2 Recovered After 62 Space Orbits

Reds Get Bombed Bridges Repaired

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist North Viet Nam has been able to get certain key bridges back into use only weeks after they were blasted by U.S. bombers, the Defense Department disclosed today.

Working both day and night, the Reds have thrown temporary wooden sections across gaps torn in steel and concrete bridges by tons of high explosives.

These repairs, sources said, enable the Communists to resume limited movements of men and supplies across some critical bridges which the Pentagon previously had declared impassable.

"The bridges were reattacked to remove any possibility of use," the Defense Department told The Associated Press in explaining why Air Force and Navy jets had returned again and again to such targets. The Pentagon defended U.S. pilots against suggestions that their bombing accuracy might be below standard.

"Generally, the bombing accuracy of the pilots has been exceptional," the department said.

Despite the ability of the Communists to restore at least limited use to vital bridges, the Defense Department said there had been no change in the policy under which U.S. pilots are instructed to hit only one span of a bridge, rather than trying to dump the entire bridge into a river.

Young College Grad Sought in Triple Slaying

SALINA, Kan. (AP) — A young Kansas farm boy, fresh out of college and reportedly looking for a job, is sought in a wide manhunt today on a federal charge of robbing a Nebraska bank in which three persons were shot and killed and a fourth was wounded.

Duane Pope, 22, whose parents live on a farm 30 miles southeast of here near Roxbury, Kan., is named in an FBI warrant charging robbery of the Farmers State Bank of Big Springs, Neb., and wounding Franklin Kjeldgaard, 25, an assistant cashier. Kjeldgaard is in serious condition at a hospital in Denver.

Killed in the holdup which netted the gunman about $1,500 last Friday were Andreas Kjeldgaard, 77, president of the bank and uncle of the wounded man; cashier Glenn Hendrickson, 59, and Lois Ann Hothan, 35, the bookkeeper. There is no federal statute covering a fatal shooting.

R. E. Richards, Duell County, Neb., attorney, said he would file charges of first-degree murder and bank robbery against Pope today.

Authorities at Big Springs said Franklin Kjeldgaard described the bandit as well dressed, about 35 years old, and with crew-cut hair. He said the man entered the bank about 12:30 p.m. Friday when no customers were present.

Richards said the bandit ordered the elder Kjeldgaard and the three bank employees to lie face down on the floor. They offered no resistance, Richards said, and the bandit took money from the cash drawers then went to the vault but a safe inside it was locked.

Kjeldgaard said his uncle was shot first. He could not say who was killed next. Each of the four was shot twice.

Sheriff Floyd

Other weekend victims: Roger Rieffer, Elmore, and Kenneth Davis, Delavan, both 18; killed when a car rolled over late Saturday near Blue Earth. Four other teen-agers were injured. Officers were checking reports the vehicle was traveling 100 miles per hour.

Darrell Meier, 29, Worthington; killed in a car-truck crash early Sunday at Rushmore. William Richards, 36, of Rapid City, S.D., the truck driver, was hospitalized.

Miss Mary Kimball, 60, Minneapolis, home economist for the Pillsbury Co., killed when her car was hit broadside at a St. Paul intersection about 6 p.m. Saturday.

Vicki Lynn Clott, 5, La Crosse, Wis., killed when she was hit by a car in Dresbach, Minn., Saturday.

Larry G. Ellingsen, 21, of Rothsay, Minn., died Sunday of injuries suffered when his motorcycle and a car collided in Fargo, N.D., last Thursday.

Charles W. Meyer, 21, St. Paul, was killed at a truck rest stop at Bainville, Mont., Saturday night when his semi-trailer rig tipped over as he and two others tried to winch it out of a mudhole. The grain truck was owned by Chadbourn Trucking Co., Detroit Lakes.

Pope came for the car at 8 a.m. Thursday but had a lapsed driver's license. Martin said a call to the highway patrol confirmed that a new license had been issued for the youth.

He drove away about 9 a.m., Martin said, saying he would return Friday morning.

When Martin returned from a business trip about 12:30 a.m. Saturday, he found a note from an employee saying the rented car had not been returned.

"I'd been listening to the radio about the robbery and killings," Martin said. "I got to thinking about that car I'd rented and it suddenly dawned on me that the one they were after was similar to the one I had rented."

Martin telephoned Salina police. About two hours later a patrolman found the missing car parked in front of the rental agency.

Last Marines Quit Dominicans

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The last of the U.S. Marines sent here at the height of the Dominican revolt were sailing toward Camp Lejeune, N.C., today.

The United States still has 12,500 airborne troops and 700 Air Force men in the Dominican Republic. They are part of the inter-American peace force which also consists of 1,560 troops from Brazil, Costa Rica, Honduras and Nicaragua.

A floating battalion of about 1,800 Marines is remaining in the Caribbean on regular duty. U.S. troops in the Dominican Republic totaled 23,000 at the height of the crisis.

Brig. Gen. John B. Bouker, commander of the 6,000-man Marine expeditionary force, was decorated with the Legion of Merit by Lt. Gen. Bruce Palmer, commander of U.S. forces in the Dominican Republic.

Bouker flew to Camp Lejeune Sunday while his troops left by ship. He said on arrival at the camp that nine of his men had been killed in action and 30 others wounded since their landing April 28. Sixty-three other Marines, including two killed, were nonbattle casualties, he said.

Nine paratroopers and two Navy men also have been killed. Bouker said his men used only small-arms fire to answer snipers although they had artillery, tanks and mortars along.

"I think we demonstrated to the world that we can react rapidly with regular forces in the Caribbean area, and that we are determined to use these forces when necessary," he said.

The landing was the first by U.S. troops in Latin America since the Marine occupation of neighboring Haiti ended in 1934.

St. Paul Girl Wins Title of Miss Minnesota

ST. PAUL (AP) — The twinkling toes of Jeanne Marie Ruth have danced her into the Miss Minnesota title and out of the dance school business.

Jeanne, 18, was crowned Saturday night in Rochester to represent the state in the Miss American pageant in Atlantic City next September.

Until then, she says, she'll be so busy being Miss Minnesota that she will close down her dance studio and postpone plans to enter the College of St. Catherine.

The 5 feet 7½ inch brunette did a dance interpretation from West Side Story that won the judges' fancy and won the swimsuit competition en route to her title. Jeanne graduated from St. Joseph's Academy only a week ago and was representing St. Paul in the state competition.

"That," grinned her happy father, George Ruth, "is about the biggest thing that's happened around here in 30 years."

Back home Sunday, Jeanne said she was happy but tired. "I'm tired, too," said her mother. "We had only about two hours sleep Saturday night."

Mr. and Mrs. Ruth have another daughter, Gail, 14, and two sons, George Jr., 25, and Joe, 11. First and second runnersup in the pageant were Karen Kay Steffenson of West St. Paul and Carole Joyce Ogee of Mankato. Suzanne Hill, Bloomington, was named Miss Congeniality.

Jeanne succeeds Barbara Hasselborg of Bloomington as Miss Minnesota.

Copter Picks Up Pair After 'Splashdown'

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Astronauts James McDivitt and Edward White II and their Gemini 4 spacecraft splashed safely into the Atlantic Ocean after their record four-day space flight today and were swiftly picked up by a helicopter.

Both astronauts reported they were in good condition after their 87-hour, 57-minute endurance flight during which they set an American man-in-space record and White took a walk in space.

They also reported they were hungry. Gemini 4 plunged into the sea at 12:13 p.m. EST about 390 miles east of Cape Kennedy — where the spacemen started their historic journey last Thursday.

Within minutes both a search helicopter and plane were overhead. They reported the capsule in good condition and floating well.

The landing was about 40 miles short of the planned landing point — and about 48 miles from the main recovery ship, the aircraft carrier Wasp.

A helicopter dispatched from the Wasp picked up McDivitt and White about 12:47 p.m. and carried them to the Wasp. The copter was piloted by Navy Cmdr. Clarence O. Fisk.

Before the astronauts left the capsule, frogmen secured it with a floatation collar. The swimmers had dropped from the helicopter with a raft.

Before leaving the spacecraft each astronaut took a blood-pressure reading for the medical records.

Then they opened the right spacecraft hatch and climbed into the huge raft. A helicopter plucked them from the ocean on a 30-foot hoist with a harness-like attachment.

At the time of pickup the Wasp had steamed to within 32 miles of the landing point. The helicopter pilot reported the astronauts were in good shape and in high spirits.

In the Mission Control Center in Houston, mission director Chris Kraft lit his traditional victory cigar.

The 7,600-pound spacecraft splashed into the sea at 12:13 p.m. (EST) after a near-perfect re-entry through the earth's atmosphere. The landing point was about 400 miles east of Cape Kennedy, Fla. — from which McDivitt and White started their historic journey last Thursday.

The craft plunged into the sea only five miles from a helicopter that had been dispatched from the deck of the main recovery ship, the aircraft carrier Wasp.

The Wasp was about 46 miles from Gemini 4, steaming toward it for a pickup.

McDivitt and White reported that "everything is okay" after the landing.

The word was relayed to a search airplane which was on the scene within minutes. The word was relayed to the Wasp for transmission to mission control center in Houston.

The astronauts requested by radio that they be picked up by helicopter rather than waiting for the ship to pull alongside.

Refined landing data showed the spacecraft landed 390 miles east of Cape Kennedy and 230 miles north of Bahamian island of San Salvador.

A faulty computer had forced McDivitt and White to alter their re-entry plans. Without the computer they could make accurate but not precise calculations of spacecraft maneuvers. So it was decided to fly in at a steeper angle to provide a good prediction on the landing point, based on the time the reverse rockets were fired.

Throughout the re-entry, with the astronauts riding backward, Gemini 4 rolled slowly over and over about once every 12 seconds.

Five minutes after the retro-rockets fired, the spacecraft zipped into a radio blackout period high above the Gulf of Mexico.

The brief blackout occurs during the hottest period of re-entry when an electrified sheath envelops the capsule and blocks off communications.

The four retro-rockets slowed the speed of the 7,600-pound spacecraft by about 200 miles — to about 17,200 miles an hour. This permitted gravity to take a grip on the vehicle and pull it swiftly back toward earth.

Earlier during the 62nd and final orbit, command pilot McDivitt turned the Gemini 4 around 180 degrees so its blunt heat shield would protect the astronauts from the searing re-entry heat. A fireball with temperatures estimated at 3,000 degrees built up in front of the descending spacecraft.

Twelve minutes before re-entry, high above Hawaii, McDivitt fired jet thrusters to drop the low point of his orbital path to about 51 miles.

Purpose of the maneuver was to assure that gravity and atmospheric friction would pull the craft back to earth even if the braking rockets failed.

Neither the prolonged period in their cramped capsule, nor an accumulation of debris, nor even a contrary computer switch seemed to dull the good spirits of the space twins.

The spacecraft's computer switch went haywire during the 48th orbit.

It meant that ground controllers rather than the pilot would have to perform, somewhat less precisely, a pre-re-entry maneuver — but flight director Christopher Kraft assured "it has absolutely no effect on the safety of the flight."

CALL FOR IKE, MAMIE

Old West Point Grads Celebrate

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Affectionate calls for Ike and Mamie were heard Sunday night as West Point's illustrious class of 1915 let down its hair at a banquet, a high spot of its golden anniversary reunion.

Today was given over to the formalities — the traditional march of the alumni, that long gray line, and the review of the Corps of Cadets.

Sunday night was a time for reminiscing and relaxing in the company of old friends, with former President and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower prominent in the group.

Eisenhower, Gen. Omar N. Bradley and other members of the "class the stars fell on" were the guests of their honorary classmate, Manhattan restaurateur Eugene Leone, at his Central Valley farm 10 miles from the U.S. Military Academy. The class got its nickname because 59 of its 164 members became generals.

Under a giant canopy, the old generals and colonels talked of their graduation 50 years ago. They chatted also about another anniversary — D-Day 21 years ago Sunday — which played so prominent a role in so many of their careers.

Eisenhower, supreme Allied commander for the World War II invasion of Normandy, said his first conscious thought upon arising Sunday was of D-Day.

"I never can forget that day," he said.

Strolling musicians serenaded the Eisenhower who joined the singing.

Dakota Man Gets Snake With 11 Rattles

DAKOTA, Minn. (Special) — A Dakota resident almost got "stung" by a poisonous variety of the reportedly 3,000 kinds of snakes at Southwind Orchard last week.

Snakes are said to be lizards minus legs to allow them to slither about faster. Daryl Voss, employed at Southwind, heard the familiar hiss-like rattle when he entered a machine shed late Tuesday but couldn't believe a rattlesnake would be down in the valley so early in the season.

HOWEVER, it was 83 degrees and humid, and there was the diamond back, coiled and ready to pounce. "Holy cow," he exclaimed, and dashed for a three-time pitchfork.

He stabbed it in the head. Several hours later its fangs were continuing to dart from its mouth. Diamondbacks, say the folks familiar with them, die a long death: the reflex action continues for some time.

Diamondback rattlesnakes aren't unusual in Dakota Valley. They come down from the rock ledges atop the bluffs on either side, when they are through sunning themselves, to get rodents, birds, bird eggs, lizards, and anything available, including chicken, duck and goose eggs.

Rarely do they enter farm buildings for eggs but some farmers have found them in henhouse nests. They don't eat the shells—just crush one end and suck the contents.

Rodents are killed by injecting them with venom through the mouth fangs. Rattlesnakes are said to use several methods of finding food, but most often it is the heat detectors or nerves in the pit of the mouth that tell them when they are near warm blooded animals. This doesn't include humans—the rattler strikes at a person out of fear and self-preservation.

The rattle, which has been described as sounding like bacon crackling, is their warning. Snakes can't live long without food if the water supply is limited, hence their migration from bluffs to valleys where they find streams. The rocks on which they like to sun absorb heat from them, producing thirst. There's an antidote for rattlers in Minnesota, however. An adage says, "Where bullsnakes live, rattlesnakes don't remain long." The bullsnake, also having a hiss and soft rattle sometimes confused with the diamondback, kills gophers, too, which is good. Gophers tunnel underground for living quarters, creating erosion.

Allowed to live out their natural span, rattlesnakes sometimes reach age 17. The one Voss found measured 48½ inches and had 11 rattles. Rattlesnake hunters like to find a den of them, carrying young, because they get bounty for not only the mothers but their young as well.

There'll be new terrain for hunting in the Dakota area because of the rock uncovered in building 1-90. The hunters have already been out but will have more luck later in the season.

Milwaukee Road Tells Flood Story

A pamphlet distributed by the Milwaukee Road tells the story of the railroad's fight against the flood in the Mississippi Valley — "the worst . . . in the Milwaukee's 115-year history." Full service was interrupted in the area from April 9, when high water caused shutdowns in St. Paul, until May 10, when rails began to appear above the water again in Davenport, Iowa, the pamphlet points out.

The last Milwaukee Road train to run through Winona before the flood left in Mid-April, when all locomotives and cars were moved to higher tracks in La Crosse. Service resumed here April 27.

Wisdom Without Insight Useless, Class Advised

The importance of insight, as well as wisdom, in the development of the whole person was emphasized for members of the 1965 graduating class at Winona Senior High School Sunday by the Rev. Harold Rekstad, pastor of First Congregational Church, in an address at baccalaureate services at Senior High School auditorium.

The approximately 340 seniors who attended Sunday's baccalaureate service will receive diplomas Tuesday evening at annual spring commencement exercises at Jefferson Stadium.

Rev. Rekstad Sunday urged graduating seniors to an awareness "that there is a very important dimension of life other than education, or knowledge. We desire, very avidly, to remind you of the moral and spiritual dimensions of life. Education is important but, no matter how much of it you get, if you lack moral and spiritual insight you will be like a person trying to walk around with one leg."

A SUCCESSFUL teacher, he continued, knows that he is most successful when he arouses the mind of a student, stirs it to think, "to comprehend, to gain insight to the knowledge he seeks to impart."

The speaker recalled an instance a year ago when he was informed by an attorney friend that he had employed in his office a law school student who was graduated with highest honors, then later learned that the young man had to be discharged because "He had a thorough knowledge of the law, said my friend, but he did not know how to make practical application of the law. He had no insight into the meaning of the law and that's the difference between wisdom and insight, between knowledge and understanding."

Considering the consequences of having wisdom without insight, Rev. Rekstad referred to recent remarks by Secretary of the Interior Stuart Udall on waste of natural resources.

"THE SIGNIFICANT fact he made so clear is that while we are intellectually brilliant enough to split the atom, to venture into outer space, to probe the moon, to put a communication satellite into outer space, we haven't the intelligence to conserve the beauty and resources of the earth upon which we live."

He urged the class "to not only know yourself, but also understand yourself. If you know all of the chemical elements that make up your body, and if you know all of these other things about yourself, if you do not know that you are more than flesh and blood; that you are a living soul; that you were made in the image of God; that, as the Psalmist said, you were made but a little lower than the angels, you do not understand the true nature of yourself."

It is the spiritual aspect of nature, he said that distinguishes you from the animal. "We all have animal appetites but we also have spiritual hungers."

Again recalling Sec. Udall's comments on natural resources, Rev. Rekstad observed, "The air above our cities is being polluted by smoke and smog and grime. Our countryside is being made ugly by automobile home yards, beer cans and litter along the roads."

"WE NEED to be concerned about this, but we need to be concerned even more about the pollution of human life that follows inevitably when men know only what they want, rather than what they are."

He said that as friends and relatives of the graduating class, "We want you to have a long and happy life on this earth. You will have all this if you will get knowledge, all you can get of it. But still more important, get understanding, insight! Know what you are and what you want, but more than this, know who you are: A child of the living God, made in his image, with a soul deserving of the love and respect of every living being."

The invocation and benediction were pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Harold J. Dittman, rector of Cathedral of the Sacred Heart, and the scripture reading was given by the Rev. O. S. Monson, pastor of Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Wallet Stolen From Home in Goodview

A Goodview man reported Sunday that his wallet with $70 in cash was taken from his pants pocket while he slept Saturday night at his home, Sheriff George L. Port said today.

The pants were draped over a chair in the living room of his home, A. J. Vatter, 4145 7th St., Goodview, reported. Someone entered his home and filched the wallet from his pants pocket after he had gone to bed in an adjoining room, Vatter told the sheriff.

The money was in these denominations: Two twenties, one ten, two fives and a number of ones. He lost about $70 in the billfold Vatter estimated. Vatter reported the incident Sunday at 10 a.m. after searching his house and yard for the missing billfold.

SUMMER SCHOOL

LEWISTON, Minn. (Special) — Registration for summer classes at Lewiston High School should be made Thursday between 10-11 a.m. and 1-2 p.m. All students previously signing a survey sheet and all others interested must register during these hours. Classes offered will be elementary and secondary reading, driver training, beginner typing, music lessons and four swimming classes.

When a survey was made, Brom testified, Brom said he saw where the stakes were placed when the survey was made of the lot which included his home and those of the Stolpas and Doeberths.

The presently disputed fence was put up about 18 months ago, Brom testified. Many years before there had been a similar fence there, which had been torn down, he said. He could not say whether the two fences had been built in the same place, however, the street commissioner added.

Challen's motion to allow a deposition to be taken from a hospitalized surveyor was denied by Judge Hatfield. The judge determined by questioning Challen that there was no certainty the surveyor could testify about the particular survey made on the disputed land.

New Cars Damaged in Indoor Romp

A game of indoor bumper tag played at the Owl Motor Co. warehouse Sunday afternoon by five boys ranging in age down to 7 years highlighted a weekend of vandalism in Winona. Police Chief James W. McCabe said today.

A neighbor to the warehouse, whose address is being withheld by the company, reported the sounds of vandalism to police Sunday at 4:02 p.m.

Patron John R. Holubar and Paul G. Michalowski were sent to investigate and apprehended the five juveniles responsible about 5:30 p.m. Their ages ranged upwards from 7 years old.

DAMAGE WAS estimated at between $800 and $1,000. Four new cars were driven around inside the warehouse, and some collisions had occurred before police put a stop to the game.

Vandals destroyed a picnic table and smashed a garbage can on Prairie Island Friday night, the caretaker reported to police Saturday morning. No damage estimate was given. The vandalism occurred at McConnon Pavilion.

Alvin Behrens, Estherville, Iowa, told police that someone shot a bb through the windshield of his car Sunday afternoon while the vehicle was parked in the Watkins Products lot, 3rd and Liberty streets.

Behrens did not give a damage estimate, according to Chief McCabe. The Iowa man said that he returned to his car at 4:19 p.m. to find the damage after having been gone about half an hour.

MRS. CARL Pickard, 527 1/2 E. 4th St., reported the theft of a toy fire truck worth $16 from the front yard of her home Saturday at 11:30 p.m.

She told police that a car stopped in front of their home about that time, and someone got out to pick up the toy. The unidentified "thief" got back into the car with the fire truck, and the car drove off.

2 Building Permits Issued in Goodview

Two building permits were issued in Goodview last week — one for a dwelling and one for a commercial structure — according to Village Clerk Henry C. Elmcke.

Earl R. Boller Jr., 1135 44th Ave., drew a permit for a frame house and unfurnished garage, to be built at 865 48th Ave. Estimated value is $11,000.

Howard L. Keller, a contractor with offices at 4520 6th St., was granted a permit to build a structural steel and concrete warehouse on his firm's land. Estimated value is $6,500.

Reads Landing Breakin Probed

WABASHA, Minn. (Special) — Wabasha County sheriff's department is investigating a break-in at Riverside Cafe, Reads Landing, occurring between midnight Friday, when proprietor Julius Burrichter closed up, and 9-40 a.m. Saturday when a customer called for a six-pack of beer.

Missing were 10 six packs, $65 in cash, $17.50 in checks, a gold watch lying on the backbar, peanuts and sausages. No fishing tackle or candy from the supply was gone.

Hearing Asked On Check Charge

A Winona man charged with cashing 18 bad checks during a one-month period last winter asked today for a preliminary hearing on the charge in municipal court.

Jack W. Ford, 29, 813 E. Mark St., appeared with his court-appointed attorney, Roger T. Poole, Lewiston, to ask for a hearing in municipal court on the felony charge against him.

Judge John D. McGill set the date of hearing for June 16 at 9:30 a.m. County Attorney S. A. Sawyer represents the state in the case.

Ford is charged with cashing checks ranging in value from $8 to $46.21 with 17 separate Winona businesses and one Winona individual between Dec. 3, 1964, and Jan. 3, 1965. The total of the alleged bad checks is $298.42.

Ford was arrested May 24 at 4 p.m. at his home after having been absent from the city for several months. He remains in county jail today in lieu of $1,000 bond set by Judge McGill.

District Court Judge Hears Boundary Case

A motion to dismiss was denied after the plaintiff rested his case today in District Court in a Winona boundary dispute being tried before Judge Arnold Hatfield without a jury.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Stolpa Sr., 509 Mill St., brought suit for a court order directing their next-door neighbors to remove "buildings" allegedly encroaching on the property line between them.

The neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Leland J. Doeberth, 511 Mill St., claim that they and their predecessors in ownership of the disputed land have held adverse possession for more than 15 years.

THE DOEBERTHS have also brought a counter-claim for $1,000 damages allegedly suffered because the Stolpas' suit prevented them from selling the property or from renting it during two months.

Stolpa and Arthur L. Brom, 701 Olmstead St., another neighbor and also Winona Street Commissioner, were the only witnesses for the plaintiffs, represented by Attorney Dennis A. Challen.

When their testimony was in and Challen had rested the Stolpas' case, Attorney C. Stanley McMahon, representing the Doeberths, moved for dismissal. However, Judge Hatfield questioned him concerning the Doeberths' counter-claim for damages.

He could not make any ruling on the counter-claim without hearing evidence from the Doeberths, the judge indicated. He accordingly denied the motion to dismiss and recessed the case until today at 2 p.m.

STOLPA HAD testified concerning a survey made of the boundary between his property and the Doeberths. He said that he saw marker stakes which clearly showed a fence built by the Doeberths was actually on his property.

Pictures of the fence were introduced in evidence. It consists of wooden posts with a wide wire mesh strung between. This was the only "structure" referred to in plaintiffs' testimony, with the exception of a set of steps.

Brom testified that he had lived around the corner from the Stolpas for 15 years. He was unable to buy his home un-

None Injured In Weekend Traffic Crashes

Two weekend collisions, one a hit-run, caused $285 damage on Winona streets, police reported today. No injuries resulted.

Michael W. Krage, 19, Dakota, was driving west on Broadway and Leonard C. Roselle, 960 44th Ave., Goodview, was driving east when Roselle attempted to make a left turn in front of Krage, north onto South Baker Street.

The hit-run collision occurred Sunday at about 4:30 p.m. in Woodlawn Cemetery, 150 feet south of Lake Blvd.

Pair Escape as Boathouse, Tug Wedge Under Bridge

A Winona boathouse owner and a Trempealeau, Wis., salvage man were counting their blessings today after the still powerful Mississippi current swept their boats into the Chicago & North Western Railway bridge on North Channel Sunday afternoon.

Karl P. Grabner, 226 Pelzer St., the owner of the boathouse, had made two unsuccessful attempts last week to tow his boathouse from Prairie Island to his cottage on the Wisconsin side of the river.

The river's swift current had thwarted attempts to tow the boathouse over with boats using outboard motors.

GRABNER SAID today that he decided to hire Dan Finucane, Trempealeau, Wis., of the Galesville Salvage and Towing Service. Finucane owned a tug which, it was thought, could match the Mississippi's current.

Setting out Sunday about 3 p.m., Grabner and Finucane found the current pushing them inexorably towards the railway bridge. First the boathouse, then the tug became wedged underneath the bridge, Grabner said today.

The pressure quickly reduced Grabner's wood and aluminum boathouse to kindling. Then Grabner saw the wheelhouse on the tug beginning to crack. He and Finucane had been working furiously to cut the tug loose from the splintering boathouse, but to no avail.

When he saw the wheelhouse going, Grabner said, he leaped on top of it and made two leaps at the railroad bridge, trying to save himself. On the third try, "I grabbed on by about three fingers and pulled myself up."

GRABNER looked down to see Finucane toss a life preserver into the water and jump in after it. At that moment, the wheelhouse toppled over into the river — on top of Finucane.

"Are you all right. Are you all right," Grabner called to Finucane. There was no answer and Finucane was nowhere to be seen. Grabner was about to dive in after the salvage man when his head bobbed to the surface.

"I'm all right. Are you OK?" Finucane shouted. By this time, Grabner recounted, "about 15" small boats had converged on the area to bring Grabner down from his perch and Finucane out of the water.

Grabner estimates his loss at $750. Finucane did not estimate his loss on the tug. The wheelhouse, with its radio equipment was shattered. The battered hull was taken under two by one of the small boats and tied up on the Minnesota side, Grabner said.

"I GUESS God must have been with us," Grabner said today. He referred to the fact that Finucane and he escaped without injury from the wreckage of their vessels and to the additional fact that he had taken his 10-year-old son off the boathouse before the ill-fated tow operation began — just to be on the safe side.

Grabner said his boathouse was about the size of a two-car garage. He lost fishing tackle in it, in addition to the materials from which it was constructed.

Factory Worker Bruises Hand

An employee of Fiberite Corp., 516 W. 4th St., was under sedation at her home today after receiving a bruised hand in an accident with a machine about 10:30 a.m.

Mrs. Shirley Rinn, 202 E. Howard St., had her hand pinched in the machine. An ambulance was called; but, when it did not come immediately, a fellow employee drove her to a clinic where she was treated and released.

According to a company spokesman, Mrs. Rinn "must have looked around" while operating her machine. No bones were broken and a small cut was the only injury in addition to bruises, the spokesman said. The spokesman did not identify the kind of machine Mrs. Rinn operates.

1st District Legion Elects Two Winonans

Two Winonans were elected to positions at the 1st District American Legion convention, which was held in Glenville over the weekend.

David Morse, 719 E. King St., was re-elected district chaplain, while Adolph Bremer, Sugar Loaf, was named an alternate delegate to the national American Legion convention, to be held in August in Portland, Ore.

Bremer, who is Daily and Sunday News city editor, was also endorsed for membership in the Legion's national publications board.

At a caucus of delegates from Winona County posts, James Donahue, Pickwick, was named new county commander. He succeeds James O'Brien, St. Charles.

Making its debut at the district convention was a Bavarian band from Winona's Leon J. Wetzel Legion post. The group uses antique Bavarian signal trumpets owned by Sylvester Verkins, 876 W. Wabasha St.

Lyle J. Haney, post commander and a member of the band, said the group may play here during the Steamboat Days celebration.

At least 12 Winona Legionnaires, plus auxiliary members, were in Glenville for the convention, Haney said. There were eight delegates from the post here.

They heard Sen. Walter Mondale, Minnesota Democrat, address a convention session Friday night.

Station Wagon, Truck Collide At Lake City

LAKE CITY, Minn. — No one was injured in the collision of a late model station wagon and a 1961 3-ton dump truck just up-river from the overhead bridge at the south end of Lake City Friday at 6:40 p.m.

Raymond Anthony Eichman, 37, 828 E. Sanborn St., Winona, accompanied by Elmer Bruggar, 40, 310 Zumbro St., Winona, were en route home from St. Paul when the truck, driven by Harold O'Brien, Lake City, left a filling station on the Lake Pepin side of TH 61 and started across the street.

The station wagon slammed into the side of the truck. Ted Wiel of the Highway Patrol estimated damage to the front of the station wagon at between $300 and $400. Some damage was done to the right running board and gas tank on the truck. A citation was issued for failing to yield right of way. The station wagon was towed back to Winona.

It Happened Last Night No Russian Gags About Lady Bird

By EARL WILSON

MOSCOW — On a trip I made here with about 150 Americans, who came from Texas to Tennessee, and Denver to Dallas, and New Jersey and New York, I found the Soviet sense of humor remaining very good under the New Two — "K & B" — Kossygin and Brezhnev — though I didn't find any comedians brave enough to be making jokes about either of them yet.

Our "trippers," Hollywoodians, Chicagoans, Pennsylvanians and all that, knew some Russian, and they didn't hear any jokes about the Kossygin's ranch or Mrs. Brezhnev's name being Ladybird or about the lights being turned off in the Kremlin, or "the Red House," as they call it here. The trend today is away from the "cult of personality" emphasis that Russia had under Mr. K.

Khrushchev seems to be living comfortably in a dacha — sort of a suburban or country home — and though he's not under arrest, he's not likely to try to go far. And somebody saw Bulganin strolling past the Kremlin one day recently, unrecognized by the average Russians. "K & B" aren't out guzzling it up like Bulganin and Khrushchev were when they came to power. But the Russians are still a thirsty lot.

A BIG VODKA party given by Petrocelli Clothes after its men's fashion show at the Sovetskaya hotel was a drinking stampede. After about the fourth vodka, my Beautiful Wife lifted her glass and announced: "Any country that invented vodka can't be all bad."

The Russians shrieked with laughter and repeated it around the three big rooms. A woman named Roza, head of the women's fashion magazine, had her arm around my B.W., whose name is Rosemary.

"Roza, Roza, Roza!" she was saying to Rosemary. They exchanged addresses and promised to become pen pals (just like at American cocktail parties).

OVER NEAR the vodka table, Moscow Vice Mayor Basil Isaeb, a friendly, fortyish fellow in a neat one-button blue-gray suit with matching tie, was entranced as clothier Lenny Robbins of Santa Ana, Cal., was telling him about "buying wholesale."

"The Vice Mayor wants to move to America so he can buy wholesale!" Robbins announced. The satire magazine, Crocodile, recently pointed a finger at drinking by the so-called "specialists."

A cartoon showed a janitor drunk and passed out on the floor beside a wine barrel. A commissar said, "We must fire him."

"Oh, no, specialists like him are not easy to get, protested a fellow commissar.

YOU DO SEE staggering drunks here in some numbers. It's surprising to behold one lurching across a hotel lobby with nobody seeming to do anything about it.

The spying police are the target of satirists, just as they were in 1955. A cartoon shows a little boy playing with trains. Two scowling cops are contemplating this sight — a small boy with trains — with glowers that are increasingly menacing. "Don't you think," one cop says to his partner, "it looks suspicious?"

Guess I could have written a book about Russia except I was here too long to write a book... five days!

Disappearance Of Strike Seen

The strike as a weapon in industrial conflict will eventually disappear, according to a report in the spring issue of Business Topics, a publication of Michigan State University's bureau of business and economic research.

Dr. J. H. Foegen, associate professor of business administration at Winona State College, says:

"Changes in the labor force, in the technology of production, and in the vitality of public opinion are contributing to its (the strike) decline."

It is unlikely, Dr. Foegen says, that strikes will vanish suddenly.

"However, regardless of its history," he notes, "and despite its continuing presence, much evidence currently points to its eventual elimination."

The growing number of government employees, who are forbidden to strike, contribute to the trend," according to Dr. Foegen. "The expansion of the unorganized white collar group, and the increased number of women workers, who are secondary breadwinners, are also factors."

Automation, Dr. Foegen says, will reduce the size of certain work forces and minimize the impact of some strikes.

The new technique of "continuous bargaining," Dr. Foegen notes, may become widespread, replacing the infrequent tension-marked contract negotiations.

Public opinion, Dr. Foegen reports, is bringing pressure on strikes by the insistence of government involvement.

"Although the public is organized very loosely, if at all," Dr. Foegen reports, "and although its tolerance of abuse and inconvenience seems to be very high, nevertheless it is logical to expect that it is infinitely tolerant. As the public becomes more irritated at getting involved—through no fault of its own—in the squabbles of labor and management, it seems bound to curb strikes in some way, if for no other reason than self-defense."

Head Start Helps In School Success

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
University of Southern California

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of articles on how to help your child get off to a flying start this summer on next fall's school problems.)

In just three months, 53 million American school children will be facing up once more to the challenge of grasping new ideas and mastering new skills in the nation's classrooms.

For each pupil, whether in kindergarten or in high school, it will be a new start on education. Each should have an equal chance. But not all will get it.

They will lag behind their fellows because they are not ready to learn. Starting behind, they will seldom be able to catch up.

Success in school depends heavily, of course, on whether a youngster is able to acquire knowledge readily. In my experience, he is much better able to do this if he has a head start on the skills he is going to need.

BEGINNERS should be ready for school the first day. Lagging students in more advanced grades should start off next fall on a more successful tack.

The slow starter, the slow reader and the shy child all need help, and summer is an ideal time to provide it.

During the regular school year a backward pupil, advised to catch up and get ahead, is likely to look at you in disbelief. He cannot conceive even of drawing abreast of his classmates, let alone of passing them.

In summer, the situation is different. The pupil doesn't have to worry about keeping up with his class. He is willing, although during the school year this might be for him a revolutionary idea.

There are a number of things that parents can do about the situation.

Lights Planned In Dakota Area

DAKOTA, Minn. (Special) — Charles E. Burrill, district highway engineer, has informed the village council that eventually lights will be installed at the interchange ramps on I-90 and CSAH 12.

He said the contract for fencing along I-90 and CSAH 12 and 16 will be let later this summer.

The council granted building permits to: Mrs. Bertha Vanderveer, garage 14 by 24 feet; Rudy Gile, contractor; Ronald Straight, addition to the Mrs. George Tibbets home he purchased last year, 12 by 18 or 20 feet; and Robert Kemp, cottage addition 12 by 14 feet.

Mayor LeRoy Witt said John Terpstra, La Crosse, is tearing down a coal shed on railroad property because he's no longer in the coal and milling business.

Midway Club and Dakota Tavern were granted on- and off-sale liquor and malt beverage licenses; Jergie's Tavern, on- and off-sale malt beverage license, and Pappanuss store, off-sale malt beverage.

The council decided to survey residents on needed street improvements. Next regular meeting is July 7.

DEAR ABBY:

This Is Not a Company Problem

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have always been able to handle my own problems fairly well, but now I don't know which way to turn. I guess I could be described as a moderately attractive, middle-aged wife and mother who is married to an attractive, hard-working man who has worked his way up in the business world. He has an executive sales position with a large, well-known firm which has hundreds of men on the road. My husband also is on the road much of the time, but lately it seems that he is always gone. He sets up his own travel schedule, so he can't blame anyone. He calls me often, but I am hardly ever able to reach him. He used to bring his soiled laundry home, but now he has it done up by the hotel laundry. He hates starch in his collars, but when they starch his collars as stiff as boards he doesn't complain. (Isn't this rather odd?)

Would it be a mistake for me to talk this over with the wife of the company president, and ask her to use her influence with her husband to take my husband off the road and put him in the office? Both she and her husband think a lot of me. Thank you.

DEAR TROUBLED: The problem is strictly between you and your husband, and if I were you I'd keep it that way. DON'T ask the president's wife to take your husband off the road. That would be like scalping a man to get rid of his dandruff. It's time you sold your husband on a game of "truth and consequences."

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me the proper thing to do. When a man and a woman plan to marry, and both own their own homes in the same city, should the woman move into the man's home, or should he move into hers? It would mean no inconvenience one way or the other to either party. Thank you kindly.

DEAR MAKING: I would say it's "lady's choice."

DEAR ABBY: I can't go along with your telling that poor woman who picked her husband's pockets while he was sleeping that she was wrong. I say, more power to her! I know how she feels because I've got a husband exactly like hers. He never gives me enough money to cover groceries and all the extras the kids need for school nowadays. I say what's his is mine, so I just peel a couple of dollars or maybe a five off his bank roll whenever I can. I figure it's better to help myself than to ask him for it because we'd just have a fight. You said a wife has no more right to pick her husband's pockets than he has to pick her purse. Well, my husband wouldn't bother to pick mine. He knows there's never anything in it. Sign me —

Area Parks, Soon to Be Going Full Blast

THE GREAT ANNUAL migration of vacationers is on its way. Starting with Memorial Day, the number of travelers bound for summer holiday spots gradually builds up, until after the closing of schools and colleges, the flow reaches full tide.

It is estimated that about 241,000 people drive through the state en route to western recreational areas every year, and another 153,000 traverse Minnesota from homes in the Midwest to Canada. In addition, of course, thousands who come this way wind up at summer resorts or homes of their own in the northern part of the state.

An increasing number of these people come with trailers and camping equipment. Family camping has become one of the fastest growing pursuits. The New York Times recently estimated that somewhere between 11 and 15 million campers will hit the trail this year. And the Minnesota Outdoor Recreation Resources Commission says that the number will double by 1970.

Accommodations for these campers number some 50,846 campsites in our national forests and another 28,000 in our national parks. And plans for more of them are in the works. In addition, campgrounds in Minnesota state parks and similar accommodations provided by private enterprise are being increased.

SOUTHEASTERN Minnesota has a vital interest in the growth of these camping facilities for we are close to big population places that generate much of this traffic as well as being on, or adjacent to, the major arteries of travel.

Last year, according to data collected by the state park department, about 4,400 families camped in Beaver Creek Valley and Whitewater state parks. These are at present the only state parks hereabouts properly equipped to serve campers.

The time is not far off, however, when camping facilities in this area will be greatly expanded. This summer will see new camp grounds being developed in Whitewater on land recently acquired. Also a tourist camper service building at Beaver Creek Valley is being built.

But these are only small beginnings. A modern, black-topped road is now being constructed at Frontenac State Park above Lake City that leads to an area overlooking Lake Pepin with room for a large-scale camping section. Another big tract to serve campers is being bought on the heights at John Latsch State Park near Whitman Dam. A year from now these areas should be ready for occupancy.

IN THE NEAR future will come development of O. L. Kipp State Park near La Crescent. One of the chief features of this 1,000-acre park overlooking U.S. 61 and the Mississippi will be a great expanse lying along the bluffs devoted to overnight camping.

This program of growth may well be augmented by the addition of another state park on Stockton Creek and the development of camping areas in the expanding Memorial Hardwood Forest. Increasing demand for visitor accommodations will undoubtedly speed them into being.

One doesn't have to be much of a prophet to indulge in some pretty sure-fire predictions in the wake of these events. It is quite obvious that the southeastern tip of Minnesota and the Hiawatha Valley are due to become before long one of the leading recreational areas of the country.

The Winona area is particularly fortunate in its location because in addition to the Minnesota parks, there are Perrot State Park at Trempealeau, Wis., only 15 miles away and Merrick State Park north of Fountain City, Wis., less than 10 miles from the interstate bridge.

TOURIST BUSINESS is important to us—and is becoming more important each year.

Franklin P. Adams was journeying uptown in a jammed subway train one evening with his young nephew planted on his lap. At Times Square, a beautiful young lady boarded the train and planted herself directly in front of Mr. Adams. The latter promptly dumped his nephew off his lap, ordering him loudly, "My boy, get up at once and give this lady your seat!"

Truth Fails To Catch Up

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — It seems incredible that erroneous impressions should have been spread about what the United States did or failed to do before landing Marines in the Dominican Republic.

It seems strange, too, that the United States has been charged with taking an impulsive action without consulting the Latin-American countries, when it now turns out that the government here did consult at least 14 of the Latin-American countries and even the peace committee of the Organization of American States before the landing of any military units. But the idea widely conveyed was that the administration acted impetuously and did not take the trouble to consult beforehand with any of the Latin-American countries.

President Johnson told the whole story of the Dominican Republic episode in great detail to his news conference on Tuesday. What he said in an impromptu answer to a question from a reporter at the press conference is particularly significant. It reads as follows:

"MANY MONTHS ago we became aware of the increasing tensions there, and the difficulties that would likely confront us. On the Sunday before we went in there on Wednesday, we asked the ambassador, who had already come to Washington at our calling, to leave his family home and come here to meet with us. Ambassador Bennett met with us on Monday. We rushed him back to the Dominican Republic and set in motion certain steps.

"First was to attempt to obtain a cease-fire. Second was to take the precautionary steps necessary to protect approximately 5,000 Americans, as well as thousands of other nationals if that should be required. We moved our ships up there on Sunday.

"The ambassador arrived there on Monday. He talked to various leaders. We did all we could to bring about a cease-fire in cooperation with the papal nuncio and others who were active on the scene. On Wednesday at noon, it became apparent that danger was lurking around the corner, and the ambassador gave us a warning in a cable about 1 o'clock. We had met on Monday and we had met on Tuesday. We met on Wednesday, and we had had many conversations on Sunday on which we did not issue any handouts.

"I HAD 237 individual conversations during that period and about 35 meetings with various people. Finally, on Wednesday afternoon at four something, we got another warning that we should have a contingent plan ready immediately, and a little before 6 o'clock we got a plea, a unanimous plea—from the entire country team made up of the ambassador, CIA director, USIA, Army, Navy and Air Force—to land troops immediately to save American lives.

"Of course, we knew of the forces at work in the Dominican Republic. We were not unaware that there are Communists that were active in this effort, but 99 percent of our reason for going in there was to try to provide protection for these American lives and the lives of other nationals. We asked our ambassador to summon all our people immediately to the hotel — to put them in one central group.

"Men were running up and down the corridors of the Ambassador Hotel (Santo Domingo) with Tommy guns shooting out windows, through the roof, and through the closets. Our citizens were under the beds and in the closets trying to dodge this gunfire. Our ambassador, as he was talking to us, was under his desk. We didn't think we had much time to consult in any great detail more than we had talked about up to that time, but we did make the announcement about 8 o'clock and immediately asked the OAS for an urgent meeting the next morning."

THE PRESIDENT, in answering another question at his news conference, took occasion to demolish the misconception that has arisen concerning the so-called "Johnson doctrine" — as if something new had been devised. Actually, the United States was merely following its traditional position. He said:

"I am afraid that the people that have branded the Johnson doctrine were unfamiliar with the fact that the nations of this hemisphere have repeatedly made it clear that the principles of communism are incompatible with the principles of the inter-American system. President Kennedy enunciated that on several occasions. The OAS itself has enunciated that. I merely repeated it."

Chinese and Russians Patching Up Old Split

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Disturbing reports have come in from such scattered and important capitals as Moscow, New Delhi, and Peking indicating that the bitter feud between the Chinese Communists and the Russian Communists is being patched up, largely as a result of the showdown in North Viet Nam.

Simultaneously, the American embassy in Moscow has picked up ominous reports of a shift of sentiment inside the Kremlin drastically away from the United States.

In New Delhi, the Soviet secret police have reached a working agreement with the Chinese Communists in India. In the past, the Soviet government had been supplying India with fighter planes and weapons to combat the Chinese; so this is an important switch.

SOVIET secret police are also on speaking terms at last with the pro-Chinese Communists of the other Asiatic countries such as Indonesia and Burma. Hitherto they had not even been speaking.

These reports coincide with the signing of a new Sino-Russian trade pact by which Moscow has agreed to sell airplanes, helicopters, trucks, tractors, heavy machinery and metal-cutting tools to Red China. Moscow had boycotted Peking in regard to strategic trade ever since Khrushchev severed economic aid to Red China around 1959.

The Soviet secret police who are reported making peace with the Chinese Communists are controlled by Deputy Premier Alexander Sholepkin. Sholepkin is an ally of the No. 1 anti-American in the Presidium, Mikhail Suslov, the grim, forbidding Communist who engineered the ouster of Premier Khrushchev. One of their differences was Khrushchev's pro-American policy; another, his battle with the Chinese Reds.

AS OF TODAY, it is reported that Suslov still does not have a majority of the Presidium. Khrushchev's friends still outnumber him and prevent Suslov from taking over complete control of the Kremlin. However, ever, from what little is known of inner Kremlin politics, Suslov appears to be gaining in power. He is reported to have the backing of Marshal Rodion Malinovsky, the minister of defense, who has delivered some rather belligerent speeches of late.

Probably most significant of all, the Kremlin's leading American expert, Mikhail Smirnovsky, hitherto considered pro-American, is now reported slipping into the Suslov camp. According to intelligence reports, Smirnovsky has recommended a strong Soviet stand against the United States in North Viet Nam.

If these reports are true—and they are based on excellent intelligence—Russia is moving backward toward Stalinism and the United States can expect a long, hot, dangerous summer.

President Johnson picked up the phone the other morning and called Lt. Gen. William F. McKee, retired Air Force officer in Los Angeles. It was only 7:30 a.m. California time and the general, just awakened, rubbed his eyes when the President asked him to become new administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency.

"I NEED someone to handle these supersonic planes," explained the President, "and Bob McNamara says you know more about them than any other man in the country."

Johnson didn't know whether McKee was a Democrat or a Republican, but wanted a man to guide the civilian air lanes and the air traffic of the nation as it advanced into the supersonic jet age.

McKee, recently retired, reluctantly agreed to come back to work for the government.

This immediately posed a problem, since the law clearly states that the administrator of FAA shall be a civilian. The congressional report submitted when the bill was passed also specifies: "He shall be a civilian in every sense of the word."

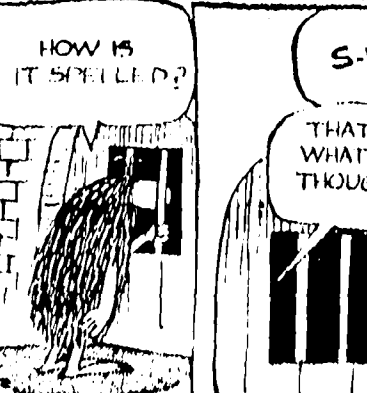

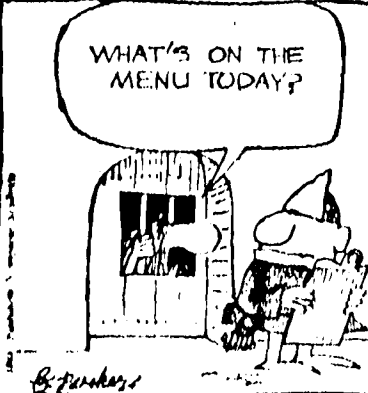

The Senate Commerce Committee has now OK'd a special law exempting Gen. McKee from this law. However, this has caused some embarrassment, since Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., has now dug up the fact that there are already 54 retired military officers in FAA—supposed to be a civilian agency.

Extra Tax on 'Hazard' Pay

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — Until a recent executive order the most glaring inequity in the operation of the federal income tax law was one that hit comparatively few taxpayers. If you were a service man in a jungle fox hole in Viet Nam the federal tax was levied not only on your base pay but on your extra compensation for "duty subject to hostile fire."

This last was a bit of bureaucratic gobbledeygook intended to evade the word combat.

To Your Good Health

Cancer Not Contagious Disease

By J. G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: We have a neighbor who has just come home from the hospital. He had an operation for cancer of the lung and it is still draining.

We will be called upon to help take care of him, and as much as we would like to cooperate, we are hesitant to do so because we have been told by friends that some cancers are started by viruses and we could possibly contract the disease. What is your opinion? — MRS. C.

Scientifically, the relationship between viruses and cancer is a source of much study. I cannot quarrel with the newspapers for reporting what is done and said in this regard.

At the same time, I don't think that people should jump to the conclusion you and your friends have reached.

On the basis of everything known, there is not the slightest chance that risk is involved in helping take care of your neighbor with lung cancer. There isn't even the faintest suspicion among those who study cancer that you can contract the disease from someone else.

IT IS TRUE that some animals, but mighty few at that, can be caused to develop cancer by giving them a certain virus. The outstanding example is a particular strain of mice. If the young are nursed by mothers having a specific virus in the milk, they later usually get cancer. If they are nursed by foster mouse mothers not carrying that virus, they don't get cancer.

Yet even so, viruses are not the whole story. This mouse milk will not cause cancer in other animals.

So what does it all mean? It means, I believe, that there is no single cause of cancer. A combination of factors is involved: Heredity, irritants, age, species and others. Viruses? Evidently they are involved in some cancers, perhaps in all. Or perhaps not. We just don't know.

WE KNOW that certain chemicals, applied in certain ways and in certain concentrations, and for certain lengths of time, tend to start cancer in animals and in man. Chimney-sweeps, it was noted a long time ago, are much more likely to get cancer in one particular part of the body (the scrotum) than other people are. But not all chimney-sweeps have cancer. So there MUST be other factors involved.

Cigaretts evidently seem to cause cancer in some people. A jagged tooth, mildly irritating tender mouth membranes, can do the same. A mole, chafed for years by a collar, bra, belt or whatnot, sometimes turns cancerous. Long-continued, excessive X-rays burns have caused it too. How can we say in such cases that viruses cause cancer?

It may be that some viruses, under some conditions, might in time act as irritants. Maybe there are no cancer viruses, but just viruses that in certain circumstances may play a part.

Protests began to come from Congress about men under fire having their pay subject to Federal taxation. Noting that one of his constituents, Capt. F. R. Kendrick, a helicopter pilot from Eldorado, Ark., had raised a question about this obvious injustice, Sen. John McClellan called on the President to exempt men in Viet Nam.

The President has that power under a precedent established by Congress at the request of President Truman six months after the start of the Korean War in 1950. President Johnson issued an executive order on April 24 designating Viet Nam and the waters within 100 miles of the Vietnamese coast "as an area in which armed forces of the United States are and have been engaged in combat." The order was made retroactive to Jan. 1, 1964.

THIS NOT only righted a conspicuous injustice but it was official recognition — the only one thus far — of the grim reality of what is happening in Viet Nam. With nearly 50,000 Americans on the ground in the Vietnamese conflict the fact can no longer be evaded that this is a war albeit an undeclared war.

Now a move is on to make the Dominican Republic a combat zone. Although whether Congress has any authority in this field is questionable, Sen. George Smathers (D-Fla.) had introduced a bill specifying April 28 as the date on which combat began in the Dominican Republic and adjacent waters. Marines and paratroopers in service there would also be exempted. As in Viet Nam, this would apply to enlisted personnel. Officers in combat get a $200-a-month deduction.

When set alongside the income scales and spending standards of the affluent society military pay appears niggardly. Granted that you cannot recompense men for patriotism, duty, dedication to service in the armed forces, nevertheless compensation should be at least adequate. And the feeling is growing in Congress that even the proposed five percent increase in military pay will still leave most grades short-changed.

THE BEGINNING pay of an enlisted man is $78 a month. This goes to a high for a soldier with 26 years of service of $573.90. That is base pay. It does not include about 40 percent additional compensation for housing and subsistence, most of which has in peacetime been exempt from income tax.

Combat pay is an across-the-board addition for all grades of $55 a month. It was the ruling that this amount, along with regular pay, was subject to federal taxation that caused the greatest resentment among men daily under fire. Captain Kendrick had said he had no intention of paying tax on "hostile fire" pay.

circumstances may play a part.

NOBODY KNOWS but not for lack of trying to find out. And of all the millions of cancer cases that have been closely observed, we have yet to find reason to think that cancer is passed from one person to another. If it were, it would have shown by now.

My advice, and my wish, is that you forget your fears and help take care of your neighbor. Besides, the operation may have cured him. Lung cancer is difficult to discover early enough to do much good, yet surgery DOES cure a gradually increasing number of such cases.

Parochial Aid Views Remain About the Same

By LOUIS HARRIS

As in so many areas of domestic affairs, President Johnson appears to have achieved something of a consensus for his legislative solution to the seeming impasse over government aid to parochial and private schools.

A survey of a cross section of the American people indicates that Catholics and non-Catholics continue to take directly opposite stands on the use of federal funds for direct aid to parochial schools. Catholics are nearly 3 to 1 in favor of such aid; Protestants are more than 2 to 1 against.

Direct Aid to Parochial Schools	Favor	Oppose	Not Sure
Nationwide	26	52	12
By Religion
Catholics	64	24	12
Protes-
tants	27	60	13

President Johnson has sought to avoid this confrontation by legislation, recently passed by Congress offering federal aid for local facilities used jointly by public and parochial school children. Catholics back this idea overwhelmingly, and enough Protestants favor this approach to make a national majority behind the President's program.

Aid to Joint Facilities
"It has been proposed that the federal government gives money to communities to build new buildings that could be used jointly by public and parochial school children for those educational activities they have in common. Do you favor or oppose the federal government helping build such school buildings for use?"

	Favor	Oppose	Not Sure
Nationwide	49	35	16
By Religion
Catholics	68	19	13
Protes-
tants	43	41	16

The 4-to-3 margin of support for such educational facilities indicates that President Johnson has found a delicate way out of a seeming stalemate. But the Johnson compromise would appear to be no more than an uneasy truce at best in the long struggle over the issue of giving federal monies to church-controlled schools. A decisive 3-to-2 majority of the public continues to oppose federal grants to church sponsored schools.

WHEN PEOPLE express their opinions on either side of this issue, feelings run high.

In supporting direct federal aid to their schools, Catholics often point up the shortage of funds that now exist in most parochial schools. Typical was a 48-year-old skilled laborer in Detroit who said, "We try to give our children a good education in parochial schools. But we need help. It can mean the difference between staying open and closing."

Non-Catholics favoring federal grants to church supported schools see them serving a role of easing the pressures on public schools. Typical was a radio station engineer in Hartford, Conn.: "They are taking the load off our public schools. Otherwise, with no parochial schools, conditions would be badly overcrowded and impossible." A construction engineer in Hillsdale, Ill., added, "Maybe more people would then avail themselves of parochial or private schools and public schools would be less crowded than before."

BUT THE majority see it quite another way. Many see dire consequences of unrestricted aid to parochial schools. A 42-year-old businessman in Des Moines, Iowa, said, "The churches will just go out and build more religious schools and they will demand an unending amount of help." A retired man in Chattanooga, Tenn., was adamant: "Why soon they would dictate what teachers ought to teach. There would be no freedom of religion in no time at all." A 21-year-old part-time student in Green Island, N.Y., added, "It is unconstitutional to support sectarian and private groups at the expense of the whole country. Keep the church out of education."

Advocates see concrete and practical gains from aid to parochial schools: relieving public school crowding, improving the caliber of all education, keeping hard-pressed church-backed schools from closing. Opponents tend to focus their objections on the traditional argument that church and state must remain separate, that aid would mean direct support by the government of specific religious advocacy, and that, many add, Catholic children can always go to public tax-supported schools if they care too.

13 Killed in Wisconsin Car Crashes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Thirteen persons were killed in Wisconsin traffic accidents over the weekend, nearly doubling the toll of the Memorial Day driving period.

The epidemic of accidents boosted Wisconsin's year-long fatality count to 351, compared with 398 a year ago today. The state had listed a relatively low seven deaths over the holiday span a week ago even though the period was 24 hours longer than a normal weekend.

Nine of the weekend victims were in their 20s or younger. Clifford G. Harper, 26, Madison, died Sunday night when his motorcycle struck a utility pole in Madison.

A two-car crash on Highway 45 near New London Sunday killed an 18-year-old girl, Philip A. Collins of Whitefish Bay. Alfred Paquin, 42, Oak Creek, was injured fatally Sunday when his car hit a utility pole in South Milwaukee.

William Newcomer, 23, Park Falls, died Sunday in a two-car collision on Highway 13 south of Park Falls.

Ronald Couillard, 19, Milwaukee, was killed Saturday night in a bus-car collision on Milwaukee's south side. Couillard's car was slammed against the side of a house.

A head-on collision Saturday night on Highway 41 near Sobieski Corners took the life of Willie J. Holzhueter, 50, of rural Manitowish.

Barbara Albrecht, 26, of rural Sun Prairie, died Saturday night of injuries suffered 24 hours earlier in a two-car collision in Madison.

A car-truck collision on Highway 51 north of Woodruff resulted in the death of Paul Niske, 63, Minocqua, Saturday.

Otto Schoenecker, 60, Milwaukee, was killed Saturday when his car hit a tree along a Milwaukee street.

Other victims, killed in separate accidents reported earlier, included Larry Rucker, 7, Milwaukee; Charles Crane, 6, Chippewa Falls; Virginia Traves, 19, Lac du Flambeau; and Wayne Rank, 25, of rural Maithel.

Kansas City Market Owner Robbed by 2

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Two bandits pulled an $11,200 armed holdup at a busy intersection Thursday, apparently unnoticed by other motorists.

James T. Smith, a supermarket owner, and his manager, Gerald Ervin, had just withdrawn the money from a bank and were returning to the store.

As they stopped for a traffic light at the intersection, Smith told police, two other cars, one in front and the other in back, hemmed his car in. The two drivers then walked up and said, "This is a holdup."

The bandits drove off in the car in front. Police said the car they left behind had been stolen.

Wife Held In Shooting Of Farmer

ALDEN, Minn. (AP) — A farmer was found dead in a hog feed trough on his farm two miles northeast of here Saturday, and Freeborn County Coroner Dr. E. C. Menefee said the man had been shot in the back. The victim was identified as Leo Franklin Swehla, 31.

The Freeborn County Sheriff's office said it received a telephone call shortly before 2 p.m., informing it that a man was dead at the farm.

Authorities found the body in the hog yard at the rear of the barn. Dr. Menefee said a bullet apparently entered Swehla's back and came out his chest. He said the man had been shot once.

Mrs. Swehla was taken to the Freeborn County jail at Albert Lea, where she was held, for questioning. She is the mother of two young boys and a girl. An autopsy was to have been performed on the body late Saturday night.

Many Entries in Peony, Iris Show Surprise Members of Garden Club

By JEAN HAGEN
Daily News Women's Editor

Purple and pink in massed and single formations was the decor Saturday at Merchants National Bank, which suddenly burst into a mass of color for the annual Peony and Iris Show, "June in Bloom."

THE EVENT, sponsored by the Winona Flower and Garden Club, was a surprise to everyone, including the committee members, who did not anticipate, such a large number of beautiful entries, because of the recent inclement weather.

"We are congratulating ourselves," said one club member. "We thought we would have to bring dandelions!" She added ruefully that she lost about $100 worth of iris in last winter's ice storms.

There were 228 entries, made by 52 exhibitors.

About 200 persons came to see the show through the afternoon and evening hours. They were impressed by the rows of stately long-stemmed single specimen iris, set in tall vases, their delicate blossoms in all shades of iris color from pure white, through cream, yellow, lavender, deep purple, brown and almost black.

THEY SAW single blossoms of peonies in vivid reds, pink and white, tinged with "drops" of red. One segment of the show was baskets of peonies, great masses of shaggy colorful blooms, arranged in fald garden baskets or unusual containers.

There were ingenious arrangements, such as one called "Togetherness," which was a few yellow iris set in a pool, surrounded by a grassy dike up which seemed to move a toy dump truck. Beside it was a rolled newspaper of the flood edition of the Daily News.

Other arrangements were of various garden flowers, including roses, lupine and pansies. As always, the miniatures were delightful, such as a little white china swan containing yellow button flowers and forget-me-nots. Another was a pair of inch-long china shoes from which sprouted tiny blue blossoms of Creeping Charlie.

MRS. OSCAR Tillman won the Pearl C. Shira Memorial Perpetual Trophy with her entry of three Festiva Maxima white peonies with red "drops," arranged in a 150-year-old antique blue Wedgewood tea pot.

A. F. Shira won grand champion for peony specimens, with his tree peony, Mme. DeBatory, a lovely blossom with single petals like ruffled pink silk with a yellow pompon center.

Miss Maud Gernes won grand champion for iris specimens. Her entry was Ebony Queen, two royal purple blossoms on a tall stalk.

Grand champion in arrangements went to Mrs. Robert Frank, for her "Drifting Down the River" arrangement of a pink peony and trailing bitter-sweet vines on a piece of gray driftwood.

Attendance prizes were won by Geoffrey Lowe, Winona, and Calvin L. Harwell, Galesville, Wis.

JUDGES, who made their decisions before the show opened at 2 p.m., were Mrs. Linus Roehm, West Salem, Wis., and Mrs. James A. Polk, La Crosse. They were guests of the club president, Mrs. Irvin Blumenritt, and committee chairman

Former Students Reminisce About Ireland School

A large number attended the final annual school picnic at the Ireland district, formerly known as District 98, located in Pleasant Hill Township, Winona County, June 1.

Charlie, Felix, and Frank Kerrigan of La Crescent, recalled days when they attended the school over 60 years ago, and Paul Miennert of Ridgeway gave his slant to the story.

Names and voices of everyone present were recorded for posterity on tape. Slides were shown of events which took place over the last 12 years.

The traditional potluck dinner and the annual ball game were part of the day's entertainment.

Pictures were taken of former school board members, Merton Unnasch, Glenn Schultz, Berton Paulson, and Dwain

Magnart, who had operated the school district affairs until last July when it became a part of the new Independent District 859 at Ridgeway.

Mrs. Wesley C. Hoppel has been the teacher for the last 12 years.

Wealth of Information From Flight

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The marathon flight of the Gemini 4 has provided a wealth of encouraging information that one space official said "certainly should shorten the road to the moon."

It already is being used to plan future Gemini launches and Apollo missions to the moon and beyond.

Among the outstanding things learned are that man can operate effectively outside an orbiting spacecraft; that radar and other aids are needed for rendezvous activity; that man can remain alert after long periods in weightlessness, and that over extended periods humidity does not build up inside a capsule as was feared.

The primary medical data still must be obtained. It will be gathered in extensive examination of astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II over the next several weeks.

"It is this medical data which will tell us whether we can move on to 7-day and then 14-day missions," said Dr. Charles A. Berry, the medical operations director for Gemini 4.

"This post-flight medical information is going to be extremely important," Berry said. "We're really going to give them a thorough going over."

Berry said that throughout the flight the astronauts had shown no physical or mental deterioration and they had remained remarkably alert.

"This is about what we expected as long as they were in space," Berry said. "What we're concerned about is when they return to earth and their body systems have to readjust to a gravity environment. Body systems adjust very well to the leisure of weightlessness, but our earlier flights have shown some disquieting symptoms after reentry."

Both American and Soviet spacemen have experienced temporary troubles, primarily in their heart and blood vessel systems, after long exposure to the space environment.

The flight of McDivitt and White has nearly tripled the total weightless time logged by eight previous U.S. astronauts and should provide valuable guidelines for the future.

Mission director Chris Kraft said he was pleased that over the long trip the astronauts "have shown no irritability in their cramped quarters. They're still in good humor and after an initial adjustment period had no trouble eating, sleeping and working."

Kraft termed the 20-minute space walk by White during the third orbit the major achievement. Using a jet-gun propulsion unit, White maneuvered in the emptiness of space, attached to the Gemini 4 by a 25-foot lifeline.

Russian cosmonaut Alexei Leonov, the world's only previous space stroller, had no propulsion unit. Leonov reported some problem with disorientation, but White did not.

Dr. Joseph Shea, director of the Apollo man-to-the-moon program, said the success of White's step into space was especially important to the lunar program.

"With this knowledge," he said, "we can now plan emergency procedures which involve men leaving the moonship to make repairs or to transfer from one segment of the ship to another if connecting tunnels are blocked."

Minneapolis Man Kills Wife

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A 61-year-old retired cabinetmaker gunned down his estranged wife in front of a Minneapolis church Sunday in full view of dozens of worshippers.

Held by police was Leo Wimmer, father of 11, who was separated from his wife several weeks ago. He apparently waited in his car until she emerged from Holy Rosary Catholic church on the south side and then approached with a shotgun.

Mrs. Ludvina Wimmer, 55 first tried to knock the gun away, then ran screaming into the street and died seconds later.

A son, Leonard, 22, wrestled the gun away as another shot went off and subdued his father until police arrived. Leonard Wimmer and his wife had attended services with the slain woman.

It was expected that Wimmer would be held pending action by the Hennepin County grand jury.

Pair Arrested In Slaying of Circus Clown

NEW YORK (AP) — A young man and his girl friend, held in the hotel-room robbery-slaying of star circus clown Paul Jung, 64, have charged their constitutional rights were violated after their arrest.

Allen Jones, 24, a jobless laborer, and Marian De Berry, 21, both narcotics addicts, were arrested Saturday night and charged Sunday with homicide in the death of Jung last April 21.

The pair, Negroes living at the same Harlem address, charged that statements they made to police were obtained under duress.

Judge Manuel H. Gomez of Criminal Court ordered Miss De Berry and Jones held without bail, and told defense counsel: "The defendants' rights have been and will be protected."

Police said they had questioned about 1,500 persons since the body of Jung, chief clown of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, was found in his room at the Hotel Forrest, a block from Madison Square Garden where the circus was performing.

Authorities have given few details of the slaying and how the defendants were picked up. They did say that Jung was robbed of $40 in cash and a typewriter. It was believed that the prisners were picked up in connection with the finding of the typewriter in a pawnshop.

Chou Doesn't Expect World War to Erupt

CAIRO (AP) — Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai was quoted by a weekly magazine Thursday as saying that a "world war could not erupt because of the war in Viet Nam, or even if Red China itself were attacked by the United States."

In a reported interview in Peking, Chou said: "In Viet Nam, guerrilla warfare will surely lead to victory over the American imperialists but even if the United States were to extend military operation into China itself we will fight it alone without the Soviet Union."

Ely Planning Reception for Lynda Bird

ELY, Minn. (AP) — Ely and the Minnesota Arrowhead Country in general promise to give Lynda Bird Johnson a reception she'll long remember.

The President's daughter plans to take a week's canoe trip over Minnesota wilderness waters July 19 to 26.

In Washington, the White House announced earlier, that Ely is one of several definite stops scheduled for Lynda Bird and her party while on a western trailer trip.

The center includes a lounge and exhibit hall displaying ways of life of Indians, voyageurs, loggers and miners, as well as Indian rock paintings and wildlife dioramas.

Miss Johnson's canoe route is yet to be mapped.

McNamara Pleads for Pay Hike OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara urged Congress today to approve "without any reservation whatsoever" a controversial $446,506,000 pay increase bill which he called "fair to our military personnel and fair to our taxpayers."

McNamara opened the administration's fight for the bill in testimony before the House Armed Services Committee whose chairman already has denounced it as "disgracefully inadequate."

The defense secretary contended that the administration measure "will provide a significant increase in pay for our career military personnel, compensate enlisted personnel with less than two years of service for the increase in the cost of living, and contribute to the retention of skilled personnel in short supply."

The administration proposal calls for an across-the-board 4.8 per cent increase in basic pay for officers and enlisted men with more than two years of service, and a 2.7 per cent increase in pay for enlisted men with less than two years in uniform.

Three injured in accident near Mondovi

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special) — Three of four young Mondovi men whose car ran into a ditch along Highway 88 about four miles southwest of here Sunday at 2 a.m. were injured.

Raymond Crawford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Crawford, and Patrick Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Parker, both received fractures of the right wrist. Patrick sustained lacerations on the arms and Raymond, cuts and abrasions on the face. Both were reported in fair condition at Buffalo Memorial Hospital, Mondovi.

Dale Loomis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Loomis, was treated and released. Duane Terland, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Terland, was taken to the hospital but not injured and walked home from the hospital.

With Parker driving the 1955 car, the boys were proceeding north from Gilman toward Mondovi. They had just rounded a sharp curve at the Lieberman Bros. farm when their car veered right, went over a stump, hit a corner post, and stopped in the ditch between the state highway and the Lieberman driveway. The car was badly wrecked.

Walter Lieberman took them to the hospital. Robert Sing, Mondovi, Buffalo County traffic officer, investigated. The youths ranged in age from 17-20.

George Thiss, Teacher, to Be GOP Chairman

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—George Thiss, a Minneapolis schoolmaster, apparently is headed for election without opposition as Minnesota state Republican chairman.

Thiss likely will be named post by a GOP group Saturday. He would move up from the first vice chairmanship.

Thiss likely will be named state chairman at a meeting of the GOP state central committee June 18 and 19, succeeding Robert Forsythe, who is retiring to enter private business.

Thiss is assistant head master of Breck School. He was nominated by a 16-member group composed of chairmen and chairwomen from the eight Congressional districts. This is from Minneapolis.

John Moety, Minneapolis, was nominated to succeed Thiss as first vice chairman. Roy Lenhardt, St. Cloud, was picked to replace Arthur Ogle of Mankato as second vice chairman. Ogle did not seek another term.

Mrs. Norman Haugen, Park Rapids, was nominated for secretary. Mrs. James Flinn, Redwood Falls, does not plan to return to that office.

"Thiss has been known as an 'organization man' in Republican affairs while Forsythe has carried more of a 'public relations' image."

Industrial Worker Killed in Milwaukee

Goodview Nurse Asked to Serve On Health Unit

Zimmerman's First HR Downs Nats

ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Twins enjoyed the heady feeling of a 3½ game bulge over second place Chicago in the American League today, and Jerry Zimmerman could bust his buttons about it.

The sub catcher bashed his first home run in five years in the majors, added a pair of singles and drove in three runs as the Twins demolished Washington 11-2 Sunday.

"Hey Jim, you'd better get out here early for running practice tomorrow—you don't even know how to run on home runs," joked Coach Billy Martin in the dressing room after the game.

Zimmerman joined in the banter and tried to recollect some vital statistics to set his mates straight.

Going over his 15-year baseball career, he recalled, "I hit one over the scoreboard in Indianapolis." How far? someone asked.

"I don't know," he replied. "And I hit one in Salt Lake City. But you know that light air out there."

The 30,665 fans, who ignored soggy skies that halted play twice, also saw a sterling pitching performance when Bill Pleis came on in relief of starter Dave Boswell in the fifth. With two Senators on base and none out, Shorty struck out the side, then gave up only three more hits the rest of the way and struck out four more while holding Washington scoreless. He got credit for his third triumph without loss.

Minnesota's 14-hit binge included Tony Oliva's 10th homer, and three hits by Jimmie Hall including a two-run double. The Twins knocked out Washington workhorse Phil Ortega in the fourth.

The Senators got their runs on Joe Cunningham's single in the third and Frank Howard's home run in the fourth, his 11th of the season.

Tonight, Cleveland moves in, with the Twins' Jim Grant (5-0) slated to pitch against Luis Tiant (5-3). Minnesota holds a 3-1 advantage over the third place Indians for the year.

Unbeaten HVL Leaders Ready for Clash Thursday

Kellogg	2	2	1
Galesville	2	2	1

The Hiawatha Valley League pushes its battle for first place into Winona's Gabrych Park at 8 p.m. Thursday. The contestants, Rollingstone and Dakota, will bring perfect records into the fray thanks to victories

Sunday. Rollingstone, resting ace left-hander Dewey Clinkscales for Thursday competition, sent Larry Senrick to the hill against Cochrane-Fountain City Sunday. He responded with a six-hit 12-2 victory.

Dakota and Larry Papenfuss didn't have as easy a time of it, making a single run in the fourth inning stand up for a 4-3 victory over Galesville. Papenfuss and Galesville find John Gunderson, waged a down-to-the-wire mound battle.

In other games, Kellogg pushed the league's new 10-run rule into effect for the first time rallying for seven seventh-inning runs to annihilate Alma 12-3 and Trempealeau scored a 12-3 decision over Lewiston.

ROLLINGSTONE 12 COCHRANE-FC 2 With Senrick pitching a six-hitter, Rollingstone scored four runs in the second inning and never was severely threatened in topping Cochrane-Fountain City.

The only batter who troubled Senrick seriously was Walt Schreiber, who went 3-for-3 with a triple.

But Rollingstone had its own heroes in Tom Schmitt, who was 3-for-4 with a double, and Jack Rader, who was 3-for-5 with two doubles.

DAKOTA 4 GALESVILLE 3 In a well-played game that turned into a pitchers' duel after four innings, Dakota kept its record perfect with a 4-3 victory over Galesville.

All the scoring was done in the first four frames. Papenfuss and Gunderson then steadied. When it was over, Galesville's Gunderson had fanned 13 and Papenfuss 11.

Nissalke was the big gun for Dakota with two doubles. Al Toppen drove in two runs for Galesville with a first-inning homer.

KELLOGG 13 ALMA 2 Kellogg pushed over seven runs in the seventh inning to defeat Alma 13-2, using the 10-run rule to shorten the game to seven innings.

The winners batted out 12 hits in giving Bob Noll an easy five-hit victory.

Wes Funk proved the batting leader with five RBI behind two doubles in five trips. Dick Peters tripled. Dennis Wodele had a pair of singles and John Arens a double.

Noll scattered five singles. ALMA 100 000 0-3 5 4 KELLOGG 001 040 7-12 12 2 Bob Larson, Dave Baugh (4), Ron Moller (3), Carroll Iberg (1) and Kreibich: Bob Noll and Jack Leisen.

TREMPEALEAU 12 LEWISTON 3 Here goes Trempealeau again.

A year ago Trempealeau won nine straight games for second place in the league after Gary Meunier started pitching.

Now the Bears are thanking their lucky stars for the return of the high school ace. He won his second game Sunday, beating Lewiston 12-3 while allowing five hits.

Trempealeau belted 11 hits off Lewiston loser Bob Hazellon and Jerry Braithwaite. Ken Baran was the leader with a home run and two doubles for four RBI. Ken Stelplung smashed 2-for-4 with a double and Meunier aided his own cause with a double.

For Lewiston, Bernie Kennedy doubled twice and Hazellon had a pair of singles in four times at bat.

LEWISTON 210 000 000-3 5 4 TREMPLEALEAU 110 331 12-12 12 2 Bob Hazellon, Braithwaite (4) and Westel Sim (1); Gary Meunier and Dragan.

Dodger 'Steals' Fizzle, Unleash Homer Power

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

National League - catchers, beware! The next time you throw out Maury Wills trying to steal, Jim Gilliam may hit a home run.

The Los Angeles Dodgers unveiled their new weapon in maintaining their three-game National League lead over Milwaukee in a doubleheader with the Braves Sunday. The Dodgers won the opener 4-0 before losing 6-4.

Wills, holder of the major league base-stealing record, and Gilliam, less than two weeks removed from his coaching job, worked their play to perfection once in each game.

Wills doubled in the third inning of the opener, then was thrown out by Joe Torre attempting to steal third. Gilliam swung at rookie Dick Kelley's next pitch and lofted it into the left-field bleachers for a homer and a 1-0 Los Angeles lead.

In the first inning of the second game, Wills led off with a walk but was out trying to steal second, again on a throw from Torre. Denny Lemaster was the Milwaukee pitcher this time, and his next pitch also wound up in the left-field bleachers—another Gilliam homer and another 1-0 Dodger lead.

Torre's unerring tosses cut down Wills for only the 10th and 11th times in the shortstop's 45 attempted steals this season. Gilliam's homers, his first of 1965, equaled his entire 1964 output.

Gilliam collected four hits Sunday while scoring three runs and driving in three, rocketing his average to .360.

Elsewhere in the NL, Cincinnati blanked San Francisco 6-0, Pittsburgh swept New York 5-3 and 3-0, Philadelphia took two from Chicago 2-1 and 10-9 and Houston bombed St. Louis 10-1.

Don Drysdale became the first pitcher in the majors to win 10 games, checking the Braves on six hits in the first game. Drysdale, who has lost three times, also socked the 22nd homer of his career and second this season.

Milwaukee's Gene Oliver drove in three runs with two homers in the nightcap. The Dodgers, incidentally, had to settle for only a run-scoring single by Gilliam in the seventh inning. Wills preceded the left fielder with a single but didn't try to steal second.

It was after Gilliam's single, though, that Braves' Manager Bobby Bragan pulled an unusual move of his own. He brought in Bob Sadowski to pitch and moved pitcher Billy O'Dell to first base. After Sadowski gave up a run-scoring single to Lou Johnson, O'Dell returned to the mound and retired the side.

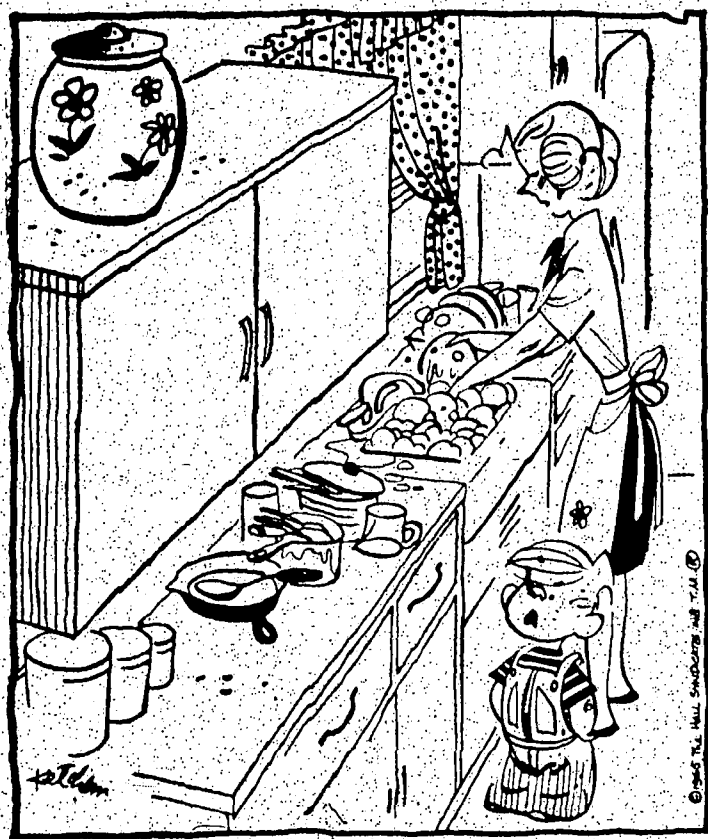

Sammy Ellis won his ninth game against two defeats, stopping the Giants on five hits. He allowed only two hits after the first inning. Don Patechitch singled home two runs in the Reds' three-run third.

Baseball's First Player Draft Set for Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball executives huddle tonight to work out final preparations for the sport's first free-agent draft with college and high school ballplayers across the country awaiting the outcome.

The draft, modeled after the one used by professional football and basketball, begins Tuesday morning with the Kansas City Athletics making the first selection. The New York Mets get second choice with the remaining 18 teams following in reverse order of their 1964 finish.

Designed to give weaker teams a better opportunity at signing players, the draft will eventually assign free-agent players to 122 professional clubs in 15 leagues.

Each player selected will be placed on a club's negotiation list for six months. If the player still has not signed with the team which selected him after that, his name returns to the pool of names available for the next draft meeting.

Current plans call for three such drafts each year, one in the summer for high school players and college players who have completed their sophomore year, another in September for youngsters playing American Legion ball during the summer, and one in January.

Allen Agrees To Join Denver

ST. PAUL (AP)—Infielder Bernie Allen, who said Saturday he may quit baseball and go into business rather than be sent down to Denver, has agreed to play for the farm club, the Minnesota Twins said today.

The one-time regular second baseman will leave for Denver Tuesday.

Pro Football Like Flying: New to Most

OCEANPORT, N.J. (AP)—"Pro football is like air travel," said Joe Foss. "There are still a lot of people who haven't experienced it."

Foss, commissioner of the American Football League, drew the analogy as the AFL began a two-day meeting that was expected to result in a two-stage expansion plan that will again give pro football's ever-changing face another going over.

With two, and possibly four, teams to be named by the AFL, and the rival National League looking toward expansion in the 1967 season, it was expected that new areas would be seeing pro football for the first time while some cities got their initial look at both leagues.

Speculation revolved around three cities without pro football franchises — Atlanta, New Orleans and Miami — and five cities where the NFL has the sole entries — Philadelphia, Chicago, Los Angeles, Cleveland and Detroit.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Eight U.S. F-105 jets hit the radio station and communications center and pilots reported both were destroyed, the spokesman said. The location was not given.

The pilots also reported they sank a vessel near Route 1 and left two others sinking after the crews opened up on them with heavy automatic weapons.

The planes also hit the Vinh supply depot which has been a target before. The pilots said heavy smoke blanketed the area and most of the 15 tons of bombs hit a warehouse complex of 11 buildings.

The Marines scored their biggest success of the Viet Nam war Saturday

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The Marines scored their biggest success of the Viet Nam war Saturday when they killed 80 Viet Cong and wounded 60 others with artillery fire. But eight leathernecks were lost Sunday in a helicopter collision over the South China Sea.

A U.S. military spokesman reported that Marine gunners on Saturday poured 63 rounds into a Viet Cong battalion spotted nine miles southwest of the new Chu Lai airstrip.

The Marines were called in to clear the area at the request of a Vietnamese district chief
