Be Corrected

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have recently been told that I have a cystocele that may require surgery. My gynecologist wants me to have additional X-rays to confirm his belief that I also may have a rectocele.

I had never heard of either of these before. Would you explain them? Is such surgery usually done by a gynecologist? Can the two be corrected in a single operation?—Mrs. O.M.

The usual cause of these conditions is strain from childbirth. Certain tissues of the pelvic floor are torn or stretched.

The front wall of the vagina becomes weak. The wall sags and lets the urinary bladder fall out of its normal position. This is cystocele.

The back wall of the vagina may also be damaged, resulting in a bulge of a part of the bowel into the canal. This in turn can contribute to constipation and rectal troubles. This is rectocele.

Like so many other things, these vary in degree. Mild cases give no symptoms and no trouble. Others cause discomfort—congestion and a sense of pressure.

CORRECTIVE surgery is customarily done by a gynecologist. Support is provided for the damaged tissues, thus correcting the bulges and displacement. Under most circumstances the two would be corrected in a single operation, and at times additional surgery, if required, is included in the same procedure. Results usually are excellent.

widely in the exile community, said:

"IF NO ACTION is taken at the reasonably shortest time to expel Russia from Cuba, the Communist subversion will continue in almost all the countries of the hemisphere, halting progress, undermining the foundations of republicanism and, above all, creating chaos which the Communists so much seek to create."

An earlier editorial signed by Sergio Carbo, a member of the revolutionary council of the Bay of Pigs operation, denounced American efforts to achieve a compromise coalition government in the Dominican Republic. Specifically Carbo attacked John Bartlow Martin, the President's personal emissary in Santo Domingo, and the Papal Nuncio, Mgr. Emanuele Clarizio, for treating with the rebels. Anything short of full recognition for the military junta and General Wessin y Wessin would be "only a mere expression of brutal imperialism."

Highway Land
Condemnation
Case Started

A District Court jury heard background information this morning as the appeal from an I-90 highway condemnation award got under way.

Fourteen of the 69.5 acres on the Mrs. Lillie R. Diekrager farm, 4 miles west of Dakota, were taken last December for use in the construction of I-90 in the area.

Mrs. Diekrager, through her attorney, C. Stanley McMahon, appealed the state's $8,500 award. She claims it should have been $14,000.

SPECIAL Assistant Attorney-General Winston Ehlmann, St. Paul, represents the state in the case. Judge Arnold Hatfield is presiding.

McMahon called highway department engineer Richard J. Dinneen, Rochester, as his first witness. Dinneen testified that of the 14 acres taken for highway construction 12 consisted of a steep, wooded area.

The other two acres, however, include a wedge on which Mrs. Diekrager's home stood, as well as the farm's barn. The buildings are near the intersection of CSA 16 and 3 at the top of Dakota Ridge, Dinneen testified.

Mrs. Diekrager was called and told the court that she had lived on the farm since her marriage 51 years ago. Her husband died eight years ago, and a neighbor farmed the place for her until a few years ago, Mrs. Diekrager said.

The plaintiff testified that she now lives in a trailer home on the farm. The two-story, 11-room house was taken over Dec. 16, 1964, she said. Mrs. Diekrager said she could not give a personal opinion of her damages by the condemnation.

UNDER CROSS-examination, Mrs. Diekrager testified that the house was there when she moved onto the farm in 1914. The barn was built in 1918, and the porches on the house in 1922, she added.

The basement of the house had a concrete floor, and the barn contained four horse stalls and 16 cattle stanchions in addition to space for storing hay, according to Mrs. Diekrager.

Judge Hatfield recessed the trial with the plaintiff still being cross-examined.

Jurors are Mrs. Joseph A. Bergans, Richard Angst, Mrs. Elmer H. Obitz, George H. Goudge, Mrs. Leo Reisdorf, Clinton A. Kuhlmann, Miss Helen M. Kropidowski, Mrs. Clarence J. Hennelminz, Mrs. R. H. McJuer, Roy W. Neitzke, Mrs. R. McNally and Frank Stork.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAYS

Eddie Gene Kauphusman, 873 1/2 E. Broadway, 5.

OSSEO, Wis. (Special)—United Milk Products Company, which has four plants including a condensed milk plant in Osseo, went into receivership by court order May 20, George Walters, superintendent of the plant here since 1933, said this morning.

A meeting at which creditors were to review the situation and consider a proposed plan of operation was scheduled in a U.S. court in Chicago Tuesday. Walters said he hadn't learned the results of that meeting.

THE 25 EMPLOYEES of the plant were notified Friday and Saturday the plant here was closing, Walters said. He doesn't know how long he and Robert Nelson, his assistant, will be retained.

United Milk Products also has plants at Garden Prairie, Ill., which furnished Grade A to the Chicago market, and at Fay, Ill., and Adams Center, N. Y., which furnished milk to bottlers and manufactured milk powder.

The 135 patrons of the plant here, hearing rumors of the impending closing and remembering the closing of Owen Dairy Co. last year, began moving their milk to other plants Thursday and Friday, Walters said. They began taking their product to the Osseo Cooperative Creamery, Chippewa County Dairy at Bloomer, Dolly Madison, Eau Claire, and cooperatives at Blair, Pigeon Falls, Gilmanston, Strum and Foster.

WALTERS said he has known the company was having trouble since the first of the year but thought it could survive. He thinks the company's financial troubles stem from stock changing hands.

According to Dairy Record, an industry publication, the petition for receivership filed with the court doesn't include any plans for payment to creditors. The firm listed $897,000 assets and $458,000 in liabilities, including $223,000 owed to milk producers, $404,000 in accounts payable, and $124,000 in secured claims. Assets were listed at $550,000 and accounts receivable, $250,000.

Formerly headquartered in Cleveland, Ohio, the firm now lists Cicero, Ill., as the head office.

STATE Department of Agriculture officials said the state has taken all the steps it can to secure the interest of patrons of the plant here while it is in receivership. A spokesman for the dairy trade practices division said he had verbal assurances farmers will be paid. Written assurance has been requested. The state department planned to attend the hearing in Chicago.

Walters spoke of the blow to the community with the plant closing. The Osseo plant, opened here in 1919, produced private label retail and institutional sizes of canned condensed milk. Walters said the field is highly competitive with the advent in recent years of non-dairy powder additives for coffee.

U. S. Decisions Won't Effect State Situation

ST. PAUL (AP) — The series of reapportionment decisions issued Tuesday by the U.S. Supreme Court apparently will have no effect on the situation in Minnesota.

The decisions did not appear to diminish the powers of federal district courts to act in legislative reapportionment to meet population tests.

In an Illinois case, the high court said a federal district court should have given supervision of reapportionment to the state supreme court, but at the same time the high court said the federal panel should keep jurisdiction of the case if a new plan "is not timely adopted."

In Minnesota, a reapportionment plan approved by the 1965 legislature was vetoed by Gov. Carl Rolvaag. A three-judge panel of federal court last fall threw out the old district map on grounds it did not fairly represent populous districts.

Next steps in the case apparently can take one of three courses.

1 — The governor and legislative leaders could agree on a compromise plan, to be enacted at a special session.

2 — A state court test could be started on the question of whether the governor has authority to veto a reapportionment bill.

3 — The federal court action could be renewed, with the court asked to order a special session, asked to draw its own map, or asked to take some other step.

The heavy overcast continued in Winona and vicinity today and a forecast of occasional showers and thundershowers has been made for tonight and Thursday.

No important change in temperature is expected with a low of 55-62 seen for tonight and a high of 72-82 for Thursday. Friday, said the weatherman, will see a few widely scattered showers with temperatures near or a little below normal.

THE TEMPERATURE rose to 82 Tuesday afternoon, dropped to 57 overnight and was 61 at noon. Rainfall in the past 24 hours amounted to only .01 of an inch in a light morning shower.

A year ago today the city's high was 68 and the low 41 with .07 in rain. All-time high for June 2 was 93 in 1934 and the low 42 in 1929 and 1956. Mean for the past 24 hours was 69. Normal for this day is 65.

Temperatures through Monday are expected to range 3 to 4 degrees below normal daytime highs of 73-76 and nighttime lows of 50-55. It will be a little cooler early in the period and little change thereafter, said the extended forecast for the next five days.

In the same period precipitation is expected to be about normal, with one to two inches in Southeastern Minnesota and Western Wisconsin in showers and thundershowers intermittently throughout the period.

AFTER TORRENTIAL rainfall in the Twin Cities Monday night and Tuesday morning heavier showers were limited to the northern part of the state with Bemidji reporting 1.08 in the last 24 hours.

Rochester had a trace with temperature extremes of 76 and 57, while La Crosse recorded .04 of an inch and temperatures ranging from 80 to 56.

Monday and Tuesday rains were making themselves felt in some area tributary streams in this district. The Black River at Neillsville, Wis., was 8.8 today, up 4.7 since Tuesday, and the Chippewa was up 1.1 to 5.8.

In Minnesota the Zumbro at Theilman was 29.5, up 1.2 from Tuesday.

In the main channel of the MISSISSIPPI rises were general in the upper stretches from Minneapolis to Winona. Rises of .6 of a foot at Red Wing and Lake City were registered and .4 at Wabasha and .2 at Alma.

The reading at Winona was 9.5, with predicted stages of 9.6 Thursday, 10.0 Friday and 10.2 Saturday.

Heaviest rainfall in the immediate vicinity was .81 of an inch in a sharp shower at Galesville, Wis.

Rain continued to lay a moist hand over most of WISCONSIN Tuesday night with showers and thundershowers forecast for the entire state tonight and Thursday.

At Spring Valley, where flash floods struck hard Tuesday morning, Police Chief Ronald Miller said the area won't be out of flood danger until the weekend. Damage was still being estimated from the flooding of three rivers in Pierce County.

Burlington, too, had 81 of an inch of rain followed by Racine .55, Wausau .45, Milwaukee .37, Madison and Lone Rock .09.

Cooler air spread over the state during the night with the low reading 42 in the Superior area.

The highest temperature Tuesday was 82 at Burlington.

FOR THE second straight day Presidio, Tex., set the national high of 103 degrees Tuesday, compared with the low of 32 at Greenville, Maine.

Castro Puts Lincoln on Cuban Stamp

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A new Cuban postage stamp bearing Abraham Lincoln's picture has been noted by exiles receiving mail from home.

The 13-centavo stamp, used for mail abroad, carries this Lincoln quotation in Spanish: "You can fool all the people some of the time, some of the people all the time, but not all the people all the time."

This was interpreted here as a jab by Fidel Castro at U.S. international policy.

Dr. Northrup,
Minister for
63 Years, Dead

ST. PAUL (AP) — Funeral services will be held here Thursday for Dr. Albert J. Northrup, 94, the oldest Methodist clergyman in Minnesota. Dr. Northrup, an active minister for 63 years, died Tuesday.

Dr. Northrup retired in 1957 after serving churches at Lake Crescent, S.D., Big Stone City, S.D., Ortonville, Minn., St. Anthony Park, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Red Wing and Duluth, Minn. He was superintendent of the St. Paul District of the Methodist Church in 1927, and from 1935 to 1937 he was president of the Minnesota Federation of Churches.

The rest of the time, though, the President's wife plans to get the first vacation she has had on her own from White House duties since the Johnsons came there in November 1963.

White House spokesmen say they hope the First Lady can get plenty of privacy at Caneel Bay, the Rockefeller-owned tourist resort on isolated St. John's Island in the Caribbean.

Mrs. Johnson, her brother, Tony Taylor of Santa Fe, N.M.; his wife, and the First Lady's social secretary, Bess Abell, held reservations, tourist class, aboard a commercial plane for a four-hour flight to the islands.

By evening they hoped to be lolling in a beachside cottage, previously used by vacationing Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

J. Edgar Hoover Sees Reds Behind U.S. Agitation

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says U.S. Communists are playing a major role in agitation against the nation's foreign policy concerning Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic.

In his regular message to law enforcement officials in the June issue of the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin, Hoover said Tuesday that Communists "encouraged and endorsed" the April demonstrations here against U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

"We can expect that the party will push for some type of nationwide action similar to 'peace strikes' or work stoppages to emphasize their aims," he said.

He added, that in the case of the Parkview School, which it is proposed to repair and to add four classrooms, the school board must decide in the light of available court decisions whether the work can be classified as repairs.

Wyman Smith, attorney for the district, said that if the rebuilding could be regarded as "repairs" and the work done without advertising for bids four to six weeks could be saved and the school could be ready by September.

The attorney said the requirement of advertising for bids must be met.

He added, that in the case of the Parkview School, which it is proposed to repair and to add four classrooms, the school board must decide in the light of available court decisions whether the work can be classified as repairs.

YOUTH Falls Five Stories to Death

NEW YORK (AP) — Pedro Lopez, 18, playing on a roof in the Bronx, plunged five stories to his death Tuesday night when he tried to jump from one building to another and misjudged the distance, police said.

Mrs. Johnson
Off to Visit
Virgin Islands

WASHINGTON (AP) — With bathing suits and sports clothes packed, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson sets out today for a five-day visit to the tropical Virgin Islands.

A college commencement speech Thursday is the only business ahead for the First Lady. She will congratulate a pioneer group of 13 graduates at the newly founded College of the Virgin Islands.

The rest of the time, though, the President's wife plans to get the first vacation she has had on her own from White House duties since the Johnsons came there in November 1963.

White House spokesmen say they hope the First Lady can get plenty of privacy at Caneel Bay, the Rockefeller-owned tourist resort on isolated St. John's Island in the Caribbean.

Mrs. Johnson, her brother, Tony Taylor of Santa Fe, N.M.; his wife, and the First Lady's social secretary, Bess Abell, held reservations, tourist class, aboard a commercial plane for a four-hour flight to the islands.

By evening they hoped to be lolling in a beachside

DEAR ABBY:

Enemy Success Must Be Luck

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: You don't waste many words so I won't either. Do you believe in luck? BERNIE

DEAR BERNIE: Certainly. How else could one explain the success of his enemies?

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a neighbor who works from 12 to 18 hours a day in her yard. She mows the lawn at 11 o'clock at night and disturbs the entire neighborhood. Her son is studying to be a concert pianist, and he is still going strong at the piano at one o'clock in the morning. This may seem unbelievable, but at 5 o'clock in the morning she is out in her yard watering the grass and singing, "La la la la!"

Except for the crazy hours they keep, they are a delightful family. To whom should I complain? BLURRY-EYED

ABBY

DEAR BLURRY: First complain to your neighbor (with a song in your heart) and let her know that but for neighborly spirit, you would have sung to the local police. There are laws about disturbing the peace — be it a drunken brawl, Chopin or "La la la la!"

DEAR ABBY: What does a boy do when he meets a girl his parents disapprove of because he picked her up in a movie show? My parents say she is trash, and they haven't even met her. When I first met Dianne (she is 15), I told my parents the truth about how I met her. They were very upset and told me not to have anything to do with her. I secretly dated Dianne for four months, and then I told my parents about it. They really became upset, and forced me to break up with Dianne for all time. This really hurt her. We liked each other a lot and she was a good kid. I think this is unfair and I want to know what you think.

BROKEN-HEARTED

DEAR BROKEN-HEARTED: You don't say how old you are, which is important. But assuming you are under 17, picking up a girl anywhere is a poor way to meet a "good kid." Your parents should have met Dianne before passing judgment on her. However, I can't blame them for insisting that you break up. You did see Dianne on the sneak for four months, which proved to your parents you couldn't be trusted.

DEAR ABBY: I have never written to a columnist before, but after reading the letter from the mother who was "proud" that her two little sons were born with cleft palates because it was a "manifestation of God's work," I cannot refrain from commenting.

Can it be that this mother does not know that cleft palates can be corrected by surgery? I do not feel that "God manifests His work" by deforming infants at birth. If He did, He wouldn't give the surgeon the knowledge and skill to correct such deformities. AMAZED Problems? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Australians Plan Light for Spacemen

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Melbourne, capital of the state of Victoria, and Perth, capital of Western Australia, will light up the sides of their largest buildings Thursday night in salute to the American astronauts as they pass over in the Gemini 4 capsule. The lights are expected to be visible to the astronauts on their 14th and 15th orbits.

Galesville's 'Doc' Honored

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special) — In many ways the banquet held recently to honor Dr. Sylvester David Cronk, 50-year Galesville veterinarian, was old home week for the man everybody here calls "Doc."

Dr. L. J. Larson, also a veterinarian here, introduced five area men in the same professon who were graduated from college about the same time as Dr. Cronk. Dr. R. A. Garman, Tomah, (1909) and Dr. N. A. Roettiger, Winona, (1913) finished school and started practicing before him.

Dr. Failing Dr. Roettiger

OTHERS among the 210 attending the dinner were Dr. George Failing, Winona, 1917; Dr. S. K. Andreassen, Menomonie, 1916, and Dr. George Even-son, West Salem, 1918.

Dr. Robert Houser, DVM, president-elect of the Wisconsin Veterinary Medical Association, presented Dr. Cronk with a 50-year service award. Congratulatory remarks were made by Dr. James W. Kahl, Winona.

Five men now living in Galesville were in business when Doc came here. Lester Danuser, in the insurance business, is the only one not retired. The others are O. D. Witherbee, then working at Gilbertson-Myhre store; Oscar Bergquist, former druggist; Louis Hall, garageman, and Arthur Kindsch, barber.

CLARENCE BROWN, long-time friend of Doc, gave the anecdotes of the evening, telling how among other things, Cronk had played the part of a charming woman in "The Womanless Wedding."

Cyril Nelson presented the guest with a large white lounge chair from his friends, even though he's not retiring. Lee Sack and sons Wendell and Carroll, Galesville; Otis, Centerville, and Gerald, Melrose, sang, Mrs. Alfred Anderson accompanying. J. O. Beadle was master of ceremonies. The Rev. Robert M. C. Ward gave the invocation and the Rev. V. A. Hintermeyer the benediction. Women of Zion Lutheran Church served.

Houston Co. ARC Sponsors Trip to Faribault School

CALEDONIA, Minn. (Special) — Houston County citizens will have a first-hand look at a state residential care facility for mentally retarded as members of a bus tour, sponsored by the Houston County Association for Retarded Children.

They will visit Faribault State School and Hospital next Wednesday.

The bus tour is one of several being planned this summer and fall by local ARC chapters throughout the state. Purpose is to increase public understanding of the institution programs and the conditions under which they operate.

"There are some 6,000 mentally retarded in our state residential care facilities," said Dennis J. Miller, president of the Houston County ARC. "They are almost forgotten citizens. Our association is concerned with their welfare, but we need the concern and interest of the whole community before we can improve conditions successfully at the institutions."

The tour is patterned after a series led by Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag last spring. At that time the governor said some of the conditions at state facilities for the retarded were "enough to make a grown man weep."

The statewide ARC was co-sponsor of the governor's tour. Anyone interested in the tour should contact Miller at Caledonia.

Next county ARC meeting will be Thursday at the Community Kitchen, Houston, at 8:30 p.m. The public is invited.

Mondovi Contest Draws 12 Ponies

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special) — Prizes of $20, $15, $10 and $5 were awarded in two classes at the annual pony pulling contests at the American Legion grounds at Mondovi Monday.

Among ponies up to 44 inches, Walter Dregney, Mondovi, won first, his pet pulling 1,500 pounds 5 feet 1 inch. Dean Johnson, Mondovi, won third, his pony pulling 1,320 pounds 4 feet, and fourth place winner was Casey Stanton, Eau Claire, his pet pulling 960 pounds 5 feet 1 inch.

First winner among ponies up to 50 inches was Hensel Kolstad, Eleva, his pony pulling 2,040 pounds 14 feet. James Risen, Mondovi, took second, his pony pulling the same weight 6 feet 10 inches. Third prize went to Donald Olson, Eleva, same weight, 4½ feet. Earl Moore, Eleva, won fourth with the pony pulling 1,680 pounds 6 feet.

There were 12 entries. Vendor Steink announced the events. Lunch was served by members of the American Legion Auxiliary.

POWELL TO NEW POST

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special) — Ray Powell, Windom, Minn., former teacher at Ettrick and Galesville, has accepted a position as administrator of six schools in South St. Paul. Following the marriage of their daughter, Patricia, to Miles Ostrem this month at Zion Lutheran Church, Galesville, Powell and wife will move to St. Paul.

Fillmore County Board Interviews Assessor Applicants

PRESTON, Minn. (Special) — Fillmore County commissioners interviewed applicants for county assessor at a special meeting at the courthouse here Tuesday.

They will make their choice at another special meeting June 15. They will meet in regular monthly session Tuesday.

Commissioners engaged W. Smith Architectural & Engineering Service, Winona, to draw plans for a new highway shed to be constructed a half-block from TIF 16 at Spring Valley.

Students Cited At Durand School

Rail Work to Last 42 Secretarial School Pupils Much of Summer Get Diplomas

Final work on Burlington and Green Bay railroad rights of way across the river will last through most of the summer, spokesmen for the two lines said Tuesday.

Both roads are running trains over their own tracks. The Burlington began using its own tracks May 16, and the Green Bay resumed use of its tracks May 25.

PRIOR TO that, the Burlington was running on North Western tracks from Lytle, a point near Trempealeau, to Winona Junction. The Green Bay was switching to North Western tracks at Marshland and using its system into Winona.

The main job that remains to be done on both the Burlington and Green Bay systems, representatives of the two firms said, is bringing the tracks up to grade. In addition, there are still a few places that need to be filled.

The Burlington is considering reinforcing its right of way with rip-rap, which would help prevent future washouts, Eugene Malay, Burlington agent here, said.

Foley Brothers Construction Co., Minneapolis, principal contractor for the Burlington repairs, finished its part of the project Tuesday, Malay said. N. A. Roverud, Winona, is continuing to haul fill for final repair work, however.

THE GREEN BAY is hauling its fill from a point near Dodge, using its own rail cars.

The Burlington, which formerly had two tracks between Trempealeau and Winona Junction, will use just one from now on, utilizing a central traffic control system to keep trains running on schedule.

All Burlington trains but one are running according to the road's usual schedule, Malay said. The exception, a morning Chicago-bound passenger train, may begin running again Monday, he explained.

Four students graduated with scholastic honors from the Winona Secretarial School Friday. Forty-two students received diplomas in the general, legal, executive, and medical secretarial departments.

The students and faculty attended a dinner at the Mississippi Thursday evening. The dinner was followed by a program presented by a number of students. Mrs. Edward Scherneck, director of the school, spoke briefly and announced the names of the honor students: Donna Keller, general secretarial; Judith Dana, executive secretarial; and Kathleen Kaiser and Charmaine Klinge, medical secretarial.

NASON ON EDUCATION

Teenagers and Responsibility

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D. University of S. Calif.

America is the land of equal opportunity, but it's up to the individual to grasp the opportunity.

The responsibility of the junior or senior high school student is school. It is his responsibility to himself, his family and his community to improve himself in the skills of a student in preparation for responsible citizenship.

It is as much his responsibility to work toward appropriate goals as it is his parents' responsibility to see that he is fed.

Goal-minded students make better grades, are happier in school and succeed better in college.

A TEENAGER can acquire habits of irresponsibility during the summer months if he is allowed to spend all of his time seeking pleasure and entertainment for himself.

On the other hand, there are many activities which will help him develop a sense of responsibility. Parents can take a hand here.

He can be made responsible for some of the daily activities about the home.

In many communities there are agencies through which he can volunteer for service in community playgrounds, hospitals and boys' camps.

He can take the responsibility for better success in school by improving his reading during the summer. He should read for an hour or two each day. Newspapers provide excellent material for practice. The student should press himself to read faster. He should summarize what he has read to someone who will then check on his reading comprehension.

HE SHOULD take the responsibility for improving his handwriting through daily practice. He should select a different sentence each day, possibly from a newspaper article. Writing and rewriting this sentence he can train his hands to hold the pencil in a comfortable manner without cramping his hands or fingers.

With ten minutes of practice a day he will be ready to write themes and examinations.

He should select a goal for the coming year's work which has some bearing on his possible life's work. Goals change but the important thing is to be working toward some goal at all times.

JUNIOR HIGH school is not too early for students to begin considering life-work possibilities. Make it your teenager's responsibility to start investigating.

When the adults of our society, parents, teachers, in fact everyone, recognize that this is the business of youth, fewer students will drift without goals and plans. Without them they are laying a background for wasted years about whether or not they stay in school.

DODGE, Wis. (Special) — The annual summer picnic of the Dodge Sportsmen's Club will be held July 17 and 18. The club has purchased 13 acres of land adjacent to the 26 acres it acquired previously. The land along Dodge Lake will be used for public hunting grounds.

Among students cited at the annual honors day convocation at STOUT STATE UNIVERSITY, Menomonie, were these area students: Thomas Twesme, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Twesme, ARCADIA; La Donna

Parents of AFS Student Visit Winona Family

Memories of the first American Field Service foreign exchange student were revived for Winona friends last weekend when Dr. and Mrs. Carl Gerlach, West Berlin, visited here.

Dr. and Mrs. Gerlach are parents of Rolf Gerlach, who spent the 1954-55 school year as a Winona Senior High School senior. Rolf had stayed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. F. Ellies, 714 W. Wabasha St., as did his parents on their weekend visit.

DR. and Mrs. Gerlach were accompanied by an older son, Dr. Eberhard Gerlach, 31, now a professor of mathematics at the University of British Columbia, Vancouver.

Ellies said Rolf, the onetime WSH student, now is an insurance firm lawyer in West Berlin, having graduated from the University of Berlin. He is now 28. Since returning to Germany, he has met other German students and is looking forward to a visit from Pekka Kause, a Finnish student, this summer. Kause, now a medical doctor, was an AFS student here in 1954-55 and lived with the Royal Thern family, 1351 Glenview Rd.

The elder Dr. Gerlach is a chemist with a West Berlin printing firm. He fled with his family from their former home, Leipzig, East Germany, in 1950, when Rolf finished eighth grade in school. The family members left nearly all their personal belongings in Leipzig so as not to arouse suspicion when they left. Dr. Gerlach had been head chemist for a large state-controlled petroleum refining company in Communist East Germany.

DR. EBERHARD Gerlach, a graduate of the University of Berlin, studied at the University of Indiana and received his doctorate from the University of Kansas. He has lived in the U.S. and Canada since.

The Gerlachs have another son, Henning, 25, a University of Berlin student.

The AFS has been active in Winona since 1954, hosting foreign students and sending local students abroad either for study or summer visits. Mrs. A. L. Nelson is president of the Winona chapter.

Graduates will take part in the program. Judith Ann Rose will give the opening prayer; Kenneth D. Hike, the welcome; Darol E. Lawrenz, the honors recognition; and Lana Jane Morrill, the closing prayer. A girls ensemble, directed by Clyde Edgar, musical director at the school, will sing. Blood Donations Far Short of Goal

The Red Cross blood drive fell short of its goal in its first day here Tuesday.

There were 76 pints of blood collected and 14 prospective donors rejected. Since rejects are counted toward a drive's quota, the total for Tuesday was 90 pints. There were 12 first-time donors.

THE GOAL for the day, however, was 125. That many pints of blood must be collected each day in order for the drive to reach its quota of 500 pints of blood. Mrs. Carl Breitlow, blood program chairman, pointed out. She called Tuesday's collection "very poor."

As of mid-morning, 62 persons had made appointments to donate blood today. There were 33 registered for Thursday and only 11 for Friday.

Hours today and Thursday are the same — noon until 6 p.m., while Friday's hours will be 9 a.m. until 3 p.m.

The bloodmobile is at the Red Cross center, 5th and Huff streets.

Many of Tuesday's donors were repeaters, whose contributions to the program are measured in the gallons. They were led by Harry Ramer, Minnesota City, and Robert Thaldorf, both of whom have given five gallons or more of blood to the Red Cross.

Other repeat donors Tuesday were: Four gallons or more — Paul Libera, Brother J. Robert and Woodrow Livingston.

Three gallons or more — Robert Christopherson, Tom Burns, Kenneth Spittler, James Polley, Robert Foreman, Edward Bernatz, Wallace Stettler and William Chuchna Jr.

Two gallons or more — Robert N. Steffes, George Hassinger, John Duell, William Bray, Mrs. Harry Patrick, James Heer, Donald V. Gray, Al G. Hegebart, Clarence Plosinski, Mrs. Evelyn E. Shiel, Carl Fischer, Dr. Max L. DeBolt, Franklin Will, Richard Magin, Robert Schossow, Miss Otha Ziebell and James Schain.

One gallon or more — Wayne Noeske, Donald Warren, Roy Kratch, Mrs. Clifford Paulson, Vernon Hemming, Mrs. Mike Golt, Ronald Kroning, Mrs. Carl Fischer, Richard Ozmun and Brother Patrick Brian.

She has taken three years of Spanish in the Winona public schools and plans to enroll for another year next fall when she'll be a senior at Senior High.

Spanish will be the only language spoken at the school. She has been invited to participate in school activities at the university and all of its facilities will be made available to her.

Before returning to Winona she plans to tour Mexico.

Lambeau, Founder of Packers, Dies of Heart Attack

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Earl L. (Curly) Lambeau, founder of the Green Bay Packers and only coach ever to win three consecutive National Football League titles, died Tuesday, apparently of a heart attack. He was 67.

Lambeau turned Green Bay, then a town of only 37,000, into the crown capital of the NFL by guiding the Packers to the championship in 1929, 1930 and 1931. He won three more titles before ending a 31-year Packers career in 1949.

Lambeau collapsed late Tuesday while mowing a lawn at the home of a friend at Sturgeon Bay, 40 miles northeast of Green Bay. He was dead when a fire rescue squad arrived.

A pioneer in the NFL, Lambeau was credited with turning the forward pass into a potent pro weapon while coach and quarterback of the Packers in the 1920s.

He was one of 17 charter members of the National Professional Football Hall of Fame.

Lambeau compiled a 236-111-23 record at Green Bay with only three losing seasons in more than three decades. But two of them came back to back in 1948 and 1949 and he resigned early the following year in a factional feud with a younger Packers front office.

Lambeau moved to the Chicago Cardinals as coach for two years and bowed out of the NFL at the end of 1954 after three seasons as coach of the Washington Redskins.

The Packers' founder was cutting grass with a power mower when a Sturgeon Bay photographer, Herb Reynolds, approached. Lambeau told Reynolds he needed the exercise. Suddenly, Reynolds said, Lambeau paled and collapsed.

Friends and former players showed the football trailblazer with tributes Tuesday night.

"I doubt if the league would exist today without the likes of Lambeau," said George Halas, owner-coach of the Chicago Bears.

"His vision and foresight made the Packers and the National Football League what they are today," said Buckets Goldenberg, Green Bay restaurant owner who played guard for Lambeau from 1933 to 1945.

The Packers were the children of a 1919 street corner conversation between Lambeau and a friend. They were born as a semi-pro team financed by a packing house. Lambeau recruited high school friends. At the end of the first season, each player received $16.75.

Green Bay joined the American Professional Football Association in 1921. The next year, the association became the National Football League with Green Bay as a charter member.

Lambeau was quarterback for the Packers for the first decade and threw 45 passes in one game in an era when football was a ground sport.

He led giant-killing Green Bay to NFL titles again in 1936, 1939 and 1944. Green Bay, although grown to 62,000, remains by far the smallest entry in the NFL.

After five seasons at Chicago and Washington, Lambeau quit with a final victory — a 30-27 triumph for his College All-Stars over the Cleveland Browns in 1955.

Lambeau was a native of Green Bay and played college football at Notre Dame.

Funeral services were set tentatively for Saturday at Green Bay.

He is survived by one son, Donald E.; a brother, Oliver B.; and a sister, Mrs. Frances Beatrice Eyrard, all of Green Bay.

IN FACT, TOO WELL

Halas: 'Curly Did Job Well'

By GEORGE HALAS
CHICAGO (AP) — There's a limit to everything. Life ends. Curly Lambeau is gone. It's a world of turns.

Curly gave me some of my greatest battles when he had the Green Bay Packers. He did a tremendous job. I doubt if the league would exist today without the likes of Lambeau.

We started the league in 1920 when we sat on the running board of a car in a Canton auto agency. Lambeau came into the league a year later.

It was not only a tough chore to field a team at that time but it was tough to keep a team going. Lambeau did the job. In fact, he did it too well.

He did it so well that he kept beating the Bears. You know, that was the greatest thing that could have happened to us. He kept beating us until he started such a rivalry that I couldn't hope would end.

I'm older than Curly was. And I want to say right now that I don't intend to quit.

Football is my life. Age doesn't really mean anything.

I helped create a great game and Lambeau was part of it. People ask me what made pro football.

I'll tell you. It was bringing Red Grange into the game. Then there was Bronko Nagurski and Jack Maners.

They all helped. But Lambeau had his offerings. Remember Don Hutson? Arnie Herber threw to Hutson and then the Packers came up with Cecil Isbell.

Oh, yes Lambeau forced me to make changes. In fact, he did such a great job with the Packers that the Chicago Bears had to come up with something new.

That's when we went to the T-formation. It resulted in a 73-0 championship victory over Washington. What was great about it? Nobody would believe it but everybody copied the T-formation.

This was pro football's biggest boost.

Carol Just Likes To Play Baseball, Joins Little Loop

ROCK HILL, S.C. (AP) — Carol Tobias, her blonde hair cropped short, is ready to open the season this week as possibly the only girl ever to play Little League baseball in South Carolina.

"I just like to play baseball," the spunky 12-year-old said during a recent practice break. "If they don't want girls to play Little League with boys, they ought to have a girls' Little League team."

But the Rock Hill Little League baseball commissioner has given her permission to play this year for the York County Natural Gas Authority team.

Her coach, Jimmy Cox, said Carol is a real slugger at 84 pounds and an exceptional outfielder.

"Carol came to play and she'll be playing because she's good — not because she's a girl," he said.

Grant Vs. Longborg of Boston as Twins Start Nine-Game Home Stand

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The Minnesota Twins, riding a one-half game first place lead in the American League, open a nine-game home stand tonight against the Boston Red Sox.

Jim Grant, undefeated in five games, will oppose Jim Longborg, who is 4-2, in the first game of the two-game series. The Twins' next opponent is Washington, Friday night through Sunday. The club was idle Tuesday.

Catcher Earl Battey, who has been out of action since Saturday with a bruised wrist, probably will be back in the lineup. Battey currently leads the Twins regulars in hitting with .316, and also is the team's most effective hitter with a man on base, averaging .309 in this important division.

Bob Allison, who sat out a doubleheader at Baltimore Monday, also is expected to be back in the lineup. Sandy Valdespino was in left field for Allison in the first Orioles game and Don Mincher for the second game. Valdespino has been hitting at a .353 clip so far this season.

Battey hit .302 the first year he Twins were in Minnesota in 1961, and last year slipped to .272, mainly because of a bad knee and his weight, which then was around 250 pounds.

He has slimmed down considerably this season with strong effect on his batting. Said Battey:

"I feel like a first-year Twin again. Jim Lemon has tipped me on some hitting points, but I feel strong physically and mentally.

The talk of any possible trades involving the Twins still revolved around the Twin Cities, but club president Calvin Griffith put the damper on any immediate move Tuesday.

"We'd have to trade with contenders to help. Maybe it's better to keep what we have—and first place—and let the other clubs suffer with us."

The Twins have stopped accepting orders for all star game tickets but there's still a chance some tickets might become available.

Club officials said that it's possible some tickets may be returned from allotments that have gone to other major league clubs.

Ticket purchasers whose orders are in and have been accepted for the July 13 classic in Metropolitan Stadium will receive their tickets next week, a club spokesman said.

AFTER NOBLE'S CROWN

Behnken Renews Battle In Modified Car Division

ST. CHARLES, Minn. — Weather permitting, Maury Behnken of Rochester to-night renews his battle to become the first Minnesota Speedways driver to win both stock and modified divisions on the Southern Minnesota circuit.

Behnken, who powers a "hot" 1935 Ford, will be chasing defending king Blooming Prairie's Dave Noble at the Fairgrounds Speedway here tonight.

RACING in both stock and modified divisions is scheduled to get underway at 8:30 p.m. It will be opening night. Last Wednesday's program was washed out.

Two heat races in each division as well as a semi-feature and feature are on tap.

A new name popped into the spotlight Sunday night at the Rochester oval when Paul Fitzpatrick pumped his 1932 Ford to the modified feature title.

The former champion thrilled the assembled 2,223 fans by capturing the lead on the 12th lap and whipping it to first.

WITH THE WIN, Fitzpatrick shares the honor of winning the first two feature races of the season with Noble, who didn't make Sunday's program.

The best Behnken could do Sunday was a fourth in the second heat and a fifth in the feature.

Winona's Dave Pye was third in the first stock heat race Sunday and fourth in the feature. Walter Timm was fifth in the semi-feature.

Back-to-Back Home Runs Help Milwaukee Past Houston '9' 2-1

HOUSTON, Texas (AP) — Hank Aaron and Mack Jones clubbed back-to-back homers Tuesday night as Milwaukee clipped Houston 2-1 to end a successful western road trip.

The Braves finished with six victories in nine games on the tour and return home tonight to meet San Francisco, victims of three of the decisions.

Aaron and Jones hit the homers with two out in the top of the eighth and ruined a sizzling relief performance by Houston pitcher Claude Raymond.

Raymond came off the bench without the benefit of a prior warmup when starter Dick Farrell was struck on the right arm by a drive by Frank Bolling in the second inning. Raymond blanked the Braves for 5 1/3 innings but was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the seventh.

His successor, Hal Woodeshick, retired the first two Braves in the eighth, worked to a full count against Aaron, and saw the next pitch sail into the left center field stands. Two pitches later, Jones poked another offering into the right center field seats.

Billy O'Dell, tossing the last three innings in relief, scattered four hits and a walk, but hung on for his fourth victory against two defeats.

Two of the singles came in the ninth, but O'Dell grabbed a bouncing shot by Rusty Staub to start a double play and end the game.

Denny Lemaster started for the Braves and gave up only five hits in six innings before he left for a pinchhitter, but one of the blows was a solo homer by Walt Bond in the fourth.

The home runs by Aaron and Jones were the seventh for each this season.

Aaron also tripled in the first, but was left stranded when Jones flied out. He raised his batting average to .338, best on the club and fifth in the National League.

The Braves' series with San Francisco could reshuffle a tightly packed scramble for second place.

The Giants, holding down second, are only half a game ahead of Cincinnati and a game ahead of Milwaukee and St. Louis. The Braves lead the Cardinals for fourth by four percentage points.

VEALE FANS 16, BUT HE WAS BEAT

What Could the Guy Do When Well Rested?

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Bob Veale can strike out 16 batters when he's tired, how many can he strike out when he's fresh?

The giant Pittsburgh pitcher may get a chance to answer that question before too long, and the reply could be a major league strikeout record.

Veale fanned 16 Phillies Tuesday night as the Pirates defeated Philadelphia 4-0 in their 12th straight victory. Hain delayed the game twice for a total of two hours and five minutes.

Asked how the rain affected him, Veale said:

"It hindered me. It made me a little tired."

He was so tired he came within two of equaling the major league record of 18 strikeouts, set by Bob Feller in 1938 and tied by Sandy Koufax in 1959 and 1962.

Veale's 16 were the most in the majors this season, broke his own team record of 15 and increased his season total to 77, tying him with Don Drysdale for second place in the National League.

The 6-foot-6 left-hander, whose 250 strikeouts led the majors last season, also recorded his third shutout, matching Bob Gibson's major league-leading total, and gained his third straight complete game, all in the Pirates' winning streak.

fly and a single by Jerry Lynch. Only one Phillie reached third.

The Cardinals stopped their five-game losing streak and San Francisco's five-game winning string behind the five-hit pitching of Ray Sadecki. St. Louis' 20-game winner of 1964 earned his second victory against four defeats.

Jim Hickman drove in four runs with two homers, leading the Mets' 15-hit barrage. His hitting helped overcome a 3-1 lead Chicago built against Warren Spahn. The Cubs defeated the 44-year-old southpaw for 10 singles in 3 2-3 innings. Joe Christopher, Chuck Hiller and Roy McMillan each had three hits for New York.

NCAA-AAU War Going Full Force

NEW YORK (AP) — The war between the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Amateur Athletic Union over control of amateur athletics in the United States is going full blast again today. The big loser could be the track team the United States will send against the Russians at Kiev July 31.

The end to an uneasy truce between the organizations came Tuesday when Everett D. Barnes, president of the NCAA, warned its members to boycott the National AAU Championships at San Diego on June 26-27.

Barnes declared in a special memorandum from Hamilton, N.Y., where he is director of athletics at Colgate University, that participation of college-eligible athletes in the AAU Championships would place the student's institution in violation of the NCAA by-laws and subject to enforcement procedures.

Barnes emphasized that there would be a violation "whether or not the student represents his institution, a club or competes unattached."

This placed in jeopardy the prospect of a strong U.S. team being selected for the dual meet with the Soviet Union. The first two finishers in each event at the AAU Championships traditionally have been named as the U.S. team.

Barnes added, however, that the directive against participation in the AAU Championships "should not mean that NCAA athletes need be eliminated from the team competing against Russia. They should be permitted to qualify through other established championships meets."

This was an apparent reference to the forthcoming NCAA Championships and meets conducted by the U.S. Track and Field Federation, affiliated with the NCAA.

Donald Hull, executive director of the AAU was not available for comment on Barnes' statement.

Clark Shares Spotlight With Rookie Driver

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Scot Jimmy Clark and Italian-born Mario Andretti shared the spotlight Tuesday night at a victory dinner which carved a record pie of $528,399 from the Indianapolis 500-mile race.

Clark, the 29-year-old winner from Duns, Scotland, collected $166,621, also a record, for the Lotus-Ford team. The first prize cash actually goes to the owner of the winning car, Colin Chapman of London, who makes a distribution to the driver. This usually varies from 45 to 60 per cent.

Andretti, of Nazareth, Pa., was voted Rookie-of-the-Year for his third-place finish. Balloting by a committee of newsmen and Indianapolis Motor Speedway officials gave Andretti 23 of the 24 votes cast.

He received $500, a trophy from a meat packing firm and a year's supply of meat.

Clark also received the race's Plymouth pace car, a $1,000 wardrobe, six trophies, an engraved watch and assorted other special prizes.

The 1965 purse topped last year's by $118,224. The Speedway contributed $500,493, lap prizes another $30,000 and accessory prizes $97,906.

Last year the Speedway gave $397,150 for the prizes, and winner A. J. Foyt, Houston, Tex., picked up $153,650 for his car's owner.

Parnelli Jones, Torrance, Calif., runner-up in Monday's race and the 1963 champion, won $64,661, and Andretti received $42,051.

BOB GOEMAN, Manager

James Roche New Head of General Motors

DETROIT (AP) — Enrollment in correspondence school classes may jump when word gets around that General Motors' new president James M. Roche got a lot of his education via the mails.

Roche

Roche, 58, elected Tuesday as president of the world's largest manufacturing concern, never attended college. As a youth he supplemented his high school education with mail courses in business and commerce from a Chicago correspondence school.

His selection came as no surprise. In recent weeks of speculation about who would succeed retiring GM President John F. Gordon, Roche's name almost always was the first one mentioned.

Although two of his 38 years in the automotive business were spent as Cadillac Division's then one-man public relations department, Roche never sought personal publicity.

His modest, 1½-page official GM biography told of his birth in Elgin, Ill., and his attendance at elementary and high schools there. He took his first job with an Aurora, Ill., utility company, meanwhile undertaking correspondence school courses.

In 1927, at the age of 21, he succumbed to the lure of the auto business and joined a Chicago Cadillac branch as a statistician. A year later, he was assistant manager of the branch.

His rise in Cadillac was climaxed in 1957 when he was named as its general manager and a vice president of General Motors.

Junta Asks Free Election Under OAS

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The Dominican junta proposed Tuesday night that elections supervised by the Organization of American States be held as soon as possible in this divided Caribbean nation.

The junta said all "democratic parties recognized by the Central Electoral Board" should be allowed to participate in the election. This presumably would include the Dominican Revolutionary party of ex-President Juan Bosch in whose name the rebellion was launched April 25.

It was not clear, however, whether the junta would allow Bosch to return from exile in Puerto Rico to be a candidate. He won the presidency overwhelmingly in a free election in 1962, but military leaders overthrew him the next year.

The junta president, Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, discussed the election proposal with U.S. Ambassador William Tapley Bennett Jr. and OAS Secretary-General Jose A. Mora before the announcement.

President Johnson told a news conference in Washington Tuesday that U.S. policy in the Dominican Republic aims at establishment of a broadly based government that represents the people and does not include extremists.

"We have no desire to insist on our particular brand of military solution or political solution," Johnson said. "We think it is an inter-American matter, and we want to cooperate fully with them (the OAS)."

Following the President's announcement that 2,000 more U.S. Marines were being withdrawn from Santo Domingo, helicopters began flying them to U.S. naval vessels offshore. Their departure reduces the U.S. contingent to 2,100 Marines and 14,200 paratroopers serving with 1,500 Latin-American troops in the inter-American peace force.

About 1,700 other Marines and 1,700 paratroopers had been pulled out previously. The rebel chief, Col. Francisco Caamaño Dueno, told newsmen Sunday the quicker American forces left, the sooner the Dominican crisis would be settled.

Rebel forces captured three U.S. paratroopers Tuesday after they strayed into the rebel stronghold in downtown Santo Domingo. Caamaño personally released them 3½ hours later to a commission of the United Nations and the OAS.

Caamaño expressed hope his troops would receive as good treatment if they are captured.

Stock Prices Still Deep in Loss Column

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market firmed somewhat early this afternoon. However, it still was fairly deep in the loss column.

Trading was moderate. At the opening the market continued the slide that sent it to one of the worst losses of the year Tuesday.

Brokers said the break was triggered by the statement of William McChesney Martin, Federal Reserve Board chairman, that he found "disquieting similarities" between current business conditions and those of the 1920s.

They also said investors appeared worried about the Southeast Asian situation and the problem of the British pound. Tobacco were the only group to manage an advance. Liggett & Myers, American Tobacco and Lorillard were ahead by small fractions.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon had declined 1.7 to 331.0 with industrials off 1.7, rails off 1.6 and utilities off .7.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was off 3.51 at 905.02 after having been down 4.31 an hour earlier.

Steels were weak with U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Jones & Laughlin showing losses of about half a point.

Chrysler gained nearly a point while Ford lost about half a point and General Motors was down by a lesser fraction.

International Business Machines advanced more than 3 points and DuPont added nearly a point.

Prices declined in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Corporate and Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

'Friend Raising' Group Formed at St. Teresa

The nucleus of a "friend-raising" group was formed when the new president's council of the College of Saint Teresa held its organizational meeting Tuesday in Lourdes Dining Hall.

Acting chairman of the new group was S. J. Kryzsko of the college's lay advisory board.

ACCORDING TO Sister M. Camille, college president, "The purpose of the president's council of the College of Saint Teresa is to provide, in a community likely to have an interest in the college, a group of persons of stature and influence to whom the president of the college may turn for advice, counsel, guidance and help on matters in which their knowledge of the local situation as well as their understanding of the college and its purposes will qualify them to be of assistance.

"This is a 'friend-raising' group, and we welcome you as the nucleus of a larger group which we hope to initiate on the campus."

Members of the organization are Ed Allen, Frank Allen, C. William Biesanz, Richard Calender, William S. L. Christensen, Joseph F. Conway, James N. Doyle, Wendell Fish, G. M. Grabow, Dr. Roger Hartwich, H. R. Hurd, J. L. Jeremiasen, James Jeresek, Louis C. Landman, Harold J. Libera, C. Stanley McMahon, B. A. Miller, Paul Miner, Leo F. Murphy Sr., Robert P. Olson, S. J. Pettersen, Vernon Seitz, Robert J. Selover, Arnold E. Stoa, Royal G. Thern, C. Paul Venables, Dr. James V. Wadden, William F. White and Leslie Woodworth.

KRYZSKO opened the meeting and introduced the members of the council and Sister Camille, who addressed the group.

Sister Camille maintained that higher education is recognized as an essential factor in American life and world affairs, with a consequent responsibility to American economy and culture in building leadership.

"Community business and civic leaders very often have limited opportunity to become acquainted with and involved in higher education," she said. "The president's council at the College of Saint Teresa has been created to provide this opportunity and to form a mutually sustaining relationship."

College lay advisory board members present at the organizational luncheon in addition to Kryzsko were A. J. Bambenek, George Kelley, Leo La France, James T. Schain and Mrs. Hubert Weir, all of Winona, and F. J. O'Brien of Rochester.

College officials present were Sister M. Emmanuel, vice president and dean; Sister M. Patrick, business officer; Sister M. Lorraine, secretary and director of publicity; Karl Lipschitz, assistant to the president in public relations and development; D. J. Guidinger, associate director of development; and Miss Modesta R. Gallery, administration secretary of the College.

There are some simple answers to the problems of life, but I fear these answers are often rejected for that very reason — they're too simple. The poor student finds the answer to his needs by simply spending more time in study. Once on the road to recovery as a student, he tastes the sweet joy of achievement and self pride, but there's no easy way. He must get with it and study, or let his life become limited, and eventually complicated because of limitations.

THE ADULT who can't manage his affairs can find a simple solution. Seek the advice of a counselor, and then take that advice. Counselors haven't any magic potents — just good analytical minds. To follow their advice is often to work out your own salvation, but they, the counselors, point the way.

Feeling sorry for one's self is a damaging attitude that simply needs to be killed in facing issues with determination and desire to gain the required goals. Joy is to be had in its true sense only when the issues are faced — not avoided.

By the way, facing the issue with simple, though demanding corrective measures, is also the answer to personality problems, be they between fellow workers, the club president, and yourself, or man and wife. On the other hand, let the sun set on your problems day after day, and they will grow and multiply beyond the point of return. Life for the most of us can be simple if we simply face life.

New Patrol Car OKed For Police

The Board of Fire and Police Commissioners voted to accept the only bid on a new patrol car at a special meeting Tuesday afternoon at City Hall.

At its regular May meeting last week, the board had voted to lay over any action on the bid of Owl Motor Co. until it was learned why Owl's bid of $1,754 was more than $400 above its winning bid on a similar patrol car last December.

THIS HAVING been done, Board President Robert L. Prondzinski called the special meeting to accept the Owl bid rather than delay acceptance until the next regular meeting, June 23. (The middle of June is the deadline for buying 1965 models.) Police Chief James W. McCabe had contacted Quality Chevrolet Co. to determine why it had not bid on the patrol car. A firm official said he had learned of the opening of bids on the patrol car too late.

However, he added that his bid would be near what Owl had bid. Patrol cars require much repair, it was said, and the resale value is not good.

Commissioner Bernard H. Habek moved the Owl bid be accepted. Commissioner William P. Theurer seconded, and the three commissioners present unanimously voted to buy a new car from Owl Motor for $1,754.20. Owl allowed $1,275 trade-in on the old car.

CHIEF McCabe told commissioners Ramlar no longer makes patrol cars and that Dodge only makes them in large lots. The motor companies must custom-build, in effect, one car for the Winona police department.

The chief said his department basically stays with Minnesota Highway Patrol specifications, although a less costly bench seat was substituted in the patrol car just purchased for the bucket seats ordinarily specified.

Other bidders were Bergeron-Caswell, Minneapolis, $21,640, and Mueller Bros., Gaylord, $19,977.

ALSO AT THE Thursday meeting the council voted against three requests for rezoning. All members were in agreement except in the first request in which Robert Reihl asked for rezoning of a lot near 11th and Spruce Drive to erect a malt shop. Roger Ulrich, councilman, voted for the request.

Reihl said he knew the new high school would have a closed noon hour so planned to open the malt shop or ice cream store at 1 p.m. No cigarettes or groceries would be sold. Ice cream, confections, hamburgers and hot beef sandwiches would be the specialties.

Lloyd Bergman, appearing at the meeting on behalf of Reihl's petition, said such a store would be a good place for children to gather. Earl Good said the proposed store would devalue adjacent vacant lots and homes in the area because of litter.

Reihl said when he first contacted Mr. and Mrs. Good about the venture, Mrs. Good said they were considering an ice cream store, too, but after learning of the closed noon hour, rejected the idea.

The council voted 4-1 against rezoning. Estimated cost of the building was given by Reihl at $18,000.

THE COUNCIL also rejected rezoning of two lots owned by Mrs. Mary Storaand. Represented by Patrick Doyle, La Crosse attorney, Mrs. Storaand would have built a duplex costing up to $30,000 on one lot, living in one of the apartments, and a four-plex on the other at an estimated $35,000.

Paul Hughes, John Mueller, Charles Murphy and Claude Carraux opposed rezoning. They said the apartment houses would reduce the value of their property because of increased traffic.

Oleo Battle Raging in Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A 2½-hour argument over repeal of Wisconsin's oleomargarine tax was sandwiched into the Senate's budget and revenue debate Tuesday night.

But the attempt to get the 15 cents a pound levy off the uncolored spread wound up as just another addition to the pile of discarded amendments to the budget-tax bill.

The vote rejecting the amendment was 19-14 but it did not follow the strict party line that doomed its seven predecessors Tuesday.

On the earlier roll calls, the Republican majority stood solidly against the changes proposed by Democratic members. When the oleomargarine vote came, three GOP members joined the minority while two Democrats left it.

The Republicans were Sens. Jerris Leonard and Allen Busby of Milwaukee, and William Draheim of Neenah. The Democratic strays were Sens. Carl Thompson of Stoughton and Frank Christopherson of Superior.

Ssn. Casimir Kendzioriski, D-Milwaukee, said he introduced the amendment because the Agriculture Committee has refused to act on a number of oleomargarine tax repealers. The Milwaukee Democrat quoted federal statistics that set national per capita butter consumption in 1935 at 17.6 pounds and oleo at 3 pounds. By 1963, the senator said, the butter total had dropped to 7 pounds while oleo climbed to 9.4 pounds.

Kendzioriski and Sen. Taylor Benson, D-Franksville, criticized the tax for making "smugglers" of Wisconsin residents who bring in untaxed oleo from other states.

"You can't enforce the tax and it brings in no more than $180,000 a year," Kendzioriski said. "Why not make it legal and let Wisconsin merchants make the money now going to Illinois and Iowa and everywhere else."

New Miracle Mall Occupies 26-Acre Tract

The Miracle Mall With the Winona Hills in the Background

Miracle Mall, situated on a 26-acre site between Trunk Highway 61 and Gilmore Avenue, will officially open at 9:45 a.m. Thursday.

The program will include a flag-raising ceremony. Present will be Mayor R. K. Ellings and Miss Mary Sue Anderson, Willmar, the reigning Minneapolis Aquatennial queen.

UNSEASONABLY wet weather, which prevented earlier completion of parking lot surfacing and other final touches, forced a change from the original opening date of May 20.

Thousands of area residents, however, already have had a sneak preview of what the center will be like, since the Wards and Tempo stores opened their doors two weeks ago and the variety store opened last week.

Despite the confusion of last-minute construction, decorating, installation of fixtures and stocking of stores with hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of inventory, the preview gave some indication of the unusual features the completed, climate-controlled Miracle Mall will offer area shoppers.

The center itself covers more than two acres. Of the balance of the 26-acre site, 14 acres are being held in reserve for future expansion and addition of new stores.

AMONG THE features of the center, designed to make shopping easier and more convenient, are the following:

- Miracle Mall is the fifth and largest enclosed mall shopping center in Minnesota outside the major metropolitan areas.

MARY SUE ANDERSON

To Winona shoppers, this means the convenience of complete indoor shopping — weather-protected — for every store in the mall. Every store can be entered from the center mall, and no store is more than 90 seconds from the entrance to any other store.

The center is completely air-conditioned, summer and winter, so there will be none of the seasonal disadvantages associated with walking from store to store through below-zero cold, extreme heat, rain and snow.

- This is one of the few shopping centers in the state to be built entirely without "fronts" on the stores.

This will make it possible for families to look into every store interior as they walk along the mall. Instead of limited number of items on display in normal store windows, everything in the stores will be visible from the mall.

- There will be a continental sidewalk cafe on the mall, where customers can sit and watch their friends walk by while they enjoy a cup of coffee or a snack at any hour of the day.

- Free, off-street parking for 600 cars is available on three sides of the shopping center, providing access to the mall for shopping at any one of the center's stores.

- Miracle Mall is the only shopping center in Minnesota which houses full-scale Montgomery Ward and Tempo department stores.

This combination will give area shoppers the advantage of being able to do comparison shopping between two national chain department stores without leaving the climate-controlled comfort of the center.

Ward-Tempo Combination First of Its Kind in U.S.

Winona's new Miracle Mall Shopping Center will be the first in the U. S. that will have full-scale Montgomery Ward and Tempo department stores.

This situation offers the Winona trade-area shopper the advantage of being able to comparatively shop two national chain department stores without leaving the climate-controlled comfort of Miracle Mall.

Henry Frommelt, vice president of Gamble-Skogmo, Inc., said, "We have always thrived on competition, and we are firmly convinced that by locating our new store in the same center with that of one of our major competitors, we are together providing a drawing power that will prove irresistible to the consumer."

John Lippman, zone manager for Montgomery Ward, said, "Contrary to existing general practice in retail merchandising, we believe that the closer we can be to our competitors, the easier it will be to demonstrate the quality of our goods. Although the two chain department stores in Miracle Mall do not compete in all lines, the general similarity of lines will give the comparison shopper plenty of opportunity to make a choice."

Mall Employment Expected to Top 200 Eventually

The opening of Miracle Mall shopping center will be an important stimulus for Winona business — much like the opening of a new manufacturing plant.

The enclosed mall shopping center will bring new jobs to the city, and thousands of dollars in monthly payrolls to be spent in Winona for store and office supplies, food, clothing, entertainment, housing, education and all the other needs of families and business concerns.

The total number of center employees, when all the stores in the center have opened for business, is expected to exceed 200 persons.

The center's total annual payroll is expected to exceed $100,000.

600 Free Parking Spaces at Mall

Ever have trouble finding a place to park when you go shopping?

You won't when you shop at Miracle Mall, the newest shopping center in the state of Minnesota.

Surrounding the mall on three sides are nearly eight acres of parking space, providing enough room for 600 cars to park at one time free of charge.

free or a snack at any hour of the day.

- Free, off-street parking for 600 cars is available on three sides of the shopping center, providing access to the mall for shopping at any one of the center's stores.

- Miracle Mall is the only shopping center in Minnesota which houses full-scale Montgomery Ward and Tempo department stores.

This combination will give area shoppers the advantage of being able to do comparison shopping between two national chain department stores without leaving the climate-controlled comfort of the center.

Western Land's Big Business: Shopping Centers

Western Land Corporation is a name that is becoming increasingly important in the shopping center industry throughout the Upper Midwest.

The company, organized and headquartered in Minneapolis, has as its principal business the organization and development of shopping centers.

Its management team is composed of recognized experts in the fields of merchandising, retailing, land acquisition and site development.

Leslie F. Crews, president and chairman of the board, says: "The Winona Miracle Mall shopping center project is a logical extension of the concept developed by Western Land to bring the latest in big-city merchandising techniques and facilities to medium-sized communities. The effectiveness of this concept has been dramatically demonstrated in similar centers developed by the company in Faribault and Austin, Minn."

The smaller community enclosed mall shopping center has proven so successful, that Western Land is currently expanding its operation to centers in Illinois, South Dakota, Wisconsin and Iowa.

The company's first shopping center, a "strip" center where all the stores are alongside each other facing the parking area, was built in Palatine, Ill., outside Chicago, about five years ago.

In addition to Crews, who was formerly vice president of Montgomery Ward, the chief executive officers of Western Land Corporation are: Ellisworth Johnson, executive vice president, formerly an executive of Apache Corporation and Gamble-Skogmo, Inc., Minneapolis; and John Peterson, secretary, formerly with the real estate department of Red Owl Stores, Inc., Hopkins, Minn. Several of the board members were associated with national retail firms including W. T. Grant Co. and J. C. Penney Co.

There are approximately 122,000 persons living within easy traveling distance of the center. Many of these persons have expressed a desire for the availability of a large-scale retail center which would provide the latest developments in customer convenience and mass retailing techniques.

In Winona County alone, it has been estimated that total family income approximates $86,272,000. At the same time, retail sales for Winona County were estimated to be approximately $47,852,000. There is a strong certainty that much of the disposable income of persons in the county is being spent elsewhere.

In addition to providing jobs and income to the community, Miracle Mall will play an important role helping to stem the growing tide of dollars spent by Winona residents outside the trade area.

Aaron Ward Started Mail Order Catalog

This is a success story that would have dazzled Horatio Alger, and it's true.

It's the story of a man who created one of the country's leading businesses and blazed new trails in retail selling.

AARON Montgomery Ward was born in New Jersey in February 1843. To help his poverty-stricken family, he had to leave school at the age of 14 to go to work in a barrel factory for 25 cents a day. When he was 20, his family moved to St. Joseph, Mich., where he got a job as a shoe clerk for $5 a month and board. After three years, he was made manager of the store at a salary of $100 a month and board.

Several years later he decided there was greater opportunity for him in a larger city, and he found a job in Chicago as a traveling salesman with

Servicing Space Capsule Wouldn't Stop This Crew

"If the day arrives when a space capsule is brought in for an overhaul, we'll be able and willing to handle the job," says Lee Seemuth, service department manager at Montgomery Ward's new Winona store.

All new, with 100 percent modern equipment, the service department at the new store here is one of the highlights of the new look at Wards.

WARD OFFICIALS say the local service facilities "incorporate the newest techniques in repair equipment and in analysis of appliance trouble, and will provide maximum service for customers in accord with the company's policy of 'satisfaction guaranteed or your money back.'"

Service capabilities in the new department range from the sharpening of rotary and reel-type lawn mowers to repairing complicated pumps on farms. A modern testing tank, designed especially to test outboard motors under simulated lake and stream conditions, has been installed.

Modern electronic testing equipment for television sets is now in operation, and an automatic tube analyzer will enable customers to test their own TV and radio tubes if they so desire.

The stock of spare parts has been increased until the service department now has more than 4,000 different parts. A complete assortment of TV and radio tubes and hi-fi phonograph needles also is available.

NEW EQUIPMENT makes it possible for Ward's servicemen to repair all kinds of gasoline engines. The new store's service department is an authorized Briggs & Stratton engine repair service center.

Modern facilities are on hand for repairs of heating and pump systems, and a crew is available to perform installation services. The department also handles TV antenna installations.

Complete gun-repair service is available from a crew of gun experts who provide maximum craftsmanship. Factory service is also available on specialized items.

In addition to the broad service facilities offered by Ward's new Winona store, the service department draws upon the knowledge of engineers in the company's engineering centers throughout the country.

WARDS customers are offered extended protection against unexpected repair bills through the purchase of Ward service contracts, which include both parts and labor for repair jobs. Appliances which can be covered include refrigerators, freezers, dryers, automatic washers, air conditioners, TV sets, hi-fi sets and stereo equipment.

Ward's service department in the new store has been set up under the supervision of the district customer service manager, whose headquarters is in St. Paul.

Fast Delivery Of New York Fashions Seen

One of the most dramatic examples of retailing's fast pace is found in the bright, colorful world of women's fashions.

Thanks to this speedy pace, said Mrs. Margaret Armstrong, fashion department manager at Montgomery Ward's new Winona store, current fashions are available to Winona women at the same time they first appear in New York.

To accomplish this seeming miracle of merchandising, the Wards organization, for example, maintains a complete buying staff in New York City.

These buyers are at work daily, watching trends in the fashion industry, selecting the new creations that are soon sure to become national favorites, seeking and guarding standards for quality.

Active in the center of the nation's fashion capital, these buyers work closely with manufacturers to be sure that Wards fashions meet the exacting requirements of American women.

That is why the Winona store will receive not monthly, but daily shipments from New York. These shipments will be supplemented by on-the-spot special purchases, which will be rushed to the store from New York.

Mrs. Armstrong expressed her enthusiasm about Ward's Winona fashions: "They're some of the most exciting designs I've ever seen," she said. "The lines are smart and modern. And there is such a wonderful range from the really elegant to casual models for comfortable everyday wear."

Montgomery Ward Supports 4-H Club Activities

Montgomery Ward has supported the 4-H Club program since 1922 — longer than any other national company.

Wards sponsors the national 4-H home economics program, originally called the girls record contest, the first 4-H project to be sponsored by a business organization.

Every year, Wards pays the expense of each home economics program state winner from her home to the national 4-H Club congress in Chicago.

In 1933, Wards began offering college scholarships to the national winners of the program. In the last 29 years, the company has helped finance college educations of 159 girls from 40 states, through 4-H scholarships.

Wards also annually presents 7,300 medals of honor for outstanding work in home economics to girls who win top county awards.

WHAT A CROWD . . . Customers thronged to Tempo as soon as its doors opened, but the wide aisles and speedy check-out counters have kept the store from seeming crowded. This shows about half of the store. Clothing is the principle item in the other half. (Daily News photo)

Hectic Period Precedes Ward Store Opening

Months of preparation and many thousands of man-hours have preceded the opening of Montgomery Ward's new Miracle Mall shopping center store.

When R. F. Nelson, field engineer from the company's home offices, arrived in Winona a month ago, the building that was to become a modern department store was merely a brick and mortar shell with a roof and supporting columns.

He enlisted the aid of hundreds of technicians, craftsmen, tradesmen and laborers from the Winona area and proceeded to install miles of electric wiring, conduits and fluorescent lighting; acres of glass and carpeting, and hundreds of square feet of wall partitions and dividers. Then he saw to it that gallons and gallons of paint were applied to most of the surface areas.

At the same time, merchandisers and buyers in the company's Chicago and New York offices and in manufacturing sources and plants throughout the United States and overseas, were purchasing merchandise destined for the Winona store and arranging for shipment of these items.

Soon, trucks began to arrive several times daily at the store's loading docks, filled with items ranging from spark plugs and white shirts to power tools and glassware.

Bare showcases began to fill, and hundreds of employees sorted, arranged and marked the goods.

Training experts held classes to familiarize each employee with the merchandise he would handle.

Then the floors of the store were cleared of rubble, polished and waxed to a high gloss.

Finally, the doors were ready to open and a new Montgomery Ward store was set to welcome its customers with a smile, plenty of merchandise and trained employees.

One-Stop Auto Center Offered

Montgomery Ward's new automobile service center makes "one-stop" shopping a reality at the company's new Miracle Mall shopping center store.

Louis Wera, manager of the four-car center says, "We have the very latest and most modern equipment on hand to provide complete service for our Winona area customers."

Backing up the auto service are five servicemen and an inventory that includes complete lines of tires, batteries, tail pipes, mufflers, fuel pumps, rebuilt engines, seat covers and an auto accessories assortment to meet every need.

"We're offering installation service on seat covers, radios and all auto parts and micro-precision wheel balancing, minor tune-ups and complete shock absorber and brake service," Wera says.

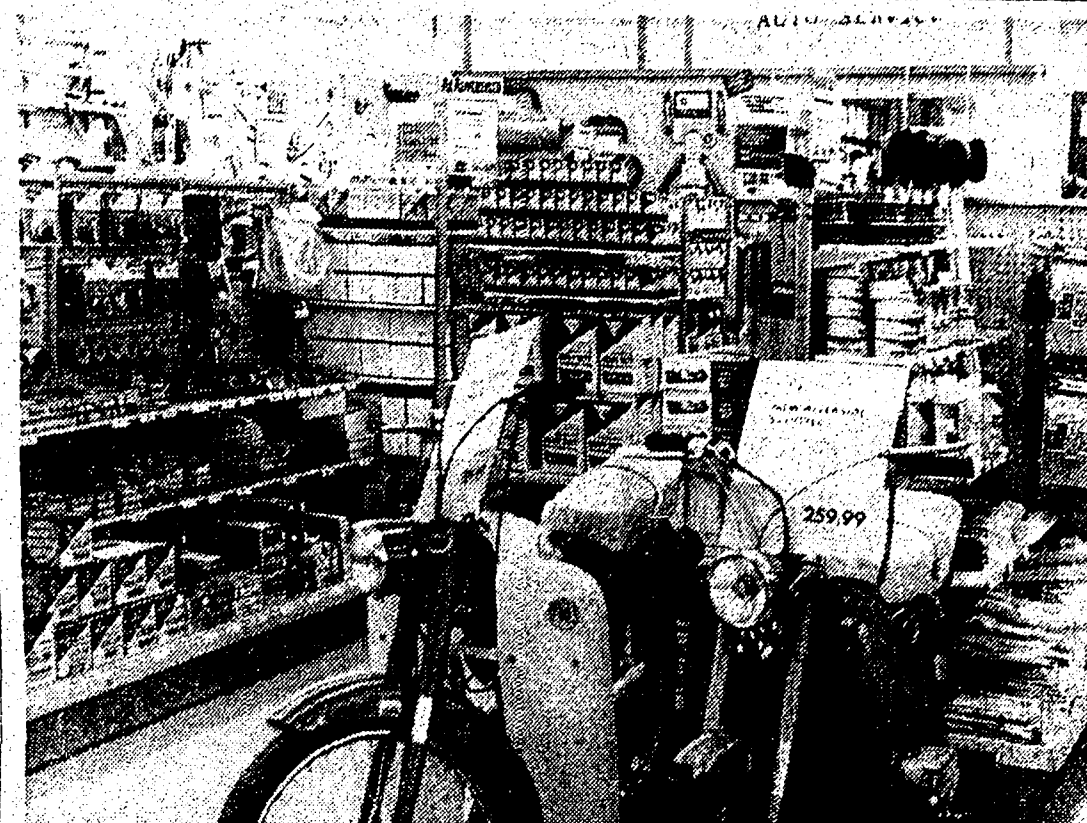

Modern hydraulic and electrical power tools are provided to simplify and speed installations. One is an electrical tire changer so simple a child can operate it. Another machine, in the hands of an expert technician, grinds new brake shoes and turns drums to assure good brake performance.

Not unlike the familiar drug-store soda fountain is an oil bar, which dispenses oil for customers making bulk purchases.

"About the only thing old time auto mechanics will find familiar," the service managers said, "are the old-fashioned prices in effect for the three-day grand opening of the auto service center and the store itself."

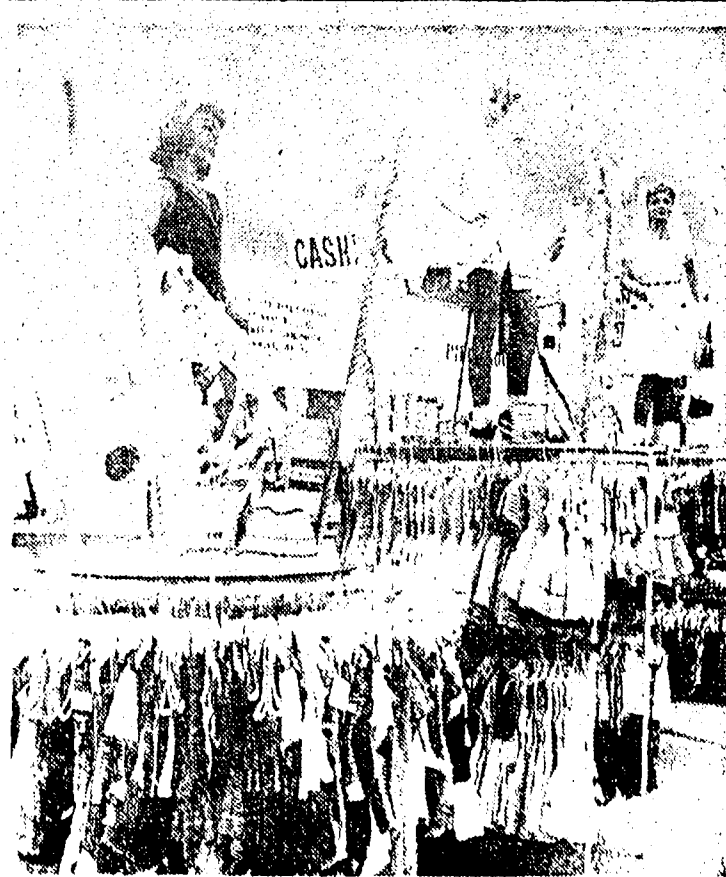

LOTS OF SPORTSWEAR . . . Swimsuits, shorts, skirts and slacks are among the items to be found in Ward's centrally-situated sportswear department. It is part of a complete women's fashion section at the firm's new Miracle Mall store. (Daily News photo)

TO KEEP YOU ROLLING . . . Automotive parts and equipment are found in the Wards Miracle Mall store near the entrance to its service center. The department also features Ward's new motor scooter. (Daily News photo)

CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENT . . . Mannequins standing atop display racks help the shopper find the kind of merchandise for which she is looking. This department is situated in the center of the store. (Daily News photo)

Quick Service Available at Catalog Office

There are 130,000 "hidden" items at Montgomery Ward's new Winona store, which will open Thursday.

The "hidden" items are available through the store's catalog order office. The backbone of the catalog order office is the historic "wish book" and special catalogs published by the company.

"THROUGH the years, the catalog in all its various editions has kept in step with the times," Mrs. Ruth Olson, catalog order department manager, said. "Ward's first catalog, which launched the mail order business in 1872, was a single sheet. Today's two giants—the spring and summer and the fall and winter books—average 1,400 pages and are printed with scores of color pages."

Other catalogs issued by Wards include a farm book, Christmas book, travel catalog, garden book and seasonal sale books.

"We use all the books in our catalog order office," the manager said. "This literally adds 130,000 items and a variety of services to our already large merchandise assortment."

This year, more than 45 million Ward catalogs will be delivered to families throughout the United States, and many will be sent to customers in foreign lands.

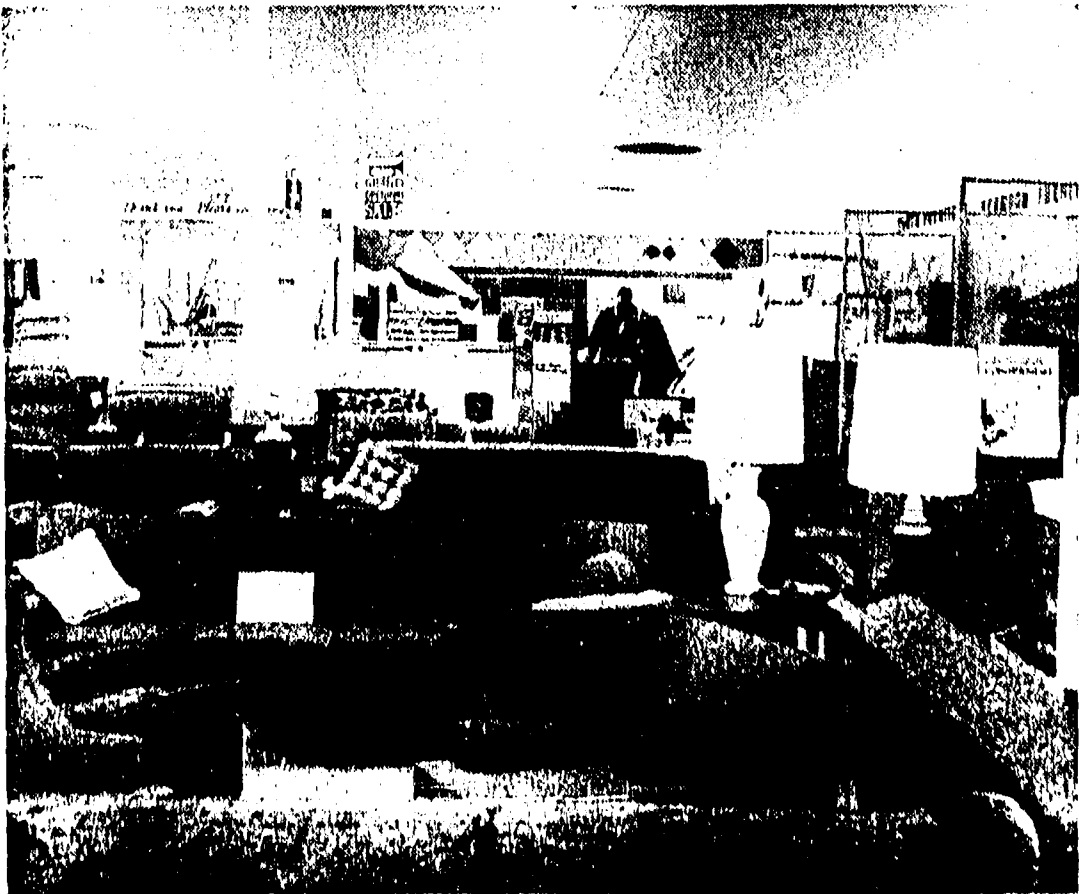

Mrs. Olson pointed out that customers don't have to come to the store to place their catalog orders. The telephone unit takes care of this, placing the customer's shopping center no further away than the telephone.

THERE ARE other conveniences at the catalog order office. For instance, special swatch books are available on the spot and featured merchandise is on display, she said.

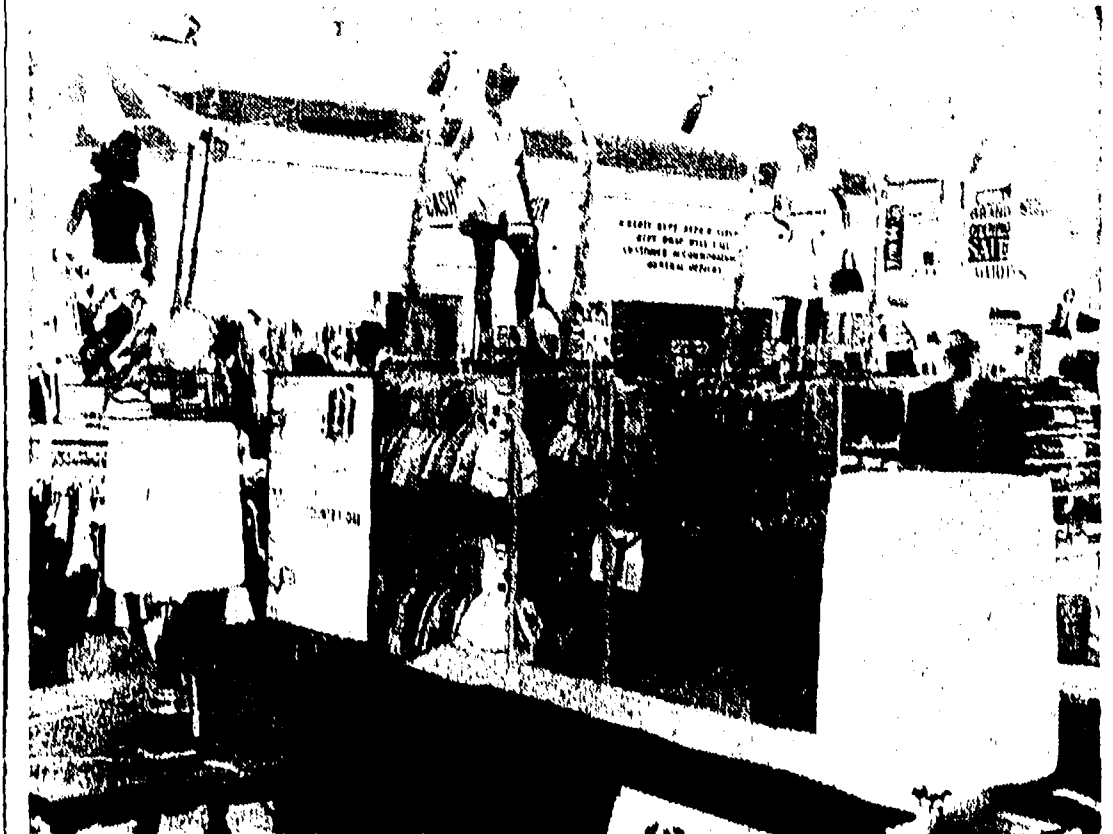

By picking up mail order merchandise at the store, customers can save postage through lowered rates on bulk shipments. If customers prefer, however, the merchandise will be shipped directly to their homes.

New fast service is a plus in mail order shopping. Most merchandise is delivered on a 48-hour basis, with three-day delivery for heavier and bulkier items, Mrs. Olson said.

Ward's mail order customers are served by nine mail order houses situated in strategic places throughout the country. Residents of the Winona area are served by the Minneapolis mail order house.

COMFORTABLE PLACE . . . This display of inviting furniture in Ward's home furnishings department makes it difficult for the shopper to resist trying out the merchandise. Furniture for every room in the house, as well as draperies and floor coverings, can be found in Ward's new Miracle Mall store. (Daily News photo)

FOR LITTLE GIRLS . . . The children's department at Wards carries everything a little girl will need to take her from the beach to the classroom—with a party or two along the way. Clerks are ready to help the shopper find what she needs in the open display racks. (Daily News photo)

Tempo Boasts Big Line: Baby Powder to Car Tires

Situated at the western end of the new Miracle Mall center, the 30,000-square-foot Tempo store offers everything from baby powder to tires.

Its self-service shelves and display racks carry clothing and shoes, sporting goods, hardware, records, office supplies, gift items, automotive supplies, gardening equipment and much more.

It has a major appliance department staffed by experienced salesmen, and another of its features is a drive-in automobile service center.

Tempo operates on a high volume, mass-merchandising concept that enables it to sell at low mark-up.

"The years we have gained in this type of mass merchandising have helped us to recognize the requirements of the city and rural populations surrounding medium-sized communities," Henry Fromell, a Gamble-Skogmo vice president, said.

"We have been members of the Winona business community for well over 35 years and are looking forward to continuing to serve our good friends in our greatly-expanded new location," Fromell said.

FASHIONS GALORE . . . Paneled walls and easy-to-use display racks make shopping simple in the well-lit women's ready-to-

BURT C. GAMBLE

Farm Boy Helped Start Big Firm

A North Dakota farm boy named Burt C. Gamble, is one of the key figures behind one of the nation's most amazing success stories.

His vision and determination helped build the Gamble-Skogmo company.

Gamble with his partner, the late W. P. Skogmo, and $8,500 in capital, eventually promoted the firm's net consolidated sales up to $174,386,286.

FROM RATHER humble beginnings, the Gamble-Skogmo organization has become one of the top five largest retail concerns in the nation.

The North Dakota executive resigned as president of the firm in April of this year, but he is still chairman and chief administrative officer of Gamble-Skogmo, Inc.

He was born March 1, 1898, at Hunter, N.D., a few miles from the town of Arthur.

When he was seven, his father, the late W. C. Gamble, moved to Arthur and, together with Fred Williams, William Simmons and J. Hollis Gale, established a bank there.

THE ELDER Gamble became a bank cashier and young Gamble became friends with Phil Skogmo, the son of the Northern Pacific Railroad agent in Arthur. Over the years, the two boys participated in many events together.

In 1914, Skogmo went to Minneapolis and spent a year taking commercial courses at a business college.

When Gamble was 17, his father died. Gamble followed his friend to Minneapolis. Skogmo had been in school about a year at the time.

After completing his course of study at business college, Skogmo went to work for a dairy supply company. A year later, when Gamble finished a course of study at a business college, Skogmo helped him find employment with the same company.

THE DUO then took different courses. Skogmo began traveling for the company, and Gamble continued work in the company office. After three years had passed, Gamble spent two years on his brother-in-law's ranch near Mahanomen.

B. C. Gamble

In the meantime, his sister had married J. R. Krafthefer at Arthur. In time Krafthefer joined the Gamble organization.

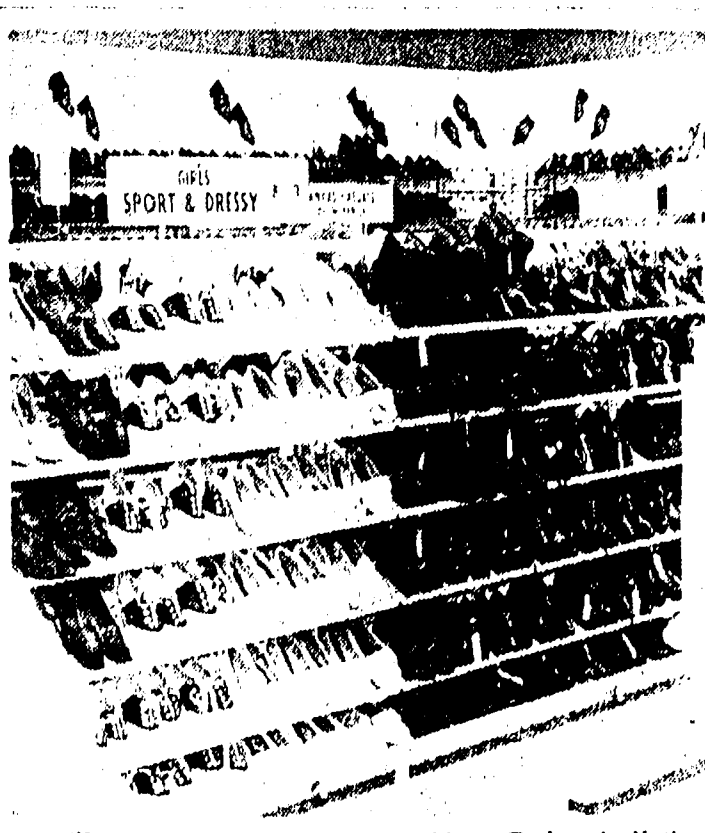

During these early years, Gamble and Skogmo had often discussed ways to form their own business. They continually discussed the possible venture. By 1920 they were ready.

They had saved some $8,500 and with their limited funds they opened under the name Skogmo and Gamble. They had acquired control of the Hudson-Essex auto agency in Fergus Falls, Minn.

A YEAR later they acquired the Dodge agency in Fergus Falls and by 1922 they had acquired the Ford agency in Fargo.

From rather humble beginnings, their success story reads like a chapter out of the great book of American opportunity. The company has continued to grow.

The name Gamble - Skogmo, Inc., is more widely known in the Midwest, but recent expansion is moving the firm westward.

SHOES FOR EVERYONE . . . Mom, Dad and all the kids can find the shoes they need at Tempo. Open display racks make it easy for shoppers to choose what they want, but clerks stand ready to help if they are needed. (Daily News photo)

President's Entire Career With Firm

Carl C. Raugust

A capacity for leadership brought Carl C. Raugust into the forefront of the Gamble-Skogmo organization, of which he was recently elected president.

His rise to the top had its beginning in retail salesmanship. Raugust's entire business life has been involved with the company he now heads.

Executive vice president for three years prior to his taking over the role of company president, he is a veteran member of management and has been a close friend and business associate of B. C. Gamble.

While Raugust serves as the company's chief, Gamble is continuing as chairman and chief executive officer of the corporation.

Raugust has a wide knowledge of merchandising and has traveled throughout the country visiting stores in the chain. He feels as much at home on the retail sales floor as he does in his eighth floor office at company headquarters in Minneapolis.

The recently-elected president began his career with the firm some 33 years ago in Fargo, N.D.

He was born 60 years ago in Emery, S.D., one of seven children of David and Katherine Raugust.

State Teacher Retirement Rule Upheld

ST. PAUL (AP) — A school board may adopt a rule requiring teachers to retire at 65 and apply it to teachers who sign contracts under the continuing contract law before its adoption.

Atty. Gen. Robert Maltson made that ruling today in answering a question from Duane Mattheis, state commissioner of education.

The attorney general added, however, that a non-contract employee serving under provisions of the veterans preference law cannot be forced to retire on the basis of age alone.

Reports on Mao's Health Disagree

TOKYO (AP) — The British government received reports over the weekend that Mao Tse-tung may have suffered a stroke, but Red Chinese officials in Peking insisted that the 71-year-old Communist party boss is in good health.

A correspondent of the Japanese news agency Kyodo said Liao Cheng-chin, a member of the Chinese Communist party's Central Committee, told him Monday: "Chairman Mao is in excellent health. I just saw him yesterday."

The correspondent said other authoritative sources in Peking told him Mao attended a party meeting Sunday and was in good health.

The British government, which has a diplomatic mission in Peking, stressed that its reports were speculative and were being treated as such.

STARS FOR MYSTERY

DUBLIN (AP) — Harry Alan Towers has assembled a raft of names to play in a movie version of the Agatha Christie mystery "Ten Little Indians" near Dublin. They include Hugh O'Brien, Dalila Lavi, Shirley Eaton, Wilfrid Hyde White, Stanley Holloway, Dennis Price and Leo Genn.

APPLIANCE DEPARTMENT . . . Anything from a transistor radio to a console stereo can be found in this section of the new appliance department in the Tempo store, where Andy Blasko, Ted Schima and

Clyde Baumann wait to serve customers. The store handles major brands of appliances and — as the sign proclaims — services all appliances it sells. (Daily News photo)

VARIETY STORE SPECIALTY . . . The complete notions department, which includes a full line of yarn and sewing supplies, is a "specialty of the house" in Gordon Lofquist's variety store in the New Miracle Mall shopping center. According to Lofquist, who is straightening his stock here, the variety store will carry smaller items not found in the other stores in the center. (Daily News photo)

Variety Store Features Low-Priced Products

Gordon Lofquist, owner of the variety store in the new Miracle Mall shopping center, isn't interested in competing with his fellow mall merchants.

He sees his store as one that complements the rest of those in the center, instead of competing with them.

COMPETITION between neighboring merchants is not for him, Lofquist says. "Life's too short for that," he asserts.

For that reason he explains, his store will offer small, low-priced items that are not found in the larger or more specialized stores in the center.

Ninety percent of his merchandise will cost less than $2, he explains. His aim, he added, is to make the variety store a place where "interesting, but inexpensive" items can be found.

One of the first merchants to contract for space in the center, Lofquist moved here from Freeport, Ill., last winter, and found himself in on the mall's development almost from the start of construction.

HE LEASED the space not knowing what he would do with it, Lofquist says, but later decided that a variety store was just what the center needed.

In line with his goal of stocking interesting, but inexpensive merchandise, Lofquist has taken on a item that is undeniably inexpensive—and will certainly be found interesting by children that visit the center. He's selling penny candy.

There's not much profit in it, Lofquist explains with a smile, but children love it.

Other specialties in the store, Lofquist points out, include a complete line of Rust-Craft cards and a fully-stocked notions department.

THE CARDS are different from those carried by other stores in the mall, Lofquist says, which will give shoppers a variety of cards from which to choose.

There would be no point in duplicating what another store already carries, Lofquist points out.

Another complementary line is that carried in the notions department. It includes yarn and sewing supplies.
