Business at Mid-1965

Most Firms Doing Better

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The economy has had its best ever six months. But that in itself is dampening some of the celebration. The first half of 1965 has set records which some — notably stock market traders — fear may be hard to top or even sustain.

Most business firms and most of the public have done better so far this year than they had expected to, in production and sales and in personal income.

The first three months far exceeded earlier predictions. Then most observers warned that a breather was due during the spring months. But where there has been any slowing down it has added up to less than anticipated.

The business upturn since the low point of the last recession, reached in February 1961, is now ending its 52nd month. At midyear the question is: How long can it last and how high can it go?

There is a little question about the gains so far in most of the economy—or of the losses in the stock market in the last six weeks.

The prediction in January was that this year the Gross National Product, the total output of goods and services, should hit a record $660 billion to top the previous record of $622.6 billion in 1964. This prediction still holds, if only because the first half was so much better than expected.

The year started off with a bang. Auto and steel production was going full blast and setting records. This has continued, with very little slackening.

Many other industries were playing the same kind of ball. To set the pace it did in these last six months the economy has had to offset a number of blows. A dock strike from Maine to Texas in January and February crippled some industries. For six months the steel labor negotiations have been a cliffhanger, upsetting business planning.

"The weather has damaged many sections; snows crippled auto production in February; floods, drought and earthquakes brought havoc in many places."

But despite all these things the general economy has expanded. In May, 72.4 million Americans were employed, 1.1 million more than in January. Personal income was at an annual rate of $517 billion in May, with the five months average 6.2 per cent higher than in the previous year. Dividend payments in the first five months came to $6.4 billion, up 10.5 per cent from the 1964 period. Retail sales are running 8 per cent ahead of last year.

Too good to last? Pessimists and optimists are sharply divided at the midpoint, but they agree the first half could hardly have been better.

Next: How the second half is shaping up.

"WHO WANTS TO BECOME A BLOB?" Mrs. Marlene Schalech, assistant treasurer of the Beverly Hills Savings and Loan Association of Beverly Hills, Calif., models the new dress uniform which is to become standard attire for the firm's 65 women employees on Aug. 9. Some of 'em aren't nappy about the order. "I don't care if Don Loper is designing the uniforms," said one. "Who wants to become a blob?" George M. Gold, an executive of the Loper organization, is at right. (AP Photofax)

A section of wing followed but the plane made a safe landing at Travis Air Force Base some 50 miles away where extra long runways were available. (AP Photofax)

Women Rebel At Uniforms for Loan Office

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Officials of a savings and loan association have uniform thoughts on the subject of women's dress.

They think the 65 women employed there should wear uniforms and, with this in mind, ordered that they do so beginning Aug. 9.

The announcement was met by some with less than enthusiasm.

"Who wants to become a blob?" asked one. "We want to stay individuals," said another. "If we didn't, we could join the women's army."

A third asserted her fashion-consciousness by giving the firm two week's notice.

The firm's officials said they wanted to take their employees out of "a hodgepodge of costumes."

"It's almost a raise for the girls," said Kenneth F. Spencer, the association's chief managing officer. "We not only pay for the clothing, but we do the laundry."

Each woman will be given three sets of suits: one blue, one black and one checked. Plans call for all to wear each set for one week, changing every Friday afternoon to the uniform to be worn the coming week—a kind of fashion preview.

LOSES PART OF WING, ENGINE

Crippled Plane Lands 153 Safely

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Pan American pilot gave thanks today for the "miracle" that let him nurse his passenger-filled 707 jet to a safe landing, despite the loss of 20 feet of wing and an engine which scattered in a populated area but hurt no one.

Aboard were 143 passengers and a crew of 10.

Two minutes after the Honolulu-bound jet took off from San Francisco International Airport Monday, Capt. Charles H. (Chuck) Kimes, 44, of Danville, Calif., felt a heavy vibration in his right outboard engine.

Hundreds of persons in South San Francisco and San Bruno saw a ball of fire blossom on the end of the starboard wing as the No. 4 engine snapped off and plummeted to earth like a flaming meteor.

Then one-third of the wing, trailing blazing debris, broke off and slanted to earth. In the plane, pilot Kimes told his terrified passengers in a calm voice, "We have had some trouble. Keep calm and everything will be okay."

Kimes, pouring additional power to his other engines to keep his 270,000-pound plane flying, elected to head Flight 843 to Travis Air Force Base 50 miles away, where runways were long and emergency facilities many.

"I kept it going with a lot of help," Kimes said later. "It was a miracle."

At Travis, fighter planes scrambled into the air to escort him and make visual airborne inspections of the damage. A Coast Guard plane was already alongside the crippled airliner. The fire was out by this time.

Shortly after 2:30 p.m. less than half an hour after takeoff, Kimes' plane was circling Travis. Then a new crisis arose. The right landing gear refused to lower hydraulically.

First Officer F. R. Miller of Callistoga, Calif., with help from others of the crew, manually cranked down the gear. The plane landed safely. Passengers wept for joy as they debarked by way of the plane's emergency chute.

All the passengers except nine flew on to Honolulu Monday night on another Pan American 707.

"I talked to him and he relayed my conversation to San Francisco and led me to Travis (Air Force Base, 50 miles north of the airport) in a helicopter."

"I can't say too much for the radar people and all the help we got."

The captain's calmness played a key role in the tense situation.

After the safe arrival at Travis, he reflected on the dramatic moment when No. 4 engine blossomed into a ball of fire.

"I had no idea what caused it," he said.

"It could have been a bird flying into the engine intake or an engine failure."

Asked his age, the captain sighed: "I feel 80—but I'm in my 40s."

Lifted Into Attack Zone Near Saigon

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. and Vietnamese paratroopers hunted together for the Viet Cong in the jungle 30 miles north of Saigon today in their first such combined operation of the war. About 800 Australian infantry also moved in late in the day.

A Viet Cong grenade killed a young American paratrooper as he groped down a jungle path festooned with vines and creepers. He was the first man from the U.S. Army's 173rd Airborne Brigade to die in action in Viet Nam. A rifle bullet wounded another in the chest.

More than 1,200 men of the 173rd and two Vietnamese airborne battalions — perhaps 800 men — were lifted into the area Monday by a fleet of more than 130 helicopters. This followed up a B-52 jet bombardment of a three-square-mile section of the Viet Cong stronghold June 18 and a sweep last Thursday by one battalion of the 173rd.

As in the previous operations, visual contact with the enemy was slight. A U.S. military spokesman said American and Vietnamese casualties were light so far.

Meanwhile, U.S. Air Force planes made their deepest strike into North Viet Nam today, hitting a barracks and supply depot 150 miles west north of Hanoi, U.S. military spokesmen announced.

The spokesmen said the Thuan Chau depot was two miles farther north than any previous Air Force target. They said pilots reported destroying 32 buildings and damaging 20 others.

A U.S. Air Force B-57 jet bomber was hit by Communist groundfire as it supported a ground operation 15 miles from Saigon and crashed and burned in a rice field two miles north of the Saigon airport, U.S. spokesmen reported.

The two crewmen ejected from the plane after the left wing caught fire, but one man's parachute failed to open, the spokesmen said. His body was recovered. The second airman parachuted into a river and a search was being made for him.

The dead flier was the 430th American killed in combat in Viet Nam.

A second American plane, an RF101, was shot down at low altitude on another raid north of the Hanoi line, and the pilot was presumed killed, spokesmen announced. The plane was flying support for an attack by other aircraft on the Son La barracks and supply depot about 140 miles west northwest of Hanoi. It has been the target of several previous attacks.

Reliable sources reported an American adviser was killed and another wounded in a major engagement being fought by troops of the Vietnamese 7th division near Cai Lay, in the Mekong delta about 45 miles southwest of Saigon. The Vietnamese were reported battling a large Viet Cong force in the marshy area, but no other details were immediately available.

The Liberal party, with a record of deciding close elections, has endorsed Rep. John V. Lindsay, Republican candidate for New York City mayor.

The endorsement is a major boost for the 43-year-old congressman, who is planning a fusion ticket in his bid to be the first Republican mayor since 1945.

The late Florio H. La Guardia, a longtime Republican congressman, was elected on a fusion ticket for three four-year terms ending in 1945. The Democrats — who held City Hall for many years before La Guardia swept in on a reform tide — have held it since he stepped out.

The Liberal party, which exists only in New York State, has proved the balance of power in a number of elections. In 1960, the Liberals' 466,176 ballots enabled the late John F. Kennedy to take New York State by a majority of 383,000 over Richard M. Nixon and win the crucial 45 presidential electoral votes. The Liberal party usually has endorsed Democrats in major contests.

The Liberal endorsement of Lindsay was made by a voice vote at a party convention Monday night after the party's policy committee recommended it.

Bliss to Ask Convention Quiz

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican National Chairman Ray C. Bliss says he will recommend today the naming of a committee to study the whole question of presidential convention procedures.

Bliss said he would make the suggestion to the Republican National Committee, meeting here for the second day.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower gave a boost Monday to the idea of reforming the national conventions. At a typical convention, Eisenhower said, "there is confusion, noise, impossible department and ignoring of the subjects being discussed on the platform. I think most of the United States is horrified at the spectacle."

Eisenhower gave this formula for producing light and reason at the nominating conventions, which so often are overwhelmed by hoopla and bedlam: "Give the permanent chairman dictatorial powers."

—Name 6-foot-4 sergeants at arms, police officer types perhaps.

—Limit demonstrations to five minutes; anything more than that is "spurious and phony."

—Cut down the number of delegates and make the alternates sit in the galleries.

Finally, Eisenhower turned toward a press table and, addressing reporters, said "I say all press, all publicity media, should be excluded from the floor."

He added, "They have places. We cooperate with them. We want them, but certainly we don't want them running around having interviews when we are having someone make a serious statement before a delegation."

Eisenhower's formula drew this comment from William E. Miller, the party's vice-presidential candidate last year, who is on the small side: "I don't think it makes so much difference whether the sergeants-at-arms are 6-foot-4 or 5-foot-2, but something has to be done about television moving in and taking over all of the choice space on the floor."

Kadar Gives Up Premiership, Still He's Boss

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Communist party chief Janos Kadar still appears to be top man in Hungary after giving up the premiership in a reshuffle.

Kadar, 53, resigned as premier Monday and handed the job to Gyula Kallai, 55, his deputy since 1960. He retained the top party post, the most powerful position in Communist countries.

At least seven new men were named to the Communist party's top echelon. They appeared to be handpicked by Kadar to insure his control of the party apparatus.

Hungarian officials said the changes did not mean any alteration in Hungary's domestic or foreign policies but were designed to take "some of the burden off Mr. Kadar's shoulders."

The official announcement said the change was made so that Kadar could "devote his whole time to his duties as the first secretary of the (party's) Central Committee."

Rumors that Kadar would resign as premier have been circulating since the ouster of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in October 1964. Khrushchev's jobs of premier and party chief were filled by Alexei N. Kosygin and Leonid I. Brezhnev. A similar division of labor occurred in Romania in March, after the death of George Gheorghiu-Dej.

The Soviet premier's ouster caused a wave of uncertainty in Hungary and the rest of Eastern Europe. In Hungary, there was fear it would bring an end to a liberal trend in the Red regime and a revival of Stalinism.

Kadar may have decided to postpone his resignation in order to calm the public. He probably also didn't want to give the impression that the move was dictated by Moscow.

Pope Stresses Freedom of Conscience

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI has indicated that the Vatican ecumenical council's declaration on religious liberty still maintains that all men should be allowed freedom of conscience.

The declaration was revised earlier this year after the council's third session and there have been published reports that the Pope ordered it was altered. The Vatican denied this, but the new text was not made public.

Pope Paul told his weekly audience in St. Peter's Basilica Monday that the declaration would make clear that no one should be forced to accept the message of Christ.

Troops Patrol Machala, Ecuador

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — Army units were reported patrolling the streets of Machala, capital of El Oro Province, today after crushing a revolt by a small group of noncommissioned officers and soldiers.

The Machala correspondent of the Guayaquil newspaper La Prensa reported that the rebels demanded a return to a constitutional government, a provisional civilian government, new schools and modernization of hospitals.

Patman Suggests Martin Resign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wright Patman has called again for the resignation of William McCensey Martin as chairman of the Federal Reserve Board.

The Texas Democrat, chairman of the House Banking Committee, has blamed Martin for a recent stock market slump. It came after Martin said there are similarities between 1945 economic conditions and those which prevailed before the 1929 crash. He also said there are dissimilarities.

Disabled Vets Elect

VIRGINIA, Minn. (AP) — Delbert Nelson, Minneapolis, was elected commander of Minnesota Disabled American Veterans after the group adopted a slate of resolutions including one calling for an increase in compensation payments.

DAV members want the present $3,000 a year limit for compensation payments raised. William G. Dwyer, San Diego, Calif. national commander, told the group that under the proposed national anti-poverty program, those with incomes less than $3,000 must be considered within a poverty circumstance.

Dwyer also said that strong organizations are needed to safeguard the rights of veterans.

Other officers named included Ben B. Grossman, Minneapolis, junior vice commander; Melvin Baicourt, St. Paul, senior vice commander; Jerome Stainbrook, Crookston, first senior vice commander; Frederick Schott, St. Cloud, second; Keith S. Virginia, third, and Earl Schroeder, Austin, fourth senior vice commander.

Meryl Steele, Brainerd, was elected department chaplain, Edward J. Kavanagh, Carlton, judge advocate, and Raymond Flynn, Minneapolis, treasurer.

The convention ended Saturday with installation of officers.

Kennedy Presents Hospital Scholarship

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., has paid a return visit to Cooley Dickinson Hospital where he spent three weeks last year after suffering a broken back in a plane crash June 19.

This time the senator presented a scholarship fund Sunday to the school of nursing. It was announced that the fund is a memorial to Edward S. Moss, a Kennedy aide from Andover who was killed in the crash.

Witness Can't Recall Statement From Deposition

Apparent conflicts between the plaintiff's testimony in a deposition taken last month and his testimony today in District Court occupied attention as jury work resumed before Judge Arnold Hatfield.

Daniel Gappa, 186 Harvester Ave., claims damages from Lakeside Cities Service, 629 Huff St., for alleged negligence in connection with leg injuries he received in an accident at the service station in January 1963.

GAPPA WAS the first witness on his own behalf called by plaintiff's attorney Roger P. Brosnahan.

The plaintiff told how he had driven his car to the service station for some mechanical work about 5:30 p.m. on a Wednesday. Another car was being worked on when he arrived, so Gappa parked his car outdoors and went inside to watch Robert E. Koopman, 528 W. Howard St., a partner in the service station, work on the other vehicle.

To get a better view, Gappa stood in front of the car while Koopman hooked up a voltage regulator testing machine.

THEN, Gappa testified, Koopman walked around the car, reached in through the open door on the driver's side and turned the key in the ignition. The car lurched forward and pinned Gappa against the workbench behind him. His legs were severely bruised at about knee height and they swelled up after the accident, Gappa testified.

He lost 26 days of work at Winona Tool & Die as a result of the mishap, Gappa said. He had to visit the doctor 18 times between the time of the accident in January and June 6, 1963, Gappa said.

Treatment included an attempt to draw fluid out of his swollen left knee with a syringe arrangement. This failed, and the knee had to be lanced, Gappa told the court.

Since the accident, his legs have given him severe pain when he has to do work for long periods that requires him to stand, Gappa said. In addition, his normal work around the house and recreational activities have been limited.

UNDER CROSS-examination by defendant's attorney C. Stanley McMahon, Gappa said he could not recall having said in the deposition, taken May 27, 1965, that Koopman warned him he was going to start the car's engine just before the accident.

McMahon read Gappa two passages from the deposition in which Gappa had testified that Koopman told him, "I am going to start it (the car)."

Gappa told McMahon he did not remember making such statements in his deposition. His testimony today is true, Gappa reiterated.

BROSNAHAN called Koopman to testify as plaintiff's second witness. Koopman admitted that it is normal for men to watch him work while they are waiting around the service station. He said he could not remember ever telling anyone to get out of the way during his 19 years as a mechanic.

Koopman said that Gappa had stood between the car and a workbench in the service station. The bench is a flat surface about waist high, supported by a brace against the wall. The automobile's bumper struck Gappa at about knee-level.

Park Board Head Objects to Beer Sale at Levee

Personal objection to recent action by the City Council authorizing the sale of beer on city park property during Steamboat Days this year was expressed Monday by the president of the Park-Recreation Board.

Emphasizing that he was in no way speaking for the board, Dr. C. A. Rohrer told fellow commissioners that he had spoken to a City Council member expressing his concern over permission given for beer sale at Levee Park during the celebration.

Dr. Rohrer said that he felt that this was contrary to long-standing board policy which prohibited the sale of beer on park property.

Commissioner Edward M. Allen observed, that while he wasn't necessarily criticizing the action personally, he did think "Maybe the Council should have checked with us first."

After two successive warm days temperatures took a dive to cooler regions in Wisconsin today.

The high in the state Monday reached 91 at Racine and 90 in the Rockford-Beloit area but today's highs weren't expected to exceed the mid 80s in the south.

The lowest temperature in the state Monday night was 42 degrees in the Duluth-Superior area.

THE NATION'S high temperature Monday was 106 at Palm Springs, Calif. This morning's low was 32 at Mullian, Idaho.

Winona's newest industry was hailed Monday as a welcome addition to the city and the state and as a possible contributor to world peace.

Speakers at the dedication of the Bravo Foods, Inc., plant here said the firm would employ Minnesotans, would provide a wider market for its agricultural products and — because it has sister plants in Latin America — would help foster the kind of economic cooperation that might lead eventually to closer political cooperation.

THE FIRM, situated in the former Swift & Co. plant at the city's east end, will begin its operation here in about two weeks, beginning with a beef kill. A pork kill and a meat-canning section will be added later.

Monday's dedication ceremonies took place in late-afternoon breezes beneath a grove of trees in a corner of the Bravo property.

Principal speakers were Uruguayan Ambassador Don Juan Felipe Yriart and Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag. Also giving brief addresses were William Farrell, state commissioner of business development, and Russell Schwandt, state agriculture commissioner.

The ambassador, a frequent visitor to Minnesota since his appointment to Washington 21 months ago, noted Uruguay and Minnesota have much in common.

"We are both producers of foodstuffs in a world that is rapidly approaching a food shortage," he asserted.

IT IS POSSIBLE to compete on the world market and still join together for the benefit of both Uruguay and Minnesota, he said. This cooperation may be furthered, he pointed out, by Bravo Foods, a subsidiary of Charles A. Sayous, Inc., which operates plants in Uruguay and Argentina and distributing companies in Europe.

It was his understanding, the ambassador said, that Uruguay meat would be imported by the Winona Bravo plant, which would then process it.

This kind of program, he said, would employ Uruguayan and provide an outlet for their country's beef — "which is being brought (into the United States) anyway" — and would also provide employment for Minnesotans.

Such solutions to problems of commerce, he ambassador maintained, might contribute to finding solutions for political problems.

THE GOVERNOR noted the difference between Winona's appearance Monday and the way it looked at the time of his last visit, which was during the April flood. There was excitement during the April visit, he said, because of a feeling that the flood threat would be conquered — and because of a rumor that "some company" was planning to move to Winona.

Since then, Gov. Rolvaag went on, "the city saved itself" and Bravo Foods brought the Swift plant, bringing an industry here to replace one that had left the city.

He, too, said food was an important commodity in a world that did not have enough of it. "Food is meant to be produced to be used and not to be destroyed," he asserted.

FARRELL said the establishment of the Sayous subsidiary here gave Minnesota business ties with Uruguay, a nation with which it has long had cultural and social ties.

He joined other Minnesotans in welcoming the firm, declaring, "a state is known by the companies it keeps."

Schwandt, noting that Minnesota is one of the top five states in production of agricultural goods, said the new plant would help the state widen its market for these products.

Harold Briesath, City Council president, welcomed the plant to Winona on behalf of Mayor R. K. Ellings, who could not attend the ceremony.

"The City Council is a cooperative council" that will do all it can to help business here, he maintained.

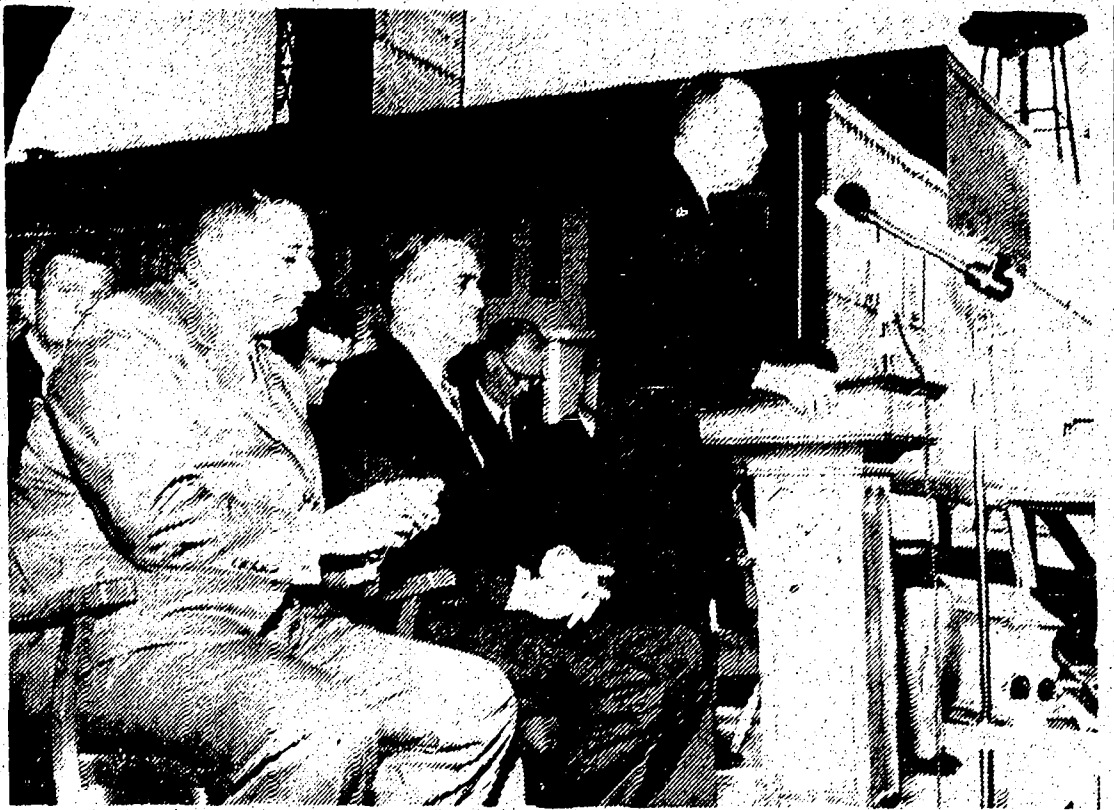

Master of ceremonies for the dedication was L. Speed Stone, Sayous' vice president for public relations, who has been here the last two weeks helping the plant get ready to open.

Stone traced the history of the Sayous organization since its beginning as a meat sales firm 11 years ago. It began to operate its own plants four years ago and now has three in Uruguay and one in Argentina.

When it decided to open a plant in the United States, he said, it was offered more than 60 representatives of the firm inspected these plants, he said, "but we kept coming back to Winona, Minn."

"The condition of the plant and the availability of livestock in quantity were two factors that contributed to his company's decision to come here, Stone asserted, but the most important

OVER DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

Friends Can Differ, Ambassador Asserts

His country and the United States can have differing opinions but can remain friends, the ambassador of Uruguay said here Monday.

Don Juan Felipe Yriart said in an interview that Uruguay joined other Latin American nations in disapproving of the United States intervention in the Dominican Republic.

"But there's no passion about it," he asserted.

HE EXPLAINED that his government has taken a bipartisan stand against the United States action in the Caribbean island nation and that this stand has widespread support in Uruguay.

This stand, however, has engendered no hostility against the United States, he said, and the Uruguayan people wish to continue close economic, social and political cooperation with this country.

The Uruguayan controller general, Raul Bara San Martin, said at a meeting of the Economic Commission for Latin America in Mexico City in May that his country was "strongly in opposition to the United States intervention as it had been to Russia's intervention in another Latin American country."

His reference was to Cuba, although the controller general joined with the delegates of the Soviet Union and Cuba in denouncing the United States action.

THE AMBASSADOR said here, however, that there stated his country's position only because other nations had brought the matter up and he felt that Uruguay's stand — which was that of a minority of nations at the inter-American conference — should be made clear.

Uruguay's opposition to American intervention in the Dominican Republic, the ambassador explained, stems from its conviction that the Organization of American States should have been consulted first.

President Lyndon B. Johnson has contended that there was no time for such prior consultation.

The ambassador pointed out that Uruguay is a small nation, and it thus depends for its survival on other nations observing international law.

For this reason, he said, it opposed what it contended was a disregard of the principles of the OAS charter on the part of the United States.

IN URUGUAY, he said, there is "a definite feeling that the U.S. is wrong."

He noted that even such good friends of the United States as Chile and Mexico have taken stands similar to Uruguay's.

The tall, graying ambassador, who has been back in this country 21 months, said there is a lot of discussion of the Dominican situation in Latin America. United States prestige has been damaged there, he said, adding, "I don't know how seriously."

Bank Purchases Inventory of Vulcan Firm

Merchants National Bank bought the raw and finished inventory of Vulcan Manufacturing Co., 3rd and Wilson streets, for $2,200 at a sheriff's auction held Monday afternoon.

There were only two bidders Monday. Dale Thul, Austin, and Leonard Hurst, Albert Lea, Minn., who bought Vulcan's machines and equipment for $37,951 Friday would not go above $1,600 as a bid on the inventory.

Attorney C. Stanley McMahon, acting as agent for the bank at Monday's auction, said afterward that the bank would undoubtedly resell the inventory. Vulcan can buy it back for the auction price plus costs within a two-day period after the auction, McMahon noted.

Thul and Hurst, of Hurst Engineering Co., Albert Lea, said Monday that they still have not decided whether to operate Vulcan's machinery in Winona or to move it elsewhere.

All that remains for the Small Business Administration's foreclosure on Vulcan to be complete is the scheduled Aug. 4 sale of the Vulcan building.

The more than $40,000 realized in the two sales so far are to be paid toward the $80,000 balance on the SBA's $100,000 loan to Vulcan. Merchants Bank was the lending agency.

'65 Station Wagon Stolen

Melvin Praxel, 507 E. Sanborn St., reported a 1965 red and white Buick station wagon stolen from behind his house sometime between Monday at 11 p.m. and today at 3:14 a.m.

Police Chief James W. McCabe said today that Praxel used the station wagon as a spare ambulance and kept it parked behind his house. The stolen car was equipped with citizen's band radio; an aerial sprouts from the center of its roof.

Praxel noticed that the station wagon was missing when he left his house today at 3:14 a.m. to make an ambulance call. The keys had not been left in the ignition of the stolen vehicle, Praxel said.

The network of police departments and sheriff's offices has been alerted to be on the lookout for Praxel's station wagon, bearing Minnesota license No. 1 JB 707.

Winona police also received, today at 8:44 a.m., a stolen car alert from WABASHA, Minn., police. The missing car is a 1954 Chevrolet sedan with light blue bottom and white top. It bears Minnesota license No. 1 PB 179.

GILMANTON, Wis. (Special)—Buffalo County Democrats will meet July 6 at 8:30 p.m. at Gilmanton Grade School.

Swift Buying Station Moving To New Building

A new 50-by-112-foot building just west of Winona will serve as the new livestock buying station for Swift & Co. here, according to George Hittner, station manager.

Friday will be the last day for receiving livestock at the buying station at the east end of Sanborn Street. He says the new buying station on old Highway 61, one mile west of the outdoor theater, should be open July 6, although there may be a short delay.

All livestock purchased will be housed in the new building. There will be no outside pens. The structure will accommodate 300 hogs and about 100 cattle at one time.

Hittner says the livestock will be shipped out the same day and no livestock will remain in the building overnight. The firm will purchase hogs, cattle and calves. Most livestock will be shipped to South St. Paul, although some may go to Des Moines, Iowa, and Rochelle, Ill.

A 20-by-25-foot office is being constructed adjacent to the livestock building.

There will be three buyers at the station. They include Archie Davis, Larry Hossner and Hittner. Gus Gaustad will be the state livestock weighmaster.

Jury Hearing Meat Dispute

Trial by a jury began today in municipal court in a case appealed from conciliation court involving an allegedly bad quarter of meat.

Miss Virginia Ernster, Caledonia, Minn., alleges that she bought a quarter of meat from Tushner's Super Market, 501 E. 3rd St., last March and that the meat turned out to be nearly inedible.

Daniel J. Tushner, 1721 W. Mark St., the defendant, has refused to refund Miss Ernster's purchase price.

Special Municipal Judge Loren W. Torgerson is presiding in the case, which is being tried by a six-man jury.

Attorney Robert D. Langford represents Miss Ernster, and Dennis A. Chalken represents Tushner.

Jurors are Lawrence W. Barrett, Mrs. James A. Ives, John Kleist, Mrs. Carl W. Lauer, Fred Nhas and David J. Kinoski.

Neighbors Give Firemen Party

BROOKLINA, Mass. (A)—The neighbors held a party Monday night for the fire fighters at the St. Mary's Street station.

"We wanted to show our appreciation," said a woman who baked cookies for the event. "They've been real neighbors to all of us in the years they've been here."

The fire house is going to be torn down when the firemen move to a new station on another street.

It Happened Last Night Fashion Lunches Draw Big Crowds

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK — I still get shocked at some things here in New York... such as looking up from my lunch to see a gorgeous blonde... in easy pinching distance from me... wagging about in a nudish black lace transparent negligee... that takes my mind off my eggs Benedict.

Am I old-fashioned, or puritanical, or something?
"Our Place," a smart new spot with Tony Bennett, Eva Gabor and her husband, Dick Brown, and Less Crane as investors, has about a dozen of these waggles wagging around in a lingerie-and-bikini "fashion show" each Wednesday noon... and the other day it was packed with male customers who are just crazy about fashions.

"Miss," said one customer, wiggling a finger at a beauty in a jump suit...

(That, according to my secretary, Barbara Bergstrom, of Clifton, N.J., is a one-piece nothing-under-it-but-girl piece of lace, easy to jump into).

"Miss," the man said, "I want to buy that. Take it right off and wrap it up."

The model thought she ought to take it off somewhere else besides right in the middle of the restaurant. Nora Hayden, operator of the place, said I shouldn't be shocked because Hollywood has barebosomed waitresses and Kansas City and Boston years ago had completely nude waitresses.

"PROFESSOR" Irwin Corey got up to announce, "These lingerie shows are such a success that next week we're going to have fire drills, followed by a hike."

I can't help wondering whether the customers' wives are going to approve of these "businessmen's lunches."

Actor Victor Jory had a special nurse at Flower-5th Av. Hospital after a heart attack... Frank Sinatra, Hollywood Atty. Mickey Rudin and Teamsters Unionist Harold Gibbins flew TWA to Israel, Frank leaving the premiere of his "Van Ryan's Express" (a suspenseful thriller) a few minutes after it started. Comedians said, "Frank went to Israel to visit Sammy Davis' birthplace, and call on Sammy's father, Meyer." Actually, he went to appear in a Yul Brynner movie...

THE ATTORNEY said the Osseo plant could have kept going temporarily and was prepared to pay cash for milk while trying to work something out. Area patrons continued delivering milk to the plant until one farmer read in a farm magazine that the company had gone into receivership. Panicking, they started selling elsewhere, so the plant was obliged to begin laying off its some 60 employees.

The attorney said three things led to the company's financial difficulties. Operations hadn't been profitable. Certain surplus funds were invested in stock of a Chicago savings and loan firm and was resold to a company that defaulted on payment, leaving a net loss of $50,000 to $75,000.

A FORMER shareholders group caused the company to get loans from two banks and the money was invested in this group's other ventures, tying up $400,000 to $500,000.

Levit said efforts were being made to recover these funds. He also said the company's brokerage operations was continuing to sell at a profit and had $75,000 in cash plus accounts of $200,000.

The state Department of Agriculture has cancelled United's license.

One of Durfey's oil paintings was recently awarded a blue ribbon in a Cresco, Iowa, art show.

Mallard Nest
A coil of old rope on a dock, selected as a nest by a mallard hen, could mean several things — a scarcity of nesting places due to the flood; little boat traffic or confidence in man on the part of the hen. Merritt Kelley, Daily News photographer, discovered the apparently very tame wild duck happily hatching a nest full of eggs on this harbor dock.

The dock, in continuous use, (note the gas pump), is in the harbor at the Indian Creek Resort on the Mississippi River just north of Fountain City, Wis. Most of the time boaters stopping for gasoline don't see the duck, and attendants of the resort working on the dock just step over the rope. In the foreground is the fish cleaning table with a pump. The mallard apparently likes visitors.

It has been in only the past couple of weeks that activities got under way since high water delays. Fishing, of course, has also been handicapped by the high water, although some nice walleyes and an abundance of panfish have been caught. Now, with nearly normal water, the cruising houseboat season begins.

Father Giving Kidney to Daughter, 13

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — "If the Lord's willing, everything will come out just fine."

Those were John Honeycutt's words as he prepared for surgery today to give his 13-year-old daughter a new lease on life. Honeycutt, 48, an Anniston, Ala., pipefitter, and his youngest daughter, Johnnie Gail, undergo simultaneous operations today.

Tulane University surgeons plan to take out one of Honeycutt's two healthy kidneys and transplant it in Johnnie Gail's body.

The frail blonde girl's kidneys were ruined by chronic nephritis.

The girl was flown to Charity Hospital from Atlanta, Ga., five weeks ago.

The Tulane doctors made medical history recently with kidney transplants from chimpanzees and monkeys to humans. Those transplants ultimately failed because the human bodies rejected the foreign tissue.

The rejection problem is not as great in Johnnie's case since the transplant kidney will be from a close relative—the next best thing to one from an identical twin.

If the transplant is successful, Johnnie Gail should be able to lead a fairly normal life. Unless there are unseen complications, her father can live with one kidney.

Strike Idles 85 Per Cent of Chicago's Taxis

CHICAGO (AP) — Thousands of habitual cab riders lined up for buses and subways today, the fourth day of a strike that has idled 85 per cent of the city's cabs.

Meetings between union and cab company officials were scheduled to discuss contract disputes.

Besides additional Chicago Transit Authority services, private limousine and about 1,000 independent taxi drivers were trying to fill the transportation void.

The CTA reported Monday a 10 per cent increase in riders downtown and Flash Taxi Co., largest of the independents, said cab calls were doubled.

The strike, in its fourth day, involves about 6,000 drivers and mechanics of the Yellow Cab Co. and the Checker Taxi Co., the city's two largest firms.

Company dispatchers and Chicago police have estimated that about 250,000 persons ride cabs every day. They guessed that the strike had cut this figure by 75 per cent.

Commissioner William Cherry of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service said officials of Local 772, Democratic Union Organizing Committee, and company representatives were to meet in his office.

Contract disagreements include medical benefits, seniority, pensions and other items.

Recruiter Named District Agent

New Southeastern Minnesota district agent for the Northwestern Mutual Insurance Co. is Jack L. Benson, who retired earlier this month as an Army recruiter.

Capt. Benson was in charge of the Mankato Army recruiting station from January 1960 to November 1962. In 1962 he was named recruiting sales supervisor for southern Minnesota and southwestern Wisconsin but continued to live in Mankato.

His Northwestern Mutual office will be in the Professional Building, 172 Main St. He is married and lives with his wife and five children at 1859 Edgewood Rd.

Benson originally enlisted in the Army in November 1942 and served in New Guinea, Australia and the Philippines during World War II. Since then he has been stationed in all parts of the United States and also spent 3 1/2 years in Germany. He returned to the United States in 1957.

While he did not see combat during the Korean War, he was commissioned in 1951 and attained the rank of captain.

Capt. Benson said he would be available for counseling of youths interested in the military service and also would accept speaking engagements.

He is a member of the Elks, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Catholic church.

His Northwestern Mutual territory includes Winona, Wabasha, Houston and part of Fillmore County.

Milwaukee Set For Big Festival

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee becomes a city with a cotton candy heart this weekend. A "Day in Old Milwaukee" — actually a five-day festival — will be celebrated with a circus air that its disciples believe is unmatched anywhere.

A crowd of half a million people is expected to line Milwaukee's streets for the climactic circus parade Monday. An old-fashioned circus train will haul gaily painted circus wagons to Milwaukee from Baraboo, birthplace of the famed Ringling Bros. show.

With bombs bursting in air, a gargantuan nighttime fireworks display will be staged on Lake Michigan's shores Sunday, the Fourth of July. And the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus will perform Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Milwaukee Arena.

Gov. and Mrs. Warren P. Knowles and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ringling will head the parade, starting at 2 p.m. Monday.

The line of clowns, caged animals, cowboys, elephants, marching bands, antique animals, and other units will stretch out more than five miles.

The Circus World Museum at Baraboo will load its 40 historic parade wagons onto a circus train that will arrive in Milwaukee Thursday.

Winding through scenic central Wisconsin, the train will be pulled by an old-time steam locomotive. The antique wagons will be loaded and unloaded in the same manner as circus trains have been handled throughout their colorful history. Until the parade, the wagons will be displayed at a lakefront show grounds.

Plays, musicals, and sports will augment the circus festival activities.

A local brewery, sponsor of the three-year-old festival, will spend more than $300,000 on the program.

Rough Weather Hits Nebraska

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Rough weather hit Nebraska in heavy concentration Monday night and early today. Heavy rains, hail, and tornadoes drubbed the area and caused flash-flooding which closed highways in the state's southeast corner.

As much as 7 inches of rain fell at Humboldt, and headwaters of the Nemaha River overtopped nearby roads. Northwest of DeWitt, Neb., strong north winds flung hailstones which shattered all of the windows in the north wall of a church. More than 5 inches of rain fell just southwest of Burchard.

Several tornadoes touched down in open territory, apparently causing little damage.

The severe weather was generated by an influx of cool dry air into a humid warm mass.

In Indiana, a tornado was reported to have struck buildings in the northeastern part of Indianapolis, and strong winds damaged several houses and a garage in another part of the city.

Except for Nebraska and Indiana and a few scattered shower locations, most of the country had clear skies.

Airman Drowns While Swimming at Okinawa

BARRON, Wis. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Masrud of Route 1, Barron, were notified today that their son, Steven, 19, drowned while swimming off the beach at Okinawa. He was stationed at the Air Force base on the island.

The Masruds were told that their son was using a snorkel tube when he reportedly was caught in the rip tide and carried out to sea. His body has not been recovered.

The young airman was a 1964 graduate of Barron High School. He is survived by his parents and four brothers.

Marine Strength In Viet Nam Being Debated

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Ranking U.S. Marine staff officers in Viet Nam are debating whether the 16,500 Leathernecks in the country are enough to defend U.S. beachheads and installations and at the same time press the war against the Viet Cong.

Opinion seems to be split down the middle.

The Marine commander in Viet Nam, Maj. Gen. Lewis W. Walt, has promised a tough policy of more Marine patrols, especially at night, to go after the elusive enemy. The idea is that the best defense is a strong offense to keep the Viet Cong off balance and prevent them from massing for an attack.

This is in line with a position taken several weeks ago by Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr., Marine Corps commandant. Greene said the Marine objective in Viet Nam is to "find Viet Cong and kill them."

But many officers here believe that the Marines' offensive role is limited until they get reinforcements. They say at present the Marines are stretched thinly around the key air bases at Da Nang, Phu Bai and Chu Lai and are just holding their own in an area infested with perhaps 20 hard-core Viet Cong battalions.

They contend there aren't enough Marines to go out on patrols all night and guard fortified positions in the withering heat during the day.

Another question is whether the South Vietnamese can be expected to make gains in their counterinsurgency war without the use of Marines in an open combat role. Brig. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, commander of the Vietnamese army's 1st corps area, has encouraged such a role.

But Walt and other Marine spokesmen have gone no further than to indicate that the

COMMITTEE OKS $50 DUTY LIMIT

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee has reversed itself and agreed to a $50 duty-free exemption on purchases carried into this country by U.S. tourists.

The action came Monday afternoon after a morning session in which the committee had approved a $100 limit.

The $50 limit has been sought by the Johnson administration as a way to help cut the balance of payments deficit.

Cattle Killed In Truck Crash

DURAND, Wis. (Special) — An Osseo trucker en route to Whitehall Packing Co. with 23 head of cattle from St. Paul went off Highway 10 Sunday night during a heavy rain storm. The accident occurred in Pierce County 1½ miles west of Plum City.

The rain was accompanied by wind.

Roscoe Henning, 48, driving a semi for Arnold Anderson Trucking Co., Osseo, lost control on slippery pavement and went over an embankment as he was driving down the Plum City hill. He wasn't injured in the accident, but when he got out of the truck to free the cattle, he received a dislocated shoulder. Mrs. Henning, who was with him, wasn't injured.

Three Durand wreckers, a motor patrol from the Town of Union near Plum City, Leroy Peterson and Larry Larrabee, Pierce County traffic officers, and Roy Simenson, Pierce County undersheriff, worked all night to free the truck and cattle. Twelve of the cattle were dead. The remaining 11 were taken to a nearby farm. The tractor and trailer were damaged extensively.

Marines could be assigned to combat in support of government forces in the event of an emergency.

Mankato Council Asks Bids on New Flood Dikes

MANKATO, Minn. (AP) — The Mankato City Council gave the city engineer permission Monday night to call for bids on re-vamping city dikes.

The improvements are expected to cost about $200,000, said Mayor Rex Hill, and would protect Mankato from floodwaters of the Blue Earth and Minnesota rivers which join at the west edge of Mankato.

The proposed dike would start at the Blue Earth River bridge on Highway 169-60 south of Mankato and continue through Sibley Park, using a stretch of high ground in the park as a natural barrier, then continue north to Minnesota River dikes. City Engineer Irving Samuelson said the proposed dike could handle a 36-foot flood crest along the Blue Earth River and a 31-foot gauge reading in the Minnesota at the Main Street bridge. During April floods the Minnesota crested at 29.07 feet.

U.S. Moves to Seize 500,000 Firecrackers

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — An order seeking seizure of nearly a half million firecrackers, the same kind that have injured several children in other states, was to be filed in U.S. District Court here today.

Stanley Green, assistant U.S. attorney, said the seizure procedures have been started at the request of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, against the Arrowhead Fireworks Co., of Duluth.

A slight puncture will cause the firecracker to explode, and several children have been injured after putting them in their mouths, Green said. He added that the small, round Japanese-made firecrackers look like candy.

This self-feeding rack is a design resulting from close observation of three seasons of a herd of cattle where green forage was harvested twice daily. It is completely self-feeding. The side stakes act as stall partitions and are very important in reducing waste to a minimum. The doors are important for reducing waste when filling the rack. The rack is ruggedly constructed to stand daily use over rough farm roads at high speeds with heavy loads. Stop in and look over one of these racks at your earliest convenience. We have 16 racks on hand at all times. However, racks can be built any length desired. A 16' rack will handle from 35 to 42 cows.

We Must Remember Tradition of Dissent

A WASHINGTON columnist has devoted a long piece to campus dissent from U.S. policy in Viet Nam. He concludes that in most instances a small number of faculty members have inspired a small number of students to object to escalation, and that a majority either support the government policy or are not much roused by the issue.

This appears to be a fair conclusion. The fact that dissidents are in the minority does not, however, rob their dissent — or the cause and substance of their dissent — of importance. The State Department's concern, which led it to send a team of experts to several campuses, is well justified. This is so even though one may have some misgivings about the "truth squad" approach as a venture in using the great prestige of the government to beat down opposition to its policies.

The Foreign Service team met some shrewd questioning, which deteriorated on occasion into outright heckling. It would be easy to interpret the latter as evidence of Communist infiltration of faculty and student bodies, but that over-simplifies the matter without accurately accounting for it.

THERE CAN be little doubt that the extreme left is hard at work trying to influence campus opinion. But ascribing all dissent to the Communists is a dangerous mistake. Though we must be alert to Communist influence, branding as red anyone who presumes to disagree with official policy is both unfair and counter to the tradition that undergirds America's strength. This is the tradition of open dissent, which in this case must involve discussion of policy without either overt or implied restraint of those who differ with the official viewpoint. The old concept of keeping America safe for differences is still a sound one.

De Gaulle Overlooks What Happened 20 Years Ago

ALTHOUGH HIS sense of history is highly developed, Charles de Gaulle of France observed the recent anniversary of V-E Day as if he had forgotten what happened 20 years ago.

The end of the war in Europe freed France from a bitter servitude. Paris, almost until the end, was a captured city and the French government at Vichy was a sorry voice for a proud nation.

It was England that gave De Gaulle refuge. It was the Allied arms that liberated France.

Yet on the anniversary of V-E Day, De Gaulle more bluntly than ever hacked away at the idea of cooperation with France's old partners.

He denounces U.S. policy in Southeast Asia and the Dominican Republic and insists that the U.S. withdraw from Europe, both militarily and economically. He stands by his refusal to allow England into the Common Market or to have any hand in the affairs of West Europe.

FRENCHMEN are beginning to see what De Gaulle cannot — that U.S. power and commitment to the defense of Europe are the only things that guarantee its integrity in a divided world. It was the U.S., said the newspaper Aurore, that enabled France to "live and recover," and Frenchmen are "stupefied" by De Gaulle's narrow nationalism.

West Germany's Chancellor Ludwig Erhard put it more diplomatically but as plainly when he said that "power policy inspired by exaggerated nationalistic feeling is doomed to fail."

No one is certain what Charles de Gaulle really is up to since the course he has set for France is so obviously self-defeating. In the perilous state of the world it is also highly dangerous.

In this light, President Johnson's address on V-E Day, which was clearly aimed at the general in Paris, was a model of restraint.

The President contented himself with recalling the hopes of mankind that the end of that terrible war might be the end of all war.

The hope has been deferred and the world is full of trouble. But as the President said, and De Gaulle might well ponder, there is no problem that exists which will not yield more readily to common and united action.

AND VERY FEW that France has, for instance, can be solved without it.

Viet War Test Of Endurance

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The Viet Nam war is becoming a test of endurance. The Communists are sure the United States will falter and ultimately give in. They read in the American newspapers that many members of Congress are making speeches which can be interpreted as a desire for surrender. They see article after article proposing that the United States get out of Southeast Asia altogether.

There is no doubt that wars are unpopular with the American people. No war has ever been entered with enthusiasm. But when the war gets under way, there is usually a recognition that it is important to win victory in the shortest possible time. Undermining the morale of the troops by casting doubt on the policies of one's own government in the middle of war can be tragic. That is why "free speech" is no excuse for giving aid and comfort to the enemy.

The most important task before the government here today, therefore, is to convince the world that it does not intend to get out of Viet Nam until the main objective there has actually been achieved.

What is the objective? It is to make sure that the people of Viet Nam will be able to live their own lives without facing a Communist threat to take over their government and oppress them.

THE WORLD has witnessed the effects of surrender policies in the last 20 years. Eastern Europe is a living example of how the conqueror has come, retained complete control of the local governments, and made a mockery of the principle of self-determination. There was no effective response to such aggressive action. There was acquiescence instead.

Many Americans do not understand the relationship between a war in Viet Nam and their own lives. They are being told every day that wars in a far-distant land are of no importance to them and could just as well be ignored. But, realistically, the armed services of the United States are still quartered in various parts of the world — not only in Southeast Asia but in Western Europe as well.

Certainly the tense situation surrounding the Berlin wall has been more publicized than the facts about Viet Nam. Aggression is better understood when it is explained in terms of what can happen in Europe if the United States withdraws its aid from its Western Allies.

GREAT BRITAIN, moreover, is involved at the moment in helping to save Malaysia from the Communist intrigues engineered by Sukarno, the Indonesian leader. There is trouble not only in the Middle East but in Africa. Indeed, throughout the world the danger spots are still numerous.

Yet the basic principles remain the same. If the United States gives up the fight and, as the most powerful nation in the world, withdraws from the contest, there will be more acts of aggression. Ultimately, Western Europe will be overrun and American will truly be plunged into a nuclear war.

The United States today stands guard in the Far East. It has, by resolution of Congress, announced that it will not permit Formosa to be invaded without coming to the defense of the Nationalist Chinese. The Philippines, Australia and Japan expect the United States to come to their rescue if there is a Communist attack. The entire equilibrium, however, can be disturbed if the United States drops out of Viet Nam. So the problem now is to reiterate to the world that, even if it takes five years or ten years, the United States intends to stay in Viet Nam until some way of maintaining peace has been found.

THERE ISN'T the slightest objection here in theory to the use of the United Nations machinery to bring about a peaceful settlement. Also, the efforts being made by the British commonwealth conference of nations are welcomed. The Communists will wish to extricate themselves when they realize that they cannot win the war.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Mississippi Ex-Governor Bidding for Court Post

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Today, before the Senate Judiciary Committee, former Gov. James P. Coleman of Mississippi, and old friend of President Johnson, comes up for confirmation to be a judge of the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals.

This is the circuit which hand handled about 75 percent of the important civil rights cases. Its members have the power to influence the progress of Negro voting rights, school integration, and equality of job opportunities in the South for many years to come.

Gov. Coleman, an able lawyer, brilliant political strategist, and a charming, likeable gentleman, should make a good impression before the Senate committee. Not only will he be able to handle himself well, but he will testify under the benevolent jurisdiction of Chairman Jim Eastland, also from Mississippi, who rules the Judiciary Committee with a firm hand and jaunty, cocksure manner.

ON THE committee, however, are some important new senators who have tipped the balance away from the old Dixiecrat. Republican coalition which once dominated the confirmation of judges. They are Teddy Kennedy, brother of the late President' Birch Bayh of Indiana; Quentin Burdick of North Dakota, and Joe Tydings of Maryland, all fairly new, all with vigorous ideas of their own.

In addition there are Phil Hart of Michigan, Tom Dodd of Connecticut, and Ed Long of Missouri, all for civil rights, though easily swayed by the White House when the President wants an old friend confirmed.

But three other Republicans, Jacob Javits, N.Y., Hiram Fong, Hawaii, and Hugh Scott, Pa., are likely to vote no. And if the four young Democrats — Kennedy, Bayh, Burdick and Tydings — team up with them, the confirmation of Coleman will depend on how smoothly the White House massages the ego of Ed Long, Tom Dodd and Phil Hart.

EGO - MASSAGING and whip-cracking probably will decide Coleman's confirmation in the end. But, with some senators' testimony will count too. And Senate testimony is almost certain to show that Jim Coleman was one of the shrewdest opponents of the Supreme Court ever to be nominated to a judicial post to carry out decrees of the Supreme Court.

As governor of Mississippi in 1956, he helped pass the "interposition law" which directed the governor and every executive branch of Mississippi government "to prohibit by any lawful, peaceful and constitutional means the implementation of or the compliance with the integration decisions of the United States Supreme Court."

Gov. Coleman is no rabble-rouser. He believes in getting things done, not shouting about them. Because he accomplished a great deal but talked little, his political adversaries eventually began calling him a moderate.

This got under the governor's skin so much that he replied, June 30, 1959:

"I am well aware that a little handful of my political adversaries have tried to destroy my place in the affections of my fellow Mississippians by claiming that I am a 'moderate.' Apparently, these people cannot tell a moderate from a successful segregationist. They have made a great sham of this, and every time they get a chance they try to stir it up.

"I ask you to ignore what they say and look at what the record says. . . I stand on a record of performance and I have delivered the goods. I am not entitled to be called a moderate."

COLEMAN'S statements on the race issue have been consistent and continuous, dating back from shortly after the Supreme Court's school integration decision. On Aug. 7, 1955, the Jackson Clarion-Ledger quoted Jim as saying:

"Based on the studies I have made and the experience I have had fighting integration attempts, I can say without hesitation that if I am elected governor the schools of Mississippi will never be integrated nor will they be closed."

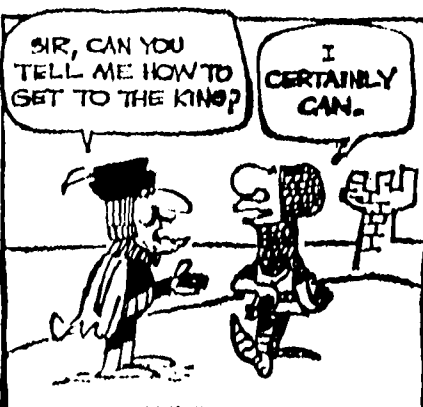

Coleman was elected on that platform, and on Jan. 3, 1965, began carrying it out. In his inaugural speech that day, he came out for "the continued separation of the white and Negro races in accordance with the customs which the experience of 90 years has taught us all."

WASHINGTON CALLING

Command Post Of Kennedy Busy

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — A battery of phones rings constantly. The yellow slips of calls to be returned rain down like leaves in the fall. Secretaries and assistants are crowded together and the buzz of their activity carries out into the small waiting room, almost always filled with hopeful petitioners.

This is operational headquarters in the New Senate Office Building of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York. Anyone interested in historical parallels can remember back to 1957 or '58 when the office of the then Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts was a similar command post with furious, unceasing effort built around the Kennedy goal of the White House.

The driving ambition that activates this entire family is one of the remarkable phenomena of our time. Tragedy and disaster can slow them down. But any interruption means merely a temporary change of pace.

It tends to become magnified into myth which helps to explain why a lot of the comment about the junior senator from New York casts him in the role of super-builder of a political empire. There has even been the suggestion that the timetable is being moved up to try for the presidency in 1968 instead of 1972. As Kennedy said to a friend recently, that doesn't give me credit for any brains at all. Lyndon Johnson will presumably be running for a second full term in '68 and any challenge from within his own party should not only be deeply divisive but certain to fail, given the political power of the presidency.

WITH the New York mayoralty race exploding in a dozen different directions Kennedy is faced with a more immediate problem. If the city and the state are to be his principal power base a Kilkenny fight among rival Democrats for city hall may be disastrous. On the other hand, a primary in September that did not spill too much blood could, as Kennedy sees it, be a healthy thing.

He was a warm memory of what the presidential primaries and the intensive campaigns leading up to the primary contests did for his brother. It can even be said that without those forays in state after state Jack Kennedy could not have dramatized his appeal, his youth and attraction.

But Sen. Kennedy, a realist as all Kennedys are, sees in New York City a shadow that falls across 1968, extending beyond the confines of his own adopted state. If Rep. John Lindsay, a Republican with the clean-cut appeal of the late President Kennedy, should win the mayoralty race, it would be a grievous blow for the Democratic party and not alone in New York.

This would dramatize the weakening hold of the party long in power in the big-city states. California is a question mark next year and particularly if Sen. Thomas Kuchel, a moderate Republican with a wide following in both parties, should decide to run for governor. In Pennsylvania the Democrats have been hurt by a rough intraparty fight. In short, to put the gloomiest possible look on it, from the Democratic viewpoint, if the three biggest states come under Republican control the outlook for 1968 will be dimmed.

THE KENNEDYS, as no one can forget, have a second entry in the presidential futurity. The stock of Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts, who made such an amazing recovery from the airplane crash of a year ago, has been rising. Because of his more relaxed temperament and his personal warmth some bookmakers rate him higher than his brother.

But for Teddy, too, there is the problem of the stability of his political base. The erosion of Massachusetts' ancient corruption is beginning to tell. And in Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke, the Negro holding the highest elective office in the country and a phenomenal vote-getter in a state with only a small minority of Negroes, the Republicans have an asset which, if they have the sense to use it, could make a big difference.

As for the senator from New York he will try to

Disputes "Irresponsibility" Charge Against Thels

To the Editor:

It is probably a fair indication of the degree of frustration felt by Winona County Republicans that their chairman is reduced to making the silly charge of irresponsibility against Representative Frank Thels in last Thursday's DAILY NEWS.

At the risk of dignifying the diatribe by replying, one might simply quote Rep. Thels' statement in the May 27 DAILY NEWS: "House passage was achieved for all bills requested by Winona city and county governments and most eventually were signed into law." Not so incidentally, "Thels was either chief or associate author of all such legislation proposed in the House." Furthermore, Mr. Thels served with distinction as a member of the liberal minority on an unusual number of important committees, namely those on taxation, education, state and junior colleges, and forestry and public domain.

In brief, if this record is one of ineffective, irresponsible representation, then we could well do with a good deal more of the same. Snide references to a man's "articulate and knowledgeable performance" — and the two adjectives are neither synonymous nor necessarily complementary — can in no way detract from his record of solid accomplishment during his first term as our city representative.

I assume that by his coy reference to "when the time comes" your correspondent has in mind November 1966.

J. A. Richardson

keep out, publicly at least, of the shattering primary fight. He knows from his experience of last fall that New York politics is a jungle with every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost. With an almost wistful backward glance he recalls Carmine De Sapio who patrolled the jungle and kept down the feuds until he was dethroned.

Robert Kennedy will soon be 40 years old, his brother Teddy is 33. Both Kennedys have, therefore, a long lead time looking to 1972 or later, and in characteristic Kennedy fashion they are taking advantage of every moment of it.

Nichols, who once briefly put aside his trumpet for a welder's torch, suffered what doctors said was a heart attack Monday in his motel room.

He had called the Mint Casino, where he and his combo were booked, and told the switchboard: "Get me a doctor. I can't breathe." Nichols was dead on arrival at a hospital.

In his years with the big bands, Nichols hired and brought forth some of the all-time popular music makers: Benny Goodman, Joe Venuti, Artie Shaw, Gene Krupa, Jimmy Dorsey, Eddie Lang and Arthur Schutt. His first arranger was Glenn Miller.

Juvenile Judge At Red Wing Gets YCC Post

ST. PAUL (AP) — Elmer J. Tomfohr, Red Wing juvenile court judge, was appointed to the state Youth Conservation Commission Monday by Gov. Karl Rolvaag.

The 1965 Legislature increased the commission from five to six members and Judge Tomfohr, 49, was named to the newly created post. He will take office Thursday for a term ending July 1, 1971.

"I have the highest confidence in the abilities of Judge Tomfohr," said the governor. "He has served as a judge of the juvenile court for the past 10 years and through additional specialized training he is keenly aware of the problems associated with juvenile rehabilitation. He is a man of utmost integrity and serious purpose."

Tomfohr studied at the University of Minnesota and received his law training at the St. Paul College of Law. He was admitted to the bar in 1942.

The governor noted that in the past year Judge Tomfohr took a leading part in the Red Wing Citizens Committee for the State Training School.

Special Bridge Being Built for Valuable Worker

CANTERBURY, England (AP) — Frederick Fabb is such an important man that his company is building a special bridge to help him get to work more easily.

"We are getting the bridge made now," said a spokesman for the factory where Fabb is a senior executive. "He's a very important man to us and we want to help all we can in getting him to and from the factory and his home."

Fabb lives on one side of the River Stour. The animal feed plant where he works, is on the other side of the river.

To save Fabb from going the long way around — a distance of about two miles — a 37-foot bridge is being put up near his home. The Kent River Board already has approved the bridge.

Hearing Set For Hayfield Fire Chief

MANTORVILLE, Minn. (AP) — A preliminary hearing is set for 1 p.m. Friday for Robert Charles Watkins, the Hayfield, Minn., fire chief who is charged with grand larceny.

Watkins was arrested Saturday by Dodge County Sheriff Willis Fryer and was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Joseph Maroo. He is free on $1,000 bond.

Watkins is charged in the May 29 theft of $385 from the glove compartment of the car of Wilfred (Sam) Thompson, secretary-treasurer of the Hayfield Fire Department.

Thompson said the money was the proceeds from the annual Hayfield Fire Department fish fry at Hayfield.

Knowles to Seek Markets Abroad

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles may lead a delegation of Wisconsin businessmen to Europe this fall to seek expanded foreign markets.

The governor announced Monday he was "seriously considering" the idea of heading an official Wisconsin Trade Development Mission to Europe. He said a decision would be made by the end of the week.

The goal would be to increase the market of Wisconsin manufacturers abroad and therefore boost job opportunities and plant investment in the state.

Castro Treasures of 'No Artistic Value'

MILAN, Italy (AP) — An art expert for the Italian government says the so-called "treasures of Fidel Castro" is of no artistic value.

A local antique dealer recently purchased five freight cars of furniture and other items which the Cuban government sent to Europe to get hard currency. Cuban exiles in Miami said the shipment consisted of art works seized from wealthy Cubans.

DEAR ABBY:

Bare Facts Can Be Upsetting

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our 18-year-old daughter, a straight "A" student and faithful church member, has gone with a boy (her age) for over a year. He moved here from another state. The other evening he told our daughter that he wanted to tell her something before somebody else did. His parents own and operate a nudist camp! He told her his mother never did approve of it, but his father is the boss and they make a very good living from it. He said when he was eleven his father took a belt to him and put him in the car and made him go up to this camp. He hated it and hitchhiked back home. I think no less of this boy, but I'm afraid if this gets out our daughter's reputation will be ruined. He says he sometimes goes up there to see his mother, but he always wears shorts. Please advise us.

STRICTLY ANONYMOUS

DEAR STRICTLY: Children are not responsible for their parents' behavior. You are right to judge the lad on his own merits. You can't still wagging tongues, so ignore any talk that occurs, and don't waste your energy worrying about it.

DEAR ABBY: I read with interest the letter on how to propose marriage. May I tell you how I did it?

First I bought a diamond ring. Then I invited the young lady to my apartment, and proceeded to serve her an old-fashioned. I had the diamond ring frozen in an ice cube. The girl almost swallowed the ring before she discovered it. But she put it on her finger and it's been there ever since.

GEORGE

DEAR GEORGE: I would call that a real cool proposal.

DEAR ABBY: I have a small problem but it seems to bother me more every night. My husband is a wonderful father in all ways but one. When our little ones go to kiss him goodnight, he turns his cheek for them to kiss, but he never kisses them in return. I have told him many times that a kiss should be mutual — and that he should kiss them in return — but he says he can't see where it matters, and as long as the children are satisfied I shouldn't criticize him. I would like your opinion and am willing to go along with your answer. Thank you.

N.J.

DEAR N.J.: If your husband smokes heavily, chews tobacco or has beer breath, he's doing the kids a favor. But if he's a "wonderful father" in all other ways, I say leave him alone.

DEAR ABBY: In regard to the husband who reported that his wife "sweet-talked" her plants and flowers and it made them grow: I understand how it works and think it is all well and good. So now I am wondering if the opposite treatment would work on unwanted weeds. Let's all go out in the back yard and cuss out the weeds and see what happens!

nounced the emergency and placed a 24-hour ban on watering laws. The department spokesman said city tanks, which draw water from Lake Michigan, were full Monday morning, but dropped drastically in the evening at the peak period for sprinkling. The tanks were filling up again this morning, the spokesman said.

Hurley 'Sin' Area Hit in Reform Drive

HURLEY, Wis. (AP) — The cloud over Hurley's past is getting a silver re-lining.

Half a dozen taverns on Silver Street, the so-called sin strip of the state line town, are being torn down as Hurley pursues its reform drive to make the community more attractive to industry.

The taverns will be succeeded by a $200,000 supermarket, replacing an older store on the same street.

The project will remove one-fourth of the two-block nighttime hurly-burly headquarters for miners and hunters. Four other taverns on the block have either burned or closed.

Of the six being uprooted, one has long been empty, three others are closing and two will move across the street.

Residents are repainting the face of this old girl with the heart of gold — or any other kind of cash — in a summer-long "Clean Up, Paint Up, Fix Up" campaign. The goal is to retouch all 500 buildings in Hurley.

"We're getting 100 percent cooperation," said Mayor Paul J. Santini.

Party Winds Up As Big Blowout

RIO, Wis. (AP) — Rio's 100th birthday anniversary party wound up as a blowout Sunday night.

High winds blew away one tent and collapsed another on beer drinkers, slightly injuring about half a dozen persons. The crowd went home.

The small Central Wisconsin community had started the weekend centennial with a parade led by a life-long resident, Mrs. Thomas R. Johnson, also 100.

Derailed Butane Tank Car Restored

DICKINSON, N.D. (AP) — Workers succeeded Monday in getting a railroad tank car carrying nearly 30,000 gallons of explosive butane gas back on the tracks without incident.

The car, which ran off the end of a sidetrack last Thursday, overturned as a Northern Pacific Railroad crew tried to put it back on the track.

Fire Chief Tony Putschler said that if an accident had occurred in handling the cargo, an entire city block could have been destroyed.

Willy Brandt Urges East-West Trade

ROME (AP) — West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt has urged

a gradual lowering of trade barriers between Europe's two economic communities as a step toward political union.

In a speech at Rome City Hall Monday, the West German Socialist leader proposed that the European Common Market and the European Free Trade Association also set up a secretariat for political coordination.

Public Gets 1st Look at 6 New Spacemen

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The public gets its first close look today at the men who may get the closest look at the moon yet projected — the six new U.S. scientist-astronauts.

In science fiction a couple of decades ago a space scientist was usually "the mad scientist" — an evil genius who almost destroyed the All-America type hero.

But not even the regular U.S. astronaut project a more wholesome image than the six young scientists awaiting introduction today at a news conference at the Manned Spacecraft Center.

They are Dr. Frank D. Michel, 31; Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin, 33; Dr. Duane E. Graveline, 34; Dr. Edward G. Gibson, 28; Dr. Owen K. Garriott, 34, and Dr. Harrison Schmitt, 29.

Five are married and have children. The bachelor, Schmitt, is going to a family reunion in Minnesota Saturday.

On average they stand just over 5 feet, 10 inches tall and weigh a little more than 160 pounds.

Most come from small home towns like Enid, Okla. (Garriott); Newport, Vt. (Graveline); Oak Park, Ill. (Kerwin); La Crosse, Wis. (Michel), and Santa Rita, N.M. (Schmitt).

It is estimated the first moon flight is at least four years distant and none of these six men is expected to be along. Their job probably will be to study the lunar surface later.

Next in order is the Gemini 5 mission in August for Air Force Maj. L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Charles Conrad Jr., possibly including a brief space walk.

Family Reunion In Minnesota

SILVER CITY, N.M. (AP) — Dr. Harrison H. Schmitt, one of six scientist-astronauts introduced at a press conference in Houston, Tex., today, will be in Battle Lake, Minn., Sunday at a family reunion.

The reunion will mark Schmitt's 30th birthday. His family owns a summer home at Battle Lake.

Schmitt is a geologist with the U.S. Geological Survey at Flagstaff, Ariz., where he is project chief on photo and telescopic mapping of the moon and planets.

He is single, and a native of Santa Rita, N.M.

Wisconsin to Continue Fight On NSP Plant

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Wisconsin will continue to seek a permanent injunction against construction of a power plant on the St. Croix River, despite a ruling by Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark Monday.

That was the word from the office of Wisconsin Atty. Gen. Bronson LaFollette, which said Clark's decision had nothing to do with the merits of Wisconsin's case.

Clark refused to block construction of a steam power plant which Northern States Power Co., Minneapolis, is building at Oak Park Heights.

"We are continuing in our efforts to commence an original action in the U.S. Supreme Court for a permanent injunction against the construction of the NSP plant," LaFollette said, WASHINGTON (AP) — A $25,000 grant to Minnesota, under the new Land and Water Conservation Fund Act, was announced Monday by Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall.

The grant was one of the first under the new act. The money will be used to prepare outdoor recreation plans, and must be matched by the state receiving funds.

4 Feared Dead In Boat Sinking, Girl, 14, Survives

EL ROSARIO, Mex. (AP) — Four members of a California family were feared dead today, after a 14-year-old girl told of a ship sinking at sea, her 1½-mile swim to a deserted Mexican coast and two days of wandering — cold and hungry — before being found.

Denise Winter of Murieta, Calif., said Monday she was apparently the only survivor after her family's 45-foot cabin cruiser developed engine trouble and sank Saturday afternoon off La Punta San Fernando, on Baja California's sparsely populated coast.

The boat was operated by her stepfather, Warren Winter, 40. With him were Denise's mother, Mary Beth Winter, 36; sister, Sherree, 12, and brother, Lance, 11.

State Completes Case Against Insurance Firm

ST. PAUL (AP) — Controversy over methods used by state examiners in evaluating assets of American Allied Insurance Co. marked the court hearing here Monday, as the state completed its case against the firm.

The state is attempting to show that the insurance company is insolvent and that its assets should be liquidated.

Two state insurance department examiners testified that American Allied is $1.2 million in the red. The examiners, S.C. Heugen and H.K. Ramberg, said they used accepted rules of insurance accounting.

Taking issue with their testimony Monday was Philip Graff, a Chicago, Ill., accountant hired by American Allied. He contended the examiners erred in refusing to give the company credit for some $573,000 in assets.

These assets technically belong to the Allied Realty Company of St. Paul, a firm owned by American Allied. Graff said the realty firm is not engaged in insurance and that its assets should be valued on commercial accounting principles.

The accountant said that State Insurance Commissioner Cyrus Magnusson agreed when the insurance firm was set up that the assets of the realty company would be valued at appraised or current market value.

Graff also showed Ramsey County District Judge Albin Pearson letters indicating that the company owns $560,000 in real estate. The examiners have not allowed this item as an asset.

Frei Leaves Chile For State Visits

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — President Eduardo Frei of Chile turned over presidential responsibilities Monday night in Santiago to his minister of interior prior to his state visits.

Frei is preparing for a three-week trip during which he plans to confer with at least nine chiefs of state, have an audience with Pope Paul VI and promote one of his favorite causes—Latin-American unity.

Father Presses Search for Missing Girl

ST. PAUL (AP) — The George Iversen family of suburban New Brighton did not celebrate a birthday Monday.

As he has done every day since June 9, Iversen spent the day searching for his daughter, Barbara, who disappeared on that date while baby-sitting for a neighbor. The girl's 15th birthday was Monday.

Even while the distraught father continued his personal search, lawmen in both Ramsey and Anoka counties said they were calling off their organized search efforts.

The large-scale searches have turned up nothing more than some hair curlers and a tennis shoe, identified by Iversen as belonging to his daughter. They were found last week in the Carlos Avery Game Refuge near Coon Lake.

Iversen indicated Monday he has no plans to call off his own search for Barbara.

Boy Undergoes Operation to Repair Heart

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A 4-year-old boy who underwent delicate surgery to close a hole in his heart — a condition both his father and sister had corrected — is reported in "fair to good" condition.

David Brooks, third of the Fanwood, N.J., family to undergo the operation, spent 3 hours and 40 minutes on the operating table at the University of Michigan Hospital Monday.

A 12-man surgical team closed a hole in David's inner heart wall.

The same operation was performed within the last 2½ years on David's father, Victor Brooks, and the boy's sister Susan, 7.

A hospital spokesman said one of the boy's surgeons described himself as "quite satisfied" with the results. An estimated 72 hours must pass, however, before doctors can know with any certainty the operation's success.

Trade May Ease Cold War Era

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leroy Collins says that generally speaking, East-West trade may serve a useful purpose in the cold war era.

Collins, a former governor of Florida and now director of the Community Relations Service, testified Monday before the Senate Commerce Committee on his nomination to be undersecretary of commerce.

The committee will vote later on whether to recommend confirmation.

Fight Looms Over Fort-Closing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate-House conference fight seems likely over a military construction bill to which the House added a congressional veto over any proposed closing of a military facility.

The Senate ignored that provision in passing a $1,721,352,000 authorization bill Monday by an 89-0 vote.

Several senators of both parties said they hoped the House conferees would stand firm on keeping in the bill the congressional veto of future Pentagon closings of military installations. The Defense Department has closed down more than 600 facilities in recent years for economy reasons.

The bill's authorizations cover construction funds for 427 installations in the United States and overseas. Actual money must be provided later in an appropriations bill.

Mrs. Charles A. Sayous

Charming Wife of Bravo Plant Owner Visits Here

By JEAN HAGEN
Daily News Women's Editor

A lovely lady, whose ancestors came from Spain, flew into Winona from New York City Monday morning. She came with her husband, Charles A. Sayous, for the dedication of the former Swift and Company plant, now Bravo Foods Inc., a subsidiary of Charles A. Sayous Inc., N.Y.C.

"You have a beautiful city. It's lovely! I knew about the river, but not about the beautiful hills," she said of Winona.

A native of Buenos Aires, Argentina, where she was born and reared and married, Mrs. Sayous is the daughter of a Spaniard, who came from the Basque country to South America as a young man. Her mother's people, also Spanish, had been in Argentina for several generations.

But the beautiful young Mrs. Sayous is happy to be a naturalized citizen of the United States. She and her husband came here 12 years ago, a month after their marriage, because they wanted "to start a completely new life."

They felt that the opportunities were greater here and opened the small office of Charles A. Sayous, Inc., in New York City, which has since grown to the large company it now is.

BECAUSE they "like lots of space," three years ago they bought a big home of 25 rooms on a three-acre estate at Sand's Point, Long Island.

There they have a swimming pool, which they both enjoy, as do their two children, 7-year-old Charles Jr., and 6-year-old Lillian. Mrs. Sayous hopes the whole family can come to Winona for a week in July, so they can go swimming here and also do some boating on the river.

Like many a Winona housewife, Mrs. Sayous likes to garden. In addition to perennials, such as roses, tulips and gladioli, she has a vegetable patch, because her husband likes fresh green salads. But one thing she cultivates, which no Winona gardener would, is dandelions! She sends to Buenos Aires for a special kind of dandelion seed and uses it for her husband's favorite salad, mixed the Italian way with sliced onion, vinegar, oil and salt.

roll it very thin. On it spread a mixture of chopped cooked fresh spinach and chopped cooked chicken (use more spinach than chicken). Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese, salt, pepper and a dash of nutmeg. Roll another sheet of the dough and lay over the top patting it firmly down. Mark in 1 1/2-inch squares and cut with a special zig-zag pastry wheel. Boil in salted water and serve with tomato sauce.

David Nelson, Sally Klinski Wed in Caledonia

CALEDONIA, Minn. (Special) —St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church was the scene of the June 26 wedding of Miss Sally Mae Klinski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reinhold J. Klinski, and David Raymond Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester R. Nelson, La Crosse. The Rev. Robert Kant performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of rayon organza over taffeta with a lace bodice and a chapel train. Her silk veil was fastened to a headpiece of silk organza and orange blossom sprays and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses and stephanotis.

MISS MARLENE Klinski, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Mrs. LeRoy Rud, another sister, bridesmaid. They wore pink floor-length gowns of silk crepe and headpieces of pink organza and silk veils.

They carried white lace fans centered with pink and white carnations.

Melvin Swanson La Crosse, was best man and Lynn Larson, Black Earth, Wis., and Herbert Haack, Winona, groomsmen. Thomas Roth and Melvin Neumann ushered. Both are of Madison, Wis.

BON VOYAGE PARTY . . . Miss Rita Vermeijlen, second from right, was guest of honor at a farewell party Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Allen, 328 Wilson St., where Rita, an American Field Service student, has been living since March. Young friends she has made during her sojourn here were guests. From left, standing, are Dennis Clark, Mrs. Allen, Mr. Allen, Rita, and Dorothy Meyers. Mrs. J. E. Krier pours. Rita left Monday by bus from Rochester with other AFS students. They will visit the World's Fair in New York and go to Washington, D. C., where they will meet the President, before embarking for their European homes. Rita's is in Lier, Belgium, where she will attend high school for one more year before getting her diploma, although she was graduated from Winona Senior High School this month. Tracy Allen, a junior at WSHS, who has been Rita's "adopted sister" during her stay here, was not home for the party. She had already left for a summer camp. (Daily News photo)

The reception was held in the church parlors.

FOLLOWING a two-week trip to New Orleans, the couple will live here. A rehearsal dinner was served at the Commodore, La Crescent, with the groom's parents as hosts.

The bride attended the Caledonia schools and was employed as a bookkeeper at the Nelson Construction Co. here.

Her husband is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and is employed as a metallurgical engineer at the Trane Co., La Crosse.

SANDBERG REUNION —The Sandberg family reunion picnic was held at the Clayton Nelson farm, Route 4, Mondovi, Wis., June 20. Twelve of 13 living Sandberg brothers and sisters were present, along with their families. A total of 121 Sandberg descendants and eight guests attended the reunion.

ALTHOUGH SHE buys most of her clothes in smart shops in New York City, the housewife Mrs. Sayous likes to sew and makes some of her own clothes.

Yesterday she was wearing a simply cut, slim molded sheath of royal blue pure silk, printed with green and purple flowers, a perfect foil for her creamy tanned skin and dark eyes. Her hair, a soft brown, was smartly styled in a modified bouffant coiffure, frosted with faint streaks of silver.

She wore a double strand of lustrous pearls and dangling gold ring earrings, matching gold bracelets. On her lovely hands, she wears two diamond rings of great brilliance; one with two large stones set diagonally and worn with her wedding ring and the other a starburst dinner ring of one huge diamond, surrounded by smaller stones.

MRS. SAYOUS' other hobbies include reading. She likes the Spanish best and sends for books to Argentina, because not many are available in New York. She also enjoys cooking and recently when the children's school had an international party, she made a Spanish dish which proved popular at the party.

Cooking in her native land is quite simple, Mrs. Sayous says. Since there are now many Italians in Buenos Aires, one of the favorite dishes, frequently served for Sunday dinner, is Italian Ravioli, for which Mrs. Sayous gave us the directions.

Federal Funds Pay Salaries Of Young Men

Praise for the energies and accomplishments of the 50 youths who have been enrolled in an Office of Economic Opportunity program to assist in maintenance and repairs on city park property and recreation areas was expressed at Monday afternoon's meeting of the Park-Recreation Board.

Progress reports on work done during the past three weeks or so since the program was initiated were made by M. J. Barnbenek, director of parks and recreation, and Bruce Reed, superintendent of parks and recreation maintenance.

THE GOVERNMENT financed work program got under way June 7 when 20 youths went to work on flood cleanup and on June 15 another 30 boys were added to the rolls.

Hourly pay is $1.25. The project is to last 60 days. Total payroll for the youths will be near $50,000, according to R. H. Brown, manager of the Minnesota State Employment Service here.

Reed commented that results thus far had been "even better than I'd expected."

He reviewed work done in the Prairie Island area, along the Lake Winona shoreline, at Levee Park and in other areas.

Youth participation in the maintenance program and in restoration of property damaged by the flood has made it possible for regular maintenance employees to do work that couldn't have otherwise been done without the augmented force, Reed explained.

COMMISSIONER A. J. Gesell said he thought it would be a good idea if the youths could be used to clear certain hiking trails for the summer season. Commissioner Steve Sadowski concurred and Reed said that he thought this would be possible.

At Levee Park, they are rebuilding some permanent benches. At Lake Park they will break up large concrete sidewalk sections into rock-size pieces for use as shore ripraping. Several toilets at Latsch Prairie Island park, dislodged by flood waters, have been fixed and put back in position.

Tree loss at Prairie Island is expected to be heavy. Many were drowned after being surrounded for days by standing water, Reed said. These are being cut down, sawed into lengths and hauled away.

Woman With Pig Liver Fails to Live

BOSTON (AP)—A 34-year-old woman with liver disease has died despite a pig-liver therapy that doctors said prolonged her life.

The unidentified Boston woman died Monday at City Hospital of internal hemorrhage.

Dr. William V. McDermott Jr. said the patient's own liver apparently could not be restored to function.

Doctors placed a pig liver in a sterile box and diverted the patient's blood through the animal's liver to cleanse it and give her own liver a chance to respond.

Debt Limit Hiked To $328 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new temporary national debt limit is $328 billion.

President Johnson signed the bill into law Monday just two days before the legal ceiling would have reverted to the permanent level of $285 billion.

Congress approved the new temporary one-year limit several weeks ago. It is $4 billion above the ceiling in effect this year, and reflects continued deficit financing by the government.

WISCONSIN COTTAGE Bought by Negro Destroyed by Fire

WAUSAU, Wis. (AP)—John Hassler, a state fire marshal stationed at Wausau, continued his investigation today of a Marathon County summer cottage badly damaged by fire after it was purchased by a Negro.

Hall Smith, Milwaukee school teacher, took possession of the cottage on Mayflower Lake Saturday. The fire caused between $4,000 and $5,000 damage to the summer home Sunday night.

"I can't say definitely what caused the fire," Hassler said. "I haven't come up with any evidence of arson."

Repair of City Dredge Proposed

The possibility of making repairs to a dredge the board has had the use of in recent years to put it in operating condition was discussed by the Park-Recreation Board Monday.

R. D. Whittaker, president of Whittaker Marine & Manufacturing, met with commissioners to inquire whether some sort of arrangement might be concluded by which he might lease, or in some other way have use of, the dredge.

Now inoperable because of a faulty pontoon and other defects, the dredge is the property, board members believe, of the John A. Latsch Public Bath Board which several years ago allowed the Park-Recreation Board use of the unit.

Whittaker said that if a lease arrangement was possible, he'd be willing to restore the dredge to working order in exchange for its use at times.

Commissioners agreed that the first step should be to determine the exact status of ownership of the dredge and then to find out whether leasing of the unit would be acceptable to the Latsch board.

Park-Recreation Board members, themselves, expressed interest in Whittaker's proposal.

NEW ZEALAND UNIT To Viet Deferred

WASHINGTON (AP) — New Zealand may defer sending an artillery battery to South Viet Nam in the hope that a Commonwealth peace mission may have some success in getting both sides to a conference table.

New Zealand Prime Minister Keith Holyoake told reporters this Monday after a White House conference with President Johnson. The artillery battery is scheduled to leave for Viet Nam next month.

Gold Loss in May Smallest of Year

House Passes Bill For $7.6 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed a compromise bill appropriating $7,669,444,000 to run the Treasury, Post Office, the executive office of the President, and various independent agencies in the next fiscal year.

The bill, passed by voice vote Monday was minus its most publicized item — $522,000 for two special bulletproof cars for President Johnson. He had opposed this expenditure and the Senate Finance Committee deleted it.

Board Files Union Request

A suggested resolution which would embrace all Park-Recreation Board policies on wages and working conditions for its maintenance employees was discussed and then placed on file with no action taken by the board at its meeting Monday.

Commissioner Edward M. Allen said that the draft of the resolution had been submitted to him by Russell Bundy, business manager of Teamsters Local 799 which represents the employees. Allen said that it was his understanding that the union would like to have the board adopt this resolution that, in essence, would codify policies now contained in two separate board resolutions.

ALLEN TOLD fellow board members that in reading through the union proposal it appeared to him that with only one or two exceptions, the suggested resolution was virtually identical to the content of the two existing resolutions.

"As I see it, what they want — and there may be some justification for it — is to have one resolution adopted to cover everything on wages and working conditions," Allen observed.

He added that it would appear that the union was seeking to approach something more in the nature of a "working contract" than now exists.

Board members noted that, historically, it has been the custom to effect changes in wages and working conditions by amending existing resolutions and there was general agreement that no substantial advantage would be served by incorporating provisions of existing resolutions into the single draft.

Attorney General Upholds Rolvaag Redistricting Veto

ST. PAUL (AP) — Governor Karl Rolvaag does have veto power over a reapportionment bill, the state attorney general's office said Monday in answer to a reapportionment suit.

A group of legislators filed a suit asking the Ramsey County District Court to declare the bill passed by the 1965 Legislature "final and effective" despite Rolvaag's veto. The suit contends the governor has no veto power where reapportionment is concerned.

The answer to the suit asks the court to declare that the bill did not become effective upon passage and that the governor did veto it.

Attorneys for both sides are working on a stipulation or statement of facts upon which both sides agree.

A judge has not been named to hear the case.

When a judge has been named and he makes a decision, it appears likely the losing side will appeal to the Supreme Court.

Medical Center Bill Approved By U.S. Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has authorized a four-year, $650-million program to set up regional medical centers to battle the three top killers—heart disease, cancer and stroke.

A controversial amendment which would have given the government exclusive rights to any drugs or inventions stemming from the program's tax-financed research was defeated.

The idea behind the program is to bring to patients around the country the latest advances in prevention, diagnosis and treatment of these illnesses, which are said to cause 71 percent of the nation's deaths.

The bill is a major part of President Johnson's health program. It now goes to the House. The measure also would coordinate the efforts of medical schools, hospitals and research institutions in combined programs.

Of the total, $50 million would be authorized in the first fiscal year starting July 1; $100 million the next year; $200 million the third year and $300 million the fourth. The government would pay all the cost of planning the centers, and 90 percent of the cost of building and equipping them.

An authorization bill sets a ceiling for a program. Actual funds must be provided later in an appropriation bill within that framework.

The President, calling for an all-out attack on the three major illnesses, had asked for $1.1 billion over a five-year period.

Attorney General Upholds Rolvaag Redistricting Veto

ST. PAUL (AP) — Governor Karl Rolvaag does have veto power over a reapportionment bill, the state attorney general's office said Monday in answer to a reapportionment suit.

A group of legislators filed a suit asking the Ramsey County District Court to declare the bill passed by the 1965 Legislature "final and effective" despite Rolvaag's veto. The suit contends the governor has no veto power where reapportionment is concerned.

The answer to the suit asks the court to declare that the bill did not become effective upon passage and that the governor did veto it.

Attorneys for both sides are working on a stipulation or statement of facts upon which both sides agree.

A judge has not been named to hear the case.

When a judge has been named and he makes a decision, it appears likely the losing side will appeal to the Supreme Court.

Medical Center Bill Approved By U.S. Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has authorized a four-year, $650-million program to set up regional medical centers to battle the three top killers—heart disease, cancer and stroke.

A controversial amendment which would have given the government exclusive rights to any drugs or inventions stemming from the program's tax-financed research was defeated.

The idea behind the program is to bring to patients around the country the latest advances in prevention, diagnosis and treatment of these illnesses, which are said to cause 71 percent of the nation's deaths.

The bill is a major part of President Johnson's health program. It now goes to the House. The measure also would coordinate the efforts of medical schools, hospitals and research institutions in combined programs.

Of the total, $50 million would be authorized in the first fiscal year starting July 1; $100 million the next year; $200 million the third year and $300 million the fourth. The government would pay all the cost of planning the centers, and 90 percent of the cost of building and equipping them.

An authorization bill sets a ceiling for a program. Actual funds must be provided later in an appropriation bill within that framework.

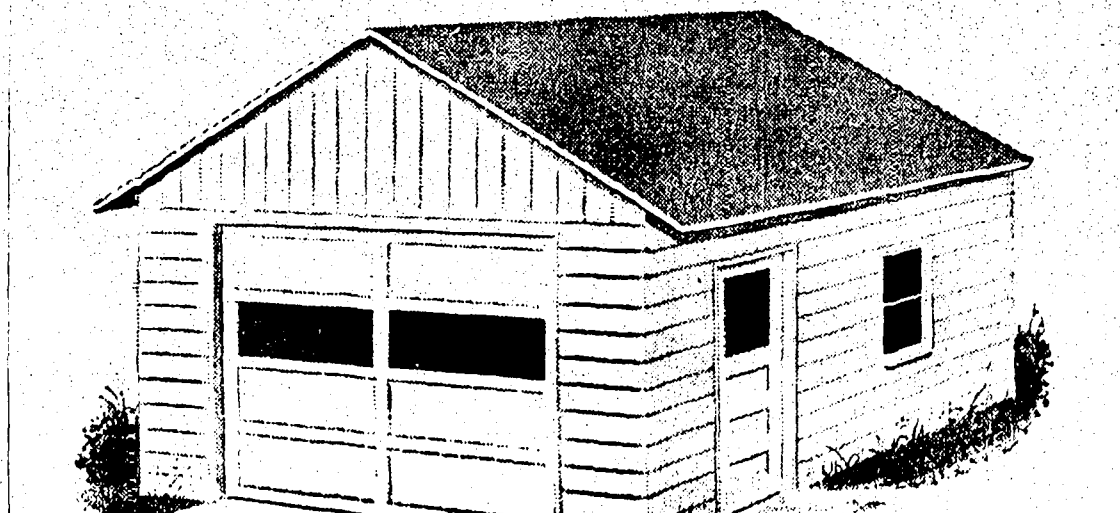

The President, calling for an all-out attack on the three major illnesses, had asked for $1.1 billion over a five-year period.

Foundation sponsored institute for secondary school teachers of chemistry at the College of Saint Teresa.

Lecturer today and Wednes-

10 years. This committee has prepared new tests for both the one-semester college course and the year-long course in organic chemistry.

In his illustrated lecture, Dr.
Nelson tries to stimulate and encourage teachers to re-ex-

out how good testing reflects classroom teaching.

350 research papers, Dr. Fieser synthesized vitamin K, and contributed a link in the method of synthesizing cortisone as well as explaining some of the chemi-

AMBASSADOR

one was "the intense feeling and desire of Winonans in all walks of life to cooperate."

STONE introduced other guests on the platform, including State Sen. Roger Laufenburger; Rep. Frank Theis; Rep.
Donald McLeod; Dale Ellis, St.
Paul, state president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce;
Bernard Wagnild, Winona Jaycee president; William F. Lang, president of the Winona Chamber of Commerce; Kenneth Mc-
Queen, president of the Winona
Industrial Development Association; Wilfred Grant, plant general manager, and Mr. and Mrs.
Sayous.

The invocation was given by the Rev. Harold Rekdal of First Congregational Church, and the benediction, by the Rt.
Rev. Msgr. Harold J. Dittman, rector of the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart.

Others on the platform were business associates of the Say-ous organization.

Ellis was here for the program because his organization has adopted Uruguay as a sister country under a newly established Jaycee international project.

An advisory board of businessmen from outside the Jaycee organization has been formed and is now trying to formulate a specific program for Minnesota-Uruguay cooperation,
Ellis said.

FRIENDS CAN

Whatever is done in the Dominican Republic now must be decided by its people, declared the ambassador, who represents a nation with a long tradition of non-intervention in the internal affairs of other countries.

THE OAS, he said, is beginning to do a good job in Latin America. Its economic program, the Alliance for Progress, is flourishing after years of relative weakness before the alliance was formed.

This economic progress, he said, is based on groundwork laid in years of work by predecessors of the alliance. He served on some of these groups,
he said.

"The whole spirit in Latin America has changed," he asserted. Real progress is being made in economic cooperation, including integration of trade
among countries of the two Americas, he said.

Such progress is vital to the economic and political life of Latin American nations, he said. His own country, for example, is "going through a time of economic difficulties."

FOR THIS reason, it is important that Uruguay and the United States, both producers of foodstuffs, cooperate in marketing their products throughout the world.

Recently, Uruguay and the United States disagreed over exporting of meat to Europe and Israel, the ambassador said, and it caused some problems in his country.

Although he said "that is history now — we hope," he expressed a hope that disagreements of that sort could be avoided in the future because of increasingly close cooperation between Uruguayan and United States business. The Bravo Foods, Inc., plant here, which has sister plants in his country and in Argentina, might contribute to this cooperation,
he said.

Minnesota and Uruguay, already have cultural and social ties, he pointed out. Montevideo, Minn., and Montevideo, Uruguay, have long been sister cities, he said, and the Junior Chamber of Commerce here has recently adopted Uruguay as a sister country.

"We are very happy with the relationship between the two Montevideos," the ambassador said.

SUCH TIES have brought about a great deal of response in both countries, he said.

"There is an awareness of each other," he declared.
In addition to this, such links
often lead to closer cooperative efforts. He said he would like to see "the whole state be aware of Uruguay," and he suggested student exchanges, scholarship programs and trading of agricultural information.

"This is how we like it," he asserted.

Power Replaces Speed, White Sox Maul Twins for 1st

By LEW FERGUSON
Associated Press Writer
ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The go-go Chicago White Sox are a thing of the past.
Now it's the boom-boom White Sox and they proved it by mauling power-laden Minnesota 17-4 Monday night to knock the Twins out of first place for the first time in 29 days.
The Sox battered four Twins' pitchers for 19 hits and the 17 runs matched the major league high for the season. Tom Mc-

Craw crashed a grand slam homer, Danny Cater hit a homer and double, John Romano homered and Ken Berry tripled.
Chicago and Cleveland both vaulted past the Twins into a first-place tie.
"It's been a long time since we exploded like that," Manager Al Lopez said, "but this is a good hitting team. We'll still run when we need to, but you don't need to run when you get 19 hits."
Perhaps an even more amazing statistic is the fact that the White Sox collected 18 of their hits after two were out in the fifth inning. Up to that point, Twins' starter Dave Boswell had one hit.

Lopez and Sox General Manager Ed Short have said all season they feel they have the best team in the American League, but admit the Sox won't run away from the rest of the league.
"It's going to be the best race we've ever had in the American League," Short predicted. "It's not over by a long shot. We've got the best chance because of the strength of our pitching."

"Cleveland's pitching has been real good of late, but I couldn't assess it because we've only seen Cleveland three times so far."
Lopez, asked if it seemed like his Sox had been chasing the Twins for a long time, replied: "Not really, because we stayed close. It's going to be a heck of a race. Five teams at the top can challenge a long time, and don't discount the Yankees."

Twins' Manager Sam Mele, whose pitching staff broke down Monday night after an overload on the bullpen precipitated by injuries to ace starters Camilo Pascual and Jim Kaat, agreed.
"Our pitching finally caved in," Mele said, "and we got bombed. But we'll bounce back. Kaat says he's ready."
Kaat, incidentally, turned in Minnesota's last complete game when he beat the White Sox 3-1 June 17 at Chicago.
Boswell retired the first 10

Chisox to face him and was cruising along with a 3-0 lead when he ran into trouble in the fifth.
With two out, Ken Berry and Al Weis singled and J.C. Martin walked to load the bases. McCraw then belted Boswell's first pitch to him 420 feet over the right-field fence for the grand slam.
The Twins tied 4-4 in their half of the fifth as Jimmie Hall hit his 14th homer.
Then Chicago really erupted in the sixth, scoring seven times and sending 12 men to the plate.

Cater and Romano homered to chase Boswell. Jerry Fosnow came on and loaded the bases by issuing walks around a single by Berry.
Dick Stigman relieved Fosnow and finished walking White Sox reliever Eddie Fisher to force in a run. Four more runs scored as Don Buford, Cater and Bill Skowron singled successively.
Fisher blanked the Twins on one hit over the final 4 1-3 innings to gain his ninth victory in 11 decisions.

AUSTIN HERE FOR LEAGUE GAME

Athletics Face 'Must' Tilt Tonight

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor
The Winona Athletics, seige guns leveled in a "Stop Austin" move, tonight get their biggest test of the young season.
The Athletics, who have broken even in four league games, must demonstrate their power to win the "big ones," and none will be more important than the contest scheduled for Gabrych Park at 8 p.m. today.
Max Molock's corps Sunday blew its chance to come home to a bout with the league-leading Packers with a 3-1 Southern Minnesota League record.

Now, trailing the front-running Austin machine by three full games, Winona has to throw in the stopper.
"That's right," said Molock. "We have to have this one."
To say that Austin won't be easy to beat is completely acceptable. In anticipation of the bout with Winona, Larry Scheid, who took over for father Emil this year, saved lefthander Dave Hartman.

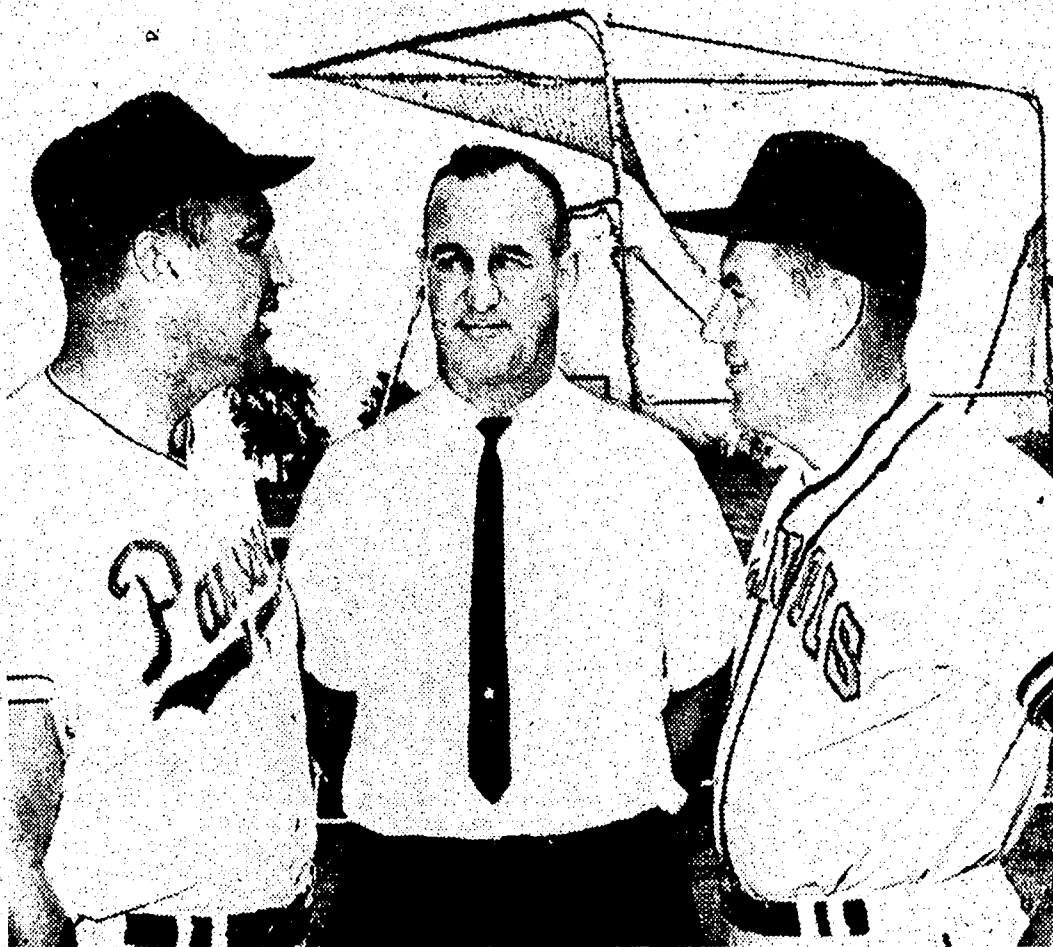

city sports teams problems, the Athletics notwithstanding. He beat them 6-4 in the first meeting between the two clubs.
On the home front, things are not as rosy. Jon Kosidowski worked eight and two-thirds innings against Rochester in a 5-4 loss Sunday and Dick Papenfuss is out of the rotation after aggravating previous arm trouble in beating Albert Lea.
For tonight Molock has a choice between Roger Roepke, a lefthander, or Gene Schultz, a righthander.

Neither has seen a great deal of action. Roepke did pitch briefly against Austin, while Schultz has not worked at all.
"Tentatively, we expect to start Roepke," said Molock. "We're hoping he can do the job."
There will be one change in the starting alignment as either Schultz or Mike Prigge will move into right field, to form an out field combination with Kosidowski and Papenfuss.
Rog Leonhardt will handle catching duties, with Gary Grob at first, Bob Leitzau at second, Al Comar at short and Davis Usgaard at third.

Usgaard was hit twice by Rochester pitcher John Stephens in the 5-4 Sunday loss, but Molock felt he would be ready tonight.
A crowd larger than the more than 600 who paid opening night is expected to be on hand for the contest.
Also scheduled tonight is a league game pitting Rochester, which stands in a second-place tie with the Athletics, against Owatonna at Owatonna.
Following tonight's game, the Athletics are not scheduled to play until July 6 when they are at Owatonna. The next home game is scheduled for July 8 against Albert Lea.

Tiant Earns Win No. 7 For Indians

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fred Whitfield triggered Cleveland's 9-2 romp at Boston with a three-run homer off loser Bill Monbouquette in the second inning. Batting leader Vic Davalillo also had a homer in the Indians' 14-hit barrage that included three hits each by Rocky Colavito and Leon Wagner.
Luis Tiant, who started one of Sunday's Indian-Red Sox games, came right back and went five innings — earning his seventh victory against three losses. Felix Mantilla and Tony Conigliaro homered for Boston's runs.

In other AL action — the Detroit Tigers nipped Baltimore 4-3 and the New York Yankees stretched their winning string to five by beating Washington twice, 3-0 on Mel Stottlemyre's two-hit pitching and 4-3.
Al Kaline's run-scoring single, his 1,900th big league hit, and Don Wert's homer helped the Tigers get by the Orioles. Dennis McLain blanked Baltimore for seven innings, but gave up a run in the eighth and was tagged for Sam Bowers' two-run homer in the ninth.

LA CRESCENT, Minn. — Winona's American Legion baseball team is in first place in the Tri-State League alone today thanks to clutch pitching by Tony Kreuzer and John Ahrens.

LeJetz Possess First Place Alone, Relievers Stop La Crescent Team

While Dave Knopick, who saw no mound action during a two-week stay at Camp Ripley with the National Guard, started and tired in the fifth, Kreuzer came in to snuff out a rally that had pushed over four runs.
Then in the sixth, with a runner on second and one out, Ahrens came in and closed the door and worked three-up, three-down in the seventh.
But still it was too close for comfort for Coach Bill Allaire. Tonight the Large-Post team will take some time off. The Small-Post will be at Alma, a group the Little LeJetz hampered 16-4 Sunday.

LA CRESCENT got one run back as Lawrynk walked. Lathrop singled, Isbell was safe on an error and Curran hit by a pitch.

The explosive LeJetz came right back with four in the second for three innings of contentment.
R. D. Boschulte walked, stole second and went to third on an overthrow. Curran walked and stole second. Boschulte scored as Bob Allaire was safe on an error and Todd Spencer belted a three-run homer to push it up.

Steve Styba is the likely choice Wednesday against Lake City.

Juan Vs. Dodgers in 'Tunnel' Equals Breeze

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
When Juan Marichal pitches against the Los Angeles Dodgers in the Candlestick Park wind tunnel, there's only one way to describe it — a breeze.
The high-kicking San Francisco right-hander, who has never lost at home against the Dodgers in his six-year major league career, made it 10 in a row

Monday night when he scattered six hits and outduelled Don Drysdale in a 5-0 victory over the National League leaders.
Both Marichal and Drysdale went into the game with 11-6 records.
Marichal came out with his fifth shutout — high in the majors this season — tied the Dodgers' Sandy Koufax and Sammy Ellis of Cincinnati for most victories in the majors and lowered his earned run average to an eye-opening 1.65.

Drysdale allowed one less hit than Marichal but committed two errors that led to his downfall, and lost his fourth straight game while the Dodgers went down to their third straight defeat — the first time this season they've lost more than two in a row.

Despite the defeat, the Dodgers maintained their one-game edge over the second-place Cincinnati Reds, who dropped a 5-4 decision to Pittsburgh.
The third-place Giants, meanwhile, closed to within 2 1/2 of the top.
Elsewhere, the New York Mets swept a doubleheader from Milwaukee 5-2 and 6-3, Philadelphia blanked St. Louis 3-0 and the Chicago Cubs belted Houston 7-2.

Roberto Clemente stroked a two-run single in the seventh inning, driving across what turned out to be the decisive runs for the Pirates when the Reds chased Don Cardwell with a four-run ninth. Cardwell, now 6-2, soaked a homer and checked Cincinnati on three hits through eight innings before needing Al McBean's relief help.

harmful particles in gasoline

(just before they enter your tank!)

Most gasoline is clean when they leave the refinery. But on the way to your car—in transit and in storage—they pick up impurities that could choke off power, reduce engine efficiency... could even stop you cold. Automotive engineers asked for an answer to this problem—American Oil Research developed the American FINAL/FILTER. It traps harmful particles (present in all gasolines), right at the pump nozzle. If you depend on your car for your livelihood (and even if you don't) it pays to "filter" or "up filter" with American. Regular or American. Super-Prmium.

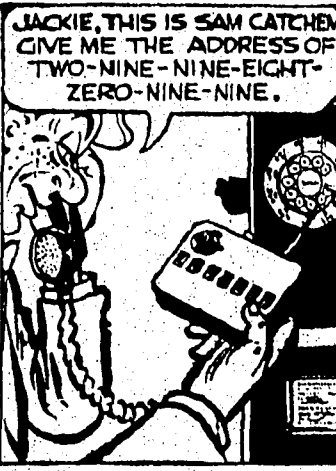

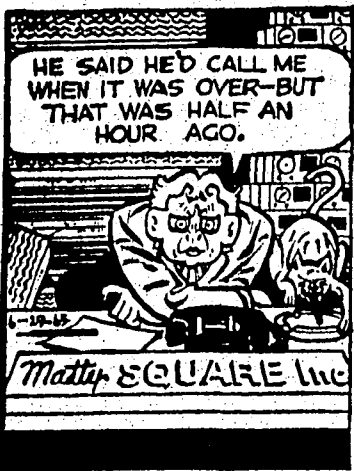

You expect more from Standard and you get it!

BLAST MINNESOTA... Tom McCraw (right), Danny Cater (center), and John Romano are all smiles in the Chicago dressing room after their home run bats helped the White Sox knock league-leading Minnesota from first into third place with their 17-4 victory Monday night in the Twin Cities. Chicago jumped into a first-place tie with Cleveland. McCraw hit a grand slam homer in 5th inning with Cater and Romano hitting back-to-back homers in the sixth. (AP Photofax)
