Three Guards Killed

Bloody 4-Hour Riot At Illinois State Prison

CHESTER, Ill. (AP) — Minor complaints about prison conditions apparently caused the bloody four-hour convict riot at Menard State Prison Tuesday night in which three guards were killed and six others were injured.

Illinois Public Safety Director Ross Randolph a former Menard warden who went to the prison to talk convicts into releasing three guard hostages and surrendering, started an investigation into the cause of the riot.

He said four "madmen" convicts had instigated the uprising, making knives out of steel bars and throwing a fire bomb into a guard cage in the dining hall at dinner. They said they wanted better food, more radios and more recreation.

The four convicts were talked into submission by Randolph and Menard Warden Max Frye as 300 guards and state troopers surrounded the prison kitchen in which the rioters had barricaded themselves with three guard hostages.

The ringleaders permitted a doctor to give one guard, Tom Gross, 52, of Chester, Ill., a blood transfusion through prison bars. Then they released Gross when his condition became obviously serious. Gross had been stabbed.

"We don't know what the real reason was," Randolph said. "There seemed to be some planning. The four men worked together in the Vocational Training Department. The bomb apparently was a paint thinner, possibly a vinegar bottle."

Randolph said county authorities would decide what charges to file against the rioters.

The other two hostages, Guards Albert W. Rohlfing, 59, and Arthur Gene Bierman, 37, both of Sparta, Ill., were released unharmed when the four men surrendered. The convicts held a knife at Rohlfing's throat while they talked to Randolph through a barred door.

Guards fatally stabbed in the riot were Lt. Lewis M. Paul, 36, of Murphysboro, Ill.; Arthur L. Kisiro, 45, of Chester; and George L. Wilson, 62, of West Frankfort.

Stabbed seriously were guards John Russell, 58, of Grand Tower, Ill., and Clinton Alsop, 59, of De Soto, Ill. Less seriously stabbed were Guards Paul W. Simpson, 50, of Chester, and Melvin K. Staton, 47, of Herrin. All were in a Chester hospital.

Guard Wilbur A. Mortiz, 56, of Jacob, Ill., was seriously burned when the fire bomb was thrown into the cage where he sat with a shotgun, watching convicts eat dinner. Then half a dozen convicts began scuffling, guards rushed to break it up, and the convicts brought out their homemade knives.

The four prisoners described by Randolph and Frye as ringleaders were Alonzo H. Jones, 28, serving three to seven years for theft from Coles County, Ill., who escaped from Menard earlier this year and was free for 18 days;

19 Dead in Wisconsin Deer Hunting Season

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The toll of death by gunshot in the 1965 Wisconsin deer hunting season has topped the entire 1964 total, with half the season — including the big Thanksgiving holiday weekend — still to come.

The overall list of dead stood at 19, with 14 hunters reported dead following heart attacks.

During the 1964 season, three hunters were counted shot to death, 15 dead of heart failure, and the Conservation Department later made the official toll 4 and 17, on the basis of subsequent reports.

Victor Kudak, 39, of Hawkins, in Rusk County, was found shot to death in the woods near his home Tuesday. Authorities said he may have been hit by a stray bullet.

Paul Ermis, 67, of Milwaukee, was stricken by a fatal heart attack Tuesday while hunting near the town of Breed in Oconto County.

Meanwhile, Conservation Department officials said Tuesday that it appeared doubtful whether the deer kill this year would match the 33,000 animals bagged last year.

A spokesman estimated 40,000 deer were dropped the first three days when hunting normally is at its heaviest. This period usually results in about one-half or more of the total kill for the season. The nine-day hunting period ends Sunday.

Although 400,000 deer hunting licenses have been issued, conservation officials said hunting pressure was lighter this year than it was at the start of the 1964 season.

They blamed the mild and wet weather of recent weeks that has persisted at the outset of the hunting period.

Snow has been relatively light in northern Wisconsin. Because deer have had good grazing in recent months, they are not emerging from the swamps and deep lowlands where they are difficult to flush, officials said.

DAY OF AMERICAN TRADITION

Nation Pauses for Thanksgiving

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer

Rooted in American tradition is the menu for Thanksgiving day: turkey and pigskin. As much as a time of football rivalries, it is also becoming a day for spectacular parades as a reminder that Christmas can not be far away.

But above all else, as it has been for nearly 350 years, Thanksgiving is a day for families and for giving thanks. President Johnson, in proclaiming Thursday a day of national thanksgiving, called for prayers that "the forces of violence, indifference and intolerance may soon vanish from the face of the earth."

He asked all persons to give thanks for "the blessings that have been bestowed upon our nation during the past 12 months."

The Johnson family will sit down to a late-afternoon dinner at the President's ranch near Johnson City, Tex. On the table will be turkey with cornbread dressing and gible gravy, green beans amandine, sweet potatoes with marshmallow topping, asparagus, molded cranberry salad, ambrosia and angel food cake.

Similar meals — allowing for regional tastes — are being prepared in millions of homes across the nation.

In Massachusetts, where the Pilgrims started it all in 1621, the State Restaurant Association estimates half a million will eat out Thanksgiving.

Members of the First Congregational church of Braintree, Mass., will march behind drummer Robert Jenkins to festival services enacting the first Thanksgiving. Thousands are expected to visit historic sites at Plymouth and to climb aboard the Mayflower II.

In Virginia, which also lays claim to the first Thanksgiving, 700 persons turned out Sunday at the annual feast at Berkeley Plantation near Richmond commemorating the service held there Dec. 7, 1619.

It was nearly three times the highest total announced for any previous week.

The U. S. Command also reported 470 Americans were wounded during the week ending at midnight Nov. 20 and 6 were missing in action.

A record number of Communist casualties also was reported — 2,262 dead and 136 captured. South Vietnamese forces reported 357 dead and 807 wounded, more than double the previous week.

The report today brought the total of U. S. casualties reported in nearly five years of fighting in Viet Nam to about 1,300 dead and about 6,000 wounded. Half the dead and a third of the wounded were cut down in the past three months as U. S. combat troops who began arriving in Viet Nam in February took a bigger and bigger part in the war.

Before February the American role in Viet Nam was an advisory one, coupled with providing helicopter and other air support for South Vietnamese units.

The highest previous total of American casualties was reported for the week ending Nov. 13. It was 88 killed and 230 wounded. The week before, the total was 70 killed and 237 wounded.

The average for the Korean War was about 210 American

Johnson Grieves Over Viet Losses

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — The White House said today President Johnson grieves over the sacrifice of American lives to counter Communist aggression in Viet Nam.

Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers said that Johnson is keeping in close touch with developments in the fighting which caused a loss of American lives last week three times larger than in any similar period during the war.

"I don't know any matter that causes deeper personal interest or any matter over which he grieves more than the loss of American lives in Viet Nam or anywhere else," Moyers said.

battle dead per week, although at times the number was far higher.

The jump in American and Communist casualties last week was primarily due to the hard fighting in the Ia Drang Valley 210 miles north of Saigon near the Cambodian border. Troops of the 1st Cavalry (Airmobile), Division battled North Vietnamese regiments there all week.

It was one of the first times in the war that the Communists kept attacking American units despite heavy losses instead of stealing away. American officers believe the Communist commanders are anxious for a victory over the Americans to boost their forces' morale, to give their propaganda machine ammunition and to put them in a position of strength for any peace negotiations that might develop.

U. S. senior commanders in Viet Nam and officials in Washington are known to be deeply concerned about the effect in the United States of the steady

VIET NAM

General Warns Against Hopes Of Early Victory

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland warned the American people Thursday against hope for an early military victory over the Communists in the Vietnamese War.

In an interview with Mutual Broadcasting System, the commander of U. S. forces in South Viet Nam said:

"When the American people read the headlines about victories which have been enjoyed in recent months . . . there may be a tendency for them to exaggerate the magnitude of these actions. By and large, these tactical actions are small, involving relatively small numbers of troops and from these successes there may be a tendency to draw a conclusion that a battle or series of battles may end the conflict through a single or a combination of military victories.

"This is not that type of war. I do believe that there is a certain danger that we may be overwhelmed by a certain feeling of optimism and may lose sight of what I consider a true appraisal of the situation. It involves a long conflict and we must be prepared to accept this."

WHAT'S THE WORST?

Hunters, Drivers Take Heavy Toll

ST. PAUL (AP) — What's the worst killer in Minnesota? Traffic accidents or deer hunting?

Two state experts expressed two schools of thought.

Don Murray, assistant chief game warden for the State Conservation Department, says deer hunting is safer than riding in a car.

A contrary view was expressed Tuesday by Glenn Oster's calculations, driving a car is up to 12 times safer than hunting deer in Minnesota.

The way Murray sees it, for each 100,000 hunters in the field during the past four years there were 1.7 deaths. He said that compared with 23.4 traffic deaths per 100,000 persons in the state.

"Hunting, to our way of thinking, is not a dangerous sport," said Murray.

Oster bases his figuring on the fact the state has 3.5 million people, living 365 days a year. He did his calculations on the days of human life.

During the nine-day hunting season just ended, Oster said, 13 hunters died of accidental gunshot wounds. Estimating that 280,000 hunters combed the woods 10 hours a day for nine days, he said that works out to one hunting death for every 77,000 hunter days.

If drivers killed themselves and others at the rate hunters do, Oster said, the annual highway slaughter would be close to 13,000. And if hunters were killed at the rate drivers, their passengers and bystanders are, Minnesota would have had one hunting death this year.

Dowager Queen Of Belgium Dead

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The Belgian court went into mourning today for Dowager Queen Elisabeth, a heroine in two world wars and one of Europe's leading patronesses of the arts.

The 89-year-old queen suffered a heart attack Nov. 4. She had another serious attack Tuesday night and died within a few minutes.

Elisabeth was the widow of King Albert, the mother of former King Leopold III and the grandmother of the reigning monarch, King Baudouin. Former Queen Marie Jose of Italy is her daughter, and Grand Duchess Josephine-Charlotte of Luxembourg is a granddaughter.

Although born a German princess, she won the hearts of the Belgians during the two wars in which her native country was the enemy.

"An iron curtain has fallen between my country and me," she said when German troops invaded Belgium in World War I. She nursed the wounded in the trenches and was awarded the French War Cross for her "courage and devotion under enemy fire."

In World War II she defied the Nazis and succeeded in staying in Belgium, when the retreating Germans removed the royal family to Germany.

Draft Problem Around World

LONDON (AP) — From Moscow to Jerusalem to Saigon, young men face the same problem that provokes discussion in the United States — the military draft.

Conscription is more the rule than the exception in a deeply divided world, a survey shows. Britain, Canada, India and Pakistan are among the few big countries that rely solely on voluntary enlistments. Quarrelling India and Pakistan lack officers or equipment to handle the hundreds of thousands who would enlist if they could.

Israel, surrounded by hostile Arab countries, drafts both men and women. In Mexico, training is on a Sunday-only basis.

The United States draws from men in the 19-26 age group, with Selective Service to furnish 36,450 men this month. That's the highest call since the end of the Korean War and some states expect to start inducting childless married men to fill their December quotas. Washington plans to strengthen the military forces by 340,000 men for a total of about three million.

How does the U.S. conscription policy compare with those of other countries? Tougher than some, more lenient than others, the following survey of representative countries indicates:

SOVIET UNION — Strict universal military training calls for induction of all youths 17 and 18 who have completed secondary school. When they reach 19, they're drafted even if they have not finished secondary school, but college students are exempt. Draftees must serve two to five years, depending on the branch to which they are assigned.

Draftees' pay is $3.50 per month. Leaves are granted only for emergencies or outstanding service.

BRITAIN — With neither universal military training nor a conscription system, Britain took its last draftees in 1960. Since then the regular army has been below strength. It is now 15,000 under the goal of 181,000 men. Britain's Territorial Army is the reserve force, composed entirely of volunteers, mostly former servicemen.

FAR EAST — South Vietnamese youths face three years of military service under a draft law that covers all men 18-35. The women's army corps is voluntary.

In India and Pakistan, food, uniforms and housing made military service such a privilege there is no need for conscription. India could raise an army of millions if it had the equipment and training cadre; Pakistan's applicants for service exceed the number that can be accepted.

Japan's Self-Defense Force of 245,000 men is voluntary and conscription is virtually outlawed since the national constitution bars war as an instrument of national policy.

Red China has a bottomless pool of manpower to draw upon. Its selected standing military force is estimated at 3.5 million men and available standby militia is estimated at 20 to 30 million men and women. The military usually is poorly armed and sometimes not given arms at all except for training purposes. Under Mao Tse-tung's military theories "all the people are soldiers."

Nationalist China on Formosa has much the same draft system as the United States. Everyone is subject to call-up at 18 but college students get deferments and can take reserve officer training. Compulsory service in the army is for two years, and the navy and air force require three years because of technical training.

DOWN UNDER — Australia and New Zealand are gradually boosting their military training programs. Australia, with troops fighting guerrillas in Southeast Asia, will draft 4,200 men for two years of military service this year. The 1968 target is double that figure.

New Zealand has a national military training program, but only about a fifth of the eligible youths are summoned into the Territorial Force. This is not normally employed in military operations but would be integrated with regular troops in an emergency. Youths register when they reach 20 and selection is by lot.

Some 3,000 New Zealanders are inducted per year, out of an estimated 15,000 who are eligible, to maintain the force at 10,000 men.

MIDEAST — Tiny Israel has possibly the most sweeping military training programs. It requires military training for men and unmarried women 18-26. Men serve 26 months, women 20. Men 27-29 must serve 24 months.

After completing their terms, the men remain in the reserves until they are 49, childless women to the age of 4. As reservists, the men report for 31 days of training a year until they are 40 and then 14 days annually until they reach 49.

WESTERN EUROPE — France, Germany and Italy all use military training to augment their regular forces. The West German youth is liable for 18 months of duty when he reaches 18, and nearly all of those eligible are being taken now since the birth rate was down after World War II. Because of health requirements, deferments for university students and other exemptions, only 55-60 per cent of those eligible would be taken normally.

France has universal military training with youths at 19 subject to 18 months' active duty, plus 3 1/2 years of availability plus 12 years in the active reserves. In 1965, the pool of men reaching draft age was 400,000; about half were conscripted.

Italy has had the draft since 1870 and the present law makes males eligible for induction at 20 and subject to recall until they are 45. Men taken in the army or air force serve 15 months; the navy term is 24 months.

LATIN AMERICA — Mexico's Sunday-only training program for youths may be expanded, but not because anyone's worried about war. Those favoring a plan that would draft some youths into the army for one year argue that it would curb juvenile delinquency, teach patriotism and literacy, and relieve unemployment. Mexico's World War II draft was dropped because of the cost.

A lottery system draws 60,000 Argentine youths into uniform each year, with army and air force draftees serving a year and navy conscripts two years. The Argentine Congress recently lowered the conscription age to 18. Students who qualify in marksmanship are given three months of summer training in place of full-time service.

Brazilian males register at 16 and are subject to call two years later.

CASE OF BOLTED BOLT
SALINA, Kan. (AP) — L. W. Nelson thought someone had fired a gun at his front door when he saw the glass shatter.

While he called police, a neighbor, J. H. Morris, began searching his lawn for a bolt which had fallen from his power mower.

Police solved both mysteries. They found the bolt from Morris' mower on Nelson's living room floor where it was thrown by the mower blade.

H. V. Malson and U. S. Abendroth of Matson & Wegleiner, architects, attended the bid opening. Abendroth will be the architect's representative during construction.

Schwank said if he gets the bid he would attempt to get started this fall. There will be no basement under the building except for the furnace room. His completion target is February 1967.

Driverless Car Rams Into House

FORT SCOTT, Kan. (AP)—A driverless car crashed into the living room of a house Tuesday night, knocking Nancy Ann Cox, 15, off the divan.

She was treated for knee and ankle injuries.

The car had been parked and was struck by another car involved in a collision at an intersection about 100 feet from the Cox home.

Police estimated damage to the house at $1,000 and to the cars at $1,075.

Thanksgiving Driving May Be Less Than Ideal

Winona area motorists on Thanksgiving trips were cautioned today to prepare for difficult driving conditions and occasional rain or snow Thursday.

Partly clearing and colder weather is predicted for tonight after the heavy clouds which brought rain, sleet and snow to the area this morning moved out. A low of 16-22 is seen followed by a Thanksgiving Day high of 36-42.

HIGHWAYS to the north will be slippery in spots and to the south wet, highway departments of Minnesota and Wisconsin announced.

For a time early today when the temperature hung around the 32-mark area highways were slippery and the Winona police department and the sheriff's office issued cautionary warnings.

The high temperature Tuesday afternoon was 41 and at noon today the reading was 34. Precipitation (melted) up to noon measured .04 of an inch.

A year ago today the Winona high was 44 and the low 18. An inch and a half of snow lay on the ground. All-time high for Nov. 24 was 62 in 1931 and the low -10 in 1950. Mean for the past 24 hours was 32. Normal for this time of the year is 30.

TEMPERATURES for the Thursday-through-Monday period are expected to average 2 to 8 degrees below normal daily highs of 30-35 and nighttime lows of 12-19. The extended forecast said it would be colder later in the week with only slight warming thereafter.

Snow began falling in the northwestern portion and rain in the southwestern section of the state early this morning. And by 8 a.m. the snow had spread through most of the northern part of Wisconsin. At that hour it was snowing from Wausau to Eau Claire northward and raining in the La Crosse and Dubuque areas.

Slippery roads were reported by the State Highway Department in an area west of a line from La Crosse through Portage, Waupaca and Merrill to Superior.

THE Weather Bureau in Milwaukee said there could be some snow or snow flurries in the northeast and possibly rain in the south early Thursday but the precipitation should end by mid-day.

Low temperatures during the night ranged from 16 degrees in the Superior-Duluth area to 33 in the Beloit-Rockford area. Mostly fair skies and near normal temperatures prevailed Tuesday. Highs ranged from 49 at Pewaukee to 30 at Park Falls. The national extremes were 92 at Presidio, Tex., to 3 below zero at Cut Bank, Mont.

ETTRICK Man Hurt In 15-Foot Fall

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special) — An Ettrick man received a concussion and other injuries when he fell 15 feet to a concrete floor while working on the new Northern Engraving Co. plant at Holmen Tuesday.

Ingvold Jorgensen, 55, was showing some improvement this morning at St. Francis Hospital, La Crosse, his wife said. The accident happened at 3 p.m. when a scaffold tipped and he went down, landing on his head. He is employed by Peter Nelson & Son Construction Co., La Crosse.

Jorgensen didn't lose consciousness. He also received neck injuries and a fracture of the left wrist.

His wife is county register of deeds.

Senator Injured In Highway Crash

State Sen. Roger A. Laufenburger, 44, Lewiston, was admitted to Community Memorial Hospital today for observation after he struck his head in a collision near Miracle Mall.

It was the second collision in the same area within 24 hours.

It was also the second collision within 24 hours to involve the Laufenburger family. A parked car owned by Earl Laufenburger, Winona, the senator's brother, was damaged in a collision Tuesday night (see below). Both Laufenburgers are brothers of Winona's acting fire chief, Ervin R. Laufenburger.

Sen. Laufenburger was driving west on Gilmore Avenue at 9:56 a.m. when he had to stop for a vehicle making a turn at the entrance to the Miracle Mall shopping center. Laufenburger hit his head against the steering wheel of his car when the car was struck from behind.

Clyde D. Fort, 709 Wilson St., said he was unable to stop his panel truck, moving west on Gilmore Avenue, in time to avoid a collision with Laufenburger's car.

Laufenburger, who was stunned and suffering from shock, was taken to the hospital by ambulance. A hospital official reported that the senator was having X-rays taken this morning.

Damage was about $250 to the rear of the Laufenburger car and $260 to the front of the Fort truck. Patrolman Willis H. Wogan investigated.

THREE OTHER collisions on Winona streets Tuesday and early today caused $1,160 damage but no injuries, according to police reports.

Thomas J. Gile, 367 W. Mark St., a retired Winona street commissioner, was driving west on U.S. 14 today at 9 a.m. when a collision occurred with a semi tractor driven south on the north service drive by George T. Carr, Racine, Wis. Gile was attempting to make a right turn onto U.S. 61, and Carr was attempting to make a right turn onto U.S. 14 when the collision occurred.

Patrolman Wogan reported that both vehicles had a green light but that Carr's tractor was controlled by a "yield right of way" sign.

Damage was $135 to the right rear of the Gile car and none to the tractor.

WAYNE L. Pearson, 17, 216 St. Charles St., was driving west on Sanborn Street, 120 feet east of Washington Street, Tuesday at 7:58 p.m. when he lost control of his car and smashed into two vehicles parked at the south curb.

Patrolmen James L. Bronk and Glenn M. Morgan investigated.

A TWO-CAR collision Tuesday at noon at the Gilmore Avenue entrance to Miracle Mall caused $475 damage to the vehicles involved.

Grace L. Tschumper, Elba, Minn., was driving west on Gilmore Avenue and attempted to make a left turn into the Miracle Mall entrance drive.

The Tschumper pickup truck was struck by a car driven west by Robert A. Melass, Edina, Minn., who was attempting to pass a third car which had been following the Tschumper vehicle.

Damage was $225 to the right front and side of the Melass car and $250 to the left side of the pickup truck. Patrolman Wogan investigated.

BOARD Secretary John S. Carter opened three bids on a new police patrol car. Owl Motor Co. bid $1,864 with an amount before trade-in allowance of $3,209.

Winona Auto Sales bid $1,772 on a gross bid (before trade-in) of $3,644. And Quality Chevrolet bid $1,600 on a gross amount of $3,479.

Acting Fire Chief Ervin R. Laufenburger won approval of his department's request that holiday pay be included on the Nov. 30 paycheck. Chief Laufenburger also notified the board that Firemen William J. Heitman has been advanced to driver, replacing Edward Kohner who was recently promoted to captain.

CHIEF Laufenburger told board members that cost of a run by two of his department's pumpers to the Northern States Power Co. tank farm in West Burns Valley is $250 (minimum) for the first hour and $150 for each additional hour.

The board requested this cost tabulation at its October meeting when it was visited by two NSP representatives.

These representatives asked that any fire calls to their new tank farm be answered by at least two fire department pumpers. Since the tanks are outside the city limits, the NSP men said they would be willing to pay the cost of the runs.

The board placed on file a letter from Fire Marshal Cleo Keiper making application for the position of fire chief. Commissioner Harold S. Streator noted that since Chief John L. Steadman is not retired the application is premature. He is on sick leave.

COMMISSIONERS at first expressed reluctance to hire a new

Fire Damages New School At Lewiston

LEWISTON, Minn. (Special) — Fire, which apparently started in sawdust or other material, caused considerable damage Tuesday afternoon at the Lewiston junior-senior high school under construction.

Flames were discovered about 5 p.m. by Carl Brackett, bus driver and also the fire chief. He rushed downtown to put in the alarm. He and other firemen got the blaze under control in about 20 minutes.

A quantity of building material was destroyed, including styrofoam, insulation and plastic. Smoke damage was heavy and may have damaged the effectiveness of special acoustical blocks used in the building.

Supt. Robert Mohler said the inspector-engineer for the architects was to be in Lewiston today to evaluate the damage, which is covered by builders' risk insurance. The building is enclosed for winter work, part of it by plastic, but it was plastic on the floor that caught fire. Steel beams overhead were intensely heated.

Welding had been in progress in the afternoon. It is thought that hot slag from the welder had accidentally dropped unnoticed onto waste material. Workmen were gone for the day when the fire was discovered.

TV Show Set On Alcoholism

A two-hour television show on the "rising problem of alcoholism" will be presented from 7 to 9 a.m. Friday on the NBC television network, according to a spokesman for the Pioneer Group, Alcoholics Anonymous.

The spokesman said that the National Council on Alcoholism has described alcoholism as the nation's No. 4 health problem, "whose treatment is multi-phased: Medical, psychiatric, institutional, spiritual and social."

"Most people are able to control their consumption of alcohol. Seventy million Americans drink, but one in 13 of these develops the disease of alcoholism, which he is powerless to control by himself. Alcoholics in the U. S. alone total 5,015,000. Only a small percentage of these are the visible skid-row type."

"Approximately 97 percent of this country's alcoholics are to be found in their homes and at their jobs trying to lead normal lives. Every business or social circle has at least one alcoholic. Industrial wage losses through absenteeism due to alcoholism are estimated at 432 million dollars a year, and the further economic loss due to personal and professional deterioration is beyond calculation."

"Help is available for the millions of men and women who continue to suffer from this progressive illness. Members of Alcoholics Anonymous welcome the opportunity to share their experiences in arresting this illness with anyone who seeks help, with full respect of their personal anonymity."

The address of the Pioneer Group appears daily in the classified advertising section of the Daily News.

New Patrolman Named to Force

Police Chief James W. McCabe announced today that Jerrie B. Seibert, 22, 461 Wilkie St., has agreed to join the police force Jan. 1.

Seibert was next man on a patrolmen's hiring list established at the October meeting of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners. Seibert was one of five candidates interviewed by the board after taking a civil service examination administered by Chief McCabe.

The new probationary patrolman is married and has one child. He left the Army with a letter of commendation from his unit commander, and he is currently employed by Winona Tool & Manufacturing Co., 1430 W. Broadway.

Seibert's score of 81 on the civil service examination tied for second best among the five candidates interviewed.

The board decided to hire the next man in order on its hiring list Tuesday afternoon at its November meeting.

Chief McCabe had recommended the hiring so that one of his present men can be freed to man the department's motorcycle full time between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Patrolman Rodney J. Pellower, who would be devoted to patrolling restricted parking areas only.

Chief McCabe noted that the man would be available for other duties as well, but he asked, concerning parking, "How strict enforcement do you gentlemen want?"

Streater answered, "I think anybody who has a violation should get a ticket — either a warning or a regular ticket."

"I know a dozen people right down on the main drag there who park in front of their own stores . . . I think the meter maids should show 'em no mercy," Streater said.

Commissioner B. H. Habeck noted that the situation is similar around City Hall itself, where city department vehicles, according to Habeck, constantly have violations on the meters in their spaces.

BOTH Theurer and Streater insisted that the new man should not be exclusively concerned with parking. For instance, Streater said, he would like sometime to see a semi-truck driver arrested for driving off the truck route.

Chief McCabe agreed to hire the new man as an ordinary probationary patrolman. This would free one of his present men to operate the motorcycle from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day, attending to other duties in addition to a parking patrol.

Chief McCabe reported to commissioners that between Sept. 28 and Nov. 22 his department has issued 46 verbal warnings, 121 written warnings and made 60 arrests of speeders while using the new police radar.

Police department bills of $2,502, plus $205 overtime, and fire department bills of $1,677, plus $557 overtime, were approved.

Marine in Viet Nam Says Thanks for Us

If all Americans could see Viet Nam they would never fail to appreciate what they have, writes a Buffalo City, Wis., Marine, Lance Cpl. Patrick Duval.

In a letter to acquaintances, Cpl. Duval says: "All the little things we take for granted every day mean so much over there. There have been times when I would have given $5 for just one cold drink of water."

CPL. DUVAL is with a detachment of the 1st Marines, serving aboard the aircraft carrier Valley Forge. The Marines are based aboard ship but go ashore for land duty from time to time. He is the son of Gerald Duval, Buffalo City. His wife, the former Greta Goetzman, lives in Winona.

Cpl. Duval told of an incident in a recent operation: "Two other men and I were on patrol, looking for hidden Viet Cong around our position. We came across an old man. He was ragged and looked very tired and worn."

"When he saw us coming at him with all our rifles the poor man fell on his knees and started talking in Vietnamese. He had his hands folded and kept bowing to us. He was shaking so much, and looked so frightened. Without a doubt he thought we were going to kill him right there. We just left him there and moved on."

"WHENEVER I think about that old man I thank the Lord for what I have. The people in Viet Nam have practically nothing."

"I know when I come home next autumn, I will do very little complaining and I will be just a little bit more generous when the collection basket comes my way."

People at home should be thankful for such things as "cool Wisconsin water, the other treasures God has given them," and that "they have faith in God and can worship him freely," wrote Cpl. Duval.

Houston Man Heads State Farm Bureau

HOUSTON, Minn. — A rural Houston beef farmer is the new president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau.

He is P. Dillon Hempstead, 35, who last year served as state vice president. Hempstead was elected at the closing sessions of the annual state meeting Tuesday in Minneapolis and succeeds Clarence W. Myers, Blue Earth, who did not run for re-election.

THE NEW president and his father, Orson, farm nearly 800 acres about one mile west of here. They raise about 450 acres of corn. Hempstead, who also has served as county Farm Bureau president, was active in 4-H in the county. He was a club member 11 years and won state and national trips with his projects. He and his wife have two daughters, Amy Jean and Lynn.

He succeeded as vice president by Carroll Wilson, a Fairbault orchard operator. Directors re-elected are Del Best, Mankato, and Russell Johnson, Maple Plain. Mrs. O. M. Bollum, Red Wing, was re-named chairman of the organization's women's committee.

IN RESOLUTIONS, the Farm Bureau opposed certain controls on billboards along highways and backed reinstatement of the bounty system on predatory animals.

It reaffirmed some previous stands, including a recommendation that the government phase itself out of controls over agriculture and an end to a federal policy that 50 percent of exports must be sent in American ships.

The group also favors a federal constitutional amendment which would permit states to reapportion one of their legislative branches on factors other than population.

ski, who resigned last spring, had never been replaced, the chief pointed out.

Bette Davis Irked By Museum Statue

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Bette Davis has had her lawyer serve angry notice on the new Museum of Famous People that it's got to remove a plastic statue of her "because it doesn't resemble me or anybody I know" — or face a whopping suit for invasion of privacy.

"There are statues supposed to be of Clark Gable in military uniform, Helen Hayes, and me," says Bette. "When they asked me to stand in front of my statue for a posed picture, I didn't know which one to stand in front of."

Stuart Scheffel, head of the new museum, told Atty. Harold L. Schiff he'd try to "make the statue more attractive." Removing it will be difficult. Scheffel is trying to halt publication of photographs of the statue to appease Bette, who is a good friend of his wife, actress Geraldine Fitzgerald.

The statue is part of a scene supposed to represent World War II's Stage Door Canteen on B'way.

"I never had anything to do with the Stage Door Canteen — but with the Hollywood Canteen," says Bette. "That statue of Gable — well — somebody told me it was Gable. That's how I knew."

MRS. FIORELLO LaGuardia Trying to shorten the show.

Merrick had just fired director Anthony Page. Williamson's close friend, Williamson swung and threw a glass at Merrick. Next sound: Offstage Crash, body meeting refuse barrel. Williamson went to a bar and drank boomerang. Playwright John Osborne ("The Angry Young Man") had helped break it up.

WILLIAMSON was later found — asleep — in a Philly railway station headed back to NY — and to England . . . or so he thought at the time.

Merrick accomplished what he wanted. The show's been cut, the director's been reinstated, Williamson's getting a reputation of being a new Humphrey Bogart, and there's likelihood that both Williamson and Merrick will have a Broadway hit. The report that Merrick suffered a broken jaw is absolutely untrue and is probably just a rumor spread by some actor.

Duluth Man Dead In Two-Car Crash

PROCTOR, Minn. (AP) — A collision of cars Tuesday night on U.S. Highway 2 near this northeastern Minnesota town southwest of Duluth killed Leslie Oliver Rautell, 38, of Duluth.

The Highway Patrol said cars driven by Rautell and Louie George Ding, 30, of Elgin, N.D., collided as one vehicle was passing the other. Ding escaped injury, the patrol said. Each driver was riding alone.

Rautell's death raised Minnesota's 1965 traffic fatality list to 734, as compared with a total of 755 a year ago.

Mother's Milk Sought for Stricken Baby

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — An emergency call has gone to Twin Cities mothers to donate breast milk for a 16-month-old Duluth boy, Randy Davis, who is suffering a rare disease.

The boy, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Davis, weighs only 11½ pounds and cannot crawl or talk. Doctors say he has acro-dermic enteropathia and is allergic to all food but mother's milk.

"He sleeps most of the time," said his father. "He was more responsive when he was a month old."

Randy has been at University of Minnesota Hospitals since January.

He was 8 pounds, 6 ounces at birth and at one time got up to 12 pounds. His weight dropped back last July to what it was at his birth. Normal weight for a child of his age would be about 25 pounds.

Sounding the call for donors of milk was Mrs. Walter Wessel, president of the International Childbirth Education Association. She said the group was contacted by university doctors.

Mrs. Wessel said more than a score of women had been recruited to donate milk but some had stopped because of illness.

She added that one of the best donors gave a gallon a week.

The boy feeds about every four hours, 6 to 7 ounces at a time.

Davis is assistant manager of a Duluth supermarket. He said Randy has been in and out of hospitals since he was 6 weeks old.

The disease, for which there reportedly is no cure known, mainly affects the skin and gastrointestinal tract. Doctors hope the boy can outgrow the disease.

Russ Sentence Young American To Labor Camp

MURMANSK, U.S.S.R. (AP) — A Soviet court today sentenced a young American tourist, Newcomb Mott of Sheffield, Mass., to 18 months in a labor camp for illegally crossing the Arctic border between Norway and the Soviet Union.

The court rejected the 27-year-old book salesman's contention that he was "hot, tired and lost" when he crossed the border last Sept. 4.

Mott heard the sentence without any visible display of emotion.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman had no immediate comment, but said a statement probably would be forthcoming later in the day.

Just before the judge read the sentence, Mott closed his eyes for several seconds. Then, standing in the fenced-in dock, he opened his eyes and glanced at his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mott of Sheffield, who had flown to Russia for the trial.

Mrs. Mott wiped her face with her right hand as the sentence was read but made no sound. She was dry-eyed as she left the courtroom a few minutes later.

The prosecutor asked for a 2½-year sentence Tuesday. The section of law under which Mott was tried carries a penalty of one to three years imprisonment.

Mott's Russian defense lawyer said the American should be given a probationary or conditional sentence because of his "sincere repentance and mitigating circumstances."

Mott told the court he had crossed the border through carelessness and without thinking. He had been traveling in Norway and was arrested Sept. 4 just inside Soviet territory near the town of Borisoglebsk.

Norway and the Soviet Union have an agreement to let Norwegians visit the town without visas during the summer months.

Rolvaag and Mondale Cite Food Dangers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Two prominent Minnesotans, the state's governor and a U.S. senator, called attention Tuesday to the plight of hungry persons in the world.

Gov. Karl Rolvaag, addressing the Root River local of the Minnesota Farmers Union at Spring Valley, said butter and bread should replace bombs and bullets as keystones of American foreign policy.

"If we can feed the starving millions in countries which now stand on the brink of chaos," Rolvaag said, "we will have disarmed the international Communist movement of its greatest weapons, hunger and despair."

The governor suggested that American farm groups step up the tempo of inviting foreign farmers to observe U.S. farm know-how.

Sen. Walter Mondale, D-Minn., addressed the Kiwanis Club in Minneapolis. He said the world "hunger explosion" is a matter of growing concern and threatens to plunge two-thirds of the world into despair and revolution.

"Unless we help them to win this war," Mondale said, "we will be facing not one Viet Nam but many, and all the efforts of our armed forces, and all of our programs of foreign assistance, will come to nothing in the end."

In Minneapolis, former President Laurence M. Gould of Carleton College said the world will suffer within 10 years "the most terrible famine it has ever seen" unless food production catches up with population growth.

Gould, speaking Tuesday night to the Minneapolis Chapter of the American Association of University Women, said those who claim the United States can feed a hungry world are victims of a "blind spot."

The world's population is gaining so fast that the increase in food productivity cannot possibly keep up, Gould said.

Businessmen See Business Aspect On Modern Farm

By GLENN HELGELAND
Daily News Staff Writer

The business of modern agriculture underwent close scrutiny Tuesday from about 40 Winona County farmers, 15 Winona businessmen and two University of Minnesota farm specialists during a joint dairy management tour and Farm-City Week luncheon.

The package was sponsored by Winona County Extension Service and Winona Chamber of Commerce as part of a continuing program to promote closer relations between farm and city people.

THE GROUP toured three county farms in the morning, examining modern dairy cattle housing, feeding and milking installations. Following the luncheon at Hotel Winona, William Mudge, University of Minnesota extension dairy specialist, and Donald Bates, University of Minnesota extension agricultural engineer, discussed problems dairymen encounter when considering building expansion or feeding improvements.

The group toured dairy farms operated by Len Greden, Altura; Ed and Gerald Ruhoff, Altura, and Russell Church, Rollingstone.

Oliver Strand, Winona County agent, praised farmer-businessmen relations within Winona County, saying "everyone here (at the luncheon) realizes that farming is no longer just a way of life, but is a highly complex business requiring high investments, large operating capital, good management and a profit motive."

"And Winona businesses are doing a fine job supplying necessary materials, cooperation and advice for this large industry," he emphasized.

STRAND added later, "The men who succeed profitably today investigate every possibility of farm expansion. Before making a move they get advice from their banker, university specialists, other successful farmers, county agents, vo-ag instructors — every possible source. Then they analyze what's best for their particular situation," he emphasized.

Echoing this view, John Januschka, adult agriculture instructor at Winona Area Vocational School said, "Efficient farm managers are keeping agriculture going. They know the penny their cost-return ratio, and its effect on the success of their business."

"This type farmer is not over-mechanized, nor does he have labor surplus. Machines and labor both lose money when forced to sit idle. And he keeps good records. Records — to discover the correct combination of labor, machinery, crops, cattle and time for his farm — are a vital cog in the farm wheel," he said.

OTHER representatives of agriculture-related industry agreed. They pointed out that emphasis on economics, financing, management and technology have done away with the old subsistence farming method.

"Good farmers I work with have learned to utilize information from specialists. Scientific research, electronic record keeping and high finance have been accepted as useful tools," said Larry Santelman, Farmers Exchange. "The day is long gone when a specialist was regarded as someone unable to make a go of farming or else was out to make a fast buck."

William Mudge, university extension dairyman, noted that Winona County is one of the outstanding agricultural counties in Minnesota. "As an example," he said, "31 percent of all dairy cows in the county are in Dairy Herd Improvement Association (DHIA) testing program." State average is 15 percent for each county.

BATES pointed out "Not all farmers considering expansion can economically switch to ultra-modern methods, no matter what they are producing."

Those who have remodeled recently already undoubtedly have a big debt, he said. And other systems, while producing quite economically now, could not feasibly be changed to the ultra-modern. This explains the necessity of careful evaluation.

Good records and efficient management will show whether the man with a new stanchion barn can afford to change to loose housing, he pointed out. Physical dimensions of many

Confidence Men Bilk Madison Bank of $275

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Police reported that two confidence men bilked a Madison bank out of $275 Tuesday but failed to defraud four others with their scheme.

The scheme involved withdrawing cash from savings accounts opened with bogus checks. Detectives said the swindlers apparently made their getaway after hearing an employee of one bank make a telephone call as part of an alert system banks and police had set up to warn of suspected con men.

At the bank where the scheme worked, one of the men opened a savings account with $25 cash. Two hours later he returned with two checks on out-of-town banks and made deposits. A withdrawal slip for $300 was signed and a woman teller paid out the money. Later investigation showed the checks were forged.

Police identified the victimized bank as the Bank of Madison. Banks where the scheme did not work were the First National, American Exchange, Madison Bank and Trust and Trust and the Commercial State Bank.

Thanksgiving - A Truly American Festival

AMERICANS celebrate Thursday a truly American festival — a feast that might well be called an American holy day.

The nation pauses from its regular activities to give thanks to Almighty God for the blessings he has bestowed on us as a nation and as individuals.

No other country on earth has a festival quite like this. While the event is traditionally traced back to the Thanksgiving festival held by the Pilgrims at the end of their first year in America the roots of this event on an annual basis are only about a century old. They go back to a day of thanks proclaimed by President Lincoln during Civil War days.

It is good for us to take time away from our work for a day of thanks.

We are inclined to think mainly of our problems and misfortunes and to take our blessings for granted.

BUT THE TRUTH is that most of us, like the individual in the popular song a few years ago, would if we fixed our minds on the things we had to be thankful for "go to sleep counting our blessings."

THE FIRST WINTER in America had been a hard one for the Massachusetts Bay Colony. How the settlers were to fare in the second winter would depend on the yield from seed sown in the spring of 1621. Most of them had been artisans or tradesmen, and had no knowledge of farming.

In the autumn they were overjoyed to see what the spring planting had brought forth. So the first Pilgrim Thanksgiving, under proclamation of Gov. William Bradford of the Plymouth Plantation, was celebrated in October, not November, 1621.

Four settlers were sent out hunting by the governor so that "we might after a more special manner rejoice together after we had gathered the fruit of our labors." So many birds were shot that Chief Massasoit and his people were asked to join the feast. Ninety of them came, bringing five deer they had killed. The Indians stayed for three days of feasting and revelry.

THE RECORDS DO not show any religious rites in connection with that 1621 celebration, although many must have had in mind the Biblical injunction "When ye have gathered the fruit of the land, ye shall keep a feast unto the Lord." The first Thanksgiving Day in the present tradition may have come in the summer of 1623. On July 30 of that year, after a long drought had ended and a relief ship from England had been reported on the way, the Pilgrims gathered for prayers in thanks for the help extended to them by Divine Providence.

The origin of Thanksgiving Day is traced back by some historians to religious services held at Phillipsburg in Maine on Aug. 9, 1607, at which English colonists gave thanks for their "safe arrival" on the good ships "Gift of God" and "Mary and John." In 1619, on Dec. 14, a group of settlers landed at Berkeley Hundred on the James River in Virginia and observed what other historians insist was the "first Thanksgiving." Still other authorities have cited other dates and other places, but all seem to have overlooked the precolonial period.

BECAUSE ALL primitive peoples had some form of harvest festival, it is easy to believe that the first Thanksgiving in America was celebrated by some forgotten tribe of Indians who gave thanks to their gods and feasted on wild turkey, corn and sweet potatoes, pumpkin and cranberries. The white men, when they came, could likewise give thanks for these gifts of God — then found only in America.

Business Continues Favorable Trend

BUSINESS ACTIVITY in the 9th District continued its favorable upward trend during the third quarter of 1965 — much as it proceeded during the first part of the year, the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis reports in its monthly review of economic conditions.

District industrial production, as measured by the indices of industrial use of electric power and of production worker man-hours, advanced strongly in each of the first eight months.

Employment gains, too, were consistent with the forward push, with nonagricultural employment averaging an annual growth rate of 2.6 percent. The level of help wanted advertising in the district rose sharply during the first eight months, indicating a brisk demand for labor. Part of the gain in employment to construction activity is attributed to the taconite industry.

"AS MIGHT BE expected from observation of industrial production and employment records," the bank said, "the district unemployment rate dropped substantially; it averaged between 3.7 and 4.2 percent during the first eight months of the year." Although this was a record somewhat better than that recorded for the nation, it was more a reflection of sluggish district growth rate in the labor force than of a better-than-U.S. employment record.

Another indication of brisk economic activity was indicated by a high level of district bank debits (a measure of check-book spending). Debits increased from Jan. 1, 1965, at an annual rate of about 10 percent.

Retail sales, too, expanded, reflecting

TODAY IN WORLD AFFAIRS

Time to Take Look at U.N.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Maybe it's time to "re-apportion" the votes in the United Nations General Assembly. If the voting system were arranged on the basis of only one vote for every million dollars donated by a member state to sustain that organization, the United States would have enough votes to counter-balance the votes controlled directly or indirectly by the Communist bloc.

Certainly when any group of individuals puts the largest amount of capital in a corporation, they are usually given the biggest share of the stock and the voting power. In the 20 years since the U.N. was organized, the United States has contributed $2,418,000,000 out of the total of $5,372,000,000 collected, which includes all assessments and voluntary payments. Thus America's share of the expenses has been 45 percent. Yet the Soviet Union in the same period paid only $233,000,000, or less than 5 percent of the total.

What brings up this question is the peculiar vote recorded in the United Nations general assembly last week when 47 members voted to admit Red China and 47 voted against the admission, while 20 abstained. An examination of the way the votes were cast reveals that the group of 47 for Red China was made up almost entirely of countries in Africa, Eastern Europe and Asia which are engaged in trade with the Communists.

FINLAND, DENMARK and Sweden are friends of the United States, but they lie close to Russia on the Baltic, and it is presumably expedient to avoid friction with their powerful neighbor. The United Arab Republic has been receiving financial aid from the Soviet Union and voted with it in the U.N.

The North African countries went along with France, which has developed a policy that carries favor with Red China in order to maintain certain financial and business connections for French industrialists who have had extensive dealings in the area once known as Indo-China but now divided into Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos.

General De Gaulle can, of course, argue that he recognized the Red China government a year or so ago because the British had done so. The difference, however, is that Great Britain gave its diplomatic recognition prior to 1950, when the Red Chinese brazenly attacked the United Nations forces in Korea. Also, the British hold Hong Kong, an important trading center on the Asian mainland, and they don't want the Red Chinese to deprive them of that source of revenue.

... AND STRENGTHEN US AS WE PARTAKE OF THY BLESSINGS'

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Some Slips at Johnson Dinner for Princess

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — President Johnson, a great perfectionist, was reported disturbed by two events at the otherwise bang-up White House party for Princess Margaret. First, the beautiful Christina Ford let the facade of her evening gown slip too low. Second, a convicted income tax evader was accidentally invited to that ultra-exclusive evening.

When the father of Princess Margaret was entertained by President Roosevelt, however, things went much worse.

Despite the protests of his mother, FDR insisted on taking King George VI and Queen Elizabeth on a Hyde Park picnic. They drove to the picnic over an old lumber train, so bumpy that the king and queen looked pale and shaken. Mrs. Roosevelt thereupon suggested a glass of sherry.

"NOT AT A picnic," protested her mother-in-law. "At a picnic you serve tea."

Then came the hotdogs. Their majesties were puzzled. Never before had they partaken of this all-American delicacy. Queen Elizabeth said she didn't know how to eat one.

"You dab it with mustard and aim it straight at the gullet," explained the President.

That evening, Mrs. Roosevelt found she did not have enough china for the royal dinner so borrowed some from a relative. The serving plates were piled on a table behind a screen in the dining room. Suddenly there was a crash. The table had collapsed.

"I hope," exclaimed the relative to the visiting royalty, "That's not my china!" After dinner, the Roosevelts' Irish butler served coffee. Entering the living room was a sloping ramp built for FDR's wheelchair. The butler slipped on the ramp, the tray, coffee cups and all, was hurled at the royal feet of their majesties. They didn't bat an eye.

LATER, BACK in Washington, President Roosevelt was mixing a cocktail in the upstairs apartment of the White House and asked the king: "Do you ever mix your cocktails, George?"

"Why—yes," replied George VI after a pause. "When mother's not around."

The income tax evader invited to the White House in honor of King George's daughter last week was Joseph Fago of suburban Buffalo, and the coveted invitation was extended under a system by which the White House tries to include outsiders as well as Washington society at the White House soirees. Many of the outsiders, under both Democrat and Republican administrations, have been contributors to campaign funds.

First word of the unusual guest came when Rep. Dick McCarthy, D-N.Y., queried the White House regarding a report that some Buffalo residents were invited to the exclusive soiree. He was told the guest list was not available in advance. But being a persistent congressman, McCarthy called the Erie County Democratic Committee, which informed him that John J. Naska, local attorney, and Joseph Fago, local builder, were invited with their wives.

"FAGO'S PAROLE officer won't let him come to Washington," remarked a member of McCarthy's staff.

For Fago was under 18 months suspended sentence expiring Nov. 30, plus five months probation, for income tax evasion. His brother Anthony got a similar lar sentence, while his brother Dominic got 18 months, of which he served part at Lewisburg, Pa., later at Florence, Ariz., when his family moved to Scottsdale, Ariz.

Out of jail after 11 months, Dominic failed to pay his $50,000 fine, nevertheless was able to wrangle a $700,000 sub-contract for building part of Glen Canyon Dam in Colorado, one of the biggest hydroelectric projects in the world.

The dam is federally financed, but the Ets-Hokin Company of San Francisco, primary contractor for the electrical installations, informed me that the sub-contract to the Fago Brothers Construction Company, which Dominic Fago formed when he got out of jail, was awarded purely on the basis of low bid.

THE CONTRACT was awarded, however, despite the fact that Dominic didn't put up a performance bond, despite the fact that Dominic was still under sentence, and despite the fact that Arizona had canceled the company's contracting license.

In the end, Dominic defaulted on the Glen Canyon contract.

Vietnamese Can Wait for Peace

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — In Viet Nam the clock stands still and there is no repairman in sight. Time is not the same thing to a Vietnamese and a go-go American.

The American, anxious for an end to the killing, is baffled by the war's slow pace, the lack of any sign the North Vietnamese Communists want to talk peace.

But the Vietnamese as a people have been around longer than Americans and they learned to wait through centuries of trouble. They were in Southeast Asia before the Christian era.

The Chinese, taking them over in 111 A.D., held them in vassalage more than eight centuries before the Vietnamese shook loose. Meanwhile, through the centuries, they warred among themselves.

They defeated the armies of Kublai Khan in the 13th century, were taken as a colony by the French in the 19th and held about three-quarters of a century. The Japanese drove out the French in World War II and the Vietnamese, under the Communist leadership of Ho Chi Minh, began fighting the French return in 1946 and never stopped until they crushed the French in 1954.

No wonder the North Vietnamese, with this endless history of waiting and dragged-out fighting, are not pleading for peace because the United States bombs them and steadily builds up its forces in a ground war.

Perhaps some U.S. officials, who made quick survey trips to Viet Nam in recent years and came back drenched in optimism, also are baffled that they could be so ludicrously wrong. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara made a number of trips to Viet Nam, several times returned with rosy forecasts, and as late as January 1964 predicted U.S. forces could be withdrawn by the start of 1966.

He added: "I do not believe we as a nation should assume the primary responsibility for the war." That was before the United States got fully into the war and took on the responsibility.

As for his prediction on the withdrawal of U.S. forces: Now the United States has at least 160,000 men there, within a few months may have 200,000. For weeks there has been buzzing about whether the Communists might have been willing to talk peace and whether President Johnson muffed the chance. Last April he proposed peace talks, without any prior conditions for starting them.

But Ho Chi Minh has just made hash of the suggestion. The Red Chinese Tuesday quoted him as saying there can't even be a start to such talks until all American forces are withdrawn from Viet Nam. This would mean American surrender to the Communists, a defeat.

Thus, while Johnson said there did not have to be prior conditions, Ho Chi Minh laid down conditions — the withdrawal of all American forces. At this moment there is nothing in sight but a war dragging on.

COMMON sense in dress is the main thing. Most babies, being part of the family, live in the same temperature the rest of us do. It is true, though, that some people go overboard and keep baby bundled up in wool when the temperature doesn't call for it. Baby is uncomfortably warm and can't be blamed for fretting.

As to the claim that 60 degrees is "ideal," what about babies in climates where the temperature seldom or never gets that low? They thrive.

Dear Dr. Molner: I recall reading somewhere that the exercise of bending and touching the toes without bending the knees puts undue strain on the eyes, specifically the retina. LBJ Looking Toward NATO, Other Issues

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, busy at shaping fresh domestic programs, is laying the groundwork for broadened attention next year to world problems.

Because Viet Nam has demanded so much concentration on his part, Johnson has not had the time in the last few months to grapple in depth with the threat of the weakening of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization posed by French President Charles de Gaulle's nationalistic policies.

While there can be no presidential relaxation of supervision of the Viet Nam effort, on the basis of the massive legislative program passed by the first session of Congress, it appears the President may be able to relegate some domestic issues to lower priorities.

The signs now point to a determined effort by the President in 1966 toward reemerging Western Europe's defenses, improving East-West relations and halting the quarreling between India and Pakistan.

The White House announced Tuesday that Johnson will meet with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson Dec. 17, following a Dec. 23 conference with West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, top European problems at the top of the list in this ground-laying period.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers had only a "can't say" to reports in Washington, diplomatic circles that India's Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri might come to this country about the third week in January and President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan about mid-December.

Moyers made it clear that the two leaders are welcome but the timing of their visits is largely up to them.

It was evident that the meeting place for conferences with Erhard and Wilson will depend on whether Johnson wishes to leave the Texas climate, which he finds so bracing, to return to Washington.

Moyers said Johnson's physical activity Tuesday was not strenuous. But he said the President found the climate and the relaxation at the LBJ Ranch helpful toward regaining full strength after his gall bladder-kidney stone operation of Oct. 8.

Wilson said in London Tuesday that he will discuss terms and conditions for a general Viet Nam peace settlement in his meeting with Johnson. While this was expected, the White House obviously had only lean hopes that any meaningful negotiations with Hanoi and the Viet Cong would develop soon.

North Viet Nam's President Ho Chi Minh was quoted Tuesday as saying that U. S. troops would have to be withdrawn from South Viet Nam before any negotiations could start. Johnson has said many times that the United States will not withdraw.

Boom or Bust Cycles May Be Past on Range

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The boom or bust economy cycles of northeastern Minnesota appear to have ended, Twin Cities security analysts were told here Tuesday.

The report came from officials of Minnesota Power & Light Co. and Dr. Eugene Pfeiffer, acting head of the University of Minnesota School of Mines.

Reasons cited for the stabilizing influence were a huge outpouring of private capital and sufficient taconite reserves for "hundreds of years."

Pfeiffer said his earlier calculations on taconite shipments and job levels in the industry have been moved 10 to 15 years ahead by recent developments.

Pfeiffer said he expects shipments of taconite pellets to reach 54 million tons a year by 1975 to 1980. Total investment will reach $2 billion and taconite jobs will climb to 16,200—all three targets 10 to 15 years ahead of earlier forecasts.

"It's self-generating," Pfeiffer said of the rosy outlook.

RECREATION REPORT

Center Returned; Attendance Gains

Activities at park-recreation department recreation centers showed an increase recently as use of the East Center was terminated Nov. 17 by St. Stanislaus Elementary School.

The center was used as temporary quarters for some classes while the new grade school building was finished. Although no charge was made for the center's use, the school custodians did cleanup and maintenance work at the center while classes were there.

FOR THE period of Oct. 25 to Nov. 22 attendance at East and West centers totaled 3,094. The West Center accounted for 2,019 of this total. From now on, both centers will operate their full programs which include game room activities, children's and adult crafts and some organization meetings.

Organization meetings have been held for bantam, pee wee and men's basketball leagues, the recreation division reports. All leagues will begin play next week. Juniors will use Lincoln and Central Elementary school

Three Troop 14 Scouts Receive Star Awards

Three Troop 14 Boy Scouts received star awards at a court of honor at Jefferson School Tuesday evening.

William Samsalla, troop committeeman, presented the awards to Steve Miesbauer, Tom Grindland and Charles Gilbertson.

The court of honor followed a potluck supper; Troop sponsor is the Jefferson School PTA.

Other awards presented: By Philip Mickelson, committeeman, cooking merit badges to the three star award winners; canoeing, Mike Lindstrom, Tom Grindland, Steve Miesbauer and Charles Gilbertson; swimming, David Lindstrom; citizenship in home, Charles Gilbertson and Tom Grindland; gardening, Steve Miesbauer.

By Ray Lindstrom, committeeman, second class badges, Kim Samsalla and Ricky Lembo; tenderfoot, Ryan Dobberphul, Don Blake, Mark Hooper, David Elfeldt, Billy Helgeson and Nick Bauer.

By John Elfeldt, committeeman, one-year service award, Mark Mickelson, Kevin Larson, Gary Breitenfeldt and Bobby Lembo; and two-year award, David Lindstrom.

By Scoutmaster Arthur Grindland, junior leader awards, Mike Lindstrom, senior patrol leader, and Steve Miesbauer, Tom Grindland and Charles Gilbertson, patrol leaders.

Slides of the Wilderness Canoe Trails were shown. It is hoped that Troop 14 can send a crew next summer.

Neighborhood Commissioner Ernest Kaufman, in closing the program, congratulated the boys who advanced in rank.

"It's not only the second class, first class, star, life or Eagle badge you may earn in the next year or so, but the thing you boys must strive for is that future goal we all look for in you is the day you become first class citizens in this great country of ours," said Kaufman.

"People who have money are no longer afraid to invest."

Pfeiffer and the power company officials heaped praise on the taconite tax amendment approved a year ago. The announcement gave the taconite industry a 25-year guarantee against tax boosts not applied equally to all types of business.

Sylvester Laskin, vice president of MP&L, said that northeastern Minnesota — once persistently tagged a distressed area — now is having more private capital poured into it than any comparable area in the world.

Laskin said $411 million in new plants and expansion had been pledged since voters approved the taconite amendment. The Duluth-based electric power firm serves many of the plants in northeastern Minnesota as well as portions of central Minnesota.

Pfeiffer said there will be jobs available for "anyone willing to work," even though retraining programs will be needed. He implied that there has been undue emphasis on unemployment in the mining area.

"There is too much money invested in taconite plants for them to be shut down, like an open pit mine," Pfeiffer said.

Despite the huge investment, he added, steel companies must invest more sums to keep the plants competitive as new pellet processing methods are devised.

rise in American combat casualties. But they consider the increase inevitable as the tempo of the war and the U. S. involvement increases.

New fighting was reported on the central coast as 500 South Vietnamese troops clashed with about 200 Viet Cong 330 miles north of Saigon near the provincial capital of Quang Ngai. South Vietnamese officials claimed 150 Communists were killed.

The fighting subsided late in the day and the Communists broke contact and withdrew. A military spokesman said two companies of Viet Cong attacked two government positions near Quang Ngai Tuesday, inflicting light casualties on the defenders. But he reported a Vietnamese relief force killed 40 Viet Cong.

Government troops recaptured two outposts overrun Tuesday in the Mekong Delta, and Vietnamese rangers in the battle-scarred Ia Drang Valley killed three Viet Cong.

Communist forces were reported to have withdrawn Tuesday night from around the district town of Tuy An on the central coast.

But a U.S. spokesman said there was no word whether communications had been reestablished with five outposts near Tuy An that were attacked Monday.

The spokesman said the Viet Cong apparently hoped to assault government troops sent in to reinforce Tuy An. He speculated that the Communists backed off from the attack when no relief force was dispatched to the town.

Nine U.S. jet fighters pounded another suspected enemy base camp in the Mekong Delta 78 miles south of the capital. Twenty-five Viet Cong were estimated to have been killed and 19 buildings damaged or destroyed.

Other U.S. planes continued heavy strikes in North Viet Nam. They attacked bridges, railroad cars, roads and military barracks. All planes returned safely despite heavy anti-aircraft fire, the spokesman said.

Bodies of Two Found Dead in Parked Auto

KEWAUNEE, Wis. (AP) — The bodies of two teenagers were found Monday in a car in Bruemmer-Kewaunee County Park west of Kewaunee. Dr. Andrew Lanier, the coroner said Darryl Hoppe, 19, and Deborah Maedke, 17, both of Kewaunee, had been dead for about 12 hours and attributed the deaths to carbon monoxide.

Authorities said the ignition of the car was on and the gasoline tank empty.

Arthur McGowan, living near the park, found the bodies. He said he saw a car in the park around 11 p.m. Sunday and again Monday morning but thought it had been parked by deer hunters.

Authorities theorized that long grass in the area of the car might have blocked the vehicle's exhaust pipe.

Miss Maedke, a senior at Kewaunee High School, was 17 Monday. Hoppe worked in Kewaunee and was a part time student at the vocational school in Green Bay.

Nelson Gets Sombbrero From The President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., has a new white sombrero to show for an unexpected day with President and Mrs. Johnson at the LBJ ranch.

Nelson had flown from a Senate subcommittee hearing in Los Angeles to Austin, Tex., Sunday night for a speaking engagement, and on arrival found a presidential invitation waiting at his hotel.

Monday morning Nelson joined Jack Valenti and Bill Moyers of the White House staff and flew to the ranch, where Mrs. Johnson promptly took him on a tour of the premises.

Then the President and his wife drove Nelson to Fredericksburg, where they attended memorial services for the late President John F. Kennedy, returning to the ranch for lunch.

After that, the Senator and Mrs. Johnson flew back to Austin, to the University of Texas, where the first lady listened while Nelson delivered his speech to the Texas conference on environment.

Nelson got his hat from the President as a memento.

Papers Signed by Hancock, Washington Presented to State

ST. PAUL (AP) — There it was, the big, bold signature of John Hancock.

Also on heavy, gray paper: the signature of George Washington.

They are impressive to look at, even more impressive to touch — the actual documents of history, some still bearing the sealing wax melted upon them 175 years ago.

The letters of Hancock, Washington and dozens of others are included in a collection donated to the Minnesota Historical Society this week by Mrs. Allyn K. Ford of Minneapolis.

Ford, who died in 1964, collected some 2,500 letters, documents and autographs of famous persons ranging from Sam Houston to John Adams, from Benedict Arnold to Zachary Taylor.

Some are merely interesting, but others are important from a historian's point of view, says Russell Fridley, director of the State Historical Society.

In about a year, he said, the documents will go on public display in a special room in the Historical Society building next-door to the state Capitol.

One portion of the collection is several hundred letters to and from Brig. Gen. George Weedon, one time innkeeper at Fredericksburg, Va., who became adjutant to Gen. George Washington.

Historians believe Weedon gathered up the papers after the Revolutionary War and preserved them himself because of a sense of history.

Fridley says they may be a source of much new information about the problems and workings of the Revolutionary Army. Included in the Weedon correspondence are nine letters from Washington, seven from Thomas Jefferson and 18 from Gen. Lafayette.

Another sub-section of the collection contains the signatures of 31 of the 56 signers of the Declaration of Independence. Among them is that of John Hancock, with its unmistakable embellishments and bold strokes.

One letter from Washington to Weedon dated March 20, 1778, tells of Washington's concern about smallpox among his troops.

Other footnotes to history include Benedict Arnold's (he signed "B. Arnold") pleas to William Pitt in 1800 for 2,000 pounds to "release me from great embarrassment & distress."

His disservice to the colonial revolutionaries apparently had not made him wealthy.

In 1827, James Monroe wrote of selling his slaves to pay debts that piled up during his public service.

Lucile Kane, director of manuscripts, said the first step will be to catalog the entire collection. This will be a listing of each document, plus a brief paragraph of its content.

This will take about a year, she said, since her office will proceed with other jobs at the same time.

The special display room for the documents will contain helium-filled glass cases in which the actual letters will be displayed for the public. Others will be available to scholars.

The Ford collection includes several letters written from Fort Snelling by Zachary Taylor during his tenure as commandant in 1828-29.

In the manner of Army generals throughout history, he complained that his situation was not "properly understood" by his superiors. Taylor griped that half his force was tied up seeking forage for cattle, taking care of the flour mills and getting fuel for the winter, thus making them vulnerable to Indians.

Other items in the collection include at least one letter or document signed by every U.S. president except the last two. Smallest piece is a ticket to the House of Representatives gallery for the impeachment of President Andrew Johnson.

Miss Kane said the rag content of paper used in revolutionary days is mainly responsible for the well-preserved appearance of the letters. There is concern now, she said, that some modern papers will not stand the test of time.

In making the gift, Mrs. Ford specified that it be available for public use and exhibition. Ford became interested in the revolutionary period 30 years ago while making architectural studies for a home.

Jury Awards Prof. Rose $20,000 Verdict

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A Hennepin County District Court jury has awarded $20,000 to Prof. Arnold Rose, who sued for $100,000 in a libel suit against a conservative organization he accused of calling him a "collaborator with Communists."

The University of Minnesota sociology professor, a former state representative, was granted $5,000 in general damages and $5,000 in punitive damages from Christian Research, Inc. The organization's executive director, Gerda Koch, also was directed to pay $5,000 in general damages and $5,000 in punitive damages.

Mrs. Rose said Tuesday night, after the jury brought in its verdict, that she will "very definitely" appeal to the Minnesota Supreme Court.

"None of us are perfect," she added. "We stood by the truth and what we feel is good for our country."

A third defendant, Adolph Grinde, had been named in Rose's suit. The jury, however, absolved Grinde, an Anoka furniture cleaner, of any responsibility in the libel suit.

Miss Koch allegedly printed pamphlets two years ago that attacked Rose's qualifications and asked, "Do Minnesotans want a teacher at its university and a lawmaker at its capitol who collaborate with a 'Communist' and with Communist frontiers?" Grinde was said to have distributed a copy of the pamphlet to the Anoka County Commissioners and questioned whether Rose should be permitted to make addresses about communism at the county library.

Rose originally asked for $100,000 in his suit but he amended the figure to $100,000 after Miss Koch. Christian Research and Grinde countersued for $75,000. The jury rejected the counter claim in its suit.

Rose's attorney, Norman Newall Jr., called the verdict "most satisfying."

In awarding punitive damages, the jury held that Miss Koch's statements about Rose were made maliciously. Judge Donald T. Barbeau explained to the jury that general damages would apply if it was found Miss Koch had called Rose "a collaborator or sympathizer with Communists or a security risk to his country."

Under Minnesota law, Judge Barbeau said, it is automatically libelous to call anyone a Communist.

Jerome Daly, Miss Koch's attorney, described Rose during the trial as a "Marxist - Socialist who... advocates Communist ideas whenever he can." Daly said the statements about Rose were true and that there was no malice on the part of Miss Koch.

Boy Admits Shooting Parents, Setting Fire That Killed 7

SUNBURY, Pa. (AP) — A 17-year-old boy says he shot his parents, then set fire to a house that killed seven younger brothers and sisters because he wanted to collect insurance to pay off debts, police report.

State Police Capt. John C. Grey said the youth, Harold Bordner, made the oral statement Tuesday from his hospital bed.

Another official, Coroner Henry F. Ulrich, quoted Bordner as saying: "I wanted to pay my bills. I thought it would be better this way."

Earlier in the day the grief-stricken father, Paul, 38, attended graveside services for his seven children—Cindy, 8; Jerry, 7; Stephen, 6; Roger, 5; John, 4; Ruby, 3, and Dennis, 1. The father received minor wounds from shotgun pellets.

All were buried in a single casket at Northumberland Memorial Park Cemetery in central Pennsylvania.

and five other children suffered burns in the fire Saturday night at their two-story log house in the nearby tiny rural community of Herndon. All but the father remained hospitalized.

Mrs. Bordner, 39, was listed in serious condition. Ulrich said she asked her son about the shooting.

"Who shot me Harold?" Mrs. Bordner asked. "I did," Ulrich said Harold replied. "I thought I could get rid of you, mom."

Capt. Grey did not elaborate on Bordner's financial problems. He said the youth admitted the incident after being confronted with evidence.

The officer said Harold admitted shooting his parents while they lay in bed. Then, Grey continued, Harold said he tossed gasoline into an enclosed stairway leading to the upstairs bedrooms and ignited it. The children who died were asleep upstairs.

Lieutenant Faces Court-Martial

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A general court-martial has been ordered for an Army lieutenant arrested after an anti-Viet Nam war demonstration in El Paso Nov. 6.

Lt. Henry Howe Jr., stationed at Ft. Bliss here, was charged with violating three sections of the Uniform Code of Military Justice. The court-martial has been tentatively scheduled for Dec. 13.

Howe, from Boulder, Colo., allegedly was one of a group of demonstrators protesting U. S. involvement in Viet Nam.

Norwegian Way of Life Enjoyed by Wedul Family

(Editor's Note: The following is an account written by Dr. Melvin Wedul, head of the department of education at Winona State College. He is in Europe on a four-month leave of absence from the college. In Norway Dr. Wedul and his family visited a former exchange staff member at WSC, various schools, farms where Dr. Wedul's parents lived and exchange students who attended WSC.)

This is the week we leave Norway for visits to the University of Lund in Sweden, some school stops in Denmark and Germany, and then through Holland to board our ship at Rotterdam on Thanksgiving Day. It will take about ten days to reach New York on our freighter the "Black Falcon." Since we are taking our Volkswagen bus with us, we intend to make some stops in the East on our way home but should get there (home) by the middle of December.

These past months have been stimulating and vitally interesting for all of us. My wife and I have visited "folke" schools, "real" schools, "gymnas" schools, "barnehem" schools for retarded, colleges, and have had lengthy discussions with staff members. The children have each attended at least two different schools for three-week periods and have lived in homes with youngsters their own ages.

ONE OF MY reasons for being in Norway is in the interest of our Inter-Institutional Affiliation Project between Winona State College and Oslo teachers college or Laererskole. I spent the greater part of three weeks at their college meeting their classes and individual students who wished to discuss procedures and prospects for them in the States.

I also observed and met with staff members to learn more about their "orientering" program which is a combination of compass work, map reading, and a cross-country race. The president of the teachers college here at Halden is Dr. P. M. Juul who spent a year as an exchange staff member at our college. I have observed and met some of their classes here. These young people are certainly interested in prospects for them in the States.

In August we visited the Wedul gaard and Stranda where my folks grew up. We also went to church in Meldal where my parents were baptized, confirmed, and married. I knew enough of the language to get along, and we had five great weeks there visiting neighbors and relatives. We visited the "saeters" my folks had used, went hunting with my cousin, tape recorded messages to take back home, and saw more old things than we had seen in any museum.

PEOPLE seem prosperous wherever we have been. Stores are loaded with merchandise and people seem to buy whatever they really want. Probably there is more inflation here in Norway than in the States. Some products which are made here can be bought for less, but so many things are fully as expensive as at home. It is a beautiful country, and we have had the most cordial reception everywhere.

Wherever we have been, people seem to mourn the loss of the late John F. Kennedy. They do not say that there is anything wrong with our president, but it is apparent that he does not inspire confidence abroad like Mr. Kennedy did.

One thing about Norway which has impressed me is the large wilderness areas within easy reach of the populace. I had seen pictures of the fjords and closely-populated farms, but I had not considered these large tracts of woods, marsh, and rocky slopes so apparently untouched by the centuries of civilization, and right next to heavily populated areas. People living in Oslo are only 20 minutes from walks or skiing through wilderness areas which extend for miles. The solid rock is so near the surface of the soil that water can not percolate into the ground but forms marshes or lakes at all elevations. Draining this soil to make it productive involves a great deal of work and equipment which also make it very expensive.

Either of the farms my parents came from is the type of location a person would dream of for a cottage. The old log buildings my mother's parents used 60 years ago still stand on the wooded shore of a clear, island-dotted lake. The Wedul gaard lies between this lake and another equally attractive one. With spruce, birch, and pine covering the mountains to the west, the view is magnificent in every direction.

TRACTORS ARE common and many farmers have no horses now, but there is still much handwork on a Norwegian farm.

We helped fill a silo with hay, put barley up on wires called "hesho" to dry, helped haul barley, picked potatoes, brought cattle home from the saeter, and tried to make ourselves useful in other ways.

Our stay in Oslo made it possible to check on the progress of our exchange student from Winona State, Douglas Rosendahl. He spent some time with us and is progressing well with his Norwegian and Norwegians. We also enjoyed visits with Inghild Norstebo, Marie Hogetveidt, Olav Hauge, Ole-Jorgen Kjustad, Johannes Sandven, Haldis Knardal, and the P. M. Juuls. All of these people have spent some time at Winona State and are well known by many in Winona. We also had pleasant visits with Esther Amboe, Roy Andersen's sister, and with Mrs. Carl Fleischer, who is a cousin of Mrs. Wendell Fish.

This has been a tremendous experience for people like us who normally do not travel much. We enjoy Winona very much and will be happy to get back home, but these experiences, the scenery, the cordiality, and the people always will be remembered.

Gady-Larsen Nuptials Held In Pickwick

LAMOILLE, Minn. — Miss Irene Larsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Larsen, and Ray G. Gady, son of Mrs. Anna Gady, Dakota, Minn., were married Nov. 13 at St. Luke's Lutheran Church, Pickwick, Minn.

The Rev. W. J. Koepsell officiated. Mrs. Shirley Kauphusman was organist and the congregation sang.

GIVEN IN marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of lace over taffeta. The long-sleeved bodice had a sabrina neckline embroidered with sequins. The bouffant skirt featured a redingote front with tiers of lace ruffles and a lace back panel with a hemline ruffle.

Her veil was held by a crown of seed pearls trimmed with crystal and drop pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Lyle Fritz was matron of honor and Miss Pamela Husman and Miss Darlene Larsen, bridesmaids. They wore floor-length gowns of peacock-blue satin with fitted bodices, scooped necklines and three-quarter-length sleeves. All had matching circle crowns with face veils. They carried bouquets of yellow and white mums.

Jerrold Mades was best man and Wayne Larsen, brother of the bride, and Albert Severson, groomsmen. Harlan Larsen, brother of the bride, and Darwin Gady, brother of the groom, ushered.

Bonnie Jean Larsen was flower girl and Burnell Larsen, brother of the bride, ring bearer.

THE BRIDE'S mother wore a blue dress and the groom's mother a charcoal dress. Both had corsages of orchid and pink roses.

GIFT TO MENTAL HEALTH CENTER
... Mrs. S. A. Sawyer, right, president of the Portia Club, hands a check for $650 to Miller Friesen, director of the new Hiawatha Valley Mental Health Center, for use in purchasing much needed equipment in the center of Lafayette and 4th Streets. Mrs. Karl Lipson, secretary at the center, smiles her appreciation. The funds were realized in the Oct. 9 House Tour of Portia Club, attended by 550 persons. Mrs. Ted Biesanz, left, was co-chairman with Mrs. S. O. Hughes of the tour. (Daily News Photo)

Susan Vogel Married to David Rose

Mr. and Mrs. David Rose were married Nov. 20 at St. Stanislaus Catholic Church. The Rev. Douglas Fiola performed the ceremony and the young girls choir sang.

The bride is the former Miss Susan Mary Vogel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert C. Vogel, 717 E. 5th St. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rose, Witoka.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of lace and tulle over taffeta. The long-sleeved, basque bodice had a scoop neckline trimmed with sequins. Her bouffant, floor-length skirt had tiers of lace-edged, tulle ruffles with a lace back panel and hemline ruffle. A princess crown trimmed with seed pearls and crystals held her bouffant veil of nylon illusion.

MISS SELMA Vogel, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Miss Kay Blank and Miss Grace Rose, Wiloka, sister of the groom, bridesmaids. They wore floor-length gowns of peacock-blue chiffon over taffeta with scoop necklines, elbow-length sleeves and pergola skirts with wattle back panels. Open pillbox hats trimmed with pearls held their face veils. The bride's mother wore a two-piece, egg-shelled-colored dress and the groom's mother a navy-blue dress. Both had orchid corsages.

Robert Rose, brother of the groom, was best man; Carl Vogel, brother of the bride, and Michael Rose, Gilmore Valley, groomsmen, and William Blank and Irvin Rose, ushers.

A dinner reception was held at Jack's Place.

Following a short trip to Western Minnesota, the newlyweds will live at 816½ W. 5th St.

Community Orchestra To Rehearse 'Messiah'

A full rehearsal of the community orchestra for the upcoming "Messiah" performance is scheduled for Monday at 7:30 p.m. at Winona Senior High School auditorium.

ON HAND for the rehearsal will be Harold Cooke, Rochester, who will conduct at the Dec. 12 performance, also at the school auditorium. It is open to the public.

A community chorus of more than 300 adult voices is expected to take part in the concert. In addition, a children's chorus of about 150 voices is being recruited to sing a portion of the oratorio. Included in the chorus are singers from Stout State College, Menomonie, Wis. The choristers will go to Menomonie for the first public performance Dec. 5. The Winona community orchestra, which will play accompaniment here, will not make the trip to Menomonie, however.

MAKING up the adult chorus are singers from three city colleges and from church choirs throughout the community. Soloists are all local residents. Chorus rehearsals are under

Canton Auxiliary Holds Election

CANTON, Minn. (Special) — Mrs. Gerrit Barth was elected president of the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 400 when the group met at the home of Mrs. Dewey Busse.

Others elected were Mrs. Arby Boedeker, first vice president; Mrs. Donald Kimball, second vice president; Mrs. Charles Ward, sergeant at arms; Mrs. Clement Mangan, chaplain; Mrs. Kenneth Turner, historian; Mrs. Dewey Busse, secretary; and Mrs. Richard Niedfeldt, treasurer.

Donations were sent to the gift shop at the Veterans Hospital, the veterans' Christmas tray and Boy Scouts. A Christmas party will be held Dec. 9 at the Legion hall. A cooperative lunch will be served and gifts exchanged between secret pals.

The girls were accompanied by Mrs. Clarence Lebakken, chapter mother, and Mrs. Kent Jacobson, home economics teacher and chapter adviser.

Galesville FHA Girls at Rally

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special) — Seventeen members of the FHA attended the fall rally at Cochrane - Fountain City High School Saturday.

Diane Lebakken, president of the Gale-Etrick FHA, gave the response to the welcome address. Jane Remus presented a talent number. Nancy Hiller was a discussion group leader, assisted by Sheryl Sagar. Evelyn Wagner led the group in a relaxer.

The girls were accompanied by Mrs. Clarence Lebakken, chapter mother, and Mrs. Kent Jacobson, home economics teacher and chapter adviser.

Marie Halama Leads Discussion at FHA District Rally

INDEPENDENCE, Wis. (Special) — An Independence girl led a discussion group at the Future Homemakers of America district rally at Cochrane-Fountain City High School Saturday.

Marie Halama was moderator for discussions on whether a curfew hour is the answer for teens, and whether manners are more than social etiquette. Debbie Kuka was her secretary.

Diana Olson led the assembly in relaxers. Joan Schlessner and Shelby Kulig played a piano duet. Ten other Independence chapter members attended.

They were accompanied by their adviser, Mrs. Clarence Misch.

"Top New Talents" is the theme for the year. Members from other schools presented the program of work ideas. Rita Maleszewski, Arcadia, Wis., state FHA president, presided.

Brownies Invested At Spring Grove

SPRING GROVE, Minn. (Special) — The investiture and rededication ceremony of Spring Grove Brownie Troop 308 was held in Trinity Lutheran Church basement Saturday afternoon.

Jennifer Ellingson led the pledge of allegiance and Mary Flatin the Brownie promise. During roll call, each Brownie presented her mother with a corsage.

Mrs. Carolyn Rostad presented pins to Mrs. Allen L. Johnson, Mrs. Tilford Flatin and Miss Adeline Neve, who were invested as adult leaders. Mrs. Rostad also presided over the investiture of the 11 new Brownies and presented them with pins. Membership stars were presented to 11 second-year Brownies by Mrs. Allen L. Johnson.

Songs were sung and lunch served by the troop committee.

PUBLIC CARD PARTY

Townsend Club I will entertain at a public card party at 8 p.m. Friday at West Recreation Center. Prizes will be awarded and lunch served.

Work With Retarded Persons Outlined at Society Meeting

"How Winonans Take Responsibility for Retarded Persons" was the subject of two talks given at the Monday evening meeting of Delta Kappa Gamma Society at Central Lutheran Church.

THE SPEAKERS, Mrs. Florence Harrington and Mrs. James Cole, also told the pattern and history of state and national organizations for the retarded and emphasized the need for continued local support in this area.

Mrs. Cole, a teacher at Winona Day Care Center (WDCC), talked on the training and activity of her eight pupils, who range in age from 16 to 31 years.

They are "happy, loving and lovable," she said and "more normal than subnormal." Communicating with others is their big problem, Mrs. Cole said.

"LOVE IN this small neighborhood group in which they feel at home is necessary for their growth," she emphasized.

Mrs. Harrington gave the history of organizations for the retarded. In Winona, she said, there is the Trainable Room for the very young, located in Lincoln Elementary School, and the Center, for older persons, where Mrs. Cole works, in Central Elementary School.

Winona County Commissioners gave money when the projects were started and other support has come from such groups as parents' organizations and Community Chest Fund, with state matching funds. The Portia Club and the Jaycees have contributed both money and service. Assistance also is given from the state and national organizations, Mrs. Harrington said.

THE JUNIOR Red Cross, under the direction of Mrs. Richard Callender, has for some time given holiday parties for retarded children and in recent years, other groups have cooperated.

Mrs. Harrington told about the full-time summer camp near Camp Courage, which was started last summer by the Minnesota Organization for Retarded Children (MORC). She said it is hoped that soon all the pupils of the Winona Day Care Center can attend this summer camp.

During a question and answer period it was revealed that gifts of money are welcomed in the work; that volunteer workers are needed, both locally and at the MORC state summer camp; that old and new Christmas cards can be used at the WDCC, and that visitors are welcome at both the WDCC and the Trainable Room, but that teachers should be notified in advance.

MISS RUTH Kottschade, president, conducted a brief business session.

Group singing was directed by Miss Elsie Sartell, accompanied by Mrs. William A. Ferguson.

Miss Elizabeth Gunhus, president of Winona State College Choir, sang two solos, "Ave Maria," Verdi, and "Thanks Be to God," Dickson.

Miss Janet Newcomb, professional affairs chairman, introduced the speakers. Others on her committee are the Misses Jeanne LaBlonde, Gladys Lapham and Sartell.

Holiday Fair at Strum Is Monday

STRUM, Wis. (Special)—Monday is the day of the annual Holiday Fair of the Women's Civic Club and not Saturday as was mistakenly reported to the Daily News. The community benefit sale will be held in the Strum Elementary School, beginning at 3 p.m. Monday. Christmas gifts, decorations, candy and baked goods will be on sale and lunch will be served.

'Hillybilly Heaven' Tonight's Dance Theme at School

INDEPENDENCE, Wis. (Special) — "Hillybilly Heaven" is the theme of the all-girls prom sponsored tonight in the Independence High School gym by the Future Homemakers of America.

The royal court includes Agnes Roskos, king; Debbie Kuka, queen; Joyce Symicek and Jeanette Waletzko, first attendants; Janis Skroch and Jane Halama, second attendants, and Judy Back and Marie Halama, third attendants.

Appointed in charge of preparations by Pat Baeker, president, were: Kathy Wozney, decorations; Janis Skroch, crowns; Nancy Marsolek, chaperones; Jennifer Instness, posters; Judy Back, lunch; Theresa Halama, punch; Shelby Kulig, tickets, and Deborah Bautch, music.

Homemakers Meet At Independence

INDEPENDENCE, Wis. (Special) — Two Homemaker clubs met last week.

Rainbow Homemakers met at the home of Mrs. John Pietrek with Mrs. Ray Pietrek as co-hostess. A report on consumer buying was presented by Mrs. Zig Glauneri and Mrs. Alan Hanson. Mrs. Richard Sobotta, health chairman, reported on health check-ups.

Mrs. Sam Kowahl, health chairman, gave a report on health check-ups when the Independence Homemakers met at the home of Mrs. Tom Pride. Mrs. Gerald McCaffrey, project leader, talked on "Wisconsin Laws Which Protect the Consumer." Plans were made for the Christmas party at Club Midway. Mrs. McCaffrey and Mrs. Pride served lunch.

Independence Homemakers are sponsoring a drive to solicit funds to help eliminate the causes of mental retardation and to help those already afflicted through basic and applied research programs. A house-to-house drive will be conducted Dec. 1. Members participating will be the Mmes. Tom Pride, Gerald McCaffrey, Rudy Smieja, Sam Kowahl, John Troug, Russ Knutson, Len Kern, Emil Sobotta, Richard Paske and Dennis Maule.

Young American Lies Wounded at Ia Drang 7 Days

PLEIKU, South Viet. Nam (AP)—A U.S. helicopter plucked a wounded American soldier from the Ia Drang Valley jungle today after he had hidden there for seven days from North Vietnamese troops.

Pfc. Toby Braveboy, 24, of Coward, S.C., underwent a 30-minute operation at a U.S. field hospital in Pleiku for multiple bullet wounds.

He was pronounced in satisfactory condition tonight.

Braveboy was gunned down during the ambush of the 7th Cavalry Regiment's 2nd Battalion early Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 17.

A scout helicopter was flying over the valley in the central highlands this afternoon when the crew saw a man waving his tee shirt.

They swooped down and picked him up.

Braveboy was wounded in the chest, arms and hands. Maj. Philip Warner of Los Angeles operated on him.

"Braveboy was quite dehydrated and emaciated," said Warner, "but his medical condition was good. The amazing thing about this from a medical point of view was that he was not in worse shape."

Warner refused to let newsmen interview the soldier.

"He needs a good night's sleep," the doctor said.

Braveboy gave Warner and his company commander, Capt. Joel Sugdinis of Cornwall Bridge, Conn., this account of his experience:

The North Vietnamese launched what the Carolinian thought was a company-sized assault against his small group of troops. He and his buddies were overrun.

Braveboy, wounded severely, played dead as a group of North Vietnamese soldiers came through the jungle toward them. Braveboy was splattered by blood when the Communists decapitated the soldier lying next to him.

Some time later, Braveboy's own life was saved by the compassion of a young North Vietnamese soldier. The Vietnamese came up and peered at him closely. Apparently thinking he might still be alive, he raised his rifle toward the wounded American.

Braveboy remembers raising his arm. The young Vietnamese lowered his rifle and walked off into the jungle.

Braveboy had nothing to eat during his long vigil in the jungle. But he got water from a stream near where he lay.

New Ridgeway School Now Ready for Use

Classes will open Monday at the newly finished Ridgeway Graded School for an enrollment estimated at nearly 100 pupils.

An open house will be held at the school sometime next month, according to Alton Blumentritt, Houston Rt. 1, board of education chairman for Independent School District 889.

Buses will transport students who have previously been distributed among three schools in the recently enlarged district. Classes have been held up to this week in Ridgeway, Cooper and Boynton schools.

Board members hope to sell the old buildings at auction possibly this fall, Blumentritt said. Land will revert to owners according to terms of deeds under which buildings occupied the sites.

The new six-grade school building will have four classrooms, office, nurse's room, kitchen and gymnasium-auditorium. The gym will double as a dining hall for noon lunches.

Staffing the new school will be Mrs. Blondell Stelflugh, grades 1 and 2; Mrs. Carl Stallknecht, grades 3 and 4, and Mrs. Ervin Romine, grades 5 and 6.

Occupation of the new building, originally planned for Oct. 1, was delayed when adverse weather in September set back the schedules of contractors working to finish the school.

where she shared a room with three girls.

Mrs. Karl Russell, who runs the house, said, "She is a very nice girl, a quiet one. She didn't seem to have any problems."

She said Miss Conway had asked her for a mop to help clean the room earlier in the day and she seemed entirely normal and composed.

According to the police account, the girl set herself afire in an area used partially as a parking lot on the campus. Several persons were nearby, loading luggage into their cars in preparation for the Thanksgiving holidays.

Two Farmers Honored By Root River SWCD

HOUSTON, Minn. — Two Houston County soil conservation farmers were honored here Monday evening at the annual meeting of the Root River Soil and Water Conservation District banquet.

They are Glenn and Donald Kinneberg, Spring Grove, and Mr. and Mrs. Verdane Heintz, Caledonia.

Kinneberg received the award for being the outstanding conservationist in the district during 1965, and Heintz for completing the most conservation work in his first year of conservation planning on his farm.

The KINNEBERGS farm 570 acres in Wilmington Township with 361 acres of cropland. They have one mile of diversion terraces and about 250 acres of stripped cropland. They have planted trees on the farm, have been working with conservation more than 20 years, and have a beef and dairy operation.

In his first year in conservation work Heintz completed strip cropping practices on 55 acres of cropland and received the Production Credit Association award. Heintz farms 265 acres in Sheldon Township, has 113 acres of cropland and is a dairy farmer.

Linda Leary, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Leary, district conservation queen, was honored. Joe Deufel, Caledonia, gave his winning conservation speech on "What is a Small Watershed and How May It Affect My Community?" He had the top senior speech in the county. It will be entered in the Southeastern Minnesota area contest.

The Houston Cross of Christ Lutheran Church women served the meal.

A wheelchair account of a safari in Africa was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Victor Rupp. He is superintendent at Caledonia High School. Rupp, who recently broke an ankle, took a temporary leave from the hospital to show the slides.

Ed Albrecht is chairman of the conservation board. Other members include Clarence Eikens, Caledonia; Kenneth Olson, Rushford; and Adolph Heimerdinger, Caledonia.

12 Dead in California's Flash Floods

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Saturated Southern California, plagued by flash floods in which at least 12 persons have died, braced today for a fresh storm expected to bring heavy downpours.

Rescue workers and cleanup crews feared new mud slides and torrents of water tonight and hoped for a respite Thursday, when only light rains were predicted.

In the heaviest November rains ever recorded in Southern California, flash floods in desert areas raked cars off highways and into washes and residents of hillside areas fought oozing mud as it inundated homes and yards.

The desert resort of Palm Springs, a winter mecca for smog-tired Los Angeles residents, was virtually isolated and cut in half by a flood that rushed down from the San Jacinto Mountains.

Witnesses said three persons were carried away in their cars and a man wading out to help was swept away in the torrent. Only one body was found; the others presumably drowned, authorities said.

Floods hit other areas in San Bernardino County between Los Angeles and San Bernardino, 60 miles east.

At rocky Cucamonga, Wash., a roaring flash flood caught a dozen cars and swept them half a block, tumbling over and over, some with their lights still burning.

Hal Malloy, 19, saw a man swept away in the flood, then lamented: "I was so close. He finally was able to get out of the car. He was hysterical, saying 'Help me, help me.' I got to within inches of him and the cable snapped. His body flew up and disappeared."

Rusk Finds Support for American Plan

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today he has found among hemisphere foreign ministers "a broad consensus on the desire to strengthen, rather than weaken, the inter-American system."

"There were some differences about details of procedure but a broad consensus has emerged," Rusk told a reporter as he prepared to leave the special Inter-American Conference here.

Rusk scheduled a two-hour stop at Asuncion to call on Paraguay's President Alfredo Stroessner before flying back to Washington tonight.

Here in Rio, Rusk and 18 Latin-American foreign ministers have been discussing ways to update the hemisphere system to meet changing political and economic needs. The two-week conference is to end Nov. 30.

Rusk said he expects the conference to conclude "with important results" even though proposals requiring amendment of the charter of the Organization of American States cannot be enacted until a follow-up conference empowered to make charter changes.

Rusk said he particularly welcomes what he termed general agreement that a foreign ministers' meeting should be held once a year instead of at five-year intervals as now specified in the OAS charter.

The highlight of Rusk's week here was his presentation of the U.S. position Monday — including a pledge by President Johnson of willingness to continue U.S. aid after the present Alliance for Progress ends in 1971, and a call on the American republics to consider earmarking forces for volunteer international use in emergencies.

With Rusk's departure, roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman takes over as chief of the U.S. delegation. With general speechmaking sessions finished, the conference started committee work to prepare recommendations.

No Talks Until U.S. Withdraws, Red Leader Says

TOKYO (AP) — North Viet Nam's President Ho Chi Minh has blasted speculation that the Communists might be willing to go to the negotiation table without a prior withdrawal of U.S. troops from Viet Nam.

The Communist leader in a letter to Dr. Linus Pauling Nov. 17, laid at rest the idea that this condition had been quietly dropped.

Though Ho did not in so many words say that U.S. withdrawal was a prior condition for talks, he said that the March 22 declaration of the Viet Cong's political agency, the National Front for Liberation, and North Viet Nam's own support for it were "the most correct way to a peaceful settlement of the Viet Nam problem."

Both these statements insisted the Americans must pull out before it would be possible to consider an international Geneva-style conference.

The New China news agency gave a full account in a Hanoi dispatch today of Ho's letter to Pauling, a Pasadena, Calif., chemist who has won Nobel prizes for chemistry and peace.

BILL MERRILL'S Something to Live by

Have you ever been around someone that just seemed to bubble with enthusiasm for his job, hobby, or life in general, and then said to yourself, "I wish I had what he has!" Well, maybe you can when you realize much of it is based on simple conviction.

Let me readily admit that some people seem to be enthusiastic by the virtues of their nature, not based on deep-seated feelings brought about by cause for enthusiasm. Being naturally enthusiastic can be an advantage, but it can be of little value if it isn't based on something with which it can be identified.

More often people that are lacking in enthusiasm are taking life for granted, not able to get motivated by their job, a salesman, or the preacher. They live in circumstances they have given little thought to. Such are they that lack in appreciation, who fail to vote, and bemoan the fact that to them, life is the same old thing day in and day out.

AT THIS POINT, one might hear the words, "And what is there to be enthusiastic about?" Merely to relate all the blessings we enjoy isn't the answer. It's more logical to help these emotionless souls to discover enthusiasm for themselves by teaching them the source, the true source of enthusiasm, and it can be expressed in one simple word — CONVICTION.

The enthusiastic Democrat, like the enthusiastic Republican, is usually a person of conviction, believing he is on the right track. The doctor, lawyer, or merchant that truly believes in his service or merchandise, whatever the case may be, has based that belief on the fact that he knows the worth of his product. He understands the platform if he's a good party member in the case of politics. The greatest of all enthusiasts I guess is the sports fan. Now do you think that his enthusiasm is without knowledge of the game? Most of these avid fans understand basically what's taking place.

NOW BACK to those that lack enthusiasm for their lot in life. Do you have a real knowledge of your job, and are you convinced that it serves a good purpose? If so, it will develop enthusiasm on your part. If you lack knowledge, there is little chance for conviction on a subject, and enthusiasm is bound to be lost in the shuffle.

Look about you. Find an enthusiast and talk to him about his favorite subject, and you will find he's loaded with information and delighted to share it with an interested listener. Now ask yourself, "Am I enthusiastic about my job, church, or life itself?" If the answer is "No," investigate your job, church, or life itself. Develop some convictions on these things, and you too will be enthusiastic.

will not bow down to the invaders," Ho said. "They have been fighting heroically against the U.S. aggressors and their henchmen and are scoring ever greater victories."

Saying the U.S. government had been "clamoring that it does not intend to expand the war and is ready to negotiate," Ho observed:

"The people of the world, including the American people, have come to realize more and more clearly that this is but deceitful talk on the part of the U.S. rulers, whose policy is to negotiate from a position of strength, to perpetrate ever more horrible massacres and cause ever greater devastation, in order to compel the Vietnamese people to lay down their arms and give up their legitimate aspirations."

25 years for murder from Madison County, Ill.

Printess R. Griffin, 26, serving three to five years from Cook County (Chicago) for armed robbery.

William E. Bassett, 26, serving 3 to 10 years from Wayne County for forgery.

Frye said a fifth man still was free in the prison and was being sought. But it was thought that he may have had no real part in the riot and may have taken the opportunity to hide.

Paul was stabbed in the heart and died almost immediately. Kiro and Wilson died later. Rohlifing, Bierman and Gross were dragged into the kitchen. Then the convicts piled bags of rice against the door.

About 25 inmates were in the kitchen, working on cooking and cleanup details. It was not known how many, if any, of them participated in the uprising. Randolph said some of the convicts in the kitchen had tended Gross' stab wounds by pressing wet towels on them.

Then the blood transfusion was permitted, and Gross was released. The convicts demanded two other guards in exchange for the injured Gross, but Frye refused. They let him go anyway.

Randolph settled down to talk the inmates out of killing the other two hostages and into surrendering. "I told them that they were being foolish, that their arguments were not worth much, and that I would guarantee that they would not be punished bodily if they would surrender," Randolph said. "They wanted me to guarantee that they would not be punished at all, but I wouldn't do that."

Randolph said the four men are mentally unstable.

"They are psychotic individuals; one of them is here for murder," he said. The rioters demanded to see a newsman to air their grievances, but none was admitted. Frye said some of the demands of the rioters included more radios, longer recreation periods in the afternoon and improvement of food and medical treatment — "Nothing to warrant a riot."

The four ringleaders agreed to leave the kitchen after having been assured they would get a meal and would not be harmed by guards in revenge. One inmate told newsmen that the four were afraid the guards outside the kitchen would try to avenge the killing of the three guards.

More than 1,000 inmates were in the dining hall when the riot started. Most of them hurried out, leaving their dinners of hamburger steaks, mashed potatoes and gravy half eaten. They went back to their cells. Frye said they did not want to get involved.

Huge Molar Tooth Found at Galesville

GALESVILLE, Wis. — A huge molar tooth — identified as being from a pre-historic mammoth — has been found by James Anderson, Dunn County farm management agent, on a farm owned by his father, Oscar Anderson, north of Galesville.

About a foot long, it weighs over 10 pounds. It was identified by Dr. John Foss, soils and geology professor at River Falls State University. Foss said it might be a stray tooth as mammoths sometimes lost a tooth and grew another one, or it may indicate the entire animal is buried in the silt.

DR. FOSS said the tooth may be from 10,000 to 30,000 years old, but based on the age of silts in the area, he estimated the age at between 15,000 and 20,000 years.

The professor said nothing like it has ever been found in unglaciated country. It's very uncommon to find anything like it in such driftless area as that which stretches west from Madison and from about Durand to southern Wisconsin.

Remains of mammoths have been found in quite a few areas around the globe but most of them were in peat bogs or along large rivers.

Anderson said he noticed one end of the tooth protruding from the ground in a pasture that had never been plowed. It was near the bottom of a side hill, at the edge of a woods, and became exposed through natural erosion.

Dr. Foss said the tooth probably was preserved because of the low acidity of the silt covering it. It is well preserved compared with others Dr. Foss has seen. He coated it with plastic to further preserve it.

THE HUGE mammoths stood up to 14 feet tall at the shoulder and roamed Europe, Siberia, Alaska and North America during the Pleistocene or ice age period. They were closely related to present day elephants and probably were vegetarians, Dr. Foss said.

Teeth from mammoths, Dr. Foss said, are distinguished by molars with cement filling spaces between ridges of enamel; ridges which have turned black and are chipped in some areas.

Anderson plans to give the tooth to the River Falls University agricultural science museum.

112 Pints Blood Collected During Galesville Stop

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special) — Galesville city and surrounding area donated 112 pints of blood Monday to the Red Cross bloodmobile.

Of the 124 donors registered, 12 were rejected. Eleven persons were walk-ins. Seventeen were brothers from Marynook Novitiate. There were 20 first-time donors. Six pints of blood were given for a specific recipient.

Receiving gallon pins were Mrs. Tilman Johnson, Mrs. Lyman Olson, Mrs. Maurice Meunier, the Rev. Vernon Hintermeyer, Lloyd Anderson, Henry Lovig and Herbert Lyon, all of Galesville, and Mrs. Ronald Johnson, Taylor. Mrs. Henry Grover, Galesville, received a two-gallon pin.

Mmes. Lu Twesme, Clarence Brown, E. P. Rohde, Virgil Baer, John Quinn and Arthur Kindschy were in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Robert Johnson was chairman of recruitment for Trempealeau. Mrs. Twesme was hostess and Mrs. Quinn registrar.

Registered nurses assisting the Red Cross nurses were Mmes. Ricardo Alvarez, Otto Riemer, Leon Sacia, Ray Emmons, Samuel Guthrie and L. S. Montgomery.

Drs. Ricardo Alvarez, C. B. Moen and E. P. Rohde assisted. The Lions Club handled properties.

The bloodmobile was in Galesville today.

KELLOGG, Minn. (Special) — Several Kellogg people are hospitalized. George Peterson, rural Kellogg, received a fractured hip when he slipped and fell in the hayloft while putting hay bales down the chute on the farm of his brother, Andrew, where he lives. He was taken to Community Memorial Hospital, Winona, where his leg was placed in traction. Patients at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Wabasha; Mrs. Mauritz Lindmark, who had major surgery Thursday; Mrs. Gustav Timm, who had major surgery Monday, and Mrs. John Eversman.

McDonnell Negotiators Reach Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiators hammered out a proposed strike settlement early today to resume production of spacecraft and war planes at McDonnell Aircraft Corp., then rushed back to St. Louis to seek approval from dissenting Machinists Union members.

Ratification of the proposed contract hangs on the vote of 17,000 striking members of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists. They meet at noon today.

Union Vice President Eugene Glover declined to predict whether the strikers would accept the contract proposal and resume work on Gemini space capsules and Phantom jet fighter planes for the war in Vietnam.

"Even the good Lord above would be hesitant to predict what people will do," said Chief Union Steward Thomas Stipes.

Company Vice President Robert Krone said he hoped for overwhelming approval.

But leaders of the dissenting faction in St. Louis claimed the support of 12,000 of the strikers in opposing Glover's negotiating team.

However, the rebel group canceled a scheduled mass protest meeting scheduled for an hour after the noon ratification vote.

"We members have no alternative but to hear the proposal," said Bruce McCarthy, spokesman for the dissenting group which earlier failed in a court effort to halt the Washington talks.

But considerable opposition appeared to remain among the rebel group.

One of the irritants was Glover's bow to federal pressure by sending 200 picketing machinists back to work at Cape Kennedy before the final agreement was reached.

McDonnell is prime contractor for the Gemini space program and the strike had threatened to delay next month's scheduled launching to orbit a pair of two-man Gemini spacecraft in close formation.

A vote to reject the proposed contract presumably could jeopardize again the scheduled Dec. 4 and Dec. 13 Gemini launchings.

No details of the contract proposal were announced in Washington. Glover said he wanted the union members to hear them first. He declined to say whether he would recommend approval, but added it was the kind of agreement the negotiating team felt it could present to the union membership for a vote.

Dr. Matzke Set For Lectures

Dr. Howard Matzke, a native of Winona, now chairman of the University of Kansas medical center anatomy department, will deliver lectures in neuroanatomy at the three Winona colleges.

Through arrangements with the St. Mary's College biology department and in cooperation with the NIH Neuroanatomists Visiting Scientists Program, Dr. Matzke will appear before students at St. Mary's College Monday and again Tuesday morning, at Winona State College Tuesday afternoon and at the College of Saint Teresa Tuesday evening and Wednesday morning. He also will conduct group and individual conferences.

Dr. Matzke was graduated from St. Mary's College in 1941. He earned his master's degree from St. Louis University in zoology and his doctorate in botany from the University of Minnesota.

Dr. Matzke has spent 18 months in Africa lecturing and researching. His research involved the neuroanatomical systems of living primates. This study attempts to understand the physical structure of the brain in relation to the nervous system of the body.

In his lectures here, Matzke will center on "Tetanus Toxin

U.S. Taking Look at 'Two China' Policy

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U. S. officials are reportedly taking a careful look at the possibility of switching to a "two-Chinas" policy because of the growing movement to seat Red China in the United Nations.

One authoritative U. S. source has suggested that an alternative will have to be found by next fall to the 16-year-old policy of trying to keep the door shut to Peking. This source added that the seating of both Red China and the Nationalists might be the only practical course for the United States.

It is generally conceded at the United Nations that the Chinese Communists have been barred for the last time. The General Assembly voted 47-47 on the question last week and the Peking trend is expected to continue. It is also doubtful if the United States will be able to win enough support next year to require that Red China's supporters muster a two-thirds majority to get Peking admitted.

The question now is no longer how to keep the Peking government out, diplomats say, but what to do about the Nationalist government which rules 12 million people on Formosa. Some delegates have been trying to launch a two-Chinas movement for several years but without success.

The idea is that the Peking government, representing the huge mainland population, would be given the seat now held by the Nationalists and that Formosa would be admitted as a new member.

The main obstacles so far have been the substantial opposition to seating Peking and the rejection of the two-Chinas concept by both Peking and Taipei.

Since Red China says it won't join the United Nations unless the Nationalists are expelled, the United States and other backers of Chiang Kai-shek's regime may be faced next year with the problem of preventing the expulsion of the Taipei government. This apparently is causing a number of countries to re-examine their policies.

U. S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg recently pointed out that Formosa has a larger population than 85 of the world organization's 117 members. He said it would be a violation of the idea of universality to expel such a government.

Librarian Hired In 1924 Retiring

SEDGWICK, Kan. (AP) — Lillian Tear is quitting next Tuesday as librarian in this town of 1,180.

"I was just a housewife," she says. "They needed someone to run the library, so I took it. It has never been a job. It has been an opportunity to help. I've loved every minute of it. In fact, I served without pay the first 17 years."

The day they picked Mrs. Tear as librarian was in 1924. She will be 80 on Dec. 17.

NASON ON EDUCATION

How to Assess School Progress

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
University of Southern Calif.

Tests to determine the progress of education are being developed in cooperation with the U. S. Office of Education and the Carnegie Foundation.

The aim is laudable. We need to know whether or not we are making progress in the development of our schools.

However, if this attempt to assess the progress of education develops into a national testing program, it will create enormous pressures on school boards, school administrators, classroom teachers and, worst of all, for the children.

Comparisons are bound to be made. Schools where the majority of youngsters are of superior ability would show up well. Most of their students are college-bound and have experience in test-taking.

It would be unfair to force all schools into this pattern. In neighborhoods where children need more than the usual amount of practice in the use of English, the children are best served when less time is given to testing.

THE ASSESSMENT of the progress of education cannot be made through a single test of student proficiency. Each school must be judged on the progress of its pupils considering their particular backgrounds, goals and needs.

Progress in education should be judged on how well we provide equal opportunities for every child to gain an education comparable with his ability to accept it. Progress will be made in direct ratio to our increased understanding of how pupils learn and our ability to assist them in learning to learn.

We already have one nationwide test of our educational efficiency as to minimum desirable results. Testing of draftees for military service is a national testing program.

General Hershey, Director of Selective Service, states that during the last fiscal year 134,000 young men were rejected. Not all of the rejections were for lack of minimum competency in the three R's. Physical fitness and moral conduct played major roles.

HOWEVER, HEALTH and good citizenship are stated goals of our educational system; consequently, the failure of so many young men to qualify for military service represents a primary failure of our schools.

Reasons for this failure are many and complex. However, it is certainly obvious that the schools which the rejects attended did not provide the type of training or, perhaps, the individual help that would have enabled these youngsters to succeed rather than fail.

A reduction in the percentage of rejects would thus be some measure of progress in education.

Assessment of progress at the other end of the scale could be

Clouds Hamper Hunt for Plane

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Cloudy skies hampered search efforts in Utah today for a twin-engine Beechcraft Travelaire with four Minnesotans aboard. The plane disappeared nine days ago on a flight from Los Angeles to Salt Lake City. It was last reported over Milford in west central Utah.

A snowfall of eight inches on the ground and more in the mountains was reported in central and southern Utah today. The clouds also prevented large-scale air search efforts, and hampered ground efforts, too.

Aboard the plane were Herm Hemker, 26, the pilot; Mrs. Jane Reeves, 52, and University of Minnesota coeds Nancy Delau, 26, and Mary Klessig, 19—all from Minneapolis.

Keep a set of round-bowl fractional measuring spoons in your kitchen—you'll find them useful. For example, the 1-teaspoon size may be used for making melon balls instead of a regular melon-ball cutter; the tablespoon size does a good job when you are making "drop" cookies.

Oil Pressure On Rhodesia Is Increased

LONDON (AP) — Economic pressure on rebel Rhodesia tightened Tuesday as more countries heeded the U. N. call for an oil embargo against the breakaway British colony.

Among them were Iran, which provides the bulk of Rhodesia's oil supply, and Japan. But Prime Minister Harold Wilson and his cabinet were understood to regard an oil ban as being far from a decisive weapon against the rebel government of Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith.

Government sources said Rhodesia could obtain oil from South Africa or from Portugal. Both countries have declared themselves behind Smith's regime and will not join the ban. Reports from South Africa said that Smith arranged to buy oil from Portugal three months ago.

Oil industry sources in Rhodesia said the embargo would be difficult and costly to maintain. Britain suspended all trade with Rhodesia Nov. 11 when Smith's white minority government declared 'itself independent. Independence talks with Britain broke down over British insistence that Rhodesia's four million Africans be given a voice in the government.

The British move cost Rhodesia the principal market for its tobacco crop. Other countries, including most of the Commonwealth, Sweden, Japan and the United States joined Britain.

U.S. Grand Jury To Probe Hurley Racketeering

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A federal grand jury investigation into alleged racketeering in Hurley, Wis., will be launched in a week, U.S. Atty. Edmund A. Nix said Tuesday night.

Nix said the probe would center on possible violations of a federal law passed in 1961 to combat syndicated vice, gambling and extortion.

Nix said subpoenas have been issued for Nov. 30 and Dec. 1 and 2.

The panel was summoned after an investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

"We think we have some rather serious complaints," said Nix, who declined to be more specific.

Hurley, where the state has long been fighting prostitution, has been investigated before both by Wisconsin and U.S. law enforcement agencies.

In 1963, a U.S. Senate subcommittee charged that an entertainment union conspired with owners of some of Hurley's night spots to bring Canadian girls to Wisconsin for prostitution.

Hurley and Iron County officials said at the time that if prostitution existed in the area they were not informed of it. They maintained that federal investigators never notified them of any alleged violations.

The grand jury hearings will be in secret in accordance with federal law.

Municipal Court

WINONA

Arthur T. Huebner, 18, 479 W. Mark St., pleaded guilty today in municipal court to a charge of driving with improper mufflers at 3rd and Main streets Monday at 2:23 a.m. He paid a $15 fine imposed by Judge John D. McGill as the alternative to five days in jail.

Forfeitures: Gerald F. Holliday, 858½ E. 4th St., $15 on a charge of driving with no valid driver's license Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. at East 3rd and Carmona streets.

Peter K. Kirkham, 19, 264 E. 4th St., $10 on a charge of parking too close to a fire hydrant at West 3rd and Winona streets Tuesday at 1:55 p.m.

Fined at Wabasha

WABASHA, Minn. (Special)

Dale Romo, 18, Pine Island, pleaded guilty to improper parking and no parking lights and paid a $15 fine on each count in the court of Municipal Judge Kenneth Kalbrenner Tuesday.

At 12:45 a.m. Saturday Richard Walker, 17, Zumbro Falls, was proceeding on a township road three miles from Mazeppa. As he came around a curve Romo's car was parked in the center without lights. Walker struck the left rear of Romo's car. Ruberta Ramthan, who was in the car, was taken to the Zumbro hospital.

Consumers and Government Step Up Spending Plans

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Both consumers and the government are stepping up spending plans and taking over the role of economy-nugger that tax cuts played in months past.

This helps lift some of the worry that was felt earlier when the effects of the tax cuts were wearing off. Economy pushers began to look around for something else with which to keep the pace from slackening.

Now things are changing again. Intentions of buying big ticket items are reported considerably more widespread among the public this fall than a year ago or even earlier this year. This means that the consumers will be pouring more money into the economy where the effect is most quickly felt — at the retail level.

The U.S. Treasury also is now pouring money into the economy at a faster rate than it's taking it out. Earlier in the year the unexpected rise in tax collections kept the Treasury's cash books in the black. This fall they're moving back into the red.

This means that government money is going to industry for goods and services, and to the states, institutions and individuals faster than the Treasury is getting money back through tax collections at this season of the year. This outpouring is classified as a spur to the economy.

Industry also is doing its bit in making everything bigger and better. Its expansion plans grow steadily. Its high rate of operations makes larger markets for raw materials, more jobs, more sales, more profits — and more borrowing.

The job increase, and wage increases, seem to be working on consumer psychology. The Commerce Department reports a survey of consumer planning a month ago showed more people convinced their incomes would rise than were found in a July opinion sampling.

This apparently led more to say this October they expected to buy new cars, appliances, television sets, and other household big ticket items than were found with such intentions either in July or a year ago.

Increased government spending comes from many sides. The biggest boost is for the items needed to outfit and maintain a growing military force in Viet Nam.

One big drain on the U.S. Treasury in recent weeks was the lump sum poured out in retroactive Social Security payment hikes. But the Treasury will have a reverse problem after the first of the year. While regular Social Security payments will stay higher, Treasury collections will rise. Both the workers and the employer will be paying in more — the year's collection by the Treasury for this pension and insurance plan is expected to rise by $5 billion next year.

Farmer Purchases St. Charles Dairy

ST. CHARLES, Minn. (Special) — Stanley Harcey, farmer southeast of St. Charles, has purchased Smith Dairy here from Victor Bohnen and will take possession next Wednesday.

Harcey said he plans to keep the same personnel. Bohnen acquired the business from Archie Younker, who will continue as manager for the time being.

Women's Wear Daily Flays Meg's Skirts

NEW YORK (AP) — Women's Wear Daily, the largest fashion newspaper in America, says the styles of Princess Margaret's travel wardrobe are "too old and too matronly...skirts a bit too long."

"The hats, scaled way too large and (are) so old-fashioned, so fussy," said an article in Tuesday's paper.

"The accessories...too big, too bulky, too outdated."

The paper reprimanded Margaret for wearing cotton print sundresses in the country with pearls and a town handbag.

Her high heels are too high, the fashion paper said, and "why such satchels for handbags when you've got a lady-in-waiting?"

"That fur coat...motheaten, ratty...it just has to go."

No Further Word On Arcadia Death

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special) — The Arcadia couple whose son died in Viet Nam Saturday of stomach and facial wounds received from friendly fire, had received no further word this morning from the U.S. Army.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest P. Johnson were told by telegram from the adjutant general, Washington, that a representative of the 5th U.S. Army would call and offer assistance.

THEIR SON, Ronald P. Johnson

21, died Saturday, the day they received a telegram saying that he had been wounded Friday while on a search and destroy mission in rainy and dark weather.

The telegram reporting his death arrived at the Johnson home Monday at 4:30 p.m.

Ronald was a quiet boy, his mother said. He wasn't planning to make the Army his career; his term would have expired next June.

Ronald never gave his parents any trouble, his mother said. He never asked for money. During his senior year at Arcadia High School — he graduated in 1963 — he worked part time on the night shift at Arcadia Industries, Inc.

One of his teachers described him as "very likable and personable." He was an average student.

MRS. JOHNSON said this morning nearly all Ronald's personal belongings had been sent to her from Fort Carson, Colo., where he was stationed until leaving for Viet Nam in September.

Ronald P. Johnson

Mrs. Johnson, who was a dental assistant with the British Royal Air Force when she and Mr. Johnson were married in London, England, in May 1942, is a native of Kilmarnock, Scotland. Ronald was born in London, where Johnson was stationed with the military police.

The American Red Cross has been asked to send a message to Ronald's brother, Michael, in the U.S. Navy aboard the USS America, an aircraft carrier, but no word has been received from him.

Ronald was the fourth death from this area in Viet Nam since the war accelerated last spring. All have occurred since July.

Army Maj. Gen. James B. Lampert, grandson of a late Wisconsin congressman, will take over the newly created defense office about Jan. 1, presidential Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers announced.

Lampert was given a recess appointment as a lieutenant general in his new post. The appointment will require Senate confirmation.

Named to succeed Lampert at West Point was Brig. Gen. Donald D. Bennett, currently director of strategic plans and policy in the office of the deputy Army chief of staff.

Lampert was born in Oshkosh, Wis. He and his father, James, who died in France during World War I, were both graduated from West Point.

Ike to Have Family in for Holiday Dinner

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has suffered no ill effects from his train trip to Washington and will have a turkey dinner at the hospital Thursday with his immediate family. He may be home for Christmas.

A Walter Reed Army Hospital spokesman said today "Gen. Eisenhower is on a regular diet. A progressive increase in his activities, now limited to sitting up in a chair periodically, is planned over the next week."

The 75-year-old five-star general, who suffered a heart attack 15 days ago in Georgia, was examined Tuesday night and his respiration, blood pressure and pulse remain stable, the hospital said.

Lt. Col. E. J. Costello, chief of public information for the hospital, said "anticoagulant therapy will be continued as will medication to control the heart rhythm."

Costello said Eisenhower is in good spirits and already has sat up in a chair in his VIP hospital suite. He said the chair sitting is periodic.

Eisenhower was brought to Washington Tuesday from Ft. Gordon, Ga., by train and transferred to Walter Reed by helicopter, ambulance, and wheel chair.

Dr. Thomas W. Mattingly says indications are that his patient will be able to walk around in about two weeks.

Walter Matthau Makes Good on 35th Big Break

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"They say that all you need in show biz is one good break," growled Walter Matthau. "I've had 35."

The first 34 made him one of the most serviceable character actors in plays, films and television. The 35th seems to have made him a star.

The one big break of Matthau's career was "The Odd Couple," the Neal Simon comedy which exploded on Broadway late last season. The play in which Matthau and Art Carney costarred as wildly incompatible apartment mates whose wives had left them, sparked what appeared to be a Walter Matthau appreciation drive.

"Don't ask me to explain it," said the actor. "I've starred in 20 plays, and nothing like this happened before. Everything seemed to fall in place. Even without having a personal press agent, the publicity poured in."

For Matthau, the harvest of "The Odd Couple" was four movie scripts with starring roles.

"I sent them all back," he said. "Then Billy Wilder said he wanted me for a picture, but he hadn't written it yet. I said I'd do it."

The Wilder film turned out to be "The Fortune Cookie," for which Matthau took a leave of absence from "The Odd Couple." He plays Jack Lemmon's brother-in-law, an opportunist lawyer who makes the most of a minor injury Lemmon receives while photographing a Cleveland Browns football game.

Matthau—he pronounces it Math-ow—was also offered television series in the wake of "The Odd Couple."

"I could no doubt make about five billion dollars if I took one," he observed, "but that would mean doing piecemeal. That's why I left the factory; to get away from piecemeal."

It was an electroplating factory on Long Island, and he was employed to dip handbag frames, wearing maskers so he wouldn't get electrocuted. Matthau felt there were greater challenges for him, especially after appearing in every settlement-house play he could find.

Matthau is a native New Yorker, a shambling man of 42 years, with a leathery, sardonic voice.

Stocks Move Upward in Heavy Trade

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market churned higher in heavy trading early this afternoon. Aerospace defense issues, airlines and selected electronics moved ahead sharply in a resumption of Tuesday's rally.

There was considerable lagging among some influential blue chips, however. Du Pont dropped more than 2 and General Electric 1.

Steels rose fractionally and rails moved nicely ahead on balance but big three motors were all down.

The net result was a slight gain on balance.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .3 to 352.8 with industrials off .8, rails up 1.4 and utilities off .1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 28 at 948.66, dampened by the sharp losses in some stocks.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index, though, was ahead .04 at 91.82, giving a broader representation of the over-all market.

Prices were generally higher in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mostly unchanged in light trading. U.S. Treasury bonds rose.

Difference for State? 'Pressure'

The question hung there: What is the difference between last year and this year?

Winona State Coach Dr. Robert Campbell answered it by striking to the back of the Memorial Hall coaching room and pointing at a sign. He hammered at the word "PRESSURE" with his finger nail.

"That's the difference right there," he said. "The big difference!"

He had to be right, of course. The Warriors put the offensive and defensive pressure on a Stevens Point team that had wiped them out by 31 points last year and scored an overwhelming 91-75 victory in their Tuesday night opener.

On that sign at which Campbell was pointing were many messages. For instance, it told you how to put the pressure on both offensively and defensively and finished by throwing in such words as determination, desire, pride, guts, confidence and teamwork. Underneath, in both script, was written: "PRESSURE WILL WIN GAMES."

And such was the case as the Warriors breezed away from a 37-36 halftime deficit, cracking the game behind its pressing defense and pushing up the point total with an attack that measured field goals on 20 of 32 attempts for a 62.5 percentage.

But still you wondered whether the home court and the absence of Point's leading scorer of two years ago, Jerry Lawetzki who pulled a muscle a week ago, were contributing factors.

That was cleared up by the Stevens Point scorer: "Heck, we could have used three Lawetzkis and played at home and it wouldn't have made any difference."

And then there was Campbell, as happy as anyone has seen him after any win.

"I was as excited about this game as I've ever been about a game," he assessed. "All day I was excited — and just because I thought we could do this."

He later was to call it one of the greatest efforts the Warriors have put out for him in five years.

Page 20 Wednesday, November 24, 1965

"We've had flashes of this in practice," Campbell analyzed, "but I don't think we really had convinced ourselves that we could be that aggressive — could really keep the pressure on."

Obviously the Warriors now know they can. And it is likely to be a quietly assured group that boards the bus Saturday for the trip to Oshkosh, Wis., and, for them, the season's second game.

But let's bask in the glow of that satisfying victory first. Tossing out the first half as a matter of fundamental adjustment, we'll go to the second 20 minutes.

The Warriors quickly drew even on Gary Petersen's free throw and jumped ahead as "Big Gar" counted on a short jumper.

It stayed a contest at 41-41. Then Tim Anderson belted down three points on a driving jumper and a free throw. Point retaliated weakly on Howie Ochs' free throw. It then stood 45-42.

Bang! Petersen hit two driving shots — the second may have been the key. He then stashed away another on one of his exclusive moves to run it to 51-42 with 15:30 left.

From there, the Warrior press took over, forcing a now scrambling Stevens Point team into repeated errors that heap-

JOHN NETT
Eyes Tough Opener

Hawks, Cotter Eye Key Bouts

Both Winona High's John Kenney and Cotter's John Nett are somewhat afraid of their teams' weekend contests.

The Hawks host a tall Minneapolis Roosevelt team at the high school auditorium Friday night and Cotter takes on perennially strong Minneapolis De La Salle at the same site Saturday night.

Both games will be preceded by "B" squad contests. Varsity matches are scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock.

Kenney might be contemplating a change at one guard spot, but he preferred to wait until Friday to make a decision. His front line of 6-6 Paul Plachecki, 6-5 Larry Larson and 6-1 Gary Addington will remain intact.

As for Roosevelt, Kenney says, "We expect them to have pretty good height, a lot of fine outside shooting, good rebounding and some sort of zone press."

What all that adds up to is the fact that the Hawks will be confronted by a tough non-conference battle before swinging into league play at home against Owatonna Dec. 3.

"This has to be the big one," said the coach. "The one we need to set us up for the conference."

Winona High will go to no tricks for Roosevelt. The formula will be to play it straight.

At Cotter, although nothing is definite and won't be until after Friday's practice, the tendency is to go with the lettermen.

If that is the case, Nett will start 6-6 Mike Twomey at center and 5-11 Chuck Kulas and 6-5 Dave Fellow-ski at forwards. The guards will be 6-4 Jim Holmoy and 5-10 Bob Allaire.

"We have been awfully inconsistent," reported Nett. "Of course, it's tough going so early in the season."

Nett most likely will use mainly his seniors in the first contest, stating the juniors — with the exception of Twomey — are not yet ready.

About De La Salle? "They (the Islanders) have Tom Innot, their hot shot scorer, and Mark Reiger back. It should be a fine test. De La Salle is always pretty good. They are tough even when down . . . and we don't expect them to be down this year. You know, its 'B' squad was unbeaten last year."

The city's collegiate teams will hit the battle-front shortly. Winona State is scheduled to make its second start at Oshkosh, Wis., Saturday night while Thanksgiving Day used to be a big day for college football. These days there is only a scattering of traditional games as evidenced by the lean national program Thursday.

In the past, the Cornell-Penn clash at Franklin Field in Philadelphia was a national headliner. This year it is just a traditional Ivy League set-to while the Nebraska-Oklahoma clash at Lincoln takes over the national spotlight. It can be seen on national television, NBC, starting at 1:45 p.m., EST.

The unbeaten, untied Nebraska Cornhuskers, third-ranked nationally behind Michigan State and Arkansas, will be after their 10th straight victory for their first undefeated season in half a century.

A victory over Oklahoma also would give the Cornhuskers their third straight Big Eight crown to carry into the Orange Bowl against Alabama on New Year's night.

Traditional rivalry also is at stake in the Texas at Texas A&M game and in the Virginia Tech vs. Virginia Military clash at Roanoke.

Colorado State U. is at Tulsa in another Turkey Day encounter. Thursday night Bucknell and Davidson play at Charlotte, N.C.

CAGEY TWIST . . . Winona State's Jim Kasten and Stevens Point's Doug Johnson seem to be engaged in some kind of wild twist as Kasten moves for the ball in the game Tuesday night. At back is Winona State's Tim Anderson and Stevens Point's Vic Koppang. (Daily News Sports Photo)

MUST MEAN SHE FLIPPED WELL

Irish Whisky for Mary

NEW YORK (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings today were seventh in the revised order for the first round in the annual National Football League draft Saturday.

The NFL announced this order:

Atlanta, Los Angeles, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Dallas, Washington, Minnesota, St. Louis, Detroit, New York, San Francisco, Chicago, Green Bay, Cleveland, Baltimore and Atlanta, which gets an extra choice for the first five rounds only.

All teams except Detroit have retained their top draft choice. Green Bay holds the Lions' No. 1 spot.

A flip of the coin in NFL offices Monday put the Vikings ahead of all four other teams which are tied with Minnesota with 5-5 records. The others are St. Louis, Detroit, New York and San Francisco.

In Minneapolis - St. Paul, however, Vikings Coach Norm Van Brocklin gave some hint of the outcome Tuesday.

Speaking before a fan club meeting, the coach said:

"The league had a girl in its office representing each team in the coin flip."

"A girl named Mary Kavanaugh was the lucky one. I'm so happy with her I may send her a bottle of Irish whisky for Christmas."

No matter in what position they draft, the Vikings will probably pick players by ability rather than position.

General Manager Jim Finks declined to go into any specifics on Viking plans, but he said: "I think a rule that most clubs use is to take the best football players on the board when your turn comes up, especially in the early rounds."

"After that, you can draw for your particular needs. On those first few guys, you've got to be pretty darned sure you're getting players who can play for you."

Finks was equally non-committal about how the Vikings rate area players. "I won't tell you where we rate Minnesota's Aaron Brown, but I can tell you he is rated highly by some of the clubs."

"In this part of the country, he is the most obvious one. But I would say there is a possibility that we could come up with a boy of Dave Osborn's caliber from this region."

The Vikings will get a lot of chances to draft a boy of Osborn's caliber come Saturday.

Can Colts Build Skein To 9 Wins?

DETROIT (AP) — League-leading Baltimore, riding on the crest of an eight-game winning streak, can take a giant step toward another Western Conference title against the injury-riddled Detroit Lions Thursday.

It marks the first Thanksgiving Day battle ever for the Colts, who can mathematically eliminate all teams but Green Bay and Chicago with a win or a tie against the Lions.

The game is the 26th holiday tussle for the Lions, who hold a slim 13-11-1 edge.

The game, which will be televised nationally, is scheduled to start at 12:15 p.m., EST.

The previous games have attracted 932,938 fans and the Lions will honor the one-millionth fan to attend the Turkey Day classic.

The Colts clobbered the Lions 31-7 more than six weeks ago for one of the most one-sided losses suffered by the Lions in a 5-5 season.

The Lions will play two of their remaining three games on the road. The Colts play two of their remaining three games at home — against Green Bay and Chicago.

Defense, Lack Of Firepower Costing Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — A continuing problem at defense and a lack of firepower have prevented the Detroit Red Wings from moving into a contending position in the National Hockey League.

Chicago, bunching all its goals in the second period — two of them in a 29-second span, edged the defending regular season champions 3-2 in the only game played Tuesday night.

"We seem to find more ways to lose games," said Gordie Howe, who failed for the fourth straight game to notch his 600th regular season goal.

Red Hay's tally at 11:06 of the second period, while the Black Hawks were playing a man short, proved to be the winning goal.

The victory snapped a four-game Chicago winless streak and moved it into a tie for first place with Montreal, which plays at Toronto tonight. Boston is at New York in the other game.

TUESDAY'S RESULTS

Kasson-Mantorville 66, St. Charles 62
Kenyon 67, Lake City 52
Cannon Falls 61, Plainview 45
Stewartville 54, Zumbrota 49

Lake City has suffered at least a temporary setback in its chase for a second consecutive Hiawatha Valley Conference title.

The Tigers ran into trouble on their home court Tuesday night, falling before Kenyon's Vikings by the score of 67-52.

Kenyon is a team mentioned strongly in the coaches' annual title predictions.

In other games, Kasson-Mantorville, Cannon Falls and Stewartville all made fast starts.

The Ko-Mets dumped St. Charles 66-62. Cannon Falls won over Plainview 61-45 and Stewartville topped Zumbrota 54-49.

STEWARTVILLE 54 ZUMBROTA 49. Stewartville led all the way, but had to fight off a determined Zumbrota rally to score a 54-49 victory.

The Tigers built quarter advantages of 9-7, 23-16 and 36-25 before settling for the five-point victory.

For the winners, Mike Klomp totaled 14 points and Steve Mount 12. Dennis Steffen got 10 for Zumbrota.

CANNON FALLS 61 PLAINVIEW 45. Cannon Falls opened up the conference season by slamming Plainview 61-45.

The winners snatched an early lead and stayed ahead throughout the game.

At the end of the first quarter it was 16-6, at the half, 35-14, and at the end of the third quarter, 38-26.

In double figures for Cannon Falls were Nick Gody with 20 points, Jim Althoff with 15 and Steve Lovan with 13.

For Plainview, Dean Harrington tallied 13.

KENYON 67 LAKE CITY 52. Kenyon nipped the conference champion of last year — Lake City 67-52.

The Vikings led the Tigers all the way, 15-4, 27-19 and 49-31 at the quarter breaks.

In double figures for the winners were Jim Kinseth with 23, Steve Strandemo with 19 and Jeff Albright with 12.

For Lake City Jim Abraham totaled 18 and Steve Haase dumped in 15.

KASSON-MANTORVILLE 66 ST. CHARLES 62. Kasson-Mantorville opened the conference season by downing St. Charles 66-62 in a tight game. The Saints led until two minutes remained in the fourth quarter.

At the end of the first period it was 19-15 for St. Charles. They were on top at the half it was 37-33 and at the end of the quarter it was 41-39.

In double figures for the Ko-Mets were Tom Brekke with 16, Butch Gladden with 12, Tom O'Brien with 10 and Dan Buegler with 10.

For the Saints Bob Eckles led with 13. Keith Wilson had 12, Dick Wilson 11 and Gary Connaughty 10.

Ole Miss Coach Johnny Vaught has won six Southeastern Conference football titles.

Loretto In 83-25 Win, Burros Cop

Caledonia and Lanesboro scored non-conference victories Tuesday night.

Loretto had no trouble in battering North Winneshiek 83-25. Lanesboro had a bit more trouble, but wound up topping Mabel 53-48.

MABEL 48

A fourth-quarter rally turned the tide for Lanesboro as the Burros posted a 53-48 non-conference victory over Mabel.

After a 6-6 first-quarter tie, Mabel took a 23-18 halftime lead and stayed in front at 35-33 at the end of three.

Brian Garner paced three double-figure scorers for Lanesboro. He got 14. Paul Holtan tallied 13 and Steve Rein 10. Dale Garness and Kim Loftsgarden totaled 10 each for Mabel.

Lanesboro took a narrow 28-26 preliminary victory. CALEDONIA LORETTO 83 NORTH WINNESHIK 25 Caledonia Loretto bombed North Winneshiek 83-25.

It was Caledonia all the way with quarter scores of 27-5, 47-7 and 58-17.

In the double figures for Loretto were Joe Tolleson with 12, Gary Pellowski Gary Conway and Joe Gaspard each with 10.

For North Winneshiek Roger Bently tossed in 11 counters. In the "B" Game Loretto also won, this time by 41-19.

Root River Debuts With Two Contests

In the area tonight the Root River Conference schools make their league debut. Spring Grove will battle at Peterson and La Crescent plays at Canton.

On the non-conference schedule Minneapolis South plays at Austin. Minneapolis West at Rochester. Alma visits Wabasha. St. Felix and Minneapolis Roosevelt plays at Highland Park.

Friday basketball will feature the remaining Root River teams — Houston at Rushford and Mabel at Caledonia.

The Wasioja Conference will open Friday with Byron battling at West Concord, Wanamingo at Pine Island and Hayfield journeying to Dover-Eyota.

AND WINNER OF HEISMAN AWARD

Garrett: Fine Gentleman

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When it was announced that Southern California halfback Mike Garrett had won the Heisman Award, USC Athletic Director Jess Hill said:

"He is one of the finest gentlemen ever to play at USC."

Garrett, named Tuesday as the season's best college football player, has been a team leader since his high school days at Roosevelt in Los Angeles and has won the respect of teammates and opponents alike.

USC Coach John McKay said: "I've said a lot about this boy, but I can't say too much. He's the best I've ever seen and the best boy I've ever been associated with. This award is richly deserved."

Garrett is a 21-year-old sociology major who has already begun to help youngsters. Last summer he ran a football clinic for the Recreation Department of Culver City, Calif.

Stocky at 5-foot-9, 190 pounds, Garrett has speed and balance, but Pitt safetyman Mickey Depp expressed the USC star's success, saying:

"His determination and courage get him an awful lot of yardage."

This season Garrett's yardage — 1,328 on 243 carries — is good enough to lead major college rushers, and he has one game remaining, a home contest Saturday against Wyoming.

In his career he has set five school records and three in the Pacific Athletic Conference. And 58 yards in his final game will give Garrett the all-time career record, surpassing the 3,166 gained by Ollie Matson in 1949-51 at San Francisco.

At a news conference Tuesday, Garrett said: "I can thank about 6,000 people for this award. I want to thank my teammates, the coaches and everybody."

He then expressed his disappointment that the Trojans did not make the Rose Bowl this year.

Garrett, asked about the possibility of professional football, replied: "I was concentrating so much on this season I haven't really thought about pro ball. I think I could make it, but I really don't know what my plans are."

Garrett, his parents, Coach McKay and USC President Norman Topping will go to New York next Wednesday for presentation of the award Thursday at the Downtown Athletic Club.

Gale-Etrick led at the end of the first quarter 14-13. At the half West Salem was on top 30-23. At the end of the third period it was tied 43-43.

High point man for West Salem was Harry Griswold with 18 points. For Gale-Etrick Duane Byom tossed in 16.

Chargers Favored by Touchdown

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The Buffalo Bills have qualified for the title of superior "mudgers" but the San Diego Chargers are favored by a touchdown in the annual Thanksgiving Day clash of the American Football League's powerhouses here.

The nationally televised game between the Bills, 8-2, and the Chargers, 6-2-2, could be a preview of the AFL title match.

The game will be played in 34,000-seat Balboa Stadium, which should be filled unless rains continue to plague the area. The turf has been saturated with rainfall beyond the point of drying out in time.

A "mudder" is a football player who likes to play in the mud — and the Bills, even if they don't enjoy the goo, have a 4-0 record on the road this year — all played in the rain. They've won all but one of their last 13 road games.

A year ago, the Bills triumphed in a 27-24 thriller when Pete Gogolak booted a last-minute field goal. The Bills went on to win the title by defeating San Diego 20-7.

The Chargers avenged that by clobbering the Bills 34-3 last Oct. 10 in Buffalo.

Buffalo, leading New York by 3½ games, is a cinch to wrap up another Eastern Division title. The Chargers must protect a one-game lead over Oakland in the West. San Diego has lost two of its last three games.

Guy Rodgers—New Gun in West

NEW YORK (AP) — The newest gun in the West — that's Guy Rodgers, whose blazing shooting has the San Francisco Warriors riding high in the National Basketball Association's Western Division.

Rodgers, an eight-year veteran who has spent most of his career like any respectable 6-foot-9 in the NBA would — feeding bigger men for baskets — continued his sudden spurge against New York Tuesday night, scoring 45 points as the Warriors overcame the Knicks 134-125.

In the first game of the Madison Square Garden doubleheader, only action in the NBA Tuesday night, Detroit stood off a Cincinnati rally and snapped a nine-game losing streak by hanging on for a 118-115 victory over the Royals.

Brown Cops All-Big Ten On Defense

CHICAGO (AP) — Minnesota's End Aaron Brown has been named to the Associated Press All Big Ten football team and tackle Gale Gillingham, guard Paul Faust, and defensive halfback Tom Sakal to the second team.

Minnesota quarterback John Hankinson, who broke several school passing records and finished four yards behind the conference leader in total offense, received honorable mention.

The team, announced Tuesday, contained three unanimous selections: Illinois fullback Jim Grabowski, Michigan State halfback Clint Jones and Michigan State defensive back George Webster.

An 11-man board of sports writers in the Big Ten area chose the squad, which consisted of 11 men on offense and 11 on defense.

Grabowski, who rewrote the Big Ten record book in rushing, and Jones, a big factor in Michigan State's drive to the Big Ten championship, were joined by Michigan's Carl Ward and Michigan State quarterback Steve Judy in the first team backfield.

Up front, the offensive line is equally formidable with ends Bob Hadrick of Purdue and Gene Washington of Michigan State; tackles Tom Mack of Michigan and Karl Singer of Purdue; guards John Niland of Iowa and Doug Van Horn of Ohio State, and center Larry Kaminski of Purdue.

In the defensive backfield with Webster, Michigan State's roving monster, are Ron Ackes of Illinois, Rich Volk of Michigan and John Fill of Ohio State. Linebackers elected were Ron Goovert of Michigan State, Dwight Kelley of Ohio State and Don Hansen of Illinois.

The front four on defense are Brown, Bubba Smith of Michigan State, Jerry Shay of Purdue and Bill Yearby of Michigan.

Grabowski, Brown, Yearby and Kelley were the only repeaters from 1964.

Not a single sophomore made the first team.

In all, Michigan State claimed six of the 22 berths while Purdue and Michigan had four each, with Illinois and Ohio State nailing three spots each. Northwestern, Wisconsin and Indiana were shut out.

Offensive
ENDS — Bob Hadrick, Purdue, senior, 6-6, 195, South Bend, Ind., and Gene Washington, Michigan State, junior, 6-2, 209, Leaporle, Tex.

Gabriel Returns to Torment Green Bay

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Roman Gabriel, the quarterback who led the Los Angeles Rams to an upset victory over the Green Bay Packers last season, will be back at the helm Sunday and the Packers are wary.

"He's no scrambler," tackle Ron Kostelnik said of Gabriel, who got the starting berth when a knee injury put Bill Munson on the shelf for the season. "But he's so big and strong he's tough to bring down."

Gabriel is 6-foot-4 and weighs 225 pounds. "There's no quarterback in the league as strong as Gabriel and he can throw the ball a country mile," Kostelnik said.

Last year Gabriel completed nine of 16 passes against the Packers including a 55-yard scoring strike to Bucky Pope that helped produce a 27-17 victory.

The Rams, who tied the Packers in the other 1964 encounter, lost 6-3 to Green Bay in the first meeting this season. Kostelnik thinks they'll be looking for revenge.

"There's no doubt the Rams will be out for blood in this one," said Kostelnik, who is blossoming into one of the league's better tackles.

"But this is another 'must' game for us. We picked up momentum in the Minnesota game rather than tapering off."

The Packers cooked the Vikings 38-13 last Sunday, snapping a slump that had seen them score but three touchdowns in four games.

Football Draws Record Crowds

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
NEW YORK — Traditional college football rivalries last weekend attracted the 10 largest crowds in the country and the 10-game total was the second largest in 18 years.

The 10 top-attended games drew 647,363 fans, a total exceeded only once — on Nov. 21, 1959 — since official crowd figures have been compiled by the NCAA.

LAS VEGAS, NEV. — When Lenny Moore was given the game ball after Baltimore's eighth straight victory Sunday, a newsmen grabbed Lenny's hand.

"It's like old times," he said to the Colts' halfback. "Yeah," grinned Moore. "And it's about time, isn't it?"

It was Moore's best day of the season when he scored twice against Philadelphia Sunday, caught seven passes for 163 yards and carried 10 times for 54 — an offensive total of 217 yards. As a result The Associated Press named Moore the Offensive Player of the Week in the NFL.

Jon Brittenum of Arkansas, who directed a second-half comeback against Texas Tech last Saturday that gave the streaking Razorbacks' a second straight Southwest Conference title and Cotton Bowl assignment, is The Associated Press' Back of the Week.

The Razorbacks' junior quarterback engineered five long scoring drives and passed for two touchdowns in a 42-24 victory that extended the nation's longest winning string to 22 games.

NEW YORK — Michigan State's great defensive effort against Notre Dame not only solidified the Spartans' position among the nation's major college defense leaders, it shook up the offense standings as well.

State, the nation's leader in rushing defense and second-ranked in total defense, held Notre Dame to minus 12 yards running.

State's rushing allowance of just 45.6 yards a game this season also has been bettered only once in 18 years — Syracuse allowed opponents only 19.3 yards a game in 1959.

Taylor, Durand Triumph; Mondovi, Lima Defeated

Taylor and Durand scored victories in Wisconsin non-league play Tuesday night. Mondovi and Lima Sacred Heart were not as fortunate.

Taylor took the measure of Independence 64-58 and Durand nipped Prescott 55-52.

Meanwhile, Mondovi was being ripped 74-53 by Menomonie and Emanuel Luther of Eau Claire was squeezing past Lima 49-48.

DURAND 55
PRESCOTT 52
Durand fought back from a first-period deficit to stop Prescott 55-52.

The Panthers found themselves behind 17-13 at the end of the first quarter, but bounced in front 31-28 at halftime and maintained the edge at 40-36 in the third period.

The Panthers got balanced scoring from Dale Harschlip with 12 points, Joe Langlois with 11 and Doug Brantner with 10.

For Prescott, Jack Seifert scored 23 and Mike Johnson 11. Durand won the preliminary 31-23.

INDEPENDENCE 58
Independence and Taylor played a topsy-turvy contest that finally found the Trojans topping the Indians 64-58.

Taylor led 17-14 at the end of the first period, but slipped behind 33-31 at halftime. The Trojans were back on top 48-47 with eight minutes to play.

Richard Olte scored 19 points for the winners, Maynard Kral 18 and Larry Mitchell 12.

Frank Holchikis got 16 and Bob Edmundson 13 for Independence, which also lost the "B" game 45-34.

MENOMONIE 74
MONDOVI 53
Menomonie broke Mondovi apart in the first half and then coasted in to a 74-53 non-conference victory, forcing four men into double figures in the process.

Menomonie led 15-11, 40-22 and 58-31 at the quarter turns. Pacing the winners were Steve Krueger with 19 points, Tom Syper with 14, Jim Ruehl with 12 and Steve Knowasky with 10.

Gene Bump tallied 13 for Mondovi and Steve Kent 12.

EMANUEL LUTHER 49
SACRED HEART 48
Lima Sacred Heart, after holding a narrow first-half advantage, saw a cool third quarter bring about its 49-48 loss.

The Rodmen broke to a 15-14 first-period lead and held that one-point lead at 27-26 at halftime. They then slipped behind 39-37 at the end of three and couldn't make up the disadvantage in the final eight minutes.

Dan Grave topped Luther with 16 points, John Gurgel counted 13 and Howie Schmidt 12. Randy Brunner got 19 for Lima and Herb Poeschel 12.

STATE DIFFERENCE

ed the scoring column behind the "Winona State" on the board.

With 10:10 remaining, the Warriors poked it to a 15-point advantage on two free throws by Al Connor and State just kept breezing away, Campbell going to his deep reserves in the final minutes.

Heroes? Oh yes, there were heroes — if you wish to signal them out over a well-rounded team effort.

● Dave Meisner, who chipped in 22 points, 12 after intermission, while keeping steady pressure on the Pointers as a key front operator in the press.

● Petersen, who scored 19 points. He suddenly discovered he could move on his bad knees in the second half (Campbell smilingly told of a tape tear that allowed him extra movement) and scored 13 points. He was much the same Petersen that shined as a freshman and sophomore. Oh yes, and he will captain the team this year.

● Jim Kasten. This boy, a Winona High graduate, won high praise from Campbell and assistant Ron Ekker for his work in a reserve role. He pilfered several points passes while working overtime on the press and scored 10 points.

And just so no one is overlooked, Tim Anderson, who scored 13 points, Mike Jerecek (the Cotter grad), J. D. Barnett and Al Connor all contributed heavily to the final scoreboard assessment.

Now when you're looking at a 22-game schedule, it would seem foolhardy to say a team has come over the hump. But that is just what we're implying.

"Yes," agreed Campbell, "we learned a lot tonight, learned we could do it."

And if the Warriors are just as hungry in the next 21 as they were in the first... well, anything can happen!

St. Mary's will open at home against Lakeland Wednesday.

At present, Jim Buffo and Jerry Sauter are running at the guards, Roy Pylewski and George Hader at forwards and Jim Murphy at center. But both Dennis Ludden and Tom Keenan are pressing for starting roles.

"Right now we're just marking time," said Ken Wilgten. "We need a game to find out some things. We've covered everything in practice and it's just a matter of getting some game experience."

Will Gophers Be Hot Shooting '5'?

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Minnesota Gophers will be one of the nation's best shooting college basketball teams—if they shoot all year as they did Tuesday night in their first public appearance of the season.

The Gophers made 56.9 per cent of their shots in defeating the Minnesota freshmen 118-72. Gopher regulars shot 68 per cent from the floor in the first half to take a 64-28 lead and turn the game into a rout. Reserves played the rest of the contest.

Minnesota captain Archie Clark led all scorers with 19 points. All-America candidate Lou Hudson had 16.

Payne's Bucket Tips Wolves

Le Roy came out the winner in a tight battle with Spring Valley. The final score read 52-50.

The lead changed hands several times with Le Roy leading at the end of the first quarter 12-10. Spring Valley was on top 27-26 at halftime. It was tied 39-39 at the end of the third period.

David Schwenn piled up 15 points and Arden Payne tallied 13 points and the winning basket.

Barron Threat In Northlands

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Bears of Barron, their claws whetted on their third straight victim, are looming as a towering threat to Cumberland's supremacy in the northlands of Wisconsin high school basketball.

Barron ripped Hayward 91-57 Tuesday night, topping the 90 mark for the third straight game, while Cumberland kept its record unscathed over two regular seasons by nipping Lady Smith 49-44 with a flurry of free throws.

Stevens Point, the only state finalist of last year in action besides Cumberland Tuesday night, got past weak Marshfield 56-40 to keep the defending final eight unbeaten in nine games of the new season.

Six-foot-seven senior Gary Christensen pumped in 32 points for Barron whose 34-point victory over Hayward was its smallest winning margin this year. The Bears outscored Spooner by 38 and Cameron by 47 earlier.

Plans Set for WWBA Meet; Opens Jan. 22

Irlene Trimmer, secretary of the Winona Women's Bowling Association, has announced plans for the 1965-66 city tournament.

Competition will begin Jan. 22 and continue until completed. Teams will roll first and then singles and doubles divisions will occupy the spotlight.

Averages for the tournament will be taken as of Dec. 18. All secretaries are asked to submit their forms to Mrs. Trimmer as soon as possible after that date.

Advance reservations for the tournament may be made beginning Dec. 13 with Jan. 8 the final day for entries.

The tournament also will include something new this year. The WWBA will be sponsoring a tournament for junior girls.

It is hoped that the junior tournament can be held the morning of Jan. 22. The women's organization will donate trophies and patches for the winners.

Fraser Would Like to Hear Other Views

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The House Foreign Affairs Committee could use some anti-administration witnesses in deliberations about Viet Nam and other foreign policy matters, says Rep. Donald Fraser, D-Minn.

"I don't believe we've ever had a dissenting witness on our policy in Viet Nam in our committee," said Fraser while appearing at a forum on free discussion Monday night at the University of Minnesota.

"National security demands dissent and demands open inquiry," said Fraser, who has scheduled hearings in Minneapolis Dec. 7-8 on the Viet Nam conflict.

"Virtually every policy the U.S. government follows today has at one time or another been a minority point of view."

Fraser, who represents the 5th District, which embraces Minneapolis, said it is traditional for the executive branch to make policy decisions. But he said it is also the executive branch which supplies the witnesses for the Foreign Affairs Committee.

He said the teach-ins on Viet Nam at colleges around the country have served an important and useful purpose in informing Americans of alternative views to present U.S. policy in Southeast Asia.

Other panel members were Lynn Castner, secretary of the Minnesota Civil Liberties Union and Prof. Paul Murphy of the university History Department.

BAR STOOL BLISS

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Charles Turnbill and Marian Bolton picked a tavern for their wedding because "it was very appropriate to our good times together here." On top of that, no one had to go very far when it was announced that drinks were on the house after the "I dos" were exchanged.

Voice of the Outdoors

A FINE HEAD

The above white-tail head will rank among the finer ones to come out of the Minnesota or Wisconsin deer season this year. The ten-point buck, weighing about 225 pounds, came out of the Trempealeau River bottomlands in the Independence, Wis. area. A real corn-fed animal.

Donald Werner, 72 Chatfield St., got it Monday morning. Trempealeau County is one of the counties in Zone II of Wisconsin where either rifles or shotguns may be used. However, through Sunday, it is only bucks with antlers not less than three inches long. Werner stalked the big fellow in the river bottomlands.

In areas back from the river, we understand, party hunters conducting drives in some of the valleys got big results. We heard a report of 17 deer hanging in one farm in Eagle Valley, another of 12 deer in the Tamarack area, all harvested by hunters in mass drives.

We have had three telephone calls suggesting that the legislators of the states pass a law establishing a minimum age limit of 18 years for youths hunting deer. Unquestionably, the suggestions come from experienced hunters had with kids in the woods. Saturday morning we saw on the railroad tracks in the Tiffany Refuge along the Chippewa River, ten school boys, all with numbers on their back, carrying shotguns. They were coming down the track waving, we hope, unloaded guns, and fooling around like a bunch of boys usually do. They probably were experienced outdoor boys — well aware of gun hazards — but it didn't look that way.

Thanksgiving Sports

There will be no skating this Thanksgiving, although an unsafe coating of ice covers some of the backwaters. Lake Winona had an ice covering one day last week, but it evaporated under the noontime sun. Trappers have to use boats to run their lines.

The second upland game season for ruffed grouse in Southeastern Minnesota, deer zone six, runs through Nov. 30. The squirrel season is open to the end of the year. Bart Foster reports that there are still a couple of good-sized flocks of geese in the Weaver area. The Minnesota goose season is open to Dec. 10. The duck season is closed in both states.

Wisconsin game authorities are preparing for heavy deer hunting pressure over Thanksgiving. It is a holiday in which the hunter who missed the opening can still go out and get his antler buck. The season in Wisconsin doesn't close until Sunday night.

Minnesota is now closed to all deer hunting. The second bowhunting season opens Dec. 4. The Camp Ripley reservation again will be open for this late bow season. Last year, 75 of the 288 deer killed by Minnesota bowhunters came from Camp Ripley. Several Winonans hunted there.

Indications are that there will be good walleye fishing in the waters below all of the channel dams for the holiday. It is mainly boat fishing around the 300-foot line or above it.

This type of fishing is for the hardy fisherman dressed warmly, who in some cases has a foot-warmer in the boat. Willow cats and large white jigs are the main bait. They are coming in with fish.

Add a cup of grated sharp cheddar cheese to a package of pastry mix and bake up according to package directions. Roll out 1/4-inch thick; cut into strips and bake in a very hot oven for about 10 minutes. Serve as a delicious accompaniment to soup.

Is Thanksgiving only a holiday from work, only a family gathering, only a dinner of roasted turkey? We don't think so. Join with us in giving thanks for peace, for security, for a free enterprise-democracy and all the other wonderful things which are a part of our American way of life. We give thanks for the thousands of neighbors and friends whom it is a privilege to serve in a variety of ways.

Dr. E. O. Thompson, Paul McJames, General Manager, and Gene Betsinger of Plymouth Optical Company, wish you and your family a most Happy Thanksgiving Day.

Tradition Losing Out In Congress

By JOHN BECKLER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is fighting a losing battle in its attempt to cling to an old tradition — the use of shorthand reporters to record debate in the House and the Senate.
"We're a dying breed," says Albert Schneider of the men whose flying pens long have turned the mighty flow of congressional oratory into the hooks and squiggles of shorthand. "In another 10 years there won't be enough of us to do the job."
Schneider is retiring this year after 42 years as an official House reporter. His departure, along with another member of the seven-man House team, has brought into sharp focus the swiftly approaching extinction of the species.

Like many another job, shorthand reporting is being taken over by a machine — in this case a compact, easy to operate, 21-key device that types words and full phrases phonetically.
It still takes someone to work the machine, and it can't go any faster than a good shorthand reporter, but it is vastly easier to learn how to operate it than to master shorthand which accounts mainly for its growing use.
It also has the advantage of freeing the reporter's eyes so he can look around and see who is talking, whereas the shorthand reporter has to keep his eyes glued to his notebook.

And since the machine prints regular, uniform characters, anyone trained in it can transcribe the reporter's notes. Shorthand reporters, who develop distinctly individual styles, must stop and either dictate or type their own notes.
These advantages have led to a virtual takeover by the machines in the last 20 years.
Old-timers with their pens and notebooks are still scattered throughout the courts and legislatures, but Congress remains their last, though crumbling, bastion.
Acutely conscious of its role in history, Congress has tried to preserve as much of its past as it can. Snuffboxes and cuspidors are still found in the Senate and Thomas Jefferson's rules of procedure still are followed.

There has been a particular abhorrence of mechanical contrivances. There are no microphones in the Senate, although the larger House of Representatives has had to resort to them. No radio or television equipment is permitted in either chamber during regular sessions. No mechanical voting methods are desired — and no mechanical reporting devices.
The House operates with seven shorthand reporters, the Senate, eight. In the House, each man takes five minutes of debate every 30 minutes. In the Senate it is 10 minutes every hour. In between time the men dictate their notes and have them typed.
One of the House reporters calls it "the most difficult reporting job in the country" and there is much support for the view.

"The greatest difficulty is comprehension," said Schneider the other day. "Some members engaging in a colloquy don't understand themselves what they are talking about. But you've got to have them make sense."
Schneider, who in 1921 won the National Association of Reporters' annual speed championship, said intense concentration and good hearing are the chief requirements for a debate reporter.

He also has to be a grammarian. Surprisingly few members are really good speakers and as a result there are many long, disconnected utterances in which sentence form and content are hopelessly lost. But the members all expect to see their remarks appear in fully rounded sentences in the next day's Congressional Record.
If it is a hard job, it is also a well-paid one. The reporters have shared in the steady succession of federal pay increases and now make nearly $22,000 a year.

Youth Builds Own Electric Organ

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP)—For the past year, Durward Center has spent much of his time assembling wires, magnets, pieces of wood and silvery metal pipes in a garage-like building behind his home.
The 16-year-old high school junior can sit down at his 337-pipe homemade organ and breeze through a ragtime tune, play a Bach fugue or produce a Christmas carol.
Center says he still has to build a wood enclosure and tune and voice the instrument.

Rolvaag Asks Solution of Redistricting

ST. PAUL (AP) — The courts "could accommodate everyone," says Gov. Karl Rolvaag, if they clear up the legislative reapportionment question within the next two months.

The state Supreme Court currently is weighing the first phase of the reapportionment riddle, a test of whether Rolvaag has veto power over the reapportionment act passed by the 1965 Legislature.

If the veto is not upheld, the Conservative-sponsored legislative map will get on the books but will face another challenge in federal court. A year ago the federal court threw out the 1959 reapportionment, saying it did not meet the "one man, one vote" test.

In an interview Monday, Rolvaag said a special legislative session might be necessary — depending upon how the court cases turn out. He took a dim view, however, of calling a special session merely to talk over tax proposals currently being made.

Rolvaag said he hoped the reapportionment matter would be cleared up when the Republicans and Democratic-Farmer-Laborites held their county conventions in March and April. If legislative districts are not firmly drawn by then, the two parties will have difficulty selecting candidates.

On another matter, Rolvaag said Monday he expects to name a new district judge soon for the 10th Judicial District. Republicans have been sniping at the DFL governor for not picking a successor to Rollin G. Johnson, 73, Forest Lake, who announced his resignation some time ago.

Also to be filled is the post being vacated Dec. 31 by District Judge A. C. Richardson, 75, Austin.

Rolvaag said he is in no hurry to fill the post of banking commissioner, to be vacated Dec. 1 by the resignation of John D. Chisholm, Rochester banker.

Letters Reassure Gls in Viet Nam

SAIGON (AP) — American servicemen in Viet Nam are being assured in thousands of letters that they have the support of the folks back home.

A military spokesman said today the letters, in mountainous volume, deny recent demonstrations in the United States protesting American involvement in the war.

Some letters are addressed "to a U.S. soldier in Viet Nam." Others point to a specific service or outfit. They may be addressed "to a Marine" or "to anyone with the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division."

The spokesman said the letters are being sent in batches to military units stationed throughout Viet Nam.

"There were just a few dozen letters at first," he said. "Now there are thousands and thousands and thousands of them. They come in huge parcels. Many are addressed personally to Gen. William C. Westmoreland for distribution."

Westmoreland is commander of U.S. military forces in Viet Nam.

$14 Million in Aid for State

ST. PAUL (AP) — Minnesota will receive more than $14 million under two higher education acts recently passed by Congress.

That report was made Monday to the Liaison and Facilities Commission on Higher Education by its executive director, Sarah Ellen Desmond.

Mrs. Desmond said the total of $14,098,974 of authorizations for Minnesota covered provisions under the new laws for which there are specific state-by-state allocations.

It includes some $10 million under the doubled appropriation for facilities construction — $7.6 million for four-year, public and private universities and colleges and $2.4 million for public junior colleges.

Other funds earmarked for Minnesota, Mrs. Desmond said, include:

For community service, and continuing education programs, $187,178; for scholarships for needy students, $1,380,069; for college work-study programs, $2,042,472; for insuring low-interest student loans, $133,229; for improving undergraduate instruction, $305,711, and for television equipment and remodeling, $33,968.

U.S. Suggests 6-Point Plan For Americas

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — U.S. proposals for beefing up the inter-American system received an initially favorable response today from a number of Latin-American diplomats.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk presented the six-point U.S. program Monday to the 18 Latin-American foreign ministers at the special Inter-American Conference. His speech included:

—A call on the American republics to consider earmarking forces which could be volunteered to the United Nations or the Organization of American States for duty in an emergency;

—A pledge from President Johnson of U.S. willingness to continue aid in hemisphere development beyond the 10-year span of the Alliance for Progress, due to end in 1971.

"Very constructive," said a Brazilian diplomat of Rusk's speech. Mexico's Foreign Minister Antonio Carrillo Flores stressed Rusk's support for economic and social progress in praising his address as "frank and clear."

Chile's Foreign Minister Gabriel Valdez found Rusk's talk "highly constructive." He said it shows "there is basic agreement between us in matters pertaining to the need for economic development of Latin America."

The Latin Americans were obviously pleased by the personal message from Johnson which Rusk read to the delegates.

Declaring that fulfillment of the Alliance for Progress goals of hemisphere-wide economic and social advance will still be only partially completed by 1971, the President said:

"I wish to inform the conference — and through you, your respective governments — that the United States will be prepared to extend mutual commitments beyond the time period foreseen in the charter of Punta del Este."

Johnson added, however, that U.S. assistance — $1 billion a year so far — will be determined in connection with the amount of self-help and mutual help shown by the aid-receiving countries.

Wife of Air Force Captain Held in Killings

HONOLULU (AP) — The 38-year-old wife of a U.S. Air Force captain who police say admitted drowning her five young children in a bathtub in Honolulu city-county jail today, awaiting arraignment on a first degree murder charge.

Mrs. Maggie Young, quoted by detective John Dickson as saying, "I killed my children," was charged with murdering her only son, James Frankie, 8, within four hours after police discovered the bodies of all five youngsters — James; Janice, 5; Judy, 3; Jeanette, 2, and Jessica, 11 months — in two beds in the Youngs' suburban Honolulu home Monday.

Mrs. Young, wife of Capt. James Young, an aviator and a native of San Antonio, Tex., will be arraigned on the murder charge in Circuit Court here Wednesday.

The family had lived in Hawaii about a year. Mrs. Young, an ash blonde, spent from July to September in Tripler Army Hospital as a result of a nervous breakdown. She was still being treated as an outpatient, Air Force authorities said.

Woman, 90, Enjoys Firing at Targets

KENYON, Minn. (AP) — Lining up a row of tin cans and pop bottles and knocking them off with a .22 caliber rifle isn't just for the kids.

Ninety-year-old Mrs. Catherine Parsons of Beaver Dam, Wis., enjoys the sport when she visits here at the home of her son, Ralph Parsons.

Mrs. Parsons likes to accompany her son and grandsons to a gravel pit for the shooting. She displays the expert marksmanship she learned as a young woman in Canada and Montana.

At Beaver Dam, she lives in the upper floor of a duplex and does her own housekeeping. In addition, she cares for an invalid daughter who lives on the bottom floor of the building, and she finds time for church work and activity in the Order of the Eastern Star.

School Bond Issue Approved

MAYNARD, Minn. (AP) — Voters approved a $300,000 school bond issue 313-91 Monday. It calls for an addition to the high school and elementary school.

Boyle's Column

Who'll Cut Turkey Tomorrow?

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — The Thanksgiving crisis will come in millions of American homes when it is put upon the table.

It is a bird called a turkey, and it may weigh anywhere from 8 pounds to 30 or more.

It will be washed and plucked. Everybody in the family will come by and pat it fondly. Then it will be stuffed with sage and oysters and bread crumbs and put into the oven and basted and watched over until it turns a tender golden brown.

Then, accompanied by a myriad of vegetables, it will be placed upon the table by a wife whose warm-flushed face is a testimony of womanhood in glory.

As everybody stands around marveling, the wife will go into the kitchen and come back with a knife in her hand.

She will hold it out with a questioning look.

This is the hour of crisis. This is the terrible moment of decision.

Who will carve the turkey? This is the time that separates the man from his performance.

"You do it, Joe," says the host to a guest.

"Naw, Jim," replies the guest to the host. "You do it."

They face each other with a look of equal cunning and equal dismay.

Each knows that if he takes the knife he will make a fool of himself—and of the festive occasion.

They may be chefs, butchers, brain surgeons, plumbers or lawyers.

But each knows, whatever his talent, it is inadequate now.

He knows that, if he accepts the knife, it will turn out to be dull. He will find the turkey tough. He will sweat and strain and wish he could attack the bird with a Boy Scout ax or put a dynamite cap in its middle and blow its junctures apart in a shower of gravy.

Finally, the hostess says in pretended exasperation: "Well, you men. I don't know what the world is coming to. Sit down now, and I'll serve you."

Sighting in relief, the men sit down and shuffle their feet under their chairs, and the ladies sit down, too, and say ladylike things to each other such as, "My, doesn't the table look lovely?"

The hostess takes up the knife and skillfully attacks the bird. Swiftly she apportions the meat to the plates, and one of the children meekly suggests, "Shouldn't we say grace first?"

"You say it, Jim," says the guest to the host, knowing what the answer will be.

"No, Joe," says the host to the guest. "You say it."

"Okay," says Joe, lowering his eyes. "O Lord, we thank thee for Thy peace and fellowship at this table and...uh...what we are about to receive, forever and ever. Amen."

There is a moment of silence, as each guest reviews his blessings, and then Jim says rather loudly:

"Hey, that was okay, Joe. What if you have—light or dark or both?"

And the flushed and smiling hostess, too excited herself to eat, sits before the turkey like an angel with a sword, ready to serve more.

There is plenty for all.

Historical Society Gets Manuscripts

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A collection of 2,500 manuscripts collected by the late Allyn K. Ford, Minneapolis business and civic leader has been turned over to the Minnesota Historical Society by Mrs. Ford. The manuscripts date back to the American revolution and include letters written by Gen. George Washington when he was commander of American revolutionary forces.

DEAR ABBY:

All the Warmth Of Smoked Herring

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Where this ungracious custom originated, I do not know, but it is rapidly becoming popular in my community. At occasions where a gift is in order, a basket of tiny "scrolls" (paper rolled up and tied with a white ribbon for brides, silver for silver wedding anniversaries, gold for golden weddings, and so on) is placed on the gift table. As each person presents his gift, he is handed a "scroll." On this scroll is a TYPED "thank-you-for-your-gift" note. Then the honoree feels absolved from the task of writing thank you notes after the party. What do you think about this? PROPER OLD LADY

DEAR PROPER: Not much. A "thank you" note of this kind has all the warmth of a smoked herring, and the tenderness of a hit-and-run driver.

DEAR ABBY: I am divorced, and have been ever since my son was four months old. (He is now nearly three years old.) His father has remarried and hasn't bothered to come to see him since we were divorced, but he does send support money. I am only 23 and hope to remarry some day and give my son a real "Daddy," but in the meantime, a problem has come up.

We live with my parents, and my son calls my father "Papa" because he hears me calling him that. But he's just discovered the word "Daddy" and he's confused. What shall I tell him? I tried to tell him that he doesn't have a "Daddy" yet, but he doesn't seem to understand. How do I go about telling him why? And if that doesn't satisfy his curiosity, how should I explain it? YOUNG MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Tell him the truth. And answer only one question at a time — as it comes up. Tell him that his Daddy and you do not live together any more. If he asks why, tell him that your marriage was a mistake, and you decided to end it.

DEAR ABBY: Often, in the movies, and also on television, I have seen a gentleman give a woman his handkerchief after she has had a crying session. I would like to know, Abby, just what does the woman do with the handkerchief after she has used it? It seems odd to me that she would give him back a dirty handkerchief. Or is it just taken for granted that she can keep it? PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: The woman should take the handkerchief home and launder it. If she knows she'll see him again, she should return it in person. Otherwise, she should mail it back to him. (I say "should," knowing full well that few do.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO "AWAITING YOUR REPLY" IN MANKATO, MINNESOTA: I do not believe that a "shotgun" marriage under the circumstances you described has much of a chance to succeed and, therefore, I would not recommend it. As for marrying to give a child "a name," good names (and bad ones) are earned by those who bear them.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BUSINESS MIRROR

Price, Wage Guides Tested

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — New tests of the government's guidelines for prices and wages are seen shaping up.

Since the government scuttled the aluminum and copper price increases, businessmen are on notice that the administration can use other than just talking tactics when it wants to hold the line.

But upward pressures on both wages and prices are expected a few weeks from now — and perhaps in areas where the government doesn't have a stockpile of materials to release.

Many economists now doubt that the general consumer price level can be held to as moderate an increase in 1966 as in 1965.

Labor shortages already are reported in some fields. Companies are having trouble finding workers with the precise skills needed. The pressure for higher wages becomes harder to resist as shortages develop in contrast to periods of large unemployment such as troubled the economy a year or two ago. Now, even in unskilled fields, more job opportunities are giving labor leaders talking points in dealing with management.

Business has ways of raising effective prices without changing the basic list prices, such as those that were temporarily upgraded in the aluminum and copper skirmishes with the administration.

What the customer pays, more often than not, isn't the basic list price. Usually it includes extras. It involves credit, an expensive item. Delivery charges can be raised or lowered. Too, there is the matter of shipping time. When pressed, a customer may have to go into the tight spot market rather than wait for his normal supplier, and the tight spot market is usually well above the list prices.

Tests of the government guidelines of what it thinks labor should get in wage boosts and producers get in price increases depend on continuing expansion of the economy. A slowdown or recession could make the guidelines academic, as labor sought to hold jobs and companies tried to meet competitors' prices.

Both business and the government, however, are convinced right now that 1966 is going to see further expansion — and there is where the pressure on prices and wages could develop.

The government is warning business that it will fight hard to hold the line.

Both labor and industry have been restive under the guidelines in the past. The government rules seek to hold wage and price increases within the annual gains in productivity, or the unit costs of production in terms of man hours of labor.

The unions have held that productivity gains in their industries have been higher than the government said; management has contended the gains have been smaller.
