New Look at Deferred Men

State Draft Boards May Take Students

ST. PAUL (AP) — Minnesota draft boards may begin as early as March to take young men who previously have been deferred, the state Selective Service director said Thursday.

Col. Robert P. Knight said the deferred who are most likely to be called into military service are men holding occupational deferments (II-A); agricultural deferments (II-C); students (II-S) and fathers within draft age (III-A).

Knight also said unmarried and childless married men aged 28 to 35 who previously had been deferred will be called for pre-induction physical examinations in January.

The Selective Service director said the class I-A manpower pool probably will be exhausted by March in Minnesota, and he expects a directive from Washington on what steps to take after that.

Knight said a Washington directive could order the calling of youths aged 18½ to 19 — a group not now being taken. But he said he doubts that this would happen before a callup of older men who had received previous deferments.

The Minnesota draft allotment was 894 in November. It is 80 for December and 719 for January.

Knight said the number of men enlisting has far exceeded the number of draft allotments. The draft call in October was 800, but 1,382 enlisted in the services, Knight said, not including those in the National Guard or Reserves.

State Senate Elections Unit Is Reactivated

ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Senate Elections Committee was reactivated Thursday and majority Conservatives took what was viewed as one conciliatory step toward Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag in the battle over reapportionment.

The Senate Rules Committee, in ordering the reactivation, named Minority Leader Paul Thuet and Majority Leader John Zwach to the Elections Committee, which would originate reapportionment bills.

The appointment of Thuet was regarded as a somewhat conciliatory gesture, since the minority leader could be expected to speak for the Liberals, who are aligned with the Democratic-Farmer-Labor governor.

However, membership of the Elections Committee still stands at 15 Conservatives and six liberals — far short of the equal representation demanded by Rolvaag as a condition of his calling a special session to deal with legislative reapportionment.

The House Reapportionment Committee also is dominated by Conservatives, who control both houses of the Legislature.

After conservative senators caucused Thursday night, Zwach said, "We have cleared the decks, we are ready to go with a special session, we await the call of the governor."

"The Senate wants a special session. We think this does everything we can do to show good will."

Zwach said he believes a special session could be concluded in less than 10 days.

The governor also has demanded, as a condition to calling a session, that Conservatives come to some agreement with him on the kind of bill to be passed, so as to avoid a long session.

The Senate Rules Committee joined House leaders in agreeing with another Rolvaag demand, that the session be limited to reapportionment matters.

The Senate Elections Committee, headed by Henderson Conservative Franklin Kroehler, is to meet Dec. 18.

The House Reapportionment Committee, headed by Rep. Robert Kucera, Northfield Conservative, is to meet a day earlier. Kucera said he hopes at that time to hear an "expert" who has not been involved in the current redistricting battle.

Marines Join 3-Day Battle at Da Nang

LIFT FOR A WOUNDED MARINE... A wounded U.S. Marine is carried by Navy corpsman Bob Peeples of Davenport, Iowa, through jungled area near village of Que Son. Marines were airlifted to the area after the Communists practically demolished a Vietnamese ranger battalion. Que Son is about 30 miles south of Da Nang. (AP Photofax via radio from Saigon)

Trying to Close Loop on Reds After Ambush

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — More U.S. Marines stormed into a three-day battle against the Viet Cong today in an attempt to trap them in their old rice-plain stronghold between the northeast coastal towns of Da Nang and Chu Lai.

The new contingent of Leathernecks ran into fighting almost immediately after helicopters lifted them into the action from the carrier Valley Forge, standing offshore in the South China Sea. They ran into groups of 30 and 40 guerrillas and engaged them in brisk small-arms clashes.

American casualties were reported light.

The fresh Marine unit joined two other Marine forces who joined Vietnamese troops Thursday in a push to cut off escape routes for the strong Communist force besieging a Vietnamese regiment. One outfit came by helicopter from the Valley Forge, the other entered the fray by road from the nearby big Marine enclaves.

Marine and Air Force planes kept up support of the U.S.-Vietnamese drive, flying 206 sorties over the rice paddies since early Thursday night. They pounded 25 buildings, bunkers and gun emplacements with rockets, bombs and 20mm cannon fire, spokesmen reported.

"We've cut their retreat to the hills in the west," said Lt. Col. Leon Utter of Miami, Okla., the commander of one of the Marine battalions. "Now we want to close the loop on them."

A Voice of America relay station was hit by 14 rounds of 60mm mortar fire on the outskirts of Hue, the old Imperial capital, 400 miles north of Saigon, a spokesman reported. The big transmitter picks up U.S. broadcasts from the Philippines and beams them toward North Viet Nam.

One unidentified person was injured in the Viet Cong attack. The extent of damage to the station was not immediately known.

U.S. spokesmen reported heavy casualties aboard one of three trucks hit when a Viet Cong mine exploded under a U.S. troop convoy 23 miles north of Saigon Thursday. They said the mine was electrically detonated and probably made from an unexploded U.S. bomb dropped in an air strike.

The big guns of the U.S. 7th Fleet came to the rescue of government units under siege by two Viet Cong battalions at Duc Pho this morning. The Communists opened up on the coastal outpost, 29 miles southeast of Quang Ngai city, with small arms and mortar fire, then moved forward in force.

Pope Lifts Ban On Friday Meat Over Holidays

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI acted today to allow Roman Catholics to eat meat on the Fridays before the coming Christmas and New Year's holidays.

His move, making a routine year-end exception, reinforces belief that an expected papal announcement revising Church rules on abstinence will not be made until next year. If he had planned to announce a revision before then, a special dispensation would not have been necessary.

The Vatican announced Pope Paul has given Roman Catholic bishops around the world permission to grant dispensations from the abstinence and fasting requirement applying on the day before Christmas and the abstinence required this year on Dec. 31 because it falls on a Friday.

Greek Vessel Awash, Queen Mary Alongside

LONDON (AP) — The Queen Mary and two other ships stood by a Greek freighter awash in the stormy North Atlantic today. The fate of the crippled ship's 30 crewmen was in doubt. At least three sailors were believed lost overboard as 40-foot waves battered the 7,200-ton Constantinos about 300 miles southwest of Ireland.

Flight Lt. John Smith radioed from a Royal Air Force Shackleton that he could see men jumping overboard and others clinging to the ship's rails.

Some of the crew were reported in the water about three miles from the ship. RAF men said it seemed impossible they could survive.

It was believed that most of the crew were Greek.

The 81,000-ton Queen Mary, with 1,000 New York-bound passengers, changed course Thursday night and went to the scene after the Constantinos radioed for help. The liner circled the stricken freighter for three hours with her searchlights illuminating the scene.

The liner's lifeboats were swung out and scramble nets were dropped down her sides, but her captain radioed London: "Consider any attempt to abandon ship in present conditions would be suicide."

After the British freighter Surrey Trader and the Swedish ship Stove Vulkan arrived, the Queen Mary resumed her course for New York. Then the Cunard Line said the liner returned to the Constantinos in response to an urgent appeal from the freighter's captain.

One report said the Greek ship called for help after water entered a hold too fast for the pumps to handle it. There was no indication what started the trouble.

The freighter's lifeboats were reported smashed. She was lying stern down with her lights on, drifting in a northwest wind. The Constantinos was reported on a voyage from Bremen, Germany, to a port in the United States.

Brilliant Flash Called Fireball

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — A brilliant light flashed across the Northern sky Thursday night, leaving burning bits of matter across the Midwest.

"It undoubtedly was a fireball," said Dr. William P. Bidelman, an astronomer at the University of Michigan.

A spokesman for the Defense Department in Washington said first reports indicate it was a natural phenomenon. All aircraft, missiles and the like are accounted for, he said.

Fireballs are bits of stone or metal that rain from the sky at all times of the year, Bidelman said. A fireball is a brilliant meteor. Any piece or fragment that survives the flight and impact is called a meteorite.

Whatever it was, it attracted a lot of attention. Persons in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana and parts of Canada said they saw brilliant flashes of light blazing across the sky at dusk. Some said they saw fiery objects plunge to earth.

Police began receiving reports of small fires in widely scattered areas. Fires were put out and extensive searches were made, but there were no reports of significant findings.

Near the village of Kecksburg in southwestern Pennsylvania, fireman Roy Howard said he saw several blue flashes "like an acetylene torch" close to the ground.

Other persons said they saw the flames, too.

State troopers and Air Force personnel tramped through the area for hours with Geiger counters. They said they found nothing and called off the search.

Waukon High Destroyed by Morning Fire

WAUKON, Iowa (AP) — An early morning fire, apparently spread by an explosion, destroyed the Waukon High School today.

The first alarm was turned in by Mrs. Chuck Werden, who lives across the street from the school, about 3:30 a.m.

Mrs. Werden said the blaze started at the southeast corner of the building, in the area of the industrial arts room in the basement.

She said that about 10 minutes later an explosion occurred, engulfing the building in flames.

Firemen from Decorah and Potosi helped fight the fire and kept it from spreading to the gymnasium and grade school buildings nearby.

The building was listed as a total loss. The gymnasium and grade school received smoke and water damage.

The three-story brick high school was built in 1918. A new school now is under construction.

Lights Bright But Kenosha Feels Rambler Layoff Gloom

KENOSHA, Wis. (AP) — The bright glow of the Christmas season is apparent everywhere in this industrial city of 70,000 on the shore of Lake Michigan. But a current of gloom, and occasional bitterness, runs through the community.

American Motors Corp., largest employer in the city, and in Wisconsin, has announced that it will close its doors three days before Christmas and not re-open until Jan. 17. And when the firm's two big Rambler automobile plants do go back into production, about 2,400 employees will not be called back.

Bill Doles will be among the lucky ones. He'll return to his job because he's had almost seven years with AMC as a machinist. The Holiday season, however, has lost its luster for the Doles. This will be the first Christmas for the triples born to Bill and his wife, Norma, last Jan. 3, and they had planned to make it a big event. "We already bought some things on lay-away," said Bill. "And now it looks like we've done all the shopping we're going to do."

Doles hopes to receive a total of $73 a week in state unemployment compensation and the company's supplementary jobless benefits program—62 percent of his normal gross wages.

As American Motors lost more of the auto market to the Big Three — General Motors, Ford and Chrysler — Doles has been subjected to brief, periodic layoffs.

"We could be bitter but we won't be," said Doles. "I'd never say anything against the car we make. All it needs is a new face every year. We haven't been changing it fast enough."

In the heart of the downtown business district, where the neon lights of AMC's lakefront plant can be seen from almost any street, businessmen were glum.

"Sure, it's going to affect business," said a sporting goods dealer. "It's bound to. But we've had our ups and downs. This town has had them before and came through it all right."

About 12,000 hourly employees have been working in the Kenosha plants since production of the 1966 models began in August. The company employs another 7,500 at the factory where Rambler auto bodies are made, in Milwaukee 30 miles to the north.

The Milwaukee works will be closed for the same period, but most of 2,400 who will be laid off indefinitely are in Kenosha.

Sales of all Rambler models totaled 298,000 in the first 11 months of 1965 compared with 355,638 in the similar period of 1965. Meanwhile the Big Three showed substantial gains.

LBJ Hopes for Peace But Plans 'Hard Steps'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says he will exhaust every peace effort "before other hard steps are taken" in Viet Nam. But while the British call again for negotiations, Moscow and Hanoi blame the United States for expanding the war.

A few hours after Britain sought Soviet support for an international appeal to North Viet Nam for peace talks as soon as possible, Johnson defended the U.S. role in Viet Nam in a telephone speech from his Texas ranch to the AFL-CIO convention in San Francisco.

Without specifying what the "other hard steps" might be, he said:

"Only this week we renewed our efforts for peace in detail. Our efforts to communicate our desire to talk about peace were met with silence from some, shrill propaganda from others. On the critical question of readiness to meet without conditions, the response in Hanoi — still more in Peking — remains completely negative."

The President's words apparently referred to two British peace appeals in the past week, and U.S. efforts through diplomatic channels to bring the Vietnamese war from the battlefield to the conference table.

In the past few days, Johnson said, "I have reviewed with my top advisers the situation in Viet Nam. We are carefully studying how we can best continue to turn back that aggression. We are all determined to do all that is necessary."

"At the same time, we are equally determined that every prospect for peace be exhausted before other hard steps are taken."

Johnson said the United States is in Viet Nam "because for all our shortcomings, for all our failings as a nation and a people, we remain fixed on the pursuit of freedom as a deep and moral obligation that will not let us go."

Gemini 7 on Course

Six Days Up And All Well

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — With instructions from James A. Lovell Jr.'s 12-year-old daughter to hurry home for Christmas, the Gemini 7 astronauts sailed through their sixth day in space today while Gemini 6 was ready to blast off in pursuit on Sunday.

Lovell and his space partner, Frank Borman, remained in excellent spirits and physical condition as their cramped spacecraft soared on well past the two-million-mile mark of their planned 14-day journey.

All Gemini 7 systems clicked with precision as the craft continued to perform better than any previous manned ship orbited by the United States.

Gemini 7 entered its 85th orbit at 4:49 a.m. (EST).

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials decided Thursday that Gemini 6 preparations were proceeding so smoothly at Cape Kennedy that Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford could start the historic space chase on Sunday, a day earlier than originally planned.

Schirra and Stafford are to lift off at 9:54 a.m. to begin the dramatic trackdown of Gemini 7. Gemini 6 will start out about 1,200 miles behind Gemini 7 and through a series of orbit-shifting maneuvers will gradually close the gap over a 103,000-mile course.

A perfect flight would bring the two vehicles within a few feet of each other about 5½ hours after the Gemini 6 launching. They are to fly in formation, perhaps only inches apart, for six hours to practice techniques that are vital to putting men on the moon.

Before Air Force Lt. Col. Borman and Navy Cmdr. Lovell settled down to sleep Thursday night, Mission Control Center played them a musical selection requested by Lovell's daughter, Barbara. She said she hoped it would "bring Daddy home for Christmas."

The selection was "I Saw Mommy Kissing Santa Claus," which drew a laugh and this comment from Lovell:

"Tell Barbara I saw Santa Claus while I was still down there," indicating his Christmas shopping had been completed. Gemini 6 will return to earth after one or two days in space, depending on when the rendezvous is completed. Gemini 7 is to come down Dec. 18 after completing its record 14 days in space.

Assessment Date Moved to Jan. 1

The date for real estate property assessments has been moved ahead five months — to Jan. 2 — and is now less than a month away. This change from the old May 1 assessment date was made by the 1965 state legislature.

The new ruling affects several things, said David Sauer, Winona County supervisor of assessments:

- Determination of homestead date, when you must own and occupy a residence, is now Jan. 2. Declarations must be filed by this date.
- Tax exempt agencies and institutions must now have their exempt status determined by Jan. 2.
- Structures under construction will be examined for state of progress as of Jan. 2.

Personal property tax assessments remain on May 1.

Under the new real estate law, assessors will be appraising all real estate in December, January and February, Sauer said. Persons who bought a house this fall and are occupying it must notify their local assessor soon in order to receive a homestead classification by Jan. 2, he warns.

Also as a result of the new law, annual county instructional meetings for local assessors and boards of review, formerly held in March or April, now must be held in November or December.

Winona County's meeting will be Tuesday at 10 a.m. in the county courthouse. Arthur C. Roemer, deputy commissioner of taxation, will discuss the new legislation and assessment procedures.

Pay rate for the meeting has been raised from $7.50 to $10 and mileage from 6 cents to 7 1/2 cents, Sauer said.

He said the assessment date was changed to make it fairer. Businessmen have completed their inventories by Jan. 2, and farmers are not as busy as in the spring.

Couple Charged With Housing Discrimination

ST. PAUL (AP) — The first discrimination finding in the four years of Minnesota's fair housing law was issued Thursday against Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Henry of Minneapolis.

The State Commission Against Discrimination said the Henrys discriminated in June against Mr. and Mrs. Donald Vanouse, who were seeking to rent an apartment.

The Vanouses both are graduate students in English at the University of Minnesota. Mrs. Vanouse is a Negro.

The commission ordered that the couple be given "the first opportunity" by Mr. and Mrs. Henry to apply for rental of any apartment that becomes vacant in the future.

Gorillas Given Painting Lessons

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Two gorillas recently acquired by Albuquerque's zoo at a cost of $10,000 have been given painting "lessons" by John Roth, zoo superintendent, and Dr. Frank Hibben, anthropology professor at the University of New Mexico.

The results, abstract, now on display at the university's Museum of Anthropology. Hibben and Roth hope the gorillas will produce enough paintings in coming months to have an art sale.

The proceeds would be used to help pay for the animals.

Negroes Will Lead Harvard Graduates

BOSTON (AP) — The senior class at Harvard for the first time in history has elected Negroes to the posts of first and second marshals.

The university says that Barry L. Williams of New Rochelle, N.Y., basketball team captain; and John A. McCluskey, of Middletown, Ohio, football quarterback, were named first and second marshals, respectively, in class elections. The marshals lead the graduation march.

New Assessor Appointed At La Crescent

LA CRESCENT, Minn. (Special) — Erwin A. Ganschow was appointed village assessor Monday by the La Crescent village council.

He will receive $1,200 the same salary offered F. H. Edminister, who was elected in November and then resigned.

Wayne Horton and Charles Murphy also had applied. Councilman Martin Miller moved to appoint Ganschow because he is self-employed in insurance and would be able to complete the real estate assessment of the village by the March 1 deadline.

JOHN E. Bearden, of Caswell, Engineering Co., reported on cost of installing fluoridation equipment in wells No. 2 and 3 plus operating costs.

Installation cost for each well would be near $2,280. Chemical costs were estimated at $4.30 per million gallons.

Estimated cost per well using another system $1,500; chemical costs would be $2.25 per million gallons.

Bearden recommended the first method — using hydrofluosilicic acid.

Mayor William Mishler said about 77 million gallons were used last year; costs of chemicals would be about $350.

Miller moved to table the report to determine the feasibility of putting the fluoridation question to a vote.

Dr. Philip Utz, village health officer, asked how long the council proposed tabling. He said he had made his first recommendation on this issue four years ago. He said results of a straw vote two years ago showed that persons favored fluoridation. Miller said the council would consider the matter within the next two or three meetings.

THE COUNCIL ordered L. L. Duxbury Jr. to draw specifications and advertise for bids on sewer cleaning equipment. Bids will be opened Jan. 6 at 6:30 p.m.

Public hearings will be held at 9 p.m. that day on applications of Mr. and Mrs. George Kelly and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Berry to change their four lots from commercial to residential and a Shore Acres resident for a special use permit for a trailer and camping grounds.

The council certified all special assessments on the 1965 curb and gutter improvements on 7th Street South despite protests.

The mechanism on the siren in the village will be sent to the factory to stop it from sounding at 8:45 p.m. This was the time of the former curfew, which was changed with the new curfew ordinance.

A special meeting will be held Dec. 30. The council is to consider renting storage space for the village maintenance equipment during the winter months.

LONG BEACH, N.J. (AP) — The Rabbinical Council of New Jersey has issued a pronouncement against dating between Jews and non-Jews.

"The road that ultimately leads to intermarriage begins with interdating. Jewish parents cannot abandon their responsibility in this matter," the council, representing Orthodox rabbis in the state, said.

'Hog Wild' Prices Take Sharp Drop

By GLENN HELGELAND
Daily News Farm Editor

Lower numbers of market hogs and recent shortages of feed have combined to send pork prices "hog wild" throughout the nation, Winona included.

Actually, the farmer's market situation is somewhat different here than in other areas, a Swift & Co. buyer said today. Totals of hogs marketed at the station are down 40 percent from a year ago, compared with 30 percent nationwide.

This extra drop locally is a result of the drought a year ago which yielded very little corn. Many hog raisers in the area thus had to ship hogs that normally would have been held over and bred back for a spring pig crop.

THE DROP in market prices Thursday — to $28.25 — was the first drop since September at the local station. Market prices are lower again today.

The drop in market prices probably has been caused by farmers deciding to get in on higher prices, so they have shipped an extra hog, or else farmers who will soon be suffering from animal feed shortages have shipped hogs now when the price is high, rather than waiting until they ran out of feed and then shipping. Either condition will increase the flow of hogs from farm to market, thus causing market prices to drop.

A year ago this week the local station was paying farmers $13 a hundred for butchers. Peak purchases this week were at $28.75.

The price trend is expected to keep going for another year, or until next spring's pig crop hits the fall market.

And again the Southeastern Minnesota area may be somewhat different in market action than other areas, but in the other direction, with more hogs marketed locally than in other areas.

This trend should occur because harvest conditions in the area this fall were not as bad as in other regions. Farmers were able to harvest a large part of the ripe corn locally, so have been able to keep hogs that otherwise would have been marketed. These hogs will provide an increased spring pig crop, and thus a larger percentage of hogs marketed next fall, according to buyers at the Lewiston Sales Barn.

Lewiston buying peaked at $28.50 Wednesday, and had dropped to $26.50 today, with not all purchases made yet.

RETAIL PRICES for most pork cuts have risen 10 cents a pound in the last week, according to several local stores. Retail prices have doubled since a year ago.

Customer reaction has been to buy more beef, retailers say. "If prices don't get too far out of sight, they will get used to the increases," said one meat department manager. It takes time for customers to get accustomed to the raise, but the retail volume is sales should soon increase to normal, he added.

Most local meat departments have been able to fill their wholesale orders. Wholesale prices have gone up 2 to 3 cents each day the last week, a manager said. And to hold the profit margin, retail prices have increased double the wholesale prices.

Loin prices are about 52 cents now, compared to about 42-43 cents a week ago. Christmas hams, which sold for $3.40 until last week, will cost $1-$1.50 more, meat managers said. Bacon will easily top the $1 mark.

Trailer Court Owner Admits To No License

Judge John D. McGill stayed sentencing on a guilty plea to operating a trailer court without a license and imposed a $25 fine on a guilty plea to a speeding charge today in municipal court.

Frank Kerns, Dakota, Minn., pleaded guilty to a charge brought by the state Health Department of operating a trailer court at Dakota without obtaining a license.

At the request of County Attorney S. A. Sawyer, Judge McGill agreed to delay sentencing on the misdemeanor charge for one month. Judge McGill indicated to Kerns that if the defendant obtains a license in that time his sentence may be suspended.

Jerome J. Schmitz, 19, 322 W. 2nd St., pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding 40 m.p.h. in a 30 zone on Broadway at Lafayette Street Thursday at 5:08 p.m. Schmitz paid a $25 fine imposed by Judge McGill as the alternative to eight days in jail.

Farmers Win Verdict in Softener Cases

Judge Arnold Hatfield today directed a verdict clearing two Winona County farmers of any obligation to pay off notes on water conditioning equipment purchased two years ago.

The plaintiff in the case had charged the farmers an usurious rate of interest, Judge Hatfield found. And under Minnesota law, the notes are voided, and the farmers are not even obliged to return the equipment, the judge said.

THIS ACTION came after testimony had been completed this morning in District Court in a suit to force payment of two notes held by Robert N. Melbo, La Crosse, franchisee in this area for Lindsay water conditioning equipment.

Attorney Alton E. Bergh, St. Charles, representing Ralph Shank, St. Charles Rt. 2, moved that the $1,050 note signed by his client be declared null and void on grounds it charged an interest rate (8 percent) usurious under Minnesota law.

Attorney Dennis A. Challen, representing Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rinn, Lewiston Rt. 1, moved for a directed verdict as a matter of law since the interest rate on the Rinn's $980 note exceeds the legal limit set in Minnesota.

ATTORNEY C. Stanley McMahon, representing Melbo, also moved for a directed verdict in favor of his client because there had been no showing that Melbo was responsible for alleged fraud in the sales and the farmers had admitted signing the notes now held by Melbo.

McMahon argued that Minnesota law allows an 8 percent interest rate discounted over one year. But Judge Hatfield pointed out that the Melbo notes were not discounted and were payable over a five-year period.

For a period of more than one year, a 6 percent interest rate is the highest allowed, Judge Hatfield said.

In Judge Hatfield's chambers, McMahon argued that the issue of usury had not been brought up in the pre-trial pleadings, and he had had no opportunity to prepare a defense against such charges.

MOREOVER, Melbo has documents which would provide a defense, McMahon said. Melbo has at La Crosse contracts for deed in the two sales like those which auto dealers use to charge more than 6 percent for time sales, McMahon said.

However, Judge Hatfield pointed out that Melbo and his witness, the salesman Morrison, had stoutly denied that Melbo had anything to do with the sale. Melbo had bought the notes from Morrison, thus, in effect, loaning Rinn and Shank the money to pay Morrison. And 6 percent is the maximum chargeable interest on a loan, the judge said.

"It's a drastic law," Judge Hatfield said; but he told McMahon that he did not believe there was any way for Melbo to get around it.

If McMahon wants to move for a new trial, he certainly may, Judge Hatfield told the plaintiff's attorney. McMahon said he could give notice today that he intends to move for a new trial. Judge Hatfield gave McMahon a 40-day stay of execution of judgment to allow time for the motion to be filed.

LeRoy Greenwood was appointed jury foreman by Judge Hatfield and signed the directed verdict in favor of the defendants.

City Planners to Study Sites Considered for Technical School

City Planning Commission members voted Thursday night to review data on four possible vocational-technical school sites and recommend one to the City Council, based on the findings.

The move came after a discussion of general features of the potential sites with Lawrence Santelman, Board of Education president. At its meeting Monday the City Council had directed the board to enlist Planning Commission advice before committing itself to a specific location for the school.

SANTELMAN said the board would furnish all the information possible on each of the four sites. These are: Westfield Golf Course, the Knopp farm, west of St. Mary's College, Wincrest Addition and the Christensen-Noeske property near Siebrecht greenhouses on old Highway 61.

In a letter to the council last Monday the board had asked for authority to acquire the Siebrecht site. Aldermen not satisfied that enough thought had been given to other possibilities, directed the matter turned over to the Planning Commission for study.

At one point in the discussion, two other sites were suggested by commission members. One was a five-acre tract on Highway 61-14, southeast of the Highway 43 intersection and the other was the former Chicago & North Western Railway shop district. Both are too small or restricted, Santelman said, and by general agreement were dropped from consideration.

IN A GENERAL review, Santelman outlined the board's conclusions about the merits of the four locations. Two of these, he said, appeared plainly out of the question, the Knopp property and Westfield.

At Westfield, a recreation area would be destroyed and building is impossible at points less than 300 feet from municipal well fields, he said. If the land were acquired, it would mean building a new golf course somewhere at a cost of $90,000 or more, plus a new clubhouse, according to board reasoning. Heavy expense and area restrictions appear to rule out this choice, Santelman said.

Soil tests at the Leon Knopp farm have proven unsatisfactory and severe traffic problems would be created by an access street joined to Highway 14, Santelman said. The property is now outside city limits but could have been annexed, he said, but other considerations caused the board to reject it.

A primary factor in the board's decision against building in Wincrest was the difficulty of access for students, Santelman said. The vocational school will serve about 1,200 students each year in night classes and about 250 to 325 in daytime sessions, he said. The long, twisting uphill road would present real hazards, in the board's opinion, he said.

ENTRANCE to the Siebrecht site is easy, Santelman said, and the county highway department eventually will widen the old highway. Either it will be four-lane or a creeper lane will be added.

In all, nearly 60 acres of land could be had, said Santelman. This includes land owned by William S. L. Christensen and by Arthur Noeske and a sister-in-law, he explained.

All these places had been studied as possible senior high school locations by the board. The eastern property had not been thought practical, said Santelman, because the district would have been involved in bussing students, something the board urgently wished to avoid. Students at a vocational school, on the other hand, are all adults whom the district would have no responsibility to transport.

Even if this site cost more than others, said Santelman, the building would stand for 75 years and therefore location should be a prime consideration. The board had made an honest appraisal, he said, and sincerely believed this to be the best available.

SANTELMAN was asked by James Foster, commission member, whether the building would be built on pilings. Santelman said compacted sand appeared a better base, according to engineers, and would cost less.

Donald W. Gray, another commissioner, asked about the area's vulnerability to flooding. In an emergency, the entire vicinity could be protected in a day's time, Santelman said.

Responding to Foster's question about sewer and water costs, Santelman said accurate estimates cannot be made until exact location of a building is determined. As soon as this is agreed upon, the figures will be available, he said.

At present estimates, costs of these utilities might range from $60,000 to $120,000, depending on whether a sewer lift station is needed, he said.

FEASIBILITY of the board's preferred area is strengthened by the purchase price of $987 an acre for the Christensen property, said Santelman. It is less than the costs of the new high school site, he observed, and the Noeske land presumably is available at a fair price. The latter tract has about 43 acres.

There is plenty of room for expansion, Santelman said. On the other hand, the board does not want to be in the real estate business, he added, and would probably dispose of surplus property.

Some future possibility exists that a grade school may be necessary in that vicinity, should outlying rural districts be forced by the legislature to send pupils to Winona, said Santelman. The possibility is distant, he added, and might not justify holding extra land in anticipation of such a change.

There are 19 vocational-technical schools in the state now and all are eligible for substantial federal aids, Santelman said. No funds will be given in advance, he said, but when land is purchased the school "will get its fair portion each year." The program is expanding and aids will be constantly increased, he said.

RETURNING to the grade school possibility, Foster asked whether this would not mean bussing. It would not cost the Winona district any money, Santelman replied, because rural districts sending children to such a school would have to pay transportation costs.

Santelman said the board might buy both the Christensen and Noeske properties in order to get a better per-acre price, then dispose of parts later. This is not certain and the alternative is to buy immediately needed portions, he indicated, possibly at a higher unit price.

No mention was made in the school bond campaign early this year of the separate vocational school site, Foster said. Santelman agreed and added that he believes the district should now decide what is needed and get the best location.

The council acted in good faith in asking additional study by the planning commission, Santelman said, and the board will furnish any data it has or can acquire to the commission.

THERE IS some need for prompt action, he indicated. Several courses are to be set up by the state and if they cannot be accommodated at Winona they will be assigned elsewhere. One such course, he said is offset platemaking and printing in which surveys show some 229 individuals definitely interested.

Acting chairman Norman Indall asked for a motion to set up an interim committee to meet with the school board for fact gathering purposes. The group voted to ask the regular chairman, James Schain, to make the appointments. Schain was not present.

Suggestions from the public also should be sought by the commission before its report to the council is submitted, said Jerry Papenfuss, a commission member.

PRESTON CRASH . . . A Hutchinson, Minn., trucker escaped with his life from this tractor with which he was pulling a trailer loaded with iron pipes when he crashed into the side of an 11-car Milwaukee Railroad freight at the east end of Preston, Minn., late Thursday morning. The truck hit back of the engine. It took an hour to remove Leroy Majeski, 34, from this mass of steel which was a cab. A second engine was summoned to help clear the track. The train was hit behind the engine as it proceeded east and the truck, northerly. (Harriet Kelley photo)

Student Makes Quick Return From Chicago

Tim Dalton, the Winona State College freshman flown to Chicago with 75 cents Saturday and instructions to return before 6 p.m. Sunday, proved more than able to meet the problem. He returned with 65 of the 75 cents still in his pocket.

He was back at his fraternity, Phi Sigma Epsilon, sponsors of his surprise trip, by 12:55 a.m. Sunday, nearly 18 hours before the deadline and only about 10 hours after he arrived in Chicago.

TIM SAID, "I landed at O'Hare International Airport at 2:45 Saturday afternoon. I called back to Winona to let them know I had arrived safely. . . . His biggest trouble was getting out of O'Hare, he said. He first called an aviation company and almost got a ride with a fellow coming to La Crosse, but the man's flight schedule was set back 24 hours, making it too late for Tim to get back on time.

"I started talking to passengers getting off planes and found a guy going toward Interstate 90. Some of these people weren't very willing to talk to a stranger."

He walked a short distance near I-90 before a truck driver stopped and gave him a ride to the Belvedere, Ill. Oasis, about 30 miles south of the Wisconsin state border. It was then 5:30 p.m.

Another driver stopped for him, saying "I'm going to Rochester, Minn. If you can talk and keep me awake, you've got a ride."

"You've got a talker," Tim answered.

SEVEN HOURS later he was back on campus. His fraternity brothers didn't expect him back before morning, he said.

"Everybody was really nice. The truckers, waitresses in coffee shops and others I talked to offered to buy me any food I

Youth Charged With Forgery

A South Dakota youth charged with check forgery waived a preliminary hearing today in municipal court and was bound over to District Court for arraignment under $2,000 bond.

John E. Dallen, 21, Hot Springs, S.D., remains in county jail today in lieu of the bond set by Judge John D. McGill. He was arrested Dec. 2 in La Crosse and charged the following day in Winona municipal court.

Court-appointed attorney Harold J. Libera appeared with Dallen today. County Attorney S. A. Sawyer represented the state.

Dallen is charged with forging the signature "J. E. Faber" to a check for $28.70 issued to Faber by the state of Minnesota on funds provided by the federal Manpower Development and Training Act. The check was cashed Sept. 15 in Winona.

24 Harvest Corn For Neighbor In Harmony Area

HARMONY, Minn. (Special) — Twenty-four area men left their own corn in the fields to participate in a husking bee at the Gordon Michel farm recently.

Mr. Michel was hospitalized in Rochester after undergoing brain surgery.

The men harvested 50 acres in one day with eight corn pickers, several elevators, tractors, shellers and wagons. Neighborhood women provided dinner and lunch.

But I only had a few hamburgers and shakes.

"The guys told me later that I could have received $200 in case of an emergency. But that wasn't much help when I didn't know it."

"I was lucky," he said in summarizing his early return.

Civic Association Hears Reports From 3 Officials

State and local matters were discussed when the Winona Civic Association met Thursday evening at Winona Athletic Club.

Rep. Frank Thoms reported on the reapportionment controversy, license tags and the possibility of a special session of the legislature.

Board of Education members Daniel Sadowski and Franklin Tillman reported on progress of the two new schools and Tillman explained the federal anti-poverty program for education.

Stanley Wiecek, retired president, was given a standing ovation. He installed these officers: Clarence Bell, president; Tillman, vice president; Gerald P. Modjeski, secretary, and H. P. Joswick, treasurer.

It Happened Last Night Humphrey Gets Laugh at Dinner

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Vice President Humphrey got a big laugh at the Weizmann Institute of Science dinner at the Waldorf. It was explained that the program was upside-down... speeches would precede the dinner... because "people who are hungry don't talk too long." The Vice President started his speech by saying, "I'm not hungry."

"Hear about Frank Sinatra Jr.'s torrid romance" somebody asked me at Basin St. E. where young Sinatra, 21, opened... "No, who with?" I asked eagerly... Answer: "Maureen O'Sullivan!"

Ethel Merman'll sing at John V. Lindsay's inaugural, both Mayor and (she hopes) Presidential... The Don Ameches are moving to Phoenix... A dastardly rumor swept B'way: Toots Shor had gone on the wagon! False, of course. Story started because Toots, supervising a party for 1,000 at his saloon Sunday night, cautiously consumed only about one pint of spirits, which to him is like Prohibition... Lovely American beauty Raquel Welch, who has trouble finding bras big enough, is likely to replace Ursula Andress as the World Sex Missile.

IRVING BERLIN'S "I'm Dreaming of a White Christmas" and "God Bless America" are being again... due to Santa Claus and to Viet Nam. "White Christmas" has sold 125,000 sheet music copies in '65 — up from '64 — and has hit 5,000,000 since he wrote it beside a swimming pool in '39 for a movie called "Holiday Inn," never suspecting U.S. boys at war in the Pacific would give it a special meaning. "When we get in trouble," he says, "patriotic songs like 'God Bless America' boom because most people go along with the government."

Art Carney, looking healthy, had lunch at Dinty Moore's with Agent Bill McCaffrey before going back to a hospital for more rest. Producer St. Subber told him he wanted him for B'way as soon as he's ready, adding, "Your trouble is you don't know how good you are."

ST. PAUL (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert Mattson said in an opinion Wednesday that a Lac Qui Parle County probate judge may not count World War I service in figuring length of service toward retirement, since he was not appointed a judge until 1948. The question was raised by the county attorney.

'Tis Golden Chance To Help Beatles

SHEFFIELD, England (AP) — The Beatles' George Harrison is asking for public help in getting back his "golden" record of one of their hits, "A Hard Day's Night."

He said he gave the record to a girl friend, Patti Boyd, and it was stolen from her London apartment. "The disc is not actually worth much, but there is a great deal of sentimental value," Harrison said.

They'll Do It Every Time

Wabasha County Board Avoiding Poverty Program

WABASHA, Minn. — Wabasha County commissioners have taken no action to participate in an economic opportunity program, Wilbur Koemel, county auditor, said Thursday.

At a meeting in Goodhue County recently, a motion was made by a Goodhue County representative that Wabasha, Rice and Goodhue counties take action toward participation, but there was no second so the matter was dropped. For that reason and because the commissioners feel there is little need for it here, the Wabasha commissioners haven't considered it.

Wednesday Rice County commissioners adjourned without taking action on participation with the other two counties. There was no response after the chairman asked three times whether anyone on the board wanted to move that Rice County participate in the federal anti-poverty program.

Several persons, including a delegation from Northfield, had asked that Rice County participate in the program by appointing a community action council. Others, including the Republican chairman, asked the county not to participate.

Commissioners indicated they felt poverty was not acute in Rice County, that costs of the anti-poverty program are high, and that there is considerable red tape involved in the federal program. The county welfare load has not been excessive, they said.

Fraser Would Bomb Routes to North Viet Nam

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The United States might do better bombing parts of Laos instead of North Viet Nam, Rep. Donald Fraser, D-Minn., said Thursday. The 8th District congressman, who concluded two days of hearings on the war in Viet Nam, said U.S. officials should study the alternative of bombing Viet Cong supply routes in Laos. He added:

"My instinct is not to enlarge the war but to sever the neck between North and South Viet Nam." Fraser said American troops should seal off the 17-mile "neck" from the coast, through Viet Nam and Laos to Thailand.

"Then," he said, "we should tell the North Vietnamese that if they launch a frontal attack they are going to catch it." He said the hearings had not significantly changed his own views on Viet Nam. Some groups had advocated a cessation of bombing in the north, withdrawal of U.S. troops and free elections in Viet Nam.

Fraser also suggested the United States should sponsor more "people to people" contacts with the Vietnamese, "so that they learn how to do things for themselves."

He said he is opposed to any bombing of Hanoi, as it might lead to deeper involvement in the war by the Russians and Red Chinese.

Fishing Prospects

A real cold spell, which does not appear in current weather forecasts, is needed to make ice fishing safe. There are still venturesome winter fishermen on the ice and will be the coming weekend, but wardens, bait dealers and fisheries biologists discourage such fishing.

During the week, area ice fishing has been centered at Spring Lake off Buffalo City, Wis. and a few other shallow water areas where there is no noticeable current and the ice has still a little thickness. It is about five inches thick at Spring Lake. However, holes there have not been freezing over the last few nights.

Smart fishermen, of course, are testing with their chisels as they move along over the ice. There have been a few break-throughs reported. One fisherman broke through at Onalaska, sinking in ten feet of icy water. He was rescued and dried out over a fire.

There has been some mid-week open water fishing for walleyes below the dams but the success ratio has been discouraging. The weather, fishermen report, has been too warm.

Wisconsin Deer Results

Wisconsin's West Central district had a decrease of 24.5 percent from 1964 in deer harvest this year, according to a report from the Black River Falls district office. The total deer killed in the ten counties of the area was 24,758, compared with 28,848 in 1964. Jackson County was tops in the state again with over 800 less deer than a year ago. Here is the breakdown by counties for the last three years, as released by the Conservation Department:

County	1963	1964	1965
Jackson	5,062	6,745	5,915
Clark	2,741	2,980	2,859
Wood	1,982	2,757	2,528
Juneau	1,791	2,505	2,488
Trempealeau	1,452	1,331	962
Monroe	1,441	1,860	2,303
Eau Claire	1,132	1,250	1,122
La Crosse	719	795	581
Buffalo	2,683	1,929

Northward-Bound Teal Band returns received by Don Gray, manager of the Wildlife Refuge here, from the Wildlife Service indicate that blue wing teal were traveling north during the experimental teal season last fall. Just before and during that teal season, biologists operated a duck banding project at Lansing, Iowa. A number of blue wing teal were among the duck banded.

Last week, the first consignment of bands taken from birds banded there were received here. Several of them were killed by hunters in Canada, Michigan and areas north of the banding place. In fact, one teal drake went northeast to be shot down at Quebec in the St. Lawrence River. Banding studies reveal that blue wing teal nest mainly in Canada and winter in Mexico and Central America. It is just a migrant over most of the United States.

Headquarters for the system will be at the Crime Bureau, in St. Paul.

The Department of Administration will add 10 people to its staff to operate the network 24 hours a day. Each sheriff's office will have a keyboard to send on the network. Therefore, a major crime and a description of cars or persons involved could be flashed by printed word around the state within minutes, without laborious copying of radio messages.

Two more employees will be added in the Driver License Bureau to handle inquiries from law officers.

Bird Associations

LIKE the flowers, birds have been closely associated with man through the ages in superstition, legend, poetry, story and song. They have furnished man with food, clothing, sport, pleasure and some species have been almost exterminated in order to supply fashion's demands for feathers and plumes. There are more than 8,500 species of birds throughout the world ranging in size from the bee hummingbird that weighs about one-tenth of an ounce to the ostrich weighing about 300 pounds.

First, in the hearts of all true Americans is the Bald Eagle our National Emblem Bird. Who has not thrilled at the sight of this magnificent bird with glistening white head and tall circling high in the air on tireless wings, unfettered and free. As one writer has aptly said, "While other birds may fight in flocks, the eagle fights his battles alone."

THE POET Percival has eulogized this great bird in the following lines —

"Bird of the broad and sweeping wing
Thy home is high in heaven,
Where wide the storms their thunders fling
And the tempest clouds are driven"
The poet Tennyson has pictured him in the loneliness of wide spaces thusly —

"He clasps the crag with hooked hands
Close to the sun in lonely lands,
Ring'd with the azure world,
He stands."

Just as the eagle is a bird of the wide and open spaces, the mountains and the broad expanse of waters, many of the lesser birds are associated with our immediate surroundings. They come to the feeders, help keep down noxious insects, nest in the yard and cheer us with their songs. One writer has stated that, "The dandelion tells us when to look for the swallow, and the dainty trout lily from the woodland depths along a stream points to the arrival of the wood thrush."

THERE IS something mystical about some of the birds, also. Can one remain unmoved when the stillness of the evening is broken by the plaintive voice of the whip-poor-will from the depths of a forest retreat? The poet Le Baron expresses the feeling in the following verse —

"Where deep and misty shadows float
In forest's depths, is heard thy note.
Like a lost spirit, earthbound and still Art thou mysterious whip-poor-will."

The bluebird has always been a harbinger of spring. Now, it is less seen and heard, since its numbers have been so tragically reduced during recent years. In the following lines, E. E. Rexford has caught the image of this beloved bird which may become only a memory to many bird lovers as the years pass —

"Winged lute that we call the bluebird
You blend in a silver strain
The sound of the laughing waters
The patter of Spring's sweet rain.
The voice of the wind, the sunshine,
And fragrance of blossoming things
Ah! you are a poem of April
That God has endowed with wings."

AND, WHAT can be said in ordinary words about the dulcet notes of the thrush? As one writer has stated, "No one, but a poet, should attempt to describe so beautiful and so enchanting a song. Liquid, free and tender."

Referring again to the eagle, of all birds supreme, may it always be associated with our freedom.

Commercial Fishing Allowed $170,000 To Improve Catches

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The U. S. Commerce Department and Economic Development Administration have approved $170,000 in technical assistant funds to revive and diversify the commercial fishing industry in Lake Superior, Minnesota congressional sources announced.

Total cost of the project is $200,000. The remaining $30,000 will be supplied by the Commercial Fisheries Bureau of the Commerce Department.

The announcement said the planning project is intended to develop means of producing and marketing lake trout and white fish.

DEAR ABBY:

Young Husband Wants Own Room

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have a daughter who is in her late twenties. She is going to marry a man in his early thirties. He insists on separate sleeping rooms. The reason being that my daughter likes to sleep in a warm room with several heavy woolen blankets over her. But he says he can't get a wink of sleep in a warm room, and he likes to sleep with all the windows wide open, regardless of the weather. And he can't stand anything over him except a thin sheet. I just cannot visualize newlyweds in separate bedrooms. It seems such a strange way to commence a marriage. What do they figure their chances are for a lasting marriage under these conditions?

THE GIRL'S FATHER

DEAR FATHER: Since there can be no compromise, they are doing the only sensible thing. What I can't figure out is where YOU come in?

DEAR ABBY: After being a widow for seven years, I married Boswell. I was 27 and he was 37. I knew that there had been plenty of women in his life. One of the women he used to know married a friend of his recently, and my husband said it would be nice if we became a foursome, inviting them to our home, going to theirs, etc. Well, this woman and Boswell were more than just friends. They had a very intimate thing going for them for years. Knowing this, I don't care to be in her company. My husband says that since this all took place before we were married I should be more broad-minded. I can't understand how this woman could look me in the eye knowing that I know all about her former relationship with my husband. Am I wrong to feel this way?

TROUBLED

DEAR TROUBLED: No. Inform Boswell that he had better pick another couple with whom to form a foursome. And all his ex-leading ladies are disqualified.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell this middle-aged square if she's right or wrong? A mother of the bride "honored" her daughter recently at a shower given at her home. The bride's co-workers and the mother's co-workers and friends were invited. The "refreshments" consisted of potato chips, a dip and highballs. Period. When the highballs took effect, the bride's mother became tipsy and the jokes she told were not exactly appropriate for a bride-to-be and other unmarried girls. Am I old-fashioned, or weren't showers once given by the bride's friends? And weren't little finger sandwiches and tea cakes served with coffee?

SQUARE

DEAR SQUARE: You are not old-fashioned, and many brides (in fact most of them) are still honored by showers as the one that lingers in your memory. Don't condemn ALL showers just because of one bad experience with a drip.

DEAR ABBY: Please ask "RICHARD'S MOTHER" (the one who offered her son $50 for every "A" and $25 for every "B") if she would like to adopt a son. I have had very nearly straight "A's" consistently for many years now, and I didn't get a dime for them.

South Africa to Buy French Planes

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — South Africa's air force plans to buy small French-made Mystere jet transport planes in undisclosed numbers, for training and transportation of important personnel, the newspaper Die Beeld reported. They carry eight passengers. The air force now uses French Mirage fighter-bombers.

Beatrix to Wed

THE HAGUE (AP) — Crown Princess Beatrix of the Netherlands will marry West German diplomat Claus von Amsberg in Amsterdam next March 10, the government information service says.

Osseo Commercial Directors Named; Lighting Sponsored

OSSEO, Wis. (Special) — Osseo Commercial Club has named two new members, Ray Gunderson and Curtis Hoff, to the board replacing Gordon Hong and Royce Olson, retiring directors.

At the organizational meeting, Gunderson was named president; Ernie Vold, vice president; Clarence Gore, secretary, and Hoff, treasurer. Ed Barber Jr. and Dale Amundson also are on the board.

The club will sponsor a 4-H junior fair sometime in July. Last year the fair couldn't be held because animals raised by club members had been sold at the Eau Claire Junior Live Stock Show, which was moved up to August from late September. In past years the club has sponsored the junior fair the weekend prior to Labor Day.

The club is sponsoring an outdoor decorating contest. Prizes will be $15, $10 and $5.

Jets for Chinese

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The United States turned over an undisclosed number of Northrop F5 Freedom Fighter jets to the Chinese Nationalist air force today.

Polish People Welcome Gronouski

EVER SINCE Kosciuszko built the United States Military Academy at West Point and Pulaski founded the United States Cavalry there has been a love affair between the Polish people and this country. It was pointed up again with the arrival of Ambassador John Gronouski at Warsaw's Gdansk railroad station.

The Polish press and radio did not announce his coming. They never do announce the arrival of prominent Americans, for the Communist government that controls them knows how the people would turn out in massive welcome. But it didn't take long for the word of Gronouski's arrival to spread and hundreds of Poles singing "Sto Lat" (may you live a hundred years) surrounded the new ambassador and his family and literally cut them off from a greeting party of American embassy officials. They were deluged with flowers, clapped enthusiastically on the back and given a royal if spur of the moment welcome.

This is not a new thing. Former Vice-President Nixon and Robert Kennedy, then attorney general, made visits to Poland that were not officially announced. The Poles heard that they were coming over Radio Free Europe and even though the people did not know the time schedules or routes they swarmed into the streets in massive and wildly enthusiastic greeting. Kennedy was literally mobbed wherever he tried to travel.

LAST SPRING Rep. Zablocki (D-Wis.) traveled through Poland. The trip was unheralded. But Radio Free Europe mentioned it and people appeared in all parts of the country to claim relationship or to send messages to friends and relatives in the United States. Young people waylaid him with a word of their determination to become free. Older people begged him to stop while they ran home to get letters from close relatives in Milwaukee.

It is a touching thing, this admiration and affection of the Polish people for America and Americans. There have long been ties between the homeland and the large numbers of Polish immigrants here, of course. But this goes deeper. It has to do with basic love of freedom. It has to do with dislike of communism and resentment of official repression of religion.

AMBASSADOR GRONOUSKI will experience these warm feelings again and again. He will have a hard job cracking the stern and cold Communist leadership. But the people will make it all worth while — as they did the moment he set foot on Polish soil.

New Chance Seen For Duxbury

(Mankato Free Press)

IF A SPECIAL session of the Minnesota State Legislature is called, it may serve, among other things, as a chance to add to the prospects of one of the Republicans' potential governor candidates.

How well Speaker of the House of Representatives Lloyd L. Duxbury performs as a political swordsman at the probable special session of the legislature could be a determining factor.

After the 1965 session closed, Duxbury was among the conservative leaders who spoke out loudly and bitterly on the unfinished business of long talked about tax reform.

Tax reform has practically been made the top issue of the 1966 campaign, by the stands taken to date by Republicans who have admitted "interest and availability" in regard to the nomination for governor.

A SPECIAL SESSION would give Duxbury a second chance to crack the whip and press for a showdown on tax reform.

A modest, soft-spoken leader who has demonstrated preference for exercising the weight of his office in the privacy of the caucus, the 45-year-old Caledonia attorney, if he is seriously considering the gubernatorial bid, may even now be reassessing his tactical strategy.

For the special session of the legislature will focus a penetrating spotlight upon the leadership and its public pronouncements, and the resultant action taken by the legislature at such direction.

GOVERNOR ROLVAAG, who successfully bluffed the conservative controlled legislature by veto threat against tax reform containing a sales tax last spring, stands equally to gain or lose public face in what the legislature attempts to do at a special session.

TODAY IN NATIONAL AFFAIRS

President Not Too Displeased

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has set up for himself a flexible alibi — he can't be blamed for what happens now that the Federal Reserve Board has increased interest rates. But if the economy proves strong enough to weather the storm, the administration could be in a position anyway to claim credit for having prevented an economic setback.

The President, while criticizing the Federal Reserve Board for raising interest rates, pointedly referred to the board as an "independent agency." Thus, he indicated that he does not feel responsible for the consequences of the action taken.

The President's reasons for differing with the board may be politically expedient, but they could also turn out to have a restraining effect in keeping the board from taking further steps in raising interest rates.

IT SO HAPPENS, for instance, that in the last four and one-half decades, the Federal Reserve Board has played an important part in the economic sequence of events.

In the boom of 1919-1920, the Federal Reserve Board raised the interest on federal reserve loans to member banks on three successive occasions. But this proved more effective than expected. In fact, the stock market dropped and a depression followed as industrial output fell one-third.

Again, in the boom of 1928-1929, the discount rate had been raised four times in order to prevent excessive speculation, and the stock market crashed in October 1929 after the fourth hike in interest rates. The worst depression in history ensued in the 1930s.

In the boom of 1936-1937, credit was again tightened by the Federal Reserve Board, and stock prices declined. Industrial output also went down by at least one-third.

DURING THE boom of 1948, money-tightening came in three steps. Again industrial output started downward and stock-market prices declined.

In the boom of 1952-1953, credit restraint was mild, and the recession that followed was caused mainly by cutbacks in federal spending after the Korean War was over.

The next example of Federal Reserve intervention was in the boom of 1955-1957, when the Federal Reserve discount rate was raised seven times within 29 months. Stock prices declined and industrial production fell, reaching a low point in 1958.

In the next boom — from 1958 into 1960 — the Federal Reserve Board raised its rates five times in succession, to the highest point in many years.

IN THE PRESENT instance, the Federal Reserve Board has increased its rates on three successive occasions — in July 1963, in November 1964, and this week. On each of these occasions, the interest rate was raised by one-half of one percent — in all, from 3 percent to 4 1/2 percent. It is not the amount of the increase itself that is so significant as the trend that it starts, because restraints upon borrowing are applied gradually but with steadily mounting pressures.

Businesses that might have been planning more and more expansion based on borrowed money now may find interest rates too high and decide to postpone such plans until conditions become a little more settled. Just what the effect of such hesitancy in a cumulative sense will be is hard to determine at this time.

THE IMPACT on government policies is of prime importance. The President had already announced that government spending would go up considerably above $100 billion this fiscal year, and the deficit will be between $7 and $8 billion. Mr. Johnson has been reluctant to cut down nonmilitary expenditures, as he has been convinced that a welfare program for the "Great Society" is popular and will help in job-creation. But now it is apparent that the government may try to hold down on some of its own borrowings in order to ease the upward pressure on interest rates. For rates are likely to go higher and higher unless federal deficits are reduced. The Johnson administration will, therefore, have to give up some of its extravagances and begin cutting down on expenses.

So, while the President may appear to be unhappy that the restrictions were applied, he may not really be too displeased that some restraining influence has been introduced for which his administration may not be required to take the political blame.

'YOU OBVIOUSLY DON'T BELIEVE IN SANTA CLAUS'

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Ex-Schoolteacher Will Probe TV Brainwashing

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Sen. Gale McGee of Wyoming is a mild-mannered father of five children who has taught school most of his life, but who has now taken on one of the roughest assignments on Capitol Hill. He is investigating right-wing radio-TV broadcasts.

This may sound like a duck-soup assignment. Real fact, however, is that programs of the extreme right, including those of certain Texas oil men, the fundamentalist preachers and the hate peddlers, are now carried on more than 4,000 radio and TV stations.

And a good many of them will turn their blasts against the senator who investigates them. Advisers have warned the ex-schoolteacher from Wyoming that the whole apparatus will turn on him with a fury that only professional haters can generate.

However, McGee recalls that the same advisers urged him to ignore the John Birch Society back in the 1950s when its propaganda budget was only a few thousand dollars a year. Today its annual payroll and printing bill is $8,000,000, and it has an influence which is hard to evaluate.

REGARDLESS of the consequences, however, here are some of the facts McGee intends to bring out at Senate hearings later this month:

H. L. Hunt, the Texas billionaire who called the Bay of Pigs invasion by Cuban freedom fighters "just one Communist government trying to overthrow another" broadcasts a program called "Life Line." It started in 1953 on 35 stations, now is heard daily on 377 stations in 46 states, the District of Columbia and Mexico.

Howard Kershner, who believes America's Protestant churches have been infiltrated more than any other group with Communists, has jumped from 39 stations in 1962 to a network today of 362 stations in 47 states.

CLARENCE Manion, an outspoken member of the John Birch Society's policy-making executive committee, has increased his Manion Forum broadcasts from 27 stations in 1964 to 276 radio stations and 44 television stations in 44 states and the District of Columbia.

Rev. Billy James Hargis, who contends that "the majority of American newspapers are actively promoting the Communist line," started his Christian crusade program on three radio stations in the 1950s. It is now carried five days a week on 235 stations in 37 states, Canada and Mexico.

Kent Courtney, who is trying to unite all the radicals of the right in one great hate organization, is now carried weekly on 32 stations in 16 states.

Dan Smoot, the former radio commentator for H. L. Hunt's "Life Line," now has his own "Dan Smoot Report" broadcasts on 89 radio stations and 52 television stations in 31 states. Smoot once said that "liberalism and communism are essentially the same."

REV. CARL McIntire, defrocked Presbyterian minister and perhaps the biggest operator of them all, who called the Catholic church "the harlot church," now broadcasts his "20th Century Reformation Hour" five days a week on 618 radio stations in 47 states, the District of Columbia and Canada.

Note — Latest move is a right-wing attempt to take over one of the nation's great radio-TV networks, the Columbia Broadcasting System. David W. Dye of Lubbock, Tex., has been quietly urging wealthy right-wingers to buy up stock in CBS in order to get control. Sen. McGee says the din from the far right has reached a point where it amounts to "brainwashing."

"Under such constant bombardment," he told this column, "even the fairest of minds becomes dulled. In the vernacular of Hitler, a lie repeated often enough becomes a 'truth' to those who hear nothing else."

"I AM convinced that the American people are well aware of the menace of Communism," he said. "But the far-right harping, when it goes unabated and undebated, could well cause an over-reaction that allows infiltration and exploitation by zealous neo-Nazis, just as in the past an over-reaction to the threat of Nazism allowed infiltration by the Communists."

"We must be alert to both extremes. But we cannot remain alert if people sit idly by during a barrage of extremist propaganda."

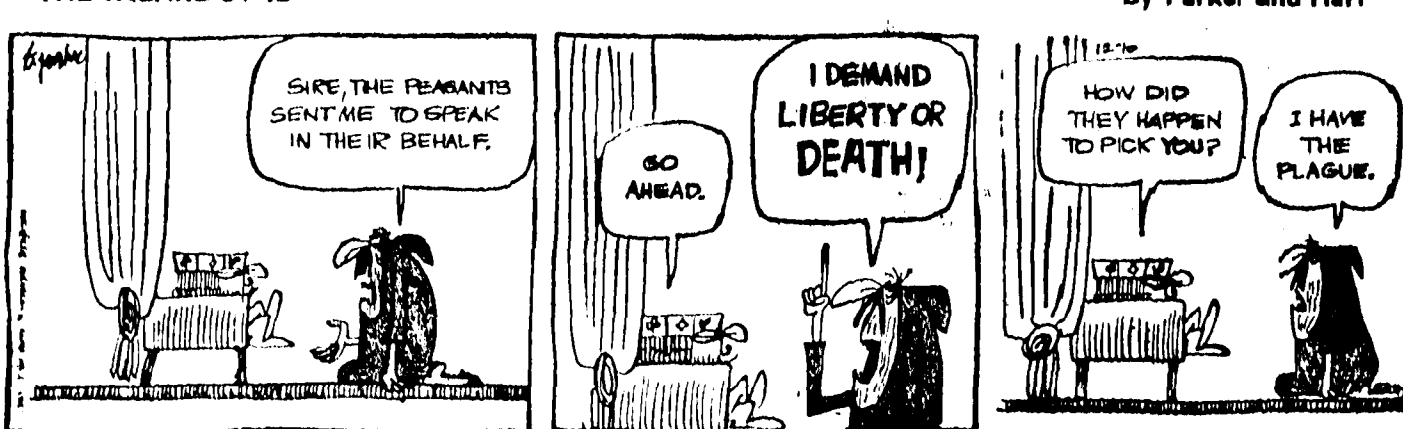

He suggested that it is time for the reasonable and responsible people who remain silent, to stand up and speak up. They owe it to their country, he urged, to counter the barrage from the right. This should be done, he said, by service groups, luncheon clubs, student organizations, PTA groups, professional societies, retired people and housewives.

WASHINGTON CALLING

Big Job for John Gardner

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — It is quite a jump to go from the director of an organization with 35 employees to one that will soon have 94,000. That is what happened to John W. Gardner when President Johnson persuaded him to leave the Carnegie Foundation to be Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

HEW was a giant, running the biggest insurance business in the world among a myriad other enterprises, before the last session of Congress piled on the load. Of the cornucopia of laws turned out in the year now ending, 22 assign new tasks or broaden responsibilities already in HEW. One is Medicare with the extraordinary difficulties it presents in free medical service even though it is limited to citizens over 65.

One of the ablest men recruited by the President for his Administration, Gardner is now wrestling with his own recruiting problem. He must fill 11 or 12 top jobs and he is finding that it takes on the average three weeks to get the man he wants and all too often he finds the No. 1 candidate slipping out of the net.

His troubles illustrate the striking contrast between the first New Deal of the early '30s and what is in effect a new New Deal. In the '30s brains were on the bargain counter. The universities were half empty and college salaries were meager. Bright young men and women were eager to come to Washington with ideas and with zeal.

TODAY, AS Gardner is discovering the exact reverse is true. Full professors in the more distinguished universities where competition is keen get $20,000 or $22,000 a year, which compares with $27,000 for an assistant secretaryship in government. But at the top level of the academic community in the past a fertile source of brains and experiences for government service, the salary differential is only part of the story.

Presidents deans and even full professors get perquisites that enhance the job beyond money income subject to high tax rates. A free house, an expense allowance, generous travel grants, foundation money to pursue individual studies, these are some of the reasons the ablest men are reluctant to leave the groves of Academe for the hubble bubble of Washington. Then, too, they know they will work twice as long and perhaps twice as hard in a government job as in the university.

THE RECRUITING problem at the top level is bound to grow tougher in a booming economy and not in HEW alone by any means. The widely heralded departure of McGeorge Bundy, who left a deanship at Harvard to take a key advisory post under Kennedy, presents the White House with a vacancy difficult to fill. Bundy reportedly will head the Ford Foundation at a salary of $75,000 a year, a generous expense account and, incidentally, with a potential or wide influence in the distribution of some $250 million of largesse a year.

One of the difficulties is the furious pace of government at the top in the Kennedy Administration and now under President Johnson. To put it mildly the President's work habits are erratic and he seems to have no consideration for the sensibilities or the mere endurance of his associates. One of the faithful expressed his private doubt in a low moment:

"At times we can't help feeling, as Milton put it, that we are 'eyeless in Gaza with the slaves at the mill.'"

THE DEMANDS on a government servant in a policy determining post increase by a geometric ratio as the problems of government increase. One of the posts Gardner must fill is Commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration. The sensitivities of a highly profitable industry, of the public and of Congress are acute in this area. And as Morton Mintz has shown in his explosive book, "The Therapeutic Nightmare," a morbid and timid FDA can mean disasters in an era when so-called miracle drugs are touted as cure-alls.

In filling political appointments, tenure is a factor. A full professor in a leading university has life tenure which cannot be said of an assistant secretary. There is too, a carry-over of the attitude that a bureaucrat is somehow a willful malingering worming his way into government to eat up the taxpayer's money. One of the ablest bureaucrats who over the years with one Secretary and another kept HEW running, Rufus E. Miles Jr., assistant secretary for administration, has just elected to take early retirement and a lectureship at Princeton University. This is another vacancy Gardner will find it hard to fill since it means 11- or 12-hour days, six days a week.

GARDNER's book, "Excellence: Can We Be Equal and Excellent Too?," engaged the President's interest and was one of the reasons he recruited the Secretary, who had a wealth of experience in teaching, government and in the foundations. Gardner can write a new chapter on the difficulties of achieving excellence at the top level of his vast domain when the penalties of government service seem to outweigh the rewards.

QUARANTINED

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (AP)—A new sign has been designed for labeling unfit housing.

A "quarantine" sign of red cardboard reading, "Occupancy Prohibited" replaces the "Condemned" sign previously used by city building inspectors.

The "Prohibited" sign warns against occupancy while a house has uncorrected plumbing, housing, heating or electrical code violations.

FROEDTERT AWARDS . . . George A. Kinstler, left, 620 W. Howard St., receives a retirement award on completing 39 years with Froedtert Malt Corp. At right is Plant Manager George Yakish, who received a 30-year service award himself at the award dinner this week at Hotel Winona. Kinstler, who is a member of St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, will be devoting much of his time to hobbies of gardening and fishing; work has been his "recreation."

Yakish, who joined Froedtert in Milwaukee in 1935, was here as chemist from 1946 to 1958, when he returned to Milwaukee as superintendent of malting. He returned here in September as plant manager. Among Milwaukeeans present for the dinner were Dudley Seay, president; Gordon Foster, executive vice president, and C. V. McDonald, personnel manager. (Daily News photo)

Awards Presented At Froedtert's

Longevity awards were presented at the annual award dinner of Froedtert Malt Corp. Wednesday evening at Hotel Winona.

They were: Karl Mueller, 10 years; Dominic Jaszewski, 15; Edwin Ledebuhr, 15; Conrad Schewe, 20; Faustin Wambach, 20; Albert Doerr, 20;

Elmer Kroening, 20, and George Yakish, 30.

Employees with 25 years or more: William Laak, 39 years; George Kinstler, 39; Frank Wambach, 34; Arnold Michaels, 32; Jacob Pielmeier, 32; William Pelzer, 32, and Walter Tarras, 33.

Wintertime shortcake: layer thawed, drained frozen berries between white cake layers; frost with sweetened whipped cream; sprinkle with grated coconut.

Model Railroad Inviting Public

Winona's "O" gauge Model Railroad Society will hold its 12th annual pre-holiday show and open house Sunday from 1 to 6 p.m.

Everyone is invited to see one of the state's largest "O" gauge scale-model railroads in action. Freight, circus and passenger trains will run continuously throughout the show.

THERE will be no admission charge, but society members urge that an adult accompany the children who attend. The layout is located above Holden's Drug Store, 953 W. 5th St.

Contributions received are donated to the Goodfellows Christmas Fund.

More than 2,000 man-hours have gone into building the layout since construction began 11 years ago with eight model railroad hobbyists. Benchwork was completed first, followed by the hand laying of more than 600 feet of track, including the yards and terminal facilities.

More than 11,000 scale sized wooden ties were glued into position in the shape of a dog leg 58 feet long. Then brass rails were spiked into position on these ties with 45,000 tiny rail spikes.

There are 38 electrically controlled, hand fabricated track switches, an automatic turntable, a five stall round house, a two-stall diesel engine house together with all the scale sized bridges, tunnels and wayside structures.

About 70 cars make up the rolling stock. The pike now has seven one-fourth-inch scale steam-type locomotives and seven diesel-type engines for motive power.

Most of these cars and locomotives were constructed from kits but some were also scratch built. Two more locomotives are under construction now.

A COLORFUL addition is the "Silbsbee Bros and Thode Combined Circus." This rig is a seven-car, hand-crafted train with each wagon a true reproduction of a real circus wagon of an earlier era. It was constructed by Charles Silbsbee.

Present and active members of the Society are: William F. Holden, 773 Terrace Lane; Frank O. Whetstone, 1026 W. Wabasha St.; James Meier, 561 E. 4th St.; Jay A. Stirnerman, 262 Cummings St.; Charles B. Silbsbee, 426 E. Broadway, and Howard D. Oakland, 564 W. Sanborn St.

NEAR-RECORD

Premier Ky on Job 6 Months

By PETER ARNETT

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — In a country where good government has come to mean any government that can survive for more than just a few weeks, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky has made something of a mark.

By mid-December he will have held power for six months. Few expected this when he took over the government in mid-June as the front man for the group of "Young Turk" generals who wield the real power in South Viet Nam.

The civilian government that preceded Ky collapsed under the weight of political rivalry and bickering.

Many thought that Ky, 35, who as Vietnamese air force commander cut a dashing figure in the skies and on the boulevards of Saigon, was a political amateur. He was expected either to live soon of the rigors of premiership and resign, or get edged out in the backroom byplay of military politics.

Ky hasn't tired of politics, mainly because he doesn't play them. He has no mandate from the people. Ky rules by decree and with the approval of the generals in the back room. The generals have made it clear that as long as Ky wants the job of premier he can have it — as long as he doesn't step on their toes.

Ky, in a series of public speeches and decrees, has attempted to force industry and honesty upon his war-weary and politically disillusioned nation.

Early in his reign he proclaimed austerity measures, broke off diplomatic relations with France and officially declared war on the Viet Cong guerrillas.

But after six months, it is Ky's record time in office, rather than what he has done, that distinguishes his regime.

When he became premier, the American mission in Viet Nam did not seem concerned about whether he was good, bad or indifferent.

In 20 months, between the overthrow and murder of President Ngo Dinh Diem and the appointment of Ky, Viet Nam had gone through three coup d'etats, four attempted coups, and 19 government reshuffles.

U.S. policy was to get a government of stability, and stability was equated with survival. "We'll take anyone, as long as he stays there," one official was quoted as saying at the time.

Ky has stayed put. But he started from rock bottom, and the shadow of the war has darkened all his actions.

A Red Chiffon Negligee for A White Poodle?

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Jim Wilkinson, a pet shop owner, says people "like to pamper their best friend, especially at Christmas."

One customer, she said, would be satisfied with nothing less than a red chiffon negligee trimmed in feathers for her white poodle. "Now my poodle can lounge around in style," the customer said.

Another customer requested a cashmere coat for her Pekingese — a beige one to match his hair. And furrier Paul Swigert recently measured a Great Dane for a mink coat, costing $450.

Top Food and Drug Official Retiring

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another top official in the Food and Drug Administration is retiring.

Malcolm R. Stephens, 58, says he'll quit as assistant commissioner on Dec. 27.

Commissioner George P. Larrick is stepping out on the same date, and deputy Commissioner John L. Harvey is retiring at the end of the year.

The political problem for the United States in Viet Nam has not been to get a democratic government. That wish can be realized only far in the future.

The main problem was to get an effective government. Ky has these actions to his credit so far:

He has gathered around him group of young ministers and aides who talk enthusiastically about South Viet Nam's future, and who are prepared to listen to American "elder statesman" advice about government, notably from U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

Ky is not a military dictator. He is chief spokesman and executive leader of a nine-man national leadership committee of the top generals. This group has presented a united military front for the first time, stilling religious and student opposition to central authority. Ky does not intend to suffer the fate of the former strongman, Gen. Nguyen Khanh, who was destroyed because civilian opposition penetrated the chinks of the armor of the military group supporting him. Ky has no chinks.

Ky improved the morale of the armed forces by raising their pay 40 per cent and liberalizing promotions. Whether these measures will counteract the impact of morale from a recent Communist attacks remains to be seen.

Municipal League Secretary to Meet With Charter Unit

Orville Peterson, executive secretary of the League of Minnesota Municipalities, will address the City Charter Commission Monday at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall.

Peterson was invited as part of the new commission's project of familiarizing itself with city government generally prior to making specific recommendations respecting the Winona charter.

The commission will not meet again this month. Its regular schedule calls for meetings on second and fourth Mondays but members have decided to skip the Dec. 27 session.

Durand Debate Teams Sweep at Chippewa Falls

DURAND, Wis. — Durand debate squad completed its most successful weekend of the season Saturday when the varsity captured first place in competition and the other two Durand teams finished one-two in the B division at Chippewa Falls.

The varsity, composed of Barbara Morey and Mary Spindler, affirmative, and Mary Shafer and Nancy Morey, negative, won 5 and lost 1. Affirmative defeated Chetek, Fall Creek and Prentice. Negative lost to Eau Claire Regis and won over Barron and Eau Claire Memorial.

A second unit, capturing first place in B division, was composed of James Forsler and Gary Wekkin, affirmative, and Kathy Forslund and John Hess, negative. The affirmative defeated teams from Menomonie, Chippewa High and Prentice. The negative defeated Regis, Memorial and Barron.

The third unit, also undefeated in B division, took second place. Jane Bartholomew and Donna Schober, affirmative, won over New Richmond, River Falls and Owen-Withee. Mary McNaughton and Randy Bauer, negative, defeated Mondovi, Menomonie and Chippewa Falls McDonnell.

Mary Spindler led the varsity with 40 points, followed by Barbara Morey with 36 and Mary Shafer, 34. B division was led by three. Hess made 53 points, followed by Randy Bauer and Kathy Forslund with 49 each. The squad will attend two tournaments this weekend. Two units will be in Menomonie and two will attend the Hiawatha Valley invitational sponsored by Hastings, Minn.

Mother Named Mondovi School Teacher of Year

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special) — Mrs. Florence Canar, elementary school music teacher, has been selected as Mondovi's "teacher of the year."

The selection was made by the Mondovi Education Association, headed by Merlin Mickelson, president. Committee members also included Mrs. Willis Parker, chairman, Robert Merrigan, Mrs. Robert Barnes and John Herpst.

Mrs. Canar's entire teaching career — 27 years — has been in Mondovi. She resumed her teaching 18 years ago, following the death of her husband, Zeno Canar.

Mrs. Canar said she decided to become a music teacher when only in the third grade. She learned to play piano at an early age; when she was in the seventh grade she started giving private piano instruction, in her home town, Jacksonville, Ill. After attending high school, she studied music at Illinois Wesleyan University, Bloomington, Ill.

On joining the teaching staff at Mondovi after graduation in 1926, she taught singing and instrumental music in the grade schools, as well as instructing band members. She taught for nine years until her marriage to Zeno Canar. The next 12 years were spent as a housewife and mother. She also was organist at Sacred Heart Church and historian of the American Legion Auxiliary. When Mr. Canar died in 1946 the oldest of five children was 6. She went back to teaching. Three sons and two daughters have graduated from high school and each has gone to college. All have received degrees, except the youngest son, John, who attended Wisconsin State University at Eau Claire last year, but decided to earn money this year before returning.

The other children are: Thomas, a 1965 graduate of Wisconsin State University, Eau Claire; Robert, a 1965 graduate of St. John's University, Collegeville, Minn.; Mary Jo, a registered nurse, who is continuing her education at Montana State University, Bozeman, and Marjorie, a 1960 graduate of Wisconsin State University, at Eau Claire, and is now Sister Ann Martin, now training at Techny, Ill., to be a Missionary Sister of the Holy Spirit.

Mrs. Canar now is in charge of music in the city elementary schools as well as the rural schools at Modena, Naples, Anthony and Canton.

Of teaching, she says she has "loved every minute of it."

KEEP "Tuned-in"

—Have you heard from God today?
Or is there too much static? Maybe you are just not 'tuned-in.' At this moment there are voices and music surging all about you.
Do you hear them? Maybe not, but you could if you had your radio delicately in tune. Prayer is the sensitive instrument man must use to get in tune with God. But it is hard to stay tuned in. Elijah failed here... and so do we.
That is why we need the church. It helps us keep our finger on the dial of faith and obedience to God's will. Go to church Sunday. Carry your walkie-talkie with you every day. Keep it tuned to heaven. Make frequent reports of your victories and failures, and receive your marching orders direct from God!
"Speak, Lord, for Thy Servant heareth."

A Minister Comments On Christmas Giving

(Editor's Note: The following is an excerpt from a sermon delivered Sunday at Lakeside Evangelical Free Church by the Rev. Ray L. Chesire.)

Mrs. Jones made her way to the dining room table with a great arm load of heavy parcels. With a sigh of relief and tiredness she declared that would "never do this again." But she will do it again, next year, if she lives that long.

You see, Mrs. Jones has been knee-deep in a feverish effort to buy 30 Christmas gifts. This would not be so bad if she had done it alone, but 50 million other families have one or more representatives crowding into the act, which is now America's largest annual shopping spree.

CHECKING OVER her list of names and expenses, Mrs. Jones found that she had averaged $6 a gift. Does this sound high? It is not—it is only the average.

This Christmas, $10 billion will slip like so many grains of sand from the hands of our 50 million families into the cash registers and credit books of merchants in our land. These same 50 million families will buy enough Christmas cards to supply one for every man, woman and child in the world and will spend $800 million doing it!

Poor old Santa Sam will get paid $200 million for delivering the mail this Christmas.

Our 50 million families will buy approximately 1 billion, 500 million gifts. How do we give these gifts—wrapped in a paper bag? No, we spend $150 million for pretty Christmas paper! Then we will place this 10 billion and 150 million dollars worth of gifts and gift wrappings under $100 million worth of Christmas trees with "snow," trinkets and tinsel.

WHO CAN estimate the extra cost of the thousands of dollars that will be spent on five and seven-course dinners and Christmas parties?

There would be little cause for surprise if this huge spending spree were carried on in a well-fed, affluent world. But with half of the world's people wondering where the next meal will come from one has cause to wonder if America's so-blessed population has not become "thing-obsessed." There would be little cause for bewilderment if a nation wholeheartedly bowed the knee in total abandon to the god of materialism in celebration of some great military victory, or if that nation were ignorant of the meaning of Christmas.

One finds it extremely difficult to discover the remotest connection between this enormous commercial prodigality and the birth of Bethlehem's Babe.

Our annual Christmas spending spree is 50 times greater than our yearly expenditures for foreign missions.

BEFORE WE finish our Christmas shopping, let us take a long look at God's Word in 2 Cor. 8:9:

"For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, that ye through his poverty might be rich."

How much are we giving to the work of the Lord this Christmas? If you spend $100 on gifts and parties, why not match it by giving the same amount to the Lord Jesus Christ and His work.

IN COCHRANE AREA

Hope Church Marks 40th Anniversary

COCHRANE, Wis. (Special)

— Hope United Church of Christ celebrated the 40th anniversary of its founding Sunday. Two hundred attended.

The Rev. James S. Sevides, Eau Claire, Northwest Wisconsin Association Minister of the United Church of Christ, preached the sermon and the Rev. Gene Krueger, local pastor, was liturgist. Anthems were offered by the Children's Choir of Hope Church and by the combined choirs of the Alameda-Cochrane area.

FLOWERS on the altar were in advent colors.

A potluck dinner was followed by a historical program. An offering, enclosed in a box shaped like Hope church, was sent to a mission church in Wisconsin, in appreciation of gifts sent to Hope Church when it built its church in the spring of 1926.

The Rev. Alan J. Krumholz, Evansville, Wis., pastor of First Congregational United Church of Christ, spoke Wednesday. The afternoon program centered on his experiences as a church world service worker in Chile. He showed slides which showed how the church was confronted with poverty and communism there.

During the evening meeting, Rev. Krumholz told of his experiences as a civil rights worker. He has been in the South on two occasions and his congregation has been involved in the Wisconsin movement.

REV. KRUEGER expressed his concern that the parishioners know the history of Hope church but do not become so engrossed in the past that they miss the concern of sensitive Christians in today's world and fail to set sights for the future.

The first service was Feb. 1, 1925, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Rohrer. It was conducted by the Rev. Julius Berkenkamp. Services took place every other Sunday at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hansen, Mrs. Otto Freitag and Mr. and Mrs. Christ Schweitzer until March 15, when Weinandy's Hall was rented to handle the large attendance.

First officers were: Elders, George Friedrich and Henry Florin; deacon, John Thomas; secretary, Mrs. A. H. Rohrer, and secretary, Mrs. Christ Schweitzer. They were ordained and installed June 14, 1925, with services in English and German.

A LADIES Aid Society was organized Sept. 16, 1925. Officers were: President, Mrs. A. H. Rohrer; vice president, Mrs. H. A. Florin; treasurer, Mrs. Fred Schlosstein, and secretary, Mrs. George Friedrich.

In January 1926 a Sunday school was organized. Classes were held every Sunday morning in the homes. Teachers were Mrs. Henry Florin, superintendent; Mrs. A. H. Rohrer, senior class; Miss Alwina Farmer, junior, and Mrs. George Friedrich, primary.

The Reformed Church in the United States merged with the Evangelical and Reformed Church in 1924.

HOPE congregation built a new chapel in the spring of 1936 at a cost of $2,950.52. Dedication services were July 12, 1936. An addition was added at a cost of $10,100, besides 1,500 hours of donated labor, in November 1957. A rededication service was held January 22, 1961.

Other pastors were: The Rev. Arthur Peterhaensel, 1928-1934; the Rev. Edward Mohr, 1934-1943; the Rev. John Wild, 1944-1947; the Rev. James LeCount, 1947-1949; the Rev. Melvin Witmer, 1949-1956, and the Rev. Krueger, present pastor.

Charter members include Mrs. A. H. Rohrer, Henry Florin, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Kaufman, Mr. and Mrs. George Friedrich, Mrs. Ellen Rohrer Lyons, Mrs. Theresa Hendricks and Clyde Baumann Sr.

PRESENT officers are: Elders, Harry Hendricks, Ed Schmidt, Vernon Florin and Harold Bade; deacons, Wilfred Kaufmann, William Johnson, Keith Fleming and Arthur Egger; treasurer, Serena Friedrich, and financial secretary, Delores Moore.

Improvements for 1965 were new pews at a cost of $1,922. Hope has a membership of 105.

Monsignor Marks 50th Anniversary

Celebrating his 50th year on the St. Mary's College faculty, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Julius W. Haun celebrated Mass Wednesday for 1,200 students and faculty members at the college.

In a subsequent address, Msgr. Haun urged students to be "true lay apostles in accordance with pronouncements of the 2nd Ecumenical Council." This should be accomplished through study and by setting examples, he said.

Msgr. Haun, who is also pastor of St. Casimir's parish, celebrated the Mass on the feast of the Immaculate Conception, patron feast day for the college.

He is a native of Winona and attended Winona Normal School, now Winona State College, and St. Thomas College in St. Paul. From 1910 to 1916 he studied in Rome at the University of Propaganda, earning bachelor of arts, doctor of philosophy and doctor of divinity degrees. Later he attended Columbia University and received a master of arts degree in English.

Msgr. Haun currently teaches a class in Shakespeare at the college.

Investiture Set Dec. 19 At Caledonia

CALEDONIA, Minn. — Investiture will be conducted in St. Peter's Catholic Church Dec. 19 for two priests of the Winona Diocese who were recently named domestic prelates by Pope Paul VI.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. (Lt.-Col.) John F. Graf, vicar delegate to the Air Force, Wiesbaden, Germany, and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Thomas P. McHugh, pastor of St. Anne's parish, Slayton, and dean of Murray and Pipestone counties, will be invested at a 3:30 p.m. ceremony by the Most Rev. Edward A. Fitzgerald, bishop of Winona.

Father McHugh retired from the Army last year with the rank of lieutenant colonel. He is a native of St. Nicholas parish, Freeburg. Father McHugh is a native of Chicago.

Bishop Fitzgerald will be celebrant for the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass and will preach at 4 p.m. A dinner for relatives, priests of the diocese and friends will be served at St. Peter's Church at 5 p.m.

All priests are invited. No invitations are being sent.

MSGR. GRAF is a native of St. Nicholas parish, Freeburg, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Graf. He was born March 12, 1914, in La Crosse, attended the Freeburg school and is a graduate of Loretto High, Caledonia. He received his degree from St. Mary's College, Winona, in 1934 and was ordained for the Diocese of Winona from St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore, Md. in 1938.

From ordination to 1942 and from 1946 to 1951 he served in the diocese. From 1942 to 1946 he served as a chaplain with the Air Force. He was recalled to duty in 1951 with the rank of major.

MSGR. McHUGH is a chaplain with the Air Force from 1943 to 1964 when he retired with the rank of lieutenant colonel. He was pastor of the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin at Harmony from July 1, 1964, to Aug. 31, 1965.

The public is invited to attend and to participate in the singing of carols. Following the program, women of the church will serve Christmas pastries and coffee.

Special Christmas Card Mailed to Uniformed Lutherans

The Rev. Gerhard H. Huggeniv, pastor of Central Lutheran Church, Huff and Wabasha streets, will be sending specially designed Christmas cards to his members in the armed forces.

Cards are provided by the National Lutheran Council's division of service to military personnel in Washington, D.C.

They are redesigned annually specifically for the man in uniform. The greeting is a booklet, telling the story of the birth of Christ. Using the card, alone, the serviceman could have his own private devotional on Christmas. The text is taken from the Gospel of St. Luke. The well-known "Joy To the World" is included in this year's card.

The 12 pages of the card are illustrated with pictures of events surrounding the Christ child's birth and scenes of an old-fashioned Christmas.

On one page under the heading, "Christmas Blessings to Our Member in the Armed Forces," the serviceman's home pastor writes his personal message.

"On each serviceman's card I always mention that prayers will be said for him at Christmas in his home church, reminding all present that he and others in the armed forces are defending our freedom," a minister said.

Playwright Here for Premier Of Two Plays at St. Mary's

An unusual evening of theatrical activity will be presented Saturday night in the St. Mary's College auditorium, when two plays, "The Monument" and "The Ball Game," are premiered by the St. Mary's drama department.

Both plays are the work of James LeBeau, a young playwright from Chicago, who will be present for the performances. Using both exaggeration and ridicule, the plays point out the defects of society while at the same time holding out hope.

In explaining why he wrote them, LeBeau stated that he was attempting to "capture an image of a culture that, despite its imperfections, reflects a measure of dignity."

Discussing "The Monument," the author said that "while exaggerating the inanity of conversation, while purposely distorting the symbols of the Western Community, I have attempted to portray an atmosphere that, no matter how absurd, still breeds some who, if not nobly, if not heroically, will resist the values of their time."

"The Monument" will be produced under the direction of Norman Delue of the college drama department. Cast in the play are Peter Flint, a junior from Winona, Bernard Tusa, a junior from Chicago, Michael McCaskey, a senior from Chicago, Louis Colola, a junior from Chicago, and Elizabeth Caron and Gayle Viehman from the College of Saint Teresa's drama department.

Concerning the second production, "The Ball Game," LeBeau, in an interview said, "The Ball Game" does not exempt the intellectual from trite cliches. The intellectual in my opinion cannot judge the rest of mankind incapable of depth and feeling and successfully find that elusive abstraction that we call truth."

Gerald Sullivan, chairman of the St. Mary's drama department, will direct "The Ball Game." Featured in the play will be: Larry Basile, a junior from Chicago, Frederick Kauphusman, a senior from Winona, and David Gaskill, a freshman from Park Ridge, Ill.

Working on the technical production of the plays will be: Sal Polizzotto, Mark Smith, David Nignon, Douglas Eichten, James Caron, Gregory Gaut, Theodore Rieple, and Roger Budny.

The shows start at 8 p.m.; each is about a half hour in length. Following the performances, the audience will be invited to meet with the author for coffee in the faculty dining lounge.

There is no admission charge for the shows.

Sigma Tau's Sweetheart To Be Crowned

Preparations have been completed for the Christmas dance, "Jingle Ball," tonight in Krysko Commons, Winona State College.

THE DANCE is sponsored by Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity. John Rue, St. Paul sophomore, is chairman of the annual event, a semi-formal affair. Clyde Doepfner, St. Paul senior, is assisting Rue.

Jim Casey and his orchestra will provide the music for the dance from 9 to 12:30. Dormitory girls will have 2 o'clocks for the evening.

A highlight of the evening will be presentation of Sigma Tau's 1965-66 Sweetheart. This will be at 10:30 p.m.

FRATERNITY members and their dates will serve punch and other refreshments throughout the evening.

Decorations will include a huge snowman and sleigh in the center of the Commons area, surrounded by several Christmas trees, boughs, crepe paper and other decorations.

The dance kicks off the final "big" weekend before finals, scheduled for next week, and the Christmas holidays. Other attractions scheduled for the weekend include a basketball game with South Dakota State at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Memorial Hall, and the tri-college Christmas concert Sunday in the Winona High School auditorium.

Danzinger-Berge Vows Repeated At Mondovi Church

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Miss Linda Berge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Berge, Whitehall, and John David Danzinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Danzinger, Mondovi, were married Nov. 27 at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church, Mondovi. The Rev. Hilary Simmons officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of bouquet taffeta. The fitted bodice featured a scoop neckline and elbow-length sleeves and the controlled skirt was appliqued with lace as was the bodice. A detachable chapel-length train completed the ensemble. Her bouffant veil of silk illusion was held by a princess-style crown of seed pearls and taffeta. She carried a cascade bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

Miss Marilyn Sosola, Whitehall, maid of honor, and Miss Jean Weise, Mondovi, bridesmaid, wore sheath dresses of royal blue, with velvet bodices and floral brocade floor-length skirts. Each carried one large yellow chrysanthemum.

Thomas Jacques, Thorp, Wis., and Duane Poehel, Eau Claire, were the groom's attendants.

A reception was held in the church parlors.

The newlyweds are at home in Mondovi. The groom is a student at Eau Claire State University and the bride is employed in Eau Claire.

Who's New Club's Yule Party Tuesday

Who's New Club's family Christmas party will be held at the YWCA at 6:45 p.m. Tuesday.

Club members and all newcomers to the area are invited to bring their families to the party. Santa Claus will be present to give each child a gift, which his parents are asked to bring for him. Gifts should not exceed 50 cents in value and should be plainly marked, with name tags firmly attached, one of the committee members said.

Entertainment has been planned for the children during the coffee hour.

Faculty Explains Student Testing at Phelps PTA Meeting

A faculty panel discussed the testing of students at the Tuesday evening meeting of Phelps School PTA. Mrs. Richard Baylon presided over the 95 persons present.

DR. HOWARD Munson, principal, explained the three categories of tests given students: Achievement, IQ and Interest Tests. He said that from these tests teachers can obtain ideas concerning the ability of the class as a group or of an individual and thus evaluate the current curriculum.

The Metropolitan Achievement test given at the primary level (kindergarten through third grade) were described by Miss Kay Dunlap as a moving picture, rather than a snapshot of the child's development. She stressed the importance of teaching the child to help his fellow students, rather than to compete against each other.

James Sablin talked on testing students of the intermediate grades (four through six) by means of the Iowa Basic Skills test and the Large-Thorndike method of testing emotional and social development.

AT THE junior high level, Mrs. Helen McGrath gave examples of the Kuder Preference tests. It is important she said, in determining what courses the student should continue and may be a deciding factor toward a future vocation.

In keeping with the season, a group of Christmas songs was presented by the Winona School Belles. Two unusual selections were an African "Noel" and a Sioux Indian song, "Stars Lead Us Ever On."

The hostess prize was awarded to Vernon Almie's fifth grade.

LUNCH WAS served by the Mmes. Munson, Willis Norton, Lester Schmucker, Anthony Hoyt, Robert Sexton, Maurice Schuh, John Eklund, John Berger, Walter David, Jean Aubin and Lewis Albert.

Receptionists were Mrs. Sheridan Wolfe and Mrs. Leroy Steber.

Newlyweds Will Live in Minneapolis

SPRING GROVE, Minn. — St. Thomas the Apostle Church, Minneapolis, was the scene of the wedding Nov. 27 of Mary Margaret Merrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Merrick, Minneapolis, and Marvin L. Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Thompson, Spring Grove, Minn. The Rev. James Kinney performed the ceremony.

Miss Catherine Merrick, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Mrs. Joan Elde, Rochester; Miss Patricia McVerny and Miss Susan Doucette, both of Minneapolis, bridesmaids.

Best man was Rodney Sokup, Minneapolis, and Gerald Bratland, Spring Grove; Charles Kinneberg and Dale Elde, both of Rochester, were groomsmen. David McGovern, Chicago, and John McGovern, Pocahontas, Iowa, ushers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length, empire style gown of ivory satin with a long sweeping train. Her headpiece of petals held a bouffant veil. Her bouquet was of white roses and ivy.

Her attendants wore floor-length ivory crepe empire-style gowns with moss green velvet bodices. Their headpieces were matching moss green velvet roses on net. They carried bouquets of yellow mums.

A reception for 200 was held at the Sons of Norway hall. Parents of the groom were hosts at the rehearsal dinner at the Biltmore Inn.

The bride, a graduate of Glenwood Hills Hospital School of Nursing, will be on the staff of Mt. Sinai Hospital after Jan. 1. The groom attended Luther College, Decorah, Iowa, and the University of Minnesota. He is field engineer for International Business Machines.

The couple will be at home at 2820 Blaisdell Ave. S., following a southern trip.

Birth of Tradition Anticipated In Joint Presentation of 'Messiah'

By FRANK UHLIG
Daily News Staff Writer

Listeners at next Sunday's performance of Handel's "Messiah" may be witnessing the birth of a tradition.

This is the hope of those organizing the presentation. Combining for the classic Christmas oratorio will be a chorus of 350 voices and an orchestra of 70 pieces.

Every one of the singers and musicians is drawn from the local community, including the three vocalists who will sing solo parts. Guest conductor will be Harold Cooke, formerly director of the Rochester Civic Symphony. The performance will be at Winona Senior High School auditorium, beginning at 8 p.m. Sunday. It is open to the public without charge.

Considerable care has been taken to keep the performance a local project by its instigators, Paul Parthun, R. H. McCluer and Mrs. Gerald Sullivan. Parthun teaches vocal music at the College of Saint Teresa. McCluer is orchestral music director at Winona State College, and Mrs. Sullivan is vocal music instructor at St. Mary's College.

It is by preserving the local character of the performance that it can be made into a nearly self-perpetuating annual event, these sponsors believe. To achieve this end, sparks of interest have been fanned among the city's college, church and school groups.

A MASSES CHORUS of 300 voices has been recruited. With church choirs and schools throughout the community as its sources, the chorus has rehearsed in sections, on staggered schedules, since early November.

Soloists will be Mrs. Frank Van Alstine, who is active in the St. Paul's Episcopal Church choir, Walter Hinds, professor of vocal music at Winona State College, and H. O. Christen, who has sung at public occasions and has appeared with the Winona Municipal Band.

Incorporated into the performance will be a children's chorus which will sing "He Shall Feed His Flock." The chorus includes 150 youngsters from all but two of the city's grade schools.

INSTRUMENTAL portions and backgrounds will be played by a newly organized community orchestra. Brought into being this fall, the orchestra, like the chorus, depends entirely on musicians from the community. A few are professionals and the rest are amateurs, all are bound together by the desire to share the rare experience of exploring classic musical literature.

The orchestra has been developed separately and already has played its first concert, an all-Mozart program presented last month at Winona State College. Collaborating with Parthun and McCluer in this effort was Eugene Vuicich, string instructor at College of Saint Teresa.

In addition to rehearsal, most of the chorus and a few orchestra members have participated in their first full-dress performance of the Handel oratorio. They traveled to Stout State University, Menomonie, Wis., last Sunday to join university musicians and singers in a performance there.

THE "MESSIAH" deals lyrically with the Biblical story of Christ. Part One tells of prophecies foretelling the coming of Jesus and the birth in Bethlehem; Part Two tells of Jesus' suffering and death; Part Three tells of the redemption of the world. Lyrics are based on verses in the Psalms, the Evangelists and the writings of St. Paul.

Klimek-Giemza Nuptials Held In North Creek

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special) — Nuptial vows were exchanged by Miss Susan Marie Giemza, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Giemza, Arcadia, and Frank L. Klimek, son of Mrs. Josephine Klimek, and the late Mr. Klimek, Nov. 27 at St. Michael's Catholic Church, North Creek. The Rev. Francis Disher heard their vows.

The bride, escorted down the aisle by her father, wore a floor-length lace gown accented with rhinestones. The fitted bodice featured long sleeves and three tiers of lace fashioned the bell-shaped skirt. A rose puff, edged and trimmed with seed pearls, held her veil of silk illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of white and red roses.

Miss Diane Khil, Arcadia, was maid of honor and Beverly Kuka, Independence, and Sharon Glemza, Fairchild, Wis., bridesmaids. Celine Glemza was flower girl. They wore floor-length brocaded gowns of royal blue with fitted bodices, sweetheart necklines, elbow-length sleeves, and A-line skirts fashioned with three knife pleats on each side. Each wore a single rose puff headpiece and short veils. They carried bouquets of pink and white mums and the flower girl carried tiny pink rose buds in the shape of a cross.

JAMES PATZNER, Fountain City, was best man and Bob Lasowski and John Kokott, groomsmen, Robert Schaefer, and John Klimek were ushers. The latter is of Ettrick. The bride's mother wore a two-piece cranberry wool suit and had a corsage of white roses. The groom's mother wore a royal blue wool dress and had a corsage of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Klimek

A wedding dinner for 50 guests was served at the Arcadia Country Club. A reception also was held there. The wedding cake was made by Mrs. Robert Schaefer. In charge of the kitchen were the Mmes. Connie Rohn, Alex Wozney, Rose Kupietz, and Peter Sossalla. Assisting were the Misses Marjorie Klimek, Rosemary Patzner, Donna Greenwald, Jane Schock, Patricia Ressel, Diane Pierzina, and Judy Rebhahn and Mrs. Peter Kupka.

The LaVern Blise Band, Independence, provided music for dancing.

The newlyweds are both graduates of Arcadia High School. She is employed at the A-G Hatchery and he is a meat cutter at Maloney's Meat Market.

They will make their home here.

The couple was honored at a pre-nuptial shower given by the bridal attendants at the Arcadia Country Club.

HILLCREST CLUB

BLAIR, Wis. (Special) — The eight-member Hillcrest Club will hold a dinner party Monday at the home of Mrs. John Hellekson. The afternoon will be spent wrapping Christmas gifts for the elderly and shut-ins.

Independence Gets Branch of Factory

INDEPENDENCE, Wis. (Special) — Independence will have a new factory building that will open about the first week in March. It will be a branch of Arcadia Manufacturing, Inc.

William Schroeder and Dan Smith, owners of the Arcadia industry, announced Wednesday the signing of a lease-purchase agreement with IMD for construction of the factory here. IMD is Independence Medical Development Corporation; it built the medical clinic here.

Smith said that because of the growth of business and the addition of a new line of products, Arcadia Manufacturing has need for additional facilities.

THE NEW plant will be used for assembling and finishing wood products. The type of work can be classified in two categories: Finishing of wood cabinets in walnut, pecan, mahogany, etc., for small electronic components, and printing of finish on wood, masonite or other synthetic products.

Most of the production will be for major electronic manufacturers and retail merchandisers.

According to Smith, Arcadia Manufacturing will employ about 25 when operations begin at the plant here and may increase to about 75. The work will demand more male than women workers — about three men to each woman.

Under the terms of the lease-purchase agreement, IMD will finance the cost of the building and will lease it to Arcadia Manufacturing. The monthly rental will amortize the cost of the building in 20 years. Then Arcadia Manufacturing may purchase the building at a minimal amount.

THE PLANT will be constructed at the east end of Elm Street in the Kampa addition on a parcel of land 400 feet deep and 360 feet wide, approximately 3.30 acres. The site has been donated by Cliff Kampa.

The building will have 12,576 square feet of floor space. It will be 120 feet long and 100 feet wide, with a paint storage room 24 feet square adjoining the structure on the east.

Duluth Man Rescued From Pile of Coal

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — An employee of the Duluth Steam Corp. heating plant was rescued today after being buried for two hours in pulverized coal which at times covered his head.

Joseph L. McTaggart, 61, was given emergency treatment for shock at the scene and then taken to a hospital.

His rescue from the finely ground coal, which sucked as though it were quicksand, was accomplished by fellow-workers and city firemen. Three rescuers used their bodies as cradles to ease the crush on McTaggart.

The accident occurred after McTaggart climbed to the third-story level of the steam plant to loosen coal in chute which feeds a furnace. When he failed to come down, Walter Hafnor, 52, Proctor Minn., went up and found McTaggart. The man had fallen into the chute and was buried to his waist.

Hafnor threw McTaggart a rope, secured the other end of the line and went for help. The fire department was called and Hafnor, with other employees, returned to aid McTaggart.

His co-workers pulled on the rope but McTaggart kept sinking in the coal. Rescuers tried to shovel the coal aside and twice McTaggart was about clear, but the coal slid back over him. The second time it went over his head.

McTaggart however, had clapped a hand over his mouth as the coal fell. Rescuers probed an oxygen tube through the coal and McTaggart placed it in his mouth to avoid suffocation.

Fire Capt. Warner Bush, fireman Richard Knutson and Hafnor, got into the coal with McTaggart and used their bodies as cradles to reduce the pressure of coal on the trapped man.

Firemen working on a catwalk above, finally got ropes under McTaggart's arms and hauled him out. Bush, Knutson and Hafnor were pulled out the same way.

Hospital attendants said McTaggart bore no immediate indications of injury, but he was being examined for possible lung damage resulting from inhaling the powdery coal. The man has only one lung, the other having been removed by surgery some time ago.

The Duluth Steam Corp., a private operation, sells steam heat to firms in downtown Duluth and the central area.

WIDA Discusses Development of Industrial Land

Possibilities of developing marginal land for industrial sites were discussed at a meeting of Winona Industrial Development Association members Thursday night.

About 25 members attended the meeting at Hotel Winona. Kenneth McQueen, president, said WIDA operations now are being coordinated with Chamber of Commerce activities. A membership drive by WIDA is now in progress, members were told.

Board members will likely investigate feasibility of utilizing swamp lands by dredging and filling and securing options on such properties for future industrial areas.

The dues structure calls for payment of $10, $20, $30 or $40. The 22 members present saw slides of Norway taken last summer by Carl Sexe.

Farm Outlook Better, Quie Says at Preston

PRESTON, Minn. — A rapidly increasing world demand for food coupled with substantially reduced federal surplus farm commodities spell a more optimistic future for American farmers in the years ahead, Cong. Albert H. Quie said here Thursday.

"We can only hope that surpluses will remain at such a low level that they cannot be used in future years to force prices down, as the federal government has done with copper and aluminum and in the past with wheat and feed grains," the fourth-ranking minority member of the House Agriculture Committee said.

He addressed a meeting of the Fillmore County Township Officers Association.

"There is no doubt that with the increasing world demand for food that even greater demands will be made of American farmers," he predicted. "Important to rural America is the fact that surpluses of all farm products with the exception of cotton are at controllable levels under the present programs. This means that farm prices can increase according to the demand, without being forced down by government dumping."

Quie noted, however, that the majority in Congress refused to take away the Secretary of Agriculture's right to dump surplus commodities, as the district legislator had advocated.

"I believe that development of future farm programs that will help American farmers meet world food needs should be done wisely, so that the Secretary of Agriculture cannot use U.S. surpluses to hold down domestic prices," Quie said.

Better Handles Developed for Electric Knives

Electric knives are constantly being improved.

To get the most use from an electric knife it needs to fit the hand and be easy to hold, says Nancy Gerner, Buffalo County home agent.

New designs and better models are helping to make the knife handles less bulky.

New styles may have a hole in the handle to give a better grip. Or the bulk may be moved to one end of the handle, with a thinner area for grasping.

The battery charged knives have a smaller handle because there is no motor in the knife. The knife goes into a re-charging rack when the knife isn't in use. These knives may cost twice as much as the knives with cords.

Check that the blades are easy to put on and take off. Have a place to store the blades separately and out of reach of children, Miss Gerner warns.

Note the controls to see if the "on" position is easy to reach and work. Check that the "off" position locks so there's no chance of the knife coming on unexpectedly. Never leave the knife plugged into the electric outlet when it isn't in use, she warns.

Make sure that the knife blades don't come on plastic counter tops, metal pans or cloth. Work on a cutting board. The knives are supposed to cut light cakes and breads as well as meats, cheese or other heavy foods, she says.

When the knife isn't in use store the blades separately, protecting the cutting edges of the blades to keep them sharp.

Area Cattle Sold To Californians

Four Wisconsin area farmers have partially heeded Horace Greeley's statement to "go west," but instead of going themselves, they sold cattle to the California Livestock Marketing Association in Sacramento, Calif., and sent the animals west.

Percy Missell, Strum, sold three; Lloyd Edison, Eleva, eight; James Benson, Arcadia, five; and Arthur Dworschak, Independence, nine. A total of 25 of the 75 head sent to California from the Altoona, Wis., Equity Co.-op Livestock Association yard.

Prices per hundred pounds ranged from $16.20 to $17.20.

Wool, Lamb Sales Slips Due Soon

LEWISTON, Minn. — Farmers who have completed their sales of wool and unshorn lambs for the year should send their sales slips into their Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office at once, according to Anthony Heim, chairman of the Winona County ASC Committee.

Heim said there are many who have not yet sent in their sales slips for the year, particularly on sales of unshorn lambs. He warned that all must be in by no later than Jan. 31, 1966, if the producer plans to receive government incentive payment on the sale.

The chairman said that sales slips on both shorn wool and unshorn lambs must bear the original signature of the buyer or his agent and the date of the sale. The name and address of both the buyer and seller must be shown.

Unshorn lambs must be identified on the sales document and their number and weight must be listed separately from that of other sheep and livestock sold in the same transaction.

Plainview Milk Patron Returns Total $96,000

PLAINVIEW, Minn. (Special) — More than $96,000 was returned to patrons of the Plainview Milk Products Association from fiscal year 1965, members of the association were told at their annual meeting Saturday.

Of this total, $19,000 was returned directly as dividend and $77,000 invested as capital credit.

Whole milk and skim milk volumes were both up more than 10,000 pounds from 1964. Gross returns increased $536,000 in 1965, from $4,386,904 to $4,922,319.

President William Rahman and Ernest Stoehr, a director, were re-elected to three-year terms.

LAKE CITY FARM BUREAU — LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special) — Lake City Farm Bureau will have its Christmas party Dec. 17 at the city hall in Lake City. Hosts will be the LaVern Asseson, Earl Hassler, Edwin Herman and Vernon Gerken families.

Meat Output Shows Decline Across Country

Minnesota and Wisconsin commercial slaughter plants suffered a drop in red meat production during October.

MINNESOTA — Cattle slaughter totaled 147,000 head, down nine percent from a year earlier but up one percent from September 1965. The average liveweight was 1,046 pounds for October, three pounds lighter than October 1964 and 16 pounds heavier than the previous month.

The number of calves slaughtered during October was 26,500 head compared to 30,500 head in October 1964. At 167 pounds, the average liveweight was eight pounds less than a year earlier and 16 pounds lighter than in September 1965.

Hog slaughter totaled 444,000 head during October, down 27 percent from October 1964 but less than one percent lower than during September.

Sheep and lamb slaughter totaled 91,500 head during October compared to 135,000 head in October 1964 and 75,000 head in September.

A record high number of cattle but near record low numbers of hogs, calves, sheep and lambs were slaughtered in WISCONSIN's commercial slaughter plants during October 1965. Total red meat production during the month amounted to 103,605,000 pounds. This was three percent more than in September but five percent less than in October a year ago.

The record high cattle slaughter in Wisconsin during October totaled 113,000 head, two percent more than a month earlier and 13 percent above a year ago. Average liveweight of cattle was 1,074 pounds or 19 pounds per head lighter than in October of the preceding 2 years.

Hog slaughter totaled 260,000 head compared to 327,000 head a year ago — a decrease of one fifth. Hogs were slaughtered at an average weight of 232 pounds. This was two pounds lighter than September's kill and seven pounds lighter than in October 1964.

Calf slaughter amounted to 83,500 head — the smallest number for October since 1951. Sheep and lamb slaughter dropped sharply from September. The 1,600 head was less than three-fourths of the number slaughtered a year ago and the lowest October number in records dating back through 1944.

NATIONALLY, red meat production during the first 10 months of 1965 dropped three percent — from 28,177 million pounds down to 25,418 million pounds. Beef was up one percent, veal up two, and pork, lamb and mutton were all down nine percent.

Arcadia Co-op Elects Directors

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special) — Roger Tamke and Marvin Veto were elected directors when the Arcadia Co-op Association held its 30th annual stockholders meeting Saturday.

Tamke was elected without opposition to succeed Gaylord Weltzien and Veto defeated Alfred Servais to replace Jerome Wozney.

Miss Rita Maliszewski, Arcadia High School and state FFA president, spoke.

John Swanson, Midland Cooperatives, Minneapolis, showed slides and told of the damage done to Midland property in Fridley, Minn., after the spring tornado struck that area. Fridley is the home of the district sales office and warehouse. In the last 10 years, Midland has tripled in size, Swanson said. On behalf of Midland, Swanson presented the Arcadia Cooperative Association with a plaque in token of 30 years of service to the Arcadia community. It was accepted by Clifford Nelson, local cooperative manager.

The Country Musicians entertained during the noon hour.

Social Security Topic At First Meeting of Spring Grove Class

CALEDONIA, Minn. — Medicare and other new social security regulations will be discussed by representatives from the Social Security Administration office, Winona, Monday at the first evening agriculture class. The meeting begins at 8 p.m. in the agriculture room of Caledonia Public School.

Future classes will discuss taxes, law enforcement, conservation and animal breeding and feeding.

The series of 10 meetings is sponsored by the Caledonia vo-ag department.

SHEEP SHEARING SCHOOLS — The 1966 Wisconsin sheep shearing schools will be Jan. 31 and Feb. 1 at Madison and Feb. 3 and 4 at the Spooner Branch Experimental Farm.

Two Area Boys Rank High in Corn Growing

Two area Wisconsin boys, Lonnie Lee, Independence, and Wendell Hovre, Galesville, have scored high in their state section of the Wisconsin FFA corn growing contest.

Lonnie placed second with a yield of 163.7 bushels per acre, and Wendell finished third with a 159.2-bushel yield.

The yields were made under the supervision of their vocational agriculture teacher. At the time the corn was weighed, shelled corn samples also were taken, a moisture test was made and the yield figured on the basis of No. 2 corn with 15 percent moisture.

Seventy high schools and 750 boys entered the contest from Section II, which includes Clark, Marathon, Jackson, Trempealeau, Eau Claire, Buffalo, La Crosse, Monroe, Lincoln, Langlade, Wood and Portage counties.

John Lucente is Lonnie Lee's vo-ag teacher at Independence High School. J. O. Beadle is Wendell Hovre's vo-ag instructor at Gale-Eitrick High School.

Rights Described In Constitution Topic for 4-H'ers

Four-H'ers will be studying rights of the constitution in preparation for the statewide radio speaking contest, Mrs. Sue Fisher, assistant state 4-H club leader at the University of Minnesota, has announced.

Members will analyze, in their own way, the topic, "Are the Rights Guaranteed by Our Federal Constitution Consistent With the Needs of Today's Society?" Four-H'ers are asked to consider whether current conditions in our society should dictate changes in the constitution in part or in its entirety, states Mrs. Fisher. It is felt that the 4-H members will have a better understanding of the constitution after doing the study necessary for a radio speech.

Each contestant must write an original speech five to seven minutes in length.

Houston County 4-H'ers may enter the county radio speaking contest Jan. 29 if they are over 14 but not over 19 on Jan. 1, 1966, adds Russ Kreech, Houston County agent.

The Minnesota Agricultural Extension Service and the Jewish Community Relations Council of Minnesota are co-sponsoring the competition for the 24th year.

Wool Incentive Boosted 3 Cents

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Lester Indrebo, chairman of the Trempealeau County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, has announced that the shorn wool incentive price of 65 cents a pound for the 1966 marketing year represents an increase of 3 cents over the present level. The price for pulled wool will continue to be supported at a level comparable to the incentive price for shorn wool. As in previous years, shorn wool payments will be equal to a percentage of each producer's cash returns from sales. The percentage will be that required to raise the national average price received by all producers for shorn wool up to the announced 65 cents-a-pound incentive price. Mohair payments will be determined in a similar manner.

Neighbors Pick Corn Near Mabel

MABEL, Minn. (Special) — Twenty-nine men with 10 corn-pickers and four elevators gathered at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vang, rural Mabel, and picked 70 acres of corn. The women served dinner and lunch. Ricky Vang, son of the Vangs, is in University Hospitals, Minneapolis.

Time Capsule May Be Used On Insects

Insecticides in time capsules. It sounds like something out of Buck Rogers.

It's not. It's here today — time capsules that release bacterial spores to combat destructive crop pests. U.S. Department of Agriculture entomologists have tested these capsules in the control of European corn borers — and they work. The scientists are now looking forward to trying the same technique with insecticides.

Coatings can be formulated so the capsules, applied at planting time, release the insecticide at various times throughout the growing season. This, the scientists say, would help protect pollinating insects and other organisms that otherwise might be exposed to insecticides applied as liquid or dust.

Two-State Fruit Growers to Meet

EAU CLAIRE, Wis. — Wisconsin and Minnesota fruit growers will learn how they may store apples twice as long by using "modified atmosphere storage" at a meeting Dec. 13 and 14 at Hotel Eau Claire, Eau Claire.

With present storage facilities growers can't store McIntosh apples later than January or February, explains University of Wisconsin fruit specialist George Klingbeil. Storage specialists have found that modifying the atmosphere — by removing some oxygen and adding carbon dioxide — will slow down the normal ripening process of apples. The method would allow growers to store McIntosh into May, June and July and maintain excellent quality.

Emil Anderson, University of Minnesota horticulturist, and Gordon Yates, Fruit Acres Orchards, LA CRESCENT, Minn., will discuss tissue analysis as a better means of determining fertilizer recommendations than soil tests. Research was conducted on apples from Yates' orchard.

Vic Leidel, La Crescent, is chairman of the Tuesday session which will be devoted to insect, disease and production problems.

A University of Wisconsin food technologist, Joachim VonElbe, will summarize results of experiments with the freezing and canning qualities of apple varieties grown in different parts of Wisconsin.

Also to be discussed at the two-day event are modern mouse control, present and future apple markets, insect control changes and fruit tree winter damage.

Spray Suggested For Plant Bugs

It's nice to have a plant around the house. The greenery brings a bit of summer to a room no matter what the season.

The trouble is, insects like them too. To get rid of the pests, U.S. Department of Agriculture entomologists suggest using an insecticide spray or dip rather than a dust. Sprays and dips usually give better control are less likely to leave objectionable residues, and don't drift to nearby objects as readily during application.

You may have trouble getting some kinds of plants wet. If a preparation doesn't readily spread over and wet a plant, the entomologists recommend adding one-half teaspoon of a mild household detergent (not soap) per gallon of spray or dip. The detergent gives the mixture more wetting power.

Pesticides are poisonous, so use them carefully. Follow the directions on the label and heed any precautions. Do not apply treatments to house plants indoors. Apply them outdoors or on the porch.

NFO Convention Told Farm Year Ends on Upgrade

Delegates from Jackson and Buffalo County National Farmers Organization (NFO) groups returned from the national convention with assurances that farmers are wrapping up one of their best years since 1952 and that the NFO has been instrumental in this success.

National NFO President Oren Lee Staley, returned to office for the 11th consecutive year, told the convention that six of the 15 largest meat processing firms in the United States are accepting meat from NFO marketing arrangements.

Delegates from Buffalo County were Dean Helwig, Mondovi, NFO county president; Wilmer Ziegeweid, Arcadia; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Boberg, Arcadia; Charles Helwig and Allard Norby, Independence; Arnold Weiss, Alma, and Lee Helwig, Mondovi.

Jackson County delegates at the Dec. 1-2 meeting included Glen Simonson, Taylor, county NFO president; Richard Gathie, Hixton; Lawrence Nelson, Taylor, and others.

Tobacco Harvest Advice Offered

Four suggestions for baling and stripping of the 1965 Wisconsin tobacco crop were issued today by the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, tobacco marketing cooperatives and buying companies.

The suggestions: Bale separately all good quality tobacco. Keep together the sound, high yielding and disease-free leaves. Keep the poor quality tobacco separate. Use regular tobacco twine when baling. Tie with a bow knot. Make strong bales with 8 to 10 inches of lap weighing not more than 45 pounds. Only properly handled tobacco will stay sound in storage. Tobacco placed under government loan agreements must be in a dry, sound and marketable condition.

Although harvesting and curing weather were generally unfavorable, the 1965 crop was produced under relatively good growing conditions, Francis Haugh of the department's marketing division reported. Market prospects appear favorable for dry, clean, good quality tobacco in all grades and classes of Wisconsin tobacco, he said.

Two Area Agents Named to Offices

Two Minnesota extension personnel from this area have been named new officers in state extension agents' associations.

Matt Metz, Wabasha County county agent, was elected to the board of directors of the Minnesota Association of County Extension Agents, and Mrs. Naomi Fruechte, Houston County home agent, was elected first vice president of Minnesota Association of Extension Home Economists.

The elections were held during the annual extension conference in St. Paul this week.

Wisconsin Cash Farm Receipts Increase 6%

Cash receipts from products sold by Wisconsin farmers in the first three-fourths of this year were 6 percent above the same 1964 period, according to the Wisconsin Statistical Reporting Service.

During the first nine months of 1965, Wisconsin farmers received $785 million from livestock and livestock products marketed and about $128½ million from crops or a total of nearly $911½ million. Cash receipts from both livestock and livestock products and crops were higher than a year ago.

Included in the total cash income from livestock and livestock products were larger receipts from meat animals mostly as a result of higher prices. The number of hogs sold was below a year ago but prices averaged much higher in recent months. Both the prices received for milk and the quantity marketed were above the first nine months of last year. Prices received for most of the crops sold by Wisconsin farmers were higher than a year ago with especially sharp increases in hay and potato prices.

Offsetting some of the increase in cash income over the first nine months of last year, are increased costs of farm production. The index of prices paid by farmers has been at an all-time high throughout the year.

Milk Production Down in October, Gains for Year

Wisconsin dairy herds produced 6 percent less milk in October than a year ago and output for the nation was off 2 percent, according to the Wisconsin Statistical Reporting Service.

The state's October milk production of 1,296 million pounds was 79 million pounds below a year ago and the lowest output for the month since 1960. Milk production was decreased from a year ago with about 1 percent fewer cows milked and 5 percent less milk produced per cow. Milk production per cow averaged 620 pounds for October or 30 pounds less than a year ago.

Milk production in the nation in October of 9,473 million pounds was 2 percent below a year ago. Most of the decreased output from a year ago occurred

Houston Fair Pays Expenses, Finances Gains

CALEDONIA, Minn. — The Houston County Agricultural Society was able to meet all expenses and make several improvements during the past year, society members were told at their annual meeting.

During 1965 more than $10,000 were used for major improvements and construction. Minor repairs cost nearly $950.

O. J. Strand, secretary, listed construction of a game concession building, a dressing room next to the grandstand, rebuilding of the hog barn and regular maintenance.

William J. Daley was named president of the Houston County Agricultural Society at its annual meeting recently. Other officers elected are Harold Poppe, vice president; O. J. Strand, secretary; F. W. Deters, treasurer, and Francis Brady, chairman of grounds committee.

Directors returned to office were A. B. Rosasen, Ed Albrecht, William C. Glasrud, Herbert Fruechte, Herman Forsyth, Robert Anderson, O. J. Strand. Junior Middendorf was elected a new director.

Fair attendance in 1965 was near 30,000. Exhibitors totaled 1,087 with 3,607 exhibits. Premiums paid amounted to $4,459.40.

Houston County's 1966 fair will be Aug. 24-27.

Garden, Lawn TV Series Scheduled

A 26-week television series covering garden and lawn topics will begin in this area Dec. 11. Subjects to be covered include landscaping, lawn care, fruit production, house plant care, flower arranging, insects and diseases of lawn and garden.

The following stations will televise the programs: Channel 5, KSTP, St. Paul, beginning at 7:30 a.m., Dec. 11; channel 10, KROC, Rochester, beginning at 1 p.m., Dec. 11; channel 13, WEAU, Eau Claire, time to be announced later.

The series is produced in cooperation with the University of Wisconsin Extension Service.

Dairy Cow Feeding To Be Discussed Here, Rollingstone

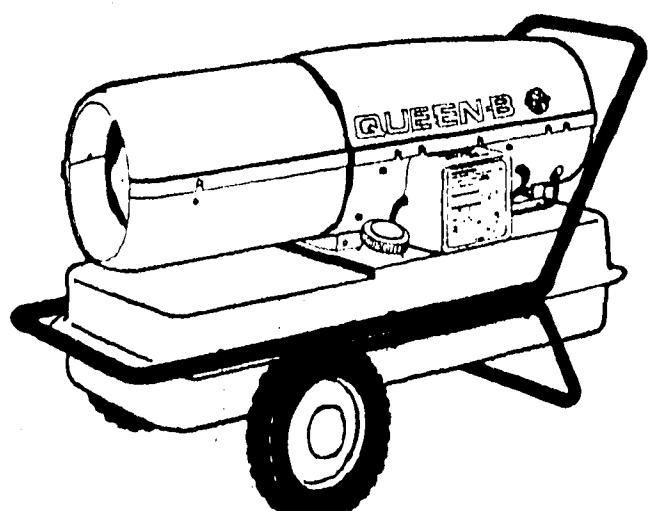

Care and feeding of dairy cows during periods of poor quality hay and frozen corn or corn silage will be discussed at meetings Monday in Winona and Wednesday in Rollingstone by John Januschka, agriculture instructor at Winona Vocational-Technical School.

Monday's meeting will be in the Senior High School ag room. Meeting at Rollingstone will be in the public schoolhouse. Both begin at 8:15.

Januschka will discuss protein, energy and mineral deficiencies, and economic methods to correct them. All area farmers are invited.

red in the North Central States where output was down in all states except Ohio. Production was below a year ago in Illinois, Minnesota, Iowa, North Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas, as well as Wisconsin.

During the first 10 months of this year, Wisconsin dairy herds produced 1 percent more milk than in the same 1964 period while output for the nation shows no change.

Brother of Selma Juror Witness For Defendant

SELMA Ala. (AP) — Defense witnesses — including the brother of a juror — have testified that one of the three white men charged with the murder of a Boston clergyman was making a telephone call when the fatal attack occurred on a Selma street last March.

Testimony placing the other two defendants away from the scene of the clubbing of the Rev. James J. Ray is expected.

Six defense witnesses took the stand Thursday after the prosecution rested its case in the first-degree murder trial of Elmer L. Cook, 42; William Stanley Hoggie, 37; and his brother, Namon O'Neal Hoggie, 31.

The three white men were indicted by a grand jury for the death of Ray last March 9. Ray, 38, a Unitarian minister, came to Selma to take part in a civil rights campaign.

Defense attorney Joseph T. Pilcher said he would produce evidence that an ambulance carrying Ray to a Birmingham hospital for brain surgery that night did not have a flat tire as claimed by prosecution witnesses.

Earlier Pilcher had said he would show that some civil rights groups had a motive to allow Ray's death and to make a martyr of the clergyman.

A key defense witness was Edgar B. Vardaman, whose brother, Harry C. Vardaman, is on the jury of white men.

Vardaman testified that he was with O'Neal Hoggie in a cafe across the street when Ray and two fellow clergymen were attacked. Vardaman said that Hoggie was making a telephone call when another witness, George Hamm, a retired Baptist minister, entered the cafe.

NEW DELHI (AP) — Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri announced today he is going to the United States Feb. 1 for talks with President Johnson.

EXTENDED FORECAST

MINNESOTA: Temperatures Saturday through Wednesday will average 4-10 degrees above normal. Colder Sunday, warmer Monday, colder Tuesday and Wednesday. Normal highs 18-26 north, 25-31 south. Normal lows -1 to 7 north, 7-14 south. Precipitation will average two-tenths to four-tenths of inch, mostly as snow north, rain and snow south, occurring mostly about Saturday and Monday.

WISCONSIN — Saturday through Wednesday temperatures are expected to average 6-10 degrees above normal. Normal high 23-30 northwest, 29-34 southeast. Normal low 6-14 northwest, 12-18 southeast. Only minor day temperature changes. Precipitation is expected to total around one-quarter inch water equivalent, occurring mostly as rain south and rain or snow in north over the weekend and again toward midweek.

Two-State Funerals

Major Flynn

PRESTON, Minn. (Special) — Funeral services were conducted today at St. Columban's Catholic Church, Preston, for Major Flynn, 78, who died Tuesday night.

The Rev. Joseph Mountain officiated. Burial was in Crown Hill Cemetery, with military rites by the American Legion Post.

He was born April 10, 1887, in Forestville to Thomas and Mary Foster Flynn and spent his entire life in the Forestville and Preston area. He never married.

He was a clerk in men's furnishing establishments here, the last 10 years at Gilbertson Clothing store. He was a veteran of World War I, serving overseas. He was a member of the American Legion and VFW.

Survivors are: One brother, George E., Farmington, and several nieces and nephews.

Mrs. Amelia C. Bacon

HARMONY, Minn. (Special) — Funeral services for Mrs. Amelia C. Bacon, 97, Iola, Kan., who died Dec. 3, were held Dec. 7 at Lansing, Iowa.

A former resident of Harmony, she was the mother of Mrs. Percy Yates here.

Robert J. Appel

KELLOGG, Minn. (Special) — Funeral services for Robert J. Appel, Greenfield Township, will be Saturday at 2 p.m. at Kellogg Methodist Church, the Rev. Robert Dunn officiating. Burial will be in Greenfield Cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Clem Heins, Francis and Charles Graner, Joy Maahs, John Hager and Norman Tentis.

Friends may call at Buckman-Schier's Funeral Home, Wabasha, from this evening to time of services. Casket will not be opened at the church.

Stolen Checks Cashed Here

Three stolen checks worth a total of $290.52 were cashed in Winona stores during the last week of November, Assistant Police Chief Marvin A. Meier reported today.

The checks were drawn on George's 66 Service, a Minneapolis gasoline station, and had the signature "George Lagerquist" forged on them in three different handwritings.

Meier warned Winona merchants not to accept such checks from people they do not know.

Sheriff George L. Fort noted Thursday that the state crime bureau wants to attempt identification of the handwriting in hopes of bagging the forger. He has asked the police department to send the checks to the bureau for analysis.

Assistant Chief Meier also issued a warning that the police department will have additional store details during the Christmas season on the watch for shoplifters.

FARMERS WIN

the plaintiff Thursday afternoon.

Morrison testified that he operated Inland Marine Sales of La Crosse during 1963, when he sold water conditioners to the defendants.

When an associate of his quit the business, Morrison told the court, he arranged with the plaintiff, Melbo, for the latter to do the installation and handle the notes on water conditioners sold by Morrison.

Although he was an affiliate of the Inland Marine Co., Milwaukee, Morrison said, he also arranged to sell the Lindsay equipment handled by Melbo. If he made a sale, Morrison explained, he would "buy" the unit from Melbo with the note he had obtained from the buyer.

MORRISON said that he transported the units to the buyer's homes; but Melbo sent out an installer under their previous agreement.

The Sparta man told the court that it was Mrs. Rinn who was the strongest in favor of buying a water softener, apparently because Morrison had pointed out to her the advantages of soft water in washing.

In regard to Shank, Morrison said that he went to the Shank farm to inquire about that farmer's efforts to improve milk production with conditioned water. Shank told him that he was having trouble getting proper aeration of the water, Morrison testified.

Morrison told Shank that he could sell him a water conditioning unit that would aerate the water with "citric crystals." After visiting a farm near Holmen, Wis., where Morrison had installed a similar unit, Shank agreed to buy a water conditioner from Morrison.

MORRISON told the court that he had several times used the figure of speech "big bertha" to describe the unit he would sell Shank.

Shank's equipment operated perfectly, Morrison said, although he had to substitute an acidifying pump unit for the citric crystal process, which had proved unstable.

Morrison told Rinn's attorney, Challen, that he had sold Rinn a water softener primarily for household purposes although he definitely believed Rinn could use soft water to increase milk production 10 percent (as was claimed in a clipping from "REA News" which Morrison showed Rinn).

Shank's attorney, Bergh, asked Morrison whether he had told Shank that the University of Ohio was "doing work" with acidic water for dairy cows. Morrison answered that he had. He got this information from a Galesville, Wis., cattle breeder, Morrison said, and did not promise Shank a 30 percent increase in milk production.

Bergh had earlier introduced in evidence a letter from the agricultural extension department of Ohio State University saying that they had never heard of experiments with acidic water for dairy cows and that they believed soft water had no effect on milk production.

SHANK testified, prior to Morrison. The farmer told the court that Morrison had represented his water conditioner as the answer to Shank's problems with aerating his cows' drinking water.

The St. Charles area farmer testified that he and his brother had experimented with soft water and water conditioning as far back as 1950. Between 1953 and 1955 they found that they got a 10 percent increase in milk production with aerated water, Shank said.

But Shank experienced difficulties getting the proper aeration. Morrison promised him a unit which he called the "big bertha," Shank said.

And when a man delivered a unit about the size of his home water softener, Shank said he told the man to take the unit back because it wasn't the one he had ordered. The man told Shank to take his objections to "Tiny" Morrison, Shank testified.

SHANK SAID he made his initial payments to Melbo's Lindsay service company. But he stopped making payments pending Morrison's appearance to hear his complaints about the size of the water conditioner. Meanwhile, he did not use the conditioner, Shank said.

Morrison, when he came, asked Shank, "Why did you ever let them put that thing in there?" Shank testified. But Morrison promised to get the right equipment if Shank would make a few payments in the meantime to "get the bank off his back."

Shank, by this time, was skeptical; and he made no payments until he got what he felt he had ordered. On Morrison's return, Shank told the court, the salesman told him that the citric crystal process—which used a big tank apparatus—was proving unstable.

So Morrison suggested acid in place of the crystals, Shank testified. The salesman told

Rain and Snow Head This Way

Although average temperatures in Winona and vicinity are predicted to be above normal through Wednesday, rain, snow and somewhat colder weather is slated to move into the area over the weekend.

Considerable cloudiness tonight and Saturday is the immediate forecast with scattered light rain or snow late tonight and Saturday. A light drizzle began falling at midmorning.

HOWEVER, NO important change in temperature is predicted for tonight and Saturday. Tonight the low is expected to be 20-25 with the Saturday high 34-42.

Scattered snow or rain changing to snow and turning colder is the outlook for Sunday.

The extended forecast for the next five days says average temperatures will be 4 to 10 degrees above normal daily highs of 25-31 and nighttime lows of 7-14. It'll be warmer Monday, said the weatherman, and then colder Tuesday and Wednesday.

Precipitation through Wednesday is expected to average two-tenths to four-tenths (melted) mostly as rain and snow, occurring Saturday and Monday.

TEMPERATURES in Winona moved in a narrow range in the past 24 hours with the high Thursday afternoon 38 and the low this morning 30. At noon today, under dripping skies, the temperature was 34.

With an inch of snow on the ground a year ago today the Dec. 10 high was 34 and the low 25. All-time high for the day was 52 in 1911 and the low -18 in 1918. Mean for the past 24 hours was 34. Normal for this day is 32.

A freezing drizzle was reported from some Minnesota communities today as the stormy weather moved into the state. It was raining at Redwood Falls and a heavy fog prevailed at Alexandria. Temperatures dipped sharply in the northern section of the state with the national low of 4 at International Falls, 7 at Bemidji, 6 at Hibbing and 9 at Brainerd.

Rochester had a drizzle with a morning temperature of 33 after a Thursday high of 38. La Crosse posted extremes of 29 and 37.

Heavy fog covered southeast Wisconsin Thursday morning and blanketed parts of the Milwaukee area in the evening.

Air traffic at Gen. Mitchell Field in Milwaukee was held up for four hours and nine flights were affected before a north-west wind swept the fog away. Several busloads of passengers were taken to Chicago's O'Hare International Airport during the Milwaukee airport shutdown.

High temperatures in the state Thursday ranged from 49 at Burlington to 31 at Park Falls.

The Superior area had 15 degrees for the low reading overnight while Milwaukee registered 37.

THURSDAY'S national high of 81 was reached at Kingsville, Tex.

HARMONY, Minn. (Special) — John Walsh, who lives at the Preston Nursing Home, celebrated his 90th birthday recently. He was honored at a dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walsh at Cresco, Iowa, by his brothers, sisters, nieces and nephews. The following day his grandchildren of Arlington Heights, Ill., and Fort Dodge, Iowa, brought him a birthday dinner.

him that Ohio University used acid in experiments and got a 30 percent increase in milk production, according to Shank.

SHANK AGREED to the change and sent in two payments, this time to the Coulee State Bank in La Crosse.

But the acid pump was installed in Shank's pump house and acidified the water flowing to his home as well as to his barn. After three or four weeks with no increase in milk production and the water too "rotten-tasting" to drink, Shank disconnected the pump and again stopped payments.

When Melbo called, saying he had bought Shank's note from Morrison, Shank testified, the farmer told him to come out and take back his equipment. Melbo told Shank that he "hated to get hard about it," and Shank replied that Melbo could get as hard as he wanted, then hung up.

(Morrison told the court that he sold Shank Inland Marine—not Lindsay—equipment. He admitted that he never stocked any larger size equipment than the kind that was delivered to Shank's farm.)

BERGH CALLED Culligan-man Raymond Benedett, St. Charles, as his final defendant's witness. Benedett testified that he wrote to Ohio State University about their supposed work in acidifying dairy cows' drinking water and received the reply which Bergh placed in evidence.

Benedett testified that he, like the man who answered his letter, believes soft water has no effect on milk production. However, he admitted that some farmers may hold a different opinion.

Judge Divides Assets of Business

A property settlement between two former Rushford, Minn., sawmill partners and award of a $200 cash credit to the plaintiff were ordered by Judge Arnold Hatfield in a case he tried last Friday in District Court.

In the matter of monies disputed between plaintiff Marvin Manion, Rushford, and defendant Orville Matteson, Rushford, the judge found that Matteson still owes Manion $200 in cash that was jointly owned by the partners.

JUDGE Hatfield found that since no books were kept by either Manion or Matteson, no strictly accurate accounting could be made.

However, he ruled on the basis of testimony by the partners last Friday, that Manion owns outright a 1951 GMC truck and a winch on the back of a 1947 International truck.

He ruled that Matteson owns outright the International truck and the sawmill.

Jointly owned were a sawdust carrier, a 1947 Ford tandem truck, a 1938 Ford winch truck, a John Deere bulldozer, a planer, a log turner, a 12-inch belt and a cant hook.

JUDGE HATFIELD ordered these actions:

That each party immediately take possession of the personal property owned outright by each. That, by Dec. 19, each party submit to District Court Clerk Joseph C. Page a sealed bid on the other's half interest in the jointly owned property. That each pay his own court costs.

The high bidder on the property will pay that amount to the other partner, but Manion is to be credited for his $200 in this transaction, Judge Hatfield ordered.

Albert Lea—Another in Long Line of Crucial Battles

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor

"Yes, we've got to have this one, and the next one, and the next one..." Coach John Kenney's voice trailed off in anticipation of tonight's Big Nine Conference battle at Albert Lea, just another in a long line of crucial contests the Hawks must win if they hope to keep Big Nine Conference title anticipations realistic.

Make no mistake, though Albert Lea was beaten 48-39 by Red Wing, the Tigers are held in no lowly light.

No. 1, the game — scheduled for 8 p.m. at Albert Lea's Southwest Junior High School gymnasium — marks Winona's first road trip. No. 2, the Tigers whipped what is generally regarded as a fine Orono club before running into a frigid shooting (29 percent) night at Red Wing. And, No. 3, the Cherry and Blue forces are operating under new coach Dick Nielsen.

Perhaps the third factor, more than either of the others, is a worry. A new coach brings a different mode of attack and defense — in general, a new style. And Kenney and assistant Bob Lee had no opportunity to sneak a peek at the Tigers.

"We definitely don't think they are as bad as that 29 percent they shot at Red Wing," analyzed Kenney. "We really don't expect too many different things from them, although we hope we're ready for anything they might try."

The bet is better than even-money that Albert Lea will resort to a methodical make-the-shots-good offense that emphasizes ball control.

Winona also will keep its shooting zone (a triangle from 12 feet on either side of the basket and running to the top of the key). But the Hawks do it off a running game that utilizes the rebounding power of 6-6½ Paul Plachecki and 6-4 Larry Larson and the drive of 6-1 Gary Addington, 5-11 John Walski and 5-9 Don Hazelton.

That will be the starting lineup, Plachecki going to the center circle for the tip, Walski and Larson playing at forwards and Hazelton and Addington, the team captain, at guards.

Also certain to play are 6-1 forward Lorenz Benz, 6-1½ forward-center Pat Hopf and 5-11 guard John Ahrens.

Benz aggravated a knee injury in an easy win over Owatonna a week ago, but got the doctor's okay Thursday. Once again, his condition, plus the flow of the game, will be the dictator of how much action he sees.

In experience, the Hawks have the best of it. Walski, Addington and Larson are lettermen. Addington and Larson were full-time regulars last year and Hazelton a part-time incumbent at a guard spot.

Plachecki, the leading "B" squad performer in 1964-65, will be meeting Albert Lea counterpart Dan Doty, who has graduated from being the Tiger "B" team's leading scorer a year ago to the top varsity point contributor this year.

From there, Nielsen goes with 6-2 Darrell Gavle and 6-3 Hollis Grorud at forwards and 5-10 John Vollum and 6-0 Chuck Slette at guards. All are juniors.

Aside from conference marks, the two teams will match 2-1 records. And it is essential the Hawks make that 3-1 overall and 2-0 in the conference tonight.

Baseball's Grand Old Man Is Dead

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Branch Rickey, the front-office genius who remade baseball over a span of 50 years, died Thursday night after lingering 26 days in a coma which overtook him while he was talking about courage.

Rickey had told a story of physical courage as he acknowledged his induction into the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame on Nov. 13.

Now I'm going to tell you a story from the Bible about spiritual courage," he said.

But he faltered, fell back into his seat and slipped to the floor. He never regained consciousness. His brain was damaged when his breathing stopped momentarily, but his heart picked up its rhythm again.

Through 26 days there was little change. Thursday seemed no different, but at 10 p.m. he died. He would have been 84 on Dec. 20.

Mrs. Rickey, who had been his grammar school sweetheart in Ohio, and Mrs. Stephen Adams, one of their five daughters, had just left the hospital after one of their day-long vigils. Mrs. Rickey had been there every day and the daughters had been with her by turns.

The body was taken to St. Louis, where the Rickeys have lived since he rejoined the Cardinals in 1962 as a consultant.

Rickey had a heart attack as long ago as 1958 and left a hospital in St. Louis to attend the Hall of Fame ceremony in Columbia. He had been running a temperature up to 105 and was supposed to return to the hospital in St. Louis for further study about courage.

Redmen Face Tough Fight

Ken Wiltgen was happy with the St. Mary's basketball team's last trip. But he'll be even happier if the Redmen's next trip (Saturday night) is a success.

The men from Terrace Heights open Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference competition tonight at St. Peter against Gustavus Adolphus, a team picked by many as a title contender in the loop. Game time is 8 p.m.

"I was pleased with getting everyone in the games on the trip, and they all did well," said Wiltgen of the two-game road trip that saw St. Mary's chalk up victories No. 2 and 3 of the season in as many games.

"WE DIDN'T see a man-to-man except for the first two minutes at Stevens Point," the Redmen coach continued. "We hit three quick layups and they went out of that in a hurry. But I wasn't too disappointed. St. Norbert's pressed us the whole game and we handled it pretty well."

Besides two victories, the trip also gained St. Mary's something else, eight seasoned ball players and one new starter. Ward Hertstedt will move into a George Hoder going to the starting forward position with vot. Jim Murphy will go to the bench.

"Murphy did fairly well coming off the bench for us on the trip," said Wiltgen, "and I think this new combination will give us a little more scoring punch."

St. Mary's may be playing without the services of starting guard Jim Buffo, however. Buffo has been troubled by swollen glands, but according to Wiltgen, the 6-1 sophomore will play unless he is bed-ridden.

THAT LEAVES captain Roger Pytlewski and Jerry Sausser to round out the starting five, with Murphy, Tom Keenan and Dennis Ludden on the bench as first-line reserves.

Getting back to defenses, Wiltgen said, "I'm sure Gustavus will throw a man-to-man at us. They're big and they're tough underneath."

The St. Peter five, 1-2 for the season, counting a shellacking at the hands of the Phillips 66 Oilers of the AAU, are led by 6-5 sophomore Al White and 6-3 guard Bill Laumann. It will be the first conference game for both teams.

WARRIORS WIN, EYE JACKS

Win String to Stop at Single?

DUBUQUE — That's one in a row for the Winona State Warriors, but all the oddsmakers will lay you 10-1 that the current winning string of Bob Campbell's boys will end at one.

With Dave Meisner pouring in 21 points in the final half, Winona came from behind to trim Loras 82-79 Thursday night. Saturday night the Warriors return home to clash with a powerful South Dakota State team of the potent North Central Conference.

The invading Jackrabbits' record isn't too impressive at only 1-2, but the Jacks' losses came at the hands of Drake and Tulsa.

When the season began, South Dakota State coach Jim Marking had feared that rebounding would be the team's weak point, but the Jacks held their own with the much taller Drake and Tulsa crews.

Instead, shooting was the problem as SDS has mustered no better than a 35 shooting percentage this season.

Marking has been alternating Rich Larson, Larry Tompkins and Bill Iverson at forwards, while Ron Otterness has been the pivotman. Vern Schoolmeester, a sophomore from Edgerton, and Tom Timpona are the guards.

The Warriors, on the other hand, are still likely to be without the services of 6-3 guard J. D. Barnett for the 7:30 p.m. tilt. Barnett missed the Loras game because of water on the elbow.

Tonight, South Dakota State will warm up for Saturday's game by playing an 8 p.m. game at Mankato State.

But in Thursday night's losing streak breaking victory over the DuHawks, it was just a case of catch up all the way for the Warriors.

Winona trailed 15-2 after the first six minutes of action, but then the tide began to turn. Winona cut the gap to 44-38 at the half. But the momentum didn't appear to carry over through the half-time intermission as Loras hung on to a slim lead for the next 19 minutes.

But with 43 seconds on the clock Meisner swiped a pass then drove the length of the court for a layup that put the Warriors on top for the first time at 80-79.

Loras took several shots at the basket but ended up kicking the ball out of bounds and Winona took over. Tim Anderson hit both ends of a bonus free throw with eight seconds to go and bring Winona's record to 2-4.

Meisner finished with 26, and Anderson had 21. Mike Jerecek continued to show his stepped up scoring ability with 15.

But perhaps even more important than the point production was the Warrior rebounding which got off to such a miserable start in that first six minutes. Anderson finished with 15, Jerecek 14 and Charlie Neal 12 caroms in the balanced board contest.

And that's the type of rebounding Campbell expects from the Warriors Saturday night against South Dakota State.

"Actually they're not much bigger than we are in inches, but they're heavy and they move around pretty well," said Campbell of the Jacks. "We'll see them tonight at Mankato for the first time."

Besides the comeback effort of his squad, the Winona coach was also pleased with the off-the-bench play of three reserves in the first half. Bill Werner, Mel Homuth and Chip Schwartz came off the bench to let the Warrior regulars take a breather, and although the trio only accounted for four points (all by Werner) they didn't let the game get out of hand.

"The kids did a heck of a job coming from behind like that," summed up Campbell. "For the first time they didn't let the officials' calls bother them. They just kept battling back."

Nett likes that punch coming off the bench and that's probably where Tom Leaf will be when the Ramblers play Wabasha St. Felix tonight in an 8 p.m. tilt at the St. Mary's gymnasium.

Leaf, a six-foot forward for Cotter, has hit 25 points in three games for an 8.3 average. That is second only to Jim Holmley's 13-point average.

"That's good," says Nett of Leaf's ability to come off the bench and score. "Tom has always been a fair shot, and he's rugged. He can work underneath the basket and not be moved around. That's probably his biggest strong point."

LEAF WILL be on call when the Ramblers need him tonight, but the starting Cotter lineup will be made up of Jim Holmley, Mike Twomey, Chuck Kulak, Tom Wenzel and Bob Allaire.

Although happy with Cotter's first victory of the season Tuesday night over Faribault Bethlehem Academy, Nett was a trifle dismayed.

"We really didn't learn a heck of a lot because they didn't give us that much competition," Nett frankly stated. "We did begin to use the fast break, and we'll work on using it tonight against St. Felix."

THE RAMBLERS also did by far their best rebounding job of the season against Faribault, but much of that could be attributed to a wide height advantage. Cotter will enjoy much the same advantage tonight against the short Yellowjackets whose roster does not list a man over 6-0.

"Twomey has been doing an adequate job on the defensive boards," said Nett, "but we've lacked consistency on the offensive board. We did a better job against Faribault, though. The charts don't give a real indication of how well we did because we had a lot of tips."

BUT THE Ramblers biggest problem — defense — wasn't given a severe test by Bethlehem. Nett hopes that St. Felix will give his charges something better to work and learn against.

After tonight's game, Cotter takes a week layoff before meeting Rochester-Lourdes in Rochester a week from tonight.

Tony Hinkle must be wondering when he will get victory No. 500 in his long career as a college basketball coach.

Now in his 37th year at Butler, Hinkle has had the door marked No. 500 slammed in his face for two straight nights. Ohio State did it Wednesday 75-74. Michigan State did it Thursday 75-56.

"Naturally I'm disappointed, but not necessarily about that 500th," Hinkle said. "These things even out."

Hinkle's next chance at No. 500 comes Saturday afternoon when Butler plays at Purdue.

Hinkle's won-lost record going into the game at East Lansing was 499-327. It was close until the Spartans went on a 15-1 spurt late in the first half and Butler never caught up. Shannon Reading paced the Spartans with 18 points.

Another veteran coach, Hank Iba of Oklahoma State, had better luck. His Cowboys beat Arizona State 61-49 at Stillwater for Iba's 721st career victory. Chad Brown, with 16 points and 30 rebounds, led Iba's crew.

Navy went three overtimes to defeat Oregon State 59-55 in one of the other features on Thursday's comparatively slim national program. Ninth-ranked Bradley, the other team in the Associated Press Top Ten to see action, made it four in a row by whipping Creighton 88-79.

Badgers Off To Texas, Eye Houston Game

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Wisconsin's basketball team leaves today for Texas and its final test before Tuesday night's Big Ten opener against Illinois.

The foe in Texas will be Houston, which boasts what Badger Coach John Erickson considers a good big man in Elvin Hayes.

"He's 6-foot-9 and against Brigham Young he blocked a dozen shots and scored 25 points," Erickson said. "When we beat Notre Dame some people said we didn't have any height to contend with and that we'd have plenty of trouble against a team with a good big man. Well, here's a good chance for us to see what we can do."

Houston has lost twice, to Brigham Young and San Francisco, but Erickson isn't taking the team lightly.

"Houston is a real strong team but I think we can beat them if we're at the top of our game," Erickson said.

Colt Defense Bolstered, Starr Back With Packers

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts will have their defense bolstered for their crucial clash against the Green Bay Packers here Sunday, but that may not be where they need the most help.

Ordele Braase, who missed three games because of a pulled groin muscle, will be in the lineup at defensive right end for Baltimore.

And Don Schinnick, who returned to the practice field Thursday for the first time since fracturing his arm Nov. 7, may be back at the corner linebacking spot behind Braase.

With a spot open on the roster because of the knee injury which has sidelined quarterback John Unitas for the season, Schinnick will be reactivated even if he is unable to play Sunday.

"If Schinnick doesn't get in this week," Coach Don Shula said, "he'll be all set to go against Los Angeles the following week."

Braase and Schinnick undoubtedly were missed during their absence, which forced a lot of personnel shuffling by Shula.

Even so, the Colt defense held the Chicago Bears to a meager 13 points last week. But the offense, bogged down by late, wasn't able to score and Baltimore lost its second decision of the season.

That left the Colts with a 9-2-1 record, only a half-game ahead of Green Bay 9-3 with two weeks of the season remaining.

A victory Sunday will give the Colts their second successive Western Conference crown and move them into the National Football League title game against the Cleveland Browns. A Green Bay victory will leave the conference championship in doubt until the final week, with the Chicago Bears 8-4 still in the running.

In Gaithersburg, Md., where the Packers are practicing for the vital game, quarterback Bart Starr rejoined the team Thursday.

Starr jammed the ring finger on his passing hand in a pre-game warmup last Sunday, and shared the quarterbacking duties with Zeke Bratkowski.

The Packers, best in the NFL on defense, need all the help they can get on offense.

Eagles in Ninth With 1,077 Tilt

Eagles Club and its firing pin Del Prodzinski made bowling news in Winona Thursday night, adjusting the team game department with a 1,077 that moved into ninth place on current listings.

With Prodzinski firing 247, the quintet used 218 from Joe Kierlin, 213 from Dick Seeling, 181 from George Squires and 142 from Bob Cada, plus 76 pins of handicap, to round up the 1,077, building that into a Hal-Rod Eagles League-topping 2,602 series.

Art Moore took series honors with 176-224-215—615 for Schlitz Beer and Prodzinski finished with 614, sandwiching the 247 between lines of 199 and 188. Marty Wnuk converted the 6-9-10.

Willard Critchfield's 168-203-229—602 led Dale's Standard to 2,935 in the Westgate Classic League.

Rich Chuchna's 212-223-165—600 led Clark and Clark to 1,048. Louie Wera pounded 198-157-182—537 errorless for Dale's.

Tops on the distaff side was Lonnie Kuhlman's 198—527 for Sportsman's Tap in the Westgate. Pin Drops circuit. KAGE tagged 984—2,513 and Edith Tschumper came up with 187—508.

HAL-ROD LANES: Powder Puff — Marge Moravec's 204—514 carried Winona Insurance to 917. Bakken Construction shot 2,570. Joan Young cracked 510 and Mary Emmons 505.

WESTGATE BOWL: Keglerette — Leona Lubinski pounded 183—511 to lead Lawrence Furniture to 2,482. Winona Truck Leasing's league leaders tipped 854.

Bay State—Boscoe took team honors with 966—2,729 to increase its lead to six games. Marlin Wohler hit 195 for Bouncers and Butch Wiczorek 527 for Top Scores.

WINONA AC: K of C — Barky Weaver tipped 301 and Bill Burmeister 525 for Weavers. Merchants National toppled 901 and Briggs 2,615.

Ladies — Alvina Meier's 217—459 led Stein Oil Co. to 903. Koehler Body Shop shot 2,519. Converting splits were Martha Briesath (5-8-10), Rose Joswick (6-7-10), Helen Selke (4-7-10) and Judy Platt (5-7-9).

RED MEN'S: Ladies — Bernice Kratz 191—472 shoved Schmidt's to 849—2,361.

Nugent Booted At Maryland

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Tom Nugent has been dismissed as football coach at the University of Maryland.

University Athletic Director Bill Cobey announced early today that the contract of the 51-year-old coach would not be renewed after it expires Jan. 15.

Nugent, who directed the Terps to a 36-34 record during his seven-year reign, was apparently not surprised at the decision of the school's athletic council.

When informed, he called the action "satisfactory, under the circumstances."

The circumstances mentioned by Nugent would include this year's 4-6 record with a team he called before the season opened as potentially the best in his time at Maryland.

Robinson Says: 'Who? Okay'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frank Robinson is going from Cincinnati to Baltimore, Bill White denies he's 31 going on 37 and the Chicago White Sox still insist they're going to name a manager.

Those were the latest developments on the major league baseball front Thursday with the major item the trade sending the slugger Robinson to the Orioles in a multi-player exchange that actually cost Baltimore six players.

White charged that the St. Louis Cardinals, who traded him to Philadelphia recently, had put out reports adding six years to his age in an apparent attempt to justify the much-discussed transaction.

And the White Sox denied a report that former infielder Grady Hatton, currently managing one of Houston's farm clubs, had been contacted about succeeding Al Lopez, who resigned as Chicago manager last month.

Robinson, a 30-year-old right-handed swinger who hit .296 last year with 33 homers and 113 runs batted in, went to the Orioles in exchange for pitcher Milt Pappas and two players recently acquired in trades — reliever

Jack Baldschun and outfielder Dick Simpson.

Considering that the Orioles had to give up first baseman Norm Siebern to get Simpson from the California Angels and had to let outfielder Jackie Brandt and pitcher Darold Knowles go to get Baldschun from the Phillies, Robinson's acquisition left Baltimore shy three spots on the roster after dealing away six players.

Robinson, who had been dangled as trade bait by the Reds throughout the baseball meetings despite a 10-year career in which he has averaged over 100 runs batted in and 32 homers a year, didn't seem upset about the deal.

Mrs. Robinson said her husband got the word as he was leaving the house to go bowling.

"The Reds called him up and said he had been traded," she said. "He just asked them who he had been traded for. They told him, he said okay, and left."

Pappas, who had a 13-9 record and a 2.60 earned run average last season, said he was "shocked" because when the baseball meetings ended without a trade "I thought I was out of danger."

Van Brocklin Is Juggling Again

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Coach Norm Van Brocklin — searching for a way to shake the Minnesota Vikings' losing streak since 1962 — has announced four lineup changes for Sunday's game at Detroit.

The Vikings, 5-7, shoot for fifth place in the Western Division of the National Football League and attempt to snap a four-game losing streak against the Lions.

Van Brocklin said Thursday that Billy Ray Barnes will start at halfback in place of the injured Tommy Mason, who underwent surgery this week on his right knee and is out for the remainder of the season.

Other offensive shakeups have Tom Hall starting at flanker in place of Jim Phillips and Hal Besole manning the tight end spot, replacing Gordie Smith.

The line defensive change sees Lonnie Warwick returning to left linebacker instead of Roy Winston.

Coached by former Viking assistant Harry Glimmer, the Lions are a half game ahead of Minnesota with a 5-6-1 record.

Detroit won an earlier contest 31-29 at Metropolitan Stadium.

The four-game talisman is the longest for Minnesota since the 1962 team lost five straight at the start of that season. The Vikings also lost four straight the following year.

Mason's loss will be sorely felt. He was credited with reviving the offense last Sunday before being hurt late in the Green Bay game. He had gained 101 yards in 20 carries to push his season total to 597 yards in 141 attempts for a 4.2 average. He was eighth among NFL ground gainers.

The 30-year-old Barnes is a seven-year NFL veteran, and was acquired by the Vikings in August in a trade with the Philadelphia Eagles. He has seen little action, running 17 times for 72 yards.

Associated Press Sports Writer Jack Hand of New York picks the Lions to win the return match 21-17, and adds:

"Sturdy Lion defense figures to blunt Vikings' attack and everybody scores on Minnesota."

Hof-Brau Is Leader in Indoor Play

INDOOR SOFTBALL

Hof-Brau 4, Old Style 2, Peerless 3, Oasis 1, Lang's 2.

FRIDAY'S RESULTS: Hof-Brau 5, Old Style 2, Peerless 3, Lang's 1, Sunshine 6, Oasis 2.

Hof-Brau, though out-hit 6-5, leads the Indoor Softball League today following a 5-2 victory over Old Style Lager Thursday night.

What that means is a four-way tie for second place. Oasis fell 8-2 before Sunshine and Peerless Chain pushed past Lang's 3-1.

Hof-Brau got two hits from Max Singer to make Roger Czaplewski the winner. Even Don Merchlewitz's four hits and Kiki Williamson's six-strikeout pitching couldn't win for Old Style. Hank Gerth doubled for the winners.

Oasis tagged Tom May for five hits, two each by Cliff Kan and Richard Pett, in taking its win. Pett's was the big blast, a homer. Jack Rader doubled for Oasis.

Steve Loshek, with a home run, drove in all of Peerless Chain's runs. Merle Sovereign got two hits to help winner Tom Kulas, who gave up two hits. Pete Jerowski was tagged for four hits, but struck out 11.

FOUR SWIM MEETS SLATED

Hawk Matmen to Test Second-Ranked Tigers

"You don't get ranked second in the state by having one or two strong individuals," said Winona High wrestling coach Dave Moracco. "You have to have an evenly balanced team."

Unfortunately, Moracco was not talking about the Winhawks, but about tonight's opponent Albert Lea which will invade the Winona High mats for a Big Nine clash.

The Tigers, 42-7 conquerors of Red Wing last week, will be bringing in a veteran team that tied for the Big Nine title last year.

"I don't see a weak spot," said Moracco of the Albert Lea lineup. "It's going to be tough all the way, but we don't plan to go out and lay down on our backs. If we have the hustle we had last Friday, we'll hold our own and let them know we're here to wrestle."

The Hawks lost a 24-21 decision to Owatonna in the opener last week and primarily the same lineup will go against Albert Lea. The lineup stands as follows: 95, Rick Pomeroy; 103, Doug Breza; 112, Wes Streator; 120, Steve Miller;

127, Jim Dotzler; 133, Gary Ellis; 138, Ron Hoover; 145, Tom Radfield; 154, John DeGallier; 175, Jeff Lueck; and heavyweight, Tom Becker.

At 165, Moracco is still unsure of whom he will be wrestling. Neither Todd Spencer or Dick Henderson have recovered from injuries suffered two weeks ago.

The 'B' squad match will start at 6:30 p.m. with the varsity set to go at 8 p.m.

Tonight, Winona State's crew is at La Crosse in a triangular, while the Winhawk tankers are at Mankato. Saturday afternoon, Winona High is at home against Eau Claire North and the Warrior host Mankato State.

Bob Gunner's Winona State wrestlers get their first activity of the season Saturday night at Stevens Point in a quadrangular meet which also includes La Crosse and Oshkosh.

St. Mary's hockey team went after its second straight MJAC victory this afternoon at 5 p.m. against Concordia in Aldrich Arena in St. Paul.

Winona State's wrestling lineup at Stevens Point will include three freshmen and four sophomores.

At 115 will be sophomore Butch Myhre of Spring Grove, with Rochester freshman Glenn Tolmont at 123. Roger Jehlicka, a freshman from St. Paul Park, will be at 130, with the Warriors' two senior co-captains, Perry King and Leo Simon, grappling at 137 and 145, respectively.

Moving into the heavier weights, junior Merle Sovereign is at 152, with Alexander Ramsey freshman Jim Tannehill at 160. Ray Wick, a sophomore from Decorah, Iowa, goes at 167. Harmony Junior Dan Scrabeck at 177, sophomore Steve Drange at 191 and sophomore John Zwolinski at heavyweight.

Scrabeck was hard-pressed to win his starting spot. He had to go two over-times before nudging freshman Ron Moen in the wrestle-offs and barely eked out a decision over Tom Prescious in the final.

Letterman Steve Baird, who couldn't make the 150 weight, Len Knutson and Larry Wedemeier will not see action for the Warriors.

HELPING HAND... Marin Erwin of Niagara appears to be getting a boost from Richie Dyer of New York University, but actually Erwin was watching his shot drop through basket and Dyer was falling after collision between the two. Erwin was credited with the basket, but charged with a foul for collision that occurred after he got his shot off. NYU won the nightcap of a doubleheader in New York Thursday night by a score of 103-73. (AP Photofax)

Toms Do Nothing to Alter Plan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

St. Thomas held its early standing as the team to beat in the Minnesota Intercollegiate basketball race — but by only six points Thursday night.

The Toms beat Minnesota - Duluth 67-61 at Duluth after taking a 38-29 halftime lead and a 51-35 margin midway through the second half.

UMD battled back with 12 straight points after that, and closed to four points with 2½ minutes left, but the Toms had too much momentum and retained their unbeaten status.

Dan Hansard had 22 points for the Toms and Jim Gornick led Duluth with 14. St. Thomas now is 5-0, UMD 1-3.

Minnesota - Morris climbed out of a 60-60 tie with Macalester and held only a 63-60 lead with 3½ minutes to go until Roger Schanser hit four points to put the game out of reach and give Morris a 73-63 victory.

Morris, the home team, led 44-32 at the half. Schanser led the scoring with 29 points. The Scots' Gordon Cochran was second with 19.

In games tonight, South Dakota State visits Mankato State and Wahpeton, N. D., is at Bethel in St. Paul.

COLTS 20-17 CHOICE TO WIN

Jack Hand, Associated Press sports writer, gives Baltimore a 20-17 nod over Green Bay Sunday in the NFL's key football game.

Hand states that the Colts' more consistent attack and the field goal kicking of Lou Michaels will be the difference.

IOWA'S LOSS?

And Now, By Gosh, We've Kept Coach

NEW YORK (AP) — "It's been a great season for Dartmouth," said football captain Tom Clarke. "Undeclared, Ivy League champions, the Lambert Trophy — and now, by gosh, we've kept our coach."

Coach Bob Blackman confirmed the latter Thursday when he announced he had decided to turn down a lucrative offer at Iowa and remain at Dartmouth, perhaps for the rest of his coaching days.

Blackman, 47, made the announcement at a luncheon when he accepted the Lambert Trophy emblematic of Eastern football supremacy. The Lambert Cup, for the Eastern small college champion, went to Maine.

"This was the toughest decision I ever had to make," Blackman said in turning down the Iowa job that had a potential value of about $300,000 over a 10-year period.

"I must have changed my mind 100 times," Blackman said the Iowa offer was for more than $20,000 a year, plus a $10,000 television contract for up to 10 years. He is believed to make about $18,000 a year at Dartmouth.

Blackman, a native of Iowa, had been sought by the school to succeed Jerry Burns, fired a few weeks ago. Blackman visited the Iowa campus last week. Iowa finished last in the Big Ten this year and had a 1-9 record.

MORE FOR ONE

Reshuffling To Occur?

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The number of high schools in Minnesota's eight regions would be substantially shifted under a redistricting plan submitted Thursday to the District Officer's Association of the Minnesota State High School League.

The plan was presented by an eight-man committee of school superintendents appointed by the league's Board of Control to establish a basis of discussion in revamping membership in the regions.

Most affected would be representation in the state high school basketball tournament. Beverly Hill, executive secretary of the league, said it is likely that any plan for redistricting would be submitted to a formal vote of member schools.

G. T. Norswong of New Richmond, president, said the board has the power to redistrict, but "it has reached no conclusions nor does it intend to pursue a hasty conclusion of a pressing problem."

Present regions were established in 1929. Cambridge Superintendent M. W. Norsted, head of the committee, said an informal poll showed all regions but 6 and 8 as heavily in favor of the realignment.

The biggest reshuffling would be in Region 5, which would be reduced to include only Hennepin County. That would cut membership from 60 to 29 schools and total enrollment from 88,920 — or 28.7 per cent of the state's total — to 74,832.

Region 4 would be pared from 56 to 33 schools with present enrollments of 75,412 students to 61,364.

The number of schools in Region 1 would increase from 63 to 71 with a jump from 34,851 to 39,499 in enrollment.

Region 2 membership would increase from 59 to 79 with enrollment climbing from 22,541 to 29,046.

In Region 3, the number of schools would rise from 63 to 75 with enrollment jumping from 21,515 to 35,712.

Region 6 membership would increase from 74 to 77, but student enrollment would drop from 35,112 to 32,927.

The number of schools in Region seven would remain the same, 58, but some reshuffling would increase student enrollment from 33,831 to 39,921.

Region 8 membership would be increased from 60 to 73 with a jump in enrollment from 19,920 to 27,208.

Principal objection from Regions 6 and 8 stemmed from shifting much of District 23, including Moorhead, Hawley, Detroit Lakes, Frazee, Perham and several District 24 schools, including Wadena, from Region 6 into Region 8.

Someone Will Score 105th Win Saturday

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Winning his 105th football game is a thrill for any coach and two coaches have an opportunity to do that here Saturday.

Coach Paul Durham of Linfield, Ore., and Coach John Gagliardi of St. John's, Minn., send their squads against each other for the national small college football championship. Durham has a 104-47 mark in 18 years while Gagliardi is 104-23-3 for 23 seasons.

The battle between unbeaten St. John and once beaten Linfield is expected to feature a clash between a powerful running game employed by the Minnesotians and the Oregon team's passing attack.

"It will be their power against our passing. Nobody goes inside on St. John and nobody seems to be able to go outside on them. We'll have to find their weak spot."

"No, I can't say that. They don't have any weak spot. We'll have to find their least strong point," Durham said.

Linfield's fullback, Odis Avritt, has a leg injury but is expected to play. He is the only injured player on either squad.

Falcons, Stout Risk Unbeaten Marks Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

River Falls and Stout put their unbeaten records on the line tonight in games that feature a heavy card of Wisconsin State Universities Conference basketball.

Stout, considered the prime contender for the conference crown, seeks its fourth straight win and third straight in WSUC competition against winless Whitewater at Whitewater.

River Falls, also 3-0 overall and 2-0 in the conference, has a tougher job on its hands. Its opponent is Platteville, which will have the home court advantage in seeking its fourth win in five starts.

Platteville looked strong in whipping Whitewater last weekend 89-80 in its only previous conference game.

Elsewhere in the WSUC, Eau Claire, 0-1 in the conference and 1-1 overall, visits Oshkosh, which has split four games including two in the league. Rounding out the program is the Superior - Stevens Point game at Stevens Point.

Stout sank Superior 81-70 Monday night leaving the losers winless in three starts including two in the conference. Stevens Point is also a 100 percent loser in three outings, including one conference appearance.

Give Enough Chances and It's All Over

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Guy Rodgers of the San Francisco Warriors apparently believes in the old adage that if at first you don't succeed, try again. Try again, try again.

It took Rodgers that many tries—the last after a boner by Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson—to finally sink a foul shot with five seconds remaining and clinch the Warriors' 110-109 victory over the Royals Thursday night in the only National Basketball Association game scheduled.

The Warriors led 109-107 with five seconds remaining in the game played at Dayton, Ohio, when Rodgers was fouled and went to the foul line with three chances to make two points. However, the usually accurate Rodgers missed all three.

But Rodgers, playing despite a bad ankle, got a good break on his final shot when the referee ruled Robertson had left the free-throw lane too soon. Rodgers then was awarded another foul shot — his fourth — and made it for a 110-107 lead that made a final Royal basket meaningless.
