Man Killed in Cochrane Accident

WHERE BLACKOUT STARTED . . . El Paso Electric Co. Newman plant is shown following the restoration of electricity to many Southern New Mexico and Southwest Texas communities late Thursday. Some one million persons were affected by the blackout. A malfunction in the plant near El Paso is blamed for the blackout which lasted nearly two hours in some areas. Electric company officials refused to allow newsmen inside the plant area. (AP Photofax)

Car Rolls Over Twice After Leaving Road

COCHRANE, Wis.—A brother of La Crosse County Sheriff Paul Wuest died instantly of a basal skull fracture Thursday night when thrown from his car as it careened out of control to the left on Highway 35, one-fourth mile north of Cochrane.

Donald E. Wuest, 51, manager of Tri-State Screw Products, La Crosse, was driving south as he returned from a one-day business trip to Minneapolis. His 1963 car veered left on a slight curve and ended up on its wheels about 15 feet east of the concrete in a field. It had rolled over at least twice, according to Henry Zeichert, Buffalo County traffic officer.

Wuest was found lying on his back 60 feet south of the car in a furrow of a cornfield, 24 feet east of the road. Dr. E. A. Meuli, county coroner, said he had a crushed chest in addition to the skull fracture.

Wuest was alone in the car and no other vehicle apparently was involved.

THE CAR was discovered by the Rev. Gene Krueger, Alma, who was driving south from Alma at 9:30 p.m. He saw something shining in the field and investigated but saw no one around. He returned to the sheriff's office at Alma, reported it, and Zeichert was called. Rev. Krueger went back to the scene and found the body in the pitch blackness of the night.

The accident occurred about 9:15, officers said.

Zeichert said there were seat belts in the car but apparently were not being used. There were no skid marks on the concrete or shoulder, no rain or ice.

According to his information, Sheriff Wuest said, his brother may have swerved onto the right shoulder and lost control as he attempted to get back onto the concrete. He said his brother sometimes became sleepy at the wheel on his way home from frequent business trips to Minneapolis. His wife had considered going with him on this trip, in which case they would have returned to La Crosse today, but gave it up.

ZEICHERT estimated the damage to the car as total. The battery was thrown, the trunk cover was torn off, and contents of the vehicle, mostly catalogs, papers and brief cases, were strewn. The officer also found bills from the screw company. Wuest managed the La Crosse plant which furnished screws for such large firms as Allis-Chalmers and Trane Co. in La Crosse and Minneapolis companies.

He was born Feb. 10, 1914, at La Crosse to Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Wuest. He attended Logan High School and went into screw manufacturing at 19, becoming one of the best screw machine operators in the country, his brother said. He worked briefly for a company in the east but soon returned to La Crosse and managed Tri-State for a group of businessmen, who own the manufacturing plant.

He married Fern Lunde of La Crosse 31 years ago. The Wuest home is at 1616 Kane St. He was a member of the Elks and active in North Presbyterian Church.

Survivors are: His wife; two sons, Richard, coach at Decorah, Iowa, and William, junior at Logan High School, La Crosse; his parents, La Crosse; two brothers, Sheriff Paul, and Oswald, La Crescent.

Funeral arrangements are in charge of Dickinson Funeral Home. Services will be at North Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Leonard Beenen officiating. Burial will be in Oak Forest Cemetery, La Crosse.

Wuest's death was the fourth traffic fatality in Buffalo County this year.

SURPRISES AHEAD? . . . Gemini 7's fellow space pilot, James Lovell, go over Command Pilot Frank Borman, right, has a surprised expression on his face as he and notes at a pre-flight meeting at Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP Photofax)

Weather Only Question Mark in Gemini Shots

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Weather, the bugaboo which has plagued many U.S. man-in-space shots, remained the only question mark today as Gemini 7 astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr. made final preparations to start off Saturday on man's longest space venture.

Weatherman E. A. Amman of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported Thursday night he was concerned about a fast-moving trough of rainy weather going across the Southern United States toward Florida.

Amman said he hoped the trough would pass through before Saturday's scheduled 2:30 p.m. (EST) blastoff of the Titan 2 rocket and the Gemini spacecraft.

"The weather may not be as good as we've had it on some past shots," said Charles Matthews, Gemini program manager. "But we feel we have a good chance of going Saturday."

Borman, an Air Force lieutenant colonel, and Lovell, a Navy commander, are scheduled to circle the globe for a record 14 days.

On the ninth day, Dec. 13, the Gemini 6 astronauts, Navy Cmdr. Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford, are to blast off from the same launch pad and attempt to rendezvous and fly in formation with Gemini 7. The two space ships are to conduct a series of close-in maneuvers for about six hours, perhaps approaching to within inches of each other, with a remote possibility they may touch.

The launch team must prepare the Gemini 6 rocket and spacecraft for firing in a record nine days, a task which normally requires 29.

Flight Director Christopher Kraft said Thursday night that if Gemini 6 is delayed, the Gemini 7 flight could be extended to 15 days to give the rendezvous a better chance.

Military Bases Blacked Out In El Paso Electrical Failure

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A power failure that momentarily blacked out four key military bases and plunged a million persons into darkness in New Mexico, Texas and Mexico has brought a federal investigation on orders of President Johnson.

The power failure, triggered in El Paso, was a small-scale version of the blackout that left 30 million persons in the Northeastern United States and Canada without power for up to 10 hours Nov. 9.

All four military bases reported they switched almost immediately to auxiliary power. But many civilian population areas were without power for more than two hours.

Authorities of El Paso Electric Co. said the trouble was traced to failure of a device which regulated flow of natural gas to the two units of the company's Newman Plant near New Mexico's border with Mexico.

President Johnson sent J.R. Johnson, a Federal Power Commission engineer from Ft. Worth, Tex., to El Paso to determine what caused the device to fail and report to him.

Joseph Laitin, acting press secretary, also said Johnson got assurances that all military bases in the area shifted almost immediately to emergency power supplies and that communications systems were not interrupted. However, Laitin said Holloman Air Force Base was without runway lights for some time.

Other bases affected in El Paso included Biggs Air Force Base, where Strategic Air Command bombers are on constant alert, and the Army's Ft. Bliss, which has an air defense school for instruction of U.S. and Allied troops in use of air defense missiles.

White Sands Missile Range in southern New Mexico, a missile development center, also was plunged into darkness.

"The mission capability of the Air Force Missile Development Center was maintained, and combat readiness was not affected," a Holloman spokesman said.

An area extending from El Paso to Socorro, N.M., 175 miles to the north, and to Van Horn, Tex., 120 miles to the east, was affected.

And most of the lights of Juarez, Mexico, a nightlife city of about 300,000 population just across the border from El Paso, also went out.

Much of the area affected, including Juarez, is not serviced by El Paso Electric. Spokesmen said, however, that a sudden surge to these areas because of the trouble with El Paso knocked them out.

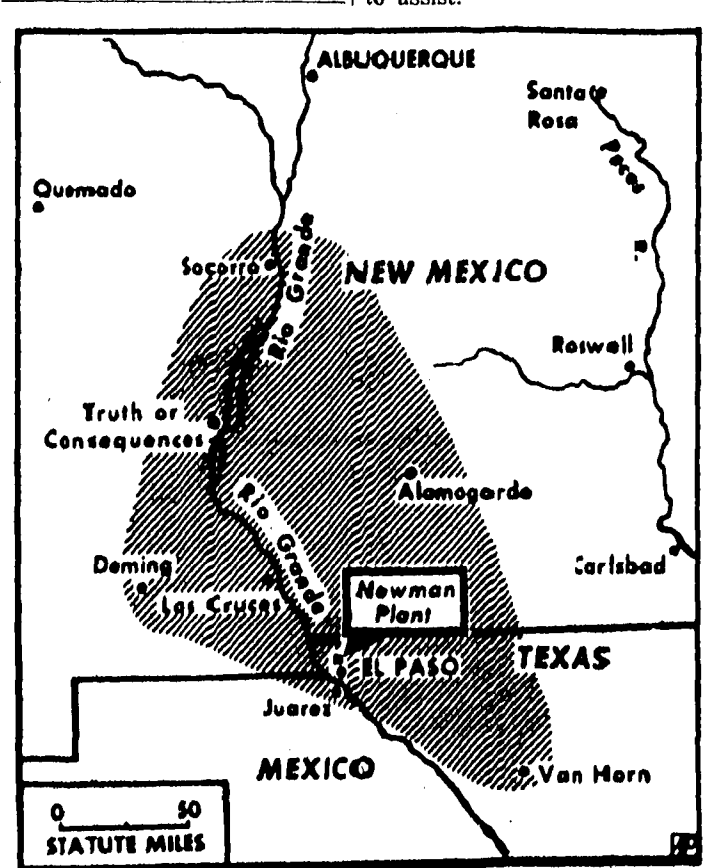

Public Service Co. of New Mexico, headquartered in Albuquerque, and the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation pitched in to assist.

ing a crew of four Americans and nine Vietnamese troops south of the big U.S. air base at Da Nang, 380 miles north of Saigon. All aboard were presumed dead. The 'copper was in a flight of eight seeking out the Viet Cong.

U.S. spokesman also reported that a propeller-driven Skyraider from the carrier Bon Homme Richard was hit Thursday over North Viet Nam and crashed into a peak 40 miles northwest of Dong Hoi, a railroad near the 17th Parallel frontier. The pilot was listed as missing.

The nuclear-powered carrier Enterprise sent up 118 planes on her second day of combat. The Enterprise sent up 118 planes on her second day of combat. The Big E's planes dropped 102 tons of bombs on suspected Viet Cong troop concentrations and supply dumps in South Viet Nam. Spokesmen said 60 structures were destroyed and 65 damaged.

Of the pause in the ground action, a U.S. spokesman said: "We've had these lulls before. We're beating the bushes for the Viet Cong. When they want to start it up again, they can."

SOUTHWEST AREA BLACKED OUT . . . Sections of two states and Mexico, shaded area, were blacked out last night by a power failure traced to trouble in the El Paso Electric Co.'s Newman Plant near El Paso, Texas. A large section of New Mexico, a part of Texas and the city of Juarez in Mexico were affected. Most service was restored in two hours. (AP Photofax Map)

Natchez Negro Boycott Ended

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP) — A Negro boycott which brought the downtown shopping area to the verge of "economic stagnation" was near an end today with civil rights forces claiming a victory.

The three-month boycott brought from both merchants and the city government what the NAACP called a settlement of major racial differences.

Charles Evers, state field director for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said the full agreement would be outlined today in a news conference, with Mayor John Nossor sitting in.

Archie Jones, acting head of the Adams County NAACP chapter, said 21 stores which met Negro demands would be taken off the boycott list.

"That's most of them in that Main and Franklin Street area," he said. "Those that refused to comply will stay on the list."

Jones said the 21 merchants opened more job opportunities to Negroes and agreed that bills mailed to Negro customers would bear the courtesy titles of Mr., Mrs. or Miss.

Jones said the Negro agreement was not unanimous. The Freedom Democratic party faction, he said, would not go along with the NAACP.

"They don't ever agree to anything," he said. "I don't think they can do much."

Sedilia Brown, chairman of the party in Adams county, said the group would protest ending the boycott without winning additional concessions. She said she didn't know what form the protest would take.

Soviet Seeking 'Soft' Landing

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union launched today another effort to make a soft landing on the moon with an unmanned spacecraft.

The 2,540-pound probe, Luna 8, was the fourth Soviet attempt this year to make a soft landing. Two earlier attempts crashed on the moon and a third missed it.

Rochester Getting New 50-Store Shopping Center

ROCHESTER, Minn. — Plans for an $8 million shopping center here with 50 stores were announced Thursday.

It will be jointly developed by the Apache Corp., Minneapolis, and the Rochester Realty firm of Van Cuyk & Leach on a proposed 80-acre site along Hwys. 52 and 14 in southwest Rochester.

A petition for annexation of the land was filed with the city and will be considered by the City Council Monday night.

Woman Who Opened World Of Books to Blind Is 100

WASHINGTON (AP) — The frail, blind woman who opened the world of books again for the newly blinded veterans of World War I celebrates her 100th birthday today.

It's another milestone for Adella M. Hoyt, the Iowa-born farm girl who became director of the Library of Congress Braille transcription section. A special birthday present will be a check for $100 from the Association of the Workers for the Blind of the District of Columbia.

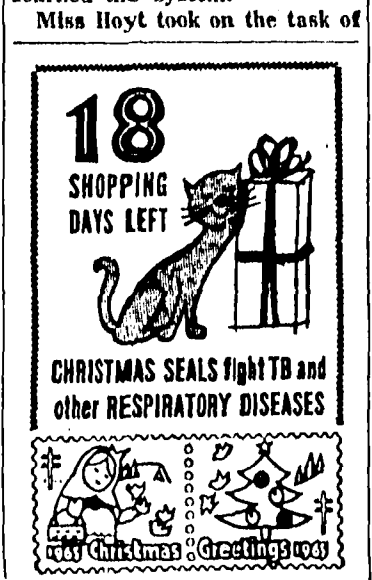

During her career Miss Hoyt trained more than 2,000 persons to transcribe the reading language of the blind.

She began this work at the urgent plea of the American Red Cross when the blinded veterans of World War I started to return home.

They were taught to read

Braille as part of their rehabilitation. But then it was discovered there were no books available to read once they had learned the system.

Miss Hoyt took on the task of training volunteer transcribers, organizing lessons, selecting manuscripts and setting up transcription chapters all over the country.

She knew how it felt to lose sight. Hers began to fade at the age of 6, and when she was 13 she left her home near Cedar Falls to enroll in a school for blind.

But education for the sightless then was far from complete.

"You had to do it on your own," she recalls.

When her family moved to Washington in 1913, she became an assistant in the reading room of the Library of Congress. When she retired in 1938, she was in charge of service for the blind.

For many years Miss Hoyt lived at the home for blind in Georgetown. She now lives at a nursing home near the library.

GI Would Like Picture Of 1st Snow

PORT HURON, Mich. (AP) — Green onions and radishes and carrots, and, maybe, a picture of the first snow back home — these are some of the things that help make life endurable in Viet Nam.

Some three weeks ago, Mickie Gill of Port Huron received a letter from her husband, Marine S. Sgt. John H. Gill Jr. It was written in a humid, hot tent at Plei Me.

Gill had just gone through hand-to-hand combat with the Viet Cong.

"Send me some seeds so that I can plant them," Gill wrote. "We want fresh vegetables to make a salad. Green onions, carrots, head lettuce, radishes, anything that will grow."

Mrs. Gill tried to buy seeds at local stores but in winter it's hard to buy seeds of any kind.

A reporter of the Port Huron Times Herald heard of her plight, wrote about it and the Port Huron Junior Chamber of Commerce picked up the ball.

Mrs. Gill said the response from people who wanted to help was overwhelming.

"They came to the door, all kinds of people, friends and relatives, and people I didn't know," she said.

The Jaycees sent seeds by the pounds to Sgt. Gill and his men.

"I've sent four boxes of just about everything that anybody would give us, from onion to sweet corn and even Portuguese watermelon," she added.

Mrs. Gill said her husband — "he has a green thumb" — has planted several things, but she didn't know exactly what.

There were other things Gill wrote home about.

"My darling, I want a picture of the first snow, just so I'll know that somewhere in the world there's a place without steam, mud, slush and stink."

"It's only 9:45 a.m., and the temperature is already 104 degrees. The humidity is 97 per cent. I've lost 22 pounds. We sweat 24 hours a day."

"This jungle, there's no end to it. There's so much I want to talk about. Things have to get better, darling. They can't get worse."

Mrs. Gill believes things will get very much better when her husband comes back because he will bring with him an adopted Vietnamese boy.

School Reorganization Changes in Wisconsin

DURAND, Wis. — School reorganization procedures in the state were changed by the state Legislature this year, according to Louis F. Berg, coordinator of Cooperative Educational Service Agency 5 with headquarters at Menomonie.

Agency 5 serves Durand, Pepin and Alma high schools. Other area schools are served by Agencies 6 and 11.

THE PRESENT county school committees were abolished. "These groups of six people in each of the counties have had the responsibility during the last 18 years of remaking the map of school district boundaries," Berg pointed out. "During their existence they have eliminated some 3,000 of Wisconsin's smaller school districts."

The new legislation also repeals the statute concerning the responsibility of municipal boards in school district reorganization.

In their place the legislature provided for a school committee in each of the 19 cooperative educational service agencies in the state. Each committee will consist of seven members, the law providing that "persons appointed shall have a recognized understanding of and an interest in the improvement of public education."

THE STATUTES set members qualifications. "No member shall be a member or employee of a school board or agency, nor shall more than one member be appointed from the territory served by a school district operating a high school."

The board of control of Agency 5, with offices in the Dunn County courthouse at Menomonie, has asked the 20 school districts in the agency to assist in selecting the new committees. Present members of county school committees are eligible for appointment if they meet the conditions.

Referendum election procedures remain the same in the new legislation. School committee procedures also remain the same as under the county school committees.

A new method of appeal from orders of the Agency school committee has been created. A state appeal board composed of four chairmen of agency school committees not directly concerned with the appeal, plus the state superintendent, constitute this board. Any person aggrieved by an order of an agency school committee may appeal to the state superintendent, who will set up an appeal board hearing. Decisions of the state appeal board are subject to referendum or appeal to the Circuit Court or both.

PRINCIPAL effect of the new law will be that there will now be 19 school committees instead of 72, and the new appeal procedure.

The board of control of Cooperative Educational Service Agency 5 will select the new committee at its meeting Dec. 27 at Ellsworth. The new committees assume their duties on Jan. 1.

Berg, coordinator of the agency, will be committee secretary.

Water Heater Triggered Blast In Keokuk Fire

KEOKUK, Iowa (AP) — Iowa Fire Marshal Wilbur Johnson says that a water heater apparently ignited a mass accumulation of gas that exploded in the National Guard armory here Nov. 24, causing 14 deaths.

In a statement Thursday, Johnson did not say where the gas came from but said investigators believed the blast was "triggered by a hot-water heating unit in the northeast corner of the rifle range."

Of the more than 60 persons attending a Thanksgiving eve square dance, 21 still are in hospitals with critical or serious burns.

The fatality toll rose to 14 Thursday with the death of Ray Beckett, 51, of Argyle. Beckett's wife died earlier of burns suffered in the blast.

Priest, Sailor Dead in Crash

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A Roman Catholic pastor has been killed in a two-car accident that also claimed the life of an 18-year-old sailor and critically injured another.

The double fatality near Kenosha Airport and the death of a teen-age Waukesha County boy in another accident raised the 1965 Wisconsin highway death toll to 831 compared with 821 at the same date a year ago.

Killed late Thursday night was the Rev. Salvatore Tagliavia, 45, pastor of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church in Kenosha, Kenosha County sheriff's deputies said.

The names of the sailors were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Father Tagliavia was reportedly on his way back to Kenosha from Milwaukee after visiting his ailing mother. His car and the car carrying the sailors, all assigned to the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, collided at the intersection of Highways 158 and 192.

The intersection has been the scene of several fatal accidents in the past.

In a two-car Waukesha County accident Thursday, John Caves, 16, of Eagle was killed. The accident occurred at highways 83 and 59 west of the city of Waukesha.

Woman Indicted In Drowning 5

HONOLULU (AP) — The Oahu grand jury returned a first-degree murder indictment Thursday against Mrs. Margaret Young, 38, accused of drowning her five children Nov. 22.

Life imprisonment is the maximum penalty for first-degree murder in Hawaii.

Mrs. Young is the wife of Air Force Capt. James Young, a native of San Antonio, Tex. Police say she drowned their five children in the bathtub of their home in Aiea, Hawaii. She is being held without bail.

State Prison Medical Program Under Criticism

ST. PAUL (AP) — Minnesota's prison medical program "gives the impression currently of being an uninspired, poorly led, second-class operation which is in need of substantial across-the-board strengthening and upgrading," a Menninger Foundation specialist said in a report released Thursday.

The report was by Dr. Russell O. Settle of the Kansas City, Mo., foundation's division of law and psychiatry. The Minnesota Department of Corrections hired him to study its medical and psychiatric programs.

Settle said medical care is adequate, but disorganized, with institutions headed in different directions. Overall direction, he said, is an "urgent need."

He also said the prison system could use twice the clinical psychiatric service now available, although there is a fulltime psychiatrist at each institution except for prison camps.

Settle reported that the new Juvenile Reception and Diagnostic Center at Lino Lakes is "administratively too complex" because both Corrections and Welfare Departments run programs there.

Zoning Board Grants Petition

A variance from rear lot clearance regulations was granted Thursday night to LaVerne Decker, 609 Center St., by the Board of Zoning Appeals.

Decker's petition was filed so he could lengthen an attached garage at the rear of his home. The outside garage wall is parallel to the rear lot line and is two feet therefrom. It is technically non-conforming since regulations specify 10 feet of clearance.

The variance must be granted in order to add to a non-conforming structure.

Tech School Subject of New Research

St. Mary's College has been named the recipient of a study grant under the United States Department of Labor, Office of Manpower, Automation, and Training.

The $1,560 grant is intended to support research on "The Role of the Technical School in Improving the Skill and Earning Power in Rural America; A Case Study of the Winona Technical School."

Dr. Svetozar Pejovich, associate professor of economics at St. Mary's, will act as the overall director of the project. The research is under Title I of the Manpower act which provides for study to deal with the problems of unemployment and other malutilization of manpower resources. . . . and Dr. Pejovich to raise the skills of the nation's work force."

THROUGH the project, Dr. Pejovich hopes to improve the general judgment about the program of technical schools, evaluate the role of the technical school in the rural areas, inform potential trainees of the benefit of these schools, and to utilize this study to emphasize the technical school as a means of providing the skilled labor necessary to attract additional industry to Winona.

The study will focus on the Winona Area Vocational-Technical School which presently enrolls 225 students from southeastern Minnesota, northern Iowa, and western Wisconsin. It will analyze the cost of the program as opposed to the benefits received from the schools.

The project will extend from Jan. 1, 1966 to March 31, 1968. Working with Dr. Pejovich will be William Sullivan, director of placement at St. Mary's, and Thomas Raine, director of the Area Vocational-Technical School.

Following the completion of this study, reports will be available through the Department of Labor in Washington.

Aldermen To Confer On Highways

Members of the City Council will meet earlier than the customary 7:30 p.m. starting time next Monday in order to discuss highway problems with Charles Burrill, Rochester, district engineer for the Minnesota Department of Highways.

Burrill and aldermen will start their conference at 6:30. Also on the agenda are discussions of an urban renewal referendum, the junk yard problem and enforcement of the city housing code.

On hand are communications concerning an additional mail drop box at the Winona post office, a hazardous building law passed by the last legislature and the resignation of James Klein, secretary of the City Planning Commission.

Youth Loses Arm in Corn Shredder Mishap

DURAND, Wis. (Special) — When Stephen Bauer's left arm got caught up in the corn shredder Thursday about 10 a.m., he turned around to his father, Francis V. Bauer, and said, "Dad, I lost my arm."

Stephen, 17-year-old senior at Sacred Heart High School, Lima, didn't call out, he just calmly stepped back and told what had happened.

His father, who reported his condition as good this morning at St. Benedict's Community Hospital, Durand, said Stephen stayed home from school Thursday to help with shredding on the home place about three miles east of Durand on Pepin County Trunk V. Two neighbors also were helping, Carl Robelia and Lawrence Anibas.

Stephen was cleaning out the shredder with his left hand when his arm got caught in the cutter head, which sliced it off about four inches below the shoulder.

Francis asked Robelia to take the boy to the hospital. Meanwhile he called a doctor and the hospital to alert them, and he and his wife followed. He was in surgery about three hours.

Bauer said Stephen got into the car himself and walked from the car to the hospital. He will be in the hospital 7-10 days.

Bond Forfeited, Trial Stricken

A Winona man scheduled to be tried today on a careless driving charge in municipal court forfeited bond instead, and a Caledonia, Minn., man pleaded guilty to a different traffic charge.

Sidney R. Pettie, 68, 1644 E. 4th St., forfeited $30 bond — the amount of the usual fine for a careless driving conviction — rather than stand trial on the charge today in municipal court.

Police charged him last Friday at 9:55 p.m. after arresting him at 5th and Main streets. Pettie pleaded not guilty to the charge Saturday, and Judge John D. McGill set trial for today.

Paul F. Weichert, 20, Caledonia, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving at night without headlights and paid a $10 fine as the alternative to three days in jail. He was arrested today at 1:50 a.m. at Broadway and Mankato Avenue.

Weichert's explanation to Judge McGill that the gadget which operates his overdrive transmission was drawing too much amperage for him to operate both engine and lights at once did not win him a reduction of the fine which the judge levied.

Weichert said that the trouble began at the top of Witoka Hill, and he thought he could make it into Winona because of the light traffic at that hour.

Franchise Awarded Area Dairy Farm

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special) — The Double J Farm Dairy, owned by Robert and Albert Johnson, has received an "All-Jersey" milk marketing franchise and began sales in Mondovi and area stores today. Home deliveries will begin Monday.

The franchise was awarded by the American Jersey Cattle Club. Double J is the second All-Jersey franchise in Wisconsin.

Holmen Cooperative Dairy is processing milk for the new dairy until volume increases.

IN HOSPITAL. LANESBORO, Minn. (Special) — Peter Fox is a patient at Veterans Hospital, Minneapolis, where he will undergo eye surgery.

South Dakota Youth Faces Check Charge

A 21-year-old South Dakota youth is scheduled to appear next Friday in municipal court to ask for or waive preliminary hearing on the check forgery charge placed against him today.

John E. Dallen, 21, Hot Springs, S.D., was arrested Thursday afternoon in La Crosse by La Crosse police and turned over to Winona detectives. Dallen waived extradition and was returned to Winona immediately.

The youth is charged with forging the signature "J. E. Faber" to a check for $28.70 issued to Faber by the State of Minnesota on funds provided by the federal Manpower Development and Training Act.

The check was cashed in Winona Sept. 15.

POSTAL AUTHORITIES began the investigation of the check forgery; but, after locating Dallen, they determined that Winona County holds authority to prosecute in the case.

County Attorney S. A. Sawyer appeared for the state today in municipal court. He was asked by Judge John D. McGill to certify to District Court that Dallen is indigent and should have a lawyer appointed by that court to represent him.

Dallen is to appear in court next Friday after conferring with his court-appointed attorney.

He was in county jail today under $2,000 bond set by Judge McGill. A friend, with whom he worked in La Crosse, was attempting to raise bail, however.

DALLEN HAD been Faber's roommate, and it was Faber who cast suspicion on Dallen when postal authorities began their investigation. Police said today that Dallen has admitted stealing two checks from Faber's effects in their room last September.

Judge McGill explained to Dallen that he cannot plead to the felony charge in municipal court. However, before going to District Court to plead, Dallen can demand that the state produce evidence sufficient to justify their prosecution of him at a hearing in municipal court.

Expect Turkey Prices to Hold

Wisconsin will probably produce about as many turkeys in 1966 as this year. Prices should hold — especially for the broiler-type turkeys, says John Skinner, University of Wisconsin poultry specialist. Prices on turkey toms may even improve because of increased output in the further processed market.

Higher turkey prices and low feed prices this year may have set the stage for a large national increase in turkey production. The 1966 turkey crop may exceed their record 108.1 million crop of 1961. An increase this large could result in lower national turkey prices in 1966, but Skinner feels Wisconsin prices will hold.

The favorable egg prices, coupled with lower feed costs, will likely encourage larger hatchings of replacement chicks. The result will be a larger, younger and more productive national laying flock. By the fourth quarter of next year, egg prices will probably be lower than they are now, says Skinner.

DO UNTO OTHERS . . . Tiny and Tim practice the Golden Rule but in a strange way. They love each other but they also bite each other. Tim, age 2, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Carroll, 4345-7th St., Goodview. Tiny, age 3, is part terrier and part Chihuahua. Tim is all boy. They are inseparable. Tiny and Tim felt slighted after the birth of Tim's brother, David. They did not receive as much attention. Tiny was crushed. Tim was crushed. It was a horse apiece. They even ran away together one day. "I don't know how Tiny puts up with this toughie son of ours," said Mrs. Carroll. "He is treated so roughly. Tim and Tiny take turns biting each other on the face and ears. Both yelp! And Tim swings the dog around by the tail. I realize now that Tiny has a very important virtue . . . patience! My husband and I cannot reprimand the dog but what he will snap or bark at us. Tim can do anything and everything to him and get away with it." (Daily News photo)

Items Taken From 2 Cars

Winona police were investigating two petty thefts today, according to Chief James W. McCabe.

Dr. Robert B. Tweedy, 325 Harriet St., reported Thursday night that his doctor's satchel was stolen from his car sometime Thursday. His car had been parked in a number of locations before he discovered the theft Thursday night, he said.

The missing satchel contained a stethoscope, equipment for taking blood pressure and miscellaneous items the value of which Dr. Tweedy did not estimate. There were no narcotics in the bag, he said.

Mrs. Chester Nowan, 113 N. Baker St., complained that a someone took the battery and a rear-view mirror from their car after 10:30 p.m. Thursday night. The car was parked in front of their home when the theft took place, she said, and she valued the missing items at $25.

Trucker Hurt In Accident Near Canton

CANTON, Minn. (Special) — A Dubuque, Iowa, truck driver was injured when his semi jackknifed on slippery blacktop about one mile east of Canton at 3 a.m. today and landed in the ditch.

Robert Kohl was taken by another trucker to the Stetline Cafe at Prosper and transported there by Richard Knox, resident of the area who stopped at the cafe for coffee after completing working the night shift at 2 a.m. at Decora, Iowa, and was en route home.

Knox took him to a doctor at Mabel, where he was examined for chest pains. He was taken from there by Mengis ambulance of Mabel to Smith Memorial Hospital, Decora, Iowa, for treatment.

Kohl was driving an H & W semi, which was still in the ditch at 10:30 a.m. Mengis said the roads were so slippery he couldn't drive over 20 miles an hour until he got four miles south of Burr Oak, Iowa, when the concrete was clear the rest of the way.

Suit Over Property in Court Here

The plaintiff in a defunct partnership detailed claims on his former partner — the defendant — totalling $1,481.75 in testimony this morning in District Court.

In addition, Marvin Marion, Rushford, Minn., said that his former partner still holds machinery either partly or wholly owned by himself. The partnership has not functioned since the fall of 1961, both sides agree.

Attorney Dennis A. Challen, representing Marion, called defendant Orville Matteson, Rushford, to the stand as the first plaintiff's witness.

Matteson testified that the partnership's stationary sawmill is located on property in Rushford Township owned by himself. He admitted that he has partnership property in his possession still.

THIS INCLUDES A Ford tandem truck, a Ford winch truck and a John Deere bulldozer.

In addition, Matteson admits selling a partnership fuel tank for $32.50 and not giving Marion his share.

Matteson maintained that he only used his own lumber in building a house about 1962, not any of the finished lumber owned by the partnership at the time of the dissolution.

Finally, the defendant admitted possessing one cant hook, a log turner and a 12-inch belt owned by the partnership. He knows nothing of a fuel pump and log chains belonging to the partnership, Matteson said.

Attorney Clinton J. Hall, Rushford, reserved questioning of his client until he is ready to put in the defendant's case.

CHALLENGE called Marion to the stand, and the plaintiff admitted having retained a GMC truck owned by the partnership. He agreed with Matteson's testimony concerning possession of the partnership's machinery, but Marion claimed that Matteson had used partnership lumber worth about $512 to build his house.

Marion also claims that Matteson owes him $242.50 as his half share for purchase of an engine for one of the partnership's trucks and $150 for half of a trade-in of $300 on a partnership electric motor.

(Matteson said that the electric motor was traded in on a diesel engine owned by the partnership. He has since sold the diesel for scrap at $40. Matteson said he had not given Marion his $20 share.)

Marion also claims he spent about $150 of his own money for tires used by the partnership and that he should be refunded the full $150. He entered a similar claim for $70 for oxygen and acetylene gas he bought.

FINALLY Marion said that Matteson had collected about $710 in accounts receivable without giving the plaintiff his share. But he added that he had collected $230 in accounts receivable without giving Matteson his share.

The total claim from this item is $240.

Judge Arnold Hatfield who is hearing the case without a jury, recessed the trial at this point to allow Marion to get a record book purporting to show amounts of lumber taken by Matteson from the partnership.

Preston Co-op Workers End 24-Hour Strike

BLAIR, Wis. (Special) — A 24-hour strike of members of Local 662 of the Teamsters Union here ended today when drivers went back to work for Preston Cooperative Creamery.

The issues involved were requests for additions of union shop and dues checkoff to the present contract. All economic factors had been agreed upon earlier during negotiations over a new 3-year contract between the union and the co-op board of directors.

There was picketing at the plant Thursday, but at a meeting Thursday night, the drivers belonging to the union voted to accept the contract as offered by the directors, without the union shop and checkoff provisions.

Milk was brought in Thursday by non-striking drivers and supervisors so the product was processed as usual, according to Donald Stanford, public relations director of the co-op.

HOLIDAY MOVIES

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special) — The Arcadia Lions Club will again sponsor free pre-holiday movies for grade school age children of the Arcadia trade area at the Vogue Theatre beginning Saturday. Pre-school children may attend if they are accompanied by an older child.

Freezing Rain Slicks Roadways

Motorists were surprised by a sheet of thin ice over sidewalks and streets this morning from a light rain which froze on contact with the ground.

By midmorning cars had cut through the glare ice and, although drivers reported slippery conditions in some places, most streets and area highways were driveable.

Mostly fair tonight is the forecast with a low of 22 to 28. Increasing cloudiness is predicted for Saturday when the high is expected to be between 40 and 48. Sunday will be partly cloudy and mild, said the weatherman.

AFTER RISING to a mild 48 Thursday afternoon, the thermometer dropped to only 38 overnight and was 37 at noon today. Precipitation measured .03 of an inch.

This contrasts with a high of 25 a year ago today and a low of 9. At that time 1.3 inches of snow lay on the ground. The alltime high for Dec. 3 was 60 in 1961 and 1951. Low for the day was -19 in 1940. Mean for the past 24 hours is 41 in contrast with the normal mean for this time of the year of 25.

Some below freezing temperatures appeared on the state weather map. International Falls reported snow and a morning low of 20. It was 22 at Hibbing and Duluth.

Rochester had a morning figure of 34 after a Thursday high of 41 and La Crosse posted figures of 42 and 35 for the same times.

TEMPERATURES through Wednesday are expected to average 2 to 6 degrees above normal with a little cooler weather over the weekend and warming up early next week. A chance of light snow flurries was seen for the beginning of the week.

A weak cold front moved into Wisconsin during the night and left mostly cloudy skies over the state as it traveled rapidly eastward.

Very light snow was reported in the Superior area this morning with light freezing rain at Green Bay, light sleet at Eau Claire and very light showers at Manitowish.

Maximum temperatures over the state Thursday were well above seasonal normals. The highest temperature reported in the state was 48 degrees at Milwaukee.

Minimum temperatures over the state Thursday night were about the same as those of the previous night. The lowest temperature reported was 19 degrees at Eau Claire.

The nation's high reading Thursday was 80 at Burbank, Calif. The low reading early today was 7 at Elko, Nevada.

It Happened Last Night Seasons Confusing In Puerto Rico

By EARL WILSON

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — In a bamboo hut under the palm trees at the Hotel Americana, there's an afternoon discotheque a-thumping and a-throbbing . . . and you can hear the wild beat of the drums up in your room.

There are girls from New York strolling in from the beach and the pool in bikinis cut lower and higher than the Puerto Ricans approve.

But there are red and white Christmas decorations hanging over the main streets in the burning midday sun.

You are inclined, when you're a northerner most of your life, to get all mixed up about what time of year it is.

But it's a good time of year any time down here . . . the fact is, the winter vacation season is on, perhaps a little ahead of time this year, and very, very booming.

Mayor-elect John V. Lindsay has been down here touring the small towns, running for Governor, and Vice President Humphrey has been down here speaking to the Democrats, running for President — but I've not been running, not even walking. I'm just sitting, enjoying a well-earned rest from Princess Margaret.

MY BIGGEST excitement was a talk with Billy Daniels, who's singing here at the America, fresh from the New York Copacabana and from Semmy Davis' "Golden Boy."

I was walking in the vicinity of the bar near the pool when Billy came up with a half-frown on his face. I had always thought we were friends. I doubt if anybody's written more frequently of his talents.

"Earl," he began, hesitantly, "you wrote in your column when I was at the Copacabana that I had reformed . . . that I had quit drinking, quit gambling, quit playing around, and that I had gone back to my wife and family and was being a dutiful husband.

"You," continued Billy, severely, "have loused me up all over the country."

"Every time I start whispering sweet nonsense to some girl, she says 'Get away from me, you've reformed. I read it in Earl Wilson's column.'"

"Earl," Billy said, "I very seldom ask for a retraction, but . . ."

GAMBLING'S practically unlimited here now. Five years ago, when last here, there were a few hotels that had gambling, now there's a whole new "Hotel Row" and few that don't have gambling.

The roulette tables were choked to such an extent that my B.W. couldn't find an open spot to stand the other night when she wanted to play. There was a waiting line with women bickering over who was next.

The B.W., who had $10 to lose and was determined to squander it, went to a dice table, and into a game she didn't know, and soon had won $15.

Puerto Ricans used to come to New York to find gold in the streets. I doubt if they found any. The B.W. came here to find gold on the roulette table and found it on the crap table. I gather, from hearing her tell about it since, that she wasn't too upset about not finding it where she expected it would be.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Johnny Martin claims he saw this on an office bulletin board: "This year's Christmas party has been cancelled because of last year's Christmas party."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Some of the worst guessers are people at parties who "guess we can stand another drink."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Flattery, like honey, is very sweet. But, like glue, it can be very sticky and cause problems." — Anon.

EARL'S PEARLS: Some people will ask you a question, answer it for you, and say you're wrong. — Arnold Glasgow.

Playwright Howard Teichmann was discussing a B'way show he'd just first-nighted. "I'm of two minds about that show," he said, "Mine — and my wife's." . . . That's earl brother.

White Man Convicted of Slaying Negro

ANNISTON, Ala. (AP) — For the first time in recent Alabama history, a white man has been convicted of murder in the slaying of a Negro.

Hubert Damon Strange, 25, was convicted Thursday of second-degree murder. The white male jury set his penalty at 10 years in prison.

Judge Robert M. Parker set sentencing for noon EST today.

The conviction of Strange for the murder of Negro foundry worker Willie Brewster, 38, followed two recent acquittals of white men in Alabama civil rights slayings. The acquittals brought a renewal of Alabama demonstrations by the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, a civil rights group headed by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

There have been at least two manslaughter convictions of whites in modern Southern history for the slaying of Negroes in cases linked to recent racial tension.

Johnnie Mae Chappel, 35, Negro, was shot and killed in Jacksonville, Fla., during racial demonstrations on March 23, 1963. J.W. Rich, 22, a white man, was sentenced to 10 years for manslaughter.

Virgil Ware, 13, a Negro, was shot to death Sept. 15, 1963, in the aftermath of a Negro church bombing which killed four girls in Birmingham, Ala. Two white youths were convicted of second-degree manslaughter and released on probation.

The conviction of Strange came as a shock to those in the Calhoun County Courthouse, especially to J. B. Stoner, defense attorney, who had confidently predicted acquittal or, at worst, a mistrial.

Stoner asked quickly that the jury be polled. Each juror told the judge that was his verdict. Stoner said he would appeal.

Strange, a service station attendant, stood with his hands on his hips as the verdict was read. Then he frowned and shrugged his shoulders before he was led away.

The jury debated and balloted for about 13 hours over a two-day period.

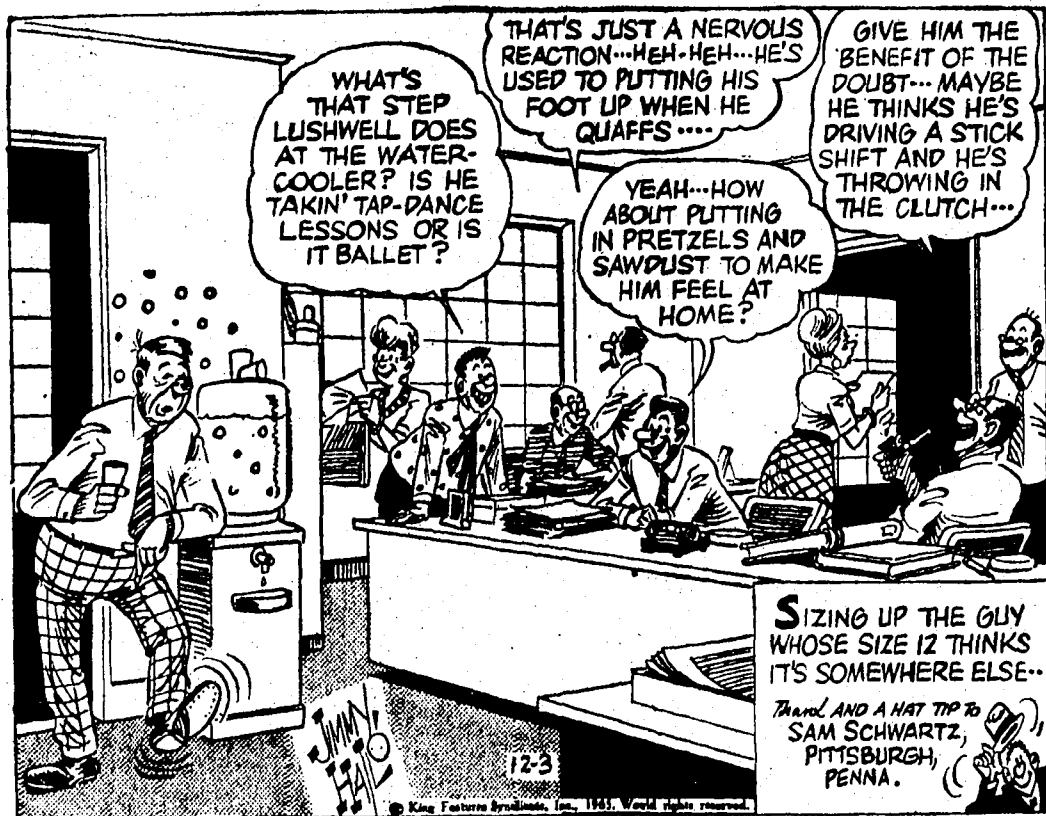

Parker told the jurors that any attempt at intimidation because of their decision should be reported to the court.

Two other white men have been charged with the slaying. One, Lewis Blevins, 26, said after the verdict: "I don't see how they could convict on that evidence. Strange was convicted on pressure by the newspapers before he was tried."

Strange and the other white man, Johnny Ira Defries, 25, had nothing to say.

Browns Valley Will Get Doctor It Really Wanted

BROWNS VALLEY, Minn. (AP) — Browns Valley will get the Philippines-born doctor it has sought for so long, after all. The U.S. State Department in Washington has reversed a ruling that barred Dr. Victor M. Colago and his family from settling in this western Minnesota community.

Colago came to the United States under an exchange-visitor program and studied at the University of Minnesota Medical School.

He then sought to start a practice at Browns Valley, where a doctor was needed at the Community Health Center, but immigration authorities ruled that he could not legally settle there as a permanent resident, so he moved to Winnipeg, Man.

Meanwhile, a community support developed in Browns Valley and several appeals were made in the doctor's behalf over the past few years.

The State Department's reversal came this week on an appeal Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., made last month, the senator said Thursday night, in announcing the change.

The department specifically said "Dr. and Mrs. Colago have been determined to have satisfied the foreign residence requirement" of immigration and naturalization law.

"The need of good, qualified physicians like Dr. Colago to practice in small communities has been great," Mondale said. "The Browns Valley community clinic will now be able to provide much-needed medical service to the whole area."

Wild Turkey Shoot

With several plantings of wild turkeys made in the past few years in the Tiffany Public Hunting grounds along the Chippewa River in Buffalo County, Wis., the thinking of the Wisconsin Conservation Department on a very limited turkey season this coming April should be of local interest. The fact that the department is even thinking about an open season shows the progress the birds have made in restocking a territory that up to the plantings, has not seen a wild turkey in 50 years.

Minnesota has made similar plantings in the White-water Refuge for the last three years, with hatches of young birds seen during the recent deer season. Incidentally there was an item in the 75 years ago column, telling of a hunter killing a large wild turkey locally. Here is a summary of what is happening in Wisconsin, and the results of Michigan's first wild turkey hunt since 1897.

Wisconsin Conservation Department game officials are pushing hard to bring about an experimental wild turkey hunt in the Necedah area, perhaps as soon as next April.

But there have been protests from some conservation circles, where fear is expressed that the state's fledgling turkey population may be overshot in a special gun season.

Michigan last month completed its first legal wild turkey season since 1897 and the results of the nine-day hunt should ease a little, at least, the fears of those who believe wild turkeys to be easy targets.

Four hundred permit holding sportsmen took part in the Michigan hunt, and for 318 of them, it was no more than a labor of love. Only 82 birds were taken in the experimental season, a success rate of about 20 percent.

And it took the birds no more than one day to become gun smart. On opening day, 52 turkeys were taken. After that it was all down hill for the hunters as the tally dropped to 9 the second day and then 2, 3, 2, 4, 3, 5 and 2 for the remainder of the season.

Bigger by Choice
The season's results produced some other interesting facts for Michigan game biologists who examined every turkey taken. The kill was evenly divided between male and female birds, 41 gobblers and 41 hens. The same 41-41 split was recorded between adult and immature turkeys.

Normally, a higher percentage of young birds might have been expected in the total take, but the probability is that hunters permitted to shoot any turkey they saw picked out the bigger adult birds when they had a choice.

Minister Refused To Marry Couple

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We took our daughter and her boy friend to our minister's and asked him to marry them right away. Our daughter is 16 and this kid is 17. It was a "have-to" case, but that's beside the point. The minister talked to the kids separately and then he came out and told us that he wouldn't marry them. Now this man calls himself an EPISCOPALIAN minister! His excuse was that he didn't think such a marriage would last! Well, we got another minister to marry those kids, but I want to know if it isn't the DUTY of a clergyman to perform a marriage ceremony when he's asked to? Since when is HIS opinion on how long the marriage will last important? MOTHER OF THE GIRL

DEAR ABBY: I don't know where "duty" ends and conscience begins in a case of this kind. But if a clergyman feels that the marriage is doomed to failure, or both parties are not equally willing, I should think it is his privilege to refuse the blessings of the church to such a union.

DEAR ABBY: Was I wrong to tell my mother-in-law that she shouldn't wear so many charm bracelets all at once? She has six charm bracelets loaded with huge charms, and she wears them constantly. They make so much noise, it is very embarrassing. Even though the charms are beautiful, individually, they look so showy and overdressed when they're all worn together. She became very angry with me when I mentioned this to her. Was I wrong? I assure you I did it with the best of intentions in a very respectful way.

IN THE DOGHOUSE

DEAR IN: I happen to agree with you. Moderation is essential to good taste in everything. But there is no "respectful" way to volunteer criticism of this kind. (Restraint also has its charm.)

DEAR ABBY: On my boss's birthday, a few months ago, the two other girls from our office and I were invited to his home for lunch. It was a lovely party and his wife was a charming hostess. As we left, the two other girls kissed the boss "happy birthday" on his cheek. When he stepped forward for my kiss, I did not kiss him. I shook his hand. He got very red in the face. Later my friends told me that I had insulted him. Since that day his attitude has changed toward me. He no longer compliments me on my work, nor does he offer me a lift home on rainy days. Do you think I behaved foolishly? What can I do to make it up to him? My job is no longer the pleasure it used to be. I am 23 and my boss is about 50.

SHY IN ROME

DEAR SHY: Yes, you behaved foolishly. But if your boss continues to sulk, he is even more foolish than you. Perhaps time will dim the memory of the "insult." Give him until his next birthday. And if he's still sulking, kiss the job goodbye, and let some other girl kiss him "happy birthday."

CONFIDENTIAL TO ELLEN AT THE BANK: If all your dreams don't come true, take comfort in the fact that neither do your nightmares.

Five Dead in Minnesota Auto Mishaps

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five persons, three pedestrians and the drivers of two vehicles which collided, died in Minnesota traffic accidents Thursday. The deaths raised Minnesota's 1965 highway toll to 762, compared with 772 a year ago today.

Frank Roos, 31, rural Jeffers, succumbed early this morning in a Mankato hospital. He was the second victim of a collision Thursday night just south of Windom on a straight stretch of U.S. Highway 71.

Dead at the scene was Mrs. Mildred Louise Sinn, 46, rural Trimont, Minn., whose car collided head-on with the truck driven by Roos.

The Highway Patrol said Mrs. Sinn had been visiting a sister, Mrs. Arvin Daggett of Windom. Elsie Taylor, 92, Minneapolis, was fatally injured when hit by a car near her home Thursday. The driver was Forrest M. Holmes Jr., 24, who lives nearby, police said.

Erving C. Charlson, 85, Red Wing, was fatally injured by a car as he crossed U.S. 61 about 10 miles west of Red Wing Thursday. The Highway Patrol said driver William David Taylor, 34, St. Paul, ran into a ditch in trying to avoid the man.

Linda Frahm, 17, rural Mankato, died when hit by a gravel truck near Mankato High School Thursday.

Rolvaag Expects Major Reforms In Government

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Major reforms will streamline state, county and municipal governments in the next 10 years, Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag said Thursday, but those at the county level may be most important.

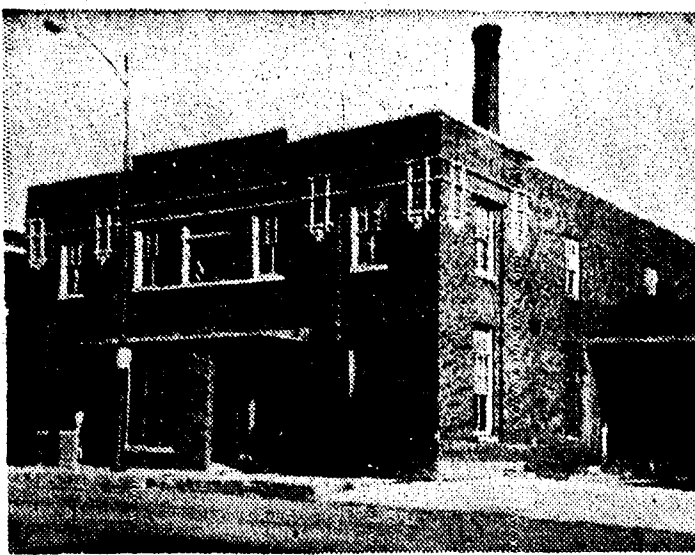

Rolvaag spoke at the 56th annual convention of the Association of Minnesota Counties. "I believe that many of the problems of urban growth could be approached most effectively by strengthening our county governments," he said.

He said counties may be better suited than municipalities or special-purpose districts to handle many problems.

As steps toward modernizing county government, the governor proposed an interim commission of the legislature study the matter and that the legislature give some-rule powers to the counties.

He also called for changes to give the voters more control over policy-makers in county government.

Rolvaag said county government has advantages because its machinery is already in operation, it has a wider geographical area, has a broader base of resources and has a board elected by voters.

Some Notes On Plant Development

IN a previous article we offered some information on the basic structure of flowers. It was emphasized that their prime function for their being was to produce and perpetuate their kind of the production of seeds.

Today, let us talk about some of these seed-bearing plants which comprise the largest group and the highest types of plants in the vegetable world, including all of our common trees, shrubs, vines, grasses and the herbaceous forms. In doing this, we will pass over, for the time being, the lower forms in the plant world such as the algae, fungi, mosses and the ferns.

This large group of seed-bearing plants may be divided for convenience into two well-defined classes, plants with naked seeds, and those with enclosed seeds. The plants with naked seeds are represented today principally by the cone-bearing trees, or evergreens. However, there are a number of tropical palm-like species that have naked seeds, also. They show fernlike characters and are of interest because they are the most primitive of our present day seed-bearing plants, and are closely related to the extinct forms that flourished in very ancient times.

The cone bearing trees are by far the largest group in which the seeds are naked. The pollen is distributed by the wind, unlike the pollination of many forms which is achieved through the agency of insects. They are confined mostly to the temperate regions and are more numerous in the northern hemisphere. There are some 300 species at the present time, some of which are the most valuable commercial trees we have.

ONE OF THE most noticeable features of these trees is the nature of the buds. By means of the scale leaves, the buds are protected from drying winds and other unfavorable conditions. Generally the terminal bud of a pine tree is the most vigorous one and this usually results in a spire-like stem surrounded by symmetrically placed branches.

Many of these evergreen varieties are not able to send forth sprouts from the stumps and with few exceptions are able to perpetuate their kind only from seeds. On the other hand, hardwood forests will often survive through sprouts that grow

Woman Fined for Riot Interference In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mrs. Rena Frye, convicted of interfering with police at the outset of the South Los Angeles riots last August, has been fined $250 and placed on probation for two years.

A 30-day jail term was suspended when sentence was passed Thursday.

Her counsel said an appeal will be filed, on the contention that jurors were prejudiced by prosecution assertions that Mrs. Frye's actions precipitated the riots.

Mrs. Frye, 49, was arrested last Aug. 11 for interfering with officers as they arrested her sons, Marquette, 21, and Ronald, 22, as drunk-driving suspects.

Bystanders began throwing rocks, and rioting broke out, lasting six days.

He chartered an Italian jetliner for $7,000 and completed the trip as the only passenger in the 95-seat plane. Doctors told Juri when he arrived that his 65-year-old father was a little better.

President's Case Against Inflation

IN CITING VIET NAM war needs as a reason for businessmen to hold the price line against inflation, President Johnson linked the two things that the executives have closely tied in their own minds of late.

For many business leaders have feared the Viet Nam military buildup was the spark that could set an orderly but highly expanded economy into a boom.

And this worry in recent weeks has built up fear of a new inflationary surge.

The rising cost of living and higher wholesale and materials prices have fed such fears. So, too, in its own way has the debate on the merits or perils of rising interest rates.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON'S plea to hold the wage-price line was addressed to the business council, a group of top executives of American industry, meeting in Washington. He said the line could be held and all of the Viet Nam war needs met, if government and business and labor cooperate.

The spending on the war, now estimated to add perhaps $5 billion more to government outlays next year, could be taken in stride by today's giant-sized economy. Businessmen admit that. What they're worried about is that even without this stimulant, the economy shows every sign of growing to the point of full employment and full use of production capacity. Government spending in other fields than the Viet Nam war also is rising, and seems likely to go higher. This would be a stimulant in itself to the economy.

IT'S THE POSSIBILITY of an economy working at capacity—with labor shortages developing here and there and with no idle factory facilities to draw on—that arouses the fears of overheating. That is, at some point added upward pressure could set off a boom.

And booms historically have meant inflation, with wages and prices chasing each other uphill. Also historically, there has been a sudden end to the joyride — almost everyone injured in the spill.

The President's view is that this can be avoided. He rejects the idea of conservative monetary authorities that a brake should be put on economic expansion by letting interest rates rise, as demand for loans to finance expansion rise. He thinks this is more likely to crimp prosperity than to provide a safe medicine to ward off inflation.

THE PRESIDENT does urge businessmen to resist the temptation to raise prices. They have been pleading that their raw materials and production costs have been going up faster than mechanization can provide a counterbalance. Also some are tempted because competition in their industry has slackened as buying demand grows and idle facilities are put to work.

The government also urges labor unions to hold down wage demands, so as not to push up production costs enough to make price rises inevitable.

And the President wants the banks not to raise interest rates for their eager borrowers, and thus cool some of their ardor.

THESE GUIDELINES, he says, would prevent inflation. And he thinks the Viet Nam war expansion needn't be either the excuse or the cause of overheating the already bubbling economy.

TODAY IN NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Haphazard Way Of Presidency

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Arthur Schlesinger Jr., and Theodore Sorensen, who have written books about how the presidency was conducted under the late John F. Kennedy, have performed a useful service. The intimate details of how important decisions were reached emphasize the lack of organization that surrounds the highest office in government. This is still characteristic of the White House under the Johnson administration.

No private business of any size would be permitted by the stockholders to function in the same haphazard way. Sooner or later, the American people, when they get all the facts, will insist that a system of responsible government be substituted for the present method whereby impromptu, spur-of-the-moment decisions are made on the advice of untrained persons in top posts in the government.

There's a better way, and the British government practices it. The bureaucrats have their say down the line, but the Cabinet consists of a group of men who sit in with the prime minister frequently to give him advice and counsel on every major decision.

THE FACT is that if ten of the most outstanding men in the United States were appointed to the Cabinet and divested of the duty of actually managing a particular department in all its detail and if permanent career officers were chosen to operate the departments, the Cabinet officers would be free to sit alongside the president and give their entire time to him. They would assist the chief executive every day not only in reaching decisions but in carrying them out. Each of the Cabinet officers would, of course, after being nominated by the President, have to be confirmed by the Senate in the same way as department heads now are appointed.

Today the White House assistants — and they all have a far-reaching influence in advising the President of the United States — are chosen by the chief executive, but they are not subject to confirmation by the Senate. Hence, they are not directly responsible to the people, as is the case under the British system.

Messrs. Schlesinger and Sorensen have disclosed some details of what President Kennedy faced before the Cuban-missile crisis was brought to a head. At that time, it now is being revealed, the United States was the closest it has come to nuclear war.

IN THE END, a kind of compromise was made by which war was avoided. But Castro and the Communists were left implanted in Cuba, despite an explicit contradiction not only of the Monroe Doctrine but of the policies of other American presidents.

The latest book by Arthur Schlesinger Jr., discloses that Mr. Kennedy was thinking of removing Secretary of State Rusk because, it is said, the latter followed the advice of the career officers in the Department of State. This is an old criticism and has been heard again and again in many administrations. Foreign service officers who have served a long time and have been face-to-face with many a critical situation often are lambasted because they go back in history and point out the adverse consequences that may flow from hasty or ill-advised decisions.

There is nothing wrong, generally speaking, with bureaucratic advice in foreign policy. Persons inside the State Department are just as good Americans as those outside the department. Their judgment could be wrong on occasions, but the responsibility for reversing them must be upon persons who have carefully investigated all phases of the controversies that arise. This should not be done by men who have had no training or background in foreign affairs and who have been selected in a hurry by a new president of the United States when he takes office.

TOO MUCH emphasis is placed at the White House nowadays on political advice — as to what will be popular or unpopular — and too little thought is given to the long-range effects of the vital decisions that have to be made.

President Johnson does call to his Texas home every now and then some members of his Cabinet, but it is apparent that he does not have at his side constantly a Cabinet of ten persons who are thoroughly familiar with national and international problems. There have been occasional group meetings, but a regular procedure requiring council meetings at least three or four times a week between the Cabinet and the President is still not being put into effect.

Some day the errors and mistakes of the present system will come into full view, and the American people will demand a remedy.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Viet Nam War Chant Sours Peace Refrain

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — With the Christmas refrain of "Peace on Earth" already ringing in their ears, the American people face, not peace, but an ever more bitter, bloody war in Viet Nam.

During the past year, the undeclared jungle war has mounted so steadily — a step at a time — that few Americans realize it is rapidly approaching the scale of the Korean War.

By the coming spring, if secret Pentagon plans are implemented, American forces in South Viet Nam should surpass 300,000 men, more than saw action in Korea. It is abundantly clear that the chips are down.

With the build-up, inevitably, have come soaring casualty lists. Already Ex-Vice President Nixon has served notice that the Viet Nam war would be a political issue in the 1966 campaign.

In brief, here is how the Viet Nam war looks to the men in the backrooms of the Pentagon:

VIET CONG strength — out of a population of 14,000,000, the Viet Cong have no more than 300,000 dedicated, disciplined followers. Perhaps 70,000 can be classed as regular, bolstered by an estimated 16,000 North Vietnamese troops, with more infiltrating every day.

Another 100,000 to 120,000 guerrillas are operating in small bands, often farming by day and fighting by night. The remaining followers may scout, spy, smuggle and run messages for the Viet Cong.

The hard-core Viet Cong believes influence another 500,000 sympathizers. Thus the Communists might claim the support of 6 per cent of the population.

Across the 17th parallel, North Viet Nam has a standing army of 250,000, a militia of another 200,000. An additional 40,000 men in the security forces are under arms. The key question, of course, is — how many of these men will North Viet Nam slip across the border?

Viet Cong strategy — There is evidence that the Viet Cong have shifted the brunt of their attacks from the South Vietnamese to the Americans.

The U.S. build-up has given them the opportunity to make the war conform to their own propaganda — a war between the Americans "Imperialists" and the Vietnamese people.

A NORTH Vietnamese sergeant, captured at Plei Me, was asked why the communists had kept fighting despite staggering casualties.

His answer is ominous for Americans: "We have been taught that our duty was to drive out the Americans, to liberate our fellow countrymen, to fight to the last drop of blood. So, in spite of the casualties, we fought hard."

Other prisoners have also told of intensive anti-American indoctrination.

Red China's role — While egging the Viet Cong on and declaring America a "paper tiger," the Red Chinese have shown more inclination to shout than shoot. They prefer to let others fight their battles for them.

There are indications, however, that China might be preparing to throw some planes into the air war. Across the Viet Nam border, new air strips are being built and old airfields enlarged.

An evacuation of non-essential people from the cities of South China as far north as Canton has also begun.

Those left behind have been given intensive air raid drills, and shelters are being dug. This is not regarded as a propaganda show but a serious preparation for possible air attack.

HOWEVER, no abnormal troop movements have been spotted along the Chinese-Viet Nam border. Nor has there been any significant increase in military shipments that might presage a big Red Chinese move.

Of course, the border is difficult country, and the Chinese are adept at infiltration and the use of cover. But the worst our war watchers expect is the appearance of Chinese combat planes in the Viet-Nam skies.

They are also encouraged by reports of trouble between the Viet Cong and Peking. The Viet Cong's accredited representative in Moscow, Nguyen Van Dong, has been quoted by the Prague radio as saying: "Relations between the Viet Cong and people's China are now considerably strained."

Russians role — The Russians are on the horns of a dilemma. As the world's second greatest nuclear power, they know what devastation a third world war would bring. They clearly would prefer to trade than fight with the United States. So would most of their European satellites, which hunger for food and consumer goods.

But if Russia is to maintain her leadership of the Communist world against the challenge of Red China, she must give support to North Viet Nam, which has been built up by Communist propaganda as a martyr-nation.

A SHOW of support is also necessary if Russia is to "keep face" in Asia and exercise some influence in Hanoi.

Playing it cagey, the Russians apparently want to get the maximum credit for their aid to North Viet Nam, while holding that aid down to a minimum. Their talk is bigger than the shipments arriving in Haiphong.

Yet it remains an ominous fact that the Russians are building 40 permanent anti-aircraft missile bases around Hanoi and Haiphong. They have supplied the North Vietnamese with Sam-2 missiles, the same as those supplied to Cuba's Fidel Castro.

Nevertheless, the feeling in the Pentagon is that the Soviets would like to see a Viet Nam settlement. They have come around to the view that the United States is not going to be backed down from its pledges, not by little North Viet Nam nor by a Peking bluff.

Guenther Unhappy With Conservatives To the Editor:

During the 1965 Minnesota legislative session the Conservatives spent more time on insignificant matters and game playing than any legislature in recent history.

Legislative decisions in the final days of the session only served to prove that the Rosenmeier - Dirlam - Dunn-Duxbury - Zwach majority seeks to live up to the surprisingly low standard of fair play Conservatives established in the legislature.

The Republican reappointment bill passed during the regular session and vetoed by Governor Rolvaag, seeks to build "at large" districts, chops up rural county and natural suburban boundaries, and violates court decisions on population representation.

This is one of the ethically questionable political games Conservatives have played and which was reported in the news. Other more obvious violations of public trust have taken place in the legislature.

The Conservatives have cut money from our vital state needs and have spent money on pork-barrel legislation for themselves. It belies their political image of saving money for the voters.

Peace Corpsman Glad He's Not in Viet Nam To the Editor:

Hardship means little to me at the moment. If I have to carry my drinking water a quarter mile, lose weight and stamina because of a bad diet, ignore swarms of mosquitos because my arms get tired swatting them, or wear shoes dyed permanently green from tropic mold, I still have it far better off than a lot of my countrymen.

At least down here nobody's shooting at me. In other lands men fight the same foe as I do, but use different means. It is too late for the Peace Corps in Viet Nam.

In Viet Nam American soldiers suffer all the natural discomforts that I suffer in the Panamanian rainforest, and lay down their lives as well. It is for darn sure I respect those guys over there, and though my commitment in Panama be towards peaceful solution of the same problem, I wish them the best of luck and the blessing of God in their work.

I know how I would feel, as I scrape mold from photos of my family and daily sweat under a burning sun, bathed under a torrential rain. If I heard of mobs of "protesters" picketing the Peace Corps in Washington demanding that we be pulled out of Panama, anonymously abusing my family over the telephone at all hours of the night, or sending money and supplies to leftist Cuban agents in Panama who oppose my work.

I'd feel pretty rotten, but I'd feel worse if some evening I happened to find a live hand grenade under my cot. Happily for me, we have neither protester nor grenade in the Peace Corps. Unhappily for them, our soldiers in Viet Nam have both.

Thanks to all my friends that have sent me cards or letters. It does a lot for my morale to know there are, indeed, people who know I'm here, even if sometimes I feel very alone. Someday, when I return, I'd like to shake all your hands.

But if I were in Viet Nam I couldn't make any dates to shake hands. My fellow Americans over there can't be sure of their return.

Murmurs Not Always Dangerous

By J. G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: When I took my 13-year-old daughter for a check-up, the doctor said she had a heart murmur. It apparently developed recently, as about two years ago nothing was wrong.

He said not to worry unless she showed signs of being unusually tired, or some other symptoms, and he would like to see her once a year.

Do you think she could outgrow this? Or should I take her to a specialist? The doctor told me she could participate in all activities at school and didn't seem too concerned, but you know how we mothers are. — MRS. L.

Yes, I know how you are. Lots of fathers are like that, too. Naturally we worry if we think something could be wrong.

Still, in your case, I wouldn't be unduly alarmed. It is not unusual for adolescents to have faint heart murmurs which disappear. (And not unusual for younger children, either!)

A murmur, of itself, isn't necessarily ominous, and often means nothing at all. You have to evaluate these common murmurs in respect to medical history and other symptoms, if any.

IF THE youngster had had infection of the strep (streptococcus) type, such as sore throats, joint pains or other symptoms suggestive of rheumatic fever, then close vigilance is necessary.

Or if the child seems frail and tired, then one may suspect (not always correctly!) that heart disease may exist.

But if the child is normally healthy and vigorous, mere presence of a murmur isn't significant.

Too often in the past children have been turned into "heart invalids" by needless restraints and precautions just because murmur was noted but didn't mean anything.

You had your daughter examined fairly recently, and I have no doubt that you have done so many times. Your doctor knows her, and can judge her condition with accuracy, taking into consideration her health history, her tolerance of exercise, and (if warranted by any doubt) any change in heart size or shape, or even electrocardiogram.

If it will ease your mind, see a heart specialist, but this sounds to me like the typical situation in which to trust your doctor's advice and not worry. Don't worry your daughter, either.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there a danger of cancer from cooking meats outdoors over charcoal? We do this all year long. — MRS. R.M.

No.

MRS. L.S.: Your husband is completely wrong. Removal of the womb (uterus) does not prevent sexual activity. It does, however, make pregnancy impossible.

U.S. Church Council Urges World Peace Force in Viet Nam

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The National Council of Churches' general board urged today a phased withdrawal of U.S. troops from Viet Nam "if and when they can be replaced" by an international peace keeping force.

The delegates adopted the policy statement on a 93-10 vote with six abstentions. Final action was reached after delegates debated the proposal for three hours.

from Viet Nam. The officer was holding a pistol on a snarling Viet Cong prisoner. The picture was published in the Tribune. Schiebeler's parents noticed it and recognized their son.

Nixon Urges More Bombing In Viet Nam

NEW YORK (AP)—Communist China is a "paper tiger" now but will be strong in five years, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said today in calling for increased bombing of North Viet Nam.

Nixon said Red China is not getting help from the Soviet Union at present and is "a fourth-rate military power with no significant nuclear capability." Even without help, he said, China will be armed atomically and will be dangerous within five years.

Nixon, in a speech at a luncheon of the 70th annual Congress of American Industry of the National Association of Manufacturers, advocated increased bombing of North Vietnamese military targets and greater use of U.S. sea power—after warning civilians in the area involved.

Close Watch on Cost of Living

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The factory worker's paycheck has been rising faster than the cost of living—his government tells him. A lot of other folk probably are less lucky. And some factory workers may have their doubts as the monthly bills pour in this week.

The cost of living has taken a marked spurt this fall for everyone. The factory worker is called lucky because the government says that on average his take-home pay has gone up enough to cover the additional costs, with something left over.

The total of personal incomes has risen sharply, too, although many a man struggling with the family budget in this big spending month may think the government must be talking about somebody else.

The figuring is done by comparing government indexes.

One, the consumer price index, has climbed to a record 110.4 per cent of the 1957-59 average and is still climbing. In October it stood 1.9 higher than a year ago. That means that what $10.85 would buy then costs you $11.04 today. All you need, presumably, are those 19 cents.

The other, the index of average weekly take-home pay for a factory worker with three dependents, has risen to 116.1 per cent of its 1957-59 average and is up 4.8 from its 111.3 per cent level in October 1964. From that the government statisticians deduce that factory pay has risen more than has the cost of living.

Put another way, the government says that this October its average factory worker took home $97.82 each week, and has $5.64 a week more this year than last with which to meet the monthly bills.

But whether your own income has gone up that much or not, the upward spurt in the cost of living is no joke. And top government officials are reported trying to think up ways to slow down the advance.

Of the major divisions in the Labor Department's consumer price index, only personal care is reported less costly than a year ago. It is down 0.6 per cent this year to 109.2 of its 1957-59 average.

Keith Doesn't Think Insurance Job Will Hurt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Democratic - Farmer - Labor Lt. Gov. A. M. Keith says he has no plans to announce for governor, but "no one would turn down an endorsement if the vast majority of a party wants you."

Keith's statement came Thursday at a Minneapolis news conference he called to discuss legislative reapportionment.

Some DFL leaders have said they do not think they can re-elect Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag, since polls have shown his strength as low. Some speculation has turned to Keith.

The 37-year-old lieutenant governor said he thinks any public official should be given "first choice" for renomination if the party thinks he can be re-elected.

Asked if he thought Rolvaag could be re-elected, Keith said, "No one can answer this at this time. We have some opinion polls. They show we are in for a good, tough fight (against the Republicans) next year."

In response to another question, Keith said he "certainly" thought he could be elected governor, despite Republican attacks on his 10-month service as vice president of U.S. Mutual Insurance Co., which was related to the bankrupt American Allied Insurance Co.

Keith said he was prepared to defend his record to the voters.

On reapportionment, the lieutenant governor said the three-judge federal court which ordered redistricting of the Minnesota Legislature should be asked to do the job if Conservative legislators are not willing to hold talks with the governor before any special session is called.

The governor has said he would not call a special session unless prior discussions have made it clearly evident that an equitable reapportionment plan can be enacted into law in an expeditious fashion.

Rolvaag's position received unanimous support Thursday night from the Liberal minority of the State Senate.

The Liberals demanded that a special committee be appointed by leaders of both factions and that it reach an "understanding" on reapportionment before a special session is called.

They said a special session would cost $75,000 to $100,000 a week, and called on Conservatives to help avoid an "assault on the taxpayers' pocketbook" that would result from a long session.

On another political front, GOP State Chairman George Thiss said Thursday night that "the future of the Republican Party and the state rests in the rapid growth areas such as the Twin Cities suburbs."

He told the Bloomington Republican Committee that "to win in the suburbs in 1966, our party must continue to find ways to solve at the local level the difficult and interrelated problems resulting from the population boom."

This noted that Bloomington has increased in population by one-third in the last five years and is now the state's fourth-largest city.

MONOTONY

All the rivers run into the sea; yet the sea is not full; unto the place from whence the rivers come, thither they return again... sang the poet about the monotony of life. How much alike are our days, weeks and months! Even the job, the office force is the same. But Brother, the difference is not in the river, nor the job, nor the office force. It is in the quality of personality we offer. No matter how tame the world may be. Clear distinction between good and evil, poise and good judgment, a refusal to depend upon external things, these will give satisfaction... relieve monotony. We are masters of our fate. Then let the rivers run to the sea. We will love and labor and build our house.

BIRTHPLACE AT HALFWAY

Holmen Area Parish Claims Luther College

Rev. N. A. Bernsten

HOLMEN, Wis. — To the Holmen-Halfway Creek Lutheran parish belongs the distinction of having been the birthplace of Luther College, Decorah, Iowa. The first of these two churches was at Halfway Creek three miles east of Holmen. Halfway Creek Church was organized in 1856, so next year it will be celebrating its 110th anniversary.

IT WAS at the Halfway Creek Lutheran parsonage that Lauritz Larsen organized Luther College Sept. 1, 1861. On July 31, 1862, it was moved to Decorah; oxen and wagons transported the founder, books and records.

Following a fire, Halfway Creek Church was moved to a location nearby, and the land on which it and the parsonage stood was turned into a farm now owned by Oscar R. Lee. The parsonage is gone but there is a marker near Mr. Lee's home showing its location; it's near Halfway Creek Cemetery. Early settlers of Holmen and vicinity attended services at Halfway Creek. As the population of Holmen gained, the need for a church in the village was felt; weather and roads often made it difficult for them to attend regularly. Many walked because they didn't have teams and buggies or wagons.

THE FIRST service on record in Holmen was conducted by Benit Julius Larson, Jan. 8, 1899. Worship continued, sometimes in C. F. Sjolander's hall above a store, sometimes in the town hall, which burned in 1906, and then in a school building.

The Rev. Eric Berrum, who had arrived in 1906 to serve Halfway Creek, and a building committee took steps in 1907 to build a church. The pastor, having been a carpenter in his youth was the architect. The cornerstone was laid Oct. 31, 1907, by J. Norby, president of the Eastern District. The church was used for services beginning in February 1909 and was dedicated Sept. 25, 1910.

Steps to divide the Holmen-Halfway Creek parish were taken in 1913. Sweden Coulee, Spring Coulee and Halfway Creek became one parish and Holmen was joined with Long Coulee, Amsterdam Prairie and Council Bay. Under a realignment in 1955, Holmen and Halfway Creek were joined again. The Rev. N. A. Bernsten has been pastor of the parish since Aug. 1, 1956.

AMONG the pastors serving previous to him were the Rev. Vernon Hintermeyer, now of Galesville Lutheran Church.

The Holmen church burned in 1953 and was replaced by the present church; it was dedicated Sept. 18, 1955. The 50th anniversary of the congregation was celebrated Oct. 27, 1957.

The church has educational facilities, where Sunday School is held and the three-year course in preparation for confirmation was begun this year. Holmen Lutheran, member of The American Lutheran Church of America, is the only church in Holmen. The combined parish has 1,300 baptized members.

Arkansaw Church Will Observe 50th Anniversary

ARKANSAW, Wis. (Special)—The golden anniversary of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Arkansaw, will be observed with a public reception in the church basement Sunday at 2 p.m. The Rev. Henry Cassidy is pastor of the 125-family parish.

Credit is given to the Drier, Melxner and Hartung families for organizing a parish so persons living in Big and Little Arkansaw valleys didn't have to go by foot for several miles to services at Eau Galle and Durand. A small church was built on the site of the present one in 1892.

It was served occasionally on a mission basis by priests from Eau Galle and Durand. First pastor to serve the church was the Rev. Joseph Laufer, an Oblate missionary who lived with members of the parish. He conducted instruction classes and held the first communion service Dec. 24, 1912. Of the class of 20, five still are living in this area.

HE WAS followed by the Rev. Henry Vosseum, who arrived Sept. 25, 1913, from a Catholic college at Santa Barbara, Calif. He was a guest of the Rev. Peter Trierweiler in Durand until a rectory was erected.

Maxine Thibado was the first child baptized in the church. She is now Mrs. Lawrence Rider of Downsville. Walter Thibado's death led to the first funeral from the church. Edwin Nelson and Emma Radle were the first couple married.

The rectory was destroyed by fire April 18, 1914, seven months after occupancy. William Stresse, Durand, built a new rectory at a contract price of $2,000.

Father Laufer, who returned after Father Vosseum left, designed the present brick church, which was built at a cost of $7,500. Henry Radle, brother of Paul and George Radle who still are in this area, was the contractor. The church was dedicated Oct. 3, 1915.

The Rev. Edward Hess was here the longest — 25 years, retiring because of illness. The Rev. Emil Twardochleb later served and retired in 1964.

At this time the Oblate priests were withdrawn by the La Crosse Diocese, and Rev. Cassidy was assigned here.

Two members of the Arkansaw parish have become nuns, Marian Auth and Kathleen Hett. The Rev. Bruce Hett is from the parish. Joseph Harmon is finishing his course of study in the Oblate order.

To Spread Glorious News—That's Her Only Desire

"My only desire in becoming a full-time officer in the Salvation Army is to spread the glorious news of salvation in Jesus Christ," says Lt. Patricia Jones, Chicago, who assumed her duties Tuesday at the Salvation Army headquarters, 112 W. 3rd St.

She is the replacement for Supply La Vona Clabaugh. Lt. Jones, 22, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gaffield, Chicago, and has two brothers and one sister. She is engaged to Lt. John Homer, who has a corps in Minneapolis.

THIS IS the first time she has been in full command of a Salvation Army corps (church). Prior to coming here, she was an assistant for 1½ years at a corps in Minneapolis.

"I found the Lord was my Saviour at the age of 10 at a Baptist Sunday school camp. He is the greatest joy in living."

"Prior to graduation from high school I began to think seriously of helping to save souls. I thought then the Lord was leading me into doing Christian work. About five years ago I read about the Salvation Army and the work it accomplishes in a Readers Digest. "Salvation Army groups are quite popular in Chicago. I used to observe and listen to them during their outdoor services on the street corners there. I admired them and felt they were really reaching the people. I did a lot of praying. Then I called the Salvation Army Headquarters in Chicago. The captain asked me to attend meetings. He explained the work of the church to me."

"I BEGAN taking candidate lessons, which consist of correspondence courses. After attending a Salvation Army training college in Chicago for two years, I was commissioned a lieutenant in June 1964. I will become a captain after I complete two years of advanced training."

Lt. Jones is familiarizing herself with her various duties here. She will supervise the corps' Sunday school classes and holiness, salvation, prayer and open-air meetings. She will become acquainted with the Salvation Army Family Service Center, 501 W. 5th St., where donated clothing is sold, and also the classes the corps supervises at the Arthur C. Thurley Homes.

THE CORPS gives meal tickets to transients who come to its headquarters for help for their body and spiritual needs. Sometimes they are given tickets for clothing and also money for gasoline if it is an emergency.

One of the current projects is to sell about 1,000 Christmas issues of "War Cry," a religious booklet which is published weekly. Another endeavor is the manning of the Christmas kettles on the city streets by Salvation Army helpers. Donations are used to stock Christmas baskets for the needy.

The Salvation Army held a special welcome meeting Tuesday evening for Lt. Jones. Miss Carolanne Herring led the welcome service with songs, testimonies and special singing after which Lt. Jones was introduced.

She urged each one in the congregation to examine his heart before God and to learn to love and trust in God more each day. She said she experienced a warm welcome in Winona and is happy to be able to come here to serve.

ST. PAUL (AP)—Gov. Karl Rolvaag has cancelled plans for a South American trip in order to remain close to the reappointment situation.

The governor's office said Rolvaag had been invited to attend the dedication of a new meat-packing plant next week at Castillos, Uruguay.

The plant is owned by the Charles A. Sayous, Inc., organization which purchased the former Swift and Co. meat plant at Winona last summer. The Winona plant is the first production facility in the United States of the South American firm.

Rolvaag designated Commissioner of Agriculture Russell G. Schwandt to represent him at dedication of the new plant. Uruguay is a sister state of Minnesota under the Alliance for Progress program.

Two Children Die in Fire at Milton, Wis.

MILTON, Wis. (AP)—A state fire inspector was expected on the scene today to probe the cause of a blaze that claimed the lives of two children Thursday.

The victims, Geraldine Mattingly, 4, and her 2-year-old brother, Scott, were alone in their one-story frame home when the fire broke out.

Both were found dead in their bedroom.

The Rock County Sheriff's Office said Mrs. Mattingly was about 100 yards away from the house burning trash when the fire took hold.

Deputies said she tried to reach the children through a window but was driven back by the flames after cutting her hand on the window glass.

Mrs. Mattingly was treated at a doctor's office for shock.

Coroner Richard McCaul said the fire may have been caused by an oil heater in the living room. He said both children suffocated before the flames reached them.

The home was engulfed by flames by the time firemen arrived.

Enthusiasm is a contagious thing that most people seem to enjoy. By the same token, it's pretty discouraging to be around those that are despondent. Today we're going to weigh out the possibility of choosing how we will feel, as once again we pursue, "Something to Live By."

I'm sure that there are folks that have problems worthy of professional counseling and that our simple approach to attitudes will not be within their reach. This short column is for that vast majority that have the ability to control their feelings if they only will put their minds to it.

DESPONDENCY is a plague to life, contributing nothing to the despondent soul, and making miserable those that are aware of another's depression. Anything as useless as despondency should be done away with. The question is, How? A simple observation may well grant us the answer.

Despondency and enthusiasm just don't share a person's life at the same time. They are, in a sense, opposites. Thus fill a life with enthusiasm, and despondency must retreat. It's an attitude of mind.

Now how does one stimulate in his being, enthusiasm? It seems it's important that we have something to be enthusiastic over — a hobby, a job, a family, home, convictions. All these are but a few directions we might turn in setting our sites on a project to pursue enthusiastically. Now don't make the mistake of seeking one avenue at the exclusion of all others.

FOR EXAMPLE, to place your interest only in a hobby and neglect your family, could lead to their unhappiness. Make sure your project is broad enough to include time for all essential functions, but concentrate earnestly on a project that can contribute to your ability to be happy.

Now enthusiasm is a related thing. One becomes enthusiastic when he has understanding of his job, hobby, home or social activities. If you're in a state of despondency, look around, find a spark of interest in some thing, be determined to learn all you can about this thing of your interest, and before you know it, you will begin to feel this thing called enthusiasm, while that expression of despondency will begin to disappear.

WE LIVE IN a challenging era when, with the dawning of every day, brings with it changes. Life goes on and they that surge ahead with a spirit to live, can't help but find it an invigorating experience. What a shame to lose out to that useless thing called despondency. Don't wait — right now seek out something worthwhile that you would like to know more about. Gain knowledge of that thing through your own activity or research, personal indulgence, and feel enthusiasm grow.

Oh — one thing — some folks like being difficult as they inwardly enjoy the concern of others about them. The life of these often refuse to even try to find a new direction in which to travel. In a sense, they enjoy ill health, be it physical or mental. A basic requirement in any achievement is desire. You must desire to be happy if you do not wish to be despondent, and for the most part, happiness can be yours — if you desire it.

When modern recipes call for brown sugar, the term "firmly packed" follows. To measure the sugar this way, fill the cup (or fraction of a cup) with the brown sugar and as you do so press it down so tightly and firmly that when turned out it holds its shape; level off the measure with a spatula.

The bride's grandmother wore a maroon dress with a white hat and the groom's mother a green suit with a black veil. Both had corsages of white and gold mums.

A breakfast for the wedding party and immediate family and a reception for 300 were held at the Red Men's Club. Assisting were the Mmes. John Zabinski, Leo Gibbons, Leonard Stracki, Steffa Clerzan and Frances Portman and the Mmes. Charlene Jereczek, Nancy and Karen Zabinski and Barbara Schmitz.

New Viet Nam Peace Drive Hits a Snag

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — The possibility of a multinational peace offensive on Viet Nam became doubtful today.

The hope was triggered Thursday when British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart proposed that his country and the Soviet Union take the initiative in setting up a conference aimed at achieving a cease-fire. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, fresh from a four-hour conference with President Johnson, then announced that the United States is prepared to attend almost any Southeast Asia peace conference.

This was the Johnson administration's direct response to the Stewart suggestion, voiced over live television in Moscow and thus interpreted as possibly indicative that the Soviets were interested.

But today, Stewart told a Moscow news conference that the Soviet viewpoint on Viet Nam "does not, at present, seem to open a door" toward settlement.

Asked if Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko reacted sympathetically to the suggestion, Stewart said: "No, I don't think he did. He simply insisted that the Soviet Union has no authority to negotiate."

There was no immediate U.S. reaction to the latest Stewart statement.

The earlier glimmer of hope for peace talks followed by scant hours Johnson's own first significant pronouncement on Viet Nam since his Oct. 8 surgery.

Addressing by telephone top business leaders in Washington, Johnson said: "I have said it before. I say it again now. This nation is ready to talk, unconditionally, anywhere, with peace as our agenda. Peace will come because it must come."

Rusk flew to St. Louis after his meeting with Johnson and, addressing a press club dinner, bespoke administration determination by saying "somebody's going to be hurt" if the Hanoi government doesn't turn toward the path of peaceful settlement.

Stewart's Moscow suggestion was that the Soviet Union and Britain, as co-chairmen of the 1954 Geneva conference that worked out a soon-shattered settlement in Viet Nam, join in setting up a new conference with the hope of arranging a quick cease-fire.

The Britisher proposed this be followed by a rebuilding of both South and North Viet Nam under United Nations auspices while a permanent solution of differences between North and South were sought through negotiations.

Rusk was asked after his meeting with Johnson for his reaction to the Stewart proposal. "We have indicated for some time," he said, "that we would be prepared to attend a conference on Southeast Asia, or any component parts of it."

Rusk noted that Hanoi and Peking, the Communist capitals most directly involved in the war, "have indicated they consider the Geneva Convention is the suitable machinery, rather than such agencies as the United Nations."

Rusk added, without elaborating, that "we will have more about this in a day or so."

Paris Reports Conflict Over Picasso Surgery

PARIS (AP) — There were conflicting reports in Paris today that Pablo Picasso, world-famous painter and sculptor, had undergone a successful operation for the removal of the gall bladder.

Hugh Fullerton, director of the American Hospital of Paris, after first confirming that the 84-year-old artist had the operation in the American institution, later reversed himself and said he had been mistaken.

Later, Fullerton said he had confused Picasso with another patient. He suggested that newsmen check the Cochin Hospital, a French institution which specializes in urological diseases.

Man Is Sentenced For Trying Holdup During Striptease

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A Rochester, Minn., man accused of trying a holdup during a striptease show was given three years probation today and ordered to serve the first 90 days in the workhouse.

David L. Murphy, 27, was sentenced by Judge Stanley Kane in Hennepin County District Court.

Murphy was charged with attempted theft of $100 in an incident at the Saddle Bar here. Police said Murphy, with his hand in a coat pocket, ordered the bartender to turn over money. Customers' attention at the time was riveted on the strip show under way on the stage.

Murphy was seized by the floor manager and a detective.

A second charge, theft, stemmed from the loss of $770 from the Embers Hennepin Cafe here.

The probation ordered by Judge Kane was for three years on each count, the sentences running concurrently.

Authority to Extend Duty In Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland has the authority to extend tours of duty for U.S. servicemen in Viet Nam "for any length of time if he requires it for combat necessity," the Defense Department said today.

But, a spokesman added, the commander of U.S. forces has said that "his policy is not to exceed 30 days" of added duty in Viet Nam.

The question arose out of reports by some parents or Army personnel that their sons had written that they had been ordered to stay on for three extra months.

The usual tour in Viet Nam for combat personnel is one year, but some voluntarily extend their service beyond that time.

Oasis Triumphs On Two Hits In Indoor Play

Oasis Bar and Cafe managed only two hits off Pete Jerowski Thursday night in the opening round of the Park Rec Indoor Softball League at the Winona High School gymnasium, but it was enough to post a 2-0 victory over Jerowski's Lang's Bar team.

Other games found Peerless Chain bowling to Old Style Lager 5-3, while Hof Brau topped Sunshine 5-1.

Tom May hurled the shutout for Oasis, allowing only three hits and walking four. Jerowski's problem was witness as he gave eight free passes. Tom Kosidowski had two hits for Lang's.

Kiki Williamson fired a two-hitter and drove in two runs to pace Old Style's triumph. A four-run outburst in the first frame cemented the triumph. Gene Prenot also had two RBI in the frame.

Sunshine struck for a run in the first inning, but from then on it was all Hof Brau. Larry Modjeski cracked a home run for the losers, while Hank Gerth had a double and a single for Hof Brau.

State Supreme Court Hands Down 4 Rulings

ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Supreme Court handed down rulings in four criminal cases today, and ordered new trials in two of them.

Richard Mitchell Kemp, convicted of a $600 robbery in Minneapolis in 1962, was granted a new trial because of "grave doubt" in the minds of the high court justices about his guilt.

Kemp was charged with beating and robbing Dave Goldberg, operator of a shoe repair shop and the lone identifying witness against Kemp. Kemp had been an employee of the shop, but denied involvement in the robbery.

The court said there were "material inconsistencies" between Goldberg's sworn testimony at preliminary and at the trial, but that these had not been pointed out to the jury.

Also reversed was the conviction of Clarence E. Weik, Albert Lea, charged with indecent assault against a 16-year-old girl. The Supreme Court said the one adult witness who identified Weik was a woman who appar-

Dryden's Wish Is Unfulfilled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Hugh L. Dryden took his first airplane trip in a Curtiss Eagle, maximum speed 107 miles an hour.

"I hope," he wrote recently, "that I may have the good fortune to witness the first landing of men on the moon within a few years."

The wish will go unfulfilled. Dryden, deputy administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, died Thursday night of cancer. He was 67.

Dryden's boss, NASA Administrator James E. Webb, said, "Scientific, engineering and administrative competence and his qualities of humanity and leadership mark him as one of the truly great men" in the conquest of air and space.

From Hot Temper To 'Hot' Action

PEEKSKILL, N.Y. (AP) — About a month ago, Norman L. Kishbaugh "got boiling mad" when he read about American demonstrators against the U.S. policy in Viet Nam and he decided to do something about it.

"I sat right down and wrote to my Marine Corps Reserve commander and requested active duty," he said.

Today, Kishbaugh leaves New York by plane for Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Kishbaugh, 40, a staff sergeant, is married and the father of two children. He owned a home heating service.

ently hadn't seen him for 30 years.

Motors Rise, Airlines Fall, Trading Active

NEW YORK (AP) — Big Three motors rose and airlines fell in an irregularly higher stock market early this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

The pace, while reasonably busy, was slower than Thursday's 9-million-share and Wednesday's 10-million-share day.

The auto stocks had good reason for advance in the record car sales for November.

Airlines continued to report big gains in profits over a year ago but their stock prices backed away sharply from recent levels as long-term profit taking continued.

Some of the aerospace issues also were down to steep losses, for no apparent reason other than profit taking.

Steels, rails, oils, tobaccos and other major groups showed little pronounced trend but there was a slightly higher balance among the blue chips.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .3 at 353.0 with industrials up .7, rails unchanged and utilities up .2.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.23 at 945.82.

The gains on average were slight.

Radio Corp. raised its dividend, spurred about a point then settled back to a net loss of about 1.

IBM, in a continued slide, crashed through its 500 level with a 7-point loss, later cutting the decline to around 3 points.

Cyprus Mines recently admitted to trading on the Big Board, rose 5 points on top of a gain of 5% Thursday.

General Motors and Chrysler rose more than a point each, Ford a fraction.

Boeing lost more than 2 and General Dynamics over a point. United Aircraft rebounded more than 2.

Prices were mostly higher in active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

Give Him $800,000 Says Coach

NEW YORK (AP) — If Joe Namath is worth $400,000 to the New York Jets, then Mike Garrett should be worth twice that much to the Los Angeles Rams, says Mike's coach, John McKay.

"I realize such a figure is all out of reason," added the head football coach of the University of Southern California, "but this boy is an idol in Los Angeles—they love him out there."

"If he played for the Rams, he would draw 10,000 extra fans to every game. Multiply that by $3 and you've got him bringing in $30,000 additional every week."

McKay beamed proudly from the dais Thursday night while his All-America halfback, Garrett, received the Heisman Trophy as the outstanding college football player of the year.

Also on hand were Mike's mother; his step-father, William Sigur; Dr. Norman Topping, president of the University of Southern California; Athletic Director Jesse Hill, and a guest of honor, Tommy Harmon, winner of the Heisman Trophy 25 years ago.

McKay described Garrett as the greatest football player he ever saw.

Garrett spent a whirlwind day with news, radio and television men, parrying one question: What pro team is he going to play for next fall?

He said he had received no firm offer and that he would wait awhile before making up his mind. He insisted he was ready to grab the best offer.

TWO FOR PRICE OF ONE TONIGHT

Winona High School sports backers can get two for the price of one tonight when the Winhawk basketball and swimming teams are in action on the home front.

By entering the Fifth St. entrance, fans can pay one admission for both events. The swimmers meet Austin at 6:30 p.m., while the basketball team hosts Owatonna at 8 p.m.

Hawks Hoping for Breezy Opener to Big 9 League Race

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor

Winona High School's walking wounded tonight take on Owatonna in what is hoped will be the start of a successful Big Nine Conference campaign.

John Kenney's Hawks this week ran into trouble. And that is heaped on to some of the leftover variety that could make for problems in tonight's 8 p.m. game at the Senior High Auditorium.

A run down of the list goes like this:
• Larry Larson is still somewhat hobbled by ankle ligaments he strained in the loss to Minneapolis Roosevelt.

• Gary Addington turned an ankle in practice this week, but, like Larson, should start.

• 6-7 center Paul Plachecki missed two practice days with the flu, but most likely will start.

• Loren Benz still is not ready for duty. He hasn't played as yet because of a knee injury.

In Benz' case, however, Kenney says he would like to play the 6-1 forward briefly. The situation will be dictated by the flow of the game and probably will remain unsettled until then.

Now, assuming Larson, Plachecki and Addington are ready for starting activity, the Hawks will have a lineup change. Addington will return to his familiar guard spot with John Walski at the forward played, in the early games, by Addington.

With that personnel transfer, John Ahrens becomes the Hawks' sixth man. He will see extensive activity along with 6-1½ forward-center Pat Hopi.

Defensively, there will be a change in the starting rotation with Walski playing a guard and Addington a forward, where his 6-1 frame and jumping ability adds rebounding power.

Teaming with Larson, Plachecki, Addington and Walski is 5-9 guard Don Hazelton, the crew scooter.

For three of that five — Hazelton, Larson and Addington — there is a personal score to settle.

Owatonna a year ago interrupted what was a pleasant Hawk season. Winona stood 10-3 entering the game, Owatonna 3-1. And the Indians won 53-50.

"It was one of our poorer games," recalled Kenney.

It was in that game that Owatonna went to a 2-3 zone for some of the game, while playing a man-to-man in other portions. It is safe to say the Hawks probably expect some of the same tonight.

Though the Indians have lost all three of their non-league starts, rest assured this is a big game.

Oilers in 87-49 Win, Augs Bow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Minnesota collegiate basketball teams lost three skirmishes with outstate foes Thursday night, but hope to recoup tonight when state quintets play four more games in interstate competition.

The Phillips Oilers, a perennial AAU power from Bartlesville, Okla., ripped Gustavus Adolphus 87-49; Augsburg bowed 80-76 at Wheaton, Ill., and Minnesota - Morris dropped a 91-83 decision to Northern of South Dakota Thursday night.

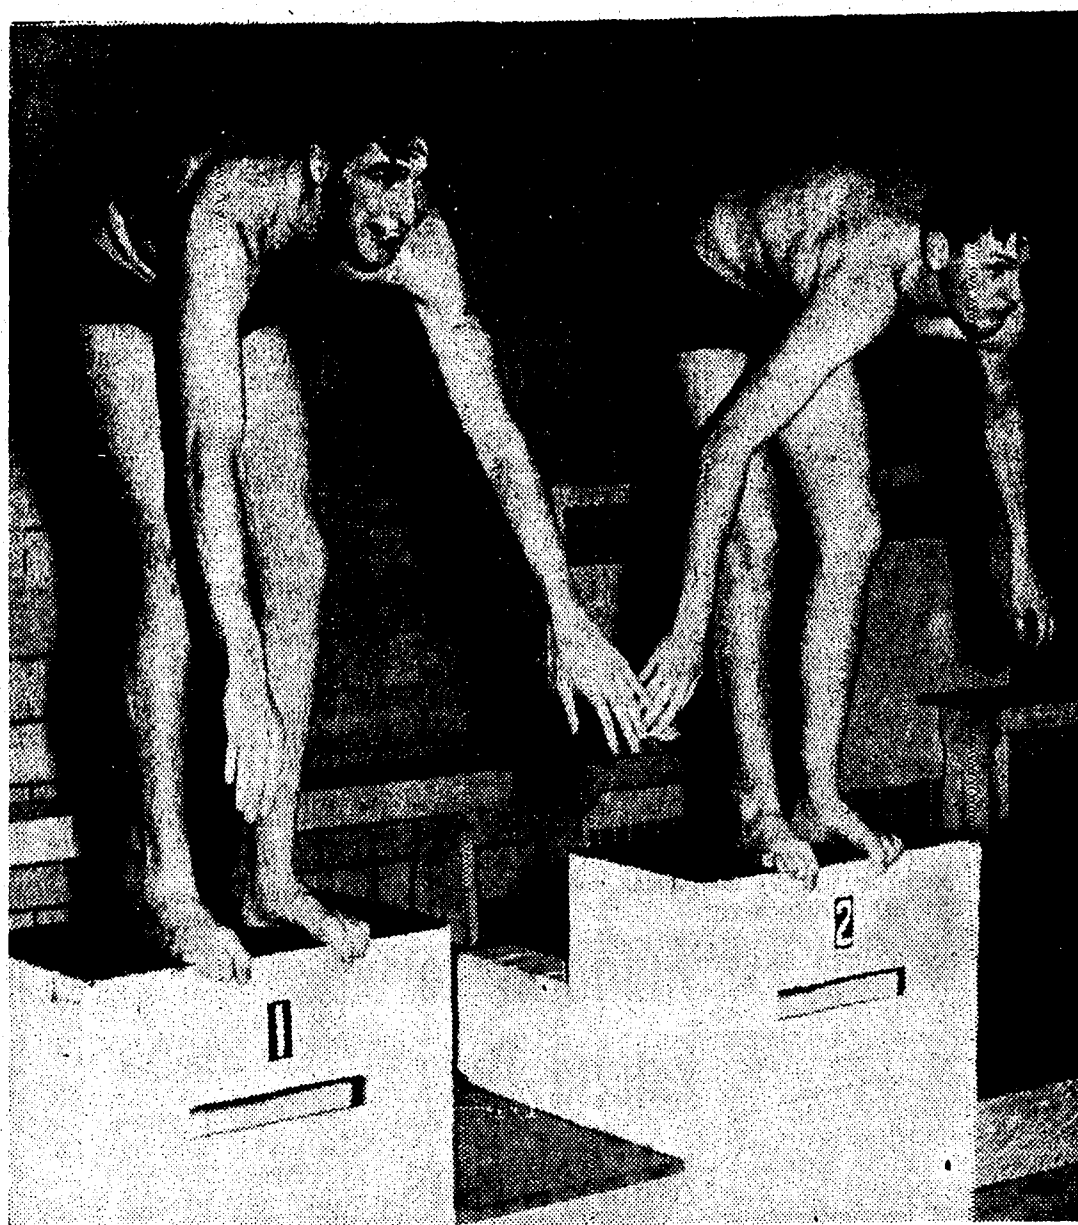

Gustavus trailed by a respectable 43-31 at halftime, but Phillips blew the Gusties off the court by outscoring them 18-2 in the first five minutes of the second half.

Former South Dakota State star Tom Black got 22 for Phillips. Bill Laumann had 23 and Al White 22 for Gustavus.

Augsburg, with Alan Redman scoring 14 and Dick Kelley 13, was tied with Wheaton 59-59, then faltered down the stretch.

Morris lost at the free throw line as Northern hit 23 charities to the Cougars' 11. Duwayne Groos got 34 for Northern, and Wayne Brabender had 23 for Morris.

Tonight, St. Cloud State, with a 4-1 record, carries state colors into the Blue Ribbon Tournament at Kansas City, Mo.

Martin: 'Best We've Ever Had, But...'

By BOB JUNGHANS
Daily News Sports Writer

John Martin doesn't mince words. "We're going to have the best swimming team we've ever had," said the Winona State College swimming coach.

But that sweeping statement is qualified in the next breath when Martin says, "but we're going to lose more meets than we did last year."

The reasoning behind this paradox is simple, the Warriors tankers take on a tougher schedule than in the past two years when Winona, under Martin, has posted a 22-2 record.

Included on the schedule are such powerhouses as Macalester, the University of Nebraska, Bemidji State, Luther College and Oshkosh University.

Two weak spots which hounded the squad last year appear to have been shored up.

In the individual medley, freshman Larry Calvert of Fort Dodge, Iowa, is the needed addition. He will team with letterman Dennis Blanchard in that department. Another swimmer who won't become eligible until February is Tom Lewer, a transfer from the University of Iowa. His presence in this event should help out toward the end of the season.

And in the butterfly, where the Warriors were woefully weak last season, Calvert and another freshman, Pete Koperinski of Calumet City, Ill., should turn the trick.

Calvert has broken school records in both the individual medley and butterfly in practice this fall.

So with this problem apparently solved, Winona heads into its first meet of the season Saturday, the Titan Relays at Oshkosh, Wis.

Winona finished fourth in the meet last year behind Macalester, Loyola of Chicago and the host school, Oshkosh.

"We think we can improve on that Saturday," said Martin. "At least we hope we can."

"Where we'll have to improve this year is in the short sprints. This has been our strong point in the past, but we're going to have to pick up because the opposition has improved."

Manning the short freestyle events are lettermen Frank Braun and Tom Sage.

In the distances, Martin has Dick Childers and Bill Keenan, two more veterans, and freshman Bill Hatton.

Hatton is a Battle Creek, Mich., native.

The Warriors also promise to be strong in the backstroke with two more monogram winners, Mike Anderson and Jerry Grey. Grey is a doubtful participant in the Titan Relays because of throat infection.

A ninth letterman is Martin's ace in the hole in the breaststroke. Larry Olson, Winona's No. 1 swimmer two years ago, has returned to competition and Martin expects him to improve as the season progresses.

This leaves only the diving and relay events and these spots won't give opponents any consolation. Randy Sinke and Tom Stover are the last two letter-

ST. MARY'S HITS ROAD

Redmen Goal: Preparation

The St. Mary's basketball team descends from Terrace Heights for the first time this year, hitting the road for its first of two games Saturday and Sunday.

And if Redmen coach Ken Wilgen had his druthers, he'd druther have the Redmen run into a little bit of everything that makes up basketball in these two games.

"I just hope we get a smattering of everything. We'll be a lot better prepared," said Wilgen. And that will be the theme of the short trip—PREPARATION.

Saturday night the Redmen are at Stevens Point for a scrap with the off-beaten Pointers, and Sunday it's on to West DePere, Wis., for warfare with St. Norbert's.

"We saw Stevens Point when they played Winona State, but I know from playing them in the past that they are a better club than that," said Wilgen of the Pointers 91-75 shellacking at the hands of the Warriors.

As for St. Norbert's, Wilgen commented, "I know they lost their front line from last year through graduation, but they have this Ronnie Brault back. He was their top scorer a couple years ago, and he just came back from the service."

"I read a release that said they're going to be small so they'll run and press. I hope they do, it will be good experience."

And experience is a must for the Redmen.

Wilgen hopes to return to Winona Monday with eight seasoned basketball players. For this reason, Dennis Ludden will start at guard in place of Jim Buffo "for no other reason than to give Ludden some playing time," said the Redmen coach.

"I also will play (Ward) Hertsted and (Tom) Keenan more extensively these two games. I hope to come back after the trip with eight guys who have played quite a bit regardless of the outcome of the games. With only three games before the first conference game, we have to do a lot of experimenting."

The Redmen open their MIAC season Dec. 11 at St. Peter against Gustavus Adolphus.

Besides Ludden, captain Roger Pylewski, Jerry Sauer, Jim Murphy and George Hoder will make up the starting unit.

Heart Condition Fatal to Cager

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A congenital heart condition kept John Shemming, a senior, from participating in the physical education program in a public school, officials say.

But a medical examiner ruled Thursday, following an autopsy, that this condition caused the 17-year-old Shemming's death Wednesday night during a church-league basketball scrimmage.

The boy's father later told a reporter he was aware of his son's heart condition.

PACKERS TO WHIP VIKES?

If Jack Hand of the Associated Press is correct, Minnesota's Vikings will lose their fourth straight and Green Bay will keep alive title hopes when the two teams meet at Green Bay Sunday.

The Packers are picked to whip Norm Van Brocklin's crew by the score of 24-13.

NL Owners Reject Bid Of Brewers

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Prospects for major league baseball in Milwaukee next season apparently now rest entirely with the courts after a rejection by National League owners Thursday of a franchise bid submitted by a group of prominent Wisconsin businessmen.

"It is the considered judgment of the members of the league that none of the applicants would be able to operate a franchise in 1966," the league said after a meeting for almost two hours with representatives of the Milwaukee Brewers, Inc. The Brewers are seeking to obtain a franchise to replace the Atlanta-bound Milwaukee Braves.

The league said the applicants, including Dallas - Fort Worth, Tex., whose bid was also spurned, lacked players, farm clubs, administrative personnel and radio or television contracts.

The decision came as a surprise. Spokesmen for the Brewers had said they expected no immediate decision after presenting their arguments.

The owners waited for only an hour after leaving the Wisconsin representatives before announcing what they had decided.

The decision appears to remove all hope for an outside of court settlement of the problems left by the Braves decision to move to Atlanta next season.

For the fourth straight year the National League set a new attendance record in 1965. A total of 13,581,130 fans paid.

AT HILL SATURDAY

Cotter's Need: A Good Contest

Cotter High School's basketball team seeks its first victory of the season on its first road trip Saturday night.

John Nett's Ramblers came out of their opener with Minneapolis De La Salle somewhat the worse for wear last Saturday and make the trip to St. Paul Hill hoping for better results.

From the standpoint of competition, Hill should be more to the Ramblers' liking. The Pioneers return no lettermen and are expected to be searching for many of the same answers as is Cotter.

Following the Ramblers' disappointing debut, Nett expressed a dissatisfaction with his starting unit. Saturday may bring about some changes.

Right now, the same-five of Mike Twomey at center, Dave Pelowski and Chuck Kulas at forwards and Jim Holmay and Bob Allaire at guards is drilling.

However, Nett also has been working Holmay at a forward and Pete Meier, Tom Wenzel and Steve Walzer at guards along with Allaire.

Several combinations of those people will be used against Hill as Nett searches for the most cohesive unit.

At the same time, he quite readily acknowledges, "It may be a month before we get squared away."

In respect to De La Salle, he also admits, "With them having two games under their belt, the loss was probably the natural thing to expect. We played a tough game, and we want the tough ones. You don't learn when you win by 20."

But the coach also realizes that the game with Hill could go a long way toward restoring some of the confidence the Ramblers lost against the Islanders.

"I think we found out in practice this week some of the reasons behind what we are trying to do," said Nett. "We know that we have to work to get free against the various defenses."

For the second consecutive week, the Ramblers will be meeting a team with two-game experience.

"And this is the one we need to help build our confidence," said the coach. "More than anything else, we need to get out and play a good game."

OPEN AGAINST AUSTIN TONIGHT

Swimmers See Big Splash for '65

Winona High School swimming coach Lloyd Luke tonight sends his team into its debut, looking for one of the most productive seasons for the Hawks.

Luke's qualified optimism is underscored by the return of 12 lettermen and a turnout of 110 tankers, the largest in Hawk history.

Tonight Winona meets Austin in a meet that Luke figures will be settled by a spread of less than five points.

"If we swim our best we can beat them," said Luke. "We hope to pick up enough points on depth, second and third places, to bring us through."

But back to this year's force of swimmers, which must rank as the best in recent years.

The lettermen are: Seniors—Larry Anderson (freestyle sprints), Tom Findlay (breaststroke), Tom Sanders (butterfly), Gary Spencer (freestyle sprints), Jack Stansfield (backstroke) and Dean Hille (freestyle). Juniors — Bill Braun (freestyle), Joe Findlay (freestyle), Marc Johnson (butterfly), Steve Kowalsky (freestyle) and Robert Staricka (diver). Sophomores — Dennis Sievers (individual medley and any department in which he may be needed).

In addition to that, non letterwinners Ken Armstrong (backstroke), Sam Gaustad (breaststroke), Tim Heise (freestyle), Bob Keiper (diver and freestyle) and Douglas David (freestyle) give the Hawks a strong nucleus.

Luke also expects that many good looking prospects in ninth, tenth and even eighth grade will be filling spots before long.

It is that group that Luke hopes will provide the Hawks with improvement over the 7-5 dual-meet slate they compiled last year.

Right now the biggest problems loom in backstroke and breaststroke departments. Luke does feel that swimmers such as Tom Findlay and Sam Gaustad could help iron out the weaknesses.

The strong points can be categorized into freestyle sprints, the 200, the butterfly where Marc Johnson operates with authority and any department in which Sievers swims.

Luke has much respect for Austin. The Packers have several outstanding performers.

Among them are individual medley and breaststroke man Terry Lee, butterflyer and freestyler Pete Hass, butterflyer Bill Peterson, backstroke Greg Wright and distance man Tom Garbach.

Luke points to the strong Austin AAU program — something in which Packer performers participate the year around — as a factor in its swimming surge. Conditioning, in that case, could be a problem, but the Winona coach rates his team in better shape for this time of the year than ever before.

What about the long-range look and relative strengths and weaknesses in this area of the state?

As so often before, Rochester John Marshall appears to be the top dog. Luke expects the Rocket tankers to be strong contenders for the state championship.

"They're four deep in all events and you really only need two men to be deep," he points out.

Tonight's action gets underway at 6:30 p.m. Both A and B squads will be in action.

Lewis Pass Puts Pinch On; FBI Lands Solicitor

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Schweickert of the New York Jets hasn't caught a pass as a pro football player, but he helped the FBI catch an Army recruiting sergeant who allegedly solicited a $200 bribe from the player to help him beat the draft.

The recruiting sergeant, arrested Thursday, was identified by the FBI as Staff Sgt. Winfred Lewis, an 18-year veteran who won three battle stars in Korea and earned a Purple Heart as well because of a shrapnel wound in the leg.

John F. Malone, assistant director of the New York office of the FBI, said FBI agents arrested Lewis outside a recruiting station in the Jackson Heights section of Queens after Schweickert handed him the bribe.

The 22-year-old Schweickert, a former star Virginia Tech quarterback who signed for a reported $100,000 bonus and has been turned into a receiver, reported for his Army pre-induction physical about two weeks ago, according to the Jets.

The FBI said Lewis had solicited a sum of money from the player to see that his name would be placed at the top of the waiting list to join the National Guard, enabling Schweickert to serve six months of active duty instead of two years if he were drafted.

According to Sonny Werblin, the Jets' owner, Schweickert was told by the sergeant that the matter could "be properly taken care of — $200 would do the trick."

"Bob told us immediately about the matter," said Jets' Coach Weeb Ewbank in an interview where the team meets the Chargers in an American Football League game Saturday.

"He told us, 'I want to play football and fulfill my military obligation. But I certainly don't want to be part of anything illegal.'" men on the squad and they make up a strong board duo.

As for the relays, Martin says, "This is where the coaching comes in. We try to jockey the swimmers around so we can at least split in the two relays. Our relay teams will be pretty good. They could stack up real well if I put my No. 1 swimmer at each position, but you don't often do that."

Just how well the Warriors paddlers do "stock up" should be indicated by the competition at Oshkosh. Besides the schools already mentioned, teams from Central Michigan, Lawrence, UW-Milwaukee and Stevens Point are expected to compete.

THE WARRIORS' first home meet is Dec. 11 when Mankato State invades the Memorial Hall pool. Mankato and Bemidji are Martin's choices to make a run at the NIC swimming crown which the Warriors have worn for the past two years.

Dutchman Makes 4 Changes for Packers

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Coach Norm Van Brocklin, searching for the right combination in the defensive secondary after the Minnesota Vikings gave up 13 touchdowns passes in their last three games, Thursday announced four changes for Sunday's National Football League game at Green Bay.

Van Brocklin named Roy Winston and John Kirby to start at linebacking posts and George Rose and rookie Jeff Jordan to return to the deep secondary.

Winston replaces left linebacker Lonnie Warwick, who is nursing a bruised shoulder. The other changes are not injury-related, however.

goes at free safety in place of Larry Vargo.

Winston lost his regular linebacking job to Warwick Oct. 31 for the Cleveland game after playing regularly for the Vikings for two years.

Rose and Mackbee have virtually alternated at the cornerback spot, while Kirby is getting his first starting nod of the season after replacing Janko for most of last Sunday's 45-24 loss to San Francisco.

Jordan will be making his first start since the Los Angeles game on the West Coast two months ago.

On offense, halfback Tommy Mason will return to the starting unit after missing two full games and most of two others with torn ligaments in his knee. Mason, who has gained 496 yards this year on 120 carries, returned to duty last week for a handful of plays and his knee held up.

Reds Willing To Part With Mr. Robinson

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Cincinnati is trying to swap off its big gun, slugging outfielder Frank Robinson, for players the Reds think might help them win the 1966 National League pennant.

"This is the biggest news of the week at the baseball meetings, in my opinion," said Bobby Bragan, manager of the Atlanta Braves. "I didn't think the Reds would be willing to let Robinson go."

Bragan was involved in a major deal of his own that would give the Braves a relief pitcher they are seeking. The Braves and the Kansas City Athletics are near agreement on a deal that would send relief ace John Wyatt of Kansas City to Atlanta for outfielder Rico Carty.

Both the A's and the Braves decided at 1:30 a.m., EST, today "to sleep on the deal" before making a final decision.

Baltimore and Houston are the known clubs with which Cincinnati has tried to work out deals for Robinson, but both rejected proposals by the Reds.

Trades made, however, at the major league meetings Thursday sent Chicago Cub reliever Lindy McDaniel to San Francisco in a four-player swap, and Baltimore first baseman Norm Siebert to the California Angels for 22-year-old rookie outfielder Dick Simpson.
