Stocks in Nose-Dive Following Increase in U.S. Discount Rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Overriding the President's economic policy, the Federal Reserve Board increased interest rates to their highest level in 35 years today and the stock market reacted by plunging.

A total of 3.94-million shares changed hands during the first hour the New York Stock Exchange was open, the largest total for an opening hour since the exchange began listing hourly transaction figures in 1933. Some blue chip stocks fell 2 or more points. At the end of the first half hour, the Dow Jones industrial average was down 14.98 to 931.12.

Boosting of the interest rates brought an immediate rebuke from the President.

The board announced its decision Sunday night, saying higher rates will help prevent inflation and aid in overcoming the persistent U.S. balance-of-payments deficit.

It ordered: — An increase in the discount rate from 4 to 4.5 per cent, its highest level since 1930. This is the interest the 12 regional Fed-

BULLETIN

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson called Chairman William McCleskey Martin of the Federal Reserve Board to the LBJ Ranch today to discuss the economic outlook and the board's move — deplored by Johnson — to increase interest rates.

Martin and three other top government experts on economic affairs arrived at the ranch from Washington about 11 a.m.

Accompanying Martin were Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, Budget Director Charles L. Schultze and Chairman Gardner Ackley of the Council of Economic Advisors.

General Reserve banks charge on loans made to member commercial banks. Any upward movement generally spreads throughout the entire credit structure — applying to consumers who buy houses, cars and other goods on the installment plan.

— An increase in the maximum interest banks may pay on specified time deposits of more than 30 days from 4.5 to 5.5 per cent, its highest level ever. This might tend to attract money from other areas — the stock market, savings and loan associations, for example — into the banks.

The board left unchanged the 4 per cent interest ceiling on regular savings accounts.

The administration is powerless to alter the actions. Although board members are appointed by the President, they compose an independent agency, subordinate to no one. In Johnson City, Tex., President Johnson said: "I regret, as do most Americans, any action that raises the cost of credit, particularly for homes, schools, hospitals and factories."

Gemini 7 in Third Day of 14-Day Trip

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell Jr. sped smoothly around the world today and preparations moved ahead at a fast rate for the attempt by two manned Gemini spacecraft to carry out the world's first rendezvous in space.

Paul Haney, the voice of Mission Control at Houston, reported pad crews were running 14 to 16 hours ahead of schedule in the race to launch astronauts Walter Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford in the Gemini 6 spacecraft from Cape Kennedy, Fla.

The launch is scheduled for

Dec. 13, in the ninth day of the scheduled Gemini 7 endurance mission, but Haney said Flight Director Chris C. Kraft was "looking into that eighth day possibility."

At Cape Kennedy, however, a space agency spokesman said the crew was that far ahead in only one phase of the operation — the electrical mating of the spacecraft to the Titan 2 booster rocket.

A spokesman for the Martin Co., prime rocket contractor, said the booster phase of the preparations was only about four hours ahead. He added that the possibility of a Dec. 12 launch was rather slim.

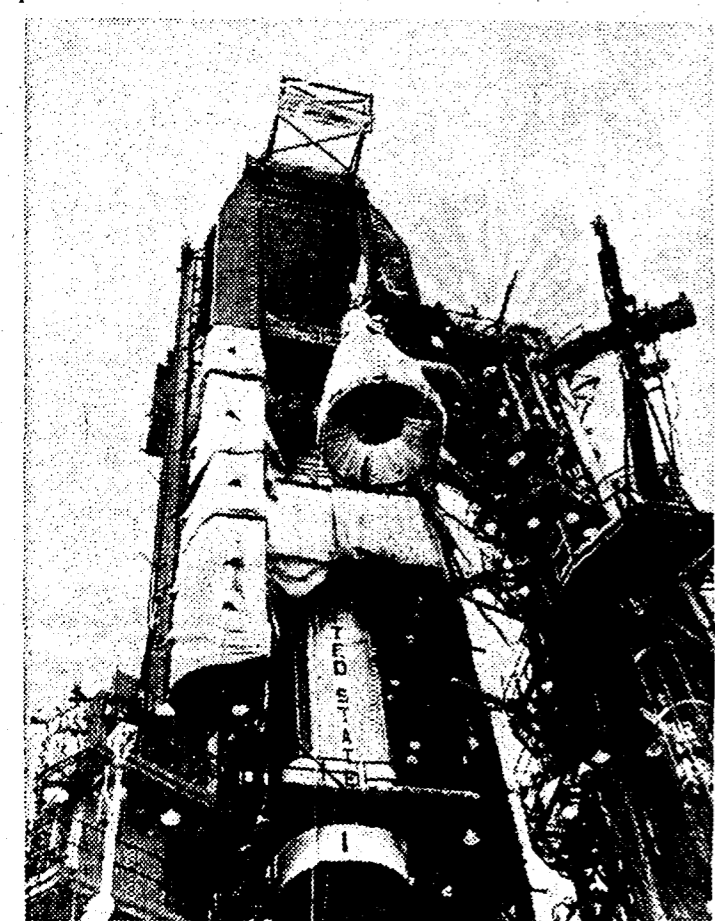

The Gemini 6 spacecraft will fly at 17,500 miles an hour in pursuit of the Gemini 7. Pilots of the two ships will attempt to rendezvous in the skies and score a spectacular space first by flying in formation several hours.

Gemini 7 began its 28th orbit at 9:40 a.m. (EST).

As Borman and Lovell awoke from a sound sleep, Russia was attempting to stage its own spectacular.

A Soviet space capsule hurtled through space toward the moon and a possible soft landing in the Ocean of Storms about 4:50 p.m. (EST). If the mission succeeds, the instrument package could radio back valuable information on the lunar surface, data essential to a manned landing.

Haney reported the tracking station at Carnarvon, Australia, had to call the Gemini 7 several times before the astronauts awakened, but that Lovell responded with a cheery "good morning to you!"

FINAL CHAPTER ACCEPTED

Church Condemns Nuclear Warfare

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council gave a decisive vote of approval today to its final schema, on modern world problems.

Pope Paul VI promptly accepted the document although an unusually large number of prelates voted against its blanket condemnation of nuclear warfare.

The fiercely contested schema emerged from the voting with the largest bloc of opposition votes of any of the council's decrees — 251. Council spokesmen said 2,111 prelates voted for it.

Spokesmen said the chapter on war and peace containing the condemnation of nuclear warfare had been opposed by 483 council fathers in earlier section-by-section voting. The chapter got 1,710 favorable votes, well above the required two-thirds majority but relatively low as council votes have gone.

Many American prelates opposed the ban-the-bomb tone in the section. Council spokesmen said another key section of the document, urging further birth control studies and suggesting Roman Catholicism's ban on contraception may not be final, was approved by a vote of 2,047-155 in the section-by-section vote.

Excommunication Of Luther May Be Lifted by Catholics

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Roman Catholic circles speculated today that the mutual lifting of centuries-old Roman Catholic and Orthodox excommunications could lead to similar action toward Martin Luther.

The Vatican announced Sunday that the mutual excommunications of St. Pope Leo IX and Patriarch Michael Caerularius of Constantinople, which led to the great schism between the Roman Catholic and Orthodox churches in 1054, would be annulled Tuesday in simultaneous ceremonies in St. Peter's Basilica and Istanbul.

Unconfirmed rumors circulated here that Patriarch Athenagoras of Constantinople might come to Rome for the closing of the Vatican council Wednesday.

Coupled with the reports of Athenagoras coming to Rome was the speculation about Martin Luther, whose criticism of the Roman Catholic Church in the 16th century led to the Protestant Reformation. A move to rehabilitate Luther has been urged for some time by a joint German-Lutheran - Catholic association seeking to advance the Christian unity cause.

Supreme Court Refuses to Hear NSP Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to step into a dispute between Wisconsin and Minnesota over construction of a power plant.

Wisconsin wanted the court to block construction of the plant on Lake St. Croix at Oak Park Heights, Minn. The last 120 miles of the St. Croix River form a border between the two states and Wisconsin said the plant would cause irreparable harm to the river valley.

The court gave no reason as it announced in a brief order they would not take the case. It noted that Chief Justice Earl Warren, and Associate Justices Potter Stewart and Abe Fortas felt the court should hear argument. The order noted also that Justice William O. Douglas took no part in the decision.

McNamara Shuts Down 149 More Military Bases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara today ordered 149 more bases closed, consolidated or substantially reduced.

McNamara told a news conference the actions, calculated to save $410 million a year, "will be completed without decreasing military effectiveness or limiting our current and future activities in Southeast Asia."

Coupled with 703 previous base closing and cutdowns ordered since March 1961, the new moves will bring total savings to $1.5 billion a year, McNamara said.

The affected bases are located in 39 states, the District of Columbia and 10 foreign countries.

Red China Drive Feared in Thailand

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Exactly a year ago, Red China set in motion machinery for a new "people's war" in Southeast Asia, in the style of Viet Nam.

Today, anti-Communist leaders scent danger, seeing in Peking's activities a new stage in a nibbling process by which the Chinese may hope eventually to dominate the whole Southeast Asia mainland.

To these leaders, the peril seems more acute in view of Red China's quarrel with Moscow and its setbacks elsewhere; frustration in the India subcontinent, failure of policy in Africa and the fiasco of the Peking-oriented Communist party of Indonesia.

Gen. De Gaulle Forced Into Runoff Election

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle maintained silence today after French voters handed a stinging rebuff to his bid for first-round victory in the presidential election.

With a record turnout of 84.9 per cent of the voters, De Gaulle polled only 43.96 per cent of the vote in the first round of voting Sunday. This forced him into a run-off Dec. 19 with left-winger Francois Mitterrand, the No. 2 man in the six-man race.

These were the results from nearly 24 million valid ballots in metropolitan France:

Charles de Gaulle	10,504,007 for 43.96 per cent.
Francois Mitterrand	7,655,042 for 32.04 per cent.
Jean Lecanuet	3,770,771 for 15.78 per cent.
JeanLouis Tixier-Viganan-	cour 1,269,095 for 5.31 per cent.
Pierre Marcellhacy	414,056 for 1.73 per cent.
Marcel Barbu	278,420 for 1.16 per cent.

VFW Commander Asks Bombing of Vital Red Targets

Denver, Colo. (AP) — Andy Berg, national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said Sunday it is in favor of bombing industrial sites in North Viet Nam if that is needed to win the war.

"Officially we have no stand on any of the issues other than winning the war itself. If to do that we must bomb industrial sites in North Viet Nam or blockade the port of Haiphong, we are for it," he said.

Berg was in Denver for the VFW's 66th anniversary celebration.

Pilot Gives Life Saving Passengers

NORTH SALEM, N.Y. (AP) — Eastern Airlines pilot Charles J. White apparently sacrificed his life while helping to evacuate passengers after crash-landing his propeller-driven plane following a collision Saturday with a Trans World Airlines jet.

Three other persons lost their lives and 50 were injured. The two planes carried 112 persons.

Survivors and investigators alike praised the flying skill of White and of the TWA pilot, Capt. Thomas H. Carroll, who guided his craft — minus a 30-foot section of wing — to a safe landing at Kennedy International Airport.

Federal investigators are probing the cause of the crash. The body of Capt. White, 42, a World War II bomber pilot, was found Sunday midway down the smashed and charred cabin of his four-engine Constellation.

Standing beside the wreckage, Oscar Bakke, regional director of the Federal Aviation Agency, said: "All I can say is it is fantastic that people walked away. The pilot must have done a wonderful job."

The planes collided about two miles above northeastern Westchester County, flying at a combined speed of perhaps 1,000 miles an hour. White was piloting his ship on a shuttle run from Boston to Newark, N.J. The TWA jet was en route non-stop to New York from San Francisco.

Arthur D. Lewis, Eastern's senior vice president and general manager, issued a statement in New York Sunday night praising the "superb airman-ship" of White. Lewis said White apparently died while trying to help passengers from the flaming wreckage.

Planes Save Battalion From Destruction

AP NHA MAT, South Viet Nam (AP) — A Communist regiment with 50-caliber machine guns set for a murderous crossfire battered an American battalion Sunday in the hardest fighting the 1st Infantry Division has encountered in Viet Nam.

"God, they were firing from everywhere," one survivor reported. "The 50-caliber was the worst. But they were in trees, in holes, everywhere. Some even dressed like trees, and we only knew what they were when they fell or fired."

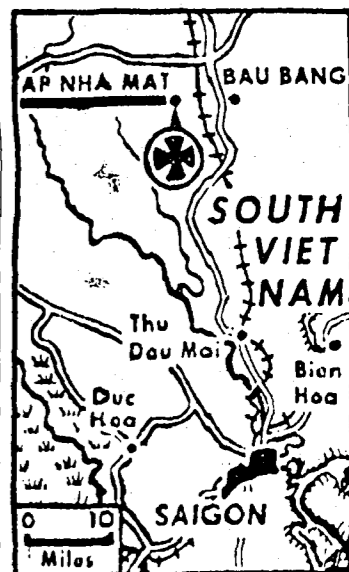

American casualties were heavy. The ground troops said they were saved from being wiped out because U.S. Navy and Air Force jets hammered the Viet Cong relentlessly.

The full extent of Communist casualties probably will never be known. Division officials said an estimated 200 or more Viet Cong died in the fierce fighting 40 miles northwest of Saigon.

However, troops sent into the dense jungle to retrieve American dead said they saw only 40 to 50 Viet Cong dead. This was more dead than the Americans suffered.

There were conflicting reports as to whether the attacking force included North Vietnamese regulars. The Communists were dressed in three distinct uniforms, one of them jungle green with steel helmets.

one company was 2nd Lt. Stephen A. Douglas of Columbus, Ohio.

"The men put up one hell of a fight," he said. "Men assaulted the enemy positions knowing they would die. More died trying to save wounded buddies. There were too many acts of heroism to say any one man was a hero."

Viet Cong assault waves at one point forced one group of Americans to abandon their wounded buddies. The troops organized a larger force and battled their way back in to get their bleeding men out.

One American lay wounded all night among the bodies of his comrades while the Viet Cong picked over the battlefield, stripped dead Americans of their weapons and ammunition and took away dead Communists and their weapons.

The American battalion was the same unit that fought the Big Red One's previous bloodiest engagement, at Bau Bang about 7 miles to the east. A few miles to the north is the Michelin rubber plantation where the South Vietnamese 7th Regiment was crushed last week.

Big Battle May Be Shaping Up

Four Viet Cong Regiments Only 60 Miles From Saigon

SAIGON. South Viet Nam Communist forces, in what has long been Viet Cong-dominated territory, certainly will mean bitter fighting for the U.S. 1st Infantry Division and Vietnamese units north of Saigon.

A South Vietnamese regiment was destroyed in vicious fighting 35 miles north of Saigon last week.

As the invasion steps up, more information on North Vietnamese movements comes from defectors and prisoners.

The five and possibly six regiments operating in the central highlands are supplied by two recently completed roads and by air, via Cambodia. A dirt airfield is about four miles inside Cambodia, northwest of Pleiku, the Vietnamese Highland Corps headquarters.

Three of the regiments there are from the North Vietnamese 325th Division, which formerly had its headquarters in northern Cambodia near the Laotian frontier. Now its headquarters in west of Kontum City in South Viet Nam, about 260 miles north of Saigon.

The division brought in an estimated total of 25,000 tons of supplies before it opened its campaign for control of the highlands. Its headquarters is large, highly mobile and includes more than 1,000 men and a radio network.

A key factor about the northern regiments, which number from 2,000 to 2,500 men each, is that they are fighting units with a minimum of personnel who do not carry guns into action.

Prisoners from the division have said they moved by truck from Cambodia into the Ia Drang Valley area for the recent battle with the U.S. 1st Cavalry. Some had Cambodian money, and most described their life as pleasant across the border.

Diplomatic sources say use of Cambodian territory by the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong does not necessarily imply collusion with the Cambodian government. On the contrary, many believe, Prince Sihanouk, the Cambodian head of state, is powerless to act short of entering the war.

The North Vietnamese units do not depend on the countryside or captured weapons for their supplies and arms. They are outfitted and well supplied with the latest Communist-bloc weapons, mostly made in Red China.

Generally, the morale of the North Vietnamese troops is considered good, their discipline and dedication excellent.

Despite what one military source called a thousand reports of Chinese Communists operating in South Viet Nam, there is no proof of this, according to military circles.

The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong share a historic aversion to the Chinese and have developed tactics so good they may believe foreign advisers would be superfluous.

All the North Vietnamese troops are north of Saigon and have yet to appear in the fertile Mekong delta. No American troops are in the delta. This suggests that the North Vietnamese regulars are under orders to concentrate on the destruction of American units.

How important are you—that is, what is the value of the spot you fill in the daily walk of life? You may be better able to evaluate this after today's "Something to Live By" column.

I suspect if all the beasts of burden were to be lined up and we were to pick the most valuable animal, looks would enter in. The appealing lines of a sleek horse compared to the bulky, awkward silhouette of the camel, for example, might cause us to determine the horse the most valuable. But what we would mean is, it's both useful and pleasant to look upon and we prefer the like of this beast to be in a sense, of the most importance to mankind. However, the decision would only be a proper one when we consider what it is we intend the best to do.

IN SOME parts of the world the camel is by far the most valuable. Now let's turn our interest to men and our evaluation of the lot each fills in his function upon this ever-changing sphere called the world. Too often we score the value of the person by his looks, personality, and prestige. But there is more, and evaluation again is a related thing. Ability (all things being equal) is a very important factor in the measuring of the part one fills in life.

Each of us that enjoys a normal function in life has certain abilities, and if enlarged upon, they enhance our position in life. By simple comparison, let's take another look at the camel. In a sense, he's a cantankerous beast. He moves only about three miles an hour, and when tired, refuses to move at all. Yet this critter is most valuable in the hot deserts of Northern Africa and Arabia and the cold deserts of Central Asia. It can carry 500 or 600 lbs., live on thorny plants, and go for long periods without water. Its feet are broad, allowing it footing where a horse couldn't go. This uncomely creature would prove a beautiful sight to a weary traveler of desert lands because of its unusual ability to fulfill its tasks as a beast of burden in its own locale.

PEOPLE SHOULD be evaluated, not in the sense that one is professional and the other a laborer, but rather, according to the manner in which one utilizes his or her abilities. If we all had the ability to do research, there would be no one developing the ability to utilize our findings. So, enlarge on what you are best able to do, remembering that chances are your task is important or else no one would pay you to perform it. Gain the right perspective on this, and very likely you will soon be on the road to greater things. Neglect your ability, and much of its value will soon be lost.

How about it? How valuable is the spot you fill in this walk of life?

Cut the college problem down to size

It's too big, too important to let slide.

The problem: Colleges are facing greatly increased enrollments every year.

But they may not be able to afford the facilities, equipment and qualified teachers to train these potential leaders.

That makes it our problem.

We urgently need leaders to plan wise use of our national resources, manpower and human skills.

A loss in leadership would be a threat to our economy. It would affect jobs, opportunities, living standards.

Keep our leaders coming, by helping colleges meet the cost of educating them. Give to the college of your choice.

Jury Hearing $35,000 Suit

Walter C. Hoppe told the story this morning in District Court of an accident which inflicted whiplash injuries on his neck 1½ years ago, but his attorney has warned the jury to expect conflicting testimony from the defendant's side.

Hoppe, 68, 1851 Gilmore Ave., told the story of the "rear-end" collision which injured him April 7, 1964, at 2nd and Center streets to a jury which had just been picked this morning to hear his case.

ATTORNEY Duane M. Peterson, representing Hoppe, estimated just compensation for his client's injuries at $35,000 in a written complaint filed last winter.

Defendant in the case is N. A. Roverud Co., 21 Liberty St., which owned the station wagon that struck Hoppe's car. Attorney William M. Hull represents the company.

The plaintiff described his health prior to the accident. Over the years, he had had operations for appendicitis, ulcers, gall bladder and hernia conditions. Heart trouble began in 1954, and he had a mild case of arthritis prior to the accident, Hoppe told the court.

He received a "whiplash" neck injury in an accident in 1960, Hoppe said; but this trouble had been cleared up by the time of the 1964 mishap.

HOPPE SAID that he was driving west on 2nd Street behind two pickup trucks April 7, 1964, when the first truck stopped at Center Street, signaling a left turn. Hoppe said that he stopped about 15 feet behind the second truck after looking in his rear-view mirror to see if anyone was following.

No one was close behind him, the plaintiff testified.

Just as he was about to move forward again, Hoppe said, he was struck from behind. The impact first whipped his head and shoulders back across the rear of the driver's seat, then Hoppe snapped forward again.

His glasses landed on the shelf behind the back seat, Hoppe said. He was dizzied by the collision, the plaintiff told the court; but he recalled the driver of the other car, a station wagon, telling him, "I just wasn't looking, that's all."

Peterson introduced in evidence repair bills on Hoppe's car totaling $199.05.

THE PLAINTIFF testified that he underwent treatments both in Winona and at the Mayo Clinic for more than a year after the accident. He still occasionally wears a neck brace (which he put on for the jury to see), Hoppe said.

The plaintiff testified that he takes pain pills which keep his headaches and neck pains substantially under control. He had an adverse reaction to the pain pills at first, but now he takes an "antidote" to counteract this, Hoppe told the court.

Finally, Hoppe demonstrated for the jury how he can just turn his head slightly to the left but has roughly half of normal movement to the right. He can force his head farther around, Hoppe said; but the pain with this movement, is terrific, he explained.

Judge Arnold Hatfield recessed the trial for lunch with Attorney Hull ready to begin cross-examination of Hoppe.

ARCADIA ANNIVERSARY

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special) — Clifford E. Thronsen, manager of Fullerton Lumber Yard here, was presented with an engraved wristwatch for 25 years of service to the company. Presentation was made by James G. Fullerton, Minneapolis, president of the chain. Thronsen, originally from Canby, Minn., joined the firm Jan. 1, 1940. He started as a yard man, piling lumber, hauling coal and delivering materials. He was made manager of the yard in December 1942.

William Buelow was placing reinforcing in a steel beam when the accident happened at 10:30, the office said. He landed on the concrete foundation. He was conscious when taken to Lutheran Hospital, La Crosse, and was still being examined at noon.

No Inductions Dec. 23-26

WASHINGTON (AP) — Telegrams have been sent state Selective Service directors advising them that inductions of draftees by the Army will be suspended from Dec. 23 until after Dec. 26, a spokesman said today.

The action Friday followed announcement earlier that day by the Continental Army Command at Ft. Monroe, Va., that draftees would not be sent from induction centers to reception centers between Dec. 22 and 27. The Selective Service spokesman said the telegrams were sent so late Friday that they may not have reached state directors in time for word to be passed out to local boards before today.

Arcadia Projects To Meet Dec. 13

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special) — The annual meeting of Arcadia Projects, Inc. will be Dec. 13 at 8 p.m. in the Willie Wire-hand room in Trempealeau Electric Co-op building.

Three directors will be elected for three years to succeed Nic Jensen, Harry Trowbridge and Harold Maloney, whose terms expire. Jensen is board president.

Arcadia Projects, Inc., was organized in 1955 by a group of local citizens. In 1956 they constructed a factory and leased it to Abel & Bach, a Milwaukee firm, which operated it as Arcadia Industries, Inc. Cabinets for record players and other items were made.

In May 1963 the firm became a subsidiary of Walco American Corp. of New York City. Last Feb. 1 Arcadia Industries was purchased by Daniel J. Smith, Arcadia, who had been manager, and William Schroeder, Chicago, who are operating as Arcadia Manufacturing Co.

Arcadia Manufacturing has a 15-year lease on the real estate, with option to buy at the end of the lease period. Total production at the factory is at an all-time high, with 304 employees on the payroll. The 10-month payroll from Feb. 1 to Dec. 1 was $602,000.

The Arcadia Projects clinic account also will be reviewed at the meeting.

Judge McGill set trial for Thursday at 9:30 a.m.

Wichelman pleaded guilty to a charge of driving with no valid driver's license at an unspecified location today at 12:06 a.m. He paid a $15 fine imposed by Judge McGill as the alternative to five days in jail.

Two Slightly Hurt in City Street Mishaps

Two minor injuries and $375 damage resulted from two traffic accidents Sunday and early today on Winona streets, according to police reports.

Daniel A. Ferch, 23, Albert Lea, Minn., was bruised when he fell asleep while driving east on Gilmore Avenue today at 1:20 a.m. and smashed into a telephone pole at the south curb of the avenue, he told police.

Damage to the front of his car was estimated at $300, and there was about $25 damage to the pole, which is located in front of 1927 Gilmore Avenue. Patrolmen Joseph F. Bronk and Milton Rommenberg investigated.

Cash Stolen From Machine In WSC Dorm

Up to $150 may have been taken from two washing machines broken into Sunday night in a men's residence hall at Winona State College, Police Chief James W. McCabe reported today.

Mrs. Fae Griffith, dormitory director, told police today at 4 a.m. that as much as $150 may have been in the coin boxes of the machines in Prentiss Hall. However, she could not say for sure how much money was taken.

Police are investigating the theft.

A doctor's satchel reported stolen Thursday was recovered over the weekend with nothing missing from it, Chief McCabe said. A satchel owned by Dr. Robert B. Tweedy was found apparently untouched in some bushes in Levee Park.

The satchel had contained a stethoscope, blood pressure gauge and other equipment of undisclosed value. No drugs were in the bag, however.

Flood Dike Building Continues

Aided by favoring fall weather, construction crews are continuing to work on new permanent levees at Prairie Island this week.

One dike section, that from Dam 5A to the Latsch Prairie Island Park deer park, is virtually complete. Earth moving vehicles now are hauling fill to the southeastern reaches of the island fronting on Crooked Slough.

THE EXISTING dike along Crooked Slough, built for emergency purposes last spring, is being rebuilt. It is excavated to the former roadway, which was covered last spring by a dozen feet of earth. The bituminous material is then pulverized and put back into the permanent dike structure. Engineers said the bituminous material must be removed so that upper parts of the earth dike can fuse with the base.

Additional concrete work will be done at the Prairie Island flood gate which is expected to withstand an 8-foot head. Corrugated metal tubing will be placed at each end of the present gate tunnel, extending the passage about 80 feet on the river side and 70 feet on the landward side. The extensions will be embedded in concrete. These extensions will allow for increased width of the dike and will permit the present structure to be used instead of being replaced.

FINAL LOCATIONS of a dike portion that will protect homes on the island are still being plotted. Engineers said this part of the work probably will be finished next spring. Meanwhile, the temporary dike from the island deer park to the corner of Crooked Slough will stay in place.

Some work on outfalls emptying into Crooked Slough from the Chicago and North Western freight yards will continue through the winter.

All work on this portion of the flood control system is part of Phase I of the overall plan. Phase II still has not been fully planned since locations of east end dikes have not yet been fixed by the Army Corps of Engineers.

PHASE I of the project will be completed next fall, engineers said. According to present expectations, bids for Phase II will be sought next year.

Park Construction Co., Minneapolis, is prime contractor for Phase I. Overseeing the work are Arthur Johnson and Uno Saari, Corps engineers, and Donald Ward, inspector for the corps.

No Opposition In Goodview

The annual Goodview village election will be held Tuesday at Goodview fire station, with polls open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Rex A. Johnson, mayor, seeks re-election to a two-year term. Gerald Feils and Charles Smith are candidates for three-year terms as trustees. Feils is seeking re-election. Smith, who is filling a vacancy on council by appointment, will seek his first elected term.

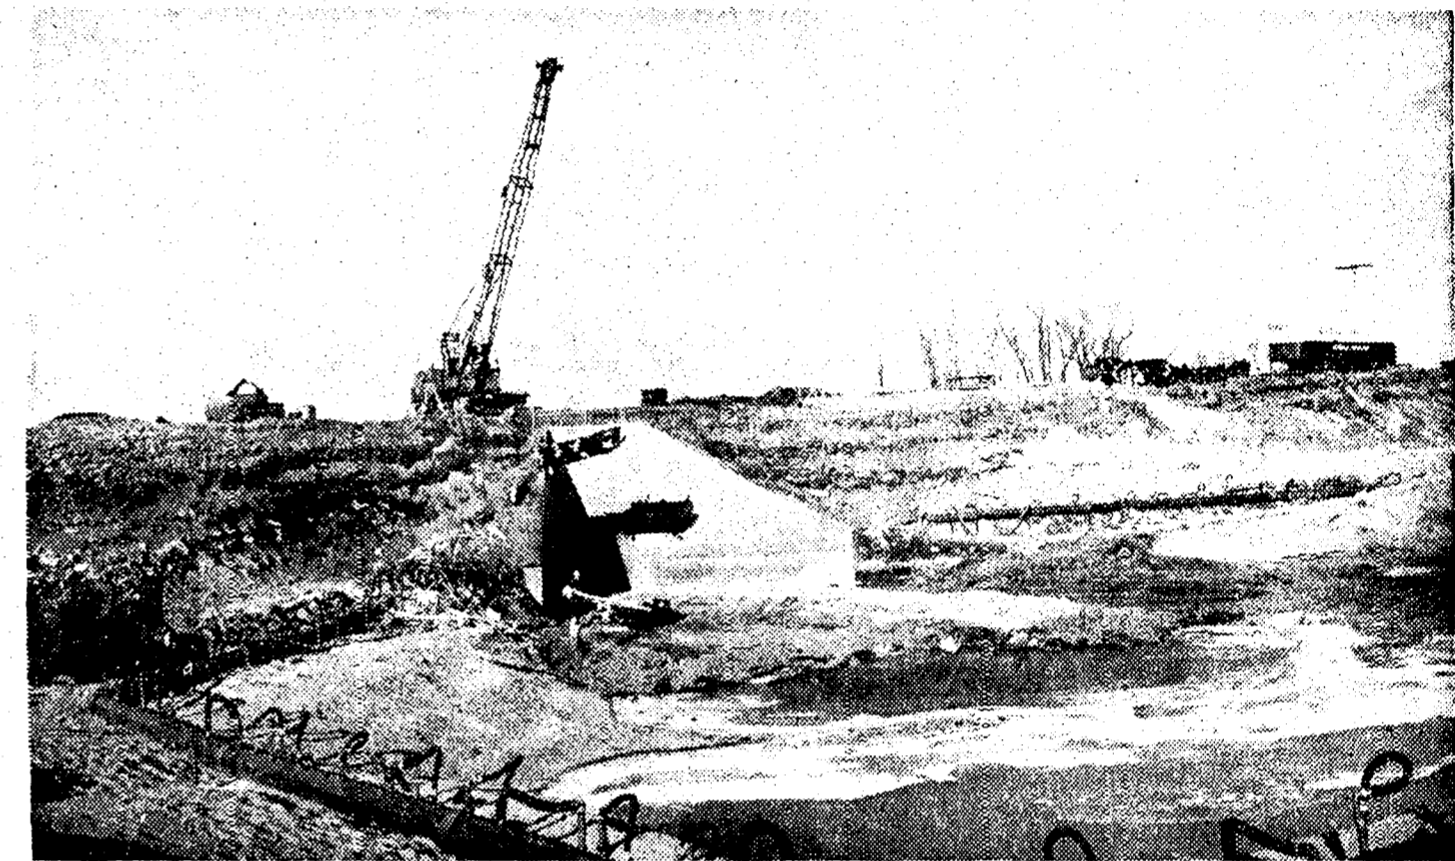

No candidates have opposition.

The office of constable is being discontinued this year by ordinance passed by the council. The term of George Kohner, one of the two current constables, expires at the end of this year. The council hires a marshal.

No one filed for justice of peace. The term of Lewis Albert is expiring.

NEW AND OLD . . . Earth mover travels on new permanent levee at Prairie Island. At right is portion of temporary dike at the deer park. The new dike is several feet higher.

FLOOD GATE . . . Coffers dams and well points keep water away from opening of the Prairie Island flood gate. Normal water line is visible on concrete at center. Additional concrete and corrugated metal pipe will lengthen the tunnel about 150 feet so dike can be widened. Here sections of the metal pipe are lowered into place for assembly and installation. (Daily News photos)

Car Hits Wagon On Highway 43; Injuries Slight

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special) — A car and wagon pulling a load of corn were involved in a rear-end collision one-half block south of the Hart store on Highway 43 at 5:05 p.m. Saturday. Drivers were slightly injured.

Richard DeBoer, 15, driving a tractor pulling a wagon with 65 bushels of corn, was en route to the Orville Luedtke farm, where he stays. When he was within a half-block of the driveway to the Luedtke place, he was hit in the rear by Gayle Rasmussen, about 19, Rushford, who was on his way home from work at Winona. Both vehicles were traveling south.

Rasmussen said he didn't see the wagon and tractor. The wagon was pushed forward an estimated 20-30 feet. It split into two parts and went into the ditch on the right side. The tractor veered left and turned upside down on the highway. Richard was thrown into the ditch on the left side of the road.

Richard's only apparent injury was a skinned hip. Rasmussen, whose 1950 model car was wrecked, received a black eye and small cuts around the mouth.

Luedtke, who owned the tractor and wagon, was working in the field and discovered the wreckage as he came in. The Highway Patrol investigated.

Christmas Events Planned at Eyota

EYOTA, Minn. (Special) — Eyota volunteer firemen and the American Legion post will sponsor a New Year's Eve dance in the new fire hall. Reservations for the dance should be made at Rod's barbershop.

The Eyota Christmas tree has been decorated and lit. The Businessmen's Club will complete decorating the streets this week.

Eyota Farm Bureau had its Christmas party Thursday night. Clifton Pagel talked on the membership drive. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schnell, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hennel and Mr. and Mrs. Truman Matteson. Next meeting will be a tour of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. at Rochester.

Dakota 'Fenced Out' By New Highway; Bullets Penetrate

DAKOTA, Minn. (Special) — There are no short cuts to the main part of Dakota from the southwest or service road section of town nor from any other area.

Interstate 90 has been fenced in, although school children and fishermen may have sung "Don't Fence Me In."

But a highway fence doesn't stop bullets. One entered the front porch of the Mrs. Howard Bearwald residence recently from the service road area.

Parishoners of Holy Cross parish, checking basement windows for winterizing, found a bullet had pierced a window on the south side of the boiler room adjacent to the fuel barrel. The bullet hole was found following the deer hunting season. Frequently children use the church yard for Saturday and after school play.

Railroad Crash Survivor Listed As Satisfactory

Mrs. Luella Beggs, who received multiple fractures and other injuries Friday in a grade crossing accident, continues in satisfactory condition, according to Community Memorial Hospital sources.

She was injured in the crash that killed her sister, Mrs. Angeline Holmgren. Their car was struck by the eastbound Milwaukee Hiawatha at Minnesota Street about 2:15 p.m. Friday.

Mrs. Beggs has been employed as an aide at the Paul Watkins Memorial Home.

Police said today they are awaiting a report on readings from a sealed recording device in the train locomotive. The unit, similar to those used in commercial airplanes, was to have been examined by railroad officials in Milwaukee. It provides a running record of data including speeds at all points, starts and stops.

Home, Contents Burn at Mondovi; Wife in Hospital

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special) — The residence on the James Cook farm, Town of Mondovi, about four miles south of the city, and all its contents were destroyed by fire Sunday night.

No one was at home. An unidentified youth stopped at the neighboring William Cook farm and reported seeing flames. Mrs. Cook, aunt of Jack Cook, who lived on the place with his family, turned in the alarm to the Mondovi fire department at 10:30 p.m.

The fire was too far advanced to save a thing. An attempt was made by Jack Cook and others to remove a desk with papers, but without success.

Jack's wife was at Buffalo Memorial Hospital, where their second child had been born. Jack and their younger child were staying with his mother-in-law, Mrs. Dorothy Jardine, Rt. 1. The older child had swallowed an earring and Jack had taken her to the hospital, too, and just returned to the Jardine home when he received the call.

A high wind hampered fire fighters but no other buildings were damaged. The volunteers stayed at the scene until 3 a.m. and James Cook stayed until 5:45 a.m. He lives in town as Jack, his son, runs the farm. Eight loads of water were hauled by milk trucks to the scene.

Cause of the blaze is not known but it may have started in wiring, Jack said, because a transformer was blown out. Flames appeared to have started in the north part near the kitchen of the frame building. Cook said he has some insurance.

Albert Lea Girl's Death Raises State Toll to 772

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Minnesota's traffic fatality list for 1965 totaled 772 today, only five under the total of a year before. Last year's traffic deaths set a record.

Latest death reported to the Highway Patrol was that of 18-year-old Judy Callahan of Albert Lea. She was killed shortly after midnight today in a head-on collision of cars on U.S. Highway 16 about 4 1/2 miles east of Albert Lea.

Injured and hospitalized were the drivers of the two cars involved — Gerald Koch, 18, Glenville, Minn., driver of the car in which Miss Callahan was riding, and Gary Collins, 21, of Emmons, Minn.

Steven Schoonover, 3, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Schoonover of St. Paul, was killed Sunday when the car driven by his father skidded out of control and overturned.

The accident happened on Highway 60 near Lake Crystal, about 15 miles west of Mankato. Schoonover and his wife, 27, suffered bruises. Also injured were two other occupants of the car, Fred O. Zabel, 55, and his wife, 50, of St. Louis, Mo.

Ralph Glynn, 29, rural Lindstrom, Minn., was killed Saturday when his automobile struck a freeway barrier in Mounds View, a St. Paul suburb.

Authorities said the engine was ripped from the car when it hit the abutment as he was leaving Interstate Highway 35W on an exit to Minnesota Highway 10.

Mrs. Christine Nee, 73, Minneapolis, died Saturday in a Tucson, Ariz., hospital of injuries suffered in an accident the day before.

It Happened Last Night 'Indestructible Gypsy' Anxious to Entertain

By EARL WILSON

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — There she was up on the stage playing the squeezebox and singing... Gypsy Markoff "The Indestructible Gypsy." Gen. Douglas A. MacArthur called her once when he found her in a hospital in Japan, having survived an earthquake.

Gypsy Markoff here at Jose Dleema's fashion safari at the Hotel Americana... well, now, anyway, that was something different for Gypsy.

I felt suddenly sorry for these beautiful, brittle young people sitting around me here at the fashion show... sorry that they were too young to have known Gypsy's golden years.

Sitting here as Jose's show is glittering Christina Paolozzi and her Pomeranian pup and her husband, Christina has taken her Pom to a couple of official functions and there is some whispering about that. Maggie McNellis is "commentating" the beautiful fashions and Vera Swift, the millionaire-marrier, is busying herself with some vodka. And it is tres gay and chic... and not one has heard about Gypsy Markoff.

It was Feb. 22, 1943, that Gypsy Markoff and Jane Frohman were pulled out of the Tagu River in Portugal... crippled... after a plane crash that killed 33.

THE SINGER Yvette she credits with saving her life. Yvette kept calling to her as she was flailing around in the river. "Hold on, hold on, somebody'll come... but don't come near me, you'll pull me down."

Now it's 22 years later, and Gypsy, still with an injured wrist — "But I make it work," she says — has just organized one more combo and is ready to entertain. I was seeing and hearing her on the new combo's first date. Gypsy, a study in courage, had gone to Africa — or started for Africa — to entertain the troops, in 1943. Unable to use her hands for a long time after the disaster, she had gone to Japan to sing, and that's when Gen. MacArthur found her after the earthquake.

"I was in New York to see my specialist about my wrist," Gypsy told me, "and I went around to the U.S.O., and told them that I was ready if they needed me again."

"WE'RE MOSTLY sending big shows but you may hear from us," they said.

Well, they can get her at P.O. Box 6001, Santurce, Puerto Rico. Gypsy still clings to the family tradition that she was born to entertain.

Gypsy happened to be born in Milwaukee. Her family, Bessarabian gypsies, were playing Milwaukee at the time. She remains a true gypsy, playing in Europe in the summer, coming back here for the winter.

Considering that she and Jane Frohman (now married to a Missouri publisher) got only $20,000 compensation for their injuries, after close to 20 years of waiting, which reduced the award by about half, one must believe that Gypsy has great faith in her country and the U.S.O.

Gypsy now has a second business. She reads palms, handwriting and tells fortunes by mail. We wonder if Gypsy has ever told her own fortune. Regardless of what was forecast, I'm sure she'd say, as she always has, about her crippled wrist: "I'll make it work."

Officer Requests Early Return of Veterans Form

Veterans' beneficiaries who receive income questionnaire cards with their monthly government checks should make arrangements to complete them and return them immediately. Phillip Kaczorowski, Winona County veterans service officer, said today.

In some instances where additional information is required or a correction necessary, early completion of the form will prevent any delay in payment by the Veterans Administration. Kaczorowski explained.

The assistance of the county veterans service officer is available in completing the forms.

The questionnaire card arrived as an enclosure with Nov. 30 checks.

St. Paul Man Kills Wife, Takes Own Life

ST. PAUL (AP) — A St. Paul man shot his wife to death and then took his own life, police said today. Seven children were orphaned by the shootings.

Killed in their home early Sunday were David Adams, 39, and his wife, Selma, 38. They were parents of six sons and one daughter, 6 to 17.

The eldest son, David, told police he was awakened by his father, who came to the boy's bedroom and said, "Wake up, I just killed your mother."

David roused the other children, then went to the parents' bedroom and saw his mother lying on bloody bedclothing. The teenager ran to the nearby home of a relative while his sister, Curriser Mae, 14, went to a neighbor's home and telephoned police.

As the two ran, they heard two more shots. Adams was dead beside the body of his wife. A .38 automatic was in his right hand.

NASON ON EDUCATION

Some Schools Let Students 'Get By'

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.
University of S. Calif.

A survey of how some students "get by" in school brings out some surprising facts.

Jane, a graduate student in college preparing for elementary school teaching, had no conception of the real meaning of a fraction. She knew the word. She said that in any problem she always multiplied by the numerator or divided by the denominator to get the answer. Her method of approach to all word problems was some form of guessing.

Jane had gotten by through all of her grade school, high school and four years of college without anyone discovering that she did not really understand fractions.

It is not that Jane could not understand. Fifteen minutes of careful explanation was all that was required. She was forced to think about what fractions actually are and not rush off into some pattern of thought that might by chance get the answer.

THE NEW mathematics in vogue in elementary schools is putting the spotlight on the haphazard manner in which too many students have guessed their way through basic mathematics.

Prospective elementary school teachers must necessarily take a course in modern mathematics and understand it well enough to explain it to the children. Knowing this, many of them struggle for complete understanding of mathematics for the first time in their careers. A surprising number of these young men and women voluntarily are taking a course in remedial arithmetic as preparation for the course in modern mathematics.

Too many pupils give up the struggle for understanding as they work their way through the grades with mediocre success.

PAT IS SUCH a pupil. In the eighth grade, asked to list some personal pronouns, he included several verbs and adjectives. It developed that he had no clear idea what a pronoun really is. Neither did he know how to find out by looking in his English book.

For some reason Pat had never discovered the usefulness of the index.

Once he found it was possible to understand things exactly and find them through the index, his progress in his English class was so rapid as to be called amazing. All he needed was a little direction in solving his specific problems of learning.

Such failures could be avoided by the proper early start. The evidence seems to indicate that a child who is expected by the school to learn, does so; while the child of whom little is expected produces little.

Job Training For 13 States

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department announced Sunday night approval of a $1.7-million on-the-job training project to train 4,160 service station salesmen in 13 states.

ciations in 13 states including Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wisconsin.

About 1,000 of the trainees will be selected by federal state employment service offices from among the chronically unemployed.

The other 1,600 trainees will be upgraded from handyman and odd-job work in gasoline stations, the announcement said.

LBJ Can't Do Much With Martin

PRESIDENT JOHNSON is finally baffled.

He put the heat on business and labor to prevent inflation by keeping prices and wages down. But William McChesney Martin Jr. had his own ideas on how to prevent inflation, and Johnson couldn't do a thing with him.

Martin, just a few days short of 59, is a conservative, tight-money man and chairman of the Federal Reserve Board which under law is set up to operate independently of the President and Congress.

Martin's seven-man board thought one way to put a brake on inflation was to raise interest rates, which was the opposite of Johnson's thinking. He feared higher interest would put a brake on the booming economy.

Sunday night the board, ignoring Johnson, went ahead, boosted the rates.

THE MAN WHOSE foresight in all this turned out best was Johnson's fellow-Texasan and Democrat, Rep. Wright Patman, chairman of the House Banking Committee.

Last June, Martin made a speech at Columbia University, saying there were "disquieting similarities" between the present prosperity and the boom that preceded the 1929 market crash and the depression of the 1930s.

The stock market promptly took a dive. Many brokers thought Martin's speech was a factor in that. Patman said Martin had parted company with the Johnson administration and should step out, letting the President appoint his own chairman.

THE PRESIDENT appoints the board members, with Senate approval, but he can't fire them. They have fixed terms. Martin's is 14 years. He was first appointed by President Harry S. Truman, was reappointed by President John F. Kennedy.

Johnson's Secretary of the Treasury, Henry H. Fowler, took a sunnier view than Patman. He said he didn't see anything in Martin's words foretelling action by the board to raise interest rates.

Johnson talked with Martin, said he saw no reason for "gloom or doom." But months passed and Johnson must have sensed or learned what the board had in mind, for Sunday the Washington Post said that last week Johnson phoned Martin from his ranch, asking him down for a weekend talk.

THE POST said that Martin said he couldn't go until Monday and then on Friday Martin called a Reserve Board meeting which Sunday night ordered an increase from 4 to 4.5 percent in the discount rate banks pay when they borrow money from the Federal Reserve.

This would immediately affect major borrowers like corporations. The rates would also affect mortgage borrowing.

They probably will not directly affect consumers' interest rates but interest rates affect everyone, directly or indirectly.

JOHNSON ISSUED a statement deploring the board's actions. There doesn't seem much he can do about it. Patman said Johnson should demand Martin's resignation and promised an investigation of Martin's actions by his committee.

Two New Ski Areas Boon to Red Wing

(Red Wing Republican Eagle)

ANYONE WHO THUMBS through the current Minnesota Motorist, excellent publication of the Minnesota State Auto Association, is bound to find out about exciting new developments close to Red Wing. The magazine carries three articles on skiing and a roundup of 17 ski resorts that its editors feel should appeal to members who are ski enthusiasts.

Three of the 17 are ski resorts of national fame — Aspen, Colorado; Whitefish, Montana; and Sun Valley, Idaho. The rest are in Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Michigan.

The two newly created ski resorts close to Red Wing are listed among the six areas within easy driving distance of the Twin Cities. Clem Nelson's Welch Village site and Red Wing Ski Corporation's Mt. Frontenac are newcomers to this list which includes places that have been in business for several years at Pine Bend, and at Osceola, Somerset, and Dresser, in Western Wisconsin.

The enterprising people who operate all the ski resorts listed provide a multiplicity of lift facilities, professional instructors, and chalets where equipment and refreshment for skiers can be obtained. Those more remote from the larger population centers have overnight accommodations as well.

Since neither of the two nearby places offer such services, Red Wing restaurants, hotels, and motels should surely secure additional patronage in the winter months. And residents of the city who are downhill skiing fans have every reason to be delighted with these developments, too.

LOCAL CRITICS OF AAA travel routings which have discouraged motorists from traveling U. S. 61 should be gratified at this switch. For the association, through its state organization, is now — with this excellent publicity — directing people our way.

His servants shall serve him.—Revelation 22:3.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — What's the difference between the "right of dissent" and the alleged right to commit acts that amount to treason?

Individuals have been carrying enemy flags in demonstrations around the White House. Public speeches are being made calling on the United States, in effect, to surrender in Viet Nam. Yet America's young men are dying by the hundreds in Viet Nam, and the big question is how many more will have to be sacrificed because the enemy thinks the people of the United States want their government to accept peace at almost any price.

Arthur Goldberg, American ambassador to the United Nations, evidently felt that these demonstrations were important enough for him to discuss in an address at the White House Conference on International Cooperation. But, while he warns the enemy not to misunderstand the right of dissent in America as a sign of weakness in foreign policy, he places his emphasis on the constitutional right of freedom of speech. President Johnson said the same thing last weekend. The Constitution, however, defines treason as follows:

"TREASON AGAINST the United States, shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort."

Many of the persons who are engaging in demonstrations are actually giving "aid and comfort" to the enemy. They are encouraging the enemy to prolong the conflict, because Hanoi will continue to believe that the war is unsupported by public opinion in America. Mr. Goldberg tried in his speech to belittle the importance of the dissent. He said:

"I do not subscribe to the idea that the grave problems of today demand unanimity of opinion. We are a mature people and we should not fear dissent. It is, of course, more powerful when its aims are constructive; but we in our free and open society must live with it even when the opposite is true. If we do not, we face the danger of embracing for our own those ends we fight to prevent abroad."

"BUT OUR adversaries should not take the American right to dissent as a sign of weakness or wavering of purpose. Rather, they should regard it as a sign of our virility as a nation and a source of strength both at home and wherever we are committed."

"The American people, in brief, with their belief and trust in the blessings of freedom, will ever draw new strength from their unfettered right to express divergent and even unpopular views, but at a time of testing they stand together to resist tyranny."

"Peiping and Hanoi, therefore, should make no mistake about our basic unity of purpose in opposing force or be misled by a freedom they do not understand."

MR. GOLDBERG's effort to defend freedom of speech was, of course, well-intentioned. But too many people are ignoring the fact that a war is going on in Viet Nam and that in wartime the right of dissent is narrowed considerably because the duty to preserve American lives supersedes everything else. Even freedom of the press can be restricted while a war is in progress.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

LBJ Letting Military Dominate Viet Views

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Most urgent personnel problem facing LBJ is right inside the White House — namely, what to do about McGeorge Bundy, who has been offered a big job but actually doesn't want to leave, and what to do about Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, who has been participating more and more in problems outside the Pentagon.

The President is reported inclined to replace Bundy with McNamara making him assistant president and the second most powerful man in the U.S.A. This raises two significant questions:

1. Will McNamara, as coordinator of foreign affairs inside the White House, supersede Dean Rusk, secretary of state?

2. Will military thinking dominate our foreign affairs, supposedly directed by civilians?

The answer to the first is that Dean Rusk doesn't seem to mind having Bob McNamara barge into foreign policy. They get along well together; even cooperate in making mistakes together. At the end of their joint meeting in Honolulu, Nov. 20, 1963, they issued a formal statement promising that 300 U.S. troops would leave South Viet Nam Dec. 3, 1964, and that 1,000 more would depart before the end of 1964. This, they said, would leave 15,500 American troops in South Viet Nam.

TODAY IS Dec. 5, 1965, and the 300 troops that were to leave by Dec. 3, 1964, have not yet departed. Instead of 15,500 U.S. troops in South Viet Nam, we have sent in more than 150,000, with approximately 30,000 more on the way.

Dean Rusk has not yet joined his friend, the secretary of defense, in the latter's recent statement, "We have stopped losing the war," which came as a surprise to many Americans because, judging from Pentagon statements, we were winning the war.

But, in any event, no sparks would fly around the White House if the President superimposed Bob McNamara, in effect, over Dean Rusk as an assistant president.

The answer to problem number two is that military thinking has already dominated our supposedly civilian foreign policy for some time.

Specifically, and quite recently, we have had the former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Maxwell Taylor, serving as ambassador in South Viet Nam, and it was the Joint Chiefs of Staff who really sold Johnson on the policy of bombing North Viet Nam — a policy which Secretary McNamara now tacitly admits has been a failure.

IT WILL be recalled that on the night of Feb. 6 and the early morning of Feb. 7, when a hastily called White House conference decided to bomb North Viet Nam, Secretary of State Rusk was in Florida, Ill., and George Ball, the acting secretary of state, argued against the bombing. He knew that Soviet Premier Kossygin had just arrived in Hanoi, capital of North Viet Nam, and while he did not know specifically that Kossygin was in our corner, the State Department suspected it.

Later developments have shown that one day before we started bombing North Viet Nam Kossygin had actually urged the Chinese to help end the war in Viet Nam, or as the Chinese put it, "serve as a pawn for U.S. imperialism."

However, on that fateful night, Acting Secretary of State Ball was overwhelmed by the arguments of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Their advice prevailed.

Therefore Bob McNamara's transfer to the White House would really make no change in the fact that the military dominate U.S. foreign policy today.

THE ONE man who has spoken out against military domination in closed door conferences is the White House adviser who now may be leaving, McGeorge Bundy. In the last few months he has been joined by Arthur Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, and by Vice President Humphrey.

Bundy is a former dean of Harvard, the son of an assistant secretary of state in the Hoover administration, and once wrote a book with elder statesman Henry L. Stimson on Stimson's experiences as twice secretary of war and once secretary of state. Stimson knew the perils of atomic war and passed on these fears to his young collaborator.

Later developments have shown that one day before we started bombing North Viet Nam Kossygin had actually urged the Chinese to help end the war in Viet Nam, or as the Chinese put it, "serve as a pawn for U.S. imperialism."

WASHINGTON CALLING

Decision on War Biggest for LBJ

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — Reports from the ranch in Texas have President Johnson working hard shaping the new federal budget he must submit to Congress. But the decisions on the budget are only part — a small part — of a far larger decision that cannot long be evaded.

In his historical perspective that decision looms as one of the most momentous an American President has ever had to make. In essence, it is whether the war in Viet Nam is to become a full-scale conflict, recognized as such, or whether it will continue to be a part-time war representing only one phase of the policy of containing Chinese communism.

Hardly anything, whether on the domestic or the foreign side, lies beyond the shadow of this decision. As yet it has not reached the top. But the summit is anticipated in a snowfall of position papers in blizzard proportions from at least a half-dozen agencies.

For the first time from Saigon, coincidental with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's visit, the figure of 300,000 American ground troops was used. The present total is 165,000. Only two months ago McNamara ridiculed the suggestion that a million Americans might be committed on the ground. To talk of half that number was only half as ridiculous, he said. Consistently his pronouncements on the war have been overly optimistic.

THE PARALLEL with the Korean War has from the beginning of escalation been obvious. So far as numbers of men in action, there is still a long way to go. During the three years of Korea the Army committed a total of 2,834,000, the Marines 424,000 and the casualties were 157,530 dead and wounded.

But the political parallel on the domestic front is closer. From the Republican opposition led by Richard Nixon the demand is rising for bombing the crowded industrial area of Hanoi and the port of Haiphong. That clamor will be louder when Congress returns in January.

The claim of Gen. Curtis Lemay and others of the big bomber school is for a quick victory and by implication an easy victory. Between the lines the meaning is that all those ground troops would be unnecessary if only Communist men and supplies were to be denied. That is nearly identical with the "privileged sanctuary" contention in the Korean War. The advocates of bombing in China across the Yalu River insisted that this would bring the war to a quick and triumphant end. President Truman resisted that demand and was roundly denounced for it.

THE DECISION for President Johnson is tougher, if only because in Korea the war was fought under the United Nations flag and virtually every country outside the Communist bloc supported American aims. In the Viet Nam war even America's outwardly loyal allies have grave private doubts about the American commitment to a land war in Asia and its ultimate outcome. As for carrying the bombing to the industrial North, Allied opinion is reported overwhelmingly opposed. One of Prime Minister Harold Wilson's objectives in his meeting with the President in mid-December will be to urge restraint.

Recent samplings of public opinion in this country show an increasing trend toward "letting it over with" by bombing the industrial cities. This swing, as the casualties on the ground mount alarmingly, is in direct contrast to what is reported to be the major view, aside from the Joint Chiefs of Staff, in the rain of position papers.

IN THE OPINION of those who weigh long-term considerations against possible immediate military advantage, the war would almost certainly be greatly enlarged. Despite what today seems an irrevocable split, Russia would be brought together with Red China if only in joint support of the North Vietnamese Communistists. Under that kind of partnership they would try to out-

Answers To Your Questions

Dear Dr. Molner: We have a retarded child who at the age of three can't walk or talk or eat solid foods. Can you tell me where to write to find out about schools for retarded children? — MRS. M. W.

In your case, you have both state and city associations for retarded children which you will find in the phone book. In other localities, there are various ways to get in touch with the proper people. Community Chest or United Community Service organizations are a good source of reliable advice. Many school systems have special departments which can direct you where and how to get necessary tests. Children's hospitals or hospitals with pediatric departments usually can be of service.

do each other in militancy. With Russian casualties on the ships in the port and on the missile bases around the Northern capital Moscow would be compelled to mount a massive military effort.

The political significance of this in an election year is plain enough. President Johnson treasures a consensus as he treasures the polls showing his popularity rating in the first two years at a near record. A military decision on one side or the other is bound to bring strong dissent and even hostility. Republicans will renew their attack on the Great Society programs with the argument that the country can't afford them in the middle of a war.

And, meanwhile, back at the ranch the figure experts cover pages and pages. Yet whether the deficit this year is to be $8 billion or $3 billion and the next budget, $105 billion or more must seem academic alongside the other decisions the President faces.

Let's Get Growing

By A. F. SHIRA

Pollination Of Flowers

SINCE the growing season has ended and many of the plants mulched for the winter, this is a good time to contemplate on some of the processes that are responsible for our flowers, fruits and vegetables. One of these is pollination which is essential for production.

Pollination may be defined as the process by which the pollen of the male anthers is transferred to the female pistil. The principal means by which this is done from the gardener's standpoint is through the agency of insects. Sometimes this pollination is loosely referred to as fertilization, but the former is possible. In the process of getting the nectar most insects become dusted with pollen which is carried from flower to flower and are thus a great means of cross-fertilization.

THE WIND is, also, a great agency in the pollination of many plants whose sole dependence is on wind blown pollen. It carries the pollen of all of the grasses and sedges, as well as the pines and most trees that bear catkins such as the willows, birches and the like. It goes on all about us in season wholly unnoticed, except by hay fever sufferers.

From the breeding angle and the standpoint of developing new hybrids of superior quality, the most important method is artificial pollination which is carried on by plant breeders. This involves the artificial transfer of pollen from one flower to the stigma of another flower under controlled conditions in order to prevent self-pollination. Some plants that are commonly self-pollinated are wheat, oats, sweet peas, beans and garden peas.

Varieties of plants within a species usually can be hybridized as they are closely related. However, successful crosses between species of a genus are less certain of results, although in some genera it is quite common. Usually, most practical results can be expected between varieties within a species, or between species of the same genus. Cross-pollination is probably more common in nature than self-pollination.

AS STATED above, except for the deliberate crossing of plants by man in order to create new varieties, cross-pollination in nature is carried on by insects, the most important of which are the bees. The domestic honey bees that live in hives and, also, wild bees that live in colonies usually in large hollow trees in the woods, are very important in the cross-fertilization of fruit trees.

The large bumble bees that live in colonies in the ground are familiar to most country boys. Their elongated mouth parts enable them to pollinate the blossoms of red clover which no other bees can do. Therefore, they are essential for the formation of seeds of this valuable farm crop.

The bees that live in colonies are referred to as social bees. However, the bees that live alone must not be overlooked as they are important agencies in the pollination of flowers, as well. They are known as the solitary bees.

BEES ARE very important in the garden and orchard for the valuable work that they do. Sometimes apples will not set fruit properly, unless the blossoms have been cross-fertilized by bees, or other insects. This is true, also, of some of the hybrid plums and in such cases a pollinator variety should be planted nearby to insure cross-fertilization for good production. Honey bees are fast becoming indispensable to agriculture, to the orchards and those specialists who grow seeds for the market, since the population of the wild species of bees that have served so well in the past are rapidly decreasing in numbers.

Kenneth Krumm, of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service; Winona, and vice president of the Hiawatha Valley Bird Club, Winona, presented a film and commentary on the Upper Mississippi River Wildlife Refuge at the annual winter meeting of the Minnesota Ornithologists' Union in Minneapolis Saturday.

The all-day paper session was held at the Museum of Natural History on the University of Minnesota campus.

It was announced that the American Ornithology Union meeting will be held Sept. 12-16, 1966, in Duluth. Renowned birding expert Roger Tory Peterson and others will conduct field trips during the convention.

Krumm's presentation showed the wealth of varied habitat for wildlife that is embraced by the refuge boundaries from Lake Pepin to Reno, Minn. He emphasized the natural resources in the Winona area and the wide variety of birds which is supported by them from the bald eagle, our national emblem, to the relatively tiny Bell's vireo and lenslow sparrow.

Dakota Council Asks Old 61 Remain Available

DAKOTA, Minn. (Special) — Dakota Council members signed a resolution at their meeting last week to keep old Highway 61 open between Dakota and Dresbach. Copies are to be sent to the state Highway Department, state senators and representatives and other officials.

Residents use the road for business between the two villages; it is the access to the dump site; Dakota firemen use it for fire protection at Dresbach because it is a shorter and easier route; school buses use it to pick up and take home children; the mail truck uses it for deliveries at the two post offices, and it provides access to the river for boats and trailers.

C. E. BURRILL, Rochester, district engineer, didn't promise Dakota service on the road; he said it would not be in the interest of the state to maintain heavy washing of the banks from the new interstate highway out the road.

The council's resolution said closing of the road would not prevent the banks from deteriorating.

Five new lights will be placed in the village, according to W. D. Mostrom, Winona, sales representative of Northern States Power Co. His blueprints for the improvements were approved. Incandescent lights will be replaced by new lamps and, in some instances, spaced for better illumination. The cost will be increased one-third but light will be 70 percent greater.

A budget of $1,400 was approved, the same as last year. Clerk Joyce Witt reported November receipts of $469.42; bills of $124.33, and balance on hand, $1,092.72.

Carl Strauss, Dresbach, owner of the Dakota - Dresbach dump site, asked by letter that New Hartford and Dresbach townships contribute to maintenance of the road leading to the dump since some of the residents have been hauling garbage there.

THE COUNCIL voted to maintain the road only from the Strauss private drive to the dump and leave the request to the townships.

E. H. Trocinske accepted the snow removal job in the village. Building permits were issued C. J. Papenfuss for an addition

The Prebe car glanced to the right, the officer said, traveling about 120 feet before coming to a stop. Lorenz estimated $175 damage to the Prebe car and $200 to Sommerfield's.

It was reported that Dakota firemen received four road flares from John C. Beach and first put them to use recently when resurfacing the street in front of the fire house.

Rochester Dairy Sales Gain With Favorable Trend

ROCHESTER, Minn. — Rochester Dairy Cooperative patrons received $143,000 in extra payments and had an average profit of $204.192 credited to their co-op investment accounts as a result of a profitable 1965 fiscal year, about 3,000 patrons were told at their annual meeting here Saturday.

The year also showed sales up more than $1 million — to $6,174,407 — milk volume up 7.6 percent and plant efficiency up 3.8 percent. The large increase in milk volume — to nearly 531,000 pounds — made operation of the large Rochester plant more efficient, as the operation is geared for a larger volume.

"AND THE tendency is for better days ahead," said President George Daley, Lewiston, in an interview later. The outlook is good because of the unusual national milk situation; national production is down, he added. Daley believes the late and wet fall harvest will not have a major effect on milk production in the area.

"The dairy industry in South-eastern Minnesota is being affected more now by the drought of a year ago and the necessity last summer to supplement pasture and normal rations. And since drought time crops weren't so good, production at the moment isn't as high as anticipated," he said. Production should soon return to normal, he believes.

Directors Paul Bauer, Arkansaw, Wis.; Harold Searles Jr., Byron, and Raymond Powell, Waseca, were re-elected. Alfred Starz, Zumbro Falls, was elected to fill the expired directorship of Loren Graskamp, Fountain, who was not up for re-election.

New officers will be chosen at the board reorganization Wednesday, Daley said.

THE ANNUAL report also indicated an interesting trend. Butter production fell despite larger milk receipts. This trend was due mainly to the increased use of butterfat in other products. An official said this declining per capita butter consumption in the United States.

Increased sales came from three main factors: Stronger markets, increased sales of locally distributed products, and increased shipments of fluid Grade A milk to out-of-state points.

Musical Program, Tour Highlights AAUW Luncheon

The annual guest day luncheon of Winona Branch, American Association of University Women, attended by 130 members and guests at Lourdes Hall, College of Saint Teresa, was served in a festive holiday atmosphere.

LUNCHEON tables in the hall were centered with glittering candles and greens and arranged around the huge, brilliantly decorated Christmas tree.

Sister M. Lorraine and Sister Camille, college president, were hostesses. The guests were served by the gracious students of the college.

Mrs. E. J. Boller, branch president, welcomed the guests and Mrs. Lloyd Belville, program chairman introduced student musicians of the college who presented the program.

AN INSTRUMENTAL trio, comprised of Sister M. Gretel, violin, Miss Kathleen Hansen, cello, and Miss Diane Ehrhardt, piano, played "Trio in B Flat Major" by Beethoven.

The youthful and cheerful Cecilia Choir of freshmen girls, directed by Sister M. Lalonde, sang a group of four songs: "British Children's Prayer," "The Nightingale," "Weelkes; 'Come Let Us Start a Joyful Song,' Hassler, and 'Old King Cole,' arrangement by Dunhill.

Members of the choir are Jane Allington, Cecilia Carlyle, Kathleen Corrigan, Jenovefa Knoop, Margaret Martin, Linda Menzel, Mary Beth Peterson, Patricia Stranahan, Linda Tauke and Susan Bode, accompanist.

ANNOUNCEMENT was made that Watkins Products, Inc., has invited AAUW members to tour the plant Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Following the luncheon, guests toured the circular chapel of Assisi Hall, residence of Junior Sisters and Postulants. Sister M. Michaela conducted the tour. Of special interest were the windows designed by Robert Leader of the art department of Notre Dame University. Theme of the windows is taken from the early 15th century work "The Little Flowers of Saint Francis." AAUW members were impressed with the color, design and expression, created in contemporary style, they said.

MARK TRAIL

DEAR ABBY:

She's Accused Of Flirting

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Just what is the difference between "flirting" and being friendly with a man? I have been accused of flirting when I have only meant to be "nice" to a fellow. I am single and people tell me I'm the type they feel like they've known all their lives only a few minutes after meeting me. Men DO ask me out as soon as they meet me, but I have trouble with them after that. They try to take liberties with me and I'm not that kind of girl. How can I be friendly enough to capture a man's interest, without giving him the idea that anything goes?

JUST FRIENDLY

DEAR FRIENDLY: "Flirting" constitutes encouragement above and beyond the platonic plateau. The girl who is constantly being misunderstood is a little TOO friendly. Don't be a tease. The man who mistakes the dating call for the mating call needs his hearing tested. Start by saying "NO" very clearly.

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter was selected to be one of a few for a big honor in her school. She had a lot of competition but, Abby, she won it fairly and squarely. We later heard through the grapevine that the reason our daughter won was because we were friendly with some of the people who had a big say in picking the winner. I swear on a stack of Bibles that we never once mentioned our daughter or anything about that "honor" to these people. This sure does take the joy out of it for us. How can we let folks know that she won with no help from anybody?

HURT

DEAR HURT: Don't waste your time or energy. Your friends don't need to be assured and your enemies wouldn't believe the truth anyway. Credit it to the sour grapevine and forget it.

DEAR ABBY: Please be a pal and discourage people from sending out those boring five-page Christmas newsletters that seem to have replaced the lovely traditional Christmas card. I realize that some people don't have time to write letters to their friends all year and their annual Christmas letter helps bring folks up to date on what has happened to all the members of the family since last Christmas. However, if Cousin Ned was appointed to the Supreme Court, they will have read it in the papers. And who cares if Susie placed third in the frog jumping contest, and Grandpa Joe had all his uppers extracted? (Yich!) Yours, for the old-fashioned "MERRY CHRISTMAS" cards. LAKELANDER

DEAR LAKELANDER: Speak for yourself. I've seen some annual Christmas newsletters that were interesting, amusing and tastefully done. And those five-page duds make wonderful kindling.

Contemporary Brings in Outdoors

By ANDY LANG

By their very nature, contemporary houses permit wider variation of design than do the traditional.

While the latter occasionally stray from the structural features that established their popularity over the years, it is in the contemporary that the architect can exercise his ingenuity to the utmost.

IN THE latest House of the Week, Rudolph A. Matern has demonstrated how a modern, one-story house can be given a touch of excitement without deviating from the basic principles of good design. Both outside and inside, this house has the virtues home owners have come to expect: a center hall entrance, a practical traffic pattern, excellent placement of kitchen appliances, separation of the living and sleeping quarters, and plenty of closet and storage space.

But a glance at the artist's exterior rendering and the floor plans discloses a most distinctive outdoor appearance and a fine arrangement for indoor-outdoor living.

The indoor-outdoor feature is an extension of the formal living area of the house. Sandwiched between this part of the house and the two-car garage is a room 26' long, completely covered yet open at the rear.

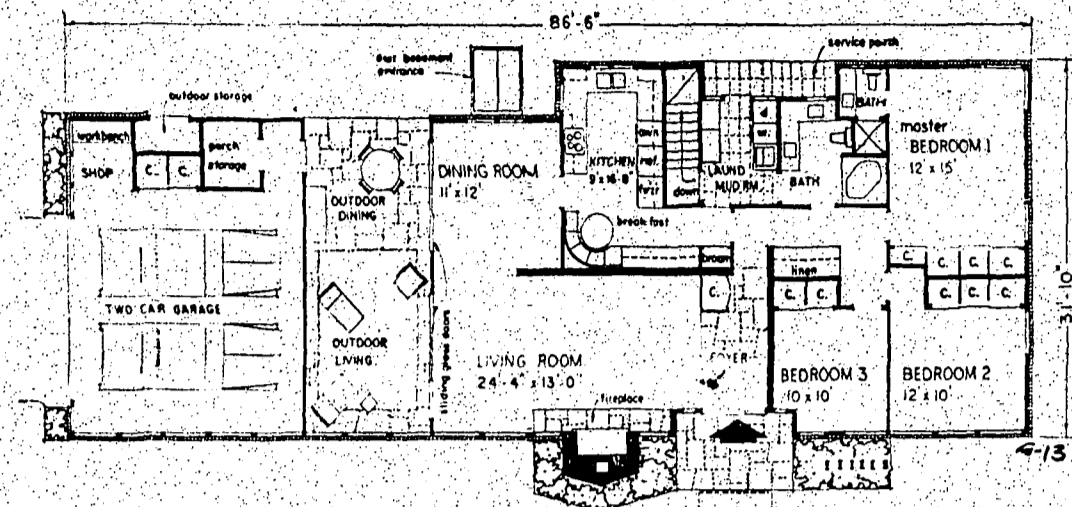

SLIDING glass doors from the living room lead to what is, in effect, a second living room. Sliding glass doors from the dining room lead to a second dining room. The regular house roof extends over this unusual area, except that there are plastic overhead domes which afford natural light and provide a view of the sky day or night.

From the front of the house, passersby cannot see this special section, since there is a continuity of material and windows. This means that, in good weather, the flagstone-floored area can serve as an overflow for guests who are either relaxing or dining, with no invasion of privacy. The regular living room has an attractive stone fireplace.

THE U shape of the kitchen is a step-saver for the lady of the house. A built-in breakfast seat saves the dining room for more formal meals. Just off the SPECIAL DESIGN . . . It would be difficult to pass this ranch-type house without giving it a second look. Various exterior features, including placement of windows, make it pleasingly different without excessive structural changes.

FLOOR PLANS . . . Excellent circulation pattern of this three-bedroom, one-story contemporary is enhanced by location of indoor-outdoor area between the basic house and the garage, making it practical extension of living room and dining room.

You Can Paper Your Floors; It Might Last

By VIVAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Many people have wallpapered their floors, not always successfully.

Papers chosen and methods used to apply the paper to the floor should be considered in the light of stress to be exerted on the floors.

BUT WALLPAPER can be used successfully on floors, say those who do use it, providing it is applied properly. It even stands up in the kitchen which gets the hardest wear and tear of all rooms in most homes, providing it is treated for extra protection.

The method suggested is one that involves putting a protective coating over the wallpaper after it is put down. Two coats of clear liquid vinyl may be poured on, the second after the first has dried. It should give the wallpaper a good surface and will resist scuffing and tearing.

A floor of an entranceway in a home can look good after five months' wear on one coat of clear varnish. But lots of factors are involved. Some homes take more abuse than others, and the surface should be finished to cope with it. Some people put a coat of wax over the varnish, but if an area rug is to be over the paper, waxed floors can be a potential danger as little rugs may slide.

WALLPAPERING a floor involves the same principle as wall application—start at a corner, and work across, matching the pattern. If the design is large, it should be centered, working out from the middle of the floor, so that everything comes out even on both sides of it.

One idea in choosing patterns for wall and floor is to match them. Checks, plaids, tweeds, brick and pebble patterns all look good on floors. Companion papers can be found for walls, but don't make the contrast too overwhelming.

Some of the best wallpapered floors are done with the idea that the design will wear down, and the ultimate worn look is the one that will blend in well with furnishings, such as early American.

IN COLONIAL times one way to stray from conservatism in decorating was to put design on the floors. These were often painted to look like designs in hooked rugs, inserting the designs in little octagons or squares. They also liked spattered floors.

Wallpaper may be carried up the wall from the floor to make a room look larger, with a stripe going around the wall above it. But it depends on the pattern of the paper.

In narrow rooms stripes may be used to make the room look wider by running the wallpaper horizontally across the room.

GENUINE TRADERS

Minnesota Fifth Largest University

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—The University of Minnesota is the fifth largest institution of higher learning in the United States, from the standpoint of enrollment.

Figures were released here Sunday by Dr. Garland G. Parker, University of Cincinnati registrar. Parker compiled School and Society magazine's 46th annual enrollment report. Minnesota was fifth in grand total enrollment and in full-time enrollment.

Parker said the number of students in the nation's colleges increased by 10 per cent this year in "the most massive movement in the history of higher education."

A total of 4,686,057 students—3,292,539 of them full time—were enrolled at 1,095 colleges and universities this fall. The figure of full-time students represented an increase of 12.7 per cent, while the number of part-time students at 1,044 reporting institutions increased by only 3.3 per cent.

Dr. Parker attributed the increase partly to greater social and economic pressures on youths to go to college, the availability of more financial aid and more accessible branch campuses.

In grand total enrollment the big schools include: 1. California state colleges, 177,324; 2. State University of New York, 176,729; 3. University of California, 134,789; 4. City University of New York, 130,911; 5. Minnesota, 58,274; 6. Wisconsin, 48,504.

The leaders in full-time enrollment: 1. State University of New York, 107,707; 2. California state colleges, 97,730; 3. University of California, 75,866; 4. City University of New York, 56,120; 5. Minnesota, 42,178; 6. Wisconsin, 38,920.

It didn't take police long to spot the cause: vandals had stolen a stop sign on one of the streets.

G-13 Statistics

Design G-13 has a living room, dining room, kitchen, laundry-mud room, foyer, three bedrooms and two baths with a habitable area of 1603 square feet. In addition, there is a living area between the house and two-car garage of 286 additional square feet. The plans include a basement.

Overall dimensions, which include the garage, are 86' 6" by 31' 10".

kitchen is a laundry-mud room, with access to a service porch and close to one of the two bathrooms. Also in this area is the basement stair, conveniently located for inside or outside usage.

There are three bedrooms in the wing at the right of the house. One of the two bathrooms serves the master bedroom and includes a stall shower. A multiplicity of closets makes it certain that everyone in the family will have ample space for clothes.

The foyer, off the covered entryway, is large enough to permit a housewife with decorative tendencies to come up with some imaginative and interesting effects. One can go directly from the foyer to the living room, the kitchen or the bedroom wing without crossing other rooms.

THE ENTIRE right side of the foyer is a full brick wall, the other side of which is one of the bedrooms. A similar brick wall separates the living room from the kitchen.

The two-car garage, extra spacious, has two closets, indoor and an outdoor storage sections, and room for a workbench and, if desired, power tools.

Outside, vertical redwood siding, high windows, a flagstone porch, planters and a prow-shaped chimney add up to something different. Design G-13 is an eye-catcher whose interior plan fulfills the promise of the exterior.

St. Paul Lumber Yard Burns, Loss Close to $100,000

ST. PAUL (AP) — Loss was estimated at $75,000 to $100,000 today in a fire which destroyed a large lumber yard storage building and damaged three other buildings.

No one was injured in the fire late Sunday at University Lumber Co., St. Paul. Seven persons escaped from buildings adjacent to the yard before their homes also caught fire.

The lumber shed, about 120 feet long, contained lumber, tile, shingles, other building materials, two trucks and some machinery. It was nearly consumed by the flames. The company office, a separate building, was damaged.

Two buildings on the west side of the yard were partially destroyed. One housed a cafe and three persons in upstairs apartments; the other was a family home.

Packer Win = Reprieve From Extinction

GREEN BAY, Wis. — A field goal that almost ticked the cross bar and two touchdown passes that weren't allowed and the Green Bay Packers had a 24-19 victory over the Minnesota Vikings Sunday and a reprieve from almost certain extinction in the National Football League's Western conference race.

The victory set the wheels in motion for next Sunday's clash with the injury-riddled Baltimore Colts in Baltimore that could decide the conference race. The Colts, one-half game up on the Packers with two to play, will be without ace quarterback Johnny Unitas, who was injured in Sunday's loss to the Chicago Bears.

But next Sunday's game would have been just exercise for the Packers were it not for a dazzling succession of breaks that broke the back of the Vikings' bid for an upset.

The string started with 11:46 left in the game and the Packers ahead 21-19. Don Chandler attempted a field goal from the 25 and it was partially blocked by a Viking defender. The ball oozed toward the goal post, its force spent, then popped over the crossbar, striking the sidebar on its way down.

The Packers now had a five-point lead and couldn't be hurt by the Minnesota who had hurt them the most, field goal kicker Fred Cox. He already had four to his credit one of them a gargantuan effort from 53 yards out.

Now to win, the Vikings needed a touchdown, something they lacked since the first period when Tommy Mason cracked over from the one to cap an 80-yard drive.

But the Vikings had Fran Tarkenton and after Chandler missed another field goal attempt, this one from the 26, Tarkenton began to push the Vikings back upfield from their own 20.

Tarkenton only had 1:57 left but he passed to Bill Brown for 12 yards. Mason then raced for eight more and Brown bolted for 21.

The Vikings now had a first down on the Packers' 37 with 1:20 left.

Mason carried for one yard and it was second and nine from the 36.

Tarkenton faded back to pass. Downfield at the goal line Tom Hall fought to elude Herb Adderley, the Packer defender. Hall broke free and Tarkenton fired. Hall grabbed it on the one and harried into the end zone.

But a flag was down. Hall was charged with pushing Adderley and the play was called back. The penalty drove Minnesota all the way to their own 49. But Tarkenton got the yardage back with a 15-yard toss to Hall on the 36.

Now, it was fourth down from the 36 with only 39 seconds left. Tarkenton scrambled back, looked downfield and threw toward Jim Phillips in the end zone near the sideline.

Phillips lunged for the ball and gathered it in while his momentum was carrying him out of bounds near the end zone flag.

The flanker couldn't believe it when field judge Herman Rohrig ruled the pass was incomplete. Phillips actually ran away with the ball toward the other side of the end zone, refusing to turn it over to the officials. The Vikings argued so hotly they were tagged with a 15-yard penalty for unsportsmanlike conduct.

The breaks weren't completely one way. Although the Packers scored in the first minute after a Viking fumble, they also fumbled away a touchdown shot and lost another golden opportunity when Jeff Jordan intercepted a Zeke Bratkowski pass on the Vikings' four in the second period.

Bratkowski was in the game for Bart Starr, who jammed the ring finger on his throwing hand in the pre-game warmup. Starr said he asked Lombardi to relieve him in the first period because the injury was interfering with his ball handling.

"It was my fault," said Starr of the Tom Moore fumble that cost the Packers an almost certain touchdown in the first period. The Packers, ahead 7-0 at the time, elected to

HALL, PHILLIPS CRY: 'JILT'

Dutchman: 'Consider Our NFL Image'

GREEN BAY, Wis. — A coach with nothing to gain, Minnesota's Norm Van Brocklin, was a model of decorum after his Vikings lost a hotly disputed game to the Green Bay Packers Sunday.

"We have to consider our National Football League image," said Van Brocklin after the game. "Our Madison Avenue image, that's what we have to worry about these days," he added with heavy sarcasm.

The Dutchman was pressed by reporters to comment on the officiating after two calls resulted in a pair of near Viking touchdowns being called back in the last minute.

Van Brocklin obviously was heeding a NFL rule backed by a stiff line that prohibits coaches and players from commenting on the officiating. Fines were levied against Los Angeles Coach Harland Svare and Pittsburgh Coach Mike Nixon earlier this season for this infraction.

The first close ruling followed a catch by Minnesota's Jim Hall on a pass from Fran Tarkenton. Hall romped into the end zone after battling Packer defender Herb Adderley for the ball. Line Judge Bill Schleibaum ruled that Hall had pushed Adderley and the touchdown was disallowed.

Two plays later with only 39 seconds left Tarkenton passed to Jim Phillips in the end zone. Phillips beat Adderley and scooped in the low toss and fell. Field judge Herman Rohrig ruled the pass was incomplete and several Vikings charged in his direction. By the time the argument was over, one helmet had been flung to the ground, there was considerable shoving and the Vikings were assessed an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty.

After the game Adderley explained his side of the story.

"On the first one that Hall caught, he ran a jog and go pattern. I recognized this. I saw the ball and was going up for it when he pushed me. I touched the ball and he caught it."

Hall said he thought he made the catch legally but wasn't sure if he had pushed Adderley.

On the second controversial call Adderley said, "I think Phillips tripped the ball and half of his body was out of bounds. I don't know why they raised heck on that call."

Phillips said there was no doubt in his mind that he caught the ball but he was unsure whether he was in bounds.

"Phillips caught the ball and then slid out of bounds. It's hard to lose them that way," said Viking fullback Billy Barnes.

Phillips, who initially refused to give up the ball after his touchdown was ruled out, was calmed down afterwards.

"I don't have that kind of money to protest," he explained.

Bears Open Up Western Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chicago's fierce Bears racked up Johnny Unitas, roughed up the Baltimore Colts, and opened up the Western Division race for a down-to-the-wire finish.

It happened in the National Football League's big one at Baltimore Sunday. After the brawl was over, it was Bears 13, Colts 0. But the crusher for Baltimore came earlier, toward the end of the first half when some 500 pounds of brawn chopped down Unitas.

Bear defensive tackles Stan Jones and Earl Leggett caught Unitas in a pincer movement that knocked the superstar quarterback out of the game, out of the rest of the season, and most likely out of the league title playoff — if the Colts make it.

A few hours after the game, Unitas underwent surgery for torn ligament in his right knee. He definitely will be sidelined for Baltimore's two remaining season games, and the chances are very slight he would be ready for a possible match with Cleveland's Eastern champion

Browns for the championship Jan. 2.

Despite the loss in the penalty-filled, fist-swinging affair with the Bears, the Colts still lead in the West with a 9-2-1 record. But the Green Bay Packers are right behind at 9-3 after beating the Minnesota Vikings 24-19 and have a showdown coming with the Colts at Baltimore next Sunday, when capable but seldom-tested Gary Cuozzo will fill in for Unitas.

On the final weekend, the Colts play the Rams at Los Angeles and the Packers meet the 49ers at San Francisco.

Meanwhile, the surging Bears still are in it at 8-4. They've lost only once in their last nine games — 26-21 to Baltimore four weeks ago. The Bears take on the 49ers in Chicago next week, then finish at home against the Vikings.

Elsewhere in the NFL — the Browns, with the Eastern title already wrapped up, came back in the final period for a 24-16 victory over the Washington Redskins; rookie Tucker Fredrickson scored three touchdowns as the New York Giants took over sole possession of second in the East, whipping the Pittsburgh Steelers 35-10; the Los Angeles Rams buried the St. Louis Cardinals 27-3; the 49ers turned back the Detroit Lions 17-14 with two fourth-quarter touchdowns; and the Dallas Cowboys blocked two field-goal tries in edging the Philadelphia Eagles 21-19.

Rookie flash Gale Sayers cashed in on one of the Bears' many chances with a 61-yard touchdown sprint and two field goals by Roger Leclerc rounded out the scoring at Baltimore. The Colts never got as far as the Bears' 20.

It was ragged and rough football. There were 12 fumbles and three interceptions, penalties totaling 202 yards, and several fights.

Frank Ryan's 14-yard touchdown pass put Cleveland ahead of Washington, and Jim Brown iced it with a four-yard scoring burst. It was the 20th TD this year for the great Cleveland fullback, tying the single-season

Redmen Eye Gusties After Victory

WEST DEPERE, Wis. — No longer the nemesis it once was for the Redmen of St. Mary's as the quintet from Terrace Heights outshot and outscored less than the Green Knights of St. Norbert's in a 71-68 cliff hanger Sunday night.

That makes the third straight Redmen victory over Wisconsin residents, two of those dealt in the opposition's territory.

For St. Mary's, four men hit in the double digits with Roger Pytlewski leading the barrage. He hit 18 points while capturing 10 rebounds to lead the club in that category for the third consecutive game.

The other most significant element in subduing the fast-breaking Knights was Ward Hertsted. Hertsted, ineligible the last two semesters, has worked, fought and earned his way through sixth- and seventh-rank spurs and into a starting role. He followed it up with 15 points and nine rebounds against St. Norbert's.

The other double digit Redmen were Jim Buffo with 10 and Tom Keenan with 11. Overall, the percentage was 50 from the floor, though 18 of the 29 field goals came off layups.

St. Norbert's didn't do that badly with four of their starters also marking over 10. John Zeihen, a 6-3 senior, and Galen DeNamur, a 6-3 junior, were tops with 14.

Hertsted started the evening with three quick buckets to bolt St. Mary's into a 6-0 margin, a margin which the Redmen alternately built up and let drain away, but managed to keep until Zeihen dropped a jumper with 18 seconds remaining in the half to knot the contest at 34-34.

Coming off the intermission, the Knights were still rolling as they gained their best lead of the night, 39-36, before two free throws by George Hoder and a layup by Jerry Sausner made it 40-39 for St. Mary's at 16:44. St. Norbert's never again held the lead but did manage to tie the score twice.

At 7:06 and 6:39, the board read even when Tom Rankin dropped both ends of a one-and-one for a 62-62 mark, and Zeihen hit on another jumper to make it 64-61.

Hertsted tallied on a tip-in. Buffo hit on a layup. Jim Murphy hit from short range and Pytlewski tossed down a charity shot to make it 71-68 with five seconds remaining.

Nonconference games are scheduled with a reason. For that same reason they are scheduled before the conference season begins. And, with that in mind, St. Mary's hopefully is now in tune with its MIAC baptism with Gustavus Saturday night at St. Peter.

It will be the second step in search of the 1965-66 MIAC crown, and if mechanical errors — such as participating in 49 ball turnovers, 24 costly on your own side — can be avoided, then that second step should be victorious.

Ripon Is Found At Usual Perch

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ripon was to be found at its usual perch today, and nothing seemed to have changed in the world after the first weekend of Midwest Conference basketball warfare.

The Red Men trimmed Carleton 92-85 for their second victory Saturday in quest of a fourth straight basketball crown.

St. Olaf, which shared the title in a three-way tie with Ripon and Cornell last year, rebounded from its Friday night loss to the Red Men by upping Lawrence 35-29. Knos handed Cornell its second defeat 29-61 and Moorhead hand-died Grinnell 83-69.

Dickey Is Surprised At Prothro

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — As Tennessee Coach Doug Dickey expressed surprise, UCLA's Tommy Prothro today stuck to his claim that the Volunteers-Bruins football clash here Saturday was "the worst-officiated game I have ever seen."

Reached at his home in Los Angeles, Prothro said he "still feels the same way" concerning UCLA's 37-34 loss to Tennessee.

He referred to his statement after the game that said: "It was the worst-officiated game I have ever seen. The pro all-stars couldn't have won out there today."

Dickey, meanwhile, defended Southeastern Conference officiating and said he felt Prothro's remarks were made under the stress of losing the intersectional tilt in the final minute of play.

"I have always felt that the Southeastern Conference's officiating is handled in a tremendously fine manner," he said. "I was surprised at Coach Prothro's comments because we always have good, sound officiating. They make mistakes, like everyone else, but I certainly feel that they are honest."

The controversy stemmed from the Vols' 65-yard drive which culminated in a touchdown with only 39 seconds left and gave Tennessee the victory.

"They (the Vols) threw a lateral once and the officials called it an incomplete pass," Prothro said. However, he refused to pinpoint any one of the eight officials — six from the SEC and two from the Pacific Coast.

Scholarship Pays Dividends for Both Killian, Gophers

By BOB JUNGHANS
Daily News Sports Writer

MINNEAPOLIS (Special) — A little over three years ago, a serious-faced young man wended his way out of the Arcadia lowlands, and with suitcase in hand, headed for the big city and the big university.

Like many high school graduates throughout the nation, Chuck Killian was going to try and make his mark on the athletic world as a football player for the University of Minnesota.

Killian had the credentials. He weighed over 200 pounds, he was the captain of a successful Arcadia High School team as a senior and his coach, now-retired Bill Cashen, thought he was a fine football player.

Cashen thought so much of the pink-cheeked lad that he had contacted an old friend, University of Minnesota end coach and former Winona High School coach Butch Nash. And strictly on Cashen's word, Nash had enticed the Gophers into giving Killian a scholarship.

Now it's three years later, Killian is prepping for final tests for the first quarter of his junior year — and he's looking forward to acting as captain of the Gopher grid squad next season. There is no doubt that the scholarship has paid big dividends.

"It was a complete surprise to me," said Killian by phone from a University of Minnesota dormitory, speaking of his election as the team's captain. "I didn't have any indication that it would turn that way."

Killian, now a strapping 215-pound center for the Gophers, follows in a long line of line-men-captains under Murray Warmath. In recent years such Gopher standouts as John Mulvena, Milt Sunde and Joe Pung have headed the troops.

Speaking of his duties as captain, Killian said, "I think other than trying to do the best job possible both on the practice field and the playing field, the captain is the main link between the coaching staff and the players. If there are any problems to solve, it's up to the captain to try and solve them."

As for the past season, when Killian anchored the tough Minnesota line, what would be more natural for a Wisconsin boy than to want to beat his home state's team.

"We thought it was a successful season," said Killian. "Beating Wisconsin was especially a big thrill for me. It was especially satisfying because we had played poorly the week before. And the Michigan game was a good one, too. Michigan played real hard, hit as hard as anybody we faced all season, but we beat them by one point."

There has been a rumor that the psychology major may be switched from center to guard next season, making room for outstanding freshman Steve Lundeen at the pivot spot, and in turn shoring up what may be a weak spot at guard for the Gophers.

"I'd like to play wherever I'd do the most good for the squad," said Killian, already sounding like the captain he will be. "We lose a lot of good boys, 12 of the first 14 linemen, but we have a good backfield coming back, and a lot of good scrappers in the line."

Killian plans to go into hospital administration following graduation, a field that is a serious business. And the Arcadia native's furrowed brow is a good indication of the thought he gives such matters — including next football season.

Are the Gophers looking forward to another good season?

"Well, we're looking forward to the season," mused Killian. "How good it will be is yet to be seen."

Chances are if Chuck Killian has anything to say about it, it will be a good one.

Kundla: 'Not Quite Ready, But Coming'

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Coach John Kundla, breathing a little easier after his Minnesota Gophers had whipped Iowa State 80-69 Saturday night for their second straight basketball victory, had a broad grin.

"We're not quite ready yet," Kundla said, "but we're coming."

He had watched junior Paul Presthus score 20 points and sophomore Tom Kundla add 15. They are the keys to Gopher hopes for this basketball season and nobody is more acutely aware of it than Kundla.

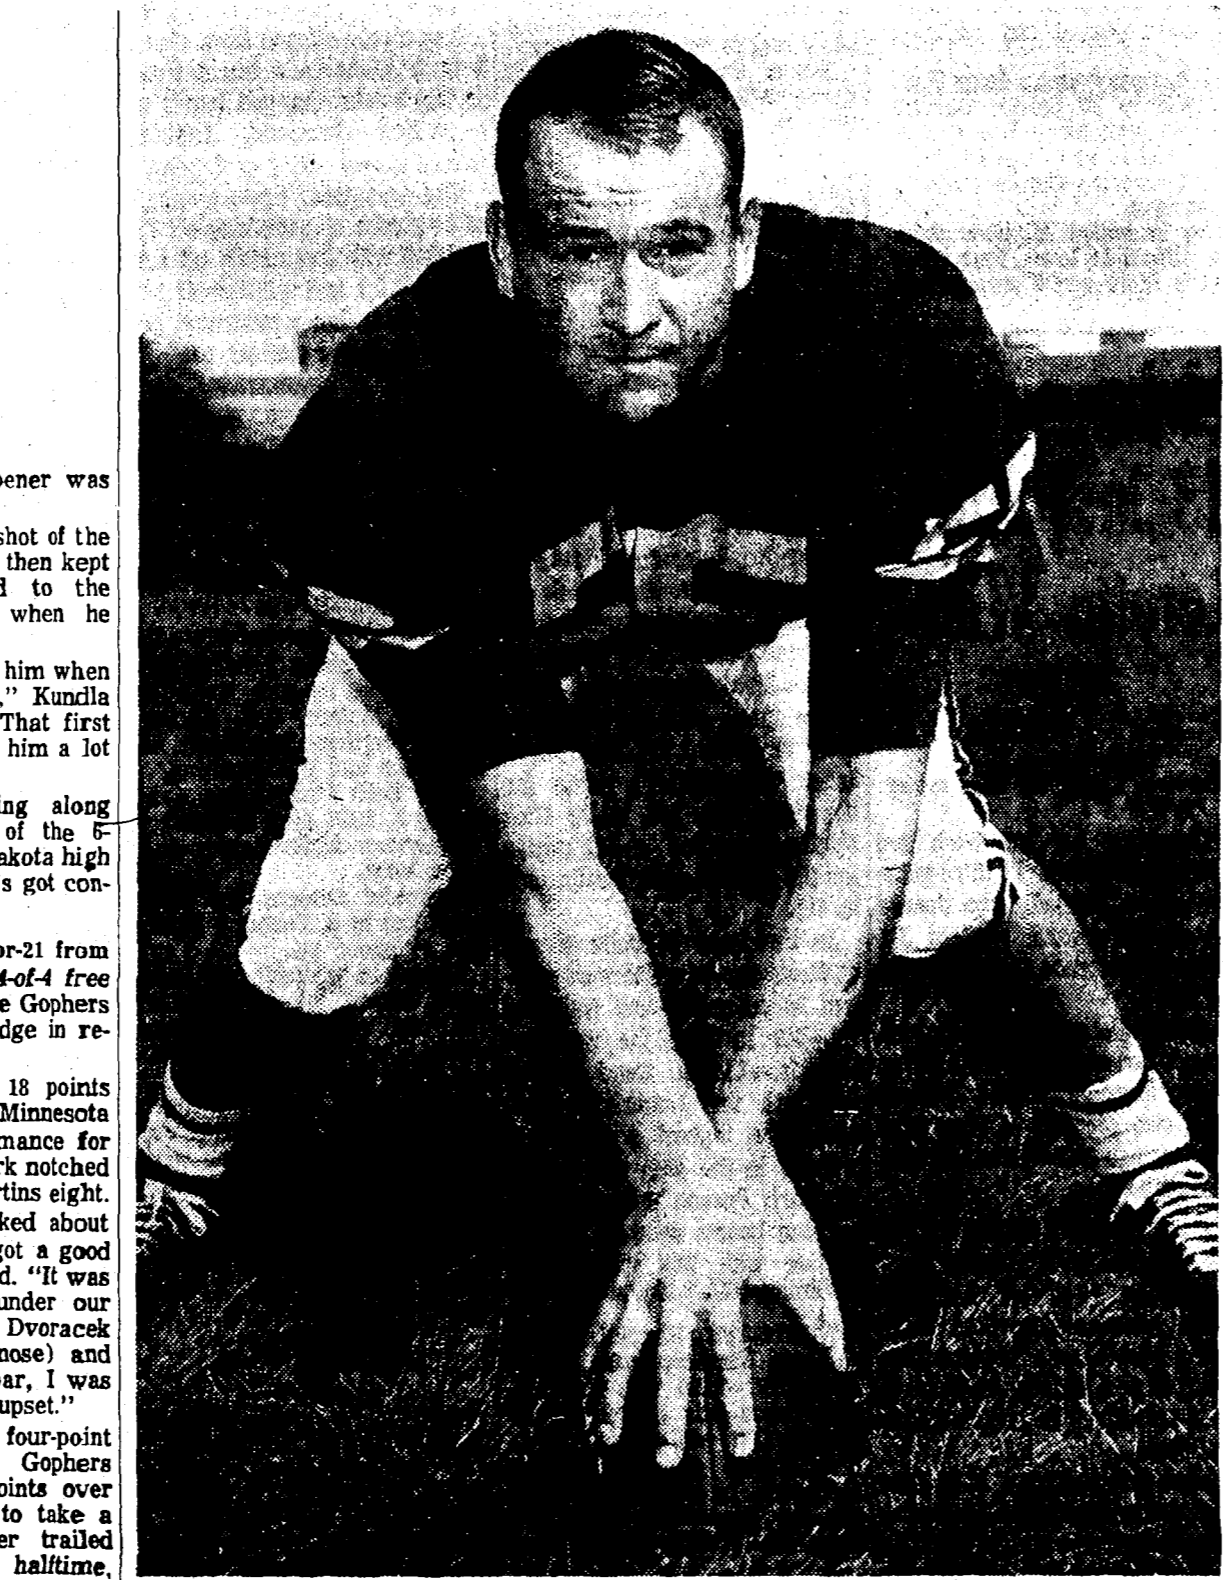

The nationally seventh-ranked Gophers had their moments of brilliance and rough spots, just as they did in their season-opening 73-59 victory over North Dakota.

"Did you ever see so many easy ones missed?" Kundla asked. "I mean real crappies."

He referred to blown layups by the Gophers which—if cashed—probably would have enabled them to blow down the Cyclones with much more ease than they did.

As it was, the Gophers had to cash four layups against Iowa State's pressing defense in the final three minutes to widen a five-point lead to the final 11-point margin.

Kundla was elated over the showing of his rookie center, Kundla. The 6-foot-7 yearling hit 7 of 18 shots from the field and added a free throw and eight rebounds. The nervousness of

FOR STARTING COMBOS State, Cotter Still Looking

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor

Both Winona State's Bob Campbell and Cotter's John Nett are playing the "musical chair" routine this week, but for different reasons.

Campbell's problem stems from the fact that four of his top seven players are nursing injuries, while Nett's trouble surrounds a front line that as yet has not played up to expectations.

That is the situation as State readies for a bout with Platteville at Memorial Hall — game time 7:30 p.m. — today and Cotter looks toward a trip to Faribault and a game with Bethlehem Academy Tuesday.

BOTH THE Warriors and Ramblers are off to slow starts. State, after a 91-75 victory over Stevens Point in its opener Nov. 23, has bowed to Oshkosh, River Falls and La Crosse. Cotter has been beaten 66-40 by De La Salle and last Saturday suffered a 71-68 setback at the hands of St. Paul Hill.

State's trouble has been an icy shooting attack, while Cotter's falls into the defensive department.

Meanwhile, Winona High, which set a school scoring record in beating Owatonna 103-51 Friday night, makes its first road trip of the season this Friday, traveling to Albert Lea. The Tigers were beaten 49-39 by Red Wing in their league opener.

St. Mary's now riding the crest of a three-game victory string, swings into MIAC activity Saturday night, playing at Gustavus.

BUT BACK to State, where it is hoped the home-floor advantage will shake the Warriors out of their slump.

On the injured list are 6-4 forward Tim Anderson, 6-6 center Mike Jerssek, 6-3 guard J. D. Barnett and 5-10 guard Dave Meisner. All should see some action tonight, however.

The Warrior coach figures to start some combination of that four, plus Gary Petersen, 6-7 Charlie Neal and Bill Werner.

Nett's problems surround the front line, where defensive weaknesses cost the Ramblers in the loss to Hill. According to the coach, the only redeeming factor game was the play of Bob Allaire and Tom Wenzel.

"I don't think Wenzel (a

KUKOWSKI IS ALL STATE

Dom Kukowski, Cotter High School's stellar 215-pound guard from the past football season, was named to the Minnesota Catholic All-State football team by a Twin Cities newspaper Sunday.

Kukowski, the heaviest lineman named on the team, was the bulwark in Cotter's unbalanced line that helped the Ramblers post a 3-4 record over a rugged schedule.

PLATTEVILLE (AP) — The University of Wisconsin, winning five of the 11 individual championships, ran up 114 points Saturday in retaining its State Collegiate Wrestling championship.

Iowa Tips Small School Giant

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Iowa's hurrying Hawkeyes, who beat mighty UCLA at its own game last winter, have stepped out this season by running over college basketball's biggest little giant.

While two of its Big Ten neighbors were willing in the UCLA pressure cooker last weekend, Iowa downed Evansville 80-73, snapping the NCAA College Division kings' 35-game winning streak.

The Hawkeyes, who borrowed UCLA's press-and-break system under new coach Ralph Miller last season and used it to hand the national champions one of their two setbacks, made a pitch for 1965-66 recognition by knocking off Evansville on its home court Saturday night.

The victory also evened a score for the Hawkeyes, who were one of Evansville's eight major college victims last year when the Aces rolled through 29 games without a loss. Iowa's full-court press and a 29-point, 22-rebound performance by 6-foot-7 George Peoples stopped the streak.

UCLA, which shrugged off last season's 87-82 loss to Iowa and finished with a 28-2 mark and its second straight NCAA championship, romped past Ohio State 92-66 and Illinois 97-79 over the weekend. Sophomore Mike Warren, backcourt heir to All-America Gail Goodrich, sparked the top-ranked Bruins with 23 points against the Buckeyes and 28 against Illinois.

Eight other nationally ranked powers broke on top last week but 10th ranked Kansas State was beaten twice — by Creighton 83-75 and Tulsa 70-63.

Michigan, paced by All-America Cazzie Russell, ripped Bowling Green 108-70 Saturday night after topping Tennessee 71-63. Duke, which tangles with UCLA twice this weekend, warmed up by ripping Virginia Tech 112-79 and Clemson 83-68. Mike Lewis, the Blue Devils' 6-foot-7 sophomore, had 16 points and 17 rebounds against Clemson Saturday night.

Fourth-ranked St. Joseph's of Philadelphia buried Hofstra 96-57 and Fairfield 100-74; No. 5 Vanderbilt whipped Wittenberg 87-59; No. 6 Providence beat Villanova 69-59; No. 7 Minnesota took North Dakota 73-59 and Iowa State 80-69; No. 8 Kansas downed Arkansas 81-52 and Texas Tech 74-70, and Bradley defeated Wisconsin-Milwaukee 104-68 and Northern Michigan 90-78.

HUBBY HAD A GOOD FOOTBALL WEEKEND

Carlton's Wife Will Suffer Now

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wray Carlton's wife is in for a tough week. He's had another good game.

It was so good, as a matter of fact, that the Buffalo running back undoubtedly will cut off the daily newspaper, pull down the window shades and become a recluse in the Carlton household.

Carlton, normally a halfback, ran from the fullback position — and all over the defensive positions — as the Eastern Division champion Bills experimented with a new backfield en route to a 29-18 American Football League victory over Houston.

Carlton took over for Billy Joe at fullback, while Bobby Smith ran from the halfback position, and rumbled for 148 yards in 11 carries including an 80-yard touchdown run. He was so effective there's no doubt his name will be in the newspapers — the last thing he wants.

"Every time I get my name in the paper, something happens to me — a bad game or an injury," said Carlton recently. And it's hard to blame Carlton, whose career has been marked by injuries, for feeling that way.

It's been a different story this year with Carlton entering the game as the leading Buffalo rusher with 371 yards gained in 11 games. Against the Oilers he jumped the total almost half again to 519 — 14 yards off his best season with two games to go.

While the Bills were trying to get aligned for the championship game the San Diego Chargers were trying to get in it and moved within one victory of the Western crown by crushing the New York Jets 38-7 Saturday. Oakland remained in the race with a 29-18 victory over Denver.

Carlton's touchdown run clinched the victory for the Bills, who led only 16-10 when he swung around right end and went all the way in the fourth quarter. A 74-yard pass play, Darley Lamoria to Bo Roberson, and Pete Gogolak's five field goals accounted for the other scores.

John Hadz completed 13 of 19 passes for 235 yards and three touchdowns — Lance Alworth grabbed seven aeriars for 147 yards and two scores — as the Chargers whacked New York Jets quarterback Joe Namath completed 18 of 34 passes for 129 yards but was plagued by three interceptions.

Stan Mikita likes his hockey sticks tailor made. He's not nearly as particular about his goals. Those he'll take any old way.

The slick center on Chicago's Scooter Line was getting them every which way over the weekend, firing consecutive hat tricks as the Black Hawks soared back into the National Hockey League lead.

New York's slumping Rangers were the victims Sunday night as Mikita scored three goals and assisted on another in Chicago's 62 romp. Elsewhere Detroit won its fourth straight, beating Toronto 5-1 as Gordie Howe scored twice and Montreal rallied gaining a 4-4 tie with Boston.

Saturday night it was Chicago and Mikita 10, Boston 1. Montreal 4, New York 3; and Detroit 5, Toronto 3.

Michigan, Gophers, Iowa— That's the Big Ten Pattern

CHICAGO (AP)—The basketball season isn't yet a week old but the expected patterns are already being set in Big Ten circles.

Defending champion Michigan and likely challengers Iowa and Minnesota figure to be the class of the conference and the home-court advantage will decide most of the wins and losses.

Michigan, Iowa and Minnesota triumphed in their first two games. Minnesota and Michigan did it on home courts while Iowa gained deserved recognition with a victory at Evansville.

Iowa's 80-73 triumph at Evansville ended a 35-game winning streak for the Aces who are defending NCAA College Division champions and in the past have given Big Ten teams heaps of trouble.

While Iowa was coming up with its mighty effort, five other Big Ten teams scored home-court victories Saturday. Michigan tumbled Bowling Green 108-70, Minnesota whipped Iowa State 80-69, Purdue downed Detroit 82-75, Wisconsin humbled Notre Dame 97-79 and Northwestern edged Ohio

Tommies Gun for 4th Straight Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

St. Thomas guns for its fourth straight basketball victory tonight when the MIAC squad is host to Moorhead.

The Tommies get a chance to test their mettle in the Minnesota Intercollegiate with a conference curtain-raiser at Duluth Thursday.

Angsburg, defending MIAC champion which has bowed in its two non-conference outings, has another warmup test at Carleton Tuesday before launching its conference slate as host to Concordia Saturday.

The Tommies turned back a strong Morris team Saturday, 87-83, opening up in the second half after being held to a 43-42 halftime lead. Fred Korba paced the winners with 22, while Morris' Roger Schnaser tallied 23. Morris is 0-3 and tries for the win column tonight at St.

John's.

St. Mary's, another MIAC competitor, took the measure of a third Wisconsin college when it downed St. Norbert's 71-68 Sunday night. A day earlier, St. Mary's turned back Stevens Point 70-60, as Jerry Sausser rammed in 29 points for the winners.

Here's the way it went in other action Saturday:

Augustana of South Dakota beat back a persistent Augsburg attack for a 79-76 decision as John Eggers scored 24 and Ed Byhre, 21.

Macalester broke out of a 64-64 tie to down Wayne, Neb., 68-64, as Scott Johnson tossed in four final free throws.

Omaha University buried Duluth 84-50 while Gustavus Adolphus defeated LaCrosse 91-80.

Hamline beat Mankato State 74-67 as Al Frost scored 21 for the Pipers. St. John's was swamped by North Dakota 78-42, with Phil Jackson scoring 23 for the Sioux; North Dakota State took its opening game by a 103-87 measure over Concordia.

St. Cloud salvaged third place in the four-team Blue Ribbon Basketball Tournament at Kansas City by downing Washburn, of Topeka, Kan., 69-64.

In Midwest Conference action, Carleton lost to defending champ Ripon, 92-83, and St. Olaf flashed Lawrence 85-79.

Tom Billars' 22 points led Dakota Wesleyan to a 78-70 victory over Moorhead; Sioux Falls College defeated Bethel of St. Paul 88-79; and a new junior college, Metropolitan State-Central of Minneapolis, got bumped by Concordia of St. Paul 68-61 in its debut.

Mulvenna Hits 13 in Third, Loretto Wins

Caledonia Loretto, behind Mike Mulvenna's 13 third-quarter points, handed Lima Sacred Heart its second straight BI-State Conference setback Sunday 73-61.

In a Saturday night high school non-conference affair, Dean Hoven's 25-foot jumper with two seconds to play gave Wanamingo a 47-45 triumph over Goodhue.

CALEDONIA LORETTO 73
LIMA SACRED HEART 61

Trailing 40-38 at halftime, Mike Mulvenna sparked Caledonia Loretto to a 24-point third quarter and led the Bluejays to a 73-61 victory over Lima Sacred Heart.

Lima jumped to a 16-10 first period lead, but then Mulvenna started to warm up. He hit 12 in the second period to cut the gap and then poured in 13 in the third. He finished with 29. Joe Tolefson, a reserve, took up the slack when Mulvenna cooled. Tolefson came off the bench to hit 10 points in the final period and keep Lima at bay.

Also in double figures for the Bluejays was Mike Schieber with 10, while Herb Poeschel had 17, Bill Brunner 15, and Ron Sinn for Lima.

Loretto also won the B game 40-31.

WANAMINGO 47
GOODHUE 45

Goodhue shot a meager five percent in the first period, hitting only one of 20 shots, and trailed 13-2 after the first frame. But in the end it was three mechanical errors that cost the Wildcats a 47-45 setback at the hands of Wanamingo.

Goodhue fought back, with Tom Gorman hitting 17 points, to take a six-point lead with three minutes left to play, but the rally went for naught.

Wanamingo capitalized on three straight Wildcat mechanical errors to tie the game, and then Hoven, who tied with Tom Foley with 14 points each to pace Wanamingo, hit his 25-footer to end it.

Gary Opsahl and Bob Buck had nine each for Goodhue, while Grant Hoven added 12 for Wanamingo.

BEARS

NFL record set last year by Baltimore's Lenny Moore.

Brown, the league's scoring and rushing leader, gained 141 yards for a 12-game total of 1,450.

The Giants, now 6-6, climbed ahead of St. Louis and Washington in the race for the East's runner-up spot with their rout of the fumbling Steelers. Fredrickson scored on runs of 13 and three yards, and on a pass from Earl Morrall.

Roman Gabriel threw for three touchdowns and Ed Meador ran over from 11 yards out on a fake field goal as the Rams clipped St. Louis. The Cardinals, co-favored in the East with Cleveland earlier this year, lost for the sixth time in their last seven games.

The 49ers overcame the Lions on John Brodie's fourth-period TD pass to Dave Parks.

PACKERS

run for the one yard they needed for a first down from the four. Moore got it, but lost the ball.

The Vikings tied the score 7-7 before the first period was over and pulled into a 16-7 lead on the three Cox field goals in the second period.

It appeared the half would end with the Packers nine points back. With 39 seconds left, the Vikings found themselves in a kicking situation on their own 41.

But instead of punting with a wind gusting at 25 miles per hour at their backs, the Vikings elected to try for still another field goal.

Not even Cox on a windy day could make one from 59 yards out. The ball sailed low and short to Willie Wood on the six. Willie shot upfield 73 yards to the Minnesota 21.

A pass interference penalty put the ball on the three and Elijah Pitts scampered over to make the score 18-14.

Cox added his final field goal — a 23 yarder — in the third period, but the Packers charged right back with Moore returning the kickoff 40 yards to the Green Bay 41.

Taylor, finding no hole on a draw play, cut to the outside and with little help from his blockers picked up 16 yards. Pitts, on the next play, was stopped cold at the line of scrimmage, but somehow squirmed free and gained 12 yards to the Minnesota 28.

Two plays later, Bratkowski threw a short sideline pass to the veteran Bill Anderson, a rarely used tight end.

Anderson clutched the ball and was hit hard by a Viking defender, but slipped away and darted down the sideline for the touchdown that put the Packers ahead to stay.

To Clear Jam in Hiawatha Valley

Some of that log jam that exists atop the Hiawatha Valley League standings will be cleared away Tuesday night when Kasson-Mantorville travels to Stewartville in the lone conference battle of the evening.

Stewartville has marched through four straight foes and is 2-0 in the loop, while Kasson-Mantorville is 2-1. In the Ko-Mets last outing they bounced a favored Lake City team to remain undefeated in the Hiawatha and stay in a four-way first-place tie.

In other games around the area Tuesday night, a pair of Wisconsin powers go at it at Onalaska, Onalaska public school is hosted by Onalaska Luther, and both are favorites for their respective conference championships.

Onalaska Luther, in the BI-State, has won its only game of the season over Coulee Conference squad Holmen. Onalaska Public, which plays in the Coulee, is 3-0 for the season.

Other Wisconsin games send Alma Center to Fairchild, Plum City to Gilmanston, Taylor to Trempealeau, Cashton to Bangor, Fall Creek to Mondovi and Durand to Elmwood.

In Minnesota, La Crescent tries for its second straight at Chatfield, Peterson is at Lanesboro, Grand Meadow hosts Wykoff and Caledonia Loretto entertains Lansing St. George.

Mencel Leads Bub's Classic

Winon's Frank Mencel captured the first-weekend lead in the annual Bub's bowling classic being held at Winona Athletic Club.

Mencel shot 217-169-246-200—832 for the lead and unofficially took the prize for the top series of the first weekend.

The tournament concludes with action Saturday and Sunday. AC manager Bill Bell said today that some openings remain for both days. He also estimated that about one-third of the bowlers have completed.

In second place is Rollie Harwick of Rochester. He posted 176-250-176-182—782. That 250 game also is an unofficial winner for the opening weekend.

In third place is Hilary Joswick of Winona with 774. He is followed by city keepers W. A. Critchfield with 767 and Bob Welshbrod with 753.

The Boston Celtics, short-circuited by the loss of big Bill Russell and Sam Jones' prolonged absence, are in danger of losing their grip in the National Basketball Association's suddenly wide-open Eastern Division race.

Russell, the 6-foot-10 key to Boston's seven-year NBA reign, watched from the bench Sunday night as the Cincinnati Royals whipped the Celtics 100-99 and climbed within two percentage points of the Eastern leaders.

Russell, who pulled a thigh muscle Saturday night in Boston's 100-94 victory over St. Louis, was in street clothes as Cincinnati won its 10th straight at home and narrowed the gap. Jones, the Celtics' top scorer, has been sidelined several weeks with a damaged knee.

St. Louis, paced by player-coach Richie Guerin, rebounded for a 113-99 decision over San Francisco at Omaha, Neb.

Cotter High School's "B" squad continued to roll on, romping to its second straight triumph Saturday night 73-60 over St. Paul Hill.

WARRIORS TO SHARE IN NIC TITLE PRIZE

The Daily News learned today that Northern Intercollegiate Conference faculty representatives overruled league athletic directors on the subject of the 1965 baseball championship.

NIC AAs had voted for forfeits to Mankato in a pair of games not played with Winona, thus giving St. Cloud the title.

Faculty representatives ruled that the championship would be called a tie between Winona and St. Cloud.

Stocks Slump, Regain Losses In Heavy Trade

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices were battered in history's biggest first-hour selling wave today as Wall Street reacted to news of tightening credit.

Early this afternoon prices recovered a sizable portion of their worst losses but the averages were still down sharply as the ticker tape ran 13 minutes late.

Key stocks slipped from about 1 to 3 points on a broad front as big blocks changed hands in a selling stampede. Higher-priced issues slid 7 or 8 points.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 4.5 at 348.8 with industrials off 6.0, rails off 3.5 and utilities off 1.7.

The Dow Jones Industrial average at noon was off 10.36 at 935.74.

Volume was 6.15 million shares at the end of the first two hours. First-hour volume of 3.94 million shares was the greatest since the exchange began keeping hourly records in 1933.

As the market was recovering from its worst losses, there were declines of about 2 points still being shown by such stocks as General Motors, U.S. Rubber, Zenith, Raytheon, Kennecott, Air Reduction and U.S. Smelting.

New York Central was down nearly 3, IBM over 5, Xerox 4.

American Airlines was a 3-point loser.

Fairchild Camera cut an 8-point loss to 6, Boeing a 5-point loss to about 1 1/2.

Losses of a point or more were shown by Pennsylvania Railroad (ex dividend), Anacosta, Du Pont, Union Carbide, American Tobacco, Merck, Radio Corp. and Douglas Aircraft.

In many cases these losses represented a big cut of the worst declines taken in the first hour.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange also sank sharply.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds slid sharply.
