Chance of Flood in 1966 Unlikely, Engineer Says

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The severe floods which struck western Wisconsin this spring are not likely to recur next year unless heavy winter snows are followed by ice coating the ground during the runoff, an engineering expert indicated Monday.

Heavy fall rains already have contributed to potential spring floods, but Lt. Col.

Leslie B. Harding said this was probably the least of the factors involved in causing disastrous overflows. Harding, district engineer at St. Paul, Minn., for the Army Corps of Engineers, said the question of spring floods would depend on the amount of snowfall, the rate of melting, whether rains accompany it, and whether frozen ground prevents water from soaking in. Harding told the natural resources committee of state agencies that a rapid breakup of snow affected by alternate freezing or thawing or by heavy rainfall would increase the danger. But the engineer added, "A major flood is not likely to occur unless all these factors prevail."

Gemini 7 Gives Australia a Scare

SPACE CENTER, HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Bearded and beginning to itch, astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell raced on in their record-busting space flight today after giving Carnarvon, Australia, a few scary moments.

Both the Gemini 7 spacecraft and the five-year-old Echo 2 satellite showed up in the skies over Carnarvon at the same time, and seemed to be converging on a collision course. As residents gasped at the sight, the two vehicles appeared to collide, but the North American Air Defense Command at Colorado Springs, Colo., said they actually were in orbits 434 miles apart.

Gemini 7 entered its 147th orbit at 8:30 a.m. (EST). Borman and Lovell woke up this morning scratching and gripping about the food. "We're starting to itch a little—getting kinda crummy," Borman reported.

In the tenth day of the demanding 14-day mission, Borman said "Jim and I have been noticing the days seem to be lengthening a little."

Traveling at five miles a second, Gemini 7 kept turned in with preparations to launch Gemini 6 from Cape Kennedy. The firing, scheduled for Wednesday, would culminate with the first rendezvous of orbiting space ships.

Mission control reported that the Gemini 7 orbit, once circularized at 185 miles, had gotten a little lopsided. The high point now was 187.5 miles and the low 183.6 miles.

"It's a fine journey," was the message to earth as Borman and Lovell neared the 4-million-mile mark in their 14-day voyage, topping more space flight records along the way.

The pilots, bearded by now, eclipsed the individual endurance mark held by Air Force Col. L. Gordon Cooper Jr., who amassed 228 hours and 16 minutes on his Mercury and Gemini 5 flights. It was an unenviable record setting at 11:46 p.m. EST Monday—both astronauts slept.

Gemini 7 began its 147th orbit at 8:30 a.m. (EST).

Launch teams at Cape Kennedy, Fla., labored long hours to ready a mighty Titan 2 booster rocket for a second try to start Gemini 6 on a 17,500-mile-an-hour chase after Gemini 7 at 8:37 a.m. (EST) Wednesday.

LeVander, Hat In Ring, Raps Rolvaag Reign

Harold LeVander

SOUTH ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Another Republican candidate for governor has warmed up the Minnesota political front with a sharp attack on the Rolvaag administration.

Harold LeVander, South St. Paul attorney, coupled his criticism of the Democrats Monday with implied endorsement of the sale tax. He said that tax reform is just one of a host of challenging problems confronting Minnesota.

The 55-year-old attorney declared his candidacy for the nomination in next year's election at a testimonial dinner attended by some 400 persons at South St. Paul Junior High School.

He touched on issues of morality, education, attraction of industry, metropolitan problems and conservation—among other topics.

LeVander declared that in visiting about the state the past few years he'd found a lot of people are deeply concerned about the future of Minnesota.

He added: "How can we make progress, they ask, if a governor can't get along with the legislature, kicking them in the ribs 13 times and then expecting them to docilely prearrange the apportionment of our state?"

He was referring to "kicks" to the vetoes by Gov. Karl Rolvaag of measures passed by the legislature earlier this year.

"Why can't we have leaders who are willing to speak frankly, forthrightly and consistently...?" asked LeVander. "Why must we have scandal in the Statehouse?"

"Why should we not face squarely the overriding need for tax reform? Why must we have a governor who divides and creates dissension, rather than seeks to inform, unite and lead our people?"

Taking up the tax issue, LeVander said that real and personal property levies had increased 400 per cent since 1946. But in the same period the assessed value of property subject to the property tax has gone up only 78 per cent, he added.

He said it was heartening to see that some of the associates of the governor and lieutenant governor (A.M. Keith) do not share "their dogmatic and archaic positions" on taxation.

"It may be," said LeVander, "that we can soon get to the point where leaders of both political persuasion will agree that not all sales tax proposals are merely wicked devices to shift taxes on to the poor. They shouldn't be and don't have to be."

Keep Plugging

In this modern electric era, all a woman has to do to keep her home running is to keep plugging... Poem about Christmas toys: "Words on a box to make a man tremble: 'Instructions so simple a child can assemble'..." A local fellow notes that jet travel has its drawbacks: "It means my wife can be home from Miami Beach faster..." The really cautious man is one who looks both ways before crossing a one-way street... Some people will start the new year with hopes. Others will just start high.

Japanese Labor Opposes U.S. Viet Policies

TOKYO (AP)—Domei, the moderate Japan Federation of Labor, ended a two-day executive meeting today after adopting a policy statement opposing the presence of U.S. troops in Japan in peacetime.

Domei, organized last year, is affiliated with the middle-of-the-road Democratic Socialist party and has a membership of 1.8 million.

U.S. Planes Bomb Red Escape Route

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Marines called today for heavy blows from the skies to cut off Communist escape routes on the seventh day of Operation Harvest Moon 350 miles northeast of Saigon.

U.S. jets seared the ground with napalm after the elusive Communists fired on U.S. Marine helicopters lifting a Leatherneck infantry unit into blocking position to prevent the flight of elements of the big Communist force by river.

As the massive U.S.-Vietnamese sweep south of Da Nang attempted to tighten the vice,

U.S. Air Force B52s pounded suspected Communist positions for the third straight day, blasting huge craters in the river valley battleground.

"Beautiful," exclaimed the commander of the Marine task force, Brig. Gen. Jonas Platt, as the aerial barrage rained down on targets near the town of Viet An, 32 miles south of Da Nang.

While the Communists played hide-and-seek with several thousand Leathernecks and Vietnamese troops, helicopters carried Marines from Viet An to lookouts over the Chang River to overtake Viet Cong trying to escape to Laos.

The airlift drew bullets from across the river, but the Marines retaliated with artillery, mortars and an air assault that sent up huge balls of fire over the valley.

Marine officers said the air blows halted movement across the river and estimated their bag of enemy dead in the week-long operation at 600, although only 127 bodies were reported counted.

Vietnamese units claimed 570 of the enemy died in their second week.

to, bringing to nearly 1,200 the total of claimed enemy dead.

The Marines said their overall losses were light, although one Leatherneck company was hit hard in a helicopter landing last week.

In Washington, a Pentagon list of U.S. casualties issued Monday showed 27 Marine deaths in recent fighting. The exact period for the toll was not announced but it obviously included losses in the Harvest Moon operation.

Vietnamese forces took heavy casualties at the start of the operation when an elite ranger battalion was virtually wiped out and a rescue column badly mauled.

Radio Hanoi claimed a victory for the Communists, declaring that the Viet Cong had killed, wounded or captured 1,050 men, including 20 Americans, in the initial action last Wednesday and Thursday.

In another sector of "Death Valley," the Marine name for the 20-mile-long battleground, Viet Cong troops aimed small-arms fire at a Marine platoon and fled. They were presumed to be part of a Viet Cong force believed to total up to 3,700 hard-core fighters which Operation Harvest Moon aimed at wiping out.

Although the Communists refused to come out for a showdown fight, Marine patrols hauled out evidence of the magnitude of the Viet Cong force. In the hills near the hamlet of Que Son, they found an abandoned guerrilla training area Monday and large stores of the gray and black cloth used by the Viet Cong for their pajama uniforms.

Combining the hastily evacuated Viet Cong camps, caves and tunnels, the Marines also turned up large stores of flashlight batteries, almost 60,000 pounds of rice and 20,000 pounds of tea.

Showing how fast troops were being shifted to match the speed and mobility of the Viet Cong, U.S. officials reported Marine helicopters lifted more than 2,200 men in Operation Harvest Moon in the 24-hour period ending at 6 p.m. Monday.

Although the Marines and Vietnamese troops could not lure the Viet Cong into another major clash, pockets of Communists showed their presence even in some presumably secure areas. A helicopter in trouble sat down on a beach opposite Tam Ky, 38 miles south of Da Nang. The crew was picked up by another helicopter, but before the downed chopper could be recovered, the Viet Cong blew it up.

Closer to Saigon, units of the 101st Airborne Brigade uncovered a maze of camps big enough for a regiment 35 miles northwest of the capital, U.S. spokesmen reported.

Troops of the 1st Infantry Division came on two camps 15 miles north of Saigon. One had already been destroyed by bombs and artillery, and a dead Viet Cong with a submachine gun was found in the debris.

A U.S. Air Force spokesman said raids on North Viet Nam were canceled because of heavy rain storms.

Communist China again ruled out any peace talks except on Communist conditions, which include the complete withdrawal of U.S. forces from Viet Nam.

Rusk Asks NATO To Back Up U.S.

PARIS (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk called today for greater Allied understanding and support of the American war effort in Viet Nam and warned that the fate of the North Atlantic Alliance might be decided on the distant battlefields there.

The American secretary of state told the annual meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's foreign, finance and defense ministers that a Communist success in Viet Nam might lead to new Communist adventures elsewhere.

Rusk spoke behind closed doors at the opening of the 15-nation policy review. Spokesmen relayed his words to newsmen.

British Defense Minister Denis Healey, deputizing for ailing Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart, supported Rusk's argument.

Rusk said U.S. commitments in various parts of the world to halt the spread of communism represent a "main pillar of peace."

While Southeast Asia is a long way from the frontiers of Europe, he continued the United States cannot and will not choose between various commitments. He implied that to do so would destroy the credibility of NATO itself as a defensive shield for the Western world.

He asked America's allies what would happen to the confidence and conscience of the American people if they were asked to pick and choose which of their solemn commitments to maintain.

What would it mean, Rusk went on, if Americans honored a commitment in one part of the world and set it aside in another?

Rusk asked the Allies to provide doctors and engineers for Viet Nam. This apparently was an appeal for a psychological demonstration of support. He made no call for any military commitment from the Atlantic Allies. Further, Rusk urged the NATO Allies to give their sympathy for what the United States was doing in Southeast Asia and to end any carping and criticism.

The French, in particular, have been critical of American actions in Viet Nam. Some of the other NATO Allies also have had whispered reservations.

Conference sources said this was Rusk's basic thesis: If the Communists are going to continue to believe that the United States will fight to defend Western Europe, the Reds must be shown that the Americans will not allow Southeast Asia to be overrun.

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—A massive air search was organized today for a plane carrying the U.S. director of space medicine missing since Sunday on a flight over the rugged mountains of Colorado and New Mexico.

Dr. W. Randolph Lovelace II, 57; his wife, Mary, 53, and pilot Milton Brown, 27, Albuquerque, left Aspen, Colo., en route to Albuquerque about 12:30 p.m. Sunday and haven't been heard from since. The flight would take about two hours.

Goodfellows Concert at WSH Tonight

The band, orchestra and choir of Winona Public Schools will present their annual Goodfellows Concert at 8 p.m. today in the auditorium of the Senior High School.

This is a Christmas project that the choir, orchestra and band has sponsored for the past five years.

A varied program will be presented by the three groups. Parents, particularly, are urged to attend this first concert of the school year, and all Winonans are cordially invited.

Some Smaller Flood Claims Disallowed

Claims for private flood damages last April and costs of private dikes totaling $131,300 were declared ineligible for Office of Emergency Planning reimbursement by OEP inspection teams here Monday.

The ruling was made in a supplemental engineers inspection report to city officials. The OEP team, comprising Army Corps of Engineers personnel, approved $76,088 in private levee expenses that were deemed to have protected property in addition to that on which they were built.

CITY officials and department heads had included a total of $207,388 of such damages in a request for additional OEP funds. The supplemental request, which they expect to complete in about 10 days, will be the city's third application for disaster reimbursement funds.

In two previous requests, the city has received a total of $1,390,000. The primary request

IN DISTRICT COURT

Views Differ on Term Explosion

Differing definitions of what an "explosion" is came from two expert witnesses Monday afternoon in District Court in a suit by a Winona County farmer to obtain compensation from his insurance company for a destroyed silo.

The case went to the jury late this morning after arguments by the opposing attorneys and instructions in the law governing the case by Judge Arnold Hatfield.

ATTY. DUANE M. Peterson, representing the farmer, Harold T. Zitzow, rural Dover, called David E. Hamerski, 105 W. Howard St., as his expert witness. Hamerski teaches physics at Winona State College.

The WSC instructor gave as his opinion that the Zitzow silo exploded Aug. 13, 1964, under the pressure of a nearly full load of silage which Zitzow had been filling it with early that month.

Hamerski said that the silo could have been weaker in the hot weather of early August than it would have been in the

2 Surprised In City Court

Maybe it was the season. Two Winona motorists found out today in municipal court that "the law" can admit it isn't always perfect either.

Robert J. Milleville, 1670 Kraemer Dr., was charged by police Monday night with going through a stop sign at Winona Street and the Milwaukee Road tracks. He posted $10 bail and appeared today in court to plead to the charge.

IT WAS found, however, that the red stop sign, posted by the city several feet in front of the railroad crossing sign with its old-style yellow stop sign, was missing.

So Milleville appeared in court today to find that City Prosecutor James W. Soderberg wanted to move for a dismissal of the charge. Judge John D. McGill ordered the charge dismissed and Milleville's bail refunded.

A driver who entered a guilty plea to a charge of driving after suspension Saturday in municipal court got his fine money back after he produced evidence that he was not informed of the suspension until after the alleged violation.

Allen R. Hazelton, 18, Winona R. 2, pleaded guilty Saturday to a charge of driving after suspension that day at 4:35 a.m. at Gilmore Avenue and Clark's Lane. Police informed him, after contacting the state, that his license had been suspended following an October accident.

Hazelton paid a $35 fine and went home.

THERE, HE found a letter from the state Highway Department waiting. Mailed Thursday evening, the letter informed Hazelton of the suspension.

City Prosecutor Soderberg agreed with Hazelton that he should not be penalized for a violation committed ignorantly. Judge McGill today dismissed the charge against Hazelton and ordered his fine refunded.

Three Federal Aid Projects Recommended

Applications for approval of three projects in the Winona public schools to improve the education of culturally and educationally deprived children were approved Monday night by the Board of Education.

If authorized, the projects would be financed by federal aid made available by Congress under provisions of Public Law 89-10.

School Board

SUPT. OF Schools A. L. Nelson said that some 10 areas had been explored for possible requests for authorization under the federal law and that of these discussions with the administrative staff indicated that three probably rated top priority for establishment here.

These include:

- An ungraded junior high school program to assist students with reading problems. In each of the three junior high schools, groups of such students would be organized to work half-days with a teacher for work in English, mathematics, social studies and science and the remainder of the day in regular classes.

- A nursery school program to afford culturally deprived pre-school children an opportunity for social experiences which will assist them in making satisfactory adjustments to the classroom when they enter the regular school program.

- A remedial and developmental reading program for elementary school children with special problems in an effort to help them attain capabilities at their normal grade level.

THE COST of the three programs has been estimated at around $80,000 and would be financed entirely by federal funds.

Nelson said that if approval of these three projects is realized they might be inaugurated at the beginning of the second semester.

He said that study will be made, meanwhile, of other possible projects which might be undertaken under provisions of the new law and those that are determined to have potential value will be presented to the board for consideration for future application.

IN OTHER business Monday the board approved payrolls for: Homebound teachers, $1,134; substitute teachers, $952; evening school instruction, $2,492; miscellaneous instruction, clerical work and other services, $1,229; work study program, $202; Manpower Development & Training Act program maintenance, $173; noon hour supervisors, $729; cafeteria helpers, $504 and custodial helpers, $70. Overtime payments to custodians of $464 and cooks, $13, were approved.

Attending the meeting were Board President Lawrence Santelman and Ray Gorsuch, 1st Ward; Dr. L. Korda, 2nd Ward; Dr. C. W. Rogers, 3rd Ward; Franklin Tillman and Daniel Sadowski, 4th Ward, and David F. Wynne, director-at-large.

THE Durand debate team captured first place in both divisions of the Hiawatha Valley debate tournament Saturday at Hastings, Minn.

Durand will play host Saturday to its first invitational debate tournament in history with over 25 schools from Minnesota and Wisconsin participating.

In the varsity division last weekend Durand emerged the only undefeated team after three rounds of debate. The affirmative team of Barbara Morey and Gary Weckin defeated Orono, Benilde and Bloomington Kennedy schools, while the negative, Mary Shafer and John Hess, won over Sibley, St. Paul Park and Stillwater.

In the B division, an all-sophomore unit also was undefeated, capturing first place. James Forster and Mary Spindler, affirmative, defeated Chippewa Falls McDonell, Lakeville and Red Wing and the negative pair, Kathy Forslund and Nancy Morey, won over Richfield, St. Agnes and Benilde.

The Durand squad was led by Mary Shafer with 42 points, followed by John Hess, 41, and Barbara Morey and Gary Weckin, each with 40.

Two other Durand teams were in action at Menomonie. One unit, composed of Jane Bartholomew and Donna Schober, affirmative, and Christine McNaughton and Randy Bauer, negative, won 4 and lost 2, to place third. A second unit composed of all freshmen won 2 and lost 4 in the B division. The freshmen debaters were Barbara Heike and Mary Jean Scholers, affirmative, and Suzanne Sperger and Marie Duesterbeck, negative.

Preston Man Critically Hurt

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special) — A young Preston man is in St. Marys Hospital, Rochester, today with a broken neck received in an accident near Rushford Monday night.

His companion received minor injuries when the car went out of control for 350 feet; parts flew off as the vehicle rolled and went end over end.

MOST seriously injured was Wayne A. Hahn, 22, of Preston. He was unconscious when moved from the scene by ambulance to Community Memorial Hospital, Winona, and transferred to Rochester.

THE YOUNG men were proceeding west. At the curve just east of the bridge, the car hit the guard rail on the right side; crossed the driveway to the Marvin Brand farm, which is to the right; sheared off the corner of the guard rail on the west side of the driveway; proceeded along the edge of the shoulder outside the guard rail for about 90 feet; dropped down about 15 feet into the ditch; speeded over small trees and brush for about 170 feet; traveled over a 5-foot slough with the car as it went out of control. His arms and legs are paralyzed, a Rochester physician reported this morning. His condition is critical.

He was unconscious when moved from the scene by ambulance to Community Memorial Hospital, Winona, and transferred to Rochester.

about 1½ feet of water in it; hit a dike bank along the river east of the bridge, and then wheeled around. It stopped on its wheels facing east, the way it had come.

Pfeiffer, according to the Highway Patrol, also apparently was thrown out. A La Crescent coach found him walking toward Peterson about three-quarters of a mile west of the accident. An unidentified woman took him to Community Clinic, Rushford, where he was treated for lacerations of the face, the right side of the forehead and the right arm. He also was bruised.

IT WAS several minutes before Hahn was found. The Brands, watching television, heard a sound like the ripping and rasping of a building being razed. Mr. Brand and son, Robert, 18, heard someone call, "Wayne, Wayne."

Mr. Brand telephoned Russell Anderson, Rushford policeman. When he arrived he called the Rushford fire department, fearing that Hahn may have landed in the water. It was then 9:48 p.m.

Before the department arrived Hahn was found lying among the small trees over which the car had passed. He was about 295 feet from where the car hit the first guard rail.

Over the entire path the car traveled, parts were thrown—a door here, a fender there and the radiator stripped free and lying near where it stopped. The top was almost sheared off.

The muffler lay by the first guard rail.

Pfeiffer's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Mern Pfeiffer.

Judge Orders Judgment in Vulcan Case

Judge Arnold Hatfield ordered a $711 judgment against the defunct Vulcan Manufacturing Co., West 3rd and Wilson streets, for an insurance policy purchased late in 1963.

Allied American Agency Inc., represented by Attorney William A. Lindquist, won the default judgment Monday after a District Court hearing before the judge. Vulcan went out of business after a mortgage was foreclosed against it June 9.

Judge Hatfield made the order after reading the affidavit of Paul E. Hines, Lexington, Ky., district credit manager of the corporation, and reading the rest of the file in the case.

Hines alleged that Vulcan bought two policies on product liability for bodily injury and for property damage for the one-year period beginning Dec. 28, 1963. Vulcan canceled the policies Feb. 21, 1964, owing Allied American $711.38, Hines claimed.

Judge Hatfield ordered Vulcan to pay the insurance company that amount plus the costs of the court action. Vulcan was not represented at the hearing and did not try to defend in the action.

Judge Approves Default Divorces

Two default divorces were granted Monday morning after District Court hearings before Judge Arnold Hatfield.

Mrs. Audrey Ford, 43, no address given, won findings for a default divorce from Charles E. Ford, 48, serving with the armed forces in Germany. Mrs. Ford testified that her husband tried to persuade her to accompany him to Germany two days after their marriage.

Although she refused to go, Ford went to Germany and has not been back since, Mrs. Ford testified. Her sister, Mrs. Joan Voigt, no address given, testified in corroboration of Mrs. Ford's allegation of cruel and inhuman treatment.

The Fords were married April 15, 1964, at Caledonia, Minn.; they have no children. Mrs. Ford won the right to regain use of her maiden name of "Scarboro."

Attorney Dennis A. Challeen represented Mrs. Ford. Mrs. Phyllis J. Hoffman, 22, Dresbach, Minn., won findings for a default divorce from Ronald E. Hoffman, 25, also of Dresbach, on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment.

Mrs. Hoffman won custody of the couple's four children. The Hoffmans were married May 14, 1960, at Grand Meadow, Minn.

Mrs. Hoffman and her mother, Mrs. Ethel Dewey, Dresbach, testified in support of the cruel and inhuman treatment allegation. Attorney Leo F. Murphy Jr. represented Mrs. Hoffman.

Detailed Costs Asked On 3 Tech School Sites

A detailed listing of comparative cost data on three sites under consideration for placement of the new Winona Area Vocational-Technical School was requested Monday night by the Board of Education for presentation to the city Planning Commission.

Board action is the aftermath of a decision by the City Council earlier this month to defer action on a school board recommendation that an area in the East End in the vicinity of Siebrecht's greenhouse be designated as the new school site.

THE COUNCIL had asked that the Planning Commission take the matter under consideration and submit a recommendation to the Council action. Last week school board President Lawrence San-

Teacher Salary Discussions Set For Next Month

School board discussion with the public schools teaching staff on a salary schedule and other contractual matters for the 1966-67 school year have been scheduled tentatively to begin early next month.

At Monday night's meeting of the Board of Education, Superintendent of Schools A. L. Nelson said that representatives of the two teachers organizations — the Winona Education Association and the Winona Federation of Teachers — had expressed an interest in beginning consideration of contract matters as soon as possible, perhaps this month.

WITH THE Christmas holidays approaching board members felt that it might be difficult to schedule such a meeting this month but suggested that perhaps the teachers might be advised that a meeting with their representatives could be arranged early in January.

The procedure will probably be much the same as that followed last year when a joint committee of teachers met with the board as a whole at several discussion sessions.

Directors Monday also approved a resolution concerning with contractual matters involved in school construction for which federal funds are solicited. An immediate case here would be the Winona Area Vocational-Technical School which will be financed in part by federal aids.

THE RESOLUTION, which must be adopted to qualify a project for federal aid, spells out numerous qualifications which must be met by contractors on such jobs. These include compliance with established wage rates, adherence to provisions of the Fair Employment Practices Act which prohibits discrimination for reason of race, creed, color or sex and other matters.

Board Clerk and Business Manager Paul W. Sanders was authorized to attend a nine-day workshop scheduled by the University of Minnesota graduate school for school business managers in January and February.

Heavy Snow Warning for Parts of State

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Weather Bureau issued a heavy snow warning for central and northeastern Minnesota, with six inches or more expected to cover the ground by Wednesday morning.

The storm will be accompanied by northeast winds of 15 to 25 m.p.h., the forecast said. Temperatures will remain moderate, in the 20s in the west and 25 to 30 above in the eastern section of the state.

telman had reviewed for commission members the background of board site deliberations.

The commission had asked that the board submit information on the potential sites including the Siebrecht area, an area at Wincrest Addition and a tract near St. Mary's College referred to as the Knopp farm.

School directors began to compile this data Monday night at a meeting with W. W. Ward, a member of the architectural firm of W. Smith Architectural & Engineering Services, Winona, which has been retained by the board to draft plans and specifications for the new school building.

WARD submitted a list of cost estimates on site preparations in each of the areas under consideration.

- The area immediately west of Siebrecht's — bounded by old and new Highway 61 — would have more than 40 acres available for school construction. It was estimated that cost of site preparation here would come to around $60,000. This would cover the cost of topographical work, involving an estimated 7,000 cubic yards of fill to bring the construction site to desired grade level, costing $5,000; $15,000 for sewer and water extensions (the exact cost would depend on the location within the tract of the school) and compaction required in sub-soil preparation, costing $40,000.

- The Knopp farm site cost — all of these are exclusive of actual acquisition costs — was estimated at $118,000, including $67,700 for excavation, backfilling and compaction, and $50,000 for water and sewer extension.

- At Wincrest the cost was estimated at $38,000, covering $2,000 required for leveling of the construction site and $36,000 for sewer and water extensions.

STILL undetermined are the land acquisition costs. The property adjacent to Siebrecht's and owned by Winona Management Co. and Arthur Noeske has been the board's first choice as a site and an option is held on an 18.5-acre strip owned by Winona Management which can be purchased at $987 an acre. No formal negotiations have been made with Noeske as to the price for his acreage adjacent to and west of the Winona Management strip.

Dr. C. W. Rogers said that he thought that the presentation to the commission should contain some specific data on acquisition costs. The board is retaining John Steffen, a Winona real estate appraiser, to make an appraisal of the entire tract under consideration and Dr. Rogers said that he thought the appraisal should be obtained, together with an architect's recommendation on specific placement of the school on the site, for consideration by the commission.

DIRECTOR-at-Large David F. Wynne asked whether the board should advise the commission of various other factors which figured in board considerations of the various sites and directors agreed this should be done.

The architect was asked to prepare a statement of cost estimates on various sites as far as preparation and utility extensions are concerned, the appraiser will be asked to submit his appraisal as soon as possible and hopes were held that perhaps a presentation might be drafted next week for submission to the commission.

Gallant Betty Bacall
Battles for Her Show

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Lauren Bacall's a gallant lady. Betty's had a lot of battling to do in her life for principles she believed in or people she loved, and she's in another one now with her new show, "Cactus Flower," which she wants to see become a long-running hit.

Betty was hoping the common folk will like her show. The other morning . . . taking the kisses and applause from the Broadway pros for her role as dentist's nurse in "Cactus Flower" . . . when I, hoping to be provocative, said, "If this is a hit, are you going to become overbearing?"

"Was I over?" she said. "Was I 20 years ago when I had a right to be?"

"You were the first one to call me 'Baby,'" she said. "Don't lose it up."

She was remembering a night in the 1940s in the 21 Club when Humphrey Bogart, leaning across a drink, holding her hand, said to me, "When I get a divorce, I'm going to marry 'Baby.'"

THEY HAD given me a helter-skelter scoop.

Time passes. Now it appears that Lauren Bacall and her husband Jason Roberts, of "The Devils" are Broadway's new "Lunt & Fontanne" and must do a show together. "We just haven't found a script," Betty said.

"Anyway, I'm going to be busy a long time in this . . ."

Pedestrian at Duluth Killed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pedestrian fatally injured at Duluth and a man driving a car that collided with a big truck in western Minnesota are the state's latest traffic victims.

Eric Carlson, 65, Duluth, died at a hospital Monday from injuries suffered last Thursday when hit by a car on a Duluth street. Police said the driver, Andrew Dunleavy, 24, Duluth, turned himself in to authorities the day following the accident.

Adolph G. Wwaskee, 67, Dawson, was killed Monday when his car and a semi-trailer truck crashed five miles west of Montevideo, at the intersections of U.S. 212 and Minnesota 58.

Sheriff's officers identified the truck driver as Charles R. Maier, 30, Billings, Mont. Maier, who was taken to a Montevideo hospital with cuts and bruises, was driving the load of lumber for Cully Trucking Co. of Marshall, Minn.

The state's traffic toll for the year rose to 792, or eight behind the pace one year ago.

Hudson Bay Honkers

This picture on Darby Reed's Christmas cards, which arrived today, tells of a successful goose hunt he enjoyed along Hudson Bay in Canada. His party of five shot 38 big honkers one morning. He spent 30 days in Canada late in the fall hunting and fishing.

Darby, formerly of Wabasha, now in business at Bismarck, N.D., has developed into an international big game hunter and spends at least six months a year fishing, hunting and guiding. He is leaving shortly, he writes, for Mexico to hunt exotic game from India and Africa. He has built a trophy room near his home to house trophies gathered all over the world.

Snow Needed for Hunting

A little snow spread over the hills and valleys would be a big boost for hunters throughout this area. Fox hunters have been pretty well handicapped by the lack of snow. Even with telescopic sights it takes skill to pick out a red fox against the dark fall background. However, its winter coat of fur makes it stand out against the snow.

Access to Trout Streams

Conservationists of South-eastern Minnesota, especially in the hardwood forest area, should look into the law and arrangements outlined in the following publicity release of the Minnesota Conservation Department:

Permanent public access to 40 trout streams in St. Louis County has been guaranteed under easements recently conveyed by the county board to the conservation department. The easements include the bed of the streams and strips of land 50 feet wide on each side. A total of 283 parcels of tax forfeited lands are involved.

Easements to streams are granted under provisions of a little publicized law enacted by the 1961 Legislature. The act has made it possible for the conservation department to acquire permanent easements to hundreds of miles of fishing streams. The easements do not prevent the sale by the counties of the tax forfeited lands involved, but if the land is sold the easements remain in effect. The St. Louis County easement, granted on Nov. 5, assures free access to 75 miles of stream for all time.

Common Market
For Americas
Is Recommended

CHICAGO (AP) — A proposal that the western hemisphere form its own "common market" to foster trade expansion and economic development was advanced at Monday's opening session of the American Farm Bureau Federation convention.

Leaders of a resolutions committee planned to place such a proposal before voting delegates later in the convention which ends Thursday.

The proposal which would start with the United States and Canada and would call for elimination of all trade restrictions between the two countries, would become, in many respects a counterpart of the European Common Market. That was organized several years ago to promote economic and political unity and advancement in Western Europe. Members are France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

A factor back of the promotion of economic unity in this part of the world has been the failure of the European group, largely at the behest of France, to engage in serious negotiations with this country on lowering trade barriers.

In time, the western grouping might be enlarged to include Mexico as well as Central and South American countries.

Meanwhile, bureau President Charles B. Shuman, an Illinois farmer, called for developing agriculture at home and abroad attuned, he said to "competitive capitalism."

In a talk at the opening session, Shuman said American farmers, contrary to claims of some, are unified in their desire to get rid of government farm controls.

Touching on the task of helping meet the problem of hunger abroad, the farm leader said starvation can be averted only if government managed farm economies are cast aside.

Woman Awarded
$125,000 for
Plane Injuries

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Miss Elizabeth Rose, St. Paul, won a $125,000 out-of-court settlement for a plane crash injury which caused her to lose her left leg.

The agreement was announced Monday as the case was about to begin in Hennepin County District Court against several defendants. Miss Rose had sought $300,000.

She was a passenger in a plane piloted by Dean C. Johnson of Mora when the aircraft attempted a crash landing near Wyoming, Minn. in October 1962. Johnson was not a defendant party to the settlement, however, said Miss Rose' attorney, William Kelly.

Others named defendants were Maxwell Aircraft Service Co., Crystal; Van Dusen Aircraft Supplies Inc., Bloomington; Dakota Aviation Co., Huron, S.D.; and two mechanics. Counsel for Miss Rose claimed faulty installation of an oil drain valve.

Ship's CO Writes Parents

The commanding officer of a ship aboard which a Winonan is serving off the coast of Viet Nam has sent the serviceman's parents a personal letter of greetings at the Christmas season.

The letter was received by Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Dubois, 216½ E. 3rd St., whose son, LAURENCE DUBOIS, is aboard the USS Ashtabula, a tanker on patrol in waters near Viet Nam. In the letter, Capt. Ralph E. Graham, the Ashtabula's commanding officer, says: "Being separated from home and loved ones on Christmas is a bitter disappointment. Your son, like thousands of other servicemen, is by his dedication and perseverance making a significant contribution to our country's effort of halting Communist aggression in Viet Nam. Laurence is doing a fine job on the Ashtabula and his efforts are certainly worthy of praise. "Christmas on the Ashtabula will not be what many of us would wish for but we do share in the hope that we will be able to spend many, many Christmas in the coming years with our families and loved ones in our homes. This thought alone is enough to make us realize that the work we are doing is not only worthwhile but a vital necessity. "I wish you a Merry Christmas and sincerely hope that the knowledge and understanding of why Laurence is here and not at home will not only make Christmas a little brighter but make each day until his return home more bearable."

DuBois' address is: RDSN Laurence DuBois, USS Ashtabula, AO-61, Operations Division, FPO San Francisco, Calif. 96601.

British automotive sportsman R. R. C. Walker knows cars, but one thing he didn't know was how quiet the '66 Ford is.

"1966 Ford quieter than my Jaguar? Not jolly likely!" said Rob Walker

... then he drove the Ford.

Ford's Quiet Man, who recently demonstrated the 1966 Ford to owners of some of the world's most expensive cars, here discusses the '66 Ford LTD with Rob Walker at his family's estate in Wiltshire, England.

"Astonishing... I believe this Ford of yours really is quieter!" exclaimed Rob Walker, famed British automotive sportsman.

Ford's quiet ride is the result of built-in quality and overall engineering excellence. Other examples of this engineering magic from Ford are: ■ New Stereo Tape Player option with easy-loading cartridges. ■ New Magic Doorgate on wagons—swings out like a door for people and down like a tailgate for cargo. ■ Silent-Flo Ventilation, standard on Ford 4-door hardtops, gives open-window freshness with all windows closed. ■ Quiet-test a '66 Ford, at your Ford Dealer's.

1939 Dollar Now Worth 44 Cents

A SMALL NEWS item last week may be the most significant one for the American economy and consumers, business, and government.

The consumer index increased two-tenths of one percent from September, the Department of Labor reported. But in more meaningful language, it means that consumers had to pay $11.04 for goods and services in October which cost an even $10 during the base period, 1957 to 1959.

And in more significant terms, it means that the U.S. cost of living climbed to an all-time high in October, nearly 2 percent higher than the level of just one year ago.

And in more blunt language, it means that the American dollar which was worth 100 cents at the corner grocery in 1939 is now worth about 44 cents.

IT POINTS OUT the greatest threat to a healthy U.S. economy: Creeping inflation which may escalate along with higher government deficits to finance the rising costs of the Great Society programs and Viet Nam military operations.

Inflation — creeping or escalating — has been recognized as the one black cloud hovering over the American economy. It is a complex subject for even economists to agree on, let alone control.

But it is clear now the consumer suffers as the purchasing power of his savings diminishes month by month. The value of life insurance policies and pensions and investments shrink to but a portion of their intended worth. The squeeze is tremendous on older persons with fixed income but similarly on younger persons attempting to save small amounts for their children's education or their own retirement.

THE GROWING welfare costs of the Great Society coupled with the Viet Nam build-up means greater government borrowing, and already the interest rate on the federal debt approximates $1 billion a month.

Sound monetary and fiscal policies are mandatory if the threat of inflation is to be checked, and this means the President's spending program. The White House expects the next budget to climb to $105 billion, technically breaking the $100 billion level for the first time. More accurate of the spending picture, however, is the estimate that the 88th Congress appropriated $119 billion during the 1965 session.

Now here is the tragic paradox: The booming economy is producing record high tax collections for the Treasury, but the government still doesn't come close to balancing the budget. The Budget Bureau estimated that the deficit for the current fiscal year will be between $7 billion and $8 billion. If the federal debt, now about $318 billion, continues at that rate, can the 25-cent dollar be far behind?

THE JOHNSON administration which has asked for voluntary restraint on wages and prices from the business world, must exercise the same restraint in its own spending.

The Penalty That Goes With Growth

(La Crosse Tribune)

IT STRIKES US as a mark of maturity and calm judgment that La Crescent voters last week approved a $450,000 bond issue to complete and enlarge a high school building opened only this fall.

The margin of "yes" votes for the bond issue was not large, but it was decisive. Under the circumstances, the vote very well could have gone the other way.

For years, when La Crescent was smaller, its high school students came to La Crosse. When our Board of Education and Common Council served notice that this arrangement would end, La Crescent parents had to face the heavy capital outlay that a modern high school entails.

THIS CAME on the heels of other growing pains that included a sewage treatment system, expanded water supply, and major street improvements. By this time, many newcomers to La Crescent (who helped cause the city's growth problems in search of lower-cost housing and lower taxes) were finding that this advantage wasn't permanent.

The cost of the new high school ran a bit above estimates, as they have a habit of doing these days. And the enrollment estimates were low, too; when the school opened in September — still not completely finished or equipped — the student body numbers were 100 above the planned capacity.

WE SAY ALL this not to gloat over the bond and tax troubles of a neighboring community, but merely to point out that these days there is literally no place to hide when it comes to taxes and government costs.

La Crescent is a growing and thriving community, despite the current political feuds that flit its atmosphere.

But like many other communities larger and smaller, La Crescent residents find costs and city problems coming to a head a bit faster than they expected.

THESE ARE the penalties of modern standards, the present birth rate, and the community's success in attracting new residents.

This is the day which the Lord hath made; we will rejoice and be glad in it. — Psalm 118:24.

Output Fails to Match Wages

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — For three years, labor unions have been demanding higher and higher wages based upon a supposedly increased "productivity" of the worker. But it is becoming apparent that the gains in productivity this year have been falling below last year.

The administration frequently talks about "guidelines" which should measure the extent to which wages might be increased without pushing up prices to inflationary levels.

The facts that are coming out now indicate a cost squeeze of major proportions which could hasten the much-talked-of recession. For, despite the failure of union labor to achieve the productivity it has boasted about, demands are being formulated for next year to increase wages just the same. In fact, the AFL-CIO economists already are demanding that the productivity scale, which has been used to measure wage increases, be raised. This would mean that the "guidelines" of productivity would supposedly justify higher wage increases.

PRODUCTIVITY itself takes into account increased output per man-hour. This is often not the result of human effort alone but the consequences of new machinery and equipment. The employer who furnishes the capital for such improvements is nevertheless expected to limit his price increases, and any gains in efficiency now are regarded as something to be added to the wage demands, although costs go up just the same.

The "guideline" figure usually used to measure gain in productivity is 3.2 percent. But this year, it has fallen to 2.5 percent. Sidney Fish, writing in the New York Journal of Commerce, says:

"Shortages of labor and components which manufacturers are now encountering make it almost inevitable that the gain in productivity next year will also fall well below the guideline level."

"DATA OF THE Bureau of Labor Statistics confirm the disappointingly low gain in productivity this year. The below-average productivity gain, together with wage and benefit increases running to 4 and 5 percent annually under recent settlements, spell out the dimensions of the current profit-squeeze in some industries."

Yet President Johnson has ignored the failure of labor to make the requisite gains in productivity and is practically blocking major industries from raising prices. In the long run, the larger companies will be able to absorb these higher costs much more rapidly than the marginal companies, which will be hurt. This, in turn, is bound to increase unemployment.

The AFL-CIO wants to raise the "guidelines" for productivity so as to make possible wage and benefit gains of at least 14 or 15 cents an hour in 1966. The administration will have to decide whether it will sanction an increase in the "guidelines" merely as a means of currying favor politically with the labor unions.

IF THIS HAPPENS, it will mean that the confidence of businessmen in the impartiality of the administration will be further impaired.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Freeman's Fancy Footwork Thwarts Spanish Heifer

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman has been in a lot of dangerous positions, ranging from the battle of Iwo Jima where he almost lost his life, to the battle of the farm bill, where he finally won out over plantation owner Sen. "Big Jim" Eastland of Mississippi.

But last month in Spain he was invited to participate in a practice bull fight.

Secretary Freeman and his wife were en route home from attending the International Food Conference in Rome and stopped off in Madrid to inspect Spanish agriculture. At a bull farm outside the city they watched heifers being selected to breed fighting bulls. The average heifer in the United States is not dangerous, but in Spain heifers are bred with horns over two feet long, and picked for breeding purposes for their ferocity.

THE SECRETARY of agriculture was watching Spanish matadors wave their red capes at charging heifers when his host invited him to get into the ring. Mrs. Freeman demurred, but Orville accepted the challenge.

Taking a red cape from a matador, he waited for the first horned heifer. She charged him like a thundering freight train. And like a freight train she was too heavy to turn aside. The secretary of agriculture waited until the last split second, then adroitly stepped aside as if averting the oratory of Sen. Ellender of Louisiana. The animal tore his cape.

Nobody knows what would have happened if the secretary of agriculture hadn't stepped aside at exactly the right time. Perhaps certain senators would have been pleased. But anyway Orville was too quick for the prospective mother of the bulls of the Spanish bull rings.

PRESIDENT Johnson today sits down with the son of a bugler in the old Indian army, who looks more British than any Britisher, is more absolute than General Franco of Spain, who has received over $5 billion of American aid, and who wants more. He is President Mohammad Ayub Khan of Pakistan, picked by the Eisenhower administration to be the main military support of the United States in Asia but who has become an indirect supporter of Red China.

When I was in West Africa last fall, the Chinese were swarming over Africa trying to undercut the democratic influence of the French and British and take over that vast, relatively empty, very wealthy continent. Reason the Chinese were able to reach Africa was largely because President Ayub Khan had given them an air base in Pakistan. Otherwise they would have had to go through Hong Kong and Singapore, where they would have been stopped by the British, would not have been able to reach Africa at all.

ALSO, INSTEAD of using the tremendous supply of U.S. tanks, artillery, and machine guns which we have poured into Pakistan against our enemies in Southeast Asia, President Ayub Khan has used them against our friend, India.

When Ayub Khan arrived in Washington before, he was given a beautiful candlelight dinner on the lawn at Mount Vernon, home of President George Washington, a man who gave up his sword in a symbolic ceremony to show that civil authority in the United States lay with civilians.

Ayub Khan has never given up the sword. When I was in his country, the manager of the Blue Star Pakistan Hotel in Karachi was arrested for playing phonograph records too loud; three bus drivers were arrested for draining oil on the side of the street; while the police searched a merchant's shop without a warrant on the suspicion he had smuggled nylon cloth from India. Generalissimo Franco of Spain would blanch at the strong-arm methods used by Ayub Khan in Pakistan.

Lyndon Johnson and Ayub Khan are not unknown to each other. The two met when Lyndon Johnson was vice president and toured the Middle East. The two men also knew each other when Ayub Khan made a split - and - polish appearance before a joint session of Congress over which Lyndon presided.

TODAY THE two men sit down together in a much cooler atmosphere. The President of the United States can be very charming or very tough. The chances today are that when Ayub Khan asks for more American aid the President will be tough.

Viet Nam Test Near for U.S.

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

WASHINGTON — A bleak winter's test is coming for this government's determination to go on to the end against Communist aggression in South Viet Nam unless a decent peace can be found through genuine and honorable negotiations. The storm is gathering; all concerned might as well know it now.

Externally, the entire Communist world is united now in at least one objective. That world has opened a massive propaganda push to talk or frighten us out of Viet Nam.

To Your Good Health

What to Do for Vomiting

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Today's remarks are in response to a number of inquiries about what to do for a child who has an attack of vomiting.

My comments will in large degree apply to adults, too, but severe vomiting, particularly when accompanied by diarrhea, can be quickly dangerous for an infant or small child. The loss of fluids and minerals, plus fever if it is present, can lead to acidosis, and prompt steps must be taken to alleviate the condition.

In adults, vomiting can result from various causes—appendicitis, intestinal obstruction, kidney colic, pregnancy, gall bladder disease, viral infections (often called "intestinal flu"). Naturally such other symptoms as may be present should be noted, to indicate whether the situation involves some serious underlying cause, or is a transient intestinal upset. In children, viral infection, appendicitis or intestinal obstruction are causes.

FOR THE uncomplicated cases of vomiting, one of the simplest remedies, yet often highly effective, is a half teaspoon of table salt, dissolved in three ounces of water, or a bit less than half a cup.

The dose is one tablespoonful of this solution taken by mouth every 20 to 30 minutes. It can be surprisingly helpful.

Along with it, sipping carbonated drinks (ginger ale is excellent) not only helps to settle the stomach but replaces fluid that has been lost. The sugar (not present in the one-calorie beverages) also affords some nutrition.

As the nausea subsides, salty broths or soups supply fluid, minerals that have been lost, and nourishment. Fluids also can be given in the form of fruit juice, or the sucking of ice chips. Candy, if tolerated, will, like the fruit juice, provide sugar to combat acidosis.

(Acidosis in a child can be recognized by listlessness and fruity odor of the breath.)

ONCE THE child can start solid foods again, crackers, toast, soft egg, apple sauce, custard, milk and juices in small amounts, but taken frequently, restore strength, nutrition and mineral and protein balance. Most children, sometime or other, experience an attack of vomiting. Usually the foregoing suggestions put an end to it.

But if the vomiting persists, don't wait too long, particularly if you detect the signs of acidosis. Extreme loss of fluids and minerals can rather quickly become a serious matter.

There are, to be sure, more sophisticated medicines and injections to control vomiting. They aren't usually found in a family medicine chest, but your doctor will have them available if you need them.

Note to L.E. with the itch and the "yellow pillow": It is obvious that you have some sort of dermatitis, or skin ailment. The quickest, surest, and in the long run cheapest solution will be to go to a dermatologist (skin specialist). Seeing him may even mean the difference between keeping or losing your hair.

By Parker and Hart

Externally, too, the neutralist powers are joining the siege of wills on the side of the Communist imperialists. Our Western allies themselves will soon be under yet heavier pressure to urge upon Washington that wonderfully easy way out which so appeals to the little but loud minority here whose honest horror of war leads it to forget the catastrophic folly of appeasement.

BUT IT IS here that the mightiest winds of all will shortly be blowing; and these will be crosswinds from the left and the right. No informed man here doubts that when Congress reassembles in a few weeks, two bitter, competing gales can be expected.

One will seek to force us to give up through some fraudulently "negotiated" that would, in fact, mean abandonment of our commitment to the people of South Viet Nam. The other will seek to force this government to expand the war with reckless violence that might involve us in a continental showdown with Communist China itself.

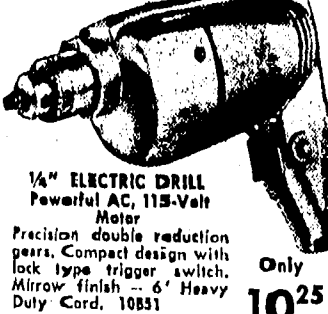

EACH CAMPAIGN will have great superficial appeal to those inclined, once frustration sets in, to look to either-or courses. How wonderful, indeed, it would be if we could extricate ourselves through some grand but empty "conference" where, by incantations about "peace," we could convince ourselves that aggression was not really aggression after all. How wonderful, indeed, it would be if we could solve all our problems and discharge our duty simply by bombing farther and farther northward until we brought the troops home unscratched, through some Chinese capitulation.

But neither dream, however attractive, is open to rational men. The first would throw away our national position in the world and, in truth, bankrupt the whole policy of deterrence which alone has kept most of the earth at peace.

THE SECOND approach could take the globe into nuclear holocaust.

All that is left open is the hard, unpretty middle way which has only common sense to recommend it. This is the way of more of the same — of steadfast application of such rising power as may be required to free South Viet Nam of invading forces, but of such power and no more.

Crippled Children Appeal Planned In Houston Co.

SPRING GROVE, Minn. — Mrs. Owen Onsgard, Spring Grove, will head the Houston County Crippled Children's appeal for 1966.

Mrs. Onsgard, in directing the appeal from Jan. 23 to Feb. 9, will coordinate the efforts of volunteer workers who donate their time and effort to help crippled children and adults.

Contributions support services such as Camp Courage, the state's only residential camp for physically handicapped, blind children and adults, and children with severe speech and hearing problems; rehabilitation centers in Duluth, Mankato, Minneapolis, Montevideo, St. Paul and Virginia; sheltered employment in Austin, Rochester, Mankato and St. Paul; equipment loans, and research scholarships and education.

In 1964, 6,334 handicapped Minnesotans benefited from these programs. The appeal will not be conducted in those areas which have included the appeal in a United Fund campaign.

DEAR ABBY:

More About Who Gets Check

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am one of those "STUPID WAITRESSES" who can't read the minds of customers to determine whether they want separate checks or not. Don't customers realize that all our checks are numbered? And when they tell us at the end of a meal that they wanted separate checks, we have to void the original check and start all over again? THIS TAKES TIME!

If some customers weren't so stupid, they could divide up the check themselves. "ANOTHER STUPID WAITRESS"

DEAR ABBY: Put me down as another "stupid waitress," who not only can't read minds, but who can't tell when people are kidding. When cocktails are being ordered before the meal, I have been told that the party was going to be on "Old Joe." And when I presented the check to "Old Joe," I was asked if I couldn't take a joke. Then I've had to unscramble the bill and give everyone separate checks.

On other occasions, I've had the guests loudly demand, "Separate checks!" — and when it came time to pay, one man will disgustingly take them all and say to me, "Where's your sense of humor? You know when I'm in the party, the party's always on me!"

EGG ON MY FACE IN DENVER

DEAR ABBY: You said, "Waitresses are not mind-readers." So, since the waitress is the one who makes up the check, she's the one who should ask how it should be done, and not after the fact.

After all, one man did not eat all the food, so why should the waitress have the gall to assume that one man is going to pay for it? And in some cases, the waitress even takes it upon herself to decide which man should be the host.

BEEN STUCK IN TACOMA

DEAR ABBY: At last you have proved to me forever that no man ghost-writes your column, although on the question of restaurant checks you could have used a man's advice. No woman understands the problem as a man does. No waiter is likely to make the mistake a waitress makes in assuming that one man is picking up the check for the entire party unless he is told that he is.

A waiter always makes out separate checks for each couple in a dinner situation, as well as situations involving a group at lunch from an office or something similar. Only a waitress will do it the "easy" way and stick one man with the bill.

E. F. F., DETROIT

DEAR ABBY: Here is one waitress who is not as stupid as she used to be. When I first started waiting on tables, the girls told me if a lot of men came in together, to put it all on one check and give it to the man who looked the most successful. And if they all looked successful, to give it to the oldest man. I have learned through experience that this is a mistake. For some strange reason, the man who looks most successful is usually the one who is least able to treat the crowd. And age doesn't mean anything, either.

QUIT GUESSING IN HOUSTON

DEAR ABBY: Does anyone have any advice on how a waitress is supposed to know to whom the check goes when two men are dining together and both of them insist on taking it? I have had my glasses knocked off, my pocket ripped and my arm nearly broken while trying to present the check to the "wrong" person.

DEAR ABBY: I am a waitress, but I am far from stupid. When a group of people come in for lunch or dinner, whether they are all men, all women, or mixed, I always make out separate checks. If, after the meal, one person wants to pay for them all, I let him fight it out with the others.

Death of 4 Children in Trailer Probed

PEARL RIVER, La. (AP) — Asst. Dist. Atty. Julian Rodriguez says he is still investigating the death of four young children who were trapped in a burning house trailer Monday.

The mothers of the children were booked at the St. Tammany Parish sheriff's office on charges of negligent homicide.

Dist. Judge Frederick S. Ellis set bond for Charlene Romney, 21, mother of three children; and Jo Ann Thomas, 37, mother of the other child, at $2,500 each.

Rodriguez said his office has not accepted the negligent homicide charges.

Under Louisiana law, a law enforcement agency books an individual with violation of a law but it is up to the district attorney's office to accept the charge before the individual can formally be prosecuted.

The victims were Tonya Thomas, 3, daughter of Mrs. Thomas; and Richard Kaske, 5, Robin Kaske, 3, and Donald Kas-ke, 8 months, children of the other woman and Richard Kaske, a serviceman stationed at Ft. Eustis, Va.

A relative said the Kaske, natives of St. Paul, Minn., had separated.

A sheriff's department spokesman said the children were trapped in a trailer the two families rented about one week ago. Both families came to Pearl River from El Paso, Tex.

Authorities quoted the two women as saying they had been away from the trailer about 20 minutes to pay the rent. A deputy said it could not be determined if the children had been locked in the trailer because the handle had melted.

A faulty gas connection was cited as cause of the fire.

Charges Against Clerks Dismissed In Sunday Case

WEST ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Charges against two clerks that they violated the Sunday closing laws were dismissed Monday in Municipal Court.

The women were clerks at Spartan Department Store, City Atty. Arnold Kempe said he asked for dismissal because he "didn't want to go after sales girls."

Kempe said his office preferred to pursue the statutes by going after the (Spartan) corporation. However, he said he does not know how to press the law against the firm, as distinguished from its workers. Dakota District Judge Robert Breunig has lifted a restraining order which the store had obtained in November 1964, banning enforcement of the ordinance. Spartan was open last Sunday.

ADC Program Growth Puzzles State Officials

ST. PAUL (AP) — The State Welfare Department says Minnesota's Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) program continues to grow—but there are some puzzling reasons for the increase.

Divorced parents accounted for the largest number of new ADC cases both this year and last, but the increase over last year was not large.

Divorced parents do not automatically qualify as families for ADC. But payments are made to care for children when support payments set by courts are too low or are uncollectible.

About one in three divorces results in a new ADC case, the Welfare Department said.

The biggest increase over the past year came in cases where the father was incapacitated—both parents were in the home, but the father was unable to work. The Welfare Department said it couldn't explain this increase.

Such cases amounted to more than 19 per cent of the new ADC cases added to the welfare rolls in the past year.

Another big jump came from families where parents were separated without formal divorce or where fathers deserted their families. Such cases accounted for 13 per cent of the new caseload.

The department said it would seem that desertion cases would be low during this period, when jobs are plentiful.

But it was observed that even in good times, unemployment and low pay continue to haunt "a certain segment of our society, the poorly educated, the displaced worker and other persons not equipped to compete."

The department listed these other aspects of the ADC program in its monthly report:

—Minority groups of non-whites continue on ADC rolls in disproportionately high numbers. Non-whites make up about 2 per cent of the state population but account for 9.4 per cent of ADC cases.

—Among non-whites, illegitimacy was the largest single reason for ADC families. The number of mothers receiving ADC aid for illegitimate children went up among both Negroes and Indians from 1964 to 1965.

Man Arrested For Dressing Up as General

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A man resplendent in the uniform of an Air Force general and battle ribbons was arrested here Monday by FBI agents, after allegedly fleeing Ohio authorities.

Herbert D. Cheatham, 49, Celina, Ohio, was charged with impersonating an Air Force General and held on $5,000 bond. Patrick J. Foley, assistant U.S. attorney, said Cheatham also was wanted by Ohio authorities on a larceny charge.

Authorities said Cheatham, using the name Brig. Gen. Patrick Ryan, got into a casual conversation with another man in a downtown Minneapolis bar. Cheatham invited the man to visit him at March Air Force, Calif., where he said he was commanding officer.

When the bar friend flew to California on business a few days later he tried to contact a General Ryan. That put the Air Force and FBI on the trail of Cheatham, said Foley.

Pleasant Hill FU

Pleasant Hill Farmers Union will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Pleasant Hill Town Hall to hear a report of the state Farmers Union conference held in St. Paul. Discussion will include the new administration farm bill and a bill to be introduced at the next session of state legislature calling for a new tax to replace personal property taxes.

For 25 Years

a symbol of security

Since 1941 our bank, and thousands of others from coast to coast, have served as volunteer issuing agencies for United States Savings Bonds. It is a service we like to perform, since it helps both our customers and our country.

Our service emblem incorporates the Minute Man of Concord, symbol of the Savings Bonds volunteers. Like the Bond program itself, the emblem marks its 25th anniversary this year.

Millions of Americans first learned to save with Savings Bonds. Through the years their savings have financed homes, college educations, and countless other dreams; yet our citizens own more Series E and H Bonds now than ever before.

Our community is stronger because of the Savings Bonds program, our families and our Nation more secure. This bank is proud of its part in this all-American success story.

Winonan Sets High Mark in Watkins Sales

A district manager for Watkins Products, Inc., was honored here Monday night for being the third person in the history of the firm to have a district produce more than $1 million in wholesale gross sales during one year.

He is Marvin Fuglestad, 420 Sioux St., Winona, who is district manager for the South Dakota and Western Nebraska district. His district produced more than $1 million in wholesale gross sales in 1964.

He was one of nine persons honored at a Watkins rural sales marketing seminar at Linahan's Inn Monday evening.

Fuglestad started with the firm in 1946 as a dealer and in 3½ years became field manager.

Other persons receiving sales and recruiting performance awards were Don S. Nicolay, also of Winona; Jack Case, Kansas City; Garth Christensen, Winnipeg, Canada; Bernard Schmitt, Eastern Iowa; William Cudmore, South Dakota; Jake Walther, North Dakota; J. R. Wells, Kansas, who is retiring after 35 years with Watkins, and John Brunet, Alberta, Canada.

at a seminar, after being honored for having his district produce more than $1 million in wholesale gross sales during 1964. His is only the third district in the history of the firm to reach this mark in a 12-month period. (Daily News photo) and fieldmen also received awards for safe driving during the past year. About 90 district managers and fieldmen from the Winona, Kansas City and Winnipeg districts attended the two-day seminar which concluded this afternoon.

Guest speaker Monday night was Bill Merrill, La Crosse. Daily News columnist.

He discussed positive mental attitude. He said, "Imagination is not a fantasy. It comes from the brain and is real. Imagination needs to be a part of ourselves, but we must work and develop it."

"People have to see themselves as a success before they can become successful."

HHH Tries to Head Off Feud

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey today names a five-man board to try to arbitrate the dispute over control of amateur sports in the United States.

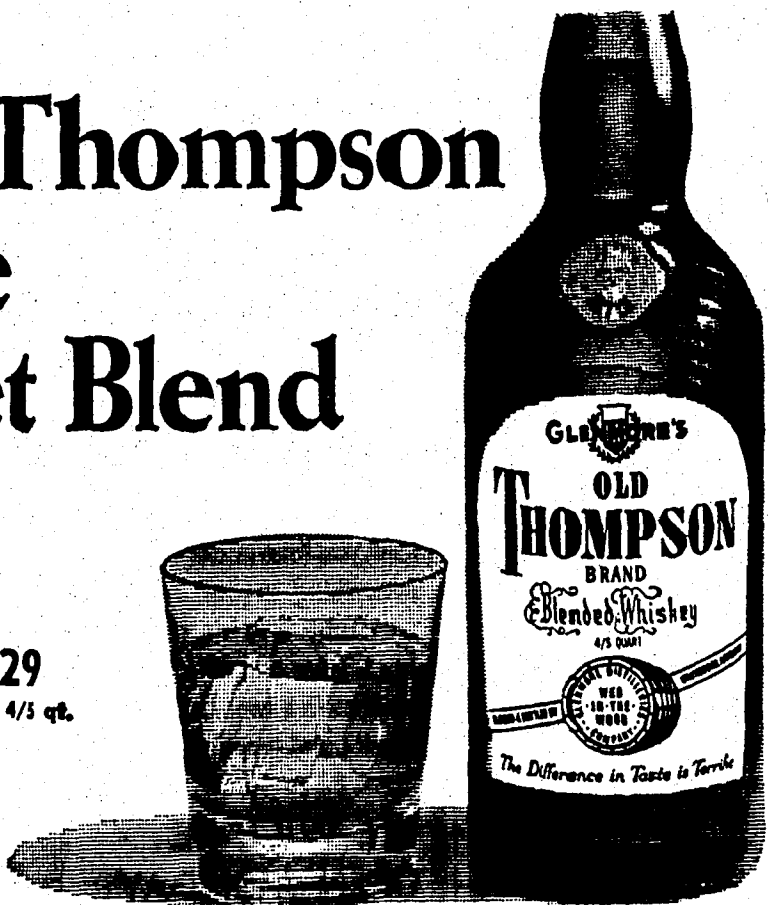

A leading arbitrator reportedly will be named to head the efforts to reach agreement between the Amateur Athletic Union and the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

The dispute, centering mainly around track and field, threatens to wreck the U.S. team in the 1968 Olympics at Mexico City.

The arbitration board is scheduled to report back by Feb. 15, in two months, when a truce between the two warring amateur sports groups will end.

GATHERED AROUND THE TREE . . . Some of the 200 adults and children who attended the annual Christmas party of Winona Chapter 141, Order of the Eastern Star at the Masonic Temple Saturday evening were, little ones in front, Mary, Ann and Robert Polachek, and back row from left, Mrs. Hale Stow, associate matron, Susan DeLano, Lora Beseler and Fred Beseler, and Harold Gates, associate patron. A program included: Community singing of Christmas Carols, led by Merrill Peterson, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. W. L. Hillier; vocal solo, "O Holy Night", sung by Mr. Peterson; a reading, "The Night Before Christmas", by Ann Polachek; a song, "Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer", by Ann and Mary Polachek; baton twirling by Susan DeLano, and piano solos by Lora and Fred Beseler. Santa Claus presented the children with gifts of candy. The stage was decorated with a beautiful Christmas tree and the tables were decorated with red candles, greens and ornaments made by members. The program and dinner were under the supervision of Mrs. Stow and Mr. Gates. (Harriet J. Kelley photo)

Wenonah Chapter, DAR Meets at Watkins Home

Familiar Christmas music and a huge snowflake-decorated tree provided a background welcome in the Great Hall of the Paul Watkins Memorial Methodist Home Saturday to members of Wenonah Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Guests were greeted by Miss Leslie Gage, DAR member and resident of the home. Miss Gage also read the Christmas prayer.

MRS. Victor Gilbertsen, program chairman, introduced the Rev. Eugene K. Meyers, administrator of the home, as speaker. His "Why Christmas?" topic was presented with thoughts for the deep and more real meanings of Christmas that are being lost in commercialism and lack of understanding of tradition.

The meeting opened with the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag, lead by the regent, Miss Marion Wheeler. Reports of the secretary, Miss Mary Vance; treasurer, Mrs. H. L. Packard, and Mrs. Paul E. Pletke, Mabel Marvin Scholarship chairman, were given. Miss Wheeler thanked the telephone committee, Miss Edna Harris and Mrs. Roy Bedore for their assistance.

TEA was served following the meeting with Miss Vance and Mrs. Ralph Legreid presiding. Fruitcake served was a gift from the School of the Ozarks, Point Lookout, Mo., which is a recipient of scholarship aid from the Marvin Fund. Cakes are made at the school by students who earn their tuition by working within the school. Each year Wenonah Chapter has been given a cake in appreciation of its aid to the school. Hostesses for the afternoon were the Misses Gage and Wheeler and Misses. Otto Clesler, Gilbertsen and Pletke.

MR. AND MRS. COYDE MARSH, Lake City, Minn., announce the engagement of his daughter, Nancy Hague, to Harold Nihart, son of Mrs. Harold Nihart, Lake City, and the late Mr. Nihart. A fall wedding is being planned. Miss Hague is employed at Gates Variety Store, Lake City, and her fiancé works for Gould National, Lake City.

Soiney-Norby Vows Said at Scheie Church

MABEL, Minn. — Scheie Lutheran Church was the scene of the Nov. 27 wedding of Miss Marie Norby and Larry Soiney.

The Rev. Norman Estrem officiated and maid of honor was Miss Elaine Soiney, sister of the groom. Best man was Vernard Norby.

A reception was held in the church parlors. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Norby, Mabel, is a graduate of Mabel High School.

The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Soiney, Canton, Minn. He is a graduate of Canton High School, was formerly employed at Crenlo, Rochester, and now has enlisted in the Army.

ARCADIA COF ARCADIA, Wis. (Special) — The Women's Catholic Order of Foresters will hold a Christmas party Sunday at 2 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Bill Smith. A potluck lunch will be served and there will be a gift exchange. Each member is asked to bring one extra gift for a game prize.

3 Appointed to Vacancies on School Staff

Appointments to fill two vacancies that will be created in the Winona public schools staff at the end of this year were approved Monday night by the Board of Education on the recommendation of the administration.

School Board

One of the new teachers will be assigned to Central Elementary School to replace an instructor named at the beginning of the school year on a short-term appointment of three months.

MRS. PAUL WATKINS, who will be graduating from Winona State College this term, was hired as a first grade teacher succeeding Mrs. M. O. Holland who had been filling in temporarily. Her salary was set at $5,000 a year.

The other new teacher hired is Miss Elaine Funk, Minneapolis, graduating this quarter from the University of Minnesota, who will fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Miss Dolores Fix. Her salary will be $6,000 and she'll teach in the fifth grade at Lincoln School.

The appointment of William Larson, who has been the instructor for a class in auto body repair in the Winona Area Vocational-Technical School, to teach a second auto body repair course was approved. His salary will be $170 a week.

THE BOARD approved the interim appointment of Orrin Klungvedt, Lanesboro, Minn.,

Stolen Italian Art Is Recovered

VENICE, Italy (AP) — Police say they have recovered $500,000 worth of stolen art works and smashed a ring of art thieves after eight years of investigation.

The 85 art pieces recovered include a Madonna of the Botticelli school. The works were taken from more than 50 churches and homes in northern Italy. Police filed charges against 11 Italians and said they were checking whether 20 antique dealers in Rome, Genoa, Florence and Milan had accepted the stolen goods.

Bro. Charles Plans Long Study Trip

Brother H. Charles, of the St. Mary's College biology department, fresh from celebrating his golden jubilee as a Christian Brother, will leave next week on a 2½-month scientific junket through Central and South America.

His first five days will be in Mexico, where he hopes to study the montezuma cypress, comparable to the Pacific Coast redwood. After that he'll be in Guatemala jungle, Nicaragua, Costa Rica (where he believes some of the best rain forests in the world are located), Panama, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Brazil and Bolivia.

On his way home Brother Charles hopes to stop in the lowlands of Colombia, then in Jamaica, and Miami. Also scheduled on the trip is a three-day stop in the Everglades. The one-man expedition is being sponsored by the St. Mary's biology department to gather material for courses. During the trip Brother Charles will use over 1,500 color slides. His travels are arranged to permit him to study both the high altitude mountain terrain and the lowland jungles.

"I'm not quite sure what I'll see there," said Brother Charles, who can count similar trips to China and the Philippines among his experiences, "but there are certain things I'll be looking for."

Brother Charles, who holds a doctorate in botany, will center his studies about the vegetation of the different areas. He has set his return to Winona between Feb. 15-20.

Your Social Security

Q. Last year I took my retirement benefits at a reduced rate. Now, I am physically unable to work. Can I change over to disability benefits?

A. It is possible that you may be able to change to disability benefits if you become disabled before reaching age 65. Check with your social security district office.

Q. Recently I received an application card for enrollment in the supplementary medical insurance program. At this time I am undecided. How long do I have to make up my mind?

A. For those people 65 before 1966 to become eligible for medical benefits in July 1966, they must enroll no later than March 31, 1966.

Q. Will child's benefits now being paid to my son continue until he graduates from college?

A. If he remains otherwise eligible, his benefits would end when he graduates or is 22, whichever is first.

TESTING AT PEPIN HIGH
PEPIN, Minn. — All seniors at Pepin High School took the Strong vocational inventory test given recently. Results have been returned by the University of Wisconsin. Ralph E. Leahy, district administrator, said the students will be interviewed, making use of the facts shown by the test. Areas in which the student showed a high interest will be discussed and compared with actual high school grades earned in these courses to correlate the student's interests and abilities.

Don't Just Criticize, Charter Group Advised

Charter studies should not be conducted so as to antagonize city officials, members of the Winona Charter Commission were told Monday night by Orville Peterson, executive secretary of the League of Minnesota Municipalities.

A commission should avoid giving the impression that it is dealing purely in unfavorable criticism, advised Peterson, and that it is doing nothing but finding fault with administrations and officers.

PETERSON'S remarks were part of the commission's familiarization program in which members are viewing the general subject of charters before starting a specific study of the Winona charter. He appeared at the request of the commission and the City Council.

Winona now is the only city of the second class in Minnesota that does not now have a home rule charter, Peterson noted. There are now 92 home rule charters in the state, he said. Since any municipality that adopts home rule becomes a city, according to state law, there are some very small cities as well as some very large villages in Minnesota. About 21 home rule cities and eight villages in the Twin Cities metropolitan area now have city managers, Peterson said.

"Structure of government is not the full answer to all problems," Peterson said. "The kind of people, traditions, moral fiber and citizens' sense of responsibility are vital. You can't take a single form and say it would unquestionably be better, because exceptions to every rule exist."

ALL OTHER things being equal, however, some forms may permit a better job to be done than others, he went on.

While city governments have a considerable amount of leeway, their charters or ordinances can be overridden by state law under the principle of legislative supremacy in Minnesota, Peterson explained. Should a city adopt home rule, however, it has power to repeal special state laws that conflict with its new charter, he said. (A special law is one that applies either to one city or to a single category. Winona's charter has been amended from time to time by special laws, passed by the legislature at city request.)

Some trends have appeared among cities now adopting new or revised charters, Peterson said. Among these is a tendency toward brevity. Where older charters tend to be very specific in listing powers and functions, newer versions give broad definitions. Details then are spelled out in ordinances, he said, which means that minor administrative matters do not require full-blown charter amendments which take undue amounts of time and which often perish at the polls because of popular indifference.

NEW CHARTERS also tend to move away from the principle of independent boards, all making policy decisions, and toward more centralized responsibility. This concentration of administration can be achieved through strengthening powers of the mayor or the council or by establishing a city administrative office.

Shorter ballots are gaining popularity, Peterson said. Many cities now elect only the mayor, council and judicial officers. Other administrative posts are appointive in many places, Peterson said, and some cities have merged the offices of clerks and treasurers.

More aldermen now are being elected at large than formerly, Peterson pointed out. Council terms are tending to lengthen, he added.

"POPULAR controls," Initiative, referendum and recall, are not stressed as much as they once were, Peterson said. In no case have they been removed from a charter, however, once they have been included. These measures are seldom used, he said. The referendum principle normally is used to try to block by popular vote some action taken by a council, Peterson said. Recall has been rendered almost superfluous by court rulings, he added.

(Initiative is a means by which citizens can originate legislation and force a council to act on it. Referendum is a method of forcing a popular vote on a governmental body's action. Recall is a process of removing a public official from office by vote of the people after filing of a petition by a certain percentage of voters.)

AN UNDERLYING principle of most new charters, Peterson observed, is that the city is a service agency. According to this reasoning, the city should be able to perform its normal services without having to go to the legislature or to the people for each bit of authority.

In general there are broad grants of powers within fixed limits, such as ceilings on tax rates or indebtedness, he explained. The new documents all insist on governments living within their budgets, he pointed out, although somewhat more flexibility is given therein.

THE REPORT of a 1941 charter commission held that present legislative charter promotes stability while a home rule charter would create instability, said Dan Trainor Jr., commission member, who asked Peterson to comment on this.

One objection to the special law method of charter changes is that legislation actually is in the hands of two individuals, a representative and a senator, neither of whom was elected for this purpose, Peterson said. It is an easier way of changing a charter than would be the popular vote method required by home rule, he conceded, but this seems to make home rule more stable, almost to a fault.

Mrs. Virginia Torgerson, commission member, asked about recommended requirements for employment of initiative and referendum. Percentages of petitioners should be high enough so that small dissident groups cannot abuse these processes, Peterson said. A charter can set its own percentages. These usually are about 10 percent of voters in a previous general election, he stated.

Trainor asked whether it is more useful for commissioners to go to other cities to study their systems or to invite representatives to come to Winona. Peterson advised his listeners that they could talk to more people and see more operations by visiting other cities.

REPLYING to the query of Harold Streater, Peterson said most Twin Cities suburban communities have city managers. There have been no adoptions of commission form of government since 1912 when St. Paul adopted it, he noted.

Among the "standard weaknesses" of commission government is its tendency to become a spending machine, commented Peterson. No commissioner wants to veto another's budget for fear of reprisals.

(Under this plan, city government is assigned to distinct departments. Heading each department is a commissioner who also becomes a city council member.)

Some cities have set up modified city-manager plans in which an administrator must get council approval for such actions as appointments of personnel and major decisions, Peterson told Mrs. Torgerson.

COUNCIL ratification of appointments by a manager diminishes a manager's control over administration, Peterson observed, and thus works against the plan's basic principle. Under a standard manager plan, he can hire and fire but is accountable to the council—and can be hired or fired himself by them. In most major appointments a manager consults his council anyway, said Peterson, simply because it is good practice and promotes better working relationships.

The trend in new charters is away from rigid civil service and toward merit systems, he told Duane Peterson, commission member. Where this plan is used, a manager usually can hire and fire but appeals processes also are provided, he noted.

Budget preparation is the duty of the mayor in a strong-mayor system or of the city manager under that plan, Peterson said.

DR. W. O. Finkenburg, commission member, asked about average lengths of service for city managers, adding that he wondered if managers tended to become "dictators." The average stay is perhaps seven or eight years, Peterson replied. An individual who stays longer, however, probably has the confidence of the community which then relies upon him more and more, he noted.

If public dissatisfaction with a manager is great enough, it can force a manager's dismissal, Peterson said, through pressure on the council.

It is less difficult now to find a manager than formerly because more young men are entering the field, Peterson told Streater. Salaries are in the $8,000 to $18,000 range and are comparable to those of public school superintendents, he said.

THE TYPE of charter could have much effect on the quality of an administrative officer or manager, he told Duane Peterson in answer to a question. If there are too many compromises on the position's authority, the better qualified persons will not accept it, according to the league secretary.

Such individuals cannot be effective when authority is subject to continual ratification and therefore will decline to accept the responsibilities, he explained.

A manager would have almost nothing to do with school district affairs, Peterson told Mrs. Torgerson. In answer to Trainor's query, he said there is no state law requiring public utilities to be set up separately from the general city administration. Should a new charter be adopted, incorporating such bodies into the government, previous special laws establishing them as independent entities would be repealed.

Peterson replied in part to a two-point question from Robert Collins, in the audience. The powers given to Winona, and to any city in the state under common law, are standard ones relating to ownership and control of property and to sue and be sued. Discussing the language which gives Winona's mayor "complete control and supervision," Peterson said he could not exactly define the difference between control and supervision.

ADMINISTRATIVE codes are commonly drawn up by councils in cities which adopt new charters, Peterson said. These codes spell out specific powers which the charter defines only in general terms. Thus the codes are subject to changes by aldermen as needs arise, within the general limits imposed by the charter.

The commission will meet

Jan. 10. This meeting will be devoted to discussion of several types of charters, according to Norman Indall, commission chairman. Beginning in February the commission will hold talks with city officials and department heads on history, composition, functions and administration of the several divisions.

Guard Rosters Rise in State; 945 Needed

ST. PAUL (AP) — Minnesota units in the "select reserve force" of the National Guard — among them Winona's — are now at 90 to 91 percent of full strength, Maj. Gen. Chester L. Moeglein, state adjutant general, said today.

Maj. Gen. Winston P. Wilson, chief of the National Guard Bureau in Washington, also said today that 90 percent was the strength figure nationally for select reserve units, which are boosting their readiness in case of a national crisis.

MOEGLEIN said Minnesota's 47th "Viking" Infantry Division, which has just under 10,000 men still is short 945 of the extra 1,000 men required by the buildup.

He said most of the new men, who will go to replace guardsmen transferred from ordinary units to the select force, will be acquired by July 1.

All 49 companies of the Minnesota select reserve force have stepped up training and have shifted drill assemblies to weekends. The only evening sessions remaining, Moeglein said, are those required for administrative processing, including physical examinations.

STAFFS of battalion and higher headquarters have boosted the number of assemblies by 100 percent to 96 a year. Companies have increased assemblies by 50 percent to 72 a year. Training periods that formerly were two hours long now run for four.

Moeglein also said the state guard expects to have completed the transfer of necessary equipment to select reserve units by April 1. He said he hoped this could be done while leaving sufficient equipment for the training needs of non-select units.

Requests for additional equipment have been submitted to the National Guard Bureau, he said.

MOEGLEIN said he doesn't expect Minnesota's selected reserve forces to have more than about 95 percent of their 7,752 authorized strength by June.

Some positions, such as radar technicians, may take a long period to fill, he said, because of extensive training needed.

Minnesotans should not think of the select reserve forces as "combat ready" troops, Moeglein said. "There's no way under peacetime training that you're going to become combat ready," he said.

Secretary Sees Need to Train More Leaders
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Welfare John W. Gardner says the United States desperately needs national leaders but isn't doing anything to produce them.

In fact, he says, there is an "antileadership vaccine" being used to immunize "a high proportion of our most gifted young people against any tendencies to leadership."

In an essay written while he was still president of the Carnegie Corp. of New York and published Monday, Gardner said:

"The academic world appears to be approaching a point at which everyone will want to educate the technical expert who advises the leader, or the intellectual who stands off and criticizes the leader but no one will want to educate the leader himself."

Elaborating on this in an interview today, Gardner said, "The colleges and universities ought to honor what they say in their catalogs and from the commencement platforms."

"They say they are training leaders, but they are only paying lip service to the idea. If they lived by what they say, I'd be satisfied."

"Every professional field ought to assure that some small fraction of their best men would move toward positions of leadership, and be encouraged to do so. But this doesn't happen."

"College faculties, for instance, are traditionally critical of college presidents, but they do nothing to encourage their best young people to aspire to administrative positions of leadership."

Fillmore County Retarded Entertained At Rushford Party

LANESBORO, Minn. (Special) — Elsie Sabal, foreign exchange student from Ecuador, presented native dances in costume and piano solos at the Christmas party for Fillmore County retarded children Saturday at Rushford.

The Rushford FHA girls were in charge of the program, which was followed by entertainment, provided by the Girl Scout Cadettes.

At the business meeting Charles Every, Preston, president of the Fillmore County ARC, reminded members of the change of address of the state association. Mrs. Arnold Erickson, Harmony, announced a Sunday school class for the retarded now is operating in Harmony.

All children in the area, regardless of denomination, are welcome. Mrs. Rosella Warner, Preston, Fillmore County Friendship Fund chairman, announced $1,195 has been turned in to the treasurer to date, with several townships unreported.

The program also included baton twirling, a Christmas reading, guitar music, songs and a visit from Santa Claus. Next meeting will be Jan. 11 at Preston.

Farm Bureau Leaders Hail Patton Stand
CHICAGO (AP) — Leaders of the American Farm Bureau Federation are giving the "welcome aboard" sign to James G. Patton, retiring president of the National Farmers Union, for his recent forecast that big government farm programs are on the way out.

Federation leaders — here for the annual convention — also said they welcomed a statement by Patton, long a militant battler for those programs, that farmers of the future must look to cooperatives to fight for proper prices for their products.

Leaders from President Charles B. Shuman down to state and county delegates said history shows that their organization has been trying for many years to get government out of agriculture because they believe farmers would be better off without controls it has imposed on them.

Patton's forecast that farm programs were nearing an end was made in an interview shortly after he announced that he would not accept re-election at his organization's annual meeting in Denver early next year.

He is the oldest of the national farm organization presidents in point of service and is completing his 25th year as head of the union. He has worked closely over the years with farm leaders in the Democratic party.

Patton's predictions were based on a belief that Congress would refuse to extend present farm programs because of their cost and also because of a belief that expanding world food needs would make them less essential.

Patton wants a broad-gauged cooperative system, embracing not only farmers, but consumers, organized labor and government as well. He advocates a setup under which financing would be supplied, in large measure, by the government.

But the farm bureau leaders say they want no part of a system taking in outside groups, including the government.

In 1960, the federation organized the American Agricultural Marketing Association to assist state farm bureaus in organizing and setting up farm commodity marketing associations and programs.

Shuman said that this year the producers of 17 farm commodities in 24 states are being served by such associations. These commodities are mostly fruits, vegetables and other regionally-produced crops.

Maugham's Condition Continues Very Grave
NICE, France (AP) — Somerset Maugham's doctors reported a slight improvement in the aged British author's condition today but said it "remains very grave."

Maugham, 91, has been in a coma since he had a stroke Saturday. His chief physician said Sunday night he didn't think he had more than 24 hours to live.

A medical bulletin issued this morning said lung congestion which had developed had disappeared and Maugham's fever had fallen.

Maugham was placed under an oxygen tent Monday night.

to remain calm and to shopkeepers to reopen. Development Minister Chauri Saleh warned merchants not to raise their prices and threatened to punish those who did under the subversion act, which provides for capital punishment.

The government announced it will issue a new rupiah worth 1,000 of those now in circulation in an effort to deal with the country's rising inflation.

Council Hears 2 Proposals on Bookkeeping

The City Council finance committee mulled over proposals made Monday for a management survey of city departments prior to installation of mechanized bookkeeping.

Committee members listened to accountants representing Alexander Grant Co., La Crosse, and to Even Henry, Gilmore Valley, who operates his own service in Winona.

A 2-DAY preliminary check made by the Grant firm showed an apparent need for several revisions in systems, said Arnold Bradburg and Norman Thingvold, representatives of the company.

Acknowledging that the council was considering alterations suggested by the state public examiner's department, Bradburg said his firm is in position to give more comprehensive service and followup. Charge for the prior survey of all departments and for setting up the machine-oriented system would be about $7,800, he estimated.

Thingvold said a management study should be made because merely transferring present methods to the machine might only be the mechanization of a partly inefficient system.

To fulfill the city's obligation to taxpayers, the machine should be operated at maximum efficiency and capacity, he said. Studies should determine what departments other than the recorder's office can benefit from the installation, he said. Moreover, the work should be tailored to meet needs of aldermen, committees, boards and administrators, he added.

A SURVEY, said Bradburg, might enable the city to adopt an overall financial plan. Centralized accounting would be more efficient and could help remove duplication, such as that occurring when each department invests its surplus funds individually, to varying degrees, he suggested.

Flow of paperwork might be simplified and different systems of reporting used by the several departments could be unified, said Bradburg. Other results might extend to adoption of equipment sharing among departments, he added.

The survey could be taken soon, said Bradburg, and would not delay installation of the machine system, now scheduled for about April 1.

Replying to Ald. Barry Nelson's question, Bradburg said an updated system would be beneficial even if city government structure should be altered later.

We must point out that several departments are not filled as yet because cutoff points were set higher this year than ever before.

If there are any additions or corrections—such as scores rolled on a night when another score, still higher, was rolled in the same league—just give us a ring.

BECAUSE THERE are quite a few Gustavus graduates in town — they're quite a boisterous bunch — we'd like to point out that one of the school's most illustrious grads had been named to a pretty illustrious group.

Dr. Harold Sponberg has been named to Sports Illustrated's silver anniversary all-American group.

Sponberg, a Minnesota native and now president of Eastern Michigan University, was a three-year football letterman at Gustavus, winning all-conference honors and Little all-American mention.

He then taught English and Latin at New Richmond, Minn., before going on to school at the University of Minnesota and Michigan State.

Some of his silver anniversary companions? Fellas like Tom Harmon and Jackie Robinson. Guys you hardly ever hear of.

AFTER THE PREVIOUS two rounds, the Swami was due for a fall. The old guy got it — and got it good — last weekend.

He counted only 27 of 45 correct and saw his percentage dip to .718 on an overall 145 of 202.

Now for tonight:

Kenyon over Cannon Falls 82-58, Alma Center over Cochrane-Fountain City 67-61, Whitehall over Blair 69-60, Augusta over Independence 73-64, Eleva-Strum over Osseo 78-73, Arkansas over Taylor 76-61, Red Wing over Farmington 63-52, Wykoff over Adarns 59-53, Randolph over Burnsville 63-58, Lewiston over Rollingsstone Holy Trinity 54-49, Immanuel Lutheran over Gilmanton 58-46, Mondovi over Baldwin-Woodville 58-54, Durand over Ellsworth 65-64.

CONGRATULATIONS, you three lucky people. You get spanking new black shoulder patches for your bowling shirts. You see, you just joined the Daily News 300 Club—that lovely society for preservation of dubious bowling events.

The new wearers are:

JACK McDONALD, 378 to go with a 172 average in the Westgate Braves and Squaws League.

RICH MOHAN, 395 to go with a 165 average in the Westgate Classic League.

KEN HUBBARD, 388 to go with a 167 average in the Hal-Rod VFW circuit.

Again, congratulations!

Wiltgen Hits 43 in YMCA

Steve Wiltgen ran wild, pumping in 43 points to lead the Warriors to a 77-23 rout of Chargers in the YMCA Intermediate basketball league Monday night.

Braves ripped Stallions 41-38 in another contest.

Wiltgen got help from Bob Follman with 22 and Dane Blesanz with 10. Ron Reif's eight led the Chargers.

Doug Sauer meshed 23 for Braves and Mike Smiling helped out with 16. Tom Robinson scored 18 to pace the Stallions' attack, and Joe Miller played an outstanding defensive game.

Campbell Receives Early Gift

By BOB JUNCHANS
Daily News Sports Writer

Winona State's basketball team handed coach Bob Campbell an early Christmas present Monday night neatly wrapped in a 91-point package with a bow of white-hot shooting.

The Warriors, behind the fancy 26-point display of 5-8 guard Dave Meisner, riddled Hamline 91-76 to bring their season record to 3-5 and drop the hapless Pipers to 1-3.

"It's a nice one to go on vacation with," admitted Campbell. Winona State gets a long rest before returning to action Dec. 28-29 in a holiday tournament at Waukesha, Wis.

For a while Monday night it looked as if the team which scored last would win the game as the score was tied twice and the lead changed hands a phenomenal 18 times in the first 12 minutes of the game.

But with Winona trailing 22-21, 6-7 freshman Charlie Neal, who played his best game of the season on the back boards, tipped in an errant shot, Tim Anderson connected from the corner and Meisner twisted in for one of his amazing layups and the Warriors were out in front to stay at 27-22.

Hamline hung doggedly behind and trailed only 43-34 at the half. But the crowd, thinned by the press of final exams, was treated to a spectacular display at the start of the second half.

With Meisner again the engineer, Winona ran in nine straight points to push the margin to 52-34. "Mouse," as the 5-8 guard is known to his teammates, spun in another layup and then hit on a rafter-scraping jump shot. Neal counted a free throw, Anderson was open underneath for a layup and Meisner topped it off with another from close in.

But Hamline refused to go down without a fight. Behind the uncanny long range gunning of Jim Boyd the Pipers closed with nine at 57-49 but could get no closer.

"I think we ended up with a slight edge on the boards," said Campbell, "and our fast break was working well."

Neal, who finished with 10 points, and Mike Jerecek, who had 15, did the bulk of the rebounding work with guard Gary Petersen occasionally moving in to help out.

Despite a usually aggressive defense, Winona was assessed with only eight personal fouls during the game, two in the first half. Hamline was tabbed for violations 18 times but it made little difference as the Warriors could hit only 11 of 21 charity shots, one of the things Campbell wasn't too happy about.

In fact, the Warriors percentage from the floor was better than that from the charity stripe. Winona blasted in 60 percent of its shots in the first half, hitting 20 of 33 attempts, and returned after intermission with 48 percent.

And as the saying goes, when it rains it pours.

Packers Could End Confusion

NEW YORK (AP) — It takes a math major to figure out all the permutations and combinations in the National Football League's Western race but Green Bay can make it simple by winning Sunday at San Francisco.

Baltimore also can win it outright if it can beat or tie Los Angeles Saturday and Green Bay loses on Sunday.

The only chance for Chicago to get into a tie situation is for the top two teams to lose.

McDowell Wins AL ERA Crown

BOSTON (AP) — Fireballing left-hander Sam McDowell of the Cleveland Indians won the American League earned run title in 1965, the official averages disclosed today.

McDowell, had a 2.18 ERA. The 23-year-old hurler yielded 66 earned runs in 273 innings while posting a 17-11 won-loss record. McDowell also paced the circuit in strikeouts with 325, bases on balls, 132, and wild pitches, 17.

Eddie Fisher of the Chicago White Sox, a right-handed reliever, was second in the earned run competition with a 2.40 mark. He was followed by Sonny Siebert of Cleveland 2.43, George Brunet of the California Angels 2.56, Pete Richert of Washington 2.60 and Milt Pappas, Baltimore, 2.61.

Jim (Mudcat) Grant of the pennant-winning Minnesota Twins topped the circuit's pitchers in winning percentage with .750 on a 21-7 record. He also led in victories and shutouts, the latter department with six.

The veteran right-hander and New York's Mel Stottlemyre were the only AL moundsmen to win 20 or more games. In addition, Stottlemyre, who had a 20-9 record, worked the most innings, 291, and pitched the most complete games, 18.

U.S. to Decide on City for Olympic Bid

NEW YORK (AP) — American Olympic officials will decide at Chicago on Jan. 15 which American cities will be in the bidding for the 1972 Summer and Winter Olympic Games, an officer of the U.S. Olympic Association said Monday.

Things past now include a 13-year winning streak against arch-rival Rutgers which ended Monday night when the Scarlet sprung a 68-66 upset.

It was the biggest surprise on a strange night that had such odd goings-on as an Arkansas player, averaging just eight points per game, breaking a 25-

Vikings Plan to Muscle Sayers?

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (AP) — Minnesota Vikings Coach Norm Van Brocklin was thinking about his team's final National Football League game of what has been a disappointing season.

"The Chicago Bears are the best team in football," said Van Brocklin of the Vikings' final opponent Sunday. "They've been the best for a month. They've surprised a lot of people this season, including me."

Chicago, 9-4, has won nine of its last 10 games. "They started late, but right now they've got all the momentum," Van Brocklin added.

The Bears could tie Green Bay for the Western Division title if both the Packers and Baltimore lose Sunday and Chicago defeats Minnesota.

The Vikings — labeled title contenders in pre-season reckoning—can only look for a fourth place tie with San Francisco, 7-6, by beating the Bears and the 49ers would have to lose to Green Bay.

By losing to Chicago, Minnesota, 6-7, could finish as low as sixth if Detroit, 5-7-1, downs Philadelphia.

"I don't know about all the ifs and probabilities of the title race," Van Brocklin said. "But I do know that we're going down to Chicago to beat the Bears."

Beating Chicago has become very difficult because of Gayle Sayers, sensational rookie half-back who scored six touchdowns in last Sunday's 61-20 rout of the 49ers.

Sayers scored four touchdowns in the Bears 45-37 victory over the Vikings on Oct. 18. His 96-yard kickoff return with 2:18 left lifted the Bears from a 37-31 deficit.

"I'm not sure if he likes to put his head down and mix it with the strong boys," Van Brocklin said, in hinting of Vikings plans to contain Sayers. "So far he hasn't had to do that. His speed and elusiveness have been enough. He's the kind of back who runs to daylight, especially when he has the advantage of an open field of kick returns."

Meanwhile, the Vikings announced the signing of flanker Ron Green of North Dakota to a 1966 pro football contract.

Green, 6-2 and 205 pounds, was drafted on the ninth round by the Vikings. He's the tenth draft choice signed. The Vikings have lost two draftees to the rival American Football League. Four of the remaining Minnesota draft choices are involved in bowl games.

No contract terms were announced.

Bradley Gone; So Is Tiger String

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bill Bradley's smiling face still greets Princeton fans everytime they go to watch their beloved Tigers play. The only thing is once they get past the ticket taker, there's no more Bradley and it certainly makes a difference. Just ask Rutgers.

Bradley, of course, is the two-time All-America and Player of the Year who led the Cinderella Ivy League representatives into the semifinals of the National Collegiate playoffs last season.

The big guy was a senior though and, like all good things, his career came to an end. But Princeton, being somewhat sentimental, kept his picture plastered on tickets for this season's games. It's a pleasant reminder of things past.

Things past now include a 13-year winning streak against arch-rival Rutgers which ended Monday night when the Scarlet sprung a 68-66 upset.

It was the biggest surprise on a strange night that had such odd goings-on as an Arkansas player, averaging just eight points per game, breaking a 25-year-old scoring record as the Porkers whipped Centenary 90-61, and a Canisius guard outscoring the entire Western Ontario squad as the Golden Griffins won 109-33.

Bob Lloyd, a 6-foot-1 junior, was the chief architect of Rutgers' shocker against Princeton. He scored 30 points and engineered the late-game slowdown that held the Tigers off. Princeton combatted the semi-freeze with a full-court press and Lloyd converted four foul shots in the final four minutes that proved decisive.

Ricky Sugg, off to a slow start in Arkansas' first three games and averaging just eight points per game, ran wild against Centenary, scoring 41 points and smashing a 25-year-old school record.

Sugg, who led the Porkers with a 16.5 average last season, hit on 11 of 12 shots in the first half, almost all of them from the outside. He was perfect from the foul line with 13 for 13.

John Morrison played only 18 minutes for Canisius but scored 34 points — one more than the entire Western Ontario squad

Six Repeaters, Six Rivermen on Centennial All-Conference Team

You might say the Centennial all-conference football team has a familiar look about it.

There are, of course, several reasons for that bit of gobbledygook.

First of all, six of the 22 players named were on the team last year. Among those six is one boy who has been named for the fourth consecutive year. Three have been named for the last three years.

But dominating the team are six players named from the championship Alma, Wis., team. It happened to be Alma's first year in the conference, thus the unfamiliar aspect.

Named for the fourth consecutive time was Faribault Deaf's 185-pound guard Ronald Springer. Repeating for the third time were Pete Ekstrand, 185-pound Wabasha halfback; Jim Grandy, Mazonia's 175-pound tackle, and Don Pressnall, Randolph's 185-pound fullback.

All are seniors and all were named to the offensive team, with the exception of Springer, a defensive selection.

Making their second appearance on the select group of Centennial stars are Randolph's Dennis Murray, a 140-pound defensive back, and Steve Lambrecht, 160-pound Elgin defensive end.

Murray is one of four juniors named to the defensive unit. All offensive performers are seniors.

Not only does the offensive unit boast the experience — it also holds a weight advantage, averaging 181 pounds per man.

The defensive unit averages 174.

Biggest man named to the club is Alma guard Carlos Kreibich, an offensive pick at 225. The Rivermen, in fact, put three of the four 200 pounders on the all-star team.

Defensive tackles Bob Gross, a junior, and Larry Fluekiger, a senior, both weigh in at 200. The only other player to make that is 201-pound Goodhue guard Phil Erickson, a defensive selection.

Two Alma players, plus Ekstrand and Pressnall, make up the backfield. Brian Kreibich, 175-pounder, and John Stohr, 185-pounder, are the quarterback and a halfback, respectively.

Offensive ends are Mike Moham of Alma and Rich Schuth of Wabasha, the tackles are Grandy and Goodhue's Howard Collins, the guards Carlos Kreibich and Wabasha's Gerald Loechler and the center Roger O'Reilly of Goodhue. The defensive backfield is made up of Murray and Clayton Coppel of Mazonia. Linebackers are Alan Holm of Goodhue and Larry Stromness of Wabasha.

The line is made up of ends Bob Sathre of Randolph and Lambrecht of Elgin, tackles Gross and Fluekiger, and guards Springer and Phil Erickson of Goodhue, the lone sophomore named.

The breakdown by teams shows Alma with six players named, Wabasha and Goodhue with four each, Randolph with three, Mazonia with two and Faribault Deaf and Elgin with one each.

CFC to Face Powerful Lincoln Scoring Punch

The most potent one-two scoring punch in the Dairyland Conference is what Cochrane-Fountain City will be facing tonight when the Pirates go searching for their second victory of the season at Alma Center.

Lincoln, the host team, boasts a rangy squad paced by Gene Janke and Dale Cummings. Janke is second to Augusta's Dick Osborn in Dairyland scoring with a 21.2 average, while Cummings is fifth with a 16.2 mark. That's a total of 38.4 points-per-game from these two cagers alone.

Cochrane-Fountain City will take a 1-3 record into tonight's 8 p.m. clash compared with Lincoln's 3-2.

After four weeks of high school action, 5-8 senior guard Ron Johnson of Faribault Deaf is still the area's most prolific scorer. Johnson has averaged 32.5 points-per-game in two outings this year.

Second high on the list is Canton's Don Fay, the man with the most points to his credit this season. Fay, in five games, has rammed in 125 points for an even 25 average.

Mike Knies of Preston, 23.8, Dennis Iverson of Wabasha, 24.0, and Osborn of Augusta, 23.0, round out the area's top five scorers.

Last week, however, scoring honors went to Trempealeau's Gary Herbert. The Bears' 6-0 senior guard-forward fired in 62 points in two games, pushing his average to 20.30. His 40-point performance in a 95-70 Friday night victory over Arcadia was the area's season high performance.

Winona Dog 4th In Local Trial

A Winona dog owned by Don Lund, won a trophy in Sunday's Tri-State Hunting Dog Association Trial held at the Airport.

Red, a golden retriever puppy, finished fourth in the puppy stakes to become the only local dog to finish in the money.

A total of 45 dogs turned out for the rain-swept trial with Iowa and Wisconsin dogs taking the top laurels.

Ace, a black Labrador, owned and handled by G.O. Doucet of La Crosse, won the puppy stakes, while another La Crosse dog, Rex, a golden retriever owned and handled by Ron Mallas, won the derby stake.

The qualifying stake was captured by Dyna, a black lab owned by Robert Hollinger of Mason City, Iowa, and Boemer, a black Labrador owned by Dr. Roy Hutchinson of Fort Dodge, Iowa, and handled by Maurice Loque won the open stake.

Seeling Hammers 267 for 4th High

It was a long time in the making, but a Winona bowler finally shook up the individual top ten Monday night after over a week of dormancy on the pin front.

Dick Seeling, rolling for Bunk's APCO in the VFW League at Hal-Rod Lanes, uncorked a 267 game that sparked his team to 1,037-2,914 and a first place tie. It also put Dick in the No. 4 spot in the season's listings.

Seeling opened up the evening with his rousing total and then followed it with games of 197 and 178 for a 642 total. There were several other men's honor counts throughout the city with most of them coming in the City League at Hal-Rod.

Clarence Rivers led the way with a 615 for Linahans. Roger Bilgen rapped 614, Al Nedoba a 601 and Roger Nedoba and Jack Critchfield each posted even 600 counts.

Ken Teppe again had the high single of 234 to pace Pepsi Cola to 1,044. Hotel Winona counted 2,926 and Carl Fischer had a 585 errorless.

Leon Edel stirred up the Monday League at the Athletic Club with games of 186-210-231 for a 627 series. Behind his firing Schlitz Beer hammered 1,002-2,920.

Irene Trimmer nosed out several other candidates for high women's honors for the evening with 191-537 for Watkins Mary King in the Pin Topplers at the Westgate Bowl. The Watkins gals totaled 883-2,600 to tie them with Hamernik's Bar for the early second round lead.

Marge Moravec laced 530, Betty Englerth 519, Betty Schoonover 508 and Yvonne Carpenter 504. Jane Maschka converted the 3-7-10 split and Doris Bay hit the 6-7-10.

WESTGATE: Ladies — Shirley Gehlhaert slapped 194 to pace Saffranek's to 867, while Winona Typewriter laced 2,538 behind Eleanor Loshek's 477.

club vice president.
