13 Slain Over Weekend In 3 Deer Hunting States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Thirteen persons were shot to death as an estimated one million deer hunters trooped through the woods of Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin during the weekend.

At least 12 other hunters died of heart attacks. With the season just entering peak periods in Michigan and Wisconsin, the count of hunting deaths from all causes already totaled 54 in the three states for the last 10 days.

A 16-year-old boy was fatally wounded by a bullet from his father's gun in Wisconsin Sunday. A Minnesota man was killed by his brother Saturday.

Michigan reported six shooting deaths Saturday and two more Sunday, even though most of the victims were clad in the red hunting garb recommended by safety spokesmen. Among the victims was a former police chief at Zeeland, Mich., Elmer T. Boss, 47.

29th Fatality of State Season Noted

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Minnesota's 29th fatality of the season was reported as deer hunting closed in the northern part of the state Sunday.

The toll included 13 shot to death; six asphyxiated; and 10 dead of natural causes, all apparently heart attacks.

The latest victims: Martin Jensen, 61, rural Flood-wood, shot to death accidentally Sunday about two miles south of Floodwood. Dr. Cyril M. Smith, St. Louis County coroner, said Jensen was shot by a member of his hunting party, Earl Nelson, 35, a Duluth schoolteacher.

Kenneth E. Dreyling, 28, St. Paul, shot to death accidentally by his brother Richard, 24, near Brimmon, northwest of Two Harbors, according to St. Louis County authorities.

Fred Hooker, 61, Lake Alice, whose body was found near his farm at that Hubbard County community Friday night by a search party of 75 persons. He apparently died of a heart attack.

Meanwhile, Gordon Olson, 27,

Osseo, remained in critical condition at a Virginia, Minn., hospital Sunday a day after he was wounded in the left side and arm about 15 miles southeast of Littlefork.

Olson's partner, Robert Berg, Robbinsdale, told the Koochiching County sheriff's office he had asked two other hunters immediately after the shooting to get help, but they never did. Officers issued an alert for the two for questioning in connection with the shooting, which Berg did not witness.

The season ranged from one day in parts of southern Minnesota to nine days in parts of the north, with the hunter turn-out expected to exceed last year's record 278,000.

There has been no report yet on deer kill.

11 Hunters Die In Wisconsin

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Eleven hunters, including a youth struck by a bullet from his father's gun, died on the opening weekend of Wisconsin's deer season.

Three shooting deaths equaled the toll for the entire nine-day season last year. Eight other hunters died of heart attacks.

A 16-year-old boy was killed near Friendship when his father's rifle discharged accidentally. A farmer wounded himself fatally while crawling through a fence and a high school teacher was shot and killed by a fellow hunter even though he was clad in red from his head to his ankles.

At least 18 other persons suffered gunshot wounds. One of them was in critical condition at a Marinette hospital.

The deer season, which started Saturday, continues through Nov. 28. The over-all toll last year was 18 hunters.

An estimated 400,000 hunters trooped through Wisconsin woods on the first weekend. Thomas Manfredina, 16, Coloma, was killed Sunday when a rifle discharged as his father, John, was unloading it. The bullet struck the youth in the chest.

The teen-ager was dead on arrival at a hospital after the accident 13 miles northeast of Friendship in Adams County.

Arthur Steinbach, 61, of rural Manawa, was wounded fatally Sunday as his rifle discharged as he climbed through a fence on his farm. Steinbach, who was hunting alone, managed to drive a tractor to his farmhouse where he collapsed and died.

Franklin G. Pfiffner, 36, a Hardland school teacher, was shot and killed by a teen-aged hunter Saturday near Whitehall in Trempealeau County. A relative said Pfiffner was wearing a red hat, red coat and red trousers. His own gun was unloaded.

Seven of the heart attack fatalities were reported on opening day and the toll continued to climb Sunday.

Clarence Woplowa, 53, Reedsville, was found dead of an apparent heart attack Sunday near Dunbar in Marinette County. Donald Orgemann, 49, Frederic, collapsed Saturday in a swamp near the St. Croix River in Burnett County.

American Heroes

Ia Drang Brings Out Best in New Generation

(Editor's Note: AP correspondent Peter Arnett has been for a week with the Americans fighting in the Ia Drang Valley.)

By PETER ARNETT
PLEIKU, South Viet Nam, (AP) — It was not the elation of victory that stirred the American cavalrymen in the Ia Drang Valley when the fighting subsided. It was elation at being alive.

The battle at Ia Drang is bringing out the best in a new generation of Americans.

There was the lieutenant who wiped out a machine-gun post with grenades, rifle and bayonet even though he had been shot through the mouth.

There was the company commander who led his men for five hours after he had taken two serious wounds himself.

There was the medic, caught in no-man's land, who radioed his platoon leader he would stay and treat five wounded men around him. He was found the next morning, dead beside his dying patients.

The fighting brought out other qualities in some.

One soldier shot every wounded enemy soldier who moved as his decimated unit policed up a battlefield. He had heard that two days earlier three American prisoners had been found bound hand and foot and shot through the head.

He said he was exacting revenge.

There was another reason to shoot the enemy wounded lying scattered among the trees. One blew himself up with a grenade as a squad approached him, nearly taking them with him.

Another tried to pull a pin from a grenade as a medic was taking his pulse, but he lacked the strength to remove it and fell back in a faint. He was shot.

By week's end, after four major actions that brought American bloodletting to a degree never before seen in the Viet Nam war, the consensus was that the green young men of the 1st Cavalry (Airmobile) Division had fought as well as — and possibly better than — their older brothers in Korea and their fathers in World War II.

The young cavalrymen were faced with agonizing decisions.

One company was split down the middle by withering Communist fire. As the survivors crawled away to regroup, they had to leave some wounded behind. During the night, enemy troops came near the regrouped troops, and the decision was made to bring in close artillery fire.

The shells crashed among the enemy and the wounded Americans, killing at random.

Statistically, Ia Drang has been a victory for the U.S. forces. But the troops at Ia Drang use the word victory carefully. Fighting on jungle battlefields, defending bitterly for several days and then abandoning them, they are deprived of the satisfactions of occupation.

"I'll say we've won not when I see a thousand dead enemy bodies on the battlefield," one young soldier said. "I'll believe in victory here when they stop shooting at us."

2nd Anniversary Of JFK Slaying

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the drizzle-damp chill of a gray day of remembrance, a bouquet of small white lilies was placed today at the base of the eternal flame that flickers over the grave of John F. Kennedy.

The token from Jacqueline Kennedy, young widow of the slain President, was delivered by her mother, Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss, to the burial site on a hillside in Arlington National Cemetery.

Meantime other Americans across the land observed the second anniversary of the young President's slaying in ways of their own.

No formal service was planned at the graveside but the inclement weather was no bar to the individual visitors, thousands of whom walked up the long pathway Sunday.

Other members of the Kennedy family were expected during the day.

Mrs. Auchincloss came at 7:50 a.m., before the cemetery gates were opened to the public. She knelt for a few moments and placed sprigs of lilies also at the headstone for the two infant Kennedy children buried on each side of their father.

President Johnson directed Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach to lay a presidential wreath on the grave. Johnson was with Kennedy in Dallas when the young chief executive was gunned down by an assassin's bullets.

On the eve of the anniversary, thousands walked up the long pathway to the grave.

A group from El Paso, Tex., brought a wreath,

Machinists at Cape Kennedy Call Off Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Striking McDonnell Aircraft Corp. machinists agreed today to go back to work at Cape Kennedy so as not to delay a Dec. 4 space shot, federal officials said.

The agreement, however, does not affect the strike of some 17,000 machinists against the company at St. Louis, Mo. The company is the prime contractor for Gemini space activities at Cape Kennedy and producer of Phantom jet fighters used in Viet Nam.

Kenyon Buries Viet War Vet

KENYON, Minn. (AP) — A three-volley rifle salute echoed across the Southeastern Minnesota countryside, and another casualty of the war in Viet Nam was laid to rest.

The victim was 23-year-old 2d Lt. David Uglad, a promising West Point graduate who died Nov. 8 in a Communist ambush in Zone D fighting.

Taps were sounded and the coffin was draped with an American flag as the Rev. Maynard Iverson of Bethlehem Lutheran Church, Minneapolis, conducted services.

They were held amid friends and relatives Friday at Holden Church Cemetery, an evergreen-sheltered churchyard Uglad knew as a boy.

Uglad always was a scrapper, in the professional and intellectual sense.

Appointed to the Military Academy by former Congressman Walter Judd, Uglad, of Minneapolis, had such a fine record he could have chosen to do engineering work instead of fighting.

After graduating in 1964, he went through the stiff Ranger training class required of all graduates and was stationed at Okinawa.

He and his 45 men were sent to Viet Nam in May, but Uglad became ill in June and had to spend many weeks in a hospital in Japan. He seemed to live for the day he could return to his men, his mother said.

"There's no place I'd rather be," he wrote to his family when he returned to duty.

His first major fighting after that was in the Zone D, about which he had written ominously: "There are rumors that our next operation may be one of these once-in-a-lifetime deals."

It was his last fight.

Uglad won scholastic honors at Washburn High School in Minneapolis. Both in the ninth grade and as a high school senior he won prizes in world affairs contests. The first time, he got a set of encyclopedias, and the second time, a trip to Washington, D.C.

When on the trip to Washington, he met President Eisenhower and Judd, and the latter recognized him as academy material.

For placing first in a chemistry class of 500, the American Legion awarded him a portable stereo.

There are two younger sons of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Uglad, Richard, 17, and Steven, 9, both keen admirers of their big brother. "This guy is just like Dave," Uglad says of young Steve.

He reached out a hand and strained his weakening eyes to see each newcomer.

"You are as welcome here as these old oak trees" he said.

Cactus Jack, as he was known during much of his 46 years as a public official, bowed out of politics in 1940 when he caught a train to Texas and never returned to Washington.

ST. PAUL (AP) — Gov. Karl Rolvaag said today a special legislative session to deal with reapportionment "could possibly be necessary" prior to the 1966 elections.

The governor, in an interview, said it would be "iffy" to speculate on whether such a special session also might enact new state excise taxes to pick up those being dropped on the federal level.

As to a special session now to deal with tax matters, he repeated weekend statements that this idea is "foolish."

Garner Gets New Hat for 97th Birthday

UVALDE, Tex. (AP) — Former Vice President John Nance Garner celebrated his 97th birthday today with a brand new hat and a wish to be 100.

National and state officials gathered in this small South Texas town to honor the only man who ever served successively as speaker of the U.S. House and presiding officer of the U.S. Senate. Others sent birthday wishes by mail and wire.

Garner made his birthday wishes known late Sunday in an emotional visit with his son, Tully Garner, 67, prominent Uvalde businessman.

"Son, I believe you want me to reach 100 as much as I do," said the elder Garner.

"I want it even more, dad," Tully said.

The former vice president's birthday presents began arriving as he talked to his son and a few visitors beneath the giant oak trees encircling the modest white house where Garner now lives.

Tully brought a new light tan hat and a billfold. The Uvalde mayor sent a tie. Another old friend brought a pair of warm socks.

Garner had to be reminded to go inside when dusk began to fall.

"These oak trees and me are partners," the bushy-browed Garner told visitors. "I have been sitting under this one old tree seems like maybe 70 years, and I bet it will last another 70 if I can last that long. That's all I've got to do, now, is sit here under these old trees."

He reached out a hand and strained his weakening eyes to see each newcomer.

"You are as welcome here as these old oak trees" he said.

300 of 1,500 Attacking Viet Cong Killed

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — South Vietnamese forces beat back two heavy Communist assaults on the central coast today with help from bombarding U.S. Navy ships off shore and air strikes later. U.S. and South Vietnamese officers said at least 300 of about 1,500 attackers were killed.

The attack broke before dawn and the U.S. advisers called for the bombardment from two 7th Fleet destroyers lying offshore. The Navy shells kept the attackers down until the weather cleared later in the day. Then U.S. and South Vietnamese planes and U.S. Marine helicopters attacked with napalm bombs and rockets.

Two U.S. Army advisers were killed in the heaviest assault, by 1,500 Viet Cong on a battalion of 500 rangers near Thach Tru, in Quang Ngai Province 320 miles northeast of Saigon.

"I got the ones that shot them," said Staff Sgt. Henry McNeal of Pittsburgh, Pa., who with a fourth American adviser was not hurt.

The Americans were killed at an outpost on a hill about half a mile west of the government fort. A battalion of U.S. Marines was lifted by helicopter onto the hill to reinforce the Vietnamese rangers.

Viet Cong bodies were strewn inside the fort, in the rice paddies in front of it and on the outpost hill.

Attack planes silenced six 81mm Viet Cong mortars that were firing on the hill.

U.S. and South Vietnamese officers on the scene said at least 200 Viet Cong were killed. Associated Press correspondent George Esper said he counted more than 100 bodies.

Officials said government casualties were light, but Esper said their casualties appeared to be moderate. Many of the rangers were killed inside the fort in close-in fighting.

The Viet Cong assaulted the fort six times during an eight-hour period. They were beaten off by small arms, automatic weapons and hand grenades.

Many of the Viet Cong were wearing brown khaki shirts and short black pants. A commemorative button reading "Dien Bien Phu Battalion" was found on one of the bodies. This battalion fought in the decisive battle at Dien Bien Phu in 1954 where the Viet Minh defeated the French.

Government troops also captured nearly 100 enemy weapons, many of them late-model types including recoilless rifles, light machine guns and Chinese-type assault rifles.

About 1,000 Viet Cong hit a Vietnamese regimental and artillery command post 40 miles northwest of Saigon. A few of the attackers penetrated the post's defense perimeter but were thrown back. The Vietnamese claimed they killed 100 of the attackers.

There was no report of government casualties in the action.

U.S. troops suffered light casualties and U.S. Army helicopters, refueling trucks and buildings were damaged by a 15-minute mortar barrage on the Soc Trang airfield 95 miles southwest of Saigon, a U.S. spokesman said.

The spokesman refused to disclose the extent of damage under a new restriction on press coverage of the war.

There were no reports of new fighting between troops of the U.S. 1st Cavalry (Airmobile) Division and North Vietnamese soldiers in the Ia Drang Valley 220 miles north of Saigon.

Fighting in the valley Sunday was termed light to moderate, and the spokesman said the Americans suffered light casualties. Four North Vietnamese were reported killed.

This action took place near the site of a battle Saturday night in which a Vietnamese paratroop task force said it killed 180 North Vietnamese and suffered light casualties. There was no confirmation of the casualty claim.

The 180 Communists reported killed would raise to 1,952 the number of enemy dead during fighting in the central highlands near the Cambodian border since an attack on a Special Forces camp at Plei Me last month.

Rolvaag Bucks Excise Taxes For Minnesota

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag and Dr. Walter Heller of the University of Minnesota took somewhat different attitudes over the weekend toward the possibility of Minnesota's adopting some excise taxes abolished by the federal government.

The Democratic-Farmer-Labor governor rejected a suggestion by Rep. Carl MacGregor that Rolvaag call a special session of the Legislature to consider such taxes on cars, appliances and luxury items.

"We are not about to have a special session to adopt new taxes in our state," Rolvaag told a dinner for Rep. Donald M. Fraser, D-Minn., Saturday night.

Heller, former chief economic adviser to Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, called state excise taxes a "real possibility" and "a very interesting idea."

He had said previously that federal tax cuts offer "interesting opportunities for states to rush in where the federal government will no longer tread, or will tread only lightly."

Minnesota Republican leaders are expected to talk about the 1966 congressional campaign Tuesday when they meet in St. Paul with Reps. Leslie C. Arends, R-Ill., House minority whip, and Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., House Republican Conference chairman.

Both the GOP and DFL are expected to concentrate on the 6th and 7th Districts, which were won by narrow margins in 1964.

DEAR ABBY:

Vet May Want Quiet Welcome

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I was surprised at your answer to the mother whose son was coming home from Viet Nam. She asked if you thought it was all right to go overboard with "welcome home" signs in her front yard surrounded by flags, and you said, "Why not? And line up a brass band if you can." If the mother goes through with this kind of welcome for her son, he will resent it till his dying day. War is sheer hell, Abby. Especially a jungle war. And any man who has won three medals for bravery, such as this boy has, is bound to be emotionally "shook." Yours is the typical feminine approach. Ask your husband, or son. A homecoming such as this mother has planned would embarrass any veteran who has seen action. A small, quiet homecoming with the family and a few close friends is all the veteran wants. Save the fireworks for the Fourth of July.

KOREAN VETERAN
AT HOME IN CHICAGO

DEAR ABBY: You speak with authority and I bow to your judgment. But I'd like to hear from some of our boys in Viet Nam who are dreaming of the day they come home. You DESERVE a brass band — but does anyone want one?

DEAR ABBY: Our son was in Viet Nam for one year, and he survived the worst the Far East had to offer. He arrived last week at the Newark Airport and we greeted him with a large 16-foot banner with huge red block letters spelling out "WELCOME HOME, SON!" I thought of the idea when he wrote to tell us he was coming home. My husband went along with the idea and I am glad he did. Everyone who saw that banner seemed happy for us. And no one thought we were "bragging" too much for a boy who had risked his life every day in the cause of humanity. Our son was so thrilled he took a picture of the banner to keep forever. So tell that other proud mother of a Vietnamese hero that if she wants to borrow our banner, we'll be glad to send it to her.

MRS. C. M.
HAMILTON SQUARE, N. J.

DEAR ABBY: A recent letter in your column asked how to reward a son's return from Viet Nam, as this young man had a very impressive record. You suggested the "brass band" treatment. This may not be correct. While he is certainly entitled to it, the main question is, "Would he want it?" As I am a minor Korean "hero," my return to a small town was met with similar fanfare. Needless to say, I was greatly embarrassed and took some good-natured ribbing for many years later. I was sorry such a spectacle took place. Other veterans, however, love to bask in the glory that they have earned but not all of us. I think it is up to the parents to decide whether their son would want such treatment. And they should bear in mind, a "boy" who went to war three years ago is no longer a boy when he returns. He's a pretty big man.

EMBARRASSED HERO

CONFIDENTIAL TO ALL MY SHARP-EYED READERS (AND ESPECIALLY THE GENTLEMAN WHO ASKED ME IF I GOT MY HISTORICAL INFORMATION FROM BUBBLE GUM WRAPPERS): Recently I stated that Michelangelo was born in 1475 and at the age of 90 he finished painting the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel, on his back, on a scaffold. I am now properly advised that Michelangelo died shortly before his 90th birthday. So the only portion of my statement which is accurate is that the great master was born in 1475, and 90 years later he was indeed on his back. I stand corrected from 50 States, Canada, Italy and Mexico.

DEAR ABBY: If there's anything I can't stand, it's a woman who lies about her age. I wonder what happens to all the years that women subtract from their ages?

HOMO SAPIENS

DEAR SAP: Don't worry, they're not lost. They add them to someone else's.

Wisconsin Deer Kill Declines By 28 Percent

The weekend deer kill in the 10 western Wisconsin river counties, comprising the shotgun zone, was down 28 percent, compared with the take of a year ago, Arthur J. Gillette, acting area supervisor, Black River Falls, reported today.

His figure was based on preliminary reports for the first two days of the end of the shotgun period. Buck only hunting continues through Sunday.

LOW HUNTING pressure, no snow and a noisy outdoors, rather than a decrease in white-tail population, were blamed for the low ratio of success. Here are a few key reports from the area up to Sunday night:

	Total	%
Kill Down	From	1964
Mondovi (Buffalo)	424	40
Alma (Buffalo)	292	25
Whitehall (Trempealeau)	277	30
Galesville (Trempealeau)	210	30

Other reports from various sources gave the number of deer registered as follows:

Tomah, 336; Pray, 464; Fairchild, 372; Black River Falls, 1,260 compared with 1,766 a year ago. Jackson County, where rifle hunting prevailed, showed a 28 per cent decrease each day.

ONE registration station at Durand showed 120 deer Saturday and 148 on Sunday, for a total of 268.

There was the usual number of arrests for various violations, with uncased guns in cars topping the list. Special sessions of court for deer violators were held in some of the counties.

St. Paul House, Eating Place Since 1854, Burns

SHAKOPEE, Minn. (AP) — The St. Paul House, an eating place since 1854, was destroyed by fire Sunday night.

Richard White, Minneapolis, an owner of the restaurant, believed to be the oldest continuously operated in Minnesota, said the building was worth more than $200,000.

An alarm was turned in after a passerby saw flames shooting through the roof in the kitchen area, where White said the blaze apparently started. The restaurant was closed Sunday.

Firemen from Carver, Chaska, Jordan and Shakopee fought the blaze, but the flames left only a shell of the old building, which once served as a hotel, gambling house and stagecoach stop.

La Crosse Driver Faces 3 Charges

A La Crosse man pleaded not guilty today in municipal court to charges of driving after suspension, stemming from arrests a year apart, and to a charge of driving with unsafe equipment.

Thomas G. Haney, 32, summoned a bail bondsman to post $200 bail set by Judge John D. McGill on the three charges, pending date of Haney's trial on all three, Dec. 1 at 9:30 a.m.

The La Crosse man is charged with driving after suspension Oct. 24, 1964, on West 2nd Street and Nov. 21 at 11:35 p.m. at the junction of U.S. 61-14 and Highway 43. He is also charged with driving with unsafe brakes and faulty muffler Nov. 21.

Haney posted $100 bail on the more recent driving after suspension charge, $70 on the earlier charge and $30 on the unsafe equipment allegation. City police impounded Haney's car until needed repairs are made.

GOODWILL COLLECTION. ETRICK, Wis. (Special) — Goodwill Industries, St. Paul, has set up five collection boxes in Trempealeau County, reports A. M. Hogden, president of the village of Ettrick. Most of them are adjacent to U.S. 53.

Shotgun Explodes; Blair Woman Cut

BLAIR, Wis. (Special) — A rural Blair woman was released from Black River Falls Community Hospital Sunday afternoon for treatment of injuries received Saturday at 8 a.m. when a shotgun exploded.

She was hunting three miles southwest of Blair on the farm of her uncle, Arthur Oldendorf. Mrs. Darrel Lorch, 25, received a bad cut on her left cheek and a wound on her left hand, both requiring stitches. Three teeth also were knocked out.

She had fired three shots from the 20-gauge shotgun and the fourth one exploded. The family believes the explosion was caused by a defective shell; she had no previous trouble with the gun. About 20 shots had been fired from it since she acquired it last year.

Alden Elland, Blair, who was hunting nearby, took her to the hospital. They arrived there in about 20 minutes after the accident.

Mrs. Lorch is the former Arlene Stirn. She and her husband live with her widowed mother, Mrs. Emil Stirn, one mile south of Blair, and operate the Stirn farm.

Mental Health Study Asked in Trempealeau

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Mrs. Carl Nordhagen, assistant superintendent of the Trempealeau County Hospital, asked members of the County Board of Supervisors last week to appoint a committee to make a study of the needs of the county in caring for the mentally ill.

A mental health center, said Mrs. Nordhagen, which would be available to all of the communities in the county and would be a way to offer better services for less money.

THE CENTER would serve several purposes including inpatient and out-patient treatment, partial hospitalization, community services, diagnostic services and rehabilitative services, and would serve all county agencies.

There are 235 patients at the county hospital. These include the mentally ill not only from Trempealeau County but patients from other counties in the state, the mentally retarded and the mentally infirm from Trempealeau County, and also alcoholics from the county.

The hospital has met all the state minimum standards for county hospitals, she said. "We cannot stop, but have to progress and provide more treatment in the mental area of patient care," she said.

The treatment of alcoholics is a challenging one, Mrs. Nordhagen said. Some of them being treated at the county hospital have asked for being voluntarily, others have been referred by the county judge. Trempealeau County is second in Wisconsin in number of alcoholics committed to state and county hospitals for treatment.

MRS. Nordhagen is a member of the state committee which is making a survey at state, district, county and local levels in the treatment of the mentally ill.

Henry Paulson, chairman of the board of directors of the county hospital, told members that there are two projects being considered at the hospital during the next year. These include installation of a sewage disposal system at a cost of approximately $45,000 and having the buildings steam cleaned at an approximate cost of $20,000.

Youth Gets $12,700 for Crash Injuries

A $12,700 settlement compensating a Winona youth for injuries suffered last fall in a traffic accident and his father for medical expenses incurred was approved today in District Court by Judge Arnold Hatfield.

The case arises from a motorcycle accident Oct. 26, 1964, in which Donald R. Richer, 18, 520 Chestnut St., received a broken leg and in which the motorcycle owned by his brother, Keith, was demolished.

DRIVER of the car involved in the collision was Mrs. Henry Hull, 361 1/2 Minnesota St.

Emil Richer, father of the two Richer boys, testified today in court that Donald spent 16 weeks in Community Memorial Hospital, recovering from his broken leg. His boy spent 13 weeks in traction Richer said. Although young Richer was on crutches for another seven weeks after returning home, he has no permanent disability, his father said.

In answer to questions put by his attorney, William A. Lindquist, Richer said that value of the demolished motorcycle was $400. Hospital and doctor bills totaled $3,200.

After deduction of Lindquist's fee, the $5,545 remaining would be put in a bank account for young Richer until his 21st birthday, according to terms of the settlement.

JUDGE HATFIELD approved the settlement and agreed to free part of the amount held in trust to be applied towards young Richer's education in a trade.

The judge questioned young Richer concerning whether he had any pain in the injured leg. The youth said he did not. He demonstrated by walking a few steps that he has no limp, either.

The firm of Hull & Hull represented defendants Mr. and Mrs. Hull.

Woman Granted Default Divorce

A default divorce was granted Mrs. Mary E. Kropidowski today in District Court after a hearing in which Judge Arnold Hatfield approved a stipulation granting custody of one of their two children to each of the parties.

Mrs. Kropidowski, 24, 860 E. Mark St., and Mrs. Earl C. Blood Jr., 778 E. 3rd St., testified that Tom Kropidowski, 37, 600 E. 2nd St., had treated his wife in a cruel and inhuman manner.

The Kropidowskis were married here Nov. 2, 1957. They have two children, aged 2 and 5.

The couple agreed that their 5-year-old son should return to custody of his father and that their 2-year-old daughter should remain in custody of her mother.

Mrs. Kropidowski won the right to again use her maiden name of Torgerson.

Attorney Dennis A. Challen represented Mrs. Kropidowski, and Attorney S. A. Sawyer represented Kropidowski. Neither Kropidowski nor his attorney appeared in court today.

WIRE STOLEN. A roll of wire worth $25 was stolen sometime last week from the old Sugar Loaf creamery now used by Alfred Plank as a warehouse, according to a report received by Police Chief James W. McCabe, Plank, 726 E. Wabasha St., told police that the wire was taken sometime between Monday and Sunday from the former creamery building.

HUNTING FATALITY

Boy Thought It Was a Deer

BLAIR, Wis. — The 16-year-old Blair boy who accidentally shot and killed Franklin George Pfiffer, 36, Hartland, Wis., early Saturday morning, thought he saw a deer, his father, Erwin Anderegg, said this morning.

Mr. Anderegg and his son, Howard, were hunting in their favorite area, a heavily wooded spot west of County Trunk S about six miles north of Blair.

HOWEVER, they were not together, having gone to the Fly Creek ridge area in separate cars. Howard had selected a stand on the former Ed Getts farm on a previous visit and his father selected one some distance away.

Weatherman Sees Warm Thanksgiving

A pre-Thanksgiving warm spell sent Winona thermometers rising at a dizzy pace today, giving the city a temperature of 49 at noon, and holding the possibility of equalling or passing the all-time record of 56 set on Nov. 22, 1908.

The pleasant weather will continue over the Thanksgiving holiday, the five-day forecast indicated.

AVERAGE temperatures are expected to range 4 to 8 degrees above normal daily highs of 30-35 and nighttime lows of 15-20. It'll be a little cooler Wednesday and Thursday, warmer Friday and colder Saturday.

In the same time precipitation is expected to average up to three-tenths of an inch, mostly in northern Minnesota and Wisconsin late Thursday and Friday.

After a heavy morning fog, bright sunlight covered Winona and vicinity today.

Variable cloudiness is the forecast tonight and Tuesday with no important change in temperature. A low of 22 to 30 is predicted for tonight and a high in the 40s for Tuesday.

Mild with scattered rain or snow is the outlook for Wednesday and Thursday, warmer Friday and colder Saturday.

2 Youths Held; Caught in Act Of Stealing Tire

Two St. Charles area juveniles are being turned over to juvenile authorities today, according to Sheriff George L. Fort, after they admitted attempting to steal a tire from a Stockton man's car.

The boys, 16 and 17 years old, were surprised in the act of jacking up a car owned by George Alitz, Stockton. Sunday at midnight. They ran away but were traced through a car owned by one of them which was left behind with a flat.

Sheriff Fort said the pair admitted the theft attempt when questioned Sunday afternoon in his office.

Mrs. Alitz called the sheriff's office Sunday at 12:23 a.m. to report that her daughter had heard a noise outside their home around midnight. The girl turned on a yard light and saw a youth run away into the darkness.

The Alitz car was found jacked up, and a flat tire was found in the street in front of the Alitz home. The car had been jacked up where it was parked in a driveway behind the Alitz house.

The flat tire turned out to have been taken from a car which was found parked about a block from the Alitz home. The car's ownership was traced to one of the youths.

Deputies Elroy Balk and John Schneider apprehended a carful of youths including the two who later admitted attempting to steal a right rear tire from the Alitz vehicle.

Sailor Fined After Crash At Stockton

STOCKTON, Minn. — A Navy man on a weekend pass from the Great Lakes (Ill.) Naval Training Station was charged with making an improper left turn following a two-car collision here about 7:45 p.m. Sunday.

Richard Sorenson, 23, Lynd, Minn., U.S. Navy, was traveling east in a 1956 model on Highway 14 in the heart of the village when he made an abrupt left turn. He intended to stop at Nisbit's Grocery Store.

HE TURNED into the path of an oncoming 1957 model driven by John T. Pelowski, Dover. Attempting to avoid a head-on collision, Pelowski turned sharply to the right. The automobiles collided on the left side street.

Sorenson's car stopped at the point of impact with the left front of his car in the westbound lane. The Pelowski car traveled about 45 feet on the north shoulder.

No one was injured. Highway Patrolman Mike Eckert, St. Charles, and Allison Heisler, Minnesota City, said that the Sorenson car is a total loss or has $500 damage and that about $300 damage was done to the Pelowski car.

THE LEFT front fender of the Sorenson car was almost completely sheared away and the radiator, grill, hood and headlight smashed. Broken glass from both cars was strewn on the highway and north shoulder. Traffic was directed by local residents until the patrol arrived.

Sorenson pleaded guilty before Justice Ann Lafky, who assessed a fine of $15 but suspended $10 on the recommendation of Heisler so that Sorenson would have sufficient money for transportation to his base. He was due there this morning. Sorenson paid the fine plus costs of $4.

It Happened Last Night

Guy Switches Off Sinatra

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — The B.W. and I were happily watching Frank Sinatra on a TV show one night recently in Gallagher's restaurant when another diner burst over and turned the TV set off.

"If you wanted to watch TV, why didn't you stay home?" he grumbled.

The management — which had moved the TV set in at our request — turned it back on. But this raised several questions: Is TV a disturbance at dinner? Do you have a right to censor somebody else's dinner, or ruin somebody else's dinner if he's anti-TV? I'm just asking.

Mia Farrow watched the Sinatra TV profiling from an upstairs room at Danny's Hideaway. "Fascinating, fascinating!" she said, and talked to Frank later in L.A. . . . But his ex-wife Ava Gardner who was briefly in the film clip, missed it . . . too busy at Basin St. E. with a handsome European escort and chatting backstage with Mel Torme, headlining there with Duke Ellington and Joan Rivers . . . Mia proceeded to Arthur with Sheila MacRae, Jack Carter, Jack E. Leonard, Drama Critic Ron Petaky, her mother Maureen O'Sullivan . . . and broke out and danced.

BROADWAY STARS . . . and socialites . . . are watching the mailbox to see if Sharmar Douglas invites them to her party for 200 at the Four Seasons for Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon. We hear that Harry Belafonte, Elaine Stritch, Henry Fonda and cats like that will be invited to the "buffet in the kitchen" and sitdown-by-the-pool supper. Sharmar has requested hamburgers in addition to live trout, cooked to order, crepes suzette, etc.

I can only give you a big exclusive on one who's not being invited: Me. (The press is OUT except for a few photos who'll have a few minutes only).

"The Mod Ball" at the Rainbow Room turned out to be a triumph for Ray Bolger, not exactly a Mod, who danced to the King Bees and the Toys (Mod groups) with such exciting young girls as Kay King and Penny Chavez, whom I introduced him to. One of these youngsters groaned about Ray's great energy and said, "I wonder if I could sit down and rest a while?" Among the Mods was one Eddie Gilbert, one of our Front Pages, remember?

Let's Get Growing

By A. F. SHIRA

Trace Minerals In The Soil

IN our article on Nitrogen, the first of the "Big Three" fertilizing elements, it was stated that there are at least thirteen other chemical elements, according to soil specialists, that are necessary in suitable balance for good plant nutrition.

These elements are generally called "trace minerals" because they are usually present in such small quantities in the soil. The earlier soil investigators figured that the amounts of these elements were so small that they could not become a to the good growth of the alfalfa.

Boron is closely associated with calcium in its effects on plant growth, flowering and fruiting. The addition to the soil of organic matter will release boron that has held in a fixed form so that it will become available to the plants. It is usable by the plants as long as the soil is moist, but assumes an insoluble form when the ground becomes dry.

Some commercial fertilizers on the market now include small quantities of these necessary trace elements in addition to the three major ones. If so, the tag will usually state that these minerals have been added.

First, let us consider the element calcium. This mineral is very vital to the nutrition of plants, as the normal growth of the cells cannot take place without an adequate supply of this chemical. It is of great value in promoting the development of beneficial soil bacteria and, also, function in making nitrogen, phosphorous and potash more available to plants. Also, it is very important in neutralizing acid soils.

MAGNESIUM is necessary in the formation of chlorophyll in plants. It, also, aids in the utilization of nitrogen, phosphorous and sulphur and is essential in the production of protein.

Boron is necessary to plants, since any deficiency of this element in soil, may cause young leaves to become yellow and the stems brittle. This deficiency is more likely to occur in alkaline soils than those that are acid.

Strange as it may seem, boron was one of the first minerals to be used in the fertilization of plants. While it is taken up in only very minute quantities, plant specialists state that the lack of it in the soil even in infinitesimal amounts may produce definite deficiency symptoms. They state that while a ton of alfalfa takes only about two ounces of boron from the soil, this small amount is vital

IRON is usually present in most garden soils in sufficient quantities for good plant growth, except in the case of alkaline soils that may be deficient in this element. A lack of sufficient iron in the soil may be indicated by a yellowing of the foliage, especially in young leaves.

Sulphur is important as a basic element in the manufacture of proteins by plants. The need of it is high in the case of many flowers and in certain vegetables such as radishes, turnips, cabbage and others.

The soil in the average garden usually contains enough sulphur for good plant growth, since it is generally present in humus and is, also, supplied by the sulfates present in commercial fertilizers.

A few of the other trace minerals that might be mentioned are zinc, copper, cobalt and manganese, all playing their part in plant nutrition.

This concludes the present series of articles on nutrients in soils.

HARRIS SURVEY

Many Americans Still Grieve Over Death of Kennedy

By LOUIS HARRIS

On the second anniversary of the assassination of John F. Kennedy, nearly 3 out of every 4 Americans say they still frequently think about it and feel sad. And the Kennedy assassination topped the list when a national cross section was asked recently which happenings of the past 10 years makes them "feel ashamed to be an American."

This mixture of sorrow and guilt strikes home in a special way to residents of Dallas, where Lee Harvey Oswald fired the shots that struck down the 35th President. Although the sense of personal loss is somewhat less in Dallas, the sense of guilt is significantly higher.

A cross section of adults in both the nation and Dallas was asked:

"Do you often feel bad about the assassination of John F. Kennedy, or do you find you don't feel that way often?"

J.F.K. ASSASSINATION

Nation	Dallas
Often	73
Don't feel that way	27

A similar question on whether people often reflected sadly on American casualties in Viet Nam was answered affirmatively by 48 percent of those interviewed nationally and by 61 percent of those living in Dallas. By this measurement, the shooting of the President two years ago persists as a major source of national grief even in an era when young Americans are giving their lives in combat.

Both Dallas residents and the national cross section were also asked:

"What happenings of the past 10 years have taken place in the United States that made you feel ashamed to be an American? Any others?"

ASHAMED AS AN AMERICAN

Nation	Dallas
J.F.K.	40
Way Negroes have been treated	21
Race violence	20
Bay of Pigs invasion	13
Negro demonstrations	8
Increase in crime	4
Viet Nam situation	3
National debt	2
College student demonstrations	1
Low moral standard	2
Taking religion out of schools	1
Ku Klux Klan	2
Never ashamed	3

(Figures add to more than 100 percent because some persons volunteered more than one event.)

The assassination of President Kennedy leads the list of events volunteered in this survey, but this time the proportion in Dallas was a full 14 percentage points above that in the country as a whole. The sharpness of the sense of shame over the tragedy of Nov. 22, 1963, most particularly among residents of the city where the assassin's bullets were fired, was illustrated by a Dallas businessman who said: "It could have happened anywhere, but it happened right here. We can't live with it, so we try to put it away. But somehow it won't go away."

City Settlers Came Ashore; Didn't Travel by Wagon

The unique settlement of the city of Winona was described by Harlen H. Holden at the County Historical Society museum Sunday afternoon as a preface to presenting his second chapter in the history of drug stores here.

Holden presented the first chapter — on the first five years — before the society Sept. 22, 1964. His second chapter is on "The Drug Store in Three Crucial Years of Winona's History, 1860 to 1862."

"WHENEVER the word pioneer is mentioned, immediately you think of covered wagons carrying families who travel for months across vast areas, cutting down trees for roads and fighting Indians," Holden said. "You think of them clearing the land and planting crops, taking years before a settlement has reached a point where it has schools and churches."

"Generally speaking it is correct, perhaps."

"However, many of our people were professionals from Philadelphia who had been educated in Germany and Poland, and from Pittsburgh with 12 to 15 years of business experience. They traveled from the ship-building center at Pittsburgh down the Ohio River and up the Mississippi River to Winona."

"They brought with them everything they needed and when they needed more, they sent back for it by the same route. Orrin Smith of Illinois had a vision of Winona as a settlement in 1851, and it began with a handful of people in 1854.

"By 1857 there were 40 stores in Winona, five of them drug stores. In 1857 there were six drug stores. Railroads came through in 1858, speculation was followed by inflation, and as a result of the great depression of 1859, the number of drug stores dropped to three. Most of the businessmen were involved in more than one enterprise, and with the depression, dropped some of them and concentrated on one."

Holden's history is written in the first person in the form of letters between a fictitious figure, John Salesman of the American Drug Co., Milwaukee, to his company, concerning Winona's prospects, and letters to Salesman from his friends here.

Many names of early businessmen and business places run through the letters: Harry Upham who in 1860 not only ordered drugs but "a good supply of seeds and insecticides since farming is still Winona's chief economic asset"; Winona Plow Manufacturing plant; Burbank Stage Line; Great Western Drug, Sam Wickersham, etc.

FRANK CURTIS wrote him in August 1860 of the vast amounts of merchandise and equipment on the levee for Winona and the interior, and of steamboats coming up the river to disgorge settlers. John Salesman found Charles Bernson putting away his unsold comic valentines for the next season.

He dropped in at L. Weinland's, where he found Weinland's junior partner, Dr. H. R. Wedel, discussing the Normal School. The state legislature in 1858 voted to establish three state normal schools, appropriating $5,000 for each provided the community seeking it would raise a like amount.

"In spite of hard times, Winona was the first community to meet the necessary requirements," Dr. Wedel said, "contributing $5,200 in land and cash. Our Normal School opened with 20 pupils last fall. There were 30 in the winter term and they are expecting 45 in the spring."

SALESMAN wrote of the message that came into the office of the Winona Republican by telegraph saying that Lincoln had been detained and there was a threat on his life. Telegraph lines had been strung from La Crosse to St. Paul on the Wisconsin side. For a time someone had to go across the river to bring back the messages but later a tall mast was erected on each side of the river, bringing a line to Winona direct. Sometimes tall chimneys on boats tore it down and it had to be repaired.

"The news about the threat on Lincoln's life was like a bombshell," Salesman wrote. "Although few Winona citizens had favored Lincoln they had voted for him because he was the Republican candidate."

In May 1861 a Union rally was called at the Huff House to raise funds for the 70-some volunteers of the Winona area who were the first to respond to President Lincoln's call for troops.

In the midst of war preparations in December 1861, there was an outbreak of diphtheria with diverse discussions on its treatment.

JOHN Salesman attended Winona's 4th of July celebration in 1862. It had a tragic end: A spark from one of the fireworks fell on Clapperton's Bakery on the east side of the street midway between 2nd and 3rd streets and set off a fire which destroyed four blocks of frame business buildings. Families living in second and third floor rooms fled for their lives. The volunteer fire department with good equipment, kept a steady stream of water flowing over the buildings on the east side of Lafayette, north side of 2nd west side of Main and south side of 3rd St. Here it was checked.

The Daily Republican, Holden said, had been urging businessmen in editorials to replace their wooden buildings with brick and put water tanks in their structures. Even following the fire some rebuilt with wood, but most built with brick.

AMONG THE other buildings burned was the Daily Republican, so Holden got his information on the fire from a St. Paul paper.

St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Masonic and Odd Fellow lodges, names of medicines used in the period, and other incidents and names are included in the 79 pages of Holden's second chapter.

Third Man in Tacoma Case Surrenders

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — The third man sought in connection with the kidnapping of Charles Hyde III surrendered here early today.

He is James Edward Evans, a 31-year-old father named as an accomplice in the kidnapping by its admitted mastermind.

Sheriff's officers said Evans turned himself in to Chief Criminal Deputy George Janovich. He was immediately whisked into an interrogation session with officers.

They would not say where Evans had been. They reported, however, he had just driven into Tacoma.

Detective Capt. Ernest Keck of the Pierce County sheriff's office disclosed Sunday he had received a telephone call Saturday night, presumably from California. Evans has a brother in Hayward, Calif.

Keck said Evans told him he understood he was wanted and was returning to Tacoma, where he has a wife and several small children.

The Hyde boy, a slender, studious 13-year-old, was abducted Wednesday morning as he walked to a school bus. He was released unharmed nine hours later after his father, president of a wholesale grocery firm, paid $45,000 ransom.

All but $5,000 of the money was recovered over the weekend.

The big break in the case came early Saturday when Tilford Baker, 34, a lanky Tacoma carpenter, turned himself in at the Pierce County sheriff's office.

"Baker said he did the planning — he masterminded the thing," said Janovich.

Baker is married and has two children.

He identified Dean Allen Bromley, 20, also of Tacoma, as the driver of the kidnap car and said the ransom money was divided at Evan's home. All three were charged with first-degree kidnapping.

450 Cheerleaders Practice Together

OSSEO, Wis. (Special)—More than 450 cheerleaders from 51 schools participated here Saturday in the largest cheerleaders clinic in north central Wisconsin.

It was conducted at Osseo High School Saturday under sponsorship of Osseo cheerleaders and the Girls Athletic Association.

AT A LUNCH in the cafeteria, served under the direction of Miss Linda Oldenberg, home economics teacher, a cheerleader style show was presented.

Jumps, freezes, cut-off techniques and compositions, all necessary to "keep in shape" as a cheerleader, were demonstrated and discussed at the afternoon session.

A mass teaching of yells was led by Miss Nancy Chapman, Hartland, and directed by Mrs. Mary Ann Davis, teacher from Arrowhead High School, Hartland. She gave a mass instruction in pom pom routines.

John Leadholm, Osseo High principal, welcomed the group and introduced Mrs. Delores Colby, girls physical education teacher at Osseo High and adviser to the cheerleaders, who organized the clinic.

SCHOOLS from this area represented were Eleva - Strum, Pepin, Whitehall, Taylor, Mondovi, Melrose-Mindoro, Sacred Heart of Lima, Independence, Holmen, Gilmanston, Gale-Erick, Durand, Cochrane-Fountain City, Black River Falls, Arkansasaw, La Crosse Aquinas,

Report of Circling Plane Revives Hunt

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—The Utah Civil Air Patrol said Sunday night a sheepherder reported what is believed to be the best lead yet in the search for a Minnesota plane that disappeared over Utah a week ago with four persons aboard.

The CAP said it learned the sheepherder heard a plane circle his cabin, 35 miles northwest of Milford, about 8:15 p.m. Nov. 14.

That is the approximate time the aircraft disappeared.

The CAP said ground and aerial searches would be made of the Frisco mountain range west of Milford today.

Pilots and spotters in 19 aircraft flew over most of the state during an all-day spell of clear weather Sunday. It was the first day of blue skies since the twin-engine Beechcraft Travelaire disappeared Nov. 14 on a flight from Los Angeles to Salt Lake City on its way to Minneapolis.

Aboard the plane were the pilot, Herman Hemker, 28, Mrs. Jane Reeves, 52, both of Minneapolis, and two University of Minnesota coeds, Mary Klessig, 19, and Nancy Dlau, 26.

LBJ Means Business With Business

SAME TECHNIQUE, but faster this time. And President Johnson has made his point: He means business with business. He wants prices steady. If he has to play rough to keep them that way, he will.

He did this with the aluminum industry and now last week with the copper industry. In both cases he never said a word. He didn't have to. His technique was simple.

He stayed in the background and let his top aides do the talking and the rough stuff. But business could never have any doubt who was pulling the strings.

Although he had previously made clear he wants business to avoid price increases to prevent inflation, the aluminum industry ignored him and raised prices.

He must have hoped the industry would reconsider because for several days his aides hemmed and hawed and stumbled around with vague hints of what they might do while never saying it had any connection with the price boost.

THEN THE AX FELL. The government has so much aluminum in its stockpile that it considered 1.4 million tons a surplus it wanted to get rid of.

Then on Nov. 6, Robert S. McNamara, secretary of defense, announced the government would get rid of 200,000 tons of its aluminum.

With that much aluminum turned loose, the industry's sales would suffer and it would have to cut prices. Still deadpan, naming no names and calling none, McNamara said the extra supplies on the market should "relieve price pressures." The industry got the message and cut prices.

Meanwhile, the copper industry, as if it had never heard what happened to the aluminum industry, raised its prices. It did this shortly before Johnson's showdown with aluminum, but it kept them there.

Then last Wednesday night McNamara came back into the picture suddenly by calling a news conference to make an announcement. Unlike the government's performance with aluminum, there had been no hint of what was to come.

But McNamara disclosed the government, which also has more copper than it needs, would release 200,000 tons of it and would take other steps to put a brake on rising copper prices.

McNamara said Johnson concurred in his actions, although it was hardly necessary to say so.

Johnson had been criticized after his victory over the aluminum industry. His administration, which had mumbled for days before forcing the showdown, had been accused of fumbling and indecision and other things.

THIS KIND OF criticism seemed ridiculous for it was clear enough, when the administration finally decided to turn loose 200,000 tons of aluminum, what had been behind the delay and the huffing and puffing.

Anyone who has watched Johnson — a master politician who avoids name-calling, head-on clashes if they can be avoided, and unpleasant showdowns unless as a last resort — could have figured his tactics with aluminum.

If the industry took the veiled hints his aides were throwing out — before the McNamara announcement about the 200,000 tons of aluminum — maybe it would drop its price increase.

But the industry wouldn't yield until forced to. With that lesson in mind, the administration didn't go through the same routine with the copper industry.

It just did the same thing to copper that it did to aluminum, without public warning.

All this should provide a good insight — particularly for American business — into Johnson: That he's highly flexible that he's determined, and that he will stick to what he wants with a minimum of shouting.

NOW THE COPPER industry has backed down, as aluminum did. Apparently it decided not to try its luck by defying Johnson. Since he is a very resourceful man, this probably wouldn't have been good business.

One thing have I desired of the Lord, that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of the Lord, and to inquire in his temple.—Psalm 27:4.

TODAY IN NATIONAL AFFAIRS 'IS IT DADDY, MOTHER—WITH THE THANKSGIVING TURKEY?'

Price-Holding Powers of LBJ

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — President Johnson doesn't have any legal power to fix copper prices, but he is doing so anyway. He didn't have the power to roll back aluminum prices either, but he accomplished that objective just the same by threatening to dump on the market aluminum from the government's stockpile. Mr. Johnson isn't, however, doing anything about controlling the rise in wages, which was, of course, the direct cause of the upward trend in prices.

Both the copper and aluminum industries have recently been coerced into granting big wage increases under threat of costly strikes. There are, of course, valid reasons why prices should be restrained and wage-and-price stability maintained. But the power to do all this is not invested in one man just because he happens to be President of the United States. Constitutionally, Congress alone can impose wage-and-price control.

THE ADMINISTRATION doubtless will be reluctant to advocate any restraint upon labor, because the financial support given by organized labor in political campaigns now has reached substantial proportions and is generally believed here to be responsible for the election of a majority in both houses of Congress.

But Rep. Thomas B. Curtis of Missouri, ranking House Republican on the Joint Economic Committee, and Rep. William B. Widnall of New Jersey, ranking House Republican on the Joint Committee on Defense Production, have just recommended that their two committees undertake an exhaustive investigation as soon as Congress meets. The two congressmen issued a comprehensive statement declaring that the administration's recent activity in relating the stockpile to the price situation "was clearly in violation of the intent of the defense production act of 1951 and raised the crucial issue of the rights of management to make decisions about the use of privately owned resources."

The statement points out that the Joint Defense Production Committee in its 1959 annual report declared that "the stockpile should be limited to defense needs, and that it is not the purpose of these programs to regulate prices or to solve economic problems."

EVEN AS recently as Oct. 4, 1965, the deputy director of the Office of Economic Planning, Franklin B. Dryden, in testifying before the Joint Congressional Committee on Defense Production, restated his agency's position that large disposal of stockpile items should be made "without adversely affecting market conditions."

What President Johnson has done is, of course, just the opposite of these declarations. If governmental action is necessary, the feeling is growing that Congress should spell it out in a statute and that arbitrary steps should not be taken which could shake confidence in the whole economic system.

The big mystery here is why the administration has been operating in such a curious way in the last two weeks with respect to both aluminum and copper prices. At first, it was announced that the government would sell in the next year 300,000 tons of aluminum. When the companies went to Washington to urge restraint, they were told that the administration was going ahead anyhow. As soon, however, as the aluminum companies rolled back their prices, the administration reversed its position and cut down the amount of aluminum to be sold to something between 100,000 and 200,000 tons a year, which is what the industry all along has been in favor of doing.

BUT DURING the controversy over aluminum, criticism was voiced that nothing had been done by the administration about the recent rise in copper prices. So Secretary McNamara was selected again by the President to make public announcement of the government's intention to sell 200,000 tons of copper from the national stockpile.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Stevenson's Last Words Get Changed in Report

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The last words of Adlai Stevenson as quoted by Eric Sevareid in Look Magazine have stirred a tempest of discussion as to whether President Johnson was callous toward peace in Southeast Asia; whether he rebuffed peace overtures from U.N. Secretary General U. Thant during the fall of 1964.

The facts in the case were rather fully reported in this column March 15, April 10 and Aug. 3, and are somewhat different from the version given to Sevareid by Adlai.

However, what neither he nor the State Department nor anyone else knew last year and what has only leaked out last week, thanks to the Red Chinese, was that one day before Premier Kosygin arrived in Hanoi on the fatal Feb. 7 when the United States started bombing North Viet Nam, Kosygin had stopped in Peking to ask the Chinese to use their influence with the North Vietnamese for peace.

Or as the Chinese put it in their latest diatribe against the Russians, Kosygin had "stressed the need to help the United States find a way out of Viet Nam."

THIS WAS on Feb. 5-6. Next day, as Kosygin was spending the night in Hanoi, the United States answered with a fusillade of bombs, initiating a policy which has played into the Chinese hands.

This is why the Chinese have been continually accusing the Russians of "faithfully obeying orders of the U.S. imperialists . . . Officially transmitting to the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam these preposterous demands aimed at forcing the Vietnamese people into unconditional surrender."

This also makes understandable the bitterness of Russian reaction to our bombing policy.

Historians will doubtless speculate today on the anniversary of Kennedy's death and for years to come on how JFK would have played his cards for peace in the crucial year 1964 when, if alive, he would have been running for reelection. Instead Johnson was running. And about the time of the Atlantic City convention, Johnson sent a peace feeler to Ho Chi Minh. The response was vague.

"BUT simultaneously," as reported by this column last spring, "U.N. Secretary General Thant sent a message by way of Moscow to the North Vietnamese. He proposed peace talks on neutral ground, such as his native Burma or Cambodia."

This was what Adlai Stevenson was doubtless referring to in his talks with Sevareid.

A favorable response came back from Hanoi in September, again by the Moscow route, the column reported. "This was confirmed by President De Gaulle, who had taken his soundings through French instructors still in Hanoi."

But Johnson in September was in the middle of the election campaign and Barry Goldwater was accusing him of being soft on Communism, of pulling his punches in Viet Nam by refusing to bomb North Viet Nam.

So Johnson waited. He waited until after elections, then went down to the LBJ ranch to rest. He rested too long and he waited too long. Peace and war don't wait for elections or vacations.

DURING that two months wait, the government of South Viet Nam deteriorated. It had so many prime ministers, so much friction between Catholics and Buddhist that the North Vietnamese concluded they could win without talking peace.

So by the time Johnson finished campaigning and resting and got back to the pressing problem of peace, the North Vietnamese had changed their minds. My information is that this — not Secretary of Defense McNamara's intervention, as reported by Adlai — was what disrupted U Thant's drive for peace.

This column earlier reported: "In January President Johnson asked Canada, a member of the International Control Commission with offices in Hanoi, to find out whether the (earlier) offer was genuine. U Thant, at this point, was optimistic that the offer still stood, and persisted that it be accepted."

"J. Blair Seaborn, the Canadian member of the commission, reported back that North Viet Nam showed absolutely no interest in a truce." (This was in January, 1965).

"The State Department was convinced, however, that the first sounding (in 1964) was not a mistake, but that Ho Chi Minh had changed his mind," this column reported.

WASHINGTON CALLING

New McCarthyism In Near Future

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — The more sensitive thermometers that register the emotional climate are showing overheating. Those who study the reading believe this can mean trouble for the future in the form of a new McCarthyism.

The cause of the overheating is the rapidly escalating war in Viet Nam and the reaction against the demonstrations by groups opposing the war. What with an anti-war demonstration here one day next week and a pro-Viet Nam demonstration the following day, there is every indication the temperature is likely to continue to go up.

The Johnson Administration bases its opposition to the anti-war demonstrators on the ground that both Red China and North Viet Nam will take the protests as evidence the United States will pull out of Viet Nam if only the war goes on long enough. Certainly the Communist regimes in both Peking and Hanoi make all possible use of dissenting voices in the West, however minor.

But seasoned diplomats both here and in Europe doubt that either Peking or Hanoi have illusions about the significance of the small minority that continues to protest against the war. They can read the meaning of the rapid buildup of American forces and the fantastic increase in the fire power the Air Force is bringing to bear and this signals intentions more realistically than a few student marchers. The protests as relayed by radio and film to the Communist masses may be useful in stirring them to greater sacrifice. Even here, however, it is considered likely that in North Viet Nam, at least, the peasant is undecided as he faces a more and more rugged existence with American bombers wiping out road and rail lines.

THERE IS another side to the Johnson administration's concern over all forms of protest whether debates and teach-ins or demonstrations in the streets. This is the President's passionate desire for a consensus taking in every man and woman. This consensus psychology was reflected in Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers' statement reporting Johnson's "surprise that any one citizen would feel toward his country in a way that is not consistent with the national interest."

The fact is that the President has a consensus and an overwhelming one on Viet Nam. All recent polls have shown that up to two-thirds of the public support him in the enlarging American role in Viet Nam. To get every citizen in line with no single voice of dissent — as Moyers' report of the President's viewpoint seemed to imply — would be something never attained in any American war.

In the American revolution there were those who remained loyal to Britain. Thoreau went to jail for his refusal to pay taxes to a government that lagged in freeing the slaves as the Civil War dragged on, and thereby he laid the base for the doctrine of civil disobedience. In both World Wars pro-Germans and conscientious objectors held out against the overwhelming majority supporting the war effort. The dissenters in this American tradition have often paid heavily for their dissent.

THE AMERICAN Jewish Congress, the American Civil Liberties Union and the Union of American Hebrew Congregations have recently expressed grave concern over the heating up of the atmosphere in something like a war psychosis. The AJC resolution was adopted after a pro-Viet Nam parade in New York when paraders broke ranks to threaten and in some instances beat up anyone carrying a dissenting placard or raising a dissenting voice. The resolution warned that threats and pressures had "evoked a menacing climate in which lawful dissent was punished as political disloyalty."

The Civil Liberties Union is defending David Miller,

Hopes Conditions at Dog Pound Will Be Improved

To the Editor:

If conditions at the Winona dog pound actually exist as described in a letter in this column (Nov. 15), then every interested person concerned about humane treatment of animals, should not only protest but demand such a situation to be corrected without delay.

Every dog lover would find conditions as described sickening. But just to feel sorry is not enough. It is prompt action that is needed, and I sincerely hope that our city officials who are responsible for the dog pound have acted and checked conditions there, and will continue to see that the place is sanitary, well-kept, and the dogs given proper food in the future.

No dog chooses to be in the pound. It should not be necessary for a person living out of the state to call attention to a matter of this nature. I have faith in our city officials that conditions at the pound will be improved promptly.

M. V. Curtis

the youthful member of the Catholic Worker group who publicly burned his draft card. The ACLU argues, and the Jewish Congress takes the same position, that this was a symbolic act and not to be equated with obstruction to the war effort such as attempting to block a troop train.

LITTLE MORE than a year ago President Johnson in the thick of the presidential campaign said in speech in Manchester, N.H., that he did not think we were ready for American boys to do the fighting for Asian boys. He went on: "So we are not going north and we are not going south; we are going to continue to try to get them to save their own freedom with their own men, with our leadership and our officer direction, and such equipment as we can furnish them. We think that losing 190 lives in the period we have been out there is bad but it is not like 190,000 that we might lose the first month if we escalated that war."

Those words must have been heard in Peking and Hanoi. But in that closed, authoritarian world, where any dissent is punished by prison or death, words are weighed against deeds and American action speaks forcefully in Viet Nam today.

Winona high schoolers totaling 200 danced to the music of the Tarantulas Saturday night at the first YMCA Sock hop of the year. Chaparones for the dance Friday were Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Bachler and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Braun. The YM generally sponsors about four such senior high school dances during the school year.

A Junior High Fun Night for Jefferson eighth and ninth graders was held Friday night at the YM. Activities included gym, swim and dancing. Chaparones were Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Farr, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Austin, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Brand and Mrs. Calista Schultz. Larry Schiller, YM youth secretary, announced that the fall schedule of fun nights and dances has been completed. YM teen social events will resume after the holidays.

A small but monumental bronze sculpture is the work of Paul Granlund. "Bacio I" creates a lyrical sense of movement in the dance forms to such a degree that the illusion of movement is everpresent.

A reduction of form to impasto masses of red, yellow and blue in rich surfaced substance is the strongly composed oil "Sundown" by Peter Busa. One of the truly non-objective paintings in the show, it makes full use of the disposition of color and texture, mass and shape to create vitality, often lost in meanderings masking under the term non-objective composition. He proves that non-objective painting reaches into the core of all painting composition.

"BIRD IMAGE" by Charlotte Mills, a sculpture in walnut, utilizes the organic surface to enhance the imaginative imagery.

Another wood sculpture, in oak, "Gothic Torso" by Peter Lupori evokes the architectural quality of church sculpture of the medieval period transmitted to the 20th century with all the intensity of the Gothic spiritual dedication. One of the few pieces dealing with the religious theme, it demonstrates the recent revival in the religious subject as thematic material. Lupori has added his own sensitive feeling of the organic nature of the material to the stylistic imagery created.

The show has 30 works on exhibit, representing the media

John Schaefer's Now Residing In Mahanomen

At home in Mahanomen, Minn., are Mr. and Mrs. John F. Schaefer, following a honeymoon to Colorado and their Nov. 13 wedding at St. Michael's Catholic Church, Mahanomen.

The Rev. Justin Luetmer officiated and the children's choir sang.

The bride is the former Miss Darlene Krajsa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Krajsa, Mahanomen. Her husband is the son of Mrs. Arthur Streuber, 760 E. Howard St., and the late John Schaefer.

MISS JOAN BERENS, Mahanomen, was maid of honor and Miss Diane Schaefer, bridesmaids. They wore floor-length, blue gowns with elbow-length sleeves, round necklines, lace-covered bodices and sheath-style skirts with detachable overskirts. Crystal and pearl tiara crowns held their face veils and they carried bouquets of white mums and red roses. The flower girl, Donna Snobl, Mahanomen, was dressed like the bride.

Bruce A. Edwards, Winona, was best man and John Snobl, Mahanomen, groomsmen. Ushers were Larry Uhler, Bejou, Minn., and Leonard Ditch, Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Roger Schaefer, brother of the groom, was ring bearer.

The bride wore a gown of lace over taffeta with long sleeves, fitted bodice and scoop neckline. Her bouffant floor-length skirt was embroidered with iridescent sequins and had tiers of lace at the back. She wore a veil which was worn by her mother in 1940 and by her sister, Mrs. Bennie Zaviska, in 1961. She carried a bouquet of white mums and red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Schaefer

A DINNER was served in the church basement, followed by a reception and dance at the ZCBJ Lodge there. The Tulack Old Time Band furnished the music.

The bride is a graduate of Mahanomen High School and is employed as a cashier at Edna's Food Market, Mahanomen. Her husband is a graduate of Winona Senior High School and Dunwoody Industrial Institute. He is a serviceman at Lee

NASON ON EDUCATION

Others Besides Geniuses Succeed

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D. University of Southern Calif.

Successful men and women often receive much attention and win awards because of their achievements. Sometimes, especially in the field of science, they are referred to as geniuses. Young people are prone to compare themselves with such persons. Unfortunately, too many of them come to feel that only people much smarter than themselves can succeed. This attitude not only can affect their own lives, but can deprive the country of their talents.

Actually, there are so many different aspects to most professions that success comes to thousands in each field. One doesn't have to be a genius to succeed.

Even what we measure as intelligence and label as "I.Q." is not a fixed thing. It is not a case of all or nothing. The test measures developed skills and abilities; consequently, the important thing is whether or not a person develops his innate abilities and skills.

CONTINUED learning is a requirement to success. A state employment agency head reports that, for those not going on to college, the first year after high school graduation is often a key year.

Those who merely put in their day's work with no attempt at self-development are disillusioned by the end of that first year out of school. The job has become routine and uninteresting. Advancement seems difficult or impossible to obtain. They are out of school, out of the habit of learning, and thus in a blind alley.

On the other hand, those who avail themselves of shop training programs, evening school, home study, or in some way learning usually make sufficient advancement in their jobs to remain optimistic and happy.

THE FORMULA for a feeling of well-being and optimism for a successful future is "Keep Learning." If unemployed, prepare for employment. For example, there are many openings for persons with real proficiency in typing and shorthand; for persons who can read and understand; and for persons who can write and spell. All of these skills respond to practice.

The young person with time on his hands needs only to apply himself diligently to assure success at some future date.

Opportunities for guidance are readily available. The state employment office is ready and willing to dispense information on training opportunities for occupations in which there is a demand for more workers.

Both public and private business schools offer guidance and counseling as well as opportunities for formal study.

But, with all of these openings available the key is still in the hands of the individual. He must be willing to put forth the effort to gain the benefits of continued learning.

Six Minnesota Traffic Deaths Over Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Six deaths Saturday and Sunday have raised Minnesota's 1966 highway fatality toll to 732 today, compared with 755 one year ago.

One-year-old Lisa Mundy of Minneapolis was killed in a city collision that injured five other members of her family late Sunday.

Her brother Allan, 2, was hospitalized in serious condition. Listed in satisfactory condition were her sisters Julie, 7, and Jacqueline, 5, and mother, Mrs. Frank Mundy, 29. Treated and released were the two drivers, Mundy, 38, and Bonnie Anderson, 18, Minneapolis.

Ernest L. Erickson, 20, of rural Oakley, Calif., was killed Sunday when a car ran through a T intersection of Minn. 87 and Becker County Road 39 about 9 1/2 miles east of Frazee and hit an embankment.

The driver, Leon Berg, 19, Minneapolis, was hospitalized with a broken jaw and broken ribs. Both men were in the Air Force and were stationed at Wadena.

Mrs. Nettie Thompson, 78, Minneapolis, died shortly after a two-car collision at a city intersection Sunday night. Two other persons suffered minor injuries.

Vernon Berens, 25, was killed when hit by a car on U. S. 12 Saturday night two miles east of Benson after he got out of his truck to check trouble in the vehicle. The Highway Patrol said the auto driver was Howard Watkins, 43, Kerkhoven.

Thomas J. Johnson, 18, St. Paul died in a St. Paul hospital Saturday of injuries he suffered in an Oct. 31 crash that killed two other persons, William J. Fenz, 21, and Ralph Lange, 33, both of St. Paul, died when the car in which the three were riding slammed into some trees in St. Paul.

David C. Oulman, 11, Minneapolis, died Saturday of injuries he suffered Friday night when, police said, a woman opened the door of a parked car and knocked the boy's bicycle into the path of a truck driven by Luverne E. Goff, 30, Minneapolis.

Homes of Four Bombed in Civil Rights Dispute

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The homes of four Negro civil rights leaders, including the state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, were rocked by explosions early today, but no one was injured.

Chief of Police John S. Hord said the homes of Kelly Alexander, state president of the NAACP, and of his brother, Fred Alexander, were the most seriously damaged.

Blasts also occurred at the home of Dr. Reginald Hawkins, a dentist and militant civil rights leader, and the home of Julius Chambers, a young attorney who had handled many suits in behalf of Negro groups.

Hord, who arrived in the area 30 minutes after the blasts, said that in his opinion "it was a well-organized group."

"I'll guarantee you it was people who knew what they were doing. Whoever it was knew explosives and they knew the sections and how to get in and get out quickly."

In Raleigh, Gov. Dan Moore offered Charlotte officials the "full resources of our state investigative and law enforcement agencies."

Mayor Stan Brookshire of Charlotte said: "These bombings are most unfortunate and uncalculated. Our whole city is shocked."

The Federal Bureau of Investigation joined the investigation of the blasts, which occurred at the four homes on Charlotte's West Side about 2:30 a.m.

Kelly Alexander, long-time state president of the NAACP, said:

"Anytime four blasts happen like this, it's organized. I don't know who organized it, but it was organized force whose efforts it was to kill us."

Kelly Alexander's two sons, Kelly Jr., 17, and Alfred, 13, were sleeping in a front bedroom of the brick, ranch-style home, when the explosions occurred. The window over their heads was blown out with such force that splinters of glass were imbedded in the paneling of the opposite wall. Drapes were shattered and glass sprinkled in the beds of the two boys.

DELAY DECISION ST. PAUL (AP) — Minnesota Intercollegiate Conference faculty representatives Saturday delayed taking a stand on a proposal by school presidents that the conference abandon spring football practice.

West Germany Has Nuclear Weapons, Report

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times has reported that U.S. nuclear warheads have been mounted secretly on planes and missiles of West Germany and other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

A Washington dispatch in the Sunday Times also said the warheads had been in place for more than six years, although they remain in U.S. custody.

The Defense Department declined comment. It said it is department policy never to discuss the location or operations of nuclear weapons.

The Times story said the warheads are controlled by Americans "through a combination of physical and electronic controls" and cannot be used without U.S. approval.

Youngsters love pink lemonade any time of year! To make it for a small-party party, reconstitute a couple of cans of frozen lemonade according to directions on the can; now stir in a quarter cup of grenadine. Four over ice cubes in a big pitcher and serve in pretty paper cups.

Nuclear Weapons Moving Through N.Y., New Report

NEW YORK (AP) — Reports that the Defense Department might be moving nuclear weapons through the city at night has caused some apprehension among officials.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner showed his concern Sunday when he released a report from his Technical Advisory Committee on Radiation.

"Upon several recent occasions," the report said, "the fire department has been requested to escort truck convoys reportedly carrying nuclear weapons through the city at night."

Such shipments could be going to nearby military bases or to piers for shipment overseas.

The report said repeated inquiries to the Department of Defense have been fruitless, "probably because of security reasons."

The committee, headed by Prof. Harold H. Rossi of Columbia University assured Wagner, however, that the city was "adequately protected from excess or unwarranted exposure to radiation and from the risks of peacetime nuclear disaster."

Flowers Mark Assassination Spot in Dallas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The spot where President John F. Kennedy was assassinated two years ago today is marked, so far, only by flowers and objects left by hundreds of visitors.

Next year, however, the city of Dallas plans to complete two memorials. One will be a 30-foot marker costing $20,000. The other will be a new plaza a block north of the assassination site.

The visitors come from all over America and from many foreign countries.

As the flowers they leave wither, the city has them taken away to be preserved in a cedar-paneled storeroom.

The flower wreaths number in the hundreds now. The stored collection includes many flags, plastic crosses and Bibles.

Car Overtakes, Houston Man Hurt

HOUSTON, Minn. (Special) — A Houston veterinarian received broken ribs and facial cuts when his truck went out of control as it was descending from Union Ridge two miles west of Hokah about 10 a.m. Saturday.

Dr. Kendrick Douglas, 37, returning from a call, was traveling on a Union Township road. His vehicle veered right on a curve and struck pole wood beside the gravel roadway. The impact threw the truck out of control. It rolled and landed on its side about 100 feet from where it struck the wood. Dr. Douglas remained in the truck.

He was taken to Lutheran Hospital, La Crosse. He expected to return home today or Tuesday. The truck, heavily damaged, was equipped with veterinary supplies and equipment.

The Kermans left 15 children ranging up to an 18-year-old son at Dickinson State College.

Bartels' survivors are his widow and seven children, from 12 to 23.

Doctors Seem Pleased at Ike's Progress

FT. GORDON, Ga. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower heads for Washington late today aboard a special train.

The 75-year-old general is recovering from his second heart attack, and doctors report they are pleased with his progress. He has been hospitalized at the Army hospital here since Nov. 9.

An Army ambulance will take Eisenhower to the railroad siding where he will be placed in his special compartment aboard the Army-ordered eight-car train. Another Army ambulance will meet the train about 14 hours later somewhere in the Washington area to move him to the Walter Reed Army Hospital.

Eisenhower's 8 - by 11 foot compartment in the train's third car has been equipped with a hospital bed and assorted emergency and heart monitoring equipment.

The rest of the car will be occupied by doctors and nurses.

Mrs. Eisenhower and members of the general's staff will travel in the fourth car — a private car belonging to an official of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad.

The train will make only one stop en route, for equipment servicing. The location of the stop is classified information.

Saturday afternoon, Eisenhower made his first public appearance since suffering his heart attack. He was wheeled onto the porch of his hospital suite to talk briefly with newsmen and have his picture taken.

"I am really feeling ready to go," he told the reporters.

Would he play golf again? Eisenhower said he was willing to obey his doctors' orders, but added with a grin:

"If they order me not to play golf, then there'll be an argument."

Checkrein on Air Force In Viet War, LeMay Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Curtis E. LeMay says there was a checkrein on the way targets in North Viet Nam could be attacked.

LeMay, retired Air Force chief of staff, was asked by The Associated Press whether there have been restraints on U.S. pilots operating against North Viet Nam.

"When I left active duty, there were some restrictions on the number of airplanes that could be used on a mission and also on types of ordinance that could be delivered," LeMay replied.

Asked for comment, the Defense Department said, "We do not discuss tactics followed in carrying out combat air operations over North Viet Nam."

LeMay retired Feb. 1, just prior to the first air strike against North Viet Nam.

He said: "I am not familiar with the activity since I retired."

Youth in Darien Scandal Arrested

DARIEN, Conn. (AP) — Nine young persons, including Michael J. Smith, a key figure in a teen-age drinking scandal that shook this fashionable city a year ago, are free on bond today on narcotics charges.

Smith, 20, and eight friends were arrested Sunday in a pre-dawn police raid on Smith's apartment. Eight were charged with violating the state narcotics act, and freed on bonds of $3,000 to $5,000.

The other, a 15-year-old girl, whose name was withheld, was released in custody of her parents and will be referred to juvenile authorities.

Police said a "quantity of a substance believed to be marijuana" was found in the apartment shared by Smith and Jack White, 19.

Thirteen months ago, four socially prominent Darien couples and several other adults were arrested on charges of serving liquor to minors at private parties.

The charges resulted from reported drinking at coming-out parties for two debutantes and the death of an Eastern Air Lines executive's daughter, Nancy Hitchings, 17, in an automobile accident after the parties.

Smith was convicted of negligent homicide in the death of Miss Hitchings. He has an appeal pending.

During Smith's trial, Circuit Judge Rodney S. Eielson ordered the arrests of the adults involved in the parties.

A psychiatrist and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. George Hughes, appealed to the State Supreme Court their $500 fines on the charge of serving liquor to minors. The court declined to review their cases.

The others convicted did not appeal. Charges against 5 of the 13, including two caterers and a bartender, eventually were dropped.

Acting Police Chief Hugh McManus declined to say how Sunday's raid took place, except to say that the officers had search warrants, and that the raid was "a planned affair."

Among those arrested was Glenn Carter, 20, of neighboring New Canaan. Carter had testified as a prosecution witness in Smith's trial last year.

Carter said that he and some friends were visiting Smith and White. He said none of the six boys or three girls present had marijuana on his person, as far as he knew.

Besides Smith, White and Carter, others at the apartment were Thomas Alpert, 19, and William Weir, 20, Darien; Allen G. Lanier, 19, New York City; and Marilyn Zoda, 16, and Judy Meifi, 19, Darien, police said.

Police said that because of the 15-year-old girl's presence, the boys also were charged with violating a state law dealing with injury or risk of injury to children.

The youngsters are to appear in Circuit Court Jan. 4.

Reds Losing Strength in S.A., Rusk Says

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today that communism has receded in Latin America over the past few years.

"I think there is no doubt that it has lost strength in Latin America," Rusk said in an ABC television interview.

Rusk, who last visited South America in 1962, said there are indications Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro now "realizes that his type of activity cannot succeed."

He said Castro is perhaps less active now than before. And in some Latin-American countries the voters have rejected Castro as a solution to their problems, he said, adding:

"I think that undoubtedly the situation in the hemisphere is stronger today from that point of view than it was a year or two ago."

Rusk was to present the U.S. position to the inter-American conference this afternoon.

The hemisphere foreign ministers are discussing ways to update the inter-American system to deal with changing political and economic needs. Seven of the 19 foreign-policy leaders have spoken since the two-week meeting began Nov. 17.

The U.S. delegation has kept its specific proposals under wraps pending Rusk's speech but the general theme is known.

Supreme Court Gives Decision on Stuffed Turkeys

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court celebrated Thanksgiving ahead of time today by churning out a 6,000 word opinion in a frozen stuffed turkey case.

The issue: Is it legal for New York state to require, as it does that a frozen turkey carry a label showing separately the weights of the fowl and the filler?

The 6-3 decision: That weighty issue, which involves federal-state relations, must be decided by the Federal Circuit Court in New York. Therefore that court will conduct further proceedings.

The 6,000-word majority opinion, well-stuffed with legal language on the powers of lower courts, was delivered by Justice John M. Harlan.

He said the real issue was whether a special three-judge federal court, a one-judge federal court, or the much larger U.S. Circuit Court, all in New York City, should have decided the question.

He tapped the big circuit court as the one to decide.

Vince Says: 'Can Go All Way Now'

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor
BLOOMINGTON, Minn. —

The intricacies of a professional football offense are not easily comprehended.

The inner workings of an attacking gridiron unit can be a thing of beauty — or a repulsive demonstration of futility. These things are not predictable.

Witness the Green Bay Packer scoring machine that for years now has piled up yardage and victories. But in the past four weeks, the potent Packers went puny. They totaled a meager 36 points.

But Sunday, much to the chagrin of the charitable Minnesota Vikings, the Packers stoked their offense back to life. They had their troubles, scoring only 10 points in the first three quarters. But then in the fourth they cast aside frustration with a 28-point binge and plowed down the Vikings 38-13.

What are the pertinent facts behind the Green Bay offensive revival?

Well, if you ask Packer strategist Vince Lombardi, he will tell you three things: "We decided we wanted to play like the championship Green Bay teams. We finally got a 100-yard performance from Jim Taylor. Bart Starr's timing has returned."

Now you can break those down with additional facts, facts that show Taylor with 111 rushing yards in 25 carries and Starr with nine completions in 19 attempts (but more important two for four and two TDs in the final quarter), good for three touchdowns and 159 yards.

But you must add something else. Remember the argument: "The best of defense is a good defense" or "the best defense is a good offense?" Well, Green Bay proved it pays to have a little of both.

Three of those touchdowns in the final quarter came on breaks made by the Bay defense — all after Viking fumbles were recovered by Ray Nitschke, Doug Hart and Lionel Aldridge.

And so you couldn't overlook the defense (that has more wins than the offense) when passing out praise. Lombardi didn't either: "The defensive line was great!"

And underscoring all previous statements is the fact that Lombardi, never an optimist, came up with the observation that he saw no reason why the club couldn't go all the way now.

The Packers trail Western Conference leader Baltimore by one game, standing 8-2 to the Colts' 9-1. The Bays have remaining games with Los Angeles, Minnesota, Baltimore (Dec. 12) and San Francisco.

"And there is no reason we couldn't win them all," said Lombardi.

For three quarters Sunday, the Vikings played like they were supposed to. Although not visibly aroused (as predicted after Coach Norm Van Brocklin's resignation and reconsideration early last week), they made it a fight until the fourth-quarter debacle.

It stood 13-10 for the Vikings when the roof began to fall in.

Scoring in the final quarter was nightmarish. It took three plays of the final period and 14 seconds to hang up the first seven points, Starr firing 47 yards to Boyd Dowler and Don Chandler kicking the point.

Then the Vikings took over and three plays later Nitschke grabbed Bill Brown's fumble on the Minnesota 14. Taylor ran four times for a first down on the two and Elijah Pitts spun in. Chandler added another PAT and it was 24-13.

Then Brown fumbled again, this time on the Viking 16 and Hart pranced into the end zone. Another point from Chandler and it was 31-13.

And finally, Ron VanderKelen, who replaced Fran Tarkenton in the final quarter, bobbled on the Green Bay 49 and Aldridge got it. The TD came nine plays later on an 11-yard pass from Starr to Bob Long.

For the 47,426 (the fourth consecutive Met football sellout), the opening quarter was reminiscent of the Colt-Viking game just over a week previous.

Green Bay was contained on its opening series and Tarkenton marshalled his forces 69 yards, 35 inches in 15 plays. He was denied of the touchdown on a sneak, missing by less than an inch.

Then the Vikes got the ball on a Dowler fumble one play later. They settled for Fred Cox' 34-yard field goal. Moments later Starr passed 15 yards to Carroll Dale. Chandler kicked the extra point. It was 7-3 at the quarter.

In the second period, Chandler kicked a 36-yard field goal for Green Bay and Cox' 27-yard toe-job equalized it for a 10-6 halftime score.

Minnesota then got a go-ahead touchdown at 8:35 of the third quarter when scrambling Fran fired 27 yards to Paul Flatley. Cox kicked the point.

It was then that the roof fell in.

But, of course, it made Vince smile. And lately that has been a miracle in itself.

LAUDS PACKERS

He Is Still Same Norm

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. — The questions are bound to come up: "Was he humble? Was he cocky? What did he say about it?"

Naturally the topic of discussion is Minnesota Viking Coach Norm Van Brocklin, who stunned aides, friends and fans by last Monday resigning (actually the formal act never took place) and then returning Tuesday.

We can best answer the questions with one simple statement: He was just plain Norm. He was neither humble nor cocky. And he said nothing of his actions of last week. No one asked of them.

He took 25 minutes (perhaps 15 minutes more than is normal) to prepare for the locker room invasion of the press corps following the 38-13 whipping by Green Bay. The interview was the same as always. Some questions were answered with subdued flippancy, others with studious concentration. And some, as always, were not answered.

But the men talking to the coach were more quiet. The atmosphere was one of tenseness. At one occasion

GANG WAY! . . . Green Bay Packer fullback Jim Taylor charges through a giant hole in the Minnesota Viking line Sunday, picking up six of his 111 yards. Van Brocklin even asked for questions. This does not often happen.

But — as though there had been no interruption in his tenure — he preferred to talk football.

He acknowledged the strength of the Packers but was dismayed at the sudden turn of events (if you are a Viking fan) in the fourth quarter.

"Things were perfect until we began to cough up the ball," he said. "It was 13-10 for us. That was fine."

Asked whether Minnesota had expected to see Paul Hornung running at halfback for Green Bay, he said: "Eck, they've got so many people, it really doesn't make any difference who they play." Hornung, in Lombardi's dog house, was the only Packer who did not play.

Was he satisfied with his offense?

"Everything went real well until we started to fumble," he said. "And (Bill) Brown normally has no trouble in that department."

He had praise for fullback Billy Barnes — who came in for Phil King in the second half and piled up 21 yards in five carries — and no bright hopes over Tommy Mason.

"With Mason it's a day by day proposition," said Van. "I don't know when he'll be ready. We just have to wait and see."

In the other locker room, members of the Packer offensive unit — embarrassed four previous weekends — obviously were relieved.

"We had to play the way we did," said Starr. "You've got to remember we were the underdog (the Vikings had been favored). Underdogs have to play like that to win."

Taylor, who has been troubled by a sore ankle, felt like his old self.

"I could run all right in practice," he explained, "but during a game, when I had to cut, it was a different story. Today the ankle was strong. I felt like a million dollars.

"Now that I'm healthy, I'll show em," he said in reference to early reports that he was finished.

Lombardi summed it up: "Our success during the last five years has been the combination of good running by Taylor and accurate passing by Starr. Today was the first time we've had that double threat this season."

And he finished by say-

HE MUST HIT EARLY OR FALL

Floyd's Last Chance?

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Floyd Patterson, who made his history several times in his erratic career, gets what has to be his last chance at boxing's most prized crown when he takes on heavyweight champion Cassius Clay tonight.

The onetime boy wonder of the ring, knocked out by Sonny Liston in the first round here 28 months ago, is a 3-1 underdog to the all-conquering 23-year-old Clay at Convention Center in a 15-rounder that very few believe will go more than a few rounds.

Patterson, two-time holder of the title and the youngest ever to win it at 21, will be pitting the dynamite of his leaping left hook against the speed and power of the taller and heavier defender.

The consensus is that if the 30-year-old 6-foot New Yorker doesn't nail the 6-foot-3 Clay early with a jarring hook, he will crumble from the jolting jabs and flashing, two-hand combinations of the Louisville Lip.

Clay, cocky and confident as a Las Vegas night club comic with a 10-year contract, had a couple of parting words to newsmen Sunday:

"Come early," he said. "If I take him out in one round, people will say it's a fix," said Clay, or Muhammad Ali, as he prefers to be called. "If I give him a hard beating and knock him out in the seventh or eighth round, people'll gonna say I'm cruel."

The betting is 5-6 and take your pick—even money in man-to-man odds — that the fight won't go more than five rounds.

It will be broadcast by ABC radio and telecast by closed circuit to more than 200 outlets in the United States and Canada. It also will be beamed via Early Bird satellite to early-morning viewers in theaters in the British Isles.

Starting time for the title fight will be about 7:30 p.m. or 10:30 p.m., EST.

The fans will come early. Most remember that three of the last four heavyweight fights — two of them involving Patterson — ended in the first round.

The sensitive, introverted challenger became the first man ever to win the heavy-

ORR IN-OUT-IN

Patient? Well, He Once Was...

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Jimmy Orr has set a National Football League record.

He's the fastest in-out-in patient in NFL history.

The slender flanker back suffered an injured right shoulder in the second period at Baltimore Sunday, and later went to a nearby hospital for X-rays. By the fourth period he was out of the hospital and back in the game — and helped the Colts to their eighth straight victory, 34-24 over the Philadelphia Eagles.

Orr, whose injury proved to be a pulled muscle, returned to Memorial Stadium with seven minutes to play and the Colts holding a tenuous 27-24 lead.

While the crowd of 60,238 roared, he raced dramatically onto the field and directly to the Colts huddle.

Johnny Unitas and Lenny

Moore hooked up on a 47-yard pass on the first play, then on the second Unitas lofted a 22-yarder to Orr in the end zone — and the game was clinched.

By winning, the Colts raised their record to 9-1 and maintained their one-game lead in the Western Division over Green Bay. A ferocious defense fired a 28-point final quarter that enabled the Packers to rout the Minnesota Vikings 38-13.

The Cleveland Browns' with two key interceptions in the closing moments, added to their Eastern lead with a 24-17 decision over the Dallas Cowboys. New York's surprising Giants tied St. Louis for second place with a 28-15 victory over the Cardinals as defensive back Dick Lynch starred.

Gale Sayers' touchdown run in the third quarter and a tough defense led the Chicago Bears over the Detroit Lions 17-10; Tommy Davis' 23-yard field goal with six seconds to play gave the San Francisco 49ers a 30-27 victory over the Los Angeles Rams, and the Washington Redskins beat Pittsburgh's fumbling Steelers 31-3.

Dallas twice threatened to tie the Browns in the closing minutes but was thwarted both times by interceptions of Don Meredith passes. The first was by Vince Costello in the end zone, when Meredith threw on the first down at the Cleveland one.

Ross Fichtner made the decisive steal with about a minute to go.

Lynch set up the first Giant touchdown against St. Louis with a pass interception on Buddy Humphrey, subbing for the injured Charley Johnson, and scored the clincher on a 60-yard run with a fumble recovery. Earl Morrall passed for three New York touchdowns.

Sayers' raced 20 yards for his 12th touchdown of the season on the Bears' fifth play of the second half at Detroit. Chicago's defense then made the 17-10 score stand up by allowing the Lions to penetrate Bear territory only once in the last two periods.

The 49ers made a stirring fourth-quarter comeback against the Rams, with John Brodie's TD passes to Ken Wilber and Dave Parks and Davis' two conversions tying it at 27-27. After a Ram punt the 49ers staged their last drive from their 49 — and Davis climaxed it with his winning field goal. He kicked two earlier, from 50 and 39 yards.

The Redskins converted two Steeler fumbles and a pass interception into two touchdowns and a field goal. Sonny Jurgensen also threw a 47-yard scoring pass to Angelo Cola, and rookie Richie Harris got the other Washington touchdown with a 57-yard punt return.

Fairmont to Tangle With St. John's

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Fairmont State of West Virginia was selected Sunday to play St. John's of Minnesota in a semifinal game of the football playoffs sponsored by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Fairmont State is unbeaten and untied in eight games and ranked No. 7 in the latest NAIA poll. St. John's is 9-0 and ranked No. 1.

They will play at Metropolitan Stadium in Bloomington, Minn., at 1 p.m. CST, on Saturday. The winner will play in the championship game at Augusta, Ga., on Dec. 11.

Sul Ross State of Texas, unbeaten in 10 games, will meet Linfield of Oregon, 7-1, at Midland, Tex., this Saturday evening in the other semifinal play-off.

The Texas team closed its schedule last Saturday with a 28-23 victory over last year's NAIA co-champion, Sam Houston State. The Lobos outscored the opposition 243-126 this season.

Fairmont State, coached by Harold Duval, ran up 235 points against its eight opponents and yielded 85. It is the champion of the West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference.

George Clayton, senior quarterback, is Fairmont State's offensive spark and has passed for 1,013 yards on 60 completions in 128 attempts.

Spartan Cry: 'Wait 'Til Next Year!'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It isn't often that a winner, a big winner, is in the position of resorting to the old, old lament of the losers, "Wait 'til next year."

Michigan State qualifies. The Spartans, the No. 1 team in the country, winner of 10 straight and secure in a Rose Bowl berth, now have only to wait until next year to find out if they win the national collegiate football championship.

They took a giant step toward that title — to be determined in an Associated Press poll after the Jan. 1 bowl games — with a rousing 12-3 victory over rugged Notre Dame Saturday, completing a perfect season.

Their Rose Bowl opponent — almost certain to be UCLA — was scheduled to be announced today. UCLA, the No. 7 team in the country upset sixth-ranked Southern Cal 20-16 Saturday for a 7-1-1 mark that may have clinched the spot.

Washington State, another contender, had its hopes dashed

27-9 by Washington. The selection committee was to meet today. If it selects UCLA, that will make the "major bowl" line-up look like this:

ROSE BOWL — Michigan State, 10-0, vs. UCLA, 7-1-1.

COTTON BOWL — Arkansas, 10-0, vs. Louisiana State, 7-3.

SUGAR BOWL — Missouri, 7-2-1, vs. Florida, 6-3.

ORANGE BOWL — Nebraska, 9-0, vs. Alabama, 7-1-1.

GATOR BOWL — Georgia Tech, 6-2-1, vs. Texas Tech, 8-2.

Arkansas, the second-ranked team in the country, wrapped up its second straight perfect season and Cotton Bowl berth with a 42-14 romp over Texas Tech, ranked No. 9.

Jon Britten directed Arkansas scoring drives of 68, 72, 53, 73 and 69 yards that knocked Tech out of a possible Cotton Bowl spot.

They settled for the Gator Bowl berth opposite Georgia Tech.

The victory was Arkansas' 22nd straight, longest in the nation. The second longest, 17, was halted at Princeton, N.J. when Dartmouth closed out a 9-0 season and won the Ivy League title by beating Princeton 28-24.

Louisiana State accepted a Cotton Bowl bid after a 62-0 rout of Tulane, while Florida backed into the Sugar Bowl, accepting a previously offered invitation after losing to Miami, Fla. 16-13.

They will oppose Missouri, No. 8, which closed out with a 44-20 victory over Kansas.

Alabama, the No. 5 team in the nation, had a day off and took the opportunity to accept a bid to the Orange Bowl.

All the other major spots had been filled previously.

The last full weekend of play left only two conference titles undecided — the WAC and the Southeastern.

Alabama and Auburn play Saturday and the winner gets the SEC, while Brigham Young and Arizona State U. each has a chance to win the WAC outright. Each has one more game to go.

Other major conference champions, some of which were decided earlier, include Michigan State in the Big 10, Dartmouth in the Ivy, Arkansas in the Southwest, UCLA in the AAWU, West Virginia in the Southern, South Carolina and Duke tied in the Atlantic Coast.

players claimed goalie Ed Giacomin had stopped the puck short of the goal line.

Reichert, however, stuck to his decision, and Referee Art Skov backed him up.

While the argument appeared to subside, Francis, the peppy former NHL goalie, left his seat in the stands and approached Reichert. They exchanged angry words and an unidentified fan joined the hassle. Suddenly the fan and Francis began throwing punches and the crowd closed in.

The Rangers' Vic Hadfield saw Francis in the middle of the scuffle, scaled the wood and glass enclosure on his skates and jumped into the stands. At least six other New York players followed him over the barrier and it took a force of Garden policemen five minutes to separate them from the milling, swinging fans.

When order finally was restored, the fan who tangled with Francis was led out of the arena — and later released. Francis went to the dressing room for two stitches over a gashed left eye.

Play was resumed and, after a fluke, 80-foot shot by Earl Ingarfield caromed off the backboard, hit Detroit goalie Roger Crozier's pads and skipped into the net for a 3-2 New York lead, the Wings tied it on Bruce MacGregor's goal in the final 70 seconds.

Reichert, around whom the brawl raged, escaped unhurt and left the Garden immediately after the game.

NAMATH BEGINS TO PAY OFF

Werblin Ready to Re-Negotiate Pact

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Joe Namath, the New York Jets $400,000 quarterback, stood in the dressing room peeling the tape off his knee brace as club owner Sonny Werblin leaned over and whispered:

"Joe, I'm ready to re-negotiate."

Namath and Werblin smiled — but no one laughed.

For Namath had just finished his first four-touchdown day ever — in high school, college of pro ball — and continued his rapid development by passing the Jets to a 41-14 victory over the Houston Oilers Sunday.

The triumph, their fourth in a row, moved the Jets into second place in the Eastern Division of the American Football League. But more significant was the fact that Namath had his best day as a pro and led the Jets to these notable achievements:

—Namath himself tied Dick Wood's record for most touch-down passes in a single game.

—Namath, who completed 17 of 26 passes for 221 yards before being relieved at the start of the fourth quarter, engineered an offense that gained a club record 522 yards over-all.

—Matt Snell gained 135 yards in 19 carries and Bill Mathis 126 in 14 tries as the team set a rushing high of 284.

—The Jets have won four in a row for the first time in the team's six-year history.

While Namath was cheered, Babe Parilli was booed, even as he passed for a fourth-quarter touchdown that brought the Patriots a 10-10 tie with Kansas City. In the only other game, Oakland took over second place in the West by downing Denver. The division leaders, Buffalo and San Diego were not scheduled.

Namath hit Don Maynard with touchdown tosses of four and 34 yards, connected with George Sauter on a play covering 20 yards and flipped a six-yarder to Curly Johnson as the Jets built a 34-0 lead. Johnson, the Jets' punting specialist, played tight end after Dee Mackey suffered a broken left collarbone in the second period.

Parilli, ignoring the hometown fans who chanted "We Want Wilson" in calling for second-string quarterback Eddie Wilson, directed an 80-yard drive in the final period. His 10-yard pass to J.D. Garrett and Gino Cappelletti's conversion with 6:07 left brought about the tie and dropped the Chiefs into third place in the West with a 5-4-2 record.

The Raiders took over the runner-up spot with a 6-4-1 mark to San Diego's 6-2-2 by snapping a 14-14 tie in the fourth quarter. Linebacker Gus Otto ran 68 yards with an interception of a pass by Denver quarterback John McCormick for the tie-breaker, then Dave Grayson put it out of reach by racing 47 yards with another steal.

Warmath: 'It's Great Season'

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — "It's been a great season. If you consider all the injuries," Warmath added. "If Dave Colburn and Dick Peterson hadn't got hurt to take away our running game, who knows what might have been?"

As it was, the rousing triumph over the Badgers gave the Gophers a final 5-2 record in the Big Ten and a share of third place with Purdue — the team that whipped Minnesota 35-0.

State Cagers Eye Opener

Before the week is out, three-quarters of Winona's basketball population will have played at least their opening games.

Winona High got city schools off to a successful start by stopping Harmony 84-50 Friday night.

The task for Winona State in its opener appears greater.

Bob Campbell's Warriors open the season at Memorial Hall at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday against Stevens Point.

It was Stevens Point that last year handed Winona State an 88-57 whipping in its opener. This year the Pointers return nine lettermen.

Also scheduled to see its first action this week is

"I couldn't believe we would have that many injuries," Warmath added. "If Dave Colburn and Dick Peterson hadn't got hurt to take away our running game, who knows what might have been?"

As it was, the rousing triumph over the Badgers gave the Gophers a final 5-2 record in the Big Ten and a share of third place with Purdue — the team that whipped Minnesota 35-0.

"Except for Purdue, which embarrassed and disappointed us, I'd say we had a real fine season," Warmath added. "I also wish we could play the Washington State game over. We gave it away."

"It was our worst season for injuries by far. We lost Colburn, Peterson, Hubie Bryant and John Williams out of our backfield for various periods of time. Aaron Brown, Kent Kramer and John Rajala all got hurt at one time or another to cut into our end corps. And there were others, like Tom Sakal on defense."

"If John Hankinson had gotten hurt, I don't know what we could have done. His passing kept us going most of the time, there's no doubt about it."

Hankinson wound up his brilliant college career Saturday by directing the Gophers to the smashing of Wisconsin.

The senior quarterback, drafted last year as a future by both the Minnesota Vikings and the Boston Patriots of the American Football League, gained 125 yards Saturday to push his season yardage total to 1,583. That broke the Minnesota school record of 1,473 set by All-American halfback Paul Giel in 1951.

Coppers Dip, Other Issues Under Pressure

NEW YORK (AP) — Copper and selected issues took sharp losses in a declining stock market early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.3 at 352.7 with industrials off 3.2 rails up .1 and utilities off .1.

Coppers retreated on a broad front as a result of the rollback of the copper price increase.

Early gains by some of the aerospace, electronics and other issues were erased as losses spread out to other sections of the list.

Motors and steels declined after holding fairly even most of the morning. The trend was generally lower among chemicals, oils and tobaccos.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 6.40 at 946.32.

Kennecott plummeted more than 5 points in reaction to the copper price recession. American Smelting lost more than 2, Phelps Dodge nearly 2, Anaconda more than a point, International Nickel a fraction.

Profits were taken in some of the recent fast steppers. Fairchild Camera lost nearly 4, Magnavox more than 2.

CHICAGO (AP) — Michigan State's mighty exploits of an undefeated season and possibly the national championship along with record - busting performances of Illinois' Jim Grabowski saved the Big Ten from what might have been a bust season.

The Spartans topped their first undisputed Big Ten championship with a crushing 12-3 victory over Notre Dame and will take a clean record in the Rose Bowl where a triumph will earn Duffy Daugherty's charges the national championship.

Grabowski, the greatest fullback in Illinois history, shattered another string of Big Ten rushing records when he carried 33 times for 187 yards to lead the Illini to a 20-6 triumph over Northwestern.

In other windup performances Purdue defeated Indiana 26-21, Ohio State edged Michigan 9-7, Minnesota bombed Wisconsin 42-7, and Iowa ended a dismal season with a 28-20 loss at the hands of North Carolina State.

Without Michigan State and Grabowski, the Big Ten would be hard pressed to retain its boast as the No. 1 football conference in the nation.

Against non-conference competition, the Big Ten could only break even with a 13-13-3 mark.

Defending champion Michigan tumbled into the second division and Purdue, the pre-season favorite, curled so long about an official's decision to a 14-10 loss to MSU that the Boilermakers were unable to regroup and on the following week were knocked out of the running by Illinois 21-0.

Iowa, rated highly in early speculation, failed to score a conference victory and played so horribly that it cost Coach Jerry Burns his job.

Minnesota, 5-2, performed as expected and maybe a little better. Illinois blew hot and cold and Wisconsin, 2-5, and Indiana, 1-6, lived up to unexpectations.

Two of the surprises would be Ohio State and Northwestern. The Buckeyes came on strong with a 6-1 record and finished second while Northwestern tipped the second division with a 3-4 mark and certainly was not expected to finish ahead of such teams as Michigan and Iowa.
